Ready For March Of Dimes Drive

These volunteers from the P-TA City Council are directing the annual Mother's March of Dimes tonight. Pictured with the group is Jenny Allen, 3, who was born with a congenital eye defect corrected by surgery, and who was selected as "poster girl" for the drive here. With Jenny are Mrs. R. E. Ray, left, and Mrs. Eldon Watts. Seated, from left

Mothers To March Tonight For Dimes

Some 400 volunteers will be knocking on doors throughout Big Spring, Coahoma, Gay Hill and Sand Springs tonight as the annual "mothers march" of the March of Dimes drive attempts to collect several thousand dollars for the National Foundation program.

The march this year is attempting to top the $2,795 collected last year. Goal of the volunteers will be to knock on every door in the city and other areas involved, said Mrs. Buford Hull, co-chairman.

The mothers' march is being sponsored by the P-TA City Council. "Several years ago the city council of Parents and Teachers selected as their community project, the Mothers' March of Dimes," said Mrs. R. E. Ray, president of the council. "This was back when we were fighting such a bitter battle with polio. As we were always interested in our children's welfare, we felt that this new drive for birth defects would be ever as important."

Dr. G. T. Hall Dies Today

Dr. Granville T. Hall, 82, dean of Big Spring physicians, died before noon today shortly after suffering a heart attack.

DR. G. T. HALL

He was stricken around 11 a.m. while at his office in the Permian Building. His nurse summoned medical aid immediately, and he was rushed by Big Spring Ambulance Service to the Howard County Hospital. Efforts to revive him proved futile, and he was pronounced dead shortly before noon.

Still active in his practice after 57 years, Dr. Hall summoned help when he felt the attack coming on. The body was taken to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home where arrangements were pending.

Dr. Hall was born in Cleburne and attended school there until he moved here as a youth with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hall. He was graduated from Texas Medical School in 1906, and after a year and a half of hospital service, he returned to Big Spring to take up practice of medicine. Dr. Hall had continued in his practice since that time.

He directed one of the first hospitals in the city at the historic John Birdwell Home, where the Sisters of Mercy served as operators. With the advent of the oil boom in the late twenties, he joined with his colleague, the late Dr. M. H. Bennett, to construct the Big Spring Hospital, which still operates today as the Howard County Hospital.

Not only had he been recognized as an excellent general practitioner, but almost from the outset of his career, Dr. Hall came to be known as an expert surgeon. Although he had accumulated considerable holdings in farm, ranch and oil properties, Dr. Hall remained attached to his medical practice. Long past the time when many men retired, he kept active. On May 26, 1959, Dr. Hall was one of four doctors—two physicians and two dentists—honored by the Permian Basin Medical Society for having devoted more than half a century of professional service to his fellow man.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church and had been a leading supporter of it in its building efforts within the past two decades. Dr. Hall is survived by his widow, the former Florence Free, and one daughter, Marie Hall. Also surviving locally is one nephew, A. G. Hall.

Attacked King Pushing Vote Registrations

BULLETIN
SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Sheriff James G. Clark jailed more than 30 Negroes today when they refused to go through an alley entrance into the Dallas County Courthouse to apply for voter registration.

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., urging non-violence after he was attacked in the opening day of a civil rights drive, shifts the focus of his campaign today to registering Negro voters. "This is only a beginning," King said Monday after Negroes desegregated three downtown restaurants and a hotel in this west Alabama city where the racial lines had been tightly drawn.

ONLY VIOLENCE
The only violence of the civil rights drive's initial phase came in the lobby of the Hotel Albert, a picturesque hotel built by Negro slaves 119 years ago. It had been segregated until Monday when King and 11 other Negroes registered.

A tall, sandy-haired man, identified as Jimmy George Robinson, 26, of Birmingham, and a member of the National States Rights party, approached King, who was standing at the desk in the lobby. Robinson had spoken to King at the courthouse and accepted an invitation to speak at Monday night's mass meeting in a Negro church.

Then the white man swung, striking King on the temple and knocking him against the desk. The Negroes with King grabbed Robinson. Wilson Baker, director of public safety, waded into the surging crowd, grasped Robinson by the collar and hoisted him off the floor. He took the man outside.

ASSAULT CHARGE
Robinson was jailed on charges of assault and disturbing the peace. His bond was set at $400. Hotel manager Robert Gay apologized to King and offered to sign a warrant for the assault.

"I'll sign the warrant," Baker said. Three other white men were arrested Monday night at the church where King told Negroes that the desegregation drive would continue until Selma had yielded.

Ships Ram, Seven Lost
LE HAVRE, France (AP)—A collision of an American freighter and a French coastal gasoline tanker set the tanker afire in the foggy English Channel Monday night and left seven persons dead or missing.

An officer and the wife of a crewman on the tanker, the 2,062-ton Port Manech, died in the inferno that was fed by the cargo of high test gasoline. Port authorities expressed fear that five missing crewmen were also dead, trapped in the engine room of the Port Manech. The tanker was aground and still burning furiously several miles off Le Havre. It had been erroneously reported at one point that all the crewmen were accounted for.

Space Flight Plans Told

Don G. Green, of the public affairs office of the NASA Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston (pictured center) told of U.S. efforts toward a moon shot, in an address to the local

Air Force Association unit Monday night. He is flanked by Walton Morrison (left), AFA vice president, and Lester Morton, president.

Complexities Of Space Flight Explained To AFA Chapter

The broad aspects of U. S. plans to send men to the moon were unfolded before an audience of more than 200 Monday evening by Don J. Green of the public affairs office, NASA Manned Spacecraft Center.

Occasion was the first annual membership meeting of the Big Spring unit of the Air Force Association. Lester Morton, president, and master of ceremonies for the Monday night dinner, announced that current officers — who were elected last spring — would serve through this year. Besides Morton, they are Walton Morrison, vice president; Bill Crooker, secretary; A. J. Statter, treasurer; R. H. Weaver, program chairman; Jack Cook, membership chairman; and Jack Wallace, publicity chairman.

The Big Spring AFA unit currently has the fifth largest membership in the state, exceeded only by those in major cities.

Green, using slides to illustrate his talk, outlined the general terms of project Apollo — that of getting men on the moon — and those which are preceding it. Project Mercury, which put our first astronauts into orbit around the earth, is now a thing of the past.

Current work is on project Gemini, which is that of putting two men into orbit, and this currently is scheduled for May.

To follow this is the moon shot. It still represents formidable problems, said Green. For example, the U.S. has been in space flight a total of less than 57 hours. Some 2,000 hours in earth orbit must be accumulated before we are ready to vault to the moon.

Major problems are those of developing sufficient thrust to send the vehicles into lunar orbit, and that of providing a "climate" in which the astronauts can survive. The Gemini shot calls for a "twin" send off so that two capsules will meet in space and can be linked up. An important test shot was scheduled at Cape Kennedy today, Green said, to determine various factors involved in control of the capsules.

A giant three-stage rocket which will launch the Apollo flight is under construction now, and its engine cluster is to yield 7½ million pounds of thrust. There will be a three part capsule in the moon firing, the command module, the service module, and the LEM, or lunar excursion module. In the command module will be three astronauts. Support equipment is in the service module. The LEM unit will be used for landing on the surface of the moon, then will be left there as the men make their return trip.

It will be about a 70-hour trip to the planet, and it is anticipated that the astronauts will spend about four hours on the moon's surface, taking all matter of information.

While Green's talk had his audience in wonderment at the complexities of all the space effort, he said, "I have talked about nothing that I do not expect to see in my lifetime. Through the mastery of space-manship, it is within the reach of the United States to greatly shape the world for the rest of this century and perhaps for the centuries ahead."

West Eyes Red Summit

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The rulers of the Soviet Union and six East European satellites opened a summit conference today that may frame new policy on European questions.

Western diplomats in Warsaw said major new overtures to the West could result. They said the Communist leaders may agree to expand East-West contacts, reduce pressure on West Berlin and withdraw some Soviet troops from Communist East Germany.

The Warsaw Pact's political advisory committee met in the Polish Council of Ministers building, the former Radzwill Palace. It was attended by the Communist party chiefs, premiers, foreign ministers and defense ministers of the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Reserve Setup Change Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three blue-ribbon congressional Reserve units were abolished by the Pentagon Monday. Some 72 congressmen and several thousand top government officials were transferred from the ready to the standby Reserve.

The move was in accord with a recent directive by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to shift into the standby Reserve those officials, judges and congressmen who would not be available for military service in mobilization because of the importance of their civilian posts. Of the 150,000 federal personnel in the ready Reserve, it is estimated that about 5,000 fall under McNamara's order.

Prison Only Weeks Away If Pleas Lose

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Federal authorities put Billie Sol Estes, described by a judge who tried him as "the most gigantic swindler in history," behind bars Monday night.

Unless further appeals meet with unexpected success, it apparently was the end of a fight lasting nearly three years to keep the toppled farm tycoon and former lay preacher out of prison. He marked his 40th birthday just nine days ago.

The U.S. Supreme Court refused Monday to hear Estes' appeal from a 15-year prison sentence for mail fraud. U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason, who presided for the 1963 trial in El Paso, then revoked the bankrupt promoter's $100,000 appeal bond.

ESCORTED TO JAIL
Armed with a bench warrant from Thomason, Deputy U.S. Marshal William C. Black arrested the black-haired, round-faced Estes at his comfortable Abilene home and escorted him to the county jail here.

Officers arranged to transfer him to El Paso today. They said Estes might stay there as long as five weeks before being moved to a federal prison. He has 25 days to ask the Supreme Court to reconsider and it could be 10 days longer before the tribunal ruled.

BACK TO CELL
However, Estes was not at once sent to El Paso. He was fingerprinted and photographed today and returned to jail.

"Real fine," Estes replied to an officer who asked if he spent a "good" night in the jail. All prisoners were served oatmeal and scrambled eggs for breakfast.

Capital Party Pitch At Peak

WASHINGTON (AP)—The celebrating for President Johnson's inaugural hits top speed today, and anyone with enough energy — and enough tickets — can keep partying until late at night.

With luncheons, receptions, dinner dances and an inaugural concert by the National Symphony, there isn't an open moment on the schedule. Almost everything, including the weather, seems set for the whole point of this business: The taking of the presidential oath in front of the Capitol at noon Wednesday. Only the inaugural address remains unfinished, and Johnson is expected to keep puttingter with it until a few hours before delivery time.

LUCK HOLDING
On that most important item, the weather, Johnson's luck appears to be holding out.

After hinting that it might snow on Johnson's great day, the weatherman backtracked and now sticks to the prediction that none is likely to fall. But the bitter cold will remain, making it rough on those who are in, or who are out watching the 2½-hour parade.

Today's highlights include a reception for Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey, a reception for governors that will be so crowded the guests will be herded in in three hourly shifts, and a dance and reception for Young Democrats.

An ardent Democrat, eager to fling, could have trouble deciding where to go. NIGHT TO PARTY
A young party member from Indiana, for example, could take in the dance for Young Democrats, or go to his own state's inaugural ball, or drop by for the National Symphony's special concert. All three, and a half dozen other events, are running more or less simultaneously tonight.

Nearly everything to which the public is invited, by the way, has been sold out.

It is not known for certain how many events Johnson will attend. Monday he got things off to a rousing start by joining in the fun at the Democratic gala, honoring party workers who helped keep Johnson in the White House.

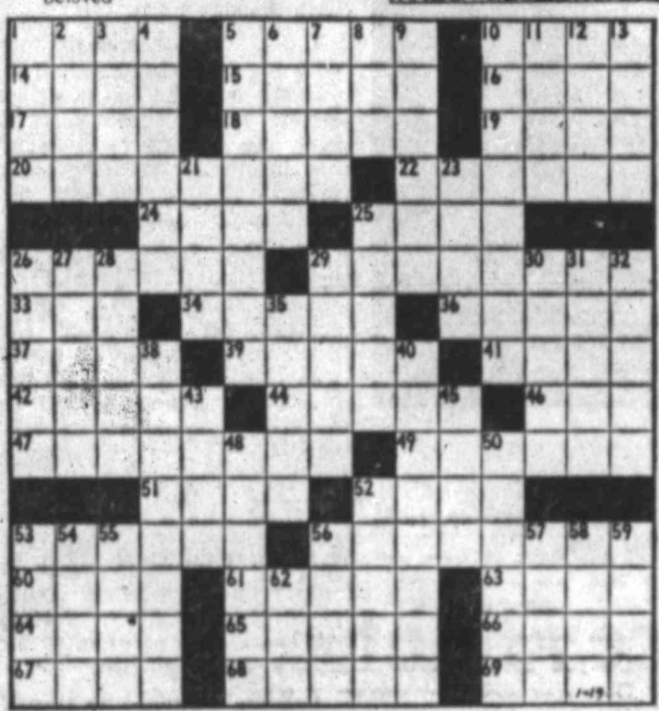

The star-packed performance lasted more than two hours and the Johnsons appeared to enjoy every minute of it. They applauded loud and long during the show which was capped by a final chorus of "Hello Lyndon" by the entire cast.

Puzzle of Monday, January 18, Solved

Defense Plan Outlook Rosy

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has given President Johnson's $49-billion defense program a generally warm reception.

Some Democrats and Republicans, however, expressed misgivings on the lack of plans for new manned bombers.

Shortly after the message went to Congress Monday, the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate Defense Appropriations subcommittee announced plans to invite Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to joint hearings, probably early in February, to present details not given in the message.

HUGE PROGRAM
The huge program would cost $300 million less than the Pentagon's estimated $49.3 billion spending in the fiscal year ending June 30 and $2.3 billion less than last year.

The President attributed this to completion of many needed changes and increases in the military-force structure, and cost-reduction programs which are starting to bear fruit.

The United States, he said, is "stronger militarily than at any other time in its peacetime history."

"Today we can walk the road of peace because we have the strength we need," the President said.

Letter With Threat On LBJ Bared

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Federal authorities disclosed the basis Monday for a complaint charging a Minneapolis traveling salesman threatened the life of President Johnson.

They said Everett DeHarrpote, 58, sent a Jan. 12 letter from Corpus Christi to Dr. Jesse Barron of Minneapolis which said in part:

"Johnson killed John Fitzgerald Kennedy . . . Have made arrangements to keep my mother away from radio and television because I'm going to kill the dirty skunk."

DeHarrpote, arrested last week, waived a formal hearing after the letter was read. He was returned to jail in lieu of $50,000 bond.

Seized Books' Return Waited

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — John W. Stanford Jr., bespectacled San Antonio bookkeeper, awaited today the return of some 2,000 books and pamphlets the Supreme Court says were seized illegally.

The state claims the literature is pro-Communist.

Stanford, 40, ordered by the government to register as a Communist, won a year-long court battle Monday when the high court ruled that a search warrant Texas officers used to raid his home violated his constitutional rights.

Justice Department informants testified at a 1963 hearing in Washington, D.C., that Stanford was secretary of the Communist party in Texas.

Stanford refused Monday night "to confirm or deny the charge."

He operates a mail order bookstore called "All Points of View" in his home and is a bookkeeper at a private firm.

The U.S. Subversive Controls Board issued an order Dec. 26, 1963, for him to register as required by the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950. He is appealing the order.

"I refuse to register on the basis that this violates the Bill of Rights and endangers the right to belief and associations of all Americans," he told a newsman.

"I said at the time, and I still believe, that the government has no right to tell the citizens what their politics should be. The citizens should tell the government what its politics should be."

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ 1♠ 4♥ 4♠
5♥ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠

East was guilty of gross negligence in defending against South's five heart contract today. By adopting the role of an idle spectator to the proceedings, he subjected his partner, West, to an unnecessary guess at the crucial moment.

North's jump raise to four hearts was a distinct exaggeration of his values. The presence of a fifth trump should not have influenced him into taking drastic action, inasmuch as his holding contains no marked distributional advantages. With nine high card points, North has a sound free raise to two hearts.

West opened the king of spades, the dummy played the ace and East signaled mild encouragement with the six. A heart was led to the king and West was in with the ace.

West was dubious of the prospect of cashing a spade trick in view of South's reluctance to defend against four spades. It appeared that East might welcome a play at this point, but there was some question in West's mind regarding which suit to attack inasmuch as he did not know where his partner's strength was concentrated.

After considerable soul searching, West shifted to the ten of clubs. Declarer was in. He drew trump and proceeded to run the clubs, discarding two diamonds from dummy. He cheerfully conceded one diamond trick to his opponents and claimed his contract.

Inasmuch as East is most anxious to obtain a diamond shift if West regains the lead, he should endeavor to convey a message to partner at trick one, by dropping the jack of spades under the ace. Inasmuch as the jack is an unnecessarily high card, it is hoped that partner will interpret this play as a suit preference signal to indicate strength in the higher ranking of the two remaining suits — diamonds and clubs.

We are aware that, in the normal course of play, a high card is a come-on and requests a continuation of the suit led. If it were East's desire to get more spades, however, he could play the eight. The jack is an unnecessarily dramatic signal, and by common sense should be construed as a suit preference play requesting a diamond lead.

De Gaulle, Erhard Talk

PARIS (AP) — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard arrived in Paris today for talks with President Charles de Gaulle on European unity, German reunification and nuclear defense.

The two-day talks are being held at De Gaulle's official country home at Rambouillet, 30 miles south of Paris. While the chancellor and the president meet there, Foreign Ministers Gerhard Schroeder and Maurice Couve de Murville are meeting in Paris.

Schroeder, who was not invited to Rambouillet, is considered by the French to be close to the "Anglo-Saxons," as De Gaulle calls the Americans and British. The last time Schroeder was in Paris he had a row with the French over German reunification.

This time, Erhard would like to obtain De Gaulle's backing for a new Allied approach to the Russians on German reunification. Such an initiative would help the chancellor in the West German general election in September.

Erhard's dilemma is that he must warm up West German relations with De Gaulle but not enough to worry the U.S. government.

De Gaulle has consistently plugged for a "European Europe" free of American influence.

Liquor Bill Is Introduced

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg introduced Monday a bill to revise liquor laws to allow sale of liquor in smaller bottles.

Bates said the bill would bring the state $10 million in two years in new tax revenues, would spark a tourist boom and even add to our industrial growth.

"It is not a liquor-by-the-drink bill or open saloon bill," Bates said of the measure.

"The sole purpose of the bill is to remedy the ridiculous situation which compels Texans, tourists, and everybody else in Texas to cart around one or more large bottles in a paper sack in order to pour a legal ounce or two for a discreet drink with his meal," Bates said.

"All this bill does is to reduce the size container in which distilled spirits may be sold and to allow the sale of spirits in 2-ounce bottles, or less, in restaurants," he said.

Warrant Invalid In Book Seizure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down unanimously today a warrant under which Texas authorities seized about 2,000 asserted pro-communist books and pamphlets from the residence of John Stanford Jr., in San Antonio.

Justice Potter Stewart, writing the court's opinion, said the warrant was invalid, because it did not comply with protections required by the federal constitution that things to be seized must be described with particularity.

Car Profit Dip Per Unit Noted

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — The nation's auto dealers will have more than just socializing and relaxing on their minds when they meet in Las Vegas this month at the annual convention of the National Auto Dealers Assn.

NADA's report for all of 1964 has not been completed, but the three-quarter figures shows dealers averaged $107 profit per new unit sold. The comparable 1963 and 1962 figures were $117 and $128. Rising expenses were blamed for the drop.

Detroit's auto factories are turning out cars at top speed now to make up units lost because of recent strikes and parts shortages. This puts more pressure on dealers to increase their sales volume.

Some dealers reportedly feel the NADA convention will be an ideal time to ask the auto industry to come up with some financial solutions which mean more dealer profits.

Other topics on the NADA agenda include car leasing, extended warranties, car financing, service and sales facilities.

NADA recently surveyed 1,000 Dodge dealers to find out how they feel about Chrysler's plan to establish truck branches in some large Metropolitan areas.

Under the proposal, dealers would still handle trucks under 10,000 pounds, and the factory centers would handle medium and heavy trucks.

Results of the survey of Dodge dealers and other surveys made by NADA's research department will be announced at the convention and are expected to touch off floor discussions.

NADA sources indicate they will rely increasingly this year on surveys to find out the grass-roots thinking on dealer problems.

Extended warranties now advertised by automakers will be a priority item among convention discussion topics.

The warranty question came up at the recent meeting of North Carolina's NADA group at which Kenneth Brown, a Detroit Chrysler-Plymouth dealer, spoke.

N. C. UNIT Brown told the North Carolina unit that the warranty program has many good points, but he added: "I think many of the time studies — that is, time used to make certain adjustments and repairs under the warranty — were made on a brand new car with no rust problems. The mechanic must have had a helper, and he must have had power tools we never heard about."

Brown said the warranty idea has done wonders for dealers in meeting the competition of service stations, independent garages and chair stores.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss and grow more hair.

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Britons Spend Isolated Days In Red China

LONDON (AP) — Eleven Britons live a lonely, frustrating life in Peking. They are the British diplomatic mission to Red China, headed by Charge d'Affaires Terence Willcocks Garvey.

They are for the most part isolated in what is known as the Peking "diplomatic stockade." Sometimes the Chinese government arranges a tour for diplomats, rarely to an area the diplomats want to see.

Their principal means of contact with the regime is by mail and telephone. They are not allowed contact with government ministers and underlings are too frightened to talk to them, according to British informants in London.

SEES CHOIR A former British chief of mission in Geneva during a 1954 international conference the Red Chinese were attending: "I've seen (Premier) Chou En-lai more in the week I've been here than in the years I've been in Peking."

The 11 diplomats are carrying out a policy which began 15 years ago with Britain's recognition of Communist China. Britain's sole criterion for recognition is whether a new regime has effective control over the greater part of its country and people.

London lacks full diplomatic relations with Peking at ambassadorial level, informants explain, because of a demand that Britain cease opposing Communist Chinese policies. The Chinese cite two points:

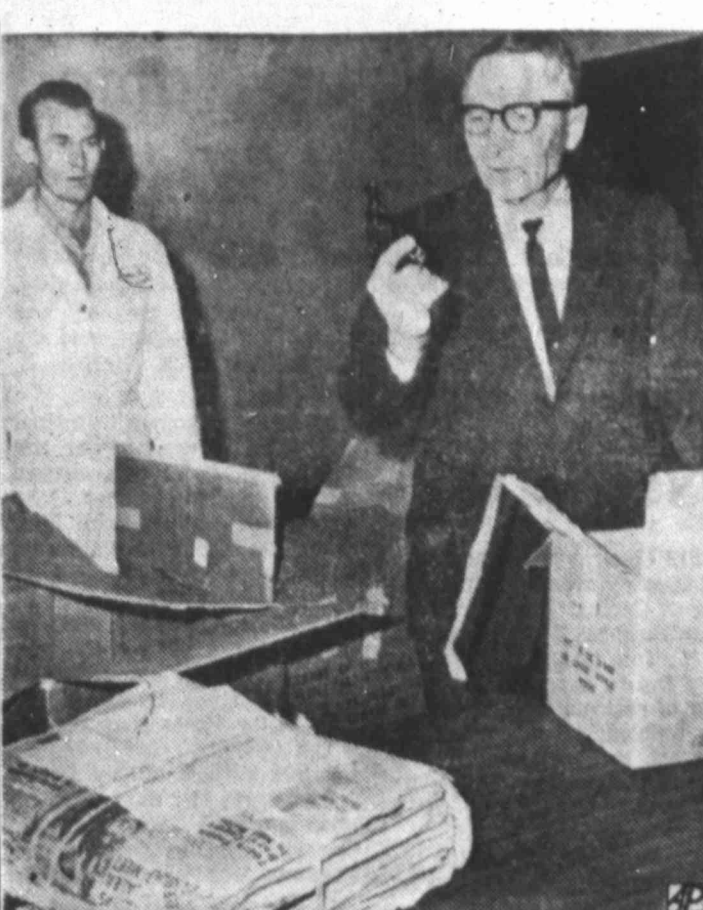

—Although Britain supports Red China's entry into the United Nations, the British maintain that the question is an important one which must be decided under Article 18 of the U.N. Charter, which means the Chinese Communists must obtain a two-thirds majority in the General Assembly.

—Although the British do not recognize the regime of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa, there is a British consulate on the island. Peking says this shows the British do not support Red China's claim to Formosa.

GAVE UP CLAIMS British informants point out that Japan gave up all claims to Formosa at the San Francisco conference, but no decision was reached on the island's sovereignty. For this reason the British consul there is accredited only to the "provincial government" of Formosa and not to the Chinese Nationalist government.

Furthermore Britain supports American aid to the South Vietnamese against the Peking-backed Hanoi regime. And Britain is in conflict with Indonesia over the campaign of President Sukarno against Malaysia. Sukarno is receiving encouragement from Peking.

Therefore, despite the diplomatic recognition, Peking refuses to accept the appointment of a British ambassador or permit the opening of an embassy. The mission is called the "Office of the British Charge d'Affaires" — a sort of third class status which has not made the work of the 11 diplomats any easier.

U.N. May Crack Dues Stalemate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. delegates expressed hope today that a new formula proposed by General Assembly President Alex-Quason Sackey will avert a showdown over U.N. peacekeeping dues. The United States and the Soviet Union, however, remained deadlocked on the key question of penalties.

Quason-Sackey in effect set next Monday as the deadline for resolving the stalemate, or going ahead with the U.S.-Soviet confrontation that many members fear could wreck the United Nations.

Quason-Sackey told the 115-nation assembly Monday that he intends to wind up general debate this week and proceed to election of committee chairmen and assembly vice presidents next Monday.

END TRUCE This would end the no-vote truce under which the assembly has been operating and bring U.S. demands for application of Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, which removes voting rights of members two years in arrears on their assessments.

Quason-Sackey then outlined his three-point plan to head off such a showdown. He said a consensus appeared to exist in the assembly on these points:

— All members should make financial donations with the highly developed nations making "substantial contributions."

— The assembly's business should be conducted along normal lines as soon as possible.

— Every effort should be made to avoid a confrontation involving Article 19.

Many delegates appeared encouraged by Quason-Sackey's proposal, made after Secretary-General U Thant warned the assembly that the United Nations' financial position as a result of peacekeeping debts threatened to end its role as a "dynamic and effective instrument of international peace."

The United States and the Soviet Union were guarded in their reaction.

A REMINDER U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told newsmen he was happy to hear Thant remind members of the gravity of the financial situation. But he said he viewed Quason-Sackey's remarks about resuming normal operations as an intention rather than a plan. Stevenson declared the question of "who is eligible to vote" still exists.

Soviet Ambassador Semyon K. Tsarapkin said he concurred with what both Thant and Quason-Sackey said, but that the United States was holding up a solution.

"It is up to the United States now," Tsarapkin declared. "We have made known that we accept the Asian-African plan, but the United States has blocked settlement of the issue."

The Asian-African plan calls for voluntary contributions to a fund to help ease the peacekeeping debt. The United States has accepted this but rejected the second part of the plan which would set aside Article 19 for the remainder of the session.

Arlington College Mulls Proposed Name Change

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — President J. P. Woolf of Arlington State is reported to have asked a faculty council and a student group to indicate their preference between two new names for the college.

A spokesman for the student group, which opposes plans to merge the college into the Texas A&M system, said the choices were Arlington College of Texas, A&M University or Texas A&M University at Arlington.

Dr. Woolf confirmed the meeting with the students' Save Our School Committee but declined other comment Monday.

"We found both names to be completely unacceptable," a student spokesman said, "and we proposed that the name remain the same or be changed to a Arlington State University."

A faculty spokesman commented: "We are trying to be completely objective. We definitely feel this to be a broad compromise and we are taking a little time to study the matter."

James Cribbs, president of the ex-students association, again voiced determination by alumni to oppose a name change.

SINCE DECEMBER This has been an issue since mid-December when Texas A&M granted Arlington State permission to issue graduate degrees in science and engineering at Arlington in the name of Texas A&M.

At the same time directors of the A&M system indicated a sweeping reorganization was planned which would place schools now in the system under more direct supervision of the administration at College Station.

Gentle Satire Uplifts Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Strangest title for a series (this season) is NBC's "Sneak Preview," consisting of several variety specials. The second one reached television screens Monday night with the accompaniment of the network's loudest promotional drums.

It was Allan Sherman's "Funnyland," another title which seems strange if only because it challenges the viewer to find the show amusing. However, it was a bright and often witty hour, mostly because of the gentle satire of Sherman.

ENJOYING ONE Sherman, star and executive producer of the show, recently jumped from comedy writer and television producer to performer and an engaging one he is. One of his greatest assets is that so far he has not acquired a slick professional style.

Sherman and his playmates lightly took apart a variety of subjects.

It was not all understated humor. With guest stars Lorne Greene, Angie Dickinson and Jack Gifford, he played a musical alphabet game which, at one low moment had Greene demanding that Sherman sing a song starting with the letters S, V, and F.

Earlier in the evening CBS attempted to stir up extra interest in its two back-to-back panel shows "To Tell the Truth" and "I've Got a Secret," by switching the panels.

AAUW Hears Orient Probed

The three stages of relationship between the United States and Japan were explored by John Harlan, American History instructor at Howard County Junior College, when he spoke Monday to the American Association of University Women. He was introduced by Mrs. Gary Sims, and the program was in charge of the Occident and Orient Study Group on Japan.

Using the subject, "American Impact Upon Japanese Culture," Harlan said that prior to 1868 Japan was completely closed to the West.

The first period of the relationship was from 1868 to 1878, a period of industrialization from the West, when Japan changed from feudal to modern in a brief ten years. The second phase was from 1880 to 1940, and the speaker described this as an era of trade, tourists and immigration between the nations. He thought that when the United States passed anti-immigration laws in 1924, the feelings of hostility possibly began.

The third period of the relationship began in 1945 and continues to be one of peaceful co-existence with Japan adopting many of our customs.

Miss Mary Foreman presided and urged members to pay their poll tax. Also, a nominating committee was appointed.

The members will begin work on a regular basis this month at the State Hospital, with Mrs. Harlan Huijbregtse in charge of the work schedule. A tour of the hospital is planned, and clothing was donated by the group.

The AAUW group agreed to contact the county commissioners and encourage them to assist in providing better facilities for the library. Also, they will send letters to all civic and club groups asking their cooperation with this project. Mrs. C. N. Humphrey will direct the effort.

Hostesses were Miss Foreman, Mrs. Floy McNaughton and Mrs. W. R. Trim. The refreshment table featured a white cutwork cloth, silver appointments and pink roses in a crystal vase.

The next meeting will be Feb. 15 at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

When I think of the hours and the dollars women spend buying clothes and the little attention paid to them by the men they are trying to please it seems a lost cause. Paul Sett, an Associated Press writer in telling of the party Perle Mesta gave as a pre-inaugural festivity, was mentioning some of the "name" people at the affair. In describing the women's attire he simply said the particular woman had on something black, or something pink or white. He never said if it was a dress, a gown or a chemise... just some color.

This reminded me of the story of the woman who for years had been trying to get her husband interested in what she wore to the numerous affairs their work called upon them for attendance. One night she was determined to test him. They were going to a formal dinner and she spent quite a time getting attired. He came in late, hurried and prepared himself and was handsomely dressed in his formal clothes. They left their apartment and were waiting in the hall for the elevator. She had put her wrap over her arm and was just being patient. Finally he said "That dress looks like a nightgown." "It is," she replied. "Now don't ask if she changed. I suppose she did, but at least she knew he had finally noticed what she was wearing."

MRS. W. E. McNALLEN SR. who lives in Tulsa, Okla., is here for a visit in the home of her nephew and niece, MR. AND MRS. L. D. GILBERT, 1394 Dixie. Mrs. McNallen is a former resident and is hoping to see many of her long-time friends during her stay. She moved from Big Spring in 1944 and has made numerous trips back here.

From Pine Bluff, Ark., came a copy of a promotion ad the paper there used to introduce MRS. KATHLEEN DOZIER when she became woman's editor last year. It was sent to MRS. CECIL WASSON from a friend of many years, MRS. GEORGE BROWN, who was LUCY LEE FISK, when she moved away with her parents, MR. AND MRS. W. W. FISK, back in 1918. Mrs. Brown wrote Mrs. Wasson that she lived in the block down from where Mrs. Dozier lives.

The Fisk family made their home at 603 Johnson when they lived here and were good friends of the JOHN PORTERS, the LEWIS SULLIVANS, the CARPENTERS and all their neighbors in that area.

It was nice seeing JOHN STRIPLING at the chamber of commerce banquet Saturday evening. He is now with the Abilene chamber after being with the USAF for a number of years.

DEAR ABBY

A Ham That Lost Weight

DEAR ABBY: I work for a fairly large company. Every year each employee is supposed to get an eight-pound ham. Last year my ham looked kind of small for eight pounds, but I didn't say anything about it. This year my ham also looked small, so I took it home and weighed it and it was only six pounds, four ounces. I took it back to the department head and told him if the company bragged that they gave their employees eight-pound hams, the hams should weigh eight pounds. He became very angry with me and told me I ought to be ashamed of myself, and I should have taken the ham and kept quiet. Do you think I did the wrong thing? Or was the department head in the wrong? What do I do now? GYPPEP DEAR GYPPEP: If the ham had been "labeled" "EIGHT POUNDS" by the supplier, then the company was gyped and the department head should have used his and thanked you for revealing it. But if the company "bragged" that they gave eight-pound hams, and didn't, then the deal was something less than kosher. If I were you, I'd forget it.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a man who has a fantastic imagination? We are in our seventies and have known him all our lives. He will sit and tell folks all about his "experiences" in the war, and he has never been in the service. He also tells people that he helped bring elk to our state, and the elk were here before us.

EMBARRASSED DEAR EMBARRASSED: If he is only imagining these things, pity him. It is a sickness of the mind. If he is lying, pity him. That is a sickness of the soul.

DEAR ABBY: Re the letter signed "TROUBLE AT HOME" from the 19-year-old girl who was dating a 27-year-old man who said he was separated from his wife. That letter really hit home here. When I was 19 I met a man of 25. We dated a year before I found out he was married and had two children. He said he was trying to get a divorce because he and his wife couldn't get along. I continued dating him against my own conscience and my parents' wishes. I spent many sleepless nights wondering how much longer I would have to wait. He kept telling me it wouldn't be much longer. Well, I am 23 years old and six months' pregnant, and still no divorce. I haven't even seen him in three months. Oh, he calls me once a month to see how I am. Before this happened he couldn't get through a day without calling me. Also, he now has three children instead of two. So, Miss Trouble At Home, take it from someone who is in real trouble — listen to Abby, and wait until AFTER the divorce to see him again. And then, don't rush into anything. It could save you a lot of heartache.

OCCUPY WOMEN Hairdos and fashions occupied the women, including Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, who was acting as hostess to a houseful of visitors.

There were so many of the Johnson relatives and friends arriving that an overflow moved into Blair House, the presidential guest house across Pennsylvania Avenue.

Also to be housed there were Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Daniel, daughter and son-in-law of former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman. They are to represent the Trumans, who are unable to attend the inauguration.

Johnson relatives were still coming in. Some who had been on hand Sunday night began celebrating at a jammed cocktail party at the penthouse apartment of Perle Mesta.

"If I had to go home tonight, I would still go home happy," was the post party comment of Mrs. Russell Laschinger, friend of Mrs. Johnson and wife of the publisher of the Gilmer (Tex.) Mirror.

Among the LBJ guests at Blair House were the President's elderly uncle, Huffman Baines, and his wife, of San Antonio, Tex.; a cousin, Ava Johnson Cox of Johnson City, Tex.; and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fore of Floresville, Tex., and their daughter, Mrs. Robert Spruce.

Kin Overflow White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House guests had breakfast on trays in their rooms today — it was easier that way — as President Johnson's kinfolk and friends prepared for the opening round of inaugural festivities.

The President's daughter Luci, 17, after sleeping on the cot in her small study, was off nervously for the last of her semester examinations — a chemistry test at National Cathedral School for Girls where she is a senior.

The Trick: To Find Most Popular Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — As popular stock price averages strive to climb to higher ground than they reached in setting records in the middle of November, particular issues again set the pace. Big advances by a few can do the trick even while the majority could be dallying, and some slipping.

And last year's star performer may not be this year's favorite, while a once drowsy issue may capture the investor's attention. This is a truism in brokers' offices that the public often ignores. The trick, even in a bull market, still is to find the favorite.

GOOD GAINS For 1964 as a whole the popular averages staged good gains. That is, the averages did. Some of their components far outshone the list as a whole. Others even declined in price.

The same is true, in percentage of change, for the performance of the averages over a 10-year period.

Take just one. The average price of the 30 stocks on the Dow-Jones industrial list rose 14.6 per cent during 1964. But one issue gained 65.3 per cent, while another lost 10.5 per cent. Compare the same 30 stocks with their prices at the end of 1954, with adjustments for all splits and other capital changes in the 10 years. The best performing issues gained 412 per cent in market value in the decade, while a laggard dropped 3.9 per cent from its 1954 price.

Statistics at the brokerage firm of Arthur Wiesenberger & Co. put it this way: If you had $10,000 to invest at the start of 1954 and you could have used that to buy equal amounts of each of the 30 stocks, you would have ended up the year with stocks valued on the market at $11,460.

IF YOU HAD . . . If you had second sight, and had invested just in the five best performers, your holdings at the end of the year would have been $13,810. But if you were unlucky and invested only in the five worst performers your $10,000 would have ended up as just $9,350.

The top five gainers for the year were: United Aircraft, up 53.2 per cent; Chrysler, 46.5 per cent; Swift, 32.4 per cent; Sears Roebuck, 32.1 per cent; and Du Pont, 26.3 per cent.

Georgia Vote Law Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled valid today a Georgia law requiring countywide election of state senators whose districts are composed of parts of counties.

The decision was given on an appeal by Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook of Georgia from a ruling by a three-judge U.S. District Court in Atlanta. The District Court had said the election requirement was unconstitutional because it discriminated between voters of single-senator and multi-district counties.

Justice William J. Brennan delivered the 8-1 decision.

Confidence In Shastri Slips

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A crisis of confidence grips the Indian government.

New Delhi's top leaders privately say they are unsure of foreign policy and worried about India's internal health. Most important, their confidence in Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has slipped.

Shastri, 60, in office eight months, is coming under fire from his political opposition — right as well as left — and the Indian press is bombarding him with charges of indecisive rule.

of this land of 480 million people.

Six months ago, when the stunning impact of Jawaharlal Nehru's death united India's ruling elite around Shastri, he could have easily withstood all this.

Today, even top aides in his Congress party are angry at what they call his diplomatic ineptitude and political fumbling.

Several influential politicians quietly are campaigning for Shastri's job.

The only thing preventing an open political battle is fear among the aspirants that they lack the necessary party backing and that to challenge Shastri publicly at this time would unleash disruptive factors that could do immense harm to party and country.

This is reported by leading political and government figures who say nothing must be done to disturb India's precarious balance on the edge of economic chaos and political turmoil.

They see Shastri — a middle-roader — as the only man acceptable to the many factions of his huge Congress party. Almost all potential rivals in sight have carried leftist or rightist tags most of their political careers.

Nevertheless, political empire-building is under way. Railway Minister S. K. Patil, a pro-American conservative, is seeking support. A few months ago, he was strongly backing Shastri. Morarji Desai, an influential conservative, and V. K. Krishna Menon, a leftist, are active. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, who has acknowledged an ambition to be prime minister, is trying to work her way into the capital's inner circle.

RELUCTANT HERO Shastri, at first a reluctant hero, appears convinced that at this juncture he must hang on to the top job. But he also is aware that contenders are lining up.

"I have to carry on this burden," he said in an interview.

"Given the time, some of the ticklish problems we are faced with at present will be resolved."

If any one event kicked off Shastri's troubles it was his performance at the Cairo non-aligned conference in October. India hoped Shastri could take over Nehru's leadership of the nonaligned. Instead, Shastri took a licking in the backroom politics at Cairo. He proposed the conference send a mission to dissuade Communist China from making an atomic bomb. China's friends, not consulted in advance, promptly junked the proposal.

SHORT OF FOOD In domestic politics, Shastri was driven by a worsening economic crisis that has left India short of food and foreign exchange and heavily dependent on U.S. foreign aid.

A food rationing plan stumbled over objections of rebellious state governors. Tasting victory, state leaders began chipping away at New Delhi's powers in other realms.

Nine Named To Y Board

Election of nine individuals to the board of directors of the YMCA was announced today by James Tidwell, president.

C-C Directors OK $30,000 Budget

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce approved a $30,000 budget Monday and expressed the hope that support would permit a program even greater than this.

The outlay compared with $35,000 expended this year, but it about matched actual chamber receipts. The difference between the two was largely in support from the Industrial Foundation for part of the year in connection with Industrial prospect work.

J. Y. Robb Jr., president, announced the appointment of R. W. Whipkey, Larry Crow and John Currie as members of the board. He also listed committee chairmen for the year.

Authorization was given for financial participation in a legislative dinner in Austin Feb. 5, which is tied in with a meeting of the Texas Industrial Program. An effort will be made to send as many as five men to take part.

The Optimist Club was given permission to post its emblem and meeting date on the Big Spring highway signs approaching the city. The Rotary has done this and other service clubs will have the same privilege.

Some responses have come from a series of ads the chamber and Industrial Foundation have run in the Wall Street Journal, said Carroll Davidson, manager. One new wholesaler is coming to the city, it was announced. Tom Crain has taken a lease on a building for an electrical supplies outlet.

Bob Tatum, manager of Harold Davis, Ralph McLaughlin, Clyde McMahon Sr., Mrs. H. W. Smith, James Tidwell, R. W. Whipkey, Mrs. O. S. Womack, Jerry Worthy and Winston Wrinke.

They will take office at the meeting of the board this evening.

Airman Arrested For Disturbance

A 34-year-old Webb AFB airman was turned over to Air Force authorities today after Big Spring police arrested him on a theft and disturbance charge.

The man was captured by a resident of the Big Spring Trailer Courts, W. R. Benzshafter, according to police. Benzshafter called police and told them a prowler was taking clothing from lines at the courts, then stopped the man while he was crawling under another trailer. Officers arrested the airman on charges of disturbance and theft under $5.

In their newest formal gowns, they were part of the family group Monday night in the presidential box enjoying the gala, including some jokes directed at them.

WILL STAR
Tonight they will star amid their friends from the barbecue campaign trail — at a dance and reception of the Young Democrats.

Lynda, 20, is cochairman for the dance, which is so popular it has been stretched to two locations — the Willard and Mayflower hotels, with Lionel Hampton, Count Basie and Lester Lanin providing continuous music for an expected 3,700 dancers.

It won't be surprising if 17-year-old Luci stays late and does the frug and watusi, her favorite dances. A mixture of showman and typical teenager, she picked a gay raspberry gown trimmed with velvet bows that give it a quaint and old-fashioned appearance.

Botanic Studies For Astronauts

VOLCANO, Hawaii (AP) — Extra-curricular botanic studies more suitable for tropical survival training than for lunar exploration were given seven U.S. astronauts during the first day of a field trip to Hawaii's volcano fields Monday.

The astronauts replaced eight other U.S. spacemen who toured the area last week. They will tramp the lava flows of Hawaii Island 100 miles southeast of Honolulu where the terrain is said to resemble closely that of the moon.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Barry Sullivan was divorced Monday by Desiree Sumara, 26, who wept as she testified: "He was cold and unaffectionate. He never hugged and kissed me."

The couple was married Aug. 5, 1962. The marriage was Sullivan's third and Miss Sumara's first.

France Said Making Egypt Grant Offer

CAIRO (AP) — The weekly magazine Rosel Youssef reported today that France has expressed readiness to extend Egypt credit to cover "vital" commodities if U.S. aid to President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government is cut.

France previously granted the Egyptian government guaranteed credit equivalent to $72 million to cover Egyptian purchases from France, including raw materials and cotton textile machinery.

A French trade delegation is expected here early in February to discuss the new loan, the magazine said.

Earlier this month former French Premier Edgar Faure left Cairo after a month-long visit to Egypt. During his stay Faure reportedly assured Nasser of enough French aid to enable Egypt to do without U.S. aid.

His father's '65 Ford rides quieter than his father's Rolls-Royce

We know it's hard to believe a Ford could ride quieter than the famed Rolls-Royce. But it's a fact. Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which three V-8 powered Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, new Galaxie 500/XL and LTD Hardtops) with automatic transmissions rode quieter than a new Rolls-Royce. The tests were certified by the U.S. Auto Club. Of course, the best test of all is to get behind the wheel yourself . . . and listen to a '65 Ford in action.

That's what Chuck's father did. Ford's quietness really impressed him. But it wasn't the quietness alone that sold him. He shopped around and found that Ford offers features and models and quality that simply aren't matched by other cars in its class. For example:

- 100% new body—strongest Ford body ever.
- New frame "tunes out" vibration.
- Decorator-appointed interiors in LTD's, thick nylon carpeting.
- More luggage space than in most competing cars—trunk holds four 2-suiters standing upright with room left over.

Banquets, Gala Occupy Johnsons

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson kept his calendar free of announced appointments today and, in the process, kept everyone guessing about his pre-inaugural plans for the day.

The President and wife Lady Bird, she shimmering in a white gown with silver-jeweled bodice, made appearances at three events Monday night and didn't get home until midnight.

Before going to a Broadway-style inaugural gala, they made brief stops at two banquets attended by people who contributed a minimum of $1,000 to the Democratic cause in the 1964 election year.

Looking over one of these well-bankrolled audiences, Johnson joked: "This was supposed to be the first poverty inspection trip of 1965 but somehow it just didn't work out that way."

"POVERTY" ANGLE
He went on to suggest that some of the diners might feel at least a little impoverished after paying the bills for their wives' gowns.

Then, sounding like the campaigner of last autumn, Johnson turned serious and urged employers and employees, farmers, ranchers and bankers to get under one big tent and work for his "Great Society" programs "in the sun of this bright age."

Arriving for the gala in the National Guard Armory, a barnlike place that somehow was made to look festive, the Johnsons and their daughters, Lynda and Luci, waited a half hour in an anteroom while latecomers filed into their seats.

Once started, the show lasted a couple of hours. Johnson applauded throughout and stopped afterwards for some handshaking with the cast. He didn't make a speech; just stood up with Lady Bird and acknowledged the cheering when he was introduced after the finale.

Indonesia In U.N. Agencies

GENEVA (AP) — Indonesia intends to stay in the World Health Organization and some other U.N. specialized agencies, an official of President Sukarno's government said today.

The decision was announced by Mrs. Hurustiati Subandrio, deputy minister of public health and wife of Foreign Minister Subandrio.

This was one of a series of offshoots of Indonesia's proclaimed withdrawal from the United Nations, still to be formalized by a written document.

Mrs. Subandrio, arriving in Geneva to attend a World Health Organization executive board meeting opening Tuesday, told newsmen Indonesia has no intention of leaving the organization or such other agencies as the International Labor Organization and the International Telecommunications Union.

Fall Off Tower Fatal To Worker

TRINIDAD, Tex. (AP)—Larry Loveall, 25, of Trenton, Mo., was killed in a fall from a high line tower. He was working for the Stovall Construction Co., building a line for the Texas Power and Light Co. from here to near Rusk.

Washington's Big 'Sideshow' Has Everything

WASHINGTON (AP) — The show was late in starting and producer Richard Adler was nervously whispering to an aide:

"Remember, protocol-wise, Sally Ann Howes has to first shake the President's hand, then present the flowers to Mrs. Johnson, then just greet the Humphreys."

A few minutes later a man no one knew and many thought was smashed suddenly announced over the PA system: "George O'Doyle, will you please raise your hand?"

Among the 11,000 Democrats present Monday night for the inaugural gala at the National Armory it was difficult to see a hand go up or find out who O'Doyle was.

MINUTES LATE
Finally, things got started only 40 minutes late. The President and his party entered while the photographers crept forward like Baluba tribesmen.

Miss Howes, the producer's wife, presented her late-blooming protocols, and the show began. It had a little bit of everything.

Alfred Hitchcock, the movie director turned emcee, referred to Hubert H. Humphrey being at the "awkward age — he's no longer a senator and not yet a vice president."

Hitchcock also delivered "a word from our sponsor. Friends of the loyal opposition, do you still suffer from the Nov. 4 morning-after feeling? Do you feel that your group had all the cavities? Are you hurt because no one put you in the driver's seat? Well, now you can relax and leave the driving to us."

There were songs by Bobby Darin, including "Mack the Knife," which the emcee said was dedicated by the Army Reserve to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. There was a monologue by comic Woody Allen, who asked the President for "federal intervention in marriage."
