Funeral Thursday
For Dr. G. T. Hall

Last rites for Dr. Granville Tatum Hall, 82, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the First Methodist Church with close friends of long years officiating.

Dr. J. Richard Spann, Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. Alsie H. Carleton, Dallas, both former pastors, will come here to join Dr. H. Clyde Smith, pastor, in the services. Graveside rites will be conducted by Staked Plains Masonic Lodge 598 in City Cemetery. The body will be in state at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home until shortly before time for the services.

Dr. Hall died Tuesday in the Howard County Hospital Foundation soon after suffering a heart attack while at work in his office in the Permian Building. Mrs. Hall was at his bedside at the time of his passing.

SURVIVORS

Dr. Hall is survived by his widow, the former Florence Free, to whom he was married April 9, 1931 in Dallas; by a daughter, Miss Florence Marie Hall of Big Spring and Dallas; by a nephew, A. G. Hall, Big Spring; a great nephew, Capt. Sam Hulin Hall, St. Louis, Mo.; two great-great nephews, Sam Hulin Hall III and Christopher Tatum Hall; and a great-great-niece, Mary Kimberly Hall, all of St. Louis; two cousins, Mrs. Lydia Mahon and Miss Minnie Hall, both of Beaumont.

Dr. Hall was born Nov. 22, 1882 in Cleburne and came here as a youth with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hall. He was graduated from Big Spring High School, and he largely worked his way through Texas Medical School in Galveston where he graduated in 1906. He did his internship in John Sealy Hospital in Galveston and post-graduate work at Bellevue Hospital in New York City. In 1908 he returned to Big Spring to enter practice with Dr. J. H. Hurt, a pioneer physician who had encouraged him in his ambition to be a doctor.

Dr. Hall practiced for many years with his offices over what is now the State National Bank, and it was there that a young associate, Dr. Marion H. Bennett, joined him. Together they built the Big Spring Hospital (now Howard County Hospital Foundation) to supply modern medical facilities to a community suddenly propelled into boom growth.

BIRDWELL HOME

Earlier, seeing the urgent need for hospital facilities, Dr. Hall had been instrumental in securing a lease on the John Birdwell home at Ninth and Goliad and interested the Sisters of Mercy in operating it as a hospital. It was across the street that he and Dr. Bennett eventually erected their hospital.

Few, if any, physicians in this area had practiced as long as Dr. Hall. Although he had multiple business interests, he never wavered in his interest as a medical practitioner. Even though past the age when most men retire, he frequently made house calls to his patients and never failed to remind them to call him anytime if they felt he were needed. Typical of him, he called to his nurse and gave instructions when he felt the heart attack coming on.

Dr. Hall had been honored in 1959 by the Permian Basin Medical Society for his long and distinguished service, both as a general practitioner and as an outstanding surgeon.

INVESTMENTS

He had broad investments in farms, ranch and oil properties, and in recent years he had developed one of the area's leading registered Hereford herds. He also had experimented in cropping practices on his farm near Lomax.

He was a member of the Permian Basin Medical Society, the Texas Medical Society, the American Medical Association. He also was a member of Staked Plains Masonic Lodge 598, Big Spring Chapter 178, Big Spring Commandry 31 Knights Templar, a member of the Shrine Hella Temple in Dallas, and a member of the Big Spring Rotary Club.

Pallbearers will be Merle Stewart, Dr. C. E. Thomas Jr., Robert Stripling, Jack Cook, H. G. Keaton, R. W. Baker and Elmo Wasson of Big Spring, and Jeff Davis, Midland. All friends and members of the society will be considered honorary pallbearers.

Borger Coach

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Gene Mayfield, 36, of Borger was announced today as the new head football coach at Permian High School. Mayfield, head coach at Borger since 1957, received a three-year contract for $10,871 a year. This was the same salary given the new Odessa High School Henry Watkins of McAllen. Mayfield succeeds Jim Cashley. Watkins replaced Bradley Mills. Cashion and Mills were dismissed last month. Mayfield will take over the post Feb. 1.

Hand Resting On Bible,
President Repeats Oath

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon Baines Johnson, 36th president of the United States, renewed his oath of office today. Standing bareheaded in the cold before a great throng massed at the Capitol's east portico, the Texas solemnly repeated the historic oath: "I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States. So help me God."

Other spiritual leaders offering prayers were Rabbi Hyman Judah Schachtel of Beth Israel Congregation, Houston; and Greek Orthodox Archbishop Iakovos. Six limousines had brought the presidential party from the White House to the Capitol. In the first were the President, the First Lady and Sen. B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina, chairman of the joint congressional committee on the inauguration. The inauguration ceremony proper was but the first of three major events. The others: —The grand parade down Pennsylvania Avenue, the "Thoroughfare of Presidents." By suggestion of Johnson, the parade was stripped of much of the military might displayed in the past — it was intended, instead, to stress the nation's peaceful achievements, past, present and to come. —The ball, spread over a huge armory and four big hotels. The President and the vice president, Hubert H. Humphrey, will look in tonight at all these balls, where some 27,000 dressed-up people will dance, if they have the temerity. The First Lady readied her dress of jonquil, double-woven satin, Mrs. Humphrey hers of shimmering lavender. Security forces were bent on doing all possible to protect the President. Though the exuberant Johnson would much rather ride unguarded and free to mingle, the word was that he had agreed to go in the re-armored presidential limousine, equipped now with a bubbletop of 1½-inch glass.

mother's well-worn Bible, and his right hand was raised.

For the inauguration, marking the beginning of his first four-year term in the White House, Johnson wore a business suit of Oxford gray, almost black.

A cold breeze swept the winter scene. For the historic ceremony and the parade gentry and gaiety to follow, the security was unparalleled in American history.

The oath was administered by Earl Warren, white-haired chief justice of the United States, who wore his black robe.

Earlier, House Speaker John W. McCormack had given the vice-presidential oath to Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, also swept into office in the deluge of votes last November.

The ceremonies included patriotic selections by the U.S. Marine Band. The Most Rev. Robert E. Lucey, Roman Catholic archbishop of San Antonio, Tex., gave the invocation. He said "the fate of humanity is in our hands," and continued: "We pray that Almighty God may grant to the leader of our country wisdom and understanding, strength and courage."

OTHER PRAYERS Prayers were offered up too by the Rev. George R. Davis of the National City Christian Church, Washington, the denomination to which Johnson belongs. The minister beseeched: "Help our President, O God, to help us keep remembering that we are one family as a nation, and that we are but one nation in a family of nations..."

Vice President Humphrey
Changed Man Starting Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey, the man who battled so hard for the presidential nomination four years ago, begins today his "new life and new experiences" as Lyndon B. Johnson's vice president.

For the bustling, staccato-talking Minnesotan, the new life may be a bit tight here and a bit loose there, like the new dinner jacket he hopes to wear at tonight's inaugural ball.

"I'm going to put on my new tuxedo, if they get it altered," he promised a "rong of friends and well-wishers."

SLIGHTLY ALTERED Humphrey has already tried on his new life for size — and he has been slightly altered to fit it.

He and his wife Muriel know things won't ever be quite the same for the Humphreys. Now and then they look back. With tongue partly in cheek Humphrey acknowledged, "I have all sorts of mixed thoughts."

You could see some of the change Tuesday night as he made the rounds of a big three-ring reception in his honor at a local hotel.

The old Humphrey, the "Happy Warrior" of the campaign only 10 weeks or so ago, would have plunged into the crowd, shaking hands, patting backs and talking, talking, talking.

Tuesday night the Secret Service slipped him along back corridors so that he made his grand entrance close to the speaker's platform in each of the three rooms of the reception.

EYE ON CLOCK The old Humphrey had a way of forgetting the clock when talking to people. He'd shake off campaign aides who tried to get him moving along to the next stop. "These people came to hear me," he'd say.

Tuesday night he had his eye on the clock. He had a date to attend the inaugural concert with President Johnson, and he told the hundreds who packed the vast hotel ballroom that the concert begins "at 8:30 p.m. on the dot."

It would not be good to keep the President waiting, particularly the night before his first day on the job.

But the high-domed man began talking to the hundreds of people who had paid $5 a ticket to see him. It was the same old Humphrey — quipping one moment, sentimental the next; introducing his relatives and friends and politicians from back home; asking the crowd's prayers so that he would be worthy of their friendship and support; asking its prayers that he be a good vice president and a help to Johnson.

As much as anyone, Mrs. Humphrey felt the change. She looked at the scores of old friends around her and said with emotion "It's a sentimental night. It seems like goodbye, but it isn't. It's a new beginning."

Johnson said the United States was conceived in justice, and he said that means that all its citizens must "share in the fruits of the land."

"HEALING MIRACLES" "In a land of wealth, families must not live in hopeless poverty," Johnson said. "In a land rich in harvest, children must not go hungry. In a land of healing miracles, neighbors must not suffer and die unattended. In a land of learning, young people must be taught to read and write."

Johnson called on the nation to "join reason to faith and action to experience, to transform our new unity of interest into a new unity of purpose."

"For the time has come to achieve progress without strife and change without hatred," the President said, "not without difference of opinion, but without the deep and abiding divisions which scar the union for generations."

Johnson said his Great Society is not to be "the ordered, changeless, and sterile battalion of the ants."

"It is the excitement of becoming—always becoming, trying, probing, failing, resting, and trying again—but always gaining," he said.

"WHAT WE ARE" "If the nation succeeds, it will be "not because of what we have, but what we are; not because of what we own, but what we believe . . ."

We believe every man must someday be free," he said. "And we believe in ourselves."

"That is the mistake our enemies have always made," Johnson said. "In my lifetime — in depression and war—they have awaited our defeat. Each time, from the secret places of the American heart, came forth the faith they could not see or even imagine. It brought us victory. It will again."

Johnson said the United States was conceived in justice, and he said that means that all its citizens must "share in the fruits of the land."

"HEALING MIRACLES" "In a land of wealth, families must not live in hopeless poverty," Johnson said. "In a land rich in harvest, children must not go hungry. In a land of healing miracles, neighbors must not suffer and die unattended. In a land of learning, young people must be taught to read and write."

Restlessness
Gone From Sir Winston

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill slept peacefully through the night and his restlessness is gone, his doctor announced today.

A medical bulletin issued just before noon said: "There is little to record. The restlessness has gone and Sir Winston has slept peacefully through the night and morning. There will be another bulletin this evening."

It was the 12th bulletin issued since the 90-year-old statesman suffered a stroke last Friday.

Security Setup
Makes History

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's inaugural is being safeguarded by the most massive security precautions ever devised for a chief executive.

During the oath-taking and the inaugural address, before tens of thousands of spectators fanned out below the Capitol steps, the President stands behind a three-sided, bulletproof screen of glass.

The protective cage has a sheet of 1½-inch glass directly in front of the podium, like the one at the White House reviewing stand, but in addition has flanking panes extending back diagonally on each side to deflect a bullet fired from any possible angle.

Helicopters, television scanners, armed Secret Service men on rooftops, a rebuilt and rearmored presidential limousine, and some 5,000 policemen, National Guardsmen and regular troopers are among the further unprecedented precautions.

With President John F. Kennedy's assassination in mind, special attention has been given to building tops and windows along the parade route from the Capitol to the White House. Even manholes in Pennsylvania Avenue have been checked.

Orders have been issued that all windows overlooking the parade be kept closed. Even regular government workers must have special one-day passes to get into their own buildings.

First Mid-Term Graduation
Ceremonies Set Thursday

The first mid-term commencement exercises for Big Spring High School graduates is set for 8 p.m. Thursday at the high school auditorium. Thirty-nine candidates have been named to receive diplomas, and include 10 boys and 29 girls.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, will deliver the address.

John F. Smith, principal who will certify the graduates, said all candidates will wear the regular caps and gowns for the exercises, and that the program for them this year follows school board authorization for mid-term commencement.

Supt. Sam Anderson will preside at the meeting; the procession will be by LaNell Meredith; invocation by the Rev. L. D. Green, pastor of East Fourth Street Baptist Church; "From Sea to Shining Sea," by the a cappella choir directed by Milvern Ivey; address by Dr. Hunt; certification of graduates

John F. Smith; introduction of graduates by Harold D. Bentley, assistant principal; presentation of diplomas by members of the board of education; "Dear Old Big Spring High," by the graduates; benediction by Rev. Green, and recessional by Kay Dyer.

Candidates for the mid-term commencement are: Judith Rose Atkinson, Sharon Ann Bell,

Glenn George Brown, Oleta Faye Burdette, Reene Ann Cox, Candra Lynn Dyer, Linda Kay Dyer, Alton Lloyd Fields, Judith Elaine Forshee, Barbara Sue Grant, Beverly Ann Green, Virginia Ann Grisham, Nancy Jane Hardesty, Gwendolyn Elaine Hughes, Brenda Sue Henry, Helen Pauline Jones, Paula Sue Leonard, Tommy Aljen Loving, Ralph Burdette Lydic;

Also, Mary Frances Made-well, Jimmie LaNell Meredith, Mary Katherine McNallen, Patrick Lynn Nelson, Tommy M. Newton, Cynthia Ann Nolen, Janice Marie Owens, Jo Beth Pettus, Sandra Kay Phillips, Daniel Ray Plowman, Patricia Ann Roberts, James Franklin Rogers, Nancy Lea Sessions, Nellie Sue Sewell, Thela Diane Smith, Robert Keith Sneed, Patricia Ann Turner, Cheryl Ann Waits, Barbara Jean Wilson, Donna Michelle Yates.

Mrs. C.M. Mitchell To Attend Second Inauguration Dinner

LAMESA (SC) — Mrs. C. M. Mitchell doesn't know what the State Inauguration dinner menu in Austin on Jan. 26 will be, but she does know if it includes sauerkraut and lemon pie, it's sure to be a big hit with her son, Lt. Gov. Preston E. Smith.

Mrs. Mitchell, who lives at 1099 North Fourth Street in Lamesa, plans to attend the inauguration with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Freeman of this city. They plan to spend the night of Jan. 25 in Salado and drive to Austin the next day. Mrs. Mitchell attended the 1963 inauguration, and in her own words, she "had a ball." "Preston had reserved three or four tables at a dinner in the Capitol for his brothers and sisters who were attending, but only a few found their way through the mob to eat with us. The rest wound up back at the hotel where we were staying and ate there."

Preston Smith was reared in a large family, the seventh of 12 children. "If you don't think it takes government to run a house full of kids you should have seen our place," he said. "I still don't see how my folks did it. It was rather like the state government. Every one of us kids had different interests and my mother and father had the job of seeing that every one was pleased and treated fairly."

GIVE AND TAKE
"I learned very early that it's pretty important to be able to give and take, and you've got to think not so much in terms of what you want as an individual but of the general welfare of all."

Preston E. Smith was born in Williamson County and moved to Gaines County in 1923. He lived with his family on a farm located on the Dawson-Gaines County line. After completing what the nearest county school offered, he was sent to Lamesa to finish high school, living with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McWhorter during his senior year, 1929-30. He worked after school for Gus Ragsdale.

Mrs. Mitchell said Preston is believed to have been the first boy from Gaines County to get a college degree. When he left to attend Texas Tech in 1931 Mrs. Mitchell said he and Eddie Lee of Lamesa "hatched" together. He borrowed $50 from Mr. Ragsdale to pay his tuition and found his first job in Lubbock as a filling station attendant. Before he finished college, he had his own station. On week-ends Preston came home and Mrs. Mitchell would fill a 10 gallon "lard can" with enough food to last him a week. There was always home-baked bread, homemade cheese, canned vegetables, eggs and meat, killed and cured on the farm. From this she was able to fix a "pretty good" food ration for the coming week, so good he had to hide some from his friends.

She said one Sunday he came home unexpectedly, and it did not take long to find out why. Someone had stolen his shoes and overcoat and he was home for money to buy shoes so he could meet his classes the next day.

BIG FAMILY
Mrs. Mitchell married Mr. Smith when she was only 19. He was a widower with five children and the youngest was two years old at the time. She and Mr. Smith had seven children during their marriage. Preston was the oldest boy.

MRS. C. M. MITCHELL

"We bought groceries by the barrel. We raised our own garden and made sauerkraut and pickles in 55 gallon barrels. Our family could eat a gallon of molasses at one meal, so we had to have a large amount," she recalled.

Part of the Smith family had dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman last Christmas. Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Smith were there. They had turkey with all the trimmings, but when they sat down to eat the lieutenant governor said: "Mom, where's the sauerkraut?"

Preston Smith entered Texas politics in 1944 as state representative and was first elected

TOPS Hear Trio Sing

A trio of singers furnished a musical program for members of the TOPS Pound Rebels Tuesday evening in the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College. The group, introduced by Mrs. N. B. Perkins, were Mary, Margaret and Floretta Rau.

Plans were made by several members to attend the Texas TOPS State Recognition Day sessions in Fort Worth April 16-17.

Mrs. Grady McCrary gave the opening prayer, and Mrs. Earl Evans presided. A total weight loss of 14 pounds for the week was reported by the group. Mrs. Walter Trim and Mrs. Jesse Talton received attendance prizes and Mrs. C. L. Lunsford was a guest.

Lesson Concerns Death Of Myth

The third lesson from "The Death of a Myth" was given by Mrs. Henry Parmenter to members of the Esther Circle of Kentwood Methodist Church when they met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Bob Rybolt, 2607 Lynn.

Mrs. Bob Cozart asked for donations of coffee tables for the second year nursery. A letter of thanks from the Bennett House for their work at a party last week was read, and the group made plans to furnish gifts for games in the future.

Mrs. Henry Salley and Mrs. C. W. Parmenter worded prayers. Refreshments were served to 12 members. Mrs. Salley will be hostess at the Jan. 26 meeting.

Ruth Group Sets Kitchen Clean-Up

Mrs. Justin Holmes, president of the Ruth Group, announced the Christian Women's Fellowship will conduct a kitchen clean-up Feb. 4 in the First Christian Church and urged members to attend. The announcement was made Tuesday when the group met in the home of Mrs. Brown Rogers, 612 Dallas.

The Ruth Group will furnish cookies Jan. 27 at the state hospital.

Mrs. Preach Martin gave the lesson on Matthew, and Mrs. John Black Jr. worded the devotion.

Refreshments were served to 11 members and a guest, Mrs. Maxine Mahoney.

Western Party
Bill Underwood Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Underwood, Ackerly, celebrated his fourth birthday at a party held in his home Monday. Gifts were presented to 18 guests, and a Western theme used in the party decor.

Cook Book Publication Scheduled

Plans for the publication of a cook book were discussed by members of the American Legion Auxiliary Monday evening when the group met in the Legion Hall.

The book, entitled "The Art of Cookery in Big Spring" and compiled by the American Legion Auxiliary, will be published in the spring and each member will contribute favorite recipes. The selling price will be $1.50. Special recognition was given by Mrs. Dave Cothran, president, to Mrs. Leonard Barlow, Mrs. N. A. Rickman and Mrs. Byron Hill for special work done on the club project.

Donations of $5 were made to the March of Dimes and the M. D. Anderson Memorial Hospital in Houston. Four letters were sent to congressmen in support of continuation and appropriations for the House committee on un-American activities.

A coffee pot was presented to the auxiliary by Mrs. Rickman. Fifty copies of the booklet, "Rights and Benefits of Veteran's Widows and Orphans" will be placed in funeral homes and hospitals.

Mrs. H. D. Bruton gave the closing prayer.

TELLS LIFE

Panel Presents History At Rebekah Meeting

A program on Thomas Wildey, founder of Odd Fellows, was given by a panel at the Tuesday meeting of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284. Participants were Mrs. A. J. McCall, Mrs. A. F. Gilliland and Miss Shirley Lee.

A school of instruction was conducted by Mrs. Delbert Lee who presented a certificate of perfection in the unwritten work to Mrs. Gene Crenshaw. Mrs. Gordon Gross was awarded a certificate for her semi-annual reports.

A. F. Gilliland, degree team captain, announced initiation will be held Jan. 26 and urged all members to attend. A letter of thanks from the state hospital was read concerning the group's work at the hospital during the Christmas season. Mrs. Georgia Woods, assembly president, wrote of the activities at the children's and old folk's homes during the holidays. The lodge made plans to give a watch to their ward at the children's home in Ennis on his birthday.

Refreshment committee members are Mrs. L. A. Griffith, Mrs. Wayne Moore and Mrs. McCall. Forty members reported 44 visits to the sick.

Shower Fetes Miss Overton

Miss Deanna Kay Overton, bride-elect of Eddie Sinkovitz, was honored Tuesday evening with a pre-nuptial gift shower in the Lees Home Demonstration Clubhouse. Miss Overton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Overton, Rt. 2, and her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew P. Sinkovitz, Wilmington, Del.

Hostesses for the complimentary affair were Mrs. E. J. Engel, Mrs. Eddie Engel, Mrs. Jim Nelson, Mrs. T. D. Crowder, Mrs. Bill Hughes, Mrs. Dee Armstrong, Mrs. William Schaffer, Miss Betty Jo Schraeder and Miss Deanie Robinson.

The honoree and her mother were presented corsages of white carnations tied with blue and silver ribbons, and the hostesses' gift to the future bride was an electric blanket.

The honoree's chosen colors of white, silver and blue were used on the refreshment table where the floor-length cloth was of white silk damask and appointments were of silver and crystal. Centering the table was a bride doll standing on a base encircled with blue roses and fern. An outer circle was formed of wedding bells threaded with blue and white satin ribbon. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Eddie Engel, Mrs. E. J. Engel and Miss Schraeder.

A blue and white cutwork cloth covered the gift table which was graced with a bouquet of red roses interspersed with green fern and lemon leaves. The arrangement was a gift from the prospective bride-

Mrs. Neil Norred Gives Lecture On Hat Construction

How to make hats was shown by Mrs. Neil Norred, a guest, when the Opti-Mrs. Club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. L. H. Sims, 3301 NW 11th.

Mrs. Norred began her lecture-demonstration by using a bare shell and showed hats in various stages of construction.

During the business session, the group pledged a donation to a Little League baseball team which they will sponsor, and Mrs. J. D. Doyle was welcomed as a new member.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, and the next meeting was announced for Feb. 23 when a luncheon will be held at the Downtown Tea Room. Thirteen were present.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Powder Cleanser Used On Stains

Dear Heloise: For mothers whose babies have stains on their garments. I wonder now how I ever managed without it? . . . A Reader

I found that if I brush the stains with a solution of household cleanser (that contains bleach) and some hot water, and let it sit, the stains will disappear.

This solution is also great for removing grape juice stains. I do not know if this procedure would work on a very old stain. . . Flora

Dear Flora: How right you are. I tried this on an old stain on a white linen napkin, and it took out every bit of the stain.

I dampened the napkin thoroughly, sprinkled the white cleanser on the stain, then scrubbed it up and down and sideways with a vegetable brush.

HELOISE I left the napkin in the sink for about two hours before I washed and rinsed it with hot water.

Remember that this cleanser contains bleach and might damage colored fabrics. . . Heloise.

Dear Heloise: If you tire of the usual shower curtain and want a change . . . buy two and put them up on the rod, crisscross fashion.

Purchase two plastic flower runners (like sweet peas or morning-glories), bend them into a loop and hook the ends on brass hooks in the wall. Use the runners as tiebacks.

When taking a shower, unhook one end of the flower runner from the brass hooks. After your shower, rehook the flowers.

I purchased light blue shower curtains and used morning-glory runners of the same color. . . Mrs. John Brannely

Dear Heloise: The cupboard doors under my sink are wood. On one, I've attached a shoe bag, and I keep all my treasures, such as paper or plastic bags, small containers for food

Texas Flavor Notable At Inaugural Events

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texans whooped it up in this festive and crowded Capitol today. It was the fourth consecutive presidential inauguration with a decided, if not dominant, Texas flavor.

An estimated 2,000 Texans came to Washington for the inauguration of native son Lyndon Johnson.

Other Texans, perhaps thousands, work or live here.

Inaugurations of 1953 and 1957 were Texas days, too. Dwight Eisenhower was the first native Texan to become president. The 1961 inauguration had a Texas accent since Johnson became vice president.

Texas had the places of honor in the inaugural parade.

Johnson's limousine led the long procession. Not far behind, in the No. 1 position for states, was the car of Gov. John Connally of Texas.

Texas and Minnesota each had two bands in the parade. All other states were held to one.

The smart University of Texas band, 207 strong, followed the governor's car. Then came the marching "strutters" from Johnson's college, Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos. In this unit were 187 girls and 113 boys.

Also in the Texas section was a spectacular float, a model scale reproduction of the LBJ Ranch, with American and Texas flags and flowing water depicting the Pedernales River.

The over-all inaugural committee chairman was Dale Miller, who represents the Dallas Chamber of Commerce here.

JESTER DAUGHTER

The chairman of the parade committee was retired Col. Howard Burris, whose wife is the daughter of the late Texas Gov. Beauford Jester of Corsicana. Mrs. Burris was chairman of the float committee.

Warren Woodward, an aide to Johnson when he was a senator and one time manager of the Johnsons' Austin radio station, is chairman of the inaugural ball committee. Woodward is a vice president of American Airlines here.

Two Texas congressmen with homes near the Capitol held open houses today for visitors from their home districts. They were Reps. Jack Brooks of Beaumont and W. R. Poage of Waco.

WATCH ON TV

The Poages invited all those who could not get seats for the inauguration itself and the parade to watch by television in the Poage house.

Among others giving private affairs were Sen. Ralph Yarborough, who held a reception in the Senate wing of the Capitol Monday honoring the three new Texas congressmen.

Aside from the inauguration, the biggest event of all for Texans was Tuesday night's reception by the Texas State Society of Washington in honor of Con-

Inaugural Parade Great Spectacular

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's great spectacular, the inaugural parade, rolled around again today to the sounds of music and the smiles of pretty girls.

This outdoor salute to President Lyndon B. Johnson included 31 floats to carry the girls. For nearly 15,000 men, and high school boys and girls, it was a cold weather hike on foot.

Fifty-four bands, 12 of them military and 42 civilian, shared in the job of making music to pace the marchers and stir up the crowds along Pennsylvania Avenue from the Capitol to the White House.

This year the big push was for quality rather than size — and to get the whole thing over with before dark. Sundown comes at 5:16 p.m. and no one wanted a personal interest in the high school band from Doland, S.D. He was one of its first members, back in the 1920s, when he played the baritone horn.

Cars carrying President and Mrs. Johnson, Vice President and Mrs. Humphrey, the Johnson daughters and the Humphrey children were grouped in the parade's first division, behind the U.S. Army band and men from the 3rd Infantry.

There were seats to seat 20,000 spectators — paying $3.50 to $25 each — along the line of curbs for hundreds of thousands more to stand. Cardboard periscopes to look over the shoulders of those in front, were available from street vendors. As early as Monday, one store was advertising ladders to sit on.

Income Way Up, Birch Group Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The John Birch Society in 1964 nearly doubled its 1963 gross income, says its national public relations director.

A Devotional For The Day

Be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity. (I Timothy 4:12)
PRAYER: Help me to remember, O God, how much others are influenced by my example. Make my life a candle by whose light those around me may see the meaning of true fellowship with Thee. In the Redeemer's name I humbly pray. Amen.

Precarious Predicting

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert has the unenviable task, under Texas' pay-as-you-go constitutional rule, of estimating state revenues 2 1/2 years in advance. That estimate limits what the Legislature can appropriate without levying additional taxation.

Calvert had good news for Gov. Connally and the 59th Legislature. Revenues for the remainder of this, and the next, biennium are estimated to exceed all previous expectations. That is a big boost to Connally's legislative program, and it takes some of the new-tax pressure off the Legislature.

It should be remembered, however, that the $97.5 million surplus anticipated at the end of this fiscal year Sept. 1 is the result of the comptroller underestimating revenues two years ago. Tax collections geared to business activity, especially the general sales tax, brought in much more than expected.

Calvert was justified in that conservative estimate in 1963. How many then foresaw that the national economy would continue into 1965 the steepest, steepest upsurge in peacetime history? Calvert had to hedge against recession, or at least a leveling off.

This state comptroller's conservatism in such estimates takes on a favorable significance in his latest revenue estimate. His expectation that revenues, under existing tax rates, will rise steadily through the 1965-67 biennium is based on the forecast that national economic expansion will continue through 1965 at the present rate and taper off only slightly during the following two years.

That is, if anything, a bit more optimistic than the current consensus among professional economists.

Should the national economy take a downturn, or even level off, the Texas state government could run into red ink during the next biennium. Such is the close relationship between state fiscal policies and federal economic policy.

Consider The Private College

The consideration of more adequate support of institutions of higher education as a means of coming abreast of national averages and achieving a greater degree of excellence cannot leave out the role of private colleges.

Indeed, the plans outlined by Gov. John Connally take into account the part that these institutions are playing. A lessening of that role would be disastrous not only to them, but also to the over-all program as well.

Private, mainly church-supported, higher education preceded public higher education in Texas by a generation in the mid-19th Century. Today, however, the trend to public higher education, already dominant, is accelerating so rapidly that the survival of the private institutions is at least a future concern. And how much of the massive new total enrollment they can absorb is an immediate concern.

In 1962, enrollment in public institutions of higher education of all ranks was 146,417, against 67,348 in private colleges. By 1964 there were 190,924 in public colleges, 61,297 in private ones.

Since 1962, state senior colleges have increased from 19 to 20, with two more coming into the system this year. The Connally program envisions a substantial increase in the state's 32 public junior colleges. Meanwhile, the number of private institutions—34 senior and 17 junior—has remained static.

Lacking tax support, the private colleges are finding it increasingly difficult to compete with public colleges—in faculty salaries, physical plant and student costs (especially because of tuition rates). As public financing of the state colleges rapidly mounts, what is going to happen to the private institutions?

One suggestion has been that of a system of fellowships and undergraduate scholarships. Another has been that state tuition be increased to represent a more equitable share in costs. Whatever the answer may be, it is time to start seeking it.

Where Churchill Was—And Johnson Is

WASHINGTON — By the kind of dramatic coincidence history provides, the last great figure out of the turbulent past is leaving the stage as the inauguration confirms a new era.

Winston Churchill was the very spirit of his age. He charged into danger like the valiant warrior that he was. In the two great climactic wars of our century he was at the center of the strife full of great schemes and great endeavors. And if, as at Gallipoli in World War I, they failed, the fault was more often that of timid compromise imposed on his bold concept.

THE CHURCHILL of the crisis era is the indelible stamp he has left on his time. But what is forgotten is the bitter frustration of his role between the wars. And this last may be the most important lesson out of his career for our age of affluence.

As a Tory back-bencher in the Thirties he rallied against the smug complacency of the policies of withdrawal and retreat that Stanley Baldwin tailored to the mood of a war-weary Britain. He saw the true menace of Hitler's rise and the resurgence of a Germany rearmored for conquest. Almost alone among public men in the West his was a voice crying in the wilderness of indifference and timid refusal to face the facts.

THERE WAS even the intimation that he would manufacture a crisis if he could in order to come back to power. But the doom that fell on Europe in those fateful months of 1940 was not of his making.

In all outward aspects Lyndon Johnson, who by the happenstance of fate is the principal figure of the new era, could hardly offer a greater contrast to the leader of the past. President Johnson holds to the conviction of the consensus both at home and abroad. His words are pacific.

Progress Since JFK Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the long view, what was accomplished between President John F. Kennedy's inauguration four years ago and President Johnson's today may not seem much. But there was progress.

Kennedy had no illusions when he took office Jan. 20, 1961, about what could be done, for he said: "The problems facing the nation might not be solved 'in our lifetime.' Johnson hasn't set a timetable, either.

That he intends to push is clear. He has already hit Congress with major programs before it is back at work a month. He has promised to go overseas as part of his search for solutions, as Kennedy did.

But Kennedy apparently got more done, sitting in the White House, than by his travels. It was there he arranged the limited nuclear test-ban treaty and made the show-down decision on the Cuban missile crisis.

Johnson, remembering that and some of the emptiness of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's trips, can have no illusions about the magic of summit meetings.

IN ANY four-year period a thousand events mushroom into headlines. When time blows the clouds away just a few can be discerned as major achievements. Two were outstanding in foreign affairs: The limited test-ban treaty and the missile crisis. But there were ominous events, too.

The treaty, signed by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union, made the world healthier to live in. But neither France nor Red China, both on the road to nuclear power, signed.

Since China had its first atomic explosion last year, the speed of its progress in this field is menacing by itself, even though for some years it may not have deliverable weapons.

When Kennedy forced Premier Khrushchev to take his missiles out of Cuba, he left no doubt, if the Russians had any, this country would go to war if necessary. Then American-Soviet relations improved, tensions eased.

ON THE debit side the American-backed war in Viet Nam against communism was dwindling in chaos. This had its own somber implications. A Communist victory may end with Red China running all Southeast Asia in time.

The NATO alliance was getting rickety when Kennedy took over. This hasn't improved. The United Nations got itself into the ludicrous position of arguing over its members' obligations, particularly the Soviet Union's, to pay their dues.

There were two major achievements at home from the joint effort of two presidents and Congress.

Kennedy had sought approval of four programs above all: An $11.5-billion tax cut, biggest in history; a civil rights bill, strongest in this century; federal aid to education; medical care for the aged through Social Security.

He got none of them through Congress but his successor, Johnson, pushed hard and got the first two. This year Congress had hardly returned before he told them he wants the other two. And he may get them.

NO LESS significant in these past four years, although less tangible, was the voters' rejection of Sen. Barry Goldwater's particular brand of conservatism and their approval of the much more moderate Johnson.

Since this was the first time in at least a generation the voters had such a clear-cut choice between those two schools of thought and government, the direction in this country seems clear for years:

A continuation of the Kennedy-Johnson kind of foreign policy and the increasing role of the government in American life, particularly in taking a greater responsibility for the general welfare, with all that means.

Jibes At Middle-Age

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a middle-aged man gets tired of hearing:

"Take it easy — you know you're not as young as you used to be."

"Why Arnold Vespers, you old rascal, imagine meeting you after all these years! You've changed so — I hardly recognized you."

"Frankly, I think you're foolish to go on fighting bifocals. The sooner you start wearing them, the easier it will be to adjust to them."

"I'D LOVE to pour you another martini, dear, but you know what the doctor said: One before dinner—and none after."

"And this is a picture of Arnold and his college school graduation class. Wasn't he handsome — then?"

"This new cemetery we're planning 'll be the best in town, socially speaking, and we thought that you, as a — uh — well, as a man of mature years, would be interested in selecting a plot now on a purchase-before-negotiation basis. The saying is really quite remarkable."

"On his last birthday, Arnold ran out of wind trying to blow out the candles on his cake."

"What in the world do you want to buy a plaid hat for? They're for younger men."

"TEN YEARS ago I might have gotten jealous if I'd found this blonde hair on your coat, Arnold. Not now."

"Shall we do something really exciting tonight, dear — like staying up and watching the late show on television?"

"I gave away your tennis racket, Arnold. After all, you haven't used it for years and years."

"Remember how hard I used to have to fight you to get you to put on your rubbers and carry an umbrella when it rained? I'm glad you're finally getting sensible."

Around The Rim

The Comparison Is Odious, Too

With considerable trepidation, I bring up the subject of what has happened to "er" and "est" when it comes to the comparative and the superlative degrees.

Perhaps it would be simpler if these degrees were fixed inflexibly by "more" and "most," but when we were exposed to the rudiments of English, the preferred usage of most of this was to hold it to one word with "er" and "est."

TODAY THERE seems to be an insidious assault upon this custom. Things are no longer prettier than they were, or the prettiest we ever beheld — no, indeed, Susie is more pretty than Mary (you could get a debate on that without bringing grammar into it), and Eloise is the most pretty girl in school.

I note that some public figure declared that this was "the most proud moment in my life." A few years ago he would have had to settle for proudest. Maybe he wouldn't have felt like boasting had it only taken one word to express the bounds of his personal joy.

SPEAKING OF joy, happy is one of these words which seem to invite more and more. No longer are you happier than you were yesterday; you are more happy. You cannot be the happiest person alive, because if you are that happy, you are the most happy person in the world. Of course, this has some merit, for what would we have done for a title in "Most Happy Fella" had we stuck to plain "est"?

I GRANT YOU I am straining at the gnat, and I suppose this gesture toward simplicity and consistency of form may be just as well since some words just don't lend themselves to "er" and "est." It doesn't sound right if you are beautiful than she, even if you are; or that you had the wonderfulest time, even assuming that you did.

One of the hidden dangers, however, is that having decimated our suffixes, the simplifier will mix up the degrees. For example, John is most ugly than Sam, or Pete is more handsome of all the boys.

AND THERE is the further danger of bringing comparison into the picture by irregular inflection. Again, for instance, Pete is the least unhandsonest boy in the school, i.e. Pete wins hands down in the most-handsome contest.

Oh, well, everyone to his taste. As for me, I had rather leave it as I learned it — or should I say rather-est?

Culture To Go Along With Science

WASHINGTON — "Man is astonishingly good at dealing with the physical world, but he is just as astonishingly bad at dealing with human nature; therefore, an inch gained in the understanding of and command over human nature is worth a mile in the understanding and command over physical nature." Arnold Toynbee, "A Study of History."

FLYING BACK and forth between Washington and his home, Congressman William Moorhead (D., Pa.) had been reading and pondering on the one-sidedness of the American society. Ever since the Russian Sputniks flew — and before that — the weight of erudition and ambition has fallen to the side of the physical sciences.

The Federal government has encouraged this bias through the establishment of the National Science Foundation, and later in the Space Act. Money has poured into education from the Defense Department, NASA, and the National Institutes of Health. It was a good thing, thought the quiet-spoken, silver-haired soul, Yale '44, Harvard Law School '49. Not too much of a good thing, for the country needs its scientific competence, but a good thing out of balance.

HE WAS THINKING that Johnny can't read, think or articulate; that automation is pushing the labor force into an "abyss of leisure"; that the profound philosophic expertise which permitted the Founding Fathers to express immortal ideas in unforgettable prose is no longer at our general command. Then one day Moorhead, a reader of Toynbee, came across the foregoing passage and exclaimed, as he tells me, "That's just what I was trying to say!"

MOORHEAD SOON said it again in the legislative language of his bill to establish a National Humanities Foundation. The bill got lost at the last session but is now being introduced with numerous co-sponsors both from House and Senate. It proposes, in general, that the government do for the studies in English literature, foreign languages, history, philosophy, ethics and economics what has already been done for the natural sciences. Section Six of Moorhead's bill contains a specific prohibition against Federal interference in the proliferation of scholarships, fellowships, libraries and museums.

SINCE LAUNCHING his idea into orbit, Moorhead has been getting invitations to address learned and academic groups around the nation, and he has collected more than 1000 letters from 40 of our states. More than a few of the letters come from men and women who write in effect: "I have been teaching or practicing science all my life, but you are right and I'm for the bill."

Whether President Johnson is for it — the Moorhead package isn't part of the Great Society package — becomes the crucial question.

Thus far, the Moorhead effort is stronger in good intentions than it is in political propulsion. It needs behind it the driving power of men who would be agnostic to know that, while the Federal government provides for the same amount of money for students in American public schools without a central library of any kind.

The Indefensible War

WASHINGTON — Whatever else may be said about the United States' twilight war in Laos, it needs to be pointed out that it has conspicuously failed to fulfill its announced mission.

Bombing of Communist supply trails and depots in Laos was proposed (proposed after it was already underway, as it turns out) as a means of strifling the flow of arms to the Viet Cong. This, in turn, was to reduce their ability to fight, and thus make them receptive to some species of negotiated settlement.

IT HAS BEEN revealed now that raids against Viet Cong supply lines have been in progress since June, 1962. There has been no diminution of the Communist guerrilla war potential during that time. Indeed, even the eternally optimistic Pentagon line has been modified to admit now what every honest correspondent has known for two years — that the war is going very badly indeed for our side.

As a consequence it is not even possible to argue that this extension of war in Southeast Asia has the virtue of success. Raids in Laos have apparently been on a small scale, but experience in Korea taught that even large-scale air bombardment did not significantly reduce the enemy's ability to supply his troops.

THIS WAS understood, of course, before the first sortie was flown. Why, then, take the risks inherent in extending the war? And why further an act that is clearly in violation of the 1962 Geneva accord on the neutralization of Laos, which the United States and 13 other nations signed? The agreement spells out a clear prohibition against warlike acts based in or carried out against Laos, and we are in clear violation of it.

THE REASON for this extraordinarily — and extraordinarily dangerous — move is not hard to find. It is a manifestation of the growing mood of frustration in the nation's $50-billion-a-year Defense Establishment. We cannot endure the knowledge that our costly war machine may be defeated by barefooted irregulars. We will, in the phrase currently favored in the Pentagon, "raise the ante." Make it tough and expensive enough, this reasoning goes, and the enemy will quit.

UNFORTUNATELY for our side, the lessons of history do not support this rationale any more than they support the efficacy of aerial interdiction of supply. We made it expensive in Korea, and the enemy saw our raise. It appears that half a year of raising the ante in Laos has had the same effect, since it has been half a year of almost unbroken Viet Cong successes.

THE TROUBLE with raising the ante, to continue the poker analogy, is that the game stands in serious danger of turning into table stakes—that is, the players bet everything they can lay hands to. What is our response to be six months hence when it becomes clear that we have been called and we will have to raise again or get out of the game?

Second Time

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Loss of a gun didn't bother deer hunter Gary Bryant of Batesville, Ark.

Bryant was scouting the countryside with binoculars during the last deer season and spied a prize buck on a distant mountain.

He jumped into his car and raced to where he had seen the animal. But when he stopped he found he had left his gun behind.

Undaunted, he borrowed the gun next day and took off after another buck. This time his luck was better. He downed a nine-point, 225-pound specimen.

His luck carried even a bit further. A friend found the rifle he had lost and returned it to him.

Toy Tepees

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—A young Stuttgart father of three has invented a popular item for the younger set — out of plain cardboard.

From watching the kids play with an old box at home, Jay McEntire conceived the idea of a cardboard tepee that folds up.

He made one and his wife painted it. Then he took it to a Little Rock box manufacturing company which liked the idea so much it turned out 500 tepees for sales trials.

Puzzle of Tuesday, January 19, Solved

Johnson Culture: Beethoven, Frug

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson family celebrated inaugural eve with a salute to culture that was a mixture of Beethoven and the Watusi beat.

The President went first to an inaugural concert and then out partying with the audience that included famous Americans upon whom he had bestowed the Medal of Freedom.

At the windup, he stood back with the rest to stare in wonderment as his teenage daughter, Luci, took over the dance floor at the state Department to dance the Watusi and the frug.

It was an evening in which names-met-names with champagne and candlelight informality.

VIP'S GATHER

Three thousand VIPs, the Johnsons included, rose together to wind up the concert in . . .

It's Hangover Day For 'Great Society'

WASHINGTON (AP) — High brow, middle and low, the "Great Society" was jumping from fugues to frugs.

On the eve of President Johnson's inaugural, jubilant Democrats had something for everybody — a concert by the National Symphony Orchestra, a numbing round of state receptions, dances, massive cocktail parties and private blasts that were still churning today. It was a helluva town to sleep in if you didn't happen to find "The Eyes of Texas" lulling.

Whisky flowed like campaign promises. The mink that flowed through the hotel lobbies would make Miami look like a poor farm. Clearly, even before the main event, inaugural week was already a huge success; the cab drivers were grumbling about the traffic.

LONG LINES

The big receptions in the hotels were so big Hubert H. Humphrey temporarily lost his Senate replacement — Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota — in the boiler room of the Shoreham. There and elsewhere, long lines formed at bars, at hat check rooms, at washrooms and elevators.

President Johnson and his family went from the concert to a relatively sedate party at the State Department, where daughter Luci did the Watusi and dad did what historians remember as middle of the road box step.

The Texas State Society had an intimate bash for 2,000 at the Statler. They had 18 bars and enough bourbon to keep the Alamo still holding out.

BIG DANCES

There were two big dances of Young Democrats at the Mayflower and the Willard, where Lincoln once slept and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" was written.

Tuesday night the poor old Willard was treated to the simple frug, the compounded frug and jerk, the frug and dog, the twist, the swim, the Watusi, the hitchhike, the gesundheit, the cha-cha, the single Lindy, double Lindy and double hernia.

The dancing stopped only long enough for the Hubert Humphreys to make an appearance. Noting all the expensive gowns, he said: "The President told Mrs. Humphrey tonight, 'Why, Muriel, you have on a pretty new dress every time I see you.'"

The Humphreys left in a roar of applause and the dancing resumed in a swirl of acrobatics that resembled a junior prom in the Congo.

By dawn today, the Young Democrats were old Democrats, and the "Great Society" had a great hangover.

Constitution Hall singing "America the Beautiful." They had applauded and shouted bravos to violinist Isaac Stern, playing Beethoven, Mozart and Saint-Saens; pianist Van Cliburn, doing a Liszt concerto; and Todd Duncan and Theresa Coleman, presenting the heart-tugging songs of Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Johnson quipped at intermission that Van Cliburn "sounded as good as he did at Stonewall," the spot near the LBJ Ranch where he performed at a Texas barbecue for German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

"LOVES IT"

Mrs. Johnson "loved the entire evening."

Huge Constitution Hall was bedecked in red, white and blue, with hundreds of red and white carnations. Johnson had a red one in his tuxedo buttonhole, the Johnson girls carried the flowers and the First Lady wore a matching American Beauty red gown of clove silk with a small black train.

Trying to ignore a burgeoning cold, Lynda Johnson chatted and waved to a man she said she had long admired, Pulitzer Prize-winning editor Ralph McGill.

While lamenting the absence of her steady boyfriend, pre-medical student Paul Petz, who was taking exams, Luci did her dancing with older brother, Jim Betz, 26, her stand-in date.

Probe Pushed In Ship Loss

HOUSTON (AP) — Questioning of crewmen off the ill-fated S. S. Smith Voyager continued today before a Coast Guard board of investigation.

The inquiry began last week in New York, shifted to Houston Monday and is expected to move to New Orleans Thursday.

The freighter sank in the stormy Atlantic 780 miles southeast of Bermuda 28 hours after 38 of her crew members abandoned ship Dec. 20.

A night engineer aboard the vessel during his nine days in port here said Tuesday he would not have shipped out on the vessel if a berth had been open because of "failure of some of the equipment to work properly."

It carried a cargo of grain on the final voyage. Four crew members lost their lives.

Rip Van Winkle couldn't sleep with nagging backache

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain — you want relief — want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink — often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling. British Defector's Wife Reported Back In Soviet MOSCOW (AP) — Eleanor Philby, American wife of British defector Harold A. R. Philby, has returned to Moscow, it was learned today.

Mrs. Philby, who vanished in the United States in July, was seen here by people who circulate in Western Communist circles. An American citizen, she reportedly returned via Mexico and Cuba.

Friends reported that she is bitterly disappointed because she had to return without her daughter by a previous marriage.

Misdemeanor Count Guilty Plea Made

HOUSTON (AP)—Joseph Lucia, who federal officers have said is the head of a huge gambling operation in Houston, pleaded guilty here to a misdemeanor charge of conspiring to evade the federal excise tax on bets booked in 1959-64.

Tidwell Returned As Y President

With one exception, officers serving the YMCA were re-elected at a meeting of the board Tuesday afternoon.

James Tidwell will serve another year as president, Jack Little as vice president and Jimmy Taylor as treasurer. Mrs. Harrol Jones was named secretary to succeed Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr.

While the Y's new year is already in motion, a formal recognition comes on Feb. 13, at the annual membership banquet. Charlie Johnson, Big Spring, who is named as quarter-back for the St. Louis Cardinal NFL football team, will be speaker.

A full activity schedule for the winter and spring seasons is being mapped, and the annual Y membership drive is now under way. Sustaining memberships are being solicited by teams under leadership of Clyde McMahon, and the participating membership canvass will start next week, under direction of Pete Cook.

A new year's budget will be set up as soon as the drive is completed, Tidwell said, and he also will be appointing all working committees soon.

The annual report, reviewed by Curt Mullens, general secretary, showed 293 separate groups participating in the various phases of the Y program during 1964. There were 4,434 individuals involved, and they had a cumulative attendance of 154,154.

Of the total number of groups, 140 were in youth activities, which benefitted from the volunteer leadership of 290 adults. During the year 1,721 boys and 1,788 girls under the age of 18 were served in the program.

Plans for the observance of

JAMES TIDWELL

National YMCA Week were given. Programs will be given at service clubs, including the Kiwanis on Thursday, followed by these next week: Jaycees, Monday; Rotary, Tuesday; Downtown Lions, Wednesday; ABClub, Friday.

But Justice Is Served

The defendant entered a guilty plea to a charge of writing a worthless check. The court assessed punishment at $10 fine, costs and 10 days in the county jail.

Whereupon the state, represented by the county attorney, immediately moved for a new trial. The court granted the motion.

The state then dismissed the case against the defendant.

Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, said his weird round of legal shenanigans transpired Tuesday in the case of L. D. Prince.

Prince, Davis said, had been charged with writing a bad check. The person who took the check signed the charge. Prince decided to plead guilty.

Then Davis found out that in reality the check was a "hold" type — one the person who cashed it was informed it was not good and should be held until the writer made payments to retire it. That was why the county attorney asked for a new trial and dismissed the case.

The defendant, he pointed out, had not, under the terms of the law, written a real worthless check.

CD Seminar

A seminar on means to inform the public during a crisis is planned by the Big Spring-Howard County Department of Civil Defense for 1:30 p.m. Monday at Holiday Inn. The discussion is to consider how local government and news media may team up in a war crisis to save lives. Jack Denson, assistant director of the department, will be moderator. The meeting is to aid in developing an emergency information plan.

Character Described As Our Greatest Bulwark

Character of citizens is America's greatest bulwark, Hal Lewman, Dallas, Region IX Scout executive, told the annual meeting of the Buffalo Trail Council in Midland Tuesday evening.

Boyhood commitments carry over into manhood's estates, he said, hence it is vital to tie down in boys' characters a part of America's heritage. Frustration in attempting to make a contribution to this age can be overcome by remembering that one good example always radiates it, he said. Moreover, youth can always be reached where it is.

L. E. Patterson, Midland, was re-elected president, and Carl E. Campbell, Big Spring, who was honored for the completion of 55 years in Boy Scouting, was named a vice president of the council at its meeting in Midland Lee High School. Several Big Springers were named to the executive and advisory boards.

Receiving the Silver Beaver, highest award within the gift of the council to volunteer leaders, were: Rev. Charles V. Brinkley, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Kermit; Lester Leroy Hackler, Odessa; Raymond Everett Lunsford Sr., Midland; Rev. Walter Harrison Vanderpool Jr., Pampa and formerly of Snyder; and District Judge Perry Pickett, Midland.

Among those attending from Big Spring were R. L. Tollett, Lone Star District chairman and one of the council's national council representatives; Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Moss, R. J. Ream, Sam Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Campbell, Mr. and

No Changes At 1st National Volunteer Council To Install Officers

All officers of the First National Bank were returned following the stockholders meeting Tuesday afternoon.

There were no personnel changes and the directorate remained the same.

James Key remains as board chairman. Re-elected were Lester W. Morton, president; R. V. Middleton, senior vice president; Clyde Angel, Reba Baker, Jack I. Davis, R. J. (Dick) Beasm, J. P. Taylor, vice presidents; Charles Dunnam, cashiers; James M. Hatler, Louis C. Loe, Don F. Lovelady, Jack Orr, Betty Rains, Faye Stratton, assistant cashiers.

On the board of directors, in addition to Key, Morton, Angel, and Middleton are Horace Garrett, C. W. Guthrie, P. C. Harbourn, G. H. Hayward, Jack Irons, K. H. McGibbon, Clyde McMahon Sr., Morris Patterson, Jackson Parker, J. L. Rhoades, E. M. Schur, H. W. Smith, Lorin S. McDowell III and Adolph Swartz.

Similarly, officers of the Coahoma State Bank were re-named, and Mrs. Willie Mae Greenfield was elected as assistant cashier. The officer slate includes Ed J. Carpenter, chairman of the board; Bill Read, president; Carl Bates, vice president (inactive); John Justiss, cashier; Bates, Carpenter, Read, R. A. Foster, R. E. Martin, Mrs. Viola O'Daniel, and Briggs Todd, directors.

Last of the local financial institution annual meetings was set for this afternoon when stockholders of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association were to convene.

Panel To Pick Grand Jurors

Jack Wallace, Elmo Phillips and Mrs. C. W. Mahoney have been appointed as grand jury commissioners for the January term of the 118th District Court.

Judge Ralph Caton has ordered them to report to his office at 10 a.m. Friday. They will be instructed to draw the names of 16 citizens for duty on the grand jury.

Judge Caton said that a definite date for the empanelling of the grand jury has not been fixed. Tentatively the grand jury will meet Feb. 9, if other activities in the courts permit. Ordinarily the grand jury would be convened Jan. 26 but this time, due to the conflict caused by a murder trial slated that week in Stanton, the date has been changed.

Three Named To Club Directorate

Three directors were named to the board of directors of the Big Spring Country Club at the annual meeting Tuesday evening at the club house.

Dr. George Peacock, Jack I. Davis and Jim Johnson were elected to the board. They will succeed Charles Sweeney, Zollie Boykin and Toots Mansfield, who was filling the unexpired term of Richard Johnson.

Only other business of the evening was reading of the annual financial statement. W. K. Edwards, president, said the board would meet Thursday to name officers for the year and complete other business.

Students Meet With Rotary

One of the three sixth grade sections of College Heights Elementary school was presented in a program of music and information before Big Spring Rotarians Tuesday. W. C. Blankenship, principal of the school, was in charge of the program, and gave some history of the growth of the school.

"Back in 1938 the district built six rooms at the school," he said. "Then in 1948 eight more rooms were added, and in 1956, six additional rooms were built, bringing the total to 20 rooms. Eighteen are now occupied as classrooms, with three sections of each grade, from first through sixth."

He told of the special teaching of music and physical education at the school, and presented the youngsters, under the guidance of Mrs. Douglas Wiehe.

The 14 boys and 16 girls sang "His Truth Is Marching On," "The Star Spangled Banner," and other folk songs. Rotarians joined in the singing of the anthems.

Subjects taught at the school, including spelling, language, reading, arithmetic (including the new math), geography, science, and citizenship, were explained by members of the class.

Blankenship then invited Rotarians to visit the school and to "go in and take seats just like students and find out what we are doing."

He also announced the approval of the board of directors for an exchange program, possibly with Saltillo, Mexico, during February.

A public hearing on a request for an office building to exceed the maximum lot coverage allowed was held Tuesday at city hall. The request is from Harvey C. Hooser and concerns two lots at 1600 Scurry, asking for a variance to the lot coverage ordinance. The hearing is scheduled for 4 p.m.

March Of Dimes Collections

With more than $4,000 collected Tuesday in the P-TA sponsored mother's march, three-year-old Jenny Allen, "poster girl" here for the march, sits amidst the contributions from Big Spring, Coahoma, Sand Springs and Gay Hill. Mrs. Buford Hull, left, and Mrs. R. E. Ray were co-chairmen for the march, which included some 400 volunteers.

Contributions Report High

Contributions to this year's March of Dimes through the mother's march sponsored by the P-TA City Council Tuesday topped the $4,000 mark for Big Spring, Coahoma and Sand Springs, workers reported today.

The total for Big Spring was $3,896.70, with $153.05 collected in Coahoma and $125.25 in Sand Springs. P-TA members, volunteers, the Jaycee-ettes and Boy Scout Troop 138 participated in the march.

"Our collections are still coming in, and we have hopes of reaching the $4,000 mark in Big Spring alone," said Mrs. R. E. Ray, president of the P-TA City Council.

Las Artistas Show Slated

Las Artistas Art Club meeting in the Texas Electric building Tuesday night were entertained by Mrs. William L. Patton, who showed slides and gave commentary on American painting from 1790 to 1935. Included were reproductions of paintings by Homer, Sargent, Ryder, Hassam, Mary Cassatt, Innes and others.

The club membership show will open Jan. 29 at the Big Spring Federal Savings and Loan Community Room, with registration from 2 to 5 p.m. on that date. The show will be judged by J. Robert Miller, landscape and portrait painter from McMurtry College art department, Abilene. The exhibit will be opened immediately after the judging is finished, approximately 1 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 30, and will also be open 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The art show is restricted to members of the art club in good standing. Exhibitors may receive criticism on their work from Miller following the judging, if they wish.

Pioneer III At Fort Worth

Mrs. May Sikes, 79, pioneer resident of Big Spring who has been living with her daughters in Fort Worth, is reported to be seriously ill in Harris Memorial Hospital there. She will undergo surgery early Thursday, according to information from her sister, Mrs. Tom Slaughter, 1305 Gregg.

Two brothers, of Mrs. Sikes, Andy and John Tucker, both of Big Spring, are ill and unable to go to Fort Worth, but Mrs. Slaughter has planned to go.

Clubbers Give Safety Skit

The Big Spring 4-H Club held a talk by Mrs. Katherine Crawford, county home demonstration agent, on demonstrations at a meeting in the county courtroom Tuesday night. A safety skit was presented by Linda Crawford, Carolyn Crawford, Mary Zack, Kendra Thomas and Sherre Thomas. Thirty-four persons attended the meeting.

Aviatrix Derby Stops Chosen

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Three Texas cities — El Paso, Midland and Dallas — have been designated airport stops for the 19th annual Powder Puff Derby. The 2,406-mile airplane race for women will start July 3 at El Cajon, Calif., and ends July 7 at Chattanooga.

Three locations in Howard County, and one in Dawson County, have been staked in proven fields. The Howard wells will include one in the South Vincent (Strawn) field, one in the Howard-Gladdock field, and one in the Iatan-East Howard field, while the Dawson well is in the Spraberry West (Deep) field.

The Dawson County well, No. 1 L. L. Dean, to be drilled by Texaco, Inc., is spotted 1,860 feet from the south and 610 feet from the west lines of section 33-34-5N, T&P survey, 10 miles east of Lamesa. Contract depth is 7,800 feet rotary.

The Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. has spotted No. 7-B L. C. Denman, 330 feet from the north and 1,320 feet from the east lines of section 10-30-1S, T&P survey, five miles east of Coahoma, to go 2,900 feet with rotary.

Crop Surplus Down From 4 Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP)— Democrats open their second consecutive national administration today with farm surpluses down about 25 per cent from four years earlier.

The government's investment is around $7.2 billion, compared with $9.5 billion at the beginning of the late President Kennedy's term in 1961.

In accomplishing this, the government has paid $5 billion to farmers to reduce production of wheat, feed grains, cotton and some other crops.

LEADING CUTS

Biggest cuts in crop surpluses have been in wheat and corn. In 1961 the government's investment in wheat was $3.6 billion. Today it is about $2.4 billion. The corn investment in 1961 was $3 billion, compared with $1.6 billion now.

Farm groups are divided on whether the government's action in buying reductions has been justified.

Some contend that if the government had reduced price supports, farmers would have produced less under the influence of lower market prices as well as price support loans. They argue that the big subsidy payments would not have been needed.

Others have claimed that an enlarged soil bank program offering payments to farmers to hold land out of production would have done as much good at much less cost.

"SUSTAINED INCOME"

Administration forces counter that the money used for payments not only brought about a reduction in surpluses but helped sustain farm income.

The role of payments in President Johnson's first full term is a matter of doubt. He has instructed Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to come up with plans for reducing farm program costs, especially those which put big checks into pockets of large farmers.

Cotton is a major exception in the changed status of crop surpluses. The government had $806 million invested in the crop early in 1961. Today it has about $1.8 billion.

Church Services Start The Big Day For LBJ

QUIET SETTING

This was the quiet setting for WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson begins Inauguration Day by attending special religious services — his own idea — in which Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish clergymen unite.

The inaugural oath itself is to be administered at high noon.

To the interfaith services at the National City Christian Church, just a few blocks from the White House, Johnson invited Cabinet members, the Supreme Court, governors, other leaders of government, and friends.

At the start of one of the biggest and busiest days in Johnson's busy and, in recent years, historically-packed life.

Technically, the President began the day at a swank black-tie party Tuesday night that continued into the early morning hours. There he watched teen-age daughter Luci dance the watusi, then did some dancing of his own, if to a more sedate tempo.

Johnson and wife Lady Bird returned to the White House from that affair at 12:45 a.m., having attended a special inaugural symphony concert earlier in the evening.

For the President, inaugural day was the culmination of months of hard work and hard campaigning that brought him, last Nov. 3, the biggest landslide victory in presidential history.

The President and First Lady attended three parties plus the concert on inaugural eve. At the first of these events, the governors' reception, the President had notably lengthy chats with two prominent Republicans — Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and George Romney of Michigan. Segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, a Democrat who did not support Johnson in the campaign, got only a perfunctory hello.

And, of course, poll tax receipts and exemptions are available at the tax office in the courthouse.

Through Monday the total receipt — certificate combination was disappointingly small compared with the total for the same date a year ago. No one, of course, expects the poll tax business this year to match that of 1964. Nevertheless arrangements have been made to make it easy for those who do want to qualify themselves to vote to do so.

The International Union of Operating Engineers has a secretary on duty in their building

Poll Tax Receipts Are Available At Many Places

You don't have to come to the tax collector's office to pay your poll tax or get your exemption certificate. There are a half dozen places in the county where these documents are available, according to Mrs. Zilrah LeFevre, county tax collector.

For example, residents of Coahoma can get their tax receipts and exemption certificates at the Coahoma State Bank from Johnny Justice. Out at Forsan, Mrs. Nova Scuddry, the Forsan school tax collector, is issuing receipts and certificates in her office.

U.S. Hospitals To Be Closed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The secretary of health, education and welfare has confirmed reports that Public Health Service hospitals at Galveston, Tex. and six other cities will be closed during the next four years.

Secretary Anthony Celebrezze said Tuesday that the hospitals to be closed will be converted to out-patient clinics under a plan to improve patient care and effect economies.

Hospitals at Galveston, Boston and Norfolk, Va., will be closed during fiscal 1967, he said. Hospitals at Chicago and Memphis will be closed by June 30, 1965; at Savannah, Ga., by June 1966, and at Detroit in either fiscal 1968 or 1969.

To be modernized and expanded meanwhile are hospitals at Staten Island, N.Y., Baltimore, New Orleans, San Francisco and Seattle. Bed capacity will be increased from 1,937 to not more than 2,400.

Groups eligible to receive for care in Public Health Service hospitals include merchant seamen and uniformed members of the Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey, and Public Health Service employees and their dependents.

Cheating By Cadets In Class Alleged

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Air Force Academy officials said today a faculty committee is investigating reports of classroom cheating by some cadets at this newest of the nation's service academies.

A statement by the institution's information office said academy officials "have started a formal investigation on possible cheating activities by a group of cadets. The investigation is to determine whether or not examination materials from certain classes have been illegally obtained and used."

Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, academy superintendent, appointed the investigating committee but the names of its members were withheld. A spokesman said the committee's findings would be made public but that it would take "at least several days."

Anti-Liability Bill Offered

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. John Allen of Longview introduced a bill Tuesday to relieve landowners of liability for personal injury or property damage suffered on their property by hunters, fishermen or anyone engaged in outdoor recreation.

Allen said the measure, which applies only to owners of land not used primarily for commercial recreation, is designed to encourage the availability of land and water areas for recreational purposes.

A bill by Rep. Raleigh Brown of Abilene would place charitable trusts and foundations under state regulation. Only trusts and foundations not dependent on public solicitation for their funds would be affected.

The bill would require annual reports listing officers, trustees and directors, the market value of assets and the primary purpose of the organization. Civil penalties of $100 per day could be imposed for failing to report, and the attorney general could sue for removal of officers, directors or trustees guilty of misconduct in office.

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake introduced a bill to require state licensing of commercial water well drillers and establishing a seven-member water drillers examining board.

Stock Split Voted

DALLAS (AP) — Directors voted Tuesday to split Southwestern Life Insurance Co. stock on the basis of 1.72 shares for a 12.5-cent dividend per quarter each share held and to declare dividend per share on the current stock is 30 cents.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Your wife does. Your neighbors do. Your customers do, too.
 Because only print lets them clip and save. Cut out and file. Study and compare. Read and re-read.
 Only print shows off color, style, beauty and appetite appeal to their very best advantage.
 Which is why so many people look to print especially when they're really in a mood to buy.
 Or sell.
 Aren't your competitors taking advantage of print, for example?
 And shouldn't you?
 Print makes sense, because print makes sales.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

Free Throw Accuracy Gives Flock Victory

Abilene High's Eagles mauled Big Spring, 81-65, in a District 2-AAAA basketball game here Tuesday night that was close only for one quarter. The Eagles didn't beat the Steers too badly from the field, 25 baskets to 23, but what they did at the free throw line was a caution. The War Birds, still very much in the running for the conference championship, flipped in 31 penalty shots in 39 attempts while the Longhorns could manage only 19 in 33. In the first half, the visitors made good in 17 of 18 gratis tosses while the Steers could get only six of 14. Big Spring, after leading by 12-9, at one stage in the opening round, left at half time trailing by 21 points. The problem was to get worse before it got better.

For a while, Abilene seemed intent on doubling Big Spring's point total and coach Nat Gleason of the Eagles, who admittedly sees red everytime Big Spring is mentioned, didn't call off his horses until the last minute or two. Raymond Wray counted 19 points for the invaders, as did Larry Smith. Bobby Wise had a lot to do with the win, too. He solved Big Spring's defenses for 17 points. Big Spring's efforts were led by Simon Terrazas, who wound up with 18 points, and Robert Jackson, who settled for 14. Abilene lost two players, Joe Kethley and Art Kelley, late in the game on fouls. Joe Jaure of Big Spring fouled out early in the second half after having three penalties charged to him in the opening period. Abilene also won the B game.

Score by quarters: Big Spring 22 19 25 15; Abilene 11 17 21 12. Total: Big Spring 61, Abilene 35.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Cisco College is rated in the top ten among the nation's junior college basketball teams and HCJC is nowhere to be found in the listings but who is to say the Wranglers could contain the Jayhawks, or two other powers in the Western Conference? Cisco won 13 of its first 14 games, averaging an incredible 100.4 points in that span. Chances are both Cisco and Ranger will take part in the Region V tournament at Amarillo this year, for the first time in many seasons. Ranger, early season conqueror of HCJC, copped eight of its first 11 starts while averaging 81.2 points a start. A technical foul called against one of the Big Spring players in the recent Midland game, which seemed uncalled for, had much to do with the Steers' two-point loss. The boys seemed mad at himself, more than anything. The Big Springers was having a good night and wanted desperately to win. He should not have been faulted for that. A lot of people steer clear of basketball because officials are too whistle happy over minor things that happen on the court. Hank Watkins, new football coach at Odessa High, may be just what the doctor ordered to pick up football over there. Hank is a splendid coach, as his record shows, and a prince of a fellow to go along with it. His teams throw the ball a lot and they run a lot of different formations that are hard to defend. Local coaches shuddered when they heard the news that Watkins had been hired, but only because they knew Odessa would henceforth offer the kind of resistance that usually wins. "Look for smoke over there now," was the way Big Spring's Don Robbins put it, when he got the word that Watkins was coming aboard. Some observers feel that both Odessa and Permian should be rated as co-favorites in the District 2-AAAA football next fall, so good is their material coming back next fall. Odessa has a fine group of boys coming up from Crockett Junior High, where ex-Big Spring Jerry Graves is coach. Permian will benefit from the products of a splendid JV team. Incidentally, it's being noised about that Bradley Mills, deposed as the Odessa coach recently, may wind up as one of the coaches of the Calgary team in the Canadian pro league. The pro football operatives, I think you'll agree, have the proverbial bird nest on the ground. Where else in business can you make as much as $950,000 a year on a $3 million operation? Calvin Griffith, owner of the Minnesota Twins, is saying now that he wants to cut ex-Big Springer Camilo Pascual's salary because the pitcher developed a streak of wildness he can't seem to control. Emory Bellard, the San Angelo mentor, once coached the University of Tulsa football phenom, Jerry Rhome, in an all-star game.

Robert Lee Is 54-49 Winner Over Forsan

FORSAN — Robert Lee remained undefeated in District 83-B basketball competition here Tuesday night, flogging Forsan by a score of 54-49. Pistol Hood crammed in 16 points for Robert Lee while Terry Thetford followed with 15. Forsan's offensive was led by Kent Sneed, who also counted 16 points. Doug Franklin helped with 13. Forsan finished on the long end of a 66-46 score in the girls' game. Jody Dodd again paced the Buffalo Queens with 39 points. Rhonda Gartman had 19 for Robert Lee. In the backcourts, Susan Elrod, Patsy Gooch, Valynia Conway, Sara Findley and Pam McKinnon did fine work for the Queens. The Forsan girls are now 3-0 in conference and 17-3 overall. The boys are 1-2 within the league and 5-10 overall. ROBERT LEE (54)—Thetford 7-15; Forsan 4-19; Akins 2-6; Dodson 0-11; Hood 2-16; Wink 2-7; Totals 29-54. FORTSAN (49)—Sneed 8-16; Robertson 9-22; Simpson 6-27; Frawdon 4-11; Ellis 3-6; McKinnon 3-10; Totals 21-47. Score by quarters: Robert Lee 15 27 41 54; Forsan 9 21 28 49.

Hawks Try Odessa On Road Tonight

Odessa College's Wranglers try to make the HCJC Jayhawks walk the plank in a Western Conference basketball game in Odessa tonight. Game time is 8 o'clock. The Wranglers, coached by Larry McCulloch, boast only a mediocre record (6-5) but are always tough for the Hawks to handle. McCulloch has a way of firing up his club when HCJC calls. The Odessa team isn't very tall

Garden City Fems Claim Thrid 83-B Win In Row

BRONTE—Garden City's girls won their third straight District 83-B basketball decision here Tuesday night, defeating Bronte by a score of 58-43. The Bearkittens built up a 46-17 lead at the end of three periods and let the reserves take over. While Tavie Daniel, Sharon Jacob and Beverly Jacob were doing a fine job in the backcourts for Garden City, girls like Brenda Jacob and Judy Hirt were taking care of the scoring. Each had 20 points. Bronte won in its first game in three starts in the boys' contest, 74-54. Michael Hoch kept Garden City in contention with a 20-point output. Garden City also has a 1-2 conference record now. The Bearkats play host to Forsan Friday night. Girls' game: GARDEN CITY (58)—Brenda Jacob 10-20; Hirt 13-24; Totals 58-43. BRONTE (43)—Hoch 14-27; Corley 2-4; Holcomb 1-2; Riker 1-4; Morrow 1-2; Totals 11-21-42. Score by quarters: Garden City 9 24 46 58; Bronte 3 17 43.

Rebels Hold No. 1 Spot

MIDLAND—Midland Lee solidified its hold on first place in District 2-AAAA basketball standings by turning back Odessa Permian, 66-46, here Tuesday night. Mike Frizzell was again the Lee scoring leader with 17 points while Jimmy Johnston had 12 for Permian. ODESSA—Earl Barnes scored with 13 seconds left to give Midland High a 67-66 District 2-AAAA victory over Odessa High here Tuesday night. The Broncos built a 24-12 lead at the end of the opening period but couldn't maintain the pace. Max Brownlee tallied 26 points for Odessa while Barnes registered 26 for Midland. The win was Midland's third in six conference games. Odessa is 2-4. ABILENE — Abilene Cooper used a full court press to baffie San Angelo and win a District 2-AAAA basketball game here Tuesday night, 45-39. San Angelo is now 4-2 in conference play, the same record maintained by Cooper. Mickey Wise led Cooper with 20 points while Willie Allen had 21 for San Angelo.

Coahoma Wins By 60-48 Tab

COAHOMA — Coahoma won its fourth District 6-A basketball decision in seven starts by beating Roby, 60-48, here Tuesday night. Travis Reid emerged as the scoring leader for Coahoma with 14 points while Dewayne Allen had 12 and Tony Butler 11. Roby prevailed in the girls' game, turning back Coahoma by a score of 59-44. Donna Duke scored 21 points for Coahoma, the same amount scored by Karen Kiker of Roby. Overall, the Coahoma boys have won 12 games while losing seven. The Coahoma teams go to Tuscola to play Jim Ned Friday night. COAHOMA (60)—McHugh 2-6; Williams 4-8; Allen 4-12; Butler 4-11; Ogleby 1-2; Pherris 1-1; Field 4-14; Goble 1-4; Totals 25-46. Sterling Winner Over Wildcats STERLING CITY — Sterling City beat Water Valley in both ends of a District 83-B basketball double header here Tuesday night. The boys won, 42-39, after the girls had prevailed, 36-34.

Sands Mustangs Decision Loop

LOOP—Sands remained in the driver's seat in District 87-B basketball play by defeating Loop, 71-54, here Tuesday night. The Mustangs have won four straight league decisions and are 14-3 overall. Loop, however, turned back Sands in the girls' game, 42-38.

Links Meet Is Slated

The Big Spring Golf Association will resume its monthly tournaments this weekend at the Munny course. Entries can play either Saturday or Sunday in an individual medal play event in which they will use their full handicaps. Entry fee will be $2 each. As an added attraction, a blind draw partnership tournament will be staged. The fee in that phase of the meet will be $1 each. In event of bad weather, the tournament will be postponed to the ensuing weekend. Merchandise prizes will go to winners.

Aspermont Wins Seventh In Row

ROSCOE — Tommy Meredith led Roscoe to a 94-36 District 6-A basketball victory over Jim Ned here Tuesday night, scoring 32 points in the rout. MERKEL — Wylie outlasted Merkel, 59-52, in a District 6-A basketball game here Tuesday night. Wylie also won the girls' game, 68-22. Wylie now stands at 2-5 in 6-A play while Merkel is 2-4. ASPERMONT — Aspermont continued unchecked in District 6-A basketball competition here Tuesday night, turning back Rotan by a score of 73-44. Aspermont now has a 7-0 record within the conference while Rotan is 5-2. The home team also won the girls' game, 59-31.

Akers Appointed Lubbock Mentor

LUBBOCK (AP) — Lubbock High School hired a new football coach today, Freddy Akers of Edinburg.

He received a three-year contract at $10,100—the most Lubbock has ever paid a football coach. It is believed.

He is a former University of Arkansas quarterback, and his only coaching job has been at Edinburg, where he has been three years. His record there is 18-10-1.

Banquet Set At Coahoma

COAHOMA — The All-Sports banquet at Coahoma High School will be held in the Junior High School cafeteria here at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 30.

Wade Turner, backfield coach at San Angelo College, will be the principal speaker.

Landis Traded To Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics announced today they have obtained outfielders Jim Landis and Mike Herschberger and a starting pitcher to be named later in a three-way deal with the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox.

Pat Friday, general manager of the A's, said the Athletics sent outfielder Rocky Colavito to Cleveland. The Indians delivered catcher John Romano, pitcher Tommy John and outfielder Tommie Agee to the White Sox.

The White Sox then sent Landis, Herschberger and the starting pitcher to the A's and catcher Camilo Carreon to the Indians.

Hickman Records 400th Cage Win

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bernard (Peck) Hickman has joined the select group of college basketball coaches who have won 400 games. The coach of the University of Louisville became a member when his Cardinals edged Cincinnati 82-80 in three overtimes Tuesday night.

A one-handed shot from the corner by Joe Liedtke, 6-foot-7 sophomore from Erie, Pa., with five seconds left in the third extra period gave Hickman his historic milestone in his coaching career that started in 1945.

Now in his 21st season at Louisville, Hickman-coached teams have won 400 and lost 162, including an 11-4 mark so far this season.

In other games on a national program, held to a minimum by midyear exams, Duquesne ended DePaul's eight-game winning streak 73-69, Purdue downed Notre Dame 78-74, Cornell made it seven in a row by defeating Colgate 92-83 and Harvard handed Dartmouth its 25th straight Ivy League setback 91-79. None of the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press poll saw action.

A Louisville turnout of 9,816 saw the Cardinals blow an early 13-point lead and rally to beat Cincinnati, a defeat that virtually eliminated the Bearcats from the tough Missouri Valley Conference race.

The regulation game ended 69-69 and neither team scored in the first overtime. Ronald West's basket for Cincinnati created a 76-76 tie after the second OT. West again tied the score for the Bearcats at 80-80 with 18 seconds to go in the third OT and set the stage for Liedtke's game-winning shot.

Eddie Cramer with 24 points was high scorer for Louisville, now third in the MVC with a 4-2 mark.

Panel Okays Settlement

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The City Council finance committee has approved a $25,000 settlement of a $500,000 claim brought by comedian Mel Blanc against the city.

Blanc claimed the city was negligent in failing to eliminate a dangerous curve on Sunset Boulevard where he was seriously injured in a traffic accident Jan. 24, 1961.

The curve has since been eliminated.

The full City Council must approve the settlement.

DEAR ABBY

Watch That Jealousy!

DEAR ABBY: My problem is jealousy. I am 24 and my husband is 26. We've been married two years and have a beautiful baby daughter, and we're still very much in love. I know there is absolutely no basis for my jealousy, but I can't help it. Here's an example: At a party recently, the center of attention was a blonde with a good figure, which she showed off by wearing skintight red stretch pants and a red sweater. Every man there danced with her, but when my husband did, something inside of me exploded.

I walked out and went home alone. I was hurt, humiliated and mad. My husband came home right after me and was shocked at my behavior. I know there was nothing to it, but this happened over a month ago and every time I get a mental picture of my husband dancing with that blonde I get all worked up inside again. Is something wrong with me? How can I control this terrible jealousy?

JEAALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: Since we are not all equally endowed (looks, brains, health, money, opportunity), it is only natural for those who lack what others appear to have in abundance to be "jealous." You can control your jealousy by counting your blessings. When that mental picture creeps into your mind, go pick up your baby. Or look at your husband's picture, and thank heavens for what you HAVE.

DEAR ABBY: Our landlady is the nosiest woman in the world. The other tenants in our building have warned us against her. They say they've caught her going through their drawers, closets and even reading their mail when they've come home unexpectedly. My husband and I both work during the day, and I don't want her snooping around my place while we're gone. She tells the tenants that she has to have keys to all the apartments because in case it rains and nobody is home she wants to be able to get in to close the windows. My husband says we should give her a key. I say no. What do you say?

LIKES PRIVACY

DEAR LIKES: If you prefer privacy to a snoopy landlady, you had better move. Because, like it or not, the landlady has the last key.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from the woman signed WANTS TO LEARN. The poor soul said she was 32 years old, had quit school in the 8th grade, and when she told her husband she wanted to go back to school and finish her education, he laughed at her.

Please give her my message: I am 75 years old, and I drive 20 miles each way to go to evening school in West Palm Beach from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m.

Tell that woman that a person is never too old to learn, and she should inform her husband, who never got through the seventh grade himself, that if he wants to be a "nobody," she doesn't intend to be a "nobody" with him. (Sign me)—

STILL LEARNING

DEAR ABBY: "WANTS TO LEARN" is to be commended. I am an English teacher who teaches children in day school and adults in night school. I have found that the average night school student is a better student (he learns faster and is more conscientious) than the average day school student. It is not true that the older one is the more difficult it is to learn. All one needs is the proper motivation. More power to our senior citizens! A TEACHER

Workouts For Health Agency

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Each noon, office workers in the West Virginia Department of Health rise from their desks and go through 30 minutes of brisk exercises.

The idea is to help sedentary and sometimes flabby office people to get into shape.

The workouts are devised so participants can wear street clothes without working up much perspiration. At regular intervals, the department checks blood, weight, and other indicators.

Harold Colley, director of public health information for the department, says the project was launched 10 months ago to see whether it would help reduce heart attacks.

"As far as we can determine, it's the first program of the kind in the nation," he says. "Results so far are encouraging."

Edie Will Sing At Demo Event

AUSTIN (AP)—State Democratic headquarters said today that Edie Adams will sing at the Democratic victory dinner Jan. 25.

The dinner is the only announced pre-inauguration affair before the swearing-in ceremony Tuesday noon for Gov. John Connally.

Nuclear Belt Plane Denied

MOSCOW (AP) — A sharp Soviet protest against a reported West German proposal to lay an 800-mile nuclear mine belt across Europe has drawn a U.S. State Department reply that no such plans exist.

The Soviet news agency Tass said protest notes were given U.S. Ambassador Foy Kohler and West German Ambassador Horst Grepper as well as to the British and French envoys. The notes said a nuclear mine belt would menace millions of lives and immeasurably increase the dangers of nuclear conflict in Europe. West German authorities are reported to have suggested the mine belt at last month's NATO Council meeting in Paris.

U.S. and British defense experts were said at the time to have dismissed the scheme as wildly impractical.

Following the Soviet protest, a State Department spokesman in Washington said "there are no plans for the emplacement" of any atomic mine belt along West Germany's eastern border.

Opening lead: King of ♠ Today's hand provoked considerable discussion when it was dealt in a recent tournament.

The bidding almost invariably followed the pattern given in the diagram and several North-South pairs bought the contract for five hearts after their opponents had competed up to four spades.

Where West chose to open the king of spades, declarer proceeded to lead a merry pace. Dummy ruffed with the ace of hearts and the closed hand was entered with the nine of trumps in order to ruff South's remaining spade with the queen of hearts. Another trump lead pulled the outstanding hearts, and declarer ran the club suit discarding all of his diamonds in the process. He took 13 tricks.

At a few tables, East refused to give up during the auction and persisted to five spades. His attempted sacrifice was doubled and the opposition proceeded to cash two club tricks and two hearts to administer a 500 point sting.

Ordinarily this penalty would provide satisfactory compensation for a non-vulnerable game, which — in tournament bridge — is awarded a 300 point bonus in addition to the trick score. However, those North-South, who took all 13 tricks in five hearts, scored 510 points (300 + 210). The mere 10 points saved by the sacrifice at five spades represents a substantial difference in duplicate bridge where the scoring is based entirely on a comparison of the results of every pair that played the deal.

The top score for East and West was obtained at one table where West devoted considerable effort to the selection of an opening lead against South's five heart contract. He despaired of the prospect for cashing many spade tricks, and it appeared that any hope for defeating the bid rested in uncovering some hidden strength in his partner's hand.

Since West had a high card in diamonds, he decided to launch his attack in that direction. He opened the deuce of diamonds. East played the ace and continued the suit. After three tricks were cashed, the defenders cheerfully conceded the balance to the declarer. When all the scores were in, it turned out that they were the only East-West pair to register a profit on the deal.

Girl Invited To Inaugural Gets Ambition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Melissa (Missy) Baron, a positive thinker of 13 who wangled a special inaugural invitation from President Johnson, has been suddenly seized with a new ambition.

She wants to be a page girl at the Supreme Court.

It makes no difference that there are at present no page girls, only page boys, at the high court. A confirmed feminist, she feels certain a lady will be appointed justice some time soon, and of course will need a page girl.

"I think I'll get my application in right away," she whispered Monday while attending a session of the high tribunal.

Since before the election, Missy has been corresponding with President Johnson, sort of buttering him up. She wrote that she knew it would be hard for him to arrange an invitation to the inauguration but "I would rather think positive, not negative. Please try your hardest."

So now blonde Melissa, her red-haired mother Jacqueline and her haberdasher father, Charles, are here from Lakewood, Calif., equipped with tickets for everything from the inauguration to the grand ball.

Oil Field Acquisitions

DALLAS (AP) — Atlantic Refining Co. has acquired working interests in four West Texas and one North Central Texas oil fields, the firm said today.

Production from the wells averages about 115 barrels of oil daily. Spokesman said secondary recovery projects should substantially increase production.

The acquisitions were principally from V. B. Likins of Oklahoma City, and O'Neal Oil Co. of Odessa for undisclosed sums.

The properties are in the Emma Field of Andrews County, Seminole Field of Gaines County, Wasson Field of Yoakum County, and Osage Field of Montague County.
