Utility Firm Men Reply To Charge

Spokesmen for major utility companies in Texas say allegations that they overcharge customers are "irresponsible," "absurd" and "not based on factual data."

The charges were made by the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association. It listed three Texas firms - Houston Lighting & Power Co., Texas Power & Light Co. and Texas Electric Service Co. and said they were among the 10 companies in the nation with the highest overcharge.

The association at its annual meeting in Miami Beach said Monday that 106 private power companies have overcharged their customers $5.5 billion.

CALLED ERROR

Spokesmen for the Texas firms said in reply that the allegations are in error and are based on economic factors which no regulatory body recognizes.

Houston Lighting & Power, accused by NRECA of overcharging by $111.8 million in the seven years ending in 1962, said in a statement:

"This method of computation by which this organization developed the alleged excessive charges has been disowned by every regulatory agency of which we have knowledge."

W. W. Lynch, president of Texas Power & Light, accused of overcharging by $92.8 million, said the claim was "completely erroneous" and added:

"It will be remembered that Mr. Clyde Ellis, general manager of the NRECA, at one time stated the investor-owned electric utilities are more dangerous than even the Communists, and that the only way the nation would get nationwide public ownership is gradual."

"Erroneous reports by the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association in Washington have been published from time to time. . . They represent an unjustified attack upon the integrity of the many state regulatory commissions and other regulatory bodies of our nation as well as upon the entire electric utility industry."

Lynch added that private power industry "customers, who represent approximately 80 per cent of all the electric users in America, are presently paying in taxes through their electric service bills approximately 25 per cent of the total of such bills. On the other hand, the other 20 per cent to receive government-financed power pay only token taxes."

Beeman Fisher, president and general manager of Texas Electric Service, accused of overcharging customers $114.4 million, called the allegations "totally irresponsible and completely erroneous."

"Our customers have not been overcharged," Fisher said. "The rates charged by Texas"

BULLETIN

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviet Union today charged an American diplomat, Richard F. Stolz, here with spying and declared him persona non grata - the formal diplomatic term for a person not acceptable to the country in which he is assigned.

Will Smash Plotters, Syrian Chief Shouts

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) - Syrian President Amin Hafez vowed today to thousands of shouting workers to crush and kill plotters against his socialist government. "We shall crush their heads and we shall kill them! The sword will soon be in their necks!" he cried in a rally staged by the government to beat down a strike of Damascus merchants against the Baath party regime's spreading socialism. "Execute them! Execute them!" the crowd shouted. The speech was one of the most violent that Hafez, known for toughness in times of crisis, ever has made. It clearly was meant to frighten the merchants - and right-wing Moslem leaders backing them - into opening their shops and restoring Damascus to normal after three days of strike. But most of the general's strong words appeared aimed at the Moslem Brotherhood, a sometime violent organization of right-wing Moslems which opposes Baath socialism. The brotherhood led an insurrection against the government in the Syrian town of Hama last April but was beaten down by troops and tanks.

The shopkeepers' strike persisted in its third day in defiance of growing pressures from the massive demonstrations, threatened government seizure of shops, and five death sentences passed by a special military court. Damascus radio, in a middle of the night broadcast, announced that the special military court had sentenced to death five men who fostered a military plot to overthrow the government. The broadcast said the plotters planned "political assassination and sabotage against the people and the national industries."

Growers Vote Today On Rice Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas rice farmers and growers in other states voted today on whether to continue marketing quotas.

The quotas require approval of at least two-thirds of those growers voting and have been in effect 10 years. They were approved by 89.6 per cent last year.

If the quotas are approved, this year's rice crop will be supported by a national average of $4.50 a hundredweight, down 21 cents from last year.

The department allotted 1,818,638 acres to growers for producing the crop this year.

Power Lines Snapped In Icy Illinois

A storm that smacked the Southwest with snow, rain and strong winds headed toward ice-bound northern Illinois today, where repairmen worked around the clock to replace downed power lines and thousands of families sought heated shelter.

The storm brewed over Oklahoma and spread into Texas, Kansas, Colorado and Missouri.

Snow, sleet and freezing rain struck Kansas and Missouri and blizzard warnings were issued.

WITHOUT POWER The U.S. Weather Bureau said the storm was aimed at northern Illinois, where 20,000 were still without electric power because of snapped power lines.

A Commonwealth Edison Co. spokesman said damage to power equipment alone in the Chicago area topped $2 million. City officials put damage in the multimillion-dollar bracket.

Officials in Illinois attributed four deaths to the weather.

Some melting took place Monday, but the Chicago area still was stricken.

Commonwealth Edison had 425 crews numbering more than 3,000 men working 16-hour shifts to restring power lines broken by the weight of ice and falling tree limbs.

SCHOOLS CLOSED Many schools were closed. Residents in the suburb of Barrington who had power strung dozens of 100-foot extension cords to less-fortunate neighbors.

A Kane County radio station broadcast names of families willing to house powerless guests.

Many homes without heat lit fireplaces. "It's like trying to catch up with a champion sprinter," an Illinois Bell Telephone Co. spokesman said. "Apparently the ice was holding up many (tree) limbs. Now it melts and limbs fall and break a (phone) line."

PHONES OUT The spokesman said about 2,000 telephones were still out of service and that the company had lost up to $350,000 in equipment damage.

The thawing ice also plagued Commonwealth Edison repairmen.

"In some cases," a worker said, "as soon as a crew repairs one line, a fresh break occurs a mile away."

Poor weather stretched from Oklahoma to New Mexico.

Two inches of snow, blown by 40 mile-per-hour winds, fell in Garden City, Kan. Heavy ice formed on pavements from Emporia to Leavenworth as freezing temperatures followed a rain.

Connally Takes Oath; To Call For Changes

Message Near For Legislature

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. John Connally took the oath for a second term today, pledging that he would strive to change the face of Texas to meet pressing problems.

"At no point in the 130 years of Texas history have we faced a sterner test of our integrity as a people," the tall, handsome governor said in his inaugural speech.

He spoke to a crowd on the lawn of the Capitol. "In one generation we have seen a new Texas imposed on the face of the old. It is a Texas which bursts with vitality - growing, exploring, seeking its place in the sun. It demands much, but it yields much more in return," Connally said.

"Knowing all this and anticipating that the old way of life will never return, we come to an hour of decision.

THE CHALLENGE "Do we have the integrity to act as we know we must act, or will we postpone the inevitable? Do we respond to change as we know we must or leave to our children the more difficult task of correcting our errors?"

"I did not seek this office to be custodian of outdated concepts," Connally, 47, said.

He added that his speech at 11 a.m. Wednesday to the Legislature would have recommendations of many changes.

"RESEARCH FOR" "And if I have apology to make to those I serve, it is only that in the retrospect of future generations I may not have reached far enough," he said.

"The only fear I have is not of the changes I shall recommend but of what I may fail to recommend. If you and I are to be harshly judged, it will be because we inherited so much, planned poorly and left so little," he said.

Connally and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith repeated their oaths in a simple, speedy ceremony.

There were no parades, no band concerts, no inaugural balls.

Just the oath-taking and a 3 p.m. public reception at the mansion.

SMITH ADDRESS Smith noted in a brief address that his oath means "even though I might not agree personally with all that transpires in Washington, D. C., the American system does not allow for divided loyalties as between the levels of our government."

Smith mentioned specifically Supreme Court reapportionment decisions, which he said "will gravely harm our federal concept of divided powers."

But, he added, he will uphold the decisions. "We will undertake the disagreeable job of legislative reapportionment as mature and as reasonable men and women," Smith, of Lubbock, said.

"Speaking of the current legislative session, Smith warned against "the deliberate pace of careful consideration" becoming "the laggard gait of indecision or of obstruction. We do not have time to dilly-dally."

Attorneys Quiz Prospective Jurors In McDonald Trial

STANTON - The tedious questioning of prospective jurors in the murder trial of Daniel Odell McDonald, 19, in 118th District Court here, dragged on today.

Two jurors had been accepted at noon and 30 of the 96 veniremen called had been examined.

The two jurors accepted are B. H. Hicks, 35, Caprock Co-operative employe, and Bob Cox, 34, Martin County farmer. Hicks has one son and Cox has three children.

Hicks was selected at 2:40 p.m. Monday in the opening day of the trial. He was the fifth venireman to be examined. After he had been sent upstairs to the jury room, 11 other veniremen were quizzed before Judge Ralph Caton recessed court shortly after 5 p.m.

Tuesday morning, Cox was selected shortly before 10 a.m. Most of the veniremen who were being rejected for duty were Martin County residents who told the attorneys for the state and defense they had formed opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant which would take evidence to remove.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, was interrogating each juror on his willingness to assess the death penalty in a suitable case. Two of the jurors examined Monday said they had conscientious scruples against the maximum penalty and were excused.

The others did not quibble over the death sentence query, but many told the attorneys they were either acquainted with the young defendant or his numerous relatives in the county. And many said bluntly they already had fixed opinions as to the guilt or innocence of McDonald.

McDonald, neatly dressed in a gray sports jacket, white shirt and dark tie, with his hair neatly combed, sat quietly through the long hours of the session, intently listening to all that was said. From time to time he would whisper some comment to either George T. Thomas, his chief defense counsel or to John Ferguson, Thomas' co-counsel.

McDonald is accused of having smothered his 82-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Delzee McDonald, to death last June 12. The aged woman, stabbed in the chest and criminally assaulted, was found in her living quarters at the rear of the small store she operated. A plastic bag had been pulled down over her head and fastened at the throat.

While Burns made it plain he would ask that McDonald get the electric chair as punishment for his crime, Thomas did not reveal in the questions he propounded to panel members any clue as to what defense strategy he plans to pursue.

He asked no questions as to the venire's attitude on insanity nor on any other element which possibly could be held up as a mitigating factor.

Of the 113 veniremen who reported the 125 called for duty, excuses dropped the total available from which to select a jury to 96.

Despite the sensational character of the case, no crowds have developed as yet at the hearings. After the court room had been emptied of the veniremen, as individual interrogation began, only a handful of spectators remained.

The same situation prevailed Tuesday.

Court officials were somewhat encouraged Tuesday when a second juror was so readily seated after the long grind Monday.

If 12 jurors are not found in the 96 veniremen on hand, it is possible the court could order Dan Saunders, sheriff, to bring in any required number of talesmen from the streets.

Speculation continued today as to the possibility a jury could not be found in Martin County to try McDonald. Whether the court will decide on halting the proceedings and perhaps entertaining a motion for a change of venue will depend greatly on what transpires today and tomorrow.

If reasonably good prospects loom by Wednesday noon that the 12 jurors needed can be found, there is no doubt that Judge Caton will push ahead with the trial.

On Monday the initial legal maneuver developed. It hinged on the position of Bobby West, now a private investigator for George Thomas, defense attorney. West, until last November, was investigator for Gil Jones, then district attorney, and who has been succeeded by Burns.

Last Journey Of Churchill Gets Rehearsal

LONDON (AP) - The roll of muffled drums sounded through London streets before dawn today in somber rehearsal for Sir Winston Churchill's last journey.

All traffic stopped in the heart of the mourning capital as the gun carriage which will carry his body in Saturday's funeral rolled through the darkened streets to St. Paul's Cathedral.

The procession marched from Westminster Hall to St. Paul's. Women office cleaners and other early workers were the only spectators.

RAF ESCORT A Royal Air Force escort led the way. A naval officer, naked sword reversed, followed in the funeral march.

Soldiers and airmen paced beside the naval bluejackets hauling the gun carriage. A line of empty limousines trailed behind.

Another rehearsal was scheduled Friday morning.

Scotland Yard launched a major security operation to protect the scores of foreign statesmen who will pay homage to Britain's great wartime leader.

MOVE BODY Churchill's body will be taken tonight from his home south of Hyde Park, where he died Sunday at the age of 90. At Lady Churchill's request, the Archbishop of Canterbury will conduct the coffin to a catafalque in Westminster Hall, where the body will lie in state for three days.

220 DAYS Without A Traffic Fatality Drive Safely!

Not Much Damage From High Winds

Winds that gusted up to 65 miles an hour at Howard County Airport during Monday's massive dust storm apparently left only minor damage in the city.

One effect of the big blow Monday was to double the rate of withdrawal from Lake J. B. Thomas. During the day the level of the lake declined .05 of a foot, more than twice the normal rate for this season of the year.

A number of minor troubles were caused for electrical lines in the city, Texas Electric Service Co. district manager Jimmie Beale said. Some "trip outs" occurred on low voltage lines supplying the areas involving the Veterans Administration Hospital, causing lights to blink on and off for brief moments during the afternoon.

Hospital engineer John Finegan said emergency generators were placed on the hospital's line for use if needed, but that other than the off-and-on blinking for seconds at a time no other difficulties were experienced. A new transmitter switch providing a double source of electricity for the area in such instances is planned by the electric company, however, Finegan said.

A sign at the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store was whipped around in the wind, the firm reported, and had to be braced by a truck. A rold holding the sign was broken off by the wind.

Howard County Airport reported no damage from the winds, although the Trans-Texas Airways 10:35 p.m. flight from Dallas returned to Abilene due to the storm and two private planes that arrived at the airport were grounded for the day.

Visibility was cut to one-fourth mile at times.

Some problems were caused by sand in electrical units at intersection traffic lights, city electrician Roy Rogan said, causing the lights to "freeze" until the sand was cleared.

Here's Look Back At Top Texas Stories

Texans, where things never are really very quiet, had another big news year in 1964. The year started with what any sports writer would call the No. 1 football game of the season—the Cotton Bowl classic between Texas and Navy. Texas won, 29-6.

As the year faded, more stories were developing with the Duke of Windsor selecting a Texas site and Texas doctor for a major operation, record cold weather, a shakeup of the Texas National Guard and the Army Reserves, the $19 million Neiman-Marcus fire and first flight of the super-plane, the FBI's better known as the TFX.

What was the No. 1 Texas story of the year?

RUBY TRIAL
Texas editors, voting in the annual poll, decided that the Jack Ruby trial and maneuverings before and after was the top story.

Ruby, who shot Lee Harvey Oswald, the assassin of President Kennedy, received a death sentence March 14 after a stormy trial in which defense lawyer Melvin Bell was more of a central figure than the defendant.

The Ruby case received 283 points, including 18 first-place votes. Some editors, however, ranked the case as low as sixth.

It was much later in the year that the No. 2 story took place—and like the Ruby trial it was something that had been building to a climax for months.

This was the general election, marked especially by the Democratic sweep which ousted the two Republican incumbents from Texas in the U.S. House.

The election received 212 points in the voting, including 11 first-place ballots. The fact that the outcome had been expected—but not the scope of the sweep—apparently caused some editors to rank it lower than others. One rated it only seventh as a news story.

RANKED THIRD
The Warren Commission report on the Kennedy assassination, although it revealed little basically that newspapers had not already reported, was ranked third with 151 points and one first-place vote.

A companion to the main Warren Commission report itself received 63 points, ranking ninth. This was the verbatim testimony of the principals, telling the details and their reaction to the assassination.

Fourth ranked with 159 points was the Wichita Falls tornado which killed seven persons and destroyed 265 homes and scores of other structures.

A story related to the Ruby trial ranked high—in fifth place—with 146 points. This was the spectacular jail break in which seven men went free temporarily in the same building where the trial was being held. One of the men took a woman hostage with a fake pistol made of scrap materials.

Ranking sixth were the snows of last spring which caused at least five deaths and built up 26-foot drifts in places. They received 183 points.

The Harris County encephalitis epidemic leading to a widespread mosquito control campaign ranked seventh with 92 points. The collapse of the Paul Amos Sandblom financial structure with possible loss of $20 million to investors was eighth with 79 points. The meeting in El Paso of the Presidents of Mexico and the United States to turn back the disputed bit of territory called El Chamizal to Mexico won 19th rank with 60 points.

Many other news events received votes but not in sufficient number to place them in the top 10.

BOWL GAME
These included, but not in the order of voting:

The Texas-Navy Cotton Bowl game, Arkansas wins the Southwest Conference football title. Historian J. Frank Dobie dies. Civil Aeronautics Board ruling that Dallas and Fort Worth must select one regional airport.

Also, Hurricane Abby, University of Texas names first Negro professor, apparent acceptance of the public accommodations section of the Civil Rights Act, political redistricting situation, increased attention to education by the state administration.

Also President Johnson's frequent use of his ranch and the attention centered there, near-eradication of the screwworm in Texas, the May Democratic primary race between Gordon McLendon and Sen. Ralph Yarborough and the accusation, which was denied, that Yarborough received a large sum of money enterprise actions and court cases.

House Panel Will Tackle Health-Care Immediately

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposed health-care program for the aged is off to a speedy start in Congress.

The House Ways and Means Committee, where similar plans have languished for a decade, starts executive sessions Wednesday with the goal of a House vote by March 15.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, a consistent opponent of earlier versions of the plan, has said he believes legislation can be worked out on the basis of Johnson's proposal for financing through a separate payroll tax, but run by the Social Security Administration.

SKIP HEARINGS
The chairman, moreover, told newsmen the committee is dispensing with any further time-consuming public hearings on the health-care issue. Mills, saying the committee had heard witnesses for weeks during the past Congress, took the position that it is now merely resuming executive sessions interrupted last year.

However, officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Social Security Administration will sit with the Committee by invitation during its sessions. Welfare Secretary Anthony J. Celebrezze will be among them Wednesday.

The committee is expected to rewrite substantially the administration plan.

UP PAYMENTS
The legislation sent to the House also is expected to include provisions raising the Social Security old-age payments.

Both houses passed such legislation last year, but it was lost in conference because of the row over health care.

An Associated Press poll of the House last week pointed to passage of a health-care plan along the lines proposed by the administration. The Senate passed last year's version.

which House conferees then refused to accept.

Mills said the committee would consider all proposals for health care of the aged, not only the administration plan for hospitalization and related benefits. Other plans contemplate private insurance with subsidized premiums and expansion of the existing legislation for state-federal health care of low-income elderly persons.

Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee are working on an alternative to the administration proposal.

If the launch is successful, it would be the first known nuclear reactor of any kind carried aboard an earth satellite.

PLANNED FOR 1967
The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says the first of the 280-pound spacecraft are to go into orbit some 3,700 miles above the earth sometime in 1967, at the earliest.

The two satellites will measure the intensity and frequency of the signals, the time of emission and, within limits, will seek to pinpoint the regions of space from which they stem.

The eight communications satellites will be launched simultaneously for use by the Defense Department.

LAUNCH VEHICLE
They will be sent skyward in 1966 by the privately owned, government-regulated Communications Satellite Corp. — Comsat — using a launch vehicle provided by the Pentagon.

If the launch is successful, the Defense Department would pay only for communications services. If the launch fails, Comsat would be responsible.

Three such launchings are planned, Comsat revealed as it filed with the Federal Communications Commission a notice of intent to purchase 24 of the satellites from the Hughes Aircraft Co. Aerospace Group, Culver City, Calif.

The project is separate from Comsat's efforts to develop an international commercial communications system.

 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
 2♥ Pass 3♦ Pass
 3♥ Pass 3♠ Pass
 4♥ Pass Pass Double
 Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠.
 Failure to press his attack while he controlled the lead proved very costly to West in defending against South's four spade contract.
 West hid his time during the auction for, although he had 15 high card points, a convenient method for entering the bidding did not present itself, and it appeared that the best chance to score a profit rested in the hope that the opposition would overreach themselves. When North and South did, in fact, stagger into four spades, West doubled and, but for a slight defensive lapse, he would have earned the fruits of his discretion.

 West opened the king of clubs and, despite the appearance of a singleton in dummy, he continued with the ace in order to shorten North's trump holding. Declarer refused to ruff, however, and countered by discarding dummy's eight of diamonds at trick two.
 West shifted to the six of spades which was taken by the jack in the closed hand. A small heart was led and declarer successfully finessed the queen. He cashed the ace next and led a third round, ruffing with a small spade as West's king of hearts dropped. South played the ace of spades and, when East showed out, declarer took the marked finesse thru West's queen. The king of spades picked up the last trump and the dummy was high except for the diamond which was conceded at the end.
 A diamond shift by West at trick three was clearly indicated. His fear of leading into the bid by declarer was unwarranted for, unless East has strength in diamonds, the defensive cause appears hopeless. There is the further consideration that, if South held the toppers in diamonds, he would have made a two-over-one response originally.
 By leading the king and another diamond, West forces dummy to ruff and thereby deprives declarer of his ultimate entry to North's heart suit once it becomes established.

'POLITICAL MARTYR'

Viet Girl Turns Self To Torch In Protest

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A 17-year-old Vietnamese girl drenched herself with gasoline and burned herself to death today as a political protest against the government of Premier Tran Van Huong.

It was the first such protest since 1963, when immolations by Buddhists helped bring down the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

DEMONSTRATION ON
 The suicide today took place at Nha Trang, a coastal city 200 miles north of Saigon where an antigovernment demonstration was under way.

A second schoolgirl in Nha Trang also doused herself with gasoline, but the mob grabbed her and prevented her burning herself.

Witnesses reported from Nha Trang that about 4,000 persons had assembled before the waterfront home of the local provincial chief. The girl, a student named Hoang Thi Yen Phu, moved apart from the crowd and, unnoticed by the other demonstrators, poured gasoline over herself.

Then she set herself afire and was dead before anyone could extinguish the flames.

PICK UP BODY
 Buddhist monks reportedly picked up the body and carried it at the head of a huge procession to the local Buddhist pagoda.

In 1963, six Buddhist monks and one nun burned themselves to death in protest against the Diem government. There have been no burnings of monks or nuns since, but about 50 Vietnamese have committed suicide by burning since then for non-political reasons.

Buddhist demonstrations against the government broke out today in suburbs of Saigon, but calm was reported in the northern city of Hue, where rioting, arson and pillaging occurred Monday.

Government paratroopers arrested about 70 monks and nearly 100 of their followers in Gia Dinh after the Buddhists demonstrated outside the headquarters of the provincial chief.

About 10,000 persons were involved in the anti-Huong demonstration at Hue Monday. About 500 youths sacked the homes of two high officials and burned their furniture, fixtures and personal effects.

MARTIAL LAW
 Chief of State Phan Khanh Su decreed an extension of martial law for two more months in Hue and for one more month in Saigon. Radio Saigon said anyone caught starting fires or damaging property would be executed on the spot.

In an effort to appease its opponents, Huong's government announced plans for legislative elections on a limited scale. The plans for selection of a 145-seat Congress came as a surprise.

A communique said elections would be held March 21 for 21 legislators from Saigon and four other cities. A special electoral committee will pick 134 members from the 45 provinces, many of which are controlled by the Viet Cong.

Eisenhower Will Attend Funeral Of Sir Winston

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will attend the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill in London, a spokesman for the general says.

Gen. Eisenhower canceled a scheduled Wednesday appearance at a Los Angeles benefit in order to attend, the spokesman said.

Mrs. Eisenhower is not expected to accompany her husband.

The Eisenhowers are spending the winter in this southern California desert resort.

Some Doubt Spending Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has performed its annual rite of pledging spending cuts and is moving toward action on a program many members think will cost more than President Johnson's record $99.7-billion price tag.

'Stately Ghost' Show Lively

NEW YORK (AP)—A belief in spirits was really quite unimportant Monday night as NBC's special program, "The Stately Ghosts of England," provided a beautiful and lively tour of some wonderful old homes.

NBC London correspondent Joseph C. Harsch neatly set the stage by noting that "ghosts inhabit four out of five" of England's great mansions. Certainly there was some interesting first-hand testimony from some apparently down-to-earth people.

The presentation, however, was slightly tongue in cheek. Margaret Rutherford, it turned out, is a true believer and was so intrigued she didn't bother to be funny.

CBS and NBC—probably ABC, too, when it gets its plans made—will go all out in their coverage of Sir Winston Churchill's funeral next Saturday.

The two networks will start broadcasting at 7 a.m. EST and continue through the day. They will use satellite communications for live coverage during two periods when Teletar 2 is in position. They will also use video tape flown across the ocean, and transatlantic radio.

The new national Nielsen ratings, covering the first two weeks of the new year, find the three networks still running a neck and neck race in audience popularity. This time a meaningless fraction of a point separates CBS, the winner, from the other two, who are tied.

"Bonanza" remains at the top of the popularity heap, followed this time by "Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C." and "The Red Skelton Show." ABC's "Bewitched" has dropped to fourth place.

Johnson banked heavily on continued prosperity in telling Congress in his budget message Monday he expects to hold expenditures for the year beginning July 1 below the $100-billion mark.

He is scheduled to spell out in a message Thursday the economic prospects on which he based a revenue estimate of $94.4 billion. Republicans were quick to point out this estimate called for $5.2 billion in red-ink spending and would boost the national debt to a record $322 billion.

On the other hand, GOP members lined up to support—and possibly to increase—a $1.75-billion cut in excise taxes proposed by Johnson.

Democrats joined with Republicans in predictions that there will be slashes in the President's budget. But the fact remained that while Congress might reduce the Johnson appropriation requests this would have little effect on the rate of spending in the new fiscal year unless it dumps some of his programs.

Even Republicans were conceding privately that Johnson will get from Congress nearly all of the authority he is asking to put the "Great Society" into operation.

Nevertheless, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield predicted some budget cuts will be made. He was joined in this by Sens. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa; John L. McClellan, D-Ark.; Allen J. Ellender, D-La.; George D. Aiken, R-Vt., and Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

Despite these efforts, McClellan, Hickenlooper, Ellender and Aiken said they think expenditures will top the $100-billion mark.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader, said he suspects that Johnson over-estimated revenues and underestimated expenses to keep the figure under the $100-billion mark.

Teacher Pay Bill Offered

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. George Hinson, chairman of the House Education Committee, has introduced a $45 a month teacher pay raise bill. Ninety other House members signed the measure as co-sponsors.

The Senate bill, with 10 co-sponsors, has been on file for a week, introduced by Sen. A. M. Aikin of Texas.

Both bills would raise salary levels authorized for teachers under the foundation school program by $405 a year.

The increase would cost an estimated $68 million in the coming two-year fiscal period, plus another $5 million for increases in teacher retirement.

Vice Witness Death Bared

HOUSTON (AP)—A shapely blue-eyed housewife, who was to have been a key witness in a call girl inquiry, died mysteriously and was buried on the eve of the special grand jury probe.

Word of the woman's death was first reported today by the Houston Post.

Mrs. Sandra Turner Windham, 27, who died in a hospital Jan. 17, had given information to Sgt. C. W. Munro of the police vice squad for several weeks, the officer told the Post.

"I regret her death in many different ways," Munro said. "For one thing, I hope the investigation did not contribute to it, and for another thing, I hope she wasn't murdered because she talked to me."

The death of Mrs. Windham, also known as Sandra Morvant and as Sandra Hairell, was listed in the police homicide office as "dead woman—suicide attempt."

A Devotional For The Day

"When the people of the land come before the Lord at the appointed feasts, he who enters by the north gate to worship shall go out by the south gate; and he who enters by the south gate shall go out by the north gate: no one shall return by way of the gate by which he entered, but each shall go out straight ahead." (Ezekiel 46:9, RSV)

PRAYER: Lord, I come to Thee with an open heart, expecting to be changed to conform to Thy will. Forbid that I should go forth from a worship service no different than before. Give me a new life; through Christ, my Redeemer. Amen.

Equal To His Destiny

None of the million words about Winston Churchill can add one whit to the stature of this great man. He was one of those rare souls raised up for a particular moment in history, and who himself was equal to his destiny.

Winston Churchill was a man of unwavering courage, a man never lacking in confidence of his own ability or the righteousness or rightness of his course. He was a man of stalwart character, and yet a man of instinctive color.

He was a man endowed with keen insight, a man geared for bold action in the immediate and with an eye on the past and the distant future. He was a man who moved with purpose now, yet with a sense of what it meant in the total pattern of history.

Winston Churchill was a man of sagacity, audacity and tenacity. Most of all, he was a man of eloquence. In a time when mankind had almost forgotten that words are after all the most powerful weapons, he lit a candle in Britain's darkest hour with his offer of blood, sweat and tears; he replaced despair with hope and faith with his pledge to fight on the beaches, in the streets and in the hills. He put his finger on the soft underbelly of Europe, and he identified the Iron Curtain.

The world cannot catalogue Winston Churchill, but it can thank God for this man who looms as the greatest of the century. Like the king, "he was a man. Take him all in all, (we) shall not look upon his like again."

Few Easy Options

There may have been a chorus of silent "Amens" the other day when Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia expressed an opinion on the Congo. "It would be nothing less than a tragedy for us to go and get involved in the Congo as we are in Viet Nam," he said. "That would be a monument to poor statesmanship."

So it would. Yet the nature of this troubled world today does not offer us many easy options. Who can say that the unthinkable of today will not be in the requirement of tomorrow? Both the Russians and the Chinese are competing to supply Congolese rebels. An air shuttle service was established for this arms buildup. When the needs of the Congolese rebels are met, there is no reason to believe that the supply service will be halted. Other African states would be eager to share in this outpouring of war materiel.

The last thing we would want to do would be to choose up sides in the Congo, which would in effect be the same as choosing up sides in Africa. It might be easier if we stood aside and let Russia and China fight over Africa. Yet even recent history teaches us that we cannot predict with certainty today what we will be forced to do tomorrow.

Richard Starnes The Indomitable Spirit

LONDON — Not even the final shadows that have enveloped him can dim the splendid and tumultuous life that Winston Churchill lived for 90 years.

His life will be studied and analyzed for as long as ordinary men are fascinated by the exploits of extraordinary men, and for as long as schoolboys need heroes upon whom to model themselves.

IN ALL THE drama and zest that marked his years, one fact overshadowed all the rest: The heart of his greatness was found in a spirit that was truly indomitable.

To the last his joyful instinct for battle against unequal odds did not desert him. Even grave illness complicated by great age found him a formidable foe, for he lived and fought bravely for days after he was stricken.

NONE WOULD have reckoned at the outset that Winston Churchill was destined to become one of the towering figures of history. He was a premature infant in a time when few such impatient arrivals survived.

He was an indifferent scholar who became one of the Western world's greatest historians, a stutterer who became the greatest orator to use the English language, an impetuous politician who overcame political disasters which would have doomed other men to obscurity.

LEGEND, which is rapidly destroying the more fascinating reality, ignores the calamities that were the anvil on which Sir Winston's character was forged. The Dardanelles campaign in 1915 was the greatest personal misfortune in his career.

As First Lord of the Admiralty he was blamed for the catastrophic defeat of the expedition designed to knock Turkey out of the war. He resigned, and although a royal commission cleared him, the ill-starred adventure haunted him until World War II.

Billy Graham

I have just recently become a Christian and am concerned about Christian conduct. I read the Bible but find no answers on many things that are problems to me. Can you help me? T.F.

I do not have a list of prohibitions, nor even of things to do. The Christian faith is not negative, but rather calls for a certain course of action that is produced by a righteous heart and decided on the basis of certain principles. I might simply suggest a few such principles. The principle of Christian love is first. The Bible says, "For none of us liveth unto himself." Your action and conduct must be motivated by love.

Second, you must do whatever you do as unto the Lord. This gives the primary motive in your action. Can you enter into any activity and do it as unto the Lord?

Third, you must do all things as one who has been bought with a price. The Bible says that you are bought with a price. Therefore glorify God in your body. Whatever therefore is injurious to your body, whatever causes a weaker person to stumble, or whatever fails to strengthen your personal faith and character must of necessity be contrary to the will of God.

When in doubt about certain things on which the Bible is silent, pray for giving God the benefit of the doubt. Prayer, when earnestly and sincerely offered in faith, will help you to ascertain God's will about these things.

THE MONKEY ON HIS BACK

James Marlow Baffle Season Of The Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the baffle season when the taxpayer, if he has interest and energy enough, can trudge through that wilderness called the President's budget.

This is the one area of government above all where the taxpayer, who has to foot the bill, can understand the least even though it's all laid out for him in a huge volume full of vast detail and dollar signs.

President Johnson presented his budget Monday — saying it will cost $99.7 billion to run the government another year — after working on it for months to keep expected spending down, particularly below $100 billion.

To show how much of an economist he is, he said government departments and agencies asked for a bottom figure of $108.5 billion. But how are you going to tell whether the $99.7 billion he asked is too much or too little?

YOU MAY have very strong opinions about the principle of federal aid to education or medical care for the aged but here you can base your opinion on social attitudes or unexamined prejudices.

But you don't have the comfort of prejudice in examining the arithmetic of the budget. You don't know enough about what you're looking at.

The budget, a bunch of figures covering every facet of purposes, is put together by people who are supposed to know the most about the problems the money is intended to solve: the heads of departments and agencies.

An outsider may shudder at the size of Johnson's $99.7-billion request or, at this time of growing population and rising needs, feel Johnson was a magician in keeping costs below $100 billion at all.

But either conclusion is an opinion without true knowledge. For how, for instance, can an outsider know whether the $49 billion Johnson asked for defense, with all that it involves, is too ample or too thin?

THE POLITICIANS are no help. As was expected, they sound like a re-run of themselves from last year and the year before since their reactions are predictable, depending on the party of the one doing the talking.

The Republicans were customarily critical Monday particularly of what they called "bookkeeping manipulation," and they complained about the "same old sleight of hand."

The Democrats were kinder, naturally, and to nobody's surprise the House Democratic leader, Carl Albert of Oklahoma, said that by every realistic test the budget is fiscally sound beyond any doubt.

But this hardly came under the heading of news since Albert, as the Democrats' House captain, has to work hand-in-glove with Johnson all year.

In politics $100 billion is taking on the appearance of a dirty word and the Republicans' House leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, said he had some suspicion that, to keep the spending total under $100 billion, "they are overestimating revenues and underestimating expenses."

IN 1962 President John F. Kennedy's budget was $92.5 billion and it was $98.8 billion in 1963, highest in history up to that time.

Then Johnson made quite a splash as an economist when, after taking over in 1964 he proposed a $97.9 - billion budget, which was lower than Kennedy's of the year before.

This year his $99.7 billion became the highest budget ever. Skidding around just under the $100-billion lid can't go on since government costs keep climbing as its responsibilities increase.

Next year the figure will probably top $100 billion. Then the Republicans will probably call Johnson a spendthrift, Albert and other Democrats will justify, and the taxpayer won't be any surer of what's too much or too little than he is now.

Hal Boyle Long Path To Success

NEW YORK (AP) — Harvard isn't widely regarded as leading weltspring of American humor. Any chortles it gets are usually incidental to other purposes.

But one of its graduates has become America's second ranking film star at the box office, largely because of his ability to make the nation laugh. He is John Uhler Lemmon III, a son of Boston's Back Bay and holder of two Harvard degrees — B.A. and B.S.

"OFFHAND, I don't know of any other Harvard men who are acting," said Jack, who will turn 40 next month. "Several have become producers, writers or directors — but I can't recall any who stuck to acting as a career."

Jack has been stagestruck since childhood. At the age of 4 he appeared in something called "Gold in Them Thar Hills" with his father, a theater buff.

Up to his armpits now in gold as the result of a series of hit film comedies, Lemmon is somewhat bewildered by people who think success came to him overnight.

ACTUALLY, he appeared in Broadway plays and some 400 radio and television shows before he began his steady climb to the movie heights.

Jack feels that too many people, young and old, waste their lives trying to achieve "success" in everybody else's opinion rather than their own.

"At 21 you shouldn't be looking for security and status. You should be willing to starve for at least three years for a chance to do something you really want to do," he said.

"Your profession should come out of a need — not just out of an opportunity."

To Your Good Health Strokes Are Rare Among The Young

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Your article has explained so many things I have wondered about. Here is a clipping about a seven-year-old boy who died of a brain hemorrhage. Last year I had a friend whose son was 15 and had the same thing. He had a headache, became unconscious, then had seizures and paralysis and died in a few hours. Could you explain this? — MRS. D. C.

Luckily this doesn't happen very often to the young.

The usual cause is the rupture of an aneurysm (bulgy, weak place) in an artery inside the skull. This may be a flaw with which the individual is born. It can occur because of physical injury, of course, but that means a shattering type of accident. The skull protects against minor (or even pretty hard) bumps causing such damage.

When it happens, it is a "stroke," or at least one form of stroke, and precisely the same sort of thing which occurs with far greater frequency among older people, because in them the elements of high blood pressure and gradual deterioration of the arteries play a part.

But the result is the same. It may be a "little stroke," or of maximum severity, or anywhere in between.

With young people, brain surgery sometimes is possible. The blood vessels in general are pliable and strong, rather than hardened and brittle. Hence, once a child has survived the original attack, such surgery can repair the ruptured area with remarkably good results.

In some instances, immediate surgery, to reduce pressures, can be attempted, but I should warn that this cannot always be done, or even tried. I stress this to avoid the possibility of someone feeling that "They should have tried to do something for this child." There are cases, heart-breaking as they are, in which nothing can be done.

But at least strokes among children are rare and that is why, when they do happen, they receive considerable notice.

Dear Dr. Molner: Could you send me some booklets, pamphlets and pictures on artificial respiration, the respiratory system, first aid, the circulatory system, shock and wounds? Send them as immediately as possible. — MISS A. McC.

I could but I won't. In behalf of myself and lots of other

Around The Rim Jerry And His Nervous Stomach

No wonder my cat, Jerry, has been so nervous recently. I had thought that it was the menace to his tender limbs posed by a big and rough alley cat on the prowl in our yard. Not so.

Jerry is undoubtedly upset over the plight of his brother cats in far off Japan. A catastrophe — if you'll pardon the word — has hit the feline population of Osaka and threatens to spread to Tokyo.

IT SEEMS THAT cat intestines are used in the Nipponese empire for the production of a sort of musical device called a three-string fiddle. These instruments, termed samisens, are evidently in high favor with the Japanese.

I never saw or heard a samisen. However, I assume they have the same general musical quality of most oriental instruments. If so, I can readily understand the adaptability of the alley cat to their production. A lot of oriental music I have heard had all of the happy tonal qualities of a romantic cluster of seedy tomatos on a moonlit night.

IN THIS COUNTRY, there is a common belief that fiddle strings are made of catgut. I understand that the strings on violins are not manufactured from cat innards — that they are rawhide or some such material. In Japan, it would appear, the people are realists. If they feel that a samisen needs catgut strings to do its best musically, that's what they put on it. This has cat lovers in Nippon up in arms over the invasion of Tokyo's alleys and backlots by professional cat trappers from Osaka.

THE OSAKA trappers defiantly display trapping licenses, but Tokyo cat fanciers protest that the Osaka licenses are no good in Tokyo. Thus, the Osakans have decided to pull up stakes and go back to their home town.

Nevertheless, the cat problem has shook Tokyo.

Not only do the cat lovers say the trappers are snaring their pets for the samisen makers — they also charge that the flesh is being peddled to roadside barbecue places. They allege that cat meat emerges at these places as something called yaki-tori. They also argue that civilized nations do not eat cat meat, therefore the cat trappers are damaging the Japanese image.

MY CAT, Jerry, isn't concerned about the damage being done to the Nipponese image. Nor, for that matter, over what may happen to his Osaka or Tokyo kinsmen.

He heard the television turned on the other day. He's near-sighted and could not see the screen, but he has been hearing. The program was one featuring a group of unbarbered Britishers.

JERRY HAS concluded that the weird sounds could only have been produced by the use of samisens. And, with cat logic, he figures the samisen has invaded the United States. Hence, if this is the case, there will be raids made on American cats to produce samisen materials.

Since Jerry is possessed of a pretty protuberant pot he figures he has a lot of what it might take to make samisen strings.

Naturally, he is worried.

—SAM BLACKBURN

Marquis Childs The Power Of The President

WASHINGTON—The powers of the presidency are defined in the Constitution in one page—the official big edition of 1953. Out of that tiny accorn has grown the enormous structure that President Johnson now in his own right begins to govern.

On how a President uses the powers of the great Federal structure so much depends. In the nuclear age it is hardly an exaggeration to say that on this use-wise, indifferent, reckless—turns the life or death of whole nations.

LONG SINCE it has been clear that this President's approach is intensely personal. He can moralize about institutions. But when it comes to getting things done, "trying, probing, falling, resting and trying again." Institutions play little part in his thinking. As a personal President his use of the telephone has given him a reach beyond personal Presidents in the past.

Looking at the brand this Texan means to put on the years ahead two vitally important questions are yet to be answered. What will be the restraints—self-restraints or otherwise—on his personal use of power? And will he in his intensely personal and demanding temperament be able to draw around him and make essential use of independent experts?

FOR HOWEVER great the political capacities of the man in the Chief Executive's chair—and no one doubts that LBJ's capacities are of the first order—he cannot govern without a body of trusted experts with relative independence of judgment. That is plain in the debate of the political scientists over the powers of the Presidency.

"... PRESIDENTIAL power has been at times dangerously personalized," Prof. Edward S. Corwin of Princeton wrote in his searching study—"The President, Office and Powers"—"and this in two senses: first, that the leadership that it affords was dependent altogether on the accident of personality, against which our haphazard method of selecting Presidents offers no guarantee; and, secondly, that there is no governmental body that could be relied on to give the President independent advice and that he was nevertheless bound to consult..."

IN LBJ's hero, Franklin Roosevelt, Professor Corwin saw personalized government carried to an extreme degree. He rated Roosevelt with Lincoln as Presidents who had used personal authority in unprecedented fashion.

BUT EVEN Corwin with his concern over personalizing the office was willing to concede that Dwight Eisenhower's moves in the opposite direction failed. Eisenhower had the chief-of-staff concept. He believed he could institutionalize the office and delegate wide authority to subordinates who would operate under a broad command principle.

As another authority on Presidential power, Richard E. Neustadt, has noted, Eisenhower was an amateur at politics. He brought to the office almost none of the knowledge and expertise that a Chief Executive with a wide-ranging commission must have.

"BUT IF ONE wants effective policy from the American system," Neustadt writes in his book—"Presidential Power"—"danger does not lie in our dependence on a man; it lies in our capacity to make ourselves depend on a man who is inept. Any human judgment is worth fearing nowadays, but save for this the expert is a boon. His expertise assures a contribution to the system. The system, after all, is what he knows. The danger lies in men who do not know it."

JUSTICE HOLMES once characterized FDR as a "second-rated intellect but a first-rate temperament." Neustadt observes that this may be a necessary combination, since government rarely deals kindly with men whom intellectuals regard as first-rate intellects. Given his driving temperament and his bred-in-the-bone knowledge of the system Mr. Johnson will hopefully use his great powers with wise restraint.

Holmes Alexander Immigration Policy Questioned

WASHINGTON—"The truth is," said Vernon J. Veritas, the old truth-teller, "that President Johnson's immigration message, and its implementing bills in Congress, are more backward looking than anybody has noticed."

"ONE OF THE CHIEF features of the Celler bill in the House allows the attorney general to grant 'first preference to skilled specialists.' This is exactly what the American colonists did more than 200 years ago when they disregarded other considerations and imported Africans with special skills in hot-weather agriculture. Both the white and Negro races have regretted the policy."

Mr. Veritas must believe, then, that "other considerations" are more important in an immigration policy than the utilitarian ones. And, of course, the House-Senate immigration bills are full of "other considerations."

"THEY CERTAINLY are," Veritas agreed, "but the first consideration ought to be some manifest self-advantage to the U.S.A., and this is not there."

Some of the other considerations in these bills are as short-sighted as our forefathers' vision. For example, one House bill provision (Section 3) allows the President to allot 30 per cent of the reserve pool of immigrants to those whose admissions would "further the national security interests." This means, in its context, that we should more freely admit nationals of those countries who are presently our "allies." But how can this be called long-term wisdom? Russia and China were allies less than a generation ago. The international line-up of friend and foe changes faster than any President can foresee.

MR. VERITAS must believe that the immigration bills in the House and Senate are motivated by something other than American needs.

"The administration's immigration policy is what psychologists would call 'outlet motivated,'" declared Veritas, who cannot tell a lie. "The drive does not come from any requirement in America for more citizens, more workers, more races, more colors. This drive to bring in more and different peoples comes from two sources. One is the pressure from minority groups of nationalities in our cities to have more of their own kind around, particularly their own relatives. This is understandable, but it should not be controlling as an American policy."

"THE OTHER SOURCE is the obsession of our foreign policy-makers to make friends abroad by making concessions at home. The foreign policy-makers are attuned to what they think is world opinion, which is not the same as American opinion. If it weren't for these minority pressure groups, and for these obsessions to conform to world opinion, there would not be any drive to revolutionize the standing immigration policy which has served us very well, and has served the world well enough."

KNOTT (SC)—The Rev. K. R. Black has taken the pastorate of the Mt. Joy Missionary Baptist Church. He has moved from Lordsburg, N. M., with his wife and two sons.

Mrs. Fred Paffter has returned to her home after receiving treatment in a Big Spring hospital.

Joe Myers and Luther Ellis Witt are patients in Cowper Clinic and Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Burrow are visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lowke, in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Gaskins and daughter, all of Lamesa, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Gaskins.

Weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roman was their daughter, Judy, from Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene. She was accompanied by her roommate, Keitha Walton, Snyder, and Jo An Griffith, Paint Creek.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Davidson were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hudgens, and family, Monahans. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. David Davidson and family, Lamesa, and Mrs. Ben Foster.

Mu Kappa Meets For Festivity

A tacky party was held by members of Mu Kappa of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Alan Alexander, 3220 Drexel, with the award for the best costume going to Mrs. Cloys Snell for her portrayal of "Tillie the Tramp."

Mrs. Snell and Mrs. W. T. Rutledge served as cohostesses and assisted at the refreshment table where a hobo style meal was served on a red and white bandana cloth.

Mrs. J. W. Dickens presided at the business session, and announced the group had completed addressing envelopes for the YMCA membership drive. She extended congratulations to Mrs. Robin Howell who was recently selected beauty queen of District 8 of ESA.

Crazy bridge was played, and Mrs. John M. Wilson Jr. won first prize.

The next meeting will be Feb. 8 in the home of Mrs. Dickens in Silver Heels.

Beta Omicron Hears Guest

Mrs. Richard Patterson was guest speaker at the Monday meeting of Beta Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi when she detailed the history and mechanics of sculpturing.

She was introduced by Mrs. Don Carroll Cannon and Mrs. Dor Kennemur when the group met at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. Mrs. Patterson told of the beginning of sculpturing in the Nile valley in 420 A.D. and noted examples of outstanding works of art throughout the ensuing centuries. She told of the difference of relief work and sculpture in the round.

A farewell was issued to Mrs. Dwight Parker who is moving to Lubbock. The group purchased a gift membership to the YMCA for a child and donated to the March of Dimes. Mrs. Jack Tavrien, assisted by Mrs. Bill McDonald, served refreshments at a table laid with a brown linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Kennemur was winner of the attendance prize, a still life presented by the guest speaker.

The Covenant Life Class of the St. Paul Presbyterian Church School were guests Friday evening at a White Elephant party held in the L. B. Edwards home, 1412 Eleventh Place. Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Leon Moffett served as hostesses.

Following games directed by Bill Gibson, Jim Layman and Floyd McNeill, songs were led by Louis Loveless.

The hostesses served refreshments from a table covered with a white Madera cloth and appointed with silver and crystal. Approximately 40 members and a visitor, Mrs. W. P. McNeill of Raeford, N. C., were present. Birt Allison is the class teacher.

Relatives Visited

British Wives Group Welcomes Members

Three new members were welcomed to the British Wives Club meeting Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Lester Chism, 2217 Langley. They were Mrs. Bobby L. Smith, Cambridge, Eng.; Mrs. James R. Hamilton, Essex, Eng.; and Mrs. Loren H. Hiniker, Yorkshire, Eng.

Mrs. Horace Doyal presided and introduced a visitor, Mrs. Robert Cooley of Warrington, Eng., who is the houseguest of Mrs. John Strong.

As part of the current visitation project, it was reported that Mrs. Doyal and Mrs. Chism called on several older citizens who make their homes in local rest homes. Also, the group plans a visit soon to the state hospital where they will visit the Fashion Shop which they donated clothing for during the holidays.

"Password" was played with high score going to Mrs. Ronald Kahofer and Mrs. Joe Cahey.

Convention Plans Set By Auxiliary

Committee members were selected to handle arrangements for the Eagles convention to be held in Big Spring Feb. 13-14 when the auxiliary met Monday in the Settles Hotel. Mrs. Jan Tally will serve as chairman of the decoration committee. She will be assisted by Mrs. Travis Anderson, Mrs. Howard Johnson, Mrs. Marie Letcher and Mrs. Gladys Ogle. Mrs. Johnson presided at the session, and Mrs. Grace Grandstaff was elected vice president of the organization.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Johnson to 11 members.

Inauguration Seen By H. D. Stewart

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Stewart, 1802 Donley, left Monday morning for Austin where they were to attend the inaugural festivities for Gov. John Connally. They plan to return Wednesday afternoon. The Stewart's sons, Howard and Jimmy, are staying with their grandmother, Mrs. H. D. Stewart Sr.

J. B. Hoards Attend Inaugural Festivities

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Hoard left Sunday for Austin to attend the "Victory Dinner" and other inaugural festivities for Gov. John Connally. They will go to Houston afterward where Hoard has an appointment at the Methodist Hospital.

A group of women having birthdays in January had their annual birthday party in the school cafeteria where refreshments were served. They were Mrs. W. M. Romans and her daughter, Rita Lynn, Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, Mrs. Clara M. Fletcher, Mrs. Tom Spell and Mrs. Burt Griffith. Several of the school personnel attended.

Mrs. Jess Overton was hostess at the Pioneer Sewing Club in her home with eight members attending. Mrs. Henry Park will be hostess to the group Feb. 2.

Remotivation Club Hears Dr. H. Davis Describe Behavior

Dr. Harry Davis outlined the motivations of people in seeking a goal when he spoke to members of the Big Spring Remotivation Club Monday in the Flame Room at Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

He told of the problems people encounter in trying to reach an intended goal. Experiments on lower animals have been done regarding this behavior pattern which he described. He told of the application of these studies in understanding the reactions of humans.

Mrs. J. O. Puckett presided, and Mrs. Myrtle Harkrider was hostess to 14 members. The next meeting will be held March 29.

Study Club Wins Award Of Merit

LAMESA (SC)—The Lamesa Woman's Study Club was awarded a certificate of merit by the Sears Foundation for its participation in the 1964-65 community improvement program. The program is co-sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs Inc.

Mrs. Jean Cornett of the Lamesa Sears store presented the certificate to Mrs. R. H. Poteit, president of the club, and Mrs. O. H. Sires, chairman of the community improvement committee.

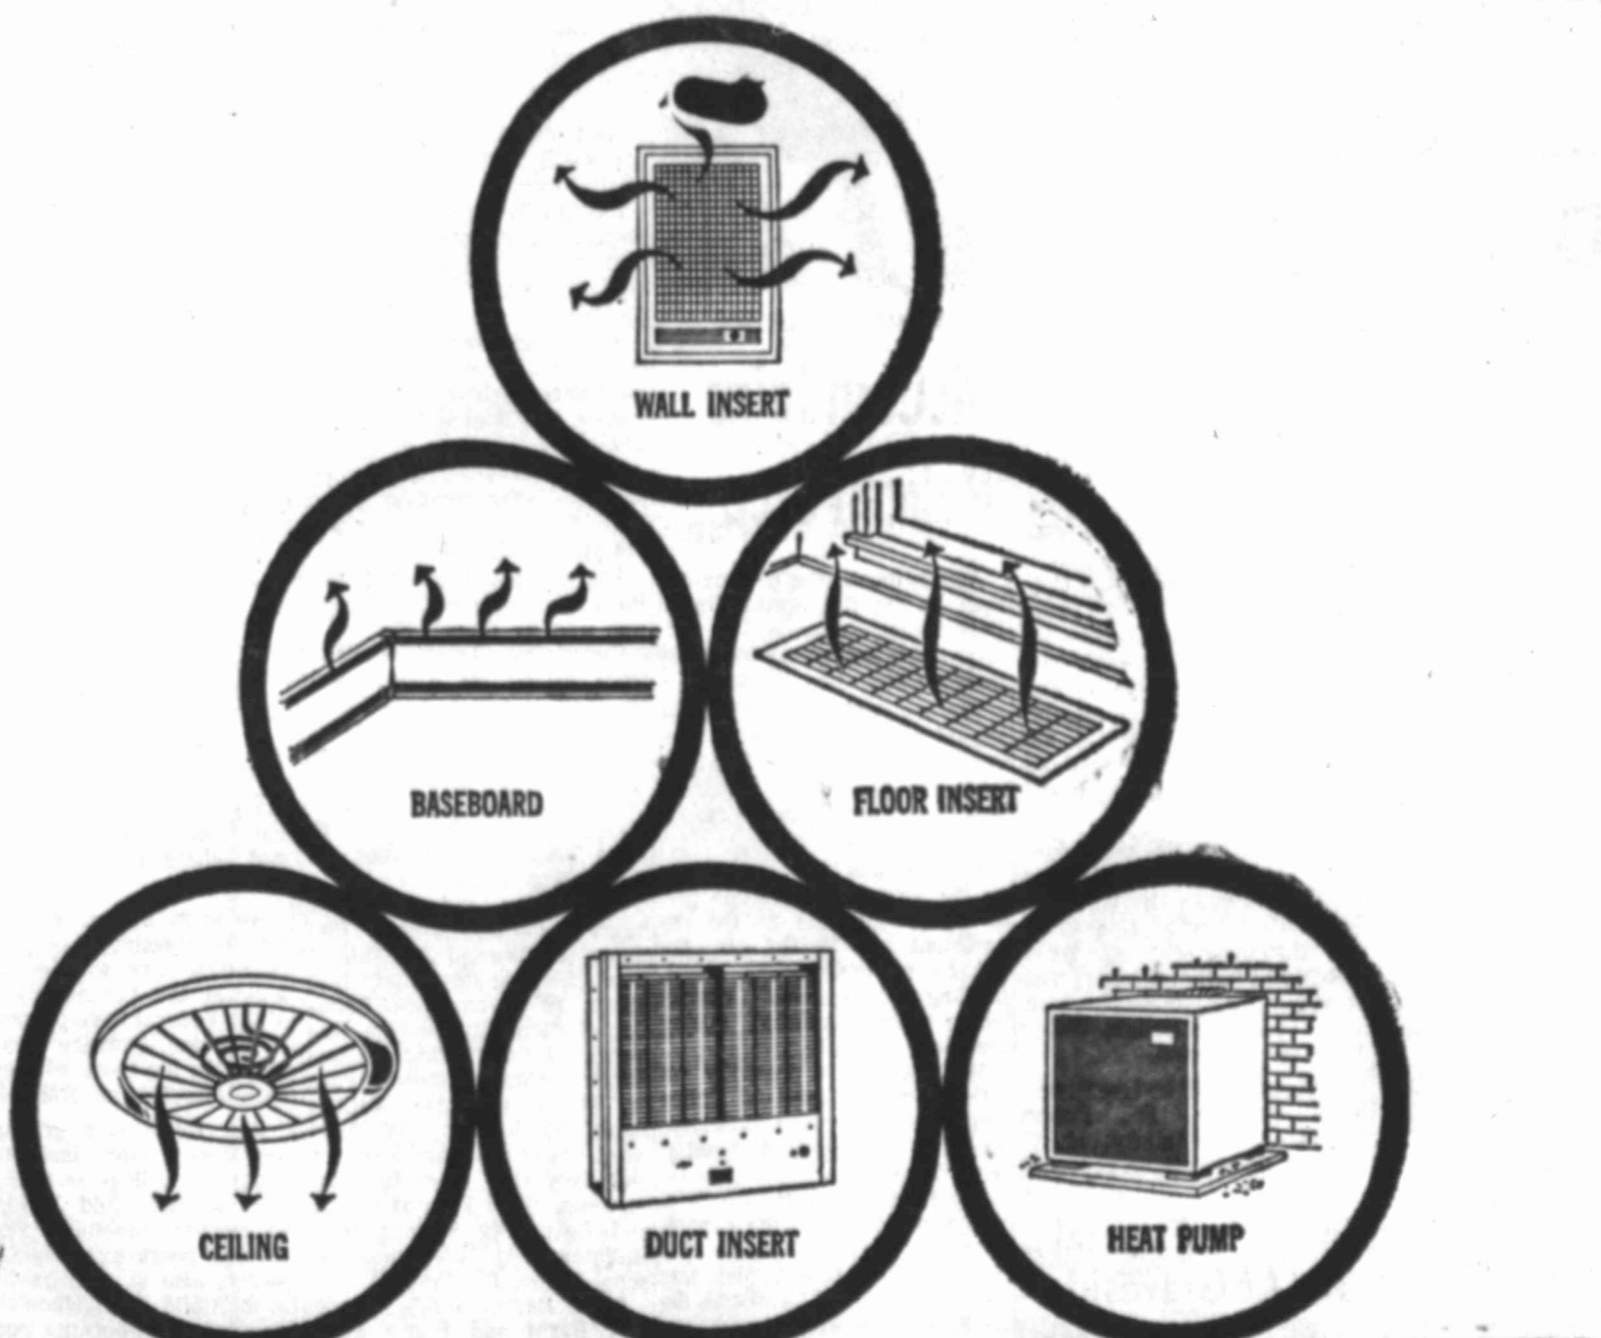

A top national award will be presented to a member club accomplishing the most in the community improvement project.

Guest Of Mother

KNOTT (SC) — Dorrie Carmichael is visiting in Cleburn with his mother who is ill. Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lillard were Mrs. Dorrie Carmichael and Genice and Larry Taylor of Fort Sill, Okla.

Officers Elected
LAMESA (SC) — Mrs. Norris Barron was hostess to the Heritage Club last week at her home. Officers for the coming year were elected. They are Mrs. Barron, president; Mrs. Arlan Youngblood, vice president; Mrs. Monte Griffin, secretary; and Mrs. Ross Barron, reporter.

The club voted to have the annual founder's day dinner at Turner's Cafe Feb. 16 at 7 p.m.

More Defense Pledged For Less Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told Congress Monday his $49-billion military budget — pared down $300 million from this year's spending — would provide "a massive defense establishment of steadily growing power, within reduced outlays."

Essentially, the President's military budget was a translation into terms of dollars, men and munitions of his more broadly worded special defense message to Congress a week ago.

OTHER WORK
Statistically, the military portion of his over-all federal budget included these points:

The $49 billion to be expended in the year beginning next July 1 would be made up of $47.3 billion for operation maintenance, research and other work of the armed forces, plus $1.1 billion for military assistance to foreign nations — including an unspecified but heavy investment in South Viet Nam.

The over-all manpower strength of the armed forces would lose from 16,640 men to 2,640,000. The Army and Air Force would lose men: the Army with a 10,000 decrease to a strength of 953,000; the Air Force losing 20,000 for a fiscal 1965 strength of 809,000.

The Navy, with more ships to man, would move up 11,000 to a 685,000 level; the Marines would get a 3,000 increase to 193,000.

In military hardware, he recommended an increase of one squadron over the present 16 squadrons of the quick-reaction, intercontinental Minuteman missiles. (This represents 850 individual missiles, compared with an eventual goal of 1,000 Minutemen.)

The present six squadrons of long-range Titan liquid fuel missiles are to be retained, but the last of the older Atlas rockets — first of the U.S. ICBM's — will be withdrawn by next summer.

NEXT YEAR
By the end of the next fiscal year, June 30, 1966, the Navy would have 35 missile-firing Polaris submarines in commission, compared with 29 at the end of the current year.

The Air Force would have fewer strategic bombers, more tactical fighter units. Johnson proposed 13 I-3 wings of the heavy B52 bombers for next year, compared with a current 14 wings — a decrease of 30 B52s from the approximate 650 now. Tactical squadrons would be upped to 119 from a present 117.

The Navy would get along with its present 15 attack carriers and nine antisubmarine warfare carriers. But new ships coming off the ways or older ships re-built into modified form will boost the overall fleet strength to 579 from this year's 580 average.

Broadcast Pickup Decision Stands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review a decision that a community television antenna service may pick up broadcasts by television stations that are not copyrighted or are not copyrightable.

The decision was given by the U.S. Circuit Court in San Francisco in a suit by KPIX Corp., operator of a station in Twin Falls, Idaho. KPIX, charged unfair competition by Cable Vision, Inc., which obtains television signals of stations in Salt Lake City by use of microwave facilities of Idaho Microwave, Inc.

'Lip Service' Snipe Scored

AUSTIN (AP) — Some senators were displeased today over Sen. Franklin Spears' utterances in Houston Sunday, accusing the legislature of paying "lip service" to redistricting.

"The comments were ill advised, in that we're trying to get started and this casts a shadow on the legislature," said Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, Senate president pro tempore.

"We're off to a good start this session."

The San Antonio senator spoke to a Harris County liberal group. Spears, one of the senators who successfully brought the legislative redistricting suit against the state, also said the legislature can't pass an equitable redistricting law because it is unfairly constituted.

"We definitely are interested in redistricting," said Creighton. "I believe we're going to get a bill passed in the regular session."

Negro Return To GOP Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Massachusetts' Republican Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, a Negro, says he believes members of his race will return to the GOP as time goes on.

"I don't think it's going to take any great miracle," Brooke said today in a copy-right interview in U.S. News & World Report.

"Negroes are getting more and more opportunities, are better educated, more interested in things other than civil rights," Brooke said.

Brooke, re-elected last fall despite a Democratic sweep of other state officers, said he didn't think it necessarily correct that the Negro had left the GOP.

Hospital Care In New Outlay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The budget sent to Congress by President Johnson proposed hospital insurance for the aged under Social Security, higher Social Security cash benefits and higher Social Security taxes to finance the broader benefits.

The hospital insurance program would provide benefits beginning July 1, 1966 for the estimated 85 per cent of the aged who are entitled to receive Social Security benefits. Thus, no expenditure is proposed during the year beginning July 1.

OLDER PERSONS
For aged persons who are not covered by Social Security, the cost of the program would be financed from general appropriations, with benefits also to start July 1, 1966.

However, the Social Security tax rate and the taxable wage base both would be increased effective Jan. 1, 1966 to build up a health insurance trust fund before benefits begin and also to help finance a proposed 7 per cent increase in Social Security cash benefits. The increase in cash payments would be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965.

"I am recommending prompt enactment of a hospital insurance program for elderly persons, who are finding hospital and medical costs far greater than their ability to pay," the budget message said.

"This program should be self-financing, with a combined employer-employee pay roll contribution of 0.6 per cent of the first $5,600 of income to start in calendar year 1966."

The President also recommended an increase from $4,800 to $5,600 in the wage base on which Social Security taxes are paid, effective Jan. 1, 1966, together with a smaller increase in the pay roll tax percentage that is now scheduled to become effective that date under present law.

Dear Abby

Re-Telling Those Jokes

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the wife who was embarrassed because her husband insisted on telling "old jokes" took me back many years. My father, rest his soul, was a great one for repeating the same stories to his guests. They would all listen politely, giving no sign that they had heard the story before. Daddy's eyes would twinkle as he talked, and when he got to the punch line he would laugh so hard himself he could hardly get through it. Then everyone would laugh with him. Mamma, bless her, always led the laughter.

I REMEMBER DADDY

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter you published from the woman who complained because her husband told old jokes to his friends over and over again. I know how that woman must feel, because I used to be in the same situation. Every time my husband would start telling one of his old jokes, I'd wince with embarrassment. After 40 years of marriage, he is gone. And now I would give anything if I could hear him tell one of his old jokes again. A WIDOW

DEAR ABBY: I have something to say about "old" jokes. I have collected jokes for over 40 years and I have not heard a "new" one in many, many years. But that doesn't detract from the enjoyment of listening to a joke, if it is told well. Sign me—

OVER SEVENTY

DEAR OVER SEVENTY: How right you are. And anyone, including this writer, who has ever heard Danny Thomas tell the one about the parrot will echo your sentiments.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the old jokes prompts this question: When someone starts to tell a joke, and then stops and says, "Please stop me if you've heard this joke before," is it all right to stop him if you have? JOKE TELLER

DEAR JOKE TELLER: I wouldn't recommend it.

DEAR ABBY: The woman who was embarrassed because her husband told old jokes has my sympathy, but my problem is bigger than hers. I have a brother-in-law who tells DIRTY jokes in mixed company, and he embarrasses me to death. Some of his jokes bring down the house, but I can't say that I appreciate listening to them. I don't want to look like a poor sport, so I pretend to enjoy his jokes along with the rest of the people, but I keep wishing all the while I could crawl into a hole and disappear. I'm no child. I've been this man's sister-in-law for 28 years, and he knows how I feel about dirty jokes, but he tells them in my presence anyway. What is the lady-like thing to do in such a situation?

Texas Due U.S. Buildings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two of the 24 proposed new federal buildings in President Johnson's budget would be built in Texas. The President is asking for $183,751,000 for this purpose, of which $22,128,000 would go for a new federal court house and office building in Dallas, and $1,636,000 would be spent on a new post office building in Lubbock.

Former Con Jailed Anew

DALLAS (AP)—Larry Reno, once charged and later acquitted in the death of Times Herald reporter Jim Koethe, was behind bars again Monday. Reno, 23, was arrested minutes after a robbery at Wynne-wood Hotel. Leon Williams, 69, the desk clerk, was repeatedly beaten over the head with a wrench during the robbery early Sunday. Reno is a former convict.

International Outlay Dips

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. spending on foreign affairs—to promote "world peace, stability and prosperity"—will dip slightly next year under President Johnson's new budget. Johnson estimated the outlay for nonmilitary international affairs and finance during the fiscal year starting next July 1 at just under $4 billion, a $39-million cut from this year's rate. This includes increases for the State Department and the Peace Corps.

Foreign aid spending of various types, including the bulk of the international finance figure plus $1.1 billion in arms assistance, was listed at $5 billion in the coming year—a $300-million drop. Military aid was down $100 million from this year and economic aid, at $3.9 billion, was down $200 million.

The budget allocated about $250 million for international organizations including the United Nations and related agencies—a $30-million boost. But officials said this was tentative pending the outcome of the fight over U.N. financing.

If the Soviet Union refuses to pay its U.N. dues, administration sources freely predict Congress will use its purse-string power to clamp down on the heavy U.S. contribution.

Johnson endorsed continued U.S. "participation in and support for the United Nations" in the brief portion of his budget message dealing with foreign affairs.

Johnson asked for $5.1 billion in new spending authority for international finances in 1966, a drop of $1.6 billion from this year but $700 million more than in 1964. This figure tends to fluctuate more than spending because outlays from authorizations spread over the years.

He proposed $250 million in added authorization for Inter-American Development Bank loans for the Alliance for Progress aid to Latin America in 1966, of which $25 million would be spent that year and a $104-million authorization for International Development Association easy-term loans abroad, from which $10 million would be spent in 1966.

Show Trio Parting Ways

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—"It's sad, but that's the way it's got to be," said Norman Kaye as the Mary Kaye Trio gave its last performance after 20 successful years. "Mary is a great singer. For 20 years, being tied to a trio has been a frustration for her. She has to try it on her own. "My real estate and insurance business is booming so that show business now is only a hobby for me.

"And Frank (Ross), a great comedian, has to try it on his own, too," said Kaye.

Mary Kaye, her brother Norman and comic Ross each shed a few tears Saturday as they wound up their final performance in the lounge of the Tropicana Hotel just before dawn.

All State Band Takes Record 10 From Here

The Big Spring High School band has qualified a record number for participation in the all-state orchestra and band.

Ten boys and girls will participate in the select group of secondary school musicians at the meeting of the Texas Music Educators Association in Dallas Feb. 10. They also will be recognized at the winter concert set here for Feb. 5.

Placing in the all state orchestra are Hollis Webb and Lynn Christensen, bassoon; Juaneta Palmer, French horn; Bill Davis, trombone; Kathy Seddon, flute, reported Doug Wiehe, director.

Those in the all state band are Kenneth Greenhill, tuba; Pat Hamilton, piccolo; Paula Hood, alto clarinet; Charles Macklin, base clarinet; Susan Ivey, percussion.

The 10 this year exceeds by one the total in 1963 when Big Spring High had the largest number of any band in the state qualifying for all state units. Last year BSHS placed eight, which was the third largest in the state.

Heart Month Plans Made

Plans for observance of February as "Heart Month" were made at a meeting of the Howard County Heart Association Monday night, with Feb. 21st as "Heart Sunday."

Three students from Big Spring High School and one from Howard County Junior College were appointed to association board at the session. Named were Pat Hamilton, Sue Knox and Mitchell McNeese, from the high school, and Charlotte Shive, HCJC.

Some 300 coin containers for the annual Heart Fund will be distributed in Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and elsewhere in the county beginning Feb. 1. Mrs. Tommy Hammond, chairman, related.

The Key Club of Big Spring High School will join in distribution of the coin containers.

Plans for the Heart Sunday observance will be directed by Mrs. G. Edward Williams, chairman, and Mrs. Donald Van Meter, co-chairmen. The city will be divided into districts, with a chairman for each district. Volunteer workers and Girl Scouts will conduct the door-to-door march. Bill Reed will direct the Heart Sunday march in Coahoma.

Some 25 association members attended the planning meeting Monday night, in the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital library. Plans for the Heart Month program include speakers for civic clubs, distribution of movies, coffees and other activities.

New Language On Curriculum

TAHLEQUAH, Okla. (AP) — A new language will be added to those now taught at Northeastern State College.

Authorization to teach the Cherokee Indian language on a noncredit basis was granted Monday by state regents for higher education. The regents' administrative assistant, T. G. Sexton, said he knows of no other college that offers instruction in an Indian language.

McMurry Receives $35,000 Bequest

McMurry College has received a bequest of an estate valued in excess of $35,000, Dr. Gordon Bennett, president of the college, announced. The gift, a bequest from the Loraine A. Boyce estate, includes $25,000 in cash and a 17 per cent interest of 513 acres in Hardin County, he said. Miss Boyce died in Beaumont in March, 1964. She was the daughter of the late George and Sallie C. Boyce, West Texas pioneers and benefactors of McMurry, who lived in Merkel.

FOUR TOOL PUSHERS SPUD IN THE YMCA MEMBER LEASE Whipstock Berry, Diamond Jim Calmes, Gusher Warren, Doodlebug McDaniel

YMCA Membership Drive Gets Started Monday

More than 50 crew members began drilling operations today as the YMCA prospected for participating members in hopes of a real strike.

James (Gasser) Tidwell, Y president, was on hand as four tool pushers led in spudding the annual membership effort of the Y, and immediately John (Whip-stock) Berry, Diamond Jim Calmes, Charles (Gusher) Warren, and Hank (Doodlebug) McDaniel began rallying their drillers and their roughnecks to see who can report the first completion. McDaniel subbed in for Frank (Wildcat) Hardesty, who was due to return Wednesday in time for the drillstem tests.

Objective of the effort is a $15,000 strike in field wells (renewals) and discoveries (new members). Each of the divisions under the toolpushers has a $3,750 goal. The roughnecks or individual crew members have quotas of $180 in memberships.

While the kickoff was going on in the all purpose room at the Y Monday afternoon, several memberships were being issued at the desk, including some new members.

"While we have a broad prospect list," said Pete (Bottomhole) Cook, the operations director (membership campaign chairman), "we may overlook some people. This is certainly unintentional, and we urge these prospective members to call the Y so we can make the visit."

Cook said the first report session would be at 5:15 p.m. today at the Y, and others would follow at the same hour on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, when he and other leaders hope the effort can be climaxed successfully.

Mr., Miss CHS Named Saturday

COAHOMA (SC) — Diane Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brooks, and a junior in Coahoma High School, was named Miss CHS for 1965, and Ronnie Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Deward Walker, and a senior in the high school, was named Mr. CHS, Saturday night.

The program was held in the high school gymnasium and the reigning pair was chosen from 32 candidates — four boys and four girls from each high school grade.

Each candidate was required to go through certain routines with escort, and then present one talent exhibition. Last year's king and queen, Bobby Pherigo and Cheryl Childers, were seated in a huge sea shell, to carry out the theme: "In a Deep Sea Paradise."

Poise, grace, charm and personality were judged in the girls acts, while self-assurance, appearance, and personality were judged in the boys' acts.

Two girls, Sherie White and Judy Firenza, dressed as mermaids, announced numbers for each contestant.

The six finalist-couples were: Vicki Patterson and Stanley Phillips, Martha Love and Ricky White, Diane Brooks and Ronnie Walker, Sarah Oakes and Mike Butler, Donna Duke and Terry Denton, Pat Chapman and Tony Butler.

Wayne Oglesby and Nadine Honeycutt were named as Mr.

RONNIE WALKER — Mr. CHS

DIANE BROOKS — Miss CHS

and Miss Congeniality as the contestants voted them the easiest to work with. Dewayne Allen sang a "Salute to Coahoma's New Royalty."

Art Exhibit Being Held In JC Library

Opening at the Howard County Junior College library is an exhibition of 30 paintings, winners of a West Texas Art Association competitive show. The display will be open two weeks, after which the works will be taken to San Angelo College.

Three Big Spring painters are represented in the exhibit: "The SPA," by Mrs. Kathryn Hartley; "Tomb of a Tree" by Mrs. Lynn Patton; and "Fishing," by Don Duncan. Others represented in the collection are Peggy Supowitz, Lois Hogue Shaw, Betrice Shaw, all of Sweetwater; George Womack, Colorado City; J. Robert Miller, Suella Lacy, L. Collaer, Fran T. Brannan, Bernard Kirk, Mrs. Frank Scorbrough, Kitty Benson and Mrs. A. A. Heiderbrecht, all of Abilene; Katharine Williams, Carolyn Heddins, Tincie Heddins and Lona Shook, all of San Angelo; Eltha Ragan, Rotan; Louise Culner, Midland; Sandra Light, Maryneal; and Connie Walstead, Hobbs, N. M.

The HCJC library, which has been closed during the period between semesters, will resume regular hours Thursday. The library will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday.

Oklahoma Bull Wins Show Honor

LAMESA (SC) — Rollo Mixer the 13th was judged the top champion bull at the second Annual Polled Hereford sale Saturday. He was consigned by Leslie Welch of Blackwell, Okla., and sold to Orr and Nel of Littlefield for $450. This was top money paid for any one bull. Second place went to consignor Lynn Storm, Austin. His bull sold for $350 to J. C. Powell, Lamesa. Third place went to consignor Stanley Danbury, Carmine. His bull was sold to David Glass, Sterling City, for $300.

The trophy for the top pen of three bulls went to Leslie Welch of Blackwell, Okla. Runner-up was Valinda Farms of Sabin.

The sale was sponsored by the Texas Polled Hereford Association. They were assisted by the local chamber of commerce and the Dawson County Fair Association.

Competition For Young Artists Set In Odessa

The 1965 Young Artist Competition, sponsored by the Odessa-Midland Symphony Orchestra, will be held this weekend in Odessa, and Big Spring has a personal interest in both the contestants and judges.

James (Jimmy) Burleson, a senior last year in Big Spring High School and winner of the secondary woodwind division, again will be a contestant, but in the college division. So will John Lawson, also a senior last year and a finalist in the brass secondary division. Mary Frances Malone, pianist, also will be entered from Big Spring.

Judges are Dr. Charles Webb, University of Indiana, Miss Moreland Korthkamp, University of Houston, piano; J. M. Nielson, University of Utah, voice; Leopold LaFosse, concert violinist, San Antonio, strings; Walter Moeck, conductor Pops Orchestra of Birmingham, Ala.; Dr. Leo Scheer, conductor of the Abilene Symphony, all instruments.

Dr. Webb, formerly was stationed at Webb AFB and organized the widely known Choralers. Mrs. Webb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, and the family visits here frequently. Dr. Webb also has been on the Fred Waring staff for a dozen summers.

The auditions are open to the public. Piano secondary will be from 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. Saturday, Division I at Bonham Junior High; Division II at Permian High; woodwinds Saturday 8:30-11 a.m. at Permian; brass 11:15 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., Permian; strings 11:15 a.m. to

Hearing Aid Center Is Ready To Correct Hearing Problems

One of the most pleasing pieces of equipment a person can wear these days is a modern hearing aid which restores his hearing, is comfortable, and not visible except under extreme scrutiny.

Fidelity hearing aids, carrying a two-year guarantee, are fitted to each person's needs at the Hearing Aid Center in the Permian Building. Mrs. Alice Cass, operator, gives the audiometer tests in her office, or in the home where a person is unable to get around due to illness or physical handicaps.

The most popular aid today is the small set that fits behind the ear, with a small transparent tube running over and into the ear. It is practically invisible and the tiny battery used in the set is good for 70 hours of constant service.

The Fidelity aid has an automatic volume control built in and the wearer can adjust it to suit his needs. He can make weak sounds come in loud and clear and the loud sounds are softened through adjustment of frequencies needed. Many individuals are able to hear some sound frequencies normally while other frequencies cannot be heard, and the Fidelity aids are designed to make the proper corrections.

The Cass family, residents of the city, which children in schools, are owners of the Hearing Aid Center.

The center sells the Fidelity Aids primarily, but services all makes, and sells all makes. If your battery needs replacing, go by. It will only take a few minutes.

Yamaha Cycles Catching Eyes Of Today's Riders

Yamaha International Corporation, one of the 10 strongest companies financially in Japan, has over 750 Yamaha dealers in the United States — including Bedell Brothers in Big Spring — and is growing steadily.

Bedell Brothers are located on Birdwell Lane just south of the Snyder Highway.

Yamaha, whose products have been so widely accepted in the United States, is building the most modern and completely-equipped distributing plants for their cycles in the nation today.

The company manufactures 14 lightweight sportcycle models of motorcycles, each designed to provide the greatest dollar value in its respective class. It is the most complete lightweight line, from a high performance 55 cc model at $285, to a fast and powerful 250 cc sport model at $630, all F.O.B. California.

There is a Yamaha sportcycle for every conceivable use, including economical, safe, everyday transportation, sportsmen's models for trail riding, and ready-to-race competition models.

Auto and Motor Sport Magazine awarded Yamaha its 1964

Safety and Engineering Award in recognition of achievement in design, safety features, engineering advancement and production of the 80 cc "Rotary Jet 80" sportcycle.

Bedell Brothers have 1965 models in stock and will have more. Take a look at the "Santa Barbara" 125 Model YA-6, and the "Catalina 250" Model YDS-3, both with the new Yamaha injection system which features pressure-fed lubrication, never before available in a 2-cycle engine. It provides the exact amount of oil to lubricate the engine at any RPM range without overloading the internal combustion process. Oil no longer has to be mixed with fuel.

Drive out to Bedell Brothers — recognized by the cycle on the tower in front — and take a look at the economical cycles and get the feel of riding in one of the new cycles. The ease of handling and the comfortable ride will sell you.

Three Wagon Wheel Drive-Ins, owned by Mrs. H. M. Rainbolt, are featuring beef at all locations. The Westerners believe in selling more beef to help the cattle industry.

The convenient locations are: No. 1—East Fourth and Birdwell Lane; No. 2—2011 Gregg Street; No. 3—West Highway 80.

In addition to the multitude of sandwiches and drinks, the drive-ins feature take-home orders, and lunches for working people. A telephone call will have your order ready when you can't pick it up.

They are popular places for residents who want to load the family in the car and drive out for a "meal-in-the-car" without the bother of dressing up and combing your hair.

If you once drive by and sample the products, you'll go back often.

Dodge Dealer Says To Ask Owner About Car

When you buy an automobile you not only look at the car, but you look at the dealer and the manufacturer's warranty.

That's why Dodge and other Chrysler-built vehicles are being purchased in greater numbers than ever before. Jones Motor Co. at 101 Gregg, stands behind the products they sell, including Dodge Dart, Coronet, Polara, Custom 880, Monaco and Sportsman, and make the request that you ask the owner of any Dodge product about service and performance.

The famous warranty reads: "Chrysler Corporation warrants for five years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation authorized dealer's place of business, the engine, block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings of its new automobiles, providing the owner has the engine oil changed every three months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, the oil filter replaced every two years, and every six months furnishes to such a dealer evidence of performance of the required service, and requests the dealer to certify (1) receipt of such evidence and (2) the car's then current mileage."

This warranty goes with the car to the new owner if the original purchaser sells the car before the elapsed time or mileage.

The quality of Dodge vehicles sold at Jones Motor Co. in the past few years, coupled with the warranty, has kept sales rising each year. Bill Prince, sales manager, said the company led the district in 1962, and that sales in 1963 and 1964 led each preceding year.

"When we are talking to you about buying a Dodge car we don't ask you to talk to a particular Dodge owner about the performance of his vehicle," Prince said. "We tell you to ask any Dodge owner. They are our best salesmen because the cars stand up to expectations."

Jones Motor Co., with main offices and most new cars at 101 Gregg in Big Spring, also has a used car lot in the 1500 block of West Fourth Street where many new models are available.

Work on the Gregg Street viaduct has been an inconvenience to customers, but that is done and both the parking lot and the service entrance are wide open. New cars are in the show room and at the back of the building, on an enclosed lot.

Take a look at the new models in stock and drive a Dodge for a change. You'll like it immediately.

All models have optional transmissions, in the standard 3-speed manual, TorqueFlite 4-speed manual, and optional rear axle ratios, and sure grip option.

There's another thing about a Dodge: You can get the size and style that fits the family needs. If you need the large size for a lot of driving, get the big Dodge or the station wagon; if you need transportation at economical operating cost, get one of the Darts or other smaller models, and if you need luxury, get any Dodge.

Jones Motor Co. service department at the Gregg Street location is equipped and staffed to handle any size service job on American-made automobiles, from a tune-up to a major overhaul, and assure you of satisfaction when the job is finished.

Aides Say LBJ Able For Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's doctors concentrate today on trying to build his strength so he can attend Sir Winston Churchill's funeral.

Johnson has said he wants to make the trip to England "very, very much." Certainly there would be no question about his going had he not caught a heavy cold last week that landed him in the Bethesda Naval Medical Center in the wee hours of Saturday morning.

Aides reported Monday Johnson's recovery has been such that he is now physically capable of flying to London for Saturday's final tribute to Churchill. They said only one big question remains.

Will he stay in bed and mind his doctors long enough to rebuild his strength and develop resistance to a recurrence of the onset of a new infection?

UNTIL WEDNESDAY

Johnson's doctors want him to remain in the hospital until Wednesday. Guarded remarks from members of the White House staff indicated the physicians might be suggesting to the President that he should take their advice if he was determined to fly to London for the Churchill funeral.

Starting Monday morning, press secretary George E. Reedy reported, the President's temperature had returned to normal range, as had the results of all other routine medical checks.

But Reedy said Johnson's doctors planned to continue giving him reduced doses of antibiotics "for another couple of days — hopefully in the hospital."

STICKS TO ROOM

The President indicated Sunday, at a meeting with five reporters, that his departure from the hospital would depend on when his fever vanished. He did stick to his hospital room Monday, however, even though the fever was gone, which might indicate he was eager to prepare himself for an overseas trip.

Although he was said to be feeling much better Johnson curtailed his business-type activities. Mrs. Johnson — a fellow patient and cold sufferer who was much improved — visited with him during the day. Other callers included staff assistants and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Russia Denies N-Test Ban Was Violated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union says it did not violate the limited nuclear test-ban treaty earlier this month when an underground Soviet explosion blew some radioactive material into the atmosphere.

At the time of the Jan. 15 blast, the United States detected earth shock and later radioactive materials beyond the Soviet boundary over the Sea of Japan.

A week ago Secretary of State Dean Rusk asked Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin for an explanation. He got the reply from Dobrynin in a brief meeting at the State Department Monday.

RADIOACTIVE LEAK

The State Department said Monday night the Soviet government had reported that the nuclear explosion was carried out "deep underground on Jan. 15" and that some radioactive debris leaked into the atmosphere.

However, the oral reply states that the amount is so insignificant that the Soviet government excludes the possibility of a violation of the limited test-ban treaty.

The Soviet report that the material "leaked" into the air was taken by officials here as confirmation of their estimate a week ago that the presence of radioactive debris in the air was a result of an accident. In other words, they did not think that Soviets had intended such a result.

AGENCY MUM

The State Department declined to make any comment on the message from Moscow or say whether it was satisfactory so far as the issue of the treaty violation is concerned. Pending receipt of the reply, the United States had not formally charged a violation. But officials here had taken the position that any underground blast by any country which caused radioactive debris beyond its boundaries was in fact technical violation of the treaty.

The treaty prohibits any nuclear explosion on the part of a member country in the air, in outer space or under water. It also bans underground explosions if they cause "radioactive debris to be present outside the territorial limits of the state."

Appropriation Bill In House

AUSTIN (AP)—The $3.5 billion appropriations bill was introduced in the House Monday, two weeks after the same move in the Senate.

A Senate Finance Committee began hearings on the bill meanwhile.

Rep. W. S. Heatly, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee who introduced the measure, said he would ask unanimous consent for his committee to meet while the House is in session.

Other legislation introduced Monday included a bill by Rep. Dick McKissack of Dallas to let cities deduct municipal employees' dues in their public employees' associations. The payroll deduction could be made only with consent of the employee.

SALARY PROPOSAL
Rep. John Traeger of Seguin proposed a constitutional amendment setting a $12,500 annual salary for the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the House.

The speaker now gets the same salary as other legislators — $4,500 a year plus $12 a day for the first 120 days of a regular session. The lieutenant governor makes $25 a day while presiding officer of the Senate and the same pay as the governor while acting as the state's chief executive. Both the speaker and the lieutenant governor have an apartment in the Capitol.

TERM START
Another constitutional amendment, introduced by Rep. Don Hefton of Sherman, would make all House terms begin Jan. 1. House members now may begin terms at any time between their election and the convening of the legislature by taking the oath of office.

A bill introduced by Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth would prohibit cities to require that employees live within their city limits. Elected officials, however, would have to be residents of the city.

Congo Troops Retake Town

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP) — Government troops are reported to have retaken Nkolo, a town about 200 miles northeast of Leopoldville where three Belgians were shot to death by rebels Saturday.

Reports said the government forces recaptured Nkolo after Congolese planes fired rockets at the town.
