Congressmen Head For Selma

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. summoned civil rights leaders to his jail cell today to weigh the effect of a federal court order requiring faster registration of voters in Dallas County. The injunction evoked a wide variety of reaction, including sharp disappointment among some Negroes and a pledge of compliance from the chairman of the Board of Registrars.

ORDER SERVED
King withheld comment Thursday night after deputy marshals served the three registrars with the order by U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas of Mobile. Thomas set up streamlined procedures for processing Negro voter applications, barred the use of a complicated literacy test and assured Negroes of the right to apply directly to the court if rejected.

HUNDREDS ARRESTED
In Marion, Ala., more student demonstrations were planned following the arrest of about 200 Negroes there Thursday. These arrests pushed to more than 2,500 the number of persons jailed since King opened his voter drive nearly three weeks ago in Selma and it spread quickly to the adjoining county. Most of the Negroes arrested earlier had been released by Thursday night.

REACTION VARIED
The court order was termed a victory in a statement from the NAACP legal defense and educational fund in New York. However, the Rev. Andrew Young of Atlanta, a key man in King's organization, said he was deeply disappointed because the judge failed to take any action against Sheriff James G. Clark Jr., already under an injunction against interfering with voter applicants. Contempt proceedings are pending against Clark. At King's direction, the Negroes suspended demonstrations Thursday until a decision was made on the court action which resulted from a Justice Department suit filed under the 1964 Civil Rights Act last November.

Healthy Gain Reported In HCJC Sign-Up
Registration closes out this weekend at Howard County Junior College for the spring semester, and already a healthy gain over last spring is assured. At noon today the head count stood at 790, said Registrar B. M. Keese. This is about six per cent above the 746 a year ago, although it is off 92—or about as expected—from the peak fall enrollment. The most significant fact about the spring increase, however, is that all and more in the head count gain has been in full time students. There are approximately 50 more of these registered than a year ago.

Classroom Violence Up
CHICAGO (AP) — Student violence is on the increase in Chicago public schools, and some teachers who have been victims say they have to turn the other cheek and save the schools' image. A report recently issued by Benjamin C. Willis, superintendent of schools, said 57 teachers had been assaulted in 1964, more than double the 1963 figure and triple that of 1962. But John M. Fewkes, presi-

Murder Brings Death Penalty
HOUSTON (AP) — A jury sentenced a young Negro to die for killing another Negro after prosecutor Jimmy James argued that "equal opportunity carries with it equal responsibility." The all-white jury convicted Melvin Payton, 22, of murder in the pistol slaying of Sidney Dejean, 32, last October.

dent of the Chicago Teachers Union, said in an interview Thursday that many incidents are never reported to the Board of Education. TEACHERS LEAVE
"We have had reports from our teachers," said Fewkes, "that evidence of teacher assaults has been suppressed by administrative officials." "It becomes more and more difficult to recruit teachers for schools that have record of violence. And the longer the assaults continue, the bigger our shortage will become." Fewkes said Chicago is short 5,000 teachers. CLAIMS PRESSURE
Said a woman teacher, who wished to remain anonymous: "There is great pressure on teachers not to make an issue of attacks for fear of damaging a school's image. They don't like that downtown (the Board of Education)." Willis has denied there is any policy to suppress violence reports, saying whether an incident is reported is left to individual principals.

U.S. Moves Up Two-Man Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — After months of delay, the Gemini program is picking up steam. As a result, Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young may make America's first two-man space trip next month, instead of in April. Three more tandem crews may follow them into orbit during 1965.

ON THE PAD
Thursday night the spacecraft suddenly was moved to the launching pad six days ahead of schedule. The Titan 2 booster rocket has been on the pad since Jan. 25. NASA normally keeps its launching dates secret until 10 days before a scheduled launching and it has said only that the first manned Gemini flight is slated in the "second quarter of 1965," which starts April 1.

However, it is known here that the space agency would like to advance the date to the first quarter to meet criticism because the Gemini program is 16 months behind schedule. Sources said that checkouts of the Grissom-Young Titan 2 booster and the spacecraft were progressing so well that Grissom and Young could rocket into space as early as March 23. Even a small problem they said, could push the flight back into April.

Future Of Small Oilman Viewed From Two Sides

WASHINGTON (AP) — What is the future of the small independent oil producer? There were two widely different answers this week. "The outlook for the small independent producer is not bleak," the Interior Department said in an appraisal of the petroleum industry. A spokesman for the Independent Petroleum Association of America was quick to reply that the department's findings were guilty of "faulty economic reasoning."

Called Deficient
Minor Jameson Jr., executive vice president of the IPAA, said also the government report "is seriously deficient and in some respects contradictory in its analysis of the domestic oil and gas producing industry in general and the independent producer in particular." The report, based on studies undertaken last summer by agencies of the department, said it is evident that the independent producer will continue to be a significant factor in the petroleum industry for the foreseeable future. But is said a decline in the

Interception 1st For AF
PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Air Force officials say the interception of a Bomarc drone target traveling in excess of 1,500 miles per hour by airplanes is a first for the Air Defense Command. Two F101s and an F106 from Tyndall Air Force Base, Panama City, intercepted the modified Bomarc missile launched from Eglin Thursday during tests over the Gulf of Mexico at an altitude of 35,000 feet. Brig. Gen. R. W. Burns, commander of the 73rd Air Division, described the tests as "highly successful."

Campfire Girl Leader, 79, Dies
SHERMAN (AP) — Funeral services were held this afternoon for Mrs. H. E. Hall, a widely known Camp Fire Girls leader. She died Thursday at the age of 79.

Jurors Weigh Airman Case
WACO (AP) — Jurors weighed a verdict today in the murder trial of Rudy Davis, 23, a former airman from Montezano, Wash., accused of drowning his four children by driving the family car into a river. Lawyers completed lengthy final arguments at 8:42 p.m. Thursday and the jury of six men and six women began deliberations. A bailiff brought word at 11:12 p.m. that they were retiring for the night and would go back to work at 9 a.m. today. Davis was driving last May 18 when his station wagon ran off a rural road and into the Bosque River near here. He and his pregnant wife struggled free of the sinking vehicle but the children, 14 months to 4 years old, went down. A psychiatrist called by the defense testified that Davis was insane at the time and still is mentally ill. Davis himself told the jury he was so distraught over repeated quarrels with his wife that he did not remember the children were in the car. The state demanded the death penalty, contending Davis planned to kill his family. It introduced a statement in which he admitted to police that he had cut a hydraulic brake line on the car. Davis then was stationed here at Connally Air Force Base. Dist. Judge Vic Hall gave jurors a choice of four verdicts — innocent, innocent by reason of insanity, guilty of murder without malice or guilty of murder with malice.

Revolt Flops; Souvanna Has Reins In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma emerged today as Laos' strongman but the once powerful deputy premier, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, is described as a fugitive in the jungle with a handful of policemen. A sharp turn of events after the week's fighting in the tiny kingdom has left Phoumi without the major role he held as rightwing leader in the shaky neutralist-rightist coalition government headed by neutralist Premier Souvanna.

LEADING FIGURE
Phoumi, 44, had been a dominant figure in the confusing struggle for power in Laos since 1959 when he became defense minister, thus controlling the 30,000-man royal Laotian army. His rise began after he engineered an army coup that forced the resignation of Phoumi Sananikone as premier on Dec. 31, 1959. He also directed the military operation in 1960 that ousted the regime of Premier Souvanna.

OUTPUT SLIP
2. He has, however, given up one percentage point of total production a year for the last four years to the larger companies. 3. This corresponds roughly to the quantitative shifts in crude production between the older and newer producing areas. 4. Areas of independent concentration have been explored thoroughly over a period of years in contrast to other areas in the nation. FEW NEW FIELDS
5. Few significant new oil fields have been discovered in the last decade in the area where most of the independents operate.

FLIGHT TOLD
Army chief of staff, Gen. Ouane Rathikong, said Phoumi fled with a rebel band toward the rightist stronghold town of Pakxane, 70 miles northeast of Vientiane on the Mekong River. His luxurious villa was reported burned in the battle. All shops in Vientiane have been closed since Monday and the city's 80,000 population is hiding behind shuttered doors.

Missing: Gold Cargo
SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — Gold bullion worth $280,000 was reported missing today from the liner Capetown Castle. Ten boxes of bullion were gone. Scotland Yard sealed off the liner and began an investigation. The Capetown Castle arrived here this morning from South Africa where the gold was put aboard. The only call made by the Capetown Castle during its voyage was at Las Palmas, in the Canary Islands, on Feb. 1. A spokesman said the discrepancy was discovered in the tally of the gold landed and of the amount that should have been aboard.

Bundy, Viet Talks Cordial
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — McGeorge Bundy, special presidential fact finder, met today with strong man Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh in what was described as a warm and cordial session. U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, with whom Khanh has often quarreled, also attended. The session had been postponed for a time at U.S. request. Earlier, Bundy met with Acting Premier Nguyen Xuan Oanh, installed by Khanh in a patchwork government. Bundy and his party arrived Thursday and spent the day in talks with American Embassy officials. While the discussions reportedly covered the whole range of Vietnamese problems, they centered on the unstable political situation. Khanh and his staff reportedly were trying to organize the 20-member mixed civilian and military council which he said would become the nucleus of a new government. Khanh, who ousted Premier Tran Van Huong in a bloodless coup Jan. 27, said he did not intend to participate directly in the new government itself.

Chou At Airport To Greet Group

TOKYO (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, en route to Communist North Vietnam, arrived in Peking by plane today and was greeted by China's Communist hierarchy. Kosygin and his delegation will spend the night in Peking and go to Hanoi Saturday for four days. They are expected to stop in Peking again on the way back to Moscow.

SOVIET SLAVS
Modern revisionism generally is used by Peking to refer to the Soviet and Yugoslav Communists. A New China News Agency announcement received in Tokyo said North Viet Nam was put on a war footing following a meeting of the national defense council last month. The announcement followed repeated Communist charges that the United States is staging secret air and sea strikes against North Viet Nam. The United States has denied the charges.

DREW SNUB
This contrasted with Kosygin's Moscow departure, which was boycotted by Communist Chinese government officials. Kosygin's trip to Hanoi indicates a Soviet challenge to Communist China's predominance in Southeast Asia. The Communist Chinese and President Ho Chi Min's North Vietnamese government have supported the Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam. Presumably Kosygin will discuss military aid for North Viet Nam during his stay in Hanoi. An indirect Peking warning to Moscow not to interfere with Vietnamese affairs was carried today by Peking's official China News Agency. The agency said the Chinese Communist party cabled the North Vietnamese (Communist) labor party that: "The two parties and two countries will con-

Viet Buddhists To Lead To U.S. Pullout Request?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will the Buddhists in South Viet Nam keep overturning governments until they finally get one that asks the United States to stop the anti-Communist war and get its 23,000 soldiers out of the country? That was the toughest question asked at President Johnson's news conference Thursday. It almost was asked when a reporter wanted to know what the United States would do if requested to pull its troops out of South Viet Nam. CROSS BRIDGE
It almost was answered when Johnson said he would cross that bridge if he ever came to it, but that he did not anticipate having to cross it. The President would have to "cross that bridge" if a government came to power in war-weary Saigon which believed it could handle the Communist guerrilla problem without U.S. help and probably by some kind of "neutralization."

REQUIRE DEAL
The only practical way such a government could come to power, as U.S. experts assess the prospects, would be by action of the politically powerful Buddhist leadership, possibly in a deal with some group of military men. Whether such a deal is possible is one of the things Johnson's top foreign policy aide, McGeorge Bundy, is trying to find out in his talks with U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, other American officials and South Vietnamese leaders this week in Viet Nam. Bundy is due back to report to the President Monday or Tuesday. SECRET PROBINGS?
The questions Bundy is asking, administration officials insist, have far more bearing on the future U.S. role in South Viet Nam than the persistent reports out of Paris that secret diplomatic probes are under way for a negotiated settlement. Anonymous Paris informants have reported contacts there between North and South Vietnamese unofficial representatives, with the United States being informed. "NO VALIDITY"
Johnson tried to smash these Paris reports at his news conference Thursday, denouncing them as incorrect and saying they had "no validity." Later, other officials said the administration sees no basis whatever for a negotiated settlement under present conditions. They concede the situation is chaotic and frustrating and that much of Congress and the country is fed up with pouring money and men into a war which the United States not only cannot seem to win but cannot even control.

Mom Hammers Boy To Death

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A mother beat one of her children to death with two hammers, stabbed and critically injured another child and then wounded herself today, police said. Andy Saucedo, 6, was killed. His sister, Linda, 9, suffered multiple stab wounds. Mrs. Delia Saucedo, 35, their mother, was stabbed once in the abdomen. Detective Bill Crews said the boy's head was crushed by repeated hammer blows. The handle of the smaller hammer was broken in the attack. The girl was stabbed several times with a small hunting knife and paring knife. The mother's sister arrived at their small frame house before 8 a.m. and found the three lying on the floor of a front room. Andres Saucedo, the father, a brick layer, was at work.

Negro Student Enrolled At Rice Since Autumn

HOUSTON (AP) — A young Negro student has been enrolled at Rice University since last September. He is the first of his race admitted by the school.

Rice officials disclosed Thursday that Raymond Johnson, 21, of Alice, Tex., came to the university two years ago as an "employee" of the mathematics department. He turned student last fall and now is taking some classes to clear the way for work toward a doctorate in math.

At the same time the 1st Court of Civil Appeals denied a plea for reversal of a district court decision to let Rice enroll Negroes and charge tuition. The court said it lacked jurisdiction over the appeal because John Coffee and Val Billups had no legal right to file the appeal.

Coffee and Billups intervened when Rice trustees obtained a favorable ruling last March from Dist. Judge William Holland.

The trustees had asked Holland to set aside certain stipulations of an 1891 document in which William Marsh Rice outlined his plans for establishing the school. He directed that it be open to "white inhabitants of Texas" for "free tuition."

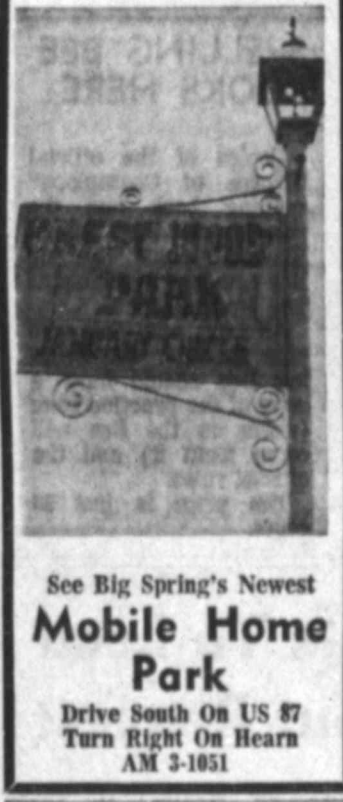

Holland ruled in effect that federal and private financial grants are more subject, under conditions now, to the founder's desire to establish a university of the first class than were his racial and tuition restrictions.

Several Rice trustees testified the restrictions caused the school to lose some grants.

Billups and Coffee have until Feb. 19 to ask the court for a new hearing.

Johnson took a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Texas in 1963. He came to Rice, he said, because his adviser at Texas, H. B. Curtis, was a Rice graduate.

"He knew that Rice was preparing to integrate and he told me about it," Johnson said.

Tickets Still Available For Band Concert Tonight

All adult tickets have been sold, but seats are still available for the mid-winter concert to be presented tonight by the Big Spring High School Band. Adults still wanting tickets before getting to the door of the city auditorium may purchase two student tickets for the price of one adult ticket and redeem them at the door. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. The concert begins at 8 p.m.

This year's concert will have two special features along with numbers by well-known composers. A trombone soloist, and member of the U.S. Navy Band in Washington, D. C., Larry Wiehe, will carry the solo part in "Concerto for Trombone and Band." Wiehe is a brother of Doug Wiehe, band director, and was a guest soloist with the band five years ago. The second feature will be the percussion section of the band in "Concertino for Percussion and Band," with James Beckham, Susan Jvey, Benny Benson, Nora O'Bannon, Tracy Faulks and Dale Pless.

Peter I. Tschalowsky, celebrated Russian composer's sixth and last symphony, written in 1893, was given the title "Patetic" after the first performance, because he felt the work was not understood. The march is based on a little theme of two measures, worked up into a stirring movement and regarded as one of Tschalowsky's finest achievements.

Dimitri Shostakovich, another Russian, was composer of "Fifth Symphony, Finale." He gave the symphony the subtitle of "A Soviet Artist's Reply to Just Criticism." He has produced, at times, works conforming to the official requirements of his native country, and at times works expressing his own individuality. He has been alternately favored and denounced by those who sit in judgment over the work of artists in Russia.

Scouts Meet With Legion Thursday

Five members of Boy Scout Troop No. 81 were guests at the Thursday night meeting of the American Legion in which pending youth programs were the principal business.

Jerry Tibbets, John Taber, Gary Pope, Tommy Johnson and Gary Bevil gave a demonstration of first aid. Tibbets, the senior patrol leader of the troop, is thought to be the first member of a handicapped troop to reach the rank of Star Scout in the state. The troop is sponsored by the legion, with Joe Maenner the Scoutmaster.

T. A. Thigpen, local chairman, and Roscoe Cone, district chairman, announced a successful local oratorical contest and that the district contest would be held at the Howard County Junior College Saturday, and that the division competition will be held at the same place Feb. 20. The Legion IV Division comprises an area from Uvalde to El Paso. This will be the first year that Big Spring has hosted the event.

Cone has long been interested in the high school student participation in the legion oratorical contest in which their orations are based on phases of the constitution and has realized an increased participation in his district this year by the various posts. Thigpen helped pioneer the program as a district commander in the early post WWII days.

The meeting was presided over by vice commander John Carberry and the post unanimously endorsed Clarence Daves, a past commander of the post, for the office of district chaplain. District officers will be elected at the April convention to be held in Big Spring.

Cash Awards Made At Webb

Two Webb Air Force sergeants received additional checks for $100 each when their suggestions were incorporated for use at other Air Force bases. Six other Webb military personnel received cash awards for their participation in the Civilian - Military Suggestion Program.

M. Sgt. Dale E. McCombs and T. Sgt. Richard A. Vashina, now of Homestead AFB, Fla., picked up $100 checks for ideas that were used at other bases.

Sgt. McCombs suggested a simple interim fix on the aircraft egress system's oxygen disconnect lanyard guide for use at Webb and this suggestion is being adopted at five other Air Training Command bases.

Sgt. Vashina suggested a less expensive hose assembly for the J-79-GE-3B engine of the F-104A and F-104B Starfighters. His suggestion meant an Air Force savings of almost $2,000 in tangible benefits for the first year alone.

Other idea men were Maj. H. P. N. Gammel who suggested a cleaner for aircraft cleaning and was awarded $25. Second Lt. Geoffrey R. Peters received $15 for his suggestion to fly airmen of the quarter in jet aircraft.

T. Sgt. Michael S. DeStephanis received $10 for his suggestion to add the telephone number of the Daily Bulletin to the Bulletin's flag. T. Sgt. William E. Whatley received $25 for his suggestion to consolidate all chemical - biological-radiological equipment under one supply account in one central location; S. Sgt. Donald L. Burke received $25 for his suggestion to implement and use a controlled aircraft parking area for aircraft experiencing emergencies; and Airman I. C. David B. Ostrander received $15 for his suggestion to improve the method to pick up and deliver mail to hospital patients.

Legion Oratory Winner Picked

Larry Fourniquet, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fourniquet, has been named winner of the Howard County National High School Oratorical Contest of the American Legion.

The local contest was held Thursday in the high school cafeteria under the direction of Dan Shockey, head of the Big Spring High School speech department, and T. A. Thigpen, of the American Legion.

Fourniquet will now compete with other county winners from the 19th Congressional District Saturday at Howard County Junior College.

Other contestants taking part Thursday included Jimmy Brown, Jerry Parchman and Kathy Seddon. All participants will be guests of the American Legion at a dinner Feb. 18.

Judges for the county level competition were Dr. M. W. Talbot Jr., Art Clonts, Jack Richards and Mrs. Bill Tubbs.

Suspect Gives Statement In 'Three Killings'

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — "The first one was the worst," police quoted Charles Crawford, 26, of Indianapolis, as saying Wednesday night as he told of killing three persons in other states.

Officers said two of the killings took place in Indiana and the third apparently was committed in Missouri.

Crawford, a 6-footer who weighs 190 pounds, gave questioners a signed statement after his arrest on suspicion of driving a stolen car.

Officers took a .22 caliber pistol from him. Later they found another pistol and a knife in the blood-spattered 1962 model car.

Sgt. Forrest Bircher Jr. said he noticed the car parked near the police station early in the evening because the license plates were wired on and the vehicle was extremely dirty.

Two hours later Crawford walked from an alley toward the car and police stopped him.

"After we found the pistol on him and found blood in the car, he was arrested and brought to the station," Bircher related.

Crawford was asked why he didn't try to shoot it out with his captors.

"Man, the odds were four to one," he said. "That's a little too much for me. If there had been only one or two, I might have tried."

Bircher said Crawford admitted killing Ambrose Best, an ex-convict, in Indianapolis late last year.

"I killed him with a meat cleaver," Crawford said, "and then poured gasoline on him and burned him."

"In November I got mad at my wife and called a taxi (in Indianapolis). We drove around for a while and I pulled a gun and told the driver to give me his money. When he did I started blasting away. Then I just turned off the keys and walked home."

Crawford said he did not know the name of the cab driver.

In Indianapolis, Deputy Sheriff William Finney said the only unsolved killings last November involving a cab driver was that of Louis Briggs, 37.

Briggs, shot five times in the head, was found dying in his cab Nov. 28. Robbery was ruled the apparent motive because only loose change was found on the body.

Briggs, father of two, had been a part-time cab driver since 1951 and worked full time for a pharmaceutical firm.

The House adopted 112-13 Thursday a Senate-approved resolution asking Congress to call a constitutional convention and thus ease redistricting pressure from federal courts.

They approved the resolution only after a two-day argument in which a small minority, mainly from big cities, tried to delay or destroy the proposal.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston claimed the resolution was nothing but "a program of foot dragging with respect to redistricting this state."

In adopting the resolution Texas joined Arizona, Arkansas, Idaho, Oklahoma and Virginia

South's opening bid of one club does not meet with our approval. Holding 16 high card points and evenly balanced distribution, he has the classic requirements for a one no trump bid, and the unstopped suit should not act as a deterrent—unless it is a doubleton.

The objection to the one club call is that the indirect approach may lead to complications later. Observe that South has no good rebid, for example, if North makes a one-over-one response. Fortunately for South, East came in with a two heart overcall which presented the opening bidder with an opportunity to announce extra values by freely bidding two no trump. North promptly carried on to game.

West opened the five hearts and East's nine forced out declarer's queen. Assuming that the spades divided favorably, South could count nine tricks—five spades, two hearts, one diamond, and one club. Since the spade situation would reveal itself in due time, declarer decided to work on another suit first.

A spade was led to the queen and a diamond was returned. East followed with the four and South played the ten from his hand, which drove out the king. West had no more hearts, so he shifted to the jack of clubs. East overtook with the queen which was permitted to hold the trick. He continued with the king which was also ducked; however, South won the third round with the ace.

A second spade was led to the dummy but, when East showed out, complications set in. Altho declarer had established an extra diamond trick by his finesse, West's revealed stopper in spades had reduced the quick winners in that suit to three. South, therefore, found himself to be one short of his goal.

West appeared to have the long card in clubs as well as in spades, so that the elements of a "squeeze situation" were present. In order to exert effective pressure, however, declarer must give up another trick, since he has so far lost three.

It was not safe to let West in, so South led a heart from dummy and permitted East to hold the trick with the ten as West discarded a diamond. A diamond was returned and declarer cashed the ace and queen as everyone followed suit.

The ace of hearts was led, and West, who was left with the jack-ten of spades and the ten of clubs, found that he was at the end of his rope. If he discarded a spade, North's ace and four of spades would win the last two tricks. With a gesture of resignation, West played the ten of clubs and South cashed the jack of clubs for his fulfilling trick.

DEAR ABBY

Package Vs. The Product

DEAR ABBY: I met a fellow who flies for an airline, and we clicked right away, so we made a date for the next lay-over he had here. When he showed up he was wearing a regular suit, and he didn't look nearly as good to me. I kidningly told him that on our next date I wanted him to wear his uniform. He said he wouldn't wear his uniform off duty for the Queen of Sheba, and if that's all I liked about him there wouldn't be any next date. I pretended it didn't matter and I dropped it. But, Abby, it does matter. Somehow, I can't seem to work up the enthusiasm for him without the uniform. Don't you think if he really liked me he'd wear his uniform? LIKES UNIFORMS

DEAR ABBY: I can't request this information elsewhere without risking a lot of embarrassment, so please answer if you can. And out it in the paper because my mail is sometimes opened and this is very confidential. Will a veteran's hospital take a veteran who has had a dishonorable discharge? And will the veterans bury him when he dies? MUST KNOW

DEAR MUST: Whether or not a dishonorably discharged veteran can receive hospitalization at a veteran's hospital depends on the reason for his discharge. All the facts should be given to the nearest veteran's hospital when application is made, and they will rule on his eligibility. A veteran must have an honorable discharge in order to be eligible for a veteran's burial.

DEAR ABBY: If "On the Spot" is in my parish, she can consider herself "Off the Spot." I have baptized thousands of babies, and I have never yet asked to see a birth certificate. I simply ask the mother of the child the date of the baby's birth, and that is sufficient for my records. She need not prove it. Sincerely,

Plan On Teacher Pay Held 'No Idle Gesture'

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. W. S. Healy of Paducah, head of the House Appropriations Committee, says Gov. John Connally's controversial teacher pay plan "is not a delaying tactic" nor an idle gesture.

Healy offered the governor's bill (HB446) in the House Thursday and said he expects it will be referred to his committee, already considering the Texas State Teachers Association's $405 pay raise bill.

The governor's plan was introduced in the Senate a week ago by Sen. Jack Strong of Longview.

Fifty-one representatives have signed Healy's bill as co-sponsors. He said 17 also signed the TSTA bill.

The Healy measure would raise the bottom salary for beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree $486 over the next 10 years. Biggest increases would go to master's degree holders and experienced teachers.

Move Voted Against Reapportion Pressure

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas legislators headed home today and a good many of them already bore parliamentary scars from the month-old session.

Both the House and Senate were adjourned until Monday.

The House adopted 112-13 Thursday a Senate-approved resolution asking Congress to call a constitutional convention and thus ease redistricting pressure from federal courts.

They approved the resolution only after a two-day argument in which a small minority, mainly from big cities, tried to delay or destroy the proposal.

in asking a constitutional convention. If two-thirds of the state legislatures act similarly, the resulting convention would be the first of its kind in U.S. history.

Speaker Ben Barnes told his House Redistricting Committee that "in your hands rests the question whether there will be a special session or not." The committee will begin hearings on half a dozen congressional and legislative redistricting proposals next Thursday night.

Smoke still swirled from a clash between Gov. John Connally and the Texas State Teachers Association.

TSTA spokesmen told teachers at a mass meeting here Wednesday night that Connally's 10-year pay increase program was nothing but a "strait jacket" on teachers' pocketbook ambitions.

De Gaulle Gold Plan Held Step Backward

WASHINGTON (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle's call for a return to the gold standard for international settlements is getting a frigid reception in Washington and in the American banking community.

"A step backward" was a Treasury official's description of the Frenchman's suggestion. It would be a retreat to 1931, when the world's economic system collapsed, the Treasury said in a statement.

Even before De Gaulle spoke at a Paris news conference Thursday, American monetary officials and many bank executives had gone on record against his proposal.

OLD STANDARD

Some feel that its adoption would lead to raising the price of gold from the present $35 an ounce, returning to a strict gold standard or dropping all gold backing for American currency. And they don't think much of any of these steps.

Immediately after De Gaulle spoke, President Johnson told a news conference here that the United States will maintain the $35-a-ounce gold price, bolster its international trade and monetary position and keep the dollar sound.

The President has said as much before, but the restatement coupled with the Treasury statement may have reflected anxiety that De Gaulle's remarks could touch off speculation against the dollar.

Nerves didn't get any steadier either by the Federal Reserve System's report in late afternoon that U.S. gold reserves were at their lowest level since March 22, 1939.

RESERVES DOWN

In the week ended Wednesday the reserves dwindled by $100 million, sinking to $15,088,000,000. The ratio of gold reserves to the total of Federal Reserve bank notes and deposits of its member banks dropped to 27.2 per cent from 27.7 per cent.

The official requirement for both is 25 per cent. At the moment Congress is debating the wisdom of ending the gold reserve requirement for bank deposits, as recommended by the administration.

A Devotional For The Day

He that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father? (John 14:9)

PRAYER: Eternal God, we praise Thee for the way Thou hast made known to us Thy mind and Thy will, and the wonder of Thy loving heart. Thanks be to Thee for making known to us Thy forgiving love and Thy sustaining grace through Thine only begotten Son, Jesus our Lord. In His name we pray. Amen.

Time To Weed The Dodgers

In 1962 Rep. Wright Patman, D-Texas, produced his monumental study of tax-exempt foundations. In 1963 and 1964 further investigations were undertaken and reports published.

The realm of tax-free foundations, as revealed by Patman's studies, is one characterized by almost complete lack of official information, by mushrooming growth both in number and wealth of foundations, and by, in Patman's words, "laxness and irresponsibility" on the part of the Internal Revenue Service. This is not a good combination.

He noted a rapidly increasing concentration of economic power in foundations which, in his view, was "far more dangerous than anything that has happened in the past in the way of concentration of economic power."

"Foundation-controlled enterprises possess," he added, "the money and competitive advantages to eliminate the small businessman." Perhaps more important is the erosion of the tax base that supports the federal government. Every dollar which escapes taxation by flowing into a tax-free foundation, no matter how laudable the purpose of that foundation may be, puts an added burden on other taxpayers of the nation.

Patman found donors who, through loans or exchanges, obtained a return of the assets they had donated. He found them lending to themselves and their friends out of foundation funds. He found them using foundations to help their own positions in proxy fights. He found donors using a foundation to keep voting control of a corporation in the family after the death of the principal stockholder.

Patman made several recommendations for reforms. Among them were these:

1. That the life of foundations should be limited to 25 years instead of permitting them to exist in perpetuity.
2. Tax-exempt foundations should be prohibited from engaging in business, directly or indirectly.
3. Commercial money-lending and borrowing by foundations should be banned.
4. Foundations should not be permitted to own more than 3 per cent of the stock of any corporation.
5. No contributor should be allowed a deduction for payments to a foundation that he controls until the foundation actually uses the money for charity.
6. There should be an agency to regulate tax-exempt foundations, requiring full disclosure of foundation assets and expenditures and a national registry of all foundations.

In the two years that have elapsed since Patman made his first report nothing has happened, except that a bad problem has got worse.

Whether the Patman proposals are the best approach is a matter for close study, but because the problem is growing worse and not better, it is time for Congress to face the matter and do something toward weeding out the dodgers.

Music Hath Charms

William Congreve didn't overstate his case after all when he wrote that "Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast; to soften rocks, or bend a knotted oak." Music makes the corn grow faster and more productively in Illinois.

George Smith played a recorded version of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" to some hothouse corn in Illinois. It grew thicker and tougher. He carried his experiment into the field with loudspeakers on a pole. The yield was 137.5 bushels to the acre, as against 116.7 bushels in another plot protected from music.

Trenton, N. J., hens boosted egg production 5 per cent when pleasant music was piped to the henhouse. It increases milk flow, fattens chickens and meat animals faster and soothes excited zoo animals.

Speculating over the increase in corn yield, botanists suggested that the added growth may be due "either to stimulated plant cell growth or to increased molecular activity in the soil by sound energy transmission."

Well, rather let it rest just by paraphrasing to say music also hath charms to change the capricious corn.

Marquis Childs The Strain Of The Presidency

WASHINGTON—More than ever with the executive fire raging through the government, irrespective of rank, the words of Woodrow Wilson apply:

"Men of ordinary physique and description cannot be Presidents and live if the strain be not somewhat relieved. We shall be obliged always to be picking our chief magistrates from among wise and prudent athletes—a small class."

WILSON WROTE that while still in the academic quiet of Princeton University, as President he learned, after his collapse and the death of his dream of American leadership in the League of Nations, the full measure of the tragedy of the strain of the executive office. And the nation learned—or should have learned—what it means to have a President incapable of exercising the powers of the office and at the same time unable or unwilling to delegate those powers.

That men can work 12 or 14 or 16 hours a day six or seven days a week and not pay the penalty is an illusion.

SECRETARY OF Defense Robert McNamara customarily begins his day at the Pentagon at 7:30 a.m. and he rarely leaves his office before 8 or 8:30 p.m. Secretary of State Dean Rusk follows an equally demanding schedule. Emergencies often require them to be at the White House or in their respective offices on Sunday. And both secretaries hop around the world from time to time at a grueling pace.

The President sets the tone for those who work with him. In September and October of last year he cast himself in the role of Superman. So successful was the performance that he seemed to be immune from the ordinary rules of health. It was, therefore, all the more surprising to have him say during his recent illness that he has had pneumonia six or seven times.

the burden on the individual is shared out by a proper delegation of authority. But this is considered impossible under the American system as it has developed in an ever-expanding central government.

What becomes supremely important, therefore, is the adoption at the earliest possible moment of the Bayh-Celler amendment to the Constitution. This does two things. First, it provides for the selection of a vice president if the office is vacant. With the amendment adopted the country would never again have to go through scary months like those between November 22, 1963, and January of this year when we had no vice president, and a frail, elderly man with no administrative experience whatsoever, the Speaker of the House, was first in line of succession.

SECOND, the amendment provides a formula for determining Presidential incapacity and what to do about it. Another Wilson tragedy—an illness President unable to lead at one of the most critical moments in history—would be impossible.

With approval by the full Judiciary Committee action in the Senate should come quickly. Two weeks of hearings are in prospect in the House. The target date for final passage is April 1.

THEN the amendment must be ratified by 28 of the state legislatures. Up to 47 will be in session into the spring. Hopefully, close to the necessary three-fourths, as prescribed by the Constitution, will ratify. The process can be completed next year. After long neglect, based on a bland indifference and the Micawberish assumption that somehow we will be lucky, a major gap in the American system will have been filled in.

(Copyright, 1965, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Do you really believe parents are responsible for the conduct of their children? I can't accept this because I saw my son become bad though I did everything I could to teach him right from wrong.

D.A.W.

Apart from religious influence, the family is the most important unit of society. It would be well if every home were Christian, but we know that it is not so. The family and the home can never exert their proper influence while ignoring the Biblical standard. The Bible calls for discipline and a recognition of authority. If children do not learn this at home, they will go out into society without the proper attitude toward authority and law. There is always the exceptional child, but the average tells us that the child is largely what the home has made him. The prophet Eli was judged by the Lord because he had put his sons above Jehovah. (1 Samuel 2:29). The only way to provide the right home for your children is to put the Lord above them, and fully instruct them in the ways of the Lord. You are responsible before God for the home you provide for them.

ANY GOOD EMERGENCIES COMING UP?

James Marlow Johnson Jumps Into De Gaulle Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has done to French President Charles de Gaulle almost exactly what De Gaulle did to President Kennedy. And now Johnson and De Gaulle look as far apart as Kennedy and the Frenchman did.

Johnson suddenly called a news conference within a few minutes after De Gaulle had finished a news conference. If it hadn't been for this, the Frenchman would have had world headlines to himself.

But De Gaulle had to share them because Johnson and his administration repudiated what the French president said a few minutes before.

Until this happened Johnson for months had said nothing to irritate the Frenchman. In turn, De Gaulle had been quiet. But, as Thursday showed, this didn't mean Johnson had hypnotized De Gaulle into being agreeable.

This is what De Gaulle did to Kennedy:

IN EARLY 1963 it was known for some time Kennedy would deliver his State of the Union message to Congress on Jan. 14. Under ordinary circumstances this would have given him the world stage for one day. The world was waiting.

De Gaulle jumped into the act. He hadn't had a session with reporters since May 1962, but he suddenly decided to meet the press not only on Jan. 14 but a few hours before Kennedy could begin to talk.

De Gaulle undercut what Kennedy was to say later. There wasn't much Kennedy could do about it. His message had already been prepared, mimeographed and distributed.

Kennedy's message spoke glowingly of a Europe moving toward unity. The Frenchman contradicted this idea before Kennedy could mention it. He made a mess of Kennedy's foreign policy.

This is what Johnson did to De Gaulle:

For weeks it was known De Gaulle would meet the press Feb. 4. Johnson hadn't held a preannounced news conference since last July 24. Reporters protested, newspapers criticized him.

AS LATE as Wednesday, Johnson's press secretary, George Reedy, told impatient reporters that "for the time being" Johnson had no new information they didn't have already.

At 9:56 a.m. Thursday, immediately after De Gaulle's conference, the first bulletin from Paris said he called for a new world monetary system founded on something more than the dollar and pound sterling, a slap at this country and Britain.

At 10:05 a.m. another bulletin: De Gaulle proposed a five-power conference, including Red China, to examine and perhaps revise the United Nations' Charter, although Red China isn't even a member.

At 10:25 a.m. a bulletin from Washington: The White House said Johnson would hold a news conference at 11 a.m. If anything was needed to show the Johnson administration's instant disagreement with De Gaulle, it was this:

Before Johnson could meet newsmen, American officials were already disagreeing with De Gaulle. At 10:42 a.m. The Associated Press reported unnamed officials considered his five-power conference idea impossible.

THEN JOHNSON, at his news conference, challenged De Gaulle's suggestion for revising the U.N. Charter. Still later in the day U.S. Treasury officials said De Gaulle's monetary ideas would be a retreat to 1931 when the world economy collapsed.

Johnson began his news conference with a series of statements on national problems and said he had planned to make them for newsmen and then decided to let reporters ask him questions.

That would make his sudden action in calling reporters together—right after De Gaulle's bulletins from Paris—look casual and not related to De Gaulle at all. The timing makes it look the opposite.

Johnson's been around too long to make what he did to De Gaulle an accident.

Hal Boyle Like The Purple Cow . . .

NEW YORK (AP)—The cards of condolence are already coming in.

They are from friends to remind me that I'm having an other birthday later this month—the 54th, if my abacus is working right.

That's one of the cheering things about friends: They may forget they owe you money, but they always remember your birthdays—particularly if they themselves are a few years younger.

THE THING I dislike most about my birthday is that it is poorly located on the calendar, strategically speaking. It happens to fall between the natal anniversaries of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.

That makes me something of a human molehill between two peaks of grandeur. After celebrating the birth of the great emancipator, America rests up to celebrate the birth of the father of his country. Thus my birthday has so far escaped attention from a grateful nation.

I don't blame the people; it's just an unfortunate result of poor parental timing.

However, Congress at long last is doing something about the situation. This year it will remain in adjournment on my birthday—Feb. 21. Mayor Wagner is also closing down City Hall, and church bells will peal throughout the land.

I'M EVEN taking the day off from work myself—since it happens to be a Sunday.

Many people who hate the thought of turning 40 wonder what it's like to be a person in the mid-fifties. Truth to tell, it's pretty much like the fellow said about the purple cow: "I'd rather see than be one."

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My mother-in-law recently died of uremic poisoning.

What are the early symptoms? Is it possible to discover this illness early enough to save lives? If high blood pressure is not the only cause, what are the others? I have high blood pressure. —MRS. C. L. D.

Uremic poisoning (uremia) is not caused by high blood pressure, although high blood pressure can result from uremia or kidney disease, among other things.

Uremia specifically is the result of kidney failure. The nitrogen waste matter of the body is not sufficiently eliminated, and gradually piles up in the blood stream.

Some form of nephritis, or kidney disease which involves the filtering mechanism of kidneys, is the usual forerunner of uremia. In turn, a strep infection (whether recent or remote) is the most common cause of nephritis. Another cause of kidney breakdown, however, is a complication or form of hardening of the arteries.

Kidney disease is an extremely common disorder. It is the subject of a vast amount of research work these days, but the public in general is only very slowly becoming aware of what a disabling and deadly disease it can be.

There are many ways of detecting it: Urine tests (for albumin, urine volume tests, and measurement of specific gravity); chemical determination of the amount of nitrogen in the blood can detect either actual or impending uremia; there are more intricate but very useful tests for determining the efficiency of kidney function.

Headache, fatigue and swelling are among symptoms more readily noted by the patient. Burning sensation, cloudy urine and such ominous signs as traces of blood should be reported to one's physician. These don't necessarily mean nephritis or incipient uremic poisoning, they may be from bladder disorders or some other ailments. But they are important.

Can uremia, detected early, be treated so as to save lives? Decidedly yes, although it would not be truthful to say that all can. Some cases of nephritis can be arrested and lapse into a chronic state. Some can be cleared up completely. Others progress relentlessly into uremic poisoning. Kidney infection is not easy to treat, but there has been gradual improvement for some years now in developing effective antibiotics.

Individuals with high blood pressure should have tests to discover whether kidney disease is responsible, or whether other factors are the cause, because, obviously, treatment will be different.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read your article about warts, but what about moles? I have them all over my body. What could I do to remove the five on my face, without surgery? I had one removed under my arm because it was uncomfortable, but it left a scar. —MRS. L. C.

There is no way for you to remove them yourself.

A dermatologist or plastic surgeon can remove the ones on your face, leaving only a very small scar. When the one was removed under your arm, there was no reason to try to avoid a scar. It may, for instance, have been removed by cautery, which is rapid and simple. Surgical methods would be used on the face, or wherever a scar would be objectionable.

Around The Rim

Alamo's Only Banker

As the century-old story goes, in the early morning hours of March 6, 1836, the order was given to a massed array of troops to assault the old stone mission not far from the banks of the San Antonio River.

SCHEDULED to begin at 5 a.m. that day, the assault was planned as a surprise, to end the siege begun on Feb. 23. But as legend goes, the soldiers began yelling, and as the charge began the cannon in the church known as the Alamo was turned and fired.

Legend also says one of the flags at the Alamo, and the only one taken by the invading troops, was a blue banner brought by the volunteers from New Orleans.

Captured by Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna after the fall of the Alamo, the flag is reported today at Chapultepec castle in Mexico.

AN ASSOCIATED Press writer in Mexico City has reported the flag is now being reworked by experts at the castle, with the old wording again becoming evident. Efforts are also supposedly underway by Texas authorities to return the flag to this state.

It has been at the castle for years. For the reworking job, the old banner was moved to a warehouse, where two women are doing the actual work to restore it.

MEXICAN BATTLE flags captured by Americans in the battles with Mexico were returned south of the border several years ago. In addition, France has returned to Mexico some banners taken in conflicts between Frenchmen and Mexicans.

If the flag is returned to this state, probably it will join the collection of items in the museum adjacent to the Alamo in downtown San Antonio.

IT IS INTERESTING to note that after more than a century, the battle still keeps coming to attention, not simply in the lines of history books, as every important military engagement does, but rather in more widespread fashion. Doubtless some recent books have helped re-focus popular attention on the old story, but it remains surprising that more than a century after it occurred pieces of information or items left from the battle still turn up.

OR PERHAPS this isn't so surprising, considering the view that in the story of the old battle lies quite a portrait of humanity, even more so than simply an account of a strategically important military engagement.

Richard Starnes Britain's Low Productivity

LONDON—Buying a shirt in London is as good a means as is available to find an understanding of Britain's deep and horrendous economic crisis.

Ready-made shirts commonly come in neck sizes alone, not by neck and sleeve size as they do in the United States. This means that a chap with a robust neck, for example this (17½) witness, will get a shirt with sleeves long enough for a large chimp, and no choice in the matter. This is, literally, a product of the sleeve-garter psychology that has made British industry unable (and faintly unwilling) to compete for world markets.

THIS STATE of mind is by no means the only cause for the precarious position Britain is in, but ephemeral and difficult to pin down as it is, it is still perhaps the major one.

Another one is the notorious under-productivity of British workers. The "cuppa" (which is a tea break that is even more deeply rooted and time-wasting than the American coffee break) is institutionalized loafing. Low output per man, coupled with complacent management that has been slow to modernize as it has been to compete, have imposed cruel handicaps on Britain's attempt to keep up with the rest of Europe.

UNEMPLOYMENT here is among the world's lowest (1.6 per cent at mid-January), but this creates an illusion of prosperity—not the reality.

For it almost invariably takes the British laborer far longer to do a job than it takes his counterpart in, say, West Germany or the United States. One study showed that British shipyard workers used 40 per cent more man than necessary, that while it takes one American worker to produce a ton of steel, it requires three Britons. Construction jobs are likely to take three times as long as the same job would take in the U.S.

MIRRED BY these deeply ingrained traits of national character, England has not been able to share in the economic miracles of Germany, Japan, France and Italy. Her rate of economic growth since 1955 has been only 2.5 per cent, far lower than any other Western industrial nation. Inevitably this brought Britain to a balance-of-payments deficit, and a crisis of confidence against the pound.

It fell to the new Labor government to deal with the smouldering economic emergency, and Labor quickly blamed the crisis on the outgoing Conservative government. The Tories were as quick to criticize the measures undertaken by Labor Prime Minister Harold Wilson to cope with the economic blight.

THE PRINCIPAL weapon against the balance-of-payments gap has been the Labor government's attempt to encourage British manufacturers to get into the uncharacteristic business of scrambling for export trade. A number of steps were taken. Low interest-rate loans were made available to exporters, and attempts were made to speed up the movement of goods on Britain's notoriously slow docks. Big promotions abroad are being planned, large exporters have been urged to help small firms, and the government will put up more than $1 million to finance overseas trade missions this year.

ALL THESE steps may yet rescue England from the status of a third-rate trading nation. But none will avail over the long term without a revolutionary shift in British attitudes. Workers' incessant "cuppa" as well as management's interminable lunches and endless weekends may both have to become casualties before the crisis is finally resolved.

David Lawrence Time For Resoluteness

WASHINGTON—A "sleeper" crisis is developing in world affairs. The fact that it is evolving gradually and without threatening words being spoken does not make it any less serious.

For the Soviet Union has announced that it is sending Premier Kosygin an official delegation to North Viet Nam. Military as well as economic assistance will be furnished by the Soviets to the very government which, in violation of international agreements, has been carrying on a war against South Viet Nam.

SINCE MILITARY aid and economic assistance has been given by the United States to the South Viet Nam government, at its request, the Soviet action means a direct intervention in Southeast Asia by Russia in an open challenge to the policies of the American government.

Wishful thinkers are saying that the Soviets are peacefully inclined and are only helping North Viet Nam so as not to let Red China get all the credit in the Communist world. Coincidentally, the Moscow government expressed itself in favor of further interchanges of visits between high officials of this country and the Soviet Union and suggested an exchange of television programs. This was doubtless intended as a friendly gesture to offset any feeling in the United States of dismay over the Soviet move in Viet Nam.

BUT THE DOUBLE standard is all too evident, and it is possible that Moscow decided to intervene in Viet Nam largely because of a mistaken belief that President Johnson is going "isolationist" and is too preoccupied with domestic affairs to want to take risks overseas.

Indeed, some of the men closest to the Johnson administration have been so consistently preaching isolationist doctrines of late that it is quite natural, though tragically mistaken, for the Soviets to assume that President Johnson is a pussyfoot or an appeaser. It may, unfortunately, require a confrontation such as the late President Kennedy risked during the Cuban missile crisis in order to convince the Moscow government that the United States isn't being taken in by the tactics of the Soviets.

MANY NEWSPAPERS have been publishing articles recently giving the impression that things have quieted down in the world and that there need be less anxiety on the international scene. The Washington Post, reflecting the change in trend now, said editorially on Tuesday:

"The Russian decision to send Premier Kosygin and a strong government and party delegation to North Viet Nam in the near future is the boldest and most significant foreign policy move yet taken by the new Kremlin leadership. While incurable optimists will derive comfort from the fact the move is designed to replace the Chinese with Soviet influence in Hanoi (North Viet Nam), this would seem to be a superficial interpretation of its true significance."

"KOSYGIN'S delegation will include both the minister of aviation and the deputy chairman of the state committee for foreign economic relations. The latter is the man who had previously signed Soviet military assistance agreements with India and Indonesia. One can conclude, therefore, that Moscow will now not only support Hanoi verbally, as it has increasingly done in recent months, but also give needed military aid to Hanoi in an effort to win its favor."

The Post goes on to say that "the Russians must be fairly confident that the United States will not enlarge the war by attacking North Viet Nam, particularly if the Soviet Union now comes out firmly on Hanoi's side."

IT IS TO BE hoped that President Johnson now will make it so clear to Moscow what the consequences of its ill-advised policies may be that there will be no further meddling by the Soviets in the Viet Nam situation. For resoluteness at the opportune moment can save the world from a "limited war" of dangerous proportions. It is time to call a halt to the preachment of isolationism which have recently emerged on the American scene.

THE PRAIRIE PILOT

Webb's Newspaper Judged Best In AF

"The Prairie Pilot," Webb's newspaper for Air Force personnel, was named the best in its category throughout the Air Force this week.

First Lt. David M. Hodson, Webb AFB information officer, edited the winning three issues of the paper, which were published last February.

The Prairie Pilot earlier won first place in its category in the Air Training Command competition, and then entered the worldwide contest. It was one of 60 newspapers competing.

Last year the Pilot won first in its category in the ATC contest, but it wound up second in the worldwide competition.

Lt. Hodson will go to the Pentagon later this year to receive his award from Gen. McConnell, along with other prize winners.

He entered the Air Force through the ROTC program in July, 1962 and his first assignment was as information officer here. He was promoted to his present rank in Dec. 15, 1963.

"The Prairie Pilot" became a commercial enterprise publication in April, 1960 and is printed by Big Spring Printing Co. The Air Force has 10 categories for its contests, and the Pilot was the only Air Training Command newspaper to win a first place rating in the worldwide contest.

Before that, he was the deputy chief of staff for flying training at Air Training Command.

The general's military career began in 1932 when he enlisted in the North Dakota National Guard. In December, 1940 he was transferred to the Army Air Corps after completing flying training at Kelly Field, Tex.

After World War II he served with the U. S. Delegation of the United Nations, the Alaskan Air Command and Headquarters USAF.

The general is a command pilot, rated navigator and radar observer and has logged more than 7,000 military flying hours in all types of aircraft.

He is known in military flying circles for his widely read textbook "Modern Airmanship" which deals with all phases of flying operations. It was first compiled and published in 1957 and updated in 1961.

Officers were still looking into the Jan. 11 break-in at the airport when word of this new development was received.

The similarity of the offenses makes it appear the offenses are the work of the same person on both occasions, officers said.

The break-in was discovered when Dean Berry, with the Trans-Texas Airlines, and Howard Loyd, with the Big Spring Aircraft, came to the hangar.

Webb's Deputy Commander for Training, Col. Edwin J. White Jr., is among the 11 officers attending the materiel management course for commanders and staff officers at Chanute AFB, Ill. This one-week course presents the overall management concept at base level in accordance with the Air Force system of materiel management.

Collins Going To ID School

A Big Spring police officer, Sidney Collins, has been notified of acceptance of the Texas Department of Public Safety's quarterly identification school in Austin during April.

Collins, identification officer for the department here, is one of 16 officers in the state accepted for the school, which will be conducted April 26 through May 7.

DPS instructors teach the classroom-laboratory work at the school, which includes instruction in classification and filing of fingerprints, means to search crime scenes for latent fingerprints and other items, handwriting identification, photography for identification and late developments in the identification field.

Collins is a native of Bruceville, Texas, and joined the department here in May of last year. He previously had three years experience in photography with the U. S. Army Signal Corps and in aerial photography with the Navy for three years.

Collins is married and the family includes two boys, ages 6 and 4. He has previously attended Big Spring High School.

Three Admit Various Thefts

Arrest of a man for a charge of drunkenness has led to the solving of a car battery theft case, Linda Oldfield, chief deputy sheriff, said today.

Oldfield said that A. G. Mitchell, deputy sheriff, arrested Donald Varner, 1302 Harding, near the Weatherly Salvage yards on the Snyder highway. Under questioning, Varner, Oldfield said, told of how he and two other men, identified as Donald Beaton and Daniel Devlin, had stolen gasoline and a battery from a truck owned by T. A. Welch.

Oldfield said the other two men were arrested and all three made signed statements regarding the case. All three pleaded guilty.

They made restitution to Welch for the gasoline and battery, Oldfield said.

Income Tax Laws Explained

Joe Gordon, agent for the Internal Revenue Service, touched on some changes in the new income tax laws at his appearance before the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday.

He urged prompt filing, but he cautioned taxpayers to make sure they include their own and their wives' Social Security numbers, also to double check their arithmetic.

One change, he said, would permit charging off of business trip expenses, even though the taxpayer might take advantage by setting up side trips at his own expense. Dividend exclusions have been increased to $200 for couples, although the credit earned has been cut from four to two per cent.

Automobile license tags and cigarette taxes are no longer deductible items, he warned. Neither is the first $100 loss in hail and windstorms, etc. Charitable contributions may be deductible up to 30 per cent (in some instances) and excesses can be carried over. Moving expenses (beyond 20 miles) are deductible.

Bill Roark drew the trip to the Lions International convention in California in July, and alternates were Ludwig Grau and John Dibrell.

Two Latin American women were arrested by police here Thursday on charges of shoplifting after Conrad Davis, manager of the Furr's Super Market, 900 Eleventh Place, reported the women had taken an assortment of items from the store.

Davis reported missing four bottles of perfume, four packages of T-shirts, aspirin and other items, valued at about $19. He told officers he found the items in the women's possession outside the food store.

Douglas Owens, a San Antonio resident, told officers a coat valued at some $30 was taken from his car while it was parked at the Holiday Inn Thursday.

Two plate glass windows were reported broken Thursday at Terry's Drive-In, 1307 E. 4th.

Second Daughter
Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ray, 1801 Chocaw, are the parents of a daughter, born Feb. 2, at the Howard County Hospital Foundation Mrs. Ray is chief deputy in the office of Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk. The new baby, christened Michele Yvonne, weighed eight pounds, 13½ ounces. The Rays have another daughter, 13-years-old.

Murder Laid To 'Goofballs'

CHICAGO (AP) — "I beg you to forgive me for having failed you," the letter said. "I love you dearly and because of my love I failed you."

That was the beginning of a letter from Yvonne Del Vecchio to her son, George, in a juvenile home this week. Del Vecchio, 16, Eugene Waswil, 17, and Joseph Varchetto, 16, are charged with murder and robbery.

Police say the three, all high school dropouts and from broken families, have admitted shooting and robbing Fred A. Christiansen, 66, while high on "goofballs" (pep pills) and liquor and needing money for more barbiturates. They took $11 from Christiansen who died a few minutes later in a hospital.

"We were laughing fit to die," police quoted Del Vecchio as saying. "We were hysterical. It was the (pep) pills that made us do it."

HAVE RECORDS
He and Varchetto were taken to a juvenile home because of their age. Waswil was lodged in jail. All three have police records.

Mrs. Del Vecchio's letter said: "Because I failed to do my duty toward you, you have killed a man. I hope that God can forgive both you and I for our mistakes. Make your peace with God, my son, and your burden shall be lightened."

"I will carry my failure to you as a cross."
Waswil's weeping mother, Frances, stood beside her son during a hearing in court.

"I'm sorry, mother, that you have to meet your boy in court," said Judge Saul A. Epton. "It's a sad meeting, but it was a sad incident for the community."

Christiansen was shot numerous times with a .22-caliber rifle, beaten and kicked.
RAILROAD BILLER
Christiansen, a biller at the Railway Express Co., had left his home Sunday evening to buy a package of cigarettes.

According to police, the youths were cruising Waveland Avenue on the Northwest Side in a stolen car when they saw Christiansen walking alone.

Del Vecchio said he fired repeatedly at the man. The other two said they kicked Christiansen to stop his screams.

"He kept screaming and screaming," Del Vecchio said, "so I stepped back and put about eight more shots in him."
Christiansen gasped out portions of the story before he died.

FAILED TO HEED
Mrs. Del Vecchio, 32, said state psychiatrists had advised her three years ago to put George into an institution.

"They read from a report which said that some time — even without his realizing it — George might kill somebody," police quoted her as saying.

But she said she had heard bad reports of boys (correctional) schools and didn't want her son sent to one.

Services for H. M. Rowe, 66, who died Tuesday, were set for 2:30 p.m. today at the First Methodist Church with Dr. H. Clyde Smith, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Surviving Mr. Rowe, a resident and businessman of Big Spring since 1934, are his widow; one son, three daughters, 13 grandchildren, and one sister.

C. Y. Clinkscales was a pallbearer, in addition to those previously mentioned.

Rowe Services Held Today
Given Quarterly Instructor Award
Capt. James T. McDaniel, academic instructor, at Webb AFB, was selected as Instructor of the Quarter for October-December, 1964. He is a native of Richmond, Va., and a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Entering the Air Force through the USAF Reserve Officers Training Corps, he received his flying training at Bartow AFB, Fla., and Greenville AFB, Miss.

He was an instructor pilot here from September, 1960 until May, 1961, when he was assigned as an academic instructor. In addition to his academic instruction, Capt. McDaniel has won distinction as a flight instructor and for his community relations work. The captain has a total of 1,450 hours total flying time, including 1,175 hours rated jet time.

Eagles To Hold Convention Here

The Sunday program includes a noon lunch, with auxiliary and aerie meetings scheduled during the afternoon.

WOMAN INJURED
Mrs. Rosemary Coffee was reported in good condition today at Webb AFB Hospital, where she was taken by Big Spring Ambulance Service Thursday following an accident at the Wagon Wheel Drive-In, 2011 Gregg. She received a fractured right leg in a fall at the drive-in, according to hospital attendants.

Two minor traffic accidents were reported to police Thursday. Locations and drivers involved were Gollad and Fittenthed, Jack Dumphy, 7 Highland Heather, and Mrs. Juanez Broughton, Knott Route; 200 W. 3rd, Homer Richabaugh, Route 1, and a parked car, owned by Joseph Homan, 801 Gregg.

Second Pavilion Being Built

Beam supports for the roof of the second concrete pavilion at Moss Creek Lake have been placed in position, with work to begin Monday on installing the curved-arch roof sections, according to Public Works Director Ernest Lillard.

The new pavilion is slightly larger than the first one, which was completed last fall, and will be 28 feet by 48 feet. Both are located on the south shore of the lake.

Some trees will be placed around the first pavilion, Lillard said, while the present one was located among existing landscaping. Some pavilions may later be installed in city parks, according to Lillard.

Plans for the lake improvement also include another fishing pier, of about 16 feet by 20 feet and of metal frame and wood construction. The supervisor's residence is also to be repainted, according to Lillard.

Flier Escapes Hurt In Crash
HOUSTON (AP)—Floyd Rayburn, 38, a Houston businessman, escaped injury when his light plane crashed in a pasture near here. He said both engines failed shortly after he took off on a business trip to Dallas.

Texan Killed In Excavation
PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Bill Miller, 33, of Denison was killed just south of here Thursday when an excavation for a telephone cable collapsed and buried him.

Another worker, Gabe Wilson, 30, of Colbert, Okla., was dug free. He was reported in good condition at a Paris hospital.

Disposal Pits Ordered To Be Filled, Mounded

All disposal pits in the Sharon Ridge and North Coleman Ranch fields of Scurry and Mitchell counties must be filled, packed and mounded, the Texas Railroad Commission ruled Thursday.

Operators who do not comply with the new order by March 1 will lose their oil pipeline connections, the commission said.

The action was an amendment to the commission's order of July 30, 1962 which required operations in the two fields to quit using open pits which were seeping and thus contributing to contamination of fresh waters and the normal low flow of the Colorado River.

Last June, by resolution, the board of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, complained that the order was not being obeyed, that lined pits were leaking and numerous unlined pits were still being used despite commission orders to the contrary.

An on-site inspection was made by commission agents in November of 1964, and as a result the new order was issued.

Pits are to be filled in such a way that no water can stand in a depression on the location of the pit. The CRMWD originally requested action as a step in helping to reduce pollution of the Colorado River because it had a lake permit conditioned on showing ability to reduce and control salt water pollution.

Squadron Names Honor Airman
The 205th Communications Squadron named Airman I.C. Mark J. Magdefrau as Airman of the Month for February. He was assigned to Webb Air Force Base in 1963, after serving a tour at Toul Rosieres, France, as an air traffic controller.

He is a native of Fond du Lac, Wis., and entered the Air Force in 1956. Airman Magdefrau is married to the former Patricia Winne of West Palm Beach, Fla.

Burglars Enter Airport Again

For the second time in less than a month, burglars Friday night "peeled" the safe in the Howard County Airport hangar office, and ransacked desks and other equipment in the building.

This time, the burglars made entrance into the office by exactly the same method used Jan. 11 — a hangar door was pried apart at the base to permit the prowler to get inside.

The safe was broken into in exactly the same manner as on Jan. 11, and the systematic ransacking of desks in the office of Big Spring Aircraft was identical with the first raid.

The burglary, according to Aubrey Standard, sheriff, who is investigating the case, occurred sometime between 10 p.m. Thursday and 5 a.m. Friday.

Also stolen this time, he said, was a transistor radio. The amount of money taken had not been determined Friday morning.

Officers were still looking into the Jan. 11 break-in at the airport when word of this new development was received.

The similarity of the offenses makes it appear the offenses are the work of the same person on both occasions, officers said.

The break-in was discovered when Dean Berry, with the Trans-Texas Airlines, and Howard Loyd, with the Big Spring Aircraft, came to the hangar.

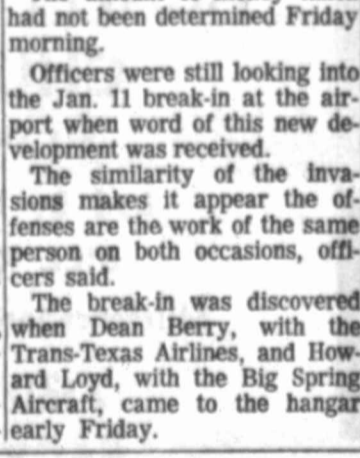

Webb's Deputy Commander for Training, Col. Edwin J. White Jr., is among the 11 officers attending the materiel management course for commanders and staff officers at Chanute AFB, Ill. This one-week course presents the overall management concept at base level in accordance with the Air Force system of materiel management.

Two Latin American women were arrested by police here Thursday on charges of shoplifting after Conrad Davis, manager of the Furr's Super Market, 900 Eleventh Place, reported the women had taken an assortment of items from the store.

Davis reported missing four bottles of perfume, four packages of T-shirts, aspirin and other items, valued at about $19. He told officers he found the items in the women's possession outside the food store.

ARE YOU READY?

There can be no harmony without you! Unless everyone joins in together, determined to make this performance on life's stage the best one possible, the result will always be sour and discordant.

Perhaps, when we take an honest look at ourselves, we discover such things as temper or prejudice, jealousy or despair standing in the way of our personal happiness. And when we are unhappy, we feel out of tune with the world.

How can these miseries be overcome? God Himself will help us, if we ask Him. It is His intention that His children live in harmony and contentment, and He will show us the way.

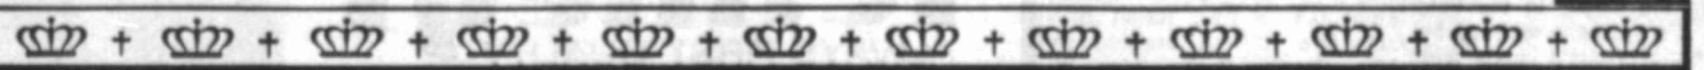

Bring your problem to church this Sunday, and offer it to Him in prayer. He loves you greatly, He understands you perfectly, and only He can help you to regain the song of joy that belongs in your heart.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Easy Method Cleans Oven

Dear Folks:

Here is another new idea... I can't tell you why or how this works... but it does!

When we clean our ovens and broilers, no matter what method we use, there is always that little wiggly rack holder gadget along the sides of it. How do we get the grease spatters off?

HELOISE

Some of these sides cannot be removed and soaked in your bathtub with electric dishwasher compounds like the grates and other removable parts. Soap-filled pads just do not get completely up into these grooves, do they?

I have learned, after testing many, many times, a new way to do this!

Buy some electric dishwasher compound that is ordinarily used to wash dishes in an electric dishwasher.

Wet a paper napkin or paper towel under your water faucet and shake off the water. Sprinkle the paper napkin with that wonderful new dishwasher compound you bought. Sprinkle it just as if you were using salt. The granules will adhere to the wet paper napkin or towel.

Now, the secret is to take this wet, sprinkled paper napkin and, holding it against the sides of those grooves, press the sprinkled side into the grooves with your fingers.

Within 20 minutes (and if you leave it there two hours it does not make any difference, so long as the paper napkin doesn't dry out), you can remove that paper napkin, and it will be as black as tar!

All accumulated carbon in these little grooves will be dissolved.

Do not waste this napkin you have treated. After you remove it, use it to wipe those little, dirty grooves.

Use this same napkin and turn it over to the other side to rub-a-dub-dub until you get most of the soil off. And it will come off; you better believe it, gals.

Then, before using any kind of rinse water, just take a soap-filled pad and wipe the grooves. You will be as amazed as I was. Naturally, you can rinse this later with a slight vinegar-water solution.

Gals, this is the only way I know of to get 'em really clean. Aren't ovens awful when it comes time to clean? But aren't they wonderful when it comes time to cook?

Happy cleaning and good cookin'... Heloise

Dear Heloise: Include drinking straws in your children's lunch kit. No spills from pouring; no dirty cups to replace on thermos; and, best of all, a clean face to show the teacher the rest of the day... Mrs. T. Antunez

Dear Heloise: I keep a pair of rubber gloves right with the diaper pail. Every time there is a soiled diaper, I put on the gloves for rinsing the diaper in the toilet bowl. It's not only sanitary but also protects one's hands from that terrifically cold water... Mrs. Margaret Simpson

Dear Heloise: If some morning you go out,

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Harding have returned from McCombs where they attended the installation ceremonies of his daughter, Gale. She was installed as find your car windows covered with frost or light snow and can't find your scraper, try what I did. Use your rubber or plastic kitchen spatula—believe it or not, but this really is GREAT... Nancy Ann Dunn

Dear Heloise: While shopping in the dry goods department one day, I found that the dark dress I was wearing had picked up quite a lot of lint. So... I purchased a 15-cent sponge powder puff to remove the lint. They are the greatest! Now I always keep a small foam puff in my purse just for removing lint... Leona Beaty

Dear Heloise: I save all the caps or tops from spray cans. They make a lovely small set of cups and dishes for a child to play with... Mrs. B.

Where's That Twenty Tons Of Cabbage?

HALEYVILLE, Ala. (AP) — "Lost — 40,000 pounds of cabbage somewhere between Haleyville, Ala., and Rio Grande Valley, Tex."

How can you lose 20 tons of cabbage? That's what Haleyville supermarket manager L. B. Williams wants to know. So he placed the above ad in the local paper.

Williams said he ordered the cabbage last Thursday and the truck carrying the produce left Texas on schedule. The Oklahoma firm which owns the truck said the driver called Wednesday from Fayette, Ala., saying he had become stuck in the mud and planned to arrive in Haleyville that night.

But Williams said Thursday night that neither the truck nor one single leaf of the cabbage had arrived.

Warmup Trend Defrosting East

By The Associated Press
Temperatures moderated over much of the eastern half of the nation today, but some sections still lay in the grip of sub-zero weather.

Warming temperatures brought rain to some areas. As the arctic high shifted eastward, a rapid warmup began over the central and northern Plains and Rockies.

Temperatures climbed into the 50s as far north as northern Wyoming and southwestern Montana. Readings in the 60s defrosted portions of southwestern Idaho and western Nebraska.

The temperature rose more than 50 degrees Thursday in parts of the Dakotas and Wyoming. Sheridan, in north-central Wyoming, had a zero reading

Thursday morning and 56 in the afternoon. Aberdeen, in northeastern South Dakota, warmed from -28 to an afternoon high of 26 above.

Rain moved into the central and northern Pacific Coast.

Oswego, N.Y., in the snow belt off Lake Ontario, had a 4-inch snowfall in a half-hour Thursday night and visibility was zero. Oswego now has 23 inches on the ground. A 10-to-12-inch snowfall blanketed central New York State.

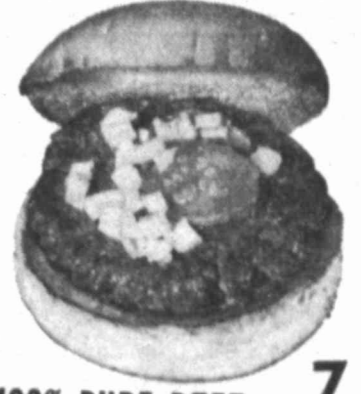

Temperatures of zero and below prevailed throughout New England.

Schools in six Kentucky counties remained closed today because of the snow and cold.

In Chicago, city workers used dynamite to keep Lake Michigan ice from disrupting the underwater intakes at a water crib city's water supply. The dynamite was set off around the un-

HC Meets Odessa At Home Tonight

By HARDY PRICE
The HCJC Jayhawks are having troubles on road games according to Coach Buddy Travis, but will face the Odessa College Wranglers here tonight at 8 p.m.

Odessa handed the Hawks their first conference play loss, 66-44, in Odessa. Times have changed a bit now and the Hawks will be on their home court tonight.

Forsan Triumphs In Cage League

STERLING CITY — Sterling City remains atop the independent league play with a 73-54 victory over Water Valley here Thursday night.
Forsan took Garden City, 42-38, in the evening's first game. First round leader in the league is Sterling City with a 3-0 record followed by Forsan 2-1, Water Valley 1-2 and Garden City 0-3.

However it will not be a bed of roses for the Hawks. The Wranglers are a formidable team, even though their 4-5 conference record doesn't reflect it. Coach Larry McCulloch will likely go with a starting line-up of Chuck Ramsey 6-3, Keith Kuhn 6-3, Chick Kiefer 6-3, Dean Self 6-0 and Pete Zuniga 6-2.
The Wranglers dropped their last game, 75-69, to Lubbock Christian College, Tuesday night. At the same time the Hawks lost out to the NMMI Cadets, 84-72.
The Wranglers play well outside and Coach McCulloch likes a ball control game, if possible. With the rebounding of the Hawks' Eddy Nelson and Kirk Papp, it will be hard for McCulloch to play his game.

The Hawks currently hold down second place in the Western Junior College Conference with a 6-3 record, tied with Amarillo College. San Angelo is on top of the heap with a 6-2 record.

The starting five for Coach Travis will likely be Keith Bond, Jim Flowers, Tom Carter, Eddy Nelson and Kirk Papp.

Cisco Continues To Lead Region

Cisco's high-scoring outfit, the number four ranked junior college basketball team in the nation, continues to have far and away the finest won-lost record of any teams in the Region V Junior College Conference.

Cisco has won 18 of its 19 games this year, while scoring at a 101-point per game average and giving up only 70.7 points per game.

Johnny Sellers joined teammates Preston Sherrad and Harry Gunner of Cisco in the region's top 10 scorers. Sellers is scoring 18.7 points per game. Gunner 19.5 and Sherrad leads the region in scoring with a 22.0-point average.

Howard County, with Eddy Nelson and Thomas Carter, is the only other team to have two players among the top scorers. Nelson is scoring 20.9 points per game, while Carter has an 18.3 average.

Gunner leads the region in rebounding with an average of 13 per game. Don Campbell of Clarendon is second with an average of 12.7.
Sherrad leads in field goals with 176, while Carter has the most of free throws made, 115. Standings, through Sunday, Jan. 31:

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Tonto Coleman, the Texan who now draws his paychecks from Georgia Tech and who is a brother to Big Spring's most successful football mentor, Carl Coleman, regales audiences in the South by insisting he first met Johnny Vaught of Ole Miss football fame when both were out seeking wild game in the lonely stretches between Roscoe and Olney.

The way Tonto tells it, the era was during the stark days of the great depression of the 1930's and the two were after food for the family table that had been killed by automobiles the night before.

"Every once in a while you'd run across an armadillo," says Coleman, "and that was a prize. Now and then you'd come up with a possum and this was a delicacy. Most of the time, though, your best catch would be a field mouse or a rabbit, but rabbits didn't bear up too well under the blow of an automobile."

The Coleman home then was in Roscoe while Vaught sprang from Olney and the area between the communities embraces about 150 miles, the way an automobile would travel.
You never challenge the authenticity of one of Tonto's stories. You just appreciate the manner in which he tells it.

Naaman Nickell, the Odessa scribe, writes in a recent column that District 2-A doesn't promise to be quite as tough this fall in football as it has in the past.

The tales some of the coaches have been telling about the other clubs, the district may field some of its finest teams in history—but the listener should stand advised to take those stories with a grain of salt.
Nickell says a rebuilding year seems to be in store for Big Spring—indicating that this might be the year of the locust for Steer fans.

He also sees problems ahead for Abilene Cooper, Abilene High, Midland Lee and Midland High teams. Odessa High and Permian, he adds, return as good a group of players as any school in the district.

Next scheduled tournament planned by the Big Spring Golf Association will be Feb. 13-14.
It will be a unique event, in that players will be allowed to use only three clubs to play their 18-hole rounds.

Walter Reyna, one of coach Red Lewis' distance runners at HCJC, was sick through most of the Christmas holidays and lost considerable weight.
That wouldn't be so bad with a big fellow but Reyna was small to start with. For that reason he's been slow to return to top form.
Lewis reasons he'll be ready for the outdoor meets, however.

The April 8-11 Masters Golf tournament at Augusta, Ga., figures to be a $130,000 event this year.
Ray Mears of Tennessee University said it, about the roundball sport:
"Basketball is a lot like chess. The team that makes the most intelligent moves will generally win."

Jersey Joe Walcott, the former heavyweight boxing champion, still keeps in close touch with the fight game.
He attends all the big fights and is in demand on the banquet trail. He referees about 20 boxing shows a year and handles approximately 40 wrestling cards.
His refereeing stints pay him well and he also has a steady income as a full-time member of the Camden, N.J., police department, where he is a specialist in combating juvenile delinquency.

Walcott will tell you that the best heavyweight active today is Harold Johnson, who actually is a light-heavy.
"He can hit harder than those other guys," insists Walcott.

KEN BOYER

Boyer, Gibson Ink Contracts

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals lined the nest with a little more fur and landed two of their highest-paid stars — third baseman Ken Boyer and pitcher Bob Gibson.

Both signed one-year pacts and received "substantial raises" for their efforts in leading the Cardinals to the National League pennant last season and then the World Series victory over the New York Yankees.

Boyer, the league's Most Valuable Player, now is believed in the $65,000-a-year class.

The signings — Boyer on Thursday and Gibson today — gave the Cardinals 16 players in the roster, only four of them regulars. Dick Groat and Curt Flood are the others.

"I wouldn't say there has been a log jam," General Manager Bob Howsam said, "but if there has been one, I think with Ken and Bob signing their contracts, it has been broken."

Both players had rejected original contract offers, but said they had little trouble after meeting with Howsam.

"I enjoy contract time when they turn out as this one did," said the right-handed Gibson, who won 19 games in the regular season and two more against the Yankees.

"It's kind of a challenge," said Boyer. "When I came up from the minor leagues, I hoped to make $10,000 a year and play for 10 years. After I played for a while, I shot for $25,000, and made it."

"By then, I had plenty of confidence that I was as good as any one up here (the major leagues) and I aimed for $50,000."

"Then, after the MVP and championship last season, I decided to shoot for the moon. I didn't get it, of course, but I'm satisfied."

At 33, Boyer had his best season in 1964 when he led the league with 119 runs batted in, hit .295 and craked 24 home runs.

Bears Get Two Tyler Gridders

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Baylor got two stars of the Tyler High School football team Thursday—quarterback Alvin Flynn and tackle Earl Maxfield.

Flynn and Maxfield announced that they would sign with Baylor next Tuesday when the Southwest Conference recruiting season opens.

Seeking Horses

NEW YORK (AP) — Martin Tananbaum, president of Yonkers Raceway, left today for Christchurch, New Zealand, on his annual tour of New Zealand and Australia, on the outlook for possible pacers and trotters good enough to be invited to Yonkers Raceway's international series of races.

Steers, Permian Vie In Odessa Tonight

Two teams not going anywhere in the District 2-AAAA basketball race, Big Spring and Odessa Permian, square off in Odessa at 8 o'clock tonight.

Last time the two teams met, Permian escaped with a 52-48 victory here.

Permian is 5-5 in the league race and has an overall record of 15-11. Big Spring has won only one of ten league assignments and is 6-18 overall.

The Panthers, coached by Jack Crawley, has averaged 57.8 points in league games, compared to 60.4 for the opposition.

The Steers have played some fine ball on occasions but have lost the close ones. They have averaged 58.4 points a game in league assignments, compared to 64.8 for the opposition.

In Jimmy Johnston, the Panthers have the fifth leading scorer in the district. Johnston has counted a total of 144 points for a 14.4 average.

Other Permian starters are due to be Alan Moravcik, Jim Ormond, Chuck Mercer, Tim Heines and Larry Hart.

Probable starters for Big Spring are Simon Terras, Joe Jaure, Don White, Paul, Thomas and Terry Fields or Bobby Griffin.

Terras is the tenth leading point-getter in the conference with a total of 133 points.

B teams of the two schools square off at 6 p.m.
The Longhorns come home Tuesday night to square off with the Midland Bulldogs in their next to last home game.

State Fish Hatcheries Gear To Meet Demands

AUSTIN — Since Texas will sumption of routine at the former place.

The inland fisheries coordinator said one reason for the vastly expanded fresh water areas to be stocked is the huge internationally-sponsored Armistad Dam soon to be built on the Rio Grande River just above Del Rio. This one reservoir will contain 5,325,000 acre feet of water and will be one of the largest fresh water impoundments in the world. The dam is expected to be completed in 1968. The new lake will be served by both the Rio Grande and Devil's Rivers.

Toole said the present annual hatchery output of 16,500,000 comprises mainly black bass, catfish, crappie and sunfish.

Ship To Assist

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency plans to send a converted aircraft carrier to sea later this month on a three-month trip to conduct upper-atmosphere experiments off the South American coast. The ship, the Croatan, is scheduled to leave Baltimore no earlier than Feb. 14. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said a series of 50 or more scientific experiments would be launched from its deck.

Details On Johnson, Soviet Exchange Visits Unmapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Soviet leaders have yet to work out the details of their tentative and informal agreement to exchange visits this year.

Officials said only there has been no understanding so far on timing or extent of the proposed trips — when and where Johnson would go in the Soviet Union or how broadly and at what time Soviet leaders would tour the United States.

Johnson got word through diplomatic channels early this week that the Soviet leaders hoped he would visit the Soviet Union and were interested in his suggestion that they visit the United States.

It was understood that the Soviet Embassy relayed the Soviet attitude to the State Department here on Monday.

JAN. 4 MESSAGE

Johnson's original proposal for the Soviets to visit and tour the United States and appear on television was made in his State of the Union message on Jan. 4. He received a positive response last Sunday when the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda carried an article saying Johnson's statement had received a "positive response" in the Soviet Union. The meaning of the Pravda article was not completely clear at the time, although it was interpreted to show interest in a Soviet visit to this country and possibly an exchange of visits.

The information provided the State Department is understood to have made clear that the Soviet leadership would like the President to visit the Soviet Union and was interested in visiting the United States.

Which Soviet leaders would come here is not yet known. The power once held by Nikita Khrushchev has been divided between Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Communist party

EXPECTS WELCOME

Johnson said in a speech Wednesday night that he had "reason to believe" he would be welcomed to the Soviet Union and he hoped that an exchange of visits would come about this year.

At his news conference Thursday the President was asked what prospects there were for an exchange of visits and what he had in mind when he made his Wednesday night announcement. He said that his statement was based on discussion between United States and Soviet representatives but did not give details.

Thursday, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia told its readers about Johnson's hopes for the exchange of visits this year. Publication of Johnson's remarks on the front page of the newspaper indicated official government sanction for the hope.

Moscow sources indicated that neither of the visits would be made before summer.

Panel OK's Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee has unanimously approved a constitutional amendment to provide methods for handling presidential disability and filling vice-presidential vacancies. Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the chairman, said all members present favored sending the measure to the Senate floor for action but a couple reserved the right to support amendments in debate. Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., reported that the basic provisions of his original proposal were preserved, but that some clarifying language changes were adopted which he feels improved it.

Under the measure, a vice president would take over either upon a declaration by the chief executive that he was unable to carry on, or by Cabinet action if the president did not or could not so declare. Congress would settle any dispute over whether a president took up the post again.

If the office of vice president became vacant, as has happened 16 times, the president would name a successor for confirmation by a majority of both houses of Congress.

Army Draft Call Doubled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher-than-expected discharges during December forced the Army to more than double its March draft rate.

It boosted the quota to 7,900 from the original estimate of 3,900.

The Army said it would need 15,900 men with no prior service during March. Of that total, 8,000 will come from volunteers and the remainder through Selective Service.

Deficit Cure Plans Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says President Johnson has received a number of tentative proposals to alleviate the nation's balance of payments deficit.

Among the proposals is one for a $100 tax on Americans going abroad. But press secretary George E. Reedy declined to speculate on what proposals might eventually get into the President's message.

Although the United States has a favorable trade balance with foreign nations, this is more than offset by foreign aid and spending abroad by the government, U.S. corporations and individuals, including tourists.

Accident Stirs Cypriot Tension

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A Turkish Cypriot family of three died today when their home collapsed after it was hit by a bus driven by a Greek Cypriot. The accident in the hamlet of Koloni in western Cyprus sent tensions soaring between Greek and Turkish elements.

Kiwanians To Meet With Scouts Next Week

Big Spring Kiwanis Club will meet for its regular noon session next Thursday at the Boy Scout Troop hut at Bell and Tenth Street, it was announced. The luncheon will be catered at the hut.

Purpose of the visit will be to observe National Scout Week and to see the improvements made at the hut. The Scout Troop which makes use of the building is a Kiwanis-sponsored organization. The club has been carrying on a systematic improvement program at the building.

Jack Hollis, Midland, who is lieutenant governor for Division 22 of the Kiwanis International, was special guest Thursday and spoke briefly on Kiwanis activities. This is the 50th anniversary of the forming of Kiwanis clubs and he reviewed some of the highlights of the past. He told the club that at its beginning and for several years, Kiwanis was the personal property of one man. At a convention in the early years of the club, a deal was made with this man to buy Kiwanis. The clubs of that day raised $1,750 and acquired title to the club.

The growth since that time, he pointed out, has proved the idea of the organization is sound and serves a real need. Sherman Smith, general chairman of the Kiwanis Pancake Supper committee, stressed the nearness of the date, — Feb. 19 — and of the importance of selling as many tickets as possible.

Advance ticket sales are already under way. Adult tickets are 75 cents and children's tickets 50 cents. The supper will be in the Howard County Junior College Student Union dining room from 5 to 8 p.m. Feb. 19. Two new members were inducted into the club — J. M. Townes and Norman Spencer Jr.
