Tiny Tot Is Year's First Traffic Victim

Rosalinda Sandoval, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sandoval, 1602 W. 1st, died Tuesday night of injuries she received when struck by a pickup in the 1700 block of West Third Street.

The accident occurred at 6 p.m., and the child died four hours, 45 minutes later. Her death was the first in Big Spring in over seven months.

Driver of the pickup was Paul Lee Thomas, 600 NW 8th. The child ran into the street and into the path of the oncoming pickup, according to police.

She was taken to Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital by Big Spring Ambulance Service for emergency treatment, but died about 10:45 p.m.

The fatality stopped the number of days without a death in traffic at 233. The last death came on June 19, 1964, when Mrs. Lucille Churchill, 53, of 1100 Stanford, died instantly in a two-car collision at Thirteenth and Johnson Streets. At that time, the city had gone 176 days without a traffic fatality.

According to police, the pickup which struck the Sandoval child was driving west on Third Street when the accident occurred.

Police patrolman J. D. Campbell said a group of children were reported crossing the street, and witnesses said the Sandoval child apparently lingered, then dashed into the

DAVID McDONALD Union Chief Holding Lead

PITTSBURGH (AP) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald appeared to hold a slight lead today in unofficial election returns as he fought his top lieutenant for control of the nation's third-largest union.

The unofficial returns from 1,589 of 3,092 locals gave McDonald, colorful drama school graduate and protégé of the union's founder, 124,493 votes to 105,298 for I. W. Abel, former millhand who has helped McDonald guide the union for the past 12 years.

The unofficial returns were gathered by The Associated Press from the 29 USW districts in this country and Canada.

Legislators Push Student Loan Plan

AUSTIN (AP)—Three legislators pledged themselves Tuesday night to helping Texas college students pay their bills. "I'd like to see every high school student who is honest, has passing grades and is not a home town thug have a chance to go to college," said Rep. George Hinson of Mineola.

Hinson told the House Constitutional Amendments Committee his proposal (HJR 11) would set up a $50 million state loan fund to pay partial costs for up to 35,000 students in the first three years of operation. Also sent to a subcommittee was a proposal (HJR 28) by street. Campbell said several other drivers reported they narrowly missed the youngsters and that Thomas and other drivers told of slowing down as the youngsters were crossing the street.

Campbell said the child apparently either ran in front of the right front fender of the pickup, or ran into the side of the fender.

Gas Allowable Hike For Small Tract Wells Stays

AUSTIN (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to hear a direct attack on a Railroad Commission order setting special gas allowances for 22 small-tract wells in the Jefferson County Port Acres (Lower Hackberry) Field.

Oilman Michel Halbouty was denied permission to file a petition asking the court to cancel the commission's Nov. 30 order.

Damage Suit Appeal Fails

Texas Supreme Court has held that the Acuff Gin Co., of Coahoma, has no grounds for its appeal from the findings of a 118th District Court jury in the damage suit brought against it by the Burton Lingo Lumber Co.

A ruling handed down by the high court on Wednesday held there was no reversible error in the trial. This, it was said, will mean that the $47,000 judgment awarded the lumber company by the jury is now valid.

The case was tried in the 118th District Court on Dec. 9, 1963. It grew out of a fire in Coahoma on the night of Jan. 4, 1962, in which the Burton Lingo Lumber Yard was consumed. The plaintiff in his suit alleged that sparks from a burr burner operated by the gin set the lumber yard on fire. He charged negligence and sought damages.

When the verdict for the lumber yard was returned the defendant appealed.

It is possible the defendant can now ask for a rehearing of his appeal but no announcement has been made of new plans in the case.

Terrorists Held In Assassination

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Eighteen members of the Fedaelan Islam terrorist organization were reported under arrest today on charges of taking part in the murder of Premier Hassan Ali Mansour.

at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. The child was born Aug. 24, 1960 in Brady, Texas.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sandoval; one brother, Raymond Sandoval Jr.; one sister, Yolanda Sandoval, all of the home; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Juan Sandoval, of Brady; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dutchover, Big Spring.

were Pan American Petroleum Corp., Sunset International Petroleum Corp., and Peter Henderson Oil Co.

The commission raised allowances for the small tract gas producers to allow them "to recoup a reasonable part of the cost of drilling and operating the wells in question."

Halbouty asserted that this "completely disregards" 1962 rulings by the high court that recovery of well costs is not a valid basis for production allocation in the Port Acres field.

The petition said lower courts were by-passed in challenging the order because the Supreme Court's position has been clear in previous rulings and because during the time required for an appeal to go through all stages much gas would be drained from the field.

Vote Rights Bill Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says President Johnson has told him he "realizes the pace is far too slow" in insuring Negroes voting rights and that the administration is drafting legislation aimed at guaranteeing such rights.

King gave his report on the President's views to newsmen after meeting with Johnson at the White House Tuesday night.

The Negro civil rights leader interrupted his voter registration drives in Alabama for a flight to Washington to urge the President to push legislation giving federal officials massive authority to eliminate discriminatory voter registration tactics.

Under present laws, King said, "there are more Negroes in jail in Selma than there are Negroes registered to vote. It is the result of a calculated and well-defined pattern which uses many devices and tactics to maintain white political power in many areas of the South."

Winter Vegetable Production Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Production of winter vegetables this season is estimated at 38.8 million hundredweight, an increase of 5 per cent above last year and 12 per cent above the 1959-63 average. Reporting this today, the Agriculture Department said supplies in late January were curtailed in Florida by a mid-month freeze.

SPELLING BEE BOOKS HERE

Copies of the official "Words of Champions" spelling book and the rules for the third annual Howard County Spelling Bee are now available at The Herald office. Cong Assault Against Foe War's Worst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports of a bombing attack on an American billet at Qui Nhon in South Viet Nam, with possible heavy loss of life, reached the U.S. government through official channels from Saigon today.

Meanwhile, Viet Cong terrorists blew up a four-story U.S. enlisted man's hotel Wednesday night in the city of Qui Nhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon, and the loss of American lives was believed high.

Initial reports here said seven Americans were wounded, but the entire building was a pile of rubble and many dead were believed buried under the debris.

The building houses about 40 U.S. enlisted men.

And South Vietnamese troops have suffered what probably will turn out to be their worst defeat of the war in a mountain battle launched by the Viet Cong Monday, the day South Vietnamese warplanes raided North Viet Nam.

U.S. officials disclosed that two government companies were annihilated, a battalion was virtually wiped out and another company severely mauled in coordinated Viet Cong attacks.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Communist Viet Cong went on the offensive throughout South Viet Nam today. Heavy fighting raged near the key Da Nang air base and east of Saigon.

Four U.S. Army advisers are missing from a district town 80 miles north of Saigon overrun by Communist guerrillas this morning. A U.S. spokesman said the Viet Cong are still holding the town, Duc Phong.

AMERICAN KILLED

Two armed helicopters were dispatched to the town. One was downed, killing an American gunner. The three other men aboard were wounded, but were evacuated in a daring rescue.

A ranger unit was airlifted into the region for an attempt to retake the village, near the Cambodian border. A U.S. officer and three enlisted men were in the village when it was hit about dawn.

The U.S. Air Force also announced the death of Capt. Don R. Lewis, of Fort Walton Beach, Fla. He was wounded Monday and died at Nha Trang field hospital. He was married and had two sons.

DEAD AT 267

The two deaths brought the total of U.S. dead in action in Viet Nam to 267. About 20 Americans are missing, including the four today.

U.S. Marines were working feverishly at Da Nang to set up sand-bag defenses for their newly employed Hawk anti-aircraft missiles.

Fighting between Vietnamese government forces and the Communist Viet Cong raged a scant nine miles from the base that also houses a strike force of 50 U.S. Air Force jet fighters and bombers.

Da Nang is 90 miles south of the North Vietnamese border and 360 miles north of Saigon. In another battle 50 miles east of Saigon, the Viet Cong surprised charging government paratroopers. They first hit the troopers as they landed from helicopters with fire from foxholes.

Then as the paratroopers charged, the Viet Cong threw bottles of gasoline into the brush, setting it afire. The Viet Cong fired through the smoke screen at the blinded government forces.

"We had no choice but to assault through the smoke screen," a Vietnamese major said.

Once engaged, the government forces beat back nine Viet Cong charges, inflicting 95 casualties.

The battle is in Phuoc Tuy Province, only 10 miles from embattled Bing Gia where a ranger and marine battalion were wiped out in the last days of 1964.

Vast Red China Mob Rallies Against U. S.

MOSCOW (AP) — A Communist student attack on the U.S. Embassy was followed by a mass demonstration in Peking and smaller rallies in other foreign cities, all in opposition to American air strikes against North Viet Nam.

Nearly 1,000 screaming students attacked the U.S. Embassy in Moscow Tuesday, smashing windows and splattering walls with ink.

The New China News Agency reported "hundreds of thousands" of demonstrators massed in Peking Tuesday. Another mass meeting, attended by Communist party chairman Mao Tze-tung and Premier Chou En-lai, was held today, the agency said.

In Rome, several scores of leftist youths marched in front of the U.S. Embassy for about an hour in a blizzard.

Signs saying "Bombs on Viet Nam — When Is Our Turn?" and "Genocide — Yankee Sport" were painted in red on the walls of the University of Munich in Germany.

Two containers filled with tar were thrown at the embassy building in Montevideo, Uruguay. An anti-American sign bearing the initials of the Young Communist League appeared in downtown Montevideo.

The U.S. ambassador in Moscow, Foy D. Kohler, protested to the Foreign Ministry and demanded that the Russians pay for damages to the embassy building. The Soviets promised to do so.

Kohler also demanded long-term measures to guarantee Soviet protection of embassy property and personnel. The Soviet ambassador to Washington, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, was called to the State Department and Kohler's protest was repeated to him.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey told a news conference in Washington: "It is deplorable that demonstrators are permitted by police to damage and deface our embassy."

"Here in the United States we protect the Soviet Embassy and other embassies from this kind of outrage, according to international law and custom."

McCloskey said Tuesday's demonstration was the eighth in front of the Moscow embassy since June 1958. One of the more serious ones, last Nov. 28, protested the U.S.-Belgian rescue operation in the Congo.

Soviet Head In Hasty Trip To Red China

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin promised to give Communist North Viet Nam military assistance, then flew today to Peking and immediately went into conference with Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Kosygin was greeted at the Peking airport on his arrival from a four-day visit in Hanoi by Chou and Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi, the Soviet news agency Tass reported from Peking.

"Chou En-lai accompanied the Soviet delegates from the airport to their residence," Tass said. Kosygin had also met with the Communist Chinese leaders during an overnight stop en route to the North Vietnamese capital.

STRENGTHEN DEFENSES

In a statement at Hanoi airport, Kosygin said of his talks with the North Vietnamese: "We reached agreement on measures which will be taken for strengthening the defense potential of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam and on holding regular consultations on these questions."

He continued, "We had frank discussions on a number of international issues and analyzed attentively the situation in the Indochinese Peninsula, particularly in connection with the recent armed provocations staged by American imperialists and their Saigon puppets."

There was no clue to the nature or amount of Soviet military aid to the Hanoi regime.

Non-Communist observers in Moscow noted the choice of the words "defense potential" rather than a broader "military potential."

This was seen as a possible effort to reassure the United States that the Soviet Union was primarily concerned with helping Hanoi protect itself rather than providing means for extending fighting in South Viet Nam.

Evacuees Scattered

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first 22 of 1,819 dependents scattered after leaving Saigon hurriedly on orders from Washington.

On arrival at San Francisco, the nine wives and 13 children of U.S. servicemen appeared fatigued by the flight with stops at Manila, Tokyo and Honolulu.

The mothers and older children were in general agreement that the evacuation was militarily necessary. The 16-hour notice to leave was a surprise, although they said they had expected they would be told to leave soon.

First Of Wounded Americans Return

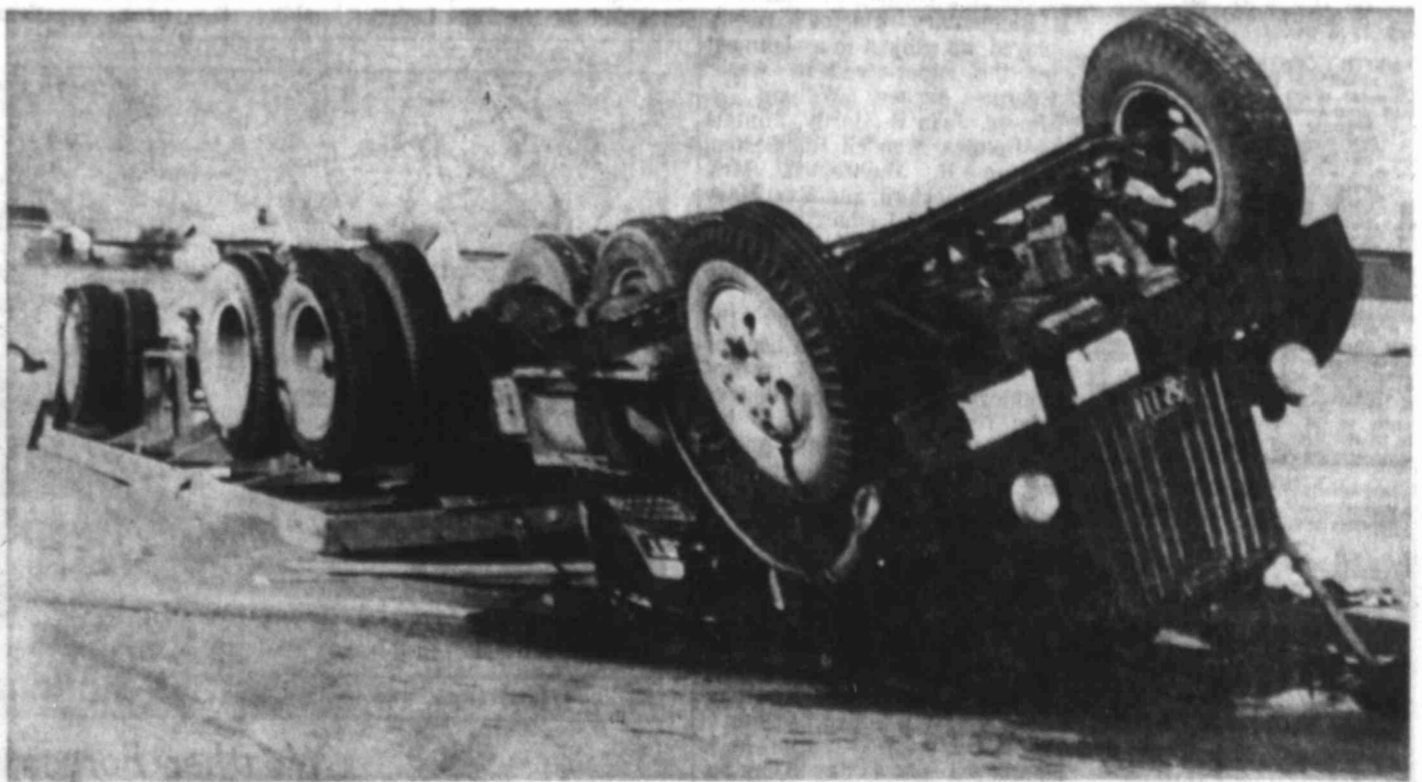

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The first 27 of the more than 100 American soldiers wounded in last weekend's Viet Cong sneak attack in South Viet Nam, arrived here Tuesday night in an airlift shrouded by secrecy.

Thirty-nine persons, including the 27 wounded and 12 non-casualties, were aboard an Air Force C-135 "Flying Ambulance" which first landed at San Francisco International Airport, then was ordered to fly on to Travis after some of the less serious casualties had left the plane.

White-jacketed hospital corpsmen tending the wounded said some of them "have had very little medical care before arriving here."

The Air Force said it had "no information" on any further airlifts of GIs wounded in Viet Nam.

Topsy-Turvy Smashup

A Baytown truck driver, Bobby Gene Edwards, escaped injury when his heavily-loaded tractor-trailer unit hit a highway sign and post, a median strip of concrete and then overturned at the entrance of SH 176 and the north access road of IS 29 Tuesday afternoon. The accident occurred about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Trustees Give Approval To Employment List

The Big Spring school board accepted two resignations of faculty members, approved employment of 16 new teachers beginning at mid-term, and re-elected administrative personnel at Tuesday night's meeting.

Resignations, since the last meeting, were submitted by Mrs. Vivien J. Clark, Marcy grade one, and Mrs. Gladys Metal, special education, orthopedic.

New faculty members employed were: Larry Eugene Bristol, special education, speech therapist; Eibert Young Buckner, vocational appliance repair, high school; John B. Bullock, industrial vocational; Buel Lane Garner, industrial vocational; Rannels; Paul Eugene Gumm, central office, administrative intern; Mrs. Sandra Hicks, Washington grade one; Teddy Judd Hicks, Science, Rannels; Anne Margaret Homan, itinerant elementary Spanish; Mrs. Dear Belle Lowe, special education, orthopedics; Jeryl Gwen Lowe, special education, speech therapist; Mary Ann Ploeger, commercial, high school; Marvin Oscar Trent, high school English; Mrs. Wanda Juanita Vinson, Marcy grade one; Mrs. Athelda Giddens Watts, Boys' team; Glenda Lou Whitehead, Rannels girls PE; Jo Ann Morris, high school chemistry.

Administrative personnel for secondary schools, whose contracts were extended, were: Donald Robbins, athletic director; C. L. Ainsworth, director of instructional services; Noel Reed, director of personnel services; Don Crockett, assistant business manager; J. O. Hagood, tax assessor-collector; John F. Smith, high school principal; Harold F. Bentley, assistant high school principal; Raymond D. Pope, vice principal, senior high; S. A. Walker, Goliad Junior High principal; Roscoe T. Newell, Rannels Junior High; Earnest S. Morgan, Lakeview Elementary and Junior High principal.

All personnel re-elected will receive the normal salary increment according to tenure. Elementary principals re-employed, all subject to assignment by the superintendent, were: George Archer, William R. Daves, John B. Hardy, Jimmie C. Holmes, Wendell Huddleston, Harlan H. Huijbregtse, Mrs. Ruth Rutherford, and Mrs. Mary Newell (special education).

The board did not re-employ Lev D. Spradling, now principal of Airport School. A policy adopted by the school board in 1962, to become effective Sept. 1, 1965, retires employees of the school district who reach the age of 65 before Sept. 1. Supt. Sam Anderson submitted the names of 20 faculty members, and eight non-professional employees, including two elementary principals, who will be affected the first year. Some have requested waivers and the board will discuss and consider each request at the first meeting in March.

"If a waiver is considered and the employee retained because of necessity, or good reason, he is employed on a day-to-day basis," Noel Reed, director of personnel services, told the board. Members of the board discussed the possible effects of precedents set when the first group is considered next month.

Members Initiated

Seven new members were initiated into the local Elks Lodge last night in ceremonies conducted by the Past Exalted Rulers, Sealed, from left, are new members Bob Rice-man, Joe T. Holten, James Sigler, Neel Bannerman, Earl Spiller, Stanton Johnson and L. B. Conway. Standing are Past Rulers who presided. They are, from left, Glen Gale, Leland Graves, Oliver Cofer, C. C. Ryan, Joe Clark, W. D. Berry and Hanson Lawson, current Exalted Ruler. It was announced that a Valentine's dance would be held at the lodge Saturday night.

Junior College Study May Link Snyder, Howard County

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce Junior College Survey Committee, seeking a junior college facility for Snyder, has under consideration a proposal that the Snyder district petition for annexation to Howard County Junior College District.

This is but one of several possibilities the committee listed in a report to the Snyder Chamber Monday. While it is, the report indicated, the most promising of the several courses, the proposal is only in the investigative stage, although there have been contacts between the two districts over a period of months.

Two efforts to gain a junior college at Snyder met with rejection at the hands of the State Board of Education. One was for a Scurry County District, the other for a Scurry-Fisher County District.

A survey of Snyder educational facilities convinced the committee that there was available ample physical plant for housing a junior college program. A proposal to have the Scurry commissioners court establish a county junior college program was held by Texas Education Agency counsel to be illegal, and the committee said that a $500,000 to $750,000 outlay for the first five years ruled out the practicability of a private junior college district. The prospect of a five-county district offered no realistic hope of realization, said the panel. Hence, the consideration of a petition for annexation to an existing junior college district (HCJC).

The legal questions are many, and we have enlisted the aid of qualified legal people to give us the correct answers," said the committee. It laid down five criteria for petitioning for annexation: 1) Operation of a separate campus at Snyder with equal quality of instruction and course offerings; 2) equal representation of the annexed area; 3) right of qualified voting taxpayers to ballot on whether to annex; 4) continued full accreditation of the enlarged district by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Officials of HCJC said there had been some inquiry and contacts by the Snyder committee, but that the matter was purely in the study stage without any obligation or commitment on the part of either party. It was assumed that should any such proposal ever be made formally that it would require a referendum both on the part of the voters in the countywide HCJC district and those in the territory to be annexed. One legal problem has been solved, that of contiguous territory. The Snyder Independent School District and Howard County now

School Election Plans Made, Grand Jury Still Working

A school board election was ordered for April 3 for Big Spring Independent School board of trustees, with three to be elected; polling places were set up and election judges appointed; a report from Don Robbins on the overall athletic and physical education in the schools was heard, and a discussion heard of further vocational possibilities for the school, at the board meeting Tuesday night.

Polling places will be at the Big Spring High School, with Lawrence Robinson as judge, assisted by D. D. Johnson and Mrs. Alton Underwood; Gay Hill School, with O. R. Crow as judge, assisted by Mrs. O. R. Crow and Hollis Puckett; and Kate Morrison Elementary School, with George Melear as judge, assisted by Mrs. D. W. Connally and Clara Hernandez. Qualified voters may cast their ballots at the box most convenient for them, since no precincts were established. Board members, whose terms expire, are Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, board secretary; Joe Moss, board vice president, and Dr. Carl Marcum who is completing a short unexpired term.

Robbins made a report on the effectiveness of the school district's athletic program. He said the program was set up to reach the greatest number of students both in the high school and the junior high schools. The long-range program, he said, would see more students taking part in some form of athletics, either in competitive sports with other schools, or in "between-team" sports within the scope of available students at each school. He said that, while winning teams are important to the school and the players, it was more important to give all students some form of training where they are physically able to take part.

The board asked Robbins to take a good look at his program, his assistants and coaches to be sure they were qualified to instruct, and to enlarge the program to bring out tennis, track, and other forms of athletics to reach the most students.

A discussion of the possibility of establishing a vocational technical high school department, under the Vocational Education Act of 1963, led to a request by the board for Supt. Sam Anderson and the architect to make a recommendation for inclusion in the high school building program.

Anderson told the board that a Jan. 4 meeting of the Texas State Board resulted in action making the area vocational schools possible, and that it would fit in with the building program to allow 50 per cent reimbursement for building costs, site development, equipment, and furniture, plus paid teachers. He cited the advantages of such a school, requiring a minimum high school enrollment of 500 students and five vocational courses, in the present building program.

Anderson was instructed to report details and possibilities of the program at the first board meeting in March. Two more board meetings have been set for the month, with the Feb. 23 meeting to go over architect's plans on the Master Plan bond program, and the Feb. 25 meeting will be with the Texas Committee of Ten, on a "Survey of Local School Board Attitudes Toward Proposed Education Legislation." Proposed new school legislation will be reviewed.

Howard County grand jury spent an hour and a half of its time Wednesday investigating the shooting Nov. 28 of O. C. Gamble. A charge of murder with malice has been filed against Bertha Rene Altman in the homicide.

The slaying case was one of 25 felony complaints the grand jury is to consider at this session. It began work at 10 a.m. Tuesday and worked until late afternoon. The jurors were back in their room at 9 a.m. today and immediately plunged into consideration of the Altman matter.

Attaches said there is a good probability the grand jury can complete its work today. However, if it is taking the cases in the order listed on the agenda prepared by the district attorney, there were still 14 cases to be heard at 10:30 a.m.

The Altman case was the first of a list of 15 felony matters which were investigated by the city.

Commission Tables Zone Change Bid

The city commission took no action on a request for a rezoning of property at FM 706 and US 87, approved bids for purchase of three new police cars, and began steps toward changes in city ordinances involving butane dispensing within the city limits in a session at city hall Tuesday night.

Commissioners also approved three recommendations from the traffic commission, including a four-way stop sign at Fifteenth and Settles Streets, on a 90-day trial basis.

Public hearings were held on two on-premises beer consumption permits, but no action was taken on the requests. The applications had not completed processing, according to City Manager Larry Crow. The commissioners directed City Attorney John Burgess to prepare a resolution making it necessary for the applications to be completed prior to the scheduling of a public hearing, on future requests.

On the rezoning request, the city had received a letter from Attorney Wayne Basden, representing the property owner, J. M. L. Brown, and requesting the commission consider again the rezoning request for a change from residential to business use. The property is located in front of the Veterans Administration Hospital, between US 87 and FM 706, and is currently used for a drive-in business. A previous recommendation from the planning and zoning commission for the change had been tabled by the commission.

The two on - premises consumption requests were from J. C. Woods, for the Flame Lounge, 403 W. 3rd, and Jim King, for the Night Life Club, 1603 E. 3rd.

Opposition was expressed by two women concerning the establishment at 403 W. 3rd. Mrs. C. R. Balch, 307 Bell, and Mrs. Claude Majors, 306 Lancaster, both told commissioners they had homes in the area and did not want a lounge establishment in that neighborhood. Mrs. Balch pointed out it would be across the street from the new Health and Rehabilitation Center.

Approved as recommendations from the traffic commission were a change in the loading zones at the 200 block of East Second and in the parking, from angle to parallel, on the south side of East Second, from Johnson Street east to the alley. The loading zone change will replace present zones with a single zone and add two additional parking spaces.

Commissioners okayed bids for one Ford and two Plymouth police cars, at net prices, with trade-in allowances, of $1,292.60 for the Ford, $1,386.33 and $1,336.33 for the two Plymouths. After a lengthy discussion with Phillip Burcham, owner of the Cactus Drive-In, 2604 Wasson, concerning a trailer house at the property, commissioners tabled any action on removal of the trailer house, pending action on an application for a zone change for property adjacent, which has been filed with the planning and zoning commission.

RETAIL ZONE

The trailer house is in a retail zone, which does not provide for trailer homes. Burcham told commissioners he thought property behind the lot was zoned as to allow trailer homes and that he had put the trailer on the business lot only until he could have land leveled on the adjacent property. The commission's decision to postpone action on requiring removal came after disclosure of the pending application for a rezoning of the larger area, which is to be considered by the planning and zoning commission March 2.

After a discussion with Zack Gray, concerning his request to allow butane gas dispensing at the truck terminal under construction at IS 20 and US 87, the commission directed City Attorney John Burgess to prepare an ordinance allowing consideration of each such request individually. Burgess had pointed out to the commission present city ordinances apparently conflict in both prohibiting any such dispensing within the city and then setting conditions for its use.

PLAT OKAYED

In another item, the commission approved a final plat for the Harland Addition, for tract 12 of Kennebeck Heights subdivision. Public Works Director Ernest Lillard told commissioners the change met city specifications and would involve changing a 300-foot-long tract of land into three lots.

The commission also gave third and final reading approval for an on-premises consumption permit for the Western Restaurant, 1101 Gregg.

Hangar For Flying School

SNYDER — Scurry County Commissioners Court voted Monday afternoon to construct a 4,000-square foot hangar in order that a bid could be submitted for a flying school to train fledgling Air Force pilots.

At a morning meeting, the court had rejected by a 3-2 vote a proposal from the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee that the county build a 40,000-square foot hangar at a cost of $40,000. The smaller structure would cost $12,000.

The aviation committee said that this structure would be necessary in order for Snyder interests to submit a bid March 15 for operation of a contract school. The Winston Field facilities at Snyder would be leased to a private operator.

The school, under information released by Webb AFB at Big Spring, would be geared to handle a score of planes and give beginning AF pilots 20 to 30 hours flying time before they begin jet training.

Stolen Pickup Found In Utah

A Chevrolet pickup stolen here two weeks ago, has been recovered in Fillmore, Utah, Sheriff Aubrey Standard said today.

A 45-year-old Indiana man, identified as Calvin Walter Griesemer, is being held for federal authorities on Dyer Act charges.

Standard said that in view of the federal case against the man, he probably would not be returned here. The truck, stolen from the B. J. Petty farm, six miles out on the Garden City road, is being held in Fillmore and Standard said he did not know what the owners' plans are relative to its recovery. At the time the pickup was taken, a Pontiac sedan was found abandoned nearby. Standard said the prisoner had admitted taking this vehicle earlier.

Mrs. Loyd Dies Today

Mrs. Leas Loyd, 77, of Route 1, died about 1 a.m. Wednesday in a local rest home. She had been in failing health for six months.

Services are set for 4 p.m. Thursday in River-Welch Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Jack Power, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will follow in City Cemetery under direction of River-Welch.

Mrs. Loyd was born March 19, 1887, and came to Howard County in 1913. She was married to Carroll Loyd May 14, 1904, in Abilene. Mrs. Loyd preceded her husband in death in 1947. She was a member of the Trinity Baptist Church.

Survivors include a son, John Howard Loyd, Big Spring; two brothers, A. R. Carter, Big Spring, H. J. Carter, Wilson, Okla.; three sisters, Mrs. G. W. Martin, Fort Worth, Mrs. Sam Cook, Taos, N.M., Mrs. Onis Jones, Electra; and three grandsons.

Pallbearers are Bob Brady, Howard Carter, Billy Ray Carter, Roger Carter, Ronnie Carter and Don Loyd.

Ski Club To Meet Tonight

Members of the Big Spring Ski Club will gather in the directors' room of the First National Bank at 8 o'clock this evening for a regular meeting.

A film from the Buick division of General Motors will be screened for the benefit of those attending. The film is entitled "Ski With Buick," and is advertised as being the finest instructional film of its kind ever produced.

David Shaw will again be on hand to give personal instruction in the sport. His discussion at this meeting will elaborate on a talk he made to the group last month on the stern turn and will cover the transition into the parallel turn, the ultimate in skiing form. Members will be encouraged to participate in a question-and-answer session with Shaw.

Response was so encouraging in the bus trip the club's members made to Taos, N.M., recently, another is being planned for the weekend of Feb. 20-21. Those interested should contact the club president, Eric Vettergren at AM 3-3231.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to all of our friends for the many deeds of kindness, prayers, flowers, cards, and all other expressions of sympathy which helped so much during the illness and loss of our husband and father.

Coin Club Meets Here Thursday

The meeting of the Big Spring Coin Club has been set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Settles Hotel. E. H. Brooks, president of the Texas Numismatics Association, will speak. Mrs. Homer Casey, secretary of the association, will be a guest at the meeting, which was previously scheduled for the Elks Lodge.

Bill Would Revise Water Use Priority

AUSTIN—A bill filed Tuesday with the legislature would raise the priority of recreation for use of waters on the Colorado River.

HB 469 would raise recreation from seventh place (bottom of the list) to fifth place ahead of hydroelectric and navigation.

Under the present law, irrigation (No. 3 in priority) is not defined or explained. The revised version defines water for irrigation as that "used by a permit holder on land or leased by a permit holder but not water for resale by a permit holder to another person."

Spokesmen for agencies above the LCRA said their first impressions were to see no particular reason for objection. This was the view of E. V. Spence, general manager of the CRMWD, who has said in the past that he thinks the priority on mining should be upgraded or else redefined to give greater standing to water used in oil-field waterflooding. The economic benefits derived from water for this use are far greater than when mining (under which it is classed) was included in 1931 when the priority system was established, he contended.

Weather Forecast

On Wednesday rain, mixed with snow over northern New England is forecast from the Atlantic coast states north of Carolinas through Tennessee valley and mid-Mississippi valley. Snow is expected over middle Great Lakes, southern and extreme northern Rockies. It will be colder from the Great Lakes to southern Plains and warmer in Pacific northwest and New England. (AP WIRE-PHOTO MAP)

A somewhat unorthodox treatment of his diamond holding led to a top score for one declarer, when this hand was dealt in a recent tournament.

The three no trump contract was reached on virtually the same sequence of bids by every North-South pair. With the exception of one declarer, however, every South wound up with a deficit on the deal.

West opened the eight of spades and declarer put up the ten from dummy, which held the trick. With only seven top winners available—three clubs, two hearts, and two spades—it was obvious that South would have to rely on the diamond suit for the development of the fulfilling tricks.

Most declarers entered the closed hand with the ace of diamonds and then led the ten of diamonds for a finesse. East was in with the queen and returned a spade. South played the queen which lost to West's king. Another spade cleared the suit and, when declarer led a diamond, West put up the ace and cashed the setting trick with good spades.

The successful declarer adopted a different approach in playing the diamond suit. When North's ten of spades held the first trick, he led a small diamond immediately from the dummy. East had no reason to suspect that anything unusual was taking place, and he followed with the deuce of diamonds. South put up the ten from his hand, and West—who was reluctant to release his side entry before the spades were established—permitted declarer to hold the trick.

A small diamond was returned and West ducked once more. The king was played from dummy, since East was now known to have the queen, and a third round of the suit brought down the ace and queen together. Declarer succeeded in taking three diamond tricks which gave him his contract with an extra trick.

South's unorthodox play in diamonds was soundly conceived. He did not mind losing a diamond trick to West even if he had the queen, inasmuch as the latter was not in position to attack the spade suit directly. If East gets in, however, before the ace of diamonds is established, a spade return will enable West to drive out declarer's last stopper.

Panel Votes Changes In State Criminal Code

AUSTIN (AP) — A Senate committee approved Tuesday an extensive revision of Texas' code of criminal procedure but only after some hot protests.

Most of the controversy centered around a clause letting a defendant decide whether he wants the jury or judge to fix his sentence.

Frank Maloney of Austin said he thought "most defense attorneys will choose to let the jury decide." Judges, he said, "have the problem of facing public opinion, and in controversial cases, this is a great difficulty to overcome."

Also under the proposed law, Maloney said, the defendant could decide against submitting any record of his character or criminal record because it might damage his cause. However, the state would be allowed to introduce to the jury evidence of the defendant's character, including arrests and pick-ups, instead of just convictions.

Sen. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock said this section of the code "strikes an ominous chord in my mind."

Earl Smith, for the State Bar, said the proposal represented four years of work by criminal and state attorneys and judges.

CLAUSE PROTESTED
Sam Robertson of the Harris County district attorney's office objected to a clause permitting the judge to declare a "mistrial" when the defendant's "present insanity" was declared to a jury, in all but the issue of insanity.

The sponsor, Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, said his bill has been changed from the 1963 version which passed the legislature but was vetoed by Gov. Connally because of clerical errors in the final copy. The new proposal, Hardeman said, incorporates recent opinions of the Supreme Court.

Oil Pooling Measure Due Final Passage

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislators turned again today to such serious topics as oil and gas lease pooling and emergency spending after an often light-hearted round of hearings on women's rights proposals.

A constitutional amendment barring discrimination on the basis of sex was returned to the Senate with a favorable committee report.

A similar House measure went to subcommittee, as did a Senate bill to give wives control of their separate property and to put a couple's community property under control of both husband and wife.

Much attention today was focused on afternoon and evening committee hearings on Gov. John Connally's key higher education recommendation for creating a strong college coordinating board.

POOLING BILL
The pooling bill, one of the legislature's major issues, advanced easily by a 27-4 Senate vote Tuesday, setting it up for final passage today.

The emergency appropriations measure approved Tuesday by the House Appropriations Committee calls for allowing Lamar State College $225,590 to replace a building burned Jan. 5. Final House passage of the Senate measure would send it to the governor.

Under the Pooling bill, a small tract operator could force his neighbor to pool their leases and form a land bloc large enough to meet minimum production unit standards set by the Texas Railroad Commission.

Recent court rulings have resulted in commission production formulas making it no longer profitable to drill wells on small tracts.

SMALL TRACTS
The lowered commission formulas, independent oilmen contend, have left small tract owners no means to put their land into oil or gas production if voluntary pooling fails.

The bill is considered the state's most important oil and gas legislation in 16 years. It is designed to put Texas in line with other producing states.

Committee work, meanwhile, continued to produce a steady flow of important measures to the Senate.

The Senate Jurisprudence Committee reported favorably today a massive criminal code revision, sponsored by Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo.

The bill passed both houses last session but was vetoed because of clerical errors.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS
At the House committee hearing Tuesday night, opponents of the proposed "equal rights for women" amendment called it "dangerous and undesirable."

Advocates of the amendment, including a sizable delegation from the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women, said the amendment was their only resort to get into law provisions making Texas women fully responsible legally for their affairs. They conceded under questioning that most discrimination "involved married women."

Crowds at both the Senate and House hearings were much smaller than in past year and calm by comparison, although the House hearing stretched on until midnight with a full three hours of testimony about women.

The suit alleged that Endres, executive chef at St. Joseph's Hospital, had spent $2,500 on fish tanks and planned to buy another 50-gallon one.

The Endres, married more than five years ago, have a 4-year-old son.

Mrs. Endres also sought an injunction to restrain Endres from buying any more fish.

CHICAGO (AP) — A suburban Evanston woman has sued for divorce, contending that her husband used her pots and pans to coddle his tropical fish.

Stephanie Endres, 38, said in the Circuit Court suit filed Tuesday that her husband, Donald, 42, spent much of the night carling for the several thousand fish and beat her when any of them died.

Scouts Get Coveted Prize

Three Big Spring Boy Scouts were presented with the coveted "God and Country" awards at the Kentwood Methodist Church early this week.

Presentation of the award was made by Rev. Marvin James, associate pastor of First Methodist Church.

Receiving the awards were Mike Alexander, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alexander, and a member of Troop 179; Mike Wheeler, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wheeler, and a member of Troop 9; and Roger Kionka, 13, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Kionka, and also a member of Troop 9.

Tory Thrust Almost Unseats Labor Regime

LONDON (AP) — The Labor government has narrowly survived a Conservative challenge to its decision to step up purchase of U.S. planes for the Royal Air Force.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government beat back a Conservative attempt to unseat it Tuesday night, but by only five votes, 306-301, as the Liberals added their nine votes to the Conservative cause.

In answer to opposition charges, Aviation Minister Roy Jenkins said, "Whether we like it or not, the all-British plane is out." He then included all advanced weapons systems as beyond British independent production.

"We are at the end of the road so far as the exclusive British manufacture of complicated weapons systems for an exclusive British market is concerned," Jenkins said.

Jenkins announced a program of collaboration with the United States and Britain's European allies.

He said the program has been developed with British government funds. Industry sources said some American money and know-how may be added.

Jenkins disclosed that together with the United States, Britain is studying joint development in antisubmarine warfare, tactical air defense missiles, army ordnance, and army communications.

As announced in Washington, the United States will supply Britain with 1,600-miles-an-hour Phantom F4 jet fighters and C130E transports.

Until the Phantoms arrive, in two or three years, the Royal Air Force will continue with British-made planes.

Britain and the United States also are to combine in development of an advanced lift-jet engine for vertical and short take-off aircraft.

In their censure motion, the Conservatives charged that Labor policies were leading to almost total dependence on the United States and shattering confidence in the British aviation industry.

The 5-vote margin was Labor's smallest since it took control last October. Last Tuesday, they beat back a Conservative censure motion by 17 votes when the Liberals abstained.

Kiwanis To Go Scouting

Big Spring Kiwanians will pay tribute to National Boy Scout Week by meeting at noon Thursday in the Scout Hut of Troop No. 3, Tenth and Lancaster.

Luncheon will be served at the hut, and the program will deal with scouting. Troop 3 is sponsored by the Kiwanians.

Bob Travis, president of the club, urged all members to note the change in meeting place for this Thursday noon only.

Clyde Hollinsworth and Walter Trim are arranging the program and details for the meeting.

One purpose is to give the Kiwanians an opportunity to inspect the extensive improvements the club has sponsored at the hut and which are now completed.

Roberts Named To Assn. Board

LAMESA (SC) — Perry Roberts, vice president and treasurer of the Lamesa Federal Savings and Loan Association, has been elected a director of the association. He has been with the firm 10 years. Re-elected directors include Will Morris, George Norman Jr. and Ray Renner. Holdover directors are Dr. A. H. Smith, Sam Richardson, M. E. Smart and Owen Taylor.

Roberts is a director of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the Rotary Club and a charter member of the Lamesa Junior Chamber of Commerce, having served as its first president.

Children's Dental Health

Mouth Guard Important When Playing Football

This is the fourth in a series of six articles on dental health published by The Herald, in cooperation with the Permian Basin Dental Society, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 7-13.

My son was told by his football coach that he will have to wear a special kind of mouth guard. Why does he need a mouth guard when he football helmet already has a bar across the lower part to protect the mouth and face? Also, the coach said this was a rule. Is this true?

A regulation requiring all high school and most college football players to wear mouth protectors has been in effect since 1962. This regulation was adopted by the National Alliance Football Rules Committee, composed of athletic directors from all the nation's high schools and some junior and senior colleges.

All Big Spring High School football players are required to wear mouth protectors.

It was found that the bar on the helmet did not prevent all injuries to the jaw and teeth. Many players, despite this protection, had teeth chipped, broken or otherwise injured and received other facial or jaw injuries.

Before the requirement for mouth protectors went into effect, about 50 per cent of all football injuries were to the face and mouth. Since the regulation was adopted, such injuries have been almost eliminated when the guards were worn faithfully.

Mouth guards are made in three ways, although the committee recommended in the working of the rule two preferable types. One is made by the dentist from a cast of the player's teeth. A second is made by directly impressing the mouth guard to the player's teeth for an impression. The third, a stock type, is similar to the rubber guard worn by boxers.

Many high schools work directly with the local dental society in providing mouth protectors under supervision of a dentist. Service clubs and other agencies have also cooperated with societies, and protectors have been provided on a public service basis.

While we are on the subject of protection from injury to the face and jaw, we might mention another valuable safeguard for the whole family: seat belts in automobiles. Since seat belts act to restrain the body in sudden impact, they are especially helpful in preventing the head and face from hitting the windshield or dashboard of the car.

It is estimated that more than 72 per cent of all auto injuries are to the head and face, and, of course, severe brain damage, loss of eyesight and other serious head injuries are involved.

Make sure that every member of the family, from the youngest to the oldest, is protected in the family car at all times. And do not forget that your son needs protection on the football field as well.

Mrs. Anderson Funeral Today

HERMLEIGH—Services were set for 2 p.m. today at the Hermleigh Methodist Church for Mrs. Lore Cynthia Anderson, 87, who died unexpectedly at her home here Monday morning. The Rev. Ernest McLaughy officiated, assisted by the Rev. R. O. Browder. Burial was in Hillside Memorial Gardens, Snyder, under the direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Mrs. Anderson was born Nov. 9, 1877 in Georgia, and came to Texas when she was 12 years of age. She was married to Ennis in 1898 to the late H. M. Anderson. She moved to Scurry County from Abilene in 1938.

Survivors include two daughters, Dorsey Anderson, Hermleigh, and Mrs. R. O. Browder, 1722 Morrison, Big Spring; three sons, Peyton Anderson and H. F. Anderson, both of Hermleigh, and J. H. Anderson, Snyder; five grandchildren.

Ski Lifts Left Idle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor concerned because some ski lifts which were aided by government programs are in financial difficulty because of a lack of snow?

"No," he told a news conference Tuesday. "But it illustrates that we need the help of God in our work."

Cub Roundtable Planned Thursday

The February Cub Scout Roundtable will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the old Student Union Building on the Howard County Junior College campus.

Den mothers and pack leaders will hold separate meetings to discuss project ideas for the month of March and how to conduct a kite derby.

The U.S. Geological Survey said today it had uncovered evidence of such growth following an excavation for a building across from the White House.

Sub-Panel Mulls Women's Rights

AUSTIN (AP) — All sides agreed Tuesday night that women need more rights—and that a proposal for a broadly worded constitutional amendment assuring equality regardless of sex would have unpredictable effects on community property laws and other husband-wife statutes.

The argument at a House committee meeting narrowed to this: Must Texas laws be thrown into chaos in order to force legislators to update women's legal standing in society?

A House constitutional amendments subcommittee was told to study the measure and report back Monday. An equivalent committee in the Senate spent five minutes approving a companion measure earlier in the evening.

"If the legislature doesn't see fit to change these statutes (discriminatory to women), then we can, by a constitutional amendment, directly attack these statutes," said Houston lawyer Jack Scruggs.

LITTLE SUCCESS
He said women's efforts since 1921 to change individual laws have met with little success and "this leaves only the congressional amendment route."

"If this prodding were with something short of the basic fabric of this state, it would be all right," said Southern Methodist University law professor Joe McKnight. "But this is too strong—you have all the unforeseen consequences as well as those that are seen."

Rep. Rayford Price of Frankston added that the amendment would "tie the hands of every legislature in the future." He said even such rules as insurance rates favorable to women drivers under 25 or under-25 men might be considered discriminatory.

"The aims are okay," McKnight said, "but the effects could be self-defeating. We should enact separate legislation. Piecemeal, for sure, but it would not embroil us in a chaos of litigation."

SOME LOSS
Mrs. Jack Scruggs, president of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women, said women realized they might lose some protections under an amendment.

"But the women of Texas are ready to stand on their own feet," she said. "This is not just an equal rights for women bill but also for men."

Another B&PW spokesman, Amarillo lawyer Walter Wolfman, asked the representatives: "Why equate equality with property rights? Why not include justice and honor and dignity as well?"

Mrs. Hermine Tobolowsky, B&PW legal chairman, said she has been asked by out-of-state groups to test Texas laws up to the Supreme Court.

"So far I have refused because I want to settle the discriminations in the state," she said.

Joyce Cox, representing the State Bar of Texas, called the bill "dangerous and very undesirable."

A Devotional For The Day

Many Samaritans from that city believed in him because of the woman's testimony. (John 4:39, RSV)
PRAYER: O God, help us to close our own eyes and look through the eyes of Jesus as we touch people this day. May we come to see that there is something within all persons that is divine. In the Redeemer's name we pray this prayer. Amen.
(From the "Upper Room")

Firmness Is Required

Whether our retaliation upon North Vietnamese bases for an attack on an United States outpost in South Viet Nam represents a widening of the war in that quadrant remains to be seen. It should serve as a reminder that the U. S. is not to be pushed out of that area, notwithstanding demonstrations and fulminations in Moscow and Peking.

The attack on the U. S. installation was likely more than a coincidence because it tied in so neatly with the visit of the Russian premier in the North Vietnamese capital. At any rate, the U. S. message must have been received.

So far a Russian newspaper has called for support of North Viet Nam, and a group of students from Moscow University were allowed by police to attack our embassy in Moscow. Red China, which so far has had a lot more to say than to do, has called for retaliation on the U. S. Still, nothing more has come from North Viet Nam, and it is probable that nothing more than the hit-and-run tactics of the Viet Cong will result.

There is a ring of hypocrisy in the Chinese and Russian protests, and they should be answered with resoluteness. Moreover, the Soviet should be reminded in no uncertain time that this childish business of battering our embassy will not be tolerated.

Cut Out Deadwood

Postmaster General John A. Gronowski's decision to ask Congress to abolish the postal savings system is timely — in fact, long overdue.

Postal savings draw only a 2 per cent interest rate, with a maximum account of $2,500. It is no wonder that depositors have dropped from a 1947 peak of 4.2 million to about a million and deposits from $3.4 billion to $416 million.

Banks and savings and loan associations now are paying 3 to 4 per cent or better, and deposits are federally insured up to $10,000. Furthermore, such savings institutions are accessible even in the remotest areas, especially as most afford mail service.

This then has become a service which private enterprise can handle better than any public agency, and therefore the government has no business being in it. That is why Gronowski recommended abolishing the postal savings system, rather than asking for a higher interest rate which might have attracted a few more customers.

It is a good sound principle for government not to operate in any field where private enterprise can better serve the public interest and welfare. Congress undoubtedly will comply with his recommendation. And it is hoped that the search will go on for more "deadwood," as President Johnson has called it, that can be trimmed off the federal bureaucracy.

Richard Starnes Racial Problems In Britain

LONDON — Time was when an American in Britain was forever getting hit over the head with the twin indictments of racism and McCarthyism, or some similar species of political low-roadism.

It doesn't happen so much nowadays, however. Sad to say, England is experiencing a taste of both ugly manifestations, and she is discovering that good will, enlightenment and civilized forbearance (all of which are firmly rooted in the national character here) do not guarantee any quick solution.

IMMIGRATION into Britain from black or Asian countries has risen steadily since the end of World War II—and so have all the jarring problems of race that the United States is so familiar with.

The fact is that in Britain today can be found many of the same hatreds and blind prejudices that afflict race relationships in the United States, even to a rigidly restrictionist immigration control association that is distant kin of our own White Citizens Council.

IN SOME ways race prejudice in England goes even further than it does in the United States. On numbers alone Britons might well be accused of over-reacting to the problems posed by colored immigrants. The United Kingdom (which includes England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland) has a population of around 55 million. Its colored population is not known with any certainty, but the best guess is around one million. If it had the same ratio of colored (a term that here includes Indians, Pakistanis and a few Chinese, as well as West Indian and African Negroes) as the United States has, it would have around 5.5 million.

MOREOVER, some immigrants whom Americans would not think of as "colored," notably Cypriots and Maltese, are despised as "niggers" by the more outspoken British racists.

Competition for housing, still woefully short in Britain, is a major irritant. So is the widespread (and apparently well-founded) belief that colored immigrants have a sharply higher rate of venereal disease and tuberculosis than the native-born English have. The respected "medical trade journal," The Lancet, carried an article last May that concluded that the rate of T.B. among Pakistanis in the Birmingham area "is at least 20 times as great as in the native-born population."

THE IMMIGRANTS themselves have as long a list of complaints about their adopted country. Jobs are easy to get, but for the colored immigrant good jobs are rare. Here again the American hears the echo of the chronic complaint of Negroes at home. The immigrants also complain that they have been cruelly exploited by racketeers—housing racketeers, job racketeers, hire - purchase (installment) racketeers.

There is not much doubt that there is an element of truth in the immigrants' bill of particulars, although there is certainly exaggeration and overblown rumor as well.

BUT HOWEVER much is true and how much is inflammatory overstatement, relationships between the races in Britain are strained and ominous.

British governments (both Labor and Tory) have traditionally toed around the growing problems posed by the influx of colored immigrants. But there are signs that this careful soft-shoe may no longer be possible.

Indications are that Wilson's Labor government is in trouble on economic fronts as well, may soon have to face up to another general election. The race issue, which turns largely on the question of what new restrictions, if any, are to be placed on colored immigration, is bound to loom big when that takes place.

Low Bridge

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Fireman Roger Dolloff was riding as tillerman - rear driver — on a hook and ladder rig here when it approached an overpass.

He noticed a sign listing the overhead clearance of the pass at 10 feet 4 inches.

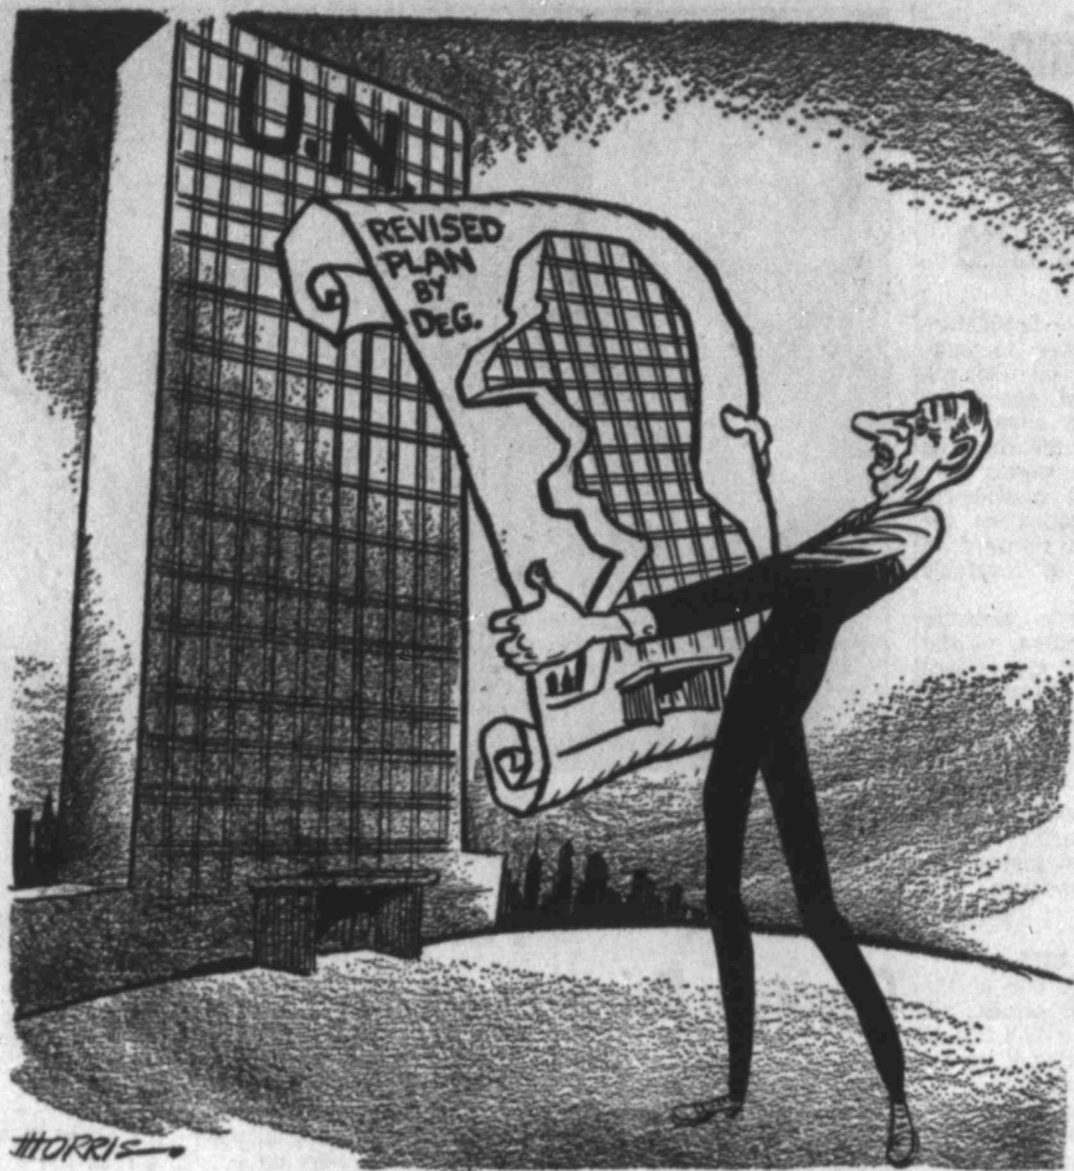

Just in time, Dolloff remembered that sitting erect in his tillerman's seat put his head almost 11 feet above ground.

Dolloff ducked and kept his head.

Full Of Exes

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky has seven living former governors. By former Gov. Bert Combs' reckoning, that's more than any other state.

"Nowadays," he said, "whenever someone says to me, 'Hello, Governor, how are you?' six people answer, 'Fine, thank you.'"

THINKING BIG!

James Marlow Johnson Foreign Policy Toughens

WASHINGTON (AP) — From smooth to rough and tough.

That's the answer to those who have wondered, ever since Lyndon B. Johnson became President, how he would act in foreign affairs since he had far less experience there than in dealing with Congress.

And plenty have wondered about it because through almost his entire presidency so far, with perhaps one big exception, he has operated in a rather low key in the foreign field, a sort of spread of oil on troubled waters. Luck helped him in this. There have been few truly disturbing events in the more than 14 months in which he got used to the presidency and was able to campaign and win election. Suddenly this month he got rough and then tough. But anyone who knows the man knows he can quite easily switch back to smooth again. In that sense he is unpredictable.

THIS MAY or not be valuable

Hal Boyle How To End Boredom

NEW YORK (AP) — Boredom, some doctors believe, is one of the world's most widespread diseases.

It can cripple; it can kill. Boredom can strike at any age. Some people give the impression they were born yawning.

But almost everyone, sooner or later, suffers a season of ennui. He wears of chasing skirts, dollars or dreams. He gets a tired feeling that he has seen about all he wants to see, done everything he can do, and met everybody he cares to say hello to.

THESE ARE symptoms of a drying-up of the wellsprings of the human spirit, and can turn a man into an ambulant vegetable, more partner to death than life.

One of the ways to fight the glooms at such times is to sit down and make a catalog of interesting things that you haven't done, but still might—if you'd just climb out of the doldrums.

For example, here is a sample list of undone possibilities by one of us who has never—

Wrestled an alligator.
Shot a sitting duck.
Written a poem on an electric typewriter.
Rescued a pretty girl from an ivory tower or a boa constrictor.

in dealing with other governments and unexpected challenges. But for several years, or until he is confronted with some more critical problems, Americans themselves will probably not be sure what Johnsonian reaction to expect in any given situation.

Not long after he took office there were anti-American riots in Panama. Johnson handled them with patience and this unpleasant beginning for him soon evaporated.

He got his first truly critical jolt last August when North Vietnamese PT boats attacked a couple of American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin. He quickly ordered U.S. Navy planes to bomb some North Vietnamese coastal bases.

This was in effect a lesson to the North Vietnamese Communists, as he soon explained to the American people. He said "acts of violence" against American armed forces "must be met not only with alert defense but positive reply."

That was just a short time before the Democratic National Convention and the presidential campaign began. For most of the campaign foreign events were nice enough to stay out of the way.

THEIR ABSENCE emboldened Johnson to return to his smooth period. He wasn't at all belligerent in the campaign but then just before the end of it, on Nov. 1, the Vietnamese Reds kicked up again.

This time they plastered a U.S. Air Force base in South Viet Nam, killing some Americans, wounding others, and damaging or wrecking a lot of planes.

Instead of following up with what he had promised in August — that violence against American armed forces would be met with a positive reply — Johnson rolled with the punch, the campaign ended, and he was elected.

To Your Good Health How The Aged Can Combat Stiffness In Limbs

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 84 and in very good health. I exercise every day, but lately my limbs are getting very stiff. At night when I draw my legs up, I find difficulty in straightening them out and it is very painful, especially in the knees.

If this is just natural because of my age, then I accept it. But if you can tell me anything to relieve this condition I would appreciate it. — MRS. E.L.C.

Ease this trouble? Yes. Cure it completely? No.

One of the processes of aging involves enzyme and chemical changes within the cells of the tissues. We certainly do not know everything about this, but we know something and hope to learn more.

For whatever reasons, these chemical changes in the cells occur prominently in the cells of the muscles. The result is both stiffness and weakness. It comes to some of us earlier, and to some of us later, but come it must to all of us if we live long enough. As someone once said, the only way never to grow old is to die young. As long as we maintain strength of spirit and interest in the world around us, age will mellow but not destroy the savor of life.

What can we do to combat this stiffness of the limbs? The first rule is to keep going as well as you can. By this I do not mean forcing yourself to keep going until fatigue makes you stop. But keep as active as you can. "Just sitting" endlessly makes the stiffness worse. So you are entirely right in making a point of having a bit of exercise every day.

Wholesome diet is of great importance. This does not have to be complicated, but it must include certain things. One of the most important is a reasonable amount of protein, the best sources being lean meat, fish, eggs, cheese and dairy products. If we have trouble with our teeth these protein foods can be prepared in easy-to-eat ways.

If vegetables (including the green, leafy ones) are hard to manage, a vitamin supplement may very likely help, but don't waste your money on fancy and overpriced supplements which promise all sorts of benefits. A bit of aspirin helps allay the discomfort of stiff joints and painful muscles and thus makes movement easier.

Dear Dr. Molner: To the mother who was so worried about a spinal anesthetic in childbirth, I have had all four of my children that way. As far as I am concerned it's the only way, completely free from discomfort and you are awake and see the baby the moment it is born.—MRS. R. K.

Whether any mother-to-be should have a spinal is up to her doctor. Not all cases are alike, and I therefore refuse to generalize, except to say that when a spinal is advisable, there is no reason to fear it.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long-self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim The Coup De Grace

My battle with seed catalogues is almost as intense as the continuing battle with sin. The temptation to turn a spade of dirt and plant a seed or twig is ever-present, but at this season of the year it amounts in pressure.

DESPERATELY I fight off the urge through rationalization. I haven't got the room; I haven't got the soil; I haven't got the time; I haven't got the resources to finance my watering bill. Resolutely I conquer the over-powering urge.

And then comes the seed catalogue. Why do they always have to put those perfectly beautiful colored pictures on the cover and sprinkle them liberally throughout? Why must they have those waxy roses with kisses of dew right on the front page, and those bleeding strawberries on the back page? And why do they have cavalcades of snapdragons and gladioli, or pages of blushing peaches and ripened apples?

WHO CAN RESIST the glowing terms conjured by those most gifted of literary artisans—the seed catalogue copy writers? How do they know that I have been dreaming about a strawberry which produces from early spring to late fall, is twice the size of puny things others raise, and thumbs its nose at hot summer winds or sneaky late spring frosts? Invariably, they have a new berry—the product of years of research by some famous horticulturist (of whom I never heard)—which precisely fills the requirements of my fondest dreams.

IT TAKES A MAN of steel to sit on his hands and not grab the order blank. It drives a man to considering the unchristian, cutting remarks of his helpmate, or even the consequences of her wrath when a burlap-wrapped package arrives C.O.D. Though I suffered the tortures of the damned in order not to consistently succumb to the catalogue fever, there is one battle I cannot win.

BRO. DAVID BURPEE, who happens to be chairman of the board of W. Atlee Burpee Co. which has been at this business of seeds for a long, long time, has found my Achilles heel. About this season, a little packet arrives in the mail with a card enclosed: "Compliments of David Burpee." There will be half a dozen or so packages of some of his latest offerings.

THE OTHER DAY the annual coup de grace arrived. It was a package of yellow Zenith zinnia which produces a robust bush that is "covered with fully double 5½-inch flowers that almost hide the foliage..." As if this were not enough, there was also a pack of Curlicress — a fine curled cress that has a "pleasant pungent flavor..." a parsley-like plant for salad and sandwiches. And a package of Art Shades zinnias, Cerise (ideal aster), Cameo (a salmon pink aster), Early Bird asters (red, white and blue), Rosabel (rose pink mound petunias), White Ruffles (hybrid tetra snapdragon), and Miss Susie (giant double verberna).

You win, David Burpee! My green thumb is trobbing like a robin. —JOE PICKLE

Holmes Alexander Short Knives After Williams

WASHINGTON — In older gangland days the victim would be given the "Black Hand." In later times he would get word that he was "on the spot." In the political back alleys of character assassination an intrepid corruption fighter like Senator John Williams (R. Del.) is accorded more refined warnings.

HE IS TOLD to "lay off" his dispassionate but devastating exposures of Billie Sol Estes, the Texas crook; of Bobby Baker, the former secretary of the Senate Majority; of Walter Jenkins, the White House aide; of Matt McCloskey, the former Democratic Treasurer and builder of the D. C. Stadium; of Don Reynolds, the insurance man and donor of a highly-publicized hi-fi set.

After the warnings come some knife-flecks by way of further emphasis. During the election campaign, President Johnson made two appearances in three-electoral vote Delaware, urging voters to defeat the troublesome Williams and to elect "a man I can work with."

IN JANUARY there was a caustic Senate-floor innuendo by Liberalissimo Joe Clark (D., Penna.) about scandals which Williams "might drag up about the Baker case." By this time the counter-investigators had combed the agriculture files to "get something" on Williams, who owns or operates three or four hundred acres of farmland.

Where do you research such a story? I went to Senator Williams for an interview and he said: "I've been warned some time ago that if I pushed things too hard I could look out for reactions. It was indicated that there would be a systematic plan to destroy me. I've alerted my family on what to expect."

WILLIAMS, lank and laconic, self-sufficient and as remorseless as a bad conscience, wears the slender-proof armor of transparent decency and multiple accomplishment. His revelations have jailed two Truman cronies, Caudle and Connelly; exiled an Eisenhower insider, Sherman Adams; convicted a Federal tax collector of embezzlement; embarrassed subsidy-takers on the farm and in shipping; harpooned Adam Clayton Powell for junketeering in European night spots and Emanuel Celler for conflict-of-interest in doing business on an Army contract with Bobby Baker.

THE SENATOR won't touch money that the government gives to other farmers for conserving, banking, draining, fertilizing or reforesting their land. He refunds the unspent Senate allowance for stationery and declines to travel on government expense accounts. He walks the righteous path, and everyone in Washington knows it, but he bears the foot-fall behind him of the knives with the short knives, and he says:

"I'm not afraid of anything they can say about me. But a half-truth is worse than a lie."
The half-truth is the short knife of the character-killers.

David Lawrence United Western Front Needed

WASHINGTON—The "cold war" is getting hotter. Yet the Western allies are in disarray while Red China and the Soviet Union are lined up on the same side against the United States. There is apparently under way a determined effort to force the 22,000 American troops out of South Viet Nam.

President Johnson is trying very hard to avoid doing anything that could bring about an "escalation" toward a major conflict. But the situation is building up to the point where the United States may not be able to remain passive much longer or to limit its operations to mere reprisals.

THERE IS speculation of all kinds here as to what the Soviet purpose is in offering military aid to North Viet Nam at this particular time. Some wishful thinkers express the belief that perhaps Russia wants to get into the situation sufficiently to exercise some kind of neutralizing influence. But the Moscow government is not interested in pulling American chestnuts out of the fire. It seeks only to add to the complications that will mean more troubles for the United States government.

WHILE RED CHINA and the Soviet Union are at loggerheads on ideological questions, there can be little doubt that they have a common purpose in trying to get the United States out of Asia.

President Johnson has displayed a great deal of caution in recent weeks in dealing with the Viet Nam situation and with international politics generally. The impression prevails here that he wants to feel his way.

For the moment, there is a mistaken tendency in some quarters in Washington to assume that one of the courses under consideration might well be American withdrawal from South Viet Nam altogether. But the majority sentiment in Congress is opposed to this. Such a step would certainly be construed as a form of retreat or surrender.

CONCURRENTLY, President de

Gaulle has muddied the waters by elevating the Red China government to a position equal to that of Great Britain, France, the Soviet Union and the United States when he suggests that these five countries can settle the problem of how the United Nations shall hereafter be operated. For the Peiping government has been denounced by resolution of the U.N. as an aggressor in Korea—a still unsettled problem. Red China has, moreover, carried on a warfare in Southeast Asia which not only has threatened the peace of that continent but has taken away from smaller countries their freedom and their independence.

IN THE LONG RUN, the United States will have to make a deliberate effort to strengthen the Western alliance. There will have to be some serious talks with General de Gaulle behind the scenes.

If, however, the West should allow the "cold war" to drift into a "hot war," there would be little opportunity at a later date to deal with the emergency except by a military action in Southeast Asia far beyond the desire of the United States at this time to initiate.

Once the alliance is strengthened and a united front is presented against Red China and the Soviet Union, it is probable that the situation in Southeast Asia will result in a stalemate such as exists in Korea. It may not bring a satisfactory solution, but at least it could halt further aggression and open warfare.

Circles In Study Of New Age

"Christian Women in a New Age" was presented by Mrs. Marshall Day at the Tuesday meeting of the Martha Foster Circle of Wesley Methodist Church. Assisting in the program were Miss Helen Ewing, Mrs. Raymond Phillips, Mrs. Rene Brown and Mrs. Jerry Allen.

The same study program was followed by the Lalla Baird Circle which met in the home of Mrs. J. B. Hollis. Mrs. Abbie Anderson presented the program, assisted by Mrs. Drucie Cawthron and Mrs. S. R. Thurman. Mrs. Joe Jacobs worded the closing prayer.

New Incinerators Odor, Smoke Free

There are a number of incinerators on the market today that really are smokeless and odorless. They're easy to operate.

All you have to do is wrap the garbage in several thicknesses of paper, drop it into the incinerator and turn a knob. Fat and grease can be poured into small cardboard containers, such as cereal boxes, and wrapped with other refuse, including bones and string. Non-combustibles, such as glass and metal are the only things the incinerator cannot eliminate.

Ingenious Design Used In Garments

If any award in architecture is to be made this year, the designers of brassieres to accommodate those low, lung plunging necklines ought to be considered.

Wires, in the forms of loops, rectangles, keyholes, and V's as well as criss-cross back elastic are just a few of the ingenious construction ideas to keep the lady in shape without admitting to any support.

Housewife Gets Smell Settlement

Jeanette Houseley, a 41-year-old London housewife who lost her sense of smell in an accident, sued in court because she now has difficulty cooking the dishes that her family loves.

The court has awarded her $4,480 in damages, which she considers insufficient for a lifetime.

Holiday Format Used By Rebekah Lodges

A Valentine theme was used for the programs and instruction at Rebekah Lodge meetings this week.

JOHN A. KEE
Mrs. LaVerne Rogers, noble grand, presided for the Tuesday meeting of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge at the lodge hall where two new members were accepted. They were Mrs. Martha Christy and Mrs. Bonnie M. Foster who will receive the Rebekah degree in a formal service Tuesday.

Mrs. Jones Lamar, team captain, scheduled a practice session at 2 p.m. Sunday at the lodge hall for officers and the degree team.

Thanks was expressed to Horace Smith for a new secretary's desk, and a letter of appreciation was read thanking the lodge for March of Dimes donations.

The Valentine theme was used for a program presented by Mrs. Jewel Rayburn. Appropriate poems were read by Mrs. Ray S. Doty and Mrs. Kyle Cauble. Mrs. Elmo Martin and Mrs. Homer Petty did a song and dance routine accompanied by Mrs. Morgan Martin. The selections were "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "When You Were A Tulip."

Red satin, with a red net overlay, covered the refreshment table, centered with a red heart-shaped cake encircled with hearts and flowers. Red candles and silver appointments were used. Mrs. Grady Beck won a cake and was named Lodge Valentine.

Hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Clanton, Mrs. Lois Stewart, Mrs. Everett Hood, Mrs. Alton Allen and Mrs. Jewel Rayburn. Thirty-eight attended and reported 20 visits.

ADULT GIRL SCOUT WORKERS INVITED TO 'ARTS CARAVAN'

An "Arts Caravan" for adults working in Girl Scouting, will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Feb. 16, with the place to be announced. Participating on the program will be Mrs. D. M. Costlow, Stanton; Miss Harriet Redwine and Miss Fane Downs, Abilene; and Mrs. Richard Patterson. They will discuss art forms and crafts suitable for use in the Scouting program. Registrations for the caravan should be mailed by this evening to Mrs. Costlow at Box 957, Stanton. The 50 cent fee for supplies can be paid on the day of the caravan. Pre-school children of those participating are to be left at the Jack and Jill Kindergarten where their lunch will be provided.

Methodist Group Plans Spiritual Life Retreat

Mrs. C. C. Coffee, Lubbock, sponsored by the United Council of Church Women, will be observed March 5 at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m.

The program, "Hearing God Speak Through the Bible," was given by Mrs. W. C. House and the Fanny Hodges Circle. Mrs. Clyde Johnson spoke, stressing daily use of the Bible. Personal experiences were related by Mrs. House, Mrs. Hugh Duncan and Mrs. M. A. Cook.

A vocal solo was presented by Mrs. Don Newsom, accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton, and the closing prayer was by Mrs. House.

The next general meeting will be March 9 at the church.

Eye Foundation Expresses Thanks

A letter of appreciation from the National Eye Foundation was read to members of the Social Order of the Beauceant at their Monday evening meeting. The letter expressed thanks for the money donated for research and aid.

Mrs. O. L. Nabors presided, and all work was exemplified in preparing for the visit of Mrs. Edwin C. Hinkley, supreme worthy president.

Mrs. Ervin Daniels served refreshments to the 21 members who attended the 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Book Review Set For Valentine Tea

A Valentine tea and guest day will be held in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club at 3:00 p.m. Friday by the Modern Woman's Forum. Mrs. Clyde Angel will give a book review, and hostesses will be Mrs. W. A. Laswell and Mrs. Clyde Lowery.

S. S. Toastmistress Embarks On Cruise

An imaginary world cruise, aboard the S.S. Toastmistress, which dealt with the communication between parent and child, Mrs. Dick Wilson's "It's All in the Cards," concerned taking opportunity when it knocks.

Mrs. Lewis Vale's title, "We're in the Army Now," dealt with how we have become servants of the federal government.

Winning participants, Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Rogers will compete in speech contests at next week's meeting. A welcome was extended to the guests, Mrs. John Culbertson, Mrs. D. M. Costlow, Mrs. Richard Friedman, Mrs. Howard Russell, and Mrs. Richard Shaver.

The closing thought was given by Mrs. Vale.

Girl Scouts Take Trips

Activities of Girl Scouts were reported when troop leaders of Neighborhood 4 met with their chairman, Mrs. Eugene Sieja.

Mrs. Charles Winston, leader of Cadet Troop 424, told of the trip taken by the troop to Monahan where they spent the day in the Sand Hills State Park. The group was accompanied by Mrs. Sieja and Lt. Charles Winston.

Junior Troop 422, under the direction of Mrs. James Daniels, had an outing to Scenic Mountain for compass study. While there, the Scouts searched for arrow heads and unusual rocks.

Minister Speaks On Prayer Book

The Rev. Charles Bowyer was guest speaker for the Monday evening meeting of St. Anne's Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Study of the prayer book was followed by a question and answer period.

Mrs. Ruth Edmonson, chairman, gave the opening prayer and conducted business. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Marjorie Jordan and Mrs. Winifred Greenlees.

Rev. Bowyer worded the closing prayer.

Headache can often be traced to an eye condition, according to eyesight specialists across the nation.

"Guard against eye disease, eyestrain and poor vision with an annual, professional eye examination by a Doctor of Optometry," advises Dr. S. J. Rogers of Texas State Optical.

Knowing Exemptions Rules May Trim Couple's Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Your 1964 income tax return may cost less if you know some of the rules on husbands and wives, exemptions, people figuring their own tax or using the tables, widows and widowers, and heads of household.

Husbands and wives, when they file jointly, almost always get a lower tax than on separate returns. There are some special cases in which this is not true. If you have doubts, try it both ways.

If you have to figure your own tax — everyone with $5,000 or more income must do so — you'll find the tax-rate schedule applying to you in the instruction sheet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service.

You'll find the tax tables in the same instruction sheet if you're one of the under-$5,000 people who can use them.

Nothing better illustrates the fact that the tax is not the same for everyone than these three schedules and five tables.

HIGHEST RATE
 Schedule No. 1 and tables B, C and D have the highest rate. These are for single persons and married couples filing separately. All use the same schedule.

But while a single person must use table B, the separate-filing married couple has a choice between table C, using the 10 per cent standard deduction, and table D, the new minimum standard deduction.

You must file a return if you were under 65 — this includes children — and had $600 or more taxable income; or were 65 and had $1,200.

You get a $600 exemption for yourself when you file a return and are under 65; $1,200 if you were 65; $1,800 if you were blind and 65. The same for your wife.

When a husband and wife file jointly, each claims a $600 exemption on that one return. When they file separately, each claims a $600 exemption on the separate returns.

When a couple files separately and one itemizes, both must. If one takes the 10 per cent standard deduction, both must. The same if one takes the minimum standard deduction.

A single person or a married couple filing jointly can take the standard deduction of 10 per cent of their income up to a limit of $1,000. When a couple files separately, each can deduct 10 per cent of income but only up to a limit of $500 for each.

The same $1,000 limit applies to single persons and married couples filing jointly when they take the minimum standard deduction. And the same $500 limit applies here for couples filing separately.

Anyone using the tax table has his deductions allowed for — according to the number of his exemptions and the size of his income — in the tax that applies to him.

But watch this, since as noted the tax varies in different tables.

NO INCOME
 A wife without income doesn't have to file jointly with her husband or at all. He can file his own return, claiming a $600 exemption for himself and another for his wife, but must use schedule No. 1 or tables C or D — whichever shows the least tax.

When a no-income wife files jointly with her husband, each claims a $600 exemption on that joint return and they use schedule No. 2 or table A.

If your wife has taxable income under $600 she doesn't have to file jointly with you or at all. But, since she had some income, even too little to report, you can't claim an exemption for her unless she files jointly with you.

You were considered married or divorced for all of 1964 if you got married or divorced as late as Dec. 31, 1964. If you're divorced from your wife you can't claim an exemption for her even though you paid more than half her support in 1964.

Here are the rules on widows and widowers:

In general on your return you can claim a $600 exemption for your husband or wife who died in 1964, if you did not remarry. You file it as a joint return, using schedule No. 2. You must report any income he or she had.

Even though your wife or husband died in 1963 or 1962, you can use schedule No. 2 if you file this rule:

BE ENTITLED
 You must have been entitled to file a joint return with him or her in the year of death; you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of your home which is the principal residence of your child or stepchild.

You can use schedule No. 2 if you fit those conditions, listing your own income, exemptions and deductions. But in this case you cannot claim an exemption for your deceased wife or husband.

Here are rules on head of household:

You can use schedule No. 3 if you were unmarried or legally separated by the end of 1964 or were married by the end of 1964 to someone who for part of the year was a nonresident alien; if you furnished over half the cost of running your home which was the main residence for the year of yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild, or grandchild, even though not a dependent; or, if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent.

But if you were paying for a parent in a home for the aged, you cannot claim you maintained a home for him or her. (This is the third in a five-part series on income tax return filing.)

Garland Boys Head For SMU

Rice and Southern Methodist were the most active in announcing signing of schoolboy athletes as the Southwest Conference recruiting period opened Tuesday.

McHugh carried the ball 106 times for gains totaling 1,298 yards over the year, averaging 12.3 yards per carry. He scored a total of 165 points. He also punted for the Bulldogs (average: 38.1 yards) and played linebacker on defense. He intercepted ten passes over the year.

Dates Are Set

DALLAS (AP) — The world Skeet Shooting Association was set Tuesday for July 31-Aug. 7 at Savannah, Ga., by NSSA. President Ed Docherty Tuesday.

Coahoma Five Loses 59-52 6-A Verdict

COAHOMA—The Merkel Badgers edged past the Coahoma Bulldogs, 59-52, here Tuesday night in a District 6-A basketball game.

Coahoma led at the end of the first period, 19-13. At intermission the Badgers held a one point lead and then out shot the Bulldogs in the last half, 26-18.

Charles Dannheim was high man for the Badgers with 19 points. Eddie McHugh cained 13 for the losing Bulldogs.

Coahoma was handicapped by illness. Dwayne Allen, the Bulldogs' top scorer, was out with the flu and others were ailing.

Coahoma had only nine opportunities from the free throw line and made six of them. Merkel won the game at the line, getting 15 points that way.

Coahoma is now 7-6 in conference play. The Bulldogs play Roby Friday night.

The Coahoma girls won, 45-37, in a game that saw Linda Pherigo score 15 points for Coahoma and Pat Tate 14 for Merkel.

In the boys' B game, Coahoma also prevailed, winning by a score of 50-39.

Larry McKinney counted 21 points for Coahoma while Carmen Castillo had 11 for Merkel.

COAHOMA (52)—McHugh 4-1-13; Williams 3-2-6; Butler 2-1-3; Capley 1-0-2; Pherigo 3-3-8; Reed 5-0-10; Mosley 1-0-2. Totals 23-42-52.

MEKEL (59)—Dannheim 7-5-19; South 6-3-15; Reynolds 8-4-12; Hordesty 3-3-9; Walker 2-0-4. Totals 22-35-59.

Score by quarters: 19 34 42 52. Merkel 13 23 42 59.

Raiders Edge Past Aggies

Texas Tech's men in the clutch topped Texas A&M 82-76 in overtime Tuesday night to roll on at the head of the Southwest Conference basketball race.

They couldn't increase their lead because Southern Methodist whipped Baylor and Texas lashed Arkansas.

All of which set up another big game Saturday afternoon when Texas Tech clashes with bitter rival SMU at Dallas.

Texas will be playing cellar dwelling Rice at Houston and coking an eye toward the Tech-SMU melee with the possibility of a three-way tie for the lead in the Longhorns' minds.

John Beasley hit a jumper with 12 seconds left to give the Aggies a 70-70 tie in regulation play, but in the overtime the Tech's got 12 points—only two from the field—while the Aggies added only six. A goal tending call padded the Tech lead.

The Red Raiders won from the free throw line with 32 of 39 while A&M, which hit two more field goals, could cash only 22 of 31.

Dub Malaise, the Tech hotshot, roped in 30 points and took over the conference scoring lead with 367 points, one better than Beasley.

Bill Ward looped 26 points to lead Southern Methodist to a 76-74 victory over fading Baylor. SMU also won from the three throw lane with 24 points to the Bears' 10.

Carroll Hooser tallied 22 points and was the clutch player. His field goal finally put SMU ahead 67-66 with just 4:40 left. He hit four more points in the final minutes to keep the Methodists on top.

Paul Olivier had his best night of the season as Texas rapped Arkansas 81-65. Olivier poured in 26 points and Larry Frank took care of the rebounding, getting 13.

The Longhorns hit 50 per cent from the field. Texas Christian broke out of a tie for the cellar as it whipped Rice 94-75. Their victory also tied the Christians into a tie with Arkansas for sixth place.

The Owls went more than five minutes without scoring a point at one juncture while the Christians were getting 15. That put the game out of reach for the Owls.

Five Frogs hit in double figures.

Hawks Rack Up Ninth Conference Victory

LUBBOCK — Howard County Junior College won its ninth Western Conference basketball game in 12 starts by subduing Lubbock Christian College, 99-84, here Tuesday night.

The Chapparals made a fight of it for a half and left court at the intermission trailing by only three points but Hawks quickly pulled away when play was resumed, hitting ten straight points.

Keith Bond again led the Jayhawks in scoring with 27 points. Eddy Nelson tossed in 21 for the Big Springers, who go to Borger Friday night to oppose Frank Phillips.

The Hawks got fine performances from such boys as Charles Price and Keith McKeever to stay the tide against LCC. Price wound up with 17 points while McKeever had seven points and played a fine floor game.

Forsan Girls Clinch 4th Loop Crown

FORSAN—Forsan's girls can start looking toward bi-district basketball competition for the fourth straight year.

The Buffalo Queens defeated a fired-up Garden City team, 65-53, here Tuesday night for their ninth straight District 83-B victory. The win clinched the honors for James Blake's team.

Garden City took a 12-3 lead early in the contest but Forsan recovered fast and trailed only by a point, at 15-14, at the end of the opening period.

By halftime, the Queens were in charge, 30-27.

Forsan couldn't do much about defending Judy Hirt, who scored 39 points for the Kittens, but the Queens' backcourt combination of Susan Elrod, Patsy Gooch and Sara Findlay did a splendid job overall, as did the Garden City guards, Tavie Daniel, Sharon Jacob and Beverly Jacob.

Jody Dodd had 20 points and Mary Simpson 18 for Fgsan.

Garden City now has a 7-2 record in league competition and closes out against Robert Lee on the road Friday night. Forsan will be at home to Sterling City.

In the boys' game, Forsan won by a score of 79-36. The Buffaloes hit 74 per cent of their shots from the field the first half and 60 per cent the last half.

David Roberson had 21 points and Doug Franklin 22 for Forsan. Vernon Newsom led Garden City with 24.

Forsan also won the boys' B game, 52-33, as Alex Moreno counted 19 points for Forsan and B. Taylor 12 for Garden City. Don Prescott tallied 11 for the Buffs.

BOYS' game: Forsan (79)—Sneed 4-3-11; Roberson 10-1-21; Franklin 10-2-23; McKinnon 7-1-15; Ellis 3-0-4; Simpson 3-0-4; Alexander 0-0-0. Totals 56-79.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

HOUSTON — A first look at Houston's $32 million domed stadium (which could do with a racier name) can depress one in that it makes him feel so insignificant. On the other hand, he can exult in its magnificence when he realizes it was built exclusively for him and his fellow bipeds.

The architects of ancient Rome, who built splendid edifices without answering to an audit, would bow reverently to the engineers of the structure — said to be the most awesome the world has ever seen.

The first visiting team ever to appear in this eighth wonder of the universe will be the New York Yankees. The brains behind the Houston ball club felt that the likes of Mickey Mantle and Johnny Keane would fill the arena and start paying an immediate return on the investment.

More important, however, is the fact that the New York press, perhaps the most influential in the world, will be on hand to write its deathless prose about the great stadium.

It's one thing for sectional writers and broadcasters to say that this is a hippodrome second to none and quite another for the ink-stained wretches of the press area in the East to admit the point.

Judge Roy Hofheinz talked for 47 minutes Monday night to about 300 scribes and broadcasters in the stadium about the aspects of the great theatre.

As eloquent as the judge might be, and he is a gifted man in oratory, he suffered from a poverty of language while discussing the world's greatest greenhouse.

It simply has to be seen to be believed. Probably the last to be convinced that this coliseum is "something else" was Paul Richards, general manager of the Houston Astro baseball club, who conceded at a banquet held in the Shamrock Hilton Hotel following the press reception at the stadium, that "I never believed that baseball could be played indoors until today."

The dubious who have been cautious about blessing the park can now be told that most of their uncertainties have been lessened, if not eliminated.

Some of those questions raised about the park were: Will a baseball break in the atmosphere? Yes, says Howie Pollet, Houston coach and former cornerstone of the St. Louis Cardinal pitching staff, who himself threw a variety of curve balls and sinkers in a Monday night drill.

Would the noise be a detrimental factor? Apparently the bigger the crowd gets the less noise will echo about the place. The crowd roars will be attracted by microphones planted in the ceiling, which will then be tuned away from the people.

Will the air conditioning work to satisfaction? It has been thoroughly tested by the engineers, who are paid fabulous fees to guess right in critical circumstances. They give it unqualified approval.

Will the lighting bother the players? The stadium is said to be lighted half again as well as any arena in the world but all lamps are well appointed and Houston players who participated in the initial drill said they followed the flight of the ball perfectly.

Eighteen million people live closer to Houston than any other major league baseball city. The Astros will draw up adoption papers for all those people and hope to lure customers from all over the south and west. They've already accepted ticket reservations from 35 different states for the first six games.

An average turnout of 40,000 in each of those games — and the Astros expect to draw more — will amount to a turnout of 240,000, not a bad start.

The patterns for the inflow and outflow of traffic around the park were worked out before construction of the stadium began. The parking lots can be emptied in 22 minutes, regardless of the size of the crowd. When you realize it takes well over an hour to clear the Cotton Bowl area of cars following a big game, you begin to appreciate the thought that went into this venture.

The color scheme of the stadium's interior is bound to please the ladies. The private club idea will appeal to the affluent, who are being offered something denied the average fan.

The scoreboard is bound to thrill the kids and will, no doubt, entertain the adult callers.

If the Astro management can put a half-way decent club into the arena in the next few years, they'll probably get the patronage. People love a parade.

Houston has never before been known as a tourist mecca but that image is being changed. The domed stadium will rank with the Statue of Liberty, the Golden Gate Bridge and the Grand Canyon among things that must be seen by the curious.

Mustangs Remain In Tie For Top Spot In 87-B

WELCH—Sands remained in a deadlock for first place in District 87-B boys' basketball standings by belting Dawson, 77-50, here Tuesday night.

The Mustangs now boast a 7-2 conference record and are 17-5 overall. Sands returns to play Friday night, meeting Klondike in Ackerly.

Sands' girls also won, turning back Dawson by a score of 55-27.

In the boys' game, Eddie Herm scored 35 points for the Mustangs, who built up a 40-21 lead at half time and never faltered.

UF Meeting Set Feb. 25

Annual membership meeting of the United Fund of Big Spring and Howard County has been called for Thursday, Feb. 25, at 5 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

TAX HELP ON MONDAYS

Every Monday morning is Taxpayer Assistance Day at the Big Spring office of the Internal Revenue Service, 196 E. 7th. If you need tax help, call AM 4-2612, or go to the tax office on Monday morning.

Last Missile Leaves Abilene

The last Atlas F missile left Dyess AFB Wednesday on the long overland journey to a storage depot at Norton AFB, Calif.

Movement of the 80-foot bird from the missile assembly and maintenance building at Dyess marked the 13th removal following the announced phase-down program announced by the Secretary of Defense.

Peanut Support To Be Carried Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government expects to take possession of one-fourth of last year's peanut crop under a producer price support program.

The Agriculture Department said the crop, grown under a control program based on acreage allotments, had sharply exceeded requirements.

'Bus Stop' Romance

In the season's third production of Big Spring Civic Theatre, 'Bus Stop,' Friday and Saturday nights in Municipal Auditorium, Kaye Thaxton (left) plays the owner of a Kansas diner where a busload of passengers, stranded in a blizzard, spend a night.

Six Persons Held In Currency Case

TYLER (AP)—Two men were arrested Tuesday on charges of possession of altered U.S. currency. Six have been jailed on such charges since Sunday.

WORKING PARTNER WANTED

$25,000 Earnings Potential! Radically expanding independent auto leasing system is looking for an aggressive, competent businessman as our distributor in this area.

Electric Company To Reduce Rates

Texas Electric Service Company posted a voluntary reduction in electric rates, in a proposal put before the City Commission Tuesday night by R. L. Beale, district manager.

At the same time, TESCO is increasing its street and alley rental payments to the city, from two per cent to three per cent of gross revenues from sale of all electricity within the corporate limits of the city.

Sheriff Requests Help In Locating Missing Woman

Sheriff Aubrey Standard said he had sent out a general request to officers of the state to help locate a Big Spring woman who has been missing from her home since Feb. 3.

Standard said the missing woman is Mrs. Vivian Nell Weatherman, 24, whose home is on the Gail Highway. She is the wife of M. W. Weatherman and she has two young children.

Horton Moves Up With AP

Bob Horton, who started his newspaper career with the Big Spring Herald, is being transferred Feb. 17 to the Washington, D. C., bureau of the Associated Press.

He has been at Dallas for the past year, figuring in the coverage of the Jack Ruby trial and later covered President Johnson on his Texarkana and Mount Pleasant trips. He also has turned out a number of enterprise features.

Horton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Horton, Route 1, Meadow, and married the former Sherry Don Spears, Brownfield, while he was in his freshman year at HCJC. They have two sons, Bobby Don, 6, and Doug, 1. Mrs. Horton serves as a part-time model.

Legal Notice

NOTICE is hereby given that the original Letters Testamentary upon the Estate of R. E. CLINE, deceased, No. 4719 in the Probate Court of the County Court of Howard County, Texas, were issued to me, the undersigned, on the 2 day of February, 1965, in the aforesaid probate proceedings.

Electric Company To Reduce Rates

average-use residential customer, whereas the last rate reduction, in 1963, helped the low-use customer more.

He pointed out that not necessarily every customer would receive reduction in rates amounting to five per cent, but that reductions would vary with amount of electricity used.

House Lifts UAR Aid Ban
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has abandoned its insistence that the government end sales of surplus food to the United Arab Republic.
Last week the House supported 204 to 177 a Republican move to ban an estimated $37 million in food shipments under an agreement that ends June 30. The Senate, responding to pleas from the administration, voted to leave up to President Johnson whether to carry out the sales.

DEAR ABBY
Who's In The Dark?

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman with three children, ages 10, 8 and 5. Four years ago I went to work in an office as a bookkeeper and fell head over heels in love with my boss, who is 17 years my senior. He was also married and had a family. We kept our romance a secret until I was three months pregnant. Then he asked his wife for a divorce so he could marry me. She refused.
Last summer he left his wife and I left my husband and now we are living together as Mr. and Mrs. We realize we are social outcasts, but we go to church every Sunday and we know in our hearts that we are doing nothing wrong, and are really married in God's eyes. Now, don't you think his wife should give him a divorce so we can be married and adopt three poor, innocent children? How can we make his wife see the light?
ONTARIO: I don't know how you feel that you are "doing nothing wrong" and are "really married in God's eyes." According to all the laws of God and man, he is married to another, and so are you. I would say that this man's lawful wife sees the light very clearly. It's you who's in the dark.

DEAR DEN MOTHER: There is nothing wrong with parents "helping" their children in Cub Scout projects or homework unless it's overdone. But where children are relieved of ALL the work, they have learned only to pull a fast one. Present this idea to the den mothers—privately.

Griffin Shows Three Champions

LAMESA (SC) — Monte Griffin, a local farmer showed three grand champions in the swine breeding division at the Southwestern Livestock Exposition in Fort Worth recently. From the 400 entries, Griffin placed four reserve champions and the three grand champions.
The grand champions included a July Berkshire boar, a July Chester White sow and an August Berkshire sow. Griffin plans to enter three barrows in the Southwestern International Stock Show to be held in El Paso this week and will enter 11 barrows in the San Antonio Livestock Exposition the following week.

Youth Council Draws Up Plans

LAMESA (SC) — The Dawson County Youth Council made plans Saturday for the area meeting to be held Feb. 27 in the Community Building.
A film on the Youth Conference of 64 will be shown.
Plans are under way for a local radio program sponsored by the council and each school in the county will have speakers appearing on the program. A discussion was held on the feasibility of helping organize a "Teen Club" for the students in the county. Youth employment and the "dropout" problem in the high schools was discussed.

Rotarians Hear About Thrills Of Scouting

A member of Boy Scout Troop No. 1, and two members of Explorer Post 1, sponsored by the Rotary Club, talked to Rotarians Tuesday about the history of Scouting, and some of the thrills received from their activities. It was a Boy Scout Week program.
Raymond Woolverton, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Woolverton, of Scout Troop 1, introduced by Scout Executive Bill McRee, told briefly of the Scouting organization. He talked on the first organization of Troop 1, the oldest troop in the Southwest. Several Rotarians and present-day businessmen in Big Spring are former members of the troop.
Phil Richey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Richey, told of various trips he had made with Explorer Post 1, including a two-weeks camp and exploring trip to Philmont in New Mexico. The hikes they made on one trip happened in rainy weather, and caught them for several days without food. They also came in contact with bears in the mountainous region, leading to some unexpected thrills.
"But the experience gained from that trip will stay with us always," he said. "It was rough for the first few days, but we began to get toughened by the climbs and hikes, with 42-pound packs."
Pat Nelson reviewed trips taken to several areas, including the Big Bend National Park, Summer Olympics, Philmont, the Davis Mountains, and other places.
"It doesn't make much difference about how many times you go to a place, you can always find something different and more interesting each time. One becomes an Explorer when he goes on such a trip, and Scouting brings out the curiosity."
President Jerry Worthy told the group that the board of directors had voted to purchase two concrete benches for the VA Hospital, and that plans were to continue such activity periodically, as the budget allowed.
