Noted Aviatrix Said Pilot Of Death Plane

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first woman to fly the equatorial route around the world is believed to have piloted a small plane that crashed in the San Gabriel Mountains Wednesday, killing the two women aboard.

Although the coroner's office declined official identification until her husband views the badly burned bodies, the husband said he had no doubt his wife, Jean Merriam Smith, 28, is dead.

HER BIOGRAPHER Authorities believe the other woman was Trixie Ann Schubert, 42, of Los Angeles, who was writing Joan's life story.

Sheriff's deputies and federal authorities reported that the women took off toward the area of the crash from nearby Long Beach.

Joan and Jerrie Mock of Columbus, Ohio, caught the world's imagination last year with their race to become the first woman to circle the globe. Mrs. Mock finished her round-the-world trip before Joan, but Joan claimed victory because she flew the so-called Amelia Earhart or equatorial route, which was 4,000 miles farther.

Her 27,750-mile flight took 23 days of flying time. She was delayed 33 days by weather, mechanical trouble and even a revolution in Brazil. She made 34 stops and crossed the equator five times.

CRASH LANDING

Joan just recently walked away from a crash landing in the California desert. That crash destroyed the light plane she used on her epic flight, a twin-engine Piper Apache Wednesday she was flying a 182 Cessna.

"After all those years and all those thousands of hours, why did it have to happen like this," said her mother, Ann Merriam, of Miami, Fla.

Non-Bias Forms Held An Insult

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Mayor Bracken Lee charges that a Federal Aviation Agency rule requiring public officials to sign non-discrimination forms is an insult to his office.

"To ask me to sign a document promising that I, as mayor of Salt Lake City, will not violate the law is ridiculous because I am sworn as a public official to uphold the law," Lee said.

Dockers Hint New Rejection

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The International Longshoremen Association studied a shipper proposal to end a 39-day West Gulf dockworker strike today. A union spokesman indicated rejection.

The proposal by the West Gulf Maritime Industry was an 80-cent package over four years.

It included 38 cents an hour in pay raises over the four years and 42 cents in fringe benefits.

Shippers put other conditions in the proposal which union officials said they could not accept.

Businessmen Hear LBJ Dollar Drain Curb Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson summoned some 370 top-level businessmen to hear a plea today that they help curb the gold-dollar drain by volunteering to slash investments and lending in Europe.

Even as Johnson called leading industrialists and bankers to the White House, he was holding in reserve a threat to require the investment-lending cuts through legislation.

If only by coincidence, Johnson's new effort to bring the balance-of-payments problem under control had some earmarks of a carrot-and-stick approach.

CUT TAXES

Only Wednesday, the President announced plans to cut business taxes by more than $700 million this year through administrative changes in tax write-off rules. This disclosure at a meeting of the National Industrial Conference Board, failed to spark applause although the size of the cut went well beyond earlier expectations.

The NICB members interrupted Johnson's address with applause but once, and then lightly, when he explained he was 15 minutes late because he had been discussing the gold-dollar problem at lunch with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

CRIS "HA!"

When Johnson declared that "the Great Society is not a welfare — not a spending state," one businessman in the luncheon audience cried out, "Ha!"

The aim of today's White House conference was to try to persuade big industrialists and bankers to exercise voluntary restraint in lending money or making investments abroad in the developed countries.

Viet Nam Truce Proposal Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen declared today it would be "dangerous to our security" to negotiate a settlement in South Viet Nam.

The Senate Republican leader announced he plans to answer Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who called Wednesday for efforts to bring about a cease-fire in South Viet Nam.

These were part of a series of speeches obviously designed to influence President Johnson's course in what the chief executive told the National Industrial Conference Board is "the very serious situation in Viet Nam."

Understand why members of the President's party are suggesting negotiations and other measures which would definitely diminish our prestige, weaken our position in that part of the world and have a definite impact on the thinking people in other areas of the world."

The Republican leader said it would be "dangerous to our security and that of our free world allies" to negotiate with the Communists who, he said, "have a long record of broken pledges."

"There is no need of a new agreement," he added. "The Communists — already — have agreed not to launch aggression, subversion and infiltration in South Viet Nam. This is just another in their long record of broken pledges."

Dirksen joined with Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., and other GOP leaders in a statement Wednesday advising the President not to enter any negotiations "so long as there is Communist-promoted infiltration of

Red Chinese Atom Progress Is 'Disturbing'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China's success in detonating a nuclear test device last fall presents a "most disturbing long-term prospect," Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today.

In testimony prepared for the House Armed Services Committee, he said the test demonstrated that the Chinese leaders "are determined to produce modern armament, even though the cost be great."

McNamara projected the possibility of Chinese nuclear attack some years into the future, saying true nuclear capability takes time to create.

RESULTS SLOW

He said results of the first test might be slow in coming, but that "there is no reason to suppose that the Chinese cannot, in time," produce medium- and even long-range missiles with thermonuclear warheads.

Although McNamara did not mention it, a State Department official said only last week that it was expected that China would attempt a second test in the near future.

The first test, in October last year, was believed to have been conducted near Lap Nor, in the desert province of Sinkiang. It could be assumed that the same type device would be used in a subsequent test — and that high-altitude or satellite reconnaissance is keeping watch.

TIME REQUIRED

After commenting that time would be needed for China to translate her first nuclear tests into armament, McNamara said the psychological impact of the first test is of greater importance in the nearer future.

The Red Chinese leaders, he said, are trying to exploit their success "as evidence of their technical, military and economic progress," much as the now-deposed Soviet Premier Khrushchev exploited Soviet space programs and nuclear tests several years ago.

McNamara said the Chinese armed forces, while well-trained and led, are still equipped under the standards of a decade ago.

SOVIET ORIGIN

"Much of their best equipment and weapons are still of Soviet origin, and they are severely handicapped by the lack of Soviet sources of supply for spares and replacements. Little has been accomplished during the last three years in modernizing the air force. Unless there is a change in Soviet policy, it still appears doubtful that the Chinese Communists will deliberately initiate any major overt aggression against their neighbors. Although they have long been the more militant of the two major Communist rivals, they have shown great caution when confronted with a determined display of military power," he said.

At another point, McNamara discussed Sino-Soviet relations in more detail.

He said that at this time, the new Soviet leaders appear to be carrying water on both shoulders; that they have resumed discussion with the Chinese Communists, while at the same time reaffirming support of coexistence with the West.

U. S. Gravely Concerned Over Embassy Attacks

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Some 700 Communist-led demonstrators stormed the U. S. Consulate in Medan, Sumatra, today and tried to seize the American library on the ground floor. The mob tore down the American flag in the consulate yard.

Rusk, at a news conference last Dec. 23, voiced concern over foreign violation of the "elementary rights of legations" and said: "We shall be sensitive on these matters." After the Feb. 9 attack on the American Embassy in Moscow, Rusk said the United States is going to "press very sharply" for full protection of its embassies.

School Boycott Brawls Break Out In Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP) — Violence erupted in a month-long partial boycott of city schools as 400 picketing high school students brawled with 100 St. John's University students and with policemen at three Brooklyn locations.

IN CUSTODY Before it was over, 18 persons were arrested — nine adults and nine teenagers — and 57 youths were taken into custody, and then released.

The two hours of rioting Wednesday came 20 minutes after police arrested at least six adults, including a pastor, who were supervising a quiet demonstration by mostly Negro high

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Chairman John Hannah of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission wants Mississippi officials to see to it that Negroes appearing before his panel are not harmed when they go home.

The melee started when some 60 pickets swarmed after St. John's University students watching the demonstration on their lunch hour.

At school board headquarters, policemen were pelted with sandwiches, and half-filled milk containers. More than 50 policemen restored order.

The Feb. 9 Moscow mob smashed 200 windows in the wake of U.S. air strikes on North Viet Nam. Other attacks followed on the U.S. legations at Budapest and Sofia. Wednesday demonstrators stoned and splashed ink on the American Embassy at Warsaw.

Recalling Gov. Paul Johnson's statement to the commission that racial violence would not be tolerated in this state, Dr. Hannah telephoned the governor's office Wednesday to ask protection for witnesses.

Rifle Bullets Kill Three

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Bullets from an Army rifle killed two men and a woman Wednesday night as they alighted from a taxicab and stepped toward their front porch in South San Antonio.

At school board headquarters, policemen were pelted with sandwiches, and half-filled milk containers. More than 50 policemen restored order.

It was the first violence in the school protest, which has spread to 26 city schools.

The Rev. Milton Galamison, chairman of the citywide committee for desegregated schools, started the boycott Jan. 19 to demand quicker action on desegregation programs.

Nine shots came from a car which sped away after dropping Cornelio de la Cruz, 54, a civilian painter at Randolph Air Force Base; his wife Frances, 48, who operated a beer lounge, and their son Cornelio Jr., 21.

The university students fled to their school building where 100 of their fellows came to their defense. A few punches were thrown until police broke up the groups.

Woman And Two Children Found Dead

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Police blamed cyanide poisoning, possibly in a box of Valentine candy, for the deaths of a barmaid and two small children whose bodies were found in their apartment Wednesday night.

Doctors said a third child might survive. City detective Olen Miles said medical examination detected the presence of cyanide in the body of Mrs. Kaye Raschke, 24.

FOUND DEAD

Fellow employees, checking after she failed to report for her first night of work at a lounge, broke into the apartment and found her dead on the living room floor.

Bodies of her daughter Candy Moore, 4, and son Mike Moore, 2, lay beneath a bed. A doctor said they died Tuesday night or early Wednesday.

Her son Butch Moore, 5, was taken to a hospital in a serious condition. He was lying on the bed.

Miles said a half eaten box of candy in the living room probably contained the poison. It was sent to a laboratory for analysis. Police had not determined whether Mrs. Raschke bought the candy or received it as a gift.

NEW IN TOWN

Mrs. Raschke and the children moved here this week from Fort Stockton after she and her husband, Lloyd E. Raschke, separated. Friends said the children were Mrs. Raschke's by a previous marriage.

The employees said they knocked at the door but received no answer. Then they heard a baby cry. They said the front door was locked and a rear screen was latched. They had to force their way into the apartment.

Mrs. Raschke, Michael and Christine were found in their pajamas on the floor of the living room. Butch was in bed in the next room.

Police said the men discovered the bodies about 7:15 p.m. They added it appeared the three had not been dead "too long."

Dr. Wray Storey conducted an autopsy Wednesday night and stated the three had been cyanide poisoned. He said it appeared the third child would live since he had survived as long as he had.

"The house was clean as a pin," an Odessa police detective said. "We couldn't find anything. We don't know what happened."

The police detective said Mrs. Raschke's husband Floyd Raschke, works for the telephone company in Fort Stockton. He said Raschke was in Fort Stockton all day Wednesday and didn't know of the incident until police notified him Wednesday night.

Mrs. Raschke came here Tuesday and took a job as a waitress. She also moved into the small apartment Tuesday. She was to report to work at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

A former husband, Butch Moore, father of the two children, also lives in Odessa. Peace Justice E. E. Nobles is withholding a verdict.

"We don't know what happened, yet," said the police detective. "We're still trying to find out where the poison came from."

The bodies of the young mother and her children were taken to Rogers-Riggs Funeral Home where arrangements are pending.

Parks Board Discusses Recreation Master Plan

By PRESTON MAYNARD
A possible master plan for parks development for the city was discussed at length in a session of the parks and recreation board in city hall Wednesday.

The board voted to recommend the city negotiate a contract for concession rights in city parks with a local vending machine operator and discussed the possibility of employing a full-time youth recreation director at a future date.

On the Lakeview School property development, Crow said he had met with Pat Murphy, representing the school board, and Parks Superintendent Johnny Johansen. He said property owners of 1 1/2 acres of land adjacent to the school had been contacted to negotiate a purchase price. Some minor changes had been suggested by Murphy in the previous proposal presented to the schools by the city.

Concerning the possible master plan for park development, Crow told the board the city's master plan committee would meet again in a few months, and he believed a development plan for parks should be extended over a period of four or five years, rather than on a year-to-year basis.

Rev. Lloyd's topic was the "Reformation," and he explained the functioning of the Presbyterian Church and its beliefs. He received a standing ovation from the knights at the end of his discourse.

Don Newsom pointed out the proposal would mean establishment of a separate recreation department. Crow commented that the city is not ready for the step at this time, but he believed the community would become more recreation-minded and demand for it would be present.

War Jitters Hit Stock Traders

NEW YORK (AP) — Professional stock traders can come down with war jitters faster than most folks can catch the common cold. Rumors, or just uncertainty about what friend or foe may have in mind, can bring on a tumble in the stock market, and usually a simultaneous rise in some commodity prices.

After a long climb to record highs, stock prices have been particularly vulnerable of late. Traders also are nervous about what will happen to the overseas expansion of U.S. corporations and to the profitable loans by U.S. banks to foreigners, now that President Johnson wants these curtailed voluntarily—or else.

AUCTION PLACE
Why should stock traders fear the effect of war on stock prices, when the public often thinks of a war effort as leading to frenzied industrial activity? The answer is that the stock market is the auction place for the shares of thousands of corporations—and a majority of these would be hurt, at least at first, by any outbreak of war involving the United States. War disrupts the profitable activity of the consumer goods businesses—and these are the majority. It takes time to switch to production of goods wanted by the military. During that time the government usually clamps on wage and price controls, and stiff taxes on any increased profits. The recent bombing of North

Viet Nam military bases by U.S. and South Viet Nam planes set off a two-day drop of 19 points in the closely watched Dow-Jones index of 30 industrial stocks. It was the sharpest drop since the 27 minutes the New York Stock Exchange stayed open after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, when the index fell 21 points.

The previous bombing of North Viet Nam, called the Gulf of Tonkin incident, caused a 7.58 drop in the index. Nikita Khrushchev's ouster, because it spelled international uncertainty, sparked a 6.74 decline.

RIGHTS ITSELF
As war rumors fade, the market usually rights itself fairly fast. An example is the Cuba missile scare. The market backed down, the market rallied sharply and started to new heights. Earlier war scares, such as the Berlin airlift and the confrontation with Red China over Matsu and Quemoy in the Formosa Strait, had similar histories.

Some stocks always buck the trend in a war scare, usually of those firms that traders figure are likely to get increased defense orders. On the day of the biggest recent drop, Feb. 11, 30 stocks made 1964-65 new highs. Commodities often rise, some because they are the raw materials for military goods, some because they are imported and trade routes may be cut, some because they might be rationed in wartime.

Huge Cut In Deficit Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said today the United States must cut more than a billion dollars from its balance of payments deficit.

The deficit was slightly more than $3 billion last year.

In a speech to a conference sponsored by the National Industrial Conference Board, Dillon said: "When we talk of substantial improvement in 1965, I want to make it amply clear that we are not thinking of a few hundred million dollars. Even a full billion-dollar improvement would not meet our needs. We can and must do considerably more."

The secretary said there is no doubt of the strength of the dollar and it is growing stronger year by year because of long-term assets. However, he said the United States must end the growth of short-term international liabilities.

President Johnson proposed last week a ten-point program to reduce the international payments deficit.

Spending Bill Debate Set

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas House members marked an important date on their calendar today—next Wednesday, Feb. 24, to debate the record-size $3.6 billion spending bill for 1966-67.

"Look over this appropriations bill and get your amendments ready for next Wednesday," Speaker Ben Barnes told representatives.

The blockbuster appropriations measure for the next two fiscal years was just approved by a House committee Monday, the earliest a big spending bill has ever been ready for debate.

N.Y. Shoeshine Boy Becomes Movie Actor

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ready for another film star named Sean? This one is surnamed Garrison, and out at Universal City they're saying he has the same stuff as the Sean called Conner.

The handsome Irishman is playing the romantic lead opposite Jean Seberg in "Moment to Moment," directed by Mervyn Leroy. The new Sean possesses a simple ambition: "I hope to become a box-office commodity."

Sean figures he received his performing skill from his mother — "She was from the old country (Ireland) and she could spin a great story." His father died when the boy was 5, and Sean soon became the man of the family.

"By 9 I had my own shoeshine box," he recalled. "Business was pretty competitive among shoeshine boys in Manhattan, so I had to discover some way to build a better trade. I found it one day when a man asked me to sing a song while I gave him a shine. I sang 'Home on the Range' and he gave me $1.20." Sean knew a good thing when he saw it, and soon he built an entire repertoire of songs, even combining with a pal on duets.

He gave up his sidewalk operations after a few years and worked on a dairy farm in upper New York State. At 15 he cut out, figuring high school was not for him.

LBJ Gives Church Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson invited his pastor to lunch at the White House this week and made his annual contribution to the church. How much?

"That's between the President and the pastor," said presidential press secretary George E. Reedy.

"I really don't know," Reedy replied when asked whether the President tithe.

U.S. Consulate In Montreal Picketed

MONTREAL (AP) — Some 300 demonstrators picketed the American consulate here in protest against U.S. military action in Viet Nam. The 90-minute march was orderly, and only five policemen were used to control the crowd.

Old Glory Torn Down

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Two men tore down the American flag flying outside the U.S. Embassy in a demonstration Tuesday against U.S. military aid to the Congo. About 5,000 persons crowded outside a building housing the embassy.

Riot police fired tear gas into the crowd after the demonstrators began throwing stones toward the fourth floor of the building, where the embassy has its offices. The stones crashed through windows of a company on a lower floor.

State Minister Grace Ibingira entered the embassy during the demonstration to hand over a protest.

A Devotional For The Day

Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbour as thyself. (Luke 10:27)

PRAYER: Our Father, help us to have the mind and heart and hand — the goodness — of the Samaritan of the Jericho road. In the name of the Master, who offers us goodness through redemption. Amen.

Although it did not quite come up to the requests made by Gov. John Connally in his recommendations regarding excellence in higher education, the House appropriations bill does show an increasing awareness of the importance of the junior college.

There are some things which should be done to strengthen the goal of not only serving as a community vocational and technical training center, but more particularly as an agency for providing the first two years of college academic training.

For one thing, standards of instruction must be kept on a par with those in senior colleges, and this goes for physical and instructional facilities, too. Counseling needs to be strengthened and expanded so that there can be no question but what junior college graduates can meet degree requirements in any institution selected for their degree.

Finally, senior colleges and universities must strive to eliminate discrimination against junior college transfers—in extra curricular activities, housing, social and academic campus organizations, intramural sports, employment and faculty relationships. Senior colleges must get rid of this condescending and critical attitude which some of their administrators and faculty have toward those coming up from two-year colleges. The junior college graduate must be able, if qualified, to take up his college life and study at senior colleges or universities without any serious disadvantage.

Not Agriculture Alone

"In 15 short years no more than 5 per cent of our people will make their living directly from the soil," writes Eric Sevareid in a recent column. "They will, nearly all of them, be connected with big-scale, big-capital, mechanized corporation farming . . . We are seeing the end of the era of family-farm rural life."

He points to some anomalies such as a farm economy incapable of supporting itself, yet with productivity that threatens to swamp us with surpluses; helping to feed several other nations, yet needing to take 50 million additional acres out of production.

He alludes to subsidies, which he says will always favor the big and rich farmers more than small and poor farmers, and to Agriculture Department expenditures of seven times the magnitude as 30 years ago when there were twice as many farms. A number of other writers have centered fire on subsidies, and some have suggested that there is no end to this silliness and until congressmen are limited to two terms as a prod to budgetary courage.

None can argue that the farm problem is a vexing one, that undoubtedly there are areas of waste, futility and unreality. But although the rural population is down to about 6 per cent and agriculture is afflicted by the irony of subsidy and surplus, the support problem cannot be considered purely as rural or urban. It would be fine if the government could progressively withdraw from subsidy of agriculture problems, but it would be equally wonderful if the government could withdraw from picking up the check for the huge postal department deficit, subsidies to the plane makers, airlines, steamships, to small businesses, schools, colleges and cities.

This is not to argue that all of these are wholly unworthy, but to point out that agriculture is not the sole source of drain on the public treasury. All programs should be kept under close and constant scrutiny, weighing the cost against the need and the general benefits. Urban dwellers may find themselves beneficiaries of some of the agricultural programs as well as postal service, highway construction, etc.

A Lesson From The French

WASHINGTON—Unlike certain other World War II generals who have rushed into print to tell President Johnson what he should do in Viet Nam, former President Eisenhower has used restraint. He told reporters who questioned him at the Eldorado Country Club in California, where he spends his winters, that since he did not have all the information available to the President he felt his opinions would be of limited value.

THE FORMER President may have had in mind, too, his own difficulties early in his first term over the French crisis in Indochina. In the memoir of his first four years in the White House, "Mandate for Change," he reveals how almost entirely in the dark Washington was as to the true state of events in Southeast Asia.

That was after the United States had been supporting the French effort to defeat the Communists in the north with aid at the rate of $500,000,000 a year. This money aid was funneled for several years through the French treasury and it contributed materially to sustaining the franc and consequently to its present strength in the world money market.

BUT AS FOR what was actually happening in the conflict going into its seventh year the President knew little more than what the French in Saigon, Hanoi and Paris chose to tell our officials. The glow of French optimism persisted almost up to the final debacle at Dienbienphu. And Eisenhower, sorely perplexed, seeking by all means to avoid direct American engagement in Viet Nam, understood only later how hopeless was the French position. Putting some searching questions after the tragedy, the President came up with answers relevant to today's headlines.

"I AM CONVINCED," he wrote, "that the French could not win the war because the internal political situation in Viet Nam, weak and confused, badly weakened their military position. I have never talked or corresponded with a person knowledgeable in Indochinese affairs who did not agree that had elections been held as of the time of the fighting, possibly 80 per cent of the population would have voted for Communist Ho Chi Minh as their leader rather than chief of state Bao Dai. Indeed the lack of leadership and drive on the part of Bao Dai was a factor in the feeling prevalent among Vietnamese that they had nothing to fight for . . ."

BAO DAI was regarded as a French colonial puppet. But, unfortunately, since he fled to France where he lives in great luxury in a villa on the Riviera, the Vietnamese in Saigon have had little success in agreeing on an acceptable government. Eisenhower tells of his efforts to convince the British and the French of the need for a "coalition which would give moral meaning to intervention . . ."

Latest reports show that the search is still going on.

GLIB TALK in Washington and in Saigon about hawks vs. doves ignores the same realities overlooked as the French moved toward collapse. The bland assumption is that a little show of muscle will settle everything.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

You can learn a lot by reading the U.S. Treasury's booklet, "Your Federal Income Tax." On page 23, for example, it says:

"Embezzled funds are income to the embezzler in the year the funds are misappropriated."

That's right. Persons who dipped into the company till last year now take the obligation of paying a tax on their take. And failure to report this income is a serious matter.

In making out an income tax return, honesty is the best policy.

Views On Johnson, Ike Huddle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidents and former presidents get along — sometimes. They visit each other — sometimes. But there is no tradition of friendliness between them and sometimes there is little or no friendliness.

When President Johnson Wednesday had former President Dwight D. Eisenhower over to the White House to get his views on Viet Nam, it may have seemed normal because President John F. Kennedy had done the same sort of thing.

But anyone who thinks it's normal has a short memory. There was a bitter gulf between Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover. Through the 12 years of Roosevelt's presidency Hoover never visited the White House and was never asked to.

WITHIN A couple of months after succeeding Roosevelt in 1945, President Harry S. Truman asked Hoover to visit him to discuss the world's food problems and the two men became good friends.

But then the gap appeared again when Eisenhower became president succeeding Truman in 1953. The long coolness between these two men ended only when Eisenhower visited Truman at his library in 1961.

It was the first time either had called on the other since Eisenhower's inauguration eight years before.

The presidential race between Roosevelt and Hoover in 1932, wasn't pleasant and until World War II Hoover had been a constant critic of his successor.

He blamed Roosevelt for lack of cooperation just before Roosevelt took the oath of office in 1933. Hoover had invited Roosevelt to the White House to discuss national and international problems, particularly the depression panic.

AFTER TRUMAN took over and discussed world food needs with Hoover, he sent the former president around the world to make a food survey for him. Then he appointed Hoover to head a commission on government reorganization.

During this time Hoover said some critical things about Truman's foreign policy — for instance, sending troops to Europe — and Truman called him an isolationist. But the two men remained friends.

Then came the 1952 presidential campaign when Truman backed Adlai E. Stevenson against Eisenhower. The latter, even though Truman had shown him great honor, criticized the Truman administration so severely that Truman charged that Eisenhower was waging "one of the lowest gutter campaigns I have ever seen."

Eisenhower, in his book, "Crusade in Europe," recalled that when he met Truman in Europe in 1945 the latter offered to help him get the presidency. Truman denied this, said he had warned Eisenhower against the job.

We Could Do Without . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — Some things we could do without:

Girls over 10 who wear dresses above their knees. Esthetes who can't appreciate anything written or painted before they were born. Night clubs so crowded that if you applaud your arm knocks a steak off the next table. Ladies who think it is cute to smoke a jeweled pipe in public, but expect a man to keep lighting it for them.

Prophets who say the world soon is coming to an end. Millionaires who never pay the cab fare because they never have anything smaller than a $50 bill on them. Any politician anywhere who wants to raise a tax on anything for any reason. Automatic dishwashers that always overflow so you have to mop the kitchen.

HOSTESSES WHO insist on their guests playing charades. Fond mothers who hand you babies to hold that have queasy stomachs. Poodles with haircuts like teenagers, and teenagers with haircuts like poodles.

Strangers who rap on your door to ask you to contribute to strange causes—such as a campaign to wipe out betel nut chewing in Burma. Television commercials that hold out hope you can solve all your major problems by switching deodorants, hair goods, toothpastes or mouth washes. And fat ladies who believe they can lose weight through hypnosis.

Drunken old buddies who call you up after midnight from far places and want to relive the past. Anybody who tries to sell you anything over the phone. Stenographers with fingernails an inch longer than their fingers.

OLD GRADS who are always trying to get the scalp of their alma mater's football coach. Laundries that put starch in your collar no matter how many times you tell them you don't want starch in your collar. Executives who clip their fingernails while bawling out underlings. Magazine articles giving the favorite recipes of movie stars who actually couldn't cook a three-minute egg in a year.

All people who insist on telling you about their divorces, their dreams, their diets — or a new series of isometric exercises that will make you so strong you can tear a deck of cards in half with one hand.

From these, and many another, let us have rest.

Proper Diet Important In All Types Of Colitis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Can anything be done to help colitis, other than to watch diet and to avoid rough or irritating foods? — L.N.A.

Yes, usually there are other things you can, and sometimes should, do to calm down a queasy colon.

Not all forms of colitis are the same. However, all of them require reasonable caution as to diet.

One of the most common is the spastic colon. Colitis is not an accurate description for it, since the "itis" implies inflammation, but let's not quibble over words.

The spastic colon is seen primarily in tense individuals. If they learn not to squander their nervous energy on things that don't really matter, and if they deliberately learn the art of relaxation at the end of a day's work they go a long way toward ending their trouble.

Another aspect of the same thing is irregular elimination, which in turn can be affected by irregular eating. Give your intestinal tract a break! Don't skip meals. Don't "eat and run."

After a meal, allow some time to relax. And — this is important — don't use excessive doses of laxatives, because in varying degrees they will irritate the colon. That is what they are for — to instigate action by the bowel. Constant repetition of this can make any colon irritable — not to mention one which already has a tendency to go into spasm.

For some patients, mild sedatives are helpful.

Mucous colitis, however, is another thing. Quite often some allergic condition is the basis. A useful step toward a cure is to seek out the food which set off the allergy.

Ulcerative colitis is a more serious condition involving bloody diarrhea and ulceration of the colon. It needs very precise, specific treatment to fit each case. If that's the kind of colitis you have, in mind, you must already be under a physician's care and he is telling you what to do.

Still other forms of colitis are from a parasitic infection, the commonest being the amoeba. Fundamentally medication is required to get rid of the parasite, and then care must be exercised to avoid picking it up again.

In any of these forms of colon trouble, foods containing a high proportion of roughage must be avoided. Whatever the cause of the colitis, don't ir-

Around The Rim

Poor Bait For The Poor Reader

It would appear that practically any combination of paper and ink can get published somewhere. At least, that's my impression after glancing through a circular I get regularly offering books at "absolutely rock bottom" prices. Being somewhat of a book lover and reader, I always go through the tiny type listings, hoping to find something worthwhile at "ridiculously low prices."

"I'M AFRAID I hurriedly pass over such temptations as "Goma: The Gorilla Baby" and "This Side of Your Mirror." The first is described as "an enchanting story of a baby girl gorilla . . . her first bottle . . . teething . . . and first steps." The second is "a complete beauty primer."

I race past such challenges as "How to Buy Insurance" as well. I know the answer to that one. Just move to a new house or have a baby. Every company extant will send a man around the first week, usually during the supper hour, with a briefcase filled with policies of every description.

"TRUE, I SLOW down a bit over such listings as "Love Potions Through the Ages" and puzzle over the meaning of "Socialism in Poland." Even titles like "Fleas, Flukes and Cuckoos" (described as a model study of bird parasites) are a bit fascinating, but I'm at a loss to understand why anyone would want "Simon Willard and His Clocks" despite the fact that it has "been out of print for 50 years." It sells for the current price of only $9.95, but if I were in the market to read about clocks, I would select "The Lure of the Clock," which sounds far more romantic and is only $3.49.

SOMEHOW THE title, "A History of the Department Store," doesn't "turn me on" as the saying goes, even at $2.95. But how about this one: "The Strange Life of Objects." "Copper-craft and Silver Made at Home" or "Creating Hooked Rugs" they can keep at any price.

"A Book of Beetles" is called "an informative volume on the most common and unusual species." But in "The Water Beetle" its author confesses, "my thoughts are wicked." We have enough at our house without getting a book called "Old Furniture" and "The Duchess of Dho" sounds like something on an upcoming Flintstone program.

"THE ELEPHANTS," the description says, tells of "the fortunes of an aged dying male and those of a pregnant female and her offspring — a dramatic, moving narrative." It sounds more like the latest news report.

The list goes on and on of similar fare, through 16 pages. I suspect I will soon be taken off the list, as I haven't plunked down hard cash for anything in these monthly "sensational clearances of classics and best-sellers." But I don't plan to cry a lot.

Collective Bargaining Breaks Down

WASHINGTON—Collective bargaining has received a body blow in the last few weeks. Many union leaders are unhappy about this, but they are powerless to make those unions which act irresponsibly conform to the public interest. So public opinion will naturally turn to the government for a remedy.

Much as all sides dislike to see enacted any new laws or amendments to existing statutes restricting the arbitrary power of labor unions or management, the residue of ill feeling left by the recent dock strikes can hardly be ignored by Congress.

NOT ONLY HAS the national economy suffered losses which President Johnson referred to as "staggering proportions," but lots of workers also incurred substantial losses in income and other hardships during the strike.

The big question is how to regulate the collective-bargaining process so that the bluffing and the bludgeoning will be superseded by a sincere and honest effort to reach an agreement and, if this failed, the case would be submitted to a fact-finding board, which at least could clarify the issues.

THE TAFT-HARTLEY Act, which provides for an 85-day "cooling-off" period, has not solved the problem, because each side stands firm and regards the "cooling-off" device as merely an artificial extension of the negotiations. The real difficulty lies in the fact that usually neither side trusts the other, and there's always the belief on the union side that, if a strike can be prolonged, management will give in or will make more concessions than would have been accepted.

A change in sentiment is developing throughout the country, and a feeling is growing that, distasteful as it may be to all sides, the government must step in and introduce some new form of settling strikes so as to protect the public interest.

THE WASHINGTON Evening Star comments as follows: "While we do not expect to see it come to pass at an early date, we hope the time is approaching when a President and a Congress will insist upon compulsory arbitration in major industries to protect the national interest. There are plenty of laws on the books to deal with abuses of power by big business. Why should big unions be permitted to abuse their power with impunity?"

MANY SUGGESTIONS have been offered whenever critical situations have arisen in disputes between management and labor. Compulsory arbitration, for instance, has frequently been urged, but it has been rejected as a formula by both the labor and the management side. The objection is that arbitrators satisfactory to both parties are hard to select and that, often, though conscientious, they are unfamiliar with the working conditions or the industrial problems involved. There is a fear, too, that the arbitration procedure might be introduced too early in the negotiations.

One proposal that may gain favor would provide that, whenever a serious disagreement has arisen in collective bargaining negotiations, the government should step in either with a fact-finding or mediating procedure, but that strikes should not be permitted unless there is absolutely no chance of working out an agreement by negotiation. Under such circumstances, the law might provide that, after a reasonable length of time, the government would be authorized to require both sides to accept some impartial procedure for settling the dispute.

ALSO, LARGE LABOR unions make their demands nowaday with the knowledge that, if there is a strike, other unions not necessarily related to the controversy itself will refuse to cross picket lines. The power of picketing is so extensive and so far-reaching that it frequently becomes a form of organized blackmail. Further regulation of the scope of picketing is certainly much needed.

While government control of labor negotiations or compulsory arbitration is unpopular, the time is coming when such reforms will be the only alternative if negotiations are permitted to continue to unite and labor unions are allowed to act in concert to produce work stoppages which bring inflationary trends, inflict serious injury on innocent parties, and damage considerably the public interest.

How To Control A State Visit

WASHINGTON—From Bonn, West Germany, comes word that the West Germans are terribly upset with the Egyptians over a state visit to the U.A.R. by East Germany's Walter Ulbricht at the end of this month. The West Germans agreed to stop arms shipments to Israel in exchange for a pledge from Nasser that he would not recognize East Germany.

But Ulbricht's visit is a slap in the face to Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, and West Germany warned the U.A.R. that it would retaliate, the harshness of the retaliation to be determined by what kind of reception Ulbricht gets.

THROUGH NEUTRAL sources we were able to obtain the minutes of a meeting between Nasser and his chief of protocol concerning Ulbricht's visit.

"Sir, all the plans for President Ulbricht's visit have been worked out."

"If you understand," Nasser said, "that if the state visit is too successful West Germany will break off diplomatic relations with us."

"YES, SIR. For that reason we have worked out a schedule that should please both the East Germans and the West Germans."

"Proceed."

"President Ulbricht will arrive at the airport, where he will be greeted by yourself and the cabinet, a regiment of paratroopers and the U.A.R. Navy Band."

"Good, but won't that get the West Germans mad?"

"WAIT." After he reads his greeting, Ulbricht will be taken to customs and stripped and searched for contraband."

"Very good," Nasser said. "What next?"

"He will then be placed in a convertible for the drive into town. Ulbricht will be escorted by the first Motorcycle Brigade. Just before he reaches town, he will be stopped by members of the Second Motorcycle Brigade and they will give him a ticket for speeding."

"What about the ticker-tape parade?"

"THE TICKET-TAPE parade has been arranged, but as Ulbricht gets near Sheppard's Hotel, I have arranged for several hundred students to set fire to his car."

"The West Germans can't complain about that."

"He will be staying at the Kubbeh Palace, and during the luncheon you will give in his honor I have fixed it so someone will sneak into his room and rob him of everything he has."

"THE EAST GERMANS will be pleased with the lunch; the West Germans with the robbery," Nasser said.

"In the evening we shall take the President to a private party where he will be treated to some outstanding belly dancing. Then we shall have the vice squad raid the place and take photos of the President being shoved into a Black Maria with the belly dancers."

"Brilliant," Nasser said. "The West Germans will not be able to find any fault with this, and, if the East Germans complain, we'll threaten to invite Ulbricht back for another state visit."

Real Estate Amendment Challenged

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Looking ahead, a Houston lawmaker declared this week a proposal involving private property rights "could raise an emotional storm and be the deciding factor in the 1966 U.S. Senate race in Texas."

Rep. Charles Whitfield called the proposed constitutional amendment the "equivalent of California's Proposition 13, which he said was responsible for the defeat of Sen. Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., last November."

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., is expected to run for re-election in 1966. He was one of Barry Goldwater's supporters in the 1964 presidential race.

Solons Prod For Negotiated Truce

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Sens. Frank Church and George S. McGovern has called anew for efforts toward a negotiated settlement in South Viet Nam.

McGovern, of South Dakota, said the American people support President Johnson's actions, but that his own mail indicates by a ratio of 15 to 1 "that the people also favor efforts on our part to negotiate a cease-fire and a settlement in Viet Nam."

Church, of Idaho, said that if the fighting continues it will leave a tragic trail of casualties all out of proportion to U.S. national interest and still lead to a negotiated settlement with the Communists.

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—About 200 African and Asian students battled Polish police and staged an hour-long demonstration at the U.S. Embassy today protesting U.S. policies in Viet Nam as well as in Asia, Africa and South America.

Two windows were broken in the new embassy building by five or six missiles hurled early in the demonstration.

Ex-Fugitive On Loose Decades May Go Free

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—James B. Jones, who escaped from a Michigan prison farm 29 years ago and was arrested recently when his wife turned him in, may get out of southern Michigan prison quite soon.

Leonard McConnell, a member of the State Parole Board, told Jones, 49, at a hearing here today that "we are interested in your release at the earliest possible moment. We will contact the judge. You will be hearing from us soon."

LIVING IN TEXAS McConnell said Jones, who was living in Texas when arrested, was the object of many letters from Texas asking that he be pardoned rather than paroled. McConnell said there was a possibility that Gov. George Romney may be asked to pardon Jones. He said of the many letters: "I don't know when I've seen such laudatory remarks about a man."

One letter from the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles told Michigan corrections director Gus Harrison that Jones had no Texas record. It said Jones had been a good citizen, well-liked by his neighbors and had a good credit rating.

Jones was returned from Brownsville, Tex., to the Michigan prison last Wednesday. Sentenced in 1934 to a five-year term for robbery from Lenawee County, Jones fled from one of the prison's farms in 1936. At the time of his arrest, he was the operator of a children's amusement park in Harlingen, Tex. Jones said he and his wife were separated and he was trying to work out a divorce settlement when she alerted police to his fugitive status.

The sessions drew a capacity crowd to the Veterans Administration Hospital auditorium, located some distance out of town.

Brewer said he feared for his safety after registering to vote last Aug. 5, particularly since one of his brothers had been beaten with an axe handle for failing to "sit" a storekeeper.

In Tuesday's session, Jake Cain of Carroll County said he paid poll taxes for 40 years before being allowed to register as a voter.

"Until we can get to the polls, I don't think we can be considered citizens," the 78-year-old farmer said.

Teacher Pay Plight Noted

AUSTIN (AP)—Classroom teachers ought to get paid for after-hours "babysitting" at school club meetings or dances, Rep. Don Hefton of Sherman says.

"To ask a teacher to give an evening or two or three a week to chaperon or monitor a dance, or club meeting, or sit in the stands during a basketball game, is above and beyond the call of duty," Hefton said.

He said testimony before the Interim Committee on Education, created by the legislature to study education problems in Texas, indicates the "babysitting" problem "is widespread... and abusive."

If the club meetings and dances and games are vital to education, he said, then chaperons should be found through the P.T.A.

Rains Benefit Early Grazing

AUSTIN (AP)—Recent rains assured a plentiful supply of early grazing, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported.

Snow, sleet and rain brought much needed moisture to the High and Low Plains and the Trans - Pecos areas, benefiting dryland wheat in the north-west.

Oat prospects were boosted by showers and oats continued to furnish considerable grazing.

Field activities were at a standstill over much of the state.

Hawks, Rams Contest For Lead In Circuit

By HARDY PRICE

HCJC's Jayhawks are kings of the hill in the Western Junior College Conference basketball race.

The Hawks are in sole possession of first place with a 10-3 conference record. Three teams, San Angelo, South Plains and Amarillo, are tied for second with 9-4 records.

The Rams of San Angelo will be gunning for the Hawks tonight in Ram Memorial Gym in San Angelo. Game time is 7:30 p.m. and this is the last chance the Rams will have to tangle with the Hawks in conference play. The Rams must win to stay in competition for the conference title.

Tonight's game will be the last time the two meet as Western Junior College Conference adversaries. San Angelo will move up to the ranks of senior colleges next year.

The last meeting of the two clubs in Big Spring, January 29, the Rams were in first place with a perfect 6-0 conference record, but left with a 4-1 record and a 95-72 defeat at the hands of the Hawks. The two clubs met in the finals of the Odessa tournament in December with the Hawks the victors again by a 90-80 margin.

An overflow crowd is expected for the game tonight. In past years fans have been turned away from the small Ram Gym. Tuesday the Rams dropped a close overtime game to South Plains, 68-67, in San Angelo. Hawk coach Buddy Travis said the Rams will be up for the game tonight and will remember the two previous defeats at the hands of the Hawks. He added that his boys will be up for the game, also.

TONTO COLEMAN

Tonto Coleman Is Speaker At Roscoe Sports Party

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coleman, all of Big Spring, and Harry Coleman, Midland, are planning to attend an all-sports banquet in Roscoe Saturday night featuring one of that city's most celebrated high school graduates—Arthur (Tonto) Coleman. Tonto, well known in this area, is now assistant athletic director at Georgia Tech University in Atlanta, Ga., and has been prominently mentioned for the job of commissioner of the Southeastern Conference. The banquet, scheduled to start at 8 p.m., is being held by the Plover Booster Club. The football boys all played their first football at Roscoe High. Tonto, a gifted speaker, is one will likely start Danny Spohn-South Plains with his defensive hall, Charles Morton, Gary Jellison, Sammy Roach and Stan Schlueter. Schlueter was a bright point in the Rams' loss to the year for the Hawks.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Why do other Western Conference basketball teams play harder against HCJC than against that perennial championship contender, San Angelo?

It's pretty well agreed around the circuit that they do, even though San Angelo has dominated the circuit the past three years.

There could be several contributing factors. For one thing, HCJC has been in the league longer than San Angelo. For another, an HCJC team a few years back tried to make it a point to humiliate the opposing teams in their own gyms and stories of such brass are handed down from one group of students to another.

Neither coach Buddy Travis nor his immediate predecessor, Harold Davis, would ever allow such an attitude to prevail upon a team they handled. That particular squad was masterminded by an interim coach, who quite probably didn't mastermind such a philosophy but, regrettably, did nothing to put a brake on it.

Another factor could well be that coach Phil George of San Angelo simply charms the opposition into complacency. George is a very personable fellow and his disarming attitude is enough to lull opposing coaches into a false sense of security. No one faults Phil for that. Many an athletic contest is won with a psychological prod at the right moment. This is not to imply that San Angelo doesn't field fine basketball teams. Far from it. The Rams are always tough to handle. George is the doctor who probes for early weaknesses through exploratory surgery.

Still another aspect that makes the job so tough for HCJC is that San Angelo exits the Western Conference after this year. The other league teams can dismiss the thought of playing the Rams again with the marbles at stake. They know they'll be testing the mettle of the Hawks for years to come, on the other hand.

It's hard to believe but the Lubbock High School basketball team that twice took Big Spring over the hurdles in early season play finished no higher than third in District 2-AAAA. Over-all, Lubbock had a 21-4 record but the losses came where it hurt most.

Janice Riechart, who resided here for a time, is now in Lubbock Christian College and will compete in the Women's National AAU in New York City, where she'll run in the 22-yard dash.

Bob Duden, the touring pro and producer of a croquet-type putter, has scored six holes-in-one in tournament play but never collected a penny on any of them.

Troy Lemley, basketball coach Aspermont High School, reasons he has not one but three boys worthy of all-state consideration.

They are David Frazier, James Ray and Joe Bass and Lemley says he'd dislike the thought of choosing between them. Frazier headed the Class A second all-state team last year and he's averaging 21 points a game this season. Ray, only a junior, is the go-to guy who gave Coahoma such a bad time in football last fall. He's a top rebounder, a consistent scorer and has a 68.5 shooting average.

Bass is a Negro youth who Lemley says has come faster than any player he's ever known. He's 6-foot-3, rebounds an average of 15.5 a game and is scoring at a 14.5-point clip. His rebounding high for one game this year was 35.

of the nation's best known athletic personalities. On his trip into the state, Coleman will also speak to groups in Amarillo, Borger and Dallas. In accepting the invitation to speak in Roscoe, Tonto said: "I've always wanted to return to Roscoe, where I have so many friends and where my parents, brothers and sisters found such a happy home." Coleman was born in Alabama but moved to Texas at an early age with his parents to a farm near Roscoe. He entered Roscoe High School as a junior in 1922 and graduated there in 1924. He played baseball, basketball and football for the Plovers. He later attended Abilene Christian College, when he be-

Clay Is Back In Business After Surgery

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay has proved he can punch his way out of a paper bag after recuperating from a hernia operation.

Clay seems to be the big noise in Chicago at a time when a build-up is being attempted for the Eddie Machen-Ernie Terrell World Boxing Association championship bout March 5.

The guy can't help getting into the act, and he did it Wednesday to take the steam from the arrival of Machen from California to start local training. Terrell has been around the city for several weeks.

Clay is boxing Cody Jones of Detroit in two four-round exhibitions, afternoon and evening, on Feb. 27 here.

He had his first workout Wednesday, in the ring at Johnny Coulon's South Side gym, since his emergency hernia operation on the eve of his title defense against Sonny Liston last Nov. 16. The two tentatively are to meet in Boston May 25.

Weighing 230 pounds, 20 over his usual ring weight, Clay panted through a sparring drill with his brother, Rudy.

After it was over he slumped over the ropes, and with what seemed his last breath, shouted his usual routine:

"I'm the prettiest. 'I'm the king. 'I can't be whipped.'"

With this stuff over, he calmed down to say:

"For a three-month layoff and being 20 pounds overweight, I didn't do too badly. Rudy is better than Floyd Patterson and I could have whipped Patterson today."

After boxing Cody, Clay said, he will go to Florida and begin serious training for the Liston rematch.

Odessa Wins Over 'Dogs

CLARENDON — Odessa College Wranglers came from behind here Tuesday night to win their fifth Western Junior College Conference game, 57-52, over the Clarendon Bulldogs.

Clarendon (52)—Frazier, 3-5-1; Robertson, 1-3-1; Powers, 1-1-3; Johnson, 2-0-1; Alexander, 1-1-1; Campbell, 1-1-1; Totter, 2-1-0-2. Total time score—Clarendon 28 Odessa 25.

State Gloves Meet Opens

FORT WORTH (AP)—One of the strongest fields in recent years launches the battle tonight for Texas Golden Gloves championships.

The place is Will Rogers Ciseum, the program calls for 20 bouts and about 90 boxers form the cast.

Fighters from 13 regional centers weighed in today. Pairings were scheduled to follow.

Three national champions are entered along with six boys who have won Texas titles and five finalists from the past two state tournaments.

One of the national titleholders is Jesse Valdez, a Houston schoolboy who will defend his welterweight crown. He is a combination boxer-puncher who was the sensation of the state tournament last year.

Wolves To Open Play March 12

COLORADO CITY — Although no longer members of District 3-AAA, the Colorado City Wolves will field a baseball team again this spring.

The Wolves open a 14-game season March 12, at which time they visit Big Spring.

Schedule: March 12 Big Spring three; March 13 Big Spring of Colorado City; March 14 Abilene College three; March 19 Sweetwater at Colorado City; March 23 Lamesa at Colorado City; March 27 Odessa four (two games); March 29 Sweetwater—Abilene; April 11 Sweetwater at Colorado City; April 15 Lamesa at Colorado City; April 20 Snyder three; April 24 Howard County Junior College at Colorado City; May 4 Sweetwater three; May 8 Snyder at Colorado City.

Faculty Opposes Coahoma Teams

COAHOAMA—The senior class of Coahoma High School is sponsoring a basketball doubleheader at 6:30 o'clock this evening between students and teachers. The contests take place in the high school gymnasium. The first game pits the school girls against the women teachers while the boys face the male members of the faculty in the afterpiece. Tickets for the action sell for 30 cents adult and 25 cents student.

CHARGED IN BRIBERY CASE Charlie Williams (L), Peller Phillips

Seattle Stars Are Arrested

SEATTLE (AP) — Two Seattle University basketball stars and a Chicago tavern owner were arrested Wednesday night on bribery conspiracy charges involving a game with the University of Idaho.

Charlie Williams, captain of the Chieftains; a teammate, Peller Phillips, and Leo Casale, 24, of Chicago, were arrested in connection with the Jan. 22 game in Seattle. Casale was arrested in Chicago.

Seattle won the game 89-72. Williams and Phillips were arraigned Wednesday night, and U.S. Commissioner Walter Reseburg Jr. released them on $1,000 bond each. The two Seattle players asked for a preliminary hearing, which Reseburg set for 4:30 p.m. EST March 1.

Casale is to be arraigned today in Chicago, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said.

The charge against Casale and the two 21-year-old Seattle University seniors is "that they did conspire with each other to carry into effect a scheme or plan in commerce to influence a sporting contest by bribery."

The FBI said the maximum penalty is a $10,000 fine or five years in prison or both.

Williams is the son of a minister and is married and has one child. His major study is sociology, and he planned a career in

R. L. Lasater Is Timed In 6.3 In Dallas Race

COMMERCE — After a successful debut at the Fourth Annual Dallas Indoor Track and Field Meet, East Texas begins outdoor competition with a five-way meet in Arlington Friday afternoon.

Coach Delmer Brown will pit his thinculds against Arlington State and two members of the Southwest Conference, Baylor and SMU, in the Arlington State Invitational. Host Arlington State is a Southland Conference representative.

The defending Lone Star conference track champs served notice that they are strong in both the track and field events by taking first place in six of the 12 college events at the Dallas meet. "I was real pleased with our boys' performances this early in the season," said Brown.

Meet officials said the record throw by shot putter Randy Matson of Texas A&M and the record-setting 600-yard run by East Texas' Morris Kyser were the top performances of the night. Kyser, a junior from Pearland, won the 600 with a time of 1:13.4, but was edged by Olympian Richard Steedins of Grambling for the outstanding trackman award in the college division. Kyser's winning time was far better than the 1:16.0 which won the university 600.

R. L. Lasater, LSC sprint champ, from Big Spring, won the 60-yard dash with a 6.3 but didn't participate in the 300-yard dash because of a troublesome groin injury.

Other first place finishers for the Lions were Roger Kirkwood with a 2:19.1 in the 1,000-yard run, Russel Polhemus in the shot put and Mike Toon, who was East Texas' only double winner with a broad jump of 22-3/4 and a 6-2 high jump.

Terry Cole placed third in the 60 and 300-yard dashes, while Robert Miller was third in the 60-yard high hurdles. Also placing were Ron McNeill with a fourth in the 300 and Augusto Sanchez with a second in the 1,000-yard run. The Lions' mile relay team of Bridges, Ballowe, Basil Clark, McNeill and Kyser finished second.

For the Arlington State Invitational Friday Coach Brown has announced the East Texas entries: Polhemus in the shot put and discus; Sanchez in the mile and 2-mile run; Kyser, McNeill, Clark and Ballowe in the 400-yard dash and mile relay; Lasater and Cole in the 100 and 220; Terry Burnett and Miller in the 120-yard high hurdles and 330-yard intermediate hurdles; Kirkwood, Pete Columb and Joe Humphrey in the 880-yard run; and Toon in the broad jump and high jump.

Inter-League Play Is Not Due Shortly

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — Football fans need not expect in the immediate future to see a title game between the champions of the National and the American Football Leagues.

They need not, in fact, even wait around for an exhibition game between the two leagues.

It would take a revision of the NFL constitution to sanction an NFL-AFL championship game, along with AFL blessing of course.

Approval of an exhibition game would require a yes vote by all 14 owners of the NFL, who generally can't agree on anything — not even the color of the jerseys their teams will wear at home and on the road.

"As far as I am concerned," said NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, "I would not favor an exhibition game between the National and American Leagues."

Rozelle made his comment as the league resumed its winter meeting and after his position seemingly was distorted by his answer to a question about the league's policy involving non-league exhibitions.

The constitution, said Rozelle for clarification, does not prohibit a pre-season game with the AFL.

Nor does it prohibit, it was pointed out, exhibitions with the Pakistanian Blue Rifles, a Canadian Football League team nor the Eagle Rock, Calif., Rhinos.

The league rule says simply that all 14 clubs must agree on a pre-season schedule.

Rozelle made it obvious his league has a full schedule of pre-season games and is not interested in outside commitments, including any AFL games.

One owner, Arthur B. Modell of the champion Cleveland Browns, was even more pointed. He said his club is not interested in associating in any way with the other league — games, common craft, you name it.

Bellamy Star In Big Win

Nominations are open for the best sixth man in the National Basketball Association, and for starters how about Baltimore's Walt Bellamy and Boston's John Havlicek.

Normally a starter, Bellamy came off the bench and sparked the Bulls' 125-114 victory over Cincinnati Wednesday night. Havlicek, Boston's super-sub, scored 31 as the Celtics rolled past St. Louis 121-114.

Los Angeles relied on those reliable starters, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, for its 118-98 romp over New York.

Bellamy, the 6-foot-11 center who has been a mainstay since coming into the league three years ago, failed to start for the first time in his career after absorbing public criticism for his recent play by Baltimore General Manager Paul Hoffman.

Big Walt came off the bench at the start of the second period, scoring 24 points and grabbing 13 rebounds the rest of the way. Gus Johnson's 29 points led the Bulls, who jumped off to a 17-1 lead in the first five minutes.

Havlicek, who has replaced the retired Frank Ramsey as Boston's No. 1 reserve, scored 31 points, one less than Sam Jones, as the Celtics roared from behind against St. Louis.

Two More Signed

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys announced Wednesday the signing of Collin Verrich, North Dakota place kicker, and Mickey Rice, Idaho running back and punter.

Nuclear Rockets Ample, Red Says

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is armed with intercontinental and global rockets whose nuclear warheads are equal to 100 million tons of TNT, Marshal Vasily Sokolovsky said today.

He also claimed Soviet super-sonic planes are equipped with long-range rockets carrying nuclear warheads.

Sokolovsky spoke at a news conference held in connection with the 47th anniversary of the Red Army. He was chief of the general staff for the army and air force from 1955 to 1960 and is now retired to a Defense Ministry inspector's post.

The Red Army anniversary is celebrated on Feb. 23.

SOKOLOVSKY

HAVE "PLENTY"

"We have more than enough nuclear means to rout any aggressor," Sokolovsky said.

He said strategic rocket troops now form the backbone of the Soviet armed forces.

The effectiveness of the Soviet air force, he continued, has been sharply increased by super-sonic planes equipped with nuclear-tipped, long-range rockets.

He said the Soviet navy is now built around atomic submarines of virtually unlimited range that are equipped with powerful missiles.

New Soviet anti-aircraft defenses are capable of reaching targets flying at any speeds at any altitudes, he declared.

Soviet ground forces are equipped with tactical nuclear weapons and tactical rockets, he said.

The Soviets before the signing of the nuclear test-ban treaty tested a nuclear weapon of 58 megatons — equivalent to 58 million tons of TNT — and former Soviet Premier Khrushchev spoke a number of times about a 100-megaton bomb.

U.S. military experts at the time said warheads of such size would be inefficient, that the increase in their destructive power would not be sufficient to justify building them.

Sokolovsky said that despite the Soviet Union's advances in military equipment, its foreign policy is aimed at strengthening peace and not building up the nation's nuclear rocket potential.

He claimed that the Soviet Union had undertaken several measures toward the relaxation of international tension, among them a reduction of $555 million in military spending for the current year.

"It would be good," Sokolovsky said, "if the NATO countries would also prove by deeds their desire for peace to improve the international atmosphere."

Transfusions Fail To Save Transplant Youth

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Blood transfusions failed to save Sammie Pruett, 19, who survived a kidney transplant more than a year ago but died of bleeding from duodenal ulcers.

Doctors said the ulcers were responsible for his death Wednesday night in Wilford Hall Hospital at Lackland Air Force Base.

Surgeons removed both his kidneys and transferred one from his mother in operating on the Bangs, Tex., youth here Jan. 23, 1964. He was able to leave the hospital last March but returned at intervals.

Hospital attendants said the bleeding ulcers caused his last trip to the hospital and Pruett received 12 pints of blood in transfusions. They had obtained 20 additional pints from volunteer donors after a public appeal.

Air Force doctors treated the civilian youth on special instructions from the secretary of the Air Force, a hospital spokesman said. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Pruett of Bangs, in West Central Texas near Brownwood.

Connally Pushes Tourist Campaign

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally urged businessmen Wednesday to underwrite new tourist-luring attractions and publicize existing ones. He also proposed that some of Texas' largest tourist spots form a self-polishing agency.

Texas has few developments which hold visitors "long enough to extract economic value" from them, the governor said at a luncheon for businessmen and legislators sponsored by the Texas Tourist Council, a private group.

"We are confronted with the classic dilemma of investment capital unwilling to venture unless the market is already present . . . and the market not being fully developed because investment has not been made," Connally said.

GROW TOGETHER

He added that the two must grow together, "with neither waiting for the other to blaze the trail."

Texas needs "more imagination, local pride and well spent dollars into its tourist development program" to compete with other states, the governor said.

In the afternoon the Texas Attractions Association organized and discussed guidelines for ethical operations.

Claude Cox, president of the new association, said use of its seal is planned in a manner similar to one of the American Automobile Association "to assure tourists this is a place where they won't get clipped."

HAVE ASSOCIATIONS

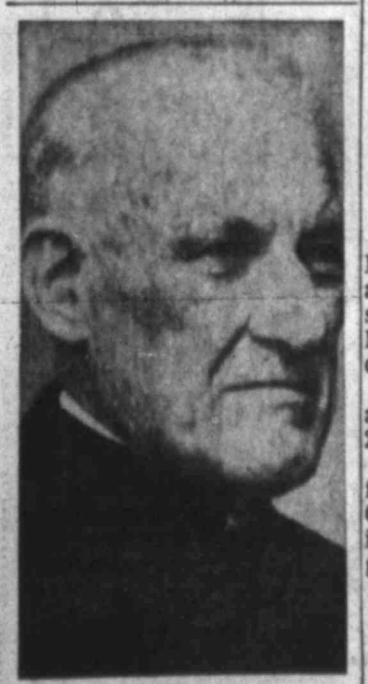

Florida, Hawaii and Virginia now have such associations.

In his speech Connally recommended broader publicity for Texas lakes, three of which rank among the 10 most popular in the United States.

"Texas has more inland water than any state except Alaska and two-thirds of theirs is always frozen," he observed.

"Yet much of our water potential has never been developed."

He said Amistad Dam and Sam Rayburn Reservoir would be ripe for tourist traffic when completed.

Ten Saved In Dallas Fire

DALLAS (AP) — Nurses at Methodist Hill, several miles across town in Oak Cliff, helped save 10 persons in a burning North Dallas house early today.

The nurses spotted the flames and quickly notified firemen at 2:15 a.m.

Occupants of the five-room frame house, all Negroes, were Claude Wilkerson, eight others in his family and an overnight guest.

Hearing Monday On Rules Change

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee today set a Monday hearing on a proposed rules change which opponents contend could hamper passage of a teacher pay raise bill.

HOW STATISTICS ARRIVED AT

Who's Employed And Who's Not

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Brown has a job with the Nuts & Bolts Co. but didn't work last week because of a strike at the plant. Question: Is he employed or unemployed?

He's employed, according to the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

But suppose, while on strike, Brown goes over to the Screw Washer Factory to apply for a job there?

In that case, he will show up on the government's jobless rolls along with some four million other Americans.

The names of Bob Brown, the Nuts & Bolts Co. and the Screw Washer Factory are mythical of course, but the bureau uses them to illustrate how it arrives at one of the nation's most important economic yardsticks every month.

SPECIAL GROUP

During one week in every month, some 35,000 families in a carefully chosen cross-section are interviewed by a special group of Census Bureau workers and the results multiplied to get the national unemployment rate.

But it's not so simple as just knocking on the door and asking who in the family is employed or out of work.

The interviewer does not make the decision. It's all done by electronic computer back at the Census Bureau in Washington.

The computer is programmed to decide who is listed as employed, unemployed or not in the labor force.

People with regular jobs who were absent from work during the survey week because of illness, bad weather, strikes or various personal reasons are listed as employed.

Except, as in Bob Brown's case, a striker who goes looking for another job is counted as unemployed. If he simply went fishing and waited for the strike to end, he would be counted as employed.

Generally, anyone without a job who looks for work is listed on the jobless rolls.

But then there's the case of a coal miner thrown out of work when the mine was closed permanently.

He gives up looking for work as futile. Even so, the bureau lists him as unemployed even though he didn't actively seek a job during the survey week.

IN "EMPLOYED"

What about Pete, 15, who has no paying job, but puts in about 20 hours a week on chores around his father's farm? He is considered employed as an unpaid family worker.

So is Betty Green, who helps out in her husband's grocery store several days a week.

The bureau counts all persons over 14 years of age who are not in school, military service or in an institution.

The bureau figures its sample survey of 35,000 households, multiplied to get the nation's total unemployment figure, is within 200,000 of the figure a total census would show.

To guard against errors, one-fourth of the 35,000-sample households are replaced every month so that no family is interviewed more than four months in a row.

The 35,000 survey households are located all over the nation, designed to reflect urban and rural areas, different types of industry and farming operations, and the major geographic divisions of the country in the same proportion as the nation as a whole, the bureau said.

Try Dyeing For Lift

You can usually work miracles with those dull drab fabrics that are too good to throw away. Try the simple method of dyeing them.

The good commercial dyes now on the market cost little, and the process of dyeing itself is easy and safe if you follow the manufacturer's directions. It's usually a good idea to strip the fabric of its old color first, then dye to the shade you want. This results in a truer, clearer color.

Always make sure of the final result by first dyeing a scrap or an inconspicuous part of the fabric.

British Exchange

A British-inspired Chelsea collar accents the solid top of this two-piece confection made by Bobbie Brooks. It is sparkled with a gaily striped bow and outlined with contrasting soutache braid. Up-and-down stripes cover the boy shorts, and two pocket flaps, brightened with soutache trim, are worn at the hip.

HINTS FROM HELOISE Let Ear Clips Serve As Pins For Suits

Dear Heloise: Once before you published a hint of mine, and I couldn't have been more surprised. I'm writing you again because so many people have told me I should.

I was wearing an orange bow in my hair one day, and I had an orange and white bracelet, but the suit I was wearing was very plain and bare looking. I wanted a pin of some kind but had every color except orange!

I had a brainstorm and it worked. No one was the wiser, unless I chose to tell my secret.

I pinned two safety pins through my suit from the reverse side, one above and to the left of the other. On the outside of the suit, only two narrow lengths of the pins were visible. I then clipped two orange earrings over these pins, and everyone thought I had purchased new scatter pins! . . . Marilyn C. Racey

Aren't you the clever one! And this would be a good way to use that one earring which lost its mate but matches a neckline or bracelet.

Keep the hints coming, Marilyn. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: Your advice on hard-boiled eggs is excellent, but I suggest that you call them hard-cooked since they are only simmered and never really boiled at all. I cook my eggs 15 minutes after the water comes to a boil. Crazy as it may sound, the eggs should be stirred during the first part of the cooking so the yolks will be solidified in the CENTER of the egg . . .

Well, I have and I decided to do something about it. I removed the spring from the cylinder (it comes out easily) and snipped off a bit of the spring, and presto! the holder comes out easily and quickly.

If you happen to cut off a bit too much of the spring, just stuff a wad of tissue in the end of the cylinder before replacing the spring. . . Huntice Abjornson

Negro Leader U.S. May Trim Overseas Bases Hints 'Broader' Selma Action

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says that what he calls broader civil disobedience measures will be undertaken in Selma unless Negro civil rights demands are met by city and county leaders.

"Selma still isn't right," King said Wednesday night after a strategy conference with leaders of the current right-to-vote drive, now in its fifth week.

King said "that far from letting up on activities in Selma and Dallas County we are going to broaden and intensify these activities."

If demands are not met, he told a mass meeting at a Negro church, "we must engage in broader civil disobedience measures to bring the attention of the nation on Dallas County."

WASHINGTON (AP) — These bases. United States still maintains more than 400 major military bases overseas. Many are likely to be closed or reduced to standby status in the years ahead.

Aside from these considerations, there is the ever-present pressure on the Defense Department to economize and to stem the outflow of gold which results from spending U.S. dollars abroad.

The advent of bigger transport planes, floating depots and faster seafight may permit eventual reduction of heavy garrisons abroad, particularly in Europe where about 300,000 American servicemen are stationed.

The acquisition of longer-range fighters and reconnaissance jets may permit more airfields abroad to be placed on a caretaker basis, ready to receive units flown in from the United States when necessary.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara pointed in this direction last year when he told Congress that "the increasing range of land-based tactical aircraft has reduced our requirement for forward-based airpower."

Borger Chamber To Hear Connolly

BORGER (AP) — Gov. John Connolly will speak to the Borger Chamber of Commerce March 18.

Teachers Urged To Hear Speaker Here Tonight

Mrs. Jewell Harris, a teacher of speech and drama in Jefferson Junior High School in Abilene, will address a joint meeting of the Big Spring unit of the Texas State Teachers Association and the Classroom Teachers Association at 7:30 p.m. today. The meeting will be in the high school auditorium and Mrs. Harris' subject will be "Methods of Securing Our Legislative Program."

Mrs. Harris has been active in professional organizations for a number of years and has served the Abilene TSTA and CTA units through various offices.

Her professional training includes the BA degree from Abilene Christian College, the MA from McMurry, and graduate work at Hardin-Simmons University and the University of Texas. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi.

Mrs. Harris is known for her speaking ability, and the knowledge of her subject. She has taught in the Abilene school system for 15 years, and taught English and public speaking in the Holliday (Texas) High School for six years.

George Rice, president of the local unit of the Texas State Teachers Association, and Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds, president of the Classroom Teachers Association, urge all members to hear the speaker in her discussion.

Anderson Street Church Launched

The new Anderson Street Church of Christ building, in the William Green Addition, will be in use by the congregation for the first time Sunday, and the minister has announced the formation of a new young adult class.

The class, called "The Defense of Our Hope," is for young adults from 19 to 35 years of age. David Tarbet, minister, said.

"The topics of study will be the existence of God, the inspiration of the scriptures, the Biblical doctrine of sin and salvation, and eternity," he said.

The instructor will be the minister, a graduate of Abilene Christian College, assisted by Myrl Click, local businessman.

The new building is located on Anderson Street just off North Birdwell Lane, in northeast Big Spring.

Showdown In U.N. Fought

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. delegates made feverish efforts today to block Albania's attempt to force a U.S.-Soviet showdown over voting rights in the General Assembly. But the little Communist state stood fast.

Informants said if assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey is unable to legally sidetrack the demands by Albanian delegate Halim Budo for an end to the voting moratorium, he may postpone the assembly session scheduled this afternoon.

Budo sought to dispel the general suspicion that Red China pressured its small ally into the move which disrupted plans to recess the assembly until Sept. 1.

Budo demanded on Tuesday that the assembly vote to elect its steering committee, adopt an agenda and get to work. Quaison-Sackey averted a showdown by adjourning the session.

The Soviet bloc, from which Albania defected when the dispute between Moscow and Peking erupted more than two years ago, was reported incensed over the move.

GOP Has Plan On District Reshuffle

AUSTIN (AP) — Republicans will have their own plan for reshuffling districts for Congress, state GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell says.

He declared that two alternate plans approved by the Legislative Council "ignore the vital need of representation based on community of interest in population centers."

than 1,200 will be retired in the coming fiscal year. Most already have been withdrawn from Britain and Spain.

An Air Force spokesman said in London earlier this week that the Strategic Air Command will end its operations in Britain on April 1, winding up a 14-year chapter.

The Air Force now has more than 650 intercontinental ballistic missiles aimed at Communist targets from the continental United States. The Navy has more than 300 Polaris missiles ready in submarines patrolling submerged within range of Red China and the Soviet Union.

Chief Named For Ft. Hood

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — Lt. Gen. Harvey Fischer is departing and Maj. Gen. Ralph Haines Jr., is returning to succeed him as commandant of this big Central Texas Army post.

President Johnson nominated Haines Wednesday for promotion to lieutenant general. He has been assigned to command Ft. Hood and its 3rd Corps. Haines commanded the 1st Armored Division here in 1962 before going to Washington as the army's deputy chief of staff for force development.

DEAR ABBY

Not Normal For A Boy

DEAR ABBY: We have three sons, 13, 12 and 10. I am worried about our eldest boy. He is about the same size as his 12-year-old brother. In fact, they are often taken for twins. The two younger boys gang up on the older one, who just stands there and lets them beat him up. He doesn't cry, or hit back or even ask for help. This doesn't seem normal to me. I know all brothers fight sometimes, but this is no fight. He won't even try to defend himself. He is a good student and a very quiet, obedient boy. Could something be wrong with him? I can't figure it out.

MICHIGAN MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Don't try to "figure it out." Ask your family doctor (or pediatrician) to recommend someone who specializes in child behavior problems, and take the boy there. Something is wrong with a boy who will not defend himself, or retaliate when attacked. P.S. And while you are about it, find out what is making unprovoked aggressors out of the other two boys.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is divorced, has two small children and receives no help from her former husband. (He has remarried and left the state). I have been taking care of her children days while she works. She makes very good money, but I have a small pension and don't take anything for helping her. My daughter is very quarrelsome. She curses me and the children and treats me like a hired hand. She has been getting me so nervous and upset lately that I can't eat or sleep right, and my health is beginning to fail.

I have had a proposal of marriage from a very nice man I've been going with for two years, but he wants me to promise him that after we are married I will not take the responsibility of caring for my grandchildren any more. He says that is the only way we can be happy. I care a lot for this man, Abby, and want to marry him. But is it fair of him to make me choose between him and my own flesh and blood?

HARD TO DECIDE

DEAR HARD: Marry the man. If your daughter had to face the responsibility of rearing

Global Peace Parley Hears Pope's Plea

NEW YORK (AP) — Pope Paul VI told a global peace conference today that all nations have a duty to foster friendship and shun armed conflict in "the present grave international crisis."

Failure to do so, he said, "would have incalculable and frightful results for all mankind."

His message came as eminent scholars and statesmen from around the world met to seek practical steps for preserving peace in an era of tension and nuclear weapons.

The gathering, inspired by the encyclical, Peace on Earth, of the late Pope John XXIII, brought together an illustrious company of intellectuals and government leaders.

About 1,500 of them, from the West and the Communist East, were registered for the three days of discussions.

The affair, privately sponsored by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, was titled "International Convocation on Pacem in Terris (Peace on Earth)."

Nobel Prize-winning physicist Linus Pauling told an initial working session the "injustice and immorality of the great wars of the past would be far transcended by a great war in the nuclear age."

"Instead of tens of millions, hundreds or even thousands of millions of human beings might be killed. Great nations might be exterminated. Civilization might come to an end. There is even the possibility that the human race would not survive the catastrophe."

Pope Paul, in a telegram relayed through Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, voiced a "prayerful desire" that the deliberations here "lead to positive action for world peace."

In a second message, handwritten to Robert M. Hutchins, conference chairman and president of the sponsoring center, the Pope reiterated his hopes for the meeting's effectiveness and impact.

Water Rifts Plan Sought

AUSTIN (AP) — Lack of an administrative procedure to settle water rights conflicts has led to long court fights and could hamper the success of a state water plan, the Texas Research League says.

It issued a report Wednesday recommending a clear-cut system for settling such conflicts. "The engineering and economic barriers to the management of Texas' water resources can be overcome," the League said. "But major obstacles remain to be cleared in the field of water rights and the competing claims to the control and use of present and future water supplies."

Job Training Fund

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislation allowing the State Welfare Department to receive federal money to train persons for jobs is ready for Senate debate after winning unanimous approval from a Senate committee.

Inventor Avers Skill Underrated

NEW YORK (AP) — Inventor Theodore A. Rich, who has 97 patents, says it's time that invention was regarded as a profession instead of a joke.

"People think of an inventor as a kind of nut who sits in an attic dreaming up gadgets," Rich says. "A professional inventor doesn't even rate a title as such in industry."

Rich, a senior engineer at the General Electric Co. advanced technology laboratories at Schenectady, N.Y., is one of the most prolific inventors in the company's history.

12 PENDING

In addition to patents already granted, he has about 12 more pending. Now 59, Rich has averaged more than two patentable inventions a year since he was a $12.50-a-week technician at GE's Lynn, Mass., laboratory in 1926. His inventions have ranged from a World War II submarine detector to a device for keeping electric clocks on time. Most have been complex measuring devices for gauging radiation, electric current and the size and electrical charge of air particles. His work with air particles has gained him wide recognition in atmospheric physics.

Rich said in an interview that he feels industry should encourage development of more ideas men like himself — researchers who are essentially inventors rather than technical experts. While invention in industry of ten comes under the broad heading of research and development, he feels there is too much emphasis on analysis of facts, not enough on putting facts together.

NEW PRODUCTS

"In a company like ours," Rich says, "about one-third of our products weren't even thought of 15 years ago. Now if that much of our business comes from inventors why shouldn't invention be regarded as a profession?"

Invention, he feels, is more imagination than brains.

"We're living in an age of the expert and the specialist who thinks he has to be right every time he opens his mouth," the inventor says. "To invent, you have to take a chance on being wrong."

Rich estimates that perhaps one of every 13 of his ideas have produced a patentable invention. So important have his ideas been that in 1960 the Institute of Electronic and Electrical Engineers presented him its Leeds Award for outstanding creative work in electrical measurement. His own company has three times given him its highest technical recognition, the Charles A. Coffin award.

Cyclist Death Laid To Telephone Cable

DALLAS (AP) — A telephone cable, which had been snagged and pulled down by a large truck, caused the death of James Blackstone, 25. The cable was jerked into his path Wednesday as he rode his motorcycle on Thornton Freeway.

Court Waits Ruby Lawyer Removal Bid

AUSTIN (AP) — A petition asking that Joe Tonahill of Jasper, be removed as lawyer for Jack Ruby was expected today by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Ruby's appeal from a death sentence assessed in his trial for murder after he shot down Lee Harvey Oswald in Dallas will be heard by the court March 19. Oswald assassinated President Kennedy.

Mrs. Eva Grant, sister of the condemned slayer, said Wednesday in Dallas that Ruby had signed a document cutting the Jasper lawyer from the case.

Tonahill, at Jasper, said, "I can't legally or morally quit him. Any document his brothers and sister got him to sign is worthless because he is insane."

Trains Snowbound

CAMPOBASSO, Italy (AP) — A driving new snowstorm worsened the plight today of 200 passengers snowbound for the third day in two trains in the Apennine Mountains 90 miles northeast of Naples.

Ranger 8 Streaks On Toward Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ranger 8 streaked on toward the moon today after what scientists say was an apparently successful maneuver designed to send it crashing onto the lunar surface early Saturday morning.

Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory said preliminary indications are that the camera-carrying spacecraft will land on or near its target, a broad and dusty plain called Mare Tranquillitatis, the Sea of "Tranquility."

It will be 3 p.m. Eastern Standard Time however, before they can calculate Rangers new path precisely. Without the correction the spacecraft would have missed the trailing edge of the moon by 1,136 miles.

The maneuver at 5 a.m. came as Ranger 8 was 99,000 miles out on its 234,000-mile journey.

Two Highway Projects Progressing In Dawson

LAMESA (SC) — Two major highway projects, totaling $1,235,184, are under way in Dawson County.

Bill Jowell, construction superintendent for W. J. Seidon Co., San Antonio, reports work on the interchange of US 87 and US 180, three miles south of here, is about 10 per cent complete.

Laying foundation and base of east lanes US 87 will begin Monday. Excavation work for an underpass to carry northbound traffic to Lamesa has been completed.

Drill shafts will move to the construction site Feb. 22 to begin work on the overpass bridge, which will carry US 180 traffic east and west.

The work will eliminate the former "Y" intersection, at which five persons were killed in traffic accidents over a short period of years. It is also a part of $1,069,184 project that includes construction of a 4-lane highway from the crossing to the Martin County line, 19.8 miles.

Some grading work is being done on east lanes of US 87 between Lamesa and Ackerly at the southern fringe of Dawson County. When the four-lane project is completed, divided highways will span the distance from Big Spring to Lubbock.

A pre-construction safety meeting was held Wednesday morning in the state highway department offices to outline plans for completion of State Highway 137 to the Terry County line — 18 miles.

J. H. Strain & Son of Tye, Texas, was awarded a $186,000 contract to add the final hot mix asphalt cover on the roadway, built about a year ago.

Strain is moving equipment into the Lamesa area and hopes to start work soon. He has 100 working days to complete the project, which also includes a short strip of similar work in the city limits.

Target completion date of the US 87 project is Nov. 1.

Snow Finally Stops Falling In West Texas

By The Associated Press

Snow finally stopped falling over a broad and lonely stretch of far West Texas around the Davis Mountains today.

The sneak storm, lasting more than 24 hours, carpeted the area just north of the Big Bend country with up to 14 inches of snow at the McDonald Observatory on Mt. Locke.

Occasional rain or drizzle fell at scattered points over the state's midsection this morning. Skies were at least partly cloudy everywhere except the Texas Panhandle.

Wet snowflakes started fluttering down in the Davis Mountains sector around midnight Tuesday and it was 3 a.m. today before the fall stopped at Alpine, blanketed more than 10 inches deep.

Lighter snow covered other areas in a belt about 100 miles wide, but there was little wind

Shopping Done For Pancake Feast

Sherman Smith has completed his grocery shopping chore for the Kiwanis Club's 13th annual Pancake supper. Now he is worrying, as anyone might, whether he bought enough of this or perhaps too much of that.

The Pancake supper will be served in the Howard County Junior College Student Union Building Friday night. Serving begins at 5 p.m. Guests will be accommodated to 8 p.m.

Last year, although the weather was not ideal, more than 1,200 Big Spring and Howard Countians showed up to eat pancakes. Smith has bought supplies this year based on last year's record.

Tickets are on sale from all Kiwanians. Adults will be 75 cents and children 50 cents. Theme of the supper, as it has been for all of the years it has been conducted, is "all the pancakes, bacon, butter, syrup and coffee a patron wants for the price of his ticket."

Jasper Adkins is the creator of the pancake recipe the Kiwanis Club uses each year at these annual events. The tastiness of his flapjacks is widely admired. Jasper, with an assist by Robert Stripling, will begin blending the elements for the pancakes early Friday afternoon. The army of Kiwanis cooks will begin assembling at 2 p.m. The crew charged with frying the bacon starts at that hour.

The list of groceries Smith bought is impressive. It includes, among other items, 350 pounds of bacon; 100 pounds oleo; six dozen eggs, 50 gallons whole milk, 50 gallons of syrup; 40 pounds of coffee; 300 pounds of flour, 10 pounds salt, 60 pounds sugar, five pounds of baking powder.

The club has its own special electric pancake griddles which are installed in the SUB kitchen each year at this time for preparation of the pancakes.

All receipts, after costs of the party are paid, go to the club's fund to aid underprivileged children.

All members of the Kiwanis Club are drafted as cooks, bus boys, dishwashers, ushers and waiters for these annual events. Bob Travis, president, asked members to be at the SUB as early as possible Friday afternoon.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for guests who have not been provided with pasteboards by eager Kiwanis salesmen.

Car Inspection Bill Pondered

AUSTIN (AP)—A bill to double the motor vehicle inspection fee and raise the number of items inspected went to a Senate Transportation subcommittee Wednesday.

Sen. Abraham Kazen of Laredo said the bill by Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan could allow garage operators to take advantage of the law by selling auto parts.

The bill would add checks of steering and exhaust systems, windshields and wheels. The inspection fee would be raised from $1 to $2.

Zoning Variances Are Requested

The zoning board of adjustment is to consider two requests for zoning variances in a meeting at 4 p.m. today in city hall.

Al Milch has requested variances to the city setback ordinance for property at 4100 Bilger and 4118 Bilger, in the Muir Heights Addition, for residences to be constructed on the two lots closer to the inside property line than the zoning ordinance permits.

The first lot is at the intersection of Hearn and Bilger Streets and the second at Wilson and Bilger Streets.

Comfortable 'Family Living' Room Dominates Home Of Ralph Catons

By JO BRIGHT
 "This is our winter living room," said Mrs. Ralph Caton as she poured generous glasses of cold milk for Anne, 7, and Carl, 4. Glancing around, she indicated the large kitchen-den area which was separated by the tile breakfast bar where the children sat. With a mother's intuition, she was already reaching for the fat, pineapple-shaped cookie jar and placed several of the crunchy circles on saucers before the youngsters.

The room was a place, planned mostly for the evening hours, where a tired man might settle firmly in a favorite chair and relax—after he built the fire.

"Ralph is our fire-builder," continued Mrs. Caton. "Not long ago he had to be out-of-town a lot during the early hours of the evening. The room didn't seem the same. When we got back into our regular routine, I realized the trouble—we hadn't had a fire for two weeks!"

When Judge Caton is home, and the flames in the fireplace properly nourished, the family watches TV or the children read if there is not a new game to hold their interest. Friends may drop by for an informal visit, and this may mean a telephone call or two which will bring other couples to join them.

"We entertain very informally," stressed Mrs. Caton. "In the summer, we live on the patio and during the cold weather, we have the barbecue equipment just outside the sliding doors. We can still grill steaks, there without any trouble or discomfort." Caton thinks it's hard to improve on a good steak, so he charcoals the meat with only salt, pepper and a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce. He feels that a crisp salad and baked potato round out the meal perfectly.

MORNING MENU
 Breakfast is a matter of choice in the Caton home at 619 Colgate. Judge Caton chooses only vitamin pills and milk. Mrs. Caton and Carl are faithful to eggs and toast, while Anne believes that cinnamon toast and orange juice are just right to start the day. She has her lunch at Washington Place school while Carl and his mother like a soup-and-sandwich snack at home.

The largest meal of the day is in the evening, but there is no set time—or hurry—about that. Judge Caton likes to relax while before dinner and is not one to expect a full meal to be ready for the table when he walks in the door. With him, dessert is a sometime thing, too, so his wife waits until she gets the request before baking a special pie or cake.

Mrs. Caton does not shop on a regular schedule since she finds that if she does, most often the same "specials" are offered on that day. She said that her one cooking rule is that she uses butter instead of margarine—for everything. Her family feels that the improvement in flavor is worth the difference in price. They buy half a beef and keep it in the freezer. Not long ago they added a case of chickens which they bought at a good price when a truck overturned nearby. The milk, eggs and butter are delivered to the home so they never run short of these items.

OTHER INTERESTS
 Mrs. Caton was frank in saying that cooking was not one of her big interests, but she does it well, and her other homemaking talents add to their pleasure at mealtimes. For holiday occasions, she has created festive table covers from net, felt, sequins and beads. Her "Harvest Cloth" is of pale net, beige felt and is elaborately decorated with cut-outs in a fall motif. She sews, making clothing for Anne, and has knitted for many years. She remembers some of the first things she knitted were "wristlets" which were distributed to servicemen during World War II.

She has made afgans and given two as gifts. She remarked that she had to give Caton's mother an afgan "certificate" for Christmas because it was not yet completed.

The Catons work in their yard when the changing seasons demand it, and enjoy weekend traveling. She does all her housework, including the ironing, except for her husband's shirts.

"We work around the house when it needs to be done or when the mood strikes us," continued Mrs. Caton. "With our family, it seems to be all work or all play. We concentrate on one or the other but keep them separate."

Mrs. Caton has donated her time to civic work and thoroughly enjoys her association with the Parent-Teachers Association and her job as a room mother at school. She and her husband are in the process of "building" a sail boat with the Roger Browns, so there may be many picnic lunches packed if it is ready to be launched this summer.

Here are recipes used often in the Caton home.

RED CHERRY PIE

 1 1/2 tbsps. quick-cooking tapioca

CHERRY ACCENT

Pork Chops Perk Up With Tart Red Sauce

February is a month full of reasons for doing something special at mealtimes. When those red letter days roll around, you will enjoy making your menus appropriate for the occasions.

On the holiday which marks the birthday of our first president, the story of his cutting down the cherry tree comes to mind.

Cherries not only appear in the usual cherry pies, but they can be a delicious accompaniment for meat dishes. For instance, here's a bright entree for your February 22nd celebration... pork chops topped with cherry sauce.

The cherry sauce provides the liquid necessary for braising pork chops. This moist heat cooking is recommended for chops that are juicy and tender at serving time, states meat authority Reba Staggs.

CHERRY PORK CHOPS
 6 pork rib or loin chops, cut 3/4 to 1 inch thick
 1 tsp. lard or drippings
 1 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. pepper
 1 can (16-oz.) tart red cherries
 1 tsp. cornstarch
 1/4 cup brown sugar
 Brown chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Drain cherries, reserving juice. Add enough water to cherry juice to make 1 cup of liquid. Combine cornstarch and brown sugar in sauce pan. Add cherry juice. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Add cherries to sauce. Pour over pork chops. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes or until done. 6 servings.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE
 1/2 cup butter
 4 egg yolks, well beaten
 3/4 cup boiling water
 Few grains cayenne pepper
 1/4 tsp. salt
 2 tbsps. lemon juice
 Melt butter in top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Gradually add egg yolks, stirring constantly, and gradually stir in the boiling water. Cook over hot water until mixture begins to thicken. (Be careful not to cook too long or hard as Hollandaise separates easily.)

Remove from heat, add pepper, salt and lemon juice. Cover and place over hot water until serving time (should not stand too long). If sauce starts to curdle, beat vigorously with rotary beater until smooth and creamy. Serve with fish dishes and broccoli, asparagus, peas, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, etc. Makes one cup.

BOILED SHRIMP
 Use prepared shrimp boil, or for each quart of salted water add:

2 bay leaves
 6 whole cloves
 1/4 tsp. tabasco
 2 coarse chopped celery stalks
 1 pinch thyme
 1 pinch basil
 1/4 to 1/2 clove garlic

Combine unshelled shrimp and other ingredients in large pot. Cover and bring to boil. Adjust heat so that shrimp cooks at rolling boil until shells are pink.

SHRIMP LOUIS DRESSING
 1 cup mayonnaise
 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
 1/4 cup chili sauce
 2 tbsps. grated onion
 2 tbsps. parsley, chopped fine
 Dash of cayenne
 Combine all ingredients and refrigerate. Shred lettuce, arrange on platter, and heap with hard-cooked eggs, fresh tomatoes (peeled and quartered) and slices of avocado. Pour the Louisiana dressing over all. Serves four.

Old Fable Told Again At Brunch

The fable of the cherry tree has made this fruit popular on February 22nd. And this year the birthday of the "man who never told a lie" is on Monday. So what could be a more fitting celebration of this oft-neglected national holiday than a leisurely Washington's Birthday Brunch?

Plan the brunch as a festive family affair, or invite your favorite Saturday golfers to join you before heading for the links. The party can also be adapted for children and will make that problem meal of breakfast an enjoyable occasion.

Cherry-Day Muffins are featured on the menu for our Washington's Birthday Brunch. Made with self-rising flour, these muffins can be made in record time and will rise to twice their unbaked size.

Round out the menu with a first course of grapefruit juice, garnished with maraschino cherries, of course, and scrambled eggs with sausage. For an added Cherry-Day effect, mold the sausages into miniature hatchets before frying. Beverages can be coffee for adults, milk or chocolate milk for children.

The brunch may be served buffet-style on a red or cherry-design tablecloth. For a centerpiece, make a mock cherry tree by hanging red candy or plastic cherries from a "tree" with red ribbon. The "tree" is a carry-over from Christmas decorations, or can be simply made by painting a many-forked twig white and setting it in a clay base. If children are guests at the brunch, they will delight in chopping down the candy cherries on the centerpiece with miniature plastic hatchets after the party.

To make the Cherry-Day Muffins, follow the tested recipe below:

CHERRY-DAY MUFFINS
 1 can red pie cherries
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 cups self-rising flour
 1/4 cup sugar

Special Dessert Made From Figs

If you're looking for that "different" dessert for a special dinner here's a suggestion called Sicilian figs.

Drain the juice from a can of figs into a small sauce pan. Add 1/4 cup chopped, candied ginger and cook over a medium flame for 10 minutes. Pour the hot syrup over the figs and cool. Top each serving with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

Quick Chutney

For a quick chutney to serve with a curry, add vinegar, brown sugar, instant minced onions, minced garlic and raisins to canned whole cranberry sauce; cook until flavors blend and mixture thickens somewhat.

CHERRY-DAY MUFFINS Have feature billing at brunch

1/4 tsp. soda
 1 beaten egg
 3/4 cup sour milk or buttermilk
 1/4 cup melted shortening
 Drain the cherries. Pour 1/2 cup sugar over them and let stand while mixing the other ingredients.

Sift flour, soda, and 1/4 cup sugar into a bowl. In a separate bowl, mix together the beaten egg, milk and shortening. Make a well in the center of the mixture of dry ingredients and pour the milk mixture into this. Stir just until mixed. Add cherries, mixing gently. Pour muffin mixture into muffin pan, filling about 1/2 full. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) for 20 minutes. Makes 12.

A brunch is always a relaxed way of entertaining, and puts guests or family in a good-humor, making the day more fun for everyone. And a celebration of Washington's Birthday in brunch style is just unusual enough to assure your fame as a hostess forever.

OLD WORLD CHERRY BUNS Have a new world of flavor

Fresh Baked Buns Brighten Breakfast

Fresh baked buns can create a feeling of warmth and hospitality for family and guests alike. This versatile recipe for Old World Cherry Buns serves all occasions—breakfast, lunch or dinner—plus those extra special events when good friends call. Brighten your kitchen reputation with these Old World Cherry Buns made from unbleached flour for better flavor, grain and texture.

OLD WORLD CHERRY BUNS
 1 No. 1 can tart red cherries
 1-3 cup sugar
 2 tbsps. unbleached flour
 1 tsp. butter
 Few drops red food coloring
 1 pkg. active dry yeast
 3/4 cup warm water
 1 cup milk, scalded
 1/2 cup shortening
 1-3 cup shortening
 1-3 cup sugar
 1 tsp. salt
 1 egg
 4 to 4 1/2 cups sifted unbleached flour

Combine sugar and flour. Add cherries and cook until thick. Add butter and food coloring. Cool and reserve.

Soften yeast in warm water. Add hot milk to shortening, sugar and salt. Stir until shortening is melted; cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 1/2 cups of the flour. Add softened yeast and egg; beat well. Stir in remaining flour or enough to make a soft dough. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Place in a greased bowl; cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, about one to one and one-half hours. Punch down; cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll dough to slightly less than 1/2-inch thick. Cut with a 2 1/2-inch cutter. Place two-inches apart on a lightly greased baking sheet. Cover and let rise until light, about 45 minutes. With fingers, press down center of buns; spoon in cherry filling. Bake at 375 degrees about 15 minutes or until done. Yields about 1 1/2 dozen buns.

Unmold on crisp salad greens. Garnish with reserved canned sweet cherries and mandarin orange sections. Serve with favorite salad dressing. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Tart Fruit Plentiful

COLLEGE STATION—Washington's birthday is sure to be celebrated this year.

Plenty of red tart cherries will be on hand for traditional pies and pastries, according to the Texas Extension Service.

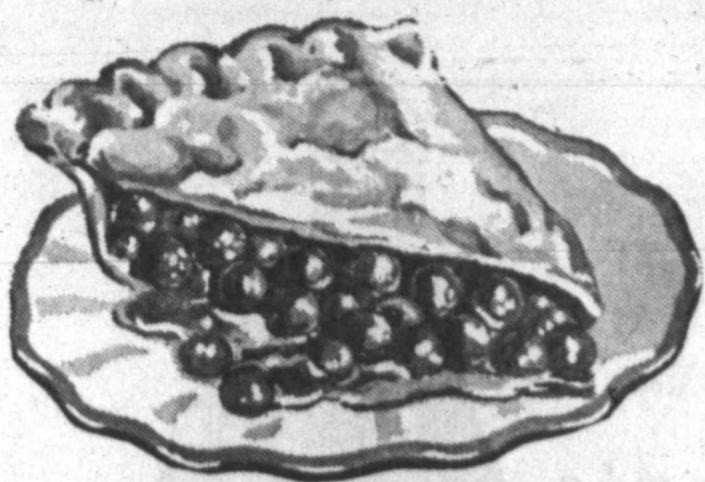

Other foods plentiful this month are eggs, broiler-fryers and dry peas, apples, dried prunes and canned ripe olives. Recent inventory of frozen cherry stocks ran about 140 million pounds, almost double a year ago and a new record high. Canned red tart cherry prices were 10 to 15 cents lower than opening prices paid to processors two years ago, when supplies were unusually heavy. Apples moved well through market channels last fall, but the record large crop still leaves an abundance in stock. Canned ripe olive supplies also are expected to be record large. Stocks of dried prunes are considerably greater than last year.

Use Candy Canes
In Special Dish

Great recipe to try while candy canes are at large!

PEPPERMINT PIECES

- 2 cups sugar
 - 1 cup light corn syrup
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 4 ozs. crushed peppermint (6 small candy canes)
- In a saucepan, stir together the sugar, corn syrup and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Cook without stirring until temperature reaches 300 degrees on a candy thermometer or until a small amount of the mixture dropped into very cold water separates into threads that are hard and brittle. Stir in crushed peppermint.
- Pour into a greased jelly roll pan (15 1/2 by 10 1/2 by 1 inch), down over board or table. Tap sharply to loosen candy; break into pieces. Makes 1 1/2 pounds.

Senators View Redistricting Subpanel List

AUSTIN (AP)—Senators analyzed today the lists of their colleagues named to redistricting subcommittees.

Across the Capitol, House members awaited action stemming from committee approval of the important oil and gas forced pooling bill.

The pooling bill, passed overwhelmingly last Wednesday by the Senate, is the most far reaching petroleum industry legislation in Texas in more than a decade.

The House Oil and Gas Committee approved the bill without change Wednesday. Only one committee member voted against the recommendation.

Independent oilmen are backing the bill. They contend recent production allowances set by the state for small-tract drillers have been reduced so sharply these drillers need a means to force their neighbors to pool land tracts and form production units.

Sen. Louis Crump's appointment of redistricting subcommittees caused some furrowed brows.

The San Saba senator, chairman of the Senate Redistricting Committee, heads both a subcommittee to redistrict the Senate and one to redraw congressional districts.

Also on the senatorial redistricting subcommittee are Sens. Cris Cole of Houston, Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, Bill Moore of Bryan and Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi.

Mexico Police Shoot Texan At Checkpoint

PIEDRAS NEGRAS, Mexico (AP)—One American is hospitalized and three others jailed as result of a shooting at a police checkpoint on the Ciudad Acuna-Piedras Negras highway last Saturday.

The hospital patient is Woodward Peables Jr., 23, of Abilene, Tex.

U.S. Consul William Brewster said the three men being held in jail are Boyd Freitag of Austin, Tex.; Robert Henderson of Dripping Springs, Tex., and Ronald Carrier of Waterford, Pa.

The consul said Peables was shot in the wrist and leg by Mexican police but his condition was "not too serious."

Brewster said he had not learned the details of the shooting and did not know whether it resulted from failure of the car occupied by the four men to stop or the car leaving the checkpoint too abruptly.

No charges have been filed against the Americans. Brewster said the federal district attorney is conducting an investigation.

Two Alabama Negroes Shot

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Two Negro youths were wounded by a shotgun blast as they were standing inside a Mobile restaurant. Both were listed in serious condition at a Mobile hospital.

Police identified the youths as Billy Kinnard, 18, and James Lee Doss, 16.

Officers said the first shot went through a plate glass window of the restaurant, and the second was fired through the front door.

Witnesses said the blast came from a late model, light colored station wagon, driven by a white man who appeared to be in his 30s. Another white man sat in the back seat of the vehicle.

New Crime Law Package Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — A thick package of new crime laws aimed both at fighting organized crime and salvaging the young criminal is under study by the Johnson administration.

Administration sources said today the crime package probably will place special stress on laws granting immunity to witnesses in certain categories of organized-crime investigations.

While it is expected to propose major new laws in the fields of narcotics, arson, firearms and wiretapping, it will seek also to put federal money into the fight against juvenile delinquency.

NOT READY

One source stressed that the crime bills are a long way from completion and may not be ready for Congress until spring.

These are the lines along which administration experts are thinking as they assemble the crime package, which will be accompanied by a special message from President Johnson:

—Immunity: Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and his predecessor, Robert F. Kennedy, have pleaded for laws that will grant immunity from prosecution to witnesses in certain federal criminal investigations.

The laws being considered by the administration probably will deal with investigations of bankruptcy fraud and interstate travel in aid of racketeering.

The bankruptcy dodge is one of organized crime's more recent incursions into legitimate business.

—Firearms: Johnson is likely to propose strict controls over the sale and registration of firearms—possibly forbidding their sale to minors under 18 and to persons with criminal records.

FEDERAL OFFENSE

—Arson: Under consideration is a law to make arson in connection with interstate travel a federal offense. The Justice Department is convinced that gangsters have reaped millions in insurance money after burning buildings they own, either directly or through fronts.

—Narcotics: The administration is considering some sort of legislation that will primarily affect the users of narcotics.

—Wiretapping: Despite reversals in Congress, the administration plans once more to ask for a law permitting, under strict controls, the tapping of telephone lines in certain criminal investigations, and the use in court of evidence gained from such taps.

—Juvenile delinquency: The government would, under a proposal being considered, expand its system of "halfway houses" to improve the chances of young offenders to face society after they've been in prison.

Noted Lensman Recalls Iwo Jima

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "The closer you get to the beach the more you wonder which of the 15 or 20 men in the boat with you will never return."

That's the way photographer Joe Rosenthal recalls the U.S. Marine assault on Iwo Jima 20 years ago today.

Five thousand Marines died on the tiny island. They made it a fighter-plane stepping stone to Japan in World War II.

Secondary in Rosenthal's thoughts is the famous photograph he made of Marines raising the American flag on Mt. Suribachi, at the southern tip of the eight square miles of Iwo.

WON PULITZER

It has often been described as the best picture of World War II. It won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1945. It was the model for a huge bronze Marine memorial in Arlington, Va., across the Potomac River from Washington, D.C. It was the theme poster for the seventh war loan drive. It has been reproduced on U.S. postage stamps.

Millions of copies have been printed — in black and white, in color, in magazines, newspapers and on posters.

The photographer, now 53, stocky, bespectacled and with thinning white hair, observed in an interview: "The picture serves a useful purpose in reminding people of the kind of job these men did in battle. Iwo was the kind of battle that is so fierce and costly in suffering, not only to those killed but those who came back maimed.

"The island was bristling porcupine-like with emplacements. Cannon, anti-aircraft and machineguns studded the terraced terrain.

ADVANCE POUNDING

"Their fire was very heavy in spite of the advance pounding by ship and aerial bombardment.

"The Japanese had an intricate maze of underground caves and connecting tunnels, some three or four stories down. They had underground sleeping quarters, mess hall and headquarters where they could weather the bombardment. Most were still available when the assault came.

"We were all briefed pretty well on the defense. So there was a grim reality as we approached the beach, wondering who would never come back."

Iwo was the fifth island assault Rosenthal covered in the Pacific War as an Associated Press photographer.

The flag raising by five Marines and a Navy corpsman on 548-foot Mt. Suribachi came on Feb. 22 (U.S. time), four days after the Marines first hit the beach.

Rosenthal, now a photographer for the San Francisco Chronicle, said he was invited to today's 20th memorial on Iwo Jima and would like to have gone but he was offered military transportation only from Tokyo to Iwo.
