Bonanza Of Pictures Sent Back By Ranger Experts Disagree On Interpretation

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ranger 8 sent to earth Saturday a dramatic series of thousands of pictures of the moon's surface. Scientists marveled, but disagreed in interpreting them. Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper, head of a team that will spend months analyzing the pictorial bonanza, said to him the lunar surface looks treacherous. While its strength can't be determined from photos, he said, "I think there is only about three to six feet of loose material covering the surface." The first lunar explorers, he said, may have to probe the surface ahead with long poles to keep from falling into lava tunnels. Another expert thought the surface would support a space ship. A third thought there might be 50 to 60 feet of dust covering the broad plain where Ranger 8 crashed at 1:57 a.m. after a 65-hour journey from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Known." This area is some 1,000 miles west of the shadow line. Ranger 7's pictures were 2,000 times better than any taken with earth telescopes — showing an area broken by many craters, some as small as 18 inches in diameter. Ranger 8's 65-hour, 248,900-mile voyage from Cape Kennedy, Fla., to the moon ended at 1:57 a.m. It crashed into the Sea of Tranquility, just 15 miles from the original target, at 5,942 miles per hour. Its television cameras clicked off pictures starting at 1,553 miles up, scanning an area 400 miles long. First pictures covered an area 200 miles wide. The last one taken from only 1,700 feet, showed only the area of a city lot. The two full-scan and four partial-scan cameras transmitted video data of "excellent quality" to the Goldstone Tracking Station, 150 miles east of Pasadena.

Turnabout Revolts Continue In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Military leaders who rescued Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh from South Viet Nam's latest coup turned on him Saturday with a vote of no confidence and decided to strip him of power, informed sources reported. Moving into Khanh's spot as the national strong man appeared to be Brig. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, 39, who rose quickly in the armed forces after Khanh took power 13 months ago. Khanh vanished from Saigon and the sources said he was on "a long voyage." Earlier Thi said vaguely of Khanh's whereabouts: "He is on an inspection tour in the 2nd Corps area." Khanh was last seen leaving Saigon at noon Saturday and was believed then to have been leaving for Cap St. Jacques, the coastal resort southeast of here where military men hold their councils.

Cong Arms Cache Found Near Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese forces have uncovered a makeshift Communist guerrilla supply depot — holding perhaps 50 tons of arms and supplies — in a cave and on a beach 200 miles northeast of Saigon, military authorities reported Saturday. They said it may be the biggest weapons haul of the war. The officials said there was no doubt the material was shipped by sea from Communist North Viet Nam to supply Viet Cong forces fighting in the South. The cache included Red Chinese and Soviet-made weapons.

The announcement of the haul in Saigon coincided with a broadcast from Communist North Viet Nam expressing concern that the United States might launch air strikes against the North without provocation. This concern was voiced in the official Hanoi paper Nhan Dan. The supply depot was discovered during a routine flight by a U.S. helicopter over Vung Ro Bay last Tuesday. The helicopter drew heavy fire from a 120-foot steel-hulled Communist gunboat under a camouflage cover in the bay's shallow waters. Vietnamese fighter-bombers were summoned and they sank the vessel.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh then personally launched a ground operation against the cave area and South Vietnamese troops fought their way in Friday. From the weapons dump, the South Vietnamese recovered 900 Red Chinese rifles, 50 Soviet-made submachine guns, 14 automatic rifles and a Russian machine gun, plus an undetermined amount of explosives. In the hull of the sunken gunboat, divers brought up a 50-caliber anti-aircraft gun, a 57mm recoilless rifle, a box of grenades, a base plate for an 81mm mortar, 50-caliber ammunition and North Vietnamese documents. Military sources said it was possible the gunboat had been running supply missions from the North along the southern coast during the night and hiding during the day.

The North Vietnamese broadcast, quoting from Nhan Dan, said any further U.S. attacks on the North will be "an extremely grave matter." "The U.S. imperialists must bear full responsibility for the consequences arising from their acts," it said. Denying that the Hanoi regime is responsible for Viet Cong attacks on U.S. installations in the South, the newspaper said that South Vietnamese are solely responsible for Viet Cong activities. They, the paper added, have a right to beat the United States "black and blue" for remaining in South Viet Nam for the past 10 years.

JUBILANT

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory, where Rangers are made and guided, was a scene of jubilation when word was announced that Ranger 8's six cameras had started clicking 23 minutes before impact and were transmitting perfectly. Experts gave these reasons for the difference between pictures from Rangers 7 and 8: 1. Achievement of a low trajectory that allowed 23 minutes of photographing, 13 more than originally expected and 10 minutes more than accomplished by Ranger 7. 2. Two more sensitive cameras and a brighter, apparently "cleaner" landing field than Ranger 7 had. 3. An impact area close to the moon's shadow line, where mountains, craters and rocks — caught by a "setting" sun — threw long, sharply etched shadows before passing under the dark of the earth, thus yielding photos with strong contrast.

300 SCIENTISTS

Some 300 laboratory scientists, office workers and newsmen sat with eyes glued to a closed-circuit television receiver that showed the Goldstone oscilloscope's reception of video signals. The tension was heightened by the eerie, high-pitched whine of an audio conversion of Ranger 8's video signal over the public address system.

4,316 PICTURES

Ranger 7, in its final 13 minutes, took 4,316 pictures near Mare Nubium later renamed Mare Cognitum, the "Sea That Has Become Known." This area is some 1,000 miles west of the shadow line. Ranger 7's pictures were 2,000 times better than any taken with earth telescopes — showing an area broken by many craters, some as small as 18 inches in diameter.

MISTAKEN FOR TERRORIST

Peace Corps Youth Killed By Police In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A U.S. Peace Corps member was shot to death and a comrade seriously wounded by police who mistook them for Communist terrorists Friday night. Shot through the heart when he stepped from his Jeep with his hands up was Joseph R. Ruple, 24, Orinda, Calif., the driver who was on the Peace Corps staff in Venezuela. Peace Corps volunteer David Glover, 25, Grosse Ile, Mich., also stepped from the auto with his hands raised and was shot in the stomach. He underwent surgery in a Caracas hospital and his condition was reported satisfactory. Two other Peace Corps volunteers in the back seat of the vehicle established their identities and police took the victims to a hospital. The other two were Ronald Bean, Fairfield, Maine, and Donald Carluccio, Hoboken, N.J. Venezuelan authorities began an investigation. The U.S. Embassy gave this account of the incident: Carluccio returned from the funeral of his father in Hoboken and the others went to the airport and picked him up. Police had been fighting with students who were rioting in connection with a taxi strike that the government says is Communist inspired. One student was killed and 12 were injured.

PASSED

The vehicle carrying the Peace Corps men passed the post of the judicial technical police at 11 p.m. on the return from the airport. Police in a patrol car, who said they assumed the Jeep was carrying terrorists, pursued and shot out the rear tires. Then Ruple and Glover were shot as they stepped out of the vehicle. Police said the same station had been attacked earlier in the evening by terrorists firing machine guns from an automobile. Bean and Carluccio said they had observed about 30 plain clothesmen around the station and drove on by thinking they might be demonstrators. "It was senseless," said Ruple's father, Joseph W. Ruple, in Orinda. "When they got out of the Jeep they had their hands up."

JOINED IN '62

Ruple joined the Peace Corps in 1962 after graduation from the University of California at Berkeley. He served two years in Peru before going to Venezuela last September. As assistant director in charge of establishing farm cooperatives, he had been working recently near Merida in western Venezuela. In Grosse Ile, Frederick S. Glover said his son David joined the Peace Corps last June following graduation from Michigan State University "because he was single and unattached and felt he wanted to do something. He has been very enthusiastic about his work." The elder Glover said Ruple was David's immediate superior and that David "was very fond of him."

STREAKED IN

NEGROES PREDICT CIVIL RIGHTS D-DAY MARCH

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Negroes predicted that Monday could spell "D-Day" for civil rights in Selma as they awaited replies to an ultimatum and the arrival of their leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. King planned to address a mass rally Monday night and might lead a parade here Monday morning, timed to coincide with the regular session of the Selma City Council. Wilson Baker, public safety director, said Saturday it was too late to issue Negroes a parade permit. A Negro spokesman said a request for such a permit was made by registered mail Friday, but Baker said he had not received the letter. At Montgomery, Gov. George C. Wallace ordered state troopers to join city and county officials in preventing night marches.

GLASSCOCK VOTERS OKAY $175,000 SCHOOL ISSUE

GARDEN CITY — Glasscock County Independent School District voters approved a $175,000 bond program for school plant improvements Saturday, including a new six-classroom elementary building. A total of 162 voters balloted in favor of the proposal, with 41 against. The turnout measured about two-thirds of the district's registered voter total, around 300 persons. The school board will meet Monday night to canvass returns of the election, Superintendent Roy Thruston said Saturday night, with the next step a meeting with representatives of a bonding company and the architects, Gary & Hohertz of Big Spring.

The approval of the bond issue cleared plans for the first instructional addition since 1937. The bond program plans are for general obligation tax bonds, to be issued for a 10-year term and supported by a levy from the interest and sinking fund. He said his ban against night marches was to prevent any recurrence of violence such as occurred at Marion Thursday night. At Selma, Baker had referred to the Marion trouble in talking Negroes out of making a night march. Planned demonstrations were put off for the weekend by Negroes, who have been pushing a voter registration drive here for five weeks. Thousands have been arrested, most of them by Sheriff James G. Clark of Dallas County, a symbol of resistance to the Negro campaign.

REDS CLAIM JETS DOWN

TOKYO (AP) — Four U.S. F101 jets on bombing missions over Communist Pathet Lao areas of Laos were shot down Friday, Radio Peking claimed Saturday, quoting the Pathet Lao. Several other planes were damaged, the broadcast added. All the planes were said to have been shot down over Sam Neua Province, a Pathet Lao stronghold in northeastern Laos. ONE FIRM The Defense Department in Washington confirmed that a U.S. Air Force pilot is missing on a flight from a base in South Viet Nam but said it had no information on the Communist claim that four F101s had been shot down. A defense spokesman said Maj. Robert F. Ronca, 41, Norristown, Pa., was missing after taking off Friday from an unnamed field in South Viet Nam. Ronca was one of the leaders of an air strike against North Viet Nam last week. Without hinting on the fate of the downed fliers, Radio Peking said 12 F101 jets and five F72 planes — the latter of a type

PREDICTS U.N. TO SOLVE CRISIS

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson predicted Saturday night that the United Nations would overcome its present peacekeeping crisis by changing "with changing conditions." He did not say how.

JOSEPH R. RUPLE

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle Make way for spring. Last week's rescuing rains combine with the calendar to indicate an early "bustin' out" of spring. While we likely will have some additional sub-freezing temperatures, the chance of bitter cold is about gone. Within a fortnight a lot of fruit trees likely will be blooming. Already jonquils are popping out. Value of the rain, which measured around an inch and a quarter from Big Spring south and about three-quarters of an inch along the northern third of Howard County is greater than the amount normally would indicate. Due to slowness of the rain and prolonged overcast, penetration was exceptionally deep for the amount, and some farmers will attempt listing on 'See THE WEEK, P. 10-A, Col. 4)

Kiwanians Serve 5,000 Flapjacks

The first customers began coming through the serving line before 5 p.m. Friday and the Kiwanis Club's 13th annual Pancake Supper had seen some 1,300 to 1,400 persons take on their share of pancakes before serving stopped about 8 p.m.

"They were coming through the line about as fast as we could take care of them," Bob Travis, president, said Saturday. "This year's count will probably equal the best we have done in the past."

Some 35 to 40 members of the Kiwanis Club, assisted by members of the Big Spring High School's Key Club, joined in preparing and serving the supper in the Howard County Junior College Student Union.

"The supper usually clears about $650 to $700, which goes to the club's special projects fund, for youth projects and work with underprivileged children," Travis said.

The traditional menu consisted of pancakes, bacon, syrup, butter and coffee. More than 5,000 pancakes were cooked and served from the Kiwanians' special electric griddles, installed in the SU3 kitchen.

Preparation for the serving began about 2 p.m. Friday, when the Kiwanis cooks began blending the special pancake mixture and frying bacon. Again the pancake recipe created by Jasper Adkins was in use, with the crib using some 100 gallons of milk, six dozen eggs, 300 pounds of flour and other ingredients.

This year's supper, unhampered by any sign of inclement weather, may have set a record for the event, but an exact count had not been set Saturday. Previous events often have been plagued by snow, rain, cold or sandstorms.

Piano Contest Set Saturday

TYLER—The Annual East Texas Symphony Orchestra Association sponsored high school piano concerto contest will be held in Tyler Saturday, at Wise Auditorium on the campus of Tyler Junior College. Judges for this contest will be John E. Price, professor of piano at Southern Methodist University; Mrs. Frank Malinos, instructor of piano at North Texas State University; and Dr. William Armstrong, professor of piano at Austin College in Sherman.

Deadline for entries has been set for Feb. 24. Entries have been received so far from widely scattered areas in the state: from Odessa to Marshall, Dallas, Tyler, Corsicana, Garland, Ore City, and Waco. The contest selection is the first movement of the Piano Concerto No. 1, in C, opus 15 by Ludwig van Beethoven.

SCALE MODELS TO PRE-TEST LAKE DISCHARGES Simulated gated spillway (top) and discharged waters

Models Help Plan Dams

By JOE PICKLE

One of these days the Colorado River Municipal Water District will get a green light from the Texas Water Commission for a dam on the Colorado River, if hopes of officials and others in this area materialize. And when this time comes, little time will be lost in getting the project started.

O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager, has just returned from Fort Collins, Colo., where he studied exhaustive tests on a simulated spillway approximating the size required for the proposed CRMWD dam near Robert Lee.

Although information gained from this test will be invaluable, Ivie said it likely will be necessary for the district to have a similar test engineered on precise scale for the CRMWD project.

Everything is made to minute scale—the spillway, the gates, the valves, the conduits, the baffles, the stilling basin, the tailways. Even tiny pebbles, to the scale of sizeable rocks or small boulders, are introduced into the stream for observation.

While much can be observed of water movement, agitation, velocity, etc., through the transparent sides of the walls, conduits, basins and other elements, the more exacting story is told in scores of tiny pressure gauges attached to critical points.

From this can be learned not only the stresses of water pressure, but the more vexing problem of negative pressure created by water rushing around bends in conduits, exhausting from spillways, etc.

The cost of a scale model test of a spillway design approximated $25,000, but the CRMWD may run under that if materials can be salvaged from the test set-up which Ivie and Leary Eeds, design engineer for Freese, Nichols and Endress, watched last week. Lessons learned sometime permit design changes which save considerably more than the cost of the model and test, plus increasing the safety and efficiency factors.

This is not the final answer, and it could be that when the CRMWD builds its system that gauges will be installed to compare actual operation pressures against those under simulated conditions. Meanwhile, CRMWD is taking all possible steps to shorten the time for asking for bids if the TWC gives the go-ahead sign.

Miss Phillips Named To Child Care Committee

Arah Phillips, Big Spring, is a member of a newly organized state advisory committee to the Texas Department of Public Welfare on child day care.

While many goals were considered by the panel in its first session, the immediate target is to increase public awareness of the problems of the criteria for child day care, said Miss Phillips.

This objective will be directed at two primary targets — public officials and legislators who are in a position to influence the course of child day care, and parents who need to learn what minimum standards should be demanded in child day care.

Day care of children is no longer custodial, according to the committee, but is a learning experience. Therefore, proper day child care should provide for the maximum development of the intellectual, emotional and physical capacities of children in a safe and healthful environment. Failure of many providing day care to come up to minimum standards, as well as numerous instances of "latch-key children," (who are either locked out of the house or left to roam the streets until a working parent returns home) create many problems of delinquency, dropouts, etc., in the community.

He Made Staff For Famous Event

By M. A. WEBB

Three pieces of one-inch pipe, picked from a scrap pile and hastily welded together, played the major part in making possible the best picture of World War II. The photograph of the flag raising on Mt. Suribachi won the Pulitzer prize for Associated Press photographer Joe Rosenthal. The staff was made by a man from Fort Worth, who now lives in Harlingen.

Pat Gathright, now 57, and his wife Byna, are visiting her sister, Mrs. Margie Middleton at Vealmoor, and helping out with the Middleton Grocery while the owner is ill.

Gathright, who served 32 months with the 599th Maintenance CBN Unit, attached to the Marine Air Group 22, Marine Corps, was twice wounded, and was one of only 12 of 275 men in the 599th who returned alive. He saw action at Guadalcanal, Bougainville, Saipan, Attu, Okinawa, and other islands.

FOUND PIPE "Three men came running to me on Feb. 23, after we had gained a foothold on Iwo Jima and asked for a flag staff," he said. "I found three pieces of one-inch pipe, welded them together, and then watched the five Marines and one Navy corpsman raise the flag. I didn't see Rosenthal take the picture and didn't know about it for some time afterward. The man shown in the front of the others, and closest to the base of the pole, was a Marine Corporal, Harlon Block of Westlaco. I never knew the names of the other five. Block was killed in action later."

Gathright was wounded on Saipan in 1943 and almost lost a leg above the knee. "The doctors wanted to amputate," he said, "but I wouldn't hear to it. When I went back to duty the Iwo Jima mop-up was where I landed. It was the most-wanted on all the islands because of its strategic location. The Japs wanted it because it served as an air base and supply depot. We wanted it for the same reason, and lost a lot of men to get it."

"It was on Okinawa that I got my second wound, from which I still carry some shrapnel," he continued. "It was there also that the famous war correspondent, Ernie Pyle, was killed by a sniper's bullet. I saw him drive up in a jeep just before the sniper got him. Several of us located the sniper and began firing. I can't say that my bullet killed him, but I don't think I missed."

FLOWN BACK Gathright was flown to a San Diego hospital for treatment of his second wound, and was there when the Japanese surrendered.

The Texan was living in Fort Worth on Pearl Harbor Day and went to the army recruiter to enlist. He was turned down because he was 34 years old. The recruiter suggested the Sea Bees and he enlisted the next day. He was sent to boot camp at Norfolk, Va. The Marines asked for 275 Sea Bees to go as a special maintenance unit to the South Pacific. Gathright was one of them.

"Our main job was to keep airfield strips in repair, and to repair and weld tanks and bulldozers after they were hit by shells," he said. "In most instances, after we hit these islands, there was no wood left on them. Artillery fire, napalm bombs, and everything else used in war, cut what timber there was to shreds. That's why we had to make the 'flag staff' from pipe scraps."

Pat Gathright, now a disabled American veteran, has received many honors and citations during the 20 years since the war. One of his proudest possessions is a gold key to the City of Menominee, Mich. He and Mrs. Gathright were invited to the city to help celebrate its centennial. They remained there 10 days, and Pat was asked to lead the 150-unit two and a half-hour long parade on Aug. 10.

TREATED ROYALLY "We were treated royally up there," he said, "and we had cars turned over to us for our own use all the time. I was called on, as commander of the DAV, to unveil a large oil painting of the famous flag-raising at a new postoffice in Westlaco, in honor of Corp. Block. The tax assessor, Frank (Diddy) Evans, of Menominee, read about the ceremony in the Stars and Stripes, and we began a correspondence."

"Another feature, at the dedication of the new post office," he said, "was a tiny Alaskan flag which flew just below the United States and Texas flags. We had asked for a flag of the now largest state and told them what we wanted it for, but they saw fit to send only the 'napkin size' so we used it and the photograph showed up well."

Gathright was born in Arkansas, but was a welder in Fort Worth for many years. He was married to Byna Mae Huff of Hellis, Okla. in Fort Worth Feb. 21, 1948. She too had served the military forces as a courier with the Eighth Service Command (formerly the Fourth Army Command), from April, 1945 through the latter part of 1947. She now has some of the only actual battle maps left in existence. They were supposed to have been burned, but the maps of each country, showing battle plans, were given to her by the commanding officer.

ADMIRAL Gathright was commissioned as five-star admiral in the Texas Navy by Gov. Price Daniel in May, 1960. The commission was presented by Mayor Worth Wood of Harlingen. He is also an official "Arkansas Traveler," with a commission as an ambassador of Good Will. It was signed by Gov. Orville Faubus and presented by Attorney General Bruce Bennett in 1963.

Some of the Marines on Iwo Jima made a mold in the sand of the island, in the shape of the eight-square-mile piece of land, inserted the flag-raising group and Mt. Suribachi, melted the pot-metal tops of drums and cast the souvenirs. One of the boys gave Gathright the souvenir.

Many schools have called on the veteran to speak to their history departments, and it was just a short time ago that he spoke to the Monroe, La. high school. He now has invitations to speak to others.

TWO CHILDREN

The Gathrights have a son, Robert, who is married and is a linotype operator for the Valley Morning Star at Harlingen. A daughter, Mrs. Patricia Herrell, is the wife of a Navy man and is living at Ewa Beach, Hawaii.

A friend of the Gathrights, who was also a friend of Joe Rosenthal, borrowed the original negative of the famous flag raising on Iwo Jima and had 1,000 contact prints made, and the veteran has them for "courtesy cards" for distribution to those interested in the history of the event.

Illegal 'Booze' Inspected

C. B. Arnold, district supervisor for the Texas State Liquor Control Board, and his secretary, Mrs. Sherrill Farmer, inspect numerous cases of liquor taken in raids by state Liquor Control Board agents.

No Moonshine Reported Here

By HARDY PRICE
Suffy Smith, on The Herald's comic page, makes his "corn" in his backyard still, but he has no counterpart in Howard County. Howard County whisky connoisseurs would have a difficult time trying to sip a little native "corn whisky" in these parts.

NOT REPORTED
Moonshining operations have not been reported in so many years, that agents in the local state Liquor Control Board office don't remember when the last case was reported.

One nationwide survey shows that 50 per cent of all whisky sold is moonshine. But during December, 1964, only four moonshine stills were located in the entire state.

"And they were in deep East Texas," reports C. B. Arnold, district supervisor for the Texas State Liquor Board. Arnold is supervisor of the largest district in the state, which includes Howard County. The district stretches from Mitchell County on the east to Reeves County on the west, south to Terrell County and north to Gaines County. A member of the liquor enforcement agency for the past 21 years, Arnold has been in Big Spring since 1951. His office includes six agents. Two are in Big Spring while the other offices, in Snyder, Midland, Odessa and Pecos, each have one man.

MINORS
"The largest single violation that the agents find involves minors coming in contact with alcoholic beverages," said Arnold. He pointed out that this violation is the largest, not only locally, but also statewide and nationwide. Arnold explained that it is not always the fault of the retailer that minors get possession of alcoholic beverages.

"The real problem lies with the adults buying it for them," said Arnold.

Statewide in December there were 467 cases of minors possessing or consuming alcoholic beverages. A total of 463 convictions resulted from these cases.

"That does not mean that the other four cases are over, as the 463 represent closed cases," said Arnold.

Another prevalent violation in dry counties or precincts is bootlegging (by which liquor is sold in dry counties or precincts without a state permit.) Of the four Howard County precincts, only Precinct One is legally wet. Seven of the 20 counties in Arnold's jurisdiction are dry, while some others contain dry precincts.

LEGAL AMOUNT
The legal amount of liquor that can be carried into a dry county or precinct is set at a fifth of liquor and one case of beer. Wholesalers traveling through dry areas must have a manifest of the cargo with the truck.

Other duties of the liquor control office include recommendations for approval or disapproval of liquor licenses and recommendations for the suspension of liquor licenses.

District offices do not have authority to suspend licenses, but can recommend to the State Board in Austin. Licenses can be suspended from one to 90 days, depending upon the degree of the violation. District offices can also recommend cancellation of licenses.

NEW BILLS
At present, several bills are under consideration by the Texas Legislature concerning state liquor laws. One would provide for some type of local option election concerning serving liquor over the bar. Arnold feels that this bill would not affect the duties or working conditions of state agents.

Another bill pending would allow taverns to open earlier and remain open an hour longer. To this proposed bill Arnold said, "The longer they stay open the longer we will work."

Spelling Books Are Available

An ample supply of "Words of the Champions," official spelling book used in the Third Annual Howard County Spelling Bee and in all of the spelling bees under and above the county level, are now on hand. They are available at 15 cents a copy at The Daily Herald office.

The Herald sponsors the spelling bee for boys and girls under the age of 16 and who have not passed the eighth grade.

All of the Big Spring elementary and junior high schools have classroom eliminations under way. Elbow school (officially Forsan Junior High School) will have its own contest.

Immaculate Heart of Mary Parochial school will have a champion to compete in the county meet. School officials said that 40 of the spelling books have already been distributed to boys and girls of the school and that competition in the classrooms is keen.

The April 10 county bee date seems to conflict with the dates of the Interscholastic League contests for some of the schools outside of Big Spring. At the present time, it appears competition will be restricted to the elementary and junior high schools of Big Spring, Forsan Junior High, and the Immaculate Heart of Mary schools.

The original printing of the official rules, which was exhausted last week, has now been replenished and copies are available free at The Daily Herald office for any youngster who is planning to compete.

Competition between Goliad Junior High, which had the 1963 county champion, and Runnels Junior High, where the 1964 champion was a student, is high. Both schools have more than a hundred young spellers cranking for the classroom and school elimination spelling bees.

Don Hickson, the 1964 champion and a Runnels student, plans to repeat, if he can, this year.

The 1963 champion from Goliad has moved out of the county. Goliad's 1964 spelling champion, who was the runner-up in the county spelling bee, also no longer lives here.

Winner of the county spelling bee will be awarded a free trip to Lubbock where he will be allowed to try for the regional championship against the county champions from 23 West Texas counties. This bee will be on May 1. If he wins there, he gets an all expense trip to Washington in June to compete in the National Spelling Bee. The prizes at this National Bee include valuable scholarships for the winners and runners-up. At Lubbock, the winner will receive several special prizes.

The county champion receives an attractive engraved plaque bearing his name and the year he won. All school champions receive ribbons and special pens.

Social Security Reserves Defended By Manager

Erven Fisher, Social Security district manager, has submitted some comments on an editorial "Check the Charge," which appeared in The Daily Herald Feb. 9. In this article, C. Wilson Harder, president of the National Federation of Independent Business, was quoted as saying that Social Security administrative costs were 61 per cent of interest earned on reserves in 1963-64. He went on to say that in the fiscal year of 1957-58 the ratio of administrative costs to earnings on investment was only 30.4 per cent. In other words, within a half dozen years the percentage of administrative cost has more than doubled, according to Harder.

Fisher questions this approach since Harder is comparing two factors that are not related. Fisher explained that the size of the Social Security program—the number of those receiving monthly checks, the number of wage items reported, the applications processed each year, etc.—determines the administrative costs of the program. It is not practical for the purpose of comparison to relate administrative costs to interest on unexpended reserves. The reserves have remained at almost the same level the past several years while the size of the program has grown rapidly.

"Let's take the years Mr. Harder chose to compare," Fisher said. In 1958 the Social Security reserve was about 24 billions and there were about 11.9 million persons receiving monthly Social Security checks. In 1964 the reserve was about 22 billions—slightly less than in 1958—but there were almost 20 million persons receiving monthly checks. "I think you can see," Fisher said, "that it has to cost more to administer a program with eight million more beneficiaries, and that you cannot make an equitable comparison of the increased cost as a percentage of a constant reserve."

Former Pastor Opens Conference

The Rev. R. Elmer Dunham, City Mission Superintendent, El Paso, and former pastor of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church, Big Spring, will speak at East Fourth Church at the 11 a.m. service today to open the World Mission Conference. The conference will continue through Feb. 28.

The Rev. Ralph Bowlin, missionary to Southern Rhodesia with the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, will speak at the 7 p.m. service.

Morning services each weekday, except Saturday, will be held at 10, and the evening services will open with congregational singing at 7:20. The Saturday night service will be combined with the Association Youth Rally, with the Youth officers of the Big Spring Baptist Association in charge.

The method of financing the Social Security program is different from the nation's private insurance companies, according to Fisher. It was determined as far back as 1950 by Congress, acting on the recommendation of an advisory council, that it was not necessary for Social Security to carry a large reserve, that is, not large in comparison to the amount collected in taxes and expended in benefits each year. This is true because of the certainty of income into the program.

"Our operating expense of 370 million for '63-'64 would be only about two per cent of interest on a true reserve," Fisher emphasized. He also mentioned that Harder stated that Social Security had no collection expense. Fisher pointed out that Social Security reimburses the Treasury Department for collection and disbursement expenses. These costs, as well as other administrative costs, are included in the 370 million dollar figure.

DEAR ABBY

Difference
Of $5,000

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, 54, well-groomed, gray-haired, tall slender, and some people say I'm handsome. I earn $15,000 a year and have no dependents or ties. I've had to run fast from many women, rich and prominent, and I don't say that to boast.

I recently met an attractive widow about my age. She is cultured, refined and well-traveled. She has no dependents and we enjoy each other's company. I have reason to believe we could care for each other. She has an income of about $20,000 a year, but she has stated emphatically that she would never contribute to the support of any man. I cannot support her in her present style, but I would be willing to sign a pre-nuptial waiver to all rights of her estate. Would I be wrong to insist that if we married, our incomes should be joined for our mutual benefit? Don't you think this widow had better grab me quick or lose me fast?

A GENTLEMAN DEAR GENTLEMAN: That's up to the lady. It is obvious that you are not out to take advantage of this woman, but she wasn't born yesterday, either. If she will marry you and continue to support herself (but not you), all that stands between you is her $5,000 edge. Waive that and you'll have made yourself a good deal.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a husband who, when he gets mad at his wife, refuses to talk to her, refuses to sleep with her, refuses to come to the table and eat with his family, and refuses to get up at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning to go to church with his family even though his wife turned Catholic for him? If he has no respect for his own religion, how can a wife and children have respect for it? Last Sunday our eldest said she wasn't going to church because "Daddy wasn't going." I certainly didn't have any argument to give her, so I let her stay home. In fact, I stayed home, too. If I don't have a nervous breakdown over that man, it will be a miracle. What should I do?

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE DEAR HIGH: Your husband needs a pacifier or a physician or maybe both. Such tantrums are not for grown-ups or the emotionally healthy. Ask your priest to guide him toward professional help.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.J.S.: Silence is not always "golden." Sometimes it is just plain yellow.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Club Members May Buy Another Airplane

By M. A. WEBB The Odessa Civil Air Patrol's Aerona has just been rebuilt by mechanics at Webb Air Force Base and is now at Howard County Airport for servicing and its early flight back to Odessa. The airplane received a complete overhaul, including new engine, new covering paint, and upholstery.

Weather this week prevented some flying, but according to the reservation books at Howard County Airport, a lot was done, including some doubling up Friday which was one of the prettiest flying days in some time.

Webb Aero Club's Cessna 150 caught the brunt of the flying, although the Cessna 172 was used. Those up were: Cessna 150—Sweedon (3), Brown (3), Ray (3), Ericson (4), Hill (2), Morrell (3), Brazeel, Green (1 and cross country), Maxson, Sykas, Davidson; Cessna 172—Green (cross country and 1), Spence (cross country), Warren (1 and cross country), Brazeel.

Howard County Flying Club's Colt was used by only two flyers during the week. Moore was up twice and Byrd three times. Word is that one of the flying clubs may haul off and purchase a new airplane. Nothing is definite yet, but plans are being made.

Transient aircraft coming into the airport for service, or on business, have been almost nil during the week. Two or three short business trips were made, but airplanes did not call for service.

According to word from the Houston headquarters, Trans-Texas Airways, Inc. the airline carried more passengers in January than any other month in its 17-year history. Eight stations in the six-state service area broke their all-time records for boardings.

A total of 49,819 flew over the airline's system during January, to up the boardings 28.12 per cent over the $3,868 flying in January 1964. Revenue passenger miles for January totaled 15,757,957, up 30.84 per cent over the 12,061,621 flown last January.

Stations breaking all-time passenger boarding records were Amarillo with 319 boarding; El Paso, 682; Fort Polk, 345; Harlingen-San Benito, 1,547; Houston, 10,070; Laredo, 682; Mission-McAllen-Edinburg, 1,542; and Pine Bluff, Ark., 404.

Howard County Junior College has been chosen again to host the University Interscholastic League Region VI (Conference B) meet. Dates are April 21-22-23-24.

Dr. Melvin M. Crawford will serve as director general of the meet. Contest directors are: Verdell Turner, track and field; Anna Smith, tennis and volleyball; Jerry L. Dudley, golf; Kenneth Roach, one-act play; Martin W. Landers, debate; B. M. Keese, extemporaneous speaking; Mrs. Florence Watson, persuasive speaking; Mrs. Elizabeth K. Martin, poetry interpretation; Jeri Tanner, prose reading; Miss Elizabeth Daniel, journalism; Gary Grant, ready writing; Moveida Rhine, typewriting; Mrs. Dean S. County's Traffic Record Is Better

Howard County scraped by January, 1965 with no traffic deaths. In January 1964, there were two fatalities charged to the county on rural roads.

Howard County has had one car death in February—that of Rosalinda Sandoval, 3, crushed under the wheels of a truck as she ran across a Big Spring street. However, for the purposes of highway fatality statistics, her death is not charged to the county.

The 24 county Midland Highway Patrol District had 11 deaths in January, according to Capt. Ray D. Butler, commander. He pointed out that the pattern being followed is the same as that of 1964—a year in which more persons died on the roads and highways of the state than ever before.

He added "the motoring public must accept the responsibility of not becoming involved in traffic accidents, if this trend is ever turned downward."

Two accidents in the district took eight lives. Five died in a head-on crash of two cars in Reeves County a short distance west of Pecos. Three others died in a one-car mishap south of Garden City in Glasscock County.

Other deaths occurred in Crane, El Paso and Gaines counties. One hundred and six persons were injured in car accidents in the district in January. Four of these were in Howard County. Two were in Martin County, 11 in Ector, and four in Midland counties.

Howard County had 11 accidents during the month. Damage to vehicles resulting from these accidents totalled $14,435. Borden County had three accidents in the month. No one was injured and property damage was $3,900.

Dawson County had seven accidents, one person was injured, and property damage was $2,860.

Glasscock County had one fatal accident, taking three lives. This was the only accident charged to the county during the month. One person was injured in the same mishap. Total damage was $2,185.

Martin County had five accidents in February. Two persons were injured. Property damage totalled $4,035.

There were 188 accidents on the roads and highways in the 24 counties in the district. Property damage aggregated $126,726.

... And Leading Life Of Riley

TYLER (AP) — Although it endorses temperance, the name selected by a newly organized Golden Age organization at Glenwood Methodist Church is "Moon-Shine Group."

The name was derived from the surnames of two retired ministers in the group, the Revs. R. B. Moon and Charles Shine.

As one member said, "we are not only 'moonshiners,' but we also 'lead the life of Riley.'" The Rev. James Riley is pastor of the church.

Law Enforcement School Opens Session Monday

The second session of the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement Officers will open at 9 a.m. Monday at Howard County Junior College. An opening day program will include a welcome to the students, registration and the first classes.

The school, one of four now being conducted in Texas, is sponsored by the Big Spring Police Department and the police training division of Texas A&M University.

Plans for the current session have been coordinated by Wallace Beasley, head of the A&M program. Beasley has conducted in-service training schools at the department here for the past four years.

No estimate had been made Friday on the number of students to attend the session, but Police Chief Jay Banks said all law enforcement agencies within a 100-mile radius of Big Spring had been sent information on the school. A total of 17 officers attended the first session of the academy, which began Sept. 21.

The 20 days of instruction will include both classroom and field training. Topics to be covered during the first week include warrants, arrests without warrants, amount of force used in making arrests, search and seizure, liquor search warrants, laws of evidence, tests of admissibility, evidence, corpus delicti, hearsay rule, general aspects of criminal law, breaking and entering, burglary, assault, murder and others.

Among the instructors to be on hand for the school will be C. C. Benson, manager of the National Auto Theft Bureau in Dallas. Benson will conduct six 30-minute periods on auto thefts.

Chief Banks and Beasley will conduct classes for the school on mob and riot control, including field instruction. Bill Caffee, assistant to Beasley in the A&M program, will direct the opening of the school. Texas A&M is participating in similar police schools at Arlington, College Station and Westaco.

Howard County Junior College is providing classrooms and cafeteria service for the school.

Reply Cards Working Well

Fern Cox, district court clerk, and District Judge Ralph Caton are pleased at effective results being achieved with the new method of notifying citizens of jury duty calls.

The district court clerk's office has received 23 of the reply cards sent to jury panel members on which legitimate exemptions have been claimed.

These 23 names will be stricken from the panel list and need not report to court for jury duty Monday afternoon. The net savings to the county on these 23 is $115. Each panel member, had he reported for duty and verbally reported to the court his claim for exemption, would have to be paid $5 for his appearance.

The panel originally listed 102 names. Cox and Judge Caton said that additional cards would undoubtedly be received in the mail before the 1:30 p.m. jury reporting time.

A large number of the 23 panel members, who have already been excused, are mothers of children under 16 years of age. Several are men and women who are over 65 years of age or older. Two or three are no longer residents of the county.

Judge Caton pointed out that the claim to exemption for legal reasons does not disqualify the juror from serving in the event he wishes to do so. However, he recommended any person who has a legitimate exemption from jury duty to exercise it.

Judge Caton has a civil docket opening Monday in the courts.

The cards, which feature a summons on one half and stamped self-reply section listing the legal exemptions on the other were put in service for the first time in connection with this jury panel.

It is expected the plan will save the jury fund several thousand dollars annually in payment of jurors who, in the past, had to report to the court in person and then be excused.

Jury Panel Called For Civil Docket

A jury panel has been instructed to report to 118th District Court at 1:30 p.m. Monday to serve in the trial of any civil cases which are announced ready when Judge Ralph Caton sounds a docket at 10 a.m.

The judge has set down 26 suits. Eighteen of the cases slated for possible trial are damage accidents. One involves an adoption; four are compensation suits; one is for debt, and one alleges malpractice. One habeas corpus petition is to be heard.

Judge Caton said Saturday he would not speculate on the possible number of these matters which will be announced for trial.

The cases set on the docket are styled:

Knight Lumpkins, damages; Franklin D. Randall vs. Texas Employers Insurance, compensation; Ek Parte: Carla Jeanne Hill, habeas corpus; V. L. Spurgeon vs. Texas Employers Insurance, compensation; John Posta vs. Harrison Price, damages; Jerry and Sharon Burns vs. Charles Edwin Bengel, damages; Thomas B. Long-Confined Prelate Free

ROME (AP) — Archbishop Josef Beran of Prague arrived in Rome Friday, ending 16 years of confinement or restriction at the hands of Czechoslovakia's Communist government.

The 77-year-old prelate came to the Vatican for the ceremonies next week at which he and 28 other prelates will be made cardinals by Pope Paul VI.

CTK, the Czechoslovak news agency, said he would not return to Prague and that Pope Paul had appointed Dr. Frantisek Tomasek apostolic administrator in Prague.

INSTALL CAMPSITE TABLES
Ten Planned For Overnight Camp Area

New Camping Park About Complete

By PRESTON MAYNARD
Work is nearing completion on an unusual addition to the city's recreational facilities at the east entrance to City Park from US 87.

An overnight camping park is being constructed in the area with plans for development including a water system, rest room facilities, outdoor cookers, picnic tables, and a lighting system.

"The idea behind this is to offer facilities for persons who are traveling through the city with camping trailers to stay overnight," Jack Watkins, chairman of the parks and recreation board, said.

Watkins pointed out road maps now list the State Park as a camping site, although no specific facilities exist in the park for camp trailers.

Plans for the city's campsite area include signs on highways leading into the city, as well as a sign at the site itself, he said.

"It will take some publicity to get this off the ground," Watkins said. "We can't expect to fill it the first night." Service station and restaurant operators can help publicize the campsite to motorists, he pointed out.

"In turn, persons who camp here will tell other campers along US 87 and 80 about it as they travel on," Watkins said. While the city will have spent about $5,000 on the campsite when completed, Watkins said additional income to the city's economy should be several times that amount.

"Travelers will be spending money here, on washing, groceries, magazines and other items," Watkins said. "With an average of five families a night, each spending $20 or so, this would bring as much as $100 a day into the city."

Although greatest participation in use of the area will be in spring, summer and fall, Watkins said he felt the area would be in use year-round.

NONE OTHERS
"We tried to locate another city with such a facility," he said. "We are trying to offer something different which will bring more people into the city."

Work at the site began in December. Trees and shrubs already in the area were left as a natural landscape and some additional plants, donated to the city by residents, are being moved in, Parks Superintendent Johnny Johansen said.

A new cable fence has been installed on the north side at the east entrance to City Park, and along the US 87 side of the area. The east entrance to the park was moved northward and a separate entrance constructed for the camp site, Johansen said, in order to allow the park to be closed at night while the camp area remains open.

Restroom facilities may be constructed of pre-cast concrete, Johansen said, if current plans work out. Ten concrete picnic tables have been ordered, along with one cooker unit for each

"When completed, the area should easily accommodate 10 trailers and possibly more," Johansen said. "We could provide space for four or five trailer homes."

First work at the site involved roughing out the area with a street arrangement, with parking areas located off the street to allow trailers to be pulled or backed into place, Johansen said.

CLEANUP
A general cleanup was made of the area, which was previously unused land.

"If the ground doesn't prove too full of rock we want to put the water system in to serve each parking space," Johansen said. The water taps can then be used both for maintaining the trees and by the trailer occupants.

The last part of the project will involve installing a flood-light system, Johansen said. "We want to provide just enough light so campers can see to get around after dark," he said.

The area involved includes 2 1/4 acres, extending about 400 feet back from US 87.

City To Ask Earlier Date In Water Case

An effort may be made within several weeks to speed up consideration of the city's appeal on the court decision concerning water rates for Big Spring State Hospital, City Attorney John Burgess said Friday.

Burgess said he is planning to go to Austin about March 1 to request the attorney general's office to file a motion to advance consideration of appeal briefs in the suit.

The attorney general's office filed briefs this week in answer to those filed previously by the city in appealing the decision of 53rd District Court Judge Herman Jones, who had affirmed the state's position in the lawsuit.

The ruling by the court affirmed the state's contention that the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools can not constitutionally re-negotiate a contract signed by the city and hospital in 1937.

Burgess said briefs would not be considered by the Third Court of Civil Appeals until after the city and the office of the attorney general had presented oral arguments. The arguments are presently scheduled for May 26, Burgess said, and advancing of the case would provide for an earlier time for the arguments, also moving up the consideration of the formal briefs.

The contract involved in the lawsuit provides water to the hospital, by the city, at a cost of 10 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Heart Assn. To Meet Monday

The Howard County Heart Association will conduct its regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the library of Malone and Hogan Clinic. A program for the coming year and results of the Heart Sunday drive will be discussed.

Pakistani Chief To Visit In April

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — The Pakistani Foreign Ministry has announced that President Mohammed Ayub Khan will visit the United States about April 25 at the invitation of President Johnson.

VA Employees Given Awards

Awards were presented five employees of the Veterans Administration Hospital Friday under the VA's Recognition and Incentive Awards Program. A sustained superior performance award was presented Mrs. Evalena Fisher, operating room supervisor.

Certificates of appreciation and monetary award were presented Donald Hush and Faris Hammond of business services division. The award was for a suggestion providing improved usage of VA supply requisition forms.

June Coleman, medical administrative service, received a certificate of appreciation for a suggestion of a station form for use in processing medical records.

A certificate was awarded Francis Branch, business services division, for suggesting the elimination of using shelf paper in patients' bedside lockers. Division and service chiefs made the award presentations.

Rodeo Is Given RCA Sanction

The Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo show for this spring has been given approval by the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

This means that points earned by participants in the Big Spring show will count toward the world championships in the various events.

Dates for the big rodeo, now in its third decade, are May 19-20-21-22, a week earlier than normal.

NEW FEDERAL OFFICES
Social Security and Internal Revenue Service

Social Security, Income Tax Offices To Move This Week

Big Spring District Social Security Administration office and the Big Spring Internal Revenue Service offices, now located at 700 Runnels, will occupy their new home at 1009 Gregg this weekend.

The Internal Revenue Service will move into its quarters in the new building now being completed Friday. The Social Security office will make its move Saturday.

Elmo Wasson is the owner of the new building, which he erected according to specifications set up by the General Services Administration.

Erven Fisher, director of the Big Spring office of Social Security, said that the new building would afford his operation more floor space than in its present quarters. He also said that it will be easier to locate by persons who come to Big Spring to visit the office and are strangers in town. The office employs eight workers. Joe Gordon, director of the IRS and his associates, will occupy one half of the building and the Social Security offices the other half.

Fisher said he did not know what plans the owners of the building on Runnels have for it. He said the new location will have off-street parking for patrons. He added that his office and that of the IRS will be open for business on Monday, March 1.

Goose Creek Trustees Fire Gentry Friday

BAYTOWN (AP) — Trustees fired George Gentry Friday night as superintendent of the Goose Creek School District, a post he had held more than 18 years, and as president of Lee Junior College.

Gentry said he will appeal the decision to the state commissioner of education, Dr. J. W. Edgar.

School board members voted 4-2 to oust him.

In moving for the vote, Trustee Boyd Hill said all but one of 12 charges he leveled at Gentry last Dec. 16 were proved at a three-week hearing which ended last month.

A. R. Stark, the school board president, joined Hill and Karl Opryshek and Dr. L. D. Victory in the vote. Trustees Knox Beavers and Ben Shirey opposed the motion.

Shirey said the board was firing Gentry without just cause. Hill and Victory challenged objections by Beavers and Shirey.

Gentry, given a five-year contract in November, 1961, had resisted ouster attempts since last Oct. 15 when Stark asked him to resign in a dispute over the band's appearance at a Houston Oilers football game.

The board voted 4-3 to fire Gentry.

Mrs. Oliphant's Daughter Dies

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Dick Angel, about 35, a former Big Spring resident, in a New Orleans hospital.

Mrs. Angel, daughter of Mrs. H. T. Oliphant of Big Spring, had undergone what was thought to be a minor throat operation Friday and was believed to be progressing satisfactorily. She died at 6 a. m. Saturday.

The Angel family makes its home in Morgan City, La., where her husband is an engineer with Phillips 66. Mrs. Angel is the former Laura Jean Oliphant.

Funeral services are incomplete, but will be held either this afternoon or Monday in Morgan City. Mrs. Oliphant was with other members of the Angel family when her daughter died.

Other survivors, in addition to the husband, include three children: a brother, Phillip Oliphant, Levelland; and two sisters, Mrs. Roy Newsom, Plainview, and Mrs. Braxton Westmoreland, Houston.

Eddie Newcomer Has Champ Calf

ACKERLY — Eddy Newcomer exhibited the grand champion calf in the second annual Acklerly Livestock Show held Saturday on the football field here.

More than 200 persons attended the show. The grand champion barrow and gilt were shown by Marion Snell and Johnny Peugh exhibited the grand champion lamb.

Reserve champion calf was shown by Lawrence Long. Larry Don Shaw showed the reserve champion barrow and gilt. Mike McClain owned the reserve champion lamb.

THE WEEK

the strength of it. The all-too-meagre small grain fields were helped immensely, but the greatest benefit of all will be to pastures, which now have a chance to make desperately needed early weeds.

This is Heart Sunday, the day when scores of volunteers will be marching to collect funds for the Heart Society. Part of the proceeds go for educational purposes, part for technical equipment and training, and a major chunk for research into ways of whipping heart ailments.

Howard County returned to winning ways last week when Maxwell and Mark Barr won the junior championship and reserve championship of the entire San Antonio Stock Show with their 925-pound Hereford, Baby, J. C. Sale, Stanton, is breeder of the classy champion.

Possibility of a Fusselman strike 15 miles southwest of Sterling City was seen last week when Moncrief and Champlin No. 1 Hildebrand came up with free oil and heavily oil and gas mud on a drillstem test. The venture is in the vicinity of the depleted WAM Wolfcamp field and is in virgin area for Fusselman production.

Dr. Jackson Friedlander, director of education for the Veterans Administration's department of medicine and surgery, was here during the week on business at the VA Hospital. But his smiles and jovial spirit indicated it might have been a pleasure, too.

Five Big Spring representatives took part last week in an industrial meet held at Fort Worth, where Winthrop Rockefeller spoke on the "Businessman's Role in Industrial Development." Our industrial panel keeps digging away and some of these days will hit still more pay dirt.

Under the appropriations bill put before the House last week, Howard County Junior College would fare reasonably well. The $24,000 proposed for each of the two years is about $50,000 per annum over present figures and would approach the goal of state assumption of direct teaching costs.

The college board, incidentally, will meet at 5 p. m. Monday, and it is a safe bet that a call will be issued for a $500,000 bond election, probably around March 20. Because of a reserve in the interest and sinking fund and because of normal value increases, neither the tax rate nor the base of assessment will have to be increased, trustees said previously. If the vote is called and the issue approved, funds will be put with those expected from the College Facilities Act to provide a new science and new library buildings.

For 48 hours last week the HCJC Hawks were on top of the heap in the Western JC conference, but then they lost a heartbreaker at San Angelo by one point due to an uncanny coldness from the foul line. Chances are good the Hawks can be co-champions and perhaps earn a way to the national JUCO finals.

The health and welfare committee of the Chamber of Commerce last week came up with some concrete figures on what a child welfare department would cost. If undertaken with others, namely the state, it would run about $8,000 per annum; if alone, the tab would be $16,000. Local shares undoubtedly would have to come from local governmental agencies.

A new church plant on the scene is the attractive Anderson Street Church of Christ, located in the area southeast of the Snyder-Gail highway intersection. The plant, erected at a cost of about $41,000, will accommodate up to 300 worshippers.

Ingram Speaker Wins Competition

Gary Priour, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Prior of Ingram, won the 4th Division American Legion Oratorical contest held Saturday at Howard County Junior College.

Priour was one of four youths competing for the right to enter the state finals in San Antonio next week. Other contestants were Chris Jensen, El Paso, Charles C. Space, Slaton, and Gary Compton, Childress. Judges for the event were Carroll Davidson, local chamber of commerce manager; Donald Van Meter, director of the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital; Capt. Robert Bateman, president of the Flying Tumbweed Toastmasters Club of Webb Air Force Base; Wayne Burns, district attorney; and Paul Teuton, American Legion 19th District Chaplain from Lockney.

Young Priour is no stranger to the oratorical contest, as in 1964 he was third runner-up in the national contest. Each contestant made a 10 minute speech on the Constitution and then a five minute extemporaneous speech on the section of the Constitution dealing with the Federal court system. Each boy had five minutes to prepare his extemporaneous speech.

Judging was based on the point system. If a contestant ran over the allotted time, he was penalized.

Sheriff A. N. Standard praised the cooperation of police and deputies in the rapid moving search, which included roadblocks set by officers on highways leading from the city. Officers in Lamesa, Stanton and other area towns were notified during the search in the attempt to locate Minters, who was reported driving a blue Cadillac.

The forger indictment on Minters was one of 24 indictments which the grand jury here handed Judge Ralph Caton Feb. 10.

Standard said officers here had been sent to Midland last week to work with authorities there in attempting to locate the man and Odessa authorities being assisting in the effort Friday.

Funeral will be Monday at 2:30 p. m. in Lamar, Mo., for Mrs. Marie Mann, who died at Clovis, N. M. Friday. She was the mother of E. J. Mann, formerly with River-Welch Funeral Home here.

Mrs. Mann had been in failing health several years. She had lived with her son for the past few years.

Services will be at the First Baptist Church at Lamar, Mo., with burial in the Lamar Cemetery beside her husband. Chiles Funeral Home in Lamar is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Survivors include the son, E. J. Mann, Clovis; two granddaughters, Mrs. David Dibrill, Boston, Mass., and Mrs. Billy Bob Satterwhite, Florida; and two great-grandchildren.

The body of a Massachusetts man, who died in a Big Spring motel room early Saturday, was being sent to Brockton, Mass., Saturday for funeral arrangements.

The man was Edison Perry Pond, about 61, according to Justice of the Peace Walter Grice, who ruled death by natural causes Saturday.

Grice said Mr. Pond was en route to Massachusetts with a son, Alfred Pond. They had just checked into a room at the Westward Ho Motel, US 80 west, about 2:30 a. m., Grice said, when the elder Pond died. The son attempted to revive his father and called for an ambulance. The son reported his father had been in ill health, Grice said.

The youth had been in military service in California and his father had met him in San Francisco upon his separation from service, Grice said.

The body was taken to River-Welch Funeral Home here, pending transfer to the Massachusetts city, according to attendants.

Gives Answer To Struggle

Rev. John Black, speaking to members of the American Business Club at their regular Friday luncheon at the Settles Hotel, warned that the darkening situation in Southeast Asia may involve the United States in another world war within a decade.

"If that time comes, we may have to prove whether we are mice or men," Black said. "And if we are to stand against the opposition, one thing we need to do is 'see' Jesus Christ.

"We need to practice his teachings if we get into war. We need to practice the manhood of the Master. No other way will win, regardless of our stockpile of nuclear weapons."

Rev. Black also stated: "We will find the power we need in the spiritual world. In that way we will find the kind of 'master men' we need to win."

Rev. Black reminded his listeners that Jesus Christ was "no party-waiter, no weakling but all man. He was strong enough to encourage all men to follow him. We have been born again to living hope because of him. I think the enemy will find we are stronger than nuclear weapons."

Dean Ben Johnson of HCJC was in attendance and circulated a petition calling for a bond election for additions to the local college. He assured his listeners the bond could be financed without a raise in tax rates or evaluations.

Jerry Smith, Odessa, a fellow Ambassador, attended the meeting as did Billy Jones, a guest.

Fund Builds For Infant

COLORADO CITY — The campaign to raise $10,000 to save the life of seven-month-old Barbie Vardy passed $3,900 last week.

The child, given a year to live by doctors, was flown to the University of Minnesota's Research and Teaching Hospital Wednesday. There Dr. Karl Abelson is examining the infant for a possible liver transplant.

The fund was started in late January when Mrs. Bill Coffey, women's editor of the Colorado City Record, ran a story in the Record and initiated the fund at the City National Bank.

George Womack, vice president of the bank, said $3,900 had been raised and the drive was continuing through schools and civic organizations in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

A week ago Friday the fund had stood at just over $2,400. The Mitchell County March of Dimes donated the money to pay expenses of Mrs. Bobby Vardy, the child's mother, and the infant during the trip to Minneapolis.

Benefit dances, auctions and other activities have been underway to raise money for the fund, both in Colorado City and as far away as Gallup, N.M., where the child was born.

The child was born with no gall bladder bile duct and an enlarged liver. Unless the condition is corrected, doctors have said, the child cannot live more than a year.

HENRY CHARLES MOSER

Henry C. Moser Dies Saturday

Services will be at 2 p. m. Tuesday for Henry Charles Moser, 53, an employe of Coston Oil & Chemical Co. for the past 14 years, who died Saturday afternoon of an apparent heart attack.

Mr. Moser was born Nov. 28, 1912 in Paris, Texas, and came to Big Spring in 1940 from Corpus Christi.

He was married to Miss Alice Mae Emerson Aug. 28, 1932 at Durant, Okla.

He was a member of the Eleventh Place and Birdwell Lane Church of Christ. Services Tuesday will be in Nalley-Pickle Chapel, with Richard M. Williams, minister of the Eleventh Place and Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Alice Moser, Big Spring; a daughter, Mrs. Johnnie (Bobbie Jean) Hooper, Big Spring; a son, Ronnie (Chubby) Moser, Big Spring; his mother, Mrs. D. L. Moser, Big Spring; four sisters, Mrs. Georgia Luce and Mrs. Madeline Jackson, both of Big Spring; Mrs. Jewell Cartwright, San Jose, Calif.; and Mrs. Margaret Abbey, Afton, Texas; one brother, Lindley Moser, Fort Arthur; and three grandchildren.

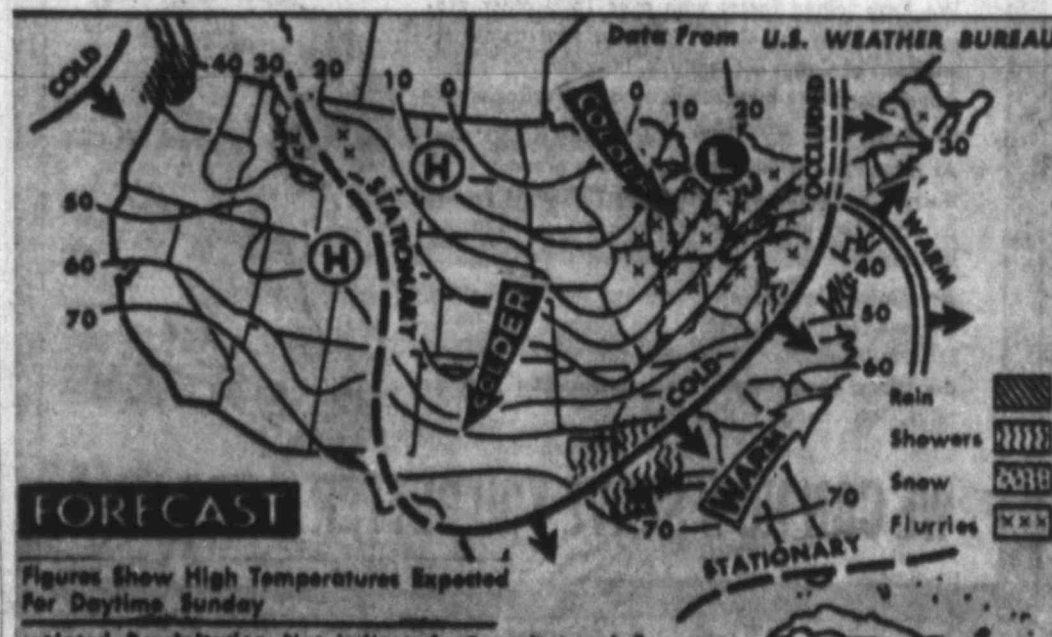

Rites Pend For Mrs. McMillan

Services are pending for Mrs. W. E. McMillan, a former resident of Big Spring for a number of years, who died suddenly Saturday at the home of a son in Odessa.

Arrangements are pending at the Fitzgerald Funeral Home in Tulsa, Okla. Mrs. McMillan is survived by the son, John McMillan, Odessa, and a niece, Mrs. L. D. Gilbert, Big Spring. Mrs. McMillan had visited at the home of Mrs. Gilbert within the past several weeks.

Mrs. Graham's Rites Today

Services will be at 2:30 p. m. today for Mrs. Mary Elora Graham, 81, of Sand Springs, Texas, who died at 1:20 p. m. Friday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Graham was born Sept. 28, 1883, in Arkansas and came to Ackerly in 1927 from Winters, Texas. She lived in Ackerly about 10 years, then moved to Big Spring and in 1963 to Sand Springs.

She married J. W. Graham Sept. 9, 1900 in Johnson County, Texas. Mrs. Graham was a member of the Crestview Baptist Church, Big Spring.

She had been in failing health since June, 1964. A son, Lester Graham, preceded her in death, in 1953.

Services will be in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, with the Rev. R. B. Murray, pastor of Crestview Baptist Church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Dan Oglesby, pastor of Midway Baptist Church, and Richard Williams, minister of Birdwell Lane Church of Christ. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors include the husband, J. W. Graham, Sand Springs; three sons, Leonard Graham, Cleburne, Claude Graham, Tampa, Fla., and Homer Graham, Fort Worth; five daughters, Mrs. Walter Barbee, Sand Springs, Mrs. Don Rasberry and Mrs. Hulon Davie, both of Big Spring, Mrs. J. T. Cook, Ackerly, and Mrs. C. J. Bailey, Stephenville; one daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lester Graham, Winters; two sisters, Mrs. R. DeGonia, Fort Worth, and Mrs. Beulah Milstead, Cleburne; 22 grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be grandsons.

Moisture Improves Subsoil Conditions

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Moisture was widespread over the state last week, but again was on the light side in most of the west and northwest. Subsoil conditions are improving in the eastern two-thirds with Central Texas reporting surplus moisture. Field work has been stopped, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He said the added moisture will benefit grains, clovers, flax, vegetables, other crops and ranges.

Moisture amounts varied greatly. The heaviest falls generally were in the sections that got good rains the week before. Moisture in the Panhandle ranged from short to adequate. Wheat is dormant and providing only limited grazing. Feeding is heavy.

The moisture situation was poor on the South Plains. Snow, sleet and rain in some spots left up to about a half inch of moisture but benefits will be short. Ranges are below average and feeding is heavy.

Moisture was widespread over the Rolling Plains but varied from showers to 1.50 inches. Grain growth is in direct ratio to the moisture situation. Grain mites and rust caused damage. Rains stopped all field work in North Central Texas. Grains are making good growth. Ranges are good.

Good rains in Northeast Texas helped grains. Stock tanks are full of water. Hotbeds for tomatoes are ready. Light snow helped, but moisture in far West Texas is still short. Feeding on the ranges is necessary. Lambing and goat shearing are under way. Labor is short.

Moisture in West Central Texas ranged from showers to six inches in the Llano sector. Grain grazing was greatly improved. Ranges are still below average and feeding is increasing. Lack of severe weather, plus feeding, have kept livestock in good condition. The heavy part of the lambing season is at hand.

Rains left Central Texas with a surplus moisture. Grains are making good growth; range conditions are improving. General rains made moisture adequate in East Texas. Grains and ranges are responding. Moisture over the Southeast and Upper Gulf Coast District is fully adequate. Field work has stopped. Pastures are furnishing fair to good grazing, and feeding is much below normal. Rains were heavy over South Central Texas and the moisture situation improved. Oats are making good growth. Vegetables are being planted.

Moisture in South Texas is much improved. Wet fields delayed harvesting of carrots, cabbage and spinach and cotton planting in the Valley.

Count 200 Years City Employment

Six City Employees Have Tenure Totaling 200 Years

By PRESTON MAYNARD
More than 200 years of employment by the City of Big Spring can be counted today by six of its employees.

Their careers span the growth of a city government which in the late 1820's numbered only a handful of employees, since grown to a payroll of more than 240 persons.

The six include Lee Nuckels, superintendent of water and sewer maintenance and distribution; R. V. (Skeet) Foresyth, streets, sanitation and shop superintendent; Roy Hester, water treatment plant superintendent; G. F. (Shorty) Gideon, municipal golf course manager; H. V. Crocker, fire chief; and C. E. (Perry) Johnson Jr., tax assessor-collector.

LIST COMPILED

"There's quite a number of employees with more than 10 years service, but with broken tenure," Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson said. Anderson recently completed a list of more than 60 employees with 10 years or more of unbroken tenure.

Two employees count more than 25 years continuous employment. A. D. Meador, fire marshal, and Jones Lamar, sewage treatment plant superintendent. An additional 14 have more than 15 years. Counting another 10 years or more each of city employment are 25 persons.

Lee Nuckels came to Big Spring and began work for the city in 1927, with his first job that of installing water services by hand, including the ditching. The only paved streets then were between Fourth and First, along with US 80 and US 87, which the latter was then over Scoury Street. In the years he has worked with the city's water program, he has helped install some 11,000 water meters.

TAXES

who, when the water and tax offices were separated in 1944, became the city's tax assessor-collector. Johnson came to Big Spring at the age of 12, recalling that the "big spring" was still running at that time. In the early 1950's he headed the organization of the first teenage baseball program for the city.

R. V. Foresyth was born in Big Spring. He and G. F. Gideon can recall running the grader and tractor to grade streets into the pastureland west of what is today Eighteenth Street and east of Goliad Street. When the rain fell in those early years it was quite a problem, Foresyth said.

"I've seen Goliad wash out in front of Jones Lumber Co. 10 to 12 feet deep," he said.

GOLF COURSE

Gideon has worked both in the street department and, during two periods, supervised the municipal golf course. When he first started work for the city on Feb. 1, 1930, the first sand greens were put in for the golf course. He recalled helping clear the land where City Park is now located.

As for the golf course then, "It was worse than a wilderness," Gideon said. "If you got into a rough, you might as well not look for the ball."

In 1925 Roy Hester came from a cattle ranch he and his father operated in eastern Oklahoma and settled in Big Spring. Since December of that year he has been helping see that Big Springers have enough water to drink. He can remember some pretty bleak periods through the 35 years past when water was scarce.

"I've seen it many times when I wondered how we would make it through the next day," Hester said.

RECOGNITION

Hester helped organize the Permian Basin Water Works Association in the early 1940's and in 1957 the city's water treatment plant, under his supervision since it was first constructed, was recognized by the Texas Department of Health as having the most attractive appearance of any plant in the state.

From Lufkin, Texas, in 1929 H. V. Crocker bought a train ticket to Big Spring, after the city manager, V. R. Smitham, later to become the city manager of Dallas, asked him to join the fire department here. "I had one fire station and one paid fireman," Crocker recalled, with the city hall lo-ated over the fire station. The city's motorized fire equipment then included a 1928 Chevrolet chemical wagon and a 1925 Seagraves pumper. Crocker was put to work at nights, since he didn't know the city, with a volunteer fireman on hand to show him where to go when a fire call came.

"If there was very much pressure put on our hoses then they would break," he said, and water hydrants were widely scattered.

TOY CAMPAIGN

In 1951 some burned toys were donated to the fire department and with the assistance of the Lions Club the first children's Christmas toy campaign was begun.

"It has gotten bigger through the years," Crocker recalled and later the milk and ice fund for children was started through the fire department.

Water Station Moves To New Office In Angelo

The subdistrict station of the U.S. Geological Survey in San Angelo will have open house at new offices, 1409 Knickerbocker Road, Thursday.

The station has operated in San Angelo for the past 30 years to study and evaluate surface water resources of a 65,000 square mile area of West Texas. The area is bounded by the Davis Mountains on the west, the tributaries of the Brazos River on the north and east, the Devils River, Llano River and Lake Buchanan on the south.

Richard Grozier, engineer in charge of the San Angelo office, said that Trigg Twichell, head of the Austin district, and others from the Austin staff will attend.

Instruments at the office will demonstrate how water facts are collected.

The San Angelo technical staff conducts investigations to determine quality, quantity, mode of occurrence, variations in quality and stream flow, channel gains or losses and flow of springs. These are made in cooperation with the Texas Water Commission. Included is a network of 91 stream-gauge and reservoir - content stations, 18 chemical - quality stations, two conductance recorders, about 25 chemical-quality reconnaissance stations, 20 partial-record base-flow stations. There also are special studies on runoff, evaporation and salinity.

County Road Work On Bid

A low bid of $427,463 for a seal coating project, involving Howard and 12 other counties in the Abilene district of the Texas Highway Department, was tabulated in Austin Friday.

The low bidder on the project was J. H. Strain & Sons, Inc., of Tye, Texas.

The project will begin sometime after April 1 and will involve seal coating for the interstate 20 route from just west of Big Spring's city limits to the county line, in addition to three other highways.

Other portions involve the north-bound lane of US 87, from IS 20 north of Big Spring to about 17 miles north, then the south-bound lane from that point to the county line. The routes are the old two-lane highway route.

The seal coating is scheduled for FM 846, from FM 669 to FM 1205 at Vincent, and for FM 700, from US 87 south of the city to IS 20 east of Big Spring.

The yearly project is handled through the Abilene district office of the department. A total of 216.3 miles of highway in 13 counties of the district is included in the project for this year.

The highway department Friday tabulated low bids for projects in eight districts in the state, with the bids totalling $13,634,987.

Former Resident Dies In Dallas

Lessie Myrtle Woods, 71, former Big Spring resident, died

Friday in Dallas. She and her husband, A. L. Woods, who survives her, lived at 2755 Kingston, Dallas.
Services were held at 3:30 p.m. Saturday at the Lamar & Smith Funeral Chapel, 800 W. Jefferson, in Dallas.

Scramble Is Popular

Several boys from Howard County will be competing for the newest and one of the most popular features of the annual San Angelo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo scheduled March 11-14. This is only the fourth year for the calf scramble to be included in the big show, but already it has become one of the fixtures.

In the scramble, 20 boys are lined up at one end of the coliseum and 10 calves are released at the other end. Each boy is armed with a halter attached to a 10-foot rope. He must attach the halter or in some other manner securely bring the animal across the finish line without help.

A total of 120 Texas 4-H and FFA boys will compete in the six performances for a total prize of $1,200 including $40 first prize on down through 10 winners in each performance. The money is in the form of certificates which must be used to purchase livestock for a 4-H or FFA project.

Schedule of scramble appearances include: Kevin Fryar, Bobby McCormick and Gaylon Pitman, all of Stanton, on Friday matinee, March 12.

Barry T. Hill and Pete Geurin, all of Stanton, Walter Morgan and Dickie Partlow, all of Big Spring, on Saturday matinee, March 13. Kenneth Reynolds of Stanton is alternate for Saturday matinee.

California Quads Die

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Three boys and a girl, born Tuesday to Mrs. J. Gary Gwilliam, 28, are dead.

The 3-months premature quadruplets, each weighing 1 1/2 pounds, lived less than a day.

They were the only children of Mrs. Gwilliam and her husband, 27, a Ventura County deputy district attorney. The Gwilliams have been married five years.

Mrs. JFK Will Select Portrait

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has agreed to take charge of efforts to pick a portrait of the late President Kennedy to be hung in the White House.

King Baudouin Said Suffering A Virus

BRUSSELS (AP) — King Baudouin, who has been suffering from the flu for the past few days, has a virus hepatitis which will confine him to his room for several weeks, the Belgian royal palace announced.

DEAR BOSS:

George's Birthday Was Really Feb. 11

DEAR BOSS: Generally speaking, everyone will celebrate the birthday of George Washington, this country's first president, come Monday.

That is—everyone except me. I toasted old George in a beaker of hot coffee 11 days ago on Feb. 11.

You see, according to the records, George didn't make his appearance on Feb. 22 as the textbooks are prone to allege. He actually was born Feb. 11, 1732. And, Boss, if you doubt it, look up George's biography in the Britannica.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT
There's a parenthesis around the date. The notation "old style," also appears. Nevertheless, when Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Washington sent out birth announcements for their oldest son to their friends and neighbors, they said he was born Feb. 11.

The Washingtons at that time lived on a farm called Wakefield in Westmoreland County, Virginia Colony.

You see, Boss, where the muddle over the birthdate of George arises (and it applies to all folk who were born prior to 1752) was that the calendar had gotten so far out of step that something had to be done to make it match up with the equinoxes and solstices and such.

Actually, Old George was 26-years-old before he began celebrating his birthday on Feb. 22 instead of Feb. 11.

It was that year that the British Government decreed all possessions should make corrections in the calendar.

So the good folk went to sleep on the night of Sept. 2, 1752. When they woke up next morn-ning it was not Sept. 3—instead it was Sept. 14. So you see how things were with George.

AN ERROR

(There is nothing to a report which alleges he changed his birthday to keep it from coming so close to that of Mr. Abe Lincoln. State and federal employes, no doubt, would like the old style for Mr. W. and the new style for Mr. L. That way they'd get a two day holiday.)

The way it was, Boss, Britain was using the Gregorian Calendar—the same one we are still using. The Julian Calendar had been used for a long, long time until a monk, an Anglo Saxon named Bede, came along.

In 730 A.D. Bede shook up everyone by telling the world that every year was 11 minutes and 14 seconds too long. Thus every 128 days, an extra day was added to the year.

It took the world 800 years to do anything about the error the first time. In 1582, Pope Gregory XIII decreed that the day following Oct. 4 should be followed by Oct. 15, thereby dropping 10 days. Nearly, two hundred years later, the British, still using old Greg's calendar, dropped 11 more days.

STILL WRONG

I suppose, Boss, we're still out of kilter in our calendar. And your birthday, very likely will be celebrated in the years to come 10 or 12 days later in the month than it is now.

Anyway that's why us OS boys did our celebrating of old George's birthday 11 days ago.

We simply abhor not being accurate about things, Boss.

Israel Planning Commemoratives

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newshour

Israel's first commemorative stamps for 1965 will honor the town of Masada and will depict three scenes there, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America.

Masada was the last stronghold in Israel's eight-year war of liberation against the Romans during the first century A.D. The ancient city is now a mountain village in the modern state of Israel and a popular tourist site.

The 25 agorot green stamp shows a view of Masada from the west. The 36 agorot blue depicts the ruins of the lower terrace of the Palace of Masada. The one pound blue illustrates the northern palace of Masada. On each stamp there is a tab inscribed "Masada Shall Not Fall Again."

The new Israel stamps are available at your local stamp dealer.

Postmaster General John A. Gronowski announced that a 25-cent stamp will be issued on Feb. 25 for use in vending machines. It will be the highest denomination ever to be issued in coil form. The first-day site is Wheaton, Md., the nation's first self-service post office.

The green stamp is identical to the 25-cent Paul Revere adhesive issued in sheet form at Boston on April 1, 1958. The design is based on a photo print of the Gilbert Stuart portrait of 1813.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations of the 25-cent coil stamp may send their addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Silver Spring, Md. 20907. All covers will be canceled at the Wheaton classified station and will bear the Wheaton, Md., postmark. The envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers 25 cents Paul Revere Stamp." Requests must be postmarked not later than Feb. 25.

The Bahamas has issued a new set of 15 stamps in various colors and with colored borders depicting local scenes and portraits. Each bears a portrait of Queen Elizabeth. Some of the illustrations are: A high school, Out Island Regatta, hospital, flamingo, development, yachting, Public Square, Sea Garden, Old Cannons at Fort Charlotte, Seaplane and Jet plane, Undersea Post Office, Conch Shell, Columbus' Flagship.

BOB CHARLES LEADS BY FIVE STROKES

Anzac All Alone

By BOB EGER

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Lanky Bob Charles fired his third straight brilliant round, a five-under-par 67, Saturday to give him a five-stroke advantage going into Sunday's final of the $46,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

The 28-year-old New Zealand-er pulled away from second-round challengers Tom Shaw and Jim Ferriell, but veteran Al Geiberger replaced the youngsters as chief contender.

With a round to go Sunday, Charles had a 54-hole total of 201 and Geiberger a 206.

Geiberger shot a 66 to knock six strokes off par and put him 10 under for the tournament.

Tommy Jacobs also carded a 66 to move into contention at 207, nine strokes under par.

Bert Weaver, with a 68, and Lionel Hebert, with a 69, were tied at 208. Dick Sikes was one stroke back at 209 and another stroke behind him were Bill Casper Jr., and Lou Graham, a rookie from Nashville, Tenn., who fired 66.

British Open champ Tony Lema was still another stroke back at 211. He had 71 Saturday. Shaw shot a 74 and also stood at 211. Ferriell, who had two previous rounds of 69, soared to an 80 and dropped 17 strokes off the pace.

Charles, the 1963 British Open champion and the only lefty ever to win a U.S. pro tournament, preceded his 67 with rounds of 65 and 69 on the Tucson National Golf Club course, a 7,200-yard desert layout with giant greens.

Charles' 65 Thursday gave him a first-round lead, and he has been in command since.

SECTION B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1965 SECTION B

Field Shaping Up For Cage Playoffs

Only one defending state champion is left as the Texas schoolboy basketball race moves toward regional championships this week.

McAdoo, which won the Class B title, survived its district race and meets Goree Monday at Aspermont in a bi-district clash.

and Talco, winner of Class A, all failed to repeat as district champions.

Western Quints Face Showdown

This is the week that will decide the champion or co-champions in the Western Junior College conference basketball race.

A month ago San Angelo had a comfortable lead in the conference. Then came a series of defeats for the Rams along with a series of wins for three other teams, Howard County Junior College, South Plains and Amarillo.

These four teams are atop the heap in the conference race. By Saturday night only two teams, or possibly one, will be in first place.

The Jayhawks of HCJC and South Plains seem to have the inside track to the championship. Both teams will play their last two games at home.

Lewis Is Named State Meet Ref

L. L. (Red) Lewis, highly successful track and field coach at Howard County Junior College, has accepted an invitation to be the referee at the annual University Interscholastic League track and field meet May 6-7-8.

The Big Spring man goes to Dallas Thursday night of this week to accept a plaque as Texas Junior College Coach of the Year, an honor voted upon him by the Texas Sportswriters Association.

Lewis' HCJC team will be involved in a Western Conference meet the same weekend the high school meet takes place in Austin but his co-workers at HCJC prevailed upon him to accept the invitation from Austin, assuring him that they would handle the Jayhawk team in the league cinder show.

The Austin invitation was extended by Dr. Rhea Williams of the UIL.

Champs Win Gloves Test

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Three fighters with championship credentials swept into the semifinals Saturday night of the 29th Texas Golden Gloves Tournament.

Manuel Navarro of Austin, the 1964 national bantam champ fighting now as a featherweight, outpointed Ricky Martinez of Plainview in a spirited duel of aggressive contestants.

Eddie Gonzales of Plainview, the 1963 bantam king here, resumed his bid for a second title by gaining a decision over scrappy Frank Cordova of Houston.

Another Plainview representative, Fred Garcia, the national flyweight titlist in 1963, cut down Roland Olivares of Houston in a hotly contested battle apparently resolved in the final round.

Talpa Triumphs By 47-46 Score

TALPA — The Talpa-Centennial girls, aiming for the Region VI-B basketball tournament in Big Spring two weekends hence, will meet Rochelle here in bi-district competition next Tuesday.

Talpa-Centennial defeated Moezelle, 47-46, Friday night here to win the playoff for the District 82-B crown.

Three national titles in a row. The Jayhawks open their 1965 campaign the first weekend in March, at which time they will appear in the Southwestern Region meet in Fort Worth.

They go to Laredo for the Border Olympics the following weekend.

Brumel First In High Jump

NEW YORK (AP) — Russia's Valery Brumel failed in his announced quest of the indoor high jump record Saturday, settling for a winning 7-2, while a quartet of Californians dominated the wind-up of the two-day national and indoor track championships.

Brumel, the Olympic gold medalist and holder of both the indoor and outdoor marks, had announced a determined try at his indoor 7-4 standard. He missed only once enroute to 7-3, then failed badly on each try at that height.

Otherwise, it was strongmen John McGrath in the shot and Hal Connolly in the weight, along with middle distance men Jim Grelle and Jack Yerman who dominated the men's events on this last day of the combined men's and women's championships.

McGrath, from Pasadena, won the shot at 62-10 1/2, while Connolly, a school teacher at Santa Monica, came out of semi-retirement and won the weight throw at 70-1/2, second best the world has ever seen. His own record is 71-3/4.

Grelle, a lean veteran from Los Angeles, found the slow mile pace just to his liking, lurked back in the pack for 10 laps, then out-kicked Poland's Witold Baran for a 4:07.4 victory.

Tech, SMU Record League Victories

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Bill Ward sank two free throws with 43 seconds left to put Southern Methodist ahead and Charley Beasley shot two more with six seconds remaining for a 73-70 victory over Texas Saturday.

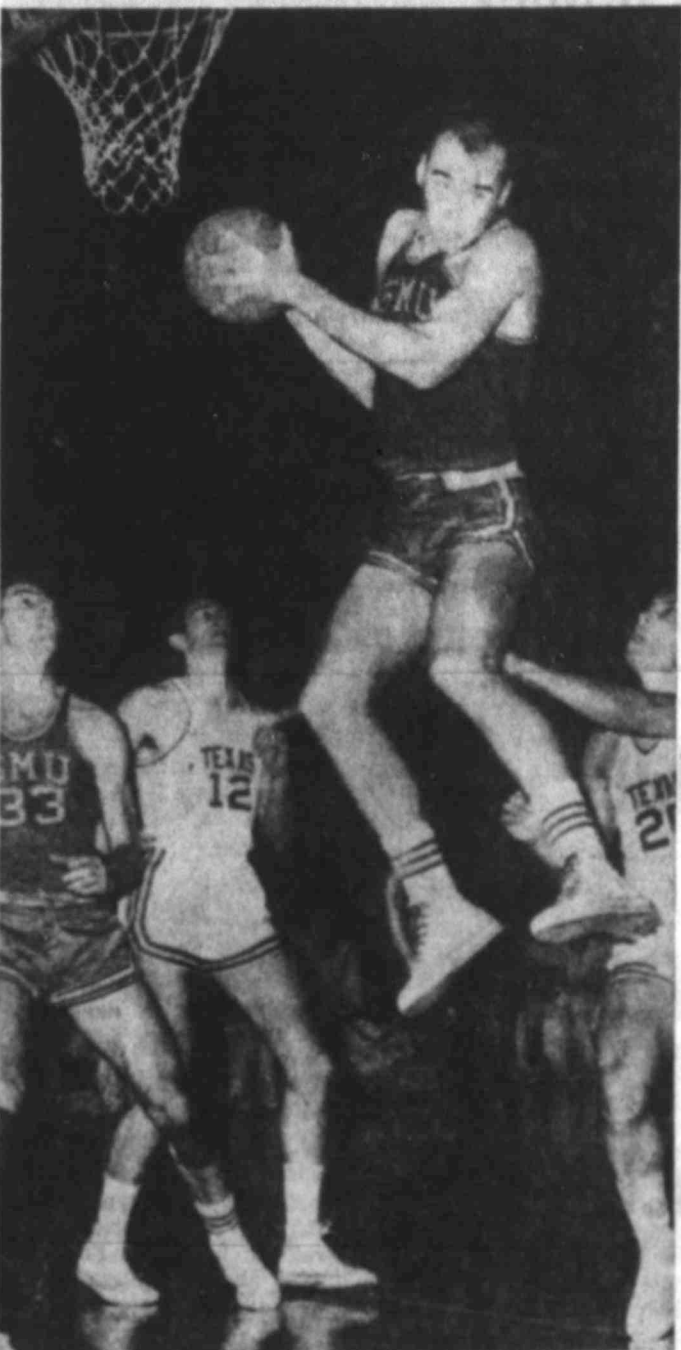

Southern Methodist took over second place in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

Southern Methodist led all the way until the last 58 seconds when Mickey White stole the ball and dribbled in for a crisp shot that gave Texas the edge 70-69.

Southern Methodist led by as much as 11 points in the last half. Texas tied it up three times during the game. SMU led 36-29 at the half.

White topped the scoring with 19 points. Tommy Nelms of Texas had 18. Carroll Hooser and Ward each pitched in 15 for SMU.

SMU shot for a 53.0 average Texas was 43.0.

Carroll Hooser, SMU's center-forward, leaps high to get possession of the ball beneath the Texas basket in their SWC basketball game at Austin Saturday night. Others in the action are SMU guard Bill Ward (far left), Texas forward Paul Olivier (12) and Texas guard Jimmy Clark (20). (AP WIREPHOTO)

HOUSTON — Texas Tech rallied after a slow start to topple Rice, 77-67, in a Southwest Conference basketball game here Saturday night.

The victory was Tech's ninth in ten league starts and left the Raiders two games ahead of second place SMU.

Badgers Lose To Hoosiers

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana checked a late drive by Wisconsin and beat the Badgers 100-87 in a Big Ten basketball game Saturday afternoon.

The Hoosiers, looking ragged after their double overtime loss to Michigan Monday night, led all the way but saw their margin shrink from 24 points to seven as they turned cold late in the second half. They were in front 50-34 at halftime.

Dick VanArsdale led Indiana with 26 points, hitting 10 of 20 shots from the field and six free throws without a miss. Tom VanArsdale added 23 points on nine of 16 and five of 11 and hit a field goal at the buzzer to round out the 100 total.

The victory gave Indiana a 6-3 record in the Big Ten and 16-3 for the season. Wisconsin dropped to 1-8 and 7-12.

Region VI-B Meet To Open Friday

Pairings for the Feb. 26-27 Region VI-B boys' basketball tournament, scheduled to be held in the HCJC Gym here, will not be known until after Tuesday night's bi-district action. Five teams will take part in the meet here, which means that one club gets a first round bye. The winner here qualifies for the State tournament in Austin, scheduled for the first weekend in March.

Teams from the El Paso to Brownwood areas are eligible to take part in the competition. The girls' Region VI-B tournament will follow the boys' play by a week and will also be held here.

Dr. Melvin Crawford will serve as director of the tournament and will be assisted by Anna Smith and Marshall Box, who like Crawford are employed at HCJC.

Officials for the tournament will come from Lubbock, Eddie Aciri and D. A. Miller will be assigned the task of working the score book and the clock for the entire meet.

Sands' boys are the only team in this immediate area still eligible for the tournament and the Mustangs must beat Pyle in bi-district Tuesday to earn the trip here.

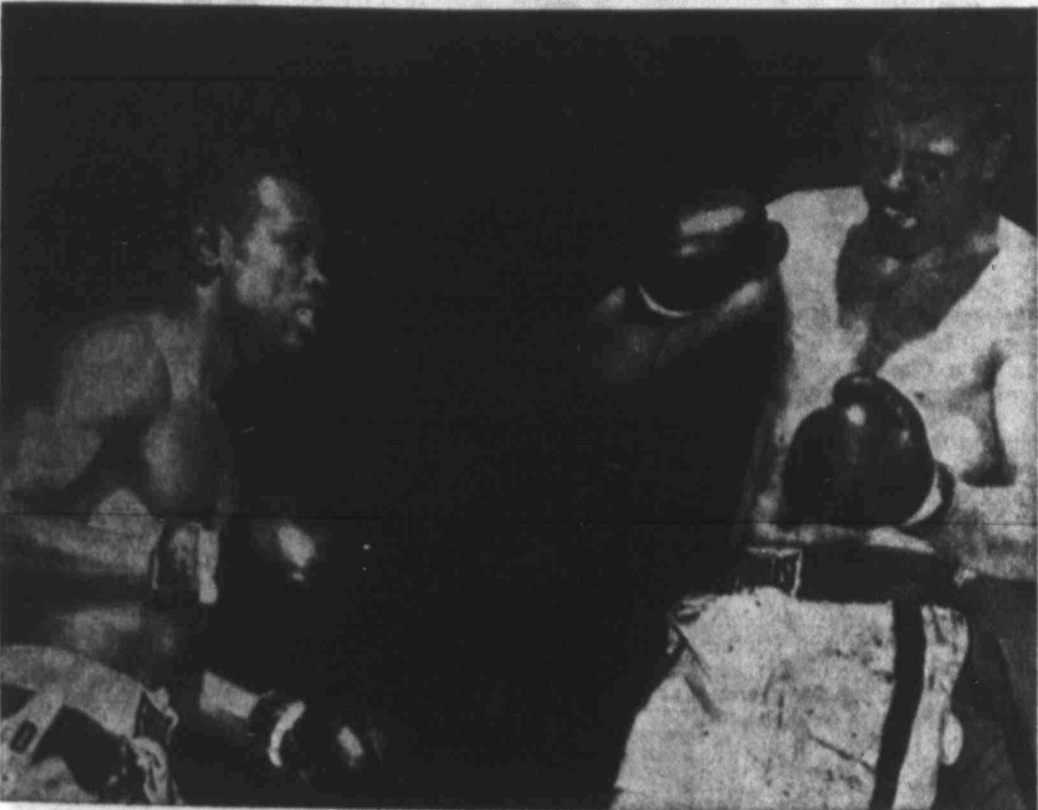

In girls' play, Forsan is still very much in contention for a spot in the March 5-6 tournament.

The tournament was transferred to Big Spring from Odessa last year and proved to be very successful.

Big Spring will also be host to the April 24 Region VI-B track and field meet, along with golf and tennis tournaments. Literary events on the regional level are scheduled here for that weekend, too.

In all, 53 schools comprise the B region and most are due to be represented in either the athletic or literary events.

Verdell Turner will be director of the track meet while the tennis tournament will be run off under the supervision of Miss Smith.

Michigan Stomps Buckeye Quintet

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin led a driving Michigan attack as the top-ranked Wolverines completely outclassed Ohio State 100-61 in a Big Ten conference basketball game Saturday.

The victory kept Michigan ahead of the conference race with a 9-0 record and put its over-all record at 17-2. Ohio State fell to 2-7 in the Big Ten.

Michigan outrebounded and outshot the Buckeyes by a wide margin, outclassing them on the floor and in controlling the ball on jumps.

The Wolverines looked a little shaky the first few minutes, then raced away. They led by 46-30 at intermission and by more than 30 points most of the last half.

Russell scored 16 points in the first half and 10 in the second for a total of 26. Buntin also scored 16 in the first half and ended with 20.

Dill, Eichelberger Are Added To Masters' List

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Ten newcomers have been invited to play in the 1965 Masters Golf Tournament at the Augusta National Club, tournament chairman Cliff Roberts announced Saturday. Four names also have been added to the list of 10-year invitees.

The U.S. invitation list includes 74 players, most of them still active in competition. About 20 to 30 foreign players will be invited later and five names will be added under late qualifying conditions.

The 10 added to the invitation list — double the number for last year — include five who qualified as quarter-finalists in the 1964 U.S. Amateur Championship. They are Ed Tutwiler, runner-up to champion Bill Campbell; Donald C. Allen, Dave Eichelberger, William E. Ferrell Jr. and John M. Hopkins.

Terry Dill and Raymond Floyd made the list by finishing in the first 16 in the U.S. Open and Tom Nieporte by placing in the first eight in the PGA Championship.

The other two, Frank Beard and Jack McGowan, qualified as the two pros, not otherwise eligible, who made the best showings on the 1964 pro golf tour.

Two more players will be added just before the tournament on the basis of their showings on the winter tour. The former Masters winners and the U.S. Open and Amateur champions

Wranglers Slam Hill Contingent

HILLSBORO — Cisco Junior College cleared the way for its trip to the Region V basketball tournament at Amarillo by defeating Hill County JC in a Texas Conference game here Friday night, 71-77.

The Wranglers won 12 straight conference games and now boast a season's mark of 27-1. They are undefeated in 21 straight contests.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Are Wolf Whistles Upcoming?

By TOMMY HART

There is some talk that the Texas Interscholastic League will create a AAAAAA classification this year . . . More likely, however, the lines of demarcation in each division will be redrawn . . .

Quite probably, only schools with 1,000 high school students and more will be included in the top classification, whereas the dividing line for that group is now 950 . . . Football prospects at Colorado City should be looking up this year, where coach Truman Nix's rebuilding program will be entering its second season . . . Nix will have nine letter winners back, including five regulars . . . It wasn't generally known that Nix assigned all under-classmen he could possibly spare to the B team in order to have it play as a unit and the reserve squad wound up winning seven of nine starts against the toughest kind of opposition . . . Chances are Truman will move Larry Currie, 175 pounds, from quarterback to end and depend upon passing artist Wayne Snowden, 170-pounder up from the B team, to serve as navigator . . . Backing him will be Truman's own son, the small but agile Glenn Nix — a fine ball handler . . . Cee City will field a big backfield . . . The team's fullback will be David Way, 190-pound senior; while Don Higginbotham, 170, running back, who came over from Silver when he played under ex-Big Spring Don Swinney; and Mike Garner, 190, will likely fill out the secondary . . . Robert Jameson, 165-pound letterman, will probably play the end opposite Currie . . . Letterman Marv Iglehart, 185, and all-district Robert Stewart, 180, will be at tackles . . . The Wolves will be deeper at guards than anywhere else . . . Twins Doug and David Aycock, both 145 and both very quick, will be available there as will Robert Mathers, 180, also up from Silver, and Ronnie Wilson, 165 . . . Topper Steakley, 165, who started nine of ten games for Cee City last fall, returns to play center . . . Nix expects Ballinger and Winters to carry the big sticks in

TRUMAN NIX

District 5-AA and Stamford could cause trouble, although the Bulldogs lose 24 of their first 27 boys off last fall's conference championship squad . . . From the ninth grade through the 12th, Cee City has 112 boys back this fall and 46 of that group will either be juniors or seniors . . . In West Texas, this could be the Year of the Wolf.

HCJC's fledgling baseball team is going to have to depend upon contributions to provide its boys with uniforms . . . First local firm to underwrite the expense of player raiment was Cook and Talbot, Realtors . . . Total cost of outfitting the squad will be about $250 . . . Ken Venturi, who fought off physical exhaustion in suffocating heat to win last year's tournament, is one of those who have expressed strong dislike for the USGA's decision to change the format of the National Open . . . Said Venturi recently: "I don't think I could have won last year if I had had to wait another day to go out onto the course" . . . The Open has been limited to three days of medal play, with 36 holes booked on the final day . . . It henceforth will be expanded to four days . . . Bo Wining, the former Odessan, has one claim to fame — he is the only pro on the golf tour who ever scored a touchdown in the Rose Bowl football classic . . . Consider the plight of Denny McLean, a Detroit Tiger farm hand, who helped pitch the Mayaguez team to the Puerto Rican Winter Baseball League title: When he and his teammates were lifted on the shoulders of excited fans and carried to their team bus, someone picked his pocket of $30 . . . Julio Guerrero, the football phenom, is the only baseball regular back at San Angelo High School this spring . . . He's a shortstop . . . Rep. Graham Purcell, the former Big Spring, was the chief speaker at the recent banquet honoring the football team in Archer City . . . SMU held out hopes until the last minute that it would land Ross Montgomery, the Midland High football goliath, who finally cast his lot with TCU . . . Friends of the school say coach Hayden Fry of SMU expects to get half his gridders this year out of West Texas . . . Any golf pro breaking the record of 65 at the Pecan Valley Country Club in San Antonio in a PGA-sponsored event will win an extra $6,500 . . . The money has been deposited in a bank by club officials . . . Miller Barber, a regular in the Odessa Pro-Am in other years, who established the mark in last year's 44th Texas PGA, receives the interest on the deposit until someone shatters the mark.

POSITION, JUDGMENT ARE VITAL

Officiating Is Not Like Coaching, Concedes Poss

By HARDY PRICE
 "What's the matter You blind?"
 "Didn't you see that?"
 "You need glasses, you dope!"
 These are a few of the remarks heard at a recent basketball game and hurled at the fellow in the black and white striped shirt, the official.
 The life of an official during a basketball game is not an easy one. It is hard to please two factions of fans and call a basketball game.
 Delnor Foss, former Big Spring High School basketball coach, is in his first year of officiating. A member of the

DELNOR FOSS

Southwest Basketball Officials Association, Foss has worked games in all high school classifications in addition to junior college, college freshman and senior colleges.

"The two most important things in officiating are position and judgment," said Foss. "By judgment I mean you have to know basketball, know the interpretation of the rules and the working mechanics of the game."
 "To have good position on the court, you have to be in good physical condition, and you have to work to stay in shape," continued Foss.

In a basketball game are two officials, the referee and the umpire. Each official shares equally in the duties, but the referee has final authority in all decisions.

The two officials trail each other in a clockwise pattern during the progress of the game. The official under the basket is known as the lead official. He is responsible for shoulder and above contact between players on all shots and rebounds.

The other official stands between mid-court and the free throw line on the side opposite the lead official. The trail official will watch for unnecessary contact between players at the point of the ball. The trail official picks up the three second zone in the key hole.

Unless a foul is called the officials will come down court and take the opposite positions they held. When an infraction is called the officials will change positions.

The referee has the authority to forfeit all games and is responsible for the interpretation of all calls.

It is impossible for an official to see everything that goes on during a game. There are 10 players and two officials on the court. That makes the odds 5-1 and an official cannot be everywhere at once. However, most basketball fans think they should be.

"You never know what to expect from a basketball team," said Foss, "so you have to keep on your toes. You might know that one team likes to play a press the entire game, but that's about as far as it goes."

The waning moments of a basketball game are sometimes the hardest for the officials. A team seeking to catch up will be trying to hard and is prone to play a more aggressive type game. They will also make more mistakes and fouls. When this is the home team, the fans can make the life of the official a difficult one.

"Officiating is based on human judgment and we are all not perfect," said Foss. Officials do make errors as do all others. It is too bad that basketball fans do not recognize this fact.

"One thing I have learned this year is how the other half lives," said Foss, summing off officiating up.

Texas Steers Have Plenty Of Problems

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' baseball squad, which slipped to a second-place tie in the Southwest Conference last year after four consecutive championships, faces a tough rebuilding job this year.

Coach Bibb Falk must find some new pitching and bolster a weak hitting attack which dropped to a .255 team average in 1964.

Texas will open the 1965 season March 1-2 against Sam Houston State.

Among the key returning players are first baseman Buddy Young, whose .379 average last spring was the best for a Texas player since 1958; outfielder Ward Summers, who supplied much of the team's power; infielder Ed Denman, who tied the school record by hitting a dozen doubles last year; and catcher Butch Thompson, who slumped last year after an All-America sophomore season.

Only two pitchers who saw any action on the 1964 varsity return—John Collier, who had a 2-2 record, and Robert Wells, 1-1.

Robert Oliver, a left-hander from Baytown, should be the key sophomore pitcher. Troubled by a sore arm as a freshman, Oliver nevertheless is regarded as a top prospect.

Gary Moore, football safetyman from Tulsa, Okla., and Minton White, basketballer from San Angelo, are other sophomores who could figure in the pitching corps. But both also are capable of doubling in the outfield. Moore, a .320 hitter as a freshman and an all-around athlete, may be one of the key men this spring.

Texas faltered badly at bat last spring, leaving 231 runners on base while compiling a 16-7-1 record.

Winters, Crane Meet Here Tuesday Night

Big Spring's HCJC Gymnasium will be the scene Tuesday night of a Class AA bi-district playoff game between Crane and Winters.

Winters won the right to represent 5-AA in a sudden-death playoff with Ballinger at Abilene Friday night, defeating the Bearkats by a score of 67-62.

Crane had earlier nailed down the 6-AA championship. The playoff game was arranged with the help of Carroll Davidson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, in a meeting with school officials at the Holiday Inn in Abilene following the contest. Tuesday's encounter here will start at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets will be sold at the door only. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Winters and Ballinger finished as co-champions of 5-AA with 10-2 records, necessitating the playoff.

Winner of the Winters-Crane game here will qualify for the AA Regional tournament at Lubbock next weekend.

In a contest earlier this season, Winters mauled Colorado City, 111-89. Losses to Anson (63-60) and Ballinger (72-62) forced Winters into the playoff with Ballinger.

Jimmy Adams, a six-footer, is the leader of Winters' attack. He has been averaging 22 points a game. Friday night against Ballinger he accounted for 20 points. He hit 45 against Colorado City.

Winters has a 6-8 200-pound boy, named Richard Shade, who is a fine rebounder. Chip Puckett, Denny Aldridge and Larry Rives are others who lend help to the Winters cause. For the year, Winters is 23-4.

Crane went through six 6-AA games without the loss of a game, closing out with a 64-43 victory over McCamey. Marfa finished a distant second in the standings with a 3-3 record.

Buffalo Queens Meet Trent Again Monday

WYLIE—The Forsan girls, defeated by Trent in a game of Class B playoff teams, get a chance to avenge the loss in another practice tilt at Forsan Monday evening.

Coach James Blake of Forsan is seeking to line up a second practice game for the Forsan

Monday evening. If only one game is played, it will begin at 7 p.m.

Trent, one of the Class B favorites in the state, had to go all out to beat Forsan here Friday night, 74-66. The two teams were even from the field but Trent made 26 free shots, compared to only 18 for the Buffalo Queens. The Forsan club had 30 opportunities at the penalty line.

The Buffalo Queens, now 24-4 on the year, hit only 39 per cent of their shots from the field the first half and 40 per cent the final two quarters.

Jody Dodd scored an incredible 42 points for Forsan while Diana Lewis had 34 and Barbara McAnish 31 for Trent.

In the back courts, Susan Elrod, Patsy Gooch, Sara Findley, Valynia Conway and Pam McKinnon excelled for the Queens.

Trent has lost only one game this season, that to Class A Roosevelt.

Trent will represent 85-B in bi-district play, Forsan 83-B.

FORAN (55)—Jody Dodd 14-14-42; Mary Simpson 7-4-18; Sherry Wilkerson 10-2; Molly Condon 8-4; Tatis 24-18-46.

TRENT (74)—Barbara McAnish 15-21; Diane Lewis 8-18-34; Vivian Lewis 3-8-14; Tatis 24-22-52.

Score by quarters:
 Forsan 12 26 46 66
 Trent 12 27 49 74

ODESSA — Odessa College made good from the foul line Friday night to defeat Frank Phillips, 93-84, in a Western Junior College Conference basketball game.

Odessa trailed until mid-way in the second quarter when Chic Kelfer hit a 20 foot jump shot to put Odessa ahead, 58-57.

Odessa hit eight out of nine free shots the first half and 14 out of 20 in the second half.

Dave Stearnes was high man for Odessa with 19 points, Roland Franklin hit 22 for the losing Frank Phillips.

ODESSA (75) — Kelfer 6-13; Ramsey 5-12; Self 3-8; Tump 3-11; Spood 2-5-15; Stearns 8-19; Buchanan 4-9-14; McAnish 4-8-14; Tatis 24-22-52.

FRANK PHILLIPS (84) — Franklin 19-22; Nell 5-13; McCough 3-15; Meyer 7-17; Wheeler 3-17; Burns 6-5-17; Spencer 1-0-2; Moore 0-2-2; Tatis 20-34-44.

Director of the school is Bob Evins, district conservation chief in San Antonio for the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife. Other instructors will be faculty members at A&M and Parks and Wildlife officers from various areas of the state.

Currently identified as Game Warden trainees, the men who successfully complete the school will be certified as Game Wardens I, a classification they will retain for at least a year.

Evins said the school is equivalent to 23 hours of college work. Trainees are required to have at least a high school diploma. They also must be between 21 and 40 and at least five feet, eight inches tall.

Unlike college students, the trainees receive a salary while in school. They also wear khaki uniforms and caps. Although they stay in a college dormitory trainees are free to eat where they choose.

The curriculum includes wildlife management practices, fish and pond management, public speaking, first aid, drivers education, records and reports, public relations, civil defense, field trips, boating and water safety. A laboratory session for the study of birds and fish is also included.

The trainees include Foy Wilford White, 1305 Baylor, Big Spring.

Karnes Is Named Relays Referee

AUSTIN (AP) — Bob Karnes, Drake University track coach, will referee the Texas Relays April 2-3, meet director Jack Patterson announced Saturday.

Karnes, a former distance star for the University of Kansas, has coached at Drake for 10 years.

Patterson, the University of Texas track coach, made public a 44-event schedule for the relays, which mark a 40th anniversary this spring. The meet has been held annually since 1925 except for three depression years in the mid-1930s.

Regular features will be the seven baton events in the university division, six relays in the college division and 11 individual special events in the combined university - college class.

Cosden Golfers Await Season

Play begins in the eighth annual Cosden Golf league season March 6.

Notices to 80 players who took part in the league's activity last season have been sent out by Bill Crooker, chairman of the links committee.

Team captains will meet March 2, at which time the makeup of teams will be completed. League play ends May 25.

Miles Triumphs In Warmup Bout

Robert Lee and Miles meet in San Angelo's Lake View gym at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, with the winner advancing to the Region VI-B tournament in Big Spring next weekend.

Miles defeated Eden, 78-56, in Miles Friday night in a practice game.

Miles is the District 64-B champion. Robert Lee recently won 83-B honors without the loss of a game.

Sands and Pyote Officials Meet

School officials of Sands and Pyote meet at the Midland Air Terminal at 1 p.m. today to determine a site and a time for their Class B boys' bi-district playoff game.

Chances are the contest will be unrec'd Tuesday night either in the Midland Lee or Midland High gym.

If the coaches have to go on a home-and-home basis, San's will designate Lamesa as its 'home' gym while Pyote will favor Wink.

There is a possibility the Midland Lee gym will not be available because that school's team qualified for the Class AAAA playoffs.

Sands won the right to represent District 87-B by knocking off Flower Grove in a spirited battle at Lamesa Friday night, 61-53.

The fired-up Dragons beat the Mustangs from the field, 24 baskets to 22, but the Mustangs made good on 17 free shots to only five for Flower Grove.

Eddie Herm again led the Ponies in scoring with 20 points while Eddie Hollingsworth had 23 and Jimmy Hollingsworth 15 for Flower Grove.

Hornets Shock Lobos, 64-62

ASPERMONT — Aspermont, District 6-A basketball champion, edged Levelland, 3-AAA finalist, in a practice game here Friday night, 64-62.

Aspermont will oppose Seagraves Tuesday night in a bi-district game at Post.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Your wife does. Your neighbors do. Your customers do, too.
 Because only print lets them clip and save. Cut out and file. Study and compare. Read and re-read.
 Only print shows off color, style, beauty and appetite appeal to their very best advantage.
 Which is why so many people look to print especially when they're really in a mood to buy.
 Or sell.

Aren't your competitors taking advantage of print, for example?
 And shouldn't you?
 Print makes sense, because print makes sales.

Hong Kong Trading Center Of East

By HOUSTON HARTE
HONG KONG — The United States Department of State operates the world's largest consulate in Hong Kong.

Hong Kong is the gateway to China. It always has been a contact point between the East and the West.

This railroad still runs west from this port, despite the airplane and fast ships.

There is an Urban Council which is the only element of the government which is elected by popular vote.

Funeral Pends For W. H. Johnson

Funeral arrangements are pending in Snyder for Will H. Johnson, 88, a one-time resident of Big Spring who died in a rest home here Friday.

Mr. Johnson had lived in Big Spring for a number of years before moving to Snyder about 20 years ago.

Mr. Johnson was a brother of Mrs. I. B. Cauble, Big Spring.

road. We heard the train's whistle and were thankful for a close view of the train that connects two different worlds.

We expected to see a dilapidated train pass in front of us. The Red border was but two miles away.

CROWN COLONY

Hong Kong is a name which stands for many things. It's not an ancient proverb of the Ming dynasty, but there is a saying among the waiters in the Tea Room of the Peninsula Hotel.

There are no property taxes and income taxes of 12 1/2 per cent do not apply to income or profit which is made or paid in the colony.

THREE STEPS

Hong Kong physically was created in three steps. China granted Great Britain Hong Kong Island a little more than 100 years ago.

In January 1841, the British occupied Hong Kong Island of-officially. At that time, "The Island" (29 square miles) was a base for pirates and belligerent fishermen plus a few tradesmen and farmers.

Heart Fund Drive Today

More than 300 volunteers will take part in a canvass of the city today for the current Heart Fund drive.

The Howard County Heart Association drive is going into its final week, following a series of activities during the month.

Final instructions for the march were given area chairmen at a coffee at the home of Mrs. Donald Van Meter Thursday.

Volunteers will also be knocking on doors at Coahoma. Bill Reed is chairman of plans there.

Santiago Gonzales Dies Saturday

Funeral mass will be read at St. Thomas Catholic Church at 8 a.m. Monday for Santiago Gonzales, 82, of 512 N. Runnels, who died at 1 a.m. Saturday in a local hospital.

Mr. Gonzales was born in San Antonio Dec. 30, 1882. He had been a Big Spring resident since 1942.

The Rev. Robert McDermott, pastor of St. Thomas Catholic Church, will officiate. Burial will be in City Cemetery under direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Survivors include a nephew, George Orasco; a niece, Mrs. Lilly Hoffman; and a half-sister, Maria Martinez, all of Big Spring.

Some Offices Close Monday

Monday, the 223rd anniversary of the birth of George Washington — will be a holiday for federal and state employees in Big Spring and Howard County, but not for the county and city workers.

Banks will be open for business. Business establishments will not observe the holiday.

Most of the federal offices will be closed down solidly. Some of the state offices will be operating on a skeletonized form.

The U. S. Post Office will not make deliveries, and all windows will be closed. However, workers will be on duty to dispatch incoming and outgoing mail.

Texas Employment Commission will function on a half-crew basis. Some of the staff will be on hand and most of the services of the office will be available as usual.

No public celebration is planned for the first president's birthday.

Soil Program Set At Coahoma

COAHOAMA — A program on soil conservation is scheduled for the Monday night meeting of the Coahoma Young Farmers.

David Byer will be in charge of the program, which is open to anyone interested in attending.

The session will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Agriculture Building.

The Young Homemakers' Club will meet at the same time in the homemaking department.

Teacher Pay Bill May Run Out Of Gas

AUSTIN (AP)—The "45 in '65" teacher pay raise steamroller, slowed by Gov. Connally's roadblocks, may run out of gas before reaching the legislative finish line.

The Texas State Teachers Association gassed up for an easy trip through the state Senate by early April, but some senators hope to move the finish line further away.

The finish line could be moved this week, when senators ballot on a proposed rules change. Sponsors predict easy passage.

The rules change would prevent Senate consideration of a teacher pay raise bill, and other appropriation-type bills such as a judges' pay raise, until passage of the multi-million-dollar general appropriations bill.

Under present rules, most specific spending measures may be considered in the Senate after the 75th day, in the last week in March.

"If we don't get the new rules, we're dead," said one backer of Connally's teacher pay raise bill. "Time is on the governor's side."

Connally needs the extra time provided by the rules change to convince teachers, legislators and the public about his 10-year graduated teacher pay raise plan.

Connally's plan is unacceptable to teachers, who began work in 1963 to lobby for their demand for a $45 per month increase in minimum salaries.

If the rules change is not adopted, its sponsors say, the teachers' plan will win easy Senate passage, and the Texas State Teachers Association will try to win House approval of the Senate-passed measure.

The teachers' plan would cost $68 million—about twice as much state money as Connally's for 1966-67. The rules change advocates want to see that salary increases for judges, district attorneys and college faculties are not penalized by passage of the more expensive teachers' plan.

"Other people besides the teachers need raises," said a rules change proponent. "Too, if the teachers' plan is given a head start by early Senate passage, a tax bill will be needed to bring in enough additional revenue to take care of colleges, judges and district attorneys."

"We're all going to have to run next election, and we don't want to vote for a big tax bill," said a rules change backer. "Court-ordered redistricting will require all 31 senators, who normally serve staggered four-year terms, to seek election next year.

The rules change, its supporters say, will make sure necessary state spending, including Connally's big increase for colleges, provided in the general appropriations bill will be taken care of first.

Then, if the more expensive teachers' plan is adopted, teachers can help shoulder the responsibility of passing a tax bill; if no lawmakers are willing to support a tax bill, Connally's teacher pay raise can be adopted.

The Senate Rules Committee will consider the rules change Monday. Expected committee approval will set up consideration of the proposal by the Senate Tuesday.

Other major items up for action next week include the House version of the general appropriations bill, which will be debated Wednesday; and the Senate-passed oil and gas lease forced pooling bill, which also could come up Wednesday, or earlier, in the House.

Replacement In Cuba Confirmed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Havana radio has announced without elaboration that Prime Minister Fidel Castro had replaced Carlos Rafael Rodriguez as head of the huge Agrarian Reform Institute.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Misses Our City

To the Editor: Once I swore never to leave Big Spring again, but fate has decreed that I live elsewhere. I didn't want to leave Big Spring because it has some of the finest people I have ever known, and in the homes of Big Spring live the best friends I ever had.

I would like to express my appreciation to all who made my stay a pleasant one, especially to the staff of The Big Spring Herald (and to Tommy Hart, who helped my career as a basketball referee); to city and county officials; to many who have done much for the city and county, like R. H. Weaver, who took a lead in securing the Howard County Airport, and Gil Jones as district attorney.

Finally, my mother and father continue to live in Big Spring. "Pappy" Hale, the fireman, is known by nearly all the old timers, and I know him well, for he is my father. Our home in Berger is always open to Big Springers.

H. BOYCE HALE, 1014 Dillard Dr., Berger, Texas

Praises Police

To the Editor: I have never ceased in being proud of Texas for its warm hospitality and beauty. I may be a little prejudiced because I'm a native of Big Spring.

Last December I was visiting my relatives in Big Spring and we decided to go to Odessa. On the way back, about 1 1/2 miles out of Stanton, the car stalled. My elderly grandfather and I walked to a service station in Stanton, leaving my mother with my small son and invalid grandmother in the car.

This is a letter of thanks to chief of police of Stanton, Bob Smith, and the young boys. This made an impression on me that policemen don't always go around putting people in jail; they help the good guys, too.

MRS. MELBA JONES ENGDALH, 1088 Fulton St., Aurora, Colo.

Lists Needs

To the Editor: It never occurred to me that the Coahoma school bond issue would not pass, so I have gathered a few facts that I would like for the people of Coahoma to read. This is in prelude to Public Schools Week, March 1-5, when I hope people will visit the schools and check out these facts.

Part of the proposed issue would have financed kitchen expansion. One kitchen, built to accommodate 350 students, now serves 640 daily. The cafeterias serve from two to four shifts daily, with short lunch periods sure pressing the children for time. The best time for parents or any visitors to witness this scramble is from around 11:20 until classes start.

The junior high dressing room happens to be an old converted barracks with space for about 20 boys. At the present 83 to 90 boys use these facilities, with only two showers. This does not leave much space for athletic gear and clothing.

The high school dressing room is crowded. Measuring 27 by 16 1/2 feet, less a 10 x 14 supply room jammed with equipment and a whirlpool that takes another 4 x 6 feet, the room has little space for 70 boys to dress or shower. There are 24 lockers for 70 boys; that's about 8-inches per boy to utilize for gear. You mothers have more room just to bake a pie. Fathers who have seen the boys in the dressing room during or after practice can verify this; I hope they can say, "I voted 'yes' on the bond issue."

Any person in Coahoma who likes track can rest assured he won't see any track events in Coahoma this year—we have no track field. There is a spot bulldozed out of the tumbleweed, right close to the pig pens, where they run. This isn't suitable and neither is the air. Our boys are good in track. Four went to state meets last year and one almost walked off with all the honors.

Parents who have children with musical talent should see the band room. There is no space and the surrounding classrooms are disturbed by practice. The band is growing but the space remains the same. Come between the hours of 8:45 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. and see for yourself.

A visit to grade school will make you see the need for more room for your children. Two fourth grade rooms hold 33 and 30 students. The sixth requires two rooms for 34 to 32 students. P. E. facilities are anything but adequate. The rest rooms are inadequate and out-dated.

As one person has said in this paper, our football field was built when we had 8-man football. The field is four feet shy in width and there are only 42 inches from the out-of-bounds line to the fence. This is not much room for anyone running out-of-bounds. The bleachers were bought five years ago from a school which had scrapped them, and we repaired them with oil field scrap. It was a nice field when we were a class B school. We had seven seniors playing this year, and four were offered scholarships, so you can't say these boys didn't do their part. Did you do yours?

We could make more money at the games, but there is no room for the crowds—no way to stop people from slipping in because of the fence. People in Big Spring reserve their seats because they have season tickets and reserved seats. We could have that, too.

These are my many reasons for voting "yes" for the school bond; can you offer as many for voting against it? Was it because of the six or seven dollars a year in taxes?

GEORGE G. CALLAHAN, Coahoma, Texas

Lauds Unions

To the Editor: Recently there was published in a leading periodical a tirade against the public employment offices in the country by a certain congressman from the State of Ohio. He pointed out that our public employment offices and the U. S. Department of Labor are attempting some diabolical control of all hiring in the country.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Statistics show that public employment offices make less than one third of all of the job placements in the country. Many of them are filled by word of mouth from one citizen to another, private agencies and professional groups. Actually this congressman was acting under the pressure of his own pecuniary interests in a group of private agencies in the East.

Many of our private agencies are legitimate and doing a good job among professional groups in the larger, more complex employment centers, but the public is not aware of some of the practices that go on through collusion by some private agencies and certain unethical employers.

The laws of the State of Texas limits fee by private agencies to 40 per cent of the first month's salaries; we seldom find private agencies charging less.

Recently in this area a young job seeker approached an employer who said he had no opening, but through a private agency the young person was referred to the same employer, who hired him. The fee for this service would have paid initiation and dues costs for three years in a union with more lasting interest in the welfare of the worker and employer.

HC Choir Helps Entertain At Texas Teachers Meeting

By BONNIE SIMPSON
 Members of the Junior College choir traveled to the Texas Junior College Teachers Association meeting in San Antonio this weekend. They took part in a 200 voice choir, made up of junior college choir members of this state, which sang before teachers at the closing banquet.

This week, members of the Jayhawk basketball team chose four girls as nominees for Basketball Sweetheart. Suzy Bell, Theresa Foster, Mary Glaspie, and Sharon Talley. The winner of this honor will be presented first conference match will be played against South Plains on the Kiwanis Courts on the HCJC campus. Both the men's and women's teams will play, with games getting under way at 1 p.m., March 25.

Mrs. George Michulka, from the University of Texas, has been assisting Miss Anna Smith with training the tennis teams.

The women's volleyball team opens its season Feb. 27 in a tournament at Odessa College. Other teams which will participate are North Texas State University, Texas Tech, Hardin-Simmons, West Texas State College, and Odessa. The Jayhawk team plays its first game against West Texas State at 10 a.m.

The weekend of March 6, the volleyball team will play in the 2nd annual Midland Women's YMCA Tournament.

A Phi Theta Kappa meeting was held Monday during activity period in the SUB parlor. A list of eligible students was presented to members and invitations to join Phi Theta Kappa will be mailed to nineteen students this week. A tentative date was set for a reception and initiation, and members were assigned to various committees to prepare for these events. Plans to attend the state convention at Pasadena Junior College were discussed, and it was decided that senior members will attend. This convention will be held March 5-7.

The Jayhawk basketball team has two more conference games to play this week, and they both will be home games. Fans, come to these games and support the Hawks!

Linda Lile Is Crowned Twirp Queen At Runnels

By LYNN PUCKETT
 Twirp week was well observed at Runnels last week. Each class supported its candidate for queen by fund raising projects. The ninth grade organized a Runnels' freshmen vs. Runnels' faculty volleyball game and presented a sock hop as part of its fund raising. Teachers representing the faculty team were Miss Cantu, Mrs. Jane Dotson, Mr. Hubert Murphy, Mr. Bobby Zellars, Mrs. Delma Lucas, and Mr. Roscoe Newell, principal. The freshmen team won one game and the faculty also won a game. The eighth grade student directories, and the seventh grade sold baked goods. All grades held a talent show and made boxes for donations. The seventh grade candidate was Linda Cathey, eighth grade candidate was Carolyn Metcalf, and ninth grade candidate was Linda Lile. The queen, Linda Lile, was announced at the dance Friday night. Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Lile, 1510 Sunset Ave.

Members of the library club left Thursday morning to attend the Teenagers' Library Convention in El Paso.

Tuberculin tests were given to the eighth grade students and new students last week. The TB tests were given by the Howard County Tuberculosis Association.

Runnels, which in 1964 had the Howard County Spelling Bee champion, is making a strong try to repeat the championship this year. Runnels has purchased 125 copies of the official spelling book. The books are available at 15 cents a copy.

Donald Hickson, Runnels' 1964 champion, is back in competition again this year. The spelling bees begin in the classroom. The champions of the classrooms then compete and the school champion is named.

Pink slips were issued Thursday to those faltering in their work.

Plan To Attend Area FHA Meet

By DARLENE WRIGHT
 The Sands Future Homemakers of America had a meeting right after school last Monday evening. There was so much business at hand that planning the annual spring banquet had to be put off until the next meeting which will be held sometime soon. The area meeting which will be held at Odessa, March 20 was discussed. A vote was taken and Vickie Brinson was elected to register for the group when they arrive at the Permian High School Auditorium where the meeting is to be held. Terry Hambrick was chosen to go to the stage with the chapters contribution to the scholarship fund for Home Economics majors and also to answer roll call for the Sands Chapter. Kay Sample was elected as voting delegate for the chapter to vote on area, state and national officers. Kay will also attend the delegate's luncheon with the Sands homemaking teacher and FHA sponsor, Mrs. Julie Ayres. It was decided that the rest of the group attending the meeting at Odessa would eat lunch at the Lincoln Hotel where some 400 of the 1,200 of the girls attending the meeting will be eating.

Girls in FHA who would like to attend the state meeting in Austin were told by Mrs. Ayres that it would be required to have a grade average of 85 or over. Girls wanting to attend the meeting and filling all the requirements must turn in a paper to Mrs. Ayres saying why they would like to make the trip. All of the papers will be read at the next meeting and two girls will be selected by the FHA members to make the trip.

The Sands Mustang boys basketball team played Flower Grove Dragons at 8 p.m. Friday in the Lamesa basketball gymnasium to determine the district championship. Both of the teams went into the one-game playoff with an 8-2 conference record. Yells were lead at quarters and half time by the Sands cheerleaders Don Nell Allred, senior; Robbie Brown, senior; Terry Hambrick, junior; Kay Sample, sophomore and Linda Kemp, freshman.

The seniors held a class meeting Wednesday to decide on the senior play. "It Was Mother's Idea" was chosen. The play is another episode of the Maxwell family, the family in the junior play last year. The play will be given April 30 in the Sands High School Auditorium. Covers for the baccalaureate and commencement exercises programs were picked out also at the class meeting.

The Sands Junior High boys basketball team played its bi-district game this week. The Junior Mustangs won the first game against Grady Junior High Tuesday night. The Grady team traveled to the Sands gymnasium Thursday night.

The letter jackets earned by the football players last fall came in this past week.

The junior class will sponsor a fund-raising event this Monday night. The Harlem Stars will play the faculty and some outsiders in the high school gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. Tickets can be bought from any junior for $1 for adults and students over 12. Children's tickets under 12 will cost 50 cents. Tickets may also be bought at the door.

A Coin Club meeting was held Thursday. Door prizes were won by Wanda Alexander and Dick Ross. It was decided that an auction would be held at the next meeting.

The Spanish Club held its yearly banquet Saturday at 6:30 p.m. at the Little Mexico Restaurant in San Angelo. Each member was allowed one guest. A short club meeting was held Thursday afternoon to discuss and make final plans for the banquet.

We would like to welcome Frankie Edwards and Laverne Show to our school. Frankie comes to Forsan from the Big Spring schools, and Laverne comes from Fort Worth.

The Buffalo Queens will play Merion for Bi-District, March in Howard County Junior College gymnasium.

The junior class is making preparations for the Junior-Senior Banquet to be held May 19 at the Big Spring Country Club. Invitations have been mailed to seniors and parents. Sponsors for the class are Mrs. Hamlin Elrod and Mr. D. Heston Redwine.

Prepare For Bi-District

By SUSAN ELROD
 In preparing for their Bi-District game, the Forsan Buffalo Queens scheduled two games with Trent, who was last year's state champion in Class B. In the first game at Wiley Friday night, Trent won by 8 points. Monday Trent will come to Forsan for a return match.

This week will mark the end of the fourth six weeks period. The exam schedule is Wednesday, first and fourth period exams; Thursday, second and third period exams; Friday, fifth, sixth and health exams.

The bulletin board this week was decorated by Mrs. W. M. Romans. Its theme was the importance of staying in school and getting an education. Along with the bulletin board, a tape of the "Stay in School Song" was played each morning before classes were begun.

A Coin Club meeting was held Thursday. Door prizes were won by Wanda Alexander and Dick Ross. It was decided that an auction would be held at the next meeting.

Student Government Day Plans Are Begun

By JEAN FANNIN
 Last week students at BSHS have been registering for Student Government Day, to be held March 5. Students running for elective offices will give a speech Feb. 22 in a political rally.

Filing fees were 25 cents for an elective office and 15 cents for an appointive office. Students will have to pay a poll tax of 1 cent in order to vote.

A pep rally was held Tuesday morning in the gym for the last basketball game Tuesday night against the San Angelo Bobcats. Pep talks were given by Mr. Harold Bentley, assistant principal, and Don White, Arthur Valdez, Cliff Creighton, and Butch Foster, senior varsity basketball players.

Before the game Tuesday night, Sarah Smith, escorted by Bobby Griffin, was crowned Basketball Queen by Dub McMeans. Other nominees were Pam Lurting, escorted by Don White, and Nancy Thomas, escorted by Cliff Creighton.

Approximately 80 students left Friday morning for a skiing trip to Ruidoso, N. M., sponsored by the local YMCA.

Wednesday and Thursday Mr. Jim Schillberg, from the Herff-Jones Co., was at BSHS to take orders for the 1966 class rings. The rings will be delivered to junior students the last week of May and may be worn following graduation exercises of the 1965 seniors.

Congratulations to Susan Ivey, percussion, and Paula Hood, clarinet, for placing first chair in the All-State Band at Dallas Grand Concert last weekend. Big Spring was the only town in Texas to occupy two first chairs.

Congratulations are also in order for Larry Fourniquet and Howard Atkinson who won second place in the debate at the Snyder Speech Tournament on Feb. 13.

The Home Economic classes were treated to hair styling demonstrations Tuesday by local hairdressers. The visit was a part of National Beauty Salon Week. Nita Medley, a BSHS junior was chosen Beauty Queen of Big Spring. She will journey to Dallas for further competition.

Mr. Mel Ivey, choral director, informed the mixed and a cappella choirs that the Inter-scholastic League concert and sightreading contest will be held on March 20, and solo and ensemble contest will be held on March 27.

A newly formed girls choir will also compete in the Interscholastic League Contest on March 20. The choir will be under the direction of Pat Hamilton, senior music student. Rehearsals for this group are being held on Tuesday nights.

The a cappella choir concert tour to North Texas State University will be April 22-25. The choir plans to perform a series of six concerts and to visit Six Flags Over Texas.

The Student Council is sponsoring a faculty supper that will be held in the school cafeteria on Feb. 23. The supper is an annual affair honoring all faculty members. Members of the Student Council who are in charge of the supper are Terry Cauble, Don White, Nancy Haralson and Peggy Spier.

At the Feb. 16 meeting of the Future Teachers of America, it was decided that the FTA members would run the concession stands at the Big Spring Volleyball Tournament, Feb. 26-27. It was also decided that the organization would meet only twice a month on Tuesday after school.

Thursday, interested juniors registered for the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test to be held March 13 at the BSHS cafeteria. The cost for the test will be $2.

Pink Slips To Show Failure

By MARTHA JORDAN
 Wednesday marked the end of another 4 1/2 week grading period at Goliad. Pink slips, an indication of subject failure, will be issued Monday.

These slips must be signed by students' parents and should be returned to school as soon as possible. Pink slips are failure warnings, rather than failure announcements; they are issued to give students a chance to bring up grades before the 9-week report cards are issued.

Final deadline for annual payments is Feb. 24. Annual representatives will visit homes Tuesday and Thursday of next week to collect payments. Students who moved to Big Spring after the first "Maverick" sale drive will be able to purchase the yearbooks when they are issued in the spring. Students may have names put on the annuals for an additional $1.

The Goliad a cappella choir, directed by Mr. Don Morton, will perform for the Choir Boosters, Feb. 23. The choir has had a busy year, singing for several Big Spring service clubs in addition to its numerous concert appearances.

The library at Goliad has recently received around 100 new books. "The new books are of all types: fiction, mystery, science, history and general reference," Miss Ruth Beasley, librarian, stated. "With such a wide variety of choice in these fine new books, each student should find something to suit his reading taste."

The Chamber Orchestra, in its appearance at the El Paso Art Museum, will perform the Brandenburg Concerto No. 4 by Bach. Miss Kellogg will play the violin concertante part and playing the flutes will be Miss Barbara Spberger, Tech senior and resident of El Paso, and Frank Bowen, teacher of flute at Tech.

Bowen, one of the outstanding flutists of the nation and a former Fulbright scholar, also will appear in two trio sonatas, one by Fux and the other by Telemann.

Playing-harpisichord will be Kent Hill, teacher of harpischord and organ at Tech, and also a former Fulbright scholar.

Bowen and Miss Spberger will join in the performance of a trio, with harp, from L'Enfance du Christ by Berlioz.

Playing the harp with the Chamber Orchestra will be Miss Mary Alice Hengen, teacher of harp at Tech. Miss Hengen, former harpist with the Rochester Philharmonic, has performed professionally throughout the United States.

Concerts will be under direction of Paul Ellsworth, former professional violinist and founder of the Texas Tech Symphony Orchestra. Ellsworth has led the orchestra in its growth to become one of the outstanding music groups in the state, last year making a successful tour of Mexico at the invitation of the Mexican government.

formers in some of the tricks.

Although it was originally planned to charge for the assembly, a final accounting of the queen-contest funds—exceptionally successful this year—indicated that the council could sponsor the dog show and still carry out its other planned activities. Splendid student cooperation made this year's queen contest one of the most successful in Goliad's history.

Goliad's eighth graders, and new students who wished to do so, received the tuberculin test Feb. 18. The TB test is sponsored by the Howard County Tuberculosis Association and is given to students throughout the Big Spring school system. Readings of test results will be made by the TB association and the school nurse Monday in the gym. Parents of students who have a positive reaction to the test will be notified.

Sewing classes instructed by Mrs. Fern Alexander and Mrs. Virginia Martin made a field trip to the Fabric Mart last week. Exhibitions and explanations of fabrics and sewing techniques were given to increase their understanding. The classes will soon begin sewing on shifts.

Goliad health classes have almost completed viewing the Civil Defense films. After several weeks of life saving demonstrations, lectures and films, the Civil Defense course has neared its end.

Texas Tech Symphony Orchestra To Begin Tour

LUBBOCK—The Texas Tech Symphony Orchestra's annual tour this year, Feb. 24-27, will take the musicians into the El Paso-Ysleta area.

In addition to performances in schools, the music group is scheduled to present two evening concerts, the first at Burgess High School, Thursday (Feb. 25), and the second, a concert by the Chamber Orchestra, at 8:15 p.m. Friday (Feb. 26) at the El Paso Art Museum under sponsorship of the MacDowell Club.

School programs have been scheduled at Coronado and Andrews High Schools in El Paso and at Bellaire High School, Ysleta.

Soloists will be members of the Tech faculty.

Playing Sarasote's "Zigueueressen" will be Miss Virginia Kellogg, formerly of the St. Louis Symphony, and a graduate of the Eastman School of Music. The award-winning violinist has concertized both in the United States and Latin America and has toured with the St. Louis Trio under management of Columbia Artists.

Benjamin Smith, assistant professor of cello at Tech, will play Popper's "Eilfantanz" with the orchestra. Also a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, Smith was formerly principal cellist with the Eastman-Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra under Howard Hansen and currently is principal cellist with the Midland-Odessa Symphony.

The orchestra will perform the Romeo and Juliet Overture, Fantasy of Tchaikowsky, Copland's Outdoor Overture, the Overture to the Merry Wives of Windsor by Nicolai, and other selections from an extensive repertoire.

The Chamber Orchestra, in its appearance at the El Paso Art Museum, will perform the Brandenburg Concerto No. 4 by Bach. Miss Kellogg will play the violin concertante part and playing the flutes will be Miss Barbara Spberger, Tech senior and resident of El Paso, and Frank Bowen, teacher of flute at Tech.

Bowen, one of the outstanding flutists of the nation and a former Fulbright scholar, also will appear in two trio sonatas, one by Fux and the other by Telemann.

Playing-harpisichord will be Kent Hill, teacher of harpischord and organ at Tech, and also a former Fulbright scholar.

COSDEN PLANT INVOLVED

El Paso-Beaunit Venture Planned

ODESSA — Inaugural ceremonies for the construction of El Paso-Beaunit's Joint Venture Nylon 6-6 Project will be held at the El Paso Natural Gas Products Company's petrochemical complex here Friday.

Four new plants will be built as a joint venture between El Paso Natural Gas Products Co. of Odessa, and the Beaunit Corporation, New York City. These include ammonia, adipic acid, nitric acid, and hexamethylenediamine facilities. Completion is scheduled for the latter part of 1965. Construction will be done by Fish Engineering & Construction Co. of Houston.

JOINT AGREEMENT

Base materials under the joint-venture agreement will be shipped from Odessa to a polymerization and spinning mill at Etowah, Tenn., where they will be processed into Nylon 6-6 fibers. The spinning mill, with a capacity of 40,000 pounds of Nylon 6-6 fibers per year, will be operated by Beaunit Corp. The Odessa plants will be operated by El Paso Natural Gas Products Co., both under the El Paso-Beaunit Joint Venture.

Heading the El Paso officials welcoming guests will be W. D. Noel, president, representing Beaunit Corporation will be Irwin S. Meltzer, president; George Heffler, director and administrative counsel; Buford Goldstein, vice president-Nylon, and William Ball, treasurer.

OTHER GUESTS

Other dignitaries invited will be business leaders, and representatives of various news media from all parts of the country. Also high government officials from the states of Texas, Idaho and Tennessee, Ector County, and the City of Odessa, as well as top management of various corporations involved in this giant undertaking, will be asked to attend.

W. D. NOEL

IRWIN S. MELTZER

A reception and dinner are planned for the visiting guests Thursday evening. A breakfast will be hosted by the American National Bank, First State National Bank, First State Bank and National Bank of Odessa on Friday morning. The Odessa Chamber of Commerce will give an appreciation luncheon Friday noon, followed by the inaugural ceremonies at the plant site scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

TO AID ECONOMY
This multi-million dollar Nylon 6-6 Project getting underway by the El Paso-Beaunit joint venture will greatly contribute to the economic development of Odessa and all of West Texas. In operating the Odessa plants, El Paso Natural Gas Products Co. will employ approximately 100 additional operating personnel by the time the plants are scheduled to go on stream late in 1965.

Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. will furnish part of the raw materials for the El Paso-Beaunit joint venture at Odessa.

Under an arrangement announced here Sept. 30, Cosden is in the process of constructing facilities to produce cyclohexane as a feed stock for the Odessa operation. During a six-year period, Cosden and El Paso Natural Gas Products will exchange products valued at almost $50,000,000.

UNIT AT COSDEN
Cosden is installing a hydroalkylation unit to convert benzene into cyclohexane, assuring a daily shipment of 530 barrels to El Paso. El Paso Natural Gas Products will in turn convert the cyclohexane into hexamethylenediamine, which will be used for the nylon.

Terms of the agreement also call for Cosden to furnish 1,120 barrels per day of benzene to El Paso as a feed stock for its greatly expanded operations. In turn, El Paso will furnish Cosden with ethylbenzene, needed for Cosden's expanded polystyrene output. Previously, Cosden had moved to boost its ethylbenzene potential by installing an alcar unit. This involves conversion of benzene and ethylene into ethylbenzene.

Cosden officials are moving rapidly in an effort to have the cyclohexane facility on stream here prior to the time El Paso has need for it.

Mobil Drivers Help In Win

Big Spring drivers for Mobil Oil Company helped the company's Southwest marketing division win two national safety contests, according to C. W. Oakley, transport superintendent of the Big Spring Transport headquarters.

Regular drivers at the terminal, contributing to the safety record, are H. I. Cox, W. M. Lankford, C. W. Leugoud, C. J. McPherson, R. D. Phillips, and S. O. Wells. A seventh man, employed as vacation relief driver, J. L. Malone, also contributed to the safety record, Oakley said. He drove about six months during vacations.

The division won the Mobil Motor Fleet Safety contest for the fifth consecutive year, and also won the Mobil Personal Injury contest. Both were won in competition with eight other marketing divisions throughout the United States.
In the five-state division some 140 drivers for Mobil drove over eight million miles in 1964 with only 33 vehicle accidents for a frequency rate of .40 accidents per 100,000 miles. The six regular and one relief driver operate out of the Big Spring Transport headquarters.

Safety Awards Go To Eleven Drivers

Eleven employees of the Shell Pipe Line Corporation, all members of the Big Spring Safety Chapter with a total of 190 years of safe driving, were recognized at a Feb. 15 meeting in Big Spring. Personnel from Roberts Station at Forsan, Howard-Glasscock Field, Big Spring Pipe Line Crew, and Colorado City Office and Communications Department, gathered at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant here for a dinner meeting.
A program, "What Value — Your Personal Safety?" was presented by J. E. Fairweather, safety representative from the division office in Midland. The invocation was given by V. L. Bennett, Big Spring.
K. W. Looney, district superintendent, Colorado City, recognized the following employees for a total of 199 years of safe driving in company vehicles: V. L. Bennett, gauger foreman, 29 years, W. E. Wadsworth, station attendant, nine years, both from the Roberts Station; J. L. Coker, pipe line crew, 17 years, E. E. Everett, mechanical technician, 22 years, R. C. Frayser, electrical technician, 26 years, E. L. Martin, pipe line foreman, 17 years, F. W. Witt, pipe line crew, seven years, all of Big Spring; W. A. Hillhouse, maintenance lineman, 17 years, K. W. Looney, district superintendent, 17 years, B. F. McGuire, staff gauger, 15 years, all of Colorado City, and A. J. Smith, field gauger, Howard-Glasscock Field, 14 years.
McGuire has recently retired and now lives in San Angelo, but was present for the meeting.
To be eligible for recognition an employee must have driven 5,000 miles or more each year without a chargeable accident. Certificates were presented to representatives of the various locations for a total of 2,385 accident-free days worked since the last last-time accident in the Colorado City district, which includes eight work locations.

Operators Appeal To LBJ To Aid Import Reduction

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Independent oil operators have made a direct appeal to President Lyndon B. Johnson for assistance in reducing oil imports.
H. A. True Jr., president of the 7,000-member Independent Petroleum Association of America, sent to the White House last week a letter saying curtailment of Defense Department oil imports and foreign oil purchases would ease the administration's balance of payments problem.
Sen. Russell Long, D-La., and 35 other senators wrote the President a similar letter last Sept. 1.
This letter from the senators was referred to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, who in turn asked the Defense Department to make a separate reply on questions about military purchases.
The White House probably will take similar action on the letter from True, a Casper, Wyo., independent operator.
Less than two weeks after taking office Nov. 22, 1963, Johnson told Udall he expected the Interior Department and not the White House to chart the administration's basic petroleum policies.
The President apparently has not changed his mind. At least he has made no public statements concerning the petroleum industry, although he undoubtedly has been kept up to date on Interior Department decisions and reports.

The 36 senators told President Johnson the $300 million a year the Defense Department is spending for oil is a substantial factor in the balance of payments problem.
True said the trade deficit due to oil, including Defense Department purchases abroad and transportation costs paid to foreigners, has averaged $1.5 billion the past seven years. This, he said, is more than 40 per cent of the nation's total imbalance of international payments.
Udall, in a Sept. 16 letter, told the senators a comprehensive study of the oil industry was being made. He said the objective was to obtain information which will enable his department to develop petroleum policies and programs "that are closely attuned to the underlying market realities."
CUTBACK NOT NEEDED
The study report released Jan. 31 indicated no need for the 275,000 barrels a day imports cutback sought by independents. Udall has scheduled a March 10-11 public hearing, however, on the over-all imports problem.

Cyrus Vance, deputy defense secretary, replied to the senators Sept. 25 and defended the department's importation of 35,000 barrels of jet fuel and gasoline daily.
Vance said the department was eligible to import that amount because it was doing so at the time Interior's mandatory imports control program was established in 1959.
"To completely eliminate the department's finished product (import) quotas would add at least $30 million per year to the cost of supplying military petroleum requirements," Vance said.
The September average price for jet fuel at a Caribbean area refinery, Vance said, was less than five cents per gallon, compared to more than eight cents at domestic Gulf Coast plants and more than nine cents at West Coast refineries.
"These prices clearly show the Defense Department finished product import quotas are being utilized to buy JP-4 (jet) fuel in the Caribbean area in the interest of the taxpayer's dollar," he said.

IWO JIMA BATTLE
Mt. Suribachi held entrenched Japs

Marines Made Bitter Fight For Iwo Jima

For three days and three nights, U.S. ships and planes had unleashed tons of explosives in Iwo Jima in preparation for an amphibious assault which began 20 years ago Friday.

In the early morning hours of Feb. 19, 1945, the 4th and 5th Marine Divisions boarded the landing craft that would take them ashore. The landing craft circled the transports until 8:30 a.m. then headed toward shore.

Rockets from U.S. ships streaked through the skies, plummeting into island targets. Marine, Navy and Army Air Corps aircraft ravaged enemy positions with napalm, bombs, bullets and rockets.

LANDING

A wave of armored amphibians ground into the black ash beaches of Iwo at 9:02. Three minutes later, amtracs in the second wave were unloading Marines on the beach.

Marines charged through the open beaches of the amtracs. Their charge slowed as they bogged down in ankle-deep volcanic ash.

The Marines reorganized and began their inland push. Resistance was light during the first few minutes. Scattered mortar, artillery and machine-gun fire was encountered. The only man-made objects on the beach were land mines. There were no enemy emplacements.

Some of the Marines were optimistic enough to entertain the thought that estimates of enemy strength had been considerably exaggerated, or that naval and air bombardment had been more effective than expected.

IN CAVES

It later developed that the Japanese had buttoned-up in well concealed caves and tunnels emerging only after the heavy bombardment shifted. Intelligence reports of enemy strength had been underestimated by the Americans; not overestimated.

The Japanese reacted quickly after the bombardment lifted. Fifteen minutes after the Marines had landed, they were receiving heavy fire. Many Marine positions were under brisk mortar fire by 9:35.

Throughout the hours of D-Day, Marine riflemen slugged their way inch by inch, through intense machine-gun and rifle fire. The Japanese fired from well-hidden pillboxes, blockhouses and caves.

D-Day at Iwo was an uneven struggle with the advantage of terrain and troop disposition in favor of the Japanese. Marines labored to bring their mechanized equipment across the beach as enemy gunners poured death and destruction on them from the high ground on both flanks.

OPEN GROUND

Marines were forced to advance over open ground while subjected to a terrific pounding from positions that were difficult to locate. Once located, they were equally difficult for naval gunfire and air support to silence.

Six Marine infantry regiments and six Marine artillery battalions landed on Iwo that first day. Along with two tank battalions these Marines began to prepare for an expected Japanese night counterattack as darkness closed around the island. These units were tied in with physical contact all along the front, except for two small gaps. Both of these gaps however, were well-covered by fire and observation.

Throughout the night the enemy tried to infiltrate the Marines' lines, but there was no large-scale counterattack.

The next 25 days would not be unlike D-Day. They would be filled with bitterness and disappointment. . . and, eventually, victory.

26 DAYS

It was on the 26th day of the assault (March 16) that Iwo Jima was declared secured. Dedicated Japanese soldiers would drag the battle through the late winter months into May before all resistance would cease.

During the battle for Iwo Jima, 22,856 Marines fell in battle. Of these, 4,564 were killed in action. Another 1,331 died of wounds sustained in the battle. This total amounted to almost one-third of all the Marines killed during World War II.

Japanese killed in action numbered approximately 19,000. Slightly more than 1,000 were captured.

In the savage struggle for Iwo Jima, the amphibious forces of the U. S. Navy and Marine Corps proved that, given control of the surrounding seas and skies, they could seize any objective, no matter how powerful its guns and emplacements or how stubborn and skillful the defenders.

STRATEGIC

But 6,821 Marines, sailors and soldiers did not die to prove the soundness of existing amphibious doctrine. The operation was planned and executed in accordance with the grim necessities of the air war against Japan. Strategically located Iwo Jima had to be taken.

Situated some 659 air miles from Japan, the island was to be used as an emergency landing field for distressed B-29 Superfortresses. It would also be used for refueling aircraft on long-distance flights and as a base for fighter - aircraft which would fly air cover for the big bombers.

The urgency of the Marines mission in capturing Iwo was impressed upon them as early as March 4 (D-plus 13). That day the first damaged B-29 limped into Iwo while the battle still raged.

By the end of the war, 2,251 Superforts carrying 24,761 crewmen landed on the island. A significant number of these would have been lost if Iwo had not been available.

WON BY MEN

In the final analysis, battles are won not by machines, but by men trained to fight. Iwo Jima has come to symbolize the courage and offensive spirit that brought victory to the Armed Forces of the United States during World War II.

The 24 Medals of Honor awarded for valor during the campaign reflect the high level of individual and collective heroism characteristic of that action. Countless other acts of selfless bravery went unnoted in the holocaust.

Trustees To Study Plans

The school board Tuesday night will study architect's drawings and specifications for the Master Plan bond program of additions and remodeling of Big Spring High School.

Atmar Atkinson, school architect, said the major portion of the plans are now ready for approval, and that any changes necessary would have to be made now to prevent a slow-up in completion of final plans and specifications.

No date has been set to call for bids, but the board of trustees have been hoping for an April contract letting. Some time will be required, after contracts are awarded, for the work order to be issued and the contractor to move to the location.

Much of the remodeling of the present plant will have to be done during vacation months to prevent disrupting classes, and at least two summers will be required.

Grading and fills will also be made as early as possible to permit proper foundations for new structures.

On The Home Front

The military career takes families to strange and sometimes far-off places. It also can mean, when duty calls, that families have to be separated, the head of the household going to remote assignment, while the wife and mother and the children remain "on the home front." Big Spring counts several such families. In many cases, the husband has been assigned at Webb Air Force Base, and the family has become established in the local community. Friends are here, children are settled in school, it becomes "home." So when he is assigned to distant areas, the family remains. On this page today are presented several military families who function as a part of the Big Spring community even while the man is away.

LETTERS FROM HOME are eagerly awaited by those who are serving their country in remote areas of the world. Mrs. Jerry Welch, whose husband was formerly stationed at the air base here, is one who keeps the man of the house well-informed on happenings at home. Adding their personal messages to the letter are Keith, 10, and Linda, 7.

A LIVING PATTERN established by the A. K. Halversons, while he was stationed at Webb Air Force Base, is being continued by the family while he is completing a tour of duty outside this country. With Mrs. Halverson are her sons, Danny, 9, Kris, 15, and Rex, 12. Another son, Michael, 21, is a student at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

SHOWING OFF the newest member of the Phelan family is Mrs. R. M. Phelan, right, who holds her son, one-month-old Robert Macum Jr. She is the former Francine Salyer of Forsan and is making her home with her husband's mother, Mrs. C. M. Phelan, left. The baby is getting plenty of attention from the Phelan girls, Elizabeth and Rachael, while the father is away on duty with the Army.

CONTINUING TO make a home here, while the head of the family is on assignment overseas, are the William F. Nolens. Shown at their residence in the Kentwood Addition are, from left, Patrick, 10, Mrs. Nolen, Steve, 12, Cynthia, 18, and Dave, 14. Holding her favorite doll is the youngest family member, Kathleen, 4.

FOUR LITTLE DAUGHTERS need lots of care and companionship. Providing both is enough to occupy the time of Mrs. C. W. Caselton who still makes her home at Webb Air Force Base while her husband is elsewhere on a temporary duty assignment. Pretty as pixies are Dawn, 4, Beth, 5, Lora, 2, and Toni, 1.

To Marry

Mrs. C. M. Phelan, 1404 Eleventh Place, announces the engagement of her daughter, Rachel Lee, to Lt. James Frederick Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Wilson Jr., Wethersfield, Conn. Miss Phelan is the daughter of the late C. M. Phelan. The couple plans to be married March 21 in St. Mary's Episcopal Church with the Rev. Donald Hungerford and Rev. Gayland Poole officiating.

Following the wedding, a family supper was held at Coker's Restaurant and the couple left on a short trip. Upon returning, they will reside at 2206 Johnson, rear.

Beghtol is retired, and his wife will continue in her job as secretary in the social service department at Big Spring State Hospital.

Fewer Flowers Lose Romance

Octogenarian Louis Dieu of Brussels, who is known as "the last of the dandies," warned college bachelors here that modern girls are less romantic because men have stopped showering them with flowers.

"Send a woman six roses a day for a week, and watch her flutter and become feminine," he said. "Send her more flowers and more flowers still, and you will never have trouble with her again."

WEBB WINDSOCK

By SALLY HUDSON

Last week the wives of members of 3560th PT Squadron had a coffee in the Officers Open Mess. Jaguar Flight wives were hostesses. Approximately 40 attended with Mrs. W. K. Heise and Mrs. Lyle Burry winning prizes. There was a demonstration from the ceramic shop.

Saturday, members and wives of DCM had a dinner at Cosden Country Club, with approximately 40 present. Capt. and Mrs. R. E. Hardie were given good wishes on leaving for their new assignment in Turkey, and Lt. and Mrs. Gerald A. Glad were welcomed as new members of the group.

Mrs. R. J. Kasher was hostess for a coffee Feb. 11 honoring the wives of members of 3560th Hospital Group. Approximately 15 attended.

The monthly "Hi and Bye Coffee" will be at 10 a.m., Feb. 25, in the Officers Open Mess. The monthly luncheon will be March 4. The luncheon will begin at 12:30 p.m. in the Officers Open Mess. As most of you may know there will be some proposed changes in the Officers Wives Club Constitution presented at the March luncheon. The present constitution and the proposed changes are posted on the bulletin board for your convenience. It would be a great advantage to everyone to take time to read these things in advance. In this way you will be better able to vote on the changes. For reservations for the luncheon call Mrs. D. L. Fredrick, AM 3-4789, or Mrs. R. F. Vega, AM 4-4547. These reservations must be made by noon, March 2. A Valentine theme was used at the coffee honoring the wives of members of DCM, Feb. 11.

'Very Own' Vanity For Youngsters

Want to please that tiny little girl in your home on her birthday anniversary or at Christmas? Then let her awaken to a vanity which is scaled to her size in her bedroom. Have everything ready and put it up after she has gone to sleep.

With the aid of metal brackets, hang a tiny low-hung shelf in her room and attach a dainty skirt of flounces of washable material. Add a hassock just the right height for her, one that is trimmed with the same flounces.

Stock the vanity shelf with tiny makeup articles designed especially for children's play, but add a real comb, brush and mirror.

This diminutive vanity and bench will encourage your small daughter to practice better grooming habits.

'Thinking Day' Event Set Today At Webb

Today the Brownies and Girl Scouts of Webb AFB will celebrate the birthdays of their founders in a special Thinking Day program to be presented at John H. Lees Service Club from 2 to 4 p.m.

Girls from each troop will participate in a planned program and be given the opportunity to contribute to the World Friendship Fund which promotes worldwide Girl Scouting.

A play depicting the legend of the origin of Brownie Scouts will be presented under the direction of Mrs. G. A. Phillips, consultant for the Brownie program level. Junior Scouts will join in a song fest of familiar songs assisted by Mrs. C. A. Levenski, Junior Troop Consultant.

Opening exercises will be conducted by Cadette Troop No. 424 whose leader is Mrs. Charles Winston. Mrs. E. J. Jones, neighborhood cookie chairman, will report on the recent sale and recognize the troops selling the most cookies.

A refreshment hour will follow the program and at that time exhibits of troop crafts and projects may be viewed. All parents and friends of Girl Scouts and Brownies are invited to attend this special program.

Baptist Classes Quilt, Have Lunch

Members of the TEL Sunday school class of the First Baptist Church were guests for a covered dish luncheon and quilting party held in the church on Thursday.

Nineteen members were present for the event, hosted by the Hannah Sunday school class.

Glycerin On Stain

One of the most frequent after parties problems is how to treat the stain from an alcoholic drink. On a tablecloth or other washable surface sponge the stain with water, pour glycerin on it and rub the area between your hands. Leave the treatment on for half an hour and then rinse thoroughly.

Forum Group Hears Texas Heritage Study

The study, "The Fabulous Heritage of Our Lone Star State," was continued when the Woman's Forum met Friday in the home of Mrs. H. M. Fitzhugh, 1404 Johnson.

Mrs. Joe Pickle told of the "Journey to the Big Spring," and how the area was explored by Col. Marcy in 1849; of the Indian campground, and the many types of people who settled near the spring. The story of the railroads coming to this area in 1882 was told by Mrs. Bert Shive. Mrs. E. P. Driver traced the years of ranching in Texas, and of the toughest breeds known—"the Texas longhorn and the hard riding Texas cowboy." The organization of the First Christian Church, in 1882, the first church here, was told by Mrs. D. D. Dyer.

A luncheon for the Forums, March 20, in the Cosden Country Club, was announced at the business session.

The District Convention will be in Fort Stockton, March 24 and 25.

Mrs. Jack Johnson, Mrs. Lonnie Coker and Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr. were appointed to the nominating committee.

College Students Visit Parents In Forsan

FORSAN (SC) — Hubert Bardwell, student at the junior college in Corsicana, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Bardwell. Larry Stroud, also a student at the college, visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Stroud.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Shoultz and Jackie attended funeral services held in Andrews for her sister, Mrs. Thelma Davee.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Wash were, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Bushong, Pecos, and Mrs. Johnny Henry and son, Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Howard received word that funeral services were held for her brother, John Adnive, Wednesday in Keller.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Knight are home from Scott and White Hospital in Temple, where they were both patients.

Among the people here to attend the funeral services of Mr. E. E. Blankinship of Burkett were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Harmon, Cross Plains; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Blankinship, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Strickland and Mr. and Mrs. Orin Morgan, all of Andrews; Mr. and Mrs. Randle Stanton, Pecos; Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Blankinship, Houston; Raymond Blankinship, Brownwood; and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Blankinship, Coleman.

MR. AND MRS. J. BRUCE BATE, MICHAEL AND BRIAN

Family 'Camps' While Waiting For Furniture

By JO BRIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bruce Bate, 2709 Rebecca, are still "camping out" in their home in Kentwood, since it seems their furniture did not travel as fast as the family did.

Bate came here as plant manager for W. R. Grace and Company after working for the same company for six years at their operations in Trinidad, West Indies.

The Bates are managing very well without most of their household goods and the youngsters, Michael, 11, and Brian, 8, are getting their meals on time and have a bed to sleep in at night. The family is hoping the rest of their possessions will catch up with them soon.

Bate is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bate of Victoria, B. C. He was born in Saskatchewan, Canada. He was educated in that country, graduating from the University of Alberta. During World War II, he served as a first lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Engineers.

His wife, Sybil, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Scott-Lauder of Victoria, British Columbia and was educated in western Canada. She and her husband were employed by the same company in Trail, B. C., when they met, but she discontinued her work following their marriage.

PRETTY HOME
 The Bates describe Trinidad as a fine place to live but wanted to return to the United States so that their sons could have a better opportunity for their education. Michael and Brian are now both attending Park Hill Elementary School and are impressed with the friendliness of their classmates.

Bate said that company housing was furnished for the family in Trinidad where 14 homes were built on 40 acres of beautifully landscaped grounds where trees were plentiful. It was really a small "international" colony and the social life quite gay.

The city had a population of about 800,000 and there was a good nine-hole golf course on one of the private sugar estates, as well as the facilities for all water sports.

The Bates are sailing enthusiasts and owned a Catalina twin-hull racing boat on which the children occasionally served as crew members. They sold the boat before coming here but have bought a 14 foot runabout which they hope to use at Lake Thomas or the Colorado City Lake.

The temperature in Trinidad is about 80 degrees at the highest during the day and 70 degrees is not uncomfortable at night. The warmness enables residents there to participate in water sports all year round so both the Bates children are already fine swimmers.

GARDENING
 Mrs. Bate said that she had a nice garden in Trinidad and hopes to start one here in the spring. She did not raise vegetables but specialized in roses, her favorite flower. She likes to sew and explained that there was an abundance of good fabrics available there; the cotton was manufactured there but the richer materials were imported.

Now that they are settled in their school routine, both boys would like to get into the Scout program. They may try some baseball, too, since they did not have the chance to do that in Trinidad where the national game is cricket. Their mother said that they enjoy the "normal young boy activities."

The Bates like animals and have with them their Dalmatian, "Chipper" who is almost six years old and can boast of a silver cup won for obedience in Trinidad. "Kim," a rather strange-looking feline, is half Siamese which gives her a certain amount of distinction from her contemporaries.

The family is impressed with the welcome they have received here, and will be attending services at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Men's Sweater

An ideal sweater for a man is this sleeveless one. It is knitted in a cable stitch and pattern No. 1090 contains instructions for making sizes 36, 38, 40 and 42.

TRAVEL TALK

African Image Forbidding

By HULIN FOWLER

The very name Africa is forbidding: it conjures images of a dangerous lion hunt, "rogue" elephants, dense jungle, native bearers, and the mystic sound of tom-toms.

South Africa, southernmost African nation, fits this image but the traveler who expects to find jungle life in Johannesburg will have to go to the zoo.

Johannesburg, modern city of over one million people, is as remote from the United States as a city can be, 22 1/2 jet hours from New York, over 2,000 miles below the equator.

Yet, Johannesburg has one of the highest standards of living of any city in the world. It is a busy, booming city, cosmopolitan and gay. It has an almost perfect year-round climate, dry and cool, doubtless due to its altitude—6,000 feet above sea level. At this time of year, the temperature ranges from about 60 degrees at night to 80 degrees in the day.

Johannesburg is quite naturally called the Golden City for it is literally sitting atop billions of dollars in gold ore, site of some of the continent's most famous mines. The tourist, if he is lucky enough to get a permit, can go down 6,000 feet into the mines which honeycomb the area under the city.

The fabulous European-style city, as might be suspected, is highly influenced by the mines. On Sunday mornings, at the mine compounds, a favorite tourist attraction is the dances performed in costume by the native mine workers, a genuine example of African talent.

South Africa is also famous for its diamonds and another tour of interest is a trip through a diamond-cutting factory where, it is well known, a big diamond may be studied for months by the cutter before the first blow is struck. A mistake could reduce the value of the diamond by thousands of dollars.

The visitor to Johannesburg will find luxury, but not expensive, hotels and will have no fear concerning food or drinking water since all facilities are equal—or better—than in some American cities. South Africa has a wide variety of exotic fruits which are excellent, and it is inconceivable that any visitor would miss the famous, tasty South African lobster tails. They are served in many ways, in butter, simmered, and served with noodles and brown rice being one of the most popular. Young fresh "meales" (corn on the cob) is a delicacy, as well as "boerewors" (fresh farm sausage prepared in the Dutch manner) and bass fishing around Johannesburg and superb deep-sea fishing at Saldanha Bay.

The country carefully protects its wildlife, which can be seen, along with tropical birds and exotic flowers, in many parks, gardens and reserves in and around Johannesburg.

South Africa is a big country—almost twice the size of Texas—and there is much to see. About 820 miles from Johannesburg is the famed Victoria Falls, discovered by Dr. Livingstone in 1855. Twice as high as Niagara, the falls are a mile wide and one of the great natural wonders of the world. A fascinating side trip here is one to Kandahar Island, campsite of Dr. Livingstone, where many hippopotami and crocodiles abound.

On the Northern Cape about 300 miles from Johannesburg is the famous Kimberly diamond mining center, accessible by plane or rail. A special attraction is the "Big Hole," a 3,601-foot abandoned shaft which tourists can view from observation posts.

Despite its fame as a hunter's paradise, Africa is famed also for its excellent fishing and South Africa offers some of the best. There is excellent trout

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Wax Ironed On For Splashproof Curtains

Dear Heloise:

My cotton cafe curtains above the kitchen sink in our little abode caused me much grief until I discovered a way to make them semi-splashproof!

It works! Many people have also written that they iron leaky raincoats with waxed paper too!

Dear Heloise: Being a working girl who also has to maintain a home, I think your column is priceless.

bars of my favorite soap. When I get the time to iron, everything comes out fresh and clean-smelling. . . L. H.

Dear Heloise: The following method is a good way to clean small-necked vases that have stubborn stains:

Dear Heloise: When my raisins become dry and hard I put them in a bowl and pour boiling water over them and let them set a while.

Dear Heloise: I have received so many magazines that sometimes it is confusing to know whether or not I have already read a certain one.

In our home, to remind myself which issue I have read, I tear off a little corner on top of the back page.

Dear Heloise: Here is a hint for those who sew a lot:

Dear Heloise: When my raisins become dry and hard I put them in a bowl and pour boiling water over them and let them set a while.

Vandals, Drop-Outs Have Link

Vandalism practiced by some young people may well be hitched to lack of academic standing and the large number of dropouts in high school and colleges, says a leading counseling psychologist, Dr. Randall B. Hamrick of Bridgeport, Conn.

"It is difficult to generalize, but fanatical groupism often results from a feeling of insecurity, such as the lack of academic standing, and the sudden realization that things are going to be pretty bleak from here on out," he explains.

"School dropouts had better get back with it fast. Get yourselves trained. Go back to college, specialized training or apprenticeship. We have a permanent surplus of untrained, unskilled workers. You must rebuild your foundation and tools so adequate progress may be made toward more realistic goals," he says.

Attend Chemical Meeting In Midland

Several local residents were in Midland Tuesday evening for a dinner meeting of the American Chemical Society, Permian Basin Section.

H. F. Merrell Jr. is in Dallas this weekend visiting his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Merrell and David Jr.

Mrs. J. E. Smith was in Abilene this weekend visiting relatives. Her mother, Mrs. H. B. Qualls, who has been ill, will accompany her home for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Gorman have as a guest this weekend her mother, Mrs. W. W. McElhanon of Colorado City.

Mrs. Glynn Jordan is in Dallas with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leahy. Leahy is seriously ill in a hospital there.

Roy Hughes visited the American Petroleum refinery at Mount Pleasant Monday through Thursday.

Norvin Hamlin is a new employee. He is a part time clerk in the reproduction department.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Gilmore have as weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Daves of Midland.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Coffey are their son, Dr. R. T. Coffey of Galveston, and the senior Coffey's sister, Mrs. W. A. McDowell of Sulphur Springs.

Thermometer Test Suited For Candy

Before you make a big batch of candy it's a good idea to check your candy thermometer to see that it's accurate.

Place the thermometer in a saucepan with four inches of water. Bring the water to a full rolling boil. If the thermometer reads more or less than 212 degrees, add or subtract the amount to or from the temperature to which the candy should be cooked.

Wooden Spoon

Use a wooden spoon when you are stirring a mixture that is cooking on top of the range; some cooks like to use the spoon to form figure eight as they stir to make sure the entire mixture is blended.

Gershwin Story Heard By Club In Stanton

STANTON — The Gershwin Story was told for members of the Stanton Federated Music Club when they met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Edmund Tom with Mrs. Curtis Erwin as cohostess.

Mrs. Carl Lenard of Midland, president of the club, presided and introduced the program on Parade of American Music. The hymn of the month, "Joyful, Joyful We Adore Thee," by Henry van Dyke and Ludwig van Beethoven was sung.

The story of the life of George Gershwin was told by Mrs. R. O. Anderson, and a piano solo, "Andante con Moto, E Poco Pato" by Gershwin was played by Mrs. Erwin. A vocal quartet composed of Mrs. Bob Friddy, Mrs. Bill Johnson, Mrs. Jack Woodrow and Dr. Sue Fisher, sang "But Not for Me."

Mrs. Glenn L. Brown sang "Summertime." The program was closed with the singing by the group of "God Bless America," the club song.

Refreshments were served from a table which featured a Washington's birthday motif. Mrs. Rufus Tom poured.

Mrs. C. F. Huling of Big Spring was present as a guest. Twenty members were present.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Even if you don't like pancakes the fellowship makes everything taste better when the Kiwanis Club has its annual supper. The flapjack kings really put on a big deal and most of the populace joins them to eat their offering and to visit friends. If you don't see at least 50 people you know you haven't stayed long enough.

It's that time again for the pretty yellow jonquils to bloom and many yards are already graced by the fresh and jaunty flowers.

Today will wind up a delightful weekend trip to New York for MR. and MRS. HAYES STRIPLING JR., MR. and MRS. HAROLD DAVIS and MR. and MRS. GEORGE McALISTER. The Striplings, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. McAlister boarded a plane here Thursday and joined McAlister and Davis in New York. The latter two had been in Atlantic City for the mid-winter NEA meeting.

MRS. R. R. ROBERTS arrived in Midland by air Wednesday from her home in Westfield, Mass. She will visit her parents here, MR. and MRS. E. C. HOWARD, for an indefinite period.

MRS. JAMES TIDWELL and Steve plan to return here this evening from San Antonio where they spent the weekend with her brother and his family, MR. and MRS. PEPPER MARTIN.

MRS. R. V. JONES is now back at her home after being a hospital patient for nearly three months. She and Mr. Jones are deeply grateful for all the many visits and expressions of concern. They are grateful, too, that MR. and MRS. PASCHAL PEEK of Eugene, Ore., came at this time to visit. Mrs. Peek is the sister of Mrs. Jones and the MISSES EDITH and GRACE HATCHETT, the latter of whom has been hospitalized during the past week.

MR. and MRS. RELECE JONES and her sister, MRS. LYDIA WARREN, spent the past weekend in Bay City where they were guests of the ART DODDS and their children, Kerry and Dennis. They attended church services where their son-in-law, Dodds, is musical director and heard him sing the offertory song which he wrote and arranged. En route home they drove back by President Johnson's ranch at Stonewall for a "from the road" view.

Four roommates from Dallas, SHARON CREIGHTON, PAT YOUNG, GLORIA COKER and JANET WEST have spent the weekend in the homes of MR. and MRS. MERRILL CREIGHTON and MR. and MRS. LONNIE COKER.

MR. and MRS. GLEN MCGIBBON of Perryton are expected Friday for a weekend visit in the home of his brother and sister-in-law, MR. and MRS. K. H. MCGIBBON.

MR. and MRS. RICHARD C. SHAVER and their family have as their houseguest, her mother, MRS. LILA M. AIKEY, whose home is in Akron, Ohio. Mrs. Shaver flew to Akron several weeks ago for a visit and she and her mother drove back here together. Mrs. Aikey retired this year and is to make an extended visit here.

Drives Like Girl Says Frenchman

Michel Ramy, 63, who has been named France's best driver for having driven his ambulances one million kilometers since 1918 without an accident, promptly noted that he drives like a woman.

"My first thought is to get my patient to the hospital comfortably alive, not to make time," he said. "I never drive over 50 m.p.h., and I never accept a motorcycle escort because they go too fast."

Ramy, who taught himself to drive, added that the most important requisite for safe driving is silent attention so that one is completely and intuitively aware of what other drivers and pedestrians will do even before they do it.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Carpenter, Jonesboro Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Faye, to Eston Hollis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hollis, Jonesboro Road. Nuptial vows will be solemnized May 14 in the Westside Baptist Church.

Study Club Shown Capitol City Film

"Washington, D. C. — The Story of Our Capitol" was the program given at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Forsan Study Club, held in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Oscar Boeker showed a film and narrated the story of Pierre Charles Lenfant's design for the city and the decision in 1787 to build on the banks of the Potomac River. Plans were drawn having the capitol the center of the city and plans made for growth far beyond the original 15 states.

The president's house was finished in 1800, but was burned in 1814. The house was then refinished and painted white, thereby acquiring the name "White House."

Mrs. Boeker pointed out that Washington, D. C., is a federal city outside of any state. Government is the main business of the city, but many organizations have their national headquarters there. It is also home office for many news men.

The Smithsonian Institute, art and culture centers and many memorials are some of the points of interest she discussed.

Mrs. Tommy Albertson gave the devotion, "Qualities We Most Admire in Others," and Mrs. Delbert Bardwell and Mrs. Elmer Patton served as hostesses for the 16 members present.

A white cloth, bordered with gold eagles covered the refreshment table, which was centered with a miniature White House and flags.

The program for the March 3 meeting will be "Tall Texans."

Healthful Fruit

Since the bulky pulp and fruit acids found in Washington apples acts as a "cleanser" for our digestive system, keep healthy and regular by including one fresh apple a day in your diet.

Church Luncheon Held Sunday

KNOTT (SC) — A salad luncheon was held by the Young People's Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church following services Sunday morning. James Haston welcomed members and guests. The Rev. and Mrs. Coy Burt of Big Spring.

Lawrence Long was in charge of the activity program.

French Models Honor Own Kind

French models in Paris who have begun a campaign to cut down the number of foreign manikins working in Paris, will award an annual prize to the French model of the year. Beauty is not enough to win the award. Models must also prove a love of elegance, a knowledge of fine couture, and an intuition for good taste.

End Clutter, Update Medicine Cabinets

Have you checked your medicine cabinet lately? A recent survey showed that only one out of about 10 housewives keeps these valuable little cabinets uncluttered and stocked with the items needed to cope with everyday emergencies.

If yours is like those in most homes, it now contains a summer-gathering confusion of safety pins, hair spray cans, hair pins, curlers, empty bottles and boxes and a lot of half-used medicine. Now is a good time to clean out the medicine chest and restock it properly for the inevitable aches and pains of school days.

For the everyday, first-aid situations, put in a supply of the following: Adhesive tape, sterile adhesive bandages (a variety of sizes), sterile pads, sterile cotton balls, small pair of scissors, antiseptic first-aid powder, aromatic spirits of ammonia (capsules), thermometer, aspirin (adult and children), rubbing alcohol and hydrogen peroxide, small safety pins, surgical tweezers, a triangular bandage and knee wrap for sprains, and a tube of petroleum jelly. And while you're at it, you might as well check the first-aid kit in the car's glove compartment.

Hearth Built-Ins

A hearth wall is the perfect place to build in game storage, music equipment, and book shelving. Cabinets can be beautifully detailed and easily built with prestige western woods like Douglas fir and ponderosa pine. Fir and pine take clear finishes, stain or paint beautifully.

Music In Worship Is Forum Talk

"Music In Worship" was the program given by Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, president, when the Piano Teachers Forum met Thursday in the music building of Howard County Junior College. Mrs. Jarratt told the teachers how to prepare students for playing hymns in church services.

During the business session, the advance ticket sale for the Lull de Freitas concert was discussed. The concert will be April 1 at the HCJC auditorium. Tickets will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. The proceeds will be used for the HCJC scholarship fund which is provided by the forum each year for the music department.

It was announced that Mrs. LaMarr Chapman of Odessa College will be judge of the competition during the annual Piano Festival at HCJC April 24. The recital of winners will be April 25 in the college auditorium.

Hostesses were Mrs. R. L. Morris and Mrs. F. C. Gambill, and the next meeting will be March 18 with Mrs. Champ Rainwater.

Gay Hill Group Meets Friday

Martha Couch of the Gay Hill 4-H Food Group, No. 1, was leader for the meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. B. W. Jackson.

Brenda Jackson prepared and served squash souffle. The meeting Feb. 23 will be in the home of Mrs. Jack Buchanan.

Mental Health Talks Heard In Lubbock

Mrs. Horace J. Smith, Mrs. R. T. Winn and Mrs. Ralph Hedrick attended a series of mental health conferences in Lubbock Friday and Saturday. The meeting was open to professional nurses, professional nursing students, psychologists and counselors.

"Discovering Ourselves," was the subject for the first meeting, and Miss Grace Fowler, chairman of the Department of Psychiatric Nursing at Washington University in St. Louis, was a featured speaker. Miss Fowler, co-author of "Psychodynamic Nursing," discussed the human development from a biosocial point of view.

Dr. James Coleman, professor of psychology at the University of California and author of "Abnormal Psychology and Modern Life," and "Personality Dynamics and Effective Behavior." His topic was "Mental Mechanisms—How We Adjust."

Dr. Beatrix Cobb, director of Texas Technological College's rehabilitation program, and Dr. Harry Martin, medical sociologist at Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, were also guest speakers.

A banquet was held Friday evening, and Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent at Big Spring State Hospital, spoke on "Trends in Psychiatric Care."

The conference was sponsored by District No. 18 of the Texas Nurses' Association, the Lubbock Mental Health Association and the Hogg Foundation.

4-H Club Group Studies Standard

Mrs. Leon Riddle was hostess to the 4-H Club Cooking Group, Unit 1, Thursday, with Mrs. Joe Gaskins as the adult leader.

New members were introduced as Sheree Shaw and Debra Williams. The girls studied the "Texas Food Standard" to learn what foods should be included in a balanced diet. They made banana milkshakes and sandwiches. Later they will make posters concerning various types of food.

The newly-organized group will meet each week.

P-TA Group Announces Nominees

The Big Spring Parent-Teachers Association Council nominating committee met Feb. 18 to submit names for new officers.

Nominees were Mrs. Roy E. Ray, president; Mrs. Roy Watkins, vice president; Mrs. E. C. Miller, recording secretary; Mrs. A. W. Gerhart, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Hulan Harris, treasurer. Officers will be elected in April.

Five members were present for the meeting held in Coker's Restaurant. The next meeting is scheduled March 2 in Gollad Junior High School Cafeteria.

Evening Party Honors Bride

Mrs. Ronnie C. Payne, the former Stephanie Clark, was complimented Thursday evening at a bridal shower held in the Flame Room of Pioneer Naturing Gas Company.

Joining the honoree in greeting guests were her mother, Mrs. Joe Clark, and her husband's mother, Mrs. H. C. Payne. They were presented corsages formed of miniature kitchen gadgets.

Hostesses were Mrs. Oscar Glickman, Mrs. Glen Gale, Mrs. Bill Ragsdale, Mrs. Sam Melling, Mrs. Oliver Cofer Jr., Mrs. Grace Grandstaff, Mrs. Jim Zack, Mrs. Leland Graves, Mrs. E. H. Lawhon, Mrs. A. D. Jenkins, Mrs. R. L. Heith and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins.

They wore tiny blue and white rice ball corsages.

Guests who called between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. were registered by Miss Jan Millam at a table covered with a pale blue linen cloth. A long-stemmed blue carnation lay across the register book.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth with an underlay of blue and appointed with silver and crystal. The centerpiece, flanked by blue candles, was a metal colander filled with carnations, chrysanthemums and asters in varying shades of blue. The cake was frosted in white and featured blue wedding bells. Another table held silver coffee and tea services.

Gifts were arranged on a table covered with a linen cut-work cloth. The guest list included 85.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE E. CONNER

Wedding Anniversary Observance Planned

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Conner, Sand Springs, will be honored on their 50th wedding anniversary, Feb. 28, with an open house hosted by their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Conner were married Feb. 28, 1915, at Midlothian. She is the former Rebecca Wayland, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Wayland, and his parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Conner.

Both were reared in Oklahoma and moved to the Big Spring area in 1947. He was a pumper with the Sun Oil Company at that time and remained with them until his retirement in 1962. They moved to Sand Springs about six years ago, and the anniversary party will be held in their home there.

The Conners reared four children. They are Mrs. Oma Lewis, Kermit; Mrs. Paul McComb, Big Spring; Ivan Conner, Robert Lee; and Auden Conner, McAllen. They, along with their husbands and wives, will host the Sunday event. There are seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Two couples who attended the Conner's wedding will be with them to celebrate the anniversary. They are her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wayland of Chandler, Okla., and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Conner of Broken Arrow, Okla.

Start Scramble Play In Duplicate Games

Announcement of the new Scrambled Series for duplicate players was made at the Friday meeting of players at the Big Spring Country Club. Play began Friday and will continue through April 9.

Winners will be judged on the best of five out of eight games, and players must play with four different partners in order to be eligible in the series.

Players were reminded that Wednesday will be Master Point day for the Variety Pairs.

Nine tables were in play Friday afternoon. North-south winners were Mrs. Glen Riley, Mrs. Hayden Griffith, first; Mrs. Myrtle Lee, Joe Steyer, second; Mrs. J. D. Robertson, Mrs. John Stone, third; Mrs. Ron Kibler, Mrs. Riley Foster, fourth.

East-west, Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr., Mrs. E. L. Powell, first; Mrs. A. Swartz, Mrs. J. H. Fish, second; Mrs. Morris Patterson, Mrs. Hudson Landers, third; Mrs. Joe Hayden, Mrs. Ray McMahan, fourth.

Plant Care Aids Healthy Growth

Most house plants need two periods of adjustment. They receive the first in quality growers' greenhouses, when they're professionally conditioned in porous clay pots.

The second period is in your hands. Since over-watering causes most failures, be sure your plants are bought and kept in porous clay pots that assure proper drainage and keep roots from "drowning."

Agent Offers Tips For Home Sewing

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County Home Demonstration Club Agent, continued this month's schedule of lecture-demonstrations on sewing when several area clubs met this week.

FAIRVIEW CLUB

"Tips For the Seamstress" was the subject as Mrs. Crawford spoke for the Fairview Home Demonstration Club when it met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Shirley Fryar. She demonstrated the correct way to hem garments that are knit or those that are constructed of fabrics which might pose a problem.

Mrs. Crawford showed darts turned to the top side of material using the one-thread method, and told of sewing bias pieces together and cording for belts. Also, she demonstrated how to insert gussets in sleeves so the corners will not pull out.

Mrs. W. C. Robinson was elected nominee to the council where three delegates will be named to attend the district meeting.

Eleven members answered roll call with "New Ideas For Sewing," and the hostess read the devotion.

Refreshments were served and the next meeting scheduled March 2 in the home of Mrs. L. A. Yater, Andrews Highway.

AIRPORT CLUB

Mrs. W. M. Dorrough was hostess to the Airport Home Demonstration Club when 13 members and a guest, Mrs. Hila Weathers, met in her home Tuesday. Mrs. Weathers was the guest speaker and told of the volunteer work program at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Roll call was answered with "When Did You Have Your Last Check-up?" The devotion was given by the Rev. W. M. Dorrough.

Mrs. Jack Dunning presented Mrs. C. E. Renfro with a gift for her 300 hours of volunteer work at the Veterans Administration Hospital. Mrs. Fred Jones was awarded the attendance prize.

Eggs, Capers In Hors D'oeuvres

A favorite hors d'oeuvres in Spain consists of hard boiled eggs covered with fresh mayonnaise and garnished with capers. To give commercial mayonnaise a freshly-made flavor, simply add two tablespoons olive oil to each half cup of mayonnaise. This makes a superb sauce for any kind of seafood. Sprinkle minced parsley over top, if desired.

Hostess for March 2 will be Mrs. Jack Dunning.

ELBOW CLUB

Mrs. Ross Hill, Rt. 2, was hostess to the Elbow Home Demonstration Club Thursday when Mrs. Denver Yates presided. Ten members answered the roll call concerning medical check-ups. The two guests were Mrs. Delaine Crawford and Mrs. James Caudle.

Mrs. Crawford gave the program on sewing tips, and the women agreed to furnish cookies during March for the Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. C. P. Sherman, 2300 Grace, will be hostess March 4 at 9:30 a.m. when the program will be a demonstration on hair styles and beauty care.

LOMAX CLUB

Mrs. Ralph Newman was hostess, and her cohostess was Mrs. Waymon Etchison as 11 members of the Lomax Home Demonstration Club met Thursday to discuss new ideas on sewing. Mrs. Crawford gave the program and members agreed to bake cookies for the Big Spring State Hospital.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Neal Fryar March 4 when the program will be "Let's Be Beautiful."

COLLEGE PARK

"When did you have your last check up?" was the roll call topic when the College Park

Home Demonstration Club met Thursday evening. Seven members met in the home of Mrs. John Birdwell, Silver Heels Addition.

The program, "Pesticide-Fears and Facts," was presented by Wesley Deats. Refreshments were served from a table centered with a green potted plant decorated with valentines.

Hostess for the next meeting will be Mrs. Leonard Blank, 105 W. 24th.

Meet Madame President

Mrs. William A. Wheeler, president of the NCO Wives Club, was born and attended schools in Hopkins County where she lived near Sulphur Springs. She has been active in the club since moving here almost two years ago, and previously served as vice president for the group.

Also, she is a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, and holds membership in the Assembly of God Church at 4th and Lancaster. Her husband, who was born in North Carolina, has been in the Air Force for 21 years so they have traveled extensively. They have lived in France and Alaska.

Mrs. Wheeler particularly liked living in Alaska and thinks the climate there is wonderful. She enjoys the military life and never gets tired of living at various bases.

The Wheeler's daughter, Deborah Faye, is a third grader at Marcy Elementary School. She was adopted in Munich, Germany, and due to the constant moves made by the family, she did not become a United States citizen until she was

Neck Allure For Summer Gowns

Beautician Camille Martin, Brussels, who agrees with the Japanese that the nape of the neck is a great feminine allure, has called upon women to massage it while soaping themselves in the shower, daily for a week.

The purpose of the exercise: To remove the layer of fat that grows there during winter months. "In summer gowns the fat is noticeable and not pretty," he explained. "Put a good lather on your scrubbing brush so that you will not scorch your tender skin."

City's Oldest Business Firm Makes Full Cycle In 84 Years

By JOE PICKLE

After nearly 84 years, Big Spring's oldest business firm has made it full cycle.

Burton-Lingo Lumber Company, which started here in late 1881 as William Cameron & Company, is being combined with William Cameron & Company and will operate as National Building Centers, Inc.

W. S. (Bill) Crook, manager of the Cameron yard at 706 Scurry since 1933, will be in charge of the new operation at the Burton-Lingo location at 301 E. 2nd, assisted by Kelly Lawrence, who has been managing the Burton-Lingo yard.

There will be no abrupt move, said Crook, but rather a methodical transition in which materials from the Cameron yard will be absorbed at the historic location which has supported a lumber yard since the town was established. Both yards will have a sale for merchandising certain items in order to simplify the "risk of moving."

IN 1881

When the Texas & Pacific Railway Company pushed its rails westward in 1881, Willard Burton, who had been associated with William Cameron for half a dozen years, moved to Abilene to head up what became the western division of William Cameron & Company and to open yards in new towns along the railroad. Big Spring was one of those points.

Early day settlers recalled that the only other thing to occupy the spot picked for the yard was a huge rick of buffalo bones (used for sugar refining and fertilizer manufacture) piled up in anticipation of the arrival of the railroad.

Rail siding on the north and street access on the south provided a perfect setting for the yard which in 1887 became Cameron & Burton. The following year Burton acquired all the Cameron interest and joined with E. H. Lingo, who had managed and later bought a Cameron yard at Denison, to form the Burton-Lingo Company. Since 1888 the firm has operated here under the same name and at the same location. B. A. Reagan remembers that the sheds originally ran east and west instead of the present north-south alignment.

OLD REPORT

In listing a number of business firms in the relatively new town of Big Spring, the Colorado City Clipper noted on July 4, 1883 that "William Cameron & Co. has a large lumber yard."

The name Cameron did not reappear here, however, until 1925 when H. O. Timmons purchased half a block between Gregg and Scurry and along Seventh Street from J. I. McDowell. Timmons had been managing a Cameron yard at Winters and bought the property for his company for $15,000. No sooner had this been announced than L. S. McDowell, (brother of J. I. McDowell), who had the south half of the block (now occupied by The Herald),

DIRECT NATIONAL BUILDING CENTERS OUTLET
W. S. Crook and his associate, Kelly Lawrence offered a $10,000 profit to Cameron so the block could be left intact with the two stately houses on it. But the ground was ideally located for Cameron's major purpose of supplying oilfield timbers, for Scurry Street then was the highway. L. S. McDowell asked one favor, that the south side of the yard be painted some color other than the traditional Cameron orange. So this side was painted a light cream and so remained until long after the McDowell residence was closed.

CAME IN 1928

Crook came here in April, 1928, when the Cameron yard was opened. A native of Lamar County, he had started with Cameron in 1926 at Winters, then went to McCamey for a few months and on to Midland. After three years here, he returned to Midland to manage and finally liquidate the Cameron yard there (Cameron bought back there in 1950), returning to Big Spring to succeed G. R. Porter in 1933 as manager.

A complete list of the Burton-Lingo managers cannot be compiled, but it includes R. H. Kemp, who headed the concern from about 1900-10, A. J. Gallimore, a Mr. Garrett, Sam Weaver, Arthur Woodall and Kelly Lawrence. A native of Bartlett, Lawrence came here in 1940 from Bastrop as a yardman, working his way up to assistant manager. In 1957, he succeeded Arthur Woodall.

FROM SCOTLAND

William Cameron Company was the outgrowth of the industry, ingenuity and venture of a young Scotsman who turned down plans for a career in law in his native country. With $50 put up by his parents, he set out for the United States, landing in New York with $18 in his pockets. He went first to Illinois and then to Missouri, eventually becoming a construction foreman for the Missouri Pacific Railway Company. Captured as a Union soldier during the Civil War, he was paroled and became a purchaser of grains and supplies for the government. Among his deals was a contract with the Missouri, Kansas and Texas for cross ties. This led to a partnership with a Katy engineer in 1867-68 at Warrensburg, Mo., and soon they had lumber yards in Sedalia and Clinton.

Cameron followed the Katy south, opening a yard at Denison in 1871, followed promptly by others at Sherman and Dallas. E. H. Lingo bought the Denison yard in 1874. By 1878

Cameron established headquarters in Waco and had acquired other yards. One of these was a yard in Fort Worth.

PROMOTION

Willard Burton had started in 1874 as a yardman in Dallas for Cameron at $50 a month, unloading a shipment of 2x12x24 timber. He was promised a raise if he made good; better than that, he was sent to manage the Fort Worth yard in 1876. Five years later he and Cameron were in partnership on the new western division of Cameron & Co., which quickly became Cameron & Burton before its sale to Burton-Lingo in 1888.

Cameron went on to amass a great fortune, estimated in the late 80's at $4,000,000. He added vast yellow pine reserves, saw mills, sash and door mills, grain and flour mills, banks and railroad stocks.

EARLY TO RISE

Shortly before his death from a stroke in 1888 he gave his recipe for success: "I do my work an hour and half to two hours before daylight. I know in advance every morning where every gang is to work and almost where every man shall stand during the day."

His son, W. W. (Will) Cameron, was shouldered with the sprawling enterprise at age 21, but fortunately he was cast in his father's mold. Until after his death, there were only nine shares of Cameron stock, all owned by descendants of William Cameron. Will Cameron ordered establishment of the yard here and visited on occasion. A dozen years ago the Cameron interests sold to Certain-teed Products Corporation, which recently sold its remaining 25 Cameron retail outlets to National Building Centers, Inc., the 1963 purchaser of Burton-Lingo Company

City Seeking Cash For Cemetery Care

Letters are being mailed by the city to city cemetery lot owners, who have been on the city's previous special care list, requesting contributions of $25 per lot for the new Permanent Care Fund.

The fund will be a permanent investment with proceeds used for cemetery maintenance, according to City Manager Larry Crow.

The letters will be mailed next to those lot owners who have been on the special care list but have dropped participation in it. Additional mailings will be to other owners of lots at the cemetery, according to Crow.

In the past, Crow said lot owners whose areas were on the special care list paid $9 per year for the first lot and $3 for each additional lot.

The letters and other administrative work on the cemetery project are being done by two Big Spring High School students, employed under the vocational office training class being conducted by the high school. The city is employing Nancy Easley at the city hall and the Masonic Lodge is employing Beverly Womack, working at the public works field office. Cemetery records are maintained at the field office, 911 E. 2nd.

Work at the cemetery has been under way since January, with streets graded through the new portion, ground levelled and new sod placed. City public works crews are carrying out the cemetery improvement work, which will also include installation of a water sprinkler system and additional landscaping and grass.

Criminal Docket Includes Prisoners Held In Jail

A criminal docket, which is slated for trial in 118th District Court the week of March, will be made up entirely of cases in which the defendants are prisoners in the county jail.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, in preparing the list of 11 cases he will try to dispose of that week, said that he was settling these cases in order to settle the futures of the defendants.

The prisoners have not been able to post bond and some have been in the jail for as long as six or seven months. "I feel that we should give these cases preference over matters where the defendants have posted bond and are at liberty," said Burns.

Included in the list of defendants whose cases are being set down for trial is Higinio Soto, a native of Puerto Rico, who made an abortive attempt to rob the Security State Bank Oct. 23. He was apprehended within minutes after the holdup was staged and all of the money recovered.

Other defendants on the docket include: Lincoln Brummett, charged with forgery and passing. He has been in jail since June 13, 1964.

John Marvin Peters, burglary, held in jail here since Aug. 31.

Robert W. Beardsley, theft, in jail since Sept. 20.

James W. LeMay, robbery by assault, in jail since Oct. 23.

Horace Autney Smith, assault with intent to kill, in jail since Oct. 4.

Antonio DeLeon, assault with intent to rape, in jail since Aug. 21.

J. C. Allredge, in jail since Nov. 16.

Paul G. Zaharis, forgery and passing, in jail since Jan. 4.

Charles Ray Key, forgery, in jail since Oct. 15. (Key has been in jail in Odessa, where other charges are pending against him.)

Burns said that it is possible some of these defendants will enter guilty pleas. However, he said no such pleas are now in evidence.

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, will have a jury panel in court March 2 for the trial of these cases. Burns said he did not know how many of the cases he could dispose of in the week, but that he intended to rid the docket of as many as possible.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No Extra Take-Home Pay Due To New Tax Cut

These questions and answers on federal tax matters are provided by the local office of the Internal Revenue Service and answer questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. — Will the second stage of the new tax cut increase my take-home pay?

A. — No it won't. Withholding rates were reduced last year in just one stage compared to the two stage drop in last year. While most taxpayers won't find any change in the size of their paycheck as a result of the 1965 tax reductions, the savings from this cut are still very real.

Tax rates on 1965 individual income drop to a range of 14 per cent to 70 per cent. The tax rates on income earned last year are 16 per cent to 77 per cent. Before the tax cut, individual income tax rates started at 20 per cent and went up to 91 per cent.

Q. — Who may use the new minimum standard deduction?

A. — Any individual taxpayer may use this provision if he finds it to his advantage. Generally speaking, this provision will benefit low income taxpayers.

Individuals can have income up to $900 and married couples up to $1,600 and have no income tax to pay, thanks to the minimum standard deduction. It is estimated that about 1.5 million people will be freed to tax liability as a result.

Q. — I increased by withholding last year to avoid the possibility of owing more tax at year-end. Should I continue my withholding at the same rate for 1965? I've heard it said that last year was a special situation and that additional withholding taken then need not be continued.

A. — The answer to this question must be decided by each taxpayer. The law tells you how much must be withheld, but it is up to each taxpayer to decide whether he wants additional amounts taken out of each paycheck.

The special situation you described last year resulted from the use of two withholding rates, 15 per cent and 14 per cent, during the year to make the required federal income tax deductions. The combination of these rates only approximated an effective rate of 16 per cent, the lowest tax rate for 1964.

To prevent taxpayers from being surprised by additional bills at year-end, we suggested last year that taxpayers make a rough estimate of their 1964 tax liability. By comparing this with how much would be withheld, they could decide whether to hold or to increase estimated tax payments.

Whether taxpayers who took either of these actions in 1964 want to continue them in 1965 is something they will have to decide based on their 1965 tax situation.

Q. — What can I do to speed up my refund?

A. — If you haven't filed your return yet, there are some things you can do to help speed up a refund. These consist of checking your return thoroughly before sending it in.

A return that is unsigned, which lacks a Social Security number or is minus a W-2 form will have to be completed before it can be processed. The time it takes to contact the taxpayer for the missing information will naturally delay a refund.

If you've already filed your return the best thing you can do is wait patiently. A call to our office will only add to the workload of our employees.

Q. — I am filing a joint return with my wife. Do we have to list her Social Security number on the return even though most of the income we report came from my salary?

A. — Your wife's tax account (Social Security) number should be listed if she has one. Even though she may not work, any separate income she receives from stock investments, savings accounts or similar sources makes it necessary for her to have a number.

Banks and corporations are required to report dividend and interest payments to us identified by an account number. The recipients, in this case your wife, are required to list the income they receive from these sources on a return.

Q. — I haven't received my W-2 yet from my employer. What should I do?

A. — Employers are required by law to provide their employees with W-2 forms by the end of January. If you don't receive your form by that date, ask your employer about it. Most delays in obtaining W-2 forms occur when a person works for more than one employer during the year and has also changed his address. In such case, an employer might have difficulty locating a former employer to send him the required form.

In cases where there is more than one employer, it is important to obtain W-2 forms from all of them. This is the only way a taxpayer can be sure of getting credit for the income and employment taxes that were withheld from his paychecks.

Gov. John Connally of Texas will deliver a keynote message on education at the 45th annual convention of the American Association of Junior Colleges March 1-4 at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel in Dallas.

In line with his campaign theme, Gov. Connally proposed and supported an aggressive program to the 58th Legislature with primary emphasis on excellence in education as the vital key to the future of Texas.

The convention, which shapes up as one of the largest ever held by the national association, is expected to attract some 1,000 delegates—college administrators, faculty, members of boards of trustees, and representatives of state departments of education and universities.

Texas, a pioneer in junior college development, has 45 junior colleges enrolling some 50,000 students.

In another highlight of the convention, Ralph Besse, president of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, will give a major address at the first general session on Tuesday, March 2, at 8 p.m. Instrumental in the establishment of Ohio's first community college in Cleveland, Besse will talk on "The Junior College — New Approaches for New Needs."

Governor Will Keynote Junior College Meet

Horace T. Morse, dean of the general college at the University of Minnesota, will speak on "Between the Ivory Tower and the Market Place," dealing with college involvement in community action. One session will deal with the question of the faculty's role in policy making.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, and Ben Johnson, dean, will represent Howard County Junior College at the meeting and are on the host committee. There may be others from here attending.

Birth Control Program OK'd

CHICAGO (AP) — A program to provide free birth control devices and information to any person in Chicago has been approved by the City Board of Health.

"This program will have certain guarantees that the promiscuous, or immature who wish to be promiscuous, will not be helped by the Board of Health," said Dr. Erick Oldberg, president of the board.

The board said it will concern itself solely with the matter from the medical and health standpoint.

Imposing New Occupant-Going To Texas Museum

AUSTIN (AP) — Some time next spring the Texas Memorial Museum at The University of Texas will have a public debut for its most imposing occupant: the skeleton of a 30-foot long mosasaur, a giant marine lizard which lived 70 million years ago.

The mosasaur promises to become a prime attraction for the wide-eyed school children and camera-laden tourists who crowd the museum each year.

It will occupy a prominent position on the museum's first floor.

JOINING TOGETHER

Before the mosasaur is ready for public scrutiny, however, many man hours are to be spent in its behalf, joining together about 300 individual bones in such fashion as to give the creature a lifelike, swimming posture.

The mosasaur's temporary home is a cavernous room in the Vertebrate Paleontology Laboratory at UT's Balcones Research Center, northwest of Austin. There, surrounded by the plaster-encased remains of other animals who roamed the earth long ago, the mosasaur has been taking shape under the eye of Dr. Wann Langston, vertebrate paleontologist on the Museum's research staff.

Dr. Langston and Powell Goodwin, a Museum technical assistant, have been mounting the skeleton on a pedestal formed by a conglomeration of wood, steel, wire and plaster. At this point the mosasaur's vertebrae are all in place, pegged into a steel rod, and the rib cage is being installed.

The exposed bones and upper part of the pedestal are then coated with a layer of wet tissue paper molded onto the surface. Strips of burlap dipped in plaster are placed over the top of the pedestal and down its sides, forming a complete plaster cast. The base of the pedestal is gradually cut away, giving a toadstool shape to the cast containing the bones.

PLASTER JACKET

The block of bones and plaster is broken loose from its support below and turned over, and the underside of the block also receives a jacket of tissue paper, burlap and plaster.

The block is transported to the laboratory, where the plaster jacket is stripped off and the bones are again treated with shellac. Any remaining bits of rock are cleaned from the bones by using all manner of implements — small hammers, chisels, mallets, pinchers, mechanical hammers, grinders or welding torches. The bones are usually fractured into many small pieces and must be put back together with glue, plaster and sometimes metal reinforcement rods.

The job of reconstructing the skeleton will be about 75 per cent completed before moving day.

Final touches will be applied after the mosasaur has been transported to the museum. The body will be joined to the skull, which was rebuilt almost 30 years ago and has been on display at the Museum since then.

The mosasaur remains first came to light in 1938, when the university had a statewide fossil salvage program under the Works Progress Administration. The site of the discovery was on Onion Creek in what is now a South Austin residential section.

DELICATE

The bones were recovered by a tedious and delicate process which is routine to paleontologists. They begin by carefully removing rocks and dirt from above the specimen. As bones are exposed, they are treated with shellac and similar materials to harden them against crumbling and deterioration by contact with air.

When the individual bones have been sufficiently exposed to determine the extent of the "find," a trench is dug around the specimen, leaving the bones supported on a pedestal of the original rock.

Museum officials say the long-awaited mosasaur will be a welcome addition to their storehouse of exhibits about the state's history.

Before the main exhibit hall was chosen as the site, numerous suggestions were rejected, including one from a Museum wit who proposed that the huge skeleton be suspended from the ceiling, in the manner of the Smithsonian Institution's exhibit of the Spirit of St. Louis.

HOT OR COLD? WHICH IS BEST?

Under certain conditions, states first-aid expert, Dr. Carl L. Potthoff, cold applications are better than hot. Cold tends to inhibit bleeding by constricting the small blood vessels in nose-bleeds and minor cuts. Applications of ice water alleviates discomfort from insect stings and reptile bites and may delay the chemical action and circulation of injected poison.

Excessively high body temperature associated with heat prostration can be helped by sponging freely with ice water. And, immediate immersion in ice water of a body part with a minor burn can diminish pain and possibly lessen tissue damage.

A Devotional For The Day

"I will pour out my spirit on all flesh." (Joel 2:28, RSV)

Important Step By Parks Board

The Parks and Recreation Board is about to tackle a matter of great importance to the future of Big Spring, namely a type of master plan for park and recreational development.

Perhaps the term master plan is used loosely for what is envisioned immediately in an extended plan—one which would be projected over the next four or five years. There is good reason for this, because so many things have been suggested for early consideration. Obviously, they cannot all be done at once. For instance, these were listed at the board's meeting as things already suggested or pressed: softball field, city - school development of the Birdwell Park-Boydston School tract; improvement of the City Park amphitheatre, tennis courts, restoration of the "big spring," community playhouse. To these could be added neighborhood parks such as the Lakeview Park proposal under consideration.

Doubtless, when the board comes to its March meeting, there will be several other pertinent suggestions which will have merit approaching or equal to those mentioned.

There is no reason that the immediate master plan cannot be conceived in relation to some long-range scheme for park development. Thanks to the board's encouragement, the provision of capital funds under the master plan bond program, and to a gradually more sympathetic consideration of park needs, Big Spring is beginning to make some progress in this direction.

The board is to be commended for its systematic and sensible approach to the problem. Chairman Jack Watkins aptly observed that "we must set up a plan and sell that plan." The board deserves support in this effort, for Big Spring has passed the time and size when it can afford to make parks and public recreational facilities a step-child.

A Little Removal, Too

With the advent of the first early spring rain, residents likely will be eager to get into yards for early work.

May we suggest that while tackling the matter of planting—and it is not yet too late to put out trees and shrubs—that the problem of removal also gets priority. There are hundreds of dead or semi-dead trees and shrubs around town. These present an unsightly appearance. Few things could be done which would contribute so much to a general neatness of the city as to chop these down or grub them out.

Why not survey your own premises to see if you have dead or diseased trees and shrubs, or trees with dead limbs? Then do something about them.

David Lawrence

Employers' Civil Rights

WASHINGTON — If Congress reopens the Taft-Hartley Act for amendments, there certainly will be an effort by employers to make sure that the language of the law will be clarified so that their own "civil rights" are preserved. For today the National Labor Relations Board is willing to approve as a bona fide election the votes marked on cards distributed privately by the unions themselves, and the burden is then placed on the employer to prove that when he questions the validity of the cards he is doing so in "good faith."

THIS CORRESPONDENT recently drew attention to the weakness in present procedures, and the Labor Board now has written him a letter taking issue with the view expressed. The letter, signed by the executive secretary of the board, claims that it is a misrepresentation and misleading to imply that a card ballot cannot be a valid method of holding an election. The board's explanation is as follows:

"The board will not order an employer who has a good-faith doubt as to a union's majority status and who has committed no unfair labor practices to bargain with a union unless and until that union wins a fair election."

"IN OTHER WORDS," an employer who has a good-faith doubt of a union's majority status is entitled to a secret-ballot election unless he has so interfered with the free choice of his employees as to make a fair election impossible. It is only in such circumstances that the board will accept a union's cards instead of the board and the courts have followed this policy for 30 years."

The board's letter emphasizes that the employer can, in court, "try to signatories are obtained. Employers show that the cards were obtained by coercion or misrepresentation or intimidation or even that they were forged." The board itself does no policing of the methods by which the complainant that getting proof is difficult when employees are afraid to talk for fear of union reprisals.

THE BOARD'S LETTER says that cases of this kind are few and points out that the number in which a majority status was based on cards would approximate 200 in the three years from July 1, 1961, through June 30, 1964.

Congress apparently thought it had taken this power away from the board when it passed the Taft-Hartley Act in 1947, amending the Wagner Act. Under the latter statute, the board was empowered, in determining employees' desires as to union representation, to use a secret-ballot election or "any other suitable method to ascertain such representatives." The Taft-Hartley Act, however, specifically removed from the law the provision for "any other suitable method." The board itself, in its 1948 annual report, said:

"SECTION 9 (C) of the Act, as amended, prescribes the election by secret ballot as the sole method of resolving a question concerning representation, and leaves the board without the discretion it formerly possessed—but rarely exercised—to utilize other 'suitable means' of ascertaining representatives."

According to complaints by businessmen, the NLRB nowadays is using card-checking as a "suitable method" of conducting elections even more than it did before the Taft-Hartley law took that discretionary power from them.

THERE ARE, of course, many cases in which secret-ballot elections are conducted, but this is not the real issue. Even if only 200 "elections" are carried on by card signatures in three years, the fact that such a procedure now is being held legal by the NLRB represents a defect in the law which can be cured only by guaranteeing a secret ballot in all cases. Billy Graham

I've listened to you on the radio and I have come to the conclusion that you talk too much about what you call salvation. Why don't you do some good and talk about our obligations to our fellow men?

It seems to me this would do more for the world. E. E. W.

If you have listened carefully, you have found that I often speak of our obligations to others. Being a Christian does not consist in believing something and then doing nothing about our responsibilities. However, no man is prepared to serve his fellow men as God would have him serve, until one holds a right relationship with God through His Son, Jesus Christ. Until a man is saved he is prepared neither for this life nor the life to come. We often make the mistake of expecting unconverted persons to act like Christians. When men are truly converted they honestly strive to discharge their responsibilities both to God and man. One of the ways to show our love for our fellow man is by trying to bring him into a vital relationship with Christ.

On Exchange

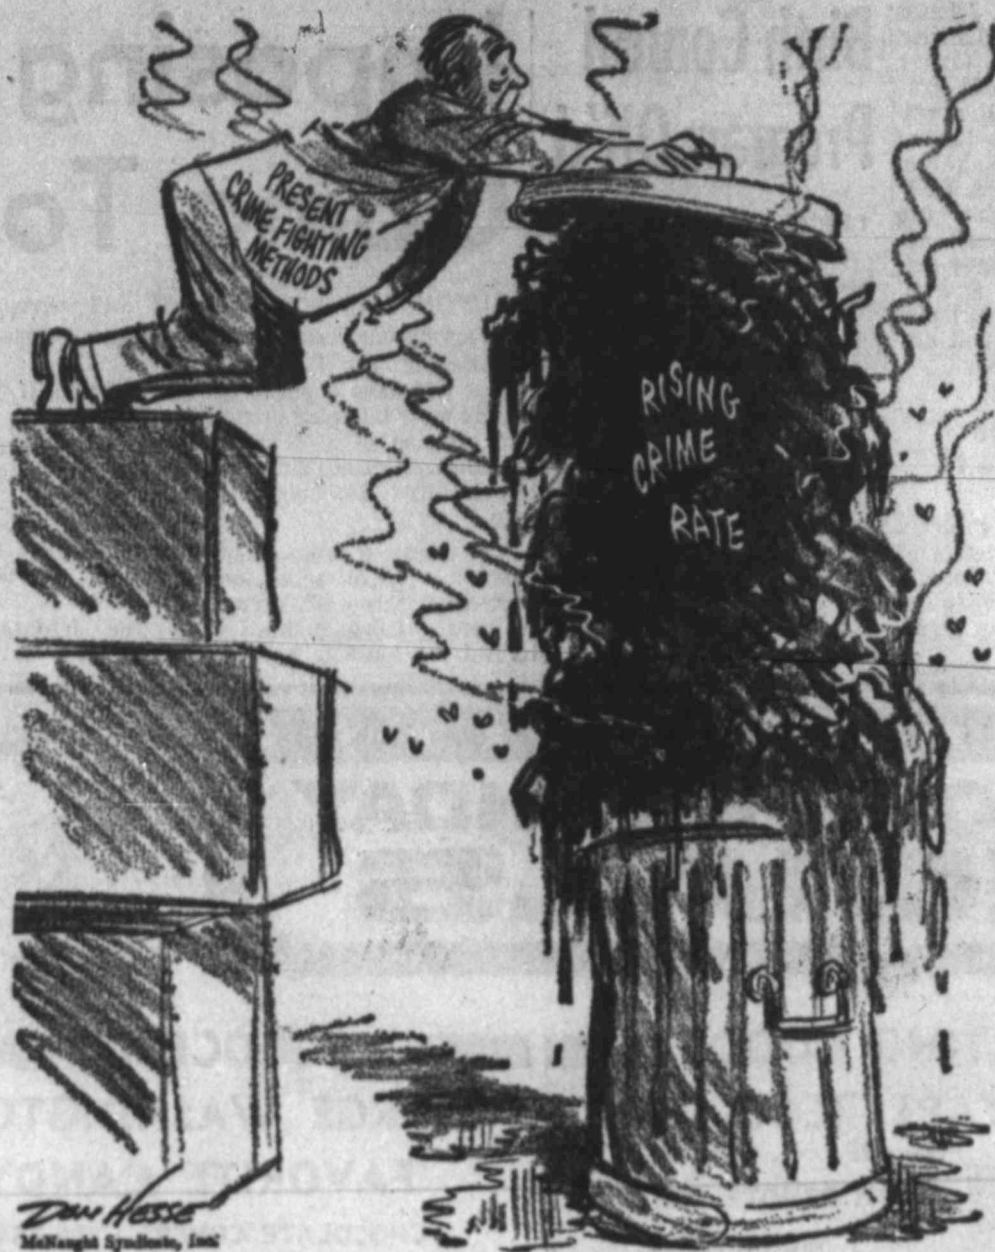

NEW YORK (AP)—The first husband-wife acting team to go abroad under the cultural exchange program, Fredric March and Florence Eldridge, visit a dozen Middle East areas.

The trip begins April 4 in Cairo, includes also Greece, Turkey, Lebanon, Syria, Iran and Afghanistan. The program comprises excerpts from three dramas in which the Marches have appeared, plus some other poetic material.

'Romeo' Role

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP)—Lillian Gish joins the American Shakespeare Festival this summer to enact the nurse in "Romeo and Juliet."

The veteran stage-screen star will be appearing with Terence Scammell and Maria Tucci in the title roles. Scammell has been with the group for three seasons. Miss Tucci, like Miss Gish, will be making her first appearance with the company.

TOO MUCH GARBAGE FOR THE CAN

J. A. Livingston

A New Norm On Business In Wall Street?

Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, dashes off to Europe with a reaffirmation of faith in 1965: "It will be a good business year."

Walter W. Heller, who preceded Ackley as top federal economist, expresses his confidence in jest: "There won't be a recession with Lyndon Johnson in the White House," he tells the Atlantic City convention of the American Association of School Administrators. "It wouldn't dare!"

THOSE ARE conclusions—conclusions supported by mounting evidence that the year has got off to a zippy start. Expected inventory-buying of steel but unexpectedly strong buying of automobiles provided unusual January output.

In 1964, the economy grew at a 4.6 per cent rate. The Council of Economic Advisers projected only a 4 per cent increase for this year. And now, because of events, suggestions are being made: "Hadn't you better raise your ante? Isn't 4 per cent too low?"

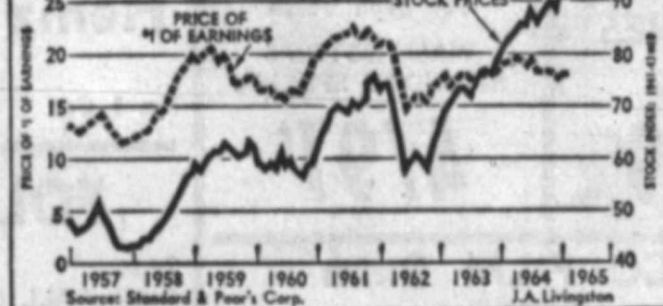

The Council, wisely, is watching and waiting. A letdown is possible once the steel uncertainty subsides—though that will take some time. The contest for the presidency of the United States continues in dispute between David J. McDonald, incumbent, and I. W. Abel, secretary. This hardly speeds negotiations with the industry. The present contract expires April 30.

A SHARP up-and-down movement in steel, by itself, won't bring the economy to its knees. Other forces guard against recession.

Industrial production, partly influenced by high steel and auto output, advanced to another new high in January. And orders for durable goods, which have a durable influence on the economy, rose again in January. The President's unheralded promise of liberalization of depreciation rules should provide renewed impetus to orders for new equipment. For business, this is a half-billion dollar tax windfall.

THE OTHER SIDE OF WALL STREET

NOR IS THAT all. Employment in manufacturing is not only at a new peak but hours worked per week last month rose to 41.4. You have to go back to October, 1945—after the war—to find a comparable figure. No wonder consumer confidence is high, as found by the University of Michigan in its latest survey of family hopes and fears.

And how does Wall Street react to these expressions and manifestations of strength? With skyrocketing excitement? No! With quiet restraint.

TRUE, the stock market saluted the New Year with a flurry of enthusiasm. The Dow Jones industrials promptly pushed through the so-called "900" barrier and the more-broadly-based Standard & Poor's index likewise advanced to an all-time high. Then uncertainty over Viet Nam and the nation's continuing balance-of-payments difficulties sobered—slowed down—the advance.

Don't jump to a wrong inference. Stocks aren't cheap. You can't lay a pencil-point anywhere in the stock-market table and find blue-chip bargains that conservative trust companies would jump at. But stocks are not "dear" by standards of recent years.

Around The Rim

People Are Always Leaving Home

Just because everything is rosy around your household, don't get the idea that this is true everywhere. It ain't so, and there has come across the desk (from a firm wanting a plug) some rather astounding information.

This has to do with missing persons, and there are many more of them than you might surmise. Not all of them actually are missing, but at least they take off somewhere and leave no forwarding address.

THE FIRM wanting the plug is the Tracers Company of America, and it says that in 1964, it was assigned to search for 34,564 missing people—and by golly, it turned up 29,965 of them.

But before you go to jumping to conclusions about wife desertion, defalcation, and all that sort of thing, let us hasten to advise that many searches were in a nature of business need.

FOR INSTANCE, colleges and universities wanted to find alumni (to put the touch on them, no doubt) and Tracers dug up a figurative phrase—over 14,000 of these. Companies were looking for stockholders with whom they had lost contact, and the company brought to light nearly 10,000. There were nearly 800 people, believe it or not, who were sought as heirs to considerable estates, and they came to light, I suppose in following the smell of money. Thirty-nine of these people came into fortunes of more than $100,000. My observation is that if I thought something like that were coming to me, I'd never get lost. I would even leave a map showing the route I took to the post office.

THERE SEEMS to be a search on all the time for various kinds of witnesses, for employees a company lost track of, for relatives who all of a sudden seem dear.

But there are juicier items in this missing persons category. There were some searches the company classified as "marital," and in 57 cases it found the "other man" and in 14 the "other woman," if that denotes anything.

THERE WERE over 700 lease breakers at large, which the Tracers Company rounded up, but whether they settled up with the landlord isn't revealed. There were also over 1,000 "missing debtors" unearthed, and there are times I don't blame these people for disappearing.

IF THIS COMPANY'S 1964 record is any criterion, then not many teenagers take it on the lam. Only 221 were reported, but—and get this—1,201 husbands vanished while only 38 wives were doing so. It's just like I keep saying, men are no d— good.

Why do the guys leave? The company says the No. 1 bugaboo is money. The debt load gets so big that the old man says the heck with it and shuffles off in the night. No. 2 on the cause list is the meddling mother-in-law. Only one in 12 shuffled because of another woman, much as the wife would like to think this as the primary cause.

AND, IT'S IN the 40's when men hit their peak in wandering. Of the disappearances, less than 3 per cent were between 20 and 30; about 15 per cent were in their 30's; a whopping 75 per cent were in their 40's; about five per cent were in their 50's, and just two per cent past 60.

A cynic might say that when they're young, they don't know enough to leave, and when they get old, it's too late. —BOB WHITKEY

No Confusion In Washington

WASHINGTON — The best thing about living in Washington is you know exactly what is going on in the world. While the rest of the country may be in an utter state of confusion, those of us who are so close to the seat of power have a clear picture of what is up.

Even something as simple as the bombing of North Nonomura is not hard to understand if you keep your ears open and listen to everything that is being said.

IT DID JUST this at a cocktail party the other night and this is what I heard.

"The reason we bombed North Nonomura was so that we could negotiate from a position of strength, if we ever reach the negotiating stage, which is, of course, impossible."

"I disagree with you. We bombed North Nonomura to bolster the South Nonomuran government, and to help the morale of their troops who keep getting clobbered everyday."

YOU'RE BOTH wrong. We are engaged in a tit-for-tat war and we are determined to show the Nyet Clong they can't fool around with us.

"Baldersdash. The tit-for-tat policy was just a cover for our real purpose, which is to warn the Chinese that we mean business in Southeast Asia. Since we have no relations with them, we just carry out the dialogue through bombing raids."

"Does this mean we're escalating the war?"

"WE'RE NOT against escalating. We're against over-escalation. It was our desire to keep the war limited, but the North Nonomurans wouldn't let us. They've stepped up the war, so naturally we've had to step it up, too."

"How does one fight a limited war without over-escalation?"

"By helping one side, on the condition that the other side receives no help. As soon as the other side gets aid, then you have to step up your effort. Up until recently the Nyet Clong were getting all their arms from American stockpiles which had been captured from the South Nonomuran soldiers. As soon as they started getting arms from North Nonomura, the war was no longer localized, and we had no choice."

"IF WE AGREED to give the Nyet Clong American arms, could we limit the war to South Nonomura again?"

"No, because if we did that, the South Nonomuran government would become furious with us."

"What South Nonomuran government?"

"The one they just put in the other day."

"WHERE DOES American policy fit into all this?"

"It's quite simple. We can't get out of South Nonomura because of the domino theory. We can't win the war there without a stable government. We can't have a stable government until we start winning the war. Therefore, the only solution is to knock the hell out of North Nonomura."

"What about negotiation?"

"We can't negotiate because we are losing the war."

"COULD WE negotiate if we were winning the war?"

"Why would we want to negotiate if we were winning the war?"

"It's pretty clear to me, but do the American people know all this?"

"We can't tell them."

"Why not?"

"BECAUSE IF we told them, we would also be telling the Russians and Chinese what we had up our sleeves. We have to keep them guessing what we do next."

"But that means keeping the American people guessing, too."

"Why not? Their guess is as good as ours." (Copyright, 1965, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

Marquis Childs

The Bird-Dogging Senator

WASHINGTON — The long shadow of a tall, gangling Tennesseean still falls across this capital. Estes Kefauver is not missed by the comfortable Senate hierarchy whom he often irritated, but he is missed by a great many Americans who feel a Senator's duty is larger than getting dams or defense plants for his state.

HIS CAREER AS a patient prosecutor searching through the maze of monopoly power in America's economy is recalled by publication of a book he nearly completed before his death a year and a half ago. "In a Few Hands: Monopoly Power in America" reveals the two conspicuous qualities that made him unique in recent Senate history.

He had a dogged, persistent way of digging into a tangle of figures and facts to show how control over large segments of American business was held by a few men at the top of the corporate structure.

AS CHAIRMAN of the Senate's monopoly subcommittee he questioned witnesses with a voice never raised above a level which at times was almost inaudible. Step by step the reluctant witness would be led down the path to the point at which certain conclusions were inescapable. Never blustery or aggressive, he was as relentless as a hound dog from the hills of his own state.

The other outstanding quality was his complete indifference to whether he was liked or disliked. Walking on to the Senate floor he could know that the establishment would pay a lot to retire him to Tennessee. Corporation executives would cheerfully have boiled him in oil. But he seldom gave the slightest sign that he cared about anything but the job in hand. This dedication helped to draw around him a devoted staff.

WASHINGTON IS strewn with monuments, many of them political monuments in atrocious taste and set down with little regard to appropriateness. It is highly unlikely in any foreseeable future that Kefauver will be memorialized in bronze or stone. But he has what is a more enduring monument in the Kefauver-Harris Act, which sought to apply stringent controls over drugs offered for sale in the mass market. The drama of the thalidomide scandal helped to bring about passage of these long-needed reforms.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE on antitrust and monopoly is headed today by Sen. Philip A. Hart (D., Mich.). The opportunity is wide open to carry on where Kefauver left off, and Hart has a lot of the Tennesseean's zeal and dedication. But the make-up of the committee is far more conservative today. The powers that be in the Senate have seen to that.

Toward the end of his life certain lawyer-lobbyists closed in on Kefauver and checkmated his investigation into prices established by American drug firms in South America. His pessimism about the drifts toward monopoly is reflected in this posthumous book. Yet he ends with the conclusion that monopoly power will not for long be tolerated in a society in which the traditions of a free, democratic society are so deep-rooted. This was the conviction of a public servant who went on to the end asking the hard, searching questions. (Copyright, 1965, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

FORGOTTEN ANYTHING

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

No, not a single thing! Mom always shops carefully for her family. She watches their health. She makes sure they have a clean, comfortable home. She sees that they get practically anything they want. What more can she do?

Well, how about their spiritual well-being? A family needs a religious framework in which to develop moral responsibility and steadfast faith. If Mom and Dad set a fine example of Christian love and regular church attendance, the family cannot help but be influenced. Today's young people, strengthened and inspired by Church teachings, are the leaders that our country will need tomorrow.

Remember, Mom . . . "Man's life consists not in the abundance of things which he possesses." Don't deprive your family or yourself of the many precious values the Church can give.

'Two On A Guillotine' Concerns Strange Legacy

"Two on a Guillotine" could be fact, fiction or plain fantasy—but, whatever else, it is compelling entertainment. The film, starring Connie Stevens, Dean Jones and Cesar Romero, is scheduled to open Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

Though crammed with terror, "Two on a Guillotine" is not a horror picture. The story concerns the strange legacy of Duquesne, the World's Greatest Illusionist, to his daughter, Cassie. When the girl sees him for the first time since her childhood, he lies in a glass-paneled, locked-and-chained coffin, while his publicity man hands out a press-release announcing that Duquesne is going to "return from the dead."

Cassie's shock at such theatricality during a funeral is surpassed when she hears his will read in no place less than the stage of the Hollywood Bowl. She learns she is to receive his

Elizabeth Taylor, Burton Star In 'Cleopatra' Film

The motion picture which has been more talked about and written about than any other in the history of the industry, "Cleopatra," will open here today at the Ritz Theatre. The romantic spectacle, starring Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton and Rex Harrison, has been shown in the capitals of the free world and in major cities throughout this country on a road show basis with seats reserved.

'CLEOPATRA'
Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton

"Cleopatra" was a year in the making at Rome's Cinecittà studios and on location in Italy, Egypt, Spain and London, with an international cast featuring Roddy McDowall, Pamela Brown, Cesare Danova, Hume Cronyn, George Cole, Kenneth Haigh, Andrew Keir, Martin Landau, Robert Stephens, Herbert Berghof, Isabelle Cooley and Gregoire Aslan.

For his critically-acclaimed portrayal of Julius Caesar, Rex Harrison was nominated for the "best actor" Oscar.

"Cleopatra" is the first attempt to combine both the Caesar and Antony stories into one dramatic entity. In their approach to the complex story, the writers include many factual incidents never before used dramatically.

Although history has not been altered, the story emphasizes the relationships among the protagonists and how they affected or were affected by these events. The film revolves around the four figures who were of the greatest importance in the establishment of the Roman Empire—Cleopatra, Caesar, Antony and Octavian.

The large cast was chosen after careful deliberation. Actors and star stature were selected, as well as dozens of others who were picked because each was the best possible performer for the particular role.

With Elizabeth Taylor already chosen for the title role, preparations for the production were begun in the spring of 1961, and Richard Burton was signed to portray Mark Antony. He had just won the New York Drama Critics Circle Award as best actor for his performance in "Camelot," his first musical. Because Burton was the one deemed most perfect, the film company bought the remainder of his play contract to assure his availability.

The selection of Julius Caesar was just as difficult. Ultimately, Rex Harrison was cast as the Roman emperor. He, too, had won the Drama Critics Award several seasons previously for his performance in "My Fair Lady," also his first musical.

The supporting roles were chosen meticulously. Roddy McDowall, a former child star who has matured into one of the theatre's leading actors, equally at home playing Shaw, Shakespeare or Noel Coward, was signed for the key role of Octavian, Caesar's heir and Antony's rival. McDowall, like Burton, left "Camelot" to perform in "Cleopatra."

Bob Hope Has Good Time Finding Home For Baby

In a comedy as heartwarming as it is hilarious, Bob Hope is surrounded by a bevy of international beauties in "A Global Affair." It opens today at the State.

The glamour girls include a representative of Russia (Lilo Pulver), Austria (Michele Mercier), France (Elga Anderson), Spain (Yvonne DeCarlo) and Japan (Miko Taka), among other nationalities, all of whom are connected in one way or another with the United Nations.

And why do they converge on Hope? Because the latter, cast as the head of the Department of Women's Rights, is faced with a baby abandoned in the United Nations Building and is reluctantly persuaded to take charge of the infant until it can be determined which of the U.N. member nations can best provide a foster home and a proper upbringing for the foundling.

It is in the endeavor to have their respective countries selected that the girls put their best foot forward. Lisette, the Austrian girl, and Sonya, the Russian, separately invite Hope to dinner in order to prove that the baby would thrive on their native cuisine, which results in a mix-up in which Bob ends up with a plate of beef stroganoff hurled over his head.

Dolores, the Spanish beauty in a demonstration of the art of her country, gives Hope a lesson in flamenco dancing in which he proves an apt pupil. Fumiko reveals the hospitality of Japan, where a guest is expected not only to partake of the tea, but to be given a bath! While Yvette, in true French fashion, does not seem to employ the wiles of seduction in order to prove her point, with Hope having to call for the aid of a policeman (Mickey Shaughnessy) in order to preserve his virtue.

Theater Center Plans Exhibit

The Dallas Theater Center has accepted an invitation from the new Library and Museum of the Performing Arts at Lincoln Center in New York to participate in its opening exhibit this spring. The theater display will be shown for one year at the new Lincoln Center.

The exhibit will represent the activities of the most successful repertory companies in the country and present the development of repertory theater in the United States.

The Dallas Theater Center will be represented by photographs and architectural drawings of the Frank Lloyd Wright designed building; a display of pictures from its productions; posters; coverage of all the Center's activities; and a display of reviews, stories and photographs on the Center from major national and international publications.

A highlight of the Dallas Theater Center display will be the exhibition of the Special Jury Prize from the Theater of Nations in Paris, France, for its production of "Journey to Jefferson" last year in Europe. This is the highest prize ever awarded an American theater company in Paris.

The Center's managing director, Paul Baker, said of the invitation, "We feel honored that the accomplishments of the Center will be displayed at this new theatrical institution. We think it will create further interest in theater in Dallas and in good theater in the United States."

Woman Asks Town To Bring Revenge

Justice and revenge are the themes of "The Visit," new release starring Ingrid Bergman and Anthony Quinn opening Sunday at the State Theatre.

"The Visit" tells of a woman's return to her home town after a 29-year absence. In that time she has risen from poverty to become the richest woman in the world, while the town, Guellen, has reached the brink of bankruptcy. Guellen is located in an unidentified Middle European country.

The woman, Karla Zachanassian, played by Ingrid Bergman, offers the townspeople financial aid—the staggering sum of two million—on one condition. She wants revenge, but the terms of her conditions are so fiendish and frightening that the people quickly reject her offer.

But Karla is content to wait. Cynically, she sits on the balcony of the local inn, observing the effects of her proposal on the tattered, once prosperous people. She watches the disintegration of the object of her condition, a shopkeeper played by Anthony Quinn. Karla had an affair with the shopkeeper 29 years ago, and because of him had been forced to leave Guellen.

Steadily the tension and suspense builds as the citizens of Guellen have second thoughts about the money and its usefulness. They begin to wonder if Karla's condition is so horrible after all. Karla, the shopkeeper, and the townspeople all wait for the inevitable day when reason will give way to greed.

Included in the cast of "The Visit" are Irina Demick, who played the French peasant girl in "The Longest Day," Hans Christian Blech, who played the German officer with the dog in the same film, plus Paolo Stoppa, Claude Dauphin, Ernest Schroeder and Valentina Cortese.

Scripts Going Behind Curtain

NEW YORK (AP)—A project for free distribution of American theater scripts and books in Iron Curtain and Far Eastern nations is being undertaken by American National Theater and Academy. It will work in collaboration with the International Theater Institute.

IN NEW BOOK OFFERINGS FOR SPRING

A Break For Fiction Fans

NEW YORK (AP)—Spring's book fare will give the fiction fan a break.

Last fall, as usual, the novels were few and rather feeble, while publishers were pouring out nonfiction in all sizes and colors for the holiday trade. After a slight winter pickup, there will be better times ahead, from March through May.

SHAW

The March fiction starts off with Shaw's "Voices of a Summer Day" (Delacorte), a story about a man looking back over four decades of American life.

Then comes Wouk's "Don't Stop the Carnival" (Doubleday), which is in the comic category, about a Manhattan businessman's adventures on a Caribbean island.

Mailer's contribution will be "An American Dream" (Dial), which is described as more of a nightmare than a dream.

A couple of English authors are being published here in March too. John Braine's "The Jealous God" (Houghton Mifflin) will be something different for him, a story on the problems of a Catholic schoolmaster in Yorkshire, who falls in love with a Protestant divorcee. Anthony Burgess has written three connected stories about misadventures in postwar Malaya in "The Long Day Wanes" (Norton).

In April there will be Miss Buck's "Death in the Castle" (John Day), a change of pace—it deals with a wealthy American's efforts to buy an old English castle and move it to Connecticut.

"AMBASSADOR"

West's new novel also will be a change of pace. Titled "The Ambassador" (Morrow), it is about a career diplomat sent to South Viet Nam.

The du Maurier novel, "The Flight of the Falcon" (Doubleday), will move into the modern era with a story about a young Italian who feels the impact of the past. The Winsor novel will encompass a whole family of 19th Century Americans, from Montana to Wall Street, under the title "Wanderers Eastward, Wanderers West" (Random).

In May there will be Knebel's "Night of Camp David" (Harper), described as a dramatic story of the presidency and vice presidency.

The playwright Connelly has come up with a story of a bright young scientist adventuring into a remote land which seems to resemble the Garden of Eden. It is called "A Souvenir of Qam" (Holt, Rinehart).

FIRST NOVELS

There also will be some first novels this spring, touted by the publishers as very promising. They include John Weston's "Jolly" (McKay), a young boy's story; Vokes Richardson's "Not All Our Pride" (Braziller), about youngsters in the plantation country of East Tennessee in the 1930s; Alan Sharp's "A Green Tree in Gedde" (NAL-World) by a lyrical young Scot, and Noah Gordon's "The Rabbi" (McGraw-Hill).

Even before the death of Ian (James Bond) Fleming and the flurry created by John Le Carré's "The Spy Who Came In From the Cold," a good many publishers were grooming authors in the thriller category. And last year Mickey Spillane switched from the detective story to the secret agent style with a new hero called Tiger Mann.

TIGER MANN

The second Tiger Mann episode coming in April, will be "Bloody Sunrise" (Dutton).

Other spring entries in the thriller sweepstakes will be "It Can't Always Be Caviar" (Doubleday) by a German writer, Johannes M. Simmel, who gets his agent into a quadruple-cross situation, in something of a spoof; "The Thousand Doors" (Holt, Rinehart) by Abraham Rothberg, a Cold War story of a literary agent's efforts to smuggle out a former Communist's manuscript; and James Munroe's "The Man Who Sold Death" (Knopf), in which the British secret service and French terrorists are involved.

The nonfiction parade this spring includes a popularized study in natural science, a book about animal behavior in relation to human behavior. It is Sally Carrighar's "Wild Heritage" (Houghton Mifflin), coming in March.

A famed historian, Samuel Eliot Morison, has written a large, one-volume history of our country, which will be published in April by Oxford University Press under the title "The Oxford History of the American People."

NONFICTION

Other nonfiction items will include a book by Jack Bell of

The Associated Press. "The Johnson Treatment" (Harper), which is subtitled "How Lyndon B. Johnson Took Over the Presidency and Made It His Own";

A. A. Hoehling's "The Great War At Sea" (Crowell) on naval warfare in World War I, and Jan Myrdal's "Report From a Chinese Village" (Pantheon), an anthropologist's story of a remote section of China.

Last year's Pulitzer-Prize for international reporting was shared by Malcolm Browne of The Associated Press and David Halberstam of the New York Times. In April each of them will have books published on Viet Nam. Browne's is "The New Face of War" (Bobbs-Merrill) and Halberstam's is "The Making of a Quagmire" (Random).

Racial relations remain topical. Quadrangle will publish "Integration at Ole Miss" by Russell H. Barrett; "Three Lives for Mississippi" (Trident) by William Bradford Huie is about the slayings at Philadelphia, Miss.; Robert Penn Warren has done some interviews and impressions under the title "Who Speaks For the Negro" (Random).

In the biography department one of the items will be Leonard Slater's "Aly" (Random) on the subject of Aly Khan, the Moslem playboy, and another will be "Dreiser" (Scribner) by W. A. Swanberg.

A musical autobiography will be Gregor Piatigorsky's "Cellist" (Doubleday) and a movie chronicle will be Josef von Sternberg's "Fun In a Chinese Laundry" (Macmillan).

BIOGRAPHIES

In May there will be a cluster of biographical sketches of two score world figures, lifted out of John Gunther's "Inside" books, published by Harper, and called "Procession."
