One Dead In Alabama Race Strife

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A young Negro shot in the stomach in a bloody night of racial violence at nearby Marion, Ala., died in a Selma hospital today following emergency surgery.

Jimmie Lee Jackson, 26, of Marion, who had shown signs of improvement since the shooting on the night of Feb. 18, took a turn for the worse late Thursday night and underwent a four-hour operation.

SHOT IN STOMACH A spokesman at Good Samaritan Hospital said death was attributed to massive infection. The hospital said an autopsy would be performed during the day.

Jackson was shot in the stomach after Negroes began a night street demonstration as part of their right-to-vote campaign in neighboring Perry County.

EIGHT BEATEN Eight persons were beaten, including three newsmen.

Jackson's death is the first resulting from the civil rights campaign which began in Alabama almost six weeks ago.

Jackson's death came as attorneys and civic leaders here, at a federal judge's request, sought ways and means of ironing out registration problems which would allow Negroes to register at a fast pace.

In a prelude to another "freedom day" planned by Negro leaders for next Monday, U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas of Mobile conferred with several lawyers, including those who represent the county.

DURING LULL Thomas issued an order Feb. 4 directing the three-man Board of Registrars to process more Negro voter applicants.

His visit to Selma came during a lull in street demonstrations by Negroes who concentrated on mobilizing for the Monday registration turnout and intensifying a boycott of white businesses.

Attorneys for Negro leaders had asked Thomas in a Wednesday petition to set aside an order by a state court judge in Selma banning demonstrations in the vicinity of the courthouse.

Mrs. Oswald Ends Studies

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Marina Oswald is expected to leave the University of Michigan today, having caused hardly a ripple on the campus scene.

The 23-year-old Russian-born widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, alleged assassin of President John F. Kennedy, has completed a course at the university's English-language institute.

She spent eight weeks here as a part-time coed learning the English language.

"She was no different from anybody else," one of Mrs. Oswald's fellow students said.

Prof. John R. Catford, institute director, said other students had taken little special notice of Mrs. Oswald.

An institute representative said Mrs. Oswald was expected to return to her Fort Worth, Tex., home.

AUDREY HEPBURN

JULIE ANDREWS

Stars Seethe Over 'Deal Audrey Got'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Because Audrey Hepburn was scratched before she got to the post, the Hollywood Oscar derby has the whole film colony gabbling today.

Miss Hepburn, star of "My Fair Lady" on the screen, didn't get nominated for the Motion Picture Academy awards. But Julie Andrews — who created Eliza Doolittle on Broadway — did.

Miss Andrews wasn't cast in the Warner Bros. film version. Audrey got the part. But Julie's selection as a best actress candidate resulted from "Mary Poppins," which led the pack with hers and 12 other nominations.

AGAINST WARNER The vote against Audrey — even Warner Bros. admits — is more a vote against Jack L. Warner. The studio boss passed up Julie for the movie although her price was $75,000 compared with Audrey's $1 million.

Then a few weeks ago, when Julie received the Hollywood Foreign Press award, Warner in a speech couldn't remember her name.

"I didn't mean it as a slight," explains Warner. "In this business you're lucky if you remember your own name half the time."

CRITICAL RAVES "I'm disappointed she didn't get nominated for an Oscar but I still say I'm right in casting her for the part," says Warner.

Audrey rated critical raves for her performance and the picture is headed for box-office records.

When the movie started, Miss Andrews never had made a picture. Walter Disney cast her as "Mary Poppins" and she emerged — a box-office movie star. But Disney, whose name alone sells all his pictures, can star an unknown movie name. Warner with an $18-million investment, couldn't afford such a gamble.

HATE "BOSSSES" The fact remains that it was resentment against Warner's choice that hurt Audrey. Most everybody in Hollywood felt that Julie should have gotten the role in the first place. Only actors vote on nominations, and actors, being emotional people, vote emotionally. Lots of actors hate bosses.

It's that simple. Julie says she owes all her present success to Warner.

"I felt momentary disappointment when I didn't get the movie but with the way things turned out I now say: 'Thank God.'"

"I could have been Eliza Doolittle the rest of my life — instead of Julie Andrews. I have Mr. Warner to thank for everything." She said this with a smile, but the remark was tinged with sarcasm.

United States Denies Interference In Viet

Red Chinese Blast Russian Leadership

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China let go with a barefisted attack on the new Soviet leadership today, 72 hours before the scheduled start of the Moscow Communist meeting.

The Chinese also reported that the Russians, Poles and Czechs were hitting back at them.

The Chinese accused the Soviet rulers of pinning medals on Premier Khrushchev before his ouster last October then hurrying to burn all 10 million words of his works a few days afterward.

GOING ON SALE "Khrushchev's forced exit from the world political stage marked the bankruptcy of Khrushchev revisionism," the Chinese said in the preface to three volumes of the ex-premier's works soon to be put on sale in China as horrible example of "rubbish."

"But the sinister spirit of Khrushchev has not departed," the preface added. "After all, there are larger or smaller groups of people in the world, in the Soviet Union and even here in China, who believe in Khrushchev revisionism."

The New China News Agency, in a dispatch from Moscow, said the Moscow television station has "openly recommended to its audience" the report made by M.A. Suslov to last February's Soviet Communist Central Committee meeting.

"SLANDERED PARTY" Suslov "made vile attacks and slanders against the Communist party of China which upholds Marxism-Leninism, against comrade Mao Tze-tung, the great leader of the Chinese people, against the Chinese Communist party proposal concerning the international Communist movement and against its general line for socialist construction," the agency story said.

The Polish criticism appeared in the recently-published Polish political year-book for 1964 and said:

SOW DISCORD "To serve its own big-power chauvinist policy, the leaders of the Chinese Communist party seek to sow discord between the national liberation movements and the Socialist camp and incite the underdeveloped countries to oppose the economically developed countries, both capitalist and Socialist."

The Czechs charged that the Albanian delegate to the United Nations, Halim Rudo, was instigated by China when he sought a U.S.-Soviet showdown in the General Assembly recently.

"It was designed to justify the need, as often stressed in Peking and Tirana, for the establishment of a new United Nations," said the Slovak paper Smena Feb. 23.

WAGE INCREASES About 950,000 workers in the auto, farm equipment and aerospace industries will receive a wage increase of one cent an hour under union contracts which link pay rates to the price index.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics issued, along with its regular monthly price report, an annual review of price trends which showed that consumer prices climbed 1.3 per cent in 1964.

It mentioned a possibility that heavy stockpiling of steel by industry, as a hedge against a nationwide strike, may for a short period push some segments of industry close to capacity operations.

Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner for prices, said living costs in February probably have been unchanged from January or perhaps one-tenth of one per cent higher. While costs of consumer services and rents apparently are rising, he said, there may be some discounting of new car prices and reductions in utility rates.

World Red Meet Draped By Lack Of Enthusiasm

By The Associated Press 25, a sorry spectacle of Moscow's leadership.

POLISH SKEPTICAL Even the Polish party has been expressing doubts of the wisdom of the meeting, which was supposed to prepare for a conference of all parties to study the rift and sort out conflicting views. Possibly there are doubts even in the Soviet party itself.

But Moscow has itself in a box. It has committed itself to the meeting and would be reluctant at this late date to back away. That would look like surrender to Peking. The Kremlin hardly wants to leave the impression that it bows to Chinese pressure.

The meeting comes at an awkward time for Moscow. The Viet Nam crisis has reached new heights of tension and the Chinese point an accusing finger at Moscow. Fearful of being involved in what may explode in Asia, the Russians have supported the idea of negotiations to remove the fuse. The Chinese, scenting Communist victory, show no taste for negotiations.

Living Costs Slip Upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose one-tenth of one per cent in January largely because of higher costs for housing, gasoline, and automobile insurance, the Labor Department reported today.

The increase was the fifth monthly rise in a row. It brought the consumer price index to 108.9 per cent of the 1957-59 average.

Language War Retreat Made

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri completed a politically embarrassing retreat today in India's explosive language dispute.

Shastri pledged in Parliament that his government will meet the demands of southern Indians for legal assurances that their minority languages and regional interests will be protected.

The prime minister had tried to spread the use of Hindi, a northern language, as the official language of multilingual India. He began backtracking earlier this month when southerners, who speak Tamil or Telugu, started agitating for the continued use of English as a second official language.

The agitation turned into rioting in which more than 60 persons were killed.

Retort Made To Russian Charges

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said tonight the war in Viet Nam will spread beyond its present boundaries unless the United States halts its "aggressive actions." He repeated a Soviet demand that U.S. troops be withdrawn to prepare the way for a settlement.

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States today curtly denied Soviet charges of military interference in South Viet Nam in a note dealing with protests over alleged U.S. harassment of Soviet ships.

The note, delivered to the Foreign Ministry by messenger, was in reply to a Soviet protest Monday.

The U.S. note said Soviet charges of violations by American aircraft and naval vessels of Soviet ships are under investigation, and promised to inform the Russians of the findings.

HARRASSMENT CHARGED The Soviet note also said its ships were being harassed in waters off Indochina and added that a dangerous situation has been created by U.S. "military interference" in the area.

The American note sharply retorted that the U.S. government "cannot agree with the contention in the reference note that 'military interference' of the United States of America in the affairs of South Viet Nam and Laos has created a dangerous hotbed of international tension."

RED AGGRESSION The U.S. note added: "The currently dangerous situation in Southeast Asia is the direct result of intervention and aggression launched by North Viet Nam against its neighbors."

"Should this aggression cease, the international tension mentioned in the note of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs would immediately cease to exist."

PROPOSED TALKS The sources said Thant submitted proposals two weeks ago to North Viet Nam, the United States, France, Britain and the Soviet Union for preliminary talks to set up another conference on Viet Nam like the 1954 Geneva conference which ended the French-Indochinese War.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference in Washington Thursday peace talks were out of the question until North Viet Nam shows it is ready to stop sending arms and reinforcements into South Viet Nam. He declined to say what kind of indication from the Communists would be accepted.

RED AGGRESSION "No political gimmick" can stop Red aggression against South Viet Nam, Rusk said.

So long as the Communists are determined on "continuing aggression," he continued, "that has to be met on the ground, factually, directly."

He reaffirmed the Johnson administration's determination to take whatever action it considers necessary to assist South Viet Nam.

Rusk's remarks were the first detailed exposition of U.S. policy on negotiations since the United States started bombing infiltration targets in North Viet Nam and since Britain, France, the Soviet Union and other countries began an active diplomatic search for a peaceful settlement lest the war be expanded rapidly.

Rusk said the United States intends to publish in a few days "a full and up-to-date summary of evidence" establishing North Viet Nam's "direct responsibility" for "a systematic campaign of terror and guerrilla action" in South Viet Nam.

He said the U.S. position on negotiations was given to Red China Wednesday at the meeting in Warsaw between U.S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot and Chinese envoy Wang Kuochuan.

Sukarno Open To Withdrawal TOKYO (AP) — The Indonesian ambassador to Japan said today President Sukarno will accept any recommendation on withdrawal of Indonesian guerrillas from Malaysian Borneo and a plebiscite there provided it comes from a "legitimately formed" committee of four African and Asian nations.

Communists Infiltrating

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Authoritative military sources said today North Viet Nam has infiltrated elements of a combat division via the oft-bombed trails of Laos into South Viet Nam's 1st Army Corps area, which fronts on the 17th Parallel.

Such a movement would follow up Communist infiltration which U.S. officials estimated last month had landed 10,000 fighting men — 90 per cent of North Vietnamese origin — to reinforce the Viet Cong.

The divisional command was reported set up in the Viet Cong held Do Xa area of Quang Ngai Province, about 50 miles south of Da Nang, a U.S.-Vietnamese airbase.

The move was made despite intensive U.S. aerial strikes at Communist-held trails through eastern Laos and further heightened a danger that South Viet Nam could be cut in two, sources at Da Nang said.

Rights Death Case Now Misdemeanor

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox ruled today 17 persons indicted in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers must stand trial on a misdemeanor charge of conspiring to violate the trio's civil rights.

Cox also said only Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, deputy Cecil Price and another police officer can be charged with actually violating the trio's rights through the use of their powers as law enforcement officers. All 17 had been charged on this count.

Storms Slam Eastern U. S.

Violent winter storms slammed across the eastern third of the nation today after leaving most of the central part of the country reeling from the worst weather in years.

Gale-force winds — 40 to 55 m.p.h. — lashed much of the northeastern quarter of the nation. Heavy rain, sleet or snow broke out Thursday along the entire East Coast, from New England to central Florida. The storm of blizzard intensity which struck the Midwest, hitting hardest in Illinois, southern Michigan and Indiana, ended but cold air spread across the snow-covered region.

Below zero temperatures were confined mostly to northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota, with readings in the teens in the north central region.

ICY BLAST

The Southeast, including Florida, got a blast of the icy air along with gusty winds up to 50 m.p.h. The freezing line extended into northern Florida.

Deaths attributed to the storms, termed by the Weather Bureau as the most intense of the winter for the entire eastern half of the nation, numbered at least 30, including 8 in the Chicago area and 5 in Kentucky. Many fatalities were attributed to over-exertion while shoveling snow, others from exposure and in traffic accidents on icy and snow-covered highways.

Heavy snow, four inches or more, was indicated along the south shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario and in Vermont, New Hampshire and northeastern New York. More than six inches of snow fell in northern New England Thursday as an intense storm carrying snow, rain and strong winds hit most of the area.

GIANT DRIFTS

Gale-force winds created giant drifts in the Midwest snow belt, isolating some communities, stranding thousands of motorists and closing schools and businesses. Property damage was extensive. Air, rail and highway travel was slowed.

Chicago and Detroit were the two largest cities getting a full blast of the bitter winter elements. The 11-inch snowfall in Detroit was the biggest in 35 years. Chicago dug out from a blanket of more than a foot in some areas.

As the storm swept into New England Thursday, the observatory at Mt. Washington, N.H., recorded wind gusts up to 133 m.p.h. Gusts were clocked up to 116 m.p.h. at Franconia Notch, N.H.

Kentucky and Tennessee, in the line of the heavy snow belt which covered Midwest areas, got the coldest weather of the season with temperatures edging to near zero in some areas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 16 below zero at International Falls, in northern Minnesota, to 62 at Key West, in southern Florida.

Mrs. Carrasco was born Oct. 14, 1893, in Santa Teresa, Mexico. She moved to Big Spring in 1941 from Presidio. She was a member of the Mission Bautista La Fe.

Four minor traffic collisions were reported on city streets Thursday.

An accident at 306 E. 2nd involved a parked car, owned by Gordon Myrick, 1405 Tucson, and a car which left the scene. Three collisions were reported, at 309 E. 2nd, with cars driven by Lloyd Davidson, Box 1231, and James Paul Washburn, 1111 Loyd Ave.; 505 Lamesa Drive, Viola E. # Junior Stock Show Plans Made Thursday

Big Spring Jaycees, Howard County farm agents, FFA leaders, vocational agriculture teachers, and 4-H Club adult committeemen met Thursday night to draft plans for the 28th annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Fair Stock Show which will open March 16. The meeting was in the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

The Jaycees will begin Monday lining up bidders for the auction sale which will officially close the stock show. A campaign to sign up members in the Howard County Junior Livestock Association is also underway.

Membership in the association is a method by which financing for the stock show in March and the pig show in October is handled. The two shows cost about $900 a year to stage. Approximately $650 of this total goes back to the exhibitors in prize money. The other costs involved are for the catalogues, the ribbons, trophies and the barbecue for the buyers, exhibitors and their families.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, said no charges in the show format are planned this year. One additional class of lamb competition — medium wool — will be listed. Exhibitors will pay a $2 fee for entering a lamb and $5 for the entry of a steer. All of this money goes back to the exhibitors as prize money.

McRae was arrested in Amarillo by local officers and returned here to face charges of burglary. The complaint naming him as the burglar in the two break-ins had been posted several days before he was arrested.

Sports Lovers To Part Company

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, will have to decide sometime in the future on just what division he can make of certain properties of a couple who Thursday filed a petition for divorce.

The petition, brought by the wife, asks that she be awarded possession of "three dogs, bow and arrow and fishing equipment." She asks that her husband, the defendant in the case, get "three guns, bow and arrow and rod and reel." No other property is set up in the petition as requiring action of the court when the divorce comes to trial.

U.S. Jets Pound Cong Strongholds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B-57 jet bombers continued hammering suspected Viet Cong strongpoints 40 miles southeast of Saigon today.

Air Force spokesmen said the twin-jet planes flew 32 sorties in the morning and 15 in the afternoon over jungled Phuoc Tuy Province. Each bomber from Bien Hoa Airbase carried 13 500-pound bombs on each sortie.

U.S. authorities reported that in heavy fighting in Binh Dinh Province during the past four days, the government casualty toll had risen to at least 160 — 43 killed, 51 wounded and 66 missing.

The heaviest engagements were due west of the mountain town of An Khe, along the main mountain road leading to Pielku. American casualties in the Binh Dinh fighting so far were recorded as one killed and 10 wounded. Six of the wounded were helicopter crewmen.

Fighting throughout the nation appeared in a temporary lull today, and no major engagements were reported anywhere. Viet Cong incidents during the past 24 hours were reported fewer than at any time in the past week.

Air force and naval units were alerted after another large Communist vessel was rumored approaching the coast from the South China Sea. Search units reportedly found nothing.

The bidding: North East South West 1♣ Pass 2NT Pass 6NT Pass Pass Pass. Opening lead: Deuce of ♣. East took advantage of the opportunity, presented by his partner's opening lead, to steer declarer into a fatal course that produced a stunning upset of a vulnerable slam contract. South's jump response of two no trump shows a balanced hand containing 13 to 15 high card points. North had 20 points himself and, since the partnership was assured of a minimum of 33 points, he left nothing further to chance and proceeded directly to six no trump. Inasmuch as the opposition had not shown any interest in the major suits, West chose to open his fourth best heart. This proved to be a lucky stab for the defense, since East had his entire strength concentrated in hearts. The latter reacted in a curious manner, however, for when the six of hearts was played from dummy, East put up the queen to drive out declarer's ace.

With the jack of hearts in dummy, by merely playing the ten, East can dislodge South's stopper and establish two tricks for himself. East was looking ahead, however, and had devised a scheme for painting a false picture of the distribution to the declarer which he hoped would lure the latter to his downfall.

Declarer could count 11 top tricks—four clubs, four diamonds, one heart and two spades. The normal play for the 12th is to finesse the jack of spades in the hope that West has the queen. The fall of the cards on the initial heart trick, however, had apparently eliminated the necessity for relying on the mere 50-50 odds of a spade finesse. If West has the heart ten, then a lead toward North's jack-nine can be relied on to safely establish declarer's 12th trick without any guesswork.

South promptly returned a heart; however, to his great mortification, East covered dummy's nine with the ten and then cashed the king for the setting trick. Observe that, if East plays the ten of hearts on the first trick to drive out declarer's ace, South is obliged to take the spade finesse for lack of any alternative plan.

2nd Charged In Malcolm X Assassination

NEW YORK (AP) — Police today charged a 26-year-old Negro they identified as a Black Muslim "enforcer" with homicide in the assassination of Malcolm X, black nationalist leader. Norman 3X Butler, of the Bronx, was the second to be charged by police since the slaying Sunday of Malcolm X, who bolted from the Black Muslims more than a year ago and formed a rival sect.

Butler, 39, was felled by 13 shots from three guns as he started to address a rally of 400 persons in a ballroom in the Washington Heights section of Manhattan.

Talmadge Hayer, 22, a Negro from Paterson, N.J., who was captured outside the ballroom after he had been shot in the leg by one of Malcolm's bodyguards, also has been charged with homicide. Police alleged he used a shotgun, one of three weapons employed in the deadly attack.

CLAMS UP Police said Hayer has been uncooperative and has refused to disclose whether he is a Black Muslim.

Butler's identification as a Black Muslim was the first official link of the Chicago-based sect with the slaying.

Asst. Chief Inspector Joseph L. Coyle said Butler was arrested at his residence, did not resist, "but he seemed surprised." Police believe five men were involved in the assassination. Their charge against Butler was that he acted in concert with Hayer.

Two other Negroes were questioned at the police station in Washington Heights during the night. Butler and two other Black Muslims were charged with felonious assault last Jan. 7 in the shooting of Benjamin Brown, 31, a Negro corrections officer. Police said Brown had broken from the Black Muslims and was setting up a mosque of his own in the Bronx.

FREED ON BAIL Butler had been free on $10,000 bail in the shooting of Brown, who was wounded in the chest outside a Bronx store.

Elijah Muhammad, 67, head of the Black Muslims who open their annual convention in Chicago today, said last Monday his organization had nothing to do with Malcolm's slaying.

But as the Chicago convention convened, a heavy police guard was on duty to prevent a rumored threat of reprisal from Malcolm's followers. In New York, a demand by a militant Negro group that merchants close their stores along Harlem's main street for 1 1/2 days as a tribute to Malcolm was rejected Thursday night by the Uptown Chamber of Commerce.

Funeral services for Malcolm, who headed the organization for Afro-American Unity and Muslim Mosque, Inc., are to be held Saturday. Some 14,000 persons have passed by his bier in less than three days.

"FALSE PORTRAYAL" In Washington, Carl Rowan, director of the United States Information Agency, who is a Negro, said some African newspapers were falsely portraying Malcolm X as a martyred integrationist hero. Rowan said Malcolm X was "an ex-convict, ex-dope peddler, who became a racial fanatic."

Rowan expressed amazement at some of the press accounts in Asia and Africa of the killing of Malcolm X. He said the USIA and its radio arm, the Voice of America, "did a zealous job" in telling the world of the slaying. "But it has not been enough to prevent a host of African reactions based on misinformation and misrepresentations of the issues involved," Rowan said in a speech Thursday before the Foreign Service Association.

Nothing Found In Texas Gold Hunt

SALADO, Tex. (AP)—Nobody has found anything but everybody taking part seems to think he's on the verge of instant wealth in the big Salado hunt for buried treasure.

It's a production assuming comic opera aspects every now and then. Men and machines are dynamiting and tunneling into the limestone cliffs near here in Central Texas. Leaders of the expedition say electronic devices indicate a huge store of gold and silver bars.

One man says he stumbled across the Spanish treasure in a cave several years ago, but he panicked while hunting a way out and didn't think to take any gold with him.

Then there's an individual called Pig Red, who gives all the reporters exclusive interviews. He's not one to confuse facts with a good story, and none of his stories is told the same way twice.

Pig said he's 59 but doesn't look it. He has a mostly red beard and he wears sun glasses and keeps a pistol in his belt. He guards the gate.

I talked with Pig after a fellow showed up Thursday to improve press relations. First thing he did was to announce that none of the assembled reporters could go to the cave, but somebody let them in about 5 p.m.

One of the treasure hunters decided earlier he sought to read and initial every news story going out of here. This proposal died for a lack of a second.

There's no way of telling when or if they're going to find the gold. Somebody said it'll probably take 40 working hours. Leaders of the expedition have said all along they're within feet of the treasure.

It rained and snowed Tuesday, delaying operations. They set off a dynamite blast Thursday, the first since last Saturday. It advanced a tunnel four feet deeper into the cliffs, and another blast was scheduled today.

Builders Look Toward Spring

NEW YORK (AP) — The construction industry is looking to the end of winter, to those who make the tax rulings and to the architects of the Great Society for clues as to what kind of year it can expect.

The start has been hesitant. Construction contract awards have trailed the year-ago figures. Housing has been the weak sister. But in January most other types of building also lost the pep they had shown a year ago.

Hopes for a turn-around soon are being built on several factors.

A seasonal pickup next month is expected by many in the industry. That won't be entirely because had weather this month hampered outdoor activity.

made well ahead. But even business planning has its seasons. And the arrival of spring may inspire some now hesitant corporate planners.

RULES RELAXATION The relaxation of rules for figuring depreciation for tax purposes, which is expected to save business an additional $700 million this year in federal income levies, also could help.

The bulk of depreciation allowances concerns equipment. And the machine makers expect to be the big beneficiaries of the Treasury's latest ruling. But plants also grow obsolete, and some of that $700 million might be earmarked for new ones. Or the savings prospects, now and in the future, might add just the needed lure to make spending for construction more attractive to corporate fiscal chiefs.

Vote-Strip Try Failed, Red Says

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko says the United States has failed in its fight to strip the Soviet Union and 12 other financially delinquent nations of their General Assembly votes.

Fedorenko said the penalty question became a dead issue when the U.S. delegation agreed to a roll call in the closing hours of the General Assembly without challenging the voting rights of the Soviet Union and the 12 others that are two years behind in their financial assessments.

When U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson agreed to the ballot which defeated Albania's attempt to force a showdown over peacekeeping dues, he said the move was procedural and did not affect the U.S. demand for voting penalties.

WOULD RECONSIDER Fedorenko paused when asked if the Soviet Union would have quit the U.N. — as threatened — if the voting penalty had been enforced.

"In such a case the Soviet Union would have to reconsider its attitude toward the United Nations organization," he said. "We must emphasize as strongly as possible that the attempts to go ahead with the course of provocations followed by the United States and some of its supporters pave the way to the breakup of the United Nations," he declared.

Fedorenko said, "If decisions regarding the establishment and financing of the U.N. forces are taken by the Security Council strictly in accordance with the Charter provisions, the Soviet Union will be ready to share in the expenditures" of U.N. peacekeeping forces.

The interview ranged over the merits and faults of the U.N., the question of Chinese representation and Indonesia's withdrawal from the world forum. He said: The Communist government is the "only legitimate and actually existing government of China" and the United States and its allies forced Indonesia's withdrawal by imposing upon the U.N. decisions that were against the interests of the anticolonial nations.

16th Century housewives trusted this mark

This is the mark of a salt processor in 1545. It not only reflected the quality of his merchandise but, as a personal symbol, it meant he stood behind the quality of the goods he sold. Today's manufacturers use a modern symbol: Brand Names. It tells the customer that the manufacturer's reputation is behind the product. He "goes on record" with his advertising. He sets a standard that he must live up to

(or his sales will suffer). Because he knows he can deliver what he says he can, he identifies himself with his products. ## A Devotional For The Day

God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind. (I Timothy 1:7)

PRAYER: Dear Father, grant that our lives may not be useless, but that we may have the joy of Thy power and radiate the warmth of Thy love to those around us. May we be a blessing to others this day. For Jesus' sake and to Thy glory. Amen.

Limits On Right To Pry

A Senate subcommittee, headed by Sen. Edward V. Long, Missouri Democrat, has begun an investigation of "alleged invasions of privacy by federal agencies." A sensational catalogue of "snooping" aids has been provided by witnesses.

Microphones which act as transmitters can be hidden in the olive of your martini glass, in a utilitarian stapling machine, or in a vase of roses. Sensitive parabolic reflectors can pick up ordinary conversation at a distance of 100 feet or more. A telephone attachment makes it possible to dial a number and listen to the conversation in the room being called, even if the receiver is on the hook.

These and other devices give an insight into techniques available for secret surveillance of enemy agents or just plain citizens. It is a fascinating journey into the land of cloak and dagger.

Yet the techniques and the trappings of Big Brother who may be listening must not be permitted to divert attention from the central problem which can be expressed by this question: What rights of privacy may the individual have?

It is not an easy question to answer. There are no rights of privacy for an enemy agent. After this has been said, however, the going becomes a bit more difficult. What rights of privacy do criminals have? Political activities? Labor union leaders? Corporation officials? Politicians? Federal and state employees? Teachers?

Unfortunately, only a few court decisions have served to illuminate a vast twilight area. Evidence obtained by the use of wiretaps and other clandestine devices may not be admitted in federal courts, although it may be used in some state courts. Yet evidence obtained by wiretaps may provide leads to the successful prosecution of others, or incriminate others in one form or another.

Some have asked if it is possible to set limits on the need or the right of government to obtain information on individuals. Surely there must be, even with the specter of security and loyalty, else we set the stage for Big Brother to listen in on our innermost secrets without restraint.

Machine Over Man Is Delayed

Connecticut's state legislature has strained mightily and avoided the indignity of confessing its inferiority to a machine. Members finally agreed on a system of legislative reapportionment under a federal court order which prescribed redistricting by computer if the legislature failed to perform the job.

Dr. Morris Davis, director of the Yale University Computer Center at New Haven, was appointed as a special master to prepare a standby apportionment plan. He seemed to be a bit disappointed when he was relieved of his duties by a court memorandum.

Dr. Davis said he had become so intrigued by "mathematical reapportionment" uncovered in his computer work on reapportionment that he and his staff were going to complete the project anyway.

For their part, residents of Connecticut were permitted a sigh of relief that the ultimate triumph of the machine over man has suffered at least a slight delay.

Acting From Weakness—

WASHINGTON — The test of America's courage is at hand. Who speaks for the United States today — the "isolationists" who want to pull out of Viet Nam, or the advocates of a firm policy even if it involves further American commitments in Southeast Asia?

Those who want to draw back and get the United States to concentrate on domestic affairs do not feel that the label "isolationist" fits them, but neither do those who favor a firm policy care to be called "war hawks."

SEN. THOMAS J. DODD, Democrat of Connecticut, has just made in the Senate a lengthy speech which points out the dangers of the talk of withdrawal from Viet Nam and especially of the proposals that peace negotiations be begun at this time — a sign of fear and weakness.

"The situation in Viet Nam today," said Senator Dodd, "bears many resemblances to the situation just before Munich. Chamberlain wanted peace. Churchill wanted peace. Churchill failed to draw the line against Hitler at an early stage, it would be compelled to draw the line under much more difficult circumstances at a later date."

"CHAMBERLAIN held that a confrontation with Hitler might result in war, and that the interests of peace demanded some concessions to Hitler. Czechoslovakia, he said, was a faraway land about which we knew very little. Chamberlain held that a durable agreement could be negotiated with Hitler that would guarantee 'peace in our time.'"

"Churchill held that the appeasement of a compulsive aggressor simply whetted his appetite for further expansion and made war more likely. Chamberlain's policy won out, because nobody wanted war."

"Churchill remained a voice crying in the wilderness. But who was right — Churchill or Chamberlain? Who was the true man of peace?"

MANY SENATORS have been participating in the debate about Viet Nam, and Senator Dodd is fearful that the Communists may get the wrong impression of what is being said on the floor of the Senate as indicating a weakness and a tendency to run away from its responsibilities. He said:

"I disagree strongly with my colleagues who have spoken up to urge negotiations. But if there is any way in which my voice could reach to Peking and to Moscow, I would warn the Communist leaders that they should not construe the debate that is now taking place in this chamber as a sign of weakness; it is, on the contrary, a testimony to our strength."

THE COMMUNISTS are always ready to follow up any sign of weakness on the Western side. They are convinced that the United States will not use nuclear weapons, so it is a big land operation which the Russians and the Red Chinese visualize as a possibility and which they have been threatening. They see victory through such an operation in Viet Nam itself. They cannot, however, assume that the United States would be content to use just ground forces in Southeast Asia if a war did come. It is the prospect of major operations along the coast of Red China with air and naval expeditions from Formosa, Okinawa, the Philippines, and possibly Australia which may give pause to the Russians and the Chinese.

BUT NOBODY in official circles really believes that there will be any big war. The biggest danger might come if America left Southeast Asia to be overrun by the Communists — a development which could also frighten the "captive" countries of the Eastern bloc in Europe and discourage West Germany about its chances of ever attaining a reunification with East Germany.

It is the possibility of a chain reaction from a virtual surrender which is causing apprehension now.

Our family would like to pray together, but we don't know how to go about it. Can you help us?

R. J. H.

Pick a time of day when the family is all together — at breakfast, perhaps, or lunch or supper, or all three. If the kiddies are present, keep Bible reading short, and the prayers, too. Hold them at a level the children enjoy and understand. If you are musical, and have a piano you might sing a hymn. Sentence prayers are good, or the husband as head of the household could lead for all. Worship between husband and wife would be longer. It should include prayer about personal and family problems and it is good if both pray. Scripture reading could take various forms: A chapter a day, reading verses aloud; or go around the room with each member of the family quoting a verse from memory.

A well known marriage counselor told me once that in all his years of experience he had never met a family that had gone on the rocks that had prayed together daily.

No End To Viet War In Sight

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a big, well-lighted room in the State Department, packed with newsmen, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk explained on what conditions this country would consider negotiating with the Communists on ending the war in Viet Nam.

But when it was all over, after 40 minutes of questions by newsmen and answers by the unruffled Rusk, the net result was simple: No end to the war in sight. And just a short time before, over at the White House, President Johnson's press secretary, George E. Reedy, had told newsmen about the same thing.

There was nothing casual about Rusk's meeting with the press. Through him the Johnson administration was stating its position for everyone to hear, inside and outside the United States, for Johnson recently had been under pressure from two directions.

AT HOME there were suggestions he explain to the people the American position and problems in Viet Nam. Overseas, a number of countries had pressed for negotiations to end the war. And this week U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, suggested the United States get out of Viet Nam after negotiations to save face.

It was no wonder, in view of all this, that Rusk wanted to be sure he said only what he wanted to say after apparently a lot of thought by the administration. So he began reading from a prepared text on the American position before permitting newsmen to question him.

WHEN THEY began they poked and tried to pin him down tighter but through all his answers he stuck to what he had read. This didn't make for an exciting news conference and a multitude of ideas but Rusk's purpose was to get one idea across and that's what he stayed with.

What he said, when looked at one way, seemed solid and definite but very flexible, perhaps, when examined from another direction. Thus the American government left itself room to maneuver if a point is reached where the Communists show signs of wanting to talk business.

The key phrase in all he read and said was this: "What is still missing (before any negotiations could be considered) is any indication that Hanoi (in North Viet Nam) is prepared to stop doing what it is doing against its neighbors. The absence of this crucial element affects the current discussion of negotiations."

That seems definite and solid. But, then again, just what is an "indication" that the North Vietnamese are willing to end the war? This is where the flexibility seems to be in what Rusk said, for in the end the United States would have to decide whether anything the Reds did was an indication.

OVER AT the White House Reedy had stated Johnson's position that the war would end if the Reds began living up to the 1954 Geneva conference agreement not to interfere in South Viet Nam. Since they've given no signs of living up to it, the United States is not willing to pull out. So there is no basis for negotiating now.

Growing Up, Growing Away

NEW YORK (AP) — Some days I feel like putting an ad in the paper reading: "Lost, one baby girl. Blue eyes, brown hair, slightly pudgy. Reward to finder. Please return."

Actually, the little girl, my daughter, Tracy Ann, isn't really lost. Like most girls going on 12, she is simply growing up.

I am afraid that this also means she is growing away. It confirms my theory that children begin to go downhill the day you no longer have to hold them on your shoulder and work a burp out of them.

EACH MONTH after that they seem to need you less and less. Each year they push away your helping hands more often in a fierce quest to be free and independent.

In time the bewildered parent begins to feel like he has 10 thumbs and is totally useless. That's the way I feel now. "Don't worry about it," says my wife, Frances, placidly. "Your daughter is just going through a stage. She'll get over it — and so will you."

Well, I hope so. But it seems to me that children are always going through a stage. "I don't remember going through all those stages when I was a kid," I tell my wife.

"YOU DIDN'T, Rover," she says. "You never got out of the first stage."

Be that as it may, I find communication with my little heifer rather puzzling. We used to know each other real well; now I find her frighteningly strange in many ways. I'm about the most mixed-up father in our block.

As an infant, Tracy Ann loved bacon and wouldn't eat spinach. Now she is trying to subsist on salads and candy bars.

She used to wear her long hair combed straight back. Now she wants half of it to flop down over one eye like Veronica Lake.

On some Saturday mornings she wants to clean up the apartment all by herself. At other times, if she is asked to fetch something from the kitchen, she storms, "I'm nothing but a slave around here."

And friends aren't much help. "You think you're confused now," they said. "Wait until she gets to be a teenager."

Unightly Blood Vessels Can Be Treated

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: The blood vessels on the top of my nose are clearly visible and thus to a degree disfiguring. I have heard that in time more of them will show, and the size and shape of the nose will be affected. Is this true?

I am a man of 42. The rest of my face is pink but without visible blood vessels.—J.O.N.

Excessive exposure to sun and wind can cause this. (Far more rarely, so can X-rays or other sources of radiation.)

A condition called rosacea (a tendency of the skin to flush easily) is another cause. Or these prominent blood vessels can occur in individuals with an unstable vasomotor nervous system—that is, the involuntary portion of the nervous system which controls the tone of the capillaries, or very small blood vessels, close to the skin surface.

The appearance of these vessels is often associated with excessive use of alcohol. What is not well known is that excessive tea or coffee can have the same consequences at times.

I strongly doubt that you need fear any deformity of the nose, but I suggest that you see a skin specialist for specific treatment.

Without treatment, it is entirely probable that the condition will become more prominent.

Dear Dr. Molner: When I was younger it was stylish to wear shoes without socks or stockings. As a result the shoes rubbed my heels and I now have large, protruding calluses. They are not painful, but unsightly. Can I get rid of them? Is it possible that the bone has become enlarged with calcium deposits?—MISS M.L.

A callus is a thickening of the skin. If you take a good look, you can quickly decide whether you have calluses or instead a thickening of the bones. If your shoes still rub, or exert any pressure, at the same spots you can't expect the calluses to disappear. They won't.

Lotions to soften the skin may help. You can try gentle, repeated rubbing with pumice to wear away the thickened skin. Otherwise, if this is really important, see a podiatrist (foot specialist). Whether corns, calluses of the feet, or calluses of the hands, pressure and irritation cause them; they won't go away unless the pressure is eliminated.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, requesting a copy of the booklet, "How To Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Last Of The Land Grants

Southwest of Albuquerque, N. M., is the site of a 17th century Spanish land grant which has recently been the subject of a federal court trial.

In the 17th century Spain gave acres in all of the grants made at that time in the Southwest.

THE SITE includes a historic town, Atrisco, and is about two-thirds as large as the state of Rhode Island.

Partly undeveloped desert, the land was described by a traveler in the early years of Southwestern exploration as "the best site for grazing" sheep in the area which today composes New Mexico.

THE TOWN of Atrisco grant is said to be the last remaining Spanish land grant, and as such is apparently the final remaining evidence of private ownership which was originated by Spain in the southwestern United States. As such, it marks the end of a 200-year period in which the decree of the Spanish crown held good even into the 20th century.

The land grants were handed out by decree at the time Spain was colonizing the area which is today New Mexico and Arizona. Later Mexico ratified the grants, and then in 1848, with the signing of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, the United States supported them.

THE ATRISCO grant was designated by the Spanish crown in 1706 as a "common grazing land for the area's settlers."

For the past 60 years the remaining Spanish grants have reportedly involved more than two million acres, many times requiring action in federal courts to settle questions of ownership and sale. The Atrisco grant is today said to be involved with 1,700 heirs.

OFFERS AS HIGH as $16,000,000 have been made for the land in the Atrisco grant.

And while some of the land grants have been sold, others have been returned to Indians in New Mexico and Arizona, and this seems to mark a 200-year circle for the lands — from the hands of the Indians centuries ago to the ownership decreed by the Spanish crown, and finally then today back to the hands of the heirs of those Indians.

Sweden — Country Of Paradoxes

STOCKHOLM — Sweden is a prosperous, far-seeing, humane society — with juvenile delinquency as bad as any in the United States.

It is a place of wildly proliferating glass and metal skyscrapers — where newswyds can wait a decade for an apartment.

It is a country with an entrenched Social Democratic government — which cherishes private enterprise.

IT IS A place where the government guarantees every citizen every medical need from conception to death — and a patient can wait two years for a gall bladder operation.

It is an economy of full employment — and high prices.

A country of cradle-to-grave security — where one out of every three hospital patients is treated for ailments associated with stress.

SWEDEN IS a country with as many contradictions and paradoxes as any on earth. The most objective of visitors can find anything he wants here: Statistics that show a high suicide rate, and other statistics that apparently prove it has nothing to do with the country's far-out welfare statism; high taxes, and a high degree of acceptance of these things all are to the story of Sweden, they very likely miss the real essence of the country. The visitor, preoccupied with the dry bones of economics, social welfare and a unique labor-management alliance, stands in danger of losing the real story — the story of Sweden as one of the most creative societies in this or any other historical epoch.

EXAMPLES: In all recorded history mankind has discovered 103 chemical elements, and fully a quarter of these have been discovered by Swedes. Since they are a nation of only 7.6 million this is plainly an accomplishment far out of proportion to their numbers. They are, in the phrase of Kathleen Nott, a British critic and expert on Swedish literature, a people of "anticipatory genius."

But they go far beyond the physical sciences, and far beyond their deserved name for producing fine machinery, great ships and beautiful crystal. They have an individual appreciation of beauty that must surely equal that of Renaissance Florence.

Sweden is a highly literate country as well as being an artistic one. Her per capita consumption of newspaper is among the highest in the world, and is much higher than the United States'. Few worthwhile books in English are not speedily translated into Swedish.

EVEN IN foreign policy Sweden is determined to hew new paths. She is neutral, with one of Europe's best air forces, universal military service, and a highly professional navy. Her neutrality, which has kept her out of NATO, is by no means the surly, disapproving sort that is found among Afro-Asian nations. When Nikita Khrushchev visited Sweden early in 1964 he was met with a wintry, aloof reception, in which practically every Swede joined in showing studied indifference to the brash Soviet visitor.

Of all the ideals the Swedes are dedicated to, none is more firmly entrenched in the national character than regard for human dignity, and of all the misapprehensions about them none distresses them more than the one that holds they are a collectivist society. They are as ruggedly individualistic as any people on earth, including the Americans they admire so extravagantly.

The Symington Syndrome

WASHINGTON — One reason why political majorities in Congress mean so little is that individualism on Capitol Hill counts for so much. Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri is a member of the heavy Democratic majority, a powerful committeeman and party leader, but these attributes don't begin to describe the part of him that is individualistic.

ON TOP OF the lofty shoulders is a cerebral computer which makes for a zip system of sorting out ideas. And behind one of the most courtly manners in the Senate is an energetic thrust of mind that often carries him into disagreement with the administration and sometimes out of the sluggish mainstream of orthodox thinking.

What other member of the Armed Services Committee would like to bring most of the five U.S. Divisions and the million American troops and dependents home from Europe? Symington says that this commitment to NATO could be cut down "to practically nothing." He regards the military European as a thriving business behind the Iron Curtain. He thinks it's nonsense to be so impractical as to pass up this — and every other — opportunity to improve our balance of payment deficit.

What other business-oriented senator and economic conservative would say he doesn't "worry much" over the multibillion dollar national debt? Symington points to an office wall photograph of himself pulling the switch which opened Table Rock Dam and Reservoir in Missouri, June, 1959. He says: "That dam is part of the national debt. So is the Federal Highway System, and so is the Defense budget."

BUT THE American dollars which flow out of the country, rather than into internal improvements, are a very different matter. Symington notes that the cumulative deficit between 1947-48 went to $18.7 billion and has pulled our gold reserve down to a dangerous low of $15.2 billion. Our losses to foreigners, he has said in a Senate speech, mean "we are gradually losing freedom of action... fast becoming a debtor nation; and our creditors, mostly in Western Europe, could be acquiring the influence, if not the power, of dictation over us."

If Symington is right, no nation can win a missile war, but we can be defeated in an economic war. And, ironically, we can be defeated by our own Allies.

A Hazard

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Remember the scooters that were made from old roller skate wheels and soap crates?

One of their descendants—the skate board—is becoming a major safety hazard on Chattanooga streets.

Police Traffic Division Chief Larry Boyd says there have been several near-accidents caused by children using the toys in the streets.

"They're just like the old scooters, but without handlebars. The youngsters push off with one foot, then ride the small board as if they were skimming over breakers at the seashore."

Chief Boyd says use of the boards violates a city code which says, "No person shall go upon any roadway on roller skates or riding by means of any coaster toy vehicle or similar device, except while crossing a street on a crosswalk."

What other business-oriented senator and economic conservative would say he doesn't "worry much" over the multibillion dollar national debt? ## Bell Tolls

DELTONA, Fla. (AP) — A bell cast in 1859 is coming out of retirement for the second time.

The bell, manufactured in West Troy, N.Y., clanged for 25 years on a railroad locomotive plying between New York and Florida. Retired from this service, it called pupils to class at a one-room schoolhouse near Piercon, Fla., for half a century.

With the passing of the one-room schoolhouse era the bell fell silent for 30 years. Now it has been dusted off and installed in a Deltona building which will be used as an adult education center.

Uruguayans Gravitate To Public Payroll

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — They tell a story here of the two African lions that came to Uruguay to make a living. One went into the country while the other stayed in Montevideo, the capital. Meeting a year later, the bedraggled, scrawny country lion complained of rural life and asked: "How do you manage to look so healthy and well fed?"

"It's this way," the robust city lion replied. "I park myself by the ministries and eat one or two employes a day. There are so many no one misses them."

STATE OF PAYROLL
The fable is intended to illustrate the state of the public payroll in South America's smallest country where seven out of every 100 persons — in a population of 2.6 million — work for the government. Another representative chunk of the population, 267,137 persons, live off government retirement checks.

The Uruguayans are a highly literate people who seem to have been invented expressly for this sort of thing.

The prevailing mood in Montevideo exudes individuality. Tucked into a tiny nook between two influential neighbors, Uruguay appears to have borrowed a dash of stiff Argentine conventionalism and a touch of Brazilian informality to shape a character all its own.

The country's loyalties are sharply divided between two soccer teams, Nacional and Penarol, and two political parties.

IN POWER

The Blanco party has been in power since 1959, the year they broke the nearly century-old hold on government by the Colorado party. The parties are splintered internally into numerous shades of thinking, ranging from conservative to nationalist and leftist. But the main two divisions remain unalterable by tradition. In Uruguay one is born into a party and, more often than not, stays there.

This is why the Communists, who have freedom of action, seem to be riding a political treadmill. They have one member in the Senate and three in the Chamber of Deputies. Outside their own circle and their chorus among university Marxists, they hardly arouse any attention.

BEAR LOAD

There's about as much disinterest in the inner workings of the social welfare machinery, except among businessmen who bear the financial load and some politicians who either thrive on its vote-producing potential or regard its lasting qualities with misgivings.

The social structure is nourished mainly by heavy import and-export taxes and myriad other indirect and direct levies. Employee and employer also share the load, contributing minimums of 18 and 25.5 per cent of gross salary, respectively, to the retirement program.

The system's capacity is thus limited by the acquisitive power of a small, purely agricultural economy with bleak hopes of expanding-into industry. Recurring budget deficits indicate it may be near the saturation point—if not beyond it.

The state provides various kinds of workers' compensations, free medical care for the under-privileged, low-rent housing, free education all the way through university and a retirement scheme that allows people to quit working at full salary as early as 50.

POINT SYSTEM

Retirement is based on a point system with 90 required for the maximum full salary pension. Normally, 30 years' service plus age 60 add up to the top points. However, these also can be achieved through various age, service and wage combinations so that some persons retire with full pay at 50. The size of the pension check is based on the average wage the last five years of employment.

The retirement ceiling has been increased to about $520 monthly. Congressmen made themselves eligible for the minimum pension after only one term (4 years in office).

Trying to collect the pension is another matter.

"The retirement system has become a vote factory," said one businessman. "About the only way to get quick action on a retirement pension application is to approach a leading politician and pledge your vote in return for his help."

DEAR ABBY Prayers Will Continue

DEAR ABBY: I was so distressed when the Supreme Court ruled that there shall be no more prayers in the public schools. I certainly hope that in time enough people will complain so that they will reconsider and go back to the old way. Please print this. It might stir up something. FOR PRAYER DEAR FOR: Don't worry. As long as there are examinations in school, the kids will continue to pray.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago a lady wrote you that a friend of hers pointed out to her that she was breaking etiquette by going under the name of Mrs. John Smith after her husband had died. This friend claimed that, since there was no longer a John Smith, neither was there a Mrs. John Smith, and she could call herself Mrs. Geraldine Smith. You replied: "Dear Mrs. Smith: Your friend is wrong. When you took the name of Mrs. John Smith, you took it for as long as you lived (unless you took another husband), not for as long as HE lived."

A dear relative of mine sent me this article, and it was such a comfort to me. After I became a widow, seeing letters addressed to Mrs. Mary Jones made me feel so alone. Won't you please put it in your column again? I'm sure other widows feel the same as I, and I'm sure there are still many who do not know the proper way to address a letter to a widow. God bless you.

GRATEFUL IN IOWA

DEAR ABBY: My problem is about to drive me out of my mind. My husband and I have lived in his parents' home (if you want to call it that) ever since we were married nine years ago. I am 29 and my husband is 33, and we have 3 children. There is no running water in this place, and not even a bathroom. The walls need painting and the place is falling apart. We aren't nearly as poor as we look, but my husband and his people like it this way. I had a nervous breakdown in 1962, and have been on tranquilizers for two years. I talk to myself all day and cry all night. How can I quit living without killing myself? It's against my religion. GOT THE BLUES

DEAR GOT: Recruit your physician, your clergyman and trustworthy friends in a campaign to persuade your husband to MOVE. If none of this succeeds and you cannot reconcile yourself to what sounds like a sordid environment, the next move should be yours.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lawyer Asks To Move Case

DALLAS (AP) — A former Fort Worth lawyer indicted on charges of submitting false statements to the Federal Housing Administration has asked a transfer of the case to New Jersey.

Stuart Gottlieb, who had been counsel for the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, allegedly made the false statements to obtain two loans. He now lives in New Jersey.

Gottlieb indicated he would plead guilty in a legal document filed with the federal court clerk. The indictment charges he misrepresented other debts and what he intended to do with two loans on a house he was buying in Fort Worth.

The maximum penalty under each of two counts is a fine of $5,000 and two years in prison.

Trial Coverage Conflict Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., announced today the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee is making a study of possible conflicts between the guarantees of free press and fair trial.

Ervin, chairman of the subcommittee, said it plans to conduct hearings later and consider the need for legislation.

Basically, the question is whether restrictions should be placed on what the press and broadcasters can say about criminal cases.

The general subject is one that has increasingly engaged the attention of the courts, bar associations and the Press. Several newspaper groups have established committees to study it.

Noting this, Ervin said in a statement that what had long been a matter of concern "has become a full blown controversy since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy."

Beginner In Congress Meets King Seniority

WASHINGTON (AP) — For exactly half his life, Andy Jacobs Jr., had dreamed of becoming a congressman.

"Ever since I was 16," he said earnestly, "when I came here to see my dad sworn in, I've never had any interest in any other position."

He campaigned long and tenaciously and last November won a victory so narrow it wasn't assured until the absentee ballots were counted. And when the 89th Congress convened last month he was eager to savor the invigorating aroma of political success.

A LETDOWN

Jacobs didn't complain, but his great moment must have been a letdown. With the House so crowded he couldn't find a seat, he stood inconspicuously at the rear, his back to the wall, raised his right hand and was sworn in with the rest.

Along with 434 other House members, and 100 senators, Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., was entitled to the privileges and frustrations of that venerable, admirable, perplexing, laughable, indolent, hard-working institution — the U.S. Congress.

IS SYMBOLIC

Beginning his career at the back of the House was both appropriate and symbolic.

Nowhere is the youth of America so fondly praised and so thoroughly ignored as in Congress.

If Jacobs wants to become a power, he must wait and wait until seniority runs its inexorable course. Twenty-five years from now, if congressmen die, become discouraged or are defeated on schedule, and Jacobs is still there, he might become an important committee chairman.

If he should decide to try for the Senate, and should be successful, the picture could be brighter but not necessarily dazzling.

Power accumulates slowly there, too, although the smaller enrollment and less stringent rules give individual senators more chance to make a name for themselves.

No politician is daunted by this prospect. Eight new senators and 91 new House members showed up for this Congress, an unusually large starting class. Congress is so large and its machinery so complex that it defies easy comprehension.

It's much simpler to criticize or laugh at Congress, and this has been going on ever since the nation was formed.

"The business of Congress is dullness, flatness and insipidity itself," So wrote John Adams to his wife, Abigail, in 1794, when Congress was fresh and new.

Descendant Of Kaiser In Army

CATTERICK, England (AP) — Prince Nicholas of Prussia, great-grandson of the last German kaiser, has joined the British army.

He is training with 30 other recruits in the Queen's Own Hussars at the northern army base of Catterick. The prince, 18, is the son of Prince Frederick of Prussia, who left Germany in 1937 and became a British citizen 10 years later.

Bishop Lights Up New Time-Bomb

By GODFREY ANDERSON
LONDON (AP) — Dr. John Robinson, 45, Suffragan Bishop of Woolwich—the man already denounced by some as an atheist and heretic—is setting a new time-bomb to shake up the ancient Church of England.

His first best-seller, "Honest to God", brought public rebuke from the Archbishop of Canterbury and caused the Church Times to ask if he should remain a bishop at all. His new book, "The New Reformation?" may shake the complacent when it appears in mid-March.

In the first book he questioned the old conception of God "up there in the sky" and suggested a new theology was needed. This time he urges the need for the Church to see itself in the light of the situation it is facing in a modern world.

He sees the Church today as being more concerned with buildings than souls. It is stifled in administration, he contends. "The big thing facing all the churches" he says, "is how they can make any impact in the wilderness of a de-christianized world. At least we are now near the death of organized Christianity in its present form, so perhaps we are nearer the Resurrection too."

"An American coming over here thinks that things have almost collapsed, though I don't read it in the same way," he told The Associated Press. "America is different. These churchgoing is still the general practice. It constantly surprises me whenever I go there."

"But secularization is on the way. A good deal of what has hit Europe must hit America too in course."

"We must strip off all the surplus fat," Robinson says. "The task of the Church is to concern itself less with buildings and institutions and work more in terms of really being the leaven, the salt, inside secular structures."

"More should be done through the church taking shape around the greatest areas of human need.

MARTIN N. HEAFER

Christian Science Lecture Tonight

"The Great Awakener" is the title of a public lecture this evening at 8 o'clock in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

Martin N. Heaffer is the speaker. His lecture will explore the element of "spiritual perception," its relation to Christianity and how it operates in human thinking and affects human life.

Sponsor of the event is the Christian Science Society. Heaffer withdrew from a business management position in 1957 to become a recognized practitioner of Christian Science healing in Houston. He majored in mathematics at Southern Methodist University, served in the United States Army Air Corps during World War II, and is currently on an extended tour as a member of the board of lecturers of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. . .

casional for collective worship in a church. As the Church goes more and more into the real front line, it is the latter rather than the vicar in his pulpit on Sunday who must bear the brunt of battle."

In October 1960 came Robinson's much-publicized appearance as a witness in the old Bailey Criminal Court to defend the sale in Britain of D. H. Lawrence's novel "Lady Chatterley's Lover," which the police judged obscene.

But the biggest row came with publication of "Honest to God." In it he argued that, to 20th century thinking, the idea of God as the old man in the sky was as fanciful as the man in the moon.

"I tried simply to be honest about what God means to me—in the second half of the 20th century," he explained.

Even now — more than two years later — the storm is not stilled. Recently there have been suggestions that the Bishop of Woolwich should be removed from his see. But the fact is that no legal machinery exists for achieving that end.

LOTTIE BETH HOBBS

Speaker To Young Girls

Lottie Beth Hobbs, Fort Worth, will speak to the young girls and the women of the Churches of Christ of Big Spring, Monday and Tuesday.

Perry B. Cotham, minister of the Fourteenth and Main Street Church of Christ, said the services would be held at his church.

"The speaker is a noted author and lecturer," he said. "Her books, 'You Can Be Beautiful with the Beauty of Holiness,' and 'Daughters of Eve,' have been widely used among churches in women's study groups. She is now writing a new book, 'Out of This World,' soon to be released."

"She has spoken to many groups of women over a wide area during the past few years," Cotham said. "Her services are in demand and we feel fortunate in being able to bring her to Big Spring. We are expecting large crowds to hear her."

Talks to the junior and senior high school girls will be at 4 p.m. on the theme, "This Is Your Life." The address to women will be at 7:30 p.m. on the topic of "Christian Women in a Changing World." A special service is planned for 10 a.m. Tuesday, and will be followed by a covered dish luncheon at noon. All women of the area are invited to attend the services, Cotham said.

BRIEFS Bible Club Meets Monday

Some 25 members of the Big Spring High School Bible Club held a monthly meeting in the high school cafeteria Monday night, with a business meeting and film. Mrs. J. O. Johansen is teacher of the Bible class.

Sig Rogers, who has been making trips below the Mexican border for several years to aid in mission work, brought a color film on the work. The film was made during his several trips.

Mel Daves presented the business matters to the club; Wayne Kennedy gave the invocation; Bryan Fitzhugh and James Johnson took pictures of the group, and Jerry Parchmon was in charge of refreshments.

FORGIVENESS-IMPORTANT

Christian forgiveness is the subject in the International Sunday school lesson for Feb. 28. The lesson text, found in Matthew 18:15-17, 21-25, emphasizes the importance of getting misunderstandings straightened out.

The servant, who was forgiven by his master for a debt he could not pay, immediately went out and had another man, who was in debt to him, thrown in jail. As a result the master delivered the unreasonable servant to jail until his debt was paid.

The lesson shows that, because Christ died, a just God can forgive the sins of man without violating either His justice or His love. But God insists that man also be forgiving where another has wronged him and then asks for forgiveness.

Jesus showed that the responsibility rests on the injured party to begin making things right through effort, patience, and persistent good will. Peter, his disciple, wanted to limit forgiveness, but Jesus demonstrated that the only limit to forgiveness is the unwillingness of the erring person to receive it.

Church Approves Property Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Churches owning businesses not exclusively devoted to religious purposes "ought to be subject to tax laws," the American Lutheran Church declared at its convention here.

It said churches also should be willing to accept "equitable taxation" of parsonages and other dwellings owned by church bodies in which staff members reside.

Gospel Meetings Are Scheduled

C. D. Davis of Kingsville will preach at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. each week day March 3-12 in gospel meetings at the Birdwell Lane Church of Christ. Everyone is invited to attend the services.

No. 1 is a series.

Who? Me?
Who? Me—join a church! Now look, fella; I'm a law-abiding citizen. I help with the Red Cross, the cancer and heart fund drives. My kids are all in school. I keep my bills paid and don't beat my wife. Now, what do I need from the church? I am just as good as those pious church-goers—maybe better. Besides I don't have time to waste long hours each week just listening to dry sermons.

All right. So you're perfectly satisfied with things as they are. But here you ever thought that perhaps you were shortchanging yourself and your family?

How will you feel when you've come to the end of your allotted years? Will you be content with that brief span and its multi-mixed blessings? Or will you realize too late that there is much more to living than 70 years of happenstance—an eternity of real living, filled with all the things you dreamed of here but never had.

You'll miss that, because you didn't think Christ's offer was worth enough to reach out for. And what's more, because of your neglect, your family may miss it too. How about that? Isn't it worth looking into? Maybe there is something more you could get out of life—something you've been missing. The church can show you how to get it. Why not find out?

BEYOND THE WORLD

Strange sight? Not really! We're getting used to seeing pictures of our own earth. We're getting used to the concept of a universe instead of a world. We can believe that the moon's soon to become a landing place.

Does this familiarity with space — does our thrust into the physical unknown — make the basic facts of life and death any simpler to us? Certainly not! Man is in a peculiar position, today. The more he explores, the more vast he finds what lies ahead of him. The more he learns, the more he discovers how infinitely much there is to know.

More than ever before, man realizes how great the hand of God has been in fashioning this world, this universe, we live in. That's why people everywhere — including scientists, astronauts, space pioneers — are men of religious conviction. Go to church this Sunday, and see for yourself.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Labor Taking Demand To White House

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany disclosed plans today to lead a delegation of top labor leaders to the White House to demand President Johnson's support for a $2 hourly minimum wage.

"The present $1.25 an hour minimum is a poverty wage," Meany said. "We can't lick poverty in America without an increase."

The administration in the past has rejected organized labor's demands for an increase in the minimum wage.

However, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, in an appearance before the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting here seemed to leave the door open for the first time, while still refusing to commit the administration.

Wirtz said earlier this week that any such decision was up to President Johnson.

Sources here say they have received word from the administration that an increase in the minimum wage is under active consideration, due largely to pressure from the politically powerful AFL-CIO.

Meany's delegation will include Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers; David Dubinsky, president of the Ladies Garment Workers; and Jacob Potofsky, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union.

Holdup Laid To Patient

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Charles Montano slipped away from the Arizona State Hospital long enough this week to rob a bank, police said.

A short time after Montano allegedly held up a branch of the Valley National Bank, police said they found him hiding $1-723 on the hospital grounds.

That was $59 more than the bank reported losing, and a check was under way.

David Verhelst, assistant manager of the bank, said he chased Montano long enough to see the fugitive run back to the hospital three blocks from the bank.

A charge of bank robbery has since been filed against Montano, 23.

The man has been confined at the hospital for mental observation.

Failing Of Hollywood Pointed Up

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The passing of Stan Laurel on Tuesday underscored one of Hollywood's most notable failings: Neglect of its heroes.

The eulogies detailed the contribution made to the screen by Laurel and his rotund partner, Oliver Hardy. There's was a classic partnership, as natural and satisfying as scotch and soda. The endless diversity of their comic patterns is a marvel to watch as their old comedies unravel on television.

They had what is now known in the trade as a one-joke act — the mousetrap little fellow who was always ensnaring the big blusterer in trouble. But that one joke was good for 27 feature shorts, containing some of the funniest material ever filmed.

And for the last dozen years of their partnership, they were unable to find work in Hollywood.

When the movie jobs stopped coming, neither was a rich man. They had earned good money, but their wealth had been dissipated by lavish living and expensive marriages. To maintain their incomes, they were forced to make personal appearances in Europe, where they were still remembered fondly.

Then came television. Their old films were sold to TV — the two comics never realized a cent from the sales — and Laurel and Hardy were more popular than in their movie heyday. The fan mail was mountainous, and they were recognized wherever they went.

But ill health intervened before they could cash in on their new popularity. Both suffered strokes; Hardy's was fatal in 1957.

NO MORE
Always a shy man, Laurel became timid after the stroke that partially paralyzed his left side. Following Babe's death, he said he would never act again. He never did.

"The doctors call it a slight stroke," he remarked, "but I don't see how any stroke could be slight. Even if you get back to normal physically, you're mentally demoralized."

He lived out his years by the sea, in a beach apartment at Malibu and later in a hotel on the Palisades at Santa Monica. Honors came to him, notably an honorary Oscar for his contributions to screen comedy. It was followed by a photograph and greeting from President John F. Kennedy.

Stan seldom stirred outside the apartment except for an occasional drive. He didn't lack for company. Many of the recent comics — Dick Van Dyke, Jerry Lewis, Peter Sellers, etc. — made pilgrimages to discuss comedy with the master. Laurel remained a delightful company, his observations on funny business often punctuated with his unabashed bellylaugh.

Hospital Ordered To Desegregate

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The complete desegregation of Grady Memorial Hospital has been ordered by a federal judge.

Passage Hailed Of College Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally's priority bill to clamp new and tighter controls on state colleges was on the 59th Legislature's stack of finished business today.

Without adding a comma to the House-passed measure, senators sent it to the governor's desk by a 27-3 vote.

Connally called the bill's final passage "a milestone in the history of higher education in Texas which will benefit its development and progress for generations to come."

WAGE HASSLE
In the House, meanwhile, a 116-25 vote endorsed a resolution backing Connally in a wage disagreement with the U.S. Labor Department over the Neighborhood Youth Corps, part of President Johnson's poverty program.

The resolution supports the governor's stand against the $1.25 federal minimum wage for Youth Corps workers. Under the program, part-time jobs are given young people 16 to 21 years old who are on the verge of dropping out of school for financial reasons.

The college coordinating board bill topped Connally's program to upgrade public higher education. Without it, he said, bigger school appropriations would not bring full educational value for every dollar spent.

BOARD POWER
After it goes into business Sept. 1, the board will exercise broad powers over course offerings and degree programs. It will have power to classify schools as senior colleges or universities, and to eliminate or consolidate duplicated course offerings.

Officially named "Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System," the agency was the prime recommendation of Connally's 25-member committee on education beyond the high school last year.

Five attempts to limit by amendment the board's power and size failed by big votes at the urging of Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan, the sponsor. The measure cleared the House 141-4 last week.

"I congratulate all who had a hand in the passage of this legislation for a job well done," Connally said in a statement.

"I am particularly grateful to the outstanding men and women who served on the committee on education beyond the high school that laid the foundation and conceived this program."

Both houses are in adjournment until Monday.

The study, "Christ is Our Liberator," from the Book of Colossians, was presented by Mrs. Clair Wiederhoft at the Thursday meeting of the Women's Bible Study Group of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Alton Marwitz, 3227 Cornell, was hostess for the 11 members.

The next meeting will be held March 18 in the home of Mrs. L. B. Morgan, 250 South Langley.

Duplicate Play Held At Webb

Patton, fourth.

Teacher Tells Of Flight Duty

The hazardous and exciting experience of being a ferry pilot during World War II was vividly detailed by Mrs. Chris Watson when she spoke Thursday to the Big Spring Progressive Forum. The women met with Mrs. Granville Hahn, 1805 Thorpe, and the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Buddy Redden.

Mrs. Watson, a teacher at Howard County Junior College, described her flying career from the time she, her brothers and father purchased a small plane and set out to obtain their private licenses. Later, she earned an instructor's rating and taught ground school for a private flying concern in Lubbock. During this time she was granted a commercial license.

Mrs. Watson said that the first draft call for the Air Corps was six months before Pearl Harbor, and she spent a short time assisting with the ground school and basic flight training for young volunteers.

She was one of ten women who formed the core of the Woman's Flying Training Effort and said that the women had to have twice as many flying hours logged as men doing comparable work. After joining the ferry command, Mrs. Watson flew various types of planes from the factory to bases where they were to be used in training. It was during this time, too, that she helped test a new discovery called radar and flew for a commercial airline.

Mrs. Watson said the women of the command were required to fly all types of planes and had to memorize instructions for each one. Some of the differences she noted in flying now was that there are bigger runways, good weather information, radar and pilots are required to fly only several types of planes. During a business session directed by Mrs. Max Green, a report was heard from Mrs. Ed Corson on the child welfare department meeting. She urged members to write to the commissioners and city officers and express opinions on the proposal.

Mrs. Ernest Welch said that more coats are needed for children at the Special Education School.

The president announced that the district convention will be March 24-25 in Fort Stockton.

Initial plans were made for the "Gala Hat Party" which will be held March 11 as a fund-raising activity. The event will be open to the public, and new spring and summer hats will be sold.

Refreshments were served.

Metcalf Pokes Fun At Record In Dallas Chat

DALLAS (AP) — Fred Hansen, the former Rice track star who won the pole vault in the Olympic Games, was acclaimed Texas' outstanding athlete of 1964 at the annual sports achievement dinner here Thursday night.

Hansen was given a plaque proclaiming him Southwesterner of the year—the one who contributed most to sports—and another for being amateur athlete of the year.

Walter Robertson, sports editor of the Dallas News and president of the Texas Sports Writers Association, which selects the honorees, made the presentations.

Shelby Metcalf, basketball coach of Texas A&M, was honored as senior college coach of the year for winning the 1964 basketball championship in the Southwest Conference.

Metcalf also was the principal speaker and he poked fun at himself because of the record of his team this year. The Aggies are well down the list in this year's campaign.

His best story was on the athlete who told him he had made four F's and one D. "I told him he was spending too much time on one subject," said Metcalf.

He told of losing to Texas this year and after the game accidentally running into a sweet old lady. "I said I meant no offense," Metcalf related, "and she told me you didn't have any defense either."

L. L. (Red) Lewis, track coach of Howard Junior, received the plaque as junior college coach of the year.

Johnny Keane of Houston, who managed the St. Louis Cardinals to the World Series, was honored as professional of the year but couldn't attend the dinner because of spring training.

Dick Butler, executive director of the Dallas-Fort Worth club in the Texas League, accepted for Keane.

Don Meredith, quarterback of the Dallas Cowboys, was toastmaster. A crowd of 315 turned out.

Steers Open Season At Fort Stockton

Coaches R. C. Moore and Cliff Patton will take 15 of the Big Spring Steer's track team to the 21st annual Comanche Relays in Fort Stockton Saturday.

Sixty-one schools and more than 1,000 athletes are entered in the meet. Odessa Permian, Odessa High, Midland High and Kermit have been installed as favorites in Division I, the division the Steers will compete in.

Johnny Hughes, Big Spring hurdler, is expected to cop first place in his specialty, the 180-yard low hurdles. He could be pressed hard by another Steer, Joe Jaure.

Bobby Baker and Rickey Earle will be entered in the 120-yard dash.

high hurdles. Baker has run a 15 seconds flat this year and Earle's best time is a 15.4.

Kirby Hodnett will be entered in the 100-yard and 230-yard dashes. His best times in the 100 has been 10 flat and he has a 22.5 in the 230. Marvin Hall and Gary Rogers will represent Big Spring in the 440-yard run.

Running in the 880-yard run for the Steers will be Frank Salazar and Wayne Kennedy. In the long distance races Gary Morris and Charles Thompson will compete in the mile run.

The 440-yard relay will be made up of Hughes, Rogers, Hodnett and Jaure. The same foursome will carry the baton for the Steers in the mile relay.

Harold Newton and Baker will take over the high jumping chores for the Steers with Hughes and Jaure taking care of the broad jumping.

In the weight division, Kirby Horton and James Carver will toss the shot and Ronnie Smith and Carver will be entered in the discus event.

If the weather is favorable some good times could be recorded in all events. In past years the weather has played an important role in deciding the times in the events. The Comanche Relays is the first big track meet of the 1965 season for West Texas schools.

Hawks Clinch Tie For First Place

By TOMMY HART HCJC's Jayhawks exploded like shrapnel after a molasses-slow start and buried Amarillo College under a 103-67 score here Thursday night to clinch at least a tie for first place in Western Conference basketball standings.

San Angelo and South Plains square off tonight in Levelland, with the other half of the league lead at stake. San Angelo will be closing its regular season play but South Plains still has NMMI to play.

The smashing success was HCJC's 12th in 16 conference starts. Overall, the locals are 20-10.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

Don Robbins, the head football coach at the local high school, sat in on Midland High's intra-squad grid game ending spring training recently and came away impressed with the Bulldogs' backfield.

In quarterback Bobby Cutshall, halfback Scooter Taylor and fullback Barry Biscoe, the Bulldogs undoubtedly will have three of the better backs in West Texas high school circles, according to the Steer mentor.

Midland's two top linemen appear to be Charles Bachtell and Wayne Merritt.

Why should the news organs around the country be making such an issue over the fact that CBS purchased 50 percent of the New York Yankees when that same organization has more to say about the operation of the National Football League than any other group or individual (including commissioner Pete Rozelle)?

The Odessa school board was very tight-fisted with Bradley Mills and Jim Cashion, who formerly coached at that city's two 2-AAAA schools. All Mills did was give them a conference champion last fall.

So what did the trustees do after Mills and Cashion were asked to leave? They opened up the treasury to give the new mentors $4,000 each with which to purchase additional equipment and provided the coaching staff at each school with new station wagons. And their teams have yet to play a down against an opponent.

It's an old saying in school circles—and, oh so true—that you'd better petition for and get what you can once you've been hired before the Indians start taking potshots and the chiefs start lowering the boom.

Ted Battles, the Midland scribe, wrote in a recent column that without a doubt the Midland High club of 1966 was the strongest basketball team ever produced in District 2-AAAA. I'm not so sure.

San Angelo fielded a team two years later that went all the way in the state playoffs, defeating Spring Branch in the finals at Austin, 62-49.

Battles contends that the Cats depended too much on one player (Minton White), whereas the 1960 Bulldogs were well balanced.

I don't know but what the 1958 Big Spring team, which like the 1960 Midland team lost in Regional play to the 3-AAAA representative, could have topped the Midland champs.

Midland High that year had three tree-top tall boys like Mike Marsh (6-8) and Mike Humphrey (6-8), plus 6-4 Dick Campbell, 6-2 Charles Dishman and 5-10 Bob Davis.

The Big Spring team of 1958 couldn't match the Midland club for height but it had Jan Lauder milk, who set an all-time game, season and career scoring record for the Steers and who went on to become the outstanding player in the Southwest Conference.

It also had Jimmy Evans, who came through in a clutch in a big way to lead the Steers to a 73-66 win over Odessa High on the road, in the pivotal game, after Lauder milk had fouled out.

Bill Thompson, who was to lead the district in scoring the following year, Benny McCrary and Preston Hollis were other starters on the Steer club that year, which wound up with a 24-7 overall record.

Among the Longhorn victims that season were Lubbock High, Lubbock Monterey and Hobbs, N.M.

Stanton Rips Past Gail

STANTON—The Stanton Buffalo Queens battled back here Thursday night to defeat Gail, 55-48, in a practice game.

Stanton, winner of District 5-A, will meet Wylie Tuesday in Colorado City in a bi-district clash. The win gave the Buffalo Queens a 27-2 record for the season.

Gail held a two point lead at the end of the first quarter, 13-11, but the Queens put the pressure on in the second quarter to hold a 26-14 lead.

The third quarter again was a tough one for the Queens as they trailed 40-33 going into the final stanza. Janell Tate was high for the Queens with 31 points. Mary Dennis dropped in 22 for Gail. Stanton will play Merton tonight in Merton.

STANTON (55) — Linda Franklin 1-11, Evonne Welch 4-11, Janet Tate 2-12, Alma Mathews 1-2. Total 55-48.

Lema Scorches USGA Edict

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Lema celebrated his 31st birthday with two swigs of champagne and as many digs at the august U.S. Golf Association and his keen rival, Arnold Palmer.

"I think the USGA made a mistake in cutting out the double round on the final day of the U.S. Open," the wise-cracking extrovert from San Leandro, Calif., told a small gathering of friends at a midtown hotel Thursday.

"The 36 holes on Saturday was one feature that distinguished the Open from the other tournaments. The others now are as rich or richer. Some of them, like the Masters, are gaining great prestige. Now they're all played alike."

The USGA ended a long tradition by changing the format of the Open to a single round a day covering four days. Almost since its inception, like the British Open, it had previously called for two rounds on the final day.

Champagne Tony, winner of the British Open last year and one of the sports' brightest personalities, also had his stiletto sharpened for Palmer.

"Arnold says the pro tour should be reduced to 30 tournaments," Lema said. "If Palmer wants to play in just 30 tournaments, or just 15, that's his business."

"I myself plan to cut down my tournament schedule. But my opinion is that there should be more tournaments, not less—one every week. Give the other guys a chance."

Lema who has run into an attack of nerves because of a two-month layoff from smoking and who says he can't put a lick, announced that he planned to pace himself for the coming campaign.

Lobos Asked To NI Meet

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New Mexico Lobos got their wish. They are coming back to the National Invitation College Basketball Tournament in New York where a year ago they took an 86-54 drubbing from Bradley in the final.

"This is what we've been going for all season," said coach Bob King after the Lobos accepted an NIT bid Thursday night.

New Mexico's acceptance shared the headlines with the 23rd straight victory of the nationally sixth-ranked Davidson Wildcats.

The Wildcats whipped Virginia Military 86-73 in the first round of the Southern Conference championship tourney at Charlotte and advanced to the semifinals with West Virginia, Virginia Tech and William and Mary.

Tulsa defeated North Texas 87-77. Xavier of Ohio downed Memphis State 95-74. Massachusetts edged Boston U. 87-83 and Utah State crushed Montana State 98-71 in other games.

Fred Hetzel's 31 points paced Davidson over the team that upset the Wildcats in last year's Southern Conference tournament.

ment. The Wildcats play West Virginia tonight in one semifinal with William and Mary meeting Virginia Tech in the other semi. William and Mary advanced by downing The Citadel 68-60 and Virginia Tech romped over Richmond 103-63.

Rick Park tossed in 36 points to lead Tulsa to a home-court triumph over North Texas while Clarence Hill's 28 points paced Massachusetts over Boston U. at Amherst, Mass. LeRoy Walker's 37 points led Utah State over Montana State at Logan, Utah.

New Mexico was the sixth team named to the NIT. The Lobos, 10th-ranked in The Associated Press poll with a 19-3 record, accepted after St. John's 16-6, and Texas Western, 17-8, were named earlier Thursday. Villanova, Boston College and Detroit had accepted Wednesday.

The NCAA tournament, which determines the national champion, did not announce the identity of the last team to fill its 23-team field but Texas Tech, the Southwest Conference leader, disclosed it would not compete. Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the faculty athletic committee at Texas Tech, said that it had been discovered that Norman Reuther, star of the team, was scholastically ineligible.

Southern Methodist, the current runner-up, now is expected to represent the SWC in the NCAA tourney which starts March 8. The NIT opens March 11.

SANDS, FORT DAVIS OPEN PLAY

Wide-Open Battle Looms In Tourney

A wide-open scrap for the championship looms in the Region VI-B basketball tournament beginning at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the HCJC Gymnasium.

The opening game pits Sands of District 87-B, the sentimental favorite among area basketball buffs, against Fort Davis of District 89-B.

That is the only game on tap this evening. The meet will be resumed with semifinal contests Saturday morning.

Winner of tonight's imbroglio takes on McCaulley of District 85-B at 9:45 a.m. Saturday. The other semifinal joust pits Talpa-Centennial (82-B) against Miles (84-B).

Officials of the five competing schools gather at the college gym at 6 p.m. with tournament director Dr. Melvin Crawford to go over the rules.

Winner of the tournament qualifies for the State meet, scheduled to be played in Austin starting Thursday.

Admission prices for each session of the tournament will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Dub Pearson, Harmon King and Bill Boston — all of Lubbock — will team up to do the officiating.

Fort Davis, boasting a 19-8 record, could be tough to handle. The Indian attack is built around Lou Walker Jr., and Fred Vejil. The Indians knocked off Anthony in the bi-district round, 74-54.

Sands has won more games than any other team in the field (20) and disposed of Poyote in bi-district competition, 51-47.

Coach Arlen White of Sands will probably start a team consisting of Eddie Herm, Larry Chapman, Tommy Fryar, Lynn Maxwell and Oren Lancaster.

Miles sneaked by tough Robert Lee in bi-district play, 45-43. Coached by James Pennington, the Bulldogs will probably field a starting lineup consisting of Wayne Book, Sid McCown, Larry Luedtke, Dave Krueger and Larry Rumsey.

Talpa-Centennial, 18-4 on the year, probably has more tournament experience than the other teams. The Rams had to go all out to topple Eden in bi-district competition, however, 48-47. Paul Beaver and Eddie Monroe make the Rams click.

McCaulley, listed in some areas as the choice of the meet, bombed Hobbs in bi-district, 70-52. David Mayberry, Eddie Smith and Dan Myers are the standouts for the Eagles.

Golf Teams Renew Play

SAN ANGELO—The San Angelo Country Club is the site today for the second round of District 2-AAAA golf competition.

Odessa High is the front running team at the present time, one stroke ahead of cross-town rival, Odessa Permian. In first round play in Odessa, the Bronchos from OHS compiled a low score of 320.

San Angelo is in second place with 334, followed by Midland with 337, Midland Lee 340, Abilene Cooper 344, Abilene High 348 and Big Spring a full 40 strokes off the pace at 360.

The girls regional tournament will follow the boys' meet by a week.

Forsan Outlasts Garden Citians

STERLING CITY—Water Valley slipped by Sterling City here Thursday night, 75-73, to win the second half of an independent basketball league.

Sterling City won the first half championship and the two clubs will meet again here Tuesday night to decide the championship. Forsan smashed Garden City, 98-85, in the first game Friday night.

Lafin Seeks Ring Buildup

NEW YORK (AP) — Argentina's undefeated Oscar Bonavena, eager to get a top purse, steps up in class tonight against heavyweight contender Zora Polley in a 10-round at Madison Square Garden.

Although the muscular 22-year-old South American is fighting a ranking heavyweight for the first time, he has been made a surprising 8-5 favorite over the 32-year-old veteran from Chandler, Ariz.

On the basis of style and experience, the odds seem silly. Oscar, of course, can make it look good with one swipe of his powerful left hook. That's what his supporters are counting on.

In eight fights since he turned pro 13 months ago, the 200-pound mop-haired brawler has won seven by knockouts and one by decision. He has fought no one of consequence with the possible exception of the fading Tom McNealey whom he stopped in five.

Folley, a slick boxer with a fifty left jab, has a 68-7-4 record in 1½ years of pro battling. He has scored 38 knockouts and been stopped five times. Doug Jones was the last one to stop him, halting Zora in the seventh round in the Garden, Dec. 15, 1962.

The six-foot, 209-pound veteran's last loss was a 10-round decision to top-ranking Ernie Terrell, July 27, 1963.

Tech Has Hopes Shattered By Eligibility Decision

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — League-leading Texas Tech, apparently coasting toward the Southwest Conference basketball championship on the downhill side of a brilliant season, saw its hopes shattered Thursday when it was announced a leading player was ineligible.

"We didn't have any reaction," said one team member after the news broke. "We just sat down and cried."

Tech officials announced that the Red Raiders were withdrawing from championship consideration because a check had revealed that Norman Reuther, a junior from Fort Worth, was scholastically ineligible.

Reuther has scored 351 points this season and ranks sixth in the conference.

The Raiders were leading the conference with a 9-2 mark, a full game in front of Southern Methodist (8-3), whom Tech had beaten in both games between the two schools this season.

Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the conference, said none of Tech's games would be forfeited as a result of the ineligibility. He said Tech would play out the remaining three games on its regular schedule.

Grubbs said the conference member — excepting Tech — that has the highest percentage after the season's final games March 4 would be the champion and represent the loop in the NCAA.

Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the Tech faculty athletic committee, made the withdrawal announcement at a called news conference.

He said Reuther had credit for nine semester hours this fall and 10 hours last spring. Conference rules require that varsity players have an accumulative minimum of 20 hours the preceding two semesters.

Grubbs said Tech officials "made a mistake, were first to admit it and took the proper action. It was a question of sincere people making an error."

Grubbs said the Tech incident was the first of its kind in the conference since 1933, when Arkansas inadvertently used an ineligible football player and had to forfeit the championship.

Tech Coach Gene Gibson had this statement:

"We naturally regret this situation has come up. We learn in competitive athletics to take the hard knocks and come back fighting as well as to accept praise with humility.

"We will play the last three games with the same Red Raider fighting spirit that has become a trademark of our basketball teams."

Davis said he had made preliminary checks with the Tech registrar's office between semesters and thought he had determined that all varsity players had passed the necessary semester hours for continued eligibility.

"In checking Reuther," Davis continued, "I inadvertently did not total his combined hourly credits for the past two semesters."

Pay Increase Held Up For Decision

Wade Choate, county auditor, said that he is holding up on the recent pay increase granted Bob Darland, juvenile officer, pending decision by the county commissioners on whether to incorporate the pay boost action of the County-City-School Juvenile Board into the county board minutes. He said that since the county serves as disbursing office for the three agencies, he feels that he should have an order empowering him to expend the money.

Darland was recently given a $500 a year pay increase by the juvenile board. The county and city each provide 40 per cent of the juvenile agency budget and the school 20 per cent.

The county commissioners court agreed it would ask Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, to study the law which deals with the administration of the juvenile board and determine if the county commissioners have any authority over the salary or its payment.

Ray Nichols, one of the commissioners, told his fellows that he had many protests about the recent pay increase for Darland, and that he wanted to know more about how the department functioned.

The juvenile office is a creation of a special act of the legislature which applies only to Howard County. It sets forth that the salary of the juvenile officer shall be established by the juvenile board. The board is made up of three members representing the county, two representing the city and two representing the schools.

Lee Porter, as county judge, is chairman of the board. L. J. Davidson, county commissioner, and Daniel Bustamante are the county's other members; Sam Anderson, superintendent, and Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, member of the school board, represent the schools; Arnold Marshall, city commissioner and Roy Anderson, the city.

On Feb. 10, the juvenile board voted to give Darland a $500 per year increase in salary. This brought his salary to $6,500. He also is allowed $85 a month for car expenses.

Choate said that pending the county commissioners making a decision on whether to incorporate the minutes of the juvenile board into their records, he was issuing Darland a check at the same rate of pay he received prior to his raise.

When the change is approved, the auditor said, he will adjust the payments.

Delinda Bradford Enters Jaycee Beauty Pageant

A freshman student at Howard County Junior College, Delinda Anne Bradford, has become the third entrant in the Miss Diamondback Pageant being presented as part of this year's Rattlesnake Roundup.

Miss Bradford, 19, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Galen Bradford, who are missionaries in Japan.

She attended the American School in Tokyo, Japan, and graduated in 1964. She is president of the Baptist Student Union, a member of Phi Theta Kappa sorority and a representative in the HJJC Student Government.

Miss Diamondback will be selected at a dinner and dance planned for the Big Spring Country Club March 6. Tickets are on sale by members of the Jaycees at $3.50 per person.

The winning contestant will receive a $100 scholarship to the college of her choice and will also be provided sponsorship, if she qualifies and desires to enter the Miss Big Spring Pageant sponsored each year by the Jaycees.

The Rattlesnake Roundup is planned for March 5, 6 and 7 at the Big Spring fairgrounds. An added attraction of this year's roundup will be a wildlife exhibit, with a group of animals recently purchased by A. D. Blount in Laredo.

Some 7,000 persons attended the Rattlesnake Roundup last year.

TELEPHONE Your Number May Change

Approximately 900 Big Spring telephone numbers will change in early July, Harry Sawyer, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company manager said today.

Sawyer said that all customers who are presently in the AMherst 4-4000 group will be changed to telephone numbers which begin with AMherst 3-7. He said the last three digits of a customer's present number will not change.

"For example," Sawyer said, "a customer whose present number is AM 4-4184 will find his number will be changed to AMherst 3-7184." Sawyer also said that all telephone customers involved in the change will be notified by letter and told what their new telephone numbers will be. He said all changed numbers will be listed in the 1965 telephone directory which will be issued to Big Spring telephone customers at the time of the change.

He also said that after May 1, 1965, all new customers and customers who request the telephone company to change their telephone numbers will get numbers that start with the prefix AMherst 7. He said the remaining AMherst 4 telephone numbers will be changed to AMherst 7, sometime in 1966. He said the customers who will be affected by this change will be notified well in advance of the changeover and told what their new telephone numbers will be.

The growth factor and other technical problems have made necessary the shift to a new board which will occasion the number changes.

"Changing telephone numbers is something we do not like to do, and we avoid it whenever we can," said Sawyer. "However, these changes are necessary because of the steady telephone growth in Big Spring during the past few years."

Jack Ruby Hearing Set

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby, condemned slayer of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, will go back into court Monday for a hearing on his motion for a sanity trial.

Judge Joe Brown, before whom Ruby was convicted of murder last March 17, notified lawyers to appear.

He acted Thursday after the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals directed Brown to determine Ruby's present mental state. The court asked this information before it heads arguments on Ruby's appeal against the death sentence.

An aide of Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said Ruby will be taken before Brown from his cell in the county jail. It will be his first public appearance in more than 10 months.
