Tiny Barbie Vardy Loses Her Brave Fight For Life

COLORADO CITY—Tiny Barbie Vardy, desperately ill as a result of a faulty liver since her birth eight months ago, died Friday night in the University of Minnesota Hospital before surgeons could attempt transplant surgery which might have saved her life.

LOSES FIGHT Barbie and mother

Barbie was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby J. Vardy, of Colorado City. She had been taken to the Minneapolis Hospital on Feb. 17 where plans were made to attempt to replace her liver with a transplant. Her condition was so bad when she reached the hospital that no attempt was made at the transplant.

FUND RAISED Mitchell County residents and West Texans generally, learning of the tot's predicament had begun contributing to a fund for the costly surgery. The expense of the operation had been pegged at $10,000 — more than $7,000 has already been raised.

Colorado City turned out as a unit to help Barbie. Hats were passed and donations generously made. Benefit dances and other events were staged. The March of Dimes Fund was tapped to pay travel expenses of Barbie and her mother to Minneapolis. The drive to help the child was launched in January.

ALMOST MIRACULOUS Barbie was an unfortunate little mite born with no bile ducts and no gall bladder. It was almost miraculous she had survived the eight brief months she did. Her only hope for life was that a healthy liver might be used to replace her own.

Even this was a gamble, surgeons said. Unfortunately, poor little Barbie didn't live long enough to know whether her frail life could be saved or not.

Execution Of U.S. Citizen In Damascus Awes Nation

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The hanging of an American citizen in Syria and the triumphal tour of President Walter Ulbricht of East Germany in the United Arab Republic spotlight a general setback for the West in the daily-shifting Arab world. The public execution of U.S. citizen Farhan Atassi in Damascus — on charges of spying for Washington — marked the lowest point in U.S.-Syrian relations since two American diplomats were expelled in 1957, the year the Communists seemed on the verge of taking over Syria lock, stock and barrel.

"HATE" CAMPAIGN Atassi's execution — he was strangled on a wheeled gallows that looked like an Arabic bread wagon — and the expulsion of a U.S. diplomat and his secretary from Damascus, however, did not appear to be a pro-Communist maneuver. The moves came in the midst of an anti-American campaign so harsh that one official called it "a paroxysm of slander and hate."

FIFTEEN DOOMED Fifteen Syrians have been sentenced to death since Jan. 24 on various political charges, most of them involving what Syria calls American imperialist plots.

One expert opinion estimates Syria — which is ruled by the army and the Baath Socialist party — considers itself the spearhead of the Arab world and is determined to surpass U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser in standing up to the Western giants.

Jets Bomb Area Where Cong Hidden

XUYEN MOC, South Viet Nam (AP) — American B57 jet bombers pounded the jungles near here once every 20 minutes Saturday in a joint air-ground operation designed to smoke out and destroy large concentrations of Viet Cong believed hidden there. By nightfall ground troops had made no contact with Red guerrillas, however.

"They're out there somewhere," a U.S. military adviser said, "and somehow I don't think those B57s are making them very happy."

HUNT CONG About 1,000 South Vietnamese troops moved into the jungles after the bombing attacks seeking out Viet Cong and possible arms depots.

Xuyen Moc is 50 miles southeast of Saigon and is just about 10 miles from Binh Gia, the site of a brutal ground battle two months ago in which government losses were heavy.

Heavy concentrations of Viet Cong were believed still in the vicinity.

SHAKE EARTH The explosions of 750-pound and 500-pound bombs loosed by the U.S. Air Force jets shook the earth. At sunset thick smoke hung over the jungle.

TROOPS MOVE IN Ground troops came into the area in 137 helicopters, the largest number of helicopters ever used in such an operation in this war.

South Vietnamese troops hacked out a 300-yard airstrip after securing one area to permit supply planes to land with arms, ammunition and fuel.

The first supplies came shortly afterward in a twin-engine U.S. Army Caribou flown by Capt. Glen A. Leister, Kingfisher, Okla., and Capt. Herbert Beson, Bearden, Ark. The plane needed only half the length of the strip to land. It took off after unloading.

His young companions had to make their way down the mountain and to the H. A. Hays ranch, which was nearest to the scene to get help.

DOWN SLOPE Hays was joined by his brother-in-law, Morgan Martin, who lives in the area, and they set out in a pickup for the place. The boys had carried their companion's body some distance down the slope, Whitton said.

The pickup stalled about a mile and a half from the mountain. It was there that the Big Spring Ambulance Service took the body in charge and removed it to Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home.

The mountains involved are widely known landmarks located on the Dora Roberts Ranch owned by Horace Garrett.

Young Johnston was a sophomore in the Big Spring High School. He was outstanding in scouting and last year was awarded the coveted God and Country Award.

Cliff Accident Kills Big Spring Youth

Don Welton Johnston, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Johnston, 2011 Rannels, was fatally injured shortly before noon Saturday when he fell from a high precipice on the face of Twin Sister Buttes south and west of Moss Creek Lake.

Walter Grice, justice of the peace, ruled death by accident in the case. Grice, Deputy Sheriff Bill Whitton and Highway Patrolman Arven Henry went to the scene when Don's two companions had made their way some miles to a ranch house and word was spread of the tragedy.

OUTSTANDING SCOUT Young Johnston, who was an outstanding member of the Boy Scout organization, was with Bryant Peay, 15, of Big Spring, and with Bryant's older brother, Greg, who lives in Abilene.

They had gone to the fence which bars the road to Signal Mountain and its two rugged companions, the Twin Sisters, and walked on the four miles or so to the hills. They had explored Signal Mountain and had climbed to the top of one of the Twin Sisters.

According to information given to Whitton, young Johnston was on a ledge which fell sharply down the side of the cliff for 30 or 40 feet. The rocks on which he was sitting crumbled away. He grabbed at another rock and it also failed him. He crashed to the foot of the cliff.

His young companions had to make their way down the mountain and to the H. A. Hays ranch, which was nearest to the scene to get help.

Services will be held at 4 p.m. Monday at the First Methodist Church. Dr. H. Clyde Smith, pastor, will officiate, and the Rev. Marvin James, associate pastor, will assist. Burial will be in Big Spring City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Members of Sea Scout Ship No. 11 will be pallbearers.

Don was born in Big Spring Sept. 20, 1949. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

He was an Explorer Scout at the time of his death attached to Ship No. 3 which is sponsored by the Big Spring Optimist Club. He is survived by his parents, one sister, Miss June Ann Johnston, who is a teacher in the Odessa schools; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Chaney and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. L. O. Johnston, all of Big Spring.

Services will be held at 4 p.m. Monday at the First Methodist Church. Dr. H. Clyde Smith, pastor, will officiate, and the Rev. Marvin James, associate pastor, will assist. Burial will be in Big Spring City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Members of Sea Scout Ship No. 11 will be pallbearers.

Gulf Docker Accord Reached

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Long-sought agreement was reached Saturday night when a 22-man longshoremen's negotiating team and the maritime industry came to terms on a new four-year contract in the strike-plagued western Gulf Coast area.

The breakthrough apparently signals the beginning of the end of a billion-dollar walkout that began Jan. 11 and tied up ports from Maine to Texas.

Earlier agreements had sent dockers back to work in all ports except those under the jurisdiction of Galveston and in the southern Atlantic district.

Saturday's action, however, does not mean an immediate end to the 48-day-old walkout in 11 ports from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex.

APPROVAL NEEDED The contract — which could pave the way toward an eventual guaranteed annual wage for dockers — is subject to approval by the main 110-man West Gulf District contract committee. The group has been on call for days at a local union hall.

OTHERS WORKING In addition, the agreement must be approved by the rank and file of the 7,000-member union involved. No date has been set for that balloting.

Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds made the formal announcement of the agreement about 5:30 p.m. after long bouts of negotiating.

anyone who might have inside information is: "I heard they found the gold. Is it true?"

SIGNALS OF HOPE The explorers say metal detectors similar to the mine detectors of World War II keep telling them they are close to the treasure.

A mystery cropped up at midweek when Les Guerra disappeared from public view.

He is the man who said he wandered through tunnels and saw the treasure, then spent months in a hospital. He said caveins blocked his path when he came back to get the gold.

But he is expected back. He is president of Guerra Enterprises, Inc., which launched the current hunt.

THE treasure just wasn't as near as they thought it was. The gold hunters said a week ago that they were only feet from a cavern containing $200 million in precious bars — only a portion of the treasure legends says Spaniards secreted here and never retrieved.

At week's end, they apparently were just as far away as ever.

BIZARRE TURN The hunt took a bizarre turn late in the week when skin divers were called in to probe a pool where someone might have dumped a few bricks of treasure. If they found anything, it has not been disclosed.

U.S. Charge Sent To U.N. Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States lashed Communist North Viet Nam Saturday with a 14,000-word "white paper" charging the Communist state with waging "concealed aggression" against the South on a massive and growing scale.

The report, charging violation of international agreements in defiance of the United Nations charter, was dispatched by the State Department to the U.N. Security Council for the information of all of its members, including the Soviet Union.

By this means the United States put before the council its accusation that the North Vietnamese attack on the South "is as real as that of an invading army."

WARNS U.N. It warned the United Nations that it warned the world at large, that the United States and South Viet Nam will fight back with whatever means they wish — including air strikes.

The United States said it had hoped that widening of the war might be avoided but that the Communist leaders in Hanoi must restrain on the U.S.-South Vietnamese side with greater violence. Therefore, it said, the United States and South Viet Nam decided air strikes against infiltration and supply bases in North Viet Nam were required for the defense of the South and they made that "limited response."

The white paper was published by the State Department. It had been in preparation for several weeks and represented an updating of a similar document issued in late 1961. The earlier one also was designed to document that the war in South Viet Nam is not just a native rebellion but a new kind of war planned, supplied, and directed from outside the country.

AGGRESSION LOOSED The State Department paper said this is even now "poorly understood in most parts of the world" and not only peoples but governments are confused.

"In Viet Nam a totally new brand of aggression has been loosed against an independent people who want to make their own way in peace and freedom," the report declared.

"North Viet Nam's commitment to seize control of the South is no less total than was the commitment of the regime in (Communist) North Korea in 1950. But knowing the consequences of the latter's undisciplined attack, the planners in Hanoi have tried desperately to conceal their hand.

"They have failed and their aggression is as real as that of an invading army."

World Power Shifts Foretold

DALLAS (AP)—Under Secretary of State George Ball said Saturday that the next decade offers the possibility of a less tense relationship between the United States and Russia.

But, he told a Southwest foreign policy conference sponsored by the State Department, the emergence of new nations and drastic changes in the structure of world power will increase the complexity of America's international relations.

COMPETE FOR CONTROL While declining to predict the course of international events during the next 10 years at a question-and-answer session, the No. 2 official of the State Department said that trends indicated some very probable developments and said that: —Red China and Russia are, and for a long time will be, competing for control of the Communist world.

—The recent change in the Russian government is "one of appearance rather than policy."

Treasure Hunt Find: Misery

SALADO, Tex. (AP) —This was a week that never should have happened to treasure hunters.

The particular hunters slogging through a miserable week are those seeking millions in legendary gold hidden in the cliffs along Salado Creek for possibly three centuries.

Treasure hunters, by tradition should be gay and swashbuckling.

They fell considerably short of that this week. If they hadn't been grown men, they'd have cried.

SLEET, SNOW Rain, sleet and snow fell. Mud became a way of life. Temperatures plunged below freezing and water flooded the diggings.

The pump froze and Salado Creek became a spreading torrent.

The treasure just wasn't as near as they thought it was. The gold hunters said a week ago that they were only feet from a cavern containing $200 million in precious bars — only a portion of the treasure legends says Spaniards secreted here and never retrieved.

At week's end, they apparently were just as far away as ever.

BIZARRE TURN The hunt took a bizarre turn late in the week when skin divers were called in to probe a pool where someone might have dumped a few bricks of treasure. If they found anything, it has not been disclosed.

At times the operators greet the newsmen with open arms. At other times they ignore them.

For the newsmen it isn't much fun, either. They drive down a gravel road to a makeshift gate. And from then on they travel a crude, muddy trail to Salado Creek. They must cross Salado Creek, and when they get inside the tunnel, it's mud.

Rumors are a dime a dozen. But the residents of the area, pretty cynical about treasure after the many failures covering the decades, finally have caught a little gold fever. Their invariable statement and question to

"We must be constantly vigilant. We must not forget that the Soviets are still dedicated to the eventual triumph of communism."

"The big question will be how we will be able to move" with other free nations of Europe during the coming decade.

NEW NATIONS —The emergence of 50 new nations since World War II, the declining influence of older nations, and the drastic shift of the structure of world power will make this nation's international affairs more complex and difficult.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Big Spring had five semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition last autumn, and last week we learned that all were selected to be among the finalists. That's something of a record, and an additional cause for pride in Kathy Seddon, Cynthia Nolen, John Richard Thomas, Nancy Thomas and Ricky Beam. All these will be considered for NM Scholarships. Probably not a high school in this area can match this record for this year.

While on the subject of schools and pupils, remember that this is Texas Public Schools Week when you are urged to visit your schools in action. Mothers usually are good about visiting; this year emphasis is being placed on getting fathers to place a similar degree of interest.

A week ago three students from the Big Spring High School Band were chosen to back up the Permian High Band in Odessa during its percussion clinic and concert. Taking part in the clinic by Jim Sewery of the University of Wichita, were James Beckham, bassoon and percussion, Susan Ivie, percussion, and Hollis Webb Jr., bassoon. The two percussionists were featured in two speciality acts in the concert. With Hollis, they also supported the accompaniment.

Two area schools have given approval to bond issues, Glasscock County a week ago for $175,000, and Stanton Saturday for $125,000. Trustees of Howard County Junior College, acting on petitions with over 625 names, called a $500,000 bond vote for March 20. Proceeds, together with a hoped-for grant, would make possible construction of new science and library buildings, as well as the college share of a stadium field house.

Big Spring was a busy basketball place last week, what with a bi-district game, the regional 6-B tournament Friday and Saturday. See THE WEEK, Pg. 6-A, Col. 6

There will be no school Friday. Teachers will attend the District IV meeting of Texas State Teachers Association in Odessa.

ACKERLY—An open house will be held in the Sands Independent School district schools Monday. The Parent-Teacher Association will open with a program, to last about 30 minutes, and then parents may visit in classrooms.

SHOW PARENTS

Supt. M. B. Maxwell said teachers would be in their regular rooms until about 9:30 p.m. to show parents work being done by their children.

"We also invite parents to visit regular classes during the week—Monday through Thursday—to get first-hand teaching procedures and student work," he said. "We also invite visitors to eat with their children in the cafeteria during the four days."

COAHOMA—Coahoma High School will feature an assembly at 1 p.m. Monday, with band playing several numbers, and the chorus singing, according to Supt. W. A. Wilson. All students will be present for the concert in the auditorium.

The Student Council will sponsor Parents' Night at the high school auditorium Tuesday, with time to be announced. A member of each organization in the school will give a short talk on his organization and what it accomplishes. The band will again play and the chorus will sing for the assembly. Refreshments will then be served in the activity room.

Leaflets have been sent to parents inviting them to visit the schools at any time Monday through Thursday, Wilson

Registration desks will be set up at convenient spots, and Student Council members will be available to show visitors over the plant or to areas they prefer.

Elementary schools will have exhibits up and parents are invited to visit at any time during the week, and to eat lunch with their children in the cafeterias.

FOURTH GRADE

The fourth grade will have a 45-minute program Tuesday, beginning at 2:30 p.m., and parents are invited.

"We especially urge all parents, and others interested, to visit our schools at any time during the week," Wilson said. "We will be glad to show anything they wish to see."

FORSAN—Forsan schools, including the Junior High at Elbow, will carry on with regular school classes and activities during the week, with parents invited to observe classroom routine at any time.

Supt. Roy Stockstill said places will be provided for parents to sit in all classrooms if they wish to observe their children in normal activities, Monday through Thursday.

Parents and others interested in the schools are also invited to have lunch with the students in the cafeteria at noon each day.

Tom Spell, elementary principal, said respiratory ailments and flu had caused Forsan schools to close Thursday and Friday of last week, but that attendance was expected to be back to normal Monday. He said the schools experienced more than 25 per cent absenteeism due to the flu and colds.

UT Pinpoints 'Heart' Of The Universe

AUSTIN—Radio astronomers at the University of Texas have located the galactic center of the universe more precisely than it has ever been located before.

At the same time, they have found additional support for the hypothesis that the central portion of our galaxy contains a huge cloud of hydrogen gas.

The work was done with the university's millimeter radio telescope, which can "see" into places never observed previously.

FINDINGS REVEALED

C. W. Tolbert, telescope director, and Dr. Archie Straiton, director of UT's Electrical Engineering Research Laboratory, reveal the findings in the March issue of the Astronomical Journal.

The brightest point in the southern constellation Sagittarius, about 30,000 light years distance from the earth, has long been known to be the center of our galaxy. (A light year is the distance traveled in one year by light at a speed of 186,000 miles per second.)

In looking at this center with other telescopes, astronomers see mostly a diffuse ball of light, believed to be hydrogen gas. Because of the diffusion problem they have not been able to fix the center coordinates of the galaxy with a high degree of accuracy.

This problem has been overcome with the UT radio telescope which can see very short wave lengths of radiation from the core of the galaxy and thus take dead aim on its center. With more accurate coordinates of the galaxy's center, astronomers will be able better to describe the movements of stars in the galaxy and record future changes.

CLOUD THEORY

Analysis of the spectrum of these short wave lengths from the center of galaxy supports the hydrogen cloud hypothesis. In a companion study, further support also was given to the belief that the remnants of a star in the constellation Taurus, which was seen to explode by Chinese astronomers in the 10th century, are made up of weakly ionized hydrogen gas.

Easter Seal Sale Opens Monday

The 1965 Howard County Easter Seal campaign will kick-off officially Monday with the distribution of some 200 coin collectors to business houses by Boy Scouts of the Big Spring area.

Also, letters containing Easter Seals were mailed to 1,000 residents Saturday. Two large billboards will be erected this week on Interstate 20 to remind that March is Easter Seal month. About four-fifths of all funds raised will remain here.

Mrs. Rube McNew is chairman of this year's campaign by the Howard County chapter of the Texas Society for Crippled Children. Co-chairmen are Sam Anderson, Jim Thompson, Mrs. Dwight McCann and Mrs. Roscoe Newell. An estimated 350-400 volunteers will take part in the campaign.

A Lily Parade is set for March 12-15. The parade will be a house to house solicitation drive and will take place in Big Spring, Gay Hill, Forsan, Midway, Sand Springs, Coahoma and the Lockhart area.

A dance is planned for March 27. The tentative site of the affair is the Cosden Country Club. Coffees will be held throughout the drive in an effort to reach every part of the community.

Rainbow girls are donating their time on Saturdays to sell Easter Lily pins in the downtown area and in the city's shopping centers.

In addition to the chairman other workers include Mrs. Bill Dawes and Mrs. G. C. Broughton, finance chairman; Mrs. Dorene Hefner, Mrs. I. J. Motal and Mrs. Jess Thornton, coffee chairman; Mrs. Chester Mathey and Sgt. Joe Maenner, dance chairman; Mrs. R. T. Nerrell, road block chairman; Jo Bright and Bob Bradbury, publicity chairman; Mrs. McNew, Anderson and Mrs. Roscoe Newell, lily parade; George Mclear, W. C. Blankenship and J. A. Coffey, lily pins; and Mrs. Ethel Sherill and Wayne Gound, coin container chairmen.

Trustee Vote At 2 Sites

Big Spring Independent School district school trustee election April 3 will be conducted at two voting boxes.

An order announcing the voting places has been posted in the Howard County Courthouse.

Voters will ballot at the Big Spring High School with Lawrence Robinson as judge and Mrs. D. D. Johnson, assistant; and at the Kate Morrison School with George Melear as judge and Mrs. D. W. Conley, his assistant.

Coahoma Independent School district trustee election on the same date, will be conducted in the Coahoma City Hall. Mrs. Donald Lay is judge and Mrs. Janie Pherigo assistant.

Voting in Forsan Independent School district election will be at the high school library. Mrs. John Kubecka is to be judge and Mrs. Clara Mae Fletcher, assistant.

ABC Members Are Urged To Observe School Week

Members of the American Business Club were urged to turn their attentions to Public School Week in a program conducted during their luncheon Friday at the Settles hotel.

The program was quarterbacked by Jimmy Felts, a member of the Statewide Committee on Public Schools and Education. John Smith, Big Spring high school principal, and C. L. Ainsworth, school coordinator were speakers.

Smith extended an invitation to his listeners to attend a Tuesday night panel meeting at the high school auditorium, during which time problems pertinent to the school lives of students will be discussed.

Smith said that subjects to be covered at the convalesce would include the credits a student needs to qualify for college, the school curriculum and the development of school schedules.

Dr. Ainsworth limited his talk to the business aspect of the schools, which he added, is "the single most important industry in our community."

There are 7,446 students on the rolls of the Big Spring Independent School District, Ainsworth stated. The district employs 520 persons, 365 of which are classroom teachers.

"Whether we like it or not, we are in the transportation business," Ainsworth said. "We operate 14 school buses and our biggest concern is the safety of those pupils who use the busses to get to and from school."

Ainsworth also revealed the schools here have a monthly payroll of $226,000 and operate on an annual budget approximately $3,000,000. He also said that the high school pupil needs 20 credits to graduate and had the choice of studying any one of 77 subjects after reaching high school.

"Most of the money invested in your public schools remains in Big Spring," Ainsworth reminded his listeners.

Richard Hughes also spoke briefly on the upcoming Miss Diamondback Beauty Contest, which will be held in conjunction with the annual Rattlesnake Roundup and urged his fellow Ambassadors to purchase tickets for the dinner-dance. Lanny Hamby was introduced as a guest.

U.S. Agencies In New Home

Saturday was moving day for the Big Spring Social Security District Office and for the Big Spring office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service. The two agencies will be open for business on Monday in their new home at 1009 Gregg.

The new building, especially designed for the use of these two departments, was built by Elmo Wasson and is adjacent to the Labor Department office on the same block.

The two agencies have been housed for several years in quarters at 700 Runnels.

Erven Fisher, district manager for the Social Security office and Joe Gordon, head of the IRS office here, said the new quarters are well adapted to the work of the two departments.

U.S. Consul's Car Attacked

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A crowd of Indonesians attacked the car of U.S. Consul Theodore Heavner in Medan, North Sumatra, with stones and sticks, the embassy reported.

An embassy spokesman said the Norwegian consul's car also was attacked.

The embassy spokesman said the windows of Heavner's car were smashed and the auto body was damaged. He said the crowd unsuccessfully tried to tear off the car's American flag. Heavner was not hurt.

MEDICAL CARE OR "MEDICARE" WHICH DO YOU WANT?

TEXAS today has one of the nation's finest, most comprehensive programs of medical care for the aged. These programs—the Texas approach, we call it—include medical benefits to Old Age Assistance recipients and extensive health cost protection through the use of special insurance plans for the aged. The Texas legislature is also expected to implement a medical care plan for those who are not on Old Age Assistance but, who do need help in meeting medical expenses.

Consider these facts:

- 229,000 needy aged, representing 30 per cent of Texas' entire aged population, now have a Blue Cross-Blue Shield health insurance policy paid for by the State,
- This State program provides hospital, medical, surgical, x-ray, and nursing home benefits,
- 72% of the aged in Texas now have one or more health insurance policies,
- Through the "Texas 65 Health Insurance Plan," Blue Cross' "Senior Texan Service," and other special programs offered to the aged by private companies, health insurance is available to all who want it at a reasonable cost,
- Studies by Belden Associates indicate that only a small percentage of the aged actually still need and want help in paying health costs (these aged would be covered by the program now being considered by the Texas Legislature).

In view of these facts, the national "medical care" tax proposal (the King-Anderson bill, H.R. 1) is not needed. "Medicare" benefits are very limited, covering about one quarter (25%) of the total yearly health care costs of the average aged person. "Medicare" would not cover physicians' services or surgical charges, nor would it cover the cost of drugs outside of institutional care.

The "medicare" proposal is an extremely expensive one. While we all are starting to enjoy a reduction in federal income taxes as a result of action by Congress last year, the "medicare" program would cost an estimated $1.7 billion dollars in additional taxes the first year. "Medicare" would increase payroll taxes to cover everyone over 65—even the wealthy. The employee who now pays a maximum tax of $174 annually would find the amount for Social Security benefits and "medicare" increased to $291 by 1971. Employers would pay a similar increase for each employee, thus resulting in higher prices for goods and services.

The Texas approach of providing medical, surgical and hospital care to those who need it is a more comprehensive, more economical program than "medicare," and it provides more benefits. If you object to paying higher payroll taxes for an undesirable, unneeded program, write your Congressman today. Ask him to oppose the "medicare" tax proposal, mentioning the programs for the aged now available in Texas. Ask him to support the Herlong-Curtis Elder-care Bill (H.R. 3727), which would make possible the broadening of the existing Texas program to provide medical, hospital and nursing home care for those few remaining aged who are still in need of help.

Jaycees Expecting Big Snake Hunt

A big collection of rattlesnakes is expected in Big Spring Friday, Saturday and Sunday as the third annual Rattlesnake Roundup is conducted here.

Plans for the big hunt and resulting exhibition of snakes have been under way for a number of weeks by some 70 members of the Jaycees, in addition to members of Webb AFB's Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 66-C. The class volunteered to assist with the project.

Members of the Jaycees and wives of the student class members are also joining in plans for the three-day event. Last year more than 1,700 rattlesnakes were collected in the hunt, with more than 80 hunters participating. Dalton Carr, Big Spring, won first place in the roundup with snakes weighing 427 pounds.

Again this year, deep-fat fried snake meat will be served at the roundup.

Preliminary field trips have already been made in preparation for the hunt. Most of the reptiles are captured as they are holed up in a den, with use of a common garden spray filled with gasoline. The gas is sprayed into the den and the snakes are thus driven outside where they are captured by use of hooks or tongs.

Included in plans for this year's roundup is a parade Thursday.

Registration for the roundup will be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday at the fair grounds. A snake handling and wildlife exhibit will be presented from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, with a special show planned for school students from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The snake handling and wildlife exhibit will be conducted again at 10 a.m. Saturday and Sunday.

A highlight of this year's program will be the dinner and dance Saturday night at Big Spring Country Club, with the crowning of "Miss Diamondback."

Entries in the rattlesnake hunt must be turned in by 5 p.m. each day and all hunters must register at the fairgrounds.

The roundup is the major money-raising affair each year for the Jaycees. Capt. Dick Wilson, Webb AFB, is chairman of the roundup, and Bill Ransburger and Shelly Downs will direct the show. Ransburger has been with the Sweetwater Jaycees for a number of years and is an experienced snake handler. Downs is a Florida curator of reptiles.

Court Plans Another Week Of Jury Cases

Fourteen pleas of guilty, six cases dismissed, and three cases passed marked the achievement in Howard County Court criminal session last week.

A second week of criminal jury cases is set for March 8. A third week, for appeal cases pending from corporation and justices of the peace courts, will open March 15.

A number of cases docketed for this past week and for the week of March 8, will be tried March 15 and 19 by special setting.

Prosecutor in these cases will be Wayne Burns, now district attorney, but who was county attorney at the time the cases were filed.

Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, was defense attorney or was otherwise involved in the special cases. This led to the resetting of the matters for special disposition.

Lee Porter, county judge, has announced a jury panel will report to his court March 8 for disposition of the cases called for that week.

Last week, a jury reported daily for duty, but the pleas of guilty and other actions on the cases set, kept the jurors from having to serve.

One More Enters Beauty Pageant

Mary Marguerite Smoot has entered competition in the Miss Diamondback Pageant at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday. The pageant is part of this year's Rattlesnake Roundup, sponsored by the Jaycees.

Miss Smoot is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smoot, 204 Jefferson. She is a senior student at the high school and is sponsored by the journalism department. She was a finalist in the school beauty pageant this month and received first place in the Sweet Sixteen contest at the high school last year.

The entry raised the total contestants in the pageant to four, with an additional week remaining for entries.

Initial voting for the contestants will be by donations at a penny-per-vote, with the top three girls to be judged the night of March 6 at the dinner and dance planned at the country club. Tickets for the evening are on sale by members of the Jaycees at $3.50 per person.

The program will begin with the dinner at 7:30 p.m., with the dance to begin at 9 p.m.

Girls wishing to enter the pageant may submit application blanks to Richard Hughes, Malone and Hogan Clinic, this week. Entrants must be single and never have been married, between the ages of 15 and 22, residents of Howard County or attending college within the county.

MARY SMOOT

A $100 college scholarship will be presented to the winning contestant, in addition to sponsorship in the Miss Big Spring Pageant if the contestant qualifies and desires to enter.

Girls entering the contest this week included Cynthia Carol Vaughn, Joanne Epley and Linda Anne Bradford, all students of Howard County Junior College.

Song Center Of Lawsuit

NEW YORK (AP)—Kids all over the country who are singing it apparently don't know or care whether it's spelled "supercalifragilisticexpialidocious" or "supercalafalistickeapealadokus."

But songwriters Gloria Parker and Barney Young care. About $12 million worth, they said in a suit filed in federal court.

They claim they wrote the second version, the one that ends in "dojus," and offered it to Walt Disney in 1961.

They had an "implicit agreement" with Disney, they contend that if he used the song he would pay them.

You can imagine their surprise, the complaint added, when they heard Julie Andrews sing "supercalifragilisticexpialidocious" in the hit movie "Mary Poppins" — music by Richard M. and Robert B. Sherman.

The suit names Miss Andrews, Disney and the Shermans as defendants.

Academy In Second Week

The second week of classes in the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement will begin Monday at Howard County Junior College, with study topics ranging from mob and riot control to accident investigation.

Two guest instructors are scheduled during the week. Stephen Haley, county attorney at Seminole, will lecture on driving while intoxicated offenses.

A representative of the drivers license division, Department of Public Safety, in Austin, Chester Burk, will discuss laws involving licensing.

Chief Jay Banks, Big Spring, will conduct classes on mob and riot control.

Classes during the week will include motor vehicle laws, obedience to law and the effect of traffic laws, traffic accident investigation and officer-violator relationship.

During the first week of the school, instruction has included the code of criminal procedure, criminal law, narcotics, laws of evidence, search and seizure and other topics.

Enrolled in the second term of the academy are 15 police officers, including three from Big Spring. The extension division of Texas A&M University and the Big Spring Police Department are co-sponsors of the academy.

Grinning Doll Cheers Court

DETROIT (AP) — Circuit Judge James Montante is using a doll named "Happy" to snap the tension in his courtroom.

Seeing the tiny doll with the ridiculous face ease the judge's tension and, in one recent case, it brought laughter to the face of a girl who had been crying.

Credit for the innovation goes to Montante's wife, Jean. She purchased the grinning doll recently after her husband conceded he got too tense in the courtroom and had snapped at two lawyers.

Things are different now.

"When I feel myself getting tense or exasperated, I look at 'Happy,'" the judge said. "That does it. I find myself smiling and right away everything gets better."

Two Fugitives Are Arrested

BROWNWOOD (AP) — Two hungry and tired convicts were arrested Saturday, less than 48 hours after they escaped a federal prison at El Reno near Oklahoma City.

A vast manhunt by 250 or so officers flushed the men from the Colorado River bottoms soon after sunup.

They are listed as Lewis Carson Jr., of Sapulpa, Okla., and Bobby Rudloff of Brownwood, whose wife, a waitress, and two children live here.

The fugitives, one nearly without clothes, rapped on a farm house door two miles south of the river bridge and asked a farmer to drive them to a filling station, saying they ran out of gas. The farmer called the sheriff and the arrest followed.

The men escaped Wednesday.

Half Of Trunk Line Completed

By PRESTON MAYNARD
A $400,000-plus addition to the city's public works facilities, the Beals Branch trunk sewer line, has passed the half-way mark in construction.

The construction pace, however, has lagged to as few as 50 feet of installation per day recently as underground water has hampered placing of the pipeline.

SLOWER PACE

The pace is about one month behind that held during the first weeks of construction, Public Works Director Ernest Lillard said this week, although the line can still be completed within the allotted time limit of 300 days.

Work began Nov. 11 and is scheduled for completion by Sept. 16.

Underground water in the ditch has caused slides to slough off or cave in, particularly in sandy soil or soil with considerable gravel, according to city engineers. Weather has caused some minor delays in the construction.

About half of the 25,000-foot pipeline has been installed, Lillard said.

The line is now in the area north of Second and Owens Streets, parallel to the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. tracks, north of the business district.

Next step in the construction will be at the point where work began, west of FM 700 near the sewage treatment plant, Lillard said. The line must be placed under FM 700 and connected to the treatment plant itself.

MORE WORKERS

An additional crew will be used as construction begins on some lateral lines in the downtown area, Lillard said. The lines are to be installed from Second Street south on Nolan to Fifth, west on Fifth to Runnels and south on Runnels to Sixth, then west on Sixth to the alley between Main and Runnels.

The relief lines will consist of 10-inch clay tile. The main pipeline is 21 to 24 inches in diameter, also of clay tile. It is designed to carry up to 1 1/2 million gallons of flow per day under maximum conditions.

The problem from underground water may be lessened somewhat as the grade is raised as the work approaches the downtown area, Lillard said. In the present area, along the T&P tracks, the grade is averaging about 10 to 11 feet. In the some 13,000 feet the line has covered, the depth has

Underground Water Hampers Work

Construction on the Beals Branch trunk sewer line has been delayed by presence of underground water in the ditch. Here work is shown at the area north of Owens Street, where the line is meeting a north-south sewage pipeline.

Work on the line, which was done after original bids on the project proved considerably higher than bond money provided.

Total costs of the project thus far will apparently amount to about $450,000, or about $50,000 above the bond totals. The funds to finance the additional costs are to come from money left over from the construction of the sewage treatment plant, according to Lillard.

RELIEF LINE
Work should be completed soon, Lillard said, on the installation of an eight-inch relief line on Settles Street. The line is from the alley north of Stadium Street, south on Settles to the alley south of Blount Street.

Work on the Settles Street line began about Dec. 1, with the project lacking completion of paving over the line installation.

Sobs, Moans Mark Rites For Malcolm

NEW YORK (AP) — Malcolm X, the slain black nationalist leader whose life was marked by turbulence and hatred for the white man, was laid to rest peacefully Saturday after Muslim rites attended by thousands and guarded by a virtual army of police.

While high tension pervaded the Harlem Negro section of Manhattan, threatened violence failed to materialize. Anonymous callers had telephoned a number of threats that the church would be bombed.

ONE INCIDENT
As it turned out, only one incident marred the calm which prevailed in and around the church.

Just before Malcolm's coffin was borne from the church, there was a crash of glass and loud yelling in nearby West 147th Street. Police rushed to the scene but returned to their posts shortly, reporting that the disturbance was merely "family trouble" — a quarrel.

About 1,000 mourners filled the Faith Temple Church of God in Christ, Protestant, which had volunteered its facilities as a "Muslimian gesture" for the Muslim service.

Several thousand more listened to the eulogies over loudspeakers set up on the street outside, and hundreds of others watched from windows of dwellings in the vicinity. A portion of the rites was televised nationally.

WIDOW VEILED
Malcolm's widow, dressed in black and her face covered by a heavy black veil, sat at the front of the church with relatives and friends. She is pregnant with a fifth child.

Sobs, moans and applause broke the silence often during the 55-minute service. Ahmed Hassoum, representing the Islamic Center in Geneva, Switzerland, looked down at Malcolm's white-robed body as it lay facing eastward toward Mecca in a burnished copper casket, and evoked heavy applause when he told the audience:

"The highest thing a Muslim can aspire to is to die on the battlefield and not at the bedside."

"NOT DEAD"
Again there was prolonged applause when the speaker said that "those who die on the battlefield are not dead — they are alive."

The principal eulogy was delivered by Ossie Davis, Negro actor, writer, producer and friend of Malcolm.

Dr. Hunt Appeals For Support Of Junior College Bonds

The decision to ask voter approval of a $500,000 bond issue for Howard County Junior College share of new science and library buildings is the result of over three years of study, Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said Saturday.

When the board voted in December 1963 to apply for a 40 per cent grant under the College Facilities Act, the matter had been under consideration for over a year. Dr. C. C. Colvert, professor and consultant in junior college education at the University of Texas, had made a study of HCJC's outlook in early 1963. Commenting on a study of the year before, he said estimates of growth were too conservative, and he projected new ones, which now appear too conservative.

He did say that by 1972-73 enrollment could reach 1,000 students or more. A new science building and a new library building are needed and should be constructed as soon as possible.

GROWING ENROLLMENT
"The construction of these new buildings is a necessity if the college is to continue to maintain its high standing of accreditation," said Dr. Hunt. "Pressures are bound to increase. Twelve schools in close proximity to the HCJC district had 715 graduates in June 1964; by this June the number is due to be 1,652. By June 1968 the number of graduating seniors will be twice what it was last year. These high schools are the big feeders to HCJC, and it becomes apparent that more space must be provided immediately."

None of this demand takes into account the normal growth of the community and area, he said.

If the grant from the College Facilities Act should not materialize, the board is prepared to issue only bonds for the library and field house, he said. Should there be no help later, then voters would have another chance to decide on funds for financing the other building.

NO MORE TAXES
No tax rate is anticipated, he said, because the interest and sinking fund has a balance of $48,562 which will take care of the new issue for at least two years. In June 1966 the HCJC Refunding Bonds will have been paid off, relieving demands on the fund by $9,000 per annum.

The menu will consist of beans, ham, salad, corn bread, homemade pie or cake, and drink. Serving will be family style.

Teacher Parley Set For Friday

All public school teachers of Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands will go to school next Friday, while the youngsters get a holiday. More than 4,000 teachers and administrators from the 16-county District IV Texas State Teachers Association will be at the 30th annual meeting in Odessa.

The district delegates' session will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday when 160 delegates meet to hear committee reports, consider resolutions, and elect officers for the next year.

The first general session will begin at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the Odessa High School fieldhouse. Dr. Carl S. Winters, world traveler and lecturer, and authority in crime prevention and rehabilitation, will be the principal speaker.

Special luncheon meetings will also feature speakers who are authorities in particular fields.

Section meetings in the afternoon, most important part of the convention, will take teachers principals; educational secretaries, school nurses, librarians, counselors and superintendents.

Mrs. LaRue Hutchinson, junior high classroom teacher from Andrews, and president of the District IV association, will preside. Paul Kantz, Midland, is vice president, Mrs. Rosaleen Huff, Kermit, is secretary and M. O. Woolam, Andrews, is treasurer.

Counties included in the district are Andrews, Borden, Crane, Dawson, Ector, Gaines, Glasscock, Howard, Loving, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Reagan, Scurry, Upton and Winkler.

Soto's Case First On Criminal Slate

Higinio Soto, whose attempt at bank robbery last Oct. 23 proved most unprofitable, will go to trial Tuesday in 118th District Court. His will be the first case to be called up when Judge Ralph Caton has qualified a jury panel for a week of criminal cases.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, said he planned to dispose of Soto's case as No. 1 on the docket. Judge Caton will hear pleas of guilty, if any develop Monday.

NINE
Nine criminal cases are on the docket this week. All concern individuals who are in the county jail. Soto, for example, has been in jail since the day he entered the Security State Bank, handed a teller a note telling her that the bank was being held up, and ordered her to hand him the money. He was apprehended a short time later near the Big Spring State Hospital.

Other defendants who are slated for trial and the charges against them are:

Horace A. Smith, assault with intent to commit murder. Smith, arrested Oct. 4, is accused of beating his wife so severely that she was hospitalized for a long time and later committed to the Big Spring State Hospital. He has not been able to post bond and has been in jail since his arrest.

Antonio DeLeon, assault with intent to commit rape. He has been held in jail since Sept. 24.

ROBBERY
James W. LeMay, robbery by assault. He has been held in jail since Oct. 23 for the robbery of the McClure Service Station on East Fourth.

Lincoln Brumett, forgery and passing. Brumett has been held in jail since Aug. 13.

John Marvin Peters, burglary. He has been in jail since Aug. 30. He is accused of breaking into the office building of Union Local 828, IUOE.

Bobby Beardsley, car theft. He has been held since Aug. 20 for taking a car from Delores White.

Robert Earl Frymire, theft. He has been in jail for about two months.

Charles Ray King, forgery and passing. He was indicted by the grand jury which met earlier this month.

Another defendant, J. C. Alldredge, charged with writing a worthless check, who has been in jail since Nov. 10, is expected to plead guilty. He had announced his intention to do so some days ago, when he was brought before the court and provided with an attorney.

ATTORNEYS
All of the defendants on the week's docket are represented by court-named lawyers. Norman Spencer Jr. and Roger Brown were selected by the judge to appear for all nine defendants. The attorneys have consulted with their clients and with Burns several times since the docket was set.

A panel of 102 jurors was called for service at the week's session. On Saturday, more than 25 of the panel had already been removed from the list when they sent in valid claims for jury exemption or were shown to be non-residents of the county.

The docket will be the first criminal jury week for Burns in Howard County since he assumed the office of district attorney. He will be assisted in the prosecution of the cases called up for trial by Dee Jon Davis, county attorney.

Jury trials are planned Tuesday through Friday.

Hospital Laundry Bid Date Is Due

Consideration of final plans, together with bid dates and wage scales for the addition to the Big Spring State Hospital laundry, is on the state board agenda Monday.

The hospital has been functioning with space and equipment installed in 1939 at the construction of the hospital, although the patient load has more than doubled.

An inter-budgetary transfer of funds also will be up for consideration.

Chevy II 100 2-Door Sedan

Chevy II

With aluminized exhausts that discourage corrosion... Delcotron generators that encourage longer battery life... brakes that adjust themselves... rocker panels that flush themselves free of dirt and salt. Tight? They're downright miserly!

You're looking at the lowest priced sedan and station wagon that Chevrolet makes.

We make a point of this since they neither look nor act their price.

They're roomy. The sedan seats six. The wagon gives you a full nine feet from the back of the front seat to the tip of the lowered tailgate.

They're rugged. The unitized body is by Fisher. Up front, there's an independent suspension system and in the rear, Mono-Plate (you'll never hear a squeak) springs.

They're good looking. Clean. Functional. Foam-cushioned front seats, padded front armrests and color-keyed front seat belts are among many unexpected standard equipment features.

You can get an economical 4-cylinder engine in the sedan or in both cars, a 120-hp Hi-Thrift Six. It's fast to warm up, idles almost silently and is very, very easy on gas.

For even more power, there's a special Six you can order: the 230-cubic-inch Turbo-Thrift job.

As we said earlier, these are our lowest priced cars. But you'll never know just how economical they are until you own one.

Killings Laid To $$ Fuss

BOERNE, Tex. (AP)—Sheriff Douglas Kuebel blamed a family fuss over money for a triple slaying in a Boerne home. Kuebel found the bodies after sheriff's officers in San Antonio advised that a soldier who surrendered to them said he had killed a man here. In the house, neatly covered with a blanket, were the bodies of Roger Wilkinson, 22; his mother, Mrs. Marian Wilkinson, 58, and his nephew Jerry, 3. Wilkinson had been shot. His partly paralyzed mother and the little boy were beaten to death. There was a .22 caliber rifle with a broken stock in the room.

Kuebel said Army Pvt. Gary Wilkinson, 21, a brother of Roger and uncle of Jerry, signed a statement admitting he killed the three after being returned here from San Antonio. Gary Wilkinson told officers he was being sent overseas and came home for a visit while en route from Ft. Hood, Tex., to Ft. Dix, N.J. An argument developed, Kuebel quoted him as saying, because Gary lost or someone stole the Army expense money given him for the trip.

Youth Leads Rodeo Ratings

DENVER—Kenny Stanton, 24, Weiser, Idaho, cowboy, led pro rodeo's seasonal money charts last week after the annual San Antonio stock show rodeo. Audit of results from the 10-day rodeo, which ended Sunday night, disclosed Stanton's take amounted to $9,900 after winning $3,379 in bareback bronc and bull riding, the Rodeo Cowboys Association's headquarters said.

Stanton, a tight-twisted, little 145-pounder, now in his fifth year as a professional contestant, banged out $5,288 in the same events two weeks ago at the Fort Worth rodeo. He was ninth in overall winnings ($20,492) in 1964, but has never led before.

Other action at San Antonio, the RCA reported, saw Mark Schrickler, 26, Sutherlin, Ore., win $3,549 in steer wrestling and calf roping, for the biggest single chunk of an overall $55,753 payoff. Seventy of a total 319 entries shared in the prize money.

Calf roping honors went to Glen Franklin, 29, House, N. M., who bumped world champion Dean Oliver, 35, Boise, Idaho, to second place in national roping standings, after posting an overall $8,294.

Oliver drew a blank, as did Jim Bob Altizer, 33, Del Rio, who had won the San Antonio calf roping each year since 1961.

Recent winners at San Antonio: saddle broncs, Kenny McLean, Okanagan Falls, B. C., $1,644; bareback broncs, Jim Houston, Omaha, Neb., $1,405; Bull riding, Ken Stanton, Weiser, Idaho, $2,716; calf roping, Glen Franklin, House, N. M., $2,591; steer wrestling, Mark Schrickler, Sutherlin, Ore., $2,297.

O. H. Ivie Selected Engineer Of Year

Owen H. Ivie, assistant general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District and immediate past president of the Permian Basin chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, was named "engineer of the year" Saturday evening.

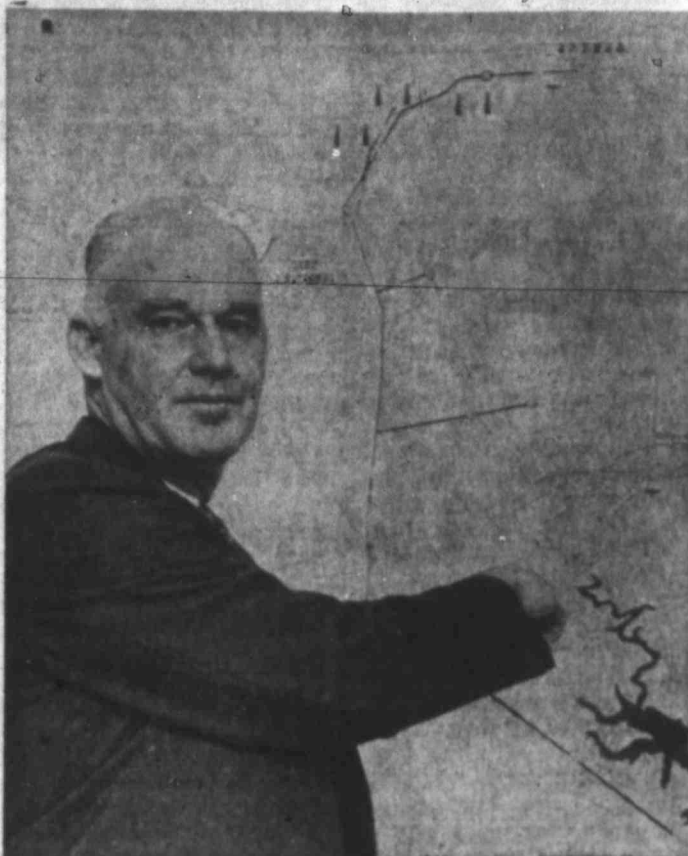

The award was presented during the annual Engineers' Week Banquet at the Lincoln Hotel in Odessa. Ivie is the ninth person to be so honored by the Permian Basin chapter. Kenneth Esmond, himself holder of the award and currently president of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, presented Ivie with a bronze plaque. Ernest Angelo, Midland, president of the Basin chapter and who presided at the banquet, presented Ivie with a certificate of appreciation for his service last year as president.

180 MEMBERS
Approximately 150 engineers and wives attended the banquet affair which was addressed by Ed Foreman, Midland, former congressman from the 18th Congressional District. The chapter now has 180 members in 15 West Texas counties.

Ivie has been with the CRMWD almost since it began to function. He attended Southwestern University in Georgetown, served in the U. S. Navy and upon separation in the spring of 1946, he went to work with the Texas Highway Department on a survey crew. Later he did design work for the department at Stephenville and Fort Worth before joining the firm of Freese, Nichols and Endress. He worked on projects in Bangs and Tenna before being assigned here as a file engineer on dam construction in May of 1952. The following Jan. 1 he joined the staff of the CRMWD and upon completion of the construction became superintendent of production, assistant to the general manager, and on Oct. 27, 1959, assistant general manager to E. V. Spence. He received his registration from the Texas board in July, 1958.

DEVELOPMENTS
Besides helping supervise much of the original construction of the Lake J. B. Thomas dam and Bull Creek diversion as well as the main supply line, he also had a hand in construction of four other pipeline projects for the district, the development of a system of electronically controlled pump stations, four terminal storage basins, and other programs. He pioneered in the experiment to recharge the district's wells in the Martin County well field during winter months with water from Lake J. B. Thomas so that it would be in storage for summer peaking.

Ivie was married in Fort Worth in 1945 to Yvonne Bannan, and they have three daughters, Susan, a senior in Big Spring High School; Sandra, a junior; and Nancy, a freshman. He has served as a vice president of the Big Spring Band Boosters and currently is a director, is a member of the American Business Club, of the

New Post For Sanders

WASHINGTON (AP)—Barefoot Sanders of Dallas was sworn as assistant deputy attorney general this week.

The oath was administered by Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, also from Dallas and father of Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, Sanders' immediate superior.

A late arrival for the ceremony was Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N. Y., who was attorney general nearly four years. He had to wait on the edge of a crowd which overflowed the office of Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, Kennedy's successor.

"So this is what it's come to," Kennedy quipped as he waited for the ceremony to end—"looking in from the outside."

'No Execution' Seen For Ruby

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jack Ruby "will never be executed" for the murder of presidential assassin Lee Oswald, predicts Melvin Belli of San Francisco, one of the lawyers who defended Ruby.

Ruby "will be judged insane and sent to an institution for the rest of his life," Belli said. "He will never be executed."

Belli was dismissed by Ruby's family after the trial. He has completed a 100-page brief of the court and "no appeals court under the sun could ever confirm a guilty verdict" against Ruby, he said.

City Woman's Brother Dies

Hershel Wilson, 60, Dallas, brother of Mrs. Bert Affleck, 1001 Howell, died in Dallas Friday after a long illness. He was also the uncle of Mrs. Onkey Hagood of this city. Mrs. Affleck will attend the funeral which will be at 10 a.m. Monday in the Ed C. Smith Funeral Home with burial in a Dallas cemetery. Mrs. Affleck said that her brother had visited in Big Spring often and was known by a number of local residents. He is survived by his widow.

Flexibility On Viet Nam Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today that President Johnson must be allowed "as much flexibility as possible" in dealing with Viet Nam. Mansfield, who has said that attempts to negotiate a settlement should not be brushed aside, told an informal news conference he does not agree with some of his colleagues that the President should make a report to the people at this time.

Houk Says Berra Wasn't The Type

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Roger Smith is a New York stock broker here on a short vacation. He has owned a box seat at Yankee Stadium for years.

This year he has decided to buy a box seat at the Mets' Shea Stadium instead.

"When the Yankees fired Yogi Berra," Smith said simply, "I decided to quit them, too."

It's been 19 weeks since the act was committed but the resentment over Berra's firing as manager of the Yankees doesn't appear to have waned the least. Moreover, the mystery concerning Yogi's firing remains as deep as ever.

"Yogi Berra was my biggest mistake," said Houk. "Looking back, the mistake was made in hiring Yogi as manager, not in firing him."

"The plain truth is that Yogi was not ready to manage. Everyone felt — me included — that Yogi would make a good manager. It did not turn out that way. Nobody was more disappointed than I was. I had, and still have, a great respect and genuine liking for him as a person."

"The hardest thing I ever had to do in my whole life was to tell him it hadn't worked out. The decision to fire Yogi was made some time near the end of August. It made no difference that we won the pennant. It would have made no difference if we had won the World Series in four straight."

"Why was Yogi fired?"

"It's been written that we fired Yogi because of the Lintz incident — because of the four straight losses to Chicago in late August — because of his inability to control the players," Houk said. "None of these reasons is the correct one."

"I'd rather not go into the reasons but, believe me, we felt we had very good ones."

After the Yankees had lost four straight in Chicago, Berra had to reprimand Phil Lintz, utility infielder, for playing a harmonica on a bus ride to the airport. Lintz eventually was fined $200.

Houk insisted the Yankee players and their feelings about Berra did not influence the decision. He did not deny that several players approached him not to bury Yogi but at the same time not to praise him.

"The decision to fire Berra was not made on the spur of the moment," Houk said. "We weighed every angle. In the end, we felt the move would benefit not only the organization but Yogi himself. I still feel that way."

Houk said his only regret has been Berra's decision to leave the Yankee organization and join the Mets as a coach.

"Naturally, Yogi was shocked when I broke the news to him," Houk said, "but he took it like a champion. We told him he would be back in uniform as a coach in 1966 after one year as a consultant during which he would call his own shots."

"Until two days before he signed with the Mets, I was sure he would remain with us. I'm sorry he didn't. For me, he will always be a Yankee."

Steer Backstop

Eddie Crittenden, a junior, is a candidate for the regular catcher's job on the Big Spring High School baseball team, which is in the midst of preparation for a doubleheader with Andrews here Friday. The first of two seven inning games gets under way at 1 p.m.

Steers Point For Andrews

Thanks to an improvement in the weather, the Big Spring Steers have been getting in a few good licks lately in their baseball drills.

The Longhorns launch play here Friday afternoon in a double header, at which time they entertain the Andrews Mustangs. The first of the two seven-inning bouts gets under way at 1 p.m.

Coaches Roy Baird and Tom King recently cut their squad to 27 boys, eight of whom are hurriers.

The pitchers are Charles (Swift) Burdette, Freddy Mears and Hank Pope, all letter winners; Gary Mears and Lefty Bobby Griffin, reserve lettermen; Larry Broughton, who also plays the outfield; and sophomore Johnny McCullough and David Mitchell.

Behind the plate, the Steers appear to be fairly well fixed, even though Charley West is no longer around. Johnny Stone, Yogi Anderson, Eddie Crittenden and Terry White, the latter a sophomore, are all out for that position.

The infield likely will consist of Howard Bain at third, Sammy Mims or John Thomas at shortstop, Greg Pate or Rod Roberts at second and Eddie Thomas or Bobby Griffin at first. Richard Cauley will fill in somewhere in the inner cordon.

Bain, Pate and Thomas are lettermen while Bain and Thomas were regulars last year.

Van Tom Whatley is the only letterman outfielder back and he will probably play center, if he can win the job away from Terry Smith and Gary Gressett.

Ronald Robey or Jesse Zapata will be in center while Jerry Wilson, Berry King and Manuel Olague will contend for the job in right field.

The Steers were originally to have played Snyder two games in Snyder next Saturday but that arrangement has been canceled.

was not ready to manage. Everyone felt — me included — that Yogi would make a good manager. It did not turn out that way. Nobody was more disappointed than I was. I had, and still have, a great respect and genuine liking for him as a person.

"The hardest thing I ever had to do in my whole life was to tell him it hadn't worked out. The decision to fire Yogi was made some time near the end of August. It made no difference that we won the pennant. It would have made no difference if we had won the World Series in four straight."

"Why was Yogi fired?"

"It's been written that we fired Yogi because of the Lintz incident — because of the four straight losses to Chicago in late August — because of his inability to control the players," Houk said. "None of these reasons is the correct one."

"I'd rather not go into the reasons but, believe me, we felt we had very good ones."

After the Yankees had lost four straight in Chicago, Berra had to reprimand Phil Lintz, utility infielder, for playing a harmonica on a bus ride to the airport. Lintz eventually was fined $200.

Houk insisted the Yankee players and their feelings about Berra did not influence the decision. He did not deny that several players approached him not to bury Yogi but at the same time not to praise him.

A surprisingly large turnout of fans, practically all of whom were from Ackerly (where Sands High School is located), was on hand.

Bill Moon, a 6-foot-6 senior, dominated the boards for the Indians and got good help from such operatives as Freddy Vegil, Lou Walker Jr., and Jimmy Johnson.

Sands, one of the smallest teams in the meet, usually had to be content with one shot from outside. When it didn't fall, the Mustangs lost possession.

The aggressive Ponies got in foul trouble, too. Their scoring ace, Eddie Herm, sat out much of the third quarter due to infractions and departed permanently two minutes deep in the fourth period after picking up his fifth penalty.

Teammates Larry Chapman and Lynn Maxwell were soon to follow him to the penalty box.

Moos wound up as the game's top scorer with 24 points, most of which he got on tips. Walker had 21 for the winners while Herm and Lancaster were the only Mustangs to hit in double figure. Herm had 14 and Lancaster ten.

Sands thus ended its season with a 20-6 record.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — North Carolina's Tar Heels, using brilliant defense and deadly shooting, shocked Duke's nationally fifth-ranked basketball team Saturday for the second time this season, 71-66.

Army's acceptance to the basketball tourney was announced by Fordham Coach Johnny Bach, chairman of the NIT selection committee, soon after the Cadets ended their regular season with a 62-52 victory over Navy. Western Kentucky, runner-up in the Ohio Valley Conference, accepted before its Saturday night game against Murray State.

Vaulting Star Son Of Football Great

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mel Hein Jr. thinks perhaps his father, a member of the National Football League's Hall of Fame, was a little disappointed that the son devoted his collegiate athletic career to track.

Mel Jr. now has won a niche of his own, the American indoor record in the pole vault.

"I played football some in high school, but I went to the University of Southern California on a track scholarship," the 24-year-old vaulter said after his record performance of 16-5 1/2 in Friday night's Golden Gate Invitational meet.

"Dad and I talked it over and decided it would be best for me to stick to track. I guess he might have been a little disappointed," said young Mel, who stands 6-foot-1 and weighs 170, far less than his father.

Now a USC graduate and physical education instructor at a Gardena, Calif., junior high school, Hein competes for the Southern California Striders Club.

His vaulting performance beat John Uelses' mark of 16-4 1/2, but Hein failed on three tries at 16-9 in an effort to do better than the 16-8 1/2 by Penttil Nikula in 1963 during a meet in his native Finland. Mel Hein Sr. was a collegiate line star at Washington State and an all-pro center eight times with the New York Giants, 1933-40. He now is an assistant coach at Southern California.

Dillard Looks Back On Long Career As Horse Trainer

By HARDY PRICE
Horses like to run. Since the earliest times man has pitted one horse against another in a race of speed and endurance. It is called the sport of kings and justly so, as the ancient Assyrians, Babylonians and Egyptians were great fans of the sport.

A chariot race is described in Homer's Iliad and in 648 B.C. races for "riding horses" were introduced to the Olympic games. In Rome, one of the most popular games at the Circus was horse racing.

Modern horse racing began in England in the time of Henry VII. From its humble beginnings on a field near Chester, modern horse racing has grown into one of the world's best known and least understood sports. No one knows this better than Johnny Ray Dillard, Fairview cotton gin operator and highly successful horse trainer, and owner.

LICENCED IN '36
Dillard received his trainer's license in 1936, the last year pari-mutuel betting was legal in Texas. The last legal pari-mutuel race held in Texas was a scant 40 miles from here in Midland. Dillard was there that day.

"They all realized that it was all over and the purses were a total of about $200 a race," said Dillard.

Today at even the smallest tracks in the country, purses are at least $1,000 or better. In 1936 Texas stood second only to Kentucky in thoroughbred horse breeding. Dillard would like to see Texas regain its position in the standings.

In the past years, several bills have been introduced in the Texas Legislature that would authorize local option elections to legalize pari-mutuel betting.

"I think it would be an economic boom to Texas if it passes," said Dillard.

Proponents of the bill feel that it stands a good chance of passing. Gov. John Connally has made no statement either way concerning the bill.

Although there are no tracks in Texas, Dillard is a horseman who races throughout the country. His horses are presently running at Sunland Park in New Mexico, just a hop-skip and-a-jump from the Texas line.

ON TO OMAHA
From El Paso, Dillard will take his stable to Omaha and then to Denver. He hasn't decided what track he will move to after the close of Denver, the week after Labor Day.

"You go to the track the horse will fit," stated Dillard. "It's all according to how the horse is coming along."

His favorite track is Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha, Neb. When asked why it was his favorite Dillard pointed to the information book on the oval stating that $1,400,000 in purses would be offered for the 42 days of racing in 1965.

At the present time Dillard has charge of eight horses at Sunland. Some are his, others he owns a part of, but he is the trainer for all of them. He describes himself as a public trainer and has no jockeys under contract to ride for him. "Ninety-five per cent of all the jockeys are free-lance and all the big jockeys are," said Dillard. As a trainer he must personally saddle his horses in the paddock prior to the race.

He holds trainer's licenses in New Mexico, Illinois, Nebraska, Colorado and Arizona. He has held licenses in Arkansas, California and Old Mexico.

HORSE A CULL
His first horse was named Port Andy. "He was a cull from the W. T. Waggoner stables and I think I paid $250 for him, but I'm not sure."

Dillard now gets the majority of his horses from Kentucky. He is strictly a thoroughbred horse man. He likes to get untried horses and then develop them.

"I buy a horse just as cheap as I can and try to hold the purchase price under $5,000," said Dillard.

A point in case is his prize mare, Penny For Luck. The five-year-old mare was named filly and mare of the year at Sunland in 1964. She has won seven races in the last 18 months.

Dillard paid around $2,000 for her, she has earned around $35,000 in the races and would sell for around $15,000 to anyone who knows horses. This process is known as good horse sense.

LONG SCHOOLING
Dillard starts his horses with 200 days of schooling and training as a minimum. Just because a horse looks like it can run does not mean that he can. A horse must be taught to hug the rail, break fast out of the chutes and to become accustomed to the strange world of racing.

In his nearly 30 years of racing, Dillard has had a number of outstanding horses, among them Equichall. During the time the mare was in her prime, she earned more than $50,000. Her heyday was 1954 when she won the $10,000 Ak-Sar-Ben Handicap.

Other notable horses Dillard trained were Merry-Bo, one of the best sprinters in the nation in 1961-62; Chic Polly, which recorded the fastest 3/4 furlongs in the nation in 1961; Bay Thrust, stake winner of $43,000; Bowl of Stars, Colorado Lassie Stakes winner in 1964 at Denver and Penny For Luck.

Horse racing is not a haphazard affair. Training a horse is serious business. Dillard keeps records on all his horses and makes daily entries in the books as to what the horses did that day.

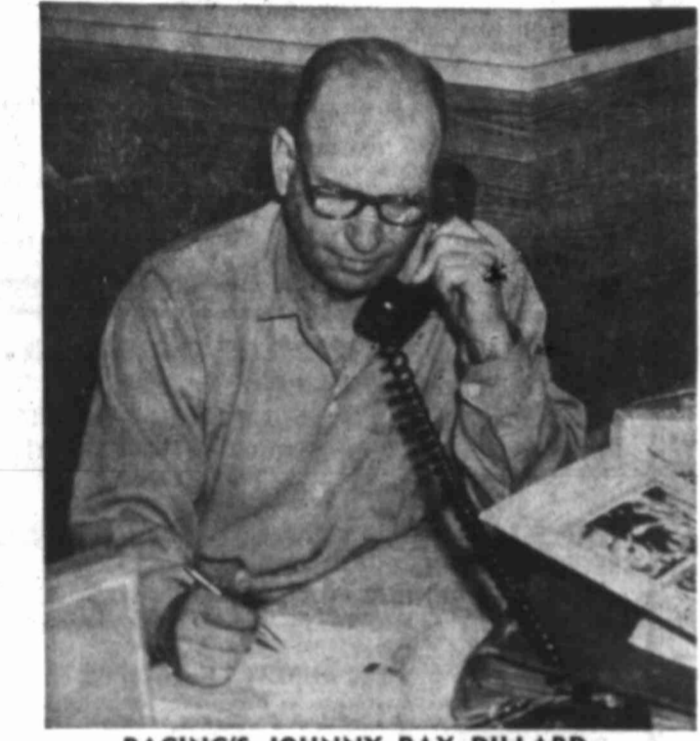

A past president of the Texas Horse Raisers' Association and a member of the Texas Racing Association and nation-wide Thoroughbred Racing Association, Dillard scoffs at critics who say racing is an immoral sport.

He explained that the TRA has its own police force headed by a former FBI man, which keeps a close watch on all race tracks in the country.

"Most times a known pick-pocket or bookie will be thrown off a track before he can get through the gate," said Dillard.

The TRA not only keeps track of underworld characters, but also polices members of the association to make sure that a horse is not doped before a race and to insure that all horses have an equal chance in a race.

"Horse racing is better policed than any sport I know of," stated Dillard.

Terrell And Machen Square Off Friday

CHICAGO (AP) — Ernie Terrell, 6-foot-6 Chicagoan, and well-tested Eddie Machen tangle for the World Boxing Association's version of the heavyweight title Friday night.
Cassius Clay, generally regarded the reigning heavyweight king, was stripped of recognition by the WBA because of his rematch with Sonny Liston in violation of the WBA's no return-bout rule. Liston was dropped from the WBA ratings after one of his brushes with the law.

The WBA ranks Terrell No. 1 contender for the vacant crown, with Floyd Patterson second and Machen No. 3. Patterson, impressive winner recently over George Chuvalo in a stirring WBA's elimination program.
With Clay and Liston out of WBA favor, and Patterson un-

San Angelo Rams Defeat Texans To Tie For Title

LEVELLAND — San Angelo hit a jump shot from 15 feet shocked South Plains with a 65-64 defeat here Friday night and climbed into a tie with Howard County Junior College for first place in the Western Conference.
SAG and HCJC finished regular season play in the league with 12-4 record. South Plains dropped back to a tie for third place, a full game off the pace.
Tommy Gramly won the game for San Angelo with five seconds left in the contest when interested in an elimination series, this bout is receiving less than universal acclaim. The British Boxing Board of Control considers it "little more than a joke" and the European Boxing Union, although it does not recognize Clay, says the match is nothing more than a preliminary to an eventual fight involving Patterson.

Setting for the 15-round bout between Terrell, 25-year-old, guitar-strumming bachelor, and 32-year-old Machen, a father of four from Portland, Ore., is the 12,000-seat International Amphitheater.

Co-promoter Irv Schoenwald hopes the South Side arena, scaled for $102,000, will be at least half-filled and the bout will gross about $50,000. There will be no television, closed circuit or otherwise, or radio broadcast of the fight.
The 210-pound Terrell, a half-foot taller than the 192-pound Machen, is rated a 7-5 favorite as he seeks a 13th successive victory since being knocked out by rugged Cleveland Williams in seven rounds on April 3, 1962.

Amarillo College's Bill Murray (31) makes as if he's going to ride the back of HCJC's Kirk Papp (51) in the action-filled picture above, snapped during the Western Conference basketball game here Thursday night. Actually, a foul was called on HCJC's Tom Carter (22) for hitting Murray's arm. No. 43 is Ronnie Welty of Amarillo. HCJC won the game, 185-67, to clinch a tie for first place in the league standings. (Photo by Kenneth Good)

Ground Broken Friday For Raw Nylon Complex

Ground was broken Friday afternoon for four units which will almost double the size of the burgeoning petrochemical complex at Odessa.

Gov. John Connally, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Congressman Richard White, and a score of state legislators, had a hand in ceremonies which surrounded the start of construction of facilities to produce nylon raw materials.

Rep. White termed it a "pattern for the future and a profile in progress," and Rep. A. C. Pickens, Odessa, presented a House-Senate resolution by the state legislature commending Odessa, El Paso Natural Gas Products Company and Beau-nit, which will take the output and turn it into nylon and into garments. Irwin S. Meltzer, president of Beau-nit, noted that his company selected growth-oriented companies, which have shown by action that they understand the problems of new industries. He termed this the third element in a perfect blend for industrialization.

200 WORKING
Already 200 construction workers are busy on the site, just west of the butadiene and styrene plants. Timetable for the project calls for the ammonia facility to come on stream by August, followed in October by one turning out nitric acid, in November by one producing adipic acid, and finally in December by the unit which turns out hexamethylenediamine. This will go to Etowah, Tenn., for spinning into nylon.

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company at Big Spring will produce cyclohexane, one of the compounds which, with adipic acid, will produce the final raw material. R. L. Tollett, president, and other Cosden officials were on hand for the ceremonies.

The new plant, costing about $50,000,000 will turn out some 40,000,000 pounds of hexamethylenediamine per year. Around 125 new employees will be required for operation.

Both W. D. (Bill) Noel, president of El Paso Natural Gas Products Company, and Meltzer were honored during the round of events which symbolized the joint venture. Both were praised for their business acumen and foresight which had made Odessa the largest inland petrochemical center in the nation and world.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER
Facilities for producing butadiene and styrene were constructed in Odessa in 1957 and, with these products, General Tire and Rubber Co. began to turn out synthetic rubber. Later Rexall was interested in a joint venture, and polyethylene and polypropylene were turned out. In addition, the complex produces ethylene, propylene.

Gov. Connally, in one of his addresses, predicted that Texas would reach 12,000,000 population by 1970 and said the next step is to interest consumer industries to come to Texas. Retail sales of 13.7 billion should

Wayne Atkins With U.S. Steel Oilwell Division In Illinois

Wayne B. Atkins, former employe of the Oilwell Division of United States Steel at Odessa, has been named sales representative of the same company at Fairfield, Ill. J. P. O'Toole, eastern area manager, has announced the appointment effective Feb. 1.

Atkins was first employed by Oilwell at Odessa in 1946. He has filled various sales and managerial positions for the division at McCamey, Big Spring, Snyder, Hobbs, N. M., and Olney, Ill. He is a native of Meriden, and attended Hillsboro Junior College.

justify mills, factories and other industries converting raw materials into finished products, he said. He and other speakers pledged to do all they could to provide a good industrial climate in Texas.

Three Odessa banks joined in sponsoring some of the functions along with El Paso Natural Gas Products. Scores of out-of-town writers and other guests attended.

D. W. BOND JR.

Cabot Promotes Bond For Western Region

D. W. Bond Jr., Pampa, who has been with Cabot Corporation since 1950, has been promoted to Industrial Relations Director, Western Region. E. L. Green Jr., vice president and general manager of Cabot Western Region, announced the promotion effective March 1.

Bond succeeds Reno Stinson, who is retiring after 39 years with the company.

He came to Cabot at Ville Platte, La., as a control tester after graduating from Louisiana State University in 1950 with a B.S. degree in chemical engineering. He has held the positions of laboratory supervisor, junior engineer, plant engineer, and superintendent of manufacturing and processing, and was transferred to Pampa as personnel director in November 1959.

For the past four years Bond has handled all Western Region union negotiations. He is also in charge of company policy as related to employees, salary, wage, and benefit administration, employee training and development programs, safety programs, scholarship and endowment programs, and mediums of communication.

Bond is a deacon in the First Presbyterian Church, president of the Panhandle Personnel Association, director of the Pampa Club, and is a member of the Top of Texas Masonic Lodge No. 1381. He and Mrs. Bond have three children, ages 9, 10 and 13.

Locations have been filed with the Railroad Commission for drilling of two new wells in the Permian Basin area adjacent to Howard County.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. will drill to a contract depth of 8,350 feet in the Spraberry Trend Area of Glasscock County. Its No. 1 Sam Rattiff, 15 miles southwest of Garden City, is staked 990 feet from the south and west lines of section 10, block 36, T-4-s, T&P survey. Outpost operations have been scheduled in Reagan, Crockett and Upton counties.

Joins Humble

HOUSTON (AP) — O. L. Luper of New York has been elected a director of the Humble Oil & Refining Co. Luper will join the board of the Houston-based firm April 1. He is executive assistant to the chairman of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Great Western Drilling Co. of Midland will drill No. 1-BB University, a half mile north of the recent discovery of Ellenburger oil and Fusselman gas production in the Texon field of Reagan County. The 10,500-foot test is two and three-quarter miles west of Texon, 467 feet from the south and 990 feet from the east lines of section 8, block 2, University Lands survey.

Delta Drilling Co. of Odessa and Pauley Petroleum, Inc. of Midland No. 1-2 Couch is three-quarters of a mile southwest of the Ozona, Southwest multiphase field of Crockett County, nine miles southwest of Ozona, 525 feet from the south and 5,225 feet from the west lines of section 2-QR2, William Powell survey. Offshore Drill Units Now Built For Depth

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — The emphasis is on depth for offshore oil drilling units now under construction.

Offshore Magazine reports 28 mobile units under construction or near contract stage with 11 of them in the 600-foot water depth bracket. Only two are designed to operate in maximum depths less than 150 feet.

A drilling boom in the early stages of development in the North Sea area has occasioned need in Great Britain and Western Europe for mobile units.

Of the 11 units with rated water depths up to 600 feet, five are in various stages of planning and construction in the United States, four in Great Britain and Western Europe, and two in the Far East.

Heaviest emphasis in this country currently is on units capable of operating in 200 to 300 feet of water. Operators are moving into deeper Gulf of Mexico areas and stepping up plans for exploration in the Pacific off the coasts of California, Oregon and Washington.

Eight of the 15 U.S. units listed by Offshore are in the 200 to 300-foot bracket.

Operations off Louisiana in the Gulf dominate the domestic industry's offshore efforts but West Coast interest is increasing.

The federal government held its first sale of Washington-Oregon offshore leases last October, offering a million acres. They brought $35.5 million in high bids.

This was a small amount compared with Gulf of Mexico sales but federal officials were pleased. A 1963 sale, the first on the West Coast, brought only $12 million in bids for leases off Northern California.

By comparison, federal oil and gas lease sales off the Louisiana and Texas coasts have exceeded $1 billion since 1954.

Interior Department officials, however, are confident that higher West Coast prices will be paid at the first sale of leases off Southern California.

SALE DISPUTE
A dispute over the federal-state boundary line has prevented a sale in Southern California, where offshore areas are adjacent to good production. The Oregon, Washington and Northern California leases involved strictly wildcat areas.

The highest per acre bid at the Washington-Oregon sale was only $378, compared to a top per acre bid of $10,490.40 at the last sale of federal leases off Louisiana.

The Oil & Gas Journal recently reported 15 countries, including the United States and Canada, now have offshore oil and 10 other countries have active exploration programs under way or planned.

Active areas include the Persian Gulf, Nigeria, Libya, the Gulf of Suez, Trinidad, Brunei in the Far East and the North Sea.

"The North Sea exploration play probably will eclipse everything else, at least the next year or two," the Journal said.

"The big natural gas discoveries in Northern Netherlands started it all, and now every country in Northern Europe hopes to find something similar.

"SILHOUETTES FOR SPRING"

By JO BRIGHT

"Silhouettes For Spring" will be shown at 7:30 p.m., March 13, at Big Spring Country Club. The spring style show is being sponsored by the Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, and the fashions will be furnished by Thelma's Dress Shop.

Serving on the style show committee are Mrs. Frank Perry, Mrs. C. W. Utley, Mrs. Jackie Touchstone, Mrs. James Cook and Mrs. Glyn Mitchell, who will serve as narrator.

Modeling the new fashions will be Mrs. E. W. Nail, Mrs. Tony Barron, Mrs. Waymon Phillips, Mrs. Dick Fort, Mrs. Glen Daniels, Mrs. James Tibbs, Mrs. Tom Hammond, Mrs. Don Yates, Mrs. Jerry Thomas, Mrs. Robert Rogers, Mrs. Mike

Moore, Mrs. Lloyd Nalls, Mrs. Paschal Odom, Mrs. James Cook and Miss Janette Jones.

Also, Miss Henriann Perry, Mrs. Wanda Moss, Mrs. Loy Carroll, Mrs. Robin Howell, Mrs. Pat Grigg, Mrs. B. M. Estes, Mrs. Relerce Jones, Mrs. Sam Talkington, Mrs. Bob McAdams, Mrs. Charles Odom, Mrs. Delnor Poss, Mrs. Wayne Henry, Mrs. James Kinney and Miss Sherry Rozell.

The public is invited to the benefit affair and tickets may be obtained from any chapter member. Tickets are priced at $2.50. Accessories are by the Village Shoe Store and hair styles by Gordon's Coiffures.

THERE'S BLACK MAGIC in the soft crepe of an enchanting Empire dress worn by Mrs. Robert Rogers. The "fair lady" look is emphasized by long sleeves, and a soft bow marking the V neckline. There's always a place for polka-dots in the spring fashion picture, and Mrs. Rogers complements them with black patent slippers and a hat of woven straw, banded in grosgrain and topped with white blossoms.

Herald Photos by Ken Good

LOTS OF LACE is never too much when worn so elegantly by Mrs. Waymon Phillips. The white cotton-Gluny overblouse is perfect here with a simple two-piece dress styled with Chelsea collar and briefly buttoned. The costume is completed with patent accessories and white hat of ribbon weave straw.

CREPE COMES to young fashions in this smart ensemble shown by Mrs. Bob McAdams. The color is champagne and the heady costume is one part long-sleeved sheath with snug high neckline and one part laminated crepe sleeveless cutaway, held to a fine fit with two big buttons at the waist. Her accessories include a broad-brimmed sailor hat banded with a circle of black leather.

A PLACE IN THE SUN seems destined for Mrs. Paschal Odom whose three-piece suit is nothing less than sunbeam yellow—and nothing more than an absolute traffic-stopper. The deep V cut of the jacket provides a place for ruffles and the big fabric rose that blooms on the cotton blouse. She has a choice of accessories, and chooses stark white for window-wishing.

CUSTOM CONVERTIBLES and comfortable clothes command attention when spring seems only a holiday away. Doing a bit of dreaming about the days ahead are Sherry Rozell, left, and Henriann Perry. Sherry prefers pretty pink in a two-piece slack suit of durable sailcloth, cut with notched collar and adjustable at the waist with bright gold chain. Henriann's red shorts are worn with a good traveler—the white knit top brightened with broad stripes of red and blue.

A TIGER-TAMER like Debbie Estes, left, calms the beast with color as she sports a red linen-weave jacket completely capable of standing alone. The gold-buttoned topper is teamed here with a slim skirt in black and white houndstooth check and a soft white blouse, saucily bowed. Mrs. B. M. Estes keeps her daughter company in a sleeveless Empire sheath of navy rayon, its double row of self buttons flanking a neat little bodice bow.

World Day Of Prayer Observance Slated

Discussion Presented By Panel

LAMESA (SC)—Members of the Lamesa High School Student Council presented a panel discussion when the Women's Study Club met recently.

Discussion of the panel consisted of duties of student council officers, how they are elected and qualifications a student must meet to become an officer. They also discussed types of programs presented by home rooms and by members of the council. The panel was made up of Julie Ryan, Lou Ann Beal, Walter Wilder and Kenneth Flenniken, with Jim Williams acting as moderator.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Clyde Privitt and Mrs. Wade Alverson.

World Day of Prayer, in its 79th yearly observance, will on Friday, March 5 unite the community of Big Spring with the world community in prayer. An invitation to all persons interested in being part of this Christian fellowship has been extended by Mrs. Don F. Wiley, chairman of the local observance and her committee of United Church Women. The service will be held in the St. Paul Presbyterian Church at 7 p.m.

Chaplain W. H. Warren, Webb Air Force Base, will deliver the message, "What Doth the Lord Require." Mrs. Earl Zetsche, of the First Christian Church and Mrs. Pashal Odom of the First Presbyterian Church will be the leaders.

Emphasis is placed this year on families praying together; thus the program is scheduled at an evening hour so that all can attend. The Junior Choir of the St. Paul Church, under the direction of Mrs. John Arnold, will furnish music. Miss Kathy Seddon will provide organ music, and Louis Loveless will lead hymns.

Uniting six continents and more than 125 nations, this first

Friday of the Lenten season has been set aside as a time for prayers for peace and brotherhood on the theme "What Doth the Lord Require."

In writing the service, Mrs. Jesse Jai McNeil of Pasadena, Calif., called the church "to a radical and deep involvement in affairs of the world in the name of Christ." Mrs. McNeil, wife of the Rev. Dr. Jesse Jai McNeil, author and minister, has an outstanding record in church leadership, having served as a member of the National Board of Managers of United Church Women since 1957 and as a member of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc. While a resident of Michigan, she was the first Negro to receive the citation "Layman of the Year" from the Detroit Council of Churches, and the second woman to be so honored.

This service of the World Day of Prayer, consisting of familiar passages from the Old and New Testaments, will be enriched with hymns and prayer. Serving as ushers will be J. D. Cole, St. Mary's Episcopal Church; Dean Armbrust, First Presbyterian Church; and Joe Johnson, First Christian Church.

MRS. LAYNE RUSH BEARDEN

Miss Tarbet Weds Layne Rush Bearden

Miss Ruth Ella Tarbet became the bride of Layne Rush Bearden at 6 o'clock Friday evening in the Church of Christ at Ackerly. The nuptial ceremony was performed by Don Tarbet, brother of the bride and minister of Trumbull Lane Church of Christ, Albuquerque, N.M.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Tarbet, Ackerly, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Bearden, Rt. A, Lamesa.

The double ring rites were read before an archway of greenery and white roses flanked by seven-branched candelabra entwined with greenery. Baskets of white gladioli completed the altar scene which was illuminated with white tapers.

WEDDING CHORUS
The musical program, presented by a wedding chorus from Lamesa, included "Bless This House," "Whither Thou Goest" and "Faithful and True."

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. She chose a white floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin in styled with V neckline, petal point sleeves and waistline coming to a point at the front. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was attached to a crown of pearls and crystals. She wore a bracelet worn by her grandmother Tarbet at her wedding in 1908 and by her sister, Mrs. Robert Lampe in her wedding.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade bouquet of pink roses and was carried atop a white lace-covered Bible.

Miss Shirley Scarborough, El Paso, served the bride as maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert Lampe, Midland, sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor.

They were identically dressed in emerald green wool crepe street-length dresses, fashioned with bell skirts, jewel necklines, long sleeves and were accented with a bow at the front waistline. Each carried a single long-stemmed white rose.

The groom was attended by Conny Mills, Lamesa, as best man, and Sam Tarbet, brother of the bride, Ackerly, and Larry Roberts, Lamesa, served as ushers.

RECEPTION
The couple, feminine attendants and the parents received guests in the reception hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a white or-gandy cloth and centered with a three-tiered rectangular wedding cake, surrounded by white ruffles and greenery. Green tapers flanked a heart-shaped pillow bearing the couple's names and the wedding date. Guests were registered by the groom's sister, Miss Dawn Bearden.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Joe Tarbet, Mrs. Don Tarbet, Mrs. Bob Tarbet, Mrs. Lynn Tarbet, Mrs. Mattie Baird and Mrs. Gerald Bearden. Guests attending the event were from Abilene, Albuquerque, Dimmitt, Lamesa, Lubbock, Midland and Levelland.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride was wearing a winter white suit styled with bracelet length sleeves and a ruffled neckline. She wore brown accessories and the corsage from her wedding bouquet. They will return to make a home at 206 W. Kansas in Midland.

The bride is a graduate of Sanda High School and attended Lubbock Christian College. The groom graduated from Lamesa High School and attended Lubbock Christian College. He is presently attending Midland Commercial College.

The forum met in the home of Mrs. C. W. Parmenter, 712 Birdwell, with 14 members and one guest, Mrs. Henry Parmenter.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

It's the patent leather time of the year again... and I understand from shoe vendors that the pretty shiny shoes and purses have been in demand already enough to necessitate a reorder. Time was when the ladies and girls didn't wear patent leather until spring but it seems that it is now modish to wear patent any-time the wearer feels so inclined.

It won't be long now until all the ladies will have at least one outfit of navy blue and there will be that attractive crisp touch of white. Although the fashionists come up with some pretty combinations of color, nothing has outdone navy and white for starting off spring.

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Affair

Miss Gloria Gene Fletcher, bride-elect of John Noel Thompson, was honored Thursday evening at a prenuptial shower in the home of Mrs. J. I. Balch, Western Hills.

Assisting Mrs. Balch as hostesses were Mrs. Marvin Wright, Mrs. Leon Farris, Mrs. Howard Shaffer, Mrs. Elva Bifur, Mrs. Raymond Cooper, Mrs. Ethna Whisenand, Mrs. Jimmy Jennings, Mrs. Orbin Dally and Mrs. Albert Pettus.

Miss Sheri Farris and Miss Kathryn Eggeston alternated at the guest register, and Miss Jo Beth Pettus and Mrs. Sherry Talley served at the refreshment table. Gifts were shown by Miss Judy Fletcher, sister of the bride-elect, and Miss Jeanie Gillean.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. E. W. Fletcher, were presented corsages of pink carnations.

The guests were served from a table covered with a white Irish linen cloth, and the centerpiece was a glass candelabra accented with glass grapes and leaves. The arrangement held pink tapers. Coffee was served from a silver service and petits fours, topped with confection rosebuds, were served from silver trays. The punch bowl was of crystal.

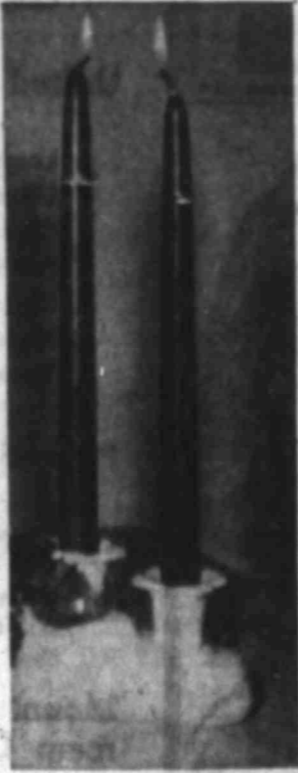

The centerpiece at the punch table in the den was formed of silver candelabra flanking clusters of pink and green grapes accented with pink spider chrysanthemums. The tablecloth was pale pink.

Over 100 guests called between the hours of 7:30 and 9 p.m. Miss Fletcher and her fiancé will be married March 6 in the Trinity Baptist Church.

Gold Jewelry Is Presidents Choice

Gold jewelry is enjoying its greatest wave of popularity. So reports the Jewelry Industry Council which points to one indication of the gold rush. President Johnson selected a gold brooch for his wife's birthday, gold pins as Christmas gifts for his daughters and gold tie clasps for White House newsmen.

Rules Of Thumb Puzzle To Bride

The puzzled bride who still is trying to interpret a recipe tip she received from her — or his — mother will welcome the following rules-of-thumb.

Butter "the size of a walnut" is about one tablespoon. "A pinch of salt" is about half of a 1/4 teaspoon measure. "A handful of flour" is approximately 1/4 cup, and a pound of spaghetti is close to the amount you can hold in your hand when your thumb and forefinger meet.

Student Talks On Germany

Klaus Limbacher of Germany, described the school system in that country when he was guest speaker Thursday at the Altrusa Club meeting at Coker's Restaurant for lunch.

Other guests introduced were Mrs. Anabel Stallings and Ricky Ream. The Altrusa benediction was led by Mrs. C. R. Rhoads, president.

Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle, chairman of the international relations committee, introduced the speaker. A question and answer period followed his talk.

The speaker described three towns that he had lived in and the functioning of the school system in each. He said that formal school training began at the age of six and was divided into four basic sections. The elementary schools include four grades after which the student may choose more schooling or training in a career. If the "trade" selection is made, after the student finishes the eighth grade he enters a regular trade school. If not going to a university, students may go only through the 10th grade.

Limbacher was an 11th grade student when he came to the United States as an exchange student. He arrived in New York last Aug. 15 with 930 students from 14 countries. He described German schools as more formal than those here and said that students there were required to take 12 subjects. He felt that there was a more relaxed atmosphere in the schools here which made studying more interesting, and he liked the free relationship between students and teachers.

When Limbacher returns to Germany he will finish high school and then have 18 months of compulsory military service. Afterward, he plans to attend the university.

During a brief business meeting, ticket sales for the scheduled Porter Randal talk were discussed.

Gentle Voice Ends Divorce Problems

Dr. Walter Gutkech of Frankfurt, Germany, has advised men on the verge of divorce to talk to their wives for at least 15 minutes when they go to bed at night. "It's better than an entire day of discussion," he reported. "Women are doubly receptive at bedtime and will listen closely to what you say, especially if your voice is gentle and comforting. I've never known this trick to fail."

TRAVEL TALK

Beauty Of Portugal Like 'Picture Book'

By HULIN FOWLER
In Portugal a bullfight is colorful and exciting, but bloodless. In a way, this typified this beautiful and peace-loving little country bounded by Spain and the Atlantic Ocean on the Iberian Peninsula.

Portugal is about the size of Arkansas. Yet, within its boundaries live an estimated nine million people, or slightly more than in New York City and Baltimore combined. The visitor has no sensation of crowding because the Portuguese countryside is spacious and airy.

The little nation has long been known as one of the most pleasant vacation spots in Southern Europe. It is geared for tourists. Polite customs officials make a tourist feel at home almost immediately by ushering him through customs with many smiles, "obrigados" (thank you), and a mere cursory inspection of baggage. The people — many squat, dark, moon-faced descendants of the Moors — are friendly and eager to help.

Portugal is a "picture book" nation with a beauty unequalled in Europe. The nation's excellent roads are tree-lined — many planted by the government — and the countryside is lush with flowers that seem to grow on every foot of land not utilized for agriculture. Adding to the peaceful and colorful scene are the many fig and grape orchards, olive groves, and fields of pomegranates, melons and a variety of other fruits.

Driving through Portugal the visitor is impressed by the neatness of the country. Roads run delightfully through white walls and cactus hedges in golden bloom. Neat, white cottages — as alike as peas in a pod — all have doors and windows painted a deep blue. You almost wonder if a paint salesman didn't pass through the community with only one color to offer.

The people, also, are colorful. Many of the countrywomen wear men's bowler hats, tied under the chin with scarves. The men wear straw hats and both sexes are just as likely to be traveling on donkeys as afoot, waving happily to the foreign tourist cars as they speed by.

Lisbon, the capital, is a city of one million people. Yet from a luxurious hotel the visitor is apt to be awakened by a cock crowing in some hidden backyard or garden. Like Rome, it is situated on seven lovely hills. Add the distant blue sea to the lush green of the hills and the subtle beauty of the old Moorish architecture and the beauty of the setting is most overwhelming.

Portugal is famous for its seafood and the national dish is "bacalhau" (codfish), prepared in scores of delicious ways. On certain days the better and smaller restaurants hang out a sign that reads "ha leitao," which roughly translates that "we have suckling pig today." Try this tender, succulent dish — there's none other like it. Portugal is famous also for its port wine from the Douro Valley and Madeira from the island of that name. Try to forget that many wines are pressed by the feet of peasants and enjoy them — they're excellent!

Night life in Lisbon is excellent.

White Coat Safe, Easily Soiled

College girls here, who began wearing white coats at night so that they could be easily seen by drivers when they walked on dark roads, are now having the coats dyed brown. "The coats become soiled too quickly when cars threw mud on us as they passed," explained coed Rosemary Wertheim.

and not too expensive. Floor shows usually feature dancing and playing of the serie "fado," a native music in which the audience joins the entertainers in sad and haunting melodies.

A visitor could spend weeks just wandering the narrow, picturesque streets and broad, tree-lined avenues of Lisbon, visiting the old cathedrals, market places and ancient Moorish fortresses. But no trip to Portugal would be complete without a visit to Estoril, international jet set resort just 15 miles from the capital. Estoril is luxurious but as yet unspoiled, and the cost of a visit is not yet prohibitive for the average tourist.

Back in Lisbon, don't miss at least one bullfight. They are colorful, bloodless and exciting. And they may just prepare you for the more savage "corridos" you may want to see in Spain or Mexico.

Talking Doll For Absent Husbands

COLOGNE, Germany — Gretchen Bach, 27, now makes dolls that look exactly like the wives who buy them. "They make excellent gifts for husbands who spend much time out of town on business," explained Frau-lein Bach.

Inside each doll is a record of the woman's voice. Some say, "I love you, and I trust you." Others give advice such as, "Don't forget to take your medicine."

Shock Suffered Returns Voice

NICE, France—Marcelle Jovignot, 42, suffered so much from having lost the use of her voice that she tried to commit suicide by driving her car off a pier into the sea. Patrick Lapierre, 29, dived into the water and saved her.

As she came to the surface, she shouted, "Let me die!" She had regained her voice from the shock, and is now glad to be alive.

Indicators Say Good Traveling

ROME (AP) — By most indicators 1965 should be a happy year for international tourism. Americans are expected to play a bigger part than ever in the picture — and with a better impact or "image" than they once delivered. A lot of the people who deal with tourists have decided that Americans are pretty good scouts in comparison with some visitors from other countries.

Americans are certainly less conspicuous in their travels than they used to be. Plenty of Americans who traveled in the early postwar years complained bitterly of questionable food, daily swindles, exasperating tangles with shopkeepers, indifference and even hostility.

Often the complaints were justified. Many countries rocked by the war were in no position to be gracious hosts, even for sorely needed hard currency.

Not many other people could travel. This made Americans stand out. The great surge of prosperity in many parts of the world has changed this. Now the U.S. tourist is just one among many.

People who used to jibe at him are now drinking his drinks, wearing his kind of clothes, copying his music and dances, and generally going wild over automobiles and household appliances.

There is less talk about the loud, brash American who once was a favorite of foreign critics and caricaturists. The growing number of tourists from other lands has provided perspective.

Tourist specialists call it one of the natural, human side-effects of large-scale commercial travel. A West German tourism official, Franz F. Schwarzenstein, says Americans are "much liked because they always try to adjust themselves to the local conditions and are keen to get along with the local people."

"If I were a hotelier," comments Akel Carrol, receptionist at New Delhi's largest hotel, "I would wish all my clients could be Americans. They treat you as equals."

The general tourist outlook is not uniformly bright everywhere. High prices in Western Europe worry tourism officials, who see them driving many customers to lands where the bill cuts less deeply into the wallet.

Education For Women Important To Society

BERKELEY, Calif. — College education is just as important to women as to men, a University of California professor says.

Dr. Jack London, professor of education, criticized Western colleges and universities for neglecting special educational programs for the mature woman.

"Our society cannot afford to ignore the talent and potential of women in a technological society where failure to continue learning creates misfits and liabilities detrimental to all of us," he said in a recently published paper.

The professor said that the growing demand for highly skilled manpower opens up opportunities for women. Casual and semi-skilled jobs are dwindling in number.

London also attacks the view that men are more intelligent, have greater ability and excel in abstract thinking. He said "if men become superior, it is largely because of the prevailing myth about women's natural inferiority perpetuated by the intellectual starvation diet that characterizes many housewives and shrinks their mental abilities."

HINTS TO HELOISE

Net Lined Colander Strains Finer

Dear Heloise: After reading about your nylon net, I lined my colander with it and now I can strain absolutely anything. . . beautifully! . . . Marshall

Now aren't you tricky? I tried putting a piece of net in my colander while draining rice and find that I can save some rice that way, too! And then I tried it for draining spaghetti and it's terrific. Love you! Heloise

Dear Heloise: I thought perhaps your readers might be interested in hearing about a handy helper I ran across recently in the form of a one-inch putty knife.

I cannot begin to explain the many ways I have pressed this tool into service lately. It's the perfect size for removing fudge squares, brownie, or cake squares from the pan. . . not to mention scraping candy drippings from cabinets and table tops after a candy-making spree!

And last night it scraped the meat loaf pan beautifully and fit so nicely into the corners of the pan. . .

I bought another one of these handy gadgets to remove the dark residue from the cracks around the edge of my counter top range and I have also used it to remove gum and raisins from the linoleum.

This little knife has no sharp edge, just a straight firm edge which scrapes beautifully without scratching, and it only costs about 15 cents.

I wonder how I ever did without it? . . . E. W. Carbine

Dear Heloise: My youngster put a plastic bag on my chrome sandwich toaster while it was hot and I can't clean it off. Do you or any of your readers know how I can clean off the plastic? Help! . . . Josie

Anyone know? Do pick up that blunt pencil and drop us a card. Surely someone can help Josie? Letters do not have to be signed to appear in our column. Address your letters to: Heloise, care of The Herald. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: If space is limited when a new baby comes and you do not have room for a table next to the bathinette for your powder, oil, etc. . . buy a shoe bag.

I bought the small kind made for children's shoes and tacked it to the wall behind our bathinette.

This gives me eight pockets for all the items necessary to take care of the baby and everything is out of reach of an older child. . . Mother

Dear Heloise: When doing laundry one day, I found a stray button. My pin cushion just happened to be handy so I simply put a pin through the hole in the button and pinned it on the cushion.

Now, I keep the cushion handy and fill it with all those stray buttons. Presto, no more lost buttons such as was the case when we just put them here, there and everywhere. . . Mrs. N. D. Gagnon

Dear Heloise: When the soles of soft slippers begin to wear out I iron on khaki colored patches, ordinarily used for dungarees. It prolongs the life of the slippers

So-called non-skid rugs may lose their grip when the underside is coated with dirt. To remedy this, scrub the underside of the rug with a stiff brush coated with thick hot soap or detergent suds. Bride Suggests Mate's Sentence

BEACONSFIELD, England—Rodney Sprigg hitchhiked 100 miles to court to answer a traffic violation. "My wife wants you to take away my license for a year," he told the judge. "We have been married only a month, and she is already terrified of my driving."

After listening to testimony, the judge agreed that bride Susan Sprigg had the right idea.

Meet Madame President

Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw, 607 Caylor Drive, is being honored this week as president of Las Artistas, an organization whose membership includes many talented painters.

Mrs. Crenshaw and her husband are natives of Big Spring and were married in 1948 at Odessa. Their daughters are Barbara, 15, and Kathryn, 14. Crenshaw has been employed in civil service at Webb Air Force Base for over ten years. When the couple were first married he was employed in the oil fields and they have traveled over most of the Midwest and all over the Permian Basin. When they lived in Billings, Mont., Mrs. Crenshaw studied art at Eastern Montana College of Education and has since studied at Howard County Junior College.

When her daughters were younger, Mrs. Crenshaw participated in the Parent-Teachers Association but now confines her membership to the art club.

She has painted for about 20 years and said that she still considers herself a student. She experiments with different media and tries to change often although she prefers oils to anything else. She has sold several paintings and gives many as presents to her friends. One of her paintings, an abstract of a drilling rig,

—BARR PHOTO

MRS. W. H. CRENSHAW has won three blue ribbons and was featured for a year on the Texas Fine Arts Association tour.

Mrs. Crenshaw's hobbies include music and record collecting. She said that she plays "first year" Bach and is a fan of the progressive type jazz.

Barbra is a tenth grade student and active in little theater work, and Kathryn is a cheerleader at Rannels Junior High School.

The family attends services at the First Presbyterian Church.

Entertains Saturday At Coffee

A French bouquet, presented to the hostess by the members of the house party, accented the refreshment table at the coffee Saturday morning in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buel Fox. Pink primroses were used in an arrangement on the mantel.

Mrs. Grover Wiley was co-hostess for the event which was attended by 100 guests who called between the hours of 10 a.m. to 12 o'clock noon.

Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr. and Mrs. Roy Bennett presided at the table set with appointments in crystal and silver.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Lonnie Coker, Mrs. Leonard Coker, Mrs. Gene Turner and Mrs. Connie Gary.

Quality In Lumber Shown By Mark

While shopping for lumber, you may be shown pieces that have been spliced together at the sawmill. You can be sure these are adequate for any use covered by the grade mark stamped on the piece.

Highly accurate machines cut the finger joints, apply high-strength glue, press the joints together, and electronically dry the glue. The resulting piece of lumber is stronger than many others in the same grade.

This technique encourages removal of large knots and other strength-reducing imperfections found in the log.

Designers Show Wide Sleeves

Look for a widening of sleeves in some spring ready-to-wear. Incoming is the bat-wing sleeve or the less exaggerated dolman.

John Moore, who designed the inaugural ball gown for Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, was one of the New York designers showing a lot of the dolman. The deeper armholes all add up to a softer look in spring clothes.

NON-STEREOTYPED Give Vent To Imagination

By VIVIAN BROWN
Homes are getting away from a stereotyped appearance as we adapt new ideas to our own needs.

The pat sameness that certain fixed objects gave a home—doors, windows, floors and even lighting fixtures—is giving way to the ingenuity employed by amateur decorators.

Doors are wallpapered, covered with fabrics, given a lift with oversized knobs, period latches to make them distinctly different. Doors can help make an entranceway, as in the case of a staircase with no enclosure that is smack in front of a door that opens right into the living room. Folding doors placed floor to ceiling from the base of the stairs can close this area off, providing an entranceway of a few feet or more. The doors can be carved, covered with old or new, painted dramatically to flatter the surrounding area.

Floors are painted, stenciled, covered in a variety of natural or simulated materials to produce handsome and unusual effects.

rights and wide floor-to-ceiling shades.

Plants may go from floor to ceiling in a bay window area to create a tropical niche with sliding glass doors closing the section off.

Tall, slim, green metal lockers may be painted to harmonize with the color scheme in a child's room to solve the problem of what to do with sporting equipment—fishing rods, skis, bows, arrows, guns.

Dining pits, that have people eating in recessed places, are new. These are supposed to be cooler than being on the level. The practical pits are those that give you leg room. Cushions are used for seats and back rests, and everyone eats at individual tables.

There is an all-over fabric look to rooms with the same fabric covering walls and furnishings. And fabrics like leopard are used in children's rooms. Fake and real fur rugs are used in both traditional and contemporary homes.

Architectural effects may be achieved with lighting effects such as in the varied use of a group of hanging lamps.

Trend For Spring, Hats With Brims

Brims mark the strongest trend in spring hats. Level brims, suggestive of the planter's hat, is one shape. Sloping, coiled hats, ideal for shading hair and complexion, are suggested for wearing with bare, sleeveless dresses.

Over-sized brims and flatter-upturned brims frame the face and make good suit hats. For the very tailored look, there are snappy fedoras and slouch hats.

Wedding Held In Stanton

STANTON (SC)—Miss Shirley Graves became the bride of Larry Ratliff, in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Ellmore Johnson at 8 p.m., Feb. 26 in the home of the bride's parents.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verbin Graves, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Ratliff.

Tall baskets of white gladioli flanked the altar and a selection of traditional wedding music was played.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ice blue slipper satin fashioned with a round neck, wrist-length pointed sleeves, with a row of tiny covered buttons near the wrist. The full bell skirt was ankle length, and she wore white slippers.

The bridal bouquet was of white Frenched carnations on a white satin-covered Bible.

Miss Nancy Graves, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Laquana Jones, also a cousin, was bridesmaid.

Serving as best man was Roger Long of Big Spring.

A reception was held following the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and arrangements of blue carnations highlighted the refreshment table. Mrs. James Jones, cousin of the bride, served punch from the crystal punch service. Miss Judy Dashier presided at the register.

Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Wade Mitchell, Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McTea, Odessa.

For the wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a blue linen suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Textured Fabrics Give New Look

As a change from the usual window treatment, why not try side panels? In length the same as the window, and 12 inches wide, they are a smart new fashion note covered in wall-paper or fabric in one of the new gaily colored patterns.

Cover one of the walls in the same design for decorative balance. Add a window seat, cushioned in foam rubber covered in the same print — and gain a totally fresh perspective.

Cranberry Bread

Quickie Cranberry Bread: Combine 1 box orange muffin mix, 1 egg and 1 cup jellied cranberry sauce, beaten till saucy. Bake in loaf pan, for about 45 minutes in a 350 degree oven. For a very special treat serve with softened cream cheese.

'Hi And Bye' Coffee Held By 66-E Wives

Name games were played with prizes of chiffon scarves being won by Mrs. Sokolowicz and Mrs. V. L. Struck. A blouse was won by Mrs. D. L. Van Braune.

The attendance prize, an arrangement of spring flowers, was presented to Mrs. M. E. Frantz.

Refreshment tables were centered with spring flowers and yellow candles. Streamers in rainbow colors highlighted the stage, which featured a gilded basket representing the end of the rainbow.

Mrs. Jason Hawkins Feted On Birthday

Tricycle Rider, Budget, Balance

CAMBRIDGE, England — Anne Storie-Marshall has advertised in local newspapers for an adult-sized tricycle that she can crossed by a concrete pebble ride to work because public transportation has become too expensive. She explained that if her budget is unbalanced, so is she when she tries to ride a bicycle. Hence, her need for a safe tricycle.

The red azalea garden showing a typical park scene will be one of the most elaborate displays at the big flower show.

A pool of water in the center of the azalea bed will be crossed by a concrete pebble bridge. Ground cover under and around the bridge setting will be Joseph's-coat. An abundance of yaupon holly will be used, and multiple-trunk tree crape myrtles and live oaks will be included.

Special File Set Up To Protect Wills

By SAM BLACKBURN

Nine years ago, the legislature approved a law which authorized filing personal last wills and testaments with county clerks for safe-keeping.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, said the first will filed with her office was accepted May 23, 1956. She checked the file this week — it is the only locked file in her office — and found that in the nearly nine years since that first will was filed, only 95 such documents have been brought to her.

FEWER

Actually, she said, her file contains considerably fewer than 95 wills at this time.

"Several of these persons who filed wills with the office," she explained, "have withdrawn them. Some planned to write new wills. We probably have about 90 wills on file now."

The fee for depositing a will with the county clerk is $3. Attorneys and bar associations stress repeatedly how important it is that all citizens draw a will, but regardless of the pressure, not one person out of 10 has done so.

Attorneys charge $25 as a minimum fee for preparing a will. It is most important, particularly where a person has considerable property, that he have a will on file.

Many wills are kept by the attorneys who prepare them for clients. Others are in safety deposit boxes in banks. Still other wills are placed in whatever receptacle the owner may use for private and personal records.

HEAVY LOSS

Often, when an individual dies suddenly, the question arises whether or not he had a will. Sometimes location of these papers is most important to the prompt settlement of estates and sometimes the absence of a will can lead to heavy loss to the heirs of the deceased.

Since the laws governing distribution of a dead person's property are most complex, it is extremely important that the will drawn be prepared by an attorney who is familiar with the legal requirements.

The Texas Bar Association has issued a statement relative to wills.

"What will happen if you should die without executing a legal and proper will?" the statement asks. "Who will inherit your property? Your husband, wife, mother, father, children, your wife's relatives? The best way you can say who will have it is to provide a will which will protect your rightful beneficiaries and dispose of your property in accordance with your wishes."

A person who dies and who has no will is said to have died intestate and the property of such a person is distributed according to fixed formula of law. In some cases this may be the way the deceased would have had it, but generally the distribution is not what the deceased wanted.

The legal methods of distributing property are complicated. Different rules cover real estate, personal property, community property, homestead property and for all of the many possible combinations of surviving relatives.

EXAMPLE

"For example, here is the general way the community property which a man and his wife have accumulated will be divided if you do not make a will prior to your death," the bar association statement points out.

"If your husband or wife survives and there are no children, the surviving spouse receives all of the property.

"If, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of deceased children, they would divide one-half of the property, while the surviving spouse would receive the other half.

"Of course, grandchildren do not share in the estate unless their parent, who would inherit, is deceased. And when children of previously deceased children do inherit, they receive only the portion that the child would have received regardless of the number of such descendants."

It is an odd note, perhaps, that the surviving spouse already owns one-half of the community estate prior to his or her mate's death. The law, regardless of this situation, adds nothing to the survivor's share where there are children surviving.

When only children and their descendants survive, they divide the entire community estate between them.

WRITE THEIR OWN

Some persons write their own wills. Often these are handwritten and are not witnessed. Such wills are called holograph wills. Some turn out to be valid documents. Others, however, often prove so faulty as to completely frustrate any plans the testator who wrote the will had in mind. Often, because they are prepared without the advice of an attorney, they create legal tangles which take years to settle, or in some cases, can never be settled.

Not too many years ago, a wealthy Howard County widow died and left a holograph will. In this will, she provided, among other things, that a home for "old women of Lubbock" be built with part of her money.

After years of legal debate, the home was built. Her will, by its terseness, had no details what characteristics really qualified a potential beneficiary as a "Lubbock old woman," for example.

Attorneys are unanimous in urging all persons, poor and rich, to draw up wills. They point out that it costs little to prepare a will and that after the testator dies, the savings it may mean to his heirs and the reduction in difficulties over estates can be very great.

POOR ECONOMY

As a general rule, most attorneys suggest that it is poor economy to attempt to write your own will. The cost of having a lawyer prepare the document is small and the average layman is almost certain to insert sentences or words in his own version which can be of great difficulty later on.

As to where a will is kept once it is prepared, that is up to the person who has it prepared. However, the state's provision for depositing such papers with the county clerk, offers a number of advantages worth considering.

The will is safe from prowlers or fire. It is readily accessible if needed. The person making

COURTS HANDLE SETTLEMENT

Wills Have Long History

"This is my last will and testament . . ."

The statement means just what it says—that the person signing "wills" that such and such be done with whatever property he may have at the time of his death. The courts of the land will see that the intention of "will," as to property is carried out after you die. Before then, you may revoke or change your will as you desire at any time.

The passing of property to heirs is one of man's oldest transactions. As far back as the days of the Egyptian, Assyrian and Jewish civilizations, there have been wills written. They have been placed on papyrus, clay tablets, linen, leather and other materials. And for countless centuries, such documents have borne the signature of witnesses.

As far back as 2100 BC, the code of Hammurabi permitted a father by deed to favor his son. In the early Roman days, the head of a house told the patrician assembly his wishes and the patricians carried out his requests. A written will was favored later on as Rome grew. This was favored because it kept the testator's plans a secret until his death.

In the middle ages in England, where modern laws on wills originated, the church courts (like probate courts of today) supervised dispositions of property according to the "testament" of how the testator wanted his property to go.

Church courts handled personal property (movables such as armor or personal effects) and the king's court handled lands. That is why in such matters the term "last will and testament" is still used. English courts eventually came to pass on both real and personal property so that one court could handle the entire estate.

In those days, to die "intestate" (without a testament) was almost like dying unconfessed. Sometimes the church, in the interest of the man's soul, would give of his goods to others besides his family. Then, as now, some property had to be left to the surviving wife and children.

Today, the will of a deceased person is handled by the probate court and every effort made to expedite the settlement of his estate.

But the same ancient phrase which has been a feature of wills for centuries still appears — "my last will and testament . . ."

Loss Duster Caused Told

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Soil Conservation Service reports dust and sand from severe winds caused damage to about 20,000 acres in Dallam, Hartley, Moore and Sherman counties in the Texas Panhandle.

It said the dust and sand, light tan to pink, caused damage to paint, chrome and windshields of automobiles traveling north about noon Tuesday.

Traffic was halted in places because visibility was reduced to 1,000 feet by the dust and an accompanying snowstorm.

Virgil Cunningham Jr., area conservationist at Amarillo, said the blowing soil largely came from plowed land which had no plant cover.

Residents of the area told Cunningham it was the worst dust storm since the drought of the 1930s.

Salinger Confirms He, Wife Parted

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Pierre Salinger has confirmed that he and his wife have separated and that she will seek a divorce.

The project is one sponsored by the public-relations-hospitality-good citizenship branch of the Base Community Council. "Its aim," said Dr. Carl Marcum, group chairman, "is to acquaint young people of high school level of the duties being performed at an Air Force installation, and also to let them see that young people of approximately their own ages are carrying on vital duties in this country's military establishment."

Marcum's group also is sponsoring a series of get-acquainted affairs for new officer arrivals at Webb, these to be timed with each incoming class of students. Various service clubs in the city will be hosts in rotation, members and wives planning a function to welcome military newcomers and their wives. Schedule of such affairs is to be determined soon by the clubs, Marcum said.

Lawsuit Charges Trees Cut Down

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor-producer Jack Webb of "Dragnet" fame, is suing a neighbor for $51,000 for allegedly cutting down his trees.

Webb charges Guey Sing, owner of the adjoining land, and architect Sam Dunn maliciously cut down more than a dozen trees that shielded his home from much of the Ventura Boulevard traffic noise.

Students Pelt U.S. Speaker

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Walt Rostow, State Department economist, was prevented from speaking at Buenos Aires University this week by students shouting anti-American slogans.

Some witnesses reported the demonstrators also pelted Rostow with eggs and tomatoes.

When Rostow tried to speak he was drowned out by shouts of "Cuba," "Free Viet Nam," and "Long live Communist China" from a group of about 25 youths. He later spoke to another group of students at the U.S. Embassy.

Clubbers To Take Stock To Houston

HOWARD COUNTY 4-H Club members will enter eight lambs and seven steers in the Houston Fat Stock Show which opens Feb. 28. The youngsters and their animals will leave Sunday for Houston.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, said that he and Donald Brandenburger, his assistant, will accompany the exhibitors to the show. Judging of lambs and steers is set for Wednesday.

Steers are to be entered by Martha Robinson, Dale Crenshaw, James Crenshaw, Greg Ryan, David Brady, Robbie Haney, Delores Lankford and Linda Foster.

Lambs will be shown by Steve and Linda Foster; Robert and Dale Crenshaw and Dixie Coleman.

Helbig said that he would probably return to his office Thursday.

The Houston show continues through March 7. On March 9, Howard County 4-H Club members will go to the San Angelo show.

This show closes March 14—just two days ahead of the opening here of the 28th Annual Howard County 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Show. The local show brings an end to the competition by local youngsters on the show circuit.

Puzzle of Friday, February 26, Solved

DEAR ABBY

Pray In Your Own Way

DEAR ABBY: Mine is a question rather than a problem. It arose from the following situation: Recently a friend of ours passed away. My wife and I, who are Roman Catholics, went to the funeral parlor to pay our respects. My wife knelt in front of the casket and said a prayer. I maintain that, because the deceased was Protestant, my wife should not have knelt.

DEAR N. J. F.: I believe that one should be able to pray in his own way with impunity, whether sitting, standing kneeling, facing East, with head covered or left bare. If, however, one goes to a house of worship other than that of his own faith, if he is required to don special attire or conform to special rites or customs, he will be advised when he enters. More important than the manner in which one speaks to God is his sincerity in speaking.

DEAR ABBY: There is this old lady in our neighborhood who lives alone. Every year she goes all out with Christmas decorations. She has a big wreath in every window, and in the big picture window she has a huge Christmas tree with little tiny red and green lights that blink off and on. Then, on her porch, she has a life-sized Santa Claus. It looks real nice around Christmas, but here it is almost March and she hasn't taken it down yet. Is there some way we can tell her? We thought of writing an anonymous letter to her, but our mothers said absolutely not. How can two 12-year-old boys tell a grown lady to take in her Christmas decorations because people laugh when they go by?

DEAR M. AND J.: Perhaps the lady is not well. Or maybe she has no one to help her take down the decorations. Why don't you call on her and offer to do the job? If you are Boy Scouts, it could be your good deed for the day. If you aren't Boy Scouts, be good scouts and offer anyway.

to a husband, who came to him seeking his advice on how to get along with a wife while she is going through her menopause. "Why do you think I am on my third wife? There is absolutely nothing you can do, so you might as well forget it." Don't you think that husband should find himself another doctor?

WAITING FOR YOUR REPLY DEAR WAITING: Yes. And if he finds one with two couches, he should invite that doctor to be his guest.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CECELIA: Does your mother know you're way out?

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A man's awareness of what is really going on around him depends upon the element of his spiritual perception, Martin N. Heafer, Christian Science lecturer, declared here Friday.

Heafer, speaking at the HCCJ auditorium, declared that "true sight is spiritual and without spiritual sense, man is for all practical purposes asleep."

Most people are somewhere in the process of gradually waking up, adding a quoting from the Bible: "It is high time to awake out of sleep; for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed."

The lecture of Heafer, who formerly was a Houston business man, was sponsored here by the Christian Science Society. Currently he is on tour as a member of the board of lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. He spoke on the subject: "The Great Awakener."

"Love, faith and the awareness of God's presence all come to us through 'spiritual' sense," he said. "This is the great awakener."

Everyone has spiritual sense, he contended, for "God is the source of all perception (and) He has given us that, Christy spiritual sense which enables us to recognize our sonship with Him."

People use this spiritual perception most often in prayer, the lecturer noted.

"We awaken spiritually to the truth about ourselves as the children of God," he said, "and the result is always healing—healing, in its broadest sense, of sin, misery, lack, as well as sickness."

In fact, there is no material condition, "however difficult it may seem to be," that can't be overcome through such prayer, he stated confidently.

"It's not enough just to accept theoretically the truth of the allness of God. Spiritual perception comes through the prayer of inner conviction and unselfed love."

Heafer told of cases of such healing, including typhoid and defective vision.

But the world's biggest need for healing — for "spiritual sense" and "the prayer of unselfed love" — is in the broad field of human relations, he indicated.

"Hate has never been so organized, so politically, socially, economically managed, as it is today," he said.

"But it contains its own seeds of destruction. Love never fails, and as we pray the prayer of unselfed love and live it in our daily lives, there will be widespread awakening from the hateful influences which would have us destroy one another."

Speaker Puts Emphasis On Spiritual Perception

Mayor Judges Calf Scramble

George J. Zachariah, civic leader and mayor of Big Spring, will be a judge in the calf scramble at the Sunday matinee, March 14, performance of the San Angelo Rodeo.

In the scramble, a crowd-pleasing event held at each rodeo performance in the San Angelo Coliseum March 11-14, 20 boys are lined up at one end of the arena and 10 calves released at the other end. Each boy is furnished with a rope halter which he must attach to the calf and bring him across the finish line.

Four judges, including Zachariah, will be in the arena with the boys to insure good sportsmanship and fair play and determine the winners.

A total of 120 Texas 4-H and FFA boys will compete in the six performances for a total prize of $1,200 contributed at each performance. The money is in the form of certificates which must be used to purchase livestock for a 4-H or FFA project, according to Ed Hyman, calf scramble chairman.

BEWARE OF CHOKING ACCIDENTS Be especially cautious to keep objects small enough to be swallowed away from infants and children. For they do not expectorate, but attempt to swallow and inhale them into the lungs. Teach them to spit anything out. Do not stimulate a child to laugh or cry while food is in his mouth. Physicians advise it is not wise to reach into an infant's mouth to remove an impacted foreign object. Place the victim face down across a bed or chair and call a physician. For choking is the leading cause of accidental death in the home to children under five. YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A Devotional For The Day

O come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our maker. (Psalms 95:6)

PRAYER: Lord, help me to lay my selfish self at Thy feet, so that Thou mayest work through me Thy will for my life in Thy kingdom. In the name of Jesus, who humbled Himself and became obedient to Thy will at the cost of His life. Amen.

More Than Justified - Necessary

No one should have been surprised when the Howard County Junior College trustees called a $500,000 bond election vote for March 20. The board has been reiterating for the past two years that this step would be necessary if HCJC is to continue to be a first rate two-year college.

We do not believe that our people want anything less than a first rate college.

We believe that the call for the election is not only justified — it is necessary.

HCJC ranks better than average in the rate of gain among state-supported junior colleges, showing over 10 per cent compounded annual gain during the past biennium. While this is not as spectacular as some larger colleges boosted by immensity or prospect of senior college status, 10 per cent compounded is a mighty healthy growth in any field.

It has been 10 years now since HCJC issued bonds, and in that period, the steady growth has just about utilized all available space. The library is as far as it can go without falling below Southern Association of College requirements; the science facilities, while good, are also taxed to the limit. Accreditation eventually could be affected.

The other facet of HCJC — that of community college — is being seriously compromised because of lack of space. The adult education program can't be materially expanded because there is no place to put these classes. Still, adults wanting non-credit or purely vocational training for upgrading existing skills or learning new ones are entitled to this service.

There are many cities in Texas, among them a number in this area, that would love to turn back the calendar 10 to 20 years and take the step Howard County did in 1945.

ing the college in 1945. The reasons are now abundantly clear, and if the governor's program of excellence in higher education is adopted by the legislature — as seems likely — the junior college will become increasingly important.

Presence of the college here has made it possible for hundreds upon hundreds to get college training who otherwise could not have. The savings on two years of college at home has enabled hundreds of others to go on and complete degrees. If it may be assumed that two-thirds of those at the college could have gone elsewhere had HCJC not been here to serve them, then we may conclude that keeping these two-thirds here for two years is worth half a million dollars a year in income which their parents can thus put into local trade instead of sending it away to some other college town. While failure to approve the bonds will not halt present rates of operation, it is worthy to note that the payroll of the college annually is over $350,000. The more the college grows, the more this grows. The same can be said for investments in services and supplies.

But the real reason for supporting the bond proposal is what it does for our sons and daughters: what it does in slowly but methodically to raise the general economic, educational and cultural level of our community. With a college as with other institutions, it is grow or sink to mediocrity.

Reserves in the interest and sinking fund will carry the proposed bonds for two years without changing rates or assessments. After that, new property may be sufficient to carry the new bond costs, but even if they aren't, a penny or two more tax would be one of the best buys we possibly could make.

David Lawrence Diplomatic Maneuverings

WASHINGTON—Diplomatic "soundings" have been begun in an effort to settle the Viet Nam war, but this doesn't as yet mean "negotiations."

Diplomacy has its own vocabulary to describe communications between governments in times of crisis. The object, of course, is to avoid putting any nation in a position which might cause it to lose face or injure its pride.

AT THE PRESENT moment, for instance, the United States government does not want to give the impression that it is surrendering in Viet Nam or that it is weakening in any way. There is instead an insistence on an attainment of the original objectives which caused America to send military aid to help the government of South Viet Nam.

But it is significant that after Harold Wilson, the British prime minister, had been in touch with President Johnson, there was a lapse of several days before the head of the British government was ready to tell the world, in a speech in the House of Commons, that "diplomatic consultations of a confidential nature" were under way to seek a basis for a peace settlement in Viet Nam.

NATURALLY, the White House had to say something in comment on this, as it could not be in the position of having authorized negotiations or of having taken the initiative in looking for a way out of the Viet Nam crisis. Also, the State Department's announcement merely said that the British and other governments "have been in touch with us with respect to our attitude on South Viet Nam, and we have naturally given them a full account of the situation and our views."

The carefully worded statements do not reveal whether Mr. Johnson laid down certain conditions that must be met before negotiations would be started, but it is officially disclosed that he explained fully to the British prime minister what the American position is concerning possible negotiations. This, in turn, enables intermediaries to get the reaction of the Red Chinese and the Soviets.

MEANWHILE, the Moscow government got in touch with President de Gaulle to enlist France's help in a diplomatic effort for peace.

The French government disclosed that the Russian ambassador to France had "presented Soviet proposals aimed at having the French and Soviet governments work in concert to bring about peace in Southeast Asia by means of an international conference."

But all the diplomatic "soundings," which are preliminary to a possible negotiation, do not indicate just what would be discussed at a peace conference, or what America would insist upon as a condition before entering such a conference.

IT WOULD APPEAR that the United States government will insist at least on some kind of assurance that there will, in effect, be a cease-fire or a cessation of hostile operations inside South Viet Nam. It may be doubted whether the North Viet Nam government will agree to make such a pledge, but if the fighting happens to cease, the parleys will be carried on anyhow.

Red China is ready to participate in a conference but doesn't want to agree to any preconditions before negotiations. But it doesn't matter to the United States how the Red Chinese arrange to stop the fighting as long as there are no attacks while the talks are going on.

THE UNITED STATES is not averse to conversations on the subject with other governments, provided a readiness to talk is not misconstrued as an abandonment of the Washington government's intention to protect South Viet Nam against further invasions.

The outlook is for lots of conversation on a diplomatic basis behind the scenes in the next several days at least, with the possibility that some kind of international conference will emerge.

Billy Graham

I would like to know if the Old Testament actually has any promises of life after death, immortality and resurrection? P. D.

Isaiah 25:8 gives the passage Paul referred to in I Corinthians 15:54, which reads, "He will swallow up death in victory." In Isaiah 25:19, it reads, "Thy dead men shall live, together with my dead body shall they arise. Awake and sing, ye that dwell in the dust: For the dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth shall cast out the dead." Bible translators supplied the word men, and put it in italics. It is thus correct to read, "Thy dead shall live."

The Book of Daniel 12:2 speaks of the resurrection of the righteous to "everlasting life." Hosea 13:14 assures that, "I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death; O Death, I will be thy plagues; O Grave, I will be thy destruction."

Immortality in the mind of the Greek philosopher was quite a different thing from the Hebrew understanding of Resurrection. The former meant a continuation, but St. Paul makes it clear, I Corinthians XV 51-54, that the righteous and redeemed of all ages looked forward to the immortality assured in Resurrection. This involves death and rising again into life as pledged by Christ on the first Easter day.

THOSE PIECES DON'T SEEM TO FIT ANYWHERE

J. A. Livingston U.S. Prosperity Pulls Dollar Homeward

It's useful to look back. In June 1957, at Harvard, Sir Geoffrey Crowther, then managing director of the esteemed London Economist, stood before a distinguished audience and said: "I cannot see in our lifetime closing the dollar gap..."

Yet today the world wallows in dollars. The gap has become a glut.

Sir Geoffrey should not be faulted. He had plenty of company. He was speaking the economic fashion of the period.

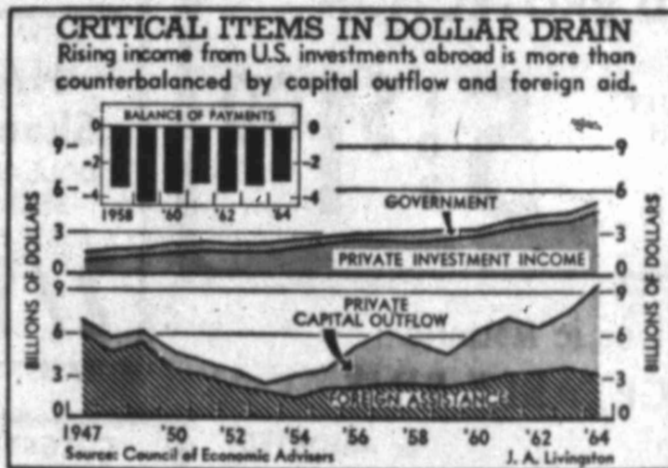

THEN AS NOW, the dollar's strength rested on the economic prowess of the United States — its industrial organization, manpower, machinery and agriculture. But that strength was exaggerated by the disruption in Europe. The major industrial nations of the western world — France, West Germany, Italy, the Benelux countries and Great Britain — had not yet recovered psychologically from the remnants of war.

Alone, among the major world currencies, the dollar was "free." No restrictions on how much could be taken in or out of the U. S. No limitations on capital export. Yet worship of the dollar was mightiest when other currencies were acquiring freedom also: That is, convertibility.

WESTERN European currencies wobbled under suspicion long after the nations behind them were resurgent — on their feet. And we can well wonder if today's fears about the dollar are likewise at their highest when the worst has passed.

After World War II, the citizens of most European countries distrusted their own currencies. They'd had experiences with repudiation and devaluation. They sought the dollar for what it could buy and, along with gold, as a store of value.

But once Europe revived, a franc was as good as a guilder or a mark or a dollar! Currencies were stabilized. The United States had achieved a major postwar aim: Europe was rehabilitated. The dollars that went into the rehabilitation of Europe closed the dollar gap and opened the dollar glut.

JUST WHEN the dollar gap closed, the Common Market was formed. Americans, who in the early postwar years had to have government guarantees to invest abroad, began pouring capital into Great Britain, France, West Germany, etc. Investment trusts were formed to buy shares of companies in the Common Market. Interest rates were higher, earnings were better. Not only did American money flow out of the United States into Europe, but Europeans, regaining faith in their own currencies, brought funds home.

So could it be — in reverse — with the pressure today on the dollar. The huge American investment stake abroad is beginning to pay off. Last year net income on foreign investments exceeded five billion dollars (see chart).

TRUE, THIS was more than offset by $6.5 billion of private investment abroad and government aid of $3.5 billion (see chart). But these sums may not be matched again. The General Motors $100,000,000 investment in Belgium may be the last big American plunge in the Common Market.

In addition, government restrictions on capital exports (voluntary and statutory) will reduce the outgo. And the government is curtailing its expenditures overseas.

NOW THAT the franc is strong, President Charles de Gaulle, of France, has focused world attention on gold. But it isn't an enlarged stock of gold that has invigorated the franc. It's the vigor of France.

Likewise, the diminution in the stock of America's gold has not — in the slightest — diminished the vigor of the American economy.

And the dollar, as Prof. Whittesey notes, it not weak. It's only under pressure relative to francs or West German marks. It's not in demand, but in supply. Yet this could change rapidly. Prolonged prosperity at home exerts a powerful pull.

INTEREST rates and corporate earnings are rising. It becomes increasingly profitable to employ dollars in the United States. Could it be that the alarms and scarums about the dollar may be at their De Gaulle least when the trend is already the other way?

NOTE TO MRS. M.C.: A "bundle branch block" is a delay in the transmission of the impulse which "tells" the heart to beat. This is often seen after a coronary attack, rheumatic fever, or other affliction of the heart muscle. It ordinarily is not serious. It doesn't stop the heart. It does not alter the beat. An electrocardiogram (ECG) is very helpful in determining which "bundle" or tract is involved and the degree of delay.

"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Molner, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Speeding Up Your Tax Return

Set the scene in an American household. The weary husband plods homeward from his day's labors. Before he can say "Watcha got for supper?" the queen of the household speaks up:

"Why don't we do our tax return right now, and not wait until the last minute?"

"GOOD, GRIEF, woman, there's not enough time tonight."

"But," she counters brightly, "I saw an item in the paper saying that the Internal Revenue Service said it should take you only 20 minutes to fill out your federal income tax return."

Husband: "Yeah? If it's so all-fired easy, why don't they make it out? All they do is take everything we've got, anyway."

Wife: "No, seriously, the government people say that. Why don't we just try it?"

H: "Awright, awright. Go set your stop-watch."

W: "SILLY, you know we don't have a stop watch. Just look at the kitchen clock."

H: "No, sir, if I'm gonna prove a point, I'm gonna prove a point. It's got to be timed on the nose."

W: "Oh, I know! I'll set the timer on the oven."

H: "Okay. Wind 'er up, and set 'er for 20 minutes. Now, you ready? Where's the return they mailed us?"

W: "OH, THAT? I thought you put it up. Let me see, now. Perhaps it's in the dish towel drawer."

H: "Dish towel drawer?"

W: "Why, sure, silly. When I think of the tax return, I think of being wiped clean, and sure enough, I am reminded to look in the dish towel drawer."

H: "Oh Well, here it is. Now the first thing we have to have is our Social Security Numbers. Where are those cards? And don't tell me in the refrigerator, so you'll have 'em all iced away."

W: "Oh, I know my number. What's yours?"

H: "HOW THE heck should I know? They keep it down at the office."

W: "Well, call the bookkeeper and get it, because that clock is moving."

H: "Maybe they didn't mean taking time to find your number. Let's get started. Now, how much did we take in?"

W: "YOU MEAN you don't have your withholding slip? I know I saw you bring it home. Oh, wait a minute, I believe it's where I keep the extra flower vases."

H: "And why there?"

W: "You know, the vases are to hold flowers; with-holding; holding, you see?"

H: "Sure, I see. Awright, that's how much we took in. Now what did we give away?"

W: "YOU NEED all your bank statements, to get out the checks for your gifts and your taxes, you know that. I can't keep up with everything. Where are the bank statements?"

H: "Are you sure they're not with my socks, on the theory that banks leave you nothing but your socks?"

W: "You know, I believe that's where they are. Let me look."

H: "Don't rush it, woman. The time is up."

W: "MY GOODNESS, it really is. Oh, well, maybe the government people meant that we could do this in 20 minutes after we had everything all laid out, wouldn't you think?"

H: "No, I wouldn't think! Just leave the stuff there, and I'll call a tax man tomorrow. Watcha got for supper?"

W: "Well, I hadn't planned anything special, but I can have something in about 20 minutes."

H: "Ye, gods."

Art Buchwald The Fellow Traveler

WASHINGTON—The State Department has told its passport offices around the country to do nothing that might in any way encourage Americans to travel abroad while the nation suffers from a gold drain. The offices were also told to take down any posters or other displays that might encourage foreign travel.

The scene is a passport office in New York City. A man comes to the desk and says to the woman behind the counter, "I'm a tourist. I need a passport."

THE WOMAN presses a button with her foot alerting four FBI men in an adjoining room.

The woman says, "What did you want the passport for?"

"I want to cash a travellers check at Macy's. What do you think I need a passport for?"

"Were you planning to use it to go abroad?"

"No, I wanted it to paste my green stamps in. Sure, I want to go abroad!"

"WE CAN'T stop you from getting a passport. All we can do is warn you about the cholera epidemic and let you make your own decision."

"What cholera epidemic?"

"I'm sorry, I can't give you any tourist information. Please fill this out. I presume you have riot insurance?"

"No, I don't have riot insurance. What do I need riot insurance for?"

"WE FIND it's very helpful, especially if you plan on visiting an American embassy."

The woman adds, "You understand, of course, this passport can protect you only in countries where we have diplomatic relations. It doesn't cover you for floods, hurricanes, or tornadoes."

"I wasn't thinking about floods, hurricanes, or tornadoes."

"We're asking all Americans to think about them."

"I was going to Switzerland."

"DURING THE avalanche season?"

"Oh, for crying out loud! Are you going to give me the passport or aren't you?"

"Our instructions are to issue passports to anyone who wants them, regardless of his political beliefs."

"You don't even know my political beliefs."

"We have a good idea of the type of person who wants to travel abroad at this time. We call him a fellow traveler."

"THIS IS nonsense. I'm a businessman, a registered Republican, and I want to show my family Europe. I want to show anything subversive about that?"

"Why don't you take them to Disneyland?"

"I've been to Disneyland."

"Since they added the submarine ride?"

"Can I have my passport?"

"Just a moment, please." She goes in to consult the FBI men.

"Give him the passport," the chief advises. "We'll get him at Kennedy International Airport when we can pick up the entire family at the same time."

Marquis Childs The Busy Vice President

WASHINGTON — A friend meeting Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey following the speculation about his role and his relationship with the President remarked: "Hubert, you're becoming a myth."

"Yeah," he replied with the capacity to laugh at himself that is characteristic. "I guess you'd call it a myth-ful."

DESPITE ALL the reports of skirmishing on the executive front that followed the confusion over the Churchill funeral, the fact seems to be that the No. 1 man and the No. 2 man are closer together than ever before. Humphrey gives top priority to his relationship with the President.

Putting it ahead of everything else, the vice president will wipe out an afternoon's schedule of appointments, made perhaps weeks in advance, at a summons from the White House. The President's work habits are unconventional, to say the least, and he may confer with his vice president until late in the night.

ONE OF THE new chores the President has given Humphrey is to coordinate all civil rights activities throughout the vast complex of government. Instead of forming a new government agency to handle civil rights the President created a committee and made Humphrey chairman. His assignment is to find out who is doing what in the civil rights field.

In working with Congress at the President's request on thorny legislative problems the vice president takes in both the Senate and the House.

A LOT OF HIS work goes entirely unrecorded. The President is holding a series of reception-seminars that will eventually include all members of Congress. After refreshments Mr.

Johnson opens the briefing sessions. Next come the Secretaries of State, Defense, Treasury and assorted others. Humphrey closes the meetings.

And more often than not he stays behind with the President and perhaps a few other intimates for a wide-ranging talk that may go on until midnight or long after.

Much of the public speaking that a President is pressured to do Humphrey is now taking on. His calendar for March is peppered with engagements in and out of Washington.

THIS SUGGESTS that Johnson is deliberately easing his burden as crises such as that in Viet Nam bear down harder. It implies, too, that as he has several times said, he is not as buoyant as he was before the illness in January that took him in the early morning hours to the Naval Medical Center in Bethesda.

The vice president, who has never been one to sit twiddling his thumbs, is busier today than at any time in his crowded career. As one of his assistants put it, if he had a 48-hour day maybe he'd be able to get it all in.

Doors Are Opened For Public School Week

Monday, March 1 marks the beginning of Texas' annual Public School Week. During the week, Goliad Junior High School, along with the other schools in the Big Spring system, will open its doors to welcome all parents. All parents and other patrons of Goliad are invited to see students at work, especially during the week, March 1-5. School officials point out that Public School Week affords a splendid opportunity for parents to get acquainted with the teachers who work with their children each day. An art display, produced by Goliad's art department, under the supervision of Don Duncan has attracted much attention. Visitors to Goliad will want to see the huge dinosaur and other animals. Goliad's Student Council attended the West Texas Forum of Student Councils Saturday at Odessa High School. Twenty-three Goliad council members, accompanied by Mrs. Lynn Calvert and Mrs. Dolores Gage, attended the meeting. One hundred-twenty Goliad boys have just completed a two-week period of track try-outs and training. Mr. Jim Marcus, head track coach, expressed particular pleasure with the fact that 55 seventh grade boys participated in the tryouts. The track team is scheduled to attend its first meet the second week in March. Registration for Drivers Ed-

The Harlem Stars put on quite a show for the crowd at the Sands High School gymnasium. They played the faculty and the outsiders in a basketball game sponsored by the juniors for a fund-raising activity. Amidst pie and water-throwing, Conchita Robles, a junior, was picked by the Stars as the queen of half-time activities and was presented the stems of roses by the Stars.

Several seniors from Sands took the ACT test given at Howard County Junior College Feb. 20. For those who have not as yet taken the test and are planning to attend college, the test will be given again in April and in June. Scores of the tests will be sent to the principal, Mr. Billy J. Underwood, at the high school.

Two Sands students, Danny Womack, a junior, and Alton Richter, a senior, left school Wednesday of the past week to go to the Lubbock Methodist Hospital. Both boys had to have a knee operation because of injuries received during the football season this fall. They will be in the hospital about a week before returning home.

The Sands P-T-A will have its monthly meeting this Monday night. Mrs. Howard Armstrong, president, will present the program. There will be no school Friday because of the Texas State Teachers Association meeting to be held that day. School will resume Monday. The school was visited Tuesday by a School Accreditation Team out of Austin. They went over the school records and sat in on some of the classes. The team, made up of two men and one woman, seemed pleased with the school activities.

Family Film On Ritz Screen Today

A warm picture of modern American family life, spiced throughout with gentle touches of social satire, "Dear Brigitte" stars James Stewart with Fabian, Glynis Johns, Cindy Carol, Billy Mumy and Ed Wynn, and opens today at the Ritz Theatre. The comedy revolves around one man's attempts to wriggle out of the rigid, scientific straitjacket of our age.

The main setting is a converted Gay Nineties ferryboat which is moored in Sausalito on San Francisco Bay. This floating home is part of a houseboat community of artists, beatniks and other assorted rebellious souls at odds with one aspect or another of contemporary American life.

Modern Dance Program Set At Odessa

Erick Hawkins, America's leading male modern dancer and his dance company, will appear in recital at Odessa College Auditorium, Thursday at 8:15 p.m., as the concluding attraction on this year's College Fine Arts series.

Hawkins was born in Trinidad, Colo., of Hopi Indian heritage. He entered Harvard on a scholarship when he was 15, majoring in Greek philosophy and art. Trained as an athlete, he was a swimmer and also rowed on the crew at Harvard. At 16, he saw his first dance recital in New York, and decided to be a dancer. His training came from George Balanchine and Martha Graham. His first choreography caused Balanchine to hail him as his leading choreographer. Martha Graham was so impressed, she invited Hawkins to become her principal male partner. While performing with Martha Graham, he attracted the attention of Agnes de Mille, and she invited him to dance the role of Carley in "Oklahoma" on Broadway.

Erick Hawkins has toured the United States and Europe since 1957 with his company of dancers. Hawkins will be on the Odessa College campus for a dance workshop, in the afternoon prior to the recital, to work with students of Odessa College.

Susan Hayward Stars In 'Stolen Hours' Film

Filed in the playgrounds of the international jet set, against a backdrop of the glittering social whirls of England's Mayfair and the danger-and-death races at Monza, the drama, "Stolen Hours," in wide screen Color by DeLuxe, and opening today at the State Theatre, stars the Academy Award-winning Susan Hayward.

"Stolen Hours" is the dramatic story of a capricious woman's emotional and psychological upheaval from a life that forced her to use men like puppets to the culminating discovery of the value of the gifts of real love.

Austrians See Wilder, Albee

VIENNA (AP) — Thornton Wilder and Edward Albee are the most popular American playwrights in Austria, according to a survey by the University of Vienna.

The Institute of Drama and Theater said Wilder's "The Seven Ages of Man" and Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" compiled the greatest number of performances last season by theatrical companies here and in other cities. "Kiss Me Kate" retained prime popularity in the imported musical category.

The U. S. Post Office Department will issue a commemorative stamp this year in memory of the late Sir Winston Churchill who endeared himself to the hearts of many Americans during the war years and was even made an honorary U. S. citizen by President Kennedy. Sir Winston's mother was an American and he often reminded the world of that fact. No date or place of issuance has been announced as yet.

Other news from Postmaster General John A. Gronouski's office gives the time and place for the following 5 cent commemoratives: Civil War Centennial Series—Appomattox, Va., April 9; Magna Charta—Jamestown, Va., June 15; Salvation Army—New York, July 2; Herbert Hoover — West Branch, Iowa, Aug. 10; Traffic Safety—Baltimore, Md., Sept. 2.

CRITIQUE

By Glenn Coates
In recent weeks, welcome bits of fresh air have blown over the video airwaves, breaking the monotony of — what the back-East critics call—mediocrity. I refer to the delightful production of "Cinderella," the fascinating Leonard Bernstein concert, and the superb drama, "Who Has Seen the Wind."

Each in its own way was a classic for the home screen and all too rare from a media that most often bends its talents to programs requiring the very least of things cerebral. But these programs prove at least one thing — there is no law death, 1839-1904, are inscribed below the portrait.

Canada's first postage stamp of 1965 honors the purple violet, floral emblem of the Province of New Brunswick. This province has a rich stamp history and issued the first adhesive "postage labels" used in North America, preceding the U.S. by four years. An original sheet of these stamps is on display in Kent, England.

Nepal has issued a two denomination set of stamps to commemorate the coming of age of His Royal Highness Birendra Beer Bikram Shah Dev, the Crown Prince of Nepal. It was his 18th birthday. The denominations are 10 and 15 paisas and each shows his portrait.

Malta has issued a new definitive set of 19 stamps showing various aspects of Maltese history from the Neolithic Age of the present day, reports the Crown Agents in Washington. The periods highlighted are Neolithic, Punic, Roman, Knight of Malta, Maltese Navy, French Occupation, Maltese Corps of the British Army, British Rule, International Eucharistic Conference, Self Government, Gozo Civil Council, State of Malta, Independence, Allied Forces Mediterranean, The Maltese Islands, Patron Saints.

Severe Critic's Best Book To Be Re-Issued

Frank Lloyd Wright called Bruno Zevi "... the most penetrating and outspoken critic of our time. He has the faculty of seeing architecture, seeing into its essence and stating what he sees in revealing and courageous terms." March 29, Horizon Press is re-issuing "Architecture As Space," Zevi's major work in the esthetics of architecture.

Because it literally shows, as the subtitle says, how to look at architecture, it has become a classic in its field. In a magnificent series of drawings, plans, and more than 120 photographs, and in the illuminating text, it comprises a fascinating study of space within enclosure in ancient Greece and Rome; Byzantine and Gothic, Renaissance and Baroque, become vibrant realities to us in living terms. Space as a concept through the ages right up to organic architecture in our own day takes on vital meaning every time we look at a house or building in our own environment.

This important and beautiful book by one of the foremost living architectural critics has been hailed by such authorities as Lewis Mumford, Frederick Gutheim, Douglas Haskell, Elizabeth Gordon and Thomas Creighton.

Opera lovers may want to mark March 13 on their calendar when the San Antonio Symphony, playing at home, presents La Gioconda in an evening performance. The afternoon of March 14 the offering is Faust.

A studio recital for piano students is in store at 6:30 p.m. Thursday. Among those who will be heard are Michael Baggett, Kay Dyer, Sara Ann Gibbs, Carla King, Mary Frances Malone, James T. McDaniel, Don Pierce, Albert Pruitt.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Instruction Booklet Will Answer Many Tax Questions

These questions and answers on federal tax matters are provided by the local office of the Internal Revenue Service and answer questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. — Which is the easiest tax form for me to use?

A. — The simplest tax form is card form 1040A. However, not all people can use it and it would not be to the advantage of some others to use it.

Generally speaking, form 1040A cannot be used if:

1. Deductions are itemized
2. Income is $10,000 or over
3. More than $200 of income is not subject to withholding.
4. Special tax status or tax credits are claimed

The instruction booklet accompanying Form 1040 discusses which form is best for you in some detail. The booklet is available at no charge at all Internal Revenue offices as well as in some banks and post offices.

ELIMINATED

Q. — I understand that the new tax law has eliminated some low-income people from the tax rolls. Over what income level must a federal income tax now be paid?

A. — Under the new law, taxpayers may now have income up to $900 before they become liable for payment of federal income taxes. However, if a taxpayer has self-employment income of $400 or more, he must also file a return and pay the self-employment tax.

If the taxpayer has income under $900 but $600 and over, he must nevertheless file a return. This is particularly important to the taxpayer who has had taxes withheld. A return is necessary to obtain a refund.

Q. — Through part time and summer work my son earned over $900 last year. Does he have to file a return and can I claim him as a dependent since he is a student getting most of his support from me?

A. — Your son must file a return if he earned $600 or more. He may be claimed as your dependent if he is under 19 or is a student and you furnish more than half his support.

Q. — Where can I find out which state and local taxes are no longer deductible on my federal tax return?

A. — They are listed in the instruction booklet accompanying the 1964 tax forms. Briefly, deductions are generally not allowed for: Automobile tags, drivers licenses, state and local sales taxes specifically on alcoholic beverages, tobacco and certain miscellaneous taxes. State income taxes, general sales taxes, state gasoline taxes and real estate taxes are deductible.

Q. — I'm going to get some outside help for this year's tax return. How can I be sure the man I get to help me is reliable?

A. — The overwhelming majority of tax advisors are competent and honest. To avoid the few who are not, here are some things to look for: Avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds; be on guard if he suggests that the refund check be sent to his address; don't sign a blank tax form; don't sign a form prepared in pencil; the figures could easily be changed; ask the advisor to sign the return he has prepared.

Keep in mind that you, the taxpayer, are legally responsible for the contents of your return no matter who prepared it.

Q. — We receive several hundred dollars in dividends a year. I know there have been some changes in the tax law. Are these dividends still taxable?

A. — Yes, dividends are still taxable. Changes have been made however that will benefit low and middle income taxpayers.

Under the new law, individuals may now receive up to $100 in dividends of a taxable domestic corporation before they become taxable. The previous limit was $50. For married couples where both have dividends, each may receive up to $100 in qualified dividends tax-free.

Q. — Has there been any change in the dividend credit provision?

A. — Yes. The dividend credit is reduced from four per cent to two per cent for 1964 and to zero for 1965. The dividend credit provision allows a taxpayer to deduct a percentage of his dividend income from his tax liability.

CREDIT
For 1964 taxpayers may claim a credit against their tax of two per cent of the amount of qualifying dividends they receive over the exclusion with certain limitations.

Q. — Before I retired last year, my boss told me to look into the special benefits for those over 65 in the new tax law. What are they?

A. — There are several specific benefits in addition to the lower rates that will cut tax bills for all taxpayers. For the taxpayer 65 or over, the 1964 law provides:

EXTRA

1. An extra $100 on the minimum standard deduction.

2. Removal of the one per cent floor on the deduction of medicine and drug expenses.

3. Tax free treatment in many cases for gains from the sale of a home for $20,000 or less and reduced taxation on gains from sales over that amount.

4. Broadened coverage on retirement income credit.

These and other benefits are explained in detail in the instruction book and at greater length in "Your Federal Income Tax."

Q. — I sprained my back when I fell on the ice last year. This kept me from work about six weeks. Is the $80 a week I received in sick pay deductible?

A. — If the $80 a week you received was 75 per cent or less of your normal salary and you were hospitalized at least one day, you may deduct $75 a week for the first 30 days of your absence and $80 a week thereafter. If you were not hospitalized, nothing can be deducted until after a seven day waiting period, beginning with the first day of work you missed. Then you may deduct $75 a week for the next 23 days, and the full $80 thereafter.

However, if the $80 a week you receive was more than 75 per cent of your normal salary then the waiting period is 30 days, and nothing may be deducted until that period is up. This will be true whether or not you are hospitalized.

MAXIMUM

The maximum amount deductible is $100 per week.

Q. — I have completed my return and have a small balance to pay. How should I make out my check or money order?

A. — Make it out to the Internal Revenue Service. Never send cash through the mails whether for payment of tax bills or anything else. If your payment is lost, a check or money order provides the records necessary to trace your payment and to establish that you did send it.
