Cash Files For Post School Board

POST, Tex. (AP)—A. C. Cash, who was inadvertently elected to the Post School Board 28 years ago while still a pupil in high school, has filed as a bona fide candidate for the position in this year's school trustee election.

Cash was elected in 1928 when his name appeared on the ballot through error instead of that of his father, A. W. Cash.

"They made me resign," Cash recalled, "and then appointed my father to serve out my unexpired term."

Cash is unopposed in the April 3 election.

Laborers Wanted

The board of Civil Service Examiners at Webb Air Force Base, is accepting applications for Laborer, W-3, at $22.23 per hour. Forms and information for the applying are available at that office or at any post office.

Wide Areas Still Needing Moisture

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—The freeze of a week ago did only minor damage to Texas crops and pastures. But wet fields forced stockmen to remove animals from grain fields and increase feeding, reported John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Rain, sleet and snow fell in wide areas of the state and was heaviest in the eastern half both last week and this. That part of Texas now has a surplus of moisture in many counties, the director added.

West and northwest areas were largely bypassed. Moisture was short in the needed rain. High winds caused some damage. Wheat mites were reported. Cattle were in fair to good shape with feeding needed.

The South Plains are very dry. Irrigated wheat is good but dryland grain needs a lot of rain. Some sugar beets are being planted. Range cattle feeding was heavy.

Fifteen of the 22 Rolling Plains counties need rain. Grain growth was good in moist counties but only fair to poor in drier areas. Cattle were being moved from fields left for grain.

Livestock marketing increased. Boggy fields in North Central Texas kept grain grazing at a minimum. Grains were in good condition. Range conditions were near average. Feeding was heavy. Spring prospects have improved with moisture now adequate to surplus.

Severe weather caused some livestock losses, mostly to new calves. All farm activities except feeding were stopped. The snow and rain added materially to soil moisture reserves. Peach trees have now had sufficient hours of cold weather for their dormancy period. Tomato plants are going into cold frames.

Snow helped some but the cold, windy weather in far West Texas slowed grass and weed growth. Livestock and range conditions are declining. Feeding is increasing. Lambing and kidding are under way. Labor is very short. Some trouble from bitterweed was reported.

Moisture is adequate in all West Central Texas except Sterling County and rains are making good growth, though slowed by the cold. Some livestock shrinkage resulted from the cold. Lamb crop prospects look good. Losses were very light from the cold. Goat shearing is on.

The cold slowed grain growth in Central Texas. Moisture was adequate to surplus.

Moisture in East Texas ranges from fully adequate to surplus. Low temperatures slightly damaged oats. Crimson clover is providing grazing. Pastures improved.

The freeze in South Central Texas caused only slight injury to flax and peach blooms. The area has plenty of moisture and prospects for spring planting of corn and grain sorghum are good. Some livestock shrinkage was noted.

Moisture in Southeast Texas was generally adequate to surplus. The freeze slowed grains and grasses.

In South Texas, some frost damage was noted on vegetables and citrus leaves. From 5 to 10 per cent of the Valley's cotton has been planted. The vegetable harvest is on. Hail caused some damage in Uvalde County. Grain pastures were furnishing good grazing but improved and native pastures and ranges are only average to below. Sheep and goat shearing is on in the Winter Garden.

Tollett Leaves For FBI School

Detective Wayne Tollett, Big Spring Police Department, will join other law enforcement officers from various cities in the United States at the FBI Academy's 75th session beginning Monday.

He received an invitation from the FBI in January to attend the academy. The 12-week session is to include 10 weeks of general police subjects, followed by specialization in a particular field of police work during the final two weeks.

Tollett has been a member of the Big Spring department since May, 1958, excluding one and a half years of military service. He was assigned to the detective division about a year and a half ago.

How much of a pay hike the new honor carries he has not been informed. However, he has been assured that he will be advised soon.

Fisher said that Nugent's commendation and reward was the first to be made to any member of the local office.

Exhibitors Win Two Fifth Places

Two fifth places—one for steers and one for lambs—gave the Howard County 4-H Club exhibitors their best showing at last week's fat stock show in Houston.

None of the steers shown was sold at the Houston sale. Martha Robinson's middleweight Hereford won a fifth place ribbon in its weight, and Linda Foster's Angus placed 12th. Robbin Haynes showed a 13th place Hereford.

One lamb, shown by Linda and Steve Foster took a fifth place and sold at the sale for 70 cents. Gaylord Crenshaw's 10th place lamb brought the highest price of any local lamb sold at the show—80 cents per pound. Linda and Steve sold two other lambs, but the price was not known here.

The 4-H Club exhibitors leave Wednesday of this week for the Fat Stock Show in San Angelo. This will be the final show of the season before the county show, which opens March 16 and runs through March 18.

Herb Helbig, county agent and superintendent of the show, said that judges have been selected for the local show. They are Ray Sims, Coleman, steers; Oliver West, Sterling City, lambs; Fred Igo, Sterling City, lamb classifier; and Buddy Logsdon, Colorado City, showmanship judge.

Name of the auctioneer will be announced this week.

Catalogues are soon to be off the press, Helbig said. Big Spring Jaycees, sponsors of the show, are busy lining up buyers for the auction sale which will be held the night of March 18.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Student Runs Airport, Lawson Allen Soloes

By M. A. WEBB
Howard County Airport, along with other county and city offices, had a student manager Friday. Annette Edens was enjoying her new position at the airport, inspecting aircraft, taking check rides, and doing other jobs. She even went along when a pilot inspected the rattle-snake hunters probing among the rocks. Regular manager Howard Loyd took off for a time and left her in charge—with helpers.

Connie Edwards landed his B-26 bomber at Howard County airport a few days ago to get it gassed up for a flight to San Antonio where it is to become a part of the Confederate Air Force. He has had the old B-26 at his ranch southwest of Big Spring for some time.

Loyd flew in the heaviest weather of the week to take a hospital plane flight to Galveston with a patient. About 20 minutes after he left, the weather "socked in" the airport, but he ran into good weather all the way down and had no trouble getting back.

Another member of the Big Spring Flying Club cut off a piece of his shirt tail Wednesday and tacked it to the bulletin board. On it was lettered: "Soloed 3-3-65. Lawson Allen."

At least three trainees are scheduled to go to Lubbock for check flights soon to complete work for their private licenses.

Flying club activity was stalled this week because of weather. Moore and Dodson each flew in the Howard County Flying Club's Colt. (Incidentally the club has placed an order for a new airplane—a Cherokee 180—which is due in sometime within the next 10 days or two weeks).

Big Spring Flying Club's Colt didn't get off the ground this week. The Skyhawk was flown by: Lawson Allen, Bette Norton, Simmons and Maxson.

Webb Aero Club members flying were: Cessna 150—Hill (3), Morrell (5), Paddon (1 and cross country), Sweden, Foster; Cessna 172 — Warren, Brazel (2-day cross country).

The aviation committee of the chamber of commerce has been advised of "The First International Hangar Session" in Tucson, Ariz., March 19-21. All general aviation pilots in this area are invited to the session sponsored by the Tucson Airport Authority.

"The hangar session will provide private pilots with an opportunity to have their questions answered by top aviation officials from north and south of the border," Don Frakes, chairman of the Tucson Aviation committee said. "Headliners for this event will be Najeeb Halaby, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, and his Mexican counterpart, Senior Ramon Perez Morquecho, director general de Aeronautica Civil."

Private pilots will have no registration fee to pay and will be hosted at a free cookout Friday night, and a fly-away pancake breakfast Sunday morning.

Trans-Texas Airways office manager, Dean Berry, said boardings out of Howard County Airport for February reached 172. This was over the 165 for January, even though there were three fewer days in February. This was more than six per day average and brings the first two months total to 337.

LARRY DON SHAW

Demos To Hear Larry Shaw

Larry Don Shaw, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Shaw of Knott, will speak at Howard County Democratic Club at 8 p.m. Monday in the county court room. He was the 4-H Club first place winner for Howard County in public speaking during 1964. Title of his talk to the group will be "A Measure of Greatness."
The youth competed in regional 4-H public speaking at Lubbock in June, 1964 and won third place in public speaking at the Texas Junior Hereford Association field day in Snyder last year. He also won first place in interscholastic League declamation competition at Gail and received the public speaking award on Howard County's achievement day last year.
He is a sixth-grade student at Knott Elementary School and has been active in 4-H Club work for three years.
Frank Goodman is president of the Democratic Club.

Equipment To Help Heart Patients Installed

New equipment for treatment of heart patients has been installed at the Veterans Administration Hospital, in addition to a number of other changes and additions to facilities.
A new 12,400-volt electrical line, an automatic clothing conveyor and several re-locations for departments are involved in the changes.
A combination of instruments, the cardiac synchronizer system, has been obtained and will aid in monitoring, detecting and treating cardiac problems in medical and surgical patients.
Included in the unit is an electrocardiograph, providing constant observation of heart rhythm; a pacemaker unit, which is a rapid method of causing the heart to start beating after a stoppage; and a defibrillator and synchronizer unit, used to stop certain abnormal rhythms of the heart.

The pacemaker unit can be used as an automatic system which, when the heartbeat falls below a present level, takes over and causes the heart to beat properly.
An electric shock has been shown to be a most effective means, sometimes the only one, of treating certain heart problems, according to Dr. Jack Margolis, chief of medical service. An electrical shock must, however, be synchronized for precise placement within the cardiac cycle, to avoid a vulnerable point in the cycle, according to Margolis. The synchronizer system makes this placement possible.
The new electrical voltage line involves about 2.8 miles, connected to the hospital with an automatic transformer switch on Marcy Drive to provide an additional source of electricity during any power failure.
In the changes at the hospital, the physical medicine and rehabilitation service has been re-located on the second floor, along with the corrective therapy section. The availability of all sections on one floor provides for less time and distance for patients being transported between the sections, as well as improved coordination between departments, according to Dr. Paul Furgason, chief of physical medicine and rehabilitation service. Also involved in the changes is combining of first and second floor dining facilities and an enlarged dining room. The patients' barber shop is being moved from the canteen to an area across the hall, with the previous barber shop area to be used for additional canteen facilities.
The automatic clothing conveyor will be used to improve inventory and handling of patients' clothing on admission and discharge.

Notestine Is Promoted

W. Edmund Notestine, a native of Big Spring, has been named general counsel of Shamrock Oil and Gas Corp. at Amarillo.

At the same meeting in which he was elevated to his new post, directors selected J. Avery Rush Jr. to be executive vice president.

Notestine is the son of Mrs. Edmund Notestine Sr., 1507 Travis, Amarillo, and was born here in 1931, moving with his parents to Amarillo in 1942. He holds a BS degree in chemistry and a law degree, both from the University of Texas. After serving three years in the military, he joined the legal staff of Shamrock in 1958 as an attorney and on March 1, 1964, became assistant general counsel.
He married the former Elaine Foley of Amarillo in 1954 and they have a daughter, Alice, 8. He is the grandson of Mrs. Joe Barnett, Big Spring.

Cosden Sales Force Closes Meeting With Higher Goal

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company's sales force climaxed their annual chemicals and plastics sales meeting here Thursday by setting a target of $22,000,000 in sales for 1965. This would be an all-time high for the company on these products.
Paul D. Meek, vice president-chemicals, and Kenneth W. Perry, marketing manager, spearheaded the program and with their sales force mapped vigorous plans for meeting the year's goal. R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden, made introductory remarks.

The annual forum keeps the field representatives and distributors informed of projected plans, product development and trends, as well as company policies. It also affords an opportunity for the sales people to meet informally with management as well as operating, research, technical, traffic and sales office personnel. The exchange of ideas in round-table discussion also involved such areas as sampling, shipping, advertising, credit and contracts.

One of the three days was devoted to polystyrene which Cosden will double in output this spring. New developments related to this project were discussed. Emphasis was on a strong new extrusion grade resin which has been added to the product line. Currently, a large portion of the company's polystyrene is going into the television and appliance markets as well as the packaging industry, with well know manufacturers among the accounts.

It was emphasized that polybutene, which has long been a staple in the caulking and sealing industries, is gaining important new usage in the field of electrical insulation. Cosden's Polyvis SH has recently been applied in an extensive utility project in the East. More widespread exploitation of the new polybutene is projected.

Cosden solvents for agricultural chemicals, to be used in the agricultural pesticide and insecticide industry, came in for discussion as did other chemicals. These include benzene, toluene, xylene, paraxylene, orthoxylene, heavy xylene, styrene monomer and heptenes. Attention was given to the company's construction project, now under way, which will expand benzene production and add a new chemical, cyclohexane.

Ken Naumann and Charles Wagner, who were recently named district managers of the Midwestern and Eastern districts, respectively, highlighted plans for their areas. Participating in the sessions were John Burrell, whose territory covers the Southwest, Tom Mueller, who operates out of Detroit, and Doane T. Pickering Jr., who is based in Akron. Also taking part was Donald V. Smith, manager of special accounts in the eastern area, and Steve Stolton, who works out of the Chicago office.
Cosden's petrochemical sales have shown a remarkable advance since 1960, when they were $9.5 million. Last year sales reached past the $20 million mark.

Dawes Elected To District Post

Bill Dawes, Marcy Elementary School principal, was elected president of the elementary principals' section of the District 4, Texas State Teachers Association, Friday at Odessa. Schools were closed Friday so teachers could attend the annual meeting.

Library Friends May Organize

A meeting has been called for 4 p.m. March 15 in the Howard County Library for possible reorganization of the "Friends of the Library." The organization is aimed at lending support to the library, interpreting its works to the community, and reaching more residents.
All residents interested in the group are invited to attend, Bill Dawes, said.

Road Discussion

LAMESA (SC) — The highway committee of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce will meet with the commissioners court Monday, at 2 p.m., in the office of the county judge. Improvements to the highway segment from South 8th and Bryan Streets to the Midland-Stanton "Y," and additional Farm-to-Market road needs for Lamesa and Dawson County will be discussed at the meeting.

Clubs Will Hear Of Needs At HCJC

The story of needs for new library and new science buildings at Howard County Junior College will be carried to several civic groups this week.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of HCJC, will address half a dozen service clubs, among them Foran Service Club Monday evening, the Optimists Wednesday morning, Downtown Lions Wednesday noon, the American Business Club Friday. He also will appear before the Rotary Club March 16 and tentatively has an engagement with the Kiwanis Club.

Dr. Hunt was in Amarillo Friday and Saturday conferring with architects on the proposed buildings. The board has instructed that final plans on the two structures be pressed for completion in event that voters give approval to a $300,000 bond issue March 20.

There is strong indication that HCJC will be included for $304,000 under the College Facilities Act after July 1, he pointed out. The college did not have hopes of qualifying under the current distribution of funds because some other schools held higher priority. However, HCJC will be close to the top of the list after July 1.

Absentee voting in the election is now in progress at the office of County Clerk Pauline Petty. On election day, there will be boxes at Foran, Coahoma and Big Spring High School.

There has been a 30 per cent increase in enrollment at the college over the past five years, records in the office of Registrar B. M. Keese show. However, Dr. Hunt reminded, the real story is in the sharp increase in fulltime students, which means that the semester hour load has doubled in the same period.

Record Year

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — Nova Scotia's fishing industry had a record 500-million-pound year in 1964, the Fisheries Ministry announced. The catch was worth $42.5 million, also a record.

WOMEN HAVE BEEN SHERIFF HERE BEFORE

Whoops. The Herald's slip is showing.

Friday, the story about Students in Government stated Lonnie Fulbright was the county's first woman sheriff. But Miller Harris, former sheriff, pointed out this was not so.

Diana Baxter, in the same student program, served as sheriff for a day when Harris held the post. And perhaps there were others before her.

Everyone agreed, however, that the young ladies served the sheriff's post well. And The Herald is happy to amend the oversight.

Fire Damages Donald's Drive-In

A fire discovered shortly before 5 a.m. Saturday caused light damage to the interior of Donald's Drive-In, 2406 Gregg, Fire Marshal A. D. Meador reported.

The fire left damages to the kitchen of the drive-in, and to the portion behind the counter in the main room, he said. The ceiling was seared, but the fire did not break through the roof, Meador said, with most of the damage from smoke. Contents of the kitchen were also reported damaged.

Two units from Fire Station No. 2, 1711 Main, were sent to the fire, which was extinguished shortly after firemen arrived. Fire department officials were continuing an investigation of the fire Saturday.

Construction To Begin Soon

GARDEN CITY—If bonds are sold here March 29 at 7:30 p.m. as planned, the Glasscock County school board plans to move rapidly for construction of an elementary wing and high school remodeling.

Voters recently approved $175,000 for this work. Architects are pressing to have plans complete for a possible letting during April.

Pope Will Lead In Ritual Changes

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI, spiritual ruler of the world's half-billion Roman Catholics, will lead his Church's clergy Sunday in formal introduction of the biggest changes in Catholic worship in at least four centuries.

Committees Appointed

Charles Butts, chairman of the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Council, has announced appointment of committee chairmen for 1965.

Nine committees will be used in the Volunteer Council activities this year, Butts said. A meeting of the committee chairmen will be held at a later time, he said, after the orientation Tuesday for hospital volunteers. The orientation will begin at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday in the auditorium of the Allred Building.

Committee chairmen named by Butts are Mrs. Neil Norred, Christmas gift buying; Mrs. Ruth Grantham, Christmas gift wrapping; Mrs. Mary Ragsdale, chairman, and Mrs. Betty Dumphy, co-chairman, entertainment; Joe Pickle, chairman, and Melvin Fryar, co-chairman, education and publicity; Lester Morton, finance; R. W. Whipple, legislative; Mrs. Jane Thomas, junior volunteers; O. C. Shapland, chairman, and Jerry Worthy, co-chairman, special projects; and Jack Y. Smith, All-Faith Chapel advisory committee.

The orientation Tuesday, for new and present volunteers, will include a luncheon and explanations of work being carried out at the hospital. Those planning to attend the luncheon have been asked to contact Mrs. Hilda Weathers, coordinator of volunteer services, not later than Monday.

Moving To New Office

LAMESA (SC)—A. W. Partain, resident engineer for the State Highway Department, announced the department will be moving into its new headquarters on North Dallas Street by April 1.

The building has been approved and accepted and is ready for occupancy. Work is being completed on the grounds. The new building will house all facilities of the highway department including the maintenance department. Over-all office space covers 2,900 square feet. This includes Partain's office, the assistant engineer's office and a drafting room. A laboratory will be located in the building for testing caliche, asphalt and soil samples. These have been sent to Lubbock for testing in the past, Partain said.

The highway department employs 32 people, 16 in the office department and 16 in the maintenance department.

The building was built by L&H Construction Co., Midland, at a cost of $99,292.00. It is located on six acres.

The old building will be sold to the highest bidder after the department has moved all its equipment to the new plant.

Partain came to Lamesa almost 15 years ago from Beeville where he held the position of resident engineer. The assistant resident engineer is H. M. Ables and J. N. Sanford is maintenance foreman.

Canadian River Dam Now Collecting Water

SANFORD (AP)—Water already is collecting in a project that soon will be turning 33 billion gallons of Canadian River water annually at right angles and sending it south.

It could be a trial run for a still more ambitious proposal to divert water from over-supplied East Texas and move it at right angles across Southern Texas to water-hungry western areas.

The water is collecting behind a diversion dam at Sanford Dam—the key to what is known as the Canadian River Project.

The Canadian River runs in a generally east-west line across the Texas Panhandle and most of Oklahoma, finally spilling into the Arkansas River.

The all-Texas project will send water from that river almost directly south for 322 miles to provide a residential and industrial supply for Borger, Pampa, Amarillo, Brownfield, Lamesa, Levelland, Lubbock, O'Donnell, Plainview, Slaton and Tahoka.

A great deal of work is going on at different places all at once.

While up to 400 workmen are laboring around the clock to complete the dam, others are digging trenches, laying conduit and then leveling the ground again.

The whole shootin' works will cost around $102 million, about half of it for the aqueduct system and the other half for the dam and reservoir.

The dam alone will cost $17.3 million, rising 200 feet high and stretching 6,390 feet, made of specially selected and tested soil found in the vicinity.

It will create a reservoir, called Lake Meredith, with a 200-mile shoreline. Already, recreation facilities and roads to get to them are being built.

In a matter of weeks, the present tiny lake will be stocked with fish, which should be ready for the sportsman by the time the main lake fills.

By 1968, the system should be complete.

The dam will have 15 gates so that southern users will get the best layer of water available—every lake has varying layers, all with their own quality.

The aqueduct is being built of concrete sections, already tested at the factory.

They come in 22-foot lengths and weigh up to 44,000 pounds each for the maximum 96-inch size. A man can maneuver easily without ducking his head in one of the monsters.

They are placed together with rubber gaskets and then covered and the ground levelled.

The system will consist of four pumping plants and four surge towers.

The surge towers reach a maximum of 193 feet and are designed to equalize the pressure in the aqueduct.

Included are two regulating reservoirs and several chlorination stations.

The pumping and other regulation will be done automatically.

Sanford is in the upper Panhandle, nine miles northwest of Borger.

One arm of the conduit system will stretch east to Borger and Pampa. From there it will stretch southward to Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Slaton, Tahoka, O'Donnell and Lamesa.

Just north of Lubbock, an arm of the aqueduct branches west to Levelland and then south to Brownfield.

Congress authorized the system in 1950, under an agreement whereby the cities will repay the cost through charges to water users. The federal government will pay about 3 per cent of the cost because of flood control features of the reservoir.

None of the water will be used for irrigation, and power generation is not included in the plans.

Wilson Pledges Allies To Set Size Of Force

BERLIN (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson pledged Saturday night that British forces in West Germany will not be reduced without the consent of his nation's allies.

The visiting British prime minister made the statement at a news conference a few hours after flying into West Berlin.

"And decision on a change of force must be made within NATO and must be decided by the alliance and must not be a unilateral decision," Wilson said. "But whatever action is taken, I am sure it will not weaken the alliance."

There have been persistent reports in recent weeks that Britain was about to reduce its 51,000-member Rhine army.

Wilson said there still is a $154 million deficit in the British balance of payments with West Germany.

"We have never expected a payment to the United Kingdom for our troops in Germany," he added. "We do, though, think that part of their maintenance cost should be offset by the German purchase of British goods made in Britain."

Asked to state his views on a nuclear-free zone in Europe, Wilson said it was only possible if "there is a reduction of nuclear devices on both sides of the Iron Curtain."

Wilson laid down two other conditions for a nuclear-free zone:

1. Inspection must show that the balance of strength has not been altered on either side of the Iron Curtain.

2. A nuclear-free zone must be over a wider area, not just covering Germany.

He said he would discuss any possible West German initiatives on the question of German reunification when he meets Chancellor Ludwig Erhard on Monday in Bonn.

He reiterated that German reunification must come about on the basis of free elections.

Dancers To Go To Jamboree

The Mates and Dates square dance club will attend the seventh annual teenage jamboree in Levelland March 27.

A bean supper was presented by the club Friday night to raise funds for the trip. The members served guests at the supper, including parents and friends. The trip to Levelland will be by bus. The group is sponsored by the American Business Club.

Club dances are now being held at the teenage room of Cosden Club.

Felts To Speak At Gay Hill

Jimmy Felts Jr., member of the board of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District, will discuss the problem of school dropouts at the Gay Hill P-TA meeting Tuesday.

The executive board meets at 7 p.m., followed by the regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. Second grade pupils of Mrs. Gladys Burns will appear on the program. A social hour will follow the meeting.

Man Injured, Then Arrested

A Latin American was taken by Big Spring Ambulance Service to Howard County Hospital for emergency treatment Saturday afternoon following a two-car collision, then charged by police with driving while intoxicated. He was released from the hospital to police.

The collision was at Third and Main, with the second vehicle involved driven by Alfred Munoz, 801 Nolan.

Four minor traffic accidents were reported Friday. Locations and drivers involved were Third and Rannels, Roy Ford, 703 Highland Drive, and Travis Sellers, Webb AFB, 1209 E. 18th.

Jerry Arrick, 1210 E. 18th, and an unidentified pickup, 1417 Sycamore, Mrs. Lana Jensen, 1503 A Sycamore, and a parked car, owned by Marshall Cates, 604 W. 15th; and Fifteenth and Main, Jeannie Gilean, 1206 Lancaster, and Mrs. Mattie Davis, Gorman.

BEST KIND FOR STATE'S SMALLER TOWNS

Homegrown Industry Thrives

AUSTIN—The problem is simple. Most farm communities can no longer count on farming alone to support their economies. Throughout Texas, hundreds of towns and small cities that once drew their income from farm trade now find there are few farmers left to trade in their stores and banks. Where, then, are these trade centers to turn for their livelihood?

NOT SIMPLE

The solution is not so simple—according to Robert H. Ryan, research associate for the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas, in a study of "homegrown industries" to appear in the March issue of "Texas Business Review."

Ryan observes that "industrialization" is a popular catchword. Scores of local chambers of commerce are desperately interested in attracting new manufacturing plants. But the competition is often hopelessly stiff. Most towns smaller than 5,000, or even 10,000, have little to recommend them as plant sites to regional or national corporations.

Some companies turn their backs on towns that cannot offer fairly large reservoirs of labor. The companies want to be able to choose their employees, and they are wary of becoming too heavily responsible for the over-all well-being of a town. Other companies will consider only sites on major transportation arteries—rail, highway, or air. Or they may want quick access to the big concentrations of buying power represented by large cities.

In some cases, whatever future the town might have had is already in the past. Many Texas towns, though, have been rescued, partly at least, by local businesses that have succeeded in invading regional or national markets.

Local Firm Has Success Story Too

While Big Spring has some two score local manufacturers or processors, perhaps the outstanding story of success is that of the GAMCO complex.

From an idea and a necessity in 1955, the enterprise headed by George A. McAllister (his initials form the company name) now includes three corporations manufacturing items for specialized instruction as well as aluminum door and window frames.

The firms of Math-Master Labs, Inc., GAMCO, Inc. and Prestige Aluminum are grossing around three-quarters of a million dollars per year. Before long the magic million dollar mark may be reached.

Convinced that the mathematics instructors needed some specialized teaching aides, McAllister conceived a graph wall board in 1955. He also needed a supplement to his professor's salary at Howard County Junior College.

His first offering was a chalk board with horizontal and vertical lines at 1-inch intervals, and concentric circles with radiants at 15-degree intervals. He sent out a mimeographed sheet for his "catalogue." First year sales were a meager $59.

He issued a brochure, and the next year he sold $3,730 of his boards and was off and running. By the autumn of 1960 his volume had been overwhelming, so he resigned from the HCJC faculty in January, 1961 and incorporated as Math-Master Labs. Business continued to grow and McAllister decided to go for additional capital, so he organized GAMCO with other local stockholders. This became the manufacturing concern and supplier Math-Master took over branded product distribution.

The $5,500-square foot manufacturing plant was opened here in October, 1963. Experience with aluminum frames led him to make a deal with Arthur A. Graves in February 1964 for making aluminum door and window frames. Prestige Aluminum, Inc. was organized and a 11,500 square foot plant erected as part of the GAMCO complex. Outlet of the output of 2,000 doors and 8,000 windows per month is in the Fort Worth-Dallas area and on the West Coast through Prestige Aluminum of California, an 80-per cent owned subsidiary of the local company. Instead of McAllister's one-man based. That is, they do not depend on large supplies of bulky raw materials, but instead tend to be finished goods produced from paper stock, plastics, food ingredients, metals, finished leather, wood products, and other materials that have already gone through primary manufacturing processes.

Local entrepreneurs are usually familiar enough with their labor supply to know whether and how they can employ enough help. Since the homegrown plants have typically begun on a small scale, they have often expanded gradually and hired displaced workers who were no longer needed on nearby farms.

Selling the outputs of small-town plants is commonly the greatest initial challenge. There is no doubt that many worthwhile products never reach the mass markets for want of effective promotion, advertising and distribution.

The most notable characteristics of homegrown manufacturers, however, is their diversity. Even the general observation that such businesses start on a small scale is not always true. The history of the Collin Street Bakery in Corsicana began in 1898 when W. T. McElwee, with a penchant toward theatrical life, joined forces with a young German immigrant baker, Gus Weidmann. Weidmann had learned to bake a superb "weiss kuchen mit frucht" in his native Wiesbaden. McElwee contributed the name "The Original Fancy DeLuxe, The Fruit Cake Without an Equal."

The first customers were a few local connoisseurs and some theatrical and circus performers whom McElwee had lodged in the rooms above the bakery. It was through McElwee's circus friends that world market was opened. The Ringling troupe arrived early in the Christmas shopping season, and dozens of the performers left mailing lists of their families and friends to be sent cakes. Success was instantaneous. Within weeks, or-operation in the garage of his residence, the cluster today employs about 40 people and distributes all over the world.

ders began to arrive for more; within months the orders were in the thousands. In time, the bakery was shipping almost a million pounds of cakes across the United States and into 107 foreign countries.

PRINTING

At the time when the Collin Street Bakery was still a small shop, in 1908, another small local manufacturer, a job printing shop, was opened in the neighboring town of Ennis. The Ennis Printing Shop specialized in making the identifying tags for cotton bales. The business grew, though rather modestly, until the 1940's. Then, recognizing that specialization in cotton tags constituted a limitation on the company's output, the management began to diversify, first into the manufacture of carbon paper.

By 1944, stimulated by heavy government purchases of carbon paper, sales topped the $1-million mark. From carbon paper, it was a logical step to the making of business forms and sales books interleaved with carbon sheets. The company began production of business forms soon after 1950.

For the 1964 fiscal year, some $16 million in sales were scheduled, enough to place Ennis among the nation's top five business forms manufacturers. The 1974 sales forecast: $33 million.

PLASTICS

A fast sailboat might seem the last thing needed on the dry High Plains of Texas, but a developmental model of a fiberglass-in-plastic sailboat, recently tested, is one product of Polly-Craft Designers and Manufacturers, a small Levelland firm. The company was founded to put in production a lightweight canoe capable of negotiating the rapids of mountain streams.

The next important development was a plastic skylight with good thermal insulating properties. Polly-Craft designed a unit with a sealed air pocket to minimize heat transfer. Since then the small firm has expanded to other specialized fiberglass products, including hydroponic tanks for "chemical farming."

FOLIAGE

An even more highly specialized plastics fabricator is located in Mineral Wells. This is the homegrown Barrier Corporation, a maker of artificial foliage molded of plastic, and also of vinyl plastisols, protective coatings, and custom-formulated plastic mixtures. A. L. Barrier, founder of the company, was living in Mineral Wells in 1954 when he decided to put his long experience in the plastics industry to use.

The line of "Royal Garden Foliage" fabricated by Barrier includes an astonishingly convincing jungle of rubber plants, philodendron, ferns, fiddle-leaf figs, and other ornaments with vinyl leaves set in rough textured stems and arranged and potted in small buckets of plaster.

One of the largest, and conceivably the most important, of Texas' homegrown industries was originally conceived as a means of meeting a national shortage of one resource by substituting another. The company born of this need, if not necessity, was Southland Paper Mills of Lufkin, the first producer of newsprint made from southern pine wood pulp. In the mid-thirties, U. S. newsprint production was declining. Increased imports seemed inevitable, when Dr. Charles Herty, a research chemist, went to work to develop a process for a radically new paper-making process.

NEWSPRINT

The first newsprint made commercially from southern pine was produced at the Lufkin mill in January, 1940. Since then, the capacity of the plant has been expanded greatly and further expansion is planned. Southland also recently announced plans to build a new paper mill, to cost over $10 million initially and to employ about 200, in northeastern Harris County.

One of the best articles of Texas' homegrown industries is Tex Tan Leather of Yoakum, among the nation's major producers of leather specialty products, including casual footwear, saddlery goods, belts, billfolds, gloves and gift wares. Originally established in 1919 Tex Tan is now organized as two divisions of the Tandy Corporation.

Leather goods have been made even longer by the Justin companies, which began in Nocona and now operate also in Fort Worth. H. J. Justin, founder of a Texas leatherworking dynasty, set up his first boot-making shop in Nocona in 1887. After his death in 1919, his sons moved the Justin Boot Co. to Fort Worth. His daughter, Enid Justin, remained in Nocona and continued in the craft of her father by organizing the Nocona Boot Co. A third company in the group is the Justin Leather Goods Co., in Nocona.

FOOD PRODUCTS

The depression of the 1930's left many vacant buildings throughout Texas. One of these, in Denton, became the original home of Whitson Food Products Co. The company, a regional marketer of canned beef stew, chili, con carne, tamales and beans, has thrived in the years since, then without substantial aid from industrial development agencies.

After three expansions of the original plant, Whitson Foods moved to a new installation in 1947. Other than Whitson's Mexican-style foods, the plant produces a line packaged, under license from Walt Disney, under the Donald Duck label, including beans, Vienna sausage and potted meat.

A furniture factory founded in Temple in 1951 has not only grown to be the dominant industrial plant in its area but has also stimulated the development locally of several suppliers of materials used by the company and of related products. The American Desk Manufacturing Co. employs over 500 persons in the making of stadium, school, theater and library furniture.

COOLERS

A new era in manufacturing came to Winters in 1948, when J. R. Dry and his sons began handcrafting evaporative coolers in a shop the size of a one-car garage. They produced, though, more than two dozen coolers weekly, but the market was strong and by 1955 they had increased production to 25 thousand units for the year.

A year after the original Dry firm was sold, the founder's two sons, J. P. Dry and C. A. Dry, re-entered manufacturing in Winters with the making of cigarette vending machines. From present production of air control devices for use in heating and cooling systems—sheet metal grills, louvers, and diffusers for use in the building trades. Today, the Dry Manufacturing Co. employs 150 people, and Pan-American (which bought the original unit) has more than 100 on its payroll.

LABOR SUPPLY

Why are there two substantial metal fabricating businesses located in Winters? The town offers no special locational advantages and no relevant resources, except a stable supply of trainable relatively low-cost labor. It is clearly the imagination and business sense of the management of these two companies that has given Winters its manufacturing industry.

More than is often realized, such enterprises as these have contributed to the rescue of cities that might otherwise have experienced serious economic stagnation.

DEAR ABBY

It Was All A Big Bust

DEAR ABBY: I keep looking to you to take up the fight against the topless bathing suits. I speak for mothers who are worried about their youngsters growing up in a society where people want to see males and females incited to a high degree of "desire" with no thought of the consequences. I recently read where there is a restaurant in Los Angeles which features a bare bosom fashion show during the lunch hour! Many businessmen lunch there and it is open to the public for men and women. All this started with the topless bathing suit. Can't you start a campaign against this sort of thing before it gets out of hand?

FOR DECENTY

DEAR FOR: I don't know where one finds this restaurant which features bare bosoms for lunch, but I'll be glad to investigate it if you'll tell me. As for the topless bathing suits, although a few were sold, fewer were worn, and the wearers were arrested. So I'd say the whole scheme was a bust.

DEAR ABBY: Recently we buried our infant granddaughter. The doctor said she was normal and perfect in every way, but was strangled during birth by the cord. We were shocked and saddened to lose her, and her parents were heartbroken and wanted this little girl so much. We received some calls and notes from friends who said, "It was all for the best." Abby, why are some people so cruel? How do they know it was "all for the best"? Who knows what joy that child might have brought into the world? Please print this for others who use that inappropriate expression of "sympathy." Or if I'm wrong, please tell me so.

Sincerely,
BEREAVED

DEAR BEREAVED: Friends who call and send notes of condolence do so in the spirit of thoughtfulness and sympathy. They mean to be comforting. Appreciate their good intentions and overlook their unfortunate choice of words. I shall print this for the benefit of those who do not know better.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating this boy for three months. He says he doesn't want to go steady. He just wants to play the field for a while. I am really crazy about him and have turned down lots of other dates because of him. There's this big dance coming up and I have already had two invitations to go, but I've turned them down hoping "he" will ask me. One of his friends said he heard that "he" was going to ask me—but he hasn't as yet. Should I wait? Or should I accept a date with someone else? All my friends think I am crazy for waiting, but they don't realize how much I like this guy.

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Wait. If "he" doesn't ask you, you'll probably kick yourself for not having accepted one of the others. But if you accept another date and "he" asks you later, I'm sure you'll kick yourself much harder.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Robert Harrison Places Third In State Contest

Robert Harrison, winner of the Big Spring High School essay contest last autumn on "Careers in Public Health," has placed third in statewide competition. He has been notified of this honor by Joseph N. Murphy Jr., executive secretary of the sponsoring Texas Public Health Association. Robert, son of Dr. and Mrs. Preston Harrison, will receive a plaque signifying his high honor. First place, a $600 scholarship, went to Jo Von Bryan, Amarillo. Second place went to Roderick C. Mack, Dallas. "We think that Robert has a right to be proud of his work and that the community should be proud of him," said Lige Fox, sanitarian for the city-county health unit. All winners from individual schools were submitted as entries in the state contest. Local eliminations were held here last October with Robert winning at BSHS and Doub Franklin at Forsan. Fox said that plans are to continue the contest this October.

Election of trustees will be held April 3. The terms of Mrs. Virginia Stover and G. K. McDonald expire April 5.

Holdover board members are Skeet Noret, John Watson, J. D. Harris, Dr. John Paul Puckett and Charles Bratcher.

Journalism Congress Scheduled At Tech

Provocative talks by some of the nation's leading authorities in the news field, including presidential aides, editors, wire-service directors and commentators, are expected to enliven sessions of the 35th annual Southwestern Journalism Congress at Texas Tech this weekend.

Hosts for the three-day program which opens with registration at 2 p.m. Thursday will be faculty members and students of Tech's journalism department.

Approximately 200 top journalism students and their advisors from 15 member colleges in the four-state area of Table Dinner at 7 p.m. Thursday at Koko Palace.

If his schedule permits, Congressman George Mahon will accompany the two speakers to Lubbock and will attend portions of the congress, Selmeier said.

New Indictments Must Be Sought In Two Cases

Wayne Burns, district attorney, said Saturday he had checked out the indictments on file in his office against two defendants accused of robbery by assault. Both indictments, he said, showed the same faults which had impelled him to set aside the indictments against Higinio Soto and James W. LeMay last week.

"In each of the four indictments, no description is made of the property the defendant is alleged to have taken from his victim," said Burns. "The law specifies that to be valid an indictment must do this."

The two other robbery by assault indictments are of earlier vintage than those against Soto and LeMay. They name Mike Martinez Valenzuela and Eva Diana Mayhall as defendant. Martinez is alleged to have taken a .22 rifle from C. C. Lockaby Aug. 15, 1964. The Mayhall woman is alleged to have stolen a car from Gary Wayne Johnson in August, 1964.

Both of these indictments were voted by the grand jury empaneled to serve the August term of the court.

The Soto and LeMay indictments were voted at the October term of court.

All four of the cases were inherited by Burns when he took office as district attorney in January. He said Saturday he would prepare new indictments and lay these before the grand jury at a session of the body which will probably be held in April of this year. In the four indictments now on file, the indictments merely alleged that the defendants took "corporate personal property" from their victims. In several cases, Burns said, the appeals court has warned this is not definite enough — that a description of the property has to be included. The appeals court says that if this is not done, the defendant is not advised properly of what he is alleged to have stolen.

Soto and LeMay are in jail. The other two defendants are at liberty on bond.

Trent Is Champion In Regional Meet

By HARDY PRICE
Defending state Class B champion Trent took a step closer toward its second championship by defeating the Forsan Buffalo Queens, 78-54, here Saturday night in the Class B Region VI tournament.

Behind the high scoring of Diana Lewis with 41 points, the Trent Gorillas built up a steady lead throughout the game. They lead 40-31 at halftime. Mary Simpson was high pointer for the Queens with 22 points.

A capacity crowd was on hand in Jayhawk Gym for the championship game.

The Gorillas jumped off to a quick five point lead and never let go. The Queens had a hard time keeping up with the rough and tumble tactics of the Gorilla guards. Jody Dodd, scoring ace for the Queens throughout the year, was held to 19 points.

In the first game of the evening for third place, Gail defeated Fort Davis, 57-49. Gail led from buzzer to buzzer and Mary Ann Dennis was high scorer for Gail with 36 points. Becky Dominguez was high pointer for Fort Davis with 21 and Linda Moos hit nine.

In the morning's first game Trent had no trouble in downing Fort Davis, 91-71. The first quarter was close, 25-24, but in the second quarter Trent pulled ahead to take a 49-37 halftime lead.

McAninch led the scoring for the Gorillas with 44 points. Dickerson (43) and Kaye McWilliams (33), both of Trent, wait for the ball to come down in first quarter action. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

San Marcos, Jones Claim State Titles

By JACK KEEVER
AUSTIN (AP) — Houston Jones, one of the most explosive teams ever to appear in the state schoolboy basketball tournament, fought off challenging Dallas Thomas Jefferson Saturday for a 64-57 victory and the Class AAAA championship.

Surging through the Big City conference, Jones set three all-tournament scoring records and became the first team in the tournament's 45-year history to tally more than 100 points in a single game.

The Falcons wrecked that standard last night in their 106-71 rout of Kingsville, passing the old one game scoring mark of 92 by Sweeney in 1954 and with Kingsville breaking the old two-team point total for one game of 165, hung up by Webster and Phillips in a 1956 AA game.

San Marcos' high-scoring Rattlers broke two Class AAA scoring records and shared another with an easy 87-63 victory over Waxahachie for that division's title.

The 87 points broke the old single game scoring mark of 83, set by Beaumont South Park in 1953, and San Marcos' two-game tournament total of 162 points was 10 more than that South Park scored that same year in two contests. The combined total of San Marcos and Waxahachie—150 points—was four more than Victoria and Kilgore tallied in 1955.

With two members of San Marcos' state finalist football team—Rox Goodwine and Gordon Klunkert scoring 25 and 19 points respectively—the Rattlers grabbed a quick 10-point lead, built that margin to 20 points and coasted in for its first AAA championship. Paul Clark was high for Waxahachie with 22.

Waxahachie's 63 points tied the record for the most points by a losing team in AAA championship play. South San Antonio also scored 63 in 1958, losing to Waxahachie.

21 STRAIGHT
San Marcos' triumph was its 21st in a row, and 25th of the season against five losses, all before the football players switched sports.

Two other championships were determined earlier as Snook defeated Deweyville 48-44 for the Class B title, and Lake Worth of Fort Worth brushed past Port Acres 60-49 for the AA crown.

FALL BEHIND
Jefferson, trying for its second championship in four years, grabbed a four-point lead in the first half but couldn't hold it despite Jones' poor free throw shooting. The Falcons connected on only 5 of 15 in the first half and 14 of 30 for the full game.

Jones went ahead 33-31 at half, lost a point to 48-47 margin at the end of the third quarter, but roared away in the fourth period. Four players—and the Falcons only their starting lineup—scored in double figures. Barry Lewis rammed in 23 Eugene Phillips got 13, Lynn Phillips 11 and Ronnie Arrow 10.

Richard Scallorn with 18 and Larry Smith with 13 paced Jefferson, which finished its season with a 34-4 record. Jones ended up with a 36-3 season mark.

Snook, awesome all year in running up a 25-game winning streak and 50-1 overall record, was forced into a three-minute overtime period to subdue Deweyville. Lake Worth was pressed for three quarters before shaking off Port Acres.

For the second time in three years, West Sabine (Pineland) defeated Woodsboro for the Class A championship, 51-48. In 1963 the Tigers won a 66-51 victory.

Bulldogs Launch Season Sept. 3

The Bulldogs will play three non-conference games before moving into their seven game district schedule. After the opening game, the Bulldogs will have two weeks of rest before taking on Stanton in Stanton Sept. 27.

Next will come a meeting with the Big Spring Junior Varsity Sept. 25 in Coahoma. The Bulldogs will open district play here Oct. 1 against Roby. Next will come Roscoe on Oct. 8, followed by Jim Ned Oct. 15.

Scenic Mount Course Was Once Part Of BS Scene

CARS CAN BE SEEN AROUND ONE GREEN OF DEFUNCT GOLF COURSE

Thirty-five years ago, the Scenic Mountain Golf Course — located at the foot of Big Spring's famed overlook — was a going concern. The nine-hole sand-green layout, situated about where the Indian Hills Addition is now, was ill-fated from the start.

out the calculations between one fairway and the other and then fire away.

In the above picture, 18th Street can be seen in the upper right corner while Cosden Refinery can barely be seen on the horizon at left center.

A busy farm-to-market road now bisects the fairways of the layout and all traces of the facility have long since disappeared.

Morrow Mark Is Bettered At Fort Worth

By MIKE COCHRAN FORT WORTH (AP)—School-boy flash George Aldredge and Prairie View's Willie Dearion led a wind-whipped assault on the record books of the Southwest Recreation track and field meet Saturday.

A gusty 25-mile an hour wind stirred up blowing dust and sent Aldredge streaking to twin record-breaking victories in the 100 and 200-yard dashes.

The Dallas Highland Park speedster sailed to a two-peat triumph in the 100 in 9.4 and breezed around a curve to win the 200 in 21.1 without difficulty.

Both efforts improved upon the records he set here last year and the 21.1 clocking was just .2 of a second off the National Interscholastic mark.

Dearion shot to the college division 100 tape in 9.4 seconds to knock Olympian Bobby Morrow's name off the record books, and then raced to a 220 record in 21.4.

Aldredge duplicated his 1964 honor of being named the outstanding Recreation performer. Fifteen records fell in the four divisions and another was equaled as Abilene Christian won team titles in the university and junior college-freshman divisions, Texas Southern took the college crown and Corpus Christi Ray topped the school-boys.

Roger Orrell of Abilene Christian bettered his own university discus standard with a 169-foot effort, then upset Baylor's Jim Lancaster in the shot put with a heavy 57 feet 1/4 inch.

David Bonds of McMurry swept to a pair of hurdles victories, taking the 120-yard highs in 14.8 seconds and the 440-yard intermediate in 54.7. Neither was a record.

Ray Sadler of Texas Southern, the national indoor record holder in the 440-yard dash, blazed to a 47.2 in the 440 to eclipse the recreation record of 47.6.

North Texas State's Ben Linscomb shattered the oldest record in the books here with a broad jump of 24 feet 6 1/2 inches. It eclipsed the 34-year old university mark of 24 1/2 set by Mike Hale of Rice.

In one of many highlights, fleet Billy Foster of Southern Methodist nipped Wayne Brandt of Baylor and Riley Dunn of Abilene Christian in the university 100. Foster, with the wind at his back, hit the tape inches ahead in 9.5 seconds.

ACC compiled 74 points in sweeping university laurels, followed by Baylor, 58; North Texas, 37; SMU, 33, and Oklahoma City University, 16.

Texas Southern totaled 52 points with East Texas nailing the runner-up slot with 42. McMurry took third with 34, Arlington State fourth with 30 1/2, and Prairie View fifth with 27.

ACC's freshmen delegation amassed 49 points. SMU had 43, Howard County Junior College 38, Oklahoma City 28 and Schreiner Institute 18.

Ray nosed Dallas Samuell for the high school title, picking up 23 points to 22. Richardson was third with 19 and Dallas Kimball fourth with 18.

Among the recreation records to fall were the shot, broad jump and javelin in the college competition.

Russell Polhemus of East Texas State topped his own shot mark with a 56-8 1/2 toss and Freddie Fox of McMurry set the new broad jump record at 24-8 1/2.

Tommy Hartmen of Sam Houston hurled the javelin 209 feet 6 inches for another shuffling of the records.

Cage Leaders Risk Splendid Record

JOHN CANTARINI

Arcaro's Double Sunland Jockey

EL PASO — It was the last riding title on the entire circuit for two consecutive years. He made an immediate hit with horsemen at Sunland Park and is considering making Sunland his base track. His riding engagements are handled locally by the former trainer, R. J. Stevens.

Joking about his similarity to Eddie Arcaro, Cantarini says he has been mistaken for "The Master" many times — but not when it counted.

"Ben Jones never came up to me to say, hey jock, do you want to ride Citation in the Kentucky Derby?"

The field moved on the track and the sound of the bugler sent the players hurrying toward the windows.

The conversation was similar to those that have been heard at California tracks for years. John Cantarini is a dead ringer for the retired Eddie Arcaro, known as "The Master," and one of the greatest riders of the American turf.

Does Cantarini mind the association? "Not on your life," he readily admits. "When anyone said I do anything like Arcaro — even look like him, I'm flattered."

Cantarini at 27 years, is a veteran saddlesmith who has been mistaken for Arcaro ever since he came on the race track 15 years ago. His prominent nose, physique, and purchase on a horse are all strikingly similar of the great Arcaro who retired in 1961 after 31 years of riding and 4,779 winners.

And like Arcaro, Cantarini is a superb finisher on a horse as displayed Sunday when he drove Jean Abbey to a smashing victory in the first race.

In the nightcap, he delighted the chalk players by bringing home Space Traveler for a $9,000 return.

As a result, three first-round games will be played at Philadelphia and two more at West Kentucky Tuesday.

The winners of these games will go into four regional tournaments Friday and Saturday, from which will emerge four teams to fight it out for the NCAA title at Portland, Ore., March 19-20.

The National Invitation Tournament, which no longer gets the champions—except its own—opens its 28th stand in Madison Square Garden Thursday with a field increased from 12 to 14 teams. It also ends March 20.

OTHERS CARDERD

Also on this week's schedule are the two small college tournaments—the NCAA College Division finals at Evansville, Ind., Wednesday through Friday, and the NAIA championship at Kansas City all week. District and regional playoffs during the past week have reduced the field to 32 for the NAIA and eight for the NCAA.

The match-up of winning streaks takes place in the NCAA first round trileader at Philadelphia, Princeton, which won its last 10 games en route to the Ivy League championship, meets Penn State, 13 straight, in the opener. St. Joseph's, 15 straight and 25-1 for the season, meets Connecticut, 14 straight and 22-2, in the second game. For the windup it's Providence, which won its first 19 games in a 21-1 season, against late-starting West Virginia, winner of the Southern Conference tournament.

The doubleheader at Texas Tech, combining the first-round games for two regionals, sends Oklahoma City against Colorado State University and Notre Dame against Houston. The first game winner moves into the Far West regional and the second winner into the Midwest regional.

TOUGHIES MEET

Tuesday's games at Western Kentucky, qualifying two teams for the Mid-East regional, are DePaul vs. Eastern Kentucky, the Ohio Valley Conference champion, and Dayton vs. the winner of the Mid American Conference title—either Ohio University of Miami of Ohio.

Sites of the four regionals next weekend are the University of Maryland, Kentucky, Kansas State and Brigham Young. The NCAA tournament automatically takes the champions of 15 conferences and, as usual, several of these races weren't settled before the final weekend of the regular season.

The winner of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament is slated to play the Princeton-Penn State winner in the second round at Maryland while Vanderbilt, Southeast Conference winner, and the winner of the Big Ten titles drew the byes at Kentucky.

At Kansas State, the Big Eight champion will play the Notre Dame-Houston winner. Wichita, the Missouri Valley Conference representative, will play the Southwest Conference runner-up. Texas Tech, front-runner in the Southwest, declared itself out because of an ineligible player. San Francisco and UCLA have qualified for the Brigham Young regional by winning conference titles. The Dons will play the Oklahoma City-Colorado State winner and the Bruins will meet the Western Athletic Conference champions.

Heading the NIT field are last year's winner and runner-up, Bradley and New Mexico, and teams that are old Garden favorites. Among them are St. John's of New York, making its 17th NIT appearance; Bradley and St. Louis, 12th for each; and LaSalle and Villanova from Philadelphia's Big Five.

The others are Army, Boston College, Detroit, Fordham, Manhattan, New York University, Texas Western and Western Kentucky.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Local Youth Headed For NMU

By TOMMY HART

A boy who attended junior high school here and whose parents still reside here wound up as a Class B all-state fullback player for Truth or Consequences, N.M., High School and has been given a four-year athletic scholarship by the University of New Mexico.

TEDDY GRAHAM

He averaged 4.9 yards per carry and 42.9 yards in nine punts (compared to 40.7 for 14 punts as a junior). He also was saddled with the job of kicking extra points and kicking off for Truth Or Consequences. Teddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Graham of Gail Route, Big Spring, also led the basketball team in scoring and threw the weights in track. He also received scholarship offers from EMMU, Western New Mexico, New Mexico State, Stanford, Colorado and Texas A&M. He was one of the first two New Mexico gridders signed by the Albuquerque school to scholarships and was inked personally by Bill Weeks, head coach of the Lobos. Quite probably, Marshall Williams — because of his ball-carrying ability — will be moved to a halfback spot by coach Spike Dykes at Coahoma this fall. The Bulldogs will be smaller this year than in 1964, averaging only about 165 pounds in the line, and for that reason will split wider and try to run a variety of maneuvers. San Angelo's Bobcats are abandoning their celebrated diamond formation for a multiple offense. Quarterback Gary Mullins is facing stiff competition for his job in the person of sophomore Mike Phelps, a real whiz in junior high circles down there last fall. There's a story making the rounds that coach Emory Bellard of the Bobcats is making a defensive specialist out of Julio Guerrero, San Angelo's fine running back. NFL club owners have been told to soft-pedal their criticism of the other pro league, lest they make more friends for the AFL.

The rock-throwing incident which followed the recent San Angelo-Big Spring basketball game here, coming in the wake of other unsavory occurrences involving the treatment of visiting teams and individuals, served only to tarnish our city's reputation as a host. Such hooliganism has no place in a community that needs all the good public relations it can rally. The demeanor of both student bodies was exemplary during the basketball game, by the way, but the spirit of good fellowship deteriorated rapidly after everyone had left the gym, mainly because the authors of words first said in jest decided to back them up with deeds. Ultimately those exponents of violence delivered their michief under the cover of night, when they reasoned their tracks could best be hidden. Thus the good name of athletics suffered another black eye. Regrettably, a few unthinking adults — shouting expletives at game officials they might disagree with or venting their spleen on visiting players — play a role in making a cancerous problem more malignant. Hardest places to grow grass in big league sports stadiums are Kansas City and St. Louis. Big Spring's Delnor Poss was among those most favorably considered for the job before Fagan Mullins was hired as head football coach at San Angelo Lake View School. Incidentally, Mullins twice came close to being hired as a Big Spring coaching aide. According to Golf Foundation statistics, there are 6,250,000 full-time golfers and 1,000,000 occasional participants in the sport in this country. The agency also says there are 7,477 golf courses in this country and $1,797,000,000 is spent annually to maintain them. Because he is such a valued hand on defense, Big Spring's Joe Jaure will probably be switched to a running back on offense in football next fall — which leaves the quarterbacking job wide open to Van Tom Whatley, Gregg Pate and Gary Rogers. Jaure runs the 100 under 10 seconds but hasn't yet developed the elusiveness needed in a halfback. He's growing, though, and has a splendid attitude.

Indians Defeat Talpa, 61-56

After leading for three quarters the Talpa-Centennial Ramettes lost the lead in the last three minutes and were downed by Fort Davis, 61-56, in the Class B Regional girls' basketball tournament here Friday night.

The difference was at the foul line where Fort Davis hit 23 charity tosses to 8 for the Ramettes. The Ramettes outshot the Fort Davis team from the field, 24-19.

Carter Selected All-Loop Player

Walter Carter, former HCCJ cage star, now at Howard Payne, has been named to the Lone Star All-Conference basketball team by that circuit's coaches.

Carter stands 6-foot-6 and is a senior. He hails from Gate City, Va. He was a unanimous selection, as was Jack Fryman, Sul Ross.

Steer beats throw to Mike Turner in 2nd game

Bovines Split Pair Of Games, 7-3, 2-1

Big Spring and Andrews Steers to the win in the first game while Rodney Monahans went all the way to notch the victory for the Ponies in the tiepiece.

Coches Roy Baird and Tom King got a good look at all their hands during the long afternoon. They used five hurriers in the two contests.

Big Spring sailed away the decision in the opener with a four-run fourth round, during which time they made the most of three hits, a sacrifice, two stolen bases and as many Andrews errors.

Yogi Anderson, Howard Bain, Larry Broughton and Rod Roberts crossed the plate for the Longhorns in that order.

The Mustangs picked up two runs off Mears in Round Two to match two the Steers had collected in Round One and scored again off Griffin in the sixth.

In all, Andrews managed only three hits in the game, compared to seven for Big Spring. Andrews drove out two singles for the provincials.

Monahans did a fine job of muffling the Steer power in the second game, limiting the Steers to a mere three hits.

Big Spring tied the count at 1-1 in the sixth when Sammy Mims raced home on a sacrifice by Van Tom Whatley but Andrews came right back to go ahead in the seventh when Bruce Bowden reached base on a bobbie and eventually legged it home on another miscue. Andrews earned no runs in the game.

Randy Matson Is In NCAA Field

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Some 300 titleholders will compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association indoor track championships next weekend, with more than a dozen meet records automatically going into the books since this is the first such meet.

The event will be held in Detroit's Cobo Hall Friday and Saturday. Sellout crowds of 9,500 are expected for both days of the meet, sponsored by the Detroit News.

In addition to witnessing record-book performances for 14 events, spectators may see American indoor records tied or broken in the shot put and 60-yard dash.

Among the stars competing from more than 75 colleges will be John Uelses, former holder of the American indoor record in vaulting; Randy Matson, rated as one of the finest indoor shot putters in history; and Gerry Lindgren, one of the nation's top distance-running prospects.

The 27-year-old Uelses, a LaSalle College senior, was the first man in the world to vault 16 feet.

Matson, a 6-foot-6½ inch sophomore at Texas A&M, won a silver medal in the Olympics with a heave of 66 feet ¾ inches.

The 20-year-old Texan weighs 255 pounds and hopes to hit 230 by year's end.

Lindgren, a Washington State freshman, won the 10,000-meter race against the Russians last summer. He will compete in a special invitational mile run Friday.

Outstanding athletes from independent colleges have been invited to enter the events in addition to conference champions from coast to coast.

Finals will be held Friday in the broad jump, shot put, 440-yard and 880-yard events.

Saturday's program includes the pole vault, 60-yard high hurdles, 60-yard dash, high jump, two-mile relay, 1,000-yard run, 600-yard run, mile, two-mile and mile relay.

Is Redshirting Bad Word In Athletics

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Is "redshirt" a nasty word?

It is fair to a college athlete to keep his nose to the academic grindstone so his grades will remain at the proper level and he'll get his degree at the end of the normal four years?

Or is it better for him to pursue a more leisurely course in the classrooms, skip one year of competition, and take an extra year to complete both the requirements for a degree and his three seasons of varsity competition?

Or, in view of developments, wouldn't it be smart to continue the practice but give it a new name — such as a five-year plan?

You can get all kinds of answers.

Redshirting in football is a practice almost as old as the rule limiting collegians to three years of varsity competition. Some coaches found it practical to hold back athletes one year to reach physical maturity and to reduce the risk of academic dropouts. Many schools considered it somewhat unethical.

EARN NAME

The players — usually sophomores — who were being held back often wore red jerseys when they scrimmaged against the regulars. Hence the name.

The word was added to the average fan's vocabulary this winter during a college vs. pro hassle about the premature signing of football players. The pros and the public were inclined to lump all fifth-year players as redshirts.

"Why should we pass up a college coach wants to stockpile a lot of players" the pro clubs asked.

One official who acted for the National Collegiate A.A. in discussions with the major pro leagues commented: "Everyone said we shouldn't make an issue of signing redshirts. They said it wasn't a sound practice. It wasn't considered defensible."

But in some areas where redshirting is widely practiced it also is strongly defended. But there is considerable emphasis placed on a distinction between "true redshirts" and boys whose progress is delayed by injuries or financial or academic difficulties.

Jim Weaver, Atlantic Coast stressed the idea that players often redshirt themselves. He said the eight ACC colleges have about 40 football redshirts a year.

Frank Howard, Clemson football coach, brought out the same point and added:

"Many average students find it hard to graduate in eight semesters if they are at good schools. We want all our Clemson students to get their diplomas. I see two main reasons for redshirting — the boy needs more time to graduate or he is not ready to play."

In the Southeastern, Southwest and Pacific Athletic conferences, redshirting is practiced on a broad scale. SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore agrees with coaches who feel that players have a much better chance of getting a degree if they have five years instead of four.

The NCAA five-year rule, which incidentally applies only to NCAA championships and to co-operating tournaments and football bowl games, says only that three years of eligibility can extend through five calendar years from the time the athlete first enters any college.

Only a few conferences have more stringent rules specifically designed to outlaw redshirting among them the Big Ten, the Ivy League and the Southern Conference. Generally there are provisions for hardship exceptions.

The Big Ten rule, passed about seven years ago, limits the eligibility period to four years after the first enrollment in college.

"Our basic approach was that the period of normal progression to a degree is four years and we wanted our rules to conform," said Commissioner Bill Reed.

The Ivy League rule specifies eight semesters of residence. If an athlete drops out of college for a semester for some good reason, that time isn't counted against his eligibility.

The Eastern College Athletic Conference, to which the Ivy colleges belong, follows the NCAA five-year rule. "Our rules don't prevent redshirting, but I don't know of any of our colleges that indulge in it," said Commissioner Asa Bushnell. "We think it is unfair to a boy to slow up his education."

In the Southwest, there's a strong sentiment for distinguish-

Baseball In Need Of Strong Czar

MIAMI (AP) — No one realizes the need of a strong baseball commissioner more than Del Webb, who, earlier this week severed all connection with the sport by selling his remaining 10 per cent of New York Yankees' stock to the Columbia Broadcasting System.

"Baseball needs a strong commissioner, in these changing times, to provide the centralized leadership necessary to cope with increased business competition," said Webb, who, in his 20-year tenure as co-owner of the Yankees, was one of the most influential men in the game.

The 66-year-old construction magnate was a long-time member of baseball's policy committee. He had much to say in the selection of A. B. (Happy) Chandler as commissioner in 1945 and later was instrumental in getting Chandler fired. Webb headed the committee which brought Ford Frick to the commissioner's office in 1951. Frick will retire this fall.

During all my baseball years said Webb, "there was actually only one person I felt could fill our requirements to the letter. That man was J. Edgar Hoover. As a matter of fact, he could have had the job 20 years ago but he was not interested."

Baseball's first commissioner was Judge Kennesaw Mountain

Landis, who took office in 1920, a year after the Black Sox scandal, and served until his death in 1944.

"Landis was in there for one specific function," said Webb. "That was to reinstall the public's faith in baseball. He succeeded. But he would never be able to handle our problems today."

"When we got Frick, we felt we needed a baseball man, one who knew and had lived with its problems. He, too, served his purpose."

What kind of a man should the next commissioner be?

He must be a young, dedicated, fearless man who possesses the best qualities of the first three commissioners, says Webb.

"Baseball's problems are vastly more complicated, events are moving more quickly, and immense sums of money are involved in television rights, pension rights, franchise shifts, and now draft rights," said Webb. "It is essential to have a man who is not afraid to make decisions and whose decisions can be regarded as binding."

winning of the Clay-Liston fight," added Isaacson. Clay and Liston are scheduled to meet in a return bout May 25. The WBA stripped the Louisville Lip of the title for signing for the return bout in violation of its rules. Sources close to Patterson here said it was highly doubtful that the former two-time champion would take on Terrell. He is awaiting the Clay-Liston outcome in the hope that Clay repeats. Clay favors meeting Patterson next. Patterson also may take one fight in May against Chualvo, Argentina's Gregorio Peralta or Foley. Isaacson posted a $5,000 forfeit check to guarantee Terrell's signing for the next fight. Terrell, meanwhile, went to a doctor to have a cut and bulge under his left eye examined. This was inflicted in the six-round of the holding-married 19 rounder which drew 6,587 and $47,465 to the International Amphitheatre. The unanimous verdict favoring the 6-foot-4, 25-year-old Terrell was greeted by a storm of boos from the fans. They were partial to the 6-foot, 32-year-old Machen, who was a 9-5 underdog. It was Terrell's 13th straight victory. Machen came out the winner financially. He was guaranteed $20,000 by Terrell, or rather Isaacson. They got 80 per cent of the net purse. "The fight cost me about $17,000 including expenses and a purse of about $5,000 that Ernie should get," said Isaacson. "Actually we figure to get nothing from the receipts. But Ernie deserves a payday. I'll make it up on the first big pay day."

FIGHT RESULTS: FRIDAY NIGHT: CHICAGO—Ernie Terrell, 199, Chicago, outpointed Eddie Machen, 192, Redondo, Calif., 15. Terrell won World Boxing Association recognition as heavyweight champion. JOHNSTON, Pa.—Johnny Bizzarp, 130, Erie, Pa., outpointed Tommy Tibbs, 128, Erie, Pa., 12.

(AP)—Notre Dame will be the big lure for basketball fans when the Fighting Irish square off in the first round of the NCAA playoffs here Monday night. Notre Dame, called the tallest team in the NCAA with an average of 6 feet 6 inches, meets Houston in the second game on the schedule. Colorado State and Oklahoma City University open the program at 7 p.m., deciding the team that goes to the regional tournament at Provo, Utah. Notre Dame will be after a spot in the Midwest regional at Manhattan, Kan., and unless it's erratic as it sometimes is, should make it. Notre Dame beat Houston 110-90 when they met in January. The Irish, who have never lost a basketball game in Texas, bring a 15-11 record to the playoffs. It also is Notre Dame's highest scoring team in history—or will be if it makes as much as 56 points on Houston. In 1959 Notre Dame had 2,374 points. It now has 2,319. It also will be the most scored against the Notre Dame team as soon as Houston gets one point. There have been 2,100 points rolled up on the Irish this year. That's the same total as in 1957.

Howard County Economy Braced By Oil And Gas

A $38.3 million a year ingredient in the prosperity of Howard County is the production of oil and gas. The Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association says in its current survey of economic factors stemming from petroleum operations here.

Using published U. S. Bureau of Mines figures as a base, the association has projected what oil and gas activities mean in this county. In 1962 Howard County was producing more than 12.7 million barrels of crude oil and 2.3 billion cubic feet of natural gas. The oil was valued at $38 million; the natural gas at $275,000.

Howard County ranks 29th in the state in total value of oil and gas production.

"Demand for Texas crude oil picked up enough last year to give us an increase of about three per cent over 1962 on a statewide basis. This slightly improving trend seems to be holding this year as more autos are put on the road and nationwide business conditions accelerate," said James L. Sewell, president of the association. "It will be several months, however, before we know to what extent individual counties are participating in the current market."

The dispersion of oil dollars through Howard County business channels and the healthy effect given property values by petroleum industry activity are indicated by several figures published by the association.

It is estimated that royalty payments to Howard County landowners who are fortunate enough to have producing wells on their property create a "crop" worth about $4.8 million annually. These and other farmers and ranchers who have leased acreage for exploration receive additional rental and bonus payments, but sufficient current data is not available for measuring the amount.

Oil and gas operators invested as estimated $5.6 million in Howard County last year in the search for new fields and in the development of zones where production has been found. The Oil and Gas Journal reports that 119 wells were drilled in the county in 1963, resulting in 100 oil wells, and 19 dry holes.

Drilling operations included 10 wildcat wells in which operators hunted oil in new territory or at new depths. About $811,000 of the drilling expenditures was lost to dry holes, the association estimated. Approximately $139,000 was spent to conduct seismic explorations mapping underground formations which might contain oil.

Petroleum industry payrolls contribute about $11.4 million a year to the county, according to Texas Employment Commission records. They show about 1,600 persons directly employed in oil and gas operations.

The state government's financial interest in Howard County operations is measured by the $1.8 million a year which the operators and royalty owners provide the state government in production taxes. These payments are in addition to those paid to local units of government and schools as property taxes. Oil and gas property taxes are reflected in local support of many Texas school districts. For example, 75.1 per cent of the local taxes for the Coahoma School District comes from oil and gas operations; 90.3 per cent at Forsan.

Among the county's industrial operations is the processing of oil and gas. One natural gasoline plant is operated here to recover butane, propane, natural gasoline and other liquids from natural gas. It has a capacity of 70 million cubic feet a day.

Pooling Bill Cuts Out Town Lot Drilling Sites

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Texas oil and gas conservation statutes date back to 1899 but final action on a compulsory pooling statute was not taken until this week.

Gov. John Connally signed a bill Thursday authorizing the Texas Railroad Commission to require pooling of the operation of a drilling tract when voluntary efforts fail.

In effect, the bill was designed to prevent tracts of only townlot size from receiving more than a fair share of production.

While Texas pioneered many an oil and gas conservation measure, 31 other states were ahead of Texas in adopting such pooling authority in one form or another. Kansas now is the only major oil state without such authority.

Until a year ago, a compulsory pooling bill was too controversial for Texas legislators to handle.

dependent Producers & Royalty Owners Association long had championed such a tradition.

Rotary Count Jumps To 186

The Friday survey of rotary drilling rigs operating in the Permian Basin conducted by Reed Roller Bit Co., showed 186 making hole as compared with 159 a week ago.

This still is 16 fewer than the 202 reported for the same week in 1964. Lea County, N. M., up three from the prior survey, has 26 to be first on the tally.

Pecos County gained two over 19 a week ago and is second on the count with 21. Ector County, with 16, twice the figure for the last week, is third.

The county-by-county survey, with previous totals in parenthesis, includes:

- Andrews 11 (11), Chaves 5 (4), Cochran 1 (1), Coke 1 (1), Concho 1 (0), Crane 3 (4), Crockett 4 (5), Crosby 1 (0), Culberson 0 (1), DAWSON 7 (7), Ector 16 (8), Eddy 10 (10), Fisher 1 (0); across two small-lot subdivisions and included more than 500 leases involving tracts of only townlot size.

Halbouty went to court—and eventually won—with an argument that drilling permits for 35 wells involving a total of only 25 acres would mean the 35 wells could ultimately produce from 20 to 25 per cent of all the reserves beneath the 4,000-acre field.

He also began stumping the state to tell anyone who would listen that hundreds of unnecessary wells were being drilled across the state.

"I ignored my own business affairs and health and during that one-man crusade that lasted 19 or 20 months," Halbouty said "I was threatened with a whipping in Midland and Victoria."

Martin Test
Cities Service has staked location for No. 1-L Scharbauer as a proposed 6,000 foot San Andres test in Martin County, 19 miles northwest of Stanton. It is ½-mile northeast of the operators' No. 1-K Scharbauer, a possible discovery now testing Grayburg perforations between 4,549-52 feet. Location for the new project is 660 from south and 1,810 from west lines of League 322, LaSalle CSL survey. It is five miles east of San Andres production in the multipay Mabree field along the Martin and Andrews counties line.

Device Stops, Starts Pumps Automatically
MIDLAND—The development of a device that automatically starts an oil well pumping unit when sufficient fluid accumulates in the well and then shuts it down when the fluid is reduced to pumping level, has been announced by Bob Cottrell, owner of Spartan Controls, Midland.

Called the Spartan Pump-Master, the device operates on a hydraulic principle, with a sensing chamber that detects presence of fluid in the well and electrically activates the pumping unit. The sensing device will automatically shut the unit down if insufficient fluid is present and engage an electrical system that controls pre-set timers for both sampling and recovery.

Cottrell labeled the Pump-Master a real boon to the oil industry. "It never allows a unit to pump 'dry.' This means decreased running time, which saves the operator money on power and repair charges," Cottrell says. "The automatic feature also appreciably cuts man-hours in the field."

According to Cottrell, many operators using the Spartan Pump-Master have also experienced considerably increased production, particularly in areas with low bottom hole pressures.

Interior Department Doubts Import Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's petroleum industry generally is growing, the Interior Department reported and studies reveal it is healthy, vigorous and capable of meeting foreseeable requirements.

Based on expected population increase, and assuming the industry will continue to supply about the same percentage of the energy market, the department forecast a steady rise in oil consumption from the present 10.6 million barrels a day to over 17.5 million in 1980.

tary of the interior, said it was a part of the department response to President Johnson's delegation to Secretary Stewart L. Udall of responsibility for oil policy.

It was undertaken by the Office of Oil and Gas in collaboration with the Bureau of Mines, Geological Survey and Oil Import Administration.

Data also was obtained from state and federal agencies and industry sources.

One major problem area has been defined, the report said, as that associated with assuring that reserves are adequate to meet greatly expanded future requirements. He said that because of various factors exploration, as opposed to development, is not keeping pace with expanding requirements.

1963 as one of "sunlight and shadow"—of a yearly growth rate in natural gas use at over 5 per cent contrasted with a growth rate for oil which began a 13-year period at 6 per cent and ended at less than 3 per cent.

Total consumption of oil and gas between 1963 and 1950 forces attention upon requirements for discovery of new supplies, it said, adding requirements for U.S. production of crude and natural gas liquid through 1980 may be about 69 million barrels, and gas 390 trillion cubic feet.

Noting national security factors, the report said that to be successful the oil import policy must seek to balance the many other interests in a free nation situated in a free world.

Rising oil imports became of concern to the federal government as early as 1955, it pointed out, and the mandatory oil import program was established in 1959. Overall, the gain in total imports in all districts from the period 1959-63 was 340,000 barrels daily, a 20 per cent increase, most of it in imports of residual fuel on the East Coast and crude on the West Coast, it said.

It would appear, it continued, that imports of residual oil into the East Coast area will continue some increase and pointed to continued sharp declines in the domestic residual output.

Realization of the U. S. industry's reserve capacity could make available about 11.5 million barrels of crude and natural gas liquids daily if necessary, it said, 2.9 million more than present production.

On the basis of cold figures provided, the report stated, it would appear the United States is in no danger of running out of oil for many years.

The appraisal said, however, that economic factors cast suspicion as to whether necessary drilling rates will be kept up and even if they are, whether oil is sufficient, economically producible quantities will be found. But, it added, the "common indices of discovery success do not tend to substantiate these fears."

GAS RESOURCES
And it appears, the report said, that domestic natural gas resources will be adequate to meet requirements between now and 1980 provided the necessary exploratory effort is made.

The report was based on a study of the domestic petroleum industry started by the department in the summer of 1964 to determine basic facts for an assessment of the current situation and the future outlook.

John M. Kelly, assistant secretary of the interior, said it was a part of the department response to President Johnson's delegation to Secretary Stewart L. Udall of responsibility for oil policy.

It was undertaken by the Office of Oil and Gas in collaboration with the Bureau of Mines, Geological Survey and Oil Import Administration.

Data also was obtained from state and federal agencies and industry sources.

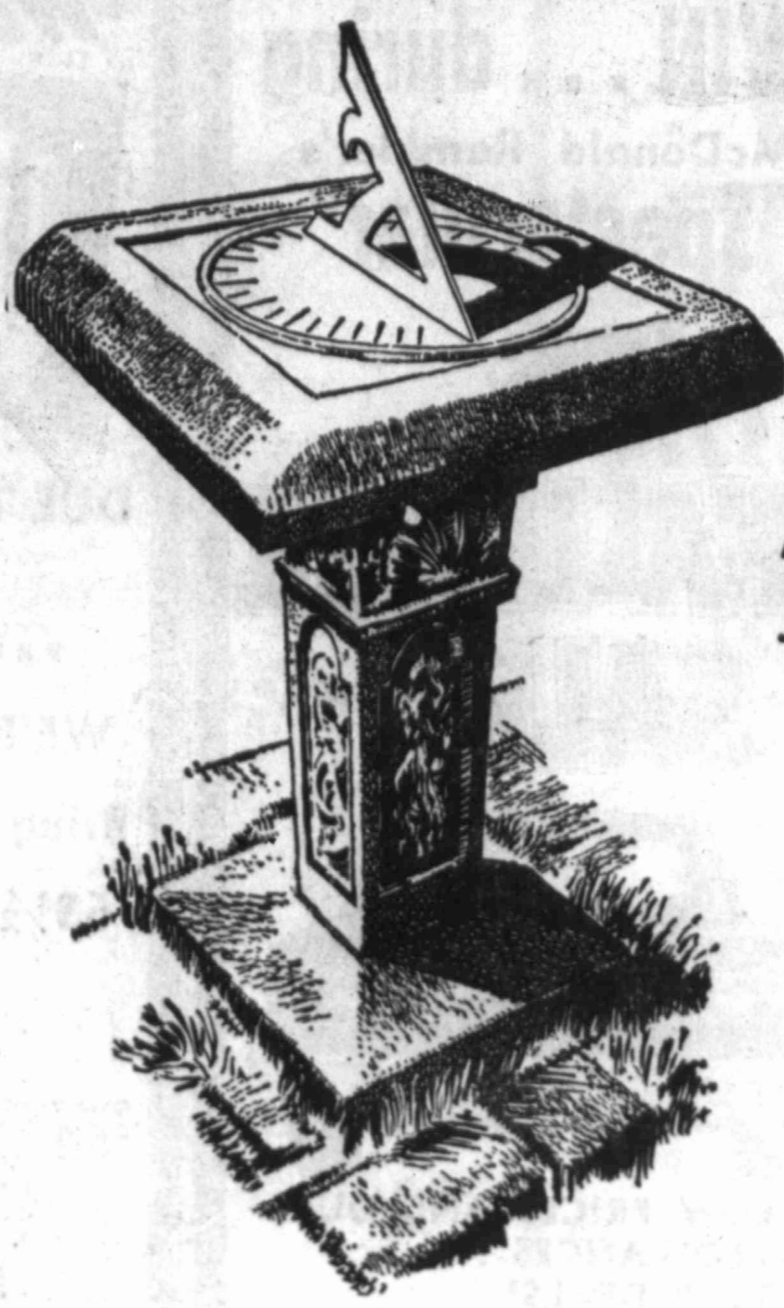

One major problem area has been defined, the report said, as that associated with assuring that reserves are adequate to meet greatly expanded future requirements. He said that because of various factors exploration, as opposed to development, is not keeping pace with expanding requirements.

Expanding secondary recovery operations and, somewhat later, development of processes to obtain liquid fuels from non-petroleum sources, may fill the gap "that now can be predicted on the basis of current industry performance," it said.

But the department found that there is no assurance that secondary recovery techniques will advance with sufficient speed, or that technology of liquid fuel production from shale and coal will become economic, prior to the time the reserve position becomes critical.

NEED MORE
Therefore, it said, there is a need for development of additional reserves and an equal need to conduct such development in a manner that does not contribute to already excessive production capacity.

The report described the domestic industry at the close of

By JO BRIGHT

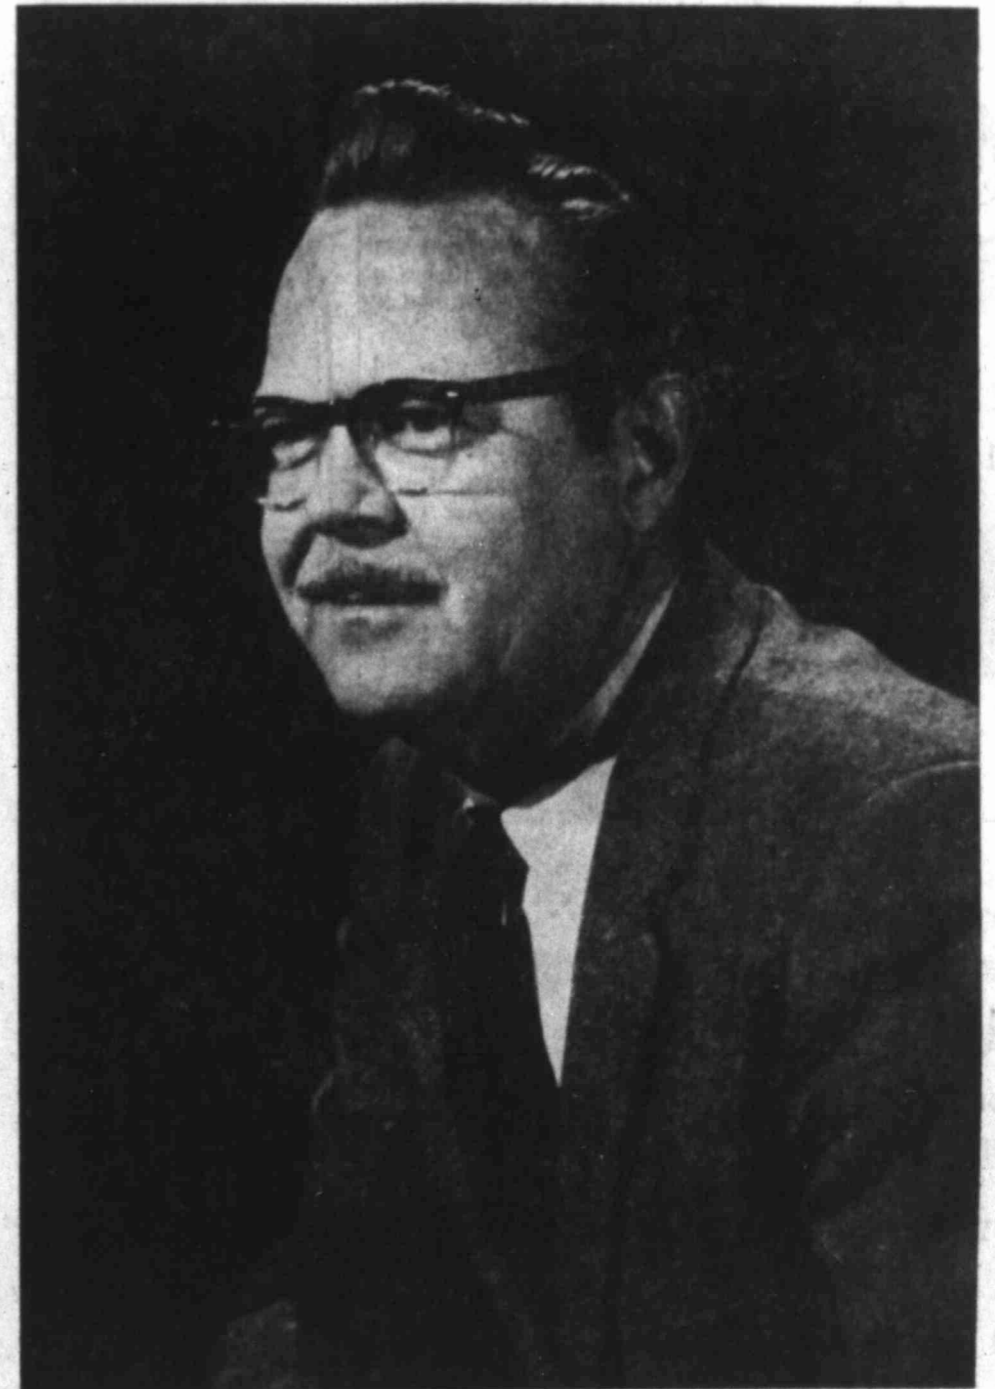

Porter Randall, noted commentator and author, will be presented here March 12 with a lecture and film presentation which he calls "African Spectacular." Randall will speak at 7:30 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College under the auspices of the Altrusa Club of Big Spring. His experiences and observations have resulted in his authoring a book based on political tensions in the Middle East, and a second book, under preparation, deals with his travels around the world. In his role as news commentator, he broadcasts three times daily over Texas State Network stations and is engaged in a series of speaking engagements with civic, school and church groups.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MARCH 7, 1965

Miss Gloria Gene Fletcher Weds John Noel Thompson

Miss Gloria Gene Fletcher became the bride of John Noel Thompson at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in a double ring ceremony performed in the Trinity Baptist Church. The nuptial rites were read by the Rev. L. Jack Power.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Fletcher, 1402 Runnels, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. Thompson, 3509 Yucca, Fort Worth.

The vows were repeated before an altar centered with a massive arrangement of white chrysanthemums and stock. Flanking an emerald fern tree were seven-branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers. White standards, connected with white satin, marked the bridal aisle and family pews were designated with satin bows.

Miss Ann Puckett, pianist, accompanied Joe Dan Rowland as he sang "Whither Thou Goest," and Miss Dixie Todd and Mrs. Floyd Williams as they sang "Because."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She chose a street-length sheath dress with short jacket in candlelight brocade. The jacket featured a banded V-neckline, accented with a flat tailored bow, and three-quarter length sleeves. Her bouffant tulle veil was held by a half-crown of pearls and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white gardenias showered in Stephanotis and tied with picot ribbons.

ATTENDANTS
Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Judy Fletcher. She wore an A-line suit of ivory tufted nylon jersey and a small matching chiffon hat. The bridesmaids were Miss Jo Beth Pettus, who wore a pink nubby linen suit;

Miss Sheri Farris, who was attired in a light turquoise knit suit; and Miss Carole Haralson, Austin, who wore a suit of yellow shantung. Their hats were in matching colors, and each carried a carnation nosegay in shaded tones of pink.

The best man was Wayne Cooper, Fort Worth, and the ushers were Billy Cue, Don Wickman and David Crowley, all of Fort Worth, and Woody Fletcher, brother of the bride.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a black and white tweed silk dress with rolled champagne-colored collar and matching accessories. Upon returning, the couple will reside at Apt. No. 3, North Hills Crest, Fort Worth.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, the reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church where the newly married couple were joined in receiving guests by the parents and feminine attendants.

The bride's table was covered with a white Maderia embroidered cloth and appointed with crystal and silver. The skirt of the cloth was decorated with English ivy and ferns tied with satin ribbons. The three-tiered white cake was topped with a bride and groom standing in an archway of miniature lilies and white satin bells.

Guests were registered by Miss Mickie Susan Fletcher, sister of the bride. Mrs. Williams and Miss Todd presided at the coffee and tea service, and Miss Puckett served cake. Acting as hosts were the bride's father and her brothers, Jack and Tom Fletcher.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Paul Stark and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Hatley, all of Fort Worth.

Tall Texans Program Given After Election

New officers for the Forsan Study Club were chosen at their Thursday evening meeting held in the school cafeteria.

Those to be installed at the May 6 dinner meeting are Mrs. C. B. Long, president; Mrs. Roy Stockstill, vice president; Mrs. Elbert Strickland, recording secretary; Mrs. Ronnie Gandy, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Delbert Bardwell, treasurer; Mrs. James Blake, historian; Mrs. J. Mrs. H. H. Story was named delegate to attend the Texas District convention of the Texas Federated Woman's Clubs in Fort Stockton March 24-25. Mrs. Delbert Bardwell is alternate.

"Tall Texans" a panel discussion, was led by Mrs. J. B. Hoard. Mrs. James Blake told of Sam Houston's life and accomplishments, and of how he lived with the Indians and was adopted by a chief. He was elected President of the Republic of Texas in 1836 and governor of Texas in 1859.

Mrs. Blake also told of Morris Sheppard, U. S. Senator in the early 1900's who authored the 18th Amendment (prohibition).

George Mahon's career, from his beginning law practice in Colorado City to his present seat in the United States House of Representatives was detailed by Mrs. Bill Conger.

She also told of Tom Connally's attending Baylor University at the age of 15, and of his 24 years as U. S. Senator.

Mrs. L. B. McElrath, traced John Connally's success story, from University of Texas campus leader to present governor of Texas.

She told of John Nance "Cactus Jack" Garner's 46 years as an elected official.

Sam Rayburn's 17 years as speaker of the House of Representatives, service with eight presidents and his victory in the enlargement of the House Rules Committee, were discussed by Mrs. Ozro Allison.

A miniature outline of Texas and the six flags that have governed it, was the centerpiece for the red linen covered refreshment table. Crystal and silver appointments were used and Mrs. J. L. Overton and Mrs. Tommy Albertson were hostesses.

Nineteen members were present.

Railroad Story Told For OWC Luncheon

The story of an "enchanted" railroad was told by James Bruce Frazier Thursday at the colorful "Down Mexico Way" luncheon for the Officers' Wives Club at Webb Air Force Base. Hostesses were wives of members of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, and the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Robert L. Sandner.

Frazier described his adventures while traveling on the Chihuahua Al Pacific Railway since first hearing of its existence several years ago. He explained that the railroad had been under construction for 62 years but was located in such a remote and rugged terrain that few people outside of Mexico had ever heard of it. He first explored the tracks in 1950 and has since returned many times, often conducting groups of students or tourists over the picturesque route.

He termed the Mexican people today as being dynamic, energetic and vitally interested in attracting the tourist trade to their awakening country. He told of new industries now in operation and more planned for the future. Frazier felt that Mexico—especially the part which is only a six hour drive from Big Spring—has much to offer travelers who have only a few days vacation time.

WELCOMED
It was the first luncheon for several women who have recently arrived at Webb. They are Mrs. J. O. Zynger, Mrs. J. L. Green, Mrs. F. W. Ethun, Mrs. J. P. Sokolewicz and Mrs. R. E. Dallen. It was the last lunchon for Mrs. Larry B. McBride who will be going with her husband to Perrin AFB in Sherman.

WELCOMED as guests were Mrs. Tom Mancuso and Miss Susan Kinney.

Mrs. Robert H. Hartzog conducted the business session as the proposed changes to the constitution were read and approved.

A nominating committee was named and will meet March 23 in the home of Mrs. A. F. Tauter to draw up a proposed slate of officers.

TO SERVE
Named to the committee were Mrs. F. T. Loftus, Mrs. U. W. Littlejohn, Mrs. Thomas H. Normile, Mrs. W. E. Brown, Mrs. Charles Luther, Mrs. Glen Phillips, Mrs. Roger Counts, Mrs. R. N. Mercer, Mrs. R. J. Jerman, Mrs. J. L. Hudson, Mrs. G. R. King and Mrs. M. J. Took. Also, Mrs. William Cook, Mrs. G. W. Young, Mrs. J. H. Larsen, Mrs. A. J. Chamberlain, Mrs. Ron McKinley, and Mrs. R. C. Hammerle.

Red and white check cloths covered the quartet tables which were centered with bouquets of yellow flowers in a yellow container circled with green fringe. The head table featured an arrangement of tangerine flowers which was won by Mrs. H. C. Hill.

Red, yellow and blue crepe paper streamers were placed along the table and entwined around columns in the dining area. At the tops and bottoms of the columns, the spirals were caught with small straw hats. On walls flanking the stage were Reserve the lowest part of the closet for shallow silver and linen drawers. Large tablecloths can be arranged on swinging rods to minimize folding, and serving trays should be stored on end.

Fill Closet With China

One of the best friends a homemaker can have is a giant-sized china closet built into the dining room. Here can be kept everything needed for the table, from centerpieces to salad forks.

Measure the width of the largest item to be stored in the closet, and use that as the measurement for the installation's depth. Usually a maximum of 15 inches will do it.

Next measure the height of stacks of plates, goblets, and so on, and arrange shelf spacing so that all eight-inch items go on one shelf, all ten-inch on another. Shelves should be on adjustable brackets to allow changes later.

Mother, Daughter Presented Gifts

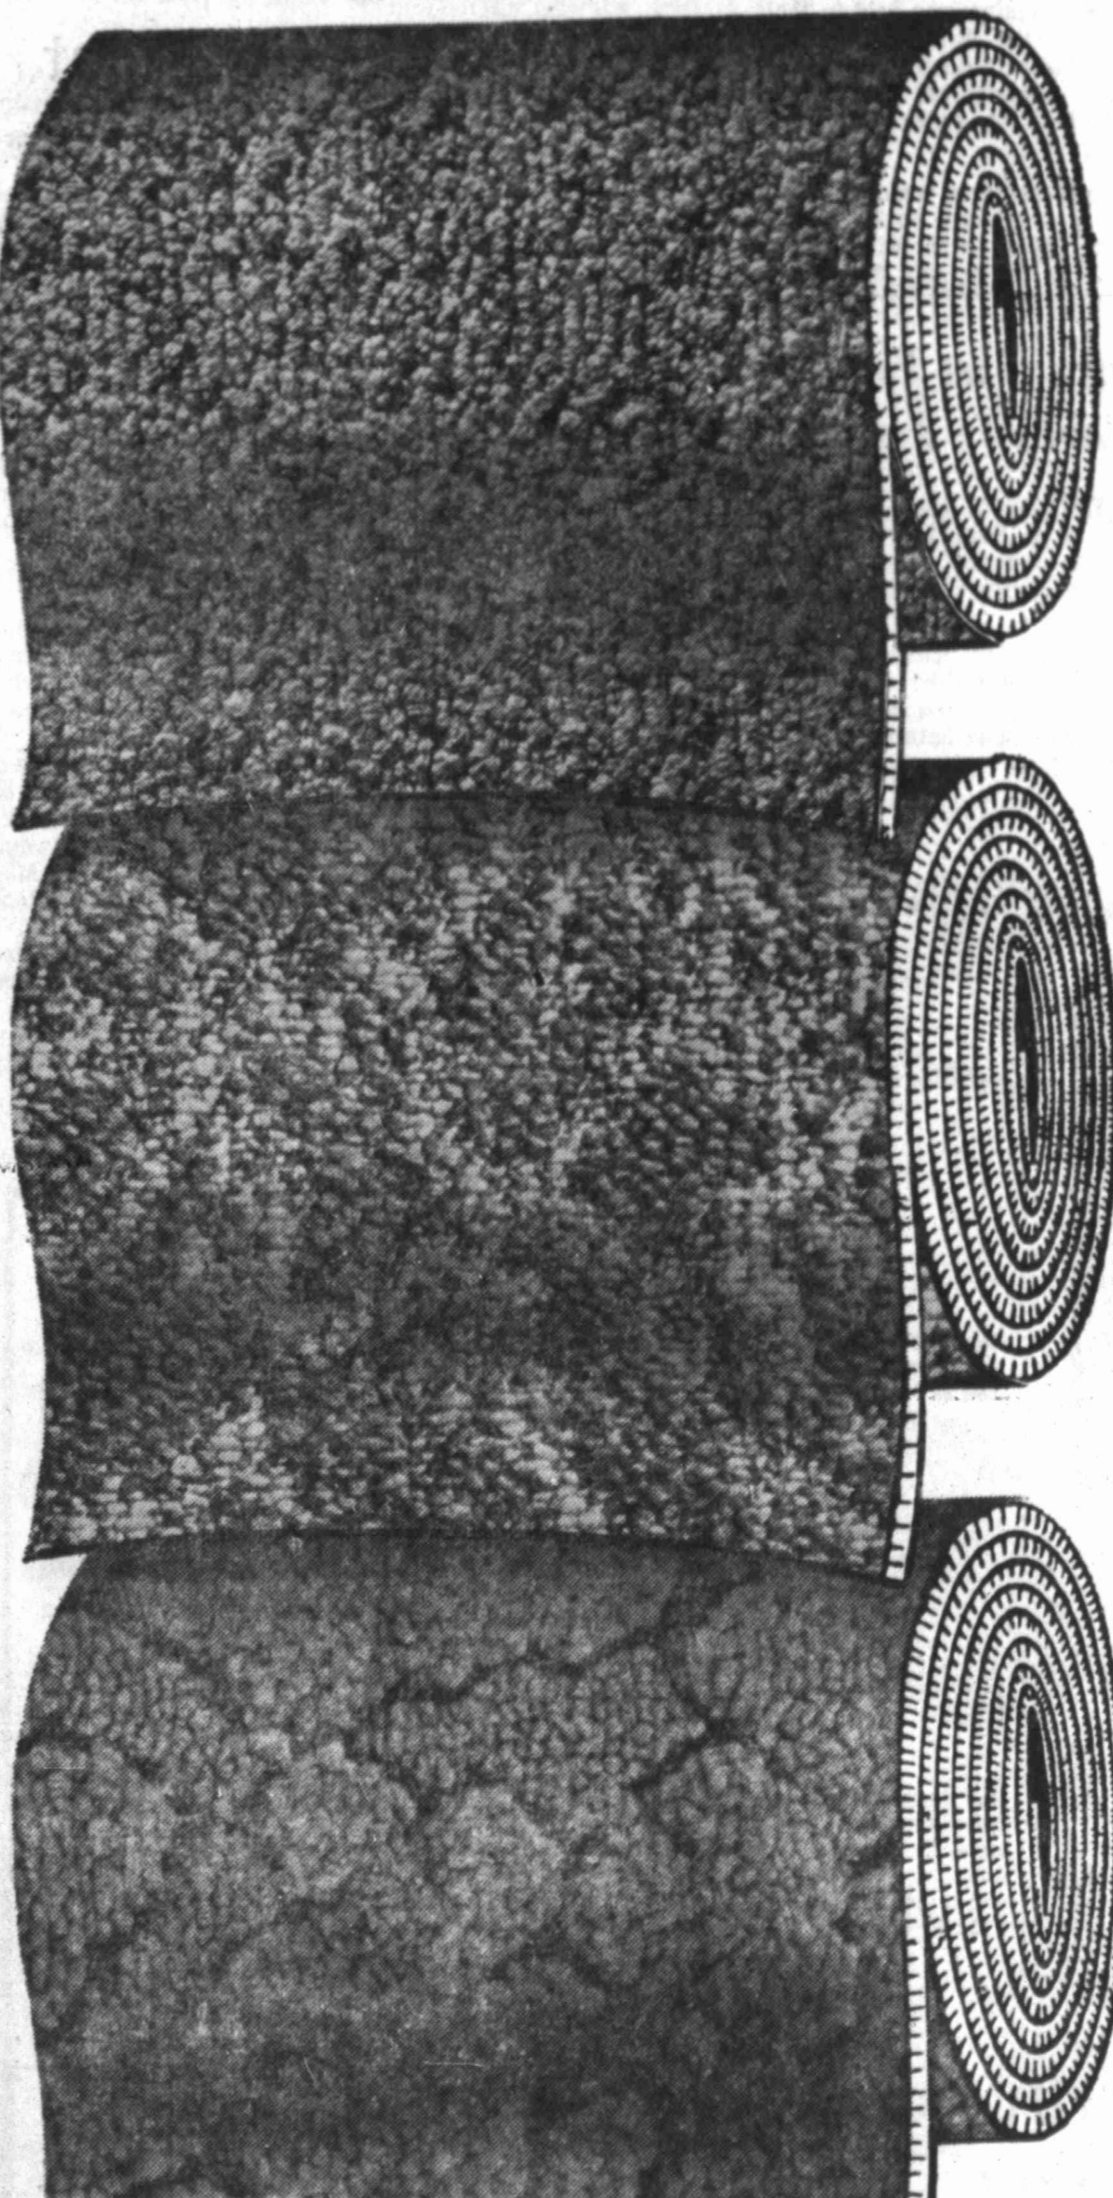

Mrs. Archie Stephens and daughter, Kristie Janell, were honored with a gift shower in the home of Mrs. O. L. Jamison, 608 Highland Drive. Fifteen guests were present at the Thursday evening event.

A pink cloth covered the refreshment table which was centered with pink candles and a pink stork atop a basket of spring flowers. Miniature baby shoes in pink felt and ribbon were party favors.

Hostesses were Mrs. Bill Seals, Mrs. James Kinney and Mrs. Eldon Byrd.

Palms and seven-branch candelabra formed the background for the semi-formal, double ring ceremony. Miss Sue Manning was soloist.

WHITE GOWN

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white satin gown. The dress, which was fashioned with a lace bodice, was encrusted with seed pearls on the sleeves and neckline. Small pearl buttons highlighted the back of the dress, and the detachable train was secured with a small bow. Her fingertip length veil of illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses which surrounded a 40-year-old white Bible that belonged to the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. C. D. Herring.

Mrs. Elaine Shinn served as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Sue Manning, a cousin of the bride; Miss Jackie Holmes of Houston and Miss Toy Neveau of Palm Springs, Calif.

They wore identical floor-length dresses of yellow lace and satin. The band at the waist accented the empire-designed bodice. In their hair they wore bows with an attached circular veil and carried a cascade of white daisies with yellow ribbon streamers.

Pat Turner of Sweetwater was best man, and ushers were Jerry Newton, Bob Foster and Sonny Glasgow. Candle lighters were Bill Manning and Douglas Manning, cousins of the bride.

RECEPTION

Accutron looks like a watch Unfortunately.

We don't call it a watch. All the parts that make a watch fast or slow have been left out. The balance wheel, springs, staff and screws. Accutron does not use these parts. Instead, a tiny tuning fork keeps time through vibrations that are battery powered. Accutron time is so precise that we guarantee average monthly accuracy within 60 seconds, which averages out to about 2 seconds a day. And we know owners who have not gained or lost this in a year.

MRS. RONNIE TED CEARLEY

Curley's Studio

Miss Newsom Weds Ronnie Ted Cearley

COAHOMA (SC)—Miss Sharon Lavern Newsom and Ronnie Ted Cearley exchanged wedding vows at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in the Sand Springs Baptist Church. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Dan Burrows, minister.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Newsom, Rt. 1 and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cearley, Coahoma.

Forming a background at the altar was an emerald fern tree and an arrangement of yellow gladioli and snapdragons. Flanking the flowers were seven-branch candelabras styled with sunbursts of Silver Chalice gladioli. The bridal aisle was marked with white satin love knots.

A program of wedding music was presented by Lathan Woods, pianist, who accompanied Miss Judy Wolf as she sang "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of imported peau de soie, the princess bodice featuring a portrait neckline and long sleeves tapered to petal points over the wrists. The bodice was covered with appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace, enhanced with seed pearls, which extended into the skirt. The controlled belled skirt was caught with a finished bow at the back and swept into a chapel train. Her bouffant fingertip-length veil of imported silk English illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and iridescents. She used the traditional bride's items and a blue garter, a gift from Mrs. A. V. Lewis.

The bridal bouquet was formed of white butterfly roses and miniature carnations backed with pearl-centered tulle leaves and finished in picot and satin streamers.

Mrs. Jim Cearley, Coahoma, Bridge High Won By Charles Dodson

Charles Dodson won high at the Newcomer Couples' Bridge Club meeting held in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company Friday evening.

Six tables were in play, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ferrell were hosts. The bingo was won by Deryl Johnston.

Mrs. Winnie Greenlees was a guest.

The regular monthly meeting will be held at Cosden Country Club Wednesday at 9 a.m. Mrs. Hank McDaniel will present the program detailing the facilities of the public library. This meeting is open to all newcomers.

In Denver Hospital

FORSAN (SC)—Mrs. Russell Wilson, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Wilson, is a patient in Fitzsimmons general hospital in Denver, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gilmore have returned from a visit in Abilene with Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGuire and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Gilmore.

sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Her yellow sheath dress featured a square lace-trimmed neckline and long sleeves, and her headpiece was of yellow net. Identical costumes were worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Donna Duke and Miss Carolyn Bedell, both of Coahoma. The attendants carried colonial nosegays of white carnations finished with yellow satin bows and streamers.

The bridegroom's brother, Jim Cearley, served as best man, and ushers were Phillip Reid and Sammy Smith. Groomsmen were Ronny Walker and Travis Reid. Mary Lou and Sherye Marvin lighted the altar tapers.

WEDDING TRIP
When the couple left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride was wearing a light blue two-piece knit suit with box jacket and white accessories. They will reside at 125 N. Main in Coahoma.

The bride is attending Coahoma High School where she is a member of the Young Homemakers Club, and the bridegroom is attending the same school.

RECEPTION
The couple was honored at a reception in the church where they were joined in welcoming guests by their parents. The refreshment table featured a white linen cloth and a centerpiece of yellow flowers. The three-tiered white wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Guests were registered by Miss Charlotte Kintley and members of the house party were Miss Judy Collier, Miss Rose Ann King, Mrs. Tommy Marvin and Mrs. Parvey Paul.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

When MRS. E. V. SPENCE entertained for RACHAEL PHELAN during the week with a pre-nuptial luncheon it brought back memories of a similar affair given by Mrs. Spence for Miss Phelan's mother, MRS. C. M. PHELAN. At the time the Spences were living in the City Park in the house now being lived in by the Johansen family. MRS. HUDSON LANDERS remembers she was living in Amarillo and drove down in a snow storm to attend the party.

MRS. JOHN HODGES joined Mrs. Spence in hosting the affair for Rachael at the Spence home and used pink for decorating. There was a beautiful arrangement of pink and white spring flowers for the honoree's table that included snapdragons, asters, mums and stock.

Twelve were included on the guest list.

Weekend houseguests of DR. AND MRS. GEORGE HILLIARD is MISS CUNNY SNIDER of Houston who is the former roommate of Mrs. Hilliard when they were students in the Methodist Hospital. Miss Snider will be here through this evening.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN E. FREEMAN and three of their grandchildren were in Lubbock this weekend to see a fourth grandchild, MITCHELL TODD FRANKLIN, who was born to MR. AND MRS. CARL E. FRANKLIN on March 1. Mrs. Franklin is the former Edith Freeman and is also the mother of Micheal who has been here with the Freemans but will remain in Lubbock with his parents.

The other children, Dawn and Eddie Chisholm, are the little ones of another daughter, CLARA CHISHOLM, who is at present hospitalized at Lackland Hospital in San Antonio. CAPT. AND MRS. CHISHOLM and the children make their home in Laredo.

Three sisters have returned recently from Oak, Calif., where they went to be with a sister-in-law who was seriously ill. The women are MRS. CHESTER RAILSBACK, Knott; MRS. CLAUD TREDAWAY, Midland; and MRS. MAURICE CHAPMAN, Big Spring. They made the trip by air and were delighted with their first flight.

Ah, how the youngsters learn to put their knowledge in practice! A young man I know who is learning about genes in science tells me there is no use in washing his hair so often as he is going to lose his hair anyway because of the way his father has lost his.

An all-too-short visit by the FLOYD PARSONS family over the weekend was pleasant anyway. The family who lives in Little Rock, Ark., left in a snow-storm Thursday and drove to Texarkana before they were out of it. They came to Lubbock where he made two talks Friday. They stopped here briefly to pick up our David and then to Odessa for a quick overnight stay with their son-in-law and daughter, MR. AND MRS. BILLY SMOOT. They were to return to Little Rock today.

Although the formal opening is sometime away, Zack's have moved into their pretty new store and they are all having the time of their lives showing off the attractive place to their friends. Pert and pretty MRS. DELBERT STANLEY, who looked nice in pink and white, was lunch-hour shopping as was MRS. LONNIE COKER who was being told by Mrs. Zack about the interesting piece of gift wrap paper taken from an old mail order catalogue and blown up to picture size for use on the wall of the store. When it is completed it is to be bordered with heavy braid. It would take 30 minutes to look at all the quaint items listed and shown such as cobbler's kit, corsets, hose for 25 cents, etc. You'd have to see it to really enjoy it.

WESTBROOK (SC) — "The Death of a Myth" was presented by Mrs. L. E. Gressett and Mrs. A. L. Young to the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. John Hawkins gave a report on the spiritual retreat which she and Mrs. C. T. Jackson attended in Stanton on Feb. 25. Mrs. C. C. Coffee of Lubbock, president of Northwest Texas Conference of Woman's Society of Christian Service, was guest speaker for the meeting.

The society will begin a study of Genesis on March 15.

A pot luck dinner for the congregation at 5:30 March 7, was planned when the Parish Workers of St. Paul Lutheran Church met Thursday evening. Mrs. Moran Oppgaard, 2700 Navajo, was hostess for the meeting.

"Personal Faith—Worship and Life," was theme for the program. Mrs. Clair Wiederhoft led the devotion and Mrs. A. A. Graumann gave the study, "Christian Goals for Christian People."

A spring clean-up day and covered dish luncheon was set for April 9.

Mrs. Charles Pasco Jr. was welcomed as a new member.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Foster and Mrs. Mitchell Vaccara to 21 members and six guests, Mrs. Elmer Grugle, Mrs. William Bruce, Mrs. Fred Taylor, Mrs. Rodney Starren and Mrs. Herman Hohertz.

Mrs. L. B. Morgan, 250-A S. Langley, will be hostess for the March 11 meeting.

B&PW Week Begins Today

A "Howdy" party Tuesday evening will be the first of several events scheduled this week in observance of National Business Women's Week. The covered dish dinner will be for members of the local Business and Professional Women's Club and their guests and will be held in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. The party will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Cheney Plummer, chairman of the March Civic Participation Committee will be in charge of the meeting assisted by Mrs. Vena Lawson and Mrs. Bill Ward. Working with them will be Miss Ruth Dyer and Mrs. Joe Roberts.

"Responsibility of Full Partnership" is this year's theme for the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club. This is interpreted as accepting responsibility through personal development, civic participation and keeping informed of world affairs.

The personal development includes being responsible to self, facing changes for the working woman, legislative responsibility and the responsibility of sharing membership, pursuing excellence, health and safety.

For the business woman, civic responsibility includes sessions during which she is informed on her political duties. This includes keeping up with local, state and national appointive officers, studying foreign policy and building hemispheric friendship.

The Business and Professional Women's Club carries on a continuous educational and informational program on personal development, civic participation and world affairs. These programs are available to local members as individuals or as groups.

Future plans for the local group include participation in a nine week course in practical politics. The course is sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The Big Spring B&PW Club represents many types of businesses. Its membership is formed of teachers, county officers, sales ladies, realtors, secretaries, librarians, welfare workers, medical secretaries and many others.

Credit Club Hears Talk

How debts of a bankrupt business can be paid off through the process of law was explained by John Ferguson when the Big Spring Credit Women's Club met Friday at the Settles Hotel.

Ferguson, who is associated with the Morrison law firm, spoke to the club at the regular noon luncheon, calling his subject, "Bankruptcy and Counseling." Ferguson explained the process of bankruptcy and told how a distressed business may recover without actually declaring bankruptcy.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. H. J. Morrison, program chairman. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Loyd Wooten, and Mrs. Bill Draper won the capsule drawing.

Twenty members and two guests, Opal Burdine and Helen Mahoney, attended the meeting. The next meeting will be March 18.

County Law Library Is Finest Of Its Kind

By SAM BLACKBURN
Everyone is familiar with the Howard County Free Library and with the equally important library facility at the Howard County Junior College. Some people, particularly youngsters in school, know about the high school, junior high school and elementary school libraries.

Fewer people know of the attractive and well stocked library at the VA Hospital or the library which provides reading material for the patients in the Big Spring State Hospital.

RATES TOPS
There is still another library in Big Spring which rates, in its field, as one of the finest of its kind. This is the Howard County Law Library in its specially provided quarters on the third floor of the Howard County Courthouse.

Few Big Spring people, other than attorneys and persons who work in the courthouse, know of this library and of the important role it plays in the administration of justice in the courts of the county.

Every person who files a civil suit in either the county or the district court contributes to the support and growth of this library. Included in the filing fees charged for lodging petitions in these courts is a $5 item which goes, in its entirety, to the law library fund.

As a result of these fees, paid since the library was established in 1954, the shelves in the big room now contain more than 4,000 volumes of law books. Attorneys say it would cost perhaps $40,000 to $60,000 to replace these books. Wade Choate, county auditor, said that his records show the county has received $29,164.22 in fees since 1954 and that all has been expended for books for the library.

Lawyers explain that the least expensive volume of law books costs $3 and that the majority of the tomes a lawyer has to have, run from $15 to $20 a copy. Choate said that the library is covered against fire loss in the general blanket policy the county carries on its courthouse.

COMMITTEE ORDERS
The library is administered by the Howard County Bar Association. A committee actually orders the books and keeps an eye on how the shelves expand. Not too long ago, additional shelving was provided by the county commissioners—the original space allotted having been absorbed. Hardly a week passes but that three to half a dozen new law books are added to the stacks.

The present committeemen who operate the library are Gill Jones, former district attorney and a member of the committee since the library was founded, and Jack Little, whose father was an active worker when the idea was first broached.

To keep the place in order, Mrs. Jo Barbee, chief deputy district court clerk, doubles in brass as librarian. She is paid a small extra salary for the work. Her job is to see that the books are kept in their proper places and that all new books are stamped "Howard County Law Library."

She also has another job—the library is a well used place and attorneys who make use of the law books are not too consistent about replacing the books, they have been reading in their proper place on the shelves. It is Mrs. Barbee's daily task to unload the reading table of the accumulated Southwest Reporters and other heavy books.

HONOR SYSTEM
A sort of "honor" system is used in the matter of taking books out of the library. A pad of pink forms is attached to a wall. The attorney who wants to take the book to his office for further study writes down his name, the book he has, and the date he took it out.

Little and Jones said there is no end to the number of books a law library might have.

"We can keep on adding books from now on," they said. "Ultimately, even at the normal rate books come in, we will run out of room."

When the library was first started back in the year the new courthouse was put into use, the county commissioners gave it a little initial help with a $2,000 appropriation for books.

A few gifts have been made by attorneys. One valuable set of books has been acquired second hand.

Many of the books have been bought on the installment plan. Funds accumulated in the courts were used to make monthly payments. Choate said there are no installments being paid now. New additions to the sets are paid for as they come in and the library account stays well ahead of the expenditure.

The Howard County Law Library was one of the earlier county law libraries to be started. In 1953, the state legislature passed a special act by which counties of 350,000 population or less could establish such libraries and levy fees on civil case filing charges for its support and maintenance.

ONE OF BEST
The local library is regarded as one of the best in any county in West Texas. It has been publicized in an article in the Texas Bar Journal by Judge Cecil Collings of the State Appeals Court. Visiting lawyers are given a tour of the library by justly proud local barristers.

The problem now is: "What happens in about three or four more years when the room for additional shelving is exhausted and there is no more room for books?"

At the time the library was founded, no one ever dreamed it would ever fill the space allotted to it. Two or three more years, at the present pace, and there will be no more room for additional shelves and no room for chairs and a table for the lawyers who want to use the big books.

Library To Stay Open On Thursday Nights

Howard County Free Library is initiating an important new policy next Thursday. Hereafter the library will remain open each Thursday until 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said that she has learned many libraries in this part of Texas stay open one night each week. She said the plan here of remaining open Thursday nights will be tried out for a few weeks. If the patrons find the extra hours helpful, the policy will be continued as a permanent feature.

She said the library will open on Thursday at the usual hour—8:30 a.m.

Mrs. McDaniel said that circulation of books in February in the library was ahead of the circulation for the same month in 1964.

Total books handled in the month was 7,050, compared with 6,981 a year ago.

In February, there were 1,076 volumes of juvenile fiction and 564 volumes of junior nonfiction handled. Easy books totalled 1,526 and magazines 255. Adult fiction total was 2,512 and adult nonfiction 1,117. Fines collected totalled $98.70.

Crops Hurt By Weather

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau reported today that unfavorable weather, strong winds and low temperatures were detrimental to fall-seeded wheat, oats and other crops through most of the Great Plains last week.

Some soil blowing was said to have damaged these crops in the Central Plains.

Rainbow Girls Launch Easter Lily Pin Sale

The 1965 Easter Seal campaign is closing the first week of the month-long drive with a campaign by the Rainbow Girls selling Easter Lily pins.

Members of various service clubs are helping sell the pins and they will be located in the post office and banks each Monday through the rest of the month. George Melear, chairman, said his group collected $33.50 last Monday.

Other activities of the drive included coffees, road blocks, an Easter Lily parade next weekend, and a dance March 27 at the Cosden Country Club.

The parade will be a door-to-door solicitation drive scheduled over three days to enable workers ample time to call on residents. The city has been divided into 19 sections for the parade, with a captain in charge of each section. Some 350-400 workers have volunteered to work on this project. Surrounding communities of Forsan, Sand Springs, Lockhart, Coahoma, Midway and Gay Hill will also be covered.

Hearing Tuesday On Zone Change

A public hearing has been scheduled Tuesday by the zoning board of adjustment concerning a request from Floyd McIntire for a variance to the zoning ordinance for property at 918 Ohio.

McIntire has requested the variance in order to move a frame residence onto the lot for residential use. The city zoning ordinance prohibits the use of land in a heavy industrial zone for permanent residential use.

The hearing will be at 4 p.m. in the city commission room at city hall.

at 8 p.m. March 27. Music will be provided by the Bob Featherstone combo of Midland. Tickets are $1 per person and can be obtained from any member of the Howard County Society for Crippled Children and adults.

Mrs. Rube McNew, Sam Anderson and Jim Thompson are cochairmen for the drive. Seventy-seven per cent of all money collected will remain in Howard County for the care and treatment of Howard County residents.

Social Security Office Back Near Original Site

Three years and three months from the time it opened its doors here, the Big Spring district office of the Social Security Service is back within a few yards of the place where it first set up shop.

On Dec. 6, 1961, Erven Fisher, manager of the office, moved into the small building which now houses the local Civil Defense office. Three months later, the Social Security office and the Internal Revenue Service moved to 700 Runnels where a building had been erected to house the two agencies.

MOVED AGAIN

Last week, they moved again—back to the 1000 block of Gregg into a new building located just a few steps from the original temporary offices.

Things have changed for the Social Security office here since that initial start in December 1961. At that time, Fisher recalls, the office was concerned only with serving clients in Howard County. Now the office serves patrons in Howard, Mitchell, Martin, Glasscock, Scurry, Dawson and Borden counties.

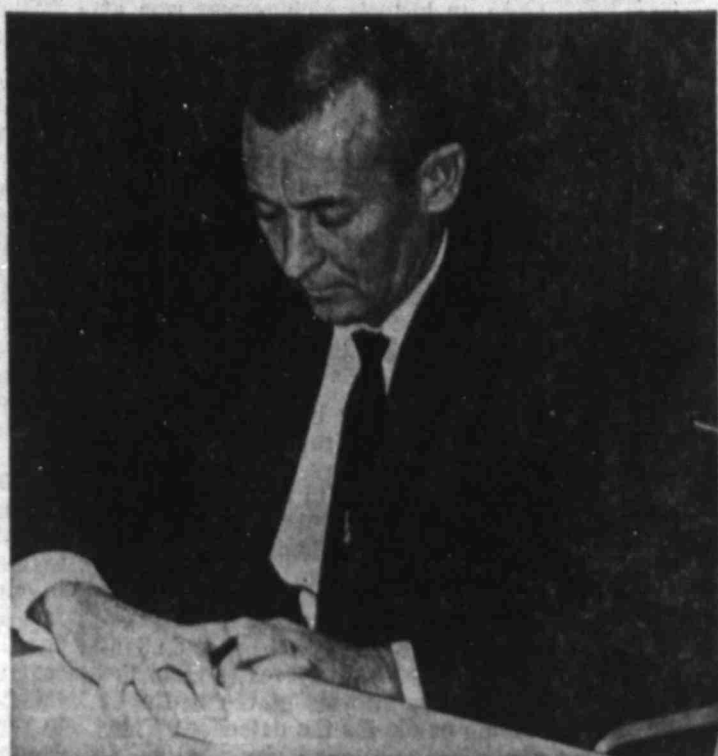

Fisher said that there are now about 7,500 men and women in the seven counties who are receiving checks from the Social Security system. Most of these, of course, are retired persons. Some are disabled. The monthly payments going to these is better than $420,000.

HOWARD COUNTY

Bulk of the clients served are residents of Howard County. Fisher estimates there are 2,500 on the rolls in this county and that checks sent to these total almost $150,000. Dawson County, with 1,600 clients and $90,000 a month payment; is second in volume. Scurry County has 1,550 clients and $85,000 in payments; Mitchell County, 1,375 receiving $72,000 each month.

Glasscock County has 60 on the Social Security lists with monthly payments of about $3,500; Borden has only 33 clients listed with monthly payments of $1,850.

Nationally, Fisher said, about one in each 10 persons is receiving Social Security benefits in one form or another. In this particular district only one county—Mitchell—approaches the national average in the percentage of persons now being paid.

AVERAGE

Nationally, the average payment made to men who have retired under the provisions of the Social Security program is $77.57. The payments to the wives of these men average, on a national scale, $39.73. Thus a couple, under the national average would receive $117.30.

In 1963, the most recent figures on which to base an estimate, the average payments in this district are slightly lower than national total:

At the end of 1962—average payments to men who have retired in this area under Social Security were $68 and $30 for their wives.

Fisher said the discrepancy between the national average and the local average is attributable to two important factors—the heavy agricultural economy in this area and the drought of 1955. That was the year farmers began first to benefit from Social Security.

LOW INCOMES

Low incomes for that year, Fisher said, topped the average under the national levels.

Fisher invited all persons in the seven county area, who

Offer Three Productions

Three one-act plays will be presented at the Howard County Junior College auditorium March 19 and 20 by the Hawk Players, the spring production of the college Contemporary Theatre.

The plays will be "Agent 007," "The Sand Box" and "The Zoo Story." The first play was written and will be directed by Barbara Thompson, a sophomore student at HCJC.

Dr. Martin Landers of the college speech faculty is producer for the plays. The productions will begin at 8:15 p.m. each day, with tickets at $1 for adults. Activity tickets will admit HCJC students.

The production will be the first time the college theatre has presented three one-act plays rather than a three-act play as the spring presentation.

Roland A. Neal will direct "The Sand Box" and Paul Rogers III "The Zoo Story." Both are freshmen students at the college.

Cast members include, for "Agent 007," Sharon Tally, Gary Stephens, George Archer, Dane Hudnal, Judy Atkinson and Johnny Farquhar, and for "The Sand Box," Sandra Modgling, John Browning, Jim Laster, Janelle Scribner and Alma Valerio. Dan Lustin and Terry Strech hold parts in the final play.

Credit To Our Community

A program featuring Big Spring High School band members who were selected for chairs in the all state band or the all state orchestra has been a revelation to many of our people.

When it comes to quality of output, we have one of the best bands in the state. For the past few years it has supplied more members for the all state groups than any other bands in this area. That certainly speaks well for the young musicians, several of whom are adept enough to be playing in area community orchestras.

Credit for this showing is due Doug Wiehe, high school band director and a modest individual who has habitually upgraded the instrumental music for our band. Had he somehow access to a modicum of a string section, there is little telling what he could do in producing a first rate orchestra. As it is, he is able to extract from the woodwinds tonal qualities approaching the softness of strings.

The choral program, under the direction of Mel Ivey, is coming up rapidly. This has been an uphill struggle but results are showing.

Both the band and the choir are benefiting from some able instruction on the junior high level, and still better days are ahead. Great bands and great choirs, like top football teams, require trained, talented material coming up constantly. The instructors and the students deserve our praise in providing new standards of excellence and for bringing credit to our community as well as enriching it.

Time To Think About Cleanup

Until the season of more settled weather rolls around, there is hardly much point in a general cleanup campaign.

However, it is not too early to think and plan about it.

All around us are unsightly conditions. Some of the more depressing are vacant lots in proximity to drive-ins. Countless paper napkins and other trash clings to tiny mesquite and other small brush to advertise our untidiness.

Elsewhere are abandoned houses or other business structures. Some of these have been reduced to piles of rubble which resemble ruins or the aftermath of a tornado.

All of this and unfortunately a lot more reminds us we have a long, long way to go. The job is a big one, and we should begin devising plans of how to best tackle it.

Foreign Trips By President Opposed

WASHINGTON — If the American people had a chance to register their opinion, there is every indication that they would express themselves emphatically against a President of the United States leaving the country for any purpose.

On the basis of mail received here, it is evident that public opinion believes there is more to be lost than gained when the chief executive goes on trips abroad, whether they are to Europe or Asia or in this hemisphere. It isn't merely that risks are believed to be involved, but the actual benefit is questionable.

THEORETICALLY, good relations are established when the head of one state visits another head of state. Monarchs of other times used to go to another country as a manifestation of good will largely because communication through press and radio and television was not available in those days. About the only value of the visits of Presidents or Prime Ministers today is the impression made on the public by street processions that draw big crowds in a foreign capital. But this is largely offset by the embarrassments growing out of hostile demonstrations which, in Latin America, for example, are Communist-inspired.

IT HAS OFTEN been claimed that a President who visits other countries creates good will, but as a practical matter any issues in controversy are changed by such visits. For nothing can be added to what already has been said, because through ambassadors and exchange of visits by other high officials a nation's viewpoint is fully explained and intensively argued back and forth. Even the privacy of a direct telephone line overseas now is readily attainable.

Billy Graham

I am told that to be a Christian I must believe the Bible. Other religions have their sacred books, so why can't I accept one as well as another? Is the Bible superior to the others?—G.J.

You have asked a question that calls for a longer answer than can be given completely in such limited space. However, I would suggest that all the religious books, including the Bible, submit to a test. It is the test of history. You will notice that all others will then be viewed from theological or philosophical points of view. These will not yield to the test of history. They are of such a nature that they cannot be tested.

The Bible submits to this test. Christ was promised long before His coming. So detailed are the predictions that it is quite above chance. The time is told by Daniel, the place by Micah, the unique conditions by Isaiah, that he would have a prophet by Malachi. His sufferings are described in Psalms and Isaiah, and the change that would come to those who believe in Him are told by Jeremiah. These were all completed some 400 years before His coming. The uniqueness of the promise, and the uniqueness of Jesus Christ bear eloquent witness to the dependability of the Bible record, and to the truth of Christ himself. To believe the truth of the record is one thing, you must also trust in the One who is there offered to you as a Saviour, even Jesus Christ.

Will Fear Of Yo-Yo Cycle Slow Inventory Boom?

WASHINGTON—Is the threat of a steel strike bringing on an inventory recession—a typical hi-lo industrial cycle?

Ask the executive of an automobile company, and the answer will be: "No."

"Why?"

"Because we can't get the steel."

Ask the marketing executive of a steel company and you get the same answer in reverse: "No. We can't supply the steel our customers want. We'll be lucky to get around to March deliveries in April."

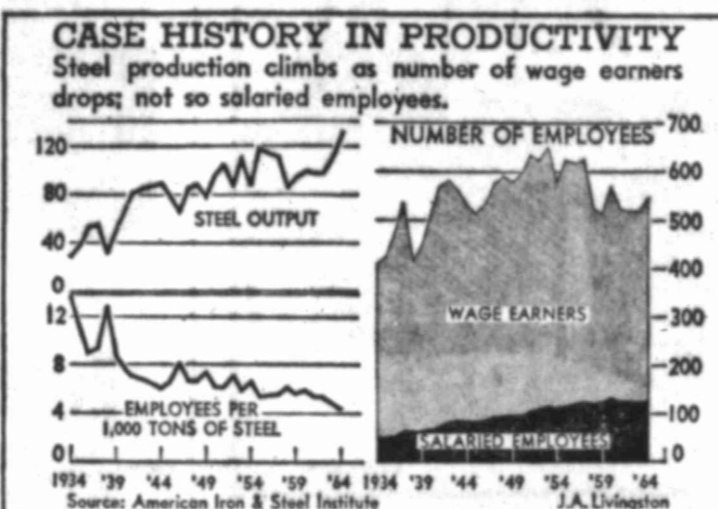

FINALLY, ask Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor. As a recent retiree from the presidency of Merck & Co. and as a former director of General Motors and General Foods, he knows how corporations operate.

Connor deliberated before he replied to the question: "Don't you think inventories are getting out of hand?"

"I am not of the school," the Secretary said, "that believes the business cycle has been abolished. Nor do I believe are most businessmen. They hope we can keep the declines less severe and the peaks less sharp. At the same time, they know that this rapid rate of production can't go on forever. So they are careful. It's too expensive to be caught with excessive inventories if a decline occurs."

"LET ME PRECISE the point. Mr. Secretary, isn't everyone caught up by the upsurge of the moment? Here are the automobile companies planning production of 950,000 passenger cars in March. This is surely an unsustainable rate. At the same time they try to accumulate steel even above that 950,000 production level. Doesn't this give a false sense of prosperity, of high business volume?"

The Secretary studied his reply: "I wish you would call attention to the possibility. We've got to guard against complacency."

"However, I don't think inventories will get out of balance. I know a little bit about how General Motors operates. Purchases of steel and other supplies are geared to production and sales. And I think other companies follow the same procedure. Therefore, they would not be carried away by one or two months of very high production or sales."

THEN I TOOK another tack: "Mr. Secretary, you have suggested an extension of the steel wage contract beyond May 1 in case an agreement isn't reached by then. George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, has made the same suggestion. Won't that simply prolong the period of accumulation and thus increase the prospect of an inventory recession?"

"It's possible, of course. It's useful to bring the problem to peoples' attention. No businessman wants yo-yo operations—way up then down. So I think that most of them will try very hard to hold inventories in line with their projections of sales."

SUPPOSE APPLIANCE and auto manufacturers are over-producing in anticipation of a strike. Suppose makers of parts and components made of steel are gearing up output in anticipation of a strike. Suppose retailers, generally, have ordered supplies to be in shape in case of a strike. Will we then need a strike to redress the excess?

Here is a question for the United Steelworkers and the steel industry: Are emotional spasms every two or three years necessary? Are they adult?

THE UNION and the industry have made great progress in technology—in increasing productivity (see chart). Wages have gone up as employment has gone down. And welfare programs have been incorporated in contracts to protect workers forced to retire. Can't such gains be achieved without crises which inevitably overheat the economy?

Despite their battle for the presidency, David J. McDonald and I. W. Abel should compose their internal differences and work out with the industry a new wage agreement by May 1. This would end the frantic scramble for steel.

Cancer Rarely Painful In Its Early Stages

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Two years ago a boyhood friend who was in his 70's told me he had not taken a dose of medicine or had a doctor in 65 years.

About two years ago he died from an abdominal cancer.

At the time he talked to me he seemed in perfect health. Could doctors have detected this cancer and perhaps removed it and saved his life?

I am in my 70's, in good health, free from pain, and active. Is there any way to determine whether I have cancer?—H. F. W.

Your question makes sense, but in this particular case, I can't answer because I don't know enough of the circumstances. Calling it an abdominal cancer covers a lot of possibilities. Was it cancer of bladder, intestine, pancreas, prostate, liver, or what?

Your friend, (although he lived his three score and ten, in good health), may have become so intent on showing that he could get along without medicine or medical care, that he refused to admit that he, too, might be mortal.

Did he, for example, notice blood, or black color, when he had a bowel movement? Either one could indicate bleeding—the black color can indicate bleeding higher up in the digestive tract. Did he notice, and ignore, blood in the urine, or some other gradual change in urinary conditions? The bladder or prostate gland might have been involved.

If it was cancer of some of the other organs, the illness may have developed too far before he noticed anything to have time for effective treatment. It is equally possible that he saw the signs but refused to recognize them, or didn't know what they meant.

In its early stages, cancer is rarely painful. That is what makes the disease so dangerous. If cancer became painful in the beginning, we all would go to the doctor soon, and have it removed.

A single cell is so small you can't see it without a microscope. If one cell becomes cancerous (begins to multiply too fast), a long time can elapse before it has created enough other cancerous cells, also multiplying, before there is enough of a colony to make a visible lump, or cause pain, or invade little blood vessels and make them bleed, or whatever other abnormal results may occur.

X-rays, Pap tests, biopsy with microscopic examination of suspicious lesions or lumps are ways of detecting cancer. There is no single test to tell us, yes, cancer does exist somewhere, or no, there is no cancer present anywhere.

But if you watch for the danger signs (cough, bleeding, lump or thickening, a sore that will not heal, hoarseness, change in bowel or bladder habits, "indigestion" or difficulty in swallowing, or some change in a wart or mole) you will catch the greater majority of cancers before they are beyond cure.

All of these danger signs can be caused by conditions which are NOT cancer. The only safe course is to report them to your doctor and let him find out whether the cause is cancer or something else.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

A Mission Fell, Its Name Did Not

Tread lightly, you outlanders. Speak softly, you natives.

This is a hallowed time in Texas history, the 59 days from March 2, when independence from Mexico's tyranny was declared, to April 21, when an historic victory was won at San Jacinto—one which changed the course of western U.S. history, and perhaps the whole march of American solidarity.

EVEN AS the proclamation was being issued, at a little place called Washington-on-the-Brazos, another of history's notable battles was being fought at the abandoned Mission San Antonio de Valero, more popularly named for "los alamos" or cotton-wood trees that lined the nearby water ditches.

It was already being lost by Col. William Barrett Travis and his band of hardy volunteers. There were 182 of them holed up in the mission fortress, their backs literally to the walls as they faced a Mexican army that eventually may have numbered 6,000 men.

GENERAL ANTONIO Lopez de Santa Anna had already made plain the "no quarter" terms of the battle. It was do or die for the defenders. They died.

The gauntlet of siege had been thrown down on February 23. And by March 6 it was over.

If you could turn back your imagination 129 years from today, and you stood on a hill overlooking the spot where the Alamo stood, you could see eerie columns of smoke drifting upward into the spring sky.

THE SMOKE signals would be from the pyres on which were stacked the bodies of the defenders. There were alternating layers of woods and twigs, and human bodies. There were probably three or four stacks, each several layers high. Grease and oil had soaked the whole, the torch applied. You know the roster of names—Travis, Crockett, Bowie, Bonham, the others.

When the inevitable had appeared, Colonel Travis sent out his final message:

"TO THE people of Texas and all Americans in the world—Fellow citizens and compatriots—I am besieged by a thousand or more of the Mexicans under Santa Anna—I have sustained a continual bombardment and cannonade for 24 hours and have not lost a man—The enemy has demanded a surrender at discretion, otherwise the garrison are to be put to the sword if the fort is taken—I have answered the demand with a cannon shot, and our flag still proudly waves from the walls — I SHALL NEVER SURRENDER OR RETREAT. Then, I call on you in the name of Liberty, or patriotism & everything else dear to the American character, to come to our aid with all dispatch—The enemy is receiving reinforcements daily & will no doubt increase to three or four thousand in four or five days. If this call is neglected, I am determined to sustain myself as long as possible & die like a soldier who never forgets what is due to his own honor & that of his country — VICTORY OR DEATH."

THERE WAS no surrender. There was death. There may have been victory, however. The Alamo became the battle cry that led ultimately to the winning of freedom for men who cherished it so much. Yes, there were the plumes of smoke from the pyres. One able author has noted "the Alamo that began in defeat ended in resurrection."

The President's Mail

WASHINGTON—Last week Russian Premier Aleksei N. Kosygin said he invited President Johnson to Moscow, but the President never answered his letter. The same day, George Reedy, White House press secretary, who is known to Washington correspondents as Dr. No, denied President Johnson ever received a written invitation from the Russian Premier.

A few weeks ago United Nations Secretary-General U Thant said he sent a peace plan for Viet Nam to the President. In this case Reedy also denied that President Johnson ever received such a plan.

THE ONLY THING that can be deduced from all this is that someone is fooling around with the President's mail. And if I were the President, I'd be pretty mad about it.

"Get me the Postmaster-General on the phone... Gronouski, this is the President. In this case Reedy also denied that President Johnson ever received such a plan.

"Have people been using your zip code correctly?"

"How should I know? But Premier Kosygin says he sent me an invitation to Moscow two months ago and, as far as I know, it hasn't arrived yet."

"IF HE DIDN'T send it air mail, it could still be on a boat."

"I'm sure he sent it air mail or he wouldn't have made such a fuss about it."

"Well, if he sent it air mail, it was probably routed to New York's Kennedy International Airport. We're having a little trouble getting the mail from the airport into town."

"GRONOUSKI, I want to ask you a question and I want a direct answer.

Do you have a mail cover on me?"

"I am not at liberty to say, sir. We can't give out any names of the 24,000 people we've had mail covers on because innocent people could be hurt."

"Don't give me that Senate committee report, Gronouski. Are you watching my mail?"

"I can't say, sir."

"Why not?"

"I'M UNDER an Executive Order not to reveal the names of any people whose mail we're watching."

"But I happened to sign the order. I am the Executive."

"Yes, that's true. Well, I guess I can tell you then. I'm afraid we do have a mail cover on you."

"What in the Federales for?"

"WELL, YOU SEE, sir, one of our inspectors saw this letter postmarked Moscow, and then one of our translators noticed it had the return address of the Premier of the Soviet Union. So it got us to wondering what an American citizen would be doing getting a letter from the Russian Premier, and we figured we'd better check into it."

"It was nothing but an invitation to visit the Soviet Union."

"We know that, Mr. President."

"How do you know it?"

"WE HAVE this ultra-violet ray machine that can see right through envelopes."

"Well, you'd better send that letter right away."

"Yes, sir, Mr. President. Oh, by the way, do you want the U Thant letter, too?"

Rocky And The N.Y. Mayoralty

WASHINGTON — If the signs are read rightly from here, the Republicans intend to let the challenge of the nation's largest city and its government — or misgovernment — go by default. Bowing out of the New York City mayoralty race has become a standardized act repeated like a ritual every four years.

THE TWO ablest and most attractive potential candidates, Sen. Jacob K. Javits and Rep. John V. Lindsay, have just gone through the ritual. Javits would have given Mayor Robert F. Wagner a real run. Conceivably, despite the Democratic patronage grip on the city, he might have won. Lindsay, re-elected for the fourth time last fall in New York's so-called Silk Stocking District, would have been an appealing candidate.

Neither man wanted to take on the job. Hopelessly clogged streets, the bitter struggle over integration, crime, drug addiction — in short, urbanism run riot makes the city a political mine field threatening the career of any man who enters into it.

BUT, IN the wake of their bowing-out act, friends of the two men say that one or the other might have been had if Gov. Nelson Rockefeller had shown any real interest in getting a strong candidate.

The suspicion is that Rockefeller would prefer to see Wagner re-elected. That would insure, so the theory is, continuation of the split among the Democrats between Wagner on the one hand and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and his allies among the bosses upstate and in certain boroughs of the city on the other. Eliminating Wagner would leave the field to Kennedy who could then consolidate his power base for a planned attack on the Presidency.

THE BITTER words spoken in private here reflect the stresses and strains in the aftermath of the Democratic landslide of last November. They also reflect increasing resentment of Rockefeller's never-say-die ambition for the White House.

It is taken for granted that Rockefeller will run for a third term in the 1966 gubernatorial race. If he can count on the Democratic split he may be able to make it despite the present low in his standing among Republicans.

CONSERVATIVES, if the Washington analysis is correct, are more resentful of Rockefeller than they are of Javits or former Sen. Kenneth Keating who went down under the Johnson landslide even though he ran 700,000 votes ahead of the Goldwater-Miller ticket. Javits and Keating steered completely clear of the national campaign. Rockefeller, so the charge is, was betwixt and between. Without really appeasing the Gold-waterites he offended the liberals and moderates.

IN THE Javits-Lindsay camp it is said that if Rockefeller had really wanted either man to give serious consideration to the mayoralty race he would have organized fusion support among dissident Democrats as well as Republicans, as the indomitable Fiorely LaGuardia proved this is the only way a Republican can win. The complaint, too, is that Rockefeller failed to try to enlist the support of the business and financial community that has such a large stake in the city.

Goliad Students Take Kuder Tests

Band Attends Area Festival

By MARTHA JORDAN
All Goliad freshmen spent portions of Tuesday and Wednesday taking Kuder vocational and occupational tests given yearly to ninth grade students. Thursday, students tallied and evaluated their own test results. Mr. Lee Freeze, counselor at Goliad gave instructions for the tests, which were completed by freshmen during their English class periods. The Kuder tests are designed to help students choose a general career field. Keyed to student preferences in many activity areas, they indicate what general work would likely suit each student best.

Texas Public School Week was observed at Goliad during the past week. Many parents visited Goliad during the week to observe classroom activity.

Teachers from Goliad, and from other schools in the system, were in Odessa Friday to attend the Texas State Teachers Association Convention. Goliad students enjoyed a three-day weekend, their first during the new year.

The Goliad band attended the Sweetwater band festival Saturday. The local group performed at the 20-band meeting under the direction of Mr. Russell McKissick.

Saturday, the eighth grade girls' volleyball team participated in a tournament in Kermit. The local squad, coached by Miss Margo Lauderdale, played its first game at noon against the Seminole eighth graders.

The Goliad Student Council, at their luncheon meeting Monday, called the West Texas Forum, held in Odessa last Saturday, "quite successful." Approximately 20 representatives from Goliad, a like number from Runnels Junior High, and the Senior High School representatives left Goliad at 7:30 Saturday morning in a school bus for the trip. After several programs, group meetings, and a lunch, the group returned to Big Spring, arriving around 4 p.m. At the Monday meeting, and at another held Wednesday, the Goliad Council discussed the Forum and chose several points of action as a result of it.

A basketball game—the faculty vs. the freshmen—was held Wednesday, in the gym. The faculty triumphed by a score of 45 to 33. Coach Oakey Hagood was high-point man for the game.

Goliad's new art teacher, Mr. Royce Feaster, was recently named to the faculty. Mr. Feaster took over several art classes during the week.

A Biology Club meeting was held Friday during activity period. Members discussed changing the by-laws to change the regular meeting date. Several

The choir elected officers last week, and they are Wesley Wright, president; Judy Wolf, vice president; Charlotte Kinley, secretary; and Gena Harvey, treasurer. The choir will perform for the Lion's Club on March 18.

There was no school Friday because the teachers of CHS attended a teachers meeting in Odessa.

The Big Spring students participated in convention activities such as the workshops on public relations, the business of communications, fashion merchandising and DECA activities. There were contests in sales demonstration, business speaking, job interview, ad layout and copy writing. The convention events were planned to cover the retail, wholesale and service selling fields — any of which a DE student may be considering as a career.

Houston's Mayor Louie Welch and Dr. John W. McFarland, superintendent of the Houston public schools, welcomed the delegates at the opening session Friday.

Officers were elected after the welcome. These activities were held in the Rice Hotel, headquarters for the 19th annual youth leadership convention.

Contest winners, who were announced at the Saturday night closing banquet, will be eligible to go to the national DECA convention in May to compete for more honors.

Margaret Johnson, sophomore, will be in complete charge of scenery and will be assisted by members of the choir and other groups from the high school.

The school system was discussed, and a tour of the classrooms was made. Refreshments were served in the high school cafeteria.

The teachers attended the Texas State Teachers meeting last Friday. School was not held Friday because of the meeting. Classes will resume Monday morning.

The all-district teams have been selected. Making the all-district boys' team from Sands were Eddy Herm, senior; Larry Chapman, senior; and Oren Lancaster, sophomore. Girls from Sands making the all-district team were Robbie Brown, senior; Darlene Wright, senior; and Don Nell Allred, senior.

The seniors at Sands High School will present a musical program this Thursday night, at 7:30. The whole high school and various grade school and outside groups will perform. The musical, "Melody Round-up," is Western and different from other musicals given before at Sands. It will be held in the high school auditorium and admission will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

'The Evil Of Frankenstein'

The man-made monster walks the screen again this week, starting Thursday at the Jet Drive-In. The second half of the double feature is "Strait Jacket," with Joan Crawford.

Ford, Fonda Fall In Fun

When the main titles of "The Rounders" appear on the screen and you see first Glenn Ford, then Henry Fonda, being tossed high into the air by a bucking bronco and biting the dust, you have an idea of the laughs and action in store in this modern-day western.

A sly and cynical brown-and-white roan named "Ol' Fooler" is the villain of the story. It is this ornery piece of horseflesh, addicted to whiskey mash, that dislodges the veteran cowpokes, Ford and Fonda, in the film.

It opens today at the Ritz. The two horse wranglers, fed up with lonesome winters in the New Mexico hills, gathering

'CRACK IN THE WORLD' Dana Andrews as a scientist

'Crack In The World' Will Open Here Thursday

"Crack In The World," the new release, which opens Thursday at the Ritz Theatre, is a look into the future; the story of two scientists, who with an international staff, are involved in a project to tap the unlimited energy in the earth's core.

Boring the world's deepest shaft, the Inner Space Project is the first attempt to utilize the molten mass at the earth's center to provide energy for all the world's industries. The peril involved is a calculated risk; to break through the last barrier requires a missile capable of delivering a blast effect of ten megatons — enough of a danger to split open the "Macedo Fault," setting off a series of earthquakes, tidal waves and volcanic eruptions of such proportions that the planet is in danger of total destruction.

Starring in "Crack In The World," are Dana Andrews, Janette Scott, Alexander Knox and Kieron Moore.

Australian Stamps Note Campaign's Anniversary

By SYD KRONISH AP Newsfeatures Australia has issued three new stamps of identical design. The letters "ANZAC" represent Australian and New Zealand Army Corps.

The design features "Simpson and his donkey" and is in three denominations — five pence, eight pence and two shillings three pence. The colors are khaki, blue and maroon.

The Anzac landing at Gallipoli in the Middle East took place on April 25, 1915, and is commemorated each year on that day to remember those who fell in that battle.

In line with the above-mentioned new Australian issue, it is interesting to note that the 1965 edition of the "Australian Commonwealth Specialists' Catalog" is now on the market. This is the 26th edition. It contains detailed information of Australian issues. Beginning with the Kangaroo series of 1913-1948 it continues through the 50th anniversary of the first air mail issue of 1964. The catalog is available for $1.75 from H. L. Lingquist Publications, 153 Waverly Pl., New York.

India soon will issue a stamp honoring the 100th anniversary of the birth of Lala Lajpatral, an ardent proponent in the struggle for Indian independence. The stamp depicts a portrait of Lajpatral wearing a turban. His dates, 1865-1928, are inscribed in the upper left and right-hand corners of the stamp, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency.

Cowboys Shoot It Out In Ritz Film Thursday

A small but wild town is the setting for the new production, "Young Fury," in Technicolor and Techniscope which opens Thursday at the Ritz Theatre. This western, combining suspense, action and drama of the old west, has a cast including Rory Calhoun, Virginia Mayo, Lon Chaney, John Agar, Richard Arlen plus a host of newcomers.

"Young Fury" is a story of dual revenge against Clint McCoy, a renegade gun-fighter preparing to make his last stand in the town in which he was born. McCoy is being chased by relentless Dawson gang, with whom he once rode; and by his son Tige, who thinks that he and his mother were run out by McCoy.

Returning to the old town that he once knew, brings back memories and heart breaks for McCoy. He remembers the years that passed when he was chased out of town for killing the man he found with his wife.

Lewis Is Answer To The Beatles

By JAMES BACON AP Movie-TV Writer Comedian Jerry Lewis has produced America's answer to the Beatles—Gary Lewis and the Playboys.

But outside of siring 19-year-old Gary, the movie star has had little to do with making Gary and his combo one of the hottest teenage idols in the country.

Last Dec. 15, Gary, who plays drums, and his group, three guitarists and an accordionist, recorded "This Diamond Ring" for Liberty. By Christmas it was climbing the charts. The third week in February it hit No. 1.

"My Dad didn't even know we recorded the song," says Gary. "My Mom is our manager and she paid all the recording expenses."

When the elder Lewis first heard the record with its teen-appealing rock 'n' roll sound, he commented: "This is music?"

The kids who buy most of the records think so. Gary, eldest of Lewis' six sons, is no overnight success. Last summer he took his group out to Disneyland for an audition for a one-night job. He got it and a steady weekend job for the whole summer.

Then Ed Sullivan put him on his television show. Soon other networks hired him. Now he's making a series of concert appearances as the headliner of a rock 'n' roll show. They're sell-outs.

The London Palladium and English television have signed him for a month's appearance. "My father let me go on one condition," says Gary. "We must keep our hair cut, our nails clean and our clothes

Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, said that he hopes to dispose of a number of criminal cases on the docket at this week's jury session in Howard County Court.

Judge Lee Porter has called a jury panel to report to his court Monday for duty in the trial of any cases which may be announced ready.

This is a continuation of the docket which the court opened Feb. 22. At that week's session, although a large number of cases had been set down and many were cleared from the docket, no opportunity for a jury to serve arose.

Cases set for trial this week include Alvin Lee Parker and Doyle Burnett, theft; Delmer Partlow, contributing to delinquency of a minor; Edward Smith, DWI; Melvin J. Keller, driving while under influence of drugs; William Sharp, driving with license suspended; Willie Ransom, DWI; Donald Keith Lairesen, DWI; Johnny Degio, contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Judge Porter has set down a long list of appeal cases brought to his court from the corporation and justices of the peace courts for trial the week of March 15.
