City Prepares Parking Area

Public works crews of the City of Big Spring are grading and leveling land on Johnson Street, west of city hall, where a parking lot for about 65 cars will be located. The area includes three 50 by 140-foot lots and will be paved. The lot is expected to be ready for use in about a month, according to Public Works Director Ernest Lillard.

Gen. Johnson Foresees South Viet Nam Victory

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Gen. Harold K. Johnson wound up a one-week visit to this war-torn nation today and said he believes that, with continued American help, South Viet Nam can defeat its Viet Cong foes.

"Freedom is on the line here," the U.S. Army chief of staff told newsmen. "I hope very much, I believe very much, that we can make freedom prevail through the joint efforts of the countries interested in preserving freedom, especially the Republic of Viet Nam and the United States."

SECRET STRIKES
U.S. and South Vietnamese warplanes staged more secret strikes from the Da Nang air base as Johnson and his staff headed back to Washington from the mission which he said was to "look, listen and learn." There was no disclosure of the airman's targets.

Various sources close to the Johnson mission have reported that items under study included commitment of U.S. combat units, increased bombing of North Viet Nam and even the selection of possible targets for nuclear bombing.

Some military observers have viewed the recent operation Silver Lance in California as a possible prelude to a large-scale movement of U.S. combat troops into Viet Nam. In its opening phase, Silver Lance resembled the landing of 3,500 U.S. Marines early this week for guard duty at the Da Nang base, 380 miles northwest of Saigon. In its final phase the maneuver involved the landing of the equivalent of a full division.

CENSORSHIP
Another subject reported to have received attention was the possibility of imposing military censorship or some variant of this on news correspondents serving in Viet Nam.

A dozen U.S. Air Force jet fighter-bombers took off before noon from the base 365 miles northeast of Saigon. They returned in the afternoon with their bombs and rockets gone.

Four U.S. B57 Canberra bombers took off and returned a short time later. A military spokesman in Saigon, without naming Da Nang, said four B57 jets had made strikes today on Viet Cong concentrations in Phu Yen Province, about 180 miles south of Da Nang.

Six Vietnamese Skyraiders left Da Nang. On their return authorities said they had hit guerrilla targets inside the country.

ALERT BASIS
Reliable military sources in Saigon reported that Vietnamese air force personnel stationed at Saigon, Bien Hoa and Da Nang, the country's three major military airfields, had been placed on an alert status and confined to their bases today.

Military sources reported a ground party found the body of one of two American pilots missing since their B57 jet bomber crashed on an air strike against the Viet Cong in rugged terrain 275 miles northeast of Saigon.

A search continued for the other pilot while aircraft provided protective cover from Communist attack. There had been reports that the two pilots ejected shortly before the plane crashed Thursday.

The Canberra jet had just dropped a load of napalm — flaming jellied gasoline — from about 500 feet when it plunged to the ground.

The plane is believed to be the second B57 lost since the bombers arrived in Viet Nam during the Gulf of Tonkin crisis last August.

PILOT CAPTURED
North Viet Nam reported today it had captured 1st Lt. Hayden J. Lockhart Jr., a U.S. Air Force pilot missing since his F100 jet fighter-bomber was shot down March 2 during the American air strike on North Viet Nam's Quang Khe naval base.

Hanoi's Viet Nam news agency distributed a picture of a pilot it identified as Lockhart. Photographed from the waist up, he was wearing a flying suit with a unit emblem and wings. Another photo which the agency said was the wreckage of a plane shot down during the March 2 strike showed a section of a plane's wing with the letters USAF.

The agency said the pilot surrendered after he was spotted by North Vietnamese.

Truck Driver Dies In Mishap

miles west of here early today. The truck tractor overturned, and he was pinned in the crushed cab. It was not until about 4:30 a.m. that two oil field trucks, sent from Snyder, righted the truck that his body was freed. A Bell-Seale ambulance rushed it to Snyder, but Adcock apparently had been killed instantly.

George Bagby, who also was an employe of the Harry Cloud Grain Company of Comanche for whom Adcock worked, was following about a mile behind the ill-fated truck. He said the two had eaten a short time earlier in Lamesa, and he estimated that Adcock must have left the road about 1:30 a.m. Bagby tried in vain to stop several cars, then got into his truck and drove to Snyder and summoned aid.

Texas Highway Patrol officers, Sheriff Slick Sneed of Borden County, and two justices of the peace, Mrs. Sid Reeder, Gail, and Cone J. Merritt, Snyder, went to the scene of the wreck. They surmised that Adcock fell asleep on the straight stretch of road. A light foggy mist was falling, but there were no indications weather figured in the crash.

Adcock leaves his widow and three daughters.

Quitman Trucker Found In Pasture After Pile-Up

LAMESA (SC) — Henry Wilson, 21, Quitman truck driver, was thrown from his grain laden truck, 20 miles east of here today and lay unconscious in a pasture for over three hours.

Found by a passerby, he was taken to Medical Arts Hospital here where his condition was described as reasonably good. This morning he was in X-ray to check for possible back injuries.

Wilson left here about 2:30 a.m., his truck tractor pulling a trailer loaded with grain. Officers theorized he may have fallen asleep on a downhill stretch on US 180, 20 miles east of here. The truck left the highway and piled up, throwing Wilson clear. The trailer was smashed and grain spilled.

About 6:30 a.m., an unidentified motorist noticed the wreckage and found Wilson lying in the pasture.

Chorus Of Sympathizers

From Portland, Ore., to Portland, Maine, a swelling chorus rang out in support of the Negro voter registration campaign in Alabama.

Students, civil rights leaders, clergymen and government officials joined in demonstrations over the racial strife that has gripped Alabama in the past week.

Most of the demonstrations took the form of sympathy marches for the cause of the Negroes.

PRAYERS
Many memorial prayer services were planned in churches throughout the country for the Rev. James J. Reeb, 38, a white minister from Boston, who died Thursday night after being clubbed three days ago in Selma, Ala.

The rallies and protests continued Thursday for the third straight day.

Bitter words were directed against Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace by two Democratic governors.

North Dakota's Gov. William Guy sent a telegram to Wallace saying he was "appalled at the treatment that Alabama law allows one American to give to another American."

"We are thankful that the white conscience of Alabama is not the conscience of America," Guy added.

MORE GUILTY
Alaska's Gov. William A. Egan said in a telegram from Washington: "From the depths of my heart, George Wallace, I consider you to be even more guilty than those who wielded the actual weapons that murdered James J. Reeb."

"When your judgment day comes, I hope that God, in his infinite grace, can find some way to lend mercy for your soul."

Reds Launch New Satellite

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched Cosmos 60, one of a series of unmanned earth satellites the Russians say are for scientific research. The Soviet news agency Tass said the satellite is following an orbit 125 to 175 miles above the earth.

Judge Supports State's Stand

Minister Dies After Beating In Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A white Boston minister who came to Alabama to join the drive for Negro civil rights is dead, 48 hours after he was beaten by a group of white men.

The death of the Rev. James J. Reeb Thursday night brought telephone calls of sympathy from the President and the vice president of the United States and messages from well wishers across the nation.

UNITARIAN
The Unitarian minister and father of four children died at University Hospital where he had been in a coma since brain surgery Tuesday night. Mrs. Reeb was by the bedside.

A hospital spokesman said an autopsy showed that death was caused by a blood clot on the left side of the brain. A bone in the minister's temple had been fractured.

Reeb, 38, and two other Unitarian clergymen were beaten when they were attacked by a group of white men on a Selma street. The other ministers were not hurt seriously, but Reeb was driven 90 miles to Birmingham.

Wilson Baker, Selma's public safety director, said four Selma men had been arrested and charged with murder. They were released later under $25,000 bond each, Baker said.

Alabama law permits bond on a murder charge if there is indication a jury will not return the death penalty.

President Johnson phoned Mrs. Reeb half an hour after her husband's death. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Mrs. Johnson also expressed sympathy.

Reports Will Not Be Produced

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge refused today to order state officials to produce investigation reports growing out of racial troubles in Alabama because, he said, he has never required this of the FBI.

The question of getting state documents into the record interrupted the testimony by which civil rights lawyers hoped to get an order allowing a Selma-to-Montgomery protest march.

PACKAGE
A state investigator brought a bulky package into the courtroom and handed it to Col. Albert J. Lingo, commander of state troopers. Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. John Doar immediately asked the court to settle the issue of admissibility.

Doar told U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. that he understood the state objected to the production of some of the documents.

Defense Attorney Maury Smith confirmed this and spelled out his objections.

Smith said he felt Lingo should not be required to make public letters and other correspondence and investigation reports of racial troubles in Selma and an outbreak of violence at nearby Marion.

In the Marion incident, Negroes and newsmen were beaten. One Negro was wounded fatally by gunfire.

JEOPARDIZE
The defense attorney, representing both Gov. George C. Wallace and Lingo, said the disclosure of investigation reports would seriously jeopardize the position of the department in all future law enforcement matters which it might be called upon to investigate.

He said some of the data was privileged matter received from anonymous informants and from confidential sources.

The judge told Doar, who heads the Civil Rights Division of the Justice Department, that the United States on past occasions in his court had made the same objection about making FBI reports available.

Johnson said he has never required the government to produce such reports.

"I won't do it in this case," he said.

Negro attorneys, meanwhile, continued their efforts to paint a picture of alleged police brutality during the civil rights struggle in the Alabama's so-called Black Belt, heavily populated by Negroes.

TREATED
Two Negro physicians, Dr. William B. Dinkins and Dr. Edward Maddox Jr., both of Selma, testified that they treated scores of Negroes injured by clubs and tear gas after an attempted march to Montgomery last Sunday.

Testimony Thursday in the high-ceilinged courtroom recounted the bloody rout of the marchers Sunday by state troopers and sheriff's deputies.

Only three witnesses were called to the stand including Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. King answered questions from opposing attorneys and from the judge for more than three hours.

Followers of King asked the court for an injunction against state and county officers after an attempted right-to-vote march to Montgomery ended in a melee of club swinging and choking tear gas on a highway just outside Selma.

Mayor Says There'll Be No March

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Mayor Joseph T. Smitherman said there will be no civil rights march on the Dallas County Courthouse today, although a compromise agreement had been reported earlier.

"We have banned all marches," said Smitherman. "There will not be a march today. The City Council has not agreed, to my knowledge, to any compromise or to any march."

Earlier, the Rev. P.E. Lewis, pastor of Browns Chapel A.M.E. Church, headquarters for the Negro voter registration drive in Selma, said Wilson Baker, city public safety director, "has agreed to let us march to the courthouse without interference."

Baker declined comment. As the city's top law enforcement official, he has no authority to make agreements. However, it had been reported earlier that city councilmen must have reached a compromise with the Negro group.

LeRoy Collins, director of the federal Community Relations Service, said that Negroes would be allowed to go to the courthouse between 11 and 11 a.m. today.

Collins added, however, that it would not be a march. Rather, the Negroes would "be allowed to gather in groups, of four or five."

Wants LBJ To Visit Selma

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four thousand churchmen from across the nation heard an appeal today for a visit by President Johnson to strife-torn Selma, Ala., and a call for a "strong" bill to guarantee Negroes voting rights in the South.

Clergymen jammed the Lutheran Church of the Reformation in an interfaith rally called by the Commission on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches.

PREPARATORY
The meeting was preparatory to sending a delegation to the White House and visits to members of Congress, seeking guarantees against a repetition of the beating of voting rights marchers and the slaying of the Rev. James J. Reeb in Selma.

The meeting applauded Methodist Bishop John Wesley Lord of Washington when he told them that many whites and Negroes in the South are "disenchanted and in great despair" over the turn of events, and that the President's presence would do much.

"His presence, and a simple statement of the action he is taking, and a resolution in the Congress, might even yet do much to avert disaster and strengthen the cause of freedom now," Bishop Lord said.

Simultaneously, three religious groups announced launching a joint campaign to raise funds for the families of civil rights marchers, including the family of Reeb, a minister of the Unitarian Universalist Church.

LESSEN HARDSHIP
A statement issued by the Unitarian Universalist Association, Boston; the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Atlanta, Ga.; and the American Friends Service Committee, Philadelphia, said they will receive contributions.

The money will be used, they said, to "lessen the hardships of those who have suffered in the civil rights cause, to which James J. Reeb was so deeply committed."

"Funds will be channeled by each agency to provide for the needs of families, both Negro and white, including the Reeb's, who have suffered by reason of their involvement in the struggle for equality of rights for all Americans."

Widespread Rains Fall

By The Associated Press
The northern Texas Panhandle got up to five inches of snow Friday. Rain and drizzle fell over most of the rest of the state.

Only in the country west of the Pecos were skies clear.

The late winter snow began Thursday night. By Friday morning Stratford had five inches of snow on the ground. Dalhart reported 3 inches. Spearman 2, Perryton 1 and Miami, Tex., a half inch. There was a trace of snow at Pampa, Borger, Bushland and Higgins.

Highways in the area were open, however, and traffic was moving normally.

Showers fell in widespread areas Friday for the second straight day of the season—from the Panhandle down through the South Plains, and into North and East Texas.

Lines of scattered showers moved one after another from the Waco area north and eastward into East Texas during the night.

The Dallas rain was the first in 16 days and brought the total for the year to more than 7.5 inches.

Forecasts called for occasional rain and a few thundershowers in East and South Texas Friday and a few showers in the extreme Southwest Saturday.

Cooler weather was expected for the interior of South Texas Friday and in the northern portion of Texas Saturday.

Everyone was looking at the clouds late Thursday and early Friday—hoping for rain. But it didn't come in measurable amounts. The low-hanging clouds, and some mist, brought the moisture-content of the atmosphere almost to 100 per cent.

Forecasts through Saturday promise occasional rains or thundershowers for about 40 per cent of the area, with some gusty winds.

A slight cooling trend is forecast for tonight and Saturday with temperatures dropping from the lower 70s to the upper 60s. No general moisture is expected.

No Rainfall Measured Here

AUSTIN (AP)—Ideally, Texas' 23 congressional districts would be compact yet with a head count of at least 410,000, combine similar interests, allow a voice to the farmers and ranchers and pit no incumbent against each other.

Not that the legislature could ever agree on such a bill.

Legislators Fuss Over Redistricting Plans

he thought there was little doubt that any such district would be dominated by the two cities to the detriment of rural counties.

Cahoon's bill would require races between Reps. Dowdy and Beckworth and between Reps. Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls and Omar Burleson of Anson.

A large delegation of Fort Worth, Irving, Arlington and Hurst residents spoke in favor of Rep. Skeet Richardson's bill (HB664) in which the same congressmen would face each other as in Cahoon's bill. The cities between Dallas and Fort Worth would share a district with communities to the north.

Most Senate and House members had left for home but two dozen representatives lingered until midnight in the huge House chambers, hearing seven plans.

Today marked the end of the 60th day of the 59th Legislature—and the end of free introduction of bills. After today, members must get permission of their colleagues before introducing bills.

The Senate was in adjournment until 10 a.m. Monday, the House until 11 a.m.

All measures went to subcommittees.

Tangible Proof Lacking On Value Of U.S. Jet Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials here view the new U.S. jet strikes against Communist formations in South Viet Nam as showing success in throwing the Reds off balance and inflicting casualties.

But military authorities in South Viet Nam appear much less bullish. Reports reaching the Pentagon indicate these authorities feel the contribution of the jet strikes has been small so far. However, it is noted that the operation has been under way only since Feb. 24.

BOOST MORALE
Apart from actual damage inflicted on the Viet Cong, authorities evidently hope the jet strikes will demoralize the Communists and boost the morale of the South Vietnamese forces. One U.S. adviser was quoted as telling his superiors that South Vietnamese troops in one area reacted jubilantly.

The strikes have been made by F100 fighter bombers and B57 light bombers. The B57s alone flew about 150 sorties in one section over a 10-day period.

It is said here that the decision to call in the U.S. jets for use inside of South Viet Nam for the first time grew in part from the appearance of larger concentrations of the Viet Cong. In the past, much of the Red activity was in the form of ambush and terrorism by relatively small bands of guerrillas.

TARGETS
Coming out more in the open in larger groups, the Communists were considered to have become "more appropriate targets" for the fast-flying, heavily armed jets.

Considerable official stress is placed here on reports that American jets have been successful in stalling anticipated Communist attacks and in breaking up Viet Cong concentrations.

One cable from Viet Nam spoke of a claim that one of the B57 bombings hit right on top of a Viet Cong unit. There was no proof, it was acknowledged.

The same cable report mentioned a number of B57 strikes causing secondary explosions on the ground—that is, explosions occurring after the U.S. bombs had gone off. This suggested that ammunition stocks had been hit.

Although there is official confidence that the jet attacks are increasing Communist casualties, tangible proof appears to be lacking.

Scout Program Keeps Promise

Once again, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. — almost three and three-quarter million of them — are celebrating their birthday week. The West Texas Girl Scout Council has joined in the celebration of Girl Scout Week, the theme of which is, "A Promise In Action." This "promise" has been in action and in evidence for 53 years. The Girl Scout's 53rd birthday occurs today. This date marks the anniversary of the first meeting of the first troop organized in Savannah, Georgia, by Juliette Gordon Low, founder of the movement in the U.S.A. That first troop of a few girls set the pattern for more than 20 million others by making the Girl Scout promise: "On my honor, I will try: To do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times, to obey the Girl Scout Laws."

This year Girl Scouts are emphasizing — "a bridge to the future." These "bridges" refer to a continuity of program activities which become more complex and challenging as girls grow from 7 through 17. The program adopts activities related to the arts, the home and the out-of-doors, to the changing interests and needs of the girls; thus bridging the four age levels: Brownie Girl Scouts (ages 7-8), Junior Girl Scouts (ages 9-11), Cadette Girl Scouts (ages 12-14), and Senior Girl Scouts (ages 15-17).

W. C. Blankenship, principal, reported that 275 parents visited the school during Texas Public School Week. Fifty-two attended with the room count award going to Miss Jordan's class.

Club Performs Texas Music

The music of Texas was heard at the Wednesday meeting of the Big Spring Music Study Club in the home of Mrs. Charles Bell, 2213 Ceclia. Cohostesses were Mrs. Delnor Poss and Mrs. J. E. Hardesty.

Mrs. John Arnold led the women in singing the hymn of the month, "Gracious Spirit Dwell With Me," by Thomas Lynch. Mrs. Bell presented a piano number, "Arkansas Traveler," by David Gulon, and Mrs. Rene Brown sang "May Magic," by Stratton.

Mrs. Poss, pianist, played "Waltz for Little Lulu," by Julia Smith, which was followed with a vocal duet by Mrs. Gerald Terreau and Mrs. John Arnold. They sang "Blue Bonnet Time" by William Marsh. Another Marsh composition, "Texas, Our Texas," was sung by the entire group.

Mrs. Louis Heinze played a piano selection, "Western Romances," by Davies and a guest, Mrs. Carol Heiliger, was heard in a violin solo, "Mid-summer Lullaby," by Edward MacDowell. Her accompanist was Miss Elsie Willis.

Mrs. Heinze presented an award of merit from the National Federation of Music Clubs to Mrs. B. Marcum in recognition of her work during music week last May.

A St. Patrick's theme was used on the refreshment table where the centerpiece was of white carnations and green shamrocks. The April 14 meeting will be with Mrs. Marcum in her home at 1506 Dayton.

Bigger Role Seen For Natural Gas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Natural gas will play a greatly increased role in fueling the nation's economy in the decades ahead, the Federal Power Commission predicts. "Natural gas is one of the principal keys in providing energy for America's future," the commission says in its annual report to Congress. The report points to the rapid spread since World War II of natural gas pipelines. These arteries deliver fuel to 46 of the 47 states which have natural gas service. The 47th state, Alaska, uses gas produced within its own borders. The states still without the fuel are Maine, Vermont and Hawaii. In addition, the report notes, Mexican and Canadian pipeline systems have connections with U.S. pipelines, providing facilities for both imports and exports. The commission said since it is responsible for regulation of the interstate aspects of the natural gas and electric power industries, it is devoting "increasing attention to its important role in encouraging and stimulating" production and transportation of these forms of energy. The natural gas industry now owns more than 710,000 miles of pipeline, of which approximately 150,000 miles are in the interstate system under the commission's jurisdiction. Other paragraphs from the report: —Some 1,757 trillion cubic feet of natural gas, or 34 percent of the total marketed production in the nation, moved in interstate commerce in 1964. By 1962 this volume had increased nearly four-fold — to 8.117 trillion feet, or 58 percent of the marketed production. —The commission is concentrating on regulatory programs "to carry out its administration of the natural gas act in line with the essential role of gas as a primary energy source for the nation." —The future may offer new markets which now are not commercially feasible or which presently are not even in the planning stage. —Thirty-one states produce natural gas.

SWIFT ENACTMENT Strong Laws Urged Against Bank Looters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John McClellan called today for swift enactment of strong laws to combat alleged looting of banks and other loan firms by crooked managements. The Senate Investigations subcommittee he headed has conducted three days of hearings on recent bank closures. Testimony has indicated that only a small fraction of the federally insured banking industry has been hit by improper practices. Government officials described malpractices which forced the closing of 11 insured banks within 12 months, and of indications that the underworld may have figured in at least one failure. The hearings are to extend through several weeks. The hearings are to resume Tuesday to receive expert testimony from Federal Reserve Board Chairman William Martin, then will switch to the quizzing of officials of one of the banks that failed, the San Francisco National Bank. But already, McClellan said, it is clear that there is a definite need for legislation to compel the unmasking of any secret partners in the ownership of federally insured banks and automatic investigation of their integrity and competence. Don Silverthorne, president of the defunct San Francisco bank, and William Bennett, an associate, are to testify next week. McClellan said officials of the closed First National Bank of Marlin, Tex., and Brighton, Colo., National Bank are to be heard later. He said Bernard S. Garrett and Joseph S. Morris, involved in the Marlin Bank, will be heard ultimately. In yesterday's hearings, John

Literature Brought Back

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Some 2,000 books and pamphlets seized by officers from John W. Stanford Jr. have been returned to the San Antonio bookkeeper. This action was carried out Thursday under orders from the U. S. Supreme Court. The literature, which the state claims is pro-Communist, had been stored in the courthouse since the seizure from Stanford's home Dec. 27, 1963. Stanford, who has refused to register as a Communist, won a legal battle Jan. 18 when the Supreme Court ruled that a search warrant Texas officers used to raid his home violated his constitutional rights. Informants testified at a Justice Department hearing in 1963 that Stanford was secretary of the Communist party in Texas. He operates a mail-order bookstore in his home.

Dallas Parade Given Approval

DALLAS (AP)—Negro rights leaders obtained a police permit Thursday which paved the way for a march by 2,000 demonstrators through downtown Dallas Sunday protesting events in Selma, Ala. The parade permit was granted by Asst. Police Chief Charles Batchelor, who met with Clarence Laws, regional director for the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, and the Rev. B. L. McCormick, president of the Dallas NAACP branch. "We are inviting all persons who share the deep concern for what has happened at Selma, Ala., to demonstrate their concern by marching with us," Laws said.

Promotion OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved yesterday the promotion of Robert L. Pou Jr. of Texas to brigadier general in the Air Force National Guard.

Sheriff To Apply For Radio License

Sheriff Aubrey Standard was instructed by the Howard County Commissioners Court Thursday to file application for a radio license for a new transmission station. The station, if the license is granted, would be put in service for the sheriff's office and the county road and bridge department. Standard said that application for the license will be made as quickly as possible. Included in such application must be data on the location of the antenna system, where the transmitter will be located, and the purposes to which it will be put. Also a frequency has to be assigned. Normally the approval of a license, if properly submitted, takes about 45 days. The application will be filed with the Federal Communications Commission. Standard added that when the license has been approved, then costs of the transmitter and essential equipment must be compiled. The estimates will be submitted to the Civil Defense. If the Civil Defense approves, it will pay half of the cost. The sheriff said that even if the CD declines to participate in the purchase (which was termed most unlikely), the county, if it elected to do so, could go ahead with the project on its own. At this time the county sheriff's office has use of the city police radio transmitter for which the county pays the city $100 per month. He estimated that the county could absorb its half of the new station cost, if the CD shared in the project, in three years in money saved which is now being paid to the city. Some members of the county commissioners court feel that the radio would be of service in the operation of the road and bridge department in that the work crews and administrative department could be kept in constant touch.

Most Of Nation Is Dampened

By The Associated Press Rain or snow dampened the major part of the nation today, the wet belt covering areas in at least 34 states. The Northern and Middle Atlantic states and areas in the Pacific Northwest were among the few sections reporting no precipitation. Generally light rain fell across the southern tier of states from Georgia to Southern California. The Weather Bureau said the moisture was beneficial to the normally arid lands of the Southwest region. One snow belt extended through the mountains of the West and across the northern Plains to the Great Lakes region. More snow fell in mountains of northern Arizona. Seven inches of snow covered the ground at Flagstaff. Chicago had its 13th consecutive day of rain or snow. In Portland, Ore., brief showers Thursday broke a 12-day dry spell, the longest rainless period since 1885 when no rain fell in the city for 19 days. Most other parts of the state and Washington also have had no rain for nearly two weeks. Temperatures during the dry spell. Grass and brush fires were reported in some areas. Coldest weather this morning was in northern Minnesota with one below zero in Hibbing compared to 72 at Key West, Fla. Readings in most areas were near or below seasonal levels.

Sees Improved Strength In Reserve Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)— Army Secretary Stephen Ailes says the nation's military strength will be improved under a plan to revamp the Army reserves and National Guard. The controversial defense department proposal would merge the reserves into the guard and chop the combined paid drill authorization from 700,000 to 550,000. Ailes appeared Thursday before the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Investigating subcommittee. Ailes said he is "not in favor of cutting back one iota" in the nation's reserve fighting potential. Then he declared: "We are increasing it." The secretary said it would cost more than $10 billion to fully equip existing reserve units which are "not needed now under our present war plans." Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., challenged the plan because of the Viet Nam situation and worldwide commitments. Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., declared the Constitution gives Congress alone the power to control the military. He said Congress will study the plan, and said the Pentagon should make no drastic changes until Congress has determined that the action is feasible and desirable.

A Devotional For The Day

Put off your old nature which belongs to your former manner of life . . . and put on the new nature, created after the likeness of God in true righteousness and holiness. (Ephesians 4:22, 24, RSV)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, help us to find our strength in Thee. Grant us forgiveness and give us faith so that as sons of Thine we may run well the race of Thy high calling in Christ Jesus, our Savior. In His name we pray. Amen.

Wrong Impression

Community leaders appropriately have taken issue with statements attributed to J. C. Hinsley, special counsel engaged to plead the City of Big Spring appeal for relief from abnormally low rates for water used by the Big Spring State Hospital.

The tragedy is that he ever made statements implying that the hospital is a community liability instead of an asset, that the payrolls are insignificant, that employees are not taxpayers, but who require public security and services. All the disavowal in the world will not erase the impression of community ingratitude created by the imprudent exchange between counsel and Judge Robert G. Hughes. Even though this may have been factitious in some respects, one news service reported it as a "scattergun approach." Another newspaper headlined the story: "What's Hospital Worth To Big Spring?" The wrong impression created about Big Spring could be as costly in the long run as whatever (if anything) might be gained from an adjustment of water rates.

The arguments presented for rate adjustment were cogent and incisive, namely that everything else has risen, in cost, why not water rates? After 25 years, the City of Big Spring had felt—and probably the Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools did, too—that the city had kept good faith in its bid for the hospital by subsidizing water charges for a quarter of century. It was on this basis that relief was sought in court—the only place where a legal question can be settled.

Big Spring made a vigorous fight to get the Big Spring State Hospital, and it would do so again because experience has shown that this institution is a valuable one to the community and area. Of course the construction has been of benefit, as have the payrolls to the hundreds of employees who are taxpayers whether they rent or own.

The people of Big Spring and neighboring cities are not insensible to the ministry of the hospital as witness an exemplary program of volunteer work on behalf of the patients, and an intense pride in the humanitarian record of the hospital.

While this is extraneous matter the court, the state board and others should be informed that this offhand repartee does not represent the community's attitude. We are not a bunch of ingrates or weathers. On the contrary, we are proud of the hospital and will continue to do all we can to undergird its splendid work. This has nothing to do with justice in water rates.

Consider Cost

Without damning athletics, alumni and fans should pause to consider what the premium on winning is costing.

A college coach recently resigned, by request, because he admitted passing star athletes who didn't even bother to attend his classes. The spirit of fudging seemingly played its part among the Air Force Academy graders who recently were separated due to the cribbing scandal.

Some college coaches engage bland-ly in red shirting (holding players out of competition for a year in order to prolong eligibility) but raise old Ned when pro teams pick off red-shirters before they play out their string of eligibility.

Winning is a great thing, but when pressures to achieve victory reach the point of inducing short cuts on the letter as well as the spirit of the law, then it's time to take a close look at what victory costs.

Demonstrations Can Be Difficult

WASHINGTON—Once upon a time the Supreme Court of the United States affirmed that "freedom of speech" does not include the right to cry "fire!" in a crowded theater.

Today the principle is being tested in Alabama, where the right to demonstrate has been insisted upon even in the face of the fact that street parades in a tense situation can incite to violence.

PLAINLY there is among the people a lack of understanding of fundamental constitutional principles. These give every citizen the right to express himself freely, though his views may be unpalatable to others, but the moment the actual utterance of such views occurs under conditions which inflame people to violence, the law steps in and applies a restraining hand.

After a federal judge had issued a ruling on Tuesday ordering the parade from Selma to Montgomery to be deferred at least until Thursday, when a hearing would be held on the subject, the demonstrators insisted on going ahead anyhow in defiance of the court order.

YET THESE same demonstrators argue that they are being deprived of their civil rights, and they evidently feel this gives them unlimited privilege to disturb the peace.

Attorney General Katzenbach, in a question-and-answer period after a speech at the Women's National Press Club on Tuesday, rightly explained that the federal government does not have the constitutional power to send troops into any state unless there is a "total breakdown" of law and order and a "total unwillingness" by state officials to maintain order. He said that the primary responsibility for keeping the peace rests with the local authorities.

IN THE INSTANCES when the Kennedy administration sent troops to Alabama and Mississippi, the respective governors of those states were at least accused of having defied federal court orders on school integration. In the present case, the governor of the state warned against the march from Selma to Montgomery and sent state troopers to the scene to prevent disorder.

Basically, the governor of Alabama was taking the same position the late President Kennedy took when he sent troops to restrain potential violence and enforce a federal court order. The purpose of the Alabama governor was to prevent violence, and he had urged that the march on Montgomery be abandoned for the time being as a measure of safety.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON issued a statement regretting the violence which occurred in Selma on Sunday. He declared that "Americans everywhere join in deploring the brutality with which a number of Negro citizens of Alabama were treated when they sought to dramatize their deep and sincere interest in attaining the precious right to vote."

But the President guardedly omitted any criticism of the acts of the demonstrators who defied the police and caused the latter to use force. While Mr. Johnson defended the right to demonstrate, he failed to express any concern over the kind of disturbances of the peace that can and often do result from street demonstrations.

MANY OF THE pressure groups claim that they are engaged in "non-violent" demonstrations. But, while this may be their intent and objective, their manner of conducting demonstrations often leads to violence. The states have a constitutional right and obligation then to step in and order the dispersal of the demonstrators. This is the true "law of the land" today.

A Traveler

OWEGO, N. Y. (AP) — The spikehorn deer Bob J. Velle shot near Owego had been tagged as a fawn nine months earlier 58 miles away, which conservationists say is more than twice as far as deer normally travel in a year.

Hunters are willing to bet that a comely doe lured the young buck from its Catskill home.

Game experts say most deer in this area travel only a few miles — except when leaving mountain summer browsing grounds for sheltered winter refuges.

THE TROUBLE WITH THE WORLD IS PEOPLE

James Marlow

Follows Gandhi's Lead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King's frustrated 50-mile march from Selma to Montgomery, Ala., would have been a version on a small scale of the famous salt march by his hero, Mohandas Gandhi.

The purpose of both was to dramatize a protest.

Gandhi, protesting heavy British taxation on the impoverished peasants of India in 1930, led a 241-mile march that took 21 days. He started out with 78 followers. When he reached the sea, thousands were with him.

THE 50-MILE march which

King planned, but didn't lead, started out with 450 people from Selma. If the police hadn't broken it up, this journey on foot would have taken at least three days, probably more.

The marchers were supposed to go to the state Capitol, when they reached Montgomery, and there present Gov. George C. Wallace with a petition protesting denial of voting rights to Negroes.

Seven years ago in his book, "Stride Toward Freedom," King acknowledged a profound debt to the Indian leader for inspiration in how to wage his crusade for Negroes' civil rights. The inspiration was non-violent resistance.

And King said Gandhi's salt march had a strong impact on him.

KING DESCRIBED how he had heard of Gandhi's life and teachings at a lecture in Philadelphia and then went out and bought books by and on him.

King wrote: "Like most people I had heard of Gandhi, but I had never studied him seriously. As I read I became deeply fascinated by his campaign of nonviolent resistance."

"I was particularly moved by the salt march to the sea. It was in (the) Gandhian emphasis on love and nonviolence that I discovered the method for social reform that I had been seeking."

He acutely realized how the unarmed Gandhi electrified the Indians.

KING WROTE: "Gandhi never had more than 100 persons absolutely committed to his philosophy. But with this small group of devoted followers he galvanized the whole of India and through a magnificent feat of nonviolence challenged the might of the British Empire and won freedom for his people."

Letters That Don't Come . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — Fragments from letters people would like to get but rarely do:

"Two weeks ago I retired after 30 years as a traffic cop, and now I want to clear my conscience. Last summer I bawled you out for going through a red light, and it has been troubling me ever since. The truth is that I am color blind, but hated to admit you were right when you insisted the light had turned green. I hope you will accept this abject apology and forgive me."

"You have been a swell brother-in-law to me, Jack, in the 15 years I've been looking for work since getting out of college, but I won't be needing any more handouts from you. I've got a steady job as staff beatnik for a new coffee house tourist trap down in Greenwich Village. The pay is small and the hours long, but all I really have to do is sit around in old clothes, look picturesque, and let my beard grow. That means I won't even have to borrow your razor anymore."

"WHAT DO you mean you're sorry you made such a fool of yourself at my party, Joe? You were the big hit of the evening. Pal. One of the other guests was a television talent scout, and he said that dance you did with the throw rug and the two lampshades was the funniest thing he's seen all season. He says he can guarantee you $7,000 for doing the same routine on Ed Sullivan's show any Sunday evening you're free — and you won't even have to pay him an agent's commission."

"You don't remember me, young man, but I am the little old lady you helped across an icy street one cold spring night 20 years ago. I can still remember how blue your knees looked in your little Boy Scout suit. Since my pet parrot died last week leaving me all alone in the world, I have decided to revise my will and repay your good deed of long ago by—"

"FRANKLY, YOUNG lady, we think your idea that the Beatles add a teenage girl as a vocalist to their group is fine and that you'd be ideal for the job yourself. If you wouldn't mind taking a week's singing lessons, and a starting salary of 100 quid, plus recording royalties, of course, please advise us."

"As a practicing psychiatrist for two decades, it seems to me that you are the most normal, best-balanced human being I have encountered in my entire career. After replaying the tapes of our last two couch sessions, I have reached the conclusion that if any member of your family stands in the need of mental help, it is your mother-in-law — not you. Would you care to have the lady call my office for an appointment?"

To Your Good Health

High Cholesterol Can Be Reduced

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about cholesterol. My doctor says my cholesterol level is 310. What is normal?

He has me on a low-fat diet and I watch it carefully. I am five feet tall and weigh 140 pounds. I am trying to lose some more.—M. H.

Normal cholesterol values depend on the method of testing used at a particular laboratory, so to get a "normal" figure, you'll have to ask your doctor what the normal range is for the laboratory which does his testing.

In any event, however, 310 is high.

There are several things for you to keep in mind. The cholesterol level changes slowly, so you have to be patient.

For another, while a low-fat diet is essential for you, just avoiding fats isn't sufficient. If you overeat carbohydrates (sugar or starchy foods) the excess amount will be converted into fat in the body, and you will have accomplished little or nothing.

At five feet, your weight is, obviously, too much. When your weight is reduced, your cholesterol level may also be lower.

For practical purposes, then, if I were you I would pay very much attention to the diet and to getting rid of excess weight, and not become too engrossed in the cholesterol figures. They will probably take care of themselves.

Or if they don't cholesterol is not necessarily the bad word that some people take it to be. Some fairly recent research studies indicate that other blood lipids (fats in the blood) may be more important in causing hardening of the arteries, and heart and arterial damage.

This view was arrived at because some people with high cholesterol had no difficulty; others with only moderate cholesterol but considerable quantities of the other fats, did.

Besides this, some individuals manufacture more cholesterol from their food than others do, in spite of restricted diets. (It is possible, when it appears necessary, to reduce cholesterol by medication.)

Cholesterol measurements are helpful as a guide in treating patients, but they aren't the whole story.

The more basic consideration is controlling patients' weight by reducing calorie intake.

Dear Dr. Molner: I enclose an advertisement for special undergarments to reduce legs, waist, hips, etc. Do you think this would be successful (with proper diet)? Would there be any reason NOT to wear such a garment—MRS. C. C.

I note that the advertisement claims that the underwear will reduce your weight in certain spots by promoting perspiration. Well, it won't. It is possible to sweat off several pounds, but all you lose is water plus a little salt. Athletes in hard training often lose from five to 15 pounds in a day, but the weight comes back by next morning, because the body retains enough moisture to make up for what was lost.

I suppose such garments might, in some cases, be irritating to the skin, but I don't know of any other likely harm. A proper reducing diet will do the job alone.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Learn To Live With It

One thing West Texans don't have to worry about is obscured driving vision on the highways in this part of the country, other than for occasional blowing dust. But officials of the New Jersey Turnpike have quite a problem on their hands.

IT SEEMS a fog settles over the northern end of the 132-mile-long turnpike and for some years not only has made driving difficult, but in many instances caused major accidents, including one in which 30 vehicles piled up.

For years now highway and safety engineers have been studying the problem. And about the only firm conclusion reached seems to be that neither man's ingenuity nor machines he creates will dispel the fog.

THE TURNPIKE people first tried a new lighting system, at a cost of $100,000, and it failed to solve the problem. However, it did manage to confuse pilots flying aircraft overhead, who couldn't decide what airport was below.

Then four 20-foot-wide fans were installed, 40 feet above the highway's center stripe, in an effort to draw the cool air upward. This too ended in failure, but at a cost reported at $125,000.

THE ENGINEERS then borrowed an idea from an airline, used successfully to remove fog at the Salt Lake City airport. The fog banks were seeded with dry ice crystals and carbon dioxide shavings, but this again proved no answer to the New Jersey-style fog.

So the authority decided if the fog couldn't be removed, then steps could at least be taken to make it navigable. Now the highway is being tested with lights embedded in the dividing lines between lanes, to guide the motorist in his lane of traffic. This step is reportedly costing about $20,000 per mile. Remote control warning devices and even radar are being used to try to make the highway safe.

WHAT MAKES the problem even more irritating for the highway engineers is that, not so far west of the New Jersey Turnpike, is the Garden State Parkway — which is rarely fog-bound.

Wasteful Formula For Education

WASHINGTON—It might be said of a lesser man than Lyndon Johnson that he has been taken in by the educationists who, for years, have been trying to get general federal aid to education and trying to put their ideas of avant-garde education into national practice.

BUT NOBODY "takes in" LBJ. His general strategy for education does propose something close to generalization of federal aid and does provide for "progressive" methods of counseling, guidance and attention to backward pupils. But his chief characteristic is that of a battle in his War on Poverty.

Johnson is not like many poverty-battlers who have gone before him. He is not a share-the-wealth man at all. He is not a radical. He would like to help the lower economic classes to rise without pulling down the upper classes. But can it be done?

THERE'S SOME doubt as to whether he has the right approach in his school aid bill. The difficulty is that economically-deprived children are not always educationally-deprived. Some of them can and do attend the best public schools that money can build and support.

Montgomery County, Maryland, in suburban Washington, is the richest county in the nation. Forty-four per cent of the families have incomes over $10,000 and only 5.5 per cent have incomes below $3,000. Under the Johnson formula, Montgomery County will receive $572,864 in the first year for its already excellent schools. This money will be educationally aiding eight times as many well-off families as hard-up families.

A BETTER FORMULA, of course, would be to give the money to the state or county requiring it to be spent on the education of the uneducated. But the Democratic majorities in Congress have thus far refused to alter the President's program in that particular. Any county with 100 children from families earning under $2,000 a year is eligible for federal funds which go to all the rest of the children, too. It is a wasteful system.

THE POOREST county in the nation is Tunica County, Mississippi. Here only three per cent of the families have incomes of $10,000, while 77.8 per cent have incomes under $3,000. As it happens, the number of extremely poor families (under $2,000 income) are about the same in rich Montgomery County and poverty-stricken Tunica County. Yet Montgomery gets over $215,000 more from the proposed educational funds than Tunica gets.

A better formula, of course, would be to give the money only for children who are both educationally deprived and economically deprived. But this could only be done by pinpoint bombing, not by the present method of saturation bombing. It could only be done by decentralization rather than centralization in Education.

We Can Take Pride—

WASHINGTON—The innocent newly returned from abroad brings back fresh perspectives that may be valuable enough to compensate for the travail of travel in a jet age.

There is a euphoria about getting back to the familiar disasters of home and fireside, of course, but there is also a quiet satisfaction in re-learning the simple fact that, for all its imperfections, the United States still manages to be a land of hope and promise.

AMERICANS ARE unduly ashamed of their race problem. The shame was inherited, moreover, and this generation should find pride in the fact that it has found the courage to start righting ancient wrongs. Race xenophobia is not unique here. England, with a race problem that is minuscule by comparison, is discovering that there are no easy solutions, and that political low-roadism can drown out the well-bred murmur of an Establishment that has spent centuries creating an image of civilized enlightenment.

FRANCE, A VAIN and foolish country that is the fief of a vain and foolish old man, takes comfort in the twilight of its history at creating irritants for the United States. Irritants irritate, but the emotion that should be stirred at the performance of Charles the Myopic is compassion. France is a country with no history but military history, and it has been half a century since France won a war. Soon enough France will drift into its proper role in the world—a placid backwater devoted to the manufacture of good brandy, fine perfume and comic-opera governments — but until that happens the enlightened American must try to understand its last convulsive, moribund twitches.

THE TRUTH of the matter is that France is a nation headed toward a sharp collision with reality, and the reality is not going to vanish simply because the remote figure in Elysee Palace can no longer recognize it.

Americans, terrified by dimly remembered visions of Metetrich and Richelieu, still cower at the supposed prodigies of European diplomacy in action. But nowhere outside of a libretto by Sigmund Romberg is to be found an example of the thundering incompetence equal to that displayed by West Germany's suety chancellor in his attempts to cope with the Middle Eastern arms crisis. Nasser's victory over Erhard was humiliating in its totality, and it may doom his government.

COMPARED TO this (or to Harold Wilson's timorous vacillation over how to extricate England from its bankrupt bargain to join France in building a large, useless airplane) Lyndon Johnson's handling of the agony of Viet Nam has been masterful. He may fall (indeed, his plan may be wrong), but if he does fall it will be due to no want of nerve or vigor. It's time Americans began to look at themselves in a more prideful perspective.

Can you tell me please, where the Bible got its verse and chapter numbering? C.K.

Early manuscripts of the Bible, both in Hebrew and Greek, had no verse or chapter division. Even spaces between words were missing. Beginning of chapter and verse came very early, and the device was gradually developed. Early divisions of the Hebrew text were first made by Jewish scholars nearly 700 years ago. Robert Stephens, French scholar and printer first used the familiar chapter and verse numberings about 1545. The first printed edition of the Geneva (Switzerland) Bible in the mid-sixteenth century had the familiar divisions but do not correspond to natural groupings and thoughts. For example, the first two verses of Genesis II belong in Chapter I. However, on the whole our present divisions made reading easier and greatly simplifies locating certain passages.

Steel Use

NEW YORK (AP) — In the view of steel marketing experts, anyone who builds a home within 10 years will utilize an average of five tons of steel as compared with the present use of 1.5 tons.

Steelways, publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, says steel is usually used in the frame while exteriors are conventional materials such as brick and wood.

After World War II, the steel industry thought steel could simply be substituted for wood. However, the public was not interested, preferring steel used with other materials in home construction.

Inside the home, porcelain-on-steel bathtubs represent 40 per cent of the market.

LEBANON, Ky. (AP) — A 950-pound Black Angus heifer jumped the fence at the Stockyards and fell into the city's only private swimming pool.

TEAM LEADS IN WEEKEND EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Five Young Men Schedule Western Missions Tour

Five young men, who plan a missions tour into the Western states this summer, will lead youth-oriented services at 7:15 p.m. at Stadium Baptist Church Friday and Saturday evenings, and in two services Sunday.

While this spiritual crusade has particular interest for young people, all are invited, said the Rev. J. William Arnett, pastor. There will be a fellowship for young people and adults alike following the service this evening.

During the summer the five young men, all students, plan to travel in Western states to assist in evangelistic meetings, vacation Bible schools, and in church mission work. Big Spring laymen, with the blessing of the executive board of the Big Spring Baptist Association, are supporting their ministry.

On the team are: Don Anderson, president of the Howard County Junior College freshman class, who surrendered to the ministry Jan. 1, 1965. He is missions chairman of the HCJC chapter of the Baptist Student Union, has worked on the International Evangelism Corps, and on teams which held services in Salem Baptist, Hillcrest Baptist and Vincent Baptist churches.

Charlie Price, Pampa, is on the HCJC basketball team, chairman of the BSU, active in several youth revivals, and is originator of the Western states tour idea. He is song leader and fellowship chairman.

Lathan Wood, youngest member of the team, is a senior in Coahoma High School, is organizer for his church, participated in the Youth for Christ Crusade last year, has auditioned for a scholarship in music at North Texas State University. He will serve as pianist and vocalist.

Monty Clendenin, Vincent, was named as star rebounder on the 1964 Big Spring High basketball team, surrendered to the ministry on Easter 1963, helped organize the Youth Crusade last year, and is active in BSU at HCJC.

Record Confirmation Class

A record-size class of 120 received the sacrament of confirmation in rites held here last week at St. Thomas Catholic Church. In the group were 15 adults, and they, as well as children, each had sponsors. Here to celebrate the mass was the Most Rev. Thomas J. Drury, bishop of the San Angelo diocese, assisted by the Rev. Robert J. McDermott, pastor.

New Dimension For Trucking Firm

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—The Rev. Homer Good's parish covers 15 widely separated states and Canada.

The 51-year-old Baptist minister is full-time chaplain-counselor for the Hennis Freight Lines, a trucking firm based here.

The field of industrial chaplaincy is a relatively new one and has been called "industry's new dimension."

The Rev. Mr. Good left a comfortable pastorate in nearby Kernersville a year ago after nearly a quarter of a century in the pulpit.

"I've never tried to make employees think we have a minister," he says. "As a matter of fact, maybe I've bent over the other way so that they do not consider me just as a minister."

He describes his work this way: "I have the church at work and the individual's family minister has the church at worship."

S.H. Mitchell started Hennis in 1946 driving the firm's first truck. "At that time," he recalled, "it was no major undertaking to spend the necessary time in helping employees solve their individual problems."

Nearly two decades later, the firm has 2,700 employees working out of 54 terminals. More than 1,200 of these employees work in Winston-Salem.

In explaining the need for counselors in industry, the Rev. Mr. Good said "the ministers are burdened with more than they can do today" in running a church, raising funds and performing other pastoral functions.

The company chaplain's task, he said, "is to just be here when you're needed."

In a recent month he spent 76 hours counseling employees. He conducts a voluntary worship service at the Winston-Salem terminal each Monday, fulfills speaking engagements, serves as relief pastor and travels periodically to the company's other terminals.

He uses the company's executive plane when necessary, and is called on by the company to notify families when there are injuries or deaths in accidents. Jean Ogden, who has worked at Hennis since 1949, said it is "a very definite asset to the company to have someone trained in counseling."

"The impact of the Rev. Mr. Good's work has been tremendous," she said. "It has resulted in a closer relationship among all employees. Problems between workers have become less serious."

The Rev. Mr. Good, a native of Tennessee, was graduated from North Carolina's Davidson College. He is married and the father of four children. One of his sons, Homer Good Jr., is in sales work for another trucking company in Richmond, Va.

LCC To Begin Construction

Groundbreaking ceremonies have been set for Saturday, March 13, for the new Lubbock Christian College cafeteria-student center.

The ceremony is designed to honor Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hancock who donated over $150,000 worth of Hancock Company stock to the cafeteria fund drive. "Campus Center" will be named after the Hancock's daughter, Betty, a Texas Tech student who was killed in an automobile accident in 1954.

This donation pushed the fund drive over the top. According to Dr. F. W. Mattox, LCC president, the drive will continue because the building alone will cost $300,000. The college will need, he said, an additional $50,000 for equipment, furnishings, walkways and landscaping.

The board of the First Christian Church has voted to fill the post of associate pastor as soon as possible.

The Rev. Ron Hansen, who has been in this place for the past year, has accepted a call to Bay City as pastor of the First Christian Church. The Rev. John Black, minister of the church here, said that contacts would be made immediately with the view of extending a call as soon as possible.

PARABLES TELL STORY

Jesus uses parables to illustrate requirements for salvation. The Sunday school lesson for March 14 is taken from the text in Matthew 21:28-31; 22: 1-14, and titled "Inheritors of the Kingdom."

The parable of the son who belatedly did his father's bidding indicates that it is never too late, as long as one is living, to accept Christ and enter the Kingdom of Heaven. The wedding guest parable shows ignorance may often be excused, but that the man who deliberately refuses to meet requirements is not acceptable in the Kingdom of God.

Frazier Speaks

Bruce Frazier will be guest speaker for the Young Adults Bible Class at the Anderson Street Church of Christ Sunday. David Tarbet, minister, said all members are urged to attend and visitors are welcomed.

Monty Clendenin, Vincent, was named as star rebounder on the 1964 Big Spring High basketball team, surrendered to the ministry on Easter 1963, helped organize the Youth Crusade last year, and is active in BSU at HCJC.

While this spiritual crusade has particular interest for young people, all are invited, said the Rev. J. William Arnett, pastor. There will be a fellowship for young people and adults alike following the service this evening.

During the summer the five young men, all students, plan to travel in Western states to assist in evangelistic meetings, vacation Bible schools, and in church mission work. Big Spring laymen, with the blessing of the executive board of the Big Spring Baptist Association, are supporting their ministry.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

We don't consider it eavesdropping to "hear" our children's prayers. Nor is it too much trouble! In fact, it is part of our responsibility to God.

For Mollie and Ted are His children, too. Parents are partners with—not substitutes for—our Heavenly Father.

It is this sense of partnership that has brought faith and the Church into the life of our family. We are not foolishly depending on our mere adulthood to inspire character in them. We do not command that they do what we say, not what we do. And we never sit at home while they are in Church, as though the truth they have gone to seek weren't worth a grownup's effort.

We figure God wants us at the listening post, to monitor their spiritual searchings, to share with them the blessings He has given us all.

DEMONSTRATION RULINGS

Vary With Geography

'No' In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gave orders today that any future sit-in demonstrators at the White House be evicted promptly regardless of the cause they support.

This decision in the wake of Thursday's sit-in by 12 Negro and white youths, who felt the federal government wasn't doing enough for the civil rights cause in Selma, Ala., underlay still another presidential decision to open the White House to public tours again today. The demonstrators had posed as tourists to gain entry.

Johnson and his aides reasoned that the question of further demonstrations had to be met squarely. They regarded today's 10 a.m. to noon tours as a test.

The decisions were not arrived at easily or quickly, however. The pioneering sit-in group was permitted to remain in the White House for more than seven hours before the last of their number were "walked" to police cruisers and taken to station houses where they were booked on charges of unlawful entry, then released.

This delay partly reflected time consumed in a series of high level conferences which led to what Johnson regarded as a "consensus" decision to evict the youths and take similar steps more quickly in the event of a repetition of such an incident.

Greets Demonstrators

'Yes' In Alabama

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach says he's ready to enforce any court order forbidding police interference with Selma, Ala., demonstrators seeking to insure Negroes' voting rights.

He does not foreclose the possibility of the government's using federal troops to do so. And he foresees swift federal prosecution of any Alabama state and local officers he feels are responsible for Sunday's bloody violence against Negro demonstrators.

These were the key developments Thursday at the attorney general's first news conference since assuming the nation's top law office Feb. 13.

Referring to a federal court hearing on a suit by Negroes demanding an unimpeded march from Selma to Montgomery, Katzenbach said: "I think our position would be pretty clear. The court issues an order — I would hope and believe that order would be complied with. In the event it was not complied with, it would be enforced."

Katzenbach said he has no doubt federal law was violated in Sunday's demonstration when clubs, horses and tear gas were used to rout the civil rights marchers.

Rainmaker Promises Dawson County 18 Inches Moisture

LAMESA (SC)—"Rain Inc." is seeking pledges totaling $16,200 by Monday in order to pick up an option on the services of a Texas rainmaker who guarantees he will double Dawson County's average rainfall average over a six-month period.

The rainmaker is Don Brunton, Amarillo inventor, who offered to try his system here for an outright expenditure of $3,200—his initial capital outlay and operating expense.

If he succeeds in doubling the moisture measurements, based on a six-month average of the past five years, the organization would owe him an additional $13,000.

"Rain Inc." is willing to take the risk and has mailed out pleas for pledges, returnable as soon as possible, but no later than Monday when the option expires.

Contributions are being accepted by First National and Lamesa National banks of Lamesa and by G. K. McDonald, who is spearheading the fund push.

The organization, which has been given Brunton the green light on constructing a 50 kilowatt ground ion generator, although no contract will be signed unless the full amount of the operation is subscribed from Dawson County residents.

A spokesman for the organization said the county's average rainfall for the critical mid-year months is about "nine inches." Therefore, Brunton would have to produce at least 18 inches which is more than the county normally receives in a full calendar year.

Brunton met with interested citizens in a session several days ago, outlining his proposed method in detail. The Amarilloan, who has 133 patents registered, would generate ionized gas to the atmosphere, feeding low-lying clouds. His apparatus, constructed inside a disposable jet plane tank would operate automatically one hour out of every six and reportedly is large enough to accommodate the entire county. It is about 12 feet tall.

Originally, Dawson County, which produced 95,000 bales of cotton in 1964 compared to more than 150,000 the previous year, had discussed seeding clouds by airplane with a silver iodide solution.

After Brunton guaranteed his highly technical operation, "Rain Inc." formed to get the ball rolling. Spokesmen said they were impressed with Brunton's "sincerity."

Dawson County had only 10 inches of moisture in 1964 and has received a negligible amount so far in 1965. "Rain Inc." is pushing for an early attempt to produce rain for pre-planting purposes.

Girl Scout Program Given

Girl Scouts and Brownies were featured at the Big Spring Kiwanis Club Thursday, as the club paid its tribute to National Girl Scout Week.

Mrs. R. D. Tindol, Girl Scout leader, presided at the program which was introduced by Jim Thompson. She told the Kiwanians there are 730 girls enrolled in the Girl Scout Program in Howard County and that 213 adults serve as advisors, leaders and committee members.

A group of Girl Scouts and Brownies spoke on the activities and aims of the program. Announcement was made that club attendance during February had reached 98.2 per cent for a near record. In the past, average attendance has been about 80 per cent, Bob Travis, club president said.

He served as Scurry County Democratic chairman in 1952, resigning to run for representative. He served from that county in the legislature in 1953-55. He retired from law practice two years ago.

Funeral was to be at 3 p.m. Friday at the Snyder First Baptist Church.

The contestants will be from Big Spring and Garden City. This year's judges will be Sam Anderson, school superintendent, the Rev. James Puckett, and Bob Lindley of KWAB-TV. The first place winner will receive a trophy and will represent Big Spring in the zone contest which will be held in Big Spring April 16. Board To Move Rapidly If Voters Approve Bond Issue

If voters approve a $500,000 bond issue for new buildings at Howard County Junior College on March 20, the board will move rapidly to translate this into actual construction.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, told the board Thursday that all possible was being done to get out a representative vote on March 20. At the same time, architects are clearing with College Facilities Act administrators in order to complete working drawings. These should be ready in advance of July 1 when HCJC hopes to hear that it will get a $304,000 grant to go with the bond funds and thus finance new science and library buildings, as well as the HCJC share in a field house for Memorial Stadium. Remodeling of the present library and science wing into classrooms will be done out of operational funds.

PANEL DUE

The Southern Association of Colleges Committee named to check on the completion of a two-year self-valuation study by the HCJC faculty and administration will meet here April 4-7, said Dr. Hunt. The committee will meet with the board the evening of April 5. Copies of the study were distributed to board members.

Two members—John A. Coffey and Dr. Charles Warren—were named to serve on a local committee to hear proposals from owners of the Settles and Crawford Hotels concerning possibility of converting the facilities into economic opportunity vocational schools. The board was non-committal on the proposals but noted it should be looked into.

RESIGNATIONS

Two resignations were accepted with regret. Joe Chance, math instructor, resigned to complete work on his Ph. D., and the board went on record as giving him priority in consideration if a vacancy occurs when he completes his degree requirements. Mrs. Chris (Florene) Watson, whose husband formerly was district manager here for Phillips Oil and has been transferred to Berger, asked to be relieved after June 1. Speaking of her five years with the college, she observed: "I am convinced there is no better faculty, administration or board of trustees with whom to work than those at HCJC. I shall always remember HCJC fondly and be grateful for what it has given me."

Three salary adjustments to conform with the schedule were approved. John R. Harley, social science, and Jack H. Dunn, foreign languages, were advanced $100 for serving as department chairmen, and Jack Hendrix was given $250 for credit on additional work towards his Ph. D. degree.

Next meeting of the board will be March 22 to canvass results of the bond election.

Hospital Group Leaders Praise Aged Care Plan

The presidents of the Texas Hospital Association and Texas Medical Association today praised the State of Texas for providing what they described as an outstanding program of health care for the aged which ranks as "one of the finest in the nation."

T. H. Morrison Jr., Harlingen, president of the Texas Hospital Association, and Dr. Max E. Johnson, San Antonio, president of the Texas Medical Association, pointed out that more than 250,000 elderly under the plan have been admitted to Texas hospitals since the Kerr-Mills program was placed into operation on Jan. 1, 1962 for recipients of Old Age Assistance.

The Old Age Assistance Medical Care program was adopted in Texas in 1961 and was put into operation Jan. 1, 1962. It provided health care for the aged, who receive Old Age Assistance, and were therefore unable to provide this care for themselves, they said.

They reported that there has been 253,313 hospital admissions under the provisions of the program during the past three years. The state has provided them with hospital and medical services totaling $60,205,632 in three years. They praised the state Department of Public Welfare, which has used federal and state matching funds to purchase health insurance contracts from Blue Cross of Texas for 299,000 recipients of Old Age Assistance. Approximately 30 per cent of the state's 65-and-over population are covered under the program.

By screening patients to make sure none are admitted unnecessarily or that none are kept in hospitals when nursing-home care would serve just as well, cost has been kept low as possible, thus broadening coverage for all, he said.

Man In Collision Given Treatment

Robert C. Lampe, Midland, was taken to Malone and Hogan Clinic for treatment of minor injuries and was released following a two-car collision at West Third and Galveston Streets Thursday afternoon. According to police, the car driven by Lampe collided with a vehicle driven by Roland L. Lowe, Sterling City.

One other minor mishap was reported to police Thursday, at East Third and State Streets. Cars involved were driven by Elisha Downey, 508 N. Bell, and Jimmy Hopper, 410 E. 18th.

Gold Hunters Plan Aerial Survey Today

SALADO (AP) — Gold hunters equipped with electronic devices planned an aerial survey Friday which they hope will pinpoint the legendary treasures of the Salado cliffs.

A spokesman for the operation said an airplane carrying Laser-Maser equipment will criss-cross the limestone plateau and chart possible treasure.

Results of the aerial inspection are expected early next week.

Jim Martin, Dallas, former business manager for Mrs. Marina Oswald, widow of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, has joined the expedition.

He said he was hired by Guerra Enterprises and International Explorers, who are spearheading the search, and will be news spokesman.

Martin said yesterday the metal detecting equipment being put in use "could take a lot of guesswork out of treasure hunting."

He described the Laser as a device using light and heat to locate and identify subterranean metals. The Maser, Martin said, achieves similar results through micro-waves.

The spokesman identified the owner of the devices as O. W. Fitz of Houston and said a previous aerial survey by Fitz produced indications of precious metals here.

The fortune hunters expanded their operations, now at three sites, all within several hundred yards of their hilltop headquarters.

The major target area remains deep within the rocky cliff where laborers have drilled and dynamited a 70-foot tunnel.

The group also has forged 15 feet into a second tunnel which Martin said was stumbled on by members of the exploration team. He said a boulder covered the bluff-side entrance which appeared to have been sealed by hand many years ago.

Heavy equipment was pushed into service atop the bluff in an effort to reach purported Spanish treasure rooms by a different approach.

Down from the bluff area, a

Health-Care Costs Set At $2.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of the proposed multiple health-care plan has been estimated at $2.3 billion, but only about $600 million of this would be charged to the regular government budget, it was understood today.

The figures were reported to have been submitted to the House Ways and Means Committee which is prolonging its consideration of the complex plan combining elements of President Johnson's proposals and a program advanced by Wisconsin Rep. John W. Byrnes and other Republicans.

The committee is discussing a novel income tax arrangement designed to recoup for the Treasury some or all of the government contribution to the major medical segment of the plan when the beneficiaries have enough income to be liable to taxes.

The tentative plan calls for a hospitalization and nursing home segment that would be paid for by an increase in the payroll tax. This had been estimated to cost, initially, about $1.8 billion a year, outside the regular budget.

The next segment would be a form of major medical insurance helping with doctor and drug bills. It would be optional. A retired person wishing to join would allot $3 a month from his Social Security benefit, and the government would match it. The basic Social Security benefit would be increased under the bill so no one would wind up with less cash income than he now receives.

The income tax recouping would be effected by reducing the basic personal exemption of retired persons who chose to avail themselves of this part of the plan. For those whose income was so small that they paid no tax, this would have no effect. The higher the income, the greater the recouping by the government.

In general, the recouping would not be felt by anyone whose gross income did not exceed $1,500, in addition to any tax-exempt income, such as Social Security payments under present law. Only about 4 million of the 18 million persons now 65 or older now are obliged to file tax returns.

Persons 65 or older now have a personal tax exemption of $1,200. The proposal would reduce this to $1,100 or $1,050 — the figure still is under discussion.

Social Security specialists estimate that the additional income tax brought in by such a reduction, balanced against the government's share of the cost of the major medical insurance, would amount to a net government liability of about $400 million.

Washington Frustrated, Annoyed With De Gaulle

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The attitude of Washington officials toward the actions of French President Charles de Gaulle ranges from annoyance to acute frustration. At the moment acute frustration is on the increase. This could have become explosively apparent in recent days were it not for the fact that President Johnson decided long ago against open quarreling with De Gaulle because he wants to minimize damage to the Atlantic Alliance and to long-term French-American relations. Frustration has swelled behind the scenes, however, because many officials are convinced De Gaulle's present active diplomacy has the effect of undermining U.S. war policy in Viet Nam.

The problem is not that France wants a peaceful settlement, they say. The problem, as they see it, is that France is pressing hard for immediate negotiations to end the war at a time when the United States is increasing military pressure on the Communists in an effort to create more favorable conditions for negotiation.

Press reports obviously emanating from official sources in Paris earlier this week represented the view of the De Gaulle government as being that (1) Neutralization of South Viet Nam offers the only possible solution; (2) Continuation of the conflict by the United States risks a major war with Red China; (3) If the United States gets into a war with Red China, France will have no part of it.

Genius and insanity, it has many times been said, are blood relations. I have evidence to support the theory that inspiration and ignorance are next of kin. Part of my evidence is submitted today.

No, gentle reader, I have not changed my bidding style. The diagram above provides the exact sequence of calls when I saw the hand played. Mr. South found this system very effective in auction days and he has seen no reason to change his methods with the passing of the years.

West elected to lead dummy's suit and the two of diamonds came out briskly. Dummy played low and East went into a prolonged huddle during which West showed manifest symptoms of annoyance. It was apparent to him that the only card that would present his partner with a problem was the king and he was naturally rooting inwardly for East to win the trick.

After extensive fumbling, the nine of diamonds came forth to be taken by declarer's ten. This was almost too much for West, who violated any number of tenets by expressing his opinion of his partner then and there. Decorum was reestablished and play continued. Try as he would, declarer was unable to take more than eight tricks.

The diamond suit could never be brought in for, while South had two entries in dummy to establish the suit, he lacked the third which was required to cash it. Had East gone up with the king at trick one, the dummy's suit could have been established in one more lead and the contract easily fulfilled.

As a matter of technique, I think East's play was correct. South is marked with one diamond. If it is the ace, the king play cannot be fruitful. If it is a low card, the nine will win and, if it is the ten, nothing will be lost, since there is no fear of blocking partner's diamonds.

After the hand was played, I mused at what might have happened had the final contract been six clubs. When declarer led a low diamond off dummy, I wonder if East would have played the king second hand? That's what it would have taken to defeat the contract. You may doubt it, but I have a feeling that he would have. Perhaps he couldn't give you the reason as in the play of the nine of diamonds, but I just have a hunch he would have come up with the ace.

Only Few Big Leaguers Are Still Unsigned

By The Associated Press

The list of unsatisfied major league baseball players was dwindling fast today following the signing of veteran shortstop Luis Aparicio by the Baltimore Orioles and southpaw Jim Kaat by the Minnesota Twins.

When Kaat signed for an estimated $26,000 Thursday and the 30-year-old Aparicio agreed to a salary of about $27,500, only four first-line players remained unsigned.

Still trying to get together with their bosses are Richie Allen, the Phillies' sensational third base rookie last season; veteran outfielder Wes Covington, also of Philadelphia, and Felix Torres, Los Angeles Angels third baseman. Of course, there also is Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente, but he is at his Puerto Rico home convalescing from malaria fever.

Kaat, who had been training at Orlando, Fla., but not with the Twins, received a raise of some $8,500 over last season, when he posted a 17-11 record and a 3.22 earned run average.

Aparicio based his demand for more money on a 1964 record of a career high of 19 homers, a batting average of .266 and finishing No. 1 in the American League in stolen bases for the ninth straight season. He stole 37 last year.

The Phillies and Allen and Covington remained far apart. Most of the other clubs were all set for the first full-scale schedule of exhibition games Saturday.

Cleveland launched its spring-training agenda in Mexico Tuesday night and Thursday the New York Yankees, using their home-run trademark to an advantage, whipped the Washington Senators 4-3 at Pompano Beach, Fla.

Goliad Triumphs Over Cee City

Goliad's girls defeated Colorado City, 15-3, 4-15, 15-5 in a volleyball match here earlier this week.

The win followed a 15-7, 10-15, 15-8 victory the Mavericks achieved at the expense of Snyder Lamar in a previous contest.

Oklahoma State Is Favored In Kansas

Oklahoma State — but not by much. In fact, Wichita Coach Gary Thompson says there is no favorite. "For the first time in five or six years, there is no clear-cut favorite," said Thompson, who took the Wheatshockers to the Missouri Valley championship in his first year as coach after a long apprenticeship under the departed Ralph Miller.

"There is no one outstanding team, no team that stands above the others," he said after the Shockers went through their last drill before tonight's regional semifinals. "The team that puts together the best back-to-back efforts will win it."

The pairings have Oklahoma State, 19-7, playing Houston, 19-8, and Wichita, 19-6, meeting Southern Methodist, 16-9. The winners play Saturday for a spot in the national semifinals at Portland, Ore., next week.

None of the teams are ranked nationally and the field appears to be the lightest and best balanced of the four regionals.

Oklahoma State has the best record in the Midwest and nailed down the biggest plum — the Big Eight title. It was the one jewel that had eluded Iba in his long career that includes more than 700 victories, 14 Missouri Valley titles, two NCAA championships and an Olympic gold medal team.

His team is the usual Iba aggregation. It concentrates on defense, plays a slow, cautious, waiting offense, wins the close ones and is exceptionally well-coached.

The Cowboys use a tough skinking man-to-man defense that has allowed only 55.6 points a game. Probably the most impressive statistics — in a tourney such as this — is their ability in the clutch. They have won in one, three and four overtimes, and have lost only twice since December.

Their biggest problem is lack of height, with 6-7 Gene Johnson and 6-3 Jim King the big men. The scoring is well balanced, Johnson averaging 19.2, King — the best defensive player — 12.4, Gary Hassman, 12.5 and Larry Hawk 11.2. Iba's nephew, Skip, is the fifth man.

Houston, with good depth, plays a fast break game with full-court defense. Southern Methodist, which won a playoff for the right to represent the Southwest Conference, has the best rebounding. Backcourt man Kelly Pete is the ace of the Wichita team. He averages 16.5 points a game.

Willie Pep, the ancient featherweight boxing champion, looked so good in a recent exhibition in an outlying arena near Miami last month he'll risk his life for real in an eight-man bout March 18.

Coahoma High School's heaviest football player next fall, in all probability, will be Tom Stoker, a tackle who now tips the scales at about 190 pounds.

Lawrence Atkins, the Baylor phenom, is the Southwest Conference's first consensus All-American footballer since Doak Walker. Walker made most of the All-America teams three years running.

When Doug Atkins got to the University of Tennessee, he told coaches he didn't think he'd go out for football. He preferred basketball.

Coach Bob Meyland called him in and told him to play football or dribble on back where he came from. Atkins, of course, went on to become one of the defensive greats in the National Football League.

Ex-Big Spring B. B. Lees, now head football coach at Eastern New Mexico University, begins his spring workouts May 3.

That means he won't wind up until the fading days of the month. He's set his annual intra-squad game for May 28. Lees' 1964 club won four and lost five. Only five seniors were lost after last season.

Steers, Wolves Launch Series

Colorado City's Wolves come down to town today to square off with the Big Spring Steers in a 4 o'clock exhibition baseball game.

The Steers repay the visit with a 1 p.m. game Saturday. The Steers will be seeking their second win in three starts today, having split a doubleheader with Andrews last week. Colorado City will be opening its season.

Colorado City, coached by Truman Nix, is the only school in District 5-AA fielding a baseball team. For that reason, the first 14 games the Wolves play this season will be for the exercise. Nix's club will qualify for bi-district competition automatically.

Co-captains of the Cee City outfit this year are Corky McAdams and Perry Millasp. In bi-district competition on down the line, Colorado City will oppose either Seymour or Olney. Those are the only two teams active in District 6-AA. Class AA teams don't play toward the state championship, only to Regional.

Nix has eight lettermen returning from last season but is faced with mound problems. Probable starters for Colorado City today include Reggie Noble at third base, Millasp behind the plate, McAdams in center field, Larry Curry in right field, Ronald Hillhouse at second base, David McKay at shortstop, Mike Mundy in left field and Wayne Snowden at first base.

Skipper Warren likely will start on the mound today for the Wolves. Coach Roy Baird of Big Spring is apt to go with a lineup consisting of Yogi Anderson or Eddie Crittenden behind the plate, Hank Pope on the mound, Gregg Pate at second, Johnny Thomas or Sammy Mims at shortstop, Howard Bain at third base, Jesse Zapata in left field, Van Tom Whately in center and Berry King or Jerry Wilson in right.

BOYS First Team: James Ray, Aspermont; Joe Boss, Aspermont; David Frazier, Aspermont; Joe Kelley, Roton; Dan Daniel, Roby. Second Team: Larry Kelley, Roton; Charles Dammheim, Merkel; Jackie Reynolds, Merkel; Don Bardeen, Wylie; Tony Butler, Coahoma.

Bruins Face Big Challenge In Playoffs

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer

Has Cazzie Russell of Michigan fully recovered from the flu? Will Bill Bradley of Princeton be back in top form? Will UCLA be able to spoil Brigham Young's perfect home-court record?

Will St. Joseph's of Philadelphia revenge its only defeat of the season by Providence? The answers to these questions will be forthcoming tonight as the NCAA post-season tournament that determines the national collegiate basketball champion goes into high gear with eight games at four regional sites.

St. John's of New York and Manhattan got the weekend competition off to an early start Thursday night with first-round victories in the opening of the National Invitation, the second major post-season tourney.

St. John's crushed Boston College 114-82 and Manhattan whipped Texas Western 71-53 before 16,098 at Madison Square Garden in New York.

Russell didn't play in Michigan's defeat by Ohio State last Monday and the chances of the nation's top-ranked Wolverines against Dayton hinge largely on his play. The teams play at Lexington, Ky., after fifth-ranked Vanderbilt battles DePaul.

Bradley, the Collegiate Player of the year, and his Ivy League champion teammates play against N.C. State at College Park, Md. Princeton's hopes are built around Bradley and he wasn't in his usual top form Monday although he scored the key points in the Tigers' 60-58 victory over Penn State.

St. Joseph's, 26-1 with a 16-game winning streak, lost its only game 65-41 to Providence on the Friars' home court in January and the Hawks have vowed to turn the tables. Their meeting, pitting the third-ranked team in The Associated Press poll against the No. 4 club, follows the N.C. State-Princeton game at College Park.

UCLA, the defending NCAA champion and disappointed over being ranked second to Michigan in the final AP poll of the season, battles Brigham Young at Provo, Utah, where the Cougars haven't lost all season.

Keith Erickson, UCLA defensive ace, had a touch of the flu this week and John Fairchild, BYU's star, has a sore ankle, but both are expected to play. In the first game at Provo, San Francisco meets Oklahoma City.

Southern Methodist plays Wichita and Oklahoma State opposes Houston in a doubleheader at Manhattan, Kan., to round out the NCAA play.

Also on tap tonight is the final of the NCAA small-college tournament at Evansville, Ind., with the unbeaten Evansville Aces trying for their second straight national title. Their opponent is Southern Illinois, a team beaten twice, each time by one point, by Evansville during the regular season.

Runnels Splits With Forsan JH

The Runnels eighth grade volleyball team defeated the Forsan eight graders Thursday, 15-13, 13-15 and 15-7.

Viola Barrera was high point server for the Runnels team with 15 points. The Runnels seventh grade team was not as lucky, losing to the Forsan girls, 15-12 and 15-13. Carol Grimsley was high point server for the Runnels team with nine points.

Western KO'd By Manhattan

By MURRAY CHASS Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Lapchick, who will be 65 years old one month from today, jumped out from the bench and slapped 19-year-old Sonny Dove on the back as his St. John's sophomore star ran by on his way downcourt to another rebound.

Time was in, and the National Invitation basketball tournament game with Boston College wasn't 10 minutes old, but that didn't stop Lapchick from showing his delight over the Red-men's strong early showing.

"If you're alive, they're alive," Lapchick said afterward. "If you're animated, the kids will be animated."

Lapchick remained alive the rest of the way, and St. John's animated its way to a 114-92 triumph over Bob Cousy's Boston College quintet in the second game of the NIT's opening doubleheader Thursday night.

Manhattan outtraced Texas Western 71-53 and moved, with St. John's, into a quarter-final doubleheader Monday night.

Manhattan will meet top-seeded Villanova after which St. John's will battle second-seeded New Mexico.

Lapchick, who retires after this tournament, may receive some help for Monday's game from the coach he defeated.

"We had New Mexico scouted in the event we would have won," Cousy said. "I have the report with me."

Talking about his team's loss that ended a 13-game winning streak, the former pro star said: "Dove was the whole thing. Ken McIntyre is a fine shooter, but Dove controlled both boards. We're a running team, and we couldn't run."

Dove scored 23 points, 16 in the first half when St. John's shot to a 50-36 lead, and snared 16 rebounds. McIntyre had the best scoring game of his career, pouring in 42 points.

Their combined play overshadowed the brilliant shooting performance of Boston's John Austin, who threw in 40 points.

Hawks Eye Laredo Crown

Hawks Start Run On Marks Today

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—A dozen junior colleges were expected to start a record binge in opening the 33rd Border Olympics today.

Howard County's Hawks which have been winning the championship so long no athletes from when it first started are around, is heavily favored to do it again and also participate in the record-smashing. It will be sparring around mostly, however, since there are few finals of the schedule. There are none in the high school class that has its preliminaries this afternoon.

This starts the build-up for the real attractions—the battle of 10 universities and a like number of colleges for championships in their classes tomorrow.

Rice, the Southwest Conference champion, is favored to win the university division title away from University of Houston but not without a tremendous fight from Texas A&M and Abilene Christian College.

And the big record is anticipated in this division since Randy Matson, the Texas A&M sophomore shot putter, will be the featured attraction. Matson will be after the shot put mark of 58-9 1/2 Saturday night. He is a consistent 66-foot thrower.

Texas Southern returns to seek its sixth straight college division title, expecting a hefty struggle from Lamar Tech to prevent such a thing. The Texas Southern 440 and mile relay teams, each likely to set a record, could prove the difference.

The junior colleges and high schools hold their finals Saturday afternoon. San Antonio Highlands is the defending champion in the high school class but isn't expected to make it against the mighty challenges of San Antonio Wheatley, Houston San Jacinto and Corpus Christi Ray.

Conley Brown of San Jacinto, who dips under 48 seconds in the quarter-mile, and Clyde Glosson of Wheatley, who runs 100 yards in 9.5, are due to lead the schoolboy record parade.

HCJC holds eight records in the Border Olympics and two other Hawks share the record in the 100-yard dash with Fred Reuther of Victory. They are Herman Robinson and A. J. Williams. Each ran the century in 9.7.

HCJC's best bets for records in this year's meet appear to be Steve Langham in the quarter mile and Julio Martinez in the mile.

HCJC entries hold marks exclusively in the 220, 440, high hurdles, intermediate hurdles, broad jump, discus throw, sprint relay and mile relay.

The records:

Favors Getting Networks Out

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Montgomery, actor and producer who served President Dwight D. Eisenhower as television consultant, calls the TV cameras as "mass lie detectors," revealing more of a man's character when he is unexpectedly caught in an informal moment than during planned appearances.

Specifically, Montgomery referred to situations where a public figure was filmed at an airport, leaving a courthouse or committee hearing and brushing aside questions and microphones — all in sharp contrast to his charming, winsome manners under studio conditions.

"I think the public sees the difference," Montgomery said. "And I think it carries impact."

Montgomery, after a successful "I would have been on the air still, I think, if I had consented to giving a network a share in my show," he said. "I say it is virtually impossible today to get a show on a major network without giving the network a piece of it."

Quinn Likes Label Of 'Only American'

LONDON (AP) — The fact he is the only American nominated for an Oscar as best actor this year is a source of pleasure to Anthony Quinn.

"It means," he said in an interview, "that I'm accepted as an American at last. The Americans regard me as one of themselves. That's the most exciting thing that's ever happened to me."

Quinn won his Oscar nomination for "Zorba, the Greek," a movie he says was made with "spit and love and a little talent" and of which he owns one-third. The movie has collected seven Oscar nominations in various categories.

Quinn's rivals for the leading actor award are British — Peter Sellers, Rex Harrison, Richard Burton and Peter O'Toole.

Quinn was asked why his position as the only American in the list was so exciting to him. Outside the United States he has always been taken for American.

"My mother was Mexican," he said, "and my father was Irish. As a kid in Los Angeles I always had to decide whether to fight for the Mexicans or the Irish. But I always thought of myself as American. I mean, I'd lived there all my life. It never occurred to me that I was anything else."

DEAR ABBY Better Talk To Him

DEAR ABBY: I've been happily married for 18 years and now I find myself hurt and disappointed.

A girl where my husband works gave him a shirt for Valentine's Day because she thought he was a "nice guy." He said he was surprised. Since then she told him that her husband had left her. Also that all men were rats and in time he would cheat on his wife, too.

Now my husband bought HER a present for her birthday because she's a "nice girl" and he feels sorry for her. I told him he was a married man and had no business buying her a present, and if he loved me he wouldn't give it to her. Well, he gave it to her anyway.

Should I get the girl's phone number and call her up and tell her she's making trouble? Sign me, "HURT"

DEAR HURT: Don't call her. She'd only go crying to your husband. His "protective" instincts would be aroused and it would be them against you. What you need is a better line of communication with your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter just married a man with two children. He supposedly got his divorce in New York State. He claims that he does not have to support his children. We think that is very unusual, don't you? We have reason to believe that this man is not divorced. We consulted the sheriff in our county and he wasn't able to tell us how we could go about finding out if this man was divorced or not. Can you give us a clue as to how we can get this information? It's very important.

CONCERNED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Consult a lawyer. If a divorce exists, it will not be difficult to prove.

DEAR ABBY: I invited my friends over for potluck lunch and what I hoped would be an enjoyable afternoon as I had planned games and entertainment for them.

To my surprise, after the lunch, one woman took out her knitting, and another woman had her needlework. (I didn't ask anyone to bring their work as I had other plans.) I was just sick, and didn't know what to do, so I just kept still. It spoiled everything for the rest of the guests. Do you think I should have told them at the beginning that I didn't think they should sit and do their work at a party? Or was I right in letting them do as they pleased?

DISAPPOINTED IN PEOPLE
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: You should have gone ahead with the games and entertainment. My guess is that the knitting and needlework would have gone back in the bags.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21, in nurses' training, and have just become engaged to a fine young man who is a senior in college. We've gone together for three years. We plan to get married as soon as Stuart graduates in June. My problem is my mother. She wants me to have a big church wedding with a white gown and veil, bridesmaids and ushers and the whole bit. Stu and I don't want any big splash. All we want is a simple ceremony, performed by our pastor in the small chapel of our church. I am the only girl in my family (I have four brothers), and Mother says I "owe" it to her and Dad to have a big church wedding. I think it is a foolish waste of money and, besides, my father doesn't have that much. I hate to disappoint my mother, Abby, but do you think I should be made to have a big church wedding just because she wants to put on a big show for the relatives?

NO BIG SPLASH

DEAR NO: No. Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Two Die In Plane Crash

NEEDVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The crash of a private plane in a field near here claimed the lives of a Houston businessman and a Corpus Christi woman Thursday.

Fort Bend County authorities identified the victims as David O. Rudine Jr., 40, and Miss Theodora Judith Bustinza, 25.

House Members Can Swim Today In New Pool

WASHINGTON (AP) — House members can start taking their bathing suits to work today. Their new swimming pool, a hidden asset in the lavish new Rayburn Office Building, is open for pleasure.

The pool, tucked away on a subterranean garage level of the $86.4-million office building, was formally opened Thursday along with a handsome gym, packed full of equipment designed to relax and invigorate the legislators.

The location of the pool was well-kept secret during the years the building was under construction, and its cost is still unfigured. And when its existence was finally acknowledged it was referred to only as a "health exercise pool."

The healthful exercise can be carried on in a pool 60 feet long and 20 feet wide, in water deepening to 10 feet and kept at 80 degrees. It is three floors below the gym, connected by a stairway and elevator.

Even as the recreation facilities — featuring a gleaming expanse of hardwood gymnasium floor, marble trimmed baths worthy of a Roman solon, and the blue-tiled pool — were being dedicated, the Rayburn building was being defended on the House floor against what Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., called "appalling numbers of erroneous statements and unwarranted inferences, in news stories about it.

"It is designed to stand with time," said Steed, chairman of a subcommittee that appropriated most of the money for it. "No one need apologize if it has grandeur and majesty — that's what it ought to have."

A somewhat similar view was expressed by Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., former House Republican leader, at the dedication ceremonies, which President Johnson attended.

"No matter what the press says," Halleck told an appreciative audience of members, "for all the frustrations and abrasions that come from serving in Congress we're entitled to a few fringe benefits."

The President told the crowd: "I didn't come here for a workout. I get one every day in my job."
