HCJC Bonds Win Okay

Voters gave Howard County Junior College officials a bright green light for its building plans Saturday, signaling more than $1 for a $500,000 bond issue. The issue carried by wide margins in all three voting boxes — with an unofficial total vote of 993. All but 108 favored the issue.

Explosives Found In Bombing Plot

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Police investigating a plot to bomb the U.S. Embassy raided a house in Saigon Saturday and found 35 pounds of plastic explosives. A U.S. spokesman said first reports indicated the explosives were intended for use against an American installation.

near a city power transformer, slightly wounding a Vietnamese woman but doing no damage to the transformer. Another grenade exploded in the center of Da Nang, site of a U.S.-Vietnamese air base. No damage or casualties were reported.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

It appears that the training of new student pilots in small propeller craft will take place at Howard County Airport. Central American Airways Flying Service of Louisville, Ky., which submitted the low bid of $14.74 per flying hour, has designated the local port as its base. So had the second bidder, Hallmark, which was only 13 cents an hour behind. Howard County has promised to erect a $682 hangar and necessary ramps to accommodate the new facility which will be operated with 21 Air Force T-41s starting Aug. 1.

The raid on the house in Saigon came after the arrest of two Viet Cong agents caught riding a scooter truck toward the U.S. Embassy with 25 pounds of plastic explosives. Police quoted the men as saying their mission was to park the scooter outside the embassy and set a timer on the plastic explosives. Police reported the timer was set for noon, when Americans leave for lunch. Police said the explosion could have caused many casualties among pedestrians near the embassy.

Spring Arrives With Frostbite

By The Associated Press Spring arrived officially Saturday after the coldest final day of winter in Texas history. Forecasts called for fair weather and slowly rising temperatures in West and North Texas through Sunday. The southeast quarter of the state will be clear to partly cloudy with little change in the chilly weather before Monday.

Thousands Begin March With Federal Help Today

Johnson Sends 3,000 Troops

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, accusing Gov. George C. Wallace of shirking a "solemn responsibility" to protect civil rights marchers in Alabama, announced Saturday he has deployed more than 3,000 men — including some federal troops — to do the job. The Alabama racial situation dominated a Johnson news conference televised and broadcast nationally from the windswept front lawn of the President's ranch home near here.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, accusing Gov. George C. Wallace of shirking a "solemn responsibility" to protect civil rights marchers in Alabama, announced Saturday he has deployed more than 3,000 men — including some federal troops — to do the job. The Alabama racial situation dominated a Johnson news conference televised and broadcast nationally from the windswept front lawn of the President's ranch home near here.

Johnson, shunning hat or topcoat despite chill weather, began by reading a telegram in which he heaped scorn on Wallace's call for federal help in policing the Selma-Montgomery civil rights march that starts Sunday. Telling Wallace that preservation of law and order properly rests with state and local governments, Johnson said he had thought the governor felt strongly about this. But, he told the assembled newsmen, he was heading Wallace's appeal for federal help though "it is not a welcome duty to assume a state's solemn responsibility."

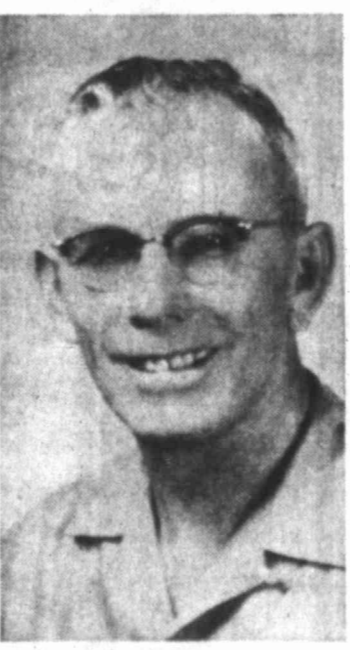

Nearly 1,900 Alabama National Guardsmen called into federal service before dawn, 100 agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, close to 100 U.S. marshals with more en route to Alabama, and more than 1,000 regular Army troops about evenly divided between bivouacs in Selma and Montgomery.

ARMY UNIT In addition, Johnson said, a reinforced Army battalion of about 1,000 men has been alerted for possible duty. And, he reported, the military will have available a full staff of doctors and nurses, backed up by a fleet of rescue helicopters and other aircraft, to man a 250-bed hospital in Montgomery and a 75-bed installation at Selma.

The President expressed hope the medical precautions would prove unnecessary and he recalled a statement in which Abraham Lincoln once said in troubled times "we are confident that we would be touched by the better angels of our nature." "That is my prayer for you," Johnson said.

Clyde McMahon Given Area Y's Highest Award

ARDMORE, Okla. — Clyde McMahon Sr., Big Spring, Tex., businessman, Friday evening received the Distinguished Service Award, the highest honor the Southwest Area Council of the YMCA confers. The presentation was made by Robert Maloney, general secretary of the Houston YMCA as a highlight of the Friday evening banquet of the annual area meeting at Lake Murray Lodge, near here. The DSA award went to W. E. Greer, Galveston attorney.

CLYDE McMAHON SR.

McMahon, caught totally by surprise by the award, was termed a "native son of West Texas — a humble, kind, soft-spoken" and a leader in his community as well as in Y work. Among those present at the occasion were James Tidwell, president of the Big Spring Y, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, delegates, and Curt Mullins, general secretary of the Big Spring Y. McMahon long has had a record of outstanding service to the YMCA on many fronts, in addition to a wide range of leadership in community affairs in general. He has served as a director of the Big Spring YMCA for over 10 years, being the first man to serve two terms as president (1955-56). He was on the long range planning committee

CLIMAX TUESDAY U.S. Schedules Space Twin Bill

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Spacecraft Ranger 9 sets sail for an ancient moon crater named Alphonsus Sunday to start a spectacular space doubleheader. The climax is due Tuesday with the world's first orbit-shifting manned space flight — a journey by astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young. Weather still was a question mark for the Grissom-Young flight, but Ranger 9 was given a green light Saturday after engineers corrected electronic difficulties in ground support equipment.

MORE PHOTOS The last of the Ranger series is set to surge skyward atop an Atlas-Agena rocket in a favorable firing period between 4:11 p.m. and 5:14 p.m. Sunday.

NO DECISION Operations Director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. said no decision on a weather postponement would be made until closer to firing time. Both shots are important stepping stones toward man's conquest of the moon and planets. The Cape Kennedy area, where excitement often runs high, was primed. More than 600 newsmen from around the world are here to cover the events — in contrast with the secrecy which shrouds Russian space flights. Both launchings will be nationally televised.

Predicts Victory For Voting Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., predicted Saturday that at least 80 senators will support the administration's voting rights bill when it comes up for Senate passage, possibly next month. Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said he does not expect any extended filibuster against the measure. It is aimed at making certain that Negroes are registered, vote and have their vote counted.

King To Lead Five-Day Hike

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Civil rights leaders mobilized thousands of followers Saturday for a historic march on Montgomery, 50 miles away, as the U.S. Army moved into position to protect the group on its long trek to the former capital of the Confederacy. As nightfall came to Selma, Army Jeeps made their rounds through the city of 30,000 dropping off single soldiers carrying rifles to direct troops coming into town to the National Guard Armory.

TIME CHANGED Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., will lead the procession. Negro leaders said Saturday night the starting time for the march has been changed to 10 a.m. CST. An interdenominational prayer service is planned earlier as a prelude to the five-day hike. The starting point will be the Browns Chapel A.M.E. Church, headquarters for the right-to-vote campaign which started two months ago in Selma. Hundreds of troops appeared to be camping around Memorial Stadium next to the armory, a mile and a half south of the city. Meantime, Robert M. Shelton, imperial wizard of the United Klans of America said the Ku Klux Klan will hold a mass meeting in Montgomery on Sunday to protest the Selma-to-Montgomery march. He said the meeting would be a "peaceful protest."

PREPARATIONS A cold wind swept down Sylvan Street Saturday while the march committee completed preparations. This will be the third start toward the state capital — a march to dramatize the Negro drive for the ballot. State troopers and mounted sheriff's officers beat back the first attempt with clubs and tear gas. A second attempt three days later was halted by arrangements made by King and officials before the march started. The marchers have been assured by President Johnson of safe conduct on the walk to Montgomery. A representative of the march committee, Shirley M. Mesher, San Francisco, told newsmen that between 4,000 and 5,000 persons are expected to be in the group which starts out from Selma.

II MILES The marchers, including ministers, nuns, white civil rights walkers as well as Negroes, plan to cover 11 miles the first day, then stop at Watson's Hill. In Montgomery Saturday, about 200 white persons walked to the federal building to protest the march. They carried placards saying, "Outside clergy, go home," "Pious Phobias, get off our backs." The protest was organized by leaders of the organization for better government. After hearing two speakers denounce the march, the white group disbanded.

CLEARED WAY A three-judge U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans, La., cleared away the last legal obstacle facing the marchers by rejecting a plea from Wallace to prevent the walk. U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Johnson Jr. ruled Wednesday that Wallace and Sheriff James G. Clark of Dallas County could not interfere with the march. He also ordered that they provide protection for the marchers. A federal judge in Mobile, Daniel H. Thomas, ordered the civil rights demonstrators to confine their activities to the immediate area of the Browns Chapel Church and the streets leading to City Hall and the courthouse. His order was prompted by repeated forays of civil rights workers Friday into a residential area near the house of Mayor Joseph T. Smitherman. The Rev. William Greer said that the order would be appealed "because all of Selma, all of Alabama, all of America, is our arena."

CUSTODY City police took 313 persons, mostly white, into protective custody after Friday's march to the mayor's house. The demonstrators were released a few hours later, but the demonstrators chose to remain overnight in the Negro Community Center behind the jail. Only 300 marchers will make the walk from the first campsite to the beginning of four-lane highway 13 miles out of Montgomery. Up to 20,000 persons are expected to join in the march for the last 13 miles, the march committee said.

Soviet Spaceship Lands In A Blaze

MOSCOW (AP) — The spaceship Voskhod 2 blazed into the earth's atmosphere in a fireball that burned away the outside antennas, then came to a soft landing in deep snow, Tass reported Saturday. The present whereabouts of Col. Pavel Belyayev and his copilot, Lt. Col. Alexei Leonov, remained a mystery. Tass said only that Belyayev and Leonov, who swam outside the spaceship in the 26-hour flight that ended Friday, "are resting amidst friends." It added that both felt fine and are under the supervision of doctors, a normal procedure after orbital flight.

OVERSHOT One reason for their silence may be that they landed near Perm, 725 miles northeast of Moscow and some 500 miles north of the landing spot of Voskhod 1 last October, indicating they overshoot their target. It would take time to get them to a debriefing area. The three-man crew of the spaceship Voskhod 1 was flown back to the launching site at Baikonur in central Asia shortly after landing in a pre-designated spot. Reports on Voskhod 2 said nothing about the landing site near Perm having been pre-designated. The fact that it is a heavily forested area covered with deep snow indicated it could hardly have been as logical a choice for a landing site as the plains of more southerly regions. The official announcement of the landing was delayed almost five hours. NOT REPORTED The two cosmonauts, more than 30 hours after their landing, had not yet been reported back at Baikonur. Soviet newspapers have carried no pictures of the pair following their return. In the past, the morning editions of the following day have published photographs made within a couple of hours of the landing. Similarly, Tass and other news media have had no reports from the landing site — who met them, how they were found and picked up, their first words and other details usually reported shortly after the landing. Belyayev and Leonov reported to the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party, the Presidium of Parliament and the Council of Ministers: "We feel excellent. Thank you very much for the trust you have placed in us."

NOON FRIDAY The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia and Tass reported that the cosmonaut squadron commander, Yuri Gagarin, spoke with Belyayev sometime after the landing at noon Friday. Asked where they are, Gagarin replied: "Well, as always they are in the embrace of the doctors. They are completely healthy, don't worry. Other specialists are with them too." Gagarin said "They are in the best of spirits, Alexei Leonov is singing and there is laughter all around."

Counties To Get More Allotment

Total effective cotton allotment for the 23 High Plains counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has been increased by 119,619.6 acres received through the Release and Reapportionment program, according to figures released to PCG by the State ASCS Committee.

The additional acres come to the High Plains as a result of the 1960 law which permits unwanted acres to be reallocated within a state, and brings the area's total effective allotment to 2,255,243 acres, slightly below the 2,272,640 acres available for planting in 1964. Base allotment for 1965 was 3,125 acres more than the base allotment for 1964, but in 1964 the area got 140,150 acres from reapportionment—21,531 more than were received for this year.

The ASCS committee first used released acres to fill requests for additional acres within the county and zone where they were released and the excess acreage is then available for filling applications for increased acreage in other parts of the state.

Acreage received from reapportionment in 1965, total effective allotment for 1965 and effective allotment for 1964 are listed by county below:

Gaston Joins Heritage Club

LUBBOCK — W. Tom Gaston, business manager emeritus of Texas Tech, who can remember when a handsome pair of Percheron draft horses were used to pull mowing machines on the college farm, has become the first official member of Tech's Heritage Club.

Gaston qualified for the honor by donating scores of old photographs depicting early days at Tech to "Pictures for Posterity," recently organized effort to preserve a pictorial history of the college.

"This is one of the most exciting collections I have ever seen," commented Mrs. Gay Wight in accepting the valuable contribution on behalf of "Pictures for Posterity."

The collection of photographs includes on-the-spot scenes of groundbreaking ceremonies for major college buildings, campus scenes down through the years, group pictures of early-day faculty and board meetings, and all manner of candid shots, some dating back to 1929, the year Gaston joined the Tech staff. He retired in 1954.

One large print is a picture of the Percherons which Gaston remembers so fondly.

"A matched pair of dappled grays, they were foaled on the college farm and trained by student Aggies and faculty supervisors. When grown, one of the animals weighed 2,150 pounds and the other tipped the scales at 2,000," said Gaston.

Contributions and inquiries should be addressed to Pictures for Posterity, Texas Tech, Lubbock, Tex. 79409. Persons who have any questions regarding possible worth of a picture are urged to write, explaining their situation.

Lodge Being Organized

Organization of a new fraternal lodge in Big Spring is under way, with an installation service for the lodge set for April 4. The Hermann Sons, a statewide fraternal order organized in San Antonio 104 years ago, is receiving members in Big Spring through two representatives, Edwin F. Stahl, Odessa, and Marvin O. Gold, San Antonio.

Stahl said he had been in Big Spring about a month and 29 persons have applied for membership. Both men may be contacted at the Ponderosa Motel. The lodge here will bring the total of the lodges in Texas to 166, Stahl said. Membership in the lodge in Texas now numbers more than 60,000 persons. The installation service here will be at 3 p.m. April 4 at the Holiday Inn.

The organization is a fraternal benefit society, which operates a home for aged members and a youth summer-camp at Comfort, in addition to dancing classes for junior members in communities where 40 or more youngsters are interested.

A "diamond jubilee" of the order is planned in San Antonio in late April. A building for the lodge here may be constructed at a later date, Stahl said.

DEMOS PARTICULARLY Voters Favoring Four Year Terms

By JOE BELDEN
DIRECTOR, THE TEXAS POLL

Four-year terms for the top officials of the state of Texas are favored by a majority of the voters, The Texas Poll has found in a survey made last month.

The change from the present two-year term, one of Gov. John Connally's requests of the current legislature, finds particular favor with Texas Democrats.

Interviewers, talking with a cross section of people over the state, put the question this way: "There is a proposal before the legislature to change the term served by elected state officials, like the governor, lieutenant governor, and attorney general, from two to four years. Are you for or against a four-year term?" Among all adults:

Per Cent	Were in favor	Were opposed	Had no opinion
	53	39	8

The matter is one that would have to be voted upon as a constitutional amendment. Taking only those who are qualified to vote this year, and omitting those without opinions, 56 per cent say they are for the change and 44 per cent say they are against it.

If Texas makes the change, it will be joining 34 other states that elect governors to four-year terms.

Adults who call themselves Democrats divided this way on the question:

Per Cent	Were in favor	Were opposed	Had no opinion
	57	35	8

Those who say they are Republicans, combined with those who say they are Independents (Republican) divided this way:

Per Cent	Were in favor	Were opposed	Had no opinion
	46	50	4

Gets Assistant

Judge Ralph W. Caton, 118th District Court, Friday signed an order appointing Wanda Cloud as assistant county auditor and setting her salary at $250 per month. Mrs. Cloud has been working as a temporary deputy for some time in the office of Wade Choate, county auditor. Appointment of the auditor and of his assistants is a prerogative of the district judge. Their salaries are paid out of the county general fund.

Poll on highly-controversial issues have prompted some people — on the "losing" side of the results — to ask how these surveys are financed. The poll is paid for by the 22 Texas daily newspapers that subscribe to the service. There has never been any other method of financing the research since its inception in 1940. The conduct of the studies is entirely the responsibility of The Texas Poll staff in Dallas.

Puzzle of Friday, March 19, Solved

Demand For Car Licenses Heavy

Although no sign of a "rush" has been in evidence, there has been a heavy demand for 1965 car plates in March, according to the office of Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector.

As a result, as of March 18, receipts for car plates were $53,834.60 ahead of the same date in 1964.

Deadline for payment of car license fees is April 1. This means there are just nine more days for the motorists who

They said that a fairly steady demand for plates has been indicated for several days, but no rush.

Generally the last four days of the period sees a throng of belated drivers besiege the office. If the present trend of demand holds, the deputies feel that the back of the rush could be broken before the deadline arrives.

Scout Council Adopts Budget

A budget of $156,546 was adopted Thursday evening by the executive board of the Buffalo Trails Boy Scout in Midland.

The figure represents a four per cent increase over the current budget and returns to a level prior to recent reductions. Two-thirds of the $6,617 increase was in salary adjustments and filling of vacancies.

Perry Pickett, Midland, chairman of the finance committee, said that the budget was realizable if Scouters would press sustaining membership enrollment and to diligently present Scout- ing's programs in their communities.

The board adopted rules for use of the Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains by church or other youth groups, but the matter of fees was left to the staff until the next meeting of the board in June.

L. E. Patterson, Midland, council president, named Jack Strickland, Odessa, Carl Campbell, Big Spring, A. D. Albright, Odessa, Truett Roach, Andrews, as members of an executive panel to function between quarterly meetings of the board.

Reports indicated that half of the Scout troops in the council have registered for summer camp at the Scout Ranch and that the first four weeks are filled. Fifty boys have registered for the Explorer expedition to Philmont Ranch in New Mexico this summer, but some additional registrations can be accepted. Only seven boys have signed for the Scout Service trip to the New York's World Fair Aug. 9-16. This carries a $235 fee.

Manufacturing Directory Out

AUSTIN — Texas manufacturers almost everything from A (for accordions) to Z (for zippers).

And the newest listing of products, plants and their locations is contained in the 1965 "Directory of Texas Manufacturers" just published by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

The 638-page directory, weighing in at four pounds, lists 10,511 firms that manufacture an impressive array of products. In addition to standard items such as clothing and furniture, Texas also produces ash cans, bagels, baptismal fonts, bay rum, bingo boards, church steeples, cow bells, dumb waiters, ear stoppers, fog horns, kneeling pads, manhole covers, operating tables, shrimp boats, ski belts, stick horses, trampolines and xylophones, among many others.

The largest number of manufacturers (1,755) are those categorized under "food and kindred products," followed by "printing and allied industries" (1,515), "fabricated metal products, except ordnance, machinery and transportation equipment" (1,404) and "machinery, except electrical" (1,188). Other large categories of manufacturers include "stone, shell, clay and glass products" (846 firms), "chemicals and allied products" (770) and "furniture and fixtures" (672).

Copies of the "Directory of Texas Manufacturers" are available at $15 each from the UT Bureau of Business Research, Box 7459, University Station, Austin 78712.

Picked Tops

Airman I.C. James H. Williams Jr. was recently selected Airman of the Month for February from the 3560th Field Maintenance Squadron. He came to Webb from Amarillo AFB and has been in the Air Force since 1961. He is a native of Easton, Pa., and is married to the former Edith Roll, Big Spring. The couple has one son, James Eric, 18 months old. A pneumatic technician, Airman Williams attended Howard County Junior College.

It's Spring, Tra La (Chatter-Chatter)

There were fanciful, flowery patterns — in ice — Saturday when spring tripped somewhat stiffly on to the scene. The thermometer dipped to 14, a record low for the date, and ice sheathed rose bushes and shrubs at 701 W. 17th where a sprinkler had been left on. The weatherman said it was all a mistake — that spring indeed is here as of 2:05 p.m.

Crime Increases In Howard County

Howard County was in step — perhaps a pace ahead — of Texas as at large in its percentage of crime increase in 1964 over 1963.

The Department of Public Safety has announced that crime in Texas climbed 13.8 per cent last year over 1964.

In Howard County, a check of the felony complaints filed in the two years shows that crime increased 23.1 per cent in 1964 over 1963.

SOME MORE
In twenty-six types of felony complaints filed on the justice dockets, 15 showed more cases in 1964 and 11 showed less.

The DPS figures included in its report, aggravated assault charges which are not felonies. The study of crime in Howard County does not include misdemeanor complaints and deals solely with felonies.

Statewide, murder and homicide increased 6.7 per cent in 1964 over the 1963 figure. In Howard County, murder and homicide dropped better than 50 per cent. There were seven homicide cases filed in 1963 and only three in 1964.

Statewide, the DPS said there were 200,860 serious crimes committed last year compared with 229,254 for 1963.

In Howard County there were 231 felony charges filed in the justices of the peace courts last year compared with 186 in the preceding year. This shows a gain of 45.

Not all of the complaints filed in the justice courts ever reached the district court or were transformed into indictments by grand juries either in 1963 or in 1964. Many defendants named in original felony informations were not billed by the grand jury. Others were dismissed by the district attorney's office before they were ever presented to the grand jury.

142 CASES
Actually in 1964, the grand juries considered only 142 cases. They returned 123 indictments. The same general statistical situation prevails each year. Many of the cases, at the time they are filed, are apparently matters which need to be prosecuted; when investigation is made into the background, it is sometimes found many are not entitled to that dignity. However, for the purposes of recording offenses against society these filings offer a clear-cut signpost of trends.

Col. Homer Garrison, DPS director, in releasing the statistics on crime trends in Texas, said that all seven categories of major crime showed increases.

Murder and homicide was 6.7 per cent up in 1964. Robbery up 25.2 per cent; burglary up 10.2 per cent; theft increased 13.6 per cent.

Here in Howard County, the most prevalent felony complaints on the dockets of Justices of the Peace Walter Grice and Jess Slaughter were those dealing with checks. Lumped into this group, for the purpose of attaining a total, were worthless checks over $50, forgery, forgery and passing, attempted forgery, and alteration of checks. There were 70 such charges filed in 1964 as compared with 50 in 1963.

THEFT
Theft was the second most common offense. In 1963, 42 theft charges filed compared with 47 in 1964. Burglary was also widely prevalent in Howard County in 1964. There were 38 burglary cases filed during the year, an increase of 13 over the 1963 total.

One offense, normally quite common, showed a sharp decline in 1964 compared with the previous year. This was DWI second offense. Last year only 16 DWI second offense charges were filed. This was eight fewer cases than in 1963.

For some reason there was a sharp upsurge in cases accusing persons of possession of narcotics. In this county, almost 100 per cent of such cases involve marijuana. There were seven complaints filed in 1964 alleging unlawful possession of drugs compared with only one in the year preceding.

RAPE
Rape in this county showed an increase of three cases in 1964 over 1963. There were five rape cases filed last year. This is about on a parity with the state incidence figures. The DPS said there were 1,569 rape cases in 1964—an increase of 18.2 per cent over the previous year.

Robbery by assault and robbery with firearms also jumped from three to seven in this county last year. The state reported an increase of 25.8 per cent.

School Group Is Organized

LAMESA (SC)—The citizens committee for improvement of public schools organized last week. Attending were school board members, school officials, sub-committee chairmen and R. B. Snell, general chairman.

Snell said the purpose of the group will be to study the school system from the standpoint of curriculum, finance and buildings and to make recommendations to the school board concerning all aspects of future policy. Sub-committee chairmen are: Walter Buckel, buildings; Hap Bratcher, finance; and Richard Crawley, curriculum.

J. D. Harris, school board president, appointed a member of the school board to work with each of the committee chairmen. Working with the curriculum committee will be Charles Bratcher and V. C. Bearden; Skeet Noret and Holland Evans will be working with the finance committee; and Evans and John Watson will be assisting the building committee.

Crawley, Bratcher and Buckel each selected 13 persons for their committees. A general meeting of the committees with the general chairman has been set for 7:30 p.m., March 29 at City Hall.

High Winds, Rain Slow Farming In Most Parts

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—High winds and rain slowed Texas farming the past week, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Winds with dust hit the northwest Tuesday and moved across the state, starting showers in central and eastern areas. This ended a few days of good weather that had seen planting increased from the south into the Blacklands.

Rain is needed in west and north sections. Open weather for planting would be welcomed in many other sections, Hutchison said.

Moisture up to an inch fell over the Panhandle but still is short. Severe winds damaged wheat and dried up the soil. Wheat and ranges should show some improvement. Cattle are being moved from wheat fields.

To offset the drought, South Plains farmers are busy with preplant irrigation. Tuesday's high winds didn't help. Land preparation is complete; sugar beet planting is in full swing; and vegetable growers are getting ready to plant. Irrigated wheat looks good but that on dryland must have rain at once since it is nearing the jointing stage. Ranges are below average. Stock tanks are low.

Only 2 to 22 Rolling Plains counties have adequate moisture. Grain growth is generally slow. Cattle are being moved from grain fields. A good calf crop is reported.

Moisture is adequate in North Central Texas. Warmth aided grains. Grain sorghum planting will begin when fields dry. Some grazing is being provided by grains, but feeding is needed.

Moisture is adequate to surplus in Northeast Texas. A major activity is fish harvesting. Most counties received up to an inch of rain last week and got showers this week. Grain growth has been slowed. Livestock are being fed.

Warm, moist weather improved ranges in far West Texas. Livestock are improving but feeding goes on in the western half of the district. Sheep and goat shearing is continuing. Labor is short.

Moisture is adequate. Grains and pasture made good growth with the return of warmth. Prospects are good in West Central Texas for a grain crop. Fruit buds are swelling in the Hill Country. Livestock are improving. Goat shearing is on and a good lamb crop has been reported.

Rains slowed planting in Central Texas where good growing conditions for grains and ranges have existed several days. Some wheat rust and insect damage to small grains were reported. Corn is being planted.

Moisture is adequate in East Texas and corn planting is starting. Grain pastures have been damaged some by the cold and high winds. Native pastures are only average to below. Peach trees are blooming.

Moisture is adequate and preparations are under way for planting cotton, rice, vegetables and watermelons in the southeast. Pastures are average. Livestock feeding still is needed.

South Central Texas flax, nipped by the recent freeze, responded well to warmer weather. Watermelon planting will be in full swing within a few days. Planting of corn and grain sorghum is increasing. Moisture is generally adequate.

Moisture in South Texas ranges from short to adequate. Cotton planting is being rushed in the Valley and Coastal Bend. The vegetable harvest continues and citrus picking is near completion. Some melon replanting was needed in the Winter Garden and Coastal Bend. Labor is adequate.

Burglaries Are Reported

Three burglaries, totalling less than $100 in property and cash loss, were reported to Big Spring police Saturday morning.

James E. Green, operator of Green's Grocery, 1000 Eleventh Place, told police about $30 was missing in a break-in at his firm during the night. Officers said a pane of glass was broken in a rear door to gain entry.

At the Seven-11 Store, 2310 Wasson Road, Carl Weber, manager, reported missing a transistor radio, some batteries, an undetermined amount of cigarettes and about $2 in change. Police reported a lock on the southeast door was broken in the break-in.

Another burglary was reported at the Terry's Drive-in, 1307 E. 4th, where officers said a rear door was apparently broken open to gain entry. About $18 in change was reported missing from cigarette and pin ball machines.

Weevil Population Almost Wiped Out

Field evaluation during the program and winter trash surveys in January of this year revealed a reduction in the overwintering weevil populations of about 90 per cent, a record said by Dr. Perry L. Adkisson of the Texas A&M Department of Entomology to be "almost unbelievable."

D. H. Russell, Lubbock supervisor of the USDA's Plant Pest Control Division described the results as "phenomenal," especially considering that no program of this scope and nature had ever been attempted before and that sprayings were beset from the start with adverse weather. Reports were made last week to officials of High Plains Boll Weevil control program.

Field evaluation was made during the actual spraying by comparing weevil counts in treated fields with counts in untreated fields, and winter trash examination was compared with a similar study made at the same time of year in 1963.

Russell said that almost 300,000 acres of cotton belonging to 3,800 farmers across nine counties were sprayed from four to six times for an aggregate total of 1,136,664 acres; 123,618 gallons of malathion in technical form (a new material used extensively for boll weevil control for the first time in the High Plains program) was applied. Preliminary accounting figures set cost of 1964 sprayings at $1,163,778.28.

Dr. J. C. Gaines, head of Texas A&M's entomology department, told the group that weevil research efforts will continue through this fall and should furnish answers to some of the questions about the High Plains weevil's biological processes.

Schools Compared With Those In W. Germany

Klaus Limbacher, a German exchange student attending classes at the local high school, discussed parallels and contrasts of educational systems in this country and his native land in a talk before members of the American Business Club at their luncheon Friday at the Settles hotel.

Limbacher, who returns to his home at the end of the current semester, said that a German student is required to cover a variety of subjects more thoroughly than is his counterpart in the United States, but that the American specializing in one subject and aiming toward a career in that field is apt to embrace it more thoroughly.

Limbacher also remarked the Americans seemed to have a greater love for their educational institutions and their lives as students because of the opportunity for visitation and social activity.

The European said he had enjoyed his stay in this country immensely and attributed such pleasantries to the "good care" he had received in the home of his adopted U. S. family, to the friendships he had made among his classmates, and to the "open-faced" wholesome character of the people in America.

He added he hoped some day to return to this country and renew some of those friendships. Limbacher stated he had another year and a half of schooling awaiting him in his own country upon his return there before he could qualify to go on to a university.

In college, he added, he wanted to major in psychology or law.

The class had the lowest attrition rate of any pilot training class to graduate from Webb. There were only two men who began with Class 65-F eliminated from pilot training.

Another special feature of the class was the high number of outstanding officer graduates. There were six including Capt. Kenneth L. Harwood, Capt. Donald L. Heiliger, Capt. Edward R. Maney, 1st Lt. Vincent C. J. Eckelkamp, 1st Lt. Gerald H. Sherrill, and 2nd Lt. Larry R. McBride.

Other awards and recipients were: The Academic Training award won by 1st Lt. Vincent C. J. Eckelkamp; the Flying Training award by Capt. Edward R. Maney; and the Officer Training award by Capt. Donald L. Heiliger.

Taute, 356th Pilot Training Wing commander.

To qualify for graduation, the pilots have undergone training lasting 55 weeks, at Webb. Former Resident Dies Saturday

Mrs. Hugh K. Harris, a previous resident of Big Spring for a number of years, died in Fort Worth about 5 a.m. Saturday morning, according to information received here Saturday.

Mrs. Harris and her husband moved to Fort Worth in 1955 from Big Spring.

Mr. Harris was an employee of Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. while in Big Spring. No information was available Saturday on time of funeral arrangements for Mrs. Harris. Survivors include the husband and a daughter, a Houston resident.

Students Take Training In Emergency Self-Help

When current training in two junior high schools is completed, Big Spring will have over 500 young people trained to help in emergency medical care and self help in times of disaster.

Currently, 273 students in Goliad Junior High School are taking training in this field, which is approved by the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Civil Defense Departments. The course also has been approved by Big Spring school administrators and implemented by Dr. C. L. Ainsworth, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction.

Health and physical education teachers are in charge of class instruction in the 16-hour course. The 10 major subjects treated include:

Radioactive fallout and shelters; healthful living in emergencies; sanitation; artificial respiration; bleeding and bandages; fractures and splinting; transportation and care of sick and injured; burns; shock; emergency nursing care; and infant and child care.

Manuals and visual aids are employed in the course and supplement training in what to do, how to do and what not to do in case of emergencies. The course emphasizes that the training is for emergencies and is to be used only until medical help can be obtained.

Later this month students at Rannels Junior High will begin the same training, and when they finish the course, an estimated 550 young people will receive certificates.

"Our school people are to be commended for including this emergency training in the curriculum," said Lige Fox, sanitarian for the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit. He said at least one other school has made inquiry about the course, and Fox can supply information to any interested schoolmen or other group representatives.

SM. Sgt. Leonard R. Ermel, base sergeant major, will do chief master sergeant stripes.

The seven promoted to senior master sergeants are: Eugene F. Sieja, Chester D. Urban, William C. Littlejohn Jr., Clifford W. Kobl, Kenneth H. Thompson, Floyd R. McNery, and William H. Harp, Kenneth W. Pearson.

All promotions will be effective April 1. ATC considered 1,564 master sergeants and 473 senior master sergeants for promotion in the 1965 cycle.

Blending Plant For Fertilizer Due In Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — Marshall J. Morgan, area manager for the American Cyanamid Company, has announced plans for construction of a bulk fertilizer blending plant to be built in Lamesa within the next 90 days. The plant is part of a new distribution program.

A soil testing service will be available to local farmers and fertilizers will be blended on a prescription basis according to individual soil needs, Morgan said.

The plant will also house and distribute a complete line of insecticides and defoliants. The operation will have a total investment of more than $100,000. Construction is scheduled to be completed in September.

Tech To Help Jordan College

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech will play a major role in the establishment of a junior college of business administration in Jordan. Plans were set in motion immediately following a recent survey conducted in Jordan by Dr. John C. Gilliam, associate professor of business administration at Tech.

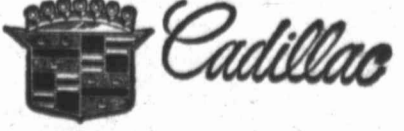

After studying the report, the Ford Foundation initiated plans to help shoulder the expense of establishing the junior college of business administration in Beit Hanina, a suburb of Jerusalem. Five Jordanian college graduates will come to Tech next June to begin 12 to 15 months of intensive study in the School of Business Administration. After returning to Jordan, they will become the primary teaching staff of the Beit Hanina Junior college.

It has often been said that the only logical substitute for a new Cadillac is one that has seen previous service. Whatever you plan to invest in your next car, above all consider Cadillac.

If you are like most people, you hope someday to own a new Cadillac motor car. For Cadillac's continuing greatness in design and engineering has made it one of the world's most desirable and sought-after possessions. But if a new Cadillac is not presently feasible, you should consider the pleasure and satisfaction that would be yours with a late model, previously-owned Cadillac. Your dealer currently offers an unusually wide selection of fine used Cadillacs at a cost in line with that of many new cars of far less stature and quality. These fine Cadillacs are all in superb condition, and many offer features not yet available on other makes. And from a standpoint of investment, remember that a Cadillac traditionally returns more of its cost at resale than any other car at or near its price. So visit your authorized Cadillac dealer, and let him show you a Cadillac—new or used—that will fit your budget. Your visit will be the wisest motoring move you have ever made. Why not make it this week?

President Underscores Position On Viet Nam

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson underscored Saturday what he called U.S. determination to remain in South Viet Nam as long as it is necessary to control Communist aggression and terrorism.

He told a news conference that changes in the situation may require changes in tactics. But he declared the United States will do whatever is necessary to accomplish its mission in Southeast Asia.

REPEATED STAND

Johnson repeated the U.S. policy stand — for the 48th time, he said — as he announced that U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor will return to Washington March 28 for a week of consultations.

The President said that Taylor's visit to Washington is part of a regular, periodic review aimed at insuring "that our effort in Viet Nam is as effective and efficient as possible."

Johnson recalled words he uttered a year ago and told his news conference:

"It is and it will remain the policy of the United States to furnish assistance to support South Viet Nam for as long as it is required to bring Communist aggression and terrorism under control."

Johnson said U.S. policy remains as it was a year ago — and as it was 10 years ago.

For, he asked, if a small country like South Viet Nam cannot be insured its independence and peace, what will become of other tiny nations around the world?

WORKS FOR PEACE

Johnson said this country is working for a peace in which nations may develop their own resources and live without pressure or fear of domination from any quarter.

"This is the peace that will remain the steadfast goal" of his administration, he said.

On Monday, Johnson said, he will have completed 16 months in the presidency. He paid tribute to the quality and talent of his top officials, calling it without parallel in modern times.

"I am determined that the American people will be served by the best people available," he said.

Discussing his attitude toward news conferences, a subject on which he has run into some press criticism, Johnson said he wanted to make available all the information he could, consistent with the national interest. But he will continue to reserve to himself the matter of how and when he holds conferences, he said.

Saturday's news conference was the 39th on-the-record session he has held, he said, and 16 have been covered by radio and television.

that may or may not work out," the President said, adding the administration would meet that problem as it came up.

On other points, Johnson had these comments in response to questions:

"While the Soviet is ahead of us in some aspects of space, we are ahead of them in other aspects."

He had been asked the relative positions in the light of the Russian achievement this week in having one of two cosmonauts leave their orbiting space capsule.

Johnson said he reviewed U.S. and Soviet space activities Saturday with administrator James B. Webb of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The United States is scheduled to send aloft its first two-man space mission next Tuesday.

"I have felt," Johnson said, "it was really a mistake to regard space exploration as a contest which can be carried on any box score."

EMPHASIS

This achievement by Russia, he said, emphasized the importance that man himself will play in space. But he said he had long felt that judgments could be made only by considering all aspects of a nation's space program. The U.S. program is broad based and its progress is "very satisfactory to me," he said.

Indicated Saturday he would appoint Jake Jacobsen of Austin, a longtime figure in Texas Democratic politics, to a White House post.

Johnson told an informal news conference he hopes Jacobsen will take the job.

The President did not specify the title or salary of the job. He said that if Jacobsen accepts "he will be in the business of protecting me by determining a great deal of what comes to my desk and what doesn't."

"I don't know if his wife will let him come, but I want him to," Johnson said.

SURPRISE

Jacobsen, 46, told reporters the President's statement caught him by surprise.

Asked if he would take the job, Jacobsen said "I will do whatever he says."

Jacobsen is a member of the Texas Public Safety Commission and was secretary of the Texas State Democratic Executive Committee from 1956 to 1963. He is now an Austin lawyer.

Other nominations Johnson said he will make are:

Stanley R. Resor, 47, New Canaan, Conn., undersecretary of the Army. He will replace Paul R. Ignatius, recently appointed assistant secretary of defense for installations and logistics.

Resor is a New York attorney, a graduate of Yale University and the Yale Law School.

Sam Zagoria, 44, a native of Somerville, N.J., to be a member of the National Labor Relations Board.

Zagoria, presently administrative assistant to Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., will succeed Boyd Leedom, whose term has expired.

REDISTRICTING

Solution Would Add 8 Senators

AUSTIN (AP) — State senators, who flinch every time they see a redistricting knife put into a Texas map, may be able to find a substitute for surgery.

Despite predictions that senatorial redistricting couldn't be done without a special session, the Senate could take the first step this week — just about the halfway mark of the 140-day session — toward solving the problem.

22 FAVORED

The solution is a proposed constitutional amendment sponsored by 22 senators. Only 21 votes are needed for approval.

The amendment, by Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan, adds eight Senate seats. That would mean 39 Senate seats.

This factor alone is enough to please most senators, whose districts are so far out of line with federal court equal population standards the biggest district (Houston) has almost 10 times the population of the smallest (Dist. 16 of Sen. Louis Crump of San Sabá).

Most present districts could be retained with minimal changes under the proposal, and the eight new seats would go to big cities.

The proposal is sweetened by still more benefits.

—An expansion of the terms from four to six years.

—No races in the 1966 election for all but five senators.

The proposal stipulates that 13 senators now serving will stand for re-election in 1970, 13 more in 1968 and the other five plus the eight new members will run in 1966.

Despite the cure-all appearance of the measure, some senators do not agree with the sponsors' contention that "legislators elected for longer terms are less likely to be swayed by special interest groups."

Six-year terms, some senators say, would be more likely to induce lobbyists to go even further than at present to be sure their man is elected. It could tend to make senators less responsive to voters' demands, they say.

HURT CHANCES

The six-year term angle also might hurt chances of House approval of the amendment. The House is a traditional stepping stone to the Senate, and House members may not want to give up a shot at their senator's seat every four years.

L. W. Croft, right, is presented award by Gil Jones

An observance of the 46th anniversary of the American Legion was conducted by members of Post 355 of Big Spring Saturday night, with the post's honor plaque for outstanding service awarded to L. W. Croft, oldest living post commander.

The award, presented Croft by Gil Jones, master of ceremonies, was "for faithful service to the Legion throughout its history and for a position of honor as the Post's Senior Post Commander." Croft, a native of Stephenville, who volunteered in 1917 for World War I service, has held all offices in the post here and was commander in 1931-32.

At that time the post built up its membership to 484, the largest ever in pre-World War II days.

In 1990 at the age of 16 he volunteered for Philippines Insurrection service and was later discharged at New York.

Croft served with the 90th Aerial Squadron in World War I and saw service at Chateau Thierry, Saint Mihiel, Belleau Wood and Meuse Argonne. He became a Big Spring resident soon after World War I.

Recognized at the observance Saturday night at the Legion Home were A. M. Ripps, a veteran of the Spanish-American War of 1898, and Roy Rich, the youngest World War I veteran present.

Featured speaker for the evening program was Donald D. Van Meter, director of the Veterans Administration Hospital Park, Calif. A. B. Clark, Roswell, N.M., Elmo Clark, Alexandria, Va.

Palbearers will be Bill Anderson, Fred Flaniken, V. C. Bearden, Pete Webb, Skeet Norst, Jess Baldwin.

Blount Urges Money For Zoo

Members of the steering committee for a proposed Zoological Society of Big Spring met with members of news media Saturday at the Holiday Inn to discuss the best ways to present the formation of the Big Spring's Children Zoo to the community.

Heading the committee is A. D. Blount. Others meeting with the press were Capt. Dick Wilson; O. T. Brewster, chairman of the chamber of commerce tourist and convention committee; and John Currie Jr., membership manager of the committee.

Blount explained that the idea for the children's zoo was not new, but in recent months the interest in building one has grown. The recent rattlesnake roundup was a contributing factor to interest, he said.

At the roundup, Blount exhibited a number of animals and nearly outdrew the snakes in attendance figures. The need for the zoo is great, he explained, but he asked help in telling the public.

Animals are not needed for the zoo as Blount has numerous animals at his pet shop, including a black bear, baboons, bobcats, constrictors, barnyard animals and others.

Blount and Wilson will speak to the city's civic clubs during the week, appealing for memberships in the society. Memberships range from $7.50 to $5,000 or over.

The site of the proposed zoo would be near the original "big spring" on property presently owned by Cosden Oil and Chemical Co.

The zoo would cost approximately $75,000 to build, but the present goal of the society is $10,000. Blount said that if $10,000 in memberships could be sold, he would be able to provide further interest.

The zoo, as proposed, would include exhibition areas for all animals from insects to mammals, lecture areas for wildlife classes, a concession and dining area plus cages for animals not able to withstand the weather.

The proposed zoo would be open from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. daily. Children and adults would be able to take pictures and feed the animals. A paddock would be built to allow youngsters to mingle with the friendly animals.

The proposed zoo would be governed by a board of trustees, elected by the society's membership. Director of the zoo would be Blount.

THE WEEK

day's 14-degree minimum applied the coup de grace. Some late budding trees may make it, but even these may be damaged.

Those amazing Howard County Junior College Jayhawks, after turning up a bit flat in the first round, made it to the consolation finals in the National Junior College basketball tournament. If nothing else, the Hawks outstayed even the red-hot Kilgore JC team. So that must make us best in Texas.

How not to start a day: Shelby Read was delayed Thursday morning—his car had not one, not two, but three flat tires! He had done some pasture driving through a thorny area the day before.

Mark Barr demonstrated again he has the touch when his steer won the grand championship of the annual Howard County club boy livestock show. In 1963 he shared the honor with his brother, then won it last year. Robert Haney was close behind for reserve championship. Winners in the lamb division were Linda Foster, cross bred; Charlotte Mann, medium wool; James Hudson, fine wool. The sale climaxing the show was one of the best in years.

Come to think of it, the crazy weather can be blamed on the show. For years, it seems to make no difference when the Jaycees schedule the show, a spell of bad weather always greets it.

The American Legion Post Saturday night honored two veteran veterans. Plaques were presented to A. M. Ripps, who is the oldest veteran in the county so far as records show, and L. W. Croft, oldest of the surviving commanders of the local post.

End of an era could almost be written with the death of S. R. Nobles here last week at age 87. Mr. Nobles, who had followed most of the area development, was at Burk Burnett in 1917 when that field hit and set the first oil well pumps there.

The second class of the Southwestern Law Enforcement Academy was graduated from Howard County Junior College on Friday evening. These new officers cannot help but be better agents of the law as a result of the intensive training.

The Southwest Area of the YMCA paid its respects to Clyde McMahon Sr. Friday evening when he was given one of the two annual Distinguished Service awards. When it is considered that there are multiplied thousands of Y supporters in a five-state area, this is quite a tribute.

Over 70 years ago R. H. (Shorty) Snyder's brother-in-law, as Irish as Paddy's pig, taught him a little ditty about a prize fight between two sons of the auld sod. Wednesday noon at the Downtown Lions Club, Shorty sang the whole thing without a bobble, although this required several minutes.

The parks board is doing a little master planning all of its own. Members last week put down some ideas of needed improvement, then began to try to assign some priorities to these. The once orphaned parks system is beginning to have a plan and some potency.

Two organizations named presidents last week—The Rev. Don Hungerford, who proves the Rotary can have a young president, so there, and Jack Orr, who did such an exceptional job as Jaycee president in filling an unexpected term that he was given a full term.

Voters gave resounding approval Saturday to the H.C.J. bond vote. If everything goes right, this could mean that work on a new library and a new science building can be started before the fall term, and perhaps the renovation of Memorial Stadium fieldhouse can be completed before first kickoff time.

Weather Forecast

Snow and snow flurries will fall in the Lakes Region and the Northern and Central Rockies Sunday. Rain will fall in the Pacific Northwest. Warmer air will cover an area from Mississippi Valley to the Plateau Region and into the Pacific Northwest. Little change is expected elsewhere in the nation. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Most people do. For nothing can tell you as much about a product as a message in print. Print shows colors best. Styles, too. And comparative prices, special uses, designs, shapes. Shows them as no other medium can. That's why your customers—and your competitor's customers—look to print when they're really ready to buy. If people can paint with your product, sit on it, eat it, serve it to company, walk on it, wear it, freeze foods in it, or drive it... better put it in print. Print makes sense, because print makes sales.

Time Running Out For Inspections

Only three out of every four motor vehicles in Howard County bear current safety inspection stickers, the Department of Public Safety, Midland estimates.

This means, officials said, that between 5,000 and 7,000 trucks, cars and other vehicles which must have these inspections, must be put through the county's 20 inspection stations between now and April 15.

A jam, the DPS thinks, is sure to build up since it is agreed by officials a great many of those who have not as yet had their cars inspected, will wait until the last few days before taking action.

The 49 County Midland region of the Department of Public Safety has 533,810 registered vehicles, with 325,366 inspected as of March 15. This leaves 39 percent of the registered vehicles within the Region yet to be inspected.

Statewide, the DPS said there were 1,500,000 vehicles still uninspected when this week began. No extension of time after midnight April 15 can be expected or is possible for inspection, the DPS warned.

"Any Texas motorist whose vehicle does not display the new sticker after April 15, is subject to arrest by any sheriff, or his deputy, any city policeman or by any officer of the Department of Public Safety."

There are 5,300 inspection stations in Texas. Of the 20 in this county, all but one or two are in Big Spring, the DPS said.

It was suggested by a DPS official that any motorist who knows that his car has some mechanical defect make repair of this defect before pulling into the inspection station. This will save the motorist's time and also conserve the time of the inspector.

The fee for inspection this year is $1—the same it has been for years. A bill has been proposed to increase the fee to $2.

Young Farmers Plan Meeting

COAHOMA (SC) — The Young Farmers Club will meet Monday night March 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the agriculture building. Bill E. Read will be in charge of the program on the subject of "Farm Animal Diseases."

HOWARD COUNTY FLYING CLUB'S NEW CHEROKEE Operations Officer R. E. McClure shows off the new aircraft

Flying Club Purchases New Cherokee Aircraft

By M. A. WEBB

A new Piper Cherokee C is now "hanged" at Howard County Airport. The Howard County Flying Club is the new owner and already the aircraft, which arrived this week, has been service.

Club vice president, Charles Dodson, left early Saturday morning for Tampico, Mexico in the new Cherokee. He was accompanied by Lee Price, Big Spring, Bill Weaver, Lamesa, and Gary Weaver, Seminole. They plan to be back Thursday.

Incidentally Dodson received his private pilot's license at Lubbock last weekend.

The Cherokee is equipped with a Mark 12 radio, two 25-gallon fuel tanks; wheel pants, and the four-place craft has a Lycoming 180 engine, with a cruising speed of 156 miles per hour and a top speed of 161 m.p.h.

President of the Howard County Club is Elbert Long, secretary-treasurer is Joyce Green, and operations officer is R. E. McClure.

Sgt. F. N. Thomas of Webb Air Force Base, and an instructor for trainees in the Webb Aero Club, is teaching a ground school course to about 14 students each Tuesday night at Howard County Junior College. The school runs for eight weeks, and an FAA representative will conduct tests at the end of the school.

Flying by club members has shown a slight increase this week, and the coming spring weather is expected to make it pick up more.

Webb Aero Club members fly in the two Cessnas were: Cessna 150—Paddon (2), Green, Morrell (3), Brown (3), Sorenson, Morrissey, Davidson (2), Foster (2); Sammey; Cessna 172—Warren (3), Sorenson, Whitlock (2-day cross country).

Big Spring Flying Club members up in the Colt and Cherokee were: Colt—McClure (10), Moore, Walker; Cherokee—E. Long (4), McClure (3), Dodson (3), D. Long (3), Pollard, Dotson (2).

Boards of Trans-Texas Airways flight to Dallas in the early mornings are now taking off on Flight 426 at 8:33 a.m. and arrive in Dallas at 9:48. This flight replaces No. 424 which formerly left Howard County Airport at 6:03 a.m. and arrived in Dallas at 7:53 a.m. The flight is now non-stop to Dallas, whereas Flight 424 formerly stopped in Abilene. The flight is on Convairs.

Station Manager Dean Berry said one other flight change out of Big Spring had been made. No. 195 from Dallas arrives at 10:29 a.m. instead of 10:37, because the Fort Worth landing had been eliminated.

The evening flight No. 197, from Dallas, arrives at 9:02, after leaving Dallas at 7:10 p.m. It stops in Abilene.

These changes were effective March 1.

Berry said there was some misgivings about the new morning flight to Dallas, since it is some later than most boards like, but that hopes were held for adjustments.

Mandate Has Been Received

A mandate from the Texas Supreme Court, sustaining the finding of the 118th District Court in a damage suit brought by Burton-Lingo Lumber Co., against the Acuff Gin Co., has been received in the office of Fern Cox, district court clerk.

The mandate overrules a petition by the gin company for a rehearing of its appeal from the jury verdict rendered here. In this verdict, Burton-Lingo was awarded judgment for $49,021 against Acuff Gin Co.

The mandate orders that the lumber company recover from the gin company in that amount.

The suit developed out of a fire which destroyed the lumber company yard in Coahoma about two years ago. The lumber company filed the damage suit alleging the fire was caused by flaring sparks from a burr-burner being used by the gin company plant nearby. A jury in 118th District Court found for Burton-Lingo and the case has been on appeal since.

Youngster Dies In Dallas

Harold Vance Summers Jr., 4, died Friday 5 p.m. in the Methodist Hospital in Dallas. He had been unconscious for the past six weeks.

Burial will be Monday at the Forest Park Cemetery in Houston.

Harold entered the hospital Feb. 5, on the eve of his fourth birthday, for correction of a malfunction in a mechanical valve. Although the operation appeared successful, he never regained consciousness.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Summers Sr., 9843 Estacado Drive, Dallas, Texas 75228; and a sister, Ashley Kay, 12. He also leaves his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Summers, Birmingham, Ala. and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Morrow, Corpus Christi.

Mr. Summers was employed here by Cosden and the family moved to Dallas last August when he was transferred. The parents suggested that those wishing to make memorials consider the Medical Education Fund at Methodist Hospital.

Jayhawks Win At Coleman

COLEMAN — Howard County Junior College came out of its cocoon here on a bitterly-cold night Saturday to out-distance ACC in the battle for first place in the Mid-Texas Relays, scoring 81 points to 79 1/2 for the shocked Wildcats.

Coach Red Lewis got good performances out of his hurdlers and scored heavily in the weights to outlast the Kittens. North Texas was a distant third in the field with 35 points while Ranger was fourth, with 28 1/2.

Records fell all over the place — this is only the second year for the meet to be held.

The Jayhawks from Big Spring copped blue ribbons in the 400-yard run, where the reliable Steve Langham winged home ahead of Isaac Barnes of Cisco; the intermediate hurdles; two-mile event; shot put; and high jump.

HCJC's Robert Horn didn't miss in the latter event and cleared 5-11 but coach Lewis advised him not to try any more due to the weather.

Although he was beaten in the mile run, HCJC's Walter Reyna set a school record in the event with a 4:25.1 clocking.

The temperatures huddled around the low 40's all during the final events.

Ford, Yankees Are Trowned By Dodgers

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers clipped White Ford for four runs and eight hits in four innings Saturday on the way to a 9-6 exhibition baseball victory over the New York Yankees.

While Ford, making his third pitching appearance after undergoing a shoulder operation last winter, was taking his first spring beating, another veteran left-hander, the New York Mets' Warren Spahn, pitched four scoreless innings in a 3-2 loss to the Chicago White Sox.

Tommy Davis hit a three-run homer off Ford, who had not been scored on in two previous exhibition starts, and John Roseboro crashed a three-run homer off reliever Jim Bouton as the Dodgers handed the Yankees their fourth defeat in 10 games.

The White Sox scored three runs in the third inning against Met right-hander Galen Cisco, Bill Skowron's double and singles by J.C. Martin and rookie Marv Staehle keying the rally. Spahn allowed five singles and struck out four in his four-inning stint.

Willie Mays doubled home the winning run in the fifth inning after tripling and scoring the tying run in the fourth as the San Francisco Giants topped Boston 4-2. Rookie shortstop Rico Petrocelli drove in the Red Sox runs with a second inning double.

Vern Law pitched three impressive innings in Pittsburgh's 7-2 victory over Philadelphia. The right-hander allowed one run and three hits and fanned three Phillies. Solo homers by Willie Stargell and Andre Rodgers led the Pirates' 11-hit attack.

Cincinnati left-handers Bill McCool and Joe Nuxhall limited St. Louis to seven hits and the Reds downed the World Champion Cardinals 4-2, breaking a 1-1 tie with two runs in the eighth.

Split Chicago Cub squads divided games with the Cleveland Indians and Los Angeles Angels. A three-run ninth-inning uprising gave one Cub team a 6-5 victory over the Indians. The Angels came up with two runs in the ninth, one on catcher Phil Roof's homer, and edged the other Cub team 3-2.

The Houston Astros-Kansas City Athletics game was rained out.

Florida night games matched Milwaukee vs. Detroit and Baltimore vs. Minnesota, while a touring LA Angel unit visited Guadalajara, Mexico, for a night contest.

Miears, Pope In No-Hitter

ANDREWS — Andrews scored five unearned runs after two were out in the last inning to topple Big Spring, 6-5, in the second game of a baseball doubleheader here Saturday after the Steers had won the opener, 1-0.

Freddy Miears and Hank Pope teamed up to hit the Mustangs down without a set in the seventh-inning opener. Miears worked the first five innings and allowed only one runner aboard. John Ham walked for the Ponies after two men had been retired in the third.

Pope faced four batters in the sixth and four more in the seventh. A pinch hitter reached base for the resident nine in the sixth while Steve Cook led off the seventh by gaining life on a bobble.

Big Spring got its lone run in the second and it was tainted. Howard Bain raced to first on a misplay by the third baseman and eventually came home on a single by Eddie Crittenden.

Big Spring built up a comfortable 5-1 lead in the second game and seemed well on its way to victory when Swiftly Burdette fanned the first two batters to face him in the seventh. Then the roof caved in. The Steers committed three errors. Combined with a triple, a single and a base on balls, they proved the undoing of the Longhorns.

The games were played in extremely cold weather. The Longhorns were playing without the services of three boys who were left at home for disciplinary reasons.

Big Spring managed three hits in the opening game and four in the afterpiece. The split left Roy Baird's team with a 4-2 record while Andrews is 7-4.

Big Spring returns to action at home at 4 p.m. Monday, meeting HCJC in a game that was originally scheduled for last Friday but had to be moved back due to bad weather.

Washington sparked a late rally for Villanova after St. John's led 30-14 at one stage and 36-28 at the intermission. But it was Leftwich, with outside shots, who pulled the Wildcats from Philadelphia's Main Line to within one point—50-49—with little more than six minutes remaining.

The championship enabled the Redmen to finish with a 21-8 record. In a preliminary game for third place, Army edged New York University 75-74 on Dick Murray's jump shot with six seconds to play. It was the second straight year that Army had beaten NYU by one point in the consolation.

Gonzales Loses In Ring Finals

KANSAS CITY (AP)—One Texas boxer—Eddie Gonzales of Plainview—weathered the early rounds only to lose in the finals of the 1965 Golden Gloves Tournament Friday night.

Gonzales, a bantam weight, outpointed Al Robinson of Los Angeles for the only Texas victory in the semi-finals.

But in the championship bout, Gonzales was outpointed by Mel Miller of Billings, Mont.

In the only knockout of the semi-finals, towering Lynn Farr of Texarkana, Tex., was KO'd after 50 seconds of the second round by heavyweight Jerry Quarry of Los Angeles.

Dodge City Decisions Hawks By 69-60 Tab

HUTCHINSON, Kansas — HCJC of Big Spring settled for eighth place in the 1965 National Junior College Basketball Tournament here Saturday.

The Hawks were knocked off by the defending titlist of the meet, Dodge City, Kansas, in the afternoon battle for fifth place in the 16-team meet. Final score was 69-60.

The Hawks thus ended their season with a 25-12 record, having broken even in four tournament starts here. They returned home with a huge trophy.

The Texans led the Dodge gang by three points at one stage but the Kansas went into a zone defense and the Hawks missed on five straight tries at the basket. The Dodge team proceeded to take a lead it never lost. Tom Carter paced the Hawks in scoring with 20 points. Eddy Nelson was limited to 11 points by the Kansas club and missed by a single point of equalling Walter Carter's all-time scoring record, set four years ago.

Carter counted 820 points in 34 games. Nelson settled for 819 in 36.

Carl Head led the Dodge team in scoring with 22 points while Steve Frick had 14.

HCJC had advanced to the consolation finals with an impressive 94-80 victory over Robert Morris of Pittsburgh, Pa., Friday.

In that game, Carter tossed in 30 points and Nelson 23 for the Jayhawks. Coach Buddy Travis gave all of his hands a chance to play in the contest, after the Texans had built up a secure lead in the waning minutes.

Tom Urso banged in 28 points to set the pace for Robert Morris, which brought an unbeaten record to town.

The Jayhawks will wait until this morning before starting the trip back to Big Spring, Travis said.

Arizona State Forfeits All Games For 2 Seasons

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona State College was ordered by its regents Saturday to forfeit every football victory scored in 1963 and 1964 — a total of 11 games — because some players were involved in a classroom cheating scandal.

The regents acted unanimously after ASC President J. Lawrence Walkup informed them that some of the six players involved in the incident had played in all of those games.

The players, including several counted on as starters next fall, were also ruled ineligible for intercollegiate sports in 1965.

Max Spilsbury resigned Jan. 31 as head football coach and later admitted having given academic credit over two years to athletes who did not attend classes.

No successor has been announced for Spilsbury, a former University of Arizona football star whose resignation was accepted unanimously by the regents Saturday.

The names of the players were not disclosed. A single basketball player was questioned and reportedly absolved of any blame.

The regents directed Dr. Walkup to offer to forfeit every victory in which the six graders played. It was learned that some played in all of the Lumberjacks' victories in a 6-3 won-lost season last year and a 5-3-1 season in 1963.

Randy Matson Breaks 2 Records In Triangular

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Randy Matson broke two meet records as Texas A&M nipped Rice in a triangular track meet with LSU Saturday.

The decision hinged on the final event, with A&M scoring 70 points to 69 for Rice. LSU made 41.

Matson, the rangy Aggie Olympian, threw the shot 63 feet 9 inches to set a new mark in that event, then hung up a record in the discus with a throw of 188 feet 9 inches.

LSU, although not in contention for team honors, furnished two other record performances. Delman McNabb, a Lake Charles sophomore, set a varsity and meet standard with a javelin heave of 250 feet 1 inch.

Leland Albright, a senior from Sulphur who won the NCAA indoor 600-yard event last week, turned in a meet record in the 880-yard run with a time of 1:52.4.

Gilbert Signed By Longhorns

HOUSTON (AP) — Chris Gilbert, all-state tailback from Spring Branch High School and one of the state's most sought after 1964 prep football players, signed Saturday with the University of Texas.

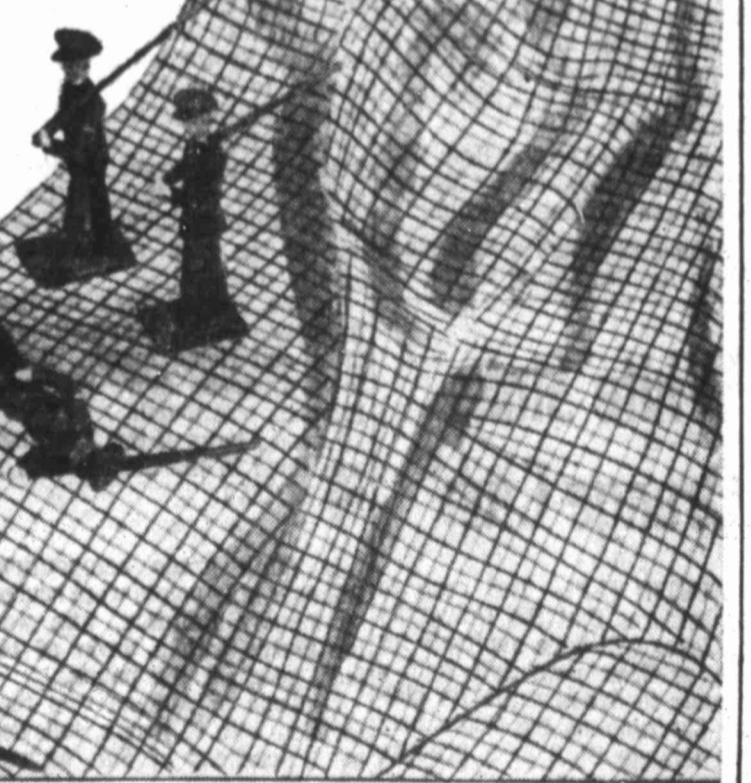

More than 50 colleges, including all Southwest Conference members, sought the 180-pound speedster.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal flew here to handle the scholarship signing.

"Chris is the back we wanted," Royal said. "Signing this young man caps a successful recruiting season for us."

During the 1964 season, Gilbert led Spring Branch to its fourth straight district championship. He gained 1,139 yards on 144 carries and scored 12 touchdowns.

Schools Are Picking Champions This Week

School champions who are to appear in the line-up at the Third Annual Herald Howard County Spelling Bee will be determined this week in the elementary schools of the city.

Deadline for the schools to have their champions determined is March 31. Classroom eliminations should already be under way and some of the schools will announce their representatives within the next few days.

The earlier the champion is determined, the more time he will have to cram for the county spelling bee at the Howard County Junior College April 10, officials point out.

Each school will name a champion and an alternate. The latter can compete in the county spelling bee, only if the champion is unable to appear.

In addition to the schools in Big Spring, spellers are to take part representing Midway, Forsan Junior High (Elbow) and the parochial school at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church.

Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, who served as pronouncer for the county spelling bees the first two years they were held, will be back in the same post again. Judges are to be selected.

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, is general chairman, and will preside at the county bee. The same rules and regulations which were used in 1963 and 1964 will be followed.

All words will be from the official list — "Words of the Champions." These words were also used by the schools in their classroom and school eliminations.

The champion selected at the county bee wins a free trip for himself and his parents to Lubbock, where he will compete May 1 against the champions from 22 other West Texas counties.

Should he win this contest, he will be awarded a free trip to Washington, D. C., in early June. At the national capital he will compete against the champion spellers from regions all over the United States for the national championship.

For his victory in the county spelling bee, the winner will be presented with a bronze plaque on which will be engraved his name and the year he won the title.

At Lubbock, if he wins the title, in addition to his free trip to Washington, he will receive a 24-volume set of the Encyclopedia Britannica, a World Atlas and a Capri Paper-Mate pen and pencil set. In addition, the school from which he comes will be provided with one Britannica film each month for next year.

If he places second, at Lubbock, he will get $20 in cash, a copy of Lincoln Library of Essential Knowledge, and a two volume World Language dictionary.

Third place will earn him $15 in cash and a copy of the Lincoln Library. Fourth place gets him $10 in cash; fifth place $5 in cash, plus copies of the Lincoln Library. Sixth place will get him the book, but no cash prize.

At the county spelling bee all school champions are presented with blue ribbons and Paper-Mate pens.

Survivors include five sons, Robert Jones and Hebrew Jones of Stanton, Oscar Jones, Crockett, Ray Jones, Sylvester, E. J. Jones, Hereford; two daughters, Mrs. Cynthia Carr, Stanton, Mrs. Lavacia Cox, Odessa; 34 grandchildren, 78 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

Mrs. Jones was born Aug. 25, 1872 in Houston County. She moved to Stanton from Crockett in 1948.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Readers Oppose Bills, Right-To-Work Laws

To The Editor: I appreciated the letter by Rev. Marvin James published March 17 and taking a stand against legalized gambling and liquor by the drink.

Christian people of Texas should continue to oppose bills such as these now being brought before the legislators, and oppose them at the polls if and when they are brought before us.

Some may argue that people will gamble anyway, so why not make it legal. That may be so, but for the protection of one's own possessions we would not legalize robbery or for protection of one's life we would not legalize murder.

As Rev. James and others have pointed out, states that have legalized liquor by the drink have had an increase in deaths on streets and highways, an increase in alcoholics, and an increase in different types of crime. States which have legalized gambling have a much higher crime rate according to population than states that do not legalize gambling.

I think Bible-believing Christians must take a stand against these issues. Re-read Ephesians 6:10-18 and be reminded that if Christians fail to take a stand against these issues, it is doubtful anyone else will.

Mrs. Floyd Howell
2409 Morrison

To The Editor: I take exception to your editorial of last Sunday in which you defend the so called "right to work" law. Your facts are not correct, your statements are misleading, and I feel your judgment on this matter poor.

You have not even defined what you call the right-to-work law. This law has never got an unemployed worker a job or kept him one he had. There is nothing in this compulsory open shop law that grants anyone the right-to-work. "Right-to-work" is simply a high sounding term given these laws many years ago by the National Chamber of Commerce. It is nothing new, in the 1800s they called it the "American Plan." Right-to-work simply says that an employer cannot make a contract with his employees through their union that he will not employ those who will not join the union, even if all parties desire to do so.

Repeal of right-to-work law does not thereby force anyone to join a union. It would only permit the employer and a union to so agree if they both desired.

You mention the fact that 19 states have these laws. This is true. Let's look at these states. First of all, they are rural and agriculture states, which Texas no longer is.

Of these 19 states only 5 per cent come up to the national average on unemployment compensation, only 32 per cent have any type of minimum wage laws, only 21 per cent have overtime pay laws and only 26 per cent have laws on child labor. With two exceptions, in all of these 19 states the per capita income is below the national average and 15 of them are the lowest on per capita income.

Texas, while being the sixth most industrial state, ranks 33rd in per capita income. As a matter of fact, we are $800 a year below the average. This $800 would amount to more than the entire income from the cotton, cattle and oil industry in the state.

You say the right to work is not destructive to labor. Let's look at the facts. In Texas, the sixth most industrial state in the nation, only 17 per cent of the workers have the protection of a union contract, while on the national level 30 per cent of the work force is organized.

It is any American's right to favor this discriminating law, but don't do it on behalf of the workers. We can do without this kind of help. If you favor the so-called right-to-work law just admit that you are anti-union and favor low wages.

Sincerely yours,
Frank Parker

City Anticipating Big Surplus In New Budget

By PRESTON MAYNARD
(This is the second in a series of stories on the pending city budget.)
City taxpayers apparently are not going to face a tax increase in the coming 12 months.

A $2,561,680 budget will go to the city commission Tuesday in a public hearing, based on a revenue picture for the City of Big Spring forecast at more than $3 million for the 12 months beginning April 1.

"We anticipate no change in the city tax rate," City Manager Larry Crow said.

SURPLUS

The budget estimates forecast a surplus or balance at the end of the 1965-66 fiscal year of about $459,000, compared to a figure of $500,000 expected for the end of the current 12 months.

Both revenue and expenditures have been budgeted to increase during the coming year. The revenue total is predicted up by about $70,000, to $3,021,578, and the $2½ million expenditure total is some $117,000 above the current fiscal year mark.

Crow and the city commission have discussed the budget figures in two informal meetings.

"We do not foresee any significant change in our financial structure, other than through the one per cent increase in the franchise tax, voluntarily requested by Texas Electric Service Company," Crow said. The increase from two to three per cent in the tax has been estimated as bringing the city an additional $20,000 in revenue during the next fiscal year.

Revenue from taxes, not including delinquent taxes, for the current fiscal year is estimated to reach $758,557. In the budget estimates for the coming year, the projected amount to be collected is set at $775,000. Counting delinquent taxes, penalties and interest, occupation taxes and tax certificates, the total is $826,500 for the coming year, up from just over $807,000 estimated for the current months.

FRANCHISE
Franchise taxes are expected to bring the city $140,500 during 1965-66, again an increase from an estimated $116,887 to be collected in the current year. These include the taxes taken in from gas, telephone and electric companies, taxicabs, cable television and bench advertising facilities.

An additional $24,440 is estimated as coming into the city treasury in the coming year from licenses and permits. This estimate shows a drop from the amount expected for the current fiscal year, of $25,981.

A slight increase in revenue has been forecast in public works facilities, including trash and garbage services, subdivision recording fees and engineering fees. The amount collected through these sources is estimated to increase from $198,000 in the current year to $202,000 in the coming year.

066 in the current 12 months to $201,990 in 1965-66 fiscal year. Fines, court costs paid at corporation court and pound fees are estimated to bring the city $62,150 in the coming year, compared to $61,110 in the present year.

Revenue from property owned by the city is expected to decrease. Parking meter revenue is estimated at $37,000, the same amount anticipated to be collected this year. Golf course revenue is estimated at $19,806, down from $20,136 expected this year. The total for property revenue is $70,298 for the coming year, compared to $72,284 for the present period.

FROM COUNTY
Miscellaneous revenue, including payments from the county for police radio service and fire protection, totals $11,595 in the budget estimates. In the current year, the total estimated as actual take-in is set at $14,284.

Looking at the general fund, budget estimates, the net income available is estimated at $1,132,874 for the coming year. Normal growth, with some increase in tax revenue due to new buildings, and the increase in franchise tax revenue were pointed to by City Manager Larry Crow as bringing increased income. The total resources of the general fund for the coming 12 months, including both cash on hand and income, minus the amount transferred to the interest and sinking fund, are estimated at $1,544,960, or $59,000 above the amount for the current 12 months.

WATER, SEWER
The water and sewer income is forecast at $1,394,707 for the coming fiscal year, compared to $1,343,257 for the present year.

"We can project with a degree of safety the amount of taxes to be collected," Crow said. "But we can't project in the same manner the amount of water to be needed." In preparing the budget, the city cut the estimated water sales below that of the current year. "Our operations will be quite similar next year to this year," Crow said.

The interest and sinking fund is projected at $341,911 for the coming fiscal year, a decrease from the $360,937 expected to be recorded for the present 12 months. The fund is a fixed amount which is not flexible, but determined by the amount of the bonded debt payment requirements, Crow pointed out.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., March 21, 1965 5-B from taxes shows an increase of $6,000, from $132,902 for the current year to $138,412. The amount of money transferred from the water and sewer revenue will be less in the coming year, from $222,525 for the current year to $203,499. Balance for the interest and sinking fund, considering both the cash tax income and the added funds from water and sewer revenue, will again be $138,412, according to budget figures.

Receives P-TA Award

Mrs. Alvin Cole, Sterling City, was presented an honor life membership in the Congress of Parents and Teachers at the district conference Friday at the Cosden Country Club. Two state P-TA officers present for the session were Mrs. John Toombs, Irving, Texas, center, and Mrs. J. W. Miller, San Antonio.

P-TA Conference Registers 158

The annual spring conference of P-TA groups from 11 counties in West Texas concluded Friday at the Cosden Club, with total registration reaching 158 persons.

Election of officers and reports from a series of workshop groups highlighted the Friday afternoon portion of the one-day conference, hosted by the Big Spring P-TA City Council.

An honor life membership in the P-TA was presented Mrs. Alvin L. Cole, Sterling City, president of the conference. Mrs. R. E. Ray, city council president, made the presentation at a noon luncheon Friday at the Cosden Club.

Officers elected for the coming year were Mrs. Cole, president; Mrs. Buford Hull, Big Spring; Mrs. Billy Jones, Silver, and Mrs. Chester Whitfield, Lamesa, vice presidents; Mrs. Clifton Flynn, Sweetwater, recording secretary; and Mrs. M. A. Dunagan, Big Spring, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. John Toombs, state P-TA vice president, of Irving, installed the officers Friday afternoon. General chairman of the conference was Mrs. Ray, with Mrs. Roy Watkins cochairman.

DEAR ABBY

Looking For Something

DEAR ABBY: After 12 years of marriage, how dumb can a wife be? Almost every evening after supper, Joe would ask me if I needed anything from the drugstore or the all-night grocery store. (You know, a woman always needs something.) I would tell him and he'd take off. If one of the kids wanted to go along for the ride, he'd always make up some excuse why they couldn't go. Anyway, he'd never take any of them with him.

He would be gone two or three hours. Then he'd come home with a magazine or toothpicks or some little item he picked up for me, and he would always have "bumped into somebody" who held him up for a couple of hours. Now I realize that Joe just wanted to get out of the house. What do you suppose my Joe is out looking for?

JUST CAUGHT ON
DEAR JUST: I don't know. What does he need?

DEAR ABBY: I recently read an article in a popular women's magazine on the matter of "allowances" for school children. The author advised mothers to get together with the parents of other children in her child's class and decide on a certain amount so that all the children would have the same spending money, and therefore feel that they "belong." Inasmuch as you came out against "codes" for teenagers, I wonder how you feel about this?

MRS. A.
DEAR MRS. A.: Again, this is a decision that should be made by each parent, and not by a "group." A child's allowance should be determined by how much his parents think they can and should spare. This will vary, since all children do not have the same economic backgrounds. I believe that more important than the feeling of "belonging" to a group is for a child to understand that he "belongs" to his family, and must live according to their moral and economic standards.

DEAR ABBY: I have read many letters in your column from people who are concerned about where their remains will be deposited after death. Four years ago my husband and I willed our eyes to the Providence Hospital Eye Bank in Seattle. And our bodies to the Washington Medical School. Whenever I see a sightless person I thank God for the privilege of being able to give sight to another. Willing our eyes and bodies took only 10 days from the first phone call. The total cost for drawing up both wills was $25. A cadaver costs a medical school about $500. Do you know of a better way to donate $1000 to the college of your choice? I am 47 and my husband is 50. We have two fine sons, and have had 25 wonderful years together. And we hope to have many more happy years in the future. But when "that day" comes, we'll still go on being useful. Let others worry about where they are going after death. Not us! We're going back to the university for research. Sincerely,
MRS. H. F. IN L. A.

DEAR MRS. H.F.: Thank you for your heart-warming letter. Anyone wishing information on the procedure of willing one's eyes after death may either write to this column or contact his local LION'S CLUB. For willing the body, your local medical college can provide you with pertinent information.

Natural Gas Processors Will Convene In Dallas

Fifteen hundred gas processors from the United States and Canada are expected in Dallas next week as the Natural Gas Processors Association opens its 44th annual convention at the Sheraton Dallas Hotel. Headline speaker for the three-day meeting will be L. T. Potter, president of Lone Star Gas Co., who will describe the industry as an "Adult Step-Child," along with suggested improvements in the industry's position in the world's energy markets. NGPA President Henry Beeson, Mobil Oil Co., New York, will review past and projected association programs in the industry's behalf. Opening Tuesday, the convention's first events will be meetings of the association's principal working committees, followed by technical and marketing sessions Wednesday and Thursday. Technical sessions will include forums on thermodynamic research, plant design, and computer applications. Market development forums will cover such widely divergent new uses as flame cultivation and the total energy package. In addition, one complete forum will be devoted to technical advances expected to greatly increase LP-Gas use as an engine fuel. The convention's main general session Thursday afternoon will include presentation of the industry's highest honor, the Hanlon award, to the individual who has contributed most to the industry's advancement, with Pot-

Drilling Business In 1965 Appears Anyone's Guess

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Oil and gas drilling operations in the United States so far this year are trailing anticipated levels.

Well completions the first nine weeks of the year were 3.3 per cent behind the same period a year earlier. Exploratory wildcat completions were down 6.3 per cent.

Most 1965 forecasts called for increases comparable to those recorded in 1964—a 3.6 per cent gain in total well completions and a 7.6 per cent increase for wildcats.

Only 1,321 rotary drilling rigs were in operation last week, compared to 1,395 a year earlier. Last week's level of activity showed considerable improvement, however, over the week ending Feb. 22 when only 1,210 rigs—a postwar low—were in operation.

All the slow start for 1965 cannot be blamed on bad weather because the drilling situation in Western Canada has presented a sharp contrast.

Total completions in Western Canada the first nine weeks were 6.3 per cent above the year earlier period. Wildcat completions were up a surprising 22.8 per cent. Western Canada completions totaled 637, compared to 599 a year earlier. Wildcat completions jumped from 197 to 242.

TESTS DECREASE
By contrast, the 7,463 U.S. completions were 258 below the year earlier level. The 1,465 wildcat tests in previously unexplored areas were 99 below the first nine weeks of 1964.

Domestic drilling operations have declined in five of the eight years since the industry posted a record 13,034 wildcats in 1958.

Upward trends were recorded only in 1959, 1961 and 1964. Most industry sources were hopeful another small gain could be added in 1965.

A top official of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors has described early 1965 activities as extremely disappointing but has said there still is hope the year can have a modest increase.

"It appears possible for some of the early year decreases in active rigs to be made up later in the year," said Warren Baker of Dallas, the association's executive vice president.

"The fourth quarter will afford the best opportunity for 1965 rig activity to recover some of the loss now indicated for the first quarter of the year."

ACTIVITY SLUMPS
"Rig activity failed to experience normal year-end growth in 1964. A seasonal advance in the last part of 1965 could push rig activity above late 1964 rates."

The February rig activity slump was worse than that of January.

Baker said on average only 1,337 rigs were in use in January. This was 129 lower than the previous January and the lowest monthly average since the war curtailed years of 1942 and 1943.

Monthly averages in 1964, Baker said, dropped no lower than 1,381.

The Oil & Gas Journal said last week the early 1965 drilling reports have followed an odd pattern.

The magazine said rig activity was down in January and February but the rigs in use were drilling more holes than a year earlier.

"Then the first of last week the footage figures went the other direction," the magazine said. "Footage drilled the first nine weeks was 346,351 feet less than that cut the same period last year . . ."

"With some of the traditional indicators apparently out of whack, it's still anybody's guess what kind of year 1965 will be for the drilling business."

One-Third Of The Nation's Oil Wells Drilled In Texas

One-third of the total number of Rotary bits turning on the bottom of holes in the United States are drilling in Texas, according to a survey made by American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors. As of March 15 there were 431 bits making hole in Texas as compared to 1,321 in the United States.

The same percentage was true a month ago and a year ago, the survey shows.

Rotary bits turning in Texas on March 8 was 407, showing an increase of 24 by March 15. The Feb. 15 report showed 400 active, and for March 16, 1964, 446. Last week's total was 15 under the total a year ago, but has shown a rise since Jan. 1.

West Texas bits turning, March 15, with March 8 figures in parentheses, showed: 103 (98); West Central Texas 100 (101).

Tanker Fleet Grows

NEW YORK—The world's oil tanker fleet is growing both in carrying capacity and speed, according to Oil Facts.

A recent survey shows that there were 3,285 tankers in the world fleet. Their cargo-carrying capacity had increased 6.6 per cent over a year ago.

Their average speed was 15.4 knots, compared to 13.6 knots a decade ago.

Today's hypothetical "average" tanker can carry some 7.8 million gallons of gasoline or other oil products. That is enough gasoline to operate nearly 12,000 average automobiles for a full year.

Small Gain In Activity

The Friday survey of rotary drilling units making new hole in the Permian Basin conducted by Reed Roller Bit Co., showed 187 operating, one more than was reported the prior week.

This is only 26 fewer than 213 reported on the comparable week in 1964. Lea County, N. M., is first on the count with 30, one fewer than last week.

Pecos County with 21, an increase of one, is second, and Eddy County, N. M., is third with 11, up three over the count a week ago.

The county-by-county survey, with previous totals in parentheses, includes:

- Andrews 9 (9); Chaves 3 (5); Cochran 1 (1); Coke 1 (0); Concho 0 (2); Crane 3 (1); Crockett 4 (4); Crosby 1 (1); DAWSON 6 (9); Ector 7 (11); Eddy 11 (8); Fisher 1 (1); Gaines 3 (2); GARZA 1 (1); GLASSCOCK 3 (3); Hockley 4 (4); HOWARD 4 (2); Irion 1 (1); Jeff Davis 1 (1); Kent 4 (4); Lamb 1 (1); Lea 30 (31); Loving 1 (2); Lynn 0 (1); Midland 5 (4); MITCHELL 1 (1); Nolan 0 (2); Pecos 21 (20); Reagan 2 (1); Reeves 5 (1); Roosevelt 5 (6); Runnels 5 (5); Schleicher 3 (4); Scurry 1 (0); STEERLING 1 (1); Stonewall 2 (2); Terrell 2 (3); Terry 3 (2); Tom Green 2 (3); Upton 6 (7); Ward 9 (7); Winkler 9 (8); Yoakum 5 (4); Total 187 (186).

Tech To Host Short Course April 22-23

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech will be host for the 12th annual Southwestern Petroleum Short Course April 22-23, according to J. W. Graybeal of Midland, conference general chairman.

The program, which attracted several hundred men from the oil industry and related fields last year, is sponsored annually by Tech's petroleum engineering department in cooperation with West Texas petroleum industry firms.

Registration and conference headquarters will be in the Tech Student Union Building beginning at 9 a.m. April 22. Jesse Owens, with El Paso Natural Gas Co., will deliver the keynote address for the two-day conclave at a noon luncheon on the opening day.

Following the luncheon, late registration will be moved to the West Engineering Building. Delegates will scatter to Tech's West Engineering and Petroleum Engineering buildings to attend classroom sessions which form the backbone of the conference.

Thirty-three individuals will present a total of 28 technical papers related to petroleum and the oil industry. These will be generally split into four categories to include drilling and completion, case histories and reservoir operations, production lease facilities, production (corrosion control and production) artificial lift. Three papers will be presented on "Drilling and Completion." Jack H. Edwards, Tenneco Oil Co., Houston, will discuss "Automatic Jet Subs for Air Drilling"; Max Gibbs, Halliburton Co., Monahans, "Primary and Remedial Cementing in Fractured Formations", and E. R. West, Pure Oil Co., Midland, "Deep Well Casing and Cementing for the Delaware Basin."

Other papers and speakers will be: "Economics of Waterflooding the Grayburg Dolomite in South Cowden Field", by William E. Fickert of Ryder-Scott Co., Wichita Falls; "Bottom Hole Pressure Analysis" with accompanying field samples, by Norman Lamont and Norman McAnnally, Atlantic Refining Co.; "Ignition Equipment and procedures for Thermal Recovery Project", by Jon T. Moss, of T.O.R. Developments Inc., Dallas; "Case History of Sand Waterflooding in the Seven Rivers Region in Crockett County"; "Hydraulic Fracture Treatment Design", by John E. Smith, of Mobil Oil Co., Lubbock;

"Fracturing Thick Hydrocarbon Reservoirs With Nuclear Explosives", by J. Wade Watkins, of U. S. Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C.; "A Successful Peripheral Water Flood in a Thin Pennsylvanian Reservoir", by R. A. Wattenbarger and B. L. Howell, of Sinclair Oil and Gas Co., Tulsa, and P. E. Loye, of Lobar Oil Co., Oklahoma City.

Imports Will Prevent Gas Shortage, FPC Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — With consumption of natural gas zooming, is there any danger of our running out of gas?

Such a possibility is highly unlikely, the Federal Power Commission says, basing its answer on information from various sources.

There are sound reasons to believe industry's search for new reserves of natural gas will keep pace with the growing demand, the FPC says.

Looking to the distant future, it said imports and oil shale are long range possibilities for supplementing U.S. supplies of natural gas.

BIG DISCOVERIES
"Major discoveries have been made in Canada over the past few years and the geology appears to be promising for such discoveries in the future," the commission's annual report continued.

"Exploration activity in Mexico is increasing. And this might result in new gas supplies for import to the United States."

The report said further that extraction of gas from almost unlimited reserves of oil shale in the United States has been the subject of laboratory and pilot plant experiments and represents another interesting long range alternative possibility.

Also, it pointed out, ocean transportation of liquefied natural gas between North Africa and Europe is being attempted "and this may open the door to another means of bringing new gas supplies to the United States."

transportation of liquefied natural gas between North Africa and Europe is being attempted "and this may open the door to another means of bringing new gas supplies to the United States."

LESS WASTED
The commission said less and less gas is being wasted as the volume of consumption has increased.

"In both 1946 and 1947 more than 1 trillion cubic feet was vented and wasted, accounting for about 20 per cent of net production," the report stated.

"Since this time there has been a steady decline in the percentage of gas lost in this manner. . . ."

"Vented and wasted gas now amounts to less than 3 per cent of net production."

Natural gas imports, the report said, were up 4 per cent in 1963 over 1962, compared with a 6 per cent growth in marketed production. Imports supply about 2.8 per cent of the nation's gas requirements and exports are up slightly, according to the report.

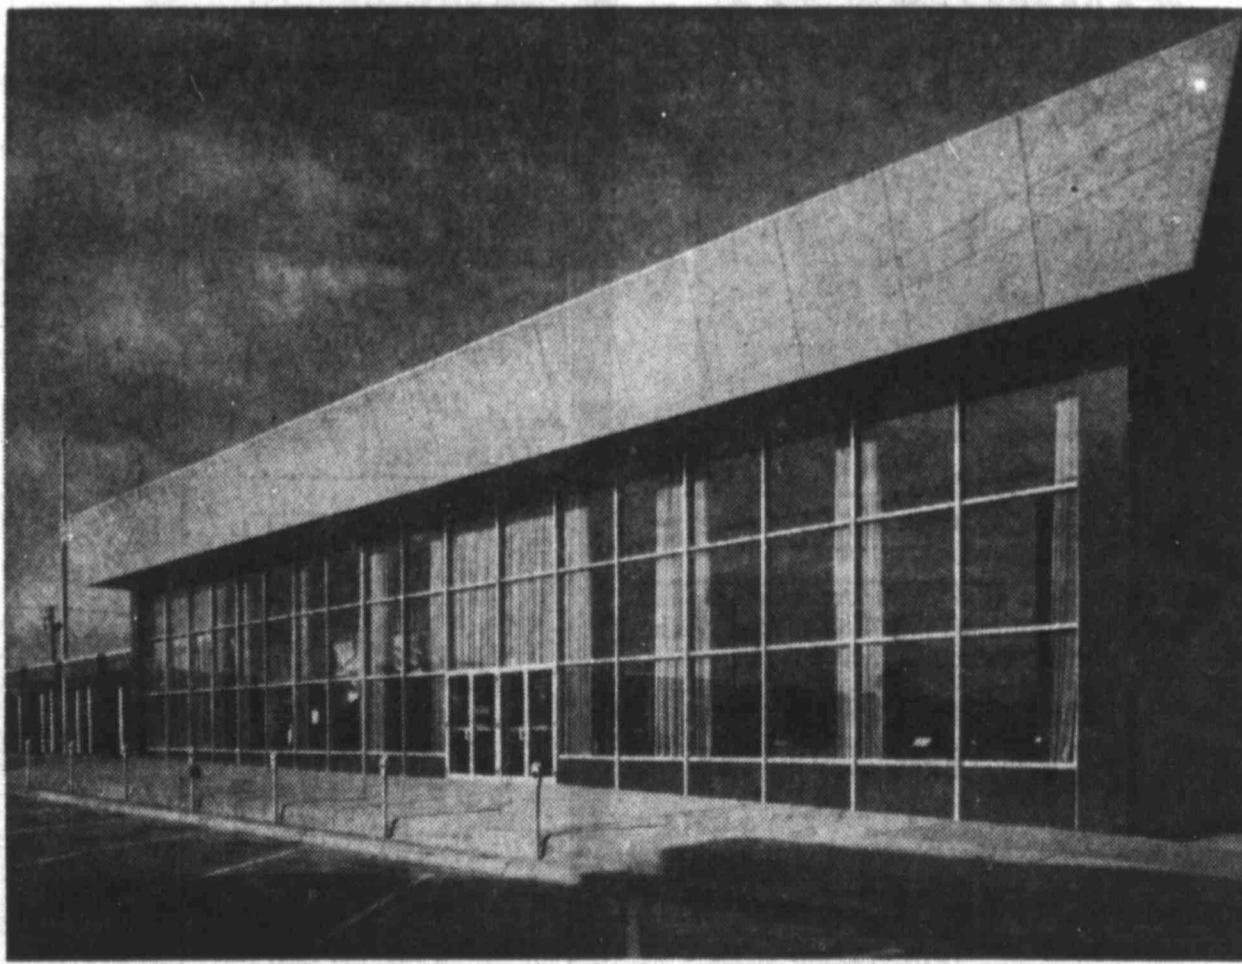

Seven-eighths of the 1963 gas imports, or about 360 million cubic feet, came from Canada, the commission said. Imports from Mexico in 1963 were reported as nearly 50 billion cubic feet, a slight decline from 1962.

"Step This Way"

Fashion this spring reflects the new feminine dash, the vital self assurance that shows up in the spirited young colors, the swiny silhouettes, the little light shoe that, suddenly, is everyone's love. Heels are opened, toes are snubby and full, sides are pared to add to the look of leggy young elegance that is so prized now.

For men, comfort is the catchword. New shoes are supple, soft, yet ruggedly masculine. Toes are rounder, fronts are often higher, and the white shoe is the big new look for leisure.

Children's shoes follow the leader into the adult world of rounder toe shapes, soft leathers, zingy colors. Constructions are downy-light. For girls, sandals are stronger than ever. Brogues are still big with the boys.

Meet Madame President

In her job as president of the Big Spring City Council of Parent-Teachers Association, Mrs. R. E. Ray has just ended a busy week of work with the district conference held at Cosden Country Club. Work with the association has become almost a full time job with Mrs. Ray who feels she does not have time to join other groups.

She previously served as vice president and hospitality chairman of the council and is a past president of the College Heights P-TA which she now serves as parliamentarian. For two years she worked as historian for the 16th District board of managers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray reside at 1216 E. 15th with their son Grady, 12, a sixth grader at College Heights Elementary School. Ray has been associated with Cosden Oil and Chemical Company for over 18 years and is classed as a No. 1 Operator.

Mrs. Ray is the former Yvonne Milam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Milam, 1906 Settles. Her family moved here from East Texas in 1937 and she is a graduate of Big Spring High School. She worked briefly, doing general office work, until her marriage in 1947.

The family attends services at the East Fourth Baptist Church where Mrs. Ray is assistant superintendent of the Intermediate No. 2 Sunday school department.

Grady Ray is a Little Leaguer and plays on the "Stars," a team his dad helps coach. Mrs. Ray tries not to miss a game and helps the organization in any way she can. Her spare time is spent sewing or keeping up with the yard work.

New Boots Look Like Sausages

AP Newsfeatures
Sausage boots don't sound sexy, especially since they are made from the same fabric used in girdles. But they are.

Designed by David Evins, the sausage boot is actually a black leather shoe with lycra leggings attached to it. Naturally, it clings to every curve with the tenacity of a meat casing. And if the leg has more shape to it than a sausage, well, the effect is attractive.

Another new shoe in the Evins stable is the goo-goo sandal. It's the same T-strapped, perforated kind little girls still wear, and made on the same type of last.

Good Grooming Makes Shoes Wear Longer

There are some very important reasons for taking good care of shoes. One of the most obvious has to do with good grooming, or the "cosmetic approach." This means brighter, fresh looking shoes. It means bringing to life the original color or finish of the shoes with cleaners, creams or polishes. Nothing adds so much to a successful appearance as well cared for shoes... the focal point of every costume.

But even more important, shoe care is necessary for good health. Once shoes lose their shape, cautions the National Shoe Institute, they are robbed of the vital function of proper support. Today's polishes do more than shine, their use is more than "skin deep." They preserve the life of the leathers and keep them supple and new looking longer. Polish also prevents stiffness, caused by drying out after exposure to moisture, whether a puddle of water or perspiration.

If your shoes do get wet stuff them thoroughly with paper toweling to dry the insides, wipe them with a dry cloth to remove all water and dirt and let them dry at room temperature. Never put them near any source of heat. Use shoe trees to protect their shape.

For suede, a good sponge will do, and for other materials, a clean, soft cloth does wonders.

Texas Trees, Flowers Examined By Forum

Texas trees and wild flowers were topics of discussion Friday when members of The Woman's Forum met in the home of Mrs. E. B. Compton to continue a study on Texas Heritage entitled "Nature's Gifts."

Mrs. D. D. Dyer told of the numerous varieties of trees native to the state and pointed out to members that Texas is second only to Florida in having the greatest number of different trees. Florida has 324 types. Eighty-five per cent of trees used commercially are raised in east Texas. In addition to the four different kinds of pine, there are magnolia, holly and dogwood in this area. In the post oak belt there are also pecan and walnut; in the blackland area are the beau d'arc, oak and mesquite. There are numerous species of oak in Texas and in the Southwest the mesquite and elm are prolific while the far west is almost treeless. Two oddities noted by the speaker were that in one section of the central part of the state is the ponderosa pine and in another part are cypress groves and each is hundreds of miles from similar growths.

Flowers range from the desert cacti to the primrose of the limestone hills; from the flowers that like much sunshine to those that do best in the shade of rocks. Mrs. Maulden said water, wind and people change the location of flowers and pointed out that cattle shipments from foreign lands had brought in seeds. There are 5,000 native flowers that thrive in Texas.

There are four national forests in Southeast Texas, and one of the points of interests concerning trees in the state is the ancient oak under which Davy Crockett is said to have camped en route to join the troops who fought in the Alamo. The speaker also noted that many trees had been planted in Big Spring for its beautification.

GREAT WEALTH
Texas has a greater wealth of flora than any other state in the union according to Mrs. L. B. Maulden, who quoted from a book on Texas wildflowers. In the state where rainfall varies from 50 inches a year in one section to -10 inches in another, the growth of flowers is enormous.

Concerning the state bluebonnet, the speaker noted the seed does best when sown and that should take place in September.

AUSTIN TRIP
Final plans were made for the trip to Austin with the departure day set for May 3 and the return on May 5. The trip will be made in private cars.

The resignation of Mrs. Elvis McCrary was accepted.

Fifteen members and a guest, Mrs. Gus Brannon of Cross Plains, were present and served refreshments by the hostess and Mrs. Lucian Jones who assisted her.

The April 16 meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Neil Norred with Mrs. W. H. Bain as cohostess.

Brunch Affair Honors Mrs. Robert Loeffler

Mrs. Robert Loeffler was honored Thursday at a champagne brunch held in the Officer's Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. Mrs. Loeffler will remain in Big Spring but her husband, Maj. Loeffler, will leave soon for a tour of duty overseas.

Hostesses were Mrs. Michael Sharek Jr., Mrs. Jack Kimbro, Mrs. Roger Mercer and Mrs. Wesley Brown.

The honoree was attired in a pink tweed suit with which she used white accessories. Mrs. Sharek presented Mrs. Loeffler with the gift of a bronzeware dessert set from Bangkok.

A pink and white color scheme was used in decorations. The white-linen covered table was centered with a massive arrangement of pink carnations and white stock flanked by silver candelabra holding pink tapers and based in green foliage.

Thirty-two guests were served between the hours of 10:30 and 12 o'clock noon.

How Long For Shoes?

Shoe salesmen are constantly confronted with the challenging question: How long should a shoe wear? The average customer tends to use this as a sort of gauge of shoe value or performance. However the chief "catch" to this question is that the answer must be given in terms of time — in weeks or months. This is impossible. Two persons can buy the identical shoe for the identical price. One can wear it out in a few weeks. For the other it will last several months. One of the important differences, of course, is the actual wear given to a shoe. That is, how far did the shoe "walk" in its lifetime?

When a mother says that "Johnny's shoes lasted only five weeks," little Johnny may have covered 700 miles of scuff-slide-climb-jump-run activity. That's approximately the distance from Boston to Buffalo.

If you told a mother that a boy "hiked" that distance, the first question she'd ask would be, "Heavens! How many pairs of shoes did he wear out?" Thus mothers accept shoe wear when they understand it in terms of time.

Brent St. Clair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle St. Clair, had a tonsillectomy Saturday at the Medical Arts Clinic and Hospital. The FHA girls and their teacher, Mrs. Johnny Justiss, were in Odessa Saturday to attend an area FHA meeting.

Bridge Games Open Doors To Friendship

By JO BRIGHT
 "I'm only sad when I realize that today duplicate players are gathering somewhere—and I'm not among them."
 Mrs. Carl Nelson's charming smile implied a facetiousness to what she had just said. However, the casual remark, made soon after she arrived here, has served as a stepping stone to many pleasant afternoons with women who share her interest. The information was relayed from one bridge player to another, and Mrs. Nelson was invited to participate in the various club games.

"The hospitality of Big Spring hostesses has been very heart-warming to me," said Mrs. Nelson, "and I am grateful for their efforts to make a stranger feel at home."
 Mrs. Nelson, recently widowed, found herself getting restless one day at her longtime home in Grand Island, Neb. She had always liked to travel, and suddenly her imagination was caught by letters from her Air Force son wherein he described a town called Big Spring. Quickly disposing of necessary details, she closed up her home and came here for a visit—and found she wanted to stay.

2nd Lt. Clarke A. Nelson is a member of Class 66-D and has quarters at Webb Air Force Base but he and his friends spend time with his mother on weekends or as the training schedule allows. They share an occasional dinner or Sunday drive about the outlying areas of the city.
 Mrs. Nelson is originally from Hastings, Minn., where she received her education and was married in 1936. She and her

Jerry Bardwell Attends Relays

FORSAN (SC)—Jerry Bardwell, Hermligh, spent the weekend visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Bardwell, and attending the ABC relays held in Odessa Saturday.
 Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Oglesby visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Oglesby in Westbrook.
 Guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Lewis have been Mr. and Mrs. Pete Owens of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Owens of Midway.
 Recent visitors in the J. P. Kubecka home were Mr. and Mrs. Wylie James of Bisbee, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Collins, Big Spring.

husband moved to Norfolk, Neb., when he became associated with a firm that manufactured farm machinery. The move to Grand Island, Neb., came when he changed jobs and was named district manager for a large insurance company. Both liked to golf and they did so together at the Riverside Country Club, often completing the day with friends at a bridge table.

Duplicate Bridge Winners Named

Five tables were in play for the Duplicate bridge Thursday evening at the Officer's Open Mess at Webb AFB.
 Winners were Capt. and Mrs. Ron Kibler, first; Mrs. John Stone and Mrs. J. D. Robertson, second; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Steyer, third; and Mrs. Anne Hardy and George Pike tied for fourth place with Mrs. Wally Slate and Mrs. J. J. Havens.
 Games have been cancelled Thursday due to a tournament in Lubbock at that time.

travel. They toured often, one of the most memorable times being the Christmas cruise they took from New Orleans. The holiday had them stopping in the Virgin Islands, Jamaica, and a number of colorful ports along the ship's route.
 Lt. Nelson graduated from high school in Grand Island and from the University of Nebraska in 1964. He participated in the ROTC program, and after joining the Air Force, was assigned to Webb AFB last November. He has little spare time now but when there are leisure hours available, he likes to swim and finds skin-diving an interesting activity.

Mrs. Nelson is an avid reader. "Frankly, I'm a cutter-outer," she explained. "I'm compelled to clip articles, notes, recipes—most everything that I may learn something from." Like most people who make this a habit, Mrs. Nelson finds that the little stacks of clippings accumulate faster than she can fully digest them.
 Mrs. Nelson makes her home at the Park Hill Apartments.

There's only one thing you should buy with your eyes closed

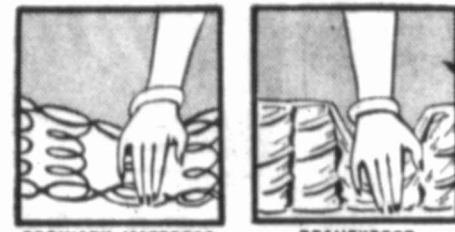

That's a Beautyrest mattress.

All mattresses look alike... same size and shape. They all promise a better night's rest. Confused! Take our advice. Close your eyes and lie down on any other mattress... then on a new Beautyrest by Simmons.

M-m-m-m.

Immediately, you know Beautyrest is different. It's a difference you can't see, but oh — can it be felt. It seems to soothe every tired muscle. It gives just where it should — supports where it should. You sort of float in perfect body-fitting comfort.

(Now open your eyes)... Here's why Beautyrest gives the best rest a body ever had.

Ordinary mattresses have about 300 wired-together springs that sag down together under weight. Push one down and the others sag down too. Beautyrest is different. Over 800 springs are not wired together. They are separate — independent. Push one down and the others aren't affected.

Since independent Beautyrest springs are separate and independent each adjusts to your weight and gives firm, body-fitting comfort. No sag — no curved spine. In a Beautyrest double bed there are "His" springs and "Her" springs — those in between are not affected. Result. Single bed comfort in a double bed. No sag — no rolling together.
 Another comforting thought. Beautyrest lasts longer — outlasts other mattresses by 3 to 1 according to rigid tests by the Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute. Costs only a penny more per night than so called "Bargains" too.

Come in and make an "eyes-closed" Beautyrest test... Just lie down on it. After that you won't be satisfied with other mattresses.

Beautyrest, standard sizes, twin or double... $79.50
 Beautyrest, Queen Size (20% more sleeping space)... $199.50 per set Beautyrest, King Size (54% more sleeping space)... $299.50 per set

FAIRVIEW
A program on table settings was given at the meeting of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Irene McKinley.

A pre-arranged table for a special dinner party was set with a cutwork cloth, china, silver and crystal and a centerpiece of spring flowers. The speaker, Mrs. H. S. Hanson, explained the setting, detailing the correct placement of each item and noting proper seating arrangements. She said special occasion tables should carry out the theme completely and should be attractive from a distance.

The devotion was given by the hostess, and Mrs. Ealy Jackson, a guest from Big Spring, worded the prayer.

Nine members were present to welcome the guests who included Mrs. D. S. Phillips and Mrs. A. W. Thompson from Coahoma and Mrs. Ray Shaffer from Big Spring.

Mrs. W. C. Robinson will be hostess for the April 6 meeting.

A book review of "Man from Cyrene," to be given April 1 was discussed by the United Council of Church Women Friday. Eleven members attended the meeting held at Park Methodist Church.

"Close to Thee" was sung by members, and the devotion was given by the Rev. E. B. Thompson on the book of Jeremiah. Mrs. W. D. Lovelace was named scrap book chairman.

Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Don Wiley for her work on the World Day of Prayer program.

The group signed a letter to Ed Carpenter and David Ratliff, state legislators, regarding parimutual betting, horse racing and liquor control.

Mrs. H. L. Cox, Stadium Baptist Church, reported that 175 patients attended the party given by the club at the state hospital. Songs were sung, scriptures were read and refreshments were served during the afternoon.

Those appointed to the nominating committee were Mrs. Shine Phillips, Mrs. J. B. Hollis and Mrs. W. D. Lovelace.

White Shoe Good In Men's Styles

The white shoe has stepped firmly into the men's fashion picture. Newly important, it is found in brushed, smooth or grained leathers and in easily cleaned synthetics.

White is right, says the National Shoe Institute and it is interpreted in every category for summer 1965. The kitten slip-on, the boot with elastic side gorings, the buckle shoe, the blucher.

There is the sharp teaming of white with black or dark brown, or white accented with a colored sole.

It has brightened up all of men's fashion. It's the light touch for the leisure season.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson, 1318 NW 13th, Andrews, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Neva Jean, to Ronald Dale Green. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Green, 1093 NE 5th, Andrews. The wedding is scheduled at 4 p.m., April 16 at the First Baptist Church. Miss Jackson attended high school at Knott and Achery and is a graduate of Texas Tech.

Minty Chops

When fresh mint is available, chop some of the leaves and add them to cooked green peas along with butter and a smidgen of sugar.

Gourmet Caviar

Ever stuff celery with a mixture of cream cheese enlivened with a little red caviar? Nice as an appetizer or as a salad; if served as the latter, cut the stuffed celery into wedges and arrange on crisp greens with French dressing. Sliced tomato may also be added to the salad.

Progressive Forum Names Committees

A new member was welcomed and appointive officers named at the Wednesday meeting of the Big Spring Progressive Women's Forum. Mrs. Bob Zellars, 3213 Eleventh Place, was hostess to the nine members who welcomed Mrs. C. K. Orr to membership.

Those named to offices and committees were Mrs. Max Green, parliamentarian; Mrs. Ernest Weich, historian and pressbook; Mrs. Buddy Whitten, reporter; Mrs. Ed Corson and Mrs. Granville Hahn, project; and Mrs. Zellars, Mrs. Morris Robertson and Mrs. Whitten, hospitality.

Forsan Study Club Presents Showing Of Spring Fashions

Step Lightly

Going along with a lady's plans to step lightly are all the new shoe silhouettes for spring. Here you see a completely open, unadorned sandal of summer sky blue kid and the Dolly look in a sandal of black and white printed cotton.

Color, Textures Join Forces For Fashion

Through the centuries, the use of color on a shoe has indicated the status of the wearer. In ancient Rome a senator's sandal was red, while patri- cians could wear only black. Later, the luxurious purple shoes carrying rich ornamenta- tion became the hallmark of kings and emperors . . . and so the expression "born to be purple."

Spring and summer 1965 bring a feast of color, color that rock- ets across the fashion picture. Color as soft as a bouquet. Women of every age are offered a fling with colorful shoes, part of the commitment to total femininity.

Fashion, likes the staccato of black and white, experiments with pattern and texture for new excitements. White snake is stamped with tiny black flow- ers; giant black dots liven up white ponyskin; diminutive white checks regiment soft black kid.

The tenderest tones are the pinky blues, the dusty roses, the periwinkles and the shrinking violets. Bold blues are good too.

Convert Cooking

To convert that top-of-the-range braised meat dish to oven cooking, see that the utensil is tightly covered and cook in a moderate (350 degrees) oven.

The Forsan Study Club pre- sented its annual fashion show Thursday evening in the For- san School cafeteria using the theme, "Buttons and Bows."

The window sills were decora- ted with flower and jewelry arrangements and one wall held arrangements of huge buttons and bows of various colors. The refreshment table was covered with a green linen cloth over- laid with white net and was centered with an arrangement of pastel-colored candles on a circular mirror edged with minia- ture bows in pastel colors. At the base of the candles was angel hair interwoven with large and small buttons. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Hostesses were Mrs. J. F. Blake, Mrs. J. C. Ferguson, Mrs. L. B. McElrath, Mrs. H. H. Story and Mrs. Bobby Calley. Sixty members and guests were served.

Mrs. C. B. Long was narrator of the show which featured spring fashions from Caudill's Dress Shop, 1711 Gregg, Big Spring. She wore an acetate and silk two-piece dress of Car- ribean orange.

Mrs. Bobby Calley modeled a hot pink sports costume of nylon and cotton stretch fabric. She also showed a dress in the stretch fabric fashioned with blouson top and sl'n skirt in Lady Bird Yellow.

Mrs. Eibert Strickland showed a slack suit of blue acetate herringbone featuring a sleeveless tunic jacket, lean tapered pants and a printed blouson top. Later in the show, she modeled a dacron and cotton seersucker low-belted shift with orange polka dot material.

Mrs. Elmer Patton chose a sports costume of red, white and blue which featured a red and white tailored dotted swiss blouse and a culotte skirt of blue. For special dress occa- sions, Mrs. Patton showed a beige silk knit dress topped with a tone on tone textured coat. Beige accessories com- pleted her costume.

Mrs. Don Murphy modeled a sports outfit with white tapered pants and tunic blouse of a patriotic color scheme. For occasions demanding a tailored outfit, she showed a dress of dotted swiss topped with a jacket of matching color.

Mrs. Delbert Bardwell showed a Lady Bird Yellow two- piece dress of rayon and cot- ton accented with a smart tie of polka dot material to match the yellow of the dress. Later she showed a multi-striped suit of rayon and silk featuring a double breasted jacket topped with a blue chiffon scarf and a straight line skirt.

Mrs. James Blake modeled a two-piece green print dress styled with a simple overblouse and pleated skirt of a miracle fabric that does not wrinkle. White accessories completed the costume. Also, she modeled a blue linen suit featuring a white embroidered blouse.

Mrs. W. M. Romans chose to show a Moygashel linen frock designed with a low-waisted belt and pleated line reminiscent of the turn of the century style. Beige and gold accessories com- pleted the costume. Later Mrs. Romans modeled a strikingly attractive white knit suit ac- cented by a gay gold and yellow print overblouse with smart draped tie. Her accessories were white and the daisies on her white hat repeated the motif of the blouse.

Mrs. J. L. Overton proved ready for the new season with her two-piece textured linen dress in yellow and brown tones with a blouse of lemon yellow accented with a two-toned tie. She chose to wear bone ac- cessories.

Mrs. Bill Conger modeled a black dacron double-knit sheath featuring a low draped collar accented with a white tie. Black accessories completed the costume. For evening wear, Mrs. Conger chose a floor-length dress of deep red crepe ac- cented with iridescent sequins bor- dering the neckline and waist.

Mrs. Hamlin Elrod chose for daytime wear a basic sheath of blue silk which was completely lined. The suggestion of a cap on the sleeves made the dress comfortable while the plain neckline proved perfect for a single strand of pearls. For evening, Mrs. Elrod went Oriental in a shimmering blue and green evening frock of textured bro- cade with a hint of the A-line in the slitted skirt that revealed a green satin underdress. Dyed-to-match green satin shoes and crystal earrings completed her evening dress.

Mrs. Ronnie Gandy modeled a black and white silk dress topped with a seven-eighth- length black silk coat hip-lined to match the top of the belted silk dress. Black was the acces- sory choice. Mrs. Gandy showed a stunning dress of white Moy- gashel linen trimmed with Irish lace—the dress featured the "My Fair Lady" look. The wide scooped neckline was framed with a large collar and the three-quarter-length sleeves had a flounced trim. She chose stark white gloves and shoes to com- plete the costume.

Mrs. R. V. Fryar selected a red acetate knit suit of three pieces. The jacket and skirt were lined for fullest comfort. The blouse had tiny sleeves to give a cool but covered look with the jacket off. Patent was her accessory choice with a high crown sailor hat.

Miss Orveta Fryar wore a periwinkle blue evening gown fashioned with a strapless mold- ed bodice and full flowing skirt.

Seventy-five guests called.

The tea table was covered with white satin and an over- lay of white net. The center- piece was a silver epergne hold- ing an arrangement of yellow and blue carnations and yellow chrysanthemums, and appoint- ments were of silver.

Bows accented the gown pin- pointing the drape of the bodice and the side sweep of the long skirt. Mrs. Oscar Boeker modeled a pink peau de sole gown fash- ioned with a fitted bodice and an elegant long belled skirt. A shell of pink iridescent sequins covered the molded bodice and formed a peplum accent to the skirt. Long white evening gloves and shimmering crystal earrings completed her costume.

MR. AND MRS. R. L. HOOVER, BARRY AND BOBBIE

R. L. Hoover Designs, Constructs Furniture

By ELAINE CLARK

An original design, custom made, hand tooled or precision built, would be an appropriate label for the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hoover, 2202 Merrill.

Hoover, a graduate of Texas A&M College where he majored in architectural engineering, is now with A. P. Kasch and Sons. He was a captain stationed at Webb Air Force Base, and after being discharged decided to make his home here.

Furnishings in every room are the beautiful result of Russell's expert craftsmanship. A stereo, eight feet long, in a rich walnut finish, highlights the living room. He not only designed and built the cabinet, but built all of the components. The coffee table, end tables and chairs were designed to match the stereo.

As you step into the den, a long, modernistic bar and lounge chairs catch your eye. These were also designed and built by Hoover.

The Hoover's two sons, Barry, 2, and Bobbie, 5, have a "boy proof" room. Heavy, durable, wooden desks have Formica tops for wear and easy cleaning. The beds, chests, chairs, a train platform and track, and educational toys that would "educate" an adult, were made by their father.

With obvious pride, Mrs. Hoover displayed a beautiful sewing machine cabinet, complete with drawer handles that match the dresser, made from 1 1/2 inch brass pipe. She also pointed out a contour chair which he built and she upholstered in gay striped chamois.

PROPER TOOLS
Hoover's work shop would be admired by any woodwork enthusiast and every housewife who "has a place for everything and everything in its place." One side of the shop has a router, belt sander, vibrator sander, sabre saw and a multi-purpose tool which has a table saw, drill press, lathe, drum sander and disc sander. A peg board covers another wall with hand tools for almost any purpose. Small walnut cabinets, made by Hoover, hold smaller items. A large work desk folds into the wall when not in use.

Hoover said that high school and college woodwork courses, together with his father's interest and building ability, encouraged him to take up the craft. Now he and his father share tools and ideas.

Mrs. Hoover, talented in decorating and design, is an excellent seamstress. She upholsters all the chairs, lounges, and stools he makes, and has made all the draperies, curtains, bed spreads and slip covers for their home. In addition, she makes all of her clothes, most of the children's clothes and shirts for her husband.

"I never call a repair man, because Bob can fix anything," she said. His well-equipped workshop is a real convenience to

Dawson County Garden Club Plans Fall Show

LAMESA (SC)—Plans for the Dawson County Garden Club's 14th annual fall show in the artistic division have been completed, according to Mrs. Charneil Jobe, artistic division chairman.

Theme of this year's show will be "Daily News." There will be 11 classes in the artistic division. They are Special, Weather, Farm Outlook, National Debt, State of the Nation, A Prosperous Nation, Prosperity, Strict Economy, New Trends, Sports, and Foreign News, plus a Free Lance division.

The annual show will be held in Forrest Park Community Center and is a part of the Dawson County Fair held in September.

Not Many Corrections

Today we hear far less of such terms as "corrective" and "arch support" and "health" shoes. Back in the 1930's there were almost 1,000 different makes of these shoes. Today there is only a handful. Does that mean that the "medical influence" has declined in the children's field? No, quite to the contrary. The medical influence is greater, but two significant forces are now in operation.

The National Shoe Institute says there is a demand for more styling in juvenile footwear, and a greater public consciousness of the importance of children's foot health via proper fit, more frequent size changes and better quality shoes.

Shoemen, parents and doctors are realizing more and more the psychological importance of shoes to a child. Children resent having their shoes look "different." The shoe industry has done wonders in providing such children with reasonably styled shoes, without sacrifice of foot health needs.

Lamesans Set Talent For Show

LAMESA (SC)—The Ladies Organization of the Dawson County Farm Bureau met in the community room at the Lamesa National Bank Thursday afternoon to discuss plans for the forthcoming Farm Bureau Talent Show.

The show is an annual affair and is open to anyone who has not previously won a first place in their division. There are three divisions in the contest, elementary, junior high and high school. Trophies will be awarded in each class.

The show will be held in the Lamesa High School Auditorium April 2, at 8:00 p.m. Those who wish to enter must contact the local Farm Bureau office for entry blanks.

Mrs. Bob Boardman is president of the Dawson County Farm Bureau Ladies' and Mrs. David Hughes is chairman for the talent show.

Daughters Honor Dads

LAMESA (SC)—A Father and Daughter banquet was held this week by 131 Girl Scouts and Brownies from Welch and Lamesa.

An international theme, with miniature flags of all nations was used on the banquet tables. A world globe, encircled with flags centered the head table.

The color guard presented the flag ceremony and led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. George Costlow, state Scout leader from Stanton, presented the program on the history of scouting and the life of Juliet Lowe, founder of Girl Scouts in America.

The "Slumtown Symfunny" presented a musical program. The group sang "Girl Scouts Together" as the color guard held the retiring flags and the Girl Scout "Goodbye" was repeated.

Drifter Is Latest For Summer Wear

Out of the Midwest comes news that the "drifter" will take its place in the sun, on the sportswear horizon for summer. The drifter, says Ralph Green, president of Minnesota Apparel Industries, is the latest version of the shift. Designed tunic style, it is slashed to the thigh and worn over matching shorts. Cut roomy enough for action, it is covered enough to wear on the beach, on the terrace and even for suburban shopping.

Hoover plays guitar and is particular with his collection of semi-classical records and themes from Broadway shows. "One thing he doesn't do is cook" Mrs. Hoover said. "He likes almost anything I cook, with 'Aggie stew' being one of his favorites. This name came from his mother, who prepared this so often for him when he was in college and she never had any idea how many friends he would bring home with him." The Hoovers are active in the First Methodist Church.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Well, now . . . that springy spell didn't last long, did it? It did warm up the air enough during the forepart of the week to lure the FRED LURTINGS into their pool for a swim. That was on Monday . . . Tuesday the sand took over and Wednesday added some to it which will call for a good clean up job soon, but in a little warmer weather.

When a number of local ladies joined a Hyperion Club for tea and a book review Thursday they covered their spring frocks with their furs and coats. Their pretty straws were bright spots on the cold, cold day. The warmth of Sweetwater's MRS. T. D. YOUNG, the reviewer, brought a glow to the afternoon's program.

We were happy to meet MRS. GEORGE TRUE and MRS. BILL JONES, two attractive newcomers to Big Spring who were guests at the review.

Guests in the home of MR. and MRS. PAUL HATHAWAY are their son and his family, DR. and MRS. PAUL W. HATHAWAY and son. Dr. Hathaway is interning at Duke University Hospital in Durham, N.C.

MRS. HOUSTON PARKER is in Amarillo where she is visiting in the home of her son and his wife, MR. and MRS. TRAV-

IS AARON. She plans to return here during the middle of the week.

MRS. STORMY EDWARDS and her children, Sarah and Rowan, who have spent several weeks here with her parents, MR. and MRS. FRANKLIN NUGENT, expected to return to their home in Ruidoso, N.M., this weekend.

MRS. E. C. HOWARD, who underwent major surgery at Howard County Hospital Foundation at mid-week, is reported to be doing well.

MRS. W. F. TAYLOR and her sister, MRS. J. R. CALDWELL of Bovina had a special interest in the area meeting of the FHA which met in Odessa over the weekend. Mrs. Taylor's granddaughter, Jane Cave of Roby, a state vice president was to conduct the meeting, and Mrs. Caldwell's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles Caldwell of Midland, was to be a speaker.

Mrs. Caldwell will visit her son and his family in Midland for several days before coming here for a longer visit in the Taylor home.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Make Handy Rouge Puffs

Dear Heloise: This is for ladies who use cake rouge.

It seems the little puff never lasts the life of the rouge, and anyone who has ever tried to purchase a rouge puff knows it simply cannot be done!

To solve your problem and have nice, soft, clean rouge puffs when you need them, buy a package of moleskin pads (used for foot plasters). They are soft as can be on one side and plastic-backed on the other.

Cut any size you need, using your old rouge puff as a pattern . . . Louella Ricksecker

Gals, you believe it. It's wonderful. Also, the same idea can be used in vanity cases which come with caked powder . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: This is in answer to "Desperate" who couldn't keep his drip dry shirt tucked in.

Buy three white iron-on patches and press them on the outside of the shirt about two inches below the belt line. Put one patch in the middle of the back and one at each side seam. Result will be no more slipping . . . A Reader

Dear Heloise: I have two birds in cages. When giving them lettuce, celery or other greens, I find it very handy to clip the greens to the bar of the cage with a clip on clothes pin, from the outside of the cage.

The birds like to tug on it and it keeps the greens from the bottom of the cage. Most cage birds are perch-feeders and like to have their greens at perch level . . . Helen Osterbanks

Dear Heloise: I have been reading the various ways of preventing the feathers or down from working their way to the outer edge of a comforter.

When I buy a new comforter, I stitch—either by hand or machine—diagonally from the corners, forming a large "X" completely across the comforter.

If one has a comforter which has been used, just put the feathers back into place, then use this method and it will keep them in place permanently . . . Vida More

LETTER OF LAUGHTER: Dear Heloise: The last time I cleaned my Venetian blinds . . . really was! After cleaning, I tied them carefully with their attachments, wrapped each one separately, labeled it . . . and consigned the whole mess to the attic.

May they rest in peace! My draw-drapes throughout house are lovely . . . Ellen

Dear Heloise: When some delicacy you are cooking needs basting . . . instead of looking for the pastry brush, use the leafy end of a stalk of celery.

It works fine . . . D. A. Angeny

You are right as rain! Not only is it convenient, but it adds a little extra zest to whatever you are basting . . . and no pastry brush to wash after you are finished . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: There are six in our family, and for 18 years I have bought our toothbrushes with handles the color of our birthstones.

Since two of our birthdays are in September, I buy one light blue and one dark blue.

This way there is no mix-up as to which toothbrush belongs to whom . . . Thelma

Dear Heloise: To anchor the crib sheet so little ones can't pull it off, I sew long strips of twill tape to each corner of the sheet. Then I tie the diagonally opposite tapes under the mattress . . . Kathryn Veres

Children Design Own Clothing

GENEVA, Switzerland—Mathilda Siemen, 57, who has held children's art classes for 35 years, asked a meeting of dress manufacturers here to allow children to design their own clothes.

"Children are as frustrated dressing as adults," she said. "Their own inspiration in clothes is as delightful as children's paintings."

Mrs. Siemen also reported that little boys even love to dance with girls when they are allowed to create their own dances instead of copying adult dance steps.

This Season Women Can Walk In Beauty

This season women walk in beauty... shoes are lovelier than ever, softer than before. Focus is on the ladylike look, the gentle look. This is the year of the refined, the proper lady. No more tough chic.

There is a choice of silhouettes, but the goals are the same seemingly a paradox, it all adds up to one thing... Woman. There is the gentle siren, the sexy lady, the girl-woman.

Fashion is nostalgic, reflecting the romantic thirties and is influenced by such sentimental offerings as "My Fair Lady" and "The Sound of Music." It mirrors a woman who is vital, who thinks for herself, and demands an opportunity for self expression in every area of her life. Hence the range of possible looks is broad.

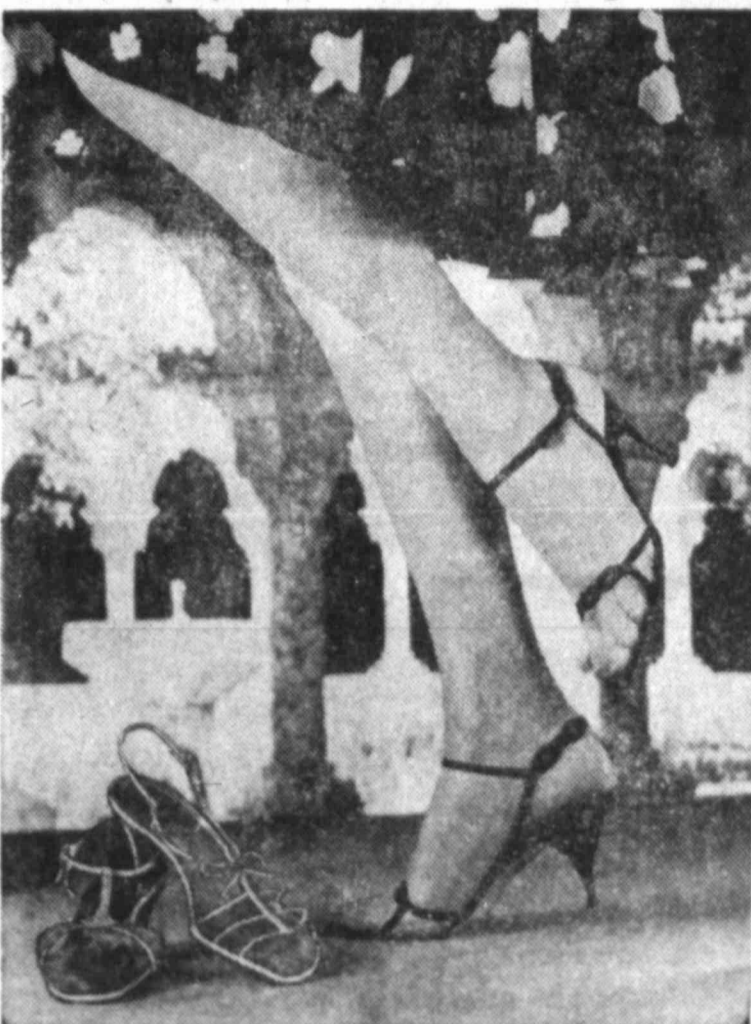

Hemlines sweep the floor or settle well above the knee. Anything goes as long as it contributes to the leggy, casual elegance that is so prized. And the shoes that underline the look are elegant too, in the softest, tenderest shapes of the decade.

THE LIGHT FANTASTICS
The little light shoe carries the most fashion weight, making the open shoe the best investment of the season, says the National Shoe Institute. The look is no longer tentative, no longer experimental. It is so absolutely right that there are expressions of it for every hour, every foray where fashion counts.

Sandals look right in the city, solidly strapped and with swung lowered heels for day. At night they go all feminine and fragile with the barest minimum of spidery straps and higher, shapelier heels. Mules are traveling in town now, wearing wicked little nighttime expressions in sinuous silk, embroidered satin or glove pastel kid.

The ubiquitous new openings lighten an afternoon shoe, give a breezy look to the sensible little walker, awaken the entire fashion scene. The closed pump which has reigned supreme for so long has almost toppled from its throne to make room for the sling. The usually closed pumps are now downright scandalous. Sometimes the heels are opened in strapping new ways, or both backs and sides might open up to exciting treatments of spaghetti straps, tiny buckles, side ties. Sometimes only the toes are bared.

Fashion's latest fancy is the ankle strap, causing a flurry all through the spring scene and important enough for special attention. Ankle straps are going to parties in printed patterns and precious silks, swinging into town in bright kids and reptiles. One favorite look is the long, stringy strap that can be tied in limitless ways.

HEELS AND TOES
Heels, for days are almost invariably in the medium to low range. Designers like the balance of the new broadened toe with a down to earth look at the back of the shoe. Generally the lighter the shoe, the slim-mer the heel. The shelly light-weights and opened silhouettes like the curvy heels. So does any shoe whose destination is dancing. Since the more generous toe curvings are seen everywhere, and a sinuous little satin sling might have precisely the same shape sported by a spectator in canvas or kid, the heel can make the difference. One might be a slender winestem and the other a strong little pyramid or keg.

In the middling to low range, shapings run to the Louis, comma, cowboy wedge... with a surprising number of variations within each type. But then the heels swing up, when the hemlines swing down to reach the longer, below-the-calf length for evening.

Commercial Construction Boom Keeps Steady Pace

The commercial building boom in Big Spring is showing no signs of a let-up with $2,107,000 in major projects currently under way. Probably the largest of the projects is the Highland South US 87 to cost in excess of $75,000; the Ramada Inn on IS 20, US 87 valued at well over a million dollars. Others include the big truck stop at IS 20 and over $800,000; and the Howard County Rehabilitation Center and Health Unit, Lancaster at Third, valued at $132,000.

SMALL PROJECTS
Also there are a number of smaller projects totaling over $110,000. Included in this lot are two new restaurants, an office building at Third and Owens, and a shopping section at West Fourth and Donley.

Ten business firms have signed leases to locate in the new shopping center, and negotiations are under way with 11 others. The center will have approximately 140,000 square feet of floor space, but can be expanded to 215,000 square feet.

Owners of the shopping center are Kent Morgar and E. C. Smith. They report the center approximately 1-16 finished.

Morgan said the Montgomery Ward store and Piggly Wiggly store would be open by Aug. 15. Other stores to be located in the shopping center include TG&Y variety store, Lavender's Cafeteria, Rexall Drug, Caudill's Dress Shop, Fabric Mart, Buy-Rite Shoe Store, a stereo shop and barber shop.

TRUCK STOP

K. H. McGibbon, one of the owners of the truck stop, reports work is progressing satisfactorily. The building permit for the structure was for $75,000. McGibbon said he hopes to open the operation by the first of May.

"We are in the finishing up process now," said McGibbon. A total of 147,000 pounds of steel has gone into the project which will include a restaurant, barber shop, a service station with 25 gas pumps and a motel in the back for trucks. Five acres of land will be under a black-top finish.

Last year the city topped the $4 1/2 million mark in construction. Two of the biggest construction projects that helped the city to hit this mark were the First Baptist Church and the new Ramada Inn, most of which splashed over into this year.

John Gary, one of the church architects, said construction was "going real good" and is about 65 per cent complete. The new church, which totals approximately 70,000 square feet, is to be finished by Aug. 1. The structural steel frame of the building, portions of the roof are in place and much of the masonry done. The sanctuary building will seat approximately 1,100 persons in the auditorium (1,300 when the balcony is finished) and has Sunday school space for 800 average attendance. The air-conditioned building will contain complete kitchen and fellowship hall.

RAMADA INN

Marshall Fields, owner of the Ramada Inn, said "we are almost half finished on the buildings." Target date for opening of the new motel is between May 15 and June 1.

Framing has been erected on the east and west wings of the project and the plumbing and electrical work has nearly been completed. The motel will include a swimming pool, lobby and administration building with coffee shop and private club.

The new Howard County Rehabilitation Center and Health Unit is well on its way to becoming a reality. Architect John Gary reported that the buildings will be finished by the projected date of Aug. 1.

The foundation is in place on the $132,000 project, and workmen have put in place the pre-cast aggregate wall panels. Work has also commenced on the roof. The construction is of structural steel and will have approximately 10,000 square feet of floor space. It is 40 per cent complete.

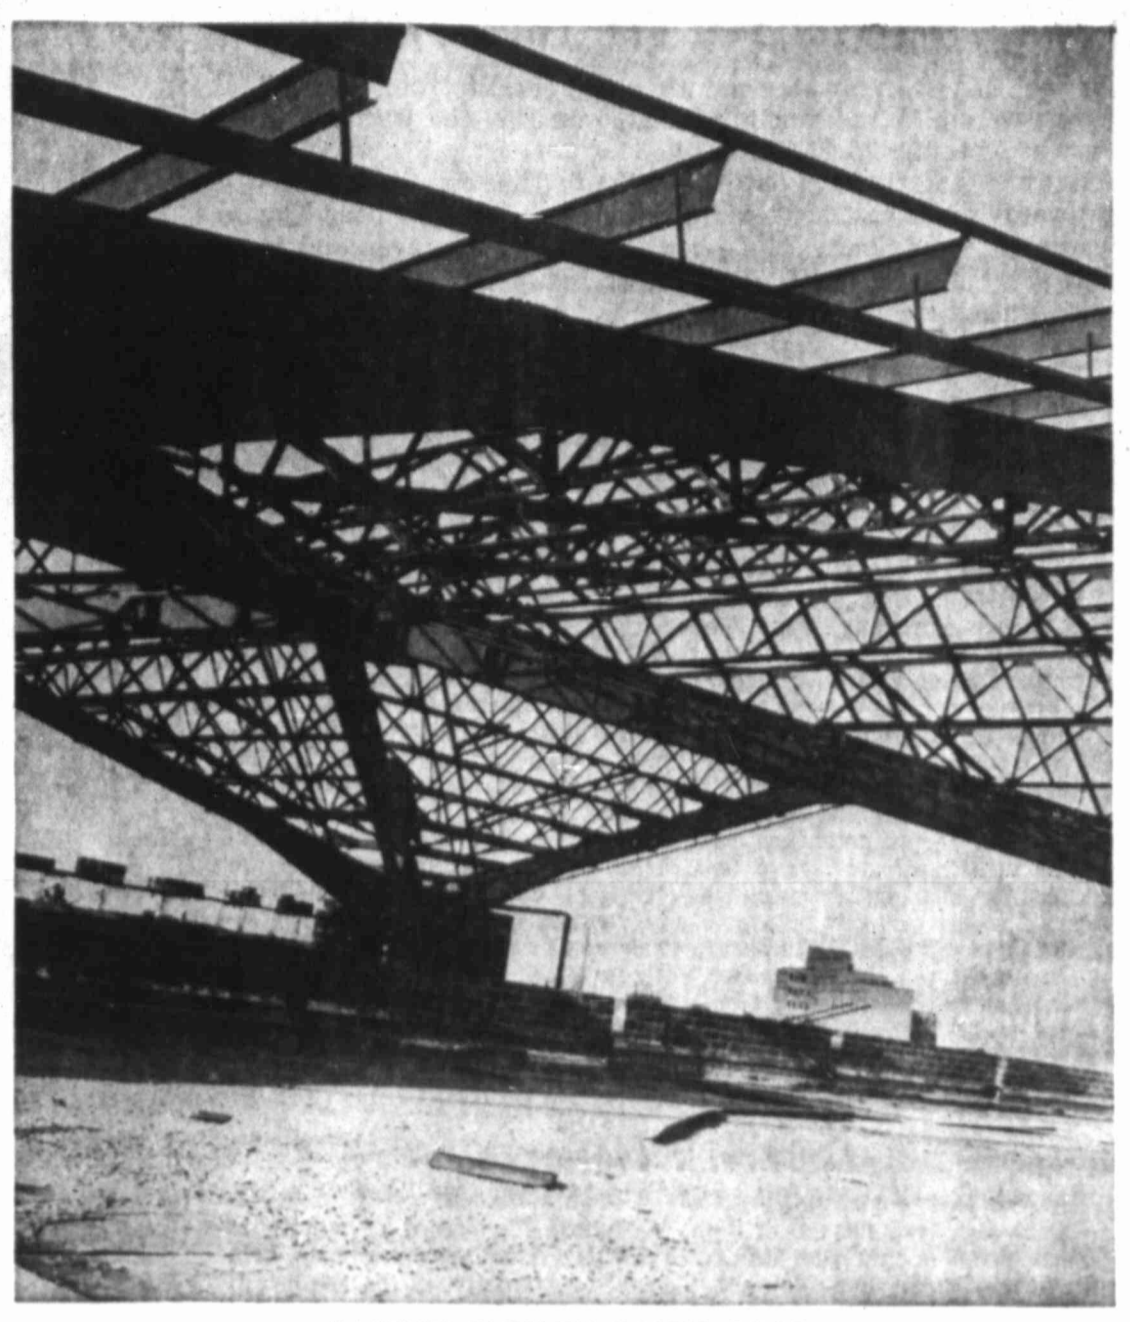

The building includes a special speech therapy room, physical therapy gym, hydrotherapy room, occupational therapy room and the offices of the city-county health unit.

COSDEN

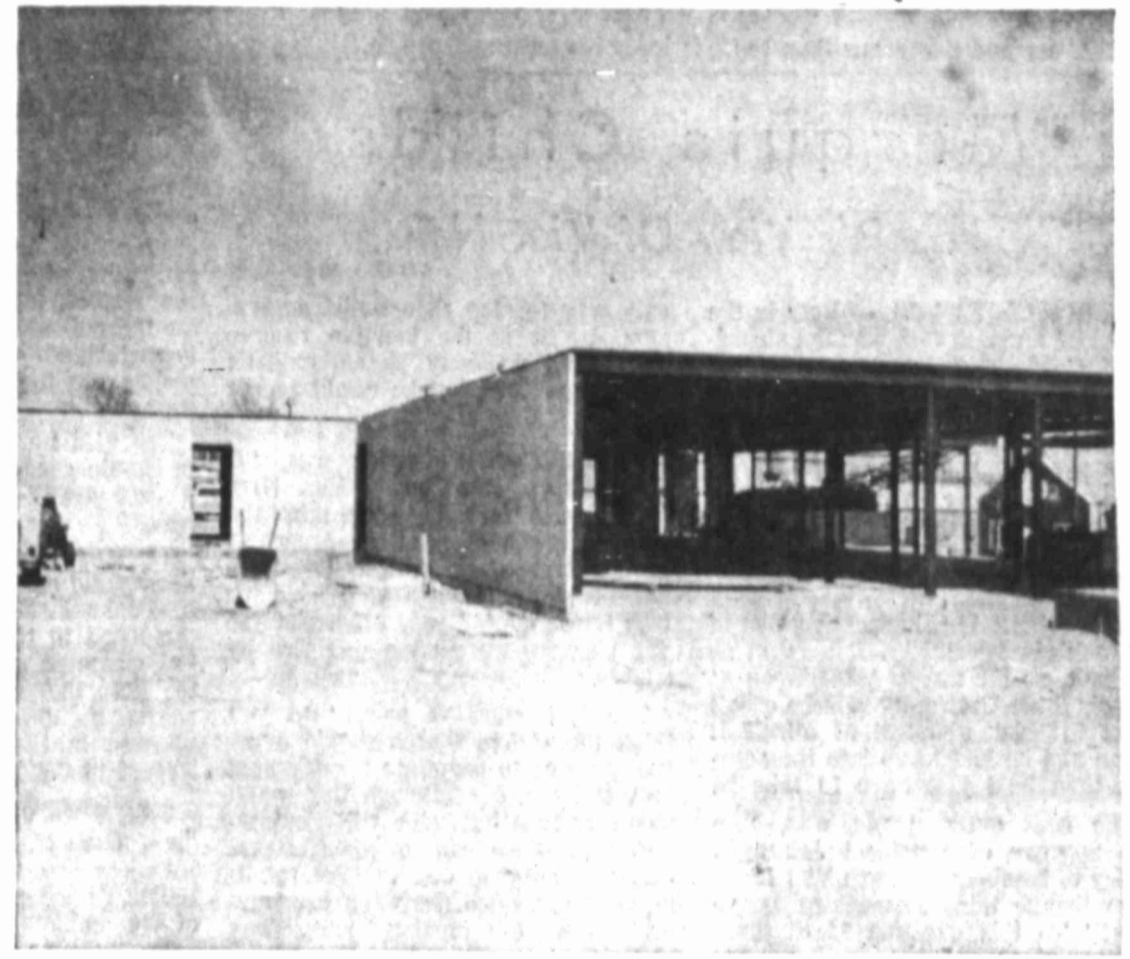

Cosden's polystyrene expansion program is pointing toward a mid-April completion. The company last year invested half a million dollars in boosting styrene monomer output and upwards of three-quarters of a million will have the effect of doubling the current output from 25-30,000,000 pounds to 50-60,000,000 pounds per year.

In addition, ground has been broken and construction started for the $3,000,000 plant which will make cyclohexane for use by El Paso Natural Gas Products Company's new complex making raw materials for Nylon 66.

W. R. Grace & Company now is the shakedown phase of completion on doubling storage and materially boosting the output of anhydrous ammonia to meet the widening fertilizer market in this area.

City Budget Hearing

Public hearing on the City of Big Spring budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1 is set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. This is, as we have rounded citizens for many years, the time for taxpayers to speak up if they have suggestions on how their money will be invested for the ensuing year. It is human not to be bothered until a notice comes from the board of equalization several months hence.

The proposed general fund outlay of $2,561,680 is a record total and reflects the consistent and steady demand upon the municipality for more services. It is interesting to note that much of this is reflected in the areas of public security — fire and police protection—where some $48,000 is being added to bring the combined totals to $636,000. This is neck-and-neck with the water and sewer department which has a $644,000 outlay and which historically has been the biggest of the departments.

This is not to say that increases are not warranted. Indeed, in the matter of additional firemen, there is no choice. Increments and adjustments also are due in these departments. What is significant is that growth imposes demands in areas of service where charges cannot be levied such as for water, sewer, garbage services, for inspections, grave opening licenses, etc. Additional appropriations for parks and playgrounds is another case in point. These things are the services which people want and which make a town more livable, and the desire must be accompanied by more financing.

Deserved Honor

The Southwest Area Council of the YMCA conferred upon Clyde McMahon Sr. its highest honor Friday evening—the Distinguished Service Award for 1965. Only two individuals are chosen in all of the Southwest each year for this recognition.

We daresay that no one has more richly deserved this honor than Clyde

McMahon. His record of service to the YMCA has been outstanding, both in this community, in the Southwest, and for that matter on the National Council. When you come right down to it, few men have been as useful in all areas of community life as Clyde McMahon, an humble man who loves his town and people.

Marquis Childs

People's View Of Viet Nam

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — Here in the heart of America that was the stronghold of the old isolationism, what does the average citizen think about Viet Nam and the risk of a full-scale war with Communist China? To get a random sample of opinion, this reporter spent a morning in a supermarket on the edge of this prosperous city, talking to 27 men and women of varying ages and occupations.

THE OVER-ALL impression was of a troubled uncertainty. It was all so difficult, so far away. A freshman at Illinois State University said he didn't want to think about it at all. If it came and he had to go into the service, then he'd just have to take it.

The first question put was, "Do you approve of President Johnson's policy of bombing in North Viet Nam, even though this risks enlarging the war?" To this question 12 of those with opinions answered yes. "If the President thinks it necessary, then I guess it is," was a typical answer. Backing up the President if the country were in danger was a predominant reason for the affirmative response.

OF THOSE with opinions, nine said they did not approve. They gave as a reason that the risk of a larger war was too great. In this category were four men who had served overseas from three to four years in World War II.

But some of the most articulate replies came from a young man who had been in the Navy from 1960 to 1963 and who had a vivid memory of the Cuban missile crisis of October, 1962. He said he went along with the President, because this was the only way to stop Communist aggression. He is in the inactive reserve and would probably be called back in a larger war, but he would accept it.

THE SECOND question was, "If the military situation in Viet Nam continues to worsen, do you think the President should send in American ground troops, as in Korea?" Here the division of those with opinions was the same, 12 yes, 9 no. But the yes answers were often qualified by doubts.

The last question was, "Do you think the United States should eventually agree to negotiate a settlement in Viet Nam, even though this would mean negotiating with the Communists? Of those with opinions, seven said no. They tended to give familiar answers, such as, "You can never trust the Communists" and "They haven't kept any other agreements, so why should we make another one?"

TWELVE WERE in favor of negotiation, although some qualified this response by saying the United States should wait until the other side showed they were willing to negotiate. Three others leaned toward negotiation, although they were uncertain how it could come about. They were plainly possessed of little knowledge about the history of the Vietnamese conflict to date or the course it might take in the future. They showed slight awareness of what a full-scale war might mean in terms of their own lives.

WHAT SUCH a random and unweighted sample proves is probably very little. These were Americans engaged in a favorite pastime—shopping in a big, bright market, with a range of goods, refrigerators and TV sets, clothes for every age and size, the latest lipsticks, wedding rings, foods fresh and frozen in the widest variety, and, yes, books, that would seem sheer fantasy to anyone in Eastern Europe or the underdeveloped countries. They were interrupted in this pleasant pastime by a stranger and asked about a subject to which they had given little thought.

But their reactions, this reporter would guess, are fairly typical of the reactions throughout the country. (Copyright, 1965, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

WHAT OTHERS SAY

President Nasser of Egypt apparently does not believe that one major diplomatic victory a month is enough. He is now in the process of seeking a second.

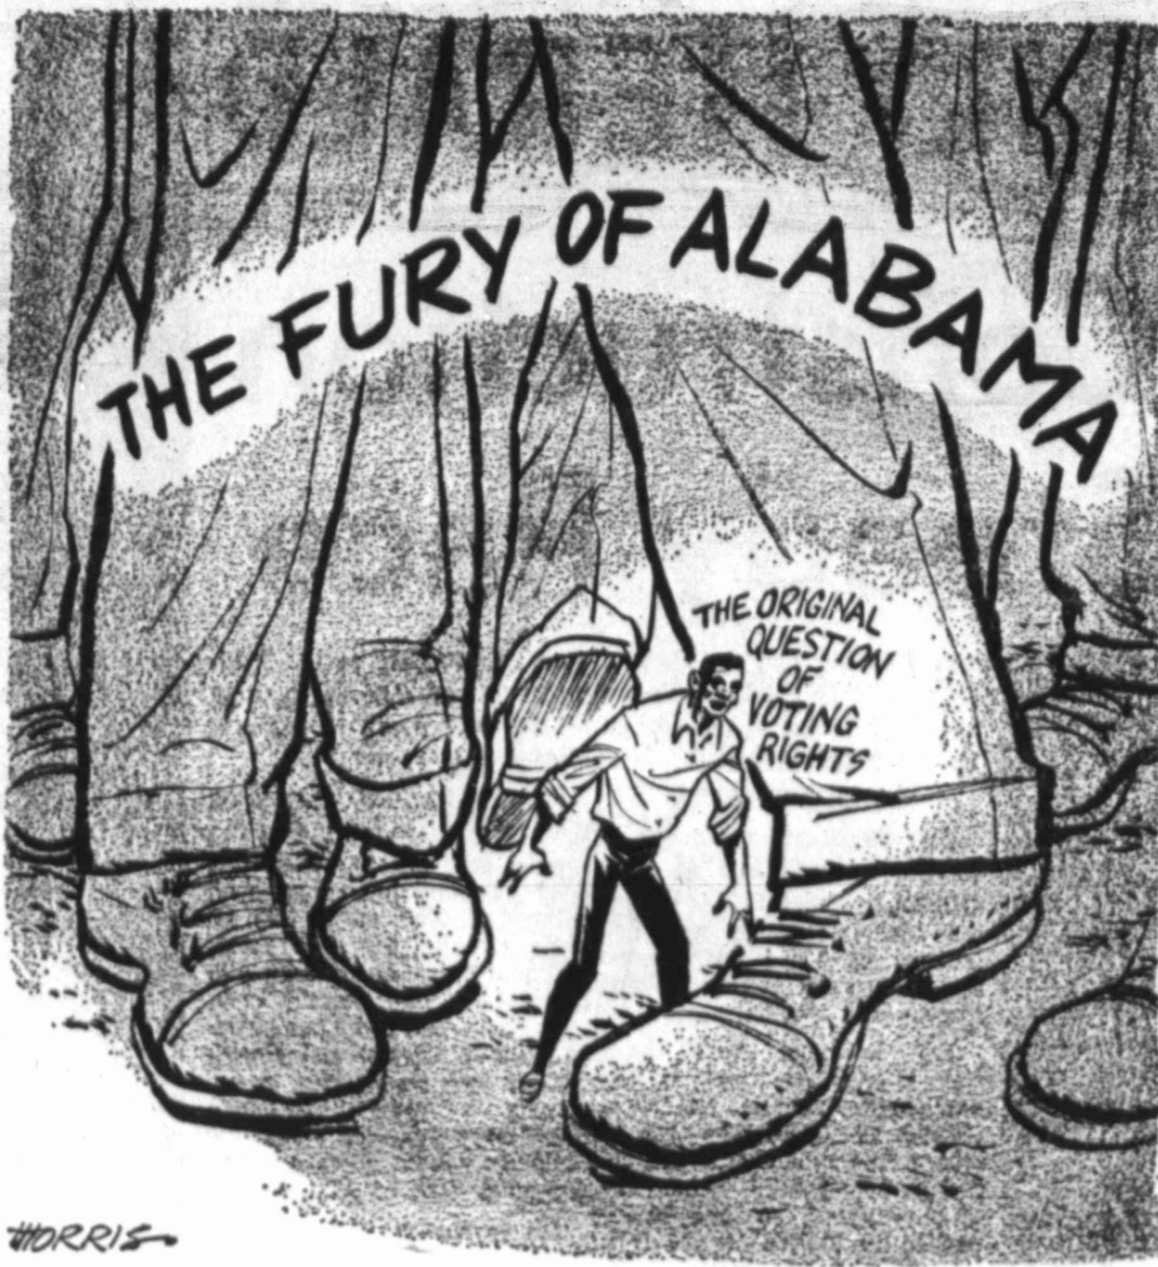

Having forced West Germany to end its shipment of arms to Israel, President Nasser now seeks to humble West Germany still further for the latter's decision to recognize Israel diplomatically. Asserting that the Arabs will win the present showdown with West Germany and Israel, he is striving to organize Arab-wide reprisals against West Germany.

The Western powers — Britain, France, and the United States — should give careful thought to the extent to which they should concur, through inaction, in letting West Germany be further humiliated and President Nasser further aggrandized. Neither result is likely to hasten peace and prosperity to the area.

Despite the intense Arab conviction that the creation of Israel was a monstrous injustice, the overriding need in the Middle East is for an end to the barren and dangerous tensions which wrack the area.

United States intervention was the single most important element in rescuing President Nasser when Egypt faced collapse under a British-French-Israeli attack of 1956. It is just as important that the United States work to restrain President Nasser when he is the upsetter of applecars.

J. A. Livingston Johnson Offers New Economic Purpose

President Johnson has done something for the young generation. He has aroused the sympathy of men for men, of the well-off and well-educated for the not-so-well-off and poorly educated. Beatnikism is yielding to the therapy of purpose.

There is no telling what the economic consequences will be. A groundswell progress is possible.

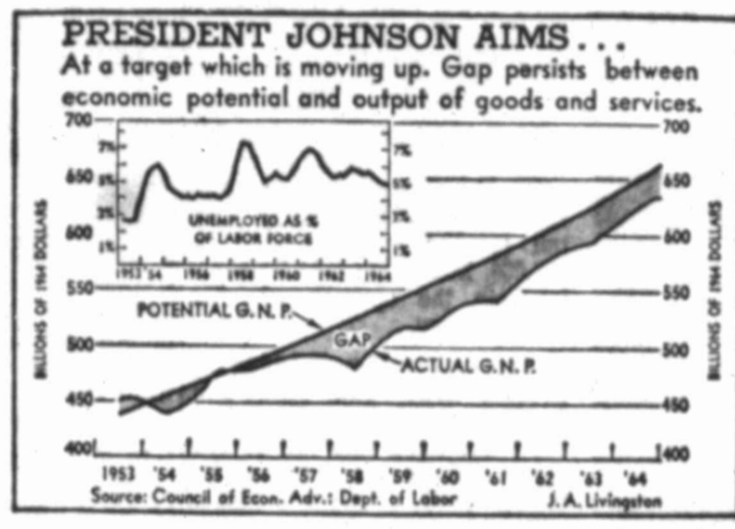

The grand design of the Great Society did not begin with Johnson. John F. Kennedy captured the mood in the 1960 presidential campaign when he promised to get the country moving again. He documented his aspiration in the 1962 Economic Report to Congress.

THE PRESIDENT permitted his Council of Economic Advisors, then headed by Walter F. Heller, to chart the deficiency of the nation's industrial effort—the gap between potential and actual output of goods and services, and what it would take to close it.

This graphic portrayal of deficiency has been repeated in every Economic Report since. Thus, the 1965 report indicates that if manpower and machines had been more fully utilized in 1964, if the unemployment rate had been only 4 per cent of the labor force instead of 5 per cent, the Gross National Product (GNP) would have been $649 billion, not $622 billion.

THE NATION, according to the chart, operated at 96 per cent of potential, a far better record than in early 1961, when the country was just emerging from the 1960 recession. Then the shortfall (at an annual rate) was 9 per cent.

In the immediate months ahead, economic momentum and psychology could further narrow the gap. Expectations are changing. The widely accepted 1965 forecast "first-half up, second-half also up, but not so fast," is tilting higher. Says the latest Morgan Guaranty Survey: "There are emerging hints of greater underlying buoyancy... than was projected in most year-end business forecasts.

At a target which is moving up. Gap persists between economic potential and output of goods and services.

SURE, strike-charged activity in autos and steel has accelerated production. The Federal Reserve Board index advanced to a new high, 138.8 in February, as against 138.1 in January and 128.2 in February a year ago. Nevertheless, an 8 per cent gain in 12 months is a notable achievement.

Even more important, capital outlays of corporations on plant and equipment are expected to increase 12 per cent this year. The confidence multiplier is at work, providing jobs, increasing demand for raw materials, adding to consumer buying power. This should make up for the sag (and then some) in housing starts, which in February were at an annual rate of 1,422,000 compared with the abnormally high rate of 1,550,000 a year ago.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON has lifted minds above the immediate. His war on poverty has directed young hearts away from the materialistic outlook of the organization man. Now youngsters parade, argue over free speech, join the Peace Corps, go to homes of underprivileged families to tutor youngsters whose parents have no educational background, and have a sense of social opportunity: Being their brothers' helpers.

As an example, 4,500 persons quickly joined the Volunteers in the Service of America—VISTA. Reward: Subsistence in an underprivileged home and a sense of mission. This was no downy 9 to 5 stint with opportunity for advancement. It was rugged living — 24 hours a day in a strange, impoverished environment.

THE AMERICAN economic miracle has been characterized by ever-expanding consumption, ever rising-living standards for a larger and larger portion of the population. President Johnson is using an old formula but with new force. He hopes to accelerate this historic process.

Festival Shifts

EDINBURGH (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's cousin, the Earl of Harewood, has retired after five years as artistic director of the Edinburgh International Festival.

During his administration, the festival was a center of recurrent controversy centering on artistic values and rising costs. A successor is to be chosen after a study of the enterprise by a firm of business efficiency experts.

cap, which perhaps might solve the whole problem.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the name of the medication that contains diocetyl sodium sulfosuccinate?—B.H.

D.S.S. is an excellent stool-softener, but because it is used in various combinations, I suggest that you have your doctor choose the one best suited to your needs.

Doubtless most pharmacists can readily name off half a dozen or more varieties of D.S.S. As you know, I avoid using brand names.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain pleurodynia. I have had two attacks—in 1961 and in 1964.—MRS. F. W.

This is acute, excruciating pain in the chest wall, and is commonly called epidemic pleurodynia because it occurs in epidemics, caused by the spread of one of the so-called Coxsackie viruses.

The ailment usually starts with a sudden fever and sore throat followed by severe pain in chest, stomach and chest wall.

Since the trouble then ordinarily clears up in from a few days to a week (or sometimes lasts a couple of weeks), treatment is aimed essentially at relief of the pain. The disease is rarely fatal.

When it occurs in epidemics, identifying the cases is clear enough. In isolated cases, however, I could be confused with a heart attack, appendicitis or some other painful condition. In such instances laboratory tests can make positive diagnosis.

NOTE TO G.S.W.: No, your vitamin tablets are NOT the "pep pills" I wrote about, so have no fear. The latter are drugs of the amphetamine type.

"Vitamin starvation" is possible even if you eat a lot. In order to check your diet to make sure you are getting necessary nourishment, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the pamphlet, "Vitamins—the Alphabet of Health." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is always glad to hear from his readers, and whenever possible he uses their questions in his column, but because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, he cannot answer individual letters.

Around The Rim

Some Are Tall, And Some Are Not

There's something a little different about all of us, you know? And there are days, when Old Man Depression sets in, that these differences are thought of as shortcomings.

Take the matter of height, or lack of it. Some of us have it to marked degree, and either become star basketball players or have problems. Some of us don't have enough of it, and go around with an inferiority complex showing.

THIS IS NOT so significant when you pass life's horizon, true. It's like the fellow who said for the first 50 years of your life you are poor and unhappy; after that, you get used to it. After so much time, one becomes accustomed to being too tall or too short.

Us little fellows may have gotten weary of being called Shorty, or Squatty, or just Little Squirt. Mama used to tell me not worry about the physique, but to think tall. And I said, "Mama, I can't get up that high to think."

THE NAPOLEON bit didn't impress me, either. That character was supposed to be diminutive in stature, but I always kept looking at the people I regarded as most successful in all things, including public acceptance, and they all looked like fine figures of men to me.

But at that, the little people don't have to stoop to go through doors, or have to curl up in the letter S to keep legs from dangling off a mattress. They may have to get a stool to reach the bathroom cabinet.

but they don't knock their noggin on the light fixture.

WHAT BRINGS this dissertation about is a letter, which seems completely bona fide. It is from a young lady giving a South Carolina address who has a height problem, and has the feeling this can be cured in Texas. Here's her letter:

"Do the men really grow tall as they say in Texas? I am taking the liberty to write you, and on the advice of friends. This I am sure is unusual, but I have a very tall problem—me.

"YOU SEE, I am six foot two, and I have never had a date, because I refuse to date a man shorter than I. I am not homesy because I received the 'most beautiful face' award. I am not stupid, I am vice president of a large heating and air conditioning company. I refuse to have my legs shortened. I like them as they are, and I am 22.

"I would like to hear from gentlemen over six feet, from 25 to 40, single, with high morals. I will deeply appreciate your help."

THIS COLUMN doesn't want to get into the matrimonial business, so the name and address are withheld.

But if you've got height, high morals and have no other romantic obligations, here's an opportunity to find somebody who at least understands your difficulty with low doors and short mattresses. I had to disqualify on several counts, one of them I need a stool to reach the bathroom cabinet. And that's about the long and short of it.

David Lawrence Undermining The Constitution

WASHINGTON—Emotional hysteria—the unthinking mood which has destroyed many a free governmental system in the history of the world is about to sweep aside some of the vital provisions of the Constitution of the United States. For this document specifically provides that the states shall determine the qualifications of voters and that the federal government cannot exercise any powers which have not been delegated to it by the Constitution.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON and his Attorney General have presented to Congress a bill whereby any "test or device" established by the states to qualify voters can be brushed aside and federal registrars—appointed by an agency of the executive branch of the government—would then register any voters they please.

Actually, the Constitution, under the Fifteenth Amendment, gives Congress only the power to pass laws forbidding any state to deny the right to vote on the basis of race or color.

THE SUPREME COURT of the United States, which interprets the Constitution, declared unanimously in the famous Lassiter case in 1959 that the states may, without violating the Constitution, use literacy tests as a prerequisite to eligibility for voting. The exact language of the opinion is as follows:

"We do not suggest that any standards which a state desires to adopt may be required of voters. But there is wide scope for exercise of its jurisdiction. Residence requirements, age, previous criminal record are obvious examples indicating factors which a state may take into consideration in determining the qualifications of voters. The ability to read and write likewise has some relation to standards designed to promote intelligent use of the ballot."

THE SAME OPINION quoted from a previous ruling of the high court, in what is known as the Gunn case, as follows:

"No time need be spent on the question of the validity of the literacy test, considered alone, since, as we have seen its establishment was but the exercise by the state of a lawful power vested in it not subject to our supervision, and indeed, its validity is admitted."

There is no authority given Congress by the Constitution to interfere in the way local elections are held or the manner in which voters are declared eligible so long as states do not abridge the right to vote on the basis of race, color or sex.

YET THE BILL submitted by the White House and the Department of Justice would permit the Attorney General to ignore any state laws on voter registration. Nothing more would be required than the filing out of a form for an applicant to be registered and given a certification of "eligibility to vote." This would, moreover, cover all elections — federal, state and local.

In the long run, constitutional government cannot be maintained or preserved if the men who are sworn to uphold it feel that they can change the Constitution at will, without going through the regular process of amendment.

THERE ARE some members of Congress whose consciences will bother them and who will insist upon at least a thorough debate of the bill's provisions and a discussion of the constitutional issues involved. The American people have not yet been told the whole story, and it looks as if it will take a long time for the facts to reach them.

The truth is that if, by the passage of a single law of Congress, the rights of the states can be taken away from them with the excuse that it is merely desired to prevent some possible abuse of power, then the United States will no longer be governed by a written Constitution. Art Buchwald The Pop Sculptor

WASHINGTON—The other day the Canadian authorities refused to allow 80 wooden crates, which looked like cartons of Brillo soap pads, Kellogg's cornflakes, and Mott's apple juice, to go through customs as works of art. The cartons, painted by American pop artist Andy Warhol, were not sold, but the Canadians, works of art but merchandise, and subject to $4,000 duty.

I think the Canadians are all wet. A few days after the incident in Canada, I went down to the supermarket to buy some groceries for my wife. On the way home I stopped in at an art gallery where they were holding a pop art exhibit. Unfortunately, the carton of groceries got heavy and I left them on the floor.

THEN, BEING SO moved by what I saw, I left the gallery and went home.

"Where are the groceries?" my wife demanded.

"Oh, my gosh," I cried, "I left them at the art gallery."

"Well you'd better get them if you want any supper tonight."

I rushed back to the gallery, but I was too late. The groceries had been awarded first prize in the show.

"WE'VE BEEN looking all over for you," the gallery owner said. "Why didn't you sign your work of art?"

It's not a work of art. It's my dinner for tonight."

The gallery roared with appreciative laughter. "He's not only a great sculptor, but he has humor as well," a judge said.

"You can see that in his work," another judge added. "Notice how the bottle of Heinz catsup is leaning against the can of Campbell's pork and beans."

"I'LL NEVER know how he was inspired to put the Ritz crackers on top of the can of Crisco," a lady said to her escort.

"It's pure genius," the escort replied. "Notice the way the Del Monte can of peaches is lying on its side. Even Warhol wouldn't have gone that far."

"I think the thing that really won the prize for him was the manner in which he crushed the Sarah Lee Cheesecake on the bottom of the box."

"IT MAKES Picasso look sick."

"Look," I said, "I'm very grateful for all these honors, but my wife is waiting for this stuff and I have to get it home."

"Get it home?" the gallery owner said in amazement. "I've just sold it to that couple over there for $1,500." "The groceries cost me only $18," I replied.

"It isn't the groceries. It's what you did with them. You have managed to put more meaning into a box of Rinsol than Rodin put into 'The Thinker.' Nobody will ever be able to look at a can of Franco-American spaghetti without thinking of you. You have said with this bag of groceries, in one evening, what Rembrandt tried to say in 1,000 paintings."

I BLUSHED modestly and accepted his check. That night I took my wife out to dinner and the next day I went back to the supermarket and bought another bag of groceries, much more expensive than the previous ones, which I immediately took to the gallery.

But the reviews were lousy. "Success has gone to his head," said Washington's leading art critics. "Where once he was able to produce simple jars of cat food and peanut butter in a wild, reckless, I-don't-give-a-damn manner, he is now serving up elegant cans of mushrooms and mock turtle soup. The famous touch is gone and all that is left is a hodge-podge of tasteless groceries." (Copyright, 1965, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

Billy Graham

I am beset by fears. Fear of decisions I make, afraid of what people think of me, afraid of the future. What can I do to overcome this? . . . T.D.L.

The Bible has the answer for you. Long ago the Psalmist wrote out of deep experience: "This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him, and delivered him from all fears." It is perfectly possible to be delivered from all one's fears, not only from some of them. Again the Psalmist sang: "The Lord is my light and my salvation, whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid?"

A little fellow is not afraid of other boys on the street when he is accompanied by his big brother, or his father. No one need be afraid of difficult problems when he has with him someone who knows the answers, who is greater and stronger than our enemies. Fear comes from looking at ourselves and to our own resources; it disintegrates when we walk with Christ.

Hair-Swallowing Can Become Child's Habit

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have three girls aged 2½ years, 1½ years, and 4 months. The 1½-year-old has begun to pull her hair out and swallow it.

She doesn't do it in temper, but mostly when I put her up for her nap or to bed at night. She always pulls it in the same spot. What can I do? —MRS. J. M.

This habit falls in the same category with such nervous gestures as nail-biting, lip-chewing, nose-picking, etc.

Because of the age range, one guess might be that this is a subtle way of bidding for attention. Study the little girl's other attitudes. Is she jealous of the attention given either to her older or to her younger sister? Sometimes you catch a clue when a child is being scolded or criticized.

In any event, the hair-swallowing should be stopped, since it can accumulate in the stomach as a ball, called a "trichobezoar" which may have to be removed surgically.

Your physician may have some suggestions, possibly a sedative to use at night until the habit is curbed. My own thoughts include the possibility of "mittens at night (although, to be sure, youngsters usually do not like them), or a snug night cap, which perhaps might solve the whole problem.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Special Booklet For Handling House Sale

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Big Spring office of the Internal Revenue Service and answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I worked for the railroad for a number of years. When my job was eliminated they gave me two years severance pay. Can I spread this income over several years?

A—Income is taxable in the year it is received. However, an income averaging provision of the 1964 tax law may reduce the taxes you have to pay on your severance pay. Ask for Schedule G at any Internal Revenue office to get the full details on this provision.

Q—I have some shares of mutual funds. Last year there was a capital gain distribution. Do I have to pay tax on this capital gain now or when I cash it in?

A—You should report this as a capital gain on Schedule D for the year it was received as well as any undistributed capital gains. Most likely you will get a statement from your mutual fund setting forth both of these figures.

Q—I sold my house last year at a profit. However, most of what I gained went to pay for my new home. Do I have to pay tax on the profits I made from the sale?

A—Generally, the profits from the sale of a residence are taxable. But, if you buy another home within a certain period, the gain is not taxable if the cost of the new home equals or exceeds the adjusted sales price of the first home. Also, if you buy a house already constructed, the new home must be purchased and occupied within a two-year period beginning one year before the sale of your old residence and ending one year after that date.

If you construct the new residence, you must have begun construction either prior to the sale of the old residence or not later than one year after the sale, and you must occupy your new residence not later than eighteen months after the sale. Members of the Armed Services may be eligible for an extension of the one year and eighteen month periods. If you are 65 or older, you may be entitled to exclude a portion of your gain even if you didn't buy a new residence. Ask your District Director for the free booklet, Selling Your Home, Document No. 5017.

Q—My son is 21 and plans to be a doctor. Can I carry him as a dependent while he is in medical school?

A—Age is not a factor in determining whether he is your dependent or not. If you provide his chief support then you may continue to claim him as a dependent. While he is in school as a full time student, provided you furnish over half his support, you may claim an exemption even though he earned over $600, assuming he otherwise qualifies as your dependent.

Q—While my son was out of work last year I paid the mortgage payments on his home. May I deduct the interest and tax portion of these payments on my return?

A—No, you may not. Only when you are legally responsible for the payments may you take the deduction.

Q—Our daughter graduated from college last year and was married several months later. Can we claim her as a dependent for the whole year or for just the time we supported her before marriage? She has had no income of her own.

A—You are entitled to either a full exemption or none at all. Exemptions for dependents cannot be pro-rated.

If you furnished more than one-half the support of your daughter for the entire calendar year then you may claim her as a dependent unless she files a joint return with her husband. If she files jointly, you may not claim her exemption. Q—I bought a car last year. Can I take a separate deduction for the sales tax I paid on it in addition to the sales tax deduction listed for this state on my tables?

A—Yes. You may use both the sales tax table and the actual amount of deductible sales tax paid on your car. The table does not take into account purchases of automobiles. But other large purchases for furniture and appliances are compensated for in the tables.

Q—I earn $15 to $20 a week doing washing and ironing in my home. Do I have to pay tax on this income? I don't get it regularly.

A—You will have to pay self-employment tax if your net income from this work is $400 or more. The amount due should be computed on Schedule C and submitted with Form 1040 to your district director's office. Whether you will have to pay Federal income tax depends upon whether your earnings are in excess of the deductions and exemption credits to which you are entitled. Check the Form 1040 instruction pamphlet for details.

Q—On my W-2 form there are two different boxes showing the amount of wages I received. Which figure should I use?

A—Use the amount shown in the box marked "Income Tax Information—Total Wages Paid in 1964." The other box shows how much of your earnings were subject to Social Security tax.

Q—Has there been any change in the deduction allowed for handicapped persons who have to use special transportation to and from work?

A—No, there have been no changes. These expenses are considered personal expenses by the law and are not deductible for income tax purposes.

Two Men At Webb AFB Given Safety Awards

A captain from the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron and a technical sergeant from Organizational Maintenance Squadron were the latest Webb Air Force Base TOPS (To Promote Safety) Performance award winners.

Capt. Alton C. Rockett Jr. was selected as the operations award winner, and T. Sgt. John M. Clarke was named for the maintenance award.

While on a student training flight, Capt. Rockett, an instructor pilot, observed the right main gear had failed to lock down during a ground control approach. Although the landing gear system was recycled repeatedly and the emergency extension system was used, the right main gear would not extend.

Capt. Rockett briefed his student on procedures to be used while the runway was being foamed. Capt. Rockett then maneuvered the T-37 to a perfect left main gear touchdown 100 feet short of the foam. He held the right wing of the aircraft off until airspeed had decreased.

Sgt. Clark was cited for his professionalism and drive to produce discrepancy-free aircraft from his dock. Quality control inspectors have continually reported his maintenance performance "outstanding and free of safety-of-flight discrepancies."

BALANCE

It is said of a certain friend of ours that he went off the deep end.

Strange expression, that! It can mean that a person had a mental breakdown, or that he became a sort of fanatic; or it can mean simply that he got too interested in one thing to the exclusion of other important matters.

And the very fact that our generation has coined such an idiom is indicative of the fact that we see such tragedy every day.

One of the vital contributions of religion to life is its gift of balance. The knowledge of God helps a man see all else in its proper perspective.

In a day when millions are caught in turbulent crosscurrents, faith points to the true center of existence... worship steadies the mind and heart!

"THOSE CALLOWAYS" Brandon de Wilde and Linda Evans

Walt Disney Tells Story Of Small Town Heroics

Walt Disney's feature production, "Those Calloways," brings to the screen a hearty slice of life in New England during the 1930's with warmth, rustic humor, natural beauty, and a talented cast. It opens Wednesday at the Ritz.

Brian Keith, Vera Miles, Brandon de Wilde, Walter Brennan and Ed Wynn bring to life the backwoods Calloway family, and the small town folks in Swiftwater, Vermont. The drama about a man of the woods and his family who fight greed and poverty to establish a lake sanctuary for the great geese flock was filmed in Vermont; first in winter when the snow-covered villages and landscapes look like picture postcards; then in the fall, when the foliage is brilliant beyond belief.

And then there are the birds. The outdoor shots include some wondrous scenes, filmed by Disney's nature photographers, of thousands of wild geese taking off and landing in a New England lake surrounded by multi-colored autumn leaves.

Above all, the picture takes a long, hard look at small town U.S.A., and comes up with the opinion that Americans today are just as proud and principled as they ever were when you do scratch the surface. Not that

Duet Team Closes Concert Season

That rare and delightful phenomenon of a perfect duet team comes here Thursday when Earl Wrightson and Lois Hunt present their "Evening of Show Music."

This will be the season finale for the Big Spring Concert Association. Either immediately prior to curtain time or during intermission, there will be a short business session for members to get reaction on suggestions that reserved seats be made available in future series.

Two reasons have been advanced for this possible step—1) it guarantees a seat (for an added fee) to those whose schedule will not permit them to come early enough to secure a certain seat, and 2) it might

Gazzara, Niven Play Lead Roles In War Film

Two of Hollywood's and television's top character stars, David Niven and Ben Gazzara, team in another wartime thriller, "Conquered City."

The drama, with the same kind of suspense terror and heroics which made "Guns of Navarone" a classic, opens Thursday at the State Theatre.

Also starring in "Conquered City" are Martin Balsam, Lea Massari and Michael Craig.

Niven, whose portrayal of a British guerrilla leader highlighted "Guns of Navarone," again plays a British officer, while Gazzara portrays a mysterious American officer. Both head a group of refugees who, in the story, are besieged in a hotel during the Italian campaign of World War II.

The story of "Conquered City" revolves around the efforts of the group to hold their outpost against the attackers despite the sabotage efforts of a spy in their midst. What happens when one of another of the group is suspected and the events leading to the surprise climax make for an adventure tale which guarantees edge-of-seat suspense and thrills.

'NONE BUT THE BRAVE' Frank Sinatra in Japanese camp

Enemies Become Sometime Friends

Frank Sinatra is the major star of "None But the Brave," set to open today at the Ritz Theatre. Also starred are Clint Walker, Tommy Sands, Brad Dexter, Tony Bill, Sammy Jackson and two Japanese performers, Tatsuya Mihashi and Takeshi Kato.

As the first American-Japanese film made in the U.S., "None But the Brave" was to obtain 12 of Tokyo's actors to portray a platoon abandoned on an obscure Pacific island. The Tokyo players brought to "None But the Brave" a style of acting that often sparked applause from the whole company. To preserve the full flavor of their talents, producer-director Sinatra allowed them to use the Japanese language. Their dialogue, except in the case of Tatsuya Mihashi who also speaks English, is translated on screen by subtitles.

The story tells how bitter enemies reach an uneasy truce when each side understands that the other means to survive, and that each needs the other in order to survive. The truce is last until either group is brought back into World War II. When this happens to the Americans, the Japanese die rather than surrender to those with whom they have shared food, water, medicine and an island.

Photographed on Kauai, an unspoiled spot in the Hawaiian island cluster, "None But the Brave" puts on the screen beautiful scenery. For purposes of the story, a surplus C-47 transport plane was brought to Kauai via barge and truck. A large crew worked many weeks to install equipment and supplies on beach and jungle shooting sites, and then the international cast arrived to spend four weeks filming the powerful story. The balance of the picture was made at Warner Bros.' studio in Burbank, Calif.

Clint Walker takes the best role he has had in his movie-televison career, that of a pilot who seizes command of the Marines from an inexperienced lieutenant, portrayed by Tommy Sands. This is Sands' second starring role in a Warner film. Brad Dexter appears in his third movie, and also third co-starring part, as a trouble-making boxer turned soldier. Sammy Jackson, who heads the cast of the "No Time For Sergeants" video series, co-stars as a Marine scout. Tony Bill co-stars as a radio-operator who brings about the rescue of the Marines.
