Mrs. J. A. Coffey Dies, Rites Pend

Margaretta Coffey, 57, wife of John Askew Coffey and for almost three decades a teacher in Big Spring schools, died at 8:15 a.m. today in St. Joseph's Hospital in Fort Worth where she had been flown last Thursday.

She had been hospitalized here for nine weeks previous to her removal to Fort Worth in an effort to help a lung ailment.

The family and body were en route here today and were expected to arrive in the late afternoon. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home will be in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Coffey leaves her husband, who handles payroll and insurance matters for Cosden Oil & Chemical Company; one son, Dr. Robert Thomas Coffey, Galveston; a daughter, Mrs. W. A. (Glenna) Moore Jr., Fort Worth; and four grandchildren.

She was born Margaretta Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Sanders, in Bowie, on Jan. 30, 1908 and grew up in Fort Worth. After attending Baylor at Belton for two years, she transferred to Baylor University in Waco, and it was at a Sunday school party in April, 1928, that she met her husband-to-be. He was a senior and she was a junior, and when he came here in the fall of 1928, she completed her college work, receiving her

MRS. JOHN A. COFFEY

B.A. degree on May 29, 1929. She and Mr. Coffey were married Aug. 29, 1929 and came immediately to Big Spring to make their home. At that time he was teaching school—later serving as high school principal—and she entered the teaching profession. Except for six years out for her babies, she had continued to teach, and last autumn she had embarked upon her 30th year with the local system. Illness and failing strength, however, led her to resign. All of her teaching career was on the elementary level, and most of the time was in South Ward and Washington Place schools.

Mrs. Coffey was a member of the professional organizations, such as Texas State Teachers Association, NEA and the teaching sorority. She was a tireless worker for the P-T.A.

She also was active in numerous community affairs, among them the 1905 Hyperion Club. A volunteer at Big Spring State Hospital, she had put in well over 500 hours of service.

Outside her home, however, nowhere was she more devoted than to her church, the First Baptist. There she had served in almost every capacity possible, and until failing health prevented, she was a teacher of 15-year-old girls in the senior intermediate department. In 35 years in Big Spring, there was hardly a time that she was not a class teacher or department superintendent. As recently as last summer she organized a group to take special training at the Baptist retreat at Gloria, N. M. In addition, she worked with the Training Union, had been active in the Woman's Missionary Union, and had planned and executed countless dramas, skits and entertainments for church gatherings.

Klan Rejects Meet With U.S. Attorney

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan leader who has asked for a meeting with President Johnson said today he had received a telegram from U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach advising him that a government attorney would contact him.

Calvin F. Craig, Georgia grand dragon of United Klans, said he had no intention, however, of meeting with the attorney, St. John Barrett of the civil rights division of the Department of Justice.

"He is prejudiced against the white people. Otherwise, he would not be in the civil rights division," Craig said. "We feel that we shouldn't have to go through the back door of the White House any longer."

Craig and Robert M. Shelton Jr. of Tuscaloosa, Ala., Klan imperial wizard, sent President Johnson a telegram Sunday asking a meeting after Johnson attacked the Klan.

Texas Sector Deluges Shut Some Roads

By The Associated Press

Hard rains of up to eight inches closed some roads from Central Texas southward toward the Mexican border Monday night and today.

Good rains fell in other parts of the state, but the South Plains and Panhandle, which needed rain the most, missed the moisture.

The heaviest reported rain fell at Mexia, half of it in two hours, causing some streets to be blocked. Water flowed 30 inches over the Lake Mexia spillway.

FARM ROADS

The Highway Department reported some farm roads closed in Limestone, McLennan and Freestone counties.

Local reports said the 5.50 inches of rain at Alice closed some roads in that area. A cool front set off the rains but caused only moderate temperature drops.

Some of the other major rainfalls included Jacksonville 3.82 inches with an unofficial 4.50 south of there, Hewitt 4.85, McGregor 3.02, Danforth Ranch four miles north of Alice 2.20, Waco 2.41, San Diego 4.30, Callallen 1.20, Annville 1.50, Robstown 1.53, Bishop 1.10, Mathis 1.14, Refugio 1.30.

OTHER RAINFALL

Also Papalote 1.70, Orange Grove 1.50, Crawford 1.24, Bethany 1.90, Marshall 1.47, Overton 1.74, Tyler 1.21.

Also Corsicana 1.00, Malone 1.46, Avalon 1.34, Winkler 4.43, Ennis 1.15, Kaufman 2.10, Frost 1.56, Richland 3.36 and Wortham 4.45.

A Cotton Belt freight train stalled on a trestle weakened by the torrential rains near Waco. The trestle sank about 14 inches. Work crews were dispatched.

Hail pelted parts of Dallas during a similar storm in the evening and lightning caused damage to at least three homes and a business place or two. Dallas measured .95 inch of rain.

JARRED BY BOLT

G. S. Dudley, 75, was closing his garage door in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas when "lightning flashed all around him," as Mrs. Dudley described it. She said the shock left him unable to talk for about five minutes but apparently unharmed.

Skies were at least partly cloudy nearly everywhere in the state this morning as the shower activity tapered off.

Terrorists' Blast Wrecks Embassy

Wounded Embassy Official

Seventeen Die And 151 Hurt In Red Strike

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Terrorists set off an estimated 250 pounds of explosives in a parked car alongside the U.S. Embassy today, killing at least 17 persons and wounding at least 151.

Windows and brickwork of the five-story building were shattered.

Two Americans—a girl secretary and a U.S. Army officer—were among the dead, and 45 or more Americans were injured. The other casualties were Vietnamese and non-American foreigners, many of them strolling on the street when the massive charge went off at 10:55 a.m.

Speculation quickly arose that the United States would thrust a mighty retaliatory strike at Communist North Viet Nam, possibly even hitting Hanoi, the capital.

"NO CHOICE"

"After our recent raids North, what else can we do for an encore," an American woman inquired.

Vietnamese soldiers and government officials were accusing Americans and saying: "Now you have no choice, you have to bomb Hanoi."

Seven of the injured Americans, including a woman secretary, were in serious condition. A total of seven, some with lesser hurts such as eye injuries from flying glass, were flown to Clark Air Base in the Philippines for specialist treatment.

TERRORISTS KILLED

The Vietnamese dead included one of two terrorists who participated in the bombing. The other, who carried a pistol, was shot by a policeman just before the bomb went off and was in serious condition.

Among non-American foreigners injured by the blast were a French businessman and several Japanese residents of Saigon. The mighty blast punched a gaping hole in the five-story concrete embassy. It shattered every window in the building and dug an enormous crater in the tarred street.

Flames and smoke mushroomed 300 feet into the air. The death-dealing charge was secreted in a French Citroen sedan which a terrorist drove onto the street.

ONE OF WORST

The bombing of the embassy was one of the worst terrorist blows delivered by the Communist Viet Cong.

It came as no surprise. The embassy has been the target of several Communist terrorist attacks. It had been considered a prime goal of the Reds since U.S. air strikes began against Communist North Viet Nam.

C-City Among Those Losing Guard Units In Revamping

AUSTIN (AP) — Major units headquarters for the new look in Texas National Guard and Army Reserves will be located in Dallas, Wichita Falls, Austin, San Antonio, the state adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Thomas Bishop, said today.

Bishop said brigades replacing the 49th Armored Division will be located in North and East Texas with headquarters in Dallas.

The brigade replacing the 36th Division will be in Central and Southeast Texas with headquarters in Austin.

REPLACING 90TH

The brigade replacing the 90th Division will be in South Texas with headquarters in San Antonio.

Headquarters of the 36th and 90th divisions is located now in Austin, the 49th Armored Division in Dallas.

Bishop said an artillery group headquarters will be located in Wichita Falls and its artillery battalion will be made up of units from West Texas and the Panhandle-Plains area.

HOME OF 75TH

Houston will remain the home of the 75th Maneuver Area Command, with units of the 36th Brigade, medical units and service type units located there.

Some 20 cities where Guard or Reserve units are stationed will lose units under the reorganization, Bishop said. These cities for the guard include Belton, Breckenridge, Canyon, Cisco, Colorado City, Electra, Monahan, Palestine, Pecos, and Whitney. For the Army Reserve they are Boerne, Pleasanton, and Uvalde.

CUT IN NUMBER

Army reorganization plan requires 42 per cent reduction in the number of units, from 367 to 212 now in the guard and reserve program in Texas, and a 17 per cent reduction in the number of personnel.

"This great reduction in units makes it necessary to inactivate units in some 20 cities," Bishop said.

Besides Mutscher, they are Reps. Dick Cory of Victoria, Gene Hendryx of Alpine, Menton Murray of Harlingen, Bill Parsley of Lubbock, J. M. Simpson of Amarillo and James Sluder of Naples.

For the past month Hendryx, Murray, Simpson and Sluder have been interviewing the 150 House members about their redistricting views.

House Vote Nears On Poll Tax Issue

AUSTIN (AP)—A proposal to give Texas voters another chance at deciding whether they want to keep the poll tax was due up for a House vote today.

Sponsors said they believed they had the 100 votes needed to send the proposed constitutional amendment to the Senate.

In 1963 voters refused, 243,445 to 330,008, to abolish the tax as a voting requirement.

Gov. John Connally stepped behind poll tax repeal this year and said he would help round up the votes needed for House approval after the repeal amendment advanced in the House last Tuesday.

USUALLY $1.75 The tax includes $1.50 imposed by the state and an optional 25 cents for the counties, making it $1.75 in most counties. Revenue adds up to about $2.5 million a year. Two-thirds of the state fee goes to public schools.

The House kept busy until late afternoon Monday on a special "suspension calendar," with members taking up bills out of order on a two-thirds vote.

Representatives tentatively approved a bill to require state licensing and regulation of commercial pesticide spreaders, such as crop dusters. Another vote is required.

A Senate-passed bill to transfer Arlington State College from the Texas A&M system to the University of Texas system advanced in the House on voice vote, with a final vote still needed. The measure was amended to keep Arlington from using any of the permanent university fund.

PERSONALIZED PLATES

The House passed on voice vote and sent to the Senate the governor's bill authorizing the Highway Department to issue personalized license plates for $10 over the normal auto registration fee. Rep. Dick Slack of Pecos, the sponsor, said it would raise $5 million a year.

Tentative House approval was given, 109-36, to a bill which would require package stores to close at 8 p.m.—two hours earlier than the present mandatory closing time. An amendment allows hotel package stores to sell liquor up to 10 p.m. if deliveries are made in unopened bottles taken directly to hotel guests' rooms.

The measure is backed by the Texas Package Stores Association as a means of curbing liquor store holdups. Most of these occur between 8 p.m. and 10 p.m., said Rep. Dewitt Hale of Corpus Christi, the sponsor.

Panel Votes Klan Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities voted unanimously today to conduct a searching investigation into the activities of the Ku Klux Klan.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., said the committee's preliminary study indicated "that shocking crimes are carried out by highly secret action groups within the klans."

These groups, Willis said, are known as "knockoff squads" or "holy terrorists."

Willis also announced that the committee had instructed him to go on with his preliminary inquiry into activities of the Black Muslims, the American Nazi party and the Minute Men.

Living Costs Hold Steady

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs held steady in February, the first time in six months there has not been an increase, the Labor Department reported today. Meantime some 13 million factory workers took home record high pay checks.

Higher prices for women's clothing, poultry, potatoes and consumer services were balanced off by decreases in prices for automobiles, gasoline, telephone service and eggs, leaving the consumer price index at 108.9.

The index, based on 1957-59 prices, showed it cost $10.89 in February to buy typical items worth $10 in the base period.

Take-home pay after taxes averaged $95.65 a week for workers with three dependents and $88 for single workers, both 20 cents a week higher than in January. The increase was due to a longer work week the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Public, Not Insurance Firms, Said Unprotected

AUSTIN (AP)— Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas said today the Insurance Commission is sympathetic to companies, but not worried about abuses suffered by the public.

Parkhouse spoke in committee against a bill by Sen. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock to limit health insurance benefits for persons with more than one policy to 110 per cent of the insured's costs.

"It looks like the commission is really getting sympathetic to the insurance companies but they don't seem to be worried about the public," Parkhouse told a witness, American Health Association lawyer John Hanna of Chicago.

"The most complaints I've had about selling insurance is mail sales, and when the people go to the hospital they find out the policies are no good. Somebody ought to protect the public against this type of thing instead of protecting the insurance companies from a few people with extra insurance."

Hanna said overinsurance leads to patients demanding unnecessary services, and to doctors charging higher fees.

"This bill is aimed at allowing companies to take care of a policy holder's medical and surgical needs without allowing them a profit," Blanchard said. The bill went to a subcommittee.

Crude Oil Output Up

TULSA (AP)—U.S. crude oil production for the first quarter increased 122,000 barrels daily over last year, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Production was 7,767,200 barrels daily, compared with 7,645,200 in 1964.

For the week ending March 27, production was 7,792,000, an increase of 6,800.

Oklahoma production was 574,700, up 5,600 barrels. Arkansas produced 73,000, Colorado 93,800, Louisiana 1,632,000, New Mexico 335,700 and Texas 2,675,800.

Anti-Secrecy Hearing Begun

WASHINGTON (AP)—A subcommittee of Congress began hearings today on bills to curb the growth of secrecy in government.

Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House Foreign Operations and Government Information subcommittee, said the hearings will try to reconcile:

"The need for people to be fully informed about the actions of their government and the need for protection of information which, if indiscreetly disseminated, would make impossible the effective function of the government."

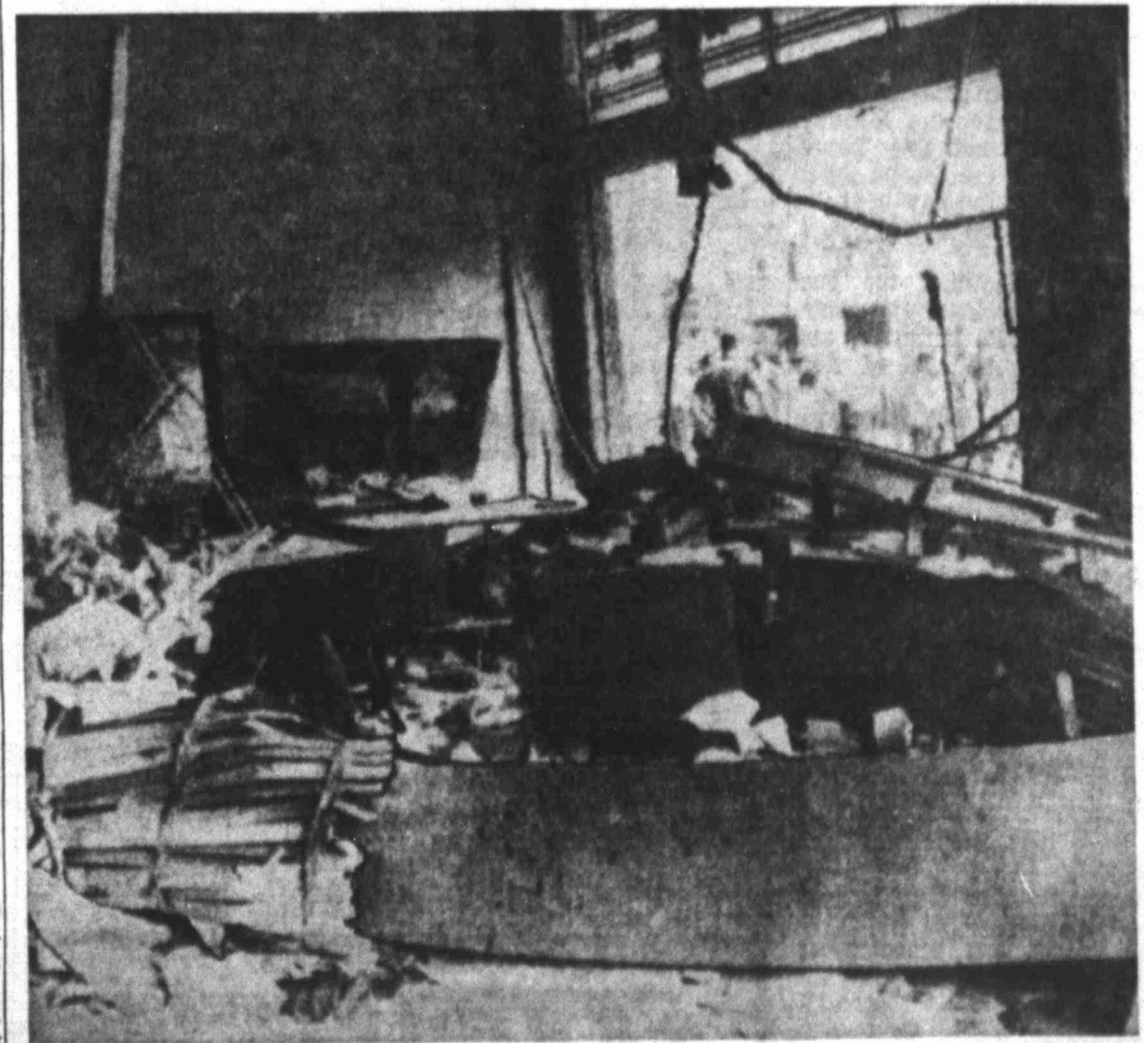

10-YEAR STUDY Moss said 10 years of study by his subcommittee has proved "the unfortunate fact that governmental secrecy tends to grow as government itself grows."

The legislation would force each agency to make available its records to any person. If it refused, the person could

Bomb Explodes At Consul's Home

BONN, Germany (AP) — A bomb exploded Saturday night at the home of John D. Tinny, U.S. consul at Benghazi, Libya, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said today. No one was hurt.

The spokesman said he had no further information on the bombing.

The bidding:
 East South West North
 Pass 1♥ Pass 2♥
 Pass 2♠ Pass 4♠
 Pass 5♠ Pass 5♠
 Pass 6♠ Pass Pass

North and South can make a small slam in either one of the major suits with but a bare majority of the high card strength, thanks to the excellent distributional fit. However, most of the pairs that encountered the deal in a recent tournament failed to get beyond the level of game.

At most tables, after South's opening bid of one heart was raised to two, South proceeded without further ado to four hearts. Inasmuch as North is limited to a maximum of 10 points for his response and South has but 14 in high cards himself, it does not appear likely that the partnership has the assets required for a slam undertaking.

One South saw no harm in making one try on the way up, and over two hearts he rebid two spades—which is a one round force, inasmuch as hearts is the agreed suit. North reacted enthusiastically by jumping to four spades, and South realized that he had struck a vein of gold in his partner's hand.

There was still a possibility, however, that the opposition might be able to cash two aces. Suppose, for example, that North has:
 ♠ Q J x x ♥ 10 x x x ♦ x x ♣ A Q x

South decided to probe further by bidding five clubs to designate first round control of that suit. If North had the ace of clubs as part of his holding, he might be expected to recognize the duplication of values that existed, and merely sign off at five hearts.

North was tempted to go directly to slam himself since his holding in spades obviously solidified South's second suit. Without a control in diamonds, however, North contented himself with a bid of five spades, and South carried on to six. He felt that the slam would hinge—at worst—on the favorable location of the ace of diamonds.

There was nothing to play for the defense could do no more than cash one diamond trick.

Farmers Fear Spring Floods

CHICAGO (AP) — A Minnesota farmer stands solemnly in the middle of his wheat field, staring silently at more than 3 feet of snow covering the fields as far as he can see.

For that farmer — and thousands more — spring will bring mixed feelings this year. Weathermen say balmy temperatures that usher in spring also could trigger the worst floods in 14 years in the Midwest and Mississippi Valley.

SNOW, ICE
 An Associated Press survey today indicated that the bitter winter conditions which linger in much of the nation have left wide areas under deep piles of snow and ice.

Superior, Wis., which had 102.6 inches of snow during the winter, now has 42 inches on the ground. On this date last year, only 9 inches had accumulated.

Snow and ice measure 3 feet deep in parts of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Iowa.

"It takes about a foot of snow to make an inch of water," said a spokesman for the Weather Bureau in Chicago. "If we get heavy warmings, it's like being drenched by a 3-inch rainfall."

Experts consider the situation particularly alarming in Minnesota, where many cities have reported record snow accumulations. The American Red Cross has sent disaster workers to danger points on rivers in 20 Minnesota counties.

FLOOD DISASTER
 Last week state officials set up a flood disaster center in St. Paul, complete with direct wires to six mobile support areas across the state. Red Cross workers also are stationed on rivers in seven western Wisconsin counties where flooding is expected.

Below the snow line where heavy spring rains have been falling, flooding already has started taking its toll of life and property.

Weekend floods were blamed for one death and an estimated $1 million in property damage in Tennessee. Rivers throughout the state were cresting as high as seven feet over flood levels.

Four feet of water poured into the business district of Sevierville, Tenn., on the Little Pigeon River.

Court Upsets Libel Awards

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court overturned Monday two libel awards totaling $40,000 won by two public officials of Mississippi in a suit against Aaron E. Henry, Negro pharmacist and an integration leader of Clarksdale, Miss.

Juries in Coahoma County, Miss., awarded Benford C. Collins, police chief of Clarksdale, $15,000 damages; and Thomas H. Pearson, county attorney, $25,000 damages.

The Supreme Court, in a brief unsigned opinion, cited its March 1964 decision in a case involving the New York Times. In the Times case, the Supreme Court said a public official cannot get libel damages when his official performance is criticized, unless he proves the statement objected to was made with deliberate malice.

Collins and Pearson based their suits on stories which quoted Henry as calling his arrest on a disorderly conduct charge "a diabolical plot cooked up" by Collins and Pearson.

Guard Warned On Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Guard Bureau has published toughly worded new regulations making it clear that federal recognition — and thus federal money — will be withdrawn from any unit which discriminates against Negroes.

The Associated Press learned today that separate regulations, covering the Army National Guard and the Air National Guard, were issued recently and brought to the attention of the states.

WOULD PENALIZE
 These regulations would penalize any Guard units which discriminate against a Negro enlistment, assignment, promotion or similar actions.

Issuance of the regulation was one more step in a year-long effort aimed at eliminating racial barriers in the National Guard.

The Guard organizations of all 50 states officially have lowered such racial barriers and integration has occurred at least on a token basis in all Southern states.

"NOT ENOUGH"
 But the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in the Armed Forces has indicated strongly that tokenism is not enough.

The National Guard Bureau has relied over the years on persuasion to nudge reluctant states into line.

The new regulation gives federal officials a strong weapon, if any of the states should dig in their heels.

Denial of federal recognition would mean that a state involved would have to pick up the whole tab for its unit. The federal government now pays 90 per cent of the cost of maintaining Guard units it recognizes.

This covers pay for drilling and other expenses. The federal government also supplies arms and equipment to federally recognized units. This gear would be taken away if recognition were withdrawn.

Ships Collide Off Virginia

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Two American ships collided today one mile off the Virginia coast. One made it to shore and dropped anchor. The other reported she needed no help.

The ships are the freighter Mormack Altair and the tanker Trans Hatteras.

The Hatteras took on water in her No. 2 and 3 starboard tanks but managed to compensate by ballasting other tanks, the 5th District Coast Guard headquarters reported.

The Mormack Altair, of Moore-McCormack Lines, headed for her original destination of Newport News under her own power.

No injuries were reported aboard either vessel in the 2 a.m. collision, the Coast Guard said.

Three Quizzed In Gem Haul

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three persons about to board a plane for New York have been arrested in connection with a $310,000 gem robbery from a Wilshire Boulevard Jewelry salon.

Police booked the trio — two men and a woman — on suspicion of armed robbery Monday, but reported that they recovered none of the jewels taken Saturday from the Laykin & Cie jewelry concession of the I. Magnin store.

Officers identified the suspects as Gary P. D'Alesandro, 31, Marshall R. Lurie, 28, and Lynn Jenkins, 27, all of New York.

None of the loot has been recovered.

Conservation Service To Farms Mullied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soil Conservation Service finds itself in a state of uncertainty regarding extension of technical service to farmers because of a behind the scenes controversy over whether producers should be charged for some of the services.

The controversy has grown out of a budget recommendation of the Johnson administration that farmers be charged up to 50 per cent of the cost of technical assistance in the installation of conservation practices on their land. At present the cost is borne by the conservation service, an agency of the Agriculture Department.

FIELD EXPERTS

Department officials said such charges would involve around 50 per cent of the technical work done by field experts. The administration proposal is being fought by the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, some members of Congress and a number of state governments.

Under the administration plan, charges to farmers would not begin until the start of the 1966 fiscal year on July 1.

The conservation service was created in the mid-30s to help farmers and other landowners make needed adjustments in land use; to conserve soil, water and plant resources; to reduce hazards of floods, sedimentation in lakes and other impounded waters, and to assist in establishing a permanent and economically sound agriculture system.

$100 MILLION

The service has been spending upward of $100 million a year.

The administration proposes the establishment of a revolving fund to provide funds for carrying out technical services on installation projects. The fund would start with $20,000 in federal funds.

But as the services were extended, up to 50 per cent of the costs would be collected from affected farmers and put into the fund for financing further projects until a part of the costs were collected from farmers.

Legislation to carry this out is being drafted by the Agriculture Department and the Budget Bureau.

Technical services for which charges would be made include terracing and strip-cropping of land, flood prevention practices, wind erosion prevention projects, farm ponds and the like.

The National Association of Soil Conservation Services claims that if farmers were charged, work essential to conservation of the nation's land and water resources would fall off sharply because many farmers could not afford to pay the charges.

MAY BALK

There is speculation that Congress may refuse to go along with the administration plan and will appropriate sufficient funds to continue free work at the present level.

But there is a possibility, officials said, that should Congress do this, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman might be directed by the White House to limit the spending for the technical services.

A number of state legislatures have adopted resolutions opposing the administration plan. A number of governors have taken similar stands.

Of course, there is a possibility that a congressional decision on the matter may not be made before the beginning of the next fiscal year. In this event, the administration would be faced with the question of whether to go ahead and order curtailment of the free services or continue the present way of operation.

Boycott Said Ill-Advised

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — An economic boycott of Alabama products as proposed by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. would boomerang and hurt all Negroes, says Lt. Gov. James Allen.

He said the boycott proposal, made by King on a national television program Sunday was short-sighted.

"It would create a reverse reaction from what he would expect," Allen said. "Further, since the colored people in the state constitute around one-third of the people of Alabama, he ought to be interested in providing jobs for all Alabamians, white and colored alike."

Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers agreed with Allen.

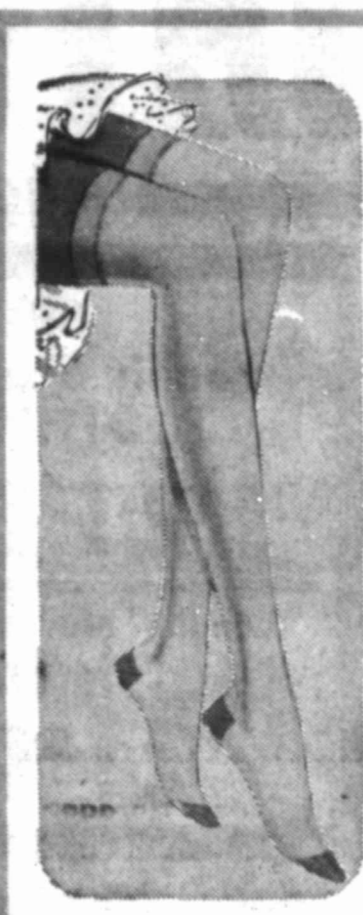

"A great many people would suffer that were not to blame and probably the greatest suffering would be among the Negroes of the state," Flowers said.

DEAR ABBY

Her Problem
A Big One

DEAR ABBY: I have read your column for many years and wondered how anyone could write to a stranger about their problems. Now I find myself doing just that. I feel that I am writing this not for myself alone, but for many others just like me. I am a big, heavy woman — not by choice. I am just "big" and have been this way all my life. I can't imagine myself ever having been little enough to have been a baby.

Abby, we big people have hearts and feelings the same as little women. We are usually the butt of jokes. No one seems to think we can be hurt. Let me tell you, Abby, my heart is breaking as I write this letter. I want love and companionship like any other woman. Aren't there any men who like fat girls? No woman turns away from a man because he is big and fat. But men shun big, fat women. Why? Don't suggest diets because that won't help our bigness. Please don't just throw this letter aside. Answer it, Abby, for all of us who are — BIG AND LONELY

DEAR BIG AND LONELY: My heart goes out to everyone who was not really created "equal." And that goes for the undersized as well as for the oversized person. But "big" people need not be FAT. I AM going to suggest dieting because half your problem could be solved if you were merely a "big" woman — not a big, fat one. You plead for acceptance for the big, fat woman. First try trimming yourself down. Big girls everywhere are enjoying the love and companionship of big men. And some "little men" have shown themselves to be "big" by choosing a bigger woman.

DEAR ABBY: My mother died two years ago and my father recently married again. I like my new mother, but I can't bring myself to call her "Mom." I have tried, Abby, and I always end up feeling so guilty I go up to my room and cry it out. I loved my own mother very much and I know I will never love my stepmother that way. I am the oldest in the family and when I hear my younger sisters and brothers calling her "Mom" it hurts me something terrible. I don't know why I feel the way I do, but I sure wish I knew what to do about it. Please help me, Abby. It's important.

CAN'T CALL HER MOM DEAR ABBY: With your younger sisters and brothers calling your stepmother "Mom," in the interest of family harmony you should, too. You must try to endure your loss (without being conspicuous about it.) After all, the loss to your brothers and sisters was equal to your own. Your stepmother doesn't expect you to love her as you loved your own mother. She just wants you to love her. Give your new "Mom" a chance.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 59700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 89700, Los Angeles, Calif.

Americans To Lose Jobs

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — An Indonesian official was quoted as saying today the state-run oil organization called "Permina" will dispense with the services of its American personnel after their working contracts expire.

Maj. Husni, the manager of Permina, according to the official news agency Antara, said that in the meantime Permina's American personnel "have been placed under government surveillance." American sources here said that an American drilling team of about a dozen is employed by Permina in its exploration oil fields in north Sumatra.

Weather Hints
Further Delay
In Farm Work

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — The weather points to further delays in outdoor farm work. Moisture was very good to good in all Texas areas except the west and northwest where drouth is causing much concern, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Preplant irrigation is heavy in the South Plains and to the southwest.

Wet fields held up work in other parts of the state and the cold slowed planting, Hutchison said. Grazing prospects for late spring and summer look good in favored areas.

Moisture in far South Texas was generally adequate. Cotton planting in the valley was about complete but was pressed in the Winter Garden. The cool weather slowed the growth of crops but all escaped serious damage.

The cold slowed corn, cotton and grain sorghum planting in South Central Texas and caused some damage to flax, strawberries, fruit and watermelons. Carrots are being harvested, cucumbers planted.

PLANTING DELAYED Cold hampered crop and pasture growth in Southeast Texas and wet fields delayed planting. Pastures provided good grazing.

Moisture in East Texas is generally adequate though short in spots. The cold slowed plant growth. Clover and oats provided grazing. Some corn planting and coastal Bermuda grass sprigging continued.

Warmth would help Central Texas where moisture is fully adequate. The cold slowed plant growth and caused some damage. Lambing, kidding and goat shearing were about complete.

In West Central Texas, moisture is adequate and small grains look good. Livestock are being moved from grain fields. Pastures are improving. A good lamb crop was marked up. Cold caused some damage to fruit in northern counties.

RAIN NEEDED General rains are needed in far West Texas where the very cold weather has retarded grass and injured vegetation. The lamb and calf crops were above average. Livestock were being fed. Sheep and goats were being sheared. Labor is short.

Moisture is adequate in Northeast Texas where the cold damaged peaches and caused losses of tomato plants in cold frames. Hay supplies are short.

Hard freezes damaged peaches in North Central Texas. Moisture is fully adequate. Some corn and sorghum have been planted.

Only three of the 22 Rolling Plains counties have adequate moisture. Rain is badly needed. Grain growth has been slow. Fruit trees suffered some damage.

The entire South Plains is dry. Sugar beet planting is near completion.

Some light snow fell over the Panhandle but moisture is short. The snow revived wheat but more moisture is needed to keep it growing. Feeding continued.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The Malaysian government said 30 to 40 Indonesian guerrillas have probably been killed in the past month around the southeast coast of the mainland.

Pope Says Birth Control
Recommendations Vital

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has told the Vatican birth control commission that the Roman Catholic Church needs its recommendations urgently.

The Vatican press office, in the first official mention of the commission since its formation last year in the midst of public debate on the new contraceptive pills, said it would draw up its final report after its current working session in Rome. There was no indication when this report might be presented to the Pope.

Pope Paul's speech to the commission at an audience Saturday, and published today, appeared to be a clear exhortation to the commission to overcome reported divisions. It is said to be divided into three groups. One favors a strict adherence to current Church teaching against any birth control except through the rhythm system. Another proposes limited use of the new pills. Third suggests a more liberal use in the light of world population growth.

New Bombing
Blunder In Viet Reported

SUI DAY, South Viet Nam (AP) — "My God! Oh my God!" the American captain as a Skyraider screamed in to accidentally bomb troops of the 9th South Vietnamese Regiment's 1st Battalion for the second time in a month. Both attacks were on a Sunday.

Capt. Robert Duker of Burlington, Iowa, went down on his knees as he heard the plane dive, then threw himself face down on the ground as the earth heaved under the impact of the bomb explosion. Spec. 4 Roger Waffold of Buchanan, Mich., began shouting, "Aloft Aloft" over his pack radio while running for cover. "Aloft" was the call sign of the liaison plane overhead to coordinate action between the Skyraiders and the ground troops.

BROKEN OFF Waffold's transmission was broken off as the ear-shattering explosion knocked him down. When he could continue, Waffold shouted over the radio, "Stop the Skyraiders. The bombs are falling right on us."

Branches, chunks of earth, rocks and other debris were still raining back to earth. Everyone pressed his face in the dirt as the second Skyraider began its bombing dive. The plane did not release its bombs, apparently after having been alerted by the liaison plane. It was not known whether the Skyraiders were from the American or Vietnamese air force, or why the bombers picked out the government troops for their target.

SCREAMS HEARD In the rear company, the screams of a wounded Vietnamese soldier were heard. Vietnamese soldiers usually do not cry out even when they have been badly wounded.

Duker took over the radio and called the regimental command post to report the bombing. His knees trembling, Waffold, 23, rose to his feet and then sank to a kneeling position, covering his face with trembling hands for a few moments.

"For the second time now, I never thought I would have to go through this," he said. Duker and Waffold moved 60 yards to the rear, where the bomb had exploded. In all, one man was dead and 10 seriously wounded. Many others had minor wounds.

BOMB WARNING Over the radio came word from the Air Force that nine bombs with delayed fuses had been dropped into the area earlier in the day when it was in Viet Cong hands. No one seemed to know when they were scheduled to go off.

Medics worked feverishly over the wounded. The troops left the area, followed by the Americans.

A U.S. Army helicopter and two Vietnamese choppers evacuated the dead and seriously wounded from a clearing 500 yards from the scene of the bombing. Two Vietnamese soldiers were hit by sniper fire as the wounded were taken out.

The door gunner of the American helicopter held a bottle of blood plasma in one hand and fired his light machine gun with the other as the chopper rose and headed for its base.

Mrs. Pool's
Brother Dies

Mrs. John D. Pool, 1103 E. 15th, attended the funeral of her brother, W. T. Wright, 51, of Slaton Saturday. He died in Mercy Hospital in Slaton March 25, after a short illness. Burial was in the Slaton cemetery.

Other survivors include his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Dale Glaze, El Paso; his mother, Mrs. Viola Wright, Slaton; two brothers, J. A. Wright, Slaton, and H. E. Wright, Plainview.

School Funds
Bill Advances

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate Education Committee approved today bills to free county school fund income for financing area vocational schools and to allow state financing of educational television.

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, sponsor of the House-passed measure to free about $800,000 in county available school fund money for vocational schools, estimated about 35 counties would take advantage of the proposal.

Sen. Walter Richter of Gonzales is sponsor of the bill to allow the state to match local district spending on educational television stations.

Philharmonic Hall Fun Night Enjoyed

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a fun night at Philharmonic Hall Monday night, from the moment guest conductor Danny Kaye strode briskly to the podium with a handful of batons and on out the opposite side of the stage. It ended with his announcement 90 minutes later, "Go home. I don't know any more."

Kaye conducted "The Flight of the Bumblebee" using a flyswatter, kept the beat of a polka by dancing a fast cross-ankles polka, sent concertmaster John Corigliano off the stage in dis-

The formally dressed audience included United Nations ambassadors and persons prominent in business, entertainment and the arts as well as conductors Ozawa, Thomas Schippers and William Steinberg of the Pittsburgh Symphony.

Kaye's only reference to the Philharmonic's conductor, Leonard Bernstein, came after he twice had poked at the base of the podium, "Does Lenny chew gum?" he asked.

His biggest laugh came while he was giving a double-talk explanation of the deeper significance of the 11th movement of a modern work. The piece, when played, included a melancholy cello solo, a duet of whistles and cap guns and ended in full-orchestra cacophony.

Musically, the New York Philharmonic persevered. All pieces were short and all were conducted to a spectacular, loud finish.

Kaye directed his first pension fund benefit in 1954 in Philadelphia. He has waved the stick since in Boston, New York, Dallas, Oklahoma City and Detroit in concerts which have raised more than $1 million for orchestral pension funds.

He claims not to be able to read a note of music.

and Den 1 the best uniform award.

The following boys received awards: Arrow points — George Clarke (2), Larry Clarke (2), Chris Parent, Stephen Conley (2), David Coates (3), Jerry Dunne (2), James Renfro, Jerry Williams; Webelos badge — David Tidwell; Denner badge and Bear badge — Stephen Conley.

The next regular meeting will be April 26, and a leaders meeting will be April 13.

Space Twins Take In N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—A visit to a Broadway show and a post-midnight snack at a swank night club capped a big day for America's Gemini astronauts, Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young.

During their 14½-hour day Monday, they were soaked by rain, bathed in adulation, warmed up in a steam bath — and cheered everywhere.

CAROL CHANNING

WET PARADE

Their triumphant tour of New York City began in the wet and chill of a ticker-tape parade to City Hall and wound up with a salute from 1,600 theatergoers at the hit musical "Hello, Dolly!"

They chatted with the star, Carol Channing, then pushed through 2,000 admirers outside the theater. The astronauts and their wives were whisked to the 21 Club and then back to their hotel suite shortly before 1 a.m.

While Grissom, 38, shook hands with a long line of dignitaries at a reception in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Monday night, a 16-year-old girl popped up at the invitation-only affair and introduced herself.

NO. 1 FAN
"You finally made it, Andrea!" Grissom exclaimed. "This is my No. 1 fan," Grissom said, turning to Navy Lt. Cmdr. Young, 34, and Mrs. Young.

The girl was Andrea Kline of Queens Village, N.Y., who has been writing to Grissom, an Air Force major, and sending him gifts for five years. This time she gave him a set of cuff links. Earlier, leaving a luncheon in the Waldorf, Young spun around when a man called out, "Hello John."

"George? How are you, George?" responded Young. The man, George W. Vanderweghe, 33, shouldered through the security detail to greet Young and his wife.

Vanderweghe served with Young in the Navy in Jacksonville, Fla., from 1955 to 1957 and was an usher at the Youngs' wedding in 1956. He lives in Scarsdale, N.Y., and is an accounting manager.

"OLD FRIEND"
"It's awfully good to see an old friend again," said Young. Some 1,500 guests gathered at the Waldorf reception, but before making an appearance, Grissom and Young spent an hour in a steam bath recuperating from the Broadway parade.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner kept the afternoon ceremonies on the open portico of City Hall brief, out of deference to the two heroes and the equally drenched Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Jet Crashes 75 Minutes After Its Pilot Bails Out

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — An Air Force jet plane finally ran out of fuel and crashed 75 minutes after its pilot bailed out Monday.

The $2-million F102 fighter-interceptor, an 800 m.p.h. Delta wing craft, came down in hilly terrain northeast of Stockton, Mo., a mile from the nearest farmhouse.

That is about 75 miles south-east of Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base where Maj. Donald Felty had taken off in the unarmed plane on a routine training flight.

Felty said the hydraulic system failed and he couldn't control the aircraft so he bailed out at 12,000 feet about 50 miles south of the base. Felty was bruised and shaken up.

To his amazement the plane stayed in the air and became a menace as it wandered hundreds of miles over western Missouri.

Four other fighter pilots, directed by radar, caught up with the unmanned plane and took turns riding herd on it.

When it headed for Sedalia, then Kansas City, then Springfield, and Kansas City again they flew alongside, creating air turbulence that made the plane turn. Its altitude ranged from 6,000 to 18,000 feet. Finally, out of fuel, the jet nosed over into clouds at 4,000 feet.

Cancer Drive Plans Made

Workers for the business division of the Cancer Crusade, to begin here Thursday, received a briefing and campaign materials Monday night.

The businesses of the city will be divided into sections for the crusade, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, general chairman, said. Both shopping centers and the downtown area will be involved in the annual effort to raise funds.

R. C. Taylor, a representative of the American Cancer Society from Midland, talked to the workers and presented a film on the fight against cancer.

Chairmen of the business division of the crusade are Mrs. Clyde Thomas and Mrs. Rube McNew.

A meeting is planned from 1 to 3 p.m. Friday for workers who will join in the house-to-house march in the city April 27th. Mrs. Jack Haralson is chairman of the residential division. The meeting Friday will be in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Company, where the meeting Monday night was also held.

Pharmacists Organize Recently

LAMESA (SC) — Twenty-five pharmacists representing seven counties recently organized the Caprock Pharmaceutical Association.

Officers elected to head the new organization were Punch Nelson of Seminole, president; Wayne Gound, Big Spring, vice president; Ray Evans, Lamesa, secretary-treasurer; and Reeves Cothes, Seminole, E. E. Wright, Lamesa, and Bonner Lytle, Brownfield, directors.

Three officers of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association from Lubbock were present for the organizational meeting. The association will meet once every two months in Lamesa.

Nazi Criminal Gets Stiff Penalty

ESSEN, Germany (AP) — A sentence of 10 life prison terms has been given former S.S. Col. Albert Rapp. It is one of the severest penalties given a Nazi war criminal by a West German court.

Rapp was convicted of personally participating in 10 mass executions in the town of Klynzy. The court Monday imposed the maximum sentence for each case.

Lee Stinson Dies

Services were held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the First Methodist Church in Snyder for Lee Stinson, long-time druggist at Snyder. Mr. Stinson, a former member of the State Board of Pharmacy, died Sunday evening at a Snyder hospital. Burial was in Hillside Cemetery in his home city.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Make File Cards For Easy Storage

Dear Heloise: When putting boxes away in the attic or basement, number each box with a crayon. Then number an index card and list and label what each box contains.

Tape the cards on the back of the door to the attic or storage room. Saves you time when you go to look for some particular thing in storage. Joanne S. McCarty

Dear Heloise: For grated cheese without a sticky mess on the grater... put the piece of cheese in your freezer for 30 or 40 minutes. It then grates firmly—no fuss, Heloise and much quicker. Mrs. Richard Smith

Dear Heloise: I always tell my house "good-night."

When all are tucked away, I pick up papers, books and anything not in place.

Next day I find I have that much less to do, and that's a big help in my busy day. D. Duplantis

Besides, it's a much better start for the day, isn't it? No cluttered living room staring you in the face the first thing in the morning. Heloise

Dear Heloise: After huffing over girdles for years, I've figured an easier way to put one on.

Now, I put on my stockings first... this eliminates that armorplated bending to meet the toes. Then I put on the girdle, pulling it up just far enough to fasten the garters to the stockings.

In sunny climates, the excessive tanning leads to additional dryness and leathery of the skin. Protect your skin with element-fighting moisturizers and sun-screens.

Dear Heloise: There's rarely much fashion news in items for infants. To most shoppers a layette item doesn't have much style appeal.

This spring you'll find a gay group of infants' playwear, layette essentials and even crib coverings in coordinated ticking-stripe knits, polka dots or "Little Angel" prints.

Even tiny tot pajamas come in cheerful prints and colors, with appliques and other fine trims on knit fabrics.

stockings. Then the girdle can be pulled on up around the hips, hooked, and zipped. Round, Firm and Fully Packed.

This may be a letter of laughter, but until you try it you'll never know how smoothly a girdle can be SLID! Heloise

Dear Heloise: I am a 14-year-old teenager so I have stayed all night at slumber parties.

To make sure I have the right comb and brush at a slumber party or at camp, I use ingernail polish to put my initials in small letters on the top of my comb and brush. Marti

Dear Heloise: As an R.N. who worked the night shift before my baby was born, I learned to use a flashlight when checking on my patients.

Now, I keep one on the baby's dresser, and when I check in on her, I use the flashlight instead of turning on the lamp and taking a chance of awaking her. B. J. W.

Dear Heloise: Here is a simple, inexpensive cure for the rusty bottoms of shaving cream cans.

Apply one-inch waterproof, adhesive bandage around the base of the can, putting one-half inch above, and the other half folded under the can.

To make a smooth edge, clip the part to be folded under in several places to eliminate bulges.

Being avid do-it-yourself fixers, we find your column a must in our household. Arthur Rivers, M.D.

Dear Heloise: If you have trouble with your trading stamps sticking together in an envelope or box, shake a little talcum powder into the envelope and give it a shake.

The powder will keep the stamps dry and they won't stick. Mrs. Stanley Dyer

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

If all the good food that was prepared for homecoming college students the past weekend were laid out on a picnic table there wouldn't be room for the ants.

Texas Tech's spring vacation released numerous young men and women from the Lubbock campus. Included were D. SMITH and his Tri Delta friend, MISS CAROL NEIL of Dallas. They spent the weekend here with his parents, the HERMAN SMITHS, and were to spend several days in Dallas before returning here and then going back to Lubbock Sunday. Others here from Tech were WAYNE VAUGHN, SUE COOK, NANCY HEDELESTON, JAN ANDERSON, LARRY JONES, TIM SMITH, BAXTER MOORE and JAKE GLICKMAN. From NTSU came JOE EWING, and LYNN WARTHAN spent the weekend here from Texas University.

ROSS REAGAN returned to Dallas Sunday after visiting his parents, the H. B. REAGANS. Mrs. Reagan is due to be dismissed from a local hospital where she underwent surgery several weeks ago.

Having a happy time at the Spanish Inn recently were MR. and MRS. C. T. DOMER who were being entertained at dinner by their daughter and her family. MR. and MRS. BILL COLEMAN and their sons. The occasion was Mr. Domer's birthday.

Most people I talk to don't mind the fact that spring is having a hard time making people believe the time has come... they just are disgruntled because we have cold weather but don't have enough moisture to make it necessary to stay in out of the rain.

MRS. S. P. JONES has returned home after being hospitalized for several days and MRS. R. C. ANDERSON is doing well enough that she will probably be dismissed soon from a hospital where she has undergone treatment.

If you are not ready to shop for spring clothes yet, do window shop and see the beautiful clothes that are being shown. But be sure you wear your coat... looking at the sleeveless shifts and play clothes in this weather makes one chilly.

Mozambique At War On Terrorists

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — Intent on maintaining a centuries-old grip on its East African province, the Portuguese government has launched massive counter-measures against Communist and antiwhite infiltration in Mozambique.

During the past nine months, army patrols have made regular sorties against terrorist gangs. Troops are fortifying the remote northern sector bordering on the newly independent state of Tanzania.

Northern Mozambique is one of the most strongly guarded areas on the African continent. Drawing heavily on experience in their other territories of Anguise are moving to stamp out rebel activity.

KEPT SECRET
Authorities refuse to disclose the extent of the buildup but there may be 25,000 regular troops, including locally recruited Africans. These troops are reinforced by an extensive system of airstrips and a widespread secret police network.

Mozambique stretches for 1,700 miles up the Indian Ocean coast of East Africa. It is a land of wide sandy beaches fringed with palms, a Mediterranean climate and colorful, easy-going people.

Inland are tribes whose way of life has remained little affected by the 20th century.

About 85 per cent of Mozambique's 6 1/2 million inhabitants are tribal Africans. The rest are Portuguese and people of mixed blood. Mozambique is outwardly multiracial.

The Portuguese have decreed that all Mozambicans with at least an elementary level of civilization, or those who are heads of families in their tribes, are full Portuguese citizens.

CRASH PROGRAM
Mission schools are being reinforced by a crash program which aims at giving children of all levels and colors a chance to learn to read and write.

Authorities see the province's future as a mainly agricultural country. There have been few indications of mineral wealth.

A number of independence-seeking organizations seek to oust the Portuguese from control. Chief of these groups is the Mozambique Liberation Front headed by Eduardo C. Mondlane, who formerly taught anthropology at Syracuse (N.Y.) University. Mondlane, based at the Tanzanian capital of Dar es Salaam, has claimed repeated victories over the Portuguese troops concentrated in the frontier area. Portuguese authorities deny these claims.

SILENCE BLANKET
A blanket of silence covers the operations of the secret police, who are responsible for clearing all antigovernment and subversive activities out of the territory.

The Portuguese authorities say Mozambique is calm and peaceful. They acknowledge, however, that a danger lies outside the country. Last October, Portugal accused Tanzania of a "flagrant breach of international law" in harboring Mozambique freedom fighters. It claimed that Tanzania was providing the guerrillas with bases and training camps. These rebels, whose existence is confirmed from many sources, are reportedly supported by Communist arms and experts from Red China, Algeria and Cuba.

Cambodia May Turn Bastion Of Freedom

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — One of the most stable and most determined bastions of freedom in Southeast Asia may well turn out to be Cambodia, led by Prince Norodom Sihanouk who doffed a crown 10 years ago to better lead his people.

Addressing a local military academy a week ago, the 42-year-old chief of state made it clear he would resist Communism to the death in case the United States is beaten out of South Viet Nam and Communists should choose to tackle his country.

"WE'LL DIE"

He warned that if some Mao Tse-tung type fish tried to infiltrate Cambodian waters, it might be like trying to put a sweet water lake fish into a salt water river: "The fish will die."

Prince Sihanouk intensely dislikes being associated with the "Free World," mostly because his two neighbors, Thailand and South Viet Nam, traditional enemies, are part of it. By Association with these two countries, the United States also becomes the target of his anger.

But with the backing and loyalty of a great majority of his six million people, Sihanouk has been keeping his country on a path free of Communism.

Before his audience of Cambodian senior officers, French instructors, American and British military attaches and newsmen, he branded Cambodian Communists the "fifth column of the Viet Minh (North Vietnamese Communists)."

NEVER SIMPLE
Sihanouk's reasoning is never simple and when he keeps denouncing "American imperialism" it is not fashioned to make Westerners believe he is their friend. But his basic motivation must be understood to be fierce jealousy for the integrity of his kingdom's independence, a desire for a return to ancient grandeur, and concern to preserve Cambodia's peace and noninvolvement.

Sihanouk said he vainly pleaded with the West in 1962 to seek a political settlement to neutralize South Viet Nam. Now, he told his audience, Communists at the left-leaning Conference of Indochinese People here made it plain they reject any international conference on South Viet Nam prior to the unconditional departure of American forces.

"It is too late now," he said. "You (Americans) don't even have that solution anymore," he said, addressing himself particularly to the American military attaché in the audience.

Gas Refund Action Pends

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission has deferred action on refunds involving natural gas sales from South Texas fields until the Supreme Court rules on a review of the extent of FPC refunding authority.

In March of 1964, the commission granted permanent certificates for 35 natural gas sales in Texas Railroad Commission Dist. 4, of which 34 were then being made under temporary authorizations.

The FPC ruled that an initial price of 16 cents per 1,000 cubic feet would be proper for the area at the time the sales contracts were executed. Sales had been conditioned at initial prices not in excess of 18 cents, but only eight were conditioned to require refunds of amounts collected at an initial price higher than the one fixed in the permanent certificates.

Four of the sales having refund conditions were at prices higher than 16 cents and the commission ordered refunds. Twenty-three sales were made at prices higher than 16 cents but under temporary certificates which did not have refund conditions.

Ranch Road Request Due

AUSTIN (AP)—A delegation from Ector and Crane counties plans to ask the Texas Highway Commission Wednesday for a ranch road from the intersection of U.S. 385 and FM 1787 to FM 1601.

Also due to be heard is a request from a Victoria County group for developing U.S. 59 and U.S. 77 into a four-lane facility from the Guadalupe River bridge to FM 236.

Other requests, by county, include:

Fayette—Highway matters in the Lagrange area.

Wilson—Right-of-way acquisition on U.S. 181 from Bexar County line southeast to a point southeast of Floresville.

Lampasas—Relocation of FM 580 in Lampasas.

Frio and Atascosa counties have requested a hearing Thursday for extending Texas 85 from Dilley to Charlotte, and Real County will ask extension of Ranch 377 to the Bandera County line.

Ships Balk At Explosives

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Police, sheriff's deputies and Coast Guardsmen patrolled the beaches of this resort island today looking for explosive barrels like those they blew up with rifle fire Monday night.

Shipping was at a standstill. The pilots' association refused to accept responsibility for taking ships out into Galveston Bay because of the hazard, the Coast Guard reported.

Police said the barrels broke away from offshore oil rigs. They said each contains explosive powder and ignites as salt water seeps inside.

Two barrels exploded off East Beach early Monday night. Fifteen exploded three other barrels off East Beach. Four or five more were detonated off West Beach.

1966 Election Trend Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speeches by retiring GOP National

Chairman Dean Burch and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey forecast the trend the 1966 congressional election campaign is likely to take.

In brief, here are the themes expressed Monday night by Burch, speaking at Anaheim, Calif., and Humphrey, speaking at Baltimore, Md.: Republican: President Johnson's "Great Society" threatens to smother individual initiative and freedom. Democratic: Johnson's program will bring dignity and freedom at home and in the world.

Burch, who will be succeeded in his party post Thursday by Ray Bliss, told a GOP gathering that under the "absolute dominance" of Congress by the President, "representative government . . . is in danger of being reduced to self-protection at the pork barrel."

Humphrey told a Democratic dinner that the "Great Society" recognizes that "a second car and power mowers and dry martinis are not enough."

fulfillment of individual man and woman," he said. "We stand for the chance for each man to make something better of himself. We stand for free speech and government of the people. We stand for peace without conquest."

But Burch said the Johnson administration wants to inject "federal authority in virtually every aspect of our lives."

"Whether it is the fate of your children in kindergarten, or filtering the air you breathe, or taking a trip to Boston, Lyndon Johnson has made a smothering proposal for the federal government to handle it better than you could handle it yourself," he said.

When all are tucked away, I pick up papers, books and anything not in place.

Next day I find I have that much less to do, and that's a big help in my busy day. D. Duplantis

Besides, it's a much better start for the day, isn't it? No cluttered living room staring you in the face the first thing in the morning. Heloise

Dear Heloise: After huffing over girdles for years, I've figured an easier way to put one on.

Now, I put on my stockings first. This eliminates that armor-plated bending to meet the toes. Then I put on the girdle, pulling it up just far enough to fasten the garters to the stockings. Then the girdle can be pulled on up around the hips, hooked, and zipped. Round, Firm and Fully Packed.

This may be a letter of laughter, but until you try it you'll never know how smoothly a girdle can be SLID! Heloise

Dear Heloise: I am a 14-year-old teenager so I have stayed all night at slumber parties.

To make sure I have the right comb and brush at a slumber party or at camp, I use fingernail polish to put my initials in small letters on the top of my comb and brush. Marti

Dear Heloise: As an R.N. who worked the night shift before my baby was born, I learned to use a flashlight when checking on my patients.

Now, I keep one on the baby's dresser, and when I check in on her, I use the flashlight instead of turning on the lamp and taking a chance of awaking her. B. J. W.

Dear Heloise: Here is a simple, inexpensive cure for the rusty bottoms of shaving cream cans:

Apply one-inch waterproof, adhesive bandage around the base of the can, putting one-half inch above, and the other half folded under the can.

To make a smooth edge, clip the part to be folded under in several places to eliminate bulges.

Being avid do-it-yourself fixers, we find your column a must in our household. Arthur Rivers, M.D.

Dear Heloise: If you have trouble with your trading stamps sticking together in an envelope or box, shake a little talcum powder into the envelope and give it a shake.

The powder will keep the stamps dry and they won't stick. Mrs. Stanley Dyer (Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

If all the good food that was prepared for homecoming college students the past weekend were laid out on a picnic table there wouldn't be room for the ants.

Texas Tech's spring vacation released numerous young men and women from the Lubbock campus. Included were D. SMITH and his Tri Delta friend, MISS CAROL NEIL of Dallas. They spent the weekend here with his parents, the HERMAN SMITHS, and were to spend several days in Dallas before returning here and then going back to Lubbock Sunday. Others here from Tech were WAYNE VAUGHN, SUE COOK, NANCY HEDLESTON, JAN ANDERSON, LARRY JONES, TIM SMITH, BAXTER MOORE and JAKE GLICKMAN. From NTSU came JOE EWING, and LYNN WARTHAN spent the weekend here from Texas University.

ROSS REAGAN returned to Dallas Sunday after visiting his parents, the H. B. REAGANS. Mrs. Reagan is due to be dismissed from a local hospital where she underwent surgery several weeks ago.

Having a happy time at the Spanish Inn recently were MR. and MRS. C. T. DOMER who were being entertained at dinner by their daughter and her family, MR. and MRS. BILL COLEMAN and their sons. The occasion was Mr. Domer's birthday.

Most people I talk to don't mind the fact that spring is having a hard time making people believe the time has come. . . they just are disgruntled because we have cold weather but don't have enough moisture to make it necessary to stay in out of the rain.

MRS. S. P. JONES has returned home after being hospitalized for several days and MRS. R. C. ANDERSON is doing well enough that she will probably be dismissed soon from a hospital where she has undergone treatment.

If you are not ready to shop for spring clothes yet, do window shop and see the beautiful clothes that are being shown. But be sure you wear your coat. . . looking at the sleeveless shifts and play clothes in this weather makes one chilly.

Lamesans Installed At Dinner

LAMESA (SC)—The Medical Arts Hospital awards and installation dinner was held recently in Forrest Park Community Center.

Ray Renner, introduced Mrs. O. H. Sires, outgoing president who gave the welcoming address. Norman Knox, hospital administrator, introduced the guest speaker, George Brewer, who is administrator of Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Awards were presented by Mrs. Roy Bearden. New officers installed for the coming year were Mrs. William Goolsby, president; Mrs. Bill Jones, first vice president; Mrs. Bob Bogle, second vice president; Mrs. Bernice Smith, third vice president; Mrs. John Scott, recording secretary; Mrs. C. C. Terry, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Boyd Hilley, treasurer.

Guests included Mrs. Henry Stafford of Lubbock, first president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. D. H. Merrick, second president of the organization.

Bible Study Concluded

The study of Genesis was concluded Monday evening by the Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church. The group met in Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Ruby Martin, president, worded the opening prayer and Miss Roberta Gay read the scripture passages.

Mrs. W. E. Moren, study leader, told the stories of Jacob and Joseph, and lesson of man's selfishness and God's intervention.

The offering was given to the home mission work. Hostesses were Mrs. Annie Thompson, Mrs. W. J. Riggs and Mrs. J. D. O'Barr.

Elements Effect Skin Textures

Winter is a big threat to women. In colder communities the harsh elements lead to tiny, dry lines and flakiness.

In sunny climes, the excessive tanning leads to additional dryness and leathery of the skin. Protect your skin with element-fighting moisturizers and sun-screens.

Infant's Pajamas Feature Prints

There's rarely much fashion news in items for infants. To most shoppers a layette item doesn't have much style appeal.

This spring you'll find a gay group of infants' playwear, layette essentials and even crib coverings in coordinated ticking-stripe knits, polka dots or "Little Angel" prints.

Even tiny tot pajamas come in cheerful prints and colors, with appliques and other fine trims on knit fabrics.

Mozambique At War On Terrorists

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — Intent on maintaining a centuries-old grip on its East African province, the Portuguese government has launched massive counter-measures against Communist and antiwhite infiltration in Mozambique.

During the past nine months, army patrols have made regular sorties against terrorist gangs. Troops are fortifying the remote northern sector bordering on the newly independent state of Tanzania.

Northern Mozambique is one of the most strongly guarded areas on the African continent. Drawing heavily on experience in their other territories of Anguise are moving to stamp out rebel activity.

KEPT SECRET
Authorities refuse to disclose the extent of the buildup but there may be 25,000 regular troops, including locally recruited Africans. These troops are reinforced by an extensive system of airstrips and a wide-spread secret police network.

Mozambique stretches for 1,700 miles up the Indian Ocean coast of East Africa. It is a land of wide sandy beaches fringed with palms, a Mediterranean climate and colorful, easy-going people.

Inland are tribes whose way of life has remained little affected by the 20th century.

About 85 per cent of Mozambique's 6½ million inhabitants are tribal Africans. The rest are Portuguese and people of mixed blood. Mozambique is outwardly multiracial.

The Portuguese have decreed that all Mozambiquanos with at least an elementary level of civilization, or those who are heads of families in their tribes, are full Portuguese citizens.

CRASH PROGRAM
Mission schools are being reinforced by a crash program which aims at giving children of all levels and colors a chance to learn to read and write.

Authorities see the province's future as a mainly agricultural country. There have been few indications of mineral wealth.

A number of independence-seeking organizations seek to oust the Portuguese from control. Chief of these groups is the Mozambique Liberation Front headed by Eduardo C. Mondlane, who formerly taught anthropology at Syracuse (N.Y.) University. Mondlane, based at the Tanzanian capital of Dar es Salaam, has claimed repeated victories over the Portuguese troops concentrated in the frontier area. Portuguese authorities deny these claims.

SILENCE BLANKET
A blanket of silence covers the operations of the secret police, who are responsible for clearing all antigovernment and subversive activities out of the territory.

The Portuguese authorities say Mozambique is calm and peaceful. They acknowledge, however, that a danger lies outside the country. Last October, Portugal accused Tanzania of a "flagrant breach of international law" in harboring Mozambique freedom fighters. It claimed that Tanzania was providing the guerrillas with bases and training camps. These rebels, whose existence is confirmed from many sources, are reportedly supported by Communist arms and experts from Red China, Algeria and Cuba.

Cambodia May Turn Bastion Of Freedom

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — One of the stables and most determined bastions of freedom in Southeast Asia may well turn out to be Cambodia, led by Prince Norodom Sihanouk who doffed a crown 10 years ago to better lead his people.

Addressing a local military academy a week ago, the 42-year-old chief of state made it clear he would resist Communism to the death in case the United States is beaten out of South Viet Nam and Communists should choose to tackle his country.

"WE'LL DIE"

He warned that if some Mao Tse-tung type fish tried to infiltrate Cambodian waters, it might be like trying to put a sweet water lake fish into a salt water river: "The fish will die."

Prince Sihanouk intensely dislikes being associated with the "Free World," mostly because his two neighbors, Thailand and South Viet Nam, traditional enemies, are part of it. By Association with these two countries, the United States also becomes the target of his anger.

But with the backing and loyalty of a great majority of his six million people, Sihanouk has been keeping his country on a path free of Communism.

Before his audience of Cambodian senior officers, French instructors, American and British military attaches and newsmen, he branded Cambodian Communists the "fifth column of the Viet Minh (North Vietnamese Communists)."

NEVER SIMPLE
Sihanouk's reasoning is never simple and when he keeps denouncing "American imperialism" it is not fashioned to make Westerners believe he is their friend. But his basic motivation must be understood to be fierce jealousy for the integrity of his kingdom's independence, a desire for a return to ancient grandeur, and concern to preserve Cambodia's peace and noninvolvement.

Sihanouk said he vainly pleaded with the West in 1962 to seek a political settlement to neutralize South Viet Nam. Now, he told his audience, Communists at the left-leaning Conference of Indochinese People here made it plain they reject any international conference on South Viet Nam prior to the unconditional departure of American forces.

"It is too late now," he said. "You (Americans) don't even have that solution anymore," he said, addressing himself particularly to the American military attaché in the audience.

Gas Refund Action Pends

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission has deferred action on refunds involving natural gas sales from South Texas fields until the Supreme Court rules on a review of the extent of FPC refunding authority.

In March of 1964, the commission granted permanent certificates for 35 natural gas sales in Texas Railroad Commission Dist. 4, of which 34 were then being made under temporary authorizations.

The FPC ruled that an initial price of 16 cents per 1,000 cubic feet would be proper for the area at the time the sales contracts were executed. Sales had been conditioned at initial prices not in excess of 18 cents, but only eight were conditioned to require refunds of amounts collected at an initial price higher than the one fixed in the permanent certificates.

Four of the sales having refund conditions were at prices higher than 16 cents and the commission ordered refunds. Twenty-three sales were made at prices higher than 16 cents but under temporary certificates which did not have refund conditions.

Ranch Road Request Due

AUSTIN (AP)—A delegation from Ector and Crane counties plans to ask the Texas Highway Commission Wednesday for a ranch road from the intersection of U.S. 385 and FM 1787 to FM 1601.

Also due to be heard is a request from a Victoria County group for developing U.S. 59 and U.S. 77 into a four-lane facility from the Guadalupe River bridge to FM 236.

Other requests, by county, include:

Fayette—Highway matters in the Lagrange area.

Wilson—Right-of-way acquisition on U.S. 181 from Bexar County line southeast to a point southeast of Floresville.

Lampasas—Relocation of FM 580 in Lampasas.

Frio and Atascosa counties have requested a hearing Thursday for extending Texas 85 from Dilley to Charlotte, and Real County will ask extension of Ranch 377 to the Bandera County line.

Ships Balk At Explosives

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Police, sheriff's deputies and Coast Guardsmen patrolled the beaches of this resort island today looking for explosive barrels like those they blew up with rifle fire Monday night.

Shipping was at a standstill. The pilots' association refused to accept responsibility for taking ships out into Galveston Bay because of the hazard, the Coast Guard reported.

Police said the barrels broke away from offshore oil rigs. They said each contains explosive powder and ignites as salt water seeps inside.

Two barrels exploded off East Beach early Monday night. Fifteen exploded three other barrels off East Beach. Four or five more were detonated off West Beach.

1966 Election Trend Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speeches by retiring GOP National

Chairman Dean Burch and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey forecast the trend the 1966 congressional election campaign is likely to take.

In brief, here are the themes expressed Monday night by Burch, speaking at Anaheim, Calif., and Humphrey, speaking at Baltimore, Md.: Republican: President Johnson's "Great Society" threatens to smother individual initiative and freedom. Democratic: Johnson's program will bring dignity and freedom at home and in the world.

Burch, who will be succeeded in his party post Thursday by Ray Bliss, told a GOP gathering that under the "absolute dominance" of Congress by the President, "representative government... is in danger of being reduced to self-protection at the pork barrel."

Humphrey told a Democratic dinner that the "Great Society" recognizes that "a second car and power mowers and dry martinis are not enough."

"We stand for the dignity and fulfillment of individual man and woman," he said. "We stand for the chance for each man to make something better of himself. We stand for free speech and government of the people. We stand for peace without conquest."

But Burch said the Johnson administration wants to inject "federal authority in virtually every aspect of our lives."

"Whether it is the fate of your children in kindergarten, or filtering the air you breathe, or taking a trip to Boston, Lyndon Johnson has made a smothering proposal for the federal government to handle it better than you could handle it yourself," he said.

Josephine T. Lamb, chief of psychiatric nursing for the Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools, outlined the purpose of the conference during the general meeting this morning.

Dr. Hubert Menn, director of budgets and finance for the Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools, spoke to the conference after lunch on the subject of budget planning for nursing services. Following Dr. Menn, Jess M. Irwin Jr., executive director of the Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools, spoke to the conference on how to estimate needs.

Wheeler Gets Leave Of Absence

Bobby Wheeler, who is in charge of the Howard County Barn and Shops, has asked for a three-months leave of absence and the request has been approved by the county commissioners. Wheeler needs the time, he said, to deal with other activities in which he is interested.

Wheeler is a long time employee of the county. His father worked for the county before him.

The commissioners, although conceding that Wheeler's request was merited, granted it with reluctance. They pointed out that filling his post while he is away will be difficult.

Gunshot Victim's Condition Same

The condition of Mrs. Patsy Ann Henry, 26, who was hospitalized with gunshot wounds Sunday, was reported at Cowper Clinic Hospital. She had been reported in fair condition Monday.

Three Charged In Burglary

Burglary charges have been filed against three Big Spring men in connection with the March 11 break-in at the Bauer School in which some $1,000 of items were recovered by police Friday.

Burglary charges were filed against Jesus Bustamante, 23, Monday in Justice of the Peace Court of Jess Slaughter. Bond of $2,000 was set late this morning.

All three men were transferred to the county jail late Monday, following an investigation by Big Spring detectives. The three were first arrested Friday.

The items recovered by police here included a tape recorder, movie projector, film projector and others.

Moves Offices

Gil Jones, Big Spring attorney, has removed his law office from the Permian Building to his own building at 600 Main. Jones and associates have completed construction on their new office structure — called the Caylor Building. Jones, after leaving the office of district attorney, at the first of this year, has been quartered in the Permian Building.

Burglary Charged

LAMESA (SC) — Jimmy Ray Smith, 23-year-old Lamesa Negro, has been charged with the March 4 break-in of Woods Grocery and the attempted break-in of the Lamesa Animal Hospital on the same night. Police officers said the man made a statement concerning the break-in. He was charged before Justice of the Peace A. L. Standefer Monday and is being held in city jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Health Laid To Transplant

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A young Dallas mother who underwent a rare kidney transplant 39 days ago was able to leave Parkland Hospital Monday.

Mary Ellen Cranford, 22, said she felt "wonderful" for the first time in six years.

She said kidney problems started with the birth of her first child, daughter Ricky, 6. She also has a son, Billy Jr., 3.

Three surgical teams from the University of Texas southwestern Medical School transplanted the kidneys of a gunshot victim to Mrs. Cranford and Sylvia Shartz, 40, of Dallas.

Mrs. Shartz was reported still in critical condition. Parkland officials said she is using an artificial kidney and probably will undergo another transplant.

Bodies Pulled From Mud In Chile Quake

EL COBRE, Chile (AP) — Thirty-six bodies have been recovered from the mud of El Cobre, and police doubt that many more of the hundreds buried here will be found. The death toll from the quake that shook Chile Sunday appeared to be about 400.

The U.S. Embassy in Santiago and the government said they knew of no Americans killed or injured in the disaster.

More earth tremors were felt Monday, but no new casualties or damage were reported.

AT EL COBRE — Most of the dead were at El Cobre, 80 miles north of Santiago, where the quake burst a 230-foot-high dam of rock and mud and unleashed two million tons of rubble on the mining village below. Only a handful of the 400 inhabitants survived.

"It was like a gigantic wave more than 100 feet high, made of sand, mud and water," said Carlos Munchel, one of the survivors.

Elsewhere in Chile, 25 other persons were reported killed in the quake. Hundreds were injured and thousands homeless. Damage was estimated in the millions of dollars.

5,000 PERISHED — The quake was mountainous Chile's worst since May 1960 when more than 5,000 persons perished.

Salvatore Allende, the Marxist senator who lost the presidential election last year, said he would demand an investigation of safety procedures employed by the French copper mining company that maintained the dam.

More than a dozen towns and cities in populous central Chile felt the quake. Panic-stricken residents fled into the streets. Buildings buckled and fires erupted.

NEAR JUNCTION — The epicenter was near the railway and highway junction of Llay-Llay, 50 miles north of Santiago. Nearly every building there was destroyed and seven persons were reported dead.

Four deaths and extensive damage were reported in Valparaiso, Chile's largest port and second city. A curfew was imposed to prevent looting. There was one death in Santiago.

President Eduardo Frei held a Cabinet session to map a relief program.

U.S. Ambassador Ralph A. Dungan went to the presidential palace in Santiago with a personal offer of help from President Johnson.

County Champion In 1964 Wins School Title Again

Don Hickson, Howard County Spelling Bee Champion of 1964, will have a second try at winning the crown twice in a row.

He won the championship of Rannels Junior High School Monday afternoon and with the victory, the right to compete for the Howard County Spelling Bee championship April 10.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hickson, 623 State. He is 14 and in the seventh grade.

Don's toughest competitor in a field of tough competition Monday was John Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Pineda, 1102 W. 2nd. He is 14. He will go to the county spelling bee as an alternate and will take his place in the competition should Don be unable to participate.

Deadline set by school officials for the determination of school champions expires Wednesday. All of the schools have reported their champions with the exception of Goliad Junior High. It will determine its representative at 12:45 p.m. tomorrow. A huge field of starters has been reduced by elimination bees to 10. Seven of these are seventh graders and three are eighth graders.

Excitement is mounting at the school as the deadline nears. Goliad had the first Howard County Spelling Bee Champion back in 1963. In 1964, Hickson won, taking the title to Rannels. Park Hill Elementary School is also sending a veteran to carry its colors in the county bee. Scott McLaughlin, 12, a sixth grader who represented Park Hill in the county bee in 1964, has won the right to try again this year. He was selected in the elimination contest Monday. His victory was not an easy one—Debra Haller, 10, a fourth grader, gave Scott a run for his money.

Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McLaughlin, 112 Cedar. Debra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Haller, 316 Edwards Circle.

Midway School's champion is Mary Lou Brown and its alternate is Leon Langley. By coincidence, these are the same two students who represented the school in 1964. Mary Lou, 11, a sixth grader was the 1964 champ. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Brown. Leon, 11, also in the sixth grade, was runnerup last year — the same post he has now. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Langley.

Lakeview will not compete this year. Kate Morrison is not to have a speller in the field. Elbow, which last year had an entry, is unable to compete in 1965.

Immaculate Heart of Mary, Catholic Parochial School, has named Deborah Washer, 11, a sixth grader, as its champion. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Washer, 133-A Dow. Runnerup and alternate is 9-year-old Celeste Williams, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams Jr., 3611 Calvin.

Salvation Army To Appeal For Extra Funds

Permission to make a low-key supplemental appeal for funds was given the Salvation Army by the United Fund trustees at a called meeting Monday.

H. W. Smith, speaking for the Salvation Army advisory board, said that the emergency was occasioned by a wage and hour ruling that all help, whether selling War Cries, operating Christmas kettles, or assisting in the transient lodge, had to be paid the minimum of $1.25 per hour.

Capt. William Thomas said that in some instances particularly the transient program, help had been paid in terms of room and board, plus a graduated scale which appeared to be wisest in line with rehabilitation.

Chester Cathey, chairman of the Salvation Army board, estimated that $3,600 to $3,800 would be required to meet the additional charges. Even this will leave the program curtailed, since only by an austerly program had the post been able to overcome a $2,800 mid-year deficit due to heavy charity and transient demands.

Lester Morton, UF president, announced Champ Rainwater, Mrs. Don Newsom, Maurice (Frog) Koger, Jack Y. Smith, R. W. Whipkey and Chester Cathey as members of an executive committee for the UF.

Choate Submits County Report

Wade Choate, county auditor, has submitted his annual financial report on the county to the Howard County Commissioners Court. Copies of the report, covering the year 1964, are in the hands of the members of the court.

The 40-page brochure, which deals with all financial phases of the county operation, is slightly larger than the one issued for the year 1963. It contains some additional information, Choate said, not heretofore included in these reports.

White's Has Lots Of Home Gardening Equipment

Everything needed for making the beautiful lawn and flower beds, from tillers to small hand "diggers," is on the floor at White's. These include fertilizer spreaders, broadcast seeders, edgers and trimmers, and lawn mowers. There is also the flexible hose of pure virgin vinyl guaranteed for 15 years. It remains flexible during the coldest weather.

White's Stores Equipped To Handle All Home-Car Needs

Hard work around the house, in the garden and flower beds, always precedes a beautiful yard and home. Constant work afterward keeps everything looking like "somebody lives here." All this precedes the outing season when camping equipment, and fishing and hunting gear, are uppermost in the minds of vacationers. Every item needed for all of this is available at White's at 202 Scurry. The recently-remodeled store has merchandise on better display than ever and customers may easily find what is needed. Sometime shoppers come in after one or more items and find something else they need but had not thought of. In preparation for the growing season White's has stocked a large supply of tillers, hoes, shovels, spades, forks, rakes, "sharp shooters," edgers, hole diggers, leaf and grass rakes, fertilizers and spreaders, seed broadcasters and other necessary tools. After the grass, flowers and shrubs are growing, the homeowner thinks of hose, sprinklers, edging materials for borders, grass trimmers, lawn mowers, edgers, hedge trimmers including electric, pruning and lopping shears, hose rakes, water timers, wheel barrows, peat moss, sprayers including hose and pump, and many others. For enjoyment and outdoor living on the lawn or on the patio White's has patio tables, chairs and benches, lights, grills, broilers, and all kinds of supplies to go with them. If painting and repairs need to be done around the home the shopper will find house paints for outside and interior, tool paints, thinners and cleaners, brushes, rollers and portable spray gun equipment. Along with these are machine and carpenter hammers, saws, levels, squares, rules, hatchets, axes, soldering sets (electric and gas), screw drivers, wrench sets, electric tools and grinders, plus the smaller items used with these. Then how about the running condition of the family automobile? Wheel balancing and alignment, mufflers, tail pipes, tune-ups, tire changing, batteries, all are available at White's new service department where capable men are in charge. Spark plugs, accessory or replacement lights, fuel pumps, voltage regulators, oil filters, motor oils, anti-freeze, transmission fluid, and other things needed to keep the car running for the "do it yourself" man around the house. With all the work done and the car in good shape, the family begins to think about vacations, with lakes, fish and game in mind. White's stocks tents, tarps, camp stoves, lights and lanterns, fishing equipment, guns, ammunition, sleeping bags and air mattresses. For the sports-minded family there are golf, baseball, tennis, croquet, and other sets available.

Piggyback Shipping Saves Time And Equipment Wear

Fast movement of freight over the MoPac-Texas and Pacific Railway lines is one of the most important facets of transportation today. Specially-built flatcars, equipped to handle the big semi-trailers and vans, enable the driver to pull his truck onto the car, unhitch, and drive off. The van is then properly anchored, and rides the flat car to its destination without the long hours of hazardous road-driving formerly needed in truck transportation. When the flat car and its load reaches its destination the semi-trailer or van is picked up by a local tractor and moved to the delivery point. It's a saving on tires, and the entire equipment, and a saving in time on the road. There's no stopping for flat tires, fuel, driver-sleeping, or eating. Then there is the new double and triple-decker for hauling new automobiles. You can see hundreds of cars moving through the area on fast freights today. Transportation time is many hours less than in moving them all on the highway as was for-

BIG SPRING BUSINESS and INDUSTRY

Beef Is Served At Three Wagon Wheels

Beef is always featured in hamburgers and sandwiches, along with take-home orders or working man's lunches at the Three Wagon Wheel Drive-Ins in Big Spring. Mrs. H. M. Rainbolt, owner, says: "Westerners, living in a cattle country, should be beef-conscious, and we are westerners."

It's a pleasant experience to drive up to one of the conveniently-located Wagon Wheels, order what you want to eat and drink, and sit in the comfort of "around the house, or work" clothes in your car and have a good, wholesome meal. In these days, when both the husband and father, and wife and mother, have to work to make ends meet, there are many times when the chore of preparing a home meal is more than desired. If this is the case try a Wagon Wheel Drive-In. Horse Race Bill Hearing Orderly

AUSTIN (AP)—The new legislative entry of proponents of pari mutuel horse race betting was back in the stable today. At first it was greeted with approval by out of state and Texas witnesses appearing before the House State Affairs Committee Monday night, but then it suffered the same abuse heaped by clergymen on earlier entries.

As in the past, a subcommittee was assigned to take a long, hard look after one of the longest and most dignified committee hearings ever held on the issue.

28 WITNESSES

In all, 28 witnesses talked a total of six hours on the measure, sponsored by Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville at the request of the Texas Racing Association. It would legalize pari mutuel betting on horses and allow local option elections on race tracks.

A capacity crowd of 1,200, including supporters wearing badges with the word "for" underneath a drawing of a horse head in racing gear, dwindled to about 100 by the time the hearing ended about 1:30 a.m.

There were no demonstrations. The well organized presentation of witnesses by Pipkin was even praised by some opponents, although the first opponent—a Colorado economist—remarked as he began to talk at 11:30 p.m. that "it appears diminishing returns have set in" because of the late hour.

EXPLORE ANGLES

Pipkin's 16 witnesses explored every angle, pronouncing horse racing a wholesome sport which produces needed tax revenue for governments and provides new jobs while contributing nothing to vice.

The 12 opponents said horse race gambling is a poor source of state income, encourages crime and general moral decay and isn't a true sport.

"Legalized gambling keeps bad company," said the Rev. E. S. James of Dallas, editor of the Baptist Standard. "The tout, the bookie, the gangster all are related to legalized gambling—they are like the undying cats: You can't kill them and they won't get lost."

Carl Keightley of Dallas, editor of the Texas Methodist, told of his visit to a race track.

"The most irrelevant thing at the track is the horse. The people were saying 'ride that blankety blank horse'—they didn't care about Black Beauty or any other horse, they only cared about their numbers," Keightley said.

"A DISEASE"

"Horse racing is not a sport but a disease which hooks its victims as surely as marijuana," said Donald Bubar of Fort Worth, spokesman for Citizens Against Race Track Gambling.

To show the benefits of race track gambling, Pipkin called Jim Kilroe of Arcadia, Calif., who said retail sales during racing season in the summer months are better than Christmas sales. His city has grown and has ousted criminal elements, he said.

Richard Miller, El Paso department store manager, said establishment of horse racing 5 miles from El Paso "produced no increase in bad credit. I have yet to find an El Paso businessman say 'let's get rid of the track.'"

TOURIST LURE

David Novick, a Santa Monica, Calif., economic researcher, predicted horse race gambling would be a powerful tourist lure for Texas.

"There is every indication from states like New York that racing can be a substantial source of income here in Texas," he said.

Jazz Pianist Pleads Innocent

BOSTON (AP)—Ray Charles, 34, a jazz pianist, pleaded innocent Monday to a federal indictment charging him with possession of heroin and marijuana. Bail was set at $1,000.

Charles was arrested last Oct. 31 at a Boston airport when he arrived on a flight from Canada.

Youths Who Left In Plane Hunted

SAN ISIDRO, Tex. (AP)—Searchers are combing about 10,000 square miles of farms, cactus, scrub brush and rattlesnake dens along the border today, looking for four youths who left Laredo Saturday night in a light airplane.

Missing are Jim Auld, 26, of Edinburg, the pilot; Felix Garza Jr., 19; his brother, Homero, 17; and Thomas Pena, 20.

Tax Exempt Status Again Seen For Hunt Program

DALLAS (AP)—H. L. Hunt, the Texan whose oil fortune has been estimated up to $2 billion, predicts his radio program Life Line will regain its tax-exempt status.

Life Line Foundation was ruled a tax-exempt educational organization July 30, 1952, under its original name, Facts Forum.

The exemption was withdrawn in September, 1962. A spokesman said the Internal Revenue Service took the view "that aside from occasional individual broadcasts which may have been educational, the content of Life Line's broadcasts, taken as a whole, is essentially political."

Hunt said Monday, however, that "I don't think the IRS will keep the ruling in effect. The American people will object to it."

MANY STATES

He said the conservative foundation produces a 15-minute radio program seven days a week. The programs are broadcast by 384 radio stations in many states.

In support of its original application, Facts Forum said its purpose was "to support an educational undertaking" and to conduct "a series of discussion groups devoted to the study and consideration of the art of living, social advancement, the science of government and agriculture."

In 1958 the organization changed its name to Life Line Foundation and moved its offices to Washington from Dallas.

IRS STAND

"Its principal activity is the production of a daily radio program devoted to political commentary," the IRS said in a statement. "This is a substantial change of activity from those on which the (tax-exempt) ruling was made."

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., urged the IRS to revoke the foundation's tax exemption because the program "propagandizes on such issues as racial integration and income taxes."

Hunt said Life Line "is and always has been a public affairs, religious, educational program. I do not believe it has ever said anything against integration or income taxes."

Humphrey Meets With 114 Mayors

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey, designated by President Johnson as the administration's liaison man for cities, was to meet with the mayors at mid-afternoon in a downtown hotel.

ONE IN SERIES

In remarks prepared for the meeting, Humphrey said it is one "in a series of many, many conferences I plan to hold with the mayors and county officials of this nation."

As a former mayor of Minneapolis, the vice president said he knew "this nation is facing urban problems never dreamed of only 25 years ago." These, he said, included "the problems of urban blight, the explosive growth in our population creating unprecedented demands for housing, the challenge of upgrading our educational system and expanding it to reach our full potential, and the need to make our urban places more beautiful."

THE MORAL RE-ARMAMENT ASSEMBLY CENTER
Where young people will gather on Mackinac Island

Young People To Gather For Moral Re-Armament Meet

"Modernizing America" will be the theme of a conference for 10,000 high school and college students this summer. Held at the Moral Re-Armament Assembly Center, Mackinac Island, Mich., the assembly will be attended by youth of every race, class and background from across the United States. Plans are being laid to invite Texas students to participate.

The conference brochure states that the role of youth in modern America is to demonstrate that the answer to an era of violence and unrest is a revolution in our own aims and motives.

The students planning the conference will set the pace in accepting absolute moral standards as the basis for modernizing society. Through this conference they plan to train thousands of youth to take responsibility for their homes, communities and nation. The aims of the conference are to end moral pacifism and give birth to a fighting spirit, to end racial violence and give birth to a nation that speaks with a united voice, to end the dictatorship of anti-God secularizers and give birth to liberty for all men.

A similar assembly, the "Conference for Tomorrow's America," was held last summer on Mackinac Island. Representatives of the U. S. State Department, Army, Air Force, USA, and leading figures in national and international life addressed the conference.

Among them were Peter Howard, world head of Moral Re-Armament who died recently in Lima, Peru; Rajmohan Gandhi, grandson of India's Mahatma Gandhi; Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service; and Judge A. T. Walden of Atlanta, a national vice president of NAACP.

Nine documentaries and films of stage plays were produced by conference delegates in order to dramatize their aims and ideas for the country.

For more information about the "Modernizing America" conference, those interested may write to Dan Skuce, California Director, 833 South Flower Street, Los Angeles, Calif. 90017.

Sales Up At Swank Store Hit By Fire

DALLAS (AP) — Neiman-Marcus, the swank Dallas specialty store, reports record new sales and net profits for the year ended Jan. 31 despite a multi-million-dollar fire last Dec. 19.

The pre-dawn fire played havoc with a huge stock of costly Christmas merchandise.

NET EARNINGS

President Stanley Marcus advised stockholders Monday that net earnings amounted to $1,370,873, or $2.07 per common share. This compares with net profits of $576,153, or 80 cents on 630,000 common shares outstanding, for the previous year.

He listed net sales at $49,381,122 for the latest fiscal year, up seven per cent from $46,151,168 for the preceding 12 months.

CLOSED FIRM

"These records were set in spite of a serious fire in the main store in downtown Dallas on Dec. 19 which resulted in its complete closing until Jan. 15," Marcus said.

His report said this was possible because insurance covered full replacement value of costly merchandise and building, plus losses from interruption of business.

However, there is said to have been a certain amount of tugging and hauling within the committee on whether it had any business in investigating the KKK and some other right-wing organizations, the American Nazi party and the Minutemen.

Panel To Decide On Klan Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities may decide today whether to turn the bright light of a congressional investigation on the hooded, secret brotherhood of the Ku Klux Klan.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., called the committee into a closed session — acting, as he said, "as soon as possible" after President Johnson suggested an investigation.

Actually, the committee already had taken tentative steps to look into the Klan's activities, with the committee staff undertaking a preliminary inquiry at the urging of Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga.

WILL DECIDE

Willis said that he would report these preliminary findings to the committee members and they could decide whether to launch a formal investigation "in the light of my findings and in the light of the President's statement."

A majority of the committee members are said to favor an investigation. When the committee first decided to go ahead with the preliminary study the action was described as unanimous.

ently questioned whether the committee's jurisdiction extends beyond subversion and espionage.

In the past the Un-American Activities group's investigations had been aimed principally at the Communist party which Congress has specifically declared to be dedicated to the overthrow of the U.S. government.

Would there be any legislative purpose to an investigation of the Klan? "We'd have no business investigating them," said one member, "unless we saw a possibility of drafting legislation."

Stores' Lock-Out Upheld By Court

Voting Rights Bill Assailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virginia Atty. Gen. Robert Button charged Monday that President Johnson's voting rights bill is part of "a scheme for ultimate federal control of the conduct of all state and local elections."

Button said the measure is "among the most dangerous pieces of legislation ever offered in the Congress."

He testified before the House Judiciary Committee.

Button said the people who wrote the bill "reached the amazing conclusion that requiring a person to read or write his own name . . . is a voting qualification which abridges the right in question on account of race or color."

"This bill manifestly brings about the very evil it purports to cure...the creation of a separate and distinct standard of voter qualifications in all elections," Button said.

High Rates, Low Benefits

Texas employers pay one of the highest rates in the nation for workmen's compensation insurance, yet workers of the state receive about the lowest benefit rate in the country, according to Ed D. Burris, executive vice president of the Texas Manufacturers Association.

In his allegation, he blames archaic provisions put into the law when it was enacted in 1913. Burris claims that the present version allows for such awkward procedures that administrative costs take up a majority of the total premiums.

If this is true, it does not make sense. While there might be some division of opinion on division of rates and on benefits, there is unanimity that purpose of the program is to protect workers against injury losses. To permit resources to be drained off unnecessarily is to penalize both the employer (who pays unnecessarily high rates) and the employee, who gets less in benefits than he should.

Some may not approve of attempts to plug holes and to fix single fee limits, but after all, the purpose of workmen's compensation should be the first consideration.

State Safety Code

As an industrial state, Texas stands alone without a comprehensive industrial safety code. This is one of the most reasonable things organized labor has urged in Texas, but its appeal so far has fallen on deaf ears.

So have the appeals of several Texas governors. Govs. Beauford Jester and Price Daniel endorsed an industrial safety code bill, and in his first address to the legislature Gov. John Connally said he would support "a fair and reasonable industrial safety law." There are two bills now pending in the legislature, but they are hardly high odds favorites for final passage.

Rep. Lee Duggan of Houston introduced HB149, which is little more than authorization for the State Industrial Accident Board to gather and analyze more statistics.

Another pending bill (HB40) would be much more effective. It would create an occupational safety board in the State Bureau of Labor Statistics, with power to make rules for accident prevention and to hold hearings on safety problems. There would be fines for rules violations.

Something like that has been demanded ever since the Texas City disaster in the spring of 1947. Safety codes have been introduced in every session since then — nine, in fact — but it was not until 1959 that one even got out of committee. None has passed.

Most major Texas industries maintain their own safety codes, generally much stricter than anything the state would impose. A state code would be no imposition on those industries. What it would hit would be the negligent or careless employer, largely of smaller, less well established industries, who refuse to take proper precautions for employee safety on the job.

It's All A Big Gas

WASHINGTON—I dropped over to the Pentagon last week and all seemed to be normal except everyone was wearing a gas mask. I proceeded to the office of a colonel I knew and found him on the phone saying, "But we're not calling it gas, George. We're calling it benevolent incapacitants. How the hell do I know how to spell it?"

He hung up. "I guess you want to know about the gas, too."

I nodded my head.

"Well, it's quite harmless. Every country has it, and it's been used in riots in some of the most civilized places on the globe."

"THE PUBLICITY'S been bad on it," I said.

"I tell you it's harmless. Look, I'll take some myself." He picked up an aerosol can and sprayed some in the room.

"There, you see!" But in a minute tears were rolling down his cheeks. "Nobody understands us," he sobbed. "All we're trying to do is prevent casualties and be as humane as possible and everyone criticizes."

"Would you like my handkerchief?" I asked.

"THANK YOU," he said, trying to get control of himself. But the tears wouldn't stop. "This is a tough war," he cried, dabbing his eyes, "and we have to use whatever we can to win it. Isn't it better than strafing villages and dropping napalm on the natives?"

"Control yourself, Colonel," I said, as a few tears started rolling down my cheeks. "I'm not criticizing anybody. You guys know more than we do about the situation, but there's only one thing I've got to ask you."

"WHAT'S THAT?" he sniffled.

"Can I have my handkerchief back?"

I started blubbering in earnest. I placed the handkerchief in my mouth and then I said, "Was Washington aware that you were going to use the gas out in South Viet Nam on the Viet Cong?"

The colonel was about to answer when his face went green and he reached for the wastepaper basket.

I was about to get some water when the nausea hit me.

"I think I'm getting sick, too," I cried and grabbed the colonel's hat.

WHEN THE colonel saw what I was doing, he started crying again. "My new hat, my new hat, my new hat."

The secretary rushed out of the of-

Labor Problem Scales Balanced?

WASHINGTON (AP)—What's fair for one is fair for the other—with the accent on what's fair.

This was the essence of a Supreme Court ruling Monday which upheld the right of an employer, when negotiations with a union are deadlocked, to shut down his plant to put economic pressure on a union to come to terms.

This balances the scale with a union which has the undisputed right to strike to pressure an employer into meeting its demands.

But if an employer, reading this, gets the idea he can shut down his plant temporarily just to smash a union or to avoid bargaining or before bargaining is deadlocked, this is not what the court said.

THAT KIND of shutdown gets into the field of unfairness against a union. This was not involved in Monday's decision.

In this case the American Shipbuilding Co. which operates four shipyards — mainly for repairing ships — had been bargaining collectively with eight unions for years. So there was no question here of anti-union bias by the company, even though the unions had struck the shipyards several times.

Then came a negotiation which reached a dead end. The company feared the union would wait to strike at the busiest season, thus putting the maximum pressure on the company to give in.

So the company decided to shut down its yards, when ship-repairing was not at its peak, and thus reverse things by putting maximum pressure on the union to give in.

The unanimous court upheld the company's right to do what it did, saying:

The shipyard's owner did not violate the labor law "when, after a bargaining impasse had been reached, he temporarily shuts down his plant and lays off his employees for the sole purpose of bringing economic pressure to bear in support of his legitimate bargaining position."

BUT THERE are varying conflicting interests in different lockouts. So, undoubtedly, in the future the court will have to pass on more lockouts and in doing so probably narrow down Monday's sweeping opinion.

In another case the court laid down the general rule that an employer has a right to close his plant — not temporarily but permanently — by going out of business, no matter what his reason, anti-union bias or not.

For example: If a plant's employees organize a union but the plant owner is so anti-union he would rather close down than do business with it, he can close down.

Looking Ahead To Year 2965

NEW YORK (AP) — Items across the cement footsteps of a vanished number of idols known as movie stars.

United Nations — Zurbra the 19th, hereditary ruler of the solar system, announced that the graduated income tax would be raised from 97 per cent to 98 per cent for all families making more than $1 million yearly.

Estimating that the tax would affect 90 per cent of the population, Zurbra said:

"If business conditions continue to improve, we confidently look for a balanced government budget within the next generation or so."

MOSCOW — A nationwide celebration was held for all Russians who had passed their 500th birthday.

Miami Beach — A new 12,675-story hotel has been erected on the beachfront here from the top of which the ocean is visible on clear days.

It is believed to be the tallest building ever constructed of glass wool. Suites will range from $5,000 to $7,500 a day, including an optional breakfast.

Farmer's Lung Can Be Associated With Emphysema

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Doctor: What about "farmer's lung"? Does the condition have anything to do with emphysema?—MRS. W. H.

Farmer's lung is a term applied to a number of conditions, which may or may not be associated with emphysema.

Actinomycosis and histoplasmosis are two that belong in the farmer's lung category, although these diseases do, of course, affect other people, too. Both are fungus infections. Some doctors strongly suspect that until fairly recent years the two were confused quite often; today there is a great deal of interest in "histo," and many cases are being found.

Around The Rim

A Plague On Them

Three hundred years ago, not long after Charles II had been restored to the throne, London was invaded by the plague. In December of 1664, at least one and possibly a number of men and women died of the disease.

In those days, there was a newspaper in London called The Weekly Public Intelligencer. Its publisher and editor was a man named Roger L'Estrange. The paper was London's leading journal.

THROUGHOUT THE time that Oliver Cromwell had been dictator of England, L'Estrange had held staunchly loyal to the Stuarts — a position which brought him dangerously close to the block on several occasions.

As a result of his loyalty, when Charles was restored as king, L'Estrange was rewarded. He was appointed as advisor to Charles on the handling of newspapers. Basically, he was the royal censor.

L'ESTRANGE, oddly enough, considering his profession, had the same viewpoint on what newspapers should print and what should be withheld as did his royal master. As one might easily imagine, Charles had little desire in providing the public with any information other than that which he happened to feel was good for it. And, by the same token, good for him. L'Estrange wrote he believed printing too much news could be dangerous to authority for "that makes the multitude too familiar with the actions and counsels of their superiors."

ALTHOUGH cases of plague had broken out in parts of his capital city, Charles did not want the multitude told about it. It was bad for business, for one thing. It also was bad for royalty since there was a long, persistent superstition that pestilence and trouble followed on the heels of the crowning of a new ruler.

As a result, L'Estrange carefully eliminated all reference to the disease. By virtue of his post as "advisor" on newspapers to the king, he was able to keep the other newspapers from publishing similar reports.

BY HIS adherence to his policy of not telling the multitude of the danger, the plague spread and in no time at all, the death toll was in the thousands each week. No steps were taken to block the attack. The public, actually, knew little of what was happening.

Ultimately he had to publish reports on the spread of the disease, but, to the last, he minimized the situation. How he could do this in a day when the plague was literally decimating the most populous city in the world is hard to understand.

THIS WAS THREE centuries ago. You would think that such narrow minded views would long since have been destroyed — especially in a nation like ours. Unfortunately, this is not quite the case. There are still a great many persons in authority — in offices at all levels from the most insignificant village post to the highest officials in the land — who adhere to the theory so beloved by Charles and his journalistic flunky, Roger L'Estrange.

THEY ARE convinced that it is not good for the multitude to be told too much of what their "superiors" do or what their officials plan for them.

The tragic thing is that too many times, these people are in a position to put the lid on vital information that the public should have.

"FREE PRESS," we boast, is a proud possession of this land of ours. The press is a free as newspaper men can keep it, but the fight against lineal descendants of L'Estrange becomes increasingly difficult each year.

Our "superiors" are perfectly sure they know exactly what we should be told and what should be kept from us.

Man Running At Top Speed

WASHINGTON—The legend of Lyndon Johnson as the giant Paul Bunyan of politics looms large on the horizon.

How much is fact and how much myth the historians in later years can dispute. What counts for the present is the score. Just as Bunyan driving his blue ox, Babe, measuring 42 axle handles and a plug of chewing tobacco between the horns, got credit for every fabulous deed in the pioneering Northwest, so the President scores again and again.

THE GREAT wedding cake of a Social Security bill reported out by the House Ways and Means Committee, with a special reward in every slice, is the product of many forces.

But it can be counted another triumph for Johnson and his administration. Courting, cajoling, coaxing, on the telephone and in person, the President is never still. Once again his perpetual motion—and it amounts almost to that—is a cause for wonder and also for concern among those who ask how long the motor can run revved up to the highest possible speed.

FOR TWO and a half weeks the Alabama crisis absorbed a large share of the President's time and energy. On Saturday, March 13, Gov. George C. Wallace spent three hours and 15 minutes in a tense and often heated session with the President. After that the President held a full-dress televised press conference and when the masterminding a background exposition of the voting rights bill by Attorney General Nicholas deB. Katzenbach.

INTERPERSED through the day—through every day—were other demands, notably Viet Nam since the President undertakes to control all major decisions there. What few knew that on the same evening the President and Mrs. Johnson gave a dinner-dance in the White House for 60 people in honor of Angier Biddle Duke and his attractive wife. Duke is leaving to take up his job as Ambassador to Spain. At 1 a.m. the President was urging the orchestra on as he danced with wives of the guests still at the party.

The following weekend he went to his ranch in Texas. One of the reasons was rest and relaxation. But he was up most of Friday night sorting out the status of the Alabama National Guard in conflict with Governor Wallace.

TO FAULT SO hard working a public servant, passionately dedicated to bringing about the millennium in his time if it can be done, seems to say the least ungenerous. Yet beneath the chorus of praise for this Hercules of politics a low grumble can be heard. In the House it is expressed in resentment that the President presses too hard and tries to exercise too much control.

These are minor complaints probably inevitable with an executive as strong as any in recent history. A more serious doubt relates to the need of a man charged with such awesome responsibility for the kind of repose inviting reflection—the long, lonely look at events, past and future. A Winston Churchill understood the uses of that kind of repose.

ALTHOUGH it was not known at the time, a distinguished physician was brought into the White House last June to try to get the President to slow down. At the end of two weeks he gave it up. He was observing a force of nature that lived by its own rules.

The Powerful Ship Of State

WASHINGTON — On January 25th, Senator Milward Simpson, Republican of Wyoming, wrote to Agriculture Secretary Freeman concerning the proposed closing of a horticultural research station near Cheyenne. He received no answer until March 11th, and then from one of the Secretary's aides.

ON JANUARY 10TH, Louis Bober of Rapid City, S.D., telegraphed two Agriculture Department officials, including Secretary Freeman, asking for an appointment concerning an agricultural station in Newell, S.D. Mr. Bober was in Washington on March 19th. He said he had received no answer.

On January 27th, Congressman George Hansen, Republican of Idaho, wrote to Interior Secretary Udall concerning the Fremont Dam in the Teton Basin reclamation area. He was not answered until February 26th.

SENATOR LEN JORDAN, Republican of Idaho, has written repeatedly to the Office of Economic Opportunity (the War on Poverty) concerning job applications. I am told he has received no reply as of now.

The list could be lengthened. Republicans of less than leadership status are feeling the chill wind of the brush-off in matters that affect their constituents. Meanwhile, Democrats of the same status get preferential treatment. Simpson's colleague, Senator Gale McGee, contacted the Agriculture Department on the same subject of the horticultural station—and McGee was able to print answers in a subcommittee document of February 25th. While Rep. Hansen went unanswered, Senator Frank Church, Democrat of the same state, was able to get a personal interview with Secretary Udall on exactly the same subject.

THERE SEEMS to be building up an executive arrogance. It ignores the obligations of what the Constitution calls "a republican form of government." It falls in the noblesse oblige which is owed to minority members of Congress by an administration that sits enthroned with heavy majorities on Capitol Hill and immense power throughout its establishment. The simple responsibility of being polite and attentive toward those who are temporarily of non-importance has not been exercised.

NONE OF THESE examples, standing alone, would describe an official attitude being struck by the power establishment in Washington. But in aggregate, they indicate a scorn toward persons and institutions that happen to be out of power. These examples seem to inform those of us who watch such developments that the Ship of State is a Leviathan which plunges along its course without the consultation, without the courtesy, without the consideration that properly belong to the tradition of a republic, democratically governed.

Puzzle of Monday, March 29, Solved

Civil Rights Leaders At Victim's Rites

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's top civil rights leaders gathered today for the funeral of a white woman shot to death near Montgomery, Ala., last week while aiding civil rights marchers.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, arrived Monday night to attend the funeral of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39-year-old mother of five children.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress for Racial Equality, and Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, also were expected.

HOFFA ARRIVES

James R. Hoffa, head of the Teamsters' Union, arrived Monday night. Mrs. Liuzzo was the wife of a Detroit Teamsters business agent, Anthony J. Liuzzo, 51.

A Requiem Mass was scheduled for 10:30 a.m. at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church in northwest Detroit, followed by burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. Attendance was limited to the family, close friends and dignitaries.

King told reporters upon his arrival by plane from Atlanta, Ga., that Mrs. Liuzzo's death revealed there are "forces of evil alive in our nation that will use violence, terror, harassment — the darkest expressions of man's inhumanity to man — to prevent progress.

"On the other hand, I think her death revealed there are persons of good will in our country — many white persons of good will — who are so committed to the cause of justice and human dignity that they are willing to pay the supreme price," King said.

Hoffa told reporters that he opposed outlawing of the Ku Klux Klan.

Four members of the Klan have been charged in federal court in connection with the slaying.

Vote Rights Bill Substitute Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. said today he will offer a substitute for President Johnson's voting rights bill.

Ervin, a North Carolina Democrat, called the administration measure both cockeyed and unconstitutional.

Still being drafted, the substitute as tentatively outlined by Ervin would provide for the appointment of federal registrars in areas where the President certifies to a finding of racial discrimination in violation of the 15th Amendment.

COURT REVIEW

But, Ervin emphasized in an interview, the presidential certification would be subject to judicial review. States or counties would have a chance to contest the finding in court before the appointment of registrars.

Ervin said he will try to win acceptance of the substitute by the Senate Judiciary Committee, of which he is a member. If he fails there, he said, he will carry the fight to the Senate floor.

Hearings on the administration measure continue today in both the Senate and the House. South Carolina's attorney general, Daniel McLeod, was among witnesses to be heard by a House Judiciary subcommittee.

UNDER FIRE

In both the Senate and House hearings, the coverage formula in Johnson's bill has come under fire not only from Southern opponents but from civil rights leaders in and out of Congress.

It would bring in some areas like Alaska where no racial discrimination is alleged and leave out other areas like Texas where widespread discrimination has been charged.

Aleutian Island Quake Registered

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — An earthquake in the area of Alaska's Aleutian Islands was recorded on seismographs throughout the United States and in Japan Monday night, but military installations in the island chain said they did not feel the tremor.

lina and one county each in Maine, Arizona and Idaho would be covered.

Literacy or similar tests would be prohibited in these areas and the federal government could assign registrars to enroll voters.

Continuing Education Is A Modern Prospect

AUSTIN — How would you like to go back to school every few years throughout your working life? Like it or not, this is the prospect modern youngsters face.

The reason is the "knowledge boom." Science and technology are finding new knowledge so fast that what is taught in the classroom today is obsolete tomorrow.

To some young people, who eagerly anticipate the day when they will be through with school "forever," the prospect of having to go back periodically for a refresher course might seem a bitter pill to swallow. This is why Dr. William H. Hartwig of the University of Texas urges parents and teachers to prepare students early for accepting the fact of continuing education.

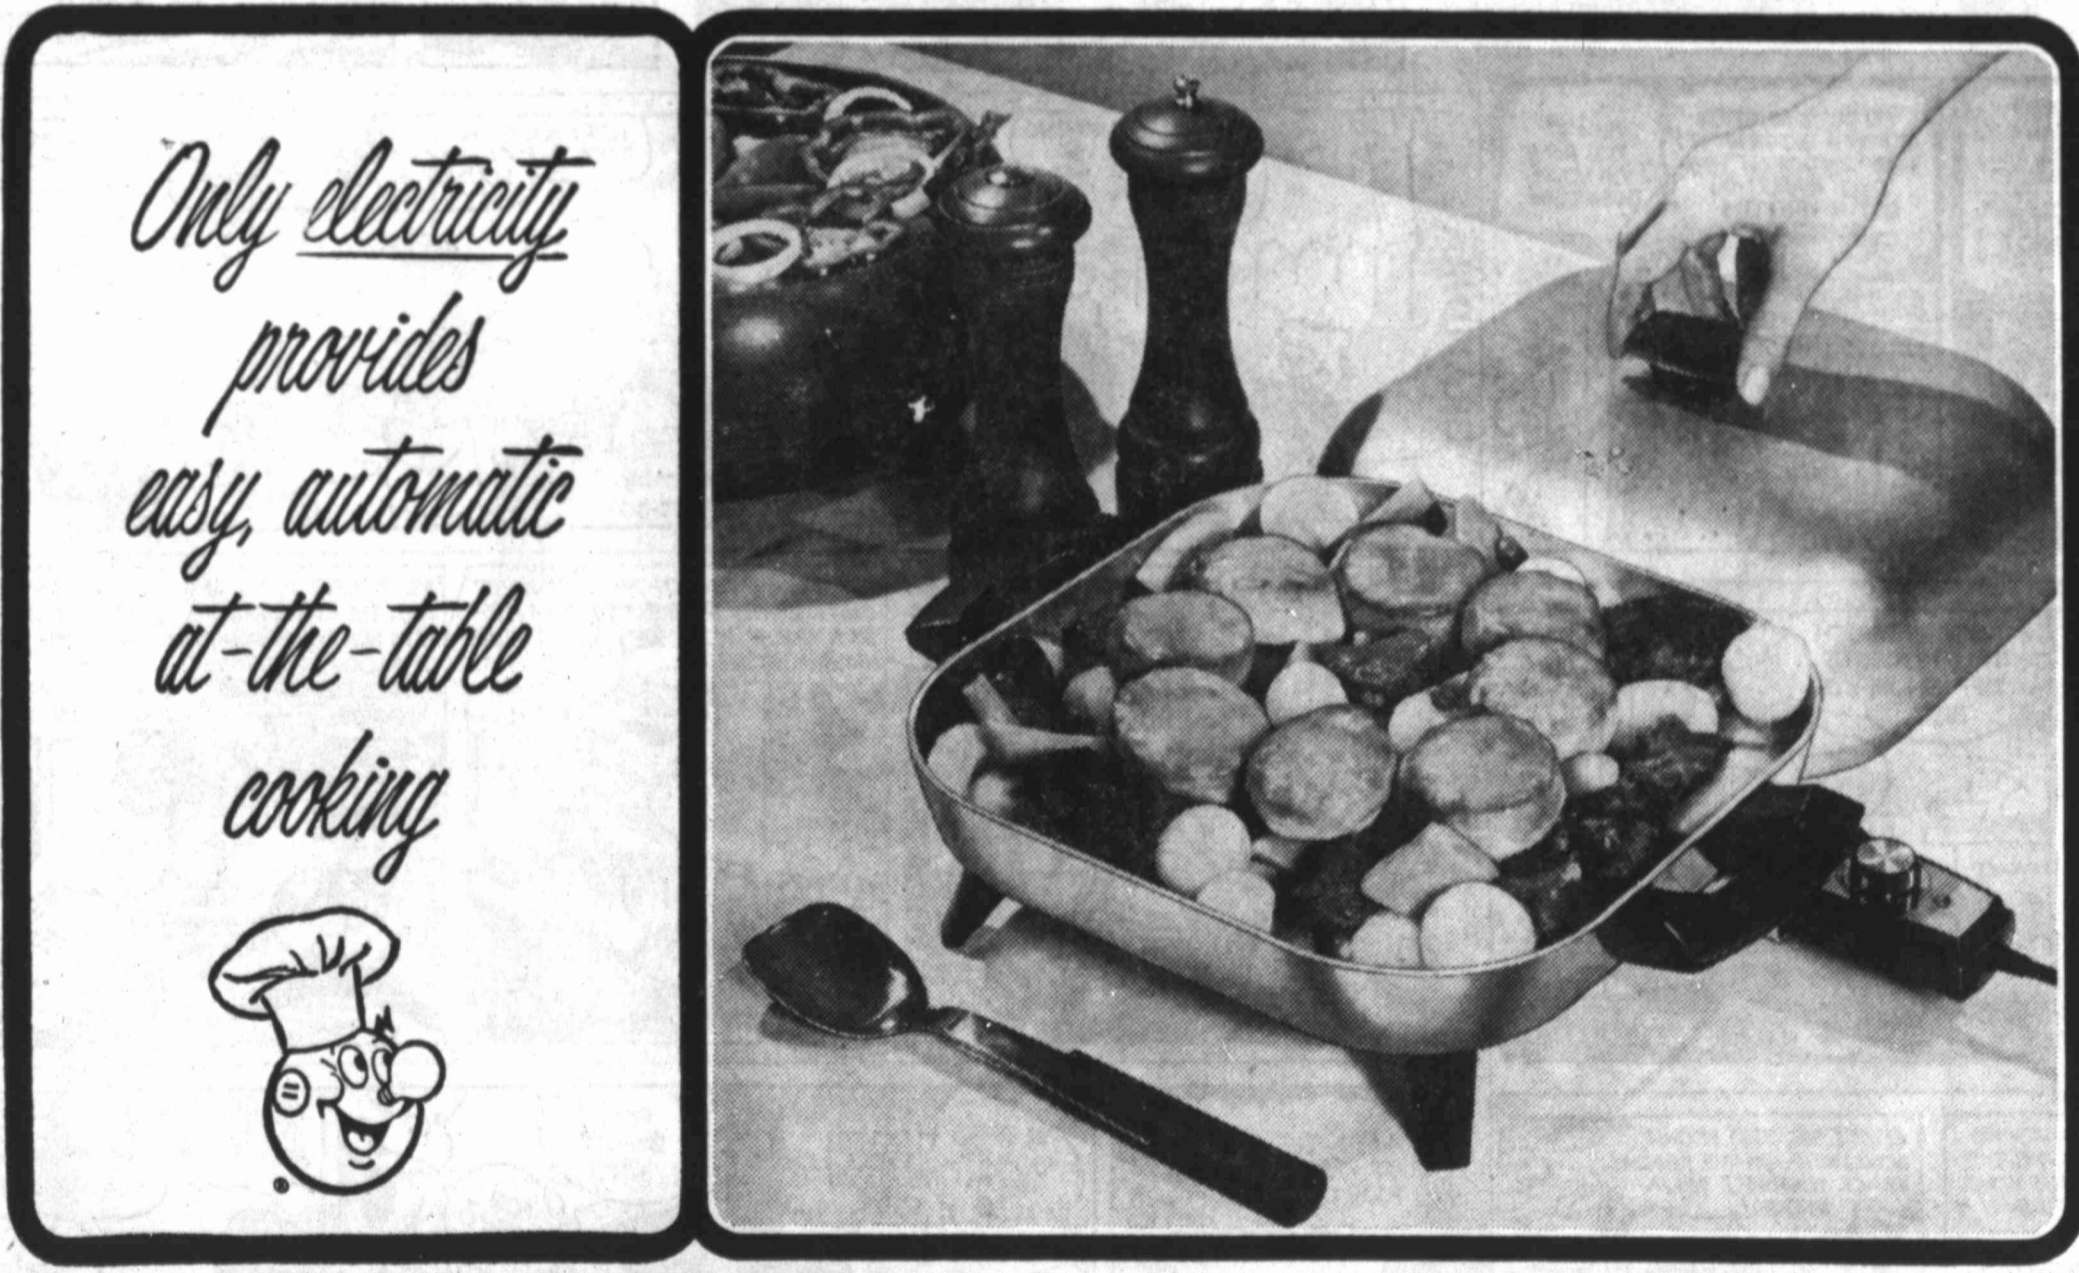

"Boys and girls should be getting in the right frame of mind for this in junior high school," he says. "I'm not trying to scare them, but I want to emphasize that it's most rewarding work is performed by people who stay on top of the latest advances in their fields."

There's no getting around this new trend in education. People in the professions and industry who don't keep up will soon lose competitive advantage and fall by the wayside, Dr. Hartwig believes. In the past, a favorite method of staying abreast was through reading technical journals, but this is increasingly difficult in many cases.

Dr. Hartwig cites the busy engineering executive who had to be out of his office for a week on a business trip. When he got back there were three new technical journals on his desk, plus a company technical report. The executive could not do all the required reading and keep up with his work. Going back to school becomes essential for him.

Phillies Testy

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The last 12 days of the 1964 season were a frightful nightmare to the collapsing Philadelphia Phillies.

When the club reported for spring training, he avoided the subject. "We're going to get ourselves in the best shape possible and go after 'em again," Mauch told the players at a closed clubhouse meeting.

Mauch thinks the winter trades that brought Belinsky, Stuart and Herbert to the Phils will be a big help. "Belinsky should do everything Dennis Bennett did at least," said Mauch.

Also attending the banquet were assistant high school basketball coach Truett Newell and Don Robbins, athletic director for the Big Spring schools.

Stable Hungry To Win Crown From Griffith

NEW YORK (AP) — If boxing championships changed hands through the force of words rather than fists, welterweight champion Emile Griffith and light-heavy king Willie Pastrano would have reason to be a little shaky in their double title defense tonight at Madison Square Garden.

"He has what I want, and it's up to me to get it," says 24-year-old Jose Stable, a Cuban-born New Yorker who is gunning for Griffith's 147-pound crown.

Griffith, a lean, good-looking athlete who has been in 10 previous title fights and who has the distinction of having won the welterweight crown three times, is a solid 11-5 pick over Stable in the first fight, starting at 8:30 p.m. Big Spring time.

Pastrano, 29, who is hardly marked from 13 1/2 years of ring fighting, is a closer pick — just 6-5 — over Torres, who hits with the devastating power of a sledge hammer.

Pastrano has won 63 fights, lost 12 and drawn 8. Torres, 28, has an impressive knockout record. He's stopped 25 opponents in winning 34 fights, drawing one and losing one — the loss to Florentino Fernandez in 1963. He kayoed Bobo Olson in the Garden last Nov. 27.

Stable, with quick hands and feet, has lost only two bouts while winning 25 and drawing one. Griffith's record includes 43 victories, five defeats and 16 knockouts. He's been stopped once.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: SHIRLEY POVICH, Washington writer: "Baseball has offered more proof that it is the world's worst-run big business."

RAYMOND BERRY, pro football great: "One of the biggest things that Lawrence Elkins (of Baylor) has going for him is that he comes off the line running. He blasts off, and operates naturally at top speed."

FRANK HOWARD, football coach at Clemson: "We don't do none of that stuntin'. We like to line up nose-to-nose in a 5-4 defense and ask 'em to come get us. And lots of folks are accepting our invitation."

LUM HARRIS, manager of the Houston Astros: "John Bateman was a big disappointment last year. He looked like the best young catcher in the National League last part of 1963, but he got worse instead of better."

FURMAN BISHOP, Atlanta writer: "I don't understand why the Astros go to Florida to train when they simply could turn up the heat in their Astrodome at home. All they're doing is collecting splendid sunbats, upon which they'll go home to become the palest team in baseball, never the sun to see."

JIM MURRAY, Los Angeles columnist: "Dawn Fraser (the Australian swimmer) is impatient about the swim-suit required in the Olympics. It may come as a nasty shock to Cole of California or Rose Marie Reid but Dawn would like to do her swimming the way sharks do. This would certainly move women's swimming quickly into the big leagues of spectator sports and would set up a clamor for tri-weekly instead of a quadrennial Olympics."

TEX CARLTON, the Midland resident, who was Pepper Martin's team mate years ago with the St. Louis Cardinals: "We used to say that Pepper carried 54 pieces of luggage on a road trip. A deck of 52 cards, a wind-it-up phonograph and his toothbrush."

DON DRYSDALE, Los Angeles Dodger mound ace, the first time he saw former team mate Don Zimmer catching in practice: "You must be the emergency disaster catcher. You look like a hockey goalie. Pitching to you must be like throwing down a well."

BOB HAYES, the sprint champion, who is turning to pro football for a livelihood: "I could sit down and watch a football game all day — play by play. But I can't watch no track meet. After a couple of events I get up and walk away."

Next Baseball Czar May Not Now Be In Sports

BELLEAIR, Fla. (AP) — The next commissioner of baseball will be a nationally known figure with a judiciary background. He need not necessarily be a baseball man.

The successor to Ford Frick will be under 55 years of age, with unquestioned integrity and an understanding of good public relations.

Foremost among his many duties will be to give the sport an excellent public image.

Venturi Works With Ailment

CRYSTAL RIVER, Fla. (AP) — Ken Venturi, whose professional golfing career has twice been short-circuited by illness, said today he has been "working harder in the last week than I have ever worked in my life."

His goal is to overcome his latest illness — a numbness in the hands brought on by poor blood circulation — and return to the PGA golf tour with the Masters at Augusta, Ga., April 8-11.

The 33-year-old sweet swinger, the talk of the tour in the late '50s, hit rock bottom in 1962 when pneumonia and allergy turned his game sour. But in 1964, he was back in form and won the U.S. Open, the Insurance City Open and the American Golf Classic.

Then came the circulatory trouble. A biopsy was performed to measure the amount of constriction in the blood vessels, and the extent of the problem. Medication was prescribed.

"I take pills every day, all sorts of pills," Venturi said in an interview. "I take pills to dilate the blood vessels and pills to thin the blood."

"It has been a case of having to rebuild my arms and my hands. The lack of blood in the hands caused the fiber to more or less deteriorate."

Cage Awards Announced

WESTBROOK (SC) — The boys and girls basketball teams received their jackets last week. Boys receiving jackets were Jug Rees and Larry Bell, seniors; Elmer McMahan, David Rich, Howard Williamson, Mike Oglesby and Darrell Forbes, juniors; Juan Castareno, Johnny Hines and Harrell Joe Geron, sophomores, and Eddie Ranne and George Sweatt, freshmen.

Girls receiving sweaters included Claudine Read, Lynda Sullivan, Vickie Jarratt and Judy Hart, seniors. Two senior girls received blankets, Faye Ritchey and Rita Henderson.

Junior girls with jackets were Darlene Lankford, Sandra Bryant, Maritha Oden and Carole Bell; sophomores were Vickie Chambers, Melissa Killough, Vee Iglehart, Carolyn Bryant and Janette Rich and freshmen were Patricia Bell, Kathy Henderson and Vickie Sullivan.

Herman Parsons is coach, while Vickie Jarratt and Lynda Sullivan, managers. Claudine Read and Faye Ritchey were captains.
