Opening lead: Deuce of ♠
An alert defense upset South's four spade contract, however, the latter's technique left something to be desired. When South opened the bidding with one no trump, North had the values — eight high card points — to offer an immediate raise to two no trump. Holding a five card spade suit and eight points, it was his desire to explore for the best contract, and he accordingly used the two club convention, which requests the no trump to show a major suit. Observe that, if North bids two spades directly, it would designate a hand containing less than eight points.

When South rebid two spades, North decided to remove any further pressure and he proceeded directly to game.

West opened the deuce of hearts, declarer played a small card from dummy and East won the trick with the king. The latter decided to switch the attack and he accordingly shifted to the eight of clubs.

South played the king of clubs and then cashed the ace and king of spades, drawing the adverse trump. A small diamond was led from dummy, and declarer put in the nine which forced out West's ace. The queen of clubs was returned — driving out South's last stopper. When East got in with the king of diamonds, he led a club to his partner's jack for the setting trick.

East's timing was perfect; however, declarer could have averted the fatal club shift by playing the ace of hearts at trick one, in order to begin the development of the diamonds. After drawing trump, a diamond is led toward the closed hand. When the nine drives out the ace, only one more lead is required to establish South's queen for a club discard from dummy. The defense does not have time to establish their club trick and South's losses are restricted to two diamonds and the king of hearts.

The heart finesse had little to gain for declarer must eventually lose one trick in that suit even if West has led away from the king. South should, therefore, have concentrated his efforts on establishing a discard before the opposition had time to get at their club trick.

Second Cars In Families On Go, Too

HOUSTON (AP)—A petroleum marketing research specialist says the original theory behind the two-car family trend is backfiring.

L. H. Austin of Houston added today that mothers and children have shattered the idea the second car would be idle about half the time.

This is one reason, he said, that demand for lubricating oils increased a surprising five per cent last year, compared to only seven-tenths of one per cent the four previous years.

"When the trend to two-car families started, it was thought the second car would be in a standby status and driven possibly one-half as much as the first car," said Austin, who is director of economics and market research for domestic operations of the Gulf Oil Corp.

NO STANDBY
"It has not worked out that way. The data indicate that whether they knew it or not, mummy and the children had as much need for a car in meeting their responsibilities as did daddy getting back and forth to work."

He said the second car often is a station wagon that seems to be getting its share of weekend trips and vacation business. "Whatever the case, the increase in multiple car families has not tended to lower consumption per vehicle," he said. "In fact, most recent figures indicate this average is increasing."

Austin said about one of every five families is a multiple car owner today, compared to one of eight families in 1955.

Preliminary analysis indicates the surprising 1964 increase in demand for lubricants is associated with an extraordinary increase in automobile, truck and bus manufacture and with a year of strong industry activity, he said.

REGISTRATIONS UP
Passenger car registrations were up 6.7 per cent last year and truck and bus registrations were up 9.4 per cent.

Johnson Holds Up Comment On Alabama Boycott Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson says he doesn't want innocents hurt by any economic boycott of Alabama.

However, he says he is withholding judgment until Dr. Martin Luther King drafts final boycott proposals.

This was the home-front highlight of a surprise news conference late Thursday at which the President also said: — The White House is willing to do all it honorably can to negotiate a Viet Nam settlement but sees no sign Hanoi is ready to talk "under conditions that would be productive." He also said, "I know of no far-reaching strategy that is being suggested or promulgated" in Viet Nam policy talks here this week.

SOVIETS WELCOME
— The President stands by his invitation to Soviet leaders to visit the United States "and I would be happy to welcome them."

Johnson is taking a second look at plans to close some Veterans Administration hospitals and concedes complaints from affected members of Congress "raise doubts in my mind whether we were 100 per cent right." However, he says his advisers still "feel they were justified in that decision."

— The recent controversy over the use of nonlethal gas in South Viet Nam was, in the chief executive's view, a case where "somebody made a mountain out of a molehill." He said he didn't know about it in advance, but defended the move as humane and rather routine.

BANK REGULATION
— A reorganization of agencies that regulate banks may well be proposed by Congress and the administration in the wake of current Senate hearings which, he said, raise questions about the efficiency of the office of Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon.

Johnson summoned reporters to the White House theater to watch him read a couple of routine statements before television cameras recording his appearance for later broadcast. Once that job was done, he invited questions and precipitated a full-scale news conference.

The President, asked for comment on King's call for a boycott of Alabama, said he would withhold comment until the civil rights leader drafts final recommendations.

However, he said: "I think we must be very careful to see that we do not punish innocents in this country while we are trying to protect all of our people and that we do not hurt those who through no fault of their own could be damaged without any real reason."

BORROWED MONEY
The first question put to Johnson dealt with a statement he made earlier in the day that he had borrowed some money to pay $100,000 in income taxes.

Johnson said he owed about $100,000 for 1964 and as a first installment on estimated income in 1965. Much of the money had been deducted from his paychecks last year, he reported, but he borrowed a portion of

REV. DARRIS EGGER

Rev. Egger To Bring Message

Under the theme of "Beginning with God," Kentwood Methodist Church will observe a special emphasis this week with the Rev. Darris Egger, Colorado City, as the speaker.

Rev. Egger, who is minister of the First Methodist Church in Colorado City, will preach both services Sunday and will bring the message throughout the week. Times of services are at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and breakfast services at 6:30 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Each night of the week there will be prayer and discussion groups at 7 p.m.

Rev. Egger attended McMurry College and did his graduate work at Perkins School of Theology in Dallas. He is missionary secretary for the Northwest Methodist Conference. He and Mrs. Egger have two sons, one of whom is a student at Howard County Junior College.

"God is before, in and beyond all that is," said the Rev. Henry Salley, pastor. "Therefore the Christian doctrine of life beginning in God and continuing in God is the affirmation of our day, and the purpose of the week is to relate this anew to our lives."

Non-Payers Are Sought
DALLAS — The Internal Revenue Service prides itself on collecting 97 per cent of the nation's taxes through voluntary compliance methods. However, IRS does not neglect those who do not voluntarily comply.

The Intelligence Division is a small but important part of the service's enforcement program. It investigates suspected willful failures to file tax returns and willful attempts to evade income, wagering, and other federal taxes (except those on alcohol, tobacco, and narcotics) and related criminal offenses.

During 1964 Intelligence Special Agents investigated more than 14,000 cases, of which nearly 4,000 were full scale investigations. Cases involving apparent deficiencies, but in which prosecutions were not considered appropriate, were referred to other divisions of the Revenue Service for possible assessment of additional taxes and civil penalties.

The Department of Justice obtained 1,495 convictions in cases referred to it by Intelligence in 1964, compared to 1,408 in 1963. For 1,505 persons up for sentencing in 1964, federal judges imposed aggregate prison terms to serve of 354 years, and additionally imposed probation or suspended sentences totaling 2,862 years. Fines assessed amounted to more than $3,000,000. Besides the criminal action taken, the Intelligence Division recommended additional tax assessments and penalties amounting to $183,000,000.

Director of the Intelligence Division, H. Allen Long, in Washington, D. C., noted an increase in the number of convictions of employers who failed to make trust fund deposits of employees' withholding and Social Security taxes. He also found that automatic data processing machines identified a number of persons who illegally sought more than one refund.

Doctors Criticize Mother's Words

NEW YORK — Mothers who demand antibiotics for their children when they have respiratory and other infections were criticized recently by a noted Dallas pediatrician.

"I don't dare treat my own children. I'm too close to them to have good judgment," states Dr. Heinz F. Eichenwald of Texas Southwestern Medical School. "Yet," he says, "mothers with no pediatric training feel qualified to decide what their children should receive. I don't understand it and feel strongly about it."

He states that just because a certain antibiotic is prescribed for adults it is not necessarily safe for children with the same illness.

'Monotone' Used In Decorating

The "one print" look is a new decorating trend in home furnishing circles . . . draperies, window shades, wall coverings, chairs and sofas . . . all get into the act with even a lamp shade in the same print.

A new touch is to quilt the fabric used on the latex foam rubber cushioned chairs and sofa.

DEAR ABBY

Just Look Elsewhere

DEAR ABBY: My mother opens my mail so please answer this in the column. I work in a large insurance office. There is a new man there who is about 23 or 24. He is married, but I heard that he and his wife do not get along. (They had to get married.) I have been trying to get his attention. At times he seems interested in me. But he could pay more attention to me than he does. How can I find out if he is interested in me? I am 25 and have never been married. I like this guy's looks.

DEAR IMPATIENT: A man who "isn't getting along with his wife" is no more available than one who is happily wed. He HAS a wife. Better fish off another dock.

DEAR ABBY: We have a 16-year-old daughter with long blonde hair. She is pretty and popular and very charming to boys and girls her own age, but for some reason she does not think it is necessary to be polite at home. When she comes home from school, she slams in and breezes past anyone who happens to be in the house without saying a word. This includes guests, grandmothers, aunts and members of the household. I merely ask her to say hello, and then she may excuse herself and go to her room and do as she pleases. People ask, "What's wrong with Cathy?" Should I reply she is at "that rude age"? Perhaps I should overlook it? Or should I keep pecking at my one chick?

PALO ALTO MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Don't "peck" at her. But don't ignore her behavior, either. Remind her gently (when you are alone) to greet everyone pleasantly when she enters. Youth is sometimes thoughtless, hurried, preoccupied and slightly inconsiderate. What mother hasn't said to her youngster, "Can't you say hello to people when you come in?"

DEAR ABBY: In answer to the pastor's wife who was upset because she wasn't invited to parties with her husband. It's better not to be invited than to be invited and have your husband fail to tell you. My husband was invited to several parties around holiday time. He didn't tell me that I was invited. He took a girl from his office instead. I later learned that he told the host and hostess that I had foot surgery and was unable to walk!

Don't worry, things like that don't bother me. If they did, I would have been insane years ago.

Reversal Of Estes Swindle Verdict Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has been asked to declare unconstitutional picture taking or broadcast at criminal trials.

This prohibition was requested Thursday by lawyers for Billie Sol Estes. They asked the court to reverse his conviction on swindling charges because his trial was televised.

The court set no time limit for its consideration of the appeal.

During the hearing Chief Justice Earl Warren said judges have ample authority to deal with misbehavior by spectators, reporters or lawyers.

Referring to the state court in Tyler, Tex., where Estes was tried, Warren said, however, that procedures "contrived and set up by the court have made possible the objections by this defendant."

The rules that governed cameras and news media in general "were not for the protection of the defendant but were superimposed for possibly commercial reasons," Warren said.

Estes was convicted of swindling and was sentenced to eight years. He is serving a 15-year federal prison term for conspiracy and mail fraud.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Right-To-Work Laws Favored By Reader

To The Editor:
I am writing in regard to Mr. Frank Parker's letter published March 21. First of all, I am glad that I live in a country in which I am able to say that I am very much in favor of the right-to-work law. Secondly, I am for the principles upon which the labor unions were originally organized; however, some people that are head of our unions and the way they are operated is a real danger to our American way of life without competition such as the right-to-work law. As most people know, competition is good and without it you have a monopoly. In order to better explain my beliefs, I would like to use a statement by Jameson Campaign, editor of the Indianapolis Star: "If compulsory union membership is abolished, union members and non-union members will be able to hold in check the tremendous power now exercised over the nation by their bosses."

"That all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

I could cite statements supporting right-to-work laws by such people as Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Sen. Juan L. McClellan, Barry Goldwater, Dr. Fredrick Fowler, David Lawrence, Farris Bryant, John A. Connally, and Price Daniel.

It is truly any American's right to favor the right-to-work law, which by the way, is not a discrimination law. Also, I am not against the principles of the unions, nor do I favor low wages. However I definitely do not approve of the statement made by James Hoffa (AP, July 8, 1961): "We are going to take over the political party, Democrat or Republican, that loses the 1964 presidential election. I will lead one of the greatest labor political organizations ever formed in the country."

The right-to-work law simply provides a legal guarantee that no person shall be denied the opportunity to get or keep a job because of membership or non-membership in a labor union.

In June 1962, Opinion Research Corporation, completed a nationwide survey which found that 93 per cent of American citizens agree that "No American should be forced against his will to join a church, union or political organization."

Now, let me ask one question—Are we going to let the other 7 per cent tell us what we must do, or are we going to help support such things as the right-to-work law?

Listed below are some statistics that Mr. Parker failed to mention in paragraph six in his letter:

1. In right-to-work states, the percentage of increase in industrial wages has been greater than in non-right-to-work states—32.9 per cent compared to 29.8 per cent (see "Employment & Earnings," U. S. Department of Labor, 1953-1960).

SALT LAKE CITY—The 375-voice choir of the Salt Lake Mormon Tabernacle will be heard across the nation during telecasts of the 135th annual general conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The conference is scheduled for April 4-6 in the historic Mormon Tabernacle.

The Sunday morning session of the conference will be carried in the Odessa and Big Spring area by KOSA-TV Channel 7 at 9 o'clock. A coast-to-coast network of more than 200 stations will carry the program.

The tabernacle choir appeared by invitation on the first United States-to-Europe telecast via Telstar, and has received the "Grammy" award from the recording industry for its version of "Battle Hymn of the Republic." It has also given command performances for three presidents at the White House.

2. Among the 50 states, the leaders in the creation of new jobs were Arizona, Florida, and Nevada. All three are right-to-work states. The rate of increase in all right-to-work states was 14.6 per cent compared to 3.8 per cent for other states (see "Employment & Earnings" 1953-1961).

3. Right-to-work states lead the non-right-to-work states in wage rate improvement in industrial jobs—among the 10 states in America having the highest percentages increase in hourly wages were seven right-to-work states. (1953-1961).

4. The personal income of the people in right-to-work states is increasing more rapidly than in the non-right-to-work states—30.2 per cent compared to 25.3 per cent (1953-1961).

5. The rate of increase in retail sales in right-to-work states is outstripping the non-right-to-work states—20.3 per cent compared to 16.5 per cent (1954-1958).

The Declaration of Independence, upon which our form of government of the U. S. of America was founded declares:

David O. McKay, 91-year-old president of the church; Hugh B. Brown, first counselor to the president, and N. Eldon Tanner, second president, make up the First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and will direct the conference.

Beyond the Blossoms

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When the buds burst into fragile flower, and their breath is everywhere, and a warming breeze caresses the cold, damp earth . . . this is more than Spring. This is the time of Promise.

For these same festive branches shall lift a precious burden of fruit when the red-gold mantle of harvest falls across the land.

When human souls awaken to the reveille of faith, and hymns and prayers fill the arches of heaven, and the warmth of an ageless hope reaches from heart to heart . . . this is more than Lent.

For the faith which blossoms today will bear its own precious fruit. Love! Joy! Peace! The harvest of souls like yours and mine is beginning anew to grow.

Hollywood Crowd At Museum Gala

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Why it's magnificent! It's absolutely epochal! This must be one of the most beautiful buildings in the world."

Edward G. Robinson, a man who chooses his words with care, was uttering these phrases during one of this week's gala openings of Los Angeles County Art Museum.

While select figures of Los Angeles society and the film world were partaking of a champagne supper, the actor-art collector was wandering amid the art and artifacts of the new Ahmanson Gallery.

LIKELY CHOICE
Along with the newly opened music center, the museum gave the lie to the ancient canard that he who ventured into Los Angeles risked sinking into a cultural void.

Hollywood's night at the $12-million museum came with a $100-per-ticket premiere of "The Train." The film was an appropriate choice, since it deals with a real-life incident in which French resistance fighters prevented the spiriting to Germany of a trainload of painting masterpieces from Paris.

The presence of the movie crowd was appropriate, too. Such figures as Bob Hope, Burt Lancaster, Art Linkletter, Jack L. Warner, William Wyler and Robinson were hefty contributors in terms of paintings and cold cash.

MOVIE FIRST

The movie came first, and it was well-received in the jewel-like 600-seat theater in the Bing Center (in honor of the late Leo S., New York realtor, not Crosby), which also houses a children's gallery and eating places. After the performance, the crowd paraded across the statuary-filled plaza, past the Lytton Gallery, designed for special exhibits — currently, Bonnard.

Such art-lovers as Jack Lemmon, Dorothy McGuire, Gene Kelly, Billy Wilder and Rosalind Russell stared in wonder at the four-floors of art, the brilliant colors of each level visible from open space in the center of the building.

EDWARD G. ROBINSON

Goldwater, Nixon Differ On Vote Rights Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two top Republicans — Barry Goldwater and Richard M. Nixon — stood on opposite sides today in the debate over legislation to guarantee Negro voting rights.

Goldwater said there are enough voting-rights laws on the books already — and added the legislation President Johnson now seeks "does nothing less than change our Constitution."

"If we are to do this," the party's 1964 presidential nominee told more than 2,000 Republican women Thursday, "we should be approaching the current legislation as an amendment to the Constitution."

But Nixon, the nominee in 1960, said action is needed now, to cope with a situation he termed volatile. He said a constitutional amendment would take too long.

"I think the Congress should act, but I think it should act judiciously," the former vice president told a news conference.

The 13th annual Republican Women's Conference hears today from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who played a major role in drafting the Johnson bill.

The party's top policymakers already are on record as advocates of federal action to guarantee all Americans their right to vote before the 1966 congressional elections.

The Republican Coordinating Committee took that stand March 10. Goldwater is a member, but he was not on hand then, Nixon was.

Nixon said a constitutional amendment on voting rights could not be effective in time for the 1966 balloting. He said that kind of delay would lead to new demonstrations and the danger of violence.

"The situation requires enactment of a bill now," Nixon said. But he was critical of the Johnson proposal. For one thing, he said, it does not provide broad enough coverage.

Presidential Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has reported President Johnson thinks his recommendation for $8.75 million for the Secret Service next year is ample.

Story Of Webb Due TV Screening

A story of Webb Air Force Base, its pilot training mission and its emphasis on flying safety, will be told in a special television presentation scheduled for Saturday evening at 7:30 over Channel 2, KMDI-TV, Midland.

The Channel 2 staff has worked up the program as a documentary which it thinks may be forwarded into competition, or could have wider showing than from the Midland station.

The half-hour show was put together after Channel 2's remote units were sent over here for several days to work in film and audio interviews. The station utilized virtually all its facilities on the production, working closely with Webb personnel. An actual "scramble" of the F-104 fighters of the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron is shown in the opening, including air-to-air destruction of targets with Sidewinder missile.

Col. A. F. Taute, wing commander at Webb, explains in a video-taped interview his concept of the safety program followed in Webb training. He is followed by Capt. Thomas H. Normie who narrates the various phases of pilot training while film shows the operation at the base.

The T-37 and T-38 jet trainers are also shown and described by pilot instructors. Lt. Col. M. W. Sharek, commander of the 331st, gives a graphic word picture of the F-104, and the documentary is climaxed with film of the recent Webb graduating class.

Some Big Spring community scenes are used as background material. A spokesman for Channel 2 said: "We were very impressed with the relationship between the people of Big Spring and the base personnel, and think we have produced an interesting TV show that is a salute to them both."

April Showers In North Texas

By The Associated Press
April showers—the kind they say will bring May flowers—ranged across the north part of Texas today.
Damp south winds fanned most of the state and it was cloudy in all sections.
Light to sometimes moderate showers in bands up to 50 miles wide travelled toward the northeast in early morning from around Wichita Falls, Mineral Wells, Gainesville, Fort Worth, Dallas, Palestine, Tyler and Waco.
As usual, there also was fog in scattered areas before dawn. These included Austin, Waco, Houston, Beaumont, Galveston, Palacios and Victoria.
Scattered showers and continued mild weather were forecast through Saturday. It was expected to start turning a little cooler in West Texas tonight and over the north half of the state again by Tuesday or Wednesday.

Cancer Crusade Stamps Go On Sale

Postmaster E. C. Butler and Mrs. Archie Butler, president of the Howard County Cancer Society unit, examine a book of 5,000 commemorative stamps for this month's "Crusade Against Cancer." The office here has 20,000 of the five-cent stamps on hand, which went on sale today.

Casualties In Battle Near Saigon Mount

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Casualties were believed high today in a fierce battle between a Vietnamese ranger battalion and a strong Communist force 20 miles west of Saigon.
A relief force pushed toward the area today but was reported unable to make radio contact with the ranger battalion. Unconfirmed reports said there had been a lull in the fighting.
One American was killed and four were wounded Thursday when the fighting broke out. The fate of at least five other Americans in the battle zone was unknown. They may only be out of radio contact.
GETS STRANDED
At least four U.S. advisers were reported with the rangers, airlifted into the battle zone Thursday. The fifth man was a U.S. Army medical evacuation helicopter crew chief who was stranded when his chopper had to make a hurried takeoff from the fighting area with a load of wounded.
Additional medical evacuation flights were called off, apparently because of the difficulty in finding even a moderately secure area for the helicopters to land in.
A large portion of the helicopters in the Saigon area were on standby, ready to fly more troops into the area. The fighting was on the western side of the Vaico Oriental River, in Viet Cong country.

Operation Snack Bar

Father Slain, Son Charged

NEW YORK (AP)—Gary Klingler, 18, a brilliant student who quit pre-medical studies two weeks ago, was charged Thursday night with killing his sleeping father.
The father, Bernard Klingler, 63, a pharmacist in Brooklyn, was slain early Thursday by a rifle bullet which entered his head and coursed through his chest.
The weapon, a 6.5mm Italian magnum rifle, was found in a storm sewer two blocks from the family's three-room apartment in Brooklyn's Sheepshead Bay section.
Eliot Golden, chief assistant district attorney in Brooklyn, said the youth, who reportedly has an IQ of 150, admitted firing the rifle shot.

How You May

Never Take a Laxative Again!

New Miracle Regulator Keeps Waste Soft—So Bowels Move Naturally

New York, N.Y. (Special)—After 12 years' research, scientists have discovered a wonder-working substance that corrects constipation entirely without laxatives!

Doctors say most constipation occurs when waste loses moisture in the colon—becomes dry, hard, difficult to move. To give relief, laxatives have to force action by flushing, irritating or distending the intestine.

The new miracle substance—known medically as diocetyl sodium sulfosuccinate—works in a completely different way. It is not a laxative! It simply makes natural moisture in the colon moisten and soften dry, hard waste more effectively. Then normal elimination follows naturally. Thus by working only on waste, not on you, the substance corrects constipation and restores regularity as no laxative can.

This new discovery has now been made available at drugstores under the name REGULOT. It is safe—no habit-forming. No warning on the label—no prescription needed. Try REGULOT—discover for yourself that you may never need to take a laxative again!

Pair Due To Get Nod For Next Space Flight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A flight last week. Schirra and Stafford have followed the same strict training schedule.
The rendezvous mission is planned for two days. The astronauts would pilot the Gemini spacecraft to an Agena rocket and try a docking maneuver about 116 miles above the earth while traveling at about 25,000 miles per hour.
It's stoutly speculated at the Manned Spacecraft Center that Walter M. Schirra Jr., 42, and Thomas P. Stafford, 34, will be named Monday to make the fourth manned Gemini flight.
WANTS ASSIGNMENT
Schirra, a Navy commander has said many times his heart is set on flying in this one because it probably will be the most interesting, and he wants Stafford, a backstop man for Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young for the initial manned Gemini flight.
Schirra and Stafford could be the first space pilots to perform the feat, if the Soviets don't do it in the meantime.
The flight is scheduled for 1966, but the Gemini program has been accelerated and it could be made late this year.
MARK "FIRST"
Schirra is the oldest astronaut. He made space history Oct. 3, 1962, when he completed six orbits of the earth in his Mercury Sigma 7 spacecraft, in what officials called a "text book" flight.
Stafford wrote several books on test flying before joining the second group of astronauts.

Sanger Man Lake Victim

DENISON (AP)—Billy Seagrave, 21, of Sanger drowned Thursday in Lake Texoma.
He and three Denton men were taking a small sailboat on the lake from the Eisenhower Marina, using an auxiliary motor.
Seagrave, standing on the dock, jumped for the moving boat but landed in the water. A Marina employe, Floyd Wallace, tried to rescue the youth. He said Seagraves struggled so fiercely he was unable to bring him to the surface.
The Denton men with Seagraves were Bob Clark, Henry Hattlett and R. S. Jeffery, owner of the boat.

Attempted Arson Charged To Youth

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A shy, bespectacled youth, the son of a university professor, faces an attempted arson charge in the rigging of a booby trap to explode a teacher's automobile.
State police said Thursday night that Parke Reeves, 17, of the nearby town of Guilderland, had admitted rigging the device, but declared, "I didn't want to hurt anybody. I just wanted to blow up the car."
The car belongs to John T. Ryan, 37, a driver education teacher at Guilderland High School, where Reeves is a senior.

Bank Regulation Questions Raised

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson says Senate hearings on the failure of several federally insured banks have raised questions in his mind about how efficient government regulators have been.
Even before the Senate investigations subcommittee began its inquiry he had questions about the banking system and the government's regulatory agencies, Johnson said at a news conference Thursday.
The matter came up when a reporter asked if testimony in the hearings had raised questions in the President's mind about the efficiency of Comptroller of the Currency James Saxon's office.
"QUESTIONS PRAISED"
"Yes, they have raised a good many questions, not only of the banking system but regulatory functions of the various agencies of government," Johnson replied.
"I would not be surprised if the executive and the legislative departments improve upon some of its regulatory functions."
At the moment, the committee is examining the failure of the First National Bank of Marlin, Tex.
Federal officials have told the committee Bernard Garrett and Joseph Morris, two speculators who are Negroes, took control of the bank in July, 1963, defied orders not to do business with the bank themselves and made off with a $189,000 profit in a deal that caused the bank to close a few months later.
NOW A BARTENDER
Matthew Steiner, now a bartender in Salinas, Calif., testified that Garrett and Morris recruited him—he is white—to front for them for $25,000 a year. He said his only previous business management experience had been a $3,000 investment he and his wife made in an ice cream drive-in stand.
But Garrett testified that Steiner used statements of Garrett's and Morris' net worth without permission to obtain a loan from the Continental Bank & Trust Co. to purchase the Marlin bank.
Morris said today he got into the banking and savings and loan business to help other Negroes obtain credit.
He acknowledged he and Garrett hired Steiner as a front man because, he said, Negroes were not acceptable in Texas banking operations.

Forecast Holds Rain Promise

The weather forecast indicates there is a possibility of showers this afternoon and tonight—at least over 80 per cent of the area.
Heavy clouds have been hanging over the Big Spring area for several days, but only a few drops of moisture have fallen. A front, moving down across the center of the nation, has moved to the southeast as though it had struck a solid wall north of this area of West Texas, leaving little moisture in its wake.
No important temperature changes are expected through Saturday, with the highs running from 70 to 75 degrees, and the lows from 50 to 55.

"Aunt Mary was a great one for abidin' by the law," old Jake ruminated the other day. "I've seen her come to such a dead halt at a stop sign that I hardly dost hope she'd ever git movin' again! She believed in it—the law, that is. And that's good."

"But there's one thing I never quite figured out about Aunt Mary. She believed in the law of the land, sure enough; but she claimed the Bible law didn't hold any longer."

"I took a look at that Bible law, there in Exodus 20," Jake continued. "The preachers call it the Ten Commandments. And I can't rightly see how a body can git along and not keep that law, some time he's meditatin' at stop signs. It makes just as good sense today as it ever did."

"Aunt Mary said people who insist on keeping the Ten Commandments are legalists. She said we're saved by grace, by lovin' God."

"I know she was right about bein' saved by grace," Jake went on, "but accordin' to the way I read my Bible that law still stands. Keepin' it won't guarantee that I'll be saved, but it is a standard for livin' that can't be tossed out."

A Devotional For The Day

The Pharisees and scribes murmured, saying, This man receiveth sinners, and eateth with them. (Luke 15:2)
PRAYER: Our Father, we realize that we are not worthy in ourselves to come to Thee. We come pleading the merits of Christ, Thy Son, who loved us and gave Himself for us. We thank Thee in His name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Highway Funds For Highways

Another warning against diversion of highway tax revenue to non-highway has been sounded by Herbert C. Petry Jr., chairman of the Texas Highway Commission. While his state was in general terms, it sought a specific target, also, namely the proposal to exempt companies operating city transit buses from paying state gasoline tax.

Petry properly pointed out that this proposal would open the door to other groups who would have almost as logical a claim as city transit—school buses, state-owned vehicles, ambulances, city vehicles.

He went on to note that no small portion of the highway budget is actually expended inside of cities, a portion which is growing rapidly under the influence of the interstate and defense highway system because of vastly higher costs. Moreover, only 139 miles of urban highways in Texas are city-maintained—the balance is assumed by the state which carries eight times as much traffic over its 4,400 miles of state-maintained highways in cities as a comparable mileage of other city streets carries.

The chairman could have added that exempting city transits from gasoline tax is in effect requiring other cities and towns to subsidize those operations. This is manifestly unfair.

The main reason, however, is that Texas has, as Petry stated, been able to develop one of the nation's outstanding highway systems because it has been largely successful in preventing diversion of highway tax funds. Every Texan ought to be proud of his highway system, and thus insist that its financing not be diluted.

Use That Vote

Voters have an opportunity to cast ballots Saturday in various school district elections, and next Tuesday those in Big Spring may vote again on city commissioners.

Some districts have contested races, and some don't. But this should make no difference when it comes to going to the polls.

The person who will not take time to cast a ballot, irrespective of a contest, does not deserve to be heard concerning the conduct of schools or city.

Next to not registering to vote is to have the right of franchise and then not use it.

If you're too busy to vote Saturday or Tuesday, you're entirely too busy.

Statistics Can't Change Crime

WASHINGTON — In the plaintive lingua franca with which organs of doctrinaire liberalism communicate, the signal has been passed that the way to cope with the nation's crime problem is to question its existence.

A rash of stories has appeared in New York, Washington and elsewhere containing the same wistful theme: What appears to be a grave increase in crime is nothing more than statistical legerdemain authored by that sly old sleight-of-hand artist who runs the FBI.

IT IS NOT stated quite that baldly, to be sure, but that is the line anyway, and we are certain to hear a great deal more of it.

But an important new element has been added. Gradual awareness has developed that there is one crime statistic that transcends all the others. This is simply the sad, monumentally discouraging fact that nearly eight out of 10 serious crimes that take place in the United States are committed by repeaters — by parolees, unregenerate beneficiaries of wrist-slap sentences, scornful backsliders whom penologists call by the unpronounceable term "recidivists."

THIS SHOCKING (and generally ignored) statistic means a number of things, all of them profoundly distasteful to the sort of mind that coined that classic bit of sentimental rubbish about there being no such thing as a bad boy. If 80 per cent of serious crime is committed by old lags who repeatedly have been through the revolving-door courts, jails and parole boards, it is clear evidence that there is serious failure in our system of dealing with criminals after their arrest.

WHAT IS WRONG — and what the people who are zeroing-in on the FBI's statistical picture of crime dare not admit — is that the philosophy of probation, parole, indeterminate sentence and unduly light terms for serious offenses is a proven failure. It is not important whether the criminal is categorized as sick or wicked, but it is important if he is turned loose when the odds are four to one he'll quickly revert to type and prey on me and mine.

J. EDGAR has done a thing rare in the annals of government. He has run a powerful national law-enforcement agency without permitting it to become an instrument for the oppression of the people. But even this is not enough for the ordained liberal Messiahs; he has earned their enmity by his patient campaign to bring sanity into the treatment of criminals.

With a characteristically oblique approach they now seek to palliate the nation's failure to deal realistically with crime by attacking — not crime or criminal — but the FBI's statistical picture of same.

THE SAME species of non-think has taken place in the United Kingdom, which has also been plagued by an epidemic increase in crime. Again in Elighy the statistics were blamed, and there they have succeeded in wiping out one large category of crime with the stroke of a pen. Auto theft, it was ruled, would no longer be classified as theft until the car had been missing for 28 days. That sharply reduced the statistical incidence of auto theft, to be sure, but it did nothing to reduce the disgraceful frequency with which Great Britain's criminals pinch other chaps' motors.

NO ONE CAN look at an abandoned stolen car and know if it was taken for joy riding, prospective sale or stripping, or as a getaway vehicle for use in a holdup. Any cop knows auto theft is a serious crime. Almost without exception the nation's criminals all got their start by swiping autos. When a theft takes another man's property (for whatever purpose) it is not borrowing, it is stealing. No statistical trick is going to change it.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

"Students don't want more recreation, they want work." The reasoning behind this statement from a Texas Employment Commission spokesman is sound. Many local students would work part time, if they could find jobs.

And, operators of many small businesses would hire some part time help, if they could make contact with the responsible youngsters who want to work.

The TEC will seek to cure this problem through the state organization's youth employment service. Hopefully, more jobs will be uncovered. In filling these jobs, youths will make money to help keep themselves in school.

The problem is being pointed up now in letters to employers and individuals who might be able to use youthful assistants. Alphabetized, youth employment service becomes YES, which is the correct answer for citizens who want to give the younger generation a boost in the formative years.

Ray Bliss' Silence May Be Golden For GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ray C. Bliss, combination rescue worker and cement-mixer, has taken over his new job without any illusions or hokum about the dilapidated condition of the Republican party.

The 57-year-old Bliss, a political technician of the silent type, Thursday succeeded Dean Burch, anything but silent, as chairman of the GOP's national committee.

Burch, handicapped by Barry Goldwater, for the chairman's job during last year's campaign, was forced out after the 1964 election disaster. He was a visible symbol of the Goldwater philosophy which led the party into shattering defeat.

GOLDWATER WAS never silent, either, but at this stage in the party's history Bliss' silence may be golden.

He has to help save the party from oblivion, which it is headed for if it can't recapture the confidence of the voters, and at the same time mix the cement needed to put the scattered pieces together.

Bliss apparently thinks the Republicans need a complete overhaul job. He said: "We must build a party which offers a broad appeal to all citizens of the United States." It didn't in 1964, as the returns showed.

The overhaul would require fusing the Goldwaters and the anti-Goldwater Republicans into a unity which may be impossible. For Goldwater himself Thursday described the kind of party he wants.

HE SAID the GOP has been "weak-kneed and short-sighted" in facing the issue of what he called mounting federal power. But this was one of Goldwater's principal positions in the election which rejected him worse than any modern-day candidate.

Goldwater continued: "We can no longer hide behind the weasel words that try to say we can avoid the problem by ignoring it."

He singled out President Johnson's voting rights bill, which has a lot of Republican support in Congress and seems sure to pass, as typifying the kind of centralized power he opposes.

This sounds like the Goldwater of 1964. He still apparently hasn't accepted as a reality of American life the fact that his ideas of government were overwhelmingly rejected.

"If he keeps up it will make an old man of Bliss whose main task is to try to unify the party.

The party split will be permanent if Goldwater and his followers insist upon sticking to their 1964 line. For the anti-Goldwaters can hardly afford to, and certainly won't, follow him and still hope to win the 1966 congressional elections.

THE LATEST evidence of the continuing split in the party came after Goldwater spoke when former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he disagreed and wants a voting bill passed promptly, even though he thinks it should be revised a bit.

Instead of a bill, Goldwater said, the Johnson voting proposal should be a constitutional amendment. But that would take so much time to approve that Nixon said it couldn't be done before the 1966 elections.

Jumping To Conclusions

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Pity is wasted on a fellow who orders restaurant hash on Mondays. He deserves what happens to him.

Anybody who has to ask how much it costs to feed a Great Dane dog really can't afford to own one.

A daily nap after lunch and a mile stroll after dinner would do more for the health of the average American than all the wonder drugs that will be discovered in the next five years.

A WOMAN investor would rather buy a stock selling at $19.75 a share than another at $20—because she can't help feeling that the odd-priced one must be a better bargain.

Ladies who wear heavy eye makeup are likely to leave their kitchen sinks messy. Any guy who weds one of these dames is pretty sure to wind up as a kind of valet and male housekeeper for her.

There's something wrong with a civilization in which the children can recite more nonsense television commercials by heart than Mother Goose rhymes.

YOU OFTEN cantell a henpecked husband by his wedding ring — it's thicker. His bride probably picked it out for him, and this is her way of letting other women know that he's been tagged.

Nothing has lost caste more than the two-pants suit. Buying them makes sense in a swivel chair era, but the men who do rarely brag about it.

The quickest way to shut up a woman at a cocktail party is to tell her she has a run in her stocking.

It is really better that people never follow the good advice we give them; for if they did, we would be defenseless against them later.

WHEN AN obstetrician meets some of the people he delivered 40 years earlier, he wonders gloomily if he wouldn't have done more for mankind if he had become a plumber.

What can a man believe? Life has become even more of a guessing game since department stores started advertising padded panties.

Around The Rim
The Old Chisholm Trail

If one U. S. Congressman has his way, legislation may soon mark the route of the old Chisholm Trail, from South Texas to Dodge City and Abilene, Kan.

A BILL HAS been introduced which calls for the Department of the Interior to conduct a survey to determine where the primary route of the trail was and then to mark the route. In addition, a museum would be established somewhere along the way, with the Interior Department to operate the museum.

The trail is now said to be partially marked in Oklahoma.

IN THE 1860's, cattlemen followed the Chisholm Trail as they drove their herds northward to the railroad and to markets.

Actually, several routes rather than one were followed. And the routes apparently began wherever cattlemen started their drives. Thus they changed from year to year.

IMPORTANT in the development of the western states, the trail included the largest movement of domestic animals ever known to the world, more than five million head driven northward between 1866 and 1886.

In the three decades after 1860, it has been estimated more than 10 million head of Longhorn cattle were moved northward from places in Texas over the old cattle trails, bringing Texans some $200 million and helping to rebuild the state after the surrender of the Confederacy.

CATTLE TRAILS were not alone in their role in Southwestern growth, for the old wagon trails played an equally important part, and some of these routes are already marked. For example, if one visits the historic old military post of Fort Leavenworth, Kan., one sees markers showing where wagon trains in the early 1800's climbed between the high bluffs on the west side of the Missouri River and headed westward, following the Santa Fe Trail and the Oregon Trail. At the spot on the Missouri where in 1827 the cavalry post was established, these two trails crossed.

War 'Escalation' Is Here

WASHINGTON — The United States is involuntarily engaged in an "escalation" game in Viet Nam. The word "escalation" has often been used to imply that if one side takes a drastic course of military action, the other side will then retaliate, and a succession of moves progressively more intensive and widespread will become inevitable.

A critical moment indeed has been reached in the Viet Nam war. The United States, as the ally of the South Viet Nam government, recently found its own forces directly attacked and its installations destroyed, so a retaliatory move was made in the form of bombing raids on North Viet Nam. It was widely assumed then that the policy of the United States in dramatizing its military power would cause the North Viet Nam government and its ally, Red China, to hesitate about further steps that could provoke enlarged military action.

BUT NOW it has become apparent that the Communists are ready to risk a larger war. For they have just bombed the United States Embassy in Saigon, killing and injuring Americans. This is the kind of attack which the United States government cannot ignore. The embassy is American territory, and such an attack is a most serious occurrence. The embassy building in Saigon undoubtedly was the target which the Communists deliberately chose in planting the bomb—to see how far the United States would go in retaliation.

There has been much speculation as to what the American policy really is in Viet Nam. It has been suggested that the Washington government is feeling its way. It is clear that the South Vietnamese are incapable of dealing with the situation on their own. Obviously, with all the support given by Red China to North Viet Nam, a weak government such as exists in Saigon cannot by itself possibly thwart the acts of invasion and aggression.

SO THE PROBLEM that squarely faces the United States is whether it will make good on the declaration by President Johnson the other day when he said: "The aggression from the North must be stopped." He stated again that the United States "still seeks no wider war," and that "we threaten no regime and covet no territory."

The practical situation, however, is that the Red Chinese and North Vietnamese evidently think that public opinion in the United States will restrain the American government from taking any drastic steps. Such instances as the vociferous condemnation by some Americans of the use of anti-riot gas may have indicated to the Communists that opinion in this country is divided about really stepping up the war and fulfilling America's pledges.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON, therefore, faces a real dilemma. Will the Red Chinese be allowed to believe that the United States eventually will throw in the sponge and that no vigorous military action will be taken because of a fear of "escalation" into a wider war?

President Johnson is confronted with constant criticism based on the idea that the South Viet Nam government has failed to win popular support and that all that is happening in the area is a revolution carried on by guerrillas supposedly fighting for high ideals. The truth, however, is that the Red Chinese control what the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese are doing and that the whole effort now is directed against the United States.

THE UNITED STATES faces a war something like that which occurred in Korea. It either has to exert maximum power and fight the war to a standstill, or it will find its forces constantly harassed and many lives endangered in Southeast Asia as the Communists become more and more aggressive.

This is not a new problem in pre-war periods. Most of the "escalation" into big wars in the past has been due to a failure of one side to construe correctly the determination of the other side. The Communists are making a mistake now if they believe that they can attack a United States Embassy building—American territory—and get away with it. It still remains to be seen just what method will be used to dislodge them.

Not Too Much Power

WASHINGTON — "More power to him—but not too much." This isn't the title of Sen. McClellan's amendment (S. 1135) on Executive Reorganization, but it's the meaning of it.

McClellan's measure is actually an extension of the Reorganization Act of 1949, which expires next June. Under existing law, the President can transfer, consolidate or coordinate practically any agency of government—provided that a simple majority of either House or Senate doesn't forbid him to do so. For many years this particular power has been measured out to our presidents on two-year leases. President Johnson wants the power to be made permanent. McClellan wants it limited to another two years.

AT STAKE HERE is nothing so sinister as a power-grab. Mr. Johnson is the fourth President in a row to ask for permanent authority to rejigger the federal juggernaut in the interest of efficiency. The Hoover Commission recommended the same thing. The real issue is whether Congress has any right to shuck off its duty to legislate. Congress often has delegated some of its very complicated work to the federal bureaucracy, but (except in wartime) has attached a pair of safeguards:

1. A TIME LIMIT so as to be able to recover the leased-out power, and not to bind future congresses.

2. The right to veto any presidential action by a simple majority in either chamber.

In asking the 89th Congress to give up the first of these safeguards, Mr. Johnson has argued that "the people expect and deserve a government that is lean and fit . . . a streamlined leadership, ready to do more in less time . . ."

WITH HIS immense knowledge of the federal bureaucracy, there's no doubt that LBJ can cut waste, duplication and inefficiency by a sweep of his pen. He is not a money-saver by any means, but he has a rare ability for getting close to one hundred cents out of the taxpayer's dollar. So far as efficiency is concerned, Congress would almost be justified in appropriating some $100 billion a year, going home and leaving the rest to Lyndon.

BUT THAT WOULD be an abdication which is forbidden in the Constitution. If it were a wise thing to do under Lyndon Johnson, it wouldn't have been wise under Mr. Kennedy or under General Eisenhower, neither of whom knew their way around the catcombs as LBJ does. Even the senator who introduced the administration bill (S. 1134), Ribicoff of Connecticut, expressed some qualms about it. As a former Cabinet officer, Ribicoff knows it is much easier to get things done without having to fuss with congressional restrictions. But as a senator, Ribicoff was thinking aloud. He said in committee that congressional retention of a veto on the President "does not obviate the fact of actual surrender of authority in the first instance." He seemed to be saying that Congress ought to think hard before giving any president a power that can't be easily recovered.

A Trend

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — When Paul Rest enters the ministry he will be following in the footsteps of his father, both grandfathers and five uncles.

His father, Rev. Friedrich O. Rest, pastor of the Salem United Church of Christ, is the son of a minister and three of his brothers are ministers. Paul's mother is the daughter of a minister and two of her brothers are ministers.

The family tradition will apparently stop with the oldest son, now in his second year of college at Indiana State University. Paul's brother, John, 15, wants to be a carpenter and his sister, Elizabeth, 18, plans to be a secretary.

Billy Graham

My husband and I have been married 23 years and have three grown children. I realize that when I don't feel well I'm irritable and short with them. This is breaking up our marriage. Can you help me?

C. H. You are in real need of medical and spiritual help. Statistics show that the percentage of divorces rises very appreciably between the 22nd and 24th years of married life, and then falls off very rapidly. The physical factors which have changed your whole outlook on life and home for the time being cause little difficulties to appear as insurmountable mountains; and when viewed in the perspective of the years will be seen in their true proportion. You should consult your family physician and follow his advice very closely. You should take up some outdoor responsibilities which will take part of your time and strength (such as gray lady work for the Red Cross, or community welfare or better still church work) and which will divert your thoughts from yourself and your troubles to the need of others; and you should have earnest prayer help from God. To hold together now when it seems dark and difficult will mean a stronger and sweeter home than ever in days to come.

To Your Good Health
'Indigestion' Can Mean A Lot Of Things

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: This has been bothering me. My mother is 36. She has indigestion almost every day, and has taken bicarbonate of soda for a long time.

I have heard that the soda will cause or help to induce heart trouble. She has a history of heart disease in her family. Is it true or false that soda can have an effect on the heart or have any bad effects on the body?—S.W.

Well, young lady, I admire your thoughtful interest in your mother's health. Frankly I wish she would stop the bicarbonate of soda at once, but not because it is likely to damage her heart. "Indigestion" can mean a lot of things to different people. It can be a symptom of an ulcer, or hiatal hernia ("upside-down stomach," so-called), gall bladder disease or gallstones, gastritis and a number of other things, including "nerves."

True, in some instances the soda may relieve a burning sensation temporarily. So the victim assumes that he (or she) needs only to take enough of it and everything will be all right. Yet that almost never is the case. There can be a rebound of symptoms, so that when the temporary effect of the soda wears off, the trouble is worse than before. The soda doesn't do anything to cure the basic problem, whatever it is. Soda never cured an ulcer, never corrected what ailed a balky gall bladder.

Forget about your mother's family "history of heart disease," because there is little hereditary influence in this. For the most part, heart disease is something we acquire (rheumatic fever, diphtheria, high blood pressure and other such factors) rather than inherit. However, if your mother happens to have high blood pressure, the sodium in the bicarbonate of soda will tend to make her any good, and will tend to do the condition worse. But soda, per se, has no effect on the heart directly.

So I hope you will relax in your worry about whether her soda-taking is hurting her heart. But I AM concerned because she has made such a habit of soda, and hasn't had a thorough physical examination to learn what really causes her "indigestion."

Dear Dr. Molner: My important question: If the father's blood type is AB and the mother's blood type is A, what blood type must the baby have? I'm concerned with paternity.—E.D.

The baby can be type A, or AB, or B, which is a pretty wide choice. To be brief about it, I'd say this: Science is a wonderful thing, but with four billion people in the world and only four major blood types, there is no way of knowing that a baby is the child of any two people (out of 4,000,000,000) and only occasionally does a combination occur which, for any two adults, can be called "impossible."

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

LeFebvre Out At The Plate

Sandy Koufax Is On Shelf With Bad Arm

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax had just completed his second game within five days, and the Los Angeles Dodgers were beaming.

"I was a little worried about Sandy 10 days ago because his arm was tender," said trainer Wayne Anderson last Tuesday, "but everything is fine now."

Less than 48 hours later, the left elbow of the great pitcher had shattered the Dodgers right out of their contentment.

Koufax, plagued with various problems in the previous three years, had another one — one that cast another shadow over his baseball future.

The 29-year-old left-hander flew from Vero Beach, Fla., to Los Angeles Thursday to undergo examination for swelling and stiffness in his pitching elbow, the same one that sidelined him for the final month and a half in 1964.

"Sandy came to me and said he was worried because his arm was stiff and swollen," General Manager Buzzie Bavasi said. "We phoned Dr. Kerlan, and he advised Sandy to fly to Los Angeles. Dr. Kerlan wants to take X-rays of the elbow Friday and compare them with X-rays he took last year."

SAME DOCTOR
Kerlan is the orthopedic specialist who treated Koufax last season after he injured the elbow sliding into second base. When he was forced out of action in mid-August, Koufax had a 19-5 record and a 1.74 earned run average.

This spring he had compiled a 3.00 ERA in 30 innings. He lost those complete games against Detroit and the Chicago White Sox even though he allowed only four hits in each.

Another pitcher with a problem is Baltimore's Milt Pappas. The veteran right-hander was forced to leave the Orioles' exhibition contest with Pittsburgh in the second game. He, too, had a sore elbow.

The Pirates won the game 7-0 behind the hitting of Ossie Virgil, who drove in four runs with a triple and a single. The Dodgers, incidentally, defeated Philadelphia 6-3 after Tony Taylor's error paved the way for three Los Angeles runs in the fifth inning.

One pitcher who enjoyed himself Thursday was Warren Spahn, who will be 44 years old April 23. Spahn scattered nine hits in seven innings and rapped two singles in the New York Mets' 4-3 triumph over Detroit. Spahn's third-inning single drove in two runs that proved to be the decisive tallies.

In other games, Cincinnati blanked Minnesota 4-0, the Los Angeles Angels beat their Seattle farm team 5-3, Washington overpowered Kansas City 11-6 and the Chicago White Sox defeated St. Louis 11-9 on a nine-run outburst in the seventh.

Rain washed out the Chicago Cubs and San Francisco and Boston and Cleveland games.

Anderson Is Out At Michigan St.
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — "This is the last year we'll have to suffer," predicted Michigan State Basketball Coach Fordy Anderson, an optimist in defeat.

Forddy was fired Thursday and will have to watch the Spartan fortunes from the sidelines. Anderson had high hopes for his Spartans of next season despite a 1-13 Big Ten record — the worst in the conference in MSU history — and a 5-18 overall season mark.

He figures freshman talent is the best in years.
"It was a most difficult decision for me to make," said MSU Athletic Director Biggie Munn, "but our basketball fortunes of late have not been what we'd like them to be and in order to improve the picture this decision was made."

There was no immediate announcement of a successor. Anderson had five conference second-division finishes in the last six seasons and an over-all 125-124 mark in 11 seasons. His Spartans had one undisputed Big Ten title in 1959 and shared another in 1967.

Softball Tourney Gets Started At 6:30 P.M.

The five-team American Softball League Tournament opens today at 6:30 p.m. with Morton's Foods playing the 3560th Squadron from Webb.

Pepsi-Cola will take on Seaboard Finance in the second game at 8 p.m. and Pioneer Natural Gas will play the winner of the first game at 9:30 p.m. All games will be played on the softball diamond in city park.

American League Commissioner Russell Tidwell said the tournament would be a tight race for the championship between Morton's, Pepsi, Seaboard and the 3560th.

"We would like to see a good crowd turn out for the tournament because there will be some real fine softball played. The city has re-worked the diamond and it is in real good shape," said Tidwell. Admission to the tournament is free.

Tommy Aaron Out Front By Shot At Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Despite the presence of most of the big names of professional golf, the pattern of recent weeks is holding in the $65,000 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament.

Tommy Aaron, 28-year-old pro of five years from Gainesville, Ga., never a winner on the tour, held a one-shot lead going into today's second round.

He blistered the 7,000-yard par 36-35-71 Sedgefield Country Club course with a first round 31-35-66 Thursday.

Four times this year in 11 tournaments, the victor has been a first-time winner. It happened twice in the last two weeks. Bert Weaver scored at Jacksonville, Fla., two weeks ago and last Sunday at Wilmington, N.C., it was Dick Hart's turn.

The presence of Masters champion Arnold Palmer and other top stars was supposed to change things here.

But Palmer, with putting problems, had to settle for a 72 as 15 men in the field of 144 broke par and 21 others matched it. Tony Lama had 71 and Gary Player shot 73.

Aaron's five-under-par 66 was good for a one-shot edge over five-time British Walker Cup Ryder Cup player Bernard Hunt and Bill Martindale, former Texas A&M player, who picked up $500 bonus with his first hole-in-one. Martindale aced the 171-yard seventh hole with a No. 7 iron.

Abilene Cooper, who recently beat the Wolves, 19-5, will oppose Truman Nix's team here.

Skipper Warren pitched the Wolves to the win over Sweetwater, limiting the Mustangs to five hits.

Maris Charged With Assault

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Right fielder Roger Maris of the New York Yankees was charged with assault and battery Thursday as the result of an alleged fight in a Fort Lauderdale bar.

Maris posted $200 bond, and a hearing was set for next Tuesday.

The charge was filed by Jerome Modzelewski of Fort Lauderdale, who said the fight occurred Wednesday night.

Details of the alleged altercation were not known. Maris said he was at the bar with some other people but denied he had been in a fight. He also said he doesn't know Modzelewski.

Steers And Lubbock Tangle Here Today

Hank Pope, a crafty lefthander, will probably go to the mound for the Big Spring Steers here at 4 p.m. today, at which time the locals square off with the Lubbock High Westerners.

The Longhorns will be seeking revenge for a 2-1 defeat inflicted upon them by the Westerners in last Saturday in Lubbock. Big Spring will also be seeking its sixth victory of the season. The locals now have a 5-5 record. Kermit's Yellow Jackets upset the Steers, 5-2, in the first round of the Eunice, N. M., tournament Thursday night.

The game went an extra inning. An error opened the door for the Jackets in that round. A base on balls, a sacrifice, another bobble and a double off the bat of Jim Reynolds enabled the Jackets to take an insurmountable lead in the first extra round.

Each team collected five hits. One of Big Spring's blows was a sixth inning home run by Van Tom Whatley, his first of the season.

Whatley scored the other Steer run in the initial inning, after reaching base on a single. He eventually came home on a sacrifice by Eddie Thomas.

Bill Laurence, the Kermit hurler, did a fine job of spacing the Big Spring hits. Freddie Mears started on the mound for Big Spring and worked until two men had been retired in the eighth. Bobby Griffin came in to fan the only batter he faced.

The Steers play in the consolation round at Eunice Saturday morning, facing the loser in the Monahans-Eunice game. The tournament activity winds up pre-conference activity for the Longhorns, who kick off 2-AAAA competition Tuesday on the road against the defending titlist, Midland Lee.

A boy planning to play must bring with him a birth certificate and $3, a fee which covers insurance for the season.

Boys in the 13-14 year brackets are eligible for Sophomore league ball while the Hi-Junior league groups are for youngsters 15 and 16 years of age.

Those advancing from Soph to Hi-Junior ball must be registered. Mrs. Proctor stated. Mrs. Proctor can be contacted by dialing AM 4-4855.

Both leagues are scheduled to begin play about May 31 and will continue play through July.

Torres To Fight For C. Dundee

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jose Torres, the new glamor boy of boxing who won the light-heavyweight title from Willie Pastrano, will make his first defense for promoter Chris Dundee, says Dundee.

The Miami Beach promoter is the brother of Angelo Dundee, manager of Pastrano and heavyweight champion Cassius Clay. Chris Dundee said the deal was arranged with Cain Young, Torres' financial backer and adviser, three months ago. He said that Young, a wealthy Brooklyn realtor, had placed $25,000 in escrow here to guarantee Torres' appearance in case he won the title.

And among the four possible opponents, said Chris Thursday night, is Pastrano, the battered ninth-round technical knockout victim of Torres' hammering blows Tuesday night at Madison Square Garden.

After he had absorbed the savage beating, Pastrano, a 29-year-old veteran of 13 1/2 years of pro battling, said "I may never fight again."

The other contenders mentioned by Chris were Wayne Thornton, the World Boxing Association's No. 1 contender from Fresno, Calif.; third-ranked Harold Johnson of Philadelphia who lost the crown to Pastrano in 1963, and Argentina's Gregorio Peralta, the No. 4 contender who was stopped by Pastrano in a title bout last year.

A Torres-Pastrano return bout could result in drastic action by the WBA. The boxing body has a rule barring return title fights. It stripped Cassius Clay of heavyweight champion recognition for signing for a return bout with Sonny Liston.

Young could not be reached immediately for comment in New York.

In Toronto, Merv McKenzie, president of the WBA, said Thursday night that Torres' title would, in all probability, be lifted if he signed to fight Pastrano in a rematch.

Peret Bound For A & M

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Ronnie Peret, the 6-foot-9 Plainview High School cage star who was one of the most sought-after schoolboy basketball players in the nation, will attend Texas A&M University.

The 235-pound all-state basketball whiz who also runs the hurdles and plays baseball, signed a letter of intent with Aggie cage coach Shelby Metcalf. Peret picked the Aggies over some 90 to 100 schools that sought his basketball services.

During his three varsity seasons at Plainview High, Peret scored 1,791 points. He had 386 points his sophomore year as he made all-district, 638 his junior year when he made the Class AAAA All-State second team and sank 768 points this past season to make the All-State first team.

"Peret is the quickest big boy I've ever seen. He is capable of playing anywhere on the floor," Metcalf said. Peret is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Peret of Plainview. His father was graduated from A&M in 1937.

Little League Boundaries

Austin Meet Lures 1,300 Tracksters

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Relays open today with 1,300 athletes going through preliminaries and Randy Matson, the Texas A&M strongman, appearing in the lone final—the discus throw in which he will be seeking the intercollegiate record.

Matson, who already holds the shot put record at 66 feet 3/4 inch, set last week, can add the discus to his string if he heaves the platter better than 192 feet 4 inches. He has already hit 188-9.

The Aggie sophomore, second in the Olympic Games shot put, is expected to set at least two Texas Relays records—he needs only 59-10 in the shot and 133-3 in the discus.

His would be among some 20 records likely in the big four-division meet that has 50 universities and colleges. There also are junior college-freshman and high school classes and there will be 44 events run off today, tonight and Saturday afternoon.

Feature events are Matson in the shot and the discus, John Camien of Kansas Emporia State in the mile—where he will be trying to lower the record to under four minutes and a half dozen relays in which all sorts of records could totter.

Camien, who has run the mile in 4:10.0 indoors, will be aiming at the Texas Relays record of 4:00.5.

Missouri's two-mile and distance medley relay teams—the same personnel as last year when they set Texas Relays records of 7:22.5 and 9:45.2—hit world record paces. The world mark is 7:19.0 in the two-mile. Oklahoma State might get there ahead of Missouri. It beat Villanova, co-holder of the record, in the NCAA indoor meet in 7:27.9.

The college division features Texas Southern, expected to crack its own record of 40.5 in the 440-yard relay and to threaten the mile relay mark of 3:09.0.

Grambling had been expected to give Texas Southern some stiff competition but last night the school informed Texas Relays officials that it had run into financial difficulties and would not be able to participate.

The mile relay in the university class also could be a sizzler with 3:07.9 the goal. Rice and Abilene Christian have 3:10.5 and 3:10.6 respectively and Southern Illinois looms even faster.

Oklahoma State, Baylor and Abilene Christian go after the 3:19.8 record in the sprint medley, with the world record of 3:15.5 a possibility.

Among the individuals, Bobby May of Rice, the NCAA high hurdles champion, threatens the Texas Relays record of 13.9. He has dipped to 13.8 already this season.

There will be preliminaries throughout the day with finals in 20 events scheduled tonight. All other finals will be tomorrow afternoon to bring the huge meet to a close.

Dodgers Stress Speed, Hurling

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Walter Alston has been spreading the gospel of speed and pitching around the Los Angeles Dodgers training camp all spring.

The Dodger manager has been preaching that the best defense is the best offense, neither of which the club displayed all last year.

That's why the Dodgers traded Frank Howard, their only blockbuster, to Washington last winter for glue-fingered John Kennedy, a .230 hitting third baseman, and Claude Osteen, a 15-game winning southpaw.

Osteen strengthens the club's strongest department and, when combined with Don Drysdale, Sandy Koufax and John Podres, the staff could be one of the most powerful ever assembled. The fact that three of the Big Four are left-handers is another plus factor.

Add to these four starters two talented and experienced bullpen stars like Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller, and such middle men as Jim Brewer, Howard Reed and Ron Moeller.

These combinations convince Alston his club can rebound from last year's sixth-place tie into a strong pennant contender.

"I've seen enough of Koufax and Podres this spring to feel assured that they are healthy again," said Alston. "If they remain sound, it could be the best staff ever assembled."

Koufax suffered an inflamed elbow and missed the last six weeks of last season, but he won 19. Podres did not win any. He had to undergo an elbow operation early in the season.

Alston also is banking on a better defense. Kennedy figures to do better at third base than any of the six third basemen tried last year. With the departure of Howard, Alston has two youngsters, Derrell Griffith and Al Ferrara, for platoon duty there.

The rest of the cast is the same with the exception of second base where 21-year-old Jim LeFevre, a product of Spokane, will open the season. The youngster, a switch hitter, has been the sensation of the camp.

"I think we can come up with more hitting this year," said Alston. "We have every reason to believe that Tommy Davis will hit better than his .275 of last year. After all, he led the majors in hitting two straight years before that."

Also Maury Wills should get on base more. He fell off to .275 last season after two straight .300 years. The figures show that when Wills gets on base, the Dodgers score.

Locals Lose Exhibition

DENVER CITY—Big Spring District 2-A AAA volleyball champions, ran into stiff competition Thursday night in Denver City and dropped both the A and B-team game.

The Steerettes were no pushover for the powerful Denver City team, losing 15-9 in the first game and 14-12 in the second game. The second game took an overtime to determine the winner.

Your Mercury dealer invites you to COMPARE the speed, power, and fuel economy of the Merc 900 with other 90 hp outboards

The new 90 hp Merc 900 gives you 15 "free" horsepower. Why? Because with a Merc 900 on your transom you can outrun and outpull any of our competitors' 90 hp outboards... yet still use less fuel than their 75 hp.

unit that assures a solid, non-turbulent flow of water to the propeller.

You get another extra with the Merc 900... extra quiet. A full 50% quieter. The sound was engineered out, not padded in. Unlike ordinary outboards, which pay for noise reduction by sacrificing power, Merc's new silencing system actually increases engine horsepower.

Drop in to see your Mercury dealer today. He'll be glad to make a point-by-point comparison of the new Merc 900, or any Merc, with ordinary outboards. Your own comparison will show you why you get more RUN for your money with Mercury... 100, 90, 65, 50, 35, 20, 9.8, 6 and 3.9 hp.

Some of the reasons for this kind of performance are: Power-Dome combustion chambers that squeeze more energy from every ounce of fuel • Improved internal reed valves • Improved carburetion techniques • A new dry-exhaust system which reduces back-pressure, improves engine breathing, and boosts power to the prop • Jet-Prop exhaust that reduces underwater drag • A smooth, angle-free lower

Cowboys Draw 49ers, Green Bay As Foes

DALLAS — A Monday night game on the road and a Saturday afternoon contest here in the Cotton Bowl, add a touch of the unusual to the 1965 Dallas Cowboys National Football League schedule announced today by the league office and the Cowboys.

Both, the Monday game at St. Louis, Oct. 4, and the Saturday tilt here Dec. 11 versus the same opponent, are firsts for the Cowboys. The game in St. Louis was set on Monday to avoid conflict with dedication ceremonies of the Mississippi river town's new waterfront complex. The Saturday game here will be one of two nationally telecast games following the close of the collegiate season.

The Cowboys drew as out-of-conference opponents the San Francisco 49ers and the Green Bay Packers. The 49ers will play in Dallas Nov. 7; the Cowboys-Packers game is slated Oct. 24 in Milwaukee.

Some of the coaches who took teams to the San Angelo Relays last week were very unhappy with the haphazard judging which went on and the times reported in some of the events.

Ed Horn, who helped Baylor upset Texas Tech twice in the recent Southwest Conference basketball wars, is a Georgia boy who came to this state to play the game because he has family connections here.

Horn turned down scholarship offers from Oglethorpe and Georgia Southern to enter Baylor on his own. After his freshman year there, he won his scholarship.

Rufus Hyde, who will be inducted into the Texas High School Coaches Association Hall of Fame this summer, is a one-time Stanton High School mentor.

Hyde served his first coaching tenure at Stanton in 1931 and remained there through 1933. He's been head coach at North Dallas High School for many years.

A few years back, Roger Maris of the New York Yankees refused to pose with the late Rogers Hornsby for press pictures and thus raised a few eyebrows among the baseball gentry.

Maris recently revealed his reasons. Said he: "I'd do it all over again, and let them write what they like. Why should I pose with a fellow who kept knocking me in the press. From what Hornsby said, I was just a flash in the pan and not much of a hitter."

Think of Maris what you will, but he's regarded as a five-point ball player by his manager, Johnny Keane, meaning he can do it all—throw, hit, run, field, etc.

Very few players fit into that category. Others who do include Mickey Mantle, Hank Aaron and Willie Mays.

Chuck Brehm, who coached Dodge City Junior College to a 69-60 victory over Howard County Junior College in the battle for fifth place in this year's National tournament at Hutchinson, Kansas, will take over the head coaching job at Fort Hayes State College next year.

Dodge City built its team around eight seniors, most outstanding of whom were Reggie Green, Carl Head and Robert Pipkin.

In each of the past two years under Brehm, the Conquistadors won 29 games while losing only twice.

The fourth round of the District 2-AAAAA golf play wasn't unrehearsed last Saturday because the tournament directors couldn't get the course on Friday, as mentioned in a news story previously.

The teams preferred a Saturday date and Muni officials readily granted their request to appear here on that date. The matches had heretofore been played on Fridays in other league cities because the courses had been closed to them on Saturdays.

Jerry Wilson, Big Spring baseball outfielder, suffered a broken hand in a PE class week before last and hasn't been able to work out with the Steers since that time.

For those who have asked, Ruidoso Downs will open its racing season May 21 and close Sept. 12. In all, racing will be held on 80 days there, including seven Thursdays.

The seventh running of the All-American Futurity, with an estimated purse of $350,000, is scheduled for Sept. 8.

Jimmy Newsom, who does most of his golfing at the Muni course here, got his first hole-in-one at the city-owned course last Friday.

He used a driver on the 321-yard 18th hole to accomplish the feat and wound up with a 35-35-73 (par for the course). Newsom was playing with Bernard Rains, Jack Sheedy and Dee Thomas at the time.

Acce don't come easy at the Muni.

DISCRETION IS BETTER PART . . .

A mama skunk took over the job of directing traffic in the 2200 block of Gollad about 7:15 a.m. today while her four youngsters jay-walked across the street.

A woman, who was driving on Gollad between East Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets, said she approached the convoy of skunks, and stopped when mama skunk turned her weapon toward the approaching car. Another car, coming from the opposite direction, also came to a halt as "Mama" zeroed in on the driver. The skunk convoy was traveling from west to east, from one vacant lot to another, the caller said. "There was no 'scents' in stopping, so I stopped," she said.

Three Get Cash Awards

Three base personnel cashed-in for adopted ideas in the Military Suggestions Awards Program recently, sharing $132.50. S. Sgt. Charles L. Harshfield received an additional award of $100 for a suggestion which enables verification of the correct calibration of the Gisholt Balance and also eliminates the transportation and waiting for one of the General Electric rotors.

Airman I.C. Eugene R. White, vehicle maintenance section, received $20 for a suggestion to use scrap planking for insertion on a ledge just under the regular lids used to cover the hydraulic lift pits, eliminating the possibility of a man falling into the pits.

Awarded a check of $12.50 was S. Sgt. Charles D. Fletcher, formerly of Air Base Group. He suggested improvement of the method used to bench-test the controls on heating units.

Snags Possible In Business Upswing

NEW YORK (AP) — Labor's demand for a larger share of increasing business profits and for protection of jobs from rapid inroads of machinery could change the course of the long-lived business upswing in the weeks just ahead.

Steel workers capture the attention just now. But in many other sections of industry, trade and services the same fight is under way or shaping up. And the administration in Washington may have its hands full trying to stave off another wage-price spiral.

TWO THREATS

In the case of steel there are two threats of widening impact on other businesses: A strike after May 1 if union demands are turned down by the companies; or a general price rise for the metal and its products later on, if a settlement raises labor costs beyond what management says it can afford at present prices.

General prosperity tends to minimize these threats just now. The public leans to the belief that business is so healthy it can shrug off most problems.

But the advanced age of the business upswing, now starting its 50th month, makes any obstacle in the path loom larger. Nervousness grows lest something upset the fine balance that has avoided excesses so far.

HIGHER WAGES

The United Steelworkers of America is asking higher wages, shorter work weeks, double time for overtime, fatter pensions and other fringe benefits that reportedly would average out to around $1 an hour over the next three years.

The steel companies say 28 cents an hour is as much as they could take.

The public's involvement is in what a settlement might do to prices. Consumers don't run down to the store for a pound of steel. But they do buy countless items that contain varying amounts of the metal. And if price rises ripple out from the steel mills through manufacturing and transportation to the end products that consumers buy, in time it could add just that much more to a rising cost of living.

COMPLEX PICTURE

The steel industry itself faces complications in its negotiations with the union. Its profits have been rising, as both the union and the public are aware. The industry says the profit increase trails that in most of the rest of the economy, and doesn't furnish enough to pay for the modernization program that is needed.

Steel companies also know that if their prices rise, American steel users will be further tempted to increase their buying of foreign steel at lower prices. Or steel customers will turn to some of the substitutes — other metals, plastics, concrete, glass — that have made inroads into once all-steel markets.

For all these reasons, steel customers are watching the labor talks closely. But they have still another concern beyond just what might happen to steel prices, and that is whether the demands of the steel union will set a pattern for labor throughout industry, and where it will all end.

Just ahead could be: A jolt to the over-all economy if a steel strike is called; an overheating of an aging business upswing if a wage-price spiral sets off the traditional boom and bust; a tough decision for the administration in Washington as how to define the public interest in the labor strife, and what to do about it, if anything, once it's defined.

Competition For Oil Pointed Up

HOUSTON (AP) — The chairman of the board of Humble Oil & Refining Co. says the petroleum industry can expect tougher competition from nuclear energy, coal, electricity and natural gas.

Carl Reistle Jr. addressed the National Petroleum Refiners Association Thursday.

The chief executive of the nation's largest oil producing and marketing firm said the industry must overcome this competition if it is to continue supplying three-fourths of domestic energy requirements.

SHALE DEPOSITS

"And we ought not overlook oil which one day will be produced from the great shale deposits in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming," he said.

Reistle told the 1,400 oilmen from 40 states that oil and gas began to account for one-third of the total energy in the late 1920s, climbed to about one-half in the mid 1940s and now supply about three-fourths of the total. "We now consume petroleum products at the rate of about one million barrels a day in the United States," he said. "It is estimated we will be consuming more than 18 million barrels a day by 1985."

HEAD RE-ELECTED

P. N. Gammelgard, senior vice president in charge of refining for the Pure Oil Co. at Palatine, Ill., was re-elected president of the association.

Executive committee choices include Bruce Jones, La Gloria Oil & Gas Co., Houston; Edgar Morrison, Pontiac Refining Corp., Corpus Christi, and Leo Willmeth, Shamrock Oil & Gas Corp., Amarillo.

Directors voted to close the association's Tulsa office sometime in 1965 and to consolidate staff activity in Washington. They approved holding the 1966 and 1967 meetings in San Antonio.

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate confirmed the appointment of Frank Ikard, the former congressman from Wichita Falls, as a University of Texas regent Thursday.
