Bee Champ Again Wins County Title

By SAM BLACKBURN

Don Hickson, Runnels Junior High's imperturbable spelling wizard, proved Saturday he was a true champion by winning for the second consecutive year the Howard County Spelling Bee.

This year the Howard County 14-year-old seventh-grader champion won his title by outspelling a field of 15 school champs. His toughest competitor was Park Hill Elementary School champion, Scott McLaughlin.

If the word "acrostic" hadn't turned out to be a puzzle for Scott he might have continued to push Don for the right to represent the county at the Regional Spelling Bee in Lubbock on May 1. Scott missed acrostic; Don spelled it correctly then clinched his claim to the title by dealing easily with "adminic-

The champion will try for the regional title in Lubbock against 22 other county champions. Should he win there he goes to Washington in June for the National Spelling Bee.

The Howard County Spelling Bee was sponsored this year as it has been for the three years it has been conducted, by The Big Spring Daily Herald.

GIRLS PRESS

Both Don and Scott were given a run for their money by a couple of girl experts. South

Ward's Debbie Rives, a newcomer in the spelling bee ranks, was a close third to Don and Scott. Debbie is 11 and the daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. M. T. Rives, 3312 Drexel.

Another rugged competitor was Mary Lou Brown, 11, Gay Hill's champion. Mary Lou was Gay Hill's representative in 1964 and the experience she gained in her first County Spelling Bee stood her in good stead. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Brown.

Lynn Ashley, 10, a fourth grader from Midway School, also turned out to be a top-grade speller. The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ashley, lasted well toward the end of the Bee.

SHORTER CONTEST

Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, the pronouncer, who has served at each of the three tournaments, said this year's title was selected 27 words short of the number required in 1964.

The title was determined on the 102nd word. Eight of the 15 champs were eliminated in the second round.

Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hickson, 623 State. His mother, father and young sister were in his rooting corner Saturday at the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

Scott McLaughlin, a slender 12-year-old sixth grader, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McLaughlin, 112 Cedar.

GOOD TURNOUT

A sizable turnout of parents, teachers and friends were on hand to boost for the youngsters. All of the school champions were on hand as were most of the alternates.

Judges for the Bee were R. H. Weaver, former county judge, Col. Julian P. Baird of Webb AFB, and Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor of the First Church of God. Walker Bailey presided at the Bee. R. W. Whipkey of The Herald, congratulated the spellers.

Thirteen elementary and junior high schools in the Big Spring District had champions on hand. Midway School in the Coahoma District and the Immaculate Heart of Mary Parochial School supplied the other two contenders.

Perhaps it was the case of the "old pro," at any rate Don Hickson repeated as spelling bee champ Saturday morning and will represent us at Lubbock. Pressing him was Scott McLaughlin, Park Hill, Debbie Rives, South Ward, and Mary Lou Brown, Gay Hill. While passing out bouquets, don't overlook our Sam Blackburn, who carried the ball on this project in such a splendid way.

Little Cindy Matthews, who was our polo poster girl in the recent March of Dimes appeal, has troubles worse than polo. A malignancy is at the base of her difficulty. Many friends have been rallying to give financial and other aid. This is the case, too, for Mrs. Pat Henry, who remains in critical condition after being shot two weeks ago. She needs nursing help, and the family is in dire straits.

The City of Big Spring lost another round in its effort to get clearance to renegotiate the state hospital water rate. The appeals court upheld a trial court verdict, but city officials are hopeful the Texas Supreme Court will overturn the case. The matter hinges on a legal question, and a court test is the only way to resolve it.

When Eugene V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, died unexpectedly last Sunday, it was a case of just wearing out. The colonel had put everything he had into developing an area water supply, and it's too bad the decision was delayed in his crowning goal—a second lake

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Oil developments, shunted to a back seat for several seasons, had a rosy week. Cabot No. 2 Nellie Sellers finalized for 540 barrels of oil in the Triple M field of northwest Sterling County. Cities Service No. 1 Scharbauer, five miles east of the Mabee pool in western Martin County, gave promise of being a Grayburg strike. Tidewater No. 1 Newborough, 11 miles southwest of Lamesa, had encouraging shows in the Fusselman. Southwestern Howard County got a wildcat with striking of George M. Blair No. 1 Quinn, which will prospect to the Pennsylvania.

John Stanley, offering for reelection, and Chester Cathey, asking a first term, were elected city commissioners on Tuesday. They were unopposed and the election drew only 211 voters. It's a public disgrace when no more than 211 people will take the trouble to go to the polls when men will take the trouble to put in countless hours as public officials.

Stanton is undertaking something different in school construction—an elementary plant with eight underground classrooms. We'll be interested to see it, for despite a lot of preconceived notions, underground construction has a lot to commend in the way of maintenance, heating, operation, etc.

Other area schools were in the news, too. At Colorado City a meeting was called to explain $600,000 of proposed school improvements and additions. Sweetwater, which had a bond issue slipped down several months ago, came back with determination and called a $1,400,000 bond issue for a new high school.

After lingering in critical condition for three weeks, our classified ad manager, Ben Ferrell, died last week. He took that department from a minor appendage and made it into one of the major departments of our paper. Ben had achieved two "magic" secrets for success. One was work; the other was making calls. He did both superbly.

U.S. Fighters And Bombers Hit North Viet

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — More than 120 U.S. warplanes fanned out over Communist North Viet Nam Saturday, striking at a strategic bridge and highways. Officials said all got back safely after meeting little groundfire and no air challenges from Red MIGs.

A Viet Cong-South Vietnamese firefight three miles from Da Nang gave 1,400 newly arrived U.S. Marines their first glimpse of the Viet Nam war but they did not become engaged. The ground troops came ashore concurrent with the arrival of the first four of 18 F4 Phantom jets flown by Marine pilots.

Seventy-five U.S. Navy planes from the carriers Ranger and Coral Sea knocked out the Kim Cuong Bridge on North Viet Nam's Route 7, 150 miles south of Hanoi, U.S. officials in Saigon reported.

The Navy planes were over their targets for 30 minutes. In morning and afternoon runs, U.S. Air Force bombers and fighters ranged up and down Highways 7 and 8, about 100 miles north of the South Vietnamese border. A U.S. spokesman said they sprayed a variety of targets, presumably road convoys.

LBJ Plans To Sign Bill In Schoolhouse

SAN MARCOS (AP) — President Johnson, in an eventful weekend spent in Texas, today was considering signing the just-passed $1.3 billion historic education aid bill in the tiny schoolhouse near his ranch where he got his early education.

A report Saturday night said he planned to sign the measure between 4 and 6 p.m.

He and Mrs. Johnson were at the ranch after the President Saturday helped dedicate the Southwest's first antipoverty job corps camp at San Marcos. Johnson said he is determined to keep the door of opportunity open to young people in America and "to open it wider for all the youth of every country and continent."

BRIGHT HOUR

He said in the San Marcos speech: "We believe this is not a dark and dreary hour for mankind . . . but, rather we are convinced this is a bright and precious time when the hope for peace is real, when the chance for progress is great, when the light of liberty can shine more brightly than ever in all of history."

(Related story on Page 6-A.)

Johnson said, "We love peace and we hate war but our course is charted by the compass of honor." He said Americans know eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. "Let no man in any land misjudge our course or our cause."

20-YEAR DRIVE

Senate passage Friday night of the administration's bill to authorize $1.3 billion in federal aid for grade and high schools climaxed a Capitol Hill campaign of almost 20 years.

Education Aid Rundown Shows Expenditure Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here's a rundown on the historic aid to education bill passed by the Senate Friday night:

PROVISIONS

Student aid: $1.06 billion to be given public school districts which have a minimum of 10 pupils from families with an annual income of less than $2,000 or who are on relief. The federal government will supply half the district's average per pupil cost for every so-called impoverished youngster.

Libraries: $100 million to help districts create or improve school libraries and to buy books and other instructional materials with all school children, public and private, sharing in the benefits.

Centers: $100 million to help school districts set up educational centers to provide supplementary services for all students, public and private.

Research: $45 million for research programs aimed at improving educational techniques.

General aid: $25 million to help departments of education handle their requirements under the bill's provisions.

COSTS

First year: about $1.3 billion in fiscal 1966.

Second year: undetermined, but administration sources estimate $1.9 billion in fiscal 1967.

Third year: undetermined, but administration sources estimate $2.4 billion in fiscal 1968.

SCOPE

Pupil aid: officials estimate there are 5 million youngsters in the impoverished families, and that 90 per cent of the nation's 26,000 public school districts will share in this aid.

Bodies Found After Twister

By The Associated Press

A tornado ripped through Conway, Ark., Saturday night, killing at least four persons and injuring at least 100 more.

State police found the bodies while combing through the wreckage of at least a dozen houses in the Central Arkansas town of 12,500. Gov. Orval E. Faubus reported.

IN WRECKAGE

"We may find other dead and injured in the rubble of places destroyed," Faubus said.

The twister mowed a swath across the Arkansas Children's Colony, a treatment center for retarded children, as it moved through the south and east side of the town. None of the children was hurt.

RESTORE POWER

The state civil defense agency worked to restore power, which was cut off when the sudden storm passed through the town.

A Bean Lake, Mo., trailer court was heavily damaged by a funnel that slashed a 100-foot swath through 25 trailers. Most of the trailers were damaged a six persons were hospitalized.

Lockout, 'Not Strike,' Asserted

YOU CAN WIN IN CITY'S SIZZLER CONTEST

When Will Mercury Hit 100 In Big Spring?

How hot can it get — and when? Those people who like to forecast the weather, and that includes nearly everybody, can get in the temperature act in Big Spring's novel "SIZZLER" contest.

This is an interest-idea offered by the First National Bank and 23 cooperating merchants to pay off big prizes to the person who turns in the first guess as to the exact day, hour and minute the thermometer will register 100 degrees on the First National's Time-and-Temperature Clock.

The contest opens Wednesday, right along with a town-wide offering of "SIZZLER" bargains at all the stores. Official entry coupons (which must be used) will be available at First National and all participating stores.

There is no obligation of any kind, any one may record an estimate of the moment of 100-degree weather, and as many entries can be made as desired. All that is necessary is to record the estimated time on the entry coupon, and fill in complete name and address.

Deposits will be accepted at the stores, and at the First National.

Cash prizes will be at least $500. The bank is offering $250 for first place, $100 for second, $75 for third, and $25 each for fourth, fifth and sixth. However, if the winner has a deposit of at least $100 in the bank at the time of the 100-degree registry, the prize will be doubled. This would apply to all place winners.

Along with this, every participating merchant is offering merchandise certificates to the winner. In some instances, value of these merchandise certificates will be increased if the winning coupon comes from that particular store. The entry coupons have the stores' names printed on the back.

The bank will number entries as received, and the first registered entry to hit "100 on the nose" (or comes closest to it) will be the winner.

The First National's clock at Fifth and Main will be arranged to start flashing the 100 degrees the moment that temperature is reached. This will be the official gauge, unless it happens to be out of order, in which case U.S. Experiment Station records would be used. The bank is handling the judging, and the judges' decision will be final. Complete rules appear on the back of the official coupons.

That 100 degrees could come almost any time. It has been registered in April in Big Spring for a number of years, in May a great many years, in June on others. It's a good time to get the weather-guesser to work, and be ready to enter estimates on Wednesday.

Merchants participating in the "SIZZLER" contest are:

J&K Shoe Store, Montgomery Ward, Firestone Store, Anthony's, Wacker's, Penney's, Big Spring Furniture, Gibson's, Swartz, Hemp-hill-White's, Zale's, Prager's, Elmo Wasson, White's, Zack's, Thelma's Dress Shop, Ward Boot & Saddle, Wheat Furniture, Carter Furniture, Blum's Jewelers, W. T. Grant, Stanley Hardware, Thomas Office Supply, and the First National Bank.

Winds Stir Up Duster

By The Associated Press

A strong west wind started dust in large areas of West Texas Saturday. Skies cleared from west to east.

The dry wind was clocked at 40 m.p.h. There was blowing dust from Dalhart in the Panhandle to El Paso and east to Childress, which had visibility of 1.50 miles. Lubbock's visibility was three miles.

Showers fell early Saturday just west of a line from the Red River to Denton, Fort Worth and Waco.

Temperatures were in the 70s and 80s. The Weather Bureau forecast more mild weather with a chance of showers in the eastern half of the state Saturday night and Sunday.

HAMLET IN QUANDARY

Pat Hamilton as Hamlet, and Jo Ellen Fiveash as Queen Gertrude, his mother.

High Schoolers Tackle 'Hamlet'

BY M. A. WEBB

William Shakespeare's "Hamlet" scheduled for presentation at 8 p.m. Monday in the high school auditorium, is called "a tragedy of a man so real that every one can identify himself with some part of Hamlet's personality."

The play is listed as the most brilliant, and the saddest, of Shakespeare's tragedies. Hamlet was a man destroyed, not by any evil within him, but by a misdirected god.

The part of Hamlet will be played by Pat Hamilton, high school senior. He has been active in drama since he moved to Big Spring two years ago. In "Cannibal Stew" he played Gus; he was Curly in "Oklahoma!"; one of the tailors in "The Emperor's New Clothes"; Charles in "The Long Christmas Dinner"; and Harold Hill in "The Music Man." He won the "best actor" award of The play Troupe 1474 last year.

Ophelia is played by Sandra Conner, also a senior. She played the part of Mother Baird in "The Long Christmas Dinner," and Natasha Pencill in "The Pot Boiler." Sandra has helped on the production of "Cannibal Stew" and "The Music Man."

Jo Ellen Fiveash will portray Queen Gertrude, Hamlet's mother. She played Gniev in "The Long Christmas Dinner," and has had parts in "The Solid Gold Cadillac" and "The Emperor's New Clothes." Jo Ellen attended a drama workshop at Sul Ross College and played the role of Jessica in Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" while there. Last year she received honorable mention on the all-star cast at the district contests.

Polonius, the father of Ophelia, is played by Mitchell McNeese. He was in "Arsenic and Old Lace," and a dancer in the productions of "Oklahoma!" and "The Music Man."

A Shakespearean exhibit, in addition to the play, will be held in the school library. Costumes, literature, notebooks, and other student projects, representative of the Shakespearean era, will be on display. The madrigal singers from the school's choir department will sing songs from the period, and refreshments will be served.

Tickets for the play will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students. They may be purchased from Court Jesters, Theaters, or purchased at the door.

Western Credit Group Meeting Well Attended

STANTON — Fifty-two percent of the stockholders in the Western Production Credit Association turned out for the 31st annual stockholders meeting Saturday at the Stanton High School Auditorium. It was one of the best attended meetings in the history of the agency which serves a block of 12 West Texas counties.

Owen Kelly presided at the meeting.

Jim Franklin, president, made a report on the conditions in the area and of the activities of the association and plans for the future.

David K. Workman, secretary-treasurer, made the financial report.

The nominating committee report was read by John E. Post of Andrews County.

George Clark, Crane County, was proposed for a three-year term on the board; A. C. Tenert, Midland County, was nominated for the unexpired two-year term of B. W. Golladay, who has resigned. Both were elected.

A barbecue luncheon was served and 250 members took part.

At an organization meeting held after the stockholders meeting Franklin was re-elected as president; E. G. Branch, Crane County, vice president and Workman, secretary-treasurer.

Other directors are Clark, Tenert and J. W. Broughton, Howard County.

Rail Walkout Canceled By Court Order

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A strike against the Kansas City Southern Railroad was called off Saturday after a federal court restraining order was issued against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

H. G. Kenyon, vice president of the union, said "we are putting out official notice for our members to take down picket lines and return to work."

The strike of the locomotive men, supported by other union honoring picket lines, had brought the operation of the 1,800-mile carrier to a complete halt. The railroad extends through Texas to the Gulf.

A railroad spokesman said crews were being summoned back to work but that "it will take us longer to get back on schedule than it did to get off."

U. S. Dist. Judge Ben Dawkins Jr., set a hearing for Thursday for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen to show why it should not be prohibited from striking and picketing.

The strike started in Shreveport Friday night and spread to other points. Other rail unions reportedly observed the firemen's picket lines. Train service continued on a limited basis.

A union spokesman in Shreveport said the dispute centered on seniority and lodging issues.

The order also includes firemen of the Louisiana and Arkansas Railroad — an affiliate.

The petition alleged that the action comes under the authority of the Railway Labor Act, which regulates the union.

Calling the strike illegal, the petition said the union failed to submit grievances through machinery set up by Congress. A collective bargaining agreement providing for handling grievances and claims was not in effect, the petition said.

The railroad claims it does not know the purpose of the strike.

The petition names the union's national president — H. E. Gilbert — and Shreveport Lodge #22.

The action was brought against all locals as a class, which the petition said, are so numerous that they cannot be brought into court.

The petition asked the court to take action because it has the authority to regulate interstate commerce.

Dawkins set bond for the railroad at $5,000, required by law to protect the defendants from possible damages.

The railroad contended business would be lost to its competitors if persons having business with the railroad are prevented ingress and egress.

Committees have been named to make plans for the visit, to Big Spring, of former Republican Congressman Ed Foreman of Odessa. County Republican chairman Bill Sheppard said the visit was discussed at the Howard County Republican meeting Friday night at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. He noted that Foreman was named one of the 10 outstanding young men of the year in 1964.

The social committee, with Mrs. Harold Hall as chairman, will include Mrs. Edwin Ballard, Mrs. Eldridge Estes, and Mrs. M. A. Porter. Publicity committee will be: Mrs. Deryl Johnston, chairman; Mrs. Ralph Gossett, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wright, and Mrs. Louis Wolfson.

Funds Sought For Detailed Study Of Bureau Water Plan

By JOE PICKLE

Rep. Richard White, El Paso, (D-Texas) has taken the Bureau of Reclamation ball for attacking the West Texas water problem and is undertaking to run with it.

Friday he put on the Washington podium the bureau's proposal for diverting Sabine and Neches water to the lower Colorado and pumping it up the staircase of reservoirs to points of need.

Harry Burleigh, Austin, who heads up the bureau's work in Texas, had trotted out his idea at two previous meetings — one for heads of Texas utility firms, the other for city and water authority officials along the Colorado River watershed. Both groups were relatively non-committal. Then addressing an University of Texas water seminar last weekend, Rep. J. J. Pickle, Austin, gave the idea a blessing of sorts, and Friday, Rep. White plumped it into the spotlight from Washington.

Rep. White said that the bureau of reclamation is planning to ask the House Appropriations Committee, headed by Rep. George Mahon, Lubbock, for $200,000 to make a more careful study.

The idea of water from other regions generally appeals to West Texans, for the area has 75 per cent of the state's geography but only 25 per cent of its water resources.

There have been several schemes advanced, one to bring water in from the Pacific Northwest through a series of canals which would also serve the desert areas of California, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, and New Mexico as well as Northwestern Texas.

ALTERNATE PLAN

Still another — and the one which some engineers contend is more practical and feasible than the bureau of reclamation plan — is to divert surplus waters from along the Texas-Louisiana border and arch it into the West Texas area via the Dallas and Fort Worth metropolitan complex.

The bureau of reclamation plan is to use existing lakes and staircases. The basic source of water, however, would be the projected interbasin canal from the Sabine and Neches areas. Each of these reservoirs would draw from the one immediately below as water is needed, according to the plan. This could be done during periods when there is low demand for power upon utility companies. Then, when power demand on the utilities jumps up, some of the water could be let out to generate power during this peak period.

600,000 ACRE FEET

Each of the reservoirs would be trapping watershed runoff, used only as a supplemental source. The bureau of reclamation, however, projected its estimates upon delivery of at least an additional 600,000 acre feet annually to this area within the next 45 years. If El Paso were included this figure would be upped by 200,000 acre feet annually.

Terminal point for this area would be the Robert Lee reservoir, which the Colorado River Municipal Water District is seeking but on which the Texas Water Commission has so far declined to rule. Much of the CRMW system would be relieved upon for distribution, but if the trans-Pecos and El Paso areas needed water, pipelines would be run from the lake to those remote areas.

PRICE ESTIMATES

Burleigh estimated water could be delivered to the Robert Lee lake at 15 to 20 cents, and to El Paso for 35 to 40 cents per thousand gallons. Some river and authority heads, however, were highly critical of his power cost estimates. One official said they were only one-half to one-fourth adequate. Rep. White said he took the idea up with the Interior Department after hearing of proposals to divert water from the Columbia River Basin into the Colorado River Basin of the Far West for ultimate use in Southern California.

"If that proposal is feasible," he said, "I would think that transporting water from East Texas, where it is in abundant supply, to West Texas might also prove practical."

The bureau plan, however, was in the making long before this. Burleigh told river authority and city representatives he had undertaken the study many months ago at the oral suggestion of a representative of the Texas Water Commission.

OBSTACLES

Interior Department engineers told Rep. White that the proposed trans-Texas water project possibly could be constructed and put into operation within 10 years.

In view of the myriad of problems, however, this would appear to be an obstacle-free estimate. For one thing, there is pending now in the Texas Senate a resolution (SJR 19) which would prohibit the removal of water from one river basin to another unless it can be shown that the water is surplus to anticipated needs for the next 50 years.

Meanwhile, West Texans are interested in not only the bureau plan, but any feasible plan which would offer the prospect of additional water for this area where water is the chief bottleneck to growth.

Kennel Club To Meet Thursday

The Big Spring Kennel Club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tubb, 1607 Thorp Drive, at 8 p.m. Thursday. Routine business will be transacted, and then films will be shown. The films were made locally by dog owners and show obedience training.

Obedience training classes will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday on the paved parking area at the city park. Spectators and interested dog owners are invited to see the demonstrations.

"The Kennel Club has been organized a little more than a year," Bruce Wright, president, said "and we have noticed a growing interest. Anyone interested primarily in purebred dogs is invited to attend our meetings."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Some people just aren't cut out for making moonshine.

DEAR ABBY

The Man Is A Clattertrap

DEAR ABBY: My husband talks too much about me! I always thought that what went on between a married couple was supposed to be private, but my husband broadcasts the darnedest things to all his co-workers. The wife of one of the men down at the plant even "kidded" me about what I slept in! Not only that, but last summer I had a little surgery. It wasn't very serious, but it was rather embarrassing (you know, the kind you just don't talk about). Well, everybody at the plant knew all about it. When they have get-togethers for the workers and their families, I don't feel like going because everyone knows so much about me. What is wrong with my husband? Or is it me? And how can I shut him up?

And, he Madame, is a clatter-trap! Teaching a grown man discretion is no small task, but he's your man and he's broadcasting YOUR secrets. So, it's time you had a long talk with him about what he's not supposed to talk about.

DEAR ABBY: I am worried about becoming an old maid. I am 15 and have had only one date in my whole life. I am not bad looking. I've seen worse with boy friends. I have a good sense of humor and enjoy doing things most teenagers enjoy doing. I act my age and don't try to be something I'm not. I would appreciate a few pointers on how to attract a boy's attention. Please don't tell me to wait until the right boy comes along. I've waited long enough already.

DEAR NO: It's your husband.

15 AND NO BOY FRIEND

DEAR FIFTEEN: I receive at least 100 letters a day from girls between 13 and 19 asking the same question. And here's the answer: Personality and character are far more important in the long run than "looks." But "looks" is what makes a boy look twice across a crowded room. So, first check your packaging.

Are you neat and clean? If you wear makeup, is it applied artistically? Do you overdo it? (Many boys say that most girls do.) How about your hair? Do you keep it fragrant, combed and shiny? How's your weight? (This is important!) If you're too fat, slim down. If your looks are all right, what about your personality? As I say in my book, "Dear Teenager," "personality isn't just the ability to chatter away and say things that will keep your friends amused. Personality starts INSIDE you. It's a genuine interest in other people. It's being able to see someone else's point of view. It's inner warmth and a pleasant disposition even under the most trying circumstances. Personality is extending your hand in friendship in a way that silently says, "I like you." It's the smile on your face and the twinkle in your eye. The people with personality sparkle and bubble so naturally that you can't tell where personality ends and charm and good looks begin."

Do you make a boy feel comfortable in your presence? Are you too quiet? If so, read more. Then you'll have more to talk about. If he's quiet, keep the conversation going. If he's chatty, keep still and let him entertain you for a while.

Are you too forward? Nothing drives a boy away like an aggressive girl.

Do you call boys on the phone? Or send them "messages" through your friends and his so that everyone in school knows you like him? If so, forget him. You'll never get him. Do you aspire to spiritual goodness? Do you value personal integrity, and respect your fellow man? Are you respectful to your elders? If so, it will shine through and you will be completely lovable to someone who is worthy of your love. Which, after all, is the reason every girl wants to attract a boy's attention, isn't it?

Love, ABBY

Reds Wind Up Maneuvers In East Germany

MOSCOW (AP) — The armies of the Soviet Union and East Germany have ended maneuvers in East Germany, the official Soviet news agency Tass announced Saturday.

The maneuvers had been cited by East German officials as the reason for periodic closing of the autobahn from West Germany to Berlin over the last five days.

Tass said, "All training tasks set for the troops in the exercise were fully accomplished."

It made no reference to obstructions of traffic between Berlin and the West, thus giving no indication whether the end of the maneuvers would mean the end of periodic barricading of the autobahn.

Tax Deadlines Coming Up

Calendar year corporations whose income tax is expected to exceed $100,000 for 1965 must file a declaration of estimated tax and pay the first installment by April 15, 1965, according to Joseph P. Gordon, administrative officer of the Big Spring Internal Revenue Service.

Gordon said that the amount of the first installment is 4 per cent of the excess over $100,000.

A declaration of estimated tax and similar payment is also required by that date from calendar year proprietors and partnerships which have elected to be taxed as a corporation and whose income tax is expected to exceed $100,000 for 1965, said Mr. Gordon.

Partnerships that report on a calendar-year basis must file federal returns of income on Form 1065 by April 15, 1965, for the calendar year 1964. Partnership returns must be filed regardless of the amount of income or loss. Each member of the partnership must report his distributive share of income or loss on his own individual return.

Not only are individual tax returns due April 15, but individuals required to file a declaration of estimated tax for 1965 are reminded to file a Form 140-ES by the same date.

Cotton Group Supporting Four Research Projects

LUBBOCK — Renewal of four research projects aimed at producing information to help growers cut production costs and improve raw fiber quality was announced Saturday by the Cotton Producers Institute.

Support of research on the biochemistry of the cotton plant has been boosted from $100,000 to $130,000. Located at Texas A&M University, the project is amassing a detailed picture of how cotton grows and produces fruit.

Researchers already have uncovered significant data. The processes whereby plants capture and hold materials for storage in cottonseed and then release them following germination have been partially explained.

The institute granted $37,820 for studies of plant modification for critical temperatures. It is located at the Texas Experiment Station in Lubbock.

Scientists at the University of Arizona are working under a $25,700 grant to determine how to get cotton plants to set more bolls at the proper time. Laboratory and field tests indicate certain acids and sugars play an important role.

A project to develop a rapid method of determining the strength of cotton fibers was renewed in a $10,000 grant to Stanford Research Institute. An engineering model of a strength tester has been completed, and its performance now is being checked. This test is a vital step in improving cotton's competitive position.

Space Control From Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The familiar "This is mission control," heard by millions during a manned space flight, will come from the supersecret $120-million mission control center here starting June 1.

Dr. George Mueller, chief of the Washington office of manned space flight under the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, announced the shift of control from Cape Kennedy, Fla., to Houston Friday.

ANOTHER CATEGORY
Christopher C. Kraft Jr., Manned Spacecraft Center assistant director of flight operations, said actual control of all training exercises and simulations will be handled from Houston also.

He said this control will start sometime this month, probably about 35 days before the next manned flight.

"That is about the time we will place the spacecraft atop the Titan 2 rocket booster at Cape Kennedy," Kraft said.

The next mission, now expected June 1, will send Air Force Maj. James A. McDivitt, 35, and Edward H. White II, 34, into orbit for at least four days. White may stick his head outside the cabin door while in orbit.

Shifting control was at least seven months ahead of schedule. The original plans called for Houston to take the reins for the third manned flight, now expected in August.

Mueller said in Washington that the next mission will make 63 orbits and will terminate in the Atlantic Ocean at almost the same place Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom, 39, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young, 34, splashed down.

Water Supply Up In West

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Snow surveys just completed indicate water supplies in 11 Western states will be above average this year.

Only southern Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and New Mexico will have limited storage this year, says the Soil Conservation Service water supply forecast unit. Even these areas will have more water than in recent years.

In Colorado, the streamflow is forecast to be above normal in all areas, but because of several years' drought, more is needed to overcome deficiencies.

In New Mexico, the water supply outlook is only fair because of several years' drought but runoff from all streams is forecast to be above normal.

Sewer Line Construction Under Way Downtown

Workmen will be placing the Beals Branch trunk sewer line through the downtown area this weekend, with the line placed across Main Street Friday afternoon and expected to reach Gregg Street by late Monday, going west on Second Street.

The line will be placed underneath Gregg Street without interrupting the traffic flow, city engineers reported.

A total of 16,885 feet of pipeline has been installed since construction began on the main Beals Branch line. An additional 3,600 feet of lateral pipeline extensions has been placed, primarily in the central area of the city.

Work through the downtown area will be carried out by the contractor as rapidly as possible, engineers reported, to minimize interruption with downtown shopping and traffic. The line has been placed westward on Second Street from Owens, where it was directed southward after paralleling the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. tracks west from Birdwell Lane.

After the line is placed across Gregg Street, it will be installed westward about one-half mile to San Antonio Street, where crews will connect the 25,000-foot pipeline to a 15-inch present sewer line.

The end of the line will be reached in about two weeks, if no rainy weather interrupts work and if no unexpected problems arise from ground water, engineers reported.

Tag Sales Show $5,000 Increase

Auto license plate receipts at the office of Zerah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector for this year, are about $5,000 ahead of the receipts for last year, the assessor-collector has announced.

Total collections through April 1 reached $478,355.97 this year, compared with $471,981.84 for the same period in 1964.

A feature of this year's operations, Mrs. LeFevre said, was the heavy business handled by the two substations set up in the Lewis 5-and-10 Store, College Park Shopping Center, and Newsom's Food Store, South Gregg.

The Lewis station handled $41,277.65 of the gross receipts for the season and Newsom's store $41,745.22.

"I am appreciative of the good work performed by Don Newsom and his staff and by Jim Lewis and his workers," said Mrs. LeFevre. "Many motorists evidently felt that it was much more convenient to go to these substations than come to the courthouse, and I am sure that both Mr. Newsom and Mr. Lewis would appreciate it if any of their patrons mentioned the service they offered."

"I also want to thank Billy Paul Thomas, Howard County road supervisor, who saw to it that most of the plates needed were delivered to the substations."

"It has been a successful auto tag season, and I am grateful to all who helped. I am especially grateful to my deputies for the fine job they have done."

Mrs. LeFevre announced that her office will abandon the practice it has been following of keeping the auto tax office open Thursday evenings. "There is not enough demand for the service to justify its continuance at this time," she said.

She also suggested anyone buying a motor vehicle at this time to make certain the title and application and the license receipt are kept and placed with the title, when it arrives from Austin. These papers will be of importance when registration rolls around in 1966.

Of the $478,355 paid for plates, $175,000 has been allotted to the county. The remainder goes to the state. The law specifies that no county, regardless of size or the number of motor vehicles it may have, can receive in excess of $175,000 from tag receipts.

Additional tag sales will continue through the year as new cars are purchased, and as vehicles are brought in from other states and registered under Texas licenses.

Union Will Probe Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Jennings, new president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, has named a committee to investigate alleged miscounting of votes in the union's presidential election.

A Labor Department report said that 25,000 ballots were miscounted in the battle between Jennings and incumbent President James B. Carey. Carey resigned after the report was released.

ARE YOUR NOSE DROPS CONTAMINATED?

Nose drops are helpful in the treatment of adults and children. Most physicians prescribe them. When you get them from your pharmacy they are pure and potent. But as soon as you take out and use the dropper, it is exposed to virulent germs which may enter the bottle, multiply and cause a severe infection. Removal of the protective cap of the spray bottle permits these germs to collect at the top to infect you.

To avoid this, cleanse the dropper and top of the bottle with alcohol before replacing it. Examine partly used nose drops and if the contents become cloudy, or a sediment develops, don't use them. It may be dangerous.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Pending Criminal Cases Dismissed From Docket

Two sensational murder cases of six years ago were recalled last week when Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, and Wayne Burns, district attorney, decided to dismiss 22 pending indictments of older complaints on file in the court.

ANDRES MARQUEZ

RALPH GILBERT

FOUND GUILTY The slayers in both of these cases were found guilty by juries in the 118th District Court. A life sentence was imposed on Ralph L. Gilbert, who was convicted of killing Mr. Stewart, and a similar sentence on Andres Marquez, who is accused of shooting Bell to death. Both men are in the state penitentiary at this time.

missed were all old and that there is only the remotest probability they would ever come up for trial. The old indictments merely cluttered the docket and served no practical purpose, the court held.

Two College Grants Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal grants were made last week to the University of Houston and Our Lady of The Lake College in San Antonio by the Welfare Department.

Two grants go to the University of Houston—$346,472 for work on an engineering building and $208,558 for work on a history and political science building.

The San Antonio college gets $117,123 for work on a special service building. It is a Roman Catholic institution.

Texan Runnerup At Oratory Meet

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Gary Prior, 17, of Ingram, Tex., collected $2,500 as runnerup winner in the American Legion's national high school oratorical contest. First place and $4,000 went to James Kay, 16, of Fullerton, Calif.

While no new commercial building was reported in the city during March, 13 new residences, totalling $211,000 in permits, were begun.

Fifty building permits were issued during March, compared to 37 during February.

The remainder of the building activity recorded in the city building inspector's office involved a $5,000 permit for a foundation for a business building in the South Mountain, Inc.

High permit for the month was a $25,000 amount for a new residence at 517 Scott Drive, to be constructed by Clyde Brown.

TMA directors said last week they chose Connally's plan over the conflicting one backed by the Texas State Teachers Association, which calls for an across-the-board raise of 45.

The governor's bill provides for a 10-year pay increase with greater benefits for experienced teachers.

Sen. Jack Strong of Longview, sponsor of the Connally bill, spoke to the directors.

The association also endorsed Connally's plan to convert Connally Air Force Base at Waco into a vocational training institute when the base is deactivated.

College Trustees Meet Monday The April meeting of the Howard County Junior College board will be held at 5:15 p.m. Monday at the Dora Roberts Student Union building.

New business will include a report from the panel named to look into a proposal by hotel owners for turning hotels into area vocational schools; a report from the faculty tenure committee; action on faculty changes, etc.

Losing Ground To Cancer

Sgt. Billy Paul Smith, of the Midland State Highway Patrol, and until ill health forced him to inactivity in command of local highway patrol officers, is in the Midland hospital in serious condition.

Smith, who was able to leave his bed to attend a dinner in his honor April 1 at Midland where he was formally presented with a Carnegie medal, has been steadily losing ground for some months in a fight against cancer.

Smith received the Carnegie award for heroism he displayed in efforts he made to rescue passengers in a wrecked and blazing airplane Dec. 21, 1963. The plane crash landed and burst into flames. Smith dashed into the midst of the fire to drag out the trapped passengers.

Attending the dinner, in addition to fellow highway patrolmen, were his wife and three sons. The dinner was sponsored by the highway patrol.

Infant Death Legal Puzzle

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—County medical examiner Ruben Santos took a legal puzzle to Dist. Atty. James Barlow.

It concerns the death of a baby girl who lived only two days. Dr. Santos said the infant was born a month prematurely because her mother took an overdose of sedative pills.

The young mother survived but police so far have been unable to question her. They have been unable to contact the father.

Dr. Santos said the baby never was conscious. He asked the district attorney whether it was a case of accidental death, homicide or suicide.

Barlow said he was searching the statutes for an answer.

Policies regarding recognition of retiring teachers and on maternity leave will be considered by the Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees Tuesday night. Several other matters of importance to be taken up include: Canvassing trustee election returns, reorganization of the board, appointment of a board of equalization, consideration of approval for vocational course, and a progress report on high school building plans.

ation. In pregnancy cases in the past, but a few refusals to accept the administration's suggestions of retirement are leading to the request for a stronger board policy.

Supt. Sam Anderson is suggesting that the board consider all angles and recommend and adopt a set policy for the future to avoid conflicting opinions between administration and individuals.

Appointment of a board of equalization has been requested by Pritchard and Abbot, valuation engineers, and a tentative date set for June 23. The school board will take action on the matter and set a firm date.

'Great Society' Recalls FDR Prod

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appears well on his way toward writing in this session of Congress a legislative record as imposing as that compiled by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933.

It will require more than the 100 days Roosevelt needed then to alter the course of government, but the consensus in Congress is that by the time the lawmakers go home next summer what Johnson calls the "Great Society" will be firmly entrenched in American life.

In its first 100 days, the 89th Congress has given clear signs it intends to pass most of the major legislative proposals Johnson laid before it.

It took two giant steps in that direction last week when the House passed the health care bill for the elderly and the Senate completed legislative action on the $1.3-billion educational aid measure.

In addition to numerous minor actions Congress already had enacted a major bill to release gold reserves to support dollar stability, a measure to give federal aid to the 11-state Appalachia area and Inter-American Development Bank authorization.

Debate will begin in the Senate after an Easter holiday on legislation to guarantee Negro voting rights. The House will take up this week a Senate-passed measure to provide procedures for any presidential disability.

This all doesn't add up to the burst of legislation that rolled out of the 73rd Congress under Roosevelt's prodding. But Roosevelt was operating in a national atmosphere of near-panic and Johnson in an era of unparalleled prosperity when Congress' tendency usually is to let well enough alone.

Teacher Group Hits Rival Bill

DALLAS (AP) — The president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association asserts that a fourth of the state school districts will go bankrupt if Gov. Connally's teacher pay raise proposal goes into effect.

Mrs. Nettie Shaw of Carthage asserted Friday that the governor's plan would be supported "by dumping expenses back on the local schools. And the only way local districts can pay for this would be in increased ad valorem taxes."

Her organization is pledged to support the Texas State Teachers Association pay raise bill which calls for an immediate pay hike of $405 per year. Connally's program calls for a 10-year pay raise plan giving larger salary increases to experienced teachers.

Pilot's Fatal Dive At Barroom Follows Threat

PITTMAN, Nev. (AP) — A twin-engine private plane crashed into a busy neighborhood bar's parking lot early Saturday, ramming three flaming cars through the bar's wall in what sheriff's deputies say may have been an attempted murder-suicide.

The pilot was killed. A customer sitting at the bar was seriously burned. Two other customers suffered minor injuries. Sheriff's deputies said the pilot earlier in the evening had threatened the bar owner, his ex-wife, that he would crash his plane into the bar and kill her.

HAD QUARRELLED
Clark County Sheriff's Deputy Robert Bell said the pilot, John Covarrubias, a Las Vegas cement contractor, was the ex-husband of the bar owner, Nellie Covarrubias.

Bell quoted Mrs. Covarrubias as saying she and her husband had quarrelled at the bar earlier in the evening when he attempted to reconcile with her.

When she rebuffed him, Covarrubias threatened to crash his plane into the bar and kill her, Bell quoted Mrs. Covarrubias as saying.

The couple was divorced last October, sheriff's deputies said. Deputies gave this account of the crash:

About 30 customers were in the Branding Iron Bar, five miles southeast of Las Vegas, when the crash occurred.

SKIDS INTO CAR
The plane hit the parking lot, skidded into three parked cars, setting them aflame and slamming them into the bar's wall. A hole nearly 10-feet square was carved out of the concrete block wall behind the bar.

The pilot's body was thrown out of the plane, landing atop one of the cars, he said.

A customer, Richard Ramirez, 29, Las Vegas, critically burned in the crash, was taken to Rosa de Lima Hospital in nearby Henderson.

France Greet Russian Envoy

PARIS (AP) — A hard-line Russian presented his credentials to President Charles de Gaulle today and became the new Soviet ambassador to France in what some see as the opening of a diplomatic offensive on Germany.

Valerian Zorin, former deputy foreign minister and an expert on German affairs, told the French president he would try during his service here to contribute to the traditional ties of friendship linking France and the Soviet Union. De Gaulle welcomed Zorin and said the diplomat was correct to stress these ties.

"France and Russia have not been combatants against one another for 112 years," De Gaulle said. "Throughout most of World War I and World War II, France and the Soviet Union were allied through good days and bad. I salute the Soviet government and all the Soviet people, their past, present and future."

Zorin succeeds Sergei Vinogradov, who generally was regarded in Paris as a better dinner partner than diplomat.

REST CAN WORK WONDERS FOR AREA RANGELAND
Three month's respite gives results on L. W. Longshore ranch

Rest For Rangeland Helps Insure Good Future Growth

Rangeland in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District needs to be rested, according to Earl V. Hogan, range conservationist.

Rest or deferment is simply removing all the livestock from a pasture for a period of time in order to allow the grass plants the chance to increase in vigor and produce seed.

Need for a rest is predicated on the premise that a rancher is growing grass and his cattle are just a means of harvesting the grass. How a grass plant grows becomes important to the project.

There are two main parts to the grass plant, Hogan reminded. Above the ground are leaves, stems, and seed stalks. Below the ground are the roots. While the primary purpose of the roots is to absorb water and the various nutrients necessary for plant growth, roots also store food to make the initial growth in the spring or after the leaves are removed by grazing.

The primary purpose of the leaves to manufacture new food by using the raw materials furnished by the roots along with carbon dioxide and sunlight as the source of energy.

Some of the food manufactured in the leaves is used to replace the food reserve in the roots which was used in the spring growth. The remainder is used to produce new leaves, which can be harvested by livestock, and new roots. Therefore, when the number of leaves is reduced the forage available to livestock is also reduced. When the number of leaves is insufficient to replace the food used in the initial growth the grass plant will simply starve to death, Hogan explained.

A pasture is usually given a rest following any method of brush control and during years of drought. This is important; however, it is equally important to rest the pastures during the growing season in years with good moisture conditions. The rest in good years allows the grass to store a reserve of food in the roots; also, the leaves left standing after frost are not lost since they can be grazed during the winter months.

Among the ranchers in this area cooperating with the district by resting pastures are Lorin S. McDowell III, Jack Buchanan, W. L. Wilson Jr., O. E. Hamlin, L. W. Longshore, the Edwards Bros. Ranch, and Horace Garrett. Many others also follow this practice. Information and assistance in establishing a program are available from the SCS.

County To Open Bids On Hangar

Howard County Commissioners Court will consider bids for construction of a supplementary hangar at the Howard County Airport Monday.

The hangar is being built to serve when the contract for project training for Webb AFB airmen is set in operation at the airport.

The county commissioners agreed to build a hangar at the airport, not to cost more than $25,000, as a step to encourage the use of the field for the training program.

No decision has been made on the contractor to be selected. However, the aviation committee of the chamber of commerce asked that the county commissioners go ahead with the essential additional structures at the airport to make certain the port was acceptable—if and when the award is announced.

Steers Qualify Five For Regional Meet

By TOMMY HART
MIDLAND — Abilene Cooper picked up nine points in the final event of the day — the pole vault — to capture first place in the 1964 District 2-AAAA track and field meet here Saturday afternoon.

The Cougars scored a total of 83 points to 81 for Odessa Permian while Midland was third with 75, San Angelo fourth with 65, Big Spring a surprising fifth with 64, followed by Abilene, with 57; Odessa High, with 49; and Midland Lee, 21.

Six records fell in the cinder show and one of them was set by Johnny Hughes of Big Spring, who hurried over the low hurdles in 18.8.

Perhaps the big story of the track carnival was Big Spring, which for the first time in 2-AAAA history beat out both Abilene and Odessa in a conference meet, won two first places and qualified five boys for the Regional.

In addition to Hughes, Bobby Baker picked up a blue ribbon for Big Spring in the high hurdles. Baker caught Abilene's Larry Smith at the last hurdle and flashed past him to the tape, winning in the respectable time of 14.7.

Baker, Hughes, Joe Jaure, Marvin Hall and Kirby Hodnett were the Big Spring entries to qualify for regional.

The last four teamed up for a second place finish in the sprint relay and would undoubtedly have won it, had it not been for a couple of faulty hand-offs.

Jaure thought he heard the gun signaling a false start in the 100 (it was an echo of a nearby building) and momentarily was caught off stride. He recovered in time to finish third in the event.

The stout-hearted Jaure came right back to finish second in the 440, tying the meet record in the bargain with a 49.0 clocking. It was the first time ever for him to run the event.

Other Big Spring points were picked up by:

Ronnie Anderson, sixth in the 120 high hurdles; Rickey Earle, fourth in the low hurdles; Hughes, fourth in the 220 and fourth in the broad jump; and Kirby Horton, sixth in the shot put.

Sprinter John Kennedy of San Angelo wound up as the high point man of the meet with 23 points while Hughes had 22, David Graham of Cooper 20, Jaure 18 and Ross Montgomery, Midland, 16.

The pole vault did not end until about 40 minutes after the rest of the meet had been completed.

In addition to the low hurdles mark, records fell in the pole vault, high jump, 880, 100-yard dash and 440.

Nicklaus Shoots 64 In Masters Tourney

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus grabbed the Augusta National monster course by the throat and shook it to death Saturday with a record-breaking eight-under-par 64 which threatened to wreck the 29th Masters Golf Tournament.

The superb round, featured by 300-yard drives and putts of phenomenal length without a single bogey, gave the Golden Bear of Columbus, Ohio, a 54-hole score of 202 — five shots ahead of South Africa's Gary Player.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer, the other member of the Big Three which started the day head-to-head could do no better than par 72 on the warm, course and moved into contention. Rudolph, with a streak of four straight birdies and five in a stretch of six holes, fired a 66 for 211 and Littler, canning eight birdies in the last 16 holes, shot a 67 for 212, tying Tommy Aaron, who chipped in on the final hole for a 71.

However, there seemed no catching the bull-strong Nicklaus in Sunday's climactic round.

Scoreboard Lit For LBJ

The giant electric scoreboard at Houston's Domet Stadium, usually reserved for recording home runs hit, is lit up Friday night especially for President Lyndon E. Johnson to see. The game was halted briefly in the ninth inning and the scoreboard lighted before the President and his party left the stadium. The Houston Astros beat the New York Yankees, 2-1, in 12 innings in a contest that attracted 47,876. (AP WIREPHOTO.)

LBJ is Among 47,865 Fans At Opener

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Editor
President Lyndon Johnson in Houston and Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. in Atlanta made big hits in helping dedicate $50 million worth of new baseball stadiums, but it was a 37-year-old retired player who provided the biggest hit.

The President and Mrs. Johnson joined a crowd of 47,876 that saw Houston edge the New York Yankees 2-1 in 12 innings Friday night at the Astros' $31.6 million domed stadium. It was the first professional baseball ever played indoors.

Mayor Allen was on hand for a reception welcoming the Milwaukee Braves home, then watched with 37,232 fans as the Braves defeated Detroit 6-3 in the $18 million Atlanta Stadium.

The biggest hit, though, was the one that won the game for Houston.

It was a single off the bat of coach Nellie Fox, acting as a pinch hitter with two out and Jim Wynn at second base. The hit, off Pete Mikkelsen, bloomed into center field, sending Wynn around with the winning run.

President Johnson, a Texas native, received a huge standing ovation when it was announced he had arrived. He and the First Lady waved from a window of the plush, private suite of the Astro owners, located high above the right field section.

SEES MANTLE
The President wasn't around for the finish, though. He saw Mickey Mantle homer for the Yankees in the sixth and left three innings later with the game tied 1-1.

In Atlanta, Mayor Allen greeted the Braves, who will move there next season, by saying it was "the happiest occasion for Atlanta since General Sherman decided to head South in 1864" after burning most of the city.

The most popular Braves during a parade through the city were veterans Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron. It was another Aaron, however, who sparked in the first game at the Braves' future park.

Hank's younger brother, Tommie, clouted a three-run homer in the first inning that started Milwaukee on its way. Joe Torre later socked a two-run homer and a run-scoring double.

In less glamorous proceedings, home runs by Zoilo Verasalles and Harmon Killebrew gave Minnesota a 2-1 triumph over the New York Mets while Floyd Robinson led the Chicago White Sox to an 8-3 victory over Cincinnati with a triple and two singles.

Philadelphia edged Pittsburgh 5-4 on homers by Wes Covington, Richie Allen, Tony Taylor and Tony Gonzalez, and Boston scored three unearned runs in the 10th inning for a 7-4 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Tony Conigliaro's two-run homer capped the winning rally for the Red Sox.

Steers Turn Back Odessa Bronchos

ODESSA—Big Spring returned to contention for the District 2-AAAA baseball championship by knocking off Odessa High 4-3, here Friday afternoon. The Steers, now 1-1 in the week, hosting Abilene Cooper Tuesday and Odessa Permian Thursday.

Freddy Mears, Hank Pope and Charley Burdette teamed up to pitch the win for Big Spring, yielding seven hits between them.

The Longhorns, 8-7 on the year, collected six blows off three Odessa pitchers and made most of them count for something.

The Steers, after breaking the ice with a run in the fourth when pinch runner Gary Gressett crossed the plate, went ahead to stay by counting three times in the fifth.

In the fifth, Johnny Stone reached base on an error and Freddy Mears, Van Tom Whately and Gregg Pate followed with singles. With two out, Yogi Anderson hit a one-baser to drive in Whately.

Odessa fought back with a run in the sixth when Bobby Reed powered in Tommy New with a single and pulled to within one run of a tie in the seventh when Randy Walker, after gaining a life on a bobble, raced home on a single by Eddie Vaughn, but Vaughn died on base when relief hurler Charles (Swifty) Burdette fanned Dee Lancaster, last batter to face him.

Anderson drove out two hits for the Big Spring club. All the Big Spring safeties were singles.

Vaughn had two one-basers for the Odessans, who are now 1-1 in the race. Mears got credit for the mound win.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Will Drills Be Impeded?

By TOMMY HART

If building plans develop in the school system here as scheduled, the Big Spring Steers may not have a practice field on which to work this fall since Omaha Beach — as the area immediately north of the high school building is sometimes called for reasons that do not flatter the athletic facility — is due to be the site of some new structures. The old stadium at Tenth and State streets is needed by the junior high teams. The junior high athletic programs are going to suffer here, incidentally, until and unless the athletes get to work out the sixth period rather than after school. Every other Class AAAA and AAA school in the state permits it. A number of boys living in rural areas who would ordinarily be out for practice instead have to catch school buses. The Cleveland Indians have sold more than $800,000 in advance tickets for the approaching baseball season, which is more than three times the amount of money they had banked at this time last year. Most encouraging sign the Cleveland people have found is that the little guy, the fellow who spends a couple of bucks regularly and is the backbone of baseball fan support, is getting interested in the team again. Friona High School, a District 3-AA school, is on the verge of building a $53,000 football stadium which will seat 2,500. R. L. Lasater, the Big Spring sprinter now at East Texas State, won himself a gold watch for helping the Lions notch a victory in a relay event in last week's Texas Relays at Austin. The University of Maryland had 100 players out for the start of spring football workouts this year and 32 of those were lettermen. Cassius Clay says his personal payroll, including his chauffeur and valet, runs to $1,400 a month. If you're interested in vital statistics, Frank Howard of the Washington Senators wears a size 52 shirt.

Only four of the 13 member schools voting on the 1967 site of the Region V Junior College Basketball tourney went for HCJC, so the meet will continue to be held at Amarillo indefinitely. HCJC had made a definite pitch for the tournament for the first time in many years, having been assured that a local service club would help with the details. Dr. Bob Carter, director of the Amarillo show, says changes will be made in the 1966 tournament in that all eight entries will be seeded, whereas only four have been in the past. The top ranked club will be pitted against the eighth team, the second against the seventh, the third against the sixth and the fourth against the fifth. The Region V favorites have failed to win the past three years — San Angelo in 1963, Decatur Baptist in '64 and Cisco the last time out. The big tournament has been held in Amarillo 18 consecutive years, by the way. It's obvious that coaches at many of the schools voting against Big Spring as a site shuddered at the thought that HCJC might dominate the meet as never before. Jose Torres, the new lightweight boxing champion, earned only $10,000 for his bout with Willie Pastrano, compared to $100,000 for the loser. Jim Cashion, the former Odessa Permian grid mentor, becomes backfield coach at Brazosport, down on the Gulf Coast, next fall. Bradley Mills, also deposited at Odessa High as coach after last season, had hoped to get on Bear Bryant's staff at Alabama but didn't make it. Immediately before the District 2-AAAA baseball race began, coach Bobby Moegle of Lubbock Monterey said that Odessa and Big Spring were being underrated in the race. Moegle also stated he was pleased his Plainsmen didn't have to play in this league because it was tough from top to bottom. Snyder's Harley Bynum, now at HCJC, had the second best time in the intermediate hurdles among all college athletes in the state through last week, with a 39.2 clocking. Low was the 38.7 achieved by David Bond of McMurry.

By HARDY PRICE

The Bronte Longhorns led from the opening gun and took their second straight District 67-B track and field championship with 164 points to second place Robert Lee with 131. Forsan was third with 88, followed by Garden City with 60, Water Valley, 30, and Sterling City with 21. A Water Valley lad, Gerald Millican, brought the sparse crowd to their feet in the mile run. Millican led the entire race and came across the finish line in the record breaking time of 4:59.0. He finished a good 50 yards ahead of second place Ray McKinnon of Forsan. Three other records were broken during the meet — the 440-yard relay, 880-yard run and 220-yard dash. Bronte's 440-yard relay team of Ronnie Lee, Royce Lee, Rick Wheat and Mike McKown, toured the distance in 44.5, knocking two-tenths of a second off their record of 44.7 set last year. Another record breaker was Dennis Gartman. Robert Lee, in the 880-yard run with a time of 2:07.3. Gartman set the record last year with a time of 2:08.9. Ronnie Lee, of Bronte, ran the 220-yard dash in 23.2, to better the record, set last year by McDaniel of Bronte, by four-tenths of a second. Terry Thetford, of Robert Lee, was high point individual for the meet with 35 points. Thetford scored first place in both the high and low hurdles, second in the discus, ran a leg on the third place mile relay team and tied for third in the high jump. Royce Lee and James Morrow of Bronte tied for second place. Morrow placed first in the high jump, broad jump, and pole vault for his points, while Lee won the 440-yard dash, ran a leg on both the 440-yard and mile relay teams, placed fourth in the discus and third in the broad jump. Bronte had nine first place finishers compared to three for Robert Lee, and one each for Forsan, and Water Valley. Bronte picked up firsts in the high jump, broad jump, pole vault, discus, 440-yard relay, mile relay, 100-yard dash, 440-yard dash, and 220-yard dash. Robert Lee won both hurdles and the 880 while Forsan took first in the shot and Water Valley won the mile run.

Returns On Oil Investments Are Increasing Too Slowly

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Depressed prices for their products failed to keep most major oil companies from reporting record or increased earnings for 1964.

Lagging prices are a major topic in the annual financial reports from each of the nation's top 14 companies.

Only two of the 14, Sinclair and Tidewater, reported declines in net earnings. Both blamed gasoline price wars in their major marketing areas.

Without exception, the 12 firms with increased earnings attributed the gains to depressed prices being offset by such factors as greater sales volume and lower unit production costs.

Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) and Sun Oil Co. gave their stockholders specific figures on how prices affected record earnings adversely.

John Swearingen, Indiana Standard president, reported earnings of $14.9 million, up 6.4 per cent, but said average gasoline and fuel oil prices in 1964 were about one-half cent lower than the 1963 depressed levels.

McCollum, board chairman of Continental Oil Co., were among those seeing signs of encouragement for the industry's rate of return on investments.

Dunlop said Sun's return on revenues climbed 7.2 per cent in 1963 to 8.1 per cent, the highest in more than 15 years.

"The return on stockholders' equity exceeded nine per cent the first time since 1957," Dunlop said.

McCollum, former chairman of the American Petroleum Institute, said the industry's return on investment has risen slightly the past few years but "it is still below the levels of the mid-1950s."

Swearingen said the rate of return on the investment by Indiana Standard shareholders increased last year from 7.4 to 7.6 per cent.

"While this is the fourth consecutive annual increase, the company's return on investment is still too low," Swearingen said.

"Management considers that raising this level substantially is its primary task. We expect to be able to show further improvement in 1965."

Petrochemicals Now Taking More Oil-Gas Feedstock

DALLAS — An estimated five per cent of the total U. S. crude oil and natural gas production is now being used as feedstocks for petrochemicals, according to a study reported in the current issue of Petro-Chem Engineer.

In an article in the April issue of the magazine, William F. Bland, editorial director takes issue with the figure of two to three per cent that has been commonly accepted in recent years. He claims that "something closer to five per cent is a more accurate estimate."

Schweitzer Gets New Job

W. H. Schweitzer has been named assistant purchasing manager at the Baytown refinery of Humble Oil & Refining Co. He was formerly supervisor of contracts and projects section in the purchasing department. Mrs. Schweitzer is the former Jenn Elta Dodge, and her mother, Mrs. J. P. Dodge, lives at 610 Goliad, Big Spring.

Schweitzer began his career with Humble in 1943 at Baytown refinery after receiving his bachelor of science degree in Civil Engineering from Texas Tech. While in college he was a member of two honorary fraternities, Tau Beta Pi and Alpha Chi, and was also a member of Kappa Sigma.

He is a state registered professional engineer and is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

The Schweitzers have two sons, Bill, 14, and Steve, 12, and a daughter, Carol, 6.

Twelve Wildcats Hit Oil In Week

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas wildcaters struck oil 12 times and gas 10 times last week, the Railroad Commission said Saturday.

The report said 100 oil and 31 gas wells were completed, bringing year totals to 1,931 oil and 924 gas wells. Last year, 2,356 oil and 781 gas wells were drilled.

Crews plugged 159 wells, 108 of them dry holes.

The commission said the average calendar day allowable was 2,899,465 barrels, up 8.482.

The higher figure is based on a total U. S. output in 1964 of 79.7 billion pounds of petrochemicals — computed at the intermediate level. This output represents about 5.3 per cent of the domestic production of oil (2.8 billion barrels) and gas (1,500 billion cubic feet) in 1964.

One weakness in this approach, Bland points out, is that the petrochemical output, being at the intermediate level, includes the weight of other elements added in processing: Chlorine, oxygen and nitrogen. Including the weight of these elements distorts the figure upwards.

"It may not be too far off, however, to estimate five per cent," he concludes, "When you consider that:

"1—A number of the larger volume intermediates are still pure hydrocarbons — including styrene and butadiene.

"2—There are always some losses in going from the feed to the product, including in some cases the complete loss of an element in the original hydrocarbon feedstock."

In the latter connection, he mentions the hydrogen lost in making carbon black, and the carbon lost in making ammonia (unless it is recovered as carbon dioxide.)

Bland also points out that a number of major firms now quote petrochemical statistics in "tons" rather than the usual "pounds." "The time may not be far off," he predicts, "when tons will be the common denominator for all petrochemical statistics."

About 900 Gallons Used Per Person

Americans used the equivalent of nearly 900 gallons of petroleum products for every man, woman and child in the nation during 1964, according to a report made by Oil Facts.

J. Howard Ramin Jr., Texaco, Inc., board chairman, was among those noting 1964 gasoline prices fell to the lowest point in 15 years.

Swearingen, Dunlop and L. F.

Pecos County Has Top Count

Pecos County has nosed Lea County, N. M., out of first place on the survey of rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin Empire for the first time since Reed Roller Bit Co. began conducting the survey. The Friday count showed 189 units with bits rotating on bottom. This was one more than listed a week ago and 14 fewer than the 203 reported on the comparable survey of 1964.

Pecos County was first with 27 units, up eight from the 19 listed a week ago. Lea County was in second place with 23, down two, and Ward County third with 13, up two.

The county-by-county survey showed the following count, with last week's figures in parentheses:

- Andrews 10 (9), Borden 1 (0), Chaves 9 (9), Coke 2 (1), Crane 4 (6), Crockett 5 (3), Dawson 6 (8), Ector 9 (11), Eddy 8 (8), Fisher 3 (1), Gaines 9 (6), Garza 0 (1), Glasscock 9 (1), Hockley 6 (4), Howard 4 (5), Kent 0 (1), Lamb 1 (2), Lea 23 (25), Martin 1 (1), Midland 2 (3), Mitchell 1 (1), Nolan 1 (1), Pecos 27 (19), Reagan 2 (2), Reeves 1 (4), Roosevelt 5 (4), Runnels 1 (3), Schleicher 4 (3), Scurry 1 (1), Sterling 3 (3), Stonewall 3 (2), Terrell 2 (2), Terry 1 (2), Tom Green 1 (1), Upton 3 (6), Ward 13 (11), Winkler 8 (10), Yoakum 8 (9). Totals 189 (188).

More Gasoline From Feedstock

HOUSTON — New developments in the field of petroleum refining were reported at a technical session of the National Petroleum Refiners Association annual meeting here.

Dr. W. E. Bradley, vice president of research, Union Oil Co. of California, described the 15,600 barrel-per-day Unicracking-JHC unit which the company put "on-stream" at Los Angeles last November. The capacity of the plant makes it one of the largest hydrocrackers now on stream.

"The plant has already substantially exceeded its design capacity, while processing a 900 degree F endpoint feed blend California vacuum gas oil and catalytic cycle oil," Dr. Bradley said.

"Union's hydrocracker produces no by-product fuel oil; it converts 100 barrels of feedstock to 124 barrels of gasoline. The feedstock has the highest endpoint and highest nitrogen content of any being hydrocracked to gasoline today," Dr. Bradley noted.

Wellhead Prices Have Levelled Off

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON (AP) — Wellhead prices of natural gas have leveled off in recent years, and the Federal Power Commission regards the stabilizing trend as a good thing.

A commission report says interstate pipeline companies paid domestic producers an average price of 16.6 cents a thousand cubic feet in 1963, an increase of only one-tenth of a cent from the average for the preceding year.

It hailed this as the smallest annual increase recorded since the commission began compiling such statistics in 1953.

In 1953, the report said, the average price received by domestic producers was 9.1 cents. The price then rose steadily, reaching 16.3 cents in 1961, an annual average increase of nine-tenths of a cent or about 7½ per cent each year.

Imports INCLUDED
Nearly $1. billion was paid by the nation's 108 interstate pipeline companies for more than 9.4 trillion cubic feet of gas in 1963, the commission reported. This included gas imported from Mexico and Canada.

When the imports were added, the average price rose to 1.9 cents a thousand cubic feet, compared with 1.8 cents in 1962.

Other items from the commission's latest edition of "Sales by Producers of Natural Gas to Natural Gas Pipeline Companies," covering 1963:

—Of the total purchases of more than 9.4 trillion cubic feet, slightly more than 9 trillion feet came from domestic producers, the remainder from Canadian and Mexican pipeline companies.

—Approximately 3,500 producers in 24 states and Canada and Mexico supplied the gas, but 91 per cent of the pipeline purchases came from 260 of the producers.

—Five states supplied nearly 90 per cent of the total deliveries. Texas accounted for 37.9 per cent, Louisiana 33.4, Oklahoma 7, Kansas 6.2 and New Mexico 5. Louisiana's share has been increasing while Texas' share has been on the decline. It was the ninth consecutive year Texas' part has dropped.

The standard system of judging and awarding will be used. A tri-color award will be given as well as an Award of Distinction and an Award of Merit. The Sweepstakes Award will be given to the greatest number of first place ribbons in both the horticulture and artistic division.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

There are many wonderful things to be said of early morning and one of the most wonderful is that the sand is seldom blowing then. This is the best time of day for that morning walk with my walking friends and neighbor, MRS. OMAR JONES. We get more exercise than most walkers because we are also talkers and by the time we have talked our way around the two mile walk we can really start the day right.

In the past week the tulips in the TOBY COOK'S yard have bloomed, and they make a pretty sight as we travel along Parkway. MRS. O. M. WATERS has two beautiful beds of cover flocks and a little of the pink thrift that is also growing colorfully at the G. H. HAYWARD home. The tulips are also pretty again this year at the R. L. BABER home at 18th and Rummels. At least I think all of these flowers are the real live variety. I have been greatly fooled by artificial posies in the past few years and if these aren't for real I don't want to be told.

Missionary Home Life Discussed

Home building in the missionary concept was studied at the Thursday evening meeting of the Evening Circle of the First Baptist Church. The salad supper was served in the home of Mrs. Robert Bolding, 1609 E. 16th.

Mrs. F. C. Gambill, chairman, was in charge of the business session, and introduced Mrs. H. L. Derrick, who presented the program.

Mrs. Beulah Crabtree assisted Mrs. Gambill in telling of the home life in different missionary fields and the religion taught to the children.

Prayers were worded by Mrs. Omer Williams and Mrs. Johnnie Winham.

The next meeting will be a salad supper in the home of Mrs. S. M. Sain, 200 Dixie, May 13 at 7 p.m.

Lamesans Celebrate Golden Anniversary

LAMESA (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chilton will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary today with a reception in their home from 2 to 6 p.m.

Children and grandchildren of the couple will host the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Chilton were married April 12, 1915, in Healdton, Okla. Mrs. Chilton, the former Jessie Lee Gordon, and Chilton, were married in the preacher's home after calling him in from the field where he was plowing. They had traveled by buggy to his home for the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Chilton's wedding dress was of white China silk, a material very popular at that time. She wore a white headpiece with a shoulder-length veil.

She tells the story of how she had gone to have her fortune told by a gypsy fortune teller who told her she would see the man she would marry before she arrived home. As she and her friends were returning home they saw Chilton riding over a hill on horseback. Mrs. Chilton remarked that she thought she would ask the gypsy for a refund of her money as she was sure she would never marry him. One year later they were married.

The Chilton's first home was five miles north of where Leveland now stands. In 1918 the couple moved to Dawson County where they now reside. Chilton is a retired farmer.

The couple have three daughters and one son, Mrs. A. G. Bingham, Phoenix, Ariz.; Mrs. J. F. Hurst, Corpus Christi; Mrs. P. R. Cates, Odessa, and Jim Chilton, Lubbock. They have 11 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The serving table will feature a white net cloth over gold taffeta edged in white felt and threaded with gold ribbon. The cake, symbolizing an open Bible, will have the couple's names and wedding date on one side and a replica of their wedding invitation on the other. White candles will accent the arrangement.

Grandchildren of the couple will preside at the refreshment table and register guests. Those serving in the house party are Mrs. Glen Esmond, Mrs. S. F. Reynolds, Mrs. Christine Agee, Mrs. Glenadine Holman and Mrs. Max Combs of Midland.

Miss Pansy Odeneal Creates Camera Art

Miss Pansy Odeneal, a talented, interesting newcomer with a delightful sense of humor and sincere concern for people, was busily unpacking her cameras and equipment. Photography is one of her many hobbies, and Graflex is her preference in cameras. She is fascinated by old dilapidated houses, barns, windmills, churches and grain elevators. These are subjects for many of her striking photographs. She also takes movies and does portraits.

Miss Odeneal moved here from Kermit, but prior to that she lived in Lubbock. While there she belonged to a camera club and so many people called her to take pictures of weddings and other social events that it became a time-consuming business. Now she does it only for relaxation and pleasure.

As chief operator with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, she is traffic manager and in charge of all operator service. Long distance, information and inward calls are part of this duty. With 68 women in her department, she has ample opportunity to study and practice her special interest in people and public relations.

COLLECTS RECORDS
Having moved to her home at 813 W. 18th in March, she is still in the process of unpacking her extensive collection of records, books and paintings.

Autobiographies are her favorite stories and she finds Abraham Lincoln the most fascinating personality in American history. Having read everything she could find on his life, she particularly enjoyed visiting his home in Springfield, Ill., last summer.

Her copy of "Leaves of Gold" reveals an appreciation for poetry, which she also writes.

MISS PANSY ODENEAL

She finds Pearl Buck's writings warm and compassionate, and being a zealous Texan.

Original Settings Featured

An original Easter bunny family was featured on the refreshment table of the Senior High Sunday school class of Wesley Methodist Church party. The event was held in the home of Mrs. Elvin Bearden, 1727 Purdue.

The father, mother and baby rabbits, nestled in baskets of flowers and grass were created by the refreshment and entertainment committee. Those participating were Pamela Ham, Bill Davis, Jo Faris and Walter Volght.

The evening was spent in table games and contests of egg rolling, sack races and relays. Andrea Askins presented the devotion for the 16 members and six guests present.

Texas Vacation Spots Compiled For Club

Vacationing spots in Texas were highlighted at the Thursday evening meeting of the Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, when it met in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Nails, 1404 E. 18th.

Mrs. Loretta Cook and Mrs. Mitchell outlined the map of Texas, showing the most famous vacation spots. Pamphlets were given to members with descriptions and pictures showing the recreational facilities available each place.

Mrs. Frank Perry was in charge of the business session, and the new district by-laws were read by Mrs. Glyn Mitchell and approved by the members. Secret pal names were drawn, and members were reminded to attend the district meeting in Andrews April 11.

Ten members were served refreshments from a white lace-covered table, accented with a spring bouquet of orange flowers.

The next meeting will be April 22 in the home of Mrs. Robert Rogers, 1309 Tingle.

Romance Reigns With Vintage Glass Globes

Romance reigns in lighting fixtures and lamps, which hark back to the elaborate Victorian age and the gaslight era. Vintage Victorian is reinterpreted for modern homes in soft decorative lighting accessories. Vintage glass globes are the big news in these lamps, which add a charming Old World flavor to any room.

One attractive chandelier, a solid brass oval with an antique finish, sports six post lantern globes. A gunmetal ceramic shaft combines with Old Bronze metal accents in a 32-inch high lamp shaded by a frosted globe in a Victorian mood.

Dual globes of pebbly opaque glass supported by an antique green figurine metal base highlight an atmospheric Victorian-type lamp. Another has a milk glass shade on a hammered brass base. The romantic gaslight era is coming back into modern homes, after returning to several million American suburban streets, the American Gas Association reports. The gas lamps are appearing in homes in both suburbs and cities.

The fad started when a Southern gas company put up a few antique gas lights. These attracted so much attention, the firm had copies manufactured. Now there are a dozen firms supplying the old lights, which are glowing in streets all over the country. Homeowners now want them for garden lighting and also for indoors. In the Society Hill section of Philadelphia, Benjamin Franklin lanterns are being installed over old and new globe style street lamps.

Women Aid Education

Charles Lemaesquier, 95-year-old dean of the Academie Francaise, reported here that men, because of women, never stop learning. "I have just taught myself Spanish," he reported. "I had to, because the only maid I could find to care for my home is Spanish, and she has no time or intention to study French."

Mother's Desire Aids Daughter

PALMA DE MATORCA, Spain — Lolita Rabot, 47, was unhappy because 21-year-old daughter Pascuala was content to work as a maid instead of improving her position through education. Senora Rabot therefore entered school herself and took the girl with her. Now both mother and daughter speak English and French sufficiently well to work as desk clerks in luxury hotels.

Romantic Styling Used In Furniture

The "romantic" styling of new upholstered furniture puts the accent roundly on comfort and curves. Squashier seating needs no plumping-up with springy latex foam rubber underpinnings. Contemporary designs are softer, and traditional is less ornate. Result... an "established" look, typically 1965.

Engaged

The engagement of Miss Pamilla Rene McKinnon to Kenneth Sales is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray S. McKinnon, Elbow Community. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sales of Forsan. The Rev. Mack Alexander will perform the ceremony June 6 in the Central Baptist Church.

Fashion Rings Sparkle Hands

Rings are still an emblem of high fashion and are being worn in an almost infinite variety of designs and styles. Large, dramatic and impressive rings play a dominant role in every jewelry display. Multi-colored rings are center stage, with high-pronged settings and dome-shaped rings the favorites.

More Homes Featuring Art Objects

Today's home is better decorated, art-wise, than any in history.

No longer are the works of top artists reserved only for the palaces of the rich or for museums they may leave them to. Almost any home can have a lithograph by Buffet, a print by Picasso, a woodcut by Dali, a drawing by Rembrandt.

Dealers in art at long last have recognized the mass market, after representatives of it sought them out and persuaded them it is better to have the art displayed and sold at the consumer level than to hoard it in galleries where too many people are afraid to visit.

Organized Closets Are Dressing Help

If you keep your closet well organized you will find that you can dress much more quickly. Keep all your clothes except furs in transparent bags so that they can be easily located in the morning rush for work.

Blue Cheese Zest

Cut a loaf of French bread into slices but not all the way through to the bottom crust. Spread the cuts generously with a mixture of butter and blue cheese; heat just before serving. This combination is particularly delicious with beef.

MRS. ARCHIE BUTLER

Exotic Orchids Grow In Butlers' Garden

BI ELAINE CLARK
 Mrs. Archie Butler, a "pretty prairie flower" with a knack for growing beautiful orchids, lives at 1902 Goliad. Sliding glass doors open from her den into a roomy, fragrant greenhouse filled with lush, verdant plants. Philodendron, carnations, geraniums, begonias, avocado trees, grapefruit trees, date palms and many different bedding plants are in containers on tables and shelves. Clinging to the wall and overhanging the doorway, is a beautiful vine called a "passion flower." This produces blossoms in white and lavender, so perfectly formed that they appear to be artificial. The phalaenopsis, her favorite orchid plant, one that she started from a seed, produced 20 blossoms during January and February. The blooms last for weeks and weeks. It is now starting to put out new spikes and this was only the second time for this plant to bloom.

ORCHIDS ARE HARDY
 "Orchids are the toughest, hardest plants to raise," she said. "They require basically the same conditions that humans do." Mrs. Butler explained that they need warmth, light and humidity, and that the light from a window is enough to raise some varieties. As an example of how hardy orchid plants are and how they can go for months without water, she told of a plant that had been mounted on a board for eight months and shipped to this country from South America. When it was put in a warm humid atmosphere it sprouted and began to grow. Orchid seeds are so tiny that some pods contain three million seeds. These are planted in flasks of agar solution, stoppered and left for six to nine months. When they have sprouted, twenty plants are put into a two or three inch "community" pot until strong enough to pot separately. Being epiphytes, they are grown in redwood bark or tree fern rather than in soil. She feels that orchids are less trouble to grow because they only have to be potted every two years, and most other plants have to be potted every three to four months. There are over 150 varieties of orchids in North America, and one species, unintentionally introduced into this country, grows so abundantly in Florida that it is considered a weed. They vary in price from a 25 cent seedling to the Vanda Nelie Morley, a strawberry red plant that sold at auction for $1,400. Mrs. Butler is a member of the American Orchid Society and the Permian Basin Orchid Society. Her husband is interested in her flowers and accompanies her to many of the shows. She was surprised to find that there are more members than women in clubs all over the country. Among the 20 or more orchid plants in her greenhouse she has cattleya, that range in shades of white to red and bronze, dendrobium, or the spray type, and phalaenopsis, the most common type. Some are white with red lips. Also there is the Phaius, which is a specific genus.

HUSBAND HELPS
 Mrs. Butler's husband, Archie, works in the micro wave and electronic section of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. They have five children, Mark, 7, Rodney, 6, Steven, 4, Kimberly, 3, and Todd, 2. Life with a family of active youngsters is always busy, but it became even more so when four youngsters took the mumps when they were on a recent weekend trip to Dallas, and all five had them within a month. "I'm blessed with friends who paint," she explained as she proudly displayed a beautiful oil painting of brilliant sunflowers on burlap. This, and a glowing still life in blues and purples, were gifts from Mrs. Ira Raley. A vibrant-hued study of fruit and flowers was painted by Mrs. Edgar Standefer of Lenora. Mrs. Butler was born and reared in Stanton and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Laird, now live in Lybia. She is president of the Howard County Unit of the American Cancer Society. The Butlers attend church at the Hillcrest Baptist. They enjoy fishing, gardening and handicraft. A family project, an eight-foot bench, has a sturdy wooden frame with a hand woven cover of binder's twine in a pattern that looks much like that of a cane chair. The inside is planned for storage. Among her many homemaking skills she enjoys cooking, sewing and does china painting.

TRYOUTS SET FOR TODAY

Mrs. Norman Spencer, director of the Big Spring Little Theatre's next production, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," is urging adults and teenagers to attend tryouts for the play today. The session will be held in the Prairie Playhouse in City Park at 3 p.m., and the play is scheduled to open May 14.

Rugs Bring New Art

TORONTO (AP)—If a food is good for you, says an expert on nutrition, it's not necessarily true that more is even better. If you are normally healthy, few foods will do you harm unless you eat too much of them.

"In our society people should be well-fed," says Mrs. Garnet Brooks, nutritionist with the Visiting Homemakers Association in Toronto.

"Yet in our work, we find both under- and over-nutrition. People think that if a little of something is good, more is a lot better. Your body can only utilize so much food value in a day."

"We tell low income families particularly, that if a child only needs the vitamin content of a four-ounce glass of orange juice, there is no need to give him more."

Mrs. Brooks says that from the point of view of both nutrition and economy women should shop carefully, especially since 20 to 25 per cent of a family income is spent on food.

"Women should give a little more thought to meal planning and shop with a list. Women are great impulse shoppers. If you have a list, you're likely to stick to it."

ELMO PHILLIPS GREETSS MISS TEXAS

Miss Texas Winner In Two Categories

In keeping with the saying "Pretty is as pretty does," Miss Sharon McCauley, Miss Texas of 1965, is a winner in both categories. Gracious and charming, she said that the traveling, personal appearances and entertaining is all pleasure for her.

"I'm a natural born ham, and wouldn't trade this experience for anything in the world," she laughed.

When she was named "Most Beautiful on Campus" at Texas Christian University, her home town of Athens presented a pageant in her honor. She won the Miss Texas title in the contest in Fort Worth.

Miss McCauley's mother travels with her, helping with her wardrobe and giving moral support, but remains out of the spotlight. When asked her father's reaction to her winning the contest she said, "He's still on Cloud Number 9, and so excited you'd think he won the title."

Packing and unpacking was said to be the biggest problem of her appearances. She often needs several formal gowns for Today's world famous artists are designing brilliantly original rugs for your home.

Just recently, carpet manufacturers have enlisted the talents of noted textile designers and artists. Their emphasis is on artistic excellence.

This bodes a new era of artful elegance in decorating. If you believe in art for art's sake, you might use one of these rugs as a wall hanging. If you prefer to combine art and utility, these designs can serve either as a starting point for a decorating plan or as a catalyst to unite or augment existing decor.

In an apartment with white walls and black tiled floor, one artist used a stunning carpet, a rainbow of contemporary geometric designs on a bright red background. This same style and color scheme was used to create the decor, achieving a warmly handsome look in the modern trend.

One living room, though pleasant, held no particular eye-interest. Walls and draperies were pale beige, wall-to-wall carpeting was brown, unpatterned, the sofa was brown and the chairs beige.

A decorator suggested an area rug with beige background and pumpkin-colored flowers with brown centers artfully splashed throughout the design. The original room colors are united here, and the added zest of an accent color brings this room to life.

This type of single purchase performs many wonders.

Pair Pledges Nuptial Vows

The Kentwood Methodist Church was the scene Thursday evening for the wedding of Miss Cheryl Ann Jones and Ronald Dean Gillihan. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Jones, North Birdwell Lane, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Gillihan, 1603 Lancaster.

The altar was flanked by baskets of white Snowshoe gladioli and Albatross spider pompon chrysanthemums and emerald foliage. Candelabra holding cathedral tapers completed the setting.

The bride wore a pink street-length wedding dress. The full skirt was of pink chiffon over net, and the bodice of pink lace featured long fitted sleeves and a scooped neckline. Her headdress was a pink net Siamese crown tapering in the back and sprinkled with pink blossoms. Pink satin slippers completed the costume. She carried a bouquet of pink roses atop a white Bible backed with pink tulle and satin leaves and tied with matching French picot ribbon. The Bible was carried by the bride's mother at her wedding.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Deborah Carole Jones attended her sister as maid of honor, and Miss Lu Ann Stroup was the bridesmaid. They were dressed in identical blue chiffon dresses featuring long, full sleeves and scooped necklines bound in blue satin. The head-dresses were blue and identical to the bride's. Each carried a colonial bouquet of Albatross spider pompon chrysanthemums and Wedgewood Blue irises with matching satin streamers.

John Dorton attended the bridegroom as best man, and Waylan Gillihan attended his cousin as groomsmen.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the rites were performed by the Rev. Marvin James.

Immediately following the ceremony, the wedding reception was held in the Jones' home. The table was covered with an ecru linen cutwork cloth, and the centerpiece was of white gladioli, irises and chrysanthemums accented with leather fern. The three-tiered wedding cake dominated one end of the table, and a crystal punch bowl was placed at the other end.

Mrs. Ross Smith, sister of the bridegroom, served the cake, and Miss Judy Phillippe presided at the punch bowl. Guests were registered by Miss Tanis Hogue at a table graced with a nosegay-style arrangement of pink and blue carnations.

Approximately 40 guests registered. Those attending from out of town were Mrs. Gus Kuehn Sr., Olney; Mrs. Marvin Jones Sr., Wichita Falls; Mrs. F. E. Moser, Dallas; Mrs. J. L. Haight and Mrs. R. L. Templeton, both of Fort Worth; Mrs. William Byrd and children, Midland; and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Smith and Jada, Sweetwater.

WEDDING TRIP

After a short wedding trip to Abilene, the couple will be at home at 1603 Lancaster until the bridegroom completes his studies at Big Spring High School. The bride was a mid-term graduate of the senior high school here.

Firemen Battle Rural Fires Too

By PRESTON MAYNARD

Each year Howard County pays the City of Big Spring $6,000 for fire protection outside the city limits, and this week Big Spring firemen were credited with saving one county resident some $10,000 in possible fire loss.

Firemen, who arrived about 10 minutes after a fire was reported eight miles north of the city, at the residence of W. J. (Junior) Ringener, near the Fairview Gin, broke through a rear door of the house to stop the blaze only moments after arriving.

LOWER LOSS

The fire could have destroyed the house had it not been stopped quickly, Fire Chief H. V. Crocker pointed out, and the loss could have amounted to some $20,000. Instead, he said the loss would probably amount to about half that figure.

About one-fifth of all calls made by the fire department during a year are outside the city limits, Crocker said, or $6 calls last year. A total of 1,529 miles were traveled outside the city limits.

Already this year, the department has made 16 calls outside the city.

The county calls range from house fires, similar to those inside the city, to barn, tractor, oil field, gin, cotton and hay fires.

"If there is a tank or a cistern nearby, we can fight any fire just about like we would inside the city," Fire Marshal A. D. Meador pointed out. Where the water supply is limited, firemen may have a more difficult time, however.

BOOSTER

The department normally sends a booster truck and three firemen from the central station, with the truck carrying 750 gallons of water. The equipment includes 300 feet of one-inch hose, and 600 feet of one and a half-inch hose.

Two other booster trucks are held in reserve by the department for county calls.

"A bad grass fire to a rancher or a farmer means money to him," Meador emphasized. "And 15 acres destroyed by fire is a lot of pastureland."

This is the worst time of the year for grass or prairie fires outside the city, the fire officials stressed.

"The green grass that's coming up will burn just as badly as the dry grass will," Crocker said. "There's just not enough moisture in it."

Meador cautioned that county

Shows Where Fire Started

W. J. Ringener points to where a fire Wednesday afternoon began in a heater closet at his home eight miles north of Big Spring. Big Spring firemen who arrived shortly after the fire was reported extinguished the blaze in time to prevent the fire from destroying the residence.

Residents should never go to bed at night leaving something burning or smoldering. He said this was a particular danger since farmers and ranchers often need to burn materials or rubbish.

WINDY DAY

"They should never burn anything on a windy day," Crocker said.

If a fire starts in a house, the occupants should close every door and window if possible, Meador pointed out, to keep the fire from getting air until firemen arrive. The fire at the Ringener residence was partially prevented from spreading throughout the house by heavy storm windows on the house, which sealed off additional air, Crocker pointed out.

The number one hazard and cause of fires, both inside or outside the city, remains cigarette smoking, Meador emphasized.

"In the first three months of 1965 the fire loss for Big Spring has exceeded the $100,000-mark," Meador pointed out. "More than $75,000 of this loss was caused by careless smoking. There are more than one billion cigarettes smoked in the United States every day," he said. "All of them are potential fire hazards."

SMOKING

Smoking in bed or while one dozes in a chair, smoking in an attic, closet or other confined places, or using small ash trays are some of the hazards involved from cigarettes, he said.

"Emptying ash trays in a waste paper basket before the butt is out or smoking around inflammable materials are two big hazards," he said. "One should be sure a cigarette is out before discarding it."

"Let's put a stop to these fire losses by being careful with cigarette smoking," Meador said. "If we do this our fire losses will be a lot less and our homes a lot safer."

"It's human carelessness, not simply cigarettes, that is the number one fire hazard," Meador said. "With more care we can get our good fire record back."

SOCIAL SECURITY

Police, Firemen To Vote Tuesday

Police and fire personnel of the City of Big Spring will vote Thursday on adoption of Social Security for the two departments.

About 100 city employees will be involved in the referendum, which was scheduled for April 15 by the State Department of Public Welfare.

City Awards Recognized

A picture and story concerning Big Spring's city exceptional service awards, made in February to nine employees, has been included in the March issue of "Texas Town and City," a publication of the Texas Municipal League.

The magazine noted that the cash awards totaled $510, with the highest amount going to R. D. Hale, supervisor of the public works field office garage.

Following Hale's promotion to the job, the magazine reported, efficiency increased while manpower received a decrease, resulting in a $400 monthly saving to the city.

In another item, the magazine noted the use of car air conditioning by Big Spring's Police Department. The magazine reported that the city began purchasing the units after a survey compared cars without air conditioning, operated during the summer of 1963, and cars with the units, during the 1964 summer, with higher mileage traveled and less average gasoline consumption reported for the cars with air conditioning. Also cited were better appearance and mental attitude by police officers.

Squares Build A Club Hall

Four years ago a 50 by 50-foot concrete slab was poured just off the Big Spring Country Club road. During one summer the Big Spring Squares danced on the slab with the sky as a roof. The foundation for the present building was poured the next spring.

Shortly afterward two members, Joe Connally and Harold Graves put up the first brick on the southwest corner. Many members then spent two Sunday afternoons each month raising the brick wall and, after the day's work had barbecue on the grounds.

The Big Spring Squares, called on again this year for the street dance on the night before the annual rodeo starts, are proud of their club building. But it is only half completed.

At 2:30 p.m. this Sunday afternoon, a work session has been called for all members of the club.

A hardwood floor was put down by the members in January, 1964. During the past winter, temporary rest rooms were built, and they will be enclosed in the corner when the building is completed.

All work has been done by the members, a few of whom have put in a lot of hours during the four years. Best of all, everything is paid for and the building belongs to the club members.

The money was raised through club dances, two box suppers, three door prizes, a rummage sale and a bake sale.

Graves, club caller, said he would be starting a beginner class for square dancers at the YMCA—adults only—April 15. It will be sponsored by the YMCA and the Squares. Everyone is invited to join the class, he said.

"The Big Spring Squares invite spectators to visit our club dances any first and third Saturday night," he concluded.

A Devotional For The Day

Crowds of people carpeted the road with their cloaks. (Matthew 21:8, NEB)
PRAYER: O Lord, as we express to Thee our love, teach us to do it in humble sacrifice. May we be wholly Thine, and willing to express our love by offering Thee our best. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Target For Tidying

Now that springtime seems safely entrenched, thoughts turn naturally to tidying our places, and thus our city.

The first logical step is that of the traditional cleanup, and we have no doubt that these plans will mature in short order. Considerable interest can and should be generated in this venture to the end that the accumulation of winter trash will be hauled away.

Whatever can be done to stimulate individual pride and responsibility certainly should be done, but there are some areas in which a combination of private and public action will be required.

For instance, there is a stretch of territory along North Twelfth Street which needs attacking in the most urgent sort of way. On the side of the south frontage road of Interstate 20 from Lamesa Highway to the Snyder Highway is in general a desolate and ugly scene. Perhaps much of this property was not maintained or allowed to deteriorate because it was recognized its days of use as residential area were numbered with coming of the interstate highway.

Time will correct much of this problem for gradually the strip may be converted into commercial areas. But we cannot afford to wait for nature to take its course on this, for every day thousands of motorists pass on IS 20 and as they look toward Big Spring, the glimpse they get is — with few exceptions — one of ruins, junk, and clutter.

Perhaps, with encouragement, most property owners will demolish old structures and move the materials away; or will tidy up their present materials and abodes. It would certainly be to their advantage. For those who will not, the city should be prepared to step in with a militant use of its hazardous ordinance and get the job done.

Turn Aside

During this week as Christian people move rapidly toward the climax of renewed hope and faith at Easter, time should be set aside for meditation and inspiration.

The Big Spring Pastors Association has made this more convenient for many by arranging a series of brief services during the noon hour. It will be infinitely worth your while to turn apart for 20 minutes at 12:30 p.m. daily at the First Methodist Church.

If you cannot share in this devotion, then carve out time of your own for private meditation.

Finally, plan to be in your place in your church on Easter. Many people grow erratic or careless in church attendance, and Easter is a wonderful time for renewal of vows and loyalty. Nothing could sustain us more than to experience a quickening of our spirituality during this holy season.

Alabama Boycott Could Be Illegal

WASHINGTON — Unfamiliarity with the laws of the land is certainly widespread in America today. The mere fact that certain leaders of Negro organizations have proclaimed an intention to call for a "boycott" by the public of all products manufactured in Alabama tells only part of the story. For what is not generally realized is that there are certain legal consequences which can flow from such an attempt to injure the businesses of private individuals. Not only are damage suits possible to recover any losses, but the Sherman Anti-Trust Act forbids all combinations or conspiracies "in restraint of trade" that may occur in interstate commerce.

UNQUESTIONABLY, in the case of a boycott of products made in Alabama and sold outside the state, interstate commerce is affected, and it is apparent that a combination of persons would be involved. Also, if any companies act in concert not to purchase goods from that state, they could be held liable and suffer penalties under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled that the making of an actual agreement between members of such a combination is not always necessary to bring about a violation of the anti-trust law. The agreement may be implied—just so long as the result is a concerted action to boycott particular companies or their products.

THE COURTS have also held that the word "boycott" itself could imply a threat to certain individuals or companies if they refused to comply with the demands made upon them. The Constitution provides for the protection of individual rights. A person's business is entitled to protection from all unlawful interference, and damages can be imposed by courts if injury to a business can be proved.

The device of the "boycott" has, of course, been used by labor unions, and in certain respects it is lawful. This, however, concerns a dispute between an employer and his own employees. Picketing, moreover, is limited, and, while pickets may carry signs claiming a business is unfair to its employees and urging others not to patronize it, this does not mean that the same pickets can actually prevent sales of goods.

THERE HAS BEEN in recent years a trend toward the outlawing of "secondary boycotts." This involves boycotts of the business of third parties—companies, for example, which buy goods from employers who are engaged in disputes with their workers. Interference of this kind with the business of third parties is punishable.

Broadly speaking, the law does not protect general boycotts which can injure innocent persons. The Constitution stipulates that no one shall be deprived of property "without due process of law." A nationwide boycott instituted against products manufactured in a particular state and sold outside that state would, therefore, certainly come into conflict with the federal laws. Innumerable damage suits probably could be filed against organizations and individuals instigating or participating in such boycotts.

THESE LEGAL obstacles may be one of the reasons why there has been a tendency in the last few days to soft-pedal the boycott idea. President Johnson himself has let it be known that he thinks it would be unwise for the Negro organizations to attempt to apply that kind of pressure. For, obviously, if businesses in Alabama become hurt and unemployment results, Negroes as well as whites would suffer the loss of jobs or incomes. The federal government itself then would have to supply funds for the relief of those who are forced out of their jobs.

Billy Graham

My business is so successful that I've made a great deal of money, and should be happy but I have so much to do it's driving me mad. Can you help me? D. C.

The Bible says: "Lay not up for yourselves treasure upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: But lay up for yourselves treasure in heaven." (Matthew 6:19, 20). You took one step in the right direction when you admitted that money didn't bring you happiness. Now take another. Begin tomorrow on your knees. Thank God for the day, and for work to do. Ask God to tell you what is important, and take time to listen for His answer. When you get to your store or office make a list of the things you intended to do. Then check the tasks that someone else could perform, and immediately arrange to have them cared for. Next begin your work slowly, doing first things first. Stop every hour and send a flash prayer to God. You'll be surprised at how much more you can accomplish with His help.

Now add to the list something you can do to lift the load of a friend, or a person in need. Take time to make someone else happy. Never be too busy for that. God has given you plenty of hours. Surrender them all to Him and you'll find the peace and happiness which is the deepest longing of your heart.

Dollar Off The See-Saw—But Only Maybe

The London Economist has a comforting headline: "Dollar Off The See-saw?"

It would be more reassuring if supported by data showing that the American balance-of-payments deficit had disappeared. That's far from the case. A mile race isn't run in the first hundred yards.

The Economist declares that fears about the dollar have subsided because of the "aggressive way" American businessmen curbed exports of dollars in response to President Johnson's appeal to their patriotism. Then it goes on to say that "such success is decidedly a two-way sword."

The Economist leaps from one worry, too many dollars, to another, too few. This it calls the "illiquidity spiral."

Because the United States has, at least temporarily, stopped spewing dollars around the world, the Economist fears that the world will run short of reserves. Dollars won't continue to supplement gold as an expanding base for international economic growth. International industrial expansion will be reined in.

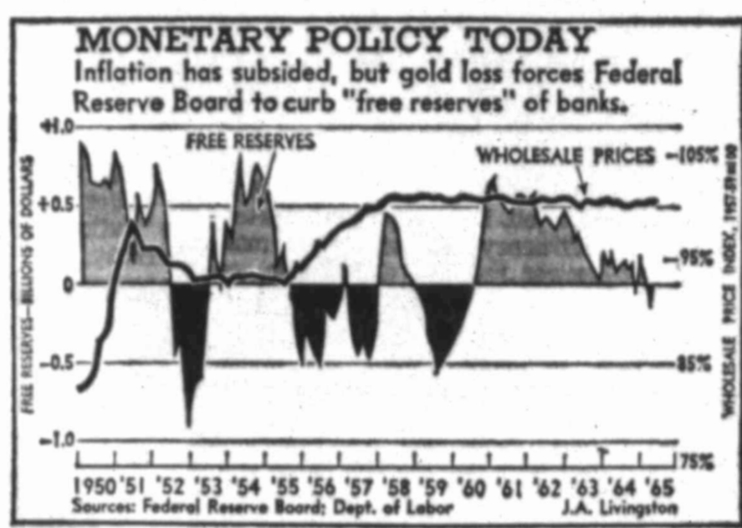

To me, this is counting chickens before they're hatched and treating the pip before the eggs have left the hatchery.

IS IT SIGNIFICANT?

Fundamentally an unquestionable — and here The Economist is right — the dollar is a strong currency.

It cites a study by Walter Salant, of the Brookings Institution, which shows that in recent years the nation's banks and industrial firms have increased short-term rather than long-term assets as an offset to U. S. liabilities. This represents a change to the better side of the ledger. But it is not of current significance.

These short-term assets do not belong to the U. S. Treasury. They cannot be commandeered to defend the dollar if other nations demand gold. As a reserve currency, supplementing gold, the dollar must be strong in its own right — day-in, day-out, year-in, year-out.

Thus, the key question is still unanswered: Will the United States eliminate the excess dollar outflow? The voluntary restraint program so far has worked well. Corporations have curbed capital exports. Banks have restricted foreign loans. The interest rate on 3-month dollar deposits in London has gone up a full percentage point from about 4 1/2 per cent in September to 5 1/2 per cent last month. Now, it's down a bit. The rise indicates a substantial flowback of funds to American banks and perhaps corporations.

JOHNSON NOT MASTER

Yet, a two- or three-month return flow isn't enough. Foreign central bankers must be sure that dollars will be as good as gold in 1966 and 1967 as well as 1965. They want to be shown that this country can reconcile — offset — its expanding political and military commitments with expanding economic earning power abroad.

President Johnson's promise of economic assistance to Southeast Asia demonstrates the ramifications of the problem. He has to respond to actions of the Soviet Union, Communist China, North Viet Nam, wherever they are, including West Berlin.

Around The Rim

He Never Stopped Looking Ahead

If it is true, as has been written, that "young men shall have visions and old men shall dream dreams," then Gene Spence left this world a young man.

Throughout the years I have known him — and they were many — he never stopped looking ahead. This is a facet which dominated his character, and one I shall remember, along with the comradeship of friendly hours, so many of which were spent in his warm hospitality.

HE WAS A city manager doggedly pulling this little municipality out of the trials of depression days when I first came to Big Spring. I was immediately caught up in the embrace of his friendship.

In those days he was looking ahead for Big Spring: How to improve it, how to develop it, how to meet its needs, not only for tomorrow but for coming years. He worked for parks, for paving, for better public facilities of all kinds; and most of all, for water.

MOSS CREEK and Powell Lakes came along through his foresight, at a time when the town desperately needed them. They may seem insignificant now, but they were life-savers in their day.

Later on, of course, he went full time into the water business, in service to his state and subsequently the Colorado River Municipal Water District. And so water became his guiding beacon, and he never ceased to think about it, to talk about it, to plan for it, to envision the long-range need of it.

AH, THE TALK of it. We spent many a late evening in his back yard — a place he loved — and as the day grew to dusk there would come rolling from his tongue a recital of his activities for water and more water. If there were a small crowd about his effervescent wife would admonish, "Gene, you're talking too much about water." "I just want to bring Bob up to date on this," he would reply, and off he'd go again.

There were other things to make the man, of course. One, his part in the ever-present conviviality of the Spence home. He relished the role of host — in the summers holding sway over the barbecue grill; in the winters graciously presiding with carving knife at a laden table.

ANOTHER, HIS tremendous devotion to the professional approach. He was extremely proud of his engineering profession, felt that no man in the field had fulfilled his training until he had become a registered engineer. He preached this to every young man with whom he came in contact. Study, he said; work, he said; achieve your professional status, he said.

Many people know of his ardent devotion to his alma mater, Texas A&M. I felt it was something more than that "Aggie spirit." I sensed he never forgot that his college gave him an education and launched him on a professional career, and that this was something to be grateful for and to encourage others to partake of.

WELL, AS IS known, his career was almost solely in the public service — for cities and counties, for state and water district. There could not have been abundant material returns; but certainly there must have been the satisfaction of service performed, of results achieved for the benefit of the public. I think Gene Spence garnered — and earned — his share of such satisfaction. I know he never quit looking ahead. There was always something bigger to do, he was always ready to tackle it.

Johnson Spells Out U.S. Position

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has taken a long step toward persuading opinion around the world that the United States does not want to expand the war in Viet Nam.

The speech at Johns Hopkins was overdue. But now that it has been given, its broad sweep should convince all but those who prefer to believe otherwise that this country is willing to go a long way to restore peace and well-being to a shattered land.

WHETHER THE proposals the President makes for a broad program of aid have come in time is the nagging question. Attitudes have hardened on both sides. Bombing in the North has contributed to the hardening process, as have such acts of savage terrorism as the attack on the American Embassy in Saigon.

The President said that he believes that while air strikes alone will not achieve the preservation of an independent Viet Nam, he considers them a necessary part of "the surest road to peace."

THE FINAL SCORE will not be known for some time. Whether what amounts to a hand held out directly to North Viet Nam, far more specifically than in the hint of a week ago, will meet with a response is the great uncertainty. Part of the peril of this moment is that Hanoi is a great unknown.

The idea of a TVA in the Mekong Delta has been around for many years. The potential has always been there for uniting the peoples living in that great rich area if only the impetus had come in technical and economic assistance.

STEPS ARE BEING taken now that could have made a world of difference only a short time ago. A team of five specialists from the rural electric cooperatives in this country are going out to Viet Nam to conduct a study on whether a similar cooperative electric system is feasible there. They will spend 90 days determining whether light and power can be brought to Vietnamese farms, as it was in America.

One may say better late than never. The President could not have found a better man to inaugurate an aid program, which he says is to begin at the earliest possible moment, regardless of the war, than Eugene Black. As former head of the World Bank he showed not only imagination but a true respect for the realities of development in underdeveloped nations. Black will inspire confidence that this is not to be a crash propaganda program.

THE WHITE HOUSE makes clear that negotiations can go on without a cease-fire and without pre-conditions. To this last there is one exception—there will be no negotiation with the National Liberation Front, which presumes to speak for the Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam. Red China's Premier, Chou En-lai, has just conveyed word through the United Nations Secretary General, U Thant, that the only possible negotiation is with the Viet Cong.

THE AMERICAN view is that since the direction of the war in the South and most of the material aid come from the North, the only possible negotiation is with Hanoi. It comes down, therefore, to whether Hanoi is an independent power or whether it is under the authority of Peking. The answer should not be long in coming. If Peking calls the tune, accord with Chou En-lai's dictum, then the war will go on to the bitter and relentless end. The airfields around Hanoi are the next immediate target. The interval of waiting for a possible response from the North may not be long.

Industrial Cloak And Dagger

WASHINGTON — Industrial espionage or the art of spying on other American companies has become a multi-million dollar business. A recent Harvard Business Review survey revealed that industrial espionage was discovered by 27 per cent of all the companies interviewed and everyone admitted it was on the increase.

It opens up a whole new world for spies.

HARVEY SICKLES, agent 8-1/2, is having tea with his superior, Mr. X. "8-1/2, this could be your most dangerous case. The Coldfinger Capsule Co. has just perfected a new pill that will give people six months of relief from one cold. The Impact Pill people have to have the formula or they'll be destroyed. I don't care how you get the secret, but I want it here by Monday."

"I've got you, chief."

"Be careful, 8-1/2. Coldfinger's a killer. He has a nose spray that is worse than anything they've been using in Viet Nam."

THE NEXT evening Sickles arrives at the apartment of Miss Mairys Doats, a luscious, sporting blonde intimate of the famous spy.

Sickles takes her in his arms. "Don't kiss me, darling. I've got a cold," she says huskily.

"Why do you think I'm here?" Sickles says, before pressing his lips on hers.

HE KISSES HER for a full minute. Mairys Doats swoons. "Let me get into something more comfortable."

"I can't, baby," Sickles says sneezing. "I'm on a case."

He leaves the perplexed Mairys Doats on the couch, jumps into his Astin-Marton, and drives to the laboratory of the Coldfinger Capsule Co. A light is on in the laboratory and Dr. Felicia Oomph is bent over his microscope.

SICKLES ENTERS and the doctor, startled, looks up. "What do you want?"

"I'm a man and you're a woman," Sickles says, not wanting to frighten her. "I want to ask you one question, doctor. Have you ever been kissed by a man, really kissed?"

The doctor takes off her glasses and she's beautiful.

"No, I never have. I'm afraid of men."

"Why?"

"BECAUSE OF their germs. Men carry around millions and millions of germs."

"But I love you," Sickles says. "I love you, too," Dr. Oomph says, pressing his hand. "But you've got a cold and I'm afraid."

"Perhaps you could give me something for it, and then I could kiss you."

"The only thing I have is CI-83-06-N7. It won't cure the cold, but it will give you instant relief. Here, take one now and one every six months."

"THANK YOU, Felicia. Gosh, I feel like a new man."

"You can kiss me now," Dr. Oomph says.

He kisses her. Then he pretends to blow his nose. The ordinary handkerchief is a secret radio transmitter and Sickles broadcasts the formula to Mr. X.

Dr. Oomph starts taking off her smock, but Mr. X says, "Return immediately, 8-1/2. We need you on a toothpaste case right away."

Choir Members Launch Twin Fund Drives

Choir members from Big Spring High School, Goliad Junior High and Runnels Junior High, have new school sweat shirts on hand to be sold in school lunch rooms next week. Each has the school colors and name.

The students are also conducting a survey to see how many new street numbers are to be painted on curbs in front of residences in the city.

Sweat shirts will cost $2.95 each and the house numbers will be painted for $1 each.

Funds from the two projects are to be used for payment on the balance due on choir robes for Goliad and Runnels junior high choirs, for the senior choir tour, and other events scheduled by the choirs.

The Choir Boosters, organized to aid activities of all choirs, have secured new robes for both junior high choirs, and both are wearing these for the first time this year.

The three choirs will be presented in concert April 26, when all will appear in robes.

New Numbers, New Sweat Shirts

Filing Cases Are Outmoded

John D. Hensbee of Wichita Falls, southwestern manager of dealer sales for the Remington Rand Office System, briefed members of the American Business Club at their luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel on the sophisticated equipment being used in large business and governmental offices today to store records.

More and more concerns, Hensbee said, were turning to retrievable equipment through which attendants can recover indexed records in a matter of seconds.

Thanks to micro-film, Hensbee said, mountains of records can be stored in areas smaller than the desks where the businessmen sit.

"Much has happened to improve the maintenance of records since the old filing cabinet first came into use," the speaker told his listeners.

Hensbee illustrated his talk with a colored film authorized by his company entitled "A New Concept."

Hensbee was introduced to the gathering by Gordon Myrick, program chairman for the day. Jim Button was introduced as a guest.

Several members of the ABC Club left Saturday morning for Hobbs, N. M., where a regional convention of Ambucus is taking place.

YOUR INCOME TAX Costs Are Deductible If They Are Required

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Big Spring office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. — Is it true that profits on the sale of your personal residence are not taxable if the sale price was $20,000 or under and you sold it on or after your 65th birthday?

A. — Yes, it's true, if on or after your 65th birthday, you sold property owned and used by you as your personal residence for at least five of the last eight years. You may elect not to be taxed when the sales figure is $20,000 or under. If the sales price is over $20,000, part of the gain may have to be included in income.

Q. — I'm a teacher and have to keep taking courses to keep my job. Can these costs be deducted on my return?

A. — Yes, they can if the courses are required by your employer as a condition of your employment, or if they are taken primarily to maintain or improve skills required in performing your present duties. Educational expenses are not deductible when they are incurred to obtain a promotion or another position.

Q. — I do not owe any taxes this year. Do I still have to file a return?

A. — Whether you owe any taxes or not is not the determining factor in deciding if you have to file a return. A return is required when certain income levels are reached. If your income was $600 or more, or $1,200 if you are 65 or older, you must file. If you have self-employment income of $400 or more you must file a return and pay self-employment tax.

Q. — Where can I get a copy of the table showing average sales tax deductions by income and family size?

A. — At any local Internal Revenue office.

Q. — I just received my refund check for 1964. Does this mean that my return has been accepted and that I no longer have to keep last year's tax records?

A. — Even though you have received a refund, your return may still be checked. As to your records, for most income and expense purposes they should be retained for a minimum of three years from the time your return was due to be filed. However, for some items, such as the sale of your old residence tax free due to the purchase of a new residence for instance, you should retain the records as long as they may be material in the administration of the tax laws.

Q. — How can I tell if my return will be audited?

A. — You really can't. Any return may be selected for audit. Some are selected because of the types or amounts of income and/or deductions reported. Still more are selected at random.

Q. — Aside from the mortgage on my home, what other home expenses may I deduct?

A. — Only the interest on your mortgage may be deducted. Other expenses that may be deducted are real estate taxes paid during the year, and the interest and sales tax you pay in connection with the purchase of items for your home.

Local assessments that improve the value of your property such as for sewers or sidewalks are not deductible. Water bills and other service charges are not deductible.

Check your tax instructions leaflet or the IRS booklet "Your Federal Income Tax" for some examples of what may be deducted.

Q. — Is the money I receive from my account with the credit union considered interest or dividends? How about dividends from a savings and loan institution?

A. — Payments from both types of institutions are treated as interest and are fully taxable.

Q. — My income was up last year and I may have to file a declaration of estimated tax. How can I tell for sure whether I do or not?

A. — The requirements for filing declarations are given on page 5 of your 1040 instructions.

In general, you should file a declaration of estimated tax if your total expected tax exceeds withholding by $40 or more, and either (1) income is expected to exceed $5,000 for an individual or $10,000 for a married couple filing jointly, head of household, or certain widows and widowers; or (2) when more than $200 of income comes from sources not subject to withholding (dividends, business profits, etc.).

Q. — How can I tell whether I can claim someone as a dependent?

A. — There are five tests that have to be met before a dependent can be claimed. These are income, support, married dependents, nationality and relationship. These tests are described in the 1040 instruction booklet.

Q. — How much can a working mother deduct for child care expenses?

A. — The deduction is for what you actually spent, with a maximum limit of $600 for one child under 13 and $900 for two or more dependent children under 13. Check your instruction booklet to see how this deduction is affected by the amount of your gross income.

Q. — Can I exclude all the pay I got when I was out sick or is some of it taxable?

A. — It depends on what percentage of your pay you received and whether you were hospitalized or not.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

One hundred sixty-two feet high and one hundred forty-seven feet wide Napoleon built his arch of triumph. Proudly it rises above the Place de l'Etoile reminding the world of an Emperor's early victories—and later defeats.

On the road from Bethphage to Jerusalem centuries before there had been another arch of triumph. Nature had fashioned it of palm trees. Beneath their bowing branches the Prince of Peace rode into the city that was to crucify Him.

Jesus, unlike Napoleon, never had need of a gigantic monument to help the world remember Him. The doors of a million churches bespeak His victory. Men pass through them not to gaze upon the majesty of carved stone, but to worship and serve the Son of God.

Napoleon bought for himself a transient glory at the price of other men's blood.

Jesus bought for All Men eternal life—at the price of His Own Blood!

Six Flags Opens Season April 16

Six Flags Over Texas will open its 1965 season at 10 a.m. April 16, according to Angus G. Wynne Jr., president of Great Southwest Corporation, owner-operators of the tourist attraction. For the opening weekend, April 16-18, the gates will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. A crew of about 150 specialists, ranging from landscape gardeners to builders and lighting engineers, have been engaged over the winter and early spring months in completing a $600,000 expansion program.

The Six Flags personnel department, which interviews thousands of applicants of college age each season for positions as hosts and hostesses, has settled on approximately 1,200 to begin the season. Another 400-500 personnel will be added when Six Flags commences daily operations May 29.

The bulk of the expenditures for this year is centered on expanding the park's historical value and landscaping. Other attractions have been added including a new ride named "El Sombrero" for the Mexican section. An aviary located in the animal kingdom, will be the new home of nearly 100 exotic birds recently imported from all over the world.

A true replica of one of America's most revered shrines, the Liberty Bell, has been obtained. Whitechapel Bell Foundries, Ltd. in England, who made the original bell in 1752, cast an exact replica from the same moulding pit in 1960. The bell, made of pure copper and tin, is 47 inches in diameter and weighs 2,016 pounds.

A rare and interesting collection of branding irons from many legendary ranches in Texas and the Southwest, will be displayed in the Texas section. Beginning April 23 and until May 28, Six Flags will be open only on Fridays from 5-11 p.m. and Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

LIZ ... as Cleopatra

Liz Looks A Lot Like Fabled Egyptian Queen

Historians concur that through the centuries the most famous and intriguing woman has been Cleopatra. The show "Cleopatra," is at the Jet today through Wednesday.

But unanimity ends when it comes to the appearance of the vaunted Queen of the Nile. Much has been written about her legendary beauty, but just how she looked is something else again.

Although she was pure Greek the most reliable image of her suggests that she had a Macedonian head with the profile much like the women of Smyrna, who were noted in that day for their comeliness.

A major authority on her is Carlo Maria Franzero, the contemporary Italian historian whose work, "The Life and Times of Cleopatra," was an important source of the screenplay of "Cleopatra," the epic which opens today at the Jet Theatre.

In his biography Franzero writes, "Her skin was naturally golden," the skin of those rare women into whom the sun has put its glow. Her eyes could, with her changeable moods, be grey pools or turn, in moments of passion, to that bluish mauve that is the blue of violets. But, in her commanding moments, her eyes had a strange, penetrating quality."

Cleopatra was not very tall.

Franzera adds. Her stature was girlish, lithe and supple. "The form that is at all ages so attractive and alluring. Her mouth was small, but not too small, large enough to have character and to promise sensuality, while the turn of her chin had a delightful roundness."

Elizabeth Taylor, who portrays the Egyptian Queen in "Cleopatra," co-starred with Richard Burton and Rex Harrison, bears a remarkable resemblance to this description.

Her eyes, like Cleopatra's, "reflect her mercurial moods. Their color can range from a clear, cool blue to a soft violet hue. Without words, she can say volumes with the intensity of her expression. As for her stature, she is small, with a figure at once mature and yet girlish in its movements."

Dailey Switches About Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — Dan Dailey has changed his mind about which show will bring him back to Broadway after 26 years' absence. Dailey is appearing in the lead role of "Catch Me If You Can," a comedy-mystery by Jack Weinstock and Willie Gilbert. The project takes priority over "The Plaster Bambino," a play about a con man which previously was announced to return Dailey to the stage next season.

Mills Brothers Sing Old Ones

By MARY CAMPBELL AP Newsfeatures Writer

When the Mills Brothers sing today seems to glide back into yesterday.

Among other groups big in the '30s and '40s — the Ink Spots, Modernaires, Merry Macks, Pied Pipers, Ames Brothers, Andrews Sisters — individual members have struck out alone, personnel has changed, partnerships have faded away.

But three brothers named Mills, Herb, 52, Harry, 51, and Don, 49, are still performing together, still singing the same songs they made famous a quarter century or more ago, in exactly the same "head arrangements" they worked out in Ohio.

Their night club act is full of the old songs, and Don Mills says if they try to substitute a new one, the audience yells for "Up a Lazy River," "You Always Hurt the One You Love," "Glow Worm," "Till Then," etc., etc., etc.

Enough of their songs have sold a million single records to fill two LPs. "The Mills Brothers Great Hits, Vol. 1 and Vol. 2."

"Tiger Rag" was their first recording, in 1928, and Don Mills can't remember the company they cut it for. In 1929 they started recording for Brunswick, which became Decca in 1934. Five years ago they went from Decca to Dot.

The Mills Brothers first heard "Lazy River" around 1926, on an Okeh Record by Louis Armstrong, recorded it in 1932 and re-recorded it in 1937. They re-recorded many of their songs a second time, after masters burned in a big Brunswick warehouse fire in Hartford, Conn.

"It's hard to determine our biggest record," Don Mills says. "At that time they weren't counting. But in later years 'Paper Doll' (which sold over two million) has sold more than anything else."

He recalls, "We were up in Syracuse one night and we went into a tavern where the piano was playing this song. We liked the melody so we tried to find out who the song belonged to. We found an old yellow sheet of the lead part, lyric and melody. It was written by Johnny Black of Hamilton, Ohio, 37 years before and the publishing firm was E. B. Marks. I called Marks to get a release and he said he didn't have any song by that name. I said he had better look on his shelf because I had a song here with his name on it. Sure enough, he found the copyright on his shelf. We re-recorded it in 1941 and it was released in 1942.

The Mills Brothers (who had three older sisters), started singing at home in Piqua and Bellefontaine, Ohio. They did their first radio show in 1922, when Don was 7, for the opening of Cincinnati station WLW, and returned in 1928 to do five shows a week.

With a new song, they'd do a "head arrangement," working out style and harmony by trial and error as they sang together. In later years, for recording with bands, the brothers would still get together, work out a head arrangement, sing it on tape and send it to the record company's arranger to do the instrumental background.

From Cincinnati, the Mills Brothers broke into New York with a job in a Harlem night club and three and a half years on CBS radio. They also did vaudeville, records, movies and toured with bands. Don Mills, who looks like a successful, alert businessman definitely living in the present, summarizes his reminiscences of those years of great popularity in one sentence. "You name them, we worked with them."

The brothers' biggest thrill he says, was a command performance in 1933 before King George and Queen Mary. "We did 'Sleepyhead' from the Gary Cooper, Marion Davies movie 'Operator 13' and the King stood up and applauded and laughed. It was a very funny song to him."

The oldest Mills brother, John Jr., died in 1936 and their father joined the act, remaining through Harry's World War II service and rejoining in 1957. Once in a while today, when one of the brothers is sick, one of their sons steps in. None of the younger generation is making music a career.

STATUS QUO But essentially, the Mills Brothers go on, status quo. They all live in Los Angeles and do most of their club performing on the West Coast. This spring they're on a 10-country tour. "We enjoy singing; we never get tired of singing, and we're in the business strictly because we love it," Don Mills says. "We have always been together. We never broke up the act or thought about quitting. We work together."

STAMP NEWS Israel Will Mark Second International Book Fair By SYD KRONISH AP Newsfeatures To commemorate its Second International Book Fair, Israel has issued a new stamp based on the emblem of the fair, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America. The design of the 70 agorot stamp features a stylized version of books on a shelf and a lion representing the graphic arts. The first such fair was held in 1963 with 22 nations participating in the exhibit. Also issued by Israel were four new stamps in a definitive series showing coats of arms of cities and towns in that nation.

The fifth and final stamp in the Civil War Centennial series will be issued April 9 and depict a soldier and stacked rifles silhouetted against a blue and gray background. Clearly imprinted above the illustration is the word "Appomatox." First-day ceremonies will take place April 9 at Appomatox, Va. Collectors desiring first-day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Appomatox, Va. The envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers 5 cents Appomatox." Requests must be postmarked not later than April 9.

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has announced plans to issue two new U.S. postage stamps with an international theme. A 5-cent International Cooperation Year—United Nations commemorative will be one stamp and an 11-cent commemorative the 100th anniversary of the International Telecommunications Union is the other. The large denomination is for international surface mail. The ITU and the Universal Postal Union are the two oldest international governmental organizations in existence. Dates and places of first-day sale have not as yet been announced.

'HOW TO MURDER YOUR WIFE' Jack Lemmon and Virna Lisi

Spoof On Murder Opens At Ritz

It's all a great, big spoof of course. It's the new, Jack Lemmon-Virna Lisi comedy "How to Murder Your Wife," in Technicolor, which opens today at the Ritz Theatre. The release also includes in its cast Claire Trevor, Eddie Mayehoff, and Terry-Thomas.

With its outdoor scenes filmed almost entirely on location in New York's nightlife center, "How to Murder Your Wife" brings Jack Lemmon back to movie audiences.

His role is that of an enormously wealthy newspaper comic strip artist who wants above all else to remain single. His leading lady, Virna Lisi, who upsets his plans by surprisingly waking up beside him one morning as his lawfully-wedded wife, has a wide reputation in Europe but makes her American debut in the present opus. A student in a technical college in her native Ancona, Italy, and without previous dramatic training, she proved a natural actress.

Terry-Thomas became a star with Americans for his role in "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," but was previously seen in "I'm All Right, Jack" and "The Mouse on the Moon."

Another funnyman is veteran actor Eddie Mayehoff, who's Jack Lemmon's lawyer. Eddie has been in the Martin and Lewis comedies.

Twelve of the world's top teenage recording favorites star in "The T.A.M.I. Show" which will be presented at the Ritz Theatre starting Thursday.

Appearing in the show are The Beach Boys, Chuck Berry, James Brown and The Flames, The Barbarians, Marvin Gaye, Gerry and The Pacemakers, Lesley Gore, Jan and Dean, Billy J. Kramer and The Dakotas, Smokey Robinson and The Miracles, The Supremes, and The Rolling Stones.

A rock 'n roll spectacular, "The T.A.M.I. Show" was specially produced at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium for theatrical showing.

Teenagers attending "The T.A.M.I. Show" will see performances of their favorite recordings while they are still high on the "hit" charts, instead of months after. For example, in "The T.A.M.I. Show," The Supremes sing "Baby Love," The Rolling Stones perform "Time Is on My Side," and Jan and Dean sing "Sidewalk Surfin'."
