Hotels Proposed For School Use

Howard County Junior College trustees Monday heard proposals that they take over the Crawford and Settles Hotels, provided vocational or economic opportunity schools could be obtained.

The discussions made it clear that there were to be a school under any sort of program, it would not be a part of the college per se, but that the college rather would be the agency for administering the program.

IDEA

The idea was advanced by John Zanetti, district supervisor for Andrew Hotel Corp. of 7880 Biscayne, Miami, Fla. He was accompanied by Joe Hughes, member of the corporate staff, and by Bill Oliver, manager of the Settles.

Zanetti presented a study of various programs under the economic opportunity act and suggested that a school for young women would be the best approach. There is not now such a school in the state, he said.

His interest, he admitted, was in developing some sort of program which would enable his company to lease or sell the two hotel properties here. The Crawford has been closed for approximately two years and the Settles, left to carry the load, operates at a loss, he said.

Trustees listened to a detailed explanation of the idea. They took the matter under advisement, but Horace Garrett, president of the board, said he felt this would be a matter of community-wide import, hence he felt other community leadership should be drawn in for a discussion and decision.

Two approaches could be taken, said Zanetti. One would be under the job corps program under Sargent Shriver; the other would be a community action type of program. Hotel properties in some other cities have been thus utilized because they offer a ready answer to the domiciliary problem for students and generally can be remodelled easily to provide classrooms.

Zanetti and Hughes quoted no specific prices but indicated that the college could be indemnified in a contract from liability for the buildings. If, on the other hand, a program lasted sufficiently long enough — say for 10 years — the corporation would have recovered its costs, and in that event Andrew Corp. would give the buildings to the college. If a sufficient lease could be obtained from the gov-

HEART FUND UPPED BY 30c

The Heart Fund was richer by 30 cents today — a gift from an unsolicited source.

The contribution came from David Conley, 7; Steve Conley, 9; and Carl Phillips, 8.

The lads earned the money apparently as sidewalk merchants. Their letter to the Heart Fund said:

"We want to donate this money to the Heart Fund. We made it by selling Kool-Aid. We hope this money helps some little boy or girl that is sick."

ernment, the corporation would be prepared to spend $300,000 to $400,000 for necessary renovations and remodeling, said Zanetti. He projected his estimates on a school for 300 young women, a contractual arrangement involving around $2,000,000, plus $80 per month paid to each of the attending students.

Trustees said that before they could pursue the matter further, they would need to know if there was a need for such a program, and if so, could it be had.

OTHER MATTERS

In other matters before the board, Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, said that plans for the projected library and science buildings had met requirements under the college facilities act, and the final draft would be ready by mid-year. Unless new colleges in metropolitan points gobble up all the funds, he anticipated that HCJC would come in for a $300,000 building grant.

The college generally got a good bill of health from the visiting committee of the Southern Association of Colleges last week, but no formal report is due for several months, he indicated.

Resignation of Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, for five years a member of the English faculty at the college, was accepted with regret. Mrs. Martin said she had accepted an offer to join the Odessa Junior College faculty because her husband's work took him there.

The board authorized purchase of two tires for the big bus, but they began to study other ways for transportation.

Connally Veto Comes After Smith's Blast

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Connally, butting heads with Lt. Gov. Preston Smith of Lubbock, vetoed the Texas Tech medical school bill today.

Efforts to bring Smith and Connally together on the governor's insistence that the medical school be made subject to approval of the new College Coordinating Board broke down Monday. Smith rejected Connally's idea.

BLASTS GOVERNOR Smith accused Connally of "an unwarranted interference with the procedures of the legislature" by seeking reconsideration of the bill.

In a message read to the House, Connally said the legislation was premature because no through study was made of the problem.

"In my opinion, this is contrary to sound planning of graduate programs in the highly complex and expensive field of medical education," Connally said.

Connally recalled that he made an attempt April 8, five days before his veto, to compromise the issue with the bill's sponsors.

"I advised them that I could not conscientiously sign the bill in its present form and that I had begun preparation of this veto message," Connally said.

He told them if the legislature wanted to recall the bill and amend it "to make the creation of the medical school and its location subject to a study and a report by the coordinating board of the overall needs in this state for additional medical schools, I would not veto it."

CITES 'AGREEMENT'

Connally said that after considerable conferences between the sponsors and his office a "tentative agreement" was reached.

"Because of my understanding of this agreement, I withheld action until the legislature had an opportunity to consider a recall resolution," Connally said.

"Then, Monday the recall resolution was approved by the House but sidetracked to a Senate committee by Smith, followed by Smith's statement to newsmen.

"I feel that I have no justifiable alternative to the course I am taking by this message," Connally said.

Smith had declared: "This bill was thoroughly and fairly considered in the legislature and passed by an impressive vote. To insist that it be reconsidered and amended now is an unwarranted interference with the procedures of the legislative branch of our state government."

Airport Talk Crews Stay

DALLAS (AP)—Mayor Erik Jonsson indicated Monday he will seek to continue regional airport discussions with his same cast of Dallas representatives.

The mayor said he would be happy to keep outgoing Mayor Fort Carr and former Mayor Bayard Rustin on that city's committee.

Others are Dallas Chamber of Commerce President Hobart Turman and former chamber head Robert Cullen.

New Fort Worth Mayor Willard Barr said earlier he was keeping outgoing Mayor Bayard Rustin on that city's committee.

100-DEGREE ESTIMATING CAN START IN 'SIZZLER' CONTEST

You can make your guess — or call it scientific forecasting if you prefer — tomorrow on the date, hour and minute the thermometer hits 100 in Big Spring this season.

It's the start of local "SIZZLER" contest, open to everybody, and in which more than a score of Big Spring merchants are cooperating with First National Bank, whose Time-and-Temperature clock will be set to flash the 100, the first time that kind of temperature is registered.

The contest got off to a day of city-wide SIZZLER bargains, offered in today's Herald. All participating merchants have official entry forms — which must be used — as well as First National. There's no obligation of any kind, and as many estimates can be made as desired.

Entries will be recorded at the bank, and the first person with the nearest minute to the 100-degree reading will receive a cornucopia of prizes in cash and merchandise certificates. First National is offering prizes totaling $500 cash, and these could be doubled if winners have deposits of at least $100 in the institution. Merchants are offering gift certificates, and some are increasing these if the winner's coupon comes from their store.

Complete details and all the rules appear on the reverse side of the entry coupons.

It's the time to hazard a guess when summer weather really is upon us — and to take advantage of SIZZLER Bargains in the meanwhile. Everybody is encouraged to take a guess of the 100-degree moment.

Hamby To Appeal Case For Eubank

Lanny Hamby, court-appointed attorney for Jack Eubank, will continue the fight to save his client, from being returned to the New Mexico State Penitentiary, before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Eubank, who faces return to the New Mexico prison to serve the balance of a life sentence, made an effort to evade this fate Monday. Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, denied Eubank's petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Hamby had filed the petition some days ago. A hearing was held and Judge Caton had taken the petition under advisement. Monday afternoon he summarily over-ruled it.

Hamby immediately announced he would appeal the ruling to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

The attorney said he would file the appeal as quickly as a statement of facts could be provided and legal details worked out.

Meantime, Eubank, who had been brought to the court room to hear the ruling by Judge Caton, had been returned to his jail cell pending the outcome of the appeal. How long this may be difficult to say.

Eubank, who spent seven years of illicit freedom from the New Mexican penitentiary in Big Spring following the trade of a carpenter under the alias "Bob Johnson," had nothing to say about the newest development. He did not speak of his case to the deputy who brought him to the hearing, either before or after. He had a brief conference in the court room corridor with Hamby before being returned to the jail.

Arrested early in March, Eubank has been held in jail here. He refused to waive extradition and Governor Jack Campbell of New Mexico filed a request

Act Termed International Law Violation

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An American official captured by the Viet Cong last Aug. 8 was shot and killed by his Communist captors on Jan. 12 after he escaped for seven days, a U.S. spokesman announced today.

The official was Joseph W. Grainger, 39, of Sumter, S.C. His mother, Mary F. Grainger, lives in West Hartford, Conn.

Grainger, an Air Force veteran, was the U.S. economic assistance mission's representative in Phay Ye Province, 230 miles northeast of Saigon.

RED AMBUSH

He was captured in an ambush with a Filipino assistant and the Vietnamese manager of a sugar cane experiment station.

The U.S. spokesman said independent eyewitnesses had reported his death.

"The American mission condemns in the strongest terms this brutal murder of an unarmed civilian, weakened by hunger and unable to defend himself," the spokesman said.

"This is a violation of international law and accepted humanitarian principles.

WANTON VIOLATION

"His murder is a wanton violation of the 1949 Geneva convention on the protection of civilians."

Seven Vietnamese air force Skyraiders bombed and destroyed the Thanh Yen bridge in North Viet Nam 70 miles north of the South Vietnamese border today, a Vietnamese spokesman announced.

EXECUTION THREAT

The Viet Cong threatened a week ago to execute another American civilian captive, Gustav C. Hertz of Leesburg, Va., if a Viet Cong terrorist held for the bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Saigon was executed. The terrorist was subsequently sentenced to die, but the sentence has not been carried out. There has been no further word of Hertz's fate.

Grainger and his two companions were seized near the village of Tan My. They were traveling in a Jeep when it was stopped by a band of armed Viet Cong.

The Filipino, Elpidio Laugico, was released Dec. 29, along with the Vietnamese. He said he had been taken to see Grainger on Dec. 10 and found him manacled and bound in a small cave. He said Grainger appeared to be adequately fed and in good spirits at that time.

The U.S. spokesman said a reconstruction of events since then showed that on Jan. 1 Grainger began a hunger strike which he continued for five days in protest against his captivity.

On Jan. 5 Grainger escaped and during the following seven days made his way through a large swampy area. On Jan. 12, he was found by a Viet Cong patrol while he was washing mud off his clothes in a small stream.

Tornado Dead At Least 248

By The Associated Press

The Midwest was still counting its dead today as the Palm Sunday tornadoes claimed their 248th victim. Many more were missing in the stricken six-state area.

The Red Cross said at least 5,000 persons were injured. Incomplete estimates listed damage at $237 million.

Officials in Indiana, where 141 persons were battered to death by a series of twisters, combed through debris in fields, homes and businesses in a hunt for more victims.

HUNT BODIES "I think we'll find more bodies," predicted Sheriff Woody L. Caton of Elkhart County, Ind. The tornadoes claimed 65 victims in the county, 45 of them within one square mile.

Similar searches, coupled with vast cleanup operations, took place in Ohio and Michigan, where the grim Sunday twisters claimed 53 and 44 deaths, respectively.

Seven persons were killed in Illinois and three in Wisconsin. A tornado seriously injured an Iowa farmer but no deaths were reported there.

CLEANUP STALLED The cleanup operations were hampered by power shortages, damaged communication systems, highways strewn with debris and, in many places, heavy looting.

Hospitals and families were plagued by the possibility of water shortages and health perils. Many pumping systems failed to operate.

As the search for more twister victims went on, officials in Minnesota battled to contain the Mississippi River, which threatened to overflow at record heights.

Riverfront businesses shut down, employees stayed away from work and school children from school as the flood threat grew in the St. Paul, Minn., area.

20,000 HOMELESS At least six persons have been killed and 20,000 made homeless by Minnesota and Wisconsin floods.

The Palm Sunday tornadoes first were sighted in Iowa and then moved to the east, increasing in intensity with every strike.

Destruction was so great in some areas that officials said it was impossible to estimate damage.

Elkhart, Ind., officials placed the tornado cost at $100 million to $150 million. Ohio estimated damage at $50 million, Michigan at $20 million, Illinois at $12 million and Wisconsin at $5 million.

WORST DISASTER The barrage of tornadoes was the worst disaster in Indiana history.

Two towns, Russiaville and Alto, were completely wiped off the map.

Some highways remained blocked 36 hours after tornadoes ripped three wide swaths through the central and northern sections of Indiana.

Battered bodies, many in night clothing, packed morgues set up in high school gymnasiums and stores.

"It's as close to hell as I care to be," said one weary newsman who toured the disaster area.

Red Cross Asks For Storm Help

The Red Cross today issued an appeal for contributions to help meet the cost of rehabilitation in the wake of the disastrous Midwest tornadoes and floods.

With the death toll put today at 248, the Red Cross said also that at least 5,000 persons were injured and that damage estimates run to $237 million.

The toll is expected to go higher. The international relief agency has moved promptly into the field to bring help to storm sufferers, and its bill will be tremendous.

The local chapter was asked to broadcast the appeal for funds. Those who will help in disaster relief are asked to send checks immediately to the Red Cross, Box 626, or they may be sent to The Herald which will transmit all money promptly to the Red Cross.

Korean Riot Police Club Mob Of Stone Hurlers

SEOUL, South Korea, (AP) — Bloody clashes erupted today as 5,000 students protesting government talks with Japan battled riot police.

Police fired tear gas to check the advance of the largest group, about 2,000 students of Korea University. Police hit the students on the head with wooden clubs. Students retaliated by throwing rocks.

Scores of students were injured. A police announcement said 49 policemen were injured.

The announcement said 400 students and 15 other persons were taken into custody for questioning.

The talks to normalize Japanese-Korean relations are nearing completion.

The demonstrators today concentrated their protest on virtual abolition of the Korean fishing boundary which had barred Japanese fishermen from waters around the Korean peninsula.

Gas Group Elects Head

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— Fellow members chose one Texan to succeed another Monday as president of the Southern Gas Association.

The new president is Clyde McGraw of Houston.

Joe Darrow of Dallas, as retiring president, urged at the group's 57th annual convention that the gas industry try to check a growing trend toward municipal ownership of gas distribution systems.

There now are 750 city owned gas systems compared to only 200 in 1950, Darrow said.

Trinidad Sets Wet-Dry Vote

ATHENS, Tex. (AP)— Residents of Trinidad, 20 miles southwest of here in East Texas, will vote May 4 on a proposal to authorize sales of alcoholic beverages for off-premises consumption. County commissioners set the date Monday on petition of a group of Trinidad residents.

Testimony By Estes Resisted

SPEARMAN, Tex. (AP) — Defense counsel sought today to bar testimony of imprisoned promoter Billie Sol Estes in the trial of Robert E. Clements, 69, on a theft charge.

Dist. Judge Max Boyer denied motions Monday by Clements' lawyer for a change of venue and overruled an argument that his court lacked jurisdiction.

Clements became nationally known in the 1930s as co-founder of the Townsend plan, a movement seeking federal pensions for the elderly.

He is accused of stealing a $37,000 check by false pretext. The check figured in the sale by Clements of Superior Manufacturing Co., a fertilizer tank plant at Amarillo. The buyers included Ruel Alexander and Harold Orr, both subsequently convicted of mail fraud.

Estes is serving a 15-year term on companion charges. He has been brought from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., to testify. Government witnesses at Estes' trial said he sold scores of mortgages through Superior Manufacturing on fertilizer tanks which were never built.

Judge Boyer said he would hear arguments today on defense moves (1) to keep Estes off the stand while the jury is in the courtroom, (2) to bar evidence taken at courts of inquiry into the 1962 collapse of Estes' farm-based financial empire and (3) to bar testimony given at a 1963 trial of Clements by Orr, now dead.

Beings In Outer Space Held Not Proven By Radio Signals

LONDON (AP) — British and American scientists expressed skepticism today about an announcement by Soviet astronomers that fluctuating radio signals picked up from outer space indicate another civilization.

"Highly improbable," said Prof. Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank observatory, and added: "Certainly we at Jodrell Bank have never corroborated the discovery of any distant radio sources that are other than natural."

Fred Hoyle, professor of astronomy at Cambridge University, was also skeptical.

DOUBTS IT "I received data on this subject from America a week ago," he said, "and it doesn't seem to me that what the Russians say could possibly be true."

The statement that "a new supercivilization has been discovered" was attributed Monday by the Soviet news agency Tass to Nikolai Kardashev, a highly regarded scientist at the Sternberg Astronomical Institute in Moscow.

Another Soviet scientist, Isaac S. Shklovsky, was more cautious.

"To say the least," he said, "an absolutely new, still unknown type of cosmic object has been detected in the galaxy."

Tass said Shklovsky does not rule out the theory that it might be "the remnant of a super new star."

NOT RULED OUT Western scientists would not rule out the possibility of an intelligent form of life on a distant stellar body. But they said signals would need a lot more study before they could be accepted as proof of the existence of life elsewhere.

Tass said the fluctuating signals came from CTA102, an invisible source of radio signals first heard by giant radio telescopes in 1960. Scientists call such sources "quasars" or quasistellar radio sources.

The signals vary in strength and the variations are repeated regularly every 100 days, Tass reported. It said the variations had been characterized as unlike any other known radio emissions from space.

FIRST IF TRUE In Ithaca, N.Y., however, Dr. Frank D. Drake, associate professor of astronomy at Cornell University, said he doubted the Russians had proved the existence of intelligent beings in outer space.

Dr. John Wyndham of the California Institute of Technology, who first catalogued CTA102, said he had not observed any variations from the quasar, but "if it is true that the radio emission fluctuates, this would be the first of its kind."

Harrie Massey, chairman of the British National Committee for Space Research, said the Russian claim "is extremely interesting. One must take it seriously." But he said the Russians had by no means presented conclusive evidence.

Astronomers in Washington also said the signals would need a lot more study. They did not dismiss the possibility there may be many planets in the universe with intelligent beings and that some are trying to communicate with the earth.

Truman Blasts King And Klan

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman described Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Monday as "a troublemaker." He also called the Ku Klux Klan a "no good outfit" which should be "legislated out of existence."

The former president was reminded by newsmen that King had been awarded a Nobel Peace Prize.

"I didn't give it to him," he replied.

CALLS IT "SILLY"

Truman repeated a statement he made several days ago that he thought last month's civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery, Ala., was silly and had "not accomplished anything."

When it was suggested by reporters that his comment about the civil rights leader would stir up controversy, Truman retorted: "What the hell do I care?"

He said he had done "more for the Negroes than any other president."

SCHOOL AID

He said passage of President Johnson's $1.3-billion school aid bill will make "Johnson the greatest friend of education in the country."

Truman expressed concern that the war in Viet Nam could spread. He called the conflict in Southeast Asia very grave.

Truman said he wants to be remembered as a good president.

He recalled that when he assumed the presidency upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt 20 years ago today after serving as vice president for 82 days, he felt the "world had fallen on me."

"It was a terrible responsibility," he said.

The office of the president, he said, is a "job for which no one is amply prepared."

He said that while Roosevelt had kept him informed on domestic matters as well as he could, this was not so on foreign affairs.

Asked what his most cherished moment in the White House had been, Truman replied that he had none.

What was his happiest experience in the White House?

EXIT BEST

"When I left it," he quipped.

Truman is here to address a Freedom House award Wednesday night and deliver an address, described by associates as a major one, at a Freedom's Foundation dinner.

Freedom House describes itself as a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization that works to strengthen forces of freedom at home and abroad, primarily by focusing attention on issues concerning freedom.

The organization's roots go back to 25 years ago this month with the formation of an anti-isolationist group, the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. That later merged with a similar group, Fight for Freedom, and was incorporated as Freedom House in 1941.

FDR Memoir Interesting And Warm

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Normal television procedure on the 20th anniversary of the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt called for a full-scale resume of the high moments in the active career of the 32nd president.

There were plenty of them in his life — political, economic and, finally, a great war. CBS Monday night in "FDR Remembered" largely ignored them and focused instead on two places the man loved. The Roosevelt family home in Hyde Park, N.Y., "in his beloved Hudson River valley," and Warm Springs, Ga., which he first visited to regain his strength after his crippling attack of polio and thereafter returned again and again to a sort of second home.

SON REMINISCES

His son, Franklin Jr., reminisced, intimately and affectionately, about his father as he sat in the book-lined living room of the old Hyde Park mansion. An old friend, Mabel Irwin, told last days at the Georgia spa.

It was a warm and interesting memoir of an interesting man, and infinitely more effective than a full-scale biographical treatment loaded with snippets of familiar speeches and old film clips taken at official moments.

Reruns, which almost completely take over network television schedules during the warm-weather months, already are cropping up all over the network — some of them ahead of schedule.

REPEAT SHOWS

During the week starting on Easter Day, there will be at least 17 repeat shows in prime evening time, including ABC's "Ozzie and Harriet," "Donna Reed," "The Flintstones" and "Jonny Quest."

NBC will have old shows on the Walt Disney hour, "Hazel," "Flipper," "Kentucky Jones" and even "Wednesday Night at the Movies."

At CBS, "Gomer Pyle," "The Joey Bishop Show," and "The Lucy Show" are already on reruns.

Some Planting Lags In State

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas farmers continue to lag behind last year's schedule in planting cotton, sorghum and corn, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported Monday.

Most spring commercial vegetable crops showed good growth in the Rio Grande Valley and onion harvest around Laredo made a good start.

East Texas watermelon planting is active, and tomatoes are being transplanted to fields. Onions and cantaloupes around Presidio are looking good.

Cotton planting is 16 per cent complete, compared with 22 per cent last year. Sorghum planting is 30 per cent complete, 1 per cent behind last year, and corn planting is 73 per cent, 11 per cent behind last year.

In the High Plains, irrigating wheat and pre-plant irrigation and fertilization for cotton and sorghum progressed in warm, open weather.

School Proposal On House Floor

AUSTIN (AP) — The House State Affairs Committee has moved to the House floor Gov. John Connally's proposal for a model vocational-technical school at Waco.

The committee held a hearing Monday night and reported it favorably after a brief study by a subcommittee.

Rep. Jack Woods of Waco, Texas A&M President Earl Rudder and Harry Provenge of the Waco Chamber of Commerce testified for the bill. It would create the school at Connally Air Force Base under the direction of A&M. The base will be deactivated in June, 1966.

Committee Reports Made For Chamber Directors

Committee reports dominated the meeting of chamber of commerce directors Monday at Holiday Inn. The annual audit, made by W. H. Wharton, was also received.

Carroll Davidson, manager, told the board he felt that the Howard County Commissioners Court would award a hangar contract just as soon as the Central Airways contract for pilot training is returned this week to Webb AFB. Completion in time for start of the training will be a nip-and-tuck affair, he predicted.

An appreciation dinner for service station operators and attendants has been scheduled April 26, and by that time the chamber hopes to have a small brochure for tourist distribution ready, according to Davidson.

The industrial committee is still pursuing some encouraging leads, said Paul Meek, chairman. The health and safety committee is continuing its studies on two projects—that of a child welfare worker and a mental health center, said Larry Crow.

O. T. Brewster, reporting for the tourist development committee, said that the panel hopes to line up at least 100 registrants for a two-day school on tourist relations. George Jordan, Abilene, of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will conduct the school with morning and afternoon sessions on May 11-12. Morning classes will be duplicated on the evening of the same day in order to serve workers on different shifts, he said. Business owners will be

Grain Marketing Study Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says it will include Texas and Oklahoma in a study of grain marketing and transportation problems in the Midwest.

Under a contract with the department, the University of Oklahoma and the Texas Transportation Institute at Texas A&M will gather and analyze data to determine what action if any can be taken to improve the handling of grains in the area.

The work is expected to be done in May and June.

The bidding:
South West North East
3 NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♠

Alto a trickless dummy did not offer much comfort to South, the declarer at three no trump, he did—in fact—have a legitimate play for his contract.

West opened the six of spades and South put up the ten in a desperate attempt to reach the dummy. When the ten of spades held the first trick, declarer realized that he was in his partner's hand for the only time, and he led a small club in order to make a play for himself.

East followed with a small club and South played the jack. Observe that, if West takes his ace, he can establish the spades with one more lead; however, there is no way he can get in again to run that suit. In the meantime, South clears the clubs by playing the king and a small club. East is in with the queen, but he is unable to reach his partner and declarer has his nine tricks—two spades, four hearts, one diamond and two clubs.

When South played the jack of clubs from his hand, West had been following the proceedings with careful attention and, realizing that it would not be profitable to release his only entry too soon, he followed to the trick with the deuce of clubs.

West's play was made without undue hesitation so as not to alert the declarer, and South reasoned, therefore, when his jack of clubs held, that the outstanding strength in the suit was located in the East hand. Declarer continued with a small club and East went in with the ten. A spade return enabled West to clear that suit and, when he regained the lead with the ace of clubs, West cashed sufficient spade tricks to defeat the contract.

South could have circumvented his opponent's shrewd hold-up in clubs if he had continued with the king instead of a small club after his jack held. West is obliged to release his ace on the second round, and his spades never come into play since declarer still has a stopper in that suit. When the queen of clubs is driven out subsequently, South has nine tricks.

While there was no way for declarer to know that West had the ace of clubs, he had nothing to lose by continuing with the king rather than a small one. South could assure his contract by dislodging the ace of clubs first, for it was a sure thing that East had the queen and, when that card is knocked out later, there is no return that can defeat the declarer.

Scouts Tour San Antonio

Twenty-six Scouts and three Scouters, from Webb AFB's

Troop 146, recently returned from a tour of historic sites in San Antonio. They visited the Alamo and saw the relics there.

Other sites visited included the Hall of Horns where a guided tour showed them an array of around 10,000 sets of deer antlers hanging from the ceiling; the San Jose Mission where the early Spanish missionaries lived.

Each Scout attended the church of his choice at Lackland Air Force Base, Sunday morning, and then made a tour of the Air Force Hospital, and the base. This included the History and Traditions building where they saw models of early American airplanes, engines and armament. The troop had its picture made in front of the building.

Over 400 See 'Hamlet' Staged

An audience of over 400 gave the cast of Hamlet a standing ovation at the close of the Shakespearean drama at the high school auditorium last night. The majority then went to the library to see exhibits of Shakespearean times, and hear a group of madrigal singers in several musical numbers of the era.

Five Headed For Prison

Robert L. Frymire, under conviction for theft, was formally sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary this morning. This clears the way for him and four other prisoners in the county jail to be removed, probably Wednesday, to Huntsville State Penitentiary, Aubrey Standard, sheriff, said.

Bobby Beardsley, also under conviction for theft, declined to waive the remaining three days of his 10 day period of grace after his conviction. Sentence could be pronounced against him and he will not be taken to the prison at this time.

Standard said that in addition to Frymire, Lincoln Brumett, three years for forgery and passing; Jesse Bustamante, Billy James Green and Robert Villareal, all probation violators, will be taken to state prison.

Standard said that the officers who escort the prisoners to the penitentiary will come back by way of Corpus Christi and Kerrville to pick up two men wanted here for charges.

Eastern U.S. Fair And Cool

Fair and cool weather spread over the eastern two-thirds of the nation today. It was cool and rainy in the West.

Rain fell in California and Maine. So did snow. Millinocket, Maine, reported four inches of new snow on the ground at midnight with more coming. Snow stands eight feet deep in the mountains of Southern California.

HALF INCH
Up to a half inch of rain fell in many areas in New England. Heavy windstorms struck other eastern sections.

Philadelphia reported gusts up to 67 m.p.h. uprooted trees, tore down power lines and touched off hundreds of fires. Heavy property damage was reported but few injuries.

HEAVY WINDS
Heavy winds were blamed for a series of traffic accidents in New Mexico. The winds touched off a dust storm that blinded motorists and three lives were lost in a head-on crash on US 60 east of the Arizona border. Moments later three autos piled up at the same spot.

Rain fell in the Pacific Northwest as a cold front moved into that area.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 27 at Lewiston, Mont., and Ely, Nev., to 78 at Key West, Fla.

Mrs. Anderson Wins Contest

Mrs. Claudette Anderson of Richardson, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Anderson, 1419 11th Place, Big Spring was winner of the "5-Minute Speech Contest" sponsored by the Dallas County Branch of the American Savings and Loan Institute. The title of her speech was "The Art of Saving a Penny." She will represent Dallas County at the Texas Savings and Loan League meeting in Houston June 6-9.

Her husband, Dan J. Anderson, is a law student at SMU, and the son of the W. J. Andersons.

She has been a teller in the Richardson branch of Dallas Federal Savings and Loan for two years.

Three Charged In Burglary

Burglary charges have been filed with Justice of the Peace Walter Grice against three Latin Americans in connection with the reported break-in of Zora's Cafe, 1100 Lamesa Drive, late Sunday night.

The charges were filed against Robert DeLeon, 19; Benjamin DeLeon, 17; and Antonio Bustamante, 17. No bond had been set this morning for Robert DeLeon and Bustamante, with $1,500 bond set by Grice on Benjamin DeLeon.

Police arrested the three about 10:40 p.m. Sunday after the break-in was reported about 10 p.m. Officers said a north-east door of the cafe was broken open and about 13 cases of beer and some coffee reported missing.

tendance, and with the interpretation of the play by the student actors," Dan Shockey, high school speech instructor and director of the play, said. "We had been wondering how the audience would take a Shakespearean drama, but the enthusiastic applause and attention was more than gratifying. The cast gave an excellent interpretation."

The play had been given in Midland Saturday, in the Interscholastic League competition, and the cast's experience there aided their interpretation Monday night, Shockey said.

Mrs. Catherine Hedges and her English students had prepared a number of exhibits on the life, customs, and dress of the Shakespearean era, and had them on display in the library after the play. The exhibits drew the attention of all who attended, as did the musical renditions by the madrigal group from the high school music department.

The cast for Hamlet included: Pat Hamilton, Hamlet; Sandra Conner, Ophelia; Jo Ellen Fivesash, the Queen; Mitchell McNeese, Polonius; Dick Swedeen, Marcellus; Clark Frayser, Bernardo; Don Hal Haney, the king; Deats Beard, Laertes; John Seitzler, Horatio, and Virginia Colclazer, the player queen.

Mel Ivey, vocal music instructor at the high school, was in charge of the singing group in the library. The play was sponsored by the speech department and the Court Jesters.

The hearing will be in the city commission room of city hall.

Combined Bands To Offer Concert

A variety of music will be heard at the municipal auditorium tonight when three bands, Big Spring High School, Goliad Junior High and Rannels Junior High, are presented in concert.

The annual spring concert is presented for music-minded patrons, and the public, to show what the bands can do in combined concert, and in separate renditions.

Sewer Line Under Gregg

The Beals Branch sewer line is being placed under Gregg Street today, city engineers have reported, as the line's westward installation through downtown Big Spring continues.

The line is being placed west on Second Street. Work is beginning on the installation of the first of two sewage lift stations involved in the trunk sewer line, at a site west of Birdwell Lane, north of Second Street, near the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. line.

The foundation has been poured and steel for the station walls is being installed. Public Works Director Ernest Lillard said. The station will be installed within the next week, Lillard said. Except for ventilation, the lift stations will be below ground.

Curb and gutter work on the first area begun in this year's paving project has been about three-fourths completed, Lillard said, on Nineteenth Street west of Virginia. Grading and leveling is being done this week on one block of Virginia Street, north of Nineteenth, prior to paving.

Minor Accidents Investigated

Two minor traffic accidents were reported to Big Spring officers Monday. An unidentified vehicle struck a parked car at 124 E. 3rd, owned by James Hamill, 2602 Carlton, then left the scene, officers said.

A collision was reported at the 900 block of East Third, involving cars driven by Charles Hankins, Sweetwater, and Barney Chapman, 602 Steakley.

Two Stove Lids Stolen

Who would steal two stove lids? Bill Whitton, deputy sheriff, is puzzling this question out. He was called to 306 NW 5th to investigate what the owner said was a break-in.

A check of the premises indicated the only things missing were two stove lids.

Bakers' Kin Dies

Walter Baker of Coleman, uncle of Police Patrolman James Baker and Animal Warden Robert Baker, died at his home Monday morning. The two nephews left early Tuesday to attend the funeral at 4 p.m. in Coleman.

Reds Snub Peace Envoy

LONDON (AP) — Britain's special peace envoy, Patrick Gordon Walker, said today that Communist China and North Viet Nam have refused to allow him to visit their capitals. He expressed hope they would reconsider.

Gordon Walker, a former foreign secretary, told newsmen on the eve of his Southeast Asia mission he had received "discouraging replies" from Peking and Hanoi to a formal British request for facilities to visit Communist China and North Viet Nam.

NOT YIELDING

"Nonetheless I am leaving time in my itinerary for visits to both these capitals and I hope to visit them either now or later," Gordon Walker said.

"I do not believe that this can be their last word and that they will continue to refuse even to discuss the possibilities of peace."

Gordon Walker was named to survey the situation in Southeast Asia as a special representative of Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart. He leaves Wednesday for Malaysia. From there he will visit Thailand, South Viet Nam, Laos, Burma and Japan.

"NOT WELCOME"

Peking Radio, in announcing Monday that Gordon Walker was not welcome, said: "As a co-chairman of the 1954 Geneva conference, the British government — far from taking a just stand by condemning and trying to stop this naked aggression on the part of the United States — has been supporting each step taken by the United States in expanding its war of aggression."

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson prepared to leave tonight for the United States to talk money and the Viet Nam situation.

Wilson will take up the Vietnamese question with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, possibly to see whether the world body could usefully intervene where partisan national governments have failed.

ECONOMIC CLUB

Highest on his agenda in New York is his talk at a banquet Wednesday night arranged by the Economic Club of New York. Wilson will tell the 1,500 bankers, industrialists and economists attending that the shaky pound sterling now is over the hump and that an era of modernization and expansion lies ahead of Britain.

The prime minister will lunch with President Johnson Thursday, and Viet Nam will dominate the conversation.

Cueller Awaits Grand Jury

Margarito Cueller, Lamesa, charged with murder in Martin County, will be brought before the Martin Grand Jury April 23, Wayne Burns, district attorney, said today. Burns said the grand jury in Martin County was being recalled on that date to deal with four pending forgery cases and that the Cueller matter would be presented at the same time.

In the meantime, Cueller, arrested for the fatal stabbing of Louis Cenega Aguillar, 20, Sunday morning, is in the Martin County jail. Bond has not been granted the defendant.

Burns said that he went to Stanton Monday afternoon to talk with Sheriff Dan Saunders and other officers about the murder case. It was at that time it was decided to present the case to the grand jury April 23.

OIL REPORT

Spraberry Test May Be Strike

McDonald Oil Corp. No. 1 McCasland, a Pennsylvania prospector and a three-mile north-west outpost to the King North-spraberry field) loomed today as a Spraberry strike three miles northeast of La-mesa.

The venture, located 660 from the south and 1,980 feet from the east lines of section 6-34-6n, T&P, took a drillstem test from 7,230-7,345 and flowed 12 barrels of oil per hour through a 3/4-inch choke for an unreported time. Then, through a 1/2-inch choke, it flowed nine barrels of oil per hour for an unreported time. Neither test showed water. Finally, the venture flowed 115 barrels of 40-gravity oil in five hours, 45 minutes. Recovery also included 90 feet of formation water on top of the tool. Initial shut-in pressure was 2,979 pounds, the final shut-in pressure, 2,317. No flowing pressures were reported. Operator resumed drilling at 8,260 feet.

Dawson County also gained a completion—Austral Oil Inc. No. 2-13 Kilgore, 1,860 feet from the west and 660 from the north lines of section 13-35-4n, T&P. The Ackerly Dean venture, five miles northwest of Ackerly, pumped 202 barrels of 36.9-gravity oil per day, and no water, through perforations at 8,541-8,637. The gas-oil ratio was 274-1. Operator acidized with 400 gallons.

Tidewater No. 1 Jerry Newborough, 660 from the north and 1,320 from the east lines of labor 12, league 270, Moore CSI, was plugged and abandoned at 12,864. A drillstem test from 12,820-864 resulted in recovery of 11,500 feet of salty, mud-cut sulphur water and 6,900 feet of salty sulphur water. Previously some tests above 12,304 had returned some free 36-gravity oil.

Jaded Front Disappearing

A jaded cool front which had scant effect on Texas was fast disappearing today. Its remnants drifted deeper into East Texas during the night while standing still on the opposite side of the state. This left the forward edge along a line from near Beaumont to the vicinity of Junction in early morning.

A few showers edged from Eastern New Mexico across the line into the west part of the Texas Panhandle but quickly played out. Temperatures sagged into the upper 40s in parts of the Panhandle before daylight. They remained in the 70s along the coast and deep in South Texas. Top readings Monday ranged up to 97 degrees at Presidio in the Big Bend. Dalhart was the coolest point with a high of 59. Occasional thunderstorms were expected into tonight over the west and north sections of Northwest Texas but none elsewhere through Wednesday. More warm weather was in prospect for all areas of the state.

Feed Grain Stabilization Program Largest Ever

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm officials estimate the Agriculture Department's feed grain stabilization program for 1965 will be at least $200 million higher than the 1964 cost of $1,171,000,000. Under this program, the department offers price supports and payments to farmers who reduce plantings of corn, sorghum grain and barley. The program is supposed to hold down production until surpluses are reduced.

LARGEST EVER The department says more farmers will participate this year than ever before and that the total number of feed grain acres to be held out of production will be the largest ever. The department expects this year's feed grain acreage to be the smallest in more than 60 years. But given normal growing conditions, the acreage would be expected to produce almost as much grain as would be needed during the 1965 crop marketing year. Any deficit in production would be filled from government surpluses.

East Texas moisture is adequate to surplus. Oats and clover are making good growth. Corn and some cotton are being planted. Southeast Texas work was slowed by bad weather. Much rice, sorghums and corn have been planted. Cotton planting is increasing. South Central Texas rain is adequate except in Karnes, Wilcox, McMullen and Refugio counties. Wet fields delayed planting. Some cotton will be replanted due to cold damage. Bloat is a problem where clover is grazed. South Texas rain is short to adequate. Cotton planting is about complete except in the Winter Garden. Destructive hail hit Uvalde County Tuesday. Labor is generally adequate though some shortage has been noted in the Valley.

WOMAN CHARGED IN SHOOTING COLORADO CITY (SC)—Mrs. Pearl Mae Chatham, 37, was charged with assault with intent to murder Monday and released on $1,500 bond. Justice of the Peace T. E. Arnold entered the charge and set the bond in connection with the shooting, Saturday night, of Harry Lee, 46. Lee was shot once in the stomach with a .32 calibre pistol, and the wound required extensive surgery. His condition was satisfactory this morning, according to spokesmen at Root Memorial Hospital. Leon Yeager, chief of police, said the shooting occurred at the woman's home on South Waco Street about 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

MRS. BENNETT'S FUNERAL PENDING Arrangements are pending at Nalley-Pickler Funeral Home for Mrs. W. W. Bennett, of 418 Gulf, Midland, a former resident of Big Spring who died shortly before noon today in a Midland hospital. Mrs. Bennett and her late husband had been residents of Big Spring for a number of years. She had moved to Midland several years ago after the death of her husband. She was living at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Paul (Marguerite) Floyd.

WATER AND SEWER DEPARTMENT. In other business the council elected C. G. Harkins mayor pro-tem and certified the election of Harkins, Mrs. Lena Porter, Mike Burt and Paul Hunter as council members. Few Farmers In State Happy Over Weather

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Few Texas farmers are happy about the weather. More rain in the eastern half of the state limited field work. Dry weather plagued farmers in the west and northwest, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Preplant irrigation, he added, is heavy in the dry areas. Grazing prospects improved in favored areas and livestock feeding is slowing down, Hutchison said, in all but the drier sections.

NEEDS RAIN The entire Panhandle needs rain. Irrigation is under way. Ranges are still dormant. The entire South Plains district is very dry and irrigation is heavy. Ranges are below average. Dryland wheat is in urgent need of rain. Irrigated wheat looks good. Moisture is needed in all the Rolling Plains. Drouth and insects are slowing grain. Mite infestations are general and range from medium to heavy. Irrigation and feeding continued. Goat shearing started. Stock water is needed in some counties. Light rains hampered field work in North Central Texas where top dressed grain looks good.

MOISTURE SHORT Feeding dropped sharply in Northeast Texas where pastures are now providing grazing. Some corn has been planted. Some tomatoes have been set in the field. Peach prospects are good. Moisture was short in far West Texas where ranges are trying to green-up. A general rain is needed in West Central Texas. Insects are damaging small grains in the Brady-San Saba area. Sheep shearing has started. Pastures are green but grazing is too short for cattle. Sheep and goats are in good condition; the lamb and kid crops are excellent and the lamb market is strong. Farm labor is adequate in most counties. Light showers to excessive rains plagued Central Texas. Flood damage to crops and fences was reported in Falls and Limestone counties. Warm and sunny weather is needed for planting. Some corn and grain sorghum are up. Bloat problems from grazing clover was reported in Milam County.

EAST TEXAS East Texas moisture is adequate to surplus. Oats and clover are making good growth. Corn and some cotton are being planted. Southeast Texas work was slowed by bad weather. Much rice, sorghums and corn have been planted. Cotton planting is increasing. South Central Texas rain is adequate except in Karnes, Wilcox, McMullen and Refugio counties. Farm Program Outlook Bleak

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman said today the outlook now is bleak for favorable action by congress on a farm program submitted by President Johnson last week. The recommendations related to wheat, feed grains, rice and wool, and to a crop land retirement program to help take surplus land out of farm production. Freeman asserted the outlook is dark because of "disunity in agriculture's own house, friction which fritters away our strength because it confuses and disillusions our friends."

HOUSE TAKES UP AMENDMENT WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to make certain that there will always be a president and a vice president able to carry on their duties comes before the House today. It is the last major business before the House starts its Easter recess. Approval is expected Wednesday. The House proposal is similar to the one passed in February by the Senate by a 72-0 vote. Should the measure finally clear Congress by two-thirds vote of both branches, it would have to be ratified by 38 states to become part of the Constitution. The measure is designed to provide for such contingencies as the disability of a president, or a vacancy in the vice presidency when that officer moves into the White House. In the event a president died and the vice president took over, the new chief executive would nominate a vice president who would take office if confirmed by a majority vote of the Senate and the House. Should a president become disabled enough not to be able to carry out his duties, he would notify Congress. Then the vice president would act as president until the disability is removed. ASSUME OFFICE However, should a president decline to declare himself incapacitated, the vice president and the majority of the Cabinet could give Congress a written opinion that they believe the president should be relieved of his duties temporarily. The vice president then would assume the powers of acting president. A disabled president could determine when he was fit and ready to resume his official duties. If the vice president and a majority of the Cabinet disagreed with the presidential finding, Congress would have 10 days to decide the issue. At the end of that period, the president would resume his office unless a two-thirds vote of both branches decided otherwise.

RED OFFENSIVE BUILT IN LAOS WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite months-long harassment of their reinforcement routes, the Communists have been able to build up enough men and supplies to launch limited offensives in Laos, sources said today. However, U.S. officials have detected no clear indication as to whether the Communist-backed Pathet Lao forces and their North Vietnamese allies intend to start a spring attack this year, as they have done with regularity in past years. These officials are withholding judgment as to whether the bombing of the reinforcement routes leading from North Viet Nam have had a significant effect. If no spring offensive develops by mid-June, the onset of the rainy season

DEAR ABBY

Doubtful Forecast!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our 40's and I guess we could be called an average couple. We have three children and my husband is a good, steady worker. Although he rarely gives me a compliment, and he's not the affectionate type, I've been satisfied with him. I mean I never went looking for attention from other men.

Well, for the past year I've been watching the Weather Man on our local TV station, and he has really got me dreaming about him night and day. Please don't think I'm terrible, Abby, but I can't get him off my mind. He's not especially good-looking (he's losing his hair) but there's something about his smile. Or maybe it's his voice. Anyway, I've been trying to figure out a way to meet this Weather Man in person. Would it be wrong?

SECRET LOVE

DEAR SECRET: YES! Forget it. If you meet him, I predict turbulence and heavy precipitation, followed by a light frost.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a rather difficult one and I hope you have a reasonable answer for me. I have a stepfather who dominates the TV set. If I am watching something when he comes home, he walks right up to the set and changes the program. No one in the family has anything to say about it — not even my mother. We can't afford a second TV set, so that's out. He is the most unfriendly man I've ever known. No matter how hard I try to start a conversation with him, all he ever says to me is "Yeah," or "Hi," or "Goodbye." Please answer this in your column because I don't want my mother to know I wrote to you.

DISGUSTED STEPHEN

DEAR DISGUSTED: Right or wrong, your stepfather is the head of the house, so don't attempt to reason with an unreasonable man. His inconsideration is setting a bad example, but you can set a better one by tolerating the injustice with good humor, patience and understanding. (P. S. Besides, young people seldom know what problems their parents might be battling.)

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a couple inviting you and your husband to a "dinner party" that turns out to be an aluminum ware demonstration?

We dressed up as if we were going to a social gathering. I had my hair done and my husband had his blue suit cleaned and pressed. I had to find a suitable registered nurse to replace me on the 3 to 11 shift. I was so furious when I got home that I made up my mind not to accept any more dinner invitations unless I know there is no trap.

LOST A DAY'S PAY
DEAR LOST: Your hostess should have told you when she invited you what kind of a "dinner party" she had planned. But if the companionship and the food were good, why rant about the side show? It could have been worse.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ice Jam Breaks Release Water On Flooded Areas

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Ice jams on tributaries and on the Mississippi River north of the Twin Cities began crumbling today, releasing impounded waters on flooded sections of southern Minnesota.

The Minnesota flooding, which has made more than 20,000 homeless and caused more than $20 million damage, was expected to become more widespread. At St. Paul, where the Mississippi has been channeled between dikes that reach 28 feet, the river started to rise sharply late Monday when ice jams 50 to 60 miles northward began breaking up. The river at St. Paul stood at 22.75 feet early today and Civil Defense officials estimated it would rise to 25 feet by noon today. It is expected to crest at 27 to 27.5 feet Friday, just under the top of the dike.

The Crow River flooded Monday at St. Cloud, north of the Twin Cities, and an ice jam at Coon Rapids on the Mississippi broke up with tremendous force late in the day.

CREST EXPECTED

The Mississippi began to rise

the release of water held back by ice jams in the north probably will cause "a foot to a foot and a half more of water downstream than we had in the 1952 flood."

TOWN FLOODED

At Chaska, southwest of the Twin Cities, the Minnesota River had flooded nearly the entire town of 2,500 persons. The water level held steady at 34 feet today. The predicted crest was 34.5 feet.

The Minnesota meets the Mississippi River near Savage. Although portions of this town of 1,200 were under water, a dike was expected to be strong enough to hold back the Minnesota's threats.

Downstream from the Twin Cities, the Mississippi was causing only little flooding mostly because dike work was well advanced when the river began to rise last week.

There were six known dead in the week of flooding in Minnesota, all by drowning.

MISSION, Tex. (AP)—The screwworm eradication center says it has confirmed a screwworm infestation 10 miles west of Falfurrias, the first in Texas in 10 weeks and in Brooks County since Dec. 18, 1963.

Crude Oil Output Boost Reported

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—U.S. production of crude oil and lease condensate increased 25,400 barrels last week to a daily average of 7,782,300 barrels, the Oil & Gas Journal said today.

For the week ended April 10, Texas production was down 7,500 barrels daily to an average of 2,663,000. Oklahoma's output was 593,300 barrels a day, up 41,400, and Louisiana's 1,619,100 barrels, up 2,900.

Tax Men Seize Jewels But Gina Flashing Gems

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gina Lollobrigida, de-jewelled by tax agents, is bejewelled again — in borrowed rocks — thanks to comedian Bob Hope.

The Italian actress' jewelry box was seized from her hotel safe Friday by California tax men who said she owes more than $13,000 in state taxes.

"I feel naked," was her disconsolate response to being stripped of the gems.

Hope, hearing of her plight, called Beverly Hills jeweler Marvin Hime, who lent Miss Lollobrigida about $750,000 in jewels Sunday "to bolster her morale" while she taped the Bob Hope television show for which she came to this country.

FROM 1959

The California Franchise Tax Board said Miss Lollobrigida's debt dates from 1959, when she made a film here with Frank Sinatra. Officials said they had tried many times to collect the money, and in 1964 filed liens against any personal property she might have in California. The jewels were seized under the lien, they said.

Miss Lollobrigida commented, "Even the Mafia gives at least one warning." She said she didn't know she owed any California taxes.

OFFERED CHECK
She said she offered, after the jewels were seized, to pay the back taxes by check, but that the agents wouldn't accept it until her Swiss bank okayed the check. By the time she got a call through to her bank, she said, it was past closing hours and "there wasn't even a scrub-woman there to answer the phone."

"What is so incredible to me," she added, "is that the tax people wouldn't believe I have assets."

Weather Has Vast Effect On Business

NEW YORK (AP) — Weather can make or break more economic planning than most professional planners care to admit.

Good or bad weather can set the trends, for a short time or a longer one, in small sections of the country or in large. Sometimes disasters have national impact.

What weather does to a storm-stricken community is obvious. But the aftermath can be felt far and wide. Industry suffers as well as agriculture. Trade may be affected for months to come.

ONE CROP AREAS
In one-crop sections — be they crop citrus or wheat or vegetables—a bad drought or flood or late freeze can paralyze the entire regional economy.

In industrial areas bad storms can cripple production just as a strike can. Plant destruction, inability of workers to reach the factory, cutting off shipments of supplies to the mills or of finished goods from the mills — all can topple the local economy for a time.

And if the area hit is large enough, and the industries hit important enough, the effect on the national economy shows up quickly in the statistics.

A cold, late spring can leave merchants with large stocks of unsold finery after Easter. And a milder than usual autumn also can pinch retail sales in the all-important final quarter of the year.

A dearth of snow this last winter crippled the business of many ski resorts in the northeast.

A stormy winter in the South, coupled with a milder than usual one in the North, can cause loud cries of anguish from winter resort owners.

Man, however, is building up some defenses of his own. Dams are curbing some of the flood threats, and at the same time storing water as a counteraction to droughts.

Weather forecasting is improving. Communities often can be put on alert for hurricanes and tornadoes and thus escape some of the damage that a surprise visit causes.

Communications are better now, so that word of trouble is learned quickly, and relief can be sped fast to the stricken. Transportation can be restored more quickly than in earlier times. Factories, homes and community services can be repaired or replaced much faster today.

Relief agencies are more efficient. Government aid is more quickly available. The general prosperity has built up a vigorous economy on which the stricken areas can call.

But weather itself, be it good or bad, will go right on making or breaking plans for individuals, communities, perhaps the general economy. Even the computers, though they may be able to run a factory, can't stop a storm.

Beauceants Hear Talks For Easter

An Easter reading, "Mary Magdalene," was presented by Mrs. W. C. Fryar at the Monday evening meeting of the Social Order of the Beauceant. An Easter greeting from Mrs. Edwin C. Hinkley, supreme president, was also read.

Information was given concerning the 112th convocation of the Grand Commandery, Knight's Templar of Texas, to be held in Odessa May 1-4.

G. G. Morehead showed slides and told of his recent trip to the Holy Lands. One of the pictures taken in Jerusalem, shows the third temple that has been built on the site where King Solomon's temple originally stood. This is where much of the Masonic work is done. He also showed slides of the country of Lebanon, and the temple of Belbeak, which was a shrine of pagan worship.

Refreshments were served to 26 members by Mrs. George Pitman, Mrs. R. V. Middleton and Mrs. Albert Davis.

Winners Named At Country Club

Mrs. Glen Cox and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins placed first in the duplicate games held Saturday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club.

Other winners were Mrs. Joe Hayden and Mrs. Ayra McGann, second; Mrs. Tom South and Mrs. E. L. Powell, third; and Mrs. Rogers Hefley and Mrs. Ward Hall, fourth. Six tables were in play.

Players were reminded that the Winner's Game will begin at 7:30 p.m., May 4.

College Students Hold Annual Spring Coffee

The annual Spring Coffee, hosted by the business department of Howard County Junior College, was held Monday in the home of Mrs. Chris Watson, 2906 McAusland, Highland South. Calling hours for the business students, faculty and administrators were from 9:45 until 11:30 a.m. The Faculty Ma'am's were invited to call from 11:30 to 12 o'clock noon, and students from the Monday and Wednesday nights business classes were guests that evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The purpose of the coffee is both educational and social, as the students taking part as hosts or guests are given the opportunity to practice the social graces needed for success in the business world.

Focal point on the refreshment table was a spring arrangement using irises, snapdragons, gladioli and lilies in various shades. The floor-length green net overskirt was placed over green taffeta, and the table was appointed with silver trays and coffee service, as pink tapers burned in silver candle holders. Easter arrangements, featuring bunnies and eggs, were used throughout the entertaining area.

Never Take a Laxative Again!

New Miracle Regulator Keeps Waste Soft—So Bowels Move Naturally

New York, N.Y. (Special)—After 12 years' research, scientists have discovered a wonder-working substance that corrects constipation entirely without laxatives!

Doctors say most constipation occurs when waste loses moisture in the colon—becomes dry, hard, difficult to move. To give relief, laxatives have to force action by flushing, irritating or distending the intestine.

The new miracle substance—known medically as dioctyl sodium sulfosuccinate—works in a completely different way. It is not a laxative! It simply makes natural moisture in the colon moisten and soften dry, hard waste more effectively. Then normal elimination follows naturally. Thus by working only on waste, not on you, the substance corrects constipation and restores regularity as no laxative can.

This new discovery has now been made available at drugstores under the name REGULATOR. It is safe—not habit-forming. No warning on the label—no prescription needed. Try REGULATOR—discover for yourself that you may never need to take a laxative again!

World Food Crisis

It has become a part of the popular wisdom that after a long history of battling against privation humanity has now learned enough about food production so that hunger is no longer necessary anywhere in the world. Like much popular wisdom, this is true but not quite true.

The techniques of food production have indeed been so improved in recent decades that, under ideal conditions, enough food could be produced to make hunger a thing of the past. The trouble is that these techniques are not presently applied to agriculture in more than a relatively small part of the world. There is a big gap between what man knows about producing food, and what he does about it.

This must be kept in mind when considering a recent warning by Binay R. Sen, head of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization. Between now and the end of the century, he said, the world faces a "disaster of unprecedented magnitude" unless the nations cooperate in a massive program of raising food production and curbing the population growth rate.

One example will suffice to show the sort of increase in food production the FAO's experts have in mind. By the year 2,000, Sen declared, meat and dairy products will have to rise nearly five-fold to reach acceptable levels. He added that food production is not growing at such a rate in any developing country. It is clear that the United States and other countries with high living standards ought to undertake a stepped-up program of helping other countries to boost their own food production.

The alternative is not pretty. The FAO's director told the United Nations: "The next 35 years, till the end of the century, will be a most critical period in man's history." Serious consideration of the problem now may help avert a world tragedy.

Accept With Caution

The federal aid-to-education bill has been signed into law with an observation by President Johnson that "... no law I have signed or will ever sign means more to the future of America."

That could well be prophetic. If districts burdened by impoverished scholastics are able to offer better quality education because of this assistance, this could help give meaning to the type intended by the president. If, however, the desire for aid induces haste to any arrangement which would compromise the independence of local and state direction of the educational system, then a meaning altogether different, but none the less real, would be given the words.

Hence, there should be two exacting criteria applied to application for aid — one the urgency of need which cannot be met by some other means, and then acceptance only under terms which will not affect the local districts' or higher institutions' freedom to direct their affairs.

WASHINGTON — It was reported in all the newspapers that the Mayor of Bull Whip, Alabama, was involved in a film-film confidence game in Washington, D. C.

There have been so many versions of what happened that I immediately tried to separate the wheat from the chaff. This much is certain. The Mayor and a friend of his were in Washington, D. C., to appear on a television show called "Closed Mind." After the show, around one in the morning, they went out into the street, for we know not what, met a friendly Negro, who, when he discovered that the Mayor was from Bull Whip, offered to show him the town. In the course of the tour the Mayor lost $112.

I CALLED the Mayor of Bull Whip for his version. "It's a pack of Northern press lies," he said at once. "What is, Mayor?"

Billy Graham

I often suffer with pains in my arms and my hands are very stiff. But this physical suffering is minor compared to my fear of paralysis. In 1 John 4:18 the Bible says, "Perfect love casteth out fear." Will you please tell me how?

C.F. Perfect love requires the complete surrender of your life to Christ. Are you willing to trust Him, and each day use whatever strength you have in His service? Are you willing to say, "If paralysis should come I'll accept it as my Cross, and still find a way to witness for my Lord?" Do this, and your fear will evaporate like morning mist before the sun.

If you have not already done so, go immediately to a physician whom you trust and ask him if there is any reason for your fear. He may prescribe exercises or treatments to relieve your condition. God often works through those who are His servants. Even if your trouble cannot be cured, remember that very few people have no infirmity. Recall the lives of those who did most for humanity, and you will be aware that many of them labored under some physical handicap. Paul was not well, but he accomplished more than a dozen men.

If you would be free of this fear which grips you, push aside every thought of the future. Live today for Christ. Surrender your mind and your body to Him. Then you will know how "Perfect love casteth out fear."

Prices Up

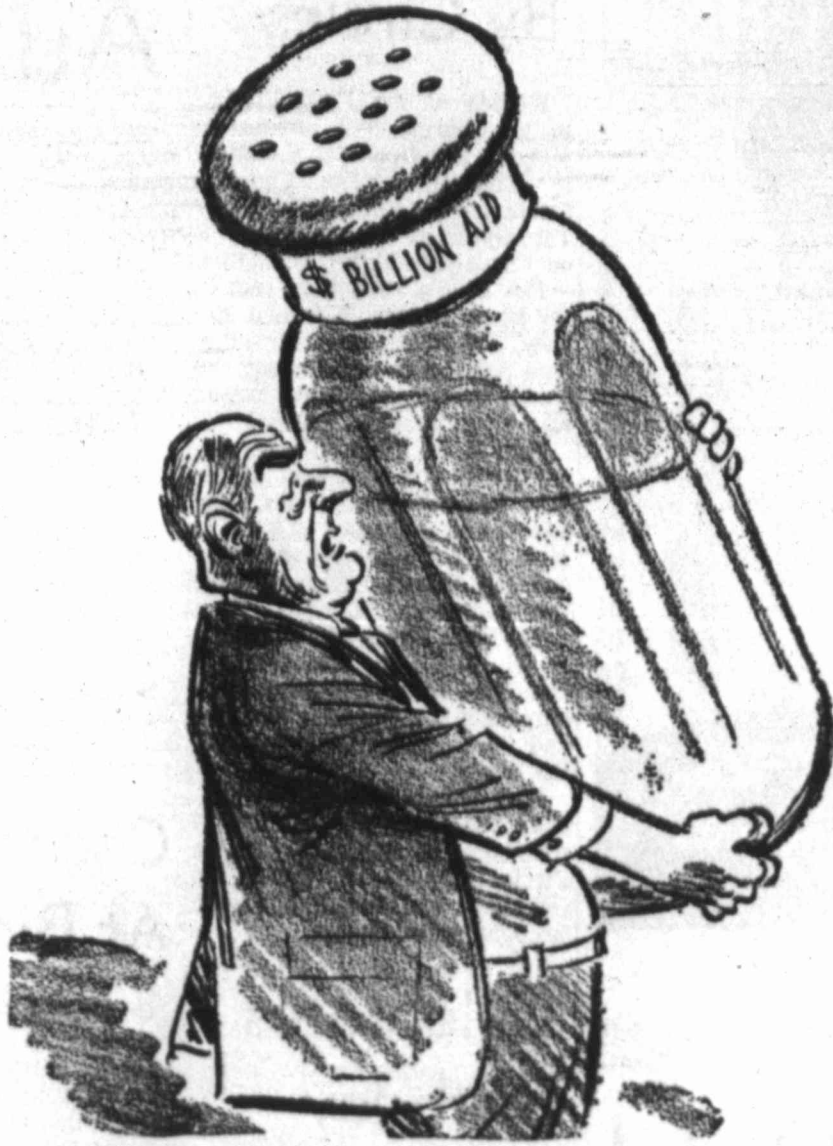

LONDON (AP) — The Royal Opera House at Covent Garden has announced record high prices for the gala performance of Puccini's "Tosca" with Maria Callas and Tito Gobbi.

Boxes, seating four, will cost 105 pounds ($294) while a single seat in the orchestra will set the holder 31 pounds ten shillings ($88.20).

The previous high price charged has been 78 pounds ($218.40) for boxes at last year's gala performance of Verdi's "Il Trovatore."

The July 5 performance is in aid of the Opera House Beneficent Fund and will be attended by Queen Elizabeth, Prince Philip and Queen Mother Elizabeth.

"I've no doubt we'll sell out," said Lord Drogheda, chairman of the opera house.

LBJ Voice Drowns Out All Else In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — The one voice that drowns out all else in Washington is President Johnson's. His Cabinet members sound like thin echoes of him and even Congress is muted.

This is an extremely unusual year in Washington — for the absence of feuds, fights and flaps — although it may be overlooked in the bang-bang way Johnson is getting things done and attracting attention.

After almost 17 months of exposure to Johnson in the White House the nation is getting used to its bouncy, highly energetic President whose performance Monday was more or less typical of his activity any day.

HE FLEW back from Texas; opened the baseball season by throwing out not one ball but two; stopped off on his way back to the White House to lay a wreath on the Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial which was dedicated Monday, and Monday night entertained one-third of the Senate again at a combination reception and idea-swap in the White House.

Tonight he is having a 5 o'clock reception for the congressional leaders who put through his aid-to-education bill Monday night; at 6 o'clock he will have a reception and idea-swap with the second third of the Senate (again); and Wednesday night he will have a reception and idea-swap with the third third of the Senate (again).

Johnson manages to stay in print practically every day by doing something or saying something, although the general public has no idea of what a talker the President is.

He has many, many sessions with newsmen, singly or in groups, with the understanding he won't be quoted directly or, depending on what he is saying, at all. In some of these group sessions he has talked as much as three hours.

HIS COMPLETE domination of the executive branch of the government, at least, can be illustrated by what two men above all others say, or rather what they don't say: Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk is the quiet, technician type who apparently expects the top man to do the talking anyway, which is quite a contrast with President Dwight D. Eisenhower's secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

Rusk was a pale figure even under President John F. Kennedy but under Johnson he has become almost shadowy, saying hardly anything, and when he does talk it's mostly the obvious, or a banality, or a repetition of something Johnson has said or some line Johnson has laid down.

This is true of all the Cabinet members who, when they do have to say something, do it with a minimum of commotion and disappear off stage again.

IN ADDITION to her stage earnings, royalties from photograph albums and other sources of income, Barbara has a television contract guaranteeing her $5 million over the next 10 years.

"Any amount of money over $50,000 confuses me. I feel you can live as well on $25,000 a year as on a million. You can ride in only one limousine at a time," she said.

"I allot myself only $25 a week, and I never spend it all. I like to pay in cash. It gives me a great feeling."

"When I pay by check, I feel like I'm getting it for nothing — because it's just paper."

Maturity has somewhat tamed Barbara's pranks with which she used to call attention to herself. She remains a loner, given to introspection. Her dark blue eyes smolder with electric intensity.

Millions Of People Have Diverticulosis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can diverticulosis be operated on? Is it advisable? I am a 42-year-old man, and in good health otherwise. Would surgery eliminate the need for the diet I am on? Enclosed is 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You." — H.M.

The booklet will answer your questions in detail, but to give you (and others) a quick explanation:

Diverticulosis is extremely common. It means that a tiny bulge, or out-pouching, has developed—this can be in other places, but for practical purposes we use the term for pouches which occur in the intestinal tract, and generally in the colon.

Millions of people have diverticulosis. The majority either don't know it, or don't have any trouble resulting from it.

Moderate treatment usually is sufficient to subside the problem.

A non-irritating diet is one of the best means of keeping this pouching area calm and quiet. And the diet isn't difficult or onerous. Various medications are used, too. And, of course, a vast number of cases require neither diet nor medication.

Occasionally one of these pouches becomes irritated, inflamed, infected. Even then, conservative treatment usually succeeds in restoring it to comfortable status.

This surgery isn't often needed. Removal of the distressed portion of the colon would be warranted only if serious complications develop — recurrent bleeding, perforation of the colon and the formation of abscess, or stricture (narrowing) of the colon as a result of repeated attacks and hence formation of scar tissue.

In such cases as do necessitate surgery, it is impossible to say in advance that a bland, non-irritating diet will be mandatory afterward, but in general I would have to say yes, such a diet would be wise. You will be rid of the pouching section, but you will have the scar where the operation and rejoining of the colon was performed and it is only sensible to follow a diet which will give reasonable promise of not irritating that area.

Dr. Molner is always happy to hear from his readers, but he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters due to the great number received daily. Whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim

Mr. Big Is Now Nameless Face

He was a husky man, broad of shoulder, inclined to be chunky. His face was hard and there was no expression of disappointment, anger or any emotion. His jaw was set and he stared straight ahead with pale blue eyes.

The handcuffs on his wrists forced him to come through the door half sideways. He stalked to the police sergeant's desk and stood there, his elbows on the counter and his manacled wrists thrust upward almost in front of his face.

BACK OF HIM were a half dozen stern faced officers. Some fingered their guns. For all the crowd, the prisoner might as well have been alone. He looked neither to the right nor the left.

A reporter said: "Hi, Harvey." The man swept his eyes across to where the newsmen sat. "H'yah, kid?" he grunted.

OFFICERS BOOKED him in, pushed him back into the dimly lit cell block to the remotest and strongest cell. After they had unlocked the handcuffs, they shoved him into the barred room. He sat down on the cot and putting his hands back of his head, sat staring at the wall. He never spoke. Men came to the cell door and asked questions. The figure on the cot said nothing and remained motionless.

That was back in 1933.

LAST WEEK, at Lansing Kan., a white-haired man, now 78-years-old, his face lined and wrinkled, stepped through the heavy doors of the prison and walked away with the slow steps of an aging man.

The man who was paroled from the Kansas prison was Harvey Bailey, who was one of the principals in the celebrated Charles Urschel kidnapping.

I WAS THE newsmen who hailed him on that day 32 years ago when he was arrested in my town. He had been confined in the Dallas jail, following the Urschel kidnapping, and had somehow escaped from that towering institution. He had kidnapped a jailer and forced the jailer to accompany him on a 105 mile ride north to my town. There they ran into a posse of police and deputy sheriffs. A wild chase followed through town, with pistols popping and tires screaming as the cars swerved around corners. Seeking to evade his captors, Bailey swung too sharply around a corner and crashed into a high curb. A front wheel collapsed and his desperate bid for liberty ended.

BAILEY, IN his time, was one of the big bad men of the '30's. Before he had been involved in the Urschel kidnapping, he had robbed the Citizens National Bank of Fort Scott, Kan. of $31,000. Convicted of that offense, he had been sent to prison for 10 to 50 years. On Memorial Day, 1933, he was one of several convicts who broke out of the prison. In this escape he was credited with saving the life of the then warden when his companions wanted to kill the officer.

TIMES HAVE changed since Bailey was a big man in the world of crime. And he is no longer young.

Thirty years or so ago, his face stared at you from the bulletin boards in hundreds of post offices and the lobbies of countless police stations and county jails.

Today he can walk anywhere he pleases and not one person in a thousand would recognize him.

The Imperishable Beer Can

WASHINGTON—My question for today, he said in his characteristic meandering whine, is this—if they can design an automobile that will wear out in two years, why can't they do the same thing with beer cans.

A beer can is the nearest thing to earthly immortality there is. They are imperishable. When the Great Pyramid of Cheops has crumbled in the dust, 3,098,527,550,000,002 (I've counted 'em) empty beer cans will still befool the American landscape. When Boulder Dam is nothing but a rumbled tin of folklore, the discarded Pilsner tin will endure.

IF THE SLY fabricators of Detroit can design obsolescence into their chariots, why can't the can tycoons do likewise. A leaky beer can would be an abomination, I'll own, but certainly they don't have to build them like bank vaults to avoid this. Can't they add a pinch of something to the metal, or the paint, or the plastic liner that will cause the infernal things to fall into rust 30 days after they are drained?

Every American roadside bears silent witness to the beer-can blight. There is something about the species slobbous Americanus that renders him incapable of disposing of his litter in a decent manner. He swills a can of lager and he chucks the empty out of the window of his automobile. Ultimately organic decomposition will claim the slob. But the beer can will survive in a manner to make the Rock of Gibraltar seem a veritable will-o-the-wisp.

IT IS CLEAR that nothing short of mass prefrontal lobotomies will change the witless boobs who defoul the landscape with their vile rubbish. The problem will have to be attacked

Russians Are Controlling Hail

WASHINGTON — Summer thunder showers, not far in the distance, will soon bring hailstorms that destroy about $600 million worth of American crops.

In our free enterprise land, the approved method of meeting this loss is to take out insurance policies that pay for the damage after the fact. But the Russians have a better idea. They use artillery to bombard the clouds with silver iodide pellets, turning big hailstones into little ones.

SOME GOOD fable writer, like Aesop or La Fontaine, might make a good thing of this contrast. Here's the ounce of prevention outweighing the pound of cure. Here's the practical businessman-farmer of the U.S.A. going to the insurance company, whereas the technocrat-farmer of the Russian steppes turns to the meteorologist and the cannonner. The fabulist could whittle a fine point to this moral, but the flat-footed reporter can't do much more than note that the Russians are ahead of us—again.

HAIL IS a menace of all seasons, but only in growing and harvesting weather is it a crop-killer. Since it forms in rainy climates and thrives on altitude, hail isn't a major threat in the sea level Southeast or the deserts of the Southwest. But the apples which will soon blossom in the Blue Ridge hills of the Virginias, and the wheat that is greening in the Dakotas are two of twenty-odd crops in 1,200 counties which are insured by private and governmental policies, and hail is a killer which ranks just behind drought, floods and frost. Private and mutually-owned insurance firms cover hailstorm damages, and the U. S. Agriculture Department runs the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, which covers all risks beyond control of producers, including the risk of hail.

BUT OYER IN Russia, while there's a pale imitation of our government insurance, the objective is hail suppression rather than hail compensation. In May of 1964, a group of seven American atmospheric scientists visited eight experimental stations to see what the Russian cloud physicists were doing. Dr. Vernon Souml of the U.S. Weather Bureau came home to make a speech about hail suppression, and Dr. Louis Battan of the University of Arizona explores the same subject in a paper which I have been allowed to read, but am not encouraged to quote until its publication.

SUFFICE IT to say that the Russians, after laboratory experiments which started in 1957, conducted outdoor trials in 1961 and 1963 over hail-prone farmland. They spent 30,000 roubles on the operations but they saved an estimated one million roubles' worth of crops. The investment-profit ratio is high enough to tempt both capitalist and Communist.

THE OVERALL lesson from weather control experiments seems to be that man's best opportunity lies in small, specific, restraining efforts—of which hail suppression is a current example.

Circus Acts Fail To Aid Kansas City

By The Associated Press
At least Charlie Finley advertised his circus.
New York and Minnesota kept theirs a secret until just before game time.
A multitude of errors and wild pitches following a flood-forded helicopter ride heavily punctuated Minnesota's 11-inning 5-4 opening-game victory over the Yankees Monday.
Finley's follies, flavoring Detroit's 6-2 triumph over Kansas City at night, included Charlie O's trot around the bases on Charlie O. plus a menagerie of pigeons, pheasants and a chick.
In the only other American League game, Boston whipped Washington 7-2 in the presidential opener. Rain washed out Cleveland at Los Angeles while Chicago and Baltimore were idle.
The highlight of the circus preceding the Kansas City game started when Charlie O. the mule plodded into the spotlight. Finley, the A's uninhibited owner, climbed aboard the team's new mascot and began a tour of the base paths. As they reached second base and home plate, Charlie Sr. waved his white cowboy hat to the assembled audience.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: GEORGE MURPHY, newly elected Republican senator from California:

"With an athlete, the eyes go first, not the legs. The athlete's eyes do not react as fast as they once did. He does not sight the fly ball as fast as he once did, therefore he is a step later getting started and blames his legs. I could dance as well at 45 as I could at 20. I know because I did it. I could still dance some if I had not gained about 12 pounds after I stopped smoking, and I am 62. . . . I may be out there playing third base for the Washington Nats before the season is over. That was my position when I was in school. I remember when I danced with June O'Day—the wife of Lefty Gomez—when we were in 'Of Thee I Sing.' I once whispered to her that I heard Lefty got knocked out of the box in the third inning and she missed the next four steps.
... My dad (Mike Murphy, coach of the first two U.S. Olympic teams) was the first to start sprinters from a crouch. It came about in Detroit where he was trying to figure out a way to beat a fellow who was much better than his athlete. His guy won and started a trend. Dad was a great student of anatomy. He predicted 50 years ago that Negroes would excel in runs up to half a mile if they ever got proper training, because they had slightly longer legs that gave them more leverage."
GORDIE HOWE, pro hockey player:
"What is old? Anyone is old to someone who's ten years younger."
DOC HAYES, SMU basketball coach:
"Eight of our games the past season were decided in the last 30 seconds, and we won six of them. And then people wondered what happened to my hair."
ANDY GUSTAFSON, athletic director at the University of Miami:
"I don't rate John Huarte, the Notre Dame quarterback, with Joe Namath. Huarte is quick and dexterous, but he had a winning team with him last fall and that makes it much easier to operate. You're going to see some great quarterbacking in pro football this fall, including George Mira, formerly of Miami, who's just getting into stride. Namath is one of the most exciting players I've ever seen. He'll be a great pro. He's got the poise to stand back there and survey the situation, no matter what's happening. And when he lets the ball go, it's with a whoosh that makes you gasp."
JOHNNY PESKY, coach for the Pittsburgh Pirates and former manager of the Boston Red Sox:
"You know how I feel? I feel like a condemned man who has had a reprieve. I can relax now. I can eat breakfast in peace—without worrying about Dick Stuart. . . . Don't get me wrong. I like Stuart personally. I think he's a fun guy to be with. But I don't like his talent. To put it frankly, he drove me nuts. When I reminded him that Stan Musial bunted 14 times during the season of 1946, Stuart said: 'Musial? He was lefthanded, wasn't he?' . . . It's like having a kid who doesn't want to study. You have to be on his back all the time. Once you wind up and point him in the right direction, there's no more dangerous hitter in baseball than Stuart. But spare me any more head-shrinking jobs. I'm happy to be in 'Athletics Anonymous,' which is what they call us coaches."
RALPH WILSON, owner of the AFL Buffalo Bills, on why he got rid of Cookie Gilchrist:
"We figure that we had to put up another season with his temperament he would disrupt our whole team."

GEORGE MURPHY

back to topple Odessa High. Cooper was downed by Odessa High in its debut, 3-0, but came back last Saturday to knock off Midland Lee, 7-4.
The Cougars, coached by Henry Colwell, are 6-4 for the season while the Steers are 8-7. Cooper split a pair of games with Colorado City, 19-6 and 0-7. Big Spring beat the same team twice but one of the games went into extra innings.
Cooper has outscored the opposition over the year, 57-38. Big Spring has played 56 tallies over the season, compared to 49 of the foe.
Hank Pope will likely go to the mound for Big Spring today while Cooper could lead with its ace, Mike Choate. If Choate doesn't toil on the mound for the visitors, it will be David Johnson.
Other starters for Big Spring will probably be Yogi Anderson behind the plate, Eddie Thomas at first base, Gregg Pate at second, Howard Bain at third, Johnny Thomas or Sammy Mims at shortstop, Jesse Zapata in left field, Van Tom Whatley in center and Larry Broughton in right.
Cooper is apt to go with Mike Simmons at second base, Mark Withrow in right field, Ronnie Harris in center, Jimmy Little at third, Roger Bailey at short, Duane Yeatman catching and either Choate or Johnson on the pitching rubber.

Short Tames Astro Nine Behind Phils

By JOE REICHLER
HOUSTON (AP) — Chris Short, a notoriously late starter, finally appears to have found the formula for winning early.
Manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies nominated him to pitch the season's opener against Houston Monday night and the 27-year-old southpaw responded nobly by blanking the Astros 2-0.
"It was the first time in my career, either in the majors or minors, that I ever pitched a season opener," said Short. "And it must be the first time I have ever won a game the first two weeks of any season in the big leagues."
Short was a 17-game winner for the Phillies last season but he waited 35 days before recording his first triumph. This year he waited exactly two hours and 34 minutes for a superb four-hitter in which only one Houston batter reached third base.
Richie Allen's home run off Bob Bruce in the third inning, with Ruben Amaro on base, was all the blond native of Milford, Del., needed as he struck out 11, including the side in the fourth, when the Astros put together two hits in an inning for the only time in the game.
"I was getting all four on my pitches over the plate," Short said in explaining his effectiveness. "My fast ball, curve, slider and change were working excellently."
"I was surprised at the way my change-up behaved. I usually have a tough time getting it over the plate this early. Maybe that's why I've been such a slow starter before. I hope this is a good omen. My goal is to win 20 this year and with luck I think I can do it."
Like every player who has visited the $31.6 million Astrodome, Short fell in love with the air-conditioned, steel-roofed stadium, but for different reasons.
"It's an excellent park to pitch in," he said. "The mound is real good and so are the dimensions. Also, the absence of wind helps a lot."

Louis Cardinals battled 11 innings and had to settle for a 10-10 tie with the Chicago Cubs in a game called because of darkness and Philadelphia and Houston played the first regular season game inside the Houston Astrodome with Chris Short firing a four-hitter and the Phillies blanking the Astros 2-0.
Home runs played an important role in all of the National League games.
Vele escaped two early jags before settling down to his duel with San Francisco's Marichal. Bob Bailey's leadoff homer in the 10th broke it up. Bailey's shot was only the fifth Pirate hit.

In the fourth, Willie Mays singled and moved to second on a wild pitch. After Vele, who struck out 10 and walked just one, fanned Jim Ray Hart and got Willie McCovey on a pop, Jesus Alou got what was to be the Giants' last hit. But Mays had to halt at third on the throw to the plate and then Vele struck out Tom Haller, ending the inning.
Vele finished up by retiring the last 19 men in order until Bailey's shot won it.
Cloninger allowed a leadoff single to Cincinnati's Pete Rose and a sixth-inning homer to Deron Johnson but that was all. The Braves, meanwhile, hopped on Jim O'Toole with Joe Torre and Ed Mathews socking back-to-back homers to key the attack. Torre, who also homered in the eighth, followed Mathews' sixth-inning shot with one of his own. Felipe Alou had opened the inning with a single and rode home on Mathews' homer, the 46th of Eddie's career.

Astronauts Enjoy Baseball Chat

Astronauts Walter Cunningham (left) and Walter Shirts (center) seem to be enjoying a baseball chat with Houston Astros' pitcher Hal Woodchick in the dugout before the start of the Astros-Phillies game in Houston's Domes Stadium Monday night. The astronauts participating in the U. S. space program were presented with gold life-time passes by National League President Warren Giles. Cunningham wears a neck brace because of a recent injury. Homers Play Major Roles In National

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was opening day but Pittsburgh's Bob Vele, Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger and Casey Stengel's New York Mets were in midseason form.
Vele, the tall Pirate left-hander who led baseball's major leagues with 250 strikeouts last season, fired a nifty three-hitter, blanking the San Francisco Giants and Juan Marichal 1-0 in 10 innings. Cloninger was sharp too, permitting just two hits as Milwaukee beat Cincinnati 4-2.
And Stengel's Mets are in their accustomed spot at the bottom of the standings after a four-hit, 6-1 driftdale by Los Angeles' Don Drysdale who poked a two-run homer for good measure.
In other National League openers, the world champion St. Louis Cardinals battled 11 innings and had to settle for a 10-10 tie with the Chicago Cubs in a game called because of darkness and Philadelphia and Houston played the first regular season game inside the Houston Astrodome with Chris Short firing a four-hitter and the Phillies blanking the Astros 2-0.
Home runs played an important role in all of the National League games.
Vele escaped two early jags before settling down to his duel with San Francisco's Marichal. Bob Bailey's leadoff homer in the 10th broke it up. Bailey's shot was only the fifth Pirate hit.

McHugh Is Named To Play In Game

Eddie McHugh, Coahoma High School's sensational halfback, has been named to play in the 1965 Texas Coaches Association All-Star Football game, which will be unreeled Aug. 5 in Dallas.
McHugh was a major factor in Coahoma's 10-1 season last fall and wound up scoring 165 points for the season. A four-year letterman with the Bulldogs, he scored a record 316 points for the school after reaching high school.
The 169-pound speedster, named to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's All-State team, captained the team his last two seasons.
McHugh's coach his senior year was Spike Dykes, who guided the Bulldogs into the Class A playoffs his first year at the helm.
McHugh will play for the North team in the All-Star game.

Jerry Don Paige Shines On Hill

Jerry Don Paige threw a no-hitter as Skateland downed the City, 10-0, in American Softball League action Monday night.
Skateland collected six hits from City pitchers Rogers and Day. The second inning was the big one for Skateland as they collected five big runs on one base hit. Pitcher Paige hit a three-run home run in the fourth inning to insure his victory.
Paige had eight strike outs to his credit for the game, facing only 15 batters. Six batters flew out while the remaining batter was thrown out at first.
In Monday's first game Seaboard downed Forsan, 6-3. Seaboard drew first blood in the top of the first inning on a home run by Tito Arencibia. Forsan went ahead in the second with three big runs.
Gerald Cox tied it up in the fifth on a two-run home run. In the sixth inning Cox hit a single to drive in Delnor Poss on third for the go-ahead run. Danny Baird then doubled to drive in Cox and Tidwell, who had also doubled.

Table with columns: (FIRST GAME) F H R. Lists scores for Forsan, Skateland, City, and Seaboard.
