Peace Corps To Leave Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—U.S. presidential envoy Ellsworth Bunker's mission to Indonesia ended today with agreement to pull out the American Peace Corps, long a target of Indonesia's Communists.

next few weeks because of "certain tensions" between the United States and Indonesia. About 35 American volunteers have been working in the sprawling island nation, most of them as athletic coaches.

Bunker and President Sukarno issued a communique saying the corps will withdraw in the next few weeks because of "certain tensions" between the United States and Indonesia.

Halfway House Closing Down

Halfway House, an experiment in helping men patients in their period of transition from treatment in the Big Spring State Hospital back to normal life, has reached the end of its rope.

Financial difficulties have become so heavy, the board Wednesday voted to close the operation today.

The only reprieve the Halfway House can expect was that some solution to the financial difficulty could be presented. No member of the board, which met Wednesday noon, anticipated any such happy circumstances.

Original plan pursued by Halfway House was to provide a home for the men on their way back to normal life after a time

Rig Mishap Kills Worker

SNYDER—Marvin Hayes, 27, of Snyder, working with Noble Drilling Co. of Tulsa, Okla., on a drilling rig 7 1/2 miles northeast of Big Spring, was killed this morning when a cable on the rig broke. The crew was going back in the hole "with a string" when the cable snapped.

Big Spring Ambulance Service carried Hayes to Cowper Clinic Hospital about 9 a.m. and he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Hayes moved with his family to Snyder from Kermit about eight months ago and lived in a trailer house on the west edge of Snyder. He was a native of Oklahoma, and will be returned there for burial.

Survivors are the widow; a daughter, Pam Hayes, 5; two sons, Russell Hayes, 4, and Randy Hayes, two months; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hayes, Bristow, Okla.; a sister and two brothers.

Midland Athlete Critically Injured

MIDLAND (AP)—Bob Drake, 16, a Midland Lee High School athlete, was critically injured Wednesday when he was struck in the head by a discus.

He still was unconscious today after a three-hour operation. His condition today was termed critical.

Drake was struck on the side of his head when high winds sent the four-pound missile off course.

Electronic 'Watchdog' Eyed For Future U.S. Motorists

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Future motorists may have to contend with an electronic "watchdog" capable of advising whether they're in condition to drive.

Baylor University biomedical scientists say the device would cut down the car's speed according to the driver's emotional level. They have been studying drivers for several years.

Dr. Vincent P. Collins said data obtained by electronic methods enables them to tell when a driver is reaching a point where he is not capable of operating his automobile.

TEST DRIVERS: Individuals being studied by Collins and his colleagues make test drives with wires attached to the throat and chest and connected to a telemetering device.

Storms Strike Then Subside In State Areas

Cool, dry air from New Mexico moved into Texas today while punishing storms finished subsiding across the state.

Clouds thinned as the latest round of tornadoes and wild thunderstorms died away, leaving widespread property damage.

One twister battered Perrin, 16 miles north of Mineral Wells, but its 350 residents escaped injury. Observers spotted at least three other tornadoes in Texas and half a dozen across the Red River in Central Oklahoma, where the only reported damage was to barns on a couple of farms.

Hail riddled numerous areas, causing more destruction than the vicious winds in places. One of the hardest hit was Graham, south of Wichita Falls. Chunks of ice up to 7 1/2 inches thick smashed windows and battered roofs with costly fury in the southeast part of Graham.

At Perrin the writing storm wrecked a lumber yard and damaged nearly every building in town, including the school. Peace officers in Tarrant and Dallas counties kept close tab on what they described as a huge funnel cloud. It whirled overhead from 10 miles northwest of Fort Worth past Roanoke, Lewisville, Frisco and on east before breaking up.

Sightings of other funnel clouds which stayed aloft were northwest of Abilene between Rotan and Roby, and between Eastland and Fort Worth.

Most of the violent weather coursed across North Texas, keeping thousands uneasy for hours. As thunderstorms grew more and more severe, the Weather Bureau put a 100-mile wide sector from 20 miles south of Fort Worth to 50 miles northeast of Tulsa, Okla., under a tornado alert.

At one point forecasters advised all residents of Stephens, Palo Pinto, Parker, Wise and Cooke counties to take shelter from the boiling thunderstorms.

Special tornado warnings went out earlier for the Panhandle. Plains area in a belt 120 miles wide from 30 miles southeast of Lubbock to Ardmore, Okla.

Lines of thunderstorms formed from Wichita Falls southward and boiled across the state toward the east. They turned loose near cloudbursts at some points.

Electra measured 1.54 inches of rain in a brief downpour. Water collected so rapidly that the roof of the public library building collapsed. Farmers and stockmen welcomed the rain, however, on wheat fields and pastures.

Police in Bethesda, Md., was found dead of a bullet wound six hours later in an auto outside the Bethesda police station.

TWO NOTES: Police said they found two notes beside Miss Butts' body in the blood-splattered car. They said one of them told of the slaying.

Miss Happer, a Bethesda resident who had been staying at the High Oaks Home for Christian Scientists, in the city's Germantown section, was found dead by a nurse, Edith Barrett, who said she had heard "two sharp cracks."

Miss Barrett said she rushed into the room and saw a woman, later identified as Miss Butts, stuffing something into her handbag. Lying across the bed clad in a slip was Miss Happer.

Death Of Gen. Taylor's In-Law Is 'Mercy Killing'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"Today I killed my best friend, Mary, who has been suffering so cruelly from cancer."

So begins a note written by a woman, who, police say, shot to death the sister-in-law of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam, and then took her own life.

Mary Happer, 61, was shot to death Wednesday in a Philadelphia nursing home in what police termed a mercy killing. Dorothy Butts, 49, of Bethesda, Md., was found dead of a bullet wound six hours later in an auto outside the Bethesda police station.

Target Is Near Cambodia Border

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An armada of 230 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes bombed a Communist stronghold near the Cambodian border "from dawn to dusk" today in the biggest air raid of the Viet Nam war.

U.S. Army, Air Force and Marine aircraft based in Viet Nam were joined by Navy planes from the carriers Coral Sea and Midway and Skyraider fighter-bombers of the South Vietnamese air force.

It was the first time Navy planes had gone into action against targets inside South Viet Nam. Previous Navy raids have been made on North Viet Nam.

JUNGLE FACILITY: A U.S. spokesman said the target was a tangled jungle region nearly 2 miles wide by 3 1/2 miles long in Tay Ninh Province northwest of Saigon.

"It was a maze of blotchy woods, with Viet Cong gardens and numerous trails visible," he said.

U.S. Air Force and Vietnamese Skyraiders began the bombing attack at dawn.

By late afternoon a huge wall of smoke and fire obscured the Cambodian border. There had been six secondary explosions, presumably from Viet Cong ammunition caches.

U.S. spokesmen said ground fire was "surprisingly light considering that it is a dangerous area." Two Navy planes received one bullet hole each.

SENDS 'COPTERS': A spokesman said Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, had called for a "maximum effort" against the target, which lies in the Communist "C" zone.

"It appeared to be one of the more lucrative places we have seen," one spokesman said. The U.S. Army contributed a platoon of armed helicopters which flew over for Vietnamese spotter planes.

At Da Nang, 360 miles north of Saigon, a military firing squad publicly executed today a Viet Cong terrorist who tried to bomb a hotel filled with American GIs. Applause rippled through the crowd of 7,000 men, women and children as the young Communist slumped at the stake.

Le Dau, 24, showed no emotion as soldiers bound him to the stake in front of a sandbag parapet on the Da Nang soccer field.

RINGS FIELD: A heavy military guard ringed the field. Still awaiting execution is Nguyen Van Hai, 27, who drove the getaway motorbike in the bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Saigon.

Hanoi Radio has announced that the Viet Cong will execute an American civilian prisoner, Gustav C. Hertz, if Hai is killed. There was no such threat in the case of Le Dau.

Le Dau walked into the Grand Hotel in Da Nang April 4 with a transistor radio packed with two pounds of plastic explosive under his arm. He had been loitering in the area three previous days and had aroused suspicions of hotel personnel.

Le Dau left the bomb set to explode in 15 minutes in the hotel restaurant and walked out. When it did not explode, he returned and picked up the radio. A waiter followed him out and hailed a policeman.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has started using the supersonic Phantom jet fighter to guard fighter-bombers from Communist MIG attack in raids into North Viet Nam.

Fifteen F4C Phantoms supported an equal number of F105 fighter-bombers on strikes against two radar stations Wednesday.

Sources said this was the first mention in reports of the appearance of the Air Force version of the Phantom in an escort role over the skies over Viet Nam.

REACH THAILAND: A squadron of 18 F4C Phantoms arrived in Thailand about a week ago after a flight which reportedly began at MacDill Air Force Base in Florida.

The move was one of several made by the Air Force after two F105s were shot down by Communist MIGs during a bridge attack. In that first air combat between U.S. planes and North Vietnamese jets, the F105s were escorted by F100 Supersabre jets. The F100s are older and slower than the Phantoms.

RADAR "EYES": The Phantom is equipped with radar which can sweep the skies in front of it. The F100 had no such radar and a more limited weapons fire control.

The Navy has flown its version of the Phantom, the F4B, against the Communists. One Phantom was lost late last week during a scrap near Communist China's Hainan Island, across the Gulf of Tonkin from North Viet Nam.

Dunlap Will Build Hangar

Ray Dunlap Construction Co., Big Spring, was awarded contract today to build the new 80 by 82 foot hangar building at Howard County Airport. The building will serve as a base of operations for the Air Force T-41A light plane program.

Dunlap was awarded the bid because he stipulated he could complete the building within 88 days. His bid was the second low of a number opened last Monday. He agreed to build the facility for $29,477.

Jones Construction Co., with a bid of $28,367, was low, but the time specification called for 120 days.

Since the Air Force will activate the program by June 1, time was an element of importance.

Flood Picture At A Glance

By The Associated Press: President Johnson after a tour of Midwest states hit by tornadoes and floods declared Indiana, Ohio and Michigan major disaster areas. Flood-stricken sections of Minnesota earlier were designated disaster areas.

The Red Cross estimated more than 31,000 people were homeless in flood stricken areas of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota and Illinois.

A summary of the situation by states:

MINNESOTA — The Mississippi River was reported above flood stage at most gauging stations from Fort Ripley, Minn., to Caruthersville, Mo. Property damage in Minnesota alone was estimated at $23 million. Weather officials said the floods will surpass the disastrous overflows of 1952.

WISCONSIN — Floodwaters from the Mississippi threaten communities along the Wisconsin-Minnesota border.

IOWA — Threats of major flooding by the Mississippi, with indications of more damage than the record flood of 1952.

INDIANA — Death toll from Palm Sunday tornadoes reported at 128 instead of an earlier report of 141.

OHIO — Tornado death toll at 54 and damage to 19 counties estimated at more than $42 million.

Truman Appellation On King Hailed By Sheriff

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Dallas County Sheriff James G. Clark has sent a telegram to former President Harry S. Truman praising him for calling Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. a "troublemaker."

"Your statement will do more good than any statement that has been made by anyone up to this time," Clark said in the telegram.

TRUMAN COMMENTS: The wire referred to Truman's comments earlier this week in New York. The former president also said the Selma-Montgomery march was silly.

Clark, who arrested more than 2,000 civil rights workers since the Selma vote campaign was launched in January, said Wednesday that he sent the wire to the former president while in Mobile on a business trip.

"We here in this great beloved Southland want to thank you for the sensible, splendid statement you made about Luther King, who has caused so much trouble down here," Clark said in the telegram.

CALLED UNBELIEVABLE: It also described the civil rights activities in Selma as "unbelievable."

The wire said, "I don't believe it ever happened before, even in the worst day of this world. The sex orgies in the streets and the churches were worse than in the days of ancient Rome."

Cuba Missile Report Made By Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional report said today the consensus of top intelligence officials is that there are no intermediate-range ballistic missiles in Cuba.

The report said this is based on direct and intense questioning of top intelligence officials by a House subcommittee on inter-American affairs, headed by Rep. Armistead Selden D-Ala.

Reports that Soviet missiles are hidden in Cuban caves or smuggled in the holds of ships "are said to be traced to the movement of anti-aircraft missiles or to the movement of shorter range tactical-type missiles that are known to be in Cuba in some numbers," the report said.

"U.S. intelligence officials feel that the frequency of high-level U2 flights presently being maintained is adequate to safeguard our national security interests."

Birch Society Has Benson As Speaker Here

Reed Benson, oldest son of former U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, will appear at 8 p.m. April 19 at the American Legion Hall in an appearance sponsored by Perimeter Basin chapters of the John Birch Society.

He is the Washington representative of the society and is listed as one of the few "official spokesmen" of the group. For two years he was coordinator of the society in the Utah-Southern Idaho area, going last October to Washington. A graduate of Brigham Young University, he served three years as overseas missionary for the Mormon Church and later served as an U. S. Air Force chaplain. His talk is open to the public and tickets are available at the door.

Offer Help Against Apathy

Disturbed over displays of public apathy at the ballot box, Jaycees have embarked upon a program of offering help to public agencies in stimulating interest in public affairs.

Joe Matthews is chairman of a special task force on this goal. Several Jaycees attended the Tuesday meeting of the city commission, and Jack Dumphy told the commissioners that the Jaycees were ready to help in any way possible to quicken public interest.

Similar offers are due to be made to other public agencies. The program is not entirely new, for Jaycees had representatives present at the city budget hearing. It was given impetus, however, when school trustee elections drew only about 800 votes and then the untested city commission election attracted only 211 voters.

One of the goals, said Jaycee spokesman, is to inform members of the organization on the background, mechanics and problems of local governmental administration.

Appreciation Dinner Set

A service station appreciation dinner will be held at the Country Club at 7:30 p.m. April 26 under the sponsorship of the chamber of commerce petroleum committee. George Jordan, head of the Tourist Development Division of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker.

The dinner and program has been made possible through the cooperation of wholesalers, jobbers and agents, who will be hosts for their station employees and their wives.

Jordan, who has appeared at meetings in Big Spring in the past, will speak on the importance of tourist trade, its impact on the economy of the city and area, and how each community can benefit by knowing how to "serve and sell tourists." He will conduct a tourist school in Big Spring next month.

Members of the petroleum committee, headed by Jerry Worthy, and members of the convention and tourist committee, are invited to attend.

Chamber Manager Carroll Davidson said today that reservations may be phoned to the chamber office at AM 4-4641 and should be in as early as possible for proper arrangements.

Jamboree Set

The Mates and Dates Square Dancers will charter a bus to go to the Lubbock Jamboree Saturday. The Lubbock-bound bus will leave Big Spring at 4:30 p.m. Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Wanner, Mrs. Arvil Henry, Mrs. R. T. Merrell, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woods.

TV Readying Repeat Lineup

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Summer television viewing on the three networks will have its usual second-hand look, with about four out of every five programs moving into reruns.

By actual count, 74 evening programs out of 98 are scheduled to be showing repeats, some of which already have been used for previous summer reruns.

NONE NEW
NBC does not have a single new program on its hot-weather schedule.

ABC has four: "Peyton Place" twice a week, "Shindig," "The King Family" and "The Lawrence Welk Show."

CBS' summer schedule contains the most new material — eight shows. Four are game or panel shows — "What's My Line?" "To Tell the Truth," during the summer months to meet peak demands at Odessa.

"The program has been even more successful this year than we anticipated," said Ivie. "Next year we hope to apply this practice to the 700 acres we have put under lease from J. C. Sale. Should this prove as practical as in our present field, we may be putting in twice or three times as much water during winter time."

This would mean that the district would be storing a month, or perhaps a month and a half supply, at peak summer levels, for Odessa. The district has parallel pipelines from the well field to Odessa, hence it can withdraw water from storage and deliver it at rates approximating peak demand. By taking water from Lake Thomas during winter months when there is ample pipeline capacity, the water not only is put nearer the point of demand, but it is protected from evaporative loss, Ivie noted.

McSpadden Can't Make It For Annual Rodeo

There will be at least one new face in the annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo this year.

Clem McSpadden, who has announced the show for many years, won't be able to make it this time.

A veteran member of the Oklahoma legislature, McSpadden is now presiding over the House of Representatives in the Sooner State. He can't be sure he would be free in time for the May 19-20-21-22 date there.

So Jiggs and Elra Beutler, producers, have arranged for Pete Logan to take over this important chore for next month's wild west show here. Logan, who also is a veteran rodeo clown, has announced the Big Spring show on previous occasions.

Teenage Dance Slated Friday

A teenage dance, with net proceeds to go to the exchange student fund, will be staged Friday evening at the Y gymnasium. Jaycees will serve as sponsors and chaperones for the affair.

Hours are from 8 p.m. to midnight. The exchange student fund is sponsored here by the Big Spring High School Student Council and a local committee of the American Field Service, which coordinates the selection and assignments of students. While the student council makes a major contribution, a number of other local agencies extend financial assistance in one way or another.

Trip Finances Being Sought

The American Field Service committee, which supervises the exchange student program, is looking for transportation for Klaus Limbacher, the current exchange student, to a state meeting in San Antonio next weekend.

Klaus has been invited to participate in the gathering of all exchange students from Texas on April 23-24. The committee felt that perhaps some local families are planning on attending the fiesta in San Antonio that weekend and would have room for Klaus. If this is the case, Mrs. Dick Ream, president-elect, would appreciate a call.

Computer Not To Replace The Housewife

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — William W. Parsons, an expert in data processing, says there is little likelihood computers ever will replace the housewife.

"The machines are actually very stupid," he explained. "If you don't give them the right information, they can't function. They handle masses of information, but what machine could ever store in its brain all the data a housewife collects in one day?"

He ventured there never will be a machine smart enough to predict when a husband will stop on his way home from work for a few beers.

Parsons is senior vice president of Systems Development Corp. of Santa Monica, Calif. He was in Kansas City to tell members of the American Society for Public Administration that they better explore the potentials of automatic data processing in their work.

He got off on the automated housewifery tangent in an interview.

Rites Set For Acie L. Dobbs

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Services were to be held at 2 p.m. today in Albany for Acie Leon Dobbs, 52, of Abilene, who died here early Wednesday morning while visiting friends.

He was born June 30, 1912 in Tolar, Texas, and had lived in Colorado City from 1957 until 1962, later moving to Coleman and then Abilene.

He was a veteran of World War II. He was preceded in death by his wife, Lucille, in 1959.

Services were to be at the Assembly of God in Albany, with burial in Albany Cemetery under direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

Survivors include two sons, Leon Dobbs, Abilene, and Marvin Dobbs, Colorado City; two brothers, A. C. Dobbs, Abilene, and Sydney Dobbs, Albany; two sisters, Mrs. J. E. Pulliam, Abilene, and Mrs. I. B. Rogers, Albany; and four grandchildren.

Regular Swim Schedule Set

The regular YMCA Saturday swim schedule will be stepped up to Friday this week, because of Easter holidays. Jim Gilbert, physical director has announced.

The six to eight-year-olds will swim Friday from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.; nine to 12-year-olds from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., and the junior high ages and above, from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The tiny tot and minnow swims will not be held Friday.

Apostles Take Up The Cross

EDITOR'S NOTE—After the Crucifixion, believers in Christ became an outlaw sect, specifically prohibited from spreading word of His Resurrection, propagating faith in Him or even mentioning His name. Following is another in an Easter series about that period, dealing with one of the many early trials of the Apostles.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

An unexampled species, these Nazarenes. Rabban Gamaliel eyed them perplexedly. They had brazenly flouted a state edict. Yet for all his erudition, he could not come to any clear judgment about them.

Their conduct mystified him. Their hymns, their "holy kisses," their sharing of goods, the much-making over a common gourd of wine, their constant smiles and indiscriminate attachment for one another all seemed harmless enough.

ARRESTED
Yet their 12 leaders, arrested and arraigned before the council for the third time of late, were unquestionably lawbreakers. And the dominant clique of the Sanhedrin, in league with Rome, had decided in advance that they must die.

A lofty-minded teacher, Gamaliel was master of the famed school of Hillel, and the first of the great rabbis to be honored with the title, "rabban," an arch-scholar. But his status had waned in the Rome-dominated statecraft.

He saw little hope for these culprits. Not that he held any brief for their bizarre "good news," equating God's awaited ruler with a crucified victim. But he preferred to let their claim fall of its own baselessness.

FUMED
He sat in silence, his sagacious old eyes wearily disenchanted as the summary hearing went on. Caiaphas, the high priest, fumed at the prisoners. "We strictly charged you not to teach in this name. Yet here you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and you intend to bring the man's blood upon us."

Twice before, since crucifixion of their Galilean inciter, they had been jailed and warned "not to speak or teach at all in the name of Jesus." Once they had escaped, apparently through collusion of cell guards.

And they persisted in their insubordination with unmitigated zeal.

THIRD TIME
They would not be let off lightly a third time. Lined up before the semicircular balustrade in the stone court chamber, the 12 exchanged stubborn looks and their ringleader, Peter, spoke in his mariner's growl: "We must obey God, rather than men."

It was sheer insolence. Gamaliel sighed resignedly as indignant exclamations broke out among the lawyers and ruling Sadducees. Caiaphas purpled as lividly as his long embroidered meen. "Marad! Rebellious!"

Opposing his Rome-upheld faction seemed useless. Yet Gamaliel, an inveterate old battler for principle, knew he must try. He counted several fellow Pharisees present who supported his doctrine of moderation, as against the severe school of Shamai.

He had personally observed the conduct of the accused sect, noticing that its members continued in daily attendance at the Temple. They had not foresworn their ancestral faith, albeit they brought strange admixtures to it.

POOR
Many were of the poor, the ebyonim, dwelling in the musty passages of the old eastern wall. Others were well off. But by their extraordinary charity, no Nazarene had an unfilled need.

Yet they certainly had become a disturbance to the prevailing pattern of things. They created popular ferment, engendering reports of miraculous cures and supernatural intercessions. They attracted swarms of the afflicted.

And their numbers grew. At first, at that dumfounding rampage at the Pentecost festival a year or so ago, 3,000 had joined the sect, but many of these were pilgrims, now scattered to many regions.

Yet those who remained had increased until they now numbered 5,000 in Jerusalem alone, a small fragment in a city 20 times that, but with a sizable force in these unstable times.

STEPPED IN
Already, Rome's troops had stepped in repeatedly to stifle dissidence, often with massive slaughter, and the puppet Sadducees were under strictures to keep down disorders or lose their religious prerogatives.

Under this pressure, the Nazarenes had been banned as a conspiracy. And now, the hot-head Peter went on with his brash effrontery:

"The God of our Fathers raised up Jesus whom you killed by hanging Him on a tree. God exalted Him at His right hand as Leader and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins. And we are witnesses to these things, and so is the Holy Spirit whom God has given to those who obey Him."

At a signal from a Temple sagan, a guard slashed his whip across the fisherman's face, ordering silence. "Hosah! Hosah!" A paroxysm of rage seized the council. Gamaliel's pale hand tightened on his staff.

LUNGED
He lunged to his feet, rapping his staff on the floor.

"Remove these men!" he commanded. "Return them to the dungeon! Let us reason calmly what must be done."

Gamaliel waited, his thoughts racing. Certainly he could not dispute the civil disobedience of these men. Nevertheless, as a liberal Pharisee, he also knew that God's loftiest concepts often sprang from ridiculed non-conformists.

"Men of Israel," he said, "take care what you do with these men."

HESITATED
He hesitated, hemmed around by the glowering faces, by these power-jealous councilors straining to hang on to their shaky offices under the lash of Rome. Suddenly he saw their vulnerability. He knew how to beat them. They were afraid.

He nodded imperceptibly to himself. "These days," he went on, "the land trembles with contentions and alarms. The one titled our protector is even now called to account for scattering and slaying the Samaritan multitude on Mt. Gerizim. It is said the Eagle screams in Rome itself."

He paused, noting the uneasy reaction. They knew that the governor, Pontius Pilate, had been rebuked by the Emperor Tiberius for the Samaritan massacre, as well as for other brutal suppressions. Inevitably, trouble for Pilate bode trouble for Caiaphas.

SQUIRMED
The high priest squirmed, twisting his ring, as Gamaliel continued, suggesting the prudence of leaving the Nazarene sect to its own fate, like many others before it.

Then, amid the unsettled anxiety permeating the chamber, he warned somberly, "So in the present case, I tell you, keep away from these men, and let them alone."

He saw the blanched, shaken reaction and heaped on a theological omen. "If this plan or this undertaking is of men, it will fail; but if it is of God, you will not be able to overthrow them."

"You might even be found opposing God!"

CAPITULATED
He sat down, eased of a burden. The court capitulated hastily, uncomfortably. For appearances sake, it charged the group to speak no more "in the name of Jesus," had them flogged and let them go.

Gamaliel, the learned, idealistic Pharisee, a teacher of Saul of Tarsus, and possibly also of Bar-Nabas, had raised a bold protest to save the Apostles. And they went on teaching in the forbidden name of Jesus. So did Saul, after a career of another kind. (Tomorrow: The Enforcer.)

Stanton Plans Bunny Parade

STANTON—The bunny parade which has been a yearly tradition here since 1953 will again attract youngsters from throughout Martin County Sunday morning.

The Easter Sunday children's parade will be along the east side of the courthouse square.

The Stanton Chamber of Commerce sponsors the event, with more than 100 youngsters participating each year.

The parade is to begin at 9 a. m. with children under 12 taking part. Cecil Bridges is chairman and Mrs. Lila Flanagan co-chairman of the parade this year.

The first such parade ever staged in Texas, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce later placed the event in its recommended schedule of activities for towns of below 5,000 population.

The 9 a. m. starting time is planned by the Stanton Chamber to allow time for children to participate and then go to Sunday School and church activities.

Other Half Of The Coin

Gov. John Connally generally is getting good support in his program to pursue academic excellence in higher education. It is obvious, however, that this cannot be achieved fully without a corresponding strengthening of the secondary schools.

Gardner Cowles, editor in chief of Look Magazine, addressing the National School Boards Association annual meeting recently, called for a reshaping of the "entire structure of U.S. educational priorities." He added:

"The younger the human being, the more effective and lasting will be any effort to teach him. The educational influence that may be exerted on a 5-year old in one hour's time takes tens, hundreds, or even thousands of hours at age 15."

The Texas approach might begin with an inventory and a careful study of teaching methods and of curriculum in school districts which approximate a cross-section of the state's districts. Educators in search of an approach might find most helpful a study of the same problem made by the Commonwealth of Kentucky in 1960-61.

The Kentucky Commission on Public Education named a curriculum study committee of 12 members.

The committee divided itself into three teams of four members each and visited 100 representative schools, paying special attention to the courses offered, their content, the ways in which they were taught, the physical and the administrative leadership. Out of this came a comprehensive report on conditions and recommendations for improvement which provided the guidelines for legislation and strengthening of curriculum and teaching through administrative action.

Findings might not be welcomed with open arms, particularly by some local districts, but they would be a starter. Communities which measured up could be rewarded by some recognition similar to accreditation.

Test Of Voluntary

One-fourth of the nation's public schools continue to hold religious observances, a survey of more than 16,000 principals reveals. A report on the survey was published recently by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

The key question asked was this: "Are there regular religious observances at your school (for example, prayer, Bible reading, etc.)?" Twenty-five per cent of the principals answered "Yes."

The missing key element in this survey was the question of whether those religious observances were directed to be held by school authorities. The Supreme Court of the United States limited its ruling to "required" prayer or Bible reading in public schools when it held that required prayer or Bible reading breached the constitutional separation of church and state.

There can never be a constitutional objection to voluntary prayer or Bible reading in public schools. Nor is it likely that prayer and Bible reading will be curtailed in the absence of an objection voiced in court.

David Lawrence Parochial Aid In New School Bill

WASHINGTON—There's more than meets the eye in the new plan of federal aid to education just signed into law by President Johnson. There is something in the new measure which is really unprecedented. It is the first time that federal funds have been made available to parochial schools at the elementary and high-school level. It is a significant breakthrough.

THE LATE President Kennedy was hesitant to recommend this and took the position that it would be unconstitutional to give "across-the-board" aid to elementary schools or high schools where religion is taught.

Billy Graham

I moved to the city three months ago to take a job. I like my work very much, but I'm so homesick. I feel like quitting to go back home. Do you think this would be a cowardly thing to do? W.S.

It certainly would. The Bible says: "No man, having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God. (Luke 9:62)."

If you think only of yourself, it is easy to be overcome by a sense of loneliness. As you walk down the street, or ride the bus, or subway, look into the faces of those you meet. You will notice that many look weary, and many look sad. More than you know are lonely.

Of course in a city it is unwise to make advances to strangers. Go to church. If there is a card for visitors to sign, fill it out and put it on the collection plate, or hand it to one of the ushers. Then someone from the church will extend a welcome to you. In every church there are many Christians who are waiting to welcome those who are strangers. Soon you should join a church and look for an opportunity to help someone else.

And remember, wherever you are you are never alone. When Admiral Byrd was in the Antarctic, separated from every human being by hundreds of miles of snow, he wrote in his diary, "I am not alone." He could say this because he believed the promise of Jesus, "Lo, I am with you always." (Matthew 28:20). This promise is for you, too.

Go to church and have fellowship with Christians. Find someone you can help, or encourage. Trust Jesus, and talk with Him every day in prayer. Do these three things and homesickness will no longer overpower you. Do these, and you will have courage to continue in the work you have begun.

James Marlow Abe Lincoln Was A Tormented Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Abraham Lincoln died 100 years ago today at 56 he looked much older, already worn out by four years of civil war. But this wasn't what made him a tragic figure.

He was tormented. In 1858 he made his famous "house divided" speech which opened this way: "If we could first know where we are, and whither we are tending, we could better judge what to do and how to do it."

It was an insight into the lifelong division within himself about slavery and the Negro and a forecast of his own dilemma when he became president.

Remarks That Irritate Wives

NEW YORK (AP) — What remarks by husbands are most irritating to their wives? In the hope of helping obtain marital peace in our time, I asked 20 married women this question. They leaped at the chance to put their views on record.

It appears from the answers that most husbands would have a happier home life if they would simply keep their mouths shut — or at least refrain from putting their feet into them. On the other hand, silence isn't always golden. One lady replied: "Nothing my husband says is as annoying as his habit of sitting in front of the television set for hours and refusing to say anything."

BE THAT as it may, the poll showed that these five husbandly remarks — or variants of them — are the most common causes of wifely ire:

"You don't know how lucky you are."

"I don't see why we have so much trouble getting along on my salary. A lot of wives manage on a lot less."

"That isn't the way my mother used to do it."

"Is that what we're having for dinner? That's what I had for lunch."

"Can't you ever get ready on time? We'll be late again."

"Don't tell me your troubles. I got troubles of my own you never even heard of."

"I'd feel like staying up for the late show, too — if I didn't have anything to do all day but sit around and rest."

"Is that another new dress?"

"Why can't you make YOUR children behave?"

"Dry them — the dishes — yourself. I had a hard day."

"Take it out — the garbage — yourself. I'm tired."

"When I'm gone, honey, why don't you marry for money the next time?"

A HUSBAND also can usually get a good living room war going by firing off any of the following observations:

"If that's what you're going to wear, I'm staying home."

"I don't know why I'm batting my brains out trying to save up for retirement when I'm not going to make it anyway."

"Don't bother me. Make up your own mind."

"What do you know about it anyway?"

"I meant to do it, but I forgot."

"For Pete's sake, look at the road. The guy who gave you a driver's license must have been blind."

Most of the wives had some qualms about testifying against their husbands. They said such loyal things as, "Really, he's a pretty good boy," or "If I make him sound like a cross old bear, he isn't that way at all. He's quite lovable — in his way."

To Your Good Health TB Germs Spread By Cough And Sneeze

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Your article on "tuberculosis on the increase" gave me the idea that you could do a great deal of good by writing on how to prevent TB, like not licking stamps, spitting, putting fingers in the mouth, etc.

Last winter when an appeal was made to the public to use TB seals on mail, there was a picture of a man licking the seals and putting them on a package.—MRS. R. B.

Your motives are what we need more of, but don't blame the inoffensive stamps.

Tuberculosis is caused by germs, and the disease is spread from person to person. The cough and the sneeze, unperfumed by handkerchief or tissue, are what do the damage. And, of course, spitting does, too.

Putting fingers in the mouth, no matter what other risks it carries, will not transmit TB unless the fingers have just picked up the tubercle bacillus.

TB germs, like some others, thrive in a moist, warm environment. Primarily this means the lungs. If a person has the infection, the germs are carried by the invisibly small droplets of moisture that are breathed out. These droplets do not go far—unless ejected by a cough or sneeze. Then they may go several feet.

Thus licking a stamp doesn't cause TB since the stamp, to begin with, is dry, and is not a place on which the germs can survive.

The most dangerous place to get TB is right at home—if a relative and frequent visitor has TB but doesn't know it! His small cough sprays germs into the air. This repeated exposure sooner or later occurs when someone's resistance is low.

And presently you have two people, instead of one, spreading the germs.

That is why TB spreads so much faster in crowded parts of cities, but also can spread in rural areas when people share relatively crowded living quarters and are not aware of just how the disease is transmitted, and how dangerous it is not to find out quickly when someone near you develops TB.

The SAFEST place is in a sanitarium or hospital. Patients with TB can be all around you, but you know that the danger is present. Following a very strict rules of hygiene prevents the germs from being spread from one person to the next.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is tendinitis? Does it spread throughout the body? Is there a cure?—MRS. P. P.

Tendinitis is irritation or inflammation of a tendon. A common form is seen in the shoulder joint, with calcium deposits at a point at which the shoulder is under considerable stress.

No, it doesn't necessarily spread throughout the body, and may be limited to just one place. Or, of course, there may be stress and hence irritation at some other point. Spurs or calcium deposits of the heel are quite common.

Often tendinitis needs no treatment; other times, it is active and painful, heat helps. In selected cases, surgical removal of a spur may be warranted.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Billy The Kid Country

If Billy the Kid had left heirs, they would be rolling in money today. Many towns in Far West Texas and New Mexico point proudly for the tourist at some site or artifact supposedly related to that unfortunate youth.

DESPITE the distinguished heritage of Mesilla, near Las Cruces, N. M., it is best known for the fact that Billy was jailed there five times and that he was tried there. A museum in the town holds the original jail bars that confined him, as well as some letters he supposedly penned. A lush bar carries his name.

There is much more to the town's heritage, of course. La Posta, one of the finest restaurants in the United States, is located there, little changed in its 150-year history. Candles on wine bottles provide lighting, parrots talk to visitors in the lobby, a beautiful blooming bougainvillea climbs from the lobby to the roof, and it is one of the few places where the aficionado can buy and enjoy sopapillas, as well as other tasty Mexican foods.

THE GADSDEN Treaty was signed here in 1854, and the village was originally called La Quinta Noche—fifth night stopover on the Butterfield Stagecoach Trail from California. It was the last place the marauding Apaches attacked in the 1880s, and the town was the capitol of the Confederate state of Arizona, as well as the Arizona Territory. Kit Carson and Pancho Villa took refuge here, and the town was once the largest settlement in the entire Southwest.

AND OVER in Lincoln County—heralded as "Billy the Kid Country"—the tourist can walk through the old courthouse where he also was once tried and jailed. He escaped this jail by killing two deputies, and the places where they fell are suitably marked. The bullet holes of two shots that missed are still in the thick adobe walls, and many tourists have obviously poked in a finger to see if the bullets are still there.

Every standing building in the town is marked, concerning the occupants at the time Billy walked the streets. And the old courthouse is now a museum of Billy the Kid memorabilia, filled with letters and other documents concerning his brief life. Practically every facet of the "Lincoln County War" is detailed for the studious. And annually, the war is reenacted under the title "Billy the Kid Pageant."

ONCE WHILE getting the information for a newspaper story of a ranch south of Deming, N. M., the rancher confided that he would show me a real valuable object, but I must promise not to include it in the story I was preparing. He brought it out—an ancient six-gun. He loaded it up and fired it. That's the gun Billy took off a deputy he killed in Lincoln, I was told.

And Billy's "grave" is pointed out in many towns of that area, as well as other of his personal belongings.

PERHAPS ONE of the best such exhibits is in a small tourist trap in Lincoln County. An aged saddle is thrown across a stair rail and carries the sign—"This is the only saddle in the West that never carried Billy the Kid." It just might be.

The Carrot And The Stick

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's "stick and carrot" policy as presented last week is now being studied by the experts. The stick we know is the bombing of North Viet Nam; the carrot he offered was that if the Communists would stop annoying Saigon, they might expect to get United States aid 'a la a Southeast Asia Marshall Plan. The man in charge of the stick is Secretary of Defense McNamara, the man who may be put in charge of the carrot is Eugene Black, the former head of the World Bank. I can foresee in the near future where the interests of these two men could be at odds.

"BOB, THIS IS Gene Black here. I called you about those railroad bridges you're planning to bomb near Hanoi. I wish you wouldn't do it. Bob. Railroad bridges cost a lot of money and as you know the American government is going to have to eventually pay for them."

"Look, Gene, we've had those railroad bridges targeted for months. They're the key to Ho's supply lines."

"That's all well and good Bob, but the administration has to answer to Congress for anything you destroy."

"GENE, I THINK military strategy has to have precedence over foreign aid."

"Bob, I don't want to be a bore about this, but I have it on reliable authority that the North Vietnamese want you to bomb those bridges. They've been hoping to build new ones for years, but have never been able to get the money. I believe the Defense Department is playing into their hands."

"I resent that, Gene. We've got to keep up the bombing so we can get Hanoi to the negotiation stage. We have to keep up the pressure."

"I'D TAKE issue with you on that. I've already seen the list of things that North Viet Nam plans to request as soon as there is a cease fire. It includes highways, ports, freight trains, trucks, airports and four new Hilton Hotels. The more things you wreck the less reluctant they'll be to call for a cease fire. They know what happened in Japan and West Germany after the last war, thanks to American bombing, and they have hopes of rebuilding their country in the same way."

"For the moment, Gene, the 'stick' policy is in effect, and I can not be concerned with what it will cost us after the war is stopped."

"I'M NOT ASKING you to stop the bombing, Bob. All I'm asking you to do is bomb places that have no value, and which can't justify us rebuilding for them. Is that asking too much?"

"You're making life very difficult for me, Gene. I believe in foreign aid as much as anybody, but I can't worry about your program. That's the Department of State's problem."

"Okay, go ahead. Wreck their economy and see where it gets us. We've only got a billion dollars to play with, and if you keep up your bombing attacks, I'm going to have to cut South Viet Nam out of our program."

The Pacifist Professors

WASHINGTON — Two days after President Johnson's speech last week in Baltimore, the national capital was hit by an invasion of better than 100 self-styled "intellectuals" — the Universities Committee on the Problems of War and Peace. It is a measure of the President's oratory to report that his confused professors who if their press conference reflected their sentiments, were single-minded on one point. They were all no-win fellows.

WHAT CONFUSED them was the President's ambiguity. He promised to continue the bombing of North Viet Nam — and that was hawklike. He offered a billion-dollar purse for Southeast Asia if the Communists would quit fighting — and that was dove-like. He was for "unconditional" discussions, which suited the professors, but he implicitly ruled out discussions with the Viet Cong, and that distressed the professors.

The President said we would continue to use our military power and to the professors, that was "immoral." He declared he was for pushing on to victory, and these intellectuals said they didn't know what victory was, although this is the 20th anniversary of VE and VJ Days, and the centennial of Appomattox.

WHAT DISTURBED one press conference attendant was that the professors claimed to represent as many as 20,000 of their ilk who are conducting "teach-ins" on more than a hundred American campuses. The term derives from the civil disobedience demonstrations of sit-ins, lie-ins, wade-ins and "go limp" protestations which had occurred en masse in the past three years in American streets, quite recently at noon-hour on Pennsylvania Avenue directly in front of the White House.

It's pretty evident what a nationwide wave of "go limp" pacifism would do to the military generation on which the nation always relies to win its wars. Many of the teach-ins are all-night affairs in the coed colleges, an extension of the bisexual bundling that last month was featured on the White House sidewalk.

THE PRESIDENT'S speech, in retrospect, had one thing in it for everybody, not an unusual Johnsonian mixture. But except where he began waving the American checkbook, a gesture ingrained in post-Roosevelt leadership, it was by far the finest address which my charter members of the LBJ Club ever heard him give.

The President's least-noted words, ironically, were the wisest ones. When he was saying that "the infirmities of man are such that force must often precede reason," and that "the world . . . is not a serene and peaceful place," and that Viet Nam shows "the new face of an old enemy," Lyndon Johnson was rising above his accustomed platitudes — toward statesmanship.

The Past

LONDON (AP) — The Post Office Record Department reports that it has found a 100-year-old British mail box on the edge of the Himalayas in Kashmir.

The mail box (the British call them pillar boxes) was exported from London to its 7,000-foot-high perch to serve a British army unit a century ago.

The search for historic boxes, launched recently, has increased the cache of the old boxes from 23 to 130.

Hot Snow?

CORBIN, Ky. (AP) — Visitors who drop in on Robert A. Blair during the summer get an unusual dessert — snowballs.

Blair, an insurance executive, makes snowballs in the winter, when the makings are available, and stores them in the freezer.

They're served with ice cream, whipped cream and fruit to guests at his lodge.

Gen. Momyer Here to Make Award

Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, commander of Air Training Command, this morning at 11 a.m. presented the ATC 1964 Outstanding Maintenance Effectiveness and Efficiency Trophy to the Webb AFB Maintenance Division.

Presentation was made in Hangar T-1 shortly after the general arrived here from Randolph Air Force Base, Accepting the trophy for the base was Col. A. F. Taute, wing commander.

The maintenance division was notified in February that it had been selected for having the highest standards of maintenance effectiveness within Air Training Command from Dec. 1, 1963 to Nov. 30, 1964.

ATC also has nominated the division to represent the command in the 1964 Daedalian Maintenance Trophy competition.

All ATC bases were evaluated on factors which included aircraft performance and reliability, maintenance organization and management, base self efficiency, personnel utilization, time compliance, technical order compliance, personnel training program, safety in maintenance operations and noteworthy maintenance accomplishments.

Chief of maintenance is Lt. Col. Loyd J. McNeil. Branch chiefs in the division include Maj. Bowden Hampton, Maj. Garland McClure, Maj. James

New Dates For Notaries

A change in the method a notary public qualifies for his commission this year will have its impact on the more than 600 persons who hold such commissions in Howard County, Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, warned today.

She has been advised by the state that persons who already have commissions and want to continue must qualify themselves with the county clerk's office in the period May 1-May 15.

She said in the past the dates for such qualification have been June 1-June 10.

Persons who do not have a commission as a notary public, but who want to acquire one this year, may not qualify, under the new program, until June 1.

"We hope that this method of notifying the 600 persons who are already notaries public will be effective," said Mrs. Petty. "We may not have time to contact each of the 600 personally."

"The state has promised additional information on the changes."

Notary public commissions are issued in the off-years. This year—1965—is such a year, Mrs. Petty pointed out.

The persons who must renew their commissions are warned they must do so in the new interval which is just two weeks off.

U.S. Mid-Section Gets More Rain

By The Associated Press
More rain splashed across areas in the nation's midsection today after an outbreak of stormy weather in northern Texas and parts of Oklahoma.

The early morning shower belt extended from northeastern Texas to the Great Lakes and appeared headed eastward to the Atlantic coast. Fairly heavy rain was reported in parts of southern Missouri and northwestern Illinois.

TORNADOES SIGHTED
Six tornadoes were sighted in central Oklahoma Wednesday night but no injuries were reported. A twister also struck the town of Perrin, Tex., damaging nearly every building in the town of 350. No one was injured. Hail, heavy rain and strong winds hit the Dallas area and other sections of northern Texas, causing property damage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has disclosed general provisions of a mandatory control program for the 1966 wheat crop which it hopes it will not have to carry out.

The program would impose acreage allotments and marketing quotas with heavy penalties on overproducers. It would have to be approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum held not later than Aug. 31.

This program would be set aside if Congress enacts wheat legislative recommendations President Johnson submitted last week. His recommendations would extend the present voluntary program, with some modifications, to the 1966 and 1967 crop.

Hospital Releases Separated Twins

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "They don't need a doctor anymore," a hospital spokesman in Houston said this week when the Webber Siamese twins were discharged from Texas Children's Hospital — 23 days after being separated by a team of surgeons.

The twins, Karen Marie and Kimberly Marie, were accompanied by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Webber Jr., on the 80-mile trip to their home in Bay City, Tex. The twins, born Dec. 8, 1964, had common liver, breastbone and heart membrane areas.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — It's City Councilman Wendell Corey now.
The 30-year-old actor won one of four open seats on the Santa Monica council in this week's municipal election, polling nearly half of the 16,109 votes cast.

Corey said he will use his monthly salary of $50 "on ads to let the people of Santa Monica know what the hell's going on."

Negroes At Bogalusa Ask Negotiating Table

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Negro leaders called today for a superconference to solve racial problems here "at the negotiating table rather than in the streets."
Proposed conferees would include Gov. John J. McKeithen, both U.S. senators, congressional and state legislators from this area, business and civic leaders, union officials and many others.

While awaiting a decision on the proposal, "equal job opportunity" pickets prepared for another round today.
The super conference plan was outlined by Mayor Jesse H. Cutrer Jr. by leaders of the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League Wednesday in a private talk at City Hall.

Under the plan, the mayor would act as the convenor, issuing invitations. Cutrer delayed reply on the proposal pending further study.
There was no immediate reaction to the Negro proposal from Gov. McKeithen, Sens. Russell B. Long and Allen J. Ellender or Rep. James H. Morrison.

College Well Within Budget

Howard County Junior College will finish its fiscal year well within its budget, if current projections are maintained.
The March financial statement showed expenditures of $43,873 from the general fund, leaving an excess of receipts over disbursements of $21,227 for the year. With five months to go, this would mean that with expenditures at the March rate, the college will finish within its budget. Actually, summer expenses will be a bit lighter, and there will still be substantial reserves.

General fund receipts amounted to $17,244 in March, over $13,000 of this in current tax collections and $2,400 in tuition. Receipts to date amount to $525,696.
March expenditures include $3,798 for administration, $1,303 general operating, $24,358 instructional, $215 sports supplies, $3,519 library expense, $4,523 plant and ground operation, $510 auxiliary activities, $2,415 student publications (including yearbook), $3,043 athletics, $183 contingency; total $43,873, making $312,848 so far this fiscal year.

The interest and sinking fund received $3,503, making $65,171 for the year. March disbursements included $4,500 for bonds and $1,563 for interest, making $18,500 and $8,817 for this year.

Winnie's Art Goes On Block

The 130 art works brought a total of $2,855,800.

The auction Wednesday night at the Parke-Bernet Galleries was two sales in a program with a black-tie benefit dinner at its termination.

More than 2,200 persons were there but the gallery could only accommodate about 900 in its main auction room.

The others were in three rooms on other floors of the Madison Avenue gallery and could bid by closed-circuit television.

A painting by the late British prime minister, "Canal Scene," about 20 by 24 inches, was bought for $26,000 by a representative of Joyce C. Hall, president of the Hallmark Foundation of Kansas City, Mo. It will be loaned for an exhibition of Churchill's paintings at the World's Fair here.

The top price was $410,000 paid for Degas' "Repetition de Ballet," which went to New York dealer Stephen Hahn.

OIL REPORT

Operator Hits Discovery Pay

One completion has been filed for the Spraberry Trend of Martin County; a possible producer drilled in the Gordon Street, South (Lower Wolfcamp) in Glasscock County, and a flank location staked in Sterling County.

John L. Cox of Midland has filed potential as a Spraberry oil discovery, for the No. 3 Boehmke, a re-entry project eight miles northeast of Stanton in Martin County.

The hole was drilled in 1945 by American Republics Corp. to a total depth of 7,003 feet. Cox re-entered and drilled to 10,820 feet in barren Pennsylvania.

Spraberry perforations, at 7,621-36 feet were fractured with 30,000 gallons and 60,000 pounds of sand. He continued pumping, with no gauges reported, for four weeks. The operator has now reported gauges for the potential of 23 barrels of 37-gravity oil, plus five per cent water, in 24 hours. The gas-oil ratio was 335-1.

Location is 330 feet from the north and east lines of section 34-35-1N, T&P survey, and is one and a half miles southwest of the Martin County sector of the Spraberry Trend area.

Samedan Oil Corporation drilled No. 1 Beth Fowler to a total depth of 9,900 feet and set 4 1/2 - inch casing on the bottom. Operator perforated one hole at 8,602 feet, and another naturally for three hours and recovered two barrels of new oil per hour. He acidized formation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has voiced strong U.S. support for the idea of a Latin-American Common Market.

A plan for such a market, patterned after that of Europe, was presented Monday by four top hemisphere economists to the ambassadors of all the American republics in Mexico City. Details of the plan are to be made public Saturday.

In the first official public U.S. reaction, Humphrey said in a speech before the council of the Organization of American States:

"We support effective economic integration because it is essential to development under the Alliance for Progress. We support it because the modern Latin America which can emerge from effective integration will be a more effective partner in all the great common world tasks which confront those who share the common values of Western civilization."

Humphrey was the major speaker at a special Pan-American Day ceremony held to mark the 75th anniversary of the inter-American system.

Lemass Assured Of Dail Control

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Ireland's marathon election count ended Wednesday with Prime Minister Sean Lemass' Fianna Fail party holding 72 seats—exactly half—in the 144-seat Dail, Ireland's parliament.

Lemass also has the support of one independent and the promise of neutrality from another, assuring him control of the Dail. He announced Tuesday night he would form a new government next week.

Other Half Of The Coin

Gov. John Connally generally is getting good support in his program to pursue academic excellence in higher education. It is obvious, however, that this cannot be achieved fully without a corresponding strengthening of the secondary schools.

Gardner Cowles, editor in chief of Look Magazine, addressing the National School Boards Association annual meeting recently called for a reshaping of the "entire structure of U.S. educational priorities." He added: "The younger the human being, the more effective and lasting will be any effort to teach him. The educational influence that may be exerted on a 5-year old in one hour's time takes tens, hundreds, or even thousands of hours at age 18."

The Texas approach might begin with an inventory and a careful study of teaching methods and of curriculum in school districts which approximate a cross-section of the state's districts. Educators in search of an approach might find most helpful a study of the same problem made by the Commonwealth of Kentucky in 1960-61.

The Kentucky Commission on Public Education named a curriculum study committee of 12 members.

The committee divided itself into three teams of four members each and visited 100 representative schools, paying special attention to the courses offered, their content, the ways in which they were taught, the physical and the administrative leadership. Out of this came a comprehensive report on conditions and recommendations for improvement which provided the guidelines for legislation and strengthening of curriculum and teaching through administrative action.

Findings might not be welcomed with open arms, particularly by some local districts, but they would be a starter. Communities which measured up could be rewarded by some recognition similar to accreditation.

Test Of Voluntary

One-fourth of the nation's public high schools continue to hold religious observances, a survey of more than 14,000 principals reveals. A report on the survey was published recently by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

The key question asked was this: "Are there regular religious observances at your school (for example, prayer, Bible reading, etc.)?" Twenty-five per cent of the principals answered "Yes."

The missing key element in this survey was the question of whether those religious observances were directed to be held by school authorities. The Supreme Court of the United States limited its ruling to "required" prayer or Bible reading in public schools when it held that required prayer or Bible reading breached the constitutional separation of church and state.

There can never be a constitutional objection to voluntary prayer or Bible reading in public schools. Nor is it likely that prayer and Bible reading will be curtailed in the absence of an objection voiced in court.

Parochial Aid In New School Bill

WASHINGTON—There's more than meets the eye in the new plan of federal aid to education just signed into law by President Johnson. There is something in the new measure which is really unprecedented. It is the first time that federal funds have been made available to parochial schools at the elementary and high-school level. It is a significant breakthrough.

THE LATE President Kennedy was hesitant to recommend this and took the position that it would be unconstitutional to give "across-the-board" aid to elementary schools or high schools where religion is taught.

Billy Graham

I moved to the city three months ago to take a job. I like my work very much, but I'm so homesick I feel like quitting to go back home. Do you think this would be a cowardly thing to do?

W.S.

It certainly would. The Bible says: "No man, having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God." (Luke 9:62).

If you think only of yourself, it is easy to be overcome by a sense of loneliness. As you walk down the street, or ride the bus, or subway, look into the faces of those you meet. You will notice that many look weary, and many look sad. More than you know are lonely.

Of course in a city it is unwise to make advances to strangers. Go to church. If there is a card for visitors to sign, fill it out and put it on the collection plate, or hand it to one of the ushers. Then someone from the church will extend a welcome to you. In every church there are many Christians who are waiting to welcome those who are strangers. Soon you should join a church and look for an opportunity to help someone else.

And remember, wherever you are you are never alone. When Admiral Byrd was in the Antarctic, hundreds of miles from any human being, he wrote in his diary, "I am not alone." He could say this because he believed the promise of Jesus: "Lo, I am with you always." (Matthew 28:20). This promise is for you, too.

Go to church and have fellowship with Christians. Find someone you can help, or encourage. Trust Jesus, and talk with Him every day in prayer. Do these three things and homesickness will no longer overpower you. Do these, and you will have courage to continue in the work you have begun.

Abe Lincoln Was A Tormented Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Abraham Lincoln died 100 years ago today at 56 he looked much older, already worn out by four years of civil war. But this wasn't what made him a tragic figure.

He was tormented. In 1858 he made his famous "house divided" speech which opened this

Remarks That Irritate Wives

NEW YORK (AP) — What remarks by husbands are most irritating to their wives? In the hope of helping obtain marital peace in our time, I asked 20 married women this question. They leaped at the chance to put their views on record.

It appears from the answers that most husbands would have a happier home life if they would simply keep their mouths shut — or at least refrain from putting their feet into them.

On the other hand, silence isn't always golden. One lady replied: "Nothing my husband says is as annoying as his habit of sitting in front of the television set for hours and refusing to say anything."

BE THAT as it may, the poll showed that these five husbandly remarks — or variants of them — are the most common causes of wifely ire:

"You don't know how lucky you are."

"I don't see why we have so much trouble getting along on my salary. A lot of wives manage on a lot less."

"That isn't the way my mother used to do it."

"Is that what we're having for dinner? That's what I had for lunch."

"Can't you ever get ready on time? We'll be late again."

HERE ARE a few runner-up quips from the head of the house that are almost equally sure to start a breakfast battle:

"Don't tell me your troubles. I got troubles of my own you never even heard of."

"I'd feel like staying up for the late show, too. — If I didn't have anything to do all day but sit around and rest."

"Is that another new dress?"

"Why can't you make YOUR children behave?"

"Dry them — the dishes — yourself. I had a hard day."

"Take it out — the garbage — yourself. I'm tired."

"When I'm gone, honey, why don't you marry for money the next time?"

ma when he became president.

BETWEEN HIS election in 1860 and the time he took the oath of office on March 4, 1861, seven Southern slave states had seceded from the Union, splitting it. This was the worst calamity any president ever inherited.

Lincoln, a moderate and conservative man, felt his first obligation was to pull the Union together. The problem was how. And he moved slowly. He stated his dilemma in a letter to Horace Greeley in 1862:

"My paramount object in this struggle is to save the Union, and is not either to save slavery or to destroy slavery. If I could save the Union without freeing any slave, I would do it; and if I could save it by freeing all the slaves, I would do it."

But the Union wasn't being saved. The war went on. He gradually moved toward the Emancipation Proclamation which he issued Jan. 1.

AS AN effective document it was a joke, or worse. All it did was say that all slaves in the Confederate states where Union forces had not yet won control should be free. That didn't give them much freedom.

But it didn't say anything about freeing them in the loyal slave states. Later Lincoln worked hard to get approval of the Constitution's 13th Amendment abolishing slavery but he was dead before it was approved.

(Much earlier he had backed a constitutional amendment — which didn't get approved — guaranteeing the federal government would never interfere with slavery.)

All this showed the division within Lincoln on how to win the war. But his deeper internal division on the Negro problem existed long before.

He abhorred suppression of the Negroes but he was against letting them vote. He wanted slavery abolished in the District of Columbia but he also wanted fugitive slaves escaping into the district sent back to their masters.

TB Germs Spread By Cough And Sneeze

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Your article on "tuberculosis on the increase" gave me the idea that you could do a great deal of good by writing on how to prevent TB, like not licking stamps, spitting, putting fingers in the mouth, etc.

Last winter when an appeal was made to the public to use TB seals on mail, there was a picture of a man licking the seals and putting them on a package.—MRS. R. B.

Your motives are what we need more of, but don't blame the inoffensive stamps.

Tuberculosis is caused by germs, and the disease is spread from person to person. The cough and the sneeze, unaccompanied by handkerchief or tissue, are what do the damage. And, of course, spitting, too.

Putting fingers in the mouth, no matter what other risks it carries, will not transmit TB unless the fingers have just picked up the tubercle bacillus.

TB germs, like some others, thrive in a moist, warm environment. Primarily this means the lungs. If a person has the infection, the germs are carried by the invisibly small droplets of moisture that are breathed out. These droplets do not go far—unless ejected by a cough or sneeze. Then they may go several feet.

Thus licking a stamp doesn't cause TB since the stamp, to begin with, is dry, and is not a place on which the germs can survive.

The most dangerous place to get TB is right at home—if a relative and frequent visitor has TB but doesn't know it! His small cough sprays germs into the air. This repeated exposure sooner or later occurs when someone's resistance is low.

And presently you have two people, instead of one, spreading the germs.

That is why TB spreads so much faster in crowded parts of cities, but also can spread in rural areas when people share relatively crowded living quarters and are not aware of just how the disease is transmitted, and how dangerous it is not to find out quickly when someone near you develops TB.

The SAFEST place is in a sanitarium or hospital. Patients with TB can be all around you, but you know that the danger is present. Following a few strict rules of hygiene prevents the germs from being spread from one person to the next.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is dandruff? Does it spread throughout the body? Is there a cure?—MRS. P. P.

Tendinitis is irritation or inflammation of a tendon. A common form is seen in the shoulder joint, with calcium deposits at a point at which the shoulder is under considerable stress.

No, it doesn't necessarily spread throughout the body, and may be limited to just one place. Or, of course, there may be stress and hence irritation at some other point. Spurs or calcium deposits of the heel are quite common.

Often tendinitis needs no treatment; other times, it is active and painful, heat helps. In selected cases, surgical removal of a spur may be warranted.

Headaches? You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Billy The Kid Country

If Billy the Kid had left heirs, they would be rolling in money today. Many towns in Far West Texas and New Mexico point proudly for the tourist at some site or artifact supposedly related to that unfortunate youth.

DESPITE the distinguished heritage of Mesilla, near Las Cruces, N. M., it is best known for the fact that Billy was jailed there five times and that he was tried there. A museum in the town holds the original jail bars that confined him, as well as some letters he supposedly penned. A lush bar carries his name.

There is much more to the town's heritage, of course. La Posta, one of the finest restaurants in the United States, is located there, little changed in its 150-year history. Candles on wine bottles provide lighting, parrots talk to visitors in the lobby, a beautiful blooming bougainvillea climbs from the lobby to the roof, and it is one of the few places where the aficionado can buy and enjoy sopapillas, as well as other tasty Mexican foods.

THE GADSDEN Treaty was signed here in 1854, and the village was originally called La Quinta Noche—fifth night stopover on the Butterfield Stagecoach Trail from California. It was the last place the marauding Apaches attacked in the 1880s, and the town was the capitol of the Confederate state of Arizona, as well as the Arizona Territory. Kit Carson and Pancho Villa took refuge here, and the town was once the largest settlement in the entire Southwest.

AND OVER in Lincoln County—heralded as "Billy the Kid Country"—the tourist can walk through the old courthouse where he also was once tried and jailed. He escaped this jail by killing two deputies, and the places where they fell are suitably marked. The bullet holes of two shots that missed are still in the thick adobe walls, and many tourists have obviously poked in a finger to see if the bullets are still there.

Every standing building in the town is marked, concerning the occupants at the time Billy walked the streets. And the old courthouse is now a museum of Billy the Kid memorabilia, filled with letters and other documents concerning his brief life. Practically every facet of the "Lincoln County War" is detailed for the studios. And annually, the war is reenacted under the title "Billy the Kid Pageant."

ONCE WHILE getting the information for a newspaper story of a ranch south of Deming, N. M., the rancher confided that he would show me a real valuable object, but I must promise not to include it in the story I was preparing. He brought it out—an ancient six-gun. He loaded it up and fired it. That's the gun Billy took off a deputy he killed in Lincoln, I was told.

And Billy's "grave" is pointed out in many towns of that area, as well as other of his personal belongings.

PERHAPS ONE of the best such exhibits is in a small tourist trap in Lincoln County. An aged saddle is thrown across a stair rail and carries the sign—"This is the only saddle in the West that never carried Billy the Kid." It just might be.

The Carrot And The Stick

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's "stick and carrot" policy as presented last week is now being studied by the experts. The stick we know is the bombing of North Vietnam; the carrot he offered was that if the Communists would stop annoying Saigon, they might expect to get United States aid.

As a Marshall Plan. The man in charge of the stick is Secretary of Defense McNamara, the man who may be put in charge of the carrot is Eugene Black, the former head of the World Bank. I can foresee in the near future where the interests of these two men could be at odds.

"BOB, THIS IS Eugene Black here. I called you about those railroad bridges you're planning to bomb near Hanoi. I wish you wouldn't do it, Bob. Railroad bridges cost a lot of money, and as you know the American government is going to have to eventually pay for them."

"Look, Gene, we've had those railroad bridges targeted for months. They're the key to Ho's supply lines."

"That's all well and good Bob, but the administration has to answer to Congress for anything you destroy."

"GENE, I THINK military strategy has to have precedence over foreign aid."

"Bob, I don't want to be a bore about this, but I have it on reliable authority that the North Vietnamese want you to bomb those bridges. They've been hoping to build new ones for years, but have never been able to get the money. I believe the Defense Department is playing into their hands."

"I resent that, Gene. We've got to keep up the bombing so we can get Hanoi to the negotiation stage. We have to keep up the pressure."

"I'D TAKE issue with you on that. I've already seen the list of things that North Vietnam plans to request as soon as there is a cease fire. It includes highways, ports, freight trains, trucks, airports and four new Hilton Hotels. The more things you wreck the less reluctant they'll be to call for a cease fire. They know what happened in Japan and West Germany after the last war, thanks to American bombing, and they have hopes of rebuilding their country in the same way."

"For the moment, Gene, the 'stick' policy is in effect, and I can not be concerned with what it will cost us after the war is stopped."

"I'M NOT ASKING you to stop the bombing, Bob. All I'm asking you to do is bomb places that have no value, and which they can't justify us rebuilding for them. Is that asking too much?"

"You're making life very difficult for me, Gene. I believe in foreign aid as much as anybody, but I can't worry about your program. That's the Department of State's problem."

"Okay, go ahead. Wreck their economy and see where it gets us. We've only got a billion dollars to play with, and if you keep up your bombing attacks, I'm going to have to cut South Vietnam out of our program."

The Pacifist Professors

WASHINGTON — Two days after President Johnson's speech last week in Baltimore, the national capital was hit by an invasion of better than 100 self-styled "intellectuals" — the Universities Committee on the Problems of War and Peace. It is a measure of the President's oratory to report that he confuted the professors who, if their press conference reflected their sentiments, were single-minded on one point. They were all no-win fellows.

WHAT CONFUSED them was the President's ambiguity. He promised to continue the bombing of North Vietnam — and that was hawklike. He offered a billion-dollar purse for Southeast Asia if the Communists would quit fighting — and that was dovish. He was for "unconditional" discussions, which suited the professors, but he implicitly ruled out discussions with the Viet Cong, and that distressed the professors.

The President said we would continue to use our military power and, to the professors, that was "immoral." He declared he was for pushing on to victory, and these intellectuals said they didn't know what victory was, although this is the 20th anniversary of VE and VJ Days, and the centennial of Ajattax.

WHAT DISTURBED one press conference attendant was that the professors claimed to represent as many as 20,000 of their ilk who are conducting "teach-ins" on more than a hundred American campuses. The term derives from the civil disobedience demonstrations of sit-ins, lie-ins, wade-ins and "go limp" substitutions which had occurred en masse in the past three years in American streets, quite recently at noon hour on Pennsylvania Avenue directly in front of the White House.

It's pretty evident what a nationwide wave of "go limp" pacifism would do to the military generation on which the nation always relies to win its wars. Many of the teach-ins are all-night affairs in the coed colleges, an extension of the bisexual bundling that last month was featured on the White House sidewalk.

THE PRESIDENT'S speech, in retrospect, had something in it for everybody, not an unusual Johnsonian mixture. But except where he began waving the American checkbook, a gesture ingrained in post-Roosevelt leadership, it was by far the finest address which we charter members of the LBJ Club ever heard him give.

The President's least-noted words, ironically, were the wisest ones. When he was saying that "the infirmities of man are such that force must often precede reason," and that "the world . . . is not a serene and peaceful place," and that Viet Nam shows "the new face of an old enemy," Lyndon Johnson was rising above his accustomed platitudes — toward statesmanship.

The Past

LONDON (AP) — The Post Office Record Department reports that it has found a 100-year-old British mail box on the edge of the Himalayas in Kashmir.

The mail box (the British call them pillar boxes) was exported from London to its 7,000-foot-high perch to serve a British army unit a century ago.

The search for historic boxes, launched recently, has increased the cache of the old boxes from 23 to 130.

Hot Snow?

CORBIN, Ky. (AP) — Visitors who drop in on Robert A. Blair during the summer get an unusual dessert — snowballs.

Blair, an insurance executive, makes snowballs in the winter, when the makings are available, and stores them in the freezer.

They're served with ice cream, whipped cream and fruit to guests at his lodge.

Gen. Momyer Here to Make Award

Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, commander of Air Training Command, this morning at 11 a.m. presented the 1964 Outstanding Maintenance Effectiveness and Efficiency Trophy to the Webb AFB Maintenance Division.

Presentation was made in Hangar T-1 shortly after the general arrived here from Randolph Air Force Base. Accepting the trophy for the base was Col. A. F. Taute, wing commander.

The maintenance division was notified in February that it had been selected for having the highest standards of maintenance effectiveness within Air Training Command from Dec. 1, 1963 to Nov. 30, 1964.

ATC also has nominated the division to represent the command in the 1964 Daedalian Maintenance Trophy competition.

All ATC bases were evaluated on factors which included aircraft performance and reliability, maintenance organization and management, base self efficiency, personnel utilization, time compliance, technical order compliance, personnel training program, safety in maintenance operations and noteworthy maintenance accomplishments.

Chief of maintenance is Lt. Col. Loyd J. McNeil. Branch chiefs in the division include Maj. Bowden Hampton, Maj. Garland McClure, Maj. James

New Dates For Notaries

A change in the method a notary public qualifies for his commission this year will have its impact on the more than 600 persons who hold such commissions in Howard County, Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, warned today.

She has been advised by the state that persons who already have commissions and want to continue must qualify themselves with the county clerk's office in the period May 1-May 15.

Persons who do not have a commission as a notary public, but who want to acquire one this year, may not qualify, under the new program, until June 1.

"We hope that this method of notifying the 600 persons who are already notaries public will be effective," said Mrs. Petty. "We may not have time to contact each of the 600 personally."

"The state has promised additional information on the changes," she said in the past the dates for such qualification have been June 1-June 10.

Governor In His Bathrobe Chases Dog Down Streets

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Gov. Harold E. Hughes, all 230 pounds of him, lumbered through his residential neighborhood at dawn today in his pajamas and bathrobe chasing his Irish setter, Mike.

"If any of you get a report about the governor running up 31st Street in his pajamas about 6 o'clock this morning," he told a news conference, "ignore it, and told him to quit bawling the horn."

"What will the neighbors think?" she said. Mike wandered back home about half an hour later, and was put in his pen.

Hughes, hurrying to get dressed and down to the office, barked his shin on a bedstead. Other than that, he said, things went reasonably well today.

Mrs. Hughes drove up and handed the governor the dog's leash, explaining, "I don't want these people seeing you out in your pajamas and bathrobe without a leash in your hand."

The 6-foot-2 Hughes plodded through the still-quiet streets not far from downtown Des Moines for 45 minutes, searching for the dog, and then gave up and went home.

As the echoes bounced off nearby houses, serving as an alarm clock in some of them, Mrs. Hughes put her foot down to call the dog.

Proposed conferees would include Gov. John J. McKeithen, both U.S. senators, congressional and state legislators from this area, business and civic leaders, union officials and many others.

While awaiting a decision on the proposal, "equal job opportunity" pickets prepared for another round today.

The super conference plan was outlined by Mayor Jesse H. Currier Jr. by leaders of the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League Wednesday in a private talk at City Hall.

Under the plan, the mayor would act as the convenor, issuing invitations. Currier delayed reply on the proposal pending further study.

There was no immediate reaction to the Negro proposal from Gov. McKeithen, Sens. Russell B. Long and Allen J. Ellender or Rep. James H. Morrison.

The March financial statement showed expenditures of $43,873 from the general fund, leaving an excess of receipts over disbursements of $212,237 for the year. With five months to go, this would mean that with expenditures at the March rate, the college will finish within its outlay. Actually, summer expenses will be a bit lighter, and there will still be substantial revenue.

General fund receipts amounted to $17,244 in March, over $13,000 of this in current tax collections and $2,400 in tuition. Receipts to date amount to $255,096.

March expenditures include $3,700 for administration, $1,303 general operating, $24,358 instructional, $215 sports supplies, $3,519 library expense, $4,523 plant and ground operation, $510 auxiliary activities, $2,415 student publications (including yearbook), $3,043 athletics, $183 contingency; total $43,873, making $312,848 so far this fiscal year.

The interest and sinking fund received $3,503, making $65,171 for the year. March disbursements included $4,500 for bonds and $1,563 for interest, making $18,500 and $8,817 for this year.

Winnie's Art Goes On Block

The 130 art works brought a total of $2,855,800.

The auction Wednesday night at the Parke-Bernet Galleries was two sales in a program with a black-tie benefit dinner at intermission.

More than 2,200 persons were there but the gallery could only accommodate about 900 in its main auction room.

The others were in three rooms on other floors of the Madison Avenue gallery and could bid by closed-circuit television.

A painting by the late British prime minister, "Canal Scene," about 20 by 24 inches, was bought for $26,000 by a representative of Joyce C. Hall, president of the Hallmark Foundation of Kansas City, Mo. It will be loaned for an exhibition of Churchill's paintings at the World's Fair here.

The top price was $410,000 paid for Degas' "Repetition de Ballet," which went to New York dealer Stephen Hann.

Wheat Curb Draft Rigid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has disclosed general provisions of a mandatory control program for the 1966 wheat crop which it hopes it will not have to carry out.

The program would impose acreage allotments and marketing quotas with heavy penalties on overproducers. It would have to be approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum held not later than Aug. 1.

This program would be set aside if Congress enacts wheat legislative recommendations President Johnson submitted last week. His recommendations would extend the present voluntary program, with some modifications, to the 1966 and 1967 crop.

Houston, Tex. (AP) — "They don't need a doctor anymore," a hospital spokesman in Houston said this week when the Webber Siamese twins were discharged from Texas Children's Hospital — 25 days after being separated by a team of surgeons.

The twins, Karen Marie and Kimberly Marie, were accompanied by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Webber Jr. on the 80-mile trip to their home in Bay City, Tex. The twins, born Dec. 8, 1964, had common liver, breastbone and heart membranes.

Negroes At Bogalusa Ask Negotiating Table

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Negro leaders called today for a superconference to solve racial problems here "at the negotiating table rather than in the streets."

OIL REPORT Operator Hits Discovery Pay

One completion has been filed for the Spraberry Trend of Martin County; a possible producer drilled in the Gordon Street, South (Lower Wolfcamp) in Glasscock County, and a flank location staked in Sterling County.

John L. Cox of Midland has filed potential as a Spraberry oil discovery, for the No. 1 Boehmke, a re-entry project eight miles northeast of Stanton in Martin County.

The hole was drilled in 1945 by American Republics Corp. to a total depth of 7,003 feet. Cox re-entered and drilled to 10,820 feet in barren Pennsylvania.

Spraberry perforations, at 7,621-36 feet were fractured with 30,000 gallons and 60,000 pounds of sand. He continued pumping, with no gauges reported, for four weeks. The operator has now reported gauges for the potential of 23 barrels of 37-gravity oil, plus five per cent water, in 24 hours. The gas-oil ratio was 335-1.

Location is 330 feet from the north and east lines of section 34-35-1n, T&P survey, and is one and a half miles southwest of the Martin County sector of the Spraberry Trend area.

Samedan Oil Corporation drilled No. 1 Beth Fowler to a total depth of 9,900 feet and set 4 1/2 - inch casing on the bottom. Operator perforated one hole at 8,602 feet, and another naturally for three hours and recovered two barrels of new oil per hour. He acidized formations with 1,000 gallons and the well flowed four barrels of new oil in one hour.

He continues the swabbing with no gauges but found a trace of sediment. New pay is apparent in a hole since the field pay was formerly topped at 4,600 feet.

Location is 1,000 feet from the north and east lines of section 6-35-2s, T&P survey six miles southwest of Stanton.

Cabot Oil Corporation has staked No. 3 Nellie Sellers as a south-south flank location to the Triple M (7000-foot Upper and Lower Wolfcamp) 15 miles northwest of Sterling City. The new location is southwest of the same operator's No. 2 Nellie Sellers, moving 660 feet from the west line.

It was staked 1,980 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of section 65-17, SPRR survey.

Plan Favored By Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has voiced strong U.S. support for the idea of a Latin-American Common Market.

A plan for such a market, patterned after that of Europe, was presented Monday by four top hemisphere economists to the ambassadors of all the American republics in Mexico City. Details of the plan are to be made public Saturday.

In the first official U.S. reaction, Humphrey said in a speech before the council of the Organization of American States:

"We support effective economic integration because it is essential to development under the Alliance for Progress. We support it because the modern Latin America which can emerge from effective integration will be a more effective partner in all the great common world tasks which confront those who share the common values of Western civilization."

Humphrey was the major speaker at a special Pan-American Day ceremony held to mark the 75th anniversary of the inter-American system.

Lemass Assured Of Dail Control

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Ireland's marathon election count ended Wednesday with Prime Minister Sean Lemass' Fianna Fail party holding 72 seats—exactly half—in the 144-seat Dail, Ireland's parliament.

Lemass also has the support of one independent and the promise of neutrality from another, assuring him control of the Dail. He announced Tuesday night he would form a new government next week.

TORNADOES SIGHTED

Six tornadoes were sighted in central Oklahoma Wednesday night but no injuries were reported. A twister also struck the town of Perrin, Tex., damaging nearly every building in the town of 350. No one was injured.

Hail, heavy rain and strong winds hit the Dallas area and other sections of northern Texas, causing property damage.

Skies were mostly cloudy in much of the eastern half of the nation in contrast to fair weather in western sections.

MERCURY AT 94

Midsummer temperatures were reported in Florida Wednesday. The 94 at Sarasota was a record for April and the 90 at Tampa was a record for April 14. The state's top mark was 95 at Naples.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 25 at Old Town, Maine, to 82 at Laredo, Tex.

Driver Unhurt In Wild Ride

MANCHESTER, Wash. (AP) — The state patrol said an automobile going east down a steep hill Wednesday failed to negotiate a curve, crossed the road, went off on the left side, struck a ditch, crossed a field, struck another ditch, crossed a small street, went into the yard of L. W. Whitcomb, broke off a fruit tree, struck the concrete steps of the house and stopped with its front end hanging over a concrete wall.

The driver, Robert J. Miller, 17, Seattle, said his brakes were not working properly. He wasn't hurt.

Right To Kill In Adultery Cases Teeters

AUSTIN (AP)—A husband's legal right to kill his wife's paramour would be stripped away by a bill sent to the House floor Wednesday by its Criminal Jurisprudence Committee.

"This would repeal justifiable homicide as a defense for a man killing his wife's paramour caught in an act of adultery," said Rep. Bob Bass of Dekalb, the sponsor.

The law was adopted in the 1830s under Gov. Sam Houston, Bass said. Earlier this session, both men and women protested one of his bills to extend the privilege to wives as well. He introduced his current bill as a substitute.

Texas is one of three states with such a law, he said.

The committee approved the bill 7-2 over the objections of a subcommittee chairman, Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville.

"A man should be entitled to protect his family and children," Nugent said, and he put killing the paramour of a wife in this category.

Misty-Eyed LBJ Asks Flood Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, misty-eyed at times during a tour of Midwest areas devastated by tornadoes and floods, has declared Indiana, Ohio and Michigan major disaster areas.

The President issued the disaster proclamations at the requests of governors of the three states. His action opens the way for the channelling of millions of dollars of federal aid to the stricken areas where more than 250 persons lost their lives.

The exact amount of the relief funds will be determined after damage surveys are completed. In the meantime, several federal agencies are giving help to the afflicted areas.

OTHER AREAS

A disaster proclamation had been issued earlier for areas of Minnesota hit by floods.

The proclamations covering Indiana, Ohio and Michigan were issued Wednesday night shortly after Johnson returned to Washington following a hastily arranged trip through parts of Indiana, Minnesota and Ohio.

After completing the trip, the President said: "It's enough to bring tears to the eyes of anyone."

Only a few minutes before, Johnson's eyes had dampened and he had wiped his nose with the back of his hand as he talked with a grandmother in a tornado-leveled suburb of Toledo, Ohio.

"EVERYTHING GONE" The aging lady, gesturing to the scraps of wood and upturned kitchen range that had been home for her daughter, son-in-law and three grandchildren, said:

"It wasn't just being hit and hurt. That's all we have. There just isn't any more."

Johnson, who listened intently as the woman spoke, murmured words of sympathy.

The President, after driving back to the Toledo airport to take off for Washington and the end of a 2,300-mile trip, paused to tell a crowd of several hundred:

"Your government and your President will do everything conceivably possible to be of assistance under our laws."

LOANS READIED

Already the federal government is moving to make available low-interest, long-term loans to individual and business victims, to help restore roads and bridges and to meet the emergency needs of farmers. All this was possible even in advance of presidential disaster designations.

During his on-the-scene tour, Johnson visited sections of Elkhart County, Ind., and the Toledo area hit by last Sunday's twisters. And, in a pelting rain, he watched volunteer workers struggle to raise sandbag dikes at St. Paul, Minn., against a record-breaking Mississippi River flood.

Johnson and the governors and congressmen who accompanied him saw from the windows of the presidential jet aircraft flood and tornado damage in Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Water Studies Bill Advances

AUSTIN (AP)—The House State Affairs Committee this week approved for floor debate a bill establishing the Texas Water Resources Research Institute at Texas A&M University.

The proposal, by Rep. Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge, would enable A&M, the University of Texas and Texas Tech to cooperate on studies of the state's water problems.

Diked Flood Areas Wait River's Crest

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The ice-laden Mississippi River boiled muddily toward a record crest today and in a move to minimize damage, guards went on 'round-the-clock duty on bridges spanning the river in the Twin Cities.

In Minneapolis, a flood emergency was declared, enabling the city to qualify for 100 percent federal reimbursement of publicly expended funds for flood control.

In St. Paul, where a large part of the industrial area on lower ground lies covered by the widening Mississippi, National Guardsmen prepared for rescue operations and to stand watch against sightseers. Police were given authority to arrest sightseers who interfere with any flood-control operations.

NEAR CREST

The Mississippi River, ice-jammed from its northern source to a point south of St. Paul, crept slowly toward an anticipated crest of 27 feet expected late today or Friday. Guards were assigned to nearly two dozen bridges and railroad trestles in Minnesota's largest cities to watch for large debris and ice jams that might damage the spans.

One such ice jam, towering 24 feet above the river level at St. Cloud, some 50 miles north of Minneapolis, was broken up when it rammed a series of ice breakers in front of the Sartell Dam.

More than 11,000 Minnesotans have been forced from their homes so far in the 10 days of flooding on more than a dozen rivers in the state.

St. Paul's downtown airport, the railroad freight yards and hundreds of homes south and east of the city were under six feet of water.

Gov. Karl Rolvaag said Wednesday damage to private and public property in Minnesota totals $23 million. Ten deaths by drowning have been attributed to the floods.

The American Red Cross estimated that before the flooding ended, probably late next week, 21,000 Minnesotans will have been forced to flee rising waters.

As the Mississippi swirled out of its banks to nearly a mile in width below St. Paul, residents of scores of smaller communities southeast of the city worked feverishly against the rising water.

At nearby Bayport, the Anderson Window Co. plant closed down because it was threatened by the widening St. Croix. The plant has 1,100 workers on two shifts.

Nearly 50 state prison farm inmates helped volunteers and National Guardsmen at Stillwater filling sand bags to stack along a 4,000-foot dike.

UNDER WATER

The Crow River crested at 18.5 feet at Delano, a town of about 1,750 persons. About half of the town was under water and nearly 100 families had been forced out of their homes by the flood.

At La Crosse, Wis., southeast of Winona, Minn., about 1,400 persons have been evacuated because of the Mississippi, which reached 14.5 feet Wednesday, 2.5 over flood stage. The river is expected to crest at 18 feet next week, causing at least 8,000 persons to be evacuated, flood-control leaders said.

The Red River of the North, which separates North Dakota and Minnesota, covered thousands of acres of farmland in both states.

Knott 4-H Holds Meeting Monday

The regular monthly meeting of the Knott 4-H Club was held Monday night in the Knott school auditorium.

Martha Robinson presided at the business meeting after which a tractor safety demonstration was presented by Bruce Nichols and Kelley Joe Gaskin. The club decided to make plans to enter a float in the Big Spring rodeo parade.

Guests at the meeting included the district home demonstration agent from Lubbock and the Howard County home demonstration agent, Mrs. Delaine Crawford.

Lasater On Sprint Medley Team

Big Spring's R. L. Lasater played a major role in East Texas State University's record-setting sprint medley performance at the Texas Relays in Austin two weeks ago as the Lions ran 3:21.1, 4 second under the record held by Texas Southern. The rest of the relay includes Ron McNeill, Morris Kyser and Roger Kirkland. (left to right)

Lasater Runs 9.4 Hundred At Tarleton

STEPHENVILLE—R. L. Lasater of Big Spring ran a 9.4 hundred in pacing East Texas State college to a victory in the annual Tarleton State College Invitational track and field meet here Wednesday.

The favored Lions scored a total of 82 points in the cinder show, compared to 50 for runner-up Howard Payne, 38 1/2 for Tarleton State, 32 for Hardin-Simmons University and 20 for McMurry College.

East Texas was held scoreless in only two events, the pole vault and javelin.

Lasater tied the meet record in winning the 100 over Jerry Carswell of McMurry, copped the 220 in 21 seconds flat for a new record and anchored the winning sprint relay team to a 42.3 clocking.

The old record in the 220 was held by Mickey Miller of McMurry, timed in 21.1 in 1963.

East Texas entries won first places in the shot put, discus, high hurdles, intermediate hurdles, mile relay, 440-yard run and half mile, in addition to the events in which Lasater was involved.

Claude Osteen Has 2-Hitter For Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Claude Osteen went eight years without a victory and five years with a losing record in the National League.

Now, in less than two hours, he's removed both blights.

His achievement, too, came at a time when the Los Angeles Dodgers needed an antidote for a serious arm ache they have developed this spring.

Osteen, making his first appearance for the Dodgers since his acquisition from Washington last winter, pitched a two-hitter in Los Angeles' 3-1 triumph over Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

When the Dodgers obtained him in the seven-player deal that sent Frank Howard to the Senators, they hoped Osteen would be able to fill in for Johnny Podres if that southpaw failed to come back from a sore-armed 1964.

But now it appears Osteen may have to take over the left-handed load from Sandy Koufax and his arthritic elbow.

Osteen's return to the National League ends a four-year absence. In between he spent three seasons and part of a fourth compiling a losing record with Washington.

The 25-year-old lefty began his major league career with Cincinnati of the NL back in 1957. In 26 games with the Reds from then through 1961, he failed to pick up a victory. His only decision was a loss in 1960.

His first victory was a sterling performance. Through 8 2-3 innings he allowed only one hit — Jim Pagliaroni's fifth-inning double off center-fielder Dick Smith's glove.

After that hit, Osteen retired 13 consecutive Pirates before Bob Bailey connected for his second homer of the season with two out in the ninth.

In other NL games, San Francisco defeated Philadelphia 5-2, Chicago dented St. Louis 7-3 and Houston nipped the New York Mets 7-6 in 11 innings.

Ron Fairly and Maury Wills led the Dodger attack. Fairly socked a two-run homer in the fifth inning while Wills stole three bases, giving him five in two games. His third steal put him on third from where he scored on Smith's punt.

Ron Santo, with home runs in the fourth and eighth, and George Altman, with one in the seventh, helped keep the world champion Cardinals winless this season. The Cubs' Dick Ellisworth scattered 10 hits for the victory.

Willie Mays hit his second homer in the last two games, a two-run blast off Jim Bunning in the third inning that started the Giants on their way.

Bunning departed in the next inning after Jose Pagan's double and Matty Alou's single scored another run. Wes Covington slammed a two-run homer for the Phillies.

Houston erupted for four runs in the 11th inning on two errors, three walks and two wild pitches by Larry Bearnarth, Ron Brand's bunt single and Al Spangler's steal of home.

The Mets, who had tied the game 3-3 on Joe Christopher's homer in the ninth, struck back for three runs in their half of the 11th, but that's all they could get.

Longhorns Seek 10th Win In Panther Game

It's still anybody's baseball race in District 2-AAAA and two of the teams involved in the snuffing. Big Spring and Odessa Permian, square off at 4 p.m. here today.

This one is being played early because of the impending holiday.

Big Spring is now 2-1 in the conference race. All their games have been decided by a single run. The Steers dropped a 4-3 game to Midland Lee, a verdict they should have won. They then proceeded to knock off Odessa High, 4-3; and last Tuesday skinned by Abilene Cooper, 1-0. No one takes the Steers lightly anymore. The locals haven't been able to hit but their pitching has been standing up—Hank Pope tossed a two-hitter at Cooper and one of the blows was tainted.

Charley (Swift) Burdette, a senior right-hander, goes to the rubber today for the Longhorns.

Permian, picked in pre-season polls to finish right behind Lee in the district, has dropped two of its three starts in league competition. The Panthers opened with an impressive 3-2 success at the expense of Abilene High, then dropped verdicts to San Angelo and Midland Lee.

Pat Brown of the Panthers is the boy the major league scouts have been following the past two years.

Over-all, the Steers have won nine while losing seven. Permian is 9-6 and has outscored the opposition, 76-47.

Tournament Gets A Belated Start

The Church softball tournament will get a belated start on the City Park diamond this evening.

The meet was set back Tuesday due to a shower.

College Baptist squares away with Westside Baptist at 7 p.m. while Crestview Baptist tangles with Airport Baptist at 8:30 p.m. Next round of competition takes place April 20, with Berea Baptist opposing First Baptist at 7 p.m. while Baptist Temple has it out with Salem Baptist at 8:30 p.m.

Stolle Ousted

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Dennis Ralston upset Fred Stolle, the world's second ranked tennis player, 6-4, 7-5 in an exhibition match Wednesday.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A pulled muscle perhaps cost Midland High first place in last week's District 2-AAAA track and field meet at Midland.

Bobby Lindsey fell with the injury near the last barrier in the 150-yard low hurdles, the event won by Big Spring's Johnny Hughes.

As a result, Midland was hurt in three ensuing events. Lindsey was to have run on a highly respected Bulldog mile relay team. As it was, Midland finished fifth in the event.

Lindsey's injury probably cost Big Spring fourth place in the cinder show. San Angelo won fourth place in the mile relay and finished only one point ahead of the Steers. With Midland in there, the Bobcats would have lost another two points and limped in a point behind Big Spring.

Prizes are going to be smaller in the third annual Big Spring Golf Open this year but the entries are going to get a better break by paying smaller entry fees.

Remember Curtis Jimerson, the El Paso Negro youth who waged a great struggle with Big Spring's Jan Loudermilk in the 1958 basketball playoffs?

He went on to become a Junior College All-American at Pueblo, Colo., and was later a star of the first magnitude at the University of Wyoming. As a matter of fact, he was the first Negro boy ever to play basketball at Wyoming.

Jimerson is now the freshman basketball coach at that school.

K. C. Jones, the fine backcourt performer for the Boston Celtics, will give up the pro basketball game after next year to become coach at Brandeis University after next season.

Jones also had a coaching offer from Tufts University. Brandeis lost all of its 21 games the past season. Like teammate Bill Russell, Jones played his college ball at San Francisco University.

Terry Baker, regarded as one of the all-time great quarterbacks on the West Coast a few years ago, will be used as a half-back by the Los Angeles Rams this fall.

The professional baseball scouts have been following Permian's Pat Brown around more than ever this year.

They are impressed with his speed in getting down to first. Other baseball players who appear to be about as fast as Brown rarely seem to make the effort to get on base that Brown does. And speed, above all else, is what baseball scouts look for these days.

Incidentally, Rex Bell, who is a printer for this newspaper, had a lengthy tryout with the Houston club a few years ago. A second baseman, Bell hails from the Brownwood area.

An Atlanta paper polled 30 sports writers of leading papers around the country prior to the recent Masters Golf tournament at Augusta and only one of them (Eddie Davidsen of Chattanooga) picked Arnold Palmer to win.

Fourteen of the scribes favored Jack Nicklaus. Six linksters, in all, received first place ballots. Only a dozen pro golfers received support to finish in the top three.

Tech Raiders Will Play Seven Home Grid Games

LUBBOCK —Texas Tech has completed its 1965 football schedule with the signing of New Mexico State University, athletic director Polk Robison announced Wednesday.

New Mexico State, to be played here Nov. 6, is one of seven opponents to be met in Jones Stadium. Other home games are with University of Kansas, Sept. 18; Texas A&M, Oct. 2; TCU, Oct. 9; Oklahoma State, Oct. 16; Rice, Oct. 30; and Baylor, Nov. 13.

Away, the Red Raiders will meet University of Texas at Austin Sept. 25, SMU at Dallas Oct. 23, and University of Ar-

Odessa Wranglers Decision Locals

ODESSA — Howard County Junior College dropped its third baseball decision in four starts by losing to Odessa College, 22-5, here Wednesday afternoon.

The Wranglers made the most of 19 hits and nine Jayhawk errors.

Jim Eddy Quits For New Post

ODESSA—Jim Eddy, assistant football coach at Permian High School here for the past six years, has announced his resignation to accept the head coaching job at Roswell, N.M.

Eddy was awarded a one-year contract at approximately $8,000 a year. He will be permitted to name his own assistants and expects to have at least two and possibly four. He will remain in Odessa until the end of the school year.

Eddy first came to Odessa as coach for the Crockett Junior High eleven and then in 1959 moved up to the varsity level job at Permian. He is a graduate of New Mexico State University and lettered four years as a defensive linebacker and offensive wingback.

Annual City Tourney Will Start May 9

Qualifying for the 17th annual City Golf Tournament will get under way at the Munny course here Friday, course manager Shorty Gideon has announced. Match play in the meet will begin Sunday, May 9, and continue through Sunday, May 16. Gideon scheduled the meet relatively early in the year because of the abundance of other tournaments in the area during the summer. Usually, the city tournament is held in June. Entry fee will remain at $5 and Gideon predicted that last year's number of entries would be exceeded. Eighty plus players took part in the 1964 tournament and Gideon said golfing interest here was never higher than it is now.

Bernard Rains is the defending champion. He beat Charley Bailey, a former titlist, in last year's finals, 1 up 22 holes. Entries are expected from both players again this year.

Merchandise prizes, as usual, will go to the flight winners. Last year, enough players registered for five flights.

The championship flight will be made up of 16 players. Those desiring to take part can register with Gideon at the club house.

Any linkster in the area is eligible to take part. The Munny course, which now has an irrigation system on all 18 holes, is probably in its best shape in history. It extends 6,365 yards and has a par 73.

Yankees Lose; Rookie Shines

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Cardinal or Cardinal. Either way it seems to spell trouble for the New York Yankees.

The Yankees, who had trouble with 25 Cardinals from St. Louis last October, ran into considerable difficulty with one Cardinal from Los Angeles Wednesday night as they lost to the Angels 4-3.

The new Cardinal pestering the Yankees is Jose Domec Cardenal, a 21-year-old outfielder who weighed in at 160 pounds before the game and with four hits — a homer, double and two singles — during the game.

Stealing the spotlight from the expected duel between Dean Chance, the Angels' Cy Young Award winner, and ace left-hander Whitey Ford of the Yankees, Cardenal connected for his first major league homer as the leadoff hitter and later started the Angels winning rally.

By that time both Chance and Ford had left.

Chance lasted a little longer, going six innings before he was lifted for a pinch hitter after allowing five hits and two runs while walking an unusually high five men. Ford, meanwhile, was touched for eight hits and two runs in 5-1-3 innings.

The two runs were the first the Yankees had scored off Chance in 25 innings.

While Chance's string of success against the Yankees was broken, Baltimore's Milt Pappas shut out the Chicago White Sox 6-0.

There was only one other game played in the American League, Washington whipping Boston 6-4 on Don Blasingame's key triple. The Cleveland at Kansas City and Detroit at Minnesota games were rained out.

Cardenal, a right-handed swinger with one hit in 29 previous major league games going into the season, collected two hits in the Angels' opener Tuesday and doubled his production again with a 4-for-5 performance against the Yankees.

Pappas, who missed the opening-day assignment because of a sore elbow, showed no effects as he kept the White Sox from putting more than one man on base in any inning.

He also scored the only run he needed by doubling in the third inning against Joe Horlen and coming around on a single by Paul Blair and Luis Aparicio's doubleplay grounder.

Matson Shatters Mark In Discus

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M's great Randy Matson sailed the discus past the national collegiate record Wednesday but Baylor bested the Aggies in a triangular track meet.

Matson set a world shot put record and heaved the discus 190 feet, 7 inches only last week. This time he hurled the disc beyond the marked area for the event, over the broad jump pit into the middle of the cinder track—201 feet, 5 1/2 inches from where he stood.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association record of 193 feet 4 inches was set last year by Bill Neville of Occidental.

Some fast facts on some sleek sports.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again thousands of Americans are experiencing disaster — in Midwest floods and tornadoes — and once again they are looking to Washington for help.

The help is there and on its way: millions of dollars worth. But to bring it down to the family level, let's create Harold X. Hinkle, wife Hannah and the town of Midway, Minn., and see how the government would stand ready to assist them.

Our Harold and Hannah live eight miles beyond Midway in a $20,000 house. At least they used to. Then the Minnesota River spilled over, taking with it the Hinkle home and a lot of Midway.

DISASTER AREA
Minnesota has been declared a federal disaster area by President Johnson. What help is there for the Hinkles? Plenty. And, as mobilized by the Office of Emergency Planning in Washington, it comes quickly.

When the Hinkles' house was swept away they still had $15,000 to pay on it. And they have to buy or build another one.

Normally, Harold would have to pay about 5% or 6 per cent interest for the money he needs. But the Small Business Administration can lend him the money for 30 years at 3 per cent.

Meanwhile, because they are homeless they are moving in with Harold's sister Helen and her husband Homer on their farm. But if they had no place to go, they could be among the families for whom the Defense Department is providing prefabricated shelters equipped with individual heating systems.

U.S. FOOTS BILL

Midway High, where Harold teaches, didn't fare much better than the Hinkle homestead. But it is an essential public facility under terms of the Federal Disaster Act and will be rebuilt, possibly by Army Engineers or by a private contractor selected by state authorities. Washington will foot the bill.

Almost as soon as the waters coursed through Midway, testers from the Food and Drug Administration and the Public Health Service were on the scene, helping state authorities check for water pollution and food contamination.

The Hinkles and their neighbors were inoculated against typhoid. Because most of the town's food stocks were found to be contaminated, the Department of Agriculture shipped in surplus food.

And the Red Cross, the Salvation Army and local relief agencies brought clothing to the folks who literally lost the shirts off their backs.

Just before disaster struck, Harold made out his income tax return and sent it off to Washington. His disaster losses are tax deductible, of course. And he doesn't have to wait until next year to enter them.

As soon as he gets settled, Harold will file an amended return. In his case, he can expect a tax refund now.

The Hinkles have been hit hard. No doubt about it. But they are being helped.

Court Rejects Plea Of Negro

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court has rejected a Houston Negro's attempt to change state legislative apportionment laws to give Negroes better chances to serve in the Legislature.

The court refused, without official comment, to review a ruling by the Austin Court of Civil Appeals that legislative districts do not discriminate against Negroes.

The suit was brought by Robert Hainsworth of Houston, who contends Negroes could serve in the Legislature for the first time this century if big-city counties were divided into neighborhood sized legislative districts.

NOT FOR COURTS
The Civil Appeals Court also held the Legislature, not the courts, must decide whether urban counties should have representatives elected by all voters or by only part of a county's voters.

The question is among many under study by state legislative committees attempting to redraw district boundaries to meet objections of federal courts.

Almost half of the 150 Texas House members are elected from 17 districts. Because the 17 districts are composed of all voters in the 17 counties, Hainsworth contends, the Negro vote is diluted.

HIS PLEA
Dividing big city counties into more than one district, Hainsworth said, would not deprive white persons of any constitutional rights or harm a white person's chances to win election to the legislature.

"But the present countywide system of electing House members does deprive colored people of a constitutional right and does exclude and make it next to the impossible for a Negro to be elected," Hainsworth said in his appeal.

Federal Building Contract Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration announced the award Wednesday of a $7,050 contract to Nonnan & Krocker & Rogers of San Antonio to design a post office and federal office building at Pearsall, Tex. It estimated the structure's cost at $165,500.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Three of ♣

Altho the trumps were favorably situated for South—the declarer at four spades, the defense uncovered a highly profitable method for developing an additional trump trick for their side.

West opened the three of clubs and East cashed the first two tricks in the suit with the king and ace. The bidding had made it abundantly clear that South held considerable length in spades and diamonds and, from the appearance of the dummy, it was obvious that any additional tricks for the defense would have to come from the trump suit.

East reasoned that, if his partner held a high spade honor, there might be an opportunity to effectively attack declarer's trump holding via the technique known to the trade as "the uppercut." In pursuance of this strategy, East continued with a third round of clubs on which South discarded a diamond.

The North hand was in with the jack of clubs and a small spade was led. East played the ten and declarer covered with the jack which lost to West's king. West now delivered the key blow for his side by leading a fourth round of clubs. East ruffed with the queen of spades, forcing South to over-ruff with the ace. Declarer drew another round of trumps with the nine; however, West's eight of spades became established as the master card in the suit for the setting trick.

Without the benefit of the trump promotion effected by the defense thru their repeated club plays, declarer would have been able to pick up the queen of spades on the second lead of that suit, and then the eight on the next round—to confine his loss in trumps to a single trick.

Ex-Star Fined In Galveston

GALVESTON (AP)—Former film star Veronica Lake, now 46 and a grandmother, drew a $25 fine this week for being drunk in a public place.

Police arrested her Monday night before she could enter the rectory of the Rev. Dan P. O'Connell.

"I was sitting around and got to feeling sorry for myself," Miss Lake said, "so I went to the rectory of Father O'Connell. I just wanted to talk to him."

The actress, mother of three and three times divorced, left Hollywood in 1951. She came here to visit friends, she said, and was returning to New York after her appearance in city court.

U.S. Meddling, Unionist Alleges

DALLAS (AP)—A union leader asserted today that federal procurement officers are meddling in negotiations of labor and the aerospace industry to the extent that free collective bargaining is being eroded away.

A. J. Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists, said the unions won't settle this year for less than the 57-cent package in wage increases and fringe benefits recently worked out by the United Auto Workers.

He spoke at a Dallas briefing for industry sponsored by the Defense Department and the National Security Industrial Association.

"ERODED AWAY"

Hayes said the government decided years ago that full and free collective bargaining was the only system consistent with a free enterprise economy.

"However, in national defense industries—which employ millions of people today—that system has been eroded away little by little and bit by bit," he declared.

"It has been eroded away ...

by federal procurement officers who inform employers that they need not and in some cases must not yield on this fringe benefit issue or that wage request."

Hayes said the government, the military and the press were "invariably and unanimously opposed" to any kind of work stoppage for any reason in the crucial aerospace field.

"HURTS UNION"
This position detrimentally affects union efforts to maintain equitable wage and working standards, he said.

"In all my experience in negotiating in aerospace and other defense industries, I have never met a representative of military procurement who ever thought organized labor was right and justified in even one strike situation," Hayes said.

He said industry had an unfair advantage also in that the employer is not penalized for failure to make deliveries on time if production is stopped by a strike.

"As a result," he added, "fringe benefits and job rights in our most crucial industry—defense—have not kept pace with those in some of our other basic industries, including auto and steel."

Where Are Those Numerals Six Inches Tall?

This photograph, made in 1907, shows the first automobile to be registered in Dallas under the terms of Texas first traffic law enacted 58 years ago today. This car was registered under the name of J. M. Oran in 1907.

State's First Traffic Law Is 58 Years Old

By SAM BLACKBURN

Today is the 58th anniversary of Texas' first traffic law.

On April 15, 1907, HB No. 93 of the 30th Legislature, declared by the lawmakers to deal with an emergency, became a law of the state.

It provided for the first registration of automobiles; it set the speed limit that such vehicles might travel; it stipulated that the driver of any such vehicle, when he saw a horseman or the driver of a team hold up his hand, must bring his motor vehicle to a complete stop.

BELL

It specified that all motor vehicles should have a bell or other appliance for giving notice of its approach and that such devices must be of sufficient loudness to be heard at least 300 feet.

And it set penalties for violation of any of the bill's six sections.

Another interesting feature of this pioneer traffic law was that it stipulated each motor vehicle, on registration, be assigned a special number in figures at least six inches in height, and must be displayed on the automobile.

While the state made it clear that automobiles and other motor vehicles must be officially registered with the county clerk in the county wherein the owner of such vehicles lived, the fee for such registration was most modest.

Before a Texan could operate his machine "upon the public roads, streets and driveways," he must register it with the county clerk in which county he resides. "His name shall be registered by the county clerk in consecutive order in a book to be kept for that purpose and shall be numbered in the order of their registration and it shall be the duty of the owner . . . to display in a conspicuous place on said machine the number so registered which number shall be in figures not less than six inches in height.

The county clerk, the law provides, could collect a fee of 50 cents for registering such vehicles.

SPEED

Maximum speed, Section 2 provides, at which any automobile shall be driven upon any public road, street or driveway shall be no greater than 18 miles per hour.

"In the built-up portions of any city, town or village, the limits of which shall be fixed by the municipal officers thereof, the maximum speed permissible is eight miles an hour . . . except where such city, or town may by ordinance or by-law allow a greater rate of speed."

Section 3 forbids the operation of any automobile on any road in a manner which might "endanger the life or limb of any person thereon."

The next section sternly forbids all drivers from racing upon any public road, street or driveway.

Section 5, back in 1907, was an important one.

"Any person driving or operating an automobile . . . shall at request, or signal of putting up the hand, or by other visible signal from a person riding or driving a horse or horses or other domestic animal, cause such vehicle or machine to come to a standstill as quickly as possible and to remain stationary long enough to allow such animal to pass."

The next section deals with the attachment of a bell or other device capable of being heard 300 feet when operated "so that approach of said automobile may be made known." You also were required by the law to carry a lighted lamp on your car between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise.

FINES

These provisions, when violated, could bring a fine of $5 to $100 to the motorist.

"The near approach," concludes the bill, "of the end of the session and the demand for immediate legislation on this subject constitutes an imperative public necessity that the constitutional rule requiring bills be read in each house of the legislature for three several days be suspended, and this act take effect for, from and after

Expansion Of Senate Passes House Panel

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas legislators began a long Easter weekend today, mindful that they still must act on a plan to expand the Senate from 31 to 39 members.

The House Constitutional Amendments Committee approved Wednesday the Senate's proposal to expand its membership and ease the task of redistricting, ordered by a federal court.

BEFORE VOTERS

The proposed amendment is scheduled to go before the voters Aug. 7. Sponsors say it must win final legislative approval next week to give the secretary of state time to advertise for bids in preparation for publishing election notices weekly for 90 days.

First the measure allowed senators six-year terms and made it unnecessary for all but five incumbents to run for re-election next year.

Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba said the automatic re-election angle might offend voters. He offered a substitute calling for all senators to stand for re-election in 1966.

Youths Charged In Triple Slaying

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Two young Californians were charged Wednesday with what police described as "wanton murders" of three fishermen. The complaints named John Angles, 16, of Hollywood, Calif., and Paul Krueger, 17, of San Clemente, Calif.

Angles was transferred Wednesday night from Kerrville, where he was arrested for carrying a pistol, to the Kleberg County jail at Kingsville.

FINDS BODIES

A Navy helicopter pilot found the three bodies Tuesday while checking a story Angles told police at Kerrville, 185 miles from the coast. He was picked up while trying to hitch a ride there.

The slain men were Noel Little, 51, and David Fox, 38, both mechanics, and Van Carson, 40, a gas station operator, all of Corpus Christi.

Police said they thought Angles' account was merely a wild story until the bodies were found.

Investigators said no motive had been established and the slayings apparently were "just wanton murders."

TO EL PASO

Angles was quoted as saying that Krueger went to El Paso en route to Mexico.

Kerrville Police Chief M. M. Calvert said Angles related these details: The youths took a sports car

Rome's Easter Crowd Again Packs Trains

ROME (AP)—The Easter tourist tide resumed in Italy today after a nationwide 24-hour rail strike ended.

As pilgrims and holidaymakers once more poured into Rome, Pope Paul VI prepared to inaugurate three days of pre-Easter ritual by washing the feet of 12 physically handicapped youths in the Basilica of St. John Lateran.

The pontiff heightened the personal humility of the Holy Thursday rite this year by choosing instead of seminarians or priests 12 young men who are blind, deaf, crippled from polio or missing an arm or leg.

HUMILITY RITE

The ritual commemorates Christ's washing of the Apostles' feet at the Last Supper.

The one-day rail strike disrupted holiday travel at a time when the nation's merchants count on busy cash registers. More than 90 per cent of Italy's 180,000 railwaymen stayed off the job from midnight to midnight, and only a few dozen of the 7,000 daily trains moved out of stations, manned by army crews.

The first trains that pulled out of stations after midnight were packed. More than 400,000 foreigners are expected in Italy for the Easter period.

Merritt Romans Quits Forsan School Position

Merritt Romans, high school principal at Forsan for the past 10 years, has submitted his resignation effective with the end of his current school term.

He said he had no immediate plans, although he has some other school situations under consideration. Romans plans to remain in administrative work, possibly on the high school level.

Mrs. Romans is the homemaker at Forsan High School.

A native of Lampasas, Romans was graduated from high school there, then took both his BS and MS degrees from North Texas State University. He majored in school administration when doing his master's work.

All of his career as an educator has been at Forsan. During his first four years he served as principal of the elementary school, then stepping up to a 10-year tenure as high school principal.

He is the immediate past president of Howard County Teachers Association; a past president of the Forsan Service Club; past president of the Howard County Administrators Association.

Mrs. Romans is the former Betty Jane Blackwood, to whom he was married in Lampasas in 1949. They have one daughter, Rita Lynn, 6. Mrs. Romans has been active in various affairs, including that of teaching in the First Methodist Sunday School in Big Spring.

Past Matrons Celebrate Members' Birthdays

Birthdays of Mrs. R. D. Ulrey, Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr. and Mrs. Charles Koberg were honored by the Past Matrons of the Order of the Eastern Star at the Tuesday evening meeting. Twenty-seven members attended the event held in the Downtown Tea Room. New committee members appointed were Mrs. W. D. Peters, Mrs. Lester Wise and Mrs. B. D. Ulrey, visiting; and Mrs. Stripling, Mrs. Willard Reed and Mrs. Fred Eaker, telephone.

New Slate Announced

New officers were named by the Child Study Club when it met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. D. Dorchester, 1740 Turdue. Those to be installed May 12 are Mrs. Tommy Hart, president; Mrs. J. H. Burnett, vice president; Mrs. Donald Hungerford, secretary; Mrs. Lester Morton, treasurer; Mrs. R. F. Polk, parliamentarian; and Mrs. David Hodnett, scrapbook.

Dr. J. H. Fish presented the program, "Your Child's Eyes." He discussed and explained the common eye diseases and injuries.

Mrs. Zack Gray read a letter to be sent to the County Commissioner's Court urging them to endorse and take proper action to secure a child welfare unit for Howard County. Mrs. Burnett will represent the group for the welfare meetings. Mrs. Dorchester told of plans to furnish Easter eggs and refreshments for the Lakeview Kindergarten. Mrs. R. C. Thomas was co-hostess for the 15 attending, and Mrs. Byron Orand was welcomed as a new member. Hostesses for the luncheon and installation May 12 will be Mrs. Landan Burchell and Mrs. J. K. Hatch.

WSCS Names New Officers

Mrs. Robert C. Hill was named president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at a meeting held Tuesday morning at the First Methodist Church. Other officers are Mrs. W. C. House, vice president; Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, secretary; and Mrs. H. M. Fitzhugh, treasurer.

Secretaries named and their committees are Mrs. Bill Ward, membership; Mrs. C. R. Moad, supply; Mrs. R. W. Thompson, missionary education; Mrs. Charles Bell, spiritual life; Mrs. Warden Mayes, Christian social relations; Mrs. Leslie McNeese, program materials; Mrs. Bert Shive, local church activities; Mrs. W. S. Goodlett, campus ministry; and Mrs. Hugh Duncan, publicity and reporter.

Co-chairmen for fellowship will be Mrs. Carl Rihard and Mrs. Walter Osborne, and the nominating chairman will be Mrs. Knox Chadd.

To serve as circle chairmen will be Mrs. Paul Klonka, Mrs. W. N. Norred, Mrs. H. C. Ernsting and Mrs. Clyde Johnston. The Fannie Stripling Circle, with Mrs. Harrol Jones in charge, presented "The Easter Story" with slides and scripture. Participating on the program were Mrs. Norred, Mrs. Klonka, Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Rihard.

Reports were heard from delegates to the 23rd annual meeting of the WSCS conference in

NCO Wives To Stage Varieties

Plans to stage a variety show, "From the Can-Can to the Beatles," were made by the NCO Wives Club when it met Tuesday evening in the NCO Open Mess. Skits and dances will be performed by members of the club.

Mrs. William Wheeler was in charge of the meeting, welcoming Mrs. Roy Zeigler as a new member, and Mrs. N. Young as a guest.

Mrs. Jerry Pettit won a dinner for two at her favorite restaurant for having brought in the most new members.

Clothing was collected for the orphanage in Korea as discussed by Maj. A. K. Halverson.

Crystal beads were given to Mrs. Johnny Clements, winner of the attendance prize.

An Easter motif of flowers, bunnies and eggs was used in decorations. Mrs. Israel Longoria and Mrs. J. B. Jones were hostesses.

The next meeting will be a game night April 27.

WMU Discusses World Alliance

The Baptist World Alliance was the subject discussed at the Royal Service program held Tuesday for the Woman's Missionary Society of Baptist Temple. The women met with Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, 429 Edwards at 7:30 p.m.

The Sara Lou Henley Circle presented the program for members of the Blanche Grove Circle. Mrs. Joe Newnam sang, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," after which she and Mrs. George Harwood spoke on the alliance. The worldwide organization was founded in 1905 and will meet this summer in Florida. Mrs. Jarratt concluded the program by telling of her personal experiences while attending one of the past meetings.

The eight members were led in the closing prayer by Mrs. A. W. Page. A guest, Mrs. Lonnie Shulls, became a member of the Sara Lou Henley Circle. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Methodist WSCS Hosts Reception

A reception was held honoring new members by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Northside Methodist Church Tuesday evening. The event, held in the church annex, welcomed Mrs. Margrito Pauchquo, Mrs. Thomas Marquez Sr., and Mrs. Genevieve Sigeroa.

The 11 members honored Mrs. Pauchquo with a baby shower. Mrs. Ernest Bauch, president, was in charge of the meeting and gave the benediction.

Committee Set For Nomination Of B&PW Slate

A nominating committee was appointed by the Business and Professional Women's Club when it met Tuesday evening in the Settles Hotel. Those named were Mrs. Edith Gay, Miss Marie McDonald and Mrs. George Davidson.

Mrs. Bert Affleck, president, welcomed Mrs. G. R. Eisler as a new member.

Plans were announced for the state convention to be held in Houston June 11-13. Also the national convention to be in Washington, D. C. July 18-23 was announced.

Meetings for the next three months have been changed to the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. They will be held in Holiday Inn at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Aubrey Webb, chairman of the world affairs committee, will be in charge of the next meeting, April 27.

Club Will See Film

The After Five Garden Club will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the fifth floor conference room at the Veteran's Administration Hospital to see a film, "Of Lines and Flowers." This is a change from the yearbook schedule.

Gardeners Set New Date For Pilgrimage

A change in the date of the pilgrimage was announced at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Planter's Garden Club in the home of Mrs. R. O. Carothers, 1405 Stadium.

The pilgrimage will be May 9, and each member was asked to make one dozen cookies for the event and take them to the home of Mrs. R. L. Collins or Mrs. J. F. Wheat.

Mrs. Collins gave the council report, and Mrs. Zack Gray, flower show chairman, gave a report on the progress of the show. Mrs. S. M. Latham and Mrs. Paul Guy were appointed as hostesses for the show.

A discussion of the flower show schedule was given by Mrs. J. E. Hogan. She explained how an arrangement is judged by points, and that design, color, restraint and distinction are used to make up these points.

AT SALAD SUPPER

Entire Slate Re-Elected By Secretaries Group

The entire officer slate of the National Secretaries Association was re-elected during the Tuesday evening meeting in the snack bar at the Petroleum Building.

To serve a second term are Mrs. Bill Stone, president; Mrs. Herbert Heath, vice president; Mrs. Dee Ratliff, recording secretary; Mrs. Jerry Callahan, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Bobby Bradford, treasurer.

A salad supper preceded the business session conducted by Mrs. Stone. Eleven members welcomed two visitors, Mrs.

Tall Talkers Explore World With Words

The Tall Talkers Toastmistress Club continued its verbal tour at the Tuesday evening meeting in the Officers' Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. In following the theme, "Around the World in Speech," Mrs. A. J. Grill, toastmistress for the evening, guided the group on an imaginary trip to Israel.

The invocation, a Jewish prayer, was given by Mrs. Eugene Sieja, and the table topics were introduced by Mrs. James L. Hudson. Mrs. D. M. Cost-low, Stanton, led the lexicology drill.

Two ice breaker speeches were heard. The first, "It's a Great Life," was given by Mrs. R. S. Friedman, and the other, "Penard or St. Bernard," was by Mrs. R. C. Shaver.

"Mighty Like a Rose," the speech given by Mrs. Robert Bateman at the recent speech contest in Liberal, Kan., was repeated by her for the club members.

Valuators were Mrs. Ronald Brown and Mrs. James Brooks, and the speech valuator was Mrs. Larson Lloyd who gave the closing thought.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Archie Butler, Mrs. Barry Butler and Lt. Judith Ohr. Fourteen attended.

The destination will be Egypt for the April 27 meeting when the toastmistress will be Mrs. Lewis Vale and the program chairman will be Mrs. Grill.

Girl Scout Camp Training Planned

The first session of the Girl Scout day camp training will be held in the Girl Scout House Wednesday morning from 9 a.m. to 12 o'clock noon. Trainees are to leave their children in the Jack and Jill Kindergarten.

The second session will be held April 28. All leaders, assistant leaders, troop committee members and mothers of girls interested in assisting in the day camp are invited to attend this training.

Training sessions will be conducted by Mrs. D. M. Costlow, district advisor.

Potpourri Group Sees World Trip

Jerry Jenkins showed slides of his trip around the world to the Potpourri Club when it met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Jim Bob Chaney, 1410 E. 18th.

He pointed out things of special interest in Hong Kong, Singapore, Hawaii and Calcutta.

Mrs. John Coffee was in charge of the business session, and refreshments were served to the ten members attending.

The next meeting will be a brunch and swimming party at the Holiday Inn May 15 at 10 a.m. Hostesses for the event will be Mrs. Mickey Casey and Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith.

Council To Meet

The United Council of Church Women will meet in the Wesley Methodist Church Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Newcomers Announce Tea Plans

A tea, honoring all those who have lived in Big Spring less than a year, was planned when the Newcomer's Club met for bridge and luncheon Wednesday at the Cosden Country Club. The event is planned for April 25 from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the Big Spring Country Club.

Three tables of bridge were in play, with high score going to Mrs. Glenn Vorres, and second to Mrs. Artur Griner.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Archie Etun and Mrs. Max Werking. Guests welcomed were Mrs. Gainer, Mrs. Vorres and Mrs. Anthony Mirabillo.

R. H. Weaver, attorney, spoke on the importance and necessity of drawing wills.

Mrs. Morris Williamson is a new member in the club. Attendance prizes were awarded to Mrs. A. G. Edmondson and Mrs. Earl Ezzell.

Review Heard By Fora Club

Mrs. Bill C. Coleman reviewed "By Cécile" for Spoudazio Fora Study Club at the Tuesday meeting held in the home of Mrs. Oliver Cofer, 1707 Settles.

The book, written by Tereska Torres, is a novel suggested by the life of Colette, the French novelist. The author took the framework of Colette's life to tell the story of a modern woman who is born and reaches maturity, not in the Paris of the Grand Epoch, but in our time.

Mrs. Coleman's review was followed by a general discussion of modern literature. Roll call was answered by members naming their favorite author and explaining why they made the choice.

During the business session conducted by the president, Mrs. W. W. Lansing, further plans were made for the "Tasting Bee" May 11 in the home of Mrs. Coleman. Mrs. Ennis Cochran will be cohostess. The guest affair will feature foreign and gourmet dishes.

Mrs. James C. Jones reported the completion of the club's annual project, and said that no

Reading Of Haggadah Ritual Marks Beginning Of Passover Celebration

By JO BRIGHT

The beautiful words of the Haggadah, being read by the head of the family, will be heard Friday in Jewish homes all over the world as the eight-day Passover celebration begins.

Passover is the oldest of Jewish holidays. For the Jewish people it marked the end of a dark period of slavery, and for over 3,000 years it has been observed with joy and thanksgiving. The holiday is called "pass-over" as a remembrance of the final miracle in Egypt when the Almighty destroyed every first-born among the Egyptians but "passed over" the homes of the Israelites.

The celebration begins with the Seder, which means "order" and there is a certain order followed in the celebration of Passover around the table.

Food figures prominently in this ancient family ceremony which symbolizes dramatic events in Jewish history. The table where the family gathers is centered with an embroidered napkin covering a tray of foods essential to the symbolism of the feast. Everywhere in the world Jewish families know that others celebrating the Passover are partaking of the same foods as the impressive ritualistic meal begins.

FOOD SYMBOLS

MATZOH—"Bread of Affliction" made without leavening, eaten by Jews in Egypt.

CHAROSES—Mixture of apples, nuts, cinnamon, wine; symbolizing mortar used by slave builders.

BEITZAH—Roasted egg symbolizes required offering brought on festivals in the Temple.

MORAR—Top of a horseradish root symbolizes bitterness of Israel's bondage in Egypt.

EGG FOR SALT WATER—Tears shed by slaves in Egypt. Egg is dipped in it and eaten.

Z'ROAH—A roasted shank bone represents the ancient sacrifice of the Paschal lamb.

GREENS AND SALT WATER—Parsley, symbol of hope and redemption, is dipped in salt water during service.

CUP OF ELLJAH—Special goblet of wine set out for "coming of Elijah" and a better world.

Each symbol is explained so that the children may understand, and four questions, asked by the youngest child, are important to the ritual. As the story of the Exodus is read, wine cups are filled four times in remembrance of the fourfold

A significant part of the story concerns The Four Sons, each son symbolizing a characteristic of the Jewish people. The Litany of Wonders is recited, from the marking of the doorposts that the Angel of Death may "skip over" those dwellings, to the parting of the Red Sea that the Israelites might safely pass before being overtaken by pursuing Egyptians.

Toward the end of the service, a special goblet of wine is placed on the table and the door is opened and left ajar for "the coming of Elijah," symbolizing the hope for a more perfect world of justice and joy for all mankind.

Thus the "Festival of Freedom" begins and the festive meal is served. There will be hot chicken soup, with fluffy matzo balls, and a tossed green salad, as well as gefilte fish with horseradish.

In Big Spring, the Passover will be observed in many homes, including that of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mellinger, 428 Hillside. With them will be their son, Victor, 2, and other members of the Mellinger family who will gather, as they do annually, for the festive ritual.

FESTIVE TABLE

Mrs. Mellinger will set her table with a fine lace cloth over pink linen and pink tapers will shed their light on the faces gathered there. Since the Seder falls on Friday, there will also be a special prayer for the Sabbath before the meal begins.

"In Morocco, which was my former home, there was a great feeling of festivity," said Mrs. Mellinger. This was a ten-day holiday—the biggest and happiest of the year." She explained that in her former home, the family saved one set of dishes only for this holiday and that utensils that were used daily for cooking were not to be used for this occasion.

Traditionally, the main dish is turkey, chicken or roast. The food is all kosher, and although much of it is not available in local stores, it can be ordered ahead of time from companies that specialize in these holiday foods.

The embroidered cloth, pictured on Mrs. Mellinger's table, is one made by the late Mrs. Victor Mellinger, her husband's mother. The scalloped cloth features an embroidered tray flanked by candles, and in the corners are intricately sewn flowers and greenery. The cloth is bound in bright red silk thread.

The holiday meal is very special, but the rest of the time, the Mellingers prefer simple foods. Mellinger does not come home for lunch from his clothing store, and Mrs. Mellinger, who is employed at Zack's, often joins him downtown for the noon meal. She plans her evening meal before leaving for work, setting out frozen foods if they need to thaw.

As an ex-model, she watches her weight, and simply does not eat if she feels she is gaining too much.

Before Mrs. Mellinger took her present job, she entertained by having friends for dinner, but explained that she seldom has time for this anymore. In the fall, very often she has people in after the ball games for food and fellowship.

Here are recipes which Mrs. Mellinger will be using for the Seder meal.

MATZO BALL SOUP

1/4 cup warm water or chicken broth
2 tps. salt
Dash pepper

1/4 cup chicken fat
2 cups matzo meal

Fresh parsley
Beat eggs with 1/4 cup warm water or chicken broth, salt, pepper and chicken fat. Gradually blend in matzo meal. Cover; refrigerate 2 to 3 hours. Form mixture into 20 balls 1 1/2 to 2 inches in diameter. Drop into boiling salted water; reduce heat; cover tightly and simmer 30 to 40 minutes. Drain and serve, placing one or two matzo balls in each bowl of hot chicken broth (fresh or canned). Garnish with fresh parsley. Serves 18 or 20.

ROAST TURKEY

Rinse 18 to 20 pound hen turkey inside and out with cold water. Drain off excess water. Sprinkle instant seasoned meat tenderizer evenly, like salt, until entire cavity, using about 1/2 teaspoon per pound. Use no salt.

To insure penetration and retain meat juices, pierce kitchen fork into flesh from the cavity side, under bones of breast and into flesh of thighs and legs, without going through outer skin. Turkey is ready for cooking immediately, or cover loosely and refrigerate overnight.

Fold neck skin onto back and fasten with skewer; fold wings onto back so they lie flat. Close main cavity by placing skewers across opening and lacing with white string.

Tie drumsticks together and bind to tail, holding them close to body; cross cord over back and catch around wings; pull close to body and tie. Brush skin with melted schmaltz (chicken fat); paprika may be sprinkled over surface.

Place on V-shaped rack in shallow pan, breast down. Cover with thin cloth, large enough to drape down sides moistened with schmaltz. Roast at low 300 degree temperature, 13 to 15 minutes per pound, about 4 1/2 to 5 hours total cooking time. (Add 5 minutes per pound if bird is stuffed.) Do not cover or add water. If cloth dries, moisten with pan drippings. When three-quarters done, remove cloth and turn breast side up to brown. Baste frequently with pan drippings. Serves 18 to 20.

EASTER MARBLE CAKE

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 tps. double-acting baking powder
3/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. ground mace
2 tps. vanilla extract
1 cup (2 sticks) soft butter or margarine
2 cups-sugar
5 large eggs, separated
1 cup milk
3 drops yellow food coloring, optional

Sift together the first three ingredients and set aside. Mix mace and vanilla extract with butter or margarine. Gradually blend in sugar. Beat in one egg yolk. Add flour mixture alternately with milk. Beat four of the egg whites until they stand in soft, stiff peaks. (Save remaining egg white for frosting.) Fold into the mixture.

Divide the batter into two equal parts and blend the four

6 well beaten eggs
1/2 cup matzo meal
1 small onion, grated
1-3 cup chicken fat or vegetable oil
1 tsp. instant seasoned meat tenderizer

Grease well a 2-quart casserole dish with some of chicken fat or vegetable oil. Peel potatoes; grate on fine grater; drain off water through fine sieve; add mashed potatoes, blend well.

Add eggs and all remaining ingredients, except 1 tablespoon chicken fat. Pour into greased casserole; place tablespoon fat on top of Kugel. Bake in 350 degree oven 45 minutes to 1 hour or until crusty brown on top. Serve hot. Makes 10 or more servings.

GEFILTE FISH

3 lbs. fish
1 medium onion
2 eggs
2 tps. matzo meal
3/4 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. white pepper
1/2 cup water

FISH BROTH

Fish heads and bones
2 stalks celery, sliced
3 thickly sliced carrots
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. white pepper
2 large onions, sliced
1 tsp. sugar
2 slices lemon
Dash nutmeg

Water to cover (6-8 cups)

Place fish heads, skin and bones in large kettle; arrange celery and carrots in layers over bones; water to cover. Add seasonings, cover and let simmer. Put fish fillets and onion through food chopper, then into a wooden bowl; add eggs, matzo meal, seasonings; chop this mixture and add water slowly until all is absorbed and mixture is well blended and smooth. Wet hands in cold water; form into 2-inch oval cakes. Place fish in simmering fish broth; add more water if necessary to cover cakes; simmer slowly, uncovered, 1 1/2 to 2 hours until liquid is reduced by half. Chill.

Serve garnished with slices of carrot, jelly sauce and hot horseradish. Makes about 25 gefilte fish cakes, 12 or more servings.

BANANA DATE SEDER CAKE

7 large eggs, separated
1-1 1/2 cups sugar
1 tsp. grated orange rind
3 tps. lemon juice
1 cup mashed banana
1 cup mashed banana
1 tsp. salt
1 cup matzo cake meal
1 cup coarsely ground almonds

Date filling

Cherry Wine Glaze
Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Gradually beat in sugar, orange rind and lemon juice. Stir in mashed banana, salt, cake meal and almonds. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry; fold into batter. Turn into ungreased 9-inch tube pan. Bake in 350 degree oven 45 minutes, until cake tests done. Remove cake from oven, invert and let hang to cool.

When cool, turn cake out and cut into 2 layers; spread with date filling. Spoon Cherry Wine Glaze over top. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

DATE FILLING

2 cups sliced fresh dates
3/4 cup cherry wine
Dash salt
1 tsp. lemon juice
Combine all ingredients. Cook, stirring constantly, 4 to 5 minutes until thick. Cool.

CHERRY WINE GLAZE

1/4 cup cherry wine
1/4 cup water
1 tsp. potato flour
2 tps. sugar
Combine all ingredients. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened and clear.

Bake Good Hot Cross Honey Buns

For the coming Easter season try Honey Hot Cross Buns. Honey in the dough will help to keep your baked products fresh longer since honey has the ability to absorb and retain moisture. Honey will give Hot Cross Buns a special flavor, a hint of flowers.

HONEY HOT CROSS BUNS

2 pkgs. yeast, compressed or dry granular
1/4 cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup honey
1 tsp. salt
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup currants or candied orange peel
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. allspice
6 cups sifted enriched flour (about)

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add shortening, honey and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Add yeast and eggs. Beat well. Add currants, spices and enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly-floured board and knead until satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled in bulk.

When light, shape into small buns and place on greased baking sheet or in pan. With knife or scissors, cut a small cross in the top of each bun. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. While hot, ice with uncooked icing, following the cross cut in the buns. Yield: 3 dozen buns.

Cheese, Noodles, Fine Lenten Fare

Bought noodles, instead of homemade, are used in this dish.

EASY NOODLES WITH PEAS

1 package (10 ounces) frozen-in-a-pouch baby peas in butter sauce
1 package (8 ounces) broad noodles
1 egg yolk, well beaten
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Salt and freshly ground pepper

Drop pouch of peas in to enough boiling water (about 2 cups) to cover. Bring to a boil; boil, uncovered, for 14 minutes, turning several times. Meanwhile cook noodles according to package directions; drain; toss with egg yolk. Remove peas from cooking water; open pouch and pour peas over noodles, tossing lightly to mix. Sprinkle with Parmesan and pepper to taste. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

ENJOYABLE EASTER LAMB CAKE
White, fluffy frosting delights everyone.

Easter Lamb Cake Is Springtime Delight

Take down that lamb mold from the shelf. Or buy, beg, or borrow a mold. Then bake a lamb cake and put it in your freezer.

At Eastertime, cover the cake with fluffy white frosting and tie a bell — attached to a licorice string — around the pretty little lamb's throat. You'll delight young and old.

If your lamb mold answers the specifications in the following recipe, make our cake in it. If not, follow the directions for cake-baking that came with the mold.

But however you bake the cake, you'll be interested in our newly tested directions for the frosting because this recipe takes into consideration the type of rotary beater—hand or electric—you use.

EASTER LAMB CAKE

2 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 tps. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
2 eggs
3/4 cup milk
Fluffy White Frosting
Flaked coconut

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, sugar and vanilla. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in just until smooth the sifted dry ingredients, in three additions, alternately with milk. Pour into the face half of a greased and floured lamb mold (1/2 of the mold should hold 3 1/2 cups water).

Cover with other half of mold that has small vent holes. Place on a cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until cake tester inserted in a vent hole in the mold comes out clean. Allow to cool 10 minutes. Remove from mold. Cool. Spread with Fluffy White Frosting. Lightly press coconut into frosting. Use raisins for eyes and candied cherry for mouth. Hang a bell on a licorice string around the lamb's neck.

To freeze: Cake may be baked for freezer storage. To store, wrap unfrosted cake in moisture-vaporproof wrapping material and place in a carton; freeze. (The carton will keep the cake from damage.) Before serving, remove cake from freezer, unwrap at once and frost while still frozen. Allow to stand at room temperature long enough for the cake to thaw. Frosting the cake when it is still frozen is easier than frosting when it is thawed.

Remove from heat and continue beating until frosting reaches the swirl stage—about 1 minute. Thoroughly beat in the vanilla. Makes enough to cover the lamb cake generously.

FLUFFY WHITE FROSTING

2 egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla

In the top of a double boiler, beat together with a sturdy hand beater, the egg whites, sugar, corn syrup and salt until they are partly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook, beating constantly with the rotary beater, until the frosting stands in peaks—3 1/2 minutes.

Note: If a portable electric beater is used, it will take only 3 to 3 1/2 minutes at high speed to bring the frosting to the peak stage.

Gurkha Ghost Living Legend

KHAMBA FORT, Kashmir (AP) — When night comes to the mountains of Kashmir, the men of Khamba Fort are tense. No sentry dares sleep on duty here.

For Indian army men who guard this fort are — or so they believe — watched over by the "ghost of the Gurkha havildar." And he is a harsh taskmaster.

In these mountains, where superstition abounds, the legend of the Gurkha ghost has become famous. It is whispered through the battalions facing Pakistan forces across the cease-fire line that divides this state.

Educated army officers, although disbelieving the legend, are content to let it grow because the Gurkha ghost solves many disciplinary problems in Khamba Fort.

Indian troops swear he prowls the fort at night, slapping the faces of sentries who aren't alert and using his best parade ground language to berate slovenly soldiers.

FROM FACT

The legend springs from fact — a heroic one-man assault on Khamba Fort during the bitter 1948 war between India and Pakistan for Kashmir. The fort held by Pakistani forces, had fought off Indian troops for weeks.

Then, a Gurkha havildar — sergeant — found a crack in the fort's steep, thick stone walls and one night, armed only with grenades and a knife, crept inside. He killed all the defenders but was fatally wounded himself.

It is the ghost of this Gurkha that is said to roam Khamba Fort.

Lance Naik — corporal — Ram, Prakash is among the fort's current defenders who say they have met the Gurkha ghost. "It happened one night recently when firing broke out along the cease-fire line. A terrifying voice rose, he says, from a turret on the fort's wall: 'I have given my life for this post. Why are you so slack?'"

FACE SLAPPING

Then, says Prakash, came the sound of a face being slapped. It was learned later, Prakash says they know the Gurkha was nodding over his rifle and was accosted by the Gurkha ghost.

The men of Khamba Fort say they know the Gurkha ghost well. Each can describe in detail the clothing worn by the weird figure they say strides the ramparts at night — by all accounts he invariably appears wearing only one shoe. The other apparently was lost in battle 17 years ago.

"The ghost of that man is very alert," says Naik Karam Singh. "He is a very good soldier. And I guess we're really not afraid of him because we know he is on our side."

Besides, the men of Khamba Fort are very careful to put out cups of tea and sweets to placate the lonely Gurkha ghost who maintains his vigil throughout the night.

And, they say, the tea and sweets always are gone by dawn.

Viet Red Peace Plan Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials rejected Wednesday a North Vietnamese proposal for ending the Vietnamese war, treating it as a plan to deliver South Viet Nam to the Communists.

The North Vietnamese demand for the removal of American forces, which the Reds called a necessity for the resumption of peaceful conditions, was viewed as a Communist trick to continue aggression against South Viet Nam.

U.S. authorities insisted that North Viet Nam exercises command and control over the Viet Cong guerrillas. They expressed confidence they will know when and if that control is ended.

SEEK GUARANTEES

In any peace terms that may be worked out, the United States will seek guarantees by an international mechanism which would prevent infiltration from North Viet Nam from continuing as it has since the 1954 Geneva agreement.

AIR STRIKES

The United States is expected to continue air strikes on North Viet Nam at an intensified pace even through the approaching monsoon season. Experts said the monsoon starting in about 30 days will bring bad weather in the mountain areas but that the weather should remain good along the coastline where the U.S. air strikes have concentrated on Communist highways, bridges, radar stations and military depots.

U.S. officials said the bombing is causing substantial trouble for the Hanoi government and interfering with the southward flow of men and weapons.

Assault On CORE Director Charged

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — A white man was under charges here of assault with a blackjack on James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

Three other white men also have been charged in connection with incidents growing out of last Friday's civil rights march here, led by Farmer. The arrests Tuesday night were announced here by Bogalusa Mayor Jesse H. Cutrer.

SEIZED BLACKJACK Randall C. Pounds, 39, of the Bogalusa area, was charged with the assault on Farmer. The mayor said Pounds had the blackjack raised, but did not actually strike Farmer. A policeman seized the blackjack.

Bill Alford, 30, Bogalusa, was charged with battery on Robert Price, Negro.

Charles McClendon, 33, and Latimore McNeese, 35, both of Bogalusa, were charged with disturbing the peace during Friday's march.

FREE ON BOND All four defendants were released on $300 bond each. Cutrer said 60 merchants turned out Tuesday afternoon to negotiate with civil rights leaders who threatened to picket stores unless more and better jobs were opened to qualified Negroes. The merchants named a committee of 15 who, Cutrer said, waited until night, but no civil rights negotiators appeared.

It was a protest march in the business area by the Civic and Voters League that resulted in the disturbance Friday.

Panama City Hit By Labor Strike

PANAMA (AP) — A 14-hour general strike virtually paralyzed Panama City Wednesday.

The strike, called by 23 labor unions in sympathy with sugar mill workers seeking more money, brought transportation to a standstill.

No violence was reported.

Dear Abby

Letters Are Private

DEAR ABBY: Dad passed away nine years ago, and Mother recently. While going through their things I came across Dad's and Mother's old love letters, written to each other before they were married, 63 years ago. I read them and enjoyed them very much. I let my daughter and granddaughters read them, and they also enjoyed them. My brother, who lives in another state, recently came here for his vacation. I tried to show him the letters, but he refused to look at them. He said they were "private" and should have been left private. It hurt me deeply. They were nice clean letters, and nothing to be ashamed of. I didn't think I was wrong to read them, but I would like your opinion.

HURT DEEPLY
DEAR HURT: Your brother was right. Unless your mother willed those letters to you, suggesting that she WANTED you to read them, you were wrong to have invaded her privacy.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl with a big problem. How do you stop a rumor that is going around about you? Please answer me in the paper as my mother would wonder why I got a letter from you. Thank you, and hurry.

RUMOR GIRL
DEAR GIRL: You cannot shut people's mouths. But actions (yours) speak louder than words (theirs), so behave in a manner that will make liars of your detractors.

DEAR ABBY: I had an experience four years ago which I wish to share with others who might be facing the same problem I faced.

I was a teenager and an unwed mother who discovered too late that "he" didn't love me. My parents' only thought (and mine) was to make him marry me. He wouldn't, and I didn't know what to do. After a long talk with my minister I realized that I had to do what was best for the baby. Marriage when there is no love is no good for anyone. Especially the child. I went to a home for unwed mothers and gave my baby up for adoption. It was not a horrible experience which marred me for life, Abby. I was at peace with myself for the first time in my life for I felt that I was doing my best to right my mistake. There I met many other girls like myself, good Christian girls who made a mistake. And I made some of the best friends I will ever have. The hardest part was leaving my baby. Now I have been married for two years to a wonderful man, whom I love very much, and we are expecting soon. You see, this was such a small sorrow compared to the happiness I have now. And I know that my baby is happy, too, with par-

U.S. Dismisses Rights Charge

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A civil rights charge against one of four Ku Klux Klansmen arrested after the killing of a Detroit housewife was dismissed Wednesday at the request of the federal government.

U.S. Commissioner James M. Guttery signed an order dropping the charge against Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., 35, a former bar operator in Birmingham who is now unemployed.

Rowe was one of four men arrested by FBI agents March 26, the day after Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39, was shot to death from ambush near Lowndesboro, Ala.

Mrs. Liuzzo was shot from a passing car after she had driven a load of civil rights marchers from Montgomery to Selma and was returning for another load.

Star Expecting, Show Closing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Broadway musical "Fade Out-Fade In" is closing Saturday night because its star, comedienne Carol Burnett, is expecting her second child.

The show, which will have played 271 performances, is believed to have cost its backers as much as $500,000. Producer Lester Osterman announced the closing Tuesday after being informed of Miss Burnett's pregnancy. Miss Burnett, 30, was married May 4, 1963, to television producer Joseph Hamilton.

TCU President Sadler Resigns

FORT WORTH (AP) — Two top administrative officers of Texas Christian University, Chancellor M. E. Sadler and Vice Chancellor of Research W. O. Milligan, have resigned, effective June 30.

for 10 days. Since then he has limited his educational activities. The trustees appointed Dr. James Moudy, 49, executive vice chancellor, as interim chief administrative officer and named a committee to select Dr. Sadler's successor. The board also announced that Dr. Milligan, president of the TCU Research Foundation as well as vice chancellor of research, has submitted his resignation. He suffered a heart attack Feb. 19 and was in a hospital to devote full time to his work with the Robert A. Welch Foundation of Houston and to affairs of the American Chemical Society. Dr. Sadler said: "A vast amount of water has flowed under the bridge since 1941. There is no reason why we should not look forward to much more significant achievements during the next quarter of a century. "POSSESS STRENGTH" "We have already learned that many individuals and institutions like to lead to strength, and we have enough strength now to attract strong support." He became president of TCU in 1941 and was named chancellor in 1959. He served as dean of Lynchburg College in Virginia from 1931 until 1936 and as pastor of Austin's Central Christian Church from 1936 until 1941. During his tenure, annual enrollment at TCU has risen from 1,700 to more than 9,600 and the university's endowment resources have increased from several hundred thousand dollars to more than $27 million. He helped organize the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam in 1949 and the National Council of Churches in 1950, serving as vice president. He was president of the International Convention of the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) in 1944-1945 and the Texas Council of Churches in 1953. Dr. Moudy joined TCU as dean of the graduate school in 1957, became vice chancellor for academic affairs in 1962 and was named to his current post last September.

Offer Expected From Steel Union

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The union was expected to make this offer at today's negotiating session. The union is ready to extend its May 1 strike deadline against the basic steel industry in return for a token but immediate increase in wages or benefits, informed sources said today.

either in wages or benefits. The exact amount the union considers a token payment was not learned. Steel talks have been deadlocked over the industry's refusal to answer union demands for wage and benefit increases that would cost more than a dollar an hour over three years. Steel workers now earn about $4.40 an hour in wages and benefits. Another condition of any extension, sources said, would be that bargaining continue uninterrupted. The union's proposal was drawn up at a series of meetings Wednesday. It was based on two industry proposals made earlier in the week, both of which involved an extension. Under one, the union would swap a three-month extension for guarantees that certain contract demands would be met. The other calls for immediate agreement on an interim contract that could be reopened at any time, but presumably not until the union's election dispute was settled completely. One source said the union offer is a combination of the industry proposals.

Union sources said the only points of disagreement that should remain would be the amount of the payment and the length of the extension. The union wants a short one, not more than 60 days. The industry, it was learned, wants a minimum of three months. Union Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel reportedly has defeated incumbent President David J. McDonald by several thousand votes. The union tellers are not expected to declare a winner for a week or so.

Mom, Daughter Die In Accident

GILMER (AP) — Mrs. James C. Andrews, 21, and her daughter Denise, 2, of Ore City, Tex., were killed Wednesday as their car and a pickup truck collided 5 miles northwest of Gilmer on Texas 155. Mrs. Andrews' mother, Mrs. Morgan Jordan, 52, and William C. Herron, 52, of Mesquite, Tex., driver of the truck, were injured.

Easter's Not All Frolicking

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For tens of thousands of Southern California teenagers Easter week vacation is a time for frolic, a period of abandon to be spent at the beach, the mountains or the desert.

But there are some exceptions. Twenty-eight boys and girls from the nearby Arcadia Presbyterian Church returned Wednesday from a week at the Gila Indian reservation in Arizona. Reflecting on what they called "the most spiritually uplifting experience of our lives," they told of painting and repairing buildings, erecting a wire fence around the grounds and clearing weeds from the church yard.

REMODEL CHURCH

A major project of the 16 boys was to remodel the Gila Crossing Presbyterian Church so it could be used as a church school. The 12 girls, among other things, conducted daily Bible classes for Pima Indian preschool youngsters.

The teenagers did their own cooking and slept on the floors of church buildings. Each day began with morning devotions at 6:30 and ended with vespers at 10:30 p.m.

The teenagers contributed $40 of their own money toward expenses of the trip.

A similar idea drew more than 100 young persons to the unincorporated town of Watts at the southern edge of Los Angeles. This forlorn area is a cluster of rundown neighborhoods surrounded by industry.

NEW FACE

Litter is disappearing, yards are being landscaped and seven homes in one block are being painted — all free of charge by the teenagers.

Their only reward was a dance arranged Wednesday night by sponsors of the project, school teacher Sue Welsh and artist Noah Purifoy.

During other Easter weeks widely known bands played long and loudly at the Rendezvous Ballroom at Balboa.

Volunteers Meet Tonight

The spring meeting of the Volunteer Council of the Big Spring State Hospital will be held tonight at 7:30 in the auditorium of the Alford Building on the hospital grounds. Highlight of the meeting will be the awarding of service stars and stripes to volunteers qualifying. Seventeen blue stripes will be presented to volunteers, representing 100 hours service. Four white stripes, representing 300 hours, along with seven blue-white stripes, representing 500 hours, will also be presented. One red star, representing 1,000 hours will be the last presentation. Charles N. Butts, chairman of the volunteer council, will preside. Mrs. Ruth E. Ward is the acting volunteer coordinator while Mrs. Hilla (Stormy) Weathers is recovering from a heart attack.

Dr. Preston Harrison will make a short speech to the council on the value of volunteer health after which a movie, "The Gifts You Bring" will be shown. The movie deals with the work of a volunteer in a mental hospital.

GOP Slates Barbecue Meet

Plans for an outdoor barbecue to be held April 23, were completed Tuesday night by members of the Howard County Republican Committee. County Chairman Bill Sheppard announced that Ed Foreman, Texas business leader and former U.S. Congressman for the 16th District, has accepted an invitation to be speaker for the meeting.

Tuesday night's meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Deryl Johnston, 2010 Runnels. Plans for extensive publicity throughout Howard and neighboring counties were submitted and approved. Tickets for the barbecue will be available at Wright's Pharmacy, or may be obtained from Mrs. Harold Hall, social chairman. Committee members attending were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wolfson, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wright, Mrs. Ralph Gossett, Mrs. Jim Nelson, Bill Sheppard, and Mr. and Mrs. Deryl W. Johnston. A roundtable discussion of current events followed the business session. Mrs. Johnston, assisted by Mrs. Wright, served refreshments to the group.

FORT WORTH (AP) — Two top administrative officers of Texas Christian University, Chancellor M. E. Sadler and Vice Chancellor of Research W. O. Milligan, have resigned, effective June 30.
Dr. Sadler, 68, who has served TCU for 24 years, submitted his resignation at a special meeting of the university's trustees Wednesday. He suffered a heart attack Feb. 19 and was in a hospital for 10 days. Since then he has limited his educational activities.

The trustees appointed Dr. James Moody, 49, executive vice chancellor, as interim chief administrative officer and named a committee to select Dr. Sadler's successor.
The board also announced that Dr. Milligan, president of the TCU Research Foundation as well as vice chancellor of research, has submitted his resignation.
Dr. Milligan said he wished to devote full time to his work with the Robert A. Welch Foundation of Houston and to affairs of the American Chemical Society.
Dr. Sadler said: "A vast amount of water has flowed under the bridge since 1941. There is no reason why we should not look forward to much more significant achievements during the next quarter of a century."
"POSSESS STRENGTH" "We have already learned that many individuals and institutions like to lead to strength, and we have enough strength now to attract strong support." He became president of TCU in 1941 and was named chancellor in 1959. He served as dean of Lynchburg College in Virginia from 1931 until 1936 and as pastor of Austin's Central Christian Church from 1936 until 1941.

During his tenure, annual enrollment at TCU has risen from 1,700 to more than 9,600 and the university's endowment resources have increased from several hundred thousand dol-

Dear Abby

Letters Are Private

DEAR ABBY: Dad passed away nine years ago, and Mother recently. While going through their things I came across Dad's and Mother's old love letters, written to each other before they were married, 63 years ago. I read them and enjoyed them very much. I let my daughter and granddaughters read them, and they also enjoyed them. My brother, who lives in another state, recently came here for his vacation. I tried to show him the letters, but he refused to look at them. He said they were "private" and should have been left private. It hurt me deeply. They were nice clean letters, and nothing to be ashamed of. I didn't think I was wrong to read them, but I would like your opinion.

HURT DEEPLY
DEAR HURT: Your brother was right. Unless your mother willed these letters to you, suggesting that she WANTED you to read them, you were wrong to have invaded her privacy.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl with a big problem. How do you stop a rumor that is going around about you? Please answer me in the paper as my mother would wonder why I got a letter from you. Thank you, and hurry.

RUMOR GIRL
DEAR GIRL: You cannot shut people's mouths. But actions (yours) speak louder than words (theirs), so behave in a manner that will make liars of your detractors.

DEAR ABBY: I had an experience four years ago which I wish to share with others who might be facing the same problem I faced.

I was a teenager and an unwed mother who discovered too late that "he" didn't love me. My parents' only thought (and mine) was to make him marry me. He wouldn't, and I didn't know what to do. After a long talk with my minister I realized that I had to do what was best for the baby. Marriage when there is no love is no good for anyone. Especially the child. I went to a home for unwed mothers and gave my baby up for adoption. It was not a horrible experience which marred me for life, Abby. I was at peace with myself for the first time in my life for I felt that I was doing my best to right my mistake. There I met many other girls like myself, good Christian girls who made a mistake. And I made some of the best friends I will ever have. The hardest part was leaving my baby. Now I have been married for two years to a wonderful man, whom I love very much, and we are expecting soon. You see, this was such a small sorrow compared to the happiness I have now. And I know that my baby is happy, too, with par-

U.S. Dismisses Rights Charge

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A civil rights charge against one of four Ku Klux Klansmen arrested after the killing of a Detroit housewife was dismissed Wednesday at the request of the federal government.

U.S. Commissioner James M. Guttery signed an order dropping the charge against Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., 35, a former bar operator in Birmingham who is now unemployed.

Rowe was one of four men arrested by FBI agents March 26, the day after Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39, was shot to death from ambush near Lowndesboro, Ala.

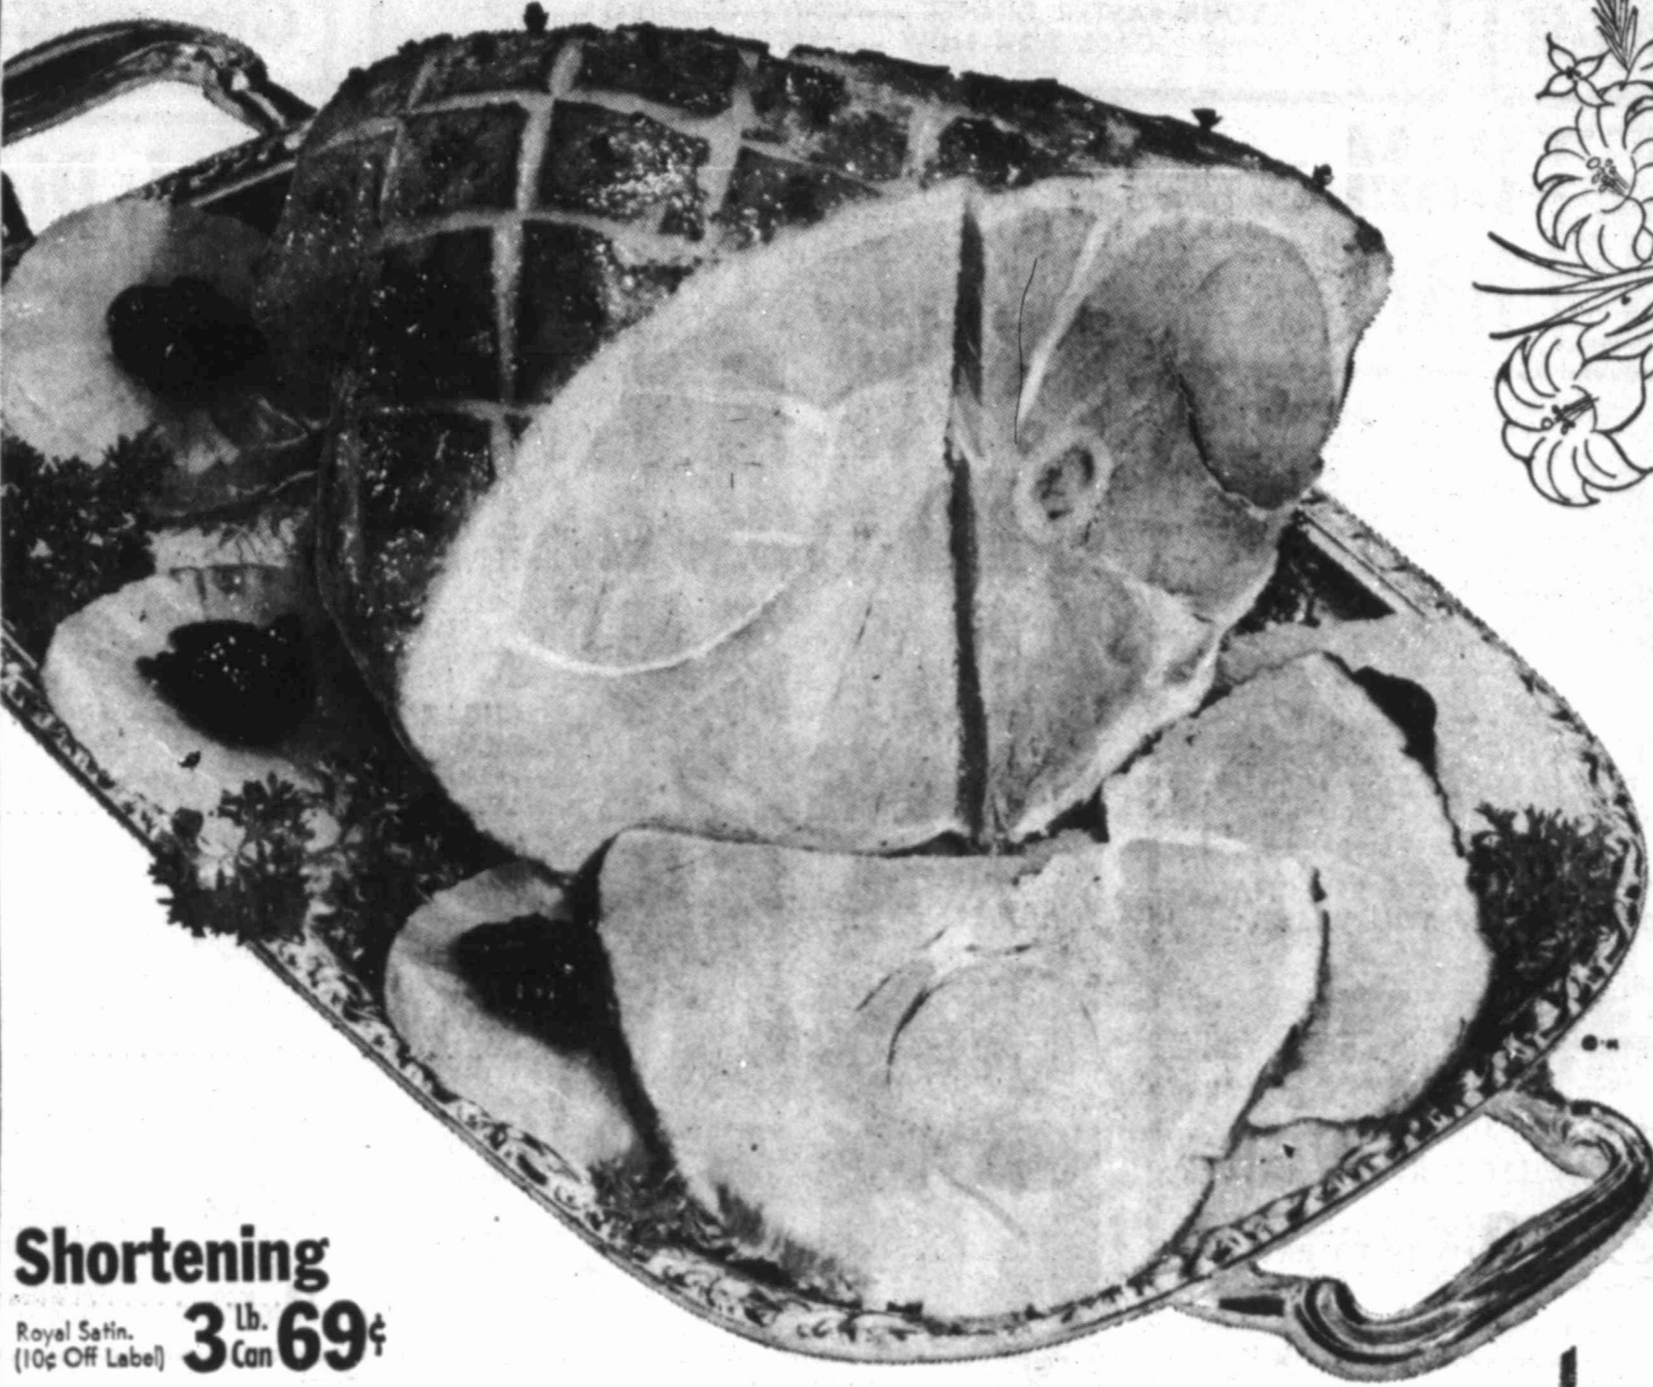

Mrs. Liuzzo was shot from a passing car after she had driven a load of civil rights marchers from Montgomery to Selma and was returning for another load.

Star Expecting, Show Closing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Broadway musical "Farewell to a King" is closing Saturday night because its star, comedienne Carol Burnett, is expecting her second child.

The show, which will have played 271 performances, is believed to have cost its backers as much as $500,000. Producer Lester Osterman announced the closing Tuesday after being informed of Miss Burnett's pregnancy.

Miss Burnett, 36, was married May 4, 1963, to television producer Joseph Hamilton.

Offer Expected From Steel Union

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The union was expected to make this offer at today's negotiating session. The union is ready to extend if the industry will make some token payment of good faith, one source said. He said the payment could be either in wages or benefits. The exact amount the union considers a token payment was not learned. Steel talks have been deadlocked over the industry's refusal to answer union demands for wage and benefit increases that would cost more than a dollar an hour over three years. Steelworkers now earn about $4.40 an hour in wages and benefits. Another condition of any extension, sources said, would be that bargaining continue uninterrupted. The union's proposal was drawn up at a series of meetings Wednesday. It was based on two industry proposals made earlier in the week, both of which involved an extension. Under one, the union would swap a three-month extension for guarantees that certain contract demands would be met. The other calls for immediate agreement on an interim contract that could be reopened at any time, but presumably not until the union's election dispute was settled completely. One source said the union of-

Mom, Daughter Die In Accident

GILMER (AP)—Mrs. James C. Andrews, 21, and her daughter Denise, 2, of Ore City, Tex., were killed Wednesday as their car and a pickup truck collided 5 miles northwest of Gilmer on Texas 155. Mrs. Andrews' mother, Mrs. Morgan Jordan, 52, and William C. Herron, 52, of Mesquite, Tex., driver of the truck, were injured.

Easter's Not All Frolicking

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For tens of thousands of Southern California teenagers Easter week vacation is a time for frolic, a period of abandon to be spent at the beach, the mountains or the desert. But there are some exceptions.

Twenty-eight boys and girls from the nearby Arcadia Presbyterian Church returned Wednesday from a week at the Gila Indian reservation in Arizona. Reflecting on what they called "the most spiritually uplifting experience of our lives," they told of painting and repairing buildings, erecting a wire fence around the grounds and clearing weeds from the church yard.

REMODEL CHURCH
A major project of the 16 boys was to remodel the Gila Crossing Presbyterian Church so it could be used as a church school. The 12 girls, among other things, conducted daily Bible classes for Pima Indian preschool youngsters.

The teenagers did their own cooking and slept on the floors of church buildings. Each day began with morning devotions at 6:30 and ended with vespers at 10:30 p.m.

The teenagers contributed $40 of their own money toward expenses of the trip.

A similar idea drew more than 100 young persons to the unincorporated town of Watts at the southern edge of Los Angeles. This forlorn area is a cluster of rundown neighborhoods surrounded by industry.

NEW FACE
Litter is disappearing, yards are being landscaped and seven homes in one block are being painted — all free of charge by the teenagers.

Their only reward was a dance arranged Wednesday night by sponsors of the project, school teacher Sue Welsh and artist Noah Purifoy.

Meanwhile, resort communities are jammed with other teenagers. During other Easter weeks widely known bands played long and loudly at the Rendezvous Ballroom at Balboa.

This year the old seaside ballroom is the setting for a Campus Crusade for Christ. One day this week, upwards of 600 teenagers packed the place for a sermon by a magician-preacher.

JUNE STYLE — A white straw hat holds the veil decorated with yellow flowers that frames this white stitched wedding gown. It's from the Paris collection of Yves Saint-Laurent.

FIRST SIGHT — With Mama towering overhead as a buffer, a polar bear cub ventures forth from den to meet the public at the Whipsnade Zoo near Dunstable, England.

SOUVENIR — Dame Margot Fonteyn, the famous dancer, holds a gold rose given to her by British horticulturists. It's a replica of the hybrid tea rose which bears her name.

SPOT SERVICE — A plot of the ships in Task Force 77, part of the U.S. Seventh Fleet in the South China Sea, is maintained on bridge of the carrier USS Ranger.

REAR ATTRACTION — Traffic and passerby must have goggled at this sight in Indianapolis. However, it was not the car's spare but just a tractor tire being transported.

TOP TOKEN — Joe Lapchick, who's retiring as St. John's coach, holds up basketball net presented to him after his team won NIT tourney at Madison Square Garden.

DOUBLE EXPOSURE — Commentator Richard Dimbleby watches two screens as the BBC in London receives simultaneous transmissions from Moscow and Cape Kennedy. One shows the Red Square welcome for the cosmonauts while the other covers the Gemini flight.

CO-EXISTENCE — It's an idyllic situation at the moment as two tiny chicks relax with Boots the young tomcat at the Thomas R. Rosica household in Batavia, N.Y.

MAZE IN MIRROR — These images, somewhat distorted, still give you an approximation of the heavy traffic at the Ginza intersection in Tokyo. The picture actually shows the multi-reflections on the mirror wall of a building on the busy street corner.

EXTRA

Newspapers always carry news and entertainment items of extra interest to the different members of the family. The Big Spring Herald is always full of the extras of Big Spring and the surrounding communities. Dad can always find out how his favorite team played their last game or find just the items he has wanted to buy. Mom, of course, can read the many feature items on new recipes, or find out how that special garment was made that she saw someone wearing last week by reading the society section of The Big Spring Herald. She can also do her shopping at home by reading the advertisements in The Herald, therefore saving her time and energy. Let's not forget the young folks in the family. They can be entertained with the comics in The Big Spring Daily Herald every day, with the comics in color every Sunday.

So, as you and everyone else can plainly see, newspapers make a difference in our lives every day. Regardless of your walk of life, there is always something extra in The Big Spring Daily Herald for you.

Court Ousts Ex-Sheriff Plea

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals dismissed Wednesday former Somervell County sheriff Paul Bone's appeal of a 10-year prison sentence and embezzling conviction.

K. K. Woodley wrote in an opinion for the court, "because the appeal bond has not been shown to have been approved as required by law; and there is no showing in the record that venue was changed from Somervell County where the offense was alleged to have been committed and where the indictment was returned, as authorized under the Constitution."

Bone was convicted July 21 in Meridian. A Glen Rose trial had ended earlier in a hung jury. He was charged with misappropriating $6,184.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Freedom of Information Committee charged today that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and his information chief "confuse the Defense Department's public information policy with the public relations program of the Ford Motor Co."

The criticism was delivered by the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in its annual report delivered to the opening session of the society's three-day convention. McNamara is a former Ford executive.

"It has not been an encouraging year for freedom of information," said the committee headed by Creed C. Black, managing editor of the Chicago Daily News.

STILL ON BOOKS
 Still on the books, the committee said, is a 1962 memorandum issued by McNamara and Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester, the department's information chief, requiring that a monitor be present at all Pentagon interviews. The rule apparently is not being vigorously enforced now, the committee said.

"Meanwhile, however, their 'one-voice' philosophy has been extended from the halls of the Pentagon to some military installations in Viet Nam," the report went on.

The committee said it shares the objections voiced by Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press. Its report quoted Gallagher:

"Barring correspondents from free access to air bases and other military installations and providing an 'escort' for every correspondent is clearly aimed not at security matters but at controlling what American fighting men say.

THE BLACKOUT
 "Such control exceeds anything done in the darkest days of World War II."

The committee reported that "the federal bureaucracy is still opposing" bills introduced by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., and Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., to guarantee greater access to information about federal agencies.

"Again we call on ASNE members to counter that opposition by interesting themselves — and their own senators and congressmen — in this effort to enact an open-records law at the federal level," the report said.

Its signers, besides Black, were Robert P. Clark, managing editor of the Louisville (Ky.) Times; Eugene Patterson, editor of the Atlanta Constitution; and Charles S. Rowe, editor of the Fredericksburg (Va.) Free Lance-Star.

Youth Corps Pay Ceiling Adopted

DALLAS (AP)—School trustees have voted to put a 90 cent ceiling on the hourly pay of any neighborhood Youth Corps workers here.

The Labor Department has set the wage rate at $1.25. Supt. W. T. White said Wednesday that if federal officials will not approve the lower pay, Dallas schools simply will not participate in the program.

U.S. Defense Called Ample

DALLAS (AP) — A defense official said Wednesday that the nation has the means to deal with any crisis and major increases in the military will not be required short of large-scale war.

The speaker was Charles Hitch, assistant secretary of defense, in an address to small defense contractors at one of five briefings held in the nation.

The briefings are to acquaint businessmen with what the military needs and how to go about bidding for contracts.

More than 1,000 attended the two-day sessions in Dallas coming from the South and Southwest.

Hitch said that "although both the Soviet Union and Communist China are encountering economic difficulties, they may be expected ... to continue to confront the free world with a formidable military threat."

Added Hitch, "Thus, barring a real breakthrough in the current disarmament impasse, there is no basis for anticipating any significant reduction in U. S. military forces during the balance of this decade, although there will inevitably be some changes in their composition."

Texas Flag Recovery Talks Rest With House

AUSTIN (AP) — Final action on a resolution authorizing negotiations with Mexico to recover a battle flag seized by Santa Anna's soldiers at the Alamo is up to the House.

The Senate adopted a joint conference committee report on the measure Wednesday.

The azure flag, bearing the motto "God and liberty," is in the national archives at Chapultepec, Castle in Mexico City. Witnesses told a House committee the badly worn banner is being restored.

If it is returned, the resolution states, the flag would be displayed in the Alamo at San Antonio.

As originally adopted by the House, the measure would authorize a 15-member negotiating committee, but the Senate reduced this to seven.

The House, wanting a bigger committee, rejected Senate changes. Now for the conference committee has recommended nine members.
