Legion, Auxiliary Convention Starts

Some 100 members of District 19 American Legion and Auxiliary had arrived in Big Spring Saturday night for the bi-annual election convention being held at the Settles Hotel. Registration started at noon Saturday and a social hour was held at 5 p.m. for getting acquainted and renewing friendships. Ladies of the Auxiliary were in charge. A dance, with the American Legion band, "The Scramblers," providing the music, began in the ballroom at 9 p.m.

LEADERS ARRIVE

Among those registering Saturday were District Commander Hank Narmour from Lubbock;

Department Adjutant Willis McGregor from Austin; Department Services Officer Fred Brookman of Lubbock; the District 16 Commander from Midland, with a group from that city; local officers, and Auxiliary representatives, and members.

Roscoe Cone, convention chairman, said a business meeting will be held this afternoon with Commander Narmour presiding. Mayor Pro-Tem John Stanley, member of the Legion, will deliver the welcoming address. Sessions will be held for both the Legionnaires and Auxiliary. Mrs. Jimmy Hodel of Plainview, district Auxiliary president, will preside over that group's meeting.

ELECTION SET

Officers will be elected for the coming terms. Memorial services were scheduled this morning, with the Rev. Donald Kenning, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran Church and the post chaplain in charge, assisted by Paul Tueton, Legion district chaplain.

Steel Negotiators Fail To Put Dent In Impasse

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Top steel negotiators faced each other across the bargaining table Saturday for the first time since Wednesday, but failed to budge the deadlock that threatens to shut down the nation's steel industry.

Chief federal mediator William E. Simkin, after bringing industry and United Steelworkers Union officials together for one hour, said, "The situation is basically the same as it was when they broke off negotiations Wednesday."

The talks are bogged down on the union's demand for wage and fringe benefit increases totaling 17.9 cents an hour. The industry's top offer so far is estimated at 5 to 7 cents.

Simkin declined to say whether he was encouraged by the union's earlier announcement that it had negotiated a strike postponement with one small firm, Phoenix Steel Corp.

Phoenix agreed in exchange for the postponement that it will match contract gains the union eventually wins from the 11 major steel companies retroactive to May 1.

Simkin recessed all talks until Monday.

Jack Ruby Case Snarl May Loosen

DALLAS (AP) — The Jack Ruby appeals case remained as snarled as ever Saturday, although the U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals took limited action Friday.

Judge Joe Brown, the state jurist who presided at the trial in which Ruby received the death sentence, said he may try first to untangle the question of what lawyers represent Ruby. Ruby was convicted of slaying Lee Harvey Oswald, President Kennedy's assassin.

ONE OF ORIGINALS The Ruby family for months has sought to oust Joe Tonahill of Jasper as a defense attorney. He was one of the original Ruby lawyers.

Tonahill says Ruby is insane and that he cannot legally or ethically leave the case, even if the Ruby family wants other lawyers. Judge Brown said he still is somewhat uncertain about his next move pending receipt of the 5th Circuit order.

The appeals court, sitting in Jacksonville, Fla., declined to delay a sanity trial for Ruby. It said the question of sanity is so much a part of the entire appeal to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals that it must remain under jurisdiction of the Texas court.

SANITY TRIAL The Texas appeals court had ordered a sanity trial before it would rule on the general appeal.

Ruby's family asked federal courts a number of things, but Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson returned the case to state courts.

The family lawyers then appealed to the 5th Circuit Court, asking among a number of points that the federal courts delay any sanity trial, take jurisdiction of the entire case, and oust Tonahill.

The 5th Circuit Court ruled only on the issue of delay, but it appeared the court returned all issue to the state courts.

It apparently left the way open for further federal court action after state courts have acted.

Three Nabbed In Art Theft

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police arrested three San Francisco men Saturday in connection with the theft of $1 million in paintings last month from the nearby Hillsborough home of the late banker W. W. Crocker.

Police Chief Russell Fischer of Hillsborough said two of the men just returned from Houston, Tex., where they deposited a large crate with a van and storage company. He said a storage receipt from the Houston firm was recovered.

Farm Work Catching Up After Stall

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas farmers have made good progress catching up with work delayed by weather.

John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said the moisture situation is still not good statewide.

Moisture is short in the west and northwest. District farm agents in other sections reported a growing need for rain, he said. Fast growing crops and pastures, much warmer temperatures and winds are sapping the moisture. Conditions are favorable in the eastern half of the state.

Moisture, except in the eastern counties, was short in the Panhandle. High winds damaged dryland wheat. The brown wheat mite is causing trouble. Livestock and ranges are poor to fair.

SOUTH PLAINS The South Plains District is dry. Dryland wheat needs rain now, irrigated wheat looks good. Showers and rains of up to 3 inches covered the Rolling Plains but left moisture adequate in only about half the district. Grains are booting and heading. Some hail damage was noted. Mite damage is more general. Grain sorghum is being planted.

Most North Central Texas grain is doing well, though rust is causing some damage. Most corn and sorghum has been planted. Cotton planting is increasing. Lots of grazing is available.

Wheat and oats have reached the boot stage in Northeast Texas. All crops are making good growth. Vegetables, corn, cotton and sorghums are being planted. Moisture is short in Morris and Van Zandt counties. Vegetables in Van Zandt County were damaged by hail.

Grass and crops in far West Texas need a general soaker. Grains are beginning to head; cotton and sorghum are being planted; some cotton is up. Sheep shearing had started but shearing crews were short. Farm labor in general is scarce.

RAIN NEEDED Moisture is needed in West Central Texas especially for grains and pastures. Some sorghum is up to good stands. Marketings of milk lambs is heavy and the market strong. Sheep shearing is on.

Oats, barley and rye in Central Texas are booting. Rust is damaging wheat. Sorghum is up. Cotton planting increased.

Moisture usually is adequate in East Texas but short spots are showing up. Clover and oats are showing well. Pastures are average to above.

A good general rain over Southeast Texas would help. All crops look good. Planting is about complete except where wet fields caused delay.

Gesture To China Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Policy makers of the United States Chamber of Commerce urged Saturday that the administration explore measures "to more effectively open channels of communication with the people of mainland China."

The resolution — in effect, a proposal for first steps toward a possible easing of the complete embargo on trade with Red China — will be presented to businessmen delegates to the chamber's 53d annual convention opening here Monday.

It is one of two pending policy statements which, if adopted, would appear to be steering the country's largest business organization toward a new course in international affairs.

The other proposes the repeal of the "Connally Reservation" of 1948, which limits the jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice at the Hague.

Dominican Republic Rebellion Put Down

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — An attempted coup against the Dominican Republic's ruling civilian junta apparently collapsed Saturday night after the rebels were ousted from the government radio station.

While crowds of anti-government demonstrators swarmed through the streets shouting denunciations of the regime, the rebels occupied the radio station for 30 minutes and announced they had taken over the country.

A policeman was reported stabbed in the street fighting and at least one young demonstrator was injured by gunfire. But as dusk settled on this old capital, Santo Domingo was once again calm.

Officials said three army officers and 30 civilians were under arrest for their part in the plot against the government of Donald Reid Cabral, head of the civilian junta.

Four tanks and 50 soldiers guarded the national palace as Reid summoned newsmen to announce the revolt had been crushed.

The government decreed a curfew at 6 p.m. Since the end of Rafael L. Trujillo's 32-year dictatorship in 1961, the Dominican Republic has had seven governments. Reid, 41, a wealthy U.S.-educated auto dealer, and two other civilians assumed power after the military ousted President Juan Bosch in September 1963, on charges of coming under leftist sway.

Although one of Reid's silent associates in the junta resigned, the government officially continued as a triumvirate. Reid recently tried to solidify his control by purging a collection of generals and colonels — holdovers from the Trujillo regime — who had often plotted against him. He carried out the dismissals with U.S. support.

As head of a "de facto" government with limited popular support and without the backing of any of the nation's dozen political parties, the Scottish immigrant's son has been widely denounced by many Dominicans for a belt-tightening austerity program.

KEY ISSUES

Long-postponed presidential elections are scheduled for Sept. 1 and the austerity program and the nation's economic problems are expected to be key campaign issues.

Communist agitators remain a threat to the nation's political life. Some government officials have accused Cuba of plotting against the Dominican Republic.

The outlawed June 14 Movement has been charged with trying to begin a Castro-type guerrilla campaign against the regime.

An agricultural nation of more than three million, the Dominican Republic shares the island of Hispaniola in the Caribbean with Haiti, with which it has been frequently at odds.

Wind-Driven Waves Crash Water Guards

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains, twisting winds and pounding waves heightened danger in the Mississippi River flood zone Saturday.

Several tornadoes smashed into areas in western and central Illinois early in the day while downpours slowed men and machines fighting against record-high waters.

A twister tore apart a farm home near Woodhull, Ill., about 30 miles south of Rock Island, injuring Gerald Nelson, his wife and three children. The winds damaged buildings in nearby Aledo and Reynolds and on a farm near Streator.

LIFTS ROOFS

A tornado lifted the roof off the Rural Electrification Administration quarters in Brooklyn, Iowa. Hurricane-force winds raked the south section of Des Moines. A driver was injured when four semitrailer trucks were blown off Interstate 80 south of Brooklyn.

The twisters were faint echoes of the swarm of funnel clouds that swept across the Midwest on Palm Sunday, killing 248 persons and starting two terrible weeks of assaults by wind and water.

But the latest winds whipped waves against flood barriers, and the rains sent runoff water down from bluffs to the shore lines below.

The rain soaked scores of flood fighters in Dubuque, Iowa. The Mississippi rose beyond the 26-foot level there and headed for a peak of 28.7 Sunday.

MAJOR HOPEFUL

"I am confident we have this thing licked," said Mayor Robert Horgan. "We are going to win."

The city was battling to protect residential sections. Cold waters have invaded the business district and scores of establishments have been closed.

Almost two inches of rain splattered the Rock Island area in six hours.

GRIM THREAT

The earthen dike, three miles long, safeguards the central and western sections of the city. If it bursts, one to four feet of water will flow through almost all of the downtown area. The eastern third of the community is on higher ground.

The waterworks in nearby East Moline stopped functioning shortly before noon.

Peace Or Big Asian War? It's Up To North Viet Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials believe the Vietnamese conflict has reached a stage at which it might swing rapidly toward either a peaceful settlement or a much bigger Asian war.

Whether or when either of these alternatives comes about, they say, depends largely on what course the North Vietnamese choose.

A growing sense of crisis over the trend of the struggle is said to be reflected in a speech given here Friday night by Secretary of State Dean Rusk. In this he bluntly rejected various proposals for a softening of U.S. military pressures against North Viet Nam and reaffirmed tough, determined U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

SEES DANGERS Associates said Rusk wanted to act against any miscalculation by North Viet Nam or Red China of the significance of debates within this country over

U.S. strategy. They said any belief on the part of the Asian Communist leaders that President Johnson might call off U.S. attacks without a cease-fire on the Communist side could lead to extremely dangerous results.

Rusk said in his speech to the American Society of International Law that the United States is bombing the North because of its continued aggression against South Viet Nam and added: "When that aggression ceases, collective measures in defense against it will cease."

PEACE TALKS? Official hope for early Communist agreement to peace talks on Viet Nam fell to a low point last week after North Viet Nam rejected a proposal for unconditional discussions which had been made by 17 nonaligned countries and accepted by the President.

There still is some speculation that the Communists may be interested in going to an international conference on the security of Cambodia where they would be able to discuss, behind the scenes, Viet Nam issues with the U.S. representatives.

The daylight raids followed a night attack by six U.S. Air Force B57 Canberra bombers which blasted a truck convoy and an anti-aircraft battery in North Viet Nam, a military spokesman said.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets struck at highways in Communist North Viet Nam Saturday, wrecking a bridge and a military convoy, an American spokesman reported.

Big Welcome For Spaceman

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Thousands of Floridians cheered astronaut John W. Young and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey Saturday in this city's celebration for Young, a home town hero.

Nine high school bands, blaring "Anchors Aweigh" and "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," lined the three-mile, gaily decorated parade route.

Reviewing The

With Joe Pickle

The Sizzler contest sizzled out unexpectedly on Wednesday. Normally, it is late May before the 100-degree reading is reached, but this apparently is not a normal year. W. H. Booher, who must have mercury in his veins, was the best guesser and picked up the first prize money. As one of our friends suggested, a better contest would be to guess when we will get a 2-inch rain. That contest might go indefinitely.

And on the day the thermometer soared to 101 or 103, depending on whose you were reading, wouldn't you know it we got our $9 gas bill. Who could remember how cool March had been?

In a way, weather figured in a tragedy at Moss Creek Lake. Susanna Padilla, 8, and her brother, Eraul, 10, were wading off shore at the lake on a blistering day. They stepped off a ledge and drowned despite heroic efforts to save them. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Eraul Padilla Sr.

Ex-Gangster 'Clay Pigeon' Madden Dies

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Owen Vincent (Owney) Madden, 73, who survived two decades of a blazing underworld career and retired here as a quiet man known for his gifts to charity, died Saturday.

A lung disease ended the life of the prohibition era gangster, dubbed "The Clay Pigeon" by New York police because he was shot so often.

There was little vestige in Madden's life here of the days of terror he knew in the Hell's Kitchen district of New York City in the 1920s and 1930s.

He shunned publicity and declined to talk about his life.

Leeds, England, in 1902. He was first arrested on a burglary charge, at the age of 19, but was acquitted.

Between 1910 and 1934 Madden was accused of six killings, but he served only two prison terms—one for parole violation and one for "instigating" the killing of Little Patsy Doyle.

He bossed the Gopher Gang as a beer baron and once used a fleet of ships to bring liquor from England, Scotland and Cuba into New York.

Madden's car was once driven by movie star George Raft, his widow relates, and he is said to have launched Mae West on her fabulous career by sponsoring her in the Broadway production of "Pretty Lil."

Raft visited frequently here, where Madden and his wife lived peacefully as next-door neighbors to Police Chief John Ermey.

Hobbs Is 6-B Region Winner

Hobbs High School nosed out Paint Rock by two points to capture the literary division of the Region 6-B Interscholastic League meet held Saturday at Howard County Junior College.

The winning school put together first places in slide rule and one act play along with a second in extemporaneous speaking. Paint Rock finished one, two in journalism and second in debate.

Third place went to Miles with 37, accounting for one of the tightest finishes in region competition.

Other points amassed by the schools were Mertzon 30, Sterling City 24, Dawson and Bronte 25 each, Barstow, Eden, Borden County and Ira 20 points each, Anthony, Hermleigh, Robert Lee and Fort Davis 15 each;

Camp Draws 200 Scouts

A dusty wind at sunset hampered the finale of the Spring Camporee for Boy Scouts at Moss Creek Lake but otherwise the outing, which began Friday night, was one of the most successful in several seasons, Bill McRee, scout executive, said.

Two hundred scouts from 21 patrols in 13 troops took part in the camporee which was on the YMCA camp grounds at the lake. Contests in scout skills occupied the youngsters on Friday night and Saturday. The camporee closed with a campfire ceremony Saturday night.

Bill Bradford was camp director. Frosty Robison is camp committee chairman.

Blue Ribbons were awarded to Troop 5, sponsored by the First Baptist Church; Troop 9, Wesley Methodist Church; Troop 179, Kentwood Methodist Church; and Troop 4, Big Spring Hunting and Fishing Club.

Red ribbons were presented to Troop 136, Couden; Troop 216, Baptist Temple Church; Troop 339, Hillcrest Baptist Church.

White ribbons were presented to Troop 8, Coahoma Lions Club; Troop 1, Big Spring Rotary Club; Troop 300, St. Paul Presbyterian Church; Troop 39, First Presbyterian Church.

Ricky Ream Wins Ready Writing

Ricky Ream, Big Spring High School student entered in Ready Writing at the Regional Interscholastic League meet in Odessa Saturday, won first place. Ricky won second place in district, which made him eligible for the regional, where he won over the first place district winner. He will now go to the state meet May 8.

The Ready Writers were given a choice of three subjects, Mrs. Johnny Johansen, instructor, said. One of the subjects was "The Problems of Viet Nam," in which Ricky had been interested, and he chose that subject. Ricky is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ream, 508 Highland.

Pakistani Thrust Charged By India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian government charged Saturday that a Pakistani army brigade of at least 3,000 men thrust almost seven miles into India's territory and was repulsed with heavy losses.

The Pakistan army used tanks for the first time since the Pakistan-India war in 1948 in an attack across the Kutch-Sind border in western India, an official spokesman charged.

FAA Doesn't Find Pilots' Joke Funny

WASHINGTON (AP) — From up front, it must have seemed like a funny stunt. But the humorless Federal Aviation Agency holds that airline pilots shouldn't play practical jokes on the crew.

As reported in the FAA's violations docket, the plan was that after takeoff, the copilot would hide in the baggage bin behind his seat. Then the captain would call the stewardess forward and observe her surprise to find only one pilot.

CITES FLIGHT

The FAA said it happened on Trans-Texas Airways flight 123 last Aug. 17, 29 or 30—it wasn't just sure of the date—on a flight north from El Paso, Tex., and Carlsbad, N.M.

The agency said that shortly after takeoff from Roswell, N.M., for Albuquerque, the copilot, Keith Joseph Mackey, carried out the pre-conceived plan and hid in the baggage bin.

Then the pilot, Gene Victor Poteet, called hostess Karon Hoffmann to the flight deck so that she might believe Mackey had been left on the ground at Roswell, the agency said.

Miss Hoffmann, it appeared, was not readily fooled. She looked into the bin.

It was dark. Furthermore, the FAA said, Poteet beamed a flashlight into her eyes, so that she could not see well into the baggage compartment.

"On reaching Albuquerque, you continued the deception," the FAA said to Mackey in its complaint.

"You left from the forward cargo loading door so that the stewardess did not see you."

The FAA said Mackey, in leaving his duty station while in flight, failed to exercise the degree of safety expected of him.

SUSPENDS HIM

The agency's report did not indicate Miss Hoffmann's reactions. It ordered a 30-day suspension for Mackey, and made it effective as of last Feb. 20 when he surrendered his certificate.

The FAA also indicated that the copilot may have taken up new work. Its current address for him is: Company C, 4th Training Brigade, 1st Battalion, Fort Polk, La.

Public Favoring Viet Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — If their mood is reflected in the letters they write their senators, a substantial segment of the American people wants the road opened to negotiations on Viet Nam.

Staff members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, assessing hundreds of letters reported Saturday that more than 90 per cent of the correspondents support the call of Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., for a temporary halt in bombing raids in an effort to encourage the Communists to negotiate.

FIRST COUNT

The first count showed 400 supporting and 30 opposing Fulbright's proposal, which was criticized by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

On the other hand, staff leaders of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said his mail is running about 50-50 on his position that the United States should continue to hold the North Vietnamese Communists' feet to the fire by its air strikes.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who has supported President Johnson's course in Viet Nam vigorously, also is reported to be receiving mail about equally divided between those who want some move made toward negotiations and those who favor pushing the war vigorously.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who has called for efforts to reconvene the 1954 Geneva conference, said his mail is running heavily in favor of seeking negotiations to end the fighting.

He said only a small segment of correspondents wants the United States to withdraw and an equally small group favors accelerating the war to greater intensity.

Although few senators regard the mail as conclusive evidence, most credit it with indicating a trend in public thinking. They

Two Parties Differ On Progress Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans and Democratic publications have taken a look at the first 100 days of the current Congress and, as you'd expect, they don't see eye to eye.

The headline of the Democratic publication of the Democratic National Committee, proclaims: "Legislative landmarks of the first 100 days: President lauds Congress."

The Republican Congressional Committee's newsletter sees it another way: "Congress' first 100 days: 'More taxes . . . and more federal control'."

CARROT, STICK

The Republicans illustrated their piece with what they called "the Great Society coat of arms. . . crossed carrot and stick, rampant on a corn-fed ham, with the motto 'Carrotum aut clubbem, creatus consensus populi.'"

Which freely translates, according to the GOP, as "Carrot, them or club them, but create us a public consensus."

The Democrats' story quotes President Johnson as praising the 89th Congress for achieving in its initial 100 days "a record of major accomplishments without equal or close parallel in the present era."

F.D.R. REPEAT?

Johnson may have been thinking about the famous first 100 days of Franklin D. Roosevelt's depression administration. If he wasn't the Republicans were.

The GOP newsletter said: "Where F.D.R. used the shotgun approach on the problem of

Cong Wounds Four Marines

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—Four U.S. Marines were wounded by the Viet Cong today as yet another patrol pushed further out into Viet Cong territory from Da Nang.

Earlier in the day one U.S. Marine was killed and another wounded in the accidental explosion of a grenade in a foxhole at Phu Bah.

The four Marines were wounded in freakish incidents.

Pfc. Leonard Siler, Rochester, N.Y., was hit with five bullets—four in the leg and one in the arm—but the bullets were virtually spent from a Viet Cong machine gun. He was not seriously hurt.

WALKS AWAY

Siler picked up his rifle and gear and walked to the helicopter that evacuated him.

Pfc. Jerry D. Goff, St. Louis, Mo., was firing when a Viet Cong round came right into the barrel of his weapon in a million-to-one chance. Fragments of Goff's weapon flew into his face, causing facial wounds that were not serious.

Pfc. Allen Nehls, Milltown, Wis., was caught in a huge Viet Cong mantrap made of steel with teeth. The teeth clamped against Nehls' foot.

The fourth Marine was injured in the buttocks by a sharpened bamboo stake as he moved to Nehls' assistance. chia-Bade fields, both of which

MAIN CAMP

The Marine patrol initially covered the same area as three previous patrols south of the main Marine camp at Hill 327.

The Marines then moved about 13 miles southwest of Da Nang and received initial Viet Cong fire from automatic weapons.

Sporadic fire continued during the day as the 150-man Marine force, with only a handful of Viet Namese infantrymen, cleared the civilian population from villages and interrogated them.

CRY IN FEAR

As the Marines cleared civilians from several villages prior to moving in with grenades and automatic weapons fire against suspected Viet Cong bunkers, women and children lay on the ground crying bitterly.

But when the civilians saw the Marines were not about to harm them, they rallied and seemed in good spirits, as the U.S. forces moved on to other positions.

Replacement For C-Ration

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP)—Ex-GI's may remember a gastronomic specialty of the armed forces called the C-ration.

Well, something to replace it is being tested. And guess what?

It looks worse.

The food is pre-cooked, dehydrated and comes in a small bag about the size of a tobacco pouch. It is called, hopefully, a Survival Ration.

Here's the recipe:

A GI pours half to three-quarters of a canteen cup of hot water into the waterproof bag, lets the contents set for 20 minutes to reconstitute, and presto—out comes such delicacies as chicken stew, beef hash, or beans and meatballs.

There are also powdered beverages and dehydrated desserts.

The new rations are being given a trial at this southern California base and at the Marine Corps' Camp Lejeune in North Carolina.

Sharp Eyes Of Carnival Workers Bring Capture

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Carnival workers with a sharp eye were credited Saturday with the capture of Texas' most wanted man, Leslie Douglas Ashley, 28.

Ashley, a female impersonator, escaped from a San Antonio mental hospital Oct. 6 where he had been sent before he could be tried again for the murder of a Houston real estate man.

He was placed on the FBI's 10 most wanted list two weeks ago.

INFORM FBI

The carnival workers noted a wanted bulletin and women's clothing in the suitcase of Ashley, their fellow worker. They double-checked the poster in a post office and decided Ashley was the man.

They informed the FBI. For one thing, they expected a reward. No reward had been posted, but they were negotiating that matter with the agency.

TRIED AGAIN

Ashley was only four hours away from the electric chair, as was his companion, Carolyn Ann Lima, a prostitute, when the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed their conviction.

Ashley then was found insane. The Lima woman was tried again and assessed a 5-year term. She recently was released from prison with a reduced time because of good behavior and time spent in jail. She now is 22.

Murdered was Fred Tones, 44. Authorities said Tones was shot to death during a sex party in his office. His nude, partly burned body was found in a ditch. The Lima woman and Ashley were arrested in New York three weeks later.

Ashley was working in the carnival at odd jobs and as a ticket taker.

New Roads For Lakes

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Highway Department announced Saturday a $12.9 million highway development plan for the new recreation and industrial complex being created by the Toledo Bend, Sam Rayburn and Dam B reservoirs in East Texas.

The plan calls for 237.9 miles of new road to serve the reservoirs at an estimated cost of $7.68 million. Another $5.25 million will be spent for bridges and other construction in the Toledo Bend area.

The Sabine River Authority will reimburse the Highway Department for the second phase of the development.

TOLEDO BEND

When completed, the Toledo Bend reservoir on the Sabine River and Sam Rayburn reservoir on the Angelina River will be the 13th and 14th largest man-made lakes in the nation. Their development is expected to provide the ingredients for tremendous industrial and recreational growth in East and Southeast Texas.

The master plan developed by the Highway Department takes into consideration road patterns for through traffic, industrial development and recreational facilities.

Over 117 miles of new roads will be built near the Sam Rayburn reservoir at a cost of $3.44 million. The Sam Rayburn dam will be dedicated in early May. Many of the roads planned in this area are of the local service type.

CAMPING SITES

Over 50 recreational facilities have been planned for the reservoir. Many already have been constructed by the U.S. Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Forestry Service. Facilities include camping areas, boat ramps, picnic tables and barbecue pits.

Road relocations and adjustments necessitated by the building of the dam and reservoir have been completed or are nearing completion.

The department's development plan also calls for the construction of 92.5 miles of new roads in the Toledo Bend area. Estimated cost of this phase of construction has been set at $3 million.

HOWARD COUNTY LIBRARY POPULARITY GROWS
Open house this week to celebrate National Library Week

Howard County Library Is Increasingly Popular Place

Big Spring's newly organized chapter of Friends of the Library will spearhead the observance locally of National Library Week which opens today, Bill Dawes, one of the members, said.

The chapter is carrying on a publicity campaign to encourage wider use of the Howard County Free Library.

The Howard County Free Library dates back to the years when the J. W. Fisher Store on Main Street was the mercantile center for the area. The first Big Spring library was housed in a dingy basement room in the store building.

Later, the library was given quarters in an ancient red-stone building on the northwest corner of the courthouse square. This structure had originally been built as a firehouse. While the accommodations afforded by the building lacked much, they were certainly a big improvement over the basement quarters which had served for several years.

The library really came into its own with the building of the new Howard County million dollar courthouse. A wing on the lower floor was allotted to the library. In no time at all, the quarters began to be cramped. Further, the county commissioners were looking for more room for the tax collector and assessor.

The Dora Roberts Foundation came to the rescue. The Roberts residence on Scurry was given to the county, and the foundation remodelled it, with county assistance, into a library. The shift from the courthouse to its present home was made in 1958.

Already, there is an increasing need for still more room. The Dora Roberts Foundation building is rapidly being outgrown. A problem prevails for more parking in the area. An additional difficulty older patrons have is climbing the stairs to the building. The library is on an elevation above the street.

The library has enjoyed steady growth each year since 1955 when it was established in the new courthouse.

At that time, there were 10,368 books on the stacks in the library. Today, the library has more than 20,000 books and is adding more each week.

In 1955, the library had 3,912 borrowers on its lists. The borrowers now are near 9,000. In 1955, the library checked out 63,000 books. This year, there is a high probability the library will check out close to 90,000 volumes.

SMALL STAFF
The library in 1955 was operated with only two full time workers. Today, with the volume much amplified, there are only three full time employees.

Recently, Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, set up a plan to keep the library open later hours each Thursday, and it met with exceptional response. She said that if the interest continues at the present high level she will have to find extra help.

Reading demand is heavy in the summer in Big Spring. "We are just now moving into the big season," said Mrs. McDaniel. "Last summer, we averaged checking out 10,000 books each month."

"We have every reason to believe this summer will be a replica of last year."

Despite the popularity of the library and the many individuals it serves, the financial burden on the county is relatively light. The budget for the library is only about $18,000 per year. The entire financial support of the library is met out of county funds. Despite the heavy use of the facility by residents of the city, no money comes from the city treasury for its support.

SHORT OF IDEAL
The State Library Commission recommends, Dawes pointed out, a county library should be financed at a per capita rate of about $2. If this applied in Howard County, the library would get nearly $80,000 yearly.

Delegation To Library Meet Reaches Twenty
The Howard County delegation to attend the big dinner meeting in Abilene, which officially kicks off National Library week in this area, has grown to 20, it was announced Saturday.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said that reservations for that many have been made. The dinner is at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Library Building in the Taylor County seat.

Additional Big Spring library boosters to attend the dinner will include Judge and Mrs. Lee Porter, Mrs. Earl Ezzell, Mrs. Nan Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Little, Miss Elsie Willis and Mrs. Daniel Kester.

Earlier it had been announced Mr. and Mrs. Hank McDaniel, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. John Harley, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roach would be at the dinner.

Henry Drennan, coordinator of public library services, U. S. Office of Education, is to be the guest speaker at the dinner.

Spelling Champion Crams For Big Bee

Young Don Hickson, Howard County's 1965 spelling champion, is burning a lot of midnight oil these days. He is cramming for the Regional Spelling Bee in Lubbock on next Saturday afternoon.

Hickson, an eighth grader at Runnels Junior High, has the distinction not only of being this year's spelling champion but likewise the champion for 1964. He did not have too much luck in the Regional Bee at Lubbock last year. This year, however, with the experience he acquired in 1964, he hopes to make a much better showing.

AGAINST CHAMPS
At Lubbock, Don will be pitted against the county champions from 23 West Texas counties. And, should he win, he would get an all-expense trip in June to Washington, D.C., to try for the national title and for numerous valuable prizes.

Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hickson, 623 State. He won his 1965 title on April 10 by spelling down 14 other school champions at The Herald's Third Annual Howard County Spelling Bee.

He will be accompanied to Lubbock by his mother and father, by his sister and possibly by his teacher who has been his coach in spelling.

REGIONAL BEE
The Regional Spelling Bee in Lubbock is sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche Journal. It opens at 1:30 p.m. May 1 in the O. L. Slaton Junior High School. Should Don win the Regional Title, in addition to his free trip to Washington, he would get a 24-volume set of Encyclopedia Britannica; a Britannica World Atlas; possession for one year of the regional championship plaque; and a Paper Mate Pen and Pencil set. In addition, his school—Runnels Junior High—would receive free one Britannica film each month for the next school year.

If he placed second, he would get $20 in cash, a Lincoln Library of Essential Knowledge and a two-volume Britannica World Language Dictionary.

OAS Against Use Of Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has suggested American republics agree to settle their disputes peacefully and reiterate their repudiation of force.

A working document containing the proposals has been distributed by the United States to members of the Organization of American States. The Associated Press learned.

The proposed pact would provide machinery to mediate and arbitrate differences among American nations. It also would have hemisphere republics take their disputes to the OAS before approaching nonhemisphere bodies, such as the United Nations.

The document is under study in a committee organizing the conference of American foreign ministers to be held May 20 in Rio de Janeiro.

Craft Relays Transmissions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Early Bird communications satellite and its ground stations have demonstrated their ability to handle trans-Atlantic television traffic.

From its stationary position 22,300 miles above the Atlantic between Brazil and Africa, the spacecraft relayed live and filmed television transmissions simultaneously between the United States and Europe Friday in a six-hour experiment.

The Communications Satellite Corp. reported that the pictures were of good quality and demonstrated the capability of two-way space television without loss of clarity or performance.

Static From Air Capers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Those magnetic storms that periodically bedevil radio and other communications on the earth are apparently due to combined shenanigans of the magnetic fields of the sun and the earth, a young scientist reported Saturday.

Donald Fairfield, a graduate physics student at Pennsylvania State University, said new evidence suggesting this has been gleaned from data obtained by the Explorer 12 satellite and by ionosphere-observing stations in Alaska, Canada, Iceland, England, Denmark and Sweden.

He told the annual meeting of the International Scientific Radio Union the evidence suggests that the great magnetic field around the sun frequently joins forces with the earth's magnetic field to cause "ionospheric storms" — and also produce the gorgeous northern lights.

This occurrence, he indicated, depends on whether the earth is passing through a north-directed solar magnetic field or a south-directed one. The latter type causes the trouble — and the free auroral show.

Some Stocks At New Peak

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market last week made faltering progress but the pace of trading continued brisk. Historic highs were posted by some of the market averages.

The closely watched Dow Jones industrial average made a net gain of 4.50 to end the week at a record closing high of 916.41.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index closed at a record 88.88 but The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost .5 at 338.5 after making a historic closing peak of 339.7 on Monday.

The trading week began auspiciously after the long Easter weekend which was accompanied by some bullish news, including records for industrial production and personal income in March.

Weekly steel production was reported equal to the previous record. Housing starts in March were higher than in February. Still, the market ran into some unsettling factors in the course of the trading week. Over-all progress was slight.

Counting issues traded, the market rose, for of 1,542 issues 757 rose and 617 fell. The week's volume was 29,677,510 compared with 25,185,680 for the four-day trading week previous, shortened by the good Friday holiday.

Colleges Handed Part Of Blame

AUSTIN (AP) — A college president says that some of Texas' public school problems may be blamed on teachers colleges.

Dr. James McCrocklin of Southwest Texas State College, as principal speaker Friday night at a conference of the Texas State Committee for Public Education, said "colleges themselves are at fault in many cases for their reluctance to disqualify individuals as teachers."

"The certification rests on each and every individual campus and some of our campuses are not prepared to take the initiative that has been given them by law, and as a result we are still finding sub-standard teachers finding their way into our programs," he said.

Knott 4-H Club Members Erect Welcome Signboard

KNOTT — Motorists on US 87, travelling past the Knott Community, will be greeted by a large billboard which informs them that the Knott 4-H Club extends a welcome to all visitors.

The board was put in place Saturday climaxing a program the club has been pursuing for the past three years.

Lawrence Long, president, said that the organization has entered a float in each annual Howard County rodeo parade for the past three years.

"Each year," said Long, "we won first place money. We put that money in a special fund and, when we had enough, we set about erecting a dozen special signs in the community to direct travelers to the residences of Knott residents."

"The remainder of the money we used to pay for the big signboard we have just put on the Lamesa highway."

Long said that he did not think the Knott club would be able

Mrs. Kennedy Garden Opens

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House garden she planned was dedicated last week to former First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy wasn't present, but members of her family, including her mother, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, and those who worked with her on White House projects listened as her successor, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, said:

"This garden, every detail of it, reflects the unflinching taste of the gifted and gracious Jacqueline Kennedy. For generations to come the garden will add to the pleasure of those who occupy this home and the thousands of Americans who pass by it on a visit to the White House."

'Negro Day' Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A New York congressman says Negroes should follow the custom of other ethnic groups and honor their heritage with a special day.

Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., told the convention of the Medical Committee on Human Rights Friday such an affair could be patterned after St. Patrick's Day.

"It might be called 'Negro Heritage Day,'" he said. "It would be a day of singing and partying, and dancing, and celebrating in the home, in our streets and in our parks."

"It would be a day when a Negro's white neighbors and friends would join in the celebration, just as all America joins in the celebration of St. Patrick's Day."

Special Sessions Seen Likely For Legislature

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — State Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan told the Bryan Eagle Saturday that two special sessions—for education and legislative redistricting—appear "unavoidable at this point."

Moore, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, commented on legislative matters while home for the weekend.

TEACHER PAY
He said he is "committed to the Texas State Teachers Association's 45-65 pay program provided the money is available."

It was Moore's first public announcement that he would support the pay raise proposal.

Although opposed to special sessions, which cost about $400,000 each, Moore said if interested parties can agree, he feels the teachers' pay raise bill could be passed in two or three days.

$80 MILLION
The proposal would cost the state $80 million the next two years.

Moore predicted a 2-cent increase in the cigarette tax to bring in $44 million. He also predicted an increase in the tax on beer.

ON REDISTRICTING
The Bryan senator said a special session appears likely on legislative redistricting because congressional redistricting can not be tackled until the legislature is reappointed.

Moore predicted that if the House insists on 4-year terms for representatives and 6-year terms for senators "the people of Texas will not approve increasing the Senate membership from 31 to 39 in a special election Aug. 7."

The Kentucky firm has the contract with the U. S. Air Force to carry on a pre-jet flight training program for pilots. It has announced it will use the Howard County airport for the program, which is to get under way in midsummer.

Step Taken At Bogalusa To End Strife

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—City officials plan to meet with the all-Negro Bogalusa civic and voters league, probably next week, in the latest step toward settling racial problems.

Mayor Jesse Cutrer Jr., who noted he has been consistently willing to talk with local citizens on any issue, said:

"This is what we wanted to get done, to sit at a conference table to discuss their grievances and get out of the streets."

LEAGUE APPROVES A. Z. Young, president of the league, said: "I'm perfectly satisfied by the action taken by the mayor and his council."

Elsewhere: A crowd estimated by police at 18,000 jammed the Revolutionary War meeting ground of Boston Common to hear Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. speak after a three-mile protest march through the predominantly Negro section of Roxbury.

King said America "must not become a nation of onlookers" in the fight against segregation.

"We march in Boston to tell Boston, and the rest of the nation, that we will no longer tolerate segregation which is a new form of slavery," King said, speaking during a chilly rain.

—A federal judge at New Orleans ordered a speedup in the desegregation of Orleans Parish public schools which have been integrated through the third grade under a grade-a-year plan.

DISPERSE CROWD —Police at Montgomery, Ala. had to resort to firing pistols into the air to disperse a rock and bottle throwing crowd of students taking part in a demonstration on the campus of a Negro college. A force of 12 Negro officers from the Mobile Police Department was called in to aid in dealing with any future demonstrations.

—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, meeting at Montreal, N.C., rejected a request for a pastoral letter to all its churches which would have forbidden, in effect, racial discrimination.

—Evangelist Billy Graham opened an Alabama crusade at Dothan Saturday night which he hopes will provide a spiritual awakening for the nation. He said he is not in Alabama to solve its problems, but to preach the Gospel and "to try to get across the message of God."

—At Evanston, Ill., the Judicial Council of the Methodist Church ruled that the church's 1964 General Conference had unequivocally affirmed the right to Negroes to attend services of any Methodist congregation.

POLICEMEN BEATEN —Two white policemen were attacked and beaten in Washington when a crowd of Negroes, estimated at 150, attempted to free two men who had been arrested. One of the arrested men, Robert Bowman, 23, was shot in the chest during the disturbance.

—A New York congressman, Rep. Joseph V. Resnick, a Democrat, said in a speech the American Medical Association should be deprived of tax-exempt status because of what he called refusal to end racial discrimination in all chapters.

FCC Ruling Draws Blast WASHINGTON (AP) — Frederick W. Ford has blasted his former colleagues on the Federal Communications Commission for their tentative decision that the FCC has authority over all community antenna television — CATV — systems.

Ford quit the commission this year to become president of the National Community Television Association, an organization of CATV operators.

Ford called the FCC decision an "unprecedented assumption of jurisdiction by an administrative agency" and said he is confident Congress would intervene to upset it.

Gls In Viet Tax-Exempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson Saturday exempted non-commissioned military personnel from federal income taxes while serving in the Viet Nam area and gave officers serving there an exemption of $200 a month.

Johnson, by executive order, made the tax relief retroactive to last Jan. 1.

It applies to all American military personnel serving in Viet Nam and adjacent waters, which extend roughly 100 miles from the entire coast of North Viet Nam.

The exemption applies to the time actually served in the Viet Nam area.

For example, a non-commissioned officer who served there for six months this year could exempt only one-half of his compensation from federal taxes.

For purposes of exemption, warrant officers, are regarded as non-commissioned personnel. They rank just under commissioned officers.

This exemption was last given to U.S. forces serving in Korea. Acting under a section of the revenue code, Johnson, in effect, declared the Viet Nam area to be a combat zone.

There has been considerable agitation in Congress and elsewhere for a tax break for personnel serving in the Viet Nam area.

In addition to tax relief during the time military personnel serve in the Viet Nam area, the same tax exemptions will apply during any period of hospitalization resulting from such service.

STANTON — Martin County grand jurors voted six indictments during their session Friday.

An hour after the grand jurors had submitted their report to the court, four of the six defendants named in indictments had entered guilty pleas.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, said the only cases left on the docket after the guilty pleas had been heard were against Margarito Cuellar, accused of murder, and Raymon B. Boon, DWI second offense.

Four defendants, all indicted for forgery, entered guilty pleas. Three drew probation three-year penitentiary sentences. They were Matilda Cortez, William Laabs, and Sammy Brooks. The fourth plea drew the defendant, Robert Coleman, three years in the state penitentiary.

Cuellar is accused in the knife death April 11 of Louis Cenega Aquillar, 20. The defendant and the victim were both residents of Lamesa.

Cuellar is being held in the Martin County jail. There is no indication when the case will be tried. No criminal docket has been set as yet in Martin County. Burns said that it would probably be in the next term before the case was called up.

Resignation Of Klotz Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert W. Klotz has resigned as assistant secretary of commerce following his admission that he profited from purchase of Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. stock.

The resignation was announced last week by Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor.

Klotz said he knew nothing about the discovery, but bought the stock after a tip from a secretary. By buying an option on 2,000 shares, Klotz said he had a paper profit of about $14,600 some two weeks after the purchase.

DEAR ABBY

Walking In Wrong Place

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of my problem. My husband is retired and his hobby is walking. There's no harm in that, but besides taking long walks outside, he walks back and forth inside our house half the night. He weighs over 200 pounds and when he walks, the whole house shakes. I tell him that walking in the house is not the same as walking outside and he should please go outside and walk around the block as many times as he wants to, but he says I am being unreasonable. I have never asked him to stop walking before 10:30 p.m. I like to go to bed early and, with his feet stamping, I can't tell you how nerve-racking it is. So who's unreasonable?

WALKER'S WIFE: DEAR ABBY: I would like to walk to his doctor's. Your husband could be walking himself (or you) into a nervous breakdown.

DEAR ABBY: Somewhere I had heard that during an electrical storm it is always best to leave a cellar window open so that if lightning strikes, it can find a way out of the house. Do you, or any of your readers, know anything about this? My husband has turned it into a big joke, and I have no way of knowing if what I heard was true or false. I hope you can come up with an answer because I am tired of being called "FLASH."

DEAR "FLASH": According to Mr. Charles C. Benford, who has been the Chief of the Beverly Hills Fire Department for 40 years, this is false. Lightning seeks the "ground" (that's the purpose of a lightning rod), not a "way out." Chief Benford added that this tale is superstition — like the old Pennsylvania myth that if you put a fair measure of his true love and devotion, his health or his fidelity. Sign me... "Girl Friendless Husband" DEAR HUSBAND: While a deficiency of physical ardor is no fair measure of a husband's true love, devotion or fidelity, neither is an abundance of physical ardor proof of it. And that goes double for wives.

Board To Study Building Plans

The Big Spring School board of trustees will meet in a special session at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday to confer with architects on final plans and specifications for the high school building.

The board is being called upon for approval of the plans before architects begin the copying process for distribution to prospective bidders, and the actual calling for bids. Tentative date for contract-letting is now in early June.

Zing into spring! Chevrolet Impala

People who buy other big expensive-looking cars get one thing you won't (big expensive-looking payments)

It looks like a big car. And is—by almost any standard, you want to apply.

Width? Nobody builds a car as much as one inch wider. Length? It grew three inches this year. Roominess? Every closed model's got three inches more shoulder room, front and rear, and more leg and foot room up front too. Luxury? Nice little touches like the look of mellow walnut across the Impala's instrument panel. And big touches. Like the fineness of the same Body by Fisher workmanship that makes some of America's most expensive cars look so expensive. How about the ride? Chevrolet engineers took the Jet-smooth one and smoothed it out even more this year. Also made it more stable by widening the wheel stance. Custom features? You can personalize your Chevrolet all you want because there are nearly 200 custom features to choose from. Price? That's where Chevrolets fall way short of the other big expensive-looking cars. But we wouldn't have it any other way. Would you?

One last question: How soon can you make a good spring buy on a Chevrolet? One last answer: Just as soon as you can get down to your Chevrolet dealer's.

Top Boss, Secretary Titles Given At Saturday Banquet

Mrs. Ruth Heath, a secretary at Webb Air Force Base, was named Secretary of the Year, and R. L. (Jimmie) Beale, district manager for Texas Electric Service Co., chosen as Boss of the Year last night. The announcement was made at the annual Bosses' Night Banquet given by the Big Spring chapter of the National Secretaries Association at the Big Spring Country Club.

TOP BOSS AND SECRETARY
R. L. Beale, left, and Mrs. Ruth Heath

Mrs. Jean Stone welcomed the bosses and guests, and 1964-65 Boss of the Year Lester Morton made the response. NSA members were then introduced by Mrs. Stone and each member, in turn introduced her Boss and guests.

DRAWS NAME
Morton was called upon to draw the name of the Boss of the Year from a hat, since Mrs. Camille Patterson, in charge of the program and arrangements, said the race was "too close" to decide otherwise. The ribbon he pulled held Beale's name on purpose.

"I am now a 'has-been' and am happy to announce Jimmie Beale as the new Boss of the Year," Morton said. "In looking around these tables tonight I can see why bosses and their secretaries' husbands don't get along so well."
Beale, in response, said he had always been lucky, "but if what I have in this box is 'fired' by something besides electricity, I am going to send it back."

The new Boss expressed his appreciation for having been considered qualified for the title, and that he hoped he could live up to the job.

HOSPITALITY HOUR
The more than 50 persons gathered at the tables observed a hospitality hour and then were served, buffet style, a menu of prime rib roast, baked potatoes, vegetables, tossed salad, home-made rolls, home-made pie, and tea or coffee.

Following the introductions and naming of the top secretary and boss, a program on experiences in Okinawa, including customs, costumes, arts and crafts, and products, was given by Mrs. Miriam M. Russell who spent two years on the island following World War II, when her husband was on a tour of duty there. She wore one of the kimonos given to her in a ceremony.

Mrs. Russell also played tape recordings of several songs in the native tongue, with piano accompaniment in a concert, and strung instrument in others.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reeder then took the group to Hong Kong with color slides of their trip.

Presbyterians In Merger Move

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP) — Southern Presbyterians took their first step Saturday toward possible merger with the Reformed Church in America.

The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U.S. approved without debate the drafting of a plan of union with the Reformed Church for consideration by 1968.

The nearly 450 commissioners beat down attempts to block a speech to a church agency here next August by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and to pull out of the National Council of Churches.

OPENS WAY
Saturday's action opened the way for an ultimate decision on merging with the reformed church, but the assembly voted against seeking reunion with the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., the northern denomination.

On the King issue, the assembly rejected 311-120 the move to withdraw the invitation to King. The vote was 318-126 to stay in the national council of churches. Alabama churchmen were among the defenders of King.

VOICES APPEAL
"Dr. King is really the voice of moderation in the civil rights movement," said the Rev. Charles G. Crumby of Guntersville, Ala. "Things could be so much worse. I appeal to you to give him this right."

Crumby is a member of the standing committee on Christian education which unanimously voted against the resolution proposed by Elder Hampton M. Auld of Myrtle Beach, S. C., to block King's appearance.

Opposing the invitation to King, Paul J. Story of Marion, N. C., said the civil rights leader would use the church forum for political propaganda. He drew a burst of applause and Moderator Samuel J. Patterson of San Antonio, Tex., warned the commissioners for the second time against demonstrations.

Thunderstorm Line Strikes

Moderate thunderstorms broke out in the Wichita Falls-Mineral Wells-Roanoke triangle of North Central Texas Saturday night.

Hail the size of golf balls fell at Breckenridge and Albany.

The turbulent weather occurred along the edge of a cool front moving across the state.

The Weather Bureau has issued two forecasts for tornadoes, severe thunderstorms, large hail and locally damaging winds.

One forecast for a 120-mile wide area from 60 miles southwest of Childress, Tex., to 70 miles northeast of Oklahoma City expired at 8 p.m. without any severe weather reported.

The other, for an area bounded, approximately, by the towns of Fredericksburg to 10 miles east of Graham to Spur and Ozona was for the period 6 p.m. to midnight.

Airman Hurt In Collision; Mishap Injures Lamesan

LAMESA (SC) — A Webb AFB airman was hospitalized but not believed seriously injured in a car-truck collision on North 7th Street at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Carl Carlson, 44A Dow, Big Spring, was in Medical Arts Hospital with bruises and contusions suffered when his 1965 sedan was rammed by a 1956 truck-trailer. The truck was driven by H. C. Powell, Lamesa. Powell was not injured nor was his truck damaged. The Carlson car was damaged $750.

Saturday afternoon Leonardo Garza, Lamesa, was hospitalized for injuries received when he lost control of his 1957 model car in the 1000 block on South 4th Street.

Police said that Garza's car ran 501 feet out of control. It crashed through a picket fence, a brick fence and rammed into a parked 1954 car, shoving it 27 feet. The car then plowed on for some distance before coming to a halt.

The parked car was owned by June Pence. An ambulance took Garza to the Medical Arts Hospital where he was still held Saturday night.

Weightlifters' Barbells Stolen

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Two thieves beat a night watchman unconscious and, with a light delivery truck, got away with a quarter-ton of weightlifters' barbells at a gymnasium here. They also took specialized body-building equipment.

Miss Dresser Of Silent Film Fame Is Dead

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Louise Dresser, who triumphed in the golden age of vaudeville and starred in silent films, died Saturday at the Motion Picture Country Hospital. She was 84.

Physicians said Miss Dresser appeared to be recovering from surgery she underwent March 13 for an intestinal obstruction, but she died shortly before dawn.

She had been widowed since 1951 — the year her second husband, Jack Gardner, died. They had been married 42 years.

Gardner, like his wife, was a singer, and later became a Hollywood agent and casting director. Miss Dresser continued to act in films until 1937.

Miss Dresser reached her greatest fame as costar with Will Rogers in seven films, including "State Fair," "Lightnin'" and "David Harum." Usually she played the crotchety but understanding wife of Rogers.

She was born Louise Kerlin on Oct. 5, 1882, in Evansville, Ind. She told how she acquired her stage name: Paul Dresser, composer of "The Banks of the Wabash" and other songs and brother of novelist Theodore Dreiser, introduced her as his sister in Chicago, where he helped her get work as a roof-gardener singer. She became so well known as Louise Dresser that she kept the name.

In 1906, she married actor-composer — "Shine On, Harvest Moon" — Jack Norworth. He took her to New York, where he persuaded comedian Lew Fields to give his wife a singing role, and she scored a Broadway hit.

Runway Row Back In Court

FORT WORTH (AP) — Forty-five Dallas residents have again carried into court their long squabble with the city over a new runway at Love Field, the municipal airport.

A suit was filed in federal court Friday seeking to block use of an 8,800-foot northwest-southeast runway which went into operation April 2.

The group, residents of the Love Field area, contend the noise of aircraft makes life in their neighborhood intolerable.

The suit was filed by James Donovan, a Dallas lawyer, who has battled Love Field expansion four years and served a 29-day jail sentence in 1963 for contempt of court.

"This is a new approach to our old problem," Donovan said. "The home owners contend the City of Dallas has seized the airspace over their property illegally. They place a $40 million value on this right."

Besides the City of Dallas, others named in the suit include the Federal Aviation Agency, regional FAA administrator Archie League of Fort Worth and National FAA administrator Najeb Halaby of Washington.

Police Break Up Gathering

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Eight carloads of police and four dogs were needed early Saturday to break up a crowd in a Negro district in Kansas City, Kan.

Late-hour taverns and restaurants in the area generated the crowd.

A police order to disperse was answered by the crowd with flying bricks, bottles and curses.

One person, Lee Earnest Gages, 16, was treated at a hospital for a police dog bite on his left leg.

American Gets First Aid

Nuclear Arms Use In Viet Nam Is Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is retaining the option of using small nuclear weapons in Communist North Viet Nam if this becomes an eventual necessity—even though there is no prospect of their use under existing circumstances.

This government, it has been learned, is prepared to use whatever weapons are considered essential to achieve its objective of ending Red aggression against South Viet Nam.

In this connection, it is understood also that: —As the war stands, U.S. forces have far from exhausted the conventional, nonnuclear arms that can be brought to bear effectively.

NO SANCTUARY
—Basic U.S. strategy does not assume there are any sanctuaries for the Communist opponents: Either a physical sanctuary inside Red China's borders or another kind of sanctuary in the assurance that the United States would forswear using nuclear weapons.

—The government approaches the idea of using nuclear weapons with the realization that possible gains must be balanced against conceivable losses.

—There is a strong awareness of the high risks involved in bringing atomic arms into play — the chief risk being that of possible involvement of the Soviet Union and escalation to a nuclear exchange between the big powers.

On the gains-vs-losses scale, it is considered inconceivable under present circumstances that the use of nuclear weapons in Viet Nam would yield a net gain for the United States.

Among other things, if U.S. planes were to drop nuclear weapons on North Vietnamese targets, it was said, the resulting radioactive fallout would drift down into South Viet Nam, killing the innocent and friendly there.

There is no chance that nuclear weapons, even those of a tactical battlefield nature, would be employed against the Red guerrillas infesting South Viet Nam.

Although officials refuse to discuss the circumstances under which nuclear weapons might be unlimbered, there is a strong belief this decision would be confronted if the Communist Chinese came into the Vietnamese war directly, particularly with major ground forces.

WTCC Session Opens Soon

ABILENE — A battery of experts in industrial development, water, economic development, and business-government relations will appear on the program as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce holds its 47th annual meeting in Abilene, starting Thursday.

Four other men will provide depth to the program as the WTCC meets at Abilene's Hotel Windsor. They are:

Dr. John R. Stockton, director of the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas, who will speak on "The Economic Development Potential of West Texas"; Hank Avery, mayor of Midland and president of the Texas Municipal League, who will speak on the responsibilities of businessmen in civic affairs; Dr. Stephen M. Sutherland of the University of Oklahoma faculty, who will speak on "Economic Geography and Industrial Development"; and Tom McFarland of Lubbock, general manager of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District and a recognized authority on water.

Already announced as principal speakers are Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, long time member of Congress and friend of agriculture, and the chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, Ben Ramsey, who for 11 years was lieutenant governor of the state.

Twelve first place, eight second place and eight third place winners selected on Saturday at the fourth annual Big Spring Piano Teachers Forum Festival.

Morris Rites Set Today

LAMESA (SC) — Services for Marvin Paschal Morris, 35, Lamesa trucker, will be at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Branon-Phillips Funeral Home Chapel. The Rev. Milo Arbuckle of First Baptist Church will officiate. Burial will be in the Lamesa Cemetery.

Pallbearers are to be Loy and Doyle Cornett, Duane and Alvin Ray Preston; Jimmie and Vernon Garrett; Glen Gullett and Gordon Waldrop.

Mr. Morris, who was born in Lamesa on Aug. 16, 1929, died in the Medical Arts Hospital Saturday morning after being hospitalized for a week.

Survivors are his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Morris, Lamesa, and one son, Jerry Lynn, Lamesa.

His plane then took off for the return trip to Washington.

He planned to fly later to Camp David in the Catoctin Mountains for the weekend.

Police Arrest Suspect In Temple Theft

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A 29-year-old Negro, charged with burglarizing a Temple, Tex. electric supply company before dawn, was seized Saturday as he slept at a friend's house in Dallas.

Detective Captain Walter Fannin said the Negro, Robert D. Freeman of Dallas, offered no resistance.

Detectives later arrested three other Negroes here and recovered stolen merchandise, including foods, television sets and appliances.

Bell County Sheriff Lester Gunn who came here to take custody of Freeman, said the two Negroes were surprised while looting the electric supply store and that they escaped after exchanging pistol shots with officers. No one was hurt.

turbed over the practice of capturing horned toads for sale. Where this once was a novelty, she says, it now is being commercialized with cash lure for youngsters. It ought to be stopped, she adds, before we are riddled of the toads and disrupt our balance in the fight against insects.

Word was received of the death of Capt. James A. Wheeler, a 1954 graduate of Webb AFB, during a combat mission in Viet Nam. A bomb exploded prematurely while it was being dropped from his plane.

Police are putting in long hours these days at Lamesa. After officers presented their petition to the council for higher pay and it was rejected, three were sacked by Chief Morris Zimmerman for what he considered improper effort for the raise. Four others then quit because they felt there was not just reason for discharging the others.

The late Col. E. V. Spence may not have been the staunchest Aggie that ever was, but there were few who surpassed him in devotion and loyalty to A&M University. So when the traditional muster was called here Wednesday, no one individual felt up to answering for the colonel. The entire assembly answered "Here" for him.

Col. Spence's successor as general manager of the CRMWD is Owen H. Ivie, a man who learned the ropes under him. As a construction inspector and then as a district employee, Ivie has been associated with the system all except half a year of the project. Thus by training, experience and ability, he is ready for the big job ahead.

Howard County's efforts to raise its quota for the screw worm fight are lagging. One thought is that a threat of return of the unlamented pest might stimulate response, but a better stimulant would be a soaking rain.

The Halfway House, ordered closed a week ago for lack of funds, will be reopened temporarily in hopes of securing help from a foundation. Meanwhile, the state hospital will staff the facility. One thing that would help tremendously is for people who have part time or other jobs to contact Halfway House and use the men while they get back into productive life.

Pastors, concerned over the small attendance at non-day meditations and the traditional sunrise Easter service, have urged more support of these events. They both deserve it, but it is going to take a lot more than merely planning and announcing. It is going to take effort and promotion.

Scion Of Coast Industrial Clan In Texas Jail

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Paul Eric Krueger, a teenager accused of slaying three fishermen, reached the Nueces County jail Saturday after an all-night, 700-mile dash from El Paso.

The youth, scion of a prominent California industrial family, was booked into jail and all major legal officers began a conference that lasted for hours.

AT KINGSVILLE

He is expected to be tried at Kingsville for the April 12 mass murders, but the jail there is being remodeled and there were no immediate facilities for him.

His schoolboy companion, John Phillip Angles, 16, Hollywood, Calif., was placed in the Kingsville jail earlier.

Both are charged with murdering Noel D. Little, 51; John D. Fox, 38; and Van D. Carson, 40, all of Corpus Christi. The slayings occurred across the county line in Kleberg County.

Officers quoted Angles as saying the pair were en route to Venezuela when they became lost and asked directions of the fishermen. The shootings followed.

TOLD OFFICERS

Angles was arrested at Kerrville on a minor charge. He told officers of the slayings and where to find the bodies.

Krueger slipped into Mexico and was 145 miles into the interior when police collared him Wednesday. Mexican police deported him into the arms of U.S. authorities Friday.

Driving Krueger from El Paso to Corpus Christi were Kleberg County Deputy Sheriff Orval Heathcoat and Nelson Sharpe, assistant district attorney of Nueces and Kleberg counties.

James Scarborough, Kleberg County sheriff, drove to Corpus Christi to meet Krueger. Nueces County Sheriff Johnnie Mitchell appeared shortly after the defendant's arrival.

HAD PISTOL

Sam Jones, district attorney for the two counties, said he did not know how long Krueger would remain here.

Mexican officers said Krueger had a 38-caliber pistol in his possession when arrested. Angles also was armed.

Krueger's mother, Mrs. Richard Krueger of San Clemente, Calif., visited her 17-year-old son in the El Paso jail. His father is president of Airjet Engineering and Manufacturing Co.

Channel Of Communication Between POWs, Kin Opened

NEW YORK (AP) — The Red Cross is trying to open a channel of communication between relatives and 13 American servicemen imprisoned by the Communist Viet Cong.

The wife of a Navy pilot shot down last August has received 14 letters.

"I'm very thankful he is still alive and apparently well," said the wife of Navy Lt. (j.g.) Everett E. Alvarez Jr. in San Jose, Calif.

The 26-year-old pilot was shot down in a raid in the Gulf of Tonkin.

"The letters are in his handwriting," she said. "He mentioned he has received my letters. He always expresses hope of coming home."

The International Red Cross forwards the mail.

Rita McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn., who was a bride of only nine days when her husband, Spec. 5 Claude E. McClure, was sent to Viet Nam in July 1963, has been writing to her husband since the Red Cross wrote her about the mail project last September.

"I stopped writing after a while because I received no replies," she said. "About a month ago, the Red Cross sent me another letter. Now when I write letters to him, I get a reply each time."

McClure, 25, entered the Army in 1959. His father is dead and his mother, Agnes H. McClure, lives in Yonkers, N.Y. He was captured by the Viet Cong on Nov. 24, 1963.

For the others, the last letters received from relatives came just before the Viet Cong captured them.

That is the case with Sgt. Harold Bennett of Perryville, Ark., sixth of nine children of Mrs. Gordon Bennett. He has been in the Army for seven years and went to Viet Nam in October.

The last word Mrs. Bennett had was a letter on Dec. 28, 1964. The letter said he had a fine Christmas. The same day she got word that he was missing.

"If he's a prisoner," Mrs.

Bennett said, "then he must be all right. This is good news."

Air Force Lt. George E. Flynn III of New Orleans presumably doesn't even know that he has a baby girl, Georgia Aline, born Oct. 2, 1964.

UPCOMING MISSION

Flynn arrived in Viet Nam in April 1964. The last word his wife received was on Sept. 23 when he wrote of an upcoming mission. His wife and three children live in New Orleans.

Staff Sgt. Kenneth Roraback, 33, of Fayetteville, N.C., was captured last Nov. 24 and his wife has not heard from him since. She said the Red Cross tried to reach him.

"They've tried, but I haven't heard," Mrs. Roraback said. Her husband is a 15-year Army veteran. His hometown is Baldwin, N.Y. His wife of 7 1/2 years lives in Fayetteville with their four children. The oldest is 6.

Another North Carolinian held by the Viet Cong is Sgt. I.C. Daniel L. Pitzer of Lake City. He is 34, a veteran of 15 years in the Army. His wife of 2 1/2 years said the last letter she received from him was mailed before his capture on Oct. 29, 1964.

Compulsory ROTC Program Dropped

COLLEGE STATION, TEX.

(AP) — Texas A&M University abolished compulsory reserve officer training Saturday, thus wiping out a major controversy that has swept the school from time to time.

Action from the Board of Directors came after the Army and Air Force said it planned to limit the number of students in ROTC.

"These developments (numbers limitations) are incompatible with a compulsory ROTC program," said Sterling Evans of Houston, board chairman.

"The armed services now have certain limitations placed on the number of students who may be enrolled in the basic ROTC program," Evans said.

"The screening program based on these limitations already has been announced by the Air Force. The Army currently is developing tests for its screening program. These developments are incompatible with a compulsory basis ROTC program."

AF NOTIFICATION

Evans said Air Force Secretary Eugene Zuckert notified A&M of plans to limit the number of freshmen and sophomores enrolled nationally in the Air Force ROTC.

Zuckert explained that rising costs have required the Air Force to review cost effectiveness in the Air Force ROTC program.

A&M president Earl Rudder

STUDENT SUPPORT

Statements from Dean of Students James Hannigan and student leaders supported the findings of the administration.

"I personally feel that the change to a non-compulsory ROTC program would be a great advantage for everyone concerned," Cadet Frank Muller, student body president, said.

Neil Keltner, cadet colonel of the corps, urged non-compulsory status of the corps "effective for the next fall semester."

Military training has been a main feature of A&M since 1876. Since the ROTC was inaugurated in 1920, more than 45,000 men have been given basic military training. In every year since 1876, Aggies have formed a valuable reserve of trained fighting men.

GETS REPLIES

"I stopped writing after a while because I received no replies," she said. "About a month ago, the Red Cross sent me another letter. Now when I write letters to him, I get a reply each time."

Navy Bomber Going To Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam

(AP) — The U.S. Navy is bringing in its powerful A6 Intruder jet attack bomber for strikes against Communist North Viet Nam, a 7th Fleet spokesman said Saturday.

The announcement came as a military spokesman reported that six U.S. Air Force B57 Canberra jet bombers blasted an anti-aircraft site and a truck convoy Friday night in North Viet Nam. He said the planes returned safely.

The Intruders will arrive aboard the carrier Independence, which is to arrive for duty off Viet Nam "within the next couple of months," the fleet spokesman said.

MONSOON ASSET

Although the Intruder isn't a supersonic warplane like the F4 Phantoms and the A4 Skyhawks, it is specifically equipped for attacks on targets obscured by weather or darkness. This will be an asset during the approaching summer monsoons.

In addition, the Grumman-built Intruder is considered able to carry a heavier and more varied load of bombs and armament than any of the Navy's other carrier-based aircraft.

An electronic counter-measures system carried by the Intruder could become increasingly important. More and more radar-aimed anti-aircraft emplacements are reported being put into operation in North Viet Nam and radar-guided Soviet SAM missiles apparently are on the way.

ELECTRONIC EXPERT

The twin-engine, 600-mile-an-hour Intruder carries a pilot and electronic systems specialist.

Dispatch of the Intruders to the South China Sea apparently is aimed at diversifying the raid capability of the U.S. air arm rather than at replacing the propeller-driven Skyraiders and Skyhawks.

In East Berlin, Gen. Heinz Hoffmann, East Germany's defense minister, said Friday that Soviet ground-to-air missiles and jet fighters are in Viet Nam now.

Justices To Be At Law Program

WACO — Five justices of the Texas Supreme Court will be at Baylor University May 1 when the Baylor School of Law observes Law Day.

Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert and Associate Justices Zolle Steinkley, Meade F. Griffin, Clyde E. Smith and Joe R. Greenhill have accepted invitations to be present for the observance. About 450 persons are expected to participate.

The speaker at Baylor will be William A. Blakley of Dallas, a former U.S. senator and long time benefactor of the School of Law. At the banquet, Price Daniel, former Texas governor and now a practicing attorney in Austin and Liberty, will receive the annual Baylor Lawyer award. Daniel received his bachelor of arts degree from Baylor in 1931 and his bachelor of laws degree in 1932. In 1951 the university awarded him an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

France Takes Stand On Assembly Power

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — France maintained Friday that the U.N. General Assembly does not have the power even to make recommendations on the use of force to maintain peace.

Leonard Hanson and L. B. Murphy were re-elected as directors and Ray Walker was named to take the seat on the board now held by R. E. Haney.

Lindell Newton, manager of the gins for the group, reported on last year's activities. The year was classified as "fair" and no dividends were distributed.

Several officials from regional cooperatives were in attendance.

Abilene To Become World's Band Instrument Capital?

ABILENE (AP)—The broken clarinet of an Abilene teen-ager put Texas far up in the multi-billion dollar musical instrument industry.

This city produced such evidence a few weeks ago with the opening of a $1 million brass instrument manufacturing firm. Heading the operation is James Caldwell, whose efforts in the 1930s to mend his clarinet launched him on a spiraling and financially fruitful career.

Caldwell, 44, is president of F. A. Reynolds Band Instruments, a subsidiary of Chicago Musical Instruments Co. (CMI). The Chicago corporation last year purchased the Reynolds Co. of Cleveland, retained the name, handed Caldwell the reins and on the recommendation of the new president shifted operations to Texas.

"We anticipate Reynolds becoming one of the major factors in the band instrument field," said R. V. Madden, a CMI vice president. "We would currently be considered one of the five or six major factories."

Madden and other CMI officials headed a delegation of musical instrument dealers and salesmen from around the country into Abilene April 9 for open house ceremonies.

Reynolds eventually will provide employment here for several hundred.

"Nothing would please us more than to see Abilene become the band instrument capital of the world," said Madden. "We're already employing more people than Reynolds Co. was in its previous location."

"And we're not even in full production yet."

ALL INSTRUMENTS
"Anything that is needed and required in brass instruments will be made, or is being made, at Reynolds, including the newest concepts in the field."

The new plant contains 100,000 square feet of floor space and is similar in operation to an airplane assembly line.

"When completed, there will be no other instrument facility in the world as modern," said Caldwell, a vigorous man with traces of gray in his dark hair.

NEWEST GEAR
The single-story, white brick structure houses the newest equipment with which Reynolds will produce 45 versions of the trumpet, cornet, flugel horn, trombone, alto horn, mellophone, French horn, baritone, Sousaphone, tuba and recording basses.

"Through our direct sales to CMI," said Caldwell as he moved tirelessly through the plant, "we will have a much larger volume than Reynolds did."

Texas-produced instruments will be distributed through CMI outlets across the United States and into 70 foreign countries. CMI reported sales last year, through its varied instrument enterprises, exceeded $40 million.

Why an Abilene location for a traditionally Midwest operation?

STRONG PROGRAM
"We're in the heart of a music educational center," Caldwell said. "The music program is very strong in the Southwest."

Abilene has three colleges, thus three collegiate musical groups, including the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band, in which Caldwell once played.

"Educational use of our instruments represents possibly 90 per cent of our sales," Madden said. The instruments cost from $160 for some cornets, trumpets and trombones up to $1,300 for recording bass tubas.

Caldwell's association with the business end of the music world just grew.

"I was playing in the band at Abilene High School and my clarinet needed a little repair," he related. "I went down to the music store to get some parts, the repairman put me to work repairing my own instrument and I just stuck with it."

He returned from military duty in 1946 and opened Caldwell Music Co., an instrument sales and repair service.

In 1960, to relieve growing pains, he moved his repair and manufacturing activities to the current site of Reynolds Instruments but retained the downtown retail outlet.

About this time, CMI offered Caldwell a job as general manager of its Fullerton, Calif., facility. He accepted.

Legislature 'Feathering Own Nest'

AUSTIN (AP)—Previous legislatures earned the labels of "do nothing," or "copy cat," or "rubber stamp" sessions.

Members of this 59th Legislature have started to worry if they will be written up in legislative history as the "me first" or the "feather your nest" session.

"So far we have done more to help Texas legislators than we have to help the people of Texas," a senator commented Friday as the two houses declared a weekend armistice.

The senator referred to a series of what another observer has called "special special interest bills"—measures that improve the health, wealth and welfare of the individual lawmakers or their friends in high public office.

RAISE SALARIES
Already cleared for approval, or rejection, by voters this November is a Constitution change that would let the legislature raise the lieutenant governor's and speaker's salaries, with no ceiling specified. The two influential officials now get $4,800 annual salary like all senators and representatives.

However, during debate the lieutenant governor-speaker pay bill picked up an attachment that will aid all 181 legislators. Per diem or personal expense money during legislative sessions was raised from $12 a day for 120 days to $20 a day for 140 days or from about $260,000 to $406,000 per legislative session.

Also ready for voters "yes" or "no" on this Nov. 2 is a Constitution change increasing the two year term of the governor and all other statewide elected officials to four years. The other officials are the lieutenant governor, comptroller, treasurer, land commissioner, agriculture commissioner and attorney general.

The change, if approved, would have the effect of giving the secretary of state a four-year term because he is appointed by the governor.

INCREASE SENATE?
Pending in a conference committee, and the hottest current issue, is a catch-all Constitution change that would let voters decide this Aug. 7 whether to increase the Senate from 31 to 39 members, increase House terms from four to six years, and increase House terms from two to four years. Senators call it a redistricting measure and say they are peeved at House members for inserting the longer term provisions.

In a matter of minutes the past week other Constitution changes were proposed in an effort to ease the conflict. Both are still pending. One proposed six year terms for the Senate and four years for the House, without any Senate enlargement, to be voted upon this November. The other proposes six year terms for the Senate, to be voted upon in 1966.

SPECIAL REPORT
While both houses spent much of the past week wrangling over "special interest" bills, the Texas Association of School Boards put out a special report calling attention to unfinished major business—"general appropriations, including a teacher salary increase...legislative redistricting, water conservation, reorganization of higher education, repeal of the poll and state ad valorem taxes—to mention a few."

STEVEN SEIDENBERGER

Odd-Ball Rock Gets Good Price

ST. LAWRENCE — Steven Seidenberger, a 12-year-old sixth grader in Glasscock County Independent School District at Garden City, sold a five-pound, 10-ounce piece of some other "star" recently for $40.

He found the peculiar rock in a pasture about two months ago and took it home. Steven discarded the idea that the rock was of any value, since he was not too familiar with rocks.

A short time later he noticed an advertisement in a farm magazine that the American Meteorite Laboratory was looking for meteorites, so he clipped off a small fragment and sent it in.

"I was surprised a few days later when an engineer showed up at our home," Steven said. "The laboratory had identified the sample as a positive meteorite. He paid me $40 for the 'rock,' and said the sample was a new discovery, that it was as genuine as a pearl."

Steven is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seidenberger of the St. Lawrence Community.

"We were sitting on the lawn at home about two years ago," Steven's father said, "when a meteorite, leaving a flame of fire some 500 feet long behind it, flashed overhead. We may have been imagining it, but thought we heard a hard 'thump' somewhere close by, but didn't look too hard for it since such things often appear closer than they really are."

The meteorite, about the size of an average cantaloupe, was found in a pasture about a quarter mile from the Seidenberger home. It was not imbedded, but was on top of the ground as if it had hit, and bounced or rolled to its location.

"The laboratory called the meteorite a brand new discovery," Seidenberger said. "It was heavily loaded with iron."

At that price Steven's pals may all be out in pastures looking for meteorites, but the boy doesn't seem excited about his find. He deposited the $40 in his savings account in a Big Spring bank.

Foreman Urges Responsibility

An enthusiastic crowd of approximately 300 persons turned out at the City Park Friday night to hear former Congressman Ed Foreman plead for a return to individual responsibility. The Odessa was introduced by Howard County Republican Chairman Bill Shepard.

"Any federal government big enough to give you everything you want is big enough to take away everything you've got," he declared as he urged every citizen to take a more active part in government.

"To the man who remarks, 'I won't have anything to do with politics. Politics is dirty,' I say that can only be changed when you and other good Americans get busy in politics and clean it up."

During the question and answer session following the address, the speaker was asked if citizens should continue writing letters to their congressmen, expressing their views on pending bills.

"Yes, personal letters are read and considered by congressmen, and you should write to them," Foreman said. "However, the best way to handle a situation, where a certain congressman is not voting the way you think he should, is to get busy and work to assure him an early retirement."

A barbecue dinner was served to the gathering at the Old Settlers' pavilion before the speaker was introduced.

Choir Concerts Slated Monday

Members of the Big Spring choir returned home late Saturday from a trip to Fort Worth, Dallas and Denton. The singers appeared in a concert in Fort Worth and at a second in Denton sponsored by the North Texas State College.

Monday night the annual concert by the a cappella choir and the mixed choir of the high school will be staged at the Big Spring High School auditorium. Mel Ivey, director, said that an exceptionally fine program has been arranged.

The concert opens at 7:30 p.m. Admission fees are 75 cents and 50 cents for students.

The choir financed its trip to Dallas and the other cities by a series of activities. One project was the painting of house numbers on curbing.

Asphyxiated Pair Found

CLAYTON, N.M. (AP) — A Pampa, Tex., man and his son were found asphyxiated in a camper vehicle at Clayton Lake Friday.

They were Harvey Frank Hoepfner, 42, and his 10-year-old son, William.

Three women on a fishing outing made the discovery. Investigators said the man and boy had been dead three or four days.

Two empty butane tanks were in the vehicle. Officers said death could have resulted from carbon dioxide poisoning since the camper was almost airtight.

ODESSA (AP)—Johnny Hughes tied a record here Saturday as he ran the 150-yard high hurdles in 18.9 to win first place in the Class 4-A regional track meet and a trip to the state meet in Austin.

The sprint relay team of Hughes, Kirby Hobnett, Marvin Hall and Joe Jaure, finished a scant six inches behind Amarillo Tascosa to win a trip also. Tascosa was clocked at 43.2, while the Steers were clocked at 43.25.

Four Big Spring boys qualified for the state meet in 1959 and then the last time this many went to the state meet was in 1942.

Bobby Baker, winner of the District 2-AAAA 120-yard high hurdles for the Steers, was a favorite to take first place Saturday. However he caught the last hurdle with his trailing foot nearly causing him to fall. He placed third, not six inches behind the second place finisher. Baker was leading at the time he hit the hurdle.

Joe Jaure, hampered by a bad hip the past week ran fifth in the 440-yard dash. Jaure was second in the district meet two weeks ago to regional champ Jerry Wagner of Abilene Cooper.

Chance Continues Hex On Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—Dean Chance, a four-time winner over the New York Yankees last season, carried his charm into the new season Saturday with a 6-3 victory while the Los Angeles Angels ripped into loser Jim Bouton and his successors for 14 hits. It was the fourth straight defeat for the Yanks. A trio of Angel rookies—Jose Cardenal, Paul Schaal and Costen Shockley—chipped in with a total of six hits.

Chance, who gave up only one run to the Yanks in 50 innings last year but allowed two in an April 14 appearance against New York, had a shutout for seven innings.

Blistering Round Gives Cupit A Two-Stroke Lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Jacky Cupit shot a six-under-par 64 Saturday to take a two-stroke lead after 54 holes of the $50,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament.

The East Texan dropped seven birdies and got into trouble only once over the par 35-35-70 Oak Hills Country Club course. He posted earlier rounds of 66 and 70.

Frank Beard carded a 65 to move from a tie for seventh into second place at 202. Tied for third at 203 were Jack Rule Jr., with rounds of 67-69-67; Johnny Pott, 70-67-66, and Bert Weaver, 66-68-69.

Cupit, 27, started the day in a four-way tie for third. He made up four strokes on the first nine with four birdies, making the turn in four-under 31.

A 30-foot putt for a birdie on No. 8 was the turning point, he said.

Tommy Aaron, the second round leader, shot a 72 and dropped four strokes off the pace to 204. Steve Oppermann, a rookie pro, was tied with Aaron after shooting a 65, the best round of his pro career.

Aaron got in trouble early in the day, taking a double bogey and two bogies on the first four holes.

Gardner Dickinson Jr., who shot a first day 65 but dropped to a 72 Friday, made a comeback of sorts with a two-under 68.

Doug Sanders fired his first sub-par round of the tournament—a 66—to go with two even-par rounds and remain in contention at 206.

Current PGA champ Bobby Nichols, winner of the Houston Classic last week, managed only a par round to come in with a bunch knotted at 210.

Then Shaw issued Johnny Lewis an intentional walk filling the bases.

Napoleon then lined one to right field just over Jesus Alon's glove.

The Mets had stayed in the game mainly on Ed Kranepool's two homers. His last, in sixth inning, gave New York a 4-4 tie.

Seven New Records Set As Bronte Takes Meet

Two More Marks Tied

Seven new records were set here Saturday in the Region VI-B track and field meet at two more marks were tied.

Leading off the record breaking assault was Don Taylor of Hermleigh as he ran through the 180-yard low hurdles in 19.8. He set the record here last year with a 20.2 Tommy Carter of Melvin was next as he leaped 21-11 for a new broad jump mark. The old mark was 21-3 set by Gary Blivins of Christoval in 1964.

Next came Ronnie Kerjic of Highland as he tossed the shot 50-3 3/4 to better Loraine's Joe Garcia's mark of 48-9 set in 1964.

Klondike, (left) shattered his own record for Westbrook by a whisker. McMahan, however, the 220-yard dash, slipping Elmer McMahan, roared back to take the 100-yard dash.

Jim Hall Favored In Sports Racing

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — That American invention, the automatic transmission, is in racing to stay.

Texas Jim Hall, who won the Sebring 12-hour race in a Chaparral sports car that features the so-called slush-box, is the author of this belief.

Hall will be the favorite next Sunday in the second of a series of 10 U.S. Road Racing Championship events this year. The 152-mile race for all-out sports cars, plus another 125-mile for grand touring cars, will comprise the USRR event at Riverside International Raceway.

The 29-year-old oilman, who has a 2 1/2-mile road racing track in his "back yard" at Midland, Tex., will begin practicing with his business and racing partner, Hap Sharp, Monday for the Riverside professional race.

Sports car racing fans and experts alike scoffed when the young millionaire began toying with the idea of discarding the old reliable manual transmission in favor of an automatic.

But Hall proved them wrong with a series of impressive victories:

- 1-The 1964 USRR driver's championship despite suffering a broken leg in an accident near the end of the season.
- 2-A win by substitute Roger Penske, Gladwyne, Pa., in the Chaparral in the Laguna Seca Grand Prix last October.
- 3-The Sebring triumph, said to be impossible because of the tremendous wear on brakes in the endurance race. Manual downshifting was thought imperative to help conserve brakes.

Next Sunday, with $10,500 at stake and an engineering feat to test, Hall will be favored to prove once more than road racing drivers can keep both hands on the wheel.

Fort Stockton Hires Mentor

FORT STOCKTON — Fred (Pete) Hickman has been hired as head football coach at Fort Stockton High School.

He replaces Joe Moring, who will remain in the system as high school principal. Hickman formally assumes his duties Aug. 1.

The 38-year-old Hickman will be paid $8,500 per annum. He formerly coached at Ozona.

He will be allowed to bring one assistant with him. In 13 years of coaching, the last 11 at Ozona, his teams compiled a 75-46-3 won-lost-tied record that included four district titles and one bi-district championship.

Also added to the staff was Sherry Nall as head basketball coach. Moring formerly held both jobs.

Easton Replaced By Bob Timmons

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Bob Timmons, 40, former Kansas assistant and high school coach of Olympic miler Jim Ryun, was hired Saturday as head track coach at Kansas succeeding Bill Easton.

The 61-year-old Easton was fired Tuesday by Kansas Athletic Director Wade Stinson.

Paint Apparently Solves Glare Problem In Dome

HOUSTON (AP) — The glare problem in the $31.6 million Harris County domed stadium apparently has been solved with paint.

Earlier, outfielders had difficulty following fly balls because of the sun glaring through the 4,596 plastic skylights during afternoon exhibition games and workouts. Many wore batting helmets to protect themselves against the balls lost in the glare.

Houston Astro officials announced this week the problem could be solved by painting the plastic sections with a thin coat of off-white paint.

The dome's new paint job was nearly 60 per cent complete when the Astros and the Pittsburgh Pirates held workouts Thursday. The Astros and Pirates open a four-game series tonight which includes a Sunday afternoon contest — the first official daytime game to be played indoors.

There isn't any more glare problem," said Rusty Staub, young Houston outfielder after the workout. "It's a whole lot easier to see the ball. I was able to get a better jump on flies."

"Everything they've painted looks good to me," said Houston Manager Luman Harris.

Pittsburgh Manager Harry Walker said the Astro dome "is the most fabulous thing I have ever seen."

"It is the greatest thing to hit Texas or any place. It really is something."

Dogs Edge Odessans

ODESSA — A two-run home run by rightfielder Bobby Vincent gave the Midland Bulldogs an 8-6 decision over Odessa High Friday in District 2-AAAA baseball play.

The win puts the Bulldogs in a tie for first place with cross-town rivals, Midland Lee.

Banks Leads Cubs To 3-1 Triumph

CHICAGO (AP) — Ernie Banks drove in two runs and increased his National League leading runs batted in total to 14 as the Chicago Cubs defeated Milwaukee 3-1 Saturday.

Banks' single brought in two of Chicago's three runs in the fourth after Tony Cloninger had held the Braves hitless over the first three innings.

Bob Buhl, with help from Ted Abernathy, posted his second victory.

Ammons Is Named Mentor At Clyde

CLYDE — Edward Ammons has been named head football and basketball coach at Clyde High School, replacing Jon R. Tate and Max Johnson.

Tate will remain in the Clyde school system as head track coach and junior high principal. Johnson also will stay as an assistant coach. Ammons is a 1951 graduate of Haskell High School and a 1955 graduate of McMurry College.

Texas Rallies For Victory

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Texas came from behind twice Saturday to beat Baylor 5-4 and hold onto its lead in the Southwest Conference baseball race.

Texas, which lost to Baylor 5-2 yesterday, ran its conference record to 5-2 and Texas A&M, which beat Southern Methodist 6-3 yesterday, moved into second place, one game back at 7-3. Baylor dropped to third with 6-4.

Baylor grabbed the lead in the first inning when Gary Price singled, Jim Mallon doubled and Bill Bain singled both home.

Texas tied it up in the second inning when Buddy Young walked, Gene Ross singled and James Scheschuk walked to load the bases, then Forrest Boyd singled in Young and Ross.

Baylor surged to a 4-2 lead in the fourth inning when Gary Watson slammed a 361-foot homer with Don Loper on base.

Texas won it in the seventh inning when it knocked out sophomore Rod Robinson.

Cheschuk walked, Boyd singled, Collier beat out a bunt to load the bases, Ward Summers drove in Cheschuk with a sacrifice fly and Gary Moore singled to bring in Boyd and tie the score.

Joe Hague hit relief pitcher Gary Stathan's first pitch to right for a single to bring in Collier for a 5-4 lead.

Baylor loaded the bases in the ninth but relief pitcher Robert Wells put down the uprising.

Twins Beaten By Pinch Home Run

DETROIT (AP) — Gates Brown hit a pinch homer with two on base in the ninth inning Saturday and gave the Detroit Tigers a 7-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

The defeated ended a five-game winning streak for the Twins.

After Minnesota had taken a 4-3 lead in the top of the ninth, Willie Horton tied it up with his second homer of the game.

Don Demeter and Horton had hit successive homers in the seventh.

Al Worthington replaced Fosnow and Brown, batting for Don Wert, drove the ball into the upper rightfield stands for the winning homer in the ninth.

Babs McIntire Wins 4th Title

PINEHURTS, N.C. (AP) — National champion Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs, Colo., edged Nancy Roth of Hollywood, Fla., 1-up Saturday to win her fourth North and South amateur golf championship since 1957.

It was a tense battle of 13 halved holes in which they never were more than one hole apart and Miss McIntire never trailed.

Miss McIntire, 30-year-old, two-time winner of the U.S. title, twice took a one-hole lead to have Miss Roth, the 26-year-old medalist, square the match.

On the par 3 17th hole, Miss McIntire went ahead for the final time with a par after Miss Roth put her tee shot in a trap.

IT'S A LIVING

Life Of Pro Golfer Grind And Glamour

EDITOR'S NOTE - To the golfer it looks like a great life, but to the touring golfer it's a hard way to make a living. The money's good—$2.5 million in purses this year—but first you have to win it, and your future rides on every putt. Listen now to Dave Marr on the woes—and the joys—of the golfer's hectic life.

By SID MOODY Associated Press Staff Writer David Francis Marr Jr. is a jet-age gypsy of the country club set. He dwells around country clubs, plays around country clubs and earns his daily bread—lots of it—around country clubs.

DAVE MARR Beggy and it's beans

He is a professional tournament golfer. To him the office is an endless ribbon of green fairways stretching from coast to coast and across oceans. How well he eats depends on how well he aims the 8,400 or so strokes he shoots each year as he makes his way along those well-trimmed alleys bordered with palms in the South, pines in the North and everywhere people watching him work at one of the most disciplining, frustrating, insecure pastimes man has inflicted on himself.

"It's the only game you lose more than you win," says Marr who took $42,000 in purses last year but hasn't won a tournament in three years. "It's humbling."

The average fan seeing a golfer tanned as a catcher's mitt smash a drive far down the course with the air-sucking rush of an artillery shell is apt to shake his head in envy, poke his wife and say: "And they call that work."

LOSSES LIKED But that fan will be back in the office Monday morning knowing his paycheck will be there Friday even if he forgets to say "Hi" to the boss. The pro can lose thousands of dollars if a putt misses by a grass blade. A drive out of bounds can mean goodbye to the wife's new fur coat or private school for junior.

At the National Open several years ago a woman spectator turned to Marr's wife, Susan, and said: "Is that your husband? He's so cute."

"I wish he'd stop being cute and sink a few putts," she replied.

(On the other hand Joe Campbell, a middling touring pro, won $50,000 for making a hole in one once, and now has a driving range, a liquor store and a club shop.)

Win or lose, golf is a game Marr loves. But it is also his livelihood. When the putts stop dropping and the drives don't rocket far and straight, there's the thought: "Is it going? Have I lost it?"

"You stand on that first tee of the winter tour and you're opening a brand new store and who's to say you're not going to start shooting 80s and you think of Ken Venturi and Bob Goalby (who had prolonged slumps) and talk about being scared. In this business it's only a step from who's who to who's that."

BUSINESS BOOMS And touring golf is business, a booming one. Marr and his spike-shoed fellow wanderers are playing for $3.5 million in purses this year, seven times the 1950 total. The Professional Golf Association's championship this summer is expected to have golf's first $1-million gate considering program advertising, hot dog sales, admissions and television income—a handsome $200,000 from the National Broadcasting Co. Seven years ago the PGA sold the television rights for exactly nothing.

Marr, golf's 11th moneymaker over-all in 1964, won almost as much as Ben Hogan did in three

C-C Partnership Play Set Today

A partnership handicap golf tournament began this morning at Big Spring Country Club with approximately 60 teams entered.

Proceeds from the tourney today will go for the purse of the Big Spring Open June 12-13. Entry fee is $5 a team. Merchandise will be offered as prizes for winning teams.

Martindale, Yancy Picked As Venturi Passes Colonial

FORT WORTH (AP) — Billy Martindale and Bert Yancy were named to the $100,000 Colonial National Invitation field Saturday and at the same time Open champion Ken Venturi was forced to withdraw on doctor's orders.

Martindale and Yancy were the champions' choices. In other developments, three more players were given places in the tournament scheduled May 5-9 by vote of Colonial's tournament committee and two more have asked to be excused years when he was top earner just before World War II. Marr also made about $20,000 in endorsement income from the companies whose shirts and balls he uses, whose shirts and slacks he wears and whose shoes he trods in.

When he needs a new putter or his white brogans become irredeemably grass-stained, he just whistles and a replacement is on the way. The shirtmaker took him to Acapulco last year for 10 days for advertising photographs—this year it's Hawaii—and he's gone to Europe twice, expenses paid, to film a television golf show.

"You try to build up your endorsements as money in the bank," Marr said. "That's our insurance policy," said Susan.

Arnold Palmer has an empire of various enterprises. Gary Player gets $75,000 a year for five years and a piece of the business from a maker of Fiberglass clubs. A shotputter can endorse all the cannon balls he wants, and who cares? But millions of people play golf. And they buy.

PLAYER CHANGE If the game has changed, so have the players. Golf, like most sports, has its own "new breed" of athletes. They are young, have been to college—Marr attended Rice and the University of Houston, stay out of water holes and night clubs, play golf 30 hours a week, practice 10 more and think about it even longer while staring at television or the wall back in their motel room.

"You ask these young guys how the weather is and they'll tell you they bogeyed the 10th and hooked a beauty around the trees on the 14th," says oldtimer Jimmy Demaret who characterized the fun-filled days of yore when he set a bucket of golf balls ricocheting across the floor just as singer-golfer Don Cherry came onstage to perform his nightclub act.

Marr, no puritan, can distinguish a screwdriver (liquid) from a driver (wood) but as often as not he comes back from the course, calls up room service for dinner, "slips the mind into neutral" and watches television (he was particularly gratified during the Doral Open in Miami last month to be close to the top after the third round because that meant he would tee off late the next day and could stay up to see "On the Waterfront" on the Late Show. "I've seen it 20 times. Great.")

Tournaments like the Thunderbird and the Buick Open are run by auto companies for promotion, the Masters by wealthy men who love golf, the Doral by real estate tycoon Alfred Kaskel who wants the world to know that he owns a hotsy-totsy hotel on Miami Beach called—surprise—the Doral.

The recent Jacksonville Open was a more typical tournament. Robert Feagin, a newspaper executive, three years ago decided a golf tournament would "be good for Jacksonville." After checking the soundness of the sponsors and the promotion, the PGA approved and, when a date became available this year, added it to the tour.

FREE LABOR Volunteers poured in led by the ladies of the Junior League—How many sports can boast having the Junior League on the bench?—and men of a local merchants' association, both groups being cosponsors with the two local newspapers. Paul Warren, a golf promoter who was the only paid worker, estimated there was $100,000 worth of free man hours.

"Tournament golf is the only business that would be impossible without volunteer help," he said. A paper company donated 60,000 feet of rope to hold back the galleries. A linen firm gave white cover-alls for the 200 caddies. An auto agency donated 50 cars to taxi the pros around and $100,000-a-year executives volunteered to marshal the galleries. The leaguers helped sell 430 sponsor tickets at $150 each, guaranteeing the tournament, which offered $50,000 in prizes plus $7,500 from television, would be in the black before it began. Warren, astonished at that, estimated the tourney would make at least $15,000 for charity—which is where tourney profits generally go.

MIDLAND—The Odessa Permian Panthers upset the league-leading Midland Rebels Friday, 6-2, in a District 2-AAAA baseball clash.

Permian pitcher Pat Brown held the mighty Rebels to only three hits as his teammates pounded out five hits. Permian scored four runs in the third inning to put the game on ice. Permian 6, Rebels 2. Lee 6, Brown and Young; McCarrand, White and Newton.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers are in the unenviable position today of needing a victory over the Celtics on the Boston court to stay alive in the National Basketball Association championship playoffs.

The Celtics took another step toward their seventh consecutive NBA title Friday night with a 112-99 comeback victory at Los Angeles and now lead 3-1 in the best-of-7 series.

The teams will meet in a nationally televised contest Sunday afternoon and seldom do the visitors enjoy much success in the Boston Garden. Boston's Jerry West was held to 22 points, making just six of 27 attempts from the floor. Boston's victory came on the strength of a strong second half effort that overcame a 61-55 Laker lead.

Superior rebounding, a deadly fast break and a balanced scoring attack were factors in the Celtics favor.

Outrebounded by the Lakers' Gene Wiley Wednesday, Bill Russell grabbed 23 rebounds to keep the fast break moving.

Sam Jones led the point production with 37. Tom Heinsohn added 17, Tom Sanders 15, K. C. Jones, 14, John Havlicek, 12, and Russell, 12.

LeRoy Ellis was the Lakers' high scorer with 24 points.

the tour for four or five weeks. Sifford was excused because of a television commitment in Malaysia. Hart is unable to leave his club at Hinsdale, Ill.

Martindale is a Texan and a graduate of Texas A&M. He and Yancy have second place finishes to their credit this year. Colonial officials still are assuming that Jack Nicklaus, the Masters Champion, will be in the field although he may have to miss the tournament because his wife is to have a baby any day now.

Rodeo Feature

Jerry Olson, once a star grider, will be one of the features of the annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo May 19-20-21-22. An all-state schoolboy player in Oklahoma, he turned to rodeo instead of football although his 225 pounds and 6-3 frame would qualify him for the former. He serves as a clown but also has some daring specialty acts with his horses.

Lorraine Is Easy Victor

Lorraine, with a 36-hole total of 767, walked away with the Regional VI-B golf tournament here Friday at Big Spring Municipal Golf Course.

Rochelle and Fort Davis tied for second with 803's and a sudden death playoff was staged to name second place. Rochelle won the playoff by two strokes. Robert Lee and Blackwell tied for third place with 808's and Blackwell won the position on the flip of a coin.

Keith Hamilton of Lorraine was medalist for the tourney with a 36-hole total of 160. Hamilton shot an 83 the first day and came back with a sizzling 77 on Friday.

Forsan, West Side Church Winners

Forsan Baptist defeated East Fourth Baptist, 4-2, in Thursday night action in Big Spring Church Softball League play. In the second game Westside Baptist beat Airport Baptist, 10-2. Tuesday's games include Temple Baptist vs. Forsan Baptist and Westside Baptist vs. First Baptist.

Judy Hirt Qualifies For State Net Tourney

Pyote, with 35 points, won the Region VI-B tennis championship, but qualified only one player for the state tournament.

Moses Ruiz, Pyote, defeated Steve Woverton, Fort Hancock, 6-0 and 6-0, for the boys singles title. Joe Bagby and Jerry McDonald of Eden defeated Felipe Quintanilla and Simon Lasalde

Sacred Heart Cards Open Season Today Against Stanton

General manager of the Cards is Chico Rubio, while Guy Lara is the field captain. Last year the Cards ended the season with a 14-9 record.

Forsan High Chorus To Present Concert

This 46-member chorus, from Forsan High School, will present a spring concert at the Forsan High School gymnasium at 3 p.m. today. The group is directed by Mrs. Charles McQuaid. Dianne Banks, a senior who has served as accompanist for three years, will be at the piano. Admission to the concert is free and the public is invited.

Tourist Class Dates Are Set

A five-hour adult education course — "Selling and Serving Tourists"—will be offered here May 11-12.

The training is designed specifically for people who come in closest contact with tourists and the traveling public—personnel from hotels and motels, restaurants, service stations, retail stores, transportation firms, parks employees, bank and utility employees. Sessions will be in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan, and they will be staggered so that both morning and evening shift workers may participate.

Conducting the course will be George R. Jordan, manager of the tourist development department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Jordan has a background of more than 25 years in the business and service fields. He spent more than 12 years with the U. S. Department of Commerce, eight years as a local chamber of commerce manager, and was with a national motel and restaurant chain for two years in the management field. Since June of 1962 Jordan has been manager of the industrial and tourist departments of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

A service charge of $2 will be made for all participants to cover cost of preparing materials and handouts for the students. All reservations and local arrangements for the course will be handled by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. The classes will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., and from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. starting on Tuesday, May 11.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Rotarians Take To Air In Mexican Exchange Program

By M. A. WEBB

Webb Aero Club had both its Cessnas up in the air a lot during the past week, while Big Spring Flying Club and Howard County Flying Club members were minus an airplane each. This cut down on the number of pilots aloft.

Although the weather has been near ideal, not many transient craft came through. Only one, a Lodestar, flown by W. J. Gardner from Detroit, pulled into Howard County Airport. The aircraft carried a group of visitors Thursday.

Records of reservations for aircraft use by flying club members during the week showed: Webb Aero Club, Cessna 150—Kathy (3), Morrell, Sammie (4), Davidson (3), Sorenson, Duryum (3); Cessna 172—Grisham, McComas, Warren (2), Estes (six-day cross country), Green, Spence. Big Spring Flying Club's Colt was down for most of the week, but Hopkins used it five times; For the Skyhawk—Polone, Weaver, Allen (2 and 3-day cross country), Clark, (1 and 3-day cross country). Howard County Flying Club's Colt is still undergoing major overhaul, but flying the Cherokee 180 were—Brunley (2), Arrick (1 and cross country), Dotson, Green, Waller, Reed (3), Donica, White (3).

McClure, Dawes, E. Long, Vierge (cross country).

Pilots and airplane enthusiasts interested in antique airplanes will have an opportunity to see some of ancient vintage at the Antique Fly-in at Arlington Airport May 22-23.

The show, sponsored by the Texas Chapter of Antique Airplane Association, is for "featuring antiques for antiques and enthusiasts," and those interested may contact Jim Frye, P. O. Box 31, Irving, Texas, for information.

Trophies will be awarded for all classes of antique aircraft, and there will be contests. Each pilot is requested to bring his own tie-downs and chocks. Come to think of it, there aren't any antique airplanes in this area, though. Fly-in breakfasts have been scheduled for two airports in this area. There will be one at Carlsbad May 16, and at Andrews May 23.

A Bonanza, piloted by Dr. M. W. Talbot, and carrying Rotary President Jerry Worthington and members Ralph McLaughlin and Harvey Adams, left Howard County Airport at 6:30 a.m. last Tuesday for Saltillo, Mexico. The men met with Saltillo Rotarians and put on a part of the program for the meeting, with Jerry Worthington giving a short talk in Spanish. Ralph McLaughlin interpreted, with the help of the Saltillo president-elect and the club's secretary, the sound part of a film made by Cosden in raising towers at the complex here.

The interchange program will bring several members of the Saltillo Rotary Club to Big Spring later this year.

Bids Announced For Webb Job

Bids will be received until 3 p.m., May 19 in Base Procurement Office at Webb Air Force Base for a water pressure reducing station. Requests for bid sets, plans and specifications, must be received on or before May 12 to be acknowledged.

Principal features include: 1) Excavation and construction of a valve pit 12 x 8 x 5-ft. deep, with concrete roof and access opening 4 x 3 ft. and steel plate cover; 2) remove 8-in. portion of existing 10-in. water main and install water pressure regulating valve with by-pass and three gate valves.

The contractor will be required to begin work within 30 days after date of receipt of the notice to proceed and to complete the job within 60 days.

Car Excise Tax Role Passed Up

WASHINGTON (AP)

Treasury sources say Secretary Henry H. Fowler will take no part in deciding whether automobile excise taxes should be cut.

After resigning as undersecretary of the Treasury in April 1964, Fowler was a lobbyist for the Automobile Manufacturers Association. He was assigned specifically to the excise tax issue and was paid $22,000.

City Cemetery Watering System Being Installed

Water line connections were placed by public works crews Friday at the City Cemetery prior to the arrival of some 17,000 feet of plastic water pipe. Public Works Director Ernest Lillard said installation will begin Monday. After the water system is installed, crews will begin seeding grass at the cemetery.

The improvements are part of the cemetery permanent care program. The plastic pipe includes one and a fourth-inch, two-inch and two and a half-inch lines, to be connected to the four and six-inch steel main lines already installed to the cemetery. Work is also under way on final preparation of the new parking lot west of City Hall. Asphalt paving will be placed at the lot within several days, Lillard said. The lot is to provide about 60 public parking spaces.

The main line of the Beals Branch trunk sewer line has been completed, Lillard said, and the connection to a 15-inch line at San Antonio and Second Streets now complete. Lillard said crews are working on some lateral sewer line connections. The second lift station to be installed on the line is expected to arrive this week. The first station is now about complete. Both stations will be underground except for ventilation pipes.

Garza Well Hits Pay In Dual Production

A dual completion, for a total of 182 barrels of oil per day, has been announced by Union Oil Co. of California on its No. 11-C K. Stoker, five miles west of Justiceburg in Garza county. The well pumped 78 barrels of 36.3 gravity oil from the Gloriaeta sand, and 104 barrels of 37.2 gravity oil from the Clear Fork. Operator drilled to 3,238 feet and set 5 1/2-inch casing at 3,227 feet. He perforated the Gloriaeta at four intervals, 2,999-3,001, 3,026-3,048, 3,055-3,057 and 2,078-3,084 feet and treated with 2,500 gallons for the production. He then perforated in the Clear Fork at 3,226-3,236 feet and treated with 250 gallons.

Location was staked in the Rocker "A" field 1,400 feet from the north and 1,600 feet from the west lines of section 938-97, H&TC survey.

Amerada Petroleum Corp. has completed its No. 7 W. Ed Murphy as the second producer for the recently-opened Wolfcamp reservoir in the Von Roeder, North area of Borden county, 15 1/2 miles southwest of Gail.

On the 24-hour potential it produced 294 barrels of 41-6 gravity oil, flowing on a 20-64-inch choke from perforations at 4,056-72 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 648-1, and flowing tubing pressure was 160 pounds.

The confiner is 2,002 feet from the south and 632 feet from the west lines of section 93-25, H&TC survey. It is three-eighths mile northeast of Lario Oil & Gas Co. No. 1 Murphy which was completed in December to open the pool.

Standard Oil Co. of Texas No. 1-16 Southland Royalty Co. and others (formerly No. 1 Monaghan & Rea), West Andrews county wildcat, has surfaced gas and recovered free oil from a 50-foot section in the Ellenburger.

That interval at 12,136-186 feet was drilled test 1 hour and 40 minutes. Gas came to the top in 24 minutes. There was no gauge or estimate on the volume.

Recovery was 2,635 feet of 40-gravity oil. There were no indications of water. One-hour initial shutin bottomhole pressure was 4,870 pounds, flowing pressure was between 224 and 328 pounds and final shutin pressure about 1 1/4 hours was 4,792 pounds.

The prospector now is taking a test on another 50-foot zone between 12,186 and 12,236 feet. On an earlier check on the top of the Ellenburger at 12,094-136 feet, with the tool open 1 hour and 57 minutes, recovery was 6,079 feet of gas and 90 feet of heavily oil-and-gas-cut drilling mud.

On that test initial shutin pressure after 45 minutes was 1,295 pounds, flowing pressure was from 60 to 75 pounds and the final shutin pressure, also in 45 minutes, was 1,311 pounds.

The indicated discovery is 30 miles west of Andrews, 1,980 feet from north and 660 from west lines of section 16, block A-51, PSL survey.

It is 3 1/2 miles north of Ellenburger production in the multipay Dollarhide field and 660 feet east of the state line between Texas and New Mexico.

New prospector sites have been picked in Andrews and Pecos counties, in West Texas.

W. W. Meeker of Midland will drill No. 1-7 University as a 12-800-foot Devonian probe in Andrews county, 12 miles north-east of Andrews.

It spots 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 7, block 5, University Lands survey.

The rotary rig count for April 23 and 16, with the latter in parentheses, shows:

Andrews 9 (8), Borden 1 (2), Chaves 5 (9), Coke 0 (1), Crane 8 (6), Crockett 3 (3), Dawson 7 (6), Ector 8 (7), Eddy 10 (9), Fisher 2 (2), Gaines 11 (7), Hockley 6 (7), Howard 2 (2), Kent 2 (0), Lamb 0 (1), Lea 26 (21), Loving 3 (0), Martin 1 (1), Midland 2 (2), Mitchell 1 (1), Nolan 0 (1), Pecos 26 (26), Reagan 3 (1);

Reeves 3 (5), Roosevelt 4 (5), Runnels 2 (0), Schleicher 3 (4), Scurry 1 (1), Sterling 1 (2), Stonewall 1 (1), Terrell 2 (1), Terry 1 (1), Tom Green 0 (1), Upton 5 (4), Ward 8 (10), Winkler 9 (11), Yoakum 6 (7), Totals 182 (177).

The production of the golden barrel of crude has taken 36 years. Appropriately enough, one of the markers will be placed on the county's first oil well.

In 1929, the C. E. Odgen No. 1 was drilled in the Fuhrman-Mascho field, six miles west of the Andrews city limits. The field has produced 55 million barrels of oil—its contribution to the billion total.

The inscription recounts that the discovery well produced 200 barrels a day from the San Andres lime formation. Some 730 wells surround the first gusher.

Another mark will be erected at the entrance of Florey Park, 10 miles north of the city limits. Like everything else in Andrews, the park is closely related to the oil industry.

In the heart of the Means oil field, which opened in 1930, this park is the site of the 1934-58 camp of Humble Oil and Refining Co.

In the 24 years of the camp's history, its many residents developed an oasis here. The recreation area, with lush grass and tall trees, attracts visitors from all parts of the county. On Sept. 22, 1958, Humble donated the land to be used as a county park.

The third marker, for Shafter's Trail, is to be erected in downtown Andrews. In 1875, Colonel William R. Shafter and a company of soldiers traveled from Fort Concho to Monument Springs, N.M., charting the arid Plains and mapping all the vital watering places.

Andrews is the only town today through which Shafter's trail passes. Here Colonel Shafter and his party chased Indians who ran 12 miles to the northwest where he found the salt lake known ever after by his name. His expedition's maps of this formerly unknown land opened the Permian Basin to settlement.

NEW YORK — The cost of new facilities in the oil industry runs high, according to Oil Facts.

For example, a 36-inch pipeline 300 miles long may cost as much as $50 million. A 100,000-barrel refinery can cost $125 million. A complete drilling rig on land may cost $500,000 or more, while a complete offshore installation can cost up to $9 million.

For many years the gas industry has offered competitive commercial size air conditioning equipment. Distributors now are reporting greatly increased interest in and acceptance of natural gas for residential air conditioning.

The natural gas industry serves 36.6 million customers in 47 states. Only Maine, Vermont and Hawaii do not have natural gas service.

McGraw said more than a million new customers were added last year and the industry, in keeping pace with record demand, spent $1.8 billion for plant improvement and expansion of services.

"This raised the plant value of the nation's sixth largest industry to a record $27.6 billion," he said. "Of this amount, about $11 billion represent the investment of the gas transmission companies."

Rotary Count On Rise Again

Lea County, N. M., and Pecos County, both with 26 active rotary drilling units, are tied for first place on the survey conducted Friday by Reed Roller Bit Co. for the Permian Basin.

Lea County gained five over the last week count to come back to the first place spot which it has held, except for the past two weeks, since the count was started. Pecos County has the same number for the second week.

Gaines County is second on the list with 11 units, a gain of four, and Eddy County, N.M., with 10, a gain of one, is third. The over-all survey showed 182 units in operation, a gain of five over the 177 reported last week, and 30 fewer than the 212 reported on the comparable survey in 1964.

The rotary rig count for April 23 and 16, with the latter in parentheses, shows:

Andrews 9 (8), Borden 1 (2), Chaves 5 (9), Coke 0 (1), Crane 8 (6), Crockett 3 (3), Dawson 7 (6), Ector 8 (7), Eddy 10 (9), Fisher 2 (2), Gaines 11 (7), Hockley 6 (7), Howard 2 (2), Kent 2 (0), Lamb 0 (1), Lea 26 (21), Loving 3 (0), Martin 1 (1), Midland 2 (2), Mitchell 1 (1), Nolan 0 (1), Pecos 26 (26), Reagan 3 (1);

Reeves 3 (5), Roosevelt 4 (5), Runnels 2 (0), Schleicher 3 (4), Scurry 1 (1), Sterling 1 (2), Stonewall 1 (1), Terrell 2 (1), Terry 1 (1), Tom Green 0 (1), Upton 5 (4), Ward 8 (10), Winkler 9 (11), Yoakum 6 (7), Totals 182 (177).

The production of the golden barrel of crude has taken 36 years. Appropriately enough, one of the markers will be placed on the county's first oil well.

In 1929, the C. E. Odgen No. 1 was drilled in the Fuhrman-Mascho field, six miles west of the Andrews city limits. The field has produced 55 million barrels of oil—its contribution to the billion total.

The inscription recounts that the discovery well produced 200 barrels a day from the San Andres lime formation. Some 730 wells surround the first gusher.

Another mark will be erected at the entrance of Florey Park, 10 miles north of the city limits. Like everything else in Andrews, the park is closely related to the oil industry.

In the heart of the Means oil field, which opened in 1930, this park is the site of the 1934-58 camp of Humble Oil and Refining Co.

In the 24 years of the camp's history, its many residents developed an oasis here. The recreation area, with lush grass and tall trees, attracts visitors from all parts of the county. On Sept. 22, 1958, Humble donated the land to be used as a county park.

The third marker, for Shafter's Trail, is to be erected in downtown Andrews. In 1875, Colonel William R. Shafter and a company of soldiers traveled from Fort Concho to Monument Springs, N.M., charting the arid Plains and mapping all the vital watering places.

Andrews is the only town today through which Shafter's trail passes. Here Colonel Shafter and his party chased Indians who ran 12 miles to the northwest where he found the salt lake known ever after by his name. His expedition's maps of this formerly unknown land opened the Permian Basin to settlement.

NEW YORK — The cost of new facilities in the oil industry runs high, according to Oil Facts.

For example, a 36-inch pipeline 300 miles long may cost as much as $50 million. A 100,000-barrel refinery can cost $125 million. A complete drilling rig on land may cost $500,000 or more, while a complete offshore installation can cost up to $9 million.

For many years the gas industry has offered competitive commercial size air conditioning equipment. Distributors now are reporting greatly increased interest in and acceptance of natural gas for residential air conditioning.

The natural gas industry serves 36.6 million customers in 47 states. Only Maine, Vermont and Hawaii do not have natural gas service.

McGraw said more than a million new customers were added last year and the industry, in keeping pace with record demand, spent $1.8 billion for plant improvement and expansion of services.

"This raised the plant value of the nation's sixth largest industry to a record $27.6 billion," he said. "Of this amount, about $11 billion represent the investment of the gas transmission companies."

Historic Plates To Go Up During Billionth Barrel Celebration In Andrews

The dedication of three historic landmarks will be a highlight of Andrews County's Billionth Barrel celebration, May 23-25.

The markers have been approved by the Texas State Historical Survey committee, according to John Ben Shepperd, Odessa, president.

The markers will be dedicated during the West Texas county's two-day celebration of the production of the billionth barrel of oil. An electronic computer in Houston came up with the May 25-billionth-barrel date.

Andrews has been the state's leading oil producing county since 1956.

Gas For Air Conditioning Is Growing In Popularity

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Air conditioning figures prominently in future growth objectives of the natural gas industry.

Total energy packages also are due to receive greater emphasis.

Distributors in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania likewise hope to boost gas house heating to a level comparable with other areas of the nation.

These objectives were outlined last week by E. Clyde McGraw, president of the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp.

He also is president of the Independent Natural Gas Association of America, a trade group representing most of the interstate gas pipeline companies.

McGraw told Transcontinental stockholders air conditioning and gas operated engines were major factors boosting industry-wide gas sales revenues 5 1/2 per cent to $7.1 billion last year.

He said there now are some 200 total energy buildings or complexes of buildings using natural gas not only for heating, cooling, cooking, and water heating but also to produce all electricity requirements.

HOME HEATING Heating of homes in the Middle Atlantic states, McGraw said, still has attractive potential in that the space heating situation in the area is only 40 per cent, compared to a nationwide 75 per cent.

"This is because the introduction of natural gas to this area is relatively recent," he said. Some of the Middle Atlantic distributing companies served by Transcontinental report saturations below 40 per cent even though the total number of homes heated with gas has increased steadily.

"This condition, when combined with the increasing acceptance of gas air conditioning, on-site electric generation and the increasing popularity of all other gas household appliances, gives promise of continued growth to distributors in this area," McGraw said.

He said distributors who have emphasized home heating sales in the past now are placing special emphasis on air conditioning.

BALANCES LOAD "The use of gas for air conditioning during the hot summer months is a very attractive load for the natural gas distributor as a balance to the peak winter requirements for gas space heating," he said.

"Such sales are very profitable to the distributor because they are made at a time when large volumes of gas are available without the necessity of additional capital investment.

"For many years the gas industry has offered competitive commercial size air conditioning equipment. Distributors now are reporting greatly increased interest in and acceptance of natural gas for residential air conditioning."

Board Seat For Oilman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Marlin Sandlin, Houston oilman was elected a director of Pure Oil Co. Saturday at a lively stockholders meeting. The action could strongly affect a merger proposal involving the firm.

Sandlin, who heads a dissident shareholder group, won election to a three-year term along with three others who were elected also to the 13-member board.

Pure's management was forced to accept the candidacy of Sandlin as a director to ward off a proxy fight provoked by the merger proposal.

Under the merger plan, the Pure Oil board voted 12-1 Feb. 15 to consolidate into Union Oil of California.

Accepting the directorship, Sandlin said his group was displeased "with the known basic terms of the planned merger between the Union Oil Co. of California and the Pure Oil Co."

He told more than 150 stockholders that his group "was adamant against the Pure-Union merger under its present terms."

Discovery designation for a new producing area in Sterling County has been requested. The name Lacy Creek (Queen sand) pool, for the new reservoir, has been suggested for HMH Operators No. 1 Jennie Ray 12 miles south of Sterling City.

The No. 1 Ray was drilled to 2,400 feet in barren Clear Fork as a core test. The operator backed up and perforated the Queen at 1,320-21 feet and fractured with 2,500 gallons.

On the 24-hour potential it pumped 27.53 barrels of 32-gravity oil plus 75 per cent water.

COMPLETIONS

DAWSON Acropolis Oil Co. Inc. No. 1-31 J. Hurst, 660 feet from the north and 1,320 feet from the east lines of section 31-34, T&P survey, drilled to 4,690 feet. Operator set 4 1/2-inch line from 3,018 to 4,678 feet and perforated at 4,321-4,630 feet. The well flowed 206 barrels of 37.6 gravity oil, with no water, through 18-64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 365-1, tubing pressure 140 pounds, and casing pressure 50 pounds. The Ackerly (Dean) formation was treated with 400 gallons of acid.

Midwest Oil Corp. No. 5 Dickinson, 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 30-34, T&P survey, flowed 223 barrels of 37.6 gravity oil from the Ackerly (Dean) formation. There was no water in the flow through a 18-64-inch choke from perforations at five intervals, 8,420-22, 8,632-34, 8,672-72, 8,678-77, and 8,684-88 feet. Total depth was 8,790 feet and operator plugged back to 8,766 feet after setting 4 1/2-inch casing at 8,790 feet. The formation was fractured with 20,000 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was 365-1 and tubing pressure 129 pounds.

Texaco, Inc. No. 6 Dean, pumped 24 barrels of 37 gravity oil from the Sperry (Dean) formation. Total depth was 7,880 feet and operator set two and seven-eighths-inch tubing at 7,674 and 7,676 feet. He perforated at 6,700-6,764 feet and fractured with 20,000 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was 1,290-1.

HOWARD Basin Oil Co. No. 20 L. R. & W. N. Reed, pumped 66 barrels of 29 gravity oil from perforations at 1,450-1,560 feet after fracturing with 60,000 pounds of sand. Total depth was 1,610 feet with 7-inch casing set on bottom. Spot is 990 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west line of the northeast quarter of section 141-29, W&N survey.

southwest of Coyanosa. Those shows came in a 1 1/2-hour drillstem test at 5,191-5,220 feet. Recovery was 2,200 feet of gas and 112 feet of oil-and-gas-cut drilling mud.

Initial shutin bottomhole pressure in 30 minutes was 418 pounds and the final shutin pressure after 45 minutes was 356 pounds.

That was followed by a 1 1/2-hour investigation at 5,268-96 feet. Gas surfaced just as the tool was closed. Recovery was 220 feet of slightly oil- and-gas-cut mud and 660 feet of gas-cut salt water.

Forty-five minute initial shutin pressure was 2,360 pounds, flowing pressure was between 93 and 434 pounds and final shutin pressure in 45 minutes was 2,069 pounds.

The explorer then drilled to total depth of 5,510 feet and was taking logs. It is 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 25, block C-2, PSL survey and 1 1/2 miles west of the two-well Coyanosa, West (Delaware sand) pool.

A FAREWELL GIFT is more than a matter of sentimentality and is the topic for some serious consideration by officers of the senior class and John Smith, principal. Each year a gift is presented to the school by the graduating students as a gesture of appreciation for the instruction and facilities that have been available to them. Planning this year's gift are Nancy Thomas, secretary; Dub McMeans, president; Micky Crow, treasurer; and Benny Benson, vice president.

Learning Greek

Learning their Greek are Mrs. Constantine Antonatos, her children, Alice, Effie Marie and Larry, and her husband's mother, Mrs. Effie Antonatos. Larry is a "grandmother's boy" and she has taught him to speak only Greek. The older daughter, Effie, speaks both languages equally well.

Group Sees Film Strip On Cancer

More than 500 women from Webb AFB and Big Spring attended a film and lecture program on cancers in females, Wednesday at the base theater.

The program, sponsored by Family Services Center in conjunction with the American Cancer Society, was narrated by Capt. R. A. Cook, gynecologist at the 3560th USAF Hospital. Capt. Cook briefed the women on breast self-examination and symptoms of cancer of the cervix. Women should schedule check-ups if they suspect unusual symptoms.

Donations to the cancer society were collected after the program and totaled more than $55, according to Mrs. George Franks, publicity director of the crusade. Mrs. Jim Zack, education chairman, arranged the program.

Methodist WSCS Hears Bible Study

WESTBROOK (SC) — Eight members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the Methodist Church this week. The Rev. C. T. Jackson, pastor discussed the lesson on the book of Genesis. The study will be completed next Monday. Plans were made for a banquet May 5.

C. Antonatoses Blend Cultures, Interests

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Constantine Antonatos, 2600 Cindy, is a gracious, harmonious blend of Greek and American customs, languages and attitudes. Their lovely children, Effie Marie, 2, Larry, 1, and Alice, 1 month, are being reared in an atmosphere of both cultures. The two older children speak the two languages equally well.

The Antonatoses moved here from Madisonville, Ky., where he was pathologist at the Hopkins County Hospital.

Dr. Antonatos is in charge of the laboratories at the Veterans Administration Hospital. As his wife said, "The man behind the microscope."

The Antonatoses met while he was serving his internship and residency at the Piedmont Hospital in Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Antonatos, who is a cytologist, was working in research, in detecting cancer in stages early enough to be cured.

By ELAINE CLARK

He received his degree in medicine from the University of Athens in Greece and served two years in the Medical Corps of the Greek Army. He became a member of the staff at the Aretorian Hospital in Athens, then came to this country to further his career. He became a citizen in December of 1964.

Mrs. Effie Antonatos, his mother, became a delightful member of their household in December. This has been an unusual experience for her and for his wife, in that the mother speaks no English and the wife cannot speak Greek. Antonatos speaks both languages fluently, and when he is not at home the children, who are becoming bi-lingual, are helping the two women communicate.

Greek words have a melodious, delicate quality, a "Koukla" or sweet little doll, as little Effie Marie is called, is particularly lyrical. The children call their father "Baba," their mother "Mama," and the grandmother is called "Yaya."

The Antonatos children are the main interest and enthusiasm of the family, and except for their enjoying water sports, all their activities are centered around the home. They enjoy cooking, music and gardening, and both are music lovers, except for rock and roll. She sews, designing and making many of her own clothes.

"Greek food is the best in the world," Mrs. Antonatos said. "We all prefer it." As she didn't know how to cook at all when they married, he easily convinced her that Greek cuisine was the kind to learn to prepare. Now she seldom cooks an American dish. Lamb a n d vegetables, cooked fricassee, is a family favorite, and moussaka, an eggplant, hamburger and tomato combination is delicious and easily prepared. The kitchen is the center of the Greek homemaker's life. The planning and preparation of food is most important to them, and their specialty is pastry of all kinds.

LIKES IT HERE

Antonatos' mother is fascinated with the American way of life. Supermarkets are particularly interesting, because in Greece, housewives shop each day for foods, as they do not freeze or refrigerate. Vegetables, fruits, breads and meats are all bought in separate open air markets. She brought special Greek food delicacies, dolls, statues and clothing to her grandchildren.

"Our dream is to go back to Greece to visit," Mrs. Antonatos said. "All my husband's memories are so pleasant and happy, I'm anxious to see the country and meet his family, too."

Mrs. Antonatos is a member of a medical auxiliary and the family is active in the Greek Orthodox Church.

They are looking forward to making their home permanently in Big Spring and are anxious to meet other Greek families here.

Plans were discussed to form a sister chapter in Coahoma by the Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha when it met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert Rogers, 3809 Tingle.

The state ballot of officers was read by Mrs. C. W. Wiley, and Mrs. Frank Perry and Mrs. Mitchell announced plans to attend the State Election of Officers meeting to be held in Fort Worth May 14-15. The event will be held in the Texas Hotel.

Ten members were served refreshments from a table covered with beige linen accented with a bouquet of spring flowers in shades of orange and tangerine.

Mrs. Mike Moore was awarded the attendance prize. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Glyn Mitchell in Sand Springs, May 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Club Shown Gift Wrap

Mrs. Delaine Crawford presented the program, "Child Study and Development" to the College Park Home Demonstration Club when it met Tuesday afternoon. Five members and three guests attended the meeting held in the home of Mrs. Paul Bruns, 4111 Dixon. Guests were Miss Buelah Wright Crawfordville, Ind., and Mrs. Tom Freeland.

Members were requested to bring fresh or canned fruit, vegetables, sugar and coffee to the next meeting to be given to the Half-Way House.

A white lace cloth covered the refreshment table which was centered with a bouquet of blue irises.

Dr. Charles Rich will be speaker for the May 4 meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. Jesse Crane Jr., 433 Hillside Drive.

DR. MARJORIE KIRKPATRICK

'Dr. K. Day' Noted At Gonzales Foundation

It will be "Dr. K. Day" at Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation when directors of the rehabilitation center meet for their 25th annual meeting May 2. The day has been so designed in honor of Marjorie Kirkpatrick, M.D. Dr. Kirkpatrick was in private practice here in the early 1950's, and currently serves as medical director for the Warm Springs Foundation.

Known to patients and associates affectionately as "Dr. K.", Doctor Kirkpatrick first came to Warm Springs in 1956 as a patient, the victim of a crippling automobile accident. Several months later she began training in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. In 1961 she was appointed assistant to the medical director, and assumed her present post as medical director the following year.

A native of Williamson County, "Dr. K." received her BA and BS degrees from Texas State College for Women in Denton, and her MD from the University of Texas Medical School in Galveston in 1949. She served her internship in Fort Worth's City-County Hospital, and practiced medicine privately in Taylor and Big Spring for a number of years prior to her accident.

"Dr. K.", who discharges her duties from a wheel chair, is a member of the American Academy of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. She was cited by Gov. John Connally in 1963 as the "Texas Handicapped Person of the Year." In the same year, she received a citation for meritorious service from the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

She attended Baylor University in Waco and Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, Okla., receiving a degree in elementary education. She has taught the second grades in Perry, Okla., and Del Rio. The McKnights are active in the First Baptist Church, members of the Young Adults Sunday School class and both work with the Senior Intermediates and Training Union. She is also a member of the Women's Missionary Union. An accomplished pianist, Mrs. McKnight played for the First Baptist Church while in Oklahoma. McKnight's office is in the home, and she manages this and is a member of the Junior Woman's Forum.

"I enjoy working with arts and crafts, and find pleasure in all phases of homemaking," she said. She designs and makes clothes, draperies and bedspreads. Italian foods and rich desserts are foods her family prefers. She and her husband play tennis, water ski and garden.

THE CHILD IN US

What is the first thing a child does when he sees a flower? Is it not to sniff it to test it for fragrance? No wonder Carnations continue to gain in favor through the years. They have that elusive quality for which the child in us longs. It's true that Carnations have been the flower for Mother's Day since its inception in 1908, but it is interesting to note that there are so many millions of flower lovers who value exquisite fragrance as well as color that Carnations are second only to roses in year-round popularity.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MOLLIE HARTZOG

Well, here we are pestering the patient Herald staff again having stayed out of their hair since 1963 when we were dubbed "Fussbudget of the Year" by an exasperated publisher. We promise to mend our ways and not fuss this time around. We promised also to enter the Sizzler Temperature contest on Friday, too, and got promptly preempted when it sizzled over 100 degrees on Wednesday, but our intentions were the best ever.

The Officers Open Mess pool is due to open May 15 with swimming lessons not far behind. Probably June first will see the minnows in the pool learning how to drench passers-by which is lesson number one. They all learn drenching beautifully no matter how the faint of heart may fade away before the formal swimming lessons are finished.

Cooling off in San Antonio this week are Lt. and Mrs. James Kiehle. They are fortunate to have Col. and Mrs. J. W. Kiehle living there, since Col. Kiehle's retirement from the Air Force recently. This means grandmother can dote on the third generation with great frequency while the second generation attends the annual San Jacinto Fiesta in that city. It promises big doings, including a parade, coronation and a final torchlight procession through the oldest part of town to wind up the festivities on Saturday evening.

GOLF MATCH
Meanwhile, back at the ranch, Webb is sponsoring a golf match for good and poor golfers, men and women, gathered in Scotch foursomes on Sunday beginning at 12:30 p.m., at the Webb Golf Course. All Webb golfers are welcomed, and they are in somewhat short supply of lady golfers. Fee is $1 with cash prizes and a social hour to follow. Nice way to spend Sunday if the old man is flying around the nation collecting his flying time.

Every maternal heart desires a good solid profession for the son and heir of the family. However, the heart of Mrs. Alex Loose of Fort Morgan, Colo., is a bit dubious at this writing. Mrs. Loose and Mr. Alex Loose arrived at Webb on an Easter visit with their son, Webb Veterinarian Lt. Ronald Loose and his wife, Janine. Perfect weather, clear skies, and even temperature would have given some foreboding to a Big Springer, but a Fort Morganer never suspected a thing. At the end of the visit, the senior Loosees received a farewell gift of a sweet little puppy. He wasn't exactly large, but as a hint, his name is Caesar and it took a tranquilizer to get him in the family car. Rest assured, Mr. and Mrs. Loose, that Lt. Loose does not change his profession from veterinarian to that of ostrich farmer or those trips home would be crowded indeed.

BRIDGE
Mrs. R. G. Piland is taking reservations for OWC All Day Bridge Thursday, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Officers Open Mess. The reservations deadline is Monday evening, and Mrs. Piland can be reached at AM 4-4408. Partners must be settled beforehand, and lunch will be available at the Officers Open Mess.

Mrs. Gary Heartsill is planning a coffee in her home Tuesday at 1 p.m. for the ladies recently taking part in her sewing classes, which were finished this past week. Contrary to rumor, you need not wear what Thomas, Lubbock, and the late Mrs. Thomas. The couple plans to be married at 3 p.m., May 15, in the chapel of the First Methodist Church.

You sewed during the classes, since the finished articles ranged from sport shirts for Fathers Day to maternity wear and evening gowns.

Garden Council Plans Tour Of Local Homes

Mrs. D. S. Riley of the Big Spring Garden Club Council has announced that the council will sponsor a garden pilgrimage May 9 from 3 to 6 p.m. The tour will be open to the public at a charge of $1 per person. Morehead, 704 Highland; Dr. and Mrs. Cal Williams, 2800 Navajo; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith, 2705 Crestline; and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wheat, 2707 Crestline.

Altrusa Fetes Charter Group At Luncheon

Charter members were honored Thursday during the luncheon meeting of the Altrusa Club at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. M. J. Stratton, chairman of Altrusa Information, was in charge of the program and presented a brief history of the organization. The local Altrusa Club was organized July 8, 1950, by the Midland Altrusa Club and had 23 charter members. The charter was issued March 4, 1951, and there are nine charter members still active in the group here.

Mrs. Hart Phillips and Mrs. Dorothy Ragan presented each charter member to the president, Mrs. C. R. Rhoades, by giving a brief resume of the offices they had held and the work that each had done in Altrusa. Mrs. Rhoades thanked the women and gave each a blue carnation corsage.

Those honored were Mrs. J. B. Apple, Mrs. H. D. Cowden, Mrs. Alma Gollnick, Mrs. C. O. Nalley, Mrs. Willard Sullivan, Mrs. W. U. O'Neal, Mrs. Kaye Thornton, Mrs. M. J. Stratton and Mrs. Lloyd Wooten.

Secretaries Association Notes National Week

A bosses night banquet in the Gold Room of the Big Spring Country Club Saturday night concluded the activities of Secretaries' Week, as they have been celebrated by the local chapter of the National Secretaries' Association.

The week began with an informal party Monday night at which time carnations were distributed which were presented to other secretaries over town on Tuesday, and these flowers blossomed on the desks throughout the week.

On Wednesday, a day celebrated nationally as Secretaries' Day, a luncheon was held for members of NSA and their guests at the NCO Club, Webb AFB. Each member also sponsored a student who was heriand Mrs. Gladys Bryant. The club welcomed back Mrs. Alma Gollnick who has been on leave since November 1964 due to illness.

guest at the luncheon, and special guests were Mrs. Harlan Huihregtse and her students from the local high school. Mrs. Huihregtse conducts the Vocational Office Worker's course, one of the very few such courses conducted in Texas under a federal grant. Mrs. Huihregtse spoke to the luncheon on this new concept in business education.

Theme of the luncheon was "Better Secretaries Mean Better Business," and the luncheon placemats carried out this theme. A film, "CPS, Emblem of Excellence," was shown. Favours were ballpoint pens, erasure shields and pencil sharpeners, donated by local merchants. The luncheon was buffet and there were 48 in attendance.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

What a fine recipe section we Big Springers would have if all the women who cook by 'feel' would put down in writing the little different things they do when they are seasoning dishes to fit their family's tastes!

Sometime this summer The Herald will probably have another section filled with favorite recipes of the cooks of the county. Many of them are, of course, recipes they have picked up at random but some of them are concoctions that are almost original. It's those little touches that add just that dash that makes something better. Like using wine vinegar instead of apple cider vinegar in dressings.

Why not start now and when you are trying out something on the homefolk if it turns out to their liking, write it down so when the time comes to send in the recipes in the contest that is bound to come, yours will be ready.

MRS. BESSIE WOOTEN is convalescing at the home of her daughter, MRS. LESLIE STEWARD, and Mr. Steward, 1516 Sunset. Mrs. Wooten underwent surgery in mid-March, and when she was dismissed from the hospital she came to the home of her daughter where friends may visit her.

MR. and MRS. W. R. SMELSER are due back home today from a weekend in Houston and Baytown. Mrs. Smelser is District 4 chairman of the School Food Service Association and attended the district board meeting held in Baytown Friday and Saturday. District 4 included Midland, Odessa, Colorado City, Snyder, Andrews, Coahoma and Big Spring.

While Mrs. Smelser was attending the meeting, Mr. Smelser took himself to the ball game at the Astrodome in Houston.

Those of you readers who are going to Hawaii this summer may like to look up MRS. HOPE ALEXANDER and her son, MIKE who are now making their home in the Iikai apartments in Honolulu. Mike is a '64 BSHS graduate and went one semester at the University of Texas. He is now enrolled in the University of Hawaii. Mrs. Alexander will work for the Honolulu Production Co., who are to make "Hawaii" which is to star Elvis Presley.

A fine thing to do this afternoon would be to drive to Odessa and view the china exhibit put on by the Permian Basin Porcelain Art Club. Hours are from 2 until 5 o'clock and the showing is at the First State Bank Community Room, Fourth and Lee Streets. Several local women will have displays.

I didn't run a test on this but I have found out that in Western Hills when the doorbells ring at 9:30 a.m. it's the lady of the house that answers the door. Saturday morning my bell rang awakening me from a sound sleep. I grabbed a robe, hastily took off my hair net and answered the door to find my neighbor, MRS. J. I. BALCH, spic and span, makeup on, hair combed and in a pretty dress to haul me off in my disarray to a "come as you are" breakfast. She and MRS. PATTI BARRON and their auxiliary driver, MRS. MORAN OPPEGARD' gathered up at least 16 neighbors and brought their sleepy-headed bodies to the Balch home. We were a bunch of palefaces but will probably be closer friends, having seen each other without lipstick and eye make-up for the first time.

It all depends on how the Mississippi River is behaving as to whether the KENNETH OSSMANNSS get back to their home in Madison, Wis., in time for their daughter, Sue, to get back in school. The family had been here to visit their longtime friends, MR. and MRS. ALBERT SMITH, since Tuesday. They had made a home with the Smiths during WW II. They left Friday hoping they could find a good place to cross the rambling river.

Clubbers See Arrangements

The art of flower arranging was discussed by Mrs. H. T. Hansen, guest speaker Thursday for the Forsan Study Club. The meeting in the school cafeteria was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. C. Ferguson, who introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Hansen presented a program on flower arranging, concentrating on how to arrange American flowers in both period and modern arrangements to suit individual tastes.

THREE DESIGNS

The speaker gave the three major designs when making American flower arrangements — the line design, mass design, and mass line design. The line design has a small amount of material in an open design with very little depth. The mass design has a large amount of material in a balanced design with lots of depth. The mass line design is a combination of the line and mass designs and can have just one type of material in the arrangement or a combination of material. In this design, one wants the basic line to show.

FUNDAMENTALS

The elements of design are line, form, pattern, texture, and color. The patterns of design are balance, dominance, contrast, rhythm, property, and scale. The qualities of design are definite linear pattern, balance in distribution of elements, and interesting silhouette.

As Mrs. Hansen spoke she gave simple demonstrations to bring out the different points. After the discussion, she did two arrangements — one line design and one mass design, bringing out the most important points again.

The refreshment table was covered with a pink Irish linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of multicolored spring flowers. The windows held an Easter arrangement and another spring flower arrangement to carry out the theme of flowers for the flower workshop. Silver and crystal appointments were used on the table.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Hamlin Elrod, Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, Mrs. R. V. Fryar, Mrs. C. B. Long, and Mrs. Oscar Boeker.

Fifteen members were served and two guests, Mrs. Hansen and Mrs. J. D. Leonard, both from Big Spring.

After the program, club members elected Mrs. Roy Stockstill as Teacher of the Year, and Mrs. L. T. Shoults as Club Woman of the Year.

The next meeting will be the installation of officers dinner which will be May 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the Big Spring Country Club. Members are urged to make reservations with Mrs. Bobby Calley by May 4.

SAMPLES OF THE KIND OF ARMAMENT EARLY DAY TEXAS STEERS WORE
Earle A. Read and a few of his 66 sets of historic early day mementoes

Unique Horn Collection Value Set At $75,000

By SAM BLACKBURN
What is probably the finest collection of longhorn steer horns in Texas is for sale. Several prospective buyers have already begun asking questions and Earle A. Read, owner of the collection, thinks it is possible he will sell to one or another of the buyers.

The collection, assembled by Read and by his father, the late H. C. Clay Read, comprises 66 sets of horns. They are all choice specimens, but the biggest of the lot have spans of 10 feet, six inches.

"People call up and ask me if I am interesting in buying a set of horns," Read said. "I ask 'How big are they?' When they tell me seven feet, eight feet or nine feet, I just tell them I'm not interested."

ON DISPLAY
Read, who is 78 years old, has his almost unique collection on display in the lobby, the hallways and in some of the rooms at the Read Hotel, 207 E. 2nd.

"Thousands of people have seen them," he said. "I have many requests to show the horns."

There is no collection, Read says, comparable with his in all of Texas. "Nor anywhere," he adds, "insofar as I can find out."

The collection was appraised several years ago by a professional longhorn expert. He set a fair value on the lot at $60,000. Today, Read believes, due to the passage of years and to the increasing scarcity of good horns, the value is probably nearer to $75,000. Read indicated, however, if he got a good offer within a reasonable distance of the appraised value, he would be happy to make a deal.

How did the Reads begin this rather unusual — and expensive — hobby?

"Well," says Read, "it all goes back 36 years."

MEDICINE MAN
"There used to be a man — we called him 'Dr. Tanlac' — who came to Big Spring every spring. He would set up his stage on the land now occupied by the Shasta Ford Co. We owned the land and my dad never charged the old doc rent. He would stage his show with a comedian and a few other entertainers. Between acts he would sell medicine which he declared was good for anything that ailed man or beast."

"Seemed like everyone in Big Spring would be gathered around the stage on the big lot when Dr. Tanlac opened his show."

One time, in 1929, the good doctor made Earle's father a present of a set of longhorn steer horns. The horns still occupy a prominent place in the collection. They are not the biggest nor the finest of the lot, but because they are the first, Read treasures them.

"When I was a boy," said Read, "I remember seeing steers with horns as long as many of these being driven right through town here to the stockyards. I used to go down and watch them load. Their horns were so long that to get them up the leading chute, the animal's head had to be twisted to one side. Many times the horns, were broken off. The steers were skinny, their legs were long and thin."

STRINGY MEAT
"Sometimes I hear old timers bemoan the old days — talk about how good the beef was and things like that. Well, the truth is the beef was tough and stringy and there just wasn't much of it on a longhorn steer to begin with."

The Reads have not been collecting longhorns all of the time since 1929.

"Several years elapsed after Dr. Tanlac gave my dad that first set before we commenced to buy up horns," said Read. "After dad died I kept on buying. I used to get a lot of my horns from a man named R. E. Hall, who lived in Brownwood."

"That was his business, I guess. He'd come through with a bunch of horns and we'd sit down on the floor with the horns spread around. Sometimes I would buy a set or two; sometimes none. I haven't seen Hall for a long time."

What would a fair to average pair of horns — say with an eight-foot span — be worth?

"Why chances are you'd have to pay at least $250 for a really good set," Read said. He added that the width of the span isn't all that determines the value. The coloring, the peculiar "twists" some have and the general condition of the set are the determining factors.

WORK HORNS
"Ever see anyone work on a set of horns?" asks Read. "Usually it's a woman. She holds the horn between her knees and scrapes it with a piece of broken glass. All of the scraping is from the tip of the horn toward the base. You never go the other way. That ruins the polish you're trying to get. The scraping takes hours."

When the horns are scraped and polished they are mounted in a hand-tooled cowboy holder. This is about as wide as the steer's head would have been and are usually highly ornamented. The horns are then fastened to a scrolled board, rigged for hanging on a wall.

In addition to the 66 sets of longhorn steer horns Read has, he has a number of exceptionally fine water buffalo horns, several buffalo horn mounts and many other relics of the old days.

"I wish someone would buy these and put them on display where more folk could see them," said Read.

NOTE
"You ever in Washington? — I was once. I went all through that famous Smithsonian Institution. They got everything you can think of except one thing. There's not a pair of longhorns in the whole shebang. At least, I couldn't find one."

GCA Units To Aid Training

Ground Controlled Approach (GCA) vans and men to operate them are being sent to Goodfellow AFB in San Angelo to assist student pilot training at Webb. The 2056-1 Communications Detachment Flight Facilities Section has been transferred to Goodfellow from Keesler AFB, Miss., to man the facilities.

Webb and Goodfellow officials said that most or all of the installation work and the flight check can be completed in April and May, so that the Webb aircraft will begin using the facility as soon as possible.

Inside the orange and white vans are two complete radar systems, to provide aircraft a method of landing during adverse weather conditions.

The first of these systems is surveillance, which has a coverage from zero to 60 miles. This radar scans 360 degrees and is used to locate the aircraft, separate it from others in the area and steer it toward the base.

With this radar, the aircraft will be directed into the Goodfellow traffic pattern.

At a point approximately eight to 10 miles south of San Angelo, the second radar system takes over. This system is known as the Precision Radar which covers from zero to 10 miles and is, as its name indicates, extremely accurate.

With this radar, an aircraft is aligned with the runway and the pilot is advised if the aircraft becomes too high or low to complete a safe approach. GCA approaches are a necessity to every military pilot today, because they have to operate in all kinds of weather to protect us.

Civilians Honored For Long Service

The civilian employees of the 3560th Field Maintenance Squadron, with 20 years of federal service, have been honored by Col. A. F. Taute, wing commander, at a staff meeting in the wing conference room.

Awarded their 20-year lapel emblem were Gordon V. Williamson, an aircraft sheet-metal worker, and Clabern M. Browning, a radio repair-installer.

Williamson has worked at Webb since April 8, 1952. Previous federal service includes Midland Army Air Field, Feb. 23, 1942, to Nov. 1, 1942; Big Spring Army Air Field from Nov. 1, 1942, to May 11, 1946; and Goodfellow Air Force Base from June 6, 1949, to April 8, 1952. It was then he transferred to Webb. He has received awards for eight adopted suggestions and for a sustained superior performance.

Browning has been employed at Webb since Feb. 22, 1959. Previous federal service includes duty with the Army Air Force from Sept. 15, 1942, to Nov. 7, 1945; and civil service at Goodfellow from March 15, 1948, to Feb. 22, 1959. He has received a safe driver award.

Plan Door-to-Door Drive Tuesday

Volunteers To Carry Cancer Crusade To County Homes

Volunteer workers will be knocking on doors in Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and other county communities Tuesday evening in the concluding effort of the month-long Cancer Crusade here.

Mrs. C. J. Haralson has directed plans for the door-to-door march with several score volunteers participating. The Howard County Association of the American Cancer Society has set a goal of reaching 6,000 homes with educational leaflets on cancer.

The Cancer Crusade here is attempting to raise $5,000. Mrs.

Larson Lloyd is general chairman.

Mrs. Haralson said the door-to-door program was planned to provide families with educational material about cancer and to give each citizen opportunity to support the research, education and service programs of the American Cancer Society.

"We know that two out of every three families in America will eventually be struck by cancer," Mrs. Haralson said. "Through the educational aspect of our crusade we hope to alert both families and individuals to the danger of cancer and to the increasingly hopeful side of the disease."

Mrs. Haralson pointed out that some 1,300,000 Americans agency said average charges for have been cured of cancer, and this year another 183,000 persons will be saved from the disease. An educational leaflet, "Answers to Questions About Cancer Which Concern You," will be distributed by the workers Tuesday. Mrs. W. A. Wilson, Coahoma, is chairman of the door-to-door drive for county communities.

Increase In Cost Of Ginning Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reports increases in the cost of ginning cotton since 1945 have reduced growers' net returns of more than two cents a pound. The agency said average charges for ginning have increased from $7.40 to $16.80 since 1945.

N.Y. Presses Crime War

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's largest city has declared "open war" on criminals in the streets as an extra 500 patrolmen and detectives, all in uniform and working overtime, begin pounding beats tonight.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner in a televised speech last week said: "The days ahead will be days of open war."

"We against the criminals. We are going to win. They are going to lose."

On April 5, the mayor announced a crackdown on subway crime and threw 800 policemen into the battle on their off-duty hours.

Two nights later, a policeman was riding every train and patrolling each of the 480 subway stations between the high-crime hours of 8 p.m. and 4 a.m.

Speaker Speaks For Legislature

AUSTIN (AP)—Speaker Ben Barnes spoke up for the Texas Legislature Friday.

He wrote to the editor of the magazine Newsweek which recently used the label "Sick State Legislatures." Barnes said:

"You have done a disservice to good men and women who serve their state honestly, effectively and intelligently...Any study in depth of the Texas Legislature would show a cross-section of Texans hard at work on the problems of a growing state."

Webb Now Wears Safety Top Hat

The 3560th Pilot Training Wing at Webb AFB wears the Air Training Command Top Hat Award for flying safety. Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, ATC commander, presented the award to Col. A. F. Taute Jr., Webb wing commander, last week in recognition of 42,197 accident-free flying hours between Oct. 1, 1964-March 31, 1965.

A Devotional For The Day

"As one whom his mother comforts, so I will comfort you; you shall be comforted in Jerusalem." (Isaiah 66:13, RSV)
PRAYER: Our loving Father, we praise Thee for our imperishable, undefiled, and unfading inheritance: life eternal. We thank Thee for sending Thine only Son, who opened heaven for us. Give us grace to keep our eyes fixed on the New Jerusalem, where we shall be safely home with Thee at last. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Another Miracle Is Possible

Women are volunteering by the scores to march Tuesday evening as the climax to the Cancer Crusade, and as with other health drives they will be knocking on doors to ask your help.

This is one of the big five health appeals and brings to an end the push which annually begins in late November with the time-proven pioneer — the tuberculosis seal sale.

The thing which compels so much attention for the cancer fight is that there is scarcely a family who has not lost some immediate member or a relative to it.

There are at least two reasons for having a personal part in the effect: One is that so many cancer casualties could be avoided or controlled if people would only learn and act early. The other is that dollars you invest in research means that every day brings us nearer some dramatic breakthrough.

Not long ago we lost thousands to polio or saw it leave bodies twisted and withered. Now these cases are almost non-existent. With your help a similar miracle is possible against cancer.

You And A Clean City

Plans for a community assault upon untidiness are being shaped by a task force headed by Raymond Smith, and if ever a project deserved wide support this one does.

Perhaps the effort is a little late this year, but it is late enough that one thorough cleanup ought to work miracles around most places and then hold for quite a while.

Through the years it has been pointed out time and again that no cleanup succeeds beyond the degree to which individual citizens accept the responsibility for their property and their neighborhood.

All over town there are ugly spots—tangles of trash in vacant lots, run-down houses and fences, growths of weed and brush. Worse still, there are many spots within a stone's throw of where planning sessions have been held that are an abomination. We've put up with some of these so long that we've become blind to them.

Big Spring can be a more attractive town than it is, but only if you want it to be.

Thus, the time to do something is now — not a couple of weeks hence when the trucks start rolling to pick up trash. Set the example for your neighborhood by getting with it this week.

Marquis Childs Fight In The Power Commission

WASHINGTON — By a turn of events he could hardly have foreseen a short time ago President Johnson has been taken off a singularly embarrassing hook.

Chairman Joseph C. Swidler has informed the White House that he does not seek reappointment to that office when his term on the Federal Power Commission expires on June 22. Swidler, a strong consumer-minded commissioner, had already become the center of furious tugging and hauling within the powerful gas and oil industry. Not only his decisions but his forthright speeches had angered the moguls of the big corporations.

THE PRESIDENT had just been through the same kind of struggle that promised to build up over Swidler. The target of the gas companies was Charles R. Ross whose term on the FPC expired 10 months ago and who had been serving pending White House action. Many of Mr. Johnson's long-time friends in the oil industry implored him to supplant Ross, a Republican and a Vermontor who has the strong support of Sen. George Aiken of that state.

But, defying these pressures from close to home, the President reappointed Ross to another five-year term. He twinned this with the appointment of Carl E. Bage, a Chicago railroad attorney, to the FPC. Bage, a Republican, one of the candidates on a list submitted by Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, is acceptable to the industry.

AT THE TIME he made the announcement the President said with some irritation that he wanted judges, men who were neutral, rather than advocates for either the consumer or the producers and distributors of electric power and gas. Those familiar with the history of the FPC insist this is contrary to the concept behind its origin under Theodore Roosevelt. TR saw the FPC as standing guard for consumers who had no powerful lobby in Washington to protect them.

IN HIS LAST year in the White House President Eisenhower got embroiled in a sharp controversy over this very question. He had announced he would not reappoint William R. Connole to the commission. Connole had been a strong supporter of the consumer.

Protests came from 27 states and most large cities in the North where, since 1945, natural gas has become the predominant fuel. Eisenhower nominated to the commission a man who had no previous experience in utility regulation or rate-making. He said he was not interested in whether the individual was on the side of consumers or of industry but merely whether he was able.

WHILE HE IS off the Swidler hook the commission will soon decide the Permian Basin case, involving 400 companies in a part of Texas and New Mexico. This accords with an order of the Supreme Court which held that regulation of the producer as well as the distributor was necessary if the consumer was to be protected.

Given the present balance of the commission the Permian Basin decision will in all probability be for regulation. An examiner's report has spelled out a pattern of rates for gas that is found coincidentally with oil and for gas into which independent investment for exploration has gone. But, with another balance favoring industry or with neutrals easily swayed, such a decision could be rapidly chipped away.

Billy Graham

Everyone in our high school cheats. Some cheat on tests and they all copy each other's homework. What can I do?

P.C. Cheating in school, and dishonesty in business is all too prevalent, but I cannot believe that everyone in your school cheats. Because you are in the minority you are tempted to feel that you are alone.

The prophet Elijah once became discouraged because he thought he was the only good man left. He gave up the struggle for righteousness and hid in a cave. The Bible tells us that there "the word of the Lord came to him, and said unto him, 'What doest thou here, Elijah?'"

And he said "... the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant—and I even I only, am left"; (I Kings 19:10). Then the Lord told Elijah to go back and get busy about the work he was supposed to do and he would discover that there were seven thousand godly men in Israel.

We should always remember that God does not need many on His side. In every nation, in every age, the great advances in religion, and government, and civic life have been brought about through the efforts of a small minority.

Return to your classroom and look for the others who are honest. You will find quite a few. Unite with them to establish an honor system in your school.

Sold Cheap

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—Manhattan Island may have come cheap from the Indians, but this Ohio River town was once sold for $5.

For his services to Virginia during the Revolutionary War, George Rogers Clark was given 100,000 acres of Western Kentucky land. About 37,000 acres lay at the junction of the Ohio and Tennessee Rivers, where Paducah now stands.

Clark's estate was turned over to a Louisville man to administer when he died, and the 37,000-acre tract was sold to Clark's brother for $5.

Wind Wanes

BELGRADE (AP) — The Bora, dread storm wind of the upper Adriatic, is slowly losing its force, weather experts say.

In the past four years the average force of the Bora has dropped steadily, and the number of windy days per year has been the lowest in a quarter century.

J. A. Livingston Imponderables In Economy And Steel Negotiations

A business test lies immediately ahead. The May 1 deadline in steel is at hand.

If there is a strike, it will indicate how strong the economy is — without steel; if no strike, it will indicate the extent to which steel-users have overstocked on steel.

In either case, a temporary change in the economic pace is certain.

As noted here last week, steel mills have been "pushing" capacity. Less efficient plants have been utilized to meet the rush demand of automobile, appliance and other companies. Steel executives are anxious to take these plants out of production. And they need a breather to repair and rehabilitate plants which have been overworked and undermaintained.

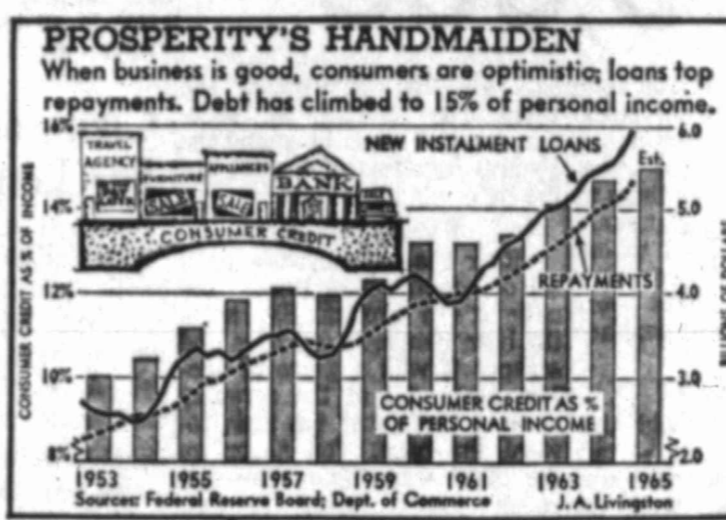

Until this test takes place, forecasts for the next few months are — at best — shots in the dark. True, consumer hopes are high, as the recent University of Michigan survey pointed. Incomes are at record level. Spending is prolific. Automobile sales have never been better. And the willingness of households to go into debt to buy is evidence of underlying confidence (see chart).

BIG IF REMAINS

But we don't know how balanced inventories are. Total inventories are up 4.6 per cent from a year ago to $110 billion. Sales are up 6 per cent to $72 billion. This means that inventories — relative to shipments — are down. This is always a good sign.

Even in durable goods, in which the pressure to accumulate stocks has been most marked, sales outpaced inventories in the last year — 8 per cent versus 6 per cent. What we don't know — and this will remain the big IF until a settlement is reached between the steel companies and the election-torn United Steelworkers of America — is how much of this increase in shipments was in anticipation of a strike.

Were retailers, wholesalers, and manufacturing companies themselves laying in supplies far above immediate needs? The rise in durable-goods inventories was far more rapid than in non-durable — 6 per cent versus 3 per cent. But then so was the rise in sales — 8 per cent versus 4 per cent.

AUTOMOBILE ENIGMA

A related imponderable is automobiles. How long can the present sales level — at a rate of more than 8,500,000 passenger cars a year — be sustained? A high sales-level is guaranteed into the changeover period to 1966 models. Auto schedules have already been set. If steel is available, it would be more costly to cut back output than to offer dealers extra incentives to move the cars.

But then what about 1967?

The standard estimate of the 1966 market in autos, based on scrappage and population growth, is 7.8 to 7.9 million cars. But Detroit will do better than that by at least a half million. What does this do to 1967?

Detroit economists reject the saying: "As autos go, so goes the nation." Instead, they say, "As goes consumer income, so go auto sales."

This emphasizes the need for a steel settlement. The economy is vulnerable to a slight disruption in shipments, sales and reorders. Psychology can sag rapidly from Prosperity Peak. After that it takes time to recoup pre-strike confidence, pre-strike habits of buying, selling and borrowing, pre-strike momentum.

CAPACITY IS TAXED

However, a new force may be in the making. At the stockholders meeting of American Telephone & Telegraph Co., Frederick R. Kappel, chairman, announced that construction outlays in 1965 would amount to $3,700,000,000, an increase of about $200,000,000 over the previous estimate.

He forecast that this level of expenditures would have to continue merely to keep up with normal growth in the demand for service. And, in answer to a reporter's question, he indicated that he was not preparing for an economic letdown in 1966.

A change is taking place in corporate spending. Heretofore, companies concentrated on cost-cutting equipment. Now, they're adding to capacity — because of the over-all growth in income and demand. This could be an important stimulus — a carry-through factor — in the event of a steel strike or inventory let-down.

Book Burner

Emperor Ch'ni Shi Huang Ti, who ruled China in the third century B. C., burned all classic books because he wanted history to begin with his own time.

Around The Rim —And Then There's Spring Fever

Read the other day that this is the season when a virulent disease strikes among young people.

It has been dubbed "scholastic adolescum" and has been known to attack children of all ages and on every economic and social level. The symptoms are always the same. The child awakens with a pain in the tummy, a headache, sore throat or he just plain doesn't feel well. What has puzzled scientists for years is that the virus only attacks on weekdays, and never on weekends or during summer vacations. Even on weekdays, the illness tends to vanish as the day progresses.

SPRING SEEMS to enhance the syndrome, and the more beautiful the day, the more sharp the morning pains.

Let me say that I used to suffer this disease, and never really got over it. There was, in my youth, an adjunct malady that might have been termed "absentminded hookibus." What it meant was that if the teacher called Mama and wanted to know why I wasn't in school, Mama had an idea that the place to look for me was on the banks of the creek. This was the only place where you could really cure an acute attack of the illness.

WELL, I SUFFERED scholastic adolescum and absentminded hookibus as long as I was tied to the formal educational process.

It developed, as I later tried to hold a job, that there are other maladies with remarkably similar symptoms.

There used to be one which some doctors called "granular moribundus," and one which the boss was sympathetic with until it dawned on him that this virus appeared on the opening day of the baseball season.

THERE HAS BEEN, among workers for a long time, another unexplained type of physical trouble which might be called "leisuritis longivitis." This almost always occurs the day before a vacation is supposed to terminate. The victim has no choice but to call the office, report the illness and plead necessity for extending the vacation two more days.

More recently, I have been troubled with two other strange types of physical setbacks. Purely against my own will, I have yet to see the time when I didn't develop "gardenus albergius" when I was summoned, either by wife or conscience, to get out and do some work among the lawn, flowerbeds and garden area. This is a sudden-striking sort of virus, and lasts usually as long as one can reach a firm resolve to get at the labors on the morrow. But it sure can hurt when you have it.

THE OTHER recurring disability is the one generally called "caninus fatigibus." It is so recurring that it can hit almost daily. I have heard that it is prevalent in the married male. It will spring forth full-bodied, when the lady of the house wants the male to do some menial chore.

What he answers is, "Honey, you know I'm dog tired after a long day at the office," not realizing that he is, in truth, a victim of caninus fatigibus. There is no cure for this except to avoid any and all physical exertion.

JUST SHOWS YOU how many strange ailments there are to attack the frail human body. You must remember that such bodies have been weakened ever since way back in the days of scholastic adolescum and absentminded hookibus. —BOB WHIPKEY

Art Buchwald The Great Unwashed

WASHINGTON—The real objection to student demonstrations in the United States, as far as I can discover, is not the politics of the students or what they're demonstrating against, but the fact that many of the demonstrators are unwashed and uncombed.

Just the other day Congressman Dowdy of Texas told the Daughters of the American Revolution at their 74th convention that their arrival in Washington was "a breath of fresh air" compared to the "rabble-rousers, beatniks, and bums who so recently have been descending on us."

MANY PEOPLE have been echoing Congressman Dowdy's words. "If they'd only take a bath," a friend told me, "I wouldn't care what they did."

Another man said, "I think if they really believed in America they'd shave." A lady who witnessed the White House Easter demonstrations said, "I don't think those girls shampooed their hair in a year."

And so it goes. There is nothing that disturbs a white collar worker more than somebody else with a dirty white collar. It is therefore my belief that if we could clean up our demonstrators there would be no objection to their demonstrating. For one thing, you know anybody who looks clean isn't going to be a Communist.

FOR ANOTHER, since cleanliness is so close to godliness, you know that a clean demonstrator believes in God, and that's all we ask of our students these days.

I talked to several of the students picketing the White House on the Easter week end and they agreed with me that cleanliness was quite a problem when you're demonstrating. "You ride all night on a bus," one student said, "so you're not going to wear your best clothes. Then you have to think in terms of sit-ins. You never know when you're going to be ordered to sit down. Most sidewalkers are pretty dirty, you know."

ANOTHER STUDENT agreed and also said, "You know, demonstrating is hard work and you work up quite a lot of perspiration carrying those signs over your head. Even if you did take a bath it wouldn't help."

A college co-ed in blue jeans said, "There's no sense putting up your hair because it gets all messed up if you get arrested."

"It isn't as if we're going to a prom," another co-ed added.

"But there are some pickets who look very neat," I said.

"OH, THOSE are FBI informers. They have to look neat or they'll ruin their image."

"Besides," the other co-ed added, "they're the only ones allowed to use the White House washroom."

"Then you're not against baths in principle?"

"Oh, no," a student said. "If they'd let me in a White House I'd take one right now."

"ME, TOO," another student said. "They must have more than one bath in there."

Only one student in the group said he wouldn't take a bath in the White House. "At least not until they stop bombing North Viet Nam."

David Lawrence Russians Want Better Life

WASHINGTON—Lots of items of international news are given prominence because they are dramatic or spectacular. Sometimes, however, a significant piece of news bobs up in the midst of a ponderous speech by a high official of a foreign government and it is given relatively brief mention, though it may shed a ray of light on the life of a nation.

FOR BURIED in a lengthy address by Premier Kosygin of the Soviet Union, for instance, was the announcement that the Russian people generally are going to be allowed now to have automobiles. This move is an effort to ease transportation bottlenecks and give consumers, as well as officials, a chance to get a private car. Many executives, including leading officials in Moscow, have been in a hurry. Some have been forced to use trucks illegally.

At last, the Kremlin has recognized that the people of the Soviet Union cannot any longer be denied the opportunity to ride in automobiles of their own. The prevailing rule heretofore has been that automobiles belong to the government and that only the capitalistic countries permit individuals to have private cars. The pressure, however, has become so great that something had to be done to relieve the demand for better transportation.

SOVIET PREMIER Kosygin, moreover, has finally told the state planning commission that the Khrushchev theory requiring everyone to travel by bus is no longer acceptable. Premier Kosygin directed the commission to get busy on a five-year plan which will permit privately owned automobiles.

The entire production of automobiles in Russia is now approximately 175,000 cars a year, while American auto production is in excess of seven million a year. But something is happening inside Russia. The press is calling for more automobiles. The service stations are too few, and keeping a car in good repair has been a constant worry. To prevent demand from rising too rapidly, prices are fixed at high levels. It costs approximately $4,400 in Moscow to buy a five-passenger sedan, and the average wage for a worker is about $110 a month.

IT IS EVIDENT that there is discontent inside Russia about the standard of living. Premier Kosygin also called for better housing, higher wages and more help for the nation's farmers. It is clear that word is leaking through into Russia about the better living conditions on the other side of the Iron Curtain, and especially what a lot of enjoyment for the family comes when an auto ride into the country or to visit friends and relatives is made possible.

The latest announcement of industrial growth shows that Russia isn't making much progress in improving the life of its citizens, though it is significant that the output of TV sets, washing machines and refrigerators is rising.

DESPITE THE talk of a possible war between the East and the West, there is one factor which is working toward a peaceful solution of the world's troubles. It is the demand by oppressed peoples for improvement in living conditions. Autocratic governments cannot stay in power if the discontent grows beyond control. Rulers in the past have realized that only by holding down the protests and complaints about the inconveniences of life can any semblance of order be maintained and revolution avoided.

Specialist Says Teenagers Are Good At Bookkeeping

AMARILLO (SC) — A farm management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service here says teenagers often make the best bookkeepers on a farm or ranch.

The specialist, James Murphree, says many farmers prefer to work on production problems rather than records, so he suggests they get their wives, teenage children or bookkeeping services to keep their farm records.

"Teenage children are often overlooked for this job," Murphree said, "yet they can do a top job and the experience will be valuable no matter what they do as adults."

Farm and ranch children learn to handle machinery and livestock and take responsibility for important chores, but Murphree believes few are ever given the job of keeping farm records.

He said the experience would enable teenagers to understand the economics of modern agricultural production, thus helping them decide whether they wanted to be farmers or ranchers when they are adults.

The farm management specialist believe it is almost impossible to have a successful farm or ranch without good records. He said a farmer's wife told him that the time spent on recordkeeping was worth $10 per hour to their farm income. Increased income came from wiser buying and selling, tax

Seniors Dedicate Annual To Sponsor

By DARLENE WRIGHT
An assembly was held Wednesday morning at Sands to dedicate the school annual, "The Mustang." The seniors dedicated the annual to Mr. Roland Mullins, senior class sponsor, for his guidance, patience, and encouragement in the classroom and in sports.

After the assembly, students who had already paid for their annuals were able to pick them up. There are a few extra annuals, and anyone who would like to purchase one may do so. They are being sold for $4.50 by the seniors.

The volleyball team played host to Highland Tuesday night. The Mustangs won four of the six games played. Highland was the winner of their district, and played in the regional tournament at HCJC this weekend.

Thursday afternoon the Sands volleyball team traveled to Westbrook to win two of the five games played. Westbrook also entered in the regional volleyball tournament. The Sands Mustangs drew a bye in the first round of the regional volleyball tournament and played their first game at 4 p.m. Friday.

Sands was well represented in the regional track meet held at HCJC Saturday. Those who competed were the 440-yard relay team consisting of Robert Bagwell, John Calvio, Alfonso Calvio, and Ricky Kemp; Ray Long in the discus; Ricky Kemp in the 100-yard dash; Joe Garfias and Oren Lancaster in the 880-yard run; and Larry Chapman in the 120-yard high hurdles, the 180-yard low hurdles, and the broad jump.

Senior Class Takes Trip

By LEITHA MASON
Coahoma's senior class left Wednesday morning at 4 a.m. for the annual senior trip. Sponsors for the trip are Mr. and Mrs. Rod Tiller, Mrs. Willa Smith, and Mr. Grady Tindol. The class went to the Mayan Dude Ranch first, which is near Austin and San Antonio. They stayed there for two days, and then went to San Antonio for a day and to Austin for one night. The class will return today.

The State FHA delegates, Donna Coates, Sarah Oakes, and Alice Denning, along with Mrs. Johnny Justiss, left Thursday morning for Dallas to attend the statewide FHA convention.

Members of the Student Council are still selling birthday calendars. They will not be selling them much longer, so if you have not bought yours yet, be sure to do so soon.

The track team left Friday for Lubbock to attend the regional meet. Boys who went were Eddie McHugh in the broad jump and 100-yard dash; Bobby Weaver in the 120-yard high hurdles; Mike Mosley in the 880-yard dash; and the mile relay team consisting of Eddie McHugh, Johnny Gibson, Marshall Williams, and Mike Mosley.

Tech's Annual Student Rodeo

Television personality Dan Blocker, alias "Hoss Cartwright," will appear along with top college cowboys and cowgirls from 12 schools at the 1965 Texas Tech Collegiate Rodeo. The rodeo will take place May 6-8 in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

New Mexico State University plans to defend its boys' division title, while Tech girls, who captured the 1964 title going away, is figured as a strong bid to repeat this year.

Other schools represented will include Sul Ross, Eastern New Mexico State University, Western New Mexico State University, South Plains College, Midwestern University, Oklahoma State University, Panhandle A&M College, Hardin-Simmons University, Texas Western College, and West Texas State University.

Hayley Mills Has The Natural Look

The "natural look" in make-up is back again, re-introduced by Hayley Mills.

Currently starring opposite her father, John Mills, and James MacArthur in "The Truth About Spring," coming Thursday to the Ritz Theatre, Hayley plays a young girl, meeting, falling in love and finally marrying her first boyfriend.

"It's still a young role," says Hayley, "but it's the most adult part I've ever played. The love scenes are sexy, but it's an understood sort of sex, if you know what I mean, nothing obvious that kind of hits you in the eye."

And the same thing might be said of Hayley's make-up and hairstyle. Her honey-blond hair is cut short and allowed to wave casually over her head. Her make-up, a light pancake to suit the bright sunshine and the brilliant film arcs, is honey-toned, too, and she wears no lipstick.

A little almond oil dusted on with a large spatulate brush, gives an attractive sheen to skin and lips and her eyelids are shadowed with the same blue as her eyes. No harsh lines are painted between the lashes but three dark brown coats of mascara lengthen and emphasize her naturally long lashes and her brows are brushed lightly with a little light brown mascara before they, too, receive the almond oil treatment.

Off-screen Hayley is going for the natural look too. She loves her new, soft eye make-up and wears a deep-toned pink lipstick only, she says, when she's feeling a little bit down. "Then a little extra bit of color gives you a marvelous lift," she observes. Otherwise, Hayley sensibly concentrates attention on those huge, corn-flower blue eyes which are one of her really startling features. She tends to wear a lot of blue and turquoise and has lately added a particularly attractive shade of deep lemon to her wardrobe which seems to reflect the color of her hair.

Hayley says that her most valuable beauty aid is a set of really good quality brushes, and she has brushes for everything, always made of natural bristle or hair.

As well as the obvious and basic essentials for good grooming—brushes, tooth brushes, clothes and shoe brushes (of which she always has at least two, usually three or four) Hayley uses a body brush regularly in the bath—"easier to handle and more stimulating to the skin than a wash cloth"—and uses a complexion brush instead of a face cloth. "It gets your skin really clean," she explains. "I always use a good, creamy soap, and lots of lather and when you get all the dust and grease off your skin it can't lodge in the pores and cause ugly blemishes. But, of course, it's very important to keep your brushes very clean too!"

HAILEY MILLS

All Hayley's make-up is applied with brushes. "You get a more natural look that way," she explains. "I learned how to use them in the make-up room at the studios and I'll never change now. You don't stretch the skin with a brush the way you can with your fingers."

For big occasions—like a premiere or opening when lots of bright arc lamps will tend to wash the color from her face—Hayley uses a light pancake make-up applied with a large, spatulate brush. She has a natural color in her cheeks and never needs to use rouge but lipstick, too is worn on these occasions and for this Hayley uses a small, flat square ended brush of camel hair with a long handle. "I find I have more control with a longer brush," she explains, "and I can get a clearer outline."

Eyeshadow, too, is applied with a brush and mascara with the traditional, small tooth-brush shaped type.

"The Truth About Spring," photographed in Technicolor, was produced by Alan Brown and directed by Richard Thorpe.

Raymond Williams Completes New Novel On Change

Raymond Williams, whose novel "Border Country" was so widely acclaimed on its appearance in 1962, has finished a second novel, "Second Generation," which Horizon Press will publish March 24.

Williams writes: "If you stand today, in Between Town Road, you can see either way: west to the . . . cathedral and colleges; east to the . . . motor works . . ." Picturing the academic life against a background of labor struggles, "Second Generation" reveals the movement of these different worlds with astonishing intimacy. As the story of a society whose structure encourages tensions and frustration, it explores the lives of men and women seemingly cut off from each other by social barriers; yet bound by hopes, the desire for self-fulfillment, the needs of love.

Williams is also the author of several other books, among them the celebrated "Culture of Society."

Cheyenne Autumn

Carroll Baker and Richard Widmark, who are starred with James Stewart, are shown here from a scene in "Cheyenne Autumn," a story of heartbreak for the Indians. The long but exciting Western is playing at the Ritz through Wednesday.

Metropolitan's Cavalcade Of American Art Dazzling

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—The enormous size and scope of the Metropolitan Museum of Art's collection of American paintings is demonstrated with a dazzle in its current special exhibit, "Three Centuries of American Painting."

It is the most comprehensive display of American pictures seen in New York in many years. It goes well beyond the Metropolitan's own show, "Life in America," in 1939, and the "Painting in America" exhibit at the Detroit Institute of Art in 1957.

425 PAINTINGS
There are 425 paintings dating from 1670 to 1963, together with a selection of sculpture, furniture and silver. These works fill 22 galleries in two parts of the museum. The show will continue through Oct. 17.

A comparison between the Metropolitan's 1939 effort and the present one brings out a significant change.

In 1939, the museum owned less than 20 per cent of the paintings in the exhibit. It borrowed the remainder from private collectors, other museums and historical societies.

This time it owns 396 of the paintings on display, having borrowed only 29.

But even this huge show presents only a fraction of what the Metropolitan has in its collections—more than 1,250 paintings by more than 600 artists.

More than 100 of these works have been added in the past five years. They range from two portraits by John Smibert, early in the 18th Century, to Ellsworth Kelly's hard-edge abstraction, "Blue Red Green," created in 1962-63.

OTHERS
Other recent acquisitions include 15 primitives, three Benjamin Wests, a Severin Roosen still life, a portrait of Andrew Jackson by John Wesley Jarvis and a Hans Hofmann abstraction.

The show also contains "one of the most important" American paintings acquired in many years—a large group portrait, "Mrs. Noah Smith and Her Children," 1798, by Ralph Earl. This was a recent gift of Edgar Williams and Bernice Cryslar Garbis.

The breadth of the museum's collections is demonstrated in many of the galleries, where multiple examples by a single artist are shown together.

Such group displays include John Singer Sargent 24, Winslow Homer 16, Gilbert Stuart 14, John S. Copley 10, Benjamin West 9, Thomas Sully 9, Thomas Eakins 7, Marsden Hartley 7, and 6 each by Thomas Cole, Eastman Johnson, Asher B. Durand and Georgia O'Keefe.

Of the relatively few paintings borrowed for this exhibit, several serve to complement museum holdings. For example, the Thomas Sully portrait of Queen Victoria, lent by Arthur A. Houghton Jr., the museum's president. The Metropolitan has owned since 1914 a small oil sketch which Sully made as a study for the portrait, and the two are hung together for the first time in 125 years.

BORROWED

The other borrowed items show the work of 12 artists who are not represented in the institution's catalog—the so-called "Freakie Limmer," John Greenwood, Reuben Moulthrop, William Jennys, Joshua Johnston, George Catlin, Fitz Hugh Lane, John F. Francis, and four artists of the 20th Century, Man Ray, Jasper Johns, Robert Rauschenberg and Mark Rothko.

The museum owns no American paintings of the 17th Century, but for this occasion private collectors have lent three portraits of the children of Robert

U.S. Issues Colorful Stamp On Magna Carta

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

The 5-cent Magna Carta commemorative postage stamp will feature an unusual design for U.S. stamps. It will show a highly distinctive rendition of the conflict between King John and his rebellious barons. A top panel will depict a procession of barons with banners flying. The lower panel will display the crown in black, thus symbolizing the triumph of people over the King.

The new stamp, marking the 750th anniversary of the great charter as the basis of English and American common law, will have its first-day ceremonies in Jamestown, Va., on June 15.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations may send their addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Jamestown, Va., 23081. The envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers Magna Carta Stamp." Requests must be postmarked not later than June 15.

Tunisia will honor the ninth anniversary of its independence with a new set of airmails, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The stamps depict birds of Tunisia in their natural habitat printed in multicolor. The set will be the first in a series of "Birds in Tunisia" stamps. The 25 millimes shows two birds in a species called "hoo-poe-lark." The 55 m illustrates the "northern great gray shrike." The 100 m pictures a finch. The 500 m depicts the houbara bustard. This latter bird, found in the high plateau lands, is said to prefer running to flying and seldom emits any sound.

Norway has announced the issuance of a set of two new stamps to honor the centenary of the foundation of the International Telecommunication Union. The 60 ore and the 90 ore stamps bear designs which represent technical symbols of Norwegian communications systems.

Belgium has issued a new 1 franc stamp to mark the centenary of the birth of Paul Hymans (1865-1941). As the leader of the Liberal Party he was well known in the early part of this century. He was ambassador to Great Britain from 1915 to 1917 and represented Belgium at the Paris Peace Conference in 1919. Hymans was the first presiding officer of the League of Nations in 1920. The new stamp has Hymans' portrait.

Author Considers Science With Tongue In Cheek

THE WORM RETURNS.

Edited by James V. McConnell. Prentice Hall, $3.95.

"Today, science stands fair to join religion, motherhood and the flag as a domain so sacrosanct and so sanctimonious that leg-pulling isn't allowed, levity is forbidden, and smiling is scowled at. Should science ever become such a domain, of course, you can write it off as a lost cause."

Thus McConnell defines the basic reason for what's behind this book. It is a selection of science-spoofing papers, verses and cartoons which have appeared in an odd little publication called "The Worm Runner's Digest."

The Digest itself is an outgrowth of a mimeographed bit of nonsense that psychologist McConnell and some of his colleagues began sending around to explain certain experiments on flatworms.

So what we have here is an opportunity to share the In Group humor of sober researchers in their more volatile moments.

Many of these straight-faced essays are wildly flippancy take-offs on the jargon, methodology, narrow viewpoint and rigid conservatism of the experimental laboratory. There also is a dizzy exploration of formal logic's absurdities. With a bow to Lewis Carroll, there is a fantasy on "Alice's Adventures in Evolutionland." McConnell himself contributes a very sharp satire called "Learning Theory."

The book succeeds very well in demonstrating, as the editor puts it, "that a scientist can be both half-serious and half-wit."

(Some readers may recall another dazzling and delicious example of In Group humor—in this case, dealing with the nuttiness of literary criticism—that first was published in 1963, "The Pooch Perplex" by Frederick C. Crews. He set up the idea of reviewing the Winnie-the-Pooh story, and then aped the foolish fluff that a whole menagerie of critics might very well have written on such a subject. The book is mentioned here because there is word that Dutton has just issued it in soft cover at $1.15. —Miles A. Smith)
