

DEAR ABBY

Not The Tie That Binds

DEAR ABBY: One of the girls who works with my husband gave him a tie last Christmas. He knows that I don't particularly care for the girl, in addition to which it's about the worst-looking tie I have ever seen. My husband has fairly good taste so he knows that tie is positively hideous, but he wears it constantly just to get my goat. Any suggestions?

BURNING IN ARCADIA
DEAR BURNING: Yes, ignore it. It's not worth the aggravation. Besides, it's HIS neck.

DEAR ABBY: Something has to be done and fast, or my daughter's life will be ruined. She is four years old, and the only grandchild on both sides of the family. My problem: How do I keep my parents and in-laws from spoiling her rotten? Whenever she goes to one of her grandparents' homes, she gets whatever she wants, even if I say NO! They give her sweets any time she asks for them, let her skip her nap, and give her the run of the place. She does all the things I don't let her do at home. She thinks of "Mother" as the person who spoils her fun and always says NO to her. This is making a nervous wreck of me. It's gotten so she won't even mind me at home any more. She has me where she wants me. Sometimes I wonder who is the parent and who is the child. What can be done?

A NERVOUS WRECK
DEAR WRECK: Apparently you are still the "child" where your parents and in-laws are concerned. It's time you grew up and assumed the role of parent to your daughter. Continue to say NO to her when it's in her best interests. And learn how to say NO, NO, NO to your parents and in-laws when they undermine your efforts to discipline your child. You'll need your husband's support. But if you must do it alone, do it. And start today.

DEAR ABBY: When someone wrote asking you why they made stretch pants in sizes 18 and 20 when women who required those sizes looked so ridiculous in them, you answered, "Manufacturers will make anything they think they can sell."

How right you were, Abby. I thought I had seen everything when I saw MATERNITY STRETCH PANTS, featuring a let-out adjustable waistband. Then I saw an ad in a magazine for MATERNITY WEDDING GOWNS. What next? FLABBERGASTED

Jaycees Meet Elect Slate

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A.J. Carubbi Jr. of Pampa, Tex., was elected president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce Saturday at its convention in El Paso coliseum.

He was one of five state programming vice presidents for the organization during the past year.

Vice presidents elected for the 1965-66 term are Mickey Bass, El Paso; Bill Hart, Brownwood; Tom Woody, Denton; Dan Clinton, Houston; and Bob Castella, Richland Hills.

The election was the last formal business before the state convention docket with an inaugural banquet and ball ending the year's activities.

Next year's convention city will be Houston. Fort Worth was selected for 1967.

Air Crash Dead Include Texan

TOKYO (AP)—A Fort Worth man was among six airmen killed Sunday when a C130 Hercules crashed while approaching Korat Air Base near Bangkok.

News Conference Set For Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson will hold a news conference Tuesday in the White House, and live radio and television broadcast will be permitted. No time has been set.

Johnson said more than a month ago he would have about one news conference a month with advance notice. This is the first such conference since then.

Americans Pull Passport Rush

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rapidly rising passport applications indicated today that more Americans than ever before will travel abroad this year.

This is despite — and some say partly because of — President Johnson's effort to discourage the outpouring of U.S. tourist dollars overseas.

As part of his campaign to curb the gold drain, Johnson is plugging "see the U.S.A." vacation trips. "Foreign travel should be encouraged when we can afford it, but not while our payments position remains urgent," he said Feb. 10.

According to preliminary estimates here, about 2.2 million Americans went abroad in 1964. This figure, a new high, does not count travel to Canada and Mexico which are considered within the dollar area.

The travel count for 1965 won't be in until next year. But applications for passports are a signal of what to expect — and business is booming for the State Department's passport issuers.

The latest cumulative statistics show that for the first nine months of the fiscal year which will end June 30, passport applications ran about 15 per cent ahead of a year ago. This spring the increase has been higher than that — about one-quarter ahead of the 1964 level.

At this rate, the calendar 1965 total of overseas trips by Americans could run well over 2.5 million. Officials figure the travelers' dollar outlays could exceed last year's $3 billion, enough to raise the U.S. deficit on tourism by $200 million. The gap was $1.6 billion in 1964.

VARIED REASONS
A variety of reasons are reported behind the travel surge, among them Johnson's balance-of-payments campaign.

The President's action on travel so far has been confined mainly to persuasion. But some tourists apparently figure that Johnson will get tougher, and they want to get going before the government lowers the boom on pleasure trips.

Other causes of increased travel are believed to include continued prosperity, the population growth and the widening interest of Americans in foreign

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 22®. At all drug counters.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, both vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ1076432 ♥J654 ♣J
West North East South
1 ♠ 2 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid?
A.—Pass. Even though it might prove that two spades would be the best contract for your side, one cannot escape the conclusion that you will have your hands full persuading partner of that fact. By the time you have succeeded in convincing him, the tariff will be exorbitant. Pass and let nature take its course.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ8 ♥QJ8632 ♦7 ♣Q84
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass 1 ♥ Pass Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts, one more than is necessary to overcall. Such a bid can hardly be misconstrued by partner who must realize that the original pass limited your holding. A mere reopening bid of one heart could be made on a great deal less.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠AK9 ♥J10752 ♦A986 ♣K
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♥ 1 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid?
A.—Even though partner made a mere overcall you should not be willing to ignore slam possibilities. A jump to four hearts would not do justice to this holding. If your answer was three hearts, you have flunked the exam ignominiously, for such a bid (when partner did not open the bidding) is not even forcing. The approved call is two diamonds, a cue bid forcing to game.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠J94 ♥QJ843 ♣K9852
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass 1 NT Pass Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. You have more to lose than gain by bidding. Remember one of your opponents has 16 points. The other may have as many as seven.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠AK109742 ♥QJ1063 ♦5 ♣Q
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♥ 1 ♠ ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Do not make the mistake of doubling. The auction will never rest there, for both West and your partner are short of spades and one of them is sure to run. This hand is a potential misfit and the soundest strategy is to pass and await further developments.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠A103 ♥10 ♦642 ♣AJ10754
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
3 ♥ Pass 4 ♣ Pass
4 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. While it is abnormal to give partner a preference with a singleton, his jump rebid indicated at least a good six card suit. Furthermore there is no better fit in the minors and a 19 trick contract will be a wiser choice than one for 11 on this relative misfit.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠A9 ♥AK107 ♦K10963 ♣42
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ 2 ♣ 2 ♣ 3 ♣
What do you bid now?
A.—Three diamonds. While this hand would not normally be considered strong enough for a free bid in the minors and a 19 trick contract has shown a hand of game proportions when he overcalled West's two club bid with the dramatic bid of two spades. It would waste a round of bidding for you to fail to show your second suit.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠5 ♥K6542 ♦K103 ♣A1094
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠
Pass Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Two clubs. This may seem rather on the timid side, but a reopening bid is not necessary. By reopening the bidding after partner's second round pass you have indicated at least a fair hand. A three-club bid is out, for we treat that as forcing to game.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠J94 ♥QJ843 ♣K9852
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass 1 NT Pass Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. You have more to lose than gain by bidding. Remember one of your opponents has 16 points. The other may have as many as seven.

Floodwaters Roll Through Business Area

By The Associated Press

Muddy floodwater rolled through an industrial area of Rock Island, Ill., today as volunteers labored to keep the swirling Mississippi River from rushing into a residential section.

City officials feared a three-mile earthen dike would break, sending the water into a 300-home housing project of 1,200 residents.

The floodwaters, which have driven more than 60,000 persons from their homes in three states, were fed by heavy rains over the weekend.

WORST TO COME

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the worst is still to come.

The flood crest of the Mississippi moving downstream from Dubuque, Iowa, will combine with the flow from tributaries to produce more floods by next weekend, the Weather Bureau said.

The floods will occur from Keokuk, Iowa, through Hannibal, Mo., the bureau said. "This will be a critical flood situation for the entire area and local officials and the public should take steps to prepare for the rises."

Machines May Replace Braceros

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The government's decision to cut the flow of seasonal foreign farm labor to the United States in order to provide more jobs for domestic labor will probably also lead to increased farm mechanization.

There may be fewer jobs in the vegetable crops industry, but jobs that will require greater skills and offer more permanency at higher pay.

Growers have maintained that the domestic labor supply is inadequate, especially in the peak harvest seasons. They have counted on the availability of foreign labor to supplement the domestic force. With this assurance gone, they should be expected to turn elsewhere — to mechanization.

BIGGEST INDUSTRY

In California, where the $3.6-billion-a-year agricultural business is the state's biggest single industry, growers are looking ahead four or five years to the day when machines will replace most of the human labor employed today. Already cotton, once the biggest user of hand labor, is almost fully mechanized.

The trend has extended to vegetable crops.

For years tomatoes were harvested solely by laborers. Today about 20 machines bring in part of the state's rich crop. Each replaces 50 migrant laborers but provides permanent jobs for 14 to 20 men. Some progress also has been made in developing harvesters for melons, asparagus and lettuce.

For the time being, however, most growers depend almost completely on manual labor.

Until the 14-year-old Public Law 78 expired last December, foreign laborers could be counted on by the U.S. growers using them. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz is now considering use of the Immigration and Nationality Act, which permits a limited number to enter the country for temporary work providing the need is established.

Troubled With Getting Up Nights, Pains in Back, Hips, Legs, Nervousness, Tiredness.

If you are a victim of the above symptoms, the trouble may be traceable to Glandular Inflammation... a condition that very commonly occurs in men of middle age or past and is often accompanied by despondency, emotional upset and other mental reactions.

Although many people mistakenly think surgery is the only answer to glandular inflammation, there is now a non-surgical time-tested treatment available.

Non-Surgical Treatments

This New Free Illustrated BOOK tells about the modern, mild, Non-Surgical treatment for Glandular Inflammation and that the treatment is backed by a Lifetime Certificate of Assurance. Many men from all over the country have taken the NON-SURGICAL treatment and have reported it has proven effective.

The Non-Surgical treatment described in this book requires no painful surgery, hospitalization or long period of convalescence. Treatment takes but a short time and the cost is reasonable.

Car Mechanic Ranks Expand

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry has embarked on a 10-year program to provide an additional 600,000 trained mechanics to service the nation's expanding auto fleet.

Chrysler Corp. was the first to jump into the program when it teamed with the federal government last month to develop a new, intensive nationwide complex of mechanic recruitment and training.

The Chrysler program, made possible through the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962, offered dealers a chance to get in on the ground floor of a mechanic training program.

DETAILS PLAN

V. E. Boyd, Chrysler vice president and group executive, summarized the Chrysler-federal program this way in an interview:

"Each one of our cooperating dealers will employ the number of trainees he desires in his dealership on a fulltime apprenticeship basis, paying apprentice wages at a rate 50 per cent of the standard mechanic's rate."

"At the same time, the government will provide trained instructors at its expense working in central places such as a high school where the trainee will receive formal instructions in auto maintenance and repair."

ATTEND SESSIONS

"The trainee will attend these sessions two nights a week for his first year on the job. The government also will reimburse

Violence Toll At 24

By The Associated Press

Twenty-four persons died violently in Texas over the weekend, with traffic accidents claiming the lives of 19 victims.

The Associated Press death toll started at 6 p.m. Friday and continued through midnight Sunday.

The death list included:

Henry A. Sramek, 48, of Victoria, was killed Sunday night when he was thrown from his pickup truck on Texas 185 south of Victoria.

Mrs. Betty Louise Friedman, 37, died after she was stabbed 23 times with an ice pick at her home in San Antonio Sunday. A 28-year-old Pensacola, Fla., man was being held in her death.

The body of Mrs. Velma Ford Graham, 69, was found in a private lake 16 miles northwest of Tyler Sunday. A justice of the peace returned a verdict of death by drowning.

FATAL COLLISION

Carl Rousey, 54, of Honey Grove, was killed Saturday when his car and a pickup truck collided on Texas 34 between Honey Grove and Ladonia.

A one-car accident on US 377 north of Kelly in Tarrant County Saturday killed Cwindell Lee Jones, 20, of Fort Worth.

David George, 85, was struck and killed by a car as he walked along Farm Road 747 near Jacksonville Saturday.

Raymond Martinez Caspanada, 44, of Dallas drowned Saturday in the Elm Fork of the Trinity River while on an outing with his family.

Three persons were killed Friday night in a head-on collision west of Eelder in South Texas. They were Martin Cardona Jr., 29, of San Antonio; Blanche Patislo, 38, of Seguin; and Gerry Lambert, 21, of Houston.

Mrs. Franke Moore, 39, of Fort Worth, was killed Friday in a two-car collision four miles east of Stephenville. Ten persons were injured.

BURN TO DEATH

Two men burned to death in the wreckage of their car early Saturday in Newton County in Southeast Texas. They were Herman Drue Medley Jr., 20, and Michael Gordon McMahon, 20, both of Burkeville.

Lloyd Lee Burrows, 37, of Big Spring died Sunday in a one-car accident 16 miles southwest of Snyder.

Theodore M. Weatherly, 21, of Woodsboro, was killed Sunday by a hit-and-run driver on the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike in Fort Worth.

David Michael Alford, 17, of Pearsall died Sunday in a one-car accident near La Pryor in South Texas.

CRASHES POLE

Charles Durwood Gunter, 45, of Euless died Sunday when his car crashed into a light pole at Hurst.

James W. Warren, 52, of McKinney was killed Saturday in a two-car accident at Irving, west of Dallas.

Rick Howard Davis, 21, of Austin died Sunday of injuries suffered in a one-car accident Saturday a mile northwest of Austin.

James Edward Guy, 16, of Austin died Saturday of knife wounds suffered in an altercation on the lawn of his home. Another youth was charged with his death.

James M. Weeks, 23, home on leave from the Navy to visit his parents in Dallas, died Saturday in a hunting accident near Wolfe City.

KILLS DRIVER

An 18-wheel tractor-trailer truck loaded with chemicals crashed north of Boerne Saturday morning, killing the driver, Caswell Lee Williford, 56, of Corpus Christi.

Virginia Ann Miller, 15, of the Houston suburb of Bellaire, was killed Saturday in a three-car smashup on US 75 just north of Leona. Five other persons were injured.

QUAD CITIES

The Quad Cities area in Illinois and Iowa with a combined population of 250,000 was the prime danger spot.

In Rock Island, workers labored around the clock to reinforce the earthen dam, the only protection for the housing complex. Most residents had been evacuated after a warning from Mayor Forrest Muhleman that water was seeping through the dike. More than 1,000 volunteers worked with Army engineers to reinforce the levee.

Another dike broke in Rock Island Sunday, covering the equivalent of a 54-block industrial area with six feet of water. The 400 residents had been evacuated.

LATEST READING

The latest reading of the waters in Rock Island, a city of 51,000 in the northwestern corner of Illinois near the Iowa border, was 21 feet. Flood stage is 15 feet. A crest of 22½ feet is expected Tuesday or Wednesday.

One-third of East Moline's 2,000 residents have been evacuated.

More than 20 blocks of the city's Watertown area are under water.

An official said that 166 of 188 houses in an East Moline housing authority were inundated.

Volunteers reinforced an emergency dike to hold the flood waters from Moline's water plant. Officials feared the quarter-mile dike might break, knocking out the water supply for the city's 48,000 residents.

Mayor James Arndt of Moline urged residents to store enough water for a week.

Civil Disobedience OK'd By Church (Rights Cases)

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP)—A Negro delegate says endorsement of civil rights demonstrations by the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church is "something that I never thought could happen here in the South."

The delegate, O. C. Parker of Kansas City, commented after the assembly endorsed over the weekend the use of demonstrations, sit-ins and civil disobedience in the Negro's drive for civil rights.

But the assembly rejected economic boycotts such as recently proposed by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in the drive for Negro voting rights in Alabama.

A move was defeated 311-126 to block a speech by Dr. King at a church conference here in August.

The civil rights statement was approved 238-154, but the boycott section lost 281-121.

The chairman of the committee which drafted the statement, the Rev. William Logan of Austin, Tex., said it did not encourage civil disobedience. It emphasized that Christians should obey the law, but if led by conscience into disobedience they should willingly accept the penalty.

The six-day meeting closes today after reports by the church's judicial council and by the committee on Christianity and health.

Progress.

The funny-looking box on the right is what station wagons looked like in 1920. This one sat 12 people comfortably, it had 11 huge windows to look out of, and 2 walk-in doors.

The box shape held 174 cubic feet. (About twice the load of most modern wagons.)

And the wheel base was only 97 inches, so you could park it in small spots.

The object below is what station wagons look like today.

Most of them only hold about half the people of the old timer. And about half the load.

They take a lot of room to park, and a lot of gas to run.

But then you get lots of shiny chrome and sculptured lines to polish.

They should've quit while they were ahead.

The funny-looking "box" on the left is a Volkswagen Station Wagon.

It seats 9 people comfortably, has 21 windows, and 5 doors.

The box shape holds 170 cubic feet. (About twice the load of most regular wagons.)

And it parks in small spots.

We've improved everything on the Volkswagen from the engine to the turn signals.

But it still looks almost the same.

(Sometimes you make progress by standing perfectly still.)

Several Shot; Boy Sniper Kills Himself

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (AP) — A 16-year-old boy, hidden by waving grass on a windy hillside, fired down with a high-powered rifle on passing cars on busy U.S. 101 Sunday.

Michael Andrew Clark killed two persons, injured 11, engaged officers in a rattling, 1½-hour gunfire exchange and then took his own life by shooting himself between the eyes.

Authorities said the sniper's parents, Forrest and Joyce Clark of Long Beach, 200 miles south of the battle scene, reported the boy had run away from home Saturday night in the family car.

IDENTIFY BODY
Sunday afternoon, the couple identified their son's clothes, broken eyeglasses, a cigarette lighter emblazoned with a Playboy bunny emblem — and his body.

Officers quoted Mrs. Clark as saying: "I just can't understand it. I'd like to talk to those poor people who were shot at. But what can I say?"

Killed by bullets from the youth's 30-06 Swedish Mauser deer rifle, equipped with a telescopic sight, were Charles Christopher Hogan, 21, of San Luis Obispo, and Joel W. Kocob, 28, of Los Angeles.

Of the wounded, two were critically hurt—Bill Reida, 42, of Norwalk, shot in the neck and shoulder, and his son, Kevin Dean, 5, shot in the head. The child was in critical condition after brain surgery at Santa Barbara's Cottage Hospital, 160 miles south. Another son, Kim Allen, 3, also was shot in the head but not seriously hurt. Two daughters, Kelly Ann, 8, and Susan, 8 months, escaped injury.

SWAP GUNFIRE
The gunfire exchange with officers began after the boy shot into the Reida car. Lucille Reida, 44, who suffered minor wounds from flying glass and metal, pushed her husband aside and drove the car out of range. She told officers later, she had never driven before.

An unidentified truck driver drove the Reida family eight miles north to a hospital in Santa Maria, 180 miles north of Los Angeles.

Then, more than 50 Santa Barbara County sheriff's deputies, Santa Maria policemen and California Highway Patrol officers converged on the scene, after halting traffic for several miles on either side of the battle area.

The youth by then had hit seven vehicles, including Reida's, a police car, two trucks and one of three ambulances that raced to the scene. Seven other persons were wounded by bullets, bullet fragments or flying glass, none seriously.

Officers fired from behind a barricade provided by truck driver Lloyd Ritchie, 41, of Van Nuys, who crouched low over his wheel and drove his oil-toler rig directly into the youth's rifle range.

PRAISE DRIVER
Sheriff's detective Mike Swan termed Ritchie "a wonderful citizen, one of the bravest men I've ever met."

Highway Patrol Lt. John Lowe described the scene this way: "The sniper was about 50 yards west of passing cars, shooting down from a 45-degree slope. The grass is about 2 feet high and we couldn't see him till he'd stick his head up to fire."

MUFFLED SHOT
"Finally the sniper stood up, waved, yelled something and dropped back into the grass. We heard a muffled shot and thought he had shot himself. Other officers crawled up the embankment through the grass. He had."

The officers found Clark, face down on the slope, a bullet between his eyes, his rifle beside him.

Mrs. Clark said her son, a high school junior, had left home about 8 p.m. Saturday, taking $15 from her purse, $95 of his own money and the parents' gasoline credit cards.

The parents told officers they didn't know then he had taken the rifle, but Clark said, "I don't think he had shot that rifle for three years."

Police Capt. Robert D. Sudlow said the parents described their son as "a good boy, a good student, with no mental problems."

Texas State Bar Head Is Speaker

LUFKIN (AP)—The president of the Texas State Bar issued a call today for the preservation of "freedom under law" in light of what he called federal encroachment into affairs of local government.

Joyce Cox, a Houston attorney, made his remarks in a speech prepared for a luncheon meeting of the Lufkin Rotary Club.

He said one way to preserve freedom would be to recognize "the need for taking judges out of politics."

Viet Reds Grow 'More Flagrant'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today Communist aggression against South Viet Nam has become "more flagrant and unconstrained"—but added there is no military requirement for the use of nuclear weapons.

While the United States is holding open the option of using small nuclear weapons if it becomes necessary, McNamara told a news conference, "no useful purpose can be served by speculation on remote contingencies."

USE IF NEEDED
It became known during the weekend that the administration feels it should use whatever weapons are needed to end Communist aggression against South Viet Nam.

McNamara made his statement at a nationally televised news conference in which he reviewed nearly three months of U.S. bombing attacks against roads, bridges, railroads and other military installations in north Viet Nam, all designed to cut down the infiltration of men and supplies into the South.

"The carefully controlled air strikes will continue as necessary to impede the infiltration and persuade the North Vietnamese leadership that their aggression against the South must stop," McNamara said in a statement.

Until now, U.S. officials have stopped short of saying that any formal units of North Viet Nam's army have entered the war South of the 17th Parallel.

McNamara's confirmation today followed an earlier announcement from Saigon that at least one battalion of the North Vietnamese army has infiltrated into South Viet Nam and is fighting there as a unit.

IDENTITIES UNIT
McNamara identified the North Vietnamese unit as the 2nd Battalion of the 101st Regiment.

ment, 325th Division. He said evidence accumulated in the last month has confirmed the presence of that battalion in northwest Kontum Province in the South Vietnamese highlands.

Recent captures, he said, indicate that approximately 75 per cent of those who have infiltrated in the last year were born in North Viet Nam.

Many of the recent captives, McNamara said, "are young draftees called into infiltration units that marched south through Laos in units 500 to 600 strong."

RED SUPPORT
"It is clear that the Communists are determined to keep up this support despite the drying up of the supply of former Southerners who were ordered North in 1954," McNamara said.

He was referring here to many natives of South Viet Nam who migrated to Communist North Viet Nam in an exchange of population following the 1954 Geneva conference which partitioned the country.

An estimated million Northerners went South at about the same time.

McNamara said the clandestine infiltration of personnel and materiel from North Viet Nam into South Viet Nam "continues to play a vital role in providing the Viet Cong with the leadership, technical competence, weapons, ammunitions required to carry on the insurgency against the government of Viet Nam," McNamara said.

Missouri Supreme Court Judge Dies

HOUSTON (AP) — Justice S. P. Dalton of the Missouri Supreme Court died today in St. Luke's Hospital. Dalton, 72, underwent surgery earlier this month to correct an artery defect.

Court Agrees To Rule In Charges Dismissal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review the dismissal by a federal judge of major charges in the killing of three civil rights workers in Philadelphia, Miss.

U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox, in Jackson, Miss., dismissed a felony indictment against 17 defendants. He also dismissed three of four counts of a misdemeanor indictment against 14 of the 17 men.

VICTIMS LISTED
The rights workers were Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner, both white and from New York, and James Chaney, a Negro of Meridian, Miss. They were killed the night of June 21, 1964. Their bodies were found under an earthen dam near Philadelphia, Miss., Aug. 4, 1964. All had been shot.

In dismissing the felony indictment, Cox said it did not state an offense against the United States and his court therefore had no jurisdiction. The 17 had been accused under this indictment of conspiring to use violence to deny the rights of the three workers by killing them.

Appealing directly to the Supreme Court, the Justice Department asked a quick ruling that the conspiracy charge could be prosecuted under a statute passed in 1870. The department also said Cox's dismissal of the misdemeanor counts was erroneous.

The Supreme Court, in announcing it would rule in the case, did not say when arguments would be heard. Under the tribunal's present schedule, the case would not be called before the fall term, beginning Oct. 4.

Shifting Influences In Russia Eyed

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet leadership has shown little outward change in the six months since Nikita Khrushchev fell but there are indications of shifting influences in the new collective leadership.

The subtlety and obscurity of Kremlin shifts now are in marked contrast to the first six months after the previous "cult of personality," when Joseph Stalin died in 1953.

Then, Lavrenti Beria, head of the secret police, dropped out of the collective leadership with a bullet in his head. Georgi Malenkov lost the key job of Communist party first secretary to Khrushchev. This began Malenkov's slide into oblivion, and Khrushchev's rise to supreme personal power.

Collective leadership was quietly forgotten.

REMAINS STRONG
This time, the emphasis on collective leadership has remained strong — perhaps a bit too strong to suit some leaders.

The spotlight naturally falls on Leonid I. Brezhnev, the party first secretary, because the party runs the Soviet Union. And Alexei N. Kosygin naturally gets attention as the head of the government, especially when he goes abroad.

There have been occasions when it would have been entirely logical for one of them to step out front. Neither did. A couple of pictures from two months ago. Since then they have appeared primarily as part of the collective.

LACK POWER?
A theory among non-Communist observers here is that some other members of the collective are reining them in. This theory, for which there is no support beyond appearances, says Brezhnev and Kosygin lack enough power to do as they please.

The space venture of cosmonauts Pavel Belyayev and Alexei Leonov may have shown how things work in the collective leadership.

Breshnev made a radiotelephone call to them in orbit. It was not the personal conversation that Khrushchev used to have with cosmonauts. Brezhnev read a message from the party and government.

The careful lineup for photographs of that call showed Brezhnev flanked by dour-looking Kosygin and by Mikhail Suslov, the party secretary who delivered the indictment leading to Khrushchev's ouster.

Next to Kosygin was Nikolai Podgorny, who seems to be in effect the party's second secretary. Beyond him — seemingly much on the outside — was long-time insider Anastas I. Mikoyan, now Soviet president. Others were ranged around in descending rank.

HAS DECEIVED
A surface calm in the Kremlin has proved deceptive in the past. Although some observers foresaw trouble for Khrushchev last year, one American who had lived in Moscow for more than 30 years commented just a month before the ouster:

"The mantle of supreme Soviet leadership never rested so easily and securely."
Brezhnev and Kosygin doubtless remember how they cut down a man whose personal power became overwhelming, and gauge their actions accordingly.

College Crowd 'Ignores TV'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The college crowd is often ignored by television programmers in an industry that pays very close attention to its audiences.

Surveys indicate that college students are among television's most infrequent viewers, presumably because they are so busy with their books, sports and dates that they have little time for "Bonanza," "Be-witched" or even "Meet the Press."

A young friend, now winding up her sophomore year at a well-known women's college, says that she and her classmates do watch television and quite a lot of it at that.

She says their current favorite show is "Peyton Place," the ABC evening soap opera.

In second place, according to this small and unscientific sampling, is "Shindig," ABC's rock 'n' roll show, particularly on nights when their favorite singing groups are appearing — and their favorite singing groups are the Beatles, the Beach Boys and Peter, Paul and Mary.

Television viewers who care little for reruns of elderly movies or assorted sports events, the staples of Sunday afternoon programming these days, are going to miss NBC's mid-afternoon "Sunday" show next season when it is turned into a shorter, hard-news program at a later hour.

Sunday's hour program was typical. There were short film features on the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Gallipoli and the 11th anniversary of Dien Bien Phu; a brief discussion of Britain's current financial problems; some interesting pictures by the world's greatest photographers; a short feature on training a horse for the Kentucky Derby and a longer one about the work of volunteers in Boston trying to dissuade would-be suicides.

City Commission To Meet Tuesday

Action to formally adopt the Social Security system for the police and fire departments will be considered by the city commission at 7 p.m. Tuesday at city hall.

The Texas Department of Public Welfare last week notified the city of approval for the referendum conducted April 15 for the two departments. Next step in the adoption of the system will be an ordinance and selection by the city of an effective date.

A public hearing will be held for an on-premises beer consumption permit for the B & J Tavern, 3407 US 80 west, owned by Eilly Joe Arnold.

First reading is on the agenda for a zone change, voted at the last session by the commission, for property south of Baylor Boulevard on FM 700. The change is from one-family residential to commercial zoning, for property owned by Hartman Hooser.

Another request to be before commissioners is for authority to advertise for bids for a tractor-loader, of two and a half-cubic yard capacity, for use in the planned sanitary fill. Consideration of the admission fees for swimming pools on the north side is also slated.

A final reading is scheduled for an on-premises beer consumption permit for the Cottonwood Lounge, 1710 W. 3rd, requested by Charles Sholte. Two second readings are scheduled, for an off-premises beer and wine consumption permit for the Lopez Food Mart, 416 NW 4th, requested by G. M. Lopez, and an on-premises permit for the Desert Sands Restaurant, US 80, requested by Carl Schwab.

A second-reading is scheduled for a zone change from one-family residential to general residential, for property near Thorp Road, west of Wesson Road, owned by Mrs. Mary Rogers and Helen Shelly.

Notaries Public Terms Are Up

Secretary of State Crawford C. Martin has announced that all qualified notaries public desiring reappointment for the new term ending June 1, 1967, must requalify by the payment of the required fee and the filing of a new oath and bond with the county clerk of his residence between May 1, 1965 and May 16, 1965, inclusive. County Clerk Pauline Petty urged all notaries to make certain they qualified in the period listed.

Martin emphasized that notaries public should not send requests for reappointment or for commissions directly to the secretary of state. The law specifically requires that the county clerks approve notary bonds. Any person not now a notary public who desires appointment should apply to his county clerk before May 29, 1965. Application during this period will assure that the appointment will be made in sufficient time for the applicant to qualify at the beginning of the new term.

Elbow Band Wins Honors

ELBOW — The Forsan Junior High School band from Elbow took part in a junior high school band festival in McCombs Saturday and came home with a first and a second division rating.

The band, directed by Mrs. Robert T. Mason, took a first division in concert, and a second division rating in sight reading. Six schools were entered in the invitational festival which was conducted under interscholastic league rules.

This is the second year for the junior high band at Elbow. Members do not have uniforms. Principal D. N. Flynn said, but boys and girls dress in white shirts and blouses, and dark pants and skirts.

Renner Named To Directorate

LAMESA (SC) — Ray Renner was elected by acclamation as a director of the Texas Children's Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville at the Lions District 272 Convention in Plainview last week. The Lamesa Slumtown Symposium performed at a Ray Renner luncheon held at the high school Saturday.

Lion Karl Cayton, Lamesa Noon Lions Club, was master of ceremonies for the affair. Lion J. D. Dyer Jr., International Counselor, made the nominating speech and Lion Alf Carpenter, Plains, seconded the nomination.

Choirs Sing In Concert

The Big Spring High School capella choir and the mixed choir will join in a concert at the high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. today. The program will consist of 12 numbers and feature a solo quartet.

Segregationist Maddox Leads White Parade

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — More than 1,000 cheering, sign-waving whites paraded through downtown Atlanta Sunday behind segregationist Lester Maddox, ignoring heavy rain showers, but detouring when a smoke bomb was thrown in their line of march.

Maddox, the former restaurant owner who was the first person convicted under the 1964 Civil Rights Act, set up the march. He said it was to protest governmental takeover of private property rights.

Police said the bomb, which gave off a reddish-pink smoke, was thrown in front of the marchers by an unidentified white man. Few marchers were aware of the incident as a police captain quickly routed them down another street.

"LOSS OF RIGHTS"

Maddox, who spoke to the group later beside a city park, charged that the federal government is enforcing only the portions of the U.S. Constitution "resulting in centralization of government, loss of private property rights and loss of individual freedom."

The balking, 49-year-old segregationist read a petition which he said would be presented to President Johnson and members of Congress. It asked specific sections of the Constitution be enforced.

Maddox indicated that if the petition is ignored, he would stage another Atlanta march and possibly one in Washington. "The next one in Atlanta could well be 200,000 people," he said, "and a march in Washington, if we have one, may draw two million."

The marchers included men, women and children. Police Capt. J. T. Marler said there were "more than 1,000." Maddox had predicted 10,000 would turn out for the Sunday march. He said an "almost complete news blackout" hurt attendance.

CIVIL CONTEMPT

The former restaurant owner — who was held in civil contempt for refusing to serve Negroes under provisions set by the Civil Rights Act — was found innocent last week of charges that he pointed a pistol at a Negro during integration attempts last July.

Fist: flew briefly at the New York World's Fair Sunday between Congress of Racial Equality pickets and a group of black-jacketed youths who called themselves the "Society for the Prevention of Negroes Getting Everything."

The counterpickets heckled demonstrators, ran back and forth through CORE lines and finally engaged in a flurry of fisticuffs with the pickets.

There was at least one bloody nose but no arrests as the fair's security officers separated the two groups.

The counterpickets who appeared to be 16 and 17 years old, said they wanted to get Negroes out of their Brooklyn high school.

CORE pickets called their fair demonstration successful, saying it was to protest putting money into the fair by New York Mayor Robert Wagner.

Baptists Set Campus Goal

WACO (AP)—Baptist students from throughout the state have resolved "to strive specifically to involve all students on our campuses, regardless of race or national extraction, at every level in the total Baptist Student Union program."

More than 750 students from 61 colleges adopted the resolution and others Sunday, the final day of a three-day Baptist Student Union leadership training conference. The annual conference was held at Latham Springs Baptist Encampment 25 miles northwest of Waco.

The group adopted a resolution praising ten Texas Baptist schools for setting policies of desegregation.

In 1961, a similar student group adopted a resolution urging all Texas Baptist colleges to integrate. The ten which were not then integrated have dropped racial bars.

Leroy Jefferson, a Negro student at Wharton County College, became the first Negro elected to the 12-member state Baptist Student Union executive committee.

The new president of the statewide Baptist organization is Robert Rhode of Silvertown, a student at Hardin-Simmons University. Dixiana Hardesty of Baylor is the new vice president.

Smog Slated To Beautify Civic Center

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago has finally found a use for smog. It's going to make the city's new $57-million downtown Civic Center beautiful.

At least that's what some say. Others aren't so sure.

The problem is the outside steelwork on the 647-foot structure. It is finished in ugly, scaly rust, a substance rarely found covering today's skyscrapers.

The unusual exterior is made of a steel that is supposed to gradually oxidize, or rust, from its natural reddish coloring to a pretty purplish-black.

A steel company spokesman said Sunday the metal has only been used once before in architecture, although it has been employed for more than 30 years in the production of railroad freight cars.

SPEED PROCESS Chicago's dampness and high air-pollution rate should speed the rusting process, he said.

Acknowledging the wide spread criticism of the metal's rusty appearance, the spokesman said, "It all depends on your point of view."

"We think it will be very beautiful in time," the spokesman said. "It's going to turn a cinnamon brown in about two years."

For the man on the street, two years of rust is too long.

"I think it is just horrible," said a policeman on duty in front of the Civic Center, which is scheduled to house courtrooms and administrative offices when it opens in the fall.

"It's supposed to get darker and look better — but no matter what they say it will still be rust."

"LOOKS TERRIBLE" "It looks terrible as far as I'm concerned," said a City Hall employee. "I'm sure it's experimental but it's an awful lot of money to experiment with."

"If somebody built a rusty tank like that in his back yard and your neighbor would get up a petition to have it torn down," was another City Hall opinion.

Robert W. Christensen, head of the Public Building Commission, defended the new building. "It looks dirty and streaked right now. Any building in construction doesn't represent the finished product," he said.

"When it's finished oxidizing, it will add a warm color to the city and be quite an architectural achievement."

An executive of a skyscraper cleaning firm said, "Its design is beautiful but I cannot imagine how the surface will ever oxidize evenly."

Cancer Trend Is Pointed Up

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of six articles by cancer control experts written by physicians who have been president of the American Cancer Society. Today's article is by Dr. I. S. Ravdin, society president in 1963, past president of the American College of Surgeons and the American Surgical Association and professor of surgery and vice president for medical affairs of the University of Pennsylvania Medical School. Dr. Ravdin also was one of the surgeons to President Eisenhower at the time of his illness operation.

DR. I. S. RAVDIN

By I. S. RAVDIN, M.D. The three principal causes of death in this country at the turn of the century were: 1. tuberculosis; 2. pneumonia; 3. the infantile diarrheas.

Today, not a single one of these is among the first five causes of death.

The cardio-vascular diseases rank first, and cancer second; and of the two, cancer causes the greatest suffering.

Within the last few years considerable progress has been made in our knowledge of the origin of cancer, and we may before long know a great deal more about this. There are those who believe that the first breakthrough will come with the leukemias, which are cancers of the blood-forming organs.

CHANGES During the past 15 years there has been a steady decrease in cancer of the stomach in this country, while at the same time it has been on the increase in Japan and in Iceland. Now we need to find out why.

We must endeavor to develop better and simpler methods for diagnosing early lesions of the female breast before these lesions have spread beyond the confines of the breast. Mammography, properly carried out, is helpful in the breast lesions. Cytological studies employing

Safari Heads For The Gulf

VICTORIA (AP) — The 500-mile Texas Water Safari went into its third day today with last year's champion — Albert Widing of Holly, Mich., far in the lead.

Widing and his brother, Patrick Widing, passed the Victoria check point on the Guadalupe River at midnight Sunday and headed for the Gulf of Mexico.

Freeport, about 100 miles up the coast toward Houston, is the safari destination.

Sixty-four contestants in 31 boats began the race at San Marcos Saturday. Ten boats have already dropped out of the rugged competition.

Flag Torn From Staff And Stomped

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The U.S. flag was torn from its staff and trampled on the ground in a violent anti-American demonstration before the U.S. Embassy today.

Several thousand demonstrators chanted anti-American slogans and hurled tomatoes and rocks at the embassy. Windows in the front of the building were smashed.

One demonstrator managed to break into the embassy compound and climb to a second-story balcony, where the Stars and Stripes flew from its staff. To the cheers of his comrades, the demonstrator tore the flag from the staff and hurled it to the ground. The mob clutched at the banner, then trampled it.

Slaton Legionnaire Wins District Post

Members of the American Legion concluded a weekend convention of the posts in the 19th congressional district here Sunday afternoon with the election of new district officers to serve for the next two years.

L. C. Schmidt, Slaton, takes over the post of commander from Hank Narmour, Lubbock incumbent, and Billy Bond, Brownfield, sergeant-at-arms, was promoted to vice commander. Big Spring's Clarence Daves, a past post chaplain and commander was the unanimous choice as district chaplain.

Walter Elkins, Lubbock, is the new sergeant-at-arms, and Wilford Sterner, Plainview, was re-elected historian.

In business sessions, two of five resolutions were voted down but the district approved strongly the Lubbock resolution to request reconsideration and a re-examination of the need of the area in closing the Lubbock VA Service Office. County and post service officers from throughout the district questioned any financial saving in moving the offices to Waco, and reported the move will necessarily delay an even drier needed services to veterans, that have been congressionally approved, in medical care, housing and other veterans aid programs. Author of the resolution is veteran legionnaire Judge Jim Goodman, Lubbock.

A proposal to change the method of establishing post membership quotas was tabled, but Big Spring's resolution urging sponsorship of Handicapped Boy Scout Troops, asking Boy Scout officials to amend rules that would allow the handicapped boys to be exempt from some physical requirements that now bar them from Eagle rank, was adopted by the group. The resolution also provides for naming a Handicapped Boy Scout of the district each year, and that an award be made for outstanding service. The Big Spring troop under Joe Maenner, has often been cited as an outstanding example of the need and opportunity of such sponsorship.

Members feted veteran service officer, Fred Brookman, who is to retire. Brookman has served as post and county service officer and as a professional worker for the legion for more than 25 years. His present assignment is Lubbock, where he has expedited thousands of veteran claims. He was presented a watch. Retiring commander Naramour was also presented a plaque for outstanding service. The Webb AFB Color Guard acted for the convention in advancing and retiring the colors.

Service Station Operators To Be Honored Here Today

Petroleum jobbers, agents and wholesalers, and the petroleum committee of the Chamber of Commerce, will honor service station operators at a dinner at the Cosden Country Club at 7:30 p.m. today. Speaker will be George R. Jordan, manager of the tourist development department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

GEORGE R. JORDAN

The dinner meeting will be a gesture of appreciation for the group. Service station operators are generally considered as "first contacts made by tourists as they enter a city," according to the chamber of commerce.

"The impression made on this first contact is felt when tourists decide to either spend a little more time in an area or to go on to more 'courteous' areas to spend their money," Jordan said. "Ability to give clear directions, information about interesting places, objects, or landmarks, means more to a tourist than anything else. He will often change his mind about going to other areas and remain over in a city where he gets courteous service and correct information, and this means dollars to any city."

The meeting will also precede a five-hour adult education course on "selling and serving tourists," to be held here May 11-12, with Jordan handling the instruction. Persons taking the full five-hour course will receive a West Texas Tourist Ambassador Certificate. Jordan has a background of more than 25 years in the business and service fields, having worked in all areas related to tourism. He has been a radio engineer and announcer, life underwriter, a realtor, retailer, worked more than 12 years with the U.S. Department of Commerce, served eight years as a local chamber of commerce manager, and was with a national motel and restaurant chain for two years in the man-sic will be provided by Ace Ball. "We want to thank all who made this program possible, particularly the members of the Desk & Derrick Club for providing decorations, and who will register guests," Worthy said.

A Devotional For The Day

This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. (1 John 5:11)
PRAYER: O God of all truth, who hast given us understanding that we may know Thee, guide us as we go onward toward Thine eternal city. May we awake in Thy blessed likeness. This we ask through our Lord and Savior, Thy Son, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

What Would Be Gained?

The present Panama Canal affords the best route for a sea-level route between the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans, after every alternative has been studied. This is the considered judgment of James H. Stratton, writing in the current issue of the quarterly, Foreign Affairs.

Who is Stratton? He is a retired brigadier general, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army. He was the director of the 1946-48 study conducted by the United States on canal sites and construction costs. His credentials can hardly be questioned.

Stratton's case is most persuasive. He contends first of all that we will never be able to obtain a better treaty from any other Latin American country than the one we signed with Panama in 1903, even if the provisions of that treaty are substantially modified. He concedes that the excavation of a new canal by a series of nuclear explosions would be cheaper than conventional earth and stone removal—if substantial fears of radioactive fallout could be overcome and a relaxation of the test-ban treaty achieved. But the cost of duplicating most of the facilities now in place in the Canal Zone—airfields and barracks, a new city complete with utilities, a comprehensive road system and the like—would bring the total cost within the same range as the excavation by conventional means of a sea-level route for the present canal.

Stratton raises one additional point which may have been overlooked in most discussions of the possibility of alternate routes.

"Since cost of construction does not weigh heavily, if at all, in making the choice of route, and since the United States is unlikely to obtain from any other country more favorable treaty arrangements than it can from Panama, the question must be asked: What purpose will be accomplished by extensive route studies now proposed?"

New studies of possible alternative sites, authorized by President Johnson, undoubtedly will be undertaken. But in any final consideration of an alternative, prudence should dictate that we pay heed to Stratton's warning against the risk of alienating countries and people of this hemisphere.

The World Is Changing

Keeping up with the world is even harder than many people think. The National Geographic Society's new world map, its first since 1957, shows a good many changes in that short time.

Thus a new volcanic island, named Surtsey, appeared off Iceland in late 1963, and has grown to almost a square mile. Recent eruptions of Sicily's Mt. Etna, one of the most famous of all volcanoes, have added 253 feet to its height. The present figure is 10,958 feet.

The magnetic poles, which attract the needles of magnetic compasses, are known to vary their location. Both have shifted several miles since the last previous Geographic map.

Of more concern to average users are the political shifts. Old nations sometimes take new names, and sometimes are swallowed up. Aden Protectorate at the south end of the Red Sea is now the Protectorate of South Arabia. Two familiar African countries, Tanganyika and Zanzibar, have merged both in name and politically; together they are now called Tanzania. Similarly, Malaysia is the name now given to the 1963 federation of Malaysia, Singapore, Sabah (which was once known as British North Borneo) and Sarawak, Netherlands New Guinea is now part of Indonesia and entitled West Irian. Its capital, formerly called Hollandia, has changed its name, first to Kotabaru and now to Sukarnapura.

So don't let anyone tell you the world is standing still. It's changing.

Richard Starnes Minor Boo Boos On Foreign Front

WASHINGTON — The President's great prowess in domestic concerns and in the artful manipulation of Congress is acknowledged, but the suspicion grows that he is handicapped by a blind side in the conduct of foreign affairs.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON has endured no such humiliating disaster as the Bay of Pigs fiasco which the CIA concocted for John F. Kennedy. But (suspending judgment for the moment on administration policy in Viet Nam) Mr. Johnson has been at the center of a number of minor imbrolios that have unnecessarily irritated friendly foreign governments.

The needless affront administered to Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Ayub Khan of Pakistan in bluntly postponing their visits is the latest case in point. It was not so much that it was done, since a wartime President must be conceded the right to arrange his own schedule, but it was the ham-fisted, insensitive way in which it was done.

IT ISN'T THE FIRST time. Britons are the best friends of the United States, and Mr. Johnson hurt them needlessly at the time of the funeral of Winston Churchill. Englishmen understood that the ailing President could not himself pay final homage to the greatest statesman of the century, but they could not comprehend his failure to send the vice president in his stead.

MESSRS. WARREN and Rusk are socially acceptable officials who wear the right clothes and understand the small talk of state occasions, but England was burying Churchill and properly expected top representation. They got it, with the exception of Communist countries (who hated Churchill because he had sponsored the Russian invasion of 1918 in an attempt to "strangle Bolshevism in its cradle") and the United States, whose President simply misunderstood the plain requirements of the occasion.

ONE OF THE BIG problems involved in such gaffes is that people

Billy Graham

What can we do to teach one of our children the right way to behave? The oldest child and the baby are friendly, but the middle child sulks all the time. We don't know what to do with her since she began acting this way. We are Christians but don't know how to approach this problem. Mrs. C. J.

This is your child's way of trying to make people notice her. She was your baby for awhile, and no doubt received most of your attention. Now she is jealous. You must find a way to break through the shell she is trying to hide under.

Let her know she is needed. I'm sure your oldest child has several responsibilities. Give some to this middle child. Make her feel you couldn't get along very well without her. Let her do some things for the youngest, and teach her that the baby is hers as well as yours.

The Bible says: "God set the solitary in families." (Psalm 68:6). You and your husband must make a special effort to convey your love to this child. You say you are bewildered. She is bewildered, too. Ignore her sulking, but give her special attention when you can. Set aside a time to read and pray with her alone. Don't be impatient, but day by day reveal to her that she is God's child and that Jesus is her Savior. Her sulks will disappear as she begins to feel secure.

KLJAJICEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — Veterinarian Milan Mandic is strictly displeased with pigs. He hung his coat on a pigpen fence here during an inspection. When he put it on afterward he discovered that one of the pigs had rooted out his pocketbook and eaten it—together with the 75,000 dinars ($100) that were inside.

GATEWAY TO SOUTHEAST ASIA

James Marlow Cambodia Confab Bid Has Key Potential

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has notified Britain and several other countries that it will "gladly participate" in a proposed nine-nation conference on Cambodia. Such a gathering could lead to informal talks on ending the Vietnamese war.

The decision to participate in a Cambodian conference, if one is called, was made last week by President Johnson. He already has decided that he would name Ambassador W. Averell Harriman as U.S. delegate to such a meeting.

The U.S. readiness to attend was announced Sunday night by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who said:

"It has been proposed that an international conference composed of the governments of the countries which took part in the Geneva conference of 1954 be called to consider the question of the neutrality and territorial integrity of Cambodia."

"AFTER REVIEWING this proposal with the President last week and at his direction, we have informed a number of interested governments that if such a conference is called we will gladly participate."

"The President would appoint Ambassador Averell Harriman as our representative to the discussions."

The British government, which with the Soviet Union was co-chairman of the 1954 Geneva conference on Southeast Asia, has been working with the Soviet Union and other countries for several weeks to see whether it would be possible to arrange a meeting on Cambodia.

The original proposal for the meeting came from Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk as an evidence move to secure the independence of his country which is a neighbor of South Viet Nam.

Hal Boyle Education In The Mail

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you like eels for dinner, your best bet is Tokyo. It has 1,000 restaurants with menus featuring eels.

The windmill was one of man's first machines. It was first used for grinding corn in ancient Persia.

Prosperity note: Some 45 million American homes now have two or more radio sets. And 47 per cent of U.S. families have two or more breadwinners. On the other hand, 8 per cent of our families are getting some kind of government relief.

THERE'S TRUTH in the old saying—marry in haste, repent in leisure. A survey in Montreal of 5,000 teenage marriages disclosed that only 15 out of 100 were successful when both partners were under 18. Brides blamed the failures in most cases on family interference.

In Paris you can get free advice on your financial or love problems by dialing "VAL 70-50." You can call other numbers for information on problems in nuclear physics — or if you simply want to be cheered up by listening to recordings of the latest jokes.

To Your Good Health Inverted Nipple Can Be A Danger Sign

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes a receding nipple? The condition has existed for nearly 20 years. Is it common in middle-aged women? — J. L.

A receding or retracted or inverted nipple may be a significant danger sign, or it may mean nothing of consequence.

Because it may be a danger sign, it causes a good deal of concern among women. A lot of the worry is needless, and ceases once the worrier has a doctor evaluate the condition.

The retracted nipple can be a defect in development; the nipple is small and tends to be recessed; not harmful, except that it can pose a problem in breast-feeding.

The nipple may be normally developed but a quirk of the muscular or fibrous tissue can cause it to be depressed. Again, no cause for alarm.

Or chronic mastitis (inflammation of small glands in the breast) can cause a nipple to recede. Mastitis, if it is severe and continuing, can be thoroughly annoying, but it is not something to cause fright.

Finally — and this is the dangerous category — cancer of the breast can cause retraction or inversion of the nipple. In such a case, however, we would find other signs, too, primarily a lump which could be easily felt.

The inverted nipple, in such a case, would just be one more warning sign, and the lump would (or certainly should) be noticed before the nipple begins to show symptoms.

Since you have had this condition for 20 years, I would suspect it to be benign.

But when a nipple, previously normal, begins to invert or recede, then it is wise to have your doctor investigate it immediately.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are the dangers of having marital relations after giving birth two weeks before? Can one become pregnant again so soon, or is one more apt to? — MRS. C.B.W.

The danger, that soon, is chiefly the risk of infection of uterus and cervix. Ovulation (and hence the possibility of pregnancy) rarely occurs until about four to six weeks after delivery. The first menstrual period after delivery may not (but sometimes may) be associated with ovulation. In short, after menstrual periods resume, you may have another month before pregnancy is possible, but you can't absolutely count on it. Preg-

Around The Rim It's The Colors That Get You

This and that:

A man who had given a lot of attention to the problem says red and bright yellow are "trouble colors," especially when used as automobile paints.

"A driver is more inclined to pass a red or bright yellow car," he said, "even if it is not safe to pass."

Gray or black, on the other hand, cause mental depression and cause a driver to react slower than usual.

The safest automobile colors? Green and blue, the man maintains. Now you know.

THE HEALTH Insurance Institute has found that, although women outlive men, they have 20 per cent more flu, 18 per cent more colds and twice as many headaches than the male species.

WHAT I WOULD call the perfect squeal was rallied by a judge in Sedona, Arizona, recently.

A man was fined $15 for a fishing violation and mailed his fine to a justice in a box filled with pennies.

nickels and dimes, along with a prankish note.

The justice sent back the receipt—along with a bright red lollipop.

"A man who acts like a child should be treated like one," the judge explained.

PSYCHIATRISTS say there are four danger signals of an impending nervous breakdown due to mental depression. They include:

(a) Sleep. A depressed person always has trouble sleeping. Usually he drifts off to sleep without trouble but awakens at 3 a.m. and cannot return to sleep.

(b) Appetite. Invariably there is a loss of appetite and a loss of weight.

(c) Languor. Mental and physical functions slow down. The depressed person loses interest, ambition and the ability to concentrate.

(d) Guilt. The depressed person feels vaguely guilty about nothing in particular.

Of course, any mother will tell you she are the same symptoms shown by a young daughter or son in love for the first time.

David Lawrence U.S. Making Progress In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON — The United States is today engaged in a war in Viet Nam that is directly related to the safety of the American people. Up to now, the emphasis has been on the altruistic desire of America to help the nations in Southeast Asia to preserve their independence and to prevent a Communist takeover of the smaller countries. But generally overlooked is the grim fact that China has begun to develop as a nuclear power and is apparently determined to frighten and terrorize neighboring countries.

SOME CRITICS have naively pointed out that very few of the nations in Asia are supporting American policy today and that this is an added reason for American withdrawal into isolationism. But the truth is that these same governments would hardly dare to come out openly in favor of American policy, lest they incur the hostility of the Red Chinese. The peoples of the smaller countries, however, would surely be disheartened if the United States withdrew because this would mean the end of their chances for freedom.

It is really not surprising that governmental spokesmen for the Asian countries do not openly endorse American policy. This is also evident in other areas. The Communists have infiltrated many of the capitals of the world and, through their student organizations and other stooges, have managed to stir up enough opposition to threaten the political tenure of many governments unless they adopt a "neutralist" position.

THE UNITED STATES has much more at stake than the protection of Southeast Asia. For if Red China possesses powerful nuclear weapons which can threaten not only other countries but even the United States, and if America abandons Viet Nam, it will be too late for this country to win allies in Asia or in the Middle East or even in Africa. For by that time the Red Chinese will have gained the upper hand.

THE UNITED STATES not only must win the Viet Nam war, but it must show the Red Chinese that it

Holmes Alexander Arts And The Federal Subsidy

WASHINGTON — Back in the 18th century two of Europe's greatest musicians, Bach and Mozart, when struggling young artists, applied for subsidized jobs with provincial German governments. A fellow named Telemann got the post sought by Bach. A fellow named Bocherini was chosen as more worthy of a government handout than Mozart, who subsequently died at 36 and was buried in potter's field.

THESE CLASSIC examples stand as evidence of bureaucracy's historic inability to tell a true artist from what the French call artists manqué — and now comes H. R. 6050, the Great Society's measure "to promote progress . . . in the arts."

Some while back, as related here, Congressman Moorhead (D., Pa.) was pushing a bill to establish a National Humanities Foundation. It was intended simply to be a counterpart to the National Science Foundation and to correct the over-emphasis on the sciences in American education. But the administration rewrite men have debauched that chaste idea into a gross reproduction of the old PWA, which financed would-be writers, painters, sculptors and musicians in the 1930's. The fuzzy language of the administration bill authorizes "grants-in-aid" to "groups" or "individuals" that are "concerned with the creative and performing arts."

THERE COULD hardly be a better illustration of how the Great Society in prosperous times apes what the New Deal tried to do in the distressful days of depression. Thirty years ago artists, both good and bad, did live in garrets and did go hungry. Today the market for cheap and popular products in literature, music and the graphic arts will support any creator of merit, and the economy is job-hunting for persons of lesser skills who are willing to make an honest living in business.

OUR FREE enterprise at last has freed the genuine artist from the Wild Life

LONDON (AP)—London television watchers seem to prefer white rhinos to pop singers.

As an experiment, commercial ITV in the London area started showing at peak time Thursdays (7:30 to 8 p.m.) a program series on the presentation of wild life.

The audience jumped by 80,000 homes compared with the previous screening of pop singers. The rival BBC continued showing "Top of the Pops" at that time. Its viewing, according to ratings, was 180,000 homes less.

Woman's Forum Told Of Embassy Activities

Women's international clubs were discussed by the Modern Woman's Forum when it met Friday for luncheon at Coker's Restaurant. Mrs. Fred Whitaker was hostess for the ten members present.

Mrs. Harwood Keith, program chairman, told of the American embassies and wives of servicemen in Argentina, British Honduras and Jamaica. In Buenos Aires they raise funds for underprivileged boys. She pointed out that American women are leaders in women's affairs in foreign countries all over the world.

Mrs. J. Z. Dodge spoke on the work being done by American women's groups in France, Germany and Greece. They furnish many scholarships in both Germany and Turkey. In Greece they are particularly interested in public health nursing and sponsor international lectures. A home for older women is sponsored in Turkey.

Men Take Top Places In Bridge Tournament

The second series of the Saturday duplicate games ended at Big Spring Country Club with George D. Pike and Joe Steyer taking first and second places. Play was for the best four out of eight games.

Other series winners were Mrs. Vera Nelson, third; Mrs. J. H. Holloway, fourth; Mrs. Ayrta McGann, fifth; Mrs. Ward Hall, sixth; Mrs. Joe Hayden, seventh; Mrs. Tom South, eighth; and Mrs. Joe Steyer, ninth.

Nine tables were in play for the Saturday afternoon games. North-south winners were Mrs. R. E. Dobbins and Mrs. Ward Hall, first; Mrs. J. H. Hall and George Pike, second; Mrs. Ron T. Miller and Mrs. John Stone, third; and Mrs. Hayden Griffith and Mrs. Steyer, fourth.

East-west winners were Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, first; Mrs. B. B. Badger and Joe Steyer, second; Mrs. R. H. Weaver and Mrs. Fred Kasch, third; and Mrs. Malcolm Patterson and Mrs. J. H. Fish, fourth.

Players were reminded that Master Point games at the club will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday and at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Adult Class Holds Church Luncheon

A covered dish luncheon was held Saturday by the Adult II Sunday school class of the Baptist Temple Church. The 60 attending met in the church recreation room and heard an invocation given by Capt. Harry Henry, Sunday school superintendent.

Alvin Smith, group superintendent, discussed future activities of the class and introduced the division teachers, Leland Edwards, V. Phillips, Mrs. J. E. Terry, and Morris Mopus. Mrs. Bob Wren, class secretary, and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Reynolds led the group in musical selections.

Arrange Furniture For Hospitality

Arrange your furniture so that people can get in and out of a room and through it without having to sidle. Plan seating so that you can have at least one large conversation group and one small one.

Keep space between large pieces of furniture. Keep one surface sufficiently uncluttered to accommodate a large tray for serving drinks, tea or coffee or liquors, without having to disarrange all the bric-a-brac.

Make it easy for yourself to offer hospitality. "Slipping away" unseen from the reception sometimes creates ill feeling. Bid your relatives and friends goodbye and start your wedding journey leaving by the front door.

India Attacked By Pakistani

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India alerted its armed forces today and recalled all personnel on leave as Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan declared that large Pakistani forces were attacking along India's western border.

Chavan told Parliament a brigade — about 5,000 men — of Pakistani infantry supported by tanks was attacking Biharbet, about six miles inside territory claimed by India in the disputed Rann of Kutch area.

He said Pakistan's forces attacked Biharbet Sunday night but were beaten off.

AGAIN ATTACKING
 "This morning's news," said Chavan, "states that Pakistan is again attacking Biharbet with a brigade of infantry and a sizable force of armor."

The Indians charged that Pakistan has for the first time thrown tanks into the area and that three of them were destroyed.

Pakistan said the fighting resulted from an outbreak of firing by Indian troops.

"Pakistan had to take swift retaliatory action last night in the Chad Bet area of the Rann of Kutch following repeated firing on its positions by the Indian army," a government spokesman said. He said Indian guns were silenced, with heavy Indian casualties.

DEMANDS TRUCE
 The United States was reported pressing for an immediate cease-fire and resumption of talks on the territorial dispute.

PRINTS REPORT
 Anthropologist and linguistic expert George Silberbauer, a Bechuanaland government officer, has published a 138-page report here on his six years of living among the bands of roaming, primitive bushmen. Included in the report are his government-requested recommendations for their future.

Silberbauer says bushmen women are expert cooks, who know how to make the most of very unexciting raw material. They marry between 7 and 9 years of age, but there are no children until after the girl's puberty ceremony. Silberbauer says the women can carry their own weight in food plants and firewood for over three miles in the burning desert sun.

Adultery is usually regarded as being a private matter between the persons concerned. The deceived husband is allowed to fight his wife's lover and, if he can, beat his wife. But bushmen women are tough, says Silberbauer, and "she may well defend herself too effectively for him to want to do this."

In general, however, "violence is just too dreadful to even contemplate, and only takes the form of husband or wife beating," he says. "Even this does not amount to more than an exchange of bruising blows — or a wife may pick up an ash-scraper and crack it over her husband's head — but not permanent or continued fighting."

BAD TEMPERS
 Offenses against the tribal code include bad manners, persistent laziness and unprovoked bursts of temper. An offender is not, however, expelled from the tribe, "but is made to feel that, as his conduct is beyond the pale, he is not nice to be near. The need of companionship is very strong and when deprived of it by tribal censure the offender feels his loneliness keenly. He then apologizes or shows in some other way he has repented, and is forgiven."

Happiness is too positive a word for them. In their desert world they define their ideal as enough good company, food and drink and the absence of danger.

Silberbauer recommends that should special reserves be created by the government for the 6,000 or so bushmen who have chosen to remain in the desert with their traditional way of life, they should not be for preserving these people as museum specimens, but to allow them to continue the life of their choice. He says waterholes should be sunk in the central Kalahari district to help them.

For those who have made a move towards civilization, Silberbauer recommends government aid in suitable farm training schemes and that children be helped to attend a school in the district where many of the non-wandering bushmen are established.

BUZZING PLANES
 A more serious harassment would be the buzzing of passenger planes flying to and from Berlin.

The Soviet protest note said: "The Soviet government reserves the right to take such measures which would correspond to the responsibilities it has assumed regarding the inviolability of the borders of the German Democratic Republic."

Soviet diplomats stationed in East Berlin have been scurrying around West Berlin in an attempt to find out why the western allies consented to have the meeting held at this time. One seemingly exasperated Soviet diplomat exclaimed to an American:

"What do you Americans want, anyway? You got your show in Viet Nam and now you want to start trouble here, too, when everything was running smoothly in Berlin."

HAS RIGHT
 Why have they ranted it now? They may be interested in seeing whether the new Soviet regime is as tough on Berlin as was Khrushchev, but the official argument is that the West Germans have as much right to meet in West Berlin as East Germany's parliament has to meet in East Berlin.

The West Germans claim they have more right since they consider the Bonn parliament is the only one which can speak for all Germany.

To eliminate a possible source of trouble, the western powers asked the West Germans to refrain from speeches or resolutions concerning reunification or related issues which the Reds could regard as inflammatory. The Bonn parliamentarians agreed.

Most western diplomats seem to think nothing will happen. These same diplomats say,

Carnival Ride Collapse Takes Another Victim
DETROIT (AP) — A carnival amusement ride that collapsed at a suburban shopping center claimed the life of a third child Sunday, shortly after two state legislators said they would push for safety inspection laws.

Nancy Lee Matthews, 8, died of injuries suffered in the Saturday accident in Taylor Township that killed Sharon Hawks, 14, and her brother, Grant Thomas Hawks, 12.

The three were riding the "Sky Comet" with Nancy's sister, Susan Raye Matthews, 10, and a cousin, Bonnie Matthews, 8, both of whom are in critical condition.

Police said they think a connecting shackle broke, dropping the bucket seat to the ground where it was dragged some 75 yards before the machine could be turned off.

State Rep. Daniel S. Cooper and State Sen. John McCauley, both of suburban Detroit, said they would sponsor legislation requiring periodic inspection of amusement rides.

Teacher Pay Raise Seen
GARLAND (AP) — Ben Barnes, Texas House speaker, said Sunday that the state's teachers would get a raise but that it would not exceed 4 1/2 percent.

The youthful legislative leader from De Leon made his remarks during an interview after a ceremony opening the new Garland city hall.

Barnes, 26, was principal speaker during the dedication of the $456,000 city hall.

He said $45, which the Texas State Teachers Association is seeking, will be the maximum pay hike.

TSTA's proposal for a $45-a-month across the board pay raise would cost the state an additional $72 million, Barnes said.

Gov. John Connally supports a plan under which teachers would get raises over a 10-year period. He has estimated his plan would cost a maximum of $25 million in the next two years in extra state funds.

Berlin Parliament To Stir Trouble?
BERLIN (AP) — West Germany's parliament came to Berlin recently to meet here for the first time in seven years.

The last time there was a full plenary session in Berlin, in 1958, Nikita Khrushchev let a month go by and then gave the western powers a six-month ultimatum to get out of the city. Khrushchev subsequently backed down but a crisis developed.

A new East-West battle over the city could result from this year's meeting.

In a note to the U.S., British and French governments, whose troops occupy West Berlin, the Soviets have warned they will take countermeasures. The Communist East German regime had made similar threats.

But many observers here believe the Soviets do not want to rock the Berlin boat.

After Khrushchev's November 1958 ultimatum, the western powers denied the Bonn parliamentarians permission to meet again in Berlin.

City Spraying For Elm Tree Beetles

Spraying the city's elm trees with an insecticide to combat damage by elm tree beetles has been started by a city crew. This will be the third summer for the program.

"We have already gotten some calls from people who have seen them," Parks Superintendent Johnny Johansen said. "One resident in the east part of town called and said they were already doing a lot of damage to his trees."

The city crew is beginning in the southeast part of Big Spring and moving toward the northwest, averaging about 14 to 15 blocks each day, excluding days with high winds, Johansen said.

He said last year the beetles first hit in the southeast part, while the year before they were first noticed on the north side.

None have yet been noticed in trees in the city parks, however, Johansen said. He said the parks trees were trimmed last year to cut back part of the foliage and possibly reduce damage from the beetles, as well as to provide more light for grass under the trees and to lessen possible damage from snow or ice during the winter.

Johansen said under ideal weather the beetles will hatch in about six or seven days, eating into the veins of the leaves. In less than a week, one can sometimes see the damage being caused by the beetles, he said.

Probably two generations of the beetles will hatch in the city this year, Johansen said. He said the city would plan to spray the trees twice during the summer. The spraying is with an insecticide which is mixed one quart to 100 gallons of water, which will kill flies and mosquitoes as well as the beetles, he said.

Lamesans Go To State Meeting
LAMESA (SC) — Attending the state meeting of the Texas Association of Future Homemakers of America held in Dallas last week were Brenda Meeks and Jeanne Peterson.

Brenda and Jeanne were selected as voting delegates to the meeting by members of the Lamesa High School Future Homemakers chapter. Registration headquarters were in the Adolphus Hotel and meetings were held in the Music Hall at State Fair Park.

Mrs. Harry Taylor, homemaking teacher at Lamesa High School, accompanied the girls.
