

COLORS FLY AT ARMED FORCES DAY SHOW Airmen Salute Flag at Webb AFB Celebration

Thousands Witness Webb AFB Displays

People turned out at Webb AFB by the thousands Saturday under cloudless skies to witness one of the most expansive and versatile Armed Forces Day programs in years.

Helicopters flitted around like dragon flies spewing copper dust or hovered to snuff out fires. Planes streaked by at low levels, leaving their roars behind them. Parachutists bailed out at 10,500 feet and turned their streamers into billows, then seemed to hang almost motionless before men dropped into the bulls eye.

Airmen and officers marched by smartly at the wing review, and as the Lowry AFB band broke into the Star Spangled Banner, flights of jets shot overhead with such precision it seemed like a mighty crescendo in the music.

HAWK MISSILE
Army technicians maneuvered the Hawk missile into an assortment of positions, and T-38s and other jets zoomed over in precision formations or in spectacular passes.

Crews milled around to answer questions about 30 or more different Air Force, Army and Navy aircraft.

And all the while there were several thousand people—the biggest show of all—who gaped in amazement at the size of huge transports or the sleekness of some of the fighter 100 series, or squinted aloft with open mouths to watch helicopters and formation flying, or snapped heads quickly to see what bursts of jet blasts were following.

ALL KINDS
They came in every conceivable costume, and with every conceivable form. They were bareheaded, wore Mexican sombreros, wore dark sunglasses, pushed baby buggies, pulled the family dog, drank dry some of the soft drink cases, stuffed down countless sandwiches and candy bars. Now and then they sought the refuge of a patch of shade beneath the stubby wings of super-sonic aircraft or lingered long in the cavernous bowels of the Hercules transport.

OTHER DISPLAYS
The Army National Guard had on hand a M-44 155 mm self-propelled cannon in addition to the missile. Inside hangars the Marines had a display as did the Civil Air Patrol, and many others.

One of the show pieces was the giant RAF Vulcan, super-sonic bomber which is a giant delta wing stretching 111 feet from wing tip to tip. Even on static display it seemed to be pressing its wings down for a swoop into the skies.

Among the craft on display was the F4B Phantom II, a Navy craft capable of well over 1,600 mph, and coming rapidly into the AF inventory. Other Navy visitors included the RF4C all weather reconnaissance, F9F Cougar, AD3 jet bomber with nuclear capacity, A4E and others.

AF INVENTORY
From the Air Force stable came the RB 57F weather, U-3 administrative, C-130 Hercules, C-119 Flying Boxcar, F-84, F-89 Scorpion, F-5A, RF 84F, RE 84, A1H counterinsurgency, the T-37 and T-38 trainers (from Webb's own inventory), an assortment of small and large administrative transports up to the T-29, and the entire 100 series from the F-100 Super Sabre to the 105 Thunderchief with a speed of mach 2.25 (two and a half times the speed of sound).

Whirlybirds included the H-23 for Bozo the Clown acrobatics and its rugged HH-43 Huskie for fire extinguishing demonstrations.

Activities for the big weekend got under way Friday evening with a dining-in for the graduating class. Brig Gen. John W. Vogt Jr. was the speaker. There was a formal reception for the 32 officers Saturday evening, followed by a buffet and graduation ball.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Armed Forces Day proved to be a top success Saturday with even the weather, excepting for brisk wind, cooperating. There were more exciting displays than usual, and plenty of activity, including a colorful wing review. Ominous conditions in the Caribbean underlined what this is all about, for several 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron F-104s roared southeastward Friday in what ostensibly was a backup operation to the Dominican crisis.

Speaking of Armed Forces, our special thanks go to Lt. Jim Laney and his OIS staff, and all the good people at Webb AFB who were so helpful to us in the preparation of our annual Armed Forces Day edition. They went all out.

The latest plan of the Department of Agriculture has farmers and many businessmen stirred to a fighting pitch. The department proposes to alter skip row planting patterns, which would in effect inflict a 15-30 per cent cut on us. This seems absurdly unfair, since this is the principal region that this would really affect.

Fire losses in April were down to $1,257, which is certainly the maximum we ought to have for most any month. But we had $31,154 in March and $113,847 for the first four months of the year. Make no mistake, that will come out of your pocket in the form of higher premiums.

There were several days when we had enough clouds to make prospects for rain seem promising.

Recognition Shunned Of Dominican Junta

Planes Blitz N. Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States hurled its mightiest air blow of the war at Communist North Viet Nam on Saturday. A military spokesman said at least 242 warplanes rained 300 tons of bombs and rockets on an airfield, military barracks and warehouses, road convoys and railroad boxcars.

The U.S. spokesman in Saigon declined to say whether there were any Communist planes on the ground at Vinh. They said no Communist MIG jets came up to meet the raiders.

The spokesman quoted the Navy pilots as saying the airfield was left 70 per cent destroyed by the two attacks, one in the early afternoon and the other just before sundown.

JETS DOWNED
Communist anti-aircraft fire downed two U.S. Navy Crusader jets. One pilot parachuted into the sea and was rescued; the other apparently perished as his plane plunged into the mouth of the Song Ca River, 20 miles east of the Red military air base at Vinh.

Hanoi radio claimed that the North Vietnamese brought down five U.S. fighter planes, including one jet. It said this report was based on initial information.

In all, the planes, which included Navy A4 jet Skyhawks, F8 Crusaders and propeller-driven Skyraiders as well as U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs, fanned out over Communist territory in eight separate attacks.

AIR FIELD HIT
Two of the attacks were

Retrial Seen For Klansman

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — In an ancient, roomy courtroom in this tiny cattle ranching hamlet last week, the FBI pulled a white cloak of anonymity from one of its undercover informers. He was a paid plant in the Ku Klux Klan, the hooded organization with a century-old record of night terror.

His name is Gary Thomas Rowe, and he is the first man to be revealed as an FBI informer within the Klan Saturday he was back under FBI security, his whereabouts unknown.

Rowe, 34, was the state's star witness at the trial of Klansman Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, accused of first-degree murder in the slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39, a Detroit civil rights demonstrator and mother of five children.

Rowe's testimony failed to convict Wilkins, but it came close. A retrial is likely.

A 12-man jury deadlocked 10-2 Friday in favor of Wilkins' conviction on manslaughter charges. A juror in the majority said conviction on first- or second-degree murder was out of the question.

LBJ Dedicates Rayburn Lake By Telephone

JASPER, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson said again Saturday that the United States is prepared to defend freedom and at the same time willing to advance peace everywhere.

He made the statement by telephone as he dedicated the $61 million Sam Rayburn dam and reservoir in memory of "my teacher and counselor."

"We bear and honor our noble trust," the President said. "Burdens are many but we shall not fail. Where freedom is in danger, it will be defended. Where there is an opportunity to advance peace, America will be represented."

"I am particularly proud to perpetuate his name," the President said of the late House speaker.

Wary U.S. Lets OAS Lead Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States carefully shunned any formal recognition Saturday of the "new government" set up by junta leaders in the Dominican Republic. Instead, it banked on action by the Organization of American States.

Red Parade Stirs Protest From West

BERLIN (AP) — East German and Soviet troops staged a mammoth parade Saturday in East Berlin commemorating the 20th anniversary of Hitler's defeat, bringing a protest from the Western powers.

In identical letters, the U.S., French and British ambassadors to West Germany told the Soviet envoy in East Berlin the Soviet Union violated the status of Berlin by letting the East Germans parade.

The parade of 5,000 troops included Russian missiles. The letters said "The Soviet missile displays themselves contributed to the creation of unnatural tension in the city."

The Western powers termed the East German military display provocative and a "flagrant violation of the quadripartite status of the city," and said it "expressly contravenes the provisions of the Potsdam agreements and of subsequent four-power legislation in Berlin."

The agreements state that no German troops will be allowed in Berlin. These provisions continue to be in force in Berlin, the protests said, and "it is incumbent on the four powers to insure that they are observed."

Turbulence Alert Lifted
Small, light thunderstorms rumbled across parts of North Texas Saturday, but turbulence predicted in a severe weather forecast for parts of the area did not materialize.

The U. S. Weather Bureau cancelled the severe weather forecast at 7 p.m. Heavy rains fell for a brief time in Fort Worth, bringing the Colonial National Invitational Golf Tournament to a halt for about 10 minutes.

Hail, ranging from pea to golf ball size, struck Electra, near Wichita Falls, about 1 p.m., but no severe damage was reported. Official precipitation reading was 1.10 inches.

Thunderstorms skipped over a wide area, dumping very light rainfall in parts of North Central, Northwestern and Central Texas.

High-ranking U.S. officials made the American position known as the OAS went into session again to work on ways to restore peace and lay the groundwork for constitutional rule in the bloodied Caribbean land.

RIVALS REBELS
The Junta forces announced formation of a five-man military-civilian group which they proclaimed as "the country's government." It rivals the rebel "government" of Col. Francisco Caamaño Domo.

U.S. officials, who have refused to recognize the insurgents' claim to a government, told newsmen it would be premature for the United States to recognize a Dominican regime when the OAS has already begun work on the political problem.

Furthermore, they stated: 1. The U.S. government believes no decision on recognizing the new government is possible until more progress is made toward restoring order out of the revolutionary chaos, and 2. headway is made in establishing democratic processes there.

BOTH IN CONTROL
The officials said neither Dominican faction currently controls the island republic. They said the junta controls part of the capital, Santo Domingo, and much of the remainder of the country, while the rebels control part of the capital.

U.S. strategists have some preferences in building a new regime at Santo Domingo, but they are deliberately soft-pedaling U.S. wishes on the theory that success would be easier with Latin Americans leading the way.

However, the Johnson administration clearly was pleased that the report issued by the five-nation OAS fact-finding committee, which returned from the scene Friday, was compatible with the U.S. position. The committee painted a picture of tragedy and disorder in Santo Domingo calling for prompt action. The chairman, Argentine Ambassador Ricardo Colombo, told the OAS that Communists had infiltrated the rebels. This is the official U.S. view.

Reds Infiltrate Thailand Sector

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The governor of Korat Province said here that Communist insurgents have infiltrated his area, where three U.S. Air Force jet fighter squadrons are based.

It was the first announcement that insurgents had penetrated the central province far from the Laotian border to the northeast.

Rites Monday For Mrs. Marvin Miller

Mrs. Marvin M. Miller, wife of a former senior vice president of Cosden Petroleum Corporation and a prominent resident of Big Spring for more than 20 years, died Friday evening at 9:30 in a local hospital.

Although she had been in the hospital for treatment since Wednesday, her condition had not been regarded as critical, and her passing was unexpected. She was 53.

Funeral services are to be held at the First Presbyterian Church at 4 p.m. Monday, with the pastor, the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, officiating. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park, with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home handling arrangements. Mrs. Miller had been a member of First Presbyterian since coming to Big Spring.

The body will lie in state at Nalley-Pickle until 3 p.m. Monday. The casket will not be opened at the services.

Mrs. Miller was born Pauline Frances Smith in Fort Worth, Sept. 13, 1911. She attended public schools in Fort Worth and Houston, then was a student at Texas Christian University for two years. She and Mr. Miller were married on Christmas Eve, 1931, and resided in Okemah, Okla., for eight years, during which time their children were born.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller moved to Graham in 1939, where they resided until the summer of 1943. He had been with the Cosden Corporation and predecessor organizations since 1928, and they came here in connection with the consolidation of the Cosden administrative offices.

They had made their home here with the exception of one year, when they went to Dallas where Miller was a production executive with American Petro-

Survivors besides the husband are her mother, Mrs. H. H. Stevens and a sister, Mrs. Julia Bonifield, both of Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Marilyn Ann Barnard of Bethesda, Md., and Carolyn Jean Miller of Dallas; and two granddaughters, Pamela Ann and Linda Carol Barnard. She also leaves a step-sister, Mrs. Royce Baker of Burleson, Tex., and several nephews and nieces.

Palbearers will be R. L. Tollett, R. W. Thompson, Douglas Orme, Richard Johnson, R. W. Whipkey, R. W. Currie, Champ Rainwater and Nelson Phillips Jr., the last-named of Dallas.

Family Trio Fire Victims

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Three members of a family, which recently moved to Wichita Falls from Abilene, Tex., died early Saturday in a fire that destroyed their frame home.

Burned to death were Billy Joe Humphries, 27, and his two small sons.

Mrs. Humphries, 23, suffered burns on the back and shoulders and also smoke inhalation. The house in Northeast Wichita Falls was engulfed in flames when firemen reached the scene about 2:30 a.m.

Mother's Day Billion Dollar Event Now

By The Associated Press
If yours is an average family, it spent about $20 for Mother's Day gifts this weekend.

That adds up, for all America, to a billion dollars.

So Mother's Day has become a huge financial success. It wasn't 100 per cent easy going all the way, even with the backing of the traditional love Americans have for their mothers.

For one thing, the founder of the day, Anna Jarvis, fought to keep it from becoming commercialized.

For another, America's No. 1 son, George Washington, could never be quoted in a testimonial — he didn't even like his mother.

The billion-dollar sales figure comes from the National Committee on the Observance of Mother's Day, which salutes the occasion as:

"This gift-giving holiday which, for emotional response and intensity of impact throughout the nation, is surpassed only by Christmas."

BUSINESS BUILDERS
The national committee is a New York-based outfit that stands ready to supply posters, pennants, streamers, badges, carnations and other business builders for Mother's Day.

Weeks ago the committee called on retailers to "plan a consumers concentrated merchandising effort that will better serve the consumers' gift buying needs, and may readily establish an all-time peak in sales volume and profits."

The committee's Mother's Day theme: "Remember mother with a gift she'll remember."

That might have been enough to make Anna Jarvis turn over in her grave.

Judge Steakley spoke on the necessity for the respect for law in our society, pointing out that there are not enough police to enforce court decrees in the face of rebellion or resistance.

"It is my deep conviction that to the extent we undermine an independent judiciary, and lose respect for law, to such an extent are we living on borrowed time as a free people," declared Judge Steakley.

Bank Depository To Be Selected By School Board

The major item of business scheduled for Tuesday night's school board meeting is the selection and designation of a bank depository for the next biennium, Supt. Sam Anderson said Saturday.

"There may be some other developments over the weekend, but it looks like more or less routine business, including employment and placement of personnel, and considering resignations," he said.

Anderson said the architect, Almar Atkinson, was in Big Spring Friday working with administrative personnel to complete plans for remodeling Bauer, Boydston and Cedar Crest Schools, and completing preliminary plans for the enlarged and remodeled field house at Memorial Stadium, and for the new College Park Elementary School.

DEAR ABBY

Keep Him A Stranger

DEAR ABBY: I dialed a wrong number by mistake and this man who answered had such a nice, friendly voice I talked to him for about an hour. He said he was 33 and not married. He also told me lots of other interesting things about himself. He has been in the service and has been practically all over the world. Toward the end he even got a little romantic and said he would like to meet me in person. I am only 17 but I look much older. I didn't give him my telephone number but I told him my name. He gave me his phone number and his first name, but not his last. Should I call him? I would really like to meet him.

TELEPHONE SWEETHEART
DEAR SWEETHEART: This man sounds as though he would make a lovely stranger. Keep it that way. Anonymous telephone trysts are shabby and dangerous. Unless you want to live shabbily and dangerously, forget you ever heard his voice.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a clergyman. He is young, handsome, warmhearted and understanding. He is constantly being called upon to help poor frustrated women work out marital problems.

My problem: How do I handle love-starved women who transfer their affections to my husband? Women who feel that he can fill the need in their lives for affection and understanding. He never visits women in their homes unless their husbands are present. But some women stop him on the street, come to his office and even to his home. Everywhere I go, I hear how "lucky" I am to be married to such a wonderful man. What can I do?

PARSON'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Are you bragging or complaining? I once knew a clergyman who was all the things your husband was. Many women attempted to transfer their affections to him, but he was a past master at rerouting them. He told them in his most ministerial tone that they should emulate Benjamin Franklin, and go fly a kite.

DEAR ABBY: Is it still "in style" for a young man to ask the father of a young lady for her hand in marriage, or isn't that done any more? Our children, who are 19 and 21, tell us that this is "corny" and we are old-fashioned to expect it. We would like your opinion.

OLD-FASHIONED PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: It may be "corny" but there's a kernel of good manners there. It is usually a friendly visit in which the young man tells the girl's father how he intends to provide for her. It's only a formality, however. When a fellow asks for a lady's "hand," he usually has both feet in the door.

Penalty On Farmers And Merchants

Can Farmers and Merchants stand a 25% cut in cotton income for the Rolling Plains area?

COTTON INCOME THREATENED

The permissible acreage of skip-row plantings would be affected as follows on farms with cotton allotments of 50 acres and 40-inch rows:

	Rows		Present Proposed		Reduction
	Cotton	Skip	Acres	Per Cent	Acres	Per Cent
I	2	1	75	57.7	17.3	23
II	2	2	100	77.0	23.0	23
III	2	4	150	115.4	34.6	23
IV	4	2	75	65.3	9.7	13
V	4	4	100	87.0	13.0	13

WHAT YOU MUST DO TO SURVIVE

We must stand up and fight this and every other movement to reduce acreage by eliminating Skip-Row measurement. When we reduce cotton — foreign producers, man-made fiber, urea, and soybean production increase and we lose more markets to our competitors. Cotton interests must rise up and fight for old and new markets. We should have the aid of a sympathetic U.S.D.A. Administration rather than one that encourages a continual retreat, and less of markets for cotton and cottonseed products.

Each farmer is strongly urged to contact local bankers, Chambers of Commerce, local merchants, as well as ginners, oil mills, compresses, and others in the Cotton Industry to write their Congressman. Also, contact the State Representatives and request that they, too, contact Washington Representatives indicating the concern of people back home.

Makes Banking As Easy As Buying A Soda Pop

By JOE PICKLE
When you want a curtain which will hold in the heat and keep out the cold—or vice versa—but which will be perfectly transparent and cannot be felt, what do you do?
Make it out of air, that's what.

COW POKES By Ace Reid

"Now this part of the ranch will make a fine government subsidized recreation area!"

EASIER BANKING
One week from Monday, these three new units will be opened for service, and it should mean banking easier than getting a soda pop.

In addition to the three additional windows, which are a part of the bank's downtown expansion to the north, a glassed-in desk area is being extended beyond the present north portion of the building at Second and Main. Adjacent to this and in the same wing is the room for mechanical equipment, night depository and storage.

The present drive-in window—which was the first in town when it was opened in 1949—will be continued for commercial customers on the alley side between Main and Scurry. With this window and the three new ones, there is stack-up room to easily accommodate 30 to 40 cars.

The new drive in work centers are not unlike those at toll gates on toll roads. The entrance panel slides back so that the teller may reach or step out as through an open, wide door.

AIR CURTAIN
This is where the air curtain comes in.

Air drawn from the bank interior is forced downward through an overhead vent at a maximum velocity of 1,900 cfm or average of 1,700 cfm. This air is at a temperature compatible with that of the interior of the drive-in work unit or on the exterior. The teller can adjust the temperature inside the work area to comfort, or if needs be, switch on wall panels.

Because there is absolutely no barrier between the teller and the customer, there is no occasion for a microphone or speaker. In fact, the teller can, if she wishes, reach into the car window.

The air curtain will keep things perfectly calm as well as snug inside the work area. If checks need to be passed back for endorsement, this will be ac-

Assault Cases Dismissal Due

Two charges of aggravated assault pending against Wayne Basden, local attorney, slated for trial on Monday afternoon and Tuesday, will be dismissed, Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, said Saturday.

Davis said that Mrs. Suzanne Basden, complainant in the cases, told him Saturday she wished to drop the charges.

Davis said the dismissal of the two cases against Basden left only two other matters pending on the current county court criminal jury docket.

He said that he planned to go to trial with the case against Clifton B. Hollis on Tuesday. Hollis is accused of DWI.

A second DWI complaint, in which Charlie L. O. Daniel is the defendant, is on the docket but Davis said he has been told the defendant is in Tennessee. He said that he will call the case Tuesday and if O. Daniel does not answer, he will ask that the bond in the case be forfeited.

Judge Lee Porter has asked a jury panel to report Monday.

These cases are the last of a docket originally scheduled on April 19 when Judge Porter sounded a docket in the court

Opportunities In Retailing Bright

Opportunities in retailing for the more than 500,000 young men and women graduating from college this year "have never been brighter," in the view of Robert W. Young, vice president of the F. W. Woolworth Co.

"Retailing is becoming more competitive and expanding and needs qualified personnel to fill future executive positions and is searching college campuses for talent as never before," Young said.

"The retailing field today offers alluring opportunities to college graduates not only in merchandising, but such areas as accounting, real estate, construction and other specialized fields," Young said. "There are about 2,400 young men in training with our company, and during the past year we sent executive teams to 276 colleges and universities to outline career opportunities."

Warning Out On Chickens

HOUSTON (AP)—Health officials said Saturday pet Easter chickens sold here could be carrying a bacteria that might cause a serious and sometimes fatal disease in humans.

R. D. Wende, director of the Houston Health Department laboratory, said the chicks should be destroyed.

Wende said a test of five chickens revealed three had the salmonella bacteria which causes salmonellosis.

The bacteria can cause a serious intestinal disease in humans, he said. He said from one to five per cent of past cases in other areas were fatal.

A person can be infected by handling the chicks, said Wende, and the germ passes from the intestinal tract into the blood stream and causes high fever.

Corporation court receipts totaled $4,861.50 during April, police records have indicated. A considerable drop was expected during the month in fines for moving traffic violations, compared to March totals.

April record was 132 fines assessed, two dismissed, for $1,262 in fines. In March, 165 fines were assessed, 12 dismissed, two suspended and three appealed, for $1,707.

Increases were noted in two other categories. Vagrancy cases increased from 14 in March, $115 in fines, to 21 in April, $191. Disturbance fines increased from three in March, $75, to six this past month, $120. Minors in possession cases dropped from 14 in March to 11 last month, although the amount of fines increased from $460 to $550. Drunkenness cases for the two months were almost similar. Miss Dodger, owned by E. E. Robinson of Abilene and shown here by Carl Robinson, was named the Grand Champion mare in the fourth annual Big Spring Paint Stock Horse Show Saturday. Sixty horses from a three-state area competed in the one-day event.

County 4-H Members Win In Eliminations

Howard County 4-H club members won three first, four second, one third and two fourth places in the Extension District 2 4-H Club eliminations in Lubbock Saturday. The local youngsters were in competition with 4-H members from most of the High Plains counties.

Herb Hellbig, county farm agent, said he was well pleased. "Mrs. Catherine Crawford, the home demonstration agent, was equally pleased," he added. "It was probably the best showing we have made at a District 2 meet in a long time."

TO ROUND-UP
The meet will mean trips to College Station in June for the State 4-H club round-up for the boys and girls in the senior divisions who placed first and second.

These are Martha Couch, who won first on senior money management education; Kathy Shaw, first in Senior 4-H club food show; Lawrence Long and James Haston who teamed up to win top honors in senior electric demonstration; and Gary Riddle, who won second in the Senior Share-The-Fun.

Two Howard County youngsters won first places in junior competition. This does not mean a trip to College Station but did bring them acclaim.

Larry Shaw won the junior public speaking event, and Joan Crawford the junior clothing education competition.

Linda Shaw and Mike McLain won a third place in Civil Defense senior division. Poultry marketing efforts by Dero Shaw and those of John McGregory, and tractor driving by Danny Fryar won fourth place ribbons.

RED RIBBONS
A red ribbon, comparable to a second place, was given the ten-man team started in the Junior Share-The-Fun event. The team members are Debra Williams, Wanda Williams, Kayla Gaskins, Sheree Shaw, Angela Shaw, Johnny Pugh, Charles Williams, Keith Nichols, LaDeana Riddle and Sherry Riddle.

Kenny Gaskins and Bruce Nichols placed sixth in the junior safety demonstration.

INSTRUCTOR LIST
Instructors for the classes completed, and for those coming up are: Marvin Boyd, R. F. Tice, M. D. Whitley, Bob Brown, Pat Lawrence, J. R. Evans, and T. D. Paris.

Completing courses so far are: Ray Hiltbrunner, Max Pitts, Ronnie Cox, Robert Myers, Hubert Clawson, C. E. Adams and Don Frazier, of the Big Spring Fire Department; Sherrill Farmer, Robert L. Myrick, L. D. Adams, Peter A. Stone, W. H. Roger, R. E. Dugan, Stewart

Monitoring Nuclear Radiation

The group of men shown here with instruments to measure nuclear radiation on a strip of concrete contaminated with cobalt, completed the course Friday night at Big Spring High School. Contamination was heavier in some spots than others, but the practice gave the men an opportunity to test their knowledge of monitor usage.

County Mulls Right Of Way Land Values

Howard County Commissioners Court, at its session Monday, will review the appraised values set on property which will be needed for the extension of FM 700 west from US 87. After the appraisals, made by George Elliott and Harold Talbot, are studied, it is possible the court can fix the amount of a bond issue proposal to be laid before the county voters later on this year.

The prevailing opinion is that the bond issue will have to be for around half a million dollars.

RIGHT OF WAY
Under the agreement with the state highway department, the county will acquire the right of way needed for the extension and the state will build the highway.

The road, in general, will follow its present route until it passes the northern limits of Big Spring State Park property. Then it will swing north and west across the Edwards Estate and join IS 20 approximately at the point where the Sands Motel is located.

Actually, some right of way will have to be obtained east of the US-87 intersection to allow for construction of a crossing over the federal highway.

FURTHER STUDY
Talbot and Elliott turned in their report on Thursday. However, because one of the commissioners was not present—Simon Terrazas—the report was set aside for further study by the entire court.

Also up for possible action on Monday will be the contract the county is making with Central American Airways Flying Service. This contract will make facilities of the Howard County Airport available to the Central American for conducting its training program for USAF pilots.

SEASONS STATUE FALLS IN ROME
ROME (AP) — One of the four marble statues depicting the four seasons fell from the 13-foot wall around the Piazza del Popolo.

Police were investigating to determine whether it was accidental or a case of vandalism.

ON HAND
Instruments are on hand for all city and county trapezes, and about 25 per cent of them issued, Berry said. Others will be issued when needed, and will be used in the areas to be monitored.

E. B. Whitley is the Radiological Defense Officer, with Pat Lawrence as assistant. Marvin Boyd is the Radiological Training Officer.

"We have 11 qualified instructors, all trained by A&M instructors," Berry said. "This is a tough course, but the men are capable of conducting courses in the area as needed. A lot of mathematics is required to make accurate reports on findings, and many of those completing courses have had to go back and brush up on their studies to pass."

Minor Damage Done In Accidents
Two minor accidents were reported Saturday in the Big Spring area, with no injuries.

A car driven by J. W. Briggance, Rt. 1, and another by Lynn Brewer of Big Spring, were in collision at a private entrance just north of the City Cemetery about 8:40 a.m. Highway Patrolman Jimmy Parks, who investigated, said Miss Brewer was attempting a left turn into the driveway when the collision occurred. Minor damage was reported.

George Henley Rites Sunday

Mr. Henley, who had lived in Mitchell County since 1906, died at his home in Loraine suddenly Friday afternoon, presumably of a heart seizure. He was born Sept. 15, 1890 in Houston. He married Miss Lucy Cook in Colorado City Dec. 24, 1914.

Survivors include his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Bob Fatheree, Roswell, N.M., six brothers, J. H. and C. M. Henley, Snyder; E. F. Henley, Lubbock; J. B. Henley, Lamesa; and Tom Henley, Brownfield. He has one sister, Mrs. Adelle Armstrong, Amarillo.

Lamesan Wins At Science Fair

Excise Tax Slash Eyed

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Administration officials disclosed Saturday that Congress may be asked to eliminate some $5 billion of excise sales taxes in a series of repeals and reductions over the next several years.

Plans under study would include the 10 per cent tax on both new automobiles and telephone service in the midyear legislation, but provide for only small annual cuts — perhaps one or two percentage points annually for the next five or 10 years.

This plan, some officials contend, would erase the need to make the auto excise repeal retroactive. The industry has asked a retroactivity clause, to prevent prospective purchasers from staging a buyers' strike while waiting for the cut to take effect.

The recommendations still are under study. Officials predict privately that all decisions will be made in the next week or so, so that President Johnson can send draft legislation to Congress within the month.

Several administration officials are making speeches in Hot Springs to the Business Council, an organization of top industrialists.

THE WEEK

ing, but we also had persistent stiff wind—and it was out of the south and southwest. That's about as bad as being from the west, and according to the old quip, there's not much use praying for rain when the wind is in the west. When you get through Armed Forces Day without rain or severe weather, then you have the marks of a dry year. Our only chance seems for the rodeo to bring showers.

Speaking of the rodeo, do you realize that the start of this year's show is only 10 days away? That's right—May 19-20-21-22 are the earlier-than-usual dates. Everything is shipshape, and this promises to be an exciting show.

2nd Lt. Douglas C. Roach, member of Class 66-E at Webb AFB, received a signal honor at the dining-in Friday at the base. He not only received the Falcon Medal, the highest award which may go to a Civil Air Patrol cadet, but he was the first man ever to get the award.

There were a couple of other firsts on the home front. Oscar Turner Jr. and Ray McElmurry Jr. became the first young men to be sworn here under the job corps training program.

Jack Hendrix announced his resignation last week as chairman of the music department at Howard County Junior College. His contribution to the musical and cultural advance of our community during the past decade has been so great that this is a grievous blow. He will go to Odessa Junior College, whose favorite indoor sport seems to be raiding the HCJC faculty.

Howard County Commissioners Court got a partial report from appraisers last week. It was estimated that seven tracts might cost as much as $185,000 and this is only a handful of the total involved. However, these do represent what promises to be the most expensive holdings. When final figures are available, a bond election may be called.

"O' Supe" was paid a fine tribute during the week when the Parent-Teachers association city council presented him with a plaque for having dedicated 37 years of his life here to building better men and women. At the end of this month, W. C. Blankenship is retiring as a professional educator. Sheil No. 1 Reed, four miles

Tourist School To Open May 11, 12

Tuesday and Wednesday will be important days to those attending the school on "Selling and Serving Tourists" in Big Spring. The course will be offered during two sessions each day, of two and a half hours each, with George R. Jordan, manager of the Tourist Development Department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, as instructor.

Classes will be held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 7:30 to 10 p.m. each day in the First Federal Savings and Loan building.

Owners, operators and personnel of service stations, motels, hotels, restaurants, and other public places will be given an opportunity to hear an experienced instructor tell how to meet, greet, and give information to tourists.

DIRECT TOURISTS
The importance of being able to direct tourists to important or historical places, local areas and objects of interest, and to other routes will be stressed. Committees have been set up to contact owners and operators of all businesses coming in contact with tourists, and to encourage them to make time available to regular employes for taking advantage of the school.

In addition to those agencies coming in contact with tourists first, personnel from retail stores, transportation firms, banks, and utility companies, will be contacted and urged to send representatives.

GIVE INFORMATION
"Persons coming in closest contact with tourists," Chamber of Commerce Manager Carroll Davidson said, "should be in a position to give whatever information asked, and George Jordan knows how to present the best ways and methods. Every tourist family spending one night in the city will leave behind at least $25 to be divided among several local businesses, and tourist business is a big business—worth going after."

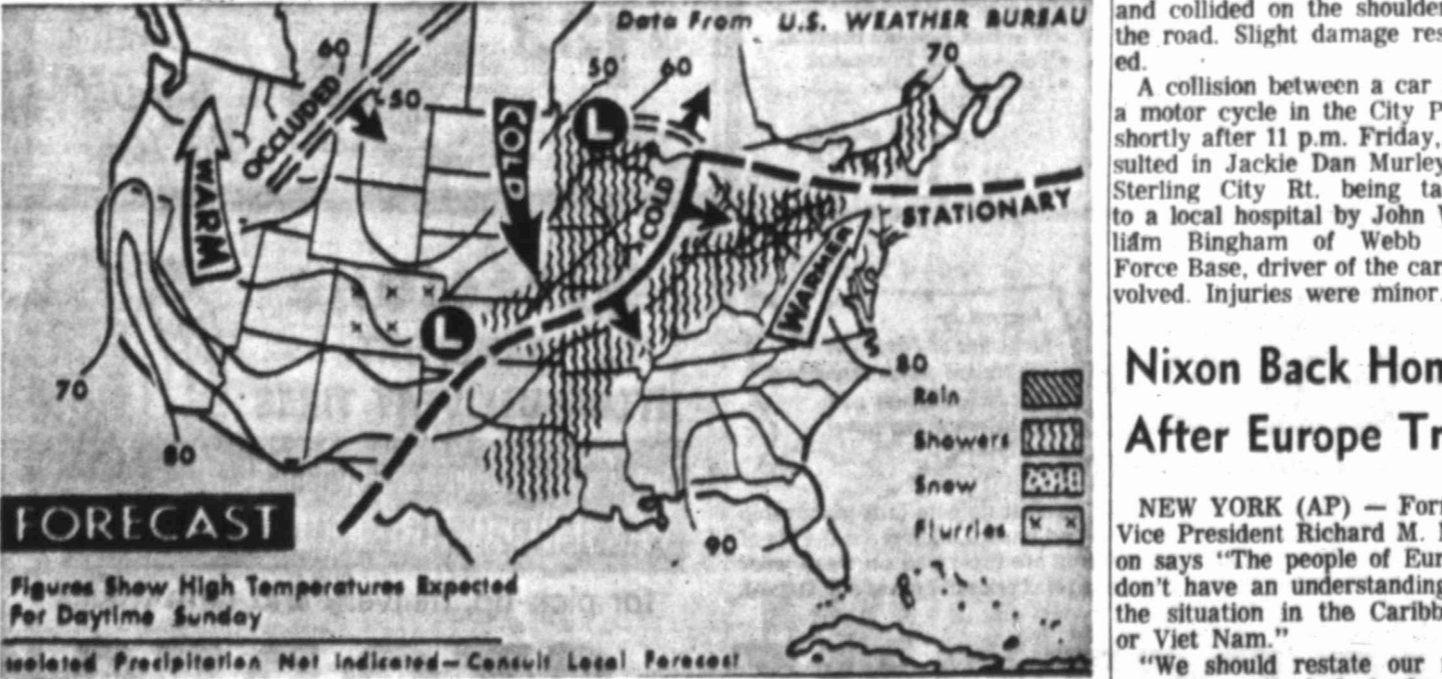

Anyone who has not been contacted by committee members may call the Chamber of Commerce office for information, or leave his name along with his intention to enroll.

Minor Damage Done In Accidents
Two minor accidents were reported Saturday in the Big Spring area, with no injuries.

A collision between a car and a motor cycle in the City Park shortly after 11 p.m. Friday, resulted in Jackie Dan Murley of Sterling City, Rt. being taken to a local hospital by John Wilford Bingham of Webb Air Force Base, driver of the car involved. Injuries were minor.

Nixon Back Home After Europe Trip
NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says "The people of Europe don't have an understanding of the situation in the Caribbean or Viet Nam."

"We should restate our reasons... particularly in the Dominican Republic where we are attempting to prevent a Communist takeover," Nixon told newsmen here upon his arrival after a two-day visit to Europe.

Weather Forecast
Showers and scattered thunderstorms are forecast Sunday on a broad band covering most of the midsection of the nation and into New England. Snow is expected in the central Rockies. Warm fronts will move up the east coast and Plateau areas and Pacific Northwest. (AP WIREPHOTO MAY)

SGT. JOHN A. WOLF JR.

Local Officers To A&M School

Police Sgt. John A. Wolf Jr. will attend a special police training course at Texas A&M University May 10-21, on a scholarship made available through Humble Oil & Refining Co. "Supervision of Police Personnel," the course this year, will be planned and conducted by The Traffic Institute of Northwestern University, with institute staff members as instructors.

Humble has cooperated with The Traffic Institute for 10 years in the sponsorship of police traffic training programs at leading universities. This is the fourth successive year for sponsoring the course at the Texas school on scholarships available to command, staff, and supervisory personnel of state law enforcement departments in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Similar courses are to be held at the University of Tennessee and the University of Maryland.

Wolf went with the Big Spring police department on March 1, 1962. He served as a patrolman until August, 1964, when he was promoted to sergeant. He and Mrs. Wolf, who live at 1506 E. 5th, have three children. One is in school and twins will start in September.

"By providing officers with the opportunity to receive specialized training, Humble hopes to improve and upgrade police traffic supervision and traffic law enforcement, thereby making the nation's streets and highways safer and more efficient," according to the public relations office of the company.

Co-Ops Fight Skip Row Acreage Cuts

The Rolling Plains Cooperative Compress of Sweetwater, and the Co-op Gins of Big Spring, Knott and Vincent, have joined other cotton interests to protest the proposed skip-row acreage reduction for cotton farmers.

The cooperatives are urging farmers to contact local bankers, chambers of commerce, merchants, ginners, oil mills, compresses, and others in the cotton industry, to write their Congressmen.

"MUST FIGHT"
"We must stand up and fight this and every other movement to reduce acreage by eliminating skip-row measurements," Rolling Plains spokesmen said. "When we reduce acreage we find foreign producers, man-made fibers, urea, and soybean producers stepping up their products, and we lose our markets to our competitors. Cotton interests must rise up and fight for old and new markets.

"We should have the aid of a sympathetic USDA Administration rather than one that encourages a continued retreat and fewer markets for cotton and cottonseed products."

ACREAGE CUT
The reduction in acreage, proposed in the skip-row planting, would amount to telling the farmers "you may plant only so many acres and you must not raise more than so many pounds per acre." They claim that it is the same thing as cutting out fertilizers and other soil builders, resulting in worn-out land and in discouraging soil improvement.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says, in explaining its proposal on cutting acreage in skip-row cotton, that cotton production this year is expected to exceed the domestic use plus exports to increase the carry-over for the fourth straight year.

PETITIONS SIGNED
Petitions are being signed by farmers, ginners, businessmen and bankers, to protest the proposal.

"Growers can submit data, views and recommendations in writing to the Director, Farmer Programs Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Washington, D.C. 20250. In addition they should submit carbon copies of these protests with letters to congressmen and senators. These must be postmarked not later than May 22 to be considered by the Department of Agriculture," Co-op officials said.

MRS. MARVIN MILLER, age 53, passed away Friday at Big Spring Services Monday 4 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church. Interment Trinity Memorial Park.

Skipper Represents Tech At Intercollegiate Rodeo

The chip off of the chip off the old block won't be able to make the annual Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo and Reunion this year. He has some shows of his own going, not to mention final exams at Texas Tech. The chip happens to be William J. Driver, whom most people know only as Skipper. Skipper is president of the Texas Tech Rodeo Association and will be representing this school in intercollegiate competition at the time the big show comes off here May 19-20-21-22. Last week, while helping stage and participate in the Tech rodeo, Skipper received an unexpected but unusual honor. He was chosen by his fellow members in the Texas Tech Rodeo Association to receive the Dub Parker Award.

The outward symbol of the award is a handsome silver belt buckle given annually by Mrs. Roy Hickman, Morton, in honor of her son, Dub Parker, a Tech graduate and president of the FTRA who was killed in a car mishap. The award is given on the basis of a secret ballot to the person who has done the most to advance rodeoing and the association.

Recently at the Oklahoma A&M rodeo, Skipper was named the all-around cowboy of the show, an honor he duplicated at the Hardin-Simmons University rodeo in Abilene the following week.

For the past two years he has served as president of the Tech Association, and prior to that—during his senior year in high school and first year in college—he was elected president of the American Junior Rodeo Association.

Skipper participates in the roping events, usually calf roping and ribbon roping, and in bulldogging. He comes by his rodeo skill naturally, for his grandfather, Ira J. Driver, was not only one of the founders of the Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo and Reunion, but in his days as a young cowboy, went with a rodeo troupe to South America. From the time he was a baby, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Driver, took him to the show here, and thus he observed firsthand some of the best rodeo cowboys in the country.

Negro Students Urged To March

HOUSTON (AP)— Leaders of two Negro groups have asked pupils of the city's five Negro high schools to stay away from classes and to participate in a so-called civil rights march Monday.

Safety Valve For Space Emergencies Faces Test

HOUSTON (AP)— The safety valve that would whisk moon-bound astronauts to safety in an emergency gets its most severe test next week at White Sands Missile Range, N.M.

Apollo program officials at the Manned Spacecraft Center said Saturday the firing of a Little Joe 2 rocket topped by a dummy Apollo spacecraft and its escape tower to a record height of 175,000 feet will be attempted May 19.

MOST POWERFUL
Generating more than 750,000 pounds of thrust in two stages, the Little Joe 2 and the Apollo escape system will be the most powerful vehicle fired at the New Mexico range, where the U.S. space program started.

The mighty vehicle's range exceeds the limits of the 100-mile long desert proving grounds. A 60-mile extension will be added. About 20 families will be moved from their ranches for the firing.

Scientists hope to determine by the test at what altitude an astronaut could be returned safely to earth using the escape tower rocket system if trouble developed in the giant, Saturn booster.

BE ATTACHED
Six solid-fuel rocket motors, each with about 110,000 pounds of thrust, will be attached to the nine-story tall Little Joe 2, named after a popular dice game expression.

Three of the rocket motors will launch the 28-ton vehicle, which will simulate a Saturn moon rocket.

At 27,000 feet, and 40 seconds later, the other three motors will hurl the silver-colored, stubby rocket to 112,000 feet altitude.

At that point Little Joe 2 disconnects itself from the command module, where three astronauts would be riding if the test were manned.

Work is completed on the foundation - floor for the new office building and hangar at Howard County Airport for the beginning of Webb Air Force Base's new pilot training program using the light Cessna aircraft. The floor is all concrete, with plumbing roughed in for rest rooms.

A Super 18 Beechcraft airplane, carrying a couple of Piggy Wiggly executives, flew in Howard County Airport Friday morning for a business trip. The Shopright Foods, Inc. craft was out of Albuquerque, N. M.

Another visiting aircraft, a Beechcraft Debonair, carrying representatives of Holiday Inns of America, flew in from El Dorado, Ark. this week also.

Local flying clubs are becoming a little more active as the weather warms up. Big Spring Flying Club members using the two airplanes were: Colt - Hopkins (4), Johnson (3), Norton (3); Skyhawk - Farris (2), Warren (3), Marchbanks, Allen (2 1/2 - day cross country), Beull, Stewart (2).

Howard County Flying Club flights were: Colt - Moore, Garner (4), Eaton, Steffen (2), McClure, Brumley, Weaver, White (2), Moore (2), Dodson (3-day cross country); Cherokee 180 - Reed (3), Dawes, Dotson (2), Brumley (3 and cross country), Green, Arrick (2), Waller.

In connection with the "Billionth Barrel" celebration in Andrews May 23, a Fly-in Breakfast has been arranged. Breakfast will be served from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Prizes will be given for the first arrival, spot landing, oldest pilot, youngest private pilot, and pilot coming the greatest distance. There will be no postponement because of weather.

The celebration will mark the day when Andrews County produces its billionth barrel of oil. An appropriate historical marker will be erected on the courthouse lawn.

Any one flying in will be provided transportation to the church of his choice, and will be treated to air shows during the day.

There's also a new airplane out at Howard County Airport. A new Cherokee 140 arrived from Florida Wednesday night. Howard Lloyd, airport manager, says it will be used in his pilot-training program. The all-white aircraft is a two place plane.

Construction Pace Still Higher Than Last Year

Big Spring's construction pace in the first four months of 1965 has moved more than $300,000 above the same four months of last year.

During April the city's building activity approached the $400,000 mark, almost $150,000 above the totals for March. The April building activity was almost $100,000 above the April total last year.

The total construction for 1965, at the end of April, was $1,469,946. The 1964 figure at the same time was $1,157,026.

The April figure of $394,670 put the month second highest this year, behind the $563,076 mark set during February.

Major project during April was a $115,000 business building begun as part of the Highland Shopping Center construction at US 87 and FM 700, being constructed by South Mountain, Inc.

Business construction went from $29,900 in March to $178,000 this past month, while residential construction dropped from $228,900 during March to $213,900 in April.

Another major business permit was for a new service station, by Texaco, Inc., at US 87 and FM 700, also part of the Highland Center area. The permit was for $30,000.

A new business building was begun at 807 E. 2nd, owned by Eugene Peters, with the permit at $6,000.

A total of $185,500 in new residential construction was begun during April, including 11 new residences. High permit was $24,000, for a house at 1506 Kiowa Drive.

Another residential project begun was the re-roofing of 60 houses in the South Monticello Addition, with the contract awarded to a Macon, Ga., firm, Town and Country Pest Control. Permits for the 60 houses totalled $10,200.

Residential work included $10,900 in additions, $4,800 in remodeling permits, $2,600 for two houses being demolished, $4,000 for a foundation, and $1,335 for moves of seven houses.

Commercial construction included $19,450 for 15 signs, $2,100 for two business remodeling jobs and $625 for two moves of business buildings.

The number of permits issued saw a sharp increase, partly due to the 60 permits for re-roofing work, to 121 for April. The March figure was 50 permits.

Methodists May Reduce Districts

Proposals to eliminate at least one district and possibly two, are expected to be presented to the Northwest Texas Annual Conference of The Methodist Church when it convenes May 24 at First Methodist Church, Lubbock.

The proposal calls for a reduction in the number of districts in the conference from nine to seven. Unconfirmed reports make Stamford most likely to go, with Brownfield next in line. The conference determines the number of districts but the establishment of the boundaries is left to the judgment of the presiding bishop.

Bishop O. Eugene Slater, the bishop of the Northwest Texas-San Antonio Area of the Methodist Church, will preside at all the sessions.

Dr. Dow Kirkpatrick, pastor of First Methodist Church, Evanston, Ill., will be the conference preacher. Dr. Kirkpatrick was pastor of St. Mark Methodist Church, Atlanta, Ga., for a number of years before going to Evanston to succeed Dr. Harold Bosley. Dr. Kirkpatrick will preach Tuesday evening, May 25, and Wednesday and Thursday at 11:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

A number of prominent Methodists will speak during sessions of the conference. Dr. J. Otis Young will represent the Methodist Publishing House, Bishop Ralph Dodge, of Africa, will speak in connection with the report of the Board of Missions. Dr. Carl Stocking of the general board of Education, Nashville, will discuss the new materials now being used in Christian education.

The committee on Conference Merger will recommend the adoption of two resolutions to aid plans for the elimination of the Central Jurisdiction (Negro churches and conference).

A proposed constitution for the Northwest Texas Conference Council will be presented on Tuesday. The council coordinates the programs of the various boards of the conference.

RECORD TOSS HIGHLIGHTS CONFERENCE MEET

Matson Flings Shot 70-7

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Mighty Randy Matson smashed the 70-foot barrier in the shot put Saturday, breaking his own pending world's record of 69 feet, 3/4 inch with an astounding throw of 70-7.

brace on his left knee where he has a pulled ligament, was magnificent on each put and his efforts brought a mighty cheer from the crowd of 3,000 that came largely to watch him.

AGGIES' RANDY MATSON Beats his own world record

"I expected to get about 68 feet today," Matson said. "But when I warmed up I felt so good I decided to just go for that 70 feet. It was a great thrill for me to make it."

Matson said he had not expected to hit 70 feet this year. The big sophomore, who has exceeded 69 feet three times, wouldn't predict what he would do in the future. He is like that — he never expects anything startling.

Jayhawks Triumph In Roswell Meet

ROSWELL, N.M. — Howard County Junior College remained the kingpin in the Western Junior College Conference track meet but by the narrowst margin in the history of the school.

Working without their star quarter-miler, Steve Langham, the Hawks piled up credits in the field events to out-point the Cadets. Langham was out, due to a foot injury. Coach Red Lewis also missed the meet as he was the referee for the State track meet in Austin over the weekend.

The Jayhawks edged past the Cadets of host New Mexico Military Institute by a margin of one-third of a point. HCJC scored 82 points to 81 1/2 for NMMI. Four records were shattered and one tied in the two-day meet.

Charles Bailey Ousted In City Golf Tourney

Charley Bailey, a former champion, was ousted in the first round of competition in the annual City Golf tournament at the Mundy course Saturday when he lost to John Burgess, 2 and 1.

Carroll played his first flight first round match and succeeded in defeating Bill Patton by a 1 up tab.

Only one other first round match was played in the championship flight. Jan Smith turning back Armando Torres by a 3 and 2 tab.

Roy Anderson was a last minute entry in the tournament, bringing to 63 the number who paid entry fees. He drew a bye in the third flight.

The tournament will extend through next Sunday. Most first round matches are due to be completed by nightfall tonight. One change has been made in the championship flight pairings: Joe Peay, who had qualified with a 77, replaced Loy Carroll, who was charged to the first flight.

Peay's first round opponent will be Jimmy Newsom, who

HC Double Bill Is Called Off

A doubleheader baseball game between HCJC and San Angelo College, scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday at Steer Park, was called-off. Officials report there will be no make-up game.

This is the first year in recent history that HCJC has fielded a baseball team, although they were not competing for the conference crown. The two teams have met once before, with San Angelo winning both games of a doubleheader.

Longhorns Shaded By Cooper, 3-1

ABILENE — The Cooper Cougars scored three unearned runs in the fourth on their way to a 3-1 District 2-AAAA baseball victory over Big Spring here Saturday.

The defeat virtually knocked the Steers out of the running for the conference flag, for it was their sixth reversal in ten league starts. The Longhorns go to Odessa Tuesday to oppose Permian.

Charles Burdette, on the mound for Big Spring, yielded only two hits and neither figured in the Cougars' big inning.

The Steers raked the offerings of Bobby Withrow for five blows, including a triple and a single by Gregg Pate.

Big Spring picked up its lone run in the second on a base on balls to Sammy Mims, a sacrifice and Pate's triple. The Longhorns loded the sacks in the final round but couldn't push a run across.

Mays Injured As Giants Shut Out By Drysdale

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Don Drysdale pitched a three-hitter and rapped two hits himself as the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped San Francisco 9-0 for their fifth straight victory Saturday.

Drysdale tripled and scored on Maury Wills' bunt single in the fourth inning and started a two-run seventh inning with a single.

San Francisco's Willie Mays crashed into the center field fence trying for an over-the-shoulder catch of Drysdale's drive in the fourth and was stunned momentarily.

Mays left the game after the sixth inning but was reported to be only shaken up. The center fielder had his home run streak stopped at four consecutive games. He had hit five in that time.

South Texans Are Dominant day, and hung in for second behind San Marcos' winning 3:17.6 to take home the championship.

Pittsburg trailed Sinton by 18 points going into the mile relay, but won that event and the state title with 42 points. Sinton with 40 points had to sit back and watch since it did not have a mile relay entry.

Booker, grabbing double points for first-place finishes in the 440-yard and mile relays, easily won the B crown with 51 points. Bangs was a distant second with 31.

Corpus Christi Ray and George West, both South Texas teams, Friday night won Class AAAA and A, giving that area three of five conference champions.

Liberty finished with 54 points, also taking second in the 440-yard relay; second in the 100 when Carl Hight was clocked in 9.4; second by Rusty Hight in the 220-yard dash and third in the 120-yard high hurdles when Dan Carter ran a 14.7.

It was the second state championship in two years for Liberty, which broke up a West Texas domination in 1964 to win the AA title.

One national record fell during the meet, and another national time tied although a strong wind prevented a 9.4 by Breckenridge's Monte Stratton in the 100-yard dash from being considered.

Twenty-four state and conference records were broken and one state record was tied—Stratton's dash.

In third place in AAA was Monahans with 28 points, followed by Beaumont Forest Park with 27 and Gainesville and Breckenridge with 26. Breckenridge missed a chance for third when the West Texans dropped the baton on the final handoff of the 440-yard relay, which they were leading.

Steers' Spring Game Is Scheduled May 21

The Big Spring Steers will play their annual intra-squad football games in Memorial Stadium the night of Friday, May 21, under the sponsorship of the Quarterback Club.

The booster organization annually uses the game to raise funds for their fall activities. Prices for admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

In reality, two contests will take place. Sophomores out for spring workouts will square off for a scrimmage at 6 p. m. while the varsity troops, divided as evenly as possible by the coaches, will play under game conditions at 8 o'clock.

High school and junior high bands will perform at half time during the varsity contest.

Peje Cook heads up the corps of officials who will work the game. David Elrod will serve as announcer while R. C. Thomas will operate the clock—all for free.

The Steers completed their first week of workouts Friday and coach Don Robbins said he was not too happy with the results.

The team has been having to split its talent with the baseball and track teams. Track season ended Saturday with the state meet in Austin but the baseball team will continue play for another two weeks.

Fourteen boys now out for baseball are doubling as footballers, when the time permits. Included in their ranks are three quarterbacks the club will be counting on next year—Gregg Pate, Van Tom Whatley and Richard Cauley.

The Longhorns will probably scrimmage heavily for the first time this coming week, Robbins said.

Gary Rogers, one of the quarterbacks now out for drills, has been limping around with a bad leg. Joe Jaure, an all-district player who has been with the track team, reports to the Longhorns on a full-time basis Monday. Much depends on him in the 1965 football wars.

The Big Springers have been conducting their workouts on the practice field north of the high school building.

Big Spring opens its 1965 season against the Lamesa Tornados Sept. 10 at home.

Public Links Sectional Slated Here June 21

Entry applications for the Sectional Round of the 40th Annual Amateur Public Links Golf championships must be in the hands of John Pipes, chairman, by 5 p. m. Wednesday, June 2. Entry fee remains at $5.

which $3 will go toward paying the expenses of the local representative to and from the Nationals. The National Public Links meet takes place over the North Park Golf Course, Pittsburgh, Pa., July 12 through July 17.

Sectional Play here will be conducted over 36 holes at the Big Spring Country Club Monday, June 21.

A total of 150 players will qualify for the Nationals. Robb Smith represented Big Spring in last year's National tournament. The reigning titleist is Bill McDonald of Topeka, Kansas, who automatically qualifies for this year's tournament.

The National titlest earns a silver cup and custody of the James D. Standish Jr. cup for the ensuing year. The runner-up gets a silver medal while other semifinalists will be awarded bronze medals.

Pipes is a member of the 66-man Public Links committee, which has Robert F. Dwyer as its chairman.

Big Spring is one of three qualifying sites for the National Public Links Sectional play will also be conducted at Tension Golf Course in Dallas June 25 and the Memorial course in Houston June 23.

In all, Sectionals take place at 48 courses around the nation.

Huntley Bidding For Race Repeat

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N. M. — "No chance" when everything is said and done, the All-American Futurity could produce two unusual firsts here come Labor Day, Monday Sept. 6.

It has been said before and probably will continue to be said the way things are going, but this time indications point to the All-American taking its place as the nation's richest horse racing stakes of any kind. If not this year, then next year for sure when it figures to top $400,000.

Yet, this year's seventh running, at this writing points to a gross purse of $350,000. Should neither the combined Arlington-Washington Futurity in Chicago nor the Garden State Stakes in New Jersey top this figure, then the All-American will become the year's richest classic.

That takes care of one first. The other would develop if Hugh Huntley of Madera, Calif., should strike again in the first six runnings. Messrs. Huntley and trainer Newt Keck have batted an almost unbelievable .500, winning three times — with Galobar in 1959, Pokey Bar, 1961, and Goetta, 1963.

Huntley came up with an iron-clad guarantee that he wouldn't win it last year. "No chance," he said. "I only win 'em in the odd-numbered years, so watch out for me in 1965!" And the man was right.

Now the question is, can he be right again? At this time, Huntley has three of the 154 hopefuls currently remaining eligible — Pokette Bar, Thor Rocket, and Dimple Deck.

In this respect, Huntley's outlook is none too promising. Texas and California continue to be represented by the greatest number of eligibles, but if there is strength in numbers then Arizona and Louisiana loom large.

From Arizona comes the large, single nominator, Charles W. Mickle of Scottsdale, whose Mickle's Valley View Ranch has named no less than seven — Rebel Charge, Estravon, Rebel's Sis, Vanena, Vanny's Pet, Vanny's Annie and Vanny's Venture.

In the case of Louisiana, it is represented by the biggest buyer at last fall's All-American Futurity yearling sale, Harvey Pelletier of Thibodaux, with the trio of Goer, Bob Super, and Ettago, a full brother to world champion Goetta.

Ruidoso Downs opens its 60-day summer season Friday, May 21.

Snyder Seeking To Claim Title

SNYDER — The Snyder Tigers will seek to clinch the District 3-AAA baseball championship in a 4 p. m. game here Tuesday with Levelland.

The Tigers are undefeated in league play, having won eight straight decisions. Lamesa is the only club which could tie the Tigers for the top spot.

Snyder warmed to the task by defeating Colorado City in a practice game at Colorado City Thursday, 10-7.

Colorado City had previously beaten Snyder, 2-0. Snyder went an extra inning to win the Thursday contest.

Krebs Funeral Slated Monday

DALLAS (AP) — Funeral services for Jim Krebs, who made basketball a major sport at Southern Methodist, will be held Monday at Highland Park Methodist Church.

Krebs, 30, was killed Thursday by a falling tree in the Los Angeles suburb of Woodland Hills.

He was helping a neighbor fell a tree. The neighbor, Robert Miller, said the tree toppled the wrong way and fell against the rouse. As they tried to remove it, the tree slid down and struck them. Miller was able to get free and summon help.

Krebs, SMU's only All-American basketball player, led his team to three successive Southwest Conference championships in 1955, 1956 and 1957.

The 6-8 star played professionally for the Lakers seven years. He had worked as a bank loan executive since his retirement last year.

Astros Launch Longest Home Stand Monday

HOUSTON—The Houston Astros will begin their longest homestand of the season at 7:30 p. m. Monday, May 17, against the Los Angeles Dodgers in the Astrodome.

The Astros will play 16 games against five of the National League's toughest competitors—the Dodgers (3), the San Francisco Giants (4), the Cincinnati Reds (3), the world champion St. Louis Cardinals (3) and the Milwaukee Braves (3) in games through June 1. It will be the first appearance in the Astrodome for all five visitors.

The Dodgers, one of the leading contenders for the 1965 National League pennant, feature some of the league's top pitchers in Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres and Claude Osteen plus speed merchants Maury Wills and Willie Davis.

The Giants, with the incomparable Willie Mays, pitcher Juan Marichal, and slugger Orlando Cepeda and Willie McCovey will be in the Astrodome for the first big weekend series of the homestand, including a day-night double header Saturday, May 22. The afternoon game will start at 12:15 p. m. instead of 1:30, as originally scheduled.

Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson will bring the strong Cincinnati Reds to Houston for two night games and the only week-end daytime game in the Astrodome (Wednesday, May 26).

The St. Louis Cardinals, who made a storybook finish of the regular season and the World Series against the New York Yankees, will visit the Astros for two night games and a Saturday afternoon game after the Red's departure. They've still got all the series heroes—Bob Gibson, Ken Boyer, Tim Lincecum, Mike Shannon, Lou Brock and others.

The Milwaukee Braves will conclude the Astros' homestand Long ball hitters Hank Aaron, Ed Mathews, and Felipe Alou will test the Astrodome fences in that series.

The Astros will be seeking the same success which carried them to a 9-1 record over the Pittsburgh Pirates, New York Mets and Chicago Cubs in the first homestand.

The Astros have lost in official play in the Astrodome only on April 12 to the Phillies, and May 2 to the Chicago Cubs.

The Astrodome schedule (All games at 7:30 p. m. unless otherwise noted):

League Aims Noise Edict At Aggies

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — The Southwest Conference moved Saturday to eliminate crowd noises at football games that interfere with the conduct of the game and give an advantage to one of the teams.

The anti-noise rule obviously was aimed at Texas A&M, whose student body caused the game to be halted repeatedly when the Aggies played Arkansas at College Station last fall. The noises came when Arkansas had the ball.

There was a recurrence at Dallas the next week in the Texas A&M - Southern Methodist game, but both sides were involved.

The rule would give the officials power to enforce the penalty for sportsmanlike conduct if they decide such noise is creating an unfair advantage for one team. The rule also would apply to basketball.

Another rule aimed at eliminating bothersome noise at football games was one that banned the use of cannon. This was described as a safety measure as well as means of eliminating a disturbance.

The conference said it had noted with concern the increasing number of accidents and disturbances that have resulted from the use of cannon at football games.

The faculty committee, governing body of the conference, included these rules among business handled in the windup of the semi-annual meeting Saturday.

The "take" of competing teams in bowl games was raised from $60,000 to $100,000 and a boost was voted in the pay of officials in basketball.

The range of conference coaches in recruiting was enlarged with the decision that the limit of visitations of two before and two after with a high school prospect in the signing of a letter of intent would apply only to Texas and Arkansas. Outside these two states, the visits will be unlimited.

The latter obviously was to give the conference schools a better opportunity in competing with other conferences for schoolboy athletes.

Nine Athletes At ACC To Run In NCAA Meet

ABILENE — Nine Abilene Christian College track and field performers and both Wildcat relay teams have qualified for the NCAA Championships at Berkeley, Calif., June 17-19, coach Bill McClure has announced.

The nine athletes have met qualifying standards in nine events. Three Wildcats have qualified in two events—Roger Orrell, shot put and discus; R. Lynn Saunders, 100 and 220 yard dashes, and Charles Christmas, 800 and mile.

Orrell has easily surpassed qualifying marks in both events, having thrown the shot put 59-9½, and the discus 177-10. Christmas has done likewise in the distances. He has run the mile in 4:09.8 and the 800 in 1:50.1, the latter ranking as one of the best times in the nation.

Dunn has clocked a 9.6 in the 100 and a 21.1 in the 220. Lynn Saunders also owns one of the country's best marks in the 400 yard dash with a 46.3.

Other individual qualifiers include Doug Thompson, 440 (46.8); Bruce Johnson, 880 (1:50.8 relay); Gale Harrison, 220 (29.8); Del Cothren, 120-yard hurdles (14.2); and Craig Fox, 440-yard hurdles (53.1).

The Wildcat 440-yard relay team of Cullen Davis, Bubba Brown, Dunn and Harrison has run 4:07 and the mile relay quartet of Harrison, Dunn, Thompson and Saunders has clocked 3:08.5.

The qualifying standards for the NCAA competition are as follows:

ACKERLY — The 1965 Sands High School Mustangs open their football season Sept. 10 with a game at home against Three Way.

Coach Eddie Gill's boys will be trying to improve upon a splendid 6-3-1 record the team achieved last year.

The Ponies, who play eight-man ball, play home contests with Bula, Forsan, Dawson, Loop and Wellman, as well as with Three Way.

Gill expects about 40 boys to report for workouts in August. Of that group, ten will be lettermen.

Residual Fuel Controls May Be Dropped In Eastern Area

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Many independent oil operators apparently would not be too unhappy if import controls were abandoned for residual fuel oil consumed in the Eastern seaboard industrial area.

This may seem surprising since such residuals average nearly one million barrels a day, about 45 per cent of all the foreign oil being brought into the United States.

A new trend of thought was in evidence, however, at last week's Colo. meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association, a trade group that has fought oil imports at practically all levels since 1929.

The status of residuals on the East Coast prompted the only sharp debate at the meeting.

IMPORTS FAVORED
Technically, the association still favors import quotas for the heavy residual oils, but the debate indicated clearly the independents were backing away from their traditional position.

A motion to reaffirm the policy was tabled on 26-22 vote by the imports policy committee.

This left the association in the same position as in early 1961 when it last spelled out support of residual quotas during a Washington hearing.

Since then two distinct supply and demand trends have made it unnecessary for the independents to concentrate on residuals while seeking sharp oil imports rollbacks.

The independents recognize the Eastern industrial area must have a plentiful supply of the heavy fuel oils. At the same time they recognize domestic refiners have curtailed residual production sharply while boosting output of more profitable products such as gasoline.

Jake Hamon, the imports chairman from Dallas, yielded the chair so he could speak against a subcommittee recommendation to reaffirm.

"We could bring in every barrel of residual needed in this country because we can't supply it," Hamon said.

"The refinery yield for residuals is down to eight per cent and within five to 10 years we won't make residuals at all on the East Coast."

LOST FRIENDS
Hamon said a belief by many New England residents that import quotas have prevented residual prices from dropping has lost the oil industry many friends.

"We used to have a lot of New England friends for our depletion tax allowance but now we have very few," he said.

"Why not stand neutral instead of bringing down the wrath of New England?"

Robert Wood, the subcommittee chairman and former association president from Midland, said he could see no plus factors in abandoning quotas even though he personally did not believe residual imports would increase appreciably if controls were dropped.

"But what would happen during a national emergency?" Wood asked. "Would domestic refiners be able to take over if foreign residuals are not available?"

The tabling vote sent the matter to an executive committee headed by President H. A. True Jr. of Casper, Wyo.

Executive committeemen authorized a letter to the Office of Emergency Planning, which is studying the situation.

This letter will make no recommendations on keeping or lifting residual quotas but will outline problems the government should guard against if such quotas are abandoned.

With or without controls, the independents want to make certain no foreign residual oil winds up in a domestic refinery for processing into lighter products.

Texas Had 30 Per Cent Of U. S. Bits Drilling May 3

The total number of drilling rigs actually making hole in Texas May 3 was 412. This was 31 under the number recorded April 26, while it was only three under the turning bits of April 5. For the entire one-year period from May 4, 1964, the number of bits turning decreased by 86 from 498.

Texas bits making hole make up approximately 30 per cent of the total in the United States and Canada, and made up the largest single area of any part of the nation.

Billionth Barrel Plans Shaping Fast At Andrews

ANDREWS — Plans are snowballing for Andrews County's Billionth Barrel celebration May 24-25 when thousands of visitors are expected to come in, including top state and national dignitaries and oil company officials.

Since the discovery of oil at the C. E. Ogden No. 1 in 1929, the county has grown consistently in production and, for the past 10 years, has been the leading producer in the state. It now has 196 fields with 7,400 producing wells which yield approximately 60 million barrels annually.

Highlighting the activities during the two-day festivities will be the dedication of the billionth barrel historical marker, at 4 p.m. May 25, on the courthouse lawn. According to an oil company computer in Houston, actual production of the billionth barrel is set for that afternoon.

dedication of billionth barrel at 4:30 p.m. at the county court house, and a barbecue at 5:30 p.m. to wind up the full day.

Motor Vehicles Are Gaining Faster Than Service Stations

NEW YORK — Oil Facts reports that between 1958 and 1963, the number of motor vehicles in the United States increased nearly nine times faster than the number of service stations.

The Census Bureau counted 206,755 service stations in 1958. The next tally, in 1963, showed 211,473 — a gain of only 2.3 per cent.

Tax Is Half Of Gasoline Price

NEW YORK — Federal and state gasoline taxes are now costing American motorists almost $20 million a day, Oil Facts reports.

The publication points out that the anticipated collections of $7.2 billion during 1965 will be more than twice the amount collected from gasoline taxes in 1955. Since that year, the average gasoline tax rate has increased approximately 36 per cent.

Collections for only two months of 1965 equal the total amount paid in gasoline taxes in 1945.

The average gallon of regular grade gasoline sells for around 20 cents, plus more than 20 cents in taxes. Thus, gasoline purchasers pay the equivalent of a sales tax of more than 50 per cent.

Oil Reserves Increase Despite Peak Production

The nation's proved reserves of crude oil and natural gas liquids showed a net increase of 93 million barrels during 1964, according to figures released by Oil Facts.

At the year's end these liquid hydrocarbon reserves were estimated at 38.7 billion barrels—only slightly below the peak figure at the end of 1961.

Rotary Rigs Drop Again

Lea County, N. M., is back at the head of the list of rigs working for an area in the Permian Basin Empire in a survey compiled by Reed Roller Bit Co. The tally shows 179 units working Friday, down one from the count of the prior week, and 49 fewer than the 228 listed in the comparable week in 1964.

Lea County had 31, six more than last week, while Pecos dropped six from the 28 last week. Ector County with 13 is third, and showed a gain of three for the week.

The rig count for Friday, with last week's figures in parentheses, showed: Andrews 12 (9), BORDEN 1 (1), Chaves 0 (4), Coke 1 (1), Crane 4 (6), Crockett 5 (3), DAWSON 4 (6), Ector 13 (10), Eddy 11 (11), Fisher 1 (2), Gaines 10 (12), GLASSCOCK 2 (0), Hockley 6 (6), HOWARD 2 (2), Irion 2 (1), Kent 2 (3), Lea 31 (25), Loving 2 (3), MARTIN 0 (1), Midland 2 (2), Monal 1 (1), Pecos 22 (28), Reagan 2 (4), Reeves 3 (3), Roosevelt 3 (4), Runnels 2 (1), Schleicher 4 (2), Scurry 1 (1), STERLING 2 (1), Stonewall 1 (0), Sutton 2 (1), Terrell 2 (1), Terry 0 (1), Tom Green 2 (1), Upton 4 (5), Ward 6 (4), Winkler 5 (9), Yoakum 6 (7), Total 379 (190).

New Pipeline For Oklahoma

HOUSTON (AP)—Officials of two pipeline companies announced plans Saturday for construction of a multi-million dollar pipe line from southern Oklahoma to Medford, Okla.

Making the joint announcement were W. L. Kygar, president of Continental Pipe Line Co., and Don Miller, president of Skelly Pipe Line Co.

The line, which will transport propane, butane and natural gasoline, will initially gather products from gasoline plants and refineries in Stephens, Carter, Garvin, McLain, Cleveland and Oklahoma counties for delivery into Cherokee Pipe Line near Medford.

Pesticide Kills Elm Beetles

NEW YORK — Oil Facts reports that an oil company's scientists have developed a pesticide which, when injected into the base of an elm tree, travels to the topmost branches and leaves, where it kills beetles that carry the Dutch elm disease.

Rotary Rigs Drop Again

The 1964 gain occurred in spite of record-breaking production of both crude oil and natural gas liquids, totalling about 3.2 billion barrels. The increases were due in part to new discoveries and partly to revisions of previous estimates and extensions of pools discovered earlier.

Proved reserves are those which experience indicates can be recovered from known reservoirs under existing economic and operating conditions.

Proved reserves, however, are only a fraction of the total petroleum reserves that may ultimately be found in this country. Ultimate reserves of crude oil in the U.S. are usually estimated by qualified experts at between 200 and 600 billion barrels.

The oil industry has increased its proved reserves almost constantly since the first well was drilled in 1859, despite ever-growing consumption of petroleum products.

For example, in 1925 crude oil reserves were estimated at 8.5 billion barrels. Since that time nearly 85 billion barrels have been produced, but crude oil proved reserves have, nevertheless, climbed to 31 billion barrels.

Family Service Notes Anniversary Saturday

Webb Air Force Base's Family Services celebrated its eighth anniversary Saturday.

Webb's Family Services program started May 8, 1957, with the first orientation course. Since then there have been 29 orientations held with approximately 1,150 dependents in attendance. The Family Services Organization at Webb consists of four committees.

Assistance to service families may have started back in the 1920's when the first Air Force officers wives' club was organized. As the clubs grew, greater emphasis was placed on welfare projects, and most clubs had a welfare committee, and later a personal service committee.

Their activities prompted the Air Force to recognize dependents' assistance officially in 1949. In 1952, at the urging of the SAC Commander, USAF designated Eighth Air Force as the pilot organization to develop and test an expanded dependents assistance program.

The next year, they developed an orientation course for wives, trained wives to work as volunteers, handling emergencies in the family, and performing office work in the dependents' assistance center.

Later, dependents assistance became known as the Family Services.

The mission of this program is to assist in alleviating emergencies and hardships for dependents of Air Force families at any time, particularly in the absence of the military member. Inform dependents of military personnel of the services provided on the base, in the community and by volunteer organizations, ease problems and difficulties encountered by military personnel and their families, and indoctrinate, by means of the dependents orientation course, all wives in matters affecting their security and welfare.

PROJECTS
The Family Services Center moved in June 1964 to more spacious, adequate quarters. While the junior volunteers helped in the office during the summer months, the volunteers compiled a new 65-page base booklet for the orientation program. Also during the summer months, one of the volunteers was recognized by ATC with a certificate of merit.

Helping to kick-off Voters' Day volunteers canvassed Capehart housing with information on absentee ballots. During the fall, the women held a bake sale for the United Fund and collected $60. The emergency committee undertook a puppet project early this winter and financed it with a cake sale. The hand puppets are given to the children at the 3560th USAF Hospital upon admittance. During April, Family Services, in conjunction with the American Cancer Society, sponsored a program on feminine cancers. More than 500 women attended the presentation which was narrated by a medical doctor. The center celebrated its 8th birthday on Armed Forces Day by providing a "comfort station" for tired mothers on the flight line.

LIBRARY
A lending library of personal affairs booklets, covering subjects from the United Nations to heart disease, has been established for base use. To date, there are 100 booklets available. During the year, six volunteers were recognized for 1,000 hours of service.

The next Family Service orientation course will be in September in the Webb AFB Service Club. Pre-registration was held in the rest area Armed Forces Day in the hanger. There is free baby sitting at the base nursery for all orientation classes.

This class is to inform military dependents on all matters affecting their security and welfare, as members of the Air Force family. It is an evening course, and there is no obligation to become a volunteer in the organization after attending the course.

Volunteers contribute from four hours a month, minimum, to remain on the active list and eligible for awards, to as many as 100 hours a month.

At present, Mrs. Gregory Ferron is coordinator; Mrs. Richard Davis, assistant coordinator; Mrs. Jerry Geiser, office chairman; Mrs. Arthur Greiner, emergency chairman; and Mrs. Berton Rich, welcoming chairman.

Reception Celebrates Wedding Anniversary

The children of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Drake will host a reception in honor of their parents' 40th wedding anniversary this afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. All friends are invited to call.

Herbert (Hub) Drake and Miss Emma Hunter met in Ashdown, Ark., where she was employed by the Two State Telephone Company and he was working in the El Dorado oil fields. They were married five years later, in 1925, at Ogden, Ark. The ceremony was conducted by Jim Smithson, Justice of the Peace, and witnessed by the bridegroom's brother, J. A. Drake, and the bride's sister, Miss Fannie Hunter, who were married later.

Shortly after the wedding, the couple moved to Amarillo, then came to Big Spring in 1927, where, for more than a dozen years, he worked for Wooten Grocery Company. He joined Cosden Petroleum Corporation in 1943, remaining with them until his retirement in August, 1964.

The Drake's are the parents of three children who are all married and have families. They include a daughter, Frances, who is the wife of Maj. D. L. McCracken of Dyess AFB, Abilene; and two sons, Cecil, who is employed by Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, and John W., who is an engineer at Tinker AFB in Oklahoma City. They have eight grandchildren who range in age from one to 18 years.

The Drake's are charter members of Wesley Methodist Church. Since his retirement they have moved their residence to Lake J. B. Thomas where they enjoy gardening and fishing.

BSU Group To Conduct Program

The Baptist Student Union of Howard County Junior College will present the program at the Monday evening meeting of the Big Spring Baptist Association. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Prairie View Baptist Church.

The work of the BSU will be explained during the program, and the students will give their testimony as to how the BSU has helped them. The students who will conduct the program are Jo Neil Turner, Donnie Anderson, Delinda Bradford, Joann Patterson and Charles Price.

1953 Hyperion Group Ends Club Season

Mrs. C. J. Haralson, 701 W. 17th, was hostess at a luncheon Wednesday for the 1953 Hyperion Club. Mrs. W. K. Edwards presided as president for the first time. On behalf of the club she presented Mrs. Haralson, retiring president with a gift of wrought iron candelabra.

Named chairmen were Mrs. Gene Nabors, program; Mrs. W. P. Edwards Jr., project; Mrs. Marvin Wright, ways and means; and Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, telephone.

The group voted to donate $50 to help bring another exchange student to Big Spring Senior High School. The project is sponsored by the school's student council.

Guests were seated at quarter tables covered with white cloths and centered with pink roses in brandy snifters. Another bouquet of roses graced a side table.

This was the last meeting of the club for this season.

District Meeting Attended By WSG

Sixteen members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church attended the district meeting last Sunday at the Trinity Methodist Church in Snyder.

Guest speaker was Miss Ila Pool, Northwest Texas conference secretary. Her subject was "I, Mary." The business session was conducted by Mrs. F. F. Salsar, Lamesa, district secretary. New district officers were named.

ROSES THROUGH THE AGES

Roses have been lending their loveliness and fragrance to this planet for an unfathomable time. Geologists have found fossils of Roses as much as seventy million years old in such widely separated places as Colorado and Germany, yet strangely enough, no wild Rose has ever been found growing south of the equator.

Roman gardeners cultivated The Rose of One Hundred Petals, Rosa centifolia, and the French Rose, R. gallica. This latter species was also grown in great numbers in Egypt and transported in galley to Rome for festival decorations. Nero once spent the equivalent of $100,000 for Roses alone for one of his big parties. Back in Egypt Rose petals were strewn several inches deep on the floors of Cleopatra's palace when guests were due to arrive. It is rumored that for Anthony's bed she specified eighteen inches of fresh Rose petals!

Early Christians objected to Roses. It was because the flowers reminded them of Roman rites, yet they eventually accepted them to the point that rosaries were first made of the seed pods of Roses, and the very name rosary itself comes from Rose.

In the days of Napoleon, Rose extracts were used for cosmetics, indigestion, debility, throat and skin infections and eye troubles. During World War II when Britain's citrus imports were cut off, people turned to Rose seed pods because scientists found that they contained 400% more Vitamin C than citrus. Perhaps Napoleon's doctors had a point!

Nowadays we value Roses mostly for their aesthetic qualities; thus the following suggestions are given so that you may extend the beauty life of these desirable cut flowers.

First, scrub out the vase thoroughly; then fill it with hot water (about 110°F.) in which you have dissolved a cut flower food. There are several excellent brands available, all of which will add greatly to the vase life of Roses. This food not only inhibits the growth of bacteria in the water, but actually supplies nourishment to the flowers themselves.

Next, remove any leaves which would be below the water level in your vase and make a fresh cut at the base of each stem with a sharp knife immediately before arranging each flower. Once your arrangement has been completed, set it in as cool a location as possible, since this will add to the life of the flowers. Never place Roses in a draft or close to a source of heat. Add water each day to replace that used by the flowers.

If cut flower food is not available, use fresh warm water, but change it each day and make a fresh cut at the base of each stem so that the flowers may continue to absorb water. Wilted flowers can often be revived by laying them, full length, in warm water or by wrapping the tops with wax paper to cut down water loss.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Happy Mother's Day all you mothers.

Are you among the fortunate who are having the wonderful pleasure of having your breakfast in bed? The breakfast that has been prepared by the Brownie or Cub Scout in the family? The meal that is too brown in one instance and not quite done in the other? This is probably one of the best meals you will have in a long time... enjoy it while you may even if the kitchen it was concocted in is one of the biggest messes you will clean up all year.

It's wonderful to be among those blessed by having children at any age they attain but when the little ones are trying their hands at showing you that they know this is your day, that's when the spirit really reveals itself.

This is a big Mother's Day for the J. C. IRWINS. They are in Dallas to be with their son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. WILLIAM T. IRWIN who are the parents of JAYNE ANN who was born April 26. This is the grandparents' first visit with their granddaughter.

MRS. PREACH MARTIN has returned from a "sentimental journey" to Winfield, La., where she visited friends, some of whom she hadn't seen in 35 years. She has made only two visits back to her birthplace since her family left there for West Texas. She also spent some time in Shreveport and in the area of both Shreveport and Winfield. She was delighted with the beautiful greenness of the countryside and the gorgeous flowers that were in full bloom.

MRS. J. H. BAUDIN of Baton Rouge, La., plans to leave today for her home after visiting her sisters here, MARGARET BENNETT and MRS. B. R. FLETCHER.

There couldn't have been better treatment by a representative than that received by The Woman's Forum members when they were in Austin during the past week... and the representative couldn't even join the group! REP. ED CARPENTER was so enthused over having a group from his area come to Austin that he asked for the privilege of being host for a morning. He planned a tour of the capitol building and arranged for a bus to take the group on a tour of historic homes in the city. Unfortunately he was stricken with a heart attack and had to be hospitalized while the tour was taking place. But he got special permission from his doctor to receive a call from three members of the party who were the only ones who have been allowed to visit him other than his wife and daughter, since he has been ill.

The Texas Heritage Society has marked the places of interest to visitors with the medalion that Texans are getting more familiar with each day. Our tour was conducted by attractive MRS. MILES HUTCHENS, who is a native of Austin, and who has tremendous pride in her city and the society. She is a volunteer for the group who conduct tours when they are asked for this service.

We were particularly enthralled by the beautiful Neill-Cochran House which was purchased from the Cochran family in 1938 by the Colonial Dames of America in the State of Texas. Incidentally, Mrs. Hill, who was a Cochran, still maintains quarters in the home, is a cousin of MRS. LINA FLEWELLEN. Their husbands were first cousins. The Dames bought the beautiful ante bellum home to preserve for posterity and it is well worth it. If you are in Austin and have time, call the Texas Heritage office and ask for a tour or at least a guide. If you don't know about these homes that are marked by the society you will want to.

If you are a member of the Texas Federation of Club Women make it a point to visit the headquarters building. Even if you don't care to see the building, you will want to meet the personable social director, MRS. IRA HAYES. She has been at the building in this capacity for the past eight years and she is a most charming hostess. Before taking this position she was Kappa Alpha house mother, this was during the college days of DR. GLEN ROGERS who she remembers fondly.

Visiting my No. Two son Tuesday evening at dinner I was delighted to see ROY WORLEY who was having dinner with his No. One boy, Mike. Roy was up from Baytown on business and reported his wife, Helen, was doing well following surgery. Also the other boys, Bill and Bob, were okay. Also during the capitol visit we hurriedly visited MALINDA BLACKBURN, the governor's receptionist. She is the daughter of the H. V. CROCKERS.

Couple Say Vows In St. Lawrence Church

Miss Betty Jo Schraeder became the bride of Robert J. Kohutek at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon during a double ring ceremony held in the St. Lawrence Catholic Church. The Rev. Knute Kinross, O.F.M., officiated for the nuptial rite.

Preceding the ceremony, a program of wedding selections was presented by the church choir. The vows were exchanged before an altar graced with tall baskets of white gladioli and feathered chrysanthemums interspersed with greenery.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Schraeder, St. Lawrence Rt., Garden City, and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kohutek, Rt. 1, Ballinger.

PEAU DE SOIE

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal gown of white peau de soie fashioned with a scalloped neckline and molded lace bodice and trimmed with sequins. The long lace sleeves ended in petal points over the hands, lace motifs trimmed the front panel of the skirt which swept into a chapel train caught at the back waistline with a peau de soie bow. Her silk fingertip-length veil of illusion fell from a headpiece formed of pearl petals. The bridal bouquet was a white orchid encircled with white feathered chrysanthemums and showered with satin picot ribbon. Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Carolyn Schraeder, and the bridesmaids were Miss Melva Jean Braden, cousin of the bride, and Miss Lorine Kohutek, Snyder, cousin of the bridegroom. The attendants were identically gowned in pink peau de soie dresses styled with rounded neckline and knife-pleated skirts. The matching accessories included small veiled ring hats, and each attendant carried a nosegay of pink and white feathered carnations.

Ronnie Schacherl, San Angelo.

State PBX Week Plans Announced

That Gov. John Connally had declared June 6-12 as PBX Week was learned in the Thursday meeting of the PBX Club. The meeting was held in the Texas Electric Reddy Room with Mrs. Fern Smith presiding.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Rains and Mrs. LaFaye Phillips. Mrs. John Simunovic reported on the program and entertainment of the April state convention in Corpus Christi.

Each of the 11 members attending the meeting signed a get-well card for Mrs. Mack Robison who is in the Webb AFB hospital.

Brownie Troop No. 92 presented the play, "Cinderella" at a Thursday party given for their mothers. Mrs. E. A. Byrd and Mrs. H. K. Bull are the Scout leaders for the group. Each of the 14 members attending took an active part in the skit.

P-TA Leaders Will Convene

Leaders of the nation's 47,000 Parent - Teachers Associations will meet in Albuquerque, N.M., beginning May 16 for the 69th annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Attending from here will be Mrs. R. E. Ray, city council president.

Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead, national P-TA president, has announced the four-day convention will center on "Critical Issues in Our Democracy," highlighting "P-TA Steps Toward Great Decisions."

Some 2,000 expected delegates will consider and vote on a proposed action program intended to guide local P-TA's in solving community problems "critical" to children's welfare. A nationwide survey, undertaken last July, has guided P-TA leaders in outlining a list of issues, dealing with public school finances, educational opportunities, sex education, health hazards, and other subjects, that P-TA's might appropriately tackle in the three years ahead.

Convention delegates, from throughout the nation and from P-TA's in American dependents schools overseas, as well, will hear from such nationally known speakers as Douglas MacArthur II, assistant secretary of state for Congressional relations; Ernest O. Melby, professor of education, Michigan State University; John Davis Lodge, former governor of Connecticut and one-time U. S. Ambassador to Spain; Terry Sanford, former governor of North Carolina; and Edgar May, author of "The Wasted Americans," Pulitzer prize winner, and assistant director of the war on poverty's Office of Economic Opportunity.

Symposiums, workshops, and panel discussions will also be features of the convention, which will conclude with a chuckwagon dinner meeting, to be held at Tingley Coliseum Wednesday. Four new national vice presidents of the National Congress will be installed during that meeting.

The Trainmen Ladies will have a covered dish supper Friday at the IOOF Hall at 6 p.m. The affair is for all members and their husbands and each is asked to bring a dish. The meal will be furnished by Mrs. C. W. Kesterson's group.

MRS. W. J. HICKS

Wedding Held In Midland

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hicks have returned from a wedding trip to Las Vegas, N.M. following their April 30 marriage.

The bride is the former Virginia Gale Kulbeth, daughter of Mrs. E. W. Kulbeth, 4408 W. Degan, Midland, and the late Mr. Kulbeth. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hicks, Snyder.

The ceremony was held at the First Baptist Church chapel in Midland with the Rev. Ralph White officiating.

The chapel was decorated with an urn arrangement of gladioli and chrysanthemums flanked by candelabra holding cathedral tapers. The family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Musical arrangements were provided by Tommy Brinkley, organist, and Jack Kay, soloist. The bride was given in marriage by James Bostwick, her brother-in-law.

The bride wore a white peau de soie gown with an empire waist. The formal dress was banded with a deep fold, re-embroidered Alencon lace and clustered with pearls on the bodice and down a controlled chapel train. The dress was finished at the waist with a double flat bow, and the long tapered sleeves came to petal points at the wrist. The finger tip-length veil of silk illusion fell from a small round inverted crown of seed pearls. The bride

Miss Walker Feted With Gift Shower

A pre-nuptial shower, honoring Miss Carolyn Walker, was held Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Royce Rainey, 2113 Grace. Miss Walker is engaged to be married to Lepold Guinn.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Floyd Young, Mrs. Murray Underwood, Mrs. Darwin Webb, Mrs. Ray Dabney, Mrs. W. A. Wilson, Mrs. Loy Carroll, Mrs. Willie McDaniel, Mrs. Morris Sewell and Mrs. E. G. Rainey Sr.

The honoree, who wore a white sheath with lace accenting the bodice, was presented a corsage of yellow roses. Her mother, Mrs. Durwood E. Walker, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Frank Guinn, joined in receiving guests and were given white carnation corsages. Also, the honoree's sister, Carlene, attended.

The refreshment table was covered with a yellow cloth and floor-length white ruffled net skirt. The centerpiece was formed of a miniature bride and groom, standing in an arch of orange blossoms and yellow net, encircled with yellow roses and carnations. Flanking the arrangement were crystal holders with white tapers tied with tiny yellow roses.

Approximately 75 guests called between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

The couple plans to be married May 29 at College Baptist Church.

Peekaboos Abound

Peekaboo cutouts abound in skimmers, shifts, swim covers and pants stops for spring. Often, they're smartly bound in contrasting colors.

Bride-Elect Honored At 'Spice-Rice' Party

A "Spice and Rice" party was held Saturday afternoon to honor a prospective bride, Miss Beverly Alexander. Scene of the complimentary affair was the home of Mrs. Joe Pond, 2706 Crestline and the cohostess was Mrs. John Dibrell.

Miss Alexander plans to be married May 15 to John Gerald Thomas of Levelland, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Thomas, Lubbock. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alexander, 707 W. 18th.

The honoree was attired in a bright yellow dress, touched with white, and was presented a corsage of white carnations.

Revealing Swimsuits Popular

All the little fishes will have a good chance of survival this summer. If they can avoid the anglers, they won't have to worry about the guys with the nets.

The fishnet craze is the most revealing news since the topless swimsuit.

Fishnet cages and jumpsuits will cover tiny bikinis and one-piece swimsuits are one-third fabric, two-thirds peekaboo.

Unlike the topless swimsuit, these new fashions do meet the letter of the law, but they are designed to give back to women a feeling of freedom.

Like most chic fashions, this one is only for the slim.

entrant will be certified, given a gold or bronze embossed pin, a year's membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians and Piano Hobbyists of the World.

A party for girl graduates and their mothers is planned for 2 p.m. May 15 in the community room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building by the City Panhellenic. All girl graduates from Big Spring and surrounding communities, who are planning to attend a college that has national sororities, are invited to attend.

Wax Convenience

Before applying liquid wax to your resilient floors, read the label on the can. Some waxes clean and polish simultaneously so you don't need to wash the floor first.

Costumes Win Church Prizes

The early 20's was the theme of a costume party held by the Mary Martha class of the Wesley Methodist Church at their Friday evening meeting. The party was in the home of Mrs. Ray Eckler. Mrs. Jim Sharp, Mrs. Robert Lee and Mrs. R. O. Browder were cohostesses.

Mrs. Audrey Thurman won first place dressed as a 1920 school girl. Mrs. J. L. Appelton was in second place as a ballerina, and Mrs. E. L. Hodges ranked third with her costume as First Lady. Honorable mention prizes were given to Mrs. S. V. Jordan, as Minnie Pearl; and Mrs. Doug Boyd, as Hedda Hopper.

Birthday gifts were given to Mrs. T. A. McGuffey and Mrs. Boyd. The party was attended by 18 members.

Miss Mary Turney Weds T. G. Brown

Marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Mary Ruth Turney and Thomas Grady Brown Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in a ceremony performed at the Trinity Baptist Church. The Rev. Roy Honea of the Grace Baptist Church officiated for the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Turney, 1016 Nolan, and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brown, Columbia, S.C., are parents of the bridegroom.

MUSIC
Nuptial music was provided by Miss Dixie Todd, organist, who also accompanied Dwayne Allen and Mrs. John Swindell as they sang "The Hawaiian Wedding Song." Miss Todd was joined by Miss Lila Gayle Williams, pianist, in the accompaniment of Miss Arlene Hartin and Mrs. Floyd Williams as they sang "Together."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length formal wedding gown of white lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice was styled with a rounded scalloped neckline and fitted sleeves ending in points over the wrists. A large pleat in back was accented with a white organdy bow and a detachable lace train, scalloped at the edges. She wore a tiered veil of illusion, fingertip length, attached to a coronet of seed pearls and carried a bouquet of carnations atop her white Bible.

ATTENDANTS
Attendants to the bride were Miss Jan Turney, maid of honor, and Miss Sharon Rogers, Miss Sherry Root and Miss Pat Ball, bridesmaids. The attendants wore turquoise velveteen bodices topped long white satin skirts. Their hats were white and they wore white elbow-length gloves.

Miss Elizabeth Swindell was the flower girl. She wore a white lace bodice to top a yellow organdy skirt with wide sash, and carried a flower basket filled with rose petals. Miss Gloria Gale registered the guests.

The ring bearer was Stephen Ian Turney, the bride's brother. Serving as best man was Tom Dimpfl. Groomsmen were Bill Wright, North Hollywood, Calif.; Jim Jonnett, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Clyde Johnson, Masontown, Pa. Ushers were Daniel Turney, brother of the bride; Lloyd Sanborn, McAllen; and Bernard Gernay, Dunellen, N.J.

The couple will make their home in Big Spring until April of 1966 when they will move to Columbia, S.C.

The bride attended Big Spring Senior High School and the bridegroom is a member of the Air Force stationed at Webb AFB. An out-of-town guest was C. E. Turney, Houston, grandfather of the bride.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MOLLY HARTZOG

Welcome once again to that semi-precious jewel of a holiday known as Mother's Day. The smell of scorched bacon and the unique aroma of hard-boiled coffee start the day for some as "breakfast in bed" is prepared to surprise Mother. Likely as not, Mother has chewed her nails to the quick before the feast is done, but intentions of the best must be praised. We received our customary gift from our husband this year, the same as we got last year and the one before that. Lack of imagination, really. The gift? The comment that we are NOT his mother. No denying that, we suppose. Perhaps we can take HIM to dinner this evening somewhere.

OWC LUNCHEON

The turnout for the Officers Wives Club luncheon was delightful to see. So many people in spite of heat and gusty winds taking time and effort to support the candidates made us really proud of the membership. The interest and excitement were contagious right through to the very end, and with Armed Forces day right on the heels of the election there was the feel in the air of a gala week end.

Mrs. Edwin White began the excitement with a brunch in her home Tuesday. Brunches are such fun and quite a crowd was there for the affair, predominately the wives of the Operations section of Deputy Commander for Training.

There was a baby shower given for Mrs. R. K. Ellsworth one evening this week. Somehow during the proceedings, and without any previous arranging, each of the 18 guests happened to choose a gift that was pastel yellow. It was a delightful coincidence from the honoree's point of view as her entire baby layette now matches and makes a most impressive array. Mrs. T. E. Harrelson was hostess for the shower.

Col. and Mrs. H. H. Dahnke are enjoying the greenery on a farm they have bought way off in Tennessee. So far, the chief product is pleasure derived from planning the house to build there someday, and of course, the trees around. The Smoky Mountains are pretty special in the spring, providing the most refreshing scenery we have seen this side of Austria.

BACHELORS

Refreshing might also apply to a party at the pavilion recently given by a group of bachelor officers to repay en masse their dinner obligations. All the married couples were invited to attend and offers of help with the food were indignantly turned down. Apprehension was everywhere as the wives arrived, and the single fellows really outdid themselves. They prepared their own party foods, devised some brand new dips, all tasty, and served it all with finesse worthy of Agent 007. The attire was flight suits for all, and the decorations might best be described as certain well known magazine pages. As the hosts explained it, one decorates one's walls with one's favorite views. So there.

Mrs. Art Warren and Mrs. Tim Thomas were prize winners at the All Day Bridge at the Officers Open Mess recently, while Mrs. L. E. Healy won high score prize in the Medical wives bridge at the home of Mrs. M. J. Took.

Six Flags Over Texas is open again and every weekend sees someone from Webb visiting to see the sights. Latest to go were Lt. and Mrs. George McKenna and Lt. and Mrs. B. J. Lotzbire. Our last visit there was highlighted by the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Jay Lauer who now live in Florida. The little girl, about 5 years old, was deep in sincere conversation with a Punch and Judy show and oblivious to a crowd of nearly 50 standing quietly to watch. It was a real show stopper to see her concern for the puppets having to be confined behind their velvet curtain. To her they were alive, and to us it was a moment we'll not forget.

Engaged

The engagement of Miss Elizabeth Leah Whitney and Michael Lee Ise has been announced in Corpus Christi. The bride-elect is the daughter of Herbert W. Whitney, 933 Miramar, and the late Mrs. Whitney. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ise, 1342 Melbourne. The wedding will be June 26 at the First Presbyterian Church, Corpus Christi. She attends North Texas State University, and he is a graduate of Texas A&M University. Whitney was formerly city manager here.

Re-Doing No Longer Necessary

When your hair looks ragged, your wig is off for its seasonal re-doing, and your husband has just called to tell you that the boss has invited you both out for dinner — don't panic! This is the time to wear a ravishing new snood hat.

Most wearables are puffy ones made of two or three layers of tulle, maline or veiling, sometimes in combination of different textures, and usually trimmed with black velvet.

For a dressier look, try a snood completely covered with silk flower petals. Pick your favorite flower, or color. The most lush are in Castilian reds, hot pinks, or blue and turquoise used together. Daisies and field flowers will look fresh and springy. Snoods are usually bound with elasticized fabric, so no head-size problem.

Jewelry Fashions

Refinement is the word for fashion jewelry. New styles look more and more like the real thing, with interesting variations on the heirloom look.

County's Economy Tied Closely To Cotton Crop

Cotton is a major factor in the economic balance of Howard County. The prosperity of the county is materially affected by whether the cotton crop for the year is good or bad.

Agricultural income in Howard County, derived from cotton and grain production on the farms and cattle production on the ranches, will average about $9,500,000 annually. For the past quarter century, the average annual income from cotton has been about $6,500,000.

DRYLAND

Howard County cotton farmers are dryland operators. Their well being, therefore, is closely tied to the weather. A dry year, such as was the county's lot in 1964, means leaner incomes for the farmers; a good year, moisturewise, and the entire county economic pattern booms.

Howard County has about 755 farms on which cotton is the major crop. Annually, the acreage planted to cotton runs from 70,000 to 75,000 acres. Production figures from year to year shift widely—it all depends on the rains and, to a lesser degree, on the insect problem.

The average cotton production varies sharply. However, from 1/2 to 3/4 bale per acre would be a fair average yield. This would mean from 187 pounds to 312 pounds of lint cotton per acre.

This year's cotton crop is still a problem to be solved by what may happen rain-wise in the next 10 to 15 days. Normally, veteran cotton men prefer to plant not earlier than May 15. So far this year, there have been few rains of enough volume in the county to be classified by the farmers as "planting rains." Here in Big Spring as of May 1, the total rain gauged at the U. S. Experiment Station north of town, has been 2.06 inches. The 60-year average for the same months is 3.62.

ture of the 1964 crop was that it turned out as good as it did—all through the season, observers who have demonstrated repeatedly their skill at crop estimates, sadly predicted the county would do well to make 15,000 bales.

No crystal ball exists by which the outcome of a Howard County cotton year can be forecast. Because last year was bad is no sign this year will be bad; by the same token, because a year is good is no guarantee that the following year will be the same.

An example — in 1963, the cotton crop in Howard County produced 5,324 bales. The record crop in the county was in 1949. The ginnings totalled 59,374 bales that year.

In 1951, to show how the crop varies, there were 114,045 acres planted to cotton and the production was 45,002 bales. In 1963, only 69,498 acres were planted to cotton and the crop was 45,324 bales. The best year in the county history for pounds of lint cotton per acre planted to cotton was 1952.

Only 20,470 acres were planted that year and the total crop was only 1,200 bales.

Originally, Howard County was not regarded as cotton country. Early settlers were interested in pasture lands for ranches. Probably the first experimental cotton in the area was planted on the McDowell ranch in Glasscock County. This was sometime soon after 1900.

GINNS

Early day gins began to appear on the scene. Ultimately, as improved methods of ginning developed, the number of gins needed diminished. Today there are 13 operating gins in the county. Only in those rare and happy years when the cotton crop is good do these plants enjoy round-the-clock operation.

A check of the 755 farms on which cotton allotments are held indicates the average size of each is 955 acres. In 1959 there were 48 farms ranging in size from 10 to 69 acres; 61 from 70 to 179 acres; 34 from 180 to 259. Farms with from 260 to 499 acres were the most numerous.

There were 181 such farms operating in 1959. There were 107 farms that year from 500 to 999 acres, 90 with 1,000 acres or more. Forty-nine of the county's farmers were cultivating 2,000 acres or more land. This pattern, agricultural observers say, has not materially changed since 1959.

It is estimated that there are 604 families (owners) living on the county's cotton farms. Assuming the average family to comprise 3.2 persons, the farm population of the county is about 2,000 persons.

Probably less than 2,000 acres of the Howard County cotton land is irrigated. The irrigated areas are not restricted to any one part of the county. Some are found just north of Big Spring, some in the Lomax community. There are other irrigated tracts in the Coahoma vicinity.

Cotton's Importance To Be Told This Week

Howard County turns this week to a series of promotional activities to stress the importance of one of its big sources of income—cotton.

It's National Cotton Week, and a broad-scale observance has been planned here.

Several TV programs are planned, special cotton bale displays, banners and posters are being employed, and heavy merchandising is being mapped on a cooperative scale to encourage consumer use of cotton products.

MAID OF COTTON

Howard County's "Maid of Cotton" will be selected in a special television presentation on Channel 4, Big Spring, Friday evening, the program to begin at 7:30 p.m. A number of young women already have been signed up for this event, and others may do so. Single girls who reside in Howard County and are between the ages of 16 and 25 are eligible, and may contact the Chamber of Commerce.

The "Maid of Cotton" contestants will parade before the cameras and judges will make a selection. The program is being directed by George True, chairman of the week's observance, and Jimmy Taylor, representing the C-C agriculture committee.

Monday at 6 p.m. Taylor and Carroll Davidson, C-C manager, will present a cotton week conference on Channel 2, Midland. Tuesday, at noon, another special cotton week program is logged for Channel 4. Appearing on this presentation will be Nancy Haralson, Miss Big Spring, and Nita Medley, Junior Miss Big Spring. Both of them, along with Elaine Clark, hostess for the show, will model cotton apparel. Herb Helbig, county farm agent, will be present, and will offer facts and figures relative to cotton in the economic picture of Howard County.

PARTY

There will be a Coke party Thursday evening at the First National Bank for those girls appearing in the Maid of Cotton event on Friday, and rehearsal hints will be given.

While these public presentations are being scheduled, the story of cotton will be told in a number of ways. Some two score cotton bales will be placed at strategic points around the business districts, and these will carry special banners.

Merchants have been supplied with Cotton Week placards and other publicity materials, and will be stressing cotton items in advertising throughout the week.

Housing Survey Under Way; Complete Reports Sought

A broad-scale community survey to determine the housing situation in Big Spring as it relates to Air Force needs is being undertaken, and more help is needed.

Members of the Big Spring Board of Realtors, working in cooperation with the Base-Community Council, have been engaged for some time in getting information on property for sale or rent. They have a great deal of information, but now are asking for further reports. People who have property on the sale or rental market as asked to complete the questionnaire below, and mail it to the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, Box 1042.

A complete survey, it was stressed, will help to chart future planning on whatever housing needs that may come about, particular for officers and airmen at Webb.

Antipoll Tax Vote Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders were warily confident today of turning back a drive to write into the voting rights bill a ban on poll tax payments as a requirement for voting in state and local elections.

A vote on the antipoll tax amendment, offered by Sen. Edward (Teddy) Kennedy, D-Mass. and 38 other senators, will be taken Tuesday under an agreement reached.

The agreement followed a 64-25 vote crushing an amendment by Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to require a court finding of discrimination against Negroes before the federal government could take over the registration of voters in a state or county.

Under an automatic coverage formula, the bill provides for suspension of literacy or similar voter qualification tests and the appointment of federal registrars in five southern states and parts of other states in the South.

L. F. Holland Visits Here

A fire prevention inspector and worker from Dallas, L. F. (Lew) Holland, is visiting in Big Spring this weekend, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. F. Nolen, 2711 Lynn Drive.

Holland traveled from 1921 until 1963 for a corporation which manufactures automatic sprinkler systems and has instructed on the systems at fire schools at Texas A&M University.

He was sub-chairman of the Dallas Fire Prevention Council for 15 years. Since 1944, Holland has attended the fire instructors conference in Memphis, Tenn., each year and is now writing a history of the conference. He has been a personal friend of Fire Chief H. V. Crocker of Big Spring for a number of years.

Holland has also attended many regional fire instruction and arson meetings in Louisiana and Texas and has become known among fire officials in a host of states for his prevention work.

Sirens To Signal Start Of Cleanup Push Monday

When Cleanup, Paintup, Fixup Week opens officially Monday at 11 a.m., there will be more excitement than when a homerun triggers the scoreboard in the Astrodome.

City sirens will signal the beginning of events, and things will begin happening downtown on Main Street between Third and Fourth.

Mayor George Zachariah, who has proclaimed this special week for tidying up the city, will be joined by Col. Gus Taute, Webb AFB wing commander, in a cleanup chore. They will have a pushcart with shovels, etc., ready to go, and Jaycees will be standing by with brooms to give the street a first class scrubbing when the city hoses it down. To show it is fun, chamber of commerce president Ike Robb, along with immediate past president, John L. Taylor, will show up with golf bags filled with rakes, hoes, and other implements for yard work.

All through the week there will be things happening to keep the public reminded, said Raymond Smith, chairman of a special task force of the chamber's civic committee.

Campaign Also Helps Fire Prevention Effort

Big Springers who join in the spring clean-up campaign beginning Monday by clearing out debris and rubbish from yards and storage areas will be contributing to the city's fire prevention efforts, Fire Marshall A. D. Meador points out.

This year's insured fire losses have already topped the full amount of losses sustained during all of 1964 and Meador has emphasized the city must put forth extra effort in the remaining months to avoid high losses.

Meador stressed that residents who take advantage of the special clean-up campaign time to rid their homes, yards, garages and storage buildings of excess and unneeded material will both contribute to a cleaner, more attractive city and rid the city of possible fire dangers.

City trucks will be collecting and hauling trash free to encourage the drive. Residents are asked to stack or pile refuse adjacent to their garage cars to facilitate the pickup. The city is continuing its vacant lot cleaning campaign.

Lige Fox, city sanitarian, will also step up the campaign to get compliance with the city's requirements for closed garbage containers. Service clubs will hear announcements during the week, and ministers have been asked to urge support of clean-up by their congregations.

"This would be a wonderful time to plant more trees and shrubs," said Smith. "because this is getting into the shank of the season, nurseries have some bargains."

Everybody — I mean everybody — should enter into the spirit of this effort," said Mayor Zachariah. "We need a cleaner, brighter city, and we can go a long way toward having it if only our people will pitch in and do their part this week. Don't drag your feet on your neighbors or your city. Help us have a more beautiful town."

Each resident can contribute to fire prevention by keeping the alley behind his house clean, Meador said.

The weeds should be cut down, glass and debris picked up," he said. "A whole neighborhood benefits from these efforts."

Meador pointed out that by joining in the clean-up efforts, residents can lessen the fire hazards as well as contribute to an improved neighborhood appearance.

National Hospital Week To Be Marked Quietly

National Hospital Week begins today throughout the country and the event will be celebrated quietly in Big Spring, although it can be considered one of the community's major industries.

Only the Veterans Administration Hospital will observe the week with special lobby displays and tours of the hospital facilities. The VA hospital will also set up a display at Big Spring High School.

Big Spring State Hospital has just finished with Texas Mental Health Week, and Dr. Preston Harrison reports they will hold no special programs for hospital week. Webb AFB hospital displayed a static display at the Armed Forces Day program yesterday, and plans no special attractions for the coming week.

The four private hospitals in the community, Howard County Hospital Foundation, Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, Cowper Clinic and Hospital and Medical Arts Clinic and Hospital do not plan a special observance. As one hospital administrator put it, "Every day is open house at a hospital."

Hospitals are big business in Big Spring. If private and public hospitals are considered together, the total payroll would be $5,430,938, ranking only behind Webb AFB and Cosden Oil and Chemical.

The four private hospitals have a total of 180 beds, the VA hospital has a 250 bed capacity and the State Hospital has a capacity of 900 patients. Total labor force contributed by the hospitals is more than 950, and there are more than 52 physicians and surgeons in the community.

Last year the hospitals including Webb, reported 1,544 births. The average daily census showed 137 patients in local private hospitals. The private hospitals reported 11,685 patients last year and an additional 150,000 clinic visits.

The public hospitals reported 6,850 admissions and an average daily census of 1,156. Adding the private and public hospitals together, admissions aggregated 18,625, and the average hospital census was 1,544. Total beds are 1,352 and 47 bassinets.

The theme of National Hospital Week is "People—heart of the hospital."

Many Plants Can Be Dangerous

By SAM BLACKBURN

"Please don't eat the daisies," was the anguished plea of authoress Jean Kerr in her book. She was appealing to her youngsters.

Mrs. Kerr would have been a lot better off, it seems, if she had let the kids eat the daisies. What she should have worried about was keeping them from munching on oleander leaves, the stalks of her prized diffebachia, the twigs of the nearby cherry trees, or leaves from the tomato and potato plants in the family garden.

VERBOTEN She likewise should have admonished her offspring not to eat the leaves of the rhubarb plant, those from peach trees, jimson weeds and the berries of the lantana. And castor beans and the seeds from the wisteria should have been declared verboten.

As far as anyone seems to know, daisies are harmless — perhaps even tasty to young chewers. No one, it seems, has suffered bad after effects from a daisy salad.

But beware of these other plants—they're lethal.

J. W. Bass, city health director for the city of Dallas, says that all of the plants named above are deadly poison, and that there are numerous instances where young nibblers have died from eating them. He likewise adds the beautiful rhododendron and the traditional Christmas poinsettia to his list of dangerous plants. The diffebachia, for example, is known in some areas as "dumb cane." It has earned its home name, Dr. Bass said.

SWELLING

The stalk of this plant, which is often found as a potted plant in the home, contains needle-like crystals of calcium oxalate. These crystals, on contact, quickly become embedded in the tissues of the mouth and tongue. Instant swelling results. If the victim isn't given immediate medical attention, he will die. The "dumb cane" nickname probably comes from the fact that the eater of the stem immediately loses his or her ability to speak. The oleander is a popular bush in Big Spring. It is found in hundreds of yards and tops play around it all day.

Says Dr. Bass:

"The oleander bush contains a heart stimulant similar to digitalis, which is so powerful that a single leaf of the plant, when eaten, can kill a child."

He adds that the poinsettia has the same deadly characteristic.

There are so many plants which are poisonous and which abound in every community, Dr. Bass points out, that the wonder of it is that there are so few tragedies stemming from them as there are.

In Big Spring, for example, the oleander, diffebachia, lantana, tomato, peach tree and some cherry trees are most abundant. In the Yule season, poinsettias are widely popular. Castor beans and wisteria plants are common.

ONE SOLUTION

There's only one solution, Dr. Bass believes. "Train your children," he pleads, "not to put any part of any plant, not commonly used for food, in their mouths." Which, according to Mrs. Kerr and a lot of other mothers, is very good advice, but extremely difficult to follow.

State Can Help In Fair Financing

AUSTIN (AP)—The state can help finance San Antonio's HemisFair, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said here.

He told Rep. Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio that a House bill providing funds for the 1968 exhibition was constitutional. The buildings would be deeded to the state.

He Opposes Right To Work

To The Editor: I would like in a few words to point out a few facts about the so called right-to-work law. Most people do not realize that for a person to be compelled to join a union it must be negotiated by the company and the union. Also, after such an agreement the company still sets the qualifications to be met in hiring. After that they are required to join the union or pay an amount equal to the dues of the union.

It is a tribute to the good sense of the American people that these who set out to destroy unions and do away with collective bargaining find it necessary to hide their true purpose. For instance, these people suggest that right-to-work laws are necessary to keep unions from making union security contracts compulsory. Labor does not want any such legal compulsion. Labor does want freedom of choice for both employer and union — so that they may agree on the most sensible working rules for the plant in which they have a common working interest. Labor doesn't want the government telling employers and unions either to have union security, or not to have union security. That's why we're against right-to-work laws.

Supporters claim right-to-work laws will bring industry into a state. They sometimes give the completely false impression that labor wants to keep industry out of the state. That's sheer willful nonsense. These states did draw some "runaway" industries paying $1.25 an hour wages. But the big, prosperity-bringing industries, with $3 an hour wages and large number of high-paid professional employees didn't come.

To quote one of many great men, President Kennedy said: "I think it a fair judgment to make that a free, active progressive trade union movement stands for a free, active, progressive country. And that is the kind of country I am proud to be president of."

Respectfully yours,

A Devotional For The Day

If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you. (John 15:7)
PRAYER: O Lord, mindful of all the blessings we have received and of our daily dependence upon Thee, we come to Thee in humility and with grateful hearts. Sustain us in our loyalty, strengthen us in our faith, forgive us our sins. In Thy Son's name we ask. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

The All-Important Center

Today brings us to the close of a week devoted to strengthening the ties of Christian homes.

Ironically, this season of the year creates tensions and pressures that make it difficult if not impossible for the home to come together. What a fine thing it would be if the week could be a time when outside activities were shoved aside and the family came together as a unit and without other demands upon it. Sure, we might find ourselves in the embarrassing position of boredom or awkwardness because we have forgotten how to enjoy each other in just the family circle.

This little circle on the most intimate of human terms is exactly what we need most to persevere. We talk about the American way of life in terms of political ideologies, or material possessions, or systems of doing things, or even of religious principles. But when you get right down to the nub of the matter, none of this has much validity or hope unless it is rooted in the home.

The family, in the final analysis, is all-important. This being true, then why do we pay so little real attention to it other than an almost hypocritical lip service?

The answer is that we are not willing to give up other things which are necessary to the commitment of genuine home experience. The truth is that other things have become more important to us. We have gone off after false gods.

Join In The Fun

With a lot of fun and fanfare, our annual spring cleanup campaign will be launched Monday. This should generate a lot of enthusiasm and understanding about the special promotion.

We will have a cleanup effort whether you participate or not, but it will be a lot more successful if you enter wholeheartedly into it.

Cleanup is like any other community campaign — it is infectious, and it thrives on individual participation. Join in, and you stimulate your neighbors to join in, and soon the ball is rolling. It's the old story that nothing succeeds like success.

Be a good sport, and join in the fun. Help make your town brighter and more attractive.

Importance Of The CIA

WASHINGTON — The National Broadcasting Company put on a television program Tuesday night which, in the opinion of many members of Congress and other viewers, did a distinct disservice to the Central Intelligence Agency—the principal instrumentality of the United States in fighting the "cold war" throughout the world.

Based on fragmentary information and isolated episodes, the program gave the impression that the United States is authorizing a clandestine operation which is both improper and unethical. There were some former officials of the CIA on the program, too, but their brief remarks defending the agency's methods were virtually nullified by other commentaries to which prominence was given.

IF IT WERE NOT for the CIA, the United States would not have known about the missile bases in Cuba. Likewise, but for the alertness of the CIA, President Johnson would not have been advised soon enough to take the prompt action he did in the Dominican Republic. Naturally, some of its methods are severe. But so are the bullets and bombs of an enemy army in what is known as a "hot war."

Too many people are unaware that the investigative work being done by the United States today through the CIA is one of the most important bulwarks against the Communists, who, by infiltration, are seeking to take over small countries everywhere. One test of the effectiveness of the CIA is whether the Communists will be able to gain control of Latin-American countries from Mexico southward, and whether the United States will be confronted with bases which could be operated by hostile forces capable of using missiles and nuclear weapons.

THE "COLD WAR" is not a moral or ethical affair. Neither side is polite in waging its war, but the duty of the press, including television and radio, is to cooperate with their own government in withholding information concerning the activities of any governmental agency which is engaged in secret operations to protect the American people against sudden attack.

The television program this week gave to many viewers the impression that the CIA operates entirely on its own, that there is no restraint or check upon its operations, and that it is therefore virtually irresponsible. But as Allen Dulles, former director of the CIA, said in an all-too-brief rebuttal on that program, there are four committees of Congress—two in the House and two in the Senate—to which the CIA reports regularly and answers any questions that the legislators ask.

THE PRESIDENT also is kept fully informed and has his own intelligence advisory board. No move of any importance is taken without the knowledge of both the President and congressional committees.

The CIA is necessarily a secret operation. Its personnel abroad is not large, but its influence is great. It has a substantial sum of money at its disposal to use in the best interests of this country in fighting the "cold war."

So long as Congress has access to full information about the CIA, and is able to keep in close touch with what is going on, the interests of the American people will be protected against improper use of money or personnel. Under both Republican and Democratic administrations, the CIA has succeeded in making effective use of its resources in the "cold war."

THE AMERICAN government, both directly and indirectly, does all in its power, by propaganda and otherwise, to discourage people in other countries from falling victim to Communist infiltration. It will continue to carry on this fight because it is one of the most important phases of the "cold war." To insist, however, that the CIA should make its operations public is comparable to a demand that the enemy country make available to the enemy the secrets of its atomic arsenal and strategic plans.

My husband is in the Army and wants me and our two boys to join him at the base. He is not a Christian and we have very little in common. I think it would be better for me to stay here where the boys can go to a good church and Sunday School. What do you think? . . . K. Y.

The Bible says: "God setteth the solitary in families." Psalm 68:6. You must recall your marriage vow and does not the fact that your husband wants you and the boys with him indicate some goodness in his heart? I would advise you to immediately make arrangements to join him.

When you have established your new home surely you can find some church and Sunday School which you can attend. Then invite your husband to go with you. Perhaps in the joy of having the family reunited he will accompany you, and there find the Christ you are trying to follow.

If you feel the boys are not receiving as fine religious training as before, be all the more diligent in trying to make the Presence of the Living Christ felt in your home. Always pause for Grace before meals. This should not become a mere repetition of words, but truly be an act of worship. The family could bow their heads in a moment's silence, but I think the boys would like to take turns saying the Grace.

Try to set aside a time each day for family devotions, for Bible reading and prayer. If your husband will not agree to this, you and the boys could have it at their bedtime; but first make a sincere effort to agree upon a time when all the family can be present.

Often a man who has been a skeptic seeks God's aid when he wants to bring up a child in the right way. Join your husband and try, with God's help, to establish a Christian home.

In Norway

TOWANDA, Pa. (AP)—Richard W. Mooney, and his family are in Norway, speaking Norwegian.

Dr. Mooney, a scientist at Sylvania Electric Products Inc. here, was informed last spring that he was the recipient of a Fulbright Hayes Scholarship for private research in Trondheim, Norway.

The family of five immediately set to work to learn Norwegian. Their first project was to mark everything in the house with its Norwegian name—drapes, rug, sofa, chairs, even the dog.

'Profitless Prosperity' Regaining Some Profit

"Profitless prosperity" as a description of corporate earnings has been by-passed by events.

President Johnson made that clear before delegates to an AFL-CIO conference in Washington. He chose this wage-conscious group to announce that corporate net income after taxes shot up to an annual rate of $36 billion in the first quarter of 1965, nearly five billion above the first quarter of last year.

THE PRESIDENT'S pronouncement before union men was like waving a "due bill" before a collection agency. It gives unions added incentive to pursue Samuel Gompers' one-word formula in wage agreements: "more."

Corporate profits have made a new thrust upward. From 1955 through 1961, profits struggled against a $23.24-billion-a-year ceiling. Whenever they entered that zone, oops! Down again—notably in 1957 and again in 1960.

During this frustrating interval, the total output of goods and services was rising. Corporations were producing and selling more and earning less per dollar of sales. Hence, "profitless prosperity." Now a more accurate description would be: "Less-profit prosperity."

CORPORATE PROFITS burst through the $23.24-billion barrier in 1962. But corporate income came to 4.5 per cent of the gross national product (GNP), only a sliver above the postwar lows. Even today with dollar profits at an all-time high, their proportion of GNP (5.5 per cent) is below previous postwar peaks. Inference: Corporations have to work hard for what they get.

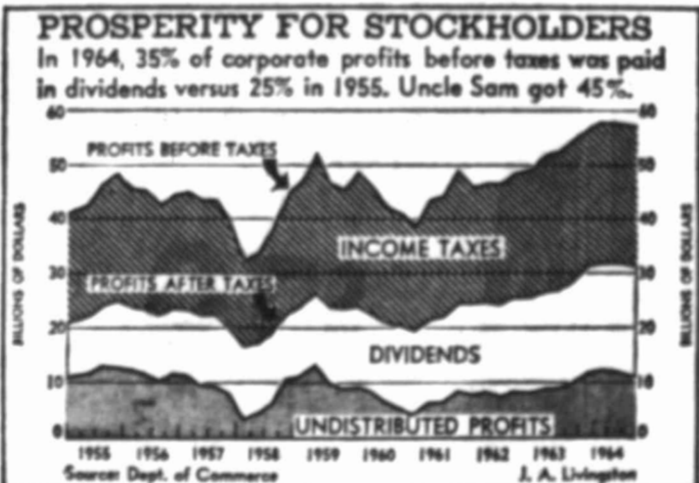

Here are the figures:

Year	Corp. Pbl. After Taxes ($ billions)	Pbl. as % of GNP
1950	22.8	8.0
1951	23.7	8.0
1952	27.8	8.8
1953	28.1	8.7
1954	27.8	8.6
1955	29.0	8.9
1956	29.5	8.9
1957	28.2	8.5
1958	28.8	8.5
1959	30.5	8.7
1960	29.5	8.4
1961	29.7	8.5
1962	31.9	9.2
1963	33.7	9.6
1964	35.0	9.8
1965*	36.0	9.9

* President Johnson's estimate for first quarter.

Two factors explain this year's big first-quarter jump in profits. The rise in volume (sales) and the reduction in corporate taxes.

STEEL PROFITS, as noted here last week, have jumped too. But steel executives are dissatisfied and uneasy. They feel persecuted. This state of mind has persisted since President

Trick Diets Come And Go In Cycles

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: Several of our friends are now attempting to lose weight by the carbohydrate method. If the number of calories of carbohydrate is kept low, the dieters can eat or drink anything.

This "plan" seems reasonable to me, as the calorie content could be terrifically high even if the carbohydrate count is low.—Mr. and Mrs. H. J.

I agree with you. So, in time, will your friends. They may, some of them, manage to lose a bit of weight in the beginning. This is true of some of these trick dieting systems, which, like locusts, droughts, and measles, come and go in cycles.

The reason for temporary success in these diets which purportedly let you eat whatever you want, so long as you abide by the so-called "rules," is probably this: Eating is very much a matter of habit. That, in fact, is why it is so hard to lose weight, once you've spent years getting into the eating habits that have made you fat.

Now, if you can persuade somebody to give up (or almost give up) some particular type of food, he'll stick to that restriction: He'll eat a lot less carbohydrates in this case. But he'll tend to go on eating or drinking about the same amount of other things as formerly. He'll follow his past habits, that is. So he may actually lose some weight.

But sooner or later one of two things happens. He gradually begins to increase the amount of foods other than carbohydrates. Or, and this is more likely, I think, he begins to get so hungry for some of the missing carbohydrates (spaghetti, cake, bread, sugar in its various forms, etc.) that he says, "Ah, I've lost X pounds, so I can afford spaghetti once a week."

Pretty soon he's back where he started.

Then, when somebody comes along with some other kind of a trick diet, he goes through the performance all over again.

Why? Search me, except that hope springs eternal in the human breast—especially in the breast of somebody who wants to get thin but not at the expense of cutting down his calories from all sources.

Silly, isn't it? Dear Dr. Molner: I am diabetic and take a urine test every afternoon, about an hour or two after lunch. I notice that after the tablet has stopped sizzling the contents has a very dark color, greenish-blue. After it has settled several hours it becomes blue, indicating it is negative, but there is a very heavy settling in the bottom of the tube. What causes this?—L. R. H.

The settling and color change result from chemical reactions which take place over a period of time. The test should be read according to directions that come with the tablets—shortly after the sizzle has stopped, NOT several hours later. Also, the test after a meal is more apt to show sugar. Ask your doctor when you should take the test.

Count your calories the easy way! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Calorie Chart," write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The World Changeth; Not Motherhood

Anybody who would defame, disparage or depreciate motherhood is a fit subject for the psychiatrist's couch, and although this corner on occasion is a suspect for the head shrinker, it is not going to do anything but uphold the cherished state of maternal felicity.

But you could look at it one way, and observe that motherhood has changed.

YOU COULD SAY that mothers are younger. Well, now. Your memories always put you in the position of being a child in relationship to your mother, and of course she seemed years along. So you look at the mothers, after you yourself have come along, and sure enough, they are just that—moderns.

Whereas mothers used to be occupied with spankings and sewing blouses and britches, and dining the three R's into younguns' heads, now mothers are busy transporting them to the music teacher and the Little League park.

YOU COULD SAY that mothers are prettier. Here again, the outlook has changed. But why not? There was a time that rice powder was the best Mom could do, to touch up for Sunday services, and now look. Yeah, look at the TV commercials and the magazine color ads, and see what today's mother has at her fingertips. She has everything from hair tint to toenail coloring, that's what; and what's in milady's bathroom today would have stocked a drug store some years back. I think there used to be bathrooms where Mother's wash cloth took second place to the old man's shaving mug and razor strap; today, if there's room for Father's tooth brush, he's ahead.

YOU COULD SAY that mothers are better cooks: Is it the talent or just more outside assistance? Really, there's no point in spending Saturday baking bread, when the delicious loaves are on a shelf just a few blocks away. Why kill and clean a chicken, when the pieces are already beautifully packaged? The old-time kitchen aromas may be gone, but there certainly is a gleaming freezer, with all manner of delectables just waiting for the thaw.

YOU COULD SAY that mothers are busier. And what's busy? Over the washpot on a Monday morning, the ironing board on Tuesday, the housecleaning and the baking? Or would you put all this against the chauffeuring, the hours of togetherness, the mother-child participation in a legion of programs; the arranging for parties and the battle to keep the offspring into every activity, including scholastic standing.

YOU COULD SAY that mothers are better. And why not? They have had direction. You see, they had mothers, too. They learned at the footstool, to use an expression. If they figure THEIR mothers were pretty wonderful—and they do—then they have a pattern to follow, see?

So you can look again and say that motherhood actually hasn't changed. And if they love their little ones, and the little ones love them, then God bless us everyone. —BOB WHIPKEY

How Mother's Day Came About

WASHINGTON — Last week President Johnson issued a Mother's Day proclamation, urging all people to express their love and gratitude for their mothers. The story behind this decision can now be told.

For weeks rumors had been rampant in Washington that the President would declare May 9 Mother's Day. But no high official was willing to confirm it. All queries were referred to the White House.

AT HIS PRESS briefing George Reedy said he knew nothing about the President's making a Mother's Day proclamation and to his knowledge the President had no plans to declare it an official holiday.

In the meantime, the President was meeting with National Security Advisor McGeorge Bundy and Secretary of Defense McNamara to discuss the various possibilities. While Secretary of State Rusk was not at the meeting, he was kept informed as to what was going on.

McNamara and Bundy both argued that something had to be done about Mother's Day before May 9 and that the President should be the one to explain it to the American people.

THE FIRST THING the President did was to call Congressional leaders to the White House and inform them of his decision. Both Sen. Mike Mansfield and Everett Dirksen pledged their support to the President as did Congressman Carl Albert and Gerry Ford.

Sen. Dirksen was quoted as telling the President, "It's the only thing you can do under the circumstances."

Sen. Mansfield said, "Except for Sen. Wayne Morse, I believe the Democratic majority will back you."

AFTER THE Congressional leaders left the White House, President Johnson telephoned former President Eisenhower and told him what he was going to do about Mother's Day. President Eisenhower said, "If I was in your position, Mr. President, I would do exactly the same thing. I will issue a statement giving my whole-hearted approval."

The President then telephoned former President Truman, who said, "It's about blankety-blank time! If anybody says anything about your decision, I'll tell them where to go."

THE NEXT CALL the President made was to former Sen. Barry Goldwater. Mr. Goldwater pointed out that during his campaign he had always advocated a strong Mother's Day policy, and he was glad to see the President was finally following it.

During the next week the President had Lou Harris, Sam Lubell, and George Gallup take polls to see what the consensus of the American people was in regards to a Mother's Day proclamation. Seventy-five per cent of the people said they believed in Mother's Day, five per cent were against it, and 20 per cent said that they had no opinion.

Encouraged by the polls, the President decided to act.

HE ALERTED two airborne divisions, four Marine brigades, and the Atlantic Fleet in case there would be any trouble. He then arranged for Secretary McNamara, Under Secretary of State George Ball, and McGeorge Bundy to appear on television before him to explain his Mother's Day policy.

Then he made the announcement himself at a hurriedly-called press conference. At this writing the reaction in the United States has been very good, though there is still some question as to whether our allies will support the Mother's Day proclamation. So far both France and the Soviet Union said they wouldn't.

Sen. Neuberger's War On Cigarettes

WASHINGTON — When Sen. Maurice Neuberger rose on the Senate floor to pay tribute to the late Edward R. Murrow she spoke of the familiar voice and the familiar image on millions of television screens with its ever-present spiral of cigarette smoke.

I wonder, she added, if Ed Murrow could be here to comment what he might have said about the use of the cigarette.

THE LADY from Oregon is the principal crusader against cigarette smoking. Murrow, who smoked between three and four packs a day, died of lung cancer. The statistics of the American Cancer Society that Mrs. Neuberger so often cites show that smokers are ten times as subject to lung cancer as nonsmokers.

The cigarette issue has been centered in the Senate Commerce Committee. Sen. Neuberger is pushing a strong bill to require a warning of the dangers of cigarette smoking on every package and in all advertising.

BUT SO POWERFUL are the tobacco-growing states combined with the tobacco industry that before the Senate and the House are finished with the measure it will be a fairly innocuous step. The advertising warning will be knocked out. And the admonition to be put on the package has been modified.

Moreover, the opposition seems determined to write into the bill before it is finally passed a provision forbidding the Federal Trade Commission from carrying out its plan to require advertisers beginning July 1 to warn against cigarette smoking.

BUT SEN. NEUBERGER regards

this as only one battle in the war. For a crusader with her zeal a setback is a spur to renewed efforts. As one of the two women in the Senate—there are 19 in the House—she has made the peril of the cigarette the focus of her political career.

It began when she suffered a sudden blackout. Her doctor told her to stop smoking. She found this difficult at first but when she had overcome the habit her health greatly improved. Unlike some women who give up the cigarette habit she did not gain weight as a result.

AT THAT TIME she was married to Richard Neuberger, a free-lance writer who had been elected to the Senate by a narrow margin and then re-elected to a second term.

When he died of an internal cancer—he was a nonsmoker — Mrs. Neuberger in 1960 ran for his seat and won. Many of his interests, such as the conservation and the preservation of what is left of the natural beauty of the Pacific Northwest, were also her interests when she came to the Senate.

BUT IT WAS NOT until she became interested in the hazards of smoking and began to write her book, "Smoke Screens," that she developed the singleminded interest that often characterizes senators who build up a record of legislative achievement. A name attached to a law means a kind of political immortality. It is perhaps too early to say whether a Neuberger law, with strong provisions to try to warn off a generation of potential young smokers, will be enacted.

McQueen Portrays Texas Musician

Steve McQueen, Lee Remick and Don Murray, are teamed in "Baby the Rain Must Fall," opening today at the Ritz Theatre. The team of producer Alan J. Pakula and Robert Mulligan made "Love With the Proper Stranger" and "To Kill a Mocking Bird." The latter film won eight Academy Award nominations, three Oscars, the former film provided movie-goers with a most intense and absorbing study of a woman in love.

A small town in Texas is the setting for "Baby the Rain Must Fall." The film is said to be a record of people and places the author knows and understands. It is clearly, a tale of real people — a hot-tempered weakling who dreams of fame as a musician; his young wife who desperately wants to believe in him and in their love for each other, and a soft-spoken deputy sheriff who knows that the foot-loose singer must inevitably destroy himself and his family.

McQueen plays the young husband whose life is wrapped up in the music he creates. Miss Remick is the wife, ineffectually trying to maintain a wrecked marriage and hoping that the man she loves, now that he is out on parole, and Don Murray plays McQueen's childhood friend, trying to keep him on the narrow path towards a safe future, ultimately forced to chauffeur his wife and daughter out of town when McQueen finally goes berserk and is returned to jail.

Wayne Stars In Circus Film

From "The Big Trail," to a western saga across half of Europe; that's the trail of John Wayne, whose first real break was playing a pioneer hero in a tale about the early American West. Although Wayne has taken time out for a change of pace from gunslinging roles to play a variety of parts, including a jet pilot, a seaman in O'Neill's "The Long Voyage Home," as well as a Marine, he's portraying a different type of character in "Circus World," which opens Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre.

As a western impresario, he will be seen riding hell-bent-for-leather, since besides running a troubled circus through Europe, Wayne participates in life-death clinches.

Although the European atmosphere is a departure from his more familiar characterization, Wayne nevertheless was enthusiastic.

Wayne, or "Duke," as he is generally called, took an interest in every aspect of "Circus World," including not only the casting of his co-stars, Claudia Cardinale, Rita Hayworth, Lloyd Nolan, Richard Conte and John Smith, but also smaller roles as well.

An exceptional note goes to a young girl billed as "Katharyna," who plays a significant role of a wire-walker in the film. Wayne asserts, "We all felt that Katharyna has every chance of becoming an important teenage actress after other producers see her in the film."

Foundation's Art Exhibit Typifies Growing Interest

Art continues in the air, and as exhibits taper off, summer groups will flourish. Typifying the growing interest in art, the Diamond M Foundation's showing of Emily Guthrie Smith's paintings last weekend drew spectators from West Texas points stretching from Fort Worth to Lubbock, and Breckenridge to Big Spring. Her creations, dominantly of her favorite subject — children, proved exceedingly popular. Her technique was as popular as her subjects, for Mrs. Smith goes in for faithful reproduction which captures the spirit; she does not try to startle or use other devices for attention or effect. Everyone seemed to marvel how much impression she could create with just a partial view of a face, or the stance of an innocent child.

This exhibit, of course, brought into sharp focus again the importance of the Diamond M Foundation in area art. C. T. McLaughlin, who established the foundation and who has had a hand personally in selecting much of the imposing collection, has set in motion something that could bless this area for years and years. For instance, he has quietly gathered one of the largest collections of N. C. Wyeth paintings extant. He has a number of Frederic Remington's, some Charlie Russels, and a liberal gathering of George Phippin's in both painting and bronzes. While the Diamond M Art Center in Snyder pulls in visitors, many of the paintings are put on loan, thus widening the sphere of influence for the Foundation.

Civic Theatre Play To Open Friday

Final preparation will be under way this week for the Big Spring Civic Theatre's production Friday and Saturday of "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Rehearsals are set week nights at the Municipal Auditorium, where the George S. Kaufman-Moss Hart comedy in three acts will be staged.

A cast of 18 persons will present the story of a radio celebrity and a small-town Iowa family.

Ron Carr, a veteran of acting and production roles in numerous little theatre plays here, will be in the lead role of Sheridan Whiteside, the commentator who has an acid tongue and a wit to match. Carr was last seen on the little theatre stage in "George Washington Slept Here."

Mrs. Carr will portray Mrs. Stanley, and Gene Mikeska will be in the role of Mr. Stanley.

Mrs. Carr co-directed the successful "Hansel and Gretel" here last fall and held roles in "Dirty Work at the Crossroads," "My Three Angels" and other little theatre productions. Mikeska will be making his acting debut in the production this week, having been set designer for several plays this season.

Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold and Mrs. Christine Tatum are other veteran little theatre participants in the play. Mrs. Tatum held lead roles in "Solid Gold Cadillac" and "Bus Stop" this season.

Three of the actors in the recent "Stalag 17" production will again be on the stage, Bob Bateman, Keiran Doherty and Dave Carreiro. Joyce Towbin, who was a high school girl in "Bus Stop," will be in the role of Harriet Stanley.

Two little theatre workers who previously helped with backstage work, Pat Jones and Regina Hines, will join five high school students in completing the cast. The students are Hillary Sherred, Carol Odum, Gloria Gate, Jimmy Townes and Clark Fryar.

The director is Mrs. Norman Spencer Jr., who directed "The Solid Gold Cadillac." Mrs. Spencer has become known locally as a lecturer on the history of little theatre and has worked in such productions in San Antonio and New York. Co-producers are Louis Loveless and Johnny Economy, with Loveless also holding a role in the play. Lois Davis is assistant to the director.

Tickets will be on sale only at the door each night.

'Fall Of Roman Empire' Opens Friday At State

"The Fall of the Roman Empire," opens Friday at the State Theatre. With a cast headed by Sophia Loren, Stephen Boyd, Alec Guinness, James Mason, Christopher Plummer, Anthony Quayle, John Ireland, Mel Ferrer and Omar Sharif, "The Fall of the Roman Empire" is the story of Rome's descent from the height of civilization to the depths of despair.

One hundred and 90 years after the birth of Christ, the Roman Empire was at the height of its power under Emperor Marcus Aurelius (Alec Guinness). However, the Emperor, with his health failing and aware that his time is short, summons all the rulers of the land, and urges support for a united empire whereby all member nations will live under the same law as equals.

Present at this gathering is the Emperor's son, Commodus (Christopher Plummer); his daughter, Lucilla (Sophia Loren); as well as Livius (Stephen Boyd), one of his top generals.

That night, two things occur which ignite the empire's sudden downfall; the Emperor tells his daughter that for the sake of the empire she must marry King Sohamus (Omar Sharif) of Armenia; also, he remarks to Livius that Commodus, his son, is not worthy to become his successor, and instead, he wants Livius to become emperor.

Aurelius suddenly dies, and without proof that he wanted Livius as his successor, there is no choice but to name Commodus as the new Caesar. Commodus finally does take over, and with his ascent to the throne the Roman Empire starts tumbling downward.

Weevil Is Not A Problem Here

Howard County cotton farmers have enjoyed more than 60 years of freedom from the ravages of the most feared of all cotton insect pests — the boll weevil.

There is a growing threat now that these happy days are coming to an end. The boll weevil has moved into the High Plains in the past few years and, according to Herb Helbig, county farm agent, and other cotton experts, a few isolated weevils have already been found in this county. In 1964, there were proved cases of weevils in the extreme eastern part of the county.

NO THREAT

Boll weevils, as of this date, however, do not constitute an imminent threat to the county's crop. And there is a war already being waged in the High Plains counties where the weevils have invaded. If this war is pursued to its conclusion, it could save the cotton fields of this county from this pest for additional decades.

Farmers look with dread on the possibility the weevil may crash into the county. The havoc it has played in the cotton areas in other parts of the state and the south are well known to cotton men. Coping with it, once it has established a beachhead, is an expensive and oftentimes hopeless struggle. In some cotton counties, the cost of battling the weevil is so high that cotton production has been abandoned.

Howard County cotton farmers, however, if they have to go to bat with the boll weevil, are certainly no novices at warring on insect pests. They have long pursued a highly effective and scientific campaign against the insects which have been in this area and the results have been satisfactory.

The chief enemy of the dryland cotton farmers of this county now are the cotton boll worm. In close second place is the flea hopper. The tobacco bud worm also does damage in some years and in some fields.

COPE

Farmers in this county are familiar with these pests and are trained and equipped to cope with them. In 1964, the problem was not the insects in the fields; it was a matter of insufficient rain. Insects last year were at a low level for the county.

There have been years, when the cotton farmers were hard pressed to save their crops from the ravages of the boll worms and the flea hoppers. These are the years which leave a bad memory with the cotton farmer. It is an expensive and irksome task to fight the boll worm week after week. It is doubly irksome when the dry weather, sandstorms and hail pose other damaging threats to the precious crop.

There are occasions when the cotton, in its tender stages, suffers severely from the jackrabbits. These rodents show up in vast numbers some years; in other seasons only a few are seen.

In their case, too, the farmers resort to chemistry to defeat the invaders.

WATCHED

The boll weevil problem is being closely watched by cotton farmers and organizations in the plains area. The first boll weevils made their appearance in this county in 1963. As stated, a few were seen in 1964.

Farmers are gravely perturbed by the threat posed. They know that a combination of bugs and drought can be disastrous. In 1961, a good cotton year, bugwise and weatherwise, the county fields produced 45,757 bales of cotton. The following year, 1962, was bad both ways.

The acreage planted to cotton was about the same in each year, but the crop in 1962 was only 26,890 bales.

One worry that farmers face is the habit that insect pests have of becoming immune to the lethal effects of pesticides used. For a long time DDT and the toxaphene insecticides were 100 per cent effective in war on the boll worms, bud worms and flea hopper. Then the farmers noticed that the regular treatment was failing to kill as it should. The insects had built up a resistance to the poison. Stronger and stronger poisons have to be found and put to use.

FIND POISONS

There is no other course open than to find poisons which will work. Critical insect infestation can reduce the yield as much as one half bale an acre.

No statistics are available on poisoning costs and crop losses in local fields due to bugs. Nationally, cotton pests cost the farmers $378 million annually in production and another $150 million each year to fight them.

Big Spring Listed In Travel Guide

Big Spring, with nearby Moss Creek Lake and Lake J. B. Thomas, is one of 151 Texas cities and towns featured in the new 1965 Mobil Travel Guide, to be published in May in seven regional volumes. Big Spring appears on page 340 of the Southwest and South Central Area volume.

This book covers Texas, Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The 136-page section on the Lone Star State includes rated listings for 632 motels and motor hotels, 83 hotels, 213 restaurants, 48 cafeterias and 13 resorts.

The ratings in the guide range from one to five stars. A one-star rating means "good, better than average," while five stars indicate "one of the best in the country." The books, which cover the entire nation except Alaska and Hawaii, grant the five-star rating to only 31 establishments. Two of these are in Texas. There are 290 to which the four-star grade is accorded, with 25 of these in Texas.

The guide is part of a comprehensive program of travel service which includes the new Travel Information Center in many of Mobil's service stations and Mobil's Touring Service. This year's guide is published in seven volumes which list over 4,000 cities and towns and describe some 9,300 things to see and do. The guides give details on hunting and fishing, as well as license fees, information on camping grounds and state and national parks. Other sports facilities are listed, including golf courses.

The Mobil Travel Guide is the only American guide book series that evaluates establishments through impartial, annual inspections. The 1965 books describe and rate more than 20,000 hotels, motels, restaurants, cafeterias and resorts, each of which was visited by a trained representative.

Mankind Gets Plea By Ike

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, on the 20th anniversary of World War II victory in Europe, called upon mankind Friday to rededicate itself to the advancement of humanity rather than its destruction.

The five-star general who led the invasion that brought an end to European hostilities, and later served his country as president through eight years of relative peace, issued an anniversary statement from his farm home near Gettysburg.

Cotton Is Still King Of West Texas Farms

Cotton is still king among West Texas agricultural products.

Cotton is important to Big Spring and West Texas, not only to the cotton farmer, but to more than 50 Big Spring businesses that deal directly or indirectly with cotton. Cotton touches every household in a number of ways and in other ways not so obvious.

More than 25 Big Spring firms serve cotton farmers directly during the year, while another 25 or more handled more than 173 items that utilize cotton in their manufacture.

Five firms handle liquid petroleum gas, either butane or propane; eight firms deal in tractors and heavy farm implements; three provide planting seed, in addition to cooperatives; four handle fertilizers including anhydrous ammonia, and two feed stores handle insecticides in addition to some drug stores and cooperatives.

Employment for the cotton season will run over 50

Add this to the approximately 200 persons employed by the Big Spring firms dealing directly with the preparation of land, planting, growing, harvesting and ginning of the cotton crop and the total labor force for cotton is over 250.

Manufactured products touching practically every part of life in the community that are in some way connected with the cotton industry include: Advertising, agricultural, bags, airplanes, automobiles, belts, building, cordage, twine and threads, electrical supplies, laundry, medical needs, offices, printing, railways, ships, shoes, sports, electronics, theatres and many others.
