It adds up to this: The federal government's electricity bill is expected to rise a total of some 8900.000 in its buildings across the country in the coming year. It was $20,900,000 last year. It appears to be an embarrassing predicament - with a boss in the White House who's cut his electric light bill by a reported $1,800 a month — from 4,600 to $2,800.

However, the President's example may be responsible for slowing down the increase in government electricity costs. AIR COOLERS

A check today at the General Services Administration, which pays the utilities bills for some 6,000 federal buildings (out of some 9,100 such buildings) brought this information: The electricity cost increase is due largely to new air-condi-

MODERNISM

In spite of the tremendous influence for good the Bible has had upon man, many who profess to be its friends deny some of its basic and fundamental doctrines. Some of the most wonderful events of the Old Testament, the virgin birth of Christ, the miracles of Christ and His apostles are explained away as nonessentials. These contingents were at first restricted to unbelivers, but now some prominent religious leaders also reject these fundamental doctrines of the Christian faith.

BIBLE INSPIRED OF GOD

The Bible indisputably claims for itself the inspiration of God. "For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty . . . We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts: knowing this first, that no prophecy of the Scriptures is of any private interpretation. For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spoke as they moved by the Holy Ghost" (2 Peter 1:16-17).

About forty men were engaged in writing the Bible, and they wrote over a period of sixteen hundred years; yet the statement of one is never contradicted by another. Prophecies were made and fulfilled. Almost every event in the life of Christ was a fulfilled prophecy. Many scientific facts were anticipated by the ancient prophets of God. Job knew of an empty place over the north that was not known until modern times (Job 26:7). Isaiah knew the earth was round, a fact which was denied until modern times (Isaiah 40:22). David knew of the paths in the sea, a fact which was not discovered until recently (Psalms 8:8). These facts cannot be accounted for except God inspired this wonderful Book!

MODERNISM DENIES INSPIRATION

The Bible is inspired of God! Being inspired, the Bible gives an infallible record of the essentials. Listed below are some points that inspiration declares but that are denied by modernists.

1. Virgin Birth of Christ (Matthew 1:18-25; Luke 1:26-27). 2. Miracles and signs of Christ (John 20:-

3. Death of Christ (Matthew 27:35-38; Mark

15:24-28; Luke 23:33-38; John 19:18-24). 4. Resurrection and appearances (Matthew 28; Mark 16; Luke 24; John 20-21).

To deny these is to reject Christ as being what He claimed to be, the "Son of God"; and to reduce Him to a mere man who was either deceived or dishonest. The Bible is not a book that can be partially rejected without doing violence to its claims to inspiration. We must either accept or reject it as it is!

True faith cannot be based on imagination, but must depend on sufficient evidence. Sufficient evidence of the inspiration of the Bible is available. And when proper investigation is given, the evidence will force one to conclude that the Bible is God's word, and should be respected and

Did Your Property Suffer HAIL DAMAGE?

If it did . . . and if you carry Windstorm or Extended Coverage Insurance, the following friendly suggestions are offered to acquaint you with the proper procedure in handling your claim in the speediest possible manner.

Look for Amount of the Deductible Clause In Your Own Policy

> Most Windstorm and Extended Coverage Polices now contain a deductible clause. Examine your policy and if it contains this clause, check to see if repairs to your property are less than the amount of the deductible clause. If they are less, you will have no claim under your policy.

If Your Loss Is More Than Amount of the Deductible Clause . . .

> Or if Your Policy Does Not Have a Deductible Clause . . .

Notify your agent and he will report the loss to your insurance company and arrange for an Adjuster to call upon

If Possible, Obtain An Accurate Estimate of Your Storm Damage .

> If possible obtain an estimate af the cost to repair the damage caused to your property. Such repair estimates must be iteimzed to include only those damages actually caused by the storm.

Protect Property From Further Damage While Waiting for Adjuster . . .

> Your Local Agent, the Claim Adjuster, and Insurance Companies are all anxious to give you prompt service and settlement. They are working under emergency conditions and will get to you just as soon as possible.

From The States To Congress

In all the history of Texas, there has never been a law requiring a worker to belong to or pay dues to any organization to hold a job. There is, on the contrary, a "right-to-work" statute which forbids any such re-

Texas is one of 19 states which has such a law, the others including Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Mississippi, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Virginia and Wyoming.

There is no sound basis for calling any of these states anti-union. Some of them, notably Texas, Florida, Arkansas, North Carolina and Arizona, have been leaders among all the states in industrial expansion and gains in the workingman's level along

So, attempts to repeal these laws in the states have gotten nowhere. There just seems to be no justificaThe campaign on the part of labor leaders thus turned to the federal government. In the area of Congress, seems strange that a legislative body which has pressed so deeply into various civil rights legislation would now be a party to depriving an in-dividual of the civil right to hold any job he can qualify for.
While President Johnson this week

called for amendments to the Taft-Hartley Law which would take away the states' rights to enact and enforce their right-to-work statutes, he was curiously undemanding in his recommendation Mr. Johnson customarily presses much more vigfor legislation he really wants.

In any event, the issue is now before Congress. People who feel that no injustices are now being done, but could possibly be done with abandonment of right-to-work laws, ought to be contacting their congressmen and their

Even Alaskans have gotten tired of hearing other Alaskans celebrate the vastness of their state in terms of being bigger than Texas. The accepted form for the boast now is to point out that if Alaska were to be divided into two states of equal area, it would mean that Texas then would rank third

BUT IF ALASKA is first in expanse among the states, it is a poor 50th in population. Juneau, its capital city, is a village of fewer than 7,000 souls. The whole state counted 226,167 in the 1960 census, which means that Alaska's population would be more than doubled if, say, El Paso, Texas, were to be transplanted here.

Unfortunately, however, Alaska's problems are of a magnitude to match its size and not its population. Even before the cruel earthquake that devastated Western Alaska on Good Friday a year ago, the 49th state was plagued by all the difficulties of managing an area bigger than Italy, France and Spain combined-with the number of people who live in Richmond. Va.

NOT UNEXPECTEDLY, there are obvious shortcomings to eyes attuned to conditions in the conterminous U.S.

Roads are pitifully few and often in poor condition. Cities (and not only those so savagely battered by last year's earthquake) seem shabby and tentative-as if they can't get over their here-today-gone-tomorrow boom-

Food is expensive (but it is better than is to be found in much of the rest of the U.S.) and everything from a shoe shine (50 cents) to a taxi ride costs more than it would in New York City.

IN A COUNTRY that needs people more than it needs anything else, unemployment is higher than the national average. In a state teeming in untapped natural resources, foreign capital (particularly Japanese) is desperately sought after.

Here, where available land is to be had almost for the asking, farming is a heartbreaking study in futility. Developing a homestead into a commercially productive farm requires a cash investment of $40,000 to $60,000. and a development period of five to 10 years.

THIS PROPOSAL, if enacted into law, would wipe out overnight the laws passed by 19 states forbidding compulsory unionization and upholding the right of the individual to of power it would be a dreamy work anywhere without being required to give up his conscientious beliefs.

The Supreme Court of the United States has again and again affirmed the right of a citizen to "freedom of belief." There are many citizens, including some in religious groups, who conscientiously believe that they should not be compelled to join any organization of a private nature. PRESIDENT JOHNSON, in his message to Congress this week, did not make any reference to the constitu-tional rights of the citizen, nor did he answer any of the objections frequently, and ed in the past that the right to work is a civil right. In fact, Mr Johnson, although discussing at length a wider coverage of the minimum-wage law, restrictions on "excessive overtime work" and changes in the unemployment insurance program, made no comprehensive explanation of why he wants Congress to eliminate the right-to-work laws of the 19 states. The President's reference to this proposed amendment of the National Labor Relations Act

"Finally, with the hope of reducing conflicts in our national labor policy that for several years have divided Americans in various states, I recommend the repeal of section 14 (B) of the Taft-Hartley Act with such other tactical changes as are made necessary by this action."

reads in full text as follows:

ALTHOUGH THE President submitted the drafts of bills for the other changes that he requested, he did

WASHINGTON-President Johnson not do so with respect to the amendment that would abolish right-to-work laws. He merely said:

"Bills embodying the third (proposal) have already been introduced in congress.

There is hardly any phase of the problem of labor-management relations about which it could not be said that the issues "for several years have divided Americans in several states." Also, it is rare indeed that an important piece of legislationsuch as the abolition of civil rightsdoes not get any more extended explanation from the chief executive than was contained in the message submitted to congress.

WHILE CONGRESS has been aware of many abuses that have occurred in the exercise of labor-union power, ". has lately avoided corrective measures. In fact, the amount of pressure exerted by labor unions of Congress and on the executive branch of the government has been considerable. It is commonly believed that much of the labor-union influence is due to the amount of money collected from labor-union members and contributed to congressional and presidential campaigns. The workers in 19 states who have en free from coercion now may face a compulsory-unionization program. Theoretically, a worker who is employed in a business that is not interstate in character could still refuse to join a union under existing state laws. But the phrase "interstate commerce" has been broadened so much in the recent civil rights law in order to remove racial discrimination in hiring employes that it may be doubted whether any substantial number of jobs in any state could be classed today as outside federal furisdiction.

IT IS INDEED ironical that discrimination can be prohibited by reason of race or religion or color but that discrimination is to be permitted as a worker is compelled to join a union or lose his job whenever the union gets the upper hand in any business or industry.

Legislation We Don't Need WASHINGTON-Most of the great

statesmen between the Revolutionary and Civil War regarded Negro slavery as a moral and political evil, but not so great an evil as American dis-The radicals in those days were the separationists and the abolitionists who put a humanitarian problem that concerned non-citizens above that of keeping the country united and strong. The conservatives like Clay and Webster were willing to make compromises with the Slave States, and even to enforce fugitive slave laws, in order to maintain a country where law and order reigned. ONE DIFFERENCE between those days and these is that the dominant statesmen, headed by the President and the floor leaders of both parties in both the legislative houses, have gone over to the radical position of the antebellum separationists and abolitionists. There is now a willingness throughout the national political leadership to enact legislation that cannot fail to disrupt the traditional ways of living, and the long-held beliefs about the privilege of association, the sanctity of property and the sovereignty of local government. EVERY EXTENSION of enforced equality between the races has brought disunity, North and South-not so great a disunity as we had in the War Between the States, but civil disorder in the streets. Federal troops in action and a general breakdown of respect for persons and property. So much so that a reaction has set in against the haste and heedlessness of the civil rights movement, and the opinion polls show that an increasing number of Americans believe the equality drive is going too fast.

THERE IS A great deal of historical precedent for believing that nations can tolerate, and benefit, from radicalism that presses for political reform from a minority position.

But when radicalism becomes the juggernaut of a legislative majority, when debate is all but useless and opposition is wholly in vain, we come to a situation where the parliamentary system bogs down and lawmaking is almost done by proclamation and

IN THE FIFTH month of the 89th Congress, we find the President and the Capitol Hill leaders of both parties almost entirely concerned in the domestic field with the rights and desires of people who are not representative of the American whole. Four out of five Americans don't need acts and appropriations of Congress to give them "opportunity," but the War on Poverty is raging. Nine out of ten Americans, perhaps 99 out of 100, are perfectly secure in the civil rights, but Congress is about to pass the fourth law in eight years to accommodate a pressure group whose motives are suspect and whose demands seem to be insatiable. The new bills for education, for Medicare, for more tobs and better housing are all unearned benefits bestowed upon Americans who are non-typical of this prosperous and energetic people.

THE PARADOX is that the dominant statesmen today are not serving the general population which elected them, and which pays their salaries, which holds property, which cherishes the rights of privacy and which lives by law and order.

Efficiency at the TSO Contact Lens Laboratory-What it means to you

At TSO, contact lenses are given special attention. We have a separate laboratory specifically designed for processing them. It was in this laboratory that our research program developed the famous TSO Micro-Sight contact lens with the exclusive multi-curve lens design and the special edge-beveling process. III It is in this laboratory that each TSO lens undergoes eight (8) separate, precision inspections during processing. This almost fanatical attention to accuracy has contributed greatly to our excellent reputation in the field of contact lenses. To date, we have successfully fitted over 40,000 patients. You might ask what materials are used to make contact lenses, Just one, the finest optical-grade acrylic plastic, It is ideal for contact lenses because it is shatterproof and it processes and finishes exceptionally well-so well that we are able to say that a typical TSO patient readily achieves minimum adaptation time and maximum wearing comfort. ** Because of the efficiency of our processing techniques, we are able to offer our Micro-Sight contact lenses at unusually reasonable cost. Just $65 for single vision contact lenses, complete with examination and fittings. Bifocal lenses are also available at reasonable cost. Convenient credit at no extra cost. Visit TSO soon and find out for yourself, the facts about TSO Micro-Sight contact lenses.

FUSION PROCESS The Atomic Energy Commis sion some time ago made public the fact that tritium - the heaviest of the hydrogen isotopes - is the substance which produces the explosive thermonuclear reaction of the H bomb. It's done by a process known as fusion - joining - of atoms as distinguished from the the A-bomb. The AEC also indicated that the tritium is produced by bombarding a form of lithium with atomic neutrons, or rays, special nuclear reactors.

fission - splitting - process of

But the new Lapp slant is that most of the tritium is manufactured within the exploding bomb itself, with built-in lithium deuteride as the source.

The first official disclosure that the lithium compound is used inside hydrogen weapons was made by Dr. W. J. Frank of the AEC's weapons laboratory at Livermore, Calif

AT SYMPOSIUM He did so in a talk at a symoosium on the "Plowshare" program - the venture aimed at sing nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes such as canal digging - held at the University of California at Davis more than vear ago. Lapp told a reporter about it today, with this interpretation of how the chemical is employed

1. The explosion is triggered by the initial detonation of either U-235 or plutonium, forming a kind of core within the bomb. In the fission chain reaction involving either of those explosives, 'conventional' atomic neutrons are released. 2. The lithium in the lithium deuteride undergoes fission, as of bombardment by neutrons. And this converts the lithium to tritium and helium. 3. Atoms of this "hot" tritium fuse with atoms of dueterium another form of heavy hydrogen contained in the deuteride by this previous reaction cause the fissioning of uranium 238ordinarily not fissionable except by very fast moving neutrons which constitutes the surroundiny fraction of a second. IS A "4-F"

"Thus," said Lapp, "you have fission-fusion-fission ocess - '4F' as it were.' Dr. Frank in the original report referred to potential costs Catholic parishes. of nuclear explosives for "Plow-

But Dr. Lapp said the latter probably could be produced for a great deal less than $2,500.
