Relaxing As Tension Eases

Pfc. Robert Pena, Miami, Fla., gets his combat boots shined in Santo Domingo as tension eases in that revolution-torn city. The incident was after the 24-hour cease fire came to an end. Junta Turns Down Truce Extension

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The 24-hour truce between warring junta and rebel forces to clear a battle area of dead and wounded ended at noon Saturday. Flushed with victory in week-long fighting that raged in the capital's battered northern suburbs, the junta rejected all pleas for an extension of the cease-fire.

In New York, the U.N. Security Council nevertheless requested that the halt in hostilities in Santo Domingo be transformed into a permanent cease-fire.

REBELS AGREE

Col. Francisco Caamaño Domo and his rebels were reported agreeable to an extension of the 24-hour cease-fire.

The U.N. request came on a resolution by France that made no mention of the role of the Organization of American States in trying to solve the crisis.

The council vote in favor of the resolution was 10-0, with U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson explaining that he had abstained because of the lack of reference to the OAS.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant told the council that the junta's refusal to extend the truce was "ominous."

In another effort directed at re-establishing order, the Roman Catholic Church in the Dominican Republic called on leaders of the civil war factions to help establish a provisional government in the interest of peace.

In a letter made public by the special U.N. representative in Santo Domingo, Jose R. Mayobre, the church asked those "who consider they have the government of the country in their hands" to yield "in part" their rights in order to "democratically reorganize the country."

Signed by the archbishop of Santo Domingo, Msgr. Octavio Beras, and the nation's four bishops, the letter called for the acceptance of a provisional government to be presided over by "one patriotic citizen." It did not say who that citizen should be.

JUNTA'S VIEW

In rejecting an extension of the cease-fire, Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, the junta president, said that this did not mean that the junta "would pursue aggressive measures."

"We desire peace," he said in a statement. "We wish to avoid blood spilling, we do not plan to start any bellicose action but I repeat that we are free to repel any aggressive action launched against us."

On Friday, as the bloody battle for control of the northern suburbs ended, Imbert indicated his troops would carry the fight into the main rebel stronghold in downtown Santo Domingo where they are hemmed in by U.S. forces and the sea.

In Washington, U.S. officials said that American troops would use force — including naval units — to bar attack by the junta on the rebels who are behind a U.S.-controlled supply corridor and international safety zone.

The U.S. officials said that American naval contingents are prepared to halt any attempted junta assault by sea on the rebel pocket. Elements of the Dominican navy are among the forces Imbert commands.

Junta planes are being prevented from taking off from the San Isidro Air Base outside Santo Domingo by American units stationed there, U.S. sources reported. Junta planes in the past have attacked rebel positions.

UN Future Black, Opinion Of U Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant declared Saturday the world is witnessing a definite reversal in the progress of the United Nations toward world stability and peace. He said the organization will become only a debating society unless the trend is checked.

Thant issued the statement here on a busy Saturday devoted to urgent Security Council deliberations on the Dominican crisis.

IN SPEECH

He had written it as a speech to deliver at Queen's University in Kingston, Ont. where he and Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson were to have received honorary degrees of doctor of law.

Thant, who tries to attend all Security Council sessions, canceled the trip after a meeting on the Dominican situation was scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday.

He said in his statement that he would bring to the council any matter which he considers a threat to international peace and security.

Without mentioning any big power or specific crisis, Thant declared:

"I feel bound to say that the first five months of this year have witnessed developments which have tended to undermine the position of the United Nations as the primary agency for maintaining international peace and security."

Reviewing The
Big Spring Week
With Joe Pickle

The biggest news of all in this county was rain — and there was plenty of it during the past weekend. Although streets and roads sustained considerable damage along with a few business houses and residences, the general effect was that of excellent benefit. In fact, today might be Thanksgiving Day as well as Nov. 23.

Rains varied from 1.5 and 2 inches over all the county to as much as 5 or more. This meant that all areas have enough for planting and to get the crop up to good stands and established; some few sandy areas with heavy rains will have almost enough to make a crop. The timing is ideal because fields will be weeded as they are planted. Only problem is that the intensity of rains left some spots in fields much wetter than others, making tractor footing tricky. Ranches generally are much on the mend. The general outlook is suddenly good.

The City of Big Spring may count its Eleventh Place system of detention dams a good investment. Water was still run-

TOP RANKING GRADS GET A SALUTE

You will see photographs of many graduating Big Spring High School seniors in today's Herald. They carry a mark of distinction. All of those whose pictures appear — and they're being saluted for scholastic achievement by Big Spring merchants — are seniors who have registered academic averages of 90 or above for seven semesters. It's a sizeable bunch of bright young people, and you'll find them in today's Herald ads.

Top men in each of the five main events in the 32nd annual Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo, were named Saturday night. Clyde Vanvoores of Lake Charles, La., with 66 points, led the bareback bronc riders; John Bogard of Charley, Texas, with a time of 24.9 seconds, led in calf roping; Ralph Maynard of Eagle Butte, Mon., with 121 points, won the saddle bronc riding; Dewey Dunaway of Burk Burnett, was tops in steer wrestling with 12 points, and Melvin Fields, also of Burk Burnett, with 64 points, won the bull riding. Pat Marr of Tularosa, N.M., with a time of 36.1 seconds won the girls barrel racing.

TWO GO-ROUNDS

Each contestant had two go-rounds in his events, and the points and times are combined for the total show.

Becky Saunders, representing the Stanton Rangers, a girls riding club, was named Rodeo Queen for 1965. She is the daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. Dan Saunders of Stanton.

First runner-up was Shirley Moore of Midland, sponsored by the Midland Appaloosa Club, and second-up was Dee Ann Donham of Odessa, sponsored by the Odessa Chamber of Commerce. Shirley is the daughter of Mrs. Ray Jennings.

The contrary broncs and "mean old bulls" allowed very few rides Saturday night. Three out of seven bull riders stuck on their animals for points.

The last three calf ropers, Jim Bob Altizer of Del Rio, Junior Garrison of Marlow, Okla., and Don M. Simms of

Top Hands For Big Spring Rodeo Selected At Final Performance

Rodeo Queen, sponsored by the Andrews County Sheriff's Posse, took a bad spill from her horse when introduced Friday night, but was not injured. She remounted and continued her ride, and she rode again Saturday night.

Officials of the Rodeo Association, official sponsor of these annual events had every cause to be happy over the outcome of the present show. Weather, for a change in the history of Big Spring Rodeos, was ideal. It was pleasantly cool and the rains, which often harass these annual spring events, did not fall.

Attendance, too, was exceptionally good. Opening night saw an estimated 5,000 on hand. Each of the three succeeding per-times in the barrel race, with two knocking over a barrel.

Ralph Maynard of Eagle Butte, S. D. was first in saddle bronc riding with 60 points, with Ross Looney of Hayward second, and Clyde and Joe Frost of Vernal, Utah, and George Williams of Greeley, Colo. in a tie for third with 54 points each.

Ten steer wrestlers tried their luck Saturday night and three of them didn't make time.

Saturday night's crowd ran between 3,500 and 4,000 fans, and all stayed until the end of the rodeo, which went off with little delay.

Jerry Olson and His Flying Jets, Earl Wharton and His Sheep Dogs, and LaRue Olson and his trained Buffalo Act, brought loud applause from the fans.

BLAST OFF

An Atlas rocket blasted successfully away from Cape Kennedy at 4:55 p.m. to hurl the 200-pound project fire payload on a high arcing path that stabbed more than 500 miles into space.

As the craft dived back toward earth, a small solid-fuel motor ignited for a 30-second burst to ram the package into the heat barrier of the atmosphere at a speed of about seven miles a second. This is slightly faster than the velocity the three-man Apollo ships will achieve on homeward trips from the moon.

As a fireball estimated at 20,000 degrees Fahrenheit formed in a shock wave in front of the craft, instruments in its interior radioed information to Ascension Island and ships and planes stationed in the South Atlantic re-entry area.

FUGITIVE SHOT BY POSSEMAN

AMARILLO (AP) — A man suspected of shooting at a highway patrolman Saturday night was hospitalized here after he was wounded.

The officer, who was not hit by the shot, said he was chasing a man in a pickup truck on U.S. 66 about two miles west of Amarillo, when the driver of the truck turned off the road, leaped out and ran into a field.

City, county and state officers surrounded the field. The man was shot and wounded by one of the officers.

Big Cities Get Plums In New Districting Bill

County To Draw New 'Neighbors'

If redistricting for the Texas House of Representatives stands as drawn in a bill passed by the House in Austin Friday, Howard County becomes affiliated with new "neighbors" in its district.

Under the re-alignment, Howard is placed with Mitchell and Nolan in a new district. It would become separated from the six counties that now make up the 78th — Martin, Glasscock, Sterling, Irion, Reagan and Coke.

Howard has been the most populous county in the old district, and would continue to be so, although Nolan and Mitchell stack up closer than have the old counties.

The redistricting puts Howard into the district served by Temple Dickson, Sweetwater attorney.

The 78th on June 26 will name a new representative for an unexpired term. Presumably this man, if he chose to run for a full term in 1966, would be pitted against the Sweetwater legislator.

Dickson was quoted in Austin as saying he doubted the constitutionality of the House bill, pointed to various inequities, and said he didn't think the courts would accept it.

BARRACKS HIT

South Vietnamese planes joined in the strikes, attacking the Quang Khe naval barracks, barracks at Xong Ray and 20 small boats at Phu Chanh north of the border. The Vietnamese reported sinking the boats.

In the fighting near Ben Cat the action began with the Viet Cong pouring 25 rounds of mortar fire into the town.

A patrol of about 70 South Vietnamese troops pursued the Viet Cong. It ran into an ambush by about a battalion of Red guerrillas and suffered heavy losses.

Rural Areas Lose Control Lower House

AUSTIN (AP) — House redistricting plans reflect the migration to the cities, sacrificing 16 rural and small town members to the booming urban areas.

In a reverse of present rural domination, representatives of the four big population counties will have a third of the House members.

Federal court orders said, in effect, that the days are ended when citizens of Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio had less a say in the House than their country cousins.

The House reapportionment bill passed Friday gives the four big areas 51 representatives, more than a third of the 150-man house.

INCREASED

Dallas County's delegation will increase from 9 to 14, Harris County's from 12 to 19, Bexar County from 7 to 10 and Tarrant from 7 to 8.

Forty-two of the 150 members could face re-election contests with incumbents, including two thrown together apparently to create a new Panhandle district which now has no incumbent living within its boundaries.

Perhaps by accident, few key committee chairmen or members of the House leadership "team" are among those who may face an incumbent.

Rural or small town members left with "safe" districts include Speaker Ben Barnes of DeLeon; Gus Mutscher of Brenham, chairman of the House Redistricting Committee and a candidate perhaps for speaker in 1969; Bill Healy of Paducah, chairman of the Appropriations Committee; Dick Cory of Victoria, State Affairs Committee chairman; John Traeger of Seguin, Municipal and Private Corporations Committee chairman; Gene Hendryx of Alpine, Labor Committee chairman and a close Barnes ally, and Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge, member of a House team that elected Barnes speaker.

NOT INCLUDED

Mutscher's committee made public a list of 40 members who may face incumbents. The list did not include the winner of the June 23 election to fill the seat vacated by the death of Rep. Ed Carpenter of Coahoma.

Big Spring dominates Carpenter's district from a population standpoint, and possibly will be the hometown of Carpenter's successor. The new representative could face Rep. Temple Dickson of Sweetwater for re-election in 1966 because the bill jogs Nolan and Howard counties in one district.

Other counties from Carpenter's district were placed in districts of Hendryx and Randy Pendleton, a second term member from Andrews and a staunch Barnes supporter.

Merger of the Big Spring district permitted the new Panhandle district of Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Carson and Randall counties. Randall County includes part of Amarillo.

Potter County (Amarillo) now has two representatives, plus a "floater" it shares with Carson, Armstrong, and Randall counties. The redistricting bill gives the Potter County part of Amarillo only two House members.

Rep. J. M. Simpson of Amarillo, the "floater" and a member of the subcommittee that drafted the bill, could run in the new district if he moved into Randall County six months before the next election.

POWER PACKED

With the four big cities having 51 members, a coalition of the four, plus eight other primarily urban counties could elect the speaker and control legislation in the House.

This is in marked contrast to the present House structure, in which the four metropolitan counties, with 36 per cent of the state's people, have only 23 per cent of the voting strength in the House.

Hail Damage In City To Involve Many Residences

No one knows how many roofs in Big Spring were damaged by last weekend's hail, but the number is large.

Adjustors sent in here to assess damage from the stones said Saturday that as many claims had been filed with them in the last few days as in the days immediately following the storm.

At the offices of the General Adjustment Bureau located in the old Social Security Building on Runnels, it was estimated the adjustors will be here at least 30 days longer before they complete their work.

Apparently the hardest hit areas in the town are the districts south of 11th Place and east of Gregg, the adjustors said. They are finding more roofs hurt in this district than in any part of town.

No accurate estimate on the total loss the hail imposed has been compiled. The claims run from a few dollars to several hundred dollars. Occasionally, there are roofs "totaled." Many homeowners have roof damage but their insurance policies carry $50 or $100 deductible clauses and the owners are compelled to make their own repairs and pay the bill.

The composition roofs took the worst beating. Shingle roofs did not suffer severely even though there were numerous residences with this type of roof in the apparent path of the heavier hail.

The GAB has nine field men in town. They have been on the go steadily since reaching town and were on the job Saturday.

Residents who have hail damage and are entitled to compensation are urged to contact the office at once.

Roofing contractors were getting a flood of phone calls from residents who are anxious to see their repairs made before another rain or hail moves in.

Music Will Be Free With Choir Boosters' Pizzas

Capt. R. L. Sullivan of Webb Air Force Base, with a couple of other Webb men, will be at Carlos' Restaurant during the Choir Boosters' pizza sale this afternoon from 4 to 8 p.m., with guitars and stringed instruments to provide music.

The Big Spring Choir Boosters will be selling regular pizzas at $1 each, and those with mushrooms or sausage at $1.25, as one of the group's projects to raise money to complete payment on junior high choir robes.

Pizzas will be delivered to homes at no extra charge, if those wishing them will telephone AM 4-9141.

Two Bid For Legislature

Roger Brown Has Law Practice Here

Frank Hardesty A Demo Leader

Roger Brown formally announced his candidacy Saturday for representative of the 78th Texas Legislative District.

"I know you take pride in this part of Texas as I do," he said, "and I would be proud to serve as representative from this district. I will make every effort to see every one personally, but I know I cannot contact all. I do hope you will consider this announcement my personal appeal for your support and assistance in the election June 26."

The 78th District includes Howard, Martin, Glasscock, Sterling, Reagan, Coke and Irion counties.

Brown is a native of Howard County, attended schools at Knott and in Big Spring where he was graduated from high school and played under Carl Coleman on the state finalist football team in 1953. He obtained his bachelor of business degree and his bachelor of law degree from the University of Texas. He was named to the law fraternity there (Delta Theta Phi) and classmates chose him as class president. He also rated as distinguished military student in the ROTC.

In addition to being reared on a Howard County farm, which he still looks after for his brothers and sisters, Brown worked as a roustabout and an oilfield roughneck in Howard, Mitchell and Midland counties while he was in school.

Following his schooling, he served in the United States Army as a second lieutenant and is a first lieutenant in the active reserve.

During the past four and a half years, Brown has been a practicing attorney and presently is a partner in the firm of Brown and Hamby. He is a member of the American Business Club, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and is serving on the industrial and aviation committees of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

"In all modesty, I believe my background and training will help me to serve in this important office," said Brown. "I have always been interested in public affairs since my father served as a county commissioner and county judge. This post, if voters honor me with it, will enable me to continue in the tradition of public service."

Brown is the son of Mrs. Mary E. Brown and the late J. E. (Ed) Brown. He is married to the former Anna Mae Thorp, and they have one son, Dale Kerwin, 4. They live at 112 Lancoln Street.

Frank Hardesty, owner and operator of Hardesty Drug in Big Spring, announced Saturday he was a candidate for representative from the 78th Legislative District of Texas.

A special election has been called for the governor for June 26 to fill the vacancy created by the death of Ed J. Carpenter.

Hardesty has served as Democratic county chairman since 1956 and has been general chairman for Democratic nominees in numerous past campaigns. He has served on state and national Democratic advisory groups and was a delegate to the 1960 national convention.

"I will make the most vigorous campaign possible," he said in his announcement. "I am grateful for the encouragement and help given me and appeal for consideration and support from everyone. I consider myself a moderate in political philosophy and feel that my experience in heading up a party composed of many divergent views — such as farmers, ranchers, laboring men and businessmen — gives me some understanding and experience in representing people."

A kick-off breakfast Saturday at the Wagon Wheel drew a good turnout, and several committees were named.

Hardesty has been in business in Big Spring since his separation from the Armed Forces after World War II. He also is past commander of American Legion Post 355 of Howard County. While attending the University of Texas, he worked part time in the legislature to help work his way through school.

He was elected to two terms on the city commission of Big Spring and served during a period when Webb AFB was reactivated and the Colorado River Municipal Water District was established to furnish water to Big Spring and area.

Senior Sermon Set Today At Stadium

School is already out for several hundred youngsters in this area, and will be out during the week for others, including Big Spring. But school will be starting again in another week for several hundred students who will have a summer in the classroom.

Baccalaureate services for more than 330 Big Spring High School graduates will be held at 8 p.m. today, and commencement exercises are set for 8 p.m. May 27.

Coahoma High School baccalaureate services are also set for 8 p.m. today, with commencement exercises to be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Both will be held in the high school auditorium.

Forsan High School baccalaureate services will be in the auditorium at 8 p.m. today, and the school's commencement services will be at 8 p.m. Friday. The Forsan Junior High eighth grade promotion services will be held at 8 p.m. May 27 in the Elbow gymnasium.

Area schools holding commencement services during the past week were Stanton, Flower Grove, Westbrook and Sands High School at Ackerly.

STADIUM IS SITE

Both Big Spring services will be held at Memorial Stadium if the weather permits, or will be moved to the municipal auditorium if outdoor conditions are unfavorable.

Tonight's service will open with the procession at 8 p.m., with Brenda Reid playing. Peggy Spier will give the invocation and Howard Atchison the Scripture reading. The a cappella choir, directed by Mel Ivey, will sing "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

The Rev. E. A. J. Seddor Jr. will deliver the baccalaureate sermon. Don White will give the benediction and Richard John Ream Jr. will play the recessional.

COMMENCEMENT

The speakers for the commencement exercises will be Kathy Seddon and Pat Hamilton, with other students taking part on the program. Supt. Sam Anderson will preside, high school Principal John F. Smith will certify the graduates; Assistant Principal Harold D. Bentley will introduce graduates, and diplomas will be presented by members of the board of education.

Kerry O'Brien will play the processional, Beverly Womack will give the invocation, and Weldon O. McMeans Jr. will present the class president's address. The a cappella choir will sing "In Peace and Joy I Now Depart."

"Dear Old Big Spring High" will be sung by the Class of 1965. The benediction will be given by John Bennett, and the recessional played by Jean Cox.

Wayne Bonner, high school counselor, will make special awards.

SEATING ARRANGEMENT

If the stadium is used the speaker's stand will be placed on the 50-yard line in front of the west stand. The graduates will be placed on either side of the stand looking diagonally across the field to face both the audience and the speaker.

The amplifier system will be set up and operated by Webb Air Force Base personnel in cooperation with school officials. Lt. Oliver C. Reighn Jr., maintenance officer for the 2050th Communications Squadron, will be in charge, with M. Sgt. George W. Breiner, non-commissioned officer in charge of radio maintenance of the squadron, setting up equipment.

The same system will be used for commencement exercises May 27. If the stadium is used, the valedictorian and salutatorian, and other honor students, will be named shortly before commencement exercises, since some final exams will determine the status of a few candidates.

The last day of classes for pupils in all the schools will be May 26, when they will be dismissed at 2:45 p.m. There will be no classes Thursday, but students will return at 9 a.m. May 28 for report cards. Dr. Lynn Ainsworth, director of educational services said.

"Thursday will be needed by all teachers to complete records and get grades issued," he said. "All students should pay close attention to school announcements about bus times for the closing date May 26 and reports May 28. There will be a difference in the running time for these two days."

HCJC Graduation Set For Tuesday

Forty-seven students will receive associate in art and applied arts degrees from Howard County Junior College at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the college auditorium.

This likely will be a record number, but it is by no means all of the second-year students. Degrees go only to those who satisfy English and government requirements along with regular course study, and many who go on to senior colleges do not apply for the degrees.

Dr. Floyd D. Boze, dean of admissions and registrar at Texas Tech will address the graduates. Dr. Boze began his teaching career in 1933 at Mt. Pleasant and once was a band director. He served as registrar and acting president at Panola Junior College, registrar at San Angelo College before going to Tech in 1958. He holds degrees from East Texas State College and his Ph.D. from the University of Tennessee. During World War II he saw service over most of Europe and the Orient.

Dean Ben F. Johnson will pre-

sent the candidates, and Dr. W. Hunt, president, will award them. Gary L. Ebensberger, music department vocal director, will sing "I'll Walk with God," and the march music will be played by Capt. James T. McDaniel. Faculty members will offer the prayers.

College Grads Finding Jobs Easier, Pay Better

MINNEAPOLIS — A career job with every college diploma? Not quite, but prospects are even brighter this year than last, and last year was a dandy.

So says a preliminary report from the 30th annual survey of college employment, now being made by Northwestern National Life Insurance Company of Minneapolis.

Volume of employment offers is running substantially higher than in 1964, when approximately four out of every five job-seeking graduates were hired by the time they received their sheepskins in June, and nearly all those remaining available were placed by fall, says the report.

The surging demand for this year's graduates rides on a sustained tide of employer optimism as to the continuance of prosperity after four boom years. Prevailing business feeling seems to be that only massive labor troubles or a major war threat could upset the high-piled 1965 applicart.

Demand for Negro graduates is so much in excess of supply that some college placement departments, the survey finds, are now actively counselling high schools to impress on Negro pupils the extent of the opportunities becoming available.

Starting salaries are up again, by an average of two to five per cent.

Yet today's college graduate is becoming career-minded rather than money-minded. College placement officials comment repeatedly on students' growing desire to choose a job that offers opportunity for service and personal development, while placing immediate financial returns secondary.

The fastest burgeoning market for this year's graduates is in education, except in social sciences, where there are some areas of over-supply.

The summer vacation job situation, the survey finds, is the one gloomy spot in the college employment picture.

But meanwhile, as scholarships and student loans multiply, more placement departments are developing a promising three-part "package plan" in which scholarship and loan are combined with a year-round part-time job, leading logically into a full-time career position with the employing firm upon graduation.

Starting salary reports in the survey show engineering majors at the top, as usual. The average for the 1965 class will probably run close to $635 a month, with an individual range all the way from $550 to around $700. The physical sciences — math, chemistry and physics — will be only $20 to $30 below engineering levels. Business majors' salaries cover a very broad spectrum, ranging all the way from $400 to around $600, averaging $325. Liberal arts salaries cover a similar broad range, and should average out almost as well.

Masters' degrees command a premium of generally $125 to $150 a month above bachelor degrees. Ph.D.s in engineering and the physical sciences will be starting at exotic levels averaging $12,000 to $14,000 a year, in 1965.

City Police Pin-Pointing Areas Where Accidents Most Common

Big Spring drivers who ignore speed limits, change traffic lanes at will or fail to stop for red lights may find traffic officers more near at hand in coming weeks.

A new police patrol system aimed at more concentrated traffic enforcement was installed by the Big Spring Police Department this week.

If the plan works out, officers hope it will cut the city's accident rate.

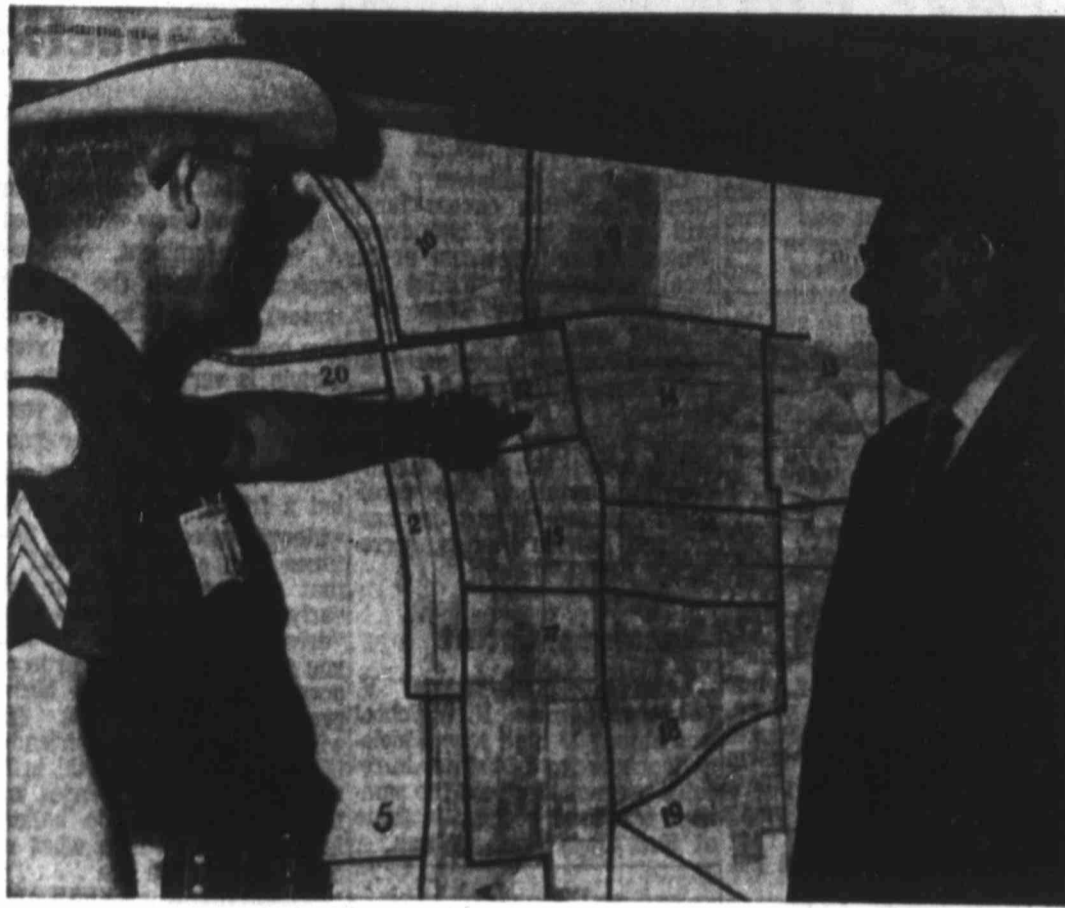

For the past five weeks two officers have been engaged in charting the times, places and causes of all accidents during the past year. Their efforts resulted in development of the new system, similar to others being installed by some of the nation's larger police departments.

"I wasn't sure Big Spring was large enough for this type of system," said Assistant Police Chief Leo Hull. But he added that the first week's operation had largely erased his doubts.

CITY SECTORS

Hull and Sgt. Sherrill Farmer reviewed all accident records from April 1, 1964, through April of this year. A map of the city was cut into 20 sectors, chosen arbitrarily on a basis of their analysis of accidents and with high accident-frequency areas in mind. Charts were drawn, for each day of the week and by months, categorizing all accidents by the time of day and the sectors in which they occurred.

The sectors vary considerably in size and even in shape on the map. For example, the downtown area of four blocks comprises Sector No. 1, but some outlying sectors involve a large portion of suburban area, where the number of accidents

Mapping City's Traffic Enforcement

Sgt. Sherrill Farmer points to the map outlining the police department's new system of more concentrated traffic enforcement. Sgt. Farmer and Assistant Police Chief Leo Hull developed the program.

is comparatively small. The city's accidents have been found to follow distinct patterns, both as to days of the week and hours of the day when frequencies are high or low. Peak periods and areas have been charted both for accidents and accidents involving injuries.

"There was only one month last year when accidents did not follow a pattern," Sgt. Farmer said. Some areas have been found to contain a high accident rate, but a comparatively low injury rate. On the other hand, an area with a comparatively low accident rate may produce a high injury frequency.

BEWARE OF GREGG

One of the city's major accident areas is Gregg Street. Last year 146 accidents, of the year's total of 905, occurred between Fourth Street and FM 700 on Gregg.

Due to the high frequency Hull and Sgt. Farmer divided the street at a half-way point into north and south sectors. In their charts, they found the yearly average showed a high accident frequency in the north half on Mondays, while the high rate for the south half occurred on Wednesdays.

"In some areas, the accident rate may go up considerably on double stamp days," Sgt. Farmer said. In one area, the rate jumped considerably on Thursdays, yet thus far no explanation has been found for the change.

In the four-block downtown area 117 accidents occurred last year. Thus Gregg Street and the downtown accounted for more than 30 per cent of all accidents.

TIME PATTERN

Surprisingly, the time element follows a distinct pattern. On a yearly average, the highest accident rate for the city was between 4 and 5 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. Another peak time came at noon each day. Only one accident occurred during the year at 5 a.m. and only three each at 3 and 4 a.m.

A high injury rate was found in the Goliad School area. Of 67 accidents last year, 14 involved injuries. However, in the downtown area only 17 of the 117 accidents involved injuries.

A sector on US 80 west produced a low accident rate, 45 for the year, but 17 of these involved injuries.

DWI BOULEVARD

The West Third and Fourth Street areas produced a high rate of accidents involving charges of driving while intoxicated. Yet in five sectors of the city, no accidents during the year involved drunk drivers. In one area, only one accident was attributable to speed. In another, five involved speed alone.

With the new system, officers will not neglect areas of the city, but will give increased emphasis for certain periods of time on certain days to areas where accident frequencies reach peaks. The system does not change the standard five districts into which the city is divided for police patrols, but rather supplements those districts.

One major result will be increased use of radar in high speed areas, at times of high accident-frequency rates.

At the beginning of each month, Hull and Sgt. Farmer will prepare an "enforcement bulletin," one for each seven days of the week. The bulletins will be based on their analysis of the charted information for that month the previous year, plus the yearly averages. In addition, they examine the data for new trends.

The "enforcement bulletin" lists the sectors to receive special attention on each Monday, Tuesday, etc., for that month. For example, the bulletin for Mondays during a month might point out peak hours as between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. or between 7 and 8 a.m., with special emphasis between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m. It might call for special attention to violations of red lights and illegal turns on one street and violations of stop signs and turns on another.

"This system will allow us to better plan the assignment of men and equipment to best cover the city, with the idea of accident prevention," Sgt. Farmer pointed out. Hull discussed the system while at a recent administrative school for police chiefs and assistant chiefs, conducted at the Department of Public Safety in Austin. Amarillo recently adopted a similar system.

Larger police departments are creating planning, inspection and research bureaus" to develop such programs, Hull said. Police and traffic experts recommend that they be used only in cities large enough to provide an accident-rate pattern over a one-year period. The preparation of the charts during the past five weeks showed that Big Spring's accidents could be patterned on a one-year basis. While the system's full implementation will take time, with many questions yet to be answered, initial indications have been that it will provide a means to step up the city's accident prevention and enforcement efforts, Hull said.

ON BOND ISSUE

Coahoma School Parley Monday

Patrons of the Coahoma Independent School District are being invited to a system-wide meeting Monday evening to discuss the June 5 bond issue.

Members of the board and the administration will be on hand for the 7:45 o'clock session in the high school to explain all details of the $395,000 proposal. Questions will be welcomed.

The district's fiscal agent has computed that a tax rate increase of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation will be required to finance the bonds over a 22-year period of retirement.

On a house actually valued at $10,000, the present tax of $72 a year would be increased by

$4 on a house with actual value of $15,000, the present tax of $108 would have $6 added to it; on a house with actual value of $20,000, the present taxes would be $8 a year more. (The district assesses on 40 per cent of actual value.)

The bond proposal is to finance the immediate remodeling of the old auditorium into five elementary classrooms, the addition of 12 classrooms as needed, a junior high - elementary gymnasium, stadium and track improvements, kitchen equipment, land purchase, furniture, fees and other items.

Mobile Unit Bids Opened

Bids for six new police cars and a track-type tractor-loader unit for the City of Big Spring received Thursday, are expected to be considered Tuesday by the city commission.

Two bids were received on the six cars, from Jones Motor Co., with a total net price of $9,918.34, and from Shasta Ford Sales, with a total net price of $9,262.18. The bid from Jones Motor Co. includes a $405 discount for the sale of six units. The tractor-loader bids included a total net price of $33,550, from Plains Machinery Co., and a total net of $34,265, from Treanor Equipment Co. Each bid included the net cost and two optional arrangements, an enclosed cab and a multi-purpose bucket.

Knott 8th Grade Tours Mountains

KNOTT (SC) — The eighth grade class of Sands School took an end-of-school trip last week.

The group swam at Balmorhea State Park then had a picnic lunch at the pool pavilion.

The next stop was at Old Fort Davis, a national historic site where they learned how the fort was being used to protect pioneers on their wagon train or stage coach journey to the West.

In mid-afternoon the group arrived at Prude Dude Ranch and were assigned bunks in the bunk houses and horseback riding, swimming, volleyball, tennis, skating, table tennis, basketball, and mountain climbing were enjoyed.

The group left the ranch and toured the McDonald Observatory. The return trip was via a scenic loop through the Davis Mountains. An exhausted but happy and exhilarated group returned home Saturday night.

Go Ahead... Go Cadillac!

Before you buy any car at any price, consider a Cadillac first of all. New or previously owned, a Cadillac is the one way to be sure your investment will buy the most and last the longest.

Whatever you have budgeted for your next car, your Cadillac dealer has a Cadillac to fit your plans. Naturally, if your choice were unrestricted, you would prefer a new 1965 Cadillac like the Sedan de Ville in front. Next best would be a late-model, previously-owned Cadillac such as the black 1963 Sedan de Ville, above. A well-maintained, one-owner used Cadillac is actually the only real rival of a new Cadillac. Because of the popularity of the 1965 model, your authorized dealer is the one logical place to go for the best selection of fine used Cadillacs.

Fifteen Felony Cases On Docket For May 31

Fifteen felony cases are docketed for disposition in 118th District Court the week of May 31, District Judge Ralph Caton has announced.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, said that he hopes to try several of the complaints during the week. Some of the defendants may enter pleas, he added.

A number of the cases are matters which have been pending for a long time.

Included is the case against Higinio Soto, accused of robbery by assault. Higinio held up Mrs. Ray Dabney, a teller at the Security State Bank last October. He was arrested within minutes after the holdup and has been held in the county jail since. He was indicted once and Benjamin DeLeon, burglary; Antonio Bustamente, burglary; Frank Dutchover, burglary; Robert Loren Baker, burglary; Elmo Henry, assault with intent to murder; Billy Dee Clark, DWI, second; T. V. Thompson, theft by bailee.

Another case, one charging burglary against Norman Doyle McRae, was on the docket originally, but the defendant is now serving a five-year term in the Oklahoma State Penitentiary for a conviction in Stephens County in that state.

Legislative Deadline Is Thursday

Deadline for candidates to file for the vacancy in the legislature left by the death of Ed J. Carpenter, representative from the 78th Legislative district, is May 27.

To date only two candidates have filed for the post. They are Roger D. Brown, attorney and Frank Hardesty, Democratic political leader. Both are from Big Spring.

They are running for the remainder of Rep. Carpenter's second term in the legislature. The special election is June 26.

Absentee voting in the legislative race will open on June 3, according to County Judge Lee Porter. The election has been set for June 26 by Gov. Connally.

Absentee voting will close three days prior to the date of the election.

The election will be carried out in all voting boxes in the seven counties comprising the 78th Legislative district. These counties are Howard, Martin, Coke, Glasscock, Irion, Reagan and Sterling.

Porter said that ballots for the election will be ordered with other election supplies as soon as the lists of candidates have closed.

Dick Bortner Gets FAA's 2-Year Pin

By M. A. WEBB

Richard G. Bortner, Federal Aviation Agency air training representative at Webb Air Force Base, received his 20-year service pin Thursday. The award came from the regional office of the Chief Air Training Division, Southwest Region director in Fort Worth.

Bortner said he started with the old CAA (now FAA) in 1951 at Memphis, Tenn., and was employed there for six years. He then went to San Antonio for two years, and came to Webb in 1959.

The Bortners live at 2701 Larry and have two children, a son 15 years old, and a daughter, 13.

Two student pilots at Howard County Airport, both members of the Howard County Flying Club, made their first solo flights during the week. Sgt. Frank Steffen, and Mike Moore got their airplanes in the air without help and set them down again. They will be doing a lot of flying alone for a time now.

Incidentally, Sgt. Steffen, accompanied by his instructor, R. E. McClure, left Thursday on a cross country flight to his home town in Eastern Nebraska. This added a few hours to his flying time. The two returned Sunday in the club's Cherokee 180.

Flying, outside club activities, has been light at the airport during the week. There was little transient flying, but club fly-

DEAR ABBY

There's No Connection

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, age 49, but I am far from "old," if you know what I mean. A very prominent, well-to-do professional man (he is a widower) has asked for my hand. I've been a widow for six years. Melvin is very affectionate and full of fun, and he seems young at heart, but you never know. Please don't think I am silly, but a friend of mine, who was widowed twice and stung three times with older men, told me that men who lose their hair early in life do not have much "drive" romantically. (I hope you get what I am trying to put across.) I've known Melvin practically all my life. (His wife and I were good friends.) Melvin started to go bald in his late 20's and this worries me. I don't know what to believe. Is there any truth in what my friend says? Sign me YPSILANTI.

DEAR YPSI: Absolutely not! Just because there's chrome on the dome doesn't mean there's no power under the hood. Tell your widow friend to get her ears out of your water.

DEAR ABBY: It is always nice to be remembered with a gift on Mother's Day—even an inexpensive one, because it's the thought behind it that counts. When a gift is bought in the line of duty, it is meaningless. My sons married and live a short distance from me. I have never been a butting-in mother-in-law, but my sons' wives never cared much for me. I've never gone to their homes without an invitation, and those invitations were very rare. But the wives' families were always in and out. I wasn't missed. My sons slowly turned away from me. On Mother's Day I always get expensive gifts with beautiful cards with verses saying what a wonderful mother I am and how much they love me! It is like rubbing salt in the wound. One son hasn't been in my home for three years, but every Mother's Day he sends an extravagant gift. I hope you'll find space in your column to let young daughters-in-law know that all their husbands' mothers want from them is to love their sons and to take good care of their families. And if they showed a little respect for an aging mother-in-law who might not be around too many more years, they wouldn't regret it. Thank you. A HURT MOTHER

LBJ Launches Teenage Job Finding Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson launched Saturday night a job-hunting campaign for some two million American youngsters who will be looking for work when school's out in June.

He directed the federal government to aid the campaign by seeking "meaningful work" for some 25,000 trainees this summer. And he appealed to governors, mayors, private employers, labor unions, trade associations, churches and colleges for cooperation.

Johnson directed government departments and agencies to try to find work opportunities this summer for one extra trainee for every 100 employees on their present payrolls.

"Some of these two million will be looking only for temporary summer jobs," Johnson said in a statement. "But getting those jobs may be the difference between being able to go back to school or not going back."

"I think it is good for America to put boys and girls to work in the summer when they really want to work—and bad for them when they are denied the chance."

Freed On Bail In Forgery Count

Anita Jackson has been released on $1,500 bond after a charge of forgery has been filed against her in district court. The woman is alleged to have written 13 forged checks and one forged money order. Total money involved is $285. Sheriff A. N. Standard said the woman has made a statement relative to her activities. The sheriff said that her arrest was due to the alertness of a Big Spring merchant. He saw the woman become suspicious and her arrest followed.

Three Outstanding Young Men

Jaycee awards went to Jack Dumphy, left, for Outstanding Jaycee; Donald Pat Lawrence, Outstanding Teacher, and Patrolman J. D. Campbell, Outstanding Police Patrolman, at Friday night's awards dinner.

Jaycees Pick City's Trio Of Outstanding Young Men

Donald Pat Lawrence, Jack Dumphy, and J. D. Campbell were named as the outstanding teacher of the year, outstanding Jaycee of the year, and outstanding police patrolman of the year at the annual awards dinner Friday night. Arnold Marshall, city commissioner, was master of ceremonies, and Louis McKnight, first vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, made the awards at the Big Spring Country Club meeting.

The award winners are selected each year by administrative staffs of the Jaycees, Big Spring Schools, and the police department.

Cullen Aiken of Odessa was the speaker for the dinner-meeting, and the more than 90 present heard him pose the question of which phase of the seven cycles, covering around 200 years, the United States is in today.

"The average age of the world's great civilizations has been 200 years. These nations progressed through the following sequence. You figure which sequence we are in: Bondage to spiritual faith, from spiritual faith to great courage, from courage to liberty, from liberty to abundance, from abundance to selfishness, from selfishness to complacency, from complacency to apathy, from apathy to dependency, from dependency back again to bondage. In 12 years the United States will be 200 years old."

PEPPY GROUP

In speaking of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Aiken said: "Jaycees show more drive and enthusiasm than any organization in the country today. This group of young men is not afraid to stand up and be counted in the name of Freedom."

Jack Dumphy, 34, is loan officer at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association. He is also 2nd vice president of the Jaycees. He has lived in Big Spring for about five years, and has been a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for three years. He is also a member of the ABClub, Optimist, and on the YMCA board. He and Mrs. Dumphy (Betty), have a daughter, Betty.

Donald Pat Lawrence, chemistry teacher in Big Spring High School, has made himself available to students in off hours and for extra-curricular activities. He coached the science group, and a group in slide rule, for interscholastic league competition this year.

"Pat has shown that he is dedicated to his profession," Principal John Smith said. "He has been cooperative and willing to accept late assignments, has been able to point out areas where extra help is needed, and makes himself available to students needing help. The young man is not married."

J. D. Campbell, employed by the Big Spring police department since March of 1953, was named outstanding patrolman of the year. He is a native of Lone Oak, is a World War II veteran, 1942-45, and is married.

CHIEF'S COMMENT

Police Chief Jay Banks, in a memorandum to Campbell, said: "In recognition of your being 'Old Faithful' personified, your outstanding work in the traffic safety field, your efforts in organizing and training the School Safety Patrols; and your conscientious performance with little supervision required, you are being recognized as this year's recipient of the Outstanding Patrolman's Award."

The first year awards on SPOKE (service, participation, orientation, knowledge, enthusiasm), for first year Jaycee members only, went to Henry Hill, John Anderson, and Joe Crump.

The Spark Plug awards, for members with more than a year's service, went to Charles Bell, Charles Butts, Walter Wheat, Jack Dumphy, Winston Wrinkle, and Jack Orr.

Melvin Fryar, Charles Butts, and Charles Biel, won the Road Runner awards, for attending conventions away from home including mileage traveled.

Ministers Urged To Note Memorial Day

Since Memorial Day will fall on next Sunday, Veterans Administration and other officials are urging all ministers of the city and area to consider making note of the day.

This may be as music, announcements or even sermons, they suggested.

The formal ceremonies will be here the following day, May 31, when Brig. Gen. E. C. Dunn of the 3rd Army Corps at Fort Hood will be the speaker.

Coahoma Burglary

Sheriff's officers are investigating the burglary sometime Thursday night of the residence of Jack Graham in Coahoma. Graham reported that a back door to his house was forced open. The thief took Graham's bill fold which contained approximately $70 in cash. No arrests have been made.

High Waters Along Brazos

HOUSTON (AP) — Families prepared to leave their homes Saturday along the flood in lower Brazos River.

Water rose at most points.

Mrs. C. R. Dodson reported from Lake Alaska that Oyster Creek had receded from its Friday high. She said 12 families who live permanently in the Brazoria County fishing and camping resort plan to leave before Monday morning.

She said there was no flooding at Lake Alaska Saturday.

In the Simonton area, Fort Bend County sheriff's units reported "conditions a bout the same with the water rising slowly."

Valley Lodge, five miles from Simonton, was virtually abandoned and sheriff's officers set up a patrol to prevent looting of homes.

Brazoria County officers prepared to take out families. The National Guard unit at Angleton was placed on a standby alert. The Brazoria County fair grounds were placed at the disposal of the Red Cross as a shelter for refugees.

At Freeport, a Dow Chemical Co. spokesman said the river was one foot below flood stage. He said certain operations involving disposal of waste water may have to be curtailed. Much debris also has collected at the Brazos floodgates at the Intracoastal Canal, making it difficult for canal traffic to cross the river.

Car Show Has Better Luck Second Time

Little Donna Cubranich and her father, Airman Gerald Cubranich, 322-B Langley, were among the hundreds of Big Springers looking at the array of new automobiles on display Saturday. The show, postponed from last Saturday, was held on the First National Bank Parking Lot. Donna and many others found much to delight them in the luxurious models on hand. Most of the dealers in the city had models of their current year cars on hand.

Thief Gets $111 While Family Sleeps Quietly

Big Spring police were called early Saturday morning to investigate a break-in at the Davis Cafe, 309 N. Gregg, and entry to the T. W. Campbell home at 4099 Dixon.

Wilburn Davis, who was called to the cafe after police found a back window broken in at 4:29 a.m., said a check showed two cases of beer and a rack, containing about 40 bags of assorted chips, missing. Patrolmen said the window was intact when they checked at 3:30 a.m.

Some one reportedly entered the Campbell home during the night, while the family was asleep, took $92 from Mrs. Campbell's purse which was on the dining room floor, went into and across their bedroom and took a wallet from Campbell's pants pocket, extracted $19, placed the wallet back in his pocket, and dropped the pants on the floor by the bedroom door.

The big parade which kicked off the rodeo last Wednesday afternoon was hailed as one of the biggest in several years. The rodeo, as would be expected, is a nonprofit enterprise. Old timers recall when it was difficult to make expenses and income match. This year, with the excellent attendance, the officials should have little trouble in this field.

ning out of one of them Saturday, a week after heavy rains. The volume of water these dams trapped would have been disastrous on top of water that already produced flooding.

A great honor was paid to Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, and thus to the community, when he was chosen moderator-elect of the Texas Synod. Thus he will become head of Texas Presbyterians during 1966, the year when he will have completed 20 years here as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Two changes are being made by other veteran pastors. Dr. Jack Power, Trinity Baptist, is going into evangelistic work at Fort Worth. Dr. H. Clyde Smith, First Methodist, will leave the active pastorate.

Webb Employee Dies Saturday

Eleno Mora Barrera, 47, Big Spring resident since 1928, died about 6:20 p.m. Saturday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Services are pending with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Mr. Barrera was born Aug. 18, 1917, in Alpine. He came to Big Spring from Colorado City. A civil service employe for the past 16 years, Mr. Barrera was the water foreman at Webb Air Force Base. He was a member of the St. Thomas Catholic Church.

Insurance agents were being flooded with claims for damage, and the total will run into several score thousands of dollars. In some areas, roofs were badly damaged and so were automobiles. A sizable number of special adjusters rushed here to help clear out the claims. Flooding with claims was not all agents got. At least two—Tate, Bristow and Parks as well as Stripling-Mancill — got flooded with water.

While most teachers with short seniority were rather bitter about getting $100 instead of $405 per annum increase, most adopted a wait-and-see attitude toward the state teacher pay bill which was passed last week. Beginning teachers will get $100 more, and those with 12 years experience will get $630 more per year. Beginning teachers with a master's degree will get $171 more per year and $1,089 more for 12 years service. HCJC faculty members will get $900 more across the board, thanks to $84,000 per year in state support of the college.

Another church plant will be started today. Trinity Lutheran members and friends will have their formal groundbreaking ceremonies at 10:30 a.m. on the four-acre site at Virginia and FM 700. The first unit will cost about $45,000, but the master plan will involve about $300,000 over the years.

This means there will be two elections in one week, for just before this announcement came, Howard County Commissioners Court set June 22 as the date for a vote on $600,000 for FM 700 roadway purchases. Coahoma school district will vote June 3 on $395,000 for school improvements.

Gen. John Connally set June 26 as the date for the special election to fill the legislative vacancy created by the death of Rep. Ed Carpenter. Two candidates, Frank Hardesty, druggist, and Roger Brown, attorney, have filed. Several others have given consideration, among them R. A. Foster, Coahoma, and Charles (Lefty) Morris, mid-law student at the university.

Although it's taking some doings for drivers to get accustomed to it, they will find that the new traffic light at Goliad and FM 700 will make that intersection safer and much more convenient. The light went up last week, and after a few days of flicker warnings, the rotating system started.

Jaycees had their Bosses Banquet on Friday and revealed Jack Dumphy as the Jaycee of the Year. Other honorees were Don Lawrence, Teacher-of-the-Year, and J. D. Campbell, Patrolman of the Year.

Back from Washington where he delivered a petition to the White House protesting changes in the skip row planting pattern which would penalize this area up to 30 per cent of its yield, Carleton Chapman is encouraged. The previously announced delay in hearings on this, he felt, had been a device for riding out a period of stormy criticism. However, after the contacts by him and several others, he felt hopeful the skip row pattern would not be changed.

Bill Long says he is having a book published in September under the title of "Life Before Forty" or "Dallas to Nogales as a Peace Officer."

Career In The Classroom, But Heart's In The Arena

For most girls, studying to be a teacher at a major college is enough to occupy one's time. And when the girl is a senior and slated to get her degree this year, it may be assumed there is a lot of studying and the like to be done.

Maybe — but Wanda Boatler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. (Slick) Boatler, Silver Heels addition, gets in a few extra activities as well.

Like winning the title of All-Round Cowgirl at Texas Tech National Intercollegiate Rodeo a few days ago. Like winning the barrel race in that rodeo and taking second place in the goat tying competition. Her victories and the award of All-

Round Cowgirl won her a trophy saddle.

Wanda, now 22, was always a participant in this county when the Junior Rodeos were held, and it is natural she would go right ahead with her rodeo career along with her work as an

With only two more college rodeos left this season, Tech's girl rodeo team will participate in the National Finals of the Intercollegiate Rodeo at Laramie, Wyo., July 6-10, 1965. Wanda will be on hand.

To stay in practice, Wanda entered the barrel race event at the Sul Ross College Intercollegiate in Alpine last week. She won first place. The education major at Tech. Not content with competing in the National Goat Tying, she serves as Southwestern Goat Tying director and is a valuable member of the Texas Tech Rodeo team. The team now holds No. 1 spot in the Southwestern Region.

Wanda rates second in the region in goat-tying and third in barrel racing.

Stanton Youngsters See Local Places

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Alton Ledbetter and Mrs. Phillip White and 43 first-grade students made a tour here Tuesday.

At the library, Mrs. Ralph Caffey, explained to the children how they might check out library books to read at home. A summer session of book reading which the children would get credit for at the next school term was explained.

Phillip White at the White Motor Co. explained jacks and machinery used at the shop. At the Martin County courthouse, Sheriff Dan Saunders took them through the jail section, and the group visited in the courtroom. In the Dr. Pepper Bottling Co. plant, children saw how the bottles were washed, filled, capped and placed in cartons. They were served drinks.

The Rev. Ramon Navarro, who has pastored the North Side Methodist Church here for the past four years, has been appointed to Socorro, N.M.

The announcement came with the close of the 36th annual session of the Rio Grande Conference — the Spanish-speaking work of the Methodist Church in Texas and New Mexico — at Albuquerque, N.M. on Thursday.

Bishop Paul E. Martin, Houston, presided over the four-day conference and announced two new district superintendents—The Rev. Josue Gonzales, Corpus Christi, for the Northern District with headquarters in San Antonio; and the Rev. Alfred T. Groat, Mission, for the Southern District with headquarters in McAllen. The Central District, which includes Big Spring and is headquartered in Lubbock, was enlarged to include Dallas and Fort Worth.

New appointments in this district include Fidel Alcalá, Lamesa; Antonio Montes to Lamesa-Brownfield; Jose Salas Jr., Abilene; Rosalio Chavez, Brady; Vicente Moreno, Snyder. Those remaining at the same posts are Daniel Arguilo, Amarillo; Estaban Lara, Colorado City; Juan Salinas, Lubbock; Eubaldo Ponce, Midland; Jose Y. Soltero, Odessa; and Silvestre Gallardo, San Angelo.

The Rev. Navarro came here from Alamo, and before that he was at El Paso. He and Mrs. Navarro have three daughters, Eunice, Dorcas and Lois. Rev. Navarro has been active in Boy Scout work.

Mrs. Oakes Chosen For Geography Unit

AUSTIN — Thirty-five elementary school teachers of grades four through six have been chosen to enroll in a University of Texas summer institute in geography June 7-July 16.

The participants were chosen from more than 300 applicants. The institute will provide an intensive study of geography for intermediate grade teachers who have little or no academic background in the subject.

The institute is to be supported by funds administered by the U. S. Office of Education under the National Defense Education Act.

The program will include 20 hours per week of lectures and discussions, laboratories in physical geography and map interpretation, a seminar on the teaching of geography and field trips. Teachers will be expected to devote an additional 20 hours per week to assigned study, library work and other projects. Six semester hours of graduate credit may be earned.

Each teacher will receive a $75 per week stipend, plus additional allowances for dependents. Mrs. Gerald Oakes, Coahoma, is among the teachers.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Says Those Who Benefit From Unions Must Help

To the Editor:

I have noticed that some of our citizens have written letters to the Herald concerning the right-to-work law. Some of them seem to know little of what a labor union or a right-to-work law really are, or means to us as a working people and a nation.

Right here in our city, our leading contractors of various crafts, leading industries such as oil producers and manufacturers, bus lines, airlines and railroads will all tell you they are operated with union labor.

Why? Because both management and labor are benefitted by such operation. A labor union is nothing but a group of workers of a certain trade or craft who have gone together and selected a leader or manager or whatever he might be called. Sometimes the group is small; sometimes has many thousands.

The company management and the manager of the union meet to work out a contract for the men, including terms of length of time, wage rates, vacations, etc. Business management meets with only one or a few men. In this manner it is much better to work out an agreement than it would be to deal with several hundred or maybe more individuals.

Any active organization has to have funds to operate, whether a church, lodge, club, or labor group. To pay salaries of its management, bookkeepers, etc., the union assesses members each month a certain amount, usually called dues, and which are voted upon by the union members. This means only that the member will pay his fair share of expenses of operation, in obtaining better wages and working conditions.

As it is today, we have some freeloaders who are not willing to pay their part, but they are under while the legislature is in session."

In the meantime, the district has not been idle. For one thing, it has bolstered its legal staff in anticipation of pressing for action on the permit to impound 403,000 acre-feet of water on the Colorado River available to communities in a 11-county area.

Engineering has been proceeding, too, and laboratory tests on the proposed spillway have been scheduled. Data from a similar test have been analyzed and is going into CRMWD planning.

"We have the system in good shape for this summer," said the manager, "and have cleared the decks for action the minute the permit is granted. We're ready—we're anxious to get started."

Lake Application Alive, Says Ivie

O. H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, is optimistic that the Texas Water Commission will rule within about a month on the district's application for a lake near Robert Lee.

"Because it's been over five months since hearings were concluded on the amended application," said Ivie, "some have asked if the project is dormant." "Far from it. The need is just as great—even greater now—than when the hearings were held, and we haven't lessened our efforts one bit."

"The Texas Water Commission has had its hands full since January studying all the host of water bills tossed into the legislative hopper. The district appreciates the tremendous load that the commission has been

Liston Is Favorite In Bout With Clay

LEWISTON, Maine (AP)—The onship he lost Feb. 25, 1964, a seating capacity of one million. Cassius Clay - Sonny Liston when he quit in his corner, claiming a damaged left shoulder. One hernia operation and several legal squabbles later, Clay finally will give Liston the promised return bout. The 15-round match is expected to gross a total of $5 million, largely from closed circuit television to 256 theaters and arenas with people said, "We'll hold it on a barge if necessary."

Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc., is promoting the match with the cooperation of Sam Michael, the local boxing man.

LONG IDLE

Clay, who prefers to be called by his Black Muslim name—Muhammad Ali—hasn't fought since the controversial title bout at Miami Beach. Neither has Liston.

The quaint antics in that first bout left a bad taste in the mouth of the sporting public. Clay didn't want to continue after the fourth round because he claimed he couldn't see Liston, then a 7-1 favorite, finally quit on his stool when the bell rang for the seventh and went to the hospital for treatment to his damaged left shoulder.

Fight time is 9:30 p.m. (CST) with a non-voting referee from out-of-state and three judges officiating. The three judges will use the 10-point must system in which the winner of a round gets 10 points and the loser nine or less.

It will be Maine's first heavyweight title bout and the first championship match in the state since Henry Armstrong defended his welter title against Paul Junior on June 21, 1940.

No One Is Neutral About Astrodome

HOUSTON (AP)—They painted the glass roof to keep out the sunlight. But Houston's gaudy new indoor play yard still is not everybody's perfect pleasure dome.

One player with a visiting National League baseball team has said for publication that he believes the air currents in the $31-million Astrodome are controlled, for the benefit of the Astros.

One pitcher has complained that the pitching mound is not. There have been comments about the doctored infield. Several observers have criticized the cheerleading scoreboard.

And it even rained in the weatherproof stadium the other night.

But, of course, a great many have praised the enclosed arena as the greatest thing to hit baseball since Bo Belinsky.

Speaking of Belinsky, that billiard academy habitue could shoot a game of pool on the level pitching mound, according to Pittsburgh's Bob Veale.

"Veale is a nice pitcher," counters Manager Lum Harris of the Astros. "I wish we had him. If we did, I'd tailor the mound to suit him. But since we don't, I'll tailor it to suit MY pitchers."

Tailoring a baseball field to suit the home team goes back a long way, probably even to Abner Doubleday's time. The Los Angeles Dodgers, for instance, are fast. Ergo: The basepaths at Dodger Stadium are like dragstrips.

So, for a recent series here with the Dodgers, observers say the basepaths looked like a newly plowed corn field. Also, ground balls traveled through the infield grass with all the velocity of an inchworm.

The Astrodome's first hitch developed at the start of the season: Fielders had trouble seeing balls hit into the air because of the sun's glare through the translucent roof.

The panes were painted, solving that problem, but creating a minor one at the same time. Apparently the painters loosened some of the plastic panes.

Baseball under glass has caught on.

and the other night during a rainstorm some of the downpour got in.

FRICK SAYS NO

Ed Kranepool, first baseman for the New York Mets, voiced the charge that the air-conditioning currents in the Astrodome were manipulated to help the home boys. Commissioner Ford Frick sent an expert from Chicago to investigate, and—surprise—Frick's man said there was nothing to it.

The electronic cheerleading has been the target of the most raps. It's loud, flashy and biased.

"Bush," says pitcher Don Drysdale of the Dodgers.

"Bush," says Joe Brown, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"Bush," says—wonder of wonders—Astro pitcher Jim Owens.

And one New York writer says the effect of the animated scoreboard has in arousing the crowd in turn affects the objectivity of the umpires. "Home-ism," the writer calls it.

But thundering scoreboard, leaky windows, pitcher's mound and all, the Astrodome has been boosted by many—visitors as well as hometowners—and labeled a pacesetter.

By TOMMY HART

They spun the wheel of the football roulette in Memorial Stadium before 1,500 fans here Friday night and it came up Black.

In the intra-squad game ending spring workouts at the local high school, the Blacks used muscle determination and know-how to elbow aside the Golds, 22-6.

As expected, the Golds had the edge in the air but the Blacks dominated play on the ground and threw up a defense tough as leather spaghetti to win going away.

One of the big surprises of the imbroglio was the crafty quarterbacking of little Gregg Pate of the Blacks, who worked the quick pitch almost to perfection against the Golds, bruised into the line himself when the occasion demanded and otherwise called a cool, heady game.

He had plenty of help. Bobby Griffin gave the Golds a bad time 19 times he got the ball. He emerged as the game's leading ball carrier. No one on the field looked better or more ambitious than Gary Earhart, whose quickness kept the Golds confused. Rey Navarette and Sammy Mims also got in some vital licks, on occasions.

LOTS OF HELP

Wesley Ballou, Eddie Crittenden, Ronnie Caldwell, Wayne Nail, Ronnie Dale Smith, Ben Montanez, Ruben Ballalba and Robert Jackson were others who did a lot toward shaping the final outcome.

The Golds were not without their war lords. The passing combination of Van Tom Whatley and Terry Fields continued to keep the Black defense squirming like a canister of worms. Bobby Baker ran well and Joe Jaure played a tremendous game on defense from sideline to sideline. Had it not been for Jaure, who time and again came up from his safety spot to jettison the Black ball carrier the score would probably have been more one-sided.

Wayne Kennedy, Berry King, Kirby Horton, David Holmes, Freddie Stiehl, Yogi Anderson, Harrell Newton and James Carver gave more than they took for the Golds.

A first quarter field goal by Ronnie Dale Smith, connected from 25 yards away, gave the Blacks a 3-0 lead at half time.

The Golds rarely had the ball in Round One and had to fight like all get-out to repel an enemy touchdown drive just before the period ended, blunting a Black march that had moved 53 yards down to the Gold one.

In the second round, Griffin gathered in a punt off the toe of Whatley and roared 57 yards before being thrown out of bounds on the Golds' one only to have the play nullified by off-setting penalties.

Smith tried field goals on two successive plays late in the round but missed.

GETS FIRST ONE

Griffin accepted a pitch from Pate from four yards out with 4:06 left in the third and went in for the first touchdown of the game. That particular drive went 82 yards in ten plays. Smith booted the PAT to make it 10-0.

The Blacks scored again with 8:14 to go in the fourth and Griffin again did the honors from seven yards removed at the end of a 67-yard drive. Earhart and Pate were a lot of help on the surge down field. The boot for Pate was off center. That made it 16-0.

The Golds finally got on the scoreboard when Fields made a terrific catch of one of Whatley's long pitches around the enemy ten and somehow retained his balance to go in. The play covered 48 yards and climaxed a 65-yard march. Whatley flipped a pass to Newton for the two extra points and the tally mounted to 16-8.

The Blacks beat the clock to score again, driving 62 yards in eight maneuvers. Griffin intercepted for the score on a stab at right end from one yard away. A splendid 48-yard run by Mims, who was arrested on the one, set up the tally. The Blacks then tried a pass for the two extra points but it fell to the turf.

Lee McDowell of Texas A&M and Eddie Smith of TCU, conference runner-up, completed the squad.

Score by quarters:
Blacks 3 0 7 12-22
Golds 0 0 0 8-8

City Defeats Coahoma, 5-3

The City of Big Spring edged Coahoma, 5-3, and the 3560th of Webb shut-out Pepsi-Cola, 4-0, in American Softball League action Friday night.

Anderson was the winning pitcher in the first game and the loss was charged to Coahoma's Camp. The City team jumped to an early lead and then held on to stave off a Coahoma surge in the sixth inning.

Texas Dominates All-Star Squad

AUSTIN (AP) — The Univ. of Texas dominated the all-southwest Conference golf team, but Texas Tech's Steve LeCrone was the only unanimous choice on the six-man squad.

The all-star team, selected by coaches and sports information directors, included Texas' Randy Geiselman, Eugene Mitchell and Mason Adkins.

Lee McDowell of Texas A&M and Eddie Smith of TCU, conference runner-up, completed the squad.

Baseball Should Be Left Alone: Frick

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick told six congressmen interested in major league expansion Saturday to leave the problem alone and let organized baseball solve it.

In polite, but firm tones, Frick rejected the suggestion, saying: "If and when expansion comes, the ultimate decision as to the cities selected must rest with baseball."

He capitalized the "B" in baseball in a letter to the congressmen.

The letter was an answer to a proposal by Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and five other House members who joined on May 19 in proposing that three major leagues of eight teams each be created instead of the present two of 10 teams each.

The proposal, sent to Frick and the heads of the American and National Leagues, suggested that new major league franchises for the 1966 season be granted to the areas from which the congressmen come — Buffalo, N.Y.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Dallas-Fort Worth and one other unnamed city able to qualify.

They also asked for a fair system to provide the new teams with players, extension of pooling of television revenues and distribution of the new clubs among the three proposed leagues.

Frick, in his letter, repeated his belief that expansion should be inevitable and that rules and regulations dealing with it should be set up now "while thinking can be objective, and not delayed to the last minute when personal desires and selfish interests would enter the picture."

But he added: "I do not believe that expansion can be attained overnight, nor accomplished by congressional edict; nor can it follow a specific plan, such as contained in your statement."

The timing of the expansion; the selection of new territories and the rules of procedure, all are matters which must be determined by baseball itself "With a capital B."

Besides Reuss, who released the letter without comment, copies went to Reps. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis.; Earle Cabell, D-Tex.; Jim Wright, D-Tex.; Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y.; and Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y.

THERE'S ROOM FOR 38 TEAMS IN THIRD ANNUAL BS OPEN

Thirty-eight spots are still open in the 1965 Big Spring Open set for June 12-13 at the Country Club course. At present 22 teams have entered.

Officials say they will have the 60 teams by the June 10 deadline. All entries must be in by 6 p.m. on that date. Starting times and pairings will be posted June 11 and it will be the responsibility of the entries to find out when they tee off.

Entry fee in the Open division is $12.50 a player. The pro and amateur or two amateurs may pair scratch play and no handicaps will be used. In the true amateur division, teams may use handicaps. Entry fee is $7.50 in this division. The low six teams in each division will receive prizes. Pros will get cash awards and amateurs merchandise.

Jack Kountz is the tournament director and H. M. Hall is the greens chairman. Raymond Smith and Sam Thurman are on the tournament committee.

Houston Winner In Unique Meet

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Houston, Tex., was declared the winner Saturday of a unique, eight-city track meet in which competing prep teams never met.

Houston's finest high school track stars captured the Mayor's Cup, awarded by Metro Mayor Chuck Hall, with 68 3-5 points.

COLLECTION HAS VALUE OF $5,500

Gun-Gatherer Prizes 19th Century Pistols

By HARDY PRICE

"I would say that I'm a gun gatherer, rather than a gun collector," said Maj. C. T. Pajot. Looking at his assortment of more than 85 weapons dating back to the American Revolution, it would not be hard to take issue with the chief of administrative services at Webb AFB.

The most imposing sight in his den is a wall full of lever-action Winchester repeating rifles. The major admitted he had a particular fondness for the Winchesters.

Included in the collection of Winchesters, 10 rifles in all, are two Model 73's and one original Model 66.

"Ever since they made that movie about the 73's, everybody wants one. I picked up the Model 66 in a bar in Dallas," said the major.

Perhaps the most prized part of the collection are the 19th-century German dueling pistols. Displayed in a mahogany case and lined with blue velvet, the pistols are a sight to behold.

Each weapon is an individual piece yet are twins in appearance. The stocks are of Asian walnut, trimmed in ebony. The barrel and muzzle of each weapon are inlaid with gold. Pains-taking workmanship can be noted in each detail of the weapons.

While stationed in Germany, Maj. Pajot made it a point to find out where the weapons were made. He knew the name of the town, but as he recalled, it took him nearly two years to find the town. It was a very small village near the Rhine River.

Maj. Pajot does not know any of the history of the pistols, which were made in 1837. He purchased them from a friend, who picked them up in Germany, after World War II.

A real value perhaps can not be placed on the weapons, but Maj. Pajot figures it took over a year to build them. Included in the case is every tool needed to repair the pistols in case of a malfunction. Also included are the patches, powder and lead balls to make the weapons ready to fire.

All the weapons in his collection can be fired and Maj. Pajot has discharged a number of them. On the other hand, there are some that have never been fired.

Adorning his fireplace are two 18th-century French military flintlock pistols and an 19th-century Henry plainsrifle. Maj. Pajot explained the history of the plainsrifle this way:

"When the settlers and trappers began moving west, they found they needed a heavy and more durable rifle than the Kentucky rifle," he said. "The Kentucky rifle was a light weapon with a long barrel. The plainsrifle could be called a cousin of the Kentucky Rifle."

MUCH SHORTER The rifle in question, is considerably shorter than the type allegedly used by Daniel Boone, and much sturdier.

Other weapons in his arsenal include two Civil War model Springfields, one a breech-loader and the other a muzzle-loading type; a 9mm German Luger; a German Mauser pistol; a beautiful gold inlaid Belgium pin-fire pistols and several Spanish naval pistols.

His entire collection has a retail value of $5,500.

Maj. Pajot tells quite a story about how he became interested in "gathering" guns.

"When I was a kid in Michigan, I had been promised a rifle for Christmas. Before Christmas I took an early look at the presents hidden in the attic," he said.

He found a pistol — a Colt Army, model 44. There was also a smooth-bore percussion-cap shotgun in the collection of presents.

To say he was disappointed would be understating a fact. He now favors both weapons and the Colt 44 is rapidly becoming a collector's item — not only this model but all model Colts. At a recent gun auction in New York, a Colt Walker model sold for more than $2,000. That amount was paid by a gun collector, but Maj. Pajot says he's a "gun gatherer."

Most Loops Respect Letters Of Intent

DALLAS (AP)—A few years ago an athlete's commitment to play college football at a specific institution was honored only by members of a single conference. Today these commitments are respected by 75 per cent of the nation's colleges playing major football schedules.

Ten other colleges also are participating in today's inter-conference letter of intent, according to Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference. The program is voluntary on the part of 98 colleges to team for recognition of the inter-conference letter of intent. Accepted each year by increasing numbers, the co-operative group includes 27 more institutions than a year ago.

High school athletes have been privileged to sign pre-enrollment applications with Southwest Conference schools since Feb. 1 but they were not permitted to sign the inter-conference letter until May 20, the mutual commitment date throughout the country.

The Southwest Conference will process letters signed by its own members and also those of University of Houston, the only other Texas school participating in the program.

The Atlantic Coast, Big Eight, Big Ten, Mid-American, Missouri Valley, Southeastern, Southern and Western Athletic Conferences are other conferences honoring the letter. The Ohio Valley Conference also is participating.

Independents in the program are Florida State, Georgia Tech, Marquette, Memphis State, Notre Dame, Penn State, Southern Illinois, Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Dayton, Xavier, Newberry College and Parsons.

The first college commitments recognized were the grants-in-aid instituted by the Southeastern Conference. The Southwest Conference followed suit with its letter of intent plan in 1953 and other major conferences have developed comparable programs.

The inter-conference letter of intent plan was conceived by Dr. J. William Davis of Texas Tech, faculty representative to the Southwest Conference. It was put in operation in 1963 with 58 schools participating.

Grubbs and William R. Reed, commissioner of the Big Ten, are members of the inter-conference letter of intent committee, of which Davis is chairman.

Tests Prove Lake Thomas Has Good Fish Balance

Nettings by technicians from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Service have shown excellent yields and a good balance of fish types in Lake J. B. Thomas, R. A. Schooling, lake superintendent, said Saturday. Nets were dipped 12 times in different sections of the lake and brought up 629 pounds of assorted fish. Game fish accounted for 414 pounds and forage and rough fish 215 pounds. The actual count showed a total of 514 fish, 294 of them game and 220 classed as either forage or rough.

"It is significant," observed Schooling, "that while forage and rough fish outnumbered game fish 2-2, the game fish weighed twice as much as the others. Based on the tests, every time the technicians brought up the nets, they had over 50 pounds of fish in them."

Another interesting aspect of the survey, Schooling pointed out, was the amount and weight of flat heads (yellow catfish). Thirty-nine of the total catch were of this variety, but they weighed 351 pounds, or about nine pounds average.

Other counts included 89 crappie, 39 channel cat, 7 drum, 16 white bass, 12 large mouth bass, two long-ear perch, 138 shad, seven blue gill, 17 carp and 148 river carp suckers.

Had a larger mesh net been used, the catch of large mouth bass and white bass undoubtedly would have been higher, Schooling thought.

The survey was made by Herman Stroman and Lee Jesse, technicians for the state department, assisted by Bill Pratt, resident game warden. The dips were made Tuesday and Wednesday of the past week.

Steers Name Co-Captains

Pitcher Hank Pope and third baseman Howard Bain were elected captains of the 1965 Big Spring Steer baseball team Friday.

At the same time, coach Roy Baird announced that 19 players had earned letters for the 1965 season. Leading the list were seniors Howard Bain and Freddie Mears, who earned their third numerals.

Earning two year letters were pitchers Pope and Charles Burdette, infielders Gregg Pate and Eddie Thomas and outfielder Van Tom Whalley.

Players gaining their first letter included pitchers Gary Mears and Bobby Griffin, infielders Sam Mims, Johnny Thomas, Gary Gressett, and Rod Roberts; outfielders Jesse Zapata, Johnny Stone, Larry Broughton and Berry King; catchers Yogi Anderson and Eddie Crittenden. Joey Pate won a letter as manager.

A. J. Foyt Gives Fans Big Thrill

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A. J. Foyt, starting in the No. 1 position for the first time, probably won't be able to keep it all the way in the $500,000 auto race May 31 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. But his fans know he'll try.

Nobody ever has led the 55-year-old Memorial Day classic from start to finish. A new rule requiring two pit stops will make it even harder.

A strong field of drivers and many expensive new race cars will be charging at the 30-year-old Houston, Tex. driver.

Foyt has indicated he wants to beat Jimmy Clark, 1963 world road racing champion, as he never has wanted anything in racing. And he wants both their Lotus-Fords to run well all the way.

"I honestly believe," said one Foyt admirer, "that A. J. would run with his outside wheels on top of the wall if he thought that's what it would take to beat Clark."

Foyt has dominated American auto racing in recent years as no driver has done since the first national championship was awarded to Harry Harkness in 1902. That includes Barney Oldfield, the 1903 champ, and Ted Horn, whose record of three straight titles in 1946-48 Foyt will be challenging this year.

Foyt has won a record 27 races on the USAC (formerly AAA) big car circuit.

He set another record by winning 10 of the 13 events last year on the circuit for specially built racers. He had mechanical trouble in the three he didn't win.

He is the only U.S. Auto Club driver who has beaten the specialists of the National Association for Stock Car Racing in their own backyard, taking the Firecracker 400 at Daytona Beach, Fla., last July 4 in record time.

Foyt has won the Indianapolis 500 twice, in 1961 and 1964. He won over a quarter-million dollars last year, owns a mansion and a fleet of expensive cars, and probably could retire if he wanted to, but he doesn't.

Ump Snarls Over Rebuff In Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—The giant scoreboard in Houston's domed stadium — already criticized by some players and sports writers — now has been blasted by an umpire.

Umpire Frank Secory charged Friday night that the Houston Astros are using the scoreboard to intimidate umpires.

Secory said he will protest to National League President Warren Giles about a message that appeared on the scoreboard Friday night.

Flashed in lights on the scoreboard during the sixth inning of the Houston-San Francisco game was the comment: "Kibler did it again."

Third base umpire John Kibler had just ejected Houston's Bob Aspromonte from the game after the infielder protested a call at third base.

"That's about as low as you can get, when you start putting stuff like that on the board," said Secory, who is captain of the umpiring team which called the game.

"This is something to incite the fans, and that is exactly what it's put up for. We're going to make a report of it."

He said he was not going to wait to make a written statement but planned to try to reach the National League president by telephone.

"It's poor baseball ethics," Secory said.

Umpire Kibler had been the central figure Wednesday night in a disputed decision at the plate when he called out second baseman Joe Morgan in a play that would have given the Astros the winning run in a game against Los Angeles. The Dodgers won it in 14 innings.

Kibler ejected Manager Luman Harris during the argument, and Harris drew a two-day suspension from the league office when the umpire reported he was justly by Harris.

Houston lost Friday night's game to the Giants 8-1, but Aspromonte's ejection had no bearing on the outcome.

Bill Giles, Astro publicity director who is the son of the National League president, was in charge of the scoreboard control board when the comment offensive to the umpires was flashed.

Many Clubs Help With Open Plans

By FRANK ECK

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The U. S. National Open is still some days away but as far as Hord W. Hardin is concerned golf's 65th premier event is in the home stretch. It can't miss because success has been assured by advance ticket sales that promise to match the record crowds of two recent Opens.

But for almost a year Hardin felt as though his shoulders were carrying the weight of the golfing world.

Hardin is USGA vice president, chairman of the championship committee and a past president of the swank Bellevue Country Club just outside of this Gateway to the West where the four-day Open begins June 17.

"We should never have the Open at Bellevue," Hardin said last June while attending the National Open at Washington's Congressional course. "We have a limited membership of 300 at Bellevue. Congressional has 1,800 members."

"It is too much of a load on membership. We will need help from the other clubs."

NOT ALONE

Hardin was not alone in his fears. Nine other Bellevue members attended last year's smoothly run Open. They knew it would be a tough task to match the Congressional effort.

"But all our fears have been put to rest," Hardin was saying the other day. "We have received the most wonderful support anyone could expect."

"Fifteen golf clubs in the St. Louis district guaranteed to take 400 season tickets. All 15 made their quota and by mid-May we had an advance sale of 12,500."

As a result Bellevue's steering committee, headed by Louis W. Menk, has requested the United States Golf Association to limit paid admissions to 20,000 per day for the 72-hole four-day championship. With the advance sale (season tickets have been $17 since Jan. 1) likely to reach 14,000 this would mean that only 6,000 admission tickets will be offered for sale on a daily basis.

With a maximum of 20,000 paying spectators, the total of persons on the grounds, both free and paying, may reach 25,000. The two largest single day crowds at previous Opens were 24,492 in 1962 at Oakland in Pittsburgh and 21,998 in 1964 at Congressional, both on the final day, a Saturday. Paid admissions in each instance were somewhat above 18,000.

With the new four-day Open format calling for the concluding round on Sunday, June 20, previous attendance records may be smashed.

Pro Bob Ross, recommended for the Bellevue post two years ago by Claude Harmon of New York's Winged Foot, believes 284 will win.

Ken Venturi won last year with 278, second lowest winning total ever posted. He had fine three-day momentum: though he staggered home dehydrated in the hot and humid 36 holes of the final day.

Traveling Motorists Want Information

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Petroleum marketers were told last week that most traveling motorists apparently have some preferences that conflict with beautification standards set for the interstate highway system.

A recent survey indicates most of them would prefer more gasoline and service station signs along the highways than the national standards allow.

Findings of the survey conducted in California, Oregon, Washington and Arizona by the Western Oil and Gas Association included:

- About 81 per cent of the 3,516 motorists interviewed thought each state should permit gas stations to erect highway information or advertising signs.
- The distance between stations and such signs suggested most often was two miles or less.
- Nearly half of those who thought highway signs were the best method for alerting motorists also favored more than one sign per station.
- About 92 per cent favored signs identifying gasoline by brand.

Results of the survey were placed before the mid-year meeting of the American Petroleum Institute's division of marketing.

R. G. Gardner of the Standard Oil Co. of California summarized a report by the division's marketing research committee this way:

"In the interests of highway safety and motorists' convenience, we feel these views should be supported and recognized."

"The importance of beautiful highways is apparent, but practical — and the traveling motorist needs to know where he can find his brand of gasoline."

The federal aid Highways Act establishes national standards for signs and advertising. Each state can increase its federal aid 0.5 per cent by complying.

The standards provide for informational sites or, under certain conditions, informational signs.

Advertising signs are permitted at these sites but only on panels no more than 13 feet high and 25 feet long. Each sign can not exceed 12 square feet in area.

Under this system, other advertising signs are not permitted within 600 feet of an interstate highway if an informational site is within 12 miles of a service station.

If informational sites are not provided within 12 miles of a business activity, signs then are permitted along the highways. But the regulations specify only one on-premise sign per station and no sign within two miles of a highway exit.

Gardner said his committee's information indicates 15 states now meet the national standards, qualifying for the federal highway aid bonus, and six states which do not qualify have legislation more restrictive than the national standards. He said seven states have pending legislation, seven have had legislation defeated, two have statutes less restrictive than the national standards, and 13 states have not introduced legislation on highway signs.

Andrews Expecting New Highways Are Bypassing Gas Stations

Thousands of visitors are expected in Andrews Monday and Tuesday when the West Texas oil center celebrates the production of its billionth barrel of oil. Andrews, the state's leading oil producing county since 1956, is scheduling its largest civic celebration since 1960, with top oil company officials, and state government leaders expected.

The actual production of the billionth barrel is set Tuesday afternoon. An oil company computer in Houston came up with the production date after it digested data on the county's production.

A highlight of the event is the dedication of state historical markers. One will be placed on the courthouse lawn, commemorating the billionth barrel. Another will be placed on the C.E. Ogden No. 1, the first well in the oil-rich county drilled in 1929. It is still pumping in the Fuhrman - Mascho field, six miles west of the city.

An array of activities is scheduled during the two days. Pre-celebration events Sunday include a fly-in breakfast at the Andrews County Airport, and a sand dig sponsored by the Jaycees, will attract many. A deep pile of sand has been placed in downtown Andrews, with $2,000 cash and the same amount in merchandise buried in it. Ad-digs will be held throughout the mission for digging is $1 and celebration.

The dedication ceremony is set for 4:30 p.m. Tuesday. Byron Tunnell, Texas Railroad Commissioner and former speaker of the Texas House, will be guest speaker. A barbecue will climax the celebration at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Mustang Stadium. Tickets are $1.50. A parade is scheduled for 3 p.m., a style show for the ladies is set for 1:30 p.m. in the plush Andrews High School, and the mid-year meeting of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association will be held in the council chamber of the city hall.

A joint civic club luncheon is set for 11:30 a.m. in the high school dome, with Cullen Alken of Odessa as master of ceremonies.

Monday's events include a golfing bee at the Andrews County Club. An old-timers' recognition is scheduled for 4 p.m. on the courthouse square, and a beauty pageant, to crown the oil queen, follows at 4:30. A reception for out-of-town guests will be at 6:30 p.m. at the Andrews Country Club. An adult dance, teen dance and square dance get under way at 7:30 p.m.

During the entire celebration, oil field equipment will be on display on the courthouse square, and tours of facilities which oil has helped to build will be conducted during the event.

HOUSTON (AP)—Humble Oil & Refining Co. President Charles Jones says failure to recognize market shifts and to move with them appears to be a substantial cause of some petroleum industry problems.

"New superhighways have bypassed many service stations and left them marooned," he said Thursday as the American Petroleum Institute's division of marketing held the final session of its mid-year meeting.

Dr. Jones said the projected growth of the interstate highway system will make marooned stations a continuing problem.

President Johnson's program for promoting travel in the United States was given tentative approval by the oil marketers.

Their general committee recommended that the institute participate in the President's "Discover America" program, now being organized by Vice President Humphrey.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Collins, who reside east of the city, announce the marriage of their daughter, Cherie Lyne, to Louis Ray Dorton. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dignon, Sand Springs. The couple were married May 18 in the Coahoma Baptist Church by the Rev. Harold Graves and will reside in Sand Springs. The bride attended Coahoma schools and Howard County Junior College. The bridegroom, who attended Big Spring High School and graduated in Phoenix, Ariz., is employed in the engineering department of the City of Big Spring.

P-TA Unit Announces New Slate

New officers were installed during the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Washington Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association. The group met in the school cafeteria.

New officers are Mrs. Curtis Mullins, president; Mrs. Carl Riherd, vice president; Mrs. James Renfro, secretary; and Mrs. Jerry Barron, treasurer. Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., conducted the installation ceremonies.

Mrs. Frosty Robinson, outgoing president, presented a check to John Hardy, principal, to be used in planting grass on the school grounds. Jay Banks, police chief, presented a certificate of honor to the safety patrol for work during the year.

Forum Hears Hopes For County Library

In the final meeting for the season, the Woman's Forum heard a program entitled "Texas' Powerful Pen," and conducted the installation of officers for the coming year. The group met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. L. B. Mauldin, 1741 Purdue, with Mrs. Charles Sweeney as coshostess. Mrs. Opal McDaniel of the Howard County Public Library was guest speaker. She stressed that the library was an "Aladdin's Lamp" of reference and expanded knowledge. Mrs. McDaniel explained that since the local library had 2,000 volumes and a checkout list of over 80,000 books a year, there was a real need for additional books and a larger building. Members were reminded that the state hospital is asking for volunteers to transport patients to and from the buildings. The Forum heard a resolution from Ben Barnes, speaker of the State House of Representatives, commending their interest in government shown by their recent visit to Austin. Mrs. W. N. Norred, past president, was in charge of the installation ceremonies. New officers will be Mrs. Charles Harwell, president; Mrs. Lucian Jones, vice president; Mrs. John Norton, recording secretary. Mrs. Bert Shive, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Merrill Creighton, treasurer. Mrs. Jones began her term as president by asking for suggestions about program projects and appointing committee chairmen. New chairmen will be Mrs. Clyde Johnston, parliamentarian; Mrs. Mauldin, historian; and Mrs. Norred, reporter. Standing committees are Mrs. Lucian Jones, Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. Jack Y. Smith, and Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., yearbook; and Mrs. Jack Johnson and Mrs. T. H. McCann, hospitality. Other committees are Mrs. J. D. Jones, Mrs. D. D. Dyer and Mrs. Wayne Vaughn, telephone; Mrs. Clyde Johnston, project; Mrs. Shive, safety; and Mrs. Norred and Mrs. E. P. Driver, state hospital. Local department chairmen are Mrs. Joe Pickle, conservation; Mrs. Omar Jones, education; Mrs. Thomas, fine arts; Mrs. Cecil McDonald, home life; Mrs. Sweeney, international affairs; Mrs. Lonnie Coker, Texas heritage; Mrs. Escol Compton, public affairs; Mrs. W. H. Bain, council of international clubs; and Mrs. Smith, federation councilor. A called meeting will be June 3 in the home of Mrs. Jones, 1202 W. 16th.

Awards Given During Curtain Club Banquet

The Curtain Club of Goliad Junior High School held a banquet, "The Critic's Choice," in the Downtown Tea Room Friday evening. Recognition was given to outstanding speech and drama students. Those honored at the banquet were Jerry Price, high ranking eighth grade speech student, and Burt Nix, high ranking ninth grade speech student. Recognitions with trophies went to Cindy Dittrich, Miss Personality; Charlie Voight, Mr. Personality, and Kerry Gunnels, outstanding club member.

Dan Shockey of the Big Spring Senior High School speech department was the guest speaker. Musical numbers were presented by Toby Smith. The motif of the banquet featured two large silvered masks against a dark blue backdrop. Large letters spelling out the theme were also used. The colors were blue and white.

This is the first year of the speech awards banquet which may become an annual affair. The Goliad Curtain Club is sponsored by Barry Clayton, director of speech activities at the school.

Smoother Hosiery Introduced

In April one of the nation's largest manufacturers of hosiery for women will introduce stockings made from the new Vectra polypropylene fiber.

The totally new fiber for hosiery, being used by the Chadbourne Gotham firm, is three to four times more snag resistant than nylon of the same denier according to the company's research.

They are even recommending draping the Vectra hosiery on cactus plants as an idea for store promotion and display.

Harmful chemicals such as bleach, nail polish remover, even ink, cause no damage to the fiber or color of the hosiery.

The firm also claims a smoother texture, greater shape retention and resistance to dust and moisture.

Another note is on the low thermal conductivity of Vectra fiber — making the hosiery warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

Influence Fashions

Although U. S. presidents do not have a great deal of influence on men's fashions, they have often been known for their preference for a particular item of apparel.

A leading manufacturer points out some of the clothing popularized by presidents.

Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft took to vests and Roosevelt adorned his with a big gold watch chain. Woodrow Wilson often was seen in formal wear as was Warren Harding. The all white suit also was a Harding trademark.

Herbert Hoover was partial to the high boiled collar. Franklin D. Roosevelt often wore a cape and favored double-breasted suits and hats with wide brims turned up all around.

Ex-harberdasher Harry Truman often donned sport shirts that could only be described as wild. Dwight Eisenhower wore a homburg and hat sales went up accordingly.

But fashion pulse takers agree that John F. Kennedy probably influenced fashion more than any other president in recent history. He gave impetus to the two-button suit which was struggling to get a fashion foothold at the time. He also liked chalk striped suits.

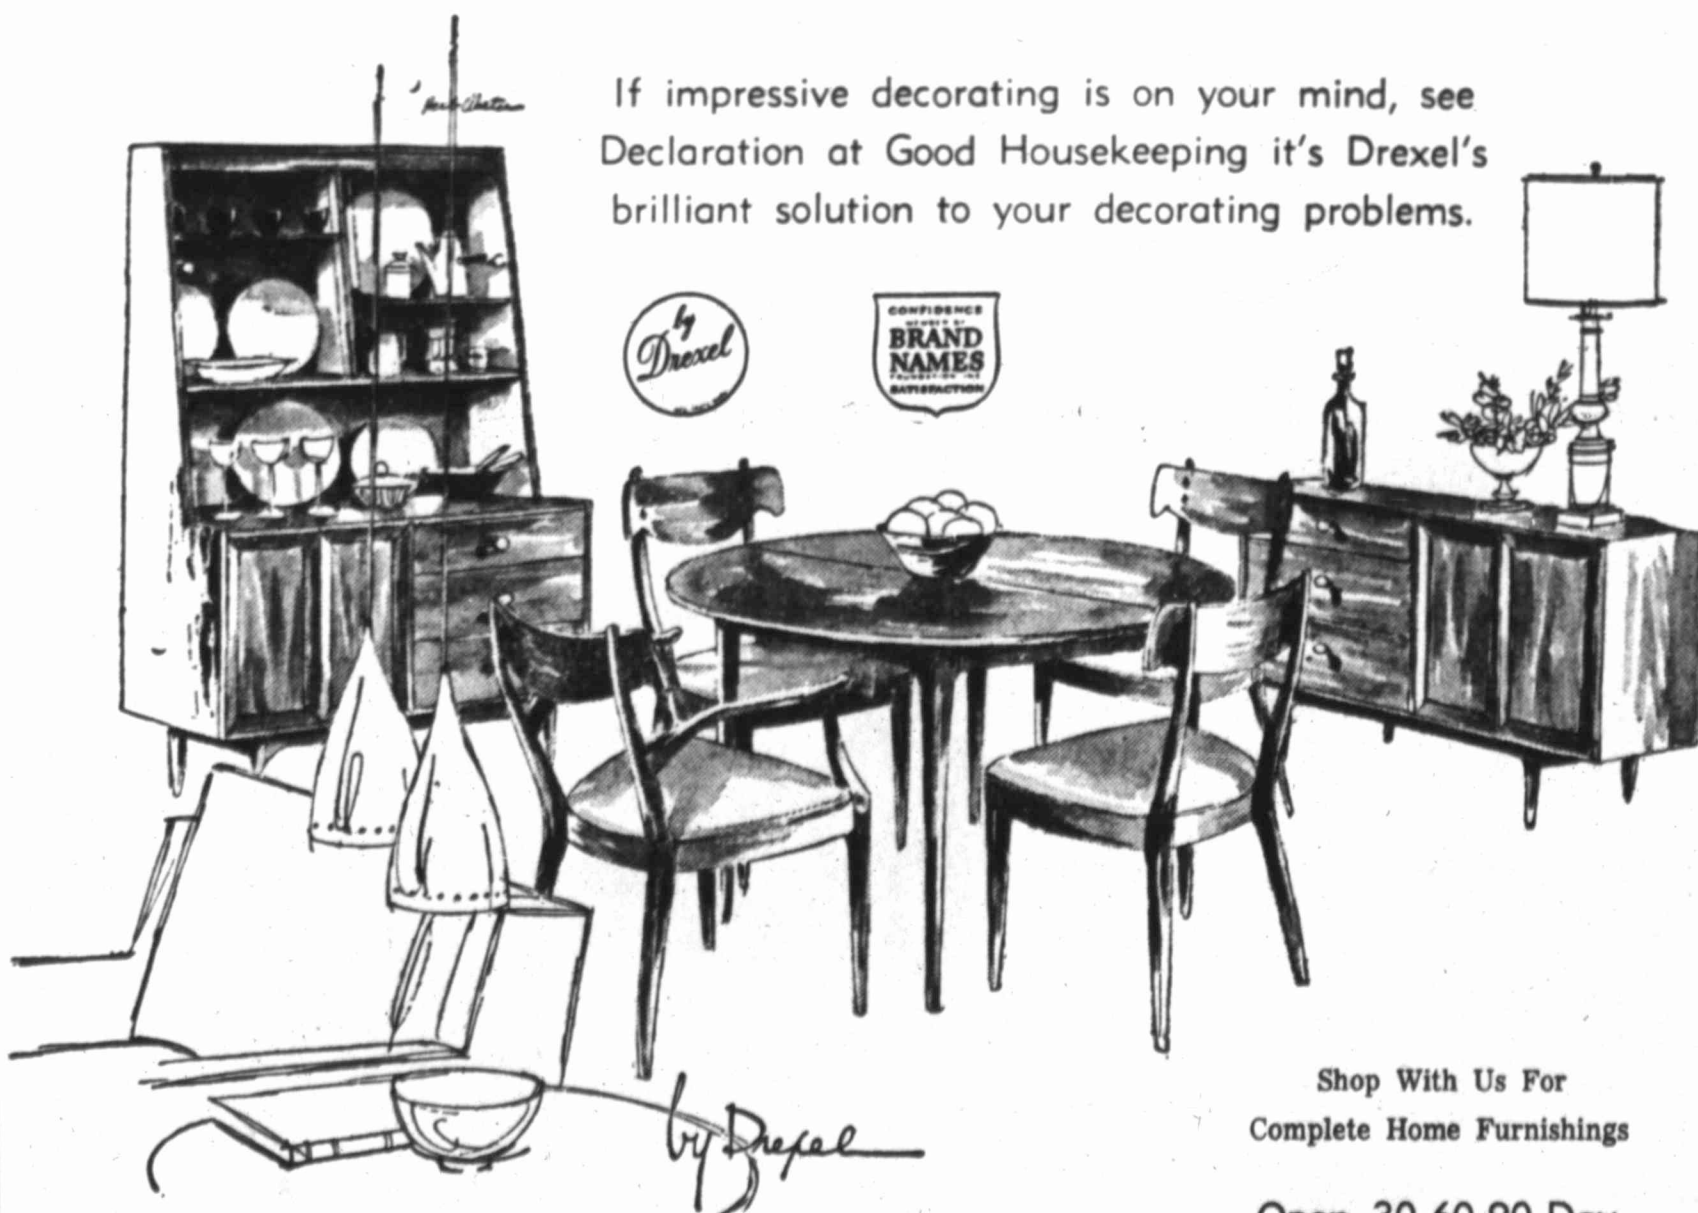

President Johnson's contribution is the LBJ hat, a 10-gallon variety cut down to city standards.

Williams-Simpson Wedding Held In Presbyterian Church

Miss Sarah Modesta Simpson and Clayton W. Williams Jr., exchanged wedding vows in a candlelight ceremony performed in the First Presbyterian Church, Dr. R. Gage Lloyd officiated for the nuptial rites.

The wedding scene was illuminated by cathedral tapers in a crescent-shaped candelabra flanked by seven-branched candelabra accented with emerald green fern. The altar rail was accented with palm foliage, and the couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu.

Mold Methods

When you are coating a metal mold with caramelized sugar, it's a good idea to heat the mold before coating because the sugar hardens quickly.

Miss Salgado Weds In Stanton Ceremony

Miss Irma Salgado became the bride of Antonio M. Porras in a double ring ceremony performed at 12 o'clock noon Saturday in the St. Joseph Catholic Church, Stanton. The Rev. John Pierce officiated at the marriage service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Salgado, 503 St. Michael, Stanton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Porras, 508 N. Johnson.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a gown of white Chantilly lace with a fitted bodice, and the neckline was trimmed in sequins. The formal skirt was in four tiers, and extended into a chapel train. Her long lace-covered sleeves formed petal points over the wrists.

Teen Fashions Recall Grandmother's Styles

By CELESTINE SIBLEY
A lady wrote in asking me to say a few pungent and well chosen words about the idiotic ways young women "get themselves up" these days. Fashion, she said with sweet understatement, isn't really my field, but she is so offended by the hideous hair-dos, the funny shapeless dresses and the atrocious shoes and stockings of the young girls of today wear, she hoped I might "take pen in hand" on the subject.

"I know that blue gunk they put on their eyes must affect you the way it does me," wrote the lady. "I get positively ill at the sight of the stuff an otherwise pretty child slathers on her face. And the dye they put on their hair!"

Somewhere the lady mentioned she was 70 years old, and before I let my feelings over today's fashions get really ignited from the flame of her concern, I thought a bit about what fashions must have looked good to her in her youth.

Sarah Blackwell Guber Temple fortunately offers us a fine authoritative picture. Mrs. Temple's history of Cobb County ("The First Hundred Years") happily takes note of such things as the fashions of youth.

The early 1900s, she recorded, were the time of the petticoats when little girls and big girls frequently wore as many as six, all of them heavily starched and fluted. Grownup girls, the ones who now wear colored shoes with silly pointed toes, in those days wore buttoned or high laced shoes. And high school girls even went in for trains on their wash dresses. As for their hair, they didn't dye it or torture it into beehives, but they skinned it into plaits which they rolled under and tied with tafeta or grosgrain ribbon bows at their necks.

"Their necks, indeed," wrote Mrs. Temple, "had no more freedom than did the remainder of their bodies, for collars were always high and not infrequently swathed in ribbon which was tied in a stiff bow."

Fashion, like beauty, depends on the outlook of youth for sustenance. Undoubtedly my 70-year-old correspondent has forgotten the "idiotic ways" of her own youth. But I'm with her about the eye gook and much of the makeup. In her day, of course, nice females didn't "paint."

Mrs. Temple puts it nicely. They depended "on the genteel standbys" of Pear's soap, Florida water and a discreet dusting of rice powder.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Cloth Sack Serves As 'Bed Table'

Dear Heloise:
I have a very small bedroom with no light stands and no room for a chair next to my bed, so in order to keep small essentials such as handkerchief, nose inhaler, cough drops, etc., handy... I made a muslin sack about 10 inches deep and seven inches wide and safety-pinned it to the under sheet next to my pillow.

This way I am able to reach what I need during the night and nothing is lost. I made several of these little sacks so that when I change sheets, I change bags... Jennie R.

Dear Heloise:
I wonder (being a widower now) how much unnecessary time, for years and years, my poor wife spent mopping our bathroom and kitchen floors and washing that mop out... For the last two years, I have been doing this job myself and have learned that if I take my dust mop (yes, even after using my vacuum cleaner) and dust my asphalt tile floors BEFORE beginning to wash them, that this not only keeps my wet mop clean, but I do not have to rinse them!

Even sweeping with a broom will not pick up as much of the lint and little tiny particles as the dust mop will. I find that everything in this house has dust on it. I suggest that housewives never put water or suds on any floor without using the dust mop first.

Here's another little trick I learned: Instead of using a broom to sweep the kitchen floor, I also use that dust mop. It is amazing how much I can sweep out that door... far more than when I use a broom.

If you doubt this, test it. Every housewife should. Sweep your kitchen floor with a broom, then go back over it with a dust mop. Then shake that dust mop out! You'll see... Widower bag of marshmallows and, once they are opened, they get hard? Here's how to keep them soft. Once the bag is opened, just put them in a tightly-capped jar and that is all there is to it. I have had some stay soft this way for six months.

I find that an inverted muffin tin, covered with a towel or paper toweling to absorb moisture, is the ideal drainer for glasses.

Another cute trick is to use as many as you want, then twist the top of the plastic bag (getting all the air out) and put a rubber band around it. Keep them in your deep freezer! They last a year this way.

The best thing about keeping them in your freezer is that when you get ready to cut them, they don't stick to your scissors. Try it!... Heloise

A useful hint for quick emergency repair of a torn hem is plain old cellophane tape. Cellophane tape also takes out the guess work when hemming clothes (and some people do guess). Use small pieces of tape instead of pins, try on the

Maybe Your Bargain Gems Are All 'Glitter'

TORONTO (AP)—Beware the jewelry bargain. Things are not always what they seem in the world of gems.

Even a jeweler can be fooled, says Jonathon Fraleigh, Toronto gem expert.

Sometimes outright fakes are sold as real gems. Diamonds, emeralds and other stones can be artificially manufactured. Cultured pearls can be made to look better than they are. And real gems can be doctored to increase their apparent value in ways which get past the people who buy and sell them.

"Doublets are imitations which are not wholly imitations," Mr. Fraleigh says. They are a combination—one part real, the other ohony—cemented together to look like a single stone. The upper half, known as the crown, is real stone and the lower part, the base, is usually a paste of similar or darker color.

"This way the color of the doublet is deepened, the total weight is increased and the upper part most exposed in wear is hard because it is the natural stone. When mounted in jewelry the joining line of the two sections is hidden and is therefore far from obvious."

Mr. Fraleigh says shoppers on vacation trips are particularly prone to getting stung picking up gems as local bargains. "I would advise anyone who is not familiar with gem stones to deal only in reliable establishments and, if they suspect any problems as to value, to have them checked by a gemologist."

When you do buy, he says, choose deeply colored stones, free from obvious internal flaws. If you are buying a diamond, look for a good cut and a clear, white stone.

Any jewelry valuable enough to be insured should be reappraised and reinsured every five or 10 years, Mr. Fraleigh says.

"The value of precious stones has almost doubled in 10 years," he adds.

Stanton Children To Get 'Head Start' In Summer

STANTON (SC) — "Head start," they call it, but it is the means by which Stanton school officials hope to have beginning first graders ready for next autumn's classes.

The summer project will operate from June 28 to Aug. 20, said Supt. Beryl D. Clinton, and has been developed locally although it fits into the economic opportunity program mapped by President Johnson. Cost of the undertaking is estimated at $12,000.

All beginning pupils are eligible to apply for the summer session, but selection will be on the basis of need. Clinton estimated that as many as 75 of the expected 115 beginners will be eligible. He urged parents of beginners to contact the school office for enrollment information.

Buses will provide transportation to and from school, which will run from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., but parents may pick up their children after 2 p.m. if desired. Lunch will be provided free, and there will be morning and afternoon breaks for milk and refreshments.

The community is being asked to help by giving quilts, blankets or suitable nap-pads for the pre-schoolers. Also, volunteers are being sought to help or to conduct field trips.

The kindergarten program will include story time, language, numbers, music, art and selected television program, films and records, and field trips.

Teachers will be Mrs. Bertha Schwalbe, Mrs. H. H. Deck, and Mrs. C. Colton Daugherty or Mrs. Obera Gray. Each teacher will have one or more student assistants to increase the amount of individual attention.

Each child will be given a physical examination and, if needed, the immunization shots which are required before entering public schools. The hospital here is cooperating in providing this health service.

During the summer, four groups may operate. The non-English speaking first graders will begin on a half day schedule May 31, and go for eight weeks. Mrs. Mary Brunton is the teacher, and enrollment is being handled by J. M. Yater, junior high principal. Clinton said 20 to 30 of these are youngsters expected for the special instruction authorized by the Texas Education Agency.

Fabulous Round Of Activity Awaits Don At National Bee

Probably young Don Hickson, champion speller of the High Plains, has been too busy these past few days to devote much thought to what's in store for him the first two weeks in June.

However, if he has taken a little time from school closing activities to give the future a little looking at, you could hardly blame him.

By virtue of winning his school spelling championship at Runnels Junior High, Don went on to win the Howard County Spelling Bee title. Then he went to Lubbock where he won the Regional Spelling Bee. This victory brings Don a trip to Washington, D. C., with expenses paid, and a chance to try for the National Spelling Championship and a cash prize of $1,000.

EXCITING SCHEDULE
There is a lot more to it than just that.

Don is in for one of the most exciting and color-filled weeks in his lifetime. And, should Don be fortunate enough to grab that shining National Championship, even more exciting days will be his.

The Runnels Junior High school eighth grader will register at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington on June 7. All sorts of official badges, programs and other material will be given him.

That afternoon, he will be taken on a sight-seeing tour of Washington. He will see Ford's Theater, where President Lincoln was slain; the Federal Triangle, Capitol, and the Pentagon, to name just a few. He will view the Supreme Court, Library of Congress, the Jefferson Memorial, Lincoln Memorial, Kennedy tomb, and he will watch the changing of the guards at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldiers.

MORE TOURS

A big party for all of the champions (there will be 69 other boys and girls from all 50 states and territories on hand) is planned that night at the Mayflower. The party is keyed to the age of the young honorees and all of the traditional things that youngsters like will be featured.

On the morning of June 8, Don will take a special tour of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He will also visit the exciting Wax Museum. That afternoon, he will go to the U. S. Capitol where Texas congressional members will be on hand to show him the historic structure. He will watch Congress in action. After the capitol visit Don goes to the Washington Monument and to the National Archives.

The National Spelling Bee competition opens on June 9 (Wednesday) in the Mayflower Hotel ball room, continues through the day and resumes Thursday morning. It will probably come to an end around noon.

That afternoon Don and his 69 fellow champions will go by River to Mount Vernon. At Mount Vernon he will inspect the mansion and see the graves of George and Martha Washington.

WHITE HOUSE VISIT

His most exciting morning, perhaps, will be June 11. He will go to the White House and be taken on a tour of the home of the presidents. That afternoon, he will go to the Smithsonian Institute — the most renowned museum in the United States.

That night, the Awards Banquet will be held in the Mayflower Hotel. Special entertainment will be presented by celebrated entertainers.

Don, regardless of how he places in the National Spelling Bee is certain to receive at least $50 in cash.

Should he win the National Spelling Championship, his grand prize will be $1,000 in cash, a handsome trophy, a plaque for his school, plus $100 bonus money for him and his escort to spend on a weekend trip to New York and to the World's Fair. Second prize is

Trip Becomes Family Affair

There's quite a lot going on at the Bob Hickson home at 623 State.

It all centers around Don, the 14-year-old son of the family.

But the excitement is wider than just that. The whole Hickson family—mother, father and sister, Cynthia—will be with Don on his big trip. The Hicksons will drive to Dallas on Saturday, June 4, board a plane there and be in Washington Sunday.

School is winding up at the Runnels Junior High where Don is an eighth grader. Friday he was called before the student body by Roscoe Newell, the principal, and presented with a medal for spelling. His school mates gave him a rousing round of applause.

Earlier he had received a trophy for winning the county championship. At the regional, he won a year's possession of the regional championship trophy, duly engraved with his name. He also was presented with a 24-volume set of the Encyclopedia Britannica, a Britannica atlas of the world, and his school will receive a Britannica film each month for 12 months. And, of course, the check for his expenses to Washington.

National Drivers Test In Spotlight Monday

Something new — a massive safety drive on a national front — is scheduled Monday.

It will be in the form of a 60-minute special program on driver safety over a national television hookup, including Channel 4.

The public health and safety committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and the Big Spring Association of Independent Insurance Agents have joined in urging the widest possible audience.

Those who want to take the drivers test which shapes up the program may obtain them at Shell service stations.

"The National Drivers Test" has been prepared by the Columbia Broadcasting System television network as a public service program aimed at a massive communications effort on driver safety.

It will be shown on the network throughout the nation Monday night.

Research has been underway for the program for some time and planning for it has involved an effort to use the program's results as additional information

A Devotional For The Day

Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man. (Luke 2:52)
PRAYER: O God we thank Thee for the perfect life of Jesus Christ. Help us in our personal development that we may be conscious of the needs of men as individuals and the needs of society. Teach us to be Christ-centered in our approach to life. We pray in His name. Amen.

More Highways, More Progress

Howard County has had a remarkably fine record of highway improvement for a long time, thanks to foresighted planning and promotion, progressive administrations, general support of the public, and a close working relationship with the State Highway Department.

There is now a critical moment ahead for the county to decide to carry on its fine record. On June 22, property-owning taxpayers will be asked to vote on the issuance of $600,000 in bonds to finance purchase of right of way which makes possible more road building.

In immediate planning are projects involving FM 700: a northward segment carrying that "loop" road from its present terminus at IS 20 on to the Snyder Highway; and a westward project from Goliad Street, across US 87, and on westward to a safer, better-engineered intersection with US 80 west. The latter project involves straightening and widening, means for all practical purposes a new thoroughfare, just as the segment to the north.

There is the possibility that funds would be available for later highway extensions.

There is hardly a way to account for the benefits which come to an area with the opening of new and better roadways. It can be tabbed that the state will be pouring perhaps more than $2,000,000 into construction on these two projects alone. But it cannot be calculated what comes about over the years in business and residential development, and a business activity that just naturally follows good thoroughfares. If you can remember back a few years, picture what has happened since FM 700 was opened from Gregg Street around to the Highway 80 east intersection. Homes by the hundreds, business galore, fantastic enhancement of property values, more and more traffic; a thriving area.

The same thing happens each time traffic arteries make available a previously-untapped area.

Currently, the county is about "caught up" on state highway projects. Completion of the Interstate segment did this. Now the state is ready to keep a continuing program going—indeed, has the money allotted already for FM 700 north, has done preliminary engineering on FM 700 west—and is pressing for work.

The State Highway Department District offices here must be kept engaged, or there comes a necessity for transferring personnel.

This is the time for Howard County to get back in action with highways for progress. It can't lose.

The proposed bond issue—to be retired in 10 years—carries with it a maximum tax rate of 7 cents. It possibly could be less, depending upon sale of bonds and interest rates obtained. But that will be the top Howard countians within the past four years paid a tax rate of $1.07 for two years, then the rate dropped as prior bond issues were paid off. It is currently $1.11, would be restored to $1.07 next year.

At the county's assessment of 20 per cent of recorded taxable value, this bond issue means perhaps $1.50 to $2 per year for the ordinary home owner. The whole economy stands to gain so much more that this seems small.

Howard County is in strong financial shape. It can handle its obligations without burdening taxpayers. It needs the new road program. The road program should be endorsed.

Determination In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON — How can the United States government convince Red China that there will be no retreat or withdrawal of America's armed forces from South Viet Nam until the people of that country are assured of an uninhibited opportunity for self-determination?

President Johnson has said many times that the United States is in earnest and will patiently pursue its objectives, even though this may require many years. But is he getting his message across?

"LET NONE anywhere falsely assume," said the President the other day, "that the debate freedom permits reflects division on the decisions and decisiveness which duty to freedom may require. The community of free men is a community united—and so it shall remain until peace on this earth is sure and safe."

Despite what the President says, however, there are, here and abroad, captious critics and conscientious opponents of his policies whose objections are given a prominence that is out of proportion to their true significance. This encourages the Communist Chinese to believe that if they stick to their present strategy long enough and hold on indefinitely, the United States government will grow tired and will eventually find a face-saving device by means of negotiation which will be actually equivalent to withdrawal.

UNFORTUNATELY there are precedents which indicate that the United States has not always pursued conflict to the point of victory or to the attainment of military objectives. The Korean War, for instance, was ended in 1953 by an armistice which to this day has not been formalized by a peace treaty. The peoples of Korea today are ruled by two governments — a Communist regime in the North and a republic in the South.

The Communist Chinese have for years dominated North Korea, and the biggest mistake which the United States made during the Korean War was to limit its military operations and refrain from bombing Chinese bases from which supplies, equipment and troops were sent to carry on the war against the collective forces of the United Nations in Korea.

THE U. N. is not involved today in the Viet Nam situation, but there are many persons who are constantly call-

Billy Graham

I want to ask you about your opinion of "necking," a young man and woman. This is a topic of great discussion at my school, and as a young person I would like to know if you approve of intimate love-making before marriage.

G. H.

Indiscriminate, passionate love-making can be dangerous, psychologically and physically. The sex urge is never stronger than in the teen years, and I know, it requires great restraint to resist temptation. But most competent youth advisors are quick to point out that deep trouble often follows promiscuous petting. To put the matter bluntly: Kissing and intimate embracing are natural preludes to more serious intimacies. I'm not talking about a casual, goodnight kiss after a date. I refer to "necking," popularly so-called.

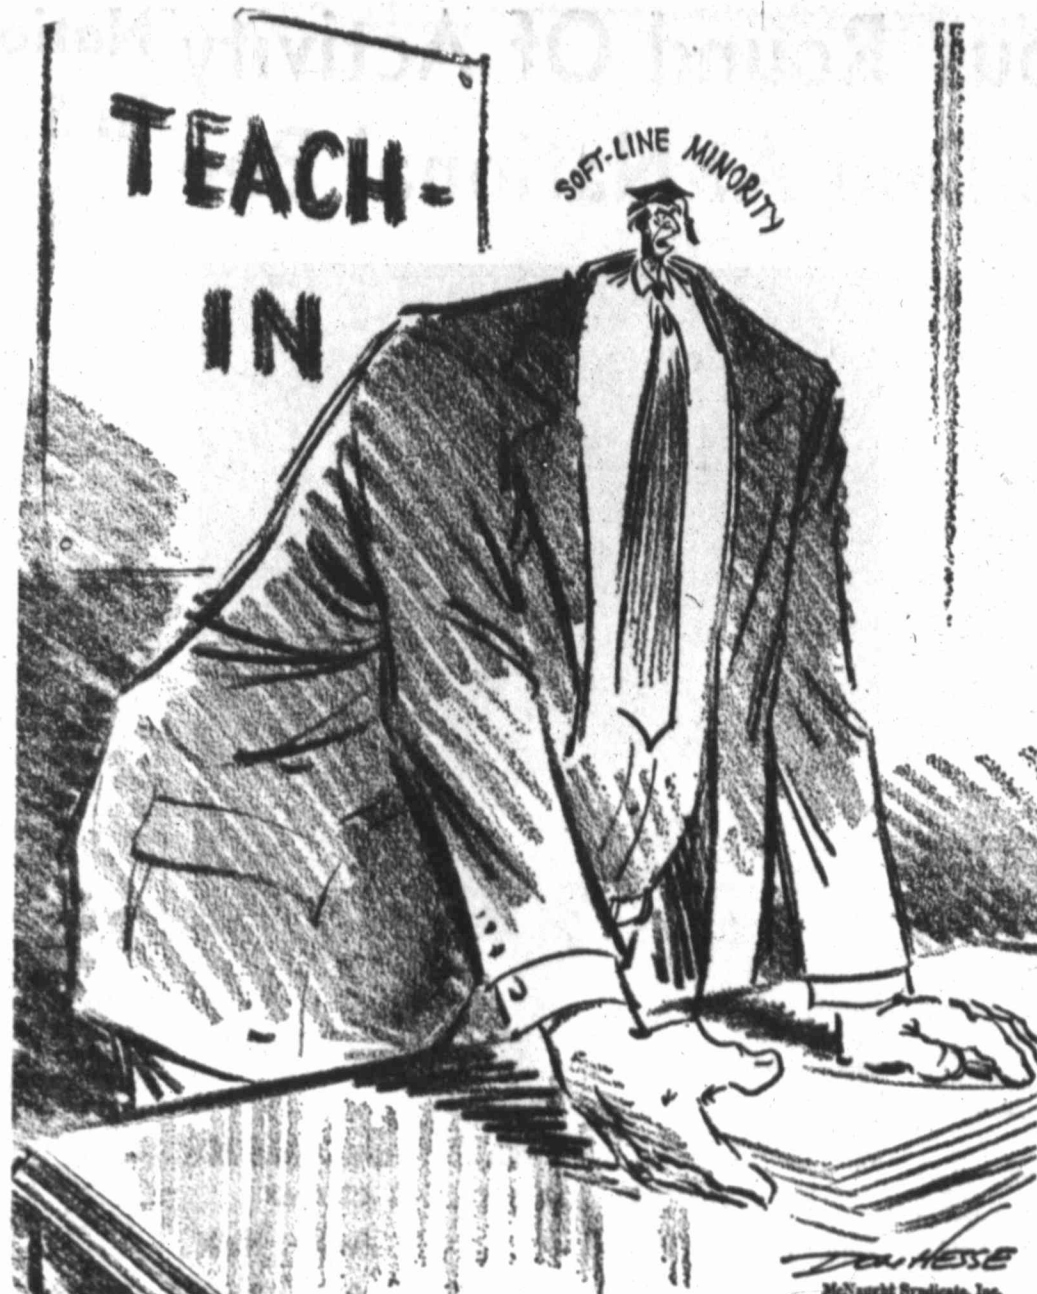

The Bible without doubt refers to this practice when it says, "Flee youthful lusts." Our heavenly Father has great respect for the dignity and happiness of the individual, and the Biblical warnings against adultery, fornication and youthful lusts, are given in the interest of the happiness of the individual person.

Happy marriages are built upon mutual respect for each other before marriage, and the wise and prudent couple will not forfeit their future happiness for a few moments of sensual pleasure.

Odd Pence

SYDNEY (AP)—The successful tenders for a 1½ mile section of the Warringah Expressway, leading north from the Sydney Harbour Bridge, quoted a price of 4,966,181 pounds 10 shillings 3 pence (Australian).

The odd three pence added the equivalent of 3 United States cents to the contract price of about $11 million.

The Nation's Economic Problem—Overconfidence

PHILADELPHIA — The theme at the 18th annual convention of the Financial Analysts Federation here was "cautious optimism." But, with complete accuracy it could also be called "optimistic caution." There's a difference!

The bulls at the convention outnumbered the bears by two to one. A poll showed that. The optimistic speakers outnumbered the pessimists. But in this bullish environment, it is significant that doubters spoke out.

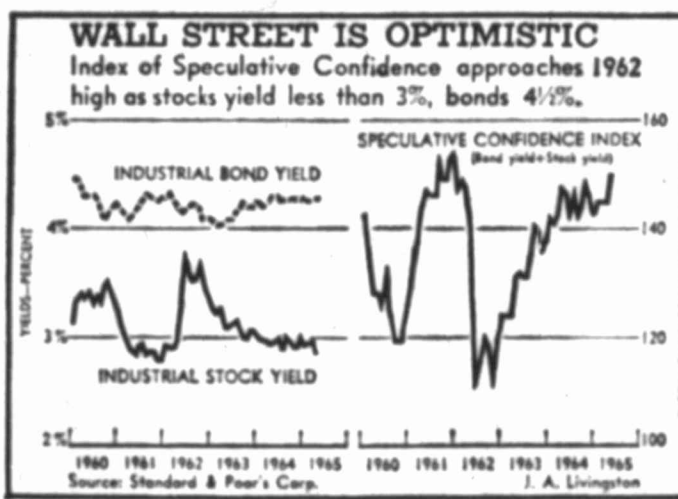

THE BULLS used the "new economics" to justify holding and buying common stocks at current prices. The powerful forces of government, the business-mindedness of President Johnson, and the population explosion — more mouths to feed, more homes to furnish, more automobiles to accommodate on highways and in garages — will keep prosperity rolling.

Therefore, why worry about intermediate fluctuations in Wall Street?

Robert B. Ritter, technical analyst for Delafield & Delafield, members of the New York Stock Exchange, summed up the case for optimism:

"AS MARKET analysts we are only too aware of the overriding importance inherent in the Presidency Lyndon B. Johnson has committed himself by his actions to a healthy business climate. At the risk of oversimplifying, it is almost as if he has decided that the best way of implementing the Employment Act of 1946 is to make sure that there are fundamental incentives to induce employers to employ employees."

The doubters have less faith in the power of the President. "What I am greatly concerned with," said A. Hamilton Bolton, of Bolton, Tremblay & Co., Montreal investment house, "is what I call 'The Pervasive Illusion.' We, in the investment fraternity, have deep conferences about today's money-and-credit climate. We admit that it is not healthy. Then we blithely shrug our shoulders and ask each other for a stock selection on the basis of a possible 10 per cent or 20 per cent increase in earnings in fiscal 1965."

BOLTON RECALLED resemblances with the late 'twenties. Commercial banks compete for time deposits which are really "substitute demand deposits." The U. S. Government uses "aid funds" to help underdeveloped countries whereas in the '30's private bankers sent dollars round the world with loans which went sour.

In a similar vein, Ralph F. Leach, executive vice president and treasurer of Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., said that the United States has been "buying time" with expedients to correct its balance-of-payments deficit. Instead of allowing interest rates to rise, we have introduced an interest equalization tax and are now trying voluntary restraints.

AS I SEE it, today's gravest danger is over-reliance on the White House. Overconfidence in the President to prolong prosperity indefinitely. This inflates values. Webb & Knapp failed, not because William Zwickendorf was a poor judge of real estate, but because he was an over-confident expander.

Nervous Tension Can Cause Physical Problems

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Can extreme nervous tension or fatigue cause dizziness, sweating and shortness of breath? I am 23 and have had this for over a year. My doctor can find no organic cause. It is getting worse instead of better. — MRS. D.A.C.

Let's put it just a big differently: Tension can cause all of those things, and cause fatigue, too. Sheer fatigue is not likely to cause any of them, except briefly, and that's understandable. If you exhaust yourself from physical exertion, you'll sweat, run out of breath, and may even have some dizziness. But you soon get over them.

When these symptoms develop without exertion — then look for nervous tensions. Don't ask me why our nerves have such strong effects on us. We don't know why. But we know it is so. And if we can relieve the nervous tensions, our bodies go back to normal functioning.

Your letter, Mrs. D.A.C., did not show any return address. I don't know whether you live in a big city or a small town. But I suspect, whether from good reason or just intuition, that your doctor has suspected that your trouble is emotional rather than physical. After all, he has said he can't find any organic cause.

So what do you do now?

First you talk to him on the basis of looking for an emotional cause — in the argot of the 1960's, what's buggin' you?

Under what circumstances do you feel fine — no sweating, no dizzy spells, no shortness of breath, no feeling of being "pooped"?

And under what conditions DO you have these symptoms?

Your first sensible step is to talk this out with your doctor. Let him give you an appointment at a time at which he can sit and listen to you as you tell him what really bothers you. What are the continuing angers, fears, frustrations that get you all wound up in a tense, emotional knot?

After all, tension comes from something. It may not be easy to find the source, but there has to be one. See if, with your doctor's help, you can find a clue.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the difference between rectal polyps and hemorrhoids? After having two children I find that some-

It's Not The Dentist Who Hurts You

If there happens to be a few dark red stains on this copy, it's because I have just come from the dentist. I believe in the profession they call it an extraction; my version was that I had to have a tooth pulled. Can't find the word to describe the process of the cavity filling up, but it seemed like a blood-letting.

IT SHOULD BE distinctly understood that I have great admiration and esteem for dentists. They are among my good friends, and I respect them as professional men. After all, where would we be without dentists and fluorides? We would be without teeth, that's where. On the other hand, if it weren't for some dentists, we would have more teeth than we do.

This business of having mortal fear of going into a dental office is a hang-over of generations ago. There may have been a time when the guy with the forceps climbed up on your chest, prized open your mouth and gave a mighty yank. Not so, any more.

NOWADAYS, they have fancy offices, some in pastel colors; soft easy chairs; all manner of humming gadgetry, right at your elbow; and even better, a pretty girl who stands and watches with intense interest while the fellow in the white jacket goes about his chore.

Truth is, there is no problem in having a tooth pulled—er, pardon, extracted. It's all in the mind. It's a psychological hurdle that seems insurmountable.

A GUY CAN begin to bulge in the middle, and resign himself to the approaching years. He doesn't mind admitting that his feet hurt more than they used to. He can even take baldness with a degree of equanimity, because, after all, it's something that everybody jokes about.

But let the old fellow begin to separate himself from his teeth, and he thinks privately, my gosh, I really AM falling apart. This is the end of my halcyon days.

SO IT IS this dread, not fear of the dentist, that stalks him on the way to the extraction cubicle. As I approached the dentist's office, knowing full well that a pulling—extraction—was imminent, do you think I anticipated any unpleasantness? Certainly not. I just said to myself, there's no use skipping gaily up to his door, you ain't as young as you were—so I sort of shuffled.

Do you think the injection of needles around that infected molar made any difference to me? Positively, no. I just said to myself, this is all for your own good. Do you think the shining of the spotlight down my throat and the approach of the forceps gave me any twinge? Again, negative. I just said to myself, this can't be any worse than the needle.

A FEW LITTLE drops of blood from the cavity, a numbness about the mouth? Take it in stride, I said to myself.

After all, as the dentist said, "You're not the first person who ever had a tooth extracted." And I said, "Yes, but it's the first one that's been extracted from me."

And let's leave it at that. —BOB WHIPKEY

La Enchilada Revolution

WASHINGTON—No matter how people criticize American policy in Viet Nam, no one can take issue with what we've been doing in Central and South America. Our handling of the La Enchilada revolution just a few weeks ago will go down in history as a classic exercise in United States diplomacy.

As you may remember, the tiny country of La Enchilada was ruled by a ruthless dictator named Gen. El Finco, whom our experts referred to as a "strong man." One day, much to our surprise, Gen. El Finco was gunned down in the streets by a group of unhappy military officers who were dissatisfied with what their slot machines were paying off at the officers' club.

THE PEOPLE all cheered the death of El Finco and when the junta leader, Gen. El Tacos, promised democratic elections their enthusiasm knew no bounds.

The elections were held within the year and much to our surprise the winner was a mild-mannered Social-Democrat-Liberal-Anarchist named Don Juan Inbel, who had been teaching at the University of Miami for the last 40 years.

Much to our surprise Don Juan called for land reforms, minimum wage laws, rent control, and cuts in the military budget.

THIS WAS MORE than the armed forces could stand, so much to our surprise they overthrew Don Juan Inbel's democratic government and installed a right wing Radical Nationalist government under the command of Gen. Henrico Henrico.

Henrico Henrico assured the Americans he was anti-Castro, anti-Communist, and anti-ect. And so we immediately recognized his government.

UNFORTUNATELY, Gen. Henrico Henrico was an army officer and, when medals were handed out for the roles the various officers played in the overthrow of the Don Juan Government, he overlooked the air force general, El Gaspacho, who took it on himself to overthrow Henrico Henrico, much, of course, to our surprise.

Gen. El Gaspacho's first order of business as head of state was to reassure the United States that he was anti-Mao, anti-Ho, and anti-Cong. We were so pleased we immediately recognized his government and invited him to visit the New York World's Fair as Robert Moses's guest.

EL GASPACHO appointed his brother-in-law inspector general of the armed forces, which infuriated Adm. Santos dos Santos, and one day he sailed into the capital on a destroyer and fired a shot at the palace. Gen. El Gaspacho immediately sought sanctuary in the Mexican embassy and Santos dos Santos was declared ruler of La Enchilada, a move that the State Department officials assured the press was to the best interests of the Western hemisphere.

In the meantime, the Don Juan forces, with help from four army colonels who had been passed over for promotion, decided to try for a civilian government again.

SANTOS DOS SANTOS immediately called on the American ambassador for help and warned him that if a civilian government was installed it would become Communist.

The word Communist was immediately decoded and sent to the White House. Bells started ringing all over Washington and seven paratrooper divisions were furiously dispatched to La Enchilada.

Don Juan's forces and Santos dos Santos's forces were fighting in the streets. First the U.S. asked the rebels to give up. They refused. Then they asked the Santos forces to give up. They refused. Then they asked that the Communists give up. They couldn't find any Communists.

Hasty Action In The CIA?

WASHINGTON — When it comes to assessing the blame or the praise—depending on the viewpoint — for American military intervention in the Dominican Republic it appears that a newcomer gets a larger share than had been previously appreciated.

FOR VICE ADMIRAL William F. Raborn (Ret.) it was an initial venture as head of the Central Intelligence Agency in shaping the course of a major crisis. From the first he insisted with deeply emotional conviction that the rebellion was Communist-dominated and that "another Cuba" was imminent. He gave the President the list of 55 Communists involved in the rebellion. It was subsequently shown that the list contained a number of obvious errors.

But it was Raborn's gung-ho approach to his task that startled other participants in the high-level conference leading to the decision to send in the Marines.

"I WISH John McConne was still over there running the CIA," one participant said, "and I never thought I'd live to see that day."

This reflects a widespread feeling at the change of command in the agency that has such far-flung powers exercised in almost-total secrecy. There were deep misgivings when President Kennedy named McConne, a wealthy California industrialist and a Republican, to head CIA. He had had only limited experience in intelligence as Under Secretary of the Air Force and chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

THE FEAR was that he would be motivated by a quite unprofessional zeal and a desire to keep in the public eye. But, on the contrary, McConne proved to be a thoroughgoing professional who shunned virtually all public appearances. He won the respect of the top staff built on the foundation of the World War II OSS. For both personal and business reasons he had long wanted to return to California.

Raborn had no experience in intelligence. His distinguished naval career was climaxed with his direction of the planning and construction of the Polaris submarine. In pushing through this notable advance his organizing ability was invaluable.

RABORN'S DEFENDERS say that this is his shakedown cruise in intelligence and it is, therefore, unfair to judge him on his early performance. But the question of temperament is important and here the contrast with McConne is significant.

The admiral's predecessor rarely showed emotion or excitement. He was given to understatement and to a cautious appraisal of the facts and the estimates as assembled by his immediate subordinates whose professionalism he respected.

IN THE VIEW of specialists who observed McConne's operation this was the right approach and particularly for the present occupant of the White House. Restraint and reserve are two qualities that tend to be in short supply in the executive office.

In today's complex and perilous world the direction of a vast intelligence apparatus and the advice based on that operation must be measured against a broad understanding of trends and policies everywhere. A crusading anti-communism, however dedicated, is hardly a substitute, as McConne understood, for the restraint that goes with a farseeing view.

Texas Goodwill Ambassador

George J. Zachariah, Big Spring, president of the Texas Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and H. L. McGurk, Fort Worth, chairman of the board, present Karen Barraga, Austin, the official invitation from Urban Hansen, lord mayor of Copenhagen, to represent Texas at a conference in Denmark.

Austin Girl Is Disabled Envoy

Karen Barraga of Austin is going to Denmark — despite the fact that she is blind and will be getting around in a wheelchair during her three-week stay there.

Karen will represent the Texas Society for Crippled Children and Adults as Texas' Disabled Goodwill Ambassador, said William E. Russell, executive director of the Texas Society for Crippled Children and Adults. She is one of 53 young people selected by the Easter Seal Societies across the nation to accept a unique invitation from official and voluntary agencies and individuals in Denmark for a specially planned cultural and educational visit. All members of the group will be handicapped.

There will be others besides Karen in wheel chairs. There will be the races, national origins, and most prevalent types of disabilities of American boys and girls throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

She will join the 52 other young people in New York on June 21 for a day of orientation and entertainment before taking off via Scandinavian Airlines for Copenhagen on June 22. First event on the schedule is a dinner to be attended by a number of American and foreign notables, given in the Waldorf - Astoria by the Institute for the Crippled and Disabled. There also will be a visit to the World's Fair.

Karen, who was born blind and without the use of her lower legs, has received care and treatment from the Travis County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, an affiliate of the Texas Easter Seal Society. She is a freshman at the University of Texas where she is described by members of the faculty as an excellent student and a "most outstanding" person.

Karen was an honor graduate of McCallum High School, a regular high school in Austin. She plays the piano and composes music, and for years has composed poetry which critics have judged to be outstanding.

Since 1953, Karen has been an avid participant in camp activities, having attended camp for nine consecutive summers at both Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville, and the Soroptomist Camp near Dallas where she was awarded the best camper award in the summer of 1961. The summer of 1964, she was a "camp-aide" at Camp Kysoc near Louisville, Ky.

The Danish hosts have planned a full and varied itinerary for Project DIADEM (Disabled American's Denmark Meeting). The group will participate in the Nordic Youth Congress, observe the traditional Danish celebration of the American Fourth of July at Aalborg, visit historic and scenic places, such as Hans Christian Andersen's home, and Elsinore Castle, scene of "Hamlet," and will be honored guests at official meetings and receptions. There will be tours of Copenhagen and other cities.

Do you ever feel trapped? Do the walls of a meaningless life seem to close in on you sometimes? Here's good news! Every life has a gate, and it is never locked. But it only opens from one side . . . your side.

Seek for the gate with all your heart, and you will find it. Open it, and you will enter a world full of meaning and beauty. You'll step from darkness to light . . . and never look back.

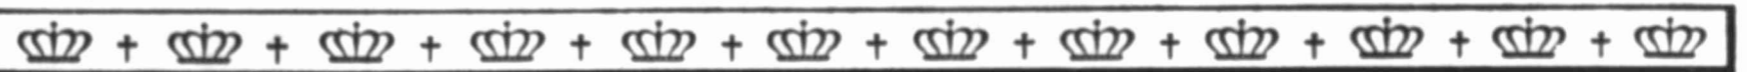

The key? It's waiting for you in Christ's teachings. His Church will help you to find it, and in His service you will discover life's real purpose. Go to church this Sunday, and hear God's words of promise and comfort. They are meant for all who yearn to widen the cramped horizon of their lives. They are meant for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

LOOK AT BOOKS

UNFINISHED REVOLUTION: America And The Third World. By C. L. Sulzberger. Atheneum. $5.95.

Few reporters in the world have traveled more and studied world affairs with a more dispassionate and intellectual eye than C. L. Sulzberger of The New York Times.

His latest book summarizes his views of world affairs today and the United States' position in them.

He offers no pat solutions to the world's multiple problems or those of the United States, but with clarity and authority, which comes from long familiarity with not only current problems but also background, he makes plain the mistakes of the past and the dangers of the future to this country and the world.

Some of his suggestions or remedies will not meet with everyone's approval, but there can be no denying his clear presentation of the problems, since he speaks with the complete authority of a top reporter who has done his research thoroughly.

He writes: "Nor should we be deflected from these reasonable aims by our prejudices, such as inherited distaste for all forms of Socialism or all forms of military rule, or by the prejudices of others, such as anti-Americanism in Asia and Africa and what we may call anti-gringoism in Latin America."

memoirs star Shelley Winters, Robert Taylor, Broderick Crawford and Cesar Romero.

More than just an account of the engrossing aspects of nightlife, the film gives a look at one of the most bizarre eras in American history, the Roaring Twenties and the Tempestuous Thirties.

Polly Adler's rise to notoriety was, in many ways, a typical American success story. She started life as an immigrant worker and became the friend and confidante of not only gangsters, but social leaders, businessmen, politicians, writers and artists.

Polly's place was an elegant and elite East-side salon. She was well read, cultured and worldly. Her clothes were custom designed. Despite the fact that she had been born in Poland and grew up in the ghettos of Williamsburg, Brooklyn, she conducted her business like a Bryn Mawr graduate.

She provided a liaison between professions, big business, and desirable women. Judgeships were bartered in her parlor. Racketeer labor bosses formulated deals there. Police officials were broken or made, and candidates for public offices gained or lost party support as a result of conferences held at Polly's place.

Her house and her family were a well-kept secret that all of New York knew.

Ebensberger Named College Music Head

Gary Ebensberger has been named new chairman of the department of music for Howard State College in Huntsville in 1960 and his M.A. with a major in music in 1962 from SHSC. Between the two he spent two years with Conroe High School.

In 1962 he was given a teaching fellowship as assistant to Dr. Morris Beachy, head of choral organizations at the University of Texas. Ebensberger also directed the men's glee club while he completed his course work on his doctorate in musicology. This summer he will take his exams, and if successful, will begin work on his dissertation for his Ph.D.

Since coming here, he has been in wide demand as a choral judge, and he also conducted a choral clinic for Midland Lee High School. He sings in the Midland - Odessa choral group.

Another job — or challenge as Ebensberger sees it — is to build membership in the college choir. His target is at 50 voices in the group next year.

A graduate of Kerrville High School, Ebensberger attended Sul Ross College for a year, but just long enough to meet his future wife. He took his bachelor of music education with a mafor in voice from Sam Houston State College in Huntsville in 1960 and his M.A. with a major in music in 1962 from SHSC. Between the two he spent two years with Conroe High School. Louise Giannone will project and comment upon color slides taken on her trip to the Maya archaeological zones in February. These slides will illustrate the art and architecture of the ancient civilization. Mrs. Giannone is a native of Colorado City, and her family still resides there. She took her degree in romance languages from the University of Texas where she also took life drawing under Charles Umlauf, noted sculptor. She also has studied for six years with Arnold Leonard, director of the Midland Institute of Fine Arts.

By SYD KRONISH

To honor the 700th anniversary of the birth of the Italian poet Dante Alighieri, the U. S. will issue a 5-cent commemorative stamp on July 17 with first-day ceremonies at San Francisco. The design features a likeness of Dante from a painting by an unknown 16th century artist which hangs in the National Gallery of Art in Washington. Dante wears the laurel wreath symbolic of poetry. A banner above reads "700th anniversary."

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations of the Dante stamp may send their addressed envelopes, together with remittances to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif., prior to July 17. The outside envelope should be marked "First-Day Covers Dante Stamp."

The Post Office Department also announced a change of plans for the Robert Fulton commemorative stamp on Aug. 19. The first day city was originally given as Albany, N. Y., but now will take place at Clermont, N. Y. First-day requests already sent to Albany will still be honored and transferred to Clermont.

Acapulco Bay Is Setting For New Movie

A brooding and passionate screen romance is told in "Love Has Many Faces," new production in color opening Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre. The setting of the new film is the vacation resort of Acapulco.

"Love Has Many Faces" stars Lana Turner as an heiress who use her millions to win whatever she wants; she wants Cliff Robertson. Robertson and Hugh O'Brien also star, the former as the "beach boy" who has married millions, the latter as a colleague still playing the field, romancing and even blackmailing the lonely, love-hungry women whom he meets on the hot sands of the Acapulco beaches.

Other stars are Stefanie Powers, as "the outsider," refreshing American girl who becomes involved in the intrigues and passions around her, and especially with Robertson. Ruth Roman and Virginia Greg play vacationing Americans, and Ron Husmann stars as a "beach boy."

"Love Has Many Faces" is set aboard a 65-foot yacht, at anchor in Acapulco Bay, in a mansion on Acapulco "hill" overlooking the expanse of the resort town, and on a "ganaderia" (a ranch which raises bulls for the bullring) outside Mexico City. Coupled with these settings are locations in some of the hotels of the seaside mecca, and on the beaches.

MacLaine, Ustinov Star In 'Goldfarb'

Shirley MacLaine plays a journalist assigned to cover a mid-eastern potentate's harem in the comedy, "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home," which opens today at the Ritz Theatre. Peter Ustinov co-stars as the potentate, King Fawz, with Richard Crenna as John Goldfarb, an American U-2 pilot and former football star downed in the Kingdom of Fawzia.

The main components of the plot are football and international intrigue. Old King Fawz loves his oldest son, who in turn loves football. When Goldfarb crashes in Fawzia, the wheels begin to spin in Fawz' head when he learns that Goldfarb is a famous football player. The shrewd king uses his powers in the arena of world politics to coerce the U.S. to send an American football team to Fawzia to play the Fawz U. team.

Like "Irma La Douce" and "What a Way to Go!," "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home" offers a variety of comic situations to showcase the talents of Shirley MacLaine. As magazine reporter, harem favorite and cheerleader, Miss MacLaine is up to her neck in the goings-on in the Kingdom of Fawzia. A highlight of her performance is a hilarious 95-yard touchdown run for Fawz U.

John Goldfarb is played by Richard Crenna who is young, handsome, skilled at the kind of bungling called for in his role. Crenna is a familiar personality to TV viewers, due to his roles on "Our Miss Brooks," and "The Real McCoys."

THREE TIMES IN THIS CITY

Dr. Clyde Smith Closing Long Ministry Here

By PRESTON MAYNARD
When the soft-spoken minister who first began preaching as a young man in far northeast Texas, steps from the pulpit of the First Methodist Church next Sunday, he can look back over a career spanning 40 years of service.

And Dr. H. Clyde Smith is looking to a new future, guiding young men who today are taking the same steps into the ministry which he took in 1923 when he became pastor of a little church of some 75 worshippers in the dusty West Texas town of Roaring Springs.

"I'm actually not retiring," he said with a smile. "I expect to be as busy as I have ever been."

His plans are to work with young ministers who are training at McMurry College in Abilene and serve as a supply pastor for smaller churches which are often unable to obtain experienced pastors to fill their pulpits.

"I see an opportunity there I want to give myself to," he pointed out. "I am excited about that work."

The move to Abilene is one the Smiths are especially anticipating as they have three daughters with their children living in the city.

"Mrs. Smith has a built-in baby-sitting job awaiting her," he smiled.

His ministry first began at Cameron, Tex., in 1923.

"When I knew I was to be a preacher, I had some sort of premonition, a feeling that my ministry would be in this part of the country," he recalled.

"I was surprised and bewildered when I was sent to the little town of Queen City. It was just in the opposite direction of where I thought I would go. The town is located in far northeast Texas, near where Dr. Smith was reared in Hughes Springs, Tex.

"I guess it sort of tried my faith," he said. "And it bothered me some, but I went on."

About three months later a letter came from the district superintendent saying a minister had died at Roaring Springs and he wanted the young preacher to take the pulpit there. His period of waiting was over and the doorway was opened for his first pastorate in this area.

"This convinced me there's One who knows the future better than we do," he pointed out. His career in West Texas has seen Dr. Smith become one of the rare ministers to serve two churches for two terms each, the First Methodist Church of Big Spring and the San Jacinto Church of Amarillo.

He has been in Big Spring during three periods, first as pastor from 1941 to 1946, then as superintendent of the district, from 1957 until 1963 and for the past two years again as pastor. He was at the Amarillo church from 1935 until 1941 and again from 1954 until 1957.

CHILDREN'S CHILDREN
During the past two years, he has performed marriage ceremonies for children of couples he married during his pastorate here in the 1940's. Other couples he has married these past two years he had baptized as children. And he has performed the funeral services for some who were in his congregation here in the 1940's.

"These have been rich and sometimes sad experiences for me. I have been fortunate in that people have allowed me to become close to them and have come to me with their problems. People here have been gracious and wonderful to us," he said.

Dr. Smith said today's churches deal more in organization. Laymen are better prepared but people are perhaps more reserved.

But from the little church of 75 persons to the congregation of 1,700 today, Dr. Smith sees little difference.

CHALLENGE
"I felt challenged by the first church I pastored, I felt I needed to give every minute of my time to it," he recalled. "I haven't felt differently of the larger churches. The larger church is simply the smaller church multiplied."

"Through the years I've especially enjoyed the evangelistic phase," he said. He has preached for 150 to 200 revival meetings.

Two texts stand out in his mind as favorites. In the 103rd Psalm are the words, "Bless the Lord, O my soul: And all that is within me, bless his holy name."

"I have preached that as often as I could," Dr. Smith said. "It expresses my feeling that there is One who is good to us beyond what we ever realize, that He holds our destiny in His hand more than we ever realize."

And in the Fifth Chapter of St. Matthew are the words, "Blessed are the pure in heart: For they shall see God."

"As important as theological training is, I don't think you really find God in the classroom," Dr. Smith pointed out. "The man who may not know what the word theology means may yet find God to be real to him."

A sermon on the Christian home and family gains a response not always received from others, Dr. Smith added.

WORDS OF ADVICE
He has some words of advice to offer young ministers. They should fix their eyes on men who have done well in the ministry, then study and work.

"Preaching isn't a gift. It's something you succeed at by working." A minister should be able to ignore things that irritate him and remember that people are imperfect. He should pay attention to children in the church.

Their eyes are fixed on you and they're pretty keen," he said.

In addition to his time in Big Spring and Amarillo, Dr. Smith's career includes pastorates at Happy, 1927 to 1931; Tanoka, 1931 to 1935; and Pampa, 1946 to 1949. He was superintendent of the Abilene district from 1949 to 1954.

He has studied at West Texas State University and Southern Methodist University. In 1952 he was awarded an honorary doctor of divinity degree by McMurry College.

Four Area Students Chosen To Attend Nuclear Confab

Four students and four teachers from Big Spring area high schools have been selected to attend the Fifth Texas Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas June 6-9 under the sponsorship of Texas Electric Service Company, it was announced today by R. L. Beale, manager.

The students selected from Big Spring and surrounding area to attend the sessions in Austin are William Charles Brown of Ira, student at Big Spring High; Larry Alan Newman, Coahoma High; Sammy Jack Tarbet of Ackery, student at Sands High; and Charles Michael Hoch, Garden City High. They will be accompanied by their teachers, Lael M. Roberts, Big Spring High; P. A. Wynn, Coahoma High; Eddie Gill Jr., Sands High; and Edward Glenn Phillips, Garden City High. The symposium, which is for outstanding science students and their teachers, is sponsored jointly by the University of Texas and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, made up of 10 investor-owned electric utility companies in Texas, including Texas Electric Service Company.

Selection of students and teachers to attend the symposium was made by the schools participating in the program. About 500 students and teachers will attend from throughout the state.

"The purpose of the symposium is to bring to high school science students and teachers information and lectures on nuclear physics and related topics by scientists, and to provide the students with opportunities to obtain answers to their questions on scientific careers and college curricula," Beale said. Among the speakers at the meeting will be some of the nation's outstanding nuclear scientists, including Gerald F. Tape, physicist and member of the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

The program also will inform the students and teachers of the work being done by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, which is co-sponsoring with the General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corporation the world's largest privately-financed research effort in the field of controlled nuclear fusion.

Another feature of this year's program will give the students the opportunity, through the medium of motion picture films, to participate in an actual laboratory experiment in nuclear fusion research being carried out at the university, then check their analyses against a second film.
