Session May Be On Job Till Monday

AUSTIN (AP) — A visit from President Johnson enlivened the legislative scene today as Texas lawmakers face decisions on only a handful of remaining big issues.

The biggest remaining decision of the legislature—Congressional redistricting—was in a joint Conference Committee after house members turned down Senate changes in their congressional reapportionment bill (HB67).

Redistricting may hold the session until Monday. A House Redistricting Committee spokesman said the conference committee on reapportionment for Congress is making progress but may not have its report ready until Monday, the last day the Legislature may work.

Senators were left with the final say on whether to submit to the voters proposed constitutional amendments adding eight senators to the 31-member Senate and doubling House terms to four years. The House approved Conference Committee reports on both measures Thursday.

The top question for lawmakers was "When do we adjourn?" Speaker Ben Barnes has indicated he would like to see the legislature quit today.

It must wind up its business no later than midnight Monday. In a whirlwind day of legislation, lawmakers cleared their desks of these major bills:

—The first streamlining of Texas criminal laws in over a century (SB107) Legislators removed a controversial provision opposed by news editors, creating unprecedented state restrictions on pre-trial crime news coverage.

—House reapportionment (HB-195).

—Reorganization of the Texas Water Commission as a strictly water rights adjudication agency (SB145).

—Vesting statewide water planning in the Texas Water Development Board (SB146).

Also getting final legislative action and passing to the voters was a proposed constitutional amendment (SJR19) doubling the Water Development Fund authorization to $400 million and expanding its purposes to include water pipelines, treatment plants and diversion canals.

UP TO VOTERS House members approved and sent to the voters two proposed constitutional amendments.

One (SJR33) authorizes private organizations to match federal funds for vocational rehabilitation. The $7 million Texas is entitled to receive would be channeled through the state treasury.

The other (HJR81) enables Texas to match federal funds created west of this seaside missile facility. It was a mass of flaming wreckage.

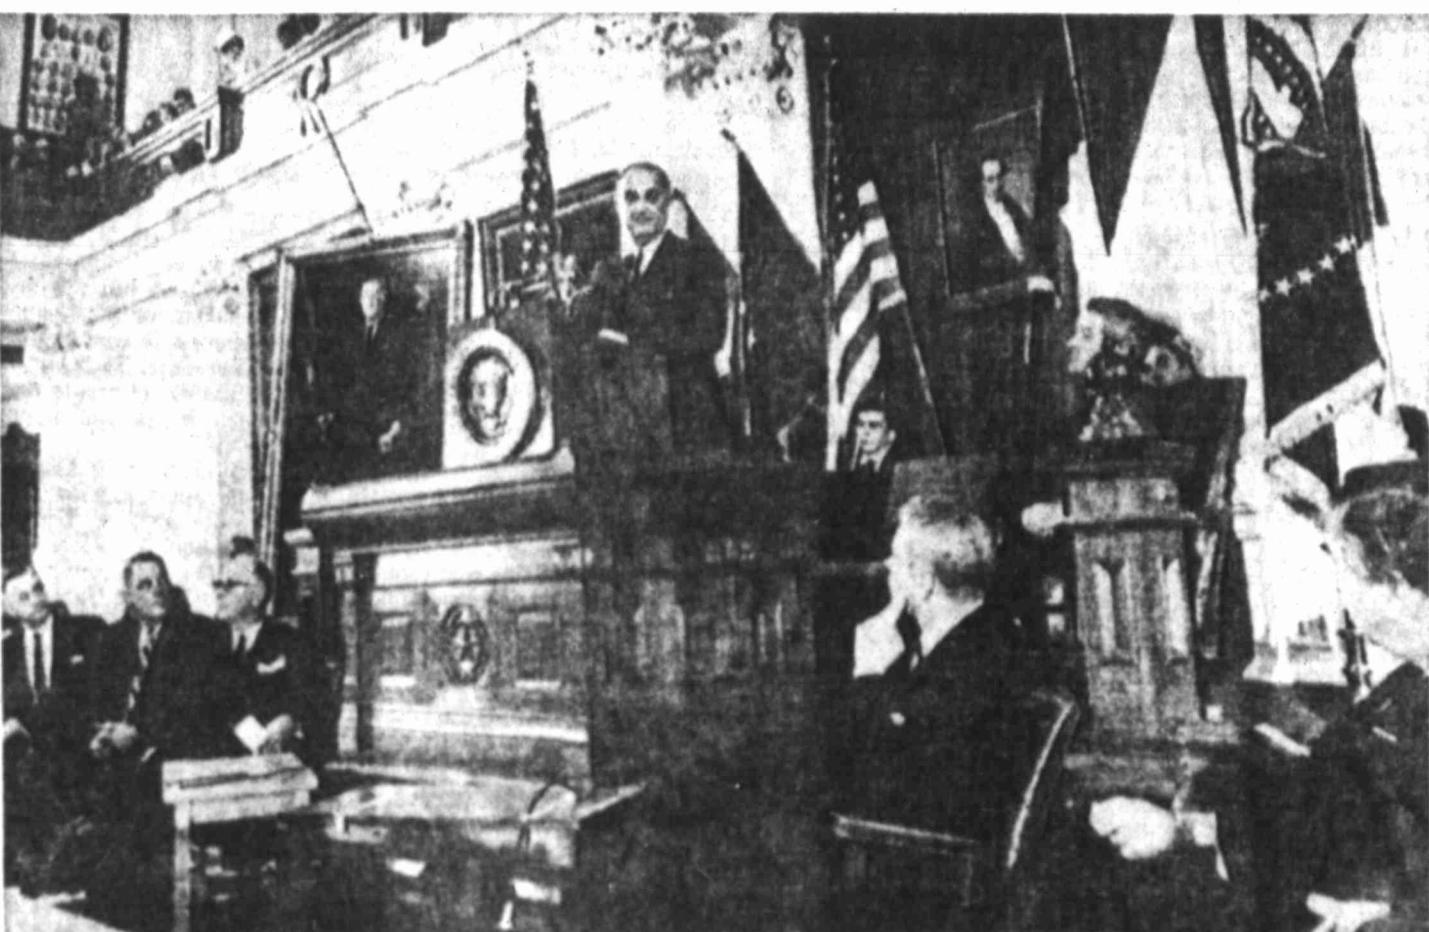

The Air Force said cause of the explosion — which occurred at 7:55 p.m. Thursday — had not been determined.

VIET COPTER CRASH KILLS 9 AMERICANS SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Army helicopters collided in the air and crashed in flames today at the Bien Hoa Air Base.

TEN WOUNDED Ten Marines were wounded, two of them seriously. Six Viet Cong bodies were found and a wounded guerrilla was captured.

The two helicopters collided about 50 to 100 feet up and crashed in an open patch of ground 200 yards from the helicopter area of the Bien Hoa base.

'New World Machinery' Urgent Need, LBJ Says

President Lyndon B. Johnson speaks at a ceremony in the Texas Senate Chamber today where a life-sized portrait of the President was unveiled.

Seated in foreground above are State Senators Louis Crump, Bill Moore, Dorsey Hardeman, House Speaker Ben Barnes and Sen. Culp Krueger. Texas Gov. John Connally sits on right of Senate rostrum. Seated behind the President is Bobby Aikin, son of Sen. A. M. Aikin, dean of the Texas Senate.

Senate Unveils LBJ Portrait

AUSTIN (AP) — President Johnson grinned broadly today as senators unveiled a full-length portrait of the President who was described as "the state's most distinguished Texan."

"I appreciate this very much and I am grateful to each of you," he said, taking a glance occasionally at the portrait that will hang at the front of the ornate state Senate chamber.

The ceremony lasted less than half an hour. President Johnson delayed his trip to Waco to deliver a commencement address at Baylor while he shook hands and chatted with old friends.

1,000 PRESENT More than 1,000 jammed the Senate chamber.

About 20 civil rights pickets greeted the President as he entered the Capitol. He waved to them along with the rest of the crowd of about 200 waiting outside.

Johnson noted that his father for 12 years was in the Texas House.

"Here at my father's side, I charge filed against Cage."

Charge Filed Against Cage RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — While Brazilian authorities continue to process a Texas request for extradition of Ben Jack Cage, a criminal complaint was filed here charging Cage falsified a Brazilian child's birth records.

Under Brazilian law, a parent of a Brazilian-born child cannot be deported or extradited. The complaint, filed by Naomi Belle, alleges Cage made the records show the child as his own when he is actually the son of Arlete Sutter of Petropolis.

Mrs. Belle is the ex-wife of Earl Belle, a former fugitive who returned to the United States and was jailed. A number of Americans who had fled to Brazil returned voluntarily when an extradition treaty was negotiated.

Cage fled to Brazil from Dallas in 1958 after being convicted of embezzling $100,000 and sentenced to ten years in prison.

Brazilian law also protects a naturalized citizen from extradition. Cage was naturalized in 1962.

Bad Battery Cell Might Delay Space Launching

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla (AP) — A bad battery cell today forced postponement of a practice flight for next week's orbital mission by astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White.

President Johnson served both as a Texas Senator and Congressman but he was never a member of the state legislature.

HOUSE ACTS The ceremony Friday was a strict Senate affair but House members passed a resolution Thursday authorizing the hanging of a picture of the president's father some time soon in the capitol.

The resolution noted the father was first elected in 1904 at the age of 27 and sponsored rural road and highway legislation. He also sponsored the first relief program for West Texas farmers and ranchers in the 1917-18 drought and helped pass an appropriation to preserve the Alamo.

Wife Of Singer Seeks Divorce LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lee Jones, 29, wife of singer Jack Jones, filed a suit Thursday for divorce, charging cruelty.

She and the 27-year-old singer were married May 28, 1960, in Riverside County, Calif. They separated last Jan. 16.

SOME CLOSING, SOME NOT FOR MEMORIAL HOLIDAY MONDAY

With Memorial Day falling on Sunday, a substantial part of the business, professional and public places in Big Spring will be closed Monday, but the closing is not uniform.

For years, Memorial Day has been a traditional holiday in the city, but the Retail Merchants Committee at sessions this year voted to eliminate it. However, a number of stores have announced the customary holiday closing.

Banks will operate as usual, under a state-stipulated holiday schedule. City and county offices are to be closed. All normal activities are being suspended at Webb Air Force Base for a long holiday weekend.

The city generally is observing its end-of-the-month Dollar Day promotion on Tuesday, although stores staying open Monday will have these offerings on that day also.

CHICAGO (AP) — Efforts by civil rights groups to force the ouster of Dr. Benjamin C. Willis as superintendent of Chicago's public schools have ended in failure.

Johnson Talks At Baylor University

WACO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson called urgently today for creation of "new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events" such as the outbreak that sent U.S. troops to the Dominican Republic.

At the same time Johnson announced he is issuing orders to withdraw another 1,700 men from the force of about 20,000 Americans in Santo Domingo.

Alluding to original commitment of that U.S. force to the troubled Caribbean nation, the President said: "In those terrible early hours we did what we had to do."

STRESSES FOLLOW-UP But in the next breath he laid stress on the follow-up action of the Organization of American States which has converted the peacekeeping expedition into a hemisphere operation.

"For the first time in history the Organization of American States has created and sent to the soil of an American nation an international peacekeeping military force," Johnson said.

"That may be the greatest achievement of all." In an address prepared for commencement exercises at Baylor University, Johnson put that development even ahead of such items as these in a listing of successes for the forces of democracy:

"A well-trained, disciplined band of Communists was prevented from destroying the hope of Dominican democracy."

"AVENUES OPEN" "Political avenues were opened to help the Dominican people find a Dominican solution to their problems."

And further emphasizing the importance attached to joint action, Johnson made his tabulation of triumphs a preface to his announcement of further withdrawals of Americans now that other hemisphere forces are moving in.

Some 1,600 U.S. troops previously had been pulled out, and Johnson said the U.S. commander has been directed to discuss further reductions with the Organization of American States commander, Brazilian Gen. Penasco Alvim.

"Such action will be taken when the military commanders believe it is safe and warranted by the arrival of further Latin-American forces and by the continued stabilization of the military situation," Johnson said.

TERROR CHAOS But for the future, Johnson said, "We can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos."

Thus, he said, "it is clear that we need new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events. When hours can decide the fate of generations, the moment of decision must become the moment of action."

Johnson said the necessity for quick action is one of "the new realities" made apparent by the Dominican situation.

The President has been criticized in some quarters for not advising other hemisphere nations before announcing his decision April 28 to send military forces to the Dominican Republic.

RED THREAT Today, in discussing the Communist threat within the hemisphere, Johnson said:

"We know that when a Communist group seeks to exploit misery, the entire free inter-American system is put in deadly danger. We also know that these dangers can be found today in many of our lands. There is no trouble anywhere these evil forces will not try to turn to their advantage. We can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos."

'I GOT THAT IN PUERTO RICO' Louis V. Hall, veteran of Spanish-American War Last Of Spanish-American War Kentucky Vols Here

In 1898, when Company B, 13th Kentucky infantry, mustered to ship off to take care of the Spaniards in Puerto Rico, the outfit numbered 1,300 men. One of its members was Louis V. Hall, then 24, a native of Scottsville, Ky., who had answered President McKinley's call for men to liberate the Spanish colonies.

Today, Hall, now 91, claims to be the sole survivor of the Co. B. "They're all gone but me," says Hall, who is a guest at the Bennett House. "I got a letter somewhere that tells how I'm the only one left."

Hall, whose home is in San Angelo, talks much of his military career with old Co. B. He points proudly to a fading tattoo on his left forearm.

"I brought that back with me when I came home from Puerto Rico," he boasts.

The old vet's memory of events on the island are as dim as his tattoo. He has a story of how he swam from this ship in the bay to the shore and of how he was welcomed by the natives. However, he is vague on what caused his decision to swim and where the episode actually happened.

He was recently in the hospital but recovered and is now to be found daily in the lounge at the Bennett House. And he is most eager, if you ask, to tell you about old Co. B.

Five Job Corps Enrollees Placed

Five enrollees in the Job Corps training program have already been accepted in the Big Spring TEC office and sent to Job Corps Training Centers, Leon Kinney, TEC office manager, said today.

Two have been placed in a forestry camp in Arkansas, one in a similar camp in Oregon, another in a camp at Grants, N. M. One was sent to an automobile mechanics training school in California.

Others are being readied for other camps. One will go to New Jersey.

Any youth who has been out of school as long as three months or who has graduated from high school is eligible to apply for the Jobs Corps program. Kinney urged all interested in this activity to contact his office and familiarize themselves with its provisions.

Cotton Seen Having Future

LUBBOCK (AP)—The general chairman of the American Cotton Congress said Friday legislation will not resolve basic long range problems of the industry.

"It is only buying us desperately needed time at best," said Burris C. Jackson of Hillsboro, Tex., in remarks prepared for delivery here at Friday's one-day 26th annual session.

HOLD KEY
Research and free markets hold the key to cotton's future, he said.

"At the present time, we are depending on a price subsidy of 6 1/2 cents a pound," he said. "Our potential for reducing costs, however, is at least 11 cents per pound. This has been fully documented by the research staff of the National Cotton Council."

Jackson said the administration is looking for ways to cut the cost of agricultural subsidy programs.

"We're going to have to convince Washington that cotton's existence will not always be dependant on heavy, continuing government subsidies," he declared. "And if we ourselves are not sure we can survive otherwise, then I'm afraid there isn't much hope for the cotton industry."

TO INDEPENDENCE

He said the industry needs government legislation that will permit cotton to make the transition to independence. That kind of program, Jackson added, would provide for both the small farmers and larger producers, emphasize market expansion rather than reduced acreage and implement a $10 million dollar crash research program as was authorized in the Cooley Bill.

"I, for one, am confident cotton does have a future," Jackson said, "and a future that will find it standing on its own feet."

Oklahoma Oil Output Trimmed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oil production in five Oklahoma counties was curtailed for June and July because of insufficient market demand.

The Corporation Commission Thursday set June and July allowable the same as May. Production will be restricted to 70 per cent of April pipeline runs in Alfalfa, Garfield, Kingfisher, Logan and Major counties.

Actor Plays It Cool, And Wait Pays Off

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"The acting business is like fishing. If you're really desperate to land that big catch, you'll never make it. But if you play it cool, you might come up with a whopper."

The allusion came quite naturally to Lee Marvin, who would rather fish than act — almost. He was poised to leave for a deep-sea tournament in Mexico and he exulted over finding a rare, imported fishhook quite by accident in a hardware store. You'd have thought he had won an Oscar.

Come to think of it, he might do just that. The talk around town is that Marvin will be a front-runner for the Oscar next year because of his rip-snorting, double-barreled role in "Cat Ballou."

LIKE STORM

Not only that, the raw-boned, tuba-voiced actor comes on like a tropical hurricane in "Ship of Fools," according to preview reports. It might even turn into a Marvin vs. Marvin race in the coming Oscar derby.

All this somewhat amazes Marvin, who isn't exactly a debt star. "I've been acting for 18 years and I've been in pictures for 15," he remarked. "I waited a long time for this to happen — and now I get two in a row! Boy, it feels good!"

Marvin admitted there were many years when he despaired of ever hitting the heights. Son of a New York advertising executive, Lee didn't think much about acting until after his wartime service in the Marines. He got interested in a little theater in Woodstock, N.Y., studied at the American Theater Wing under the GI bill and apprenticed in off-Broadway and television.

FIRST FILM

His first film was "You're in the Navy Now" with Gary Cooper, and he quickly became a serviceable young character actor. No pretty boy, he couldn't rise above his status.

He saw an out in a television series, "M Squad." His reasoning: "Everybody knew me, but nobody knew my name. Every young actor should do a TV series to establish himself. That's the only way you can stand out from the crowd."

His labors for "M Squad" have brought him a half-million dollars. That gave him the independence to play it cool and wait for that big catch. Lee was 40 before it arrived, but the wait was worth it.

More Signups Are Needed For Tractor Course

Leon Kinney, office manager of the Big Spring Texas Employment Commission office, said that the tractor operation training class slated to be held here is still short of the total number of students desired.

"The training program starts on Monday," said Kinney. "So far we have only 10 students signed. We need 20. Anyone interested in the program is urged to contact our office before Monday."

The classes run 10 weeks. Each student, who is head of a family and can show need, will be allowed up to $35 a week support pay while he completes his training. Kinney said there is an acute shortage of tractor operators and that jobs are assured for all who complete the course.

Individuals, who are either unemployed or underemployed, are eligible to enroll. The classes are conducted by the Howard County Junior College under an agreement with the TEC and the Federal Manpower Training Program.

physicians and interns at Los Angeles County General Hospital, miffed by a pay raise of less than $10 a month, are flooding the huge facility with patients. He says the doctors are calling it a "heal in."

County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who said the protest was described to his office Thursday, called it "a deliberate ploy to disrupt good hospital service."

Hahn said the strategy among the 200 interns and 350 physicians was to admit as many patients as possible, and at the same time, retain patients longer than normally would be the case.

Flight's Length Leading Point To Astronaut

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— Astronaut Edward H. White II says the long-duration goal of the Gemini spacecraft is more important than his plan to take a walk in space.

White and astronaut James A. McDivitt are to start a four-day orbit trip June 3 to determine how well men and equipment withstand prolonged exposure to the space environment.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Tuesday that White would open his hatch and, if there are no difficulties, leave the spacecraft for about 12 minutes on the end of a 25-foot lifeline. The feat would match the March 18 space stroll of Russia's Alexei Leonov.

House Approves HemisFair Fund

AUSTIN (AP)—A bill authorizing $4.5 million for San Antonio's 1968 HemisFair won House approval Thursday, 115-26.

The bill (SB166) returns to the Senate for concurrence in a minor amendment.

Dallas Rep. John Wright tried to insert an appropriation for his city's State Fair of Texas, and Houston Rep. W. S. Miller attempted to get funds for a research building at the University of Houston. Rep. Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio beat down both tries.

Conservation Of Soil Emphasized

The importance of conserving soil as a means of insuring food and fiber for the people of the world was stressed in a brief talk by Herb Stoner, soil chemist with the Soil Conservation Service, Thursday noon.

He was speaking to the Big Spring Kiwanis Club. He also showed a film on the methods followed by the soil conservationists in their efforts to restore eroded and wasted lands and to rebuild impoverished soils to productive levels.

George Sultemeier was program chairman for the day. It was the club's program presented by its agricultural committee.

The annual Kiwanis Picnic, with the wives of the Kiwanians in charge, will be held on the evening of June 17.

BSHS Graduates Its Biggest Class

Heavy clouds, high winds, and a sudden threat of rain failed to drive Big Spring High School commencement exercises indoors last night as 337 diplomas were awarded at Memorial Stadium. The west stand was almost filled for the outdoor service which was delayed a few minutes to allow late arrivals to be seated.

There were 101 more graduates this year than the 236 receiving diplomas last year. The mid-term graduates brought the total for this school year up to 42 to 379, easily an all-time record for BSHS.

As the program began, a recessionary played by Kerry Lynn O'Brien, brought the graduates from the east stand, in two lines, to the chairs provided in front of the audience and the speakers stand. Following the invocation by Beverly Ann Womack, Class President Weldon Owens McMeans Jr. made an address on challenges to Americans.

Kathryn Seddon, valedictorian, followed the a cappella choir's rendition of "In Peace and Joy I Now Depart," with an address on the meaning of education and its opportunities. Pat Hamilton then spoke on the meaning of success as something one must make for himself.

High School Principal John Smith certified the graduates to the administration and Supt. Sam Anderson declared them graduated. As Assistant Principal Harold Bentley introduced graduates, School Board members Jimmy Felts and Dr. Carl Marcum handed out the diplomas.

Guidance Counselor Wayne Bonner, called the names of 38 graduates who were members of the National Honor Society, and 38 who were named as honor students.

"There is some difference in these," he said. "The National Honor Society students are those who make a grade average of 90 or above, during a semester, and are invited into the society on the basis of scholarship and citizenship. The honor students are those who have made an average of 90 or above during their entire four years of high school."

The school board awards to those making the National Merit Scholarship list, were given by Board President Harold Talbot to Kathryn Seddon, John Richard Thomas, Nancy Jane Thomas, and Richard Ream.

Scholarship awards, and their recipients were: American Association of University Women, to Cynthia Nolan; Association of Insurance Underwriters, to John Bennett; Hyperion Club, to Robert Settles; Distributive Education, to Jerry Wayne Power; National Honor Society, to Sheryl Lynn Dittich; Future Teachers of America, extension of last year's scholarship to Elizabeth Whitley for one year.

Following the benediction by John Harmon Bennett Jr., the graduates left the stadium on the recessionary played by Virginia Jean Cox. As they went through the gates on each end of the east stands, some of the male graduates released four years of pent-up dignity in the forms of rebel yells and Indian war whoops.

Millionaire's Grandchild Claims She's Disinherited

HOUSTON (AP) — A granddaughter of a Texas millionaire has been quoted by the Houston Post as saying she was disinherited by her grandfather because a Negro was in her wedding party Thursday night.

Miss Gladys Brown, 24, granddaughter of industrialist Edgar Brown Jr., of Orange, was married in Maryland to her childhood sweetheart, Sam James, a Marine corporal stationed at Ft. Mead Md.

The best man was Ted Gay, a Detroit Negro Marine friend of James. The bridesmaid was Miss Annette Atkinson of Liberty, Tex., the only other member of the wedding party.

WEALTHY GRANDDAD

Mrs. James is the daughter of Edgar Brown III, also of Orange. The elder Brown is one of Texas' richest men.

"Granddad told me Tuesday that 'if you go through with this you'll never get another penny of my money and I never want to see you again,'" the Post quoted Mrs. James as saying.

Reached by the newspaper, the elder Brown said, "I don't know exactly what I am going to decide about it. People say a lot of things they don't mean."

The father told the Post his daughter's statement "sounded like a crazy little girl."

In Orange, the bride's mother, Mrs. Edgar Brown III, asserted that her daughter was exaggerating.

"I think she exaggerates quite a bit," the mother said. "Really it's quite silly."

FAMILY FIGHT

Mrs. Brown said her daughter's utterance was the result of a family fight.

"She and her granddad had some words on the telephone," Mrs. Brown said. "This is her way of punishing him. I don't think there's anything to it."

Mrs. Brown said she only recently learned when her daughter and James were to marry and noted, "She picked a day when we couldn't make it."

Mrs. Brown said none of the family attended.

City Park Pools Open On Saturday

In event today's weather holds, please take note.

The City Park, Northside (east and west) swimming pools will open Saturday at 1 p.m. Please bring your ice skates.

However, West Texas weather being what it is, Saturday afternoon may be a sizzler and the parks pools in line for a big opener. At any rate, now that school is out, the pools will open, said Johnny Johansen, parks superintendent.

Reduced admission rates, adopted recently by the city commission as an effort to increase pool use, will be in effect for the two North Side pools. Rates there will be 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults. Rates at City Park pool will remain 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults.

Both pools on the North Side have been given fresh coats of blue paint and all city pools have been cleaned and vacuumed. Each pool will be cleaned daily through the summer.

Jimmy Marcus, a teacher and coach at Goliad Junior High School, will be in charge of the city pools this summer. Eight life guards have been employed, each of whom has received YMCA lifesaving certification. The life guards will work in eight-hour shifts during the summer.

Pool hours will be 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. six days each week, with all pools closed on Mondays.

Park workers have been engaged in cleanup work at city parks since the recent rains, Johansen said. The public archery range installed by the city in the 1400 block of Gregg Street will soon be in use, he said. The turf is currently too muddy to allow workers to clean and mow it. Stands have been placed for three targets, which have been given by two parks board members, Jack Watkins and Don Newsom, and by Dibreil's Sporting Goods.

Grass has been sown at the practice field east of the new softball diamond at Eleventh Place and FM 700. Following installation of the lighting system at the softball diamond, grass will be installed in that area. The practice field may be in shape for use for flag football play in the fall and for some baseball practice play in late summer, Johansen said.

$$ Outflow Curb Pressed

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor says he plans to ask an additional 3,000 companies to help curtail the flow of U.S. dollars abroad.

The response from some 500 companies which had been asked to give a balance sheet of their international operations "can only be described as magnificent," Connor said.

Connor made the remarks before the Harvard Business School Club of New York, which honored him with its annual Statesman Award.

Former Engineer Is Gravely Ill

W. R. Couch, former Howard County engineer, is in critical condition in the Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

An engineer with the United States weather bureau regional office in Fort Worth, he was at Amarillo Air Force Base at the time he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. His brother, John Couch, and niece, Martha Couch, of Luther, left Thursday on learning of the attack.

Couch served as county engineer here from Feb. 15, 1949 to July 31, 1951.

Alamo Viewed In New Light

Damage High In Tornadoes, Winds, Hail

By The Associated Press

A massive thunderstorm which spawned tornadoes, high winds and hail inflicted multi-million dollar wounds in a broad belt through North Texas Thursday night and early Friday morning.

The storm raked across a 300-mile-long swath of Texas, striking in the vicinity of Wichita Falls, Tyler, Greenville, Bowie, Henrietta, Lockett, Vernon and Dallas.

Turbulence described as a "possible tornado" whipped through Caddo Mills where two houses were destroyed and debris stopped traffic on US 67. Power was knocked out in the town.

BARGE LOOSED

The high winds broke a fishing barge from its moorings at Lake Tawakoni, carrying a group of fishermen out into the stormy lake. There were no reported injuries and boats were sent for the fishermen to return them to shore.

Hail and wind at Wichita Falls damaged roofs, cars and windows, and power lines were downed. Damage in the city was estimated at $4 million.

About 50 per cent of the wheat crop around Lockett and Vernon was destroyed and telephones were knocked out at Henrietta and Bowie, where other damage was estimated at $750,000 by an insurance appraiser.

At Dallas, wind destroyed a hangar and seven airplanes at Addison Airport. Dallas suburbs of Richardson, Garland and Carrollton were also hit by wind, rain and hail.

LEVEL HOUSES

Winds demolished several houses and overturned trailers at the Cash community in Hunt County, northeast of Dallas.

The Weather Bureau issued severe weather forecasts which followed the storm across the state. The Fort Worth-Dallas area was given an all clear at 4 a.m. but areas eastward to Texarkana were warned to expect turbulence until 6 a.m.

DEAR ABBY Improper Request

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently attended a very lovely dinner party at the home of a friend who always does things just so. Dinner was announced and we all went to the table to find our places. The hostess had place cards. When one lady discovered she was seated next to her own husband, she said loudly, "I don't have to go to a party to sit next to HIM." The hostess immediately switched a few place cards so that the couple was split up. What do you think of such a performance on the part of a guest? And aren't married couples supposed to sit next to each other at dinner parties?

MILANDER

DEAR MILANDER: There is no set rule about seating married couples at an at-home dinner party. But guests should sit where the hostess seats them. And those who complain about the seating arrangement could find themselves sitting home.

Outing At Lake Ends In Tragedy

GREENVILLE (AP)—Michael Ray Sparkman, 18, of Dallas drowned Thursday at Lake Tawakoni while swimming with his wife and another youth.

Investigators said the three were swimming from one boat dock to another, about 50 yards, when Sparkman went under.

I have run into so many situations where they avoid telling you until after the third or fourth visit. I once asked a doctor on my first visit how much he was going to charge me and he said, "If you think I am going to hold you up, you can go to someone else." If you buy merchandise you want to know how much it's going to cost. Why do professional men take this attitude about their services?

Sunday Last Day For Some Pastors

Most Big Spring pastors will be in their pulpits Sunday, and for a few it may be the last time.

The reading of appointments today at the Northwest Texas Methodist conference will have some effect on that. For instance, Dr. H. Clyde Smith will be retiring from fulltime ministry and thus will be leaving the First Methodist pulpit. The Rev. Ramon Navarro, who is in the Rio Grande (Latin-American) Conference, has been assigned to Socorro, N. M., and will be preaching his final sermons here today.

East Fourth Baptist Church will hear the Rev. Preston Denton, who was reared here in the evening service. He is superintendent of city missions in Chicago for Southern Baptists.

Dan Crawford is to supply the

Rev. Duke Begins Ministry Here

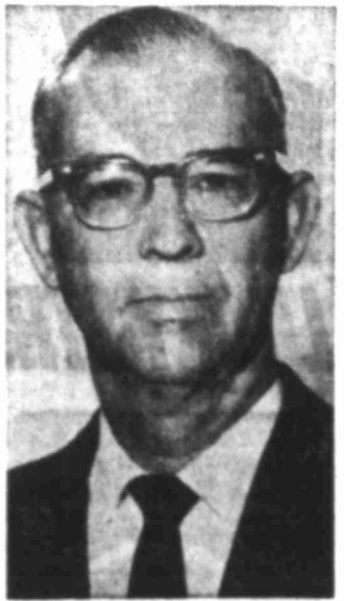

The Rev. D. M. Duke will be in the pulpit of the First Church of the Nazarene here Sunday for the first time as its new minister.

He came here from Wichita Falls where he has served for the past eight years as pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. W. M. Dorrough, former pastor, has gone to Wichita Falls.

Worship is set for 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday at the church.

The Rev. Duke was reared at Wellington and was called to the ministry in 1940, serving first at Memphis, then at Donnell, Plainview, Abert, Cisco and then Wichita Falls.

He served as district president of the Nazarene Young People's Society from 1945-51, as district director of church school activities from 1952-58, as district camp manager for 20 years, and on the executive board of the district with two other ministers and three laymen for the past year.

He and Mrs. Duke have two sons, the Rev. Billy Duke, pastor of the Nazarene church in Holsington, Kan., and Kenneth Duke, Sinton.

Council Leaders Are Selected

FORT WORTH — Three Dallas church and civic leaders have been named to head the Texas Association of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) Development Council.

The announcement was made today by Dr. Dean Harrison, TACC president and minister of Rosemont Christian Church, Dallas. Among those named to head the $5,365,000 Development Program are: Joseph E. Chastain, chairman of the council and Theo. P. Beasley and Charles J. Anthony, vice chairmen.

Included in the program are New Church Development, $2,700,000 for 60 new churches in Texas; a $600,000 educational building on the TCU campus for Britte Divinity School; $400,000 for The United Christian Missionary Society; $600,000 for the National Benevolent Association; $300,000 to construct and furnish a new chapel and religious activities building at Jarvis Christian College, Hawkins; $300,000 for the expanding campus Christian life ministry on campuses; $13,000 for the Disciples of Christ Historical Society; $300,000 for construction of a state office building in Fort Worth.

Built A Church For Themselves

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Talk about bargains, the Trinity Church of the Nazarene in Louisville has a new building valued at $100,000 but it cost only $41,000.

The pastor, the Rev. W. Eudell Milby, acted as general contractor, a line he once pursued before entering the ministry.

It helped, too, because his brother is in the building supply business and could furnish materials at cost. The Rev. William Kelly, a carpenter by trade, was superintendent of construction and members volunteered for most of the work.

Cuban Churches

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—A Baptist minister from Cuba, the Rev. Uxmal Livio Diaz, says the departure of United States missionaries from his homeland amid political tensions has stirred a Christian resurgence.

Membership, lay activity and contributions in the churches have increased to new levels of responsibility, he said, adding: "We live in a socialistic state with an atheistic outlook, but we have experienced that God is not absent from our country and His Lordship is not limited by time or place."

Under Reds

WUPPERTAL, West Germany (AP) — The "longing for the Word of God" is as strong in the Communist-ruled eastern countries as in the West, a Czechoslovak theologian, P. Soucek, told a meeting here.

"In our Evangelical church the Bible is read no less than in other European countries and the danger in the decline in church life is no greater in Czechoslovakia than elsewhere," he said.

New Youth Leader

MADISON, N.J. (AP)—Miss Elmira Kendrick of Ohio, a student at Drew Theological seminary here, is the new president of the National Student Christian Federation.

MINISTERS ORDAINED

Methodists Terminate Busy Annual Conference Session

The 56th annual Northwest Texas Methodist conference headed for a conclusion of a busy and productive session today in Lubbock. Appointments were due to be read during the morning, climaxing the annual gathering which started Tuesday.

Thursday night 17 men were ordained as deacons by Bishop O. Eugene Slater and elders by the conference. Dr. Dow Kirkpatrick, Evanston, Ill., pastor and conference preacher, delivered the ordination sermon.

Bishop Ralph E. Dodge, who has spent 25 years in Africa and was the first Methodist bishop to be named from that continent, also delivered a missionary challenge Thursday.

Polk, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

MAN'S SINS CATCH UP AND VISIT OTHER GENERATIONS

How a man's sins will catch up with him and may be visited on the third to fourth generations of his offspring, is graphically shown in the Sunday School Lesson for May 30. The text is from II Samuel 12:1-10, and the topic is "You Are The Man."

It took the parable of the rich man, who barbecued the poor man's sheep for guests, to prepare David for the accusation, by Nathan, of committing adultery and then being responsible for the death of the woman's husband, and then David's later marriage to the woman.

"You are the man," guilty of taking that which belongs to another, was thrust at David by the prophet in such manner as to make him admit that he had sinned. The king was angered and taken aback when told that God would punish him.

The inevitable consequences of sin cannot be escaped by man, but it is one thing to pay for one's own sins of omission and commission, and to remember that others suffer from these sins, and quite another to be man enough to admit the sin.

God's concern for necessities of people is beyond estimate, but he is never unmindful of our needs.

Though David did not die for his sins, he had four sons who did. They were Bathsheba's firstborn, then Amnon, Absalom, and Adonijah. The latter two revolted against their father's kingly authority and power.

Although it took a prophet's accusation to make David repent of his sins, God forgave him.

Southern Baptists Meet In Dallas

DALLAS (SC) — More than 15,000 Baptists from throughout the nation are expected here June 14 for the Southern Baptist Convention to conduct business of the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

The convention will consider proposals to participate in a proposed North American Baptist Fellowship with seven other Baptist organizations; to limit the term of the convention president to one year; and to adopt a record $21.8 million budget.

RACE ISSUE

The issue of race relations is almost sure to come up during the meeting, convention observers say, possibly in the form of a motion or resolution or in convention speeches.

Some outspoken Baptists from deep South states have clamored for abolition of the denomination's Christian Life Commission which presented recommendations last year on commending churches for accepting Negro members, but most of the top convention leaders doubt the possibility of this coming up from the floor, or of such a proposal's getting far if introduced.

The Mississippi Baptist Convention meeting last November, for example, adopted a resolution opposing the position of the Christian Life Commission, but defeated a section in the resolution which called for the commission's abolition.

A controversy over alleged "ballot stuffing" during voting at the convention in Atlantic City last year probably will not come up during the Dallas

Rev. Denton To Speak

The Rev. Preston Denton, superintendent of city missions for Southern Baptist churches in Chicago, will speak at the Sunday evening worship of East Fourth Baptist Church.

The Rev. and Mrs. Denton will be visiting here during the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Charles Sullivan.

A graduate of Big Spring High School and of Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth, the Rev. Denton served churches in this vicinity in his student days. Most of his ministry, however, has been in Illinois. His sermon, advanced to 6:45 p. m. Sunday, will be accompanied by film. The engagement brings the Rev. Denton back to the church where he felt the call to preach.

Birdwell Baptist Choir To Sing

The choir of the Birdwell Lane Baptist Church will present a concert at 6:30 p. m. Sunday, the Rev. Cal Sims, pastor, announced. There will be a sextet, quartet and trio in addition to the choir. Charles Grizzard is directing, and Mrs. Sims will be organist and Mrs. Grizzard the pianist. The junior choir also will perform.

MEMBER DECLINE

Statistics reflected, for the first time in many years, a membership loss of 461. The year-ending figure was 107,938. The year's 2,758 additions by profession of faith was down from 2,943 the previous year.

Delegates approved an increased allocation for Christian college support in Texas and set a goal based on $1 per member. Approval was given for establishment of a home of older adults at Abilene. About $80,000 of the $120,000 limitation put on it has been raised in land, cash and pledges.

STEVE SPRINGER

Springer To Be Missionary

Steve Springer, former Howard County Junior College student, will leave Monday for Wisconsin as a Baptist Student Union summer missionary. Steve is one of 5 Baptist students from across the state who will be sent by other students at a cost of $18,700. Baptist students combine their efforts and resources to send fellow students around the world.

Baptist students will be serving in East Africa, Honduras, Israel, Jamaica, Jordan, Thailand, and Germany with Southern Baptist Foreign missionaries. Other students will serve on the home field in areas such as Idaho, Indiana, Miami, Wyoming and New Mexico.

Steve will be helping construct a church in Wisconsin along with 14 other students. The foundation has been laid and the students will do the remainder of the work before the end of the summer. Summer missionaries serve without pay as they devote a summer of their lives to a missionary endeavor. Steve's home is in Lenora, and while in Howard County Junior College he served the Baptist Temple as youth director. He is now a student at Baylor University in Waco.

VBS Is Planned At Grace Baptist

A vacation Bible-school will begin at Grace Baptist Church, 109 Wright Street, Monday morning and end June 4. Registration will be Saturday morning from 9 to 11 o'clock, and a parade will be held from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. Saturday with all children participating. All who wish to attend will be welcomed.

The daily schedule for the school is: 9 to 9:05 a. m., offering; 9:05 to 9:25, assembly, announcements, singing; 9:25 to 10:05, general lesson; 10:05 to 10:30, refreshments; 10:30 to 11, work books; 11 to 11:30 a. m., assembly and message.

Graduation certificates will be given out before the Sunday night service June 6, the Rev. Roy E. Honea said.

Community Party Held

The Big Spring Country Club was the setting Thursday evening for a community party honoring a group of officers at Webb Air Force Base and their wives.

A buffet dinner was served following a hospitality hour. Some 90 were present, with more than a score civilian couples playing hosts to the military couples.

It was an informal affair. Recognition was paid to Webb people who have arrived in recent months, and to Col. and Mrs. E. L. Masters, who will be leaving next week. Col. Masters, Air Base Commander, is retiring.

Dizzying Patterns In Arty Fashions

Art and fashion have combined to make some of the most dizzying patterns ever seen in the summer clothes picture. Take a bathing suit from Rose Marie Reid.

It's a crazy, mixed-up pattern of black dots swirling around a modified white bikini and matching shirt. Black and white squares are used in a one-piece one-shouldered suit, the newest look for any number of summer fashions.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: Instead of walking back and forth to the sink to dampen my pressing cloth, I have found my husband's handkerchiefs make marvelous pressing cloths.

I kill two birds with one stone by this method: I lay the handkerchief down on whatever is to be pressed and spray 'til wet, then just press, and presto!

I've ironed a handkerchief and pressed a garment at the same time. Lorraine Sisk Dear Folks:

When I was cleaning the bathroom this morning, I wondered if you all clean your soap dishes the way I do?

I remove the bar of soap, run hot water on a folded wash cloth (a sponge will not work as it is so porous that it cools too quickly) barely wring it out (leave it very wet, but not dripping), then put it on the soap dish. I just forget about it while I clean the rest of the bathroom.

I then rub the soap dish with the wash cloth, and all the built-up soap comes off slick-as-a-whistle!

I follow this procedure every time I clean the bathroom, so it is no trick at all to keep that soap dish shiny and bright. Heloise

P.S. Save your precious time and energy for other tasks, and try my method.

Dear Heloise: I am forever forgetting the leftovers in the refrigerator, so in order to prevent waste, I now tape a note on the outside of the refrigerator door, listing the contents of the refrigerator dishes. This way, I can remember to use them up.

It surely works wonderfully, and the garbage can get fed lots less!!! Hazel Snyder

Dear Ma'am: I am a teenager who watches her weight . . . and it isn't always easy!

When I set the table, I always put a small plate at my place. It doesn't take much food to fill it; I feel like I am having a full-size meal and am perfectly satisfied after eating.

If I used a regular dinner plate, I would feel cheated if I only had a very small helping of each food on the table! Kiah

Dear Heloise: Whenever I make a dress, I make a small square bag from an extra scrap of the material, stuff it with a bit of clean, old, cut-up nylon stocking, sew up the end and put it aside.

When I have accumulated enough of these squares, I stitch them together for an easily laundered, light-weight patch work quilt.

It will also bring back a memory of each dress or outfit I have made. Mary Ann Grimaldi

Dear Heloise: Here is an easy way to turn rubber gloves. (I pack them in the factory).

After pulling the gloves off, if the fingers did not turn, grasp the glove at the wrist with forefingers of each hand, on the inside and give a smart swing, filling the glove with air, bring hands together and, presto, your gloves are turned.

Incidentally, kids will amuse themselves for hours doing this!!! L. L. (Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

A Devotional For The Day

I pray not that thou shouldst take them out of the world, but that thou shouldst keep them from the evil. (John 17:15)
PRAYER: O God, our heavenly Father, we pray that we may have the courage and the desire ever to live in the world as Thy children redeemed by Thy Son Jesus Christ. Give us strength to overcome every temptation to become worldly while living in the world. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

What Kind Of Revolution?

Somewhere within the Department of State some group may be trying to answer a most difficult and complex question. It is this: How can we determine when a "naive revolutionary movement" in the Western Hemisphere is under the control of, or about to be controlled by, Communists?

Ruling oligarchies or military juntas in power will almost automatically charge that any uprising is inspired by Communists. They know now that this is the call best calculated to summon the United States, the hemispheric "fireman."

There always will be Communists associated with violence and unrest in Latin America. Lacking any widespread popular appeal they know that their only hope lies in capitalizing on chaos.

Yet there are also many militant reformers in Latin America. They have come to the conclusion that the lot of the masses cannot be improved without revolutionary violence. They seek social justice. They are the nationalists who believe that the people are entitled to a better life. They are not Communists.

How can we distinguish between the true nationalist reformer and the Communist in a vast continent increasingly in ferment? We had better find an answer to this question. For the Communists not only thrive on chaos, but they will thrive on U.S. intervention that is based on the mistaken conclusion that Communists are about to come to power. If true nationalism is suppressed by U. S. intervention, then communism may well become the only alternative for those who are denied social justice.

Texas Solons Like Their Law

While the "right-to-work" issue will be debated in Congress, which has been asked to outlaw statutes now in existence in 29 states, the temper of Texas seems to be strong for retaining what it has.

The Texas Senate Tuesday approved by a 23-6 vote a resolution calling on Congress not to repeal Section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Act, the section protecting states' authority in such legislation.

Earlier, the Texas House of Representatives had voted a similar resolution by 100-33.

Both these votes are impressive in their majorities. The legislators in Austin are sent there by vote of the people of Texas. Their views—particularly by such overwhelming votes—must be taken as an expression of what the majority of Texans want.

It argues for the fact that the Texas right-to-work legislation has worked no hardships. Senator George Parkhouse in Austin put it another way: "Right-to-work laws have brought more prosperity than any other one thing."

Continued the senator: "If I had a union, I'd run it so good no man would want to stay out. You shouldn't make a man belong to anything whether it's the Ku Klux Klan or the Methodist Church."

Art Buchwald The Issues Of Right To Work

WASHINGTON — While President Johnson's message last week used only a few words to outline a request that Congress forbid the states to maintain any of their laws interfering with compulsory unionization, the administration, through Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, now has given a full explanation of its reasons for sponsoring the move.

MR. WIRTZ declares that "the real issue involved is not widely understood," and he is absolutely right about this. In his testimony, however, before a special labor subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor, he does not really make any better understood as a desirable piece of legislation, though he does make a good case as to why the unions naturally want to collect more dues from persons who are not now members and who, as a matter of principle, do not favor unionization.

The Secretary says that "the principal issue is whether an employer and the representative of his employees are to be free to make an agreement of their own choosing." But this has never really been in dispute. For if it were a mere matter of permitting unions to make agreements with employers, there would be no controversy. It's a fact that by these very agreements persons who do not want to belong to a union are compelled to do so anyway or lose their jobs. The Secretary adds:

"THE REAL ISSUE is whether a company and a labor union should or should not be permitted—so far as the law is concerned—to agree that all employees of the company who are represented by the union should share the expenses of maintaining the union and having it represent them in their dealings with the employer."

This is tantamount to saying that individuals should be compelled to pay the expenses of various organizations whose activities result in benefits for them. The Secretary of Labor argues that all employees should share the cost of negotiating and administering collective bargaining agreements and of the adjustment and settlement of disputes. He describes all employees as "beneficiaries," and remarks that those workers who do not pay such expenses are called "free riders."

Billy Graham

Please answer this question for me. Why did Jesus, when He healed people, tell them to tell no man of the wonders and miracles He performed? Didn't Jesus want them to be witnesses in those days?

T. L.

There are two possible reasons for this.

First, Jesus didn't heal people to be spectacular, or for publicity purposes. He did it because He loved them, and had compassion upon them, and to attest His Sonship. When Mary and Martha sent a message to Jesus about Lazarus' illness, they said: "He whom thou lovest is sick." Jesus had a deep love for all people.

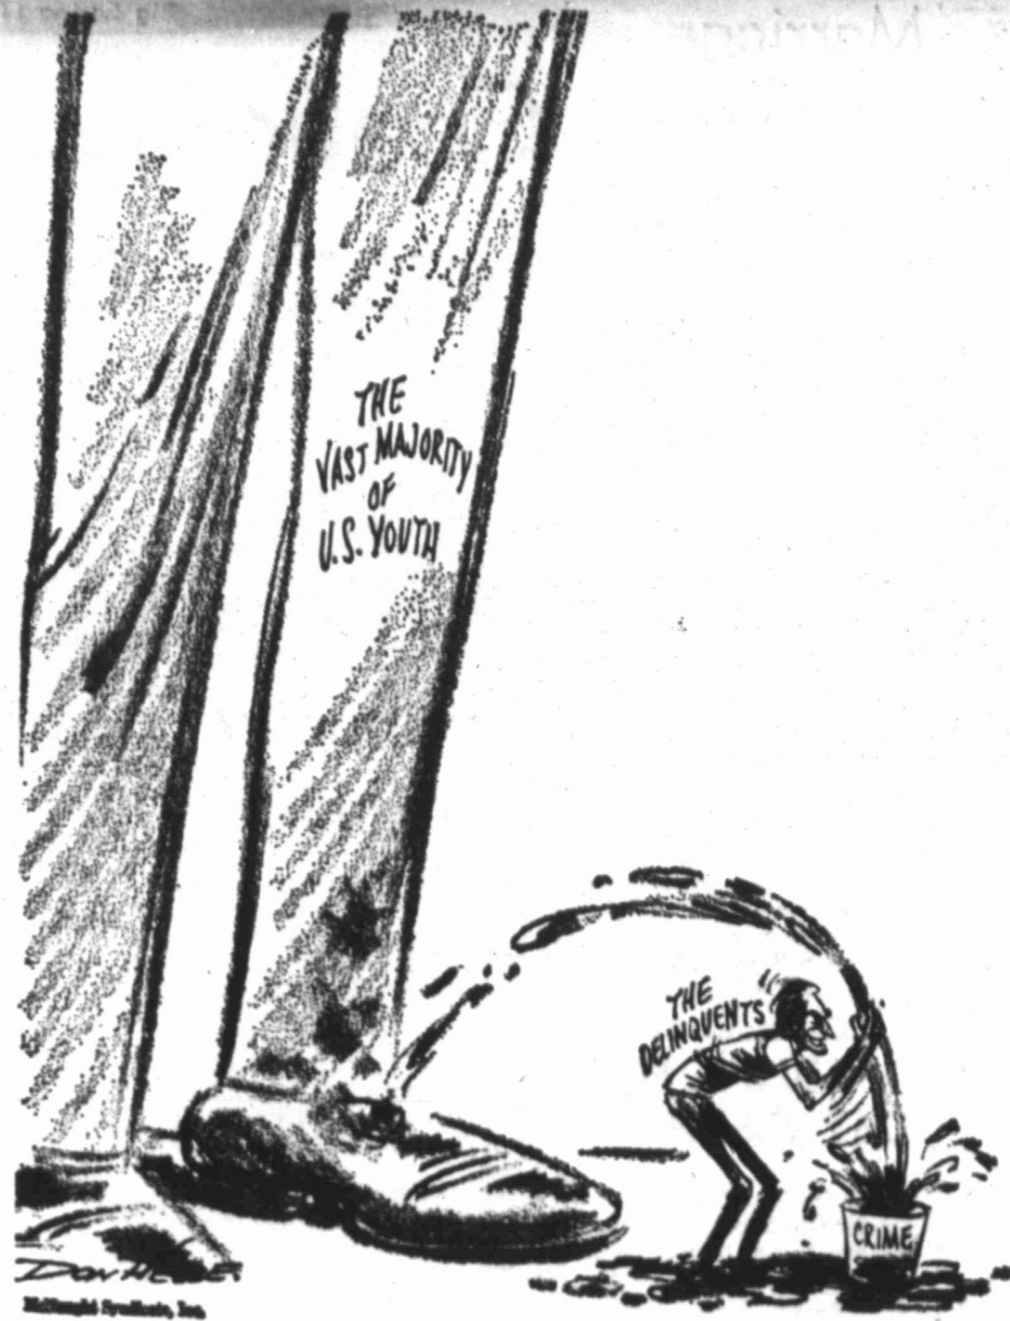

Second, He told people to "tell no man," because He didn't want His "time-schedule" to get out of hand. He didn't want the jealousy and envy of His enemies to send Him to the cross "before His time." Several times He said to the disciples: "Mine hour hath not yet come." He had much work to do, and He didn't want it interrupted by the action of men who might become enraged by His miracles and healings.

Perhaps a third reason might be given. He didn't particularly want to be known as a "miracle worker." Invariably, He gave the glory to God, not Himself, and said that people were healed "that the works of God might be made manifest."

He refused to perform a miracle for King Herod's amusement and curiosity.

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's too quiet. It's like the end of an age.

There's been hardly a time in the past 30 years when the world didn't have at least one loud-mouth, or an eloquent man whose syllables sounded like the footsteps of history, or one who set fear and fury afire.

In those three decades there has been only one real comedian of top stature — Nikita Khrushchev — although he was funny in a grisly way.

But now there's no one in sight to fit any of those categories except Cuba's Fidel Castro, who can shout five hours at a stretch. He's been strangely silent lately, or almost silent.

placement for Gandhi and Nehru is Prime Minister Shastri, a self-effacing little man.

President Truman was not an orator. His greatness was in his vision and his decisiveness. President Eisenhower, who inherited a troubled country in 1952, made a career as keeper of the peace, which didn't need oratory so much as patience.

President Johnson talks a lot, either to newsmen trotting around his rose garden after him or on television. But his memorable words are few. Only three come easily to mind: "The great society."

Johnson, as a figure in history, will probably be remembered, like Truman, more for what he does, or doesn't do, than for what he says.

Marines Have Victorious Hour

LE MY, South Viet Nam (AP) — Fifty yards from the hand-laid rock road some natives were digging graves.

On the edge of the road on straw mats lay those for whom the graves were being dug. They were the bodies of the last two dihard guerrillas in the village of Le My.

"After they wounded one of our men yesterday," explained a U.S. Marine laconically "we cornered them in a house. They hid under a trapdoor. One of our fellows tossed in a grenade—and that did it."

SOME 200 yards up the highway was the mobile jeep headquarters of one of the best-liked men on the battlefield here—Lt. Col. David A. Clement, 48, Jacksonville, Fla., commander of the 2nd Battalion of the U.S. 3rd Marine Regiment.

It was an hour of sweet victory for Clement and his men.

They had just completed a simple but colorful ceremony with local village officials during which they had reopened to traffic two bridges blown up by the Viet Cong.

The burying of the two slain enemy and the reopening of the repaired bridges doubly demonstrated that the key village of Le My had been made secure.

TO LT. Col. Clement, nicknamed "The Great Pacificator," it meant the solution of his biggest problem since he and his 1,000 men landed here early in April. The pacification of the area around the vital Da Nang air base had been a key task assigned to the U.S. Marines.

The Marines suffered a number of casualties in the village. It would have been easy for them to have razed it but this isn't that kind of a war.

The village finally was cleared by a delicate program of grenades for the enemy and good will gestures toward the general population.

Clement, a raw-boned man who weighs 200 pounds and stands three inches over six feet, is a 1945 Annapolis graduate who won a Silver Star as a company commander in Korea. He has six children ranging in age from 18 down to 6.

HE WAS born with a Marine brand on him. His father was the late famed three-star Marine Gen. William T. Clement, one of the most popular officers the corps ever produced.

In six weeks here, Col. Clement's battalion has worked through a 48-square-mile area.

"Some of it is still hostile and we are still conducting operations," he said. "Our most tangible success has been in this village of Le My and we will soon have it operating normally."

Around The Rim Flashback On Graduation

Does graduation ever change? I think not. Nor do the young adults who momentarily slow their pace to avoid the heels of the fellow in front as the processional sounds—and the shortest walk in the world begins.

Last night, for the first time in many years, I tried to remember my own high school graduation and the days that preceded it.

THE YEAR WAS 1942. That should have made it different. World War II continued—with the United States now in it. The Japanese had effected a landing in Manila, Philippine Islands, and forced the surrender of the American-Philippine forces at Bataan and captured Corregidor Fortress in Manila Bay. Rationing of food, clothing and gasoline went into effect under the Office of Price Administration. Air raid sirens were installed and periodic blackout drills were introduced.

THOMAS JEFFERSON High School in Port Arthur was graduating a class of 360—not an unusual number of seniors. The young men who shook hands with their dads and exchanged playful nudges with their buddies weren't worrying about finding a summer job—most of them were going into service. And the girls who hugged each other, and cried a little on their fathers' shoulders, kept glancing at a certain boy—fearfully wondering if he'd be one of those whose name she'd read soon in a casualty column of the newspaper.

OF COURSE, there were wonderful things to remember. We had good schools during both the junior and senior years. Our athletic programs were excellent. We had learned to swim in our indoor school pools, and there were separate gyms for the boys and girls, both beautifully equipped for keeping our bodies slim and supple.

When the senior high school built a field house gym for the boys, the unused one in the main building continued to provide an outlet for youthful energy. That musical monster, the juke box, was in its heyday, and the school board simply bought us one and installed it in the old gym. Certainly solved the problem of students leaving the campus at noon, although I don't remember this being considered a problem in those days. Needless to say, lunches were hurriedly consumed so that the rest of the noon hour could be spent dancing.

I DON'T REMEMBER that parents or "do-gooders" objected to the idea at all, and teachers got a kick out of stopping by to watch the latest jitterbug routines. It may have been tame when compared with today's steps but I notice that a 1938 magazine says, "It is just as wrong to lament the passing of the old-time dance as it is to deplore the riotous, care-free 'swing' era of today."

Wonder if last night's graduates can imagine their parents ever being "Riotous?"

WE HAD a splendid football team—always good and, in the best years—simply fabulous. In those days, the students were consumed with school spirit but some of the adults were filled with other spirits. Sure, there was more fight in some of the spectators than the players. When the band played the fight song, there was always a confused comedian who thought it was his cue, and the brawl had begun. (Don't you remember, Dad?)

TEENAGERS don't change—nor do their temptations. How about morals? That was an individual matter then, just as it is now, and I think that young people set standards for themselves which, like it or not, they are stuck with most of their days. (I have a friend who would like to be a little more worldly but says he's fighting a losing battle with a Baptist background!)

The professional has ended, graduates. Welcome to the club. —JO BRIGHT

Holmes Alexander The War Of Space And Jungle

REDSTONE ARSENAL, Alabama—Last September, in the heat of political battle, President Johnson announced our "ability" to intercept armed enemy satellites in flight. Well—maybe.

A subsequent poll showed that a majority of the American people believes we have an effective anti-missile system in being. I am certain that a poll taken among the missile warriors at this missile research center would not show such ignorance or optimism. Total defense is impossible. Optimum defense is still down the road of the future.

CENTRAL TO the missile defense of continental U.S.A. is the Nike-X system for intercepting enemy missiles that are capable of streaking through space at 300 miles a minute. The hostile projectiles will arrive in a cloud of decoys, making it necessary for our artillerymen to sift out the real warheads before opening fire. The selection — "discrimination" is the military word — gets some help from nature, because the decoys and the warheads travel at different speeds when they re-enter the earth's atmosphere from space. And when the shooting starts, it's a question—as they say here — of "catching bullets with your teeth."

UNDER IDEAL defense conditions — including some advance warning, a bomb shelter program, a workable anti-missile system — the U.S.A. would lose about one-third of the population in a nuclear exchange with Russia and/or Red China. Under less than ideal conditions, we would lose as much as one-half of the population, to say nothing of the destruction of our cities and industries. But the enemy would be at the mercy of our far greater strike capacity.

We would win a nuclear war, though we'd have to start again as a nation — and we still wouldn't have found any easy way to defeat the kind of Communist guerrillas which have engaged us in Southeast Asia and the Caribbean.

AT THE HEART of the Nike-X anti-missile system is a huge steel-and-concrete device called MAR — multi-function array radar. A test model of MAR, which was developed here, sits in a missile range on the New Mexico sands.

When MAR sorts out the live warheads from the decoys, it also commences to fire our interceptor missiles — the Zeus, which is tested, and the Sprint, which is in the early testing period. Given a few more years, we will locate MARs and the rest of the Nike-X system on the south side of our cities, hopefully to intercept Communist warheads roaring across the Arctic, or maybe from submarines.

DISCOURAGINGLY enough, while we spend billions to defend ourselves with these ultra-sophisticated weapons, we are fighting a two-front war in which the knife, the rifle and the hand grenade are said to be even better weapons than the plane and the missile.

The American people, in their prosperity and their remoteness from battle, can hardly understand the multiple cares under which President Johnson works. He does not, perhaps cannot, completely confide in the people. Surely, it is history's earliest hour.

Richard Starnes Red Tape After The Earthquake

ANCHORAGE — Bureaucratic red tape came perilously close to strangling the courageous spirit that is rebuilding Anchorage.

Few Alaskans will put it that bluntly, for they are well aware that without massive federal help Anchorage and its surrounding communities would still be earthquake ruins. But at the same time many are frank to assert that recovery has been slowed by duplication, foot-dragging and a tendency to regard the stricken communities as laboratory case studies instead of towns full of people badly needing help.

IN THE immediate emergency that followed the disaster that befell South Central Alaska on Good Friday, 1964, relief agencies performed heroically. The Corps of Engineers, which assumed responsibility for restoring public service and clearing wreckage, spent $9 million and wrought a miracle. Civil Defense, and units of the armed forces that comprise Alaska's principle industry, worked around the clock in the first ghastly days when the very survival of the battered area was at stake.

BUT WHEN the first emergency had been met and long-term reconstruction was the order of business, Anchorage was inundated in surveys by experts, re-surveys by other experts, charts, graphs, forecasts, projections, and a whole new vocabulary of earthquake expertise, of which "electro-osmotic stabilization" is a specimen example.

Few federal agencies did not get a finger in the pie. Generous grants of federal assistance were accompanied by an equally lavish influx of experts, administrators, graph-drawers, geologists, fixers and soothsayers from Washington.

"THEY CAME in by the plane-load," one bemused Anchorage observer recalls, "and as soon as they got here they started drawing red lines on maps, to show us where we couldn't build things. Before long we got the feeling that we were guinea pigs in a laboratory. Urban Renewal started out by wanting to urban renew all of Anchorage, but we kept whittling away at them until they're down to nothing but the Fourth Avenue slide now."

(The Fourth Avenue slide is a gaping crater in a downtown Anchorage which used to be a large part of the city's business community.)

THE HEART of the controversy between Anchorage's hard-hit but undismayed people and the helpful bureaucrats was in willingness to take risks. To investors with ready cash, the scientists' risk lines meant little. The J. C. Penny Co. has put up a $4 million building on the site of the structure destroyed in the earthquake, and the city abounds in many other examples of damn-the-earthquake gambling.

But those dependent upon federal aid programs were allowed no such risk-taking. Geological surveys had to be completed, risks weighed and bureaucratic dramaturgy satisfied before government-financed reconstruction could go forward.

To Your Good Health Tetanus Inoculation Recommended For All

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: It is said that one can get lockjaw from an injury from a rusty implement. Where I live the water often comes through rusty, due to old pipes, I suppose. Could one get lockjaw if there was a small wound in the mouth or digestive system? — R. M.

Rust has nothing to do with tetanus — lockjaw. Tetanus comes solely from a germ which breeds only in airless places.

The rusty nail idea probably developed because, first, a rusty nail probably has been lying around somewhere in dirty surroundings, and hence may have picked up the germ; second, because a nail or similar object makes a puncture wound. The germ can be trapped deep inside, and begin to multiply once the wound closes over and excludes air. A cut, on the other hand, usually bleeds freely (washing out germs) and is more likely to remain open so air can enter.

So stop worrying about getting lockjaw from rusty water. Nevertheless, let's be up-to-date about things, and take a couple of precautions.

First, the water probably indicates that the pipes need attention. The rust itself won't hurt you. But if a pipe rusts through, making even a small leak, it becomes a place through which some other form of contamination could enter.

Second, the lockjaw germ can lurk anywhere — barnyards, city streets, dirty basements, rubbish heaps or dumps.

If you were hurt in a bad accident of some kind, it would be a routine precaution for doctors to give you an anti-tetanus injection. But what if you pick up the germ from what seems to be a minor injury? A splinter, since it makes a puncture-type wound, can be dangerous.

Your protection against that is to have a tetanus inoculation with a simple booster every five years.

If I had my way, everybody would be protected from infancy throughout life.

Remember, tetanus was virtually unheard of among our troops in World War II despite all the dreadful wounds and the dirty battlefields. Vaccination is the sure way to prevent lockjaw.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is your opinion of testosterone for growing hair? If it is such a miracle drug, why isn't it incorporated in hair tonics and shampoos? — CURLEY

First, because it isn't a miraculous hair-grower. Second, because it is a powerful hormone which must be used with care. It can stimulate hair growth but it can't create new roots where one has become bald.

"Tips On How to Stop Smoking," by Dr. Molner, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Green Tail Light Eyed For Safety

CHICAGO (AP) — As the approaching Memorial Day weekend signals the start of vacation touring, some traffic safety researchers are studying the green light as a possible device to cut the highway death toll.

The proposal is a simple, but radical switch of color in auto and truck tail lights — from red to green. The red lights would not be taken away, but they would flare only when the car ahead was braking or about to turn.

The government and auto makers have shown interest in the idea. They are watching experiments in progress at Indiana University by the motorist's night vision research project.

AWARENESS GAIN

"The green tail lights — we call them position lights — appear to give the motorist a much better awareness of the car ahead than red lights of the same intensity," says Dr. Merrill J. Allen, director of the project. Allen, professor of optometry at the Bloomington, Ind., institution, is one of the safety researchers who believes that what the driver sees, or believes he sees, may be close in importance to the speed factor.

With 48,000 traffic deaths last year — more than 130 every day — it is difficult to realize that driving is actually safer than it used to be, in terms of the number of miles traveled between fatal accidents.

However, the fact remains that in 1925, when there were only about 20 million cars in the country, the annual motor vehicle death toll was about 21,000.

HIGH SPEED

The 48,000 toll last year came with more than 85 million vehicles rolling up well over 800 billion miles. The annual total of vehicle miles has jumped by more than 50 billion since 1960, partly because of the development of high speed turnpikes.

Turnpikes were expected to make driving safer — and statistics indicate that they have. The National Safety Council estimates that last year's accident death rate on the rural roads of all classes was 7.6 per 100 million miles of vehicle travel. The death rate on turnpikes was 2.5 — one-third as high. Both were up slightly from the year before.

Increased use of the high-speed interstate routes has cut the death rate on older highways, the council says, from 9.7 per 100 million miles to 5.1, principally because there's less driving pressure on them now.

But the 2.5 per 100 million miles death rate on supposedly safe routes has safety engineers uncomfortable.

President, Solons Discuss Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson met with Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress Thursday to review developments in Viet Nam, the Dominican Republic and other world trouble spots.

Press secretary George E. Reedy described the lengthy session as "one of his (Johnson's) periodic meetings to keep Congress informed on all developments affecting the policies of this government."

There apparently was no emergency situation involved in Johnson's decision — which was not announced in advance — to meet with the congressional chiefs.

OAS Made 'Paymaster' In Dominica

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The United States gave the Organization of American States a new lever against the bankrupt Dominican junta today by making it paymaster for government employees.

OAS Secretary-General Jose A. Mora announced that Washington has given his organization $6 million to pay the salaries of government workers loyal to either the junta or rebel factions.

Mora said troops from the newly created Inter-American Force have been stationed inside the bank to prevent the junta from using the funds to pay salaries.

Criminal Code Bill OKd; News Restriction Removed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A massive revision of the Texas criminal code won final legislative approval Thursday after a controversial section restricting pre-trial coverage of crime news was removed.

The bill (SB107), representing years of study and legislative persuasion by the State Bar of Texas, goes to Gov. John Connally for signature.

VITAL COMPROMISE

Rep. Dudley Mann of El Paso and Sen. Dorsey Hardeman, San Angelo, indicated in floor speeches that removal of the pre-trial news restriction was a necessary compromise to get the bill passed.

"The press wanted it out of there," Mann said.

News editors and newspaper, radio and television organizations protested the proposed restriction as a threat to freedom of the press. The pre-trial coverage section also raised fears, expressed in public statements, that the limitations might lead to abuses in law enforcement.

WERE ADDED

The restrictions were not in the original state bar bill, but were added in Mann's house criminal jurisprudence committee, and elaborated in a joint conference committee report.

Included in the proposed rules was a prohibition on releases to the public of "statements concerning evidence or arguments in a case, whether or not it is expected that the evidence will be used at trial." The prohibitions applied to judges, prosecuting attorneys and other law enforcement officers.

Both houses rejected the first conference committee report and called for a new one. The final report states merely: "It is the duty of the trial court, the attorney representing the state, the attorney representing the accused, and all officers of the law to insure to the defendant a fair trial upon the presumption of innocence and at the same time afford the public the benefits of a free press."

The House last week rejected two attempts to remove or soften the restrictions written by Mann's committee before sending the bill to conference.

Russia Accuses Peking Of War Instigation Plot

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union implied today that Communist China is instigating a world war over Viet Nam as the only way to unite the divided world Communist movement.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, in one of the sharpest attacks on Chinese policy in recent weeks, wrote: "It would be incorrect to hold that only a world war can bring about the unity of the socialist camp and of all the world Communist movement."

AVERT THREAT

"Marxist-Leninists see their task not in waiting for a world war to break out, but in averting a chain of events that is liable to trigger it off by the joint actions of the progressive democratic forces."

Pravda's criticism of Chinese intractability in current East-West crises was made in an article based on Lenin's critique of hard-line leftists in his book "Left-wing Communism, an Infantile Disorder."

Observers here said the article appeared to be an expression of the Soviets' smoldering resentment at Peking's opposition to efforts toward reaching a peaceful settlement of the Viet Nam crisis.

Condemning the refusal of the Chinese to bury their differences with Moscow despite the explosive Viet Nam crisis, Pravda said: "References to existing interparty differences can in no way justify the refusal to fight jointly against imperialist aggression."

FURTHER REBUKE

The Pravda article also reproached the Chinese for refusing to cooperate in Moscow's new drive to forge "united fronts" of foreign leftist and non-Communist elements throughout the world.

"This has become an important requisite for combating the aggressive forces of imperialism on an international scale and also within each capitalist state," the article said.

Army Explores Weapon In Air

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is working to develop a weapons technique it calls electronic warfare — the intentional use of radio interference to balk and confuse an enemy.

The program also contemplates the use of space satellites for tactical warfare communications — but probably not until the 1970-1980 period.

Army communications experts disclosed the once-secret plans at a panel presentation before 6,000 delegates to the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association annual meeting ending today.

Enlarged-Senate Decision At Hand

AUSTIN (AP)—Senators faced the final decision Friday whether to ask Texas voters to enlarge the Senate and double House members' terms to four years.

House members Thursday accepted, 111-35, a conference committee report on the Senate's proposed constitutional amendment (SJR44) adding eight senators to the 31-member body.

The representatives first turned down, then approved a conference committee report on a proposed constitutional change (SJR47) giving themselves four-year terms.

UP TO VOTERS?
The Senate quit Thursday without action on the two reports.

Voters would decide on the 39-member Senate at a special Sept. 7 election, with a decision at the November general election on the four-year House terms proposal. The proposed constitutional amendment giving governors four-year terms will be on the same November ballot.

The 39-member Senate plan is aimed at preserving the jobs of all incumbent senators after re-appointment to give heavier representation to the state's populous urban areas.

Both houses have completed action on a bill realigning Senate districts with the present 31-member makeup.

SATISFY FEARS
The four-year House terms proposal contains a provision expressly designed to satisfy Senate fears that House members, secure in four-year terms, might try more often to replace senators. The provision prohibits House members from running for the Senate during the first three years of their terms.

The House first voted 89-51 for the four-year terms proposal, but this was short of the two-thirds vote needed for approval of the conference report. A fast moving campaign to switch votes turned the trick, however, and the measure was approved, 108-37.

'Hatchet Man' Said At Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has told the Senate the Johnson administration is "determined to save Bobby Baker from legal prosecution at all costs."

He pictured the administration in a speech this week as "desperate" to shift public attention from what he called influence peddling by Baker, who was secretary to Senate Democrats when President Johnson was the Senate Democratic leader.

The senator said this is why a Senate Rules Committee "hatchet man" has been leaning to the press stories designed to discredit Williams' lone-wolf investigations which forced the committee's investigations of Baker. He called the leaks "diabolical" and "damnable at attempts at character assassination."

The committee is attempting to complete a final report of findings in its investigation of Baker's lucrative business deals while he was a $19,600-a-year secretary to the Senate's Democrats.

Pinning The First Poppy

Mrs. Joene Miller, chairman, pins the first Buddy Poppy sold on the lapel of Sheriff Aubrey Standard. Saturday all Howard County residents are urged by Mayor George Zachariah to follow this example as members of the VFW Auxiliary, American Legion Junior Auxiliary, the VFW-sponsored Little Leaguers and some Boy Scouts as individuals offer the famous Poppies for sale. Buddy Poppies are handmade by disabled veterans, and all proceeds go to relief of disabled veterans and their dependents.

Ghana Lake Inundates Hundreds Of Villages

AKOSOMBO, Ghana (AP)—Six hundred villages have been inundated by a lake backed up behind the completed Volta River Dam, and 80,000 Ghanaians had to move.

The Volta River Authority made elaborate plans but found the two-year resettlement program a delicate matter for small farmers long rooted to tiny jungle plots near obscure hamlets.

Some 12,500 "nuclear-type" houses were built in 52 replacement villages. They are concrete-wood-aluminum structures with a single combined room per family. Inhabitants were expected to add two other rooms themselves with materials supplied by the government.

The self-help involved in completing the homes has required more government assistance than originally planned, says Frank J. Dobson, a Canadian who heads the Volta River Authority.

The $196-million Volta River hydroelectric scheme is a multi-purpose project designed after the Tennessee Valley Authority.

It aims to control flooding on the Volta River, provide enough electricity for all southern Ghana with enough left over to power an aluminum smelter, attract new industry and provide thousands of jobs.

The man-made lake of 3,275 square miles covers 4 per cent of Ghana's surface.

Thousands Of Families Off Poverty List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Approximately 464,000 American families took a giant step last year. Their income edged over the $3,000 mark — and out of what the administration defines as the "poverty bracket."

At the happier end of the scale, a Census Bureau report today also showed, the number of families with incomes of $10,000 or more increased by 1.4 million.

MIDDLE GROUP
And the median — middle — income increased too from $6,249 to $6,569. That's a 5-per cent jump from 1963 and 57-per cent from 1954. Prices also rose, though, so the increase in purchasing power was only 4 per cent.

The median income is the exact middle income for the 47.8 million American families. That is, half of them are below that level and half above.

Some 17.6 per cent of American families, or 8.4 million, had incomes below $3,000 compared to 18.5 per cent in 1963. Almost 32 per cent had incomes below $3,000 in 1954.

$10,000 MINIMUM
Some 10,800,000 families had incomes of $10,000 or more in 1964. This represented 22 per cent compared to 20 per cent in 1963 and less than 6 per cent in 1954.

More than one out of every 20 families had incomes of at least $15,000 compared to one out of 100 in 1954.

The median income of Negro families was $5,814 compared to $7,720 for whites. Thirty-seven per cent of Negro families were below the poverty line while 15.4 per cent of white families were in that category. Only 8.3 per cent of Negro families had incomes above $10,000.

Martin Gains Wildcat Test

A wildcat location has been staked to test the San Andres 17 miles northwest of Stanton in Martin County, and a Mitchell County discovery completion filed.

Healey & LeBlond will drill No. 1 Mabee to 5,000 feet to prospect for the San Andres, 6 1/2 miles east of the Mabee (San Andres) field. It is spotted 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east lines of section 7-38-1n, G&MBA survey. Midland Operating Co. has completed a wildcat discovery six miles northwest of Westbrook in Mitchell County. The discovery pumped 84 barrels of 24 gravity oil, with 40 per cent water, from perforations at 2,598-3,247 feet in the No. 1 R. S. Brennan and others. Formation was fractured with 25,000 gallons.

The hole was drilled to 3,366 feet and tested, following which the operator squeezed off the lower perforations and began testing at the higher elevation.

Location in the Westbrook (Clear Fork) area was spotted 2,213 feet from the south and 877 feet from the west lines of section 3-28-1n, T&P survey.

The well is on the northwest edge of the Westbrook (Clear Fork) field, but separated from the field by depleted producers.

City Enjoys Cool Winds

Following brief but strong wind and heavy clouds boiling up south of Big Spring last night, a norther dropped the low last night at 60 degrees and held it until well after 8 a.m. No rain or severe weather was reported in the Howard County area.

The cool winds this morning apparently came off hail and from the cooler weather to the north.

Texas Electric Service Co. reported that only one of their stations in West Texas had any rain or hail. That was at Eskola east of Sweetwater where 47 inch moisture fell. There also was heavy hail which did some damage. Glass was broken from windows in the station, but no estimate was made of other damage in that area.

Soil temperature, which has not risen above 70 degrees more than a couple of days at the Experiment Station, was at 69 degrees at 8 a.m. today, and is expected to drop for the 8 a.m. reading Saturday.

Many farmers have put seed in the ground and a few have cotton up. Some may have to plant over, but the number of these farmers is not great following rains last Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning.

Stanton Drops From Program

STANTON (SC)—Stanton has backed off from the "Head Start" program. Supt. Beryl D. Clinton, said that the trustees had reviewed plans for implementing the program here, then unanimously voted not to go ahead with the program.

Legislative Election Field Is Limited To Three Men

Harold Hall, Big Spring auto parts store operator and member of the Republican party, filed Thursday as a last minute candidate for the post of State representative from the 78th Legislative District.

His entry into the race brought the number of candidates to three. Frank Hardesty, drug store operator and county Democratic leader, and Roger D. Brown, an attorney, also a Democrat, had filed previously for the post.

The election will be on June 28.

The party affiliation of the candidates will not be shown on the ballot. The candidate who receives the largest number of votes will be elected.

The election is made necessary by the death May 4 of Ed J. Carpenter, serving his second term in the Texas House of Representatives. Deadline for candidates to file with the secretary of state was midnight Thursday.

Hall, 43, made his debut in politics in 1964 when he ran for county commissioner. He won the Republican nomination but lost to Joe Hayden, present county commissioner from Precinct 3.

Hall lives at 407 Hillside.

Now that the lists have closed, as soon as the official entries from the secretary of state are received, ballots will be ordered for the special election.

Report Card Day Closes Schools

Most of the 7,000 students in Big Spring schools picked up their report cards at 9 a.m. today and departed rejoicing. A few flum ones didn't make the grade.

And some of these will be back Monday to register for summer school. Added to these will be others who are trying to make up subjects missed.

Dr. Lynn Ainsworth, director of educational services, warned students to hold on to their book cards and report cards for the beginning of school next year, especially if they are to attend another school.

"Students who have not returned all books, or who owe fees and fines, will receive grade cards when these are taken care of," he said. "Not too many lose books, or end the year owing fees, but occasionally we have to hold up grades until settlement is made."

All students, from elementary through high school, will register at the high school building for summer school.

Harold Hall Files For Post Before Deadline

Harold Hall, who filed Thursday as candidate for representative from the 78th Legislative District, has lived in Big Spring for more than 35 years.

He operates an auto parts store bearing his name and located at 508 Gregg.

His initial experience in politics in the county came in 1964 when he filed for commissioner, Precinct 3, and ran as a Republican for the post. He was defeated by Joe Hayden, present commissioner.

His home is 407 Hillside.

He came to Big Spring from Coleman County with his family—his father was the late G. W. Hall—in 1928. He finished school in Big Spring and served for three years, mostly overseas, with the USAF.

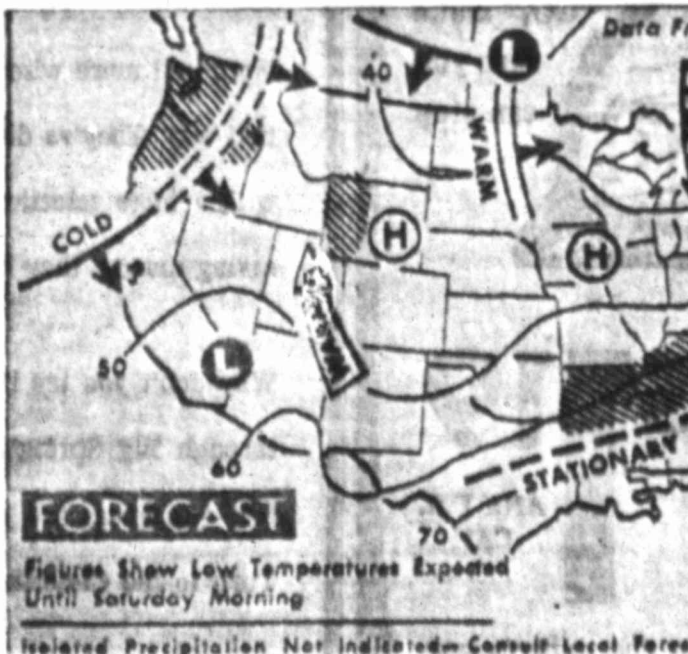

After discharge from the service in December 1945, he opened his store here. He and Mrs. Hall, the former Dorothy Hayward, have three sons, ages 16, 15 and 13. He is affiliated with the First Christian Church.

Hall is an ardent sportsman and has been active in Little League and Teenage baseball.

He has served as a director of the Big Spring Country Club and is a member of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and of the YMCA.

Dead Miners In Hundreds In India Blast

By CONRAD FINK
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A tremendous pre-dawn explosion ripped through a coal mine near the eastern Indian town of Dhanbad today, killing 200 miners and killing or trapping perhaps 200 more.

The Ministry of Mines in New Delhi gave the figure of 200 known killed and said the death toll might reach 400.

Reports from the scene said the force of the explosion was so great that a blast shot up the mine shaft and killed men working on the surface.

One Indian newsmen at Dhanbad said an engine room and nearby office on the surface had been devastated by the blast.

The ministry said the explosion occurred at the worst possible moment—at shift changing time, when the number of miners underground was double a normal shift.

Ministry officials said indications were that coal dust was responsible for the explosion.

Coal dust can gather in explosive quantities in mines, even hanging suspended in the air. Under the right conditions, a spark can set off an explosion.

President's Policy Backed

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Postmaster General James A. Farley said Thursday the late Sir Winston Churchill told him in 1947 that the Western powers should attack the Russians "with the full atomic arsenal" if the Russians did not get out of Europe.

Farley mentioned the former British prime minister during a defense of President Johnson's Viet Nam policy. He said he believed Churchill would have endorsed Johnson's actions.

Farley, who will be 77 Sunday, spoke at a pre-birthday news conference.

Hearing Set For Scurry College Bid

The State Board of Education on June 3 will consider Scurry County's third application for a junior college district. Petitions have been circulated in the county supporting the request for a junior college. Badger Robertson is chairman of the chamber of commerce junior college committee at Snyder.

Twice before the State Board of Education has turned down proposals for a junior college at Snyder.

This year a movement was under way for a request to annex Scurry County to the Howard County Junior College district, but the proposal has not materialized due to problems of board representation.

Dick Schofield Big Man In Giants' Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Shortstop Dick Schofield, the newest member of the Giants, was telling about shopping for a place to live in San Francisco. "A lady showed me a place and she wanted $700 a month," he said. "She must think I'm Willie Mays."

Maybe the lady was doing him a favor. Mays is hitting .368. But Schofield is hitting .389 for the Giants.

Schofield, who wound up with San Francisco in a shortstop swap that sent Jose Pagan to Pittsburgh, hit safely in his fifth consecutive game for the Giants Thursday, driving in three runs with a double and a single in a 9-2 victory over Cincinnati.

The 30-year-old switch hitter now has stroked seven hits, including three doubles, in 18 at-bats for the Giants. Pagan, who was hitting .205 when he was traded, has yet to play for the Pirates.

Elsewhere in the National League, the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers edged Milwaukee 3-2. Houston whipped St. Louis 6-1 and the New York Mets outlasted the Chicago Cubs 8-5. The Pittsburgh-Philadelphia game was rained out.

Schofield started his performance when he drew a walk in the third inning and scored on singles by Jesus Alou and Willie McWay, putting the Giants ahead to stay 2-1. He then slapped a two-run single in a three-run fourth-inning uprising and ended the scoring with a run-producing double in the eighth.

The Dodgers won it in the ninth as Willie Davis singled, moved to third on an intentional walk and Jim Lefebvre's infield hit and scored when Denny Lemaster issued a walk to pinch-hitter Al Ferrara.

Lemaster, now 2-3 locked in a pitching duel with Johnny Podres, 3-0, took a four-hitter into the ninth.

The Astros put it out of reach against the Cardinals in the first two innings, scoring three runs with only two hits off Ray Washburn.

Dick Groat's throwing error on an attempted inning-ending doubleplay in the second inning led in two runs after Houston had scored in the first when Eddie Kasko doubled and came around on an infield out and Lee Maye's sacrifice fly.

Jim Wynn hit his eighth homer for the Astros while Dick Farrell brought his record to 4-1 by scattering seven hits.

Ed Kranepool, Johnny Lewis and Ron Swoboda drove in seven of the Mets' eight runs against the Cubs.

Lewis doubled and Kranepool hit a sacrifice fly in a two-run first, Kranepool slapped a two-run double as the Mets made it 5-0 in the second inning and Swoboda stroked a two-run single that tugged the bulge to 7-0 in the fourth.

St. Louis (12-10) defeated Houston (12-9) 3-2 on May 28. The Astros put it out of reach against the Cardinals in the first two innings, scoring three runs Abilene Christian's Gale Harrison and Texas A&M's Gil Smith are in the 20.8 class and Mickey Miller, Oklahoma State, has 21.0.

A high class field in the 880 included George Hunt of Texas Southern, John and Dave Perry and Jim Metcalf of Oklahoma State, Lee Calhoun of Oklahoma State, East Texas State's Roger Kirkwood and Charles Christmas of Abilene Christian.

Christmas, the Texas leader in the half (1:05.1) and the mile (4:09.8) will compete in both events.

SAN ANGELO — Charley West, the only three-sport athlete at San Angelo College, will not return for his sophomore year of competition.

West, a Big Spring product, informed athletic director Max Bumgardner of his decision Monday. The all-conference catcher said he wanted to concentrate on baseball and would seek a school which gave baseball scholarships.

West led the grid team in pass receiving and the basketball team in all batting categories. He was also a member of the basketball team.

Bolt Leader In Festival

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The race for the $15,700 top money in the $7,500 "500" Festival Open Golf Tournament started like a poor man's parade, with veteran Tommy Bolt in the lead.

Solons May Hear Cassius, Liston

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston may square off again — on Capitol Hill.

The senior Republican on the potent House Interstate Commerce Committee, Rep. William L. Springer of Illinois, says he can't see how "you can get around calling Liston and Clay" to testify when the committee holds hearings on chairman Oren Harris' bill to create a federal boxing commission.

Harris has promised quick hearings on the bill. It would include authority to forbid accounts of a fight to be carried in interstate commerce — by wire services, radio or television — if the commission found any evidence of collusion, bribery, racketeering or terrorism.

Harris' bill was thrown into the hopper against a backdrop of widespread congressional criticism of heavyweight champion Clay's one-round knockout of Liston Tuesday night in Lewiston, Maine.

In recent years, there have been many calls on Capitol Hill to do something about boxing, but nothing has been done. This time there appears to be a mood that could force action.

Rep. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., strapping son of former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney, said in a statement that the Clay-Liston fight was "another example of the reason that boxing has fallen into such ill repute in this country."

Tunney and Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., had earlier introduced bills to ban monopolistic practices in boxing. The bills have been referred to the House Judiciary Committee.

Among the other two-under-par 69 shooters, Claude King is 45th in winnings, Joe Campbell is 54th and Doug Ford is 55th. Art Wall has won only $5,062.50, and Joe Kirkwood Jr., an infrequent tourney contender, is not listed.

Top-money man Jack Nicklaus did not enter the tournament.

Doug Sanders, second in earnings this year, withdrew on the 17th hole because of a thumb injury. He was four over par for the distance, including a 9 on the 12th hole.

Greentree, chosen as the site for this year's tournament because the Speedway Course is being rebuilt, plays harder than Speedway.

The rain has come. Planting to be done. Time to plan for vacation fun.

Your Mercury dealer invites you to compare

Mercury's fuel economy with the fuel economy claimed for competitors' outboards.

At Lake N, Florida, Mercurys and competitors brands were tested under identical conditions. All Mercs, from 3.9 to 100 horsepower, outman competitive brands of comparable horsepower, yet averaged more miles per gallon throughout their speed range.

- Our 35 delivers 97% to 20% more miles per gallon than their 20, depending on boat speed.
- Our 20 ranges from 26% to 87% more miles per gallon than their 15.
- Our 9.8 yields 27% to 64% more miles per gallon than their 9.5 at various boat speeds.
- Our 6 gets 43% to 48% more miles per gallon than their 5 1/2.
- Our 3.9 goes up to 20% farther per gallon than their 3 in the speed range most used by fishermen.

Mercury's emphasis is on fuel economy — not oil economy. Good lubrication spells longevity and survival. Wasteful warranties are no substitute for proper lubrication. Save where it's safe, and where the savings are big — on fuel. Your Mercury dealer will show you why Mercurys give you more HUN for your money — 100, 90, 65, 50, 35, 20, 9.8, 6 and 3.9 hp.

- The Merc 900 averages 30% more miles per gallon than the competitors' 75. Furthermore, the Merc 900 can outrun it by 4 mph and still use less fuel.
- The Merc 650 gives more miles per gallon than one of the competitive 60s at all speeds. At the "other" 60's top speed, the Merc 650 shows 38% better fuel mileage.
- At "their" 40's most economical speed, our 50 still gives 18% more fuel mileage. At our most economical speed, the difference increases to 36%.

Purcell Wheat Price Support Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill introduced Thursday by Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., would extend the voluntary wheat marketing program through 1969.

Purcell said the program for diverting land from wheat would be continued, with a higher limit on the number of acres of additional voluntary diversion for each farm.

The bill, approved Wednesday by a House wheat subcommittee Purcell heads, would set the price support for wheat consumed in this country at 100 per cent of parity, now about $2.55 a bushel. Parity is a yardstick designed to provide a fair return for the farmer in relation to his costs.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York World's Fair executive committee has decided to retain the $2.50 adult admission price despite a last-minute plea by Mayor Robert F. Wagner for a reduction.

Opening lead: Jack of ♣
A brilliant collaboration by the defenders led to declarer's downfall in today's hand.

The contract of three no trump was reached by North and South with reasonable dispatch. North might have chosen to rebid one no trump instead of two clubs, for his values were well distributed. South's jump on the second round was proper holding 13 points, for a mere rebid of two no trump would not be forcing.

West gave careful consideration to his opening lead. He quickly ruled out spades, for it appeared that too much assistance was required from partner to develop that into a fruitful source of attack. The same thing was true of diamonds, nor did it appear attractive to lead a heart, the suit bid by declarer.

By a process of elimination, West decided to try clubs in the hope of connecting with partner. He accordingly opened the jack of clubs. The king was put up from dummy and East signaled with the seven. Altho he would have liked to exhibit greater enthusiasm over West's lead, he could not spare a higher card. By ducking the first trick, he assured the eventual run of the entire suit provided that West could get in to lead clubs once more.

A diamond was led to the ace at trick two and declarer continued with the queen. When East showed out, West's jack was finessed on the next round. A total of five tricks were taken in diamonds—on which East had to find four discards. He gave up two hearts and two spades, holding on to his clubs for dear life.

In order to develop a ninth trick, South was obliged to drive out the ace of hearts. When the king was led, West played the ace and then returned the three of clubs thru the dummy's holding which was now headed by the ten. East won the trick with the nine, picked up the remainder of the suit with the ace and queen and then cashed the setting trick with the four of clubs.

Despite the flawless performance by the defense, South could have frustrated their efforts by permitting West to hold the first trick with the jack of clubs. This blocks the run of the suit and limits the opposition to a maximum of three club tricks and one heart.

Intervention In Dominica Saved Lives

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — If U.S. Marines had not landed here Communist police might now be patrolling the narrow streets of this historic Caribbean capital and Communist rulers might sit in the National Palace. Or perhaps not.

But the United States did intervene in this battered capital a month ago today and there are still about 20,000 American troops on hand.

They and more than 1,000 Latin-American troops, forming an unprecedented Inter-American Force, hold a buffer zone separating rival junta and rebel factions while diplomats and politicians seek a way to settle the interrupted revolution peacefully.

TRIMS FORCE
The United States this week began trimming its forces by withdrawing the first Marines to land. Their places were taken by Latin-American contingents from Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Brazil. A Brazilian contingent of about 1,200 men is still arriving.

From President Johnson on down, U.S. officials are still convinced that in the first days of revolutionary violence that broke over Santo Domingo April 24, there was considerably more than a 50 per cent chance that Communist leaders would seize power.

But still the question of what would have happened if the United States had not sent troops is highly controversial.

DEBATABLE ISSUE

No one has accused the rebel leader, Col. Francisco Caamano Dero, of being a Communist. President Johnson's charge in a speech May 2 was that "Communist conspirators" had gotten control of politicians. Historians will debate the issue for years.

That many more people would have been killed without U.S. intervention is, however, much less debatable. For following the Saturday on which the junta government of President Donald Reid Cabral was overthrown, many army officers and troops defected from government forces to join the uprising. Armaments were opened and arms flowed to the civilians in the rebel-controlled streets.

For days after that, bullets whizzed among the palm trees, machine guns speared death at the intersections, and armed bands roamed the business and residential sections looking for enemies. Snipers abounded on the rooftops and behind windows.

SINCE 1916
In 1916, with a major internal upheaval threatening to spill into civil war, President Woodrow Wilson sent in Marines to pacify a country that might become involved in German action in World War I.

The Marines stayed until 1924, and, some Dominicans claim, continuing U.S. influences opened the door of power to Rafael Leonidas Trujillo, whose dictatorship began in 1930 and ran until 1961, when he was assassinated.

In 1963 Juan Bosch became the country's first freely elected president since 1924. He inherited an unbalanced political and economic situation.

Bosch tried to build — by methods many say were over-hasty or politically inept — a democratic structure of government. He was overthrown when the traditional ruling classes and the military felt themselves threatened by a new constitution. The succeeding U.S.-backed junta of President Reid Cabral ran afoul of severe economic problems, got caught in the same military-civilian quarrels that had trapped Bosch, and fell also in late April.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli paratroopers and infantrymen made three raids into neighboring Jordan Thursday night and claimed destruction of a fuel depot and six buildings used as bases for sabotage raids on Israel.

A Jordanian military spokesman said the Israelis, in blowing up two farmhouses, killed two farmers and two children and injured four other farmers. The Israelis said they made sure all the buildings were uninhabited before destroying them.

ISRAELIS WOUNDED
An Israeli communique said seven Israeli soldiers were injured, four seriously, when a grenade exploded accidentally as they were returning to Israel.

The Jordanian spokesman said Jordanian forces clashed with two of the Israeli patrols, injuring the commander of one of them. Neither side reported any Jordanian military casualties.

The Jordan government said it reported the attacks to the Arab Joint Supreme Command, the current Cairo meeting of the Arab premiers and the U.N. Security Council. It also called for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission in Jerusalem.

STAY IN LINE
The spokesman said Jordan would not retaliate for the raids because it had previously told the Arab command in Cairo it would retaliate to an Israeli attack only in accordance with the unified command's plans, not on its own.

ISRAELI PARATROOPERS, INFANTRY ATTACK JORDAN
TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli paratroopers and infantrymen made three raids into neighboring Jordan Thursday night and claimed destruction of a fuel depot and six buildings used as bases for sabotage raids on Israel.

Phone Number Change Due
Harry Sawyer, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company manager, reminded Big Spring telephone customers again today that approximately 900 telephone numbers here will change when the 1965 issue of the telephone directory is released in July.

All of the customers involved in the change have been notified by letter and follow-up post card, said Sawyer, but that he wants to make sure that all customers remember that the numbers will be changed. The new telephone directory which Sawyer said will be mailed to customers on July 8 will have a special box at the top of the right corner on the cover which will remind customers that all telephone numbers starting with AMherst 44 have been changed to numbers which start with AMherst 3-7.

"I want to emphasize again," the manager said, "that changing telephone numbers is not something that we like to do. But it is necessary to meet the constant demand for more telephone service in Big Spring.
