Astronauts Describe Trip

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Edward White described today how he got the superb photographs of his space walk during his Gemini 4 flight with James McDivitt.

White narrated the film as it was shown during a press conference at the space center here.

Earlier, McDivitt described his unsuccessful rendezvous attempt with the Titan rocket booster which launched them into orbit June 3.

TOO PRESSED
White said he and McDivitt agreed they were too pressed for time to try the space walk on the second orbit, as planned, and decided to postpone it one orbit.

White said he had some difficulty mounting the camera outside the spacecraft.

At Least Two Killed In Burning Hotel

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Fire swept through the sprawling century-old Victoria Hotel today, taking at least 2 lives, injuring 15 persons and leaving 4 more missing.

Two bodies were recovered from the ruins and firemen began searching for other victims. The three-story hotel is located near the business district of this central New Jersey community.

ESCAPE
More than 100 permanent and transient guests escaped the burning building located across the street from the main fire department headquarters.

A telephone dispatcher at the fire house spotted flames shooting from the second floor of the building and turned in the first alarm at 2:36 a.m. The blaze was brought under control at 5 a.m.

Police said 12 persons were injured, including a policeman who suffered deep smoke inhalation in an attempt to rescue a 93-year-old woman trapped in the building.

The officer, patrolman Robert Miller, was placed in an intensive-care unit at Muhlenberg Hospital and reported responding to treatment.

The woman, Frances Van Horn, was listed in good condition at the hospital.

COLLAPSED
Police said Miller collapsed after rescuing 10 or 12 persons inside the building.

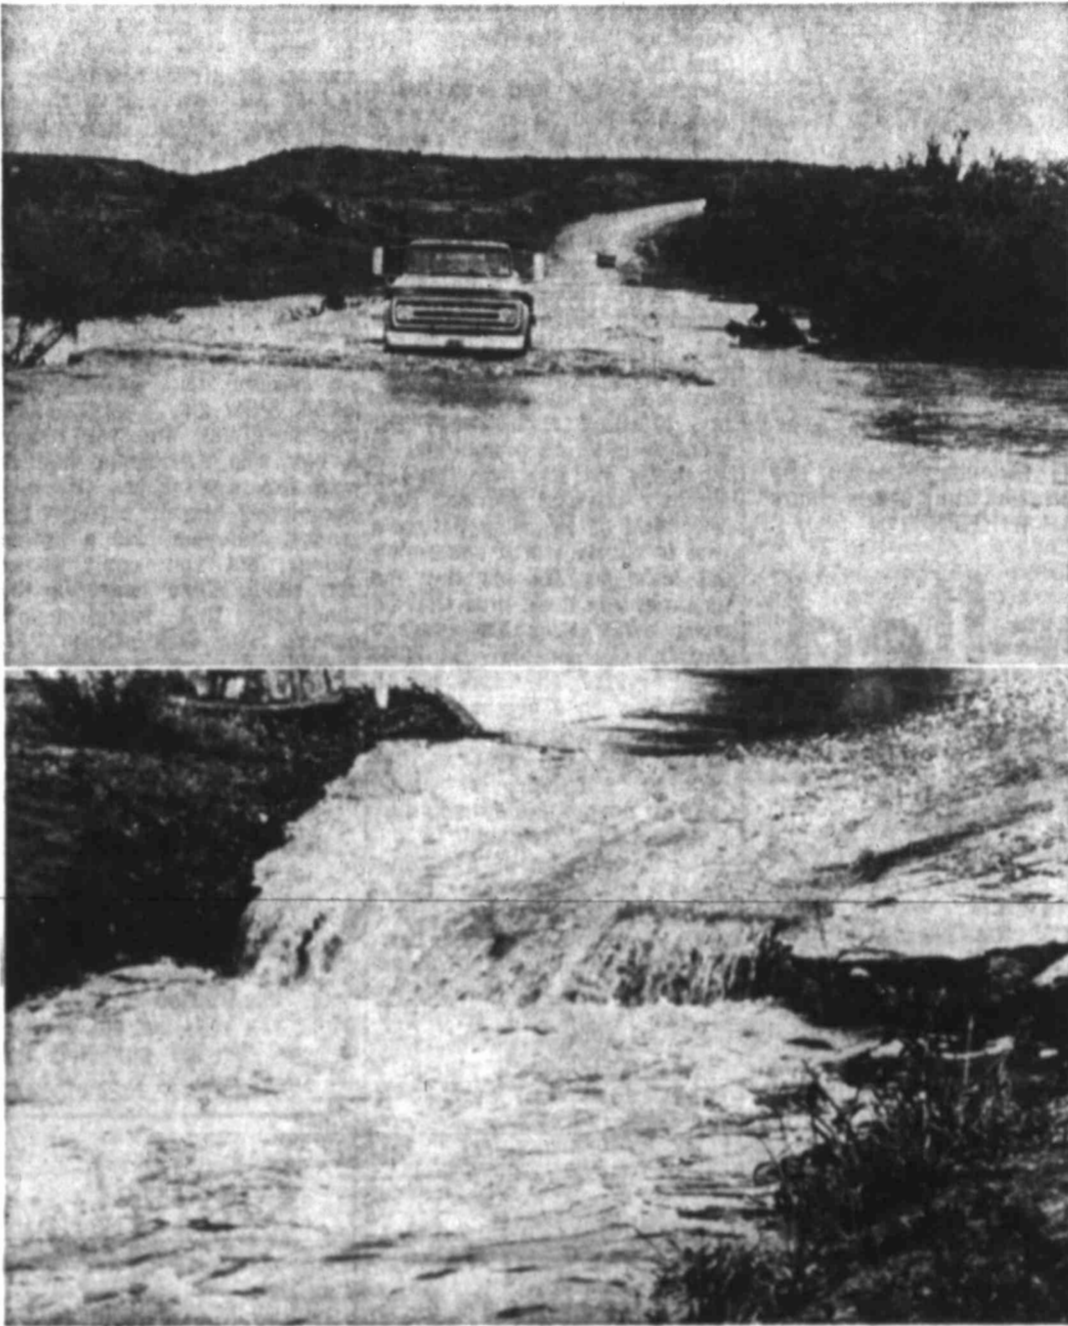

The cause of the fire was not known immediately, but investigators believed it started on the second floor of the old frame building.

Police and firemen combed the ruins for bodies of other possible victims. "We expect to find several other bodies," Police Captain Milford Payne said.

More Absentees Cast Ballots

Thirty-three absentee ballots had been cast in the county clerk's office, and two had been mailed out on application, in the special election called for June 26 to name a representative for the 78th legislative district. The election will fill the unexpired term of Ed Carpenter, and the candidate receiving the highest number of votes will be elected.

Absentee voting in the seven-county district will end at 5 p.m. June 22. Candidates are Frank Hardesty, Roger Brown and Harold Hall, all of Big Spring. Counties are Howard, Martin, Glasscock, Sterling, Reagan, Irion, and Coke.

High, Wide And Handsome

That's the way Beal's Creek, which drains eastward from Big Spring, appeared at mid-morning. At one time, the normally trickling creek, was 300 yards wide and had traffic stalled for several hours. Below, the City Park creek bed was more than that as early morning rains conjured some rapids. (Photos by Ken Good)

High Waters Halt Land Travel Into Sanderson

By The Associated Press
A cloudburst struck the town of Sanderson in Southwest Texas today and the sheriff's office at Alpine said there were some fatalities.

The cloudburst flooded buildings away with persons atop them.

APPEAL
The Alpine sheriff's office said an appeal had gone out to Fort Stockton, Alpine and all the surrounding areas for ambulances.

The town sent an urgent appeal for medical help and helicopters.

The Highway Department said busy US 90 east and west of Sanderson and US 285 north of the town are closed by high water and Texas 349 South of Sanderson is probably closed.

A railroad agent at Del Rio, 2,350 people 125 miles south of Del Rio said that houses were floating away.

Sheriff Herman Richter at Del Rio said that a Texas Ranger in Sanderson said over state police radio that help was needed.

The state police dispatcher at Del Rio said that the nearest anyone can get to Sanderson from Del Rio was a point 12 miles from the town.

State police said two trains were stranded at Sanderson, one a passenger train. A third train was backing from Langtry.

Darlene Cavness, daughter of the Brewster County Sheriff, said that the only way into Sanderson is by helicopter.

TOWN FLOODED
She said a radio report indicated that most of the town is flooded.

Three buses have been sent from El Paso to take out Sanderson residents, but the buses are unable to get through to the town.

Telephone lines to the town have been destroyed.

The flood surged 15 feet deep through Sanderson Canyon inside the little railroad center.

TRAIN STRANDED
Reports, largely from radios and from a railroad telegraph, said the railroad bridge and the main highway bridge were washed away. A freight train was stranded in the town.

Sanderson is a town of about 2,350 people 125 miles south of Del Rio.

Fall Ideal For Crops, Pastures

Everybody got rain last night. Of some 75 reports this morning not a single gauge had less than an inch.

Good slow rains, from 1.2 inches to 3.75 and 4.00 inches, fell all over Howard and surrounding areas. No hail or high winds were reported.

It was a dream rain for farmers and ranchers. Pastures and fields were soaked, but there was surprisingly little washing or covering of small plants. Stock tanks were virtually filled.

Moss Creek Lake, where 3.7 inches were measured, was pouring through the spillway at a depth of about 12 inches. Cadden Lake was brim full but did not go over its spillway.

ON RAMPAGE
Beals Creek, which flows eastward from Big Spring, was about 300 yards wide at the crossing on the road to the lake. R. L. Millaway, lake superintendent, said power was knocked out at 2:55 a.m. and Texas Electric Service Co. crews were unable to get across the creek to restore power until mid-morning. Millaway also said the lake level, on spillway markings, showed 32 feet. The south beach, and access road on that side, were under water, and fishing docks, as well as boat docks, were riding high, with ramp handrails almost submerged.

A city maintainer was sent out this morning and pulled about a dozen vehicles across the flooded creek area.

Wade Choate, Howard County auditor who has resigned for another position, was to have been treated at the courthouse with cake and coffee this morning. However, he was unable to get in from the Moss Creek area to his own appreciation party. Courthouse personnel did not permit the coffee and cake to go to waste.

REPORTS
Rainfall reports in the city 1.48. Texas Electric Service Co. switching station 1.47. TESCO's downtown gauge 1.06. Howard County Junior College 2.55. Collier Park area 1.6, in west Big Spring 2, east of Scenic Mountain 2.5. South Haven area 1.85. Kentwood 2.50, city park 1.80. 1201 Barnes 1.75, south of Scenic Mountain 1.90.

County reports showed: Around and southeast of Ackerly 1.20 to 2 inches; Vealmore 1.50, Luther 1.50, north 1.40, southeast 1.90, Vincent 2.50, to 3.40 southwest, Knott 1.30, Fairview 2.80, southwest of Fairview 1.35, Wallace Ranch, 9 and almost all soaked into the miles northeast of Big Spring ground.

2.30, R-Bar ranch 2.80, Coahoma 3.50, 24 miles northeast of Big Spring 2.00, Wilkinson ranch, west 1.50, Lomax 1.30 to 1.90, Elbow 1.20, east of Lees 2.00, Chalk 3.10, seven miles north of Forsan 3.30, Trinity Memorial Park 2.20, 10 miles north of Coahoma 2.80.

"This is just great," Howard

County Agent Herb Helbig said this morning. "It is one of the best rains we've had. The way it fell, slowly and soakingly, will be excellent for the crops."

Most crops are up, he said, and a few were being replanted because of earlier packing rains.

"This will be good for those, too," Helbig said, "because they won't be blown away by the dust."

He said he had heard of practically no damage from last night's rains.

Texas Electric Service Co. gauges reporting, aside from the Howard County areas, showed: Eskota, 1.24. Champion Creek 1.00. Lake Thomas 2. Morgan Creek 1.15. Snyder 1.50. Lamesa 1.21, and north of Gail 1.49.

Dawson Has Good Rains

LAMESA (SC) — Dawson County benefitted from last night's rainfall, according to reports from areas all over the county.

The official gauge in Lamesa showed 1.39 inches; six miles north 1.70; 10 miles southwest 2.00. The Key Community 10 miles east had, 1.50; Union, 10 miles west 1.50; Welch 2.30, Patricia 1.50 to 2.10; 12 miles south of Lamesa, 1.50 to 3.00; Midway, southeast 1.50 to 2.00; Arvana 1.50 to 2.00.

No winds or hail fell with the rains, and all reporting stations described the moisture as "soakers."

Lake J. B. Thomas Gains Slightly

Lake J. B. Thomas gained only slightly from the rains which drenched the Big Spring vicinity.

At noon the lake had reached elevation 2242.39, or an increase of .27 of a foot. This approximates 1,100 acre feet and approaches a billion gallons of water. There was still some inflow, but it was at the rate .015 of 1.50, Luther 1.50, north 1.40, to 2 inches of rain, and upstream Gail reported 1.49, but in both instances the rain fell slowly over 1.35, Wallace Ranch, 9 and almost all soaked into the ground.

No changes were reported in Lake Colorado City and Champion Lake, but Moss Creek Lake southeast of Big Spring was a foot and a half over the spillway. Based on rain reports from Forsan, likely Powell Creek Lake was doing the same, but it was impossible for city crews to get to the lake.

Heavy Losses On Both Sides As Cong Pulls Out

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The battle for Dong Xoai ended today with heavy casualties on both sides. The routed Viet Cong left district headquarters in ruins, strewn with bodies of men, women and children.

LATE COUNT
U.S. military authorities said the latest count of American casualties in the battle were 3 dead, 15 wounded and 15 missing. Eight of the missing were crewmen on two helicopters destroyed by enemy fire. A newsman, who visited the town 60 miles north of Saigon said several American bodies were found in the ruins.

An 11-man U.S. Army special forces team and a nine-man U.S. Navy Seabee squad engaged in building an airstrip were at the district headquarters when the Viet Cong attacked Wednesday night.

The number of U.S. casualties in Viet Nam jumped again when a two-engine C123 transport ferrying ammunition and supplies crashed in flames in central Viet Nam, killing at least eight Americans.

A U.S. spokesman said a ground party recovered the bodies of two Air Force men and six Army men. He did not know how many had been aboard.

Military sources were uncertain of the cause of the crash.

The three confirmed deaths at Dong Xoai brought the toll of American dead in Vietnamese combat since December 1961 to 409. The dead in the C123 crash would not be added to the combat toll unless enemy fire was determined.

Government and Viet Cong casualties were heavy in the fierce fighting that began at Dong Xoai early Thursday. About 150 civilians also were reported killed, including many women and children.

CASUALTIES
The government reported 280 casualties for its forces — 108 killed, 126 missing and 46 wounded. It claimed that 700 Communist guerrillas were killed — 300 in Dong Xoai and another 400 by U.S. and Vietnamese air strikes 3 to 4 miles north of the town.

None of the government figures were confirmed by U.S. military officials.

U.S. and Vietnamese planes flew 121 sorties against the Dong Xoai area Thursday.

Through the night Communists probed at government positions in the town, and there was hand-to-hand fighting on the outskirts.

The shooting ended at 6:30 a.m. when the Viet Cong pulled out of the area and disappeared into the jungle, the U.S. spokesman said.

NO CONTACT
Vietnamese rangers and airborne units combed the town, picking up the dead and wounded. No further contact with the Communist guerrillas was reported.

Most of the wounded Americans were evacuated Thursday afternoon. Maj. Harvey E. Steward of Huntsville, Ala., led men of the 118th Aviation Company through heavy Viet Cong fire to evacuate the wounded, military officials said.

Objective Accomplished

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor said today that bombing attacks on North Viet Nam have "accomplished exactly what was intended."

Taylor, back from Saigon for consultations, challenged as inaccurate however, a senator's report that he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the bombing attacks would be "continued and enlarged."

And he denied rumors of plans to enlarge U.S. forces in South Viet Nam to 300,000 troops, asserting, "I know of no such project."

Castro's Sister Warns Of Plot

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sister of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro said today Cubans high in the government are plotting to overthrow Castro's Communist regime.

Juanita Castro, 32, who left Cuba last June, said riots against the government have occurred in many parts of the island but news of them has been suppressed.

EXPERIENCE
In testimony before a House subcommittee on un-American activities, Miss Castro told of her experiences in helping her brother reach power and her dissatisfaction with the revolution after the Communists took over.

She said her brother has built "an incredible repressive machine."

"The vast majority of Cuban people are against the Castro regime," she continued. "I don't think they will be able to stand much longer the nightmare of terror they have been living through the past few years."

Miss Castro, who said she was close to the revolution's leaders until the time she left, said "there are Cubans in high places in government who are plotting against it and who stay on to accomplish this."

STATEMENT
At the outset of her testimony, Miss Castro read a prepared statement in which she said the Communist plan to take over this entire hemisphere and look on timid liberals and pacifists as their best allies.

Miss Castro said Communist leaders—and she included her brother, Fidel — "wish nothing better than to be confronted by irresolute and timid adherents of democracy, liberals and pacifists."

"These irresolute and timid individuals, they say, are their best allies," the 32-year-old Cuban expatriate told a subcommittee on un-American activities.

Miss Castro broke with her brother and fled Cuba a year ago. The subcommittee called her today to testify on what they view as a Communist menace throughout this hemisphere.

The bidding:
North 1♣ East 3♥ South 4♥ West Pass

Opening lead: Eight of ♠

In a moment of panic, South—the declarer at four hearts—temporarily lost sight of the facts, and he followed a course which could hardly be expected to succeed.

North opened the bidding with one club, and East's jump overcall of three spades was well calculated to impede a relaxed exchange of information by the opposition. South was, in fact, so crowded by the preemptive bid, that he felt obliged to take a stab at four hearts and hope for the best.

West opened the eight of spades. East played the ace and continued the suit, West ruffing away declarer's king with the five of hearts. The shift was to the king of diamonds and North was in with the ace.

The ace and king of hearts were cashed; however, when West showed out on the second round, East was revealed to have a trump trick. South must, therefore, find a parking place for his losing diamond, or else he will be set.

In desperation, declarer started to run clubs. East ruffed in on the third round with the jack of hearts and then got out with a spade. South was now permanently disconnected from dummy and, in the end, he was obliged to concede the setting trick to West's queen of diamonds.

Declarer was totally unrealistic in his approach. The early play in spades and hearts had clearly revealed that East held 10 cards in these two suits—seven spades and three hearts. When he followed to the first diamond, 11 of his cards were known. It was physically impossible for East to have more than two clubs, and there was not the remotest chance that South could obtain a diamond sluff in time.

South's only hope was that East had a singleton diamond and could not get his partner in to cash the setting trick. Observe that, if declarer concedes a trick to the jack of hearts immediately, East can do no better than to return a spade which South ruffs. Now he is in position to run the clubs and discard his diamond loser.

LETTER

Takes Issue On Statement

To the Editor:

This is the first time in my life I have ever felt that I just had to write to the editor. I am taking issue with Mr. William McLean in his statement on the front page of your paper issued June 8, 1965, regarding the rising cost of automobile insurance wherein he makes the statement, "It costs 295 per cent more to rent a hospital room than it did in 1945."

This is the most idiotic statement I have ever seen come out under the Associated Press trademark. In the first place, he has no figures to substantiate such a statement even on a per day basis. Actually hospital costs are less today than they were in 1945 because at that time the advent of the so-called wonder drugs had not made their appearance.

We do agree that a room you might have had in 1945 in a given hospital at $10 per day is now not more than $20. However, let us hasten to add that in any given hospital the very worst room today is a compliment to the best room in 1945. Let us take a case of pneumonia. In 1945 the average stay was 14 days at $10 per day, totaling $140. Today the average case of pneumonia is 3½ days, but let's use the figure four days at $20 per day, or a total of $80. The patient's time is surely worth something and let's say $12 per day for his time. Ten days time that he saves today over his average stay in the hospital in 1945 would be $120. Therefore, health care today on a net basis costs less than it did in 1945.

Now that Mr. McLean has smeared hospitals by using such an absurd statement, may I take just a moment to express my opinion of Chairman McLean's automobile insurance? There are untold thousands of people who have driven automobiles since the Model T who have never cost the insurance companies a penny. Why not put the cost of insurance on the drivers who have created this vast increase in insurance rates?

Sincerely,
TRUETT THOMAS

Havana Cigars Are Real Scarce

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana cigars, no longer within ready reach of Americans, are reported getting scarcer in Havana, too.

A Cuban radio broadcast monitored in Miami set a production goal of 40,241,500 cigars for domestic consumption and 17,575,500 for export by July 28, 1965, anniversary of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolution.

A new Cuban economic research report said 548 million cigars were smoked in Cuba in all of 1958, the year before Castro's take-over. Cigars exported in 1958 totaled 79,878,449.

Crime Rate Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's crime rate for the first quarter of 1965 rose 2 per cent above the same 1964 quarter although the volume of big-city crime stayed the same.

DEAR ABBY

Too Much, Too Easily

DEAR ABBY: When I think of how many boys would give anything for the opportunity our son had and threw away, I could cry. He is 19 and has had one year of college, but he washed out. Both his father and I are college graduates and over the years we have stressed the importance of a college education. Our son was an average high school student, but he was active in sports so we thought if he concentrated on his studies in college he would do better. Abby, we gave this boy a beautiful wardrobe, a car of his own and a liberal allowance, and he didn't even make grades good enough to keep him in school. We later learned he didn't bother to go to half his classes. He has a good mind, is goodlooking and has never had any trouble making friends. Where have we failed?

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Do not assume that because HE failed, YOU did. Your mistake was in giving him too much. A boy who has never had to work for anything has difficulty disciplining himself to work for grades. You can lead a lad to college, but you can't make him think. Take heart in the knowledge that some people mature later than others. Perhaps one day your son will realize his foolishness and resume his schooling. I hope so.

DEAR ABBY: I read somewhere that a girl can get cancer from kissing a boy who smokes a lot if he has an open cut on his lip. Is this true?

"FOURTEEN AND WORRYING": This is not true. But other diseases are easily transmitted in this way. While you may be old enough to read, you are obviously not old enough to kiss anyone on the lips. So if you want to quit worrying, I advise you to kiss less and read more.

DEAR ABBY: After eight years of marriage my husband suddenly quit wearing his wedding ring. I asked him whom he was trying to deceive into thinking that he was not a married man. He denied that it was intentional. He is an executive so his job has nothing to do with it. I wanted to give him a taste of his own medicine so I refused to wear my wedding ring unless he started wearing his again. He put it on, but a week later I noticed that he was without it. This time it was under the pretense that he had removed it to wash his hands and "forgot" to put it back on his finger. The ring lay in front of his face in the soap dish for over a week. I know that he has no objections to wearing a wedding ring because when he first met me he was wearing one, and his wife had been dead for over a year. Please advise me as I am . . .

CONFUSED? Don't jump to conclusions. Perhaps his forgetfulness IS accidental. Don't attempt to give him a taste of his own medicine. An overdose could be fatal. (To your marriage.)

Girls Required To Sew On Hems

By STRATFORD C. JONES
SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Skirts don't stay short for long at Del Vallejo Junior High School.

Nancy B. Goforth, dean of girls, no longer just hems and haws about the length of skirts girls wear to school. The girls now do the hemming.

So far Mrs. Goforth has invited 35 girls into her office, given them needle and thread, and required them to sew a crepe-paper extension on their skirts to lower the hem to at least the top of the knee.

"The girls have been very cooperative about wearing the ruffles," said Mrs. Goforth. "At first they were somewhat shy but, unfortunately, they are beginning to like it."

"We have no set requirement for dress here," she said. "We just expect the children to distract so they don't distract from learning processes in the classroom. Long hair on boys and short skirts on girls do distract."

"We ask that girls not wear skirts above the top of the knee — that's halfway between fashionable and old fashioned."

"The practice wasn't started to embarrass any girl. I made sure not to start it until more than one offender showed up at school. Then I called several of them into my office and told them what we were going to do."

"I wanted it to be something they didn't want to do. But I'm beginning to think it's something they do want to do. It's a way for them to get out of class for a while, so I'm getting a few repeats."

Mrs. Goforth said that since she started the policy two weeks ago not a parent has contacted the school with comment either for or against. "I certainly expected parents to feel some way about this," she said.

"I think the girls are trying to get attention one way or another, and they've hit upon short skirts as a good device because they are sanctioned by fashion experts," Mrs. Goforth said.

"One girl wore a skirt that stopped short four inches above the knees," she said. "When I first saw her I thought she was trying out for cheerleader."

City Begins Razing Work

City crews are scheduled to begin Friday morning the first razing of properties classified as fire or safety hazards by the city commission this week.

Four or five of the buildings may be demolished Friday, Public Works Director Ernest Lillard said.

He said the first structure scheduled for removal is a building at 406 Abrams, owned by Tom and Emma Slaught.

Lillard said the crews would raze the structures and remove the materials from the properties. The city commission approved 16 locations Tuesday which city inspectors had recommended as fire or safety hazards. The commission authorized use of city crews to remove the buildings.

Under the city ordinance establishing the hazardous structure program, the cost of the removal can be assessed against the property owner in the form of a tax lien.

Lillard said buildings at 506 Sunset Blvd., owned by Ben F. Dorries; 1001 NW 3rd, owned by George Thomas; and 1005 NW 3rd, owned by Pete Rodriguez, would probably be removed Friday.

Phillip's mother, Mrs. George Lee, cuts his stencils for him, retaining his original spelling, and St. Mary's Episcopal Church provides a mimeograph machine. Phillip's topics cover a wide range, from the neighborhood to Viet Nam.

For a nickel, you can read these items from Phillip's latest edition:

"Sister Annunciate, a nun is sick and tired at St. Josephs Hospital. She had an operation for very close veins. She is tired because she has been on her feet for 50 yrs. God bless her."

"Mrs. Grace Olds broke her foot and she is very unhappy about it."

MARRIAGE
Reporting the upcoming marriage of Miss Laura Slade and Lt. Richard B. Skelton, Phillip writes: "Everybody will be dressed up fine specify her grandmother Mrs. A. L. Slade who says she will look finer than anyone cept the bride. They will get married. And will live happily ever after."

Noting that Glenda Kimsey "studies underwater caves and climbs montans," Phillip concludes: "She is brave for a girl."

Pledged To End Discrimination
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says the federal government is pledged to put an end to job discrimination.

"We'll walk that extra mile to achieve voluntary compliance," Humphrey told more than 800 business leaders at the Northwest Regional Plans for Progress Conference Thursday night.

"But let everyone be assured of one thing: We intend for these standards to be observed and we intend to expand the opportunities for individuals in this country."

Humphrey said strides have been made and cited statistics from 100 companies. He said 27.9 per cent of the total increase in employment from 1963 to 1964 went to non-whites.

Phillip supports the U.S. position there, reasoning, "If some boys were picking on my brother Eric, I would help him."

Phillip's venture into the publishing field began last March when he needed money to buy his brother a birthday present. Since then he's put out four editions — and sold 110 copies of the last one.

NOTISES
"Phillip's editorials," his mother says, "generally are on things he feels very strongly about—such as not being able to talk in the bathroom at school. He said it was too much like the Nazis (Phillip spelled it Notiseses)."

"So far his only complaints have been from the school. They asked him not to print any more editorials about the school, and so far he has complied."

Mrs. Lee said Phillip's original spellings haven't disturbed his readers, except perhaps his father who is an English teacher at Lakshore High School in College Park.

Clarifies Practices
WASHINGTON (AP) — Commissioner of Education Francis Keppell says he's had a number of complaints of firings of Negro teachers on a discriminatory basis in connection with school desegregation.

"It should be unmistakably clear that such policies or practices are prohibited," Keppell said Thursday in a memorandum sent to all chief school officers in the country.

Keppell said that although under the Civil Rights Act "our authority does not extend to the employment or retention of individual teachers, our compliance procedures to provide for review of policies or patterns of discrimination with regard to teaching staff which have a discriminatory impact on students."

He further asserted: "A school district cannot avoid the requirement that it desegregate its faculty by discriminatorily dismissing or releasing its Negro teachers."

Quick Banker Raps Robber On Nose, Thwarts Holdup

GRAND SALINE, Tex. (AP) — A quick young banker soundly whipped a husky, gun-waving ex-convict Thursday during an attempt to rob Grand Saline's First National Bank. One wild shot was fired.

"When I heard the gun drop to the floor," said W. L. Garland III, "I was able to hit him. I hit him several times. I really got in one good one. It took the hide off his nose."

It also put William Pippin, 33, whose police record dates to 1955 in Rawlins, Wyo., back behind bars.

Garland, 28, held Pippin until police arrived at this East Texas salt mining town's only bank, and the downcast gunman said: "Well, fel-ows, I'm sorry — but it's all over now."

With drawn pistol, Pippin shoved past Garland, a vice president of the bank, at a side door after closing time.

Also present were W. L. Garland Jr., president of the bank and father of the young executive; four women employees and three tellers. Directors of the bank were due to meet shortly.

"I don't see how the shot missed all of us," said the elder Garland.

His son had answered a knock and cracked the door to hear Pippin inquire if the bank held a telegraphed money order for him. The younger Garland turned to relay the question to a teller and the intruder crowded inside.

"That gun looked like it might weigh 25 pounds," the vice president related. "But I caught his gun arm, we wrestled around and the gun went off."

As they struggled for the weapon, a man named by officers as an accomplice of Pippin fled in a white station wagon.

He was arrested later near Dallas, where Sheriff Bill Decker identified him as Richard Rusk, 24, a parolee.

Decker said a young woman was with Rusk and their car contained a collection of pistols, shotguns, rifles and ammunition.

Pippin was charged with attempted bank robbery and lodged in the Van Zandt County jail at neighboring Canton.

Sheriff B. W. Ward reached Canton early today with Rusk and the young woman, identified by officers as Rusk's wife. Ward said complaints naming both would be filed.

Flynt Attends Media School

AUSTIN — Modern teaching tools, known as "media" among professional educators, will be the subject of an eight-week institute June 21-August 13 at The University of Texas.

The summer institute is designed to expose the participants to the latest techniques in media usage, equipment, materials and considerations for building and facility design.

The 40 participants—including public school principals, superintendents, audio-visual directors, educational television specialists, librarians and curriculum supervisors—will attend "time-block workshops" concentrating on special areas of media programming.

Strong emphasis will be given during the eight weeks to aspects of in-service education, building design, and selection of equipment and materials.

Facilities of The University of Texas Visual Instruction Bureau and KLRN-TV, community-sponsored educational television station, will be studied intensively. Among those enrolled is Darrell N. Flynt, Forsan.

A Devotional For The Day

Quench not the Spirit. (I Thessalonians 5:19)
 PRAYER: O Holy Spirit, descend upon us and guide us to make the right decisions. Close the doors when they lead to the wrong ways. Show us the way to go that will make our lives useful for Thee. In Jesus' name we ask these things. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

The Future And Pressing Present

Five West Texas congressmen have banded together to seek a $200,000 appropriation for studies of a scheme for shaking off the shackles of water limitations in the area.

This is fine, provided the studies are broader than for the one scheme which has been advanced by the Bureau of Reclamation. There are other possibilities which may offer more or less advantages, and the study should shed some light on these comparative as well as on the over-all feasibility.

In the light of what has been done and of the rapid and almost miraculous advance of science and technology, only a foolish person would close his eyes to the possibility of a grand attack upon the problem of transporting adequate water from surplus areas into this region of disparity. While it must be recognized that things which are marginal or barely feasible today may be easily practical and economical tomorrow, it is also proper to keep in mind the possibility of breakthrough in research, conversion and even transportation. The ultimate solutions may not resemble today's proposals.

But while we are looking into the distant future, it is folly to forget the practicalities and demands of the present. While we are exploring the possibilities of inter-basin transfers and stair-stepping water uphill, let us give immediate attention to solving the basic problems of permitting areas such as ours to impound water from flowing downstream. We could eliminate that much of the necessity of bucking water uphill. This will help give us urgently needed water until the grand schemes can be refined and attempted.

Good Suggestion

The Halfway House board has under consideration proposals for a semi-vocational training program. This seems to us to possess considerable merit, for in addition to absorbing the time of Halfway House residents when they are not employed or employable, it is shaping certain skills which may be turned to productive uses. Items of handicraft might be turned for a small profit which would further reduce the operating deficit. Better still, the activity could have a therapeutic value to the men by helping them to regain their status as confident, productive citizens.

What Is Labor Monopoly?

WASHINGTON—When does industry-wide bargaining by employers and labor unions constitute a monopolistic practice in violation of antitrust laws? The Supreme Court of the United States has just rendered decisions which indicate that in some instances an agreement by a national labor union with a number of employers could fix wage scales high enough to force marginal companies out of business and thus violate antitrust statutes.

WHILE THE decisions announced this week in two cases were in themselves significant, the opinions of both the majority and minority reveal that the whole question of labor-union monopolies has yet to be threshed out and the law set forth plainly to guide both employers and unions.

Justice White, in delivering the majority opinion in a case remanded to a lower court for further proceedings, pointed out that when a union enters into a conspiracy with large operators in the coal business "to impose the agreed upon wage and royalty scales upon the smaller, nonunion operators, regardless of their ability to pay and regardless of whether or not the union represented the employees of these companies, all for the purpose of eliminating them from the industry, limiting production and pre-empting the market for the large, unionized operators," such an agreement becomes subject to prosecution under the antitrust laws.

BUT THE SAME opinion, oddly enough, says it is "beyond question that a union may conclude a wage agreement for the multi-employer bargaining unit without violating the antitrust laws and that it may as a matter of its own policy, and not by agreement with all or part of the employers of that unit, seek the same wages from other employers." From this it would appear that there are certain methods to avoid antitrust action and still make industry-wide agreements. But, unfortunately, the Court's decision does not spell them out in a way that will really be of guidance to either employers or unions.

JUSTICE GOLDBERG, former Secretary of Labor in a dissenting opinion applying to both cases decided this week, admits that Congress has the right to put restrictions upon the bargaining process so as to avoid any form of monopoly, and that he believes present statutes of Congress do grant exemptions from antitrust prosecution. But he adds:

"Whether it is wise or sound public policy to continue to exist in its present form, or at all, or whether the exemption gives too much power to labor organizations, is solely for Congress to determine. The problem of the application of the antitrust laws to collective bargaining is but another aspect of the question of whether it is sound public policy to recognize or to limit the right of industrial combatants to push their struggle to the limits of the justification of self-interest."

THE SECOND CASE decided on Monday involved an understanding between employers and labor unions in the meat-cutting business in Chicago. A collective-bargaining agreement, which had been executed after joint multi-employer and multi-union negotiations, declared that market-operating hours would be limited from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays. While the agreement was upheld as legal, some of the dissenting justices pointed out that this action by the court took away from certain employers their right to compete by staying open certain hours when their competitors were closed.

IN DISSENTING opinion, Justice Douglas, along with Justices Black and Clark, expressed the belief that the law of the land today is still what was set forth in the famous Allen-Bradley case, decided in 1945 and subsequently reaffirmed and approved on numerous occasions. In that case, the Court had ruled:

"We think Congress never intended that unions could, consistently with the Sherman Act, aid non-labor groups to create business monopolies and to control the marketing of goods and services."

The dissenting justices, in passing on the action of the meat cutters in Chicago, said in this week's case:

"THE UNIONS here induced a large group of merchants to use their collective strength to hurt others who wanted the competitive advantage of selling meat after 6 p.m.

"Unless Allen-Bradley is either overruled or greatly impaired, the unions can no more aid a group of businessmen to force their competitors to follow uniform store marketing hours than to force them to sell at fixed prices. Both practices take away the freedom of traders to carry on their business in their own competitive fashion."

A READING OF the voluminous opinions in the two cases this week gives the impression that every case will have to be decided on its merits and that there is by no means any unanimity on the subject of how far labor unions can go in making multi-employer agreements which hurt marginal companies and eventually put some of them out of business.

Trots Meekly Behind

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is switch time in American history when the President and the Supreme Court wear the big shoulders and the usually cantankerous Congress trots meekly behind President Johnson.

It wasn't always like this, may not be like this for long as Johnson gets deeper into his four-year term, deeper into the Vietnamese war, deeper into what he calls the "Great Society."

HIS NOVEMBER landslide victory, carrying his Democrats into crushing control of Congress, got him off to a good start unmatched since President Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term.

Technician Johnson has capoled and cornered members of House and Senate into shouting "amen" to his programs. But this is an unnatural condition for President and Congress. The natural condition is tooth and claw.

This Supreme Court under Chief Justice Earl Warren, strongest and most alive since the first 35 years of the 19th century when the captain was Chief Justice John Marshall, plunges in where Congress fears to tread.

IN SWEEPING thrusts, one after the other, it has given motion to civil rights, new meaning to separation of church and state with its bans on compulsory school prayers, new protections to individuals, new political equality for voters with its rulings on reapportionment.

In the truest sense it is a contemporary tribunal, in contrast with the court which barricaded Roosevelt's first four years.

He had to watch those forgettable nine old men of the early 1930s, whose reasoning in most cases had not advanced beyond the last quarter of the 19th century, embalm his New Deal legislation so necessary in a new and tragic era.

IN DESPERATION he called now for court-packing and failed, but in one sense only. His purpose was achieved while his plan was ignored.

Congress rebuffed him, left the court unchanged. But the justices, rendered self-conscious by attack, began peering at last into the 20th century and, starting in 1937, approving his programs.

It was in Roosevelt's first four years that Congress was even more submissive than it has been with Johnson. Confronted with depression disaster, it practically abdicated and gave Roosevelt a blank check.

GRADUALLY after 1937, when the country began to regain some self-assurance, Roosevelt's relations with Congress soured until the war.

Now there is the era of good feelings, even if temporary.

Fresh Expressions

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Leaves from a war reporter's notebook:

Every military campaign creates new slang and fresh expressions that make our English language more colorful.

The war in South Viet Nam has produced a number of them already — and more will follow as the fighting goes on.

FOR EXAMPLE, French maps are used here that measure distances in kilometers rather than in miles. But no one calls a kilometer a kilometer. It's a "click."

In Korea, the enemy was referred to as "gooks." Here they are called the Viet Cong, but the U.S. Marines have shortened this to "them Cong."

The big verb over here is some form of the word "zap." You don't shoot an enemy — you zap him. And if he wounds you, you've been zapped.

By far the most widely used expression is "sorry about that." It is ironical in nature and can be translated roughly as meaning, "I know you've got big troubles, but why do you think that makes you any different from me? Solve them yourself."

MANY OF the servicemen now are wearing "sorry about that" shoulder patches sewn on to their uniforms by Chinese or Indian tailors. When someone starts to pour out his woes to you, you simply point at the patch, smile sympathetically — and go your way.

The language barrier here creates some antic moments. Weary of insect pests, a couple of correspondents told the waitress at the Da Nang press center, "Can't you find us a couple of fly swatters?"

The girl smiled, nodded, disappeared. She returned shortly and set two glasses of ice water before them.

The newsmen were mystified. Finally, one said glumly:

"I GET IT. You ask for fly swatters and you get iced waters. I'm afraid we're going to be in this country longer than I thought."

Tall, slender Herbert J. Minikue, 35, an Air Force sergeant who plans to settle in Austin, Tex., some day, received the pleasant news that he had been promoted to master sergeant. In a mood of celebration he went to the non-commissioned officers club, "Take Ten."

There, he fished a final quarter out of his pocket and put it in a slot machine. Three stars showed up, it paid $250. The celebration continued.

Around The Rim

Ways To Say It

A recent book review in the "Wall Street Journal" had the following observation:

"A JUSTIFIABLE lament of our day and age is the decline in the art of letter writing. The rounded sentences and felicitous phrases that came so smoothly from the pens of our forebears are nowadays muted by the telephone and strangled by the telegram."

Undoubtedly the author was right in saying that letter writing has declined. However, his desire for a return to more flowery styles of saying things prevalent in the Victorian ages is more doubtful. Most people could hardly take the time in a busy schedule for such.

SPEDIER communications, rapid transportation and a stepped-up pace of life have brought us casual, faster ways of doing things. On the other hand, probably most of us try to live at too fast a pace today.

Some of the old writing styles not only reflect the slower-paced ways of bygone days, but also make interesting and rather amusing reading.

A HISTORY of a law case was uncovered in some old records of the English "Courts Peppoudrous," which included a series of decisions involving the Fair of St. Ives, held in 1275 in England. The records indicated how the court administered speedy justice to some merchants involved in wrongdoing.

ONE OF THE CASES reads: "Thomas, of Wells, complains of Adam Garsop that he unjustly detains and detours him from a coffer which the said Adam sold to him on Wednesday next after Mid Lent last past for sixpence, whereof he paid to the said Adam twopence and a drink in advance. (The latter is described as an old custom called "wetting a bargain.")

"AND ON THE Octave of Easter came and would have paid the rest, but the said Adam would not receive it nor answer for the said coffer, but detained it unconditionally to his damage and dishonor, 2s., and he produces suit. The said Adam is present and does not defend. Therefore let him make satisfaction to the said Thomas and be in mercy for the unjust detainer; find 4d., pledge his overcoat." —PRESTON MAYNARD

The Consensus Collapse

WASHINGTON—Any with the urge to take a flyer might do well to bet that the biggest noise heard in Washington this summer will be the sound of President Johnson's consensus collapsing.

Seismologists expert in such matters point to certain portentous creaking in the impressive unanimity Big Daddy has built, and they wonder just how much more stress it can stand.

THE INSTANT CAUSE, of course, is Viet Nam, with the Dominican Republic not far behind. Mr. Johnson has been coldly efficient in trading with Congress in the only coin that organization accepts—jobs and works projects — but his very mastery of the medium has created tensions and resentments that will be long remembered.

The President's appalling lack of understanding of foreign policy, coupled with his tendency to accept uncritically the advice of Washington's powerful military apparatus, has left him vulnerable to attack from Congressional quarters. Most members of Congress are rustic dupes who are impressed by Presidential power and panoply—to say nothing of patronage. But the House and Senate have always had a leavening of thoughtful, able men who are steadfast in their determination to maintain Congress as a co-equal branch of government.

IT IS FROM this group that the first rumbling of discontent has come, and, curiously enough, President Johnson's adroit manipulation is largely to blame for it. Twice he has persuaded Congress to give him a blank-check authority to pursue a widened war in Southeast Asia, and he has not been reluctant to rub Congressional noses in it when his Viet Nam policy is questioned. This has kept one—so far—but it has not kept pressure from building up.

ONE MEMBER of Congress, a Democrat and a friend and supporter of Johnson, privately says Viet Nam will "destroy" the Johnson Administration. Another put it this way—"Let 200 Marines get killed, and Mr. Johnson will lose the country." A number have disavowed any intent to underwrite escalation of the war when they voted for the joint resolution on Viet Nam that the President asked for last August. Others have started having sober second thoughts about the wisdom of the $700 million Viet Nam war appropriation they passed at the President's behest earlier this spring.

IN THE short term both pieces of legislation have had the effect of shoring up White House policy in Southeast Asia. But in the longer view the resentments they have engendered on Capitol Hill may prove a dreadfully high price Mr. Johnson will have to pay.

Note—A group of 28 House Democrats has already asked the Foreign Relations Committee to hold public hearings on the growing war in Viet Nam.

THE PRESENT - DAY mood of bitterness in Congress cannot be ignored and should not be discounted. Both houses have been placed in the position of underwriting a war that the responsible leadership of both fervently wish to avoid. A good bet in Washington this day is that the prevailing appearance of euphoria will not survive the summer.

A New Type Of Dunkirk

WASHINGTON—The twenty-fifth anniversary of Dunkirk where, in June, 1940, the British fortunes hit bottom and rebounded from the rockbed of courage, found the other great English-speaking nation being tested in a different way.

While we are not under bombardment from the skies, the first open admission that the Negroes have abandoned their non-violent tactics and are arming for a shooting war came in a front-page Sunday news story in the New York Times.

AS MANY AS 50 chapters of the Deacons for Defense and Justice, with the members owning their personal firearms, are active in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. They plan, according to the Times story, "to move into every Southern State."

OUR TROOPS in far-off Viet Nam are not by any means driven to the beaches, but the rainy season gives the enemy a marked advantage and our side is losing battles and men at a rate to chill the heart of sunshine patriots back home. Any June summary of the war in Asia may be told in somber terms. The Hanoi Communist government has entered the ground war in force and has beaten the Saigon troops in nearly every engagement. The Pentagon last week admitted that the U.S. Army and Marines have abandoned the pretense of being "advisors" who only shoot when shot at. This means that American infantry will surely be fighting Asians in decisive ground battles for the first time since the Korean conflict. There is no way to disguise that another policy has failed — for the last time we intended in Asia was a major involvement in land battles.

NOR IS THERE any blinking the fact that President Johnson's air strikes on North Viet Nam have been disappointing in results. He has laid stress, and taken personal credit, on the claim that he chooses targets of steel and concrete which have no flesh and blood. His effort since laying on regular Air Force and Navy raids in February has been to wage a relatively immaculate and symbolic war from the air. If his strategy had worked, the North Vietnamese leaders would now be sitting at a conference table, and Johnson would have succeeded as Eisenhower did in 1953 in getting an unsatisfying peace by ending an unsatisfactory war.

WITH RACIAL hot war at home, and a looming catastrophe in Asia, we face a Dunkirk test of resolution and resilience. It is not so dramatic as the one in 1940, but it is equally fateful. The Johnson formula of "let us reason together," which worked well when he was Senate leader, has not been good enough for the two revolutions which literally threaten our extinction as an American people.

His formula can be called excusable as a first try. Perhaps there was a chance that the racial revolution could be dampened down to harmless embers by pouring political benefits upon the Negroes.

IT IS NOT difficult to trace the same soft line into his attempt to beat the Communists in Asia by waging bloodless war against North Viet Nam. As a tentative move, it can be called the right thing to try. But it has not worked, and shows no signs of working. The target charts must be reshuffled till we frankly take aim at Communist flesh and blood.

Such is the season of Dunkirk which, today as 25 years ago, climaxed a period of war which historians called "phony." Then and now, it could not be expected to remain so unrealistic and harmless.

Opossums Studied

ATLANTA (AP) — Br'er 'Possum is really very simple-minded.

So simple-minded, in fact, that Emory University Neuro-Physicists are studying the animal's central nervous system for its rudimentary form.

Dr. David Megirian and Dr. John Manning say the opossum's brain is primitive compared with those of primates or even those of cats. But all the basic parts of the central nervous system are there.

That's why the doctors are studying communication paths between the two sides of the opossum's brain by stimulating different parts of it with electrodes and recording the stimuli on the other side.

Another reason — the opossum clan is plentiful in this region.

To Your Good Health

No Such Thing As Temporary Diabetes

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a blood glucose test show "temporary diabetes?" I have gone to a competent doctor for the last four months. He did not find that my blood tests were anything but normal. He advised me to go ahead and eat anything.

I think you've left something out of your letter. That is, I gather that sometime or other in the past you had a test with suspicious results.

It is possible to have abnormal results in a blood sugar (or blood glucose) test under certain circumstances: If your diet preparatory to the test was not correct; if you were suffering from some infection at the time of the test; or if any of various drugs happened to be in use at the time of the test.

Briefly, temporary diabetes is a bad term and might better not be used. Either you have diabetes or you don't. It is possible to have somewhat elevated sugar levels from time to time that do not mean diabetes. They may, in some cases, be a warning, however, that diabetes may actually develop later.

Generally, being checked once a year should be satisfactory unless, for some special reason, your doctor sees a reason for more frequent ones. In your case, M. J. if future tests are normal, I would suspect that you are in the clear.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking birth control pills. A few weeks ago my uterus and cervix were removed, and I am still taking the pills. Can they harm a person after such surgery? This has me terribly worried.

—Mrs. E. W.

Well, stop worrying, because they won't harm you. But with the uterus removed, you cannot become pregnant, so you might as well stop taking the pills and save your money.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 25-year-old daughter has an awful case of acne or pimples on her face. This trouble started shortly after her first child was born five years ago.

She never was bothered with pimples in her teens; also, she was never regular in her menstrual periods.

They are still not regular, and her face problems seem to be getting worse. — Mrs. J. C. P.

This doesn't sound like the common (but very annoying) type of teenage acne. True, there may be some basic similarity in cause, by which I mean abnormality in glandular change or activity.

But when the trouble starts at your daughter's age, it requires special attention. There could be (I suspect there is) a relationship between the skin trouble and her menstrual irregularity, since glandular action can affect both. Hence something more than simple care of the skin may be required. I trust that she has consulted a dermatologist. If not, I'd advise it.

Billy Graham

I have heard that originally there were eight cardinal sins. Since you have written a book on "Seven Deadly Sins," maybe you could tell me what the eighth one is.

T. J.

As late as John Damascene the compilation included the sin of sadness. In fact, the early church fathers paid special attention to the sin of sadness. They believed that men were made to be joyful, and that sin and separation from God were the causes of sadness. I believe that we had something. These days, when a person gets distressed, we call it "depression," and say that it is caused by conditions beyond his control. It is outside pressures, circumstances, or environment they say. Yet, I know people who have more trouble than the average, live in unfavorable circumstances, and yet they are not depressed or sad. They have learned that New Testament recipe for happiness: "All things work together for good to them that love God."

Our modern cure for depression is the psychiatrist's couch, but in at least some instances, it could be "the mourner's bench." When we transgress God's law, we become guilt-ridden and sad. The light goes out of life. Many of us need to say with David, who sinned and lost his joy: "Restore thou the joy of my salvation."

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Try Iron-On Tape For Camp Clothes

Dear Heloise: Last summer we solved the problem of marking clothing to be taken to camp, by using strips of iron-on tape on which we typed the camper's name. After typing a strip of tags, one can quickly cut them apart, and iron one on each item. We found this to be much quicker than sewing, and less destructive and messy as with a marking pen. Besides, it saves the cost of having name tags made. M. F.

Wagner Sets Off Struggle

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner's decision not to seek a fourth term touched off a scramble for the Democratic mayoral nomination today and promised to have national political repercussions in both parties.

The decision Thursday, which the three-term mayor said was based on family considerations, could produce some political pressure on the national level for the selection and financing of a powerful Democratic opponent to Republican Rep. John V. Lindsay in the Nov. 2 election.

Mrs. Weaver Service Set

Mary (Mrs. Bob) Weaver, 80, died at a local hospital Thursday at 1:15 p.m. after a month's serious illness.

Born in Ireland March 11, 1885, Mrs. Weaver moved to Canada when she was 19, and came to West Texas and the Big Spring area in 1920. She lived at 403 W. Third with her husband who died in 1954. Mrs. Weaver was a member of the Assembly of God church.

Services will be Saturday at 2 p.m. in the River-Welch Funeral chapel, the Rev. Homer Rich officiating. Burial will be in Stanton, in Evergreen Cemetery.

Survivors include two sons, R. G. and Thomas H. Weaver; a daughter, Mrs. Fred Wilkerson; and four grandchildren. All survivors are of Big Spring.

Cynthia Matthews Dies Today, Rites Set For Sunday

Cynthia LaDell Matthews, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Matthews, 1803 Morrison, died today at 12:20 a.m. at her home.

She was born June 17, 1962. Services will be Sunday at 2 p.m. in College Baptist Church, the Rev. Byron Grand officiating. Burial will follow in River-Welch Funeral Home direction. Survivors include the parents; one brother, Curtis David, Big Spring; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Matthews Sr., Green Forest, Ark.; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barnfield, Big Spring; and several aunts and uncles.

Lindsay, 43, a proven vote getter in this nation's largest city where registered Democrats outnumber Republicans by more than 3-to-1, has been mentioned as potential presidential material. A victory in the mayoral race would boost both him and the GOP. President Johnson reportedly is anxious to see him defeated.

A new name cropped up on the Democratic side shortly after Wagner made his announcement. In Washington, Harlem Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., boosted Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late president, for the nomination. Roosevelt, 50, recently switched by President Johnson from under-secretary of commerce to chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, said he had received telephone calls from public officials and "important Democrats." He declined to identify them.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who now appears on his way to uncontest control of the Democratic party in New York with the withdrawal of Wagner, said the fate of the party in the city depends "on how well we do in selecting a candidate."

Kennedy said Roosevelt is "one of a number of possible candidates." He declined to name any others.

A Democratic primary battle appeared almost certain with at least three factions fighting for control. They include Wagner's proteges; Kennedy's backers; and elements of the reform movement.

Squadrons Pick Leading Airmen

Two Webb AFB squadrons designated their airmen for the month of May.

Named top airman in the student squadron was Airman I.C. Harry C. Ray, and top man in the communications squadron was Airman I.C. Jack W. Johnson.

Airman Ray is a flight simulator specialist and Airman Johnson is an air traffic controller.

Too Wet To Plow

These fields, typical of much of the Big Spring area, were definitely too wet to plow Friday. Water was standing in the furrows at this farm in the Midway community near the Moss Creek Road. No matter about the plowing, though, for most fields were up to good stands and the rain fell so ideally, except east of Big Spring, that crops got a first class irrigating.

President Predicts Continued Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has muffled speculation over a governmental split on his economic policy by giving assurances that there are "no cross-currents, divisions or conflicts" within the administration.

The President told reporters, after a meeting with Chairman William C. Martin of the Federal Reserve Board and other top economic officials Thursday, that moderate but solid gains are foreseeable through 1965.

"There is no reason for gloom or doom," he said.

FUROR

This was an apparent reference to the stock market slump and public furor which followed Martin's June 1 speech at Columbia University.

That was the speech in which Martin spoke of "disquieting similarities between our present prosperity and the fabulous '20s," and emphasized the role of monetary policy — management of the money and credit supply — in preventing possible inflationary excesses.

Martin's resignation was demanded Thursday by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee. Patman charged that Martin had challenged Johnson's economic policy and was calling for what Patman described as a disastrous policy of tight money.

AFFRAID

"This country cannot afford, even as prosperous as it is, a man at the helm of our monetary policy," Patman said.

ry system who is so afraid of prosperity that he has to end it," Patman said on the House floor.

But Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, in an interview given before the White House meeting, helped Johnson to quash the talk of a policy split on the issue of tight money versus expansionism.

W. D. Engle Dies In Reno

Weldon Dunn Engle, 44, Reno, Nev., died Thursday at 5:30 p.m. at a Reno hospital.

Born Oct. 24, 1920, in Coahoma, Mr. Engle graduated from Coahoma High School. He was in the U. S. Air Force from Oct. 1942 until his discharge in November 1945. He had lived in Reno since 1952, where he owned and operated an automobile repair shop until failing health caused him to retire in 1963. He was a member of the Baptist Church.

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors include three sons, Bobby Engle, Sparks, N. M.; Billy Engle, Citrus Heights, Calif.; and Dub Engle, Medford, Ore.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Engle, Coahoma; a brother, Charles J. Engle, Big Spring; and a sister, Mrs. Helen Humphrey, El Campo.

of Commerce John T. Connor agreed completely with what they regarded as Martin's basic theme, that of maintaining and strengthening the soundness of the dollar.

SLUMP

"The speech caused me no nervous indigestion," Fowler said. "I was surprised at the stock market's reaction, and I think Bill (Martin) was too."

The market slump was caused by investors' fears that Martin was hinting at a coming move to tighten money by boosting interest rates, Fowler said. He himself had read no such meaning into Martin's talk "because I know Bill's thinking."

After the White House meeting, Martin smilingly indicated he had no intention of taking Rep. Patman's advice and resigning. "When and if I desire to resign I'll let you know," said the man who has headed the Federal Reserve Board under four presidents.

Cafe Pillaged

Officers investigated a break-in at Gomez Cafe, 508 NW 4th, this morning. A glass pane in a front door was broken to enter, police said, and an undetermined amount of change taken from cigarette and jukebox machines. A case of beer was also reported missing.

ASTRONAUTS

able to get close to the booster rocket but that it was tumbling at the rate of 40 to 50 degrees per second, "much faster than anyone had anticipated."

McDivitt said this made it difficult to keep the Gemini 4 spacecraft in the same orbit with the tumbling booster.

But McDivitt said space experts still learned much from the unsuccessful rendezvous attempt.

The astronauts were to receive congratulations from President Johnson this afternoon.

The conference was in a rather plush auditorium at the manned spacecraft center.

The astronauts sat on a gold carpeted stage behind a table covered with a gold cloth.

PLANS CHANGED

In a switch of plans, the astronauts and their wives chose to ask President Johnson to come to Houston so congratulations could be shared with all employees of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Johnson had invited the two spacemen and their families to his Texas ranch for the weekend. Thursday the President offered instead to make his first visit to the space center, the "astronauts' home."

An official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said: "The gracious offer of the President overwhelmed the astronauts and their wives. They readily accepted so the honors could be shared with the people who made the flight possible."

Abilene Veteran Dies At Hospital

Jerry Graves McClaran, 68, died in the Veteran's Hospital here Thursday at 8:10 a.m.

Born in Hamlin Dec. 13, 1896, Mr. McClaran had lived in Abilene most of his life.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the North Funeral Home in Abilene.

Survivors include two sons, John L. McClaran, Clyde, and Jack L. McClaran, Washington, D. C.; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Stoute, Freeport, and Mrs. Wilburn McMillan, Abilene; six sisters, Mrs. Carl Greenway, Mrs. S. C. Ferguson and Mrs. A. F. Mary Foreman Is Named To Post

Mary Foreman, Big Spring, has been elected first vice president of the Texas Association of Instructional Supervisors.

She was named to the post at the annual meeting conducted at Texas A&M University this week. James I. Thigpen, Harlingen, is president of the educational group.

Area Teachers In Special Course

BROWNWOOD — Fifty-three teachers are enrolled in the eighth annual summer institute for high school science and mathematics teachers now underway at Howard Payne College. Sponsored by the National Science Foundation, the Institute is directed by Dr. Gordon C. Creel.

Purpose of the institute, which ends July 9, is to improve the subject matter competence of the participating teachers; to strengthen the capacity of these teachers for motivating able students to consider careers in science; to bring these teachers into personal contact with prominent scientists who participate in the Institute, and to help these teachers see the dynamic nature of science as indicated by present day research.

Among those enrolled are Glenn T. Guthrie, Big Spring, and Donald Fuqua, Coahoma.

Baylor's Site To Be Memorial

WACO (AP) — Title to the original site of Baylor University at Independence will be transferred to the Baptist General Convention of Texas at the annual meeting Sunday of the Independence Association.

The new owners will supervise the grounds as a memorial to the birthplace of Christian education in the Southwest. Baylor was founded in 1845 and moved to Waco in 1886.

Economic Conflict Taking Spotlight

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican civil war is turning into an economic conflict with the United States playing a major role.

The battlefield is still Santo Domingo. The capital is becoming even more divided as a result of the economic struggle between the junta and rebel factions.

All the nation's factories are located in territory controlled by the junta, and more than 90 per cent are operating again. But many owners have their money in downtown banks which are shut. Their raw materials are sitting in warehouses overseas because port facilities to unload them here are not available.

The owner of a shoe polish factory said he was forced to shut down this week.

"There are 14,000 troops here, each with boots to be shined," he said. "The demand for shoe polish is high, but the waxes I need to make it are stuck in a warehouse in Panama. I can't get dock space to unload them in the Dominican Republic."

Webb To Get Academy Men

Starting June 14 Webb is scheduled to receive a number of Air Force Academy cadets under the "Third Lieutenant" program. Three of the cadets will be assigned to the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron through the Air Defense Command, and an undisclosed number to the base for Air Training Command.

The first group will complete the project July 9. The second group begins training July 28, continuing through July 23.

"Operation Third Lieutenant" places selected cadets in operational organizations throughout the Air Force. The program, which began in 1957, gives cadets the opportunity to see the operational Air Force before graduation and commissioning. All of these cadets are rising seniors at the academy.

The three being assigned to the 331st are Daniel E. Sowada, serving as assistant operations officer; Michael J. MacCarroll, maintenance control officer; and Patrick M. Nesbitt, munitions maintenance.

Assigned as project officer for the 331st is 1st Lt. A. J. Attenberg and Capt. R. C. Hammerle will be in charge of the program for Webb.

Webb Funds Pass House

An item of $1,342,000 for Webb AFB construction is included in the military authorization bill which went through the House on a voice vote Thursday.

The House Armed Services Committee had given its blessing to the proposal on May 27. Now the measure, which lays out two billion dollars of military work, goes to the Senate.

Included in the Webb work are officer quarters (80 spaces), a NCO club and flight training facilities.

Stock Market Snaps Back

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market snapped back today from four steep daily losses. Trading was fairly active early this afternoon.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.36 at 880.85.

The market showed signs of firmness from the opening and the upward trend was established within the first half-hour. The list reached a peak in late morning then traders skimmed some of the profits.

Tyler Manager Loses His Job

TYLER (AP) — Casey Fannin, who had been city manager here four years, resigned Thursday at the request of the city commission.

Fannin and the commissioners had disagreed over an election next Tuesday to change a franchise for a gas service company. The commission voted 4-1 to request his resignation.

Members Urged To Find Agreement

The Christian Science board of directors Monday urged its church members to find the "areas of agreement" which exist with other denominations — "rather than think of ourselves as entirely different or exclusive."

The message was presented before several thousand members at the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

"On the basis of its spirituality Christian Science has much in common with other denominations," the message noted.

"To every honest adherent of any God-centered faith sincerely working to uplift and unify the human race, we offer our fellowship and support."

"Today we are confronted with one of history's deepest, most divisive social upheavals," the directors continued.

"Marking this upheaval is the churning drive of the individual to find the real meaning of life and to establish his legitimate place and identity in an increasingly complex and impersonal society."

"Social and governmental organizations as such do not make the necessary connection with the individual or enable him to meet his real needs.

"People everywhere are crying out for healing—healing in its larger and broader sense: the overcoming of sin and fear, of ignorance and sorrow."

"Jesus 'was never exclusive,' the message noted; 'he preached world evangelism—the religion of love, the religion capable of uniting all peoples of all times."

The annual election of a new church president was also announced at the meeting. Mrs. Frances S. Wells, C. S. B., San Antonio, took over as presiding officer from the retiring president, Edward Proderman, Chicago, Ill. Both of them also hold positions on the Board of Trustees of The Christian Science Publishing Society.

Mrs. Wells, a graduate of Briarcliff College, N. Y., has been an active teacher and practitioner of Christian Science in San Antonio for several years.

Observing that resistance to Christian ideals seems "rampant in the thoughts of men," she then added: "On the other hand, the thought of mankind has never been so roused, the desire to help so active.

"Jesus prophesied disturbed world conditions," she noted. He "foresaw the fermentation which would take place in mortal thought."

"When we learn to love and understand one another as God's perfect ideas, we shall live peaceably."

In reports to the meeting by the managers of various church departments, it was disclosed that the number of Christian Science branch churches had reached the 3,300 mark with recent additions in Argentina, The Netherlands, New Zealand, and, for the first time, in Guatemala and Korea.

New applications for church membership were reported to be on the increase in a number of countries, particularly the Congo, Nigeria, Zambia, East Germany, Poland, South India, Cuba, and various other sections of Asia and Latin America.

SOLOMON APPEALED FOR AID IN GOVERNING HIS LAND

"Give, therefore, thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad: for who is able to judge this thy so great a people?"

These were the words of Solomon, the new king of Israel, when the Lord said "Ask what I shall give thee."

The International Sunday School lesson for June 13, taken from I Kings 2:1-4; 3:5-9 under the topic of "Show Yourself a Man," gives the account of Solomon's taking over the reins from his father, David.

Solomon was David's son by Bathsheba and, while not the oldest of David's sons, was a man who possessed all the qualities that would help him to grasp the challenge of the hour, and he was humble enough to ask God's help in giving him wisdom and understanding. He did not ask for special power, for special favors, or for great wealth.

Solomon was to fall and fall in many respects, as was a human being, but the prayer he uttered in the flush of youthful idealism shows that he possessed the qualities of greatness. He knew that unless his prayers were answered his reign would not lead his people to greatness or prosperity.

'Whizz-Kid Monks' Try To Revive Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — A young Church of England order, nicknamed the "whizz-kid monks," is trying to revive religion in bad old Birmingham.

This industrial city of 1.25 million, England's second largest, is in the busy, smoky Midlands. It has little history beyond its 150 years of making money. Its critics say Birmingham people are grossly materialistic.

So far as religion is concerned, the city is almost dead. It has the lowest communicant rate in the country. An Anglican parish which might nominally count 20,000 souls is lucky to get 20 worshippers on Sunday. They tell of one church where the vicar and one staunch supporter were alone for Communion on Easter Sunday.

The monks of the Community of the Glorious Ascension, Ring is one of the sights of Britain. A sprawling complex of stores, galleries, bars and restaurants, it offers shopping in air-conditioned comfort to piped music under neon lights amidst splashing fountains and twittering birds. Shoppers can enter by escalator from a bus station underneath and do all their shopping without braving the weather outside. But there are no churches or chapels in the Bull Ring.

The monks of the Community of the Glorious Ascension, founded in 1961, are self-styled rebels who believe that Birmingham people don't want to know about conventional religion with its stained-glass saints.

So it's a rule of the order that every monk must have an outside job to carry him daily into the world. And, when the day's work is done, he must go out to the places where young people meet — the youth clubs, the coffee bars, the street corners.

Some, who are teaching, wear the gray robe of the order at work. Most do not, because it would make them too conspicuous among the workers at a factory bench or the salesman in a store.

Father Peter Ball, 33, who founded the order and heads it, explains his new strategy at his priory in the suburb of Alum Rock:

"We are trying to make the world our monastery — learning to live our vows in the world without being too tied down by rules. But we live a highly disciplined Christian life. You might say we are trying to be the commando troops of the army of God. If we ever lose that intensity, we might as well pack up."

The money each monk earns is pooled and used to meet living expenses of the community. If one wants to buy anything for his own use — a book or a tool of his particular trade — the brothers must approve the expense.

Several ride motorcycles to and from work. They don crash helmets and black leather jackets over their rope-girt robes. This kind of thing has led to them being dubbed "the whizz-kid monks."

Methodists Open Art Show Today

An exhibit of 12 pictures, ranging in size from 28 x 34 inches down to half that size, will be shown in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church today, Saturday and Sunday. It is being exhibited in connection with the use of the new Christian Studies for Methodist Children, and is presented jointly by the board of education of the Methodist Church and the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C.

The exhibit of great religious art of the masters will include: "The Last Supper" by Blake; "The Adoration of the Magi" by Botticelli; "The Sacrament of the Last Supper" by Dali; "The Calling of the Apostles Peter and Andrew" by Duccio; "The Adoration of the Shepherds" by Giorgione; "St. Martin and the Beggar" by El Greco; "The Small Crucifixion" by Grunewald; "St. George and the Dragon" by Raphael; "The Small Cowper Madonna" by Raphael; "The Apostle Paul" by Rembrandt; "The Descent from the Cross" by Rembrandt; "Christ at the Sea of Galilee" by Tintoretto.

The works belong to the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C. The Christian Studies for Methodist Children will include reproductions of the art of the masters where appropriate. Thus the exploration of religious meanings through the medium of the world's art treasures will open up for the child, increasing sensitivities to his rightful heritage of thought and creative expression.

The public is invited to view the exhibit at no charge.

Hours are: Friday and Saturday, 2 to 6 p.m.; Sunday, tea from 2 to 4 p.m.

Appealing For Cloth, Needles

NEW YORK—An appeal is being made to Protestant church members throughout the country to give parcels containing cotton yard goods, sewing needles and thread for use of Vietnamese refugee women in making seriously-needed clothing for themselves and their families, it has been announced by Church World Service.

Differences in custom and stature of the Vietnamese determined in this instance our appeal for fabrics rather than used clothing," said Wilson Radway, associate director of material resources for the Church World Service Department of the National Council of Churches.

"Vietnamese women do not wear Western style clothing and are small in stature. We have been informed that the majority of women know how to sew and that few gifts would be more appreciated than fabric parcels. We have had countless queries from American church members as to how they can help the Vietnamese."

Protestant denominations will undertake to provide parcels of cloth for half of an estimated 200,000 Vietnamese who have become refugees due to military activity, Radway said. Most fled their homes with few or no possessions, and are now in dire need of clothing. Figuring five members per family, responsibility will thus be assumed to furnish 20,000 fabric parcels for as many refugee families.

Donors are asked to assemble the following items in each gift parcel: 3 1/2 yards of white cotton cloth; 3 1/2 yards black cotton cloth; 4 1/2 yards printed cotton cloth, sewing needles and suitable thread.

Radway stressed that the specifics of kind and length of fabrics had been worked out in cooperation with Paul Longacre, Saigon, director of the Mennonite Central Committee program in Viet Nam, with which Church World Service efforts will be coordinated.

Donors should be sure to designate that the parcels are for Vietnamese refugees, and mail them to the nearest Church World Service center for processing and shipping overseas. Centers are located at: P.O. Box 188, New Windsor, Md. 21776; 201 So. Main St., Napanee, Ind. 46550; 919 Emerald Ave., Modesto, Calif. 95351; 637 W. 125 St., N. Y. N. Y. 10027; 1911 Main St. Vancouver, Wash. 98660; 137 N. Fair Oaks Ave., Pasadena, Calif. 91101; 3855 Elm St., Denver, Colo. 80207; 718 Bayard Ave., St. Louis, Mo., and 7307 Ardmore St., Houston, Texas.

To get the program under way immediately, while donors in the U.S. are still in the process of assembling fabric parcels and forwarding them to the nearest Church World Service centers, CWS has provided sufficient funds for the purchase of material for 1,000 parcels in Saigon through the Mennonite Central Committee.

Women of Vietnamese churches in Saigon will cut and pack these fabrics.

VBS Slates Graduation

WESTBROOK (SC) — Commencement exercises, for vacation Bible school at the First Baptist Church, will be held Friday night, with the public invited.

Parents are invited to the display rooms at 7 p.m. to see the hand work in arts and crafts made by the pupils during the week. The program will start at 8 p.m. when each department will participate under the direction of its teacher.

Approximately 70 students were enrolled. Thirty-nine attended preparation day, June 5. Mrs. S. L. Yeilding is principal of the school. Mrs. Sam Scroggins is superintendent of the intermediate department; Mrs. Rex McKenny, junior department; Mrs. W. A. Bell, primary; Mrs. Charles Ranne, beginner, and Carolyn Bell and Sandra Bryant, nursery. Other workers are Mrs. Jimmy Henderson, song leader and intermediate department; Mrs. Charles Ranne, pianist; Mrs. Earl Doss, Mrs. Albert Burkhardt, Mrs. N. J. McMahan, Kathy Henderson, Carolyn Bryant, Mrs. Ralph Bryant, Mrs. Willie Byrd, Rev. S. L. Yeilding, Mrs. Lonnie Wyrosdick, Mrs. B. D. Taylor, Mrs. Altis Clemmer, Mrs. P. E. Clawson, Mrs. D. J. Barber as general secretary, Mrs. W. C. Hutchins, Mrs. Keith Williamson, and Donna Bryant.

Refreshments were furnished by church members and parents of the children.

Wesley Launches Vacation School

Vacation church school will begin Monday at the Wesley Methodist Church, according to the Rev. Jarrell Sharp, minister.

Mrs. Raymond Phillips is director, and there will be classes for youngsters five years of age through those in the sixth grade. Starting time is 9:30 a.m., and the morning sessions will continue through Friday.

Some, who are teaching, wear the gray robe of the order at work. Most do not, because it would make them too conspicuous among the workers at a factory bench or the salesman in a store.

Tokyo Minister Speaks At 1st Baptist Sunday

Pastor Shuichi Matsumura of the Tokewadai Baptist Church, Tokyo, Japan, will speak at the 7 p.m. worship service at the First Baptist Church Sunday. The Rev. Dub Jackson, Southern Baptist Missionary to Japan, will be his interpreter.

Rev. Matsumura is executive secretary of the Japan Baptist Convention. He was the director of the Japan Baptist New Life Movement in 1963, which resulted in thousands of Japanese turning to Christianity.

Hundreds of Texas Baptist pastors and laymen assisted the Japanese churches during the New Life Movement.

The Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Big Spring, was a part of the New Life Movement and became acquainted with Rev. Matsumura in 1963.

Rev. Matsumura is in the United States where he attended the Southern Baptist Convention in Dallas, and will attend the Baptist World Alliance in Miami Beach, Fla., in July. He will ask that the World Alliance meet in Tokyo in 1970.

FIRST VOLUNTEER OF MONTH
Mrs. Jane Dewlen, Charles Butts

Volunteer Wins Honor

The first presentation of a "volunteer of the month" award at Big Spring State Hospital was made Wednesday to Mrs. Jane Dewlen, Midland, at the hospital volunteer office.

Charles Butts, chairman of the volunteer council, presented a framed certificate to Mrs. Dewlen, a member of the Midland Volunteer Auxiliary to the hospital.

Mrs. Dewlen was chosen by votes of hospital patients. Each month the hospital will honor a volunteer worker through the new program.

Mrs. Dewlen has worked as a hospital volunteer for the past five years and has contributed more than 1,700 hours at the hospital. She was chairman of the Midland auxiliary last year.

Activities of the auxiliary include assisting in parties for patients, giving women patients shampoos, passing out candy and other aids. The group is purchasing three special chairs for the geriatric ward and a heavy-duty washing machine for another ward.

Mrs. Dewlen has also been active in work for retarded children and for the blind at Midland. Her husband is employed as office manager for Continental Oil Co. in Midland.

Leo Finally Losing Battle

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP) — Leo the lion has won every battle against eviction from his master's home. But today he appears to be losing his life.

Garageman Howard Sautter, owner of the rickety-crippled lion, said Leo is very ill and could die at any time.

Officials of Abington Township have tried since last November, under an ordinance prohibiting ownership of wild animals, to banish the lion.

Razing Work Begins Today

City crews are shown demolishing this structure at 406 Abrams this morning, the first building to be razed after city commissioners authorized the action this week. The crews moved to a second structure, at 506 Sunset Blvd., and demolished it later in the morning. A total of 16 buildings were declared fire or safety hazards by the commission Tuesday.

Center Gets Heavy Influx Of Donations

A heavy influx of gifts, totaling $611, raised the level to well over the $4,500 mark Friday in the fund-raising drive to equip the Howard County Rehabilitation Center. The center will need about $20,000 in gifts and equipment to meet its goal.

Today's gifts include a four-place stand-in table, by Newson's Food Store, valued at $225; a traction table, by the Altrusa Club, $305; a Radiant Baker, by the S&H Green Stamp store, $60; $10 by Mrs. Guy Guffee; $5 by Mrs. Ada Chandler; and $6 by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jacobs.

Those interested in aiding the center are asked to consider giving equipment rather than cash gifts, though donations are welcome.

Descriptions of needed devices are contained in a booklet available at the center's offices at Third and Lancaster, AM 3-2880.

Some previous donors: Walker Implement, $10; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Montgomery, $5; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hodnett, $10; Mrs. Nell Scribner, $5; Knights of Columbus, $25; Vicki and Susie Benson, a pegboard worth $1.75; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Newton, $5; Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Giddens, educational toys worth $15; Pete Jenkins, $5; Motes and Dales Club, $10; Gary and Jim Stallings, $1; Pat and Travis Myrick, $5; Jov. Joe and Jona Alexander, a woodworking set valued at $14; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McCall, $5; Pin, Robby and Charles Pindot, $5; West Fourth Street Church of Christ, $100; St. and Mrs. Milton Sirotski, $5; Mr. and Mrs. George Meteor, $5; and Chaplin and Mrs. C. O. Water District Reviews Efforts To Get Permit

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District went through a lengthy review Thursday of efforts to secure a permit for a lake near Robert Lee and moved to seek early action on the application.

Efforts are being made to compose differences with protestants, if possible, said Charles B. Perry, CRMWD president. However, the district is reaching the point where it will need to urge upon the Texas Water Commission the earliest possible action, he added.

Masonic Lodge Names Officers

Officers for 1965-66 were elected at a recent meeting of the Staked Plains Lodge 598 AF & AM. The elected were Bob Kennedy, worshipful master; W. B. Morris, senior warden; Joe Benfield, junior warden; Roy Lee, treasurer; T. R. Morris, secretary; and Harold Ray Broughton, tiler.

that the legislature has ad-journed, the district is hopeful that the case may be expedited. S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, the district's engineer, emphasized Thursday that by the time the Robert Lee project could be completed the district, and other area cities such as Midland will be needing this additional municipal supply. Already 19 months have slipped by since the application for an amended permit was filed. At the hearing in December and January, the chief protestant was the Lower Colorado River Authority. In addition to board members here for the Thursday session were Elbert Hooper, Joe Kilgore and Jim Wilson, Austin attorneys who are representing the district.

New Highway Organization Launched Here Thursday

Plans were started Thursday for the organization of a new Highway 80 Association when 26 persons from cities along the route from Baird to Monahans met at the Sands Restaurant.

Carroll Davidson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, presided and was later named to head a committee to draft a charter, by-laws, policies, and to propose plans for setting up a functioning organization with all cities from Fort Worth to El Paso and beyond invited to participate.

The proposed association will serve to promote travel on US 80 by means of signs, promotional literature, and other methods to be suggested.

Davidson pointed to some results of a meeting held in Big Spring about three years ago which resulted in two signs being placed. One is east of Weatherford and the other west of El Paso. He said Big Spring and Stanton had paid about $2,700 for the two signs. Van Horn, he said, also had paid for one west of El Paso.

Speakers pointed out that feasibility of cooperative effort on the part of all cities along the route, acting through a central committee, in providing more encouragement to tourists to travel US 80.

Rick Corn, with Thomas Neon Sign Co. of Abilene, exhibited a wall map showing traffic counts at key points along US 80 and US 190 to the north where a functioning association is working hard to increase traffic over that route. He said US 80 had the advantage of an all-weather, all-year route across the southern part of the United States. It also has more highway patrolmen.

A large portion of US 80 is already 4-lane and well-marked, he said. One drawback he pointed out was the entrance to US 80 at Weatherford from the east where US 180 presented a more inviting appearance with a 4-lane straight-away which became 2-lane later.

Corn urged a well-rounded program for promoting traffic through the use of signs, brochures (colored where possible), place mats in eating establishments, hotels and motels, radio, television and newspaper adver-

Road Election Has 24 Votes

Absentee ballots being cast on the Howard County road right-of-way bond issue totaled 24 in County Clerk Pauline Petty's office today. One ballot had been mailed on application.

Voters will go to the polls June 22 to cast ballots on the proposed $600,000 bond issue to purchase needed right-of-way for the extension and widening of FM 700 west from Goliad Street to its intersection with US 80 in West Big Spring; for extension of FM 700 from IS 20, east of the city, to State 350 (Snyder Highway), and for improvements on US 87 at its intersection with FM 700.

Absentee voting will end at 5 p.m. June 18.

tising. He pointed out the numerous roads leading off US 80 and the problem of keeping traffic on the main route.

Named to work with Davidson in formulating plans for the new US 80 Association were Burvin Hines, Midland; R. T. Wilson, Monahans; Cecil Bridges, Stanton; Bob Thompson, Sweetwater; Clud Holley, Baird; John Stripling, Abilene; Rick Corn, Abilene; O. T. Brewster, Big Spring.

Present at the meeting were: Stanley W. Wheeler, B. F. White, Paige Eiland, Gerald W. Hanson and Cecil Bridges from Stanton; Dink Allen, Dave Hixon, and R. D. Thompson, Sweetwater; Mr. and Mrs. Claud Holley, Baird; R. T. Wilson and H. C. Vinson, Monahans; Rick Corn, Bert Chapman and John Stripling, Abilene; Mrs. Don Guitar, Colorado City; Fred Tyler and Burvin Hines, Midland; Ike Robb, Cheney L. Plummer, O. T. Brewster, Jim Baum, M. A. Webb, Dean Robertson, Carol Davidson and Edith Gay from Big Spring.

Davidson said he would call a meeting of his committee as soon as possible to begin work on organizational plans.

Candidates Speak To Employees Unit

Twenty-five members of Chapter 52, Texas Public Employees Association, met at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Allred Building at Big Spring Hospital for a combined business and information session.

The president, Dr. Ralph Lydic, introduced two candidates for representative of the 78th district, Roger D. Brown and Frank Hardesty, who spoke about five minutes each. At the regular business meeting a letter from Stormy Weathers, vice president, submitting her resignation, was read and approved.

Maj. Glenn Lingenfelter, meteorologist with the U. S. Weather Bureau at Webb Air Force Base, spoke on weather and tornado conditions in this area.

Swimming Class Will Complete Work Saturday

Believe it or not, the swimming classes got rained out.

The Friday session of the learn-to-swim course, a part of the citywide recreation program, had to be postponed due to showers. The final session will be held Saturday morning at the City Park pool instead, said Jim Gilbert, director at the YMCA. All week participants have been battling weather because high winds made the activity a little on the frigid side.

Monday the Fun Clubs, a major activity of the summer program, will be started. Gilbert said that the program is still in desperate need of a pickup for transporting equipment between playgrounds. One had been pledged for a time, but Gilbert has been unable to re-new this contact. He would be grateful for the loan of a pickup during mornings, otherwise the program faces a serious problem.

The director had high praise for Janell Stone, Janet Jones, Fran Long, Barbara Burklow, Carol Hughes and Robbie Brown. These young ladies have given exceptional volunteer service on the swimming program, he said.

Two Injured In Head-On Collision

Two persons were taken by River-Welch Funeral Home ambulance to Malone and Hogan Clinic for treatment this morning after a two-car accident one mile east of Coahoma.

Mrs. John Nutt, 805 E. 16th, and C. C. Lawrence, US 80 east, drivers of the two cars, were being treated for minor injuries at the clinic. Both cars were reported traveling on the north access road shortly before 10 a.m. and struck head-on.

Apartment Project Gets Zone Change Approval

Two requests for zoning variances were approved by the zoning board of adjustment at city hall Thursday.

An apartment center for 909 and 911 Scurry received approval to exceed the maximum lot coverage requirements. The builder, Robert Heinze, told the board he planned a two-story structure which would include 13 apartments. According to the city ordinances, 12 apartments would be the maximum allowed under lot coverage requirements.

Heinze said the lot would contain parking for 16 cars inside the property lines and that the structure was within city setback requirements. He said with the 13 apartments, the building would be of a U-shaped design, with the 13th apartment above a covered parking area. The building is to be of 6,382 square feet.

The board approved a variance requested by Tom Belcher, 105 Walnut, for construction of a carport on the east side of his house, which would come within three feet of the side property line. The ordinance specification is a minimum of five feet.

Dad Administers Oath To His Son

David H. Perron, 17, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Gregory H. Perron, was sworn into the Air Force Reserve Thursday morning—his first step on his way to a regular Air Force commission.

Col. Perron administered the oath in the Air Base Group commander's office. David was enlisted in the reserves in preparation to entering the Air Force Academy Preparatory School. He is a 1965 Big Spring High School graduate.

Ailing Links Stars Lead At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — The first-round leaders in the $135,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament are nursing a variety of ailments, but their scores are healthy enough.

Billy Casper, the veteran Californian, said he didn't think he would even play Thursday after surgery the night before to remove a hemorrhoid.

But the 33-year-old Casper showed up anyway and posted a strong four-under-par 67 over Highland Park's 6,821-yard course.

"It didn't bother me a bit," Casper said of his minor operation after he moved into a first-place deadlock with defending titlist Tony Lema.

Champagne Tony, who rang up five birdies and a bogey in registering his 67, said he felt "lousy" because of a heavy cold.

"A few more birdies and I would have forgotten I had a cold," Lema joked after his impressive round.

And Tommy Aaron, one of five pros chasing the leaders only a stroke behind at 68, said he has been taking penicillin for a strep throat he picked up last weekend at the Buick Open.

Another pro fighting a nagging cold, Arnold Palmer, started slowly but finished with an even par 71.

For two of the tour's champions, it was a long day. U.S. Open titlist Ken Venturi, plagued by a circulatory ailment in his hands, shot a 70 while PGA king Bobby Nichols came in with a 75.

Snyder Tigers Earn Spot In Playoffs

SNYDER — The Snyder Tigers earned a place in the state baseball tournament in Austin next week when they swept a doubleheader from the Kermit Yellow-jackets Thursday afternoon.

They took the first game 3-2 in 13 innings, then shut out the Yellow-jackets 2-0 in the nightcap.

Coach Speedy Moffett's team had to win twice in order to qualify for the state tournament because they had lost 5-3 to the Kermit team Monday.

J. N. Wall in the first and Jerry Owen in the second game each turned in shining performances at the mound to pace the victories. Each had no-hitters going until the sixth inning.

The deciding run in the first game came on two errors on a Wall grounder, which let Leslie Brown, who had singled and

Milliken Leaves Job At Lamesa

ABILENE—Ken Milliken, former all-state Bobcat star and starter at Texas Tech, has signed a contract to become line coach at Abilene Cooper, his father, George Milliken, announced Saturday.

The three-time all-district and once all-state lineman is moving from his assistant position at Lamesa High to the Cougar school. He was head baseball mentor at the Tornado school and helped with the track program.

His primary duties will be to work with the linemen at Cooper.

Cleveland Wins Behind McDowell

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

The best advice Sam McDowell ever received was not to take any.

The 22-year-old Cleveland left-hander, a victim of the verbal handout, continued his outstanding pitching Thursday night by striking out nine in a 4-1 victory over first-place Minnesota and becoming the first American Leaguer to reach the 100-strikeout level this season.

McDowell now has won three straight, lifting his record to 6-3 while proving that the amazing flip-flop he made after the middle of the 1964 season was only the first step toward justifying the $100,000 bonus the Indians paid out five years ago.

For it was only last season that McDowell, who took advice so readily he learned his pickoff move in a telephone conversation, began to listen to General Manager Gabe Paul and walk away from all the free advice he was getting.

"I had a brainstorm," admits McDowell, "I woke up."

OLD RELIABLES

Instead of experimenting, McDowell began to rely only on a fast ball and curve, enough equipment for a guy with his overpowering speed.

So, he closed his ears, opened up with the fast ball and curve after three previous shutouts at the majors had proved fruitless and put together an 11-6 record over the final half of the season.

And now he suddenly has blossomed into the league's strikeout artist, challenging Sandy Koufax for the major league lead. McDowell has struck out 108 in 80 2-3 innings to 119 in 101 1-3 innings for the Los Angeles Dodgers' southpaw.

While McDowell was showing his problems are solved, Baltimore's Wally Bunker took his second straight swing at the sophomore jinx, allowing only an unearned run while scattering eight hits in a 5-1 victory over Washington.

In the only other AL game scheduled, the Chicago White Sox moved to within 1 1/2 games of the front-running Twins by downing Boston 4-2.

McDowell struck out Twins' slugger Harmon Killebrew three times and allowed Minnesota's only run in the second inning on a walk and singles by Jerry Kindall and pitcher Dave Boswell. He allowed only six hits until the ninth when the Twins threatened and Gary Bell finished up.

California Woman Sinks Golf Ace

Jerry McKone of Santa Barbara, Calif., who with her husband, Jim, is visiting here, will remember Big Spring, no doubt.

The woman, who has been playing golf about two years, got her first hole-in-one on the seventh hole of the Country Club Thursday while playing with Jim and her host, Lowell Jones. She used a five-iron to accomplish the trick.

The ace was the fifth recorded on local courses in recent weeks.

Yanks Shade Cards, 4-3

David Wright singled in the winning run in the fifth inning to lead the Yankees to a 4-3 victory over the Cardinals in a National Little League contest Thursday.

Third baseman Wright's single drove in Bob White to earn the win for the Yanks, who had only two hits. The Yankee pitcher, Stewart Bunn, was tagged for eight safeties, but Card basemen couldn't score after the first inning.

Mike Trimble singled in a run for his team while on his way to pitching a losing two-hitter.

Odessa Is Tied For Sixth Place

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Two Texas teams — San Antonio and defending champion Odessa — wound up tied for sixth place at the conclusion of the 1965 National Junior College Tennis Tournament Thursday.

Each team had six points. First place was won by Henry Ford Community College of Dearborn, Mich., with 27 points.

Talons Slam Starfighters

The International League Talons beat the Starfighters 7-3 Thursday on the sixth-pitching of Bob Davis and 10 hits by their battery.

Scoring two runs on Frank Peralta's homer, the Talons went ahead 5-3 in the bottom of the third of the winning margin. But they added a run in the fourth and another in the sixth for insurance.

Starfighter third baseman John Sevey knocked a homer, double and a single for a perfect day at the plate. Neil Parrott, Talon first-sacker, went three-for-four with two doubles and a single. Davis scored three runs in his own case, on two hits.

Lubbock Monterey Loses To Austin

By The Associated Press

Snyder, Dallas Samuel, Alvin and El Paso Austin advanced Thursday to the Texas state schoolboy baseball tournament to be held Tuesday and Wednesday in Austin.

Dallas Samuel and El Paso Austin will join Galena Park and Brownsville in the battle for the Class AAAA crown.

Snyder and Alvin round out the field in Class AAA where Waxahachie and South San Antonio have already won their regional series for the trip to Austin.

Snyder, which dropped its first game in the playoff series, had to come from behind Thursday to win a doubleheader, 3-2 and 2-0, from Kermit. Alvin broke a

In Texas after golf beer's the one...

After a hard-played 18 holes, it's good to settle down on a soft chair in the club house and add up the score with friends.

What better time for the drink that scores with almost every golfer — cool, thirst-quenching beer? Yes, beer's great to relax with, great for refreshment, great for taste. So whatever your sport — boating or baseball — swimming or tennis — relax afterwards with the zestful taste of beer.

Hyndman Reaches Quarter-Finals

PORTHCAWL, Wales (AP) — Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia carried Uncle Sam's banner into the quarter-finals of the British Amateur Golf Championship today but even at 49 he said it was not his legs he was worried about.

Said Mike: "Mr. Hyndman can worry about his own legs. I'll take care of mine." Throughout his sub-par march through the ranks of the amateur competition here Hyndman has been paying considerable heed to old Mike, who knows the golf courses of Britain like the back of his hand.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Russell Tidwell, commissioner of the American Softball League here, recently saw the Houston Astros in ten games in the Astrodome and says he'll go back this summer, if he can arrange it.

Incidentally, Paul Richards, general manager of the Astros, tried unsuccessfully three times to get Jim Gentile before he finally swung the deal by dangling $100,000 in front of Charles Finley of the Kansas City A's.

Big Spring's Bobby Wright, who with Luke Thompson must be given a good shot at the championship in the Big Spring Golf Open this weekend, finished at 310 in the recent Texas State Amateur Tournament at Midland.

Randy Petri, who rallied on the final day to win the Midland tournament, will be back in West Texas in July for the Odessa Pro-Am. His partner then will be David Bois, the Brownwood pro, who has been an entry in the Big Spring Open in the past.

Roy Peden, the well-known Kermit golfer-sports official, will pass up the Big Spring Open this year because, he says, he's "playing very poorly."

This item comes from an American Airlines publication: "If you bet a horse, that's gambling; if you bet you can make three spades, that's entertainment; if you bet cotton will go up three points, that's business. See the difference?"

The recent baseball series between El Paso Austin and Odessa High was largely a one-man show, with pitcher Bob Arnold casting a great shadow over all the talent present.

Ruidoso Downs is comfortably leading its neighborhood tracks in all departments of horse tracks, from pari-mutuel handle and attendance to the size of purses offered horsemen.

COMMERCIAL—Coach Delmer Brown has announced 13 lettermen on his 1965 East Texas State University track team, which captured its second straight Lone Star Conference championship in May.

The list includes one 4-year letterman, three 3-year lettermen, four 2-year lettermen and five 1-year lettermen.

R. L. Lasater, three-time LSC dash champion from Big Spring, earned his fourth letter. Lasater owns the LSC 220 record and shares the 100 m.

Coach Brown awarded a third letter to Basil Clark, Wilmer Hutchins (Dallas) junior; Morris Kyser, Pearland junior; and Ronnie McNeill, Corsicana senior.

IT'S EASY AS A B C to get the C-A-S-H from S.I.C. for things you want from A to Z. This is not very good poetry, but it's sound information. S.I.C. has specialized in providing money to people for over thirty years, and they are ready to work with you anytime you want money for any worthwhile purpose. One quick visit to the S.I.C. office nearest you will convince you. SOUTHWESTERN INVESTMENT COMPANY 501 East Third Street, Big Spring, Texas. AMherst 4-4281 309 South First LAMESA, TEXAS Phone 5406

Your Mercury dealer invites you to COMPARE Mercury's power-boosting silencing system with competitors' outboards. A new "floating capsule" engine cowling that traps sound inside, and a "wall of water" that surrounds Mercury's internal exhaust pipe to isolate and damp out noise within the drive shaft housing. That's why a national independent organization certifies the new Mercs are at least 50% quieter. You must drive 'em to believe the difference! Instead of extending the exhaust pipe underwater and losing power through back-pressure, Mercury fires the exhaust through a hollow Jet-Prop into the vacuum pocket behind the propeller hub. Exhaust sound and gases are buried far behind the boat... underwater drag is reduced... power to the prop is increased. Your Mercury dealer will be glad to show you all 15 engineering exclusives from power-head to prop that make Mercs 50% quieter... and give you more RUN for your money... 100, 90, 65, 50, 35, 20, 5.5, 6 and 3.9 hp.

Divided Roads Proving Safer

CHICAGO (AP) — "Now this is a long trip so play it safe; drive on divided highways where the traffic is heavy." As odd as this advice may seem, it is sound. Statistics show that despite heavy travel, divided highways, such as turnpikes, parkways and interstate highways, have a much lower fatality rate than older highways.

SAFEST ROUTES
During the three-day Memorial Day holiday period this year, in which a record 474 persons died in traffic crashes, divided highways were the safest auto routes.
An Associated Press survey indicated today that 12 deaths occurred on such roads in this period. And year-long traffic records show the same results. National Safety Council records show the fatality rate on turnpikes and interstate highways is less than half the national average and less than one-third the rural mileage death rate.
One key reason is that head-on collisions are extremely rare on divided highways, separated by land or by ditches, earthen mounds or tough steel or concrete barriers.
Head-on collisions took 7,361 lives in the United States last year, accounting for 15.4 per cent of the 47,800 traffic fatalities.

CROSSED MEDIAN
A motorist in Kansas and another in Michigan were killed during the Memorial Day holiday period after their cars crossed a grass median of the divided highways and collided with oncoming vehicles.
Steel barriers between divided highways are designed to prevent such accidents, but the barriers figured in two of the holiday deaths.
An Ohio woman was killed near Harrisburg, Pa., as the car in which she was riding struck the steel median barrier on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. An Ohio man was killed on Interstate 71 in Columbus when his car hit a steel-fender guard rail and careened into a utility pole.
The other causes of deaths on divided highways during the holiday included striking a bridge rail, ramming into a parked car, skidding into a ditch, hitting a light pole and running off the road.

REMEDIAL STEPS
Early turnpike operations in the United States were marred by head-on collisions caused by cars crossing into oncoming lanes. However, remedial steps are paying off.
During the first seven years of the New Jersey Turnpike, from 1952 to 1958, 46 of the 158 fatal accidents were caused by cars crossing over the unprotected median strip.

Damage Suit Asks $50,000
A suit, asking $50,000 for permanent injuries, $1,000 for treatment, and $800 for property loss, was filed in 118th District Court Wednesday. David P. Mitchum, individually and pro forma for his wife, Peggy J. Mitchum, 28, filed the suit against Glen Earhart, individually and as next friend of Gary D. Earhart, a minor, in connection with an automobile accident at East Fourth and Benton Streets May 17.
The suit alleges that Gary D. Earhart was driving a pickup truck, owned by his father, which struck the car driven by Mrs. Mitchum. Petition alleges that Mrs. Mitchum suffered permanent injuries, and that continual treatment is necessary.
Gerald K. Fugit, Odessa, is attorney for the Mitchums.

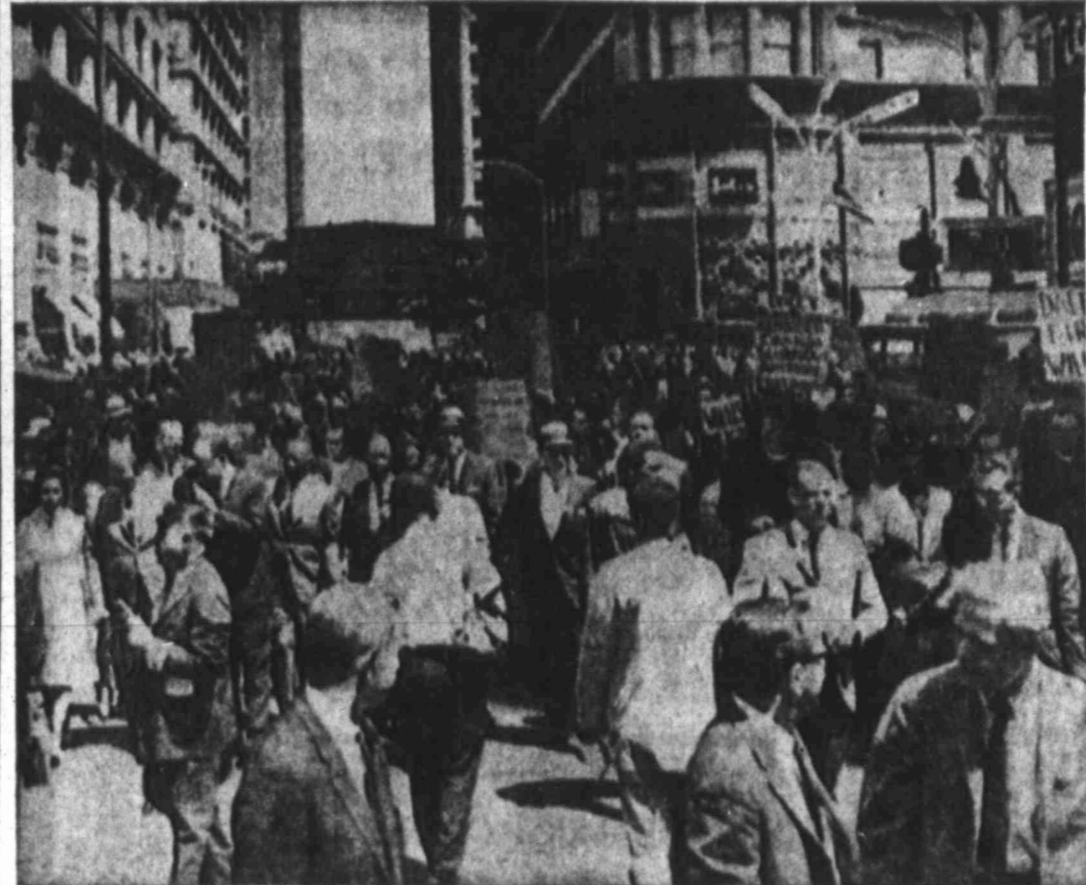

Indianans Get Refund Lesson
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A snafu over a state income tax refund has taught Indiana officials a lesson.
Last fall the treasurer's office asked Louise B. Claiborne of Fort Wayne to cash a $7.90 refund check sent earlier. It had been cashed in Hawaii but did not return immediately.
Mrs. Claiborne believed she hadn't received her refund and asked for it. Then the canceled check arrived from Hawaii and photocopies of the front and back, stapled together, were sent to her.
Thinking the check real, Mrs. Claiborne cashed the front side at a grocery. The draft cleared banks at Fort Wayne and Indianapolis. A state worker found the error.
Comparison of signatures showed Mrs. Claiborne endorsed both checks, officials said, adding the woman is completely bewildered by the incident.
She had to pay the grocery $7.90, and Treasurer Jack L. New ordered that all check duplicates be clearly marked "copy."

Peanut Losing
WASHINGTON (AP) — The peanut is losing ground as a livestock feed. As late as 1947, 3,377,000 acres were harvested as nuts and 3,996,000 acres were used as livestock feed. The total acreage had dropped to 1,993,000 acres last year, of which only 388,000 acres were used as feed.

Better Conditions
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that feed conditions and prospects for summer grazing of cattle and sheep improved in most of the Great Plains and Rocky Mountain areas during May. Livestock in these areas are in good condition despite cold weather in early May, the department said.

Protest March Blocks Traffic

Marchers, Boycott Aimed At Ousting Superintendent

CHICAGO (AP) — A drive to oust schools Supt. Benjamin C. Willis and to speed classroom integration produced a traffic-jamming march on City Hall Thursday and the city's third school boycott — this one unofficial.
Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality were scheduled to arrive today.
MARCHERS
Wilkins and Farmer planned to lead a group of civil rights marchers down busy streets from Soldier Field to City Hall, retracing Thursday's hour-and-15-minute march of some 200 persons which jammed traffic over the 2 1/2-mile route.
The boycott, originally backed by the NAACP and other civil rights groups; apparently was dampened by a court order enjoining integrationists from encouraging school absenteeism.
The Rev. Lynwood Stevenson, president of the Woodlawn Organization, a community group, claimed victory and said absenteeism was more than 100,000 — about three times the number of pupils normally out of school at this time of year. There are 536,160 youngsters enrolled in the school system.

PLEASED
On the other hand, Frank M. Whiston, Board of Education president, said he was pleased with what he described as a partial attendance check. He thanked parents "who were interested enough in the education of their children to keep them in school."
There was no official count of the number of youngsters who skipped classes. However, one spot check showed absenteeism up to 40 per cent in a few predominantly Negro schools, up to 25 per cent in some integrated schools and attendance about normal in predominantly white schools.

LAST ONE
The last boycott, in February 1964, pulled 172,350 pupils out of the classrooms, and a few months earlier 250,000 stayed out.
The demonstrations are aimed at ousting Willis, accused by civil rights groups of dragging his feet in eliminating alleged de facto segregation in the public schools.
The integrationists took aim at Mayor Richard J. Daley two weeks ago when the school board, appointed by the mayor, renewed Willis' contract with the stipulation that he resign on his 65th birthday, in about 18 months.

Warning Of Types Due Next Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A friend who makes a handsome but nervous living predicting television tastes and dreaming up program ideas to match them had a flare-up of his ulcer when he heard that CBS next season will have a show called "The Wild, Wild West."
As a close student of TV ways, he is aware that a successful show one season results in a spate of imitations the next, plus some which try to combine an established form with a new trend.
Thus, evolving new series ideas often becomes almost a slide-rule operation. He foresees trouble ahead if "The Wild, Wild West" hits the Nielsen top 10; it seeks to combine, not the usual two, but three forms: the perennially popular comedy, Old West plus the new secret-agent fad.
Before entering the intensive care section of his hospital, he sent me, in plain, unmarked wrapping, the following attempt to combine the Western, comedy and — here's the kicker — suds: "MARSHAL PLACE"
(Marshal Ben Ringo and his beautiful wife, Abigail, are having a cup of coffee at the bar of the Last Opportunity. A suitcase and hatbox are beside her.)
Ben: Abby, are you going to visit your ma in St. Louis again?
Abby: Ben, Ben, you're such a good man. I just don't know how to start. It isn't easy, Ben, because you've always been so good and understanding...
Ben: Are you trying to tell me something, Abigail?
(She breaks into sobs.)
Ben (puzzled): You mean?
Abby: Yes, yes. There's someone else. Oh Ben, you shouldn't have taken the stage to Cheyenne and left me alone so much. And your best friend! Ben: You mean...?
Abby: Yes, I must tell you. I love Evil Eye Charlie and he loves me. We are going to make a new life together and neither you nor Myrna, his jealous wife, can stop us.
Ben: Why, now you just dry your tears, Abby. And you two just run along. For a few minutes I thought you were planning to run off with my trusty horse. And I sure hope you and Evil Eye have a pleasant time.
(THE END)
My friend seemed unhappy, but I've just sent him a note saying I thought it was the most stimulating, creative, original outline for a pilot that I've read since someone smuggled me a new script with the working title of "Peyton Lane."
