

Psychological War Tactics Working

By ELTON C. FAY
 WASHINGTON (AP) — An increasing number of Viet Cong prisoners being taken, shown in Defense Department reports available Saturday, may reflect in part results of psychological warfare.
 Experts said the expanding program using airborne loudspeakers, leaflet drops and radio broadcasts may be a factor in the growing number of prisoners brought into South Vietnam lines.
DIFFERENCE
 They point out that it is difficult to determine whether a prisoner is captured before he can flee or whether he permits himself to be taken without a fight.
 The increase in prisoners in addition to what is reported as an upswing in the number of defectors from the Viet Cong. However, no firm figures on defector totals are available here.

 The upward trend in the prisoner count and defections in addition to what U.S. military men see as another indication of dissatisfaction in Viet Cong operations.
 Atrocities and terrorism attributed to the Viet Cong have increased sharply in recent months, statistics received here indicate. This is viewed as indication that the Viet Cong, finding increased neutralism or friendliness to the South Vietnamese cause among villagers, have intensified the execution program.
CHIEFS SLAIN
 One official said that the number of village chiefs slain by the Viet Cong approaches an average of one a day, plus slayings of others individually or in groups.
 The monthly total of prisoners captured, while still not large in over-all figures, has increased dramatically.
 In August 1964 statistics show the monthly total was 200; by January of this year it had climbed to 585. Then the seasonal slump in military action set in as harvest time began and the total fell to 335 by March. But by last month the total had climbed back to 540.
 The United States through both military and nonmilitary channels, aids the South Vietnamese government in psychological warfare through providing equipment and general advice.

Names Council On Consumerism

JOHNSON CITY, TEX. (AP) — President Johnson appointed Saturday 12 members of a consumer council to advise the government on a broad range of issues affecting consumer interests.
 The group will be headed by Mrs. Esther Peterson, an assistant secretary of labor. The public members named Saturday include Mrs. Florence Low professor of home economics of extension service, Texas A&M.

Held On $100,000 Bond

Duane Earl Pope, 22-year-old McPherson College graduate from Roxbury, Kan., is escorted in chains and handcuffs by an unidentified U.S. marshal after a hearing before a U.S. Commissioner here Friday. Pope surrendered to Kansas City police yesterday after telephoning them from his hotel room and telling them he was tired of running. He was the subject of a nationwide manhunt in connection with the robbery of a Big Springs, Neb., bank and the slaying of three bank employees. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Pope's Family Visits In Jail

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Duane Pope was closeted for hours Saturday with FBI agents seeking information about the Nebraska bank robbery in which Pope, a recent college graduate, allegedly killed the bank president and two employees.
 Late in the day, Pope's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pope, arrived at the jail. With them were a son, Dennis, 19, and a daughter, Elio, 14.
 They were taken into a room next to the one where Pope was being questioned.
 As the family was ushered in, Dennis Pope was asked the reaction of his parents.
 "It was shock," he replied.
 The elder Pope was asked if he would talk with newsmen after the visit with his son.
 "No sir, no sir," he replied emphatically.
 FBI agents would not reveal what Pope told them. The answer was "no comment" to all questions about the robbery of the Farmers State Bank of Big Springs, Neb., June 4.
 Karl Dissy, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said no information that would constitute trial evidence will be made public on instructions from the U.S. attorney general.
 The tall, lanky Pope, who graduated from McPherson (Kan.) College two weeks ago, was dressed in blue jeans and a white cotton short-sleeved shirt on which were stenciled the letters "CO Jail." Federal prisoners are held in the Jackson County jail.
 Pope, from the small central Kansas town of Roxbury, surrendered to police here Friday afternoon, saying he was "tired of running."
 Pope's face has remained expressionless whenever newsmen have seen him.
 He is under a federal charge

De Gaulle Agrees To Meet For Summit Conference

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle of France agreed Saturday to join with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in calling for a Common Market summit conference this year.
 The conference would deal with political cooperation among the six member nations. This has lagged far behind their progress in economic matters.
 De Gaulle and Erhard reached their agreement at the end of a two-day meeting held under the French-West German treaty of cooperation.
 The consent of the other Common Market members — Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg — will have to be obtained if the summit conference is to take place. Earlier attempts at arranging meetings on political cooperation have failed because of resistance to De Gaulle's views.
 There has not been a meeting of the six heads of government since 1961.
 De Gaulle insists on a loose confederation dominated by France. Erhard and other Common Market leaders would like to work toward a real United States of Europe.
 There was no indication that either De Gaulle or the chancellor had changed his basic views.
 Erhard had long sought De Gaulle's agreement to a conference which, it is believed, would help him in this summer's election. The political integration of Europe is a popular cause in West Germany.
 Erhard's spokesman, Karl-Guenther von Hase, said the De Gaulle-Erhard talks produced

“a good result.” He said chances are favorable that a summit conference will take place.
 De Gaulle and his ministers returned to Paris Saturday afternoon. Then Premier Georges Pompidou said in an interview recorded before the French departure that a summit meeting will depend on the events of the next few weeks.
 This apparently was a reference to discussions of new arrangements to finance farm subsidies in the Common Market, which must be made by the end of June. There is still no agreement on these among the Common Market countries.
 On over-all Common Market agricultural policy, De Gaulle's delegation made proposals that will be considered by the other member nations in Brussels, Belgium, starting Monday.
 De Gaulle had demanded earlier that West Germany yield ground on farm policy before June 30 or he would not agree to any kind of meeting on political cooperation.

Rhode Island Man Is Driver Of Year Among Truckers
 PROVIDENCE, R. I. — A Rhode Island truck driver who rescued a school teacher from drowning and has logged nearly a million miles without an accident is the 1965 National Driver of the Year, the American Trucking Associations announced here Friday.
 Russell L. Beaulieu, a driver for the Providence, R. I., terminal of the New York City based Branch Motor Express Co. was cited for his act of bravery and outstanding safe driving record during his 18-year driving career. Most of his driving was done in areas of heavy traffic congestion.
 The 35-year-old truck driver, a resident of Fall River, Mass., was nominated for the national award by the Rhode Island Truck Owners Association which had previously named him state Driver of the Year.
 Beaulieu, a skin diving hobbyist, rescued Edward F. Wright, 54, a Swansea, R. I., school teacher last November when Wright's car failed to make a turn on a road leading to a textile mill and plunged into the chilly waters of the plant's pond.
 The truck driver, who saw the accident as he backed his tractor trailer into the plant's loading dock, raced to the edge of the pond as the car started to sink. Beaulieu dove into the icy water and reached the car as it settled on the bottom 12 feet down. He pulled Wright through the car window, brought him to the surface and helped him to shore.

MoPac Material Purchases Grow
 ST. LOUIS — Purchases of fuel, material and supplies by the Missouri Pacific Railroad in 1964 rose to $66,813,000 from $55,457,000 in 1963, the company said today.
 Not included in 1964 purchases was another $57,000,000 in capital expenditures made by MoPac for equipment and improvements.
 The Missouri Pacific spent $18,000,000 — up almost $5,000,000, or 38 per cent, over 1963 — on such operating essentials as rails, locomotive and car parts, and machinery of all kinds.
 By percentage of increase, forest products — ties, bridge and building lumber, and similar items — led with a rise of 84 per cent of $2,885,000. Spending for MoPac for miscellaneous supplies such as building materials, callist, office and train supplies, and communications and signal material totaled $34,115,000, for a rise of 22 per cent over 1963. Fuel purchases totaled $11,717,000, a decrease of 6 per cent under the previous year.

Farmers Union Now Disagrees

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — It looks as though a long and warm relationship between Democrats and the National Farmers Union is cooling. They're disagreeing on future farm aid proposals.

The upshot of this mutual disenchantment might well bring some big changes in the make-up of national farm organizations and could hasten the day when the government's role in farm programs fades away.

For many years the Farmers Union has been the staunchest supporter among farm organizations of strong federal intervention into agriculture to stabilize prices and incomes through rapid production control and farm supply management programs.

The Farmers Union, through President James A. Patton, has closely linked itself with Democrats in presidential campaigns since the Roosevelt New Deal of the 1930s. Unlike its rival organizations, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange, the union made no effort to hide its partisanship.

But the warmth that existed in this relationship began to cool after President Johnson started laying out his domestic programs — particularly in the field of federal spending and farm legislation. The union leaders could hardly believe what they read when Johnson emphasized he was out to cut government spending, including that in farm programs.

The President's farm message urging what his aides regard as a moderate approach between those who want more farm aid and those who want less came as a shock to Patton and his associates. They called the presidential proposals inadequate to assure farmers the returns which they claimed the Democrats had promised during the campaign.

Patton and his aides have made it a point to advise the House Agriculture Committee at hearings on farm legislation of its disappointment. The union has gone even further to express its feeling. It has lashed out at Democratic farm leaders in Congress.

CHARLES L. BENNETT

Chas. Bennett Goes To Cairo

Charles L. Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Bennett, has been selected to attend the American University in Cairo, U.A.R., this summer.

A spring graduate of the University of Texas in math and linguistics, Bennett is one of 30 students from U. S. colleges selected by their professors to attend the United Arab Republic school.

A 1961 graduate of Snyder High School, Bennett will study linguistics at the university from June 21 through Aug. 14. He will leave Midland by air Monday and meet the other students in New York City's Kennedy Airport. From there they and host, Dr. Frederick Cox of the University of Oregon, will leave for Lisbon, Rome, Athens and arrive in Cairo June 20.

The group will visit Istanbul and Paris on the return trip. Sterling Bennett is branch manager for the General Adjustment Bureau Mrs. Bennett is employed at Swartz store.

Air Defense Units Plan Alert Anniversary Date

Air Defense Command fighter interceptor pilots will be ready to go as usual as the command marks its 15th anniversary of active runway alert June 27.

Alert to the possibility of a hostile attack, ADC stands ready with 39 fighter interceptor squadrons and six air defense missile squadrons armed with the Bomarc interceptor guided missile.

Fighter interceptor squadrons are equipped with McDonnell F-101B Voodoo, Convair F-102 Delta Dagger, Convair F-106 Delta Dart all-weather interceptors and Lockheed F-104 Starfighters.

Locally, the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron—in part on assignment to Puerto Rico—is based at Webb AFB. The 331st is equipped with F-104 Starfighters. Before getting the F-104s, the 331st aircraft were F-102 Delta Daggers. The squadron is commanded by Lt. Col. Michael Shareck.

Fifteen years ago, while still a unit of the Continental Air Command, ADC's pilots were ordered to 24-hour-a-day alert due to news of Soviet possession of the atomic bomb, the intensification of the cold war and the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

With the establishment of the alert system, a modern radar network was begun and all-weather interceptors were added to the nation's air defenses. In 1951, ADC headquarters was transferred here from Mitchel AFB, N. Y., to supervise the buildup of air defense.

Three years later, ADC joined Army and Navy counterparts under the U. S. Continental Air Defense Command. In 1957, the organizations merged with the Royal Canadian Air Force to form the North American Air Defense Command.

Today, some 131,400 hours since first alert, ADC pilots maintain constant vigil with the latest missiles, rockets and interceptor aircraft. They can seek out and destroy aircraft of a potential aggressor at any time and in any weather.

Critical War Phase Due In Viet Nam

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Official Washington reluctantly accepted Saigon's latest government change Saturday and focused on what it predicted will be "fairly critical" military action in the near future in the Vietnamese war.

ASSESSMENT
Administration sources presented this assessment: The Communist Viet Cong probably will mount a series of sharp assaults during the coming two months while the monsoon rainy season gives them some protection against air attack.

—A Red aim will be to shatter South Vietnamese government morale and put pressure on the United States.

—If the Viet Cong guerrillas are beaten back, Communist North Viet Nam may have second thoughts about its refusal to talk about a peace settlement. And the antiguerrilla campaign will become more manageable, regardless of Hanoi's intent.

—If the Viet Cong offensive proves generally successful, there will be a deterioration in South Viet Nam and a need for reassessment of the war effort. But in any case the deep U.S. commitment to defense of the country will remain.

In sum, U.S. officials describe the forthcoming monsoon phase of the war as "fairly critical" and say "in the next weeks and months the men and boys will be separated."

The administration officials concede the results are not yet in but they list a number of factors which could lead to victory over the Reds.

They give this assessment of the military situation: Viet Cong prospects—The Red guerrillas have been mustering resources for their monsoon strikes, but probably will be unable to hold any main positions that they do take. This is because they lack back-up support and good supply lines.

South Vietnamese government prospects—The South Vietnamese forces have superior mobility and fire power that can be brought to bear where the Viet Cong concentrate. U.S. air support will be available at least part of the time because monsoon rains are not day-long.

U.S. ground support—While American troops may be rushed into help out Vietnamese government forces in specific emergencies, no large-scale U.S. ground combat operations are in the works though some increases in U.S. forces are likely.

The main ground fighting burden will be borne by 582,000 South Vietnamese regular soldiers and militiamen. Of the 53,000 U.S. military personnel there, only 13,000 are ground combat troops and about 7,000 have air combat assignments.

Bombings—The air attacks against North Viet Nam will continue but there is no intent to strike at population centers at this time. There remain many military targets and the bombing of bridges, railroads, highways, ammunition dumps and the like is seriously interfering with Hanoi's supply routes to the south.

Negotiations—Some 13 attempts at peace discussions have been made, and all have been rebuffed by Hanoi and Peking.

LESS ALARMING
As for the latest political maneuvering in Saigon, the Washington officials rated the military take-over this time as less alarming than some of the past coups in South Viet Nam.

They noted that even while not in official government positions, South Vietnamese military leaders have never been far from the seat of power. And the latest change, the U.S. officials felt was in a sense a move to satisfy critics who want stronger prosecution of the war.

Balloting Hits 48 For Special Legislative Race

Fifteen absentee ballots were cast between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Friday in the office of County Clerk Pauline Petty for candidates for representative of the 78th legislative district. The total, including mail ballots which have been returned, now stands at 48.

Frank Hardesty, Roger D. Brown, and Harold Hall are seeking the post left vacant by the death of Ed Carpenter, and the high man will be elected. The candidates are all from Big Spring but the winner will represent seven counties: Howard, Martin, Glasscock, Sterling, Reagan, Irion and Coke.

The election was set for June 26, and absentee balloting closes at 5 p.m. June 22.

Information On Road Bonds To Be Presented This Week

A program of information designed to gain broad support for the forthcoming county road bond issue will get under way this week, it was announced Saturday by Clyde McMahon, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce highway committee.

Property-owning qualified voters of the county will vote Tuesday, June 22, on a proposal for the county to issue $600,000 in bonds to finance required right-of-way acquisitions.

The election called in response to a petition, has received the full endorsement of McMahon's committee, as well as the board of directors of the C-C.

"Some of us who have examined this entire program feel that it is nothing but good business to make possible Howard County's getting back 'on the move' in important highway construction," he said.

Speakers are to appear before seven service club organizations during the next week, to outline the whole program. In addition, panel presentations are to be arranged on the local radio stations and television station.

Bond money, as required, will be used to purchase right of way for a northward extension of FM 700 from Interstate 20 to Snyder Highway, with the northern terminus at the Gail Road-Snyder Highway intersection. The State Highway Department already has money allotted for this project, is waiting on the county to fulfill its commitment on the land.

Further purchases will be for the straightening and widening of FM 700, westward from Gailad Street, across US 87 south, and on to a new intersection (near the Desert Sands Motel) with US 80 west. A grade separation is planned at the FM 700-US 87 intersection (Marcy and Gregg). This road is one of the most heavily used thoroughfares in the county.

The County Commissioners Court has announced that bonds will be sold only as required for the two projects. Authorization remaining could be used for future county road development.

A 7-cent tax rate has been announced as the maximum necessary to finance the issue. It could be less, if good interest rates are obtained, and would be due to decrease as other bonded debt is paid off.

Coin Collectors Plan Auction For Rehabilitation

Big Spring Coin Club members collected coins Thursday to raise money for the Howard County Rehabilitation Center. The collector's pieces will be sold to raise cash. The collection was made during the regular monthly meeting at the Settles Hotel.

Dates for the fourth annual Coin Show were also determined. The show will be Oct. 23-24. W. C. Wozencraft will be bona fide chairman, Lois McKeel general chairman.

It was announced that junior members will have charge of the next regular meeting.

LETTER Asks About Delays

To the Editor:
In March of 1964, a letter from the city commission was posted on the front door of the house at 403 Northwest 12th Street stating that this property is unsafe and unless removed or repaired within 60 days the city would clean it up and the cost would be assessed against the property. There were two houses on this lot. One of them was torn down and big weeds and trees were cut and the debris is still there.

Wednesday's Herald stated that the property owner has been given another 60 days in which to take action. Is this all that our city ordinances amount to? Are they simply "suggestions" to some people to comply "sometime," if they want to?

This place can be seen easily by people driving through Big Spring from east or west on Interstate 20 and from the north on US 87. It does not present the kind of picture that would say "Big Spring is a pretty place."

Congress Showing Distaste For The LBJ Rubber Stamp

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is becoming restive under ironhanded White House direction and is beginning to reassert its prerogatives by pinpricking President Johnson on sensitive issues.

Qualified observers believe that the frustration and uneasiness members feel over the increasing U.S. involvement in the war in Viet Nam have contributed, as a kind of political reflex action, to several recent actions to curb presidential authority.

HAVE A SAY
Some members seem to feel that if they aren't going to be consulted on Viet Nam they are going to have more to say about what is going on closer to home.

The Senate's consideration of the foreign aid authorization bill is a case in point.

A majority of members not only cut $200 million off Johnson's $3.44-billion request but they wrote into the bill an amendment reducing to 15 percent—instead of the 20 percent program. But they, and even some of the President's friends, are making some headway in the field of restricting executive action.

The House vote last Thursday to give Congress a veto over the closing of military bases followed a White House partial retreat on the decision to close 11 Veterans Administration hospitals.

Because of the congressional revolt, the number of hospitals to be shut down was reduced to six.

GETS VETO
But the House Veterans Committee has approved a bill to give it a veto over construction of new and closing of old hospitals.

Johnson probably will have his way in this matter. By exercise of his veto power he could shake off some of the other shackles Congress is trying to place on him.

But no matter what happens in the end, Congress is showing a strong distaste for the smell of the ink on the LBJ rubber stamp.

Motel To Honor Oil Credit Card

Mayo Ranch Motel of Big Spring has joined 900 other members of the Best Western-Best Eastern Motel Association June 1 in honoring both American Oil Company credit cards and those of its midwest Standard Oil division for room, food, and related charges, according to Mrs. P. B. Baloyidge, the local motel owner.

More than 28,000 service stations coast to coast handle the products of the oil company, which has more than six million credit cards in circulation. The association has more than 900 member motels across the nation and in Canada, with a total of nearly 55,000 rooms. Motels are independently owned and maintain prescribed standards of service, facilities, and cleanliness to qualify for membership.

NEW SHOPPING CENTER SHAPES UP
Work on the Piggly Wiggly Super Market, 1, and Montgomery Ward, 2, continues

Work Nears Completion On Many Major Projects

By PRESTON MAYNARD
Construction work in Big Spring and county areas may have been slowed some by recent rains, but week's end saw more than a half dozen major projects, almost $2 million worth, well on the way toward completion dates in coming months.

RAMADA INN
The first major project nearing completion is the Ramada Inn complex, valued at around $400,000, on IS 20 northwest of the city. The 72-unit motel is scheduled for opening in the next week or 10 days, to include a restaurant, coffee shop, private club, and a banquet room with a capacity of 250 persons.

Workers this week will be putting finishing touches on the two-story brick structure, including roofing, painting and carpet work. Furniture was moved in this past week. Work is near completion on the swimming pool, which will contain four semi-circular fountains at each corner of the rectangular area, to provide cascading water over the pool.

Grass has been seeded in the lawn areas of the motel and asphalt parking areas have been completed. The motel is owned by Marshall Fields, Big Spring.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
About 85 per cent of the work on the new First Baptist Church is now complete, said John Gary, of Gary and Hohertz, architects for the structure. The church, on Marcy Drive near Wasson Road, is scheduled for completion by about Oct. 1. The church is to cost around $300,000.

Most of the work remaining is on the interior of the sanctuary and buildings, with some brick work still to be done on the exterior. Work on interior partitions, electrical installations, cooling and heating equipment, light fixtures and ceiling panels is under way.

HIGHLAND CENTER
Another major project continuing is the Highland South Shopping Center, more than $350,000, at FM 700 and US 87. Work on the Montgomery Ward Store is nearing completion, with the ceiling panels, interior partitions, sidewalks and other items currently being installed. Ducts for heating and air conditioning have been placed, in addition to lighting fixtures and glass.

The new Piggly Wiggly Super Market, at the east end of the shopping complex, is under construction, with the exterior brick walls now placed on the steel framework. Interior work remains to be carried out.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN
The new Howard County Rehabilitation Center, a $165,000 building, is about 80 per cent complete, according to Gary. Exterior work has been primarily completed, with work now centering on completion of the interior. Occupancy is expected the end of July or mid-August.

STATE HOSPITAL
A $200,000 renovation project at the Big Spring State Hospital is near completion. The first building involved, Ward 505, was recently occupied, with the second building, Ward 506, to be opened for use in about 30 days. Both buildings were remodeled almost entirely on the interior to make them into modern dormitory facilities for the hospital, with improved lighting, electrical and plumbing installations and larger ward areas. The 505 is located south, and 506, north of the Weaver Building.

AIRPORT
Steel framing is being installed at the new Howard County Airport building which will house the new pilot training program for Webb AFB. Panel work is to be done on the outside of the building this week, with the 80 by 80-foot structure expected to be occupied by the end of June. The building is to cost about $32,000.

RADIO STUDIOS
Construction has begun on the new "Radio Center" planned by the Cobra Corp., owner of radio stations KHEM and KFNE-FM. The new building will be located southwest of the FM 700-IS 20 intersection east of Big Spring.

To contain 2,400 square feet, the building will be of steel panels with brick trim and include offices, a lounge, studio facilities for both stations and transmitter facilities for KHEM. Completion is expected about mid-July, Bob Bradbury, station manager, reported, with a cost of about $30,000.

The concrete slab has been poured and steel framing erected, with steel panel work to begin this week, followed by work on interior partitions. The building will contain central heating and cooling.

CAMPING SITE
City crews are completing final touches on the overnight camping site at the east entrance to City Park, to cost about $5,000. A restroom building is being constructed at the site, to contain arched roof sections similar to those placed recently on concrete pavilions at Moss Creek Lake. Picnic tables, barbecue cookers, a lighting system and water outlets have previously been installed at the location, with spaces graded and leveled for the parking of overnight camp trailers by passing tourists. Signs are to be placed on highways around the city concerning the campsite.

COAHOMA
A construction project soon to move under way at Coahoma is the school expansion, with architects now working on plans for the renovation of the old auditorium into five new classrooms, as the first step in the project. Construction on the classrooms should begin in about a month, Gary reported, and the remainder of the project should involve about a year of construction. The expansion involves $395,000 in bonds.

The project involves a new elementary gymnasium, new band hall, fieldhouse, kitchen extensions and, as needed, 12 other classrooms.

Top Salesman
Richard R. Pfeiffer was named "man of the month" in the Prudential Odessa district office, according to manager Joe W. Jacobs. Pfeiffer serves in the Big Spring area for the company from the Prudential office at 709 E. Third. He won this recognition in competition with more than 30 Prudential agents during May.

Texas Wheat Crop Looking Better

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas' wheat crop promises a yield more than six million bushels above the May 1 forecast, the Agriculture Department said.

Its May 1 estimate was made near the end of a severe dry spell in some of the state's most productive wheat areas. After that good rains came to the wheat counties, and then the big problem of getting it out of muddy fields before weather destroyed it.

Demonstrators Flood Streets

CHICAGO (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators demanding the ouster of Schools Supt. Benjamin C. Willis broke ranks Saturday and spread out along State and Madison streets in downtown Chicago, one of the world's busiest intersections.

The first to be escorted to police vehicles was the Rev. Mr. Porter. Right behind him came Sister Jane, a member of the Daughters of Charity, who led five other nuns of the same order from Our Lady of Sorrows church on the West Side.

The Rev. Mr. Porter and Lucas are Negroes. The nuns are white.

The civil rights groups claim Willis is maintaining de facto segregation in Chicago's public schools.

WHOLESALE

Police, for the second straight day, made wholesale arrests. Many of the demonstrators were loaded in waiting patrol wagons. Some of the demonstrators were lying in the streets.

The march had about 500 participants when it began earlier in Grant Park. The marchers had said they were going to City Hall and meet with Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Police said the demonstrators had agreed to stay on sidewalks before the march was permitted to begin.

About 50 or 60 of the demonstrators suddenly broke ranks as they neared the intersection of State and Madison.

The demonstrators knelt or sat, clapping and chanting: "Go Ben Willis, go now, go, go, go."

Police were ordered to link arms to prevent the other marchers from pushing out into the street.

TIED UP

Traffic was completely tied up in the area, which is about four blocks from City Hall.

The parade was headed by Robert Lucas, Chicago chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality, and the Rev. John R. Porter, pastor of the Christ Methodist church. In the forward ranks were five nuns. The parade ran counter to throngs of shoppers in the city's main department store center. The marchers chanted, "Ben Willis must go" and, "Daley must go."

When the demonstrators pushed into the street at State

LAMESA (SC) — Graveside rites will be at 9 a.m. Monday at Lamesa Cemetery for Joseph M. Broom, 78, who died Friday in Athens, Tex. He was a retired farmer and long-time resident of Lamesa before moving to Athens.

The Rev. Milo B. Artuckle, pastor of First Baptist Church, will officiate at the graveside services, with burial under direction of Branon-Phillips Funeral Home.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Grace Jenkins, San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Virginia Eakins, Tucson, Ariz.; and Mrs. Dorothy Dupree, Athens; three sons, John Broom, Dallas; Bepton Broom, Fort Worth; and Bill Broom, Houston; three sisters, Mrs. Dora Wood, Mrs. E. B. Moore and Luella Broom, all of Lubbock; one brother, Frank Broom, of Athens; 19 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Bid Jointly For AEC Pact

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas and Fort Worth will enter a joint bid Tuesday to the Atomic Energy Commission for location in this area of a national accelerator laboratory—for atom smashing, high-energy physics.

An initial investment of $250 million would top that of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Houston's Manned Space Flight Center. The laboratory would explore nuclear reactions and problems in high energy physics.

As many as 50 bids may be entered by cities, and even states. The National Academy of Sciences will narrow the field, with the government making the final selection.

Among cities known to be bidding are San Antonio, Houston, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Chicago, Indianapolis, Atlanta, Kansas City and St. Louis.

Texas' 36th Division Stages Governor's Review

Gov. John Connally was unable to attend.

Two former T-patchers, James Arnold and Johnnie E. Carlisle, were presented Bronze Star medals which they earned while serving with the 36th in World War II. The Oak Leaf Cluster to the Bronze Star medal was presented to Senior Sgt. John Hensley of the 1st Battalion, 142nd Infantry.

Sailing To Hawaii

Mrs. Sharon Sites waves to the crowd as she leaves from a small boat harbor near Los Angeles today, headed for 2,300-mile trip to Hawaii — all by herself. Mrs. Sites, 34-year-old divorcee, learned to sail a year ago. She'll carry no radio or her 25-foot sloop, but food enough for 65 days. She expects to reach Hawaii in 30 or 40 days. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Divorcee Sets Sail For Hawaii

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A blonde divorcee set sail Saturday for Hawaii, alone in a 25-foot sloop.

Mrs. Sharon Sites, 34, hopes to be the first woman to sail from Los Angeles to Hawaii alone. Her only company on the trip is a four-inch turtle.

She has had only a year's yachting experience and her sailing instructor sought unsuccessfully to convince her not to attempt the trip. The U.S. Coast Guard warned her the plan was "extremely hazardous."

Among the hazards mentioned: "I don't expect they had a chance once they got into the main current," he said.

Mrs. Thomas Corbett, 27, wife of a railroad worker, told of being warned of the approaching water and fleeing in a car with her five children to safety.

She said a family of four in a car nearby "got out of the car and started running and the water took them off."

Wants Higher Military Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., said Saturday he will introduce legislation to extend the minimum wage law to members of the armed services.

"I am convinced," he said, "that the present military pay scale is not only inadequate, it is unrealistic."

Gonzalez' bill would grant to all members of the uniformed services a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour. It would apply to the first 40 hours of duty each week actually worked, but there would be no overtime pay and the minimum wage would not apply beyond 40 hours a week.

The effects, he said, would be to set a pay floor beneath the military man of about $200 a month.

Flying Meeting

The Big Spring Flying Club will meet Monday at 9 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce offices, according to John Stanley, president. There will be a film shown concerning flying safety.

Minor Mishap On Highway 176

A minor mishap was reported on SH 176, 12½ miles west of the city late Saturday.

David Lynn Porter, Andrews, driving west and towing a golf cart, was involved in a collision with a pickup driven by Lucille Romine, Big Spring. Leocodia Valdez, a farm hand in the pickup, received minor injuries. Both vehicles received some damage.

THE WEEK

(Continued from Page 1) mer teachers in the Negro school there filed suit in district court in Pecos alleging they had been deprived of their civil rights when they were not rehired. Not so, said district officials. Four teachers, two white and two Negro, were not rehired because closing of two schools eliminated need for four teachers.

There was a bright note on the city fire prevention front. May losses were held to $651, the lowest in 15 months. We simply must have more splendid months like that, for the first three months of the year produced $105,000 in insured losses. The total loss for all of 1964, which was twice too high, was $112,000.

Don Hickson, our entry in the National Spelling Bee, got tripped up on modern progress. There was a time when poplin was a familiar cotton fabric, but in a day of nylon, dacron, orlon, etc., Don had never heard of it—and not as pope-lin, as he understood the pronouncer to say it. Anyhow, he was 49 among 70 when he went out, and that's something that makes us might proud.

ROADS WASHED OUT

Highway travel in the Sanderson area was restricted because of washouts. Rescue workers and supplies were being routed around in the east.

Officials said they hope to have busy U.S. 90, a main east-west coast-to-coast route, open shortly.

Up to 11 inches of rain at Longfellow, 20 miles west of here, rolled down Sanderson Canyon. The gushing torrent swept away some houses with people clinging to them.

The wall of water rose to the eaves of other houses and spread out 500 yards in places.

State police said the death toll would mount as searchers spread down the canyon and into widespread debris.

The storm surged through town at about 7 a.m. Friday.

FUZZY PATH

It left an incredible fuzzy path of death and destruction, virtually wiping out three families.

The water crushed through the Sanderson Commission Co. building in which wool and mohair was stored, stringing the fabric in its devastating wave.

Six members of the John Wesley Johnson family died in the sudden cloudburst and four members of another family—all children—also were missing.

Bags of mail and telegrams have been pouring into Connor's office since his "open letter to employers" asking cooperation in President Johnson's youth opportunity campaign.

Almost all the letters pledge support and state the number of jobs to be given. But a liberal sprinkling of them also offer

Rivers Picks Up Vinson's Scepter

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the formidable Carl Vinson ruled the House Armed Services Committee, he once dismissed a rumor he was about to be named secretary of defense with the wry comment: "I'd rather run the Pentagon from up here."

There was some truth in that observation from the crusty Georgia Democrat who, legend has it, made generals, admirals and colleagues quake.

When "Admiral" Vinson re-tried last year, another Southern, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., took up Vinson's ceptor and philosophy—with a vengeance.

At January's opening meeting of the committee under his command Rivers banged the gavel and drewled: "I hope some day I may achieve some portion of the success Mr. Vinson attained as chairman."

However, there are those on the committee who feel Vinson's tough handling of the Pentagon was more apparent than real and, as one senior member put it, "Rivers is showing we're not kidding."

Rivers now is leading the committee in clashes with the Pentagon over military pay and the Reserve merger plan and waving the flag of congressional authority.

He drove the point home with a flourish Thursday. He engineered a stiff slap at Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the committee's prime antagonist.

Almost gleefully the House shouted approval of Rivers' measure to give Congress review and veto power over shutdowns or substantial reductions of military bases and facilities.

Passage of the provision—in a $2-billion military construction authorization—was considered by many to be the sharpest setback in the House this session for the administration. There even has been an indirect threat of a presidential veto if the provision should survive the Senate.

Some old hands on Capitol Hill see the approval as nothing more than a letting off of steam by congressmen forced to stand powerless and badgered by constituents as McNamara axed bases in their district.

Some Youngsters Are Getting Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — As far as Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor can tell, about 250,000 young people are getting work through the government's summer-job drive—and apparently one youngster got fired because of it.

One irritated small businessman in Ohio told the secretary: "If you fat politicians think I'm going to add to my costs just to make you birds in Washington look good and line your pockets and make it look easy for the next election you are nuts."

"I'll help all right — I'll lay off one employe just to help. This will give you something to do. I'm interested in youth but there is better ways of doing it than our federal government is doing it. Just start looking for a place for one more unemployed."

A sampling of the first 3,000 letters to arrive from business firms showed employers of every size cooperating in the effort to give temporary working and learning experience to boys and girls aged 16 to 21.

United States Steel Corp. promised Connor it would add one extra trainee for every 100 employees on its vast payroll. International Business Machines reported plans to hire 1, 200 R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. has begun the hiring of 600.

Similar assurances have come from Humble Oil & Refining, American Telephone & Telegraph, the Kaiser companies, Lockheed Aircraft, Hilton Hotels, and the Rexall and Walgreen drug chains.

Kluxers Rally After Rites

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Almost 100 hooded and robed Klansmen gathered in an open field near here Saturday for a rally shortly after memorial services were staged for a slain Negro civil rights leader across town.

Members of the United Klans of America, headed by Natchez truck driver E. L. McDaniel, gathered just off busy, four-lane U.S. 61. The group staged a caravan to the spot.

FBI agents photographing the passing cars and Klan-clad participants, were targets for jeers and shouts. Some yelled: "Why don't you get a job?"

Earlier, Negro leaders held a memorial service marking the second anniversary of the slaying of Medgar Evers. He was field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People when he was shot from ambush in 1963.

Most of the rally was devoted to verbal blasts at a weekly newspaper editor, Forest Johnson, who publishes the Miss-Lou Observer. The Natchez newspaper has been critical of Klan activities and has called for law and order in dealing with social changes.

Adm. Kauffman Assumes Duty

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Rear Adm. Draper L. Kauffman, who gained distinction in World War II wearing swimming trunks and riding a rubber raft, became the 44th superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy Saturday.

The pioneer of the Navy's frogman, or underwater demolition team program, relieved Rear Adm. Charles S. Minter Jr. in a colorful change of command ceremony in the academy's Memorial Hall.

Chou's Visit Has Backfired

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's visit to neighboring Tanzania has backfired in Kenya, where a top government minister has underscored President Jomo Kenyatta's rejection of Chou's revolution call.

Finance Minister James Gichuru told Parliament in a weekend speech that Chou had no shame and that it was time the Kenyan government challenged Red Chinese agencies operating in the country.

Chou left last Tuesday after a four-day visit to Tanzania's capital, Dar es Salaam, and the federated island of Zanzibar, which has been described as the scene of a Chinese attempt to set up a Chinese Cuba.

In a speech in Dar es Salaam, Chou declared that an "exceedingly favorable situation for revolution prevails today not only in Africa, but also in Asia and Latin America."

Kenyatta, a Mau Mau leader in the fight for independence against the British, rejected this and made it clear his government considered Chou's speech offensive.

In Gichuru's speech, the Kenyatta regime put its rejection of Chou's ideas in even stronger terms.

Gichuru told Parliament: "The other day Chou En-lai, who has no shame, said the whole of Africa is ready for revolution, but against whom, I must ask. The only thing China knows is to send arms under disguise through our country."

Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere, a devout Roman Catholic, warned "against any who wish to take advantage of our current need in order to get control over us."

Otherwise, Nyerere played the good host to Chou, who also had intended to visit Kenya and Uganda but was left waiting in Tanzania with no invitations.

More Beginners Swim Sessions

The demand for beginners swim instruction at the YMCA is such that two additional classes have been scheduled, Curt Mullins, executive secretary, said Saturday.

The new classes for beginners will be from 3 to 3:30 p.m. and from 3:30 to 4 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday. The original four sections for beginners have been filled.

Hollywood (AP)—All is serene at old Ponderosa as "Bonanza" plunges into its seventh year of filming, without the services of Pernell Roberts.

Long the dissident member of the Cartwright clan, Roberts pulled out when his contract ended last season. That left Lorne Greene, Dan Blocker and Michael Landon to mind the ranch. They're managing quite well, says Mike.

the three of us this season," said the actor, the handsome Little Joe of the series. "But it's worth it. There is harmony on the set now."

Mike, the youngster (age 28) of the Cartwrights, and his co-stars were awarded a raise for the new season—from $4,500 to $10,000 per show. Plus payments for replays.

The new contracts extend for another six years. If options are exercised, "Bonanza" to a full dozen years, the surviving trio could well be millionaires.

"It's great for an actor to have that kind of security," Landon said. He had personal doubts that the series would go the full route, since NBC may one day become anxious to cash in on the lush syndication market. The economics of television are such that it sometimes pays to take a series off the network to profit from replays in the daytime or on local stations.

"But I think we're good for a little while more," Mike said. "This has been our biggest year in the ratings. Even if we lost 20 per cent of our audience, we'd still be No. 1."

What is being done to explain the absence of Roberts?

"We won't kill him off; that would be too hard on the kids in the audience," Mike said. "He'll just be off teaching school in the East somewhere. We'll manage."

Dry Weather Now Needed

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Most Texas farmers are ready for a break in wet weather. Showers and spotted heavy rains, winds, hail and sand kept activities irregular, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Moisture, he said, is generally adequate to surplus except in far West Texas, over parts of the South Plains, parts of the Rolling Plains and three Panhandle counties. Better growing and harvesting weather would be welcomed in all areas, the director said. Grass and weeds are becoming an increasing problem.

Ranges and livestock improved along with the market, he said. Dry weather is needed for the grain and hay harvests and for planting and replanting and also for grass, weed and insect control.

Only Farmer, Randall and Potter counties in the Panhandle were short on moisture. All other counties now have adequate to surplus moisture. Hail caused damage. The wheat harvest should begin in 10 days if weather is good. Grain sorghum planting is over half done. Most South Plains irrigated cotton and sorghum is planted and looking good except where hail and sand has caused damage. Parts of Cochran, Dawson and Terry counties are still too dry for planting. Seeding disease showed up in cotton in northern counties. A good general rain over most of the area is still needed. Wheat is being harvested where conditions permit.

Showers fell in the Rolling Plains where six of the 22 counties have been delayed in some counties but is 60 to 90 per cent complete. Dryland yields ranged from six to 35 bushels an acre. Cotton planting is done as weather permits. Some is being replanted.

Harvesting of the 2,000-acre blackberry crop in Smith County is at its peak. Some tomatoes and peaches are ripening in Northeast Texas. Much cotton is being replanted and weed and insect control was a general problem. The delayed hay harvest is beginning to move and a good grain crop is about ready to harvest.

Seven counties east of the Pecos River out of the 25 counties in the far West Texas district have adequate moisture. Some livestock are being moved from the dry areas and feeding is still needed. Livestock are in good condition where rain is adequate. Irrigated crops are good. Dryland crops in the east are up.

Road Bond Vote Climbs

Absentee voting in the proposed $600,000 Howard County right-of-way bond election set for June 22, climbed to 33 by 5 p.m. Friday. Twenty-four had voted at mid-morning and one mail ballot was out, which came in during the day.

The bond funds, if approved, will be used to purchase right-of-way for improving, widening and re-routings FM-700 from Goliad Street west, to a new connection with US 80, in West Big Spring; to extend FM-700 from IS 20 east of Big Spring, north to State Highway 356 (Snyder Highway), and for improvements on US 87 at its intersection with FM-700.

The Texas Highway Department had prepared plans and the highway commission has earmarked funds for these improvements, and must have right-of-way before work can be done.

Moisture is adequate all through West Central Texas. Ranges, except in the San Angelo area, are above average. Grain is being harvested with yields poor to good. Cotton and sorghum are good. Considerable acreages are still unplanted.

Wet fields hampered field work in Central Texas where half the oats have been harvested in some counties. Corn has reached the tassel stage. Peanut planting is under way. Boll weevils and thrips have been reported. A heavy pecan crop is set.

Weekend rains kept moisture adequate in East Texas where hay making is active. Pastures are average to above. Corn looks good and pecans have set a good crop.

Showers have been fairly general in Southeast Texas and crops are making good growth. Early cotton is blooming. Cotton losses due to flooding were not as heavy as first expected. Considerable acreage will need replanting.

Moisture is adequate in South Central Texas. Hay is being harvested. Corn and sorghum look good. Insects and grass are causing concern among cotton growers. Pecan casebearers are causing damage.

All except three counties in South Texas have adequate moisture. Cotton is fruiting well with only light to medium insect infestation. Sorghum is nearing maturity in the Valley. The color is turning in the Coastal Bend. The flax harvest is over. The cantaloup and watermelon harvest continues. The condition of citrus is good. Farm labor generally is adequate.

Governor Seeks Texans For Coordinating Board

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Connally starts a hunt soon for 18 Texans who will take a hard but sympathetic attitude toward universities' competition.

They will form the "Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System," which takes over from the 10-year-old Texas Commission on Higher Education Sept. 1.

The legislature created the agency, sought by Connally. The board was the top subject of his legislative program.

The governor also asked and got major increases in college spending. He said the bigger appropriations be joined with tighter centralized control over higher education to assure the funds "will not be dissipated in expensive educational luxuries, low quality programs and proliferated degree offerings designed to bolster institutional pride."

Lawmakers gave the board new powers over the 22 state colleges and universities.

Bills creating new four-year schools at Texarkana and Odessa were passed near the end of the session, but the final decision was left to the coordinating board unless Connally vetoes the measures.

The 1966-67 general appropriations bill contains $236.2 million from general revenue for state colleges and universities, an $80.5 million increase over current spending. State junior college aid rose from $16.5 million to $24.9 million over the next two years.

Much of the spending increase is to promote academic excellence, including the $50.5 million boost for faculty salaries. More money also was voted for libraries and research.

Connally said the money bill pushes Texas college faculty salaries above the national average, a goal of his committee that studied education for more than a year.

Strong coordination of the colleges was the main finding of that committee, which the 1963 Legislature authorized and financed at Connally's behest.

The group lacked power to enforce its program decisions, and Texas' college and university system was crippled as a result by competition and dilution of effort, the committee said.

Connally will appoint the new board this summer. Another search will be conducted for a commissioner of higher education, a $22,500 job.

Lawmakers Refuse Open Meetings Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Reporter's contacts with public officials and agencies got a lot of attention from the legislature.

The lawmakers set up a study group to look into pretrial coverage of crime news. They refused to pass an open meetings bill and wrangled over how far officials should go in making public data about crime suspects.

The House passed 136-2 a bill to pass an open meetings bill and wrangled over how far officials should go in making public data about crime suspects.

The House passed 136-2 a bill requiring public agencies, boards and commissions to conduct their business in the open. The measure died in a senate subcommittee, despite reported backings by Lt. Gov. Preston Smith.

"This has been passed three times by the House, and this is the third time the Senate has killed it," said Rep. John Allen of Longview, a co-sponsor of the measure.

Allen said a try will be made again next session to get an open meeting bill passed.

Toward adjournment, a Senate committee killed a proposal by Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston allowing senators to disclose their vote on matters brought up in executive sessions.

News executives strongly protested when a House committee reported out a proposed criminal code revision which tightly restricted pretrial information about a defendant or suspect.

El Paso Rep. Dudley Mann's Criminal Jurisprudence Committee wrote into the bill that "no officer of this state shall make public information which may have the effect of prejudicing a defendant's right to trial by an impartial jury."

Two efforts to delete the restriction failed in the House.

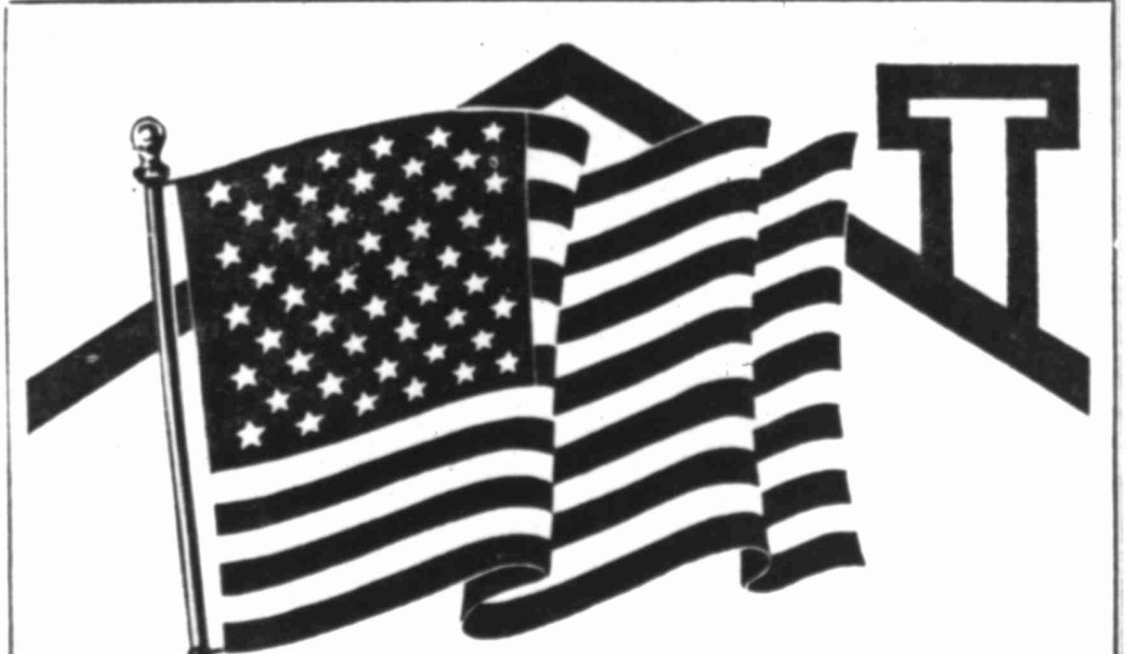

Co-Op Oratorical Winners Due Home

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Miss Kathy Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Anderson, Colorado City, and Larry Wiggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Wiggins, Ira, will return to Colorado City Monday after a 10-day trip to Washington, D. C. They were winners of an oratorical contest sponsored by the Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative.

The two winners arrived in Washington on June 7, and sat in on a special congressional breakfast where they met members of the Texas Congressional delegation and visited Congressman George Mahon.

They also visited the Capitol building, Library of Congress, Supreme Court building, National Archives and REA and USDA offices. They joined more than 60 young Texans and chaperones who made the trip from other cooperatives.

A's Win, 7-0, Despite Rain

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bert Campaneris rapped three hits, drove in four runs and stole three bases Saturday as Kansas City romped past Cleveland 7-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Fred Talbot.

Cardinals Visit Midland Today

The Sacred Heart Cardinals journey to Midland today to play baseball with that city's Rebels. In a previous meeting with the Rebels, the Big Spring club won a 9-4 decision. Over-all, the Sacred Heart team is 6-4. Last Sunday the Red Birds won a doubleheader here by turning back Merkel, 6-5, and Ackery, 6-1.

Daniels Shuts Out Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don Lock's grand slam, homer backed Bennie Daniels' five-hit pitching as the Washington Senators defeated the Chicago White Sox 7-1 Saturday. Lock's grand slam, into the Senators' bullpen, climaxed a five-run third inning off loser Joe Horien. The homer came after Ed Brinkman's single, Joe Cunningham's run-scoring double and walks to Ken McMullen and Frank Howard.

Wranglers Grab National Title

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Odessa Junior College continued an old habit Friday—it won the national junior college golf championship. Odessa had 1188 strokes to win the title by eight over Miami-Dade, Fla. It was Odessa's sixth championship in the tournament's seven-year history.

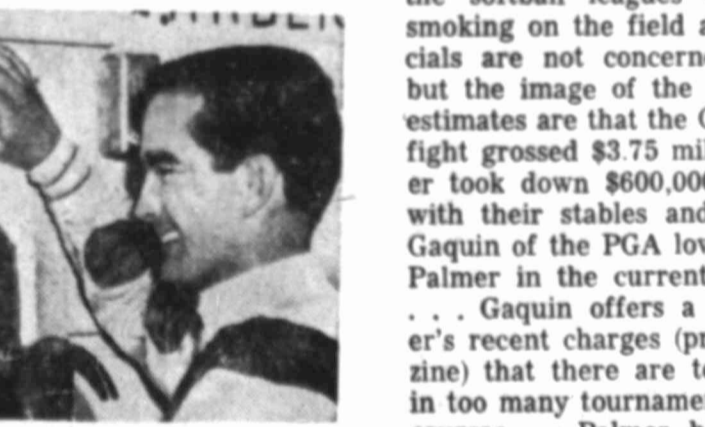

Paper States NFL Going To Atlanta

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The National Football League will grant a professional football franchise to Atlanta for 1966 and acquire rental of the new Atlanta Stadium, the Nashville Banner said today. The paper said the official announcement is expected within the next two weeks.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Another Record For Munny

By TOMMY HART
The Municipal Golf Course here set another record for registrations and revenue in May. An estimated 1,700 golfers made the rounds there, compared to 1,603 for May, and the revenue was up more than $100 over the preceding month.

SHOEMAKER

A total of 3,123,000 gallons of water was used to irrigate the 18-hole layout — which seems to be in its best shape ever. At the Country Club, site of this weekend's third annual Big Spring Open, interest in golf among women is at its all-time high, according to pro Jerry Green. The instructional classes Green staged during the spring helped enormously. Bobby Nelson, Lubbock Christian College's crack half-miler, is going to Texas Tech on a scholarship. Nelson was timed in 1:53.6 in the 880 in the National JC meet, good for a second place finish. Chris Blocker, who is playing his freshman year on the pro golf tour, is a cousin to Dan Blocker, who is better known as "Hoss Cartwright" on the "Bonanza" television program. Chris is well known this year and Dan, of course, used to play football for Sul Ross College. That Steve Spray, who led after one round in the Buick Open at Flint, Mich., last week, was anything but unknown as an amateur. In the 1963 U.S. Amateur Tournament won by Deane Beman in Des Moines, Iowa, Spray went to the fifth round before losing to George Archer, who is also now on the pro tour. The American Football League, which has growing pains, is burdened by two so-called small cities, San Diego and Denver, neither of which is attractive to TV sponsors. As things stand now, NBC, which got the contract to televise AFL games, still needs to sell one-third of its football package to sponsors. NBC nabobs reason that Philadelphia and Atlanta franchises would add enormously to the circuit's prestige. Eddie Arcaro is regarded as one of the all-time great jockeys, and rightly so, but in 17 years Willie Shoemaker has already won more than 5,000 races, which is more than Arcaro won in 34 years as a saddlesmith.

Edicts have been passed along to some of the softball leagues operating here, barring smoking on the field and in dugouts. Officials are not concerned with the fire threat but the image of the game itself. Newest estimates are that the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston fight grossed $3.75 million and that each fighter took down $600,000 as his end, to be split with their stables and Uncle Sugar. Jim Gaquin of the PGA lowers the boom on Arnold Palmer in the current issue of Golf Magazine. Gaquin offers a sharp rebuttal to Palmer's recent charges (printed in the same magazine) that there are too many players playing in too many tournaments on too many bad golf courses. Palmer, however, has a good point — the game is in danger of suffering from over-exposure. Arnold's attitude isn't selfish — he could retire a multi-millionaire today, if he so chose. DeInor Poss, who is working for GAMCO here this summer, is booked almost solid as a basketball official for next season. He'll toil both in District 2-A and 3-A and has accepted several college game appointments. Among coaches for whom he will be working is Nat Gleaton of Abilene High, an old antagonist. Dave Hill didn't make the cutoff in the recent Indianapolis 500 Golf Tournament but he made the most unusual birdie on the pro tour. On the par-four 17th hole, Hill hit a drive, a seven-iron to the green and sank a seven-foot putt with a three-wood, mind you. En route to a 78, Hill had thrown his putter into a lake and destroyed a wedge, so great was his rage. Incidentally, the Michigan linkster had borrowed the clubs. The operational losses for the Milwaukee Braves this year will, no doubt, set a National Baseball League record but the Braves can take it off their income in future years at Atlanta. Jack Nicklaus has paced off every yard of the National Open course in St. Louis and has entered the yardage of every landmark on the links in his little black book, his constant companion. He expects only par three holes, which he judges with the naked eye.

Cards Slate Tryout Camp

The World Champion Cardinals, always on the lookout for young talented players, will sponsor baseball tryouts in Lubbock, Texas...

Starting at 10 a.m. each day things will be at a high pitch at Lowry Field when Fred McAllister, Cardinal scouting supervisor...

"We'll be looking for aggressive, cardinal-type players for our farm system," Silvey remarked.

In addition to Snow, the outstanding signal callers will be throwing to Allen Brown of Mississippi...

Other hefty members of the squad include tackle Jim Wilson of Georgia and guard Walter Johnson of California State...

Linebackers Dick Butkus of Illinois and Malcolm Walker of Rice get the near impossible task of preventing Brown from churning his way into the secondary.

Others selected for the team included Russell Wayt, Rice fullback; Ronnie Cavness, Arkansas guard; Lance Rentzel, Oklahoma halfback...

A player signed to a contract will be reimbursed for the expenses he incurs incident to the tryouts.

For example, Layne can call on such standouts as LaMarque Norman Bulaich, Garland's Ronnie Scoggins and perhaps the fabulous Chris Gilbert of Spring Branch...

Bulaich is a 205-pounder with 9.9 speed, while the 200-pound Scoggins and Gilbert, 178, both run around 19 flat.

Such a problem, though, will surely be minor for Layne, who has a rich football background and will adjust his personnel to his needs.

Bulaich, Scoggins and Gilbert are among the 31 players already signed up to take part in the game at Hershey...

Appeal Court Reverses Ruling

The Court of Civil Appeals, Eleventh Supreme Judicial District of Texas, has reversed a ruling of the Howard County Court which suspended the drivers license of William Paul Darrow.

Darrow had appealed a decision about a year ago by the county court to the Court of Civil Appeals. The Department of Public Safety had filed the case for suspension of his drivers license. According to State law, a drivers license may be suspended if a driver receives four moving traffic violations within a 12-month period.

Shell's Ozona Plant

Shell To Open New Plant To Serve Big Ozona Area

Shell Oil Company's Northwest Ozona plant will have its official opening June 19. M. Brock Jones, county judge of Crockett County, will cut the ribbon at noon to begin the days' activities which include barbecue served by the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang and tours of the plant facilities.

Shell's Midland area gas department now operates and maintains seven gasoline plants in West Texas and New Mexico. The plant is located on a fenced 20-acre site, two miles northwest via the all-weather Henderson Ranch road. It provides the first market outlet for natural gas and gas by products for the Northwest Ozona Canyon reservoir.

Through a network of 13 miles of gathering line and 15 metering stations, Shell gathers low pressure casinghead gas from 16 oil wells and gas from eight Railroad Commission of Texas Rule 49-B gas wells and transports this gas to the plant for processing.

The plant incorporates the compression-refrigeration type process.

The plant is semi-automated and many of the process variables are instrument controlled. The panel board located in the office building indicates, records or controls most of the important process variables.

A. D. Rippetoe, operations foreman, supervises operations of the new plant. He is assisted by R. W. Adcock Jr., and Jack Tankersley, all residents of Ozona.

The Northwest Ozona plant is designed to process 10 million cubic feet of gas per day initially and is so designed that the plant can be expanded to process 20 million cubic feet per day. The fractionating section of the plant, including columns, reboilers and oil heater presently have the capacity to process the liquids from 20 million cubic feet of gas per day. At design conditions of 10 million cubic feet of gas per day, about 9.2 million cubic feet of gas will be sold to a gas transmission company. The liquids extracted from this gas are 13,500 gallons per day of LPG and 2,800 gallons per day of natural gasoline.

Both the LPG and natural gasoline are loaded through driver attended automatic loading facilities into transport trucks. The LPG is an end product ready for marketing as fuel for home heating, cooking, flame cultivation or motor fuel for LPG or dual fuel engines. The natural gasoline is called "raw" gasoline, and is mixed with crude oil and transported by pipeline to a refinery where the gasoline is further refined into gasoline as is normally purchased from a service station.

Five-Year Freeze On Oil Imports In White's Bill

By JAMES C. WATSON
MIDLAND—Rep. Richard C. White of El Paso, congressman for the 16th District of Texas—which includes a large sector of the West Texas oil fields—has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives which would freeze for five years all imports of petroleum and petroleum products into all areas of the U.S. except the West Coast, Alaska and Hawaii.

His proposal, HR 8077, has been referred to the Committee on Ways and Means for study and possible action.

Two Midland residents, J. W. Hunt, president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, and Malcolm D. Abel, president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, have issued statements regarding the White bill and other phases of the import problem.

"We are pleased that Rep. White has introduced a compromise bill concerning the importation of crude oil and its products into the United States," Hunt said.

OTHER BILLS
The PBPA leader pointed out that the Ways and Means Committee already has before it bills dealing with the import problem by three other Texas congressmen.

They include HB 2177 by Omar Burleson of Anson, HB 2977 by Henry Gonzales, San Antonio; and HB 4287 by Clark Thompson, Galveston.

"The Burleson bill," said Hunt, "was the first proposed legislation dealing with imports introduced in the 89th Congress and incorporates the 11-point program of the Independent Petroleum Association of America for a reduction in imports from the 12.2 per cent of domestic production to 10 per cent of that figure."

"It further would reduce the purchase and importation into the United States of foreign crude and products by the Department of Defense. A small reduction already has been made by that department.

"The net result of HB 2177 would be to immediately reduce imports by 375,000 barrels daily plus a potential reduction of 100,000 barrels per day on military purchases.

"However much we would like to see the Burleson bill become law, it must be realized that, from a practical viewpoint, such a reduction as it calls for would run headlong into commitments to friendly foreign exporting companies by the State and Commerce Departments, both of which have great impact on import policy decisions," Hunt emphasized.

WOULD BID
"The proposals by Reps. Gonzales and Thompson—which present the recommendations of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association—would freeze imports at current levels for five years and put the quotas up for bidding by importing companies.

"The PBPA, by mandate from its directors, supported this position at the March 10-11 hearings before the U.S. Department of the Interior. The quota bidding provision came under heavy criticism from inland refiners who possibly could be cut out of the import program.

"With the Burleson, Gonzales and Thompson bills each drawing considerable opposition, the White proposal seeks to accomplish the badly needed relief for domestic producers without imposing hardships on any elements involved.

"It would put a five-year freeze at the current level on all foreign crude and products, but leaves the full administration of the program in the hands of the Interior Department.

awaiting with great interest the announcement by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall on import quotas for the year beginning July 1. He has indicated that he will make the announcement by mid-June.

"Should this administrative order increase import quotas as it has in the past, the PBPA and its 2,400 members, will exert every effort possible toward the passage of HB 8077. We recommend Rep. White for his excellent preparation and presentation of this bill." Abel, the TIPRO president, asserted that the introduction of the White bill "provides

Fuel Imports Raise Question

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Do residual fuel oil imports threaten national security by depressing the health of the domestic petroleum industry?

This question about a product many domestic oil refiners consider economically unattractive is being studied by the Office of Emergency Planning.

The deadline for filing industry statements and rebuttal passed last week.

Interior Secretary Stewart Udall tossed the problem to Burford Ellington, director of emergency planning, after White House lawyers challenged in late March his plan to drop fuel oil import controls in six states—Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Florida.

They contended such controls could not be lifted without a presidential proclamation based on national security findings as determined by the Office of Emergency Planning.

Udall then asked Ellington to make a "searching study."

Udall indicated earlier a March 10-12 hearing he held on all phases of the mandatory oil import controls program had convinced him gradual abandonment of restrictions on residuals would not harm the domestic industry.

Production of heavy fuel oils by domestic refiners has declined steadily the past 10 years. Total domestic demand now averages about 1.5 million barrels a day, with nearly two-thirds being consumed in East Coast states.

The Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association contended foreign residual oil is supplanting domestic production. It suggested all residual quotas except those filled by Western Hemisphere nations be frozen at 1964 levels.

This plan also was submitted to Ellington last month.

Rig Total Drops Off

Reed Roller Bit Co. reported that the Friday survey of rotary units operating in the Permian Basin Empire was down to 196, 16 fewer than the 212 listed one week ago.

This also is 54 fewer than the 250 listed on the comparable week in 1964. Lea County, N. M., is first on the list with 34 units, three more than one week ago. Pecos County, with 29 for the second week is in second place and Andrews County is third with 18, also for the second week.

The county-by-county survey, with previous totals in parentheses, includes:

Andrews 18 (18), BORDEN 0 (1), Chaves 1 (1), Cochran 0 (1), Coke 1 (4), Crane 2 (5), Crockett 3 (1);

DAWSON 6 (6), Ector 6 (4), Eddy 11 (14), Fisher 2 (2), Gaines 8 (7), Hockley 2 (4);

HOWARD 2 (3), Irion 2 (3), Kent 4 (3), Lea 34 (31), Loving 2 (2), Martin 1 (1), Midland 1 (1);

MITCHELL 1 (0), Nolan 2 (2), Pecos 29 (29), Reagan 4 (5), Reeves 6 (5), Roosevelt 1 (1);

Runnels 0 (3), Schleicher 6 (5), Scurry 1 (1), STERLING 3 (3), Stonewall 6 (6), Sutton 1 (2), Terrell 3 (4), Terry 2 (3);

Tom Green 2 (2), Upton 9 (9), Ward 2 (6), Winkler 6 (5), Yoakum 6 (9), Total 196 (212).

Howard Gains Moore Location

A location has been staked in a Howard County field and well has been abandoned in Martin County.

Baruch-Foster Corp. will drill the No. 1 Mittie Walter in the Moore (Grayburg and San Andres) field. The well is located 2,316 feet from the south and 993 feet from the east lines of section 34, block 34, township 1-North, T&P Survey, four miles west of Big Spring. Depth will be 3,216 feet by cable tools.

Coastal States has plugged and abandoned the No. 1 Conrad in the Von Roeder (multipay) field. The location was in section 55, block 25, H&TC survey, with an elevation of 2,227 feet and drilled to 6,580 feet.

Speakers Named For AAPL Meet

United States Sen. Gordon Allott, and Sinclair Oil's executive vice president G. R. Brainard Jr., have been announced as speakers to appear before the American Association of Petroleum Landmen's eleventh annual meeting in Denver starting June 23.

Allott will address the landmen at their Fourth Session on June 25, and will have as his topic "We Need a Federal Recording Statute." Allott serves on the Public Works Appropriation Subcommittee and is also on the Interior Committee. This combined position gives him considerable authority in the field and enables him to lead in the fight for resources development in Colorado and the West.

Brainard, who is from Tulsa, will deliver his speech titled "Revolution, Anyone?" to the landmen's opening session June 24. Brainard has an outstanding background in drilling and production.

'SENIORS'

GRANVILLE HAHN

In 1958 when Cosden initiated the world's first fully integrated program of polystyrene manufacture from crude oil to plastics, Granville Hahn was in the polystyrene laboratory as a tester. He moved into technical service early in 1962 as foreman of the polystyrene lab, and later was named group leader of polystyrene technical service and quality control.

This 15-year senior had been initiated into Cosden on Feb. 1, 1950, as a TBA warehouseman. The lure of a bigger salary led him to drive a transport truck for the company for two years. Next he entered the refinery lab as a bottlewasher, moving on up the scale.

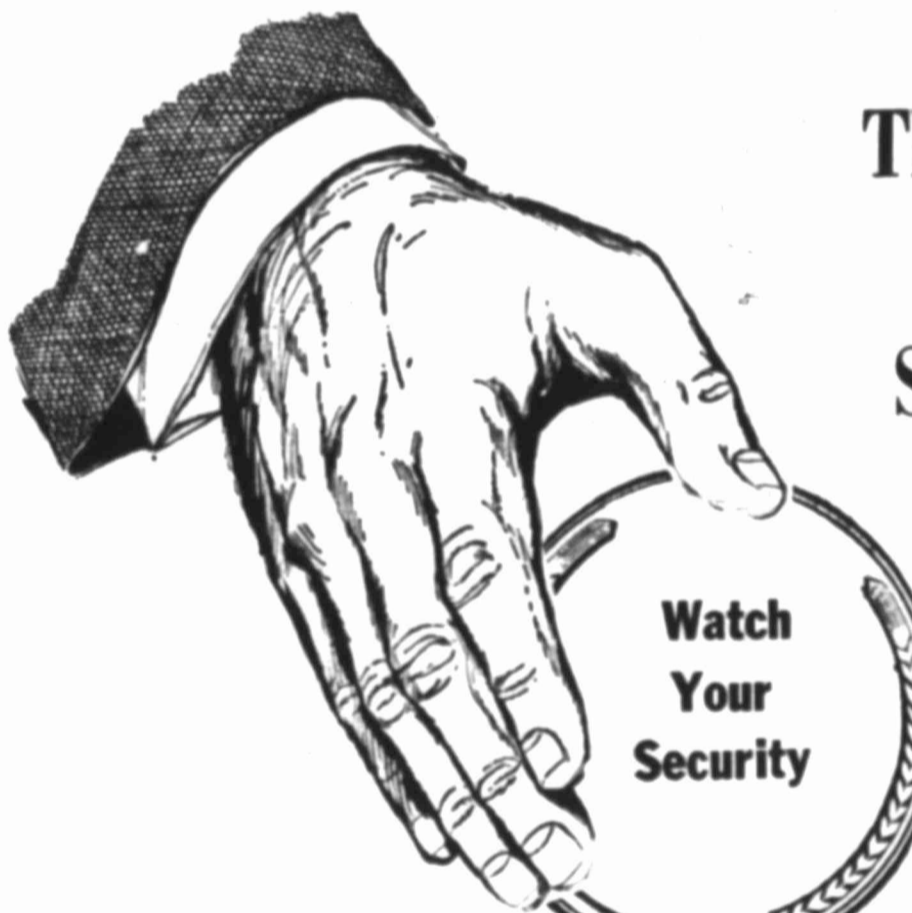

Cosden's venture into plastic resins intrigued him. He is constantly reinforcing his technical training in the company with liberal study of journals in his field.

Hahn was born in Tyler but moved to the Big Spring area as a lad. He finished high school at Garden City and enrolled for two semesters of night school at Howard County Junior College.

On June 11, 1949, he married a local girl, Marie Thames. They have two sons. Gregory James, 13, will be in the eighth grade at Goliad Junior High. Randy, 11, will enter sixth grade at Park Hill. Home is at 1805 Thorp.

Fishing, like water skiing, is something of a family sport. Two recent jaunts took the Hahns to Lake Buchanan and Lake Tawakoni. Mrs. Hahn enjoys bridge while her husband golfs. He is a member of the Society of Plastics Engineers and the Knights of Pythias. The family has membership in the YMCA and Baptist Temple.

additional evidence of congressional concern over the failure of the current mandatory import program to achieve recognized objectives." He also predicted that the nation's independent producers soon will be carrying their import problems to Congress in earnest.

NO REVISION

"There are reliable indications," he said, "that Interior Department officials will recommend no meaningful revision in the present unsuccessful oil import program." Abel added that he would have more to say on that subject when Interior recommendations are made public.

"The Tasting Tea"

By JO BRIGHT

When a man moves into the kitchen, his wife is inclined to walk softly on the fringes of the working area — but always within hailing distance in case the cook can't locate the condiment of his choice.

It's a wise decision when a woman stays out of the way — for man's imagination and natural appreciation for fine food have produced the world's most famous recipes.

Women who attend the Tasting Tea Monday in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Lurting, No. 3 Highland Grove, will have the opportunity to judge for themselves the dishes prepared by local men who term themselves "casual cooks."

The tea, from 4 to 6 p.m., is sponsored by the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary to assist the Flying Physicians Auxiliary in purchasing an airplane to be donated to the Thomas Dooley Foundation. The transportable medical dispensary will be used for work in the Orient.

Admission to the tea will be seven pages of trading stamps or $1. An abundance of dishes will be provided at the buffet for sampling, and the recipes may be purchased for one page of trading stamps or 15 cents each.

Pictured today are some of the men who will prepare a variety of dishes and share their recipes with those who attend the tea.

R. L. Beale, 112 Canyon, will offer his "Stuffed Flounder Fillets," an unusual dish using a dressing with mushrooms, shrimp and Madeira wine.

Dr. William R. Cashion offers his specialty, hot Italian hors d'oeuvres, the buttery crust sparkled with cream cheese and filling featuring diced fowl.

E. B. McCormick shares his "Krazy Casserole," a beautiful blend of beef, mushrooms, carrots, peas and onions that makes a man-sized meal.

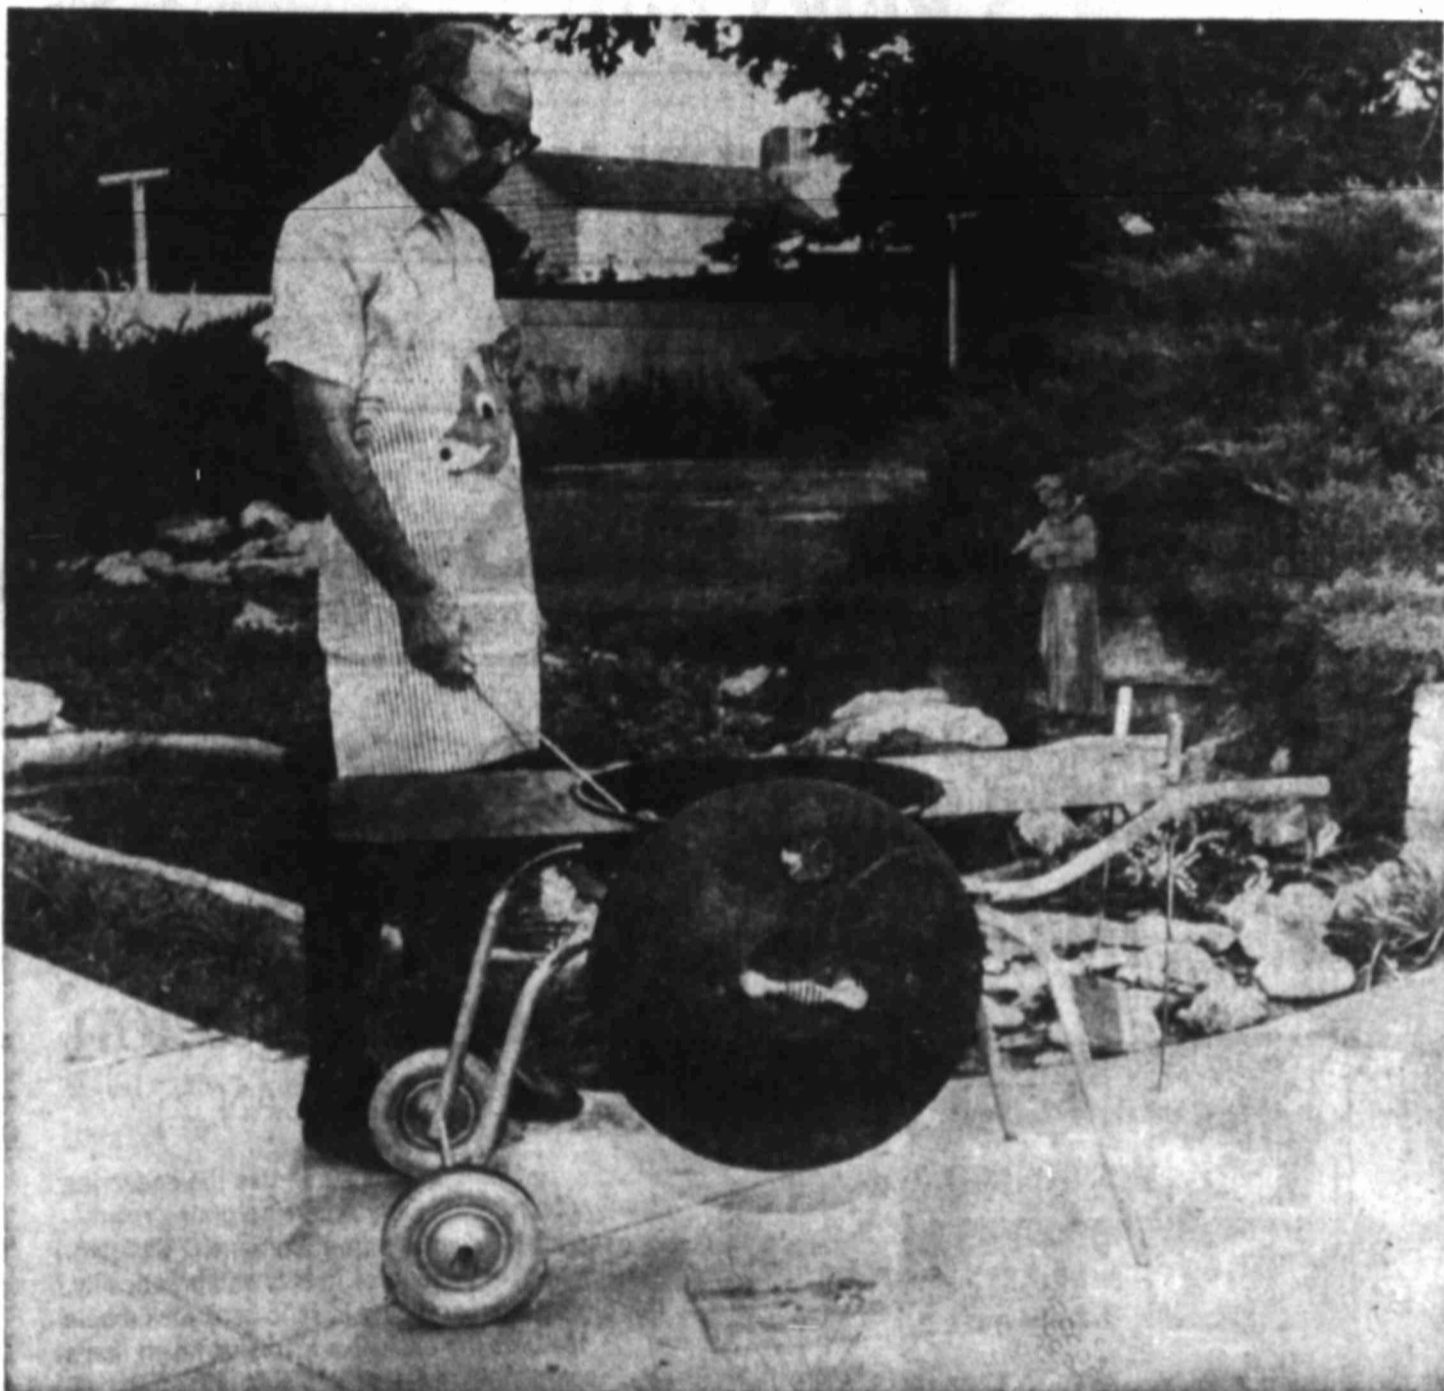

Col. Edwin J. White Jr. prepares "Chicken With Pineapple Glaze," a barbecue recipe that can be used the year round for family meals as well as company dinners.

Jack Cook favors an "American Pizza," an original recipe, without a single Italian ingredient, which allows the cook a wide choice of combinations.

All these recipes will be available in the "Men's Corner" at the benefit tea, as well as recipes contributed by some of the best women cooks in the city.

You are invited to attend — test — and judge them for yourself.

Evening Wedding Ceremony Held In Chapel Candelight

The chapel at Webb Air Force Base was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss Cleo Rita Thomas and Lt. Charles Richard Kaufmann.

The double ring ceremony was held at 7 o'clock before an altar banked with emerald fern and lighted with a crescent candelabrum flanked by seven branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers. Centering the altar was a sunburst arrangement of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and stock. White standards marked with satin marked the bridal aisle, and family pews were marked with satin bows.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr., 400 Washington, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ruth Kaufmann and Max L. Kaufmann, both of Cincinnati, Ohio. The nuptial ceremony was read by Perry Cotham, minister at the 14th and Main Church of Christ.

Mrs. Champ Rainwater, organist, presented a program of traditional nuptial selections and accompanied Mrs. Don Newsom as she sang "Oh Promise Me."

BRIDAL SATIN

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her formal gown of bridal satin featured an Empire line with lace appliques enhancing the bodice and accentuating the detachable chapel train which swept from a large bow at the back waistline. The bodice was styled with gently rounded neckline and fitted sleeves extending to petal points at the wrists. Her waist-length veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls, and she wore a blue friendship garter.

The bridal bouquet was a semi-crescent of white orchids and stephanotis showered in satin picot and carried atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Nancy Thomas, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Judy Foster, Miss Susan Riegner, Fort Arthur; and Mrs. James Massey, Fort Walton Beach, Fla. The attendants were identically gowned in light blue Empire-styled dresses of chiffon over satin. The costumes featured long sheer sleeves and V necklines. Each carried a nosegay of yellow lilies tied in matching satin.

Hands Spotlighted On Wedding Day

Your hands will be in the spotlight on your wedding day.

Make certain yours are lovely enough to complement your rings and to cut cake. Use lotion faithfully and give yourself a weekly manicure, whether you use nail polish or not.

If you plan to use nail enamel on your wedding day, experiment with colors. Keep the polish light, either matching or blending with your lipstick.

Girls Want Caps

A new fashion favorite for young girls is a pert vinyl plastic jockey cap. It needs only surface sponging with suds, followed by rinse-wiping, to keep it clean.

Flowers Reflect Wedding Mood

Flowers for the attendants at a wedding always must reflect the motif and mood of the wedding itself. They always underscore the bride's choice, reflecting her personality in design and colors.

Methodists Schedule Tea Today

The final afternoon of the Methodist art exhibit will be highlighted with a tea in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church from 2 to 4 p.m. today.

The tea is open to the public, and the hostesses are Mrs. Zolie Boykin, Mrs. Neil Norred, Mrs. H. M. Roe, Mrs. A. Arm and Mrs. B. M. Keese.

The refreshments will be served from a white linen-covered table with a centerpiece of spring flowers.

The exhibit is being presented jointly by the board of education of the Methodist Church and the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C. The work of such artists as Blake, Botticelli, Dali, Duccio, El Greco, and Raphael, will be featured.

Thumb Rule Fits Shoes

Use the rule of thumb for checking shoe lengths. When you are standing, there should be enough space between the tip of the great toe and shoe to accommodate the side of your thumb.

Remember that some styles may be wrong for your foot in any size. The exaggeratedly high front, for example, which is so chic right now, is apt to prove binding on a higher than average instep. This type of foot will be more comfortable with equally stylish shoes that feature low-cut vamps and sides.

With so many shoe patterns to choose from, ranging from small slits to bared toes, heels and shanks, pick the designs that will both show off and support your foot to best advantage. If slings slip off your heel, buy the kind that have going in the strap's back center to anchor it.

After you have purchased your shoes, follow through with good shoe wear and care habits. Change shoes at least once a day, preferably twice; keep your shoes on wooden trees, as the wood absorbs moisture which lurks in the lining of a shoe after it has been worn.

Will Marry

Mrs. Louise Root, 1010 Gollad, is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Sherry Lou Root, to Airman 2.C. Richard Dills of San Bruno, Calif. The hostess' gift to the honored couple was an electric waffle iron and a recipe box.

Out-of-town guests were W. A. Agnell, Abilene, and Col. P. W. Agnell, Austin.

President's Lady Has Active Role In Husband's Efforts

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — In her 18 months-plus in the White House, Lady Bird Johnson has been boosting and backing her husband with an effective soft-sell.

Although her busy efforts often bring comparisons with another First Lady — Eleanor Roosevelt — there's a big difference.

Mrs. Johnson shuns controversy. She has put the weight of her position on presidential projects that are hard to oppose, such as beautification of the country, sightseeing in the U.S.A., and the antipoverty fight. So far, the emphasis has been mostly on beauty.

In opening the White House Conference on Natural Beauty, the First Lady told the 1,000 participants:

"Ugliness creates bitterness. Ugliness is an eroding force on the people of our land. We are all here to try to change that."

Her forceful keynote was the direct descendant of a statement she made in those first tentative days in the White House: her role would emerge in deeds. Since then, her deeds have been numerous.

The key to Mrs. Johnson's role lies in her desire to do something, to be active and to be involved in her husband's efforts.

Like the President, she seems devoted to her job 24 hours a day. She has taken on social and White House duties, social and official with energy and enthusiasm. She has pressed the renovation of the President's Texas birthplace and boyhood home, is working on his library, continues the renovation of the White House begun by Mrs. John F. Kennedy, and between trips and speeches has even increased the pace of social entertaining.

While some critics contend Texas unduly pervades the White House, there has been no falling off in other activities. The White House still invites top talent from cultural fields to entertain at its state dinners.

The same French chef rules the kitchens and menus are still geared to international cuisine — except that domestic wines have now replaced imported wines. It's true, there's an occasional barbecue, and you usually find pickled okra and chile con queso on the buffet tables. But that's about as far as the Texas influence goes. Except that is, for a more relaxed and informal atmosphere at parties — more dancing by the President, First Lady and guests.

President Johnson has used an expanded White House social effort to smooth the way for his projects. There have been approximately 200 social events since December 1963. Mrs. Johnson fits in easily, a naturally gracious hostess.

Mail to Mrs. Johnson is on the increase, now averaging more than a thousand letters a week. Five per cent of it concerns beautification.

Happy to have Mrs. Johnson interested in their projects, the Interior Department — parks, wildlife, recreation, power, resources — and the Office of Economic Opportunity with its multisided antipoverty program put their staffs to work for Mrs. L.B.J. too.

Perhaps Mrs. Johnson's tours and projects are successful because such care is given to working out details. Advance men make several trips over the route, and Mrs. Johnson does homework, boning up on useful details.

Since she became First Lady, Mrs. Johnson has delivered scores of speeches. The speeches are not usually hard-hitting, but Mrs. Johnson has changed from a shy, nonspeaker of early congressional days to an assured style, with even a touch of histrionics.

She usually can come up with an apt and poetic response that outdoes her speech writers. She also works over her speeches to give them her own imprint.

In the tradition of most first ladies, Mrs. Johnson gives no formal interviews and holds no news conferences. But any reporter who has a question can usually get a response.

Among Mrs. Johnson's innovations is the continuing series of "women-doer luncheons", in the upstairs family dining room. Fifteen women from a wide variety of careers and professions are invited each time to talk about their work and to focus the White House spotlight on the role career women play. By this exchange of views Mrs. Johnson hopes to serve as a catalyst for ideas.

Through the past year and a half Mrs. Johnson has been growing in her job and finding ways to live in the goldfish bowl of the White House.

Although she likes to play down fashion, Mrs. Johnson is dressing better than ever in simple, flattering styles. She prefers to go hatless wherever possible.

She has managed to keep her figure trim and finds time to swim two or three times a week in the White House pool.

She has discovered incognito excursions. Frequently, the First Lady and daughter Lynda stroll at dusk down to the Tidal Basin. They went to the top of the Washington Monument recently and Mrs. Johnson often drives around the city, looking at beautification projects.

Mrs. Johnson's energy rivals her husband's and, like him, she recharges in Texas. But there's little time for that. It is evident that Mrs. Johnson wants to be a woman-doer, too.

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Party

Miss Beverly Casey, bride-elect of Dick Clark of Odessa, was complimented with a miscellaneous bridal shower Thursday evening in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company. Mrs. Billie Engel and Mrs. Jack Bennett were co-hostesses.

Seventeen close friends and relatives of the bride-elect were in attendance. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Lester Durham of Stanton, great aunt of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Jackie Calloway of Midland.

The hostesses presented Miss Casey and her mother, Mrs. Beulah Creswell, with corsages of white carnations and blue ribbons.

The table decorations featured Miss Casey's chosen colors of blue and white, and the centerpiece was a miniature bride. The cake was decorated with white roses and hearts, and the names, Beverly and Dick, appeared in pastel blue. An electric knife was presented to the honoree from the hostess.

The couple plan a June 26th wedding.

Dates Changed

Mrs. John Connally Reviews Book Entitled 'Mrs. L.B.J.'

Editors: Sue Watkins, book editor of the Austin American-Statesman, asked Mrs. John Connally, wife of the governor, to review the book "Mrs. L.B.J.": The Connallys have known the Johnsons since the governor helped Johnson get elected to Congress in 1957. Here are excerpts from Mrs. Connally's review of a book about her close friend and associate.

By Mrs. JOHN CONNALLY
Written for The Austin American-Statesman and The Associated Press

"Mrs. L.B.J." is the poignant love story of a woman for a man. She dedicated her life to her vigorous, demanding and exciting husband from the moment he swept her off her feet to this very moment as she so ably and happily serves all of us by his side.

This story takes us to the brick house in Marshall, the setting of Lady Bird's childhood, through her hours of reading, her long walks, showing the influence of a strong father on a young girl's life, the gentleness and love of the arts from her mother — through the days at college and her meeting with the tall, handsome, insistent young man who not only stole her heart and became her life but who also was to become part of all our lives as the President of the United States.

We learn how Mrs. Johnson accepted the ways of her husband's world and became quite adept at them herself, and we see her subtle influence on him.

From the brick house we go to her first apartment in Washington with her congressional assistant husband — through Congress and her first real home in Washington. We see her develop into an efficient business woman as she handles properties and radio stations. We try to implement her courage and strength with some of our own as we share with her the ordeal of Lyndon Johnson's very serious heart attack. We travel the United States with her as she campaigns for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket with the Kennedy ladies.

We go with her to the now famous LBJ Ranch and watch her manage beautifully the dinners, barbecues, swimming parties and countless visitors from heads of state to familiar office personnel, with charm and efficiency. From wife of the majority leader to the second lady of the land we move with her from the small home on 49th to the Elms and see her grow in knowledge and charm, and we watch as she shares herself with the world.

We are with her on Nov. 22. The tragedy that struck that day was all around her and in its midst her husband became President of the United States and she became First Lady of our land. When she came to the little room which I waited for news of my husband from the operating room, I knew that a dear friend was with me. Someone very close cared, and I felt free to cry.

We follow her through the terrible ordeal of the tragic ceremonial burial of our 35th president and her good friend, John F. Kennedy, the ascendancy to the presidency of her husband and the undertaking of her new responsibilities for which she had been so well trained.

Since Mrs. Johnson is presently giving and has so much more to give of herself to us and to the world, I dislike referring to the book, "Mrs. L.B.J." as her biography. This is just a part of the life of a woman I would describe as a many splendored thing — a gay, charming, very real person — a wonderful wife of a very demanding man, who loves the life and gives more than her share. Now that her life will no longer be blessed with private moments, you will see for yourself a great lady at work for a man she cherishes, a children she adores and a country she loves.

NCO Wives Club Varieties Makes Hit At State Hospital

An appreciative audience at the Big Spring State Hospital were treated to a fun-filled show Friday evening by members of the NCO Wives Club at Webb Air Force Base. Shown to the patients and staff members were skits from the annual variety show which the wives put on at the base to raise money to support their charities. The women share the work in creating colorful costumes for the various song and dance numbers, and practice many hours before their production is presented each year. The welcome to the guests and performers was extended by Mrs. Ruth Ward of the Volunteer Coordinators Office at the hospital. She introduced Mrs. William Wheeler, NCO president, who served as mistress of ceremonies for the show. As presented at the base, the show included Ann Nevils giving an imitation of Phyllis Diller's nightclub act with chatter and songs. Taking part in the Can Can Dance were Dorothy Smith, Tavia Smith, Mary Martinez and Rachael Longoria. The Fantastic Five were Irma Krepps, Jerry Pettit, Vie Kingsbury, Rose Lorenze and Mary Roberts. "How the West Was Won" was shown by Helen Prugh, Faye Wheeler and June Carter, and the Bill Bailey number was by Ann Nevils. The hula dance featured Rachael Longoria, and the "Long Tall Texan" was portrayed by Merlene Sloriak. Presenting Mexican dances were Vickie Parker and Rosa Peralta, and the "Go Go Girls" were Mary Martinez, Tavia Smith, Carol Odum, Dorothy Smith, Rachael Longoria and Rosa Peralta. Others assisting with music for the show were Mrs. J. Miller and Mrs. Glen Phillippe. The director was Mrs. Willis Parker. The show was given at 7:30 p.m. in the recreation room of the Alford Building.

Be Careful With Garbage Disposer

Wondering what you can and cannot put down your under-the-sink garbage disposer?

Better disposers are designed to take every kind of food waste.

This includes even hard substances, such as bones and fruit pits, which actually should be fed into the disposer as a steady diet to keep the shredding elements clean.

You can also feed a disposer napkins, as long as they are fed right along with food waste. The same holds true for non-filter cigarettes.

What can't you put down? Objects made of metal, glass, plastic, or any non-organic material.

Announce Duplicate Winners

Eight tables were in play during the Friday afternoon duplicate bridge games at the Big Spring Country Club. North-south winners were Mrs. Don Newsom and Mrs. Fred Lurling, first; Mrs. Anne Hardy and Mrs. Glenn Lingenfelter, second; and Mrs. Hollis Webb and Mrs. Ray McMahan, third.

East-west winners were Mrs. Elvis McCrary and Mrs. E. O. Ellington, first; Mrs. E. M. Bunn and Mrs. B. B. Badger, second; and Mrs. Jack Irons and Mrs. Gerald Harris, third.

Players are reminded that due to the Midland tournament the Sunday games at Cosden Country Club have been canceled.

Knits Make Style News

Outstanding as always and even more so - knits develop new ways for this summer of '65 while at the same time following a trend expanding their classic themes.

Now prevailing every sphere of fashion, knits appear in underfashions, loungewear, suits, coats, dresses and separates.

Out of all these fields, the primary knit news for summer revolves around the authentic, crocheted look; the two-way nylon knit stretch and the long look in knitted sweaters - so long, a sweater sometimes extends itself all the way to the knees to become a slim, shape-dress.

Linen blends move into the summer knit picture prominently. Generally, while woven fabrics are trending toward more flatness and smoothness, naturally-smooth knits are taking on greater texture interest.

Make Bedrooms Seem Brighter

Small, drab bedrooms can get a new lease on life with paneled walls. Use tongue-and-groove west coast hemlock 1x4s cut without pattern at the joints. Finish clear with wax, wallpaper lacquer, or new plastic with hand-rubbed look for best effect.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Clever Thought On Making Ice Water

Dear Heloise: For ice water in a hurry without the bother of ice trays... I put a clean, slim plastic container such as some liquid soaps come in) more than half full of water in the freezing compartment of my refrigerator and leave overnight. Generally, the water freezes solid. When we want ice water, we just put tap water into the plastic container, slosh it around a couple of minutes, and bingo... there's our ice water!

This container fits into the door rack of most refrigerators, and the block of ice will last most of the day (depending upon the usage), while a like container is freezing. It eliminates the fuss and bother of fixing cold, instant drinks, too. Reader

Dear Heloise: If you have baby pillow cases (an all too frequent, but useless, baby gift), slit the cases about half way up each side and use them as a slipcover for the back of baby's high chair.

The plastic used in many high chairs is easy to clean, but very uncomfortable on a wee one's shirtless back on hot days. If you make two or three of these covers, you can pop them into the laundry as often as necessary, and baby will have a much more comfortable chair in hot weather. It's so simple, but a great help... Pat Pellicane

Dear Heloise: Fishing rods now come in a cellophane tube, and I find these tubes suitable to put on a car radio antenna! This keeps the antenna from becoming rusty if you live in certain parts of the country... The cellophane does not interfere with the reception at all... Candy Bob

Dear Ladies: Let me give you a quick rundown about leftover mashed potatoes! Even if you have only one spoonful, do not throw it away. Not only can it be dropped in pancake or waffle batter, etc., but... When you make potato salad with your original recipe, and it is kept in the refrigerator a day or two (or if you have some left over), try mixing the mashed potatoes into it. Man alive! Remember that mashed potatoes are full of air, and do they lend lightness to potato salad!... Heloise

P.S. Using leftover mashed potatoes to mix with "gummy" chopped potato salad is another answer. Sometimes we all make flops, eh? Or, try boiling a few more potatoes, dicing, and adding them to a lot of leftover mashed potatoes. It's a la terrific!

Dear Heloise: I bought draperies too long for my bedroom window, and with the material I cut off, I made three pillowcases for the bed and a cover for the vanity bench. Certainly has added to the attractiveness of my bedroom. Heloise

Mrs. Tom Mattox
Dear Heloise: While on a trip last week, we had to travel over a freshly-tarred section of the highway. Some tar spattered around the door of the car. Leave it to me to brush against it when getting out at our next stop. My lovely suit is ruined unless you can advise me how to remove the tar... Madeline

Use cleaning fluid to remove the tar. Work from the back side of the material (after scraping off as much as possible), laying the damaged spot on clean, white cloth and changing positions when it becomes soiled. Always be sure to spot test, and to follow instructions and cautions on the container... Heloise

Webb Schedules Youth Activities

Webb AFB youth activities are in full swing with a total of 394 youngsters from five to 16 years of age enrolled in the summer program. Of these, 237 are registered for beginner, intermediate, and synchronized swimming, and for junior life saving. Sixty-seven others have signed up for tennis, golf, judo, archery, ceramics, and junior first aid.

Mrs. Miriam Russell, youth director, has announced that registrations are still being accepted for archery and judo classes, and that Mrs. Ora Burson will open a dance clinic at the base pavilion beginning June 21 offering ballet, tap, acrobatic, and modern dance, with separate classes for teens. Lessons will be on Monday and Wednesday mornings, with three to six-year-olds at 9 a.m.; seven to 10-year-olds at 10 a.m.; and 11 to 12-year-olds at 11 a.m. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Russell at personnel services, Ext. 306.

Mrs. Carter is the former Eva Etheredge, reared at Cameron. She and her husband, who lived in Devine, were married in Cameron June 13, 1915.

Carter was a highway road contractor, and the couple lived in several cities in different parts of the state as his work required. On Dec. 12, 1921 they moved to Stanton where he put the first paved highway through Martin County and a part of Howard County. He was supervisor for Martin County road construction for 13 years. They moved to Big Spring in 1940 and was in the service station business until 1953. Since then, the Carters have operated a grocery business at 1011 E. 16th.

The table will be covered with an ecru lace cloth, and the centerpiece will be of gold chrysanthemums. Silver and crystal appointments will be used. Mrs. Carter will wear a beige lace and taffeta dress with a gold corsage. Mr. Carter will use a gold boutonniere.

The public is invited to the book review. Tickets and information may be obtained from Mrs. W. U. O'Neal, at AM 4-2455, or from Mrs. J. H. Parks at AM 4-6782.

MRS. MELVIN RAY MURPHREE

Miss Ward Marries Melvin Ray Murphree

Miss Sherrie Lynn Ward and Melvin Ray Murphree exchanged wedding vows at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Fairview Baptist Church, Amarillo. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Argus A. Burnett, minister.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ward, Amarillo, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Murphree, 807 Willa.

A program of wedding music was presented by Jimmy Gardner, organist, who accompanied Mrs. A. C. Wood III of Fort Worth, sister of the bride, as she sang "The Greatest Gift" and "Take My Life And Let It Be."

Hats Needed For Wedding Rites

Should women guests at a wedding always wear a hat or a veil to the ceremony?

The answer is yes, with few exceptions. Only in Congregational, Unitarian and Mormon services is no head covering required.

In churches of other denominations, a head covering is either required or usually worn through custom.

So widespread is this practice that even when the ceremony is in the bride's home, women guests recognize the religious aspect by covering their heads.

The couple plans to be married July 8 at the First Baptist Church.

Dress Shirt Looks Bold

There's a bold new look to dress shirts for summer... a look which is young, crisp, colorful and just a little dramatic.

This dashing new concept is achieved through such devices as the use of new colors such as light tobacco and ox-blood played against white, stripes of every variety, a trimmer collar look, emphasis on short sleeves and the introduction of exciting new fabrics.

One of these new fabrics is an extremely neat looking waffle knit blend of Dacron, cotton and nylon. Since the cotton content is concentrated on the underside of the fabric, it offers amazing comfort and absorbency.

Another new fabric, Broxford, combines the best features of broadcloth and oxford.

Yardsticks Assist In Cutting Pattern

When cutting a pattern out of plain material which does not have a design to keep you on the straight, use two yardsticks at right angles, one on the "straight of the goods" marking on the paper pattern and the other at right angles from the selvege (edge).

Shift the material until it is the exact number of inches top and bottom. When cut this way, the completed garment "hangs" as the designer intended.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Remember the days when gangsters referred to currency as lettuce? With the high price of lettuce these days those old bad men would probably do better to make a haul of the vegetable... and sell it to eating establishments who like to fill a salad bowl to within an inch of the top with the green stuff and then add a few colorful bites. I haven't ordered a salad since the price of lettuce has jumped... I would be interested to see how much lettuce comes in the padding process and if not lettuce what is being used?

TRAVEL TALK

Sophistication Found In Buenos Aires

By HULIN FOWLER
Buenos Aires, called "B. A." by the well traveled American, is a sophisticated city reminiscent of European metropolitan areas.

You can find the same type of entertainment and shopping that is available in the U. S. or Europe; yet, in the city is strange, new and exciting. Most travelers agree — there's nothing like B. A., a perennial highlight of any trip to South America.

Argentina, a nation of 22 million people, is about a third the size of the United States. This southernmost South American country extends 2,300 miles from the Bolivian border to the cold, barren windswept wastes of Tierra del Fuego. Much of Argentina, famous for its beef, is composed of cattle ranches. Most of them are large and one famed spread makes the King Ranch seem like a cow pasture in comparison.

Buenos Aires, largest city in Latin America with a population of over 3.8 million, is as cosmopolitan as any city in the world. Argentina has long welcomed immigration and the city has a high European population, mostly Italians, whose influence has given the musical Spanish language the distinctive sing-song accent so easily recognizable as Argentinian.

LUXURY HOTELS
The flight from Montevideo to "B. A." was only an hour, and we arrived about 3 p.m., checking in at one of the luxurious hotels on the famed and historic Plaza San Martin. We freshened up rather hurriedly anxious to get on with the shopping that has made Buenos Aires famous the world over.

The Argentinians are great window shoppers and Florida Street, the city's main shopping area, was crowded, the people using the street more or less like a mall, moving aside as an occasional automobile moved through the throngs.

On the Calle Florida it is possible to buy some of the most exotic leather goods in the world — alligator bags and shoes, vicuna rugs, nutria coats, guanaco fur ponchos, and items made of ostrich leather.

We settled on buying two items that probably cannot be purchased anywhere else, a pair of soft, beautiful white porcupine gloves (without quills, of course), and a woman's ostrich leather billfold. Many Americans like to bring back a mate, an ornate, silver-decorated gourd, and a "bombilla," a silver tube used for drinking "yerba mate," national Argentinian drink, out of the gourd. Mate, a tea-like drink, is rather strange at first and you have to develop a taste for it.

GAUCHO-LAND
Argentina, of course, is gaucho country. The gaucho is historically the equivalent of our Texas cowboys and just about as tough. Feeling in tune with the atmosphere of gaucho-land, we decided to select a typical restaurant and try the famed Argentine beef.

The one that caught our eye seemed to cater more to the local residents than to tourists. In a window, in plain view of the street, cooks in gaucho costumes — baggy pants, boots and wide belts — were cooking beautiful steaks. The restaurant was not the quiet, cozy type — it would seat perhaps 300 people. Inside, we found that steaks, lamb and other meats were being barbecued on rods stuck straight up from the pits in the center of the floor.

Despite a butcher's strike — rather common in Latin America — we ordered steak, french fries, a vegetable and salad. The steak was at least two inches thick, barbecued to perfection, and the most delicious I have ever eaten. The bill, including a built-in service charge, came to about $2.00.

That night we happened upon what apparently is entertainment more for local residents than for tourists. It was the Odeon Theatre, which billed typical Argentinian folklore music and dancing. It was thoroughly entertaining, professionally done, and perhaps gave more of a feeling of the country than any side trip that we took.

It is possible, just out of Buenos Aires, for the tourist to visit some of the famed ranches of the land. On these visits he is thoroughly entertained, with typical music, dancing and "churrascos" or dinners of barbecued beef and lamb served by the gauchos.

Argentina is not essentially a mecca for American tourists, but it is an interesting, exotic country that they should see. And it is typical of our fast, modern age that you can board a jet in Miami and, only 11 hours later, land in this fascinating country which has so much to offer in entertainment, shopping and sightseeing.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Last in a series of articles on the writer's South American tour. Write to Mr. Fowler in care of The Big Spring Herald for answers to your travel questions.

Miss Sharon LaRue Smith Marries Jack R. Roden Jr.

Miss Sharon LaRue Smith became the bride of Jack Raborn Roden Jr., at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. H. Clyde Smith, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smith, 2706 Rebecca, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ann Moore, Austin, and Jack R. Roden Sr., Hurst.

The altar was centered with a crescent candelabrum flanked by seven branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers. Gracing the altar was a sunburst arrangement of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and stock against a background of ferns.

Miss Brenda Reid, organist, and Miss Karon Elrod, vocalist, presented a selection of traditional wedding music.

The bride entered the church with her father who escorted her to the altar and gave her in marriage.

She wore a formal gown that was an original model of white imported French lace and tulle over satin. The dress was designed with a portrait neckline framed with an up-standing bertha of lace and embroidered with seed pearls. The fitted lace bodice had long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and the skirt, made of scalloped tiers of tulle, had its fullness emphasized by hoops and ermine worn underneath.

Her floor length veil of illusion was of double tulle and fell from a cap of criss-crossed seed pearls framed on either side by Frenched silk organza pom poms sprinkled with seed pearls.

For her bouquet, the bride chose white Cymbidium orchids, showered in Frenched carnations and stephanotis, carried atop a white Bible.

Carrying out the wedding traditions, the bride wore, for something old, her maternal grandmother's wedding band. Something new was her veil of illusion, and something borrowed was her wedding gown belonging to Mrs. Bob Wheeler, Andrews, in whose wedding the bride was a flower girl 11 years ago. The blue item was her garter.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Ted Beavers of El Paso,

MRS. JACK RABORN RODEN JR.

cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Yolanda Garrett, Miss Sheri Andre, Miss Thresa Foster, Mrs. Richard Bethell, and Miss Mary Somers of Odessa.

Their identical floor-length gowns were of heavy French blue satin with scooped necklines. The bodices were overlaid with blue imported lace and the bell-shaped skirts were accented with peplums of blue lace. Their headpieces were made from large single cabbage roses fashioned of blue silk organza attached to a short halo veil of blue tulle. They carried bouquets of roses backed with blue tulle and showered with blue streamers atop Bibles, gifts from the bride.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. C. Batte, Odessa; Mrs. Jerry Smith, Long Beach Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith, Odessa; Mrs. Anita Roush, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith and family, and Bob Jordan, all of Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. Lavon Dodd, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dudley, Fort Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. Benny Wadsworth, Midland.

Mapping Return Trip

Klaus Limbacher, right, joins the R. J. Ream family, his hosts as Big Spring's first exchange student this past year, in planning his return trip to Germany June 26. Jim, left, and Rick join their parents in talking over travel plans with Klaus.

BARBECUE TO FOOTBALL

First Exchange Student Savors New Experiences

By PRESTON MAYNARD
He hasn't learned to eat Mexican food and he doesn't like American-style bread. But Klaus Limbacher of Wesel, Germany, has gone fishing, doubled in a car, water skied and eaten barbecue — each for the first time — during his 10-month stay in Big Spring.

And he's learned to watch television with his shoes off. He can recount a number of new experiences as Big Spring's first exchange student, and both Klaus and the R. J. Ream family, his hosts, recalled the 10 months together with an enthusiastic endorsement of the exchange program.

For the Ream family, their house is going to be much quieter, they agreed, after Klaus embarks for Germany June 26.

EXCHANGE CUSTOMS
Klaus and the two Ream boys, Rick, 18, and Jim, 14, have found a number of common interests during the year — swimming, tennis, music and just talking, often into the early morning hours.

The boys even divided lawn mowing chores three ways. "He's taught us a lot of little things about Germany, such as card games, songs, everyday customs, tastes," Rick said.

"And he's told us a lot of stories about Germany."

While Jim and Rick learned to ski from Klaus, they taught him to water ski.

"We are a very informal family," Mr. Ream pointed out. "His way is not so informal, but then I think he's changed a lot himself this year."

CASUAL WATCHING
Klaus pointed out some differences between American and German life. He feels more emphasis is placed on material things in this country. The German people read more.

"Soon after he arrived, we were watching television one night and I realized we all had our shoes off," Mrs. Ream said. "So we explained to him that not all Americans watch television with their shoes off."

"Now, however, he kicks them off about as often as we do," she said.

The family emphasized that the exchange program provides mutual benefits, both to the student and his hosts, in an exchange of understanding and knowledge of two countries.

"We've come to appreciate things about him that are different from us," Rick said, "such as his religion, political views, education, culture and philosophy."

Klaus is planning to write a letter to the next exchange student, giving the benefit of his experiences this past year.

"One mistake I think we made this year was in letting him carry a heavy school load," Mr. Ream said.

Sharing experiences with Klaus, the family made numerous trips this past year to spots of interest in the Southwest. He attended football games, Big Spring Civic Theatre and Midland Little Theatre productions, went on high school band trips and to Carlsbad Caverns, N.M.

"We were tremendously pleased with the way the teenagers accepted him," Mrs. Ream said. "They have included him in all their activities."

INTERESTED IN NEXT
The family is planning to have the next exchange student spend some weekends with them.

"We've learned a lot about the American Field Service program," Mrs. Ream said. While the Ream family planned most of Klaus' activities and trips this year, she pointed out that benefits of the program would be extended and broadened if families other than the hosts also take an interest. She said various families could ask the exchange student to accompany them on weekend trips and outings.

Mrs. Ream will be president of the field service chapter here for the coming year.

WESTERN REGALIA
Klaus is taking a host of items from West Texas back to Germany, a school annual and ring, a western hat presented to him last fall, boots and cowboy regalia.

He will leave Big Spring on his 18th birthday, and when he arrives in Germany, he will be able to obtain his first drivers license. German youths are not allowed to drive until that age.

And while Klaus expressed plans to someday return to the United States and to his family for the past year, the Reams also revealed they hope to travel someday to Europe and, of course, Wesel, Germany in particular.

With Mixed Emotions, Klaus Says His Goodbye

By KLAUS G. LIMBACHER
Dear Citizens of Big Spring—The time has come that I say goodbye to your town. For 10 months I had the privilege and pleasure to stay as an exchange student here in Big Spring. It was a time of continuous joy and excitement, full of beautiful hours and interesting experiences, and certainly the most wonderful 10 months in my life.

As I try to express my gratitude for all that I have received from you, I find it difficult to say the right words. But I want to say "thank you", and I say it with all my heart.

First of all, I want to thank my foster family, the Reams, to whom I have grown so close in such a short time. I lived in their home and shared their life; and I was not an intruder or a mere guest, but I was a member of the family. In the everyday life I could see how Americans live, and what is more, I could understand how they think. And my own ways of thinking were re-shaped in the course of this development. The long talks which I had with my American brother Ruckey, by themselves, probably had more influence on my later life than I now can realize. And here lies the purpose of the American Field Service, the organization which sent me here. It is to create understanding between individuals of different nations in order to help deepen the understanding of these nations themselves. I only hope that the Reams will come to visit me in my fatherland as they have promised to do. Then I will be able to show them my town, Wesel, and my country, Germany, as they have shown me Big Spring and, on many family trips, Texas, New Mexico, and even Old Mexico.

Secondly, I want to thank my school, Big Spring High School. The administration, together with the local Field Service Chapter, for advising me in potential problems; the faculty, for their guidance, and for teaching me so many things I would never have learned elsewhere; and the students, who accepted me so readily as one of their own, among whom I was able to find such wonderful friends.

Finally, I want to thank all of you, this city of Big Spring, for your friendly hospitality. I appreciated every smile and every handshake, and I got hundreds of them. It is hard to say goodbye, but you will understand this—I am also looking forward to being home again.

So, I am leaving, as we would say in Germany, "with one eye crying and one eye laughing." One thing, however, I know for sure: some day I will be back in this "little town with the big heart."

Needs No Runway, Safer And Faster Than Copters

EDITOR'S NOTE — The concept of an airplane that can do everything a conventional plane can do but which requires no runway was proved only many years ago. Now they're getting around to building something more than a scientific toy.

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — The airman's — and civilian's — dream of a nonconventional airplane that requires no expensive runway is so far advanced that the military is testing the craft to see how many uses it has.

The helicopter also needs no runway. But the makers of the new plane, Ling-Temco-Vought of Dallas, say their craft can fly more than twice as fast and is safer.

The plane is the XC142A, so new no one has given it a name. Many Vertical Short Take Off and Landing planes have been made. Company spokesmen say, however, that they were put together only to prove that it can be done. The XC142, they say, provides a practical workhorse.

Dr. Walter Hesse, program head of the $125 million project, swears the XC142 is not designed to supplant the helicopter.

He said that it is designed, at least for civilian use, to fly from downtown in one city to downtown in another at great speed.

Dr. Hesse repeats, "It is a big airplane" — presumably to contrast it with earlier experimental models built by several companies.

The aircraft looks more like a box with propellers than an airplane or helicopter.

"The Army said it wanted a box," explained Dr. Hesse.

Snub-Nosed And Air-Borne

High camera speed makes the propellers appear stopped as this Vertical Short Take Off and Landing aircraft hovers. The craft, built by Ling-Temco-Vought under military contract, is being tested.

The Navy needed a plane that would fit on an aircraft carrier elevator.

The XC142 turns its wings with its four fixed engines upward and actually leaps into the air.

The pilot rotates the wings forward when he reaches a convenient height and then possesses a conventional appearing aircraft.

At this point, the pilot cuts two engines to save fuel. The plane still will scoot through the air at 430 miles per hour. Cruising speed is 300.

The plane hovers so well it appears suspended on a rope.

The XC142 can carry 33 servicemen with their 60-pounds-plus of gear per man. With added fuel tanks it can carry 12,000 pounds of cargo.

Its range is 480 miles but this can be boosted to 3,800 miles if needed.

The military contracted for five machines and three have been built.

The services are testing one at the moment. Another is being checked after its wing tips touched ground in an unexpected backlash of air from the propellers. The third is being disassembled for routine inspection after test flights.

Commercial airlines show interest in the plane but not at $25 million each.

"A large order of 300 aircraft by the military could cut the cost of $2 million each," estimated Dr. Hesse.

One breakthrough of engineering skill is a wing design with deflectors which permit a steady flow of air over the wings as they change position from vertical to horizontal and back again. This prevents stalling and is done without the pilot being required to make adjustments.

A rotor on the rear helps maintain stability. The chief safety feature is cross-shafting between the engines and the propellers so that the plane can fly with four propellers turning although only two engines are operating.

Pet Vaccination Slated At Coahoma

COAHOMA—The City of Coahoma has arranged for a veterinarian, Dr. Joe Neff, to be at the fire station in Coahoma June 21 to vaccinate dogs and cats, Mrs. Mattie Miller, city secretary, said Saturday.

Hours will be from 9 a.m. to noon, and from 2 to 5 p.m.

"The City of Coahoma has employed L. W. Whitten as city marshal," Mrs. Miller said.

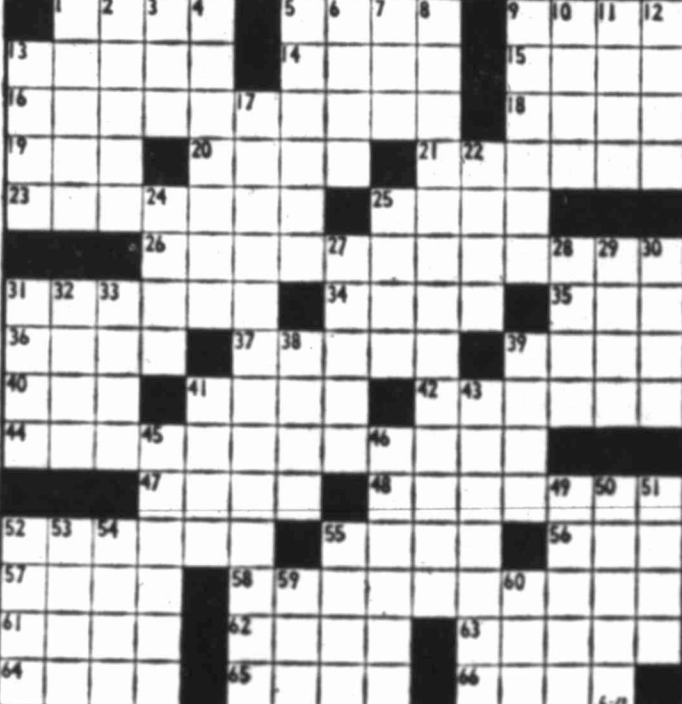

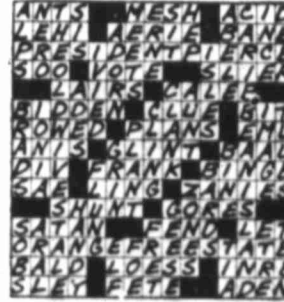

The city has an ordinance requiring all dogs and cats running at large to be vaccinated, and the ordinance will be enforced.

Tags, showing that pets are vaccinated, will be available at the fire station for each animal.

WORLD'S FAIR

DEAR ABBY

Mother's First Job

DEAR ABBY: A currently successful author seems to be harping on the theory that in order for a woman to be "fulfilled," even though she is a wife and mother, she needs a profession or a job outside her home. You are a "pro," Abby. How do you feel about that?

STAY-AT-HOME MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: I am one "pro" who is "con" on that theory. Motherhood (at least until the children are in school all day) is a full-time job. And if it is done properly, it more than "fulfills" a woman. There is no greater responsibility than guiding a life. And no greater reward than the knowledge that you have done it well.

DEAR ABBY: My skin crawled when I read that letter from "Heartbroken Mother," pleading with all mothers to keep electric extension cords "unplugged" when not in use because of the tragic accident her child had when she put a "live" cord in her mouth. I want you and that mother to know that that letter has helped at least one thoughtless mother I used to keep an extension cord for my vacuum cleaner plugged into the wall behind my couch. That way I didn't have to pull out the couch each time I vacuumed. My ten-month-old daughter has just started to crawl, and when I think of how easy it would have been for her to get hold of that cord and put it in her mouth, my blood runs cold. I immediately disconnected the cord and it is now hanging in the broom closet. My thanks to you, Abby, for printing that letter. I lost one son to a congenital heart defect last year, and would hate to lose the only child I have left to electrocution because of my carelessness. Sincerely, MRS. H. —And because Sunday, June 13th is Children's Day:

A PARENT'S PRAYER

Oh, heavenly Father, make me a better parent. Teach me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say, and to answer all their questions kindly. Keep me from interrupting them or contradicting them. Make me as courteous to them as I would have them be to me. Forbid that I should ever laugh at their mistakes, or resort to shame or ridicule when they displease me. May I never punish them for my own selfish satisfaction or to show my power. Let me not tempt my child to lie or steal. And guide me hour by hour that I may demonstrate by all I say and do that honesty produces happiness. Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. And when I am out of sorts, help me, Oh Lord, to hold my tongue.

May I ever be mindful that my children are children and I should not expect of them the judgment of adults.

Let me not rob them of the opportunity to wait on themselves and to make decisions.

Bless me with the bigness to grant them all their reasonable requests, and the courage to deny them privileges I know will do them harm.

Make me fair and just and kind. And fit me, Oh Lord, to be loved and respected and imitated by my children. Amen.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

T-TA Schedules Earlier Flights To Eastern Cities

By M. A. WEBB

Good news to air travelers will be the rescheduling of the early morning flight of Trans-Texas Airways, to leave Big Spring at 6:07 a.m. instead of 8:33 a.m. The new schedule, to include a few other changes in flights, will begin July 1, according to Dean Berry, T-TA station manager at Howard County Airport.

The present Flight No. 422 will be cancelled. Flight 424 will originate in Midland at 5:36 a.m., leave Big Spring at 6:07 a.m., leave Abilene at 7 a.m. and arrive in Dallas at 7:53 a.m. The Abilene stop has been added to the new Convair flight. Flight No. 195, formerly leaving Dallas at 8:47 a.m. and arriving in Big Spring at 10:29, will leave Love Field at 7:07 a.m. and will serve Abilene, and arrive in Big Spring more than an hour earlier than the former time. The flight will then go to Lubbock and Albuquerque.

Flight No. 197, now arriving in Big Spring at 9:07 p.m., will arrive five minutes later.

More detailed schedules will be available soon to pinpoint times of flights in and out of Big Spring in all directions. The new morning and evening flights to and from the east will be of more convenience to persons from this area who want to attend to business and return the same day. Trans-Texas Airways, in beginning service to several areas last year, informed the air-traveling public that every effort would be made to adjust flights to serve its customers to the best advantage. The new schedule going into effect July 1, will show changes in several areas in its six-state system.

Not too much has taken place at Howard County Airport during the week, except activity of local flight training and club flying. Training of instructional personnel, for the new pre- jet flight training for student pilots at Webb Air Force Base, has started. The "standardization" courses are being given by Webb personnel. Two of the T-41A trainers were in operation in the program Friday afternoon. Six of the airplanes are at Howard County Airport for the training.

Howard County Flying Club members going up in the Colt and Cherokee during the week were: Colt—D. Long (cross country), Eaton (2), Moore, Fort, White, Gann, Garner; Cherokee 180—Dodson (cross country), E. Long (cross country), Reed (2), Bonnie (cross country), Heartsill.

Webb Aero Club flights made in the two Cessnas, were: Cessna 150—Davidson (cross country), Druyan (3), Sammye (4), Sullivan (2), Kathy (4), Morrell (2 and cross country); Green; Cessna 172—Thomas (2), Bauer, Green (2), Bailey, Gariani (3), McComas, Kunkle (2).

Big Spring Flying Club pilots out were: Colt—Neefe; Skyhawk—Bettle (2-day cross country), Maxson, Allen (2), Stewart (2).

Work on the new hangar-office for contract training of Webb pilots, was stopped temporarily by the rains Friday morning. The steel is up, and siding is up on about half of the building.

It is no accident that men, the world over, have built clocks into the steeples of their churches:

Reduce life to its simplest components and what have you? TIME and GOD.

Time marks the beginning of life. It measures the growth of our bodies. It provides opportunity for our work and play. It reveals to us our human limitations. And then, one day, Time leaves us behind...

But God is the origin of life. He measures the growth of our souls. He provides our strength and forgives our weakness. He reveals to us His limitless Love. And, never deigning to leave us behind, God beckons us on — even beyond the circle of time.

A parable then: the clock in the steeple!

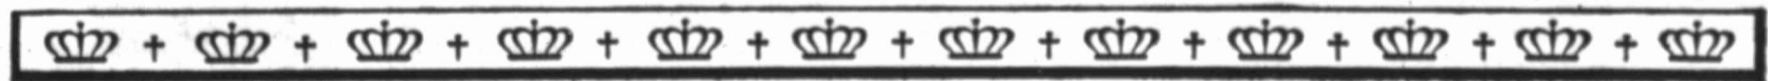

Man finds material security and temporal happiness as he learns to respect Time.

Man finds spiritual security and eternal happiness as he learns to love God!

James Stewart Plays Lead For Civil War Adventure

A Civil War epic, "Shenandoah," opens Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre, starring James Stewart as a farmer in Virginia during the 1860's.

The adventure-drama tells the story of the futility of war, with Stewart as a widower with a family of six sons, a daughter and a daughter-in-law. He attempts to remain neutral as the valley region erupts into war, but finds himself and his family affected by the battles.

A young son is taken as a prisoner of war and Stewart is forced to become involved.

A group of youngsters play key roles in the movie story. Stewart's daughter is played by Rosemary Forsythe and a Confederate officer by Doug McClure, star of "The Virginian" television series.

Phillip Alford, remembered for his role in "To Kill A Mockingbird," and Glenn Corbett, star of "Route 66," are other stars in the cast.

A major battle scene is enacted in the movie and the music includes the score for "Shenandoah," an American folk song.

Much of the film was photographed in a location in central Oregon.

The cast includes Patrick Wayne, Katherine Ross, Tim McIntire, George Kennedy and Charles Robinson.

THE ARTS Area Dotted With Dates

Next up on the summer series of the Hill Country Arts Foundation in Ingram is "The King and I," one of the colossal hits of Rodgers and Hammerstein. The musical about the strict-laced English governess and the balking and poly-gamous king of Siam will open June 16 for three weeks, starring Jerry Fitzgerald and Vicki Hall. Details may be had from Box 176, Ingram.

The fourth season of Children's Theatre at the foundation, incidentally, will begin Monday with Ginger Wright of Houston as director. "The Wizard of Oz" will be the first presentation.

Big Spring has been represented in the 18th annual Sunshine Music Camp now under way at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales. The camp, which has drawn a record 633 this year, will continue through Friday.

Joseph Kirchbaum, conductor and musical director of the ETEX Symphony Orchestra at Tyler, has announced that the first movement of the Edward MacDowell "Piano Concerto No. 2, in D minor, Opus 23" will be the selection used for the annual high school contest scheduled for Feb. 26, 1966. This will be the 16th such contest. This year George Gilliam, Corsicana, was the winner, and he got $50, plus a guest appearance with the symphony.

STAMP NEWS

UN Issue Honors Union Of Telecommunications

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newswriters

More than 100 countries throughout the world have been issuing stamps honoring the 100th anniversary of the International Telecommunications Union. The ITU was founded a century ago in Paris with 20 states as initial members and with the name "International Telegraph Union." It was changed in 1932 to more properly indicate its expanding functions concerning worldwide agreement of communications between countries. The ITU is now a specialized agency of the U.N.

The United Nations honored the centenary with two commemorative stamps, a 5 cent and an 11 cent. Depicted is the theme "from semaphore to satellite" showing a communications satellite and a man sending semaphore flag signals. The 1865-1965 also appear.

Haiti has announced the issuance of a new stamp honoring the bicentenary of the first metropolitan church of Haiti, Our Lady of Assumption. Also to be issued by Haiti is a set of picturing flowers of the area. It is scheduled for release in October.

Watercolor Class Slated

A new special interest class entitled Transparent Watercolor Techniques for Beginners will be offered as a part of the YMCA's summer program series, Curtis Mullins, general secretary, announced today.

The class will consist of 14 lessons, beginning Thursday 6:30 p.m. - 9 p.m. at the YMCA. Classes will meet on Monday and Thursday evenings. Fees for the series of lessons will be $45 for "Y" members and $50 for non-members. Information may be had by dialing the Y at AM 4-8821 or AM 4-8331.

The appeal for water coloring has been increasing in the past several years due to the bright qualities of transparent colors. It offers to the beginner a challenge to excel in a wide variety of techniques known only to the media of water coloring.

Instructor of the class will be Don Duncan. He is a graduate of West Texas State University and is a past student of Dr. Emilio Caballero, one of the Southwest's outstanding watercolorists.

Sinister Silence
LONDON (AP) — Actor Christopher Lee, who speaks several European languages besides his native English, doesn't say a word in his new movie "Dracula—Prince of Darkness." Official explanation from producer Anthony Nelson Keys: "Dracula never spoke really, so we decided to make it as authentic as possible. His silence makes him all the more sinister."

'Mirage' Spotlights Peck, Diane Baker

"Mirage," a suspense drama spotlighting Gregory Peck, Diane Baker and Walter Matthau, opens today at the Ritz Theatre.

"Mirage" is an account of a man on the run, the plight of an amnesia victim who struggles to regain his memory in order to understand why a vicious stream of assailants are determined to kill him.

The movie contains a new cinema technique — recollection sequences that move the story between the past and the present without warning.

Diane Baker is the woman of mystery who aids Peck in tearing away the shrouds that hide the past. Walter Matthau, gives a new quality to a familiar character, the private eye. In varying degrees of sinister villainy, ranging from harassment to violent cruelty are, such performers as Kevin McCarthy, Jack Weston, George Kennedy and Lefty Erickson. Walter Abel returns to the screen after a long absence to portray a wealthy philanthropist.

Will Avoid Lecture Topic

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Victoria Carroll, all curves and red hair, has led such a sheltered life for an actress that, she says, "I've never even been out of town — except with Jimmy Durante."

Now suddenly, at 23, she's found herself booked on a cross-country tour to lecture on "The Art of Love."

"Actually, I'm going to try to avoid the subject," says Vicki. "How can you teach people about men and love when you've spent most of your time saying, 'No' to most men?"

"Just because I'm an actress, everyone thinks I'm an expert. Besides," she added, "I'm not even married."

Comedy Stars Dean Martin

"All in a Night's Work," stars Dean Martin and Shirley MacLaine, opening today at the Sahara Drive In Theatre.

The story concerns events within a publishing company whose founder is discovered dead with a strange smile on his face. Suspicion points to a mystery girl who was seen, clad only in a towel, racing out of his Palm Beach hotel suite at three o'clock in the morning. To forestall a scandal which would topple the teetering company, the girl must be found and her silence bought.

Dean Martin is cast as the playboy nephew called upon to replace his late uncle as company head, and to solve the problem created by the circumstances of his death. Shirley MacLaine portrays the "mystery girl." Three times before they have appeared in the same films — "Artists and Models," "Career" and "Some Came Running."

Martin's most recent films include the musical comedy, "The Belles Are Ringing" and the suspense drama, "Ocean's Eleven." Miss MacLaine recently scored big in "The Apartment." In 1958 she won an Academy Award nomination as Best Actress for her work in "Some Came Running." Now as Kate Robbins in "All in a Night's Work" Shirley again returns to high comedy and gay romance.

Co-starring roles are filled by Cliff Robertson, who will be seen as Shirley's veterinary fiancé, Charles Ruggles and Mabel Albertson, who play his straitlaced parents, and Norma Crane in her film debut as Shirley's co-worker. Jerome Cowan and Gale Gordon portray nervous executives of the company, and Jack Weston plays an overzealous detective who works on the case-of-the-missing-girl with D-an.

The film welcomes back to movie work Resemarie Bowe, a young beauty who quit films five years ago when she married Robert Stack. She appears as one of playboy Martin's many playmates, until Shirley enters his life.
