Mrs. Dorothy Schiff, publisher of the New York Post; Theodore W. Keeel, unofficial labor advisor to Mayor Robert Wagner; and Bertram A. Powers, right, president of New York local of Typographical Union, announced Wednesday night that the Post would resume publication today after a one-day shutdown. Mrs. Schiff and Powers reached a temporary agreement after a hassle over use of a computer to aid typesetting. The agreement calls for the computer to be used for one week. The shutdown of the daily tabloid newspaper was caused by the dispute. The printers' union opposed installation of the computer which punches tape. (AP WIREPHOTO)

South Viets Accuse France Of Aiding Foe; Sever Ties

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam's military government announced today it has broken diplomatic relations with France and accused the French government of helping its enemies. "France pretends to be a friend but isn't," Foreign Minister Tran Van Do told a news conference.

"We take note of their decision," a French government spokesman said in Paris. He added that he doubted there would be any further government comment. The foreign minister said the break in relations was intended only as a political protest against France's policy toward South Viet Nam and would not affect some 7,000 French nationals living in South Viet Nam or Vietnamese citizens living in France.

Soviet Bars Peace Try

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Forty-six American planes flew north of the "Hanoi line" again today to blast an ammunition depot in North Viet Nam. U.S. military spokesmen announced.

Red China and North Viet Nam. The only favorable responses came from Washington, Saigon and U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, but the mission refused to give up.

RUSSIAN STAND "It is the intention of the mission to go to whatever capitals it is able to," said a spokesman in London. Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin told the mission it should first demand an end of American armed intervention and American withdrawal from South Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned in Washington that casualties will mount in the "brutal war" in Viet Nam and accused the Communists of pushing for "a military victory, not peace."

RED TURNDOWN On the diplomatic front, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Commonwealth peace mission got another Communist turndown, from the Soviet Union. The mission of Wilson and three other Commonwealth leaders has already been rejected by Eye De Gaulle Relations between France and her former colony have grown increasingly strained since President Charles de Gaulle began outspoken opposition to American participation in the war against the Viet Cong and advocacy of a negotiated settlement neutralizing South and North Viet Nam.

Truce Attempt By U. N. Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate hears appeals today for peace-seeking intervention by the United Nations in Viet Nam and for full-scale congressional debate on whether the United States should fight a Korea-type war there.

Silver Coin Bill Vote On WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate begins voting today on the silver-coinage bill, with a major test set on whether to retain any silver in the half-dollar.

BIGGER ISSUE "The real question is not whether we are willing to send another 21,000 troops to Viet Nam to help the South Vietnamese during this summer's monsoon rains," Javits said. "It is whether we are prepared to send some hundreds of thousands of our troops into combat as we did in Korea, if necessary—for it may become necessary."

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hoped the bill would be passed by tonight.

SOLICIT U.N. "I would propose," Church said, "that we abandon our unilateral posture in Viet Nam by soliciting the services of the United Nations in the search for a peaceful settlement." Further, he said this country should "affirm our willingness to deal with the Viet Cong, as part of any delegation Hanoi may send to the conference table" and should "advocate genuine self-determination for the people of South Viet Nam," abiding by the outcome of an election on this question.

As submitted by President Johnson and approved in the Senate Banking Committee, the measure would eliminate all silver in dimes and quarters but retain a 40 per cent content in half dollars. All three now have 90 per cent silver. Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., whose state uses silver for industrial purposes, proposed to revise the legislation to eliminate all silver in the half dollar as well. Both sides said they expected the result to be close.

Wide Medicare Plan Passes Senate Panel

AMA Turns Aside Moves For Boycott

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Medical Association turned aside today moves to urge doctors to boycott the proposed federal Medicare. But it warned it would not cooperate in any health program that interferes with a doctor's judgment and skill.

POLICY STAND The House of Delegates—top policy group of the AMA—accepted and approved a resolution by one of its top legislative committees that states: "That when the fate of the pending Medicare legislation is determined, this house will review in special session if necessary, the effect of the law and take whatever action is deemed necessary."

It also accepted some amendments from the floor that reaffirmed previous AMA stands including:

"That the medical profession will render (best possible medical) care according to the system it believes is in the public interest, and that it will not be a willing party to implementing any system which it believes to be detrimental to the public welfare."

REJECTS BIDS The AMA's delegates turned back nine resolutions from eight states and one individual doctor that would have urged nonparticipation in the proposed Medicare plan to provide health care for the aged through Social Security.

But at the same time—in one of several amendments from the floor—it restated its objection to accepting any program funded by Social Security taxes.

The Medicare bill—backed by the Johnson administration—has passed the House, and has apparently cleared its most serious hurdles in the Senate prior to a vote. Medicare is hospital and nursing home care for the aged financed through Social Security.

The AMA has spent several million dollars fighting the Medicare proposal and similar ones in earlier years. In the first three months of this year it reported its lobbying expenses in Washington at over $950,000.

The doctors generally contend that Medicare would introduce government into the doctor-patient relationship, and this would interfere with high quality medical care.

21 DAYS The agreement reached by the conferees would give Congress 21 days to decide the issue when the vice president contests the right of a once disabled president to resume office. The House had fixed a 10-day limit; the Senate had set no limit.

LONG DRIVE The proposed amendment also provides for the succession to the presidency of the vice president—now a matter of custom, but without constitutional sanction—and prescribes a method for insuring that the vice presidency always will be filled.

TWO PHASES The question of presidential disability is divided into two parts: when the president voluntarily declares himself unable to carry out his duties, and when he does not make such a declaration.

In the first case, the vice president takes over the presidential duties only until the president declares himself able to resume them.

In the second case, the vice president and a majority of the Cabinet may declare a president unable to carry on, whereupon the vice president immediately assumes the powers of the office.

IS REINSTATED Thereafter, when the president sends Congress a written declaration that no disability exists, he is reinstated at once, unless the vice president and a majority of the Cabinet declare in writing that he is not capable of discharging his duties.

Congress then would have to decide the issue, and it would take a two-thirds vote of both Houses to determine that the president is disabled and that the vice president should continue to carry out his duties. Under the agreement reached Wednesday, Congress would have to act within 21 days, or the president automatically would resume his powers of office.

Presidential Disability Plan Impasse Cracked

WASHINGTON (AP)—House and Senate conferees finally have agreed on a constitutional amendment for the determination of presidential disability and succession.

A deadlock that persisted for two months and threatened to kill the proposal finally was resolved Wednesday night, and prompt approval of the final version by both House and Senate is expected.

Thereafter, when the president sends Congress a written declaration that no disability exists, he is reinstated at once, unless the vice president and a majority of the Cabinet declare in writing that he is not capable of discharging his duties.

Candidates Push For Voter Support With just one day left in which to campaign, the three candidates for state legislature from the 78th Legislative District were pushing at top speed Thursday Friday as their final time to ask for the support of voters in this and six other counties of the district.

Saturday at 8 a.m., voting begins. The polls remain open to 7 p.m.

The candidates were busy Thursday and planned to push ahead with their campaign down to the wire.

The three men in the race—Roger Brown, Frank Hardesty and Harold Hall—have all made strenuous campaigns. The special election was called by the state governor to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Ed J. Carpenter who was serving his second term in the lower house.

In the relatively brief interval since the call for the election was issued, all three of the candidates have covered all of the counties on numerous occasions.

Final Approval For Measure Seen In July

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee approved today the bill establishing a broad health care program for persons over 65 and raising Social Security payments for 20 million Americans.

The 12-3 vote sent the $6-billion bill to the Senate floor for expected passage in July. It was the first time the committee had been willing to approve a health care for the aged program tied into the Social Security system. Last year it rejected such a move 11-4.

CHANGES MADE The committee made numerous changes in the bill passed April 8 by the House and strongly endorsed by President Johnson.

But it retained the major framework, including these two new programs designed to take care of most of the medical and hospital costs of the 19 million persons 65 and over:

—A basic plan financed under Social Security covering hospitalization, posthospital nursing home care, out-patient hospital diagnostic services, and post-hospital home health visits.

INSURANCE PLAN —A voluntary, supplemental insurance plan covering doctors' fees for services at home, at the office or in a hospital, as well as some additional services.

In addition to the health care provisions, the bill approved by the Senate committee would make numerous changes in the present Social Security system.

Most important is a 7 per cent increase in retirement, disability and survivor benefits retroactive to Jan. 1 this year.

The maximum retirement payment for a person going on the rolls now would be boosted to $135.90 a month compared with the present $127. The minimum would go up from $40 to $44.

INCREASE $80 The bill will bring an increase in Social Security taxes next year to about $5 billion as compared with 1965 or of $2.5 billion as compared with what present law would yield in 1966. The increase is needed to finance both the higher Social Security payments and the basic health plan.

The committee adopted more than 75 amendments to the House version in its month of closed meetings on the bill.

One major change was in the financing provisions. The committee decided to make the $6,600 taxable wage base effective in 1966 instead of 1971 as the House had voted.

The base now is $4,800. The House bill would boost it to $5,600 in 1966, and to $6,600 five years later.

LOWER NOW Under the Senate change, the tax rates would be somewhat lower than those fixed by the House bill for the next few years. The effect of the Senate provision is to throw a somewhat larger share of Social Security cost onto higher-income families.

The committee in its final sessions today made two significant revisions.

It further liberalized the hospitalization provisions under the basic plan and also the income test which determines how much a person eligible for Social Security retirement may earn and still draw benefits.

Plains Sector Under Alert

By The Associated Press The western part of the Panhandle-Plains area was placed under a severe thunderstorm forecast today. The forecast called for severe thunderstorms, large hail and damaging winds in an area 60 miles on either side of a line from Lake McKenzie near Lamasa northward through Brownfield, Littlefield, Hereford and Dalhart to Lamar, Colo., from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Declarer's failure in today's three no trump contract may be attributed to his waste of the dummy's somewhat slender resources.

South's opening bid of two no trump, and North's raise to game were purely routine.

West opened the three of spades and the queen was played from dummy. A diamond was led at trick two and South finessed the queen. West was in with the king and he returned another spade, which went to the king in declarer's hand.

South cashed the ace of diamonds and then crossed over to the jack of spades to lead the ten of diamonds. East put up the jack and shifted to a heart. South played the ace, cashed his last spade, and then led the queen of clubs in an effort to establish dummy's king as a delayed entry to the nine of diamonds—which represented declarer's ninth trick. East ducked the queen of clubs, however, and South was obliged to concede defeat.

Declarer had shown an utter lack of concern for the tenuous state of his line of communications. Since there are only two sure entries to the dummy, the queen and jack of spades, it becomes essential for South to establish a second trick in diamonds before he has used up both of North's high cards.

It is suggested that South win the first trick in his hand with the king of spades, and then play the ace and queen of diamonds. West is in with the king and, if he returns a spade, dummy's first entry is employed to drive out the jack of diamonds. The queen of spades is retained to cash the nine of diamonds subsequently. In all, South takes four spades, two hearts, two diamonds, and one club, for nine tricks.

Election Judge Reports He Refused To Tell

To The Editor:

In answering Sam Blackburn's question of why I refused to give the number of votes cast in box No. 6 at Gay Hill before closing time for the election and to let the citizens of Howard County know the reason.

When I take the solemn oath before God to faithfully perform my duties as officer of any election, I intend to do so. In this I believe, that I can speak for those helping me, in the election.

Taking this from the Texas Election Laws, of which I have a copy. Power of Presiding Judge: Sec. 87 — Chapter 8.

Judges of election are authorized to administer oaths to ascertain all facts necessary to a fair and impartial election. The presiding judge of election, while in the discharge of his duties as such, shall have the power of the district judge to enforce order and keep the peace. He may appoint officers to act as such during the election and may issue warrants of arrest for felony, a misdemeanor or breach of peace committed at such election, directed to the sheriff, any constable of the county, or such special peace officer.

Sec. 99 — Chapter 8

From the time of the opening of the polls until announcement of the results of the canvass of votes cast and the signing of the official returns, the boxes and official ballots shall be kept at the polling place in the presence of one or more of the judges, and supervisors if any. "No person except those admitted to vote, shall be admitted within the room where the election is being held, except the judges, clerks, persons admitted by the judge to preserve order, and supervisors of election."

In past elections, we have had news reporters to come to the polling room and enter without permission, which by the election law is unlawful.

Sec. 105 — Chapter 8
"It shall not be unlawful for any presiding judge of any election to reveal at any time the number of votes that have been cast up to that time."

This does not state that the number of votes have to be given to the news of any one, unless the judge so wishes. I will state, that our voting place does not have a phone near enough to the boxes to be heard by the election workers, so someone else has to relay the calls, which takes an election worker from his duties. We the election judges and clerks of box No. 6 try to call or get the votes into the county clerk's office as soon as possible after closing time. At that time, it is also available to the press, radio and TV.

There are other laws on rules, fines, etc., in the Texas Election Code Book and it would be nice if some of our newsmen would get one of these books, read and study the laws and responsibility of a presiding judge and the duties of an election and respect it.

O. R. CROW

Luther, Tex
(Herald reporters have never entered the Gay Hill polling box, but have called on others for two generations and always have been given the total vote at that time by judges. This is simply an effort to inform the voters on the volume of voting. Far from interfering with voting, this encourages it.—Ed)

Trial Moved To Cooler Quarters

A civil damage suit, filed in Martin County and slated for trial, was transferred from Stanton to Big Spring Wednesday. The transfer was the mutual agreement, Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, said.

The trial was non-jury and the removal of operations from the Stanton courtroom to Big Spring was a simple matter.

The hot weather was the reason for the transfer. The Big Spring courtroom is air conditioned; the one in the Martin County courthouse is not.

The case took several hours to try. It was a suit growing out of alleged damage to property involved in the use of heavy machinery.

Skies Clear Over Texas

By The Associated Press

Skies cleared over much of Texas today.

Scattered showers and a few thunderstorms fell again during the night, but there was no report of any to match the deluges 24 hours earlier near President Johnson's LBJ Ranch and around Kerrville.

Travel was reported back to normal in the vicinity of the President's ranch near Stonewall. A 9.4-inch downpour upstream caused a quick rise in the Pedernales River and covered three roads into the ranch for a time Wednesday.

Weather Bureau radar tracked a broken area of light to moderate thunderstorms between Wichita Falls and Paris this morning, and another northwest of Mineral Wells. Showers fell south of Fort Worth.

During the night patches of showers moved from the Tyler and Waco sections northward into Oklahoma, while others fell near Wichita Falls and across the South Plains in West Texas.

Despite the moisture, many points recorded temperatures in the 90s Wednesday. Top marks ranged from 105 degrees at Presidio down to 87 at Galveston and Junction.

Hasty Dike Saves City

GREAT BEND, Kan. (AP) — The frantic construction of a temporary dike, some 200 yards long, and the assistance of almost 300 teenagers was believed to have kept Great Bend safe from the destructive flood waters of the Arkansas River.

"Those teenagers really turned to," said Mayor H.C. Davis. "They did the hard, unpleasant labor and really went at it."

THREAT OCCURS

The biggest threat to the city occurred Wednesday when rising water circled the west end of a 4-mile dike. Trucks hauling 10 cubic yards of dirt each arrived every three minutes as workers threw up the temporary dike.

"That was a very close call," said Davis, "but so far we have contained the river."

The teenagers were among 500 or more volunteers building and repairing dikes in and around Great Bend.

The flood crest of about 14 feet—2 feet below the top of the main dikes—was lower than expected.

Great Bend, unlike many other towns and cities in eastern Colorado and extreme western Kansas, had plenty of warning and time to plan and build its defenses.

$22 MILLION

Preliminary surveys indicate the damage in Kansas will exceed $22 million. President Johnson has declared the state a disaster area.

Several hundred residents of the south part of Great Bend remained out of their homes Wednesday night as a precaution. The river is expected to remain over the bankfull here for at least another day as the main body of water flows on toward the more populous centers of Hutchinson and Wichita. Both of these cities have extensive dike systems and are not believed in any real danger.

Bill Offered To Extend Present Cotton Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Harold Cooley, D-N.C., chairman of the House Agriculture

Committee, has moved to extend the present one-price cotton program for four years.

While introducing such a bill Wednesday, Cooley said he believes it reflects the position of the administration.

His bill provides for acreage restrictions and cotton support loans to permit growers to compete in world markets. He said it would save "at least $300 million a year" and would help reduce supplies to manageable levels.

Cooley offered the bill as a substitute for one he introduced earlier.

HEARING ON

The Senate Agriculture Committee is holding hearings on cotton and other farm legislation.

At Wednesday's first session, chairman Allen Ellender, D-La., charged that arguments used to sell the present program last year have turned out to be erroneous.

"All of the estimates made last year failed to materialize," he said. "All reasons advanced by sponsors for passage of the bill didn't come to pass."

Car Insurance Boost Might Go To Court

DALLAS (AP) — A plaintiff's lawyer disputing the way Texas auto insurance rates are figured says he might try to make a court attack on the state insurance board's order raising rates 13.4 per cent statewide.

Bert Bader complained that the board doesn't consider, in its rate-making process, insurance companies' income from investments and the increases in the investments' values.

The state board's action, he contended Wednesday, merely allows the companies a 13.4 per cent increase in their investments.

Noting that Texans paid $404 million in auto insurance premiums last year while companies paid out $198 million in claims, Bader asked:

"What happened to the other $200 million? We may need to file a suit to find out."

Play Cottage Mostly Work?

By The Associated Press

Before scouring the countryside for that second home, a vacation cottage, make up your mind that you want one that is liveable. It is the one house that should be in good shape, but paradoxically is often bought because disrepair makes it cheap, but "it is worth fixing."

By the time people get to the age when they can afford to own a second home, they are likely to have lost the vigor and youthful zest to work at putting it in condition. This is something they may discover on the first vacation. The fact that one thinks about a vacation home, even if it is to be a retirement home later, indicates that one is looking for tranquility, a hideaway—someplace to let the hair down and relax.

Judge a vacation home by its cost plus its necessary and immediate repairs and don't figure your own time too cheaply. Wear and tear on your body isn't cheap.

If you take the attitude, this vacation we'll do floors, next vacation we'll repair porch, the following door frames, and so on, you'll never get any rest. You'll go back to the work grind more tired than before you began your vacation. A restful vacation is retirement insurance—you'll be around to enjoy it when the time comes.

The lady of the house may be struggling along in a beat-up old kitchen trying to make the old stove work and to get adequate water from the trickle that drips from the faucet as the man of the house pants behind lawn mower or paint brush.

More money may be spent fixing up this vacation abode each year than was ever spent at a resort where one was pampered with meals and service.

A vacation house is wonderful when it isn't a financial burden or a workshop. Even one in apple pie shape takes a few days to organize at the start of every vacation season.

There is another tack taken by some young people. Why not give up vacations for many years and put the vacation fund and house mortgage money together and buy a country house that will serve both purposes?

After searching for two years for such a house within commuting distance of the husband's job, a young couple with three children found an enormous Revolutionary period house in the country. Tales by the present owner were fabulous. A signer of the Declaration of Independence had lived in it, it had underground tunnels and all sorts of walled-in secrets. Its history was documented in library books. The intrigue was tremendous.

The house with quite a bit of land was cheap compared with anything else they'd seen, although it was badly in need of repairs, which they figured to do piecemeal.

The wife is one who walks miles to save a few cents at a grocery store or apparel shop. But when they bought the house, they left their thinking caps in the deep freeze.

The do-it-yourselfer husband can't shingle or paint the house himself, he discovered. It's too risky, because the roof is too pitched for his amateur equipment and the house needs a professional paint job. On ladder examination it looked as if it hadn't been painted since George Washington rode by.

Then too, said the entranced couple, it is only fair to bring the home back to its former prestige. They are spending their next 20 years' vacation budget on it right now. Even with large imaginations, the house is beyond them, work-wise. The once beautiful, wide floor boards need repairs even before their furniture may be put in the house.

"There's one thing that must be done professionally," says the do-it-yourselfer for the 20th time, as he goes over the house again. The wife meanwhile taps walls from room to room.

"What's she looking for?" he was asked.

"Secret passageways," he says, "but if she finds one, she'll never see it. Imagine what it would cost to tear out the wall, and heaven knows where the passage would lead to, perhaps to another wing of the house," he says, laughing nervously.

Royal Engagement

The engagement of Netherlands Crown Princess Beatrix, 27, left, and Claus Von Amsberg, 38, a West German diplomat, today was to be announced shortly. The matter has embroiled Holland in a debate over whether the heir to the throne should marry a man whose country fought it against the Netherlands. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Disarmament Talk Resumption Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has asked the Soviet Union to agree to a date at the earliest possible time for reopening 17-nation disarmament talks at Geneva aimed at negotiating an expanded nuclear test-ban treaty and an agreement to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

Administration officials, awaiting a Soviet reply, said they see little prospect of any real progress in either of these fields in the near future. In their view the whole range of U.S.-Soviet relations is more or less paralyzed by the Vietnamese war situation.

NEW ATTENTION

Fresh attention was focused on the nuclear proliferation problem Wednesday in a Senate speech by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who called on President Johnson to make non-proliferation "a central priority of American policy."

Kennedy asked for immediate negotiations with the Soviet Union and other nuclear powers or potential nuclear powers on a nonproliferation treaty. He also called for establishment of nuclear-free zones in the world and expansion of the limited test-ban treaty to include a ban on underground nuclear weapons testing.

The last major effort in this field was centered in a meeting of the 114-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission in New York beginning April 20 and running through June 16. At the conclusion of this conference, India and 28 cosponsors put through a resolution calling for resumption of disarmament talks at Geneva in the 17-nation U.N. Disarmament Committee.

A FOLLOW UP

It was in following up this action that the United States proposed to the Soviet Union agreement on the earliest date possible for reopening Geneva negotiations.

Administration officials said today that they had tried early this year to get the Geneva talks started again but Moscow had preferred the larger U.N. commission as a forum for disarmament discussions. The United States and the Soviet Union served as cochairmen of the 17-nation group which has met at Geneva periodically for several years.

Some U.S. officials believe the Soviets have been reluctant to revive the Geneva negotiations again because in the current Vietnamese situation and in view of their continuing quarrel with Red China they have wanted to avoid any suggestion or evidence of cooperation with the United States in any field.

The White House, commenting on the Kennedy speech Wednesday in response to an inquiry, said it was "glad that Sen. Kennedy is also interested in this field."

Strike On Amid Furor

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Supplies of food, gasoline and drugs in many retail outlets continued to dwindle today as a strike by members of Teamsters Local 107 in southeastern Pennsylvania and Delaware entered its fourth day.

And 17 leaders of the local were called back into court for a continued hearing before Judge Leo Weinrott on contempt of court charges, stemming from an injunction against the strike.

CALLED ANARCHY
Weinrott called the walkout by some of the 12,000 members of the giant local "a bit of anarchy." The international union said the strike is unauthorized.

In another development Wednesday, Mayor James H.J.

Tate said the strike is "out of control" of responsible union leaders. Tate said local officials can't control "the hoodlums" who halted some truck shipments and forced the use of police escorts for more than 700 vehicles.

The mayor also said Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds was asked to assist in negotiating a settlement to the strike. The walkout started Monday in support of four Teamsters members who were fired by Roadway Express, Inc., for refusing to perform work they considered hazardous. Roadway drivers have been on strike since June 11.

RUN LOW

Although milk and bread have been delivered regularly, fruit and vegetable stocks in stores were running low. Food-chain operators said that with the few deliveries made under police protection stocks are sufficient for a while.

Gasoline supplies also were being exhausted. The city began rationing fuel used in its vehicles.

Most hospitals reported they were receiving food supplies and normal service was being maintained with only slight changes in menus.

So far 103 persons have been arrested in connection with the strike and violation of the court injunction.

John Wayne Not Letting Up

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene —

No rest for John Wayne. He was at Paramount this week to record part of an album and confer with Howard Hawks, who is directing Wayne's next Western. The pair plan to start the film in September, possibly near Dallas.

Wayne will be flying to Rome this summer to play a brief role in "Cast a Giant Shadow." The film stars Kirk Douglas. "The Sons of Katie Elder," which was previewed this week, demonstrated that Wayne suffered no loss of vitality from his lung operation last year.

All that cannonading you hear is the opening salvo of the 1965 Oscar race. Yes, in June yet, Lee Marvin's handlers are already buying trade paper ads to salute their hero's performance in "Cat Ballou."

Wails Paul Newman "Why don't writers write stories about the vital issues in today's world?" The serious-minded actor has been looking for strong, contemporary vehicles but can't find them.

County Schedules Long Jury Docket

A two weeks criminal jury docket is slated for Howard County court starting July 6, Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, said today.

He said that Judge Lee Porter will sound the docket on July 1, at 1:30 p.m. He said that he plans to put all pending criminal cases filed since Jan. 1 on the docket.

The docket, he said, will open officially July 6 — the day after the July 5 holiday at the Courthouse and continue for two weeks. A jury panel is to report to the court at 9 a.m. on July 6.

What cases are found to be ready at the docket sounding will be scheduled for trial.

'Nightlife' Show Gets Facelifting

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's "Nightlife" program, which in 10 months has gone through many upheavals, will try something else — again — starting Monday night.

It was launched as "The Les Crane Show," shifted emphasis and behind-the-scenes personnel constantly until Crane, who started out brash, waspish and provocative, was — comparatively — as meek and winsome as a sweet girl graduate.

POLICY SHIFTED

Finally, as the show's dismal ratings failed to show improvement, Crane was pushed out of the late-evening show's host chair. A new name, "Nightlife," was tied on the show and a policy of "guest hosts" each serving a week or so, was instituted.

Still nothing much happened to make ABC happy. But now one of ABC's varsity teams has been brought in to produce the show. That is Nick Vanoff and William Harbach, who have done so well with "Hollywood Palace" and Crane, presented in different context and background, gets a second chance for four weeks anyway and maybe longer, depending on how things work out.

CBS' "National Drivers' Test," a news department special that had viewers testing their own skills at the wheel of an automobile, and a beauty contest succeeded in doing what few dramatic or comedy programs have been able to achieve for the past couple of seasons.

They toppled NBC's "Bonanza" from the top of the Nielsen ratings.

SLIDES DOWN

The high-riding horse opera slid down to fifth place in the Nielsen ratings for the two-week period ending June 6.

The rating service put the CBS special on top, followed by the "Miss U.S.A." pageant. Then came "Gomer Pyle," "Bewitched" and "Bonanza." All three of the regular series were in re-runs.

With two popular specials included in the ratings, CBS also came out well on top in the ratings averages with a 16.8, followed by NBC with 14.7 and ABC, 14.4.

'New' Clothes Thrill Korean Orphans

Remember that appeal in The Herald a few weeks ago, when a former Webb Air Force Base officer now stationed in Korea, related how badly clothing is needed by children in the Sung Yook orphanage in that distant country? Well, people in this area responded warmly to the story told by Maj. A. K. Halverson, and not long ago he and his military associates were able to deliver six large boxes of various kinds of apparel for the youngsters. These photos were sent back by Major Halverson. Top photo shows the boxes being unloaded by Air Force men, with the help of some smiling young Koreans. Lower photo, Major Halverson lets one little Miss "try on" a dress that came all the way from the U.S.A. Major Halverson and other men in the 6314th Consolidated Maintenance Squadron in Korea, who have taken the tots at Sung Yook to their hearts, sent back a big "thanks" to all people who helped.

Water Line Going In

City crews are installing a 12-inch-diameter water line under FM 700 near Scurry Street this week, extending the city water connections to the new Highland South Shopping Center at FM 700 and US 87.

The line is part of the planned re-location of utility extensions with the improvement work for FM 700, and will bring fire protection to the shopping center before its completion.

In another project, curb and gutter work is continuing on North San Antonio Street, between Fifth and Twelfth Streets, as part of the final phase of Master Plan paving.

Next street expected to receive the paving work will be a portion of State Street, from Sixteenth to Nineteenth Streets, according to Public Works Director Ernest Lillard.

The contract for the paving project was awarded in November to W. D. Caldwell, Big Spring, at $166,713, with work originally expected to begin early this year.

However, the paving has been delayed considerably, apparently due to slow progress in obtaining agreements with property owners. A total of 54 blocks on 12 streets is planned in the project.

First streets involved in the paving were portions of Nineteenth and Virginia Streets, completed recently.

Attend Reading Workshop At HPC

BROWNWOOD — Some 60 high school teachers are taking part in a reading workshop being conducted at Howard Payne College.

Speakers for the workshop include: Mrs. Margaret Red, consultant with Texas Educational Aids, Dallas; Grace Karr Smith, development reading teacher, Irving High School; Dr. Frances Lewis Merritt, chairman, HPC division of professional studies; Mrs. Hazel Woods, and Mrs. Bob Harlowe, both of the Brownwood public schools, and Mrs. Alma Malone, department of elementary education, Hardin-Simmons University.

Directed by Mrs. Berta Quinn, assistant professor of education at HPC, the course is designed for credit at either graduate or undergraduate level. Among those attending are Helen Irene Danford, Big Spring, and Buddy Ables, Ackery.

Braille Installed In Phone Booths

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Sightless folk are harassed by a host of inconveniences, among them the numbers in public telephone booths.

To place a long distance call they can't answer the operator's "What number are you calling from, please?" unless they get help.

Now the telephone company has installed Braille number stickers in seven of the city's public phone booths.

The stickers are under the bell box.

school and families of the policemen, at the Downtown Tea Room. Lewis E. Berry, editor of the "Texas Lawman" magazine, will speak at the graduation program.

"This has been an exceptional class," Police Chief Jay Banks said. Plans will be made for the next session of the academy in a meeting of the directors late Friday morning at the Tea Room. The directors include several law enforcement officials, city managers and mayors.

The third session of the school began May 31, with the final classes to be Friday morning. The four-week period of instruction involved training in a broad range of police subjects, from firing of weapons to accident investigation, communications, criminal law and other topics.

The program is sponsored jointly by the police training division, engineering extension service of Texas A&M University, with the Big Spring Police Department and HCJC.

Carla Damage Recovery Nixed

AUSTIN (AP)—Hurricane insurance policyholders, whose coverage excluded damage from rising or windblown water, may not recover for water damage from Hurricane Carla, the Texas Supreme Court held Wednesday.

The Sept. 11, 1961, hurricane caused widespread damage to property along the Texas coast. The high court issued its decision in two opinions dealing with damage to private homes. Each of the contracts involved when used with an insuring clause covering losses from 'tornado, windstorm and cyclone' than they would have when used with an 'all risks' type of insuring clause or one covering losses from 'windstorm, hurricane, hail,' etc.

PRIOR OPINIONS

"In our opinion, this cannot be accomplished unless we refuse to give to words their ordinary accepted meaning and disregard the interpretation of phrases in standard insurance use which have been considered in prior opinions of this court."

The major suit was brought by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford L. Berglund against Hardware Dealers Mutual Insurance Co. to recover nearly $9,000 in damages to a beach house and boat house near Hitchcock. A jury found that most of the damage was caused by rising water and

Religious Unity Guidelines Due

BOSTON (AP)—The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Boston says guidelines are to be published this week to help Protestants and Catholics share certain religious exercises.

The archdiocese said Catholics will be encouraged to join in such Protestant services as funerals, Thanksgiving services, ordination of ministers and weddings. Protestants will be expected to respond by attending Catholic masses, joining in the prayer and singing of hymns.

Viet Nam Unity Seen Hopeless

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said today he believes the Communists would balk at any new proposal to unite North and South Viet Nam through a supervised election.

It was partly because of this belief, Fulbright said, that he went beyond the public position of the Johnson administration to advocate in a June 15 Senate speech a return to the 1954 Geneva accords, "not just in their essentials but in all of their specifications."

One of the specifications is for the reuniting of North and South Viet Nam by a supervised election. Critics have said the United States encouraged the regime of the late Ngo Dinh Diem to ignore this provision for fear the Communists would win in such a test.

ing such elections," he said. "They always shy away from elections and avoid them if they can."

Fulbright also said in his June 15 speech that the United States must sustain the South Vietnamese forces to demonstrate that it will not be driven out of Southeast Asia and must offer the Communists "a reasonable and attractive alternative to military victory."

Because Fulbright had conferred at length with Johnson the day before he spoke in the Senate, it was generally assumed that the President had given some kind of advance blessing to the senator's outline of how this country might disengage itself in Viet Nam.

Bids On High School Job Will Be Opened Friday

Big Spring school trustees will open bids at 5 p.m. Friday in the high school cafeteria for the expansion of the high school building—part of the $5.5 million dollar school improvement program. The high school phase is expected to cost $3.5 million. The original bid opening date was set for June 18, but was postponed at the request of contractors asking for more time to figure costs on the job. The work will include remodeling of the present building, addition of classrooms, band and music space on the west side of the present auditorium, science rooms, enlarged cafeteria, physical education building, shop and vocational space, library and office space, moving the present practice field to the east side of the present campus and building a track, building more practice fields and tennis courts, underground drainage to allow filling of the present gulley through the campus, providing parking

Texan Killed After Pileup

LORDSBURG, N.M. (AP) — A Texas driver involved in No. 3 and 6 of a six-part collision on US 80 during a dust storm was killed after leaving his truck Wednesday night. State police said Bernard Praytor, 37, of Houston, was struck and killed by a truck-trailer as he stood in the highway median. The series of accidents started when a woman slowed in the storm and her car was struck from behind by another automobile, which in turn was struck by a truck-trailer. A third car stopped and was struck by Praytor's truck-trailer. A pickup truck halted because of the pileup and was struck by a car. A fourth car stopped behind the pickup and was struck by another car. Then a truck-trailer driven by Billy Wildbur, 23, of Nashville, Ark., went on to the median to avoid a collision and struck Praytor. There were no other injuries.

Impasse Stays On Berlin Wall

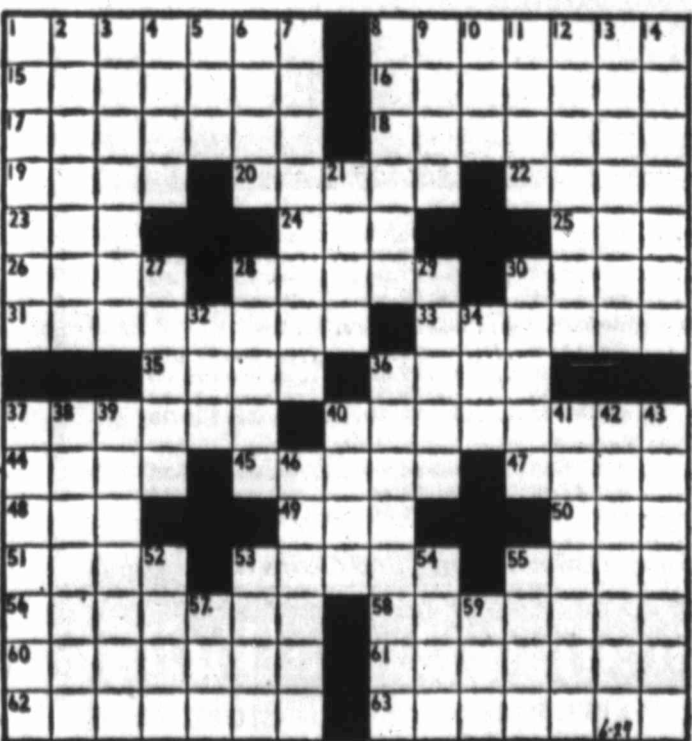

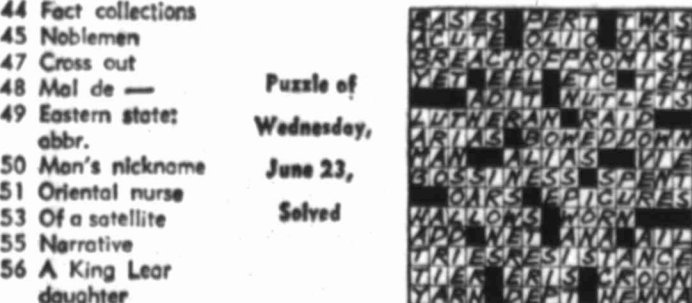

BERLIN (AP) — Communist insistence on new rules for opening the Berlin wall appeared today to dim West Berliner's chances of visiting relatives in the Soviet sector. East German Premier Willy Stoph wrote Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin Tuesday that a new agreement must be negotiated if the wall is to reopen again. Both Brandt and the West German government in Bonn said they would not discuss a new agreement. Brandt said his representatives would confer with the East Germans only on extending the old agreement and setting new visiting dates. The last visiting period ended June 13.

Residents Have Spent $30,000 For New Roofs

More than $30,000 in building permits have been recorded at city hall during May and June for re-roofing work, mostly on residences, a check of building inspector reports showed today. A total of $23,342 in 88 re-roofing permits was recorded through the first 23 days of this month, with an additional 21 permits involving $7,372 reported for May. Apparently the majority of almost all of the re-roofing work is resulting from damage

Oil Resource Sufficiency Study Slated

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Another comprehensive study aimed at strengthening the nation's self sufficiency in petroleum resources has been initiated by the Interstate Oil Compact Commission. A 33-member committee will examine long range energy requirements, productive capacity, proved reserves trends, imports and the impact of new sources of oil and gas, such as production from federal offshore leases. "This is an ambitious program," A. L. Porter Jr., the committee chairman from Santa Fe, N.M., said today. "This is a standing study committee and I suspect it will be working a long, long while." Porter is secretary of the New Mexico Oil Conservation Commission. The new study is an outgrowth of a 20-month report the commission completed last December with the release of a voluminous survey of oil and gas conservation practices in the various states. CURRENT BASIS The committee also will keep the conservation study on a current basis by publishing periodic supplements to the 1964 report. Objectives of the new study

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., June 24, 1965 7-A currently are being made by the National Petroleum Council and by the Independent Petroleum Association of America. They use different formulas. ADVISORY BODY The council, an advisory body to the Interior Department, recently estimated domestic capacity at about 11 1/2 million barrels a day, but some of this capacity lacks pipeline connections for transfer to markets. The independents have estimated capacity at about 10 1/2 million barrels daily. Their formula does not include oil with out a pipeline outlet. The new committee will report periodically on ratio trends of oil and gas with production and demand. Connally said depressed conditions within the industry have curtailed exploration programs so sharply that reserves ratios have been affected adversely. "For several years I have become increasingly alarmed at the consistent annual decline," Connally said. "At the end of 1964, the ratio of oil reserves had dropped 59 11.7 and gas reserves had dropped to a ratio of 18.3." Many surveys in recent years have indicated the industry should strive to maintain oil reserves sufficient to meet at least 12 years of demand and gas reserves to meet at least 20 years of demand.

Dance Of The Late Arrivals

Ed Charles, Kansas City third baseman, twists through the air, as though in a nimble dance routine, as Tom Tresh of the New York Yankees slides by him to the safety of third base. Tresh had scooted for third on a throw to home, and the relay to third was a trifle late. (AP WIREPHOTO)

After Eagle, Fleckman Is Unbeatable

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A precedent for shooting an eagle 3 on the seventh hole may have been set for the young golf stars who hope today to overtake Marty Fleckman of Houston, the leader going into the second round of the National Collegiate Golf Tournament. Until his 30-foot putt for an eagle on No. 7, Fleckman was shooting only average golf. But the big hole gave him a boost and from there on Fleckman was unbeatable in Wednesday's opening round. His five-under-par 67 also put the University of Houston, seeking its eighth national team championship in a decade, into first place with a total score of 285. The team title will be decided today. FIELD CUT The field of 202 will be cut to low 60s and ties after today's 18-hole round. The final 36 holes will be played Friday. Just behind Fleckman's 35-32 — 67 were Norwegian-born Arne Dokka of California State at 68, and Lauren Hamer of Florida, Jerry Preuss of Southern California and Bert Greene of Tennessee, all with 69s.

Big Mouth In A New Fight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cassius Clay wants his 10-month marriage ended and his wife doesn't, so the heavyweight champion apparently has another fight on his hands, this one in court. "I just love my husband and I want to be with him," said pretty, 25-year-old Sonji Clay when she was told that Clay had accused her of falling to be a good Muslim wife. "I will fight to keep my husband." "It's just this religion. I have tried to accept it, and I have explained this to him, but I just don't understand it. It's very hard to change to the way they want me to be." The 23-year-old champion, who has been a Muslim since he won the Olympic title in 1960, filed suit for an annulment in a Miami court Wednesday, complaining that Sonji had reneged on a promise to convert to Clay's Muslim faith. He also said she did not follow Muslim dictates against the use of whisky, tobacco and facial makeup, and Muslim requirements that "all female adherents cover their bodies with floor length dresses of plain and simple design." According to the suit, the marriage began to break up the day after Clay defended his title against Sonny Liston, May 25 in Lewiston, Maine. The next day Clay found Sonji in the lobby of the Schine Inn at Chicopee, Mass., "both attired and conducting herself in a manner contrary to tenets and beliefs of the Islamic faith," the suit said. They had an argument and Sonji left for Chicago. They did not see each other again until June 11 when they went to a Chicago dressmaker to get some of those "plain and simple" floor-length dresses. This was a reference to the

Rain Break Costs U. S. Competitor

WIMBLEDON (AP) — Wimbledon's awesome center court has claimed its first notable victim of the 79th Tennis Championships and the United States is the injured party. Carole Caldwell Graebner from Beachwood, Ohio, No. 6 seed among the women's favorites, was soundly defeated there after seeming to have the match against Christine Truman of Britain all wrapped up. There was a break for rain Wednesday when Carole was right on top. She came back a different woman. Her service and ground strokes lost their assurance. The unseeded Miss Truman ran out an easy winner 5-7, 8-6, 6-1 and this towering arena which some regard as the rightful shrine of world tennis had struck again. "After the break, I was as nervous as a kitten," a shaken Carole told newsmen. "I suppose it was the wait and going back in there for the big one. "I've never played such a bad game in my life." While Carole made her unexpected exit from the championships, American fortunes prospered elsewhere. Dennis Ralston, 22-year-old top-ranked American, showed storming form to run Michel Clercq of France off his feet in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. The win put the fourth seeded Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., into the third round. More important, Ralston announced that his sprained right thumb — a troublesome item to wrap around a tennis racket — is now all right. Arthur Ashe, from Richmond, Va., also went into the third round with an impressive 6-8, 6-4, 6-1 victory over the experienced French Davis Cupper Pierre Darmon. Four other Americans win-

Pitching Partners Doing Little For Chicago Hopes

By The Associated Press Juan Pizarro still is a step behind Gary Peters. The P and P pitching partners were the toast of Chicago last year as Peters won 20 games and Pizarro 19. And Peters still is out front. He's only been relegated to the bullpen Pizarro's been relegated to the sidelines. Both of Manager Al Lopez' problems were in action Wednesday night. Peters making a rare appearance as a reliever and Pizarro making one of his infrequent starts, as the White Sox split a doubleheader with Washington, losing the opener 5-1 before taking the nightcap 5-0. Pizarro, who posted a 19-9 record with a 2.56 earned run average last season, made only his seventh start of the season in the opener and made his seventh quick exit, leaving in the second inning after surrendering three hits and two runs. The 28-year-old left-hander has a pitiful 1-2 record and a horrendous 7.20 ERA. Peters, who compiled a 20-8 record with a 2.50 ERA in 1964, came out of the bullpen for the first time this season in the eighth inning of the nightcap, pitched to and retired one batter, and then sat down while Eddie Fisher pitched the ninth. Like Pizarro a 28-year-old southpaw, Peters' difficulties have been similar to his partner's. Peters has a 5-3 record but has been able to complete only one of 14 starts and has a hefty 4.00 ERA. "If Pizarro and Peters had pitched so far as they did last year," Lopez said, "we'd be five or six games up from where we are now." As it is the White Sox are just one game in back of the front-running Minnesota Twins, who rode three homers to a 6-3 victory over Cleveland that ended the Indians' winning streak at 10.

Mays Can Check Figures, He's On Another Streak

By The Associated Press "I can't feel a streak coming on. And I don't know I'm on one until I see those hits fall in and that average go up." That's what Willie Mays says. Well, check the figures, Willie. You're on another one of your streaks. And this one has lifted you even with Stan Musial.

Mays sparked the San Francisco Giants to a 6-1 victory over Pittsburgh Wednesday with a home run — the 47th of his career, tying Musial at second place on the all-time National League list. Me! Ott's 511 tops that list and there's little doubt that he eventually will be supplanted by Mays, now 34 and a Giant since 1951. Willie added a single to his homer against the Pirates, making him 10-for-15 in his last four games and zooming his average 22 points to .346, first in the league. His season homer total of 22 leads the majors. Also in the NL — Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 6-2 behind Jim Maloney's pitching and some hefty hitting, and Milwaukee beat Chicago 6-2 as Wade Blasingame pitched a four-hitter and Cub right-hander Larry Jackson suffered another setback. The other clubs were idle. Mays tagged Bob Veale for his homer in the second inning, then the Giants added a run in the fourth and finally chased the prize Pirate left-hander in the four-run seventh — helped by Donn Clendenon's two costly errors. Ron Herbel was the winning pitcher with five shutout innings after taking over in the third for Jack Sanford, who went out with a pulled groin muscle. Maloney, who pitched 10 no-hit innings in that celebrated loss to the New York Mets last week, set down the first 14 Cardinals in order and finished with a six-hitter. Frank Robinson tripled and doubled and scored three Cincinnati runs. Deron Johnson added three hits and Vada Pinson homered. Curt Simmons was the loser. Blasingame, the Braves' young southpaw, gave up a run in the first inning on a walk. Glenn Beckert's single and Billy Williams' sacrifice fly. He then held the Cubs hitless until Williams homered in the seventh.

Teen Tourny To Be Discussed

Coaches Can Have It Both Ways Under New Grid Rules

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Staff Writer Football this fall should satisfy everybody, even the losing team. Advocates of the two-platoon football got what they wanted. Advocates of two-way football got enough to force the coach to instruct a player both on offense and defense. Whereas in 1964, two-platoon football depended entirely on whether the clock was stopped, this year it will be when the ball changes hands. The fact that the ball changed hands last year did not stop the clock, so a team couldn't shift to its defensive team on the first down after the ball changed possession unless it took a time out, and it only had four per half without penalty. Actually, the time when a coach wants to change platoons the most is when his team has exhausted its offensive plays and must go on defense. Making change of possession the point on which platooning is based instead of when the clock has stopped gives the coach this privilege. WILD CARD Last year there was a wild card rule that allowed two players to be substituted on any down. So there was no question of having to take time out to get in the kicker when a team was ready to surrender its offense. This rule has been continued. The only way the two-way advocates have scored is that when a team has to kick it can't change to the defensive platoon. Rather it must play the fourth down with its offensive team in there, thus only at this stage of a game will blockers become tacklers and tacklers become blockers. However, this one little rule will force the coaches to teach their boys to play both ways. But there never will be the question of the quarterback having to play defense, something a coach would look upon with horror, because he would be running the risk of having the heart of his offense hurt. The two wild cards on any down will take care of this situation. PLATOONS Two-platoon was legislated out in 1952. The difference in two-platoon football then and under the new rule this year is that a full team could be substituted at any time then although if it came on any down except when the ball changed hands there had to be a timeout. But in those days a team had five legal timeouts per half and they didn't need to change teams many times in cases where there would cost them timeouts. There were four changes in the rules this year with free substitution the major switch. The tee for place kicking has been raised from one inch to two inches. KICKOFF On a kickoff this year, if the ball goes out of bounds after being touched by both teams there will be no penalty and the ball will be downed where it went out. Last year there would have been a penalty of five yards and the kickoff brought back for another try. This year, even if the kicking team touches the ball there will be no penalty so long as the defensive team has touched it, whether first or last. It must be said that this seldom happens and it's possible it won't occur at any time during the coming season. In an effort to cut down on malicious use of the helmet or head, the wording of the rule has been changed in an effort to accentuate the fact that the official should call penalties if the action is considered unnecessary. NEW WORD Last year the rule said no player "shall deliberately and maliciously use his helmet or head to butt or ram an opponent's head, neck or face." This year "unnecessarily" has been added and "head, neck or face" eliminated, leaving the rule to prohibit butting any part of the

Stengel Reminisces In Dedication Talk

OMAHA, Tex. (AP) — Casey Stengel, using a staccato delivery of words laced with memories, dedicated a Little League baseball park here—a small East Texas town he once considered for a retirement home.

CASEY STENDEL MAKES ADDRESS
Newsman ponder notes, scratch heads

Wednesday's visit of the New York Mets manager, at the invitation of a player he once managed, triggered a carnival-like atmosphere of band music, pretty girls in swim suits, multi-colored banners and, of course, baseball.

Some 4,000 visitors, mostly boys in bright colored baseball uniforms, crowded into this town of 1,200 to catch a glimpse of the baseball figure.

He didn't let them down. RARE FORM
In a dedication speech which did tortuous things to the language, Stengel lauded the Little League program, calling its adult workers in kids' baseball "the greatest men in the world."

"While you're chasing a baseball you're not in trouble," Stengel told the Little Leaguers. "If you strike out you go back to the bench and nobody talks to you or kisses you, but you've learned something."

He didn't forget to mention his National League club. "I want you to keep the Mets in mind," he said. "We've got a clubhouse with carpets."

Stengel said he thought about retiring to Omaha after he was fired as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1936 and came here with one of the players, R. E. (Randy) Moore.

"After meeting all the fine folks here, I thought about just staying but I went back into baseball," he recalled.

REAL CLOWN
Stengel, talking almost non-stop, clowning through pictures with the Little League players and with a beauty queen and then threw out the first ball in a game.

He autographed only a few caps and slips of paper. Moore explained that Stengel was still troubled by his right hand, which he broke earlier this year during a visit to West Point.

At a news conference, the former Yankee manager reeled off almost two hours of Stengelese observations.

On Little League Baseball: "That's about the only time wives aren't late when they're taking Little Leaguers to a game."

NAP TIME
On his rumored nap during a Mets game: "If you had to watch my club, you would get sleepy too."

About playing basketball while he was in high school: "I could make a face and they would yell foul."

Seaboard Nips Coahoma Club

A double and a home run brought in four runs, enough for victory by Seaboard over Coahoma, 15-13, in an American League softball game at City Park Tuesday evening. In the other scheduled game, Pepsi took a forfeit from City.

Starting late, Coahoma had come from behind on the strength of five runs in the fourth and sixth one-run bulge going into the seventh.

However, Arenchiba doubled in Simpkins and Poss, and then Tidwell cleaned the sacks for two more. B. Dodson and Camp had doubles for Coahoma, while Bell tripled and R. Dodson homered. Arenchiba had a pair of doubles as did Cox; Tidwell doubled and Cook tripled. Simpkins was winner although he gave up 19 hits. Camp was the loser.

The Kiwanis whipped the Duncan Drillers, 6-2, Tuesday on solid hitting and the five-hit pitching of pitcher Mendosa in a Hi-Junior League baseball game.

The Kiwanis started things going in the first inning when three runs scored on catcher Stone's double. They got two more runs in the second on walks and singles to ice the game.

The Drillers scored twice in the bottom of the first on a walk, single and second base error, but couldn't put anything across the plate after that.

Starter Mims went three for three at the plate, collecting three singles for the Drillers. He was replaced in the sixth by Clanton, who was tagged with the loss.

Fans Still Remember That Long Count Back In 1927

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — "Congratulations, Champ." Jack Dempsey turned 70 today, but the calls and greetings have been coming his way for more than a week.

JACK DEMPSEY

Mrs. Dempsey was to make it official today with a birthday party for the old Manassa Mauler at the Broadway restaurant bearing his name.

Although he lost the heavyweight crown to Gene Tunney nearly 39 years ago, Dempsey still is hailed as "Champ" wherever he goes.

He looks fit enough to get into the ring. He stands ramrod straight, and there's only a little gray in his black hair. Dempsey carries his 215 pounds like an active athlete, and he still moves as softly as a tiger.

The Champ bubbles with energy. Daily, from a table at the window of his restaurant, he jumps up to sign autographs and pose for pictures with old-timers, who remember him from a way back, and youngsters who have heard about him from grandpa.

He was a lean tiger of 24 when he chopped down Jess Willard, a giant of 245 pounds in three rounds and won the heavyweight crown at Toledo, Ohio, July 4, 1919. It was announced that Dempsey weighed 187 pounds, but he said he scaled only 180.

"Beating Willard was my greatest thrill," said Dempsey. "It opened the doors of the world to me. It helped me to meet presidents and kings and people from all over. It made me what I am today."

He has no regrets over the "long count" Tunney got in their Chicago return fight when Dempsey floored the former Marine. Dempsey didn't go into a neutral corner, and the referee didn't count until he did.

It was estimated that Tunney was given a respite of 14 to 16 seconds in that fight at Chicago, Sept. 22, 1927. Tunney won a 10-round decision.

"The long count actually was the greatest thing that ever happened to me," said Dempsey. "The controversy kept the Dempsey name before the public."

Yanks Hold Hex Over Braves, 3-1
The Yankees continued their hex on the Braves Tuesday night in the American League, inflicting a 3-1 decision on the front runners.

The Yanks hacked out three runs in the top of the third to give Stewart Bunn the victory. Tommy Fletcher came on to protect the lead, although giving up a run in the fifth.

Jay Bob Dement was tagged with the loss and was relieved by Dave Duncan. Fletcher helped his cause with a double.

San Antonio Lad Wins Net Match
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Butch Newman of San Antonio, Tex., defeated George Dickinson of Chattanooga 6-3, 3-6, 6-4 Wednesday in the top match of the Tennessee Valley Invitation Tennis Tournament.

Barrage Of Hits Gives Hawks Win

The American Little League Hawks crushed the Stars, 10-2, on the four-hit pitching of Zane Anderson Wednesday, collecting 12 hits in the process.

The Stars runs came in the final stanza when Richard Bulard, on second via a double, and Pete Schaeffer, Star pitcher, scored on singles by right fielder Gressett and center fielder Ray.

The Hawks scored four runs in the fifth and three more in the sixth to put the game out of reach of the Stars.

Anderson slammed two doubles in aiding his cause.

Odessa JC Co-Ed Stages Net Upset

Hazel Walker Going Strong After 15 Years Of Touring

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Her name is Hazel Walker, and she is, as her friend said, every inch a woman.

Black-haired, tanned and athletically trim, the lovely Miss Walker has handled a basketball with such finesse for 35 years that it is regarded as merely an extension of her arms.

But more than that — she is the founder and leader of a 15-year-old barnstorming basketball tour, a women's team that has played in more than 30 of the states against men's teams and under men's rules.

"I love the game," she said. "I always have."

Miss Walker took up basketball in her hometown of Ashdown, Ark., in 1930 and launched an amazing career. She was named 11 times to the Amateur Athletic Union All-America team.

She is the only woman in the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame. She has played in thousands of exhibitions and conducted her public life with grace and charm.

But in 1949, a friend — Henry Levy of North Little Rock — argued her into forming a professional team, Hazel Walker's Arkansas Travelers, and the barnstorming began.

The nine-member team — gathered from Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi and New York — logs about 39,000 miles a year in the nine-passenger station wagon in which they travel. They play about 250 games during their seven-month tour, which begins in late summer, and they win more than 200 of them usually.

Since 1949, the team has played almost 4,000 games. The personnel on the team have changed since then. It is a standing rule that a girl leaves the team when she marries. The waiting list, for girls hopeful of becoming one of Hazel Walker's Arkansas Travelers, is long.

And the men don't always take it easy on the women. It happens that I know because I played for a team that did its best — for whatever that was worth — to beat them. We lost.

For Hazel Walker, a country girl, the team has been a personal triumph. Her players earn more than they could in most other jobs reserved for women, and Miss Walker lives comfortably, spending the off-season fishing, playing golf and just keeping fit.

The Gage Oilers have a rocky road ahead of them for the next six weeks... and unless vacation schedules and jobs quit taking their toll on weekend players, some lumps are in the offing. In the past two weeks the Oilers, playing at about half strength, have lost two games to comparatively weak teams.

This weekend the Oilers go to Angelo to meet that city's Angels in a twin bill. The Angels are San Angelo's top team, having defeated all other semi-pro outfits in that area, including the San Angelo Oilers, which are bolstered by several SAC baseball stars. Heading the Angel hitting attack are Marshall White and Julio Guerrero. Their pitcher, Jesse Alaco, has beaten all Angelo area teams, plus hurling a 7-0 shutout at a Mexico team.

The holiday weekend the Oilers go back to Pecos to meet the Falstaff All Stars, the winningest team in West Texas. On July 11, the Oilers go to Lubbock to meet an All-Colored team.

Then on July 18, the Oilers meet two time state semi-pro champions, the Lubbock Hubbers, managed by I. B. Palmer, former West Texas New Mexico League hitting champion. Lubbock also has a host of other former professional ball players, plus several Texas Tech standouts. The Hubbers are favored to again cop the state championship.

The final game before the state tournament will be against Abilene here July 25. Abilene nipped the Oilers 11-2 in an earlier encounter.

Oilers Face Rocky Road

Golf Deadline Coming Friday

Deadline for men entering the Big Spring Country Club championship tournament is rushing up. The lists will be closed after Friday and the first round is Saturday. The second round follows Sunday and the final two the following weekend. Entry fee is $5 and handicaps will be figured on a Minimax computer.

The ladies deadline is Tuesday with play the following three days. Awards will be made jointly the afternoon of July 4. Entry fee is $3.50.

Pro Golfers Set Sights On St. Paul Top Money

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The top 10 money winners and the also-rans of pro golf set out after the $20,000 first prize in the 72-hole St. Paul Open Golf Tournament today.

On the docile Keller municipal course, the question will not be whether a sub-par score will win it but how much under par. Most of the pros predicted after a pro-amateur warmup Wednesday that a score of around 272 would cash first money.

Chuck Courtney won with that total last year, 13 under par for the four 18-hole rounds. The 6,702-yard course plays par of 36-35-71.

Leading the PGA money derby and one of the favorites is Jack Nicklaus, with $32,000 banked in eight tournaments this year.

Arnold Palmer, entered for the first time since 1958, continued to complain of putting woes. He and Nicklaus put in a session on the practice green with Phil Rodgers Wednesday.

Gene Littler led the pack with a five-under-par 66 in the tune-up round Wednesday.

Chance For Adults To Go To School

Are you one of those who never had the opportunity or good fortune to go beyond the third grade — or the eighth grade? Do you know of some adult who never learned to read and write, but who would like very much to know how?

The Big Spring Independent School District can lend a helping hand in the form of an adult basic education program if there are sufficient requests. The 120-hour course would be free, and class times would be worked out for greatest convenience.

In order to determine if there is ample demand for such a course, a coupon is carried below so that residents can express their interest — or others can fill them out for those who are interested in learning how to read and write.

Major aim of the program, explained Dr. C. L. Ainsworth, assistant superintendent, is to teach adults to read and write, to speak the English language, or to acquire arithmetic skills. In addition, there will be studies on citizenship responsibilities, obligations in the family and community, information about getting jobs, and information on training programs which will help the pupil to grow into better job opportunities.

Any of three phases may be offered if there is enough demand. One is the basic level through the third grade; the intermediate level, third through sixth grade; and upper level to allow a person to complete the eighth grade.

To take part a person must be 18 years of age or over and have completed less than eight years of basic education.

If you are interested or you know of persons who would be interested, please complete the questionnaire and return it to the Big Spring Herald or to the Big Spring Public School administration office.

It is important that you do this as soon as possible. The school district will need to know about the demand early in July in order to plan the program.

W. E. Smith Rites Friday

Funeral for W. E. (Red) Smith, 72, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the First Methodist Church at Ozona.

A resident of Van Horn since 1948, Mr. Smith died Wednesday afternoon in the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mr. Smith was born July 27, 1893, and lived 25 years in Ozona before moving to Van Horn. He was foreman for the Ray Willoughby and Clayton Brothers ranches in Ozona. In Van Horn, he operated a country store for a number of years.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Noble Smith; four sons, N. E. Smith, Lamar, Colo., I. E. Smith, Odessa, Barten Smith, Plainview, Eadie Smith, El Paso; three sisters, Mrs. Arthur Sitas and Mrs. R. L. Bricker, both of San Angelo; Mrs. A. J. Willeke, Odessa; three brothers, Carroll Smith, Big Spring, John Smith, San Angelo, Bill Smith, Sonora; and six grandchildren.

Demo Dinner Set Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Johnson as the top attraction, more than 8,000 Democrats are paying $100 a plate tonight for a dinner to swell the party's campaign treasury.

Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Democratic congressional leaders will shuttle from the National Guard Armory to the new Washington Hilton Hotel to address diners at both halls.

Proceeds are earmarked for 1966 Democratic congressional campaigns. Ticket sales have already grossed a record $800,000, officials said, topping the previous high of $640,000 for an affair of this type last May.

Mars Photographs May Be Withheld

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — There's a chance the best of the 18 to 21 photographs the U.S. spacecraft Mariner 4 takes of Mars July 14 may not be released to the public for weeks or even months.

A spokesman for Jet Propulsion Laboratory says scientists have agreed to immediate release of only the first three photographs, and possibly some others.

The rest of the historic pictures, which could show whether there are canal-like structures on the planet believed most likely to harbor extraterrestrial beings, may be withheld for detailed study and analysis.

PROPRIETY RIGHT

"Our agreement with the scientists assigned to study the photographs gives them a proprietary right to scientific information, including the photographs, obtained by the spacecraft," said a spokesman for the laboratory, which built and is tracking Mariner 4 on its 325-million-mile voyage.

"So far they have agreed to release only the first three and possibly some others. We are hoping, however, that at least the best of the remainder can be released as fast as they are received and processed."

Scientists generally prefer to announce results of research in technical journals, not in the public press, and the spokesman said at least one member of the Mariner team of three wants to follow this procedure in releasing the photographs.

The first three pictures will not be the closest nor will they be taken at the best angle.

NOT KNOWN

The exact target areas are somewhat in doubt, depending on the time the camera is turned on. The camera will cover an area some 4,000 miles long, starting with either of two northern Martian deserts, Amazonis or Elysium, then sweep southward across the equator and over some of the dark areas bordering the southern polar cap.

Some scientists have speculated the dark areas are vegetation, fed by water from the polar caps, which seem to melt in summer.

The first pictures will be taken when the spacecraft is about 8,000 miles above the surface, with the camera pointing straight down. They are expected to picture surface markings as small as two miles in length or diameter, and could show whether the equatorial "canals" and city-like "oases" at their intersections, reported by some astronomers, are artificial structures.

Closest pictures will come at the end of the sequence, when the spacecraft will be about 6,

Appraises Viet

Gen. Mark Clark, above, signer of the truce ending the Korean action, now contends that the U.S. must continue to bomb North Viet Nam or "face another Korea." (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Keep Bombing, Clark Advises

CHICAGO (AP) — Gen. Mark Clark, who led the United Nations forces in Korea said Wednesday that the United States must continue to bomb North Viet Nam or face "another Korea."

The country must realize, Clark said, that "the way to win is to hit hard and use all our Air Force and naval aviation powers."

He added, "The great lesson learned in the Korean War was that we must not fight the Communists in a manpower war."

"Even if we wanted to we wouldn't sacrifice our men the way they're willing to sacrifice theirs," he said. "I wasn't willing to trade one dead American for a thousand Chinese in Korea."

Although Clark emphasized he supports the actions of the Johnson administration "thus far," he cautioned:

"I hear indications that we're reluctant to use sea or air power to their full extent. I don't know if it's true or not but if we're willing to engage in a manpower war I just feel we can't win."

Many sources have been highly critical of the air raids which, the sources say, have done little to improve the bargaining position of the United States.

Told of those opinions, Clark said emphatically:

"Don't think they (the Viet Cong) wouldn't be in a much stronger position if they weren't being smacked. I feel that these attacks are doing a lot of damage to them and the more remunerative targets we pick out the better off we'll be."

Here are some questions put to Gen. Clark and his answers:

Q. Is the United States doing the right thing by bombing North Viet Nam?

A. When I was asked to sign the Korean armistice, it was accompanied by a declaration that if there should be any further aggression of its kind, it would not be fought on a limited basis. In other words, our hands were not going to be tied. As I recall, if aggression came, we would not limit the war in any given area but would hit the enemy in places where he reserved his power and the strength to attack us. I've had lots of experience with communism and I know they respect force and stop, look and listen when they see it. But when they find weakness they exploit it and despise it.

Q. After the Korean War, there was talk of the great control that Washington had over troop movement and attacks. What do you think of these controls in relation to the Viet Nam war?

A. I fought World War II as commander of the ground forces in Italy. During that campaign we were given a mission and did it. There were none of the political factors involved as there are now. I must admit in these modern complicated days of warfare, political considerations must be given weight and must be balanced by military consideration. But as far as Viet Nam is concerned, it must be hit just as hard as it can. We must hit in North Viet Nam and do all the damage because that way we are more apt to get satisfactory conditions for peace talks."

LETTER TO EDITOR

Candidate Promises Full-Time Work On Job

To the Editor:

After reading the letter submitted to your paper by Mrs. Barbara Eisler, on June 23, entitled "Asks About Future Plans of Legislative Member," I would like to answer Mrs. Eisler's query as a candidate for this office.

Yes, it is important that our district be represented at all times. The people of this area did not have representation in our State Legislature at a most vital time when our district was being gerrymandered during the recent redistricting.

Mrs. Eisler also charges that the representative could not be assigned to any committee, but committees are inherited. Whatever committees Mr. Carpenter served on, the elected representative will continue to serve on.

As for the statement that there will probably be no session during the remainder of the term, it is very possible that there will be a special session concerning the redistricting. Who in this district would want us to have no voice in such an important matter?

I don't plan to be a part time representative. I will be a full time voice by being available at all times to hear and discuss matters of concern with any one in my district. I will be working continually to promote good public schools and higher education, water resources development, industrial expansion and good insurance legislation.

I have been interested in the affairs of our district and state for many years and would be interested in representing this district, not only for the remainder of this term, but also for the next regular term. If elected, I will make use of this time to better prepare myself to represent you during the next term.

Club Officers Notify Chamber

New or holdover presidents of the various clubs and organizations in Big Spring, taking office July 1, are requested to call their names in to the Chamber of Commerce office as the earliest possible date. The office also needs dates, and estimated attendance, of anticipated conventions, or area meetings.

"This is important because we need the information to help promote attendance as much as possible, and to be able to give information to others where possible conflicts in meetings might develop," Ann Belew, office secretary, said this morning. "We often have telephone calls or correspondence asking for officers of clubs, and it saves time when these names are on our list."

Decapitated Bodies In Refrigerator

HOUSTON (AP)—Police broke down a back door and found the mutilated bodies of an elderly Houston couple in a refrigerator at their home Wednesday night.

Deputy county medical examiner Henry Ismunde identified them as Fred Rogers, 84, a retired real estate man, and his wife Edwina, 79.

Detectives said they were hunting a son, Charles Rogers, 45, who was reported missing. A nephew of the couple, Marvin Martin, 55, of suburban Channelview, summoned officers, advising them the house was locked and he was unable to rouse anyone inside. The dwelling is near the edge of downtown Houston.

Ismunde said a knife and scissors on a table in the kitchen apparently were used to kill Rogers and his wife. Both bodies were decapitated and the heads placed in sacks. Investigators said the slayings apparently occurred several days ago.

Mrs. Rogers' employe, Mrs. Hazel Kedy, told police she telephoned the couple's home last Saturday and received no answer.

Long Distance Users Will Dial Direct From Coast to Coast

ONE OF THE most important achievements of modern telephone science will be brought to Big Spring in the summer of 1966, when DIRECT DISTANCE DIALING ("DDD") will become available to telephone users here.

DDD will enable you to dial your Long Distance calls direct, without calling the operator, as easily as you dial local calls! Big Spring will be one of the first cities in West Texas to enjoy this great new service.

Modern Telephone Magic

Direct Distance Dialing is the fast, convenient, and easy way to call — modern telephone magic!

Just a few quick spins of the telephone dial and you can reach virtually any telephone you want throughout the United States and Canada.

You need not call the Long Distance Operator because you dial out-of-town numbers yourself, direct from your own telephone.

You will be able to pick up your telephone and dial telephone numbers in Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene, Midland, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, and most other cities throughout Texas.

The Nation At Your Fingertips

Nationwide, you will be able to dial direct to Oklahoma City, Kansas City, Denver, St. Louis, Washington, Detroit, New York, Chicago, and thousands of other cities from coast to coast.

Bringing DDD to Big Spring is a big, complex job, requiring many months of work and planning. We will keep you informed as the work progresses.

WE ARE GLAD to bring DDD to Big Spring. It is an important step in our continuing program to provide you with the finest, most efficient and up-to-date telephone service to be found anywhere.

City Stepping Up Mosquito Control

Spraying began again Wednesday in areas of the city where heavy mosquito infestation has been reported. The city's spray vehicle has been used in past weeks on a dual basis for mosquito and elm tree beetle spraying.

The beetle spraying was stopped Wednesday temporarily for the machine to be put into full use on the mosquito control efforts, Parks Superintendent Johnnie Johansen said. The majority of the city has now been covered once with the beetle spraying, except for portions of College Heights, Airport and Douglas additions, and most of the North Side.

The beetles are appearing in somewhat less numbers this year than previously, Johansen said, with better foliage appearing on most city trees. Only a few reports have been received in areas after spraying this year, and parks trees have not been affected to a considerable extent. The parks were sprayed earlier this spring.

Johansen said the beetles were probably infesting numerous trees in the city, but simply were not as noticeable as previously. If reports indicate the beetles are coming back in a second generation this summer as in previous years, the spraying will be continued across the city for a second time, he said.

The mosquito spraying will be aimed at the areas where heaviest concentrations have been reported, Johansen said. The spray machine was operated for a time with two operators, each on a shift, allowing both beetle and mosquito spraying. However, one of the operators resigned and has not yet been replaced, with the spraying now operated on one type at a time until a new operator is employed.

Exhibits Stitchery

An exhibit of hooked rags and creative stitchery is being shown this week in the lobby of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building by Miss Mary Alice Terry, homemaking teacher at Big Spring Senior High School. Miss Terry, right, is pictured with Mrs. Betty Thomas, one of the 10 women participating in the course as part of the adult summer education program offered through the school system.

Game Night Scheduled At Church

Family Game Night was scheduled for Sunday when the Immaculate Heart of Mary Altar Society met Tuesday with Miss Carrie Scholtz, 1605 Johnson. Mrs. E. W. Brewer presided, and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins was secretary pro tem.

Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Kay Williams will be hostesses for the game night festivities. Named as hostesses, when refreshments will be served at the Veterans Administration Hospital July 30, were Mrs. Jack Engel and Mrs. W. V. Keenan.

Tentative plans were made for the Christmas Bazaar and dinner, the proposed date being Dec. 4. Also, the women agreed to sell Christmas cards as a fund-raising project.

Refreshments were served by Miss Scholtz to the members and one new member, Miss Jeannette Wilhelm. The table was covered with white lace over pink and pink napkins were used.

The next meeting will be July 27 in the home of Mrs. Y. C. Gray.

Transfers Duties

A new year began for the Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association Monday evening as the new slate was introduced. Shown, from left, are Mrs. Orville Bryant, treasurer; Mrs. T. A. Melton, corresponding secretary; Miss Billie Childress, recording secretary; Mrs. A. C. Moore, incoming president; and Miss Eunice Hickson, retiring president. Not pictured is Mrs. W. G. Simpson, vice president.

ABWA Unit Reveals Outstanding Member

Mrs. Marjorie Jordan was named "Woman of the Year" by the Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association at a dinner meeting Monday evening in the Wagon Wheel Restaurant. The announcement was made by Mrs. C. O. Trantham.

Mrs. Jordan, secretary at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, was selected on the basis of achievements in her profession, community service and chapter duties.

Educated in El Paso, where she attended the College of Mines, Mrs. Jordan has worked as a credit manager and medical secretary prior to accepting the position she now holds. Previously, she was associated for many years with the Coffey Clinic in Fort Worth and was employed here for three years by the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital.

She is a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, where she has held appointive offices, and belongs to several church organizations. Her hobbies include gardening, traveling and spending time with her grandchildren. She has been bulletin chairman for the Cactus chapter for the past two years.

Mrs. A. C. Moore presided for the meeting, introducing the guest speaker, Joe Pickle, managing editor of the Big Spring Herald. Pickle spoke on the road improvement bond issue and illustrated his talk with sketches of the proposed construction.

The session concluded with the installation of officers by Miss Eunice Hickson. The new officers are Mrs. Moore, president; Mrs. W. G. Simpson, vice president; Miss Billie Childress, recording secretary; Mrs. T. A. Melton, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Orville Bryant, treasurer.

The next meeting will be July 19.

Win High At Bridge

High prizes at the Wednesday evening meeting of the Newcomers Club bridge section went to Mrs. Leland Pierce, Mrs. Bob Coleman and Mrs. Terry Bull.

Mrs. Archie Eihan and Mrs. Nan Salyer were hostesses for the games and breakfast held in the Officers Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base.

The attendance prize went to a guest, Mrs. Ed Nexson. The next meeting will be for the couple's bridge group July 2.

TOPS Welcome New Members

Mrs. Cecil Andrews and Mrs. Harold Bell were welcomed Tuesday as new members in the TOPS Pound Rebels. The group met in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building with Mrs. Walter Goodwin presiding.

During the program session, Mrs. Don Ridgway presented a demonstration on uses of soft plastic refrigerator utensils.

The club is open to membership. Those interested may contact Mrs. Goodwin at AM 3-2204 for further information.

The next meeting will be June 29 in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

State Convention Delegates Set By American Legion Auxiliary

Delegates to attend the El Paso state convention of the American Legion Auxiliary were elected at the Monday evening meeting of the Howard County Unit No. 355. The group met at the legion hall with Mrs. H. J. Morrison presiding and the opening prayer was led by Mrs. H. D. Bruton.

Delegates are Mrs. Byron D. Hill, Mrs. Foster Kemp, Mrs. Roscoe Cone, Mrs. Leonard Barlow, Mrs. Zeida Rea, and Mrs. Foy Dunlap.

Alternate delegates are Mrs. Tim Jones, Mrs. David Cothran, Mrs. H. D. Bruton, Mrs. L. R. Nichols, Mrs. Jack Pearson, and Mrs. Lonnie Rickman.

In further business discussions, the group elected officers for the coming year. The new officers, to be installed the first week in August, are Mrs. Hill, president; Mrs. Morrison, first vice president; Mrs. Cone, second vice president; Mrs. Nichols, secretary; Mrs. Nancy Weatherly, treasurer; Mrs. Bruton, chaplain; Mrs. Rea, historian; Mrs. Barlow, sergeant at arms; and Mrs. Cöthran, assistant sergeant at arms.

Appointed chairmen of the installation of officers were Mrs. Cone and Mrs. Kemp.

During the program portion of the meeting, a study of the proposed amendments to the department constitution and by-laws was discussed. Mrs. Abeline McMullen's name was drawn for the attendance prize. Mrs. Hill served the refreshments.

It was announced that a party was held at the Veterans Administration Hospital, for the patients, June 22, and that the expenses of the elected president, Mrs. Hill, will be paid for the El Paso convention, July 23-25.

The next regular meeting will be July 5 at the legion hall.

MRS. NANCY GRANT

Being A Bride Has Changed Since 1900

By JO BRIGHT

When Mrs. Nancy Grant vowed to love, honor and obey her husband on June 12, 1900, she realized she was making a contract she would not break—and came to her marriage equipped with little more than determination and a couple of Dutch ovens.

Her home consisted of two rooms—and her stove was an open fireplace.

"We never 'snacked' in those days," said Mrs. Grant, her eyes amused as she made the comparison. "We cooked three big meals a day, and for the first two years everything we ate was prepared in those ovens. They sat in the fireplace coals piled high around the sides and on the top to make the cooking go a bit faster."

Mrs. Grant, a widow, now lives in a neat trailer that is anchored only a short walk away from the home of one of her daughters, Mrs. A. J. McCall, Old San Angelo Highway. She and her husband, the late William Wesley Grant, were the parents of five other children. They are A. W. Grant and Mrs. Herman Mahon, both of Missouri; John Kelsey Grant of Nevada; Mrs. Arch Roberts, Big Spring; and the late Lennie Grant.

Mr. Grant tried being a farmer but didn't find it to his liking and entered the building business as a contractor. The couple traveled about the south and west, setting up a home in each new town where there was work for him and selling whatever they could not pack when it was time to move to the next job.

It was in those earlier days that she came to depend on the Dutch ovens three times a day. Besides meats and fresh vegetables, she used them for baking sweet potatoes, baking biscuits and even cooking the slab bacon and eggs. A typical meal in the big black pot consisted of fresh green beans covered with rich pork bits and topped with roasting ears. Mrs. Grant said there was no better eating anywhere when served with hot corn bread, cool tomatoes and fat cucumbers from the garden.

She remembers well the day she got her first stove—a woodburning beauty with a warming oven on top and a water reservoir toward the back. It not only cooked food for the family but heated the hand irons at the same time.

Mrs. Grant began her day at dawn—or before—and fed her family well for the chores ahead. After breakfast, she used syrup buckets as lunch pails for the children leaving for school. In them, she might pack a cup of beans, an ear of corn, biscuits softened with butter and syrup, a piece of meat and whatever fruit was available from the orchard.

When they were gone, it was time to tidy up the house and wash the dishes and clothing. Mrs. Grant didn't buy soap—she made it by combining lye, water and grease in a big iron pot. She stored it in stone jars, scooping out what she needed each day, and cutting some into bars for use at the washstand for bathing and shampooing. Usually, she made enough to last a year.

When it was time to sweep, all she needed to do was make a broom.

"In my garden, I always saved two rows for broom corn and two more for cotton for quilting," continued Mrs. Grant.

The brooms she made were, of necessity, round bunches of straw fastened to a stick, and Mrs. Grant remarked that she "like to never" got used to using any other kind.

Following the noon meal, Mrs. Grant could "rest" by spending some time quilting. She remembers that the seeds were much easier to remove from the cotton if it was spread in front of the fire to heat for awhile first. After that, came the cording and several other processes before the soft fluff became padding for covers made of scraps.

Mrs. Grant smiled as she recalled what a woman's life was like in her part of the country in those days.

"If a woman got to go to town once every six months, she was lucky," she said. "Often it was more than a year before the women had a chance to get together to exchange news or help each other. In the daytime, everyone in the family that was old enough to work, did so, and we were tired enough at night to be glad of the chance to go to sleep."

By raising geese, Mrs. Grant had feather beds—but it was a little hard on the birds. It's understandable that they would object mightily to have their feathers plucked once a month, and there was usually quite a racket in the barnyard when the feather harvest began.

Times have changed—and Mrs. Grant says, "Thank Goodness!"

Here are recipes she shares.

SOFT BERRY PIE
 3/4 cup flour
 3/4 cup sugar
 1/2 cup milk
 1 heaping tsp. baking powder
 1 pt. fruit
 1/2 stick melted butter
 Cover bottom of baking dish with melted butter. Mix half the sugar with berries. Mix remaining sugar with flour, baking powder and milk. Pour batter in dish and top with fruit. Bake about 30 minutes in pre-heated oven (400 degrees) or until batter is lightly browned.

MEAT LOAF
 1 lb. ground beef
 1/2 cup salad dressing
 2 tbsps. grated onion
 1 cup soft bread crumbs
 1/4 tsp. pepper
 1 tsp. salt
 Combine and cook in angel food cake pan. (You may garnish with ring of beets and fill center with mashed potatoes.)

OLD FASHIONED COLE SLAW
 1/2 cabbage, shredded
 4 heaping tbsps. salad dressing
 1/2 cup apple cider vinegar
 2 tbsps. sugar
 1/4 cup half and half cream
 Dash red pepper
 Let cabbage stand in ice water about two hours. Combine other ingredients in jar and shake well. Pour over cabbage and toss.

STRAWBERRY COFFEE CAKE
 Strawberry jam
 1/2 cup pecans
 Canned biscuits
 Cover bottom of nine-inch cake pan with jam. Sprinkle with pecans and cover with one or more cans of biscuits, overlapping around edge. Bake until done; turn on platter and serve hot.

SWEET CREAM CUP CAKES
 Sweet cream or milk (if milk is used add 3 tbsps. melted shortening)
 1 tsp. vanilla
 Salt

Artichoke Hearts
 Have you discovered how much a tossed green salad benefits from the addition of marinated artichoke hearts (available in 6-ounce jars)? If you are preparing a salad for four, you can use four cups of the greens and half the jar of hearts plus olive oil and wine vinegar dressing.

Good Buys Suggested For June

COLLEGE STATION — Fryers are a summer-time favorite with many families, since they are good served hot or cold. Homemakers can stretch their food dollars this weekend by serving chicken.

Egg prices also are reasonable. Deviled eggs go well with most other foods at home or on picnics. Grade A large size eggs offer the most quality and nutrition for the money spent.

Good beef values are available if homemakers shop carefully. Best beef choices this week are arm and blade pot roasts and steaks, ground beef, rump roast and round steak.

Supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables are increasing, with many of these coming from near-by growing areas. Best values this week are centered around squash, eggplant, bell peppers, hot peppers, sweet corn, cucumbers, green onions, radishes, carrots, celery, green beans, cooking greens, cantaloupes, watermelons, bananas and pineapples.

Bing cherries are being featured at some stores—but their season is expected to be short. Honey dew melons are available at moderate price levels in most stores.

Dairy month observances are still under way—and shoppers will want to take advantage of the nutritious dairy foods being featured. Milk and dairy products play a vital role in the health and well-being of everyone. A cool, tall glass of milk makes a good between-meal summer-time snack.

Sunday Dessert Prepared Early

This delightful dessert may be prepared the day before serving.

MOLDED COCONUT DESSERT

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 1/4 cup cold water
 2 eggs (separated)
 2-3 cup sugar
 1/4 tsp. salt
 2 cups milk (scalded)
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1 cup shredded coconut
 Strawberry Sauce
 Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks lightly with 4 teaspoons of the sugar and the salt; gradually add the scalded milk stirring constantly. Cook in top part of double boiler over simmering water until mixture coats a silver spoon. Add softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Chill until slightly thickened; fold in vanilla and coconut. Beat egg whites, gradually adding remaining sugar, until they form soft peaks; fold into coconut mixture. Turn into six-oz. custard cups; chill; unmold. Serve with Strawberry Sauce.

Pepper History

Know the difference between black and white pepper? The former is the product of the whole pepper berry; the latter is produced from the light colored, inner kernel of the berry. Use white pepper in light colored dishes.

MAINE LOBSTER OVER RICE
 A saucy dish for family and friends

Cook Cool On Top Of Stove With New Summer Rice Dishes

Housewives who want to keep cool, get in and out of the kitchen fast, and still serve tempting family meals will appreciate new ideas from the summer rice recipe collection of one of the world's largest rice mills.

The collection, based on the quick cooking qualities of long grain white rice, includes main dishes, side dishes, salads and desserts. They are designed to be prepared on top of the stove, without lighting the oven and heating up the kitchen, and have great summer appetite appeal.

Below are two recipes from the collection, all of which have been thoroughly tested in an experimental kitchen. Others can be found on tear-off pads at most local grocery stores.

SAUCY LOBSTER OVER RICE
 6 tbsps. butter or margarine
 3 cups cooked diced lobster meat

Cookie Treat Has Egg White Base
 If you have leftover egg whites, you may want to make these cookies for your youngsters.

MERINGUE SURPRISES
 2 egg whites
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 pkg. (4 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces (1 cup)
 Beat together the egg whites, vanilla and salt until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in sugar until stiff and satiny. Fold in chocolate pieces.
 Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a slow (300 degrees) oven 30 minutes. Makes about 3 1/2 dozen.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

If you enjoy a spicy stew, add condensed tomato soup plus water, vinegar and tomato catchup for the braising liquid.

For take-it-easy cooks: Add a package (1 1/2 ozs.) of dehydrated onion soup and a cup of water to that beef pot roast. Saves peeling onions!

Whether your muffin batter includes bran, wheat germ or whole-wheat flour, it will take to a jam filling. Just fill the muffin pan wells about one-third full, then add a teaspoon of jam and cover with the remaining batter. Bake as usual.

Ever cover corned beef with cold water and allow it to stand for several hours to remove some of the salt? When you cook the beef simmer it, don't boil.

Green cabbage quarters and medium-sized pared potatoes and carrots need to be added to corned beef only about half an hour before the meat is cooked through and tender.

Tie a teaspoon of whole mixed spices in a small cheesecloth bag and add it to that stew. Remove the spice bag before serving.

Did you know that some spring-form pans come without clamps?

A turban mold is just right for baking a yeast-risen "haba" cake. Be sure to grease and flour the mold before adding the dough.

Preheat an aluminum skillet before adding food to prevent sticking. At washup time, don't soak the skillet.

Why light the oven and heat up your kitchen? Comet gives you brand new recipe ideas to cook on top of the stove! All you need—light, white long grain Comet Rice and the fixin's on your pantry shelf to turn out dozens of quick cooking, appetite-perking summer treats.

Summer Rice Quick Trick
 Vary the taste of Comet by cooking it in liquids other than water, using the same basic proportions. For heartiness, try beef bouillon, onion soup, or tomato juice. Add tart-sweetness by cooking in flavorful canned fruit juices, such as pineapple or orange juice and garnish with fruit slices.

Summer Rice Spice-easy
 Nearly any spice can be added to Comet Longrain Rice with delightful results. A pinch of curry per cup of rice—and chicken or seafood goes exotic! Two teaspoons of dried dill per cup of rice—excellent with beef. Also try a dusting of cinnamon, unsweetened coconut, and slivered almonds.

Summer Rice Garden-Good
 For extra-quick rice side dishes, take your pick! Saute 6 to 8 sliced fresh mushrooms until lightly browned and fold into a cup of Comet Longrain Rice. Or, see what happens to buttered Comet when you add a generous portion of chopped parsley or finely chopped onions. Appetite magic!

Comet Longrain is the versatile rice—goes with everything

Serve Comet often throughout the week for meals that are man-satisfying. It's your best long grain rice buy. Never gummy or sticky. Never rubbery or hard. Always white, uniformly perfect grains! And compared to the high cost of potatoes, Comet Longrain is your best food buy, too.

A Devotional For The Day

Keep in the love of God, and wait for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ, to bring you to eternal life. Those whom you pity in their uncertainty, save, snatching them out of the fire. (Jude 21-22, Goodspeed)

PRAYER: Our Father, may we have divine compassion for others — compassion which will draw them to Thee for new life, new decision, new service. May our hunger to serve Thee never diminish until Thy will rules in the hearts of all men and nations. Through Christ our Redeemer. Amen.

(From the "Upper Room")

Continuing Fruitful Relationship

While Howard County voters did not turn out in numbers that they should have, the margin by which they approved the $600,000 roadway bonds is most heartening.

All but four boxes favored the issue, and these were in rural areas where the vote was about 2-1 against. Part of this could be due to pique over previous matters which had no relation to the bond issue, and part is due to an understandable feeling that most of the immediate improvements are scheduled in the Big Spring vicinity.

However, it is possible that there will be some residue from the bond issue — we sincerely hope so — which may be used to acquire needed roadways in other areas of the county. If the need arises, we will be the first to urge that it be done, for development of a modern road way where in Howard County benefits everyone in Howard County in the long run.

Without minimizing the importance of the two FM 700 programs which now have priority, one of the best things about the results Tuesday that it says once more to the Texas Highway Department that we want to cooperate in every way possible possible with the development of a modern highway system in this county. The highway department has always met us more than halfway, and now the way is clear for a continuation of this friendly, fruitful relationship.

Richly Deserved

In presenting a plaque to Clyde McMahon Sr. as the recipient of its annual citizen award, the Rotary Club could not have made a better selection. In fact, Clyde McMahon could qualify just about any year.

Few men have been as tireless as he in volunteer service of his community. He has not only served as president of the YMCA and on most of its key committees, but he has gone the second mile — and more — in heading up the sustaining membership division as well as its general membership campaign in the past. The building now housing the Y is due in a substantial measure to his tireless work. The Southwest Area Council of YMCA made him recipient of one of its distinguished volunteer awards.

As if this were not enough, Clyde McMahon put in a long tenure on the Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees and served as its president during a period of expansion and multiple problems. He didn't quit when he left the board, volunteering as chairman of the steering committee for the recent $5½ million master plan school bonds.

He had a distinguished term as president of the chamber of commerce and has been chairman of several of its committees, most recently that of the highway committee which spearheaded the successful roadway bond issue Tuesday. He was a leading figure in the establishment of Howard County Airport. Clyde McMahon has been active in and generous toward his church, as he has in most other worthwhile civic affairs. In it all, Clyde McMahon is a genuine and modest sort of gentleman, humbly grateful to be of service to his fellow man.

Powerful Personality

WASHINGTON — The career of Bernard Manner Baruch was, above all, the triumph of a personality. Behind the imposing facade that he presented to Senate committees and on the steps of the White House was the skill of an actor who if he had chosen to go on the stage, as one of his brothers did, would have been the greatest of his time.

In relaxed moments he enjoyed doing imitations of men he had known in public life. A classic, as he acted it out, was of a Senator of huge girth irately trying to get into an upper berth. Baruch would do the voice, the Senator, the Pullman porter, the conductor — with the gestures.

HIS HEIGHT and his imposing presence contributed greatly to the impression he made on everyone he met. Even after he had become almost totally deaf — a deafness which his hearing aid modified but little — he was a formidable witness in the many hearings at which he appeared over the years. There were those who felt his deafness was a positive help, since he could never hear a question he did not want to be bothered with.

Professional economists would rail at his conventional views on balancing the budget and holding down inflation. But while they could compete with him in terms of professional opinion they could never touch him in putting across a viewpoint.

HIS INFLUENCE in Washington over the years was very great. One reason was his generosity with campaign contributions where they counted most. A close associate who had himself served a long period in Congress once said that he thought without much trouble he could compile a list of a hundred sitting Senators and Representatives to whom Baruch had contributed. He had a habit of phoning a favorite toward the end of a tough fight and saying:

"I've been following you and I just wanted to know if you needed any money."

SINCE THERE was never a politician who in the thick of a bitterly fought contest didn't need money, grateful sounds would come from the other end of the line and a check from Baruch for $5,000 would go into 'the mail that day.

He had a legion of friends in the press who found him a fascinating repository of events past and present. Whatever the crisis he always presented a front of serene confidence—confidence in his prescription if only the man in power would turn to him to find a way out of the trouble and confidence in the country. He liked to tell witty stories about his experience in Paris with Woodrow Wilson during the Versailles Conference.

HIS PERSONALITY played a large part in the highly favorable press he almost always got. His critics, who were fond of calling him privately an old fraud, found this baffling and infuriating.

Nowhere did the man and the environment meet so perfectly as on his 50,000-acre South Carolina estate, Hobcaw Barony. It was a rare privilege to be invited to Hobcaw where Baruch presided with the antebellum courtesy and kindness of the pre-Civil War past he treasured.

In his day there was no one quite like him. And, given the extraordinary discipline he applied to a personality with a wide range, it is unlikely there will be again in our narrower and more conformist age.

THE KIND OF A BOOK YOU HATE TO PUT DOWN

James Marlow

U.S. Hopeful, But Peace Elusive

WASHINGTON (AP) — There has been a kind of wistfulness about the Johnson administration's position on Viet Nam, a kind of repeated sigh for peace, but peace remains as elusive as a devil dancing on a rainbow.

Mixed in with the wistfulness, as American actions in Asia get together by the week, there is a rather gentlemanly restraint about all the administration says.

In fact, the administration has spoken of the U.S. actions, bombings and all, as restrained. President Johnson almost never gets rough about the problem. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara uses an almost impersonal military jargon. And Secretary of State Dean Rusk, an apostle of understatement, sticks to a low key.

THE JOHNSON administration's explanation for almost five months of bombing North Viet Nam, and building up U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, has been a sort of: "All we want to do is knock some sense into their heads."

The idea is that if the Communists get hit with enough bombs, or suffer enough losses in ground fighting, they'll finally catch on to the notion that peace is better.

But after all these months the Communists — North Vietnamese, Red Chinese, and Russians — must have hard heads because Wednesday Rusk complained: "The other side is obviously not ready for peace."

BUT THEN they never have been although the administration seems to keep thinking they might be. But if Rusk sounded melancholy, perhaps as much as at any time since the bombings began Feb. 7, it's no wonder.

The Russians Wednesday refused a visit by the British Commonwealth team created a few days ago to visit all the interested parties, the United States, Russia, Red China, North Viet Nam.

The mission's goal was to see if anyone wanted to talk peace. But what the Russians did

Wednesday was more than matched two days ago by the Red Chinese who hooted at the peace team.

SO THAT about finishes that. What next? More war is about all that's left, and harder.

Rusk acknowledged that air attacks alone cannot bring peace. By itself this would be a very mild statement, indeed.

But the restrained and gentlemanly Rusk added something which could be interpreted as meaning: If all the American military effort so far hasn't been able to persuade the Communists, then the United States will have to step up the war even more although he put it in his usual, understated way: "We must hope they know — as we do — that increased aggression would be costly far beyond the worth to the aggressor."

No mandarin could have been more courteous in telling an enemy to watch out. Some unidentified U.S. officials were a little more pointed, saying they expect a rough summer.

AND YET, it's all like a needle stuck in a record, nothing really new after all the bombing and all the other American efforts.

Housekeeping In Viet Nam Wilds

KHE SANH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two girl missionaries — an American and an Australian — are housekeeping in the wilds here in a mountain area long dominated by guerrillas.

They are Miss Eugenia Johnston of Houghton, N.Y., and Miss Nancy Costello of Sydney, Australia.

"We work with primitive tribes who don't have a written language," said Miss Johnston, who is slender and dark and wears glasses. "We write an alphabet for them, make textbooks and teach them to read and write."

"THEN we bring them the word of God." She and Miss Costello, who is blonde and fair-skinned, represent the Summer Institute of Linguistics at Los Angeles and the Wycliffe Bible Translators of Santa Ana, Calif.

Both girls raised funds from church groups to finance their missionary task and each took a three-month course in jungle survival before coming here.

"They gave us a machete, and we had to make our own house and furniture," said Miss Costello. "But they did let us have matches and a snakebite kit."

The girls live now in a two-room, thatched-roofed bamboo still house, shaded by coffee trees, at the edge of the village.

IT IS several miles from the military compound in which dwells a U.S. Army Special Forces team of 14 men and several hundred native troops. The compound is protected by sandbags, mines, outposts and barbed wire.

The bamboo paradise is guarded only by a pet monkey, "Scooter." As some of the villagers regard monkey as a delicacy, "Scooter" is kept firmly leashed to bamboo still, where he does cartwheels all day long.

"We're not afraid," said Miss Johnston, who has spent nine months here and three years in Viet Nam. "our only problem is the perpetual threat that the Viet Cong will push us out."

The American soldiers keep a watchful eye on the girls and periodically bring them gifts of food. The girls repaid them recently by cooking them a Sunday dinner of pies and cookies.

Just as Robinson Crusoe had a man servant on his island, the two girls have a butler, too. He is one of the Montagnards, or mountain tribes people whom the girls are teaching.

"His name isn't Friday but Ayooq," said Miss Johnston.

To Your Good Health

Why Some People Who Stop Smoking Gain Weight

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Please comment on the problem of gaining weight when one stops smoking. Is it true or not? Enclosed are 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your booklet, "Tips on How to Stop Smoking." —MRS. G. A.

That's a real, down-to-earth question, because I have no doubt that a lot of people who otherwise would make the effort to stop smoking don't do so for fear of gaining weight. Or maybe a few just use that as an excuse.

So what are the facts? Smoking and gaining weight have no direct relationship. I know people who are as thin as rails who never smoked. I know fat ones who smoke like chimneys.

Here's the real answer. I'll change that: Here are the two real answers.

First: A good many of us resort to some means of releasing tension when we get nervous. Some of us, in such cases, blow up and act like kids having a tantrum. We know we shouldn't but we do. It sort of clears the air. Or so we think.

Others of us get tense and we "relax with a cigaret."

Still others of us, when we feel the same way, eat. Or chew gum. Or go for a walk. Or do about a thousand other things — anything to focus our attention on something else, so we can push aside whatever problem, large or small, is bugging us.

Smoking is a very common habit — so a lot of people smoke as a means of "doing something to take their minds off their troubles."

Eating also is a very common habit. So a lot of people eat, not because they are hungry, but just to have something to do.

Well, that's the story. It's quite possible for the tension smoker to switch to some other simple little habit if he decides to quit tobacco. That's why some people add weight when they stop smoking. They start reaching for candy mints, or peanuts, or anything else with calories, instead of reaching for a cigaret. So if you stop smoking, but reach for 20 calories 20 times a day, instead of reaching for a cigaret 20 times a day, you put on weight. That's the first reason.

Second: There are more people who quit smoking in their 30's or 40's or 50's or 60's than when they are very young. We start the habit when we are young; we exercise our willpower to quit when we are older.

When we are old enough to have to struggle to quit smoking, we're also approaching the age when we are starting to put on weight anyway! Less exercise, more eating.

Combine these two factors, and you can see why quitting smoking sometimes coincides with putting on weight. Once you know about this, you can be on your guard.

"Tips on How to Stop Smoking," by Dr. Molner, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Virtues Of A Paved Alley

There must be hundreds of acres within the Big Spring city limits, running to weeds and assorted litter, and destined to continue as more or less permanent eyesores. Very little has been or can be done about it. I refer to the city's miles of alleyways.

SOME AREAS, of course, do not have alleys, but there are pros and cons concerning this kind of development. In addition to serving as a habitue of garbage cans and trucks, some alleys serve as right of way for water and sewer lines, gas lines, and as a raceway for stray dogs.

In short, alleys have some useful purposes. At the same time, it would seem modern technology could arrive at a more suitable method of handling utility lines so that this land area might be put to better use — which is to say, a more attractive use.

EARLIER THIS WEEK, the city commission took one step toward helping an alley beautification campaign. It adopted an alley paving program by which residents can convert a dirt and weed-strewn alleyway to pavement at very low cost. The city will pay most of the cost of the program, with property owners picking up a small part of the tab.

A paved alley would immediately solve the problem of weeds. It would solve the matter of mud, and holes where water stands as a breeding place for mosquitoes. It would tend to encourage neatness on the part of adjacent property owners. All-in-all, this program is about as good an answer as possible for cleaning up alleyways.

AN ALLEY cleanup program, as things stand, is next to impossible. City crews would have to number in the hundreds to get the job done, and this is far too expensive for current tax rates. Most residents have their hands full keeping up the grounds on the homestead, let alone pitching in on the alley, too.

A danger of such paving, perhaps, is that paved alleys might encourage more motor traffic, creating numerous hazards where they empty onto a street. However, this problem could be solved with dips and bumps, built into the pavement.

IF WE MUST have alleys, then paved ones would be best. And with the city's inexpensive program, it is practical for most parts of the city. It is now up to residents to make a decision — where it counts.

Losses Now, Victory Later

WASHINGTON — The most cheerful way to look at the Vietnam War in this mid-summer is to compare it with the Battle of the Bulge which fell in the dead of winter, almost half way between the Normandy landings and the German surrender.

THEN, THE NAZIS had the advantage of weather which made it difficult for General Eisenhower to reinforce his cut-off forces. Today, the Asian Communists are operating in the favorable climate of rain and mist which partially nullifies American air power.

Then, the Germans used brilliant tactics to confine the Allied troops in a small area and to outnumber and outgun them for a limited time. Today, the Viet Cong and their North-Viet auxiliaries have been able to bring about local concentrations which give them a fleeting superiority in numbers and often in firepower.

BUT THE Battle of the Bulge was the bite of a rat in a trap. The Battle of the Monsoons, limited in time till the rains phase out in November, is much the same situation.

When the worst has been said — as I have tried to say it in two previous columns — the President is down to a paucity of choices in military and political moves. He is rushing ground forces into action, but he does not have a land-area in which to get set for a knockout swing at the foe. He is trying to rectify this disadvantage by building new bases along the seacoast to accommodate his forces. But the seaboards and engineers are very vulnerable to the VC attacks.

THE PRESIDENT'S only ace is to make full use of airpower — and this card he has still hugged to his vest. Congressman Howard Calloway (R., Ga.) returned from Viet Nam as recently as June 12. He is West Point, Class of '49, a veteran of the Inchon campaign in Korea, and his opinion is valuable. He visited with numerous West Point classmates, now majors and lieutenant colonels in the thick of the fighting. His prime recommendation, given me in an interview, was that we should hit high-priority military targets in North Viet Nam with all we've got. This the President must do while the rains bog down our ground actions in the South.

THE PRESIDENT'S predicament calls upon him to view the mid-summer disadvantages as temporary ones, and to make this fact clear to the anxious American people. If we come through the rainy season intact, we will not have reached — in Churchillian terms — the beginning of the end, but we may have reached by autumn the end of the beginning. By then we can have punished Ho Chi Minh unmercifully from the skies, and by then our ground buildup will be further along.

The President's worst difficulty is the old combination of pessimism and pacifism at home. This he needs to combat, not by words but actions.

AS IN THE Battle of the Bulge, we are taking casualties and may lose local engagements, but the rat is in the trap — and what we're feeling could be the bite of desperation.

Panic In The Market

N E W YORK — Whenever the American stock market takes a big dip, Wall Street tends to blame the "little fellow" — the guy who panics at the first sign of bad news.

But nobody has ever bothered to talk to the little fellow until last week when I caught up with him at Horn and Hardart's automat on 57th Street. His name was Irving and he was nervously reading the paper.

"Why does it always have to be us?" he said.

"What do you mean?" I asked him.

"EVERY TIME the market goes down they say the little investor got scared. Don't Lehman Brothers ever get scared?"

"Probably," I replied. "But they would never admit it."

"What do you make of Humphrey being sent to Paris?"

"I hadn't thought about it. Why do you ask?"

"Well, Johnson wouldn't send him to London for Churchill's funeral, but he sent him to Paris for the air show. You know what I think? The British pound is in trouble."

"It's possible."

"I HAVE A good mind to sell my Xerox."

"Do you think you ought to? After all, the vice president went over to escort the astronauts McDivitt and White. It may have had nothing to do with the British pound."

"Maybe you're right," Irving said. "I'll sell my AT&T instead."

"What for?"

"I hear the Early Bird satellite is acting up."

"I hadn't heard that," I said.

"IT'S ALL OVER town. Besides, McClesney Martin says we're ripe for another crash like we had in 1929. I think I ought to unload my General Motors."

"He didn't say that, exactly. Besides President Johnson says the economy has never been healthier."

"He did, huh? Maybe I'll buy some Chrysler."

"And don't forget the cut in excise taxes is going to help the economy."

"YEAH, BUT THE longshoremen may go out on strike. I'd hate to keep my U. S. Lines, if that happened."

"Irving," I said, "you've got to play it cool. Why don't you stop worrying so much?"

"Who's worried? You think just because I read a lousy story in the newspaper I go off half cocked?"

"You're lighting the filter end of your cigarette?"

"Thanks. What do you hear about Santo Domingo?"

"IT'S GOING very well. I just came from Washington and everyone is optimistic," I said.

"That's not what I hear. I was told to sell my United Fruit."

"By whom?"

"Marvin. He lives next to me."

"Are you going to believe Marvin or Dean Rusk?" I said.

"Marvin was right about the Edsel."

"How did he know?"

"He bought one."

"What does Marvin know about Texas Sulphur?" I asked excitedly.

IRVING HELD his thumb down.

I casually excused myself from the table and then ran for a phone. When I finally got through to my broker, I shouted, "Don't ask questions. Sell my Texas Sulphur."

My broker said excitedly, "What do you know?"

"If I told you, it would only start a panic."

Plan Muddled

EDINBURGH (AP) — The Presbyterian Church of Scotland is studying a proposal for designating the new Scottish town of Livingston near Edinburgh as an area of ecumenical experiment.

The first step would be to share Church of Scotland buildings in the area with the Episcopal Church.

"It is suggested that an ecumenical center be set up in Livingston — that herein all the churches share common work such as training of youth leaders, share in common service to the community, share in worship together," the Rev. Donald F. MacDonald told the recent meeting of the Church of Scotland General Assembly.

"It is further suggested that work on the project be carried out in three stages, beginning in 1970-71 when the town center comes into being."

MacDonald called it "a daring, bold and imaginative experiment" which would involve the Kirk's own congregations in many problems and difficulties.

A special committee was ordered to examine implications of the scheme and report to next year's General Assembly.

Billy Graham

What is the meaning of loving God with all our strength? I am referring to the text: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength." W.N.

This text as well as many others in the Bible teaches that there is a kind of trinity in each of us; that each of us, as a person, is a gift of God. There are no sharp lines between heart, mind and soul. The text teaches us that our souls are living, immortal beings, destined to live throughout eternity. We are taught that the heart is the fountain of feeling; it is the spirited part of our being and source of action. The heart can be good or bad as it directs our activity. Mind is the intelligence factor in our immortal beings. The heart, or the emotions as one might say today, impels the motives of both mind and body. It is also the figure used to show where conscience resides. Strength is used to show the unity of mind, soul, heart and body in the Loving of God. He demands everything in our love for Him. There are some who love God with their minds, only. Others love Him with their heart, alone, meaning that they are sort of sentimental; their seed was scattered on thin ground, and when the heat of life comes, they fade away. Loving God with bodily strength alone means that we would love Him for what we can get for ourselves.

Dear Abby

Sensible Approach

DEAR ABBY: As a new widow, I think I can help that widow who wrote that she has actually picked up her telephone to be sure it was still working. She complained that after three months all her friends had gone back to their own families and had forgotten her.

Widowhood is a "do-it-yourself" job. Don't expect married women to share their husbands with you during the evenings. Make plans to be with your women friends in the afternoons. Go to church and find people in the same boat — lone some. Get a hobby, or enroll in an adult education class and learn something new.

I've been a widow for five months. My friends are still very thoughtful, but I don't expect to be included and entertained just because I'm alone. I have learned that grieving is selfish. What do we say when we grieve? "Why did this have to happen to ME?" Not, "It was God's will." Perhaps my words can help someone else. I know that just writing this letter has helped me. It comes from — THE HORSE'S MOUTH. DEAR "HORSE'S MOUTH": Thank you for your fine letter. Your brand of horse sense comes from a stable mind.

DEAR ABBY: I have this boy friend whom I still like a little, but he has an older brother whom I like better. My boy friend is 14 years old and so am I. His brother is 22. Do you think I should stick with my boy friend or drop him and try to get his brother? I would like an answer soon because my boy friend is paying me a lot of attention, and his older brother is kind of shying away. Please don't tell me the brother is too old for me because my aunt and uncle have ten years between them, and I've never seen a happier couple.

DEAR DECIDING: Sorry, but the older brother is too old for you right now. A 14-year-old bird in the hand is worth two 22-year-olds in the bush. Stick with the minor league until you're no longer a minor.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know how you operate, but several days ago I wrote to ask your advice about a problem. I signed my real name and enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply. I forgot to mention that I do not want my letter printed in your column or read over the air on your radio program. I hope it isn't too late to ask this favor of you. Please do not use my name or my initials. I live in a small town and if the facts I mentioned in my letter were made public, I would easily be identified, and many innocent people would be hurt. Thank you very, very much. Sign this letter.

"CAN'T SLEEP" IN LYNCHBURG, VA.
DEAR "CAN'T": Have no fear. I never use a writer's "real" name or initials without his consent. Nor do I ever disclose the name of the city from which it came. Pleasant dreams!

IDAHO SPECIAL
Potatoes and onions make meals different

Meat, Potatoes Time Arrives With A Bang

Halved Idaho Russet potatoes and Sweet Spanish onions baked in the drippings of the roast loin of pork make a mighty good, as well as obliging, all-in-the-oven meal. Serve it with coleslaw or Waldorf salad, hot rolls, beverage, a light or no dessert. Here is a menu you'll repeat many times.

These two famous Idaho-grown vegetables, such good buys in our markets now, may be served in so many ways that they may well become the backbone of many a meal, sometimes a meal in themselves. Couldn't you make a meal of a big "Baked Idaho" or a Ham-and-Rice Stuffed Onion? M-m-m!

ROAST PORK WITH POTATOES AND ONIONS
4 lbs. pork loin roast
3 or 4 large Idaho potatoes
3 large Idaho Sweet Spanish onions
Powdered sage
Salt and pepper
Pre-heat oven to 325 degrees F. (slightly under moderate). Allow 2 hours for total cooking time. Place pork in shallow pan with room enough to put vegetables around meat. Rub with salt and coarse-grind black pepper. Place in oven while preparing vegetables which should be around 15 minutes.

Peel onions, cut in quarters lengthwise. Scrub potatoes thoroughly. Do not peel. Cut in halves lengthwise. On cut side make diamond shapes by uniformly cutting crisscross just the slightest bit with a sharp knife. Sprinkle cut side lightly with salt.

Take pork from oven. Place onion quarters and potato halves, skin side up, around pork. Sprinkle onion lightly with salt and powdered sage. Return pan to oven. After a half hour, baste vegetables with drippings from meat. Repeat twice. The whole meal will be ready 2 hours after pork is placed in the oven. Vegetables should be fork-tender and a meat thermometer in pork should read 135 degrees F. Always serve fresh pork well-done. It should be gray with no tinge of pink.

Remove pork and vegetables to warm platter, placing potatoes cut side up. The roast pork drippings will have cooked into the potatoes and onions giving them a fine flavor. Gravy may be made with remaining drippings.
Makes 6 servings.

Vitamin A Contained In Carrots

"The vitamin A vegetable" might be a good synonym for carrots.

For these colorful vegetables rank among the richest in vitamin A foods. One carrot, about 6 inches long and an inch thick, contains 6,000 International Units of vitamin A—more than enough to satisfy the daily requirement of 5,000 units recommended for the average adult. This same carrot contains only about 20 calories.

And carrots are among the many fresh vegetables in plentiful supply this month, according to the Consumer and Marketing Service. These golden, crisp vegetables are favorites when cut into sticks and served raw with dip. Too, they're most welcome as afternoon snacks.

Carrots also are a delicious cooked vegetable. Carrot dishes are always a colorful, tasty addition to the main course. For Carrots Polonnaise, cut 2 pounds of carrots into thin Julienne strips, about the size of matchsticks. Cook carrots until tender in half cup of water seasoned with 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate. Drain carrots.

In separate pan, melt 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, add 3 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs and cook over low heat until crumbs are browned and butter stops bubbling. Add a few drops lemon juice. Pour mixture over drained hot carrots, pour into serving dish and garnish with 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley.

Fried Carrots. Scrub carrots and cut into halves or quarters. Simmer about 10 minutes in water to cover. Drain carrots and coat with seasoned flour or bread crumbs. Fry in hot fat until tender and well browned. Serve hot.

Dozen Years Prove Irony Of Remark In Korean War

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—“If we ever get this blankety-blank war over, the United States will never get involved in another blankety-blank war like it again.”

Those words were spoken off the record by Gen. Mark W. Clark as the fighting in Korea drew to an end. Inasmuch as Clark is retired from public life and there is no security involved, his remark is worth repeating now because of its irony.

Twelve years after the end of the Korean War, the United States is involved in a war in Viet Nam and there is every indication the fighting will be just as blankety-blank frustrating as it was in Korea.

RED AGGRESSION
Fifteen years ago, on the morning of June 25, 1950, North Korean Communist infantry, supported by Russian tanks and artillery, cracked a hole in the weak defenses along the 38th Parallel. It was the beginning of a war that lasted three years, claimed 60,000 American lives and 103,000 wounded.

But that wasn't the end. In the decade since, the American taxpayers have poured $4.5 billion dollars in various forms of aid and assistance to the citizenry of the Republic of Korea.

Mark Clark was driven to profanity over the situation in Korea for the same reason Gen. Douglas MacArthur was fired and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway was happy to get a transfer to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Clark succeeded Ridgway as supreme commander of United Nations forces in Korea.

The maddening thing about commanding troops in Korea was the limitation on maneuverability. By the time Gen. Clark finally affixed his signature to an armistice, it took approval from the Pentagon to move a unit as large as a battalion along the purposely stalemated front. And everyone said the Pentagon couldn't give approval for ordering that battalion to attack without an okay from the State Department.

HOT RECEPTION
“If we ever get in a war here again we'll use all the weapons we've got,” Clark also said off the record a decade ago.

Should the North Koreans strike again, they would get a hot reception, whether nuclear weapons were on the program or not. There are 650,000 Republic of Korea and U.S. forces along the front today.

Fifteen years ago, the Communists hit without warning and the lightly defended lines along the 38th Parallel caved in immediately.

The United Nations Security Council convened, branded the attack “aggression,” and 16 nations sent combat troops and seven others contributed complements, such as hospitals.

American troops from Japan reached Korea five days after the fighting started, but couldn't stem the tide. By midsummer, Gen. MacArthur's U.N. Command was squeezed into a narrow area far to the south which became known as the Pusan perimeter.

INCHON LANDING
Gen. MacArthur broke out of the Pusan perimeter on Sept. 15, 1950 in one of the boldest maneuvers of his career. The 1st Marine and 7th Infantry divisions were landed at Inchon, far up the neck of the Korean peninsula, while the 1st Cavalry came banging out across the plains for Taegu, Taejon and on up through the mountain passes to slam the back door on Seoul.

The whole North Korean army was finished, leaving the 38th Parallel undefended for a mad dash to Pyongyang and the Yalu. The threat to Manchuria in November, 1951, brought the Chinese into the fighting and the United States and the Republic of Korea had a new war on their hands.

The demilitarized zone, which divides North and South Korea, starts along the Han River estuary, on the western coast, then turns north to a spot 15 miles south of Kaesong, then east, then north again to about 15 miles north of Chorwon, once the site of bloody fighting, east again to a spot north of the Hwachon Reservoir, then northeast to a point on the Japan Sea slightly south of Kosong.

KAESONG AREA
The Kaesong area, north of Seoul, is guarded by 50,000 Americans. The rest of the zone is manned by 600,000 South Korean infantry.

The strength of the Communists in Korea is open to conjecture.

According to the official report submitted to the Armistice Commission June 14, 1965, 205,620 Communist troops have arrived and 817,239 departed since July 27, 1953.

Fierce Storm Punch Eased

By The Associated Press
Thunderstorms continued, but diminished in severity, across wide areas from mountain sections of California and Oregon to Maine and Florida today.

Rain ended in most of the Upper Mississippi Valley, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas.

Severe storms pounded many areas across the nation Wednesday night, with tornadoes hitting sections of Nebraska, Wyoming and Illinois. Funnel clouds were sighted in several states.

No injuries were reported in the twisters which struck two suburbs northwest of Chicago, in open country of the Nebraska Panhandle and in southeastern Wyoming. Heavy rain fell in southern Arkansas, northern Mississippi and parts of Florida. More than 2-1/2 inches of rain doused Orlando, Fla., in a six-hour period.

Four men were killed by lightning as they sought refuge in a shelter at a golf course about 20 miles north of Butler, Pa. Six other men were injured. The 10 men had been playing golf and ran for the shelter when a severe rainstorm struck.

The dead were all residents of Butler and employees of the Armco Steel Corp., which uses the golf course as an employee recreation area.

Hail and heavy rain pelted the Missouri Ozarks and thunderstorms dumped more rain on the flooded Arkansas River in Kansas.

Showers in eastern sections Wednesday followed unseasonably warm weather. The 96 at Harrisburg, Pa., was a record high for June 23 and Baltimore's 96 was one degree short of the record for the date. Early morning temperatures ranged from 45 at Marquette and Traverse City, Mich., to 85 at Needles, Calif.

FEDERAL OIL AND GAS LEASES EXPIRING NOTICE
As a result of simultaneous lease filings the United States Government will put up at a public drawing in Santa Fe, New Mexico, the first of each month, thousands of acres of oil and gas leases in New Mexico, including Lea, Eddy, and San Juan Counties, and Oklahoma and Texas for sale to the public at 50 cents per acre. Certain of these leases are valued by major companies and other interested buyers of several hundred dollars per acre. But under the rules and regulations of the United States Government you have the same EQUAL chance to drive one of these valuable leases, as the largest oil company in the nation.

Write for information as to how our company can aid you in filing application with the United States Government. No obligation.

Hams Plan Field Day Saturday

The Big Spring Amateur Radio Club is making final plans for the annual American Radio Relay League field day, a combination outing and emergency communications exercise to be held Saturday and Sunday.

The club's operators will set up a temporary transmitter site, antennas and portable generator on scenic Mountain near the pavilion. Radio messages will be exchanged with similar groups in the U.S., including Hawaii and Alaska, and Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone and Canada.

Purpose of the event is to test the capability of amateur radio stations to set up communications facilities completely independent of commercial electrical power and permanent station locations, according to Kenneth Keeler, club president. It will enable operators to practice emergency operation, for use when a natural disaster isolates a community, such as happened recently in Sanderson.

A family picnic is planned for the club Saturday night. The public will be welcome to visit the field day site Sunday afternoon, Keeler said.

Parks Meeting Postponed Again

A meeting of the parks and recreation board, scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at city hall, has been postponed with the next regular meeting time, July 21.

The meeting was first scheduled for Wednesday, June 14, but was postponed due to lack of a quorum. The session Wednesday was held over, again due to lack of a quorum.
