One field, adjacent to the St. Lawrence road which runs in front of the Blissard farm, is planted entirely to the Charleston Greys. There are six acres in the field and it is estimated each acre will produce 1,500 melons of marketable variety. This means that the patch will yield 9,000 melons. Most of the tonnage already is on the vines.

On another field at the rear of the farm, Blissard has planted 19 acres of Black Diamonds. He has a tremendous crop on the vines. Hundreds of melons are ripe. Two farm hands are kept busy culling the vines of unsuitable melons and of those which have decayed. There are thousands of blooms with the promise of many more melons.

"I don't know how well it will pay out," said Blissard. "I picked the ripe melons off just six rows of the smaller field and they brought $70. I can't tell today I have harvested any melons from those

Summer cooking make your kitchen "like an oven"?

Change to cool flameless electric cooking!

Women who cook electrically will tell you that electric cooking makes a big difference in kitchen comfort during hot weather. That's because flameless electric surface cooking units transfer heat by direct metal-to-metal contact with utensil bottoms. They send their heat through the utensils and into the food, not into the kitchen air. Electric oven cooking is cooler, too. There's no flame, so no intake and exhaust of air is needed to support combustion. The oven is insulated all around, including the bottom, to keep heat inside where it belongs. See your electric range dealer soon and start cooking the cool, flameless electric way!

The new union president, former Secretary - Treasurer I. W. Abel, understandably wants to make his first contract the best obtainable. Abel had campaigned on a pledge to "return the union to the membership." The magazine, Steel, reports that Abel consults constantly his fellow officers and district directors, reporting frequently to the 350 local leaders who are in Pittsburgh to work out company

Even so, some local officers are disgruntled by Abel's "no news" policy. One local president says: "At least before we could read about what was going on in the papers."

Steel industry settlements in the past five years have been modest. Nevertheless, steel workers are still among the best paid in American industry, with average earnings of about $3.43 an hour. With high production in the industry, employment has mounted. As of June 1, the industry employment total was 596,000, as against 550,000 a year earlier.

But the USW attitude from the beginning has been that the agreement last spring by which extension of the strike deadline was facilitated - a wage boost of 11.5 cents an hour -'sets the floor for future bargain-

Management is concerned with protecting the fat profits the industry rolled up in the record production of the first six months of 1965.

No one, least of all the public, wants a strike. The loss of a long strike, like the 1959 walkout in steel, is never actually recouped. Workers may gain in wages and benefits, but they will never get back lost wages. Management may raise prices and thus pass part of the cost on to the consumer, but it will never get back the lost production. User industries have only a partial remedy in raising prices in turn. And of course the public is the real loser.

That's the rundown on why industry sources say with guarded optimism, "Look for a settlement shortly before the strike deadline - under strong pressure from Washington."

Around The Rim

The Phenomenon Explained

What started out as a dull week- ing saucer days. end suddenly blossomed into an excit-

HERE IT was Sunday evening and everything sort of ho hum, when this bright object streaked across the sky. Depending on where you were, the location seemed to vary, but in this general area the big object appeared to be descending almost vertically either to the northwest or the north. Some described it as having the bluewhite and somewhat greenish hue of a meteor well into the atmosphere, and some said it waxed reddish orange then seemed to explode.

These celestial bodies, particularly the larger meteors, follow a pattern not unlike this, thus while it was exciting, it was not altogether unusual. But what followed was unusual.

FROM EVERY quarter, it seemed, there came reports of flying objects, or at least of strange and unexplained lights. There were reports of these things flitting about the sky in diaformation at astromonical speeds. Other accounts said there was a single object but cutting all sorts of capers. Still others told of how the UFO (unidentified flying object) spewed sparks.

It was inevitable that a few swore they saw wierd objects swoop down, hover over the landscape as if to land. And of course, there were those stories of a host of the things flutting wildly about the sky.

IT WAS JUST like the good old fly- same.

Perhaps no one would have taken it too seriously-except to acknowledge the real probability of a substantial meteorite-had it not been for the Air Force station (which must remain anonymous for security reasons) which was at that precise moment running a combined radar and VHF test. This object, (or was it objects?) showed up on the screen in such a capricious manner that instantly the operator knew it was no ordinary thing. It's great speed and ability to change trajectory or pattern of flight ruled out known aircraft or missiles.

ODD SOUNDS began to come over the high frequency radio band. Sensing a phenomenon, the operator snapped on a recorder.

While the capers on the radar screen were relegated to memory, the sounds were captured. As they were played back, they seemed pure gibberish. The probability of a code was ruled out, for the sounds seemed to be more of an efforts at vocal communication. The tape was rushed to the Pentagon where it was subjected to all sort of analysis, and finally was programmed into the huge electronic computer.

THE LINE of "xtlf d-kt rixl pftlkre qtkx tzm iwptf byxmqfs ytrrz ttlgimg su hhxu xftpz, pfft" emerged as "what d'ya mean taking pictures of our planet without first letting us pull down the shades?" The pfftt! was the

David Lawrence It's Up To Moscow And Peiping

WASHINGTON-The President has spoken, the newspapers on both sides of the Iron Curtain have spoken, and the critics inside the United States have had their say, too. But the cru-cial answer to what lies ahead in Southeast Asia is still unrevealed by

Peiping or Moscow The Communists have used the last few days to analyze Mr. Johnson's remarks at his July 28 news conference and doubtless have come to some conclusion. It can only be guessed what they have decided, but it would not be surprising if they became convinced that, despite all the brave words, the now is desperately seeking a way to extricate itself from a frustrating sit-FOR, WHILE President Johnson talked eloquently about America's unwillingness to surrender or appease. his speech reflects a discomfiture over the demands of many Americans, inside and outside of politics, who feel

mean to fight to the bitter end and the United States government should get out of Viet Nam as gracefully as possible no matter how prolonged the peace conferences may be. America consented, as did the United Nations, to join in just such an unsatisfactory ending of the Korean War. To this day nothing has been settled, and Korea is still divided. There isn't even a peace treaty in existence to replace the armistice agreement.

IS THE United States government getting ready to do this again? If so, all the fine talk about a refusal to surrender will go for naught.

The President in his speech made no reference to the Russians, as, it is said, he didn't want to hurt their feelings and even counts on their help behind the scenes in restraining the Red Chinese. The only mention of Red China was in the following paragraph of Mr. Johnson's talk:

"SOME CITIZENS of South Viet Nam, at times with understandable grievances, have joined in the attack their own government. But we must not let this mask the central fact that this is really war. It is guided by North Viet Nam and it is spurred by Communist China. Its goal is to con-quer the south, to defeat American power, and to extend the Asiatic dominion of communism.

But who sent technicians and supplies recently to build the missile bases in North Viet Nam? Obviously was the Russians. The plain truth is that Red China and the Soviet Union today are engaged in a war against the United States, just as Moscow and Peiping made war against the United Nations in Korea in 1950 the Soviets by furnishing munitions and supplies, as the Russian delegate to the U.N. openly boasted, and the Red Chinese by sending their big armies across the Yalu River to kill tens of thousands of American boys.

THE UNITED NATIONS responded Britain and France and refrained from bombing the supply lines across the Yalu as the Red Chinese invaded South Korea. Today it looks as if the same thing is developing in Viet Nam, as American airmen have been cautioned to limit their bombing attacks instead of waging all-out war against the enemy bases and supply

So the world may be facing another defeat for the principle of united action against Communist imperialism. The impression given by the Johnson administration last week - however unintentional such a meaning may have been-is that a decision has been made to get out of the mess some way, but not by fighting to a victorious conclusion.

ANOTHER STALEMATE, therefore, is in prospect. For, while professing no willingness to retreat, the administration has adopted a standstill strategy. Will the enemy now misconstrue this as weakness, and will this necessitate in the long run bigger and bigger military commitments anyway and greater sacrifices by American troops? Peiping and Moscow alone know the answer. (Copyright, 1965 New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

Holmes Alexander When The President Stands Up in the U.S.A.-tomorrow in the

He didn't put it in these words, but that was the music.

Just two hours before his televised press conference of July 28, the President pleaded behind closed doors with key senators of both parties to back him up on Viet Nam. If you make me look like a bad President, he told them, the world will think that I am. He wanted leaders in other nationsthe friends, the foes, the neutralsto see him at the head of a willing, trustful government and people. MR. JOHNSON was talking to them from the memory of a shaking experience on the night before. Sen. Mansfield, Democratic floor leader, had then turned up at the White House with a two-and-a-half page statement which warned the President that he couldn't count on the Democrats to support him in further escalation of the undeclared war.

IT WAS WITH this prelude of rumbling party dissent, following five days of tense discussion with Cabinet members and White House advisers, that Lyndon Johnson went into the momentous press conference. He was not Old Hickory that day. Maybe Old Chestnut will be the historical nickname that sticks.

He read a 1200-word statement in the form of an answer to a mother who had asked him "Why?" Throughout the dramatic monologue and the question period which followed, he referred to the Viet Nam action as "war," but not once, I think, did he use the warlike verb "to win." He sald, "We will not surrender. We will

WASHINGTON-"Concensus: today not retreat." He offered the familiar unconditional negotiations,

> OLD HICKORY would have done it differently. And yet, there are times for all things. Maybe this was the time for a little bending with the wind, a little cornpone in the shade-a time for Old Chestnut, if the word stands for a mobile and picturesque way of being nearly as tough as hickory. The toughness was there, but concealed by foliage. He added 50,000 American troops to those already in the field, and he doubled the monthly draft quota. But he refrained from calling out Reservists and National Guards and he said he had considered and rejected the need to declare a national emergency.

SOME OF US who walked into Pennsylvania Avenue afterwards remarked how masterfully the message had been packaged. More draftees to be called, but that wouldn't shake up the home communities as much as calling out the Guards and Reserves in far larger numbers. The President had said he would give General Westmoreland all that he asked, but this statement wouldn't disrupt business serenity as much as if the President had requested Congress for more

And how wily the timing. If there's bad news, hold it till later. Realismbut spread it thin.

THERE NEVER WAS such virtuosity of leadership. His party is divided. the country is uncertain, the rest of the world is not yet convinced that he means it. But like the French General of World War I, whose front and flanks and re-enforcements were

Manager Has 19 Years Experience

George F. True, manager of the sparkling wonderland that is the new Montgomery Ward store in Big Spring, has a heritage in merchandising, and he has experience to match.

He had given little thought to a career when he completed military service in World War II, but when he went to work for Ward's, the field was made to order. His father, George F. True Sr., had operated a retail hardware store, and before that his grandfather had been a retailer. Thus, he represents three generations of merchandising.

True came to Big Spring in November, 1964, from Baton Rouge, La., where he had been polished for a big store management. He has behind him 19 years of experience, every bit
