

Set For Cold Weather

Packing everything they have that's warm are Miss Sharon Creighton, left, and Miss Gloria Coker who will leave Sunday for Sweden where they will spend the coming year studying and, hopefully, working.

Local Women Leave Sunday For Sweden

How about that word Nyckelviksskolan? That's one of Swedish bits of information Miss Sharon Creighton and Miss Gloria Coker will learn in the coming year because that is the name of the art school where Sharon will be a student. Gloria is planning to enter the University of Stockholm where she hopes to learn to read and write as well as speak the language.

Why are they going? Maybe it's to beat the Texas summer heat, a desire to travel or to really enlarge upon their education. But whatever the reason the time is at hand for their Sunday departure from Midland.

The two young Texans will fly to Philadelphia where they will have an experience that few are afforded. Sharon will see for the first time since she was three years of age, two family friends; Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Bower, a couple who made a home with the Creightons during World War II. They have corresponded through the years. They are to meet the travelers and on Monday plan to take them to the World's Fair in New York. Tuesday the Bowers will see Sharon and Gloria off on the SS Bergensfjord, a Norwegian - American liner.

The two have been dreaming of going to Europe for at least a year with Germany as their objective. Both have been working in Dallas, Miss Creighton as an art teacher at Rosemont Elementary and later at George W. Truett Elementary; Miss Coker worked for the Republic Vanguard Insurance Co.

A mutual friend telephoned the young women, who were roommates, and introduced them over the wire to a Miss Ingela Faulkman whose hometown is Gothenburg, Sweden. To their surprise they found her to be living across the street from them.

It has been at Miss Faulkman's guidance that the clothing the Texans are taking is mostly woolen. . . she says that in Sweden the only thing one is concerned about, clothing wise, is keeping warm in it. Fashion and beauty must take a second or third place.

Miss Creighton, daughter of the Merrill Creightons, is a 1962 graduate of Baylor University where she majored in art and education. She also studied one summer at the University of Colorado at Boulder and has tried her hand at making papier-mache costume pins, a Mexican art, at which she was reasonably successful, commercially speaking, selling a number to La Pinata at Ruidoso this summer.

This year in Sweden will go toward further art study as Sharon will attend Nyckelviksskolan School of Art at Lidingso, a suburb of Stockholm. She applied for acceptance in the school through a friend, Miss Polly Dahl, who worked as a librarian and waitress to support herself while studying at the school. Incidentally, Miss Dahl is on the faculty of Texas Tech this year for the first time and will be teaching art.

Majoring in home and family life at Texas Tech, Miss Coker, younger daughter of the Lonnie Cokers was graduated in 1964 and for a while was a home economist trainee at Hemphill - Wells in Lubbock. She later moved to Dallas and joined the employ of Republic Vanguard Insurance Co., and during the State Fair at Dallas did double duty as a home economist for Lone Star Gas Co. at their exhibit. In Sweden the first order of business, or study, for Gloria will be to get into classes at the University of Stockholm and learn to speak the language. The classes are such that when the student feels she has mastered the language and can stand the test, she may leave the course without remaining to the semester end.

Both Sharon and Gloria hope to find employment. . . in fact, they feel it is a must. Sharon would like to work in a bakery and learn how to make all those good Swedish breads; Gloria would like work as a governess or tutor but the main thing they want is to have a little additional income while they are studying.

Membership Drive Started By B&P

Personal development and membership were the topics discussed during the Tuesday evening meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club. The group met at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant with Mrs. Cass Hill presiding.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. J. O. Hagood, Mrs. M. E. Ferguson, Mrs. L. S. Bonner and Mrs. Wendell Stasey.

For an upcoming membership drive, the 26 members were divided into four groups. Team captains are Miss Marie McDonald, Mrs. Bert Affleck, Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. George Dawson.

It was also announced that the district conference will be held in Midland on Sept. 11-12 at the Caravan Motor Hotel. During the civic participation session, the Big Spring club will conduct a panel discussion based on, "Educate to Communicate."

The group also put the name of Mrs. Hill in nomination for district director for the coming year, and plans were made to make a bid to have the 1966 convention scheduled for Big Spring.

Mrs. Elaine Clark was welcomed as a new member.

New Bride Honored

Mrs. Loyd Bigham, the former Judy Johnson, was complimented by friends Tuesday evening with a bridal shower at the Elbow home of Mrs. M. A. Dunagan.

Other hostesses for the party were Mrs. Alvin Huskey, Mrs. R. L. Arnold, Mrs. John Bronaugh, Mrs. A. J. Hooten, Mrs. Clint Miller and Mrs. Clyde Denton.

Thirty were served refreshments from a tea table that was appointed with crystal and silver. A centerpiece was fashioned by combining small kitchen items with flowers which were held in a flour sifter.

Anniversary Coffee Is Planned By WSCS

Plans for future activities and giving of reports from summer conferences and workshops held the interest of members of the First Methodist WSCS when they held the monthly meeting at the church Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Charles Beil read names of missionaries whose birthdays occur the next month and prayers were offered.

Announcement was made of the silver anniversary coffee to be held at the church on Sept. 14, from 9 until 12. Past presidents will be honored at this time.

A district workshop is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Aug. 19 at the church.

Mrs. Robert Hill and Mrs. Max Fitzhugh reported on the School of Missions at McMurry and the Sharon Steyer told of the Christian Outlook workshop she and Patty Haralson attended at Camp Butner. Sharon worked in Midland at the Latin American Center during the second week of the workshop and Patty was in Lubbock at the Wesley Foundation Center.

At the conclusion of the meeting the group gathered in Fellowship Hall where they brought baby gifts for little Sharon Kay Rucker who has recently been adopted by the Rev. and Mrs. Harold Rucker, assistant pastor of the church.

The coffee table was covered with a pink cloth fringed with white and the centerpiece was a mixed garden flowers held in a ceramic lamb container. Appointments were of copper.

TOPS Have Discussion

Roll call was answered with a report on weight lost or gained during the Tuesday evening meeting of the TOPS Pound Rebels. Mrs. Walter Goodwin presided when the club met in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building.

Mrs. Harold Bell led the group in their pledge, and Mrs. Edward Lee Rogers was welcomed as a guest.

Thirteen members were present. During the program session, weight losing therapy was discussed. It was noted that personal enthusiasm contributed to pounds lost, and that excess weight was a source of heart trouble.

The club is open for membership and interested persons are asked to attend the next meeting at the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company at 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday Bridge Winners Told

Six tables were in play during the Tuesday afternoon duplicate bridge games at the Big Spring Country Club.

The Howell Movement was in effect and the winners were Mrs. E. O. Ellington and Mrs. Rogers Hefley first; Mrs. Ayra McGann and Mrs. Joe Hayden, second; Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Ty Allen, third. Tying for fourth place were Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, Mrs. A. Swartz and Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. Fred Lutting.

Players were reminded that Friday would be Master Point day.

Pilgrimage Plans Made

Final plans for a Sept. 5 pilgrimage were made at the Tuesday evening meeting of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153. Mrs. LaVerne Rogers, noble grand, presided.

The pilgrimage is to include the IOOF homes at Ennis and Corsicana. Members are urged to make advance arrangements to attend and to bring picnic lunches.

During a further business discussion, Mrs. Ted Brown held a question and answer session following a talk on a school of instruction.

Mrs. Jones Lamar gave a reading entitled, "Let George Do It," and Mrs. Horace Jarrett read a poem on daily living.

Certificates of perfection for the unwritten work were presented to Mrs. Charles Boland and Mrs. Lois Hood.

MARIKO SAKAI

Exchange Student Is Complimented

Mariko Sakai of Kyoto, Japan, was the honoree for a party Tuesday evening at the Cosden Club where a hundred young people gathered to welcome the exchange student to Big Spring.

Hostesses for the affair were Margaret Zilke, Linda Franklin, Vicki Holland, Karen Crooker, Sydney Carr, Marcy Dement, Connie Carlton and Sue Burns.

Swimming and dancing provided entertainment for the evening and music was furnished by the Silhouette Dance Band.

Chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Zilke, with whom Mariko will make her home this school year, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Choate and Dr. H. T. Hansen.

Pictures were made of the festivities.

Coahomans Study At Smith Home

Scripture from Ephesians 6 was the basis of the program for members of the Coahomans Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service when they met Tuesday morning with Mrs. Bert Smith.

Mrs. Pete Thomas led an informal discussion on "Our part in our society, church and everyday life," after the opening prayer by Mrs. George Conner.

Mrs. J. W. Wood gave the purpose of the WSCS.

Plans were made to attend the district workshop in Big Spring First Methodist Church on Aug. 19.

The Aug. 24 meeting will be at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Virgil Fraser.

Refreshments were served to 11.

Vacations End

After vacationing with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Arrick, 1210 E. 18th, Mrs. Carl Oliver and Capt. and Mrs. D. G. Burris returned to their homes. Mrs. Oliver's husband is stationed at Stead AFB, Reno, Nev., and the Burris are stationed at Randolph AFB, San Antonio.

New Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Payne, 1404 Princeton, are the new parents of a daughter, Melissa Dawn, born Monday at the Howard County Hospital Foundation, weighing 8 pounds, 9 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark, Miami, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Payne, Big Spring. Great-grandmothers are Mrs. Morris Prager and Mrs. W. C. Payne, San Antonio.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Shopping Cart Helps Bright Inspiration

Dear Heloise:
I had an inspiration today! I turned the grocery shopping cart around before entering the check-out aisle.

Unloading was a cinch because the low, handle-less end was facing me.
Try it. You can reach everything in the cart much easier and with far less effort.
Mrs. Harold G. Huntington

Sugar, you deserve a pat on the back!
No more stretching across the handle, or having a HELOISE hard time reaching under that little inside basket-like gadget that many grocery carts have.
Thank ye kindly, ma'am!

Love,
Heloise

Dear Heloise:
The bottom drawer in my stove was jammed full of pans and lids, and sometimes I couldn't get the drawer out, when a lid or pan would catch.
I put up a curtain rod (about a yard long) on the wall close to the stove, and now put my lids behind this rod.

They fit between the wall and rod, and the knobs on the lids fit right on the rod and holds them.

Now I can pull out the drawer without getting so aggravated!
Irene Bradley

Dear Heloise:
I carry a small roll of cellophane tape, scratch pad, and a pen in my bag, so when I go visiting, and no one is there, I can write a note, tear off a piece of tape, and stick the note to the door.
This way, the note never gets lost.

DEAR ABBY

Need For An Escort

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I live alone and like it. I am a widow, 51, but am told I look much younger. My children are married and live elsewhere. I have an adequate income, my own car and travel occasionally. I am not "lonely" and live alone by choice. However, there are times when I wish to go places where ladies cannot go unescorted. This town is too small for an escort service. And the few local bachelors and widowers in my age group have let me know after a few dates that they have matrimony in mind. I do not wish to remarry. Where can I find a reliable escort when I need one? I would gladly pay a fee plus all the expenses, but I want it understood that everything would be on a strictly professional basis. Sign this.

"ESCORT WANTED"

DEAR WANTED: Unless you can afford to "import" a professional escort from the nearest city that has such a service, you will have to break down and ask one of the local matrimonial-minded men to escort you. Tell him you need an escort and nothing more. And don't offer to pay all the expenses and a fee besides, or you'll never get rid of him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband just came home from the barber shop and I almost broke into tears when I saw him. He went to a shop he always goes to, but his regular barber was busy, so he let one of the other barbers take him. All my husband asked for was a haircut, but this barber asked my husband if he minded if he "trimmed" his eyebrows a little bit. My husband said, "Go on." Well, he sure trimmed them! He cut nearly all his eyebrows off! There are only a few hairs left over each eye. I am just sick over this. I loved my husband's bushy eyebrows. He doesn't even look like the same man any more. Can anything be done while they are growing back? And what will he do in case they don't grow back?

IN TEARS

DEAR IN: In all probability his eyebrows will grow in just as luxurious as before. But in case they don't, your husband has a good case for a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: As an aging grandmother, and mother of three married children, I would like to commend your answer to the "Heartbroken" mother who was sad because her son-in-law had promised her daughter they could baptize their children in her religion, and then went back on his promise. You said, "Skip it. It's THEIR problem." I know how right you were because I, too, had a daughter whose husband took her away from her own religion. However, they are getting along fine and if religion is a problem to them, it's THEIR problem. When I think of how few years

I have left to enjoy my children and grandchildren, I overlook the problems that might estrange them from me. There have been times when I could have cheerfully choked my son-in-law, but that wouldn't bring my daughter back to the church she was reared in, so I mind my own business and pretend I don't see what's going on. I hope "Heartbroken" takes your advice and does the same.

Car Insurance Hike Protests Prove Futile

AUSTIN (AP) — Two of Texas' top labor leaders have been rebuffed in their effort to get the State Insurance Board to set aside recent increases in auto insurance premiums.

The board Tuesday denied the request of Hank Brown, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, and Roy Evans, secretary-treasurer of the labor organization, that it void the new rates.

Evans and Brown appeared before a July 29 board hearing, at which insurance industry spokesmen said the increase—averaging 13.4 per cent statewide on all classes of auto coverage—was justified by rising claim costs.

Attorneys for Brown and Evans said the commission should have considered investment income, as well as premium income, in setting rates. They also said too much of premiums go for company expenses.

The rates also are under attack in a district court suit here, filed by Dallas attorney Bert Bader, one of the attorneys who represented Brown and Evans before the board.

Higher Bread Prices Seen In Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's farm bill is headed for the House floor and a certain squall over the higher bread prices predicted if it passes.

"It would take all summer to explain why we took off the tax on furs and put it on bread," said Rep. Paul Findley, an Illinois Republican, in looking ahead to debate on the bill, probably beginning next week.

BELOW PANEL

Findley appeared before the Rules Committee Tuesday with a mink collar he said he borrowed, a loaf of bread and a 10-pound bag of flour to illustrate his attack on a provision increasing support for wheat growers.

Passage of the bill, he said, would bring a 2-cent hike in the cost of bread—roughly 10 per cent—and a 10 per cent increase in the cost of 10 pounds of flour.

Mink collars, by contrast, now cost 10 per cent less because Congress lifted the excise tax on furs, Findley noted.

The target of Findley's demonstration is a proposed increase of 50 cents in the certificates millers now pay farmers for each bushel of domestic wheat.

"BREAD TAX"

Several Republicans and some big city Democrats have labeled this a "bread tax" that would be passed on to the consumer. Findley called it "a war on poverty in reverse" because, he said, the poor are especially reliant on bread for their diet.

But Rep. B. F. Sisk, D-Calif., a member of the Rules Committee, said "the bread tax is a phony issue, as phony as a $3 bill."

And Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., a member of the Agriculture Committee, said the wheat section of the bill should boost the cost of wheat products seven-tenths of one cent.

This is not unreasonable, Purcell said, in that farmers have not received any benefit from the steady increase in the price of bread over the last 15 years.

... you'll like Wards

Since 1873 the guiding principle of Montgomery Ward & Company has been "Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back." We continue to adhere to this policy. Such a policy is made possible by both the quality of our merchandise and the basic honesty and reasonableness of our customers. In addition, much of the merchandise we sell today, such as tires, automotive accessories, household goods and appliances, is sold with specific guarantees. These guarantees are an important index of quality. They help the customer to select between different grades of similar merchandise and indicate what we believe satisfied customers may reasonably expect of our Company. Whenever Wards advertises a guarantee for a particular product in newspapers, catalogs, or other media, the Company will live up to the guarantee as advertised. We firmly believe in the ability of our store managers to deal fairly and honestly with our customers on all guarantees. Our policy of "satisfaction guaranteed" is, and shall remain, paramount with Wards. Only those sales which result in complete customer satisfaction are considered by us to be profitable transactions for Wards. You'll like Wards.

AF Probing Silo Disaster

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Deep in an underground silo sheathing a Titan 2 missile something went awry with the safety devices.

An explosion and flames thundered through the "gun barrel" of the missile complex Monday afternoon, killing 53 civilian workers.

"These things are not supposed to happen," said Capt. Douglas Wood, public information officer for Little Rock Air Force Base, headquarters for the 18 missile sites in this region.

AF PROBE

"We have many safety features, but the fact that it did happen contradicts these safety factors."

Heading an Air Force investigation ordered by President Johnson is Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert.

Zuckert and Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., were due to arrive at the Little Rock airport today and head to the complex 16 miles northwest of Searcy.

An Air Force investigation team also is continuing its probe, begun after about 100 rescue workers finished the task of removing bodies from the smoke-filled 155-foot-deep silo.

There were only two survivors of the blast and flash fire which apparently erupted somewhere on or around the second or third levels of the nine-level complex where the workers were renovating the site.

WARHEAD REMOVED

The missile, loaded with liquid fuel, was in the silo but did not burn. There was no danger of a nuclear explosion, Wood said, because the warhead had been removed while the construction crew was working on the complex. The Titan 2 is America's mightiest ballistic missile.

Rains Ease East Drouth

By The Associated Press
Heavy rain has broken the two-month long drouth in Maine and eased conditions in other parts of New England. Thunderstorms rumbled across the region Tuesday with heavy rain, hail and strong winds in some sections. More than two inches of rain fell in central parts of Maine. Showers had hit most drouth areas of the Northeast since Sunday. Amherst, Mass., was doused with 4.5 inches of rain in 24 hours.

MORE RAINFALL
Thundershowers continued today along sections of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and in Western mountain areas. Thunderstorms were reported in scattered parts of the Southeast coast. Nearly 2.5 inches of rain splashed Milton, in the Florida Panhandle, in a six-hour period. About two-thirds of an inch of rain Tuesday night helped ease the big forest fire in Washington County, Maine.

Thunderstorms that struck areas in the West Tuesday were accompanied by gusty winds in some areas, including Tonopah, Nev., and Pocatello, Idaho. The wind squalls stirred up clouds of blowing dust across parts of the Southwest desert.

Cool air covered the Great Lakes region, with temperatures dropping into the 40s and 50s. Clear skies prevailed in most of the region. Early morning readings ranged from 40 at Alpena and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to 93 at Blythe, Calif. The 55 at Chicago tied the record low mark for Aug. 11.

Showers Dampen Areas In Texas

By The Associated Press
Light showers dampened the parched south and southwest areas of Texas Tuesday night and today.

Temperatures over most of the state remained at the sizzling level. Presidio had the high reading of 104 Tuesday, followed by 103 at Kermit. A long-range forecast predicted more of the same.

The Weather Bureau forecast thundershowers for a third of South Texas and for a fifth of the area falling west of the Pecos River this afternoon. Skies were clear to cloudy.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 61 at Dalhart to 80 at Laredo.

Freddie Slack Dead At 55

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Freddie Slack, bandleader and jazz pianist who pleased audiences with boogie-woogie tunes in the 1940s, is dead at 55.

His landlady found the musician's body in his apartment Tuesday night. Death was attributed to natural causes.

Slack popularized "Mr. Five by Five" and "Cow Cow Boogie" and had arranged for such orchestras as Jimmy Dorsey's, Ben Pollack's and the Will Bradley-Ray McKinley group.

He was a native of La Crosse, Wis.

Extra Police 'No Solution'

DALLAS (AP) — Attempts to cut the Dallas crime rate by "saturation enforcement" in trouble areas have failed, City Manager Elgin Cruik told the City Council Monday.

Since the policy of putting extra-duty police squads in areas where high crime incidence began last year, $300,000 has been spent on the project to pay for their overtime, Cruik said.

"We didn't interfere with crime after the first surge of action," Cruik said. "Squad after squad came in without making any arrests."

Schools Get Safety Check

Safety gas inspections of all public school buildings were completed during June, according to a report received by the board of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District, in session Tuesday night.

The report was given by Homer M. Ward, city gas inspector.

In other business, the board formally approved the rate of 60 per cent of true value for tax assessing purposes. This ratio, now in effect, already had been determined but not entered into the records.

Received an analysis of tax collections from the tax department showing that, for the first 11 months of the current fiscal year (ending Aug. 31) the total received was $1,763,272.92. This represented 95.8 per cent of the tax roll, as against a 95.1 per cent collection at the same time a year ago.

Received a report from Novis Womack, tax appraiser, new construction coming into the district; and another report from John Burgess, city attorney, on plans for a sale the first Tuesday in September of properties on which judgment had been taken for tax delinquency.

Crop Volume Peak Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many crop production records will fall this year if the weather is favorable this month and next.

The Agriculture Department's August report on crop progress forecasts the total crop volume at 4 per cent above the record set in 1963. It would be 16 per cent larger than the 1957-59 average and 6 per cent larger than last year.

Record production is indicated for corn and livestock feed grains, soybeans, rice and hay. The feed grain harvest could increase grain surpluses, despite the fact that growers are set to collect more than $1 billion for holding down planting. A smaller 1964 grain crop reduced surpluses.

Big factors in the production upsurge were favorable weather and advances in farm technology. The composite index of yields per acre of 28 leading crops was put at 122 per cent of the 1957-59 average, 7 per cent above last year's yield level and 5 per cent above the previous record high yields set in 1963.

Other crops indicated to be larger than last year include wheat, oats, flaxseed, sorghum grain, dry beans, peanuts, potatoes, sweet potatoes, hops, peaches, grapes and pecans. Smaller crops were forecast for barley, rye, dry peas, tobacco, sugar cane and beets, apples, pears and cherries.

Grain Sorghum Harvest For State Due Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department forecasts that the 1965 Texas grain sorghum harvest will be almost a quarter of a billion bushels, or 30 million bushels more than last year's crop.

The agency predicted the state's farmers will produce 248,262,000 bushels compared with 218,864,000 bushels last year's poor season.

The state's peanut harvest was estimated at 253,800,000 pounds, about 17 million pounds above last year.

The rice forecast was for 19,866,000 hundredweight, the same as a month ago and a slight increase over last year's harvest of 19,635,000 cwt.

Sugar beet harvest in Texas was predicted to be 560,000 tons, same as a month ago.

Corn harvest for the state was predicted at 19,371,000 bushels. The estimate of wheat production declined slightly in a month, with the new figure 73,013,000 and last month's 73,091,000.

Oat production was set at 22,375,000 bushels.

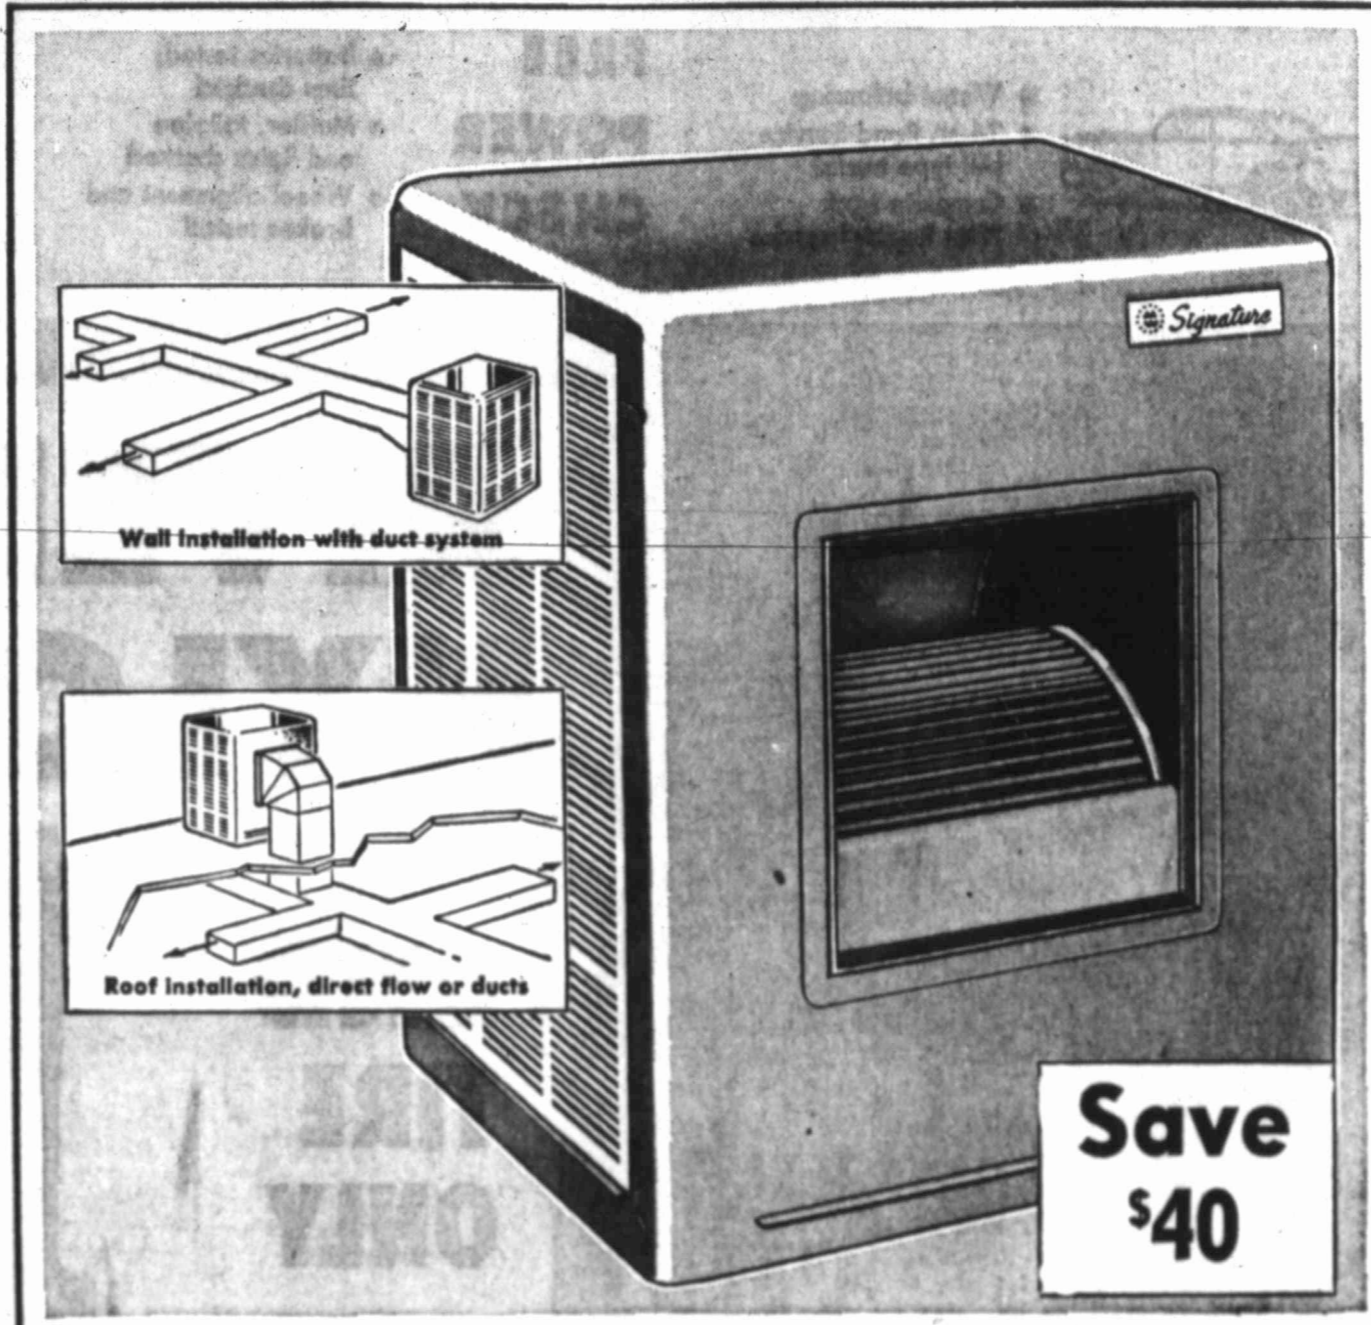

The state pecan output was estimated at 40 million pounds, and sweet potato harvest at 1,050,000 hundredweight.

Poll Tax Suit Answers Due

Officials of Texas, Virginia and Alabama were examining government suits to abolish the poll tax today to determine what action to take.

In Texas, President Johnson's home state, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said he would file an answer after the necessary study and preparation.

Similar reactions were expressed in Virginia and Alabama.

The suits were filed by the Justice Department Tuesday, the same day federal examiners began registering Negroes to vote in nine Southern counties and parishes in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

VOTERS REGISTER
A Civil Service Commission spokesman in Washington said that 1,144 Negroes registered to vote on the first day of federally supervised registration under the 1965 voting rights law.

Both the registration and the suits to abolish the poll tax are designed to make it easier for Negroes to vote.

At Austin, Tex., two federal attorneys delivered to the federal district court clerk a petition signed by U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach charging the 63-year-old poll tax requirement served only to limit voting rights, particularly those of Negroes.

Both Carr and Gov. John B. Connally said they wanted to study the petition before commenting.

DEFEND LAWS
Carr said last week, "It's my duty to defend the laws of Texas, and in the event the U.S. attorney general challenges their validity we will meet him in the courtroom."

Virginia officials generally had little to say after a similar suit was filed at Richmond. It claimed the $1.50-per-year tax was designed solely to restrict the electorate, particularly Negro voters.

Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. said recently the poll tax kept Virginia's elections clean by making sure only bona fide residents voted, and that a substitute would have to be found if the poll tax was struck down.

"When the people of Virginia want to repeal it, they have the right," he said.

Gov. George C. Wallace had no immediate comment after the filing of a suit in Montgomery, Ala. Other sources also were unavailable for comment and Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers was out of town.

Alabama's poll tax is $1.50 per year and retroactive for two years.

SIMILAR REQUEST
In all three states the Justice Department asked that the cases be heard as soon as possible by three-judge courts. A similar request was made when the department filed suit against Mississippi's poll tax Saturday.

In the Voting Rights Act, Congress directed the attorney general to test the constitutionality of poll taxes. The act also provided for federal examiners to register Negroes.

The Civil Service Commission spokesman in Washington gave this breakdown of the county registration totals in each state:

Alabama: Hale 225, Marengo 97, Dallas 106, Lowndes 48.

Louisiana: (parish) East Carroll 125, East Feliciana 132, Plaquemines 69.

Mississippi: Le Flore 113, Madison 209.

MORE REGISTERED
The spokesman said the new registration total represented a 65 per cent increase over the 1,764 Negroes previously on the registration rolls in the nine counties.

Federal registrars were not sent into Georgia. But Negroes continued to register in large numbers at Americus, scene of recent racial troubles which resulted in one death. In three days 1,004 Negroes registered, doubling Sumter County's Negro voting population.

Widow Bail Ruling Near

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Circuit Judge Harvie DuVal was expected to rule today on whether to release Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Powers, on bond before their trial on first degree murder charges in the death of Mrs. Mossler's husband, Jacques.

Judge DuVal told attorneys to avoid histrionics in their arguments today and said: "All I need is the facts."

At a hearing Tuesday, the 21-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mossler, Rita, testified that her mother, 46, became "hysterical" and "talked out of her head" after finding her 60-year-old millionaire husband murdered in the family apartment June 30, 1964.

"There was a blanket on the floor and it was apparent there was someone underneath it," Rita said in describing when her mother and three other Mossler children returned to the apartment about 4 a.m. "Mother rushed over and said, 'It's Daddy.' We didn't know what to do. Mother was hysterical."

Rita also mentioned trips to Europe, Nassau and Sun Valley in which Powers, 23, accompanied the family. The state has charged that Powers and Mrs. Mossler wanted to get rid of Mossler to extend an alleged love affair.

Inventor Of Tire For Tractor Dies

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Jesse William Shields, 78, inventor of the low-pressure tire for farm tractors, died Monday after a long illness. Shields, a research engineer and government consultant, also is credited with invention of rubber-brushed tracks used on U.S. and British tanks in World War II, a bullet-hole repair unit, and floats to transport tanks in the Okinawa landing in 1945. He was born in Jackson County, Kan.

Ex-IRS 'Termite Expert' Is Tax Court Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles R. Simpson, President Johnson's nominee for the U.S. Tax Court, is a cheerful, balding former law school faculty member who likes baseball, historical novels and hard work. He's been blind since early boyhood.

In a way, Simpson explained in an interview, his handicap had its advantages.

"You know that you have to do not as well, but better," he said. "So you work harder, try harder, to do a better job. I've tried to do that all my career."

CAN OVERCOME
"We've all had problems to overcome in life at one time or another. It's a question of whether you're going to let this thing beat you."

The President announced Simpson's nomination to the 16-member court Tuesday. Simpson, 44, now heads the legislation and regulations division in the general counsel's office of the Internal Revenue Service.

His government career began in 1952 when he left a faculty post at Harvard University Law School to join the IRS. He moved steadily up the ladder. Last May, he received the Justice Tom C. Clark Award for outstanding career lawyers in federal service.

An IRS job he'll never forget was one of his first, Simpson said. "It dealt with the deductibility of losses caused by termites."

"TERMITE EXPERT"
"For a time," he added with a laugh, "I was the termite expert around the IRS."

about whether I should be employed," he related. "The person who had the power decided that I should." That person was Charles Davis, then chief counsel of the IRS and now a Chicago attorney.

"When they hired me, they asked my wife if she'd go to work there, too. She said yes." Simpson's wife, Ruth, trained as a nurse, thus began a new career as her husband's private secretary.

Puzzle of Tuesday, Aug. 10, Solved

Solons Ask Russia Pay Dues In U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg is finding in Congress strong opposition to any abandonment of efforts to force Russia to pay United Nations peace-keeping assessments.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said that as he interprets the sentiments of his colleagues they are "getting real tired" of temporizing on the issue.

France and 11 other nations also are in arrears on peace-keeping assessments. But congressional and other U.S. critics of the situation usually limit their fire to the Soviet Union.

DIRKSEN QUIZZED

Dirksen, who conferred with Goldberg privately, was asked at a news conference Tuesday if the administration was retreating from its position that the Russians must pay or lose their vote in the U.N. General Assembly.

He replied that so far as he was concerned he was thinking in terms of retaliation rather than retreat.

"We can foreshorten our contributions and aid to the U.N. and its agencies," he said. "After all, money talks. We are free agents to do as we choose."

Dirksen added he thinks the United States should call for a showdown in the United Nations.

"NOT ACCURATE"

"There is no use kidding ourselves or kidding the world," he said.

Goldberg described as "not accurate" a published report that he would agree to shelve Article 19 of the U.N. Charter which says countries two years arrears in payments shall have no vote in the General Assembly. The report said that after the Soviet were allowed to vote they would make a voluntary contribution to the peace-keeping fund.

"This matter is still under discussion and our position will be explained fully and clearly when the committee of 33 convenes on Aug. 16," Goldberg said. The 33-nation committee was set up to study the no dues-no vote situation.

State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. position on Article 19 was under review.

"WONT PAY"

Russia, France and the other 11 nations have refused to pay for U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo, the Middle East or both. The 11 are Belgium, South Africa, Yemen, Cuba, Byelorussia, the Ukraine, Albania, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and Romania.

The Soviet Union is about $60 million in arrears and would have to pay about $22 million to get off the two-year list covered by Article 19. France owes about $16 million and would have to pay about $1.5 million to get off the list.

Arts Collection Damage Heavy In Blaze At U.T.

AUSTIN (AP) — Firemen hampered by choking smoke and cramped quarters, took 2 1/2 hours Tuesday to gain control of flames which spread through four upper floors of the 27-story University of Texas main building.

There were no serious injuries, but fire, smoke and water apparently destroyed part of the school's valuable Hoblitzelle Theater Arts Collection.

Dr. Frederick J. Hunter, drama professor in charge of the collection, said there was heavy damage to the Robert Downing collection, including books, portraits and letters of the Broadway stage manager, and to items once owned by Norman Bel Geddes, former New York designer.

Collections of escape artist Harry Houdini and P. T. Barnum, circus magnate, also may have been damaged, Hunter said.

Regent Chairman W. W. Heath said it would take several days to determine the extent of the damages, but he did not think the library collections were damaged extensively. He said the school had a $100,000 deductible fire insurance policy.

The fire apparently started on the 20th floor and was first spotted by a secretary, Mrs. Pat Morrison. She said it apparently was touched off by a spark from a welder's torch.

Firemen carried hoses and 45-pound oxygen tanks up 20 flights of stairs to put out the flames, which spread through the walls to the 19th, 21st and 22nd floors.

At least two firemen, Harold Lundren and Charles Taylor, were overcome by smoke and hospitalized.

"The smoke was so thick you couldn't see a thing," one fireman said. "It was crowded, we were back-to-back."

The building, erected in the 1930s, is a campus landmark. Visitors can see for miles beyond Austin from the observation tower.

YMCA Safe Is Stolen

A safe containing $100 in coin and currency, three checks to the YMCA totaling about $90, and several blank, but signed, checks, was stolen from the YMCA building at Eighth and Owens late Monday night or early Tuesday morning, according to city detectives. The burglars also carried off about $5 from the cash box.

Detectives said footprints were found in a flower bed on the east side of the building, and an outer screen nearby was found loose, but the window was locked. They said the safe had evidently been rolled into a hallway and to a door in the north end of the building. The door can be opened from the inside, detectives said. Evidently the safe was spirited off from the north doorway, and possibly carried away in a truck or car. No arrests have been made in connection with the burglary.

The YMCA janitor, Lonnie Wrightsil, noticed the absence of the safe early Tuesday morning, and called police.

'Upside-Down' Dollar Kept

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — George Marriage, 65, a grocery store operator in Rapid City, set aside a dollar bill that he received in his grocery store several years ago.

It was a 1935 series E $1 bill with the serial numbers, treasury seal and signatures of the treasurer and secretary of the treasury printed upside down.

Marriage's son, Joseph, 33, of East Lansing, intends to have an expert appraiser look at the bill some day. One coin collector declined to guess a value.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♣

A clever false card by West induced South, the declarer at three no trump, to alter his plans and thereby sign his own death warrant on the deal.

West opened his fourth best club and East put up the king which drove out the declarer's ace. A diamond was led and, when West followed with the seven, the king was played from dummy.

The closed hand was reentered with the king of hearts in order to lead another diamond. It was declarer's intention to make a safety play in the suit, by permitting the opponents to win the second diamond trick as cheaply as possible. This protects against West's having four diamonds for, if East shows out, declarer is able to run the balance of the suit by finessing dummy's jack on the next round, and then dropping West's queen under the ace.

When the second diamond was led, West anticipated his opponent very neatly by following suit with the queen. It now appeared to South that the safety play was unnecessary, inasmuch as the diamonds were behaving so well. He accordingly covered the queen with North's ace. When East showed out a moment later, South regretted the greedy impulse that influenced him to alter his original plan.

With no side entry to the dummy, declarer found that he was limited to three diamond tricks, and he subsequently fell one short of his goal. If he sticks to his original plan, he can take four diamonds, two hearts, two clubs, and one spade for nine tricks.

Perhaps the best strategy is to lead a small diamond from the dummy at trick two. Inasmuch as declarer intends to duck the second diamond, there is no need to make a play from his own hand, and temptation can be avoided completely. When East shows out, West wins a cheap trick; however, there is no damaging return that he can make, and when South regains the lead he picks up the remaining diamonds by taking the delayed finesse against West's queen.

Lingering Mysteries Drape Death Vessel

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Seven Seas, a swaybacked old banana boat whose last cargo was murder, has been unburied of one mystery.

But two others remain: Who has jurisdiction in the case, and what happened to the ship's cook?

Federal authorities said a crewman picked up Tuesday in the Gulf Stream in the Seven Seas' skiff told them he shot the captain and four shipmates after an argument with the skipper about Fidel Castro.

DEFENDS CASTRO

Roberto Ramirez, 35, a former Cuban lobsterman, told officials he had defended the Cuban leader and that Capt. Rogelio Diaz threatened to turn him over to anti-Castro refugees when the Seven Seas reached Tampa, where it was headed for repairs after leaving Miami.

CREWMAN DROWNS

Tragedy Stalks Sinatra's Yacht

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass. (AP) — "The boat flipped over and Jim yelled 'I can't swim.' Bob gave him the life preserver — the only one. It was Bob that saved Jim's life."

Charyl Navin, 21, of Lincoln, Neb., was describing the drowning of Robert Goldfarb, 23, of New Rochelle, N.Y., after he had saved the life of a fellow crewman aboard the yacht on which Frank Sinatra and actress Mia Farrow are vacationing.

The chartered, 168-foot yacht left Vineyard Haven Harbor late Tuesday and headed for Newport, R.I. It ran into thick fog, however, and remained anchored early today in the mouth of Rhode Island's Narragansett Bay.

Goldfarb, Miss Navin, the yacht steward James O. Grimes and Margaret Whittemore, 21, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., were rowing a small boat back to the yacht when the drowning occurred early Tuesday.

HEAVY WAVES

"We were out about 15 minutes," Miss Navin said. "There were heavy waves and a strong wind and the water began coming in over the stern. Then the boat sank, right under us."

She said after the boat was tossed over in the waves, Goldfarb became exhausted trying to keep Grimes close to the boat and afloat.

She and Miss Whittemore decided to swim to the yacht. "We couldn't see any lights on shore but the yacht was brightly lit."

The girls said they must have been in the choppy water for nearly an hour before they could get close enough to the yacht, the Southern Breeze, to shout for help.

"WE SCREAMED"

"We screamed and a launch was sent out to pick us up. And then they went to the dinghy and got Jim," Miss Whittemore said.

Goldfarb was not found. He was a graduate of the New York Maritime Academy at Fort Schuyler, N.Y. He leaves a widow.

The yacht skipper, Capt. William Cannon of Houston, Tex., said Sinatra and his guests were "shocked and appalled at the tragic event."

Sinatra was not available for comment.

The Southern Breeze left Newport a little more than a week ago for what was reported to have been a month-long trip along the New England coast.

Viet Relief Unit Reaches Besieged Camp

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A large Vietnamese relief force reached the besieged special forces camp at Duc Co tonight after fighting its way for three days through Viet Cong ambushes and roadblocks, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Despite the arrival of the government relief force, the 67-day-old siege of the camp near the Cambodian border was still on. The spokesman said the Viet Cong moved in behind the relief force and cut Route 19 in several places. It is the main east-west highway across the central highlands and the only land route from Duc Co to safe territory.

HEAVY CASUALTIES

Both government forces and the Viet Cong have suffered heavy casualties in the fighting in and around Duc Co in the past eight days.

U.S. sources in Pleiku, the corps headquarters 30 miles northwest of Duc Co, said "We have been waiting for weeks for permission to clear the Viet Cong out of this natural highway from Cambodia into Viet Nam. We have enough forces there now to try and do the job."

The road column reportedly met little resistance as it moved into Duc Co in heavy fighting Tuesday and Monday. There were many casualties and the Viet Cong succeeded in splitting the armored part of the column from an infantry task force.

CLEAR AREA

The airstrip at Duc Co was still judged unusable late today, U.S. sources said. There were hopes that by Thursday the relief forces would have cleared a sufficient area around the strip to permit supplies to be sent in. Officials reported these other raids into North Viet Nam today:

YOUTH COWERS

A 17-year-old Honduran crewman, Elvin Burywise, who said he had seen one of the shootings, was found in the stifling darkness of the vessel's anchor chain locker where he had cowered for 16 hours. The seaman said the ship apparently had been headed towards Cuba after the shootings until the diesel engine stopped.

Meanwhile, the Seven Seas lay at a Coast Guard dock in Key West, where she had been towed. A grimy Panamanian flag flapped from her stern. Behind the wheel-house a pair of faded dungarees and a T-shirt were pinned to a clothes line, long since dried in the tropical sun.

Antimerger Case Settled

WASHINGTON (AP) — An antimerger case has been settled with Federated Department Stores Inc. agreeing not to acquire any store for five years.

The Federal Trade Commission had charged that the merger of Cincinnati-based Federated and Bullock's, Inc., of Los Angeles, violated the antimerger law.

Before acquiring the 24-store Bullock chain, Federated operated 59 stores, fourth in the nation in annual sales volume behind Sears Roebuck and Co., J. C. Penney Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co.

Texas stores operated by Federated include Foley's in Houston and San Antonio and Sanger-Harris in Dallas.

Removal Waiver Signed By Texan

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A 21-year-old Burk Burnett, Tex., man has signed a waiver of removal before a U.S. commissioner on a charge of escaping from the Beaumont, Tex. Army hospital.

Billy Wayne Reese was arrested in Colorado Springs Thursday after a traffic accident. Arrested with him was Mrs. Patricia Lee Akins, 20, of El Paso.

Hot Wire Contact Kills East Texan and said they left two large fires.

Vietnamese government casualties climbed last week, while those of the Viet Cong dropped, according to a summary released by U.S. military authorities; but twice as many Viet Cong dead were reported.

The summary reported 940 government casualties during the week ending Aug. 7 as compared with 815 the week before.

Viet Cong casualties were put at 585; they were reported as 857 the previous week.

265 KILLED

On the government side the breakdown was 265 killed, 575 wounded and 100 missing or captured.

The Viet Cong breakdown was 525 killed and 60 captured. The announcement said 20 Americans were killed in action during the week, 26 were wounded, and two were missing

Urban Development Agency Bill Due Final Senate OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill to create a cabinet department of housing and urban development comes up for a final vote in the Senate today. Passage is considered certain. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield won an agreement to limit the remaining debate on the bill which he said should bring passage by mid-afternoon. Sponsors estimated about 55 to 60 of the 100 senators would support the high-priority administration measure in the show-down test.

Singer-Actor Busy For A 'Lazy Man'

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "And they call me lazy!" Dean Martin said with scorn. The allegedly lazy singer-actor was breezing through his third film of this year and preparing to continue his string of television shows, which will total 30 in the coming season. "Not bad for a lazy guy," he muttered.

He happened on a thought that seemed to give him pleasure. "You know," he said, "when Jerry Lewis and I broke up, he said I wouldn't last two years in show business. Now what happens? He gets dropped by Paramount!" SIGNED UP It should be added that his ex-partner was quickly picked up by Columbia, which signed him for a new movie, "Three on a Couch."

When Martin and Lewis split nine years ago, the wise crowd figured Dean would suffer from the breach. They didn't figure on the resourcefulness of the former Steubenville, Ohio, welterweight boxer. He has proven fast on his feet. He demonstrates that in his new film, "The Silencers," in which he plays undercover agent Matt Helm. It's reported that Dean has enough dolls in the spy spoof to make James Bond seem like a monk.

Why is he undertaking a full season of television when he obviously is prospering in films? SCOFFS AT IT "Why not?" he countered. "All this talk about how tough television is. Baloney. You know how long it takes me to do an hour television show? Four hours. Yeah, I mean it: Four hours! That's actual working time."

"I go to the studio at one in the afternoon on Sunday and I'm home at eight in the evening. I knocked off a show like that last Sunday, right in the middle of this picture. And that morning I had myself a round of golf!" The Martin method leaves preparation of the show up to TV creators who understand his style in music and comedy. By the time Dean arrives, the script and songs are set, he reviews them briefly, then does a run-through. "When we started out, we did a dress rehearsal, then sat

GM Cleared In Death Suit

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — General Motors has been cleared of responsibility for the performance of a 1960 rear-engine Corvair involved three years ago in a double highway fatality. A Santa Clara County Superior Court jury ruled Tuesday in favor of the defendant, General Motors, the world's largest car manufacturer.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Doreen Collins of San Jose, Calif., sought $400,000 on the contention a faulty 1960 Corvair caused an accident which resulted in the deaths of her daughter, and her fiancé.

Mrs. Collins, 39, charged that "defective design" of the Corvair's rear-swing axle caused it to go out of control and collide with a truck Sept. 13, 1962, near Merced, Calif.

Her attorney said the verdict was the first in 500 lawsuits across the country — representing $150 million in claims — involving Corvairs manufactured between 1960 and 1964.

Life In Estonia Called Above Level Of Moscow

TALLINN, Estonia (AP) — This is perhaps the one city in the Soviet Union where the visitor may find it hard to tell the residents from Scandinavian tourists. Abstract art, taboo in Moscow, is shown here. Residents can tune in Finnish television for Western news, films and ideas.

A new ferry line was opened this year to Helsinki, Finland. Tallinn is a city of old, winding cobblestone streets built on a hill overlooking the sea. It looks more like the old cities of Western Europe than like Russia.

In the Gloria Restaurant, perhaps the closest thing to a Western night club in the Soviet Union, the men wear stylish, dark Western suits and the girls smart cocktail dresses. They do the Twist.

There are four modern cafes in town, all with Scandinavian furniture, that have made Moscow newspapers often write articles with the theme, "Why can't we have cafes like they do in Tallinn?"

Soviet Offer Has Proviso

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Semyon K. Tsarapkin said today the Soviet Union is prepared to sign a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons regardless of the Viet Nam war. Tsarapkin, head of the Soviet delegation at the 17-nation disarmament conference, told a press luncheon the war remains an obstacle in the negotiations.

But he stressed that the Soviet Union would sign a nuclear non-dissemination treaty at any time, provided the treaty explicitly bars West Germany from direct or indirect access to nuclear weapons. The treaty draft has been proposed by the Western Powers.

when you buy a used car
here it is!

25 MONTHS WARRANTY

We like to think that we offer you something more than a promise at our OK lot. Here's why. A good number of our used vehicles wear the OK tag. It means that those particular cars carry our 25-month Quality OK Warranty. In writing. Here's what our OK Warranty means: If there are any parts or labor bills during the first 30 days of normal use, we'll pay half. Naturally, this doesn't include items like tires and tubes, glass, radio or air conditioning—but it does take in everything else needed to keep your car in running

QUALITY OF USED CAR DEALER WARRANTY

This Warranty is hereby agreed by the undersigned Dealer (herein called the "Dealer") to be in force for the term of _____ months.

It is understood by both parties hereto that the Dealer represents that the Vehicle has been inspected, repaired and reconditioned in accordance with the terms of this warranty at the time of sale, and, in the event of mechanical failure of the Vehicle, the Dealer agrees to follow:

1. Subject to the provisions and conditions hereinafter set forth, the Dealer will pay 50% of the parts and labor charges for any repairs or adjustments necessary to keep the Vehicle in serviceable condition within the period of the warranty, provided that the repairs are made in our shop at the Dealer's regular retail price and that the remaining 50% is paid in cash by the Purchaser, and that the total amount of any such repairs or adjustments under any one vehicle warranty shall not exceed _____.

2. This Warranty is limited to the vehicle only and not by the manufacturer of the Vehicle.

3. This Warranty is void if the Vehicle is used for racing or any other purpose not intended for the use of the Vehicle.

4. This Warranty is void if the Vehicle is used for any purpose other than the use of the Vehicle as a means of personal transportation, and if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended.

5. This Warranty is void if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended, and if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended.

6. This Warranty is void if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended, and if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended.

7. This Warranty is void if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended, and if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended.

8. This Warranty is void if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended, and if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended.

9. This Warranty is void if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended, and if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended.

10. This Warranty is void if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended, and if the Vehicle is used for any purpose for which it is not designed or intended.

condition. And if you need work or parts during the next two years we'll pay the first 50% of each bill necessary to keep the car in serviceable condition, provided that the repairs are made in our shop at our regular retail prices and that you pay the rest in cash.

So, if you want something more than a promise when you buy used transportation, our OK used car lot is the place to come. Stop in soon and see all our OK cars and other outstanding values.

MEDICARE AND SOCIAL SECURITY: 9 ... Health Benefits For The Needy

By JOHN TROAN NEA Special Writer

The health benefits provided by the new Social Security Medicare law have been likened to a three-layered cake.

The basic layer is what people call "Medicare." With funds collected from Social Security taxes, it offers certain hospital, nursing - home and other health benefits to persons 65 and older.

Layer No. 2 is the supplemental health - insurance program which provides additional benefits, including coverage of regular doctor bills, on an optional basis to persons past 65 who agree to split the $6-a-month premium with Uncle Sam.

ORDER BOOK

All the valuable information contained in this series, PLUS additional details and charts are offered to you in a new 88-page book for permanent reference. To order a copy, send name, address and $1 to "Medicare" c/o Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 489, Dept. 79721, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10919.

The third layer offers free health benefits to the needy and the near-needy. It embraces what is now known as the Kerr-Mills program of "medical assistance for the aged" as well as health benefits available to regular recipients of public assistance (welfare).

FINANCED JOINTLY

This free care is financed jointly by the U. S. Treasury and the states. In some cases, counties and local communities also chip in money.

All states provide health benefits for recipients of "old-age assistance," a form of relief available to generally needy persons past 65. In addition, all but six states — Alaska, Georgia, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio and Texas — have put into effect so-called Kerr-Mills programs to care for the "medically indigent." These are persons past 65 who aren't poor enough to rate regular welfare checks yet can't afford to pay their sick bills.

In effect, the Kerr-Mills programs amount to "medical relief." They are administered by state, county and city welfare agencies, and they have nothing to do with Social Security as such.

PROGRAMS VARY

Programs for the "medically indigent" vary from state to state. All provide some hospital care. Some also cover certain doctor bills, some drugs, some care in a nursing home or other patient's own home and even such things as eyeglasses and false teeth.

Eligibility rules also differ. For instance, up to now, in some counties of Maryland an elderly person with an income exceeding $1,080 a year could not qualify but in Louisiana he might have an annual income as high as $3,000, and still get "medical assistance."

The ceiling on assets also varies. So does the definition of assets. Examples: Massachusetts disregards an elderly person's life insurance policy in figuring his assets but most states calculate the cash surrender value. California discounts any auto needed for transportation "regardless of market value" but Idaho specifies a "popular - priced car" and Hawaii sets a flat $400 limit. Iowa exempts "tools or equipment necessary for pursuit of an occupation," and Colorado discounts $200 worth of "working animals."

OWN RULES

States still may set their own rules concerning assets. But Congress now has jiggled the

Appropriation For Webb Moves Another Step

Money for new construction at Webb Air Force Base moved along the legislative path yesterday. The House of Representatives in Washington completed action on a military construction appropriations bill, which included $1,342,000 for various projects at the local base. Congressman George Mahon advised of the action.

Included in the programming are new flight training facilities, an NCO open mess and warehouse facilities. Also docketed is rehabilitation work on various buildings for student officer quarters.

The money bill still needs Senate approval and presidential signature. The Senate-House, however, had already reached an agreement through conference committee.

Jump Laid To Discord

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A man who tried to escape from the Moroccan Embassy by jumping out of a second-story window was identified by police today as Mohammed Selim Ali, a Palestinian employe at the embassy.

Moroccan Ambassador Ahmed Ben Abdou said the incident Sunday resulted from personal differences among embassy employes.

Ali, 30, broke a leg in the jump. He was turned over to police and was taken to a hospital.

Police said Ali registered no complaint against the embassy.

Kashmir Sets Up Regime

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — A provisional national government of Kashmir has been formed inside the Indian sector of Kashmir, Radio Pakistan said today.

The announcement was first made by Radio Sada Kashmir, the voice of the anti-Indian Kashmir Revolutionary Council. Members of the provisional government were not identified.

Radio Pakistan said it appealed to the United Nations to help "the people of Kashmir in their fight for liberation."

India sent more troops into the Himalayan state Monday, reporting that Pakistan had sent hundreds of agents into the Indian sector "to create chaos and indulge in widespread sabotage."

Creighton Hale, Ex-Actor, Dead

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Former actor Creighton Hale, who starred in silent films with actresses Pearl White and Lillian Gish, died here Monday at a sanitarium, friends reported. He was 77.

Technical Bugs Removed From Gemini 5 Craft

HOUSTON (AP)—Space engineers solved several minor problems in Gemini 5 over the weekend and then said the target launch date of Aug. 19 still looked good.

Reports had circulated that the firing of the Titan 2 rocket booster with astronaut Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad Jr. aboard would be delayed.

One perplexing difficulty was in the oxygen and hydrogen storage tanks that are used in the fuel cell. Gases were leaking.

The eight-day mission will be the longest manned space flight yet attempted.

Mrs. Green Given Honor

Mrs. G. W. Green, a nurse volunteer at the Big Spring State Hospital, received the volunteer of the month award this morning from Joe Crump, representing the Volunteer Council. She is the third to receive the award since the program was established.

1st Lt. and Mrs. Green live in Webb Village with their son, Stephen, six months. Mrs. Green has been on the volunteer staff at the hospital about a year. She works in Unit No. 7 with all types of patients, and her work here is her first major service since graduating from nursing school in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. Green is assistant treasurer of the Officers Wives Club, and has worked with the Brownsies.

Texas Longhorn Sale Coming Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to buy a Texas Longhorn? The Interior Department announced today that the annual sales of surplus Texas longhorn cattle will be held at the Wichita Mountains National Wildlife Refuge, Cache, Okla., Sept. 16 and at Fort Niobrara National Wildlife Refuge, Valentine, Neb., Oct. 5.

About 85 animals will be offered at the Wichita refuge and 20 will be available at Fort Niobrara by public auction.

Variations In Economy Pointed Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy is displaying some variations from its usual August pattern this year. It's striding ahead in some lines that traditionally take a siesta. And even in some of those fields where the hot weather is bringing a slowdown, there are marked differences this summer.

The differences are what the soothsayers are eyeing as they seek to guess what lies ahead for this fall and also for the bigger question mark of early 1966.

EMPLOYMENT UP

Employment this summer has increased beyond seasonal expectations. A record 75 million Americans have work. That hardly adds up to the summer slowdown that a few months ago was taken for granted in some quarters. The employment jump could forecast an even better autumn than once seemed likely.

Businessmen continue to pile up inventories. They have already added $4.4 billion to their stocks so far this year, compared with a $4-billion increase for all of 1964. Some of this buildup is because business looks so good and because turnover is so fast that big stocks are needed. But some of the inventory pileup could spell trouble later. And that is being closely watched and assessed.

STEEL OUTPUT

Steel output has risen to its highest level in five weeks. More striking is the contrast with August a year ago. Production is running 15 per cent higher now. Of course, there's a reason that is far from an unimixed good. In the steel industry this August is unusual because steel users are taking no chances of being caught short if there's a strike after Sept. 1. And if there isn't, the steel mills may have a letdown this fall.

Auto production is slowing down now. The changeover in models is halting production lines later this year than usual. So the figures this August won't mean much when compared with those of last.

Federal Poll Watcher Guard Up For Voters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Jones couldn't vote in the November 1964 election. A state registrar told her she had flunked the Alabama literacy test. She is a Negro.

Now that the Voting Rights Act of 1965 is law, she knows she will be able to vote in the next election. She's over 21, a life-long resident of the state and never has been convicted of a felony.

What must she do to get on the county voting rolls in any of the states covered by the new law?

She need never again take a literacy test or face that state registrar. Because her state produced a turnout below 50 per cent last November, the test is suspended by the new law.

U.S. Atty. G. Katzenbach has ordered Civil Service Commission examiners into Mrs. Jones' county — either on his own, because of its past performance, or because she and 19 other Negroes complained of being denied the right to vote because of their color.

MAKES MARK

Mrs. Jones goes before the federal examiner. He gives her a simple application form, which she completes with her name, address, age and the fact that she has never been convicted, without pardon, of a felony. If she can't read or write, the examiner questions her and fills out the form for her. If she can't sign her name to the oath on the form, she makes a mark.

The examiner accepts her $1.50 poll tax payment, since the federal government's court challenge of the tax's constitutionality is pending. The state poll tax covers state and local elections.

The examiner hands her a certificate of eligibility and adds her name to his list of qualified voters. At the end of the month the list is made public, and once a month the new list is sent to the proper local and state election officials, who must add it to their own books.

If a state official challenges Mrs. Jones' eligibility, he must submit his challenge to a federal hearing examiner. The challenge must be resolved — either by the examiner alone or after a hearing — within 15 days. And Mrs. Jones may go ahead and vote if the election falls in that period.

What if the state attorney general goes to the U.S. Dist. Court in Washington to ask a three-judge panel to relieve the state from the effect of the law, contending Alabama's literacy test hasn't been used to discriminate for five years? The Justice Department would prepare to produce court rulings within the past five years that the tests were used to discriminate, either throughout the state or in any county within it.

NEW LAW

What if the state legislature, meanwhile, tries to write a new law changing voter eligibility requirements? Before it can take effect, it must have the approval of the U.S. attorney general or the three-judge court in Washington.

Election day arrives, and

Federal Poll Watcher Guard Up For Voters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Jones couldn't vote in the November 1964 election. A state registrar told her she had flunked the Alabama literacy test. She is a Negro.

Now that the Voting Rights Act of 1965 is law, she knows she will be able to vote in the next election. She's over 21, a life-long resident of the state and never has been convicted of a felony.

What must she do to get on the county voting rolls in any of the states covered by the new law?

She need never again take a literacy test or face that state registrar. Because her state produced a turnout below 50 per cent last November, the test is suspended by the new law.

U.S. Atty. G. Katzenbach has ordered Civil Service Commission examiners into Mrs. Jones' county — either on his own, because of its past performance, or because she and 19 other Negroes complained of being denied the right to vote because of their color.

MAKES MARK

Mrs. Jones goes before the federal examiner. He gives her a simple application form, which she completes with her name, address, age and the fact that she has never been convicted, without pardon, of a felony. If she can't read or write, the examiner questions her and fills out the form for her. If she can't sign her name to the oath on the form, she makes a mark.

The examiner accepts her $1.50 poll tax payment, since the federal government's court challenge of the tax's constitutionality is pending. The state poll tax covers state and local elections.

The examiner hands her a certificate of eligibility and adds her name to his list of qualified voters. At the end of the month the list is made public, and once a month the new list is sent to the proper local and state election officials, who must add it to their own books.

If a state official challenges Mrs. Jones' eligibility, he must submit his challenge to a federal hearing examiner. The challenge must be resolved — either by the examiner alone or after a hearing — within 15 days. And Mrs. Jones may go ahead and vote if the election falls in that period.

What if the state attorney general goes to the U.S. Dist. Court in Washington to ask a three-judge panel to relieve the state from the effect of the law, contending Alabama's literacy test hasn't been used to discriminate for five years? The Justice Department would prepare to produce court rulings within the past five years that the tests were used to discriminate, either throughout the state or in any county within it.

NEW LAW

What if the state legislature, meanwhile, tries to write a new law changing voter eligibility requirements? Before it can take effect, it must have the approval of the U.S. attorney general or the three-judge court in Washington.
