U.S. Plane Raid Near China Rim

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warplanes made their closest penetration to Red China's border with North Viet Nam today, bombing a railroad bridge 17 miles south of the frontier, U.S. military spokesmen reported.

The spokesmen said four F105 Thunderchiefs damaged the railroad bridge and pounded two other bridges 25 and 30 miles south of the border.

VITAL CENTER
The area, about 140 miles northwest of Hanoi, is an important transportation center leading to the North Vietnamese capital. U.S. pilots are trying to disrupt a railroad in the area and last month bombed within 30 miles of Red China twice.

In the ground war, U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops continued their giant sweep to clear the Vite Cong from the Batangan peninsula.

CONG CASUALTIES
Reports from the three-day-old operation 20 miles south of Chu Lai said 148 Viet Cong had been killed, 38 captured and 100 suspects detained.

Although between 5,000 and 6,000 troops were taking part, American and Vietnamese casualties were described as light. No other major ground activity was reported, but a U.S. Army helicopter crashed in the Mekong Delta 100 miles south of Saigon, and all members of its crew were reported killed.

The Batangan offensive was aimed at smashing a reported Communist buildup in the area 330 miles north of Saigon.

MARINES STRIKE
The Marines made the biggest strike Wednesday when they blew up a tunnel and killed 66 uniformed Viet Cong.

The Leathernecks discovered the underground maze after a Viet Cong sniper they were pursuing ducked into an opening.

The Marines planted a TNT charge, but before they touched it off, two Viet Cong emerged from the tunnel and surrendered. They were followed by two women believed to be Viet Cong nurses.

Entering the tunnel after the blast, the Americans found it littered with the bodies of Viet Cong wearing field packs, loaded cartridge belts and other combat equipment.

Boston Negro Parents Balk At Enrollment

BOSTON (AP)—Several hundred Negro parents refused today to enroll their children in neighborhood public schools and sent them to school in other, predominantly white sections of the city.

The move, called Operation Exodus by the parents, was a protest against overcrowded conditions in some schools in Negro neighborhoods.

Schools opened in Boston today and there were reports of some of the Negro children being enrolled and others being turned away for failure to comply with all provisions of the city's open enrollment policy.

The transfers went on despite a statement by a spokesman at school committee headquarters that no transfers could be made until it was known how many vacancies exist in schools throughout the city.

One school principal said: "If they have transfer cards from their old schools, we are enrolling them."

Herbert C. Hamblin, administrative assistant to school Supt. William H. Ohrenberger, said the principals in the outlying schools were instructed to tell parents that these children should return to their home district schools pending a count of the available places in the outlying districts.

The school department reported meanwhile that its own bussing arrangement went off without reported incidents. The department plan called for transfer of 200 children to outlying districts to ease the enrollment pressure in their home neighborhood schools.

Governor Due For C-C Talk

Gov. John Connally will be the speaker for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet in Lamesa, Bill Beeson, president, announced today.

Date for the banquet has not been set, Beeson said, but it will be sometime in November. The annual event will be held in the Lamesa High School cafeteria, and some extra tickets will be available for sale, he said.

Flag Burned By Pakistanis

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — A crowd of young Pakistanis chanting "Yankees go home" ripped down the American flag from the U.S. consulate today, marched two blocks away and burned the flag in post office square.

No attempt was made to enter the consulate, but security guards quickly bolted its nine steel doors.

One young man marched up to the building's step and led the group of approximately 50 in an anti-American chant and shouts of "Pakistan zindabad (long live)" and "Ayub (President Ayub Khan) zindabad."

A carload of police officers arrived at the consulate about 30 minutes after the group left.

As the crowd walked from the consulate most Pakistanis on the sidewalks appeared disinterested. Large numbers of office workers waiting for buses ignored the chants as youths set fire to the American flag.

De Gaulle Blasts NATO Structure

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said today that the Atlantic Alliance's integrated command structure must be dismantled by 1969 at the latest.

At this semiannual news conference the President said the present system of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization constitutes a "subordination" of France's own defense forces to be Allied structure. He said this must end.

REFERENCE CLEAR
This was a reference to the integrated command structure at Supreme Allied Command Europe (SHAPE) first established by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and headed by an American general ever since. The present commander is Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer.

De Gaulle did not mention SHAPE by name, nor the nationality of its commanders, but his reference was clear.

His mention of the date 1969 refers to the time when any member of the 15-nation alliance can leave by giving a year's notice. The implication was that France might leave unless the integrated command structure is abolished.

De Gaulle has long taken the position that while he is faithful to the Atlantic Alliance, he is not satisfied with the way its military arm is conducted. He objects to French officers being subordinate to others.

Before, After

Minority Side? Lawmaker Dares

GALESTON (AP)—Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston doesn't worry about what senators think of him.

"I did not go to the Senate to win any popularity contests," he says. "There is too much else to do."

Schwartz says the minority view should be expressed in any legislative debate, and Schwartz many times does the expressing.

This assertiveness some times has dumped the senator into hot water. Some say it was the reason he was temporarily passed over for the post of president pro tem of the Senate last session.

"LOYAL FOE"
Schwartz was elected to the pro tem post at the end of the last legislature. He holds the post until the next legislature opens.

Schwartz says he is not the "go along to get along" type and has been the "loyal opposition" under several governors.

"This, he says, 'probably puts me in a precarious political position.' The senator said some of his constituents put too much emphasis on popularity in Austin.

"I believe in expressing my views if I think they are right, and I have found many times these are not only my views but those of many people in Texas," he says.

Some legislators agree, "but they don't vote that way," Schwartz said.

FOLLOW LEADER
"This results in a follow the leadership game," he said, "and I don't criticize this, but feel that many of them (legislators) should try to exert their independence at least once just to see that it can be done."

Schwartz said every group—labor, management, business, teachers and all the rest—are all in the minority on occasion.

"Legislators have to view the whole problem, for we do not legislate in a vacuum," he said. "Failure to have the views of the minority represented is failure to have a democracy."

Schwartz says even a political defeat can be useful.

"Never losing a race does not mean you are not a good lawmaker," he says, "but being a loser before being a winner could make you a better one."

Schwartz lost his first races for state representative and for state senator.

150 BILLS
Schwartz has been active in the passage of over 150 bills, including the recent National Guard, child abuse and beach zoning bills.

Schwartz is chairman of the Senate's Military and Veterans Affairs Committee and is on the Jurisprudence, Banking, Public Health, Procedures and Elections, Nominations and State Department and Institutions Committees.

The senator is a native of Galveston, and a graduate of Texas A&M and the University of Texas Law School.

Precautionary Actions Taken In Betsy Threat

HOUSTON (P) — Gulf Coast industries were taking precautionary measures today as Hurricane Betsy moved near.

The Continental Oil Co. said 500 men have been brought ashore from offshore drilling rigs and platforms the company operates in the Gulf from the delta area and to the west of Cameron, La.

"Everything is buttoned up out there," he said.

Gulf Oil Corp. said its personnel as well as those working for contractors off Louisiana were brought in Wednesday night.

Shell Oil Co. took about 100 workmen from its drilling operations in the Buccaneer Field 30 miles off Galveston and from rigs off Matagorda.

A spokesman at Dow Chemical installations at Freeport said the company is watching Betsy but still is in production.

"We have a hurricane plan we can put into effect if it appears the hurricane is headed this way," the spokesman said. "It is a logical decision to make at the proper time and we will protect our people."

Houston's civil defense and other agencies were standing by for action if needed.

Hurricane Heads For Texas Coast

Mass Exodus Under Way In Gulf Area

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A great exodus from lowlying coastal areas shaped up today as Hurricane Betsy, fresh from an attack on Florida, advanced on the Gulf Coast.

Over 100,000 residents were expected to pack cars and trailers today and head out of south Louisiana and east Texas, away from possible killer tides and 140-mile-an-hour winds.

The Weather Bureau urged them to evacuate as soon as possible before escape routes were cut off by rising waters.

OIL RIGS SHUT DOWN
The multibillion-dollar offshore oil industry — 4,800 oil wells and drilling platforms, some of them 100 miles from land—were evacuating and batten down. All possible equipment had headed for inland waters. About 3,000 oil workers had been moved to safety.

At 8 a.m. the Navy located the center of Betsy about 235 miles southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River. She was moving west-northwest at 18 miles an hour.

The trickle of evacuees started at Cameron, the little town in western Louisiana near the Texas border, where Hurricane Audrey killed 500 people in June 1957. Most of them died in surging tides which swept the coastal area.

HEAVY LOSS
Betsy left most of the Miami-Fort Lauderdale-Florida Keys area without power and with ruined crops, flooded homes.

No quick damage estimate was possible but it was expected to run at least $100 million. Three lives also were lost. This was considered a relatively light toll in view of the 6-foot tides, second only to the record 10-foot tides of 1928 that ended Florida's great land boom.

While Betsy was more of a destroyer than a killer, it did not appear the damage would match that of last year's hurricane, Cleo, which also hit southern Florida.

BAHAMAS HIT
But the Bahamas, where communications had been knocked out since Sunday, reported heavy property losses as reports came in from the Out Islands, to Nassau, capital of the archipelago.

Exclusive clubs of the very rich on Eleuthera and Nassau's New Providence were struck hard. But no one was reported killed in the Bahamas although the hurricane's center had lain just off the shore of New Providence for over 12 hours.

Nassau's shops, which live off the spending of American tourists, were without electricity but wrote opened for business. Damage there was estimated at $500,000.

Betsy took all Wednesday to pass over the tip of the Florida peninsula. The high onshore winds pushed six-foot tides over low-lying areas, swamping Miami's beach Key Biscayne with its expensive villas under three feet of water.

Signs Measure

President Johnson today gave the nation's cities a place in his Cabinet by signing a bill establishing the new Department of Housing and Urban Development. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Urban Agency Bill Now Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law today legislation creating a new Department of Housing and Urban Affairs and called it "a wise, just and progressive measure for all America."

Speaking before a large group of mayors, members of Congress and other officials in the White House flower garden, Johnson said the legislation is the first step toward organizing our system for a more rational response to the pressing challenge of urban life."

Johnson delayed announcement of his selection to head the new department which will be the 11th Cabinet post.

Speculation has centered on Robert C. Weaver, director of the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs which is the core of the new department.

If Weaver is appointed and confirmed by the Senate he would be the first Negro ever to serve in a president's Cabinet.

The President hasn't even hinted at his choice, however, and others have been mentioned in rumors, among them Robert C. Wagner, who is not seeking re-election as mayor of New York, and Albert Rains, an Alabama Democrat who specialized in housing legislation while a member of the House.

SUPPLANTS AGENCY
The new department supplants the Housing and Home Finance Agency and puts under one roof urban-oriented programs now scattered among several government departments.

The Federal Housing Administration and the Federal National Mortgage Association are among the subagencies that will be absorbed. Unlike the others, these two will retain their names and identities.

If Weaver gets the top job, a mayor or another city official is likely to be appointed undersecretary. The department also will have four assistant secretaries and a general counsel.

FRIENDS RALLY FOR FUND
Friends of the Bible Class fund, rallying in the final days of the annual appeal added $286 to the voluntary contributions today. This pushed the total against the $2,200 mark and only $1,300 from the target.

In addition to these gifts, the First Baptist paid in its $400 budget subscription to the fund. (The Big Spring Pastors Association asks for $3,500 from voluntary gifts, and several churches subscribe the balance from their budgets.)

This is the final week of formal appeal, so won't you please mail or bring your gift to The Herald as soon as possible?

Celebration Over At St. Augustine

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — The 12-day celebration marking the 400th anniversary of St. Augustine ended Wednesday with a noon mass and a speech by Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla.

Storm Still 'Dangerous, Fast-Moving'

By The Associated Press
Coast dwellers kept a wary vigil today as Hurricane Betsy whirled menacingly toward the upper Texas coast.

Although the powerful storm still was too distant for experts to plot a definite course, the Weather Bureau said Western Louisiana and the extreme upper Texas coast appeared the likeliest targets.

Emergency evacuations of offshore oil drilling rigs in that vicinity already was well advanced.

ALERT SOUNDED
The latest Weather Bureau advisory prompted precautionary steps by other interests.

Emergency hurricane warnings went up at 8 a.m. from the mouth of the Mississippi River to Galveston. Gale warnings were issued for other areas along the Gulf Coast from Mobile Bay to Matagorda Bay, near the midpoint on the Texas coastline.

Advancing about 18 m.p.h., the giant storm traveled toward the west-northwest after pounding Southern Florida destructively and getting back over water again Wednesday.

DANGEROUS
Warning that the hurricane was both fast moving and dangerous, the latest official advisory urged residents of threatened areas to complete precautionary steps as soon as possible today.

"Tides are expected to reach at least five feet in the area of hurricane display," it said, "and range up to 10 to 12 feet near the area where the center crosses the coast."

"It is too early to indicate a specific landfall of the center. However, the Western Louisiana and extreme upper Texas coasts appear to be the most likely area for the center to move inland."

EVACUATION
"Lowlying coastal areas in the area of hurricane display should be evacuated as early as possible today before escape routes are cut off by rising waters."

Forecasters expected Betsy to veer a bit more toward the northwest during the day. Winds of hurricane force extending outward 90 miles from the center promised to start making themselves felt along the coast before too many hours passed.

The hurricane's approach broke into a period of weather calm across Texas.

Except for a few showers along the west edge of the Panhandle and around El Paso in far West Texas, skies were mostly clear across the state in early morning.

Forecasters promised thickening clouds and showers by tonight, however, in East and South Texas as the hurricane drew nearer. Except for a few more showers in the Panhandle, it was expected to stay fair in other sections.

Bill For Defense Funds Caught In Side Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foe of the merger and a member of the House Appropriations Committee, the new plan is just "a big step" toward the merger.

"What I have seen of the plan it looks like phase one of merger," a senator said.

FOR READINESS
Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance has said the Pentagon wants three divisions and six brigades ready in case Reserve forces are needed in the Vietnam crisis.

Defense officials are described as feeling they cannot carry out these plans in the face of strong restrictive language in the Senate version of the Appropriations Bill.

The Senate bill sets absolute minimum strengths for the Guard and the Reserves and bars transfer of appropriations to carry out a realignment except through enactment of legislation approving reorganization of the reserves.

LESS DRASTIC
Much of the new proposal is marked top secret. But informants said what is involved is that the Pentagon wants to work out a less drastic realignment to strengthen three divisions and six brigades from the Reserve components (the Guard and the Army Reserves), speed up their training and put them under the National Guard.

If Weaver gets the top job, a mayor or another city official is likely to be appointed undersecretary. The department also will have four assistant secretaries and a general counsel.

Friends Rally For Fund

Friends of the Bible Class fund, rallying in the final days of the annual appeal, added $288 to the voluntary contributions today. This pushed the total against the $2,200 mark and only $1,300 from the target.

In addition to these gifts, the First Baptist paid in its $400 budget subscription to the fund. (The Big Spring Pastors Association asks for $3,500 from voluntary gifts, and several churches subscribe the balance from their budgets.)

This is the final week of formal appeal, so won't you please mail or bring your gift to The Herald as soon as possible?

Celebration Over At St. Augustine

Storm Still 'Dangerous, Fast-Moving'

By The Associated Press
Coast dwellers kept a wary vigil today as Hurricane Betsy whirled menacingly toward the upper Texas coast.

Although the powerful storm still was too distant for experts to plot a definite course, the Weather Bureau said Western Louisiana and the extreme upper Texas coast appeared the likeliest targets.

Emergency evacuations of offshore oil drilling rigs in that vicinity already was well advanced.

ALERT SOUNDED
The latest Weather Bureau advisory prompted precautionary steps by other interests.

Emergency hurricane warnings went up at 6 a.m. from the mouth of the Mississippi River to Galveston. Gale warnings were issued for other areas along the Gulf Coast from Mobile Bay to Matagorda Bay, near the midpoint on the Texas coastline.

Advancing about 18 m.p.h., the giant storm traveled toward the west-northwest after pounding Southern Florida destructively and getting back over water again Wednesday.

DANGEROUS
Warning that the hurricane was both fast moving and dangerous, the latest official advisory urged residents of threatened areas to complete precautionary steps as soon as possible today.

"Tides are expected to reach at least five feet in the area of hurricane display," it said, "and range up to 10 to 12 feet near the area where the center crosses the coast."

"It is too early to indicate a specific landfall of the center. However, the Western Louisiana and extreme upper Texas coasts appear to be the most likely area for the center to move inland."

EVACUATION
"Lowlying coastal areas in the area of hurricane display should be evacuated as early as possible today before escape routes are cut off by rising waters."

Forecasters expected Betsy to veer a bit more toward the northwest during the day. Winds of hurricane force extending outward 90 miles from the center promised to start making themselves felt along the coast before too many hours passed.

The hurricane's approach broke into a period of weather calm across Texas.

Except for a few showers along the west edge of the Panhandle and around El Paso in far West Texas, skies were mostly clear across the state in early morning. Forecasts promised thickening clouds and showers by tonight, however, in East and South Texas as the hurricane drew nearer. Except for a few more showers in the Panhandle, it was expected to stay fair in other sections.

Bill For Defense Funds Caught In Side Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The huge defense appropriations bill — including the extra $1.7 billion President Johnson asked for the war in Viet Nam — is entangled in a new battle over the Pentagon's proposal to merge Army Reserve units into the National Guard.

Congress has acted to block the merger, but the Defense Department is reported proposing a new plan to a Senate-House conference trying to resolve differences in the $46 billion bill.

LESS DRASTIC
Much of the new proposal is marked top secret. But informants said what is involved is that the Pentagon wants to work out a less drastic realignment to strengthen three divisions and six brigades from the Reserve components (the Guard and the Army Reserves), speed up their training and put them under the National Guard.

To Rep. L. F. Sikes, D-Fla., of the House Appropriations Committee, the new plan is just "a big step" toward the merger. "What I have seen of the plan it looks like phase one of the merger," a senator said.

FOR READINESS
Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance has said the Pentagon wants three divisions and six brigades ready in case Reserves are needed in the Viet Nam crisis.

Defense officials are described as feeling they cannot carry out these plans in the face of strong restrictive language in the Senate version of the Appropriations Bill.

The Senate bill sets absolute minimum strengths for the Guard and the Reserves and bars transfer of appropriations to carry out a realignment except through enactment of legislation approving reorganization of the reserves.

Thant Greeted

Indians, Pakistani Fight In Flatlands

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India and Pakistan battled today for the upper hand in the flatlands of upper West Pakistan and India's adjoining Punjab State.

War background story P. 14-A

Pakistan claimed it had counterattacked into India after stopping the Indian drive on Lahore, Pakistan's second largest city. The Pakistanis said their forces had crossed the border near the Indian city of Ferozepore.

A Pakistani army spokesman said Pakistani forces had pushed "a lot of miles" into India.

A Pakistani government spokesman claimed that Indian army, navy and air operations had been brought to "a standstill" and Pakistani forces had made "tactical gains on all fronts including Lahore." He said Pakistan's armed forces had "stabilized" their positions on all fronts.

The Indian Defense Ministry reported "fierce fighting" was in progress in the "Lahore sector." An announcement said 17 Pakistani tanks had been destroyed in the past 24 hours and that the Pakistanis have been trying to "regain positions" they had lost to the Indian army.

"These attempts of theirs have been repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy," the announcement said.

The wording of the announcement made it appear that the Indians had indeed gone on the defensive after driving toward Lahore.

India claimed its forces were advancing along two other fronts opened Wednesday north and south of the flatlands battlefield. It appeared, however, that these attacks — in the Sind area east of Karachi and in the Chhamb sector of Kashmir — were designed to spread out Pakistan's 200,000-man army while India concentrated on the Lahore sector.

As the fighting raged, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant arrived in Rawalpindi, the Pakistani capital, to meet President Mohammed Ayub Khan and begin his peace mission to the two warring countries.

"Before I submit my report to the Security Council, I cannot say anything," Thant told newsmen during a stopover at Karachi. "It will not help to make a public statement."

More paratroopers were reported dropped during the night in both countries at points scattered across the subcontinent. Their mission apparently was sabotage.

Swiss Firm To Close American Department

DALLAS (AP) — A Swiss-owned firm, Volkart Bros. Inc., is closing its American department by the first of the year because of U.S. government cotton policy, firm officials say.

The big firm, largest Dallas shipper of American-grown cotton, will become European sales agent for Texas cotton handled by Plains Cotton Cooperative Association of Lubbock.

In a statement, Volkart officials said: "The private trade finds itself at a growing disadvantage against the cooperatives who can handle the cotton of their members much more advantageously and in particular put any unsaleable cotton retroactively into the government loan."

"We were pleased when the possibility of a close cooperation with one of the most important cooperatives showed itself." Volkart will continue operation of an office in Gastonia, N.C., to sell cotton grown in Mexico, Central America and the irrigated region of California.

An office in New England also will remain in operation and the firm also will continue to merchandise Egyptian cotton in the United States. Its Pasadena, Calif., office will handle irrigated cotton grown in Western states.

MENTAL RETARDATION

Smith To Assist In Writing Book

Jack Y. Smith, director of industrial relations for Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, who has been appointed to a place on one of 11 State Task Forces on Mental Retardation, will be among more than 100 Texas citizens meeting in Austin Saturday and Sunday. These citizens, all with a common concern — mental retardation — will be writing a book. The title, "The Texas Plan to Combat Mental Retardation," has already been selected.

The 11 state task forces on mental retardation are made up of about 10 members each, and their objective is to pursue a planning study in the cause of mental retardation under Gov. John Connally's program in this area.

Much of the material for the book has been collected in cities throughout the state, by hundreds of persons working on "Mayors' Commissions" formerly appointed at the request of Gov. Connally.

Bill Cobb, the governor's executive budget director and chairman of the state interagency committee which heads the project, said that local commissions have gathered much information about services for the retarded.

"Many of them found local services inadequate, and made recommendations for improvements," Cobb said. "Their findings and recommendations were recorded in reports to the state planning office."

Judge Herman Jones of Austin, chairman of the governor's advisory committee, pointed out that the project thus far has emphasized local action. "Now we are ready for the local findings and recommendations to be woven into the state plan," he said.

Officials in the various state agencies involved (health, education, welfare, rehabilitation, employment, youth council, and special schools) analyzed the local information and put it into a file of material to be used by writers of the Texas Plan. The state agencies also have dropped their own recommendations in the hopper.

Director Stuart Fisher of the state planning office, said the Sept. 11-12 meeting will be the first of three work sessions in Austin, at which 12 state task forces will write the Texas Plan. Other meetings will be in October. The planning work will be climaxed with a governor's conference on mental retardation next spring.

The suit, filed with the U.S. district court here, asks that a three-judge court be convened to rule on the law, which Altus contends violates the interstate commerce clause of the U. S. Constitution.

BONDS PASSED

The Oklahoma city of 23,500-plus another 4,000 at nearby Altus Air Force Base — has negotiated a contract with a Wilbarger County rancher to pump water from beneath his ranch, across the Red River, to Altus. Voters have passed a $2 million bond issue to develop the underground water supply provided in the contract.

The bond issue and the contract had been approved when the 59th Legislature approved the bill prohibiting transportation of Texas' underground water to other states, the city's petition says. Sponsor of the bill was Rep. W. S. Healy of Paducah, who represents Wilbarger County in the House. The bill went into effect Aug. 30.

FROM BUREAU

Altus has been getting its water from the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation under a 1963 contract providing 4,500-acre feet of water a year, the petition says. (An acre foot is 325,851 gallons). But the city now uses its entire allotment and has been unable to negotiate for an increase, the petition says.

Sooners Fight Texas Law

AUSTIN (AP) — The city of Altus, Okla., which says it is outgrowing its present water supply, asked a federal court today to nullify a new Texas law which prohibits piping of underground water to another state.

The suit, filed with the U.S. district court here, asks that a three-judge court be convened to rule on the law, which Altus contends violates the interstate commerce clause of the U. S. Constitution.

Plants Offer Needed Jobs For Youths

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rural communities floundering because of a lack of opportunity for their young people are being urged by the government to look into the possibilities of establishing agricultural processing plants.

The Agriculture Department says that farming provides a profusion of raw materials that are processed into a great variety of products.

With the population of the nation growing rapidly, there is need, it says, for many new processing plants.

"Some types of processing improve the keeping quality and convenience of handling, as in fruit vegetable canning," the department study states. "On the other hand, some agricultural raw materials go through several physical and chemical processes to make entirely different products. Research and development gradually increase the possibilities of raw materials, processes and products."

The department does not suggest, however, that any community rush into the establishment of a plant without first considering the factors that commonly apply to well-established processes.

RAW MATERIALS
Those factors pertain to added value to farm raw materials, availability of raw materials, perishability of raw materials and finished products, disposal of waste materials, availability of utilities equipment and standards for the finished products. The study cautions that before establishing a plant, it is necessary to determine where and how the products will be sold. The availability of quality raw materials was listed as a vital need because it reduces production costs and simplifies operations.

The department stressed that a satisfactory solution to the problem of waste disposal must be found before a plant is established because of public concern over air and water pollution.

Those communities interested in establishing a processing plant can obtain information from the department's utilization and research programs which cover cereals and forages, cotton and wool, fruits, vegetables and tree nuts, poultry, dairy and animal products and miscellaneous products.

Bank Robbed Of $21,750

EL PASO (AP) — Two bandits robbed an East El Paso bank of $21,750 in $5, $10 and $20 bills Wednesday.

Police said the getaway car was abandoned near some apartments in the neighborhood. The robbers walked into the Bassett National Bank shortly before closing time. One pulled a gun from a paper bag and ordered teller Georgia Maddox to hand over money.

When the men had finished emptying that teller's cage, they demanded money from another teller, Norma Cornelius, and then fled.

Klan Told To Show Records

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two Ku Klux Klan leaders were under orders to produce records of the secret organization today for a special three-judge federal court.

They are Charles H. Christmas of Amite, grand dragon of the Original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, and Saxon Farmer of Bogalusa, grand titan.

In previous appearances before the court, both men said they knew of no records. They were given 48 hours to "refresh your memory."

Moving under the new Civil Rights Act, the Justice Department is asking an injunction forbidding the klan to attack or harass any Bogalusa citizens who disagree with klan policy. Bogalusa has been the scene of repeated racial violence and tension since the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League opened a civil rights drive there eight months ago.

Robert L. Coleman Dies Of Injuries

Robert L. Coleman, 47, injured a week ago in a traffic accident south of town on US 87, died at 3:45 p.m. Wednesday afternoon in Cowper Hospital.

He became the 11th person to perish in traffic mishaps in 1965 in Howard County. Seven of the deaths have been on rural highways and four in the limits of the town.

Mr. Coleman, a roustabout foreman for the Continental Oil Co., was struck by a truck as he stood by his stalled car on the road side. The truck veered to the right, the highway patrol said, slightly raking the car and striking Mr. Coleman, who stood near the driver's seat.

He made his home at 2305 Mishler, and had been with Continental for 28 years. He was born July 31, 1918 in Tucson, Ariz. He moved to Big Spring 25 years ago.

Prospects Good For Funds, Plans Soon

Prospects are good that Howard County Junior College will get funds under the College Facilities Act and its final plans for two new buildings about the same time.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, told the board, at the meeting moved up a day to Wednesday to insure a quorum, that architects hoped to have plans completed in about three weeks.

The board approved contracts for two station wagons to be furnished at $100 each for nine months, one for transporting college athletes and the other for general student activity transportation.

Trustees approved purchase of 50 dormitory chairs out of the revenue fund in the amount of $224, and of 50 student desk chairs and one instructor desk for $78.

Reporting on enrollment of 636 through the first day of registration, Dr. Hunt told the board that it was possible that an additional instructor may have to be engaged.

On another construction front, work is progressing on the new stadium field house, but it will not be ready within the 75 days in the contract, said Dr. Hunt.

Enrollment continued to grow at Howard County Junior College today. A total of 636 had cleared the business office at closing time Wednesday.

Registration was to continue through today and classes are to begin Friday. Dr. Hunt said students would continue to register for at least two weeks.

Registration for night classes will continue today, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Midland—Mrs. A. J. Moore, of Mountainview Trailer Park in Big Spring, died in Midland Memorial Hospital at 9:15 today after an illness of three weeks.

Mrs. Moore was born Aug. 7, 1897 at Santo. She was reared at Graham. The family lived at Midland and then moved to Big Spring in 1963. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Services are pending at Ellis Funeral Home, Midland. Survivors include the husband, A. J. Moore, Big Spring; two brothers, W. T. Adams, Graham, Thurston Adams, Van Nuys, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Mae Haynes, Meyers Flat, Calif.

Five Mishaps Are Checked

No one was injured in any of five minor traffic accidents Wednesday, according to police.

Lloyd Eugene Rush, 1015 Ridgeroad, and Dwain Johnson Ritchie, 1322 Madison, escaped without injuries when their cars were in collision at 910 W. 3rd.

The cars of Preston Quinn McNeese, 2409 E. 25th, and Donna Lee Kenan, Box 1175, were damaged when they collided in the 1700 block of Goliad, officers said.

Light damage to the cars of Roberto Mendoza, 901 N. Gregg, and Ernest Lee Smith, 2510 Cindy Lane, resulted from a collision at the intersection of Eighth and Rannels, police said.

Frederick Edwin Black, 1307 Wood, and Roger Nathan Stallcup, Vincent Road, were not injured when their cars collided in the intersection of East Fourth and McEwen.

The car of Bob Francis Burkhardt, 1408 Princeton, was damaged on the left front when it struck a street marker post in the 300 block of Birdwell Lane, officers said.

Mrs. Thompson Rites Today In Colorado City

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Mrs. Alice Thompson, 54, longtime Colorado City resident, died in a Fort Worth hospital Saturday after a short illness.

Funeral was held today at 2 p.m. in the Church of God in Christ with the pastor, Rev. Burl Perkins, officiating. Burial was in the Mitchell County Cemetery under direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home. The body was shipped to Colorado City from Fort Worth.

She is survived by four daughters, Jessie Mae Tillis, Colorado City, Bobby Jean Smith, Houston, Gracie Mae Rogers, Fort Worth, and Leverne Behr, Albuquerque, N.M.; two sons, William Renfro Jr., Abilene, and Albert Denfro, Laneville; two sisters, Essie Ward and Mary Lee Thomas, Colorado City; two brothers, Lonnie Green, Colorado City, and Ben Archie Thomas, Denver, Colo.; and 19 grandchildren.

'Flying Saucer' Report Checked

Several Colgate Street residents spotted a mysterious object in the sky over Big Spring last night and watched it as it flew overhead from south to north, then eastward.

At 7:57 p.m., one of the watchers, Mrs. Robert Fuller, 612 Colgate, called police about the flying "whatsit." Police in turn notified Webb AFB tower personnel, who said the object was probably a weather balloon from Midland.

OIL REPORT

Two Strikes In Dawson County

Dawson County operators have brought in two discoveries, reported this morning. One is in the Mississippi and the other in the Dean sand.

Midwest Oil Corporation of Midland has asked for a new field designation when the Dean sand was found in its No. 1 D. E. Richards, six miles southeast of Lamesa.

Operator drilled to a total depth of 8,607 feet and plugged back to 8,582 feet after setting 4 1/2-inch casing at 8,606 feet. He perforated at 8,425-29 feet and stimulated that interval with a fracture of 30,000 gallons of oil and 80,000 pounds of sand.

He then acidized with 250 gallons of acid and a pump was installed.

On initial potential, the well pumped 126 1/2 barrels of 39 gravity oil, with no water. Gas-oil ratio was 595:1.

Location is 3 1/2 miles north of the Ackerly (Dean Sand) pool, 1,950 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east lines of section 35-35-5N, T&P survey.

Texaco, Inc. has listed a discovery potential in the Mississippi in its No. 1 United Presbyterian Church. The well was first completed to flow 648 barrels of oil from the Eilenburger.

The operator tried the Fuseselman at 11,790-11,810 feet with no success.

He backed up and perforated the Mississippi at 11,393-403 and swabbed 66 barrels of oil and 85 barrels of new oil in 11 hours, after treating the formation with 500 gallons. He swabbed again, and the flow brought 66 barrels of oil and 29 barrels of new oil in 10 hours.

The well then kicked off and flowed 417 barrels of new oil in 41 hours.

He reacidized with 2,000 gallons and the well swabbed and flowed 66 barrels of load and 344 barrels of new oil in 24 hours. He is installing a pump for final development and potential as a discovery.

The location was staked five miles west of Lamesa, 1,980 feet from the south and east lines of section 9-36-5N, T&P survey.

DAILY DRILLING

BORDEN Brown & Heath No. 1 J. F. Landrum on Eilenburger prospect 1 1/2 miles west of Puyonno, was drilling below 4,429 feet. Spore is 400 feet from the north and 1,680 feet from the west lines of section 20-20-5N, H&C survey.

DAWSON H. L. Brown Jr. & Penn Oil Co. No. 1 A. O. Kiefer, was making hole below 1,150 feet in line and some. Location was staked 5 miles northeast of Puyonno, 1,420 feet from the north and 1,420 feet from the south lines of section 20-20-5N, T&P survey.

General Oil Co. No. 1 Claude Burklin, in the Wells (Devonian) field, was drilling about 1,000 feet from the north and east lines of labor 29, league 4, T&P survey. Location is 1 1/2 miles northwest of Lamesa.

General Oil Co. No. 1 E. E. Bartlett, being drilled as a Northeast Spruerry prospect, 9 miles southeast of Lamesa, was drilling below 1,150 feet from the north and 1,150 feet from the west lines of section 9-36-5N, T&P survey. It was making hole of 7,600 feet. It is a Mississippi wildcard.

HOWARD Apache Oil Corp. No. 1 G. G. Wright, 7 miles southeast of Ackerly, a Cisco well, was drilling below 1,150 feet in the one-well Brookfield field northeast of the Cisco. The rig related yesterday. Operator was moving off the rig and was preparing for potential test. It was staked 400 feet from the north and east lines of section 31-33-5N, T&P survey and total depth was 9,128 feet.

Cotton Farmers To Meet Tonight

A meeting of Glascock County cotton farmers is set for this evening at 8 o'clock in the St. Lawrence Community Hall.

Fred Elliot, Texas A&M cotton specialist, will discuss materials used for defoliation of cotton, the application, equipment and timing of the application of defoliants. B. G. Reeves, cotton gin and machinery specialist, will talk on picker and stripper efficiency and will outline new developments in operation of these machines.

Charlie Taylor and Ken Lindsay will discuss briefly the quality of root harvested cotton vs. machine picked, said Oliver F. West, Glascock County agent.

331st Line Chief Hurt

Sgt. Calvin H. Pope, 36, assistant line chief in the maintenance section for the 331st FIS William Tell team, narrowly escaped death Wednesday at Houston.

He was caught in the doors for the landing wheels when a hydraulic system malfunctioned. At first regarded as being in critical condition, Sgt. Pope today was reported making a good recovery at the Bayshore Hospital in Houston.

Mrs. Hancock Dies In Dallas

Mrs. Jamie Hancock, for many years a resident of Big Spring, died at 1:20 p.m. Wednesday in a Dallas hospital after a long illness.

Services will be held Friday afternoon at the Pate Funeral Home in Senatobia, Miss.

Mrs. Hancock was active in women's and civic work here, and she was a member of the First Baptist Church. Soon after leaving more than 19 years ago, she became a regional supervisor for Welcome Wagons.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Dee (Joy) Phillips, Richardson. Mr. Phillips formerly lived here and managed an outdoor advertising firm.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips reside at 416 Royal Crest Drive, Richardson.

Students Using Birdwell Park

"If you see high school students using Birdwell Park for an athletic field for awhile, it's all right, they have the city's permission," Larry Crow, city manager said Thursday.

Principal John Smith yesterday asked if the kids could use it," Crow continued. "The parking and building program underway around there has pretty much taken up the athletic space."

Birdwell Park is located just north of Big Spring High School.

Mrs. Moore Dies In Midland

MIDLAND—Mrs. A. J. Moore, of Mountainview Trailer Park in Big Spring, died in Midland Memorial Hospital at 9:15 today after an illness of three weeks.

Mrs. Moore was born Aug. 7, 1897 at Santo. She was reared at Graham. The family lived at Midland and then moved to Big Spring in 1963. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Services are pending at Ellis Funeral Home, Midland. Survivors include the husband, A. J. Moore, Big Spring; two brothers, W. T. Adams, Graham, Thurston Adams, Van Nuys, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Mae Haynes, Meyers Flat, Calif.

Lions Club Told About Therapy

How children are tested and treated for physical and speech defects was explained to the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting in the Settles.

Jim Thompson, physical therapist, and Larry Bristow, speech therapist, told about the work of the Howard County Rehabilitation Center. The Lions Club has been a long-time supporter of this work.

Thompson, director of the Howard County Rehabilitation Center, had a youngster present to demonstrate progress being made in overcoming the effects of cerebral palsy.

He distributed check lists of normal progress for children from birth to age six.

Physio-therapy at its best is all the disciplines working together, said Bristow, who works after hours at the center, and speech therapy is one of these. He explained various defects, the most common that of stuttering.

Frequently parental impatience or pressure is at the root of stuttering, he said. Increasing recognition is being given to Dyslexia (a minor damage to the brain motor area which sometimes twists the order of perception) as a factor in stuttering as well as difficulty with reading. The rest in speech therapy is how an individual says something, rather than what he says.

Ernie Barbee of the Evening Lions Club reminded members of the sister club that the traditional barbecue before the first home football game would be held Friday from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at both the Scurry Street and Downtown Teamroom.

Enrollment Up By 288

Enrollment in all Big Spring schools was up 228 over the same date last year, according to reports submitted by principals at 10:30 a.m. today. Gains were shown at eight schools over yesterday's report.

A total of 7,484 students were accounted for, as compared to 7,256 last year.

Enrollment by schools, and gains if reported, were: Airport 474, Bauer 462, Boydstun 442 (up 2), Cedar Crest 384 (up 5), College Heights 444, Gay Hill 94, Kentwood 106, Lakewood 170 (up 21), Marcy 680, Park Hill 303 (up 1), Washington 652 (up 2); total elementary 4,091; Goliad Junior High 994 (up 1), Rannels 926 (up 42), Senior High 1,352; total secondary 3,272 (up 43); Special Education 114 (up 15) and Big Spring State Hospital 17, totaling 7,484.

A handful of youngsters, and several adults, were still milling around in front of Kate Morrison school, which is closed, at 9:30 a.m. today, continuing a protest against closing.

Dumphy Quits

Jack Dumphy has resigned as loan officer of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, officials said Thursday. A successor is due to be named later.

Dumphy has not announced his future plans. Since coming here two years ago, he has been active in civic work, particularly the Jaycees.

San Francisco Newspapers' Merger Told

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Merger of San Francisco's three daily newspapers into single production operation with two newspapers was reported Wednesday.

Specifics were contained in posted minutes of a meeting of San Francisco Chronicle printers. They said:

The three newspapers —

Hearst's Examiner and News Call-Bulletin and the independent Chronicle — will form the San Francisco Printing Co. which will act as a production agency.

The Examiner, now a morning newspaper, will publish six days in the afternoon field. It may be known as the Examiner-News Call Bulletin.

The Chronicle will publish six days a week in the morning field.

A common Sunday edition will bear the masthead of both the Examiner and the Chronicle.

All facilities of the three newspapers will be pooled except for the editorial departments.

The first daily editions under the planned merger will be Monday. The first combined Sunday edition will be Sept. 19. The plan was approved by stockholders Tuesday.

'Carmen Jones' Actress Dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dorothy Dandridge, Negro singer-actress who found her way into show business almost as soon as she could talk, is dead at 41. Her body was found Wednesday, clad in a light blue nightgown, in the bathroom of her apartment.

The coroner's office said intensive tests would be necessary to determine what ended a sometimes misfortunate career that reached its peak in the title role of "Carmen Jones" 10 years ago.

Attack Case Preliminary Hearing Held

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A 15-year-old girl who claims she was raped by six Oklahoma City area boys last July 7 completed testimony Wednesday in the preliminary hearing for the youths and one other.

The seventh youth, accused with the others of second degree rape, took the stand later as a state witness. He is Johnny Ishmael, 16-year-old son of a prominent physician in the Nichols Hills suburb, who earlier gave authorities a statement concerning the alleged attack.

EARLIER TESTIMONY

The girl, in testimony Tuesday, said young Ishmael was with the other boys at the time of the attack but she said he was not a participant.

Prior to young Ishmael's testimony, defense attorneys unsuccessfully demanded a 72-hour delay so they could ask the Oklahoma Supreme Court to force Oklahoma County Attorney Curtis P. Harris to release reports of medical examinations on the San Antonio, Tex., girl.

Justice of the Peace Marvin Cavnar, conducting the preliminary hearing for the youths' defense request that Harris turn over the records.

She resumed the stand at the start of the second day. She testified under direct examination by the state Tuesday that she had been taken to a farm north of Oklahoma City where she said she was attacked.

All of the accused youths were in the courtroom during the hearing. Besides Ishmael, they are John William Shapard, 17, and James David Fellers Jr., 16, sons of well-known attorneys; Larry Wyatt Smith, 17, and 17-year-old Richard and Michael Stanley, brothers from Midwest City.

Sea Turtles Flee Hurricane Betsy

JUPITER, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Betsy was too rough even for turtles.

Twenty sea turtles swam into a marina here during the height of the storm.

Border Clamp On Mexican Cotton Off

AUSTIN (AP) — The scheduled closing of the Texas border to Mexican cotton was averted Wednesday by an agreement to hold an international conference next month on control of agricultural pests and diseases.

State Agriculture Commissioner John White had ordered the border closed Sept. 15 to Mexican cotton because of what he said were violations of an international program to curb cotton pests.

"As a result of this agreement, I do not anticipate any formal action on the Texas Border pending the outcome of the conferences," White said.

The agreement calls for conferences at Matamoros and Brownsville in the first half of next month, with the aim of arriving at a further agreement to guide pest and disease control activities in Mexico and Texas.

"I am hopeful — indeed confident — that we can arrive at control measures mutually beneficial to our cotton industry," White said. "We do not desire to place any unnecessary restriction on our international cotton trade."

Haiti Deteriorates Amidst U. S. Aid

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Rats infest Haiti. They nest in the thick grass roof of a peasant's hut and feed on his meager crops. They seem to own the country road at night as they flit back and forth in the headlights.

The U. S. government once tried to do something about the rats. Mongooses were introduced into the country. But the project failed. The mongooses, instead of attacking the rats ate the peasant's chickens, adding to his burden.

For many Haitians, the monogoose project is a fair illustration of the effectiveness of foreign aid in the Western Hemisphere's poorest nation. One hundred million dollars has been spent to aid Haiti since World War II. Most of it came from the United States. But the deterioration of the country seems to continue.

ROADS WORSE
Much of the aid was for road construction and maintenance. Yet the 200-mile ride from Port au Prince to Les Cayes, a southern port city, takes more than 15 hours by Jeep today. It was a four-hour trip by car in 1957, the year Francois Duvalier became president.

Near Les Cayes a huge earth mover sits abandoned on a rise in the rutted road. The initials "U.S.A." are stenciled on the doors. Weeds grow through the engine hood. Peasants in the neighborhood say the earth mover blew a tire six years ago. Before a new tire was obtained, the road project stopped and the earth mover was forgotten.

In the potentially rich Artibonite Valley, a dam and irrigation system stands as a monument to what U.S. officials describe as corruption and inefficiency in the Haitian government. More than $30 million, borrowed from the Export-Import Bank, went into the project. The money was exhausted before electric generators were installed. They were left to rust in the fields.

CANALS CLOGGED
The Duvalier government no longer maintains the dam and the irrigation canals. They are logged with silt, limiting agricultural development of the valley.

One aid project has been successful in recent years, and its success helps explain some of the failures.

In 1961, Duvalier signed a $3.5-million credit agreement with the International Development Bank. Under it, an institute of agricultural and industrial development was established as an autonomous branch of the Haitian government. The director, Jean Dejeu, a U.S. citizen, assumed control over money and hiring.

The institute set out to provide financial and technical assistance for the small peasant farmer — and also a market for his product.

This was the key feature. In the Haitian feudal economy, the peasant farmer doesn't conceive of a good market for a good crop. Cotton, growing nearly wild, always has been purchased by Port au Prince merchants for five or six cents a pound.

The institute, through a series of small loans to peasants, encouraged proper cultivation of a better grade of cotton, then paid 10 cents a pound.

YIELD SKYROCKETS
The program started slowly as skeptical peasants used their loans to buy fertilizer, insecticide, seed and advice from the institute. In a matter of months, the yield on many tiny holdings jumped from 200 to 2,000 pounds per acre. The number of participating farmers in the volunteer program went from 136 in 1962 to 1,053 in 1964 to 4,000 this year. The 1965 production was 5.2 million pounds of the highest grade cotton Haiti has seen in generations.

Similar loan programs have been carried out for corn and grain, with similar results in the past 12 months, according to the institute's figures.

The institute has spent $2,045,200 since 1961 and has made loans to 10,000 of Haiti's 500,000 peasant families.

Traffic Tied Up By Spilled Mash

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — Two and a half tons of beer mash broke through the tailgate of a truck this week and spilled down a hill.

Rush-hour traffic was tied up for about a mile as vehicles skidded and slipped. Firemen washed the mash off the hill but it slid down into a side street where residents had to shovel it away like slush.

All-Around A Has Problems

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
For Minnesota there's consolation for New York there's frustration. That was the line score following an historic night in the American League Wednesday. The Minnesota Twins consolidated their position at the top of the league, driving back the on-rushing Chicago White Sox 3-2 and increasing their lead to six games.

YANKS OUSTED
The Yankees, meanwhile, edged Washington 6-5 but still were eliminated from pennant contention in this, their worst season in 49 years. Then there was Campaneris. The versatile Kansas City youngster became the first player in modern major league history to play all nine positions in one game, but his play at two of them helped lead to the Athletics 5-3, 13-inning loss to California.

Not only that. Campaneris, who played a different position in each of the first nine innings, wasn't around at the finish. He left after the ninth with a shoulder injury. The 23-year-old Cuban, who once pitched both right-handed and left-handed, started the game at shortstop. In succeeding innings he moved to second base, third base, left field, center field, right field, first base, pitcher and catcher.

Sunland Park Will Open 83-Day Season Oct. 2

EL PASO — Sunland Park's stall committee headed by racing secretary L. Henderson VanZandt has been flooded with applications for stalls for the coming 1965-66 racing season opening October 2. VanZandt has already stamped his seal of approval on some 950 thoroughbreds and quarter horses who have been okay'd to compete during the 83 day meeting. The matchmaker said that more than 2,000 applications have already been processed. Crack stables from Ruidoso Downs, La Mesa Park, and Juarez will be on hand for the opening now less than one month away. And outfits from Del Mar, Centennial, Chicago and Kenucky will add zest to the meeting with high caliber racing stock. Bob Arnett who captured his first Sunland training title last season will return with approximately 20 head. Gerald Bloss, leading conditioner two seasons ago will be back with a powerful contingent owned by Ralph Lowe of Midland Texas. Heading the Bloss contingent will be last season's Horse of the Meet, Jeep Driver. The undefeated Tomy Lee colt will fly the silks of the U Bar Ranch of Midland. Nationally prominent owner-trainer W. C. Tompkins now campaigning successfully in Chicago is expected to lead a large aggregation from mid-America.

Stars Likely To Be Back

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Johnny Keane will be back next year but the same cannot be said for certain about two other New York Yankee standbys — second baseman Bobby Richardson and shortstop Tony Kubek. At Wednesday's signing ceremonies in which Keane was retained for the 1966 season, the 33-year-old pilot acknowledged his awareness of Kubek's and Richardson's intention to retire at the end of the current season. He added, however, "I won't believe it until I see it." Richardson and Kubek have told teammates they are at least considering retirement. Third baseman Cleve Boyer, like Keane, admitted he had heard both express those sentiments. Again, like Keane, he believes they will change their mind. "Kubek has been afflicted with injuries a good part of the time this year," explained Keane. "He's had a frustrating time. It's only natural for a fellow in that frame of mind to feel the way he does. But I think after a winter's rest he will feel differently about things."

LOOKING 'EM' OVER

By TOMMY HART

Coaches Don Robbins of Big Spring and Emory Bellard of San Angelo would probably just as soon their clubs weren't rated so highly in statewide polls. Big Spring has splendid material but the Steers have yet to prove they can cross the line of demarcation between the land the champions inhabit and the acreage which serves as the grazing land of good, solid contenders. San Angelo, of course, is down after being up for a long spell and faces the long fight back to the heights, a road fraught with many perils. Big Spring faces a tough fight with a salty Lamesa outfit in its opener here Friday night. San Angelo will have pot shots taken at its gaudy rating by Beaumont South Park, a team which knocked off the Bobcats in a stunning upset last year. South Park has a solid alignment of 16 lettermen returning from last year's team. The 11-AAAA coaches have picked the Greenies to finish second in the conference wars.

Woes At Quarterback Beset Arkansas Hogs

By The Associated Press

The Arkansas quarterback situation was solved — for a few hours Wednesday. Coach Frank Broyles said Jon Brittenum, a 1963 letterman who was held out last season, would be the No. 1 quarterback, winning out over Ronny South and Harry Jones. Then Brittenum got hurt in practice and his pelvic bone was cracked and Broyles declared gloomily that "our report is that he is out indefinitely. It's up to us now to get Harry Jones or Ronny South ready." Elsewhere in the Southwest Conference, quarterbacks also were in the news. AGGIES EYE LSU At Texas A&M Harry Ledbetter, a 1964 squadman, scored two touchdowns and passed for another in a controlled scrimmage and it looked like he would be the starting quarterback when the Aggies roll against Louisiana State next week. Eddie McLaughan was the man last year and he's still playing quarterback but chances are he'll be No. 2. Quarterbacks were in the news at Texas, too. Marv Kristynik returned to action after missing a week with an injury and piloted the team to three touchdowns which he set up with short passes as the regulars defeated the reserves 40-0 in a controlled scrimmage. The other Texas quarterback, Greg List, also was off the injury list and took the team in for a touchdown and did some fancy running. The injury situation was a lot better at Texas Wednesday although several keymen remain on the disabled list. Baylor was downhearted, however, over losing another player to the injury bugaboo. Ramsey Muniz, letterman end, went out with a knee injury, will undergo surgery today and apparently is through for the season. TWO IN PICTURE Coach John Bridgers said Donnie Laurence and Raymond Dentrick would divide time at the position against Auburn in the season opener Sept. 18. Texas Tech had two offensive scrimmages and the passing and running looked good but Coach J. T. King didn't like the pass protection. Donny Anderson and Johnny Agan had a good day carrying the ball.

Yearling Teams Launch Season

Two Runnels Junior High football teams, the eighth and ninth grade units, will swing into action Saturday in Sweetwater. The Yearlings were not allowed to start workouts until classes began in their schools. For that reason, the boys will have had only a couple of days' workouts behind them. Coach Dan Lewis and his aides have been working to fuse the squads as units and given the players four or five players to master. The ninth graders, as an eight grade team last year, won five, lost two and tied one. The two defeats occurred when quarterback Johnny Patton was ailing. The ninth grade squad at Runnels now numbers about 46 while

Barnes, West Are Among Players Out At El Paso

EL PASO—Without giving it a second thought, Bobby Dobbs will admit quickly he has a tough row to hoe. If you aren't familiar with Mr. Dobbs he is the big, ramrod straight fellow who left the Calgary Stampede of the Canadian League to doctor the ailing Texas Western football program. If this isn't a large order, then there isn't a cow in Texas. Dobbs gathered his staff of Cliff Speegle, Bill Michael, Dave Nusz, Harvey Griffin and Y. C. McNease this week and started the doctoring program. Dobbs and his aides will be busy trying to mix a number of prescriptions which, they hope, will improve the 1964 record of 9-2-2. ONLY 13 SENIORS Forty-eight varsity members checked out gear and took to the field as fall drills got under way. Of this number, only 13 are seniors. Included in the group were Buster Barnes, 195-pound line-backer; and Charley West, 183-pound halfback, both from Big Spring. West, a sophomore, transferred here from Angelo State College. Barnes is a junior. The Miners have more problems to solve than the United Nations before the lid flies off of the season Sept. 18 in the Sun Bowl against North Texas State. For one thing, there is no varsity experience in the quarterback position. Dobbs, who has enjoyed success wherever he has tossed his hat, has entrusted the quarterbacking chores to a trio of youngsters. Two of the signal barkers are sophomores, Billy Stevens and Jim Smith, while the other is senior Harrison Gamble, who has been re-converted to the man-under-post. Gamble came to Texas Western as a quarterback but was shifted to a running back as a freshman. Stevens ramrodded the No. 1 unit during the spring and held his post as fall drills opened. Both Stevens and Smith have the size for a quarterback. Stevens plants 190 pounds on a 6-3 frame while Smith is a 6-4, 197-pounder. The Miger drill master expressed hope he would have two platoons but, added, after the first few drills, due to manpower shortage he may have to employ some of his athletes in dual roles. During the summer, the coaches' drag-net produced eight newcomers who checked out battle gear for the coming hunt. Five of the newcomers are linemen while the other three operate in the backfield.

Dear Allison,

TORNADOES FACE STEERS FRIDAY NIGHT

Lamesa's Defensive Line Double Tough This Year

Probably the outstanding factor of the Lamesa High School football team, the big thing that coach Donald Jay is counting on to propel the Golden Tornadoes to a successful season, is its defensive line. The Tornadoes will try their vaunted defense against the Big Spring Steers in the opening game for both teams at 8 o'clock here Friday night. The Tornadoes engaged in two recent scrimmages, against Kermit and Lubbock Monterey. On both occasions, their line stood out. The Lamesa line is quick, is strong and coach Jay probably has more depth on defense up front than he does anywhere else. Middle guard Johnny Harper, leads the Tornado primary. He is so fast he is capable of outrunning several backs on the Lamesa squad. He failed to letter a year ago only because he was injured early in the year and didn't get to play much. Other Lamesa linemen sure to perform on defense against Big Spring are ends Russell Stevens, 182 pounds; and Steve Wilkes, 177 pounds; and the 200-pound Dale Slough, a tackle, who will go both ways against Big Spring. Willis Sullivan, 175 pounds; by scouts as a "head hunter," a boy who plays for keeps. He invariably is in the right place at the right time. Because of a lack of big running backs, the Tornadoes will probably pass a lot against Big Spring. When the Steers scrimmaged Sweetwater here last week, they betrayed a major weakness in aerial defense—something the coaches have been trying to correct in practice this week. The Tornadoes will occasion try to ram the ball down Big Spring's throat, just to keep the defense honest. Joe Harper, 190-pounder, will usually have the ball in those instances. Jay is hoping to get a lot of mileage out of Louis Jenkins, a 150-pounder, too. Johnny Gibson is the better passer of the two Lamesa quarterbacks. He can be expected to throw both to ends Joe Demerson, who is faster than most of the Big Spring players, and Gary Mayfield, a junior letterman. The 1965 Tornadoes won three games while losing five and tying two. One of their defeats was by a score of 20-0 at the hands of Big Spring. The Tornadoes intend to start off on the right foot in their play this fall.

GARY MAYFIELD

Marsh Traded To Detroiters

DALLAS (AP)—Amos Marsh, big running back who was starting his fifth season with the Dallas Cowboys, has been traded. He goes to the Detroit Lions for a future draft choice. Marsh's disposition was a foregone conclusion when the Cowboys obtained fullback J. D. Smith from San Francisco in an effort to help Don Perkins in the Dallas running game. Marsh was a key man in the 1962 Cowboys offense when he ran for 892 yards—an average of 5.6.

Larry Reven, 180; and Ector Lopez, 177, are apt to see a lot of action in the trenches for the Lamesans. A guard on defense, Lopez is also possessed with fine speed. Lopez and Sullivan will flank Harper while Stevens and Reven will play on the outside up front. Steve Paxton, 150; W. G. Drone, 135; Jerry Glenn, 175; and Ken Flaniken, 155, are line-backers for the Invaders. Paxton and Glenn both won varsity letters for the Tornadoes last year. Paxton is described

Jim O'Toole Notches Win Despite Injury

Traded

The San Francisco 49ers have traded fullback J. D. Smith a veteran of nine years with the club, and a guard to the Dallas Cowboys for future draft choices. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Mays Nearing Coveted Mark

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays is on the verge of joining the exclusive 500-homer club with its membership of four, yet the San Francisco Giants' star center fielder's prime interest remains the hot pennant race in the National League.

Willie belted his 44th and 45th homers of the season Wednesday, driving in five runs as the Giants bombarded Houston 12-3 and retained the league lead they won Tuesday night at Los Angeles.

That made it 498 for Willie since he broke in with the Giants in New York back in 1951. Only Babe Ruth with 714, Jimmy Fox, 534; Ted Williams, 521; and Mel Ott, 511, are over the 500 mark.

Ott holds the National League leadership, which Mays seems sure to top.

"These last 25 games are going to be real tough," said Mays, looking forward to the stretch drive.

He said he felt physically strong, but said he would need a little rest along the way.

"I think I can do the club better when I get a day off," he explained.

Manager Herman Franks has been giving the 34-year-old star periodic rests this season.

By The Associated Press

Luck of the Irish? Not for Jim O'Toole. Irish stew would be more appropriate.

O'Toole, who's been in a stew most of his career and all of this season, fashioned a four-hitter Wednesday night as the Cincinnati Reds crushed the New York Mets and moved to within one-half game of the National League lead.

It was O'Toole's first complete game since opening day and only his second victory of the year, but then inexplicable things happen to a guy who in the past has been kicked by a horse and rapped in the face by a paddle-tennis racket — at a Jewish Center.

SAME OLD STORY

A 17-game winner in 1964, O'Toole pitched well enough in spring training to earn the opening day assignment and went out and pitched a complete game against Milwaukee. But he lost. He went out time and again but was unable to win until June 16 when he was credited with the victory in a game against the Mets.

He hadn't won since when he took a 1-9 record and a 6.82 earned run average into Wednesday's game against the Mets — and in the first inning was hit on his pitching hand by a pitch thrown by Darrell Sutherland.

"Everything just seemed to go wrong for me this season — like when he hit me on the hand," said O'Toole. "I thought: Holy smoke, there it goes, and I just wondered if I'd be able to throw the baseball the next inning."

He was, and eventually marched off the mound with the organ playing "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and the Reds in a tie with the Los Angeles Dodgers for second place, one-half game behind front-running San Francisco.

The Giants remained on top as Willie Mays hammered his 44th and 45th homer and drove in five runs in a 12-3 walloping of Houston. Fourth-place Milwaukee fell two games behind after a 6-5 loss to Philadelphia and fifth-place Pittsburgh remained four back with a 2-1 decision over St. Louis.

MAYS IS HOT

Mays hit a three-run homer in the second inning and connected with one man on in the eighth, lifting his career homer total to

498. Willie McCovey also homered for the Giants while Bob Bolin scattered nine Houston hits, bringing his record to 9-5 with his first complete game of the season.

Johnny Callison and Dick Stuart drove in five of the Phillies' runs. Callison stroking a run-producing single in the third inning and a two-run single in the seventh while Stuart hit a two-run homer in the fourth. Joe Torre and Hank Aaron hit solo homers for the Braves.

Bob Friend allowed the Cardinals only four hits, bringing his record to 7-11, while the Pirates broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh when Del Crandall lashed a double off Ray Sadecki and Gene Alley followed with a single. Sadecki struck out 13 in his seven-inning stint.

Ashe Says He Can Prevail

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — "I can beat Emerson," a confident Arthur Ashe said today as he contemplated his next assignment in the National Tennis Championships.

"I have matured a lot. I have found out that good players are not infallible. They make mistakes like anybody else."

"I figure if I go out there and play tennis — play my best — I can win, no matter how much on form Emerson is."

TO MEET AUSSIE

The 22-year-old Negro, born in Richmond, Va., and now living in Los Angeles, faces Australia's Roy Emerson, holder of the U.S., Wimbledon and Australian titles and rated the world's best amateur player, Friday in the quarter-finals.

Ashe believes the winner will go to the finals where he will find waiting for him another outsider named Charlie Pasarell.

Ashe was impressive in eliminating Thomas Koch of Brazil 12-10, 13-11, 10-8.

Pasarell, the talented and unpredictable Puerto Rican who upset second-seeded Fred Stolle of Australia last Sunday, met Mexico's sixth-seeded Rafael Osuna in one of the two men's quarter-finals today.

Third-seeded Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and South Africa's Cliff Drysdale played in the other.

The other half of the draw is in action Friday, with Emerson facing the fifth-seeded Ashe and Manuel Santana of Spain facing Antonio Palafox of Mexico, upset winner over seventh-seeded Chuck McKinley 9-7, 6-4, 8-6.

The women's quarter-finals will be completed, with Wimbledon champion Margaret Smith of Australia playing Justina Bricks of St. Louis in the feature match. Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., the top-ranked American, plays Tory Ann Fretz of Los Angeles.

Brazil's defending champion Maria Bueno, Britain's Ann Haydon Jones, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Carole Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, advanced Wednesday.

Emerson had to go all out Wednesday to beat Pierre Barthes of France 6-4, 13-11, 6-4. Ralston lost the first set and had to battle for his life before beating big Ron Holmberg 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-5, 11-9 in the tournament's top thriller to date. Santana beat Marty Riessen 10-8, 6-1, 6-3.

In the other matches, Drysdale eliminated 42-year-old Vic Seixas 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Osuna looked good in beating Ronald Barnes of Brazil 6-0, 6-4, 6-4. Pasarell breezed past Canada's left-handed Keith Carpenter 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

Austin Baseball Man Found Dead

AUSTIN (AP) — Ed Knebel, 77, an Austin business man who supported baseball, is dead.

The body of Knebel was found in his apartment Wednesday and Justice of the Peace Jerry Deliana said he would rule death by natural causes. Deliana said Knebel apparently had been dead since Sunday.

Knebel, president of a bottling company here, organized an Austin professional baseball club in 1947 and operated the club for several years.

Player Has Best Average Among Golfers At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Gary Player has the best World Series of Golf average at the Firestone Country Club, where he once remarked you could almost hear the rough growing.

The 7,165-yard, par-70 course has a prerequisite for accuracy and Player has averaged 71.4 strokes per round in 18 rounds at the club. This weekend he'll be one of a select foursome who will shoot 36 holes for a total purse of $77,500.

Jack Nicklaus, Masters' champ, has averaged 72 strokes a round at Firestone for 24 rounds. He is the favorite against Player, U.S. Open champ, Peter Thomson, British Open titlist and Dave Marr, PGA champ.

Marr and Thomson are newcomers to the World Series tourney, which Nicklaus has won twice in the last three years. The Series is only for winners of the four major tournaments.

Top series prize is $50,000, with $15,000 for second place money, $7,500 for third and $5,000 for fourth.

Nicklaus won in 1962 and 1963 but did not qualify last year and Tony Lema walked off with the title. It was in 1962 that Player, while waiting for a shot, said he was sure he could hear grass growing in the rough.

Play in the World Series will begin at 11 a.m., CST, each day, including the practice round Friday. The final six holes on Saturday and Sunday will be televised (NBC) from 4 to 4:30 p.m., Big Spring time.

SENATE EXPANSION REJECTION

Rural Texans Real Losers In Election

By The Associated Press

Rural Texans were the real losers in the overwhelming rejection at the polls of the state Senate's plan to expand its membership, backers of the defeated constitutional amendment say.

The proposed increase from 31 to 39 members would have preserved six rural seats while adding to the representation of big cities in line with federal court decisions.

Voeters turned the proposal down Tuesday 131,263 to 83,274 with about 10,000 votes not counted, according to the Texas Election Bureau's last report Wednesday.

AGAINST

A total of 147 counties voted for the proposal and 187 against. Many rural counties went against the amendment.

The plan was approved in the closing days of the 59th Legislature as one way to make redistricting less distasteful. But the lawmakers also passed a Senate reapportionment bill which throws 13 incumbent senators into six districts and adds to the representation of the cities.

Sen. Walter Richter of Gonzales, who was placed in a district with Sens. Culp Krueger of El Campo and Bill Patman of Ganado, blamed the defeat on an argument by opponents that the measure was devised to save the seven senators who will be eliminated by redistricting.

"That hurt the whole cause because people thought the amendment was intended to help ourselves. I thought it had a lot of merits besides the personal aspects," Richter said.

HUGE DISTRICTS

He mentioned the large size of some Senate districts created by reapportionment. One West Texas district will be 360 miles long and Central Texas will have a 270-mile-long district.

"They won't be able to take care of their people," Richter said of senators from the king-sized districts.

Sen. Jack Strong of Longview, whom the redistricting bill places with Sen. Galloway Calhoun Jr. of Tyler, said: "I feel the rural areas will suffer because the increased size of the districts will remove the closeness of representation."

The 360-mile-long district includes the home counties of Sens. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo and W. E. Snelson of Midland. Sens. Louis Crump of San Saba and J. P. Word of Meridian live in the new 270-mile-long Central Texas district.

Other combined districts are those of Sens. Jack Hightower of Vernon, and Andy Rogers of Childress, and of Sens. Bill Moore of Bryan and Neville Colson of Navasota.

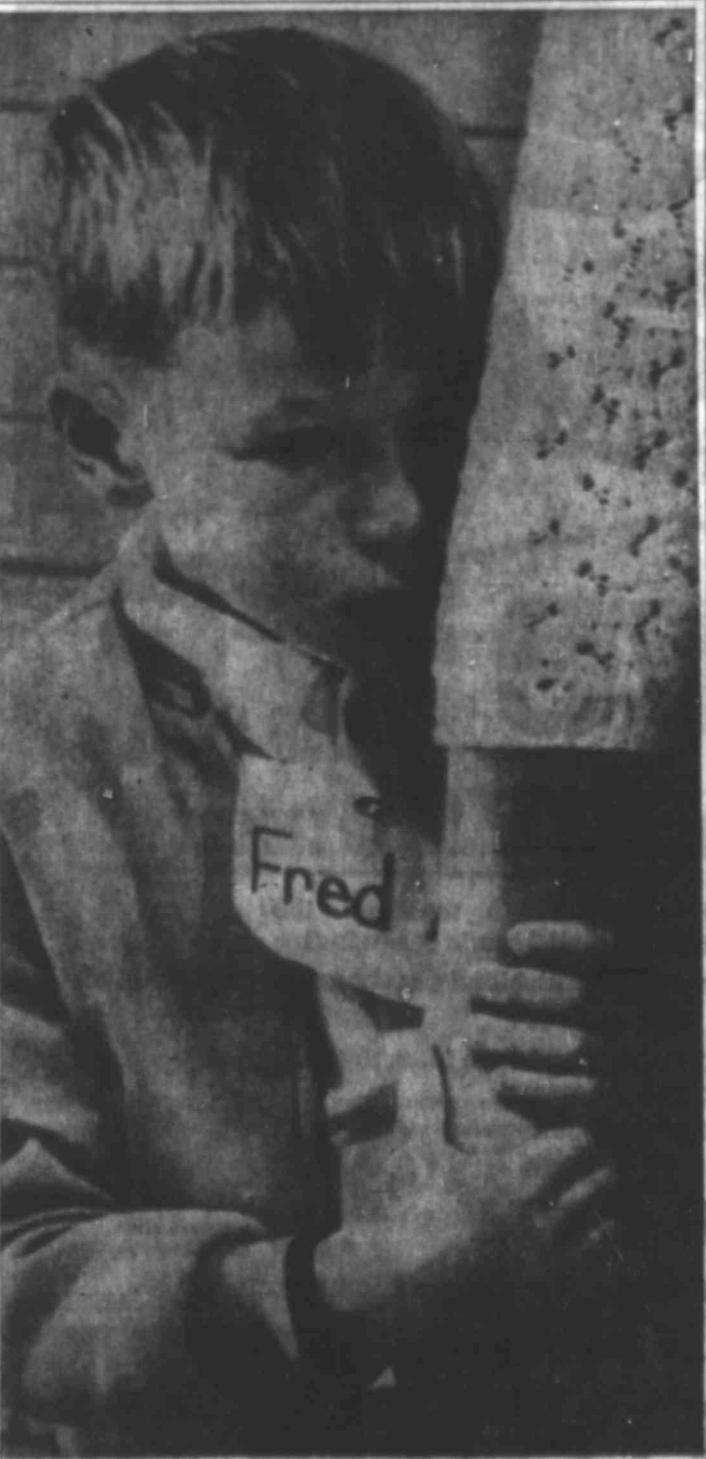

HOPE GONE

"There is no hope now for the rural areas to have the kind of representation they've had in the past," said Hardeman, predicting that metropolitan areas would control the Senate in a few years.

Houston's Sen. Criss Cole called the vote "a real victory for the urban areas of the state." Harris County will have three more senators in Bexar County will gain two, and Dallas County will pick up two.

"I feel it was a combination of labor, liberal, Republican and aginner votes," said Strong.

"It was primarily a lack of interest on behalf of the public, and I assume the public generally thought we could get along with 31 senators," said Sen. Charles Herring of Austin.

High Schools Try 'New Chemistry'

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — are held together by forces to produce compounds. There are other concepts that could have been used.

"If you started at the first of the year to read everything new in chemistry as it came out," says Dr. Laurence Strong, "by the end of the year you'd be 10 years behind."

It is because of this, and because as much has been learned about chemistry in the past 10 to 13 years as was ever learned before, that many of today's high school pupils are studying a "new chemistry" as part of a curricula revolution in U.S. education.

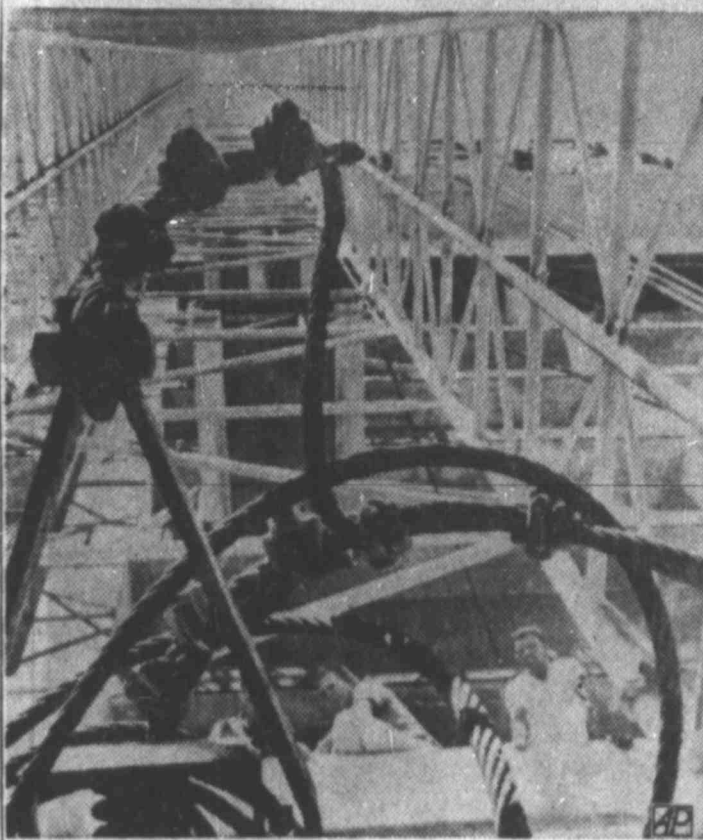

Strong, who has been head of the chemistry department at Earlham (Ind.) College here since 1952, said, it all started in 1957 at a meeting of high school and college chemistry teachers at Reed College in Portland, Ore.

LITTLE CHOICE

"The high school teachers complained that what they were teaching didn't suit them, and was not really relative to modern-day chemistry. For instance, one single textbook dominated the high school chemistry field—it gave the teachers little choice," he said.

"I suggested a way out might be to organize a course around a key idea that chemists think significant. I further suggested that 'chemical bond' was such an idea.

"This is the idea that atoms

U.S. Embassy Stays Mum On Claim By Dominican

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The U.S. Embassy kept silent today on claims by Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin that two of its staff offered him money and position abroad if he agreed to leave the Dominican Republic.

Wessin, who led the coup which overthrew President Juan Bosch and also led the resistance to the pro-Bosch revolt in April, told newsmen the Americans offered him $50,000 for his home. He said the house and lot were worth half that.

The two Americans also promised him military attaché jobs in London or Madrid, he said.

Rebel leaders have demanded removal of Wessin from command of the armed forces training center and that he be sent out of the country or barred from any post of power.

The general, 42, said he was approached by Lt. Col. Joseph William Weyrick, an Army attaché, and David Phillips, who he claimed was an agent for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Indonesians Mob Indian Embassy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A mob of 500 Indonesians sacked the Indian Embassy today, charging India with aggression against Pakistan.

The mob broke into the unguarded embassy in downtown Jakarta and in half an hour destroyed all the furniture and broke all the windows in the one-story bungalow. The mob also destroyed three automobiles.

Security forces arrived 10 minutes after the mob left.

Ruby Claims 'True Facts' Suppressed

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby asserted today that persons in what he called "high places" have sought to suppress facts about the Kennedy assassination and following events. He did not name the persons.

Ruby talked with reporters when he was brought into court today for a hearing peaking disqualification of Judge Joe Brown.

Brown was the trial judge when Ruby was convicted and sentenced to death for killing President Kennedy's assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald.

"FACTS NOT TOLD"

Ruby claimed the true facts surrounding the assassination will never be revealed because "unfortunately some people in high places had so much to gain by putting me in this position."

He frequently interrupted himself to ask reporters if he appeared to be insane. A sanity trial has been ordered for Ruby.

One of his lawyers, Sol Dann of Detroit, tried to halt Ruby's utterances, but the one-time night club operator snapped back, "Leave me alone. I know what I'm doing."

Pressed to elaborate about "people in high places" remark, Ruby said for example that the results of a polygraph test given him in jail under supervision of Chief Justice Earl Warren has not been divulged.

He was also flanked at the counsel table by another lawyer, Elmer Gertz of Chicago.

RELAXED, AMIABLE

Ruby appeared very amiable and relaxed when escorted into the courtroom by Sheriff Bill Decker.

He chatted and joked with reporters, but steadily became more serious.

"I'll let you judge whether this sounds like a crazy man," he said at one point.

Ruby said he had demanded a polygraph test constantly from the time of his arrest until he got one in the presence of Chief Justice Warren.

Asked whether his reference to people in high places referred in any way to findings of the Warren Commission, which investigated the assassination of President Kennedy and Kennedy's killer, Ruby said, "Just recall one item:

"NOT DIVULGED"

"After Warren spent nine hours with me—and this is very important—and asked me numerous questions about my association with people, the Warren report refused to divulge the results of the polygraph because they said I did not know the difference between right and wrong."

Ruby said his mind had not deteriorated since he had been in jail, but rather had matured. Judge Brown earlier turned over to Ruby's lawyers the manuscript of his book about the Ruby trial.

Cotton Surplus May Set Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Technological advances in production are defeating government efforts to bring cotton production into balance with demands.

A new government production report issued Wednesday indicated that despite control efforts, the reserve and surplus supply of cotton at the end of the 1965 crop marketing year will be the largest in history—around 15.8 million bales.

A Look Back At Summer On Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's new season looms ahead, but before the summer season disappears Saturday night, a look backward seems in order.

With few exceptions, the network hot weather fare offered little stimulating entertainment. CBS' "Secret Agent," a British import in the tongue-in-cheek James Bond manner, proved a rollicking adventure series.

Art Linkletter's Hollywood edition of old "Talent Scouts" — also on CBS — presented some new young talent and ran at a relaxed pace, while Carl Reiner's "Celebrity Game" proved an oasis in a desert of reruns.

Most disappointing show of the summer was CBS' highly touted "It's What's Happening, Baby," the musical variety program that was supposed to inspire school dropouts to drop in again.

The principal disaster of the period was the appearance of Frank Sinatra, along with Sammy Davis Jr. on NBC's "Tonight Show" while Joey Bishop was taking over the host chores. The inside jokes which few in the audience understood, Davis' wild foot-stomping at Sinatra's mildest stab at humor, plus Sinatra shown nervous guest Sally Ann Howes made for embarrassed and boring viewing.

Church Readies For Third Fall Festival

Preparations have been under way all week at St. Thomas Catholic where the colorful "September Fiesta" will get under way Saturday afternoon. This is the third fall celebration such as this which the church has sponsored as part of the continuing project to restore and improve the church facilities.

The church was built in 1910, and the Rev. Robert J. McDermott has led the efforts to beautify the buildings and grounds. The first festival was held to provide funds for improving the sanctuary which was re-

Painted and carpeted. Other efforts were directed toward re-finishing side altars and pews, and colors of the statues and stations of the cross were brightened to enhance the beauty of the small church.

Last year the festival funds were allotted to remodeling of the basement. A new ceiling and floor covering were provided, paneling installed, and dividers built to separate the space into different activity areas. Two new stoves and cabinet tops were purchased for the kitchen.

The lower room of the church is the center of all the church activities other than worship services. This is where the Mexican supper will be served from 4:30 to 9 p.m., and the entire hall will be decorated in a festive Mexican theme.

Altar Society members and others have spent their spare time this summer making clothes for dolls of all nations which will be available at a special booth. Other groups have sewn stuffed animals, aprons and other items that will be in the sewing booth.

The festival will begin after the supper with many more booths in operation than were possible last year. There will be a miniature golf hole, various ring and ball toss booths and an old-fashioned cake walk for which 40 cakes are being furnished by women from Webb Air Force Base.

For those who cannot make the dinner, need extra snacks, there will be concession stands serving hot dogs, hamburgers, ice cream, candy apples and drinks. A special booth will serve tacos for those who prefer this specialty.

Proceeds from this year's festival will be used to beautify the church grounds.

General chairman for the festival is Fidel Saldivar, and Miss Tina Molina is in charge of tickets.

Other chairmen are Mrs. Antonio Martinez, Mexican supper; Mrs. I. Montanez and Lupe Molina, sodas; Lee Schattel, electricity; Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Gonzalez, bingo; Miss Isabel Molina, cake walk; Miss Inez Montanez, prize walk; Miss Tina Molina, doll booth; Mr. and Mrs. Juanita Viera, sewing booth; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Conway, fish pond; Juan Rodriguez, jail house; Lt. Mary E. Viancourt, decorations; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gomez, publicity; Miss Ramona Molina, money; Miss San Juana Tovar, darts; Lupe Rocha, canes; Manuel Dominguez, hoop-the-loop; Mr. and Mrs. Elias Chavez, cotton candy and apples; Margarito Escovedo, snow cones; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Yanez, hot dogs; Higinio Moreno, hamburgers; Tony Martinez Jr., special booth; Humberto Hernandez, basketball throw; and David Viancourt, miniature golf.

Others are Mrs. Higinio Moreno, waitresses; Duane Arnold, ring the goose; Mrs. D. Arnold, knock the bottle; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Munoz, ice cream; Demetrio Rocha, throw bottles; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martinez, music; and Mrs. Lupe Saldivar, prizes. Special booths will be operated by the St. Joseph Men's Society and the St. Anne's Guild at Webb AFB.

Only Gets Three

The Rev. Robert J. McDermott of St. Thomas Catholic Church inspects one of the game booths being completed for Saturday's festival on the church grounds. Warning him that he must hit the target with only three balls are Demetrio Rocha and Margarito Escovedo.

Three Attend Contest Held At Brownwood

WESTBROOK (SC)—Mrs. A. Merritt and daughter, Pam, of C. Moody, accompanied by Mrs. Bobby Henderson and Mrs. Pearl Henderson of Colorado City spent the Labor Day holiday in Brownwood as guests of Mrs. Lee Earp, Mrs. Bobby Henderson's daughter, and with other relatives and attended the Old Fiddlers Contest sponsored by Brownwood Lions Club.

Mrs. Paul Byrd is in Lubbock with her mother, Mrs. Reba Russell, who underwent surgery this week at Methodist Hospital. Mrs. Russell celebrated her 89th birthday Aug. 29, at her home in Levelland.

Supt. and Mrs. Herman Parsons and Melaine spent the holidays in Austin.

Guests of the Charley Olivers Saturday was Mrs. Leonard Hazelwood of Big Spring and Mrs. Jim Berry of Midland. They also visited with Mrs. Willie Byrd. Sunday guests included, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Robinson and daughter of Lamesa and Mrs. Dale

Sewing Tips For Clothing Finishing

Whenever you do top-stitching, use silk buttonhole twist as the top thread in your machine instead of regular thread. If the stitching is likely to show on the underside, such as on the turn back of a lapel, use buttonhole twist in the bobbin as well; or you can stop the stitching at point of turn back, reverse garment in machine, and start top stitching again so it will be on outside when garment is worn.

Where stitching begins and ends, leave thread ends long enough to be inserted in needle so they can be worked to inside and fastened.

To simulate saddle stitching, set machine for 6 to 8 stitches per inch. Experiment with length of stitch for various effects.

Run several rows of this top stitching very close together for an extremely handsome finish. Slip a piece of heavy tissue paper under work while top stitching to keep fabric from puckering or shifting. Carefully tear paper away after stitching is completed.

Sandra Maxwell Gets ABWA Scholarship

Miss Sandra Maxwell, Rankin, White, Miss Hazel McCool and Mrs. E. L. Newton.

R. W. Thompson, vice president of Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, was guest speaker. He discussed interesting factors regarding the growth and development of Cosden.

A surprise bridal shower was given for Mrs. Ralph Wilson, and it was announced that the Hand of Friendship Tea will be held Sept. 19 at the home of Mrs. R. C. LeFevre, 308 W. 18th from 3-5 p.m.

New Slate Installed

New officers were installed during the Tuesday morning meeting of the Women's Missionary Union of the Crestview Baptist Church.

Mrs. Shirley Fryer was in charge of the installation ceremonies and new officers are Mrs. Billy Scott, president and Mrs. Don Richie, vice president.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. Lowell Brown, circles; Mrs. Horace Bowden, secretary, treasurer and stewardship; Mrs. J. C. Burchett, programs; Mrs. T. E. Cantrell, community missions; Mrs. Don Richie, Mrs. Kenneth Scott, Mrs. J. C. Burchett and Mrs. Wayne Burchett, youth counselors; and Mrs. Jack Griffith, mission study.

"Scattered Abroad in the Orient" was the program topic, and it was announced that there would be a week of prayer for the state missions.

Party Honoree

The Sunday issue of The Herald named Mrs. Melvin Daniel as the honoree at a gift shower. It should have listed Mrs. Daniel as the hostess and Mrs. Melvin Brown as the honoree.

Club Makes Plans For First Show

Plans for the flower show Nov. 1 were discussed during the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Four O'Clock Garden Club. The members met at the home of Mrs. Don Campbell, 2700 Larry.

Mrs. Joe Horton, schedule chairman, issued programs for the forthcoming show, and announced that the theme would be "The Money Tree."

Members were reminded that flower show school No. 5 would be held Oct. 6-8 at the YMCA and that landscaping would be included. It was also stressed that the deadline for applications for state awards would be Nov. 15.

Refreshments were served to the members and Mrs. Al Andrie, a guest. The next meeting will be Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. Charles Franklin.

Flower Pictures Need Close Ups

When taking flower pictures use a close-up lens. An overall picture of the garden, no matter how colorful it looks to you, is usually only confusing when it is projected on the screen. A close up of the flower is much more interesting.

A piece of string tied to the front of the camera with knots at the correct distances makes a handy measuring device.

Oasis Club Has Flower Film

"Lines and Flowers" was the title of a color film shown to the members of the Oasis Garden Club at their Wednesday morning meeting, Chaplain C. O. Hitt conducted the film at the chapel of the Veterans Administration Hospital.

The regular business session was held at the home of Mrs. Paul Kionka, 1610 Pennsylvania. Mrs. Tom Rosson was cohostess.

Refreshments were served from a garden table covered with a cherry red cloth. The centerpiece was an arrangement of driftwood, sea shells and manzanita branches.

It was announced that the Nov. 3 flower show is to be a placement show and that the theme is "Fantasy." Mrs. C. V. Wash, San Angelo Highway, will be the hostess.

Committees to prepare for the show were selected. They are Mrs. Lois O'Barr Smith, general chairman; Mrs. J. D. Leonard, schedule; Mrs. Wash, staging; Mrs. M. C. Stulting, placing; Mrs. Lee Porter, entries and classification; Mrs. Albert Hohertz, clerks and awards; and Mrs. C. O. Hitt, judges.

MRS. W. R. DAWES AND SON, BOB

Care Of Teenagers Told By Mother

By JO ANN PHINIZY

The care and feeding of teenagers is a specialty Mrs. W. R. Dawes, 2804 Cactus, acquired a number of years ago.

She has seen three sons through the high school age and is in the last lap with 17-year-old Martha, a Big Spring High School senior.

Mrs. Dawes feels that the teen years present the kind of chaos that a parent wouldn't miss for the world, but would just as soon not go through again.

On the care of teenagers, Mrs. Dawes thinks that the secret is in letting the young people know exactly what is expected of them. Once that point is established, it becomes a matter of trusting them to obey the rules.

On the feeding of teenagers, the problem takes on (to some people) gigantic dimensions; but not to such as Mrs. Dawes. She has discovered that teenagers will eat anything—all the time.

In Mrs. Dawes' scheme of things, the problem is in having food available when high schoolers find time to eat. She tries not to insist that her troops fracture their school activities by attending strictly scheduled mealtimes.

PLANS MEALS
Instead Mrs. Dawes loosely plans the families' evening meal for whoever she hopes will be there. If the young people are not present by the time the food is on the table, leftovers go into the refrigerator.

Mrs. Dawes has discovered that, hot or cold, food has a way of disappearing when teenagers are grazing in the area.

That the Daweses routine is a success is indisputable. Her three sons have well survived the crucial growing years.

First there's Joe Dawes. He has finished his formal education and is a mathematics teacher at Goliad Junior High School.

The second son is Bob, who is a senior at Texas Tech and hopes to start work on his masters degree. Before that, however, he has made application to join the Peace Corps and is looking forward to the special opportunities and challenges of that program.

Jim Dawes is the youngest son and has begun his education at the University of Texas.

Martha is the remaining teenager at home. Mrs. Dawes says that it is a real change to have a daughter around. She is a great help in the cooking department—when she has time, that is.

STEER BAND
These days, Martha's attention is usually focused on outside activities. She is a member of the Steer Band and, very often, does volunteer work at the Veterans Administration Hospital. All of this is to say nothing of the countless other teenage attractions that grown-ups have forgotten existed.

As secretary to S. M. Anderson, superintendent of schools, Mrs. Dawes is quite accustomed to the ups and downs of the pre-twenty world. Whatever area her day might skim over is competently covered by her husband, W. R. Dawes, principal of Marcy Elementary School.

The Dawes family moved to Big Spring in 1939 from Livingston, N. M. Mrs. Dawes learned to cook after she was married and says neither she nor her family cares for elaborate or exotic foods. Such things as rat-lesnake sandwiches or raw oysters on the half shell have no intrigue at all to the Dawes contingent.

The recipes that Mrs. Dawes selected are ones that are quick and easy to prepare and provide ample fuel supply for teenagers.

POUND CAKE
1 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. lemon juice (or 1 tsp. butter flavoring if desired)
1 cup buttermilk
3 cups sifted flour
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. soda
½ tsp. baking powder

Cream shortening, sugar, add eggs, vanilla and lemon juice (or butter flavoring). Mix dry ingredients and add alternately with buttermilk to other mixture. Pour into a tubular cake pan which has been greased and floured. Cook at 325 degrees for about one hour and 10 minutes.

BANANA BREAD
1 cup sugar
½ cup shortening
2 eggs
1 cup bananas, mashed
1 cup chopped pecans (optional)
2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. soda
Mix together well. Bake in 350 degree oven 50 minutes to one hour.

APPLE PIE
½ cup shortening
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ tsp. salt
1 can unsweetened apples
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. nutmeats

Cut shortening into flour to which salt has been added. Roll one-half of the dough to line a nine-inch pie pan, saving the remainder for top crust.

Mix the can of apples with the sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Pour into pie shell, dot generously with butter, cover with top crust and prick holes in crust to allow steam to escape.

Bake in a 450 degree oven for 10 minutes, and reduce heat to 350 degrees. Bake about 40 more minutes or until golden brown.

SMOTHERED CHICKEN
1 chicken
1 cup water
Salt
Pepper

Cut chicken in half and place cut side down in heavy aluminum skillet with tight lid. Add water and cook in 325 degree oven two and a half to three hours, or until meat pulls away from bones. Remove lid, salt and pepper to taste. Return to oven to brown lightly. The stock may be thickened in the usual manner for gravy.

SMOTHERED STEAK
Round steak (sized to your family)
1 cup water (or canned onion soup)
Pound flour into steak; brown in small amount of shortening; add water or onion soup. If water is used, salt to taste. If onion soup is used, no salt is usually necessary. Cover tightly and cook with low heat on stove burner for two to two and a half hours, depending on size of steak, or until it can be cut easily with a fork.

Fresh Frosting
Frosted fresh strawberries provide delicious garnishes for summer salads and desserts. For 24: Dip 1 pint of whole, dry strawberries into 1 lightly beaten egg white; roll in ¼ cup of granulated sugar. Chill or freeze.

TROPICAL SANDWICH Needs imagination and pineapple

New Way For Peanut Butter

Dates from desert palms, pineapple from tropical islands and smooth peanut butter combine to make refreshing Tropical Peanut Butter Sandwiches. Serve these tempting sandwiches with a fresh fruit salad of sliced oranges and bananas and melon balls, milk and cookies for a luncheon. For cooler seasons accompany the sandwiches with bowls of hot soup.

TROPICAL PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICH
¾ cup creamy peanut butter
½ cup chopped pitted dates
½ cup drained crushed pineapple (8-oz. can)
2 tps. lemon juice
12 slices enriched white bread
Butter or margarine, softened
6 lettuce leaves, if desired
Mix together peanut butter, dates, pineapple and lemon juice. Spread bread with butter or margarine. Spread peanut butter mixture on 6 slices bread and cover with lettuce, if desired. Close sandwiches with remaining bread. Cut diagonally into quarters. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Lunch Program Provides Meals

As school bells begin ringing again, many mothers of school-age children will turn some of their meal-planning duties over to the school lunch manager and her staff.

That's a happy thought, especially when we realize how well noon meals are planned at most schools of our nation.

Anyone who tries to stay on a food budget may wonder how the schools can provide nutritious meals at the prices they charge.

A typical noon menu might be barbecued beef on buttered roll, potato salad, buttered spinach, fresh apple and milk—all at an average national cost to the child of 27 cents. Needy children pay little or nothing. How can the schools do it?

PLANNING

It's not easy. It takes a lot of careful planning, careful buying and careful preparation. But school lunch managers also have some outside help.

Part of the answer lies in the National School Lunch Program. Last year, this program enabled about 70,000 public and non-profit private schools to serve low-cost nutritious lunches to 17 million children.

The program is administered nationally by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In each state, it is administered by the state educational agency, in cooperation with local school districts. Here's how it works: Local lunchrooms participating in the program receive federal donations of abundant agricultural products and cash assistance which amounts to around 23 per cent of the total program cost. Children's payments take care of about 56 per cent of the cost. State and local resources pay the rest.

The school lunch manager, with guidance of local educators in each community, operates her own lunchroom and plans her menus, using foods bought in local markets supplemented with the foods donated by USDA.

MENUS

Menus for each school in the National School Lunch Program are planned according to the Type A pattern, developed by USDA to insure each child one-third to one-half of his daily nutritional needs. Included in the pattern are two ounces of lean meat, fish, poultry, cheese, or an equivalent quantity of eggs, peanut butter or beans; ½ cup of two or more vegetables and/or fruit; two teaspoons of butter or fortified margarine; a portion of enriched or whole grain bread; and a half pint of fluid whole milk.

Last year's food bill at participating schools totaled more than $876 million. Almost four-fifths of this — $683 million—was spent by schools in local food markets. The school lunch program is a $1.4 billion industry serving 2.8 billion lunches a year.

KING SIZE Enough for everyone around

Family Size Sandwich That's Different, Easy

Sandwiches are one of the most popular of American foods. There is literally no ceiling on the ways they can be prepared.

How about a whole loaf of sandwiches for a family meal? A foot-long loaf of French bread can be filled with a combination of seasoned, deviled ham, tomato and cucumber slices to add vegetables and texture. It's almost a meal in a loaf!

Deviled ham mixes easily with mustard and mayonnaise, explains Reba Staggs, meat expert. It's spread on three of the four slices of the bread before tomato and cucumber are inserted. The fourth slice is not filled so it can be separated easily for serving.

KING-SIZE HAM SANDWICH
2 cans (2½ oz. each) deviled ham

1 loaf French bread, approximately 12 inches long
1 tsp. mayonnaise
1 tsp. prepared mustard
6 small tomato slices
12 thin cucumber slices
Cut bread into ¼-inch thick slices, being careful not to cut all the way through the loaf. Combine deviled ham, mayonnaise and mustard. Spread ham mixture between bread slices leaving every fourth cut without filling.

Place a tomato slice in first cut and 2 cucumber slices in second cut, leaving third cut with filling and fourth cut plain. Repeat, using remaining cucumber and tomato slices. Place loaf on a baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 10 minutes. Slice between every fourth cut to make 6 sandwiches.

New Touch Added To Hot Dogs

Beef frankfurters are given special appeal when cooked with sauerkraut until piping hot and bursting with juicy goodness. Serve in heated hot dog buns spread with horseradish mustard and butter. Yes, include some of the drained sauerkraut in the bun, too! For a variation on this idea, cut the frankfurters crosswise, a 1 m o s t through the meat, but not quite at ¼-inch intervals. Cook in sauerkraut, and then serve the kraut and 'furters in heated round buns. Or, cook the frankfurters in crushed pineapple, with juice, until heated and serve in a bun spread with lemon-butter.

Texas-style barbecue sandwiches are big hits this year. Treat your family to this barbecue-in-a-bun real soon. Brown thin strips of round, chuck or sirloin steak in heated butter or margarine. Sprinkle meat lightly with salt, and add just enough water to create steam. Cover pan and cook until meat is tender. Add bottled barbecue sauce and continue cooking, uncovered, until sauce is thick and hot. Serve in heated hamburger, poppy seed or sesame seed round buns. Excellent served with cole slaw.

Pupils Need Breakfast

COLLEGE STATION — Tell a teenage daughter she can't have anything to eat for 12 hours, and she'd accuse you of starving her. But this is what many young people are doing to themselves when they skip breakfast, says Louis Mason, Texas A&M University Extension foods and nutrition specialist.

Recent studies by the Department of Agriculture show that six out of every ten teenage girls and four out of every ten teenage boys studied have poor diets. This is because of their habit of skipping breakfast and of relying on snacks that do not contain enough vitamins, minerals and proteins.

Calorie counting girls often skip breakfast thinking they will lose weight. However, during several Iowa breakfast studies, it was demonstrated that the omission of breakfast held no advantage in a weight reduction diet.

In fact, Miss Mason says, it is a disadvantage. Those people who omit breakfast accentuate their hunger and suffer a significant loss of efficiency in the late morning hours.

The following menu is an excellent example of a good, low-calorie breakfast, says Miss Mason.

400 CALORIE BREAKFAST
1/2 cup orange juice
1 ounce hot or ready-to-eat cereal
1 tsp. sugar
1 cup nonfat milk for cereal and beverage
2 slices enriched white bread
1 teaspoon butter

cheese flavor, you give the soup a touch of garlic powder and oregano. This tops the meat, tomatoes, and onion which have been arranged on rolls. Then... under the broiler for a few minutes to heat and brown. Served with chopped hot cherry peppers on top, this Hot Cheese Hoagy is a treat worth repeating.

Plan some accompanying celery, carrot sticks, and radishes for crunch... and fresh fruit for dessert. A great meal... and there's no time like the present!

HOT CHEESE HOAGY
1 pkg. (10 oz.) brown and serve French rolls
1/2 lb. thinly sliced hard salami
1/2 cup thinly sliced onion
1 medium tomato, thinly sliced
1 can (11 oz.) condensed Cheddar cheese soup
1/4 tsp. garlic powder
1/4 tsp. oregano, crushed
Chopped hot cherry peppers
Prepare rolls as directed on package; split and toast. Arrange salami on rolls. Top with onion and tomato. Combine soup, garlic and oregano.
Spread evenly over surface; cover edges completely. Broil about 4 inches from heat about 8 minutes. Garnish with peppers. Makes 4 servings.

Flavor Added To Rangetop Dinner

The seasonings for this chicken may be added with a light or heavy hand, according to your taste!

SKILLET CHICKEN
1 broiler-fryer, cut up
Salt and pepper
Rosemary seasoning powder
Dried crushed thyme
1/4 cup butter or margarine
Wash and dry chicken; sprinkle with salt, pepper, rosemary seasoning powder and crushed thyme. Melt butter in a large skillet; add chicken and brown on all sides. Cover tightly and cook gently, turning as necessary, until tender — 30 to 40 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

If you have one of those very small spiral beaters, you'll find it is a great help in mixing water with flour or cornstarch so the combination is smooth. A beater of this sort fits into a cup.

As good cooks will tell you, egg whites can hardly be overbeaten when they are going to be used in a meringue.

For a delightful dessert, fill the cavities of cantaloupe halves with small sugared strawberries and top with small scoops of ice cream; or, if you like, you may reverse the process and top the ice cream with the berries.

When you are serving cantaloupe halves, shave a slice from the bottom rind so the melon will stand straight.

Port wine, muscatel, sweet sherry and sauterne are suitable to serve with dessert.

When you are molding cornmeal mush that is to be chilled, sliced and fried, you can use one of those narrow rectangular glass refrigerator dishes that comes with a cover.

Molasses, honey or brown sugar may be used in whole-wheat yeast bread.

The crumb topping on coffee cake may be made with either flour or fine dry bread crumbs plus butter or margarine and sugar. Either white or brown sugar may be used.

A cup of blueberries is a good measure to use in muffins made from a standard 2-cup or 1 1/2-cup recipe.

When you are baking popovers in custard cups, you may want to place the cups on a cookie sheet.

You can prepare a delicious dressing for wedges of lettuce by mixing mayonnaise with chili sauce, the pulp and juice from finely grated onion, lemon juice and a dash of cayenne.

You can freeze some choice strawberries with their hulls left on and use them as garnishes for desserts.

You can make a jigtime corn dish to serve with frankfurters. Enliven French dressing with lots of minced onion and pour over drained canned whole-kernel corn (or cooked fresh corn cut from the cob).

Fresh mint in the backyard? Chop some leaves and add to vinegar-and-oil or sour cream dressing for fruit salad.

A cracked egg in that box? Wrap it in foil or clear plastic wrap before refrigerating.

You won't have to bother greasing those cookie sheets if you line them with foil — standard weight will be fine. But for lining a broiling or roasting pan, better use heavy-duty foil.

Use those giblets that went into the stock pot! Slice them and add to the gravy for the bird. Or grind, moisten with mayonnaise and season, then use for a sandwich filling.

Please your youngsters! Perch small triangle-shaped crackers atop stuffed egg halves and create sailboats.

A suspicion of finely shredded carrot in the filling for stuffed eggs adds color and flavor interest.

Herbs Make Snappy Loaf

Instead of preparing meat loaf in the usual way, turn this favorite beef dish into a taste sensation. Fill the center of the meat loaf with herb-seasoned stuffing along with sauteed mushrooms and hard-cooked eggs. The perfect blend of flavors in the stuffing gives the meat loaf a mouth watering aroma while it is baking.

HERB-STUFFED MEAT LOAF

1/2 lb. mushrooms, sliced

1 medium onion, minced
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 tsp. bottled lemon juice
1 pkg. herb-seasoned stuffing
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 cup snipped parsley
1/2 to 1 cup boiling water
2 eggs, beaten
2 lbs. ground beef
1 tsp. seasoned salt
1 tsp. prepared mustard
2 hard-cooked eggs
Saute sliced mushrooms and onions in butter until tender.

Add lemon juice, 2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing, pepper and parsley. Add enough boiling water so that mixture is moist.

Combine beaten eggs with the beef. Add seasoned salt, mustard and remaining stuffing to meat mixture. Pack half of meat mixture into a buttered loaf pan; spoon herb-seasoned stuffing mixture on top, press 2 whole hard-cooked eggs into stuffing, top with rest of meat mixture. Bake in 400 degree oven for about 1 hour and 15 minutes. During last 15 minutes of baking garnish top of meat loaf with onion rings. Serves 8.

Sauteed Scallions

Sauteed green onions (scallions) are delicious added to cooked carrots. Include the green tops of the onions and cut them in about 1-inch lengths.

Just About Anything Is Good In Lunches

What's the best answer to light eating?

A sandwich, naturally. That's why any month is sandwich month—a time for especially good eating the sandwich way.

Just about any kind of food imaginable fits into a sandwich, so sandwich making is an ideal solution for leftovers.

Broilers, reported so plentiful by the Consumer and Marketing Service, are delicious when turned into tasty chicken salad sandwiches.

Too, any time is turkey time, and cooked turkey is always a welcome note in sandwich preparation.

Try these Barbecue Turkey Po'Boy Sandwiches. To prepare six, heat together in a large fry pan six thick slices of cooked turkey and 1 1/2 cups of your favorite barbecue sauce. Using six 8-inch po'boy rolls, cut each into three lengthwise slices, restack slices and place rolls on baking sheet. Heat rolls in preheated 350-degree F. oven for about five minutes, or until crisp. Remove rolls from oven.

Spread cut surfaces of rolls with butter and arrange in single layer on baking sheet, buttered side up. Cover bottom roll slices with hot turkey mixture. Top each of the center roll slices with three tomato slices, three sweet onion slices and three green pepper rings. Cut six one-ounce slices of cheese into halves and place two slices on each of the top roll slices. Broil sandwiches in preheated broiler until cheese melts and is slightly brown. Restack slices to form sandwiches. Serve hot.

Dear Abby

The Girl In Waiting

DEAR ABBY: Everybody feels sorry for the poor service man who gets a DEAR JOHN letter. How about the fellows who bring it on themselves by not letting a girl know where she stands? I agree with some of the boys who don't want to get married while they are still in service, but how many of them keep putting it off even when they come home, saying first they want a car, a place to live, money in the bank and a lot of other things? A girl will be an old woman before he marries her with all the things he wants to get first.

I am the mother of a girl who is sitting home, moping around because her "boy friend" is overseas. If he had just let her announce their engagement before he left, I would say she had something to "wait" for. Before he left he "hinted" marriage, but that doesn't mean anything. She writes him every night and she's lucky if she hears from him once in two weeks. It wouldn't surprise me if he brought home a foreign wife.

MOTHER'S MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: If your daughter wants to wait that's her privilege. Don't belittle her loyalty, Mother. In some cases, it's all a service man has to come home to.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law complains because my son goes fishing and plays golf every chance he gets. If I were not her mother-in-law, I would say: "If you made the environment more pleasant, your husband would not want to leave the house so much. When he comes home from work tired, he doesn't want to hear complaints about the kids; he doesn't want to see dirty dishes, unmade beds, toys strewn all over, soiled diapers stacked in the bathroom; he doesn't want to see you untidy with a 'pity me' expression on your face; he doesn't want to be asked to do an errand as soon as he sets foot in the house; nor does he want to be asked what he wants for supper — he'd like to smell something appetizing cooking; he'd like for the kids to be in bed early so you and he can have some time alone. Then they'd be up earlier in the morning and so would you, and you'd get more done." Abby, would I be too hard on her by saying those things? Of course, these words will remain unspoken.

MOTHER-IN-LAW DEAR MOTHER - IN - LAW: Good advice for those who need it — and many do. Yes, let these words remain unspoken. But if your daughter-in-law reads my column, they may not go unread.

DEAR ABBY: As a fellow newspaper gal (just a reporter) I want to say thanks for the plug you gave A.A. It is wonderful to know that you recognize the difference between people who can take a few drinks and stop and those who can't. It's discouraging to have people look at you as though you have two heads when they learn that you are a member of Alcoholics Anonymous. People like you help to remove that misconception. Thanks, too, for pointing out that A.A. has no payroll. The only "pay" we get is the privilege of relieving a lot of human suffering. But if it were not for somebody helping U.S. we wouldn't be able to help anyone else. Most A.A. members do more in the course of a year for nothing than a lot of people would do for $10,000.

GOP Takes Dollar Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders said today the United States should slash its troop strength in Europe, evidence of a "small detachment as leaving a U.S. commitment to help defend European allies.

The party's top policymaking council advanced that recommendation and eight others in a position paper on the dollar and international finances.

"No nation can long endure as a first-class power dressed in a shabby currency," the Republican Coordinating Committee said. "Today, the dollar is the strongest currency in the world, but there is apprehension that it will not remain so."

Space Age Solons Must Be Part-Time Scholars

WASHINGTON (AP) — Expanding science and technology has confronted many congressmen with the opportunity and necessity to acquire knowledge not formerly associated with their positions.

Rep. Olin (Tiger) Teague, D., of the Bryan-Corsicana district (and South Dallas under the re-districting for 1966) attests to the validity of that statement.

So can Rep. Bob Casey, of Houston, site of manned space program headquarters.

Teague, the No. 2 Democrat on the House Science and Astronautics Committee, recalled his days at Texas A&M University, 1928-1932, to emphasize the need for study to act intelligently on space legislation.

HOME WORK He thumbed through a book-sized document dealing with the preparation that went into the recent Gemini 5 space flight and said:

"I've done more home work on the space program, by far, than I ever did in college.

"We hear the top scientists testify in hearings, and we visit aerospace industrial plants, seeing every step in the production of rockets and capsules from the raw metal to the finished thing, but it still takes hours of reading late into the night."

Teague, now 55 and hefty, would like for the alumni of all Texas colleges and universities to put more emphasis on scholarships.

"If these former students would spend one-tenth as much on improving the quality of education as they do on sports, Texas would be much better off," he added.

EDUCATION VITAL "The future of our nation as a world power and of our state as an economic force depends on education. I'm convinced that we cannot continue to be a leading nation or a leading state unless we keep abreast in the production of brainpower."

Teague is personally acquainted with practically all of the astronauts, several of whom he considers as friends. He was at the Houston Space Center during the Gemini 5 splashdown and has witnessed several lift-offs from Cape Kennedy.

One of the many photographs in his office is a color picture of Astronaut Edward H. White II "space walking" during the Gemini 4 flight, and one of James A. McDivitt, his companion on that space journey. White inscribed his picture thusly: "To Chairman Teague with appreciation for your understanding and support of the space program. McDivitt wrote: "To chairman Teague with best wishes and many thanks."

Teague is chairman of the manned space flight subcommittee.

WAS JUDGE Casey, the seventh ranking Democrat on the House Science and Astronautics committee, is a lawyer and was a judge before entering Congress.

"It requires a lot of study to act responsibly on the legislation we handle, all right," agreed Casey, "but it's fascinating."

"The caliber and dedication the scientists and engineers we hear makes you want to learn more about the subject."

Third 'Dolly' Show Cast Starts Drills

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gower Champion felt a faint air of nostalgia as he began rehearsals for what he calls "Dolly 3" — the third company of his smash musical "Hello, Dolly!"

He was putting the show together at the Figueroa Playhouse in downtown Los Angeles — the theater where he made his dancing debut as a lad of 15.

NEW CAST But Gower had scant time for remembrance of things past. He was faced with drilling an entirely new cast — except for star Carol Channing — in the intricate and energy-demanding show. He is a stickler for precision, down to the last entree.

At the lunch break, he walked across the street for a calorie-providing lunch of deviled egg sandwich and chocolate malt. Despite such a diet, he remains as trim as when he glided through those MGM musicals with his wife Marge. Something new has been added: a luxuriant Van Dyke beard and mustache. "Grew it on our vacation in the Greek isles last May; it's temporary," he explained.

Gower directed and choreographed Broadway hits before, but nothing of the immensity of "Hello, Dolly!" The show has been a sell-out for all of its 85 weeks in New York, and the road company with Mary Martin has racked up record grosses of over $100,000 per week everywhere it has played.

Gower won't be through with "Hello, Dolly" when the third company opens here next Tuesday.

"I'll stage 'Dolly 4' in London this December," he reported, "and that will be the last for me."

PARIS (AP) — Western Europe's wine growers are holding their breath for a spell of prolonged sunshine as harvest time approaches. Even if they get it, the prospects of most will be only middling.

Major wine growing areas had a late spring and the worst summer in decades. Almost everywhere the grapes are late, although generally sound. But they may not reach ripe fullness without two to four weeks of sunshine—the rarest occurrence of the season.

The harvest normally starts about now for early varieties, ending in October with festivals from the Iberian Peninsula to Austria. This year most areas will start one to three weeks late—six weeks in the Beaujolais region near Lyon.

Mississippi Beauty Wins In Swim Suit

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—"I have no problem keeping my shape, I have a problem keeping my weight up," says the curvy blonde who won the swim suit title in the Miss America pageant.

"I'm eating all the time and I eat anything and everything," says Patsy Puckett, the shapely 20-year-old Miss Mississippi.

The University of Mississippi junior measures 35-23-35 on a 5-foot-8, 120-pound frame.

SWIM SUIT

Miss Puckett was named the swim suit winner Wednesday night during the first round in the nation's oldest beauty contest.

Miss Indiana, 18, a soprano who never took a voice lesson, won the talent honors singing a medley of three songs from the hit show "Sound of Music."

Eileen Smith of Indianapolis said she began singing "When I was seven... ever since I first saw Roy Rogers and Dale Evans."

She has hazel eyes, auburn hair and a 34-23-34 figure.

EVENING GOWNS

Seventeen contestants who seek the title now held by Vonda Kay Van Dyke of Phoenix, Ariz., and the $10,000 scholarship that goes with the crown, appeared in evening gowns. But to heighten the suspense, the winners in that division are not announced.

During the three nights of preliminary competition the girls will appear in each category.

Directors Will Meet Tuesday

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will meet in Big Spring Tuesday.

While the chief item of business will be consideration of the proposed budget for 1966, directors undoubtedly will discuss plans in view of the issuance of a permit for a second lake on the Colorado River.

There will be meetings of the personnel and operation committee and of the budget committee preceding the board meeting. These sessions will be held in the district offices, but the directors meeting will be at Cosden Country Club at 10:30 a.m., said Charles B. Perry, Odessa, president.

Water District Production Eases Off

Production eased off for the Colorado River Municipal Water District during August in the wake of a series of showers which dotted the area.

These dulled the demand by member cities, which took 841,267,700 gallons, or about 200,000,000 less than for August of last year. It also was about 350,000,000 less than July of this year.

Oilfield demands varied, but the Sun Oil Company operation, which serves Perkins-Prothro in Coke County, increased its draw and accounted for a 8.15 per cent gain for these customers.

Total deliveries for August stood at 1,158,496,034, or 13.74 per cent less than the same month last year. This put deliveries for the year at 7,900,655,198, or roughly half a billion gallons less than for the first eight months of 1964. The percentage decline was 6.63.

During August, Odessa required 473,280,000 gallons, a drop of 24.36 per cent from a year ago. Big Spring 280,523,000, a decline of 12.07 per cent, and Snyder 57,459,700, down 16.67 per cent.

During the first eight months of the year, member cities have used 5,414,764,000 gallons, which is nearly 13 per cent under the same time a year ago.

Bus Line In Receivership

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—Houston Chamber of Commerce president Gail Whitcomb was named temporary receiver for the Houston Rapid Transit Lines Wednesday.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Connally told the Houston lawyer to report to him within 60 days.

Commercial Credit Corp. seeking to foreclose on the bus lines, said the company had not paid any installments on its loans since February and was $1 million behind in payments.

The City of Houston asked an injunction to prevent the loan company from foreclosing Sept. 16. Commercial Credit then proposed a 90-day receivership.

U.S. Concerned At Possible War Role By Red Chinese

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials take seriously the possibility that Communist China may intervene in the India-Pakistan war to the extent of stirring up border trouble on India's northeast frontier.

The Chinese purpose, it is believed here, would be to demonstrate support for Pakistan and thus encourage that country to break its alliances with the United States and other Western powers and move into the Red Chinese orbit.

Pakistan is a member of the U.S.-backed Central Treaty Organization alliance in the Middle East and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Pakistan's chief allies, the United States and Britain, are, like the Soviet Union, pursuing middle-of-the-road policies in the India-Pakistan conflict and concentrating their efforts on trying to get a cease-fire.

FOR PAKISTAN

China already has come out squarely on Pakistan's side and its public declarations in recent days have developed an increasingly tougher tone toward India.

On Aug. 27 the Chinese Reds issued a long series of charges of border violations by Indian troops on the Chinese frontier.

Two days ago China accused India of aggression against Pakistan and declared it was strengthening its own China-India border defenses.

Wednesday the Chinese released a note to the Indian government charging four Indian boundary violations in July and five in August and linking them to the "aggression" against Pakistan.

The note said the incidents occurred "at a time when the Indian government was carrying out armed suppression against the people of Kashmir and unleashing and expanding its armed aggression against Pakistan."

Such statements could be used by the Chinese Communist leadership to provide a political base for military action against India at any time. U.S. officials, however, do not now foresee any large-scale Red Chinese attack on India. They do not think China would consider such action, with all the risks involved of igniting a major Asian war, to be in its own interests.

LIMITED ACTION

What they consider possible is more limited Chinese military action consisting of a series of frontier incidents for the essentially diplomatic purpose of promoting a breakdown in Pakistan's ties with the West and a consequent increase in Pakistan's links with China.

Even limited action by the Chinese, however, could raise serious policy issues for the United States and Britain: What actions could they take to counter Red China's apparent strategy toward Pakistan? What if any assistance or assurances could they offer India so far as its defenses against China are concerned?

The two Western powers strongly backed India during its border war with China in 1962. The United States then first began supplying India, which is not a U.S. ally, with military equipment. The United States had supplied arms to Pakistan for many years since Pakistan was an ally in the anti-Communist alliances.

This week in the face of charges by both countries that American military equipment was being used in the conflict over Kashmir, the United States suspended military aid shipments to both. U.S. officials say in the event of a strong Chinese Communist intervention against India the United States would be faced with major new problems and decisions in its current aid policy.

SEEK AID BAN

Before the House passed the foreign aid appropriation bill Wednesday Republicans led by Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio tried to write in a ban on aid to India and Pakistan until they stop fighting.

Democrats countered with the argument that this would invite China to enter the conflict on Pakistan's side and the chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said it would tie the President's hands as he tried to deal with the crisis.

Democrats also cited the State Department announcement that military aid to the two countries is being suspended.

The Republican effort was defeated and the $4-billion bill was sent to the Senate.

Nonlethal Gas Use In Viet Under Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department is standing aloof from the latest incident involving use of nonlethal gas in Viet Nam until an investigation ordered by the American high command there is completed.

It is probable that whatever Gen. William C. Westmoreland's command decides will be accepted by the Pentagon.

A U.S. military spokesman in Viet Nam announced that on Sunday a Marine unit had used tear gas to drive people out of tunnels and caverns suspected as hiding places for Viet Cong.

"HARMLESS" WAY

A battalion commander, said the spokesman, had decided the tear gas was the most harmless method of clearing the hiding places without causing injury to women and children in those shelters. He said the unit commander may not have been aware of a directive regulating use of tear gas.

In answer to questions, a defense spokesman here said today that the policy concerning the use of tear and other nonlethal gases was set by Westmoreland, not the Pentagon. Westmoreland's order, the spokesman said, directed that only he could authorize the use of nontoxic gas, and specified that this authority was not to be delegated to others in the American command and personnel.

The question now appears to be whether the Marine battalion commander, perhaps newly arrived in Viet Nam, had been informed of the policy and, if so, whether the command would take any action.

The command spokesman in Saigon said that tear gas is issued to troops as part of their basic equipment, but that it should be used only upon specific authority from Westmoreland.

AROUSES REDS

The Communists were quick to leap on this most recent incident. A North Vietnamese radio broadcast Wednesday said that the Hanoi government had sent a protest to the International Control Commission, declaring that "U.S. Marines impudently used toxic gas, killing or seriously affecting many civilians."

"The U.S. spokesman said the material used was not toxic gas, but "just old-fashioned tear gas that affects the eyes and makes people cry." He said it caused the women and children in the caves to weep, but that they suffered no physical harm.

Debate welled up last March when it was disclosed that South Vietnamese army units had tried using nauseating gas against the Viet Cong.

Brownfield Man Killed

ULYSSES, Kan. (AP)—Ralph Longoria, 32, of Brownfield, Tex., was killed Wednesday when a pickup truck and a school bus collided.

The driver of the empty bus was not injured but four of the pickup's 10 occupants were hospitalized.

Eloy Longoria, 15, and Lavar Lopez, 37, were reported in serious condition. The others were treated and dismissed.

A Devotional For The Day

Comfort your hearts and establish them in every good word and deed. (I Thessalonians 2:17, RSV)
PRAYER: O God our Father, we pray for grace day by day to seek Thy glory and the good of our fellowmen. May we honor Thee in all we do. Through Christ our Lord, we ask. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

The Voters Speak

The overwhelming defeat of a proposal to increase the membership of the Texas Senate from 31 to 39 members must say something. It is fair game to speculate.

First of all, the heaviest margins against the proposal came from the largest urban centers, and this should be a plain indication that they do not intend to lose the power and leverage they will gain under the one-man one-vote concept. This likely portends the breaking of the rural grip on state legislative politics, and urban society being what it is, it is not unreasonable to assume that rural reticence will be steadily superseded by metropolitan militancy.

More and more the election campaigns of the future will be waged in the urban complexes.

Some means will have to be devised whereby senators serving medium to sparsely separated areas can compensate for great stretches of distance and almost totally different communities of interest. Our own district is in some ways in this position with one stretch across it approximating 250 miles.

It might be deduced, too, that the public voted not only against a proposal many felt was a Senate device for feathering its nest and protecting members of the establishment, but voted by their conspicuous absence against a single-shot, isolated referendum. Voters seemed to smell a mouse in divorcing this amendment from a host of others to come up in November.

Some have suggested that perhaps this presages open season on amendments until something is done about rewriting the Texas constitution so that most of these things can be handled as statutory changes. That's probably too much to hope, although the November referendum may show some straws in the wind.

Strike Averted

Most everyone will breathe a sigh of relief that the prospect of a steel strike is now out. This could have produced a critical strain on the economy, and it could have yielded intolerable results in relation to our defense effort.

Under the influence and persuasion of President Johnson, management and labor came to terms. Whether these were the terms which would have been reached without this intervention is conjectural, and this same uncertainty will always enshroud any settlement which is effected under the power or prospect of government intervention.

Art Buchwald

Friendly Persuasion

WASHINGTON — The settlement of the steel strike was another feather in the cap of President "I Won't Take No For an Answer" Johnson. The negotiations were hard and they were tense and I can now reveal for the first time how the President got the parties to agree.

On Monday he asked both management and the union officials to come to Washington. The men met at the airport in black limousines and immediately driven to the White House where they were ushered into a large bare office with a table and hard chairs. The President greeted them, told them of his desire for a just settlement, and offered the use of his executive offices to continue the negotiations. Both sides thanked the President for his kind offer but said

Billy Graham

I do believe that God is capable of all, and that He can forgive the sins of others completely, but it seems too much to ask or even dream that He would forgive mine completely. Is what I have—the wish to be forgiven—all that I need to have?

No, it is not enough!
Just wishing you have forgiveness will not bring it any more than a wish to be well will cure you without a physician. Life is not quite that simple, as you already must know.

God has made the way of salvation simple, but He has not made it silly. Indeed, Christ has made it possible for you to be saved apart from "deeds of righteousness," and it is all of grace, and yet saving faith must be appropriated properly. You have sins, and they cannot be forgiven unless they are repented of—and repentance, to admit you have been wrong, is not easy. You must "receive Christ," and when you do this, you in essence confess that you are unable to save yourself, and this is not easy. Jesus said: "If ye confess me before men, I will confess you before My Father which is in heaven."

If a simple "wish" to be forgiven is all that was needed, then I suppose all men would be saved. But to receive Christ requires repentance, faith and confession, and these are not at all easy—you must turn from sin, and believe in Christ.

Negroes Ill-Prepared For New School Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bitterness and heartache are ahead for thousands of Negro pupils and Negro teachers in the South, even if full school integration should proceed without incident.

The harsh fact is that years of segregated, inferior education have left them ill-prepared to cope with the higher standards they will find in previously all-white schools.

Hundreds of Negro teachers already have lost their jobs as a direct result of desegregation. Where there is a surplus of teachers, the Negro usually is first to go.

IN SOME cases this is outright racial discrimination, and redress may be available through the courts. The federal government is keeping a close watch and is prepared to step in where discrimination can be proved.

The National Education Association, too, is pledged to fight what it calls "illegal and capricious dismissals, intimidation, and punitive transfers."

But in a tragic number of cases, it isn't discrimination. The Negro teacher just does not measure up.

Dr. Dave Darland of the NEA said recently: "Their education is traditionally bad. They are victims of inferior elementary schools, inferior secondary schools, and inferior colleges.

"THEY STARTED" behind, they stayed behind, and it would take a superman to catch up."

In Florida, all teachers must now pass the National Teacher Examination as a requirement for certification. Two hundred Negro teachers have lost their jobs there because of low test scores.

Throughout the South this year, there were special summer institutes for teachers of disadvantaged children. The institutes were sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education.

Within a week after they started, it was apparent that the problem wasn't only disadvantaged children, but disadvantaged teachers as well.

The director of one such institute, herself a Negro, said in an interview:

"WE HAD 40 Negro teachers here from four Southern states. Some of them had advanced degrees from Negro colleges.

"Only one or two could write a coherent paragraph. The level of spoken English was just as bad.

"It is heart-breaking to think of these teachers going back to the classroom and inflicting their ignorance on hundreds of little children."

Today's article by AP's G. K. Hoenfeldt substitutes for vacationing James Marlow.

Jibes That Weary Retired Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a retired man gets tired of hearing:

"Gee, how I envy you—nothing to do the rest of your life but take it easy."

"Having a husband under my feet all day, long makes me nervous. Sometimes I wish you were still on the job."

"Remember, you're not a kid any more."

"HERMAN, YOU'RE not doing anything—so why don't you go to the grocery store for me this morning? Here's the list."

"I don't see why you have to lose your temper. All I said was you'd better move your rocking chair because you are wearing a rut in the front porch."

"Won't you ever learn to act your age?"

"What really makes him fume is that not one person from the office has called to ask his advice since he left."

"Don't forget now, when he comes in tell him how young he's looking. He likes to be flattered that way."

"Herman, you retired too soon. The rumor around the office is that the boss is going to start giving a big annual Christmas bonus this year."

"GRANDPA, YOU knew Abraham Lincoln and George Washington real well, didn't you? What were they really like?"

"That gold watch they gave you is on the blink again. Do you think it's worth bothering to have it fixed?"

"What you need is a good constructive hobby to help pass the time—something like stamp collecting or bird watching."

"Well, Herman, I guess you were about the nearest thing there is to the indispensable man. They couldn't find one machine to do your work, so they've divided it between two machines."

"Don't tell me you're going to waste another afternoon watching a baseball game on television. For the life of me, I can't see what you see in them. They all look alike to me."

"Dad, you're not doing anything. Why don't you come over and take care of your grandkids while Myrtle and I spend the day at the races?"

"MIND YOU, I'm not complaining, dear, but if we had just half the money you frittered away on cigars the last 40 years, we'd have our own little place down in Florida instead of having to live in this grubby little apartment."

"Wake up, Herman. If you take too long a nap now, you won't be able to get a wink of sleep tonight."

"You know I'd be glad to cook it for you—but the doctor says you shouldn't eat it."

"Gosh, Herman, this is your first visit back to the office since you left, isn't it? You have no idea how much we miss you. I know the boss would love to see you, but right now he's tied up in a terribly important conference. I'll tell him you were here."

Some Anticonvulsants Can Have Side Effects

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 14, has epilepsy and has been taking phenobarbital and dilantin to control his seizures. We had to increase the dosage and his gums have become very puffy, partly covering his teeth to quite a degree.

We have three problems: Soreness; unattractive appearance, and lately lack of appetite toward certain foods, especially meat.

The dentist says the medication is responsible for this puffiness and suggested rinsing with a special mouthwash. The doctor seems to be evasive. My son also is quite hairy and has to shave twice a week.

MRS. L. E.

I believe your dentist is right, but I would add further suggestions. The drugs are known, at times, to cause such thickening of the gums as well as increase in hairiness—in some individuals.

Studies indicate (as far as the gums are concerned) that the drugs can interfere with absorption of Vitamin C. Therefore large doses of the vitamin are used as a treatment.

In addition, it may be possible to switch to another type of anticonvulsant drug, since the gums recede again when the dilantin is stopped.

It may, of course, take some careful trial-and-error work to find another combination which will control the seizures, but there are a number of anticonvulsants available. While they do not have identical actions and purposes, there is some overlap.

I thought twice, Mrs. L. E., before printing your letter, because of the risk of frightening some people away from the anticonvulsant drugs. That would be too bad, because they are marvelous in controlling or preventing epileptic seizures.

However, I suppose we do best to remember that almost any drug will have side effects under some circumstances. If the dosage has to be heavy, or a certain individual is sensitive to its action, side effects can develop. Yet other patients, using the same drugs, have no trouble at all.

When side effects do develop, then it is necessary to find means of alleviating them without sacrificing the primary benefits of the medication.

Dear Dr. Molner: What does a D. & C. on a young married woman involve? Will this hinder her from becoming pregnant?

D. & C. means "dilation and curettage." The opening of the uterus is stretched open enough so that special instruments can be inserted inside to scrape the surface gently, and to remove anything which should not be there.

For instance, this procedure is wise after a miscarriage, but there are various other reasons for it.

D. & C. will not hinder pregnancy; in fact, sometimes it is very helpful in making pregnancy possible.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Mental Torture Of The Belt-Line

Hazing was relatively mild in my day, at least when compared with the modern "improvements." In the first place, youngsters had no cars; in the second, few could stray far from home after dark.

Thus, the welcoming committee for those newly advanced from the childhood of junior high to the mysteries of the high school, had to be dealt with on the school grounds during school hours.

USUALLY, this involved hiding books, jamming locker doors, or other such pastimes. The height of the ceremonies then took place during recess periods and the lunch hour. At the exit door of the cafeteria, a long line of lads took their stations, belts in hand. The oldtimers took a station in the line; the newcomers fled down the avenue of swinging belts, hopeful the aim would be low and slow.

I believe the girls remained aloof from such goings-on, at least I don't recall any such activity.

TO BE SURE, this all sounds a bit tame these days, what with pay-offs, reality in the country, and other such reports. Like I said, we didn't have cars and few of us had any money, so a shakedown would have had precious little results.

Though it carries the sound of back-wadness now, it did not then. What freshmen did not shiver at the thought of leaving the lunchroom? Many could drag out his mastication long enough to escape into the halls when the next bell rang. But most were doomed to make that dreaded walk.

DESPITE A CHORUS of promises, some of the swingers invariably let the buckle end of the belt fly across the backs of the newcomers, and this often caused an ugly welp, to say the least. In some cases, it brought a dash of blood. These served to frighten even the stout-hearted.

These "bell-lines" would continue several weeks, depending on what other activities might develop in the meantime. Soon or late, the season would pass, and another would arrive. And so the whiplash became the whippers, and this may well be continuing to this day.

THE IMAGINATION is a powerful force in such activities, and in the mind, the belt line became a terrible torture, capable of maiming and incapacitating even the most hardy. In reality, it was less painful than a trip to the boiler room with one of the coaches after being caught smoking. It didn't last as long; either.

The Sugar Subsidy

WASHINGTON—The long arm of the subsidy system is once again reaching into the American sugar bowl. Under the managerial authority of Chairman Harold Cooley the House Agricultural Committee is parcelling out quotas to foreign sugar growers.

The scramble of 20 foreign governments to get a share of the subsidized American market—nearly four cents a pound above the world price—is on. Cooley has been solemnly hearing lawyer-lobbyists for these governments. Having gone through this ritual the committee will, as in the past, whack up the sugar price.

IT IS OPEN season on the lobbyists who are sitting ducks since their fees must be registered with the Department of Justice. But with the mutual back-scratching before Cooley's committee it is considered a gross vulgarity to talk about the real reason why the wholesale price of sugar is 11 cents a pound in this country and across the border in Canada seven cents. The reason is the bonus paid to American sugar growers as one piece of the crazy quilt of farm subsidies that hit the consumer at every turn.

BUT THE FACTS get aired regardless of the etiquette of the sugar bill. Some startling figures were put into the record the other day. Since its inception in 1938 the domestic sugar subsidy, figured at .62 cents a pound, has cost the taxpayer $1.6-billion.

The Cooley bill calls for an increase in domestic production of 580,000 tons. That would put an additional $8,000,000 on top of the $90,000,000 a year presently going to American sugar growers out of the Treasury. The annual quota divided among foreign producers is 4,000,000 tons against domestic production of 6,500,000.

IF THE TAXPAYER foots the bill for the subsidy then a logical question is why domestic growers should not take all the home market. The answer is that for many underdeveloped countries sugar is one of the few commodities with which they can earn dollars.

That is particularly true of Latin America. Paying high prices for American manufactured goods they must try to sell raw materials to keep afloat. Latin American governments are in economic and political trouble because markets for these commodities are narrowing.

SO COMPLEX, so inbred, so ingrained is the whole sugar subsidy system that highly qualified experts admit they are baffled by it. That is one reason foreign sugar growers hire lawyer-lobbyists and pay them handsomely. Without this help they could never find their way through the intricacies of the quota bazaar, to say nothing of the briar patch of pressure politics that hedges it around.

WITH AMERICANS so diet-conscious sugar consumption, most indicators show, has ceased to grow. Synthetic sweeteners are taking an ever larger share of the market. If domestic production is arbitrarily increased and foreign suppliers continue to get a portion of the market there is in sight a grim but familiar phenomenon. That is in 10 to 20 years the stockpiling of sugar. This is the way, as has been amply demonstrated with other commodities, that the subsidy system comes full circle.

A Republican Scattershot

WASHINGTON — The Republicans have apparently decided to go after a substantial segment of the Negro vote in the big cities, which, according to some polls, is at least 90 per cent Democratic.

But at the same time, the Republicans seem to be ignoring the fact that large numbers of white voters in the Democratic party in Northern cities are dissatisfied with the extremism that has been developing in the "civil rights" controversy.

THE REPUBLICAN strategy may be perceived in a new "position paper" on "human rights and responsibilities," which has just been issued by the Republican National Committee in cooperation with a "Republican Coordinating Committee." A few words at the beginning of the study refer to recent violence; but there is no effort to fix responsibility on the Democratic party for permitting the disturbances to intensify. The Republican paper declares:

"Respect for law and order in our free society is basic to our survival as a nation. Violence, illegal breach of the peace of any kind by any mob, weaken the fabric of this nation, and undermine the American goal of equal opportunity under law for all our people. Indeed, to be achieved, this goal must rest unswervingly on respect of the law—all the law—of the land. We believe in and we pledge ourselves to vigorous law enforcement at every level of government—local, state and national."

BUT THEN the Republican pronouncement proceeds to accuse the administration of not going far enough in granting "civil rights" under existing laws. Most surprising is the way the Republicans unequivocally claim credit for the provisions of the 1964 civil rights law which permit the use of federal funds to budgeon states into desegregating public schools. The Republican statement says:

"This is an instrument of compromise that was advocated and sponsored by Republicans in Congress."

THERE IS SOME criticism, moreover, of the administration for delay in implementing existing statutes which "ban discrimination by employers, labor unions, and employment agencies." The position paper in a general way charges the Democrats with failing to live up to their obligations.

But there is not a word in the entire paper that questions the constitutionality of what has been done to deprive the states of the power to deal with their own affairs. Nor is there any criticism of the federal government's usurpation of the right to determine the qualifications for voters, though the Constitution specifically gives this right to the states.

THE DOCUMENT on the whole, however, is an example of the failure of the Republicans to recognize realistically that they are only assisting the Democrats when they demand that even more extreme measures be taken to assure "civil rights" and when they disregard the protests being voiced throughout the country against the invasion of other rights, including the violation of state and local laws through demonstrations and incitement to disorder. The Republicans who are issuing "position papers" seem still unaware of the dissatisfaction that is sweeping the country and the political potentiality of the issue.

'Wee Hauf'

GLASGOW (AP) — The publicans of Glasgow have decided that the "wee hauf" (small half) is to become even wee-er.

In future, the measure of whisky in Glasgow's 1,100 pubs will be one-fifth of a gill and not one-fourth. (A gill is one-fourth of a pint).

This means that the traditional working man's drink, "a hauf and a hauf," (a half glass of whisky and a half pint of beer) will have less whisky.

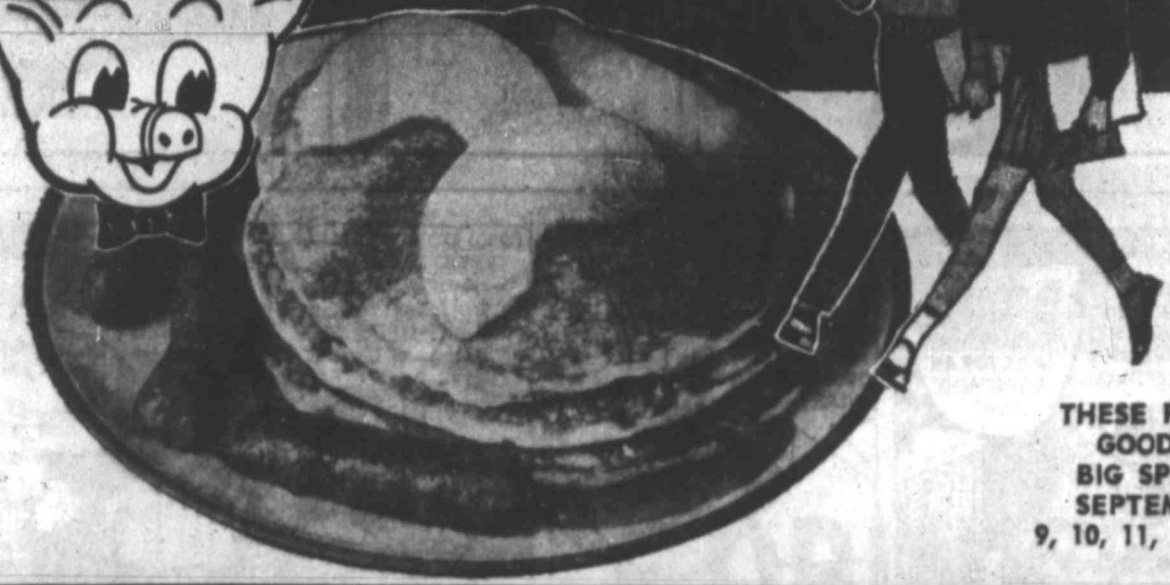

Announcing the change, the president of the Glasgow Publicans' Association, Morris Barr, told members: "We recommend that the one-fifth gill be adopted as standard measure instead of one-fourth."

Said one disgruntled regular in a Gorbals pub: "It will be interesting to see if the publicans reduce the price of the whisky as well as the amount in the glass. But ah ha ha! doots." (I have my doubts.)

Father Vows Fight To Keep Girl's Horse

NEW YORK (AP) — Can a horse named Mr. Magoo find happiness with a 13-year-old girl in a New York suburb?

No, said the Village Board of Bayville, on Long Island, in a decision. The board reaffirmed its previous decision that Karen Southard's brown horse is not a domestic animal and therefore can't be kept in the village.

Karen's father, Ernest S. Southard, vowed today that he'll fight on.

PROMISED HER
"I have to," he said. "After all, I promised her she could have a horse."

Southard built a stable last November in a 62-by-105-foot fenced area by his $35,000 home for Mr. Magoo, a quarter horse. Quarter horses are a breed known for their speed up to a quarter of a mile.

This brought happiness to Karen and Mr. Magoo, but not to some of the Southards' neighbors.

They complained that Mr. Magoo was a nuisance and violated a village ordinance against keeping nondomestic animals.

The board agreed Tuesday night, charging the horse causes "an odor offensive to the immediate neighbors, a disturbing collection and emission of dust in the surrounding area and a safety hazard to pedestrians in the narrow village roadways."

NEARBY AREAS
However, the board added that it recognizes "the affection Miss Southard has for the horse . . . and enjoins her to explore the possibility of harboring Mr. Magoo in nearby areas permitting horses."

"We are not going to put Mr. Magoo out to any boarding stable," said Southard. "He wouldn't have enough room to run around."

"We'll take our case to Nassau County Court next and to the U.S. Supreme Court if we have to," he said. "Karen is going to keep Mr. Magoo."

Crop, Cattle Report Made

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas cattle came through the summer in the best condition at this point in three years, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says.

The department said, however, that "more rain is needed as the entire state is becoming short of moisture."

It reported the 1966 wheat crop is 12 per cent seeded, compared with 3 per cent at this time last year, adding:

SOME UP
"Some wheat is already up. Sufficient moisture for germination exists and early planted wheat is getting off to a good start."

Harvest of cotton is about one-fifth complete, with picking of blackland cotton lagging about three weeks behind last year.

Sorghum combining is at the 46 per cent mark, compared with 54 per cent a year ago.

Fertilizing and watering of rice for second cuttings are complete.

CORN HARVEST
Corn harvest reached 70 per cent completion.

High Plains carrot harvest increased, although volume was still small. Cabbage harvest began on a limited scale. Lettuce made good growth in the Hereford area.

South Texas squash, tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, eggplant and other fall crops made satisfactory progress.

The citrus outlook in the Rio Grande Valley "appears good with fruit sizing nicely."

Pollutant Gauge System Colorful

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The state says it has come up with a colorful method of measuring auto contaminants.

In the process, air is trapped in water by a special device. Color-producing chemicals are added. The water then turns red, blue, green or some other color, depending on what pollutant is being measured. The intensity of the color is measured electronically to show how much of the pollutant is in the air.

Cold Cache Of Hot Ice Cream

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—How do you store a cold cache of hot ice cream?

San Francisco police are looking for thieves who have that problem. Eight thousand ice cream bars were among the loot taken in a burglary of the Crown Vending Co.

Paratroops Streamlined

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has streamlined its two paratrooper divisions and reorganized them to fight chiefly in underdeveloped areas like Southeast Asia rather than against a "sophisticated" enemy in Europe.

The action came after Army experts reviewed the role of the 82nd Airborne and 101st Airborne divisions "in the light of contemporary world conditions."

The slimmed-down divisions require only about half as many Air Force transports to carry them to trouble spots — 820 instead of 1,300 — and this gives the paratroopers what the Army calls "greater strategic mobility."

Stripped away from each division was a battalion of 47 self-propelled 90-millimeter guns, a battery of four Little John rockets and all heavy equipment not capable of being carried in the Air Force's C130 transport planes.

Each division was cut by 1,000 men, paring their strength to slightly under 13,000 men apiece.

In effect, the Army's combat developments command decided that airborne divisions would not be needed, at least at the outset, in any land battle against Communist armies in Europe.

However, it was stressed that in the event a need arose for the paratrooper units in Europe, they could be reinforced and fitted for action there.

Basically, the Army experts concluded that the most likely threats of the future will arise in areas like Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Beam Might Fight Tumors

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A Texas scientist is experimenting with beams of nuclear particles which he says may be able to destroy tumors in the human body with such pinpoint accuracy that no healthy tissue would be harmed.

Dr. Chaim Richman of the Graduate Research Center of the Southwest in Dallas reported his findings to biologists and physicists meeting Wednesday at the University of California at Berkeley.

He said experiments during the past three summers at the university's Lawrence radiation laboratory have projected the particle beams at bean sprouts and mice.

The results in the bean sprouts tests were favorable, he reported, but the tests on mice with tumors are still to be evaluated.

The particles—called pi mesons—are part of the group scientists believe provide the glue effect that holds a nucleus together.

A beam of pi mesons, produced in a cyclotron, can pass through body tissue without causing any damage as long as the beam is at a high energy level.

'Trade-Out' Seen In Bill's Advance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appears to have traded Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen a rabbit for a horse in an exchange of political favors.

Johnson got the horse Wednesday when the Senate Judiciary Committee approved by a 14-2 vote a House-passed bill which would abolish over the next three years the 41-year-old national origins system of immigration.

From the President's viewpoint the horse may be somewhat spavined by a provision that would limit Western Hemisphere immigration to 120,000 individuals yearly. But otherwise Johnson is reported to believe the horse is satisfactorily sound.

Dirksen got what his best friends and ardent supporters hesitate to describe other than as a rabbit — a proposed constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment.

The Republican leader is credited with being a hard bargainer most of the time. His difficulty in this case was that he was in desperate straits to keep his proposal alive in the 'Sea Dwellers' Surface Soon

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Taking a swim at 205 feet below the surface of the sea is much like strolling in his own backyard, says one of the aquanauts in Sealab 2.

Lt. Robert E. Sonnenburg, the doctor on the aquanaut team, gave this impression of under-sea living Wednesday night in a telephone interview with The Associated Press.

"I think we are all feeling well, but some of us are getting cabin fever after 11 days down here, and we are getting ready to go up," Sonnenburg said.

TO SURFACE
Nine of the 10 aquanauts in the Navy's underwater living experiment are scheduled to surface Sunday when they will be replaced by another team.

Cmdr. Scott Carpenter, the astronaut turned aquanaut, plans to stay down another 15 days.

Sonnenburg said life in the 12x58-foot steel capsule was not much different from submarine duty and that the civilian members of the team had adjusted easily to the routine.

"The biggest thing for me was the original occupancy," he said. "There's no feeling of insecurity here. We never think about that."

HIGH FITCH
The pressure of seven atmospheres in the Sealab gave Sonnenburg's voice the high pitch quality of a speeded-up phonograph record.

He said the ear infection that hit nine of the aquanauts was responding to antibiotic treatment.

Physicians had blamed microorganisms in the ocean water for the infections, the first physical trouble reported since the men went down Aug. 28.

The first team of aquanauts has spent much of its time getting the Sealab ready for occupancy and preparing the surrounding area for experiments.

hope that he can inflate support for it on another day.

ANOTHER BASIS
The Dirksen proposal would permit state voters to determine whether one house of their legislature should be apportioned on other than a population basis.

This would nullify in part the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote decision.

The Republican leader once got the proposal before the Senate but couldn't get it adopted because support for it was eight votes short of the required two-thirds majority.

Starting all over again, Dirksen got a judiciary subcommittee to approve it. But he was up against an 8-8 tie vote by which the full committee previously had rejected the proposed amendment.

To change that lineup, the GOP leader moved in to block committee action on the immigration bill although he said he favored passage of the later measure.

BALK VOTE
Because Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Judiciary Committee opposes the immigration measure, Dirksen was in a position to get recognition from the chair to talk as long as he chose to balk a committee vote.

Nobody had to draw the President a picture to demonstrate to him what could happen. It was a time for trading and he obviously didn't think he was giving away too much.

Dirksen got his proposal approved by a 9-7 vote when Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., reluctantly broke the deadlock.

Dodd explained he did this only because if he didn't, the immigration measure would have been "seriously jeopardized."

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., said the committee had been "blackmailed" and had been "forced to pay the ransom."

ADVANCE PROMISE
While Dirksen kept his proposal alive by getting it on the calendar, he had to promise in advance not to bring it up until next year.

By that time so many state legislatures will have been reapportioned on a population basis that few of them seem likely to have much interest in ratifying a constitutional amendment on the question, even if it were sent to them by Congress.

The requirement of two-thirds approval of both houses and ratification by three-fourths of the state legislatures thus presented a formidable barrier Dirksen will have to figure out how to surmount.
