yet, my gratitude to the United useful once again. I cannot express the gratitude I feel toward everyone I have met in this country. When my wife and I came here, we were penniless, and foreigners. Yet, evervone opened the arms of friendship to us. We are both still overwhelmed by the way we have been treated and accepted here."

Dr. Walling, does not like to talk of the past, Castro in particular. He will only reluctantly pronounce "the Leader's"

"It is all in the past," he said. "I am beginning again. I intend to teach Spanish to American children, and I intend to be an American. I had visited this country before, and had liked it very well. The minute I knew I had to leave my home, knew where I wanted to go to the United States."

PRIZE POSSESSION "And here we are, in this lovely place (a rented apartment in a home at 103 E. 17th) in this nice town. We are very happy, and very lucky." One of the things that pleases the Wallings most is the shiny new car he bought here, and Dr. Walling, an ardent golfer, said he will enjoy being able to play golf again. "It's been more than a year since I had the opportunity to play," he said, "and now all need is a good golf partner." Incidentally, Dr. Walling is convinced the only way to learn a language is to speak it, and will not brook having someone tell him how to speak in English - it still takes him awhile to remember the correct English phrase, but given a little time he usually thinks of it. Reserving this, his fifth-grade Spanish classes will be humming along in correct parlance within a short time.

Off In September

Power sales by the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative dropped off in September in comparison with the same a year ago and vir-tually assured that this year will run under 1964's totals.

Sales during the month, which saw some timely rains ease irrigation demands, were 8,156,-886, down from 10,693,976 for September of 1964. This made 70,668,270 KWH sold for the first nine months of the year against 78,850,510 for the same time a year ago.

At the end of September the system reached exactly 2,500 miles of line energized, a gain of four miles for the month and an increase of 44 miles over a year ago. There were 5,809 members connected, eight more than the previous month and 158 more than a year ago.

James W. Coots learned the welding craft thirty years ago under his father. When he joined Cosden on May 31, 1950, he was a welder on tank cars but most of the time in the maintendace department.

He moved to the carpentry shop, and five years ago became a blacksmith. Today he is Cosden's only blacksmith. As such he makes bolts and pipe clamps, among other assignments.

A native Big Springer, Coots practiced his welding trade for a time in California and Mississippi. His wife, the former Naomi Marie Dickerson, hails from McComb, Miss. The couple make their home at 1016 E. 21st Street, and often their two grandsons — Scotty and Stoney Castleman, ages 5 and 3 — are with them. They have a daughter, Shirley Marie, who is Mrs. Ray Todd of Big Spring, and a son, Joe Coots, 18, who is a painter.

Mr. and Mrs. Coots have two hobbies in common. Both like to fish, usually at Moss Creek or Lake Concho. They are also numismatists, and exhibit their coin collection at shows in this region. They are members of Crestview Baptist Church.

A Devotional For The Day

O give thanks to the Lord, for he is good; for his steadfast love endures for ever! (Psalm 107:1, RSV)

PRAYER: We thank Thee, bountiful God, for Thy marvelous love that gave us nature with all its beauty. Above all, we thank Thee for Jesus Christ, Thy greatest gift to us. With grateful hearts, we pray in the name of Thy Son, our blessed Savior. Amen.

Looking Ahead

to make this seem a propituous time for resuming studies toward updating our city's master plan.

Because it frequently involves some public works, the term master plan has come to connote expenditures. Thus, it may have some built-in re-

Actually, what needs to be done is a reassessment of our previous goals, a review of what has been done and the effectiveness of nearly four million dollars of improvements, a new look based upon trends which have occurred since the master plan was first shaped.

For instance, two million-dollar shopping centers have come into being during that interval, along with

A number of developments combine a few smaller ones. A vast amount of residential construction has taken place, and its weight in certain areas might call for a revamp of plans for utilities and services. The downtown area is tackling its problem of accessibility by demolitions, parking space, and face lifting.

The chamber of commerce is talking about drafting a new program of work, not the conventional hoopla to promote memberships but one with long range implications. Marvin Springer, the city's planning consultant, is due in town for more conferences and suggestions. And so it goes, and with it the advisability of seeing again where we are and where we think we might aim toward.

Individuals and organizations are adding to its possibilities with gifts of equipment. In short, the center should be able ity of its service.

The other arm - the city - county health unit - is lagging behind, mostly because of a snag on basic office equipment. There seems yet to be a meeting of the minds on who and how. We hope that this can be resolved with dispatch and that acceptable furnishings will be provided. This building was built to last and to retain its beauty for years and years. The sort of equipment going into it should be exactly in this same pattern.

Transitional Uncertainty

WASHINGTON - President Johnson's need for a surgical operation has again dramatically focused attention on the weakness in the American system of government with respect to presidential succession.

Many members of Congress have thought that the pending constitutional amendment, which prescribes that the vice president shall take over certain functions in the case of a president's temporary disability, would solve all problems. But, unfortunately, it is not a complete answer to existing defects in the American system.

ASSUMPTION now is that vice president can take over the duties of the president temporarily and that he is equipped to do so. Actually, he usually has only a cursory knowledge of what is going on inside the government. This becomes even more serious when a vice president succeeds to the office of president, as did vice presidents Coolidge, Truman and Johnson.

Of all the vice presidents who have become president during a presidential term, Lyndon Johnson happens to have been the best trained, because he was the majority leader of the Senate for many years. But no vice president, including Mr. Johnson, could possibly have known as much about the day-by-day activities of our government as the members of the

Billy Graham

You speak of "joy of the Lord," but I must say that I have never experienced this. I believe that Christianity is more than superficial happiness.

Yes, Christianity is more than 'superficial happiness.' But to deny that joy is one of the highest expressions of the Christian life would be going against the Scriptures. The Bible says, "The fruit of the Spirit is love, JOY, Meekness, Temperance and Faith.

Faith in Christ enables us to take life as it comes-and in fair or foul weather to say, "Thy will be done." This makes for serenity and joy. It also keeps us from harboring an unforgiving spirit towards those who wrong us, and this contributes to joyful living. When we are 'in Christ,' we know that we have forgiveness, and to be rid of blighting feelings of guilt brings great joy. Then, we have the great hope of immortality, and sure knowledge that our Lord has prepared a place for those who trust Him.

Of course, this joy doesn't make us go around with our head in the clouds, oblivious to the problems of this world we live in. It rather gives us poise and strength to adequately face life's problems. My prayer is that you will discover this 'joy.'

British cabinet today know about their written about. government.

UNDER THE British parliamentary system, there are 21 members in from tedium to apathy to bring the cabinet. They are not only officials of the executive branch of the er food supplies to the fighting government, but they also hold seats in parliament. If a prime minister becomes seriously ill, there is really no problem of transition, for the cabinet can continue to function by selecting one of its members as the presiding

If any members in the to be 12,000 miles from its home pendence took aboard 171,440 legislative branch differ from their port, San Francisco. colleagues, they run the risk of being ousted from the party.

THE MOST significant factor in the British system is the unity that exsists between the majority party leaders in parliament and the cabinet, for the two are identical. There is little chance for any enduring factionalism within a party.

Basically, the value of the British system is that the members of the cabinet are familiar not only with the legislative problems but with the functioning of the executive departments. Also, there is no interval between elections and the assumption of power. The victorious party takes office almost immediately after its election. Even the opposition party in Great Britain maintains what is known as a "shadow cabinet" - individuals designated for particular departments who sometimes are given direct access to official information about current operations and who find other ways constantly to familiarize themselves with the problems under consideration by the government.

THIS CORRESPONDENT has closely observed the American system of government in operation for half a century, and has seen 10 men come into the presidency. He cannot help but wonder at how lucky the American people have been that their interests have not been more seriously affected by the transfer of power to persons unfamiliar with the operations of the federal government itself. The serious depression of the 1930's, however, was to no small extent due to the economic crisis which went unchecked during the four months between election day in 1932 and inauguration day in 1933. The cumulative cost of the present transition system in terms of its impact on the interests of the American people can hardly be estimated over the years, but it has been considerable.

The Big Spring Herald WHAT OTHERS SAY

When the city is shocked by some revoltingly-reprehensible deed, as it was recently, the invariable outcray is for more policemen. That is only part of the answer and, very probably, only a small part of the answer.

Mischief-bent gangs such as massraped a 39-year-old mother of five may be broken up if police catch them in time. However, there is much more to building a community of law and order than police, tough rules or even curfews.

Public opinion-the concern of all citizens-should be alerted to what it can do to depress a spirit of wantom wickedness. The attack took place some 25 feet from a row of residences, Citizens can be alerted to odd goings on and to proper and effective procedure in such cases. Not Everybody Likes Newspapers

Newspapermen, vainglorious as they are, customarily picture themselves as presiding authoritatively and benignly over the destinies of mankind or that segment of mankind within their circulation areas. So - the wind has to be taken out of their sails at stated periods. I have now come across a collection of comment on the press demonstrating that a lot of people have been firing pins at the puffed-up balloons of newspaperdom for a long time.

KEEN RAFFERTY, director of the Division of Journalism at the University of New Mexico, has put together some 200 famous sayings about journalists and journalism. Let it be said for the record that a fair proportion of the observations hailed the press as a mighty institution, but not everybody felt this way. Just for fun, let me offer you today a few of the spicier comments:

They are a sort of assassins who sit with loaded blunderbusses at the corner streets and fire them off for hire or for sport at any passenger they select." — John Quincy Adams.

"A JOURNALIST is a man who missed his calling." - ascribed to Otto von Bismarck.

"Discreet and observing men have questioned whether, after excluding the notices of deaths and marriages, one half of the circumstances that are related in the newspapers of America as facts are true in their essential features; and in cases with party politics, it may be questioned if even so large a proportion can be set down as accurate." - J. Fenimore

"The more of these instructors a man reads, the less he will infallibly understand." - George Crabbe.

"I HATE to be defended in a newspaper. As long as all that is said, is said against me, I feel a certain assurance of success. But as soon as honeyed words of praise are spoken for me. I feel as one that lies unprotected before his enemies." - Ralph Waldo Emerson.

"We have the newspaper, which does its best to make every square acre of land and sea give account of itself at your breakfast table."

Emerson. "A newspaper consists of just the same number of words, whether there be any news in it or not." - Henry

"THERE ARE morning papers for breakfast; there are evening papers for supper - I beg pardon, I mean dinner; and lest, during the interval, wind should get into the stomach, there is a paper published, by way of luncheon, about noon." — George Horne.

'Perhaps an editor might . . . divide his paper into four chapters, heading the first Truths; 2nd, Probabilities; 3rd, Possibilities; 4th Lies." —Thomas Jefferson.

"NEWSPAPERS SERVE to carry off noxious vapors and smoke."

Jefferson. "The newspapers! Sir, they are the most villainous - licentious - abominable - infernal - not that I ever read them - no - I make it a rule never to look into a newspaper." -R. B. Sheridan.

"THE FUNCTION of a newspaper is to make the ignorant more ignorant, and the crazy crazier." - Uni-

Marquis Childs Time For Presidential Ease-Up

for the funeral of Winston Churchill. WASHINGTON-Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has a seemingly inexhaustible story of energy, good will, enthusiasm. This is one of the resources that has seen him through his first difficult year in tandem with President Johnson.

A cynical Washington view is that Humphrey has been consumed by the voracious Johnson appetite for power. He has disappeared, altogether, in this view, in the maw of Presidential

THIS CONVENIENTLY ignores the personality of the two men and the difficult role of vice president under the best of circumstances. From the very first day after he was nominated as vice presidential candidate, Humphrey listed as his No. 1 priority the need to stand always in accord with the President. Without that accord, as vice president, he would be only the presiding officer of the Senate. And, as Humphrey knows only too well, there is hardly a more empty office in the land. Johnson is supposed to have said when he finally gave Humphrey the nod at Atlantic City, ending what was for Humphrey a painful and uncertain wait, that he had suffered in the office and his vice president would suffer, too. Apocryphal or not, this reflected perhaps no more than the chafing restraints endured in the very nature of the office by a vigorous and ambitious man.

THE GOING has not always been easy for Humphrey but his loyalty has never faltered. And this fact of their relationship is an important element in the interval, however brief, that will see the President during his illness out of the line of action.

The President is a proud man. When he went to Bethesda Naval Hospital "Navy menus now offer a last January with what was described good deal of variety," said Lt. as a bronchial infection he was irritated by his incapacity but even more by the news coverage of his illness. There was at the same time annonying speculation, over why he did not on the vice president. And it caused both men embarrassment. As was known to perhaps a half dozen intimates, including Humphrey, the President was, in the initial stage of that illness, believed to be much sicker than the public announcement indicated. That was the real reason Humphrey did not go to London. To a visitor who saw him not long after his three days in the hospital in January he said he would never again submit to such a regimen-a hundred reporters or more hanging on hourly bulletins about his condition. If he were to be sick again he would stay in the White House. This suggests the problem his doctors will have once he has begun to recover from the first effects of his gall bladder operation.

AN IMPATIENT as well as a proud man, the difficulty will be in restraining the President so that he can convalesce in peace and quiet. If ever a man had telephoneitis it is Lyndon Johnson. While this may be asking too much of those who must make the arrangements it would be sensible to keep a telephone out of his reach for at least the first week.

In the long convalescence from a heart attack 10 years ago President Eisenhower was kept fully informed of the course of events and the decisions being taken by his vice president and his cabinet. But he showed a soldier's discipline in subjecting himself to the business of getting well. However irksome it may be, that is President Johnson's first duty.

IF HE HAS not driven himself to exhaustion in the past two years he has brought many of his associates close to the ragged edge. His eating habits are irregular and erratic Even if he had been the calmest and most orderly of men, the present affliction might have occurred. But this could serve as a timely warning of the need for a somewhat less driving and demanding regimen. (Copyright, 1965, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Art Buchwald And Why Not One For de Gaulle

Now that the Pope's visit to New York has been such a great success, President Charles de Gaulle has decided that, as spiritual leader of the Western Alliance, he also would like to come to the United States. UNITED FOR THE FUND"

By JO BRIGHT

In every community there are women who are depended on to help with the fund drives that are necessary if the city is to survive and thrive. Most of them are housewives, busy with their own families - or career women who hold demanding positions, yet they take time for one more thing - a thought for others.

The thought is transformed into action when the request comes, "Will you help?"

Of course, there's the realization that the hours she gives will usually be taken away from her husband and children, sometimes from social activities and occasionally from an employer. Still, when the call comes, her moral make-up is such that she can only say, "Yes, I'll help," at least this one more

Such women as these are the volunteers who are manning the telephones, making displays and asking for your help in making this year's United Fund drive one worthy of the people of Big Spring.

Mrs. Don Newsom is vice president of the 1965

United Fund campaign. Other women are taking positions of responsibility, along with men, to see that the city and its people continue to benefit from the 14 agencies made possible by this fund.

Pictured are some of the project officers who want to see the campaign reach a successful conclusion. They are Mrs. C. C. Hendricks, Miss Pansy Odeneal, Mrs. William Belew, Mrs. Toni Taroni, Mrs. Bill Crooker, Mrs. J. M. Griffith, Mrs. Alvin Huskey, Miss Bill H. Johnson and Mrs. Newsom.

Women serving now on the United Fund Board of Trustees are Mrs. Jack Irons, Mrs. Jerry Worthy, Mrs. Jim Zack, Mrs. Harold Jones, Miss Helen Hurt, Mrs. F. F. McGowan, Capt. Margaret Wyatt, Mrs. Floyd Mays, Mrs. Neil Norred, Mrs. H. W. Smith, Mrs. Hayes Stripling Jr., Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, Mrs. Dwight McCann and Mrs. Newsom.

Many unselfish women have served on the board in the past. Among those deserving special recognition are Mrs. O. S. Womack, Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser, Mrs. Jimmie D. Jones and Mrs. A. C. Wilkerson.

Cheryl Hoisager Becomes Bride Of Lee E. Garner

Miss Cheryl Oveta Hoisager became the bride of Lee Edwin Garner at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Allandale Baptist Church in Austin. The Rev. A. L. Nixon, pastor, officiated for the double ring rites.

The bride is the daughter of L. E. Hoisager, 1320 Wright, and the late Mrs. Hoisager. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Garner, Stephenville.

The altar was lighted with white candelabra and centered with an arrangement of giadioli and chrysanthemums against a background of wedding palms. The family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Jimmy Clark was accompanied by Miss Esma Beth Clark, organist, as he sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white peau de soie fashioned by her sister, Mrs. Bob Carlile. The dress was accented with Chantilly lace motifs and re-embroidered with seed pearls. The fitted bodice featured a rounded neckline, long sleeves ending in embroidered petal points above the wrists, and a bell-shaped skirt. The detachable chapel train was covered with scallops of Chantilly lace re-embroidered with seed pearls, and was attached to a band that formed a large bow at the back of the waistline.

The bride's silk veil of illusion was attached to a small pillbox hat outlined with seed pearls and covered with embroidered lace flowers. Her bouquet of white and pink roses was carried atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS Miss Beverly Griggs was maid of honor, and Miss Cathlynn Carline, Big Spring, niece of the

Redwine-Carter Vows Exchanged Saturday

David Heston Redwine ex-changed wedding vows at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening in a double ring ceremony per-formed by the Rev. Caddo Matthews in the Plainview Baptist Church at Colorado City.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carter, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hesfon Redweine, all are of Colo-The bride was given in marriage by her father before an arch of candelabra flanked by arrangements of pink gladioli. The bridal aisle and pews were marked with tall candelabra. Mrs. Caddo Matthews sang 'Through the Years" and "Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Alta Miles at the organ. The bride wore a bridal gown of Mary Quant design in beige peau de soie fashioned in empire style. The bodice of champagne beige Chantilly lace featured long petal point sleeves fastened with covered buttons. The center skirt front was accented by appliques of Chantilly lace. Her fingertip - length veil flowed from a crystal tiara, and her bouquet was of lavender orchids carried atop a

If you're in the oil business, you know it's a business that requires tough, exacting decisions involving large outlays of capital. It's a business that separates the men from the boys ... where only the professional makes a "go" of it. Such is the case in banking, and First National is the oil man's bank in this area. First National's personnel are highly qualified to advise and assist in all your oil financing needs.

During OIL PROGRESS WEEK it gives all of us at First National great pride to salute the hardy, self-reliant men who have helped make this area so great.

Cosden first granted a license for the use of one of its petrochemical processing around 13,000 barrels per day and has a Colorado City plant processing around 13,000 barrels.

The name was changed, in 1937, to Cosden Petroleum Corporation, and in 1963 became Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. The chemical part of the name has gained much prominence since that time because of the many by-products produced from petroleum through chemical processes.

Cabot Corp., with more than a century of know-how in producing the finest carbon blacks, burns natural gas with a special furnace oil to yield the highest grades of carbon black available today.

This modern plant recovers the microscopic particles of black so effectively that it is smokeless in its operation. These particles are pelatized and packaged for shipment throughout the United States and to several foreign countries. Expert craftsmen using the best in equipment, control quality precisely to any specification for furnace blacks. One result is in rugged automobiles tires which last longer.

Oil Speeds America's Forward March To New

Horizons of Achievements

OT CORPORATION

Today,

Here's What You Have To Show For The Progress Of Oil.

There Just Isn't Room Above To Show All The Wonderful Products Oil Research Makes Possible

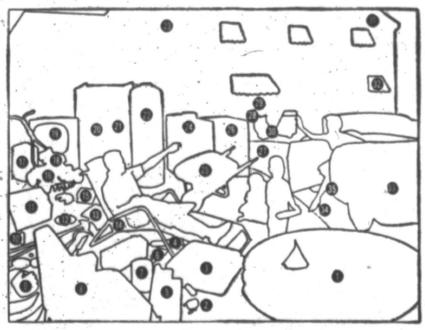

Today, you and your family enjoy the benefits of oil progress in more ways than you'd guess.

Few of us recognize oil when we walk on linoleum floors, use our toothbrushes, wash with detergents, wear drip-dry clothing or even when we take medicine.

Yet all these and many other things we use every day have been made with oil, improved with oil, made possible by oil, or developed by oil research.

Since the discovery of oil in 1859, the men and women of the industry have been constantly searching for new and better uses for oil. And behind this progress of oil lies the tradition of freedom so cherished in America.

In the future, we at Cosden Oil & Chemical Company will be working in the same spirit of freedom, dedicated to continued progress so that oil and the related petrochemical industry, of which we are so proudly a part, will seek even better and newer ways to bring you more benefits from oil.

We're suppliers to the oil industry

Good customer, too!

Just as the petroleum industry in the area we serve looks to us for electric power, we look to the petroleum industry for boiler fuel to produce the steam to generate that power. We purchase an average of MORE THAN 200 MILLION CUBIC FEET OF GAS BOILER FUEL PER DAY for our power plants, much of it from West Texas fields. So, when you flip an electric switch at home or on the job, you're indirectly using products of the West Texas petroleum industry and contributing to the economic stability of the area.
