Jones Silent

James Robert Jones, left, of Salisbury, N.C., described by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in North Carolina, has small conference with Attorney Lester Chalmers during break in probe of the KKK in Washington. Jones repeatedly refused to answer questions by the committee, citing the Fifth Amendment as his protection. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Probers Pull Income Tax Data On Dragon

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators tried to light a fire under reluctant Klan Dragon James Robert Jones today by producing some of the records he had refused to turn over — income tax returns.

Jones, the North Carolina dragon, remained reluctant to talk and kept silent under sharp questioning about whether he had been reimbursed by the United Klans of America for deductions he had claimed — such as the cost of robes.

In declining to answer questions, he cited constitutional protections against self-incrimination.

KEEPS MUM

Jones declined to say whether he had any full-time employment since 1960.

Hunted Man May Give Up

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Elusive Delbert Garmon Jr. was reported ready to surrender today after two weeks of dodging the law in Texas and Oklahoma. Garmon, 26, fled Wichita Falls after trading shots with a policeman Oct. 5. Since then he is blamed by police for taking captive and freeing unharmed 19 people in the two states.

Philip Kouri, a Wichita Falls lawyer, disclosed Wednesday night that an emissary from the Garmon family had asked if he would defend the fugitive ex-convict in event Garmon surrendered.

Kouri said he was told Garmon contacted relatives by telephone earlier in the evening. Garmon's whereabouts were not revealed.

TAKES CASE

The lawyer said he would take the case. He made an appointment to meet with the family and arrange for Garmon to give up today.

Kouri said that after talking to Garmon's mother and sister, "I will be in contact with him and I presume he will come right on in. He's been reading newspapers and listening to TV and newscasts, and I hope he doesn't get scared off. But I don't think he will."

A wide-read manhunt spread to Dallas Wednesday. Elbert Dugan, a farmer from Tillman County, Oklahoma, told officers after returning home that he drove Garmon to Dallas and let him out there Tuesday night.

Dugan found Garmon hiding in his barn several hours earlier. He said the fugitive "wanted me to take him somewhere where he could get lost in the crowd." Dugan was given a choice of losing his pickup truck or driving the fugitive to Dallas, he related.

Aid To HCJC A Step Nearer

Sending of the college facilities act to President Johnson moves help to several Texas colleges, including Howard County Junior College, a step nearer.

HCJC stands high on the priority list for funds for new buildings and has had approved an application for $304,000 assistance toward a new library and a new science building.

Morrissey's Nomination Seen Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Francis X. Morrissey's nomination for a federal judgeship was sent back to the Senate Judiciary Committee today at the request of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

This appeared to kill the nomination for this session of Congress, but President Johnson could resubmit it at the next session in January.

SURPRISE REQUEST

Kennedy's surprise request that the nomination go back to the Judiciary Committee came at the end of an emotional speech in which he highly praised Morrissey, an old friend and political supporter of the Kennedy family.

Johnson could give Morrissey a recess appointment to the U.S. District Court in Massachusetts after Congress adjourns. But to take it, Morrissey would have to give up his present $28,800-a-year Boston Municipal Court judgeship.

VOICE BREAKS

Kennedy, his voice breaking and on the verge of tears as he described the hardships of Morrissey's early years, said much of the controversy over the nomination concerned events so remote in time and obscure in place that understandable confusion has arisen among those who have not been following it closely.

"If senators have any questions at all they should have the chance to air them fully," he said, "and seek the answers through the proven process of our committee system."

"LOOKS CLOSE"

Just before calling the nomination up for action, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen, "It looks close to me."

He said the outcome might hinge on the number of absentees.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, heading the opposition to Morrissey, had himself planned to propose recommitment.

Kennedy told the Senate he is satisfied that a full record will result in Morrissey's confirmation "by a greatly increased majority" and that Morrissey "will be a credit to the federal judiciary."

NOVEMBER BIDS

Signing of the bill by the President would assure this and likely mean a November bid date for buildings at the college.

Plans and specifications for the two structures are all but complete. Last spring county voters advanced $500,000 in bond funds toward the construction of these facilities.

RESIDUAL FUNDS

Actually, there is a good possibility that HCJC will qualify for its building application regardless of the new bill because residual funds are ample to provide for projects down through the HCJC priority level. Approval of the bill, however, would absolutely clinch it.

India Shuns Nuclear Plans

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's strategists apparently have decided Communist China poses no immediate nuclear threat—and possibly that the United States would intervene if Peking ever wages atomic war on its Asian neighbors.

This reasoning seems behind Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's reiteration that India's policy is not to manufacture nuclear weapons.

It is authoritatively learned this policy has been re-examined in recent weeks and that Shastri's government was split on the question of whether to take India into the nuclear club.

PRESSURE ON

At the height of India's war with Pakistan last month and simultaneous confrontation with Communist China, right-wing pressure mounted on Shastri.

His government sampled public opinion, permitting one Cabinet member to publicly call for nuclear arming of India and allowing leading members of the ruling Congress party to sign petitions demanding Shastri take the step.

ABOUT READY

India's nuclear scientists are believed to have taken their techniques to the point where a final, inexpensive push could produce nuclear devices.

One of India's leading industrialists, G. D. Birla, said at a meeting in Bombay Sunday that he had traveled recently in the United States and got the impression Washington had sent "a very stiff warning to China."

Birla added: "I was told by those who counted that in case China came into India in a big way, the Chinese should be prepared even to receive atomic bombs."

True or not, this thinking appears to have played a big role in New Delhi's assessment.

Arms Hunted In Dominica

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — President Hector Garcia-Godoy ordered the army and police to search Santo Domingo for hidden arms today in an attempt to prevent new outbreaks of fighting.

Garcia-Godoy announced that troops not taking part in the search would be confined to their barracks. This apparently was aimed at rebel fears that the army would use the search as an excuse for a drive against them.

The president's order came after two days of fighting between rebel supporters and army regulars that aroused fears the provisional government might collapse.

Government activities appeared normal Wednesday and there was no sign of a crisis.

Marie McDonald Death A Mystery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald was found dead in her rambling ranch home early today.

Sheriff's deputies said the circumstances of her death were not known immediately.

Officers said Miss McDonald's husband, Donald F. Taylor, reported discovering his wife's body at 5:30 a.m.

Homicide investigators were dispatched immediately to the home in suburban Hidden Hills, on the farthest side of the sprawling San Fernando Valley northwest of Hollywood.

A MYSTERY

Three hours later the circumstances surrounding the famed actress-singer's death were still cloaked in mystery.

Taylor, an independent film producer, was the 42-year-old actress' fifth husband, but her sixth marriage. She was formerly wed twice to shoe magnate Harry Karl, who is now the

Midland GOP Fete Postponed

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — A Republican fund raising dinner scheduled here tonight was postponed because official duties kept Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., in Washington.

R. E. Juedeman of Odessa, deputy state GOP chairman, said a new date will be set for Dirksen and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., to appear after Congress adjourns.

Mobil Lists Peak Earnings

NEW YORK (AP) — Socony Mobil Oil Co. reports record earnings of $232,400,000 for nine months.

The earnings were produced by increases in wholesale gasoline prices, Chairman Albert Nickerson said.

The earnings compare to $216,000,000 in 1964.

Texas Ranch Stay Likely In Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, smiling and waving at well-wishers, left Bethesda Naval Hospital today at 11:05 a.m. (Big Spring time), 13 days after his gall bladder and kidney stone operation.

The President, dressed in a dark business suit, walked briskly with Mrs. Johnson beside him.

Before leaving the hospital he visited for a few minutes in a ward where Marines wounded in Viet Nam were under treatment.

"Tell all your families, your wives, your mother and father the President of your country is mighty proud of you," Johnson told the men.

CLEARANCE

Before he left the hospital, Johnson had been given a new clearance to depart.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers, announcing Johnson's plans, said the President's doctors saw their patient this morning and "they gave him a full green light and he decided to leave."

Johnson was slated for a period of somewhat reduced activity at the White House.

TEXAS RANCH

After that he faces weeks of further recuperation, probably most of it at his Texas ranch. Johnson is displaying increasing vigor, growing good humor and — on occasion — the incisive left from removal of his gall bladder and a kidney stone 13 days ago.

The President even allowed some pictures of the scar Wednesday after removal of the last of three drainage tubes from his abdomen.

BETTER SPIRITS

This seemed to be another indication that Johnson was in better spirits.

There were ceremonial bill signings, near the beginning and the end of the day — a clean air measure and a $3.2-billion foreign aid appropriation.

The President had been in and out of Bethesda Naval Hospital. He spent nearly six hours outdoors.

Meanwhile, Congress today had sent the President an education bill that would give the nation's colleges a $2,387,000,000 shot in the arm while establishing three landmark programs.

The measure far exceeds the President's recommendations, but he is expected to sign it and set in motion for the first time in the nation's history:

U.S. SCHOLARSHIP

1. A program of federal scholarships to help young people from low-income families attend college.

2. A system of federally insured state and private loans to assist college students from middle-income families.

3. The dispatch of a National Teacher Corps to poverty-stricken areas in a bootstrap attempt to lift education standards.

The Teacher Corps was the major item in dispute as the bill made its final run Wednesday through Congress.

GOP FAILURE

A Republican attempt to drop the corps from the legislation failed in the House 226-152. The House then passed the bill by a vote of 312-63. A few hours later the Senate gave it voice-over approval.

Comet Skirts Sun, Heads To Oblivion

HONOLULU (AP) — Blazing Ikeya-Seki, first comet in 83 years bright enough to be seen in daylight, whipped around the sun today and headed back into oblivion.

Astronomers here and on the American mainland watched the celestial spectacle across 93 million miles of space. Its 80,000-mile-diameter head was followed by a streaming 20-million-mile tail.

OUTSHINES IT

But its brilliance was mostly overpowered by the sun, which it approached to within 300,000 of the airborne NASA expedition, viewed it plainly.

He called it "extremely bright — 1,000 times brighter than the planet Venus."

CLOUDS CURTAIN

Clouds blocked Hawaiians' view of the comet late Wednesday, but earlier it could be seen without binoculars, just south of the sun.

The comet left scientists puzzled by several mysteries. Delicate instruments detected internal heat and the presence of sodium, calcium and iron. Comets were believed to be cold and made up of nitrogen gas loosely combined with chunks of rock.

GIVE THE UNITED WAY

Philanthropist Recalls Her Modest Start

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Her spare time and modest savings were the assets Miss Ettie Lee used to start a $5-million fortune — all the profits from which she spends on homeless boys.

Miss Lee, 79, a retired Los Angeles school teacher, and an aunt of Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, earned the money investing in real estate over the past 35 years. All her profits go to the Ettie Lee Homes Inc., the 14 ranches for boys she maintains. She lives on her teacher's pension.

NOTED PATTERN
Her explanation:
"As a teacher, I noticed quite a pattern in boys having difficulties. They were boys who didn't have a good home situation."

"This is a man's world. It takes a man to develop a boy into a man. Ninety per cent of the boys in trouble were from homes where there was no strong male figure in their lives. "I tried to find homes for these boys, but I was unsuccessful. I made up my mind then that I'd have to be like the little red hen and do the job myself."

SAVED MONEY
This meant she'd need plenty of money, and she never made more than $300 a month as a teacher. But she saved what she could.

Her first real estate deal came in 1930, when she paid $1,000 for a lot in the Wilshire district.

"I sold it two years later for $5,000," she recalls.

Then she began looking for larger investments.

"I must have bought and sold 50 apartment houses since I started operating," she said.

By 1950 — four years after she retired from teaching — she had enough resources for her project. She says that when she dies her estate will go to continuing the projects.

Miss Lee said it cost from $40,000 to $50,000 to build each home.

Miss Lee hires Mormon couples — her own faith — to run the homes, which, however, are nondenominational. Each houses 10 to 12 boys 12 to 17 years of age.

Van Cliburn Arrives Late

WASHINGTON (AP) — Van Cliburn was late for his appearance at the National Symphony Orchestra concert because he thought he was late on the program, as he had been last year.

"I will make amends," the tall, blond Texas pianist told orchestra director Howard Mitchell after Tuesday night's program. "I will come back next year and play before the overture if you want me."

When he was notified at his hotel that he was next on the program, Cliburn raced to Constitution Hall through heavy traffic but wasn't in time.

Tschaikovsky's Fifth Symphony had to be shifted into Cliburn's spot on the program. Cliburn played MacDowell for the finale.

One report said Cliburn was miffed because he was not given the closing spot on the program.

"The report is so wrong," declared his mother, Mrs. Rildia Cliburn. "It was all a misunderstanding. He would never do a thing like that intentionally."

AMENDMENTS—3

State-Federal Welfare Liberalization Sought

(This is the third in a series of 10 articles on the proposed amendments to the State Constitution, which will be voted on in Texas Nov. 2-6.)

AMENDMENT NO. 3

Proposed Amendment No. 3 would make several changes in the constitutional provisions which relate to the federal-state programs of assistance to the needy. The changes proposed would serve to liberalize the benefit programs by expanding the age limits, and therefore, increasing the number of eligibles for blind assistance and the aid to needy children.

Aid to the blind eligibility would be expanded by reducing the age restriction from age 21 to age 18; that is, persons seeking eligibility for assistance to the blind will no longer need to wait until they are age 21 to qualify, but could qualify upon reaching age 18. Eligibility for aid for needy children would be expanded by raising the maximum age restriction from 16 to 21.

NOT CITIZENS

Another liberalizing provision would remove the requirement that needy aged persons must be "actual bona fide citizens of Texas" in order to qualify for public assistance. This eligibility requirement would be changed to "needy aged persons who are citizens of the United States or non-citizens who shall have resided within the boundaries of the United States for at least twenty-five (25) years or are over the age of sixty-five (65) years."

These changes do not bar the Legislature from defining residence requirements for participation in programs of public assistance; however, the changes proposed in the amendment are in keeping with changes anticipated in federal statutes controlling eligibility requirements and federal financial participation in federal-state programs.

LOSE AID

If Congress should enact statutes altering the basic federal aid provisions which will be in conflict with restrictions contained in the Texas Constitution, then the State would stand in danger of losing its federal reimbursement for those programs. Under proposed federal legislation, already passed by the House of Representatives and favorably reported to the Senate, participation by any state in the use of federal funds would require conformity to federal provisions and requirements in all categories. Thus, if the age brackets for needy children are not modified in keeping with the federal measure, all federal funds used to match state funds to provide medical care for old age assistance recipients would be withdrawn from Texas July 1, 1967.

HEAVY DEPENDENCE

In the 1965 state fiscal year (ended August 31) a total of $236,537,142 was spent in the State of Texas under the federal-state welfare programs, according to the report of the State Controller. The heavy dependence of the State of Texas on the federal government in support of the public assistance programs is shown by the fact that 73.7 per cent of the total came from the federal government.

The remaining 26.3 per cent was from state sources. If the people of Texas desire to continue to rely upon federal support, the State Legislature will need whatever flexibility is required to permit the adjustment of state programs in conformity with federal requirements.

FBI Informer On Stand In Alabama Trial

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — An FBI informer who has testified he was present on the night a white civil rights worker was shot while driving on a lonely Alabama road, testifies today as the state's key witness in the murder trial of Klansman Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr.

Gary Thomas Rowe, 35, a member of the Ku Klux Klan in the pay of the Justice Department, was the main witness in the first trial of Wilkins, 21, a chubby-cheeked mechanic from Fairfield, Ala.

MOTHER SHOT
The stocky, red-haired Rowe, a former Birmingham bartender, described in Wilkins' first trial, last May, how Viola Gregg Luzzo, 39, a Detroit mother of five, was shot.

The killing took place while she was shuttling Negro civil rights workers back to Selma after the 50-mile march on the state Capitol in Montgomery.

In the earlier trial, which ended in a hung jury, Rowe testified he was one of four Klan members in a car which followed Mrs. Luzzo's along a dark stretch of US 90 before he said, Wilkins fired the shot which killed her.

"I DON'T MISS"
Rowe testified Wilkins fired with a pistol and then bragged, "Baby brother, I don't miss."

Alabama Atty. Gen. Richard Flowers, who is directing the prosecution of Wilkins, said he will call the state toxicologist who performed the autopsy on Mrs. Luzzo, an FBI ballistics expert and then Rowe. Flowers said he would wrap up the state's case today.

In Wednesday's proceedings — started after a 1½-day delay while Flowers appealed for a ruling on juror selection to the Alabama Supreme Court — the state-called six witnesses including a 20-year-old Negro riding with Mrs. Luzzo when she was killed.

He was Leroy Moton, a field worker for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, who said, "everything happened so fast" he did not hear the shots which killed Mrs. Luzzo. "I just heard glass breaking," he said.

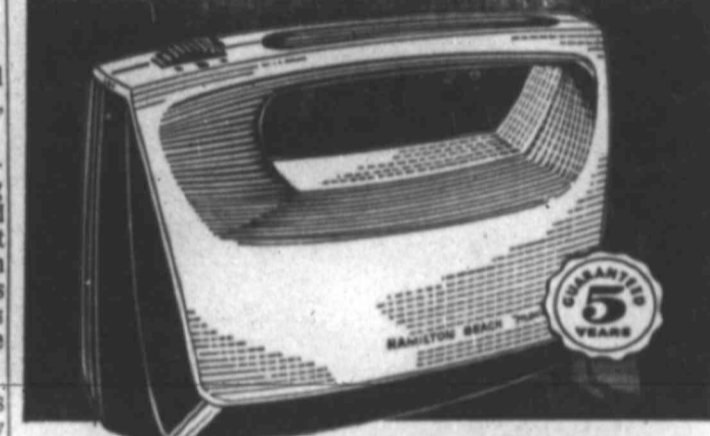

Defense attorney Arthur J. Hanes, a former Birmingham mayor, quizzed Moton at length on his connection with Mrs. Luzzo.

Hanes, a lawyer and former FBI agent, took over the defense for Wilkins and two other indicted Klansmen — William O. Eaton, 41, and Eugene Thomas, 42, both of Bessemer — after Klan attorney Matthew Murphy Jr. was killed in a car wreck in August.

The trial in Hayneville, a rural town in cattle-raising country 23 miles southwest of Montgomery, was in danger of being discontinued earlier Wednesday when Flowers appealed to the State Supreme Court for a ruling.

JUROR CHALLENGE
Flowers challenged 11 prospective jurors on grounds of prejudice after they said during examination that they believe Negroes and white civil rights workers were inferior. They said, however, that they would, if the evidence is sufficient, invoke the death penalty in the case.

In a speedy hearing in Montgomery, the Supreme Court sitting with four members rejected Flowers' appeal and ordered the trial to continue.

Orchestra Finally In Public — Maybe

STANLEY, England (AP) — After practicing for 20 years, the Stanley Civic Orchestra finally is going to play in public.

Twenty years ago a group of local amateur musicians began playing together, but no one ever asked them to play. The Urban District Council built a civic center and asked the orchestra to play next Monday night. At the final rehearsal, the orchestra was told the concert must be postponed for another six weeks. The building isn't ready.

Air Warm In Far Southwest

By The Associated Press
Unseasonably warm readings were posted in the far Southwest, but cooler weather moved into an area from the Great Lakes to northern New England.

Warm air under a high pressure system over coastal California sent temperatures soaring Wednesday. Los Angeles had a high of 95. But the highest reported readings of the day were posted at Miramar, Calif., north of San Diego and at Long Beach, where it reached 99.

Butte, Mont., had 21 — the lowest reported temperature.

Some rain fell over the south Atlantic, Gulf Coast and the Ohio Valley regions, but it was generally light. The Northeast also had rain.

Heavy snow in northern New Mexico over the weekend hampered the efforts of hunters out for bull elk. One conservation officer said 20 inches of snow had fallen in the Jemez area by Monday, that most of the hunters had moved out and the kill was light.

Mental Health Parley Set

ABILENE — State Sen. Franklin Scott Spears of San Antonio has been added to the list of speakers at a one-day conference on Mental Health and Mental Retardation at Hardin-Simmons University Saturday. He will speak on "recent legislation in the field of mental health and mental retardation" at 2 p.m. in the H-SU chapel-auditorium.

Principal speaker at the luncheon will be Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller, president of the National Association for Mental Health. Other prominent speakers will also be on the program.

Co-sponsored by H-SU and the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, the conference will have other cooperating agencies — Abilene Association for Mental Health, Abilene Public Schools, Abilene Council for Retarded Children, West Texas Rehabilitation Center and Abilene State School.

The purpose is to acquaint city groups with the means and methods for securing a mental health clinic under the federal government's grant program.

Charge Denied By CIA Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young says he has learned the Central Intelligence Agency hired South Vietnamese to dress as Viet Cong and kill men and rape women with the objective of discrediting the Communists. A CIA spokesman calls the charge "absolutely false."

And Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J., said of the Ohio Democrat's allegation Wednesday: "It may well be that he spoke to a Viet Cong disguised as a CIA man."

Both Young and Gallagher were in South Viet Nam several months ago and were briefed there by American officials.

Young first told newsmen Wednesday that he got his information from a CIA man. Wednesday night, he denied he had said a CIA man was his source and said he got his information from an American military officer. He did not name the man.

Nevertheless, Young said, "I confirmed through the CIA today that it employed some South Vietnamese nationals to pose as Viet Cong — and I take a dim view of that."

Hoffa Accused Of 'Till-Taps

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department says Teamsters President James R. Hoffa pulled $570,396 from the union treasury to help pay for his criminal trials.

The department said Wednesday it compiled the figures from Teamster records and made no attempt to verify them.

Seymour Spelman, attorney for 16 Philadelphia union members who seek restitution of the funds, declared:

"That's only the top of the iceberg."

FOR DEFENSE

He said the total probably is nearer to $1 million for Hoffa's criminal cases since 1959. And he said the Teamster till may have been tapped for as much as $3 million to defend Hoffa and 47 other union officials convicted during the past five years.

The Labor Department said the $570,396 covered three criminal trials during the past three years.

The Spelman suit, expected to come to trial in Washington within the next two months, was filed in March 1964. Hoffa stopped using union money for his legal troubles shortly thereafter, although he contended its use was legal as a necessary business expense.

TRYING DINNERS

Associates of the union president now are trying to start a series of $100-a-plate dinners to help the Hoffa pocketbook.

The Labor Department said the money went for a 1962 kick-and a 1964 Chicago trial for de-back conspiracy case in Nashville, Tenn.; a 1964 jury tampering trial in Chattanooga, Tenn., frauding the Teamster pension fund.

The Nashville case ended in a mistrial, but Hoffa was later convicted of jury tampering and sentenced to eight years in prison. He was sentenced to another five years on his Chicago fraud conviction. He also was fined $10,000 in each case.

Hoffa has appealed both convictions and remains free.

March Set In Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Negroes planned another march today to protest alleged educational inequalities despite the arrest of about 100 and a court order aimed at blocking student participation in demonstrations.

Police, under U.S. Dist. Court orders to protect peaceful demonstrations, arrested 94 Wednesday in four different marches or attempted marches.

First arrested were seven members of the Bogalusa Negro Civic and Voters League who refused to disperse at a Negro meeting hall. Three were charged with disturbing the peace and failing to move on, and the other four were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile.

The other arrests stemmed from two marching attempts and a demonstration at the city jail where those first-arrested were still held.

Civil Dist. Court Judge Jim Richardson issued an injunction Tuesday night against the voters league forbidding it or its members from "enticing, compelling or permitting anyone to solicit any of the pupils of the public schools to absent themselves for the purpose of picketing, marching, parading or doing any other acts of like nature."

Flattered, Says Groucho Marx

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comedian Groucho Marx is amused that the Library of Congress wants his personal papers, manuscripts and letters.

"My things will be in pretty high class company, next to the Gettysburg Address and the Declaration of Independence," the comedian said Wednesday. The Universities of Wisconsin and Michigan also asked for his papers, said the mustached, cigar-wiggling actor.

Tower Dinner Is Canceled

The scheduled appreciation dinner-meeting for U.S. Republican Sen. John Tower, at which Illinois Sen. Everett M. Dirksen was to appear, has been postponed. It was scheduled tonight in Midland.

Howard County Republican chairman Bill Sheppard said this morning that money sent in for tickets would be refunded, or those purchasing them could hold the tickets for the later meeting. The money can be refunded by calling or contacting Sheppard here, or the Republican headquarters in Midland, he said.

"Sen. Dirksen called the Midland office late Wednesday and said the upcoming vote on the controversial Francis X. Morrissey for a federal district judgeship in Massachusetts required the presence of senators in Washington until the matter is settled," Sheppard said.

"The meeting will be scheduled at a later date and everyone will be notified of the time and place as soon as we know," he said.

Webb-Trained Pilot Dies In Idaho Plane Crash

Out of Boise, Idaho, last week came word in an Associated Press item telling how the luck of David Arthur Steeves ran out on a small airfield near Boise.

In the spring of 1959, the then Air Force pilot had parachuted out of a jet trainer and survived 54 days in the Sierra Nevada. This was of direct interest to Big Spring people, for Lt. Steeves had trained at Webb AFB, and his wife had worked here as a dental assistant.

Later he wrote an account of his 54 days of wandering in the mountains under winter conditions and Saturday Evening Post published the article. Critics began to point at what they claimed were holes in the story and the Air Force conducted a lengthy investigation. Nothing came of it, and in time Steeves, facing marital trouble, left the Air Force.

Last Saturday, Steeves and an Idaho pilot, Marvin Hornback, 46, were killed when their light modified cargo plane crashed on landing at Stone Airport at suburban Garden City, Idaho.

Steeves, who owned Business Aviation Company in Fresno, Calif., was demonstrating the custom-built aircraft for Hornback. The plane touched down, but failed to lift off before it crashed into a bank and road at the end of the runway.

Hornback was killed instantly. Steeves died later in a Boise hospital. He left his wife and two children.

Revamped Sugar Measure Voted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a revamped sugar bill which authorizes more domestic production and sets country-by-country foreign quotas.

Approval came on a 66-16 vote Wednesday, and the measure now must go to a House-Senate conference committee.

Both chambers agreed on a 580,000-ton-a-year boost for domestic growers, but they disagree on the foreign quotas distribution.

The Senate version comes closer to meeting administration recommendations.

Under the quota system, both domestic and foreign producers

Each would assign the U. S. market growth during the next six years to foreign quotas until nondomestic producers regain the 40 per cent share of the U.S. market they have held until this year.

Rep. Gibbens Urges Voters To Work For Amendments

Ringling appeals to spread the word about 10 constitutional amendments and work to get out a vote on Nov. 2 were sounded at a meeting here Thursday morning.

Rep. Wayne Gibbens, Breckenridge, appearing at the request of Gov. John Connally to stir interest in West Texas in the referendum, spoke briefly concerning the 10 proposals.

He said the governor was especially concerned about No. 3, which will permit the legislature to make Texas statutes conform so as to qualify for $27,000,000 annually in matching funds from the federal government under the Kerr-Mills program (for aged welfare cases requiring medical care, aid to dependent children, the blind, etc.); No. 4, the providing of a four-year term for state officials; and No. 6, the establishment of a college loan fund for students who must have help.

He and Rep. Roger Brown, who presided over the meeting attended by two dozen Big Spring people at the First Federal Savings & Loan Association Community Room, urged those present to call 10 people concerning the amendments, and urge them to call 10 others.

All means of publicity should be employed, even raising money for radio spots, newspaper ads, etc., said Rep. Gibbens, because of the importance of the issues to Texas.

"You would be amazed at the number of people who can't name a single one of the 10 amendments to be voted on Nov. 2," he said.

PERSONAL CONTACT Brown asked those attending to take copies of the proposed amendment and make personal contact. There is no substitute for this in stimulating interest, he said.

Concerning No. 3, Rep. Gibbens said that older people were dependent frequently upon friends and family to bring them news, but that news of the importance of this is not getting to them. He urged support of No. 4—the four-year state official proposal—to avoid what he called the necessity of devoting every other year to campaigning; and of No. 6 to bulwark "the governor's intense interest in higher education." Dr. W. A. Hunt, Howard County Junior College, president, also spoke in support of this amendment and of No. 1, which will permit a five-cent state ad valorem levy for state senior college buildings.

HIGHLIGHTS Of other amendments are: No. 2, extend veterans land program by $200 million more bonds to supply loans; No. 5, broaden authority of teacher retirement fund to invest in more lucrative stocks, etc.; No. 7, exempt a Harris County hospital from ad valorem taxes to help cope with a charity load; No. 8, automatic

Clubbers Hear Talk On Beauty Carolyn Crawford, member of the Big Spring 4-H Club, talked to members Tuesday night at the Howard County courthouse on "Keeping America Clean." She then showed a film entitled "Let's Keep America Beautiful."

Kathy Shaw, president, was in charge of the business meeting, and later introduced new members, Judy Daniel and Xan Lemons. She then appointed a committee to take care of refreshments, with Dixie Colb as chairman, and Mike Alexander, assistant. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Tramp, the 900 pound Hereford Dolores Lankford and her friends were counting on so highly to take first honors at the Texas State Fair, didn't do so well in the judging, but Dolores individually covered herself with glory.

The 13-year-old 4-H Clubber from Gay Hill community won the coveted Junior Steer Showmanship Award and is the proud owner of one of the most important plaques that a youngster can earn at the fair.

Tramp, who took a first place in his own weight division at Kansas City last week, barely scored eighth in the Dallas competition.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, who returned from the Dallas show last night, said that the Howard County 4-H Clubbers showed up well in the competition. The highest spot scored, other than for Dolores' victory as showman, was a second place class ribbon won by Maxwell Barr, Vincent, for his steer. This animal competed in the same class with Tramp.

The grand champion steer of the show was an Angus owned by Robert Cooper, 17, Colorado City. He is a member of the Mitchell County 4-H Clubs and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cooper.

Reserve grand champion was an 850 pound Hereford shown by 14-year-old Clark Riley, Hale County.

Mark Barr, Vincent, won a retirement for judges, plus clauses for cause of removal; No. 9, permit legislature to set salaries (at $12,500) for the lieutenant governor and speaker of the house (they get the same $400 a month, as other legislators); No. 10, to set four-year terms for House members.

Three Wrecks Occur Within One Hour Today

Three traffic mishaps within one hour, two of them happening within one minute, failed to injure anyone this morning, police said. All three accidents were at Goliad Street intersections.

At Sixth and Goliad, the cars of Henry Thomas Sefton, 1106 E. 12th, and Cynthia Ann Hale Lewis, 205 Owens, were in collision. The accident happened at 8:13 a.m. One minute later, officers were called to the scene of an accident involving the cars of Emmett Clyde Howard, 1500 Lancaster, and Charles Hughes Penn Jr., 401 Pennsylvania. The accident occurred on Goliad, at the Fifteenth Street intersection, officers said.

Forty minutes later, a car-truck mishap occurred at FM 700 and Goliad. Involved were the car of Marian Linn Caines, 1102 Sycamore, and a truck driven by Fayette Moore, San Angelo.

Wednesday, there were two accidents. No one was injured, according to officers. The pickup of Arthur Lee Axten, 1206 Wright, was in collision with a car driven by Mary Holden Caton, 619 Colgate, in the 100 block of West Third Street; and the pickup of Colbert Flurnoy King, Denver City, was in collision with the car of Elizabeth Johansen, Box 391.

'Old Man Of Sea' In Exile

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A 92-year-old Cuban fisherman, who said he inspired Ernest Hemingway's "The Old Man and the Sea", arrived in exile today, the busiest day for refugees since Fidel Castro opened the doors two weeks ago.

The Coast Guard said more than 130 exiles sailed a hodgepodge of 13 small boats into the Florida Keys as a two-day lull came to an emphatic end.

More boats were on the way and newly arrived refugees said more than 250 craft were waiting to make the trip.

The small craft were coming across the choppy gulfstream at such a clip that the Coast Guard, which has been trying to escort every boat into port, couldn't keep up.

Lawyers Hassle Over Terms Of Charge In Yanez Trial

Trial of Clarence Yanez Jr., charged with assault with intent to murder, and originally expected to take only a day's time has moved into its third day in 118th District Court. At 11 a.m. Thursday the jury was cooling its heels in the jury room, while state and defense lawyers bickered over the terms of the charge which Judge Ralph Caton will read to the jurors.

Argument by counsel is yet to be heard. There is no indication that the attorneys were anywhere near an agreement on the terms of the charge.

UNTIL 1 A.M. Judge Caton held court in session until 1 a.m. Thursday in an effort to get the charge ready so the jurors could hear argument Thursday morning. At 1 a.m., it was evident no immediate agreement on the charge's provisions was in sight and court was recessed.

Last of the testimony in the case was heard about 6 p.m. Wednesday. There were only five witnesses—two for the state and three for the defense. Avery Falkner, a city policeman who accused Yanez of firing several shots at him, and Lee Justice, his fellow officer on the night of the altercation, were the only state witnesses presented. The defense offered the testimony of Victor Yanez Jr., John Hernandez and Luz Delosanos.

The trial opened Tuesday afternoon.

OTHERS DELAYED The long lasting case is playing havoc with court plans in the matter of other cases. The state wants to go to trial Friday with Elmo Henry, charged with assault with intent to commit murder. Mrs. Patsy Henry, left partially paralyzed by the shooting for which her former husband is indicted, was returned to Big Spring Wednesday night from Oklahoma. She will be the star witness.

The completion of the Yanez case will be the deciding factor in what course the court can follow in the Henry matter.

Judge Caton pointed out today that he had only 31 panel members available when the court began this week's docket. Twelve of these have been on duty in the Yanez matter for three days and two nights.

Even if the case in court can be ended by tonight, the judge said he disliked having to ask some of the present jury to serve in a new case.

No decision had been reached on this matter today.

Unions Stage A Royal Fuss

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret today became the center of a mild jurisdictional dispute between two unions.

The younger sister of Queen Elizabeth II is to open the new $22-million building of the Birmingham Post & Mail on Tuesday by starting the presses. A spokesman for the National Society of Operative Printers and Assistants said she would be made a member of their union since only union members can start the presses.

But today John Bonfield, joint secretary of the National Graphical Association, said only members of his union are qualified to start rotary presses.

"This is all very childish and silly," said Jack Perry, secretary of the other union's Birmingham branch. "Of course the machine managers are in charge — but they do not start the presses. This is done by our members."

Bigamy Trial Given Delay

ROME (AP) — The bigamy trial of actress Sophia Loren and movie producer Carlo Ponti was postponed today until Feb. 15 because one of the three judges is absent.

Bigamy charges were brought against Ponti a month later and Miss Loren was accused of complicity.

Early this year Ponti became a citizen of France, which recognizes divorce. Miss Loren denied reports that she also planned to take out French citizenship.

Williams is right behind with 165 yards in 20 lunges for an 8.2-yard average.

Jack Mildren, Abilene Cooper, has emerged as the conference's top passer, with 22 completions in 43 attempts for gains totaling 254 yards. The No. One receiver is Larry Gatlin of Odessa, who has gathered in 10 aerials for an over-all pickup of 106. Larry Pipkin, Midland, has two fewer completions than Gatlin but has gained 167 yards.

Leading punter in the conference is Mitch Robertson of Abilene, who has a 50-yard average in nine attempts. The figures (conference games only):

Bird Dog Club Slates Trial

A Shoot to Kill field trial will be held under the auspices of the Permian Bird Dog and Sportsman's Club on the Graves "Flying G" hunting resort near Vincent Saturday, Oct. 30. Three top dogs will receive trophies and judging will be done on productive pointing (50 points for each point), backing or honoring another dog's point (25 points for each back) and retrieving (25 points for each retrieve). Entry fee will be $5 for each dog for club members and $7.50 per dog for non-members. The club will furnish three quail per entry. All extra birds that are shot and killed, caught and killed or flushed and chased out of the bird field will cost the owner or handler $1.25 each. Any dog failing to honor or back his brace-mate that has established a productive point will be penalized 25 points, if he flushes the bird. After a dog has established a point he must have an opportunity to retrieve. Dogs will receive no credit for marking and pointing the same bird twice in succession. Drawing for braces will be held in Room 3 at the Settles hotel at 8 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 28. Entries can be mailed to Lee Freese, 2721 Cindy Lane. He can be contacted by telephone after 5 p.m. by dialing AM 4-7077. Lunches, coffee and cold drinks will be available at the site of the field trial while the match is going on. The public has an open invitation to attend.

Boyer Traded To New York

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Boyer, one of the greatest third basemen in St. Louis Cardinal history, has become the first to feel the bite of the Cardinals' plummet from world champion to seventh place in the National League. Boyer, the Cardinal captain, was traded Wednesday to the New York Mets for left-handed pitcher Al Jackson and third baseman Charley Smith. An unnamed triple-A player also will be sent to the Mets. "If they started making trades, it figures that the older players would be the first to go," said the 34-year-old, $60,000-a-year power hitter. If this is true, Boyer may be followed by others. Shortstop Dick Groat, who fell from a .292 batting average in 1964, to .254 last season, will be 35 next month. Left-hander Curt Simmons, who dropped to a 9-15 record after an 18-9 season, is 36. And right-hander Bob Purkey, who was ineffective at 10-9, is 36.

Crucial Week Dead Ahead For Top 11's

By The Associated Press

The school football week of Texas schoolboy football finds conference games in all 96 districts of the four classes playing to state championships.

All intersectional strife is at an end and the business of deciding teams for the playoffs is foremost. Fifty-four undefeated, untied teams remain but there are prospects that the list will be trimmed below 50. In two intersections teams with perfect records clash.

The headliner matches San Antonio Lee and San Antonio Highlands. Both are unbeaten and untied and Lee hasn't even been scored on. The winner will retain at least a tie for the District 15 lead in Class AAAA. San Antonio Jefferson is the third team now in a three-way deadlock for the top.

The other game matching teams with unbeaten, untied records comes in Class AA where Mexico and West tangle in an effort to break out of a three-way tie for the lead. Marlin is the other leader.

Texarkana, the No. 1 team of Class AAAA, starts the drive for district laurels against Tyler. Two other top games are scheduled in AAAA with Nederland and Fort Neches clashing for the lead in District 11 and Baytown and Freeport-Brazoport tangle in a District 12 battle of deep significance. They are two of three teams tied for the top. Pasadena Rayburn is the other one.

Dumas, the big favorite in Class AAA, opens the district race against Muleshoe. San Marcos, the defending state champion, risks its undefeated, untied record against Schertz-Cibola in a District 14 conference clash.

Yearlings Vie With Snyder

Open last week, the Runnels 11th graders return to play in Snyder tonight, meeting Lamar Junior High in a game at 7:30 p.m. The Yearlings, still plagued by injuries, boast a 2-2-1 record. They have beaten Snyder Lamar, 30-6 and San Angelo Edmar, 22-14; lost to Sweetwater, 8-6, and San Angelo Lee, 32-8; and been tied by Sweetwater, 6-6.

The locals will play without the services of ace running back Chuck Tucker, who is out with a severe ankle sprain. Quarterback Johnny Patton, out since the first quarter of the first game with a dislocated elbow, will accompany the team to Snyder but see limited action, if any. He hasn't been given unqualified clearance by the doctor.

Probable starters for the Yearlings tonight are Larry Newton and Johnny Hedges at ends, Don McEvers and Mike Bridges or Jesse Brown at tackles, Billy Bob Spier and George Rios at guards, Emmet Miller at center, Laven Flores at quarterback, Tony Perez and Roy Lee Warren or Mike Nobles at halfbacks and Rocky Woolley or Robert Domino at fullback.

Runnels' eighth graders play here at 8:30 p.m. against Lamar. The local eighth graders are Big Spring's only undefeated team which has met out-of-town competition. The Yearlings are 4-0.

Starters for the local club will probably be Fernando Mendoza and Charley Rodriguez at ends, Randy Morgan and Roy Thomas at tackles, Johnny Hilario and Robert Dennis at guards, George Pedro at center, Johnny Rutherford at quarterback, Lewis Switzer and Kyle Rozene at halfbacks and Joe Zubiate at fullback.

Big Spring (Texas)-Herald, Thurs., Oct. 21, 1965 5-A

Eagles Have 30-4 Edge In BS Series

In a series dating back to 1914, Big Spring has won only four football games from Abilene High School. The two teams meet again Friday night in Abilene and the loser, for all intents and purposes, drops out of competition for the 2-AAAA title. Last time the Steers came home a winner was in 1962. That year, the locals beat the Eagles, 20-0. A final second field goal by Eddy Nelson helped seal the win. Prior to 1962, the Steers had not beaten the Eagles since 1950. That was before any play on this year's team had been born. Other Steer wins have come in 1914, when the Steers won by the overpowering score of 77-0; and in 1940, at which time Big Spring's margin of victory was 25-6. In 1914, the year of the

LOOKING 'EM OVER
With Tommy Hart

Some of the reasons the ABC television network was able to wrest the NCAA football contract away from NBC for the next two seasons have now come to light. The puritanical NCAA, which has been known to gag on a goat and swallow a camel, reportedly was browed off when Carl Lindemann, vice president of NBC sports, sent out letters to college seniors who had been drafted by both the AFL and NFL.

The letters pointed out that NBC had a five-year television commitment to the AFL that guaranteed the financial future of the young league. The NCAA brass apparently decided it was poor form for the network to be offering guidance to college athletes, especially when they have career guidance specialists they pay in five figures to do the same thing. The NCAA people, it is said, also didn't particularly care for the timing of some of the football shows, specifically when it came to having a banner college game running in direct competition with an NFL football contest (the ones that will be played on Saturdays).

The tall hairs who run NBC are complaining that the NCAA didn't play fair when it went out looking for customers of the TV contract, that ABC bent so low as to wrangle the pact in closed bidding. Not so, replied Roone Arledge, head of ABC sports, adding: "NBC has the AFL, the World Series and the Rose Bowl and, to my knowledge, it didn't get them through open bidding."

The NFL contract goes up for grabs again in January. It's going to be interesting to see how much bidding there is for such a plum—and whether the price exceeds that now being paid by CBS ($14,000,000 annually). From all indications, NBC will not nibble but no one knows for certain.

Galen Frick, who wielded one of the big sticks when Dodge City, Kansas, uncoupled HCJC on the basketball court, is now a member of the Kansas State varsity basketball squad, as is 7-foot-1 Nick Pino of Santa Fe, N.M., who was thought to be headed for Texas Tech at one time. Freshman players currently at Kansas State include 6-11 Mike Barber of Roswell, N.M., a boy HCJC's Buddy Travis would dearly like to have recruited; and 6-6 Gene Wilson of Fort Worth.

Tommy Burris, the former eight-man grinder from Gall, has caught three passes good for 27 yards at McMurtry College this fall.

Georgia Tech is not afraid to buck competition, even though the football pros are moving into Atlanta next year. Plans are afoot to add 8,000 seats to Grant Field, home of Tech. The project will cost about $1,400,000. Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech says the school definitely will not use the purchase-option plan to raise the money, explaining: "We don't want to do it that way because the only thing you'll be adding then would be people and not seats." The addition would bring the field's seating capacity to more than 60,000.

The Houston Astros recently turned down a trade offer that would have cost them the services of their best gate attraction, Jimmy Wynn.

The Chicago White Sox offered Houston catcher John Romano for the fleet outfielder.

Goliad's Mavericks Play Host To Sweetwater 11

Still plagued with problems in the backfield, the Goliad 11th graders play host to the Sweetwater Colts in a 7:30 p.m. game at the old stadium today. The Mavericks, who have a 2-3 record, are playing without the services of half their regular backfield—quarterback Ford Farris and fullback Steve Russell.

Goliad, coached by Jack Taylor, has managed to show a fine defense but haven't been able to muster much punch. The Mavs opened with a 26-6 victory over Snyder Lamar and followed up with an 18-14 success at the expense of Snyder Travis.

Since then, however, the Goliad team has dropped decisions to Snyder Lamar, San Angelo Lee and Snyder Travis without scoring a point. The Mavericks came very close to breaking the logjam against Travis last week but had a long touchdown run wiped out due to an infraction. Goliad's eighth graders take to the road tonight, visiting Sweetwater for a 7:30 o'clock engagement.

Landry Unsure Of Quarterback

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, sinking toward the National Football League cellar, face Green Bay Sunday with an uncertain quarterback situation and hampered by injuries. Cowboy coach Tom Landry said Wednesday he had not decided which of his three quarterbacks to start against Green Bay. Much will depend on how they perform in practice this week, he indicated.

Odds Shifting On Giardello Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — The odds favoring challenger Dick Tiger of Nigeria dropped to 7-5 over middleweight champion Joey Giardello today and may even swing the other way by the time they climb into the ring tonight for their 15-round title fight. Tiger, 36, was installed 3-1 by the odds-makers on Broadway when the Madison Square Garden fight was made several months ago. Since then the price has been dropping down as more support came in for the 35-year-old champion from Cherry Hill, N.J.

The aggressive, hard-hitting Nigerian was a 3-1 betting favorite the night he lost the title to the ring-smart Giardello at Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 7, 1963. "For the life of me I can't figure why the odds favor Tiger," said Giardello Wednesday night. "I beat him the last two times I fought him."

Tiger is hoping that the referee, who will be named at fight time, will prevent Giardello from excessive holding. "I believe my chances are much stronger here than they were in Atlantic City," said the articulate Nigerian. "In that first fight the referee permitted him to get away with a lot of holding. I'm hoping he'll be forced to fight here."

"I am confident that with the proper officiating I will be able to defeat him." The return fight has caught fire here and may lure a capacity crowd of 15,000 and a gross gate of $150,000 at prices ranging from $5 to $25. Fight time is 8 p.m. Big Spring time.

NOT ON RADIO

The fight will be telecast into homes over a regional network, covering mostly Eastern cities. The metropolitan New York area will be blacked out of the telecast. There will be a local radio broadcast.

Giardello, a veteran of 18 years of pro fighting, has been guaranteed $50,000 or the privilege of 40 per cent of the net gate and television receipts.

Scoring leader in District 2-AAAA is Frankie Stringer of San Angelo, with a total of 48 points. He has a lead of 12 points on two players, Larry Gatlin of Odessa High and Tim Thurman, Abilene High. In fourth place, right on the heels of Gatlin and Thurman, is Julio Guerrero of San Angelo, with 33 points.

Midwest Quake Sways Houses

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — At least eight states. No injuries or moderately strong earthquake rumbled across the Midwest Wednesday night, shaking at had been centered in a city. The quake started at 9:01 p.m. and lasted for 14 minutes on the seismograph at St. Louis University. However, residents of Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee felt it only for a few seconds.

Beardsley Loses High Court Appeal

Bobby W. Beardsley, 23, under conviction for theft and facing a four year term in the state penitentiary, lost his appeal in the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday.

He is in the county jail here. Norman Spencer Jr. is his court-appointed attorney. Whether Beardsley will carry his appellate fight further could not be determined this morning. He has a right to file a motion for a rehearing within 15 days of the time when the mandate—not as yet at hand—reaches the office of Fern Cox, district court clerk. This would delay his removal to the state penitentiary until the court had acted on his motion. It is not known if such a rehearing will be asked.

Anti-Indian Leaders Held

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP) — Police today arrested 26 leaders of political groups working for Kashmir's independence from India.

With this latest police sweep, India now has detained most of the Kashmiri leaders who have led the anti-Indian demonstrations that have swept parts of the Himalayan state recently. The arrests were expected to touch off fresh demonstrations in Srinagar, Kashmir's summer capital.

Professor Wins Chemistry Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The 1965 Nobel Prize for chemistry was awarded today to Prof. Robert Burns Woodward of Harvard University.

In its citation, the Royal Swedish Academy said the prize was awarded for "his meritorious contribution to the art of organic synthesis." The prize is worth 232,000 kroner (about $55,000) this year.

Dickson Expects Howard Support

House Speaker Ben Barnes lauded the 59th Legislature, and Temple Dickson, state representative, said he feels obligated to seek re-election, at a Sweetwater dinner marking Temple Dickson Day Wednesday night.

Barnes said the 59th Legislature did unequal work in redistricting, water development, tourist business improvement and industrial growth. He saw further development in educational, industrial and water resources in Texas.

Dickson told the overflow crowd of about 375 persons, "I'm not going to announce my candidacy for re-election tonight. I thought about it, but I'm not ready yet." But later he said, "In a sense, it would be unfair to the people who elected me not to run again."

When and if Dickson hears the voice of the turtle in the land, he will face opposition from Roger Brown, Big Spring, who won a special election in the summer, but has not served in the House. Redistricting will put Big Spring in the district which includes Sweetwater and Colorado City. Dickson said Frank Hardesty is another possible Big Spring opponent, adding that he, Hardesty and Brown are good friends.

"I expect to get my share of the Howard County votes," Dickson said. "I wouldn't expect half, but my fair share." Judge Austin McCloud, 32nd District Court, Sweetwater, was toastmaster at the Newman High School tribute. A delegation from Fort Worth included State Reps. Tommy Shannon, Dave Finney, Joe Shannon, W. C. (Bud) Sherman and Jack McLaughlin. State Sen. David Ratliff was also present along with Tom Gordon, Abilene, state Democratic committeeman.

W. R. Penick, Sweetwater mayor, welcomed the visitors who included State Reps. Forrest Harding, San Angelo; Renal Rosson, Snyder; Grant Jones, Abilene; Wayne Gibbons, Breckenridge; Bill Clayton, Springlake; George (Skeet) Richardson, Keller; Hudson Mayer, Amarillo; Tom Holness, Grandbury; and a delegation of about 15 persons from Big Spring, including Big Spring city commissioners.

Barnes, of DeLeon, said in his principal address the appreciation banquet was one of the largest turnouts he had ever seen.

Protest Stirred By Defection

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary has protested to Britain and the United States because of the defection of Laszlo Szabo, 42, a Hungarian diplomat seeking political asylum in the United States.

The Foreign Ministry accused Britain of withholding information on Szabo's disappearance last weekend. He was the second secretary in Hungary's embassy in London.

Two days ago the American Embassy in London said it had agreed to help Szabo find asylum in the United States after he came to the U.S. Embassy last Monday.

France Eyes N-Missiles

PARIS (AP) — France will have nuclear missiles at fixed sites in southern France by 1968, Defense Minister Pierre Messmer says.

Messmer told a news conference Wednesday testing and production of the missiles would begin next year. France's nuclear arm will be borne aloft by 50 supersonic Mirage IV bombers which will be operational next year, he said.

Texans Vote Nov. 2 On Student Loan Plan

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans vote Nov. 2 on a proposal to give college students an $85 million helping hand.

Amendment No. 6 to let the state issue bonds for loans to Texas students in public and private schools, including junior colleges, is one of 10 proposed state Constitution changes.

Other issues of prime interest to young people and their parents include Amendment No. 1, increasing the state ad valorem tax by five cents to boost college construction, and No. 2, to issue another $200 million in veterans land program bonds.

The college student loan proposal is one of the most popular issues on the ballot. It would become effective at once since the legislature also passed enabling legislation.

Precedents for college student loans in Texas date back to 1952 when the state medical education fund was authorized to make loans, from appropriated funds, to medical college students who promised to practice in rural areas for a minimum time.

In recent years the West Texas State University Opportunity Plan fund was created from private sources. Experience shows a repayment rate of 89 1/2 per cent on student loans there.

On the other hand, the repayment on student loans through the federal government runs only about 81 per cent.

Under the proposal a student would have to be a Texas resident, accepted for enrollment at a school but unable to make the grade financially before he could qualify for a loan. No special grade average would be required. The student would sign a note and begin making monthly installment payments within four months after enrollment. The payments would be timed to pay off the note not more than five years after graduation. The interest rate would be not more than 4 1/2 per cent.

Supporters say the loans, backed by bonds up to $85 million, would be a great boost to thousands of high school graduates who want to go to college but don't have the money. The state loan money could be used to match federal funds making double benefits for those in real need. The loan fund is supposed to be self-perpetuating without actual cost to the taxpayer.

Those against say it borders on socialism, that it should not be necessary to subsidize students. They say it breaks down another barrier between church and state because loans will be available to students in private church schools.

The college construction amendment would boost from five to 11 cents per $100 property valuation the portion of the state ad valorem tax used for college building. Five schools recently added to the state supported system would share with the 12 now getting building funds from a five cent levy. The additions are Arlington State, Midwestern University of Houston, Pan-American College and Angelo State College.

If approved, the building money would be allocated 90 per cent on projected enrollment increases and 10 per cent on additional buildings needed to equal the average space available in all senior state colleges.

The veterans land program amendment is similar to a proposal for $150 million more in bonds, defeated in 1963. It defeated this time the program, which began in 1946, dies on Dec. 1.

The pending proposal also would change the interest rate on the bonds from 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 per cent to make them more attractive to buyers. It also would let the state loan up to $10,000 per tract instead of the present $7,500 limit.

Those for the amendment say there are about a million World War II and Korean veterans who have been unable to take part in the program. So far about 35,000 veterans have bought about three million acres.

Those against say the state should get out of the loan business, or there will be future demands of loans for veterans of Viet Nam and yet undeclared wars.

Two Americans, Japanese Win Nobel Physics Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The 1965 Nobel Prize for physics was awarded jointly today to two Americans and a Japanese—Julian Schwinger of Harvard, Richard Feynman of the California Institute of Technology, and Sin-Itiro Tomonaga of Japan.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Science said the award was given for "their fundamental work in quantum electrodynamics, with deep-ploughing consequences for the physics of elementary particles."

SHARE MONEY

The prize money—about $55,000—will be shared equally by the three winners. Tomonaga, 59, is the oldest of the three scientists. For several years he has headed a group of researchers in the field of theoretical physics at the Tokyo University of Education, a branch of Tokyo University.

Schwinger and Feynman are both 47, and both were born in New York City.

Schwinger studied at Columbia University, took his doctor's degree in 1939 and worked at Purdue University before joining the Harvard faculty at Cambridge, Mass.

AT PRINCETON
Feynman studied at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and took his doctor's degree at Princeton in 1942. During the war he worked partly at Princeton and partly at the nuclear research laboratory at Los Alamos, N.M.

His early and decisive contributions to quantum electronics were made at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., where he held a chair in physics 1945-51. He moved to Caltech in Pasadena in 1951.

The Royal Academy said the three professors' achievements had proved extremely useful for the understanding of nuclear forces, for the understanding of the new elementary particles within high-energy physics and for the treatment of certain collective phenomena in the subject of solid-state physics.

OTHER WINNERS

The prize is the third of four Nobels to be awarded in Stockholm. Three French scientists, Francois Jacob, Andre Lwoff and Jacques Monod, won the physiology and medicine prize last Thursday. Soviet novelist Mikhail Sholokhov won the literature prize on Friday.

Still to come is the prize for chemistry and the peace prize, which will be awarded in Oslo.

Near Freeze In Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Thermometers slipped down close to freezing in the Texas Panhandle early today.

Cooler air which started arriving Wednesday enveloped most of the state but readings stayed relatively comfortable.

The mercury dipped to 35 degrees at Dalhart and 37 at Amarillo by dawn. Temperatures on the coast and in extreme South Texas remained in the upper 60s at the same hour.

Top marks Wednesday ranged from 89 at Presidio down to 63 at Amarillo and Dalhart.

It was partly cloudy in parts of South Texas. Skies were clear elsewhere across the state.

Medicare Information Kits Have Been Mailed

Since Sept. 1, Social Security headquarters in Baltimore has completed mailing Medicare Information kits to all of the 15½ million persons 65 and over on the Social Security and railroad retirement benefit rolls.

By now, all elderly Social Security or railroad retirement beneficiaries in the Big Spring area should have received the kits and enclosed application for the supplementary medical insurance part of Medicare, Erven Fisher, Social Security district manager, stated.

About 75 other older persons—those not on the Social Security or railroad retirement benefit rolls—have already been in touch with the Social Security district office in Big Spring, he reported. But many others still need to take action to protect their Medicare rights.

Eight out of 10 aged persons will be reached through the mass mailing, he noted. About one-third of those who will not be reached this way are receiving old-age assistance payments and will hear directly from their local welfare agencies.

Another third are still working full time and will need to file Social Security applications. About one million will also have to get in touch with the local Social Security district office. The enrollment period for those who will be 65 or over before the end of the year closes March 31, 1966, Fisher pointed out.

The March 31 deadline is important, Fisher stressed. Everyone who is 65 or will be by Jan. 1, 1966, must return the medical insurance enrollment card by that date—whether received in the mail or picked up at a Social Security district office, if he wants full protection when the program goes into effect July 1, 1966.

Highway Law Changes Eyed

AUSTIN (AP)—Lt. Gov. Preston Smith has asked the Texas Legislative Council to determine what changes in state law and city ordinances will be required under the Federal Highway Beautification Act.

The U.S. Bureau of Roads can withhold portions of a state's federal money for failure to comply with advertising and junk yard regulations in the new law.

Texas is expected to receive $208 million in federal highway funds next year.

Wonderful World Of Fashion Seen At Country Club Dinner

By JO BRIGHT

Dame Fashion held the whole world in her hand Wednesday evening at the Big Spring Country Club. She beguiled with her beauty and teased with her inconsistency. Putting a well-shod foot forward, she moved gracefully to meet whatever was in store—and conquered all resistance.

Doing everything under the sun, she clothed herself casually in contemporary manner, sometimes capping her carefully-coiffed head with jaunty jockey caps or flirty, furry fedoras. Under cover of night, she armed herself unforgettably with a woman's weapons of silk and satin—and was content with nothing less than total surrender.

"Out of This Wonderful World of Fashion," a presentation by Swartz, was held under the sponsorship of the Ladies Golf Association following a dinner attended by over 200 persons.

Mrs. Elaine Clark was the commentator, and models were Mrs. Joe Moss, Mrs. James Duncan, Mrs. Robert H. Johnson, Mrs. Hayes Stripling Jr., Mrs. E. L. Powell, Mrs. Loren McDowell III, Mrs. Ike Robb, Mrs. Don Newsom, Mrs. A. K. Guthrie, Mrs. Jerry Spence, Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. Delnor Poss.

Mrs. Gall Bonner provided the organ selections which paced the parade of fashions as each model entered to pause before a dais backed with a glittering globe of the world. Passing between the tables, models walked on a golden runway extending the length of the room, stopping intermittently to acknowledge applause for her costume.

Dining tables were centered with silhouettes of the world and festooned with satin rosettes and streamers inscribed with names famous in the fashion world.

As the first scene unfolded, models were clothed in colors as bright as daybreak and clear as a winter morning. Mrs. Guthrie appeared first in a muted gold pant and sweater costume, softened with crochet, and

MRS. E. L. POWELL

Mrs. McDowell wore nut brown slacks with a color-splashed silk blouse and three-quarter coat. Mrs. Duncan's brighter gold ski pant was topped with a white sweater featuring an eye-catching "tree of life" in shades of green, blue and orange. She was followed by Mrs. Newsom in French blue stretch pants and a companion shirt, in silk, blocked in yellow, green and pink. Mrs. Robb was prettily pink in a plain pant with matching sweater looped with rose. Completing the leisure-time travelogue was Mrs. E. L. Powell who posed in a melon pink pant teamed with a striking sweater in bold flower print.

OTHERS
Morning on the slopes, before the fire or in suburban supermarkets was depicted in the second scene as Swartz showed women how to look to deserve another glance. Mrs. Johnson's green hip pants were bell-bottomed, belted in white and perfectly matched with a green shirt with a western way about it. Royal blue pants in Italian knit were worn by Mrs. Taylor with a white coat sweater sparked with gold military buttons, and Mrs. Stripling chose black and white, the furred white jacket featuring a bold print. Mrs. Spence wore a colorful shirt with pants, and Mrs. Moss appeared in a pure silk pant and shirt costume in Paris pink with accents of lime, yellow and green. Completing the group was Mrs. Poss who drew applause in her gold print belted pant topped with a metallic silk overblouse trimmed in braid.

FOR DAYTIME
Dressing for daytime—or destiny at high noon—was the theme of the third portion of the show. Mrs. Guthrie's version of the Mondrian look was a three-piece yellow suit, banded with gold and worn with a white padre hat. Mrs. McDowell showed a pecan brown knit suit with pastel mink collar and satin piping, and Mrs. Duncan modeled an oyster wool suit with slim skirt and three-quarter coat which was accented with black beaver trimming.

The perennial pet, houndstooth check, was worn by Mrs. Newsom in camel and black, the coat belted in front and worn over a camel blouse. Mrs. Robb's persimmon naked wool sheath looked like separates, softly tucked at the front waistline and the bodice sloping to an oval at the back.

WOOL KNIT
A two-piece wool knit, worn by Mrs. E. L. Powell, was topped with a midnight black lace crocheted coat tied at the collar, and Mrs. Johnson won pleased applause with her youthful black and white block print Courregge dress worn with white Go-Go boots and domed helmet. Mrs. Stripling's royal blue suit with finger-tip coat was collared with face-framing Canadian fox. A saucy air was achieved by Mrs. Jerry Spence who topped an oyster wool jersey shirt with a gray knit coat, white-collared, and perched a white fur fedora at a jaunty angle.

Mrs. Moss wore a camel dress, with elongated waist, which she teamed with a full-length reversible coat in camel and white and a camel jockey cap.

PALE GRAY
Mrs. Poss was a picture in pale gray as she showed a suit with pencil slim skirt and hip-length jacket, accented beautifully with a massive collar of alabaster fox.

The models returned in furs to flatter a simple suit or draw attention to a beautiful gown. The pieces ranged from classic stoles, capes and jackets to full-length coats in mink, fox, broad-tail and sable. Shades from pale grey through the range of browns to jet black.

The show approached the evening hours and its conclusion as the models made their final appearance in eternally feminine evening wear.

Mrs. Guthrie wore gold silk satin, slender as a reed, the empire bodice bowed and sprinkled with crystal beads. Mrs. McDowell's blondness was accented with clouds of floating black chiffon showing the Grecian influence, and Mrs. Duncan showed a rose pure silk brocade sheath styled with back panel and worn with a matching maharajah coat bordered with crystal beading matching that on the bodice of the gown.

SHEATH
Oyster white Alaskine was molded into a slender sheath and worn by Mrs. Don Newsom. The Empire bodice was lavished with shaded gold flower sprays and tiny pearls. Next was Mrs. Robb in a Dior blue silk satin skirt, slit to the knee, and complemented with a shimmering shell of sequins tied at the waist.

PALE PINK
Mrs. Powell was the personification of femininity in the pal-est pink gown, daintily encrusted in all-over design of bugle beads and pearls, while Mrs. Johnson's surprising combination of wineberry and black in a chiffon gown hinted of sophistication. Mrs. Taylor wore a pink full-length sheath, scoop-necked, roll-belted and splashed with sequins in scroll pattern. Another way to win hearts was shown by Mrs. Stripling whose full-length coat and sheath of sky blue were touched with bugle beads and rhinestones.

Mrs. Spence showed the still-popular street-length cocktail costume in a two-part story. The slim skirt was topped with a sleeveless overblouse, hand-embroidered with bugle beads and irridescent. Another long gown to appear was Mrs. Moss, who chose a shimmering sliver of gold and silver sequins with a brief matching bolero jacket. The last to appear was Mrs. Poss, who walked the length of the runway in a long white Alaskine sheath and coat. The sheath bodice was patterned with gold sequins which were repeated on the sleeves of the collared coat.

The finale featured all the models in evening wear as they returned for a final bow.

Hair styles were by Jo Polone, and shoes were from Barnes-Pelletiers.

Players were reminded that the Saturday game at the Big Spring Country Club had been cancelled due to the conflict with the benefit game being played in Midland.

Sukarno's Friendship With Peking May Prolong Crisis

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Despite mounting criticism of Communist China, President Sukarno seems intent on maintaining friendly relations with Peking.

This might prolong the Indonesian crisis. The army — which in effect is now ruling Indonesia — has always viewed with dissatisfaction Sukarno's policy of close relationship with Red China.

Some army-controlled newspapers have dropped hints that Peking backed the Indonesian Communist party, the PKI, in its involvement in the Oct. 1 coup attempt.

Other papers and some officials as well have expressed disappointment over Communism's

China's attitude toward the Oct. 1 events.

A speaker at an anti-Communist demonstration Wednesday accused the Chinese of supporting the rebels. He even suggested that Indonesia should break diplomatic relations with Peking.

Antara, the official news agency now controlled by the army, today published a resolution adopted at a Moslem youth rally which said the Moslem youths would demand a break in relations if Peking continued its attacks on the army's crackdown on the Communists.

Relations between the two countries deteriorated further when Peking charged that 40 armed Indonesian soldiers sacked the Chinese commercial counselor's office in Jakarta last Saturday.

Peking protested the incident, demanded an apology and requested punishment of those involved. Military sources said they knew of no such attack.

But on Tuesday, after a meeting of Sukarno with his three deputy premiers, Chaerul Saleh, third deputy premier, said the four leaders were determined to maintain the Peking-Hanoi-Phnom Penh-Jakarta axis. Sukarno proclaimed last August.

War Protests Given Label Of Hypocrisy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine Corps Commandant Wallace M. Greene Jr. says American youths who demonstrate against the nation's Vietnam policy are hypocrites at heart.

If they were sincere, Greene said Wednesday, they would volunteer for humanitarian programs in Southeast Asia.

"Let them prove themselves as Good Samaritans by crossing the road to lift up their brothers, to tend the sick, to feed the hungry, to clothe the naked, to shelter the homeless," he told the Defense Supply Association's national convention.

DO SERVICE

"Let them do this first, rather than pass by on the other side of the street, with a placard on their shoulder, a song on their lips and hypocrisy in their hearts."

The same day Greene issued this challenge, students for a Democratic Society, leaders in recent student demonstrations against the war, proposed that draft-age men be given the alternative of public service — the Peace Corps, for example.

Otherwise, said Paul Booth, the group's national secretary, "We have only one choice. We do in conscience object, utterly and wholeheartedly, to this war; and we will encourage every member of our generation to object, and to file his objection through the Form 150 provided by the law for the conscientious objector."

Booth continued: "We are fully prepared to volunteer for service to our country and to democracy."

"Let us see what happens if service to democracy is made grounds for exemption from the military service."

Throughout the country a wave of counterdemonstrations continued to build.

MASS RALLY

At New Haven, Conn., for instance, a group of Yale students called for attendance at a mass rally today to demonstrate backing for American policy.

At the University of Mississippi in Oxford, the campus senate adopted a strong resolution of support of administration policy and condemned demonstrations against it.

In Sacramento, Calif., California Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh said there will be a legislative crackdown on the University of California if the Berkeley campus continues to be "a staging area, a fountainhead" for the demonstrations.

In Iowa City, Steve Smith, 20, sophomore engineering student at the University of Iowa, burned what he said was his draft card before a group of students on the campus.

In Omaha, Charles H. Deford, special agent in charge of the Iowa-Nebraska field office of the FBI, said the incident is being investigated.

DEAR ABBY

Private Questions

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who has read your column for years, but I never thought I'd be writing a "Dear Abby" letter. Well, here's what happened, and I can't ask anyone else.

While looking for a box of Halloween decorations, I came across a box of letters hidden way back on the storeroom shelf. The letters were written by my father and had been sent to my mother before they were married. I know it was wrong to read them, but I did anyway. Abby, I was knocked for a loop!

I found out my father was married and divorced before he married my mother. As near as I can figure it out, he must have been very young because he was 25 when he and mother were married. I would like to know if my father had any children from his first wife; because if I have a half-sister or brother somewhere, I think I ought to know. Also, I wonder why they got divorced, how long they were married, what his first wife was like and where she is living now, if she's still alive. I just have to know these things, Abby. I don't dare ask my mother or father or I'd be punished for reading the letters. Should I ask one of my relatives?

DYING TO KNOW

DEAR DYING: Ask your father (privately), but no one else. And limit your questions to the possibility of other children. The other details do not concern you, and I'm sure your father would like to forget them.

DEAR ABBY: Three weeks ago my sister, her three children and husband came to stay with me. I don't know for how long because the husband is without work. I am divorced and have a small house. I work swing shift and am usually up quite late. After my sister goes to bed, her husband pushes my bedroom door open and asks if he can come in and talk. Abby, I have nothing to say to him and besides, I don't like the way he looks at me. I put a hook on my door, so now he raps. He is making a nervous wreck of me. I hate to tell my sister, but I sure wish she would leave and take her husband and kids with her. He's not looking for work too hard because he's getting unemployment compensation. What should I do? SCARED

DEAR SCARED: It's not necessary to tell your sister anything except that she should dig her spurs into that husband of hers and see to it that he looks for work. And tell HIM that if he doesn't stay away from your door, you'll tell your sister. Between you and me, your house isn't big enough for you and your sister's family.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SAID GOODBYE WITH NO REGRETS": Congratulations on having seen the light and ending the affair. Now destroy his letters. Carrying them in your purse for "safekeeping" is foolish. Should you be hit by a bus, if you live, you'll be a dead duck.

DROP TWO?

Textbooks Pondered

AUSTIN (AP)—State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar has taken under advisement a request by a Longview couple that he drop two economics books from the list of approved public school texts.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Gabler appealed to Edgar after the two books were approved by the State Textbook Committee last week over the Gablers' protests.

The committee deleted from the offerings one of the books protested by the Gablers, Rand McNally's "The Economics of American Living."

100 REJECTED

The 15-member committee of educators gave no reason on any of the more than 100 books it rejected. It could choose only five books for each of the 29 courses from among more than 300 offerings.

Committee members heard the Gablers' protests of five economics books Oct. 12. They complained there was misrepresentation of the effect of federal farm programs and overemphasis on the government's role in the economy.

APPROVES BOOKS

The committee approved McGraw-Hill's "Economics for Our Times" and Ginn's "Economics," which the Gablers asked Edgar to eliminate, and Allyn and Bacon's "Modern Economics" and Southwestern's "Applied Economics."

The selections will be reviewed by Edgar and the State Board of Education. Local schools will select from the list their books in the 29 subjects for use beginning next fall.

Barge Canal Gets Final OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Authorization for starting the $911 million Trinity River project now needs only the approval of President Johnson.

It is included in a compromise $2 billion water projects measure passed 221-139 Wednesday by the House and sent to the White House. The Senate passed the bill Tuesday.

Only two Texas congressmen voted against the bill—Omar Burleson of Anson and O. C. Fisher of San Angelo. Not voting were Reps. W. R. Poage of Waco, Albert Thomas of Houston and Clark Thompson of Galveston. All other Texans voted to accept the conference report.

The bill authorizes the entire Trinity project but the expenditure in the present measure is limited to $83 million, chiefly for non-navigational work.

The Trinity navigation and flood control project was not in the Senate's original bill. It was added by the House after a throng of Texans came to Washington to testify for it.

Among other features of the project for the future is a half-billion dollar waterway from the Gulf of Mexico to the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Federal Guidelines For Business Due Revisions

NEW YORK (AP)—Guidelines have become a key ingredient in today's mix of government, business and labor activities. And the guidelines may be in for revision. They certainly have brought conflict into the open on several fronts in recent days.

Both government and business appear of late to be reconsidering their stands—or at least their methods of living with the guidelines. Labor sometimes has ignored, at others deplored, application of the guidelines to its wage policies.

U.S. GUIDELINES

Government guidelines, now some three years old, are mainly in these fields:

1. Pricing of industry's products, with government interest spurred by increased fear of late of future inflation.
2. Wages, with the federal administration striving to discourage big pay scale boosts that could set off another wage-price spiral.
3. Interest rates, with Washington anxious to hold them down to encourage further business expansion and consumer buying, and the banks openly chafing now because soaring demands for loans are running up against rising costs of luring more savings into their vaults with which to meet the loan demands.
4. Corporate investment overseas, with the government urging business to bring back as many dollars as possible and to cut back spending of new dollars abroad.

5. Bank loans to foreign governments or individuals, with government proposing a definite limit to this outflow of U.S. dollars.

The conflict in each interest is both practical and theoretical. In the realm of theory, businessmen, bankers and labor leaders tend to join in opposition to the government interfering in the conduct of their affairs. Most say they prefer to stick to open market activity involving supply and demand and collective bargaining. The government's theoretical stand is that the public interest must be protected and that only the government can do that.

CRIMPING PROFITS

In the realm of practice, business tends to challenge both the arithmetic of the guidelines and the chances of obtaining through them the goals the government says it seeks. For example, several industries contend that the pressure to hold down prices is crimping profits to the point that investment for future expansion will be limited or unattainable.

Guidelines for prices and wages are tied to government estimates of the year-to-year increase in the output of goods per man hour of labor. Business ideas of the size of this increased productivity are usually quite different from those advanced by the government. And labor's ideas differ sharply from both.

South observed that there was a good chance to scramble home with nine tricks at no trump, provided that West led a heart. South accordingly jumped to three no trump which became the final contract.

West gave careful consideration to his opening bid. If he led the queen of hearts to dislodge the king, he would in all probability establish four tricks for himself in that suit. However, West lacked a quick card of reentry and he feared that the unit of time surrendered to the declarer by giving the latter a trick might deal the defense a fatal blow.

West decided to lead from his sequence in diamonds in the hope of finding his partner with something in that suit. The king of diamonds was opened and East signaled with the six, which was the highest card that he could spare. When the king held, West continued with the queen on which South dropped the jack.

A third round of diamonds enabled East to mop up that suit, and now a heart shift thru declarer's king turned the deal into a rout. The defense scored four diamond tricks and five hearts for a net profit of 250 points. If West had led a heart originally, South would have taken the first 11 tricks.

The bidding:
South West North East
3 NT 1♥ Pass Pass
3 NT Pass Pass Pass
A potential swing of seven tricks hinged on West's selection of an opening lead against South's contract of three no trump, in the deal presented today.

The first round of bidding requires no comment; however, South was confronted with an interesting problem when West's one-heart overcall was passed back to him. Inasmuch as North was unable to take action, it appeared unlikely that the partnership could score a game in clubs which would require the winning of 11 tricks. However,

Besieged Unit Gets Support In Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. helicopters delivered several companies of reinforcements to the besieged garrison at Plei Me today, and the Viet Cong attacks began to diminish in size and ferocity, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

The defenders of the Special Forces camp in the central highlands reported seeing at least 90 enemy bodies. Government casualties were described as light after two days of fighting.

Farther north, in Quang Tri Province, a U.S. Army officer escaped today from the Viet Cong after being held captive for several hours, the spokesman announced.

SENIOR ADVISER
The officer, identified as Capt. Robert F. Hopper, 29, whose wife lives at Winter Haven, Fla., was the senior adviser to a South Vietnamese battalion.

He apparently was captured when Viet Cong guerrillas hit a government outpost near the provincial capital of Quang Tri City, 140 miles north of Saigon. The enemy force penetrated an artillery position and blew up an ammunition bunker.

Details of Hopper's escape were not immediately known, but he apparently returned in good condition.

Hopper was the second American to escape from the Viet Cong within four months. Last July, Sgt. Isaac Camacho, El Paso, Tex., escaped after being held captive for 18 months.

Eight Americans were reported killed in two helicopter crashes in the Plei Me area 210 miles northeast of Saigon. The Viet Cong shot one helicopter down Wednesday. A spokesman said mechanical failure caused the second crash today, but it was not known if this aircraft was directly involved in the Plei Me action.

TRIBAL DEFENSE
The Special Forces camp was defended by about 300 Montagnard tribesmen and 10 to 12 U.S. advisers when large numbers of Viet Cong attacked Tuesday night. U.S. and South Vietnamese planes pounded the Viet Cong constantly, and at night flare ships lit up the field of fire around the triangular defense positions.

The air strikes helped five American advisers and a Vietnamese unit to return to the camp through the enemy positions during the fighting. The force had been outside the camp on an operation when the Viet Cong attacked.

During the night the guerrillas pounded the camp with mortars and recoilless rifles. By day they used machine-gun and small-arms fire.

The defenders beat off at least one probing attack today. U.S. spokesman reported that B52 bombers from Guam made three attacks on Viet Cong targets in Binh Dinh Province 285 miles northeast of Saigon.

CONG CASUALTIES
South Vietnamese forces claimed 91 Viet Cong killed in two operations.

U.S. Marines patrolling in heavy rain in the Da Nang area reported they killed two Viet Cong and captured five suspects. The Marines reported light casualties, mostly from hand grenades.

U.S. Navy and Air Force planes continued to pound North Vietnamese roads and railways. U.S. spokesmen said they hit several highway and railroad bridges and destroyed an anti-aircraft position 50 miles south of Thanh Hoa.

No plane losses were reported.

Nimrods Die Wholesale

DURANGO, Colo. (AP) — Eleven hunters have died in the first four days of Colorado's big-game hunting season. At the same time, the game kill is reported far below last year's bag. Shooting accounted for three deaths and seven men died of heart attacks in the high country west of the Continental Divide. One hunter was crushed to death beneath a jeep.

Seven persons are reported missing in wide areas of snow, fog and rain.

A Game, Fish and Parks Department spokesman said deer kills are down 41 per cent and elk kills off 22 per cent compared with last year. The season opened last Saturday.

Gov. John A. Love said Tuesday he has discussed the possibility of requiring a gun-handling test before hunters could be issued big-game hunting licenses.

The season has not been without its bizarre incidents. Don Mallison of Hutchinson, Minn., had two horses in his truck Tuesday in White River National Forest, a northwestern Colorado elk region.

When the trail became steep, Mallison stopped the truck, unloaded the horses and tied them to a tree. He said he had walked about 40 feet from the animals when he heard a shot and one horse fell dead. Then a second shot rang out and the second horse toppled over.

Mallison could find no trace of the person firing the shots.

Refugee Flow Will Resume

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The flow of Cuban refugees across the Florida Straits was expected to resume in substantial numbers today.

"There is an indication that a large movement is starting," a U.S. Coast Guard spokesman reported.

Newly arrived refugees reported that more than 250 small boats manned by an estimated 800 persons was waiting in Camarioca harbor to bring out Cubans seeking exile in the United States.

AREA JAMMED
"Many sleep on the floor because of the congestion," said Carlos Ortega of Miami, skipper of the Marianne, which reached Key West from Camarioca Wednesday night. "We got only rice and a little meat to eat."

The Marianne was the first vessel to reach Key West since bad weather halted the exodus early Tuesday. Ortega said he brought out 14 refugees.

PUSH TALKS
Swiss diplomats, acting on behalf of the United States, speeded up negotiations in Havana for a more orderly method of bringing refugees to the United States. Sources close to the negotiations said the arrangements should be firm up within a few days.

There had been speculation among exiles and officials that Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro had stopped the exodus. Associated Press Havana correspondent Isaac Flores said Wednesday night that bad weather was the reason for the slowdown.

Gemini 6 Space Hunt Nears —Most Difficult Feat Yet

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — World-circling radio communications today in a communications dress rehearsal for the space hunt of the Gemini 6 Monday — the most difficult U.S. manned flight to date.

The 19-station Gemini network swung into action early in the morning and was to continue until 7 p.m. Mission control center, Houston, Tex., was in direct charge.

IN REHEARSAL
At Cape Kennedy, command pilot Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and pilot Maj. Thomas P. Stafford of the Air Force were to enter the Gemini mission simulator to participate in the communications rehearsal.

Through instant voice relay, mission control will have direct contact with the pilots through more than half of each critical orbit as the astronauts track down, rendezvous and dock with an Agena target rocket 185 miles above the earth.

MATCH ORBITS
The astronauts Wednesday entered the spacecraft atop the 90-foot Titan 2 rocket and spent three hours rehearsing the complex job of matching orbits with the Agena and maneuvering close enough to dock.

Then backup pilots Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom of the Air Force and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young replaced them in the spacecraft and completed the simulation.

At the launching pads, experts completed checks of the Atlas-Agena rocket that will precede Gemini 6 into orbit by at least an hour and 41 minutes. They reported no difficulties.

STATION CREWS
During the communications rehearsal, full crews were set for all of the worldwide Gemini tracking network stations. Communications during the space maneuvers of the Gemini spacecraft are critical.

The Eastern test range will conduct countdowns on two rocket systems simultaneously for the first time in the range history. The 102-foot Atlas-Agena rocket is set for blast-off at 10 a.m. EST Monday, with the Gemini 6 following at 11:41 a.m.

Schirra and Stafford will stay aloft one or two days, depending on when they accomplish the rendezvous and docking.

ADJUST COURSE
The Agena will swing into a high circular orbit. Gemini 6 will be in a lower, smaller, elliptical orbit. Then the astronauts will begin maneuvering to adjust their orbit to that of the Agena.

When they are close enough they will give their spacecraft small nudges of power to actually insert the nose of the Gemini into an adapter collar on the Agena. It would be the first time man has ever completed the rendezvous and docking with another body in space.

Draftees To Arrive At Marine Base

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Drill Instructors of the Marine Corps Recruit Depot are preparing for company. The draftees are coming.

For the first time since the Korean War the Marine Corps, traditionally a volunteer outfit, is turning to Selective Service to help expand the corps by 30,000 men.

Preparations are being made for the arrival next month of the first of the November quota of 4,050 draftee Marines.

The draftees won't know they're on their way here until they're assigned, by lottery, at the time of induction. The November call is for a draft of 36,450. Eight out of nine men will go to the Army, the ninth to the Marines.

Easterners will go to the recruit depot at Parris Island, S.C., the rest here.

Long Time In A Small Space: That's Gemini 7

HOUSTON (AP) — Imagine taking a two-week trip around the world in your car and not getting out once, or even rolling the windows down to throw out trash.

You would have to eat, sleep, brush your teeth, wash, do all the things you would normally do in living out 14 days but in the small confines of your car. Sounds tough? Well then consider doing the same things but adding a passenger, cutting the car in half and using just the front seats.

Impossible? Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell don't think so, and they intend to do just that this year.

GEMINI 7
Not in a car, but in their Gemini 7 space capsule, which has about the same roominess as the front seat of a compact car.

There are problems. Just as astronaut Gordon Cooper Jr. predicted after Gemini 5, Finding a place to put everything for the long flight has given astronauts and engineers some monumental puzzles.

Borman and Lovell have been going over the cabin's interior inch by inch, converting unused space into storage bins, drawers and pouches. Even the leg room under the astronauts' couches is being converted into storage bins. Empty spaces under the couches, once thought essential for safety in case the astronauts had to bail out, is being filled with food packages.

FOOD SUPPLY
In addition to a 14-day food supply, which includes four meals a day, there are several cameras, rolls of film, lenses and several other pieces of equipment to be used for the many experiments.

Charles Mathews, Gemini program manager, says plans are being drawn to place a pneumatic tube—much like the ones used in office buildings and department stores—in the spacecraft's roof to get rid of trash—a space-age garbage disposal.

Gemini 7 is scheduled for shortly before Christmas. It could be delayed until 1966. Before Lt. Col Borman and Cmdr. Lovell fly the long mis-son, Gemini 6, with Navy Capt. Walter Schirra Jr. and Maj. Thomas Stafford, must be launched.

MAXIMUM TIME
Mathews says a 14-day mission was picked because it is the maximum time for a round-trip to the moon.

The Gemini 5 eight-day flight equalled the minimum time. "Astronauts and engineers may want to spend more time getting to the moon, and particularly getting back," said Mathews. "We may want to increase our stay time on the moon more than one day."

Crash Of Two Cycles Kills Man
GILMER, Tex. (AP)—A crash involving two motorcycles killed L. C. Quinn, 30, near here Wednesday. Gerald Sutare, 29, Cmdr. Lovell fly the long mis-son, Gemini 6, with Navy Capt. Walter Schirra Jr. and Maj. Thomas Stafford, must be launched.

Rent Subsidy Faces Barriers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's controversial rent subsidy program is still alive after a victory in the Senate. But it faces an uncertain future.

Wednesday the Senate narrowly approved funds to launch the program this year.

Today House conferees are expected to try to torpedo the program in a meeting with Senate conferees on the catch-all money bill that includes $360,000 for the first year of rent supplements.

Eventually, under terms of the bill, the government would be authorized to provide $12 million in federal grants to help low-income families pay their rents.

The House voted 185-162 last week against providing funds for the program this year. But the Senate Appropriations Committee put the money back and the Senate in two roll-call votes Wednesday went along.

A Republican-led effort to eliminate payments this year failed 45-37. Then, a Republican-led drive to cut the program in half was beaten 41-37.

The Senate then made several minor changes in the $4,867,248, 183 appropriation bill, the last of the year, and passed it by voice vote.

The conference committee will try to reconcile the bill with a House version which provided $4,214,429,616. The Senate bill is larger because a number of administration requests were sent to Capitol Hill after the House Appropriations Committee ended its hearings.

His Piano Out Of Tune

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Concert pianist Julius Katchen interrupted his rendition of a Mozart concerto Wednesday night, turned to the audience and said:

"This piano is in a disgraceful state."

The audience, which included Lord Mayor Tom Martin, gasped.

"The tuner should have come back to retune the instrument," said Katchen, "but he failed to show up. I want to apologize for this ridiculous state of affairs."

He turned to go on with the concerto and added:

"We carry on under an intolerable burden."

Five Farm Hands Go To Astros

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Five players have been purchased by the Houston Astros from their minor league baseball farm clubs.

The Astros also have assigned five to their farm clubs off of the major league control list. Farm Director Eddie Robinson said today.

The five players purchased by the parent club are outfielder Roy Bethell and first baseman Keith Graffagnini from the Cocoa, Fla., club, catcher Bob Watson from Salisbury in the Western Carolina league, third baseman Doug Rader from Durham in the Carolina League, and outfielder Gene Noble from Brandenton of the Florida Rookie League.

The five players assigned to the minors are outfielders Gerald Lyscio and Brock Davis, first baseman Jack McClure and pitcher Don Arlich to Oklahoma City, and pitcher Gordon Jones to Amarillo. These players will be eligible for the draft at the winter meetings held Nov. 29-30 in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Do-It-Yourself Music Booming

NEW YORK (AP) — With music, good music all around — the world's finest symphonies in stereo at the touch of a record player or radio button and the orchestral music piped into elevators, factories, hotel rooms — who is going to knock out his own discordant chords on a piano or guitar?

Only more than 37 million Americans: Almost twice as many as 15 years ago.

Do-it-yourself music may not sound like Isaac Stern or Arthur Schnitzler, but it's booming in homes, chamber music ensembles, neighborhood bands, amateur symphonies and rock 'n' roll combos across the country in a resounding — if not perfectly sounding — swell.

SPENDING HIGH

Some statistics show that last year more money was spent on musical instruments and sheet music than on all spectator sports, cameras, comic books and playing cards put together. From prekindergarten sonny-pipings on his "C" melody flute to symphonies of executives and doctors to granddad belting out "Home, Sweet Home" on his electronic organ, homemade music fills the air.

Why this boom in do-it-yourself music?

"People have found out that almost anyone can play," says Marion C. Egbert, educational consultant for American Music Conference.

New teaching methods, new mechanical and electronic teaching machines and instruments, have taken the chore out of music and put the fun back in, for the bally boy and his house-weary mom too. Rediscovery of the recorder, an uncomplicated flute-like instrument of Shakespeare's time, has inspired many a harmony quartet. And the great rock 'n' roll epidemic has tripled guitar sales in the past decade.

"Play it by ear," is the advice of Egbert, who tours the country conducting clinics and music workshops for teachers, to fill the vaulting demand for music classes that begin with kindergarten rhythm bands and continue through college symphonies.

Only a third of the country's burgeoning number of music amateurs are school age, some are studying toward careers, others are playing for fun in some 63,000 school instrumental music organizations or 280 summer music camps.

The rest are adults, some expert enough to play in America's 1,400 amateur symphonies, 470 community bands, 1,700 industry-supported music groups.

Chamber music buffs have become so numerous that the Amateur Chamber Music Players publishes a world-wide directory so vacationers or traveling salesmen can find music wherever they go.

"Get-together" groups are all over the country. "The Many Splendored Stompers," all Madison Avenue ad executives, began with after-work jam sessions, now perform for dances.

In Kansas City, 70 doctors and their wives formed the "Medical Arts Symphony," which Leopold Shopmaker, conductor of the Kansas City Symphony, coaches in his spare time. The Chicago Businessmen's Orchestra gives three concerts a year.

Tradition May Topple In Jersey Vote

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—New Jersey chooses a governor and new legislature Nov. 2 in an election that could end several political traditions.

The Democrats are within sight of a peak of political dominance they have not occupied since Woodrow Wilson's term as governor half a century ago.

New Jersey was considered a Republican state only a dozen years ago. But weakened by primary fights, election losses and anemic finances, the Republicans are underdogs in this year's race for governor and are no better than even money to hold on to the newly reapportioned legislature.

Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes is seeking a second four-year term. Polls by both parties show him comfortably ahead. If he wins, it will be the fourth term in a row for the Democrats, the longest reign by either party in the 20th century.

TO STOP STREAK

Wayne Dumont Jr., a 14-year veteran of the state Senate, is trying to stop the Democratic streak. A 51-year-old lawyer from one of the state's few remaining rural counties, he won a less-than-resounding endorsement from the GOP in a complicated screening committee procedure followed by a close primary election victory. Twice before he had lost Republican gubernatorial primary elections.

Dumont emphasizes discussion of such things as taxes, colleges, the drought and what he calls Hughes' lack of leadership. He accuses Hughes of wasteful spending and failing to take the lead in raising large amounts of money both he and Hughes agree the state needs.

He has come up with one issue that has emotional impact—Prof. Eugene Genovese of Rutgers, the state university. Genovese told a "teach-in" last April that he would welcome a Viet Cong victory in Viet Nam. Dumont called for dismissal of Genovese and a "sleepier" issue was born.

Hughes emphasizes his agreement with U.S. policy in Viet Nam but has declined to force Rutgers to fire Genovese. He said it would violate academic freedom.

COST VOTES

Hughes admits the Genovese issue will cost him votes.

Hughes, 56, is a former judge who won an upset victory in 1961 over the late James P. Mitchell, secretary of labor in the Dwight D. Eisenhower Cabinet. A remarried widower with 10 children and the state's first Roman Catholic governor, Hughes is running this year in a more restrained version of his usual peppery platform style.

He blames most of New Jersey's government problems on the Republican majority caucus which has ruled the state Senate for 50 years.

Both Hughes and Dumont represent a sharp break with New Jersey's past in one major respect—both advocate a big, new statewide tax. Dumont has supported a sales tax for years. Hughes came out for an income tax two years ago.

They should volunteer for civilian humanitarian programs in Southeast Asia, he told the Defense Supply Association's national convention.

At the same time, Paul Booth, national secretary for the Students for a Democratic Society, said draft-age men should be given an alternative when they are drafted. He suggested a trade of Peace Corps service for military service.

THE KLAN: Congressional investigators are making little headway in their attempt to question Ku Klux Klan leaders.

For the second day in a row, the House Committee on Un-American Activities was met by rebuffs as it quizzed Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton and North Carolina's grand dragon, James Robert Jones.

Both invoked the Constitution as they refused to answer questions.

HIGHER EDUCATION: Congress has sent President Johnson a $2.3-billion, three-year higher education bill that far exceeds administration requests.

The President originally asked for $250 million for one year. He has since agreed to the expansion.

The measure provides for federal scholarships to help young people from low-income families attend college; federally insured state and private loans to help college students from middle-income families; and creation of a national teachers corps to work in poverty-stricken areas.

CAPITAL FOOTNOTES

The Senate has approved $360,000 for the first year of the administration's controversial rent subsidy program. The House previously refused to okay any funds, so the measure now goes to a conference committee. The Labor Department says Teamster President James R. Hoffa used $570,396 in union funds to help foot the cost of three of his criminal trials.

Score A Hit With Lions

Two staff members of the Howard County Junior College scored a hit with Downtown Lions Wednesday at the Settles with their songs and playing.

Gary Ebensberger, head of the music department, sang two poems, R. L. Stevenson's "Vagabond" and W. C. Henley's "Invictus" in special settings, accompanied by Joe Shafer, instrumental instructor. Shafer then delighted the club with a contemporary piano composition by Rolliford Rigger, "Blue Voyage." Ebensberger announced the HCJC choir would sing at 8:15 p.m. Friday at the HCJC auditorium for the district federated music club gathering, and that Shafer will present a concert Nov. 14. Mrs. Shafer will team with him on a duet number.

Inducted by Lou Carothers as new members were Don Shumake, Ralph Eckert and James Stephens. Carothers urged them to serve as though membership was renewable year by year.

Next Wednesday the Lions Club is to host an Oil Information Committee program. Joe Nelson, chief counsel for Humble Oil, as the speaker. Jeff Brown, in charge of the program, urged all business and professional people to attend the luncheon gathering.

Crime Code Seminar Held

DALLAS (AP)—Law enforcement in Texas is close to a new era, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said today.

Crime is multiplying five times faster than the population and there is a growing disrespect for the law, he added.

Carr spoke to judges, lawyers and officers at a regional seminar on the new criminal code. Many changes were made mandatory by U.S. Supreme court decisions, he said, and the time for criticism has passed. The time for preparing to enforce it is on hand.

If during the next year "it is found to obstruct effective and constitutional law enforcement, in any way, we must go to the legislature and ask that any such parts be changed," Carr said.

Kennel Club To Meet Tonight

The regular meeting of the Big Spring Kennel Club will be held at 8 p.m. today on the mall at College Park Shopping Center. Refreshments will be served.

"This will be a sort of 'dress rehearsal' or demonstration of obedience training of dogs ready for show," Bruce Wright, president of the club, said. "Those interested in watching the demonstration are invited."

MRS. JERRY BARRON

Cook Wonders About Shattered Illusions

By JO ANN PHINIZY
To create an image is one thing—but to keep the image polished and shining, is quite another matter. Such is the dilemma of Mrs. Jerry Barron, 3223 Cornell.

Some time ago, she started the habit of taking a hot luncheon to her husband, Jerry Barron, who works in the maintenance department of Cosden Refinery. In the beginning, it was a kind of accidental convenience. Barron often spoke of the monotony of cold food and box lunches in general.

Mrs. Barron decided that, since she would be preparing a hot lunch for their two children, Sheryl and Keith, it would be an easy matter to fix an additional plate, put it in an aluminum covered cake dish, and make a portal-to-portal delivery.

In the beginning, it was a simple matter, but the aroma caught on. Now, Barron has grown accustomed to home-cooked lunches, and his co-workers' wives are constantly reminded of Mrs. Barron's consideration.

Mrs. Barron says that "so far there haven't been any calls in the night, but the margin is narrow."

Brown-eyed and brunette, Mrs. Barron is a native of Big Spring. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Coleman, 1111 Johnson, and she happily admits that her cooking experience dates from her marriage.

Mrs. Barron doubts she will ever reach the aesthetic in meal preparation.

"I burn things," she says.

"I get in such a hurry that I keep thinking that the higher the fire the faster the cooking. Then the minute I turn my back, everything goes up in smoke."

SIMPLE ONES
It is for the reason of impatience that Mrs. Barron shuns long, complicated recipes. She reasons that they look so good on paper and in pictures, but in practice the recipes are sure to cause another time countdown that leads straight to the stove being set on the highest mark.

As a whole, the Barrons prefer highly-seasoned foods. Such things as onions in tuna salads, and garlic-flavored roasts take centerstage with Mrs. Barron's troops.

Hot dogs, in almost any form, are always a favorite. "We like them with chili and onions, or just plain and simple corn dogs," she said.

For corn dogs, Mrs. Barron uses a prepared pancake mix and adds one cup more of the mix than the directions call for. The frankfurters are then rolled in the thick batter and fried in hot deep fat. Eaten with dabs of mustard they become the perfect evening supper.

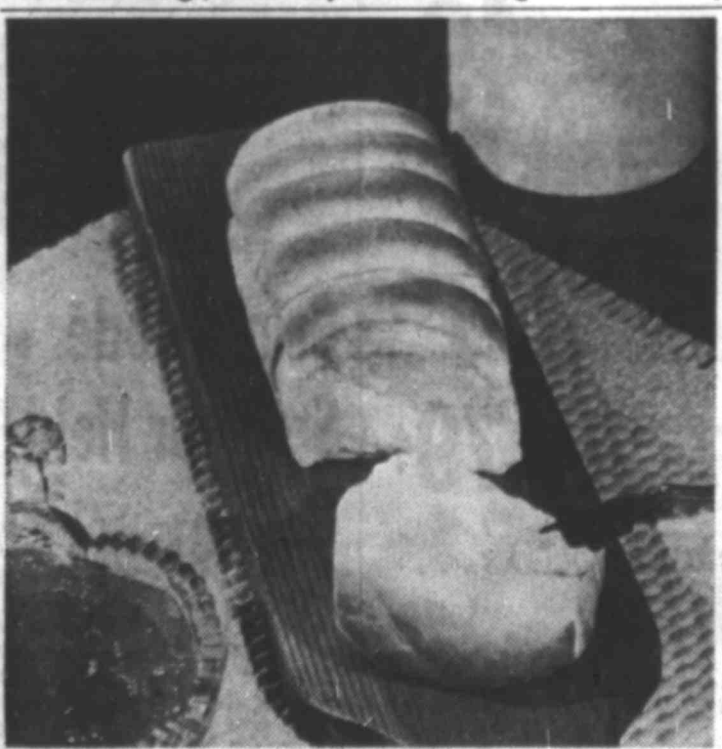

WHAT THEY WANT
Mrs. Barron is an impulse shopper. She believes that meals should be built around what the family happens to be hungry for, rather than what a planned menu might think they want to eat.

Mrs. Barron is a "sometime golfer" and an active member of the Wesley Methodist Church, the Junior Woman's Forum and the Washington Elementary

Take to the table quickly, and pull apart the hearty slices of fragrant bread. Then bring on the butter and preserves, jelly or honey. The bread dough has been formed in sections which permit individual portions to be pulled apart easily. There is no need for slicing.

However, Pul-A-Part enthusiasts have reported that excellent toast can be made this way: Slice the loaf of bread as it comes from the package. Make the slices thin enough to fit your toaster. Allow toast to brown well. Butter generously. You will see the breakfast appetites perk up immediately.

FRESH BREAD Makes breakfast a treat

Autumn Days Bring Aroma Of Hot Bread

As autumn days grow gradually cooler, our zest for baking begins to renew itself. And what is more heart-warming than the fragrance of bread baking in the oven. Unfortunately, most modern homemakers have much more inspiration than time.

Mrs. Baird's Pul-A-Part Bread was developed for just such busy moments. Time may be short, but freshly-baked hot bread can still be served in your home. Many homemakers have already discovered the convenience of this new product and once again are treating the family to a joy reminiscent of days long gone by.

The bread is ready to bake; not a frozen dough, it requires no thawing. There is only one step. Just preheat the oven to

BUFFET STYLE

Big Party, Small Area Take Careful Planning

Those with small quarters and large ideas about entertaining during the coming winter season need not be limited by lack of space. For with careful planning, they can achieve as much elegance as those in homes equipped with an outside kitchen, butler's pantry and full scale dining room.

True, it will take more thought and prearranging on the part of the hostess but once a formula is evolved, it will seem a simple matter to repeat the performance. Since a certain amount of special equipment is often necessary, once it has been acquired, repeated use of it will come quite naturally.

COCKTAIL PARTY
The cocktail party seems less popular now. The routine of standing in a crowded room, absorbing too much liquid and mopping it up with assorted bits and pieces of food is so uncomfortable it inhibits attempts at conversation. Not much more difficult, and for that matter not much more expensive, is the informal buffet supper; for the use of much less liquor compensates for the cost of the food.

One big dish, a salad, heated bread and cookies and fruit for dessert will quite suffice for the menus. Equally as important as what you give them to eat is the comfort with which you provide your guests while they consume their refreshments.

Hostesses with a minimum of space but a maximum of consideration are turning more and more to the system of permitting guests to help themselves from a buffet or small serving cart but then providing completely set-up tables with flatware, napkins, glassware and the like already in place so that all the guest is required to carry is a plate of food. Then he sits in state to enjoy it.

CARD TABLES
One obvious way to achieve this end is to have enough card tables to seat all of your guests. Another, more unexpected way, is to purchase collapsible metal bases from a restaurant supply store and have round plywood tops cut to different sizes: one size might seat four, another could take care of six. When draped with round cloths, the mechanism of these will not show, and both parts are easy to store.

Still other alternatives are available to those who happen to be in the market for a new coffee table. Hi-lo tables, as they are called, go from cocktail to dining height by means of a simple mechanism and come in a variety of stylings. Or one might borrow an idea from the Scandinavians who favor cocktail tables that are only about one inch lower than normal dining height. Two of these can easily take care of ten people, and many of them are being imported at the moment.

FRENCH INSPIRED RECIPE SOLVES LEFTOVER BEEF
French cuisine is world famous but that fame is not based alone on fresh foods or "company foods." The French are also justly proud of their magic way with leftovers.

A good example of this is in "miroton." French dictionaries describe this as a ragout (which is their word for stew) of broken pieces of meat with deviled onions.

In this American recipe for Miroton of Beef, sliced or julienne-style beef may be used, advises noted meat expert Reba Stagg. Mushrooms as well as onions are used as the vegetables while the "deviled" flavor is contributed by vinegar, thyme and catchup.

MIROTON OF BEEF
6 slices roast beef, cut 1/4 inch thick or 2 cups julienne-style roast beef
1/2 lb. sliced fresh mushrooms
2 tbsps. lard or drippings
1 cup chopped onion
1 tsp. vinegar
2 tbsps. flour
1-16 tsp. thyme
1 beef bouillon cube
1 cup boiling water
1 tsp. catchup
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. chopped parsley
Cooked rice

Cook mushrooms in lard or drippings 5 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove mushrooms from frying-pan. Add onions to frying-pan and cook until onions are lightly browned. Add vinegar.

Mix flour and thyme. Add to onion, stirring well. Dissolve bouillon cube in water. Pour into onion mixture, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add catchup, salt, pepper, parsley, and cooked mushrooms, mixing well.

Simmer 2 to 3 minutes. Place roast beef in sauce, spooning sauce over meat. Cover frying-pan and simmer about 5 minutes or until beef is hot. Serve on hot buttered rice. Four servings.

Cream Puffs
If you want a savory filling for miniature cream puffs to be served as an appetizer, you can use blue cheese mixed with cream cheese and a little sherry.

VELVET FUDGE Becomes a dieters delight

Fudge Makes Ideal Low-Calorie Candy

Do you have to count your calories and watch your fat intake? Does your mouth water whenever you have to say, "No, thanks," to dessert?

Cheer up. Unless you're on a hopelessly thin diet, there's probably room to maneuver within your limits so that you can enjoy some of your favorite taste treats.

One method is to substitute a liquid vegetable oil for the solid shortening you're accustomed to using in your cooking and baking. This frequently—but not always—means you can use less oil than the amount of solid shortening traditionally called for, which can mean fewer calories.

Whether using oil in this way cuts calories or not, your results will contain less saturated fats—an important consideration. The more polyunsaturated the vegetable oil, the farther it will go toward counterbalancing the saturated fats inherent in any diet.

Smooth, creamy velvet fudge can be made easily with salad oil. This recipe calls for an amount of oil which is half the amount of butter usually called for.

VELVET FUDGE
2 pkgs. (6 ozs. each) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
3 cups sifted confectioners sugar
2 tbsps. salad oil
1/2 cup hot milk
1 cup coarsely chopped nuts
Melt chocolate over hot water. Remove from heat; blend in remaining ingredients. Spread in lightly oiled 8-inch square pan. Chill until firm; cut into 16 squares. Store in refrigerator.

Cheese Sandwich

In Spain, if one orders a cheese sandwich (sandwich de queso), it will be grilled in olive oil, served piping hot. The sandwich grilled in olive oil instead of butter or margarine takes on deliciously different flavor. Any cheese may be used, but this is especially good with Gruyere or Swiss cheese.

Serve Hamburgers With A Surprise

Just because the children are back in school, it doesn't mean they are willing to give up the hamburgers they enjoyed all summer. Plan a supper of hamburgers with a new surprise—well seasoned and served with a special peanut butter sauce.

HAMBURGERS WITH PEANUT BUTTER SAUCE
1 lb. lean beef, ground
2 tbsps. finely chopped onion
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. margarine
Peanut Butter Sauce
Lightly combine meat, onion, salt and margarine with fork. Gently shape into 4 medium thick patties. Pan broil in skillet, turning once, to desired degree of doneness, 6 to 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Peanut Butter Sauce: Melt 1 tablespoon margarine in saucepan. Stir in 1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper and 1-3 cup finely chopped onion and 1 medium tomato pared and thinly sliced. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, about 10 minutes. Blend in 2 tablespoons peanut butter. Gradually add 1 cup milk, stirring constantly, cook until sauce is slightly thickened. Top hamburgers with sauce; sprinkle with chopped hard cooked eggs and parsley.

Deglazing Meat

To deglaze a skillet or roasting pan means to remove the meat or poultry that was cooked in the liquid; the next step in deglazing is to get up all the brown particles in the pan by stirring over low heat.

Breakfast Can Be Hot Dogs

A hot dog with all the trimmings, some fruit and milk is not a bad way for a youngster to start the day, according to Dr. Mary M. Hill, nutritionist with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

If he likes cole slaw on the side, he's getting added Vitamin C or if he refuses milk, give him a serving of pudding made with milk or ice cream.

Any food for breakfast is better than no breakfast at all, she pointed out. However, some selections go farther than others in meeting the total daily needs. Breakfast should be made nutritious and appealing for the children and teenagers in the family.

Lunch Day Declared

About 71,000 public and non-profit schools will serve lunches to 18 million children this year under the National School Lunch Program, reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

This means that more than a third of all the students enrolled will be getting a wholesome and nutritious lunch with whole sweet milk, according to the Consumer and Marketing Service — the USDA agency which channels foods and funds to state governments for use in this program.

As the National School Lunch Program marks its nineteenth years of operation, President Lyndon Johnson has proclaimed October 16-18 as National School Lunch Week.

As outlined by the President, the purpose of the special observance is to "increase public understanding and awareness of the significance of the national school lunch program to the child, to the home, to the farm, to industry and to the nation."

The National School Lunch Act of 1946—which created the lunch program—was enacted to "safeguard the health and well-being of the nation's children, and to encourage the domestic consumption of nutritious agricultural commodities and other foods."

This lunch program enables local communities to serve their children a complete meal for a national average of 27 cents.

The Type A lunch developed by USDA as a guide to fill the nutritional needs of the school-age child, actually costs about 50 cents. Federal cash reimbursements account for about 4 1/2 cents per lunch. Another 8 cents is contributed when the schools make full use of foods donated to them by USDA.

Crisis May Send Briton To Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson was reported ready today to fly to Rhodesia for another personal attempt to end the crisis over the white settlers' bid for independence.

Political correspondents of major British newspapers said Wilson's projected mission was the reason for his visit to Queen Elizabeth II Wednesday night. The prime minister has to have the monarch's approval to leave the country.

Officials of Wilson's government believed Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith's communication to Wilson Wednesday indicated the Rhodesian government is ready to talk some more about independence rather than proclaim it immediately.

PLEADS FOR TRUST
Smith proposed that Britain grant the central African colony independence under the 1961 constitution. He appealed for trust that the white Rhodesians would "abide by the principles" of the constitution and offered to conclude "a solemn treaty to guarantee our undertaking."

Smith said his Cabinet had reached a decision on "what our next step should be." Without saying what the decision was, he said its implementation "and the consequences which flow from it now depend entirely on your response to this appeal I now make at this 11th hour."

Independence talks broke down last week over Britain's insistence that provisions be made for the self-governing colony's four million Africans to take over the government ultimately from the 250,000 whites.

Wilson has maintained that the 1961 constitution does not contain satisfactory guarantees for ultimate majority rule.

FIVE CONDITIONS
Wilson spelled out five conditions for granting Rhodesia statehood, including guarantees (1) of unimpeded progress toward African rule, (2) against regressive amendments to the constitution, (3) to improve the political status of the Africans now, (4) of repeal of all racially discriminatory laws, and (5) to insure that an independence settlement is acceptable to the Rhodesian people as a whole.

Smith in his message to Wilson contended that the constitution "covers your five principles if only you will admit it. They are enshrined there for all to see."

Officers Nab Two Escapees

GILMER, Tex. (AP) — Two prisoners from the Upshur County jail were recaptured Wednesday within four hours after they overpowered a deputy and disappeared in a carnival crowd.

The two were picked up at a roadblock a mile north of town when officers stopped a car in which they had thumbed a ride.

They are Glen McGabhe, 20, a parole violator awaiting transfer to state prison, and Charles Moss, 35, held on a charge of theft by false pretext.

Deputy Sheriff Jerry Moore, 24, said the pair jumped him, tied him with strips of mattress and took his keys. Streets outside the courthouse were crowded with people here for a festival.

Doctors Fix Duke's Eye

NEW YORK (AP) — A small break in the retina of the Duke of Windsor's right eye has been repaired in a hospital, and the team of eye specialists who did the work say the difficulty should not recur.

The 30-minute repair was done Wednesday at the Eye Institute of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

The 71-year-old former king of England should be able to leave the medical center by the end of this week, the hospital said. He was admitted Wednesday.

Tariff-Cut Talks Optimism Cited

DALLAS (AP) — Anthony Solomon, assistant secretary of state for economic affairs, said today the United States must face the possible failure of tariff-cutting negotiations in Geneva.

But he said in a speech at SMU, he is "pragmatically optimistic" about the talks.

Solomon also said the United States is not in favor of providing preferential tariff treatment to underdeveloped countries. This, he suggested, could seriously injure other nations and the present trading system.

A Devotional For The Day

Not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart. (Ephesians 6:6)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, help us to accept and gladly obey Thy will for our lives. May we humbly serve Thee wherever the Holy Spirit leads. Keep us consecrated and submissive, desiring only to walk in Thy ways. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Good Record Here

The eight credit unions (seven under federal and one under state charters) are observing an international credit union day today. Theirs is no small affair. Last year they processed loans amounting to $7,370,000 and since their organization here (one dating back as far as 30 years) they have loaned nearly 52 million dollars.

In that space of time the losses have been infinitesimal, which is attributable to character of the borrowers — a quality sometimes strengthened by the power of wage deduction within the industry or group. Nevertheless, the record is a formidable one, for it has resulted in quickening of local trade.

None can say how much would have been put to consumers goods without this convenient borrowing power, but it would have been substantially less because those unable to save (as credit union members are compelled to do under their share commitments) are usually unable to pay accounts when due. It is noteworthy that there are 9,116 members locally who have accumulated five and a quarter million dollars in savings. In other words, they have nearly as much on deposit as they borrow in a year's time.

Credit unions contend they are not competitive in lending, a claim that is debatable, but they are not competitive to the extent that financial institutions complain. From the overall standpoint the quarter of a million dollars annually pumped back more than even things out. Credit unions here have done much for trade, and even more for members who not only are enabled to buy but encouraged to save.

Salute To A Winner

Last weekend Miss Robbie Brown brought distinction to herself and to Howard County when she won first place in the 4-H Club dress revue in Dallas. To be chosen the most creative and adept in the whole state of Texas is no small thing.

Robbie's achievement is indicative of the quality of program provided in our county as it is of her skill, initiative and tenacity. It also is fresh evidence that your young people here are capable of rising to the top when they set their course in that direction. Thus, Robbie has added inspiration to accomplishment, and we proudly salute her for it.

A Commitment For Action

WASHINGTON—A young American was killed in Laos the other day and the choice he had made of what he wanted to do with his life says a lot for his generation and its commitment to the stern realities of the age.

Michael Deuel served in the Pacific as a Marine officer. When he was discharged in 1962 he looked for a way to get back to Southeast Asia. He was fascinated by the place and the people.

IT WAS AS an adviser on refugees for the Agency for International Development that he returned. He worked in primitive villages under difficult and often frustrating circumstances. The helicopter crash that ended his life at the age of 28 was the kind of senseless accident that mocked the innumerable hazards he had lived through. His headquarters in Pakse in the southernmost part of Laos, where he supervised a refugee village of several thousand mountain tribesmen, was in dangerous territory infiltrated by Viet Minh and Pathet Lao.

WHILE HE believed in what he was doing, Deuel was no Galahad. He wanted to be where the action was, where things were happening. One of his family's vivid memories is of his saying with passion:

"I tell you one thing and that is I don't intend to be bored in my life."

All around the world thousands — hundreds of thousands really — of Mike Deuel's generation are where the action is. They are working and living in squalid villages in India, on the slopes of the Andes in Colombia and Peru, in remote outposts beyond the farthest edge of "civilization." These are not only the Peace Corps volunteers but young people who have enrolled in many private organizations such as Accion in Latin America.

THEY ARE committed to an extent that this country has rarely seen in a younger generation.

While their commitment must seem half-defeating, the students demonstrating against the war in Viet Nam have taken a stand and put their future on the line in an atmosphere of growing emotionalism. It would be remarkable if Communists or crypto-Communists had not tried to use the student movement for their own ends. To blanket the whole movement, which undoubtedly includes thousands of deeply convinced young people, as Communist-inspired will give the extreme left far more credit than it deserves and consequently advance the cause of Communism.

IN CONTRAST to the army of the committed — their commitment taking one form or another — are the beatniks, the nihilists who reject everything. Their nihilism is conspicuous because of the badge of the long hair, the dirty blue jeans, the raffish behavior. Again allowing for the inevitable leftist effort to discredit the United States and create a false impression of wholesale resistance, probably most of the avowed draft dodgers are to be found in this category.

TO THIS observer it seems obvious that they are a small minority. They have taken out their boredom and their rejection of the terms of American life in a long whine that is a distorted echo of the "Lost Generation" of the 1920s.

For the Mike Deuels — the young men and women who have gone out where the action is — there are challenging unfinished tasks at home and in every corner of the globe. When the war in Southeast Asia is finally ended, a ravaged country must be put together again and a people who have endured so much given a chance for a new life.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

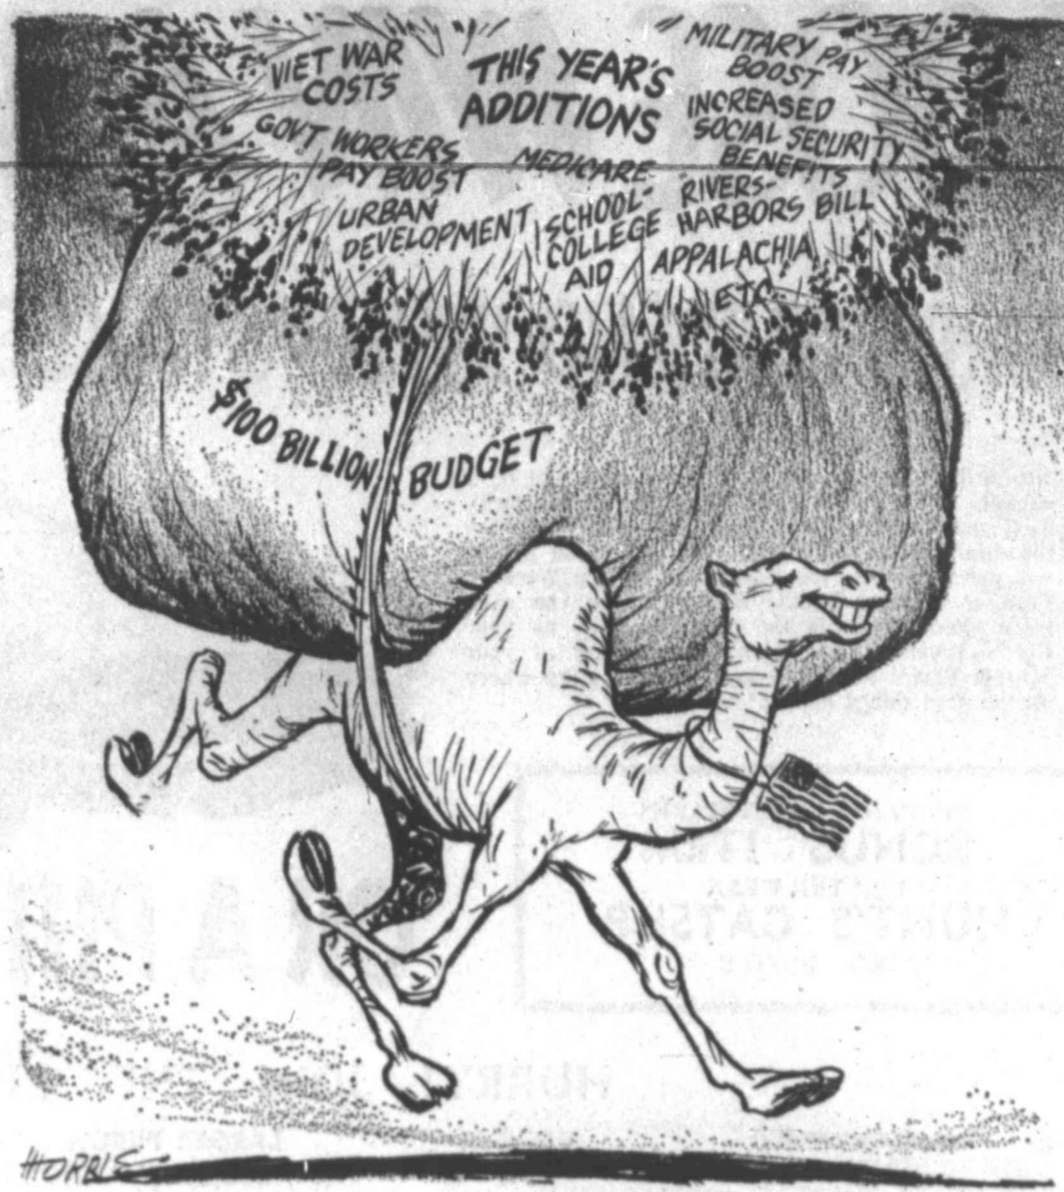

Should students have a role in the formulation of college or university policy?

Perhaps no one would have thought to ask this question just a few years ago. For the general assumption was that administrators and boards of regents were the only responsible authorities in the field of policy.

The question was, in fact, discussed at considerable length during the recent 48th annual meeting of the American Council on Education in Washington. There was, to be sure, no consensus. But the discussion illuminated some of the problems.

The closest approach to a consensus was the general feeling that the "curse of bigness" had come to many colleges and universities. The individual is lost among thousands or tens of thousands of other lost students. He wants to be listened to. The worst mistake would be to ignore the widespread evidence of student unrest. There must be an outlet for grievances, real or fancied. Students must be given assurance that they are more than cogs in an educational machine which has no sympathy nor understanding. They must feel that they are a meaningful part of an institution which seeks to prepare them for meaningful citizenship.

GOP Showdown Due On Birch Society

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican policymakers may be headed for a December showdown on the nagging question mark of John Birch Society influence within their party.

The question zoomed into prominence when Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky tied into the Birch Society and said its influence should be bootied out of the GOP.

Morton, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, charged the militantly conservative organization is trying to take over the party.

GOP FLOOR leaders of the House and Senate joined him in declaring the society is no part of the GOP.

The Birch Society promptly denied it has designs on the Republican party. As the Democratic National Committee gleefully noted, society founder Robert Welch said that would be "petty larceny."

Most state GOP chairmen said they doubt the Capitol Hill denunciation will have any particular impact on the party itself.

The denunciation was more for the edification of the public than the party, said West Virginia Chairman John Scott.

AT LAST year's San Francisco convention which nominated Barry Goldwater for the presidency, delegates jeered to defeat a platform amendment that would have denounced the society.

Now a similar proposal may face the next session of the Republican Coordinating Committee, a council of party leaders due to meet in Washington Dec. 13.

Morton and Michigan Gov. George Romney have said they may seek to have the committee declare itself on the Birch Society.

GOLDWATER, WHO has denounced the positions taken by Welch but not the society's members, serves on the coordinating committee.

So does New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who has expressed delight at "a growing awareness that the John Birch group is trying to gain control of the party."

Goldwater has said he sees no such threat, but he has suggested that Republicans resign from the society and spend their time working for the party.

That represents little change from a position he took long before the presidential nomination, when he said he had urged some society members to quit the organization in protest against Welch's leadership.

MOST STATE GOP chairmen agree that the society is not a potent force within the party.

Since his original denunciation of the society, Morton has said there are probably as many Democrats as Republicans in the Birch Society.

Later, he charged that "Birchers of the left" had a hold on the Democrats.

Can You Remember When . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — Life is the opening of many doors.

One often opens them with trepidation, because they lead to situations one may never have faced before.

But there is a single door one may open without fear, confident of what lies on the other side. That is the door of memory.

For most of us it becomes an increasing pleasure to open that door more often and take a restful mental stroll back down time's past corridor.

YOU'VE HAD a pretty long walk in that corridor yourself if you can remember when—

People bragged about having shaken the hand of John L. Sullivan, the heavyweight boxing champion.

Every fat man thought he looked slimmer in a vest and a double-breasted jacket.

A fable never had to borrow money from his wife for his midday meal if he worked near a saloon that served a free lunch.

Most American homes still had mice in them.

Poor Memory Not Necessarily Result Of Age

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: It is often stated that the reason an elderly person does not remember names of people whom he has recently met is due to constriction of conduits that supply blood to the memory centers of the brain — insufficient circulation for requisite stimulation.

Why is it, then, that such an individual can without effort remember names of friends and acquaintances of earlier years? —C.G.

That explanation may be "often stated," but not by me. It is true that disease conditions can impair circulation in the brain, but deterioration of that organ in such cases is apparent in more than just memory.

I have strong reservations as to whether circulation has much if anything to do with memory, or whether old age does, except that ability to learn rapidly tapers off gradually.

Our peak learning ability, according to careful tests, is in middle life (not youth) and the slowing of ability to learn declines very gradually after we pass the 40's and 50's, so that in point of fact you have to get rather old before the change amounts to much. You CAN teach old dogs new tricks if the old dogs want to learn.

The psychiatrists tell us that we all remember what we want to remember, and forget what we dislike or don't have any reason to remember.

Brain circulation has nothing to do with that. People remember what is important to them and don't clutter their heads with things that don't seem important. When brain circulation is sufficiently impaired, then anything or everything is forgotten and the person behaves rather automatically, with snatches of memory recurring in hit-or-miss fashion.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read in your column that most women don't need to douche and that it may be harmful if done to excess.

I have used a douche of baking soda and water as a birth control method for years. Now I am skeptical. Do you think I am harming myself? —MRS. P.A.H.

No, I don't see any harm in this — or any benefit, either. The douche is at best an unreliable method of contraception, and often fails.

What I wanted to convey was that routine douches for the sake of cleanliness are unnecessary, and for health purposes are advisable only when medication is required.

The harm is douching rests not in the douche itself but in the irritating solutions which some women use. A weak salt or soda solution is not irritating.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To become more familiar with the subject, write in care of The Herald, for my booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

The Great Crisis

There is little quite like the first time our daughter was invited out to a party. It quickly put the household into a state of apprehension and continuous planning, for our two-year-old is at least as unpredictable as most.

FIRST OF all, we were worried that she would decide she did not want her hair combed that particular day — she has days like that, and we have learned once she makes up her mind, the ensuing battle defeats the purpose anyway.

But it turned out to be one of her good days, in that respect, and she even agreed to a ribbon. It was a downhill pull through the fancy dress, complete with shoes and socks.

NEXT ON the list of worries was her conduct. Would she throw the pie across the table as she does at home? Would she decide to force the pop do the throat of some unwary pet? Maybe she might decide a thin layer of ice cream on the carpet would look nice. These and other horrors we contemplated at great length, but my good wife Joyce was firmly opposed to sending her along handcuffed, or otherwise bound. Likewise, she ruled out a gag, in the event our daughter decided to out-yell the others.

What about those presents? Maybe she will decide they are hers, or perhaps, she might want to handle the honors of unwrapping, which is her favorite pastime. Will she insist on taking some home with her?

AND FOR A fast game of "Pop Goes the Weasel" or "London Bridge," will she substitute Saturday night at the wrestling matches?

These and other prospects for the party we discussed at length, and finally decided that Mother would stay in arm's reach at all times, ready to hoist the white flag at the first signs of alarm, and flee to the battlements of home.

I LEFT the house, happy to be toiling at the typewriter rather than watching the family heir first time out. I could only wish the pair the best of luck.

We could have saved ourselves a lot of worry. She came through the party with flying colors (at least in our eyes), and asked for only one second helping of ice cream. She entered into the games, if not with gusto, then with casual grace. I believe the estate of the hostess was left in much the same condition as when our child arrived, ditto for the pets and other youngsters.

IN ALL candor, I must admit my information comes from a prejudiced witness, but we were quite happy with her first time out. Now, if we can just be as well pleased for all those to come.

A Friend Of The Family

WASHINGTON—I just received a telephone call from Uncle Harry, who is not a real uncle but an old friend of the family. He has been out of work for some time.

"Can you get me a job?" he wanted to know.

"What do you want to do?"

"I thought maybe I'd like to be a Federal judge. I hear it's pretty good work."

"IT IS, Uncle Harry, but I don't know about your educational background."

"I went to welding school for six years at night."

"But what about your law education?"

"I flunked the bar exams four times. You know why?"

"Why?"

"They wouldn't ask me any questions about welding."

"Well, gee, Uncle Harry. It will be awfully hard for me to get you appointed to the Federal bench if you flunked your bar exam."

"I finally passed it."

"Where?"

"IN MISSISSIPPI. I took the bar exam with 40 Negro law students. It was no contest."

"It's one thing to pass the Mississippi bar exam and another thing to have practiced."

"I practiced."

"Did you ever win a case?"

"No, but I came close twice."

"I DON'T KNOW, Uncle Harry. You have to be confirmed by the Senate Judiciary Committee and then by the Senate itself. They might raise some question about your qualifications."

"Not if you can get a Senator to introduce me. Don't you know any Senator who doesn't care about his political career?"

"I know of several, but you've got to give me a good reason why you should be a Federal judge."

"I DON'T WANT you to put this on a personal note, but I'd like to remind you that I've been a friend of your family's for 40 years. I cut your lawn and trimmed your bushes and bounced you on my knee when you were a little boy. If that doesn't qualify me for a Federal judgeship, I don't know what does."

"I agree to everything you say. But the American Bar Association may raise some strong objections to your appointment."

"I DON'T THINK the American Bar Association should decide who is qualified and who isn't to sit on the bench. They're just a bunch of lawyers. If the President nominates me, I think that should be enough."

"But why would the President nominate you?"

"To help out some Senator whose future he's trying to sabotage."

"I'm just not sure, Uncle Harry."

"LISTEN," he said angrily, "I'm not asking for a seat on the U.S. Supreme Court. All I want is a lousy bench on a Federal court. If I make the wrong decision, the court of appeals can always reverse me."

"Okay, Uncle Harry, as a friend of the family I can't say no. I'll call you back. —Miss Narcisso, get me Boston on the phone."

Communist-Inspired Demonstrations

WASHINGTON — The net effect of the "demonstrations" urging an end to the war in Viet Nam will be to prolong it. The Communists in Southeast Asia are being given the impression that the United States government is weakening and eventually will give up the struggle. Peace parleys, however, now will be deferred and the fighting will go on.

FOR SEVERAL months the Federal Bureau of Investigation has been gathering information about the Communist plan to start demonstrations in mid-October throughout this country. At least 18 cities from coast to coast have seen student demonstrations against the war in Viet Nam, carried out in line with the plans made by Communist leaders in advance of the demonstrations.

This doesn't mean that all participants of the six or more organizations involved are members of the Communist party or even Communist sympathizers. The Communist technique is to send agents out into the colleges and universities throughout this country to ascertain the names of students who have pacifist leanings. Most of the pacifists who are drawn into the situation are unaware of the Communist intrigue behind the protest movements.

ALREADY the Communist Chinese propaganda organ, the Peiping People's Daily, has praised the student demonstrations in the United States. It has declared that the protests are "a sign of the rapid growth of the political consciousness of the American people" and that the demonstrations have "struck fear into the hearts of those in power in the United States."

A North Vietnamese group has sent a message to one of the committees which sponsored demonstrations in this country expressing the hope that the protests will force President Johnson to accept the terms of the Hanoi government for negotiations.

IN MOSCOW, the Soviet newspaper, "Izvestia," carried a big headline: "Americans ashamed of America, Washington is alarmed." But no mention was made of Communist connection with the demonstrations.

All this indicates that a concerted effort is being made throughout the world to put the American government in a bad light.

Naturally, official Washington is disturbed over the demonstrations. Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, Democrat of South Carolina, who is chairman of the House Armed Services Committee and has just returned from a tour of South Viet Nam, says that the American troops are bitter over the demonstrations, and that he, too, is bitter about them.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S opinion, expressed through his news secretary, is that it is always possible for our adversaries to misread events in this country and to attach too much significance to demonstrations "which do not reflect the widely known and widespread feeling of the American people, which in every poll shows strong support for helping the people of Viet Nam."

Certainly much of the pro-Communist activity in the United States could hardly be carried on without a supply of funds from outside the United States. It is generally suspected that money is being sent for these purposes by relay through Latin-American countries.

BUT THE FACT remains that money from Communist sources is being used inside the United States. The American government has strong suspicions that the student demonstrations have been aided, if not instigated, by agents of the Soviet Union and of Red China in this hemisphere.

No Repairs

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — Your automobile's sound "signature" may some day eliminate costly breakdown repairs.

General Electric's Research and Development Center has announced a new technique called Mechanical Signature Analysis which is being used to listen to the sound of engines and other mechanical devices to pinpoint malfunctions and detect trouble before it can cause further damage. This is done without internal inspection.

Gangland Baron Still Is Missing

NEW YORK (AP) — In the heat of a probe of organized crime, Joe Bananas, gangland baron, disappeared one year ago today in a sidewalk kidnaping.

Real or hoax crime, he still is missing, despite a search ranging from Mafia haunts in the United States to Sicily, the birthplace of the secret brotherhood of the underworld.

On the same day that two gunmen snatched him in the early morning hours of Oct. 21, Joe Bananas was to have appeared before a federal grand jury investigating the rackets. The jury still is sitting, its probe now broadened to include the disappearance itself.

OPEN CASE

New York City police list the case as open, but sources indicated that detectives are no nearer a solution.

An FBI spokesman would say only that "an extensive and intensive investigation is being conducted."

Bananas, identified in Senate testimony as ruler of one of New York City's five Mafia "families," had dined with his Tucson, Ariz., attorney, Lawrence P. D'Antonio; Maloney, and two of Maloney's law associates at an East 45th Street steakhouse.

After midnight, Bananas accompanied Maloney to the latter's Park Avenue residence. Bananas stood beside him while the lawyer paid the cab fare. "Suddenly, I got the shock of my life when I saw this guy grappling with Joe," Maloney reported.

"As I started toward the man who grabbed him first, the other one appeared and he also had a gun. The first one said in a loud, clear voice, 'Come on, Joe, my boss wants to see you.'"

HOLDING GUN

"Joe said, 'What's going on here? Who are these guys?' "I followed the man with Joe and the second one backed after them, holding the gun and pointing it right at me. He was about 25 feet from me when he fired the gun once."

"The men put Joe in a late model, two-door beige car. The headlights were on. I couldn't see if anyone else was in the car, because it was too dark. The car was pointed east on 38th Street, just off Park Avenue."

Officers Installed

LAMESA (SC) — The Vernon W. Bryant Chapter of DeMolay held installation of officers recently at Forrest Park Community Center. A dance followed. New officers are Tom Conner, master counselor; Frank McAllister, senior counselor; and Ken Flanken, junior counselor.

'Now See Here ...'

The general, played by Jack Meeker (center), hasn't much patience, as shown in this scene from "Visit To A Small Planet," Big Spring Civic Theatre production playing Friday and Saturday evening in city auditorium—curtain time 8 p.m. Others in the scene are David Carriero as Kretton (left), and Clark Frayser as the general's aide. Season tickets are still available for the year's four plays, available at Pelletier's, The Herald, or from any board member.

Thugs Slay Palsy Victim

FLORIDA CITY, Fla. (AP)—Last Friday night, Bobby Ivey, a 37-year-old cerebral palsy victim, idly watched the traffic go past from a bench in front of Kemp's grocery.

He was frail and small, and his hands shook so badly he couldn't hold a book.

Today, police are looking for the three teenage thugs they said kicked him to death. He was found kicked, beaten and senseless in a gutter about a block from the grocery.

Police said he was attacked Friday night and died Tuesday.

He told his sister: "They beat me, and then they kicked, and kicked and kicked."

Patrolman Joseph Agostino said he found Ivey, who had been afflicted with cerebral palsy since birth, on the pavement, "his head bloodied and badly beaten."

Before lapsing into unconsciousness, he mumbled a name and said three teenaged boys attacked him, officers reported.

First Lady's Memories Told

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson says she liked and enjoyed her mother-in-law "and at times, you know, that is more satisfying than loving."

And her mother-in-law, the late Rebekah Johnson, wanted the young Mrs. Johnson to share "the very special place in my heart" reserved for her eldest son and to "let me mother you as I do my precious boy."

The First Lady's memories of her mother-in-law, and the elder Mrs. Johnson's gracious words — in a honeymoon letter to a bride and groom in Mexico — appear in the current issue of McCall's magazine.

ALBUM EXCERPTS

The magazine also published excerpts from "A Family Album" written by the President's mother and illustrated with family photographs.

The elder Mrs. Johnson, who died in 1958, presented the album to Johnson; then Senate majority leader, as a Christmas gift in 1954. It is soon to be published by the McGraw-Hill Book Co.

The President's mother writes in the album of demanding three months after the boy's birth that her husband pick a name for the child "or I'm not getting up to cook breakfast."

She tells how she approved naming the boy after Sam Johnson's friend, W. C. Linden, but insisted that the spelling be changed because "Lyndon" was more "euphonious."

BARELY 40

She relates that her son didn't quite fulfill the prophecy of his grandfather Johnson, written when the President was a small boy: "I have a mighty fine grandson, start as you find them. I expect him to be U.S. senator before he is 40." Johnson had just turned 40 when he was elected to the Senate.

In the letter received by the honeymooners in Mexico in 1934, the elder Mrs. Johnson wished "my boy and his bride the highest and truest happiness together."

To "My Dear Bird" she wrote: "I earnestly hope that you will love me as I do you. It would make me very happy to have you for my very own, to have you turn to me with love and confidence."

HER HOPE

"I hope, and hope you know is composed of desire and expectation, that Lyndon will prove to be as tender, as true, as loyal, as loving and as faithful a husband as he has been a son."

To her son she wrote rejoicing "in your happiness, the happiness you so richly deserve, the fruition of the hopes of early manhood, the foundation of a completely rounded life."

"I have always desired the best in life for you," she wrote. "Now, that you have the love and companionship of the one and only girl, I am sure you will go far."

The First Lady, in a recent interview published in the same issue, remembers that "the first time I met Lyndon's mother, I felt a sympathetic urge to lift the tension between us."

VISIT

Johnson had taken Claudia Taylor, better known then as "Bird" and later as "Lady Bird," to visit his mother only one day after he met her.

"I remember it so well," Mrs. Johnson recalls, "because I could see the uncertainty in his mother's face and almost hear the unspoken questions, 'What is he bringing into my life? Is my son seriously interested in this young woman?'"

The First Lady was married less than three months later.

Barbering Is Billion-Dollar Business Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Wish your husband looked less like a bald eagle and more like either of the senators Kennedy? Wish your boyfriend looked more like Tony Curtis? Wish your schoolboy son looked less like a prickly pear and more like Prince Charles?

Madam, you should consult your friendly barber — beg pardon, your friendly hair stylist.

But which ever he is these days, he can probably tell you that the ancient craft of cutting men's hair has developed into a billion-dollar annual hair care industry.

The only recession the barbers see ahead is that of hairlines on the masculine head. Industry spokesmen say they have ways of handling that and that more men than you may suspect are taking to the latter-day techniques of camouflage.

NEWER CLIQUE

There are still more barbers than men's hair stylists in these United States — some 300,000 of the basic type and some 18,000 of the newer clique. But the latter say their number is growing fast.

And they hope that the nation's youth training programs will produce a new flock of apprentice barbers. From such will be recruited the hair stylists of tomorrow. New schools are springing up to teach latter-day barbering techniques.

Both barbers and stylists will be gathering here next week for the annual national barber show. And there'll be a lot more on display than just shears, clippers and whis' brooms. New products include hair gels, hair setting lotions, sprays and dyes — that's right, for masculine purchasers. And on display for the whiffing will be a host of bottles labeled "true masculine scents."

GROWING STATUS?

"The young barber of today has a chance to regain the high status of Figaro in Rossini's 'The Barber of Seville,'" Hal A. Salzman says.

"Then the barber was a prime consultant on high fashion, business and worldly affairs and even practiced dentistry and minor surgery."

Salzman wears three hats. He is president of Odell, which makes tonics and other preparations for the care of hair and scalp. He is chairman of the Tonsorial Information Council. And he is chairman of the Barber Shop Promotion Committee of Beauty, and Barbers Manufacturing Association.
