Luci And Pat

Luci's Plans Kept Secret

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — The LBJ Ranch wrapped in possibly significant secrecy Saturday the romance of Luci Johnson, the sparkling teenager of the White House, and boyfriend Pat Nugent.

Luci and Pat—she's 18 and he's about 23—flew down from Washington Friday night and some reports had it they had parental consent in mind now and matrimony eventually.

BLANK
 Newsmen who asked the White House Friday night and Saturday to say "yes" or "no" drew a complete blank.

This set off a ripple of speculation that perhaps President Johnson was trying to talk Luci and Pat out of announcing their engagement now and waiting until Luci is a little older and a little further along with her education. She's a freshman at Georgetown University in Washington, starting a four-year course toward a nursing degree. Ordinarily the White House has no reluctance about trying to kill off rumors and false reports by branding them untrue or ridiculous or both—and doing so promptly. But not in this case.

DEFINITE IDEAS
 Furthermore, Luci is a young lady with rather definite ideas and she isn't too reluctant to

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

After a great start, the United Fund campaign ground almost to a halt last week. The stall came at the two-thirds mark, and everyone knows the last third is the hard one—that is unless residents of Big Spring and Howard County do what they ought. This is a responsibility for everyone, and almost everyone can give something. That something ought to reflect that 14 agencies are being divided into the gift. If you haven't made your investment in pride in your community, or your payment of thanksgiving for being able to help others—do it Monday!

Good response greeted the area meeting to explore possibility of setting up a mental

Agreement On Rhodesia Helps Ease Tension

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — The prime ministers of Britain and Rhodesia agreed Sunday on a proposed royal commission to study the African colony's demand for independence, easing slightly the deadlock that gripped negotiations.

Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia warned, however, that if the commission doesn't deliver results, "it would be the end of the road" and his white minority government would resort to "the other step," — a unilateral declaration of independence.

WARNING WORDS
 Prime Minister Harold Wilson, in a statement before leaving Salisbury after a week of talks, also had words of warning to both the black nationalists and the white Rhodesians. He told the nationalists that Britain would not use force to bring in a one-man, one-vote law, and he told the whites that if Rhodesia should unilaterally declare independence, Britain would counter with economic, political and constitutional measures.

Smith told a cheering crowd in Rusepe that if Wilson had not flown to Salisbury for the talks "the country would have taken its independence — it would have been done and over."

BE PATIENT
 He said Rhodesians must be patient and wait several months for a negotiated independence. When he added, "if negotiations break down we will carry out the inevitable step," there was wild cheering and shouting.

The Rhodesian leader indicated a decision could be forthcoming sooner than several months, however.

Smith spoke to a ruling Rhodesian Front party rally.

Wilson, at his final news conference here said, "The door is open for agreement."

WHERE HOPES LIE
 He said hopes lie in a proposed royal commission that would solve the constitutional problem that lies in the way of Britain's granting independence to this self-governing colony.

All the acting press secretary at the White House, James Moyers, would say was that:

"I talked to the ranch this morning. The staff tells me Luci is there, Lynda is there, Mr. Nugent is there. In keeping with her previous visits on many occasions, Luci usually brings a friend or friends. Mr. Nugent has been at the ranch before."

CANNOT ADD
 "Other than these facts, I cannot add anything else. I wish I could tell you something more. But that's all I can say."

In view of Johnson's status as commander in chief of the military, a loud laugh rolled through the briefing room when a reporter asked about young Nugent's draft status. Moyers said he hadn't the slightest idea.

Some of his friends understand Nugent is classified IA and that he has been thinking of going into the Air Force for six months.

Nugent was graduated from Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wis., last June about the time Luci was finishing high school at the National Cathedral School for Girls in Washington.

Policy Supporters Make A Big Show

Thousands Join New York March

By The Associated Press
 Americans across the nation found ways Saturday to show their support of U.S. policy on Viet Nam—the ways ranging from an "Operation Fruitcake" in Richmond, Va., to a mass march down New York City's Fifth Avenue.

Through demonstrations, gift collection campaigns, letters, and blood donor drives, young and old citizens came forward to express support for American troops in Viet Nam and approve their presence there.

ANSWER
 The Fifth Avenue parade, like most of the other expressions of support of President Johnson's Viet Nam policy, came about as an answer to recent draft card burnings and other demonstrations against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Ten thousand marched against American involvement on Oct. 16. An estimated 25,000 paraded under sunny skies Saturday in support of the opposite view—that the United States does have good reasons for fighting in Viet Nam.

The crowd estimate was made by a policeman at the scene. The police did not release an official estimate.

JOINED IN
 Members of veterans' groups, labor unions, student and civil organizations joined the parade, sponsored by City Councilman Matthew Troy Jr. of Queens and the New York Journal-American.

Signs carried by the marchers read "Victory Over Viet Cong" and "Fight the Reds in Viet Nam and New York City." Many marchers held small American flags.

The sign carried by one girl read "I Wish I Had a Draft Card."

There were several incidents when antiwar demonstrators appeared on the sidelines with a sign or a remark against Vietnamese involvement. One man with a sign reading "Profits Equal Murder" was pummeled by about 40 marchers and suffered head and rib injuries.

At the head of the parade were five metropolitan area men who have won the nation's highest military decoration, the Medal of Honor.

Red China Troops Reported In India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Defense Ministry reported 10 to 12 Chinese soldiers intruded about 100 yards into the Indian protectorate of Sikkim on the Saba Pass in midweek and withdrew when engaged by Indian border troops.

The "Operation Fruitcake" was the idea of the Woodman Civic Assn. of Richmond. The fruitcakes were sold at shopping centers, and each cake will be sent to a serviceman in Viet Nam with a Christmas card from the purchaser.

Student leaders at Northern Illinois University began a movement to collect funds for newspaper advertisements avowing support of the troops in Viet Nam. University of Illinois students who are conducting a blood drive got a telegram from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey saying: "A noteworthy and laudable project. We must give our armed forces fighting overseas support and encouragement."

PETITIONS
 In Oklahoma City, Junior Chamber of Commerce officials announced they had obtained 21,703 signatures on petitions expressing support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam. The petitions will be sent to Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon, now on a Far Eastern tour, and he in turn will present them to U.S. officials in Saigon next month.

At Michigan Technological University at Houghton, 200 engineering students paraded from the campus to downtown Houghton with the blessing of Dean Harold Meese, a retired Navy officer.

And in Clifton, N.J., sponsors of a pro-administration rally attended by about 800 persons had the program tape-recorded, hoping it might be broadcast later to troops in Viet Nam.

ENCOURAGED
 In St. Paul, Minn., the Chamber of Commerce prepared a cablegram of encouragement to the commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam to be delivered on Veterans' Day Nov. 11. Anyone chipping in 25 cents toward its cost could sign the cable.

The Elks Association of Washington State, representing 85,000 Elks, sent a letter to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the Viet Nam commander, expressing support of his efforts "to stop the insidious creep of communism" in Viet Nam.

And a group of Denver citizens set up a stand on a downtown street and started collecting signatures on a pro-administration petition. They got 50 signatures in the first hour, and said they already had obtained 5,000 signatures by circulating it privately.

THANKS LETTER
 The Denver effort endorsed by Colorado Gov. John A. Love and state chairmen of both major political parties, has already brought a message of thanks from presidential aide McGeorge Bundy on behalf of the President.

Jap Ship Explodes

TOKYO (AP) — An explosion of unknown cause shattered a 1,489-ton Japanese tanker in the Inland Sea about 350 miles southwest of Tokyo Saturday night, injuring one crewman seriously, the Maritime Safety Agency said. Three others of her crew of 22 were reported missing. The agency identified the ship as No. 37 Naniwa Maru of Osaka.

Marines Turn Back Cong Wave Attack

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A company of U.S. Marines met and vanquished a Viet Cong human wave assault, the first the Red Guerrillas have tried against the Leathernecks, at a tent camp 10 miles southwest of Da Nang Saturday.

The Marine camp was the major target in a flurry of Viet Cong strikes that included mortar shelling of the Special Forces camp at Plei Me in the central highlands, where U.S. and Vietnamese relief forces broke a week-long siege Monday. Others were made in the Mekong Delta.

A U.S. military spokesman said the 300-man Marine force and supporting jet fighters, in an hour-long pre-dawn fight, killed 56 Viet Cong, many of them teenagers that the Marines considered had just been conscripted from nearby villages.

Marine losses were officially described as moderate. However, men on the scene said the Viet Cong killed three Marines at a nine-man outpost in the opening phase and one squad of 14 was eliminated in the close quarter fighting that followed, with two killed and the others wounded.

The camp is one of many hillside posts established as the outer defense of the Da Nang Air Base, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, from which U.S. and South Vietnamese squadrons fly against both the Viet Cong and Communist North Viet Nam.

A picked group of 100 from a guerrilla detachment estimated at 300 to 400 launched the attack at 2:30 a.m., little more than 48 hours after the Viet Cong suicide squads wrought havoc among planes and helicopters on Marine air strips at Marble Mountain and Chu Lai, in the same general area.

Gunfire and hand-to-hand fighting turned them back.

"We dropped a lot of Viet Cong with pistols," said Sgt. Harry Dowdy of Salisbury, Md. "They came right up to our holes."

Leatherneck patrols moved out in pursuit after the Viet Cong survivors pulled back. But they returned empty-handed.

Even the most optimistic U.S. observers here acknowledge the Viet Cong put on an impressive show this week. If they have lost their will to win their guerrilla war, it is not evident.

"Maybe they realize they can't win, but that doesn't mean they're ready to give up," said one U.S. officer. "If anything, they're trying harder than ever."

The Communists lost 750 men in the bitter siege at the U.S. Special Forces camp of Plei Me in the central highlands. But they clung tenaciously to their anti-aircraft guns — some men were even chained to guns — despite constant pounding by U.S. war planes for more than one week.

The Viet Cong drew thousands of U.S. troops to Plei Me from the mobile 1st Cavalry Division and pulled off a spectacular ambush against a large Vietnamese government unit on its way to the beleaguered camp. Then, to show they were still around, the enemy renewed a mortar attack on the camp Saturday — five days after the fighting ended there.

On Thursday, the Viet Cong took the initiative again. Striking in the early morning darkness, they infiltrated U.S. Marine air installations 52 miles apart in daring suicide attacks launched simultaneously.

Many here view the resurgence in Viet Cong activity as a concerted effort to show that the massive U.S. effort has not weakened the Communist drive. If the Viet Cong can still strike at will, it is reasoned, the U.S. forces must assume the defensive and react rather than act.

Cong May Be Launching New Offensive

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong may be on the verge of a bold, new offensive in South Viet Nam to prove their determination has not been blunted by the vast U.S. military buildup.

Even the most optimistic U.S. observers here acknowledge the Viet Cong put on an impressive show this week. If they have lost their will to win their guerrilla war, it is not evident.

Explosion Kills At Least 50

CARTAGENA, Colombia (AP) — At least 50 persons were killed and more than 200 injured Saturday when powder for fireworks exploded in Cartagena's covered central market.

Police said the death toll may go much higher since "there are more dead under the debris than in the morgues or hospitals."

A fire touched off the powder which had been collected in the market by fireworks manufacturers preparing for Independence Day celebrations Nov. 11.

The great market building was destroyed. It included many shops and stalls under its roof.

Radio stations issued urgent appeals for blood donors.

President Nursing Pains, Signs Federal Pay Boost

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, nursing a sore back, announced Saturday he has signed into law a 3.6 per cent pay increase for 1.8 million federal employees. And he issued a new statement bailing "economic achievements of 1965."

Johnson, spending a quiet day at his ranch home with members of his family, seems to have slackened his already relaxed recuperation pace because of discomfort. Said acting press secretary James H. Moyers, brother of chief press aide Bill D. Moyers:

"The President continues to have pain in the back which he has had for the past two days — well, for the past several days."

Moyers said the pain stems from the 12-inch incision made for Johnson's gall bladder-kidney stone surgery on Oct. 8.

That the discomfort may have slowed Johnson's pace was indicated by a reported slackening in presidential exercise. Earlier last week, the President took several long walks — some of three or four miles.

Moyers said that more recently "he did not walk a great deal."

The new pay boost for federal employees is their second in two years and covers postal as well as other civilian workers. Retroactive to Oct. 1, its cost is estimated at $641.5 million a year.

EQUAL EFFORTS
 Johnson issued a statement saying it is the administration's aim "to make sure that salaries paid to our civil servants are neither more, nor less, than those paid for equal efforts in private industry." He said the new law "brings us close to that objective."

The President said also the increase is within wage-price guidelines developed by his Council of Economic Advisers.

"Wages in private industry have generally remained within these guidelines through the dedicated cooperation of both management and labor. I am proud that the federal government is showing the same sense of responsibility in conducting its own affairs," Johnson said.

The House voted a 4 per cent pay boost — which would have exceeded the guidelines — but the Senate held firm for 3.6 per cent and the House yielded.

Johnson cheered the latest economic news in two statements. He waxed enthusiastic on this subject in his discourse on the pay law. And he put out a separate statement that gave an equally glowing account of current prosperity.

"There is every reason to believe," he said, "that this prosperity is going to continue."

The President noted that October marked the 56th straight month of climbing economic indicators and said:

"At no time in our history have we enjoyed such an uninterrupted period of peacetime economic expansion. And during this entire expansion our prices have remained more stable than those of any industrial country in the world."

VETERANS OF KIWANIS CLUB

Nine Kiwanians Admitted To Club's Legion Of Honor

Legion of honor pins were presented to nine Kiwanians at the special ladies night dinner of the club Thursday night at the Big Spring Country Club.

A legion of honor member is a Kiwanian who has had at least 25 years in the club, and who is still active in the organization.

Not all of the nine, who were to be honored, were at the dinner as illness and other causes kept some away. However, Bob Travis, president of the club who presided at the dinner, presented the pins and certificates to those in attendance.

Nat Shick with 37 years membership, topped the list of veterans. Others are T. B. Atkins, John Coffey, R. B. G. Cowper, Horace Reagan, W. B. Hardy, Sherman Smith, Merle Stewart and Robert Stripling.

H. W. Smith and Harvey Clay, who have already been inducted into the legion of honor, were also presented.

The speaker was Horace Whitehead, Baptist minister. He discussed the problem of racial hatred and the need for what he called a spiritual adjustment of a problem which grows larger and more menacing daily.

He cited scriptures to show that the Bible and Christ stipulated the common equality of all men, and said that racial hatred which prevails in this country is a "sin which we will not confess."

"Unless we accept the idea of complete equality for men of all races and colors," he warned, "we will ultimately destroy the very elements out of which the Constitution was forged."

The dinner was well attended.

No other program than the presentation of the certificates and the address by Whitehead was offered.

Elementary Principals To Discuss 'Emphasis'

Some 50 elementary principals and supervisors from 16 counties of District IV, Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Association, will meet at Cosden Country Club Nov. 9. Bill Dawes, Marcy Elementary principal, will be chairman.

Calvin Hibbler, Texas Education Agency, will address the principals and supervisors on "The Texas Education Agency and the Elementary School, New Emphasis." Member participation will be held in discussions of subjects brought up on the program.

The welcome will be given by Supt. Sam Anderson, Big Spring.

Glenn Kidd, president of the TEPSEA, will speak on "TEPSA: A Working Professional Organization." Charles Johnson, chairman of the membership committee, from Seagraves elementary school, will speak on "Membership in District IV; Work to Do"; Don Williams, secretary of District IV, of Henderson Elementary School in Midland, will talk on the "Constitution and By-Laws for the Big Spring, chairman of the research committee, will speak on "The Elementary Principalship—A TEPSEA Research Report."

Bill Clark, chairman of the District IV Survey Committee, from Fannin Elementary School, Odessa, will speak on "Your Part in a District IV Research Survey," which is a part of the statewide goal for improvement of elementary schools and member discussions will be held.

The dinner meeting will feature Hibbler, with program chairman Frank Miller, first vice president of District IV, of North Elementary School, Snyder, in charge.

Following Hibbler's talk, members will again participate in a discussion session, in which reaction to the new emphasis program will be surveyed.

Counties included in the district are Scurry, Mitchell, Glasscock, Howard, Martin, Midland, Ector, Andrews, Borden, Crane, Gaines, Loving, Reagan, Upton and Winkler.

'Come Fly'

A chirping English Sparrow came flying into The Herald's pressroom Friday afternoon for a meal, a visit and a nap. "He seemed tame, and ate out of our hands," Red Mahen, press foreman, shown with the bird, said. The twenty-bird sat on the crews' shoulders, ate bread, watched the presses roll, then perched on a shelf and took a nap. The literary-minded birdie awoke and asked the pressmen to take a fly with him. But they couldn't, so he zip-ped out the open doors where he came, and was gone.

Volunteer Group

Veterans Administration Voluntary Services Advisory Committee will meet Thursday at 3 p.m. in the Big Spring VA Hospital's conference room. The meeting will be the regular quarterly session.

Business will include suggestions for topics to be discussed during the 20th anniversary meeting of the national VAVS committee in Washington, D.C. in April; discussion of plans for the American Legion auxiliary gift shop and other Christmas activities for patients.

HERE IS THUMBNAIL SKETCH ON EACH

Voters To Decide Amendments' Fate

Ten amendments will be facing you on your ballot Tuesday. Here is a brief rundown on each amendment, with some of the arguments pro and con:

No. 1 would increase the state and ad valorem tax rate from the present 42 cents to 47 cents and the portion of tax dedicated to finance buildings at certain colleges and universities would be increased from five to 18 cents.

PRO: This is a realistic method for making adequate provision for classrooms and other physical facilities to meet rising tides of enrollment. With this new source, other tax sources can be decreased. Colleges participating in this are barred from the university system funds, thus eliminating duplication.

CON: Tax experts contend the state ad valorem levy should be abolished, and this would run contrary to this goal. If SJR 39 is not adopted in November, 1966, duplication will occur in at least one instance. The time limit of the special tax is eliminated by approval. Aid to schools should not be limited in the constitution to those now in existence.

No. 2 would authorize an additional $200,000 of state debt for the Veterans' Land Program, to increase the size of VLF from the present $200,000,000 to $400,000,000.

PRO: The land program is in lieu of a bonus, and funds are now exhausted. The program has not cost the state because it is self-liquidating. The program will terminate Dec. 1 unless renewed.

CON: It is not a function of the state to engage in the loan business. Veterans of World War II and the Korean War should have had time in 16 years to use the program. It is time to bring recurring requests for increases to a halt.

No. 3 would enlarge the federal-state welfare programs by expanding the age limits for eligibility to receive assistance to the blind and assistance to needy children; it would also remove the citizenship requirements for eligibility for receiving old age assistance benefits.

PRO: Adoption is essential if Texas is to continue its participation in a medical care program for old age assistance recipients. Texas cannot finance its entire assistance and medical care programs alone. The federal tax burden upon Texas citizens will be the same regardless.

CON: Cut off date for matching federal funds is July 1, 1967, so there is no reason of immediate decision. A delay could be taken as notice of disapproval of expanding programs. Broader coverage increases costs. Medical programs for indigents are responsibilities of local subdivisions.

No. 4 would increase the terms of office for the governor and certain other state officials from the present two years to four years.

PRO: Longer terms will give Texas more efficient utilization of state officers, avoiding necessity of campaigning half the time. Staggering the election on 4-year terms to let the "off" years stimulate voter participation. Campaign expenses for state races are becoming unbearable on a two-year basis. Thirty-five states have 4-year terms, and four others are adopting them.

CON: Long terms reduce responsiveness to voters. Power of state officials through board appointments would be increased. Long tenure invites corruption. Half-of-the-states-with-four-year terms have restrictions on reelection.

No. 5 would establish constitutional investment authority for the Board of Trustees of the Teacher Retirement System.

PRO: The Teacher Retirement Fund should not be tied to the Permanent University Fund criteria as now the case. Properly limited but wider investment authority can earn the retirement fund more returns, increasing teacher benefits. This is another incentive to enter the profession.

CON: This is a slow way to accomplish the objective because this sets up a one-to-two-year lag. The amendment is unnecessary because present investment authority is sufficient unless renewed.

WHERE TO VOTE

There will be 20 polling places ready for Howard County voters Tuesday at 8 a.m. to express their opinion on 10 Texas Constitution amendment proposals. Polls will be open until 7 p.m.

Precinct locations will be:
1. North Side Fire Station;
2. Washington Place School;
3. Main and Eighteenth Fire Station;
4. Central Fire Station;
5. Vincent Baptist Church Building;
6. Gay Hill School;
7. R-Bar (Salem Church) Building;
8. Cedar Crest School Building;
9. Coahoma City Hall;
10. Ferguson School Building;
11. Center Point School;
12. Prairie View Church Building;
13. Knott School;
14. Vealmoor School;
15. Runnels Jr. High Building;
16. Park H 111 School;
17. Gerald Harris Residence, Route 1; 18. 2665 E. 25th St.; 19. Elbow School;
20. Crestview Baptist Church Building.

25 Vote Absentee

Twenty-five absentee votes had been cast when the deadline for such balloting expired at 5 p.m. Friday. The ballots will be counted in the Tuesday election on 10 amendments to the Texas Constitution.

The polls open at 8 a.m. Tuesday and close at 7 p.m. All boxes are ready and many precinct judges had picked up their supplies Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy in the county clerk's office, said that the office will tabulate the votes Tuesday night.

Voting will be in all 20 of the county's election boxes.

No. 6 would authorize creation of a state debt by the issuance of $85,000,000 of state bonds to establish a loan fund for Texas college students.

PRO: Texas' greatest resource is its young people, and each year thousands of high school graduates need help to attend college. State funds could be used to match federal and private foundation funds. Loans must be repaid, hence the issue is self-liquidating.

CON: The state should not be in the loan business. Tuition charges in state institutions are minimum and therefore no deterrent for those who really want to go to school. Availability to all students tends to break down barriers of church-state separation.

No. 7 would exempt the properties of certain private trusts or organizations from local ad valorem taxation, if such organizations provide free hospital and medical care for indigent persons in the amount of $1,500,000 annually.

PRO: The particular hospital in question pays over $300,000 each year in ad valorem taxes, but it is obliged to handle an ever increasing charity load. Other counties may find themselves with similar situations.

CON: The amendment is meant to benefit one hospital in one county, and the constitution should not make such distinctions; nor is it fair to grant one hospital such relief without making it available to all.

No. 8 would require automatic retirement for district and appellate judges at age 75 and create a State Judiciary Qualifications Commission for the purpose of carrying out procedures for effecting the retirement or removal of judges for disability or misconduct.

PRO: Texas needs an alert judiciary and mandatory retirement eliminates stagnation of senility. The amendment provides more modern and effective procedures for removal of judges for misconduct. The plan is the same as the California plan which has worked efficiently.

CON: Many great jurists have made historical decisions after reaching age 75. The constitution already makes provisions for removal of judges for cause. The amendment has language which should rather be a part of an enabling act, adding to burden of constitution which has 65,000 words as of now.

No. 9 would raise the per diem allowance of members of the Legislature from $12 for a 120-day session to $20 for 140 days or a regular session, in addition to the $4,800 per year salary constitution. Salaries could be set for the speaker and lieutenant governor.

PRO: The $12 per diem now allowed legislators is unrealistic in view of present costs, and the 120-day limitation works a hardship. Duties of the lieutenant governor and speaker of the house are as important as any other top state officials and ought to be remunerated accordingly.

CON: Only five years ago the people voted legislators a salary plus additional compensation of $12 a day. Now more is asked. The lieutenant governor and speaker in actual practice are only members of their respective houses.

No. 10 would increase the length of term of office for members of the Texas House of Representatives to four years from the present two-year term.

PRO: Longer terms would relieve representatives from so much time in campaigning, thus make them more efficient. Campaigning expenses are becoming burdensome if not prohibitive. Continuity in office within limits provides strength in government, especially when problems grow more complex. Several states have adopted four-year terms.

CON: The lower house of the Legislature is supposed to be closer to the people than the Senate. Biennial elections give citizens a more frequent chance to express their approval or disapproval of legislator performance. Temptation to promote interest of members is diminished by shorter terms. It is harder to unseat an incumbent of long standing simply because long terms promote name-familiarity. Only four states have thought it wise to follow this course.

Moscow Toy Exposition Shows Lag In Quality

MOSCOW (AP) — Kids here like the toys that kids like in the West—guns, trains, dolls and the like.

This is apparent at a toy exposition being held at the Manege, the long yellow building beside the Kremlin where the czar's officers used to pace their horses when snow piled high outside.

Christmas is no longer a real holiday here, and toys are distributed at New Year's. Otherwise, much is the same East and West. There are decorated pine trees. In place of Santa Claus, Father Frost appears in the stores. He is the same rosy-cheeked character who gave toys to children under the czar.

Not a single toy in the whole exhibit—over a block long—speaks of revolution or of the promised arrival of communism.

SHOW FASCINATION
So young visitors show their fascination with the same gadgetry found in toy stores in America, England, Italy, France or Germany.

A brown-haired boy was entranced by a wooden Pinocchio, pointed nose and all. Another, a little older, peered under a metal builder set, which could be converted into a crane like hundreds that poke up across the Moscow skyline in the unending battle to provide houses for a bursting city population.

Most of the toys on display in the exposition and in store windows are plastic or wood. Plastic dolls hang in profusion along the walls, around the aisles, on pine trees and from the ceiling. Even many pine trees are plastic.

BEHIND OTHERS
The impression of Western toy fanciers is that the quality of toys here is a long reach below those found in West Germany and Japan but the patterns are the same: A toy tank has the same trick that came out in Germany a dozen years ago. It runs around a table without falling off.

A little mechanical man periodically tosses a fried egg into the air from a little frying pan, and about every third throw it goes flying off at a tangent and doesn't fall back into the pan. As a toy, it is less monotonous that way.

There are guns, and ranks of toy soldiers, and little red wagons.

A special exhibit in the Manege shows the toys of three generations ago. They are elegant and fine, the horses carved carefully of wood, their necks high-arched. They pull ornately decorated sleds.

Clearly they were expensive toys, out of reach of most children who lived at the time of the czars. The children of today, under communism, are entranced by the quality, but they know these are toys of a bygone period.

Margaret's First Visit To America Approaches

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret will see one of her dreams come true next week — a visit to the United States, that onetime colony of her bullheaded ancestor, King George III.

"It's something I've always very much wanted to do," she told a friend not long ago. "At last we're going to do it."

By "we" the pretty, stylish, 25-year-old sister of Queen Elizabeth II meant herself and her husband, Lord Snowdon.

His lordship, the former Anthony Armstrong-Jones — a photographer by profession — is 57 months older than his royal wife.

The princess has never been to the United States. Her husband visited New York in 1958 in connection with the promotion of his photographic book about London.

More informal and relaxed than many think, they both like active, amusing, imaginative and creative people, and number among their friends, actors, writers, painters, designers, dancers, publishers and comedians.

For their American tour, the Snowdons will leave their two young children, Lord Linley and Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones, to be looked after by the Queen Mother and a battery of nurses.

By design the Snowdons scheduled their autumn visit to the United States to begin Thursday, for that's the day after their son's fourth birthday. They will give him a party Wednesday, Lady Sarah will be 12 next May 1.

Junior Bar Backs Amendment 8

DALLAS (AP) — Directors of the State Junior Bar unanimously adopted Saturday a resolution supporting Amendment 8 on retirement and removal of state judges.

The provision of this amendment establishing timely retirement will insure the state of a capable and alert judiciary and nearly half of the state already have comparable provisions, the resolution said.

The amendment is one of 10 to be voted on Tuesday.

Cutter Brings In Refugees

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The Coast Guard Cutter McCullough brought in 50 Cuban refugees Saturday from three boats attempting to make the Camarioca-Key West run.

Among them were seven exiles from a 34-foot Connecticut-licensed craft that sank 50 miles out of Key West. Its captain was Raul Ordonez of Meriden, Conn.

"We flashed red and white lights and a plane saw them and radioed the Coast Guard," said Roberto Gonzalez, a male nurse from Paterson, N.J.

Avelina Espinosa, 28, a Brooklyn, N.Y., factory worker who underwent the experience, commented, "I wasn't a bit afraid." Her male companions said she was the bravest of the group.

"A spare motor saved our lives," said an exile whose 22-foot boat ran into trouble after getting within three miles of Camarioca.

"We had taken it along just in case of such an emergency," said Rigoberto Estevez, 37, a Miami carpenter. "We put in the spare and kept going until the Coast Guard picked us up."

Meanwhile, Estevez said, his mother, father and brother remain in Cuba. He and two companions had left for Cuba Wednesday night, hoping to beat the small boat refugee deadline of midnight Thursday.

The McCullough, a 311-foot vessel assigned here from Boston, also brought refugees taken from an overloaded boat after it left Camarioca. The crewmen remained aboard and brought their boat to Key West.

An agreement is expected to be announced for the United States to sponsor commercial aviation flights that will move about 200 refugees daily from Cuba to Florida.

Facilities have been set up in the Miami area for receiving the newcomers and dispersing them to other areas.

More than 3,000 Cubans went into exile via small boat across the choppy Florida Straits before Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro called a halt to the risky small boat shuttle.

Another Cathedral Hit By Paint Spraying Vandals

YORK, England (AP)—Vandals desecrated York Cathedral Saturday, spraying red paint on the lectern and archbishop's chair in an action similar to that Friday at Canterbury Cathedral.

York Cathedral is in northern England, about 200 miles north of Canterbury.

A spray also was used at Canterbury to daub red and blue paint over an altar cloth, the archbishop's chair and the tomb of the Black Prince.

The action there was believed in reaction to Dr. Michael Ramsey's statement that force might be justifiable in Rhodesia.

Dr. Ramsey was Archbishop of York before moving to Canterbury. By tradition an Archbishop of York is groomed for Canterbury—the highest office in the Anglican Church.

The Dean of York, Dr. Alan Richardson, said Saturday's paint daubing was the work of "some lunatic."

"We don't want the York incident connected with that (Canterbury)," Dr. Richardson said. "There has been a lot of idle chatter that there is some connection. We are sure someone has just tried to copy what happened there."

Police took fingerprints and photographs at the cathedral, but made no immediate statement on the second paint daubing incident.

Dr. Ramsey was Archbishop of York until June 1961 when he was formally elected Archbishop of Canterbury.

Police closely guarded the Archbishop of Canterbury when he drove from London to Canterbury to address clergy at a Church of England diocesan conference.

The unusual step was taken 24 hours after his cathedral had been desecrated with paint.

The Archbishop, Dr. Michael Ramsey, has been under fire for saying that Christians could support the use of force in Rhodesia if that African colony seizes independence. Prime Minister Harold Wilson has disavowed any use of force.

A church spokesman said no request had been made for security measures, but half a dozen police officers kept close watch as Dr. Ramsey walked from a service in Canterbury Cathedral to the chapter house 100 yards away.

There were no disturbances at the meeting and the archbishop made no reference to Friday's desecration of the cathedral.

Retires

Dr. Joseph H. McNinch, head of the Veterans' Administration medical program since June, 1963, will retire Jan. 1, 1966. He was announced Saturday. He has been with the Army and the VA for more than 20 years.

Seabees Irritable Over Cong Assault

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Seabees are still irritable over damage inflicted on a hospital construction job during the Viet Cong assault Wednesday night against the Marble Mountain air strip.

"When they attacked, we blew them flat out of the wire," Seabee Edward Forney of Westminster, Md., said.

"If they attack again we'll do the same thing. And we're going to finish our hospital on time."

Forney was describing a three-pronged Viet Cong suicide charge that inflicted numerous casualties, destroyed 18 helicopters at the Marble Mountain Marine heliport and blasted to bits part of a 400-bed hospital complex the Seabees are building.

"They did do all that," said Cmdr. Richard E. Anderson of North Little Rock, Ark., who heads the 9th Naval Construction Battalion. "But mostly they made these kids madder than hell."

A Seabee electrician, Ralph Wright of North Eldon, N.J., said: "I can't understand it—them hitting a hospital—something that will do their own people so much good some day."

"They got two of our five big generators with their explosive charges, but we'll still have enough power to open the hospital on time," Wright said.

The Seabees had been working 10 hours a day for more than four months on the hospital.

One squad of the Viet Cong suicide team opened up on the Americans with mortars and machine guns late in the night.

Another team rushed in and blasted the helicopters.

A third charged into the hospital complex, guarded only by six men who took cover and escaped injury.

Panhandler Knows How

"Mister," said the seedy-looking character Saturday with the four or five day growth of whiskers, "I'm tryin' to get a shave—I got 50 cents in there (pointing to a variety store) the cheapest safety razor they got is 20 cents. Could you give me 20 cents so I can buy it?"

The passerby, who had been approached by the panhandler, raised cynical eyebrows. Nevertheless, because the approach was new, the citizen said:

"I'll give you a dime toward your razor; go hustle up the remainder."

The panhandler shuffled away. The citizen decided to investigate.

Inside the store, he asked the checker if a man answering that description had actually tried to buy a razor.

"Yes," replied the checker. "He did. He wanted me to sell him one for 50 cents. The cheapest one we have is 60 cents."

Big Cotton Crop To Match Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government experts predict a 1965-66 world cotton crop of 52 million bales, about matching last season's record output.

The Agriculture Department forecast larger cotton crops in India, Iran and Pakistan.

Countries likely to have smaller cotton crops are Mexico, Nicaragua, El Salvador and Turkey.

Cotton production of 13.7 million bales was estimated for Communist countries, slightly down from last year. Russian production is expected to be down about 400,000 bales from last year. Forecasts assigned a slightly higher output to Communist China, due to a reported increase in acreage.

No Free Car For Dallasite

DALLAS (AP)—Dist. Judge Clarence Guitard ruled Friday that Marvin Harville can't cash in trading stamps for a new car after all.

Harville collected 1,048 books containing 1,572,000 stamps and took them to the Gold Bond Stamp Co. He went to court after the firm refused to deliver him an automobile.

It was established that Harville bought 900 books of stamps from two uncles and swapped other stamps for 148 more books. The company said this violated its rules against purchase of the stamps.

Judge Guitard ruled the firm had a legal right to keep the 1,048 books and to refuse delivery of a car or its cash equivalent.

The estimated value of the stamps was $3,500 to $3,700.

Austin Lad Dead In Friday Wreck

COLFAX, La. (AP)—Carl McBride, 19, of Austin, Tex., was killed Friday night when his car went off US 71 and hit a tree.

Edward Rogers Jr., 19, of Bessemer, Ala., was injured.

Both were students at Kilgore State College.

Top Bucking Horse Picked

DENVER—Jake, a shifty, 1,200-pound sorrel gelding, owned by Harry Knight, Fowler, Colo., stock contractor, has been voted professional rodeo's top bucking horse of 1965. The season's top 20 saddle bronc riders were balloted for their choice of the horse they considered hardest to ride during the year, the Denver-based Rodeo Cowboys Association reported.

A spry 14-year-old, Jake won the award once before, in 1960. This year Jake won out over Little Nell, a roan mare, owned by Henry Christensen, Eugene, Ore., and the 1961 winner, Jesse James, a palomino gelding, property of Hoss Inman, Lamar, Colo.

Why Not Attend THE CHURCH

That you can read about in the New Testament (Acts 20:28; Romans 16:16)?

That has no creed but Christ, and no rule of faith but the Bible (Matt. 16:18; 1 Timothy 3:16-17)?

That exalts Christ as the only Head of the Church (Colossians 1:18)?

That patterns its worship strictly after the New Testament (John 4:24; Acts 20:7; Eph. 5:19)?

That believes scriptural unity can be achieved on all disputed doctrinal points (1 Corinthians 1:10; John 17:21)?

That is not a denomination, nor a group of denominations, but the body of Christ (Ephesians 1:22-23)?

That was founded by Christ (Matthew 16:18)?

Young Farmer Chapter Elects

COAHOMA (SC)—The Coahoma Young Farmer Chapter met last Monday night and elected officers for next year and planned a program of work. New president is Donnie Reid; vice president, Alvin Luce; secretary, Randall Reid; treasurer, Johnny Justiss; and reporter, R. S. Higgins. Gerald Oakes, vocational agriculture teacher, is chapter advisor.

A number of interesting topics ranging from topics on Crops and Livestock to Farm Financing and Income Taxes. Regular meeting night is the fourth Monday of each month. Any person interested in agriculture and community improvement is invited to join the Young Farmer Chapter and participate in the affairs of the chapter.

he had kept the FBI informed throughout on the sale.

Johnny Richards, 39, owner of the Potomac Arms Co., said he checked with police and the FBI last March 30 when a man sought to purchase the guns.

He said the man gave his name as John Finch and address as 620 Oronoco, Alexandria. He said police told him there was no such address.

Richards telephoned the FBI and said he was told not to refuse to make the sale, but to stall until the next day.

He did, the man returned, paid $99.95 each for two anti-tank guns and bought ammunition for them. Later, two men went to the Railway Express Agency here and shipped crates they said contained machine parts to Plattsburgh, N.Y. Police were notified there.

Sometime early on April 8, someone broke into the company's office and stole what apparently were the guns.

Burglars used a cannon to blow open the vault of the Brink's Co. last Sunday and stole cash and securities valued at $400,000.

Police said only about $100,000 in cash and negotiable securities were in the loot.

At FBI headquarters, a spokesman said the department had no comment.

Dr. Blocker Named To Surgeons Post

GALVESTON — Dr. T. G. Blocker Jr., executive director and dean of the University of Texas Medical Branch, has been named second vice president-elect of the American College of Surgeons following its annual meeting at Atlantic City.

A native of West Point, Miss., Dr. Blocker received his B.A. degree from Austin College at Sherman in 1929 and was awarded an honorary D.Sc. there in 1949. Internationally known in the field of plastic and reconstructive surgery, he is past president of the American Association of Plastic Surgeons and a retired brigadier general in the Army.

This Is What Broke Up The Party

Flames leap into the sky in Hollywood Friday night on the outdoor Western street at Paramount Studios. Waiters scurry around quickly-emptied tables in the foreground, after guests at the big studio party had to flee when the fire broke out. Police said there was no panic and no one was reported injured by the blaze. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Few Dropouts In Senate Elections

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Once a senator, always a candidate" seems to be the slogan of 34 Senate members whose seats will be at stake in the 1966 elections.

There may be a couple of dropouts, but nearly all of the 20 Democrats and 14 Republicans whose terms are expiring already are busy mending the fences at home in preparation for a battle at the polls for a new six-year lease on office.

NONE VOLUNTARY
Apparently there will be no voluntary retirements for the members who already have reached, or will reach before next Election Day, the Social Security landmark of 65.

Recent announcements by Sens. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., and Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., that they will seek re-election have emphasized that senators who are approaching 70 or already have passed it don't regard 70 as any age for quitting what they like doing.

Ellender, who is 74, has made serving in the Senate a lifetime habit. He first showed up to claim his seat on Jan. 3, 1957. Anderson didn't arrive until 1949, having had some Cabinet business to take care of earlier as secretary of agriculture under President Harry S. Truman. Still, for him the senatorial habit is a strong one, too.

SIX OLDER
The Democrats, who bragged about the "youth movement" which brought several young men of their persuasion into the Senate in 1964, seem likely to have six candidates next year already in their 70s or who will reach that mark before the voters go to the polls.

Besides Anderson and Ellender, they include Sens. A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, 78; Pat McNamara of Michigan, 71; and B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina and John L. McClellan of Arkansas who will have their 70th birthdays next year. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, 73, hasn't indicated whether he'll run again.

In contrast the only Republican in this age bracket likely to seek re-election is Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, 73. In the 65-or-over category there are two Democrats, Sens. Richard B. Russell of Georgia and John Sparkman of Alabama. Four Republican members presently in this bracket—Sens. Len B. Jordan of Idaho, Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, Milward L. Simpson of Wyoming and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine—will be joined before election time next year by John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

UNDER 50
As part of the youth movement, the Democrats have four almost certain candidates who are under 50. They are Sens. Ross Bass of Tennessee, Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island. Three Republican candidates among the under-50s are Jack Miller of Iowa, James B. Pearson of Kansas, and John G. Tower of Texas.

Ku Kluxers Plan March

HOUSTON (AP)—Ku Klux Klan members will march Nov. 7 in downtown Austin, the audience at a meeting in a pasture northeast of here was told Friday night.

Royce McPhail, 35, an insurance salesman from Crockett, made the announcement. He said Klansmen will parade for three blocks to counter demonstrations by students who have protested against U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Each of the 100 to 150 men expected to take part, McPhail said, will carry a United States flag but none will display any signs. He did not say where the march will start. It is set for 3 p.m.

Witnesses estimated 150 to 200 persons attended the meeting. McPhail was introduced as "State Rep. Royce McPhail." He was an unsuccessful candidate for the legislature in 1952. About 40 persons in the audience wore Klan robes.

Texas Building Marks Record

DALLAS (AP)—The construction industry had its second best October in history in Texas, the Texas Contractor, trade publication, will say Tuesday.

Contracts of $127,225,746 were let, only $2 million under the record. For 10 months, the total is $994,739,375.

OVER VIET NAM

U. S. Image Has Not Fared Badly

EDITOR'S NOTE — How do college students in other lands feel about the U.S. stance in Viet Nam? The Associated Press asked its reporters in six countries to sound out students at random and to talk with their deans. Here are the findings.

By The Associated Press

To a Japanese student, the Americans in South Viet Nam "are good natured but very foolish." He thinks they ought to get out.

A Filipino student feels "Red China is helping North Viet Nam, so the United States should help South Viet Nam."

A Latin American youth boils at the word "intervention," and thus condemns the American role in Southeast Asia as he sees it.

CARE LESS

Many European students couldn't care less about the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

On the whole, a sampling of student opinion on three continents suggests the U.S. image has not fared as badly as the clamor often raised by the vocal left might indicate.

In some areas — notably Latin America — many students have been captivated by leftist ideas, largely because of restiveness churned up by backwardness of their own nations and eagerness to seek economic and political cures overnight.

The demonstrations, teach-ins, draft card burnings and the like in the United States have captured student attention abroad. But sympathy, or lack of it, depends upon the individual student, his background, his area, his political orientation and his own nation's problems.

SAMPLING

Here is a sampling of how students regard the Viet Nam issue in some of the world's key areas:

The Far East — University authorities in Japan guess that nine of ten university students oppose the U.S. role in Viet Nam in varying degrees, but only 10 per cent of these actively demonstrate.

Violent reaction comes from students affiliated with the extreme left Zengakuren Association and the leftist Tokyo Students Association.

Among the rest, a feeling of opposition to the United States stems from the idea that the Americans are fighting Asians on Asian soil.

Student T. Mashiko, 22, of Tokyo University, finds the Americans "good natured but foolish," because, to his way of thinking, Americans don't seem "to understand the true sense of national independence" the way Asians understand it.

IMPRESSED

Some students profess to be favorably impressed by draft card burnings in the United States and some, even though describing themselves as moderate in view, agree that the Americans ought to give up trying to solve the Indochina problems with arms.

In the Philippines, the reaction has been different. The nation, a member of the SEATO alliance, has a stake in communism's plans for Southeast Asia.

Most students interviewed on campus agreed with U.S. policy, and all interviewed reflected low opinions of Moscow and Peking.

Antonio Fontanella, 23, of Ateneo de Manila University, felt U.S. policy was justified because it was "containing communism." Reynaldo Acosta of the University of Santo Tomas called U.S. policy wise, a matter of "helping those who need help."

University authorities said they could not tell if the opinions expressed in the sampling reflected the majority, but one Santo Tomas faculty member offered the opinion that most Filipino students would support the United States.

Europe — Most British university students seem to have taken little interest in the Viet Nam conflict. A few protest demonstrations, despite wide publicity, attracted a small percentage of the student population.

Last week, the Oxford Union, a debating society, voted 332-273 to reject U.S. policy, but the Cambridge Union at Cambridge University voted overwhelmingly last spring against a motion that "the Americans should get out of Viet Nam."

In France, division was along political lines. Of seven university students interviewed, two on the right approved the U.S. position, two on the left disapproved. Two without political leanings seemed to disapprove and one approved.

WOULD SUPPORT

A psychology professor thought a majority of French students not under political influence would lean toward supporting the American position.

At German universities in Bonn, Frankfurt and Berlin, most students interviewed favored U.S. presence in Viet Nam as necessary to halt Communist infiltration. Left-leaning groups, small in numbers but vocal, press an anti-American campaign.

At Berlin's Free University, Peter Brandt, 18, son of Mayor Willy Brandt, signed a petition opposing the U.S. role in Viet Nam, drawn up by a group calling itself the "Standing Committee for Peace." Student opinion in general seemed to run in the opposite direction.

Latin America — Student opinion in Argentina seems sharply divided. Those leaning to Marxist views denounce the U.S. role, those of conservative viewpoints say Americans are right in opposing communism in Southeast Asia.

Even anti-Communist university students seem hesitant about going all the way in supporting the United States.

A Marxist university professor denounced U.S. involvement in Viet Nam, lumping it with last spring's military intervention in a rebellion in the Dominican Republic and claiming that therefore such policies "are an ominous threat to Latin America."

A student publication reflected these views recently, calling the U.S. actions a "threat to universal peace." Student groups participated in a "Viet Nam Week" where U.S. policy was sharply criticized.

Coahoma Lads Place Entries

COAHOMA (SC) — Members of the Coahoma FFA Chapter have returned from Dallas where they participated in the State Fair of Texas Junior Livestock show. Animals were exhibited in the Junior Commercial Steer, Junior Barrow, and Junior Lamb shows.

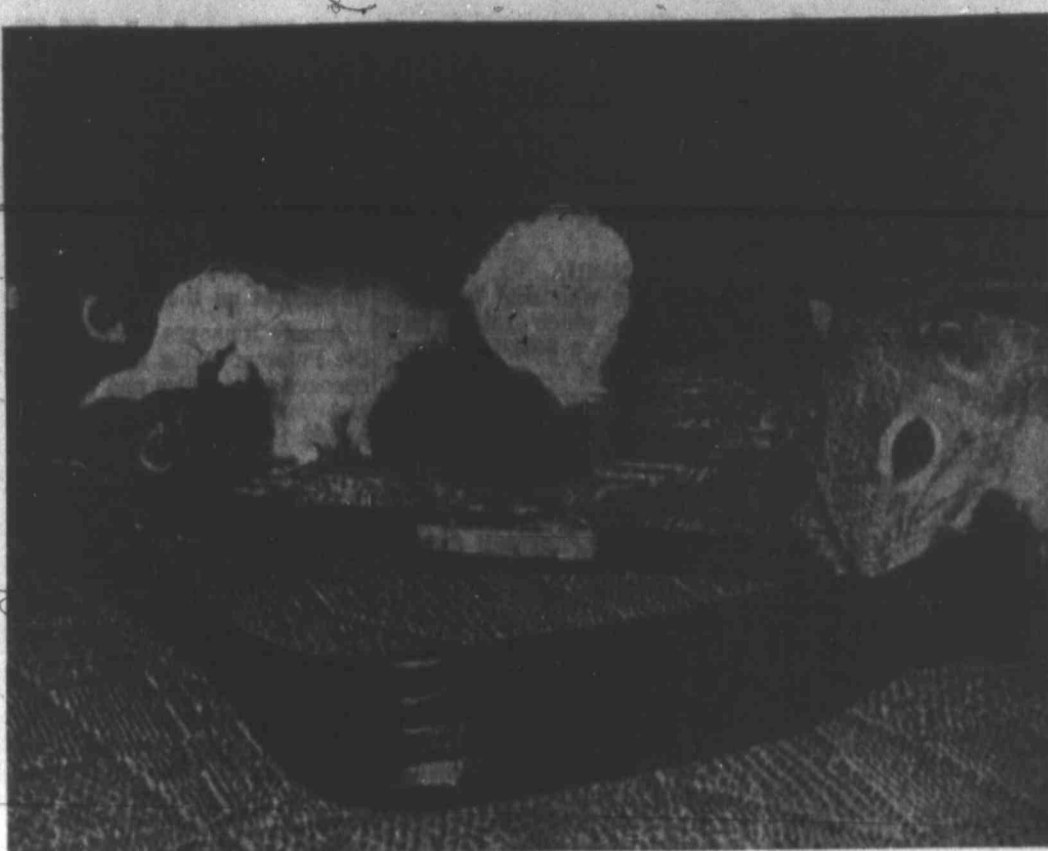

Troy Fraser and Eddie Read were awarded blue ribbons for their steer entries in the commercial steer show since their animals graded superior for great quality and conformation.

Johnny Ray Baker and Buz Mann also exhibited steers in this division.

In the junior barrow show eight out of 15 barrows exhibited won ribbons. These placings ranged from sixth to 25th. Prize winners in this division were Robbie Haney, Kenneth Early, Kyle Tunnell, Troy Fraser, Sarah Oakes and Tommy Mense. Fraser and Early each placed two barrows. Others exhibiting barrows were Mike Duke, Johnny Ray Baker, Buz Mann, John Williams, and Gaylon Williams.

Ten lambs were exhibited in the junior lamb show, with nine of the lambs receiving ribbons for their owners. Placing in this division were John Johnson with two, James Hudson with two, Royce Reid, Ricky Evans, Buz Mann, Mike Brady and Richard Bruton. Johnny Mac Self also exhibited a lamb. Most of the animals were sold in the premium auction conducted by the State Fair.

The chapter is now getting other animals ready for the spring shows and will participate in two other major shows and the Howard County Junior Livestock show.

Odd Pursemates

A little kitten named Gigna and a small squirrel called Twerp use their mistress's purse for a playhouse. According to their owner, Miss Libby Wharton of Daytona Beach, Fla., the two get along just fine and Gigna has not tried to play cat-and-mouse with Twerp. (AP WIREPHOTO)

John A. Roosevelt's Marriage Is Revealed

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — John A. Roosevelt, son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has married a former Memphian, it was learned Saturday.

She is Irene Boyd McAlpin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hallam Boyd of Memphis and New York City.

The couple left Friday aboard the Queen Mary for a month's honeymoon in Europe. They told Memphis friends they will live in Hyde Park, N.Y., when they return in December. Roosevelt was granted a Mexican divorce from his former wife last week. His bride formerly was married to Ben McAlpin III of New York.

The new Mrs. Roosevelt was graduated from high school in Memphis in 1950, and attended Finch College in New York.

She worked for a New York store, Lord and Taylor, in fashion display before she married McAlpin, Wall Street investment broker, in 1958. She and McAlpin were divorced in April this year.

Silverless 'Two-Bit' Coins Go Into Circulation Monday

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — New no-silver 25-cent pieces with a copper-colored edge will go into circulation Monday, President Johnson announced Saturday.

Because of faster-than-expected production, the new quarters — marking the first basic change in coinage since 1792 — will begin jingling in people's pockets one month earlier than originally planned.

Johnson said the mint is ready to turn loose 230 million of the new coins this week. He said the supply will be swelled by a steadily rising output expected to approach the rate of a quarter-billion monthly by December.

The new coins will circulate side by side with the old quarters containing 90 per cent silver. Congress this year voted to bar silver from 25-cent and 10-cent pieces because the bright metal is in short supply and commanding increasing prices.

The new quarters will consist of 75 per cent copper and 25 per cent nickel, bonded to a pure copper core. They will be readily distinguished by their copper-colored edges.

To foil coin collectors seeking rare items, all silver coins now being produced carry 1964 dates and the new coins will be dated 1965 until all shortages disappear — even though this will mean deliberate misdating of coins made in 1966.

Production of the old silver quarters will continue for a time. Eventually, after output is halted and those in circulation wear out, they will vanish from everyday life. The normal life of a coin is 25 years.

The new dime, to go into circulation early in 1966, will be made of the same alloy as the new quarter.

New half dollars will be faced with layers of 80 per cent silver and 20 per cent copper, bonded to a core of approximately 79 per cent copper and 21 per cent silver, giving an over-all 40 per cent silver composition.

Like the new quarter, the new dime and half dollar will also have the same designs as the silver coins they succeed.

Red Chinese Reaction To Disarmament Sought

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Nonaligned countries are trying to find out whether Communist China would attend a world disarmament conference if the U.N. General Assembly should call for one.

Diplomatic sources said Saturday the question was raised at a private meeting of such countries here last Wednesday and referred to those on good terms with Peking to be passed along to that capital.

They said the main idea was to discover how to draft a resolution for the conference that would insure Communist China's attendance despite that country's pronounced hostility toward the United Nations.

Any such resolution would be taken up first in the assembly's main Political Committee, which is expected to get around late this week to the question of a world disarmament conference under the auspices of the United Nations to which all countries would be invited.

The main object of such a conference would be to bring into disarmament talks the two nuclear powers not yet involved — France, which is boycotting the Geneva negotiations, and Communist China, which was never invited to those negotiations and does not have a U.N. seat.

Diplomats generally expect that the assembly will call for a world disarmament conference to be held toward the end of 1966.

Carter Furniture Store Expands Over Six Lots

Carter Furniture Co. has leased the former Montgomery Ward warehouse building, at the corner of Runnels and East First Street. The store, with added show room space, now covers all the area north of the alley, plus the two areas of the old store at 110 Runnels.

Carter Furniture More Than Doubles Sales Floor Space

Carter Furniture Co., formerly in a 9,000 square foot space at 110 Runnels, has now leased the former Montgomery Ward warehouse area of 12,000 square feet on the corner of East First and Runnels, for a total of 21,000 square feet of floor space for their furniture.

The grand opening of the expanded store will be held Monday and Tuesday, according to J. W. and Terry M. Carter who, as a partnership, operate the furniture store.

"The old section of the store, across the alley south of the new building, will be used for all Early American furniture," the Carters said. "The first area north of the alley will be for modern and contemporary furniture; the middle area for French and Italian Provincial; the third for Spanish type, as will the room adjacent to it on First Street; in the back room we will have all types of furniture, and to the north of the rear half will be warehouse space for back-up stock.

"We have plans for the covered driveway on the northeast corner of the building, when spring comes," the partners said. "We will use it for display of yard, garden and patio furniture."

The building, used for approximately 20 years by Montgomery Ward for a warehouse, has been refinished inside. The Carters have leased it from the Bessie M. Radford Trust, through its representative, H. M. Harrison. They have a two-year lease, with option to purchase.

"The new space gives us room to group the furniture and to show it much better than we had in the crowded space at 110 Runnels," they said. "A person can actually see what he is looking for on the floor now."

Terry Carter said that, when painting was being done on the buildings, "painted over" signs showed Bill Horn's Cafe, Williams' Auto Supply, Dodge-Plymouth, and had been told that a part of the building was used for the USO during the war.

Other employees of the furniture company are: Mrs. Terry

Carter; Bob Jones, driver for 1 1/2 years; Bill Rhoades foreman for 8 1/2 years; and Janis Arnold, HCJC student who works part-time as bookkeeper.

The Carters have operated the furniture store at its present location since 1957. They formerly started in Big Spring as Carter's Shop and Swap at Gregg and West Second Streets. They have been in business for 17 years.

A guest book will be available for those coming to the expanded store Monday and Tuesday. Door prizes will be given at various times.

Airman Wins Photo Contest

A base photographer, Airman 3.C. Biff Jensen, placed first in Webb Air Force Base's annual photography contest, and won in five divisions.

The contest judge, Danny Valdes, a free-lance photographer who also does work for the Herald, made the announcement Friday.

M. Sgt. H. Walter Clark, deputy commander for maintenance, placed second; and M. Sgt. Henry G. Leslie, of personnel, won third spot honors. Those winners were in black and white categories.

Color entries by S. Sgt. Donald L. Burke, of DCM, won an award in that category. Cash awards were presented.

HAIRCUTS UP TO $1.75

The price of haircuts is going up.

Union shops in Big Spring, Sand Springs and Odessa are announcing a 25 cent increase, to become effective Nov. 1.

This will make haircuts $1.75.

ROTC Tests To Be Given On HCJC Campus

Air Force ROTC officials from Texas Technological College will administer the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test on the Howard County Junior College campus, Nov. 9 at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. in Room 5 of the Science Building.

The test is in conjunction with the Air Forces new two year ROTC commissioning program, now being offered at some 186 colleges and universities across the nation.

This new program affords young men who transfer from junior colleges to four year institutions the opportunity to compete for Air Force commissions on an equal footing with other students who have taken the first two years of the traditional four year program.

Further information regarding this program may be obtained by contacting Dean Dawson DeViney at AM 4-6311, ext. 20.

GIVE THE UNITED WAY

Academy Graduates 14 More

Fourteen police officers from Big Spring and other West Texas towns graduated Friday noon after 25 days of intensive police training at Big Spring's Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement, according to Jay Banks, police chief.

Unique to West Texas, the academy began about one year ago, and Banks said, "We hope it will continue to grow and become permanent."

Rep. Roger Brown addressed the graduates in a private dining room at Howard County Junior College's student union. Also on hand were police chiefs, city managers, and HCJC president Dr. W. A. Hunt.

Certificates of graduation were jointly issued by HCJC and Texas A&M.

Wives of many of the academy graduates were guests at the luncheon ceremonies, Banks said.

The 14 policemen, officially graduates of the fourth session of the 12-month-old academy, are from police forces of San Angelo, Brownfield, Pecos, Sweetwater, Snyder, Lamesa and Big Spring.

Contract For Extension Of FM 700 To Be Let

Contract for constructing the north leg of FM 700, extending from IS 20 to SH 350, will probably be awarded by Texas Highway Commission at its December letting, Joe Smoot, resident highway department engineer, said Saturday.

The county commissioners, according to Judge Lee Porter, have settled for all but one small piece of right of way for the road. This property is owned by Texas Electric Service Co. No disagreement over this easement exists—only the preparation of the proper papers needs to be completed.

By the time the contract date rolls around—Dec. 6-7—the right of way will be complete.

Smoot said that the money for the road is already allocated. About half a million dollars will be spent building the two and three quarter mile road to unite FM 700 with SH 350.

Construction, he said, will match the type on the present FM 700 highway. The south terminal of the road will be at the overpass on IS 20 which crosses FM 700. The road will cross over the Texas & Pacific Railway Co., ROW and go north and a little west for 2.75 miles.

Smoot said other than for the grade crossing over the railroad and a crossing over a railroad space to the TESCO switch plant, few structures will be needed.

Porter said that the task of getting the right of way has been slowed. Last of the needed land, with the exception of the TESCO property, was signed up last week. Porter said that total cost of the right of way will run about $4,000 to $7,000 higher than had been estimated.

The new road will tie into SH 350 at the point where the Gall highway intersects.

This leg is the first of two developments planned for FM 700. The second calls for extension of the present FM 700 road from Goliad Street east of US 87, across that federal highway and westward along the base of Scenic Mountain and north-west to rejoin US 80 at a point near the Sands Motel.

The county voted $600,000 bonds to finance acquisition of right of way for these two roads and for other needed major highway improvement.

Some negotiations have already been completed for right of way on the extension of the road to the west.

The state has promised to build the road when the right of way is cleared.

Cotton Men Complain Of Surprise Skip-Row Ruling

The Department of Agriculture brought a surprise punch up from the floor last week and joined West Texas cotton producers.

Ignoring what Congressman George Mahon called the "expressed wishes of Congress," Secretary Orville Freeman announced drastic changes in the skip-row pattern for planting cotton.

Both the familiar 2-rows-cotton-skipped and the 2-rows-cotton-2-rows-skipped patterns will find 30 per cent more acreage charged to cotton allotments.

COMPLAIN

West Texas producers were quick to complain that this amounts to an acreage cut. Mahon was bitter about the ruling.

"Both the House and Senate reports on the agriculture appropriation bill and the final Senate-House conference report recommended strongly against any changes in skip-row," he said.

While an appropriations bill is not a vehicle for legislation, the congressman nevertheless felt the secretary should have got the message. The original proposal last April 23 to change the patterns stirred a storm of protest.

"The proposed change is wholly unwarranted," said Mahon, "especially in view of the drastic changes and readjustments which must be made by farmers as a result of the new farm law. We already had enough farm problems without this additional blow."

The department edict left unchanged the patterns where four rows are skipped, but in Howard County only 8.5 per cent (6,389 acres) of the current crop are planted on a 4-row skipped pattern. Thus, 91.5 per cent (57,934 acres) are planted less than four rows skipped, and possibly the preponderance of this on a 2-and-2 basis. On either a one-row-skipped or two-row-skipped basis, the new regulations mean that 30 per cent more of the total land area will be charged to cotton.

HOW IT WORKED

Here is how skip-row planting worked: A farmer with a 50-acre cotton allotment uses the 2-rows-planted and 2-rows-skipped pattern. Under the present system he could utilize 100 acres of land and still be considered as being in compliance with his 50-acre cotton allotment. Under the new rules, 65 per cent of the land would be considered as planted to cotton. Therefore he would be able to spread his allotment over no more than 77 acres under the 2-and-2 pattern and still be considered in compliance with his cotton acreage allotment.

If a farmer has an 100-acre allotment he could plant, under present rules, 150 acres of land on a 2-in-and-1-out pattern. Next year if he utilizes the same system, he can scatter the 100-acre allotment only over 115.5 acres. This means a 23 per cent cut. Comparative figures on a 2-and-2 pattern show 100 acres allotment spread over 200 acres this year and only 153.8 acres next year, an 18.1 per cent cut. Farmers wanting to figure out how much land a given allotment may confer should use a factor, said J. D. Smith, president of Plains Cotton Growers. Two-in-1-out patterns will require multiplying the acreage allotment by 1.15; the 2-and-2 pattern by 1.33; the 4-in-2-out pattern by 1.30.

AGAINST YIELDS

Farmers Hit Monday By Micronaire Premiums

Cotton farmers, still dazed from passage of a cotton program sharply different from any seen before, were hit Monday by the imposition of micronaire premiums and discounts on government loan cotton.

Micronaire, or fiber fineness, is a fiber quality factor useful in determining spinning potential. Mill men and the trade have used "mike" readings to adjust cotton prices for some time. And this being the case, Donald A. Johnson, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., said: "Cotton farmers here and elsewhere generally find little or no basis for criticizing micronaire premiums and discounts on cotton that goes into the loan."

stick with less than 4-and-4 patterns will be taking what amounts to acreage cuts.

"The department has accommodated the interests of both cotton producers and the government in authorizing the revised rules," said the USDA announcement. "Widespread use of skip-row planting has contributed materially to the substantial cotton surplus build-up in recent years. These changes... should result in reducing carry-over stocks which will reach a record high level of 15.7 million bales on Aug. 1, 1966, by an estimated 1.3 million bales."

Here is what the new regulation does

DEFOLIATING GETS UNDER WAY

Light Frost Now Would Be Good For Cotton Harvest

Eighty per cent of the cotton in Howard County could be defoliated now, according to Herb Helbig, county farm agent. A light freeze within the next few days would be beneficial, he said. It would kill off the top growth—hastening the ripening process a little.

A hard frost would be both bad and good. In some fields it would do no harm; it would strip the plants of the leaves and at the same time pop open the nearly ripe bolls.

In other fields, a hard frost right now would cause damage. The plants need the latest possible date for a frost if the maximum production is to be realized. Some stripping has begun. A few fields are being defoliated, and there are loads of cotton to be seen in most gin yards.

The Texas Employment Commission reported that it had found 75 per cent of the crop open and 1,369 bales ginned as of Friday. The TEC observers said they see no reason to reduce the crop estimate of 40,000 to 45,000 bales.

TEC office in Midland reported Martin County has ginned 5,567 bales of its hail-reduced crop of 29,000 bales. Eighty-five per cent of the cotton is ready to harvest. Glasscock County has ginned

Office Classes 2,340 Bales

The Abilene classing office of the Consumer and Marketing Service last week handled samples from 2,340 bales ginned in Howard, Martin, Midland and Glasscock counties. The office processed 17,608 bales, but carried over 11,000 samples. (This is due to large-scale defoliation from Abilene south to San Angelo, putting many gins on a 24-hour basis). Total for the season is 99,518 bales.

Samples from this area showed 35 per cent white (a drop of 20 percentage points for the week), 61 per cent light spotted, 5 per cent spotted.

This is the other breakdowns on local-area samples:
Grade-2 per cent strict middling white, 20 middling white, 3 strict low middling white, 8 strict middling light spotted, 47 middling light spotted, 1 strict low middling light spotted, 2 strict middling light spotted, 3 middling spotted, 3 middling spotted.

Staple-3 per cent 74, 19 for 29.50, 19 for 15.14, 4 for 31.32, 3 for 1.42, 3 for 1.32, 15 for 1.14, 7 for 1.14, 1 for 1.14, 1 for 1.14.

Micronaire-1 per cent 2.729, 2 for 1.932, 18 for 3.332, 87 for 2.4-48; 1 for 4.851. (On the discount-premium system announced last week, area cotton averaged 50 cents a bale premium.)

Freight-2 per cent 2.74; 19 for 2.72; 47 for 88.84; 20 for 85.89; 10 for 90.94; 15 for 95 and over. (76-85 is average.)

"Even so," Johnson said, "High Plains farmers do have a legitimate gripe. The premiums and discounts were injected into the program just as the High Plains is beginning harvest operations while most of the cotton from other areas is already sold or in the loan."

The following schedule will apply to cotton entering the loan after Oct. 31 unless cotton was classed prior to Nov. 1 without a micronaire reading: 2.6 "mike" and below — 300-point discount; 2.7 to 2.9 — 165-point discount; 3.0 to 3.2 — 60-point discount; 3.3 to 3.5 — no discount or premium; 3.6 to 4.8 — 14-point premium; 4.9 to 5.1 — no premium or discount; 5.2 to 5.4 — 15-point discount; 5.5 and above — 50-point discount.

Four Training Sessions Set For Scouters

Noel E. Reed, district Boy Scout training committee chairman, announced four training sessions for this week.

Monday at 7:30 p.m., Cub Scout leader training is scheduled in the Texas Electric Service Co. conference room. Wednesday, Explorer Scout leader training will take place at 7 p.m. in the high school's visual aids room. Thursday at 7:30 p.m., Boy Scout leaders will train in the First Methodist Church. Saturday, junior leaders will train at the Scout Jamboree Grounds starting at 8:30 a.m. All patrol leaders and troop officers should be on hand for the session, Reed said.

Texas' Economic Boom Slips Some Last Month

AUSTIN (AP)—The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said Saturday that Texas' unparalleled economic boom slipped slightly last month, but not enough to mar the composite 1965 business picture.

Although there were declines in several of the barometers of Texas business in September, said the bureau in the Texas Business Review, "comparison of the results for the first nine months of 1965 with the like period of 1964 shows that business conditions are good."

The 1965 activity rating is 12 per cent of the 1964 showing for the first nine months.

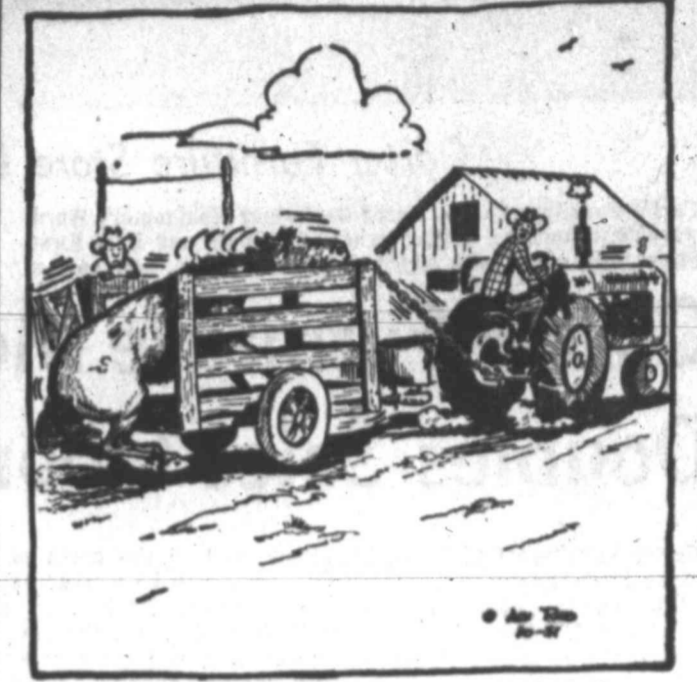

September unemployment of 3.1 per cent was called "particularly noteworthy."

"For practical purposes, this remarkably low figure approaches full employment, and it is evidence that at present Texas business is providing jobs for virtually all who seek them," the bureau said.

The account concluded that the generally favorable outlook for the national economy "implies that business conditions in the state will continue favorable."

San Antonio was the sole August-to-September gainer among the four largest cities, showing a 6 per cent increase. Beaumont and Amarillo showed

Walker Wins Libel Suit In Louisiana

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—A three-weeks trial of Edwin A. Walker's libel suit against The Associated Press and the New Orleans Times-Picayune Publishing Corp. has ended in a $3 million jury award to the former Army major general. Defense lawyers immediately moved in court Friday for a verdict set aside, on the ground that it exceeded the $2,250,000 mistrial and also to have the reserved decision on the motions. In his instructions to the jury, Judge William Woods discharged the all-male jury and jurors, he said. "No one may recover more for any item of damage than the amount sued for."

The charge resulted from his part in a sit-in sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality.

Similar suits filed by Walker against The Associated Press and newspapers in those cities have been dismissed in Denver, Kansas City and Louisville. In another suit, the AP, as sole defendant, is appealing a $500,000 libel judgment outstanding in favor of Walker in Fort Worth, Tex. Walker, 55, accused the AP of

Unknown Men Assault 'Bama Attorney General

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, suffering a cut and swollen jaw, said Saturday that he was the victim of an attack — apparently by two assailants — at a football game Friday night.

RICHMOND FLOWERS

The tall, red-haired official said that he and his brother, Dr. Paul Flowers of Dothan, Ala., had just left their seats at the Dothan-Lee High School football game when a young man described as a stranger about 20-25 years old, suddenly called him by name and reached out as though to shake hands. Flowers said that as he extended his own hand, the man suddenly grabbed it in both his, and a second man, appearing suddenly beside him, lashed out with his fist, catching Flowers in the mouth. Flowers said "it hit right on the button. I was out on my feet for a few seconds, staggering backwards."

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Connally proclaimed Oct. 31 through Nov. 7 as "Flags for Freedom Week in Texas" Saturday in connection with a statewide movement to demonstrate support of this country's role in the Viet Nam war.

He said his brother shouted "stop that man," but by then, "he had plowed through the crowd, knocking people aside." The state official said that he was "addled for about 20 minutes after it happened, and I had a blinding headache." Flowers has been an outspoken moderate on the racial question. He gained considerable national attention recently as prosecutor in the murder trial of a Ku Klux Klansman in Lowndes County in the slaying of Viola Liuzzo, a white civil rights worker. He said in the past that he has received threats. He declined to comment on the reason for the attack. He expressed the opinion, however, that the attack evidently had been planned in advance, in view of the timing of the two men involved. He said that he didn't see the man who threw the punch, which split his lip, and loosened several teeth. The other man was described by Flowers as "looking the typical thug."

the college problem won't go away

It won't until we do something about this crisis in higher education. Some colleges predict that they soon may have to turn away qualified high school graduates. If they do have to turn away these potential leaders, it will be because of shortages—in buildings, facilities, and especially qualified teachers. But we need leaders, more and more. Leaders manage and make wise use of our manpower, resources and human skills. Good leadership protects our high level in jobs, opportunities and living standards. This is everybody's concern. Make it yours. Give to the college of your choice.

Capt. McDaniel Plays Final Recital Today

A member of the Webb AFB family, who has found a warm spot in many music-lovers' hearts here, will leave in November for a tour of duty in Viet Nam.

CAPT. JAMES THOMAS McDANIEL

Capt. James Thomas McDaniel is equally adept at the complex controls of a jet airplane or the fascinating keyboard of an organ or piano. He has been at Webb since September, 1960, and has been in the Air Training Command since signing with the Air Force. Currently, he is in the Academic Section, but has previously served as a flight line instructor in the T-33 and T-37. His present work takes him into the T-38.

He goes from here to Eglin AFB, Fla., for a three-month checkout in the A1E Skyraider, a propeller-driven aircraft that can carry a bigger bomb load than the famed B-17 of World War II. The family includes his wife, Shirley, and two children, Jim, 7, and Susan, 2. They will remain in Richmond, Va., which is near the original home of the couple, while McDaniel is away at war. He is an aeronautical engineering graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and entered the Air Force in March, 1959. From the time he was a youngster, Capt. McDaniel had two loves: flying and music. He declines to claim a first love between them, but admits that music came first into his experience. At about seven years of age, he was singing soprano in the Boys' Choir of All Saints Episcopal Church. Later, as his voice changed, he began to study organ with the choirmaster of the church. This study has continued to the present day. While at Webb, he has earned 30 semester hours at Howard County Junior College, studying under Ira Schantz and Jack Hendrix. He is still studying with Allison Salley, at the First Presbyterian Church in Midland, and is the assistant there, also working with the choir. AT ST. MARY'S He was formerly organist and choir director at St. Mary's Episcopal Church here for about three years, and has played for a host of weddings, funerals, and other musical activities. He was dean one year of the West Texas chapter of the American Guild of Organists. Almost all of his training has been private instruction in his spare time. This has amounted to daily practice, at both the piano and organ. This afternoon, residents will have an opportunity at 5 p.m. to hear Capt. McDaniel in a final one hour recital before he leaves. It will be in the St. Mary's Episcopal Church, and all residents are invited. He will play selections of J. S. Bach and Cesar Franck, then turn to the contemporary and modern American works of Garth Edmundson. "There will be many familiar hymns in the afternoon's entertainment," he promised. Voluntary contributions to the recital will go to the church or fund, according to Rev. Don Hungerford, rector.

Young People Hold CROP Project Today

The local annual CROP Youth Project in Big Spring will be conducted today from 2 to 4 p.m. Uniting in the project will be youth groups of various churches in the city. Approximately 100 young people, of junior and senior high school age and older, will take part. CROP is the community appeal of Church World Service, which collects farm commodities and cash, through volunteer workers, for the overseas relief and rehabilitation programs of churches. Gifts to CROP are put to use under church supervision on the basis of need.

Halloween has come to mean CROP and a time of Christian sharing to the young people of Texas. It has come to be a time of collecting for others in a Christian ministry of compassion to a part of the world's starving population. Contributions received through this youth effort will be used to help provide handling and distribution of government-donated foods on the Food for Peace program as well as provide other assistance — high protein foods, emergency supplies, agricultural tools, seeds — not otherwise available to the overseas programs of the church. In some cases, the contributions will help the local farm canvass to make commodity shipments. Last year Texas young people collected over $53,000 for the program. This helped to provide 66,964 pounds of government-donated food, and other CROP shipments not otherwise available, for the overseas programs.

Job Corps For Convicts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announced Saturday it is considering a major job-training program to help convicts earn their way and stay out of trouble when they get out of prison. "Lack of job skills and subsequent unemployment and underemployment undoubtedly lead ex-prisoners back into trouble and prison," said Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. Wirtz said experimental studies show there is a sharp drop in parole violations among ex-convicts who land jobs that pay well.

Most ex-convicts need special help in finding jobs, yet "in the entire federal prison system there are only a total of 12 employment placement officers," a study by the department's Manpower Administration said. Wirtz said the training program would be for both federal and state convicts and would be developed with the help of the Justice and Welfare Departments. Wirtz said the planned program is in line with President Johnson's statement to Congress last March that "the long-run solution to crime is jobs, education and hope." The program announced by Wirtz would be aimed at developing comprehensive vocational guidance, remedial education and job training for prisoners. Wirtz said the Manpower Administration's study shows more than 100,000 convicts are released from federal and state prisons annually and that most are ill-prepared to earn a living. "It costs the economy an estimated $2 billion annually to maintain the entire penal system, including police, parole officers and the courts," Wirtz said. "Only a small percentage is now used for training programs." The Labor Department study shows that 40 per cent of ex-convicts earning less than $50 a month violate parole provisions, but the figure drops to 10 per cent among those making more than $275 a month. The study noted also that ex-convicts are hampered in many

Pre-Leg Meeting To Back Gossett

Robert Gossett, Big Spring, was chosen governor nominee from more than 325 young persons at the West Texas District No. 2 pre-legislative conference of the YMCA Saturday. Meeting at Howard County Junior College, the youths were preparing for the annual Youth in Government project in Austin in December. All are Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y members. Chosen as senate calendar clerk was Peggy Sheppard, Midland; as senate sergeant-at-arms, Cathy Chandler, San Angelo. Both officers will serve in these offices at Austin. The "governor" will be chosen in the Austin session. Two San Angelo girls were chosen as hearing committee co-holders of outstanding leadership. They are Mary Coleman, youth chairman; and Betty Edgington, youth clerk. The committee was chaired by HJCJ speech department head Martin Landers. Registration began at 8:30 a.m. The general session began one hour later with Robert Gossett, district president, in charge. The meeting ended at about 3:30 p.m. Club members from Midland, San Angelo, Abilene, Amarillo and Big Spring tossed their proposed bills into the hopper for criticism before taking them to Austin. Members of the Big Spring Bar Association and the Department of Public Safety served as resource personnel for committee hearings, where the proposed bills were discussed. After lunch, the delegates convened as a House of Representatives. Mack Frazier, Big Spring.

was speaker, and Jane Ryan, also from Big Spring, was journal clerk. For more than two hours, House sessions were conducted for familiarization of the delegates with parliamentary procedures. Susan Tally, Abilene, was in charge of the election of officers for the district governor nominee and the two Senate officers.

Resident Of 62 Years Dies Saturday

Mrs. Clara M. Dehlinger, 67, 703 Aylford, died at 2 p.m. Saturday in a local hospital after an illness of one week. She had lived here for 62 years. She was married to William Dehlinger Aug. 2, 1916, in Big Spring. A lifelong member of the First Methodist Church, Mrs. Dehlinger was a charter member of the Susan Wesley Sunday School class. Services will be today at River - Welch Chapel, Rev. Harold Rucker, associate pastor of First Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in City Cemetery. Survivors include the husband; a daughter, Mrs. J. C. Lewis, Monahans; a son, William Dehlinger Jr., Abilene; and three grandchildren. Pallbearers will be Marion Rice, E. R. Sullivan, A. H. Alexander, Trevlyn Kelley, L. M. Brooks and Eliot Williams.

During the week traffic mishaps dropped sharply in the city. One day was "wreckless." Whether it was the police radar being moved around or some other cause, we're grateful for it. This shows what we can do in curbing accidents — and in so doing save injuries and perhaps lives.

Lakeview School is going to get another access road. The city came to a decision last week on a road that angles from Sixth to Seventh, but it will provide a better and safer way for scores of youngsters.

Sunday funerals appear to be about a thing of the past here. Responding to requests from morticians, ministers, singers, and others, the city commission ordered no more Sunday burials in City Cemetery and Trinity Memorial Park said it would follow a similar policy.

Big Spring and the railroad fraternity are losing a good friend with the transfer of Ray H. Blessingame, superintendent of the T&P's western division, to Corpus Christi with the Missouri Pacific. This is Blessingame's third hitch here, so he's almost an "old timer."

St. Mary's Episcopal Church has embarked upon a $125,575 enlargement program which will provide a handsome new sanctuary and result in the present hall being used as a parish hall. Considering that the present plant is relatively young, the new step is a tribute to remarkable growth.

Several well known residents were called to their reward last week — Mrs. Reese Adams, member of a prominent farm family and a resident for nearly 50 years, John A. Wolf, who came to Coahoma 45 years ago, and Mrs. Mary Locke, who has constantly busy with civic and church work from the moment she came here in 1941. We dearsay that after that opening concert of the current season for the Big Spring Concert Association, Arthur Fiedler and his Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra, plus pianist Ozan Masah, can come back almost anytime. At the end Fiedler got a standing ovation, and we can't remember that happening before.

Women Praise Viet Policies

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Texas Federation of Republican women praised President Johnson's Viet Nam policy Saturday and deplored demonstrations against the policy. The resolution said the women "commend valiant fighting men in Viet Nam and deplore un-American tactics of those who try to publicly discredit our forces."

Mrs. George Pearson of Tyler succeeded Mrs. L.M. Cox of San Antonio as president. Other officers elected were vice presidents Mrs. Tom Gee, Austin; Mrs. Bradley Streeter, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Ralph E. Brasse, Amarillo; Mrs. Porter Massey, Dallas; Mrs. Barner Johnson, Dallas; Mrs. Russell Roach, Houston; secretaries Mrs. Frank Hufsmith, Corpus Christi, and Mrs. William Robinson, Corsicana, and treasurer Mrs. Bob Paxton, Midland. Sen. John Tower spoke to the women last night at a banquet amidst pleas for a hard campaign push for his re-election.

AUSTIN (AP) — Oswald Fell, 68, a Chicago artist who created stained glass windows for churches across the nation and in Europe, died Saturday of cancer.

Not Much Chance For A-Powered Destroyers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy probably will get Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's approval of funds for a second nuclear-powered carrier in the new military budget, but the prospect for A-powered destroyers still is dim. Indications Saturday are that McNamara will adhere to his statement to a congressional committee last winter that he believed "we will request your authority to construct a carrier with nuclear power in the fiscal 1967 budget, which is now being worked on in the Pentagon. But there is nothing now to suggest that testimony of Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, made public last week, had changed the opinion of McNamara that the cost of atomic destroyers still is too high.

The present carrier Enterprise has eight atomic reactors in its propulsion plant. In 1962, the Navy proposed one with four reactors. Advances in the design of more efficient nuclear power production mean a carrier could require only two reactors. This, said McNamara, "so increases the efficiency of the carrier and reduces the cost that I think it will make it possible to justify nuclear propulsion for that vessel." But on the question of building another nuclear-powered destroyer-type ship now — the official designation is "frigates" — McNamara's contention has been this: "It would cost at least $50 mil-

Anti-Viet Prof Loses His Job

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP) — Brent Davis, a speech instructor who has spoken out against American policy in Viet Nam and whipping of state prison convicts, lost his job at Arkansas A&M College Friday. Davis, 27, from Orange, Tex., said the letter of dismissal he received from Dr. Claude Babin, college president, gave no reason for the dismissal. Davis has been controversial since he arrived in September. He once decorated his office with a portrait of Malcolm X, the Black Muslim leader. This came down, but he placed on his office door a picture of a Viet Cong captive being kicked by a South Viet Nam government soldier and added the caption, "Find the good guys."

REQUIREMENTS ARE VERY SIMPLE

Medicare Is Free, Just Sign Up

By TOM BARRY
This is for everyone 65 years old or over, or who will be soon. Everyone, that is but subversives, and aliens who have not lived in the U. S. for at least five years. Spies and "furriners" may turn to the comics. The rest kindly read on.

You lucky people can get hospitalization insurance free, no strings attached. Social Security, under the "Medicare" program, is trying to give away this insurance, and would like all those eligible to come and get it.

JUST SIGN UP

Most of you won't even have to go to the Social Security office to become covered by the plan. Don't bother to unless you have worked under Social Security but have never applied for benefits, or have never worked under Social Security. And don't worry; all you have to do is sign your name to a paper and you're covered. It does not matter whether you've ever worked a day in your life, or if you're richer than Aristotle Onassis and have a billion bucks in insurance. You're still entitled to the insurance. All you have to be is 65 years old.

Social Security employees want you to sign up for the policy between now and March 31, 1966. If you are now 65, or will be on or before March 31, go to the office and at least talk to the people. If you miss the deadline, you'll have to wait another year before you can get the policy.

Those who are already getting benefits, or railroad retirement, or federal civil service retirement annuity, or public assistance payments, will be informed about the policy via mail, or from the public assistance (welfare) agency where you get your checks.

FREE INSURANCE

What do you get? First of all, you get free hospital insurance. If you want, for a premium of $3 monthly you can also get medical insurance — but more of that later.

First of all, consider the free hospital insurance. This is to help you pay bills when you are in a hospital — any hospital, from the smallest approved clinic to the biggest in the country. For 60 days in a hospital (which Social Security calls a "period of illness") you pay only the first $40. Medicare pays the rest. If perchance you have to stay longer than 60 days, the insurance will pay all bills, except $10 per day, which you'll pay, for an additional 30 days of care.

It will also pay for up to 100 days in a mental hospital, but for no more. Whether you stay 50 days once and have to go back for more, when 100 days of treatment are over, mental treatment stops. It won't cover dentists' bills, but if you have to go to a hospital as a result of dental treatment (no reflection on the dentists) it'll pay as usual. Chiropractors' bills are not covered.

DIAGNOSTIC SERVICES

The program will pay 80 per cent of the cost for diagnostic services you receive as a hospital outpatient for 20 days, except you pay the first $20 for each 20 day period.

None of this means you can only be sick for 90 days. If you get sick, let's say for 90 days, you're covered. The only catch is, you must be out of the hospital, free of treatment, for 60 days before the policy will pay off again. In short, the policy pays forever, as long as you're not sick for more than 90 days at a time, and you stay out of the hospital for at least 60 days between "spells of illness."

That's not all you get. If you've been in the hospital for at least three consecutive days, the policy will cover care in skilled nursing-homes or other extended care facilities for 20 days. If you need treatment for more than 20 days, the program will pay all but $5 daily for another 80 days.

For up to 100 visits during the year following your discharge from a hospital or extended care unit (if you were there at least three days), visits by visiting nurses, physical therapists, other health workers, but not doctors, the policy will pay all costs. In a hospital or extended care unit, benefit payments will cover, except for noted deductions, the cost of your room and board in semi-private accommodations, ordinary nursing services, drugs, supplies and most other items.

SUPPLEMENTAL

Want more? Then sign up for the supplementary medical insurance Social Security offers. It will cost you $3 a month. This small monthly payment will pay your doctor bills. The other (free) policy won't. The government matches your $3 payment.

You get for your $3: Payment of 80 per cent of the doctors' bills covered, except for the first $50 in a year. But, since the program does not begin until July 1, next year, bills run up before that don't count toward the $50 for 1966.

It also pays physicians' and surgeons' services, no matter if you get them at home, a doctor's office, a clinic or a hospital. Up to 100 home health visits each year. No need for prior hospitalization. Yes, this is in addition to the 100 visits provided under the free plan.

Finally, the $3 monthly gets bills paid for diagnostic tests, X-ray or radium treatments, surgical dressings, splints, casts, certain ambulance services, braces, artificial legs, arms, and eyes, rental of such things as iron lungs and much more.

DON'T CANCEL

This is most important: Don't cancel any insurance policy you now have! Neither of these policies takes effect until July, 1966. Any bills you run up before then won't be paid by Medicare.

If you're 65 by the first day of 1966, you must sign up before March 31, 1966 to be covered when the program starts that July.

If you're 65 after New Year's Day 1966, wait seven more months (beginning with the third month before the month of your birthday), then sign up. Example: If you reach 65 in February, 1966, you may sign up between Nov. 1, this year, and May 31, 1966. Simple.

Why should you enroll now? If you pass up the first opportunity, you won't get another chance until 1967. Also you will pay a higher premium, and your coverage won't start for another six or nine months after you finally enroll.

YOU'RE ENTITLED

Bear in mind that you are entitled to the policies (unless you are Mata Hari or an alien), no matter what! If you are working it won't affect anything. If you aren't working, it won't affect anything. Rich, poor, insured, non-insured — none of these matter. You are, as the man said, entitled. Get in touch with the Social Security office. All you can possibly lose is a headache caused by medical bills. The address in Big Spring is 1009 Gregg.

Regional Choir Auditions Set Here, Concert Jan. 15

The All Region VI Choir auditions will be held in Big Spring Nov. 6 at the high school auditorium. Fifty-nine schools are eligible to participate in all classes. Selected students will be announced to directors of their choirs and may register, before leaving Big Spring, to receive all-region patches at the regional concert here Jan. 15.

Mel Ivey, director of the Big Spring High School choir, will be the regional vocal chairman.

The all-state choir membership will be announced after the final auditions to be held in Big Spring Jan. 15, the same date as the all-region choir concert.

Region VI extends from Abilene and Anson on the east, and Plains, Denver City, Jayton and Stamford on the north, to Ozona, Sanderson and San Angelo on the south and Marfa, Presidio and Pecos on the west.

Registration will begin at 8 a. m. Saturday at the high school auditorium where each auditioner will be given a numbered badge as his only identification. Each will wait in the auditorium until a brief warm-up of the audition number is given at 8:30 a. m. Following the warm-up, student guides will take the first quartets to their warm-up rooms for practice together for auditions.

In the quartet auditions, students will sing "Praise Ye The Lord," "Ye Children" by Tye, and "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes", all from memory. Students may not wear letter jackets, sweaters, or other articles which would identify them with their schools when they enter the audition room. Any disclosure of name, school or director's name, will result in immediate disqualification.

A judge will give instructions in the audition room and establish tempo for contestants.

For individual auditions, the procedure will be the same as for quartet auditions except that students will not have any time in the warm-up room. Student numbers will be called and each student will be escorted to and from the individual audition room, and must then remain in the auditorium after auditions are completed.

The certification fee for each student selected for the all-region choir will be $2.50. Membership in the all-region choir is required for all-state choir members.

Grant Serves On Panel At Workshop

Gary Grant, Howard County Junior College, will serve as a panel member of the program for the annual fall workshop of the District IV, Texas Joint English Committee for School and College, at Andrews High School Nov. 6. About six English faculty members from Big Spring secondary schools are expected to attend the meeting, and four will go from HCJC.

Teachers from 17 area cities will begin registering at 9:30 a. m. next Saturday. The meeting will end at 2 p. m.

Theme of the convention is "The Place of World Literature in the Curricula." A panel discussion on this topic will be led by Mary L. Roach, Odessa College. Other panel members will include Sallie Switzer, Dowling Elementary School, Odessa; Estelle Bowley, Kermit Junior High School; Faye Leeper, Lee High School, Midland; and Grant.

Dr. Robert A. Montgomery, superintendent of Andrews schools, will give the welcome address. Invocation will be given by Bordie Hutchinson, Andrews High School principal.

John Vandenberg, chairman of the English department of Andrews High School, is general chairman of the convention. Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, Odessa College English department, is program chairman.

Speaker for the afternoon session will be R. W. Durrett Jr., audio-visual supervisor for the Odessa Public Schools.

Alumni Honor Given Roberts

ABILENE — Hardin-Simmons University's top alumni honor, the John J. Keeter Jr. Memorial Award, was presented Saturday to Thomas E. Roberts, veteran H-SU trustee and superintendent of Hendrick Home for Children here.

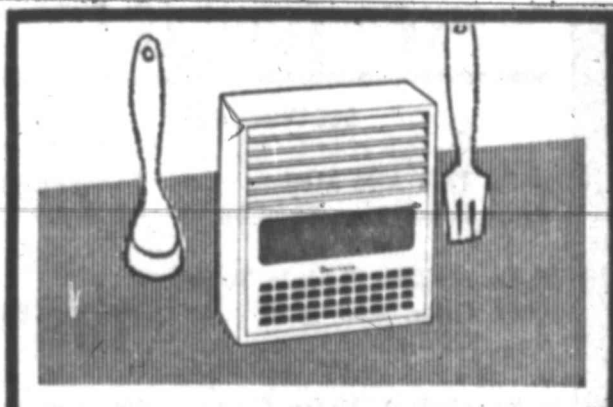

Other highlights of the luncheon was the introduction of officers of the alumni association of 1965-66 and announcement of the newly elected officers for 1966-67.

Elected last year to serve for the 1965-66 school year are James Castle, Abilene, president; Frank Lawson, Dallas, Mrs. Bill Ellis, Abilene, Hal Haralson, San Antonio, John Earl Seelig, vice presidents; Mrs. Wayland Yates, San Angelo, secretary; and James Fleming, Dallas, chaplain.

Gregg Lum, 21-year-old Honolulu, Hawaii, native, was crowned University Queen in coronation ceremonies Friday night to launch Hardin-Simmons' two-day homecoming.

Razorbacks Swarm By Texas Aggies

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Speedy Bobby Burnett boiled for a pair of touchdowns and opened the gates to second-ranked Arkansas' 19th straight victory...

The Razorbacks kept their Southwest Conference lead by pushing their record to 4-0.

The 190-pound Burnett turned on his 9.7 speed and burst into the end zone on runs from the 1 and 7 and piled up 81 yards rushing in the first half against a stubborn crew of Cadets.

The Razorbacks, with the nation's longest college winning streak, tied A&M's 1939-40 conference record for consecutive victories and Texas' 1962-64 conference record of 12 straight league triumphs.

The inspired Aggies blunted Arkansas' first six possessions and turned the first 22 minutes into a punting duel. Then Burnett supplied the power for an 80-yard, 7-play march that broke the ice with 6:33 left in the second quarter. He gained 39 yards in the drive and got the score from the one.

Arkansas scored on its next three possessions, going 77 yards in 9 plays for Burnett's touchdown from the 7, and then marching to a 23-yard field goal by Ronny South for a 17-0 halftime lead.

Defensive end Bobby Roper recovered a fumble that led to the Razorbacks' second touchdown and his pass interception set up the field goal.

Quarterback Jon Brittenum, finding the Aggie defenses looser after Burnett's show, hit 9 of 29 pass attempts for 138 yards, including a 12-yarder to wingback Jim Lindsey for a touchdown.

South later threw a 34-yarder to end Bob Crockett for another Razorback score.

Burnett passed teammate Harry Jones to take the conference rushing lead with 594 yards. Jones is second with 565 yards. Burnett also moved into the lead in scoring, along with Texas Tech's Donny Anderson. Each has 40 points.

The Aggies' deepest penetration of the night carried to the Arkansas 15, their only trip inside the Razorback 20.

A 42-yard pass interference penalty against Arkansas gave the Aggies a first down at the Razorback 22, and in four plays they got to the 15, where they gave up the ball on downs.

Georgia Topples Tar Heels, 47-35

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Fullback Dan Jenkins and quarterback Lynn Hughes scored three touchdowns each as Georgia came from behind with a vicious offense to defeat North Carolina 47-35 Saturday.

The crowd of 43,000 was limp at the whirlwind finish that saw Georgia score 26 points in the final quarter after North Carolina had gone ahead 35-21 in the third period.

Georgia broke the game open in the last five minutes with three quick touchdowns. A 31-yard scoring run by quarterback Preston Riddlehuber sent Georgia into a 40-35 lead. The Bulldogs scored again when Hughes rammed over from the four after North Carolina gambled on fourth down and lost possession on its 24.

Trailing 35-21, Georgia scored early in the fourth quarter when Hughes went over from the one. Minutes later the Bulldogs added another touchdown when they drove 65 yards when Hughes scoring from the one.

With the score 35-34 in favor of North Carolina, the Bulldogs gambled on a two-point pass conversion which failed.

On the next kickoff, North Carolina fumbled and Georgia's Billy Cioer recovered on the Tar Heel 47. With 2:58 remaining, Riddlehuber raced 31 yards to the end zone. The Tar Heels took the kickoff and gambled on a fourth down with six to go on their 24. A pass failed and Georgia took over and went on to its final touchdown with Hughes going over from the four.

Washington State killed three fourth quarter OSU drives by intercepting passes, as OSU quarterback Paul Brothers continued to have trouble throwing the ball.

Rutgers Crushed By Boston Univ.

BOSTON (AP) — Senior halfback Dave LaRoche scored three touchdowns Saturday as alert Boston University capitalized on several breaks to crush Rutgers 30-0.

LaRoche, a converted quarterback from Rochester, N.H., smashed over from one and two yards out to score BU's first two touchdowns. Later, he grabbed a pass from sophomore Tom Thornton to complete a 47-yard scoring play.

Purdue Upset By Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Fullback Jim Grabowski's record-breaking rushing swept underdog Illinois to 21-0 victory over frustrated Purdue Saturday, dealing a final blow to Boilermaker Big Ten football title hopes.

Purdue, seemingly still stunned by last Saturday's 14-10 loss to top-ranked Michigan State, was personally manhandled by Grabowski, who smashed 163 yards on 36 carries.

Grabowski's performance, including a one yard touchdown smash for a 7-0 Illinois lead in the first quarter, broke an unofficial all-time career rushing mark for a Big Ten player.

Illinois led 7-0 after a 13-0 Purdue lead in the first quarter. Illinois scored on a 13-yard pass to end the first quarter. Illinois scored on a 13-yard pass to end the first quarter.

Texas Accepts Third Consecutive Defeat

DALLAS (AP) — Sophomore Jim Hagle's 93-yard touchdown run broke open a tight game and Ronnie Reel's 36-yard return of an intercepted pass clinched it Saturday as Southern Methodist beat Texas 31-14 to stay in the running for the Southwest Conference football championship. Southern Methodist jammed three touchdowns into the final period to humiliate the proud longhorns. AGONY EXTENDED Southern Methodist was beating Texas for the first time in six years and it was the first time in 10 years for Texas to lose three games in a row. SMU now has a 2-1 conference record and has yet to play Arkansas, the leader with 3-0 going into Saturday night's game with Texas A&M.

A crowd of 48,000 rocked the Cotton Bowl as the Mustangs, who won only one game in 10 last season, won a battle of breaks.

Dennis Partee's 28-yard field goal and Mike Livingston's 32-yard pass that John Roderick wrestled away from Harry Harris and Gary Moore in the end zone gave SMU a 10-0 lead at the half.

Texas broke into the scoring column in the third period after a short kick by Corky Terry set the Longhorns up on the SMU 17. Texas scored in six plays with Bob Leach running across from the three.

PASS HELPS But Southern Methodist exploded for three touchdowns in the final period—on Hagle's great run—the third longest in conference history—Reel's interception and a 45-yard pass from Livingston to Roderick.

Texas got its second touchdown in the final period on a 44-yard drive with sophomore Greg Lott, who took over from Marvin Kristynik, the veteran Texas quarterback who had a bad day, pounding over from seven yards out.

The crowd went wild. It was the first time SMU ever scored 31 points on Texas and was one of the toughest beatings the Longhorns ever absorbed. SMU now has a 3-2-1 season record, Texas 4-3. The latter is out of the conference race for the first time in six years.

FIELD GOAL DOES IT Huskers Fight Back To Win

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Fred Duda, a tricky runner and bold passer, led third-ranked Nebraska in a tremendous comeback to a 16-14 victory over Missouri Saturday.

A winning 26-yard field goal by Larry Wacholtz with 5:66 left in the game capped Nebraska's uphill fight after trailing 14-0 in the first quarter.

Nebraska's victory, seventh in a perfect season, made Bob Devaney's club an overwhelming favorite to sweep on to the Big Eight football championship. A record crowd of 58,000 watched the Tigers fall to 4-2-1 for the season, 3-1 in the league.

Quarterback Gary Lane led Missouri to two touchdowns their first two times with the ball for their 14-0 first quarter lead. The Huskers stormed back behind Duda, cutting it to 14-13 at halftime.

The running of Duda and 217-pound sophomore Charlie Winters led the winning drive.

Sul Ross Wins 13th In Row

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—Sul Ross battled from behind twice to drop Texas A&I 24-13 Saturday and remain the only undefeated college team in Texas.

Texas A&I put Sul Ross in the hole early in the first period, moving 80 yards for a touchdown. The score came on a 22-yard pass from Randy Johnson to Dwayne Nix.

Sul Ross then covered 85 yards in 11 plays and Jacob Henry went over from the three.

Sul Ross led 7-6 at the half, but Texas A&I's Johnson raced 25 yards for a touchdown early in the third period.

Texas A&I lost the lead for good as the result of a fumble on its 36. Sul Ross recovered and scored in three plays. Luz Pedraza passing the last eight to JI Stapleton.

Sul Ross iced the game with minutes remaining, moving 80 yards in five plays. Henry carried the final two yards.

The win was the 13th straight for Sul Ross.

Top-Rated Spartans Win Over Wildcats, 49-7

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bury Bob Apisa, star sophomore fullback from Hawaii, led the way and No. 1-ranked Michigan State crushed North-western 49-7 Saturday after allowing an early Wildcat touchdown.

Northwestern scored a homecoming crowd of 74,215 by jumping ahead with a 7-0 lead on its first series of plays in the opening period.

Apisa, the leading Big Ten scorer going into the game, rammed in for two touchdowns, and right half Clint Jones made one before the half end to put MSU back into control of the game with a 21-7 lead.

State kept piling on the scores in the second half for the largest MSU win margin this season.

The rout left Michigan State the only unbeaten Big Ten team and still the runaway front-runner in its bid for the conference title and a Rose Bowl bid.

The Northwestern early counter came on a freakish play. Sophomore quarterback Dennis Booth fumbled, but Larry Gates pounced on the loose ball in the end zone for the touchdown.

Arencibia Loses In Midland Play

MIDLAND—Tito Arencibia of Big Spring lost out in consolation of the fourth annual Bobo Invitational Handball tournament here Saturday to Charles Lloveras of El Paso here Saturday, 21-13, 21-20.

Arencibia, Big Spring's lone entry in the 32-player meet, was beaten in first round play Friday by Boris Orin, Austin, 21-13, 21-11.

Hoosiers Upend Iowans, 21-17

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Frank Stavroff came off the bench and guided Indiana, to a 21-17 victory over Iowa Saturday after the Hawkeyes' Dick Gibbs had rocked the Hoosiers with two early haymakers.

The victory was Indiana's first in Big Ten football competition this season. Winless Iowa was driven deeper into the conference cellar.

Interceptions of Gary Snook, passes by Ken Hollister and Trent Walters set up two Indiana touchdowns, and a punt by Tom Eickstead that bounced out of bounds on the Iowa one-yard line put the Hawkeyes in a hole that gave the Hoosiers another scoring chance.

Sul Ross iced the game with minutes remaining, moving 80 yards in five plays. Henry carried the final two yards.

The win was the 13th straight for Sul Ross.

Cal Bears Edge By Penn State

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — California's 155-pound Jerry Bradley grabbed a deflected 45-yard pass in the end zone with the clock showing no time remaining to bring underdog California a 21-17 victory over Penn State Saturday in their intersectional football clash.

Seventh-Ranked Gators Are Shocked By Auburn

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Quarterback Alex Bowden threw two touchdown passes and linebacker Bill Cody scored on a pass interception and a recovered fumble Saturday to give Auburn a 28-17 upset football victory over seventh-ranked Florida.

A crowd of 45,000 howling fans saw Auburn win its 15th homecoming game in a row, this one a regionally televised affair. It was Florida's 11th consecutive unsuccessful attempt to beat the Tigers on Auburn's home grounds.

An inspired, come-from-behind Auburn team struck with swift fury for 14 points in the third quarter after a listless first half had netted the Tigers only 11 yards rushing and 44 in the air.

Second-stringer Bowden gave the victorious Tigers the lift they needed. Regular quarterback Tom Bryan had had no luck moving the ball against a tough Gator defense in the Southeastern Conference game.

Florida's flashy quarterback, Steve Spurrier, connected for two touchdown passes.

Tigers Upset By Ole Miss

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi, playing like the mighty Rebel teams of the past, stunned crippled Louisiana State 23-0 Saturday and virtually knocked the fifth-ranked Tigers out of the Southeastern Conference football race.

Hard-hitting Mississippi defenders captured four LSU fumbles and picked off three passes as the Tigers bowed for the second time in three conference games.

Three of the LSU errors were converted into Mississippi points as the rebounding Rebels rolled to their third straight triumph.

Halfback Mike Dennis scored twice for Mississippi, on a one-yard run and a five-yard sprint.

Louisiana State, which had averaged 24 points a game in winning five of its first six starts, never threatened as its attack sputtered with quarterback Nelson Stokley on the sidelines.

The LSU passing and running standout hurt a leg when he was tackled in the first quarter and never returned.

Chicago Bears Try Green Bay Today

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Green Bay's Packers, who have muscled to an all-winning record, collide Sunday with an old rival just getting into the victory swing, the Chicago Bears.

This match at Chicago is one of several key games in the National Football League. The Packers, methodical and murderous, haven't displayed the usual disciplined domination this season. They have won six straight and top the Western Division.

The Bears have won three in a row after dropping their first three, including a 23-14 decision at Green Bay four weeks ago.

The Cleveland Browns, 5-1 and leader in the East, entertain Minnesota's erratic Vikings. St. Louis' Cardinals, a step behind the Browns at 4-2, meet the Giants at New York. The Baltimore Colts, a step behind Green Bay in the west at 5-1, play the 49ers at San Francisco.

The Dallas Cowboys take on the Steelers at Pittsburgh, Detroit's Lions play the Rams at Los Angeles and the Philadelphia Eagles meet the Redskins at Washington.

The Packers have shown their over-all strength even in scrambling. They haven't steamrolled as expected, but they've shown depth and resourcefulness.

The Bears have been winning, too, due in a large measure to halfback Gale Sayers. Rudy Bukich, who has supplanted Starr as the league's leading passer, also has been a big factor.

Cleveland will throw Jimmy Brown and the passing of Frank Ryan at the Vikings, who have scored 202 points but given up 201. Behind quarterback Fran Tarkenton, Minnesota rallied for a 42-41 decision over San Francisco last week — but with the Browns' ball-control capabilities, Sunday's score is not apt to be so stratospheric.

With a sound Charley Johnson quarterbacking, the Cardinals are a solid favorite over the Giants. Johnson sat out injured last week, and Washington upset St. Louis 24-20.

Baltimore must keep winning to stay within reach of the Packers. San Francisco could prove a tough test of the Colts.

Pittsburgh won its first of the season last week, against Philadelphia, but it's a longshot that the Steelers can make it two straight with Dallas' rugged defense to contend with. Philadelphia at Washington is another pairing of Eastern also-rans.

COAHOMA — Coach Spike Dykes' blazing red demons celebrated Halloween two days early Friday night by blasting a good Rotan Yellowhammer team, 46-14, on the brilliant play of quarterback Marshall Williams and fullback tough Tony Butler; the Gog and Magog of District 6-A. While so doing, the Bulldogs doubtless gathered in the district championship to add to their growing bone-pile.

Coach Dykes, while pretending to be worried about the highly regarded Yellowhammers all week long, was actually mumbling Transylvanian incantations over his kettle of witches' brew, made up of the remains of eye of Newt and seven previous victims. The charm worked, and the bearded Yellowhammers suffered complete paralysis as a result.

OFFENSE FIZZLES
Defensively, the several-headed

ed Cerebus put large lumps on Rotan offensive attempts. Much of the slaughter was done by chief Hounder Bobby Pherigo, who weighs 150 but plays like Horatio at the bridge.

Things got off to a rousing start when Rotan fumbled the kickoff on its own 19. Four plays later, Williams passed six yards to Pherigo (who plays both ways) for the six-pointer with 8:35 left in the first stanza. Mike Mosley booted the extra point.

Rotan made a game of it for one quarter and 30 seconds, though.

An interception of a Williams pass allowed the methodical 'Hammers to pound 42 yards to Nirvana. It took 11 plays to do it. Halfback Larry Van Loon did the honors from a yard out. Kick failed. There were 30 seconds gone in the second period. Then the Bulldog Colossus went wild. Taking in the Yellowhammer kick on their own 30, the undefeated, untied 'Dogs moved in five plays to increase their margin. Terry Denton's stirring 39-yard run set up the score on the 'Hammer one, and Williams kept behind center for the tally. Williams then ran for the two extra digits with 9:35 remaining in the half.

OGLESBY SCORES

At bit later, Coahoma accepted a punt on the Rotan 48. The clever Bulldogs slipped in sub quarterback Wayne Oglesby, the fastest man on the squad, and on the first play he kept around right end for 48 yards and the score. With 6:25 left in the first half, Mosley booted the extra point.

In six more plays, after holding the 'Hammer offense, the 'Dogs moved 54 yards to totally sink the visitors' hopes. A Williams - to - Pherigo pass took only one yard, but added six counters. Mosley missed the boot with 2:03 left. The half-time score stood 28-6.

The Yellowhammers, which team had lost but on previous contest, and that to a Class AA team, came back for the second half looking still ready to play, but . . . But. After the kickoff was returned to the 25, quarterback Williams handed to the 197-pound Butler, who broke tackles like Paul Bunyan broke matchsticks and crashed 75 yards to score. Mosley booted the point, and with 11:30 left in the third stanza, the 'Hammers were done. Later in the third, Johnny Gibson raced 29 yards to score and Williams kept for two points.

TORRES IN ACT
With 7:40 left in the game, Eddie Torres broke for 60 yards to the 'Hammer one-inch line. Desperate to hold down the score, Dykes ordered a field goal attempt on the next play. Mosley obliged. 46-6.

Rotan managed to score once more, moving 77 yards in 12 plays, a James Tompkins-Don Sexton pass for six yards being the scoring play. Tompkins ran right end for the two gray points with 2:22 left to play. End of game. Coahoma is now 8-0, Rotan, 6-2.

Dallas Cowboys Try Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steeler secondary had an afternoon against the Philadelphia Eagles and maybe should enjoy things while they can — for this Sunday the same secondary must halt Bob Hayes, Buddy Dial and Frank Clarke.

These three are the Dallas Cowboys primary receivers and they must be ranked with the toughest pass catchers in the National Football League.

All veteran pro fans know how Dial and Clarke rip up anybody's defense, but now they have been joined by Hayes, the Olympic sprinting champ.

Cowboy Head Coach Tom Landry mentioned after Dallas' heartbreaking loss to the Green Bay Packers, that if his quarterbacks were having any kind of a passing afternoon "we would have upset the champs."

His defensive unit, now one of the best in both divisions, held the balanced Packers to a single touchdown and that came when they recovered a fumble on Dallas' seven-yard line.

"All we need to do is get our passing game in top gear," Landry said. "Our offensive line is the best we've ever had here (the Cowboys are in their sixth season). Our defense has been playing a very strong game and our kicking game is improving each week."

Shorthorns Wallop Midland Lee, 26-8

Big Spring's B team made it a week for local football buffs to remember by handing a convincing 26-8 drubbing here Saturday afternoon to a Midland Lee club that brought a solid reputation.

The Shorthorns, now in the midst of a three-game winning streak, were strapped by penalties throughout the afternoon or the score would have been higher.

Lee drove 50 yards, largely with the help of infractions against Big Spring and against Big Spring reserves, to score in the final seconds of play.

Cadets Upset By Colgate

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Colgate overcame a two-touchdown deficit in the final period and upset Army Saturday 29-28 when Ray Eg, a linebacker and part time fullback, ran nine yards for a touchdown and Larry Stankovits added the vital extra point.

Trailing 28-14 after Army's Curt Cook had scored his second touchdown early in the final period, Colgate bounced back with two quick scores within 50 seconds.

Jim Buckley started Colgate on the way with a 53-yard runback of a kickoff, and Marv Hubbard slammed into the end zone on a 13-yard run while juggling the football.

A fumble on the handoff was recovered by Colgate's Jim Schneider on the Army nine in the first series of plays on the next kickoff. Eg, a 6-foot, 205-pound junior, powered over right guard for the touchdown that tied the game at 28-28.

Stankovits, whose placement try after a Colgate touchdown in the first period was wide, made good this time.

Schneider also intercepted an Army pass on the Colgate 18, stalling an Army drive late in the final period. Tom Wilson picked off a desperation pass by Cook in the end zone on the last play of the game.

Colgate scored in the first period on Buford Platt's 17-yard pass to Port. Army smashed back with three touchdowns in the second quarter.

Paul Biffle had a hand in the effort with some fifty runs, too.

Lee tried a couple of times to get on the board in the waning minutes but a fumble recovery by Charley Tubb at the Dogie 18 stopped the first drive.

Ultimately Gregg Frazier passed nine yards to Richard Ramsey for the Lee score and Ramsey added the two points on a run.

Big Spring got a fine effort from its interior line and its linebackers.

The win left the Shorthorns with a 3-4 record while Lee, who had defeated Snyder, San Angelo and Andrews earlier, is currently 2-3.

The locals take on Cooper here Saturday afternoon. The victory completed a sweep for Big Spring teams from the eighth grade level on up for the week.

A total of six local teams were in action from Thursday night on, and all six won.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia Tech twice had to battle from behind Saturday before marking up its fifth straight football victory, 35-23 over a determined band of Duke Blue Devils.

Tech's Yellow Jackets, who have lost one and tied one, finally put the game on ice when linebacker Randall Edmunds intercepted a pass from Duke quarterback Todd Orvald and rambled 29 yards for the touchdown.

Bunky Henry's conversion kick made it 28-16.

The score came only one minute after Tech had come from behind for the second time as fullback Doc Harvin plunged over from the Duke one. The Jackets moved 71 yards in 11 plays in that drive, including passes from Tech's sophomore quarterback Kim King for 10 yards to tailback Lenny Snow and for 20 and 19 to end Gary Williams.

Michigan Lashes Badgers, 50-14

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan, scoring on a 52-yard pass from Wally Gabler to Jack Clancy on its first play, picked up five first half touchdowns and steamrolled to a 50-14 Big Ten football victory over Wisconsin Saturday.

Gabler scored twice on runs of one and five yards as the Wolverines snapped a four-game losing streak. It was also their first win over Wisconsin in their last four meetings and the first over the Badgers since 1950.

Two of Michigan's first half touchdowns were set up by pass interceptions and another by a fumble recovery.

He pulled even with Nicklaus on the fourth when the American missed a three-foot putt and took a bogey 5 while Player hung up the first of three straight birdies. Player finished the round in 62, his second score in three days, while Nicklaus zoomed to 70 and was down four strokes as they went to lunch.

Gary Player Wins By Six Strokes

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Gary Player of South Africa, playing so slowly he was threatened with a two-stroke penalty, won the Australian Open Golf Championship Saturday by a record six strokes.

He posted totals of 62-71-62-69—264 that left Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, the defending champion, and Frank Phillips of Australia in the runner-up slot.

Nicklaus had 66-63-70-71—270 for his four trips over the flat Kooyonga course where par is 37-36—73 although the only hazards are a few man-made dunes and a few trees along the borders of the 6,578-yard layout.

Player started the day four strokes behind Nicklaus but halved the deficit on the first two holes with a pair of eagles while the Ohio can had to content with birdies. Player sank a 12-foot putt on the 493-yard first and his second eagle came with a 30-foot tap.

He pulled even with Nicklaus on the fourth when the American missed a three-foot putt and took a bogey 5 while Player hung up the first of three straight birdies. Player finished the round in 62, his second score in three days, while Nicklaus zoomed to 70 and was down four strokes as they went to lunch.

Player teed off an hour ahead of Nicklaus for the final round with the South African resuming his steady, subpar play. On the second hole, Nicklaus sent his drive deep into the rough, made up almost entirely of wire-weed. After inspecting the lie, Nicklaus decided it was unplayable and drove again from the tee. He wound up with a seven-and-out of the running.

Nicklaus completed the round with a 71, two strokes more than Player needed.

Kent Nix Leads TCU To Win Over Baylor

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian contained Baylor's sophomore passing sensation Saturday and quarterback Kent Nix guided the Horned Frogs to a 10-7 Southwest Conference victory over the favored Bears.

Nix took the downtrodden Frogs, four-time losers this year, on two long-distance scoring drives after the Bears had turned a TCU fumble into a first quarter touchdown.

The senior signal caller hit on five of five passes as the Christians rolled 79 yards in 16 plays for a touchdown in the second period.

The clincher came on a five-yard pass from Nix to end Joe Ball who drifted into the end zone several steps beyond the startled Baylor defenders.

But in the end, it was a 38-yard field goal by Bruce Alford in the third period that provided the points that crushed Baylor's Halloween homecoming festivities.

The critical kick by Alford—longest of his collegiate career—climaxed a glittering TCU drive in which Nix completed passes of 13 and 20 yards and streaked 3 yards on a keeper.

Baylor's lone rendezvous in the TCU end zone came as a result of a Frog fumble on the Christians' first series of downs.

Fullback Kenny Post bobbled the ball at the 15, Donnie Lawrence retrieved it for Baylor and four plays later Billy Hayes

Nix hit 11 of 15 for 94 yards and once had a string of eight straight completions going.

Baylor committed a number of costly miscues, one being a 15-yard penalty for roughing the kicker during the drive which produced TCU's only touchdown.

Once Baylor collected three 15-yard penalties in one series of downs and found itself facing an incredible fourth — and 51—situation.

The Bears' Eddie Whiddon intercepted a Nix pass in the second period to give Baylor the ball at the TCU 45. This scoring threat died when John Richards snatched a Stockdale pass at the 3-yard line a couple of minutes later.

Second Half Fireworks Gives Irish 29-3 Win

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Nick Eddy's 55-yard romp with a screen pass on the final play of the first half gave Notre Dame the halftime lead and the necessary momentum for a crunching 29-3 victory over Navy Saturday.

Until Eddy's storybook dash into the end zone as the clock ticked off the final second of the half, it appeared that the underdog Midshipmen were destined to hold an upset-making 3-0 lead. But the Middies quickly learned that history does repeat itself.

Eddy's run on a screen pass from Bill Zloch was all the fourth ranked Irish needed to set them off. Notre Dame pounded across three more touchdowns in the third quarter to turn the game into a rout.

Notre Dame took the second half kickoff and stayed strictly on the ground, driving 64 yards in 13 plays with Zloch sneaking into the end zone.

The triumph was the fifth in six games for the Irish, who used their reserves in the entire final quarter. Navy suffered its third loss against three victories and a tie.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

'Worst Day' For Johnson

By TOMMY HART

Big Spring's Charley Johnson, who watched the St. Louis Cardinals—Washington Redskins NFL game from the sidelines last Sunday (due to a shoulder injury), says it is the worst day he ever spent in football. . . . Sonny Jurgensen, the Redskins' quarterback, completed the last ten passes he threw against the Cardinals, which leaves him three shy of the NFL record set by Fran Tarkenton of Minnesota and tied by Chicago's Rudy Bukish last year.

TARKENTON

Garvin Beauchamp of Abilene, recently nominated by Sports Illustrated magazine for the Silver Anniversary All-American, coached for Midland High at one time. . . . Tickets for that Sul Ross-Angelo State College game in Midland next Saturday night sell for $2 each.

Coahoma's Eddie McHugh will play for Angelo State in the contest. . . . Lee Leonard, a 6-3 freshman from Eunice, N.M., has been lost to the HCJC basketball team until after Christmas due to a broken ankle. . . . He hurt it in a recent scrimmage. . . . Coach Buddy Travis now has only ten able-bodied players, can't afford to lose another one. . . . Incidentally, the Dallas Baptist College (formerly Deatur) which will meet HCJC here Jan. 2, must have one of the tallest junior college teams in the nation. . . . Take a look at these heights: Dave Nash, St. Louis, 6-9; Walter Lowe, Arlington, 6-6; Jim Allen, Paintsville, Ky., 6-4; Gary Beymer, Muncie, Ind., 6-4½; Hector Placencia, East Chicago, Ind., 6-0; Bobby Hyatt, Rison, Arkansas, 6-4; Gale Rhine, Dupo, Ill., 6-3; and Tom Taylor, Des Moines, Ind., 6-4½. . . . According to figures released by the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, 11-man football has more participants than any other sport—822,681 in 13,309 schools, compared to 674,938 in 19,622 schools for basketball, 567,687 in 16,249 for track and field and 355,053 for 13,399 schools for baseball. . . . Cross country and wrestling each has more than 100,000 participants.

The Dallas Cowboys have become one of the big game lures in the NFL, having attracted 337,978 paying customers to their six games—at home and on the road. . . . Big Spring's Jerry Dunlap was a major factor in New Mexico State's recent 10-2 victory over West Texas State at Canyon. . . . Jerry played all the way as a linebacker on a defensive unit which observers said had its finest hour against the Buffaloes. . . . One occasion, Dunlap deflected an attempted field goal by the West Texas team at a time the outcome of the game was very much in doubt. . . . Marlene Hagge, who played out of Midland at one time, ranks fifth among all-time money winners among women pro golfers, with earnings slightly exceeding $150,000. . . . Texan Betty Jameson is eighth on the all-time list, with returns of $91,741, while the late Babe Zaharias is no better than 14th with total income of $66,237.

Eddy Herm, the former Sands grid star who now covers weekend football games in the area for the Daily Herald, is a cousin to back Richard Richburg of the Abilene Cooper team. . . . Shug Jordan, the Auburn football mentor, said it: "Football is to culture what bullfighting is to agriculture." . . . Chuck Moser, director of athletics at Abilene, says a high school team going for the one-point conversion should make good about 75 or 80 per cent of the time, whereas its two-point tries are good no more than 40 per cent of the time. . . . Moser also says that as many as 20,000 people can be crowded into that Abilene stadium, if the need ever arises. . . . Seating capacity of the Abilene plant is listed as 15,046. . . . Phil George, the Angelo State College basketball mentor, decided not to offer scholarship help to most of his returning lettermen. . . . In other words, the cagers didn't quit on their own volition. . . . South Plains College now gives two full scholarships in golf, and the results show in Western Conference standings.

ACKERLY—The Sands Mustangs scored five touchdowns in the last half Friday night to crush the Loop Longhorns, 42-18.

The Mustangs offense piled up over 300 total yards in winning their fourth district game in five starts and their seventh in eight starts.

The first half was played to a standoff tie with each team scoring one touchdown.

Loop broke the ice first early in the second quarter. Stanley Scott covered a Sands fumble at the Sands 38. Five plays later Garrison Yockom passed to Billy Shipley for 26 yards and the TD. Yockom's run for the extra points failed.

On the last play of the first half, Sands' Ricky Kemp took the ball on a reverse and soared 53 yards untouched for the Sands score. Joe Grigg's PAT kick was no good, and the score remained 6-6 at halftime.

KEMP RUNS 52
After taking the second half kickoff at its own 20, Sands was on the scoreboard with only 26 seconds gone. Kemp shot off guard and outran the secondary on a 52-yard jaunt. Grigg's PAT kick was good to make the score, 13-6.

Sands next score came with 9:12 left in the fourth quarter. Merwin Beal went up the middle for 13 yards for the TD. Joe Garfias' PAT kick was blocked. This came at the end of a 43-yard drive and took only seven plays.

Kemp scored his third touchdown of the night with 5:30 left, when he scored from 22 yards out on an end sweep. Glenn Harrell made it 27-6 when he passed to Jesse Cavazos for the extra points. This score was set up by a pass interception by Harrell at the Sands 27.

Willie Gambrell scored Loop's second TD on a yard plunge. This was one of four TD's scored in the last two minutes of play. A run for the extra points failed, to make it 27-12. Kemp scored his fourth TD with 1:10 left when he intercepted a Loop pass and raced 45 yards for the score. Grigg's kick was good to make it 34-12.

Loop came right back when Yockom passed to Gambrell for PAT failed to leave the score at 34-18.

The Mustangs scored their last TD of the night when Tommy Pitts, a senior-sub, took the ensuring kickoff and ran it back 65 yards behind some tremendous blocking by the Sands substitutes. Lance Hopper passed to Lawrence Long for the extra points to bring the final score to 42-18.

Monterey, Nederland Among 4A Leaders

By The Associated Press
The Class AAAA division of Texas schoolboy football pounds into the stretch this week with fewer than a half-dozen of the 16 districts boasting undisputed leaders and nothing decided on the state playoffs.

Lubbock Monterey, Fort Worth Arlington Heights, Denison, Nederland and San Antonio Leo are out front but in no position to claim anything yet. Some crucial games come up next weekend headlined by the clash of Freeport Brazosport and Pasadena Rayburn in Dist. 12, and Corpus Christi Miller and Carroll in a showdown in the North Zone of Dist. 14. In Dist. 9 Houston Leo and Waltrip tangle in a battle for the lead of one of the zones.

Texarkana, the No. 1 team, is tied with Marshall for the top in Dist. 8 but they don't meet until Nov. 12. Only 10 undefeated, untied teams are left. Only one fell out last week as San Antonio Lanier took a 6-0 upset from Laredo Martin. But it still left Lanier tied with San Antonio Burbank and San Antonio Harlandale for the Dist. 16 leadership.

The week's schedule by districts, all games Friday unless indicated otherwise:
1. All El Paso teams: Andrea vs. El Paso High, Irvin vs. El Paso Austin, Yuleta del Air, Eastwood, Bowie vs. Coronado, Burges of Yuleta Saturday; Parkland vs. Jefferson, Cathedral vs. Tech.
2. Abilene of Midland Lee, Midland of Abilene Cooper, Odessa of San Angelo, Big Spring of Odessa Permian.
3. Amarillo of Pampa, Lubbock Monterey of Amarillo Polo Dura, Lubbock of Plainview Saturday; Amarillo Coppock vs. Tascas.
4. Hurst Bell of Arlington, Fort Worth Castleberry of Grand Prairie, Fort Worth Halton of Irving, Wichita Falls Rider of Fort Worth Richards.
5. All Fort Worth teams: Thursday, North side vs. Arlington Heights; Friday, Eastern Hills vs. Paschal, Tech vs. Palo, 6. All Dallas teams: Thursday, Hillcrest Adams, Kimball vs. Sunset; Friday, Samuel vs. Spruce, South Oak Cliff vs. North Dallas, Jefferson vs. White, Adamson vs. Wilton.
7. Paris of Carrollton, Richardson of Highland Park, Richardson of Denton, Garland of Sherman.
8. Longview of Tascas, Lufkin of Tyler, Tyler Lee of Marshall.
9. All Houston teams: Thursday, Lee vs. Westrio, Houston Austin vs. Westbury; Friday, Davis vs. Reagan, Sam Houston vs. Milby, Jones vs. San Jacinto, Belleire vs. Lamar.
10. Galena Park North Shore of Spring Branch Memorial, Aldine of Houston Smiley, Spring Branch of South Houston.
11. Beaumont of Port Neches, Port Arthur of Beaumont South Park, Nederland Orange.
12. Galveston of Baytown, Pasadena of Galena Park, LaMarque of Texas City; Saturday, Freeport Brazosport of Pasadena Rayburn.
13. Austin Johnston of Temple, Austin of Killeen, Austin Travis vs. Austin McCullum, Austin Reagan vs. Lanier, Bryan of Waco Richfield, Waco of Cleburne, Corsicana of Waco U.
14. Alice of Brenhamville, Corpus Christi Roy of Kingsville, Corpus Christi King of Victoria, Harbison of Edinburg, San Benito of McAllen; Saturday, Corpus Christi Miller vs. Carroll.
15. All San Antonio teams: MacArthur vs. Alamo Heights, Highlands vs. Edison, 16. Thursday, Fort Tech vs. Houston date; Friday, San Antonio Kennedy vs. McCullum, Brackenside vs. Edgewood; Saturday, Laredo Martin of San Antonio Burbank, Lanier vs. Holy Cross.

A Miscalculation

Blanda Is Out To Hurt Bills

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—George Blanda came to town with his American Football League Houston Oilers a year ago, took one look at the big Buffalo Bills' defensive line and decided on a passing game.

He tossed 68 passes and completed 37. His performance wasn't good enough, however, for the Bills powered to their eighth consecutive victory, 24-10.

Blanda, now 37, will be back again Sunday to face the Bills.

He would like to repeat his performance of last Sunday, when he threw five touchdown passes and set the stage for a last-minute field goal that gave Houston a 35-36 victory over Kansas City.

Buffalo will start the AFL's second-leading passer, Jack Kemp, who has completed 105 of 217 passes this season for 1,405 yards and six touchdowns.

Despite being encased in tape and swabbed with liniment, Kemp completed passes almost as well as Buffalo crushed Denver, 31-13 a week ago. Fullback Billy Joe, flanker Bo Roberson and ends Charley Ferguson and Paul Costa were the pass-receivers he hit repeatedly.

Should Oilers' coach Bones Taylor decide not to start Blanda, he has sophomore Don Trull ready for the signal-calling and passing assignment.

Buffalo, leading the Eastern Division at 6-1, holds a 2½ game edge on Houston, 3-3. A Buffalo victory would mean the Bills could lose half of the six games left and still be assured of a tie for the Eastern Division, even if Houston were to finish the campaign unbeaten.

Bucks Nudge Minnesota

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bob Funk booted an 18-yard field goal with only 1:17 left in the game Saturday, giving Ohio State a hard-fought 11-10 victory over Minnesota in a Big Ten struggle before 84,359.

The Buckeyes, keeping their slim hopes for a conference championship alive with their third victory in four starts, drove 89 yards on the passing of Don Unverferth to set up Funk's fifth three-pointer of the season.

The Gophers made a dramatic bid to pull out the victory, moving 63 yards to Ohio State's eight-yard line in the waning moments of play. With only 14 seconds showing on the clock, Deryl Ramey's field goal attempt from the 15-yard line was wide to the left, and the Bucks had their triumph.

Kansas Benefits From Miscues

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Kansas capitalized on numerous Kansas State mistakes, scored 20 points in the second quarter and crushed the Wildcats 34-0 Saturday.

The Jayhawks intercepted five passes and recovered three K-State fumbles, leading to four touchdowns.

Kansas State opened up an air attack on the final quarter, but an interception with a little more than a minute left killed the Wildcat chances to score.

Falcons Fall To Uclans

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP)—Melvin Farr, whose record sparkles with long touchdown runs, dashed 37 yards for a TD late in the third quarter to snap a scoreless tie and lead UCLA to a 10-0 victory over Air Force Saturday.

Farr, 6-foot-2, 196-pound junior from Santa Monica, Calif., bolted over right guard and angled into the end zone with no defender touching him on the scoring gallop — his fifth of the season for 21 yards or more.

Until Farr's thunderbolt with 1:55 left in the third period, the two teams, which scored a combined 96 points against opponents the week before, never got within 20 yards of the goal line.

Farr's run capped a 77-yard march in five plays, including two other carries by him totaling 24 yards.

His performance was marred a little later, though, when he fumbled on the Air Force two after UCLA's Erwin Dutcher had intercepted Sonny Litz's pass on the AF 15 to give the Bruins another scoring opportunity.

Forsan Scores Early, Often In 36-14 Win

terback Jack Ellis hurried 60 yards to end Steve Park from a 15 yards out to end Forsan scoring. Ellis threw to Ray McKinnon for the extra gravy.

After a scoreless third period, Three-Way's Tommy Black sped six yards for the only score of the second half.

Forsan opens District 5-B play next Friday night, hosting Imperial at the Forsan homecoming.

Vandy Slams Green Wave

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Vanderbilt used its patented defense to bottle up Tulane and roll to a convincing 13-0 South-eastern Conference victory Saturday.

The Commodores' strong defense, ranked second in the nation, allowed the Green Wave to enter its territory only three times. Tulane's deepest penetration was to the Vandy 15 in the waning seconds of the game.

Defensive back Bernie Kemple led the fast, hard-charging Vanderbilt defense that contained Tulane's quarterbacks Bobby Duhon and Dave East.

Kemple also managed to intercept two of Duhon's first quarter passes and knocked down several others with great efforts.

In all, Vanderbilt picked off four of 32 Tulane aeri-

BROWNFIELD — Levelland turned back Brownfield, 22-13, in a District 3-AAA encounter here Friday night.

The victory tied the Lobos with Lamesa for the conference lead, each with a 2-1 record.

SAN ANGELO — Sweetwater spotted San Angelo Lake View nine points and then rolled to a 33-9 District 3-AAA victory here Friday night.

Failure to get a punt away from its own 15 cost Lake View dearly in the opening period. Richard Roberts and Randy Reed were outstanding for the Ponies.

LITTLEFIELD — Lamesa raced by Littlefield, 9-6, here Friday night to add more authority to the Golden Tornadoes' championship bid in the 3-AAA race.

The Tornadoes counted in the opening period when Bob Wiggins passed to Russell Dennis, good for 31 yards. Ken Flank added the extra point kick.

Steve Lewis was trapped in the end zone in the fourth period by Dale Slough and Ector Lopez for Lamesa's other two points.

Lamesa gained 223 yards rushing and 44 passing to 98 rushing and 43 passing for Littlefield.

Clemson Surges Past Deacons

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP)—Clemson's football team ended its 11-quarter touchdown famine with three first-half scores Saturday and went on to whip Wake Forest 26-13.

Sparking the Tigers to their fourth straight Atlantic Coast Conference victory was a 61-yard run by Phil Rogers on a second quarter reverse play.

Halfback Hugh Mauldin scored in the sixth minute of the game on a two-yard run after Clemson moved 72 yards in 10 plays with the opening kickoff.

Rogers' run made it 13-0. He took the ball from Mauldin after a handoff from quarterback Tom Ray and by the time Rogers reached midfield he was in the clear.

The teams crammed two more touchdowns into the last five minutes of the first half.

Newspapers always carry news and entertainment items of extra interest to the different members of the family. The Big Spring Herald is always full of the extras of Big Spring and the surrounding communities. Dad can always find out how his favorite team played their last game or find just the items he has wanted to buy. Mom, of course, can read the many feature items on new recipes, or find out how that special garment was made that she saw someone wearing last week by reading the society section of The Big Spring Herald. She can also do her shopping at home by reading the advertisements in The Herald, therefore saving her time and energy. Let's not forget the young folks in the family. They can be entertained with the comics in The Big Spring Daily Herald every day, with the comics in color every Sunday.

So, as you and everyone else can plainly see, newspapers make a difference in our lives every day. Regardless of your walk of life, there is always something extra in The Big Spring Daily Herald for you.

SKELETONS RATTLED THEIR BONES to some pretty lively music Thursday evening if they ventured from closets in the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College. It was there that the Spanish Club sponsored a Halloween dance from 7 to 10 p.m. for students and their guests. Decorating for the affair were, standing, Ray Graves and Alma Valerio, and seated, Cherry Wright and Ed Mahaffey, drummer for the band that provided music.

THE TRICK'S IN GETTING THE TREAT even if it means putting a hex on a friendly neighbor. Mrs. Floyd Mays and daughter, Cathy, are completely under the spell of Clint, Ken and Mary Ellen Shouse, children of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Shouse, 611 Highland. Mrs. Mays has prepared a tray brimming with bright, shiny, fruit, crisp peppermint sticks and an assortment of sweets to see her safely through the night.

'HALLOWEEN IS FOR EVERYONE'

THE GREAT PUMPKIN is best carved by a grandfather who knows all about such things. Three lucky little ones are Valerie, Brad and Vance Stevens, children of Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Stevens and grandchildren of the Walker Baileys. Mrs.

Bailey bought the 'biggest pumpkin' she could find, and her husband wielded the knife that created a personality for the traditional Jack-O-Lantern.

A SNIP OF THE SCISSORS and a dab of the paste is magic that makes witches and goblins fly to their accustomed places on a shiny schoolroom window. Each year the scene is repeated as young imaginations conjure up their versions of the tra-

Taute, Cindy Longoria and Lois Levanduski. The boys are Richard Ethun, Bob Longoria and Mike Shareck. Another party will be held this afternoon, from 2 to 4 o'clock for the younger children.

MRS. DEAN ARMBRUST AND ARTHUR PAUL

King's Dress Used In Christening Ceremony

Today is christening day for Arthur Paul Armbrust, and for the occasion, he will wear a dress that once belonged to King Edward VII.

The service will be at the First Presbyterian Church for the three-month-old baby who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Armbrust, 1312 Tucson.

The 48-inch long, intricately hand-stitched dress is an heirloom that has been in Mrs. Armbrust's family for 125 years. Prince Edward, the eldest son of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert, was born in 1841. He ruled England from 1901 until his death in 1910, and is the great-grandfather of Queen Elizabeth.

Mrs. Armbrust explained that, in those days, it was considered a great honor and custom to make a baby dress for the future king, and that each accepted dress was worn for a single day before being returned to its designer. Following the British tradition, the dresses were meant to be worn only by the family's male heirs.

made by the king's nurse, and was later given by her as a personal gift to Mrs. Armbrust's great-aunt.

It has remained in her family through the years, and was first used at an American baptism in 1897; and later by her father, Paul Hunton of Salina, Kan.

Since that time, Mrs. Armbrust said, all the children of her direct family have been christened in the king's dress.

L. G. Harrells Visit Relatives

KNOTT (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Harrell visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bud Nichols in Elbow Monday evening. Mrs. Harrell also visited with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hogue, in Sparenberg Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Grady Gaskins is a patient in the Howard County Hospital Foundation.

Are You A Good Credit Risk?

AP Newsfeatures
In this age of the charge account, we're likely to assume that credit, if not money, grows on trees. And it is true that for most people, credit is easier to come by now than ever before.

Most department stores will extend a charge account to anyone with two of three things—a job, a bank account, or another charge account.

But what if you find yourself wanting or needing a substantial sum of cash for, say, a vacation trip, some dental work or a home decorating project? You would probably go to the bank where you have your checking account, because (a) they know you, and (b) their interest rates are lower than those of most credit sources.

How good a credit risk would you be?

Here's a quiz to find out based on bankers' many years of experience. These are not necessarily the questions bankers would ask you; the questions are intended for you to appraise your own financial responsibility.

If all your answers agree with the ones here, you're that rare creature, the perfect credit risk.

Q. Have you worked for the same firm for two years or more?

A. Yes. Job stability is an important factor where banks are concerned. Of course, if your job is routine, a "yes" could mean you're just a stick-in-the-mud, but sticks-in-the-mud tend to be dependable.

Q. Have you changed your address more than twice in the last three years?

A. No. Bankers like to know where they can reach people. On the other hand, numerous changes of address do not negate the fact that you pay your rent on time in each place.

Q. When buying on credit, do you always make as small down payment as possible, in order to enjoy your purchase while you're paying for it?

A. No. The fact that you've made a large down payment shows the banker that (a) you are able to save ahead for what you want, (b) you realize that interest on the remaining installments will be less, so that the purchase will cost you less in the long run.

Q. Does your checking account require a minimum balance?

A. Yes. Maintaining any type of bank account is in your favor, but the fact that you keep an ever-ready "cushion" in your checking account is especially helpful when you apply for credit.

Q. Do you own your home?

A. Yes. A house is a valuable asset. And regular mortgage payments indicate that you handle credit responsibly.

Q. Do you already have several large outstanding debts—big medical bills which you are paying off in installments, for example?

A. No, unless you're rich and have kept your debts in line. Your total debts, according to a rough rule of thumb, should not exceed a third of your "discretionary" spending for the year.

Q. Does your income fluctuate—fast one year and famine the next?

A. No. If your income goes up and down—if your earnings depend on commissions, tips, or fees—you are less likely to be a good credit risk than the person with a steady, salaried income. (However, you can demonstrate your financial stability in other ways, such as those mentioned above.)

Q. In applying for a loan, do you wait until the last possible moment before you decide that borrowing is inevitable?

A. No. Borrowers who are in a great hurry to get their hands on cash may raise questions in the lender's mind. Your credit record and other items must be carefully checked, and this can take a little time, though the money may be available at your bank within 24 hours.

Q. If you forget to pay your telephone bill a few days after it arrives, do you wait until next month's bill to pay the total for both months?

A. No. Prompt payment of bills, even small ones to large companies, is a major recommendation when you want to borrow money.

Q. When you lend cash to a friend, do you remember it?

A. This is a ringer. If you've answered "Yes," it could mean you're the sort of person who is debt-conscious and would be likely to have other characteristics of a good credit risk. However, if you've answered "No," you could be an excellent credit risk and a still better friend.

Delegates Return

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Mitchell, 1505 Stadium, Mrs. Jimmy Felts, 1201 Wood, and Mrs. D. J. Wright, 607 E. 4th, returned Friday evening from attending the 83rd grand chapter meeting of Orders of Eastern Star in Fort Worth.

Club Slates Pilgrimage

STANTON (SC)—A holiday pilgrimage will be held by the Stanton Garden Club Dec. 19, which was planned at the Tuesday meeting held in the home of Mrs. James Jones.

Jeff Garrison, sales manager for a fertilizer company in Lubbock, spoke on "Garden Insect Pests and Fertilization." A question and answer period followed.

Kindergarteners Feted At Party

STANTON (SC)—Fay Smithson's kindergarten students were honored with a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Smithson, 507 N. St. Benedict, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Cohostesses were Mrs. George Hamilton and Mrs. T. B. Stewart. Mrs. Prentiss Bristow made pictures of the group for the kindergarten yearbook.

The house was decorated with a Halloween motif. Games were played, by the costumed children and refreshments were served.

An out-of-town guest was Mrs. Monty Mounts.

Wives of Class 66-D, FO Section, gave a coffee for their IP wives at the home of Mrs. Robert Dettmar last week. Cohostesses were Mrs. W. E. Duvivant and Mrs. J. K. Rudisill.

Mrs. L. L. Shane was hostess for DCO bridge Monday. Prizes went to Mrs. G. E. Franks, Mrs. G. H. Vorres and Mrs. E. J. White.

The wives in Class 67-A, FI Section, were honored at a coffee by their IP wives in the home of Mrs. F. T. Hamela last week. Mrs. T. J. Hugar was a special guest. The serving table was decorated with an autumn centerpiece featuring a cluster of orange grapes, brown roses, and autumn leaves. Mrs. N. A. Little, Mrs. E. R. Maxson, and Mrs. F. T. Loftus assisted with the baking of banana bread, nut bread, coffee cake, and bun cake which were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Thompson of Gainesville, Tex., were recent visitors in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. L. A. Hoskins.

Mrs. William Biebel was hostess for a coffee for wives in Class 66-D last week where plans were discussed for their "dining out."

Houseguests of Lt. and Mrs. C. E. Brame last weekend were her sisters, Jean and Carol Young, who are attending Texas Tech, and Claire Sheridan of Eunice, N.M. Mrs. Brame's father, Mr. W. J. Young of Refugio, visited with the group Sunday.

GOODBYES
Mrs. Richard Sullivan was honored at a small get-together last week in the home of Mrs. Brooks, where some of her closest friends said their goodbyes. The serving table looked very lovely topped with pineapple shells filled with fresh pineapple and strawberries. Mrs. Brooks presented Mrs. Sullivan with a cluster of red glass grapes.

If you anticipate any mimeographing you need to have done in the near future, please contact Mrs. G. W. McKenna, AM 3-3558, by tomorrow.

Q. Do you own your home?
A. Yes. A house is a valuable asset. And regular mortgage payments indicate that you handle credit responsibly.
Q. Do you already have several large outstanding debts—big medical bills which you are paying off in installments, for example?
A. No, unless you're rich and have kept your debts in line. Your total debts, according to a rough rule of thumb, should not exceed a third of your "discretionary" spending for the year.
Q. Does your income fluctuate—fast one year and famine the next?
A. No. If your income goes up and down—if your earnings depend on commissions, tips, or fees—you are less likely to be a good credit risk than the person with a steady, salaried income. (However, you can demonstrate your financial stability in other ways, such as those mentioned above.)
Q. In applying for a loan, do you wait until the last possible moment before you decide that borrowing is inevitable?
A. No. Borrowers who are in a great hurry to get their hands on cash may raise questions in the lender's mind. Your credit record and other items must be carefully checked, and this can take a little time, though the money may be available at your bank within 24 hours.
Q. If you forget to pay your telephone bill a few days after it arrives, do you wait until next month's bill to pay the total for both months?
A. No. Prompt payment of bills, even small ones to large companies, is a major recommendation when you want to borrow money.
Q. When you lend cash to a friend, do you remember it?
A. This is a ringer. If you've answered "Yes," it could mean you're the sort of person who is debt-conscious and would be likely to have other characteristics of a good credit risk. However, if you've answered "No," you could be an excellent credit risk and a still better friend.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By KAREN SKANCHY
"Wine Tasting" is the theme of the luncheon Thursday which will feature a program on how to cook with wine and what wines compliment different foods. There will be wine displays set up prior to the luncheon and you will be able to taste the different kinds of wine. The menu consists of roast pork basted with wine, candied yams with nuts, broccoli or asparagus, wine jello with grapes, and cherry jubilee.

The wine tasting will begin at 12:30 p.m., and reservations must be made by noon Tuesday with Mrs. D. L. Pierce, AM 4-6006, or Mrs. D. D. Wilson, AM 4-5481.

HALLOWEEN COFFEE

The home of Mrs. W. T. Hascall was the scene of a coffee honoring the student wives of Class 66-F in J Flight. Mrs. Douglas Wingate was cohostess. A Halloween theme was used with a ceramic pumpkin accented by fall leaves serving as the centerpiece. Oranges had been cut and the sections removed. Jack-O-Lantern faces had been carved on them and they were filled with oranges and ambrosia. Ham biscuits and chocolate coffee cake were also served.

October OWC monthly bridge winners were Mrs. J. H. Kiehl and Mrs. H. G. Paddon, first; Mrs. S. G. Flowers and Mrs. G. H. Vorres, second; and Mrs. Pat Lesevere and Mrs. Ogonis, third. The attendance prize went to Mrs. R. L. Speros and Mrs. T. L. Thomas received the travel prize.

Mrs. Jerry Anderson gave a surprise birthday party for her husband last weekend. Tripoly was played by the guests who were members of Class 66-D, FO Section.

The wives of the 331st FIS gathered for luncheon at the Holiday Inn last Thursday to say goodbye to Mrs. Arthur Yarrington and also see the fashion show presented by Zacks. The Yarringtons will leave for Keiser AFB, Miss., tomorrow where Yarrington will attend a communications school.

The students in 66-G, FO Section, had a party last weekend at Cosden Country Club to celebrate the end of T-37 training. The wives presented their husbands with shorts which had half of a wing on them.

Dr. and Mrs. Alan Swearingen and Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Kasher were in El Paso and Juarez, Mexico last weekend where they did some shopping and attended the dog races.

The wives in Class 66-D, FO Section, gave a coffee for their IP wives at the home of Mrs. Robert Dettmar last week. Cohostesses were Mrs. W. E. Duvivant and Mrs. J. K. Rudisill.

Mrs. L. L. Shane was hostess for DCO bridge Monday. Prizes went to Mrs. G. E. Franks, Mrs. G. H. Vorres and Mrs. E. J. White.

The wives in Class 67-A, FI Section, were honored at a coffee by their IP wives in the home of Mrs. F. T. Hamela last week. Mrs. T. J. Hugar was a special guest. The serving table was decorated with an autumn centerpiece featuring a cluster of orange grapes, brown roses, and autumn leaves. Mrs. N. A. Little, Mrs. E. R. Maxson, and Mrs. F. T. Loftus assisted with the baking of banana bread, nut bread, coffee cake, and bun cake which were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Thompson of Gainesville, Tex., were recent visitors in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. L. A. Hoskins.

Mrs. William Biebel was hostess for a coffee for wives in Class 66-D last week where plans were discussed for their "dining out."

MISS CAROL ZEMAN

More Hangar Flying Since She Arrived

By JO BRIGHT

It's a pretty good bet there's been considerable hanger flying around Howard County Airport lately. Not that the weather hasn't been perfect for getting in some air time. The skies have been so clear you can see three days ahead, and most of the time the windsock has barely been able to show its shape. Regardless of the fact that what goes up must no longer necessarily come down, Miss Carol Zeman, 23, the new flight instructor at Big Spring Aircraft, Inc., spends part of her time on the ground. Her presence improves the scenery, and her capability as an instructor may be a shot in the arm to flying as a hobby.

Miss Zeman was born and reared in Hyde Park, N. Y., where she received her education. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Zeman, she did IBM work at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and feels she was forced, out of sheer boredom, to take up flying. She took her instruction at the airport in Stormville, N. Y., and Kobelt Airport in Wallkill, N. Y., later serving as an instructor at both places. She holds a commercial license with instructor rating as well as instrument, instrument-instructor and multi-engine rating. In the past three and a half years she has logged over 1,600 hours; about 900 of that instrument time.

MANY STUDENTS
Miss Zeman's students have ranged in age from 11 to 60 years of age. (A student may begin lessons when a child but may not solo until he is 16 years old.) A private license may be acquired at 17 and a commercial license at 18. "It's amazing how much good flying weather we have here," said Miss Zeman who does not regret leaving the cold New York winters to those that enjoy them. She doesn't. She prefers it here, where a pilot seldom has little more than an occasional gusty wind to worry about.

Actually, Miss Zeman had headed her car toward Colorado but said she "couldn't seem to get out of Texas." Deciding not to fight it, she stopped to see friends in Stanton and was talked into staying. She is presently making her home at the Settles Hotel which she finds convenient since she is at the airport during most of the daylight hours. Here she is giving flight instruction only, but previously she has taught ground school courses which included meteorology, navigation, basic theory and Federal Aeronautics Administration regulations. At the local airport, ground school is held on Tuesdays and Thursdays for nine weeks and is basically a film program.

RAISED HORSES
Miss Zeman, a brown-eyed brunette, is just as at home in the saddle as in the cockpit. She has owned thoroughbred horses since childhood and formerly gave riding instruction (English saddle) including jumping and fox hunting. She's a pretty fair square-dancer, too, and owns a fancy guitar in case there is ever time for just strumming.

In New York, Miss Zeman was leader of a 4-H horse club and active in the Woman's Auxiliary to the Fire Department. She owned a plane, in which she flew about 30 hours a week, but sold it before coming here. The land of the big sky looks pretty good—when you're a lady with your head in the clouds.

Sewing Kits Made By Church Circle

Sewing kits were prepared for shipment to South America by the Mary Zinn Circle of First Methodist Church when the women met Tuesday for a luncheon. The kits will be presented Nov. 5, World Community Day.

Hostesses were Mrs. D. F. Bigony and Mrs. Tom Adams, while Mrs. S. R. Nobles, circle chairman, led prayer and presided. Mrs. W. A. Lazwell, program chairman, led the study, "Missions: The Christian's Calling." Following a devotion by Mrs. Jake Bishop, Mrs. H. H. Stephens showed a film and spoke on "Mission Perspective." Fourteen attended.

Delegates Attend AAUW Meeting

Mrs. Gary Sims and Mrs. W. A. Hallmark will be delegates to the Houston Oct. 30 state conference of the American Association of University Women. They accepted the special invitation from the AAUW to represent the local branch which is one of the fastest growing of the 84 chapters in the organization. The main speaker for the Saturday meeting will be Mrs. Neville F. Masson, chairman of the AAUW fellowship program committee, and her topic will be entitled, "Building the Branches."

Here it is, the last day of October, and our backward peaches are still on the tree trying to get ripe before the first frost. I don't recall them ever getting fully ripe before cold weather but each year we harvest them just before it's too late and we always have come up with several good tasty rounds of preserves.

MRS. CARL STROM and her daughter, MRS. GLORIA EZELL of Midland, are expected home the middle of the week after being in Rochester, Minn., for a week.

We have some new neighbors. MR. and MRS. ALBERT EDWIN SEGER whose former home was Worcester, Mass., arrived Monday to make their home with their son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. RAY SEGER, and their children, Kevin and Maria. The elder Segers had been in New Jersey for a visit in their daughter's home before coming to Texas.

The ALFRED MOODYS, accompanied by his sister, MRS. LENA BLANTON of Boerne, returned the past week from a two weeks trip to California. The Moodys planned to visit their son, A. W., and his family in Garden Grove but the visit turned out to be with just the family as the son was working for his company in another state and was gone the entire time they were there. The couple also visited a cousin, MISS MAY CHERRY, in North Hollywood. Mrs. Blanton visited her brother, Vernon Moody.

There's no place like a beauty emporium to catch up on visiting in between shampoos, rollups, drying and comb-outs.

Just can't remember when I have chatted with MRS. TOM BROWN of Midland who was getting her hair done on the 'catch-as-catch-can' method. Between the first part of the hair-doing and the last she sandwiched in a visit to her mother, MRS. ADAMS, in Coahoma and was hurrying back to Midland to join her husband in hosting a dance for 500 Friday night. . . . MRS. C. W. DEATS SR., has returned from San Antonio where she had spent two weeks, just in time to hear the news of her good friend, MRS. LENA HERN, being admitted to Cowper Hospital for treatment.

The ROSS BOYKINS are in Shreveport, La., where they took their daughter, MRS. H. J. JOHNSON, and Valerie who have been visiting here. The couple plans to visit in Dallas a short time before returning here the end of the week.

MRS. E. V. SPENCE has returned from a most delightful Mediterranean cruise along with her cousin, MISS ANNIE CLAIRE ATKINSON of Texarkana. The trip was made aboard the American - Swedish liner, Kungsholms, that left New York Sept. 1. Mrs. Spence, who has a great liking for pretty hats, was the winner of the hat-making contest that was one of the ship's entertainment features.

The couple had joined the cruise in New York and, after cruising in the Mediterranean, they docked at Gothenburg, Sweden. They took a land trip to Rome and then rejoined the ship for a trip to Villafranche, Leharve and to Paris. They also spent time in Brussels, Belgium, and Rotterdam, Holland, and toured Copenhagen, Denmark, and spent time in England. They sailed home on the Queen Elizabeth, docking in New York Oct. 20. They then returned to Texarkana where they were met by their cousins, MR. and MRS. JOHN HOLT of McKinney, who brought Mrs. Spence back here Monday.

Fellow cruisers were MR. and MRS. BILL ENDTER of Chicago who are business associates of HACK WRIGHT of Big Spring.

Little does actor MUNDO TREVINO know of the distances of Texas.

Wednesday evening LEO GONZALES was visited by his friend, who with another actor friend, from Dallas, was on their way to the Big Bend country for location shots for a movie. Trevino said he figured they were only an hour drive from their destination so he thought he would stop and visit his old friend. He was somewhat surprised when Gonzales told him he was several hundred miles away and if he drove fairly steady he would probably get there in the wee small hours.

MARY FRANCES MALONE, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Malone, has been invited to join Epsilon Pi chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon at Texas Technological College in Lubbock. Membership in the international music sorority is based on scholastic record, musicianship, character and personality. After a period of pledge training, initiation will be held Dec. 14.

DICK EBLING left this morning for Houston after spending the weekend with his parents, MR. and MRS. RAY EBLING. He is a student at the University of Houston.

MR. and MRS. W. F. TAYLOR are hosting members of her family here this weekend. MR. and MRS. J. T. CLAGETT of Cuero, MRS. J. R. CALDWELL of Bovina and MR. and MRS. J. A. SIDDENS of Seymour are members of the family present. A brother and a sister were unable to attend the gathering.

Out Of Wartime Slums

Antique Alley Thrives In London District

LONDON (AP) — A tall Englishman in a gray overcoat and bowler hat stuck his head in the narrow doorway of the antique shop on Pierpont Arcade.

"You got any Indian bronzes?"

"Sorry. We've mainly off-beat Victorian knick knacks. Third shop down," answers Mrs. Victoria Davidson, who owns two of the 32 shops in the thriving Camden Passage antique district of London.

Mrs. Davidson is a display designer and her husband a physician, and they have been ardent antique collectors for years. For the past year they have operated the antique shops off Upper Street in north London, and—in very un-British fashion—they know almost all their neighbors who run the 30 other shops and 30 Saturday antique stalls.

Church Sets Prayer Day

Baptist women of the Big Spring area will observe World Day of Prayer Monday at 9:30 a.m. in the First Baptist Church.

The program is in cooperation with the women's department of the Baptist World Alliance.

While several churches will be represented on the program, Mrs. W. F. Taylor, chairman, stressed that all women are urged to attend.

Church Sets Prayer Day

John Payton, whose grandfather opened a music store on the passage in 1881, is known as "The Father of Camden Passage."

"Everything is snowballing here," he says. "It's even affected the surrounding area, which has gone from slums to high class. It's been real rags to riches."

"Junk to riches," corrected a bystander.

P-TA To Discuss School Problems

A panel discussion between parents and teachers will be held at the Monday evening meeting of the Sands Parent-Teachers Association. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock, and members are asked to bring prepared questions. A time change will be voted on, and mothers of second grade students will serve refreshments.

Junior Forum Hears Housekeeping Satire

A book review was the program topic at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Junior Woman's Forum. The 20 members present met at the home of Mrs. Tom King, 802 Birdwell.

Mrs. Don Weeks was cohostess, and Mrs. Mary Jo Forman, Midland, was introduced as a guest.

Mrs. Morris Rhoades reviewed the book entitled, "The Complete Book of Absolutely Perfect Housekeeping" by Eleanor Golding Smith.

Miss Smith's satire on housekeeping stressed that rehabilitating periods are necessary for the busy housewife.

One suggestion she offered was that when painting the kitchen ceiling, late in the day, with the children still to be bathed and with six expected for dinner, stop a moment and rest. When you reach down to cast the brush in the paint, let your arms dangle a moment—you'll feel like a new woman.

Mrs. Smith also said that the well organized housewife plans only two trips to the market a week; of course, one expects a few extra trips, like 11 or 12.

The author also pointed out that women should look around their own house for unusual centerpieces. A real conversation stopper would be an old guitar and coffee pot heaped with fruit.

During the business session, Mrs. Curtis Mullins was selected to be entered in the outstanding mother of the year contest, and Mrs. Don Wiley will be the delegate for the outstanding clubwoman of the year.

The next meeting will be a brunch and card party on Nov. 18 at the Holiday Inn.

High Scores For Bridge Announced

Seven tables were in play during the Friday afternoon duplicate bridge games at the Big Spring Country Club.

North-south winners were Mrs. Fred Lurting and Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr., first; Mrs. Ray McMahan and Mrs. Hollis Webb, second; and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins and Mrs. Ward Hall, third.

East-west winners were Mrs. Joe Steyer and Harry Williamson, first; Mrs. J. H. Fish and Mrs. Hudson Landers, second; and Mrs. E. O. Ellington and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, third.

Mrs. Ron Kibler reminded players that the Thursday games at Webb AFB Officers Open Mess would begin at 7 p.m. rather than the previously announced 7:30 p.m.

More Dolls Needed For Christmas Cheer

Dolls are needed now to bring Christmas cheer to little girls who might not otherwise experience this great thrill.

The appeal is being made early in order that there will be enough time to make dresses for the dolls, said Mrs. J. E. Hogan, who with Mrs. H. G. Keaton, is chairman of the doll committee.

Residents are urged to take dolls which are no longer used or needed to any of the city fire stations. Firemen will repair the dolls and turn them over to the committee for dressing. They will be distributed to girls in needy families at Christmas.

Eighty dolls left over from last Christmas (because there was not enough time to dress all that came in) have been turned over to volunteers who are now making dresses. So far, home demonstration clubs and Webb Officers Wives have offered to take some of the dolls. More help will be needed, and any group or individual who can help make doll dresses is asked to call either Mrs. Hogan or Mrs. Keaton and volunteer.

First of all, however, dolls will be needed, so Mrs. Hogan reiterated the appeal for unused dolls to be left at fire stations.

Wendell Brown Goes To Europe

Wendell G. Brown, son of Mrs. Mary E. Brown, 1806 Wood, is leaving Nov. 3 for a vacation trip in Europe. He plans to tour Germany, France and Switzerland before returning to this country.

Fashions Space Hats For U.S. Astronauts

By NANCY EATON

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—United States astronauts who go to the moon will wear headgear designed and produced by a ladies' milliner.

Anne Sary, for 33 years proprietor of a hat shop in Hartford, where her originals sell for $15 and up, has won a National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) contract for the protective headgear to be worn by the Project Apollo astronauts under their bubble helmets.

Mrs. Sary can't say much about the headgear or what it looks like because "the Apollo program is all in the future." But, she explains, it meets three basic NASA requirements: it's comfortable, durable and not too warm.

SIX WEEKS
About six millinery designers were asked to submit ideas, and Mrs. Sary won.

"I'm just as proud as I can be that it was awarded to me," she says. "It was lots of hard work while I was designing it."

That alone took six weeks, she says. And that was just a beginning.

"I thought all I'd have to do was design a helmet—a cap type thing that fastens under the chin," she says. But after she sent in her prototype, back came "a sheaf of papers listing changes they needed."

"NASA is terribly exacting," she explains. For instance, NASA told her some of her stitches were off by a thousandth of an inch. She had measured with an ordinary tape measure.

"Good heavens, do you measure these things with a . . . micrometer?" Mrs. Sary asked.

"As a matter of fact, we do," NASA told her.

WORKS ALONE
Mrs. Sary works on the headgear by herself in a locked room in her home. She says she makes them with a regular professional sewing machine, a "special machine," and a lot of hand work.

At first she used her son, Wilfrid, 16, as a model, but his head hasn't developed enough yet. So she asked NASA for a model, and received a "Yul Brynner"—a wooden block model of a man's head.

She works on the NASA contract only at night and on weekends, because during the day she has her millinery business to attend to. She says she stays up all night sometimes to get a model finished.

Furry Fun Styles Not Laughable?

Holey furs is designer Jacques Kaplan's idea of fun, fun, fun at a price that may not seem as laughable to husbands paying for them.

Holes the size of port holes turn mink and persian lamb coats and dresses into something that looks like the victim of cannon target practice.

The holes can be filled up with something else. "You can fill the holes with marabou or ostrich and be part bird, part beast," Kaplan says.

A nude body stocking may be worn under them for shock effect, or the see-throughs may be plugged up with other furs, creating a three-dimensional effect.

Other zany styles whipped up by Kaplan from animal skins included a space cape and helmet in yellow Chinese kidskin; a white Mongolian lamp-cream cone, the eyes being the only part of the woman that shines through; as well as a Swakara white broadtail wedding dress with 10 feet of train.

It had to happen, of course. If women so loved the one-shouldered evening dress last year that duplication at parties held no terror for them, it had to happen that this dress would turn up in bedtime versions.

In fact, some of the single-shoulder gowns look more as if they should be out dancing than tucked into bed. Prettiest are in chiffon, satin, or silky crepe.

Like the famous prototype, many are draped, others have lace-like embroideries, ribbon, sari, or satin bands or bows.

Not all, however, look like the great days of MGM. There are also tailored slit-to-there togas, or sheer tricot cages wafted over body-loving shifts.

Wind remnants of bias binding, lace, ribbons, etc., around empty thread spools and fasten down the ends with either a thumb tack or a bit of cellophane tape. Makes a neater work basket and takes care of the trimming.

Plans Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Vellie E. Sarrels, 1707 State, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Betty Carole, to Michael H. Ezzell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ezzell, Point Comfort. The couple plans a Jan. 1 wedding at the 14th and Main Church of Christ.

Georgia Trip Set By Area Residents

COAHOMA (SC)—Mrs. Dave Grant and Mrs. Irene Newsom left Tuesday for Sulphur Springs where they were guests of Mrs. Grant's brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Ray Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Young. From there they went to Fort Benning, Ga., to visit with Mrs. Grant's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Grant.

Jack Pipes has been released from the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital.

Library History Told At Thursday Session

"A Rocket Flight Through Library Heritage" was the topic discussed at the Thursday evening meeting of the Friends of Howard County Library. The members met at the Howard County Library with Mrs. Daniel Kester presiding.

Welcomed as guests were Mrs. M. F. Blackbird and Miss Elizabeth Daniels, and Mrs. Margaret Pitt.

James Brooks was appointed as public relations officer, and Mrs. Earl Ezzell is the new membership chairman.

Rugs for decorations in the pre-school story hour room were donated by Mrs. Blackbird, Dr. and Mrs. J. Florence, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sims.

Mrs. Hank McDaniel, librarian, introduced Miss Daniel, guest speaker. Miss Daniel gave highlights in the history of library development.

The organization is open for membership and those interested may contact Mrs. Kester, AM 3-2818, Mrs. Ezzell, AM 4-7685, or the library, AM 4-8681.

Leading Construction Women

New officers to lead the Women in Construction were installed during a recent banquet in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club. From left, they are Mrs. E. A. Fivash, treasurer; Mrs. Troy Drinkard, secretary; Mrs. Lee Tunnell, president; Mrs. C. C. Choate, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Johanie Winham, vice president.

HD Groups Studying Purchasing

Topics discussed at the weekly meetings of the area Home Demonstration clubs included the buying and cooking of meats, making doll dresses for Christmas packages, and a tour through the wool mills at Eldorado.

KNOTT CLUB
"Meat in Your Menu" was the program topic during the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Knott Home Demonstration meeting. The members met at the home of Mrs. W. C. Frayar.

Miss Alice Ward, assistant county HD agent, conducted the program. She discussed how to select meats and how they should be cooked and served.

The members made plans to serve coffee and cake Nov. 26 to the patients at the veterans hospital.

LUTHER CLUB
Mrs. J. L. Lloyd presented a book review of "Beyond Our Selves" by Catherine Marshall, at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Luther Home Demonstration Club.

The members met at the home of Mrs. A. J. Jensen, and Mrs. Edward Simpson gave the devotion. Mrs. A. M. Anderson was welcomed as a guest, and the next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. J. M. Wilson, Nov. 11.

CENTER POINT CLUB
A covered dish luncheon and workshop was held during the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Center Point Home Demonstration Club. The members met at the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company with Mrs. Alden Ryan as hostess.

Following a short business meeting, the members made 18 doll dresses to be included in Salvation Army holiday packages.

The next meeting will be Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. W. L. Eggleston.

LEES CLUB
The tour through the wool mills at Eldorado was discussed during the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Lees Home Demonstration Club. The members met at the Lees Club house with Mrs. Eugene Smith as hostess.

During the tour, the members saw the complete processing of wool from yarn into the making of fabrics, blankets and rugs.

Mrs. E. B. Low exhibited pillows she had made from a bag of wool remnants purchased at Eldorado.

The members also toured the home of Mrs. Will P. Edwards Sr., in Christoval where they saw her collection of antiques and glassware.

Mrs. Clovis Phinney, guest speaker, gave a demonstration on how to knit on a knitting machine using more than one color of yarn.

Other guests were Mrs. Lois O'Barr Smith, Mrs. J. D. Leonard, Mrs. L. L. Phemister and Mrs. C. P. Sherman.

Secrets Given For Home Permanents

Dear folks:
Lots of you gals have been writing me about giving home permanents.

I have used them myself, and here are some of the secrets I have found helpful:

Wash your hair a day or two before, but do NOT use vinegar or the fabulous rinses. Just wash it with plain shampoo, and be SURE that it is rinsed THOROUGHLY.

Another thing I learned is that if, after you give this permanent, you will use a stiff hair brush and brush thoroughly each lock of hair before rolling it on your regular rollers, it will not be kinky either.

You will have the prettiest home permanent you have ever had. Heloise

Hands under the cold water tap. The gloves will slip off easily. ... Mrs. O. MacDougall

Dear Heloise:
I have a towel rod at each end of my tub, and my Dad bent a hook out of a coat hanger to fit over each rod, and attached a piece of plastic clothes line.

This is ideal, as my nylons drip in the tub, and the clothes line simply unhook, and I loop it over the one rod when bathing. ... Helen Collins

The secret (which I have learned from cosmetologists) is to wait two days (if your hair has a normal amount of oil, or one day if your hair is oily) before giving your permanent. Brush your hair about 50 strokes each day. This lets your own NATURAL oil get back into and through your hair.

When ready to give your perm, wet your hair thoroughly under your faucet.

Then use your store-bought permanent according to its special instructions.

Another thing I have found is that if you have some hair you don't want quite as curly, if you will use two or three of those little papers they send you in the box with the permanent... this one section won't be so quickly curled on the end and become kinky. Grab two or three of these papers and put around the curl before you wind it up.

Dear Heloise:
As I prepare my 11-month-old daughter's meals, a few pieces of dry cereal on her highchair tray keep her happy, and also give her practice in picking up small objects. ... Jan

Dear Heloise:
I just had to drop you a line to tell you the latest use of your nylon net.

Yesterday, my husband bathed our fox terrier dog in the laundry tub. I keep nylon net there to rub the collars of shirts, and when my husband came upstairs, he said, "Chico was never so nice and clean. I used that blue and yellow net piece to wash him and to scrub his toenails — they were never so white!"

So, girls—bathe your dog with a "Heloise." ... Mrs. O. Truesdale

Dear Heloise:

Jo Copeland Designs For 'Non-Ye-Ye' Set

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of women like to brag that they design their own clothes. But Jo Copeland is one of few who can say that what she creates for herself with her own tastes in mind are the very same styles that hundreds of knowledgeable women across the country pay very high prices to wear.

"I design on myself in front of a mirror and I wear only my own clothes. I like them," says this genteel woman who is one of few of her sex to be successful in the rarified atmosphere of American couture.

PRETTY WOMEN

Perhaps, she says, if there were more women designing clothes for women "pretty wouldn't be a dirty word today. Women with a few birthdays would not have to search in despair through racks of kookie and bizarre for something sensible to wear.

Sensible is absolutely the right word, she thinks. Taffy-haired Miss Copeland can't understand why women of intelligence and limited clothing budgets would want to invest in styles so markedly different that they are blatantly out of date in a single season.

Nor for that matter is she able to comprehend why any but the few with perfect legs would want to display the worst parts of them—that part slightly above the back knee bend—with those short, short dresses.

Of course, Miss Copeland knows that the current youth worship kick is part of the reason.

"Things certainly have gotten turned around," she muses. "Mothers used to teach their teenaged daughters how to dress and wear their make up. Now the daughters are telling their mothers what to do."

NO FADS

"I thoroughly disapprove of

Which Twin Is Designer?

stunts," she says emphatically, folding her arms across her chest. "Shock value is not a lasting thing. The way I think women should attract attention is only because they are chic. It should be so subtle that the admirer can't exactly determine what it is that makes her so becoming. Actually, chic is an over-all good taste and color sense.

"Oh, I suppose there are women who can afford to buy a dress for one performance and then after they've had their fun of it give it to the maid the next day," she says. But not many. Not women with great wealth, and not even women whose clothes are their all consuming interest."

NEW IDOL

That's why Jo Copeland finds herself the idol of the non ye-ye set these days. By being a fashion independent, by creating clothes the way she wants them for herself, she at the same time pleases the career woman and wife of the successful business man, the woman who shops with tomorrow as well as today in mind.

And let the kids, Paris and the fashion writers decree what they may, Miss Copeland means to continue that way.

Gray Becomes Fashion Note

Gray is an important color for the season, from pale to charcoal, and it is most effective when a touch of burnt orange is added.

Beige tones, terra cotta, camel and moss green are much in evidence, both alone and combined in patterns, and black is still a winner when teamed with white or a warmer color.

This season the old and the new combine to create a colorful, swinging fashion look.

Fluorescent Ink Lights Closets

A great help in finding things in a dark closet, attic or warehouse is a fluorescent ink now packaged in a ballpoint, fold-up metal tube. Articles marked with this can be spotted easily in the dark. The ink comes in red, yellow and orange.

Rebekahs Will Sell Rummage

STANTON (SC) — Team practice will be held at the Stanton Rebekah Lodge at the Monday evening meeting at the IOOF Hall. The announcement was made by Mrs. Lewis Carlie, vice grand.

A rummage and bake sale will be held Nov. 6 at the Friendly Food Store. Anyone wishing to place an order for a cake, may do so. Rebekahs will pick up any donations for the rummage sale.

Mason Coggin, noble grand of the Odd Fellow Lodge, announced that work will be done on the IOOF Hall Nov. 6. Any labor donated by members will be appreciated.

Members reported visits to the sick.

Party Held Saturday

COAHOMA (SC) — Saturday evening, after the football game, a homecoming party was held in the home of the P. F. Sheddys. Thirty-five attended. Those from out of town were Mrs. Bob Garrett and Mrs. Martha Kallus, both of Midland; Ben Cockrell, and Mr. and Mrs. Elvon DeVaney, Muleshoe.

Betty Harding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McIntosh of Sand Springs, has been released from Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital.

Closet Floors Collect Dirt

If you have the problem of dust and dirt on the floor of closets, the Better Floors Council suggests installing vinyl asbestos tile in these areas. The smooth surface of resilient tiles doesn't act as a dirt collector, and the floor can be kept dirt free with occasional moppings.

MRS. KAJ POULSEN

National Honor Goes To Mrs. Kaj Poulsen

Mrs. Kaj Poulsen, the former Miss Sammie McComb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. McComb, 811 E. 13th, will be featured in the book, "Outstanding Young Women of America," an annual biographical compilation sponsored by leaders of women's organizations.

Mrs. Poulsen was graduated from Big Spring High School and North Texas State University where she was a member of Delta Gamma social sorority, Sigma Delta Pi Spanish honorary fraternity and the senior Mary Order.

She served in Peru as a member of the Peace Corps for two years and has been teaching at San Jacinto Junior High School, Midland. Her husband is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and is a petroleum engineer with Shell Oil Company in Midland. The couple reside at 4303 Andrews Highway, Apt. 514, Midland.

The purpose of the book is not only to recognize and honor outstanding young women of the country, but to focus attention on their capabilities and capacity for progressive action, according to the publishers. Permanent copies of the book, which has been endorsed by Margaret Chase Smith, United States senator, and Mrs. Dexter Otis Arnold, honorary president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will be placed in the Library of Congress and other large libraries.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson served as honorary chairman of the board of advisory editors. The board, included presidents of the largest and most distinguished women's organizations in the country.

Both the American string-and-leather glove as well as the European all-leather racing glove are in demand. The latter looks "faster" — it has half-moon cut-outs, strapped wrists, and holes for knuckle-flexing. So this winter it's the driving glove for — pedestrians, strap-hangers — and drivers, too.

Forum Told Hints On Fabric Care

"What's New in Fabrics" was the program topic at the Thursday morning meeting of the Progressive Woman's Forum. The members met at the home of Mrs. Hugh Campbell, 2809 Clanton.

Miss Alice Ward, assistant was guest speaker. She said that in shopping for clothes or materials, price, performance, care and purpose are things to consider. Miss Ward stressed that all of these items can be found on the label of clothes and materials.

Mrs. Roy Cederberg was welcomed as a new member, and the next meeting will be Nov. 11 at the home of Mrs. Horace Rankin.

Marries In Germany

Miss Harriett Mignonne LaLonde exchanged wedding vows Saturday with Lt. William E. Peterson. The religious ceremony was performed in the chapel of a 13th century castle in Heidelberg, Germany, and the civil rights were in Berne, Switzerland. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elouise LaLonde, El Paso, and Ralph M. LaLonde. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Albert Peterson, Portland, Ore., and the late A. G. Peterson. The bride's grandparents are Mrs. S. H. LaLonde, 786 Rosemont, and the late S. H. LaLonde, and Mrs. W. W. Ogle.

Boys Host Halloween Celebration

Bill Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Coleman, 1100 Lloyd, was host Saturday evening for a Halloween party from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. He was assisted by his brother, Bob, and 35 guests attended.

Refreshments of apple cider and donuts were served from a table centered with pumpkin Jack-O-La-tens and accented with spiders, bats and witches on flying saucers. On one wall was a massive tin mask from Mexico which had been lighted for the occasion.

Entertainment included a gypsy fortune teller and an apple dunking game. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes.

Students Feted At Halloween Party

One hundred fifty children were entertained with a Halloween party Friday morning at the Jack and Jill Kindergarten.

Decorations included a large Jack-O-Lantern on the refreshment table and various holiday cut-outs on the walls.

"Spook" juice and cookies were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Mrs. Riss Roberts and Mrs. Ikie Marr.

Record Of Payments Tells Terrifying Story Of Pox

By SAM BLACKBURN
Late in June, 1883, Howard County Commissioners Court gave the Howard County Clerk orders to see if he could collect $1,124.14 from the State of Texas.

Feature Section Big Spring Daily Herald

SECTION D
Big Spring, Texas, Sunday, Oct. 31, 1965 1-D

LETHAL ENEMY
The $1,124.14 was money the county paid out in efforts to cope with a lethal enemy which had attacked the county—smallpox. There must have been a law in those days that the state would recompense a county where expenses arose in connection with the county's efforts to curb the spread of the dreaded disease.

It was the second time in less than a year that the county's treasury had been hit by smallpox expenses. The first episode came within a few weeks after the new county had been organized. It was not as costly, apparently, nor as widespread as the second, but due to the youth of the county, the treasury was even leaner than that a year later.

The yellowed minutes of the first board of county commissioners' court tells a sketchy story of both incidents. A great many highly intriguing details are missing and there is no way to run them to earth at this late date.

FIRST EPISODE
In the first smallpox episode, initial entries appear early in November, 1882. The minutes show that the county agreed to pay Dr. W. F. Standifer $70 for treatment of a sick "Mexican pauper." Another entry relates the county had paid out $15 for burial of the same "Mexican pauper." No reference is made in these first two entries that the victim died of smallpox.

However, the entries that follow make it clear this was the situation.
"Ordered," the minutes read, "that J. S. Reed be paid $4 for hauling water to small poc man."
"$83 to A. Raglan for burning bedding of small poc man."
"$13.78 to Sea-Heyn for groceries for small poc man"

"$4 for George Bauer for buggy hire for small poc man"
"$25 Shaw and Warner for buggy for small poc man."

On Nov. 27, the county paid John Jullian $105 for waiting on the "small poc man" for 22 days at $5 per day. The same John Jullian was paid $10 to burn two blankets and one quilt the small poc man had used, and C. C. Little was paid $4.37 for beef and J. D. Bacon was paid $5 for medicine.

No effort to collect from the state for this case was made.
MORE TERRIFYING
What happened in early June or perhaps May, 1883 was a vastly different and more terrifying thing. There is no background information—the only surviving record is a long list of payments for services required by what must have been a severe epidemic.

How many suffered from the disease? How many died?
How long did the reign of terror last?
What part did "the dance hall" have in the drama and why was it necessary that the dance hall be kept under close guard for so many days?

And there are grim mentions of the "pest house," too. Things were so grim in the community a special officer was named to direct proceedings. He was called "quarantine master." H. F. Rasun served in the post and he was paid $10 a day—a tremendous salary 82 years ago—for 36 days. At least he was paid $364.55. The money was described as salary and to reimburse him for "money spent on pest house patients."

PEST HOUSE?
There are reasons to wonder if the dance hall may not have been drafted into service as a pest house to confine smallpox patients. However, it could have been that the disease, for some reason, made its initial appearance in the dance hall.

Could it be that the guards, who patrolled that area, night and day for at least a month, were on duty to keep luckless Big Springers who happened to be inside the hall, when the disease was discovered, from walking abroad and menacing their fellows?

Charles Higgins is one of the first mentioned to get money. He got $10 for trips to the pest house. A. L. Jones collected $9 for guarding the dance hall for three days. Other guards and their payments follow—G. W. Hart, $30 and 13 days; E. E. Lowrey, $27 for nine days; G. B. Barnett, $52 for 17½ days; S. B. Everett, $24 for eight days and T. W. Morris, $18 for six days.

Lawson Smith sought $69.34 for supplies he said he furnished the dance hall and was paid $66.34.

BUSY PLACE
Meantime, the pest house was busy.
Dr. Standifer—the same who was called in for "the small poc man" a few months earlier—was paid $166.50 treating "pest house patients."

Joe Fisher asked for $23.35 for clothing for pest house inmates, but was allowed only $8.
John Jullian, the same man, who served in the earlier episode, was nurse at the pest house for five days and was paid $25. Barney Roch was nurse for 19 days and was paid $95. Campbell and Nesbitt fed the luckless patients in the pest house and were paid $74.50 for their food. The City Drug Store collected $20.45 for drugs;

T. G. Curry also fed the patients and was paid $24.25 for the meals he served.

Thomas Voliva furnished $39.45 worth of meat for the patients. The record then goes back to guards for the mysterious dance hall—Joe Galbraith, $7.50 and G. W. Brouse, $6.

J. C. Hopkins was paid 50 cents a trip for going to the pest house. He made 28 trips. R. A. Branton worked cheaper—he made 23 trips to the pest house for $11.50.

There is also an enigmatic entry to the effect that George Hogg be repaid $6.75 for a telegram he sent to the governor.

PLIGHT
Apparently, the county clerk had been asked to communicate the plight of the little county seat, to the state capitol.
The next entry is the resolution instructing the clerk to take steps to collect the $1,124.14 of county funds paid out during the epidemic from the state.

Check of the index does not show if Hogg's efforts bore fruit. It may be the state still owes Howard County for that amount.

No death records were kept in this county until 1903. There are numerous smallpox deaths after that date. There are no records however, of how many suffered the disease and how many may have perished from it in the fall months of 1883. Records of other areas, however, do show that smallpox was generally fatal.

FEARFUL PICTURE
The imagination can conjure up a fearful picture of that mysterious dance hall, its doors locked and barred. Inside on makeshift beds were the victims of the disease—how many?
Outside, armed guards patrolled the building—alike to keep the victims inside and to keep others, who had no business at the scene, from coming too near.

GIVE THE UNITED WAY

Fine Handwriting—Phonetic Spelling
Minutes of county commissioners court for 1882 tell terse story of how smallpox first invaded infant Big Spring and of how the county coped with the expenses it created. The county clerk spelled the disease quaintly "small poc."

Scouts Send Big Shipment To Orphans

An appeal for clothing for Korean orphans set Boy Scout Troop 146 of Webb Air Force Base into motion, and the first shipment is on the way. The appeal came from Major A. K. Halverson, formerly stationed at Webb.

Some 1,000 pounds of serviceable clothing has been collected by the scouts.
"The shipment is for the Sung Yook Orphanage in Osan, Korea," said M. Sgt. Charles Schiell, scout committee chairman, "for youngsters not so fortunate as those who did the collecting."

The $100 it took to pay for the shipment was contributed by Webb Officers Wives Club.

Maj. Halverson is assigned to the 3314th Consolidated Maintenance Squadron, 314th Air Division, Osan, Korea. Upon reassignment from Webb, he left his family in Big Spring while he serves his Korean tour.

It was through his family here that the major described the conditions of the Korean orphans, which his squadron has adopted. He urged support by people of this base and community to send the children clothing.

'66 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan

MIGHTY SMOOTH

(New Turbo-Jet V8)
(Even softer Jet-smooth ride)

'66 Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe—one of 19 models with fine-sculptured new body by Fisher

NOW! '66 CHEVROLET JET-SMOOTHER IMPALA

If you go by first impressions, you could get the idea this clean-honed new '66 is more car than you ever got in an Impala before. And you'd be right.
Take Chevrolet's newest V8's, for instance. They're based on the famed Turbo-Jet design with aircraft-type valves, freer breathing valve openings and other advances that deliver more efficient power than ever before.
Result: You can now order a 396-cubic-inch version with 325 hp. Or you can go for a 427-cubic-inch Turbo-Jet with up to 425 hp.
The ride, too, has reached a new Jet-smooth level of comfort. Chevrolet engineers went over the whole frame and body structure, refining here, honing there. They installed softer acting shock absorbers and even gave each body style its own specially tailored Full Coil springs.

And there's more in the way of those little extras—that come as standard equipment. Like backup lights, padded sun visors and instrument panel, outside rear-view mirror and windshield washer. More in the way of custom features you can order, too, including front-seat headrests, AM-FM stereo and automatic Comfortron heating and air conditioning.
How come so many improvements have been made in a car that was already America's solid favorite? That, as you'll see when you check this one out at your dealer's, is what keeps it the favorite. Improvements.

See the new '66 Chevrolet, Chevelle, Chevy II, Corvair and Corvette at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Annual Junior High Magazine Sale Ends

By LORRIE WATKINS
The magazine sale ended Monday with total sales amounting to $1,657.11. High salesmen for Monday were Clay Harris, seventh grade; Earl Bedell, eighth grade; and Dealy Blackshear, freshman. Mike Moates, Ricky Simpson, Charles Yates and Delores Casson were all given a pair of Kook and Kookie dolls for having sold two subscriptions each to the Saturday Evening Post. Sharon Andrews received a $5 bill.

High homemakers for the sales period were Miss Leonila Cantu, seventh grade, with $210.20; Mrs. Gladys Anderson, eighth grade, with $61.60; and Mr. David Smith, ninth grade, with $50. The three high salesmen were Gary Stallings, seventh grade, with $67; Earl Bedell, eighth grade, with $27.75; and Kathryn Dirks, ninth grade, with $39.

A pep rally was held Thursday afternoon and the fourth, fifth and sixth periods were shortened because of this. Mrs. Glenda Whisenant, cheerleader sponsor, introduced the yells and all speakers during the rally. John Patton and Larry Newton, ninth grade team captains for the game Thursday night against the Snyder Travis Blue Devils, gave pep talks.

Roe Lynn Bunch, head cheerleader, gave a pep talk and Johnny Hedges and Robert Domino were announced as back-of-the-week and lineman-of-the-week. Announced as eighth grade team captains were Louis Switzer and John Hilario, who gave pep talks. Bertie Duncan, head cheerleader, and Coach Carlos Humphrey each gave a pep talk. Louis Dunnam and Benito Rubio, seventh grade team captains, Martha Fierro, head cheerleader, and Coach Bobby Zellars gave pep talks for the seventh grade who will play the Goliad Mavericks Saturday morning.

The seventh, eighth and ninth grade cheerleaders, who are Sharon Cook, Susan Green, Cherri Turner, Martha Fierro, Linda Cathey, Bertie Duncan, Sherry Wooley, Patti Spier, Roe Lynn Bunch, Pat Billings, Katie Gomez and Sharon Hughey, danced to the "Baby Elephant Walk" while the band, directed by Mr. Don Turner, accompanied them.

The Spanish Club sponsored a Halloween Dance from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. in the SUB Thursday night. Music was provided by T. B. and the Carriers. Wednesday, an assembly was held at 10:45 a.m. in the auditorium. SGA president, Charles Price, SGA president, introduced the SGA members and class officers. The presidents of the various clubs introduced their officers, the editors of the annual and the newspaper introduced their staffs, and the basketball team and cheerleaders were introduced.

Terry Cauble, Berta Martinez and Cherry Wright, freshmen. The Lass-O Club sponsored a Mother-Daughter Tea last Sunday in the SUB parlor. Mrs. Larson Lloyd spoke to the group on selecting a vocation. Wednesday Mr. Gary Grant will give a book review on "Herzog" during an assembly sponsored by the Library Faculty Committee at 10:45 a.m. The fourth edition of El Nido, college newspaper, will also be issued Wednesday. Nov. 6, three students and Mr. Bobby Smith will attend the Texas Junior College Student Government Association state convention at Frank Phillips Junior College in Borger.

Stanton Chooses Queen Candidates

By EUNICE STEPHENSON
STANTON — Candidates for Homecoming Queen are Susan Brandt, senior; Brenda Dyson, junior; Kathy Biggs, sophomore; and Laura Costlow, freshman. Queen will be elected by the Exes just before the football game Friday.

Mr. J. B. Fleisher presented a southern assembly program Wednesday during activity period based on "Food for Thought."

Sands Sponsors Annual Halloween Carnival

By JUDY FLEMING
ACKERLY — The Halloween Carnival Queen was crowned Saturday night in the old high school gym where the carnival was held. Nominees and their escorts were Terry Hambrick, Dennis Wells, seniors; Sheryl Nichols, Merwin Beal, juniors; Sandy Sikes, Kenny Gillespie, sophomores; Brenda Beal, Lance Hopper, freshmen; Sandra Nichols, Perry Don Gillespie, eighth graders; Pam Jones, Johnny Peugh, seventh graders.

Each class sponsored a booth at the carnival. The seniors sponsored the bingo; juniors, cake walk; sophomores, football throw; freshmen, babysitting and the foods booth. Three Sands students will go to Monahan's for a Youth Council meeting Nov. 4. Those attending are Linda Shaw, junior; Sandy Sikes, and Donald Davis, sophomores. Mr. Billy J. Underwood, principal, will also attend.

The junior high football team played its last game of the season Thursday night in Mustang Stadium. They defeated the Gall Coyotes by a score of 22 to 8. Cheerleaders were Sandra Nichols, Shara Dee Hambrick, Lynn Massingale, eighth graders; Jan Nichols and Carla Hunt, seventh grade.

Parents' Night Held At Goliad Jr. High

By GWYNN BONNER
Approximately 1,500 students and parents attended Parents' Night Monday. Student body president, Kyle McAllister, presided at the program presented by the choir and band. FHA girls served punch and cookies on the patio, and the annual staff sold yearbooks.

The Delta Club attended the high school supper-theatre production of "Wilbur's Will" Saturday. The next meeting is scheduled Nov. 8 at 5:30 p.m. in the art room. An exhibit of pictures of club meetings and activities was in the visual aid room on Parents' Night. FHA class meetings were held Friday. Members of the International Wives Club spoke to each class. Homemaking class es have started cooking and sewing. The cooking classes have prepared simple breakfasts and the sewing classes are making shifts. The executive council met Thursday morning. Representing Goliad at the science meeting in Austin were Mr. Charles Burned and Mr. Morris Molpus. Mr. Burned teaches eighth grade science and Mr. Molpus teaches biology. The members of the District III Teen-Age Library Association met at Goliad Saturday. District III includes 35 counties and over 150 library assistants are expected to attend. There has been a different art exhibit in the front showcase each week since school started. This week Mr. Royce Feaster is exhibiting eighth and ninth grade work in pastels. The annual staff reminds students that the deadline for purchase of an annual is Nov. 12. Down payments of $1 or more will hold your "Maverick" until a final payment date is announced in February. Cash price for the annual is $4; partial payment increases the cost to $4.25. Annual representatives will visit homerooms on Tuesdays and Thursdays until Nov. 12 to collect payments on the yearbooks.

Garden City Holds Carnival

By BRENDA CLEMENTS
GARDEN CITY — Thursday afternoon the classes worked on their booths for the Halloween Carnival. The carnival was held in the old gym. Trick or Treat Night was held Thursday night.

The junior high football team played Forsan in Garden City Thursday night.

Nov. 6, the seniors will sponsor the refreshment booth at the square dance to be held in Garden City. Students will have their eyes checked by the nurse Nov. 13.

STUDENTS WIN DISCS

This week Debra Smith, a seventh grader from Sands High School, is the winner of this month's free long-playing album and Glenda Leurs, a Goliad Junior High eighth grader is the winner of the 45 rpm.

When these students pick up their record certification from the Herald, they will be entitled to their choice of records at The Record Shop, 211 Main.

Six students and two teachers attended the Nuclear Science Symposium held Saturday in Odessa.

Forsan Crowns King And Queen

By JODY DODD

'DIE! DIE! MY DARLING'
Stefanie Powers and Tallulah Bankhead

Tallulah Bankhead Returns To Screen

Tallulah Bankhead, whose international reputation as an actress was won on the Broadway and London stages — and in occasional screen performances, the last of which was 20 years ago — returns to the Ritz Theatre screen Tuesday in "Die! Die! My Darling!", a shock-suspense story in color. The new horror film also stars Stefanie Powers as the darling of the title.

Miss Bankhead is seen as an aging, murderous maniac in a histrionic tour de force, a study in characterization and conflicting, passionate emotion. It is the story of a madwoman who keeps a young girl prisoner and grimly forces her to undergo shock after shock, gradually reducing her to a stage approaching insanity. The idea is that the girl must first be "cleansed" and "purified" before she can be sent into the hereafter, fit to marry the old woman's dead son.

Miss Bankhead, carrying a Bible in one hand and a loaded gun in the other, is a figure of pathetic and terrifying Miss Powers, too gives a study of a girl in the grip of fear.

Performances by Peter Vaughan, Maurice Kaufman, Yootha Joyce and Donald Sutherland contribute to the drama and shock of "Die! Die! My Darling!". The screenplay by Richard Matheson is based on the Anne Blaisdell best-seller "Nightmare."

Tallulah Bankhead is internationally famous as an actress, and almost as famous for her habit of addressing everyone she meets as "darling" or, since she does it with a tremendous Southern accent, "dahling!" Behind the camera, during production, that "dahling!" was infectious. Before filming of the macabre drama was ended, everyone, from director to the coffee boy, was using the word with Tallulah-like indiscriminate. A term of endearment in most people's book, the word takes on a different usage, Tallulah style. It is an excellent way of covering up the fact that you don't know, or have forgotten, someone's name.

The reason she calls everybody "dahling," Tallulah says, "because all my life I've been terrible at remembering people's names. I can remember faces. Names just elude me. There's a story that's often been quoted and it's true. It explains how it all happened. I was at

New Scripts Get Chance

HOUSTON — A plan to seek full-length original plays and co-produce them with established semi-professional theatre groups throughout Texas has been announced by Weyman Walker, Houston theatre enthusiast. He points out that, while the cost of co-producing a new script will involve modest expenditures by the theatre group and by him, this showcasing could be of great value to all concerned.

Briefly, here's how his plan works: Walker, with an optioned script, offers to underwrite certain expenses necessary to producing the script in return for a small percentage of the profits. After production — when the local, regional and/or national reviews are in — Walker will then decide which way the script will go. Should it attract the eye of a producer on either coast, resulting in a sale, then the theatre group would participate in all future earnings of the property.

However, Walker admits that perhaps only one script out of many tryouts will result in a windfall. But he believes that even an unsuccessful showcasing would have "experience value" for the playwright, the director, the actors and the audience.

As the head of Weyman Walker Presents, a Houston-based concert-attraction enterprise, Walker has sponsored noted attractions (such as Victor Borge and the national company of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?") in several southwestern states.

'MASQUERADE'
Marisa Mell and Cliff Robertson

Circus Signed Up For 'Masquerade'

An entire three-ring circus is co-starred with Cliff Robertson, Jack Hawkins and Marisa Mell in the spy thriller with comedy overtones "Masquerade," opening today at the Ritz Theatre.

And it's a real circus, too! The director came upon it touring the Spanish hamlets when making the picture there, and it was such a typical small circus of the genre called for in the script that, rather than cast one, the whole kit and kaboodle of 'em were signed on the spot — lion tamers, elephant boys, sword swallowers and what-have-you.

Except the premier bareback rider. She's played by Vienna's gorgeous Miss Mell, who makes her American debut in the film. Not that Miss Mell couldn't do it. She's a highly skilled horsewoman besides being a beauty and accomplished actress. But once, in her "extra" days, she was kicked by a horse in a western being made — of all places — on the Canary Islands, and since that time her agent wouldn't have any of it. So a skilled stand-in does the actual riding.

"Masquerade" is from Victor Canning's best-seller "Castle Minerva."

From America comes stalwart Cliff Robertson, most recently seen in "633 Squadron," and famous for his portrayal as President Kennedy in "PT 109." Cliff plays an American soldier-of-fortune who, to his regret, kidnaps a kid who turns out to be a handful.

Sharing honors with Cliff is

Martin, Lewis Co-Star In Twin Bill At Ritz

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis go from hi-hats to six guns in a special double-bill presentation of two of their greatest comedies, "Living It Up" and "Pardners," both in Technicolor, opening Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

Based on the musical comedy, "Hazel Flagg," "Living It Up" has Jerry portraying a railroad worker at Desert Hole, N.M., a bleak spot that looks like its name. Jerry is a dreamy kind of fellow whose one big desire is to get to the big city. Following a weird set of circumstances in which Jerry drives a radioactive automobile, country doctor Dean Martin diagnosis him as a doomed man, soon to die from radiation poisoning.

When the news of Jerry's impending plight flashes around the country, Janet Leigh, an enterprising sub-sister newspaper reporter, persuades her penny pinching publisher, Fred Clark, to grant Jerry his dying wish. A glorious spree in the big city. She arrives in Desert Hole just as Doctor Dean discovers his diagnosis of Jerry's malady was incorrect. The boys conceal Jerry's good health and go on to New York for their great big time.

"Pardners" was Martin and Lewis' first fantastic foray into the woolly West. The sage-brush saga takes place around the turn of the century, with Dean and Jerry each playing dual roles. They are first seen as rugged cattlemen who meet a glorious end fighting off raiders. Their wives rescue their infant sons and bring them up separately, Dean Jr. on Park Avenue. Dean grows up a stalwart cowpoke and Jerry a socialite who yearns to be the man his father was.

When Jerry finally rebels and joins Dean on the ranch, he unexpectedly gets his chance. The raiders are rampaging again and their undercover leader appoints Jerry sheriff, figuring a tenderfoot will be no trouble to him.

Jerry bungles his way in and out of brawls, gun fights, bank robberies and dynamite plots, managing with Dean's two-fisted help to come out on top each time.

Co-starring with Martin and Lewis in "Living It Up" are Janet Leigh, Edward Arnold, Fred Clark and Sherree North. Co-starring with Dean and Jerry in "Pardners" are Lori Nelson, Jeff Morrow, Jackie Loughery, John Baragrey and Agnes Moorehead.

Dean and Jerry, the two ambassadors of unbridled buffoonery do all that is expected and more. They sing, they dance, they romance and they give everyone a run for their money.

STAMP NEWS

Norway's Philharmonic Honored On Two Issues

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newswriter

Norway's philharmonic society "Harmonien," established in 1785 in Bergen, is honored by that country with the issuance of two new stamps. The society is one of the oldest musical organizations in the world.

The 30 ore and 90 ore adhesives depict the Patronesse of Bergen, "St. Sunniva," and some ancient buildings of Bergen in the background. The announcement of the artistic commemorative set for the society's 200th anniversary came directly from the Norwegian Post Office in Bergen.

Great Britain has issued two new stamps marking the operational opening of the new Post Office Tower in London. The 3 pence stamp is vertical and shows the 620-foot tower springing from a symbolic foreground of Georgian - type buildings which are a feature of the immediate vicinity. The colors are two shades of blue and yellow. The 1 shilling 3 pence picture Georgian architecture and the lower overshadowing Nash Terrace at Regents Park. The colors on this higher value are two shades of green and blue. In each stamp the Dorothy Wilding portrait of Queen Elizabeth is featured to the right of the tower.

As an experiment, the British Post Office for the first time has printed the names of the artist and printer in the bottom margin of each stamp.

Day Writes Lively Book

MY APPOINTED ROUND. By J. Edward Day. Holt, Rinehart. $3.95.

Day's very funny memoir is about his experiences as Postmaster General in the Kennedy administration.

It's a lively mixture of politics and government business, filled with anecdotes, puns and quips, but in addition there are some interesting observations on serious matters.

The author relates his headaches over commemorative stamps, Post Office dedications and the perils of automation, as well as some of the day-to-day workings of the nation's largest enterprise.

He pokes mild fun at the party circuit, the rumor mills and the protocol of Washington, and tells how it is for a business man (insurance, in his case) to be a Democrat.

Part of the Postmaster General's job is to travel, and Day tells how he often combined political speeches and official appearances on the same trip, in the midst of what he calls "Motorcade madness."

He concludes with some advice for people entering public life, and some personal impressions of the Kennedy - Johnson team.

Day has had a great deal of experience as an after-dinner speaker, and judging from what he has put into his book, he must be quite a wow at charming his audiences.

Is continental comfort having your bedding turned down for you at night?

That's one pleasant continental touch. But there are others finding that someone has shifted your sheets while you slept, for instance, and receiving a fragrant, complimentary cup of coffee in the morning to get your day started right.

Plans Under Way For Annual Drive

Preliminary planning has started for the annual National Foundation campaign to raise funds to combat birth defects. Wade Choate, chairman of the Howard - Glasscock counties chapter, said half the money raised here will be used locally, and the balance will go to the national office, to finance research and public education. The March of Dimes effort last year spent $844 on birth defects patient care; $615 for polio patient care; $500 for the birth defect centers at Houston and Dallas; and $37.50 for office costs. Since June of this year, the chapter has given $600 to the Howard County Rehabilitation (Crippled Children) Center, and another $500 to the Texas birth defects centers. DEAR ABBY

Plainly Obvious

DEAR ABBY: My husband has always bought me gifts of clothing. Clarence knows my dress size, shoe size, glove size, and my most becoming hats have been gifts from him. I think he has excellent taste, and whenever anyone compliments me on my clothes, I proudly say, "Clarence bought it for me."

Recently a good friend of mine said that men who bought their wives wearing apparel were really ashamed of them and tried to make them look better. She said that men married to beautiful women weren't aware that they needed anything.

I thought it over, and had to admit that the wives whose husbands bought them wearing apparel weren't exactly beauties. What do you think, Abby? Maybe some other women would like to comment? PLAIN JANE

Pack Makes Hayride Plans

Plans for a big hayride - wiener roast Saturday, Nov. 13, were drafted at the meeting of Pack 236 Cub Scouts at Midway School Thursday night.

The wiener roast will be at 1 p.m. with the boys meeting in the school at that hour. Fathers of the boys in the pack are asked to accompany their sons and lend a hand staging the outing.

At the meeting Thursday night, awards were presented to Cubs who have made advancement. Travis Waller made the presentations.

Bobcat awards were made to Chester Russell, Norwin Bingham, Ivan Rose, Donnie Ellington, Gary Danie' and Putt Choate.

Archie Lee Segrest Jr. was presented with a wolf badge, bear badge and a gold and silver arrowhead.

Steve Newton was awarded a gold arrowhead.

Den 1 presented the program, and also was announced as winners of the honor banner. A Halloween social followed the meeting.

Engineers Will Meet In Odessa

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers will have the monthly meeting for the Permian Basin chapter in the Texas Electric Service Company building in Odessa Tuesday.

J. R. (Jason) Troth, engineer with the Solar Division of International Harvester in Tulsa, Okla., will be the speaker. His topic is "The Gas Turbine - What Can We Expect in 10 Years." The chapter is in process of organizations and prospective members will not be required to pay an initiation fee.

Modern Math To Be Explained

A class to explain to adults the concepts of modern math being offered through the schools is to be started Monday at 7 p.m. in the Gay Hill School. WILL BE CHANGED DAILY !!

PARNELLI JONES

Winner of the 1963 Indianapolis 500, and the Pikes Peak Hill Climb, Parnelli has beaten the best. He has also won both the 1963 and 1964 Milwaukee 200's. Parnelli Jones knows the importance of good, dependable tires, and his race-track testing of the Riverside ST-107 clearly shows its worth! Even at speeds of over 138 MPH, the ST-107 could withstand every torture test it met. Parnelli Jones has tested the ST-107; see them for yourself today!

RODGER WARD

A double winner in the Indianapolis 500! First place in 1959 and again in 1962. Winner of the 1963 Milwaukee 100 and Indianapolis 100. Rodger Ward is another man who realizes the importance of excellent tires. Ward drove clear across the country... from The World's Fair to Disneyland... and his Riverside Premium L.D.T. Tires showed they could take it, like champions! Driven over all types of roads and through all types of weather, the L.D.T. proved its excellence.

 Wards Riverside guarantees tires are guaranteed.
 1 For the quality of material and workmanship for the life of the original tread. Adjustments will be provided on the tread pattern based on road price when returned.
 2 Regular road hazards (potholes, curbs, etc.) are covered for the period specified. Adjustments will be provided on the tread pattern based on road price when returned.
 3 For tread wear for the period specified. Adjustments will be based on exchange price* on a specific dollar allowance. Tread wear allowance not applicable to race tires or tires used commercially.

TESTED TO PROVE DEPENDABILITY!
 Parnelli Jones proved that the ST-107 could roar around a track safely even at speeds over 138 MPH. That's faster than you'll ever drive, but here's what it means to you! RIV-SYN, Wards extra mileage producer, assures longer tire life. The wide angle tread design puts more rubber on the road where you really need the traction. 3300 "swirl-sipe" edges deliver quick, safe stops. The tough 4-ply nylon cord carcass absorbs road punishment and resists damage due to heat build-up and moisture rot. Parnelli proved it! Buy ST-107 tires and see for yourself.
