Space Strike

Pickets stand at one entrance to McDonnell Aircraft Corp. in St. Louis, Mo., today as a wildcat strike by machinists against the company which manufactures the Gemini Space Capsules gained momentum. The strike, termed unauthorized by union leaders, started at midnight. (AP WIREPHOTO)

LBJ At Alma Mater, Signs Education Bill

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson flew to his old college here today to sign a $2.6-billion education bill he said will put 140,000 more students in college next year with federal help. Johnson, returning to the campus of Southwest Texas State College where he received his degree in 1930 — after a brief fling as a school dropout — offered this assessment of the broad new legislation: "It means that a high school senior anywhere in this country can apply to any college or university in the U.S. — and not be turned away because his family is poor." "A NECESSITY" — Asserting that "education is no longer a luxury but a necessity," Johnson said in a speech prepared for the outdoor bill-signing ceremony: "In the next school year alone, 140,000 young men and women will be enrolled in college who, but for the provisions of this bill, would never have gone past high school. We will put the rewards of their wiser citizenship and greater productivity for decades to come." Among other things, the legislation provides for federally financed scholarships — called "educational opportunity grants" — ranging from $200 to $1,000 a year. "OPEN TO ALL" — "To thousands of young men and women," said Johnson, "this act means the path of knowledge is open to all with the determination to walk it." At the same time, Johnson said he will go back to Congress in January for money to finance a National Teacher Corps authorized in the bill but later denied funds. This corps would bring special help to children in impoverished areas. "I intend immediately to ask again for the money to take the Teacher Corps off the drawing boards into the classroom," he said. Johnson's speech combined praise of the new bill with some sentimental recollections of his college days here and philosophizing about government's role in education. On the last point, he said: "Too many people, for too many years, argued that education and health and human welfare were not the government's concern. REFORM AT HAND — "Even as they spoke, our schools fell behind, our sick went unattended, and our poor fell deeper into despair. "Now at least we are acting. The roots of change and reform are spreading throughout the nation." Johnson said he wanted to emphasize "that the federal government intends to be a partner, not a boss," in education, and has "neither the wish nor the power to dictate." Under the corps program, teams of teachers and recent graduates would try to improve educational opportunities for children in poverty areas. The corps would start with about 6,000 members. They would be paid with federal funds and serve in an area only at the request of local school officials. The college scholarships are expected to average $500, running from $200 to $800 with a $1,000 ceiling allowed for a student in the upper half of his class in the preceding year. PROVIDES LOANS — The program also provides low-interest loans for students, funds to improve college libraries, grants to aid small and newly developing colleges, increased grants for building college classrooms and grants for audio-visual equipment and other teaching aids. This was the second education measure Johnson brought to Texas for signing. Last April 11, he signed a $1.3-billion elementary and secondary school bill at the one-room school near his ranch where his formal education began. PRIVATE SERVICE — For the second straight Sunday, Johnson and his wife did not go to services in one of the neighboring churches. Instead they invited Ray Akin, lay minister of the First Christian Church of Johnson City to conduct a private worship service at the ranch. Aides said Johnson is taking life pretty easy while making steady progress in his recovery from his Oct. 8 gall bladder-kidney stone surgery.

U.N. Presses Nuclear Curb

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly's main political committee approved today a resolution calling on the disarmament negotiators in Geneva to negotiate quickly a treaty to ban the further spread of nuclear weapons. By a vote of 83 to 0 with six abstentions the committee adopted a compromise resolution on the top disarmament issues at this session of the U.N. General Assembly. LONE ABSTAINER — France was the lone big power among the abstainers. It has consistently boycotted the negotiations in Geneva. The resolution sought to bridge the conflicting stands of the United States and the Soviet Union, which have offered draft treaties on the issue to the assembly. The chief point of difference is that the Soviet draft would block the proposed multilateral nuclear force or similar arrangements contemplated by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization while the U.S. draft would not. EIGHT NATIONS — The compromise resolution was submitted by the eight non-aligned nations which take part in the Geneva negotiations of the 17-nation disarmament committee. The negotiators are expected to reconvene in Geneva after the first of the year. As adopted, the resolution recommends that any treaty on banning the spread of nuclear weapons be void of any "loopholes which might permit nuclear powers to proliferate, directly or indirectly, nuclear weapons in any form. The resolution contained these added recommendations to the Geneva negotiators: —That the treaty should embody an acceptable balance of mutual responsibilities and obligations of the nuclear and non-nuclear powers. —That a treaty should be step toward the achievement of general and complete disarmament.

Indonesia Women Rally Against Reds

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Several thousand women demonstrated today against the Communist party outside the headquarters of Maj. Gen. Suharto, who told them the armed forces will crush the leaders of the Oct. 1 coup. The army chief of staff addressed the crowd of housewives, movie stars and school girls from one of the armored cars parked at the compound. The crowd had handed him a resolution urging dissolution of the Communist party for taking part in the attempted coup. It was the latest in a series of anti-Communist demonstrations following the coup. But it was the first time Suharto had addressed the demonstrators. At least 20 women's organizations jointly sponsored the rally. Suharto accused the Communist party and its affiliates of masterminding the short-lived coup. The demonstrators carried anti-Communist slogans and also signs reading "kick out Subandrio from the cabinet." Subandrio, President Sukarno's foreign minister and first deputy premier, has been under repeated attack in local newspapers accusing him of sympathies with the Communists.

Art Foundation Director Named

FORT WORTH (AP) — Dr. Richard Fargo Brown, 48, of Los Angeles is the new director of the Kimbell Art Foundation here. Mrs. Kay Kimbell and Dr. Coleman Carter, co-chairmen of the foundation, disclosed Brown's appointment Sunday.

Gas Chamber Takes Holiday In California

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Death is taking a strange holiday in California. The little green-walled, two-chair gas chamber in San Quentin State Prison — where four women and 190 men have paid with their lives for crimes — has executed no one in almost three years. Death row, originally set up to house 34 condemned men, now has 47. Two have been there more than eight years. Twenty more also would be there were it not for appeals now part of a courtroom logjam likely to prolong the moratorium on executions indefinitely. IRONIC OUTCOME — There's an irony in this. Gov. Edmund G. Brown tried to get the legislature to abolish capital punishment. It wouldn't do it. Then he asked for a moratorium on executions. The legislature turned him down. Now, in effect, he has it anyway. The last execution was on Jan. 23, 1963. Since then a steady buildup of death row inmates has conformed to the routine of being locked up 20½ hours out of 24 in 4½-x-11-foot cells under armed guard, the condemned men exercise the other 3½ hours in a fenced enclosure. Their view of the world outside is what they see on television screens at night. "The absence of executions in California for nearly three years is primarily the result of various court decisions including the Morse, Dorado and Griffin decisions," explained Walter Dunbar, director of the California Department of Corrections. He capsuled these State Supreme Court rulings: "Morse decision — During the penalty trial — in California the penalty is determined in a trial separate from that on the verdict — no reference can be made to the fact that men with life sentences are eligible for parole in seven years. "Dorado decision — A suspect must be informed of his right to remain silent, his right to an attorney and the fact that anything he says may be used against him in court. "Griffin decision — No reference can be made in court to the defendant's failure to testify on the witness stand." 26 REVERSALS — Since the Jan. 7, 1964, Morse decision, rendered in the case of a San Diego teenager convicted of killing his mother with a rock and his sister with a baseball bat, there have been 26 penalty reversals based on it. Eleven killers have been retried and are back on death row. Three got a switch from the gas chamber to life. One was Iva Kroeger, the eccentric sharp-tongued grandmother who buried a strangled couple in the basement of her San Francisco house so she could take over their auto court. Legal breathers are held over this staggering question — does failure to tell a man, before he confesses, of his rights open retrial doors for cases going back into the past?

UF Reports Good Weekend

The United Fund campaign had another good weekend report today, booming ahead to $81,066.31. This put the effort within 18 per cent of the $99,964 goal, and the formal drive is nearing its end. At this point, the Out-of-Town and Webb AFB divisions are the only two that have surpassed their goals. However, the Big Gifts Division is nearing its goal, and several others could reach the victory circle with a few more reports. There are 14 welfare agencies depending on the campaign to help finance their services in the new year. Any deficit in the gifts received by the United Fund may have to be taken from their budgets.

Almost Danced All Night

Princess Margaret leaves the Bistro restaurant in Beverly Hills just before 3 a.m. today after dining and dancing with Hollywood movie stars at a party given by her school-girl friend, Sharman Douglas. Even at that hour, the sidewalk outside the place was jammed with people trying to get a closeup glimpse of the princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Over 100 Hollywood Stars, Princess Throw Big Party

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After dancing until 2 a.m. today at a glittering Hollywood party, Princess Margaret arose early to attend to royal chores and see where movies are made. Relaxed and gay, the fun-loving princess twirled around the floor Sunday night with such partners as Fred Astaire, Gene Kelly and Danny Kaye. She'll meet more of Hollywood's royalty tonight at the big World Adoption International Fund ball at the Hollywood Palladium, after promoting British goods at a department store and touring Universal Studios. SINATRA, MIA — Judy Garland, Kaye and Kelly sang and danced a little soft-shoe. Frank Sinatra, attending with Mia Farrow, declined to sing, explaining he thought everyone should just relax and have a good time. More than 100 of Hollywood's top stars attended the party, the princess' first in Hollywood since her arrival Sunday. It was given by Sharman Douglas, the princess' old friend and daughter of former Ambassador to Great Britain Lewis Douglas. Sharman, a one-time Hollywood publicist, is accompanying the princess on her tour. The princess' husband, Lord Snowdon, danced too — with actor Steve McQueen's wife, Neile Adams, and actress Asa Maynor. Sitting at the head table with the Snowdons were Gregory Peck and his wife, Veronique; Warren Beatty; comedian Milton Berle and his wife, Ruth; and British star Julie Andrews, with director Mike Nichols. Elizabeth Taylor and husband Richard Burton rode up to the Bistro restaurant in an old London taxicab, owned by Elizabeth's secretary, Richard Hanley.

Supreme Court Denies White Parents Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court denied today a hearing to a group of white parents in New York City who protested a school board plan of pupil assignment. The parents said the plan excluded their children from neighborhood schools to achieve a "balance" of Negro and white pupils. Remo J. Addabbo and other white parents said the board in a ruling affecting two schools "required children of tender years to walk past their nearest school, cross heavily trafficked thoroughfares, sustain inconvenience, hardship and deprivation of freedom of choice, and be deprived of constitutional guarantees." Under the plan, 29 first and second graders ride a school bus. None of the 29 is a child of the parents who appealed to the Supreme Court and their appeal did not raise any question concerning bus transportation. Counsel for the school board, in a brief opposing a Supreme Court hearing, said under the plan none of the children will have to travel more than six short blocks farther than formerly and many will travel less. The brief said the plan results in substantial benefits to pupils of both schools. The Supreme Court's denial of a hearing to the parents was announced in a brief order which made no comment.

Cotton Crop Forecast Dips

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated the cotton crop today at 15,079,000 bales, off 80,000 from last month. The October figure was 15,159,000 bales. This compared with 15,180,000 last year and 14,670,000 for the 1958-63 average. Cotton was grown under government controls, supplemented by offer of payments to growers who underplanted their allotments. Reserve supplies are expected to reach a record high of about 15.7 million bales this marketing year.

Diefenbaker Likely To Lose In Election

TORONTO (AP) — Friends and foe alike speculate that John Diefenbaker is making his last stand as a national political leader in Canada's election today. Most of his opponents and many followers of Diefenbaker's Conservative party concede him only the scantest chance to win and displace Lester B. Pearson as prime minister. Eight newspaper or broadcast groups predict Pearson will win; some supported Diefenbaker, but none foresees him as the winner. Their forecasts average a total of 137 seats for Pearson's Liberal party, 10 more than it has now and a majority in the 265-member House of Commons. Diefenbaker has made a vigorous campaign and has said nothing publicly about retiring as party leader if he loses, but an associate says this is probable. He is 70 and already has lost one election to the Liberals, in 1963. Before that election his Cabinet was disrupted by resignations, amid charges of anti-Americanism, and there was a move in the party to discard Diefenbaker as leader. The party has closed ranks again, but few Conservative stalwarts are likely to want Diefenbaker to remain as party chief after another defeat. LOST IN '63 — The leader of the party winning the most seats in the House of Commons becomes prime minister. Diefenbaker held the job from 1957 until he lost to Pearson in 1963. Pearson, with only 127 seats in the last Parliament, had to depend on support from minor parties to pass vital legislation. He called today's election in an effort to get a Liberal majority. He has predicted a net gain of 16 seats to give him that majority.

Five Of 11 Rescued In War Action

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. pilots said they smashed another missile site in North Viet Nam today. But one of the Soviet-supplied rockets at another site knocked down an American Air Force plane. And four other planes were lost in the same area during search and rescue operations. Five American fliers were rescued and six were listed as missing, a U.S. spokesman said. The attack on the missile site 60 miles east of Hanoi was the sixth in two days. Pilots said they heavily damaged four missiles and four launchers.

MISTAKE BOMBING

The spokesman also disclosed that U.S. Marine planes accidentally bombed a friendly South Vietnamese village Sunday, killing one woman and injuring 10 other persons. The bombing was due to a mistake in target data, the spokesman said.

In the sharpest new ground action, 500 Viet Cong overran a hamlet 135 miles east of Saigon and inflicted heavy losses on the 75 defenders. There were no reports of Communist casualties.

A government force supported by U.S. air strikes later regained control of the hamlet.

SAVAGE FIGHT

Intelligence reports from Pliet Me indicated more than half of the 500 Communist troops who engaged U.S. 1st Cavalry troops in a bitter weekend battle were either killed or wounded. The Americans also took heavy losses in the savage fighting 8 miles west of the Special Forces camp at Pliet Me. A U.S. spokesman said 71 Viet Cong were known dead and an additional 200 were believed to have been killed or wounded. About 1,500 cavalrymen searched today for remnants of the enemy unit, but no contact was reported. It was believed the Communist troops had broken up into smaller groups and dispersed into the jungle near the Cambodian border.

The spokesman said one of 11 Communists captured in the fight claimed he was an officer in a North Vietnamese unit. The story of the five lost planes — as related by an official spokesman — began Friday when a group of P16 Thunderchiefs raided a missile site about 20 miles north of the North Vietnamese city of Thanh Hoa. The lead plane was hit by a missile, apparently from the intended target, and the plane plunged down near the missile site. There was a low overcast and no parachute was sighted. On Saturday, a U.S. Air Force Skyraider flying rescue cover in the same area was shot down by conventional groundfire. A parachute was seen and a ground signal was received, but the pilot has not been rescued.

COPTER DOWNED

A few hours later an Air Force helicopter taking part in the same search and rescue operation was hit and knocked down. The four men aboard the helicopter parachuted and one, the flight mechanic, was picked up. The other three men aboard the helicopter are listed as missing. Later in the afternoon a second Skyraider was hit by conventional groundfire. No parachute was observed and there was no radio contact from the ground.

Car Sliced Open, None Injured

Rodolfo Cordova Garcia and three passengers in his car narrowly escaped serious injury or death at 6:15 p.m. Sunday, when his car crashed into a low bridge abutment and was literally sliced open. Highway patrol officers said that Garcia was on US 87, about 4.3 miles north of Big Spring. He sought to pass a car ahead of him and his wheels left the slab, causing the car to swerve enough to one side that it crashed into the low abutment on the bridge. The entire right side of the car was cut away by the impact, the patrol reported.

Violence Toll Climbs To 30

By The Associated Press
 Thirty persons met violent deaths in Texas during the weekend.
 Traffic accidents took 18 lives, and shootings and stabbings accounted for most other deaths.
 The Associated Press tabulation began 6 p.m. Friday and extended to midnight Sunday.
 The fatalities included:
 A Sunday night accident near Fairfield, in Freestone County, killed an Arlington woman and her two sons. They were Mrs. Johnny Dewese, 28, and Bart, 5, and Jeff, 1. Six other persons were hurt in the head-on collision.
SHOT FATALLY
 Dr. Albert F. Riedel Jr., a psychiatrist at Dallas' Timberlawn Sanitarium, was shot to death Sunday night at a ranch eight miles south of Ranger, in West Texas. No ruling on the death was immediately returned.
 Mrs. Carol Payne Martin, 24, of Dallas was killed Sunday and two others were injured when two cars hit eight miles east of Weatherford on US 80.
 An Army helicopter pilot from Marathon, Fla., was apparently electrocuted Sunday as he installed a home television antenna at Ft. Wolters, near Mineral Wells. He was Lt. Verbon B. Freeman, 22.
MIDLANDER KILLED
 Alex Fry, 55, died Sunday in the fire that destroyed his house at Apple Springs, near Lufkin.
 A Sul Ross student was killed near Midland Sunday when the jeep he drove hit a utility pole on US 80. He was Richard Giles Duncan, 18, of Midland. Another student was hurt.
 A two-car wreck in North Dallas Sunday killed Harry S. McCollum, 17, of Garland. It was the 102nd traffic death of the year for Dallas.

 Thomas Ray Womack, 17, of Houston, was killed Sunday in a Houston car wreck. He was a trainee at the San Marcos Job Corps Center.
 A former Arkansas resident, Walter Eugene Rowe, 60, was killed Sunday in a car-truck collision near Cleveland. Seven other persons were injured. Rowe had been living with relatives in Galena Park.
THREE PERISH
 Three persons were killed and three others injured in the collision of a pickup truck and car late Saturday 12 miles north of Livingston. Killed were Charlie Sargent, 63, of Livingston, Mrs. Pauline Ann Simpson, 20, and her nine-month-old son, Bobby Dean Simpson. Injured were W. T. Simpson and two of their children. The family was moving from Houston to Center when the crash occurred.
 William Carlton Belyeu, 66, died Sunday after he was struck by a car as he crossed an Abilene Street Friday.
 Vold Sowell, 39, of Fort Worth died early Sunday of a shotgun wound. Fort Worth police questioned a 28-year-old man.
 Derly Rendon Jr., 26, was killed Sunday in a two-car collision on the west side of San Antonio.
CAR OVERTURNS
 Ernest J. Huggins, 52, an Army specialist fifth class from Atmore, Ala., was killed early Sunday when his car left Interstate 35 and overturned into a creek northeast of San Antonio.
 Mrs. Jacqueline Young, 25, of Houston, was found dead in her car Saturday near La Porte. An autopsy showed she had been strangled early Saturday morning.

Board Meets Amid Protests On Textbooks

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Education meets today with a familiar item on the agenda — protests against certain textbooks recommended for use in Texas schools.
 Another item of business will be the selection of a new board member to succeed Emerson Stone Sr. of Jacksonville until the 1966 general election. Stone resigned recently after serving on the board 20 years.
 The text book appeal comes from Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Gabler, Longview, who appeared before the State Textbook Selection Committee and State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar to protest several economics books. They contended the texts were slanted toward big government.
 Today's protest specifically concerns two books—McGraw-Hill's "Economics for Our Times" and Ginn's "Economics."

The state commissioner refused on Oct. 28 to delete the two books from the recommended list, saying he agreed with the textbook selection committee in picking them.
 Dense fog swaddled the country from Nebraska to the upper Ohio Valley today, hampering road and air travel.
 At least two airplanes crashed in the fogbound Midwest. A single-engine craft went down in heavy fog near Benton Harbor, Mich. Sunday night, killing an Indiana man and injuring two others in the plane.
 In Chicago, a single-engine Navy jet trainer piloted by a

Two Airplanes Crash In Midwestern Fog

By The Associated Press
 Marine Reserve captain crashed as the pilot tried to land in fog at O'Hare International Airport. He had been instructed not to land at his scheduled destination, Glenview Naval Air Station, because fog was too dense.
MIST BAND
 The band of mist separated the cool air hanging over northern states and mild air to the south. Roseau and International Falls, Minn., reported two inches of snow by early morning as the white powder fell from North Dakota to Lake Superior.
 Clouds covered most of the nation, with the exceptions of the Southeast and the Southwest from the central Rockies.
COLD FRONTS
 A series of cold fronts crept up on the Pacific Coast, stimulating an already-steady rain Cape Blanco on the southwest

Oregon coast reported 2.66 inches of rain in 24 hours.
 Light showers sprinkled Mississippi, the Tennessee and Ohio valleys, the mid-Atlantic states and the south Atlantic coast.

Klan Holds Rallies, Memorial Services

By The Associated Press
 Burning crosses and memorial services highlighted Ku Klux Klan rallies held over the weekend in four states.
 Klansmen, spectators — and some hecklers — turned out in Rising Sun, Md.; Chesapeake, Va.; Lebanon, Ohio; and Austin, Tex.
ATTRACTS 2,000
 The rally at Rising Sun, the first in Maryland in more than 40 years, drew a crowd Saturday night that newsmen estimated at about 2,000. However, Vernon Naimaster, acting head of the state klavern, said there were at least 3,000 cars counted before the counter "got tired and quit."
 The Maryland rally featured memorial services for Daniel Burros, a New York Klan leader who killed himself when his Jewish background was disclosed, and Matt Murphy Jr., a Klan attorney from Birmingham, Ala., who was killed in an auto accident.

 Last Friday, Georgia Grand Dragon Calvin Craig said a congressional investigation of the Klan in Washington, has produced new interest and "a million dollars a day worth of publicity" for the KKK.
ONLOOKERS JEER
 The Texas march, called a success by Exalted Cyclops Royce McPhail of Crockett, was marked by taunts and jeers from spectators as the robed Klansmen walked five blocks to the steps of the state Capitol Sunday. Five men identified as members of the American Nazi party walked with the Klan group.
 A group of students, including several Negroes, marched beside the robed men at one point and sang the civil rights song, "We Shall Overcome."

DEAR ABBY

He's Easily 'Compelled'

DEAR ABBY: There has been quite a lot written in your column about office parties which exclude the husbands and wives of the employees. But what would the rules on this one be? My husband has a small office, with only one secretary. Last month he acquired a rather important account he had been working on for some time. His secretary (unmarried) gave him a "celebration" party at her apartment last Saturday night. Other "mixed" couples (not married to each other) were present. Of course my husband was told that his wife was not invited, yet he accepted the invitation anyway. He said he felt "compelled" to go, and there was no way of getting out of it, so he had to go alone. How about this?
DEAR SAT: Your husband could have replied that unless his wife were invited to the "celebration" of his new account, she shouldn't count on him. "Compelled" by whom? His secretary? Aw, c'mon!
DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my sister got a divorce from a swell guy I'll call Max. It was more her fault than it was his. They have two lovely children who are doing the suffering because of the break-up. Max was willing to try to make a go of the marriage, but my sister wasn't. Anyway, she is poisoning the kids' minds against their father, which is not right. Here is our problem: My husband and I (and also some other members of our family) still like Max, but never see him socially, but never when my sister is there. We have nothing against HIM, so why shouldn't we? My sister gets mad every time she hears about it. Now she says we have to make up our minds. It's either Max or her. What should we do?

DEAR IN: Tell your sister that she has the privilege of choosing her friends, and so have you. And if she wants to drop YOU because you still see Max socially, it's her privilege. But she is the one who is making the choice, not you.
DEAR ABBY: I work in the office of a large industrial plant. Everyone in the office calls everyone else by his first name. In many cases their last names are not even known. This is very embarrassing when I meet some of my co-workers in public. Here I am a 22-year-old woman calling men old enough to be my grandfather "Harry, Jack and Steve." It sounds so intimate and fresh. I was reared to respect my elders. How can I greet these older men in public without addressing them by their first names when I don't know their last names?
DEAR EMBARRASSED: Ignore their names. Just say "Hello" or "How do you do, Sir?"
 Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Commissioners To Mull Parking Ticket Policy

City commissioners will be asked to try to decide a method for clarifying the city's parking ticket policy Tuesday at 7 p.m., according to Larry Crow, city manager.

There are certain persons, notably county officials, who are exempted from paying parking tickets when on official business, Crow said. But meter mads generally ticket all violators. This uses up a lot of time, and commissioners will be asked to try to solve the problem.

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, who today was negotiating with property owners on the city's north side, will tell commissioners his progress on acquiring right-of-way on Northwest Sixth and Seventh streets for the commission-approved route to Lakeview School, Crow said.

Whether the city's fire insurance program is adequate, and whether it should be changed, will be discussed by commissioners. Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, will present a report from a fire insurance engineer at the meeting. There are indications the city's present fire insurance program is greatly different from that recommended by the fire insurance engineer.

Only two other items are slated on the short program. Blankenship & Bevis Enterprises, Inc., will request a permit for on-premises consumption of wine and beer at the "Pizza Hut," Highland South Shopping Center on US 87 south; and Mattie Taylor will ask for a permit to sell beer for on-premises drinking at the "Jumbo Cafe," 2906 Gregg. Both will be public hearings.

Mrs. Burnett Dies Sunday

Mrs. F. M. (Ludie) Burnett, 87, died at a local rest home at 10:10 p.m. Sunday.

She was born Dec. 29, 1877 in Carroll County, Ark. She married F. M. Burnett July 28, 1894 in Hot Springs, Ark.; he died Aug. 17, 1963. Mrs. Burnett was also preceded in death by four daughters and two sons.

Graveside services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Derden Cemetery in Hill County. The Rev. Byron Orand, pastor of College Baptist Church of which she was a member, will officiate. Arrangements will be under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Burnett had made her home with a daughter, Mrs. J. R. Birmingham at 2002 Morrison, since 1962.

Survivors are four daughters, Mrs. Effie Faulkington, Texarkana, Ark.; Mrs. Lillie Griffin, Pampa, Mrs. Myrtle Broxson, Skellytown, and Mrs. Minnie Birmingham, Big Spring; two sons, E. A. Burnett, Dallas, and F. M. Burnett Jr., Aquila.

Officers Check Two Burglaries

Police reported two burglaries and an attempted break-in Monday.

Burglars entered the east door of the Bowl-a-Rama, US 80 east, Saturday. Keith Henderson, manager, told officers. The burglars broke into two cigarette machines, three pinball machines, and one other game machine, he said. Missing were an undetermined amount of money and two bowling ball cleaners.

A 10-ton capacity hydraulic jack, a tire and a wheel were taken from his pickup, Friday, D. E. Heffington, 1412 W. 3rd, told officers Saturday.

Red Williams, Hobby Center, 1095 Eleventh Place, told police burglars had attempted to force a door to the building Sunday night. No entry was made, of officers said today.

Program Planned For Veterans Day

Handicapped members of local Boy Scout Troop 81 will present the colors at 10 a.m. Thursday to begin the Big Spring Veterans' Administration Hospital observance of Veterans' Day, according to Donald D. Van Meter, hospital director.

The handicapped Scouts have been especially trained for the program by two Webb AFB sergeants.

James Brown, winner of the American Legion high school oratorical contest, will speak on "The Constitution—Ours to Defend," his winning speech. He will speak in the hospital lobby after invocation by Airman John Wommal and a welcoming speech by Van Meter.

After presentation of music by the Big Spring High School Band, the presentation of the colors, Bill Davis, band drum major, will lead the gathering in the Pledge of Allegiance, according to C. E. McDonnell, medical administrative chief and master of ceremonies. Then the ceremonies will move into the lobby for young Brown's speech and closing remarks by Van Meter.

"We would like all who can possibly do so to come and join us in expressing our thanks and our gratitude to all veterans of this country who have served so nobly in peace and war," Van Meter said Monday.

Gold Star Mothers will be special guests at the ceremonies honoring U. S. veterans of all wars.

Time has run out for Bobby Beardsley. Mandate confirming his conviction in the 118th District Court April 19. Beardsley was found guilty by a jury in 118th District Court April 19. He appealed the conviction on the grounds that the statement introduced in his case was involuntary. The appeals court Oct. 20 found that the statement was voluntary and admissible. The lower court's findings were affirmed and the mandate dispatched.

Stuffers Needed

The herculean job of stuffing envelopes, which will be mailed to residents in the annual Christmas Seal campaign of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association, is underway, and the ladies need all the volunteer help they can get. From left, Mrs. Quentin J. Florence, Mrs. Rupert Gamble, and

Mrs. Mira Beavens and others are tackling the job this morning. But there are plenty of envelopes and materials to go in them on hand, and those who can spare the time are invited to participate, in the First Presbyterian Church.

Christmas Discussion Set

Christmas activities for Big Spring, including street lighting, coming of Santa Claus, and home lighting contest will be discussed at the 10 a.m. meeting of the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday. Some tentative plans have been set up and will possibly be completed at the meeting.

Louis Wolfson, chairman, who has called the meeting, said street lighting in the downtown and shopping center areas had been tentatively agreed upon, and the date for turning on lights, and coming of Santa Claus scheduled.

Nov. 28, the day after Thanksgiving, has been scheduled as the date for turning on Christmas lighting downtown, and the committee will ask that all merchants display Christmas spirit in their stores.

Santa Claus has been scheduled to arrive at the T&P station at 2 p.m. Nov. 29. He will be met at the station by a miniature train and will be escorted south on Main Street to the east side of the courthouse by Big Spring police and the high school band. He will be available to pre-school-age children up to 3:45 p.m. and, after that, will be on hand until about 5:30 p.m. for school children wishing to see him. Santa will be assisted by Big Spring firemen and American Business Club members.

Family Night

Family Night will be observed at the American Legion hut at 7:30 p.m. today. All members of Post 355 are urged to attend and bring their families.

Bill Battle, Longtime Barber Here, Dies Sunday

W. H. (Bill) Battle, 72, 3106 US 80 west, died at 6:30 a.m. Sunday in a local hospital. He had been in ill health for about seven years, having suffered a stroke in 1958. Mr. Battle, a barber in Big Spring since 1917, was born in Fannin County June 15, 1893. He retired in 1960.

He was married to Gladys Parks Dec. 2, 1933. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War I, was a life member and Past Master of the Staked Plains Masonic Lodge No. 598, was a charter member, member of the Council, Commandery and Shrine, of the York Masonic bodies. Mr. Battle was also a member of the Airport Baptist Church.

For a long time he operated the City Barber Shop in downtown Big Spring and then moved to a location at 1012½ W. 3rd Street.

Services will be held at the River-Welch Funeral Home chapel at 2 p.m. Tuesday with the Rev. Ronnie Bostick officiating. Burial will be in Big Spring City Cemetery, with Masonic graveside rites.

Masons will be pallbearers, and all old friends will be considered honorary pallbearers. Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Gladys Battle; two sons, Hal Battle, Midland, and Bill Battle, Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Larry McDonald and Mrs. Mary Jo Lowe, Big Spring; a step-son, Gene L. Parks, Denver, Colo.; 11 grandchildren; two step-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Mamie Grisham, Dallas, and Mrs. Hallie Cursey, Chico, Calif.

OIL REPORT

Re-Entry Will Go To 5,100

Holley - McKenney of Big Spring and others will enter an old producing hole on the west edge of the latean, East - Howard field, and will deepen it to 5,100 feet as a wildcat. The No. 2-C McKenney is one mile west of latean; its original depth is not given.

Location was staked 330 feet from the south and 1,320 feet from the east lines of 40-29-1, T&P survey, in Mitchell County.

But They Know Where He Is

Police had been hunting him for three or four hours Sunday night and early Monday morning—somebody had reported the man had tried to run him off the road. Officers finally cornered the man, at a little after three o'clock in the morning.

Arrested Here For Fort Worth

Arthur Lee Lemons, 41, wanted as a parole violator in Tarrant County, was arrested by sheriff's deputies Sunday on a Fort Worth warrant. He has been around Big Spring for some time, picking cotton, Sheriff A. N. Standard said.

Woman Learns Not To Interfere

A local woman said Sunday she has learned her lesson, officers said today. She won't go around interfering in family arguments for a while at least.

Bob Walker, Formerly On Webb Staff, Dies

Robert C. (Bob) Walker, who served as base historian at Webb AFB and as a key figure in the Office of Information Services for a decade, died Nov. 1, it has been learned here.

He died unexpectedly in San Antonio, where he had lived since retiring from his post here at the end of 1964.

Mr. Walker had visited here about a week prior to his death, pausing on his way to Tucson, Ariz., for a business trip and a visit with his son, Robert C. Walker Jr.

Mr. Walker was one of the most familiar figures around Webb, and at the time of his retirement, his tenure was one of the longest on the base. He also found time to be active in civic affairs and was an extremely active member of the First Baptist Church.

He had a career in the Army and as a civilian in the Air Force that was colorful and practically unmatched. High honors had come to this man, who had fibbed on his age to enlist in the Army in 1914, when he was assigned to the old 7th Air Park air unit of the Army at Brooks Field.

TOP GENERALS Before his discharge in 1929,

Two Accidents Reported Today

Two traffic accidents early today and one Sunday failed to injure anyone, police said today.

At 3:10 a.m. today, police said, a car driven by Hazel Marie Radd, 4009 Wasson Road, was damaged on both sides and the front, when it struck a fence and signs near a service station at 2709 Wasson Road.

Cars driven by Haura McChristian, 1215 Ridgeroad, and Aleta Ann Tatum, 1404 Settles, were in collision at the intersection of Tulsa and Ridgeroad at 8:37 a.m. today, police said. Both cars were lightly damaged.

Sunday, the cars of James H. Howell II, Wichita Falls, and Trumond Phillips, Lamesa, were in collision at the intersection of Fourth and San Antonio, officers said.

ROBERT C. WALKER

He became an intimate friend of most of the men who became top generals of the Army Air Force during World War II. But he could not stay away from the military, so he organized a news service then operated base newspapers until a heart attack interrupted his career. Back on his feet, he was assigned to Webb AFB and practically grew up with it.

Mr. Walker was a native Texan. He was born in Bremond, Robertson County on Nov. 21, 1894, and moved to Sherman with his parents when he was 10 years old. He was educated in the public schools of Sherman; he attended Jefferson in the Fifth Ward, and Sherman High School, then located on N. Travis Street, adjoining the old Opera House.

In 1914 when the United States began its buildup, military-wise, and Gen. Fred Funston assembled his newly recruited division at San Antonio for the invasion of Mexico, Walker left school to enlist. Being under age, he went to St. Louis and presented himself to the recruiting officer as a 21-year-old man. He was accepted and later was assigned to the forces of Gen. John J. Pershing, then assembled for a crossing at Naco, Ariz.

PURSUED VILLA

The pursuit of the famous bandit Villa, having ended in the fall of 1915, Walker was shipped to the Philippines. He was stationed at the old Spanish Fortress of Santiago, when the US entered the war, in the Spring of 1917. In the fall of that year Walker's regiment was ordered to France, but the troopship on which his regiment sailed encountered a typhoon in the China Sea—off the coast of Formosa—and Walker was rescued by a Japanese fishing schooner, and taken to Nagasaki. He spent the next three months in Nagasaki awaiting transportation to France.

Arriving in France in the spring of 1918 he joined the 5th US Division, and was assigned to the 11th US Infantry, near Chaumont—then Gen. Pershing's headquarters, where Walker renewed old acquaintances with the general. Shortly after his arrival in France, Walker suffered a shrapnel wound in the hand and waited out the war's end in a hospital in England.

Returning to his regiment after the Armistice, he was selected to represent his unit at the Palace of Versailles and to act as guard of honor for President Woodrow Wilson on his arrival for the peace conference.

AIR UNIT

Upon completion of this duty Walker was ordered to the Far East, to protect U.S. interests in Siberia near the Vladivostok area. Returning to the States in 1922, after an absence of nearly eight years, Walker was ordered to the old 7th Air Park, where he joined the air unit and travelled with that organization to Brooks Field, San Antonio, late in 1922. Walker remained on duty at Brooks Field until 1929 when he was discharged as regimental sergeant major.

Following his discharge Walker represented various newspapers and news services as military representative, and later founded the Military Service News which he published from 1929 to 1949, when he suffered a heart attack. At one time during the war years, Walker published a chain of base newspapers extending from Shreveport, La. (Barksdale Field) to March Field on the West Coast.

He had known two presidents, personally and had a speaking acquaintance with several. He was a strong contender for Gen. Eisenhower's press secretary.

CIVIC AFFAIRS

Mr. Walker was former vice president of the San Antonio Advertising Club, and headed the committee which brought the AFA Convention to San Antonio. He was a 32 degree Scottish Rite Mason; a member of Community Lodge, San Antonio; a member of Alzafar Temple. He was an active member of the Allena Baptist Church of San Antonio. He organized the Men's Bible Class at First Baptist Church and was its first president.

Mr. Walker was a former post adjutant of the Business and Professional Men's Post of the American Legion and a charter member of that organization. As vice president of the Big Spring Lions Club, he headed the delegation that brought the convention to Big Spring in 1960.

In 1923 Mr. Walker met Miss Ollie Pitts who had graduated from Baylor University the year before, and came to San Antonio to accept a position as teacher in the elementary division of the San Antonio school system. They were married in 1925; they had one son, Robert C. Walker Jr., now living in Tucson, Ariz.

Mrs. Weathers' Condition Grave

Mrs. Hila (Stormy) Weathers is in very grave condition at the hospital in Van Nuys, Calif., where she had open heart surgery Thursday. She was progressing satisfactorily, when Saturday she began hemorrhaging internally and had to be taken back to surgery twice. On the heels of this, she lapsed into convulsions and a coma. Today she was still in a coma, but was resting somewhat better.

Highlights Of Day In Capital Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's a day for analyzing.

The government's decision to unload 200,000 tons of surplus aluminum.

The victory of Republican John V. Lindsay in the New York mayoral contest.

ALUMINUM: The federal government is going to sell 200,000 tons of its surplus stockpiled aluminum.

The decision apparently isn't sidetracking industry plans to raise prices, but it is bringing criticism.

The Aluminum Co. of America, for example, calls the action "precipitous" and says it might "possibly disrupt a key industry, with consequent damage to the economy."

In announcing the planned sale, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said it wasn't triggered by the industry price boosts.

But McNamara said it is "bound to relieve some of the pressure on prices."

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, adds that the industry increases—fifth in 25 months—are not justified and are inflationary.

VICTORY DEBATE: Was Republican John V. Lindsay's victory in the New York mayoral election also a victory for his party?

Check one: Lindsay: "I don't think it is a Republican victory."

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, also a Republican: "The Republican party is on the way back up. As a matter of fact, they are already back up as a result of this election."

A Democrat, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey: "In New York City, a Republican won who said he was not a Republican."

Lindsay spoke on CBS's radio-television program "Face the Nation"; Rockefeller on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers"; and Humphrey in an Associated Press interview.

CAPITAL QUOTES

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex.: "There will be no quick and easy solution (in Viet Nam). We still have a long, hard and bloody road ahead."

Politicos 'Exploit' Red Threat Theme

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Communism has become an issue in a backstage fight that threatens to divide the ruling Uganda People's Congress.

Two opposition parties are whipping up an anti-Communist campaign with warnings of assassination plots and subversion.

They have called on the government for an assurance that the threat of communism to Uganda's kingdoms and traditional institutions was being countered.

HITS BACK

The left wing has hit back, charging the existence of anti-Communist hysteria designed to oust Prime Minister Milton Obote, by force if necessary.

A Communist core is active in Uganda but even opposition leaders agree privately that the Red threat is being exaggerated for political motives. They contend Obote and some of his Cabinet colleagues have been reluctant to order a crackdown on Communist activities.

MODERATE BLOC

This also is broadly the contention of a moderate, generally pro-Western faction of the ruling party. Minister of State Grace Ibingira, 33, a British-school lawyer, took over as party secretary-general from leftist John Kakonge and later had nine militant pro-Communist expelled from the party.

Referring to a campaign against him, Ibingira has said: "They call me an imperialist but the fact is we have no evidence of any Western power maintaining paid agents in this country."

"We do know, we have definite proof, that certain Eastern powers pay money directly to Uganda agents."

INTERNAL POLITICS

They are being protected, he charged, by some Uganda People's Congress officials who hope to employ them in internal politics.

The basic cause of a split within the ruling party is fear by the southern Bantu of domination by the minority Nilotic people of the north.

With a few exceptions, the political split corresponds to the tribal division. Obote is Nilotic, Ibingira Bantu.

Peak Feed Grain Production Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A revised government forecast predicts a record high production of 161 million tons of feed grains during the current marketing year.

The Agriculture Department's new look at 1965-66 prospects for corn, sorghum grain, oats and barley also raised the preliminary feed grain carryover from last season to $5.3 million tons.

Rep. Bonner Dies At 74

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Rep. Herbert C. Bonner, D-N.C., was a quiet man who pushed the idea that the world's first nuclear merchant ship should fly the American flag.

The 74-year-old chairman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, who was sometimes called the father of the nuclear ship Savannah, died in Walter Reed Army Hospital Sunday. He had a cancerous kidney removed in July.

The congressman's body is being returned from the nation's capital to his eastern North Carolina town on the banks of the Pamlico River where he grew up.

The funeral will be Tuesday in St. Peter's Episcopal Church. Burial will be in Oak Dale Cemetery.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (to play in The Chess Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AKJ765 ♦A842 ♠A

Your right hand opponent opens with one diamond.
What do you bid?
A—Double. While it is true that you are interested in only one suit, there is no overall in hearts that will adequately describe the full strength of your hand. A bid of just one heart is apt to be passed out, while a jump bid of two hearts is now employed as a preemptive measure.

Q. 2—As South vulnerable, you hold:
♠QJ5 ♦QJ74 ♦A2 ♠J1064

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass 1 ♠ Double Pass
1 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Five diamonds. So far you have promised absolutely nothing but the holding of four hearts, on the basis of which partner has undertaken to score 10 tricks. The fact that you have the queen-jack of hearts, the ace holding which surely must fit with partner's hand, and the ace of diamonds, should make it certain that an 11-trick contract would be safe. You should make one try for slam by showing the ace of diamonds.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable and as South you hold:
♠KQ1076 ♦97 ♦AQ5 ♠K97

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A—While all the suits are stopped a rebid of two no trump is not recommended. Very little over a minimum is held and a rebid of two spades does justice to the holding. To qualify as a sound rebid of two no trump, the opening hand must have at least 15 high card points.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable and as South you hold:
♠KJ10 ♦QJ106 ♦A105 ♠A74

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ ?

What do you bid?
A—Nothing. You might as well accept a short profit. You have no reason to feel confident that you can make three of anything with this unattractive distribution and a double by you would obligate partner to bid.

Q. 5—As South vulnerable, you hold:
♠KJ964 ♦K3 ♠AQ732

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Pass. You have already done your full duty by this hand and should not be unduly influenced by the distributional features which you have already shown. Your hand is quite minimal as to high cards.

Q. 6—East-West vulnerable. You are South and have 60 part score.
♠742 ♦2 ♦Q10832 ♠J653

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid?
A—It is my practice to go to great lengths to keep the bidding open when an advanced part score is held, but this is going too far. You frequently have complications set in by virtue of South's "sporting" bid of one no trump in situations such as this. Partner has received no warning, and carries on the fight against the expected competition to his great disaster. One cannot expect always to be right in these situations, but I am persuaded that the pass will be wiser in most cases.

Q. 7—As South vulnerable, you hold:
♠72 ♦KJ9753 ♦K4 ♠742

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid?
A—This hand stands a very good chance of producing five or six tricks for partner and consequently is on the verge of a slam. The best way to indicate such a holding is by a big jump in hearts. Our own preference is for five hearts.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠Q1086 ♦65 ♦AK43 ♠752

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
2 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What is your opening lead?
A—A trump. This is better than first taking a look with the king of diamonds. You must start getting dummy's trumps out so that declarer will have less opportunity to ruff spades. When you get in with a diamond, as is very likely, you will be able to lead another trump in an effort to complete your sabotage.

Filipinos Will Vote Tuesday

MANILA (AP) — They've tossed everything into the pot for one of the biggest presidential election stews ever cooked up on the Philippines. Tuesday is election day. The voters have been exposed to the longest concerted campaign in this nation's history.

The major parties, the Nationalists and the Liberals held their conventions last year to give their candidates time to cover the major islands among the 7,000 that make up the country.

TWO-WAY FIGHT
The campaign has boiled down to a two-way fight between President Diosdado Macapagal, for the Liberals, and Senate President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Nacionalista party.

Both are claiming victory already but cautious money rates the election a tossup.

It would be hard to find anything — good or bad — that has not been said, printed or broadcast about both men.

Full-page advertisements extol the brilliant war record of Marcos. The next page is filled with his "sins," including one of "libeling the Filipino nation, its heroes and leaders."

Macapagal is described as a "man of the masses" — which every Filipino politician must be in his campaign promises. His ads recite a litany of successes.

ANYTHING GOES
No holds are barred in an election. Paid advertisements are even interspersed in children's television programs.

Macapagal and Marcos have been making last minute appeals, especially in the areas where they hope to build up big majorities.

An axiom in Philippine politics is that if a voter doesn't see the candidate, he doesn't vote for him.

Political rallies go on until the early hours of the morning. Rural folk will come for miles with their families, sleeping in village plazas until the candidates appear.

The Philippines has lived with

Hot Wire Kills Viet War Veteran

MINERAL WELLS (AP) — First Lt. Verbon B. Freeman, back from duty in Viet Nam only six months, was apparently electrocuted while installing a television antenna at his home.

Freeman and his wife lived at Wolters Village, a military settlement near Ft. Wolters.

An Army spokesman said Freeman and a friend were putting up the antenna when it touched a high-voltage wire.

Court Fight Brews Over Orleans Vote

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A court fight was brewing today over the outcome of the city Democratic primary in which Mayor Victor H. Schiro apparently won re-election.

Councilman James E. Fitzmorris Jr., who ran a close second, asked for a recheck of voting machines Tuesday, with his representatives present.

Fitzmorris said a suit was being prepared to deal with "many irregularities" and could change the outcome.

"The whole city knows there have been many irregularities at the polls," he said.

On the unofficial count, Schiro, 61, held a margin of 562 votes over the combined vote of the other four candidates.

The final tally — made by the police department — gave Schiro 81,843 votes. Fitzmorris 78,412. The three minor candidates polled a combined vote of 2,869.

In a primary, a minimum of 50 per cent of the total vote, plus one, is necessary to win. Otherwise, a runoff primary matches the two top candidates.

Oil Institute Opens Meet

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — The president of the American Petroleum Institute said today the oil industry's involvement in government matters will intensify in 1966.

Frank N. Ikard of New York City said the number of federal and state legislative proposals affecting the industry increased sharply in 1965, and the trend can be expected to continue into the new year.

Ikard said major issues include percentage depletion, air and water conservation, oceanography, taxes, wage and hour legislation and highway sign legislation.

ASKS UNITY

In a prepared speech at the opening session of the institute's 45th meeting, Ikard said all oilmen must unite in making the industry's voice heard and its opinions felt.

The former Texas congressman indicated new studies of the industry's 27½ per cent depletion tax allowance may develop on two fronts.

The 39-year-old tax allowance that was designed to offset depleted production and unsuccessful exploratory efforts will be involved in the study of the balance of payments question, Ikard said, and the new Public Land Law Review Commission has indicated it will study depletion provisions.

REDUCE IMPORTS

No serious attack on depletion developed in Congress this year, but there was considerable criticism of the allowance's foreign provisions. Some independent oilmen also have suggested elimination of foreign depletion as a means of reducing oil imports.

The petroleum institute represents all segments of the oil and gas industry. Its official policy calls for opposition to any change in percentage depletion. A policy statement adopted in 1961 says the 27½ per cent allowance should be maintained without any reduction and without any discrimination between small and large operators or between domestic and foreign production.

PAST CHALLENGES

Ikard said the allowance has survived many challenges in the past because the industry spoke in a single voice and its position was understood clearly. "Time and again Congress has correctly traced and continued discovery of new petroleum and the continued expansion of reserves to the historic and appropriate tax treatment of the industry," he said.

"Any policy, even a good policy, ought to be subject to periodic review. But it is one thing to review a policy to see if it is working and it is quite another to suggest it has to be tinkered with or dismantled to see if it is working."

Klan Stages Texas March

AUSTIN (AP)—Thirty-one Ku Klux Klansmen, robed but unmasked, marched to the Capitol Sunday in support of U.S. action in Viet Nam.

The Klan's ranks were augmented by five men who said they were members of the American Nazi Party from Dallas.

Exalted cyclops Royce McPhail, Crockett insurance man, tried to read a prepared speech on the Capitol steps in support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam. His words had to compete with the yells of hecklers.

Boats Smuggling Refugees Aboard

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Crews of small boats leaving Cuba are smuggling refugees aboard despite the ban on departures, the Coast Guard said today.

A Coast Guard spokesman said 14 refugees arrived at Key West Sunday although Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has said no more may leave Camaricoa, the port emigrants must use. The refugees swam from shore to the boats.

The 14 were aboard six boats. Thirty-three other small craft reached the Florida Keys Sunday and about 60 more are on their way.

BOATS BARRED

With an airlift of refugees to the United States due to start Dec. 1, Castro has ordered a halt to the disorderly small boat exodus. The Cuban government said only those who left Florida aboard the vessels would be allowed to return in them.

The Coast Guard rescued 30 crewmen from disabled exile boats Saturday night.

Castro in a radio speech monitored in Miami, criticized doctors who want to join the present exodus.

Speaking in Holguin, eastern Cuba, on the 48th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, he said: "Those who desert the ranks of the medical workers, those who have dedicated themselves to save lives and alleviate pain, deserve complete contempt."

Castro said in his speech Sunday night, however, that Cuba does not impede the departure of any citizen.

NOT MENTIONED

The Cuban Prime Minister made no mention of the U.S.-Cuban agreement on refugee departures.

The agreement, completed Saturday, is expected to bring more than 100,000 Cubans to the United States. Commercial airliners chartered by the U.S. government are to fly the emigrants from the Varadero Airport, 60 miles east of Havana, to Miami.

Men of military age will not be allowed to leave.

Property Goes To The State

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts reaped close to $500,000 during the last fiscal year from unclaimed racing winnings, unclaimed insurance policies, unclaimed bank books and other forms of unclaimed property.

State fiscal agencies reported also that almost $5 million has reverted to the state in the last 10 years because people have abandoned their property or have died without heirs.

Assembly Starts Debate On Seating Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly begins debate today on the annual proposal to admit Communist China. The debate was expected to end with the Chinese Reds still on the outside, despite the biggest vote in their favor so far.

Speakers listed for the first round of debate include Huot Sambath of Cambodia and Halim Budo of Albania, both supporters of Peking, and, on the opposite side, Liu Chieh of Nationalist China and Arthur J. Goldberg of the United States.

LARGEST VOTE

Diplomats agree that the Chinese Communists will fail to get the two-thirds majority needed to seat them. They also agree that they will get the largest vote they have received since the issue first arose in 1950. The vote in 1963 was 41 in favor, 57 opposed and 12 abstentions.

Goldberg gave British television viewers an argument against bringing in Communist China in a recorded BBC interview Sunday night. He said that "it does not qualify for membership" because "it is not peace-loving" and it "repudiates the charter" of the United Nations.

"The recent declarations of Red China," he declared, "make this session a stronger case for the exclusion of Red

Crash Of Light Plane Hurts 2

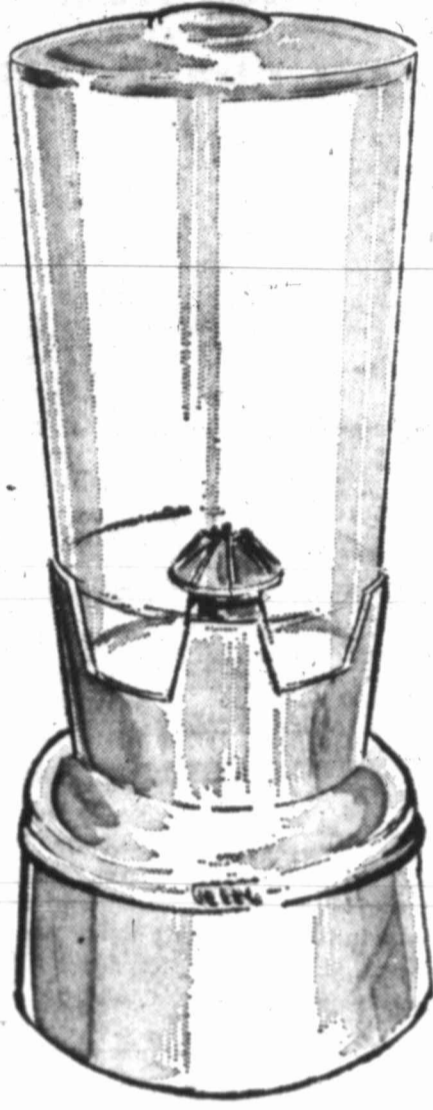

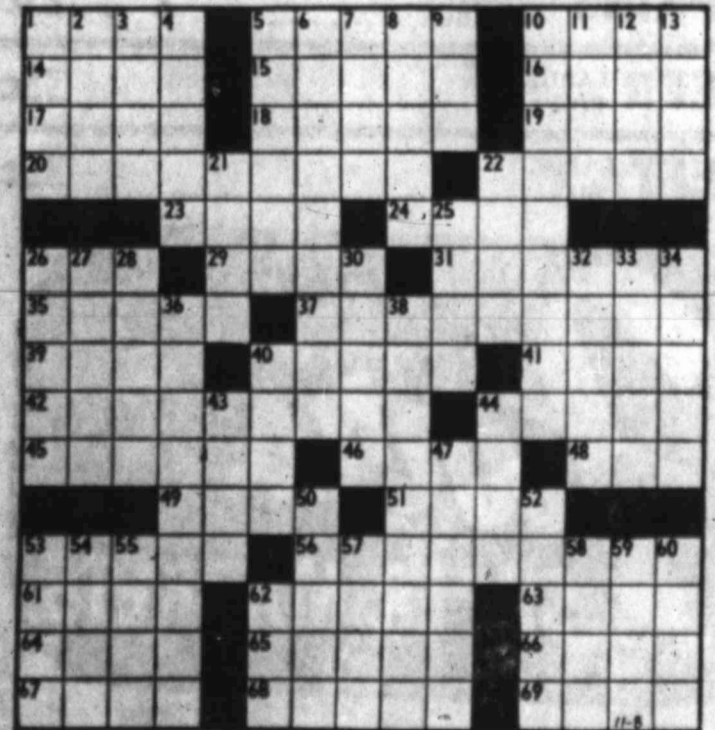

DENTON (AP) — A single-engine plane crashed near Lake Dallas Sunday, injuring two of the three aboard.

In fair condition at Dallas were Louis Watson, 46, of Ada, Okla., and Bonnie Chamberlain, 19, of Amarillo. Watson's son, Greg Dale, 17, wasn't hurt.

Miss Chamberlain and young Watson are SMU students. The five-place Stinson clipped a tree near a small landing strip and crashed.

Protestants, Catholics Join In Worship

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP).—Roman Catholics and Protestants joined hands and worshipped together at a religious service in Municipal Auditorium Sunday.

The service, called the Festival of Faith, was sponsored by both the Kansas City Council of Churches and the Kansas City-St. Joseph Catholic Diocese. About 4,000 persons, including 120 clergymen, took part. Catholics and Protestants sang hymns and recited prayers in unison. Ushers accepted donations for ecumenical affairs of the coming year.

The Rt. Rev. Edward R. Welles, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of West Missouri, and Msgr. Richard Schumacher, vicar general of the Kansas City-St. Joseph Catholic Diocese, led the reading of scriptures and devotionals.

"We Christians must gratefully cherish and cultivate the spirit — given unity that we already possess," Bishop Welles said.

"Unity in Christ is unity in one body and one spirit and one baptism. Our goal must include some form of institutional unity."

High School's Yearbook Wins J-Day Honor Rating

Big Spring High School's yearbook for 1965, "El Rodeo," was named the top Honor Book rating at the luncheon meeting during Texas Tech's annual J-Day program-Saturday. Merry Lee Dibrill, now attending Howard County Junior College, was editor of the 1965 book. Linda Ann Taylor, 1966 editor, received the certificate. Other schools named for Class AAAA yearbook certificates were Lubbock Monterey, Odessa, Pampa and Amarillo. Larissa Snyder and Brownfield took AAA honors. During the business meeting, Debbie Douglass, junior in Big Spring High School, was named vice president of the student group. She is junior staff assistant on the yearbook. At the same meeting Mrs. Erma Stewart was elected president of the faculty group.

State Leaders Assail 'Peaceniks' At Rally

SAN ANGELO (AP) — State leaders blasted anti-Viet Nam war "peaceniks" at a rally Sunday. Gov. Connally said the more than 6,500 West Texans at the Americanism Day rally were themselves a sign "that we Americans stand firmly behind our troops in Viet Nam, that they are not forgotten, that we believe they will win this war."

Bank Merger Bills Rapped

DALLAS (AP) — The chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee asserted today that bank merger bills pending in Congress are "sneak Pearl Harbor-type attacks on the nation's anti-trust laws." The chairman, Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, told the United States Savings and Loan League that the bills would exempt mergers of banks from the antitrust laws and would grant retroactive forgiveness to six banks now under prosecution by the Justice Department. He said proposed legislation would free all assets of merging banks from antitrust prosecution including non-banking functions such as credit card operations, car rentals, data processing and insurance. "If the bank merger bill passes, the banks will be free to gobble up non-banking businesses at will with complete immunity from antitrust prosecution," Patman asserted.

Pearl Stays As No. 1 In State

SAN ANTONIO — The Pearl Brewing Company has maintained its place as Texas' largest selling beer, figures for the first nine months of 1965 reveal. Harvey J. Bolser, vice president, marketing, announced Saturday. Bolser said that during this period, Pearl sold 912,738 barrels in the state of Texas. It was reported further by Bolser that total barrelage of all Pearl Brewing Company products for the first 10 months of 1965 (through October) was 1,460,497 barrels. Pearl Brewing Company moved into the Number One sales position in Texas in 1954 and has not relinquished its position since. The brewery has sold more than one million barrels every year since 1960. Based on total barrelage figures to date, Pearl will set another all-time sales record for 1965, Bolser predicted.

Patients Enjoy Trip To Zoo

"There are not many places they can go and see so many unusual things," Mrs. Mary Cochran, State Hospital volunteer coordinator, said in a letter to A. D. Blount, owner of Pet-A-Zoo, Inc. She was thanking him for admitting a group of teenage patients in a free trip to his unique enterprise.

"It was a highlight for them," she said, "and we are grateful to you for allowing them to visit."

Blount said he had a great show of support during the weekend, and the Pet-A-Zoo had its biggest crowds to date. He lowered the adult price to 25 cents for a special appreciation weekend.

"We were certainly gratified at this increased attendance," he said today, "and plan more specials in the future."

On the heels of the big weekend attendance, he has been notified that Pet-A-Zoo corporation papers have been filed.

A Devotional For The Day

Not everyone that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my father. (Matthew 7:21)

PRAYER: O God, our heavenly Father, help us to fulfill our obligations to Thee as Thy children, both in worship and in service. Forgive us our self-centeredness and increase our faith and loyalty; we ask in the name of Jesus our Lord. Amen.

(From the "Upper Room")

Leave Way Open

The general thrust of the Social Security Act is to encourage retirement, at least by age 65. Should the federal government be neutral on this question, rather than encouraging retirement at 65?

This question has been raised by Otto Eckstein, a member of the Council of Economic Advisers, speaking at a seminar on manpower problems, automation and aging.

"As prosperity continues, the need to find ways to augment the supply of skilled manpower becomes even more important," Eckstein said. "Under present conditions and prospects no social purpose is served by hastening the retirement of experienced workers possessing the productive skills our economy will need."

The government stance, Eckstein added, should be neither on the side of encouraging, or of discouraging, early retirement.

Many skilled workers have by no means exhausted their productive abilities by age 65. Some can in fact continue to work until age 70 or even longer in positions which exploit to the fullest the exceptional skills which only long experience can develop.

A small move toward making it easier for men and women to continue past age 65 was an amendment to the Social Security Act passed by Congress earlier this year. It raises to $1,500 a year (from a previous $1,200 a year) the amount a retiree under Social Security may earn without reducing his retirement income.

But if the worker does want to continue working after 65, no obstacles should be placed in his way, either.

Redistricting Analysis

The reapportionment in Texas has been aggravated primarily by incumbents who fear changed constituencies will threaten the security of their own political careers. That has in turn spread anxiety among rural-area citizens that an "urbanized legislature" will run roughshod over their minority interests, and among conservatives that it will become liberal dominated.

A scholarly study by Clarice McDonald Davis just published by the University of Texas' Institute of Public Affairs should help clarify the probable consequences of strict population-only legislative redistricting. The study analyzes the voting in the 57th and 58th Texas Legislatures on what appeared to be urban-rural and liberal - conservative issues. It also weighed legislators' votes by population size of their constituencies to see if the outcome would have been different in a legislature redistricted for equality of population representation.

The study's methods appear objective and fair, and its results logically support these conclusions: (1) There has been no clear urban-rural cleavage in legislative roll calls. (2) Neither urban nor rural legislators tend to vote as a bloc, even on what might be categorized as either urban-rural or liberal - conservative issues. (3) Equitable reapportionment is unlikely to bring any major state policy changes.

The cities may expect to benefit from having more representation that understands the urgency and complexity of urban problems, but that benefit should not and probably will not be at the expense of neglect of rural and small-town interests. The Davis study indicates that it will still be necessary for the cities to petition persistently, lobby if you will, for legislative attention to their pressing and basic problems, just as it will continue to do so. This prospect should leave all Texas free to support periodic, equal legislative reapportionment on the fundamental merit of democratic representation that should serve best the interests of the state as a whole.

Holmes Alexander Kennedy And The Nuclear Experts

WASHINGTON — I'm not a Kennedy-baller, but someone's got to compare Senator Bob Kennedy's (D-N.Y.) latest effusions on nuclear disarmament with what the experts are saying on the same subject.

On Oct. 13, Bob opened a peace-loving Senate floor speech by quoting Pope Paul VI at the United Nations, where the Pontiff urged us to "let the arms fall from your hands." In the October issue of "Collegiate Review," the eminent scholar, Stefan Possony, comments a 270-page collection of informed papers on nuclear disarmament for the reason: "Arms control is discussed as a technique of strategy not a religion."

WE WOULDN'T have a better world if we followed the Kennedy injunction "to halt and reverse the growth of nuclear capability." We'd have a worse one.

The Senator says that the Nuclear Test Ban was a great beginning, and that we now should "extend the Treaty of 1963 to underground testing." Possony who knows much more about the matter, says that we aren't sure where the Treaty has taken us, and that "there is a great deal of difference whether one starts on the right or the wrong road." He finds two negative consequences of the Treaty that are already established as fact. One is "the interference with our efforts to build defenses against missile attack." The other is "the delay in the use of nuclear explosions for civilian and constructive purposes."

DISARMAMENT (such as the de facto kind between the U.S.A. and Canada) works fine when no one sees any advantage in armanent. The cliché of an "arms race" runs throughout the Kennedy address, but the experts no longer believe there is such a race if that means that each major contestant is "running as fast as he can against the clock." The policy of the major powers is to "keep reasonably ahead or not intolerably behind."

KENNEDY SEEMS to think that disarmament would make it easier going for the Western alliances, but the experts say that the opposite is true. "It is virtually impossible to pursue two policies at once (security and disarmament), regardless of their intrinsic merit."

WHEN WE GET into the technologies of nuclear control, the political arguments for it become mere babbling. Our nuclear development is so far ahead of any ability to discuss it in terms of inspection and safeguards that "this alone (writes Possony) would seem to dispose of any arms-control concept." In 1964 we were still talking in terms of problems raised by the weapons of 1954. "The arms control problems posed by present weapons cannot — intellectually — be mastered before 1980."

Does all this mean the world is doomed? No, it only means that disarmament is a pipe dream in modern life. It means that mankind, as Possony writes and as few politicians will admit, must continue navigating in its unchangeable "sea of trouble."

Wall Talks

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The floor nurse at the Latter-day Saints Hospital here was trying to speak to a patient in the children's ward via the intercom, but received no answer.

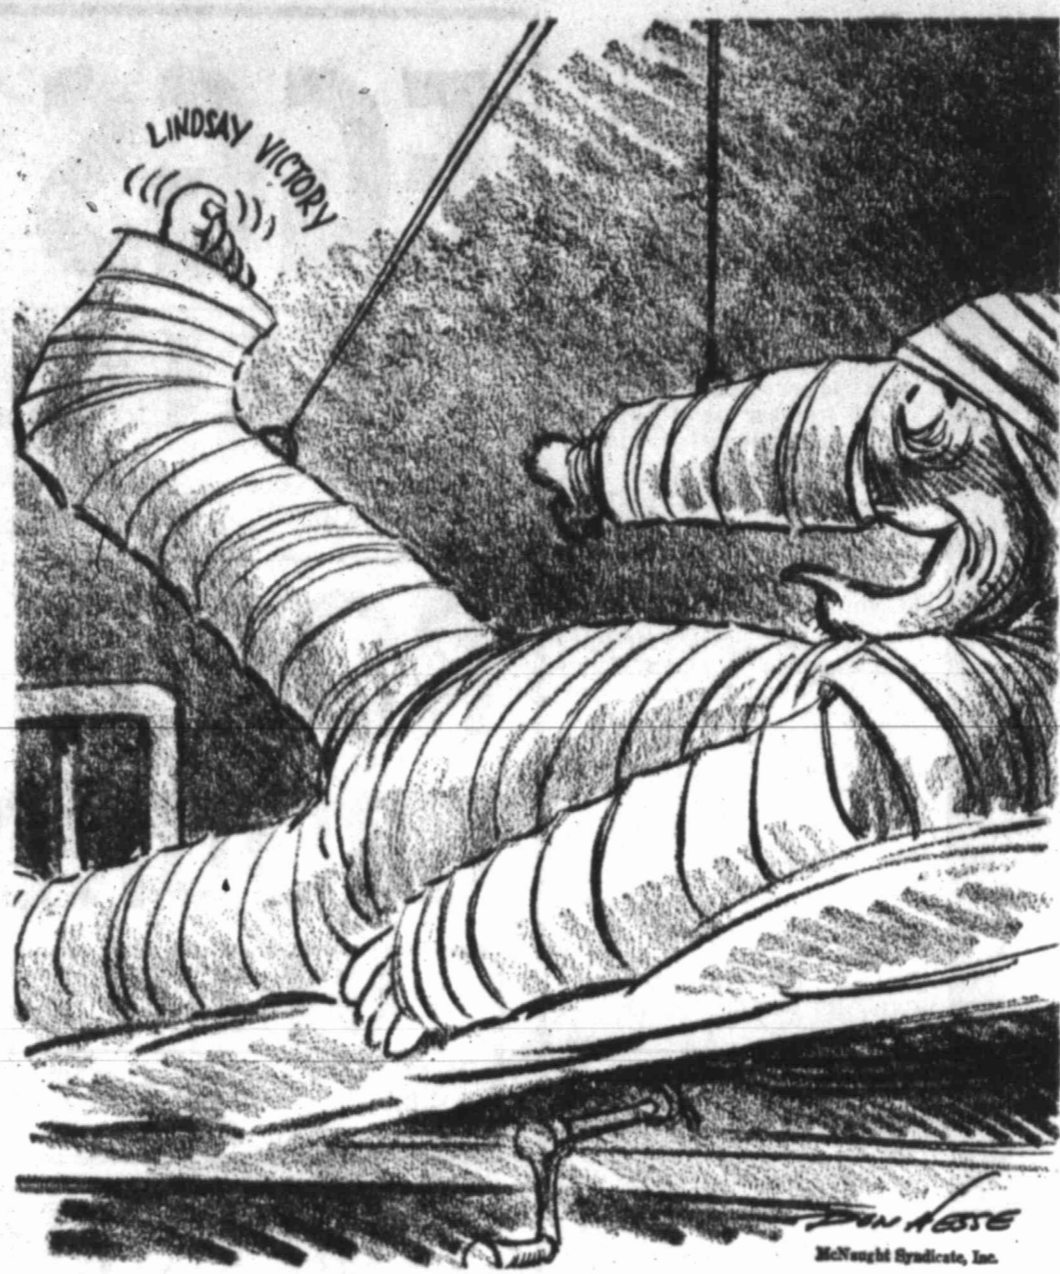

"Jimmy, I know you're there," she said into the microphone.

After a few seconds a tiny, quavering voice replied:

"What do you want, wall?"

'HEY—I CAN WIGGLE MY TOE'

James Marlow Was Election A Republican Victory?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometimes you can't even tell the players with a scorecard.

Things get mixed up. John V. Lindsay, the Republican who just got elected mayor of New York City on a "fusion" ticket and played down his Republicanism, says it wasn't a Republican victory.

He was talking Sunday on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation." But New York's Republican governor, Nelson A. Rockefeller, said it was a GOP victory. He was talking on another Sunday radio-television program, ABC's "Issues and Answers."

After last week's election returns, Rockefeller said New York City is now a "Republican town." But Lindsay said under him New York would be "non-partisan."

LINDSAY, WHOSE relations with Rockefeller seem less than hearty, said that while he would endorse the governor for another term he would not campaign for him.

Last week Ray C. Bliss, GOP national chairman, while denouncing "leftist-oriented" groups in the Democratic party, urged all Republicans to "reject membership in any radical organization which attempts to use the Republican party for its own ends."

He specifically berated Robert Welch, founder and president of the John Birch Society, calling him an "irresponsible radical."

Meanwhile, Welch, also over the weekend, once again said the government was under Communist influence.

WELCH, WHO calls democracy "mob rule," considers the income tax destructive, accused former President Dwight D. Eisenhower of treason and put the Communist tag on the late John Foster Dulles, considers the United States "one vast insane asylum."

Not long ago, a Republican senator, Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, who had attacked the Birch Society before, said there is no reason for it in the Republican party.

"As a partisan Republican," he said, "I am concerned by the fact that the John Birch Society has picked my party as the vehicle to promulgate its monolithic philosophy. In so doing, this group seems more dedicated to the defeat of Republicans than Democrats."

He also added this: that Birchites of the left have a stronger hold on the Democrats than any "extremists ever had on our party."

SEN. EVERETT M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican Senate leader, while agreeing with Morton that the Republican party has no place for Birchites, said they have never been a part of the GOP and never will be.

But Sen. George Murphy, California Republican, saw the danger from Birchites a little differently from Morton. He said 60 per cent of them are Democrats.

Over the weekend Barry Goldwater declared America faces a new breed of extremists who, he said, are associated with the Democratic party.

Hal Boyle Divorcees At 3 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

America now has more than three million divorcees. Nearly 450,000 couples part by divorce or annulment each year. About half do so within the first six years of marriage.

Despite the overpopulation problem, there's no immediate danger of our running out of living room. Less than 6 per cent of the continental area of the United States now is employed for residential purposes.

To Your Good Health Symptoms Of Low Blood Sugar Described

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are the symptoms of "low blood sugar," the cause and the treatment? Would the early morning and late afternoon weakness be a sign of it? I am a woman of 60 and have this type of weakness which prostrates me for half an hour or so, with rapid pulse and heart palpitation.

Would a test have to be taken during one of these attacks for it to show low blood sugar?—MRS. M. M.

The symptoms you recite could fit the picture for low blood sugar, but this condition can manifest itself in many ways, so it's better to be sure than to jump to conclusions.

It is true that a blood sugar test taken during one of these weak spells would be enlightening, but since that can't always be done, a much better course is a sugar tolerance test.

This is a series of tests taken over a period of six hours, to show the degree of rise and fall, if any, in the blood sugar, and gives a very useful picture of how your system supplies and uses up its blood sugar.

The ordinary procedure is to have the patient eat a liberal diet, including substantial amounts of carbohydrate, for three days before this test is made.

There is no single cause of low blood sugar. Our individual differences in metabolic rate, our eating habits, our degree of nervous tension all are common factors, and the treatment must be aimed at the dominant factors in any given case.

One frequent misconception is that people should eat sugar to combat this "low blood sugar" condition. That isn't so, because such doses of sugar stimulate the pancreas, which in turn speeds up its rate of insulin production. This speeds up the utilization of sugar, and you have a sort of roller coaster effect, sugar rising rapidly, then plunging to a very low level.

The better way is to get more protein in the meals, since this will release its sugar content more gradually, and help hold the average sugar level more steady.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a boy 15 and interested in contact lenses, but my parents are against the idea. Can you give me some pros and cons? Can they damage the eyes? Are they a good risk?—L.N.

Arguments for contacts: They do a good job. They won't damage the eyes, unless they cause undue irritation, in which case you would stop wearing them. They are especially good for special purposes — for actors, some athletes, models who don't want to wear glasses, and so on.

Arguments against: The cost — and if you are going to have contacts, you want an expert who finds they cannot wear contacts for more than a relatively short period at a time. If a lens is lost, it can be difficult to find and expensive to replace if not found. Discuss the situation thoroughly with your eye doctor before going ahead.

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment for this pest, write in care of The Herald for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Hazards In The Garage

One thing and another:

If I were running a school for dips and sneak thieves, on the order of Fagen, the first thing I'd tell my pupils would be to stay out of garages.

I assume, of course, that all garages are like mine — one booby trap from front door to back. It's hard enough to keep one's footing in there during the daylight hours, what with the fleet of bicycles and tricycles, plus numberless lawnmowers and rakes — all of them the enemy of the unwary.

THEY SAY there's a method for correctly storing such items, but I wonder. You have to throw aside three things to get at one item. When that happens, you've fouled up the whole scheme of things, until you can go back and index them again.

And when you have two small-fray girls about the place, as I have, who want direct access to their runabouts, the problem of bringing order out of chaos becomes more complex.

NO WONDER the soap operas do so well on the telly.

Americans are a soap-loving people. According to a trade journal, residents of this country spend about $100 million a year on deodorant soap. Each year, about 75 million pounds of bar soap are purchased by Americans.

THAT REMINDS ME of a claim being made by science — that it has a new way of identifying people.

According to the Chicago Research Institute, every human being has his or her distinctive odor, which forms an unchangeable chemical signature — no other human being duplicates.

HONEST INJUN now, did anything you ever bought wholesale turn out to be a bargain? —TOMMY HART

Richard Starnes Down With Credit Cards

WASHINGTON—As soon as I've set a time for the ceremony, I'm going to call every newspaper in town and then publicly burn all my credit cards.

Strictly speaking, it'll constitute treason against the affluent society, but if we can squeeze just one husband and father into the jury box I think I'll be able to cop out. But even if I'm convicted and sent away for a stretch in the juke mill, it'll be worth it. I'll be a martyr to family solvency and someday they'll dedicate a plaque where I stood alone for this cause.

IT WAS ONLY a few days ago that the scales were lifted from my eyes and I decided how pernicious credit cards have become. A hoity-toity New York ladies specialty shop opened a branch deadfall not far from Crestfallen Manor. This was an innocent circumstance, perhaps, but within a short time a sinister development occurred. Unsolicited, indeed unwanted, a chaste credit card arrived in the mail. It was from the shop, and accompanying it was an engraved message that said since we were such special people they wanted us to know we didn't need money to trade at their store.

A CRY OF outrage had scarcely passed my lips when my bride plucked the credit card from my palsied fingers and thrust it into her purse. "Don't forget," she said sweetly. "Greasykid Oil sent you a credit card unbidden not a month ago. And you've used it ever since."

Her dart struck home. It is true. Abstracting my name from heaven knows what list of easy marks, Greasykid sent me a credit card without once inquiring if I desired such heavy privileges.

I NOTE in combing my wallet that it is now burdened with no fewer than eight credit cards, of which three arrived unsolicited during the last six weeks. The credit card blight has proliferated madly since its inception, and unsolicited cards seem to be its latest manifestation. In addition to broad spectrum cards (good for the purchase of everything from airplane tickets to yachts) a host of new special purpose cards has appeared. A hamburger chain has produced its own card, and another entrepreneur has coughed out a card that will be accepted by doctors, dentists and veterinarians.

SOON, OF COURSE, some easy credit genius will issue a black-bordered credit card that will be taken in lieu of cash by every ordained embalmer in the land. Another inevitable development is the card decorated with inspirational designs and Gothic lettering, which will be instantly accepted by deacons of all faiths come collection time on Sunday.

There is, indeed, only one flaw in the whole gaudy credit card bubble. Credit cards are not really a means of obtaining something for nothing. The reckoning arrives every month, and no one has yet devised a credit card that can be used to pay the charges incurred with other credit cards.

A CEREMONIAL burning is the only sensible answer, and I am to schedule one as soon as I can find a hall that'll accept cold cash for the rent. (Distributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

David Lawrence Glamorous Personality Not Enough

WASHINGTON—Judging by some of the comments one reads about the victory of John Lindsay in his election as mayor of New York City, it might seem as if Barry Goldwater had been presiding over the affairs of the metropolis for the last four years and now has been dramatically repudiated.

It is equally illusory to say that the Republican party has a good chance of reuniting just because someone who ran on a fusion ticket in a city election and played down the fact that he was also the Republican nominee turned out to be the winner. Though he was actually the choice of a 46 per cent minority of the voters. Indeed, the majority—about 54 per cent—didn't vote for Lindsay.

THE ACCLAIM accorded the victor as a possible gubernatorial or presidential nominee of the Republican party in the future—though he hasn't uttered a word of apology for his desertion of the party's presidential candidate in 1964—is not likely to be ignored. Factional feelings have by no means been erased.

Nor will the practical question—how to reconcile the blocs in the Republican party—be answered merely by claiming that conservative doctrines are no longer valid because of Lindsay's victory in New York.

FIRST OF ALL, it is necessary to study the underlying resentments. Barry Goldwater was denounced from one end of the country to the other in 1964 as a "right-wing extremist." He was characterized as being "trigger happy." Such characterizations came first from fellow Republicans of prominence and then from Democrats.

Senator Goldwater favored a firm stand in Viet Nam as against any appearance of a wavering policy that could be misinterpreted by the enemy as weakness and thus drag the American people into a major war by reason of the Communists' miscalculation. The Republican nominee urged that American forces bomb North Viet Nam's supply lines. His advice—scorned during the campaign last year—was accepted soon after the election of President Johnson.

THE FALSE STATEMENT was made, too, that Goldwater wanted to tear up Social Security cards, though he called primarily for improvements in the system. The Johnson Administration now has increased Social Security taxes. The previous formula has been torn open and supplemented by one that makes deeper inroads into the weekly pay envelope of the wage earner. It includes a tax for "medicare," which covers a field that might better have been left to general revenues. Many Republican leaders feel that way about it today.

Nothing is to be gained by endeavoring to exorcise Barry Goldwater for his conscientious belief that the war in Viet Nam should be fought vigorously or for his convictions that civil rights will never be assured unless constitutional methods are used to attain desirable objectives.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY is not going to win just by finding a glamorous personality to run in 1968. It is what he stands for that will count. For the party will be confronted with the necessity of recognizing the discontent of the people over social and economic conditions and offering them a leadership which can care for their needs equitably and without bankrupting the government. This means, of course, burying factional feelings and subordinating personal prejudices to the good of a national political party as it strives to become an instrument of progress in the complex world of today.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Should you raise your son to be a truck driver? Most people would probably say no. After all, a truck driver is a... roughneck who only shaves on holidays, isn't he? Anybody who's ever watched old movies on television knows that. And movies, as you are well aware, are always completely realistic and true to life.

Well, it's time to explode that myth. Because the truth of the matter is that most truck drivers would have a hard time living up to that image, even if they wanted to. For one thing, their wives wouldn't let them. Or their bosses, either.

Truck driving is a responsible job and requires a responsible man. And anyone who doesn't fill the bill has no business being behind the wheel of a truck.

Trucks cost a lot of money. So do the goods they carry. (A trailer truck and load together can be worth as much as $250,000.) And a driver has to haul that load from one end of the country to another. Safely. On time. In good condition.

It takes a good man to do it. Which is one of the reasons a truck driver makes the kind of money he does ($10,000 to $12,000 for long-haul drivers; $7,000 to $9,000 for city drivers). So if your son grows up to be a truck driver, you can feel pretty proud of yourself. For raising a real man. —AMERICAN TRUCKING ASSN.

Russian Military Parade Shows Off New Missiles

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians displayed three new missiles Sunday plus an older one which they said can orbit the earth with a nuclear warhead.

The Soviet missiles were shown during the mammoth military parade marking the 48th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. Attacks on the United States were relatively mild.

The orbital rocket, shown first last May Day, was given the piece of honor in the parade of 250 pieces of military hardware.

The missile, at 115 feet, was the longest nuclear missile ever displayed here. It is three-stage and liquid-fueled, similar to the rockets which launch Soviet space ships.

A United Nations agreement, signed by both the Soviet Union and the United States, prohibits the orbiting of a nuclear weapon.

SPACE ATTACKS
The United States has tested missiles to destroy attacking missiles in space but has not claimed to be able to launch nuclear attacks from space.

Since both the Soviet Union and the United States can orbit and return manned spacecraft, it is assumed they can do the same thing with a nuclear warhead, sources said. But U. S. experts consider intercontinental and intermediate-range bal-istic missiles produce the same effect at less cost and with greater accuracy than an orbiting missile.

Defense Minister Rodio Malinovsky, the only speaker at the parade, again charged the United States with imperialistic interference in the affairs of other countries and with barbaric raids on Viet Nam. His remarks were milder than in May when he said the United States was threatening a wider war.

Planes Collide, Three Dead

TULSA (AP) — A small civilian plane and a large military transport collided Sunday after roaring out of scattered clouds over northeast Oklahoma.

The three Arkansas men in the smaller plane died as their Cessna 182 disintegrated.

The C124 Globemaster, one of its four engines knocked out, landed at Tulsa, 21 miles to the northwest. None of the six crewmen aboard was injured.

Two of the dead were pilots,

Richard Warfield, 25, of Helena, Ark., and Warren Witt Jr., 23, of Pine Bluff. The third man was identified as James Chadwick, also of Pine Bluff.

Segments of a body, bits of clothing and pieces of the smaller plane were found in the right outboard engine of the Military Air Transport Service plane when it arrived at Tulsa.

MOBILE MISSILE

Behind it, came a mobile missile which the Russians described as invulnerable. The Russians say it is a new intercontinental ballistic missile. Western experts estimated its range at 1,500 to 5,000 miles. The term "invulnerable" was taken to mean it could be moved on the ground to avoid attack.

It appeared to be a revised version of the Iron Maiden first shown last May. It was about 60 feet long, 20 feet longer than the Iron Maiden, five feet in diameter and solid fueled.

The other new missiles were described as intermediate-range ballistic missiles with a range of between 300 and 1,500 miles.

NEW WEAPON

A fourth new weapon, tank-like in appearance and mobile, contained four antiaircraft guns of about 50 caliber.

An announcement said the orbital missile could put a nuclear warhead into orbit and it then could be fired from the

Mohn Eyes Hoffa Post

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Einar Mohn, West Coast head of the Teamsters Union, says he'll be a candidate for the union's top spot if President James R. Hoffa does not run for re-election.

Mohn said his candidacy depends on the determination of two Hoffa appeals to convictions of fraud and jury tampering.

He told a group of Teamsters Saturday that he hoped a bitter campaign for the presidency could be avoided.

A Supreme Court decision of Hoffa's appeal of his jury tampering case in Nashville, Tenn., is expected in January. Another appeal is pending on the fraud conviction involving the Central States pension fund.

Harold Gibbons of St. Louis, another vice president of the 1.7-million member union, and Mohn, chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters, were mentioned as contenders for Hoffa's job.

Fog Blankets Texas Sectors

By The Associated Press

Fog blanketed much of East and South Texas today, and a few thundershowers fell in West Texas.

The entire state was warm and cloudy to partly cloudy. The Weather Bureau said a considerable number of clouds will spread over the state through Tuesday.

The Panhandle will be cool Tuesday.

Rains for the 24 hours preceding dusk Sunday showed 12 of an inch at El Paso, .02 at Mineral Wells and .01 at Brownsville.

Temperatures this morning ranged from 48 degrees at Dalhart to 68 at Corpus Christi.

What Helps Johnny Pass

Here is one of the reasons an old wizard like Johnny Unitas continues to assault NFL passing records. In this instance, a wall of blockers holds out Chicago Bears Doug Atkins (81), Earl Leggett (71), John Johnson (76), and Dick Evey (79). Unitas made the most of this protection, firing a 49-yard TD pass to Tony Lorick in the third quarter of the Colts' 26-21 conquest of the Bears. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Colts' Cuozzo Provides Margin

In the hectic race for the National Football League's Western title, the Baltimore Colts will take all the help they can get — from anybody. Like from their own little-known Gary Cuozzo. Or from Chicago Bears defensive back Dave Whitsett. Or from the entire Detroit Lions defense.

It was like that Sunday as the Colts stood off the charging Bears 26-21 and Detroit commanded Green Bay's slumping Packers 12-7. That left Baltimore on top in the West at 7-1 after its sixth straight victory and dropped Green Bay to second at 6-2 after its second straight loss.

Cuozzo took over for Johnny Unitas in the third period at Chicago after the Colts' celebrated quarterback had suffered a back injury and led Baltimore to what proved the winning touchdown — with an assist from Whitsett. The payoff came on a 13-yard pass from Cuozzo which Whitsett stepped into the arms of Raymond Berry.

PACKERS PUNCHED
At Green Bay, the Lions throttled the Packers. Detroit's defense allowed 68 total yards minus two passing; and cut the clinching field goal after an intercepted pass by Bruce Mahler, and later added a safety by Roger Brown.

The Cleveland Browns barely saved their Eastern Division lead, outlasting Philadelphia 35-34 as Frank Ryan beat Norm Snead in a passing duel. St. Louis stayed one game behind, at 5-3, with Charley Johnson and Billy Gambrell connecting on a 59-yard scoring pass play with 37 seconds to go that gave the Cardinals a 21-17 victory over Pittsburgh.

REDSKINS HOT
Washington's surging Redskins cashed in on timely defensive moves and won their third straight, 23-7 over the New York Giants. The Minnesota Vikings kept in the Western fight by beating the Los Angeles Rams 24-13. And the Dallas Cowboys outpointed the San Francisco 49ers 39-31, with the deciding touchdown set up by Larry Ste

Zany Antics Lead Cowboys To 39-31 Win

DALLAS (AP) — Speed demons Mel Renfro and Bob Hayes and huge, lumbering George Andrie and Bob Lilly teamed up to break Dallas' five-game losing streak with a 39-31 victory over San Francisco Sunday but the crowd enjoyed the zany antics of the affair more than anything else.

Ever hear of two field goal attempts being blocked within 10 minutes of each other with resulting touchdowns for each side?

Ever hear of a three-inch pass interception? That's what Lilly got when he took the ball virtually out of George Mira's hand and ran 17 yards for a touchdown. It was so close three inches seems to be a fair estimate.

DIPSY DOODLE
The crowd of 39,677 also was treated to a dippy-doodle that's what he tried to make it anyway — run by 239-pound Chuck Howley, who picked up a fumble and rumbled 58 yards to set Dallas up for a touchdown. It didn't get because Don Meredith had a pass intercepted on the first play.

The critics said if Howley had run like a lineman instead of trying to do it like a halfback, there might have been a touchdown.

Meredith entered into the spirit of the wacky occasion by twice fumbling the pass back on the try for extra point.

The first block of a field goal attempt came late in the third quarter when Charley Krueger, 49er tackle, got in front of Danny Villanueva's kick from the San Francisco 37 and Jim Johnson picked it up and ran to the Dallas 39. The 49ers got a touchdown to take the lead 31-30.

Then 10 minutes later, Larry Stephens, 252-pound Dallas tackle, blocked Tommy Davis' field goal attempt from the Dallas 25 and Obert Logan covered it on the Dallas 47. The Cowboys rolled to a touchdown to win the game.

On the serious side, Hayes, the Olympic sprint champion, was up to his old trick — getting more mileage out of a play than anybody. He figured in only nine plays but scored two touchdowns, caught four of five passes for 104 yards and returned four kickoffs 128 yards. He set up a field goal with a 66-yard kickoff return.

Renfro took the opening kickoff off 99 yards to a touchdown — the longest run of the year in the National Football League — and figured in eight tackles and broke up one pass.

WHACKY
Andrie recovered John Crow's fumble at the goal line for a touchdown to contribute his bit. Mira, filling in for the injured John Brodie, passed for two 49er touchdowns. He set up three touchdowns and a field goal with his tossing.

But adding to the whackiness of the occasion, San Francisco was gaining more than 400 yards in its third straight game only to lose them all.

Couple Recites Vows In Stanton Church

STANTON (SC)—Miss Linda Louder and Lyndon Huckaby were married Friday evening at 6 o'clock in the Belvue Church of Christ with Ernest West, minister, officiating for the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Huckaby and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Louder.

The bride's father escorted her to the altar, graced with baskets of white gladioli, and gave her in marriage. The bride's white wool knit suit was worn with a white veiled hat and white accessories. For something old, she wore a ring belonging to her grandmother and used birthdate pennies in her shoes. Aop a white Bible, she carried a bouquet of Frenched carnations.

Miss Cindi Britton, the bridesmaid, wore a royal blue wool sheath with matching hat and shoes and carried a bouquet of blue carnations.

The bridegroom's brother,

Darr Huckaby, was best man, and another brother, Randy Huckaby, shared the ushering duties with Stanley Barnes, brother-in-law of the bride.

RECEPTION

At the reception in the bride's home, the newlyweds were joined by the parents in well-wishing guests, Miss Neala Ferguson and Miss Peggy Barnes, who presided at the register. Others in the house party were Mrs. Stanley Barnes and Gary Barnes.

A blue linen cloth, with an overlay of royal blue net, covered the refreshment table. The cloth was caught at the corners with clusters of pink roses. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Jan Low, Mrs. Gertrude Rodricks and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Thomason, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Arrington, Eastland; Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Avery, Dumas; Jackie Bone, Houston; Orville Cummiford, Hereford; Miss Joyce Allen, Winters; J. M. Huckaby, Wingo; Mr. and Mrs. Orin Adcock, Odessa; and Pat Pritchard, Midland.

WEDDING TRIP

Following a trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will reside at 108 Ave. H, Hereford.

The bride is a graduate of Stanton High School and has completed a business course. The bridegroom, also a Stanton High School graduate, attended Howard County Junior College and is a patrolman in Hereford.

Mrs. Morris Koger spoke on "What's New In The Book World," and Mrs. C. M. Phelan discussed "What's New In Poetry." Miss Clara Secrest's topic was "What's New In Art, Painting and Sculpture."

Mrs. A. Swartz presided during the business session. She told members that the club donation, stationary whirl pool bath for the Howard County Rehabilitation Center, had been installed and was ready for use.

Mrs. Swartz also asked the welfare committee to select a Christmas project for approval at the Dec. 5, meeting.

Refreshments were served and Mrs. Jewel Stoner, Victoria, was welcomed as a guest.

Art, Poetry Interests Hyperions

"What's New In Culture" was the program topic during the Saturday afternoon meeting of the 1930 Hyperion Club. Eighteen members met at the home of Mrs. J. Y. Robb, 606 Mathews.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Tom Helton and Mrs. E. V. Spence.

During the program, various members chose an artist in a particular field and gave details and critical opinions of his work.

Mrs. Morris Koger spoke on "What's New In The Book World," and Mrs. C. M. Phelan discussed "What's New In Poetry." Miss Clara Secrest's topic was "What's New In Art, Painting and Sculpture."

After using a steel wool pad of any type, store it on a piece of paraffin wax, and it won't rust. Use paraffin from the top of a jelly jar, or melt and shape a piece to fit the storage container you use.

Announces Marriage

Miss Vicki Jean Amos and Airman I.C. Marvin Ray Schauer were married Nov. 1 in the Trinity Lutheran Church with the Rev. Donald Kenning officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Amos, 2100 Main, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Emma Hill, St. Francis, Kans., and the late Mr. Clyde H. Schauer. The bridegroom is stationed at Webb AFB, and the couple will reside at 1114 Main.

Regional Meeting Held By Delta Kappa Gamma

Approximately 150 members from the West Texas area convened in San Angelo Saturday for the regional meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma.

Eight chapters were represented, and 20 women from Big Spring were among those who met for an informal coffee on the mezzanine of the Cactus Hotel.

Mrs. Rogers Hefley, president of the local chapter, attended a president's breakfast preceding the meeting.

Miss Movelda Rhine of the local chapter, Beta Kappa, spoke at the initiation ceremony and

Barbecue Fetes W. H. Foresyth

FORSAN (SC)—W. H. Foresyth was recently honored with a barbecue by employees of Continental Oil Company. The affair was held at the company warehouse, and J. D. Gilmore was chairman of the arrangements committee.

Foresyth is retiring after 20 years with the company, and all retired employees were honored guests.

Out-of-town guests included officials from Houston, Fort Worth and Midland.

Volunteers Needed By TB Association

Do you have some time to volunteer for a good cause? Do you like to talk while working?

Can you spare some time Tuesday or Wednesday?

If yes is the answer to the above questions show up at the First Presbyterian Church (the old one) at the ground floor entrance on the north side and help the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary stuff envelopes for the Howard County Tuberculosis Association.

While the auxiliary has taken on the preparation of the envelopes for mailing for the annual seal sale they can always use a lot of help. Mrs. Fred Lurting and Mrs. Paul Kionka, who head the mail sale, urged all who will to come Tuesday.

Auxiliary members started working this morning and will work each day from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The Christmas Seal Campaign does not start until Nov. 16 but, prior to that, there is much work to be done in getting the information and the Christmas seals in envelopes preparatory to mailing.

Christmas seals have been messages of hope and health in Big Spring for a number of years according to Champ Rainwater, president of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association.

There is still time to sign up for the teenage square dance classes now in progress at the YMCA. The classes are held each Tuesday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. for ages 13 through 19.

Registration will be open for two more weeks. Those desiring to take the instruction, may sign up at class time on Tuesdays.

The caller is A. V. Lewis, and regular dances for graduates of the 12-week course will be sponsored by the Big Spring Squares.
