Vets Day Speaker Predicts Victory

The ideals of the United States are the hope of the world, James Brown, local high school youth, told a Veterans Day crowd at the Veterans Administration Hospital here this morning. He spoke as a number of veterans, Boy Scouts, hospital personnel and about 450 Big Springers looked on in the hospital's lobby.

Winner of the American Legion High School Oratorical Contest, Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Brown, entitled his speech "The Constitution—Ours to Defend."

"Today," he said, "people are asking: Can we win this war against communism? Yes, we can win this war because we have to win."

Ways to incorporate the fundamental of keeping liberty in our daily lives are, he said, "to keep well informed. Seek the true facts. Listen to, and respect, the opinions of others... try to overcome prejudices and misconceptions about other countries and peoples... abide willingly by the decisions of the majority even though you may not agree with those decisions."

Prior to Brown's speech, handicapped members of Boy Scout Troop 81 presented the colors at 10 a. m. in front of the hospital. Selections were played by the Big Spring High School Band and band drum major Bill Davis led the assembly in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Johnson Summons Military, Diplomatic Aides To Ranch

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson called his top military and diplomatic advisers to the LBJ Ranch today for his first major foreign affairs review since his Oct. 8 surgery.

Summons for the day-long conference were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and McGeorge Bundy, Johnson's special assistant for national security affairs.

VIET OPERATIONS — Officials said topics would include operations in Viet Nam, the Nov. 17 conference of hemisphere foreign ministers in Rio de Janeiro and the Dec. 6-8 American visit of West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

Johnson spent a quiet, recuperative day Wednesday after staying up late Tuesday to get reports on the Northeast power failure.

Joseph Laitin, acting press secretary, announced that Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission, director of the Johnson-ordered inquiry into the cause of the power blackout, has agreed to remain in his post until Dec. 31.

Swidler, whose term on the FCC expired last June 22, had

Freedom Declaration Made By Rhodesia

African Colony Defies Britain

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith proclaimed Rhodesia's independence from Britain today. Defying Britain's threat of the strongest economic and political sanctions, the leader of the central African colony's white minority read his government's proclamation in a special broadcast over the Rhodesian network.

In London, Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Cabinet prepared to denounce the unilateral declaration of independence as an illegal act of revolt against the crown.

FRUITLESS TALKS — Smith and his Cabinet determined to go it alone after months of fruitless negotiations in which the British government demanded guarantees of eventual political power for the colony's 4 million Africans. Smith and his colleagues are determined to preserve rule by Rhodesia's 225,000 white settlers.

In proclaiming independence, Smith rejected last-minute appeals from both Wilson and Queen Elizabeth II. Wilson had telephoned Smith at 6 a. m. today in a final attempt to dissuade him.

Smith said his Cabinet sent a message to Queen Elizabeth II Wednesday pledging loyalty to the crown "whatever happens."

Some British officials in London considered this a prelude to seizure of independence. Others considered it political brinkmanship designed to impress public opinion in Rhodesia and Britain.

QUEEN PLEADS — The queen immediately replied with an appeal for the white leaders of the central African colony to avoid illegal acts and demonstrate their loyalty by "continuing to act in a constitutional manner."

Smith's broadcast was monitored in London at No. 10 Downing Street while the British Cabinet was in session considering the crisis.

As soon as Smith made his declaration, the British governor of Rhodesia, Sir Humphrey Gibbs, announced that on instructions from the queen he had suspended Smith and all his ministers from office.

It was not immediately clear how the governor would implement the queen's instructions, however. Wilson previously had ruled out the use of British troops to nullify a declaration of independence.

Smith, in his broadcast in Salisbury, said Rhodesians had demonstrated their loyalty to the crown and to others in the United Kingdom and elsewhere throughout two world wars. Rhodesians, he said, had been prepared to shed their blood and give of their substance to defend their beliefs.

SUPPORT NOTED — The Rhodesian people, he continued, had given their support in what they believed to be the mutual interests of a freedom-loving people.

He contended that the people of Rhodesia fully supported the request of their government for sovereign independence.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said that to his knowledge the United States received no advance word on the Rhodesian action. Rhodesia is the first British colony to declare its independence unilaterally since the American Declaration of Independence in 1776.

"CONSTANT REFUSAL" — Smith said in his broadcast that the British government had consistently refused to accede to Rhodesia's request for sovereign independence.

Upstate N.Y. Origin Seen In Blackout

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's populous Northeast struggled today to return to normal as government agencies sought an answer to the paralyzing power failure.

Businesses and transportation facilities, crippled by the 10-hour blackout that spread across seven states and into Canada Tuesday night, hopefully looked to near normal operations today.

POWER CONSERVED — Power conservation is being observed in New York City, hardest hit by the massive technological breakdown. Full power is not expected to be restored for several days.

The Veterans Day holiday is contributing to the return to normal. Schools, government facilities, banks and some businesses are closed today—granting a day's grace to New York's heavily taxed transit operations.

The closed facilities also will require far less power. Cause of the historic breakdown remains as dark as the blackout itself, but state and federal agencies are making intensive investigations.

UPSTATE ORIGIN — James A. Lundy, chairman of the New York Public Service Commission, said he was confident the "reason for the failure will be uncovered. It apparently originated in Upstate New York.

Uppermost in the minds of government and industry leaders is the prevention of a recurrence. Some warned that it could happen again unless the cause is tracked down and eliminated.

Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay of New York City called Wednesday for better citywide communications to help cope with such emergencies. He also suggested that the city consider creating an independent emergency power system.

CLOSED SESSION — In Washington, government and industry experts on power system operations seek in closed sessions today the cause of the power failure through a study of utility operation records.

Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission, acting on direction of President Johnson to make a sweeping investigation to pinpoint the cause and come up with recommendations to avoid a recurrence, said Wednesday he expected a preliminary report would be made to the President by the weekend.

SEEN ELUSIVE — But Swidler said it may be difficult to determine the exact cause. The commission met Wednesday with an industry-government group which Swidler said included some of the country's outstanding experts on electrical power system operation and design to plan procedures to be followed in the investigation.

"SANDWICH" QUARTERS NOT ATTRACTIVE Mrs. Betty Rains displays handful of non-silver 25-cent pieces

Dull Quarters Spend As Well

By SAM BLACKBURN — If you get a quarter in change today which is dull and lustreless, and if you notice the milled edge is copper-colored—don't be alarmed. What you've got is perfectly good U.S. money. It's the new issue of U.S. quarters—nicknamed "sandwich money."

First shipments of the coins, which are to replace the silver quarters used for generations, arrived at the banks in Big Spring this week. The coins were being put into circulation today.

"THEY'RE UGLY" — Reaction of the women employees of the banks who have seen the coins has been unanimous: "Ugh!... They're ugly!"

One added: "When you drop one on the counter, it goes 'klunk'—instead of 'klink'."

The new coins are faced with an alloy of nickel and copper. The inner core is copper. The copper center shows along the milled edge. The face of the coins is dull and the new quarters lack the glister that the silver quarters presented.

The new coins are about the color of a buffalo nickel. In December, the banks will get their first shipment of the new 50 cent pieces. These will not be entirely devoid of silver. They will be made of 80 per cent silver and 20 per cent copper. It will have a core made up of 21 per cent silver and 79 per cent copper. The reddish core will be visible at the coin edge as is the case of the new quarters.

ABOUT THE SAME — The mint said the new halves will be almost indistinguishable from the present half dollars. The half dollars now in use are made of an alloy which is 90 per cent silver.

The mint is also turning out sandwich dimes and these will be put into use soon. The bankers have been advised. Their metal will be similar and their lustre about the same as our present day nickels.

And if you drop a handful of them on the floor, very likely the new type dimes, like the quarters, will not "klink." They will go "klunk."

DEMAND — The "ersatz" silver coins now being put into use have been ordered by the government to save silver and to cope with the steadily increasing demand for coins.

Asked how the public will respond to the new coins, a government pamphlet replies: "That is hard to predict. The new dimes and quarters will not

Byrd Served Almost Third Of A Century

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry Flood Byrd, who stepped down from the Senate today at 78, served for nearly a third of a century in which he saw his world turned upside down.

He came to the Senate in 1933, the first year of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal, as an advocate of reduced government spending.

He leaves with the federal budget scraping the $100 billion mark, 25 times what it was in 1933.

STATES RIGHTS — He came to Washington a strong proponent of the principle of states rights and powers, with minimal interference from the federal government.

But, after the depression, World War II, and U.S. emergence as the leading world power after the war, he leaves with federal authority and programs extending into fields unimaginable 32 years ago.

Even though his views on issues often put him in a minority in the Senate, Byrd kept the good will and friendship of members ranging all the way from conservative to liberal.

Ike Forced Back To Oxygen Tent

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Doctors describe former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's condition as comfortable following a second series of heart pains which forced his return to an oxygen tent.

The pains Wednesday were "more prolonged and of longer duration" than the mild attack of angina pectoris, or heart pains, which occurred just after midnight Monday night, doctors said.

Announcement of the sudden reversal in the condition of the 75-year-old five-star general came about an hour after the doctors had said he was making a good recovery and might be playing golf again in two weeks.

Late Wednesday night, Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, Ft. Gordon press officer, said Eisenhower had been "comfortable since 3 p. m."

But he wouldn't say whether this meant that Eisenhower was completely out of pain or there had been any solid improvement in his condition.

Earlier Wednesday, it was announced that the former president would be flown to Washington Friday to enter Walter Reed Army Hospital for the remainder of his two weeks' convalescence.

However, slightly over an hour later, Hitchcock told reporters: "While the general had a fine morning, this afternoon he had a return of his chest discomfort. Plans for his departure for Walter Reed have been held in abeyance."

Seeking some idea of the significance of the new pains, reporters asked questions of Dr. Thomas W. Mattingly, who treated Eisenhower in his 1955 heart attack. Mattingly didn't come to the press center but responded through Hitchcock.

Man Accused In Slaying Of 2 Teenage Sisters

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A 23-year-old married man, accused of slaying two teenaged daughters of a prominent Tucson physician, was questioned today about the disappearance of two other girls from the area.

The remains of Gretchen Fritz, 17, and her sister Wendy, 13, were found Wednesday in a deer hunting ground three miles from the home of Lewis Douglas, former U.S. ambassador to Great Britain, where Britain's Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, are vacationing.

The two girls had been missing since Aug. 16. TATTERED CLOTH — Police Chief Bernard Garmire said one of the girls apparently was stripped nude either before or after she was killed. Tattered pieces of clothing were found on the other corpse.

An unidentified informant from Ohio led police to the scene, and they shortly arrested Charles H. Schmid, who formerly dated Gretchen. Police said he declined to make any statement either about the Fritz girls or two other missing Tucson girls, one of whom vanished a year ago.

Dr. and Mrs. James Fritz reported Gretchen and Wendy missing when they failed to return from a drive-in movie to which they had driven alone. The Fritz car, with Gretchen's keys and purse inside, was found six days later.

POLICE TIPPED — The Ohio informant contacted the Tucson police several days ago. An officer went to Columbus and returned with the informant, who took investigators to the body.

Garmire said the informant led police to Schmid, who manages a rest home owned by his father.

Life Aboard War Carrier: Bombs In The Mess Hall

ABOARD THE CARRIER MIDWAY (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Jerry Lemmon is essentially a neat, methodical man. It bothers him that there are bombs in his mess hall. Lemmon, a supply officer of the carrier Midway, must maintain an adequate supply of goods ranging from bath towels to 2,000-pound bombs. The ship's four squadrons of planes drop about 50 tons of bombs each day on targets in Viet Nam, so Lemmon has every inch of available space crammed with ordnance. To keep up with the insatiable hunger for bombs and rockets, he rearranged the mess halls and made room in them for the hardware. Ordnance is also stored on deck, along gangways and anywhere else that Jerry Lemmon can find space.

way strolled past a space on deck that shortly before had been stocked high with 250-pound bombs. "Look there," said the one-time resident of Ponca City, Okla. "We've got that cleared out now." Hours later it was stacked high again. Two or three times a day, the Midway's planes begin warming up their engines. Soon after, they are catapulted out over the South China Sea toward their targets. After they leave, the flight deck falls silent. But down below the racket never ends. Sailors endlessly repair planes and wrestle heavy ordnance from steamy holds to topside where it is readily available. Don't these kids ever rest? Lemmon pointed to a sailor sprawled asleep on a pile of bombs, and said: AROUND CLOCK "He's resting now. Presently someone will shake him awake and he'll go back to work. "That's the way it goes every day, working around the clock. Tomorrow there are only two strikes instead of the usual three and the lads will sleep a couple of hours longer than usual. Then they'll be back with it again. "They've been doing the same thing every day for seven months now and they just accept it." Lemmon has some tasks less grim than working with instruments of death. He runs the ship's tailor shop, its snack bar, and the small shop where one can buy goods ranging from handkerchiefs to transistor radios. "You might say we're the small-business men of the ship," he said.

School Library Plan Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The office of Education reports Texas is the first state to gain approval of a plan for improving school libraries and purchasing textbooks and other instructional materials. The Texas Education Agency, which will administer the program, has received an allotment of $5,345,745 for purchase of school library items, textbooks and other material, officials said Wednesday. Under the state's plan, funds will be allotted school districts on the basis of school-age population and the amount of state aid received. The federal allotment is based on 2,635,577 pupils enrolled in Texas public and private elementary and secondary schools in the fall of 1964.

Tax Collections Running Ahead

Howard County Tax Assessor's office collected $1,025,354.61 in current taxes from Oct. 1 through Nov. 2, according to Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, tax assessor-collector. This is $35,401 greater than for the same period in 1964. Collections for Oct. 1-Nov. 2 1964 were $989,853. Actually, Mrs. LeFevre points out, the tax collections this year are not essentially ahead of those for last year. The tax rate this year is five cents a hundred dollars higher than it was in 1964. Tax rate this year is $1.05, as compared with the $1 rate in 1964. Many of the larger taxpayers have paid their current taxes. This means a three per cent savings if the taxes are paid to the county in October. Effective this month, taxpayers are allowed a two per cent tax discount. In December, the discount will drop to one per cent. After December, face amount of the taxes is payable. Mrs. LeFevre pointed out that demand for poll taxes is much lower now than for October, 1964. Last year, the office had written 564 poll tax receipts and issued 610 exemption certificates from Oct. 1-Nov. 2. Through Nov. 2 this year only 362 poll tax receipts have been issued and 650 exemption certificates written. A crucial lawsuit is pending in a federal court testing the constitutionality of the poll tax. Some electors, it is felt, are delaying paying their poll tax until a ruling has been made on this suit.

Fertilizer Short Course To Be Held At Lamesa

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has planned a Fertilizer Management and Technology Short Course which will be presented in late November and early December in four High Plains towns. James Valentine, soil chemist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center near Lubbock, said the purpose of the short course is to improve management skills of fertilizer dealers and to bring them up-to-date information on soil pesticide relationships and on potentials of new fertilizer materials. Lamesa will be the site for one of the sections with a first session scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 2, and the second (a dinner meeting) at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 9. Both will be held at Forest Park Community Center. Three topics will be covered during the first session. Kenneth Wolf, extension economist specializing in agri-business, of College Station, will speak on "Management Lag and Management Process" and "Use of Managerial Time." James A. Potts, president of Taylor-Evans Farm Stores, will talk on "Personnel Utilization." At the second sessions, scheduled one week later, Dr. Jack D. Price, an agricultural chemical specialist on the headquarters staff of the Extension Service, will talk on "Soil Pesticide Relationships." Dr. Yates Smith, field representative with the Tennessee Valley Authority, will speak on "New Products and Processes in Fertilizer Manufacturing."

Charges Against Atheist Dropped

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Connally has been notified that Maryland has dropped charges against Mrs. Madalyn Murray O'Hair, a professed atheist accused of assaulting a Baltimore cop. This cancelled a habeas corpus hearing scheduled here Nov. 22. Texas had already agreed to Maryland's extradition request and Mrs. O'Hair was appealing.

Signs Indicate Business Pace Is Quickening

NEW YORK (AP) — Economy watchers are reporting signs today that the business pace is quickening again after the mild slowdown in recent weeks. Few expect the gains to be as marked in the final months of 1965 as in previous quarters of the year. But even fewer look for any pronounced or prolonged slowdown.

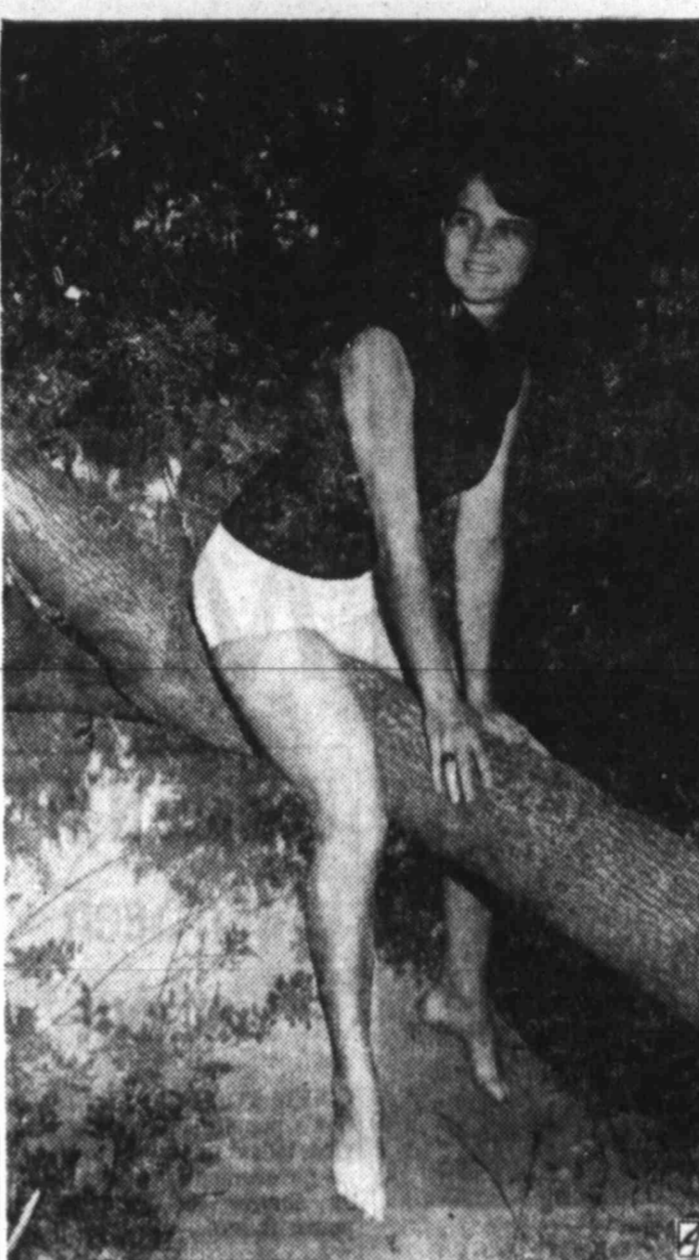

The stock market has brushed off the drop in industrial output as of little importance. Traders have their eyes instead on what they think will happen in 1966. And many think that industry will be booming. They expect prices to rise, and therefore profits also. Steel, autos and home building have been blamed for the slackening in total activity in September. But this month auto production is back in full swing. Housing starts have picked up slightly, if hardly convincingly. Only steel continues to mark time while customers work off their large inventories, built up in the summer when a strike seemed possible. But even the decline in steel production and the sharp drop in new orders for the metal couldn't keep the rest of the durable goods makers from registering a recovery in volume of new orders. They aren't back to the record set in July but they're improving again. And just how much longer steel customers will go slow on ordering more metal is debatable. In the transportation equipment field orders have picked up markedly. Much is traceable to ordering of commercial airliners and to big government contracts for both aircraft and missiles. The backlog of unfilled orders for durable goods has jumped by $750 million in the last month to a total of $58.9 billion, assuring busy weeks ahead for many producers. Economy watchers are now predicting that the Gross National Product should rise by $8 billion to $9 billion in the final three months of the year. This would bring the nation's total output of goods and services to an annual rate of $65 billion by year's end. In the third quarter the gain was $11 billion. Bankers are saying that another $11 billion jump might be a dubious blessing. Economists at the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York, point out that "recent statistics, particularly those relating to the labor market, contain strong hints that the economy is operating rather close to the limits consistent with over-all price stability."

Laguna Favored NEW YORK (AP) — Ismael Laguna, the world lightweight boxing champion from Panama, was rated an 8-5 favorite here today to repeat his victory over former champion Carlos Ortiz of New York in their 15-round title bout at San Juan, P.R., Saturday night. "In looking toward the forthcoming session that starts in January and after consultations with my physicians concerning the pain I have been suffering as a result of arthritis I have reluctantly reached the conclusion that I must give up the heavy responsibilities entrusted to me by the people of Virginia," Byrd's letter said. "I hereby submit my resignation as a member of the United States Senate to become effective upon receipt of this letter." The governor praised Byrd for his contribution to the state and the nation, and called him one of our greatest Americans. Byrd sought to step down from the Senate in 1958 but in the face of a projected Democratic organization split between backers of Tuck and John S. Battle, both former governors, Byrd agreed to run again.

Sen. Byrd's Retirement Is Effective Immediately RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, a strong voice for economy in Washington for the past 30 years and head of Virginia's dominant Democratic state organization, announced his resignation today. Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. made the disclosure at a hastily called news conference. He said the resignation was effective immediately and that he planned to name an interim successor until the next general election in November 1966. Harrison gave no intimation of anyone he had in mind to succeed the 78-year-old Democratic chief but speculation was that the senator's son, Harry F. Byrd Jr., or Rep. William M. Tuck might be on the list. Harrison disclosed that a letter from Byrd announcing his resignation was delivered to him at the executive mansion at 10 p.m. Wednesday. Byrd said in the letter that the rigors of the last Congress had borne more heavily on him and that he found himself tiring easily.

Any Weather Change Minor In U.S. Areas

By The Associated Press The nation's weather pattern showed only minor changes today, with much cloudiness, chilly air across northern areas and seasonably mild conditions in southern sections. Temperatures moderated slightly in the cold air pocket from the northern Plains to the northern Great Lakes region and in the Northeast. But readings were mostly freezing, with the mercury dropping to the teens again in parts of northern Maine.

MAINE COLD Wednesday was the coldest Nov. 10 in Caribou, Maine, with a record low of 7 above and a high of 24. Record low marks for the date also were reported in other cities in the Northeast. Light rain and snow fell in scattered sections of the country. Showers sprinkled areas from the northern and central Pacific Coast region to the northern Rockies. Drizzle sprayed the Rio Grande Valley and from the central Plains to Wisconsin. Snow flurries fell in North Dakota and in the Lake Superior district. A light rain belt extended over eastern parts of Georgia and Tennessee to West Virginia and parts of Pennsylvania and Delaware.

GOOD RAINS Fairly heavy rain splashed areas Wednesday from the Virginias southward across the Carolinas and eastern Georgia. Nearly two inches of rain doused Beaufort, S. C., in a thunderstorm. A thunderstorm, with 1 1/2 inches of rain, hail and wind gusts up to 46 m.p.h., swept Savannah, Ga. Early morning temperatures ranged from 9 above at Limestone, Maine, to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Infirm Moved As Precaution In Barge Lift

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Officials will move another 300 aged and invalid persons out of the Baton Rouge area today on the even of the lift of a sunken chlorine barge from the Mississippi River.

The new action, which was originally filed in Pecos Federal Court District (a district alien to Howard County), has been transferred to the U.S. District Court in Abilene.

The petition cites among its other complaints "exclusion of qualified colored and Latin American teachers from the faculty."

An injunction is sought against the school board, such as Sneed sought a similar action in the 118th District Court here some weeks ago.

In his federal court petition, the Odessa attorney challenges the action as "in behalf of some 5,000 residents of the Kate Morrison area."

He charges discrimination and de facto segregation within the area known as "the Kate Morrison School District."

School Case Filed In Federal Court

Tom Sneed, attorney for the Northside United group, has injected a new complaint in the most recent petition he filed with the U.S. District Court against the Big Spring School district relative to the closing of Kate Morrison school.

Defendants named in the petition include the Big Spring Independent School District, Sam Anderson, superintendent; and all but one of the school board members—Dr. C. B. Marcum.

The others named are Harold Talbot, Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, Joe Moss, Jimmy Felts, Bennett Brooke and C. J. Haralson.

The case had been originally filed in the Western District Court at Pecos. It was transferred to the Northern Federal District Court in Abilene, the members—Dr. C. B. Marcum. The others named are Harold Talbot, Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, Joe Moss, Jimmy Felts, Bennett Brooke and C. J. Haralson.

Gil Jones, attorney for the school board, said Wednesday that he had no official knowledge of the filing of the new suit in federal court. None of the principals has been served, he said.

Atom Smasher Site Likely To Become Scientific Hub

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — What good is a powerful accelerator commonly called an atom smasher? Why do scientists want to spend $348 million to build one?

The question is of prime importance to at least 85 points in the nation and it could make one the scientific center of the world.

Scientists have proposed building such a national accelerator laboratory and the plan has caused frantic efforts by many cities to obtain selection as the site.

This excitement comes before anyone has proposed the plan to Congress, which must approve and appropriate the money.

ATOM PARTICLES
The reason for the scientific interest, says Dr. T. A. Griffy, a University of Texas scientist, is that the accelerator will help determine how many particles are in the atom and how they interact.

Dr. Griffy was connected with the High Energy Physics Laboratory at Stanford University before coming to the University of Texas this fall.

The physicist explains that for centuries scientists believed the atom could not be divided. It was discovered early in this century that the atom can be split and is composed of a central nucleus surrounded by electrons.

Later it was found, Dr. Griffy relates, that the nucleus is not just one particle but is composed of protons and neutrons. In the 1940s, it was discovered that the protons and neutrons can be further broken down.

ELECTRIC KICK
Scientists built powerful machines, called accelerators, to give protons an electric kick and send them flying along at speeds approaching that of light. When two of these fast moving protons crashed into each other head-on, scientists observed the creation of another new particle, the pion.

That was only the beginning. As bigger, more powerful accelerators were built, more atomic particles were discovered.

The number of known particles now stands at more than 30. All this has thrown physicists into confusion. How many particles exist? Are these new atomic pieces really elementary particles or are they merely variations of other particles at different energy levels?

With a new, powerful accelerator, scientists hope to get some answers. When and if they find all the pieces, they hope to discover what sort of order or unifying principle underlie atomic structure. That is what they were trying to do when they started taking the atom apart.

The proposed atom smasher would accelerate sub-nuclear projectiles to energies of 200 billion electron volts — nearly seven times the energy of the biggest accelerator existing.

Seven of the proposed sites still in the running are in Texas. They are Amarillo, Austin, Dallas - Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, Odessa and San Antonio.

Dallas and Fort Worth made a combined entry and sought to get all Texas congressmen behind that one location. Congressmen outside that North Texas area would not go along.

The scientific selection committee has not exactly indicated when it will eliminate sites further. Set up as criteria for selection are that the site must have plenty of water and electric power and a stable bedrock. It must be near a city or cities with a comprehensive travel network, cultural and educational facilities and housing.

Mrs. Shafer holds a double major in music and French from the University of Oregon. Prior to coming to HCJC, they were at Reno, Nev., where Shafer was doing graduate study and instructing on the University of Nevada faculty.

They have scheduled three numbers as duos for Sunday, and Shafer will play two selections as solo numbers.

With both the king and queen of hearts located securely behind the ace, it appears that South must go down to defeat in his four heart contract, for he cannot avoid the loss of two spade tricks. West's failure to lead a trump at the opening gun presented the declarer with a reprieve however, and by capitalizing on favorable distribution in the side suits the latter was able to effect a stunning upset and emerge unscathed on the deal.

West opened the deuce of clubs, the queen was played from dummy, covered by East's king and ruffed in the closed hand with the deuce of hearts.

A small spade was led and North's jack forced out East's king. The latter cashed the ace of spades and exited with a third round of the suit. South put up the queen of spades, discarding a club from dummy.

A diamond was led to the queen and the ace of clubs was cashed on which declarer shed the ten of diamonds. A club was ruffed in the closed hand, the king of diamonds was cashed and a third round was led to the ace — as all hands followed suit.

The last club was led from dummy and South ruffed with the seven of hearts; fortunately for declarer, everyone followed once more. South's elaborate maneuvers had produced the following three-card end position:

South led the ten of spades, West followed with the eight and the dummy ruffed with the nine of hearts. East overruffed with the queen; however, he was now end-played. He returned the five of hearts and South put up the jack which held and then North's ace took the last trick. Declarer had held his losses to one heart trick — in addition to the two spades surrendered earlier.

Speaker Pays Tribute To Veterans Day

Nov. 11—Veterans Day—has not lost its meaning, Jerry Langston told the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting.

As Armistice Day originally, it marked a beginning "of a struggle for peace," he said, "and although this struggle is still imperfect, it is continuing."

He paid tribute to veterans in the words of Pericles, "victims of their own valor," and called for a renewal of faith in the principles which have made this a great nation.

Military strength alone cannot achieve an enduring peace, he reminded, "but without it peace and security cannot be secured at all."

Langston, an Air Force non-com who had filled all grades before he retired to private life here recently, reviewed the sacrifices of veterans of the past. Not many realize, he pointed out, that the Civil War cost more dead than even World War II.

He urged members to pause Thursday for a few moments of silence in tribute to the honored dead. Langston was introduced by Willard Sullivan.

U.S. Alone Against Peking Seat In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — For the first time, the United States finds itself the only big power opposing Red China's entry into the United Nations.

With France and Britain now favoring Peking's admission, supporters of the Communist regime are putting up their hardest fight since the issue first arose in 1950.

The main target of the attacks by Peking's supporters has been the United States, which is considered the only real obstacle to victory.

In the first three days of debate, a parade of speakers has denounced the U.S. government before the 117-nation General Assembly as the last bastion of imperialism and the arch foe of emerging peoples.

Joe S. Carpenter Funeral Friday

Services for Joe Sanford Carpenter, 67, who died at 5:15 a.m. Wednesday at his home at 2300 Rannels, will be held at the First Baptist Church at 3 p.m. Friday.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, Houston, a former pastor, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor. Burial will be in the City Cemetery under direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Joe Carpenter was born in Big Spring in 1893 and attended schools here. For the past 15 years he had been associated with the McGibbons Oil Company. He was a long-time member of the First Baptist Church.

His family was among the earliest in the area. His father, J. W. Carpenter, came to West Texas in 1889 and became one of the cowboys on Col. C. C. Slaughter's historic Long S ranch that spread from here to New Mexico. He was married to Miss Winnie Barnett, daughter of "old" Dr. J. W. Barnett, one of the first physicians in Big Spring in the early 1890s.

When he became ill more than six months ago, he submitted to surgery for removal of a brain tumor. While he rallied and was able to be about on a limited basis, he never fully regained his strength.

On Feb. 16, 1930, he was married in Breckenridge to Miss Lois Sears, who survives him. Other survivors are a son, Eugene S. Carpenter, Cincinnati, Ohio; two daughters, Mrs. Ray (Marilyn) Fortson, Big Spring, and Mrs. Harold (Virginia) Caldwell, Lawton, Okla.; and seven grandchildren. Also surviving are one sister, Mrs. Dalton Mitchell, Big Spring; three brothers, Henry Carpenter, Big Spring, Boyd Carpenter, Dallas, Sidney Carpenter, Grand Prairie.

The Howard County Rehabilitation Center or the American Cancer Society were suggested as objects of memorials.

Johnson, Fulbright Relations Don't Appear Warming Any

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's approval of a European-Asiatic factfinding mission headed by Sen. Mike Mansfield has raised new speculation over White House relations with Sen. J.W. Fulbright.

While Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, and four colleagues are assessing relations with European allies and probing conditions in Asia, Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Foreign Relations Committee, is scheduled to attend a minor conference in New Zealand.

Fulbright has contended that the Johnson administration over-reacted when it intervened militarily in the Dominican Republic. He has suggested a new and longer pause in North Vietnam bombings to encourage the Communists there to negotiate.

The White House has said this would not do any good. Fulbright heads a group scheduled to attend a meeting of British Commonwealth parliamentarians in Wellington, New Zealand, the first week of December. While this may furnish valuable contacts, it seems unlikely to produce any world-stirring pronouncements.

The freeze that seems to have developed in relations between the President and Fulbright after the latter's Sept. 15 criticism of the Dominican course shows no signs of breaking. Senatorial colleagues said Fulbright wrote Johnson a note while the President was in the hospital for his gall bladder operation and got back an acknowledgment from a staff member.

It was not exactly clear how the Mansfield trip materialized. But it was known that it was not authorized through the Foreign Relations Committee and that Fulbright was surprised by the announcement.

Mansfield has been critical of some aspects of Johnson's Vietnam policy. But he has supported the President's course despite his original opposition to escalation of the war.

He said Wednesday in a statement: "To the extent that we speak abroad, it will be solely to stress the essential unity of this government in the search for an equitable and lasting peace in Viet Nam and for stable and mutually satisfying and useful relations with all nations similarly inclined."

Mansfield's group will include one other Foreign Relations Committee member beside himself, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt. Others going along are Sens. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii; J. Caleb Boggs, D-Del.; and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

Road Project Bids Tabulated

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Highway Department tabulated low bids totaling $9,469,175 on construction and maintenance work Wednesday. That brought the two-day total to $20,170,234.

The projects include, by counties: Jefferson—Spur 380 from Adams St. to Georgia Ave. in Beaumont, .9 mile, paving of bridge; Austin Road o.c., Dallas, and Worth Construction Co., Fort Worth, $566,483.

Grayson—FM 2729 from FM 121 at Cannon north to FM 697 at White Rock, 8.3 miles, base and surfacing; John F. Buckner, Cleburne, $176,603.

Brown—Texas 279 at Jim Ned Creek bridge, 1.9 miles, paving; Turner & Tucker, Inc., Buda, $530,156.

Erath—FM 8 from Texas 108 at Stephenville east to U.S. 281, 1.2 miles, surfacing; Ernest Lloyd, Fort Worth, $71,799.

Hidalgo and Cameron—FM 493 and FM 800 at Arroyo Colorado floodway 5.4 miles south of Donna and from 4.2 miles south of Loop 374 to .6 mile east of FM 1479, 2 mile, bridges and approaches; Dadds & Wedecarter, Inc., San Benito, $92,312.

Airports Given Surplus Property

AUSTIN (AP) — Forty-one Texas towns have received free $120,000 worth of surplus property for developing and maintaining their airports, Charles Murphy, director of the Texas Aeronautics Commission said today.

The equipment, mostly trucks, mowers, tractors, sweepers and some lighting facilities, was surplus at U.S. air bases.

Trade Slack, Stocks Lower And Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was irregularly lower early this afternoon in slack Veterans Day trading.

Aluminum shares showed some sharp losses following the rescinding of the aluminum price boost as a result of a government plan to release stockpiled aluminum on the market.

Brokers also cited the Rhodensian declaration of independence as a caution-breaking piece of news.

Losses of a point or more were also taken during the morning by some of the recent big gainers among color television makers, aerospace stocks and airlines, but a number of these declines were tripped as the session wore on.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .7 at 352.4 with industrials off .8, rails off .3 and utilities off .6.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.39 at 949.53.

Alcoa was the worst sufferer in its group, losing well over 2 points.

Ira Wasson, Pioneer Rancher Here, Dies

Ira Elmo Wasson, who spent approximately 75 years of his life in this vicinity, died at his home at 600 Bell Street at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Services for the pioneer rancher will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Mann Rankin, Midland, Christian Science Society reader, in charge of the rites. Burial will be in the City Cemetery beside the grave of Mrs. Wasson, who died April 8, 1940.

The casket will not be re-opened following the service.

Mr. Wasson was the last of six sons born to Mr. and Mrs. Columbus L. Wasson, a colorful early-day Texas couple who were part of the Dyer-McCullen colony on the Iguaire River in Brazil. Two sons, Arthur Lee and Claude were born there, and upon their return to Hill County, Texas, three other sons — Jim, Craven, Ira and Sidney — were born. Not long afterwards, the late 1880s, the family moved to Borden County, where C. L. Wasson became a county judge and the sons still at home went into ranching.

Until his retirement, he ranched in southwestern Borden County. In 1902 he was married

Mrs. Hila Weathers Dies Following Heart Surgery

Mrs. Hila Weathers, former coordinator of volunteer activities at the Big Spring State Hospital died at 2:15 p.m. (CST) Wednesday at the Van Nuys, Calif., hospital.

She had surgery Nov. 4 for installation of a mechanical valve in her heart and was progressing satisfactorily until successive internal hemorrhaging necessitated two additional surgeries. She lapsed into a coma Saturday and gradually declined. Mrs. Weathers had a heart attack here last spring while she was on the hospital staff and subsequently resigned her post.

Services will be held Saturday, though the hour has not been set, at the Praisewater Funeral Home on Van Nuys Blvd. in Van Nuys. Burial is due to be in Hollywood Hills Cemetery.

Mrs. Weathers leaves one daughter, Mrs. J. W. (Jean) Persons, 6534 Aqueduct, Van Nuys, Calif.; four grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a brother,

MRS. HILA WEATHERS

Delas Reeves, Sweetwater; and a sister, who resides in California.

Mrs. Weathers, known affectionately as Stormy to a legion of friends, had a long and colorful career in public service. She came to Big Spring around 1930 when her late husband was assisting in installation of the Southern Ice Company plant, and she had a hand in developing a pageant for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. This proved such a hit that the W.T.C.C. engaged her for many years to produce the pageant for the convention show.

During the war years, she took a position as manager of the San Marcos Chamber of Commerce and proved a natural in this field.

Later she retired to rest, but then when Stanton businessman offered her the Martin County Chamber post in 1949, she accepted and made it a lively organization until 1954 when her husband retired.

Together they went to California to be near her daughter, and while he worked in a defense plant, she served as assistant credit manager for Butler Bros. at Van Nuys. Following his death, Mrs. Weathers accepted the position of coordinator at the Big Spring State Hospital in November, 1961, and continued until several months ago.

Her daughter suggested that those wishing to make memorials consider the First Presbyterian Church building Fund here, or the Big Spring State Hospital Chapel Fund.

Game Warden Patrol Beefed

AUSTIN (AP) — The game warden patrol around Lake Meredith in the Panhandle has been reinforced because of what the Parks and Wildlife Department calls "conspicuous violations" of regulations against catching walleye pike.

The department stocked 15 million pike in the lake last spring in an experiment to see if the transplants would thrive.

Marion Toole, coordinator of inland fisheries, said the patrols around the lake were beefed up after discovery of heads and intestines along the shore line. Toole said some evidence was found under signs informing fishermen that walleyes were protected.

Toole said the pike now have grown to nearly a foot in length and seem to be doing well.

Violators of the ban on catching walleyes are subject to fines of up to $200 plus forfeiture of fishing licenses.

Japan-Korea Ties Nearer

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's lower house of Parliament approved ratification early today of the treaty formally establishing diplomatic relations with South Korea.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's ruling Liberal-Democrats, with a majority in the 467-seat lower house, pushed the ratification bill through just after midnight.

The lower house has been practically paralyzed for three days by delaying tactics of the opposition parties.

Pakistani Office Stoned By Mob

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Pakistani High Commission in New Delhi charged today that a mob of 200 rained its office, causing "serious damage," and that Indian police beat three of its officials. A protest note demanded compensation and an official apology.

Theft Reported

Three negligees, one clock radio, a clock, a feather pillow, three bottles of perfume, one double-edged razor, a bed spread, and a red throw rug were reported stolen from the home of Jayne Kounes early today, according to police reports. She told officers the items were taken from her home at 810 1/2 Andree sometime Wednesday. Officers said they could find no evidence of forced entry, and assumed the doors to the home were unlocked when the items were taken.

SUGAR RAY WATCHES THE VICTOR
Joey Archer puts Robinson down in fourth

Joey Archer Looks To Tiger Scrap

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson is near the end of the road but the roar of the crowd still makes sweet music in his ears. The fight with young Joey Archer Wednesday night may have been his last stop. The Harlem dandy wants to think it over for a day or two before he makes up his mind. The Sugar Man retired way back in 1952 and stayed away for two years. After he came back he won and lost the world middleweight title three times. But the skills that earned him the reputation of the best fighter pound-for-pound in all ring history have faded. His dream of winning the championship for the sixth time must have vanished in thin air

A Statewide Malady

University of Arkansas football fans, caught up in the delirium of an undefeated season, believe in letting the rest of the world know of the happy condition. J. B. Apple of 419 Westover Road, Big Spring, recently received this placard, which extols the virtues of the Razorbacks, from a brother-in-law, D. L. Grace, a Fort Smith attorney. Grace felt so strongly about the matter he dedicated a poem to the Hogs, which was reprinted in a paper circulated in the U of A orbit.

Mays Preferred Flag Over Cup

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Just by winning the 1965 National League Most Valuable Player Award, Willie Mays has set another record.

For it was 11 years ago that the San Francisco Giants' center fielder last captured the MVP. And no player in baseball history has had to wait that long between.

Joe DiMaggio, another famous center fielder from San Francisco, once waited eight years between MVP's when he was with the New York Yankees.

"It's just wonderful to be chosen with so many good ball players around," said Mays when notified he had won Wednesday. "It's especially good because we didn't win a pennant. But I'd rather have won the pennant than the award."

The 34-year-old Mays, whose Giants finished two games behind Los Angeles, polled 224 points in the balloting announced in Boston by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Sandy Koufax, the left-handed unanimous Cy Young Award choice as Most Valuable Pitcher, got 177 points for his 26-8 record and two Series victories for the first time.

No. 1 Power And Marshall In Headliner

By The Associated Press

The lower classes will round out their state playoff brackets but the big game of Texas schoolboy football this week matches two undefeated, untied teams with state title aspirations in Class AAAA—the top division.

Texarkana, rated No. 1 in the state, battles Marshall, ranked No. 9, at Marshall Friday night with the District 8 title on the line.

This game sends the high-powered offense of the Tigers, led by twin terrors Robbie Patman and Joe Norwood, against the mighty defense of the Marshall Mavericks.

There is a division of opinion as to the probable winner, since Marshall has quite an offense, too, featuring the passing of Mike Beane.

CROWN ON LINE
Another big game in Class AAA pits undefeated, untied Wichita Falls Rider against Hurst Bell for the District 4 crown. Bud Deerinwater, the Rider one-man gang, may get his greatest test.

Still a third big one sends San Angelo against Odessa Permian with the District 2 title up for grabs. San Angelo, undefeated and untied, is rated No. 2 in the state. Permian is No. 10.

All told at least six district championships are due to be determined in AAAA while some zone titles are on the line in several districts.

Class AAA already has two state playoff teams—Conroe and San Marcos—and can determine three more this week. Dumas, the No. 1 team, however, will have to wait another week before it can sew up the district crown.

Classes AAAA and AAA have two weeks to decide all district champions but Classes AA and A have no tomorrow—district championships have to be posted this week so the playoffs may start.

The reason for these two classes opening the playoffs ahead of AAAA and AAA is that each has 32 districts. AAAA and AAA have 16 each.

MANY SETTLED
Thirty-four district representatives already have been determined in Classes AA and A, leaving 30 this week.

Polson Tied For 2nd Spot

Joe Dan Cooke of Plains has clinched the scoring champion in District 5-A with a total of 133 points over the season.

Dink Polson of Stanton is engaged in a fight for second place in the scoring derby with Ron Elmore of Plains. Each has 60 points.

Cooke also leads in conference scoring with 60 points, 18 more than his team mate, Ron Elmore.

Plains High-Scoring Team, Records Show

PLAINS — The Plains Cowboys, who meet Coahoma in Class A bi-district play at Saturday a week from Andrews night, has won eight of nine starts this season and is favored to make Stanton's ninth victim in a game at home tomorrow night.

The Cowboys have been double tough the last two seasons. In 1964, they finished with an 8-2 record and emerged as tri-champions of District 5-A.

Plains is coached by Rip Sewell, which figured from the start his team would be better than it was a year ago.

The Cowboys have made a shambles of district opponents. Wink was the only league foe to play the Plains club close and the Cowboys won that game by two touchdowns.

Only loss the Cowboys have suffered this season was to Friona by a score of 21-7. Friona has already clinched the right to represent 3-AA in the playoffs.

From last year's team, Sewell returned seven offensive and eight defensive starters, including six who went both ways.

Halfback Dennis Crutcher played offense in 1964 and Bobby Taylor, this year's quarterback, was a starter on defense last year as a halfback, as did Alvie Faulkenberry.

Ends Jim Smith and Harold Swann, tackles Dan Smith and N. C. Clonahan, halfback Ronnie Elmore and fullback Joe Dan Cooke are the veterans Sewell will be heavily counting on against Coahoma.

Cooke has emerged as the area's leading scorer and is a threat everytime he gets his hands on the ball.

Taylor saw a lot of experience at quarterback last year although he did not start.

COOKE BACK
Ronnie Elmore, a cousin to Ricky Crutcher, Alton Rains and Gregg Jones are running at halfback. Cooke was the top back on the team last year.

The Cowboys were tough despite intensively last year as only three teams were able to score more than once on them and only Seagraves got as many as three TD's.

Offensively, the Cowboys have been able to move the ball well. They've averaged 30.5 points a game, compared to 8.9 for the opposition.

Sewell rates his team's speed as adequate, passing improved and the defense stronger, so the Cowboys should be hard to handle.

Broyles Says He Fears SMU

By The Associated Press

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles insists his team won't take Southern Methodist University lightly.

"They've got balance. By that I mean they do everything well — run, pass, defend, kick. That's the highest compliment I can pay a team," Broyles said of his Saturday rivals.

SMU was the last team to beat the Razorbacks, 14-7 in 1963. Broyles said the coaches haven't installed anything especially for SMU. "Just the little changes we make every week."

Arkansas will start Jim Lindsey at wingback in Dallas. He replaces speedster Harry Jones, who bruised a hip in last week's 31-0 victory over Rice.

SMU held a spirited hour and a half light contact drill Wednesday in preparation for Arkansas. All players except Charles Standifer, Dallas center who broke his hand in Monday's workout, are in good shape.

Offensive and defensive plays were run by the Mustangs against the freshman team.

In Lubbock, Texas Tech got ready for Baylor in passing under pressure and goal line play rehearsals in a no-contact drill.

Tech defensive tackles Bill Adams and Ronnie Pack are definitely out of the Baylor game. Starting end Jeff White is on the questionable list.

LARRY GATLIN

Gatlin Casts Big Shadow

Big Spring's big job in Friday night's football game here with Odessa High will be to try and stop Larry Gatlin, a fiery speedster who alternates between the quarterback and halfback positions.

When Gatlin is in at quarterback, he excels at running the option. When he moved to halfback and Eddie Harris takes over at quarterback, he is Harris' favorite pass receiver.

The Bronchos have three players who have gone over the 350 yard mark in ground gains. One of them is Gatlin, who has picked up 375 yards net in 77 carries for a 4.8-yard average.

One of the top hands for Odessa, fullback Mark Clapham, will not see action here Friday night due to illness. In 98 lunges with the ball, he has gained 381 yards for a 3.9-yard average.

Halfback Ray Goddard, one of the fastest players in 2-AAAA, has ripped off gains totaling 353 yards in 79 carries for a 4.4-yard average.

Harris has completed 39 of 83 passes for 597 yards and seven touchdowns. Gatlin has thrown 22 times and completed 12 for 128 yards.

Gatlin has also caught 20 passes for 297 yards and four touchdowns while end Ronnie Peoples has gathered in 12 aeriels for 176 yards and one score.

Halfback Gary Etheridge, used principally as a blocker this year, is also on the injured list for Odessa, as are defensive back Larry Allen, tackle Winston Beam and Steve Hays, who hasn't played since the Cooper game five weeks ago.

Collins Out Front In Ground Gains

Terry Collins of San Angelo has firmed up his position as leading ground-gainer in District 2-AAAA with a total of 376 yards net in 54 carries for a robust 6.9 yards per carry.

Tim Thurman of Abilene High is second in yards gained with 318. He has carried the mail 67 times for 4.7 yards per thrust.

Big Spring's Joe Jaure is fifth in individual rushing with 282 yards in 40 tries for a seven-yard average.

Jack Mildren, Abilene Cooper, is the No. One passer with 41 completions in 92 tries for a total of 557 yards. He has thrown for three touchdowns and had five intercepted.

Frankie Stringer, San Angelo, is the leading receiver with 293 yards gained on 20 completions, five of which went for touchdowns.

The leading punter is Mitch Robertson, Abilene Cooper, who has averaged 42.7 yards per boot in 22 attempts.

Tony Conley, Permian, picked up one touchdown against Big Spring last week and leads the district with a total of 36 points.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Ball control doesn't always win football games, as the Odessa Permian Panthers so conclusively proved against Big Spring last weekend in Odessa.

Big Spring had the ball 33 times, Permian only 20 the first half—yet Permian took a 14-0 lead to the dressing room at the intermission.

Exclusive of penalties, Big Spring controlled the ball for 65 plays during the branigan. Permian only 46. Permian won by the decisive score of 35-6, however.

If you're looking for a spectacular ball club, don't look Permian's way. All the Panthers do is beat you.

The team is deeper in talent than some college clubs, however. The reserve backs were the ones inflicting the most damage on the Steers.

Big Spring's blocking is going to have to improve if it hopes to stay up with Odessa here tomorrow night. The Steer ball line is falling under a blizzard of tacklers before they can get started.

Spike Dykes, the Coahoma mentor, says he was never cold to the idea of his team using Andrews as a neutral site for the impending bi-district tussle with Plains.

Dykes was ready to settle on a neutral side (and Andrews is about half way between the two communities) rather than take the chance of flipping a coin and having to go all the way to Plains.

Too, the Bulldogs played in Andrews last fall (against Seagraves) and were treated royally by the Andrews people.

Dykes has no illusions about the severity of the game with Plains. He's had Plains scout three times this season and says the Cowboys boast a big mobile line and two outstanding backs in Joe Dan Cook and Ronnie Elmore.

Cook is West Texas' leading scorer but Dykes reasons Elmore is the secret weapon with which Plains wins a lot of its games. Plains has made a shambles of the District 5-A race this season, where ordinarily three or four teams contest for the crown.

If you're inclined to watch two able-bodied warriors stalk each other around an enclosed square, you can see the Cassius Clay-Floyd Patterson heavyweight championship fight on closed-circuit television at the Ector County Coliseum the night of Nov. 22.

The show starts at 9 p.m. with a bout pitting Armos Lincoln, currently ranked No. 9 among the super-dreadnaughts of the ring, against seventh-ranked Thad Spencer.

Reserved ringside seats sell for $5.50, unreserved box seats for $4.50 and unreserved balcony seats for $3.50.

Scrapiron Johnson, the Oklahoma Negro who is in the fight stable of Martin County's Melton McMorries and who has been training in California, has proceeded to Las Vegas where he will serve as a sparring partner to Patterson.

Johnson raised a few eyebrows around the Los Angeles area recently when he chilled Jim Harriman in the tenth round after Harriman had been given the big build-up in the Los Angeles press.

Johnson later fought a ten-round draw with the Mexican heavyweight champion, Manuel Ramos.

McMorries has also signed on a Mexican featherweight, Marciano Rivas, and will have him booked into some of the better clubs in this country.

Apparently, San Angelo's Dickie Canon is going to make a serious run at the top golf pros on the winter golf circuit. He recently won the right to make the tour.

Anthony Pendola of Peoria, Ill., who was killed when two companies of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division were ambushed west of Plei Me in Viet Nam. 'Soviet Peace Move' Rapped By Red China

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today the Soviet Union tried to end the Viet Nam war early this year "in tacit agreement and close collaboration" with President Johnson.

"Since (the Soviets) are cooperating so closely with the U.S. imperialists in united action, it is, of course, impossible for (Chinese) Marxist-Leninists to join in and take 'united action' with them," the Chinese said.

The Chinese, in an 18,000-word article in the party theoretical journal Red Flag, said the Soviet peace moves started in January when Soviet leaders transmitted to Communist North Viet Nam a U.S. demand that it stop supporting the Viet Cong, stop supplying it with guns and stop attacks on the cities of South Viet Nam.

OUTLINES STEPS

The article outlined these other Soviet overtures and the responses:

In February, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, en route home from North Viet Nam, stressed in talks with Chinese leaders in Peking "the need to help the United States find a way out of Viet Nam."

"This was firmly rebutted," the Chinese said, and "we expressed the hope that the new leaders of the Soviet Communist party would support the struggle of the Vietnamese people and not make a deal with the United States on the question of Viet Nam."

Kosygin agreed, but "the new leaders of the Communist party of the Soviet Union soon went back on their promise."

On Feb. 15, the day after Kosygin returned to Moscow, the Soviet government officially put before North Viet Nam and China a proposal to convene a new international conference on Indochina without prior conditions.

This amounted to an endorsement of President Johnson's offer for "unconditional negotiations," Peking claimed. It charged that the Soviet leaders have been trying to arrange peace talks without mentioning withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam.

SOVIET BID

The account continued: The Soviet Union then began to insinuate negotiations could be held "if only the United States stopped its bombing of North Viet Nam."

"And sure enough, not long afterwards Johnson came out with the maneuver of the temporary suspension of bombing."

After their proposals failed, the article continued, the Soviets began to collaborate with India and Yugoslavia — "both lackeys of U.S. imperialism" — as "brokers" on the Viet Nam question.

Cong Loss Heavy In Latest Ambush

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Viet Cong force ambushed a South Vietnamese unit on a main highway west of Saigon today, but 130 of the Communists were killed by combined ground and air action, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The spokesman said American and Vietnamese planes hammered the attacking Viet Cong and killed 100 of them. He had no information on government casualties or other details of the action 5 miles west of Ba-tia.

PRESS OFFENSIVE

A large force of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops pressed an offensive in sandy, rolling coastal terrain 350 miles northeast of Saigon, but results were meager.

Two Viet Cong were reported killed and 18 suspects were detained in the search-and-destroy mission 18 miles northwest of Chu Lai on the coast of the South China Sea. No Allied casualties were reported, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The Americans stormed ashore Wednesday with the Vietnamese in the first joint amphibious operation of the war against the Viet Cong. Col. Thell Fisher of Springfield, Va., was in command of the operation, the first time an American was put in operational control of a Vietnamese fighting unit.

No major ground action was reported elsewhere in the country.

SQUADRON ARRIVES

A new U.S. tactical fighter squadron arrived in Viet Nam to bolster the air war against the Viet Cong. U.S. planes kept up the daily pressure on targets in North Viet Nam, and Vietnamese planes joined them in attacks in the South.

The new squadron of F100 Super Sabre jets had been based in the Philippines and at Da Nang, U.S. Air Force jets dropped

Missile Sites Damaged But U.S. Losing Planes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air attacks on Soviet-built missile sites in North Viet Nam have been sharply stepped up, but the Reds' conventional antiaircraft guns have taken the heaviest toll of attacking American planes.

Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers have destroyed or damaged seven surface-to-air installations in the past week and 10 since the beginning of the month. Only three SAM sites were hit between the end of July and November.

PLANES LOST

Seven planes, including rescue aircraft, were lost in attacks on missile installations last weekend, but only one was downed by a missile. The others were hit by conventional ground fire.

"It's a risky business," said a U.S. military spokesman. "The concentration of flak aimed at our planes is as heavy as, if not heavier than, any in World War II." Missiles are one of the Communists' most potentially dangerous weapons, but their success seems to have been relatively limited. Of the more than 140 planes lost since U.S. bombings of North Viet Nam began, only seven are known to have exploded near Da Nang, 380 miles north of Saigon, a spokesman said.

Vietnamese troops said they uncovered a huge arms cache 40 miles west of Saigon. The haul included 1,200 rounds of sub-machine gun ammunition. Another government unit in the same area reported it found a grenade workshop.

been shot down by missiles.

PILONTS CREDITED

Much of the credit is due the American pilots who have coped from the beginning with the missile threat. They have developed tactics to minimize the danger from the SAMs.

Pilots returning from raids against missile installations have reported being fired on by the SAMs. But some of the assaults have been carried out with great speed — one took only 90 seconds. Pilots say the Communists may not have had time to launch the complex projectiles with any degree of accuracy.

HEAVILY PROTECTED

On the other hand, all the SAM installations are heavily protected by automatic weapons and antiaircraft guns which can produce withering fire in seconds.

Dawson County Launches Unique Sheep Experiment

LAMESA — Cooperation of local business and agricultural people here has resulted in a unique demonstration that should show whether or not farm sheep flocks have a place in Dawson County agriculture, according to County Agent Leroy Colgan.

The demonstration got underway in late October when 40 Rambouillet ewes, purchased by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, were put into drylot on the David Hughes farm in the Arvana community.

Colgan says the project has two purposes: first, to learn if they can produce three lamb crops in two years under farm conditions; second, to see how well gin trash can be utilized by a farm flock of sheep.

The gin trash, donated by two local gins, is currently being fed at the rate of two pounds per day per ewe along with one pound per head of alfalfa hay donated by Hughes.

The two Suffolk bucks used in the demonstration will be treated to air-conditioning in the summer, thanks to a local business firm. The air-conditioning should help overcome the low-fertility problems common to sheep in hot weather, Colgan said.

The flock will be confined in drylot for the first year. The agent says that in the second year they will utilize available grazing on the farm and be maintained in drylot when grazing is not available.

Two veterinarians have agreed to visit the demonstration once a month free of charge. Colgan plans are shaping to set up a similar demonstration using eight beef cows that will get a daily ration of gin-trash and three pounds of alfalfa hay.

'65 Sorghum Grain Crop Record Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated the 1965 sorghum grain crop at 440,529,000 bushels Wednesday — down slightly from last month's forecast but still a record high. Texas is the leading state with 271,656,000 bushels.

The department estimated most citrus crops will be larger than average, with oranges 13 per cent above average and 8 per cent larger than last year's crop.

This month's estimates put corn for grain down 1 per cent from October's forecast and leave wheat unchanged.

New forecasts were issued this month for only about half the major crops.

Predicted yields per acre and production, respectively, in Texas:

Rice, 4,000 pounds, production 21,252,000 hundredweight.

Peanuts, picked and threshed, 1,000 pounds, 292 million.

Pecans, 35 million pounds.

Oranges, 1.1 million boxes.

Grapefruit, 3 million boxes.

Dear Abby

His Own Reward!

DEAR ABBY: Do you think parents should PAY their children for getting good grades? Somehow I can't seem to convince myself that it's right, but other parents do it and get results, so maybe I'm wrong. Our son needs some sort of motivation to do better in school. Richard has as much intelligence as any of his classmates who make the honor roll, yet he barely gets by and it doesn't seem to bother him. My husband thinks we should offer him money as an incentive. Richard is only 14, but he's saving for a car. Do you think $50 for every "A" he gets and $25 for every "B" is too much?

RICHARD'S MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: I think the whole idea of PAYING a child for the privilege of getting an education is "too much." First, Richard needs to learn the value of KNOWING things, not having things. It's all right to "reward" a child a job well done — but "bribing" him for doing what he should do for nothing makes no sense at all. Mediocrity, when one can do better, calls for discipline.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for a year. Before I was married I was a pretty sad case. (I guess you'd say I was "promiscuous.") My husband knew about this because I was going with him at the time. When we were first married, I lied to him a few times about where I was going. I really didn't cheat on him those times, but I was going with some girls I knew he didn't like. I've been 100-per cent true to my husband since our marriage and always will be. Well, he found out I lied to him, and now he won't trust me.

Yesterday our telephone rang three times. It was the same person calling a wrong number. My husband was sure it was a man for me and I was trying to cover up, so he said, "Why don't you call your boy friend back and tell him I'll be gone all day tomorrow?" Abby, I love my husband and want him to believe me, but how can I when he's so unreasonable and suspicious? NOT TRUSTED!

DEAR NOT: You earned your husband's distrust and now you will have to win back his confidence. This can be accomplished in only one way — performance. If you consistently tread the straight and narrow, in time your "bad" reputation will fade, and a better one will replace it. It can be done, but you must avoid not only evil, but the appearance of it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "M" AND "M": Goethe put it this way: "Love is an ideal thing, marriage a real thing; a confusion of the real with the ideal never goes unpunished." There is no perfection. Don't expect too much.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The program was given by Mrs. Hulan Harris who reviewed the history of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. Citing accomplishments of the organizations in the past, she stressed the influence that women can have in social and government affairs if their efforts are constant and combined. She explained national and state projects scheduled to be initiated or completed this year and listed the various endowment funds and their purposes. A general discussion followed her talk.

Mrs. J. W. Dickens presided

Savings League Elects President

DALLAS (AP) — C. A. Duncan Jr., Nevada, Mo., was elected president of the United States Savings and Loan League Wednesday.

Otto L. Preisler, Chicago, was named vice president, meaning he probably will succeed Duncan.

Duncan is president of Farm and Home Savings Association of Nevada. He attended San Angelo (Tex.) College and the University of Texas and joined his father's real estate and insurance firm in San Angelo. Six years later he went to work for the company he now heads.

Priesler is director of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago.

DETER REDS

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said loan funds for Latin American countries in the Housing Act of 1965 can be a great deterrent against communism.

Addressing the league, Tower said that $620 million set aside in the act for investment by U.S. Savings and Loan Associations in Latin America can "do a lot toward lessening the threat of communism."

The senator, who supported the bill, declared that home ownership in the United States is a bulwark against communism. "No one ever heard of a man with an equity in a home who

Man, Wife Have Surgery

CHICAGO (AP) — A Wisconsin couple, married for 37 years, had heart surgery together and are reported in "very good condition" today.

Mrs. and Mrs. Alvin Dru'yor of Prairie du Chien, Wis., underwent open-heart surgery Wednesday by Dr. M. S. Mazel. The operation, called a cardiopexy, was to unblock arteries leading to the heart.

Dr. Mazel said the Dru'yors probably will be up and walking today and will be back at work in two or three weeks.

Mrs. Inez Dru'yor, 60, was tabbed for the operation after accompanying her husband, Alvin, 62, to Chicago for a physical examination two weeks ago. Tests disclosed that she had a heart condition, similar to the one her husband had for seven years, only worse.

Hospital officials said the couple decided to have their surgery the same day to eliminate concern for each other that might possibly cause damage to their hearts.

Dru'yor is president of Travel Mat. Inc., a national paper mat printer.

Young Pacifist Dies Of Burns

NEW YORK (AP) — A young pacifist has died of burns 23 hours after he doused himself with gasoline and set himself afire in front of the United Nations in a protest against war.

Roger LaPorte, 20, who was burned on 95 per cent of his body, was the third American to die of self-inflicted burns this year in pacifist demonstrations. LaPorte died Wednesday.

Bellevue Hospital's Roman Catholic chaplain, the Rev. Alexander Busuttil, said LaPorte was "clear and expressive as he received the last rites of the Church in which he once sought priesthood."

Lawyer New Commissioner

AUSTIN (AP) — Clay Cotten, a lawyer with government experience in insurance matters, has been appointed state insurance commissioner.

The Texas Insurance Board announced Wednesday that Cotten, a 1938 graduate of the University of Texas law school, will succeed J. N. Nutt as chief officer of the vast department which regulates the insurance industry.

Nutt resigned, effective Nov. 1, to re-enter private business. He had held the post since Sept. 1, 1963.

The board also named a former Austin city court judge, Tom McFarling, state insurance liquidator and conservator.

Cotten and McFarling will be sworn in Nov. 15. Cotten was an assistant attorney general and liquidator, legal counsel and lawyer in the board's liquidation branch. He joined the department in 1938.

A Palestine native, Cotten is the son of the late State Sen. Clay Cotten.

Entertainer Learns Trade Tough Way

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Wayne Newton's first job in show business was a Christmas show for a labor union in his native Roanoke, Va. He was 10, and the fee amounted to $10, which he split with his brother.

He's a big boy now, all of 23, and he estimates his earnings so far this year amount to three-quarters of a million dollars. That doesn't include November and December.

LEARNS TRADE

How did the young Virginian come so far? By learning his trade, which is singing and playing everything from banjo to violin. He acquired his education in the toughest school for an entertainer: the Las Vegas lounge.

The lounges of that gold-rush town are people-packed boxes where performers must compete with the rattle of dice and ice cubes. "Hecklers? I've seen every kind," says Wayne. "When I get them in clubs nowadays, it's a cinch for me to handle the situation."

BIG OVATION

Newton recently completed a two-week run at the Coconut Grove, a booking he had avoided for three years because "I wasn't ready." On opening night there could be no doubt that he was ready. Many leading figures in the entertainment world gave him a standing ovation at the close of his power-charged act.

I talked to Newton before he left town and found him to be respectful and earnest. Like Elvis Presley, he addresses reporters as "sir." Like other multitalented stars who become big enterprises — Newton has two corporations, is forming a third — he refers to his performing self as "we."

"We got our first big break when Jackie Gleason saw us in Phoenix and put us on his television show," he will say. "He put us on his show 12 times."

Field Crops Peak Forecast Despite Dip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Record high output of farm field crops is predicted for this year despite a slight decline in earlier government estimates of corn and other feed grain production.

The Agriculture department's late harvest time report, based on Nov. 1 information, indicates all crop production for 1965 about seven per cent higher than last year and four per cent above the previous record year of 1963.

The current corn prospect for more than 4.128 billion bushels is one per cent below the October forecast, but still a record high, 16 per cent above last year and eight per cent more than the 1959-65 average.

The sorghum grains forecast is for 651 million bushels, also one per cent below last month's estimate, but 33 per cent over last year and 18 per cent above average. No change was made in estimates for oats and barley.

Sudden Crib Deaths Bring Research Plan

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — She knew something was wrong the moment she awoke.

She roused her husband. "It's 8 o'clock," she said, "what about the baby?"

The baby, a healthy three-month-old, had been waking her parents at 6:45 each morning — as regularly as an alarm clock. The mother had checked the infant at 6 a.m. found her sleeping, and had gone back to bed.

Now, hearing nothing, she checked again. The baby was cold and was not breathing.

PRONOUNCED DEAD

FRANTICALLY, the mother called the fire department to send a crew with a resuscitator, but the infant could not be revived. The child was pronounced dead a short time later at a hospital.

Some 15,000 such deaths occur in the United States each year.

In the Seattle area, eight bereaved couples have formed the Washington Association for Sudden Infant Death Study. Thanks in part to their efforts, an ambitious research project is under way to determine what

Suspension Of Officers Upheld

DALLAS (AP) — After deliberating 10 minutes, a three-member civil service board unanimously upheld the indefinite suspension Sept. 23 of six Dallas policemen.

The decision followed four hours of testimony Wednesday in a crowded city council chamber.

Patrolmen Ronald Shackelford, 27; G. W. Temple, 31; J. M. Valentine, 28; E. G. Sebastian, 32; E. D. Martin, 28; and Alvis Brock, 27 were found out of their districts in a south Dallas cemetery.

causes what doctors call the sudden death syndrome, but commonly known as "crib deaths."

SYMPATHY CARD

The association got its start with a card of sympathy. Mrs. Francis R. Jones, a Seattle policeman's wife, sent one to State Sen. and Mrs. Fred H. Dore. Mrs. Jones did not know the Dores, but had read in a newspaper that they had found their youngest child dead in its crib on the same day she and her husband lost a baby in the same way.

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Dore became acquainted. Then Mrs. Dore heard of another crib death and wrote a note of sympathy to the parents. A few couples got together and held a meeting, with a pediatrician as a speaker.

They learned that pathologists in various parts of the country had been doing research on possible causes of the sudden unexplained deaths.

Citizens Pause, Pledge Support To Viet Cause

By The Associated Press

Veterans Day takes on added significance today as Americans take time to tell their fighting men in Viet Nam, "We're behind you."

In Main Street parades, on speaking platforms, in blood drives and among the long rows of white crosses in military cemeteries, the nation pauses to remember, reflect and rededicate.

To the people of Audubon, Iowa, the war in Viet Nam suddenly comes close to home today. Donald D. Haskins, 22, a sailor fatally wounded at Da Nang last month, will be laid to rest.

SUPPORT INVOLVEMENT
The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars in Hamilton, Ohio, put on an "Operation Boost" parade supporting American involvement in Viet Nam. Marchers have been asked to bring personal items to be sent to servicemen there.

Students at Alabama College

at Montevailo have scheduled a blood drive for U.S. troops, plus a fund raising campaign to provide a special gift for the American forces. Other activities include a flag raising ceremony and a speech by Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala.

Dave Watson, commander of the VFW post in Muscatine, Iowa, said the hope behind the town's parade is that it "will offset some of the publicity being given to the demonstrations against U.S. policy in Viet Nam." Bremer County, Iowa, veterans are calling their parade a "walk for the men in Viet Nam."

LAPEL FLAGS
The national headquarters of the American Legion distributed 10 million lapel pin flags for "Operation Show Your Colors." Each pin comes with a card saying "Americans are serving the cause of freedom in Viet Nam. I wear my country's flag to show that I support their efforts."

Humphrey laid a wreath for President Johnson on the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery across the Potomac River from the nation's capital.

In prepared remarks, the vice president said: "We are in Viet Nam to keep a commitment established by international treaty. We are there because, once again in history, it must be proved to aggressors that the price of their aggression comes far too high."

"WILL REMAIN"
"We will remain in Viet Nam until a just and lasting peace can be established there."

Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze, speaking at a Veterans Day ceremony in Welch, W.Va., said in a prepared address that veterans "keenly understand why we will not now abandon the Republic of Viet Nam. Our veterans entertain no doubt that we will prevail in the cause of freedom."

Nitze said American veterans have "learned in the hardest of all schools that weakness is only an invitation to attack, and that retreat can bring in its wake even more deadly dangers."

The Anchorettes, Wichita State University's Navy women's drill team, who spent the week collecting signatures in support of U.S. servicemen, lead off a Veterans Day parade in Wichita, Kan.

Wichita Mayor William Tarver has issued a proclamation dubbed "Operation Boost," calling for a moment of silent prayer at 11 a.m. for the success and safety of U.S. military forces everywhere.

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt leads the Veterans Day parade at Frankfort, Ky., then receives a petition in support of U.S. Viet Nam policy. The names were collected at the polls on election day last Tuesday.

Three Chosen For Commission

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally selected three new members Wednesday for the Texas Good Neighbor Commission — A. G. Ainsworth Jr. of Luling, Walter McBee of Dallas and Mrs. Philip Bishop of Fort Worth. Ramiro Martinez of McAllen was reappointed.

Amusing Idea Offers Refuge From Reality

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV — Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An amusing — and mighty familiar — little comedy idea on NBC's Bob Hope Theatre Wednesday night was just the right prescription for some of the tired 30 million people recovering and getting back to normal after Tuesday night's power blackout.

And so was the problem of "The Virginian's" hard luck neighbor and the derring-do of the "I Spy" agents chasing an escaped spy. NBC, in fact, was a comfortable channel on Wednesday night for a smooth sail away from stern reality.

"Mr. Government," the Hope show comedy, was busy building laughs on the old device of having an especially tall, husky, pipe-smoking man forced to disguise himself as a woman. It worked with Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis in a hit movie and worked again Wednesday night with Tom Tryon. It was very, very broad comedy, of course, plus a mixed pair of romances and the anticipated windup — Tom lost his wig.

Throughout the day — particularly in news shows and in a pair of news specials — the TV networks busily tried to clean up the big story of the previous night's big blackout. It covered most of the essential picture and word bases, but came no closer than any other medium to solving the big mystery — the cause of the trouble.

Producers of CBS' "What's My Line?" after considering the matter for two days went back to their original idea of putting a close friend of Dorothy Kilgallen's into the late columnist's spot on the show panel next Sunday night. They chose Kitty Carlisle. The other guest on the panel will be Steve Allen, once regular on the show.

Starting next Monday, NBC's Huntley Brinkley news summary will be in color. Just what the addition will bring to its coverage is an interesting question. Both the "Today" and "Tonight" shows are using color and in both cases, it seems to this viewer, it adds little to our appreciation or enjoyment. One just hopes that the news show's editors will not henceforth pick stories on the basis of the quality of color film available.

Texas Delegation Split Three Ways

WASHINGTON (AP) —

A check of voting records of the first session of the 89th Congress shows that Texas members were little influenced by the fact that a fellow Texan, former colleague and personal friend of most occupies the White House.

For many years the 23-man Texas delegation in the House has been split into three groups, roughly equal in size, in voting on controversial issues: one more or less consistently supporting administration-backed liberal proposals, one usually against, and the third sometimes going one way, sometimes the other.

This was true when the late Sam Rayburn of Bonham held sway over the House so long as Speaker. It is still true. President Johnson, as did Rayburn, can exert great personal influence on occasion. Sometimes it works, but not always. Even consistent supporters may buck the traces once in a great while because of circumstances peculiar to their district, a transgression which party leaders usually understand and overlook.

SPLIT OPENLY
In the Senate the two Texans also have split openly on many vital issues over the past two decades.

The late Sen. Tom Connally and Johnson, when he was a senator, generally supported Democratic programs.

But, former Democratic Sens. W. Lee O'Daniel and William Blakely, the Dallas financier, usually opposed them — especially if they were tagged as liberal proposals. Price Daniel might be found more or less down the middle.

Now, of course, Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough consistently supports the administration and Sen. John Tower, Republican, is as consistently opposed. On foreign policy, however, Tower has backed up the President.

SUPPORT ADMINISTRATION
Texas members of the House who usually can be counted on to support Johnson administration proposals are Reps. Jack Brooks, Beaumont; Henry Gonzalez, San Antonio; Wright Patman, Texarkana; Clark Thompson, Galveston; Albert Thomas, Houston; Jim Wright, Fort Worth; John Young, Corpus Christi.

In the opposing camp have been Reps. Omar Burleson, Anson; John Dowdy, Athens; Bob Casey, Houston; Clark Fisher, San Angelo; Joe Pool, elected at-large but a resident of Dallas. Frequently joining this group have been Reps. Earle Cabell, Dallas; Olin Teague, Bryan; Walter Rogers, Pampa.

More or less in the middle of the road group have been Reps. Lindley Beckworth, Gladewater; Eligio (Kika) de la Garza, Mission; George Mahon, Lubbock; Jake Pickle, Austin; W. R. Poage, Waco; Graham Purcell, Wichita Falls; Ray Roberts, McKinney; Richard White, El Paso.

An example of the independence displayed by the Texas lawmakers was evident in the vote on a proposal to repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits states to ban union shops. Only four supported the administration's plan for repeal: Reps. Brooks, Gonzalez, Thompson and Wright.

Other examples could be cited, including the vote on a proposal for home rule for the District of Columbia, which saw Brooks bucking the administration.

Old Bugler At Vet Event
DALLAS (AP) — It was June 1, 1918, when old soldier Hartley Edwards, then an Army private at Camp Cody, N.M., first saw a bugle.

After hearing Edwards had played the bugle in the high school band at Italy, Tex., the captain handed him the new horn and ordered: "You'll be my bugler."

Edwards, now 78, later blew the bugle in France for Gen. John J. Pershing, whom he recalls as "the best man you ever saw—you'd never see him when he wasn't at attention."

VET REUNION
These and other reminiscences stirred as Edwards sounded reveille, mail call, sick call and taps with that same battered instrument at a reunion of World War I veterans Wednesday.

Despite a touch of gas and frostbitten feet, he came home from France to become a railroad man. Now he's retired and lives at Denison.

Still ramrod straight, he grips the bugle with his left hand to overcome partial paralysis.

Apologizing for the horn's appearance, Edwards explained: "It always hit the ground first."

"The Smithsonian wants it," said his wife Irene. "I've been after him to let them have it and get himself a new one."

Twice he has played at Arlington National Cemetery and once at Washington Cathedral. He is national bugler for the World War I Veterans.

PLAYS TAPS
Often of late Edwards has been called upon to play taps at funerals, one time four in the same day.

"He goes up to the third floor where our daughter used to have a playroom—he goes up there at 6 o'clock in the mornings and blows reveille," said Mrs. Edwards. "The neighbors never kick—but we've got good neighbors."

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Kenneth Porter, 31, of Corpus Christi died Wednesday night of injuries suffered 48 hours earlier when his truck hit a parked car. Porter was hurled from the vehicle and it rolled on him.

COLLEGE STATION — Larger supplies of poultry than a year ago are resulting in attractive prices on fryers and turkeys, reports Mrs. Gwen Clay, Texas A&M University Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Birds of all sizes are available at economic price levels.

If you are buying turkey, remember that the larger birds will yield more meat in proportion to bone, she says.

Another good meat choice this week is beef. It remains plentiful with little or no price change except for cuts placed on "special" at some markets. Round steaks, chuck and other cuts for pot roasting and ground beef are among the better buys.

Eggs remain a good protein choice. Prices are only slightly higher than they were a year ago.

Fish items also are featured by many stores in observance of "Fish 'n' Seafood Parade." Perch and shrimp are among "specials" available. Canned tuna is an economic choice.

Good quality vegetables are available at most markets, as larger-than-usual harvests of lima beans, snap beans, beets, cabbage, sweet corn, green peas, winter spinach and tomatoes continue to arrive. Also in good supply are cucumbers, eggplant, acorn squash, mustard, turnips and greens, celery and sweet potatoes. Cauliflower, broccoli and Brussels sprouts are moderately priced.

New crop grapefruit and cranberries are appearing in many stores. Tokay grapes continue as one of the most economical fruit choices. Bananas, pineapples and pears are in good supply, and honey dew melon quality is excellent.

Improve Lunch With Chicken

Cold chicken in the lunchbox is a real treat. Next time you bake, broil or fry chicken, prepare extra lunchbox portions.

Wrap individual portions in aluminum foil and store in freezer. Pack the frozen chicken in the morning, by noon the chicken in the lunchbox will be thawed and ready to eat.

English Cooking Style Given Texas Flavor

By JO ANN PHINIZY
It takes a spot of real determination for a British wife to learn to cook tacos and enchiladas—in England—for a Texas husband.

"Such a concoction was unheard of," said Mrs. Bobby L. Smith, 2710 Ann, who hails from Cambridge. She explained that the ingredients and recipes were difficult to find, impossible to follow and in direct violation of everything British.

First of all there was the taste. In England, food is cooked in its natural flavor without the interference of herbs, spices or garlic. To find a Britisher brewing up something with an exotic aroma was enough to bring the neighbors around.

However, Mrs. Smith said, it is unprecise to think that British food is entirely without seasoning.

WHITE PEPPER
"We always use salt in the cooking process, and we always put a container of white pepper on the table for those who wish to add a dash." White pepper, she noted, would blow the Stetson off any Texan.

"We were at odds on food preparation," recalled Mrs. Smith of the early days of her marriage to Bobby Smith. "By now," she concluded, "I don't know who converted whom."

Her husband, who is a government teacher and chairman of the social studies department at Howard County Junior College, agrees that some English food has its merits. One of his favorites is Yorkshire pudding.

Mrs. Smith makes the renowned dish by mixing 3/4 cup of flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt with 1/2 cup milk. To this, she adds two beaten eggs, 1/2 cup water and beats well. The mixture is poured into "very hot" roast beef natural gravy; baked in a hot oven for 20 minutes, and in a medium oven for 15 minutes.

Mrs. Smith has had several years to become accustomed to the Pilgrim style of doing things, but there is one custom that still causes a slight pause. In England, sandwiches are made with a single item between bread slices. There's a meat sandwich, or water cress, or tomato, but never all under one cover. "It just isn't done," she said.

Fish and chips shops are the

Cato Gives Cabbage Prestige

Cabbage use goes back to the days of the Romans.

Marcus Porcius Cato, the Roman statesman and orator, mentioned in his book on agriculture, that cabbage . . . "surpasses all other vegetables: It may be eaten cooked or raw, and if you dip it into vinegar, it promotes digestion marvelously."

If he had known more about food nutrients, he probably would have mentioned that cabbage — the greener the leaves, the better — is rich in vitamin C, thiamine, iron and folic acid. And the ladies and portly businessmen of his day would have been pleased to know that cabbage is low in calories.

Food value wouldn't have interested the Ancient Egyptians, however. They placed the cabbage on an altar and worshipped it as a god.

Marcus Cato's advice on cabbage is heeded today. Cabbage is grown in just about all the 50 states. Production this year is expected to total around 87 million pounds, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture — with an estimated 32 million pounds to be used for sauerkraut.

As you might expect, November is a good time to put cabbage on your shopping lists. USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service says cabbage is especially plentiful.

equivalent to our hamburger stands. In England the order would bring batter-dipped, deep-fried, cod and a side order of French fries, sprinkled with vinegar.

INDIA IMPORTS

Mrs. Smith said that haste is what shatters American team-making. Real tea, she says, is made from India imports. What is done is to pour boiling water into the tea pot. Wait a bit until the pot is thoroughly heated, pour off the water and put in tea leaves. Then put the water back into the tea pot and let everything steep awhile. Tea is served with sugar and milk, never with lemon.

The major difference between the two countries is the availability of foods, in the opinion of Mrs. Smith.

"Here," she said, "everything is under one roof. I am always astounded when I go inside a supermarket."

Mrs. Smith, a secretary to the technical service department at Cosden Oil and Refinery, enjoys her work. She said that it's fun to be a part of industry, to be interested, and to meet the people.

The recipes Mrs. Smith selected are typically British and those that have the approval of all her family, including children, Deborah, Mark and Todd.

Southern Cooks Knew About Cornmeal, Fish

Southern cooks have a way of dipping fish fillets in cornmeal so the outside has a crisp coating and the inside is moist and succulent?

Eaten spoonbread lately? Know the satisfaction of dipping a big spoon into the puffy soft cornmeal - and - egg mixture and lifting out a generous helping onto your own plate? Now the butter goes on to melt and spread itself in rich rivulets. Taste some forkfuls of the spoonbread with baked ham and maybe watermelon pickles! Anything better than that unique combination of bland and rich? Who likes hush puppies?

Made from a thick batter of cornmeal and milk or buttermilk, maybe eggs, sometimes seasoned with onion, they're eaten straight out of the frying skillet. "Serve and eat them while hot!" Southern cooks command.

CORNSTARCH
A basket of cornstarch comes to the table — and doesn't go begging. Baked in familiar black iron pans, with wells shaped like corn on the cob, they're hot and crusty and ready to enliven suppertime.

And what's wrong with just plain corn bread? Made of white or yellow cornmeal, baked thick in a deep square pan or thin in a shallow pie plate, either way it comes to the table burning hot, a split second after it's baked. In another second it's split open and thick squares of butter are sandwiched between its layers to ooze out golden goodness.

Who wouldn't get up in the morning in time for breakfast knowing batty cakes were coming up? Thin cornmeal pancakes they're called up North. But no matter what they're named, their edges are thin and lacy. Syrup or molasses goes over these and maybe fried apples accompany them. One thing's certain: Dozens and dozens of batty cakes can be downed at a sitting along with steaming hot cups of coffee.

FISH FILLETS
What about the Southern way of dipping fish fillets in cornmeal so the outside has a crisp coating and the inside is moist and succulent? And that brings us to our fish story. We served these golden-brown crunchy fillets with the sort of sauce that's sometimes used in barbecuing — spicy with tomato catchup, onion, green pepper, brown sugar and Worcestershire sauce. Another Southern favorite, baby green Lima beans, is a good vegetable to serve with the fish. Add a salad of watercress and paper-thin cucumber slices for something crisp.

SOUTHERN FISH FILLETS WITH BARBECUE SAUCE
1 cup enriched cornmeal
1 tsp. salt
2 tps. onion salt
1 large egg
2 lbs. fish fillets
Fat for frying
2 tps. butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 tps. dark brown sugar
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. salt
3/4 cup catchup
2 tps. prepared mustard
On a piece of waxed paper, mix together the cornmeal, 1 teaspoon salt and onion salt. Beat egg until quite frothy. Cut fillets in serving-size pieces. Dip one piece of fish at a time into egg, then into cornmeal mixture, coating both sides. (If there isn't enough egg toward end, add a tiny bit of water.) Fry fillets in a large skillet in hot fat that is 1/4-inch deep. (If skillet is electric, set control at 350 degrees, then make hotter if necessary.) To make the sauce, melt butter in an 8-inch skillet or 1-quart saucepan; add onion and green pepper and brown lightly. Add remaining ingredients and heat. Serve sauce with fillets. Makes 6 servings — with an ample amount of sauce.

Note: If you use a square 11-inch electric skillet, you'll need about 1 cup fat; we like to use half butter and half peanut oil.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

For generous - sized hamburgers to be grilled over charcoal outdoors, shape only three patties out of each pound of chopped beef.

Americans have adapted the open-sandwich idea from the Danish cuisine and now contribute some new toppings. For U.S.A. combinations try pumpkin-ricel bread spread with Roquefort cheese and garnished with a small cluster of seedless grapes; or buttered rye bread spread with thin slices of baked ham and garnished with spiced crabapples.

When you are buying fresh lima beans, see that the shells are well filled, clean and dark green in color. Beans from pods that are flabby and yellowed are usually tough and have poor flavor.

Tartar sauce, the perennial for fried or broiled scallops, may be made quickly by mixing mayonnaise with pickle relish plus minced onion and parsley. If there's a jar of olives in the refrigerator, mince some of these too and add.

Serve Guests Autumn Dish

When the frost is on the pumpkin, it's just the right time to put delectable Pumpkin Chiffon Pudding on the menu. The dessert is an airy pumpkin chiffon mixture, fragrant with spices, that is turned into a shell of graham cracker crumbs. Thanks to its content of unflavored gelatine, the pudding requires little cooking — only the few minutes needed to dissolve the gelatine. This fluffy dessert will top off a hearty cold-weather meal in rousing fashion.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PUDDING
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar, divided
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 cup milk
3 eggs, separated
1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin
1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1-3 cup melted butter or margarine

Mix gelatine, 1/2 cup brown sugar, salt and spices in saucepan. Stir in milk, water and egg yolks. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in pumpkin. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Fold into gelatine mixture. Combine crumbs and melted butter; line 8-inch square dish. Turn in pumpkin mixture. Chill until firm. Serve with whipped cream.

Princess Has Look At West's Beauty

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Britain's Princess Margaret gets a look at the stark beauty of the old West today—and probably a kitchen refrigerator where an invitation to her wedding once was stored.

The princess and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, arrived Wednesday from Los Angeles for a 4½-day rest to break up their three-week tour of the United States.

No trace of the laryngitis that plagued her in smoggy Los Angeles was present when she made a planeside speech at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base.

HOSTS AT HAND

Waiting at the plane along with Gov. Sam Goddard were her host, Lewis Douglas, and his wife. Their daughter, Sharman, and Princess Margaret became close friends when Douglas was ambassador to Great Britain in 1948-50.

Douglas invited 200 neighbors, business acquaintances and old friends to a cocktail party Wednesday night at the picturesque Arizona Inn to meet the royal pair.

"She's a darling," said a guest as the princess made the shortest social stop of her trip so far — 45 minutes.

As Princess Margaret circulated among the guests, someone splashed a drink on her beige, chiffon dress.

"I got wet, did you?" she said with a smile.

QUIET DINNER

After the party, the Snowdons returned to the Douglas home for a quiet dinner.

For most of her trip, the princess has been nearly the last to leave a party, saying once of Sharman, who was encouraging her to get a little more rest.

"She's a bit anxious, isn't she?"

"Tucson is the place the princess really planned her trip around," said an acquaintance.

"She's really wanted to come here for years, ever since Sharman first told her about it."

So close are the princess and the Douglases that when they did not reply to her wedding invitation, she sent them another cable.

"What happened," said a friend of the Douglases, "was that Lew and his wife were in New York and their Mexican help couldn't read the invitation when it arrived at the ranch."

"The help saw the big, red royal seal on the back and thought it might melt. So they put the invitation in the refrigerator."

The Douglases attended the wedding. They found the first invitation months later, still in the refrigerator.

Union Sending Viet Shipment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union is sending a fully equipped pediatric clinic and three tons of food and medical supplies to South Viet Nam.

Walter Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO union, said the $250,000 shipment will allow South Vietnamese trade unions to establish a children's clinic.

Whooping Crane Arrivals At 36

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department reports 36 whooping cranes have completed their fall flight to the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge on the Texas coast. Of the 36, eight are young hatched this year.

With two or three weeks of the normal migration period still left, conservationists are hopeful the number will reach a new record this fall.

A year ago there were 42 whoopers at Aransas.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Nov. 11, 1965 9-B

president of California Texas Oil Corp., was found dead in a car in the family garage Wednesday.

A medical examiner said it was an apparent case of suicide.

Voss and a son, James Jr., found the body after they noticed exhaust fumes. Mrs. Voss was a native of Prosper, Tex.

Other survivors include a daughter, Susan; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Pannell Sr. of Kilgore, and a brother, William Jr., also of Kilgore.

Beautification Plans Pushed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A $10 million landscaping job and screening of junk yards near main routes are major steps in Texas' initial efforts to follow the federal Highway Beautification Act.

Texas will get about $6 million a year in federal funds for the landscaping and scenic enhancement phase of the program, State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said Wednesday.

He said the state also will make a complete inventory of outdoor advertising signs, displays and devices presently within 660 feet of right-of-way and visible from the road.

A Devotional For The Day

Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. (Luke 23:34)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for Jesus Christ and His reassuring words to all His followers, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." We pray that the eyes of mankind everywhere may be opened, to the end that there may be goodwill among men and peace on earth. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Fans Can Furnish The Spark

If it were possible to always judge contestants ahead of time, there would be no point in a race. If it were possible to tell exactly how a call will feed out, all livestock shows could be settled before feeding starts. And so it is with football and football teams. There always is an imponderable in a given squad or a given contest between teams.

Some years these work for you, some years not so well. And this has been one of those years when things did not seem to break entirely right. However, we can't help but observe that a few years ago we would have been happy to have traded for a season that has been as good as this.

Still, you can't face the future by looking at the past, and Friday night is another deal. It also is the last time that fans will get to see the Steers in action at home.

Some have said that what we need — and sometimes have not had — is that spark, that special something which spreads electrically from one to another. Well, how about supplying a spark from the stands Friday night? It just could be that if enough people come out with high determination and expectation, it will be matched by the young men on the field. Neither the community nor the team can afford to let a season just run out. Let's make it go out with a bang.

Honor To Our Veterans

Thursday we pause to pay our tributes to armed services veterans, living and dead.

Certainly we honor those who have "given that last full measure of devotion . . . that government of the people, by the people and for the people should not perish from the earth." What they have done is sublime beyond expression.

And yet we are in debt to the living, for every veteran in service has been or must be prepared to make the same final sacrifice for his country.

Things worth having demand a price.

And liberty, the dearest of all our national blessings, commands the greatest price of all. If we are not prepared to die for it, we are not worthy to live under it.

Britain's Blessings, Troubles

—LONDON—In the face of a sea of troubles, the rule in Britain is not just the traditional stiff upper lip. It is rather to count whatever blessings are visible and try to insure that others will turn up.

Despite Rhodesia and the threat of a white versus black war, there are tangible blessings. The gold and dollar reserve is up more than anyone had hoped and the pound is showing strength on the world money market. London, with its crowded shops beginning to fill up for the pre-Christmas binge and monstrous traffic jams that promise to bring the whole place to a standstill, reflects the new confidence.

ON HIGH GROUND for the time being, it has been a perilous passage. In the late summer, the pound was under such savage attack and gold reserves were slipping so fast that all seemed lost. At this critical moment, Lord Cromer, Governor of the Bank of England, flew to Basel, Switzerland, to play daniel in the den of the lions growling ominously for the central banks of Europe.

THE IMPERTURBABLE Cromer, the essence of the Establishment in its old undiluted form, is credited with a masterful performance. Timed to follow was a rescue operation from Washington headed by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler. With his Southern drawl and his outward air of the innocent American abroad, the essence of the Johnsonian Establishment, Fowler is given high marks for his part in saving the pound as one of the world's two international currencies and thereby forestalling chaos and an intolerable new burden on the dollar.

BUT FOR ALL the outward signs of confident prosperity the way ahead is still long and hard. A Labor government with a majority of one in the House of Commons must try to hold down wages and increase productivity per man hour by measures the trade unions resist to the bitter end. Caught between economic and political pressures, George Brown, Minister of Economic Affairs, seems often to be robbing Peter to pay Paul. Thus, to avoid a rise in the price of coal to householders, he has announced a subsidy to the state-owned coal industry.

THESE ARE at best stopgap measures that only postpone a day of reckoning for a nation that must sell its goods in ever more competitive markets in order to live. Moreover, the great strain is in the struggle now going on to try to cut Britain's world commitments to fit a defense budget of nearly $6 billion. Whether this means erasing virtually all British outposts east of Suez as some Tory spokesmen have suggested is still undetermined.

THE ONEROUS TASK of fitting the once far flung apparatus of power into a straitjacket of economy falls on Minister of Defense Dennis Healey. One of the ablest members of the Wilson cabinet, Healey is preparing to give the whole defense establishment such a shakeup as it has never had. But for the coming year at least, the economies must be minimal since the thin line still holding in various corners of the globe cannot be abruptly sheared away.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

When Sen. Thurston B. Morton tore into the John Birch Society several weeks ago, he was widely and vigorously applauded for his attack on extremism. But when the Kentucky Republican subsequently turned his attack to "Birchism of the left," the galleries were all but silent. The critics, it seems, had vanished.

The target of Morton's most recent attacks is an execrable blacklist organization by the name of Group Research, Inc. Behind that innocent-sounding name is a tax-exempt group whose sole purpose is to smear non-liberals by lumping conservatives with the lunatic fringe.

In his initial assault on Group Research, Sen. Morton revealed that the Democratic National Committee made two $5,000 payments this year to the GRI "blacklist factory." Subsequently he distributed copies of an Aug. 3 "Dear Friend" letter in which Democratic National Chairman John Bailey praised Group Research publications as a helpful source of information about rightwing extremists.

In truth, Group Research, financed largely by the AFL-CIO, is out to silence all rightist opinion. In order to do so, as Sen. Morton said, "It draws no distinction between Bishop Fulton Sheen and the American Nazi leader, George Lincoln Rockwell." It considers the American Farm Bureau and the Freedoms Foundation to be extremist groups.

The very existence of an organization like GRI violates every principle of free speech and association which most decent Americans believe in, but which the national Democratic party has been loudest to proclaim. It represents the very embodiment of guilt by association techniques which AFL-CIO bigwigs—Walter Reuther, for example—constantly denounce. It is an organization more characteristic of Nazi Germany or Communist Russia than of democratic United States.

No one who defends the Group Research smear-bund can expect to have his liberal or democratic protestations taken seriously. Similarly those who would condemn the John Birch Society without similarly condemning Group Research are guilty of possessing a flagrant double standard.

LBJ's Luck In Foreign Affairs Not Likely To Last

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under the law of averages President Johnson's luck in foreign affairs won't last.

In the first year of his full term foreign crises have been relatively few at a time when he was anxious to concentrate on domestic problems and getting his programs through Congress.

Today he arranged a full-scale review of foreign policy with top-level Cabinet officers at his Texas ranch, the first of its kind since his gall bladder operation Oct. 8. He had held such meetings regularly before that.

Nothing indicated this one would be unusual, which is a reminder that except for the Dominican Republic revolt and the continuing war in Viet Nam Johnson has been fairly free of overseas dilemmas, at least critical ones.

THERE HAS been a basic difference between the way Johnson and President John F. Kennedy tackled foreign policy. From the very first Kennedy plunged head-first into it, and personally.

In less than three years he made an excellent impression abroad. But Johnson has played foreign policy in a much lower key. One example: In his first year Kennedy made a trip abroad; Johnson has stayed home.

But in the two biggest and most critical problems that confronted them in their first five months Johnson took far more forceful and positive action than Kennedy.

The latter supported the invasion of Fidel Castro's Cuba by Cuban exiles but he failed to back them with U.S. forces and many of them perished on the beaches. It was a disaster. Kennedy took the blame. But he suffered for it.

WHEN THE Dominican revolt began Johnson sent 22,000 troops into the republic — to prevent a Communist takeover, he said — and, although this manpower may have been more than was needed, the revolt subsided.

Kennedy, following former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's policy of helping South

Viet Nam resist the Viet Cong attempt to conquer it, began a gradual American military build-up. But the Viet Cong continued to progress.

By the time Johnson began his own first full term, South Viet Nam was dwindling into chaos. He poured in American troops, began bombing North Viet Nam and stopped the Viet Cong tide.

Warm Glow Lit Metropolis

NEW YORK (AP) — General prosperity never knits people as closely together as does general trouble.

That's when they learn "the buddy system."

The overnight blackout here proved this anew. The metropolis wasn't left in total darkness. It was lit by a warm glow.

On ordinary days this titan of cities is made up of eight million crowded individual human islands, most of whom are indifferent to each other and dwell in a protective, shell-like isolation.

If they have private woes, they generally bear them alone.

EACH HAS his own ambition or goal, and sometimes each feels that all the other 7,999,999 people are getting in his way. So they step on each other's toes, and race against each other for taxicabs, parking spaces, department store bargains, theater tickets, and subway, bus or train seats.

The unofficial policy is "devil take the hindmost." If a stranger starts to speak to them on the sidewalk their first reaction is one of suspicion: "What is this guy trying to get from me?"

It is this attitude that gave rise to the oldest cliché about New York City: "It's a great place to visit, but I sure would hate to live there."

BUT WHEN general trouble comes, a truce is called here in the routine strife. The prisoners of the concrete and high glass canyons realize how much dependent on each other they really are.

The herd then becomes a real herd. Instead of seeking petty disadvantages, people help each other. Sharing a new discomfort brings them together in a new camaraderie. Grumpiness is replaced by a feeling of genial glow will. The complainer is laughed out of face.

It was that way during the famous blizzard of 1888. It was that way during the record two-foot-plus snowfall of 1947. And it was that way during the great blackout of 1965, when most of the lights went out, subways stalled, and even the television sets went blank.

WHEN A power breakdown spread a deepening pall across the metropolis, the commonplace became an unknown. The city turned into one vast friendly neighborhood, lit only by car lights, matches, candles, flashlights that roved like fireflies, and a big full mellow harvest that shone like a blob of butter.

Everybody had an eerie or comic adventure. They climbed up and down inky stairwells. Stranded employees in lofty skyscrapers joked and told stories, played cards by candlelight, bunked down on office couches. Heaven only knows how many stenographers got kissed in darkened corridors by junior executives who never even knew their first names before.

For days people will be telling each other their experiences, feeling a kindling warmth that all feel who have met trouble together. But gradually the warm human glow will evaporate and they will become private islands again as the routine frictions of the commonplace wear them apart.

In a way, it's a shame that only in common danger do we appreciate our mutual need for one another.

Free Parking May Help Downtown

Free parking in the downtown area will soon be a reality, at least temporarily. Thus, Big Spring is following on the heels of many other area cities, some of which report it is working quite well.

HOW WELL the removal of parking meters work will depend on the merchants who want them removed—that is, whether shopkeepers and their employees leave the parking spaces for shoppers rather than for their own convenience.

A system of tire marking will be employed, which requires police officers on constant patrol. In one aspect, the policeman will take the place of the parking meter, only he gets higher pay.

REMOVING THE COST of parking is one real answer to the challenge shopping centers have made for the shoppers' dollar. Shopping centers provide acres of free parking, no small consideration for someone who has driven an extra mile or two downtown looking for a place to park.

Curiously, the shopper who refuses to park anywhere but at the front door when he is going downtown, never balks at parking in the middle of a shopping center lot, and walking probably the distance of a city block to do his shopping.

NONETHELESS, this problem of parking may spell the difference in downtown reclamation. I doubt that it will be the whole answer. The parking area under preparation on the old bank site, and the modernization for Main Street between Second and Third, will mean as much.

Several downtown stores have thrown their efforts into a modernization program, putting them on a par with any new facility. As more of the stores follow this lead, a revitalized downtown will come almost automatically.

"DOWNTOWN," after all, was the first "shopping center." Through the years, not much updating has been done to it as a facility, nor for the convenience of customers. The competition of the shopping center has encouraged a change in attitude, a modernization plan.

SUCH A PROGRAM is under way here, just in the nick of time. Although the merchants would feel the first bite in any de-emphasis of downtown as a shopping area, all of us would eventually be affected. To this extent, anything that helps downtown, helps the rest of us.

Considering The Stockholders

WASHINGTON — What is more important today — the total amount of profit made by a company after taxes or the rate of dividends paid to its stockholders? Indeed, which is more relevant — how large a number of individuals a company employs or how high a wage rate is paid to each employee? It has become popular for political reasons to denounce price increases and point to "big profits" — as if to say, "They're making big money, so their prices shouldn't be raised."

THE QUESTION before the country today, however, is not how much total profits the aluminum companies or the units in any other industry have been making, but what dividends they earn as wages for their stockholders. What, in truth, is the rate of return? Unless the wages of capital are adequate, public confidence tends to break down and the whole economic system is impaired.

The price of aluminum has recently been raised. But it is still below what it was in 1960. Yet the prices of every other metal — copper, lead, zinc, tin and steel — are higher than in 1960. Aluminum stands alone, not only with the lowest prices but with the lowest return on money invested.

TAKING THE period of 1955 to 1957 as a measure of sustained economic activity at high levels, the profits of the three big aluminum companies amounted to 9.7 per cent of sales. But in 1960, this had dropped to 5.1 per cent. It now has risen to 6.5 per cent, but still is considerably below the figure of the 1955-57 base period.

When profits are ranked on the basis of a percentage of equity, the three big aluminum companies in the period 1955 to 1957 had a 15.1 per cent return on their money. This had dropped down to 5.9 per cent in 1960, and is still only 8.8 per cent in 1965.

CONTRASTING this with profits as the per cent of equity for all manufacturing companies, the figure for 1955 to 1957 was 11.7 per cent and in 1965 had gone up to 12.8 per cent.

So aluminum is worse off than industry in general.

To sum up, the return on investment in the aluminum industry, despite some improvement since 1960, is still considerably lower than the return in manufacturing as a whole. Certainly, as the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors says, there has been a gain in profits in 1965 as compared with preceding years. But the result is still much lower than investors are entitled to expect for the use of their money.

DIVIDENDS, for instance, paid by the three big companies in aluminum are up only 12 per cent since 1960, whereas the rise in dividends for all manufacturing industries has been 46 per cent.

Labor costs are significant, too. In aluminum, the rise last June was 4.1 per cent according to administration economists. It was higher than in the other metal industries. These same economists now ignore such figures and claim that the wage rise was only about 3.5 per cent and hence was within the "guidepost" pattern. The administration evidently has taken the same facts regarding wages and reached whatever conclusions are in line with the political needs of the hour.

THE REAL TRUTH about profits is not being given to the people. Certainly companies are much larger than they were ten years ago or 20 years ago, and the amount of their gross income is larger than it has been in the past. But so have their expenses gone up correspondingly. What is really significant is not the amount of net profit after taxes, but the rate of return on the investors' money. In aluminum this is still below what it was five to seven years ago.

If the American free-enterprise system is to be subjected to a dictatorship by the administration in power in Washington, it will gradually deteriorate, and unemployment will be a natural sequel.

Attacking The Wrong Man

NEW YORK — I wandered into the campaign headquarters of John Lindsay, a few days after the election, and found one of his campaign workers struggling with a problem.

"We're trying to think of a present to send William Buckley for all he did to help us during the campaign."

"You must be kidding?" I said. "I certainly am not. Buckley won't let us. Even Abe Beame says so."

"How do you figure that?"

"WELL, BEFORE Buckley got into the race we were in real trouble. The Democratic registration was overwhelming, the voters were lethargic, and we had a heck of a time raising money. Then Buckley announced he was running on the Conservative ticket for Mayor, and he made no bones about the fact he was out to destroy Lindsay's chances of winning, on the grounds that there is nobody a conservative Republican would like to see lose more than a liberal Republican.

"AT FIRST we were nervous," he said, "because we figured we needed every Republican vote we could get, but then Buckley started campaigning against Lindsay and people began paying attention. Suddenly many Democrats who had no intention of voting for Lindsay said, 'Anybody who is being attacked by Bill Buckley can't be all bad.'"

"Incredible," I said.

"BUT TRUE," he replied. "The wilder Buckley got, the less lethargic the voters became, and pretty soon many people decided to vote for Lindsay as a protest vote against Buckley. In the meantime Buckley attracted a lot of conservative Democrats to his cause, so he took crucial votes away from Beame."

"But if Buckley realized he was helping Lindsay by attacking him, why didn't he attack Beame instead?"

"He realized it too late. He was so determined to do John in that he ignored Beame. Had Buckley attacked Beame earlier in the campaign the sympathy might have gone to Beame instead of to Lindsay."

"How could a smart guy like Buckley make such a mistake?"

"MY OWN personal opinion is that he got to telling jokes and forgot why he was in the race. It can happen. I wonder if Buckley would like a desk set."

"How do you feel the election will affect the national political picture?"

"I believe Buckley could save the Republican party."

"By opposing it?"

"NATURALLY. Our only hope in a national election is if the conservatives go all out to destroy us. If they do, we may be able to pick up enough Democratic votes to win."

"Do you think Mr. Lindsay has a chance as Presidential candidate?"

"Only," he said, "if Mr. Buckley would agree to run against him."

Keep Change

PARIS, Tenn. (AP)—George Ray has discovered that tearing up a $5 bill can be more serious than the loss of the cash.

Ray went to police headquarters to pay a $15 speeding ticket. He dropped a $20 bill on the sergeant's desk and said, "Keep the change."

The sergeant insisted that Ray take the change. Ray walked out.

A police car overtook him and an officer handed him the $5 bill and a receipt. Ray tore both up and tossed the remains on the sidewalk.

The officer arrested Ray for destroying government property and littering, maximum penalty: $30.

South Texas' Rains Light

By The Associated Press
Light showers or drizzle fell along the lower Texas coast and in adjacent areas today. Increasing south winds over the west part of the state were expected to help scatter the moisture over all sections by tonight.

Corpus Christi and Palacios were among points in the rain belt. Fog was mixed with the drizzle at Alice and McAllen.

Early morning fog also hung low at numerous other points for a third straight day. These included Beaumont, Houston, Austin, Victoria, Lufkin, Longview, Waco, Dallas, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells and Dallas Falls.

Forecasters called for intermittent showers to continue Friday at widely separated spots in most areas.

Cooler air was expected to start moving into Northwest Texas from the north and west by Friday. Little change in temperatures was in prospect elsewhere.

Two Aluminum Producers Rescind Price Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's top two aluminum producers have backed down in a dispute with the Johnson administration and canceled price increases the government had labeled "inflationary."
The Aluminum Co. of America — No. 1 producer in the country — ended a week-long battle with the government Wednesday night and rescinded a price hike it made Monday. Two hours later, Reynolds Metals followed suit. Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., third largest manufacturer, which also raised prices this week, said it would consider its next step today.

MAY FOLLOW
(In New York, the Times reported that "officials of the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. and the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. also indicated that they would follow Alcoa's lead.")
Alcoa's decision to cancel the price increase was announced at a hastily called night press conference by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. He hailed it as "a patriotic act."

The defense secretary also said the government agreed to an immediate resumption of negotiations for the orderly disposal of a surplus of 1.4 million tons of aluminum now held in national stockpiles.
McNamara said he believed the government would be able to limit the amount of aluminum disposed of from the stockpile to less than 200,000 tons and thus "avoid disruption" of prices.

RELEASE STOCKPILE
Last Saturday when federal officials denounced the price increase, they also announced that the government was considering releasing 200,000 tons from the stockpile in 1966.

On Monday, officials of the Office of Emergency Planning announced they had begun making preparations for the immediate release of 100,000 tons of stockpile aluminum, raising to 300,000 tons the amount of aluminum the government planned to make available.

Some of the surplus aluminum, McNamara said Saturday, would not be sold but transferred directly to needed defense producers. If effected, the transfer would have cost the aluminum industry a huge sales market.

But government officials have maintained during the week that the decision to open the stockpiles had nothing to do with the price increases.

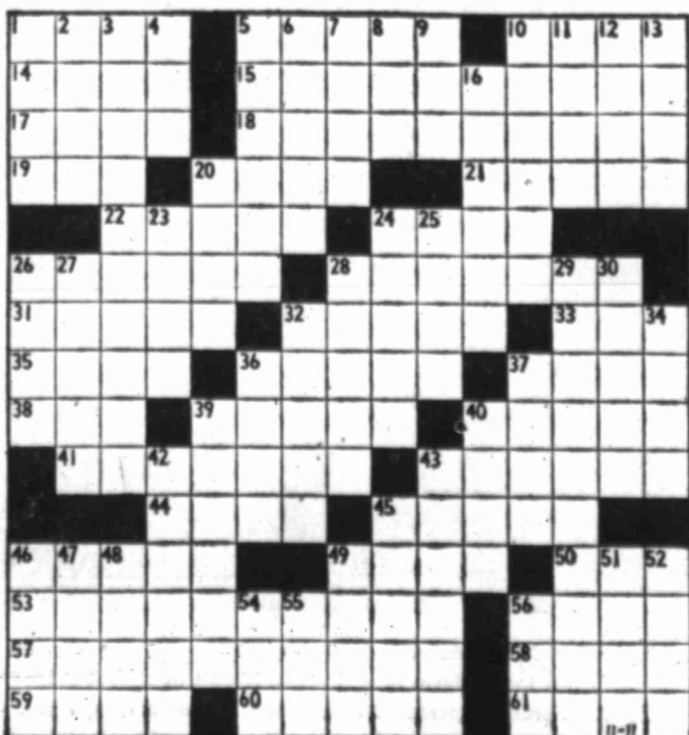

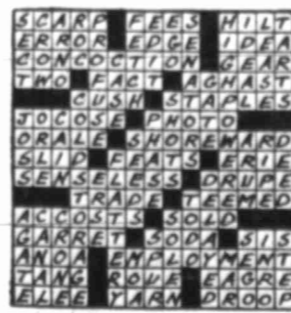

However, at one time last week, it was reported that President Johnson was "sputtering mad" about the boosts. Johnson, who has not commented publicly on the dispute, was described by McNamara Wednesday night as being "very pleased."

"He considered it an act of industrial statesmanship — as do I," the defense secretary said.

Allen said the prisoner was shot and taken into custody after he fired on a deputy sheriff and a highway patrolman investigating a report of failure to stop and give information after an accident.

The deputy was wounded and the patrolman seriously wounded the assailant, Allen said. Subsequently the prisoner was charged with assault with intent to murder.
