Four Planes Of U.S. Lost In Viet Raid

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four U. S. planes were lost on a bombing strike over North Viet Nam today, as sharp fighting raged for the fourth successive day in South Viet Nam's central highlands, a U.S. military spokesman announced. One Navy and three Marine planes were downed during a strike against a key bridge on the railway line linking North Viet Nam's capital of Hanoi with the major port of Haiphong. Two of the pilots were rescued, but one was killed and another was missing, the spokesman said.

REDS ATTACK
North Vietnamese troops launched a new attack against a battalion from the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division, in the Ia Drang Valley 220 miles northeast of Saigon. The Reds renewed their assault as American B52 bombers pounded hillside positions of a Communist regiment which had attacked U. S. troops in the valley since Sunday. Official sources said 890 Communists had been killed since Sunday but added that the toll would go higher. More U. S. troops had been killed than in any other single engagement of the war, sources said.

ADJUST POSITIONS
Reports from the battleground said the Americans had withdrawn. However, an official spokesman in Saigon said no withdrawal had been made. He said the cavalrymen had only "adjusted their positions" to avoid being hit by the B52 bombing.

No details were available on the latest Communist assault in the valley. The Americans were reported under heavy mortar fire, however. It was believed that the Communist force may have regrouped for the assault. There was also speculation that it may have been resupplied because the Reds had used relatively few mortars until today.

HIGHEST TOLL
American casualties in the three-day battle were officially termed moderate. But U. S. officials in Saigon announced that in the week ending last Saturday 86 Americans were killed in action in South Viet Nam and 230 were wounded. It was the highest weekly toll so far of the war, topping the 70 killed and 237 wounded reported for the week before.

The casualty figures did not include losses at Ia Drang. The cavalrymen in the Ia Drang Valley have held an area 500 yards in diameter since their helicopters brought them into the valley Sunday. They made virtually no attempt to enlarge their foothold but fought off repeated Communist attacks. The Americans were sup-

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—William T. Cosgrave, 85, third president of the Republic of Ireland from 1922-32, died Tuesday. Cosgrave, a nationalist once sentenced to death for his part in the 1916 Easter Rebellion, was a pioneer in the Sinn Fein movement. He was born in Dublin.

Power-Short Britain Has Warmer Day

LONDON (AP) — Relief came to power-hungry Britain today in the form of warmer weather. Factories idled by gas and electricity shortages began calling workers back. But the unseasonable cold wave persisted in the rest of Europe.

With daytime temperatures hovering around freezing Tuesday, power supplies in Britain were too low to handle the demands for heating. Today, the mid-day temperature edged toward 40 degrees and power ran normally. Gas pressure remained slightly reduced in some areas.

The wave of power cuts brought widespread complaints against the state-owned British power system for failing to foresee demand.

An Associated Press survey showed Britain was the only country in Western Europe to suffer power and gas cuts during the cold snap. European public utilities, also government-owned, functioned normally. All of Western Europe except Britain is linked up in an international power grid.

Rusk, Kennedy Spit On In South America

CONCEPCION, Chile (AP) — Spitting South Americans gave a rude reception Tuesday night to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and to Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Uruguay. About 100 pro-Communist students spat on Kennedy at the University of Concepcion, threw eggs, rocks and money at him and drowned him out when he tried to speak to a student crowd of several thousand. It was the only unpleasant note to an otherwise enthusiastic reception in an area where Chilean Communists and Marxist Socialists have their greatest strength.

MAN SEIZED
The eggs and stones missed the New York senator, but spittle fell on his forehead and clothes.

Rusk was the target of a 25-year-old man who slipped up and spat at him in Montevideo just after the secretary had placed a wreath at the monument to Gen. Jose Artigas, Uruguay's national hero. State Department press officer Richard J. Phillips, accompanying Rusk, said the secretary was not hit.

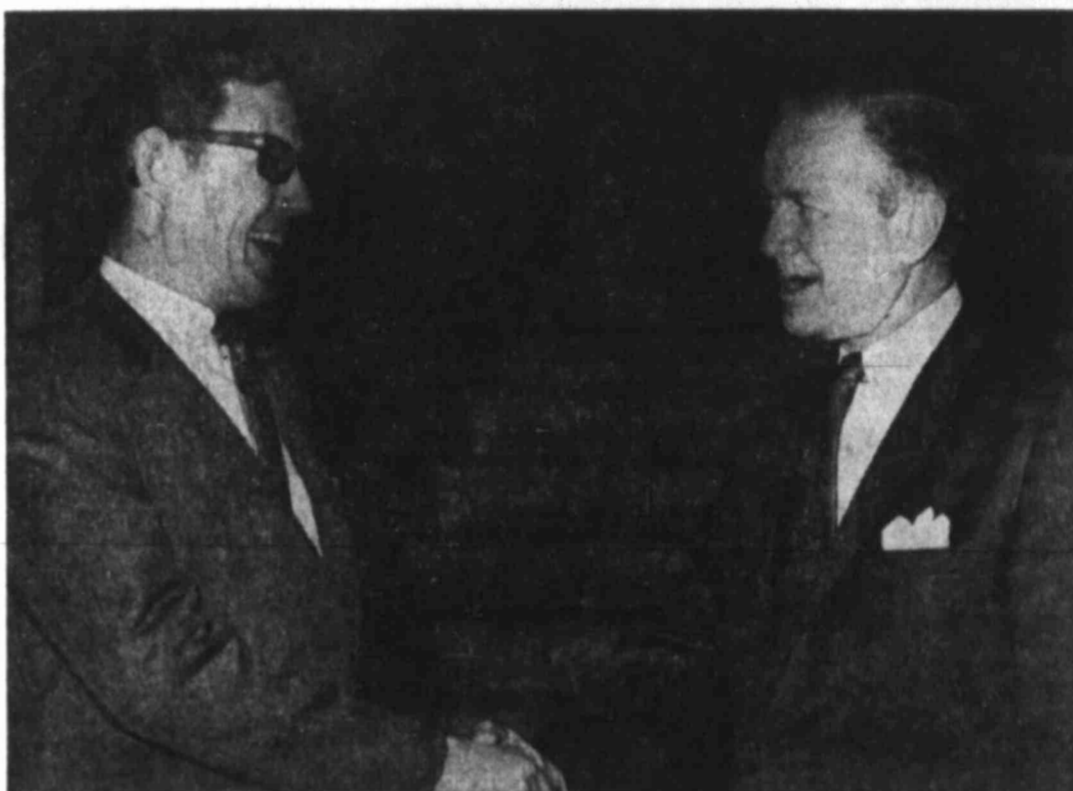

CARRIES LEAFLETS
The man seized "This in the name of my people" as he spat. Police seized him and took him away. In his pockets were leaflets with the words "Fuera Rusk (Rusk get out)."

Rusk was making a side trip to Argentina and Uruguay before the opening today of the inter-American foreign ministers' conference in Rio de Janeiro. Arriving in Rio Tuesday night, he said his reception during his trip had been "extremely hospitable...with the exception of one young individual whose welcome seemed to be a little unconventional."

ON TOUR
Kennedy, who is on a South American tour, insisted on going to the university despite warnings of a hostile reception. He waited calmly on the stage of the gymnasium for 20 minutes while the small group of leftists sang the national anthems of Cuba and Chile and screamed "Assassin" and "Yankee go home" at him.

When the senator finally started to speak, the jeerers drowned him out. He asked if they would come forward to discuss matters with him, and the leftists shouted back that he should come to them. Kennedy started toward them. As he approached, some tried to kick him, others spat at him and others burned a U.S. flag in a corner of the gymnasium.

LEAVES BUILDING
Other students tried to quiet the leftists. Some challenged them to fight. Aides and news-men surrounded the senator and he left the building.

Peking Supporters Ired By Barrier To U.N. Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States appeared today to have killed Red China's chances for a U.N. seat this year with a maneuver that set off angry protests from Peking's supporters.

To make sure the door remained closed to Communist China, the United States and 10 other nations called on the General Assembly to stand by its 1961 decision that the seating question required a two-thirds majority.

SPEED DECISION
U.S. representatives have insisted that Peking won't get even a simple majority. They said they called for reaffirmation of the two-thirds rule only to speed up a decision.

Informal polls have indicated, however, that Peking might have enough votes to get in if only a simple majority was required. The United States has asked to speak just before the vote, apparently in a last effort to bolster its case. U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, who has been ill with a virus, planned to make the final argument.

VITAL DECISION
U.S. delegate Charles W. Yost went before the assembly Tuesday night with the plea that the China representation issue is a vital one which should not be decided by a simple majority.

He declared the peace in Asia is involved in the decision and the two-thirds rule is therefore mandatory. Yost rejected claims by Peking's supporters that Red China might be more receptive to unconditional negotiations to end the Viet Nam war if it belonged to the world forum.

REAL CAUSE
"It is the absence of will, not absence from the United Nations, which has caused Peking not to cooperate in solving the Southeast Asia crisis," Yost said.

Nations backing Red China accused the United States of resorting to a procedural maneuver because it lacked the votes to block Peking on a simple majority.

Aluminum Hassle Appears Settled

NEW YORK (AP) — The controversy between the government and the aluminum industry appeared ended today with agreement on disposal of 14 million tons of surplus aluminum.

The industry seemed pleased with the agreement. The producers and the government came to terms late Tuesday after two weeks of dispute in which President Johnson's administration forced the industry to roll back a price increase.

RAISED PRICES
The controversy began when Olin Mathieson Co. raised prices of ingot half a cent a pound and of fabricated metal one cent a pound.

The government called the boost inflationary and unjustified. When other producers, including Aluminum Co. of America, the No. 1 producer, joined in the price increase, the General Services Administration threatened to throw 30,000 tons of its surplus metal on the market immediately.

CANCELS BOOST
In the face of this, the aluminum companies rescinded the increase and arrangements were made for discussions on orderly disposal of the stockpiled metal.

The Pentagon announced that industry and government representatives agreed in principle that the industry will purchase the surplus aluminum at an average rate of not less than 100,000 tons a year or the defense requirement, whichever is greater, but not to exceed 200,000 tons a year.

Oil Output Tops Previous High Year

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission, granting a traditional December increase in oil production, set next month's ceiling at the highest for any December since 1958.

The increase over November's production factor of 30 per cent will allow 1965 production to total more than 35 million barrels over the 892 million barrels of the previous high year, 1960.

3.88 MILLION
The commission set December production under a 31.4 per cent of potential factor, allowing a maximum production of 3,084,545 barrels daily.

The last time a monthly allowable totaled more than 3 million barrels daily was in February of 1960. The December allowable is the highest since 1958's 3,147,506.

The percentage factor also is the highest factor used since the commission inaugurated the percentage system in 1963.

MAJOR PRODUCERS
The increase was sought by four of the 13 major purchasers of Texas oil appearing at the monthly prorating hearing.

Pre-hearing nominations called for purchases totaling 2,603,861 barrels daily. The U.S. Bureau of Mines estimated December demand for Texas oil at 2,890,000 barrels daily.

Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey cited an impressive list of statistics to indicate the position of the Texas oil market is what Ramsey called "in the best condition it's ever been in since these three members have been on the commission."

BARREL NOMINATIONS
The latest appointee to the commission was Byron Tunnell, Tyler, who took office last January after resigning as House speaker.

Nominations, in barrels per day, by percentage:
38—Texaco, 161,000.
31—Mobil, 257,900; Humble 423,755; Gulf, 220,600.
30—Sun, 110,942; Atlantic, 79,000; Standard of Texas, 38,700; Cities Service, 69,000; Continental, 28,000; Shell, 177,600; Pan American, 264,415.
29—Sinclair, 101,800
28—Phillips, 119,746.

Highway Work Plans Announced

The Texas Highway Commission today approved the expenditure of $2,083,000 for highway construction in Howard County during 1967-68. District Highway Engineer J. C. Roberts, Abilene, announced.

He said a total of 15.8 highway miles in the county will be involved. The work will be under the supervision of Joe Smoot, resident engineer in Big Spring.

This work is part of the 1967-68 Consolidated Highway Program in the amount of $350 million for the two year period just authorized by the Highway Commission.

Under this program, U. S. state, and loop highways will be constructed or reconstructed. It includes 9,469 miles of highways.

The purpose of the program is to continue the construction and modernization of the arterial highway system for the protection of investment previously made from highway user tax funds and the immediate benefits that will add to the safe and efficient movement of traffic over the Texas highway system.

Roberts said a total of 108.8 miles in this highway district would be involved, at a total cost of $10,368,000. Howard County projects include 2.9 miles of FM 700 from Loop 402 (US 80 West) to US 87 South in the amount of $1,326,000; and the State 250 (Snyder highway) a distance of 12.9 miles northeast of Big Spring to the Mitchell County line.

The FM 700 job includes grading, structures and surfacing, and one of the structures is due to be an overpass at US 87. The road will be widened from Gollad all the way to US 80, and from the National Guard armory to the intersection near the Sands Motel, the road will be rerouted. The Snyder highway job calls for reconstruction of grading, structures and surfacing, an over-all rebuilding job. Also on tap to be supervised out of the office here is the reconstruction, grading, structures and surfacing of 14.3 miles of US 180 in Borden County to the Dawson County line to Gail. Cost is pegged at $733,000. Mitchell County is down for 1.2 miles of work in Colorado City from Interstate 20 to Loop 377. This included purchase of right of way and construction of grading, structures and surfacing. The cost estimate is $218,000.

Reds Refusing To 'Negotiate'

WASHINGTON (AP) — At this stage of the Vietnamese war the United States is counting primarily on military successes rather than diplomatic appeals to persuade North Viet Nam to enter into peace negotiations.

A fresh bid by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant for concessions from all sides in the conflict to promote the prospects for peace failed today to arouse any outward enthusiasm here.

U.S. READY
Administration officials said the United States is ready to talk but they see no interest in talks now on the part of the Vietnamese Communist leadership.

The current visit to Moscow by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, a close associate of President Johnson, may produce some U.S. peace approach to the Soviet government. Officials here will not say what — if any — instructions Mansfield had from Johnson on this point.

But they do expect that if

Mansfield urges Soviet peace pressures on North Viet Nam, which is receiving Soviet military aid, he also will stress Johnson's determination not to yield South Viet Nam to Communist conquest.

LOOKS HOPELESS
The fact is, however, that U.S. policymakers are generally pessimistic about the outlook for negotiations at this time. They believe the North Vietnamese and guerrilla leaders in South Viet Nam, though their confidence of victory may be shaken, are not yet persuaded they face eventual defeat.

There is some opinion here, moreover, that the war may never end in a negotiated settlement. Those who think this is a serious possibility say that after a time the fighting may simply die down as larger areas come under control of U.S. and South Vietnamese forces. North Viet Nam, according to this theory, could just quietly give up the struggle.

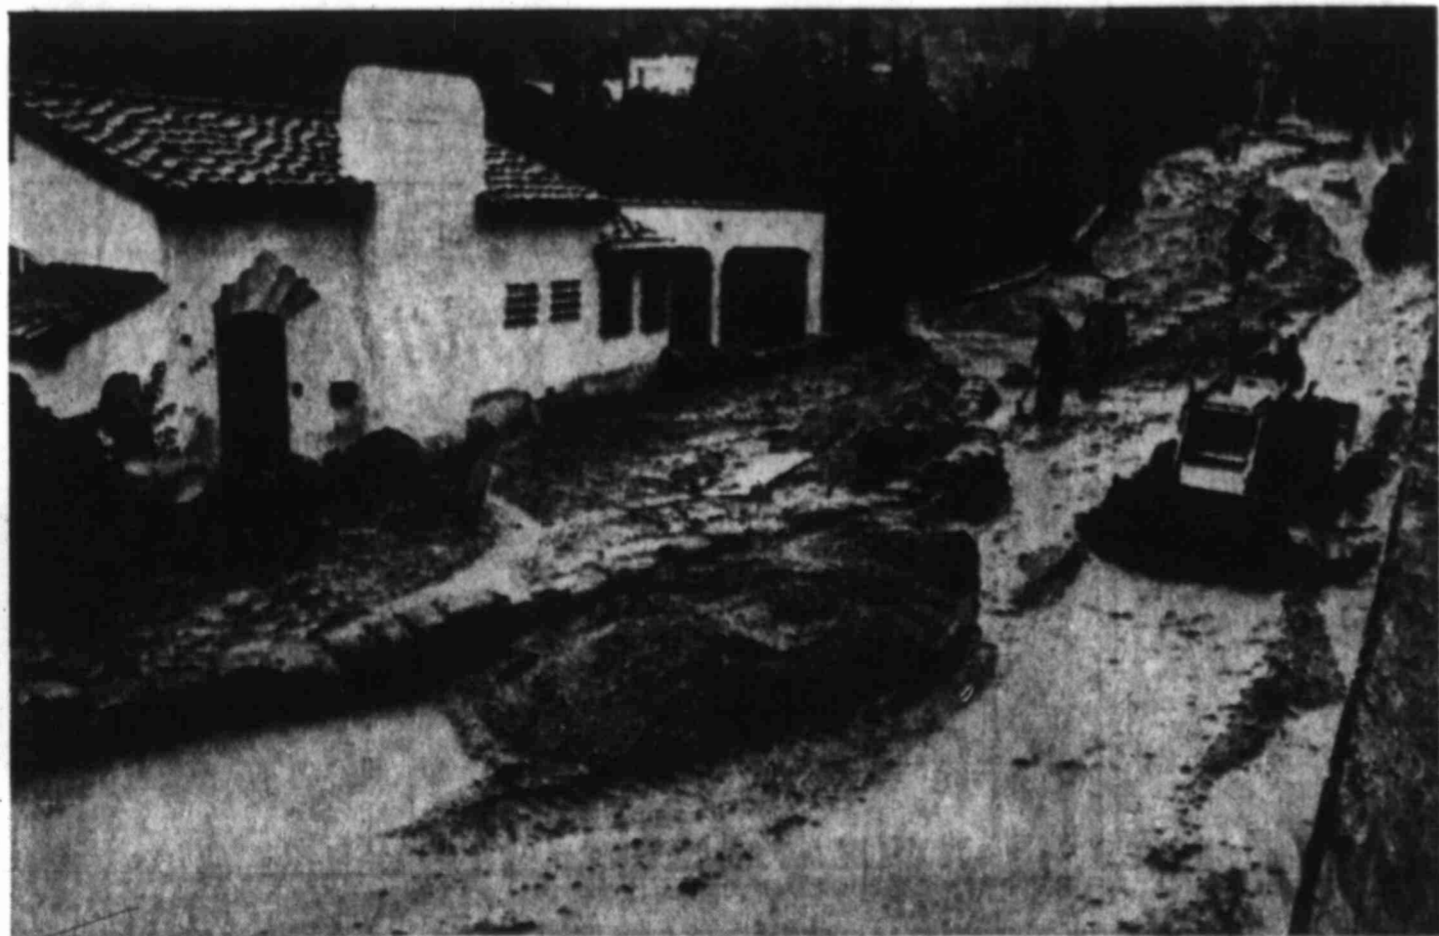

Commentator Says U.S. Ignored Peace Talks Bid

PASSAIC, N.J. (AP) — News commentator David Schoenbrun says he was informed by a ranking French government official that the North Vietnamese offered to begin unconditional peace talks with the United States during last spring's six-day moratorium on bombing in North Viet Nam.

The offer, Schoenbrun quoted the official as saying, was contained in a message sent to the French government in Paris on the fourth day of the letup in bombing. It directed the French to tell the United States that North Viet Nam was ready to talk about a cease-fire and a peace settlement in South Viet Nam, he said.

Schoenbrun said the United States ignored the overture and resumed bombing raids on strategic points in North Viet Nam. The U.S. moratorium went in effect May 12 for the avowed purpose of opening the door to possible peace talks. Bombing was resumed on May 18.

Sea Tragedy Skipper Praises Ship's Crew

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Greek captain of the Yarmouth Castle says he left his sinking ship in a lifeboat, but returned to help the passengers and was the last person off.

Of his crew, many of whom had criticized him, Capt. Byron Voutsinas, 33, said: "They did everything possible, even giving their own life-jackets to passengers."

"BRAVE CREW"

"That means you give your life to someone you have never seen and will never see again."

They were a brave crew."

The Coast Guard added four names to the list of those missing, raising the toll to 85 passengers and two crewmen missing and one man known dead in the disaster that struck the Yarmouth Castle, full of Nassau-bound vacationers. The vessel, carrying 550 passengers and crew, burned and sank about 60 miles northwest of her destination.

"I did not see anyone abandon ship by himself; they (crew members) were helping passengers. Everybody did what they were supposed to do."

Cmdr. George Treffs of the Coast Guard added to the missing list Florence and Joseph Wright of Pompano Beach, Fla., and Pauline and Warren Tomasi of San Luis Obispo, Calif.

Voutsinas, who had made no public statement since his ship went down Saturday, appeared at a news conference Tuesday.

PRaises ALL

He said: "The condition of the ship was perfect. It had all the (safety) equipment and it all worked perfectly."

"I did not see anyone abandon ship by himself; they (crew members) were helping passengers. Everybody did what they were supposed to do."

East Berlin Facelifting By Reds Still Waited

BERLIN (AP) — "The damned Russians," the old man said, leaning heavily on his cane. "They robbed us blind. And now our own Genossen (German Communist comrades) say they will rebuild all this in five years. I don't believe it."

The old man looked around the square in East Berlin between the bombed-out twin German and French cathedrals, where so far the Communists have rebuilt one pillar to keep the French cathedral's main entrance from falling down.

Elsewhere a wiry Communist party official outlined the regime's plan for a new Berlin. A glistening white plastic model of a new city center was at his elbow.

"It is important, that you see the naked truth," he told an American reporter. "That is all we ask."

The "naked truth" of East Berlin is hard to come by. The Communists speak solely in enthusiastic terms while people say very little of what they think.

optimism of the party functionary.

For the Communists, East Berlin has apparently become top priority, the place to put East Germany's best foot forward.

The year 1970 is their target date for completion of a facelifting. For years after World War II East Berlin has been a drab, sad city still largely in ruins—in comparison with West Berlin.

A U.S. economic expert says: "The Communists have a real chance to accomplish what they have set out to do. They have taken a major decision to make East Berlin a showplace."

MOVES FORWARD

"Their economy is moving forward and for years now the Russians have quit taking everything the East Germans produced. The question remains, however, how good a job they can do, how long what they build will last, how good the workmanship will be. They still lack materials, as well as workers, and the workers still lack initiative."

"You might say there is much building in East Berlin but it is not what we in America would call a boom."

Nor are the lack of workers, materials and initiative the only problem the Communists face in trying to match what has been accomplished in West Berlin.

There is resistance among young people, even after constant indoctrination.

For the casual visitor to East Berlin, the downtown area has changed considerably in recent years.

The area along the Berlin Wall near the Brandenburg Gate, has been spruced up although guards with submachine guns remain there.

A thick carpet of grass stretches down the street behind a neat wire fence, curving over a mound that denotes the bunker where Adolf Hitler died.

BETWEEN TWO

The truth apparently lies somewhere between the pessimism of the old man and the

Cold Numbs Part Of Upper Midwest

By The Associated Press

Deep snow, accompanied by lashing winds and numbing cold, struck the northern Midwest today for the second straight day.

Snow and hazardous - driving warnings were posted for Upper Michigan, where 2 to 6 inches of additional snow along with high winds were expected.

NEAR ZERO

Temperatures fell to near zero, or below, from Montana to Minnesota early today. Readings in the teens were reported as far south as Nebraska. Overnight lows included 2 below zero at Havre, Mont.; 1 above at Bemidji, Minn.; 7 at Bismarck, N.D., and 17 at Omaha.

International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border, had 10 inches of snow Tuesday, with 4 inches falling in 6 hours. Four inches of new snow fell in Houghton, Mich., giving the area an accumulation of 9 inches.

Gale warnings were up for Lakes Superior and Michigan where winds of 55 to 72 miles per hour were expected. Lakes Huron, Erie and Ontario were posted for winds up to 54 m.p.h.

River Silt Still Holds Valuable Art

ROME (AP) — The centuries-deep silt of the bed of the Tiber river through Rome is one of the world's great untapped treasure caches of art.

But the river-covered treasures won't be recovered soon, perhaps never.

It has been known all along that they were there. More than a century ago Roman Prince Torlonia offered to pay all costs for diverting the Tiber around Rome — if he were granted rights to all art works he could find in the river bed.

The wealthy Torlonias, bankers for Popes, could have financed such a project. And they probably would have ended up with a terrific profit.

THROWN IN RIVER

From at least the fourth century, Romans dumped their treasures into the river during major invasions of the city rather than leave the art to advancing hordes.

Much of what they did not throw into the Tiber themselves, the conquerors did when they found it was too heavy or cumbersome to cart away.

Little of all this wealth in gold, silver and statuary was ever recovered. Even in dry weather the river is too deep, and it is called the tawny Tiber because it is full of silt which fills up the river bottom rapidly.

A scant sample of what is buried under 15 to 30 feet of silt at the bottom of the river came to light 80 years ago when the present embankments were being put up.

MUSEUM TREASURE

Although only the edges were touched and digging was not deep, workmen came up with major pieces of statuary which now are among the treasures of city museums.

These included objects thrown into the Tiber when Napoleon's troops took the Eternal City at the end of the 18th century.

Archaeologists are sure that deeper digging would bring up the jettisoned art treasures of earlier invasions. And much more would be found in mid-river the ancient bridges from which the art works were thrown.

Cotton Surplus In Big Climb, Forecast Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reserve and surplus stock of cotton are expected to be 125 percent higher by the end of the 1965-crop marketing year than four years ago.

An Agriculture Department report on the cotton situation said today the stocks are expected to reach a record of 16.2 million bales by next Aug. 1. This compares with 7.2 million in 1961. The previous record was 14.5 million bales in 1956.

The buildup came in the face of government production control programs. Still another program will be put into effect next year. It will call for smaller plantings.

The increase in supply of U.S. cotton is attributed by experts to a sharp increase in use of man-made fibers. Foreign cotton production also has increased.

Geodetic Survey Vessel Launched

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey ship McArthur, a 175-foot long, 995-ton vessel, has been launched here. The ship is named for Lt. William P. McArthur, a Geodetic Survey officer who conducted the first major survey of the Pacific coast in the 1840s. The ship will be based at Seattle, Wash.

YOUNG MODERNS Wolves Gone

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP News Features Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The day of the innocent little lamb being trapped by the big bad wolf is past, says New York fashion model, Gail Hire, 24, who has just made her first movie.

There is no sparring right off. Men don't need to bare their fangs. There are plenty of pretty women, willing to be dated. This has eased the tension for both sexes, says Gail, who had lived in California before she came to New York four years ago.

GAIL HIRE

SOME LIKE BRAINS
Unlike California men who'll take out any pretty girl with a good figure, New York men like brains with a pretty face, she says.

"Here a girl is like a flower in a man's lapel—an accessory. She is an addition to his good job and sophistication. New York bachelors are older, and they want to date girls who flatter them. There is more emphasis on conversation than in California, where a date is likely to include movies," she says.

The easiest type to spot, the Gallant Smoothy, makes the best date. He is easy to see through, and you can enjoy yourself while you are doing it.

The men she has dated in the East are in the 30-35 year age bracket, a fact that once moved her mother to ask, "What's wrong with them?" It's nothing more than they want to have it done before they settle down.

Meanwhile, they have what it takes for a big night on the town—dinner and several cover charges at discotheques, about $75. Young men can't afford it, she says.

SAVED MONEY
"I was living from hand to mouth. I often pocketed the dollars my dates gave me to tip door men for calling my taxis, and the quarters they gave me for attendants in ladies' rooms. That's why I'm such a good tipper today," she says.

Six months later she was at the top—eight pages in one issue of Vogue magazine. After that she had modeling assignments everywhere—Paris, London, Rome, Cairo, French Riviera.

Tapped for a screen test by producer-director Howard Hawks, she confounded agents by toying with the idea. Now that she's made her first movie, "Red Line 7,000," she still isn't crazy about it. Too many people without talent are cluttering up Hollywood already, she says.

"What I want is a home and a family. I don't want to become so ambitious that I forget that I'm not pretty or beautiful. I'm just an interesting type like Lauren Bacall or Ava Gardner who creates an image of being beautiful, though they aren't."

BUY NOW-PAY LATER
"But on the West Coast young fellows drive big flashy cars, have flashy houses, run up incredible bills for clothes and comforts without having money. Everything is buy-now, pay-later," she says.

New York men are not ostentatious. They can pick up a large bill without drama.

"They don't drink too much. Before dinner cocktails, wine with dinner. Playboy types are a rarity, like one well-known fellow who drinks nothing but good French champagne all night—$45 a bottle at some restaurants."

Family Feted At Housewarming
Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Preat were honored with a housewarming at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in their new home in Lomax. Mrs. W. O. Maxwell Jr. served as hostess with over 42 guests attending from Ackery, Big Spring, San Antonio, Lomax, Knott and Hobbs, N.M. Gifts were presented to the honorees during the social hours.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

We've all heard of certain things improving with age, and some things worsen, but one thing I know for sure that if it was age that improved the looks of the man on the "Welcome to Big Spring" Interstate 20 signs, age is a good thing.

The young man on the first signs had the kookiest looking face one could hope to see... now the "older" man has a really pleasant expression and gives one the feeling of real, West Texas hospitality. We are happy for the change.

MRS. JOE BLUM won the nail-driving contest and REX HOPKINS was judged the winner in the dress designing by judges, MRS. JIMMY GREENE and JOHN COLE. JOHN QUIGLEY won the door prize.

New members and their wives who attended were MR. and MRS. LARRY GARDNER and MR. and MRS. JOHN LEWELLEN.

Hosts couples were the CARLISLE ROBISONS, the LOUIS CAROTHERSES, and the CHARLES HAVENSES. More than 50 were present.

The weather couldn't have been better for the weekend football games and it certainly added to the enjoyment of the Tech-Baylor game in Lubbock. We saw, from afar, the P. W. MALONES and also the BOB DEANS, and there must have been many Big Spring people there as the traffic on the highway was very busy. The half-time show put on by the Tech band was stunning and the card section was at its best. It was a good day for this part of the state when Tech was taken into the Southwest Conference.

AAUW Guest Panel Explores Fellowships
A panel discussion on "Understanding the AAUW Fellowships Program" was heard at the Monday evening meeting of the American Association of University Women.

The panel was composed of Mrs. Percy Pace, state recording secretary; Mrs. Taylor Henly and Mrs. Clyde Roberts, all of San Angelo; and Mrs. W. A. Hallmark and Mrs. John Hardy of the local branch.

They said that the AAUW is the only organization presenting fellowships to women working on their Ph.D. dissertation or doing research beyond their doctorate. This year two Texas scholars are recipients of American Fellowships. International Fellowship funds are available for 43 scholars this year.

Mrs. Gary Sims presided and welcomed the guests, Mrs. Worth McCue, Mrs. C. M. Steen and Mrs. Robert Tatum.

Members will participate in the adult literacy writing program which are books of stories written with a small vocabulary but of interest to adult Latin Americans learning to read.

A request was reported from Mrs. Phillip Ouellette, director of the state hospital drama and dance workshop, for suggestions on the elementary level plays.

The local branch is compiling a directory of day care centers, nurseries and kindergar-

One of the most attractive homes in Big Spring is the one of MRS. ANN GIBSON HOUSER at 183 Cedar. There is never a season of the year when the grounds are not perfectly kept... and considering the fact that the house is on ground high above the street level the area facing the street is unusually pretty. The little lavender chrysanthemums are at their prettiest now and the dwarf shrubs are tastefully situated on the terraced banks.

It was all in fun last night when the Downtown Lions Auxiliary entertained for the men's club at the SUB at HCJC.

A covered dish supper was served, and afterward the men modeled their hats that had been fashioned by their wives of almost all the left-over scraps in town. MRS. JOHN DIBRELL took the prize in this category while JOE FOND won the marshmallow game. B. M. KEENE had the lucky number ten in the city.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with fall flowers and overflowing cornucopias. Hostesses were Mrs. Irene Draper, Miss Mary Foreman, Mrs. Gary L. Grant, Mrs. Rex A. Hopkins and Mrs. James Williams.

"Genesis of the Social Conscience" will be the topic of discussion at the study group meeting Dec. 6 in the parlor of the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College.

Gardeners See Table Decorations

The theme, "Harvest Moon," was used at the Tuesday meeting of the After Five Garden Club in the home of Mrs. John Hughes with Mrs. Rex Greenwood as cohostess.

Miss Bessie Love presented the program on table arrangements. She had requested 20 attending to create arrangements for comment and criticism, and the arrangements shown were of foliage and fall flowers, predominantly chrysanthemums. Also, several dried arrangements were shown.

Mrs. Harold Bell presided for the business session when the club agreed to purchase crabapple trees to be planted at the Howard County Rehabilitation Center.

The next meeting will be Dec. 21 for a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Enoch Smith.

Western Party Honors OES Matrons, Patrons

Western decorations were featured during the Tuesday evening dinner of the Order of Eastern Star, Big Spring Chapter No. 87. The turkey dinner was held at the Masonic Temple in honor of all past matrons and patrons of the chapter.

Music was provided by Ace Ball and his trio, and 70 guests and members attended. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Florence Casey, Silver City, N.M., and Mrs. H. T. Sefton, Plainview.

Mrs. Steve Baker presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Baker read a letter from the worthy grand matron naming the maintenance of the Eastern Star Home, Arlington, as well as discussing estorial scholarships for deserving youths as recipients of this year's program, and telling of her plans to visit the Midland school of instruction Jan. 20.

Mrs. Artamysse Watts, deputy grand matron of District Two will make her official visit to the chapter March 15.

The charter was draped in memory of the late Mrs. Hila Weathers. She had been a member of the chapter since 1929.

It was announced that the next meeting will be the Dec. 7 Christmas party with an exchange of gifts.

Play Rooms Need Easy Clean Tiles

If children's rooms are planned with care, the problem of upkeep can be greatly diminished. With so much essential work involved in tending children, any unnecessary tasks which can be eliminated leave more time for enjoying the children. "Wipable" surfaces are now available for virtually every area of a child's room—floors, wall and furniture.

Vinyl asbestos floors, for example, need only sweeping or mopping for daily care and occasional washings; walls can be papered or painted with washable vinyl and even furniture is now finished with scrubable plastic surfaces. All these features, of course, have the added benefit of being sanitary as spills are quickly and thoroughly removed.

Rebekahs Hold Rites In Stanton

STANTON (SC) — The Stanton Rebekah Lodge 287 conferred a candlelight ritual service for Mrs. N. E. Holloway Monday evening. Initiatory Degree was held at the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. George Shelburne read a poem, "The Philosopher" and told of her experience of being a member of the Rebekah Lodge for 42 years.

A report of the visits were given with Mrs. Granville Graves, noble grand, presiding. The Thanksgiving supper which is held annually for the Odd-fellow and Rebekah members and their families will be Thursday evening.

Mrs. Loyd Hastings, district deputy president, will hold a school of instruction at the Stanton IOOF Hall, Nov. 22.

The lodge hall was decorated with arrangements of chrysanthemums. The refreshment table was laid with a pink linen cloth and a crystal punch service was used.

Visitors were Eula Allen, Edna Ferguson and Emily Ray, all of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153, Big Spring. Twenty-three Stanton members attended.

China Shown By Basin Art Club

LAMESA (SC) — Over 500 pieces of hand-painted china and glassware was exhibited by the Permian Basin Art Club from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday afternoon at Forrest Park Community Center.

Mrs. Lois Robinson of Lamesa was chairman of the exhibit. Towns represented in the club include Seminole, Lamesa, Coahoma, Big Spring, Stanton, Odessa, Midland, Fort Stockton, Wickett, Rankin, O'Donnell and Monahans.

Soapsuds Clean Enameled Pieces

Painted or enameled furniture can be kept clean by applying "dry" soap suds, made by beating a handful of soap with a little water to produce a stiff, meringue-like lather.

Simply sponge the furniture with this, rinse-wipe several times with a damp cloth and dry with a clean cloth. Then wax or polish may be applied if desired.

Alexanders Return From Dallas Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Billy D. Alexander, 507 E. 18th, have returned from Dallas where they spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Alexander Sr.

The meeting was held in San Francisco during October, with many delegates taking a trip to Hawaii before returning here.

Mrs. Nannie Garrett described the trip to San Francisco, and Mrs. Marjorie Jordan told of side trips in the area. The convention business was reported by Mrs. A. C. Moore, and details of the return trip were given by Mrs. C. L. Rowe.

Mrs. Moore, president, conducted the Monday meeting where Mrs. Tom Phillips was initiated as a new member by Mrs. T. D. Price. Members

Pomerantz, San Angelo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pomerantz in Massachusetts. The wedding date has not been set.

Keep Tools Clean

Unless housekeeping equipment gets sensible care, it can't give good service. Instead of just emptying dirty water from a scrub pail, wash the pail with clean hot soap or detergent suds and rinse water.

Needy Elderly Due More Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Needy elderly persons can look forward to improved medical care after the new Social Security health program starts to operate next year.

A basic reason, of course, is that the program will provide a floor of health protection for indigent persons over 65 as well as the better-off segment of the elderly.

But, equally important, the 1965 Social Security Act contained far-reaching provisions requiring a much higher standard of health care in most states for the needy aged.

These provisions have been overshadowed by the new Social Security program in the bill, popularly called medicare, and by the increases in most states for the needy aged.

Benefiting from the provisions will be 2,144,000 persons on the old age assistance rolls and 264,000 who receive help under the medical assistance for the aged program known as Kerr-Mills.

These 264,000 elderly persons, have sufficient income to keep them off the welfare rolls but not enough to handle their medical expenses.

There was some expectation that the need for Kerr-Mills would diminish when the Social Security health care program gets under way.

BIG EXPANSION

But, to the contrary, congressional sponsors of the 1965 Social Security bill and officials of the Health, Education and Welfare — HEW — Department expect Kerr-Mills to expand considerably.

This will happen, they say, because the Social Security health benefits probably will cover only 50 to 60 per cent of the aged person's medical expenses, and because of provisions in the bill requiring greater benefits under Kerr-Mills.

One important side effect of the new program, they point out, will be to leave the states with more money to put into health care for their needy aged since the new program will provide for at least half of their medical needs.

HEW officials emphasize that Kerr-Mills so far has not come close to meeting its potential even under the original 1960 law. Seven states still do not participate; and some of those which do offer only nominal benefits.

TWO PLANS

The two plans under the new Social Security health care program become operative July 1, 1966. They will include these benefits:

Plan A — Hospital, nursing home and home health care as well as out-patient diagnostic services.

Plan B—Doctors' services in the hospital, clinic and home, along with a variety of other benefits such as wheelchairs, braces and laboratory tests.

The needy aged, along with all other persons over 65, will be covered under Plan A as a matter of right.

Plan B is voluntary. Aged must sign up for it and pay $3 a month for it.

Wirtz Slates Monthly Talks With Growers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's major agricultural growers will have a chance every month to discuss their labor problems with Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz.

Wirtz said Tuesday he has agreed to monthly meetings with the growers to discuss problems resulting from a cut-back on foreign workers.

Earlier this year the government sharply reduced the number of migrant workers entering this country from Mexico, the British West Indies, Canada and other countries. And Congress allowed the bracero law, which permitted the importation of Mexican workers, to expire last Dec. 31.

Wirtz said the decision to hold the meetings was reached after a meeting Monday with the executive committee of the National Council of Agricultural Employers in Denver.

TEXAS OUTLOOK Reds Missed Ballot Deadline

AUSTIN (AP) — It's too late for the Communist party to get a column on the 1966 Texas general election ballot even if the party has a slate of candidates, Secretary of State Crawford Martin says.

Martin was asked about the possibility of Communists on the ballot after Monday's U.S. Supreme Court decision that the party cannot be forced to register. A party spokesman in New York said it would begin immediately to offer candidates for public office.

DEADLINE PAST

"Nov. 8 was the deadline for political parties which did not hold primaries the past year to file their intentions to offer a slate for the 1966 general election," Martin said.

"The Democrats and Republicans did not have to meet the

New Day For Teacher Seen By Chancellor

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Dr. Harry Ransom, chancellor of the University of Texas, said today a new day has arrived for the teaching profession.

Addressing the National Association of State Universities and Land-grant Colleges, he linked a surge of interest in college instruction to highly vocal student complaints.

"Student outcry, which once had been spontaneous expression of the undergraduate's inalienable right to complain, changed tone," Ransom said.

"Students put their case in forceful terms: They objected less to what and how they were being taught (an ancient complaint) than to the fact that some were sure they were being completely ignored (a new and serious charge.)"

Ike Continues His Progress

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Most of the atmosphere of crisis has — like the oxygen tent — vanished from around Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The five-star general was described by an Army spokesman as reading Westerns, chatting with his wife and aides, and signing and dictating a few letters.

Doctors disclosed that the general had not been under oxygen since sometime Saturday. He had been in and out of the tent intermittently.

The oxygen tent may be as much symbolic as an actual measure of the general's progress. Eisenhower has resorted to bottled oxygen off and on since his 1955 heart attack at Denver. He even carried the equipment in his car when traveling.

There were other signs of relaxing tensions.

The ranks of the small army of newsmen, photographers and radio and television technicians have thinned out.

Maj. Gen. Walter B. Richardson, commander of the fort which has thrown its resources in to help the general in his battle, was able to take some time out to give a lecture to newsmen on the fort's normal role in training soldiers.

DEAR ABBY

Awkward Situation

DEAR ABBY: Our eldest daughter has just married a rather crude man of whom we are ashamed, but rather than hurt her we've accepted him as gracefully as possible. Our middle daughter, who is away at college, has written to tell us she'd like to bring two of her college chums home for Thanksgiving, but if her brother-in-law is going to be there she'll not bring them, as she doesn't want her friends to get a bad impression of her entire family. We've already invited our eldest daughter and her husband for Thanksgiving dinner and hate to revoke the invitation. But isn't it unfair to deprive our middle daughter of having guests because of this awkward situation?

In Canada and England, they use the "imperial" gallon, which is not the same as four quarts in the U.S.A. If I am not mistaken, the imperial gallon has five "quarts," but they call them "quarts," hence, the "fifth" of liquor which looks like our "quart" but isn't.

Billy Graham Hits At Ruling

HOUSTON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham describes as "very unfortunate" Monday's U.S. Supreme Court decision holding forced registration by Communists was a form of self-incrimination.

"Communists should be incriminated," he told newsmen Tuesday. "I don't like to aid the Communists."

Graham also said "draft card burning borders on treason" and self-immolation is "a violent means to protect violence."

He criticized people who want to donate blood to the Viet Cong, observing: "Would they have given blood to the Nazis 20 years ago? It would have been unthinkable."

Graham will open a 10-day crusade Friday in the domed stadium here.

GI's Letter Premonitory

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Just four days after reading a letter in which their son said his luck was running out, Mr. and Mrs. Silvio Carnevale received a telegram announcing his death in Viet Nam.

"I'm sick, sick of what I've done and of what happened to friends," he wrote.

"I feel as if I am 100 years old... My luck is running out. Please do what you can for me... Dad, I don't want to die. Please get me out of here."

The telegram, which arrived Tuesday, reported that Army Pvt. David Carnevale, 21, was killed by a machine gun during a search and destroy mission in the Ia Drang Valley battle.

Drafted six months ago, he was in the 1st Air Cavalry Division.

Red Cross agents had cabled Saigon Monday asking an investigation of his case, looking toward his possible return.

A man giving the name of T. R. Morris of Laughlin AFB entered a plea of guilty in corporation court in San Angelo Monday to a charge of drunkenness and aggravated assault.

He paid a $50 fine and was released. Complainants included two Big Spring men, who had been threatened when they sought to help a man south of San Angelo prior to the time his car hit another car and spun into a trailer house.

Miss Parsons' Byline To Go

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A bit of Hollywood history was marked this week as the Parsons office moved into new quarters on South Beverly Drive.

"The first thing we did was hang up a picture of Louella," said Dorothy Manners, aide-camp for 30 years to Louella Parsons, who reigned over the movie world in its golden era as the most powerful of columnists.

The event marks the first time within memory of the most venerable press agents that the Parsons column has not been compiled from Louella's Beverly Hills home. And by the end of this month, the column will no longer bear Louella's name.

FAILING HEALTH
Hollywood has known for many months that Miss Parsons has been in failing health. Since 1962, she has suffered pneumonia, shingles of the optic nerve, and fractures of the hip and shoulder. Survival seemed doubtful for a woman who had also experienced tuberculosis and two heart attacks. Amazingly, she has survived.

It remained for her longtime rival columnist, Hedda Hopper, to print the news that Louella was entering a rest home and her column would soon bear the solo byline of Dorothy Manners.

Those close to Miss Parsons confirmed that she is now in a private sanitarium, where she is receiving "the best, loving care." She is often lucid, they say, but suffers from the debilities of her ailments and her age. The latter has long been a subject of conjecture. The best sources indicate she was born Louella Oettinger in Freepport, Ill., on Aug. 6, 1880, making her now 85.

WELDED POWER
In today's movie world, it is difficult to conceive the kind of power that Louella wielded in her heyday. Then Hollywood was ruled by a handful of tycoons who ran the big studios, and all played ball with the little lady who started writing about movies in 1914, when they were barely a flicker.

Change in the Hollywood hierarchy loosened her hold on the film colony. The tycoons died off, major studios lost their power and movie making became an international affair. But the Parsons column remained a prime outlet for film news.

Texas Road Program Set

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Highway Commission has approved a $350 million two-year consolidated highway program, more than half of it devoted to safety projects.

The 1967-68 program includes work on 9,469 miles of road.

Gov. John Connally called plans to devote 52 per cent of the program to safety projects "extremely gratifying."

"This is particularly significant in light of a recent report showing a decrease in traffic accidents and deaths on U.S. and state-numbered and interstate highways," he said.

"I am hopeful that this trend will continue as more highways with built-in safety features are constructed."

State highway engineer Dewitt Greer said the program includes 1,809 miles of construction and reconstruction on U.S. and state highways at an estimated cost of $262.8 million; purchase of 587 miles of right-of-way at an estimated state cost of $19.3 million; improvement work on 3,143 miles of highways at a cost of $24.1 million and improvement of 3,930 miles of farm and ranch roads at a cost of $31.6 million.

Breaks Aerialist's Fall

Beckie Leter, 13, right, a Shrine Circus aerial ballet performer, carried on stretcher, was saved from possible death in the Houston Coliseum this week when her 25-foot fall was broken by Malmous Sidall, left. Beckie had her right foot in a loop and was dangling when the accident happened. She had no safety net. Sidall, 22, guiding her hope ladder on the ground, caught her beneath her arms and they toppled to the floor. Beckie, born in Corpus Christi but now calls Hugo, Okla., home, suffered a fractured vertebra and is in fair condition. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Lubbock Hosts AEC Team

LUBBOCK (AP) — This West Texas city was host today to a four-man team here to inspect a proposed Lubbock site for an Atomic Energy Commission atom smasher.

Six other Texas areas—Dallas, Fort Worth, Amarillo, Odessa, Austin, San Antonio and Houston—also seek the $340 million facility. A total of 85 sites throughout the United States have been proposed.

The team toured Amarillo Air Force Base on the second leg of its tour Tuesday.

In Dallas, meanwhile, it was announced that the George A. Fuller Co. and three other firms are working on advance architect-engineering services on the gigantic AEC project.

Cloyce Box, executive vice president of the Dallas based firm, said the Fuller company would "perform services involved in the development of the scope of work and cost estimates" for the nuclear accelerator complex.

Livestock Survey Distribution Begins

Rural and star route mail carriers serving out of the Big Spring, Ackerly and Knott post offices will cooperate with the United States Department of Agriculture in making the annual livestock survey in this county.

The postmasters of the several offices — E. C. Boatler, Big Spring; Wanda C. Russell, Ackerly and Mrs. Susie Mae Harrell, Knott — said the carriers will place the survey cards in mail boxes on their routes.

The cards are to be placed in the boxes starting Nov. 20. Postmasters explained that information derived from these cards is used to set the annual inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms. The cards are not placed in all boxes, but are distributed at random by the carriers. This means, it was pointed out, that not all boxes will get a card but each person who does receive one is asked to fill in the required data and replace it in his box. Carriers out of the Big Spring office who are cooperating are: Ervin Daniel, Clyde Payne, Roland Evans, E. C. Evans, and J. E. Kennedy. Those out of the Knott office are Leatrice Thornton and Clyde Payne. The Ackerly route carrier is John L. Rudeseal.

Facts and figures secured in this survey are the basis for Texas and national pig crop report and inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. Stockmen and many other use this information in making business decisions. Survey results will be widely distributed through Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service releases, newspapers, farm magazines, radio, and television.

'Secret' Party For Princess Draws Kids, Dogs, Adults

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imagine having Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon turn up in your neighborhood for a party and you'll get the idea of how it was on Highland Place.

Especially, if the host and hostess — the nation's attorney general and his wife — are trying to keep everything a secret.

It was like a block party with kids and dogs and grownups watching the show. Four boys climbed on a roof to get a better view. Older folks brought their drinks along and launched party-watcher parties.

PRINCESS ARRIVES

Suddenly, that sleek, black Rolls-Royce rolled up. The princess, in a white satin gown and white mink wrap, stopped briefly outside the house. Flashbulbs flared.

A crowd pressed tightly against the white fence to watch the excitement at the home of Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Nicholas Katzenbach, the social lions of Washington Tuesday night.

Gambler Court Rules Laid Out

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The State Supreme Court has ordered that one judge in each county will be responsible for sentencing gamblers.

The court ordered the plan in an effort to get uniformity in treatment of gamblers.

Cubans Lose Jobs In Cultural Council

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana radio says the Cuban government, in an economy move, has eliminated a number of jobs in the National Council of Culture. The broadcast, monitored here, did not say how many persons lost their jobs.

Wolf Whistle

Applause and a loud, appreciative wolf whistle greeted the princess. She waved and smiled.

It was 11 p.m. and the candlelight party with five-man combos was on — an affair for young, gay, talented types, hostess

Collision Kills Two Students

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — A car-pickup truck collision Tuesday killed James Jones, 22, of Detroit, Tex., and Jerry Melton of Paris, students at Paris Junior College.

Mrs. W. A. Shannon, in her 80s, of the nearby Sylvan community suffered critical injuries.

The accident happened on U.S. 82 about 7 miles east of Paris. Four other persons also were injured.

Victim's 'Reputation' Due Attack In Assault Trial

EL RENO, Okla. (AP) — The defense laid the groundwork for an attack on the reputation of the 15-year-old victim of an alleged gang rape last summer as selection of a jury began.

Counsel for John Shapard, 16, the first of six Oklahoma City area boys accused of the July 7 assault to go on trial, told prospective jurors: "I may have to ask her questions about things I wouldn't discuss with my own daughter."

Selection of jurors continued today.

County Atty. Curtis Harris asked dismissal of several prospective panel members who stated they held fixed opinions in the case.

OTHERS CHARGED

James Berry, Shapard's lawyer, was preparing to examine the eighth prospective juror when Dist. Judge Boston Smith recessed court.

Larry Smith, James Fellers Jr., Paul Brogan and twins

Michael and Richard Stanley, all 17, also are charged with raping the girl.

All the defendants except Brogan were granted a change of venue from Oklahoma City to El Reno. Brogan did not request a change of venue. He will be the last of the six defendants to stand trial.

"SORDID THINGS"

Berry repeatedly warned prospective jurors: "You may hear some sordid things here, and you may hear some four-letter words."

He said defense lawyers have investigated the alleged attack victim's background and asked each of the jurors if they had any objection to evidence about her character and background being introduced.

She has moved to Oklahoma City with her family since the alleged attack. She lived in San Antonio at the time but was visiting an aunt in Oklahoma City.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

In order to bring his four spade contract home successfully, South was obliged to find a method for making one of his losers disappear.

When North opened the bidding with one no trump, South decided to probe for a suit contract since he had an unbalanced hand with both majors and eight high card points. The prescribed method for investigating is the artificial response of two clubs which requests the no trump to show a major suit. North's two diamond rebid denies a four card major.

South's rebid of two spades announces a five card suit but is not forcing. North had 17 points and three aces, and he decided to give his partner another chance by bidding three spades. South accepted the invitation.

West opened the jack of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. An examination of the combined holdings revealed to declarer that, in the normal course of events, he could expect to lose one diamond, two hearts, and one spade. Barring some fortuitous division of the outstanding cards, it appeared that South's only hope was to induce a favorable lead from the opposition.

At trick two, a small heart was led from dummy. East put up the king and returned the eight. West's ten dislodged the ace. A third round of hearts saddled West with the lead as that suit divided evenly. The latter exited with a club and the king was played as South discarded a diamond.

A club was ruffed in the closed hand. The king and ace of spades were cashed, leaving the queen at large, and then dummy's last club was ruffed with the eight of spades. South led his good heart as North and East both shed diamonds. Declarer continued with the ten of spades, putting East in with the queen as all hands were reduced to two cards.

East was down to the king-five of diamonds and he returned the five. South played the ten, West the jack and North won the trick with the queen. Declarer's ace of diamonds took the fulfilling trick.

Frank Sinatra Documentary Proves Tame

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — From the preliminary skirmishes, one might have concluded that CBS in its documentary program on Frank Sinatra had a tiger in its schedule. When seen Tuesday night, however, it emerged as a nice little pussycat of a show.

Sinatra came off as talented, hard-working, generous, warm, family-loving, rich, responsible, witty and loyal. In portions of an interview with Walter Cronkite — the one he had sought to have withdrawn from the program — he explained that his reputation for a quick temper and ready fists related only to one incident in which he was provoked to action.

He complained, without apparent bitterness, about "ridiculous accusations and statements that I was consorting with mobsters and gangsters."

GLOSSED OVER

The well-publicized Sinatra romances were glossed over. His first wife, Nancy, appeared with him in some recent film. Mia Farrow's name was mentioned but once — by Sinatra to illustrate his problems with the press. It was in connection with a magazine picture showing that Sinatra might have a few faults. At one point Cronkite said, "When you have a daddy, you kind of want him to be a daddy all the time. And some-

DECADES OF WANDERING

Amnesia Victim Regains His Past

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A 39-year-old deep-sea diver who says he lost his memory when he was beaten senseless at the end of World War II has found his family and his past after a search of two decades.

"It's just like being born again," said Robert Sheridan, who was 19 and heading for San Francisco to be discharged from the Navy when the amnesia began. "You have something of your own again."

Although investigations by the Navy, the FBI, the Red Cross, state troopers, state senators and insurance companies failed to turn up a trace of Sheridan, his mother never gave up hope. His father, John J. Sheridan, a retired post office worker from Albany, N.Y., had searched, but less aggressively. "I was a little afraid of what I might find," he said.

FOUND BEATEN

Sheridan gave this account: It was 20 years ago when he was found severely beaten along a road outside Craig, Colo. His wallet was gone. His silver identification bracelet read: "Robert Sher...." The remainder was illegible.

A few feet from him lay a pistol.

Then he began his years of wandering.

"I bummed around all over. The casinos in Reno, the police department in Reno, all over." Several times he met girls he wanted to marry, but he never did.

"I didn't know whether I had a wife or children. And then there was that gun. I didn't know what kind of person I might have been."

"NO PAST"

"You are afraid to tie yourself to anyone when you don't have a past."

Finally, about a year ago, while working as a diver in Los Angeles, he decided to go to a psychoanalyst.

One day, his childhood street address in Albany popped into his mind. He went to Albany, but his parents had moved to Florida 11 years before.

"I talked around the neighborhood but I didn't remember them."

He was discouraged. But in searching the phone book the name of his uncle struck his eye.

The uncle directed him to a sister, Marjorie Benvenuto of Fayetteville, N.Y. She told him one brother had died. The other, John Jr., rushed from St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore and went with him to Florida.

First they visited a sister in Largo, Lillian Watkins, and then last week all three came to Indian Rocks Beach, outside St. Petersburg.

Sheridan plans to live with his parents. He has already set up a deep-sea diving company here.

But the past is still far from complete.

"Little bits and pieces are coming back all the time," he said. "It makes life worth living."

C-City Man Loses $8,000 In Swindle

A Colorado City man fell victim Tuesday to what Leo Hull, assistant police chief, called today "one of the world's oldest 'con' games."

Loy Edward Barrington, 57, 944 Vines, Colorado City, told police this story:

At 2:30 p.m. Monday, he was sitting in his car at Gibson's Discount Center parking lot when a Negro man, about 35, who called himself "Henry" asked for a ride to the north side, and told Barrington he would pay $20 for the ride. Barrington took the man to the 400 block of Northwest Third, where the man got out of the car, went into a cafe to change a $50 bill to pay Barrington.

In the store, "Henry" "happened" to meet a "local" Negro man "Paul Whiteman," and the pair returned to Barrington's car.

The two engaged in a card game, and asked Barrington to join them. He did, and shortly lost $321, his watch, and his ring. "Henry" told Barrington he would give him a chance to win back his losses (he incidentally had told Barrington "Paul" had just gotten $15,000 from a law suit). Shortly, Barrington had won $8,000.

"Paul" said he would not pay Barrington unless Barrington could prove he had $8,000, so that if he had lost, he would have been able to pay. "Henry" went off and brought back another Negro, "Bambi," who swore he had known Barrington many years, and would vouch for him. But the "loser" still would not pay. Barrington went back to Colorado City where he spent the night, then came back Tuesday morning with an $8,000 check. He gave it to "Henry," who threw it out the car window, saying he would not take a check. Barrington then went to the First National Bank, and cashed the check.

"Henry" was given the $8,000 of Barrington's, and put it in an envelope with what he and "Paul" said was $15,000.

"I was told to always trust a white man," "Henry" said, "so I want you to address the envelope," Barrington did so, addressing it to his Colorado City address. He and "Henry" were supposed to pick up the envelope when it got to Colorado City and split their winnings.

One of the men took the envelope and headed for a mail box, where an envelope was dropped in, Barrington said. Then Barrington got suspicious, after the two Negroes disappeared, and sent for police. Tuesday afternoon, Barrington, city detective Jack Jones, and the assistant postmaster opened the mailbox.

They found the addressed envelope. Inside were sheets of toilet paper.

"This same swindle has been pulled in several surrounding towns lately," Hull said today.

'Last Great Magician', Harry Blackstone, Dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The era of great enchanters who made millions thrill, wonder and gasp in amazement drew closer to its end with the death of famed magician Harry Blackstone.

The man whom many in the theater world called "the last of the great magicians" died at his home Tuesday night at 82. He had been bedridden since August with pulmonary edema.

60-YEAR CAREER

His death ended a 60-year career in what Blackstone termed the science of misdirection. "Magic overcomes frustration," the spellbinder once said. "It doesn't need to be sleight of hand. It's nothing but pure psychology—applied in the right place."

Born Harry Bouton in Chicago, he turned professional at 16, forming the Bouton Brothers act with his younger brother Peter.

The cast grew until, during the 1920s, he commanded a cast of about 40. Blackstone's career reached its height during World War II, when millions of servicemen took in his show at the U.S.O.

IN RETIREMENT Blackstone retired six years ago, returning once to the public eye in the television show "This Is Your Life." Four years ago he moved from New York to California.

He leaves his widow, Elizabeth, 65; a son, Harry Jr., and his brother, Peter Bouton, of Colon, Mich.

Orbiting Craft Due To Brush

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gemini 6 and Gemini 7 will travel inches apart on their rendezvous next month if the goal of Manned Spacecraft Center engineers is achieved.

An official who asked not to be named told newsmen Tuesday that the engineers hope the spacecraft will maneuver to one to two feet apart and then fly in formation.

The closest previous figure used by spokesmen for the center was 10 feet.

Gemini 7, a 14-day mission, is scheduled for launch Dec. 4. Nine days later, on Dec. 13, Gemini 6 will be launched into the same orbit.

Gemini 8, a two-day mission, was postponed Oct. 25 when a rendezvous pod failed to orbit.

Cosden Suit Seeks To Protect Process

Cosden Oil and Chemical Company has filed a suit in federal district court at Abilene seeking to restrain Union Carbide Corporation from using certain technical information in development of an extraction process.

Cosden claims that the Linde Division of Union Carbide has made wrongful use of confidential information concerning a process for separating ethylbenzene from mixed xylenes. Cosden has made this process available only through licensing arrangements.

The petition claims that the Linde division is attempting to furnish to a third party a tray which Cosden says is based on confidential information and in violation of a contract with Union Carbide.

The suit seeks to restrain Linde division from making unauthorized use of the Cosden information or from revealing it to others. A declaration of contractual and other rights and unspecified damages also are sought. Should the court hold that Linde can produce its extraction tray, then Cosden asks for the right of free access and use of it.

Cosden entered on Jan. 15, 1965, into a contract with Carbide, through the Linde division, whereby the process information was to be kept in confidence. On Nov. 1, 1965, the petition alleges, Linde submitted a proposal to a third party, Universal Oil Products Company, which "involved at least in part the use or disclosure of material portions of plaintiff's confidential information." The adaptation of design proposed by Linde to UPO, the petition continues, requires or is facilitated by use of Cosden's information which is a trade secret.

Speaks On Art

Dr. Donald L. Weismann, professor in the arts at the University of Texas, will give an illustrated talk Friday at Angelo State College, San Angelo. The artist as witness of his times, is the subject of his presentation, which will be in the Student Center Theater at 5 p.m. The public is invited.

Cosden asked that Linde be enjoined from making any proposals or contracts for the process or adaptation of it; that the court declare the rights and legal relations of the parties with respect to an interpretation of the contract; that the court declare rights and legal relations apart from said contract; for alternate relief of full right to make and use Linde sieve deck trays in connection with distillation units for separating ethylbenzene from mixed xylenes and with a right to make licenses to third parties without accounting to Linde. Finally, the petition asks that Cosden be granted damages and an accounting in such a manner as it might have been found to have suffered.

Mosaics Discussed For Art Club

Members of the Big Spring Art Association were entertained Tuesday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hartley with a color film, "World of Mosaic."

The film traced the history of this art from ancient Greece and early Christianity to the murals used in the mass-produced architecture of today. Examples of Aztec art relics employing amethyst, mother of pearl and turquoise were shown, as well as the modern glass mosaics used by Mexican artists for public buildings.

The club president, Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw, welcomed new members, Airman and Mrs. John Zimmerman and Mrs. Sam Anderson.

A Devotional For The Day

I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. (II Timothy 4:7, RSV)
PRAYER: O God, when we fall into troubles and difficulties, help us to keep the faith. Thou hast promised to be with us, and many have testified to the wonderful way in which Thou hast sustained them. May we also feel Thy presence. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Ivan Had His Problems

The Soviet Union and its Communist satellites are slowly and reluctantly turning to un-Marxist solutions to their internal economic problems. The next move in that direction may be toward relieving rising unemployment and extensive underemployment, now believed worse than that in the Western democracies.
Radio Free Europe's analysis recently pointed out the dilemma posed for the Communist countries by this problem. Under Marxist-Leninist dogma, unemployment is not supposed to exist in a centrally planned Communist economy. Following that ideological assumption, the Soviet Union abolished unemployment relief in 1930. Bulgaria has the only unemployment compensation system in the Soviet bloc, and few Communist countries maintain employment agencies to find jobs for workers.
Unemployment statistics, where they are gathered at all in Communist countries, are guarded as state secrets to protect the Marxist myth. But substantial unemployment is an observable fact in those countries, where overstaffing of industries and bureaucracies cloaks widespread and underemployment of human resources. And it has many of the causes now familiar in capitalist economies—a population rise outrunning job creation (the post-war "baby boom" is hitting the labor market), rural migration to the cities, technological displacement of unskilled and some skilled workers.
How the Soviet Union and its Eastern European satellites will cope with this problem remains to be seen. But it seems safe to predict that its solution will not be found in their rigid ideology.

Political Ignorance

A political science exercise now common from grade school through junior college here is to have students make lists of the names of government officials who have effect on their lives. Too often their voting elders today lack even that rudimentary knowledge, which is the first essential to a democratic voice in representative government.
A recent Gallup poll found, as have a number of surveys before it, that the majority of adult Americans are negligently, inexcusably and almost incredibly ignorant about who is governing them, much less how well. It queried a nationwide sample of the electorate about their congressmen, and found:
That 57 per cent did not know the name of their representative in Congress. That 41 per cent did not know whether he is a Democrat or Republican. That 70 per cent did not know when he would come up for re-election. That 81 per cent had no idea how he voted on any major bill and 86 per cent could think of nothing he had done for his district.
This poll was taken just after the adjournment of the first session of the 89th Congress, which had figured prominently in the news for eight months and made legislative history with a vast array of new laws affecting almost every facet of American life. Its results must shake congressional egos, but it should shock every citizen concerned with good government guided by majority public opinion. If a majority of voters do not even know their congressman's name, and more than four-fifths know nothing about his activities, how can Congress be expected to reflect public opinion on vital issues of public policy?
The public ignorance and indifference is a major reason why special-interest lobbies can exert such excessive influence on Congress. This is also a basic reason why Congress has lost so much relative policy-making power to the presidency. So far education has been unable to overcome this serious weakness in our democratic society; perhaps in time it will. Meanwhile every citizen should take the personal responsibility to find out at least the identities, and preferably much more, of those who make the laws we all must live by.

David Lawrence Senator Of Responsibility

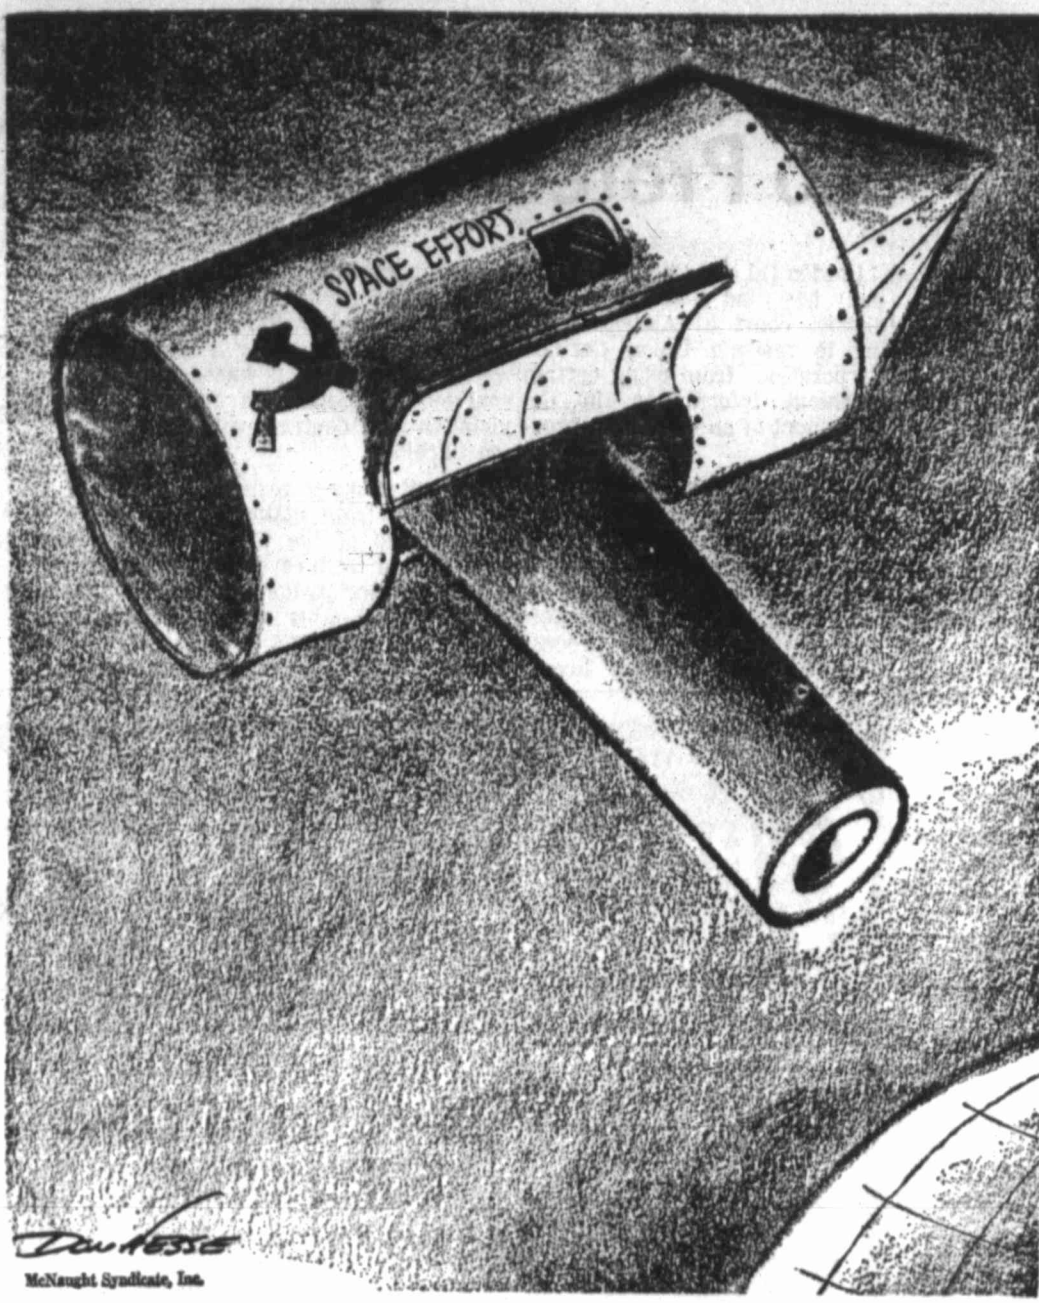

WASHINGTON—Harry F. Byrd of Virginia is gone from the Senate of the United States, but the lesson which his career teaches has an enduring significance. For he has manifested courage and integrity amid the hypocrisies of political life today.
THERE ARE all sorts of definitions of "conservatism" being publicized nowadays, but most of them do not fit Harry Byrd. Nor can he be described by many of the other "isms" and phrases which are being currently used to describe persons who do not believe in misapplying other people's money to gain even temporarily the voting support of selfish groups. Simply stated, the outgoing senator has been unswervingly the champion of common honesty in government and of a public servant's obligation to spend taxpayers' money and borrowed funds with the same frugality as if it were his own private income.
HARRY BYRD was known country-wide as a "progressive" when he became governor of Virginia in 1926. He put through the state legislature the nation's first anti-lynching law, and there hasn't been a lynching since in Virginia. He undertook a major highway-building program and put it on a pay-as-you-go basis. He reorganized the state government by consolidating about 100 agencies into 12 departments.
Gov. Byrd came to the United States Senate on March 4, 1933—the dismal day when all the banks throughout the country were ordered closed indefinitely. He had supported Franklin D. Roosevelt because of the pledge in the Democratic party's 1932 platform that federal expenses would be cut at least 25 per cent. It was over this issue that he later had differences with the administration, but he always felt he was one of the original "New Dealers" and that it was not he but others who had strayed from the party platform.
BUT WHY was Sen. Byrd so absorbed in the subject of sound fiscal policy? The fact is he was frustrated as a young man due to the financial difficulties of his parents and he could not afford to go to college. He took over, at the age of 15, the weekly newspaper established by his family which had been plunged into bankruptcy. As he gradually met with success, he bought a tract of land and has since become one of the largest growers of apples in the world.
What Harry Byrd learned in trying to make ends meet produced an indelible impression on his mind, as so often happens with self-made men. It unquestionably had a lasting effect on the way he dealt with issues in his public career in later years.
ABOVE ALL, Harry Byrd followed the commands of an ever-present conscience, irrespective of the temptations of politics. He never voted on any bill that could affect his own property. He didn't accept a cent of federal money for his farming operations and once had a technical amendment inserted in a law that would disqualify him from benefiting from a measure affecting certain types of securities he held. He regarded public office as a sacred responsibility—a trusteeship which required an unswerving fidelity to the cause of fiscal as well as social responsibility.
MANY OF THE theorists of today have never known what it means to borrow money from a bank or accept capital from investors to start and carry on a business and then to meet these obligations. Sen. Byrd thought of public funds in the same way, because he never forgot that individual citizens struggling for a livelihood paid out their hard-earned money in taxes every year with a blind faith that the governmental authorities would deal honestly with the citizens' earnings.
But anybody who, like the Virginia senator, today dissents from the whimsical doctrines of expediency and insists instead on constitutional methods is being called a "negativist." The speeches of Sen. Byrd will long be remembered as a series of warnings on the biggest single issue that faces the American people today—how to keep the government from going "bankrupt."

Billy Graham

My mother has been ill for months and is in pain day and night. I can't understand why God allows this. Can you help us? S.C.
Think a moment! If God gave every one who served Him perfect health, and prosperity, many would serve Him with the hope of health and gain—faith in Him would be needless, and love of Him for His own sake would be unknown.
Jesus didn't promise a 'bed of roses' for His followers. He said they would be despised, persecuted, and mistreated. But He said, "I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." He enters the arena of history with those who serve Him, and brings triumph out of seeming defeat.
Your mother's illness is hurting you more than it is her, because she has trusted and you have doubted. Whatever you do, don't vent your bitterness in her presence.
The greatest thing about Christianity is not that Christians are spared trouble, but that in the midst of it they can say, "I know that my Redeemer liveth." That quality of faith ought to be an inspiration to all who doubt.

James Marlow Civil Rights Front Will Be Boiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The whole civil rights front will be boiling in 1966.
President Johnson gave a taste of it Tuesday night when he said he will ask Congress in January for legislation "to prevent injustice to Negroes at the hands of all-white juries."
No doubt he will ask for other legislation in the civil rights field. Thus those who may have thought that things might quiet down after the congressional battles over the Civil Rights Acts of 1964 and 1965 were wrong.
IN ADDITION, in the spring there will be a civil rights conference at the White House on how to make equal rights a national reality.
Today civil rights leaders, representing groups from conservative to radical, began a two-day session to prepare for the spring meeting.
Even before the two-day meeting could get under way the American Friends Service Committee and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People released recommendations on speeding school desegregation.
They noted that the Southern Regional Council had found "fewer than 6 per cent of the Deep South Negro pupils are in desegregated situations" and that "this is not just a statistic, this is a human tragedy."
OVER THE past weekend the U.S. Civil Rights Commission asked for new federal laws and full enforcement of old ones to stop racial violence and injustice in the South.
The commission urged Johnson to send more federal officers to racial trouble spots and to authorize them to make on-the-spot arrests. The Justice Department has been very restrained in the use of federal police power.
Further, the commission wants a law making it a federal crime to threaten, intimidate or punish persons engaged in civil rights activities. This would include holding trial in federal court in an area where it is decided racial prejudice is too great to permit justice.
The commission said that in some Southern communities officials have defied the Constitution and repudiated their oaths by denying protection of the laws to Negro citizens.
JOHNSON, TO whom the commission sent its 188-page report said Monday night, "We intend to make the jury box, in both state and federal courts, the sacred domain of justice under law."
He pointed out the government already has moved to join in three suits which, he said, challenge a biased system of jury selection. Johnson said, "We must do more, we will do more."

Hal Boyle Public Keeps Sheik On Camel

NEW YORK (AP) — Omar Sharif, the most famous film sheik since Rudolph Valentino, thinks it is time the public let him down off his camel.
The young Egyptian-born actor, who won an Academy Award nomination for his portrayal several years ago of Sheik Ali in "Lawrence of Arabia," remarked:
"Many think I always wore robes and rode a camel. This is untrue. I hardly ever saw a camel before except on a cigarette box."
"IT'S HARD to shake the image created by your first success. Most of the time one doesn't succeed in shaking it. But that is better than to have to try to shake the image of your first flop."
Slender, still in his early 30s, Omar is good-natured, somewhat shy in manner. As Michel Shalhoub, son of a Syrian lumber importer, he was reared in Cairo and graduated from an English college there. A year later he turned to acting after he found the lumber business left him with a wooden feeling.
He made a couple of dozen films in Cairo, became a star in the Arab world, and married Faten Hamama, Egypt's best-known actress. They have a son, Tarek, 8.
HE PICKED the name Omar Sharif — which means "the honorable Omar" — because of its sound. But when he first appeared on the "Lawrence of Arabia" sets, Irish actor Peter O'Toole objected:
"Nobody could be called Omar Sharif. I'm going to call you 'Cairo Fred.'"
The nickname stuck.
"Orientals are violent people," he remarked. "They are emotional and sentimental and self-indulgent."
"In Egyptian melodramas your success was judged by how much you could make the audience cry. Since then I've had to learn emotional restraint — to realize that the most moving thing is not someone actually crying, but someone who wants to cry and is fighting it."
SHARIF, a cultured man who speaks six languages, said that as an Oriental he had met with some difficulties in adjusting to the Western tempo.
"It is so speedy," he observed drily. "I try to sleep as long as possible because it is the slowest thing I know."
"An Oriental, as long as he has food enough for this day, neither works nor worries about tomorrow."
"But I suppose speed is necessary in the large cities of Europe and America because life there is so tough and competitive. If you don't keep at it, someone will take your place."

To Your Good Health Cause Of Canker Sores May Vary

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Please advise the cause of canker sores in my husband's mouth. He says skin milk will be beneficial while I say he should take pure peroxide and hold it in his mouth for a minute or so. Perhaps both the skin milk—he drinks a quart a day—plus the peroxide wash?—MRS. A. F.
If he has been drinking that much milk, I should think he might suspect by now that it isn't the right answer. His idea may have come from the fact that one form of treatment consists of holding tablets containing lactobacillus in the mouth. (This doesn't always work, either.)
The fact is that the cause of canker sores is not known, common as they are, and there is every reason to think that the cause varies in different cases.
Allergy to some food or other has been blamed in many cases, and not infrequently that seems to be the right answer. It takes some care, watching to see if you can find such a relationship.
Sensitivity to a dentifrice or mouth wash is a possibility.
At least take the trouble to note whether irritation from a sharp place on a tooth or dental prosthesis may be causing it. It happens. Then see your dentist.
In still other cases some recurring bacterial infection, in the gums or other mouth membranes, can be involved—which is another reason for having the dentist check over his teeth if it hasn't been done lately.
Dear Dr. Molner: What is Vitamin K? And what about the advantages or disadvantages of taking a small dose a day for blood clotting?—MRS. S. R.
Vitamin K has been called the coagulation vitamin.
It is helpful in making the blood clot, and thus stop bleeding, in certain cases, and not effective in others. For example, it is not effective if basically the bleeding is due to cirrhosis of the liver. On the other hand, if anticoagulants have been given, or for some other reason the blood does not have enough platelets (special clotting particles) to control bleeding, then Vitamin K is very good indeed.
Thus it is a rather complicated problem to know when Vitamin K should be used and when it shouldn't. A small dose (one a day, for example) can be very valuable if the patient is otherwise subject to bleeding because of special drugs, or some deficiency in the blood.
Let your doctor decide whether you need Vitamin K, and how much.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have a blotch in my eye which moves, and when I read it is very annoying. An eye specialist did not give any explanation but just said that I would have to live with it and that it is common in people over 45. I am 67. I would like to know more about it.—MRS. P. W.
It is true that such a spot or blotches are common from the 40's on. It is wise to have an examination because occasionally they may be an indication of some serious eye affliction.
Usually, however, yours is what we call a floater, due to chemical changes in the fluid in the eyeball. Ordinary floaters don't do any harm and don't signify trouble. They are just annoying. Since there isn't anything that can be done about them, we just have to get used to them.
I take it for granted that, since you were examined, a floater is what you have,

Around The Rim Alas, For The Festive Bird

I'm not knocking it, but the business of picking up film wrapped turkey at the supermarket has taken a little out of Thanksgiving. It's the same thing that happened when we quit going to the hills for a cedar Christmas tree.
MY CHIEF CLAIM to being an authority on turkeys arose out of my days in the backyard of my Dad's grocery store. I wasn't reared on the farm, just near them, but near enough to know that the turkey was about the silliest creature around the place. You could drive him all day by an open gate, but somehow, it would never occur to him to go through the gate. Let it rain, and he had no more sense than to gaze up at the sky with his beak open. He could drown while gazing to see what was going on.
A generation ago there weren't too many commercial turkey flocks, at least in these parts, and they were apt to be as wild as a March hare. Consequently, unless they had been reared a good while before the Thanksgiving season, they were likely to be on the rangy side.
HIENS WERE preferred because they might be tenderer and because they were inclined to have more white meat. But if you wanted to have a big festive bird, you went for the well-fed gobbler. One 18-20 pounds was accounted as a super-bird. (Now 22-30 pounders are not uncommon.) Those who wanted bulk at bargain prices bought the old toms with crooked breasts.
When the turkeys reached maturity, the gobblers put on a show, fluffing their breast feathers, fanning their tail feathers to the fullest, bowing their wings to touch the ground, and strutting as though they owned the place. Once in awhile they would ripple the air with a few gobble-gobble-gobbles.
PREPARATION of the bird for the table was accomplished by two methods. The produce houses insisted on leaving the head and feet on the bird (supposedly so you couldn't lie about the bird's age) and generally preferred to pick them dry. For home consumption, the ritual started with heating a cauldron of water, separating the tom from his head, and scalding the carcass just the right amount. If you over-did it, the skin would be cooked and would tear. If you under-did it, it was a mess of the first order. If the bird was too young or at the wrong season, you had the problem of pen-feathers to deal with.
DOING THIS was a lot of trouble and a lot of work, but it had its compensations. One was that the kids got to have a lot of wing and tail feathers to use for playing Indian or for dressing arrow-shanks or even making crude writing quills. Another was blowing up a big bladder from the crop. The other reward was in hearing the remainder of the family observe admiringly: "My, what a bird!"
THINGS HAVE changed, and even within the past decade birds have been bred so that turkeys are 25 to 50 per cent heavier, have rounded breasts, and are juicier, meatier, etc. and are available the year around. There are other compensations, too, for a plump bird, neatly swathed in transparent wrapper, cannot fix a pair of soulful imploring eyes upon you when you approach the chopping block. That used to be a moment that would try a man's soul.

Holmes Alexander The President And Business

WASHINGTON — They're saying on the rialto that the Old Pro of the Pedernales has turned price-fixer and business-buster, but that's not what they're saying inside the Old Pro's personal clubhouse.
Those most likely to know the President's mind declare that the release of 300,000 tons of aluminum from the stockpile isn't aimed at disciplining private enterprise, but at slimming down a public enterprise. If things go right, the price structure of American industry will not feel the heavy hand of federal interference, although there will be some needed reduction of the idle products which are known as the stockpile.
IN SUM, the administration insists it is telling a hard-to-explain truth. The off-loading of surplus aluminum — with other items to follow — is not directly related to price stabilization, but is an overdue inventory sale.
None of this is to say that government is indifferent to the inflationary influence of rising prices, or that business has no grounds for its suspicions. There is a dialogue which goes something as follows:
ADMINISTRATION: People forget that the President qualifies as an expert in stockpile management. He was chairman of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee which dealt in the early 1950's with military-civilian needs for tin, tungsten, copper, nickel, and rubber. He knows what he's doing now.
Industry: The President disturbs us because he's been leading a double life as a saver in trifles and a spender of public funds which are more inflationary than prices. He walks around whistling lullabies when labor gets its increases, but encourages his Secretary of Treasury and Council of Economic Advisors to cry havoc when industry makes price adjustments.
ADMINISTRATION: Mr. Johnson announced some time ago that he intended to move stockpiled materials into the hungry domestic market. It's unfortunate that the price-rise and the release of surplus aluminum for 1966 happened at the same time. But it was more of a coincidence than a policy clash between business and industry.
Industry: The aluminum business is one of modest profits and responsible behavior. Therefore, the government's rebuke on the very small price advance was undeserved and must have a hidden meaning. Probably it was intended as a warning signal to all business — steel in particular — against further pricing.
ADMINISTRATION: The President is anxious to avert an industrial-governmental fracas. But he's quite realistic about the "consensus" which has supported him thus far in his term.
Thus runs the dialogue. Meanwhile professional economists are still remembering that several years ago a Treasury Secretary, George Humphrey, predicted "a depression that will curl your hair." If we don't slow down on federal spending, they're fearful that Humphrey's warning will be echoing when other voices fade.

Richard Starnes The Husbandly Christmas Shopper

WASHINGTON — There isn't a husband and father alive who doesn't actively dread the coming of Christmas.
He knows he will be driven one step closer to financial ruin by buying his kids love offerings such as toy flame throwers and simulated grenade launchers. His gliblets writhe at the very thought of whisky being dispensed from vessels that are designed for afterlife as lamps, but that actually resemble sickroom utensils.
HE WILL HAVE to carve a turkey, a task that the average maladroitness American male is grossly incompetent to perform, and he'll risk his life climbing an improvised scaffold to place a tinfoil star at the top of the Christmas tree.
But all these indignities fade before the hazards of buying an appropriate Christmas present for his wife. The thralldom of the American husband is never more pitiful to behold than at the happy yule season, when the poor brute is cringing at the thought of yet another Christmas morning ordeal when his warder opens her present.
A MARABOU bed jacket that cost $85? She'll say, oh-pet-you-shouldn't have, and she'll mean it. The next Christmas you will over-compensate, fetch home a down-to-earth housecoat of a shade that won't show oatmeal spots, and the odds are that she'll retire weeping to her room. You've given her the sort of present one gives a maiden aunt, see?
The Christmas Eve following this episode is likely to be marked by a happening similar to one that took place several years ago at Crestfallen Manor:
SELF (expansively to young son, Andy) — Well, tad, I've got it made this year. Presentwise, I'm just going to slip your mum a crisp $100 bill. I wheedled out of the bank yesterday. Then she can get whatever she wants."
ANDY (somberly) — "I heard her say a couple of days ago she thought giving money for Christmas was vile. What's vile mean?"
SELF — "It means we're in trouble."
WE WERE in trouble, too. Ultimately, out of the genius born of desperation. Andy and I devised a way out. We emptied the contents out of a hen's egg through two inconspicuous holes, inserted the C-note, and cemented the holes over. Then we painted the egg with gold paint, put it in a genuine bird's nest Andy had in his room, and sprinkled the whole gaudy business with gold-colored metallic flakes.
It was magnificent, and a great success when it was opened the following morning — except that we couldn't persuade the lady of the house to see what was in the egg. "Open it," we urged. "Yes, open it," Andy echoed.
"The egg?" she asked. "I should say NOT. I'M NOT going to break my lovely golden egg."
I SPENT MOST of that Christmas day wondering how to get the $100 bill out of the egg without smashing everything to flinders. Finally, haunted by the thought of having $100 in cash out of circulation, I confessed. This Christmas, whatever else happens, I won't give money.
One Noctide the gift was perfume, of an octane rating so potent that glassware would scarcely contain it. On Dec. 26 it was exchanged for something more practical — galoshes, I believe. The following year we dragged home a ceramic oven that weighed NO less than 100 pounds. It was too heavy to return for exchange, but to date NOT one flowered ash tray has been fired in it.
BETWEEN NOW and the fateful hour when the stores close on Christmas Eve I'll spend so much time moodily regarding counters full of expensive goodies that every house detective in town will know me. And it won't do any good — I'll bring home a dotted Swiss peignoir when all the signs call for an air ticket to Bermuda.

Tastefully Lighted Living Room Enhances Beauty

Excellent local and general lighting levels using incandescent and fluorescent light sources feature this living room. A rotating "eyeball" fixture above the fireplace creates an interesting three-dimensional effect on the bricks, while illumination from behind the cornices points out a valuable art and book collection.

Proper Lighting Prevents Danger Around All Buildings

Texas Electric Service Company is passing on some valuable suggestions for the homeowner who is planning a safe as well as an attractively lighted home.

Every year, more home accidents can be traced to neglect of lighting in the home. Good lighting practice at stairs and entrances, workshops and kitchens, and in bathrooms, will enhance the safety of your home.

The proper use of light can be invaluable in cutting down the number and the causes of home accidents. Safe lighting techniques should begin at your door. Entrances are the most important areas to cultivate safe lighting practices, but often most neglected.

Doors and steps should have adequate illumination for safety as well as beauty. Light on each side of the door is the best answer. This practice brightens the doorway and walk, and aids in recognizing callers.

Soft, white coated bulbs, such as those produced by Sylvania, probably best serve this purpose. A minimum of 60 watts in each bulb should be shielded to prevent glare.

Safe lighting is just as important inside the house where the danger from tripping or falling is multiplied by articles left in passageways or on stairs. A shielded fixture, with a three-way control switch is recommended in these areas.

For safe walking around a dark house at night, small electroluminescent "Nite Lites" which plug into convenient outlets are valuable. Never walk across a completely darkened room.

Proper placing of light sources in other areas can reduce cut, bruised or burned fingers in the kitchen, misreading of medicine bottles, dangerous falls in the bathroom, and working with power tools.

Ten safety tips to keep in mind for a happier, safer home are to be found in a booklet entitled, "Bright Ideas for a Safe Home," published by Sylvania.

These are: 1. Keep spare incandescent bulbs and fluorescent tubes handy; 2. Keep extra fuses on hand, and teach your family how to replace the fuse or reset circuit breakers; 3. Be certain all fuses are of correct amperage and, if in doubt, call your power company or electrician; 4. In case of a temporary power failure, have flashlights or candles ready; 5. Replace all unreliable electrical switches; 6. Replace frayed cords, cracked plugs or coverings. If insulation is thin or broken through, an electric shock can result from touching the wire, or it may cause a short circuit;

All Equipment Needed For Fighting Pests

Mack and Max Moore show a lot full of equipment needed for pest control service in homes or business houses. Termites, roaches, moths and other pests, as well as offensive odors, can be eliminated and the men have the knowledge of what is best suited for any job.

Need A Pest Exterminator? Just Call Mack Moore & Son

If you have been using insecticides around your home or business to rid the premises of undesirable or damaging pests, and find now that they don't do the job, Mack Moore & Son can do you a lot of good.

Mack and Max Moore keep abreast of the constant changes and know just what to use to rid buildings of ants, roaches, termites, moths and other insects. They have the equipment to get the chemicals into the most difficult places. A telephone call to AM 4-8190 or AM 3-6514 will get you information about, or service on, all kinds of pest control.

Even skunk odors can be eliminated with chemicals. Other offensive odors, such as those caused by smoke, may be "killed out" of the air or walls inside the premises.

Termites can do as much damage to concrete as they do to wood. Insects and pests can also develop immunity to pesticides and chemicals, requiring new kinds to be used for extermination.

Mack and Max Moore have pressurized portable equipment to enable them to get under concrete slabs, air hammers to drill into concrete foundations and slabs where pressure forces chemicals into the entire area to exterminate termites.

So, if there is an offensive odor around the place, caused by smoke, skunks, or anything else, the firm has the chemicals to rid the air and premises of the odor.

Three pressure tanks, on trailers, carrying 50, 100 and 200 gallons of chemicals, are ready to roll, along with two trucks carrying the necessary tools.

Mack Moore & Son own and operate the business and keep up with all new methods and chemicals. They are members of the Texas Pest Control Association, and are ready to go anywhere in the Big Spring area.

Baldwin Organs, Pianos At Whites

In addition to new Baldwin and Kimball pianos and organs, White Music Co., at 1903 Gregg Street, has a wide selection of used pianos and organs.

Les White, owner and operator of the home-owned store, said the firm has excellent buys in practice pianos, used guitars, and amplifiers.

"Every one recognizes Baldwin as the best piano being built today," White said. "With the new prices, brought about by the federal excise tax cut, Baldwin pianos and organs are within the price range of the most modest budget. New finishes on Baldwin pianos now come in distressed walnut, cherry or Spanish Oak. Before you buy a piano or organ be sure to come in and see and hear the new model pianos and organs."

White Music Co. also has the Kimball line of pianos which starts with three pedals and keyboard cover, for well under $500. Can you imagine a new piano with walnut finish for so little money?

"For guitar players we have Gretsch Guitars and amplifiers, the one designed and played by Chet Atkins. We also carry a complete line of student guitars starting at $21.95." White continued. "We also have banjos, drums, ukuleles, strings, sheet music and accessories."

"A new line of guitars is the Epiphone, an old standard line. So come on, guitar players and students, I'll take trade-ins."

"White Music Co. is the only complete music store in Big Spring. Did you know that we have a full-time tuner and technician? Immediate service is always available on your musical instrument."

Has AFL Already Conducted Draft?

NEW YORK (AP) — The NFL's so-called "baby-sitting tactics," which the younger league claimed had kept its clubs from reaching and signing draft choices. But there were recurring reports that the AFL had jumped the gun on its original Nov. 20 date and already held a secret draft.

Returning Letterman

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

They're talking now of starting some night games in the Southwest Conference next season at 7 p.m., yet District 2-AAAA officials don't seem to be in favor of advancing the starting hour to 7:30 but the dissenters speak in such stentorian tones they have blocked all moves to bring the issue to a vote.

Big Spring's Albert Fierro was "red-shirted" at the University of Nebraska this fall, mainly because the Huskers were knee-deep in quarrels.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Puckett, who have two athletically inclined sons in the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, are now Big Spring residents. Puckett is associated with the Humble people.

Both the Puckett boys, Don and Richard, attended high school in Midland. Don was a star pitcher on the Rebel baseball team and is a member of Navy's varsity horsehide troops.

No one has said much about it this fall but Julio Guerrero, most valuable back in District 2-AAAA last season, has been running second string for the San Angelo Bobcats much of this season.

The Big Spring Steers made Guerrero look bad in their game last fall, so expect Julio to try and make the big effort against the locals Friday night. He'd like to close out his 2-AAAA career in a blaze of glory.

Look for Glen Ray Hines, the highly-touted University of Arkansas tackle, to join Big Spring Charley Johnson and the other St. Louis Cardinals in 1966. He will, unless some AFL team goes so high in the bidding he can't afford to turn down the offer.

Bowl Picture Could Be Completed This Week

Conference championship showdowns Saturday in the Southwest and Far West will fill vacancies in at least two — and probably three — of college football's major bowl games.

The bowl picture, which began to take shape with commitments by third-ranked Nebraska (Orange), No. 8 Missouri (Sugar) and Georgia Tech (Gator) last weekend and top-ranked Michigan State's formal Big Ten send-off to the Rose Bowl Tuesday, could be virtually completed after this week's games.

The host berths in the Cotton and Rose classics will be on the line when second-ranked Arkansas takes on No. 9 Texas Tech at Little Rock for the SWC title and Southern California, No. 6, tackles UCLA, No. 7, at Los Angeles for the Pacific Athletic Conference championship.

The SWC runner-up is assured of a Gator Bowl invitation, with Texas Tech having already made a conditional acceptance. The only remaining openings are single spots in the Cotton, Sugar and Orange bowls — and fifth-ranked Alabama appears to have a lock on the Orange berth opposite Nebraska. Southeastern Conference starwatts Tennessee, Kentucky, Auburn, LSU and Florida all are possibilities for the Cotton and Sugar bowls and Syracuse also has been mentioned.

Two Are Tied For District Scoring Lead

The race for individual scoring honors in District 2-AAAA has gone right down to the wire. Frankie Stringer of San Angelo and Tim Thurman of Abilene High are now tied for first place in the derby, each with a total of 60 points, and Tony Conley of Odessa Permian is still very much in contention.

Conley has scored 50 points and closes out this week against Odessa High. Stringer will be pitted against Big Spring while Thurman will try to up his total against Abilene Cooper.

Rudy Bukich Earns Spurs

NEW YORK (AP) — Any pre-season rating of the quarterbacks in the National Football League would have placed Rudy Bukich of the Chicago Bears among the also-rans. But the much-traveled veteran quickly earned his way back into the top echelon.

Although Bukich's yardage of 1,609 is topped by four other quarterbacks, he has clicked for 16 touchdowns while completing 109 of 188 thrown. Most important, Bukich has been intercepted only five times.

Jim Brown moved into the 1,000-yard class for the seventh time and moved almost 500 yards ahead of his closest competitor in the runaway race for the rushing title.

WESTBROOK — Westbrook and Norton split a basketball double header here Tuesday night.

Norton's boys fought back to win, 58-47, after the Westbrook girls had kayoted the visitors, 64-18. The Westbrook ferns now have a 6-3 record.

Norton's girls stayed close to the home team in the first period, trailing, 14-12, at that time. The Wildcats built up a 38-13 lead at half time, however, and were leading, 51-17, after three periods.

Darlene Lankford again led Westbrook with 23 points while Nickie Horton had 13 for Norton. Elmer McMahan paced the Westbrook boys with 22 points while Leon Jansa scored 18 for the visiting Eagles.

Norton led at the end of the first quarter, 12-11, trailed at half time, 23-22, at half time, then pulled into a 31-31 tie with the Cats after three quarters.

Coach Sam Scroggins Wildcats play host to Roby Friday night. Westbrook will enter its first tournament at Colorado City Dec. 9-10-11.

Fireworks Expected In Playoff Battle

ANDREWS — Two coaches off would make the pro teams. Rip Sewell of Plains and Spike Dykes of Coahoma—struck a match to a long fuse this week and a whole house full of fireworks will explode here Saturday night in a B-District playoff game in Mustang Stadium.

The Plains Cowboys, champions of District 5-A, and the Coahoma Bulldogs, winner of District 6-A, will square off.

Fireworks will fill the air as these two powerhouses climax an already explosive season.

Coahoma goes into the clash undefeated in 10 games while Plains dropped only one non-conference game to Friona, the champion of District 3-AA.

Both teams shattered the record books during the regular season and the feats they pulled attack "go." He described the Cats' regular quarterback as a "boy with wonderful poise."

He likes to hit his receivers in the flat with a fast pass," the Big Spring scout said, "and he's a fine passer."

Despite its one point defeat at the hands of Odessa Permian last week, San Angelo is still the highest scoring team in Class AAAA in West Texas and remains a club capable of running up a lot of points.

Robbins had words of praise for the effort his Steers made against Odessa High last week. The locals won that one, 21-0.

Robbins Caldwell, Yogi Anderson, Wesley Ballou, Wayne Nail, Gary Phillips, James Carver, Glenn Biffar, Berry King, Bob Griffin, Wayne Kennedy, Kirby Horton, Jerry Wilson and Gregg Pate among others were given unstinting praise by the coach.

Action films of the Steer-Broncho game were screened and Odessa seemed to put up much more resistance in the film than they did in the game. That, no doubt, was caused by the fact that the local fans began to breathe easier after the Longhorns had built up their three-touchdown lead the first half.

The Bronchos kept trying to get on the scoreboard. The Steers merely seemed content to keep them away from the end zones after going out in front, 21-0.

Stan Ballou, QBC co-captain, reminded his listeners that next week's meeting of the booster organization was very important in that the date would be set for the annual banquet honoring the Steers. In addition, he said, officers for the next year would be elected.

the country by many, but there are too many Arkansas defenders. Southern California over UCLA: The West Coast Rose Bowl berth will go to the winner, and Mike Garrett makes it Trojan property.

Missouri over Kansas: If the Missouri Tigers aren't too busy anticipating their visit to the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day, Florida over Miami: Steve Spurrier to find the holes in the Miami defensive alignment.

Princeton over Dartmouth: It will be played in an Ivy League setting but they will be hitting as if it were a pro contest. Probably a field goal by Charley Gogolak will decide it.

Michigan over Ohio State: A close one. Harvard over Yale: Not much difference, but Harvard appears to have the stronger defense.

Stanford over California: The rated the best running back in home field decides.

SAYS ROBBINS

'Big Effort Is Needed Friday'

"It's been a long season and the boys are tired," head coach Don Robbins said at Tuesday night's meeting of the Quarterback club. "They were badly bruised last week and we've been working in sweat clothes this week."

Robbins said he had asked his boys to make one more "big effort"—against San Angelo Friday night. He was encouraged, and the Steers had shown in practice this far.

"The spring is just coming for to the boys' legs and we don't want to take any more chances on losing any of them," the head coach of the Longhorns told his listeners.

Cliff Patton, who scouted San Angelo for the Longhorns, described the Bobcats as a "different club" this year over those of the past.

He pointed out that the Cats specialized in the use of "belly options" two years ago and last year ran off the Diamond Friday for nine games—before they got to Big Spring, when they reverted to the offense they had used in '63.

This year, Patton revealed, the Bobcats were operating from a Slot Formation, with only two backs directly back of center. San Angelo lists no fullback on its program.

The San Angeloans can look very ordinary for five or six plays, Patton said, but then they will spring someone and he'll be gone.

"The only way we can stop them is with good pursuit," Patton said "Each man will have to do his job on every play."

Patton said the Bobcats have not one but three fine quarterbacks, any one of whom is capable of making the San Angelo

Tulsa In Demand As Bowl Team

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa Coach Glenn Dobbs said Tuesday night three bowl selection committees — the Bluebonnet, Liberty and Sun bowls — are considering offering the Hurricanes a post-season football game bid.

Dobbs said Tulsa is interested in playing a representative team "somewhere where the boys could enjoy themselves and we could be assured of a good crowd."

But Dobbs said "our human error in having a bad day against Oklahoma State hurt us tremendously" in the eyes of bowl team selectors.

Going into that Stanton tilt, Cooke has scored 22 touchdowns. He galloped 88 yards against Sunday and returned a kickoff 94 yards against Tahoka. He has grabbed two passes this year—one for a TD—intercepted two more and returned nine kickoffs for 266 yards—an average of 29.5 yards.

Halfback Ronnie Elmore ran 63 yards against Sunday and Quarterback Bobby Taylor threw a 70-yard touchdown pass to Alvie Faulkenberry in the Wink game. Elmore had caught six passes for 111 yards and one TD and intercepted nine aeriels for 88 yards and another TD this season.

Halfback Greg Jones returned a punt 57 yards against O'Donnell and Butch Gayle booted a 30-yard field goal against Sunday.

Quarterback Taylor passed 43 times, completing 15 for 316 yards and four touchdowns. Here is the way those two offensive giants of Class A stacked up against opponents this year:

Top Divisions End Play This Weekend

The district campaign winds up this week in the upper divisions of Texas schoolboy football with 17 champions to be named in the last go-round. Class AAAA, which has decided only six district representatives to the state playoffs—Odessa-Permian, Lubbock Montezuma, Wichita Falls Rider, Fort Worth Arlington Heights, Texarkana and Nederland—must name 10 more this week. Class AAA has decided nine, with seven more to be determined. Already on the line in AAA are Dumas, Odessa Ector, Lamesa, Weatherford, Conroe, Bay City, Dickinson, San Marcos and Donna.

Chamberlain Is Closing In On Scoring Record

Wilt Chamberlain, the $100,000 star of the Philadelphia 76ers, can reach another milestone in his fabulous pro basketball career at Cincinnati tonight. The 7-foot-1 Big Dipper, as he prefers to be called, needs to score 33 points against the Royals to become the second-highest scorer in National Basketball Association history. Now in his seventh NBA season, Chamberlain has a career total of 19,217 points, 32 short of the 19,249 Dolph Schayes tallied in his 16 NBA seasons. Schayes now is coach of the 76ers. Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, who retired after last season, his 11th in the NBA, is the league's No. 1 all-time scorer with 20,880 points. Chamberlain closed in on Schayes' total with 30 points Tuesday night as he rallied the 76ers to a 107-98 victory over St. Louis, their fifth straight. New York routed Detroit 129-95 to snap a four-game losing streak in the other game of the double-header at New York's Madison Square Garden. John Havlicek's 20-foot jump shot in the last 15 seconds gave the Boston Celtics a come-from-behind 108-105 victory over the San Francisco Warriors on the Pacific Coast in the other NBA game scheduled Tuesday. At one point, San Francisco led by 16 points.

Forsan Fems Win, 54-36

FLOWER GROVE—Forsan's girls won their sixth straight basketball game here Tuesday night, 54-36, leading all the way. Jody Dodd tossed in 27 points for the Buffalo Queens while Cindy Dykes paced the Dragons with 18. In the back courts, Patsy Gooch, Sara Findley and Valancia Conway excelled for Forsan. The Forsan B team also won, 35-22, in a game which saw Claudia Davis pour in 14 points and Ann Harrell seven for Forsan. Mary Pihyla of Flower Grove paced all scorers with 22 points. The Forsan reserves are currently 5-0. Coach James Blake takes his Forsan fems to Abilene Wylie Saturday night for a game with Leaders.

Nuclear Power Plant Scheduled

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida Power & Light Co. has announced plans to build a $100-million nuclear power generating plant, larger than any now operating in the world, 25 miles south of Miami. The plant will have a maximum rating of 760,000 kilowatts.

Stretch Of Arizona Desert Combed For Body Of Girl

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — In a stretch of desert just outside

southern Arizona's biggest city, a search goes on for the body of a pretty Alleen Rowe.

The 15-year-old girl's mother, Mrs. Norma Rowe, identified two metal hair curlers uncovered at the spot Tuesday as those of her daughter. Alleen was wearing the curlers when she disappeared May 31, 1964.

Two young people charged with murdering Alleen helped officers in the search, but their attorneys said they would not allow John Saunders, 19, and Mary Rae French, 18, to go back today.

TWO RINGS
Alleen reportedly was wearing two rings, and Sheriff Waldon Burr said he would use a metal detector today to hunt for her shallow grave.

Officers said the grave may be deeper now because of an unusual amount of rain that fell in Tucson last year. Rains could have moved a large amount of sand from higher areas, to where the grave was dug.

The possibility that the girl's body could have been moved by one of her attackers also was being considered, officers said.

Although the girl's mother said her daughter had told her of a teenaged sex club which she refused to join, police discounted this.

"There is nothing to substantiate her belief at this time," Police Chief Bernard Garmire said.

TRO CHARGED
An informer told police that Alleen was killed by Saunders, Miss French and Charles Schmid, 23, Garmire said. All three were charged with murdering her and were jailed without bond.

Schmid, a former gymnastics champion, also has been charged with murdering two other girls. The bodies of Gretchen Fritz, 17, and Wendy Fritz, 13, daughters of a prominent Tucson surgeon, were recovered last week after the same informer had led officers to the scene.

Moon May Contain Gems Within Crust

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — A scientist says the moon, generally believed to be a dry and barren chunk of rock, may have water and diamonds in its crust.

Nobel Prize-winning chemist Harold C. Urey told science writers Tuesday that the heat and pressure he believes created the moon from space gas and dust also would have formed diamonds on or near its surface.

BROAD PLAINS
The same theory of the moon's origin leads to the possibility that water, condensed from gases, may lie beneath the moon's surface.

Upward seepage of this water, Dr. Urey said, may explain the broad flat plains on the moon which resemble dried-up ocean beds.

Ancient astronomers thought the plains were large bodies of water and called them maria, the Latin word for seas.

Dr. Urey won the 1934 Nobel Prize for discovering deuterium, an element of the hydrogen bomb.

WATER TUBES
He said some of the craters on the moon's surface may not be volcanoes, but the openings of tubes through which water has gushed to the surface.

Urey had no estimate of the quantity or value of any diamonds that might be found by Apollo astronauts scheduled to land on the moon before 1970.

He said one theory of the moon's evolution indicated the proper pressure, heat and materials to create diamonds — primarily carbon — were present when the moon was formed.

Thomas Joins Veterans Leaving Post Office

Alden Thomas, with 36 years-service behind him in the Big Spring Post Office, has joined four of his fellow veterans in plans to retire within the next three weeks.

Thomas will leave his post in the office in mid-December.

Four others, headed up by E. C. Boatler, postmaster, will retire effective Dec. 1. The others are Bob Nunn, A.-C. Preston and Ervin Daniels.

The retirement of the old-timers is impelled by the provisions of a newly enacted law which makes it advantageous to the individual to step out now rather than wait until another year or two has passed. Several hundred thousand postal workers are expected to take advantage of the retirement opportunity between now and Dec. 31.

Boatler said the removal of the five veteran members from the post office staff will pose a problem in the office operation.

The five will leave their jobs at the very time the grand rush of Christmas mail will be building up.

In the past few years no effort has been made to hire extra help during the Christmas rush. The plan followed here permitted regular staff members to work extra hours and pick up overtime pay. This season, however, with five experienced hands missing, the post office has applied for, and been granted, permission to employ extra help if needed.

Boatler will be succeeded by Frank Hardesty, who has been appointed acting postmaster. It will be Hardesty's decision on how many extra workers may be needed to handle the Christmas mail.

Lt. Col. Charles H. Cole Jr., chief of operations division at Webb since August, 1964, has been transferred to the 401st Tactical Fighter Wing at England Air Force Base, La.

Before reporting in at England, he will attend the F-100 school at Luke Air Force Base, Ariz., through April, 1966. The family will be with him there. The Coles have a home in Glendale, Ariz.

In July, 1945, he was back in the States, again at Luke, staying on to close that base in January, 1947.

Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, the present premier.
