Go, Sukarno Tells U. S. Newsmen

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno today ordered all American correspondents expelled from Indonesia. Sukarno issued the order in a speech at a ceremony installing the new Indonesian ambassador to Syria, H. M. Sudjono. The president said he has decided to expel American correspondents from Indonesia in retaliation for lies he said were being written in the American press about the current Indonesian political crisis.

TWO BASED THERE
There are now two American correspondents based in Indonesia: R. E. Staniard of United Press International and Donald Kirk, representing the New York Times. Antoine Yared of The Associated Press is a Lebanese. "They also say," Sukarno declared, "that (defense minister Gen. Abdul Haris) Nasution has become supreme commander of Koti (the supreme operations command). I am still the supreme commander of Koti. "Go to hell with your lies," he added. OFFICIAL ORDERS

Sukarno then turned to First Deputy Premier Subandrio, who is also foreign minister, and said: "I order you, Subandrio, to kick out all American correspondents from Indonesia. This is our country. We do not want foreign correspondents writing untrue things about Indonesia." Subandrio later told newsmen he did not know yet whether the president's expulsion order would also affect newsmen of other countries working for American news organizations. EXTENT UNKNOWN
He also said he did not know whether the ban would be applied to American news organizations or would be limited only to individuals, and whether it would be permanent or temporary. Subandrio said he would have to take up all these points with the president for clarification.

Thai Invasion Of Laos Told

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported today that "substantial numbers" of Thai troops have invaded Laos, apparently to prevent Communist troops there from making contact with Pro-Communist insurgents in Thailand. The newspaper said another possible mission of the Thai troops is to block North Vietnamese infiltration of South Viet Nam by way of the so-called Ho Chi Minh Trail. This route runs along the eastern edge of Laos where it parallels Viet Nam.

Dispatch, said U.S. military commanders in Southeast Asia were "fully informed" about the Thai moves. "Observers believe that the Thai action is coordinated and possibly assisted by the United States," Dudman wrote. "They relate it to American discussions of plans to use U.S. troops to enter Laos through Thailand and sever the infiltration routes." The newspaper said the Thai troop operations began several weeks ago. It said U.S. State Department officials denied any knowledge of the action but that the Pentagon "appears to be fully informed."

District Lowers Rate To Cities

Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder can look for slightly lower water rates from the Colorado River Municipal Water District during 1966. The projected 3 of a cent per thousand gallons reduction, however, is not apt to affect rates of cities to their customers. Directors of the CRWMD established rates to member cities at a meeting in Big Spring Tuesday morning, but the actual rate per thousand gallons cannot be known until the end of the year when consumption figures are known. Odessa's fixed charge was pegged at $4,052.33 per month. Big Spring at $20,303.67 and Snyder $5,136.33 per month. In addition, the cities pay six cents per thousand gallons for all water delivered to them. During 1965, Odessa's actual rate figured out 22.16 cents per thousand or .38 of a cent less than had been estimated. The Big Spring rate of 15.53 cents was .35 of a cent more than had been projected because the city's consumption dropped below estimates. Snyder's 14.31 cents was .07 of a cent less than had been estimated for the year. The fixed charges for 1966 were modified by applying $100,000 of revenues from sale of water to oil companies. These charges are arrived at by a formula in which cities share in production and general expense in the ratio to consumption and in capital and delivery expense in the ration and consumption plus a factor for distance from source. Directors named Eastman Dillon Union Securities and Co. as fiscal agent to handle its forthcoming revenue bonds, the same firm that handled the previous three issues of the district. O. H. Ivie, general manager, was instructed to proceed with preparation of a bond prospectus for selling revenue bonds to finance the new lake near Robert Lee. In a progress report, Ivie told the directors the survey for the lake site is 80 per cent complete and that land appraisals are coming along well. Following Tuesday's meeting, the directors left for Robert Lee to make an on-site inspection of the project.

New Cool Front Heads For State

By The Associated Press
One cold front broke up without chilling Texas appreciably and another bore down toward the state today. Light breezes fanned most areas and temperatures remained mild for this time of year. Early morning marks edged down to freezing or a little below at some points in the Panhandle and far West Texas while coastal sections had readings in the 50s. HEAVY FOG
Rather heavy ground fog enfolded some Central and East Texas areas before daylight. Points in the fog belt included

Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and Beaumont. A weak front which pushed into the southern part of the state Monday already had dissipated. PANHANDLE BRAVES
Forecasts called for another batch of cool air to push into the Panhandle-Plains sector by Wednesday but no cooling was predicted elsewhere in the state. Light rain or drizzle was expected along the coast and in South Central and Southeast Texas tonight and Wednesday, and widely scattered showers were in prospect for North Central and Northeast Texas by Wednesday.

DAILY TEXAN REPORTS KKK UNIT FORMED

U.S. 'Direct Contact' With Hanoi Bared

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional panel planned to question CIA Director William F. Raborn today on the newly announced direct U.S. diplomatic contact with Hanoi. The Central Intelligence Agency chief was to brief a joint subcommittee on the CIA at mid-afternoon on the Johnson administration's Viet Nam peace offensive. Secretary of State Dean Rusk had been scheduled to brief the House Foreign Affairs Committee this morning on the Viet Nam situation. But he left for India shortly after midnight as a member of the U.S. delegation to the funeral of Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

LIMITS NEWS
Presidential press secretary Bill D. Moyers disclosed the U.S.-North Vietnamese contact late Monday but refused to tell more — including how, when or where it came about. It was learned that a U.S. diplomat met for a few minutes with a Hanoi representative and handed him a message concerning U.S. proposals for peace in Viet Nam. The two officials were reported to have exchanged routine remarks, but not to have engaged in any substantive negotiations. Johnson has offered unconditional discussions. To this the Communists have not yet given a significant response through diplomatic channels, it was stated. Publicly, the Reds are continuing to berate the United States as the aggressor in Viet Nam.

BOMBING HALT
The U.S.-North Vietnamese meeting was said to have occurred some time ago. Johnson's current peace campaign began Dec. 24 with the halt in air strikes against North Viet Nam targets. Hanoi's receipt of the U.S. communication this time — during last May's bombing pause it refused a U.S. message sent through the British — was not regarded as significant here pending a reply from the North Vietnamese capital. At least a dozen Communist and non-Communist countries have both U.S. and North Vietnamese diplomats accredited at their capitals. While Moyers declined to hint at the site of the contact, he lifted the administration's secrecy on its diplomatic efforts slightly when asked about the statement of three Americans just returned from an unauthorized trip to Hanoi.

DIRECT CONTACT
The White House spokesman said the three — Yale Professor Staughton Lynd and two others — were "incompletely informed" in asserting that there had been no direct U.S. government contact with Hanoi. Moyers said it was a "safe deduction" that there had been direct contact. That the mediators make specific recommendations for a settlement; that a fact-finding commission be appointed to

Shastri Body Flown Home For Cremation

Nanda Succeeds Indian Minister

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Millions of mourning Indians packed the streets of New Delhi today as the body of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was brought home for cremation beside the sacred Jumna River. As representatives of governments hurried from around the world to attend the funeral rites Wednesday, the world's leaders poured in tributes to the frail little man who struggled for 19 stormy months after the death of Jawaharlal Nehru to lead this troubled land of 460 million people.

LAL BAHADUR SHASTRI

NEW MINISTER
Within hours after Shastri's death from a heart attack, India's new prime minister, Gulzarilal Nanda, promised to carry through his predecessor's final work—the peace pledge he signed with Pakistan a few hours before he died.

(Related story on Page 7)

Shastri, 61, died early today in the Soviet city of Tashkent. The 5-foot-2, 110-pound prime minister had signed a limited peace pact Monday with Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan agreeing to pull their forces back from territory seized during the September war between India and Pakistan. Nanda in a nationwide broadcast said Shastri died "after successfully concluding a mighty effort for peace. We shall honor the agreement he made and implement it faithfully."

ABOARD PLANE
A Soviet plane bore the remains of the humble-born little leader across the Hindu Kush Mountains to India's dusty plains.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk flew from Washington for the funeral. They were accompanied by two former U.S. ambassadors to India, Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and John Kenneth Galbraith. Queen Elizabeth II sent Earl Mountbatten, last viceroy and first governor general of India, to represent her.

Tributes to Shastri poured in from many parts of the world. President Johnson said his death was a "grievous blow to the hopes of mankind for peace and progress." He said Shastri had "proved a fitting successor to Pandit Nehru by holding aloft the highest ideals of Indian democracy."

Kosygin hailed Shastri as "a great humanitarian of our time." British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, attending the Commonwealth conference on Rhodesia in Nigeria, said the loss of Shastri "will be felt throughout the Commonwealth, and indeed everywhere. His qualities of statesmanship, sincerity and integrity are valued."

Ayub Khan said he was deeply shocked and sorrowed. Shastri died at 1:32 a.m. — 2:32 p.m. EST Monday — in the villa where he was staying outside Tashkent. Aides said he had dined alone at 10:30 p.m., telephoned his family in New Delhi, and went to bed half an hour later but could not sleep. At about 1:20 a.m., the prime minister was seized by a coughing spell and staggered into the hall crying, "Doctor, doctor." His staff, packing to leave Tashkent today, put their chief back to bed and summoned his personal physician Dr. R.N. Chugh. The doctor said Shastri lost consciousness three minutes later and stopped breathing at 1:32. A team of eight Soviet physicians joined in unsuccessful attempts to revive the Indian leader.

Dallas Jewel Thefts Laid To Austin Gang

DALLAS (AP)—Officers blamed a daring band of Austin-based thugs today for the thefts of an estimated $1 million in jewels from fashionable North Dallas homes.

The thefts have occurred during the past decade largely in the Preston Hollow area. The gang also has operated throughout the Southwest, said police intelligence reports on its operations.

"POLICE KNOW"
"We know some of the gang have made some of our Preston Hollow jobs," said Capt. Walter Fannin, head of the Burglary and Theft Bureau. "I can't prove it. But we know they were there," he added.

Building a case against the gang has been a combined operation of the Dallas police, state police and departments of other cities, the Dallas Times Herald said today.

BANK BURGLARIES
Capt. Bob Crowder, who heads the Texas Rangers in Dallas, said a series of Texas bank burglaries may be the work of the gang.

The Times Herald said the gang has two leaders. One seems to take over in Texas and the other on out-of-state forays. Dallas officers said the gang made an unsuccessful attempt last year to take over the juke box business here.

BAWDY HOUSE
The gang reportedly took control of a house of prostitution outside Austin, the newspaper said.

Commonwealth Confab On Rhodesia Opened

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Commonwealth leaders began a two-day secret conference on Rhodesia today after most delegates indicated they were willing to wait and see whether economic sanctions bring down the rebel regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith.

But the delegates qualified this willingness in their arrival statements with a warning that other measures, including armed intervention, should be ruled out if the British-sponsored sanctions prove ineffective.

NOTHING RADICAL
No radical new policy moves toward the breakaway British colony were expected from this first commonwealth conference ever held outside London.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson was expected to remain firm against military intervention in Rhodesia and also was expected to resist setting any absolute time limit for the replacement of Smith.

ASSIST ZAMBIA
Sources said he was likely to call on commonwealth nations to assist Zambia, whose economy is tied to the Rhodesian railway, electric power, transport and telecommunication systems. Rhodesia has started rationing gasoline and a spokesman for the Dunlop rubber factory in Bulawayo, one of the country's largest industries, said Monday that trade sanctions will force the firm to go on a short work week starting Jan. 17.

stration in support of the New York transit strike that is now in its 11th day. Mrs. Quill's husband has been hospitalized since shortly after his arrest a week ago. (AP Wirephoto)

Transit Unionist Ired By Mayor's Proposals

NEW YORK (AP)—New means of settling New York's transit crisis are being explored under a get-tough policy laid down by Mayor John V. Lindsay. It was learned that a U.S. diplomat met for a few minutes with a Hanoi representative and handed him a message concerning U.S. proposals for peace in Viet Nam. The two officials were reported to have exchanged routine remarks, but not to have engaged in any substantive negotiations. Johnson has offered unconditional discussions. To this the Communists have not yet given a significant response through diplomatic channels, it was stated. Publicly, the Reds are continuing to berate the United States as the aggressor in Viet Nam.

URGES RETURN
Lindsay couped the last two alternatives with a recommendation that the strikers return to work pending final settlement. Sylvester Garrett, one of the three mediators, said regarding MacMahon's public rejection that he did not believe the union leader's statement "necessarily represented a full exposition of the union's views to the various alternatives."

DEFER CLAIMS
He contended Lindsay wanted to "defer our claims until the end of 1967 to give (Gov. Nelson A.) Rockefeller and Lindsay an opportunity to get together as far as their political problems are concerned and let the workers wait."

Sen. Ratliff To Seek Re-Election
AUSTIN (AP)—State Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford, said today he will file for re-election soon. Ratliff since 1955 has been 24th District senator. Under redistricting, the 24th District was enlarged from 13 to 21 counties.

Nuns Retrieve Car From Cong Hands

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Sisters of the Cross of Love have their car back in running order but it took five U.S. helicopters to do it.

The story goes back a year to the village of Xuan Thuan, 10 miles north of Qui Nhon and 260 miles northeast of Saigon, on the South China Sea coast. The Viet Cong seized the place and Sister Julienne, acting as mother superior, herded her handful of nuns out to safety. They left behind their little diesel-powered vehicle, but first stripped it of battery, distributor or cap and other vitals so it could not be operated. Bridges in and out of the village were down and the car couldn't get far anyhow. Two months ago Korean troops came back to Xuan Thuan but the bridges still were out and the village was an oasis surrounded by the Viet Cong.

The nuns went back to their convent base and found the vehicle useless. Sister Julienne is stubborn about things that are useless. Through Father Sanh in Qui Nhon she appealed for help.

The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division responded. Five choppers were lined up for the job. On went tires. Pathfinders secured the area. A Chinook hovered over the beat-up old vehicle, picked it up and brought it out. The rescued vehicle was landed in Qui Nhon and now is transporting children to school, running errands for the parish and is a generally pretty zippy addition to the work of the church.

Almost without exception a married couple will reduce their income tax by filing a joint return rather than separate returns.

But since there are situations where separate returns are advantageous, a safe rule of thumb is to try both methods. Then use the one that produces the smaller tax payment or greater refund.

SAVING RESULTS
Here are some typical cases where saving results from the use of separate returns.

A young husband and wife each has a small income and standard deductions. The combined tax on separate returns frequently is a few dollars less than the tax called for on a joint return.

Four From Ship Rescued

NEW YORK (AP) — An American freighter reported today she had rescued four men from a stricken Spanish freighter in the stormy North Atlantic, the Coast Guard said.

The rescued seamen said they had seen 18 other crewmen in lifeboats and five on a liferaft.

That left 11 of the 38 crewmen of the Monte Palomares unaccounted for.

The Coast Guard said other crewmen of the ship, which was abandoned Monday, might be in lifeboats or rafts not sighted by the four survivors who were plucked from a raft.

SEARCH SEAS
The message from the rescue ship, the Steel Maker, was relayed to the Coast Guard by an Air Force plane.

Two ships were searching the seas around the Monte Palomares. They were the Penitencia, a French ore carrier, and the Thuro Maersk, a Danish refrigerated cargo ship.

The Coast Guard dispatched its cutter Escanaba Monday to aid the Monte Palomares, but the high seas damaged the cutter and delayed it.

The Coast Guard received a radio message from the Steel Maker Monday night saying it had sighted a small boat and "will attempt rescue."

HIGH SEAS
The Monte Palomares reported that its cargo of grain shifted in the high seas and strong wind and the ship developed a 30-degree list.

The Monte Palomares — one of two freighters caught in the storm and asking help — reported at 4:27 p.m. Monday that it was listing badly and would have to abandon ship shortly. It gave its position as 840 miles east-northeast of Bermuda.

Two planes were also sent to the Monte Palomares, which was en route to Spain from Norfolk, Va.

HEALTH FOR '66

By Halvard T. Hansen, D.C.
More and more is being heard about the so-called slipped or herniated spinal disc, and the results obtained on this type of case under chiropractic care are very encouraging. A recent research study of 1,000 slipped or herniated disc cases under chiropractic care showed the following:

88.7 per cent of the cases became well or greatly improved.
7.9 per cent were slightly improved.
Thus 96.6 per cent of all cases became well or showed some improvement under chiropractic care.

This research study also shows that the sooner cases start chiropractic care the more complete their results will be.

There is much evidence that diagnosis of "herniated disc" is a catch-all for many low back disabilities. In extreme income and one of them has considerable medical expense for the year. Since such expenses for taxpayers under 65 are deductible only after they exceed three per cent of income, a greater deduction is possible on the separate return.

A husband and a wife each had a sizable capital loss for the year. On a joint return they would be limited to a $1,000 net capital loss. On separate returns each might be eligible for the $1,000 loss.

GAINS, LOSSES
Or, one of the mates could have a capital gain and the other a capital loss for the year. On separate returns the gain could receive favored capital gains treatment (only one-half taxable if it was a long-term transaction) and the full $1,000 net capital loss could be claimed on the other return.

There is one cardinal rule in the filing of separate returns: Each spouse must itemize his individual deductions or each must use the 10 per cent standard or the minimum standard deduction. Of course, the standard deduction is limited to $500 on separate returns of married persons.

A joint return may be filed even though only one of the spouses had taxable income for the year. Whenever a joint return is filed it MUST include ALL the income of each of the spouses.

NEVER ADDED
Furthermore, a joint return may be filed only by a husband and wife. A widow may not file a joint return with her wage-earning son. And income of your dependent children is NEVER added to your income on your tax return.

Where one of the marriage own income, exemptions and deductions.

In those two years after death no exemption credit may be taken for the deceased person. Nevertheless, a reduced tax will result because of the income-splitting features and lower rates in Tax Schedule II.

NEWLYWEDS
A tip to newlyweds: Perhaps the husband and wife who were married toward the end of the year may have been college students for most of the year and were supported by their parents. Before filing a joint return each should check with his or her dad. If the bride and groom file separate returns, the parents of each may still be entitled to claim the son or daughter as a dependent for the year. But as soon as the newlyweds file a joint return they close the door to that possibility.

Negro Home Blaze Death Stirs Probe

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)

The death of a Negro civil rights leader from burns suffered when his rural home and store were set afire has touched off an investigation by federal, state and local authorities.

"What happened to us can happen to anybody, white or black," said Vernon Dahmer in a deathbed interview Monday.

"The full resources of the Justice Department will be made available until the persons responsible are identified and apprehended," said Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach in Washington.

JOINT EFFORT

"We hope and urge that people of good will of both races will join together in a mutual effort against lawless minorities which seek to destroy the respect and understanding from which the majority of our citizens are working," said Mayor Paul E. Grady and President Selby C. Bowling of the county supervisors board in a joint statement.

Dahmer talked to newsmen before he died. He said he had been awakened about 2:30 a.m. by gunshots. He said he grabbed a shot gun and fired several times at a car before fleeing with his family from his burning house.

SNOW WAFTS

Temperatures were below freezing all over New England

Arctic Blast Numbs North

By The Associated Press

A blast of arctic air blustered out of the Midwest toward the Northeast today, leaving behind frigid temperatures whipped by raw winds.

Northwesterly gales and snow squalls preceded the frigid invasion across the northern and eastern Great Lakes, the second blast of arctic air in three days.

The snow and lower temperatures reached into the northern Appalachians.

TEN BELOW

The temperature failed to rise above 10 below zero Monday in International Falls, along the Minnesota-Canadian border. The temperature dropped to -39 before daybreak today.

In Illinois, the temperature dropped to 5 to 10 in the Chicago area. Normally mild Southern Illinois shivered in similar temperatures.

Among Monday's highs in Wisconsin were -1 in Park Falls, zero in Wausau, -4 in Superior.

Snow squalls pestered the areas along Lake Superior and Lake Michigan in Michigan Monday and continued through the night.

Temperatures were below freezing all over New England held readings into the 60s and 70s across much of the Florida peninsula. A half inch of rain fell in Cocoa, Fla., Monday night.

U. S. Troops Mop Up On Rear-Guard Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Large forces of disoriented U. S. troops mopped up today in two big Viet Cong hide-outs northwest of Saigon and in the central highlands near the Cambodian frontier after the bulk of guerrillas once more had escaped into the jungles.

For U. S. officers the operation by more than 8,000 Americans and Australians 35 miles from the capital was particularly annoying. Although they raised the Viet Cong death toll to 84 and captured 38 in the four days of Operation Crimp, they had hoped for far better results from the biggest American offensive of the war.

MOST VANISH
Their goal was to snare a

Communist regiment on the edge of the Iron Triangle, an old guerrilla redoubt that has been Communist territory since the days of the French Indochina war. But only rear-guard elements put up a fight while the main enemy force vanished.

Paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade took on one guerrilla band in a brisk fight Monday and killed 29 Communists, U. S. spokesmen reported. Another 16 bodies were found after an air attack.

Soldiers of the 1st Infantry Division killed six more guerrillas in a 20-minute gun battle when the Reds tried to protect a large tunnel containing 15 bales of cotton and six tons of rice.

San River, the border with Cambodia 40 miles west of Pleiku. A big cooking kettle still simmered. A Viet Cong brigadier general left behind a small satchel with a single star pinned to it and his toothbrush and Operation Ripping Mustang brought the 1st Cavalrymen within 100 feet of the Cambodian border, and some of the 1st Cavalry's helicopters swooped down on the river to sink a Communist sampan. Heretofore, the American troops were under orders to keep at least three miles from the border to avoid charges from Cambodia of territory violation. In most areas, the border is poorly defined in the thick forests.

As a sergeant stood on the river bank in a clearing, he pointed to caves on the Cambodian side and said: "I'll bet

Charlie (the Viet Cong) is watching us from over there."

At some spots the river is 50 feet wide.

The helicopters fired rockets and machine guns at a sampan camouflaged with vegetation in the river, and Lt. Col. Kenneth Mertei of Eugene, Ore., the battalion commander, said secondary explosions erupted as the boat sank.

Only light contact with the enemy was reported today.

A South Vietnamese battalion killed 30 Viet Cong and seized eight weapons in a push 65 miles south of Saigon near Than Tan, the spokesman said.

Other Vietnamese troops were continuing the hunt for 400 guerrillas who inflicted moderate losses on government columns early Monday east of Xuan Loc, 40 miles east of Saigon. The troops were protecting farmers preparing for the rice harvest.

A dozen guerrillas opened fire Monday night on a guard tower two miles southeast of the huge Nha Be fuel storage dump on the outskirts of Saigon. The government forces beat off the attackers without casualties, a Vietnamese military spokesman said.

The moratorium on bombing

North Viet Nam went into the 19th day, but U.S. planes gave no breather to Communist targets in the South. Air Force and Navy jets flew 281 sorties against Viet Cong targets Monday.

Hanoi radio charged that two U.S. helicopters attacked and sank a South Vietnamese ferry boat last Saturday, killing more than 200 persons. Vietnamese sources in Saigon said this may have been an exaggerated account of an attack by a U.S. helicopter on a civilian motor boat in the Saigon River 60 miles northwest of Saigon last Friday.

Pipeline Fire Fatal To Two

LAROSE, La. (AP) — Fire spewed from a major gas pipeline with a thunderous roar Monday, killing two workmen and burning five others critically.

Three more escaped with minor injuries.

Flames leaped more than 250 feet skyward from a pit at a newly built transmission line during a four-hour outburst. It could be seen for 20 miles.

C. R. Lipscomb of Centerville, Miss., and Dennis Bellar of DeQuincy, La., died in the fire.

Hospitalized with burns over more than 70 per cent of their bodies were Fred Bates and H. D. Van Winkle of DeQuincy, George Allen of Centerville, Richard Morman of Baytown, Tex., and Bobby W. Moulton of Beaumont, Tex.

The flash fire occurred beside a 36-inch pipeline operated by Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. of Houston. A company official called it a "premature ignition occurring during a routine pipeline cleaning" operation by a 10-man crew.

Chamber Supports Stand Of MoPac

Missouri Pacific Railway system has the support of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce in opposing the proposed merger of the Union Pacific and Rock Island lines.

MoPac contends that it would suffer sharp revenue losses and that rail competition would be drastically curtailed if the proposal is allowed to stand by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Ed Neal, representative of Texas & Pacific Railway Company, predicted that substantial volumes of transcontinental traffic moving via T&P through here would be affected. This could, he said, result in considerable reduction of employment as well as in revenue loss.

Union Pacific, which stretches from Kansas City, Mo., westward with forks from Granger, Wyo., to Seattle and Los Angeles, wants to acquire the Rock Island system. R. I. fans tentacles southwestward from Kansas City to Tucumcari, N. M. and Houston, as well as from Alexandria, La. north to Little Rock, Ark. and Memphis, Tenn. and from Chicago to Colorado Springs, Colo. UP has proposed to sell Southern Pacific the R. I. lines from Kansas City to Tucumcari and to Fort Worth as well as the Memphis, Tenn.-Alexandria loop.

The effect of all this, T&P (and MoPac) contend, is to permit UP to divert traffic now routed via MoPac to its own new lines across country. MoPac would be practically frozen out of the picture to the point of having to curtail service, said Neal.

John Currie, incoming president of the chamber, announced appointment of Don Womack, A. Swartz, Marvin Miller, Jack Little and Col. Chester J. Butcher as directors for one year. The board also approved his plan to name vice-chairmen of committees and to permit committees to name executive committees within the larger panels.

About 350 tickets to the annual chamber banquet Saturday night have been sold. Carroll Davidson, manager, reported. He estimated an attendance of above 500 at the affair in Goliad Junior High Gymnasium. Charles A. Kothe, Tulsa, Okla., attorney, will be the speaker. Larry Crow, city manager, said the city commission had under advisement a proposal to discontinue parking meters.

Draft Laws 'Not To Be Barrier To Free Speech'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department official said in a letter made public today that the draft laws cannot be used to muzzle any "constitutionally protected" expression of views — such as student protests against U.S. actions in Viet Nam.

The letter, from Asst. Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr., was made public by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who had protested Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey's action to reclassify as 1A a number of University of Michigan youths involved in a draft board sit-in.

Hershey had told Hart in a letter that he was authorized by a presidential executive order to reclassify men "found to be delinquent under the Selective Service Act."

OPINION ASKED
Hart had asked the Justice Department to comment on that.

Vinson said in his letter that "we know of no executive order or of any pronouncement by this department indicating either concurrence or disagreement with the views expressed in General Hershey's letter or in the action taken by the (Selective Service) System."

Vinson added that "I am satisfied, as a matter of both law and policy, that sanctions of the Universal Military Training and Service Act cannot be used to stifle constitutionally protected expressions of views."

The sit-in students were convicted of trespass under an Ann Arbor, Mich., ordinance. But Hart said in his statement, "No court ever ruled that the Selective Service Act was violated — only Gen. Hershey. And he cites as his authority an executive order that the Justice Department says is non-existent."

CITES VIOLATIONS
Last month, without referring directly to the Michigan incident, Hershey had said:

"We must always distinguish between young men who engage in a legal demonstration of political views, and those who express those views by willfully violating the Selective Service law."

"To my knowledge, registrants have not been declared delinquent, with the resulting accelerated processing, because of participation in legal demonstrations of political views, nor has any such action been proposed by Selective Service officials."

Fancy Box Fails To Shoo Pigeons

By TOM BARRY

"What," said Peter Pigeon, long-time resident of Municipal Auditorium's east belfry, "is that odd-looking box in my house? It makes the funniest buzzing sound."

"It is evidently the latest attempt by that bunch of man-brains down in City Hall to evict us," said Plumetta, his plump pigeon partner. "I think the noise, dearie, is supposed to drive us crazy — something about ultra-high frequency waves. Makes me a bit jittery, but I don't think it'll work. Don't worry, Peter, we'll get used to it. Remember all the other things they've tried before? None of them worked either."

"WE'LL SEE"

"Well, we'll see, mon petit cochou, we'll see."

That conversation took place several weeks ago, and true to Mrs. Pigeon's prediction, they all got used to it. In fact, they seem to have adopted it.

"It" is known as "Bird X," and is the latest result of scientific machinations aimed at keeping birds off buildings. Installed in the belfry several weeks ago on a trial basis by city management big-wigs, it has proved a total failure. All it did was keep the pigeons of City Hall company.

For a few days the pigeon population stayed away from the little box — all the way to the other side of the building. Flutter, flutter. Then the birdies moved in on it, finding it does them no harm. They were cuddled near it almost lovingly

Monday, Co. Co.

DIDN'T BUY IT

Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, is glad he did not actually buy the thing. He is not all afflutter about it, though.

"We got it on a trial basis, and we're sending it back to the factory," he said Monday.

However, the city has not gone totally to the birds. The management feels hope springs eternal, just like taxes.

Horatio of the moment is Fire Chief H. V. Crocker, who has Ordinance, in the form of a fireman, working on a pigeon penitentiary.

Remembering someone in city employ once built a sparrow-trap, which caught sparrows in flocks, Crocker suggested a trap be built along those lines, only much bigger.

Down in the main fire station, E. G. Miller has been laboring away at a screen-wire pigeon trap. It will have, like the sparrow trap, a counter-balanced trap door right in front of a feed-box. When Peter Pigeon or his ilk sees the feed, it is hoped, he will hop onto the trap-door, the door will spring closed, and Lo! a plucked pigeon.

IF IT WORKS

Assuming it works (it will be placed on the auditorium roof), when several birds are collected, they will be taken far away, or sold, or something, and the city will await more victims.

If it doesn't . . . Ah, well: Ars longa, vita brevis . . . A bird in the hand . . . Salt might work.

Test Readied For Mightier Space Booster

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

The blockhouse at Saturn launch pad 34 — silent since March 28, 1963, when the fourth Saturn I rocket thundered aloft — is a beehive of activity again today as technicians prepare for the first test of an even mightier Saturn booster, the Saturn IB.

Since the fourth Saturn I roared into space, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has poured more than $7.5 million into renovating complex 34 for the taller, fatter and more powerful Saturn IB, second of the three generations of Saturn rockets.

PROGRESS MADE

While modifications were being made at complex 34, six Saturn I rockets rumbled skyward from complex 37. All 10 launches in NASA's Saturn I program were nearly flawless, and a $6.75-million contract has since been awarded by the Army Corps of Engineers' Naval District to get complex 37 ready for Saturn IB rockets also.

APOLLO ON NOSE

Riding on the nose of the first Saturn IB will be an Apollo spacecraft similar to the ones which will be one day carry three Americans to the moon.

NASA originally hoped to carry out the launch in December or January. A variety of technical problems now point to the first two weeks of February.

It will be the first of three unmanned tests of the Apollo on Saturn IB rockets this year. If all goes well, three astronauts may climb into a fourth Apollo late this year or early 1967 to take a test ride in earth orbit.

The first unmanned Saturn IB launch is scheduled to drill the Apollo spacecraft into a ballistic trajectory 5,000 miles down the Atlantic Test Range.

ORBIT TIROS

Between now and the first Saturn IB flight, NASA plans to orbit a picture-taking Tiros weather satellite. It will be the first of some 13 scientific satellites scheduled to ride aloft from Cape Kennedy on Delta rockets this year.

The launch, originally scheduled about Jan. 28, may be delayed about one week because of the late arrival of the spacecraft to the launch pad, project sources said.

DAILY WORKER'S SALES IN DECLINE

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Communist party has asked its 33,700 members to help find a new name for their struggling paper, the Daily Worker.

Sales of the paper, which first appeared 35 years ago, have dropped to 60,245. This is the lowest figure for two years. Recent issues have appealed urgently for donations from readers to keep it afloat.

West's opening bid of four spades left South no room for scientific investigation, and he was more or less obligated to compete blindly by bidding five diamonds. The alternative action is to double; however, it is unlikely that partner will name a suit at the five level, and South was reluctant to defend without having taken at least one bid.

West opened the king of spades which South ruffed. In the normal course of events, declarer might expect to restrict his losses to two tricks — one heart and one club. This assumption is based on finding the hearts divided three-two and one of the club honors being located in the West hand.

The king of hearts cleared that suit and the declarer led a small club, playing the nine from dummy. East was in with the queen, and now he was hopelessly end played. The forced club return eliminated South's other loser in that suit, and the declarer was able to confine his losses to one heart and one club.

War, Boom Link Noted

HOUSTON (AP) — Labor leader Harry Bridges predicts the Viet Nam war, which he says may last another 15 years, will help maintain the nation's current prosperity.

"Personally I think the war in Viet Nam is good for 10 to 15 years," Bridges told 150 federal mediators Monday. "So if you can depend on the war (for prosperity) the level of prosperity will stay high."

Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (West Coast) spoke on the opening day of a week-long seminar for the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. Another 150 mediators will convene here Feb. 7-11.

Bridges also told the mediators that collective bargaining will not solve the problem of automation. He said that when a machine replaces a worker, "we want a piece of the machine. I don't mean profit sharing, but we want a piece on top of wages and fringe benefits in a cash bonus if necessary."

Alabama Town Mulls Local Anti-Bias Law

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — Tuskegee's city council meets tonight to consider a proposal to halt "every form of segregation and discrimination" in public accommodations. Negro students say they plan to continue demonstrations.

A faculty group from Tuskegee Institute read its own version of the proposed law at a special council meeting Monday. The statement, read by Dr. Paul L. Puryear of the institute, listed service stations, bus stations, retail stores and restaurants, motels, private clubs and recreation areas as facilities which should be completely desegregated.

CONSIDER PROPOSAL

The committee also asked the city to invoke a $100 fine while closing for 90 days any business or facility found to have violated the proposed ordinance.

Council members agreed to consider the proposal at tonight's regular meeting.

Students attending the meeting said they plan to continue demonstrations regardless of whether the proposed law is adopted.

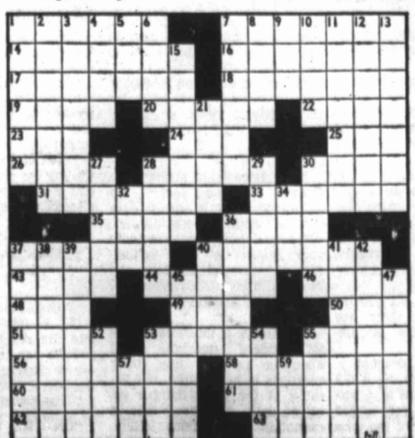

Earlier, Negro students carrying picket signs staged two demonstrations without incident.

A Devotional For The Day

The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple. (Psalm 119:130)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for Thy Word in our own language. Help us to do all we can to put it into languages of all Thy children. Help us to translate it into a Christian life-a-language all men can read. We pray in the name of Him of whom it speaks, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Don't Slow Basic Research

Scientific research, as with truth, seems destined to be one of the first casualties of war. The mounting commitment to Viet Nam has persuaded budget-makers to reduce the funds allocated to medical and scientific research.

The council of the American Association for the Advancement of Science took worried note of this development at its meeting in late December in Berkeley, Calif. It said that science "may be badly damaged in a society which gives an increasing share of its resources to military purposes."

Basic research, rather than technology, is likely to bear the brunt of this reallocation of resources. Non-scientists are least likely to appreciate the value of research which does not promise any practical applications. One of the weaknesses of American science, in fact, has been its massive application of technology, as in the space program, rather than preoccupation with advancing the frontiers of knowledge in such fundamental fields as the origin of matter and the nature of the universe.

The technology of tomorrow is dependent on the basic research of today, for basic research is the "seed corn" of scientific development. The basic researcher is almost never concerned with the practical uses of the discoveries he may make. He is concerned with pure theory—its proof or its refutation. He leaves his discoveries to the technologists to find a practical application.

In a nation as rich and resourceful as this it would be a tragic mistake to neglect basic research. We of this generation may not suffer from that neglect. But our successors will, and they well might blame us for it.

Project Worth Serious Study

A project which we feel should command itself for serious study, if not eventual execution, is the extension of Settles Street from its present south terminus so that the street will intersect Marcy Drive (FM 700).

From Goliad to Virginia, there is no access from city streets to the arterial belt that is Marcy Drive. This is a distance of 12 to 14 blocks. Much of the traffic west of Virginia must flow westward unless drivers prefer to drive sometimes as much as a quarter of a mile east to get on Virginia and then swing back to town. If traffic flows through regular city channels toward town, no small amount of it goes over Fifteenth, a through street that is now overburdened and with a particularly bad and potentially dangerous intersection at Goliad.

Terrain presents some problems, and there may be one building involved, but there are no real insurmountable problems in the way of opening Settles. We feel it would be beneficial to people in the southeast part of the city.

While We Waited, The Cost Has Gone Up

WASHINGTON—The Russians have "pulled a Cuba" on us in North Viet Nam.

When we failed to follow up at the Bay of Pigs, the Kremlin shipped heavy, sophisticated tactical weapons into Cuba and raised the cost of taking the island to a prohibitive figure in American lives—about 40,000 casualties, as estimated by the Pentagon.

NOW, OUR LONG hesitation to bomb the Hanoi-Haiphong area in North Viet Nam has again allowed the Russians to set an exorbitant price which we must pay for air attacks upon the enemy's capital city and principal shipping center. An estimate of what it will cost us in lives and aircraft lies in this statement by General

James P. McConnell, our Air Force chief of staff:

"In North Viet Nam, along the arteries of transportation and within a 30-mile radius of Hanoi, and a 5- to 10-mile radius of Haiphong, there is the greatest concentration of anti-aircraft weapons that has ever been known in the history of defense of any town, or any area, in the world."

THOSE MEASURED words by our top military airman go a long way toward explaining what President Johnson means by the "hard" decisions which must be taken if we are to carry the air war to the heart of the enemy's country. A more precise and still more chilling story evolves from this reporter's post-New Year's interviews at the Pentagon.

Until less than two years ago, our 600-aircraft fleet of B-52 bombers was equipped only with nuclear warheads. Toward the end of the '64 election campaign, President Johnson authorized that a number of B-52 strategic units (15 bombers plus 15 tankers to each unit) be re-equipped for carrying conventional bombs. These planes, known to be based at Guam and carrying 51 bombs of 750 pounds apiece in high explosives, were made available to General Westmoreland last June. There followed 125 raids on South Viet Nam targets during 1965. Except for one mid-air collision, which took two planes and nine lives on the first mission, there have been no losses.

BUT THE B-52's also have a "Go North" capability, and this is what will count if the President can't find a peace formula. We have no other heavy bombers to send against Hanoi-Haiphong. We have no non-nuclear missiles to substitute for manned aircraft. If the B-52's go into Hanoi-Haiphong at medium or high altitudes, they become fat targets for the Russian Surface to Air Missiles (SAMs)—called "Stage-Two Guidelines" in military parlance—the same types that were sent to Cuba.

THERE ARE 30 Guideline launchers known to be in the Hanoi-Haiphong area and others are elsewhere in North Viet Nam. They are radar launched, guided and detonated. Their speed is twice that of sound, their effective altitude is up to 82,000 feet and their slant range is 28 miles. We have already lost 10 aircraft to these Soviet missiles.

By coming into a target at 500 feet, the B-52's can get below the deadly radar aim of the Guideline SAMs. By utilizing night cover and bad weather, of which there is plenty in North Viet Nam, these bombers are not in great danger from ordinary ground fire. But Hanoi-Haiphong is ringed with Russian-made, rapid-fire, radar-controlled 57mm and 90mm anti-aircraft weapons.

IT WOULD NOT take a high attrition rate to make B-52 losses completely unacceptable. Our 600 planes have worldwide duties, and we have never deployed more than 30 out of our Pacific bases. The military question has to be: can we afford high losses to bomb Hanoi-Haiphong with conventional warheads? And the public question has to be: why did we hesitate until the Russians, as they did in Cuba, could make the price so high?

Pre-marital indulgence is not psychologically fulfilling. It is psychologically disastrous, not only because it engenders fear of pregnancy, and fear of rejection—if she does or she doesn't—but also because it causes many girls to pretend, not only to the boys but to themselves (which is infinitely worse) that sex is an acceptable element of dating.

It is a girl's nature to want affection, not sex, and in a boy's

Proof Of Soviet Pudding Is Still To Come

The Russians have been cooking up a spicy diplomatic pudding. It bubbles with possibilities, but the proof of that pudding is still to come.

Aggressive Kremlin diplomacy, seems centered on removing threats to peace on the Soviet doorstep in Asia.

Success or failure may depend upon establishing dominant influence in North Viet Nam. If a current Soviet mission to Hanoi should be rebuffed, there would be little hope of anything but continued war in Indochina and tense Soviet-American relations—which at the moment may not be in the national interests of either great power.

A LOOK at recent Soviet activity suggests an atmosphere of urgency on the part of the Soviet party and government chiefs, as if they might be laying their own leadership on the line.

From more than just a propaganda standpoint, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin scored a coup at Tashkent, where he persuaded the Indians and Pakistanis at least to talk about peaceful relations. President Johnson welcomed the result, but it is likely to enrage the Red Chinese.

The Russians have battered their way into the Viet Nam situation with a high-powered delegation whose aim, many qualified observers agree, is to outbid Peking for the loyalty of the Hanoi regime.

THE RUSSIANS have sent a first team, headed by party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, to Mongolia. The meaning will be lost upon the Red Chinese, who have been contesting with Moscow for influence in that Communist buffer between the U.S.S.R. and China.

The Russians appear to have clashed head-on with the Chinese in Cuba and to have won the upper hand at the so-called tricontinental anti-imperialist conference there. The Chinese already have made a public display of their anger.

All this provokes speculation that the present Soviet leadership has little expectation of reconciliation with Peking and now is trying to lessen the dangers that Chinese policies may pose for Soviet interests.

THIS WOULD not mean that Moscow has lost interest in fomenting revolution around the world. But it could mean that the Kremlin wants to be careful lest national interests be endangered in the process.

The biggest hurdles may still be ahead for Soviet diplomacy. The North Vietnamese regime has appeared to be dominated by pro-Chinese elements. Should Soviet influence be rebuffed, the Kremlin would be powerless to create a climate in which the Viet Nam war might be brought to a conference table.

Man's Castle Of Memories

NEW YORK (AP) — Every man's castle in Spain is his memory.

Such a castle has certain advantages. You can spend as much or as little time in it as you choose. It has no mortgage. You don't have to pay rent, taxes or upkeep. But the longer you live the more rooms there are in that castle. It keeps getting bigger all the time.

In any case, your castle of memories is pretty sizable if you can look back and remember when —

AT NIGHT, as you stared up at the bedroom ceiling, the reflected light from a car passing outside revealed leering faces in the wallpaper.

A mother was afraid to leave the family cat alone in the room with a baby for fear it would suck away the infant's breath. If something broke, you could always get the hired man to fix it — for half a dollar or less.

Unless the preacher put a lot of fire and brimstone in his sermon, his congregation felt he had let them down. You couldn't denounce the devil too often in those days. People felt he was putting in a 24-hour day tempting them individually.

HERE IN Manhattan, the horse cars were a slow form of transportation — but the horses never went on strike. Some farm women hated to visit a city doctor because it made them nervous to ride up to his office in an elevator.

A favorite sport in a small town was watching the local pool shark give a smart aleck traveling salesman his comeuppance.

Only gypsy women and high society ladies had pierced ears. Dogs ate table scraps and went through life without ever shaking paws with a veterinarian.

People would travel miles in a horse and buggy to listen to a politician make a speech from the back end of a wagon. After all, amusement was pretty limited.

IT WAS firmly believed by many that bankers earned most of their money by robbing orphans and foreclosing on widows.

The most awe-inspiring event at a state fair was the balloon ascension.

One of the predictable things about life was that a kid would have his tonsils taken out before he was old enough to wear long pants.

Girls with long hair combed it — regularly. Washed it regularly, too.

Around The Rim

Carl Magee And His Nickel Trap

This current talk about abolition of parking meters here reminds me of the contacts I had about 1928 with Carl Magee.

In case you didn't know, Carl Magee is the character who invented the parking meter. I'm sure he's dead now, but he must have made a pile off the gadgets.

CARL MAGEE was not only the inventor of the parking meter, but he was also a widely famous newspaper man of the '20's and '30's. He came into journalistic prominence in the Harding administration. He was editor of a New Mexico paper and published a series of expose articles which revealed the notorious Teapot Dome mess. This ultimately led to the conviction and imprisonment of Harding's secretary of the interior, Albert B. Fall.

However, at the time I knew him, this was all past history. He had been engaged by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers to be managing editor of the Oklahoma News. The News was established by Scripps-Howard to battle the entrenched position held by the Daily Oklahoma, Oklahoma City's newspaper giant, owned then (as now) by the redoubtable E. K. Gaylord.

MAGEE WROTE a column called "Turning on The Light" which was supposed to be real hot stuff. He had turned the light on Fall and the resulting scandal had rattled the nation.

At the time I encountered the famous Magee, Oklahoma was engaged in impeaching a governor. I was assigned to cover the impeachment. Mr. Magee sat next to me day after day at the three months session.

HE WOULD always make a belated entrance after the senate was in session. There would be a brief pause as all of the solons would stare at the famous crusading editor. He would take his seat at the press table and sit for hours listening to the testimony with a perfect air of complete boredom.

If he ever spoke to me or to any other of the 15 or 20 reporters at the table (except the other News staff men) during the trial I do not remember it. However, for the record, none of us bothered to speak to him. It used to make me just a little sick to my stomach, though, during the recesses to see state senators leave their desks and come over to press themselves on the great man's attention.

AT THAT TIME, Magee was working on his parking meter idea. The first parking meters to be put in use were in Oklahoma City. It was these meters that led to a famous lawsuit testing whether the municipalities could legally charge motorists to park at street curbs. The courts said the municipalities could, and we've had parking meters in almost every village, town and city since.

I SHED NO tears when Mr. Magee's flamboyant efforts to lick the Oklahoma fell apart at the seams, and Scripps moved him away. Later the News died quietly and things went on as they had since territorial days in Oklahoma's capital.

Magee departed. However, he left his mark—long rows of nickle-grabbing parking meters.

I HAVE HEARD city officials in many towns solemnly declare that the meters were solely to keep traffic moving and provide more parking space. Sometimes they would lament that motoring conditions had become complex enough to make meters necessary. I never felt this was a very sincere argument.

What they were more interested in was the money the gadgets would pour into the city treasury.

Hail and farewell, Carl Magee!

Political Elements In The Strike

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

(Substituting for Marquis Childs)

WASHINGTON — The New York transit strike from its outset has produced a skittering ballet of fancy political footwork as the forces of Mayor John V. Lindsay maneuvered to take him off a spot plainly marked X.

THE INDISPENSIBLE objective was to make absolutely certain that Lindsay's rival, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, did not move in to get credit for any possible settlement that the Mayor himself might be unable to arrange. A precondition was to draw the national administration of President Johnson into this local mare's nest. For in such an eventuality Lindsay could always say that even if he himself had been unable to get the subway running, the immensity of the problem was proved by the very fact that it took the entire United States government to do the job.

THIS INNER scene many national politicians — some of them naturally being bad, old Democrats but even more of them being good, regular Republicans — have watched with an intentness not free of sardonic amusement at Lindsay's plight.

While the regular Republicans had to accept Lindsay as their party's nominee in the recent mayoralty election, this did not mean they had to like him immensely. For he owed his victory not to organized Republicans, whom he shunned as though an unpleasant smell arose from them, but to the splinter Liberal party. And he also drew his Ivy League cloak disdainfully away from the relatively liberal Republican who is Rockefeller.

IN A WORD, he was in reality a non-party candidate of a clutch of far-out liberals, small "l" and well as large "L," who put on one of the most howlingly self-righteous "crusades" in the history of politics.

So the position stood when Lindsay took office to be hit instantly in the face by the transit union boss, Mike Quill, with precisely the municipal disaster that former Mayor Robert F. Wagner had somehow always averted at about a quarter to midnight. Irony was further served by the circumstance that Lindsay had made a career of ridiculing the Wagner types of New York as dreary has-beens who had let the city go to pot for want of "imagination" and the like.

MAYBE SO. Still, the inconvenient reality remained that the city had been brought to a dreadful halt in the first day of the new regime of the man who had been presented as the wonder-worker of a fresh, young generation which would reclaim for New York civic glories that in truth it never had and probably never would. What made it all even more wretched was the circumstance that the Liberal party, which had really put Lindsay over, is awash with labor leaders like tough and able old David Dubinsky who let the reformist types stand out in front while they run the party from the inside.

THUS LINDSAY'S dilemma was acute: If he did what he ought to do and smashed this intolerable strike at once by whatever lawful means might be required, his widely assumed Presidential ambitions would be profoundly served as Calvin Coolidge's were served long ago in the Boston police strike. But to move really hard against Quill labor would be also perhaps to outrage Liberal party labor, to which he owes his very life.

So if all his own modified efforts at settlement were to fail, he simply had to look to Washington. He could not go to Rockefeller without making Rockefeller the really big man in New York.

Peace Is Hell

WASHINGTON — As the Johnson peace offensive goes into its third week, more and more attention is being paid to responses from Hanoi. Everyone is looking for some sort of sign that North Viet Nam is ready to come to the negotiating table, and every reply to our peace overtures is studied by our experts in minute detail.

Therefore, what might sound on the surface as a complete rejection of an offer could very well be the opening we've been looking for.

I WENT OVER to the State Department the other day and talked to a U. S. Hanoi-watcher, who was, at that very moment, studying the latest North Viet Nam radio broadcast concerning our peace offensive.

"It looks promising," he said, as he shoved his magnifying glass to one side.

"How's that?" I asked.

"Well, listen to this," he continued, reading from the report. "The U. S. policy of aggression in Viet Nam remains unchanged and shows the arrogance of President Johnson in pretending he wants peace while American and puppet troops intensify their attacks on innocent women and children."

"That's promising?" I said.

"IT'S A VERY mild statement compared to the one they made last week."

"What else did they say?"

"U. S. imperialists will be thrown into the sea long before any peace swindle can be made, and their lackeys in Saigon will be chewed up by the democratic peoples of Viet Nam."

"That sounds bad," I said.

"ON THE CONTRARY, there's a great glimmer of hope here. This is the first time Hanoi has mentioned the sea. It may have great significance. It's quite possible they might want to negotiate on water rather than land."

"That's something I hadn't thought of."

"Now here, in the third paragraph, may be another hint that they're ready to talk. It says, 'North Viet Nam will never be blackmailed into giving away the rights of the National Front for liberation by a nation who sabotaged the 1954 Geneva agreements, and who have shamelessly launched air attacks on the cities and villages leaving behind wanton destruction and horror.'"

"What kind of hint do you get out of that?" I asked.

"THIS IS THE first time they've mentioned the Geneva agreements in a broadcast, and it's quite possible this is their way of telling us, without the Chinese knowing, of course, that they would be willing to go there."

"By George, you may be right," I said excitedly.

"HERE, AT the end, they say, 'So long as U.S. imperialists still pursue the war of aggression against Viet Nam and launch attacks against the fatherland, the people in both zones of Viet Nam will fulfill their sacred duty to resist with the aid of their peace-loving friends in China and the Soviet Union. Let them make no mistake about this.'"

"It sounds like a peace feeler to me," I said.

"We're treating it like that, until we get word to the contrary." (Copyright, 1966, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

Billy Graham

We prayed faithfully for Dr. Paul Carlson in the Congo, and yet he was killed. Why pray, if God willed that he die? Mrs. U. F.

Dr. Paul Carlson, Christian that he was, would not have questioned the matter of his dying, and regretted that he had ever prayed. His noble, sacrificial death, has been an inspiration and a benediction to all Christians.

To pray for something you want very badly, with the awareness that you are going to feel bitter toward God, if you do not get your way, is really not praying; it is a selfish wish put into the form of a prayer.

The prayer we should pray for Christians who are undergoing persecution, but that in their suffering they will be given strength to endure it as a Christian, and that, whether spared or not, that God will get glory to His name from their dedication.

Dr. Paul Carlson was given unusual strength during the hours preceding his martyrdom, and he died as a Christian should die: courageously, fearlessly and without malice or regrets.

The time may come when many of us may be called upon to die for the glory of our Lord. If so, we should not pray to be spared, but follow the example of our Lord and say: "Not my will, but thine be done."

Close Gap

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — A closer man-machine relationship is being sought by Sylvania Electronic Systems, under a $54,000 contract from the Air Force.

The company is comparing present hand-operated devices used for feeding information into computers. It will recommend how each — keyboards, light-sensing pencils, electrical writing surfaces — can be used more effectively.

The year-long study will include extensive performance testing by human operators. "Input devices available today can be used more effectively," Dr. James E. Storer said, "if they are properly matched both to the requirements of the job and the capabilities of the operator. Our study is aimed at achieving a closer man-machine relationship."

Charles Hood House Moving In Action

Regardless of size, this firm can move houses wherever you want them in the city, or to another city, without fear of damage. Some may have to be moved in sections, but can be spotted on new foundations so that sections will match. The bonded movers can "start from scratch" on a house to be moved, or the owner can get it ready.

Wagon Wheels Offer Service, Excellent Foods, Locations

Looking for a way to feed the family without having a lot of dishwashing and bathing and dressing up to do before it's time to eat?

There are three pleasant, popular places in Big Spring where you can drive in, order exactly what you want, and eat the food in the privacy and comfort of your car. In short, you can take a rest while you are eating a wholesome meal.

Mrs. H. M. Rainbolt, owner, says westerners believe in eating beef, and all kinds of uses are made of it at the three Wagon Wheel Drive-Ins.

Wagon Wheel No. 2, out on US 80 west, has announced the "Best Barbecue in Town." The real pit-cooked pork, sandwich, spare ribs, sausage, chicken and beef are mouth-watering. They also announced recently service inside as well as curb service.

All you have to do is drive up to the Wagon Wheel, check the menus, which include the largest, juiciest hamburgers you ever ate, along with the "side lines," which include pickles, French fried potatoes, and the drink of your choice.

Other foods include all kinds of sandwiches, as well as the Wagon Wheels' famous fried chicken, drinks, including piping hot coffee, and others made at the drink fountain.

Additionally there is the service of providing filling, excellent lunches for working people. A telephone call to your favorite Wagon Wheel Drive-In will have the working man's or working woman's lunch hot and ready when asked for—a lot of local residents are using this special service.

After all, the Wagon Wheel Drive-Ins are in Big Spring for a purpose—to serve the public—and a telephone call to one will have that service ready for those

Pizza House Has Fine Food

Ranch Inn Pizza House, 4600 US 80 west, is the place to go in Big Spring — if you like pizza, and who doesn't? Or if you like plain old American foods, or fancy Italian dishes. You can be choosy if you like either one.

LaWanda Yager, owner, has made a specialty of preparing and serving Italian dishes of ancient heritage, such as pizza, in: baked lasagna, veal parmigiana, veal lasagna, calabrese, chicken caeciatore, chicken tetrazzini, Italian style pork chops, deluxe spaghetti—whatever you desire.

The Pizza House is now operating under changed hours—11 a.m. to midnight six days a week, and will be open on Sunday (only for orders "to go") from noon until 8 p.m. But the food has not changed—still the best Italian cuisine in the area.

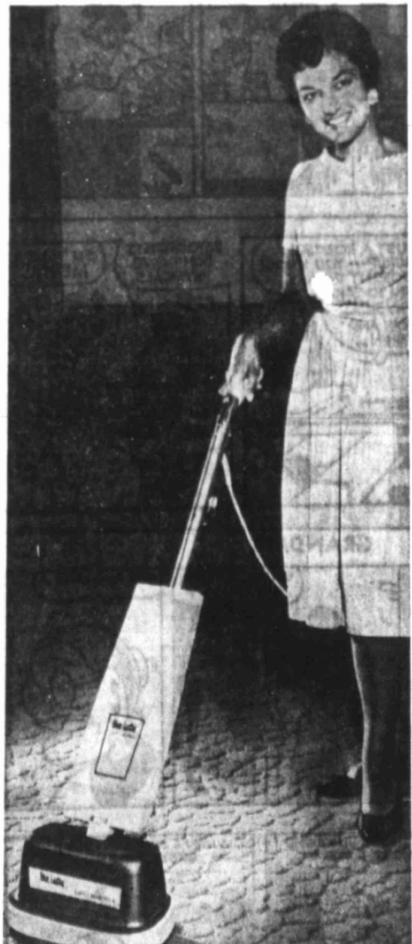

State National Is Happy To Serve

State National Bank of Big Spring, and the people who work there, make it standing policy to keep up with developments — and helping business and industry in the area to grow, including agriculture.

The bank has grown with the town and with Howard County.

When you think of expansion, one of the best places to get information and to find expert consultants is at State National Bank. The management continually feels the bank can grow only if the area it serves can grow; consequently, it has never failed to lend a helping hand where results were to mutual benefit.

For convenient banking during the day, there are handy drive-in windows. A night depository is also near at hand. State National Bank is located handily at 124 Main.

Rug Shampooer

The Blue Lustre rug shampooer, used with Blue Lustre carpet cleanser-foam, turns a dirty chore into a pleasant, no-mess cleaning delight. Rent it at Big Spring Hardware, 117 Main.

Eat At Sands For Top Meals

You get fast service, but then you can sit and talk as long as you like, when you eat at the Sands Restaurant, located in the 2900 block of US 80 west.

The reason you get such fast service is that experienced owners and operators are now in possession of both the restaurant and the motel. Owners are always available for information regarding groups, clubs, family gatherings, wedding parties or any type of meeting where comfortable space and good, wholesome, well-prepared meals are wanted.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Risetter, experienced operators, have charge of the facilities. They formerly owned and operated restaurants in Iowa and came to Big Spring when the Sands property became available.

The restaurant has been re-finished inside, following a fire last year, and presents a fresh, inviting appearance, with refrigerated air conditioning to keep patrons comfortable during the summer, and with central heat that warms patrons during this miserable time of year.

"We can easily handle dinner groups up to 100 people," Mrs. Risetter says. "A telephone call to AM 4-5583 will get information about reservations, menus and time for serving. This will insure meals being prepared and served on time, and will not result in cold meals or 'half cooked' meats."

The Sands Restaurant features regular meals with steaks, chops and sea foods. There are regular short orders for working people, sandwiches and special orders with good home-cooked pastries.

Then the chef, who is especially good at it, prepares a variety of Mexican dishes for those who are gourmets of this type of food — and during the winter months, a steaming hot Mexican dinner will warm even the coldest, hungriest patron.

The coffee shop and lounge are popular places for local residents, and the owners invite everyone in Big Spring to drop by to try the service.

Attorney General's Race Left In A Confused State

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas attorney general's race was clouded by confusion today as two of the three announced candidates faced State Supreme Court tests of their eligibility.

State Sens. Franklin Spears of San Antonio and Galloway Calhoun of Tyler were informed by state Democratic chairman Will Davis Monday that he could not accept their $1,000 filing fees.

Davis said that because both were members of the 59th Legislature, which raised the attorney general's salary from $20,000 to $22,500 a year there were serious constitutional questions of their eligibility.

TO COURT

Both Spears and Calhoun said they would ask the State Supreme Court to order Davis to accept their filing fees and put their names on the Democratic primary ballot.

Davis urged them to file their suits as soon as possible to settle the issue before the Feb. 7 filing deadline.

In placing the matter before the courts, Davis pointed to a state constitutional provision that says:

"No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he may be elected, be eligible to any civil office of profit under this state, which shall have been created, or the emoluments (pay) of which may have been increased during such term."

TERMS OVERLAP

He said that under a 1962 attorney general's opinion both Spears' and Calhoun's Senate terms would overlap with the new attorney general term beginning Jan. 1, 1967.

Spears and Davis, who were friends when Spears was student president at the University of Texas and Davis held the same job at Baylor, met in a friendly confrontation in Davis' office.

After Davis formally refused Spears' cashier's check for $1,000, Spears read a prepared statement to newsmen.

"I know I am eligible to run for this office," Spears said. "I know that I can win this race. A professional poll taken in the last few weeks indicates that I am the best-known of all potential candidates."

"I do not question the good faith and personal integrity of the State Executive Committee, but I regret that someone has raised this spurious issue and resorted to this method to attempt to take the decision on who will be Texas' attorney general away from the voters."

Calhoun, in a telephone interview from his Tyler law office, said:

"AM ELIGIBLE"

"I am confident I am eligible to run and that the Supreme Court of Texas will order my name placed on the ballot."

He said he hoped to file his suit with the Supreme Court this week.

The third candidate is Secretary of State Crawford Martin.

DEAR ABBY

How Does One Know?

DEAR ABBY: We are all members of the Retail Clerks Association, and are facing a serious problem. The store manager insists that we address all our customers as Miss, Madame, or Sir, whichever the case may be. Inasmuch as we are on a commission basis, we are not about to insult a customer intentionally, but many young men with the "Beatle" haircuts are now using eye shadow, fingernail polish, hair spray, etc., and it's almost impossible to tell the boys from the girls.

The girls have taken to dressing mannishly, and have the same kind of haircuts as the boys. The only guide to which sex they are would be to try to get a look at their feet. The boys usually have larger feet, but with both sexes wearing those boots, even that's not certain. Can you help us?

BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: When in doubt, skip the Miss, Madame, Sir or whichever the case may NOT be. I am sure your boss would prefer that to your guessing and goofing.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that most of my "plain" women friends seem to have the best marriages, while the outstanding beauties are divorced, married again, and divorced, and can't make a success of a marriage? Even with the advantage of having been born beautiful they can't seem to find happiness. Why is that?

IMOGENE

DEAR IMOGENE: Believe it or not, natural beauty can be something of a handicap. Some beauties are so dependent on their "looks" to get them everything they want, they don't bother to develop other interesting or important qualities. A girl can "capture" a man with her beauty. Indeed she can capture more than one, if she wishes—but unless she knows how to give him more than the pleasure of just looking at her, she won't keep him long.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow and all my children are married and have moved away, except my baby, a son who is 36. He is planning to get married in June. He and his lady are talking about buying a house. I told them they could move in with me. I have plenty of room and every convenience they need. They have nothing. Why should they struggle to buy a house with appliances and linen and furniture when they could live with me? I am not going to live forever, and when I die they can have everything. They tell me, "Thanks a lot, Ma, but we'd rather not." What is wrong with them? How can I talk them into it?

WANTS COMPANY

DEAR WANTS: Nothing is wrong with them. And don't try to "talk them into it." A 36-year-old "baby" is old enough to know what he wants.

Elected Man Denied Seat In Legislature

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A young Negro civil rights worker from Atlanta has become the first elected Georgia representative in 98 years to be denied a seat in the legislature.

Rep-elect Julian Bond, 25, who last week endorsed a statement denouncing U.S. policy in Viet Nam and urged American youth to avoid the draft, was barred from his seat Monday night.

House members voted 184-12 for a special committee's recommendation that Bond be denied the oath of office because of his stand on a statement issued last Friday by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Bond is publicity director for the civil rights group.

INTO COURT

Bond, who refused to comment Monday night on the House action, announced earlier he would take the issue into federal court if denied his House seat. An attorney said court action will be sought as "soon as possible."

A SNCC leader, James Forman, also said demonstrations would result and possibly a boycott of Georgia products.

A group of SNCC workers sat quietly in the gallery when the House took its vote, climaxing a marathon opening-day of the 1966 session.

Bond, who won a landslide victory in his predominantly Negro Atlanta district last June, hurried from the Capitol with his lawyers and supporters after the vote.

PANEL REPORTS

The House committee which recommended the vote against Bond heard testimony and deliberated for more than four hours before reporting to the House.

The committee voted 23-3. The three votes favoring Bond's seating came from Negro members. They were among seven sworn in as the first Negro House members in 58 years.

Bond told the committee he stood on his endorsement of the SNCC statement. He said he had not advocated violation of any law when voicing admiration for anyone with the courage to burn his draft card.

Attorney Denmark Groover of Macon, representing Bond's opponents, said the Georgia Legislature had not refused to seat a member since 1868. He said eight Confederate veterans were barred from the House during Reconstruction.

The 12 legislators voting for Bond, seven white and five Negro, were from the Atlanta area — 10 from Fulton County and two from DeKalb County. Seven House members did not vote on the issue.

House Speaker George T. Smith said Monday night that the only chance Bond had of being seated was by apologizing

Escapee Finds Outside Chilly

WAYNESVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Arlin Barker, 23, an escapee from a prison road gang, was walking along a street in 15-degree weather when he halted a passing police cruiser.

Governor's Leap Brings Crutches

WARWICK, R.I. (AP) — Gov. John H. Chafee, leaping from a hayloft at his home, turned an ankle and has ended up on crutches for a few days.

The governor jumped some four or five feet to another level in the barn and landed on a loose board concealed by hay. A doctor taped the ankle and prescribed the crutches.
