How Fatal Accident Occurred

Photographs taken by investigating officer show how Guy Joseph Brown was working on a flat tire on the car in which he was a passenger as a truck approached. As the truck passed the stalled car, the extension of the truck body (inset) struck Brown in the hip, causing fatal injuries of which he died.

Guy Brown Killed In Tuesday Crash

Services are pending at River-Welch Funeral Home for Guy Joseph Brown, 70, former oil driller and more recently employed by Gage Oil Co. Mr. Brown was fatally injured in a traffic accident at 1:15 p.m. Tuesday, 8.4 miles north of Big Spring on US 87.

He is the fourth Howard County person to die of injuries received in motor vehicle accidents since 1966 began. He is the third person to be killed in traffic mishaps this week.

Brown, with Jack Nall, 61, of 509 Goliad, were in the latter's car traveling north on US 87. A left rear tire went flat on the car. Nall pulled off the road to the improved shoulder. He got out and was getting the jack and other tools out of the trunk.

Mr. Brown was kneeling beside the flat tire removing the lug bolts from the wheel.

Clarence Elison Smith, 59, La Mesa, was traveling north in the bobtail truck, partially loaded with scrap iron. As he approached the Nall car, he saw Brown beside the rear wheel.

Smith told the highway patrol investigator that two other cars, also going north, were attempting to pass his truck at the moment. He said that as he came alongside the Nall car, it appeared that Brown moved backward from the parked car.

A corner of the extension bed of the truck struck the man in the right hip.

Smith brought his truck to an immediate halt, and then drove away to get an ambulance. He returned to the scene where he remained until the ambulance arrived.

Investigating officers are and Mr. Brown was dead on arrival at the Cowper Hospital and Clinic.

Mr. Brown was born in Bellevue, Aug. 2, 1895. He moved from Nocona to Ackerly in 1952, and to Big Spring in 1957. He lived at 2207 Grace. He was married to Miss Deane Parker in 1956 in New Mexico.

He was a member of the Methodist Church. Survivors, in addition to the widow, include one son, Bill Brown, who is in Brazil; two brothers, Andy Brown and Lester Brown, both of Ackerly; three sisters, Mrs. Lois Jarris, Stillwater, Okla., Mrs. Bess Kennedy, Bellevue, and Mrs. Lee Roberts, Burkburnett.

Funeral arrangements will be announced as soon as the son arrives from South America.

N.Y. Mayor, Mediators Draft Steps

NEW YORK (AP) — Mediators get together with Mayor John V. Lindsay today to outline steps they think should be taken to end New York's lengthening transit crisis.

After another long day and night of negotiations with solution seemingly no closer, Dr. Nathan P. Feinsinger, head of the three-man mediation group, said:

"We plan to indicate to (Lindsay) the procedures which the panel believes should be followed to resolve this dispute and bring about a resumption of work at the earliest possible moment."

RUMORS COLLAPSE If rumors had been bargaining table agreements Tuesday the strike would have been ended.

Throughout the day the city was abuzz with rumors that the strike would be over within hours.

In Washington, George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, said, "If the figures that have been given me prove correct, they are not so far apart and they ought to get a settlement in a day or so."

NOT IN SIGHT But when the negotiations finally broke up at 2:05 a.m. today a solution was not in sight, dashing the hopes of the 7.5 million persons left stranded by the strike.

The mediators gave no hint of what recommendations they would make to Lindsay.

Douglas MacMahon, acting chief of the striking AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union, had all but detailed proposals made by Lindsay for means other than negotiations to end the 12-day walkout of bus and subway workers.

Feinsinger said he had reported to Lindsay the substance of the reports submitted by the Transit Authority and the striking TWU and Amalgamated Transit Union, AFL-CIO.

"NOT BASIS" He said the replies to the three alternatives proposed by the mayor did not "in their present form at least" provide a basis for agreement on the use of recommendations by either the mediators or any other body as a device to resolve this dispute.

This appears to rule out Lindsay's first alternative completely.

Lindsay had said Monday in a stern, almost angry statement that if the strike were not settled that day he would ask the mediation panel to follow one of three alternatives:

One, make specific recommendations on all terms of a settlement; two, to agree to the appointment of a fact-finding commission to investigate and present the basis for an impartial settlement; three, to arrange an agreement between the parties to accept any new procedure other than the first two, such as advisory or binding arbitration.

MEANTIME PRESSURE ON MEANSIDE pressures are building on all sides to get the buses and subways rolling again.

Meany said that he had offered his help in settling the strike, but no one had taken him up.

Three leaders of the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths wired the Transit Authority and union:

"Millions of New Yorkers find transit strike no longer tolerable. We strongly urge the immediate acceptance by both parties of Mayor Lindsay's recommendations and speedy restoration of transit service. We offer our good offices in any way in which we can be helpful."

Another stricken freighter, the Lapsis, also radioed for help, but she remained afloat 240 miles away with a cracked deck. The Coast Guard cutter Androscoogin was standing by ready to take the Greek ship's 30 crewmen aboard.

REPORTED DROWNED Four crewmen rescued by the American freighter Steel Maker said the vessel's master and many others drowned, but they reported they saw 18 others alive and five more on a raft.

The Coast Guard cutter Escanaba picked up two more survivors on the raft and the dead crewman.

CARGO SHIFTS The vessel, en route from Norfolk, Va., to Barcelona, Spain, sank Monday in heavy seas 840 miles northeast of Bermuda. She was carrying a cargo of grain that shifted, causing a bad list in rough seas.

Another stricken freighter, the Lapsis, also radioed for help, but she remained afloat 240 miles away with a cracked deck. The Coast Guard cutter Androscoogin was standing by ready to take the Greek ship's 30 crewmen aboard.

Several hundred hillside shacks and a dozen more substantial buildings already have collapsed. Others threatened to topple onto dwelling areas below.

Many slum dwellers refused attempts to evacuate them. In the Santa Theresa district, where more than 30 already have perished, police tried vainly to move out a group living about 200 feet beneath a psychiatric clinic that threatened to give way.

Many of the victims were children found floating in the flood waters.

Mayor George Zachariah accepts deed to the old First National Bank property from Adolph Swartz, head of Downtown Big Spring, Inc.

City Given Deed To Downtown Lot

Downtown Big Spring, Inc. turned over to the city the deed of the old First National Bank lot, last night during the city commission meeting.

The lot, cleared by the downtown group, will now be turned into a public parking lot by the city.

In other business, commissioners accepted Jones Construction Co., Inc.'s low bid of $85,235 for construction of a million gallon capacity reservoir on top of Scenic Mountain.

Commissioners stressed the reservoir will alleviate low water pressure in the southwest area of Big Spring, as well as add to the city water supply.

An additional $7,000 (included in the Jones bid) will be spent on a connecting line from the new reservoir to the main line in the southwest area, which will boost water pressure in the area by a number of pounds per square inch. City has received

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson goes before Congress tonight with a war and peace report expected to provide for continuing his "Great Society" domestic program.

In a State of the Union address to be carried by radio and television networks at 8 p.m. Big Spring Time, Johnson planned to bring members up to date on his Viet Nam peace offensive with the Communists to end the Southeast Asia fighting.

There was no advance indication that he would be able to announce any response from a memorandum covering U.S.

peace objectives passed directly to North Vietnamese representatives.

HOPE STIRRED But while Radio Hanoi continued to berate the President's call for unconditional discussions, the absence of any formal public rejection of the memorandum stirred some hopes in Congress that there may be grounds for believing they might yet materialize.

A presidential pledge to continue the search for peace was expected to soften the grim possibility that the war may have to be accelerated if the Communists persist in refusing to talk.

Aides indicated Johnson may come up with some over-all total, ranging between $110 billion and $115 billion, for a new budget. Any such total, for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, would not include the $12 billion to $13 billion in additional funds administration officials have been talking about to finance the war.

GREAT SOCIETY Johnson said in a letter from which AFL-CIO President George Meany quoted Tuesday that he is "determined to press ahead in building the Great Society."

Meany had expressed fears in a letter to the President that mounting war costs might force a cutback in domestic programs, such as the war on poverty.

The union leader said that through efficient management eliminating outmoded functions, and reductions in some other areas, Johnson said substantial savings had been found to finance the social programs the first session of Congress voted.

Even though he holds expenditures in the latter field to about this year's level, Johnson seems likely to face demands for reductions from a Congress that appears bent on making the Viet Nam war its overriding order of business.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, told about the Meany letter, made it clear that if the war is escalated, he thinks domestic spending will have to be cut.

Dirksen and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford arranged to hold a news conference 15 minutes after the President concludes his address. Republicans may come up next week with a statement of their position on Viet Nam and its impact on domestic programs.

BIPARTISAN HUDDLE Dirksen said he expects Johnson to meet with the leaders of both parties to discuss the outlook. But he said he had received no White House invitation.

Summing up the Republicans' general viewpoint on the course in Viet Nam, Dirksen told a news conference Tuesday:

"We ask to be consulted and to have the opportunity to present our views. When the ultimate decision is made, we may not approve of it but when it is the decision of the commander in chief, we will support it."

Johnson has told Democratic leaders he expects to limit his requests for new legislation.

PROBING HOPES Probe Hopes Klan Defectors Will Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators voiced hope today that more defectors from the Ku Klux Klan members will come forward and testify as the focus of the inquiry swings from Louisiana to Mississippi.

The most dramatic session in the months-old Klan investigation by the House Committee on Un-American Activities came Tuesday when John H. Gipson of Sildell, La., testified he participated as a member of a Klan "wrecking crew" in the whipping of a young white man.

Gipson also told how he backed out at the last minute from a plan to burn two Negro churches, which later went up in flames. He testified he quit the Klan in disgust and is now trying to "right the wrong."

Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., said in an interview Gipson's example should be most helpful in persuading other disillusioned Klan members to come forward with their stories.

POTENTIAL WITNESSES A committee source, declining to be quoted by name, said the group knows of several potential witnesses who might be so persuaded.

Rio's Mudslide And Flood Deaths May Climb To 200

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — New landslides threatened Rio de Janeiro today as torrential rains mounted in intensity after bringing death to more than 120 hillside slum dwellers.

An estimated 40 more deaths from floods were reported in nearby Niteroi, and other casualties were reported in the mountain resorts of Petropolis, Teresopolis and Cachoeira de Macacu. Communication breakdowns prevented details reaching Rio.

FEAR 200 DEAD The Rio morgue was crowded with the bodies of 122 victims, and police believed more than 200 have perished in floods and slides set off by the worst downpour in the history of this 400-year-old city.

Nearly one foot of rain has fallen in the past day and the Weather Bureau foresaw no let-up.

Authorities were unable to give an accurate estimate of the number of injured who jammed the city's hospitals or flocked to improvised dispensaries for first aid.

STILL BURIED Many persons were feared still buried beneath 30 major landslides and mudslides which began Monday as driving rains weakened the mountainsides, police and firemen worked feverishly to uncover the victims.

Thousands of homeless and hungry jammed schools and other public buildings. Thousands more huddled in the rain waiting for emergency shelter and transport.

Federal and state authorities made nearly $2 million available in emergency aid.

Hardest hit so far have been the squatters whose flimsy shacks perch on hillsides overlooking the fashionable Copacabana district. Flood waters began surging into sea-level districts.

Blustery Front Ushers Cooler Air Into Texas

By The Associated Press quickly dropped after its passage. Cooler air flowing into Texas behind a blustery front promised today to put at least a small dent in the state's unusual January heat wave.

Early morning temperatures nevertheless held above freezing in all sections. Dalhart's 38-degree reading was one of the lowest before dawn. Along the coast thermometers hovered in the upper 50s at the same hour.

STRONG WINDS Winds gusting up to 40 miles per hour in places accompanied the forward edge of the weak, diffuse cool front, which lay along a line from Childress to Midland about 5 a.m. The winds forecasters promised a night of temperature ranging down to 18 degrees in parts of the Panhandle and 28 in North Central and Southwest Texas. Lows were expected to stay above freezing elsewhere.

SCATTERED RAIN The Weather Bureau also predicted scattered showers or light rain by tonight or Thursday in parts of Central and East Texas. A new set of extended forecasts, covering the next five days, called for somewhat lower temperatures across the northern half of the state but no great departures from the normal levels.

Alamo City Gasoline Flow Sets Off Scare

SAN ANTONIO (AP)— Gasoline was released from a transport truck here early today and for a time "flowed like a river" seven blocks down a street in a heavily populated westside area, threatening an explosion, officials said.

Police said vandals apparently released the gasoline from a transport truck parked on a lot. Policeman Robert Navarito discovered the gasoline flow while on routine patrol at about 3:25 a.m.

The gasoline was from an Indian Oil Transport Co. storage area, according to District Fire Chief Roger Rodriguez. He said

Thirty-One From Sunken Ship Lost

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty-one crewmen are missing today — and at least 11 are feared dead — after a Spanish freighter with a crew of 38 sank in a fierce North Atlantic storm.

Six crewmen from the stricken freighter, Monte Palomares, were plucked to safety Tuesday as the Coast Guard hunted for other survivors. One other is known dead.

At the leading edge of the drive, 173rd Airborne paratroopers bumped into a Viet Cong platoon Tuesday and the Communists decided to fight it out.

Companies of paratroopers attacked the Communists while other airborne elements maneuvered round the west flank to block an escape.

REAR GUARD Although the main enemy force evaporated before the Allied drive, Communist rear guard elements made their presence felt.

A furious barrage of heavy 120mm mortars from North Vietnamese regulars hit a company of infantrymen Tuesday, but U.S. spokesmen reported only light casualties. A truck was blown off an armored personnel carrier when an unknown number of Communists exchanged fire with infantrymen for two hours at a likely ambush site.

Y Sustaining Drive To Begin

The YMCA Sustaining Membership Campaign will kick off Monday, according to Mrs. O. S. Womack, chairman of the campaign.

Prospect cards will be ready between 4 and 5:30 p.m. for workers to pick up, and the drive will run through Jan. 22, Mrs. Womack said.

"A sustaining member believes in the importance of the Y's program and, while he may or may not actively participate, he helps advance the program by personal affiliation and direct support," Mrs. Womack said. Goal for this year's sustaining membership campaign is $10,500.

Curtis Mullins, general secretary, said that the sustaining member helps provide character building services for the young people of Big Spring through the expansion of the YMCA program. He said that the sustaining membership contributions insure that no youngster will be turned away from the Y because of lack of funds.

Workers participating in this year's campaign, as announced by Mrs. Womack, are W. D. Caldwell, Mrs. James Duncan, Dr. W. A. Hunt, Jack Little, Clyde McMahon Sr., Dr. Floyd Mays, Mrs. Arch Carson, Truman Jones and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon. Others include Marvin Miller, Mrs. Don Newsom, Ike Robb, Sherman Smith, Jimmy Taylor, R. W. Whipkey, R. H. Weaver, Mrs. Lee Rogers, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., R. W. "Stormy" Thompson and Mrs.

H. W. Smith. The sustaining membership campaign precedes the participating campaign, coordinated by John Berry, chairman, by one week. The participating campaign is scheduled to kick off Monday, Jan. 24. Goal for its drive is $15,000 and members are those who actively participate in Y projects and facilities.

Jack Little, membership committee chairman, will oversee both drives.

C-C Has Sold 350 Tickets

About 350 tickets have been sold for the annual chamber of commerce banquet Saturday, according to Edith Gay, secretary.

Over 400 Due For Scout Council Meet

More than 400 adult volunteers are due here Friday evening for the annual meeting of the Buffalo Trail Council.

The 43rd annual banquet at 7 p.m. in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College will highlight the event and will follow a brief business session an hour earlier in the college auditorium.

One of the chief items of business, said L. E. Patterson, Midland, president, will be the election of officers. The nominating committee is headed by W. B. Fleck, Odessa, and includes R. J. Ream, Big Spring. Wives of council members will be entertained from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the parlor of the SUB.

Raymond L. Tollett, chairman of the Lone Star (Big Spring) District and a member of Region IX executive committee, will present awards during the feature presentation of the Silver Beaver award. This is the highest award the council can bestow upon a volunteer leader. This year, five Scouters are scheduled for the award.

Ben Johnson, dean of HCJC, is to extend the welcome, and Judge Perry Pickett, Midland, will respond. There will be a tableau by Scouts for the closing ceremony. The Rev. James Puckett, pastor of the Baptist Temple Church, will word the invocation.

Trustees Decide To Draw New Delinquent Tax Pact

School trustees voted Tuesday night to notify John Burgess, city attorney, that his present contract for the collection of delinquent taxes for the school district will not be renewed.

However, the trustees said they will negotiate a new contract with Burgess or with any other interested attorney or tax collection agency. A committee of trustees, James E. Felts and Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, who studied the tax collection situation, said that they felt not enough progress was being made under the present contract in view of the amount of delinquent taxes still to be collected.

Accumulated totals for the months of September through December showed $1,521,699.38, $1.8 per cent of the roll collected, in contrast with $1.3 per cent in 1964.

Trustees approved the incorporation of the Project ABC budget into the general budget for the school year. Project ABC, better known as Advancing Basic Communications, is part of a federal grant of $129,278 to be used for educationally deprived students in the school system.

Dr. C. L. Ainsworth, director of instructional services, said that the project will reach approximately 795 students through limited direct services in Lakeview, Cedar Crest and Bauer Elementary Schools and Runnels Junior High School. Included in the program are remedial reading courses, nutrition and welfare classes, arts and crafts programs, and some social work. He said that the office is in the process of employing people to fill the various positions of program director, nurse, social worker, librarians and teacher aides.

Also incorporated into the general operating budget is a federal grant of $16,520.31, to be used for the purchase of library books in all of the schools. Dr. Ainsworth pointed out that the books will reach all children, and the only stipulation is that the books not be of religious instruction. Books going to Immaculate Heart of Mary School will be the property of the public school, he said.

Trustees approved both the renewals of leasing agreements with Shasta Ford for the superintendent's car at $1,200 annually and the driver education car, with the only changes being 1966 models. Also approved was a contract renewal with Pollard Chevrolet for the use of a driver education car in the junior high, a 1966 model replacing the 1965 one presently in use.

Permit Needed For Carports

City Building Inspector Tom Newton said Tuesday he wished to clarify certain requirements for building permits.

"Some residents seem to think they don't have to have a building permit to build a carport," Newton said, "but they do."

Anyone having questions on the matter of building permit regulations should visit the building inspector's office on the first floor of City Hall.

Legion Post Seeks Building

LAMESA (SC) — Ellis P. Schmidt of Slaton and commander of 19th District of the American Legion was one of the guest speakers when the Allen-Houston Post 330 met Monday. Mrs. Mary Lou Narmour, president of the 19th District of the American Legion Auxiliary, also appeared on the program. Mrs. Narmour is from Lubbock.

Plans are underway for securing a suitable building for Post 330. The building committee, which is composed of J. D. Dyer Jr., Joe Spikes and R. L. Wade made a report of the committee's progress, according to John Gist, local post commander.

The Post sold its old building about two years ago and since has been meeting in the Disabled American Veteran's building. Boy Scout Troop 772, which is sponsored by the local post, will also have access to the new facilities. The troop has 32 members and is headed by Dr. Royce Dyer.

Hindu Rites For Shastri

NEW DELHI, India, (AP) — Leaders of India's ruling Congress party began discussing the political future today as the body of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was consigned to funeral flames by the holy Jumna River.

More than a million mourning Indians looked on as Shastri's eldest son, Hari Kishan, touched a blazing torch to the funeral pyre of sandalwood in accordance with Hindu rites.

A few moments before this final act, Shastri's successor, Prime Minister Gulzarilal Nanda, climbed the steps to the top of the pyre and stood silently, his face agonized with grief.

KOSYGIN PRESENT
Standing nearby were Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and many other foreign representatives.

Despite their grief, Nanda and Umaswami Kamara, president of the Congress party, met early today to discuss election of a new parliamentary leader who traditionally is asked to form a new government.

There was no indication whether this meant that a challenge to Nanda was developing in the party. As home minister he was No. 2 man in Shastri's cabinet, and his elevation after Shastri's death was automatic. At present he is believed likely to hold the top job until general elections next year.

STRONG FIGURES
At least three strong political figures are known to want the post of prime minister. They are Defense Minister Y.B. Chavan; Mrs. Indira Gandhi, information minister and daughter of the late Jawaharlal Nehru; and right-wing leader Morarji Desai.

Nanda served for five days as interim prime minister after Nehru's death 19 months ago but was pushed aside in favor of Shastri.

Shastri died early Tuesday in the Soviet city of Tashkent, apparently of a heart attack, after an exhausting week of peace negotiations with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan. The cremation climaxed a mass outpouring of grief for the unassuming little leader who in 19 stormy months had won the admiration and affection of India's troubled millions.

ALONG ROUTE
"Long live Lal Bahadur Shastri" yelled up from the vast throng as the funeral procession passed along the crowded route to the cremation site. The crowd stretched as far as the eye could see and appeared as large as that at the funeral of Nehru in May 1964.

The throng surged across the route at one point, forming a wall between the flower-decked gun-carriage carrying Shastri's body and the cars in which Kosygin and Humphrey were riding.

Secret Service guards quickly surrounded Humphrey's car and Soviet guards encircled Kosygin. Club-swinging Indian police closed in, pushing back the crowds seeking the special grace they believe one achieves by gazing at the body of an exalted person.

WEEPING WIDOW
Shastri's body had lain in state all night at his official residence at No. 10 an Path Road, with his weeping widow, Lalita, keeping a last vigil.

As thousands of Indians streamed by, Mrs. Shastri sat next to her husband's body, caressing his face and chest.

More than 100 persons were seriously injured when a stampede erupted among the thousands of mourners waiting to see the body.

There were other injuries as people fell from trees, roofs and other vantage points, and as police whacked away with their clubs to keep the route of the procession open.

The funeral was steeped in the ritual of Hinduism, the religion of Shastri and the majority of north Indians.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The appointment of the Very Rev. Msgr. Thomas Tschoepe of Dallas as Roman Catholic bishop of San Angelo, Tex., was announced today.

A native of Pilot Point, Tex., Bishop-elect Tschoepe was born on Dec. 17, 1915. He attended St. Thomas Parochial School in Pilot Point and studied for 12 years at the Pontifical College

BOYCOTT DEMAND

Eulogy For Rights Worker Is Noisy

The fire bomb that ended the life of a Negro civil rights leader in Hattiesburg, Miss., touched off a blazing argument at his memorial service over a possible retaliatory boycott of white merchants.

Negroes in a crowd of 250 to 300 hooted and shouted their resentment Tuesday after a local official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, J. C. Fairley, told them his group "does not anticipate a boycott at this moment."

ASKS RESPECT
As the rally boiled up, Charles Evers of Jackson, state NAACP field director, restored order by calling on the crowd to show respect for the 58-year-old victim, Vernon Dahmer.

"If you don't have any more respect for his death than this," he said, "then this man has died in vain already."

City and county leaders launched a fund drive to aid the family of Dahmer, who was fatally burned Monday when his home and store were set ablaze. Mississippi officials pledged an all-out effort to apprehend those responsible.

Dahmer's wife and daughter were burned by flames created by fire bombs. Mrs. Dahmer was not hospitalized, but Betty Dahmer, 16, was hospitalized in fair condition.

In Birmingham, Ala., the Jefferson County courthouse remained the target of civil rights protests today after demonstrations Tuesday aimed at longer hours for open voter registration offices.

About 300 sign-carrying, singing Negroes created traffic snarls Tuesday night as they marched to the courthouse through downtown Birmingham.

Earlier, about 300 Negro high school pupils went on a 90-minute rock-throwing binge when school officials barred them from joining one of the marches.

CONTINUES PROBE
In Washington, the House Committee on Un-American Activities continued its probe of the Ku Klux Klan.

John H. Gipson, a disillusioned Klansman, became the first KKK member to testify on acts of violence attributed to the secret organization.

Gipson told the committee he turned informer and now felt "my life is not worth two cents."

Gipson, 29, a Sidel, La., logger and lumber mill worker, described the whipping of a white youth and a Klan plot to burn two Negro churches.

LEGAL ACTION
In Atlanta, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. waited legal action on the Georgia legislative seating problem of Rep.-elect Julian Bond, who was not sworn in office because of his endorsement of an anti-Viet Nam statement.

The statement came from the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, which attacked the war in Viet Nam and called civil rights work a valid alternative to the draft.

King said demonstrations could erupt.

Bond, a Negro, was expected to file suit in federal court forcing his being seated in the General Assembly, which opened its session Monday.

Report Of Thai Troops In Laos Called False

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - U.S. and Thai officials denied today a report by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that troops from Thailand have entered neighboring Laos to help fight the Communists.

"It is 1,000 per cent incorrect," said a spokesman for Air Chief Marshal Dawee Chulsa sap, chief of staff of the armed forces.

Said a U.S. Embassy spokesman: "We have nothing to add to statements made in Washington that the reports are totally without foundation."

Richard Dudman, a Washington correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, reported Tuesday that substantial numbers of Thai troops entered Laos, possibly to prevent Communist agents from contacting pro-Communists in Thailand or to block the North Vietnamese supply route along the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

Silly Plot Starts Off TV Animal Bit

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - A cerebral chimpanzee got a 24-hour head start for CBS Tuesday night for the 1966 Television low camp championship. ABC's "Batman" doesn't start until tonight.

"Daktari," the new hour-long animal-adventure series graced on CBS Tuesday night schedule, means "doctor" in Swahili and is aimed at the young audience. It also means sheer torture for an adult who has to admire and respect Walt Disney's deft treatments of similar themes.

THE OPENING: The first show opened on an African game preserve and an animal study center, focusing on a noble veterinarian, his daughter and a couple of assistants, but mostly on Judy, the chimp, and a cross-eyed lion named Clarence who had nothing much to do with the opening episode beyond demonstrating his unfortunate double vision.

Then there was this tough-talking, unshaven and obviously mean animal trapper who wanted to get the baby. But that smart baby elephant trotted 20 miles to the good veterinarian for help.

The bad trapper followed, and

Judgment For Kin Upheld In Lethal Gulp

AUSTIN (AP)—The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals upheld today a $17,500 judgment for parents of a 6-year-old Lampasas boy who died after drinking liquid fertilizer on a Lampasas golf course.

Donald Wayne Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don D. Roberts, attended a family reunion in the picnic area of Lampasas' Hancock Park in June 1964.

A single strand of smooth wire marked the boundary between some playground equipment and the park's golf course. Court records showed a 55-gallon drum of liquid fertilizer on the golf course had inadvertently been left on its side with spigot attached. The boy took a cup from the picnic area, drew some of the fertilizer and took one swallow. He died that night.

The city owed a duty to use due care to make the premises safe for all invitees, both adults and young children, it said.

Young Crowd Taking Over In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Who wouldn't want to join a club that had Suzanne Pleshette as social director?

A couple hundred Hollywood types are plunking down $150 to become charter members of the Other Place, the latest landmark on the film colony's shifting social scene. It is a private discotheque in Beverly Hills, where the younger crowd can frug and watusi among friends. EARLY ENROLLEE: Miss Pleshette, a vivacious brunette who likes action, was among the first enrollees in the Other Place. She told one of the proprietors, Chuck Livingston: "You know, as soon as you get the Other Place organized, you ought to appoint a committee to sound out the members' wishes and plan special events. For instance, they might want to hire a bus to go to the football games, or have a costume party at Halloween, or dress up in Oriental costumes for Chinese New Year's."

The owner replied: "That's a splendid idea; you're elected!" Serving without pay, portfolio or dreams of glory, Suzanne has scouted a number of social schemes - political meetings during election periods; fashion shows for women; fashion shows for men.

"Men are so vain, but they won't admit it," she argued. "I think they'd love fashion shows for themselves. Or maybe on a Sunday we could get Jay Sebring to come in and style hair for 10 of the male members."

Appeals Court Candidacy Eyed

AUSTIN (AP) - Dist. Judge Tom Reavley said today he is "considering" running for the Third Court of Civil Appeals post to be vacated at the end of the year by Chief Justice Roy C. Archer.

Reavley formerly was secretary of state 1955 to 1957. He made an unsuccessful race for attorney general in 1961, running second in the six-candidate Democratic primary race that was won by the current Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr. He was appointed judge of the 167th District Court in Austin when it was created in 1964.

Reavley, 44, is a native of Wood County and was county attorney of Nacogdoches County and assistant district attorney in Dallas before coming to Austin.

Another Austin attorney named in local speculation as a possible candidate for the civil appeals court is Travis County democratic chairman Truman O'Quinn.

He Was Lucky, But How Did It Happen?

Silas Lockhart, 1407B Gregg, wonders if he has gremlins in his desk.

He knows that somehow he was lucky enough to escape having a fire at his office, but he is neither certain how the potential fire started nor how it happened that it extinguished itself before it did any damage.

Lockhart keeps a small box of ordinary matches in a desk drawer. He uses these matches to light the gas stove. He placed the closed box in the drawer with about a dozen unlight matches still remaining Saturday.

Tuesday, he opened the drawer to get out the matches to light the gas fire. He noticed that the box was browned as though it had been subjected to intense heat. On opening it, he found all of the unlighted matches had been ignited and had burned long enough to char, but for some reason had not burned through the cardboard box.

He wants to know how the matches lighted themselves and what caused them to go out before they set fire to the desk.

Accused Con Man Arrested

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) - FBI agents arrested John Henry Doyle, 66, of Washington Tuesday to close out a three-year search. Doyle was apprehended after the arrest at Greenville of two confidence men.

One of those arrested in Greenville called Doyle in Dallas when arrested. FBI agents and Dallas police arrested the man in a duplex where he sat drinking coffee with a girl friend.

When arrested he had a huge bundle of "play money" with two $1,000 bills wrapped around the faked bankroll. Also were notes indicating that the con game involved horse racing.

FBI agents told U.S. Commissioner W. Madden Hill that two indictments charging grand theft had been returned against Doyle in April, 1963. The FBI had been searching for him ever since.

Commissioner Hill set bond for Doyle at $2,500 and continued his hearing until Jan. 21.

Arctic Blast Moves East

By The Associated Press
Temperatures moderated in the cold regions of the Midwest today but icy air spread eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

Below-zero cold in the Midwest was confined to areas in Northern Lower Michigan, with the mercury dropping to -19 at Pellston. As the cold air spread eastward subzero readings were reported in sections of New England and upstate New York. Cold wave warnings were in effect for New England and northeastern New York.

The Midwest got some measure of relief as fairly warm air from the Southwest sent temperatures above zero in some cities for the first time in several days. At International Falls, Minn., where the mercury dropped to 40 below Tuesday, the early morning reading was 6 above.

Stiff northerly winds fanned the cold air eastward. Some of the chill extended into sections of the Southeast. Snow flurries fell along the southern shores of Lakes Ontario and Erie and in the upper Great Lakes region. Nearly a foot of snow piled up in the Lake Ontario area Tuesday, forcing some schools to close.

Rain and snow spread from Colorado into the central and northern Plains and rain and freezing drizzle pelted some north central sections. The Weather Bureau issued hazardous driving warnings for central Iowa, central and eastern North Dakota and north central and northeastern South Dakota. Rain or snow was indicated through the middle and lower Mississippi Valley.

'Millionth Tourist' For Year Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States made two new friends today, and much of the credit has to go to a hamburger. Last Dec. 17, Anthony and Elizabeth Howard of St. Margaret's Bay, Kent, England, were just a young British couple with a love for travel and three weeks to spend vacationing in the United States.

By Dec. 18, the Howards were celebrities. Computers at the U.S. Travel Service of the Department of Commerce designated Mrs. Howard the one-millionth tourist to enter the United States in 1965.

U.S. JUNKET
That distinction brought two expense-paid days in New York and two more in Washington. They leave for home today with some classic opinions about life in the United States and with gourmet tastes for American hamburgers.

The Howards visited New York, Washington, Los Angeles and Tucson, Ariz., going west for a friend's wedding. It included the usual sightseeing ("We did the National Gallery in 15 minutes"), horseback riding ("Riding westernsaddle is like sitting in an arm chair"), attendance at the Rose Bowl game ("We sat in the Michigan State section and shouted for UCLA") and a look at a basement nightclub ("Sort of a sub-basement folk singing cellar").

ABOUT FOOTBALL
The Howards had these observations on life in "The Colonies":
Mr. Howard, who plays rugby on football:
"It makes me laugh. I think it's funny that it is called exercise. I enjoy watching it, but in rugby, one keeps playing all the time — one just keeps going. You don't stand around resting in a circle deciding what to do next or sit at the side for 10 minutes. And if a player breaks a leg, the team just plays short one man."

Mr. Howard on modern living:
"In England when one pushes a button, one expects it not to work. In America when a button doesn't work, it disrupts the entire way of life."
Mrs. Howard on dishwashers:
"Where we stayed in Tucson, there were two. We wouldn't think of having one at home. Dishwashing is a social event — everyone helps."

LIKES FOOD
Mrs. Howard on American meals:
"When one goes out they put on your plate more than one could possibly eat. In England, one feels very ill-mannered when leaving something on one's plate. In America one is obliged to feel ill-mannered."
Both of them on American hamburgers:
"They're wonderful. In England, they're dry, tasteless and artificial. Hamburgers here are a delicious way of life. In England, they are an unpleasant necessity. Weiners are the same in both countries — not very good."
The Howards were the first millionth visitors to the United States since the federal government and the travel industry launched its joint Visit USA program in 1961.

With Mrs. Howard the millionth visitor of 1965, Mr. Howard said:
"I guess that would make me the million and first. I was a gentleman and let her get off the plane ahead of me."

School Trustees Okay Joint Meeting Date

School trustees approved a joint meeting of city commissioners and the school board to be held Tuesday, Jan. 18, time and place to be announced later during the regular session Tuesday night.

Items for discussion at the joint meeting includes the proposed change in State Street and its relationship to the baseball park, and an agreement on the Lakeview Joint Park-Campus development project.

Trustees and city commissioners have been working on the project since March, 1964. The school board submitted two wording changes recently in the proposed agreement, both of which were rejected by city commissioners. The project itself is in progress south of Lakeview School, and most of the expense is being borne by the city. Trustees also reviewed the preliminary plans for Moss Elementary School and the remodeling and additional facilities at Boyston and Airport Elementary Schools.

The contract of Novis W. Womack, tax appraiser for the school district, was renewed at a salary of $21,000.

Trustees approved a request from the Cedar Crest P-TA for approval of their 1966 school project, putting the words "Cedar Crest" on the front of the building.

The following personnel resignations were accepted by the board: Mrs. Julia Cockrell, Marcy; Miss Sharon Gary, Runnels; Mrs. John B. Hale, Washington; Mrs. Carolyn Marriott, Runnels; Mrs. Judith B. Spencer, Runnels.

New personnel employed include Mrs. Gloria Coffee, Washington; Mrs. Dale Janet Nowicki, Cedar Crest; Mrs. Virginia Marie Short, Marcy; Miss Kaye Louis Pfluger, Marcy; Marvin Hugh Smith, administrative intern; Mrs. Opal Tanner, Runnels.

Hawks Try Powerful Indians At 8:00

Sorely beset by an inability to hit the basket as consistently as the opposition, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks return to action against the toughest of juco opposition, Dallas Baptist College.

The Hawks' losing skinn has now mounted to three games. The locals will have to be at the top of their game to even keep in hailing distance of the tall and talented Indians, who have moved the scene of their operations from Decatur to Dallas since last season.

The two teams square off at 8 o'clock this evening in the HCJC gym and a large crowd of the curious should be on hand.

HCJC showed signs of coming back in its second game of the All-State tournament last week in Lawton, Okla., even though they lost to Coffeyville, Kansas, in its own region.

The locals stayed up with Coffeyville until the last five minutes of play, when two ace defensive players departed the action with a maximum number of fouls.

HCJC and Dallas Baptist have met previously this season — in the Garden City, Kansas, tournament back in November. The Indians won that one handily, 78-62.

Since that time, the Decatur expatriates have come a cropper only one time. Cameron, Okla., dealt the Indians a defeat. Dallas Baptist owns one win over that fine aggregation.

POSSIBLE STARTER Larry Morris

One of the Dallas club's ace shot makers is David Nash, St. Louis, Mo., who scored 22 points in his team's 81-72 rout of talented Kilgore College.

Nash stands 6-9, his college's brochure says, but he may even be rangier than that. At any rate, he'll dwarf anyone the Hawks can field. At 6-7, freshman Jackie Thompson is the biggest of the Hawks.

The Indians' win over Kilgore was their 12th in 13 starts. HCJC is 8-9, which doesn't sound quite right but is. Coach Buddy Travis isn't disheartened. He points out that the Big Springers have been meeting the toughest kind of opposition and are bound to benefit from the experience, if they live through the ordeal.

Gale Rhine is another of Dallas Baptist's stickout performers. He stands 6-3 and can hit well from quarter court.

Tom Traylor of DeBois, Indiana, and Wendall Hart, Garland, are other Dallas standouts, along with Jim Allen.

Travis is apt to start his old reliable, along with Thompson (who will be in there because of his strength and his height). That means Kurt Papp, Charles Vass, Henry Willis and Leon Smith or Larry Morris would be on the floor when the first tip is called.

After tonight, the Hawks hop a bus for Phoenix, Arizona, where they play the Phoenix Bears Friday and Saturday nights.

The locals play their next conference game against rugged South Plains in Levelland Feb. 25, following a break for mid-term exams. HCJC now stands 1-2 in WC play and can't afford to lose many more, if they are to remain in title contention.

HCJC scoring:

Player	Pg	Pt	Ft
Kurt Papp	27	27
Henry Willis	8	25
Charles Vass	7	14
Leon Smith	46	13
Charles Price	29	26
Larry Morris	33	26
Barry Hughes	14	21
Jack Thompson	17	14
Jack Hestley	12	4
Lee Leonard	2	1
Max Forsterberry	2	0

East's Stars Easy Shade West, 137-94

CINCINNATI (AP) — Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics is used to winning, but he likes a little challenge in it.

"There wasn't much of a challenge, was there?" said Auerbach after he coached the East to a lopsided 137-94 victory over the West in the National Basketball Association's 10th All-Star Game Tuesday night.

The only surprise was a second stringer — Adrian Smith of the Cincinnati Royals — winning the Most Valuable Player award. Smith, who at 6-foot-2 is one of the smallest players in the NBA, grabbed scoring honors with 24 points and took home a shiny, red convertible for being voted the MVP by sports writers.

"I told them to go out there and win the ball game, not worry about that car that was up for the most valuable player," said Auerbach, who gained his fourth straight victory as coach of the East squad, which now holds an 11-5 edge over the West in the annual classic.

The East, led by Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia and Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati, turned the game into a rout in the first quarter when they built an 18-point margin over the outclassed West team. The East led 63-36 at the half and was ahead by 33 points at the end of the third period, 101-64.

Westbrook Wins Over Loraine

WESTBROOK — Westbrook won both ends of a District 70-B doubleheader from Loraine here Tuesday night.

The girls set the pattern by registering a 54-21 verdict as Darlene Lankford rolled up 25 points. The boys' margin of victory was 86-47. David Rich had 31 points for the winners.

Lamesa Upended

LEVELLAND — Levelland raised a few eyebrows around District 3-AAA by bombing Lamesa, 61-41, here Tuesday night. The win was the fourth in conference play for Levelland, against no losses. Lamesa is now 2-1.

Koufax Honored

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Pitching great Sandy Koufax struck out the opposition in sweeping another national award. He was voted the Male Athlete of the Year for 1965 in the annual poll conducted by The Associated Press.

Bobcats Batter Odessa, 73-56

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo sprang a prize upset in District 2-AAAA basketball play here Tuesday night, defeating Odessa High by a score of 73-56.

The win evened the Bobcats' conference record at 2-2 while Odessa is now 3-1.

San Angelo made use of a stall from the start, with good results.

Terry Pieper of Odessa led all scorers with 24 points while Odessa is now 3-1.

Jim Ned Wins Over Rotan

TUSCOLA — Jim Ned remained in contention for first place in District 6-A basketball standings by belting Rotan, 59-58, here Tuesday night.

The win was the fourth in five starts for Jim Ned. Tim Kelley had 22 points for the winning Indians.

The girls' game was won by Jim Ned by the score of 35-23.

ASPERMONT — Aspermont cooled off Roscoe in District 6-A basketball play here Tuesday night, winning by the score of 86-37.

Earl Coplen scored 20 points for Aspermont while James Ray followed with 19.

Tommy Meredith set the pace for Roscoe with 14. The defeat was Roscoe's second straight in 6-A play. The Plowboys had opened with three straight wins.

MERKEL — Merkel vanquished Roby, 69-42, in a District 6-A boys' basketball game here Tuesday night.

Merkel is now 2-3 in league competition. Bob Tate led the surge with 26 points. Roby finished on the long end of a 52-46 score in the girls' game. Brenda Moore paced the Lions in that one with 27 points.

Papa Bear's Growl Is Heard Around Circuit

CHICAGO (AP) — That growl reverberating through the National Football League is from George (Papa Bear) Halas.

Halas claims Allen has not only taken all the Bear secrets with him to Los Angeles but also is undermining Bear chances for the National Football League title this year.

Not that anyone is ready to concede the Bears the 1966 championship, but Halas maintains that Allen has "special, exceptional and unique knowledge and skill as a coach which cannot be measured in monetary terms and cannot be adequately compensated."

"Unless he (Allen) is restrained," the complaint reads, "he will use this information in coaching the Rams against the Bears."

Allen resigned as a Bear assistant Saturday and signed an undisclosed contract as head coach of the Rams Monday night.

In his resignation letter to Halas, Allen said, "No man ever owed more to another than I do to you for all you have done for me. No one has ever had a more agonizing experience in arriving at a decision than I have had in bringing myself in this final act of resignation."

"The opportunity which has been offered to me to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams is one I feel I must accept. The job of realizing this ambition is marred only by the regret in leaving a team, and an association with you, which has given me the most rewarding years of my life."

Allen's letter had no effect on Halas.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL, told Halas in a statement that "it has been traditional in the NFL and throughout sports that assistant coaches be permitted to take advantage of opportunity for advancement."

"On the basis of this historical precedence, in fact as it is now known, this office finds no cause at this time to interfere with the Los Angeles Rams' signing of George Allen as head coach. It is hoped that the matter can be amicably resolved by the two clubs."

Larry McCulloch, Odessa College's veteran basketball mentor, contends that Lubbock Christian College is now the team to beat for championship honors in the Western Conference.

LCC gave HCJC a lesson on the hardwoods the other night to throw the Jayhawks onto detour in its bid for a second straight championship. The Chapparals later lost to Amarillo but only by two points and the contest was unreheated in Amarillo.

This year's run for the championship will not exclude any quiet but Clarence and Frank Phillips and both of those teams will undoubtedly upset a few opponents along the way.

When someone asked Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty what the difference was preparing a football team for a bowl game and an all-star contest, he was quick with an answer. Said he: "That's simple. The alumni don't give a damn who wins an all-star game."

Fourteen colleges have made overtures to Coahoma's Tony Butler, the 207-pound all-state fullback, including Texas Tech, the University of Texas and Texas A & M.

Butler is a high C student who probably would have no trouble making his grades in college.

Bradley Mills, the former Odessa High football mentor who was dismissed there after winning the district championship, is being taken on as a full-time coach at Texas Tech.

He'll work with the offensive ends in the future. Bradley was lauded for the fine job he did with the Raiders last season.

Diminutive Don McDonald, who played basketball for San Angelo College against HCJC several times a few years ago after first trying to win a scholarship with the local school, is now cage mentor at Irving High School but he probably won't be back next season.

He'd like to locate somewhere in West Texas. His present position offers him no security.

Steers Turn Back Panthers, 54-44

ODESSA — A defense-minded Big Spring team carried the fight to the enemy and defeated Odessa Permian, 54-44, here Tuesday night.

The Longhorns, who return to competition Friday night at home against Midland High, now boast a 1-3 record in District 2-AAAA standings, compared to the 2-2 record boasted by Permian.

Permian won the B contest, 71-45.

Big Spring led most of the way in the feature attraction. Permian was in front briefly in the first period, 7-6, and again early in the third, 24-23.

Only one player in the contest, big Tony Conley of Permian, fouled out in the contest and he didn't go until after the issue had been settled.

Big Spring's biggest lead was the margin it had at the end. The Steers hit a respectable 43.9 per cent of their shots from the field and 75 per cent at the free throw line. The teams broke even in field goal attempts, with 18 each, but the Longhorns made good 18 times at the penalty line, compared to only eight for the Panthers.

Over-all, the Big Springers are now 11-9 while the Panthers are 11-8.

Robert Jackson, who suffered a minor toe injury near the end of the conflict, led the Steers in scoring with 19 points while tall Paul Thomas had 14.

Permian was paced by Larry Hart, who accounted for 15 points while Kenneth Balthrop followed with 11.

In the B game, Danny Clendenin again led the Dogies with 16 points while Lonnie Clanton accounted for ten.

U.S. Limits Role In Delta Fighting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. combat forces have been poking at the northern fringe of the Mekong River delta, sloshing waist-deep through muddy expanses west of Saigon in search of the Viet Cong.

American paratroopers this month launched an operation that carried to the Plain of Reeds, the sometimes swamp, sometimes dust bowl, that pushes into Cambodia. It was wet and they got a taste of what it would be like to fighting in the delta proper.

Despite this sampling, there is no indication of plans to move U.S. ground units into the delta itself at this time.

The delta is part of South Viet Nam's 4th Corps, the only part of the country where U.S. fighting forces are not based. Vietnamese troops, and their American advisers, wage war there against the Viet Cong.

"NOT POLITICS"

U.S. officials repeatedly have said that the decision not to station American troops in the delta is based entirely on the military situation. They say politics has not entered into it, and that if there is a need for U.S. forces in the delta, they will be sent.

Even so, some informed speculation has persisted that it was considered politically wise to leave one of the four corps areas to the Vietnamese themselves. The Vietnamese often

Hearing Set On Pollution

DALLAS (AP)—Governmental officials and industrial leaders have been subpoenaed to appear before a legislative committee looking into water pollution on the Trinity River.

Called to the hearing in Dallas Jan. 20-21 are mayors, river authority and water district officials and industry executives in Tarrant and Dallas counties.

State Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo, said Tuesday the subpoena was used because earlier efforts to hold hearings with witnesses appearing voluntarily failed.

He said among those to be heard are persons or firms named in complaints by the State Water Pollution Control Board.

The committee will make recommendations to the 1967 Legislature.

Bill Paying Said At Good Level

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The American Collectors Association says consumer bill paying in the last quarter of 1965 was at the best level in two years.

The association's collection index climbed to 99.7 in the quarter. The index measures collectibility of overdue consumer debts, using 1953 conditions as the base of 100.

Overconfidence on the part of South, the declarer at three no trump, resulted in the loss of a vulnerable game contract.

North opened the bidding with one club and South responded with one heart. West overcalled with one spade.

North made a strength showing rebid of three clubs. While a jump in the same suit by the opener is not forcing, it strongly urges partner to carry on, if he has a smattering of stuff.

South had sufficient values to accept the invitation and he bid three no trump.

West opened the king of spades and South played the ace. It appeared to declarer that his side might have been remiss in not reaching for a slam and, with the expectation that several overtricks were in the offing, he proceeded to run the club suit. The queen was cashed, followed by a small club to the king. When West showed out, discarding a heart, South was obliged to revise his original estimate.

Declarer could count a total of only eight top tricks — one spade, one heart, three diamonds, and three clubs. Inasmuch as it would be disastrous to surrender the lead with the opposition's spade suit fully established, South had to find a ninth trick while the initiative was still in his hands.

The ace and king of diamonds were cashed, and West's jack appeared on the second round, establishing North's ten which was led to the next trick. South followed suit with the eight and, at this moment, he began to regret having released the queen of clubs from his hand for, altho his queen of diamonds represented the ninth trick on the deal, there was no way he could get back to his hand in order to cash it.

North played the king and another club and East was in. A spade return enabled West to cash enough tricks to set declarer down by one.

South could have averted his unhappy fate by leading diamonds first. When West drops the jack on the second round of that suit, the ten is played next and then declarer's hand is entered with the queen of clubs to cash the queen of diamonds. If the club suit divides favorably, South can win 12 tricks. If it does not respond, however, he at least has his game in hand.

Modest Plea: 'Stop Sending Us Money'

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The founder-director of the Beadle Bumble Fund — the modest trust which gives a helping hand to victims of official stupidities and the back of its hand to officialdom — issued a cease and desist plea today.

Stop sending money. The fund doesn't need it, thank you.

"It happens every time," said founder James Jackson Kilpatrick, editor of the Richmond News Leader. "We seek to alleviate some sordid situation and reduce the fund and what happens? More comes back than we send out."

Last week, Kilpatrick felt action by the fund was necessary when the school board in nearby Hanover County ordered Harper Lee's novel "To Kill a Mockingbird" banned from high school libraries. Immoral literature, said the board.

FUNDS' OFFER
Kilpatrick called the school board action "an asinine performance" in line with the quote from Charles Dickens' Beadle Bumble. In the book "Oliver Twist," Mr. Bumble called the law "an ass . . . an idiot" if the law supposed a wife acted under the direction of her husband.

The fund immediately offered to send to the first 50 Hanover High School pupils who requested it a free paperback copy of "Mockingbird." Thus far, the fund has sent 63 copies to requesting pupils — since in its high dudgeon over the school board action the fund overlooked the fact that Hanover had two high schools.

"We spent $45 for books and about $15 in postage," Kilpatrick said. "Thus far we've received $74.50 — mostly from Virginia but also from Nebraska, Georgia, Illinois.

"We want to keep the fund low — we're pretty solvent, really — but we're already $14.50 ahead."

FUND LAUNCHED

The fund was launched in 1959. Its first benefice was picking up the fine of a Richmonder who strolled across the hood of an automobile which blocked an intersection while the driver chatted with a friend. The talking driver was an off-duty policeman.

Last week was the fund's first antitextbook censorship move.

Thursday will be the first anniversary of its first application outside of Virginia.

On Jan. 13, 1965, the fund sent $100 to Ivan L. Rudnitsky, a professor at La Salle College in Philadelphia. The money was to help pay legal fees. The professor asked a lady on a bus to tone down her transistor radio. She refused and he grabbed it and bopped her with it. A grand jury refused to indict Rudnitsky.

Burundi's Airmail Note Says U.S. Envoy Ousted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic channels stood idle when the little kingdom of Burundi decided to give the boot to the American ambassador.

It sent a letter — an airmail letter — to notify Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The letter arrived at the State Department in one of the big fat mailbags that are delivered daily.

"We get tons of mail," a State Department official said today. "It's hard to tell on the face of it whether an ordinary letter in open mail demands priority attention."

"NOT RIGHT WAY"
"That's not the way to transmit diplomatic notes."

Donald A. Dumont, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to the kingdom of Burundi, was ousted Monday from Bujumbura.

He arrived Tuesday at Leopoldville, the Congo, with two aides and a puzzled air.

Why were the three kicked out of the central African nation?

"That's a $64 question," Dumont said.

In Washington, the State Department denied as "wholly without foundation" a Bujumbura charge that the American diplomats had maintained contacts with "conspirators" in Burundi.

The Burundi allegations and expulsion demand were made by Foreign Minister Marc Manirakiza in the airmail letter to Rusk.

DATED DEC. 29

The foreign minister's letter from Bujumbura was dated Dec. 29. It showed up in the State Department's African Affairs Bureau Jan. 10, the same day Dumont was being called to the Burundian Foreign Ministry and given 24 hours to get out.

Just when the letter got to Washington was part of the puzzle.

Tuesday the State Department ordered the expulsion of Burundi's ambassador here. That accomplished Washington's first such tit-for-tat in the 1966 diplomatic season.

She's Wearing The Dress Backward

A model shows both sides of a navy and white dress by designer Oleg Cassini at spring style previews in New York, and Cassini said she was wearing the dress backward. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Designer Oleg Cassini Likes Look Of Lolita

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The little girl "rounded look" did its rounding over each shoulder blade of the long-haired model in the navy and white dress. That's how Oleg Cassini knew that she was wearing it backward. Things went that way at the spring style previews Saturday for this designer whose name was once a household word after Mrs. John F. Kennedy, then the nation's first lady, put him officially in charge of her trend-setting state wardrobe.

4-H Advised On Stock

The raising of sheep and steers provided the topic for the meeting of the Gay Hill 4-H Club in the annex of the Bethel Baptist Church.

Darla and Debra Buchanan presented a sheep demonstration, stressing five important points for a 4-H sheep project. They were selection of good stock, keeping accurate records, high quality feed, cleanliness and exercise.

Sherry Jackson spoke on raising a steer for show. She showed equipment used in grooming and advised the members on feeding and exercising the steers.

A change was made in the yearly schedule with the March program to be a food demonstration.

Things haven't run as smoothly for him since. The Bob Hope of the former district told the more than 200 visiting newsmen that, "It has been a good year, though I've been knocked more than any other year."

But the audience was enthusiastic over his collection of very young clothes, as well as his entertaining performance as a commentator. Instead of dressing women in baby clothes the way most have done in the four-day American designer preview series which ended Saturday, Cassini chose to doll them up as Lolita-like adolescents.

If you don't have the high small, but full bosoms that are emphasized throughout the line, Cassini arbitrarily suggests you wait it out until fashion reaches another phase—presumably hidden from sight.

Between pauses on the runway to do the monkey or the jerk with their swaying boss, the pert, bushy-haired misses paraded in very short jacket suits with rows of buttons, piping and flirty pleats. Under the jackets were snug sweetheart blouses that emphasized little girl growing-up curves. On some white insets on dresses and necks were Abe Lincoln's bow ties.

Dresses were wide-necked with notched lapel collars, sometimes cross-wrapped, and well-rounded, of course. There also were chiffon see-through blouses, bare-midriff costumes, hip-hugging garrison or bell bottom trousers, and the shortest shorts short of bikinis.

Dr. Walter Kerr Speaks For P-TA

LAMESA (SC) — Dr. Walter Kerr, Executive Director of the National Youth Foundation and one of the world's foremost authorities on youth problems, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Lamesa High School Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium. He also spoke to the student assembly at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Dr. Kerr, an outstanding youth leader, has served as vice chairman of the Texas Training School Code Commission and has served on the legal staff of the governor of Texas.

Methodist Guild Starts New Study

The beginning of the mission study, "The Christian Calling," was led by Mrs. Bert Affleck at the Monday meeting of the Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church. Mrs. W. E. Moren assisted with the study which will be continued Jan. 17.

Mrs. Ruby Martin presided, welcoming the 29 members and three visitors, Mrs. Margaret White, Miss Helen Willard and Mrs. Kosario Moreno. Hostesses were Miss Roberta Gay and Miss Edith Gay.

Good Skin Care Needs Few Rules

When hands are in closeup, as at the bridge table, one can be grateful for the special beauty attentions paid them. There is the regular use of skin lotion. There is the selection of the gentle soap.

Above all there is the rule never to place the hands in strong detergent water or to use scouring powders without wearing rubber gloves. After removing rubber gloves and before applying skin lotion, "bathe" the hands in good quality witch hazel.

Witch hazel has other uses. When eyeglasses leave a mark and tender spot on the nose, soothe the skin with a cotton ball soaked in witch hazel. It can also be used on the ugly marks left by tight fitting watch bands.

The new visiting committee will be Mrs. Bradshaw, Mrs. W. D. Peters and Mrs. Dalton Mitchell.

Mrs. Hefley and Mrs. Eugene Gross will be the new telephone committee.

Refreshments were served to 30 members from a table centered with an arrangement of pink candles surrounded by pink roses.

KNOTT (SC) — Mrs. L. O. Free visited her mother, who is ill in a Sweetwater hospital, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nichols were recent guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Nichols.

Edgar Airhart has returned to his home from the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital.

Mrs. Fred McGowan reported on the planning session, and Feb. 13 was announced as the date when the members will give free permanent waves to patients at the Big Spring State Hospital. Mrs. A. H. Hardin and Mrs. Larry Bailey were named to serve with Miss Judy Jones on the membership committee. Gordon Wheeler was appointed styles director, and Mrs. Wheeler was named card and flower chairman. A scrapbook was accepted from Mrs. Harold Bentley.

The group met at the Chateau de Coiffures where 13 members were served refreshments by Mrs. Chub Jones and Mrs. Hazel Egger. The next meeting will be Feb. 14 at Atha's Hair Styles when a National Beauty Week queen contest will be held.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

This weekend promises to be a busy one for a number of Big Spring people what with the District Scouters banquet slated for Friday night and the Chamber of Commerce dinner on Saturday. Also on Friday MISS BESSIE LOVE, who is well loved in this area of the Veteran's Administration Hospital, is to be honored with a tea on the occasion of her retirement.

I suppose everyone has one or two particular civic festivities he remembers more clearly than others . . . I have two. One when JP was retiring as president of the local C. C. and it fell my lot to arrange for a centerpiece for the speaker's table. The florists did a beautiful job and to add to the beauty of the decor I chose to use tall slender tapers. They were pretty, too. The only mishap was that just as the speaker was getting up from his chair preparatory to beginning his speech he found himself with a litged taper in his lap. He really rose to the occasion . . . quickly.

Perhaps a number of us will remember the first banquet held at the Goliad gym where the Saturday night affair is to be held. That night the temperature fell to minus nothing and the building was about that cold. Only those in the center of the crowd were warm . . . and that was because there were so many shivering people about them . . . those of us next to the brick wall couldn't shiver we were so rigid.

But that is all worked out now and, too, this January we are having springlike weather so we won't need to worry about being cold.

DR. ROBERT COFFEY and his eldest son were here over the weekend for a visit with Dr. Coffey's father, J. A. COFFEY. The Coffeys live in Fort Worth.

GENE KIMBLE, who has undergone surgery for the second time in a three-week period for the correction of a detached retina, is doing reasonably well at Methodist Hospital in Houston. If he continues to improve he may be able to come home this weekend.

Kimble has undergone surgery five times of his right eye in the past four months.

A Devotional For The Day

Behold I send the promise of my Father upon you. (Luke 24:49)
PRAYER: We thank Thee, Father, for the assurances we find in Thy Word. Help us to trust in them, knowing that, as Jesus came to fulfill Thy most precious promise for our salvation, so He will return as promised to claim us for His own. In His name we praise Thee, praying as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

'Prohibition Of Some Strikes'

Ever since the then governor of Massachusetts, Calvin Coolidge, broke the 1919 Boston police strike, it has been an accepted principle of American law that public employees do not have a constitutional right to strike.
 Many of the states have statutes expressly forbidding strikes by governmental employees or the employees of publicly owned utilities. A number of them, including the Texas law, were adopted during the post-World War II labor strife that produced the federal Taft-Hartley Act.
 It is such a law, the 1948 Condon-Wadlin Act, that Michael Quill's transportation workers have violated in New York. The New York tie-up demonstrates the difficulty of enforcing such a law if public workers are allowed to organize for collective bargaining. One of its main penalties is discharge of offending workers, but skilled subway workers could not be replaced if that penalty were invoked.
 The state laws against strikes by public employees are yet to be fully tested by the U.S. Supreme Court. But opinions to date seem to indicate they will be upheld if they apply only to government workers or employees of publicly owned utilities. State laws that have tried to ban strikes in privately owned utilities, or to stop strikes by temporary governmental seizure of such utilities, have been struck down.
 It seems likely that the courts will sustain the principle of the prohibition of strikes against governments at all levels by departmental workers. Less certain is the prospect that the principle will be fully and indefinitely sustained against strikes in what is known as the proprietary governmental functions, such as publicly owned utilities. If not, however, surely requirements for compulsory arbitration would inevitably become necessary.

It's Not Her Fault

An answer has finally been provided for one of life's less important mysteries: Why do women drive faster than men?
 The answer comes from Police Officer Joseph Zarlega of Cleveland, Ohio, following 27 years of accident investigation and the discovery that women drivers "are generally traveling about 5 to 10 miles an hour faster than the men."
 "Women scuff the back of their high heels if they have to stretch their foot to reach the gas pedal," he explained. "To avoid this they move the seat up, almost on top of the wheel, rest the bottom of the heel on the floor and get added leverage on the accelerator."

 Bravely shouldering his responsibility to criticize constructively, Zarlega offered this advice: "Take off the high heels when driving. It may not be fashionable, but it's much safer."
 These words of advice most probably were written on the wind. Every man should know that the last thing any woman wants is unsolicited advice.

David Lawrence Curbs On 'The Right To Strike'

WASHINGTON — Organized labor throughout the country has just received the worst black eye it has experienced in a half century. This comes as a consequence of the colossal damage inflicted by union leaders in New York City's transit strike.
 Nobody has ever dreamed that, short of a rebellion to overthrow the established government, any organized group of citizens in the United States would be able by acts of their leaders to defy a city and state government and do it all under the theoretical "right to strike."
 Criticism is coming from far and wide. As the New York Herald Tribune put it on Sunday, there is "no absolute right to strike." The editorial says in part:

trade association of labor unions, has no authority over the operations of its member unions and is largely a lobbying organization which at the moment is still demanding that Congress repeal what is known as the "right to work" law.
THE TIME HAS come, however, to let the measure be thoroughly debated and comprehensively amended. If, for instance, compulsory unionization is to be permitted, here are some of the safeguards that should be stipulated by law:

1. No man shall be fired from his job if, after joining a union, he is dissatisfied with its operations and wishes to resign.
2. No union leader should be permitted to negotiate in a collective bargaining conference unless a detail outline of the demands has been approved beforehand by secret vote of the members.
3. EVERY counter-proposal of management, together with a statement of its position, should be made immediately available to all union members so that they can, by secret ballot, vote to accept or reject it.
4. Any union whose members are employed by federal or state or city governments should be forbidden to strike and, if a strike is authorized by vote of the members, the latter as well as the leaders must be made subject to fines and other penalties in the event that existing law is disobeyed. Lawsuits on this point should be permitted to be filed either by dissenting union members or by citizens whose property is damaged or by governmental agencies.

Billy Graham

I know people who go to our church who do things through the week that are plainly un-Christian, but they are in church on Sunday, going through the motions of worship. I have often wondered if God hears their prayers, or accepts their worship. What do you think?
 H. C.
 The Bible says, "Man looketh upon the outward appearance; but God looketh upon the heart." Since only God can see and know the hearts of people, He is the only one qualified to make a judgment in such matters.
 However, if, as you say, their conduct through the week is plainly un-Christian, no amount of piety can fool God on Sunday.
 The king in Shakespeare's "Hamlet," being plagued by the murder of his brother, goes to the chapel to pray. Realizing that there is an inconsistency between his actions and his prayers, he exclaims:
 "My words fly up; my thoughts remain below;
 Word without thoughts never to heaven go."
 The Bible says, "The earnest fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much." Consistency of life is one of the conditions laid down in the Bible for effective prayer, and if we are inconsistent, or insincere, our prayers will never reach the throne of grace.

ISN'T THERE A WAY TO RECIPROCATE?

Bombing Resumption Decision A Hard One

WASHINGTON (AP) — The longer President Johnson's peace offensive runs without decisive results the closer the President comes to the day when he must decide whether to resume the bombing of North Viet Nam targets.
 It will be a hard decision to make.
 Much of the good will which the United States has harvested around the world since the bombing pause began at Christmas time is likely to be quickly lost if air strikes start up again, reviving the spectacle of a great power battering a small one.

BUT SOONER or later, if North Viet Nam does not act for negotiations, the President will have to judge whether the bombing lull has gone on long enough to serve his peace-seeking purposes and his parallel diplomatic and propaganda aims. He will then have to decide whether and under what conditions the bombing should be resumed.

While the bombing was under way, U.S. officials claimed that it impaired North Viet Nam's ability to infiltrate men and arms into the South. Yet its military impact was admittedly limited.

Even if the bombing of the North is not essential for military reasons, it is essential, in the judgment of some of the President's top advisers, for political reasons.

The bombings put North Viet Nam under direct threat of massive damage, forcing it to weigh its own survival against the survival of South Viet Nam — and it gives the United States an issue to bargain with in some future search for peace if the present one fails.

At the same time, it gives the United States a bargaining chip in some future search for peace if the present one fails.

At the same time, it gives the United States a bargaining chip in some future search for peace if the present one fails.

Stable Found

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — When police captured a horse running loose in a residential area, the next problem, where to stable it, was solved easily.
 Plainclothesman Hector Jordan and Peter Perez roped the critter and led it to the police station.
 It will await its owner tied in the police garage, the same building where horses were kept by the police department before the advent of the horseless carriage.

So Just Be Yourself

NEW YORK (AP)—Who has it better in life—man or woman?
 I had always thought that most people were pretty well satisfied to be a member of the sex they were born into.
 However, it appears my viewpoint may be wrong. According to an article in "The Farmers' Almanac," my authority in such matters, 65 per cent of women would prefer to be men because they feel men have more freedom.

THE ARTICLE pointed out some of the disadvantages of being a man. Such as that men work at more dangerous occupations and are four times as likely to be killed in accidents and three times as likely to become homicide victims.

So what price freedom? Furthermore, the article said: Women collect 80 per cent of all life insurance, 63 per cent of inheritances, and own 60 per cent of savings accounts. They also go less often to jail or mental hospitals, and live longer than men.

Looking at it philosophically, it does appear that anyone given a choice would prefer being a woman, doesn't it? But man does not live by philosophy alone.

EVEN THOUGH he may live five to seven years less than a woman, he'd rather spend those years as a man.

Here are a few reasons why a masculine role appeals to him and a feminine role doesn't:

Any bar in town will serve him whether or not he has an escort.

If his back itches in public, he can scratch it in public.

All in all, however, each sex has advantages to be grateful for and disadvantages to put up with. Since there isn't a great deal that can be done about it, perhaps the most sensible motto is:

"To each his own."

To Your Good Health

What The Term 'Rule Out' Means

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 This comes up again and again in health care. The patient may seem to have severe attacks of indigestion, but it is vital to "rule out" heart disease before instituting treatment for the "indigestion." Or one may suspect heart disease yet have to "rule out" gall bladder disease before knowing how best to treat.
 When some possibility can be "ruled out," it narrows things down so you can be sure what is the trouble.
 Dear Dr. Molner: I am a mother in my mid-twenties. What can be done for a rectal itch that produces tiny white worms? What could be the cause? — MRS. D. R.
 It sounds like pinworms, so see your doctor and by all means take along some of those tiny worms for him to identify.
 Quite aside from your own comfort, there's the risk of others in your family getting this parasite. Adults as well as children can have pinworms. Indeed, when children are treated successfully for pinworms, yet get it again, often the reason is that adults in the family, not treated,

'I Don't Believe, But . . .'

Funny thing about water witches, it's hard to find anyone who admits to really believing in them, but— it's kind of like when Pappy W. Lee O'Daniel ran for governor. You couldn't find many who would say they voted for him, but he buried the whole field under an avalanche of ballots.
 ANYHOW, we were talking about drilling wells and the conversation got around to water witches. One after another, they spun yarns of how water witches had been called in after all scientific knowledge had failed and several dry holes had been hit. Sure enough, right where the witch suffered a paroxysm of the twig, a good well was found.
 Out in this country, the favorite tool seems to be a peach limb. I was never quite sure why it had to be a peach tree fork, except it had a fair amount of flexibility along with reasonable rigidity. Down in East Texas, I'm told, the witches favored a willow fork, the theory being that willows dearly love water and will inexorably point to it.
 FIRST CLASS witches could—and still do—get a firm but sensitive grip, usually with the palms up, on the limbs of the Y with the main branch pointing horizontally away from him, but when he came over the spot where the water was, the twig would begin to tremble and shake almost violently. Then, as though fighting against fate itself, the point of the fork would turn downward.

 This was the spot. However, it was not to be taken on first say. Usually the witch canvassed other areas with no sensation at all, but everytime he would come back to this location, the twig would quiver like a dog on point. Then the fork would dip straight down.
 BECAUSE of the idea that growing things know about water, most witches stick to peach and willow forks, but some use mesquite (because it has roots able to find water, so they say), or other trees. A few, however, are specialists who adapt to the country. I heard of one who rigged him a fork from barbed wire. More recently have come accounts of witches who use welding rods. Going one step further, one witch rigged a device of aluminum rods with copper tips. This contraption reportedly goes into convulsions even when it crosses a pipeline.
 OF COURSE, in this enlightened age, most of us have a hesitancy of admitting faith in a water witch. After all, it just doesn't make sense—but then, how are you going to argue with a water well? Especially when your best friend, or the president of the bank, or anyone but a hardened hydrologist, says, "I don't really believe in water witches, but we had this place where we had drilled six holes and . . ." Maybe they forget the times the witch misses, but this time he hit, and it was "a good well!" —JOE PICKLER

Holmes Alexander Rhodesia Sees It Through

WASHINGTON — "Too many ticks . . . you're on a party line," said an interested individual who was telephoning into what was once the Office of Rhodesian Affairs.
 In a city which unhappily abounds with the apparatus of snooper, you'd have a hard time proving that any particular phone is bugged. But there are other signs of surveillance and isolation around the little house on McGill Terrace which was once a political annex of the British Embassy.

JUST BEFORE the Rhodesian act of independence on Nov. 11, that country's representatives in Washington mailed out informational packets concerning the new status. Some packets were delivered after Independence day, whereupon there arrived stern messages that the senders might be held in violation of the Foreign Agents Registration Act, considering that Rhodesia is no longer a recognized nation.
 In fact, however, Rhodesian nationals in Washington are trying to walk the chalk line of compartment. Some 400 letters, most of them offering support to the regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith in Salisbury, have received a curt, formal mimeographed reply that "This office is not able to transact any diplomatic or consular business or to answer any enquiries (sic)."
 ABOUT THE only hate rays to penetrate this island of exile have been Washington Post editorials seething with such adjectives as "loathsome" and "racist." The only official note of cheer has come from Congressman R. R. Gross (R., Iowa), who scolded the President for joining Great Britain in a petroleum embargo against Rhodesia. For the rest, the ex-spokesmen for a pro-Western nation of over 4 million people are virtually held incommunicado in our capital city of the Free World.

But down in south-central Africa, Rhodesia is resolutely digging in—literally so—against the economic crops, like tobacco, is being cultivated for food crops, like wheat. Many manufactured goods, like transistor radios and household appliances, will supply the home folks—especially the merging African majority—instead of going to foreign markets.

THE BESIEGERS are putting on the squeeze. The Bank of England has seized Rhodesian funds on deposit in London. The Kenyan Government has been grabbing Rhodesian—addressed freight off planes that land in Nairobi. If the Black African republics and the Communists had their way, Britain and the United States would bomb and blockade this spunky little nation off the map, but the crack Rhodesian ground troops and airmen are a powerful dissuader. No country has "stood alone" with quite such plegm since the Battle of Britain.

RHODESIA'S OFFENSE to the civilized world is that it's a little too civilized by African standards. I stayed at the homey Meikles Hotel in Salisbury three years ago and covered an election campaign that was not unlike the one last November in New York City—except that the Conservatives won.

BUT THE way of honest individualism in man and nation is hard these days. The Queen of England, the President of the United States, and especially our African Affairs Assistant ("Soapy") Williams, treat Rhodesians as if they were lepers—whereas, as the truism states, Rhodesians are "more English than the English"—or than the English used to be.

Business Issues Before Congress

NEW YORK (AP)—The second session of the 89th Congress could mean even more in dollars and cents to American business than did the action-packed first session.

THE REASON is that most of the issues in the session that opened this week are closely tied to financial and economic decisions. Most of the social and legal questions were dealt with last year.

CURRENT ISSUES range from how much money will be appropriated for the Viet Nam war to what industries and companies will get the new defense orders and which ones will be cut back in payments by the U.S. Treasury. The type of war to be waged in Viet Nam will determine how much of the spending—and what company and what community gets or loses orders.

THE ISSUES also include how the new money will be raised through increased tax collections or by selling a lot more Treasury securities. Basic to this is the monetary question of what rate of interest the Treasury will be allowed to pay when it borrows.

There's a 4 1/2 per cent ceiling on what it can pay on bond issues, although the going interest rate in the money markets is well above that today. The Treasury has to issue short-term notes and bills to which the ceiling doesn't apply. It is paying well above 4 1/2 per cent.

MANY COMMUNITIES and corporations have an interest in the "Great Society" programs under way, beyond the central issue of what they will do for the general welfare. Congress may be asked to decide whether such programs, with their large outlays of cash for goods and services, are to be continued at the present rate, at a reduced one, or expanded as called for in the original time schedule.

BUSINESS ALSO will be closely watching moves under way in this session of Congress to make more definite and restrictive the controls over pricing which the administration has been confining largely to persuasion or threats of retaliatory moves by the government. The administration wants to hold basic prices down if possible as the economy heats up and nears the point where inflation could take off on a dangerous ride.

ONE BIG prop of the economy today is the boom in spending by business for new plant and equipment. Any tax changes could affect this. Some even wonder if Congress might rescind the 7 per cent depreciation allowance for tax purposes originally voted to encourage the buying of new equipment.

THE government's stockpile of strategic materials, and how to get rid of some of the surpluses, will be up for debate. Business has a vital stake in this as it could affect prices and even trim production of some items.

AND GOVERNMENT'S relations with labor through guidelines on holding down wage increases it considers inflationary also is likely to come before Congress along with the guidelines on price increases.

Sifting Of Farm Program Nears

WASHINGTON (AP)—A comprehensive study that could result in an overhaul of the federal farm program will begin soon under guidance of a new advisory commission food and fiber.

President Johnson created the 30-member commission last fall, naming as chairman Dean Sherwood Berg of the Institute of Agriculture at the University of Minnesota. Other members include leaders in business, agriculture, labor, education, news media and science.

Berg, opening the commission's organizational meeting, said Tuesday:

preprehensive study of farm policy which could lead to an overhaul of the whole farm program."

The 1965 farm legislation provided stabilization measures for wheat, feed grains, cotton, rice, wool and dairy products. It authorized a broadened use of government payments to supplement farmers returns from the sale of commodities grown under controls.

Berg said the study, which may take many months to complete, is "particularly timely as a great shift is taking place in public thinking with the increasing realization of the momentous food problem facing the world."

FUTURE OVERHAUL

"Though the provisions of the 1965 farm legislation are to be effective for four years — in contrast to the past one or two-year span of previous bills—this does not militate against a comprehensive study of farm policy which could lead to an overhaul of the whole farm program."

HUNGRY AREAS

He was referring to the many recommendations coming from public leaders urging the government to buy more food for movement to hungry areas abroad, instead of paying farmers not to produce. This would permit, advocates say, an easing of restrictions on U.S. farm production.

The commission chairman also said "any solution must recognize fully the continuing U.S. role in the worldwide effort to overcome the widening gap between population and food supply."

Dear Abby

They Both Need Help

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for six years and it seems like 60. We have three beautiful children, five, three and 13 months old. My husband is a steady worker and makes a good salary, which he turns over to me as I am a thrifty shopper and a good saver. He doesn't drink or run around. Those are his good qualities, BUT — When he comes home he always greets our children with a slap in the mouth. He always finds some excuse to hit one of them. He uses me as a punching bag if he feels like it, too. He tells the kids, "Don't put any dirt on the driveway, MY car has to run over it." And, "Don't touch the car. It's MINE!" (everything is HIS.) He doesn't talk, he yells. The kids are scared to death of him and so am I. He hasn't taken me anywhere in two years. I begged him to go to the priest with me and he refused. He says if the priest comes here he'll throw him out. He won't take me to church so I pray at home, but I have to hide when I pray or he'll say I'm cracking up. Maybe I am Am I?

Media Censor Voluntarily

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon believes most of the nation's newspapers, radio and television stations are going along with its recent request to withhold news about troop unit deployments until official announcements are made.

This form of voluntary censorship was proposed in a memorandum issued Oct. 30 by Arthur Sylvester, public information chief.

His memorandum said press corps members covering Viet Nam had agreed voluntarily to delay news stories or publication of photographs or movements of troops, ships or aircraft until officially announced by U.S. headquarters in Saigon. He requested media in the United States to do the same.

Advance disclosure that particular units or ships have been ordered to Southeast Asia or were en route, Sylvester said, "can assist the Viet Cong."

When the Pentagon was asked today about reaction to the request, a spokesman said: "The Defense Department has conducted no survey on this matter, nor does it intend to."

"However, since there have been moves under way in recent weeks that normally would be obvious to the press and since we have noted no accounts of these moves, we must assume that the large majority of U.S. news media are cooperating with our request."

"This, of course, is a continuation of previous cooperation."

Wanted: GOP Race Prospect

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Gov. Henry Bellmon, Oklahoma's first Republican governor, said Tuesday he will not seek the U.S. Senate seat now held by Fred Harris, a Democrat.

His announcement at a routine press conference caught practically everyone by surprise and left state GOP leaders without a candidate for the Senate race.

"I honestly don't see anyone in sight anywhere," one party leader said when asked to list possible Republican senatorial candidates.

BETWEEN LINES

Politicians quickly began trying to read between the lines. Two things appeared certain:

1. Bellmon will complete the final year of his term as governor and won't run for another office in 1966.

2. He is strongly considering a bid in 1968 for the Senate seat now held by Democrat Mike Monroney.

SHUNS CAMPAIGN

Bellmon said to undertake "an arduous campaign" would mean neglecting his duties as chief executive.

He added, however, that he "would appreciate the opportunity to continue in public service." This seemed to be a broad hint that his political career isn't over.

Bellmon was asked if he planned to run for Monroney's Senate seat in 1968. He replied: "I've said all I'm going to say right here in this statement."

DEAR WORRIED: Your doctor can tell you if you're "cracking up." I suggest you see him immediately. Tell him your troubles and ask him to see your husband, too. You don't need your husband's permission to see the priest. And if you continue to live with this man, who is cruel (or sick), then you are sicker than he is.

DEAR ABBY: Getting one of those duplicates of a long Christmas letter is like being stuck with someone who does all the talking. No doubt they have a handful of friends and relatives who are interested in what every member of the family did last year, but why bore everybody else? Receiving a Christmas card with a short personal note is sheer delight, but spare me from those form Christmas newsletters.

AGAINST XMAS LETTERS

DEAR AGAINST: Some Christmas newsletters are new and interesting. Others are boring. But all are sent in the spirit of generosity and sharing. And it costs something in time and money to compose, print and mail them. When one receives a book as a gift, he should appreciate the thought, but he doesn't have to read it unless he wants to.

DEAR ABBY: The problem of "adoptive parents" in your column recently was one we faced many years ago.

When we brought home a beautiful little baby girl, many of our friends and neighbors were inquisitive and wanted to know the details. On the advice of our pediatrician, we stood our ground and told them nothing.

When they asked, "Where did you get her?" we looked them in the eye and replied, "She's OURS. And we have the papers to prove it."

Or when they asked, "Do you know anything about her parents?" we replied, "We are her parents, and we know each other very well."

They may have been momentarily offended, but they understood that to question us further was useless.

The six rebels who left Tuesday were the first to obey President Hector Garcia-Godoy's order naming 30 military officers of both factions in the April rebellion to diplomatic and study posts abroad.

Col. Francis Caamaño Deno, the former president of the rebel regime, and his armed forces minister, Col. Manuel Ramon Montes Arache, remained behind. They were expected to leave the country soon, possibly this week.

WILL CONSIDER
The Dominican army balked at accepting the president's order last week, but Commodore Francisco River Caminero, the military chief, has said the regulars will consider it as soon as the top rebels leave.

Communist unions, faced with the failure of a two-day "patriotic strike" to protest Garcia-Godoy's order told their followers Tuesday night to return to their jobs. The Communist labor chiefs said the strike had demonstrated the "peoples' support" of the cause.

The strike caused minor disruptions in the capital, but no major industries were affected. A few stores closed, fearing damage from agitators.

Farm Labor Advice Given

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Farm labor leaders were urged Tuesday to convey respect and understanding in regard to wages and working conditions for farm labor.

Speaking as a member of a panel to delegates of the National Farm Labor Conference, Joseph W. Axelson of the American Crystal Sugar Co. said employers need to provide understanding as to farm workers pay, instruction in how to do the job and satisfactory housing.

Axelson urged that the workers be given consideration in the type of housing provided.

Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, scheduled to appear today, notified officials he would be unable to attend. Under Secretary of Labor John F. Hennings was to speak instead.

Candidacy Eligibility Hearing Set Jan. 19

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court set a hearing Jan. 19 to listen to Sen. Franklin Spears' arguments that the San Antonio attorney is eligible to run for state attorney general.

Spears asked the hearing Tuesday after state Democratic Chairman Will D. Davis refused to accept Spears' $1,000 filing fee and put Spears' name on the May 7 Democratic primary ballot.

CLOUD OVERHANGS
Davis said there was a cloud over the eligibility of Spears and Sen. Galloway Calhoun, Tyler, another announced candidate for attorney general because they were in the legislature when the attorney general's salary was raised from $20,000 to $22,000.

Calhoun has said he will go through the motions of offering his fee and then take his case to the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court studied for several hours Spears' request that he be allowed to petition the court for a writ of mandamus against Davis and state party officials. The writ, if finally granted, would force the party to put Spears' name on the Democratic primary ballot.

MARTIN CANDIDACY
The third announced candidate for attorney general in the Democratic primary is Secretary of State Crawford Martin. There are no announced Republican candidates.

The filing deadline is Feb. 7.

Spears' petition to the Supreme Court said his Senate term does not overlap with the next attorney general's term, which begins Jan. 1, 1967. Spears says his senatorial term ends Nov. 6.

Davis said a Supreme Court decision is needed because former Attorney General Will Wilson held in 1962 that a senator's term does not end until the convening of the legislature on the second Tuesday in January.

The departing rebel officers were received by Garcia-Godoy at his residence as he was celebrating his 45th birthday. The group was taken to the International Airport by U.S. Army helicopters and put aboard a jetliner for Puerto Rico.

An official source said the officers — five colonels and lieutenant — were going to Rome, Guatemala, El Salvador, France, Mexico and Uruguay.

UNDER PRESSURE
Garcia-Godoy has been under pressure from the rebels to remove the chiefs of the regular armed forces ever since he was installed as president of the provisional government last September. The demand was intensified following a battle in Santiago Dec. 19 between regular army troops and rebel forces in which a dozen men were killed. Each side said the other was to blame.

An investigation ordered by Garcia-Godoy did not fix the blame, but he implied in a radio and television speech two weeks ago that both sides were partially at fault. His solution was to get the top men in both factions out of the country.
