India Elects Mrs. Gandhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Mrs. Indira Gandhi, daughter of the late Jawaharlal Nehru, was elected today to be India's next prime minister, the first woman in modern times to head the government of a major nation.

India's ruling Congress party automatically elevated Mrs. Gandhi to prime minister by electing her leader of its majority faction in Parliament.

IMMENSE PROBLEMS Thus on the shoulders of this 48-year-old widow fell the immense problems of India which her father had wrestled for 17 years until his death in 1964 and which his successor, Lal Bahadur Shastri, had attacked vigorously until a heart attack killed him Jan. 11.

Mrs. Gandhi went to her victory wearing a red rosebud pinned to her shawl, just as her father wore a red rose daily throughout the tumultuous

Aussie Prime Minister Robert Menzies Retiring

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies, the senior government chief in the British Commonwealth, announced today he is retiring after 16 years in office. Menzies, 71, did not disclose whether he also intends to give up his seat in Parliament.

HEAD COALITION Treasury Minister Harold Holt is expected to succeed him as head of the Liberal-Country party coalition.

Son of a country storekeeper and grandson of a Scottish miner, Menzies gave up a lucrative law practice to enter state politics in 1928.

When he entered the federal Parliament the next year, Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons selected him as attorney general. When Lyons died in 1939, Menzies succeeded him and led Australia into World War II at

Area Has A White Coat, Snow Heaviest For State

Eight Inches Fall In Parts Of Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Heaviest snows of the season struck Texas Wednesday, dropping 8 inches or more in scattered sections of the Panhandle-Plains and falling far south in Central Texas.

Snow was so deep at Plainview that police dispatcher John Phillips reported, "They say you can't find the farm-to-market roads around Kress if you don't know where to look."

Phillips said 6 to 8 inches occurred in the Kress vicinity 12 miles north of Plainview on U.S. 87.

TO NORTH

Far to the north on the edge of the Panhandle, city patrolman Leonard Rathbun estimated a 4-inch snow cover at Perryton. He said conditions were worse to the north toward Liberal, Kan.

Wichita Falls reported 2.5 inches of snow around dawn with heavy flakes still falling and the temperature at the freezing mark.

Quannah, 75 miles northwest of Wichita Falls, reported 3 to 4 inches on the ground and visibility under a half mile as snow continued to fall heavily. All highways around Quannah were considered hazardous.

OTHER LOCATIONS

Borger, in the Panhandle, reported 3 to 4 inches of snow by unofficial measurement.

Pampa had an official measurement of 3 inches, while Vega, 35 miles west of Amarillo, had 3 inches.

The Weather Bureau additionally reported 2 inches of snow on the ground at Amarillo, one inch at Lubbock, and 3 inches at Childress.

Fort Worth reported snow during the morning, while Dallas underwent a mixture of sleet and rain.

An 8 a.m. Weather Bureau radar report said an area of light rain to moderate sleet and snow fell at that time along and 100 to 160 miles east-northeast of a line from Wichita Falls to 50 miles south of Mineral Wells to Waco to 40 miles southeast of Waco.

SECTORS DRIZZLY

The Weather Bureau said, "There is intermittent rain or drizzle over most of East and Central Texas and Southwest Texas east of the Pecos."

"The rain is mixed with snow from a Gainesville-Ablelene line northwestward about 50 to 100 miles," then snow northwestward.

Farther northwestward, snow covered nearly all of New Mexico with 6 inches in the Santa Fe-Las Vegas area in the north, 3 to 5 inches in the middle Rio Grande Valley from Albuquerque south to Socorro, and 1 inch at Carlsbad in the southeast.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Kansas City at 5 a.m. issued a special warning against hazardous driving conditions, mostly from accumulated snow, for the north and central part of the Texas Panhandle and adjacent sections of Oklahoma.

County Gets FM 700 ROW In Court Condemnation

Two important pieces of right-of-way land for FM 700 west leg were acquired in Howard County Tuesday afternoon by condemnation proceedings.

A special commission allotted Ralph Gossett, James L. Gossett and Elmer Tarbox $114,503 for Parcel 13—a tract of 2,907 acres on the south side of the route of the new highway. The commission also awarded James D. Gossett and Elmer Tarbox, owners of Parcel 14, $4,050 for 0.62 acres adjacent to Parcel 13.

Lee Porter, county judge, said that the tracts signed Tuesday and the land bought from the J. M. L. Brown Estate some time ago, cleans up most of a key segment of the scheduled new highway route. The land involved in the deals is the area needed at the intersection of the FM 700 and US 87.

Brown Estate was paid $75,000 for the property taken by the county for road needs. Buildings on the property were sold for $1,000, leaving the net cost to the county $74,000.

One more important piece of property remains to be acquired at the US 87-FM 700 intersection area. This is the Ella Moore property. No action has been taken on this tract.

The special appraisers, who awarded the value and damages to the two Gossetts and Tarbox, were E. P. Driver, J. W. Pursier and W. J. Sheppard.

Porter said that no announcement has been made by the owners on whether they will accept the allotted price for their land or will appeal.

The condemnation action clears the way for the state to move onto the property when the time comes to begin work on the highway. If the owners want to appeal from the findings of the special commission, they can do so and a jury in county court later on will decide if the commissioner's figures were fair or otherwise.

Much of the right of way for the new FM 700 project has not been obtained, Porter said. Settlement has been reached with the First Baptist Church, the Edwards Estate and several other property owners. Two important tracts at the point on the west end of the road are yet to be purchased.

The funds being used for the acquisition of right of way came from a $600,000 bond issue approved by the voters of the county in 1965. Of this bond issue, the county commissioners have sold $400,000. This is the money now being expended. Some of it was used to clear right of way on the north leg of FM 700 which extends from IS 20 north to tie into SH 350. This road is now being built.

Holiday Truce Hour Arrives

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The clock brought the Viet Cong tonight into their self-proclaimed four-day truce for the lunar new year after they had staged a series of attacks, the bloodiest at a camp for 2,000 Vietnamese refugees.

American armed forces remained on full alert. It was still unclear whether the Communist truce offer—advertised as effective at 11 p.m. (9 a.m. Big Spring time)—covered U.S. and other Allied troops.

Thirty-three persons were killed and 54 wounded as the guerrillas swept down before dawn on the sleeping camp on the outskirts of Tam Ky, a provincial capital 350 miles northeast of Saigon. Many of the victims were women and children.

IGNITE HUTS

U.S. advisers said the raiders set fire to thatched huts, executed whole families on the spot, mangled the bodies and kidnaped nine men. They left behind leaflets denouncing U.S. operations as a "dirty war of aggression against the people of Viet Nam."

As to the Viet Cong cease-fire, one intelligence source said hard information had been received that American GIs would not be included.

ORDER CEASE FIRE

As in the case of the Christmas truce, the Saigon government and its American and other allies have ordered a cease-fire of their own. But it is to run for only 78 hours instead of the 96 hours set by the Viet Cong.

The Allied cease-fire is to go into effect at 12 noon Thursday and end at 6 p.m. Sunday. A U.S. spokesman said American military operations already under way will continue until noon Thursday.

Court Hearing Opened On Candidacy Eligibility

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Supreme Court hears arguments today on the eligibility of two state senators to run for attorney general in the May 7 Democratic primary.

Sens. Franklin Spears, San Antonio, and Galloway Calhoun Jr., Tyler, took the matter to the court after state Democratic Chairman Will Davis refused last week to accept their filing fees.

HELD UNCERTAIN Davis said their eligibility is uncertain because both were in the 59th Legislature, which raised the attorney general's salary from $20,000 to $22,500.

The State Constitution says a senator cannot hold an office enlarged during his term if his legislative term and that of the other office overlap.

Davis urged the two candidates to get the question before the Supreme Court as quickly as possible because the filing deadline for candidates is Feb. 7.

Spears was elected in 1962 to a four-year term. Calhoun was re-elected in 1964, also to serve four years.

TERMS EXPIRE

Both senators contend their terms expire before the new attorney general's term begins Jan. 1, 1967.

Spears contends his term expires in November on the fourth anniversary of his election.

Calhoun said in his petition the legislature shortened his term to two years, also ending this November, when it merged his district with that of Sen. Jack Strong, Longview.

Secretary of State Crawford Martin, the third announced candidate for attorney general, paid his filing fee Monday and his filing application was accepted.

County Hit By Variety Of Weather

About the only kind of weather that Big Spring did not have during Tuesday night were dust storms, tornadoes and a heat wave.

It rained, snowed, sleeted, thundered and lightning flashed—there is some evidence there may have been just a little hail. To supplement the list, a fair to heavy fog moved in today.

The result was a new white coating of snow which brought the 48-hour total to two inches and the moisture value total to .19 inch.

The thunder and lightning which occurred in the early morning hours was a topic of widespread discussion today. Oldtimers were scratching their heads and trying to recall if they ever saw a similar phenomenon before.

Meantime, the weatherman said that there would be a continuance of the same sort of weather that has prevailed so far this week.

Much of the snow which fell Monday and Monday night fell away Tuesday. Last night's new supply restored the pristine whiteness to the countryside. However the mild temperature of this morning—it was above freezing from 9 a.m. on—was disposing of the new snow at a rapid rate.

HENRY H. FOWLER

Savings Bond Interest Rate Increase Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government soon will hike interest rates on U. S. savings bonds to the maximum allowable 4 1/4 per cent but will not ask congressional approval to go beyond that, sources indicated today.

The government now pays 3 1/2 per cent interest on the $49 billion outstanding in series "E" and "H" bonds.

EARLY DATE

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler announced Tuesday that President Johnson had ordered the interest boost at "the earliest possible date."

Fowler said the higher rates will help maintain the bond sales.

Under law, the government cannot raise the interest rate beyond 4 1/4 per cent without congressional approval.

In a New York speech, Fowler gave no indication of how large an increase is being considered. He said only that the nation was again at a point "where rates available on a variety of alternative forms of savings have moved beyond the rate paid on U. S. savings bonds."

LBJ Will Take Part In Peace Center Rites

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is going to Independence, Mo., Thursday to take part in ceremonies announcing the establishment in Jerusalem of a Harry S. Truman Center for the Advancement of Peace.

The center will be located at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. In addition, there will be an annual $50,000 Harry S. Truman Award for Peace.

The funds for the center and the peace award are being raised privately, the White House said.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson will fly to Kansas City, then go to the Truman Library in Independence for the ceremonies in the library auditorium.

Moyers said he expects Johnson to return directly to Washington after the ceremony.

Moyers said the Truman Center for the Advancement of Peace will be an interfaith, inter-racial and supranational institution.

He said he did not know what the criteria for the annual $50,000 peace award would be.

Johnson Asks Congress For Extra $12.7 Billion For War

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson formally asked Congress today for an extra $12.761 billion to finance the war in Viet Nam, declaring, "We hope the aggression will end, we must be prepared if it does not."

Again Johnson was unable to say whether his current effort "to open a road to a peaceful settlement" will be successful or not.

KEEP TRYING

"We will continue to press on every door," he said. "But until there is a response—and until the aggression ends—we must do all that is necessary," the President said, "to support our allies and our fighting forces in Viet Nam. That is the purpose of the present request."

The request was in the form of a letter to Speaker of the House John W. McCormack.

ASKS SPEED

It urged Congress to act promptly.

The second supplemental defense money request this fiscal year will provide, among other things, for adding 113,000 men to the armed forces and for buying their equipment. Civilian personnel will be increased by 94,000.

Most of the new troops will be allotted to the Army and Marine Corps, the services fighting the ground war in Southeast Asia. A few thousand men will be given each to the Air Force and Navy.

PASS 3 MILLION

If Congress approves, as expected, the U. S. armed forces will go to 3,093,000 men — highest since a year after the Korean war.

Johnson's formal request to Congress was expected to provide details on the proposal for $12.346 billion in military money and $415 million for the economic side of the U. S. effort in Viet Nam.

The in-depth specifics may not emerge until Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara testifies in support of the money request Thursday.

From the skimpy information let out ahead of the presidential communication to Congress, it is known that $4.6 billion of the new supplemental will be spent by June 30, the end of the current fiscal year.

TO $54 BILLION

This, together with a $1.7-billion add-on to the defense budget for Viet Nam last summer, will jack up total military spending to $54.2 billion this year. This is about $6 billion higher than expected when the regular defense budget went to Capitol Hill nearly a year ago.

Following closely behind the $12.761-billion request for this year will come the regular defense budget proposal for next fiscal year — a request swollen to an expected $58.3 billion by the Viet Nam war.

And already there is talk in the Pentagon of preparing for still another money request, perhaps in the spring.

Popular And Prolific Author Kathleen Norris Dies At 85

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Kathleen Norris, one of America's most popular woman writers, has died at 85 after writing nearly 100 novels for "people with simple needs and motives."

"I have no knowledge of the dark forces which fascinate modern writers," said Mrs. Norris, reminiscing about her prolific writings recently.

The novelist was suffering

KATHLEEN NORRIS

from a circulatory ailment and fell into a coma a week ago. She died Tuesday at the Pacific Heights home of her son, Dr. Frank Norris, with her family gathered around her.

FIRST IN 1911
Her first novel, "Mother," was published in 1911. Former President Theodore Roosevelt was so moved by it that he climbed three flights of stairs to the Norris apartment just to shake the author's hand.

From that year until her last novel, "Through a Glass Darkly," she produced nearly two books a year, 58 magazine serials and uncounted newspaper and magazine articles.

A critic once wrote that her novels "poured from her type-writer as sawdust pours from a sawmill."

HUSBAND MARVELED
Her late husband, Charles G.

Norris, also a successful if less prolific writer, marveled at his wife's ability to sit down and write anywhere at any time.

"We would come home from the opera," he once recalled, "and Kathleen would take off her cloak and earrings, sit down and type for ten minutes."

The critics respected her craftsmanship but regarded her as an "incorrigible romanticist" and refused to take her seriously.

"But then," she was often heard saying, "I never took them very seriously either."

Her stories all had happy endings. Three generations of admiring Americans considered her infinitely wise in affairs of the heart. The plots of many of her novels concerned the struggles of a family to sustain love and achieve happiness.

BANKER'S DAUGHTER
She was the daughter of a San Francisco banker of modest means, James Alden Thompson. When Kathleen was 19 her parents died and, as the eldest child, she was left to care for her two sisters and three brothers.

To care for her brothers and sisters, she worked as a bookkeeper, a librarian, a society editor and finally as a reporter for the San Francisco Call. She covered the 1906 earthquake for that paper.

In 1909 she met Charles Norris and married him. Charles' brother, Frank Norris, also was a writer.

HIGHEST PAID
When Charles and Kathleen returned to California from New York in the 1920s Mrs. Norris was said to be the highest-paid woman writer in the world.

Her husband died in 1945. She stopped writing for nearly a year, but she wrote about a half dozen more novels before 1959.

Scientist Runs Amok, Shoots 3, Kills Self

UPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Behind the high fence shielding Brookhaven National Laboratory a young scientist stripped to the waist, daubed his chest and forehead with fingernail polish, picked up a shotgun and rushed into the engineering department.

Suffolk County police said Michael Maresca, 34, ran through the building Tuesday, sending his fellow workers fleeing in a panic.

He wounded three friends with shotgun blasts. He fired at a fourth, but missed. Then, police said, he ran outside to his car, where he put the muzzle in his mouth and pulled the trigger.

Dawson Schools To Receive Aid

LAMESA (SC) — Applications for funds under Title I have been approved for Union, Klondike, Dawson and Sands schools for remedial reading programs for educationally deprived children. The program is scheduled to begin the second semester of the year.

Qualifying teachers will be hired within the near future and reading stations will be installed in each of the schools.

An orientation workshop will be held in Levelland Jan. 17-21 to acquaint teachers with equipment and materials to be used in the program.

Purpose of the program is to provide special education needs for educationally deprived pupils in conjunction with training already being received.

Farm Loans For Loss From Rain

The laboratory, set on a wooded, 3,500-acre site on Long Island, is a nuclear research center financed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Maresca, a reaction evaluation engineer, had been a quiet and friendly man, but police said he began "acting in a strange way" Monday.

He was sent to the head of industrial medicine at Brookhaven, Dr. Robert A. Love, who advised him to see a psychiatrist.

"HAD ILLUSIONS"
Police said: "It's believed by all concerned that the subject became deranged and mentally unbalanced. They feel that security is not involved. Since the subject applied for the space program, he has been having illusions of people following him and spying on him."

Police said Maresca painted his chest and forehead with three large squares, with a smaller square at the top.

The first person he met was James R. Powell, 37, a physicist, of Rocky Point, N.Y. Without a word he fired, striking Powell in the back with a load of bird shot.

He went into the office of Martin S. Zucker, 35, an associate physicist, of Mastic Beach, N.Y. He aimed at Zucker's head, but Zucker said he pushed the gun aside and was struck in the arm and hip.

FIRES WILDLY
Police said Maresca fired wildly at Russell Dietz, 27, of Brookhaven, but missed.

As he was leaving the building he saw Lief Hjarne, a Swedish physicist, and fired, striking him in the chest.

Maresca, who came to the laboratory in 1958, lived in East Patchogue with his wife and three children.

War Step-Up Said Essential

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — High-level U.S. planners in Viet Nam say the United States and South Viet Nam must step up the war, not de-escalate it, if the Communists are to be brought to the conference table and a favorable peace worked out, highly reliable sources reported today.

Top-level thinking is that in the unlikely event Hanoi and the Viet Cong ask for an armistice, Allied pressure should be stepped up rather than eased. The bombings against North Viet Nam should be resumed and intensified, it is argued. Fighting should not end before the conclusion of peace talks.

REACTION UNKNOWN
These views, which appear at variance with President Johnson's current peace offensive, have been transmitted to Washington. What response has been made, if any, is not known.

The messages to Washington stressed that any peace could easily be lost unless the peace agreement contains ironclad guarantees that can and would be enforced. Otherwise, the American planners say, a Communist take-over is clearly possible.

Other warnings to Washington include a suggestion that no peace treaty be sought that would force North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh to admit defeat, even by implication.

This, top planners feel, could result in Ho's overthrow by a more aggressive, more Peking-oriented faction which would renew the war.

It is understood that some planners have urged the Johnson administration to draw up a politically realistic list of objectives expected from any peace conference.

TIME LIMIT
Another suggestion was to set a tight time limit for peace talks so they would not drag on endlessly while the Communists continued to put on pressure in the countryside, where they now have a better grip than the South Vietnamese government.

Some top U.S. planners in Viet Nam also warn against entrusting ultimate supervision of the peace to the International Control Commission which was given the job by the 1954 and 1962 Geneva conferences. The South Vietnamese army should have ultimate responsibility, these officials feel.

It is doubtful that the suggestions set forth by these U.S. officials would be acceptable to the Communist side under any conditions short of impending defeat in the field or severe internal stresses.

The feeling here is that unless Peking, Hanoi and the Viet Cong realize that the United States and its allies not only have the power to win but are willing to use that power come what may, peace will be long delayed.

Roger Miller Saga Glows With Success

By BOB THOMAS
AP TV - Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's called "The Roger Miller Special," and well it should be.

Not only does he star on the television show, which follows Bob Hope's Viet Nam special on NBC tonight, all but one of the numbers in the half-hour song session were written by Roger Miller.

This feat of prodigy is taken as a matter of course by the soft-accented Texan whose talents have brought him fantastic rewards.

"Might be something like $500,000 — I don't know," he muses. "I never see the money; I just sign over the checks."

"FUNNY THING"
"You know, it's a funny thing. When you're poor, you're always thinkin' of the things you'll do when you get a lot of money. I'll be dad-gummed if I can remember any of 'em now. I got credit cards by the pocketful and I don't know what to do with 'em."

The Miller saga begins back in the small towns of Texas and Oklahoma, where he played country and Western music for modest fees. "The dates were high schools, mostly," he recalls. "We'd get a lot of hoots and yells with our music. I didn't hear applause until I was 22 years old."

TO NASHVILLE
By that time Roger had moved on to Nashville, the Valhalla of country and Western music. After seven years he was earning $25,000 a year, but he was dissatisfied.

"I was spook to them, a court jester," he says, speaking of the C&W establishment. "Even though I was earning good money, I wanted to be phenomenal. And after seven years in Nashville, I wasn't."

THEN HOLLYWOOD
Roger was ready to move on. But before he did, he made an album of his wry ballads for Smash records. He came to Hollywood and attended a couple of dramatic classes with the aim of becoming an actor. But his Smash record proved just that. His musical career finally took fire, culminating with "King of the Road," a 2 million-seller which 114 other artists have also recorded.

Now Roger lives in a Woodland Hills estate formerly owned by Clint Walker and has a wife — his second — and 11-week-old son, his first. One-nighters and night club dates keep him king of the road much of the year, but he hopes to cut down on the traveling. Tonight's special might do the trick. It is virtually a pilot for a proposed half-hour series.

Vandals Cut Tires On School Buses

WAYNE, N.J. (AP) — Police in this Passaic County Township said vandals cut the tire valves on 30 school buses parked outside a garage. The vandalism was discovered just before the buses were to start their morning runs. The 11,200 pupils had the day off.

Wintry Blast Grips Europe

LONDON (AP) — Bitter winds from Siberia spread ice and snow over much of Europe today. Britain was warned to prepare for a cold spell lasting perhaps 30 days.

Temperatures in eastern England dropped to 12 degrees during the night, the coldest in three years. Thousands of industrial workers in the Midlands faced layoffs because gas supplies were inadequate to keep factories operating.

Temperatures dropped to 40 below zero in some inland districts of Norway.

Stockholm reported temperatures of -4 with the cold spell expected to continue.

Most of the Bothnian Gulf on Sweden's east coast was closed to shipping by ice.

In West Germany, temperatures dropped to -9 but snow and rising temperatures were forecast.

Aircraft Repair Plant Is Closed

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — A military aircraft repair plant operated by Base Aircraft Maintenance Co. at the deactivated Harlingen Air Force Base was permanently closed today.

"At this point you can say we are insolvent," said President John Henson. The company had 130 employees.

Henson said the Air Force will select a contractor to complete work on 31 HU16 planes.

Col. Crowell Survives Plane Crash In Greece

Available reports indicate that a former commander of the 31st Fighter Interceptor Squadron based at Webb AFB is recovering from effects of an air crash which occurred last week in Greece.

He is Lt. Col. Dick M. Crowell who guided the 331st here in the early '60s. His current assignment is with NATO headquarters in Naples, Italy, and he was aboard a C47 transport which was on its way from Turkey to Italy when it crashed on a snow-covered peak east of Athens.

Four persons in the plane were killed, two others were missing and presumed dead, but Lt. Col.

Crowell was one of the survivors. He was flown for hospitalization to Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya.

Lt. Col. Crowell's mother and a sister reside in San Angelo, and they said they had heard from the officer's wife saying that he was "all right."

News reports said a number of the men suffered an ordeal after the plane crashed on a snow-covered, gale-swept peak, and came close to slipping into a 3,000-foot ravine. One of the officers managed to get down off the fog-shrouded peak to a valley where he was able to signal to search planes the location of the crashed aircraft.

Voting Right Ruling Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fate of the 1965 Voting Rights Act is now in the hands of the Supreme Court for a decision. Chief Justice Earl Warren says "has profound implications in the life of our nation."

An early ruling may be in the offing. Warren concluded two days of argument on the law's constitutionality Tuesday with praise for both sides of having "done what they can to accelerate an early judgment."

DEFEND LAW

Twenty states joined the U. S. government in defending the law as an appropriate and constitutional means of assuring Southern Negroes of the right to vote. Six Southern states united to attack the measure as "arbitrary in nature" and "unconstitutional punishment for the states."

The last word went to South Carolina Atty. Gen. Daniel R. McLeod who questioned the "tender solicitude" of states that sided with the Justice Department.

"California, Massachusetts and New York come before this court and say illiterates in South Carolina should be permitted to vote," McLeod said, and yet they bar illiterates in their own states with literacy tests.

STIRS LAUGHTER

In a New York literacy test, he went on, questions such as these were posed:

"In what state was Jane Adams born? How old will the U.S. flag be in 1977? Who was president of the Constitutional Convention? What kind of suit was he wearing?"

Laughter swept the courtroom, dispelling the solemnity that had marked the hearing, and Justice Byron R. White asked rhetorically with a smile: "how many people passed that test?"

"Possibly tests of this sort may have weeded out a few well-educated persons in my state," McLeod replied.

The suspension of literacy tests where less than 50 per cent of the voting age population registered or voted in the 1964 presidential election is a key provision of the voting rights law and a prime target of the Southern states' attack.

ENGINES OF BIAS

They were referred to by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and by former U. S. Solicitor General Archibald Cox Tuesday as "engines of discrimination."

"The mere presence of such tests," Katzenbach said, "gives light to the inference that they could be engines of discrimination."

The two main points of the attorney general's argument were that Congress has the authority under the 15th Amendment to assure that voting rights are not abridged by discrimination and that the law is an appropriate exercise of that authority.

South Carolina brought the suit directly to the Supreme Court — an unusual procedure in that cases generally climb the ladder to the Supreme Court through lower courts.

Virginia, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi joined South Carolina. They and North Carolina are the states chiefly affected by the law.

OFFERED SUPPORT

Shastri offered to support her but she told him: "I am not modest enough to say that I cannot handle the job, but I am not conceited enough to say that others cannot handle it."

Unlike her dynamic, ambitious aunt, Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, Mrs. Gandhi did not throw herself into politics, but she was a close confidant of her father while he struggled as prime minister for 17 years under the enormous burdens of India's hungry hundreds of millions. Nehru often found relaxation romping with Mrs. Gandhi's two young sons and their animals.

Now the problems that beset Nehru — and after him the diminutive Shastri — rest on the shoulders of Nehru's 5-foot-5 daughter, the first woman to serve as chief of government of a major nation. The only previous woman prime minister is Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike, who served in Ceylon, India's small island neighbor, 1960-65.

Nehru's Woes Now Beset His Daughter

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — "My mother taught me to keep my feet firmly planted on the earth and my father never tired of insisting I should hitch my wagon to a star," the slender, graying woman said.

The statement illustrates the contradictions in the life of India's new prime minister, Mrs. Indira Gandhi.

"I do not like politics," she said not long ago. "I do not like being in the public eye."

But she served a year as president of India's ruling Congress party and 19 months as minister of information and broadcasting in the Cabinet of the late Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

Recently she told an interviewer she would like to devote her time to research and anthropology. As prime minister, the frail, 48-year-old woman will be grappling with India's food shortage and regional rivalries, a shaky truce with Pakistan and Red China's belligerence among many other problems.

Mrs. Gandhi probably could have had the job of prime minister when her father, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, died in May 1964.

Shastri offered to support her but she told him: "I am not modest enough to say that I cannot handle the job, but I am not conceited enough to say that others cannot handle it."

Unlike her dynamic, ambitious aunt, Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, Mrs. Gandhi did not throw herself into politics, but she was a close confidant of her father while he struggled as prime minister for 17 years under the enormous burdens of India's hungry hundreds of millions. ## Youth Admits Killing Parents

WHITEHALL, Wis. (AP) — A 15-year-old boy, jailed after a minor traffic accident Tuesday night, blurted out to authorities he had killed his parents.

Slender, dark-haired Jerry Lee Sanderson of Slippery Rock, Pa., gave no motive, Sheriff Eugene Bijold said.

The body of his father, Henry Sanderson, 54, was found Tuesday outside the family's burned farmhouse. Another body, believed to be that of the boy's mother, Dorothy, 44, was found in the rubble.

ADMITS SHOOTINGS

The youth admitted shooting his parents, Bijold said, while he was being questioned after his car had skidded into a snowbank along a western Wisconsin highway.

Bijold said the Sanderson youth was being held for Butler County, Pa., authorities, who planned to fly here today with a warrant containing formal charges.

The teenager was the only prisoner in the small, brick jail in this rural community 850 miles from Slippery Rock.

22 RIFLE

The body of the elder Sanderson, a dairy farmer, was found in a shallow, snow-filled ditch a few yards from the family's home on the outskirts of Slippery Rock, about 50 miles north of Pittsburgh. He had been shot four times, twice in the head, Butler County Coroner Clinton Atwell said.

Bijold quoted the boy as saying he had killed his parents with a single-shot 22-caliber rifle. A rifle of that type was found in the trunk of the car the youth was driving, the sheriff said.

The boy was one of two children of the Sandersons. His sister, Sandra Joyce, is a student nurse at a hospital in New Castle, Pa.

Authorities said the youth attended Slippery Rock High School and was manager of its football team.

Europeans Balk At French Edict

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — France's five Common Market partners fear many more months of serious crisis lie ahead for the European Economic Community unless President Charles de Gaulle's government is willing to make some concessions. Delegates privately expressed concern over the future of European unity after a two-day meeting that ended in disagreement on a French proposal that most of them viewed as more of an ultimatum.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville made an offer of limited cooperation with the other five members, provided they agree: —That each member retain a veto on major questions.

TRIM POWERS

—That steps be taken to trim the powers of the market's Executive Commission, which De Gaulle fears may turn into a supergovernment.

The ministers agreed to meet again Jan. 28-29 for another try, but it was felt success or failure depends largely on how much latitude De Gaulle will allow Couve de Murville.

Premier Pierre Werner of Luxembourg will report Thursday to the European Parliament in Strasbourg on the ministers' failure to solve the six-month-old crisis resulting from France's boycott of the community's meetings.

The report is certain to bring unfavorable reaction in the Strasbourg assembly, most of whose members have always pushed for an integrated Europe.

READY REPORT

Permanent representatives of the other five Common Market members — West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg — worked today on the report Werner will present in Strasbourg. French representative Jean-Marc Boegner was recalled to Paris last July when France began its boycott.

A number of delegates from other countries complained that De Gaulle wants to set up a timetable for action on things he wants without taking into consideration the wishes of the other partners.

Couve de Murville proposed a list of deadlines for settling the Common Market farm policy and agreement on the makeup of a new Executive Commission to be enlarged from 9 to 14 members.

Join Forces, Farmers Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department economist said today more group action by farmers in the sale of their products is needed to get better prices.

Harold F. Breimyer, of the Consumer and Marketing Service, told the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives that the concentration of power in the hands of fewer and fewer buyers puts farmers at a disadvantage.

"More group action in marketing of farm products is inevitable," Breimyer said. "It is probably the only route by which a proprietary agriculture can defend itself and survive in the present setting."

Ford To Build Dallas Depot

CARROLLTON — Ford Division of Ford Motor Company announced plans today for a new 278,000 - square - foot master parts depot here.

R. G. Murphy, Dallas parts depot manager and chairman of Ford Motor Company's Dallas Community Relations Committee, said the new parts depot facility will add more than one-quarter million dollars annually to the Dallas - area economy. The new depot will replace a smaller facility in Dallas. It also will house Lincoln - Mercury Division district and Ford Division regional and district sales and dealer development offices. In addition, it will provide more space for the Dallas district service school.

Dear Abby

In-Law Trouble

DEAR ABBY: We have been married seven months and our only quarrels have been over my husband's refusal to take my part against his parents when they are in the wrong. We live in a one-room apartment with a pull-down bed. The church we attend is on the corner of our block. My husband's parents attend the early morning Mass there every Sunday. We attend a latter Mass, but his parents have started coming to our apartment right after early morning Mass. I work six days a week and Sunday morning is the only morning I can sleep a little bit later, but with my in-laws calling on us before 7:30 a.m., it is impossible. Also I look terrible when I first get up and I'm embarrassed to receive guests that way.

Last Sunday my in-laws woke me up again. I ran into the bathroom and locked the door. My mother-in-law demanded that I come right out and apologize for my "childish" behavior. My husband didn't take my part against his mother and I think he should have. Another time his father opened some mail, addressed to me, and my husband didn't say a word. When I complain about his folks he says, "Remember Exodus XX, 12, the Fifth Commandment: Honor thy father and thy mother." Thanking you in advance for any advice you can give me, I am.

Very Truly yours,

In-LAW TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: Your in-laws are rude and inconsiderate and your husband should set them straight. And since your husband quotes Scriptures, ask him to read Genesis II, 24: "And therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife."

DEAR ABBY: What can parents do about a situation like this? We have always taught our children to address adults as, "Mr." and "Mrs." We have some neighbors who are older than we are and they keep telling our children not to address them in that manner but as, "Jennie and Hank." Training children is hard enough nowadays without neighbors like these to complicate matters. Can you tell us what to do? We have always been on friendly terms with all our neighbors and don't want any trouble now.

ANNOYED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Tell your neighbors (privately, of course) that you have instructed your children to address adults as Mr. and Mrs., and when adults ask to be addressed by their first names, they confuse the children and encourage them to disregard their parents' wishes. If you tell them in a nice way and ask for their cooperation, you'll have no trouble.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Manpower Talked At Draft Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — College deferments and manpower problems top the agenda for a meeting here today of Midwestern and Eastern state draft directors with national Selective Service officials.

"The purpose of the meeting is to discuss potential additional sources of manpower to replenish the pool of men classified as I-A and available for induction," a Selective Service spokesman said. He added:

"The possibility of a return to consideration of class standing and testing for alleged deferment will surely be discussed."

FORMER SYSTEM

Under present Selective Service policies, the 2.2 million students holding college deferments only are required to be doing satisfactory work as full-time students at a properly accredited college or university.

The spokesman said no decision had been reached in the proposed re-instatement of the Korean War system of college deferments, ordered abolished by President John F. Kennedy in 1962. That system required local draft boards to take into consideration a student's class standing and his score on the Selective Service college qualification test.

Under those rules, a freshman had to be in the upper three-fourths of his class to be considered doing satisfactory work, a sophomore in the upper two-thirds and a junior in the upper half.

Li Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service, and draft directors from 10 Southern states discussed college deferment and other policies Jan. 9 at a regional meeting at Ft. Stewart, Ga.

NEXT MEETING

A third regional meeting has been scheduled by Hershey with Western state draft directors Feb. 7 in San Diego, Calif.

Expected to attend or be represented at today's meeting are the state Selective Service directors of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Vermont, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, Ohio, Virginia, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and the District of Columbia.

Draft directors for New York City — which is treated as a state for draft purposes — and Delaware attended a similar meeting here some time ago, the spokesman said.

Girl On Trial In '63 Slaying Of Police Chief

BASTROP, Tex. (AP)—Jury selection was completed Tuesday for the trial of Joyce Ann Gordon, 18, of Cocoa, Fla., who is charged with murder in the Nov. 15, 1963, slaying of Elgin, Tex., Police Chief J. M. Mumford.

A jury last Feb. 20 sentenced a companion, Rudolph Coffey, 21, to life imprisonment in the slaying.

Mumford, 54, was fatally shot and state highway patrolman Tommy Moseley was wounded when they stopped a car on U.S. 290 to question the occupants about an abduction and car theft in Mississippi.

Miss Gordon has been free on $20,000 bond since her release from the Gainesville State School.

Roving Rights Post Filled

NEW YORK (AP)—The Unitarian Universalist Association has named a Methodist minister, The Rev. George T. Johnson, as a roving civil rights worker in memory of the Rev. James J. Reed, slain in Selma, Ala., last March.

Johnson, 36, a Negro, begins his assignment this week in the Roxbury section of Boston, where Reed formerly served. Johnson is a native New Yorker and until recently was president of the Yonkers, N.Y., Council of Churches.

British Envoy Defends Trade With N. Viet Nam

HOUSTON (AP) — The British ambassador to the United States, Sir Patrick Dean, defended his nation's trade with North Viet Nam Tuesday.

Dean also said in a news conference his country has "taken a firm stand" in backing U.S. Viet Nam policy.

In reference to British trade with North Viet Nam and other communist countries, the ambassador said: "We've got to live by our trade. We are a small island." He added that trade with communist nations has been beneficial to the west.

"VERY LITTLE"

Britain's trade with North Viet Nam is "actually very tiny," the ambassador said. "There has been a decrease the past year."

He said that although his country would "dearly like to see the conflict cease," the British people "have taken a firm stand on your side in the Viet Nam struggle."

He expressed approval of the current U.S. halt of bombing raids on North Viet Nam and said such action is a prerequisite to peace talks.

SHORT SUPPLY

Of Rhodesia's independence, Sir Patrick asserted that the small country's short supply of petroleum products and financial restrictions Britain's economic boycott has forced upon it soon will cause the white minority to reconsider its move toward independence.

"There is a fundamental difference in Rhodesia," the ambassador continued. "It is not an independent country. We are fully entitled to ask our allies not to trade with them."

South the declarer at five hearts countered the threat of a ruff by controlling the lead so that the danger hand was kept out of the play.

North was reluctant to make a vulnerable overall at the two level with only a five card suit and no outside strength. When South came in with two hearts, however, North's holding took on added lustre and he proceeded directly to four hearts.

East's bid of five clubs was an obvious save against the vulnerable game. South was reluctant to double since his black kings appeared to be poorly placed for defensive purposes. North was unwilling to settle for a small profit and he persisted to five hearts.

West opened the eight of diamonds and the queen was played from dummy. The lead had all the earmarks of a singleton to South. A trump was led at trick two and, when East followed with the three, declarer put in the queen which held the trick.

There was no quick reentry to dummy to repeat the heart finesse, for it was obviously not safe to play another diamond. The club suit offered declarer his best hope of getting back to the North hand, inasmuch as the dummy had a singleton in that suit and could ruff the second round. It was vital to keep East out of the lead, however, and, in order to accomplish this end, South led the king of clubs from his hand.

West was in with the ace of clubs and realizing that, unless his partner had a quick entry in spades, the defense might just as well abandon hope, he shifted to the ace and another spade. Declarer won the trick with the king of spades and ruffed his last club in dummy to take a second heart finesse. The ace of hearts dropped East's king and South had good hearts and diamonds left.

Declarer lost in all one spade and one club. If he had led a small club from his hand instead of the king however, he would have presented his opponents with a golden opportunity. East can win the trick with the queen of clubs and give his partner a diamond ruff. The ace of spades scores the setting trick.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES: 9

Most Challenged Returns On Basis Of Dependents

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Internal Revenue Service probably challenges more tax returns because of improper claims for dependents than for any other single reason.

The problems generally arise when a student leaves school and starts to work, when a dependent marries toward the end of the year and when a parent is claimed.

FIVE CONDITIONS

1. The person being claimed must have received less than $600 in income. (This qualification does not apply to your children who are under 19 or who are full-time students.)
2. The taxpayer must have furnished more than one-half the total support for the year.
3. The person claimed did not file a joint return with his wife or her husband.
4. A nationality requirement must be met.
5. The claimed dependents must be related to you or, if not a relative, must have lived in your home for the entire taxable year.

There is never much of a problem with your children under 19, unless one should be a movie star or has a substantial income from another source. It is when the special arrangements for students apply that questions arise. This is particularly true in the year of graduation or separation from school.

CONFUSION

Up to that time they have generally met the conditions of being in school for five months and being chiefly supported by their parents. It's what happens after June that creates the confusion.

Assume your son or daughter started to work immediately after graduation and earned $1,700 the rest of the year. What can you do on your return?

First off, you must realize that you cannot take part of a $600 deduction for a portion of the year. You either get a full year's credit or you get none.

The determination then is who furnished chief support on the basis of the full year. To get the answer, compare the total of your support expenditures with the total expended by your son or daughter in his or her own behalf.

If your total is the larger figure you get the full year's dependency credit. Your son or daughter files his own return and either pays a tax or claims a refund on his or her individual return.

Mrs. McCready is the wife of Spec. 5 Robert McCready of Toledo, Ohio.

Communist China Opens 4 Coal Pits

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China has opened four coal pits with an annual capacity ranging from 450,000 to 800,000 tons, the New China News Agency said.

CHIEF SUPPORT

Now what happens in the event of a marriage toward the end of the year when you have furnished the chief support for the greater portion of the year?

If on the full year's basis you furnished the chief support you may still claim the student as a dependent no matter how much a

PROVIDING THE newlyweds do not file a joint return.

Still different problems frequently arise when a parent is claimed as a dependent. The two common sticklers are income and degree of support.

If the parent has as much as $600 gross income he or she may not be considered as a dependent no matter how much a son or daughter may have furnished in support. This can work a severe hardship should the parent be the owner of some rent-producing property.

This means that if the parent landlord received as much as $50 monthly from the investment property, he or she would be ruled out as a dependent. It would make no difference if the claims against the rental income—such as depreciation, repairs, taxes—could reduce the net figure materially or even result in a net loss for the year. The law speaks of gross income.

NOT GROSS

The Social Security income a parent might receive is not considered gross income but it becomes a factor in determining chief support.

If, for example, the parent received $65 a month in Social Security payments ($780 for the year) and spent it toward his own support, the child claiming the parent as a dependent would have to prove his contributions toward the parent's support exceeded $780.

If two or more children together furnished the chief support of the parent but no one of them individually contributed over half of the support, the dependency claim may, by agreement, be made by any one of them who furnished over 10 percent of the support, if the others make a declaration they will not claim the person as a dependent for that year. The declarations, known as Forms 2120, must be attached to the return of the one making the dependency claim. Such forms are available at all IRS offices.

Suit Up To District Court

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Houston, Tex., Negro youth's complaint that he was turned away from a white school solely because of race was returned to a federal district judge in Texas Tuesday by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The suit was brought on behalf of Lewis Arthur Hightower, who contends that he was attending an all-Negro high school and wished to attend a white high school which was closer to his home.

AGAINST DISTRICT Hightower had filed suit in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Texas against the Houston Independent School District.

The suit said Hightower obtained and filed a scholastic transfer application, which the board subsequently rejected. The appeals court, in a brief decision, noted that the suit was not brought as a class action but only to enforce his individual rights.

CLASS ACTION The district court refused to take jurisdiction because the segregation policies of the school had been set aside in Ross vs. Houston Independent School District. The district court held that Ross was a class action brought in behalf of Negro plaintiffs and "in behalf of all other Negro minors who are similarly situated."

Subpanel Sets Hearings On Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee will start hearings Feb. 7 on a constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college.

Under the proposed amendment, the electoral votes of each state would automatically be counted for the presidential ticket receiving the most popular votes in the state.

Each state would have the same number of electoral votes it does now but, through elimination of the electoral college, there would be no individual electors who legally may vote for anyone they please for president and vice president.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., is chairman of the subcommittee on constitutional amendments that will conduct the hearings.

But Bayh, who introduced an amendment to carry out President Johnson's recommendations, made clear in a statement that he is opposed to more far-reaching proposals for overhauling the presidential electoral system.

These include election of presidents by direct, popular vote, the division of each state's electoral vote in proportion to the popular votes received by each candidate and the election of presidential electors by districts similar to congressional districts.

Bayh said the system of each state casting its electoral vote as a unit for the presidential candidate receiving the most votes is "a time-tested and workable system which I, for one, would hesitate to exchange for an untried and unproven system."

However, he said all proposals will be considered at the subcommittee's hearings.

Beginning to sound like another broken sales record?

It is!

You bet it is. For the sixth straight year, Pontiac is outselling all but two makes, and already some 244,000 buyers have given the '66 Pontiacs and Tempests their own personal car-of-the-year award. And we're on our way to surpassing last year's record sales of over 800,000 cars. Another great thing about it all is that so many Pontiac owners are trading in their present cars to help us get where we are. And that says quite a lot about our 1966 tigers. But enough about us. Let's talk about you. Have you tried a Wide-Track tiger lately?

Come in and take on a tiger! Wide-Track Pontiac

THE ORDER OF THE GOLDEN RULE

Hero

Sure it is. The telephone helps save lives, catch criminals, put out fires, bring help and guard homes. It's had a hand in spreading the alert on tornadoes, floods and hurricanes. It can bring the doctor, the fireman or the policeman—in a hurry. And being a modest hero, it can also do less dramatic things. Like letting you talk with friends and loved ones around town or around the world, quickly and easily. Or letting you shop from your easy chair, call ahead for reservations and do a thousand other things that make life richer, more rewarding, more fun. Isn't it nice to have a hero around the house?

Guests used a pink plumed pen to register at a table, accented with pink carnations, where Mrs. Guy presided.

A white cutwork cloth over a white organdy ruffle covered the refreshment table. The centerpiece, placed on a reflector outlined with pink net, was a white velvet heart arranged with pink carnations. Completing the table motif were a blue garter, string of pearls, white handkerchief, white Bible and a penny. Crystal appointments were used, and napkins were printed with names of the couple.

Miss Tomlinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Tomlinson of Dallas, will be married to Gound at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Casa Linda Presbyterian Church in Dallas.

Approximately 50 guests attended, and the hostesses' gift to the honoree was a waffle iron.

A Devotional For The Day

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9:23)
PRAYER: Dear God, help us to be brave as the struggle for righteousness challenges us. Move us to take up our cross and cheerfully bear the trials, that may go with it. Bless us as we enter the fellowship of the comrades of the cross. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Disquieting Figures

Figures on church attendance are doubtless just as tricky as any other statistics. One must exercise caution when seeking to read trends into such figures, especially when variations of only a few percentage points are involved.

Even with this caveat in mind, the Gallup Poll's 1965 audit of U.S. church attendance appears to have considerable significance as an indication of change in our national life. The most noteworthy point is that during the decade since 1955, churchgoing by American adults has appreciably declined. In 1955 and again in 1958, it was found in successive population samplings that 49 per cent of those over 21 years of age had attended worship services in the previous seven days. The comparable figure for 1965 is 44 per cent.

The import of this should not be exaggerated. Certainly it cannot yet be said that Americans are turning away from religion. Even the 44 per cent figure means that in a typical week some 50 million of us, out of an adult population of about 113 million, go to church.

Clergymen and others most deeply concerned about the part religion play in our national life will surely feel some disquiet, however, as they reflect on this apparent indication that Americans may be less interested in religion than they were as little as 10 years ago. It is evident that the churches have their work cut out for them if they are to halt and perhaps reverse this trend.

The quality of religious commitment is of greater importance, granted, than the statistics of churchgoing. Even so, the decline in attendance merits thoughtful attention among all who value religious belief as a central part of experience.

The Important Thing

Considerable interest has attached to the naming of Robert C. Weaver to head the new department of housing and urban development because he happens to be a Negro. This has somewhat obscured the more important fact that here is a new department of government which will be brought into play in two areas of mounting pressures.

The real test is not whether a man can crack a race barrier and ascend to cabinet status, for there is no really valid reason why this should not be if an individual has the capability and background to support this trust. The real test is in the performance of the duties of the office.

Weaver, with his first assistant, Robert C. Wood of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, faces a herculean task in organizing the new department, in breaking new ground, in making the department a sober, responsible servant of the nation. One of the lurking fears concerning the department has been, not so much who would head it as many observers seem to believe, but that it would become the chief instrument for political pressures on the urban front. This is the thing which Mr. Weaver and his aides, and indeed his successors, must be careful to avoid. The problems of urban life are so formidable and so prolific that they can be attacked successfully only if political considerations are kept in the background.

David Lawrence Mr. Johnson And The Transit Strike

WASHINGTON — Something has happened to the popularity of President Johnson. Whether it's his handling of the war in Viet Nam or his failure to lend moral support to the prevention of the tragic strike situation in New York City is not yet clear. Certainly many newspapers which editorially endorsed Mr. Johnson for election in 1964 are criticizing him severely now. Also, letters received from different parts of the country show evidences of a disillusionment on the part of the voters.

He had ample opportunity to do so. On any one of the 12 days he could have denounced the strike as a threat to the national interest — which the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, Gardner Ackley, now acknowledges it was — and he could have supported Mr. Lindsay in the mayor's unneeded call for arbitration, factfinding or a retroactive contract extension. But the President did not choose to do so.

"SUCH HELP from Mr. Johnson would have been doubly meaningful in the light of attempts by some elements in the old-time Democratic-Labor cabal in this city to exploit the strike as an instrument for humiliating the new Republican-fusion mayor, thus hoping to kill his future political career."

"Now that Mr. Lindsay and the city have survived the strike, the President contributes his need to ward discrediting the settlement. The blatantly political character of his comment is underscored by the continued absence of any direct criticism of the transport workers union for its coercion of the community. He declares himself 'quite disturbed that essential services could be paralyzed for so long'; but there is not a hint of who is to blame. Not a word about flouting the law and the courts, not a syllable about the damage to the moral and judicial structure of this, the largest city in the United States."

Johnson didn't even get to attend the London funeral of Sir Winston Churchill, though he badly wanted to go. An "executive flu" bug put him in bed for nearly a week.

But this is a new year — and another important election year. Johnson and his White House aides again are beginning to canvass travel possibilities for the months ahead.

"THE PRESIDENT is quite right in stating that the peace terms breach his anti-inflation guidelines."

"If Mr. Johnson had seriously wanted to act against an inflationary settlement, he had ample opportunity to do so. On any one of the 12 days he could have denounced the strike as a threat to the national interest — which the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, Gardner Ackley, now acknowledges it was — and he could have supported Mr. Lindsay in the mayor's unneeded call for arbitration, factfinding or a retroactive contract extension. But the President did not choose to do so.

Billy Graham

I was a Christian when I married my husband, but he wasn't. I don't think God would have let me fall in love with him if he hadn't wanted me to marry him.

"The NEW YORK 'Herald Tribune,' in an editorial on the same day entitled 'A Bit Late, Mr. President,' quoted after the strike deploring the fact that 'essential services could be paralyzed for so long,' and then said: 'We agree. But that bit of presidential candor would have come with better grace and more effect a few days earlier. Soldiers who shun the battle make poor critics of its loss.'"

Falling in love is sometimes a biological matter. Boy meets girl, animal magnetism goes to work, they are attracted to each other, and they get married. Not all marriages are the result of careful prayer and seeking the will of God. If more were, there would be more successful marriages.

Next to one's relationship to God, marriage is the most important and meaningful relationship of life. Because many young people marry for emotional reasons only, and fail too often to seek the counsel of those who love them, and more important, the counsel of God, the divorce problem has become one of the greatest problems we face today.

I seriously doubt if you sought the will of God when you married this boy. And since you did not, would it not be unfair to blame God for the problems you have encountered?

But, although it is too late to do anything about your marriage, the whole picture can be improved if you fully commit your life to Christ, and so live before your husband that he will see that Christ's way is best. Accept this as a challenge. You were determined to get married, now be just as determined to make your marriage work, and to let your home be transformed into a Christian home.

ACROSS THE continent, many newspapers expressed the same criticism. The Chicago 'Tribune,' under the heading "Mr. Johnson's Tardy Denunciation," said editorially on Jan. 15:

"The 1966 prize for hypocrisy hereby is awarded to Lyndon B. Johnson for his belated statement on the New York transit strike. During the 12 days of the city's paralysis he had not a word of rebuke for the strikers' inflationary demands or for their leaders' defiance of the law."

"THE 'TRIBUNE' also pointed out that Mr. Johnson was not slow to intervene and denounce price increases in the copper, aluminum and steel industries or to intercede in 'civil rights' cases.

These samples of public opinion will be taken seriously by many members of Congress, and legislation to prevent abuses by organized labor surely will be considered. Lots of members are beholden to labor for campaign contributions. The majority of the voters, however, may in November repudiate timid congressmen and elect opposing candidates as a means of voicing the nation's disapproval of government by favoritism. (Copyright, 1966, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

James Marlow LBJ Plans Lot Of Traveling This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — This looks like a big year for presidential travel — to all parts of the country and, perhaps, to points overseas.

President Johnson set a record in the 1964 campaign year for travel by a chief executive. But his wanderings slumped sharply in 1965 because of his Oct. 8 surgery and because, earlier, he felt compelled to stick close to Washington at a time when Congress faced a heavy work load and he was confronted by hard choices on Viet Nam.

bladder surgery was needed, he and his staff were deeply involved in planning autumn appearances in all parts of the country — as far west as Hawaii.

All these plans had to be scrapped. And many of those who had hoped to lure Johnson to their precincts last fall now are pressing to claim rain checks in 1966. This is especially true of party fund-raisers who had to cancel out ambitious dinner plans.

VIET NAM and the Dominican Republic crisis also put an end to presidential hopes of visiting Europe, Latin America and — had things worked out better — the Soviet Union.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks, Mr. Smithers, I think what's wrong with you is that your ulcer is getting an ulcer."

"OH, I wouldn't say he's exactly mean—he just suffers from a lovability gap."

"One thing about him, he never runs out of ideas—as long as you've got any."

"I'd send him a get-well card, but the last time I did he did."

"The only thing higher than his tax bracket is his blood pressure."

"Instead of passing out a bonus at the Christmas party last year, he just passed out."

"THE MAYOR is waiting to see you, sir. I think he wants the firm to make a big contribution to the local charity campaign—just to get it off to a good start."

"He's having a blue Monday since his wife caught him out Saturday night with his girl Friday."

"After picking out his tie in the morning, the biggest decision he makes the rest of the day is whether to have his third martini before or after lunch."

"He could be replaced with a computer but they don't make a machine that simple."

This is, as Kipling wrote, often the way it goes with the truth that men have spoken. It is sparse and laud, and gives some conclusions, but withholds recommendations in deference to the President's sole responsibility for the conduct of war and negotiations.

IN CONSIDERING future travel, however, Johnson is not concerned solely with his personal popularity. There are several compelling reasons to undertake a new meet-the-voters effort:

—Congress will be dealing with a new basketful of Johnson programs, some of which the Presumably an influencing factor in his own popularity rating as measured by public opinion polls. The year-end polls showed he had slumped a bit in popular estimation, though his approval rating still topped 60 per cent. Johnson attributed this to his enforced inactivity after surgery.

To Your Good Health Stomach Needs Mild Acid For Digestion

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I was told some years ago that I didn't have hydrochloric acid in my stomach to aid digestion. The doctor gave me a bottle of it but did not tell me to continue it.

Recently I read in a book that anyone without hydrochloric acid should take a certain number of drops every day before each meal and wonder if I should do so again. Also does this harm the stomach?—M.F.

First, do not—I repeat, DO NOT—start taking this without your doctor's instructions.

Hydrochloric acid is one of several digestive juices which the stomach needs to break up food into forms which we can absorb.

However, this acid is in very dilute form. We need very little of it, although we do need that small amount.

Ordinary hydrochloric acid is far too strong, and would, being a corrosive acid, cause a painful burn. It has to be diluted on the order of one drop of acid to 500 drops of water—pretty weak, in other words. And only a small amount of this weakened solution is required each day. A doctor's prescription is necessary to get the proper solution.

Second, I removed from your letter the number of drops which your book suggested. The amount can be either more or less than that.

Third, until your doctor examines you, there is no way of knowing whether you still need any supplemental acid. Some ailments are known to cause a shortage of acid in the stomach. Other times there is no particular reason for the shortage, except that it is more likely to occur as we grow older and our body chemistry slows down.

The fact that you needed a few drops of dilute acid several years ago may or may not mean that you need it now.

Dear Dr. Molner: I was told that one should not rub a leg cramp because it is a blood clot. True or false? Also please send me your booklet on "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble." I enclose the required self-addressed stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.—MRS. D. F.

If every leg cramp meant a blood clot, just about all of us would be limping. What you were told is false. The vast majority of leg cramps, whether in children or adults, are due to becoming overtired or overexerted. The muscles go into spasm. Gentle rubbing is a good method of first-aid as it helps relax the muscles. (In older folks, deficient circulation and hardening of the arteries may be part of the cause. And even then, gentle massage may help, and certainly won't harm.)

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Problem Of Where To Put It

When Howard County Junior College finishes the spring and summer terms, it will have 20 full years of operation behind it. The district was created by special election in November 1945, and the college, almost miraculously, opened its doors in late September the following year.

IT HAS HAD substantial growth in the intervening years. The first major step came with purchase of a 100-acre campus at the corner of Birdwell and Eleventh Place, and with erection of permanent, modern buildings, there was no doubt but what HCJC was here to stay. A few years later, voters provided funds to add the practical arts and music buildings, a new science wing, green house and enlarged the gym and to share in a stadium. The Dora Roberts Foundation gave the Student Union building, the Kiwanis Club the tennis courts, and then the college got loans to finance dormitories for men and women. Last year, voters added another $500,000 to make possible a new science building and a new library building, both of them necessary to break an impending academic bottleneck.

THIS IS, however, not all that the college needs. Space is not only at a premium, but it is exhausted. When the new buildings are completed, there will be ample room for the academic work, but the pressure will not be off the vocational field. Indeed, the already seemingly maximum pressure in this area of training will increase, not decrease. To come to the point—HCJC needs another vocational building.

When voters were being asked to set up HCJC, one of the arguments for the institution was that it would be a community college — one that would serve the people who wanted to upgrade existing skills, or learn new ones so they could get and hold a job, or could realize their maximum earning potential.

HCJC HAS a good record in this direction, but it has about run out of facilities. Last fall, when a fender-and-body-repair course was started, it had to be moved off campus, which was all right. The chef's course was halted temporarily to give demand a chance to catch up with supply, and the space allotted to it was gobbled up immediately for other uses. Now new courses, many of which cannot easily be moved off campus, are starting. The big and currently unanswerable problem is where to put them.

HCJC was given designation about a year ago as an area vocational training center, but it will have to respond to this or lose it. Odessa Junior College is putting in a $800,000 vocational plant. South Plains Junior College at Levelland, which has promoted almost fantastic growth, is adding a new vocational building. And so it goes.

WEST TEXAS is rated by the University of Texas business analysts as the area of the state with foremost growth potential. One of the chief ingredients of realizing growth will be a pool of trained workers, or facilities for training workers. Places with vocational facilities can meet this need.

What HCJC needs soon is a minimum of $184,000 to finance its share of a vocational unit which would cost about $450,000, along with a variety of specialized equipment. Will someone or some group of the public at large supply this? It's a pretty important question. —JOE PICKLE

Sam Dawson Borrowing Costs Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—The cost of borrowing is still creeping higher as the demand for loans rises at both consumer and business levels.

ONE RESULT is that the return on long-term bonds also is higher of late and well above the yield from most of the popular common stocks.

Another result of increased interest rates and greater loan demand is that many of the nation's banks are enjoying more business. And early reports show their profits up smartly from a year ago.

A THIRD result is that the U.S. Treasury is paying more to lenders and is all but frozen out of the long-term bond market where there is a legal ceiling of 4 1/2 per cent on the interest it can offer. The Treasury's interest costs, much of it for short-term securities, this year may hit $13 billion.

CONSUMER CREDIT also is in a new growth stage. The more affluent the society becomes the more confident consumers are of their ability to handle more installment debt. They are estimated to have taken on $74 billion of such debt last year, and to have made monthly repayments totaling about $67 billion as they reduced old commitments. At the end of the year perhaps $66 billion of installment credit was still outstanding, compared with $59 billion a year earlier.

SOME HIGH-GRADE corporate bonds now yield around 5 per cent. Their interest rate often is fixed below 5 per cent, but the market price of many of them has dropped to a level that gives today's buyers a 5 per cent return. High-grade municipal bonds are yielding about 3.6 per cent but are popular as offering a return free of federal income taxes.

CORPORATE DIVIDENDS have risen in recent months, but market prices of common stocks have gone up even more. At today's prices the return from many common stocks is well below the yield from high grade bonds. But stock traders tend to look more for price increases in the stocks of their choice than for the yield, well-known as fatter dividend payments are.

Veteran Texas Solon Thompson To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clark Thompson, D-Tex., a 20-year veteran in the House, announced today he will retire at the end of his present term. This eliminated the possibility of a primary contest pitting him against Rep. Jack Brooks in the new Galveston-Beaumont district along the Texas Gulf Coast.

CLARK THOMPSON

Thompson's decision makes it virtually certain that Brooks, 43, from Beaumont and a member of Congress since Jan. 3, 1953, will be re-elected to represent the new district.

Thompson had told mutual friends earlier they would not announce their plans until after the courts ruled on the legality of the redistricting measure.

In his disclosing that he would not seek re-election, Thompson way it reshaped the districts. He also said he was surprised the act was sustained by the court.

When the state legislature passed the Redistricting Act of 1965, Thompson's reaction was one of amazement, followed by a deep-seated anger and continuing resentment.

MONEY PLEDGED

"I was bombarded by urgent demands to run in whatever new district was finally concocted. For the first time in my political life an abundance of money was pledged along with gratifying support of all kinds."

Thompson, a Marine veteran as is Brooks, is married to the former Libbie Moody, a daughter of the late Texas millionaire publisher and financier William L. Moody.

Challenger Enters Texas Court Race

AUSTIN (AP)—A contest for Judge W. T. McDonald's seat on the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals developed Tuesday with the announcement for the post by Dist. Judge John F. Onion of San Antonio.

Shortly after Onion's announcement McDonald said he was "definitely in the race."

"I will officially announce it in about 10 days," McDonald said. Onion, 40, a soft-spoken man with thin, wavy blond hair, said McDonald spends less than half of each week at the court.

"My opponent has never moved to Austin," Onion said. "This lack of interest has been demonstrated in face of our rapidly changing criminal laws and in face of an ever increasing case load—27 per cent last year alone."

A judge on the state's highest criminal court should be "willing to shoulder his share of the work load," Onion said.

McDonald said Onion has spent much time over the last few months speaking to legal seminars and institutes over the state. A statewide campaign will take even more of his time, McDonald added, and other district judges must carry Onion's load while he's traveling.

Onion was a justice of the peace for two years before his election to the San Antonio district court bench in 1956.

McDonald, 54, was judge of the 85th District at Bryan and city judge and city attorney of Bryan before election to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Lamesa Raises Tax Rate, Parking Meters Stored

LAMESA (SC) — The Lamesa City Council Monday night decided to leave the parking meters in storage, after counting ballots of residents with opinions on the matter.

The meters were taken down Dec. 1 as a temporary measure, then a poll was ordered to check the pulse of the community regarding them. The council received 708 ballots for leaving the meters down, 133 for putting them back up. It voted to repeal the parking meter ordinance.

In other action, the council voted to remove all business and personal cars from the city tax rolls, resulting in an approximate decrease of $24,000 in city taxes. Loss of revenue from the parking meters will amount to approximately $11,000. Councilman voted to raise the city tax rate ten cents on each $100 valuation, which will place the city tax rate at $1.20 per $100 valuation. However with tax exemption on cars and loss of revenue from the parking meters, Carroll Taylor, Lamesa city manager, pointed out that 70 per cent of Lamesa residents will have a lower city tax rate.

The 1966 city budget was approved with a decrease of $12,949 over the 1965 budget. The new budget was set at $900,382.

Troop Carrier Needs Reserves

Nearly 100 Air Force Reservists, including many navigators and pilots, are needed by the 921st Troop Carrier Group at Kelly AFB, San Antonio.

Most of the new positions will be straight Reserve assignments where the individual trains one weekend a month with the unit. Prior-service personnel, including retired C-124 panel engineers, who may be qualified for this type of assignment should contact: Maj. James C. Craig, 433d TCW, Kelly AFB, Texas 78241, or call him at WAlnut 3-5411, Ext. 3246 for further information.

Tuberculosis Outbreak At Nursery Disclosed

DETROIT (AP) — About 15 children who attended a suburban nursery are hospitalized with tuberculosis, health authorities report.

Shortly before Christmas Day, a family doctor found a lesion on a small girl's leg. He reported to health authorities.

"All are in generally good condition," said Dr. John J. Hanlon, Detroit and Wayne County health director. "We think they'll come along all right. I'm very optimistic."

A few days later another girl was found apparently infected with TB. Her doctor also reported to health officials.

Investigation brought out that both girls had attended the nursery.

NO INFECTION

All 57 nursery children received tests for TB. Most responded in the negative, no infection.

Ultimately, the source was found. It was a woman teacher at the nursery. She once had TB and thought herself cured. The teacher, like the children, is under medical care. The children were taken to Maybury Sanitarium in Detroit. The nursery is being permitted to continue operating.

Hanlon called the nursery outbreak a "very, very localized epidemic. It's a phenomenon that seems to be occurring with increasing frequency in the country."

DISCLOSE EPIDEMIC

Hanlon and Marie Gaylord, operator of the pre-school day nursery in Garden City, disclosed the epidemic Tuesday.

Two unnamed family doctors were credited in large part with discovery of the epidemic. Mrs. Gaylord said she and her staff and health authorities

Senate Passes First Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent to the House its first major bill of the new session.

It approved the so-called "wild rivers bill" Tuesday by a 71-1 count. Sen. Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo., was the dissenter.

The measure would set aside land and ban construction of dams along parts of seven rivers. It also would set up a study to decide whether 17 other rivers should be brought into the program.

Reasons Why Cole's Criss Cross—Cross Reference Directories Receive Overwhelming Support From Local Business Firms and Government Agencies

1. Cole's Directories are the most complete and most up-to-date directories available of residences and businesses (by street and house number in each community).
2. They provide complete coverage of your city and nearby towns in just one directory—completely zip-coded.
3. They are available at one low price (less than 1/2 the cost of city directories published for most places).
4. They contain nearly twice as much information as competitive directories. (Cole's Directory contains a street address directory; a government employees and officials directory; an office building directory; a numerical telephone directory; families new to your town are identified, family wealth ratings are indicated, rural route maps, census tract and trading zone maps and length of family residence are all included).
5. Nationally known firms use Cole's Directory in their other cities and are delighted to have this essential directory service now available for your city so they can now use their company's standard procedures in their local branch.
6. Local firms can now do unique new things for their businesses which were never before possible, and they are not required to support or help the directory with classified ads. (Classified advertising is not accepted in Cole's Directory).
7. Cole Publication's reputation for quality and dependability, developed by over thirty years of public service, insure each community accurate, dependable information. (For example, all property numbers and telephone numbers in Cole's Directory are electronically verified to insure nearly 100% accuracy).
8. Cole's Criss-Cross—Cross Reference Directories accelerate the prosperity and growth in every community where they are published, as local businesses find them invaluable for:

Eagles Fight Off Longhorn Quintet

ABILENE — The pace-setting Abilene Eagles had to fight for dear life before subduing Big Spring in a 2-AAAA skirmish here Tuesday night, 66-61. The defeat was the fourth in six league starts for Big Spring, which now has an overall mark of 12-10. The Longhorns host San Angelo in the final game of first round competition Friday night. Abilene High is 6-0 within the district and Big Spring played the Eagles as close as anyone.

A fine effort by Simon Terrazas, who stepped out to score 29 points, kept the Steers close through. Robert Jackson played a tremendous floor game for Big Spring, too, and wound up with 16 points for the night. Abilene's bell weather again was Raymond Wray, who settled for 24 points and hit when it counted. Big Spring led at the end of the first half, 27-24, and seemed well on its way to an upset victory but the Eagles again took charge with a 23-point third period.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

You ordinarily reason that size is the complement to overall efficiency in athletics and that is usually true in such physical pursuits as football, baseball and basketball but Byron Nelson, the veteran golf professional, told this writer recently that the same doesn't hold true in his sport. In Scotland, the natives like to refer to Ben Hogan as the Wee Ice Man, an appellation used because of his lack of heft as well as his tranquility under fire. Nelson says that Hogan, who weighed about 150 pounds when in his prime, is much better constructed to play the game than he is. Bantam Ben, in his prime, had all the shots. Nelson, much taller and heavier than his long-time friend, felt he always had to work harder at what he did to succeed. In other words, none of the shots came as easy for him as it did for Hogan.

Ten of the 26 varsity football lettermen at Stanton High School the past season are sophomores. Six others are juniors. That means the new coach, who ever he might be, will work with a squad that lost only four veterans from the 1965 club. The seniors who played out their string for the Buffaloes include Mike Hall, David Hicks, Bobby Holland and Dink Nelson. Some of Stanton's finest linemen, among them Bert Decker and Karl Herzog, have two years of eligibility remaining. That 6-4 won-lost record posted by coach Joe Means at Phillips last fall was remarkable when you consider the fact that the new Odessa High mentor had no starters back from the preceding year. And he had six sophomores in his starting lineup. Phillips was in AA ball last fall. It may take Means a while to adjust to the more exacting defenses Class AAAA teams use.

You can't fault Houston Oiler coach Bones Taylor for wanting to chart future strategy for his team without the help of quarterback George Blanda. Blanda appeared on the practice field one afternoon prior to the past season and exulted over the fact that he was the possessor of a two-year, no-cut, no-trade contract. One of his captive audiences was Taylor, who then was operating on a shaky one-year contract with the management, under such an agreement, a club minion finds his relations with the front office are only as good as his last game—and Houston didn't have many of those over the 1965 season. The advice to a football chief under such circumstances usually is: Speak kindly to all the Indians, consult the outboard plane, train and bus schedules and keep your bags packed. Too, Taylor's problems were compounded by the fact that he and his wife couldn't agree on anything at the time, not even on the way to run the Oilers. It was one of those forlorn times in a man's life when he frowns on the thought of (1) going to work or (2) going home. There is little to indicate that Taylor's lot and promise have improved in either province.

Harley Redin, who gave the Wayland College Flying Queens an international press in basketball, will no longer coach that team after this season. He's going to devote full time to his duties with a Plainsville banking concern. Outdoor sportsmen in these United States in 1966 are due to spend an estimated $300 million for food, $183 million for lodging, another $72 million for tents, approximately $188 for fishing tackle, about $685 million for boats and motors and $295 million for guns and ammunition. They'll drive over 20 billion miles to enjoy the nation's woods, waters and wildlife before the year belongs to the ages.

Lemm Insists He'll Decline Oiler Offer

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Wally Lemm says he's not interested but he remains the No. 1 candidate today for the Houston Oilers' coaching job after Houston Oilers came out second best in a confrontation with Oilers' quarterback George Blanda. Despite his denial, The Associated Press learned from a reliable source Tuesday night that Lemm is ready for his second go round as head coach of the American Football League club. He led Houston to the AFL title in 1961. Lemm, who resigned as coach of the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League only nine days ago, would be the Oilers' sixth coach in the last seven years. The job is becoming as secure as a javelin catcher at a track meet.

The latest casualty was Taylor, who took over for Sammy Baugh last season. The club finished last in the Eastern Division with a 4-10 mark but Taylor was reportedly set with a new three-year contract until last Friday when his conflict with Blanda became public. Don Klosterman, the Oilers' new executive vice president and general manager, made the announcement of Taylor's dismissal at a press conference Tuesday night. In a prepared statement, Klosterman said: "The decision was made primarily as a result of recent news media commentary indicating an apparent inharmonious relationship existing between Coach Taylor and George Blanda in which certain statements were attributed to both parties involved creating an atmosphere not conducive to a winning football team."

Dodgers Will Depend On Speed, Pitching

DARRTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Pitching, speed and determination again will be the ingredients of the Los Angeles Dodgers, says Walter Alston, manager of the world champion baseball team. "The team won't be any different," Alston said, "except maybe for the return of Tommy Davis to give us more hitting power. How much he'll be able to play, I just don't know at this time." Davis is recovering from a broken leg. The Dodgers, who won the National League pennant last year with a 13-game winning streak at the end of the season and then went on to whip Minnesota in the World Series, were named the Team of the Year for 1965 Tuesday in the annual Associated Press poll. "I'm very happy for the award and proud that the boys were chosen," said Alston, who spends the winters with his daughter and grandchildren in Darrtown, 25 miles north of Cincinnati. The Dodgers beat out Michigan State's football team, which went undefeated in 10 regular season games to win the Big Ten title before being upset by UCLA in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. The 303 sports writers and sportscasters voting in the poll gave the Dodgers 102 first-place votes and 499 points. Michigan State collected 55 first-place ballots and 257 points.

Alston said the Dodgers "will have to play the same type of ball this year. I don't think we'll have a home run hitting club. It's nice to have a few homers, but we're not noted for them."

What makes a good ADVERTISEMENT?

A good advertisement is the one that gives the advertiser the results he is looking for, and to accomplish this, the ad must give prospective customers what they are looking for!

... plan your advertising carefully, a good ad should have a well-balanced layout and accurate copy; it should always offer merchandise that the customers want, and it should always feature seasonal merchandise at prices customers are willing and able to pay.

Remember, GOOD RESULTS depend entirely on what is in the ad, the way it looks, the value it offers, and the integrity of the firm that is running the ad.

What makes newspapers the most effective Advertising Medium?

- 1. VISUAL PRESENTATION — Unlike radio, which is aural, and television, which is both visual and aural, the newspaper concentrates on the visual message, making your advertising message more fixed in the reader's mind.
- 2. LOCAL IMPACT — Newspapers are individualized and edited to appeal to the people of a particular city and its surrounding area. In their editorial treatments, newspapers reflect the character of the community of which they are a part.
- 3. NEWSPAPER PENETRATION — Newspaper readership is uniformly strong in practically all strata of society. Newspapers penetrate effectively all income groups, from the highest to the lowest, all occupational groups, all educational levels.

Eldon Mahon Will Speak At Jaycee Bosses' Night

ELDON MAHON

The Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce comes to a highlight of its organizational year Saturday, when it stages its annual Bosses' Night and Awards banquet.

The affair will be at the Big Spring Country Club, starting at 7:30, following a fellowship period beginning at 7.

The Jaycees will have their employers as special guests, and also will make their traditional awards. The program will be climaxed with a talk by Eldon Mahon, Abilene attorney, widely known West Texas civic leader and formerly district attorney and district judge of the 32nd judicial district.

JayCee recognition will go to the outstanding patrolman of 1965; the outstanding teacher of the year; and to the outstanding Jaycee. There will be special citations to various Jaycees for their work on club projects.

Jack Orr, president of the organization, will be in charge of the program. Invocation will be by the Rev. James Puckett, and the program will conclude with reciting of the Jaycee creed, led by Jim Laney.

Mahon is a native of Lorraine, Mitchell County, finished school there, received a bachelor's degree at McMurry College and his law degree at the University of Texas.

He was for a time a briefing attorney for the Supreme Court of Texas, then returned to his home county to serve, successively, as county attorney, district attorney and district judge. He resigned his place on the bench to join Texas Electric Service Company as a vice president, and more recently moved to Abilene and the private practice of law.

His civic activities cover a long and varied list. He has been active in the local, state and national bar associations, and has been identified in places of leadership with the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, his community's United Fund, and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

He is a member of the board of trustees of McMurry College, member of the official board of St. Paul Methodist Church, Abilene, and teaches a Sunday School class there. He has had several positions of regional and state responsibility in Methodist affairs.

He is a past president of the District and County Attorneys' Association of Texas, and as a DA, was cited by the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation as one of the five outstanding prosecutors in the state.

Farm Products' Prices Edge Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflationary pressures show indications of influencing farm product prices despite government efforts to prevent price increases.

Recent Agriculture Department market reviews have reported rising prices for some classes of wheat, rye, feed grains and soybeans—all major food raw materials. Good export demand and active domestic buying are playing major roles in the rising price pattern.

On the other hand, the administration had made clear it wants to stabilize farm prices, lest they lead to further food price gains that could trigger demands for wage boosts.

QUERIES POSED
These developments raise questions as to how effective the Agriculture Department may be in preventing grain price advances over the next few months. The department seeks to prevent price rises by offering to sell wheat and corn from its stocks to domestic buyers. Normally, such offers would be expected to have a price-stabilizing effect, if not price-depressing effect, on markets.

But today's situation is not normal. The conflict in Vietnam with speculation that it might escalate into a broadened war has brought vast new demands for food.

HUNGER ABROAD
Furthermore markets are strengthened by official as well as unofficial discussions of a possible step up in foreign food aid program to avert hunger abroad.

In the case of soybeans, concern is being expressed in trade circles as to whether, under present conditions, it will be possible to get sufficient production this year to meet rising domestic and foreign demands. This concern is expressed despite the fact that a record crop has just been harvested.

Advancing prices of corn and other feed grains could have some adverse effect on meat production at a time when much larger supplies are needed. The higher feed grain prices go, the less is the incentive to produce meat animals.

U.S. Nazis To Get Stuff Back

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service says much of the property it seized from the American Nazi party last year isn't worth selling.

IRS Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen said, "Photographs, arm-bands, automobile stickers, periodicals and other articles identifiable as being associated with the Nazi movement... have value insufficient to justify the minimum price which would cover the cost of their sale."

He said the property will be returned to party leader George Lincoln Rockwell.

The goods were seized from the party headquarters in lieu of taxes.

Stovall Speaks To Senior 4-H

LAMESA (SC) — Philip Stovall, Minister of Education at the First Baptist Church, was guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Senior 4-H Club of Dawson County held in the Lamesa National Bank. He spoke on "How to be a Lady or a Gentleman." A group discussion followed his talk.

Twenty-eight members are enrolled in the Senior Club, according to Paul Gentry, adult leader chairman for the Dawson County 4-H Clubs. Officers are: Andy Bratcher, president; Mike Stephens, vice president; Margaret Vogler, secretary-treasurer; Melva Gentry, reporter; and Marsha Greaves, council delegate.

The group is sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vogler as adult group leaders, and Mrs. Loy Greaves as program leader and coordinator.

Exec Might Enter Politics

AUSTIN (AP) — Stanley C. Woods, president of the Woods Exploration & Producing Co., Houston, announced today he will hold a news conference at 9 a.m. Thursday concerning a statewide political race.

There has been published speculation lately that Woods might run either for governor or railroad commissioner, possibly with the backing of the Texas AFL-CIO.

Woods has made frequent appearances at Texas Railroad Commission proration hearings to speak for independent oil men in opposition to major oil companies. He also was active in opposition to the forced oil and gas lease pooling bill passed by the last legislature.

Dance Benefits March Of Dimes

A public dance for the March of Dimes will be held Saturday at the American Legion Hall, Stanton, according to Dr. Allen Fisher, campaign director for Martin County.

"The Sprints" from Seguin and "The Latin-Aires" from Stanton, under the direction of Ernie Sanchez and Freddie Hernandez, will provide the dance music.

Admission proceeds of $3 per couple will go to the March of Dimes. The dance is under the direction of John and Frances Valles.

He said the property will be returned to party leader George Lincoln Rockwell.

The goods were seized from the party headquarters in lieu of taxes.

Church Property Tax Issue In Court's Hands

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The issue of whether churches should pay property taxes on their extensive holdings in Maryland rested today in the hands of the State Court of Appeals.

Five of the seven judges heard arguments Tuesday on an appeal from a ruling by Judge Wilson K. Barnes in Baltimore Circuit Court that it does not violate the state or federal constitutions for Maryland to exempt church property from taxation.

The exemptions are being challenged by Madalyn Murray, her mother, Laddie Mays, LeMoine and Marie Cree and the Freethought Society of America.

Mrs. Murray received national attention when she brought one of the suits which resulted in compulsory school prayers being ruled unconstitutional. A divorcee, she left Maryland after filing the taxation suit, later remarried and was last reported living in Texas.

UNDER CONSIDERATION
The state's highest court heard two hours of argument on the taxation appeal Tuesday and then took the issue under consideration. There was no indication when the judges might file their opinion.

Martin J. Scheiman, a New York City lawyer representing Mrs. Murray, argued that it would clearly be unconstitutional for the state to make a grant from tax funds to support a place of worship.
