Straight-Up Takeoff Plane Has A Future

DALLAS (AP)—The big emphasis these days is on the big airplane. But the man who only wants to take a short flight from his home town to the city and back isn't being forgotten.

The plane to do it is not on a commercial schedule yet, but a Dallas firm believes its strange-appearing craft will be flying airline routes some day. The plane is called the XC142A and at first glance resembles a shrunken version of the Air Force's Flying Boxcar. But it has a remarkable difference. Its wing can be turned perpendicular to the fuselage and the plane can take off straight un should at least be able to provide a fast, complete, efficient postal service. President Johnson has passed that word to his new postmaster general, Lawrence F. O'Brien, and Congress apparently will be responsive to improvement proposals.

Toward Better Postal Service

Two forces have been at play on Congress since the 1964 deficit-cutting services reductions. Members have been getting increasing static from constituents, and their inspection trips to Europe have shown the United States lagging inexcusably in postal

The first step probably will be to restore weekend parcel post, money order and window services cut in 1964. Another proposal is single-rate firstclass to travel by fastest route and conveyance, eliminating airmail rates. Some first-class mail already goes by air without airmail stamps

Most important, O'Brien plans an accelerated program of research and mechanization. The Post Office Department has only $12 million for re-

Any society aspiring to be great search this year, in a $5.3 billion budget, a ratio far below those in Western Europe

Mechanization will cost no postal service jobs, only retard the rate of increase in employment. And it may not even do that, for U.S. mail is increasing by more than 2 billion pieces annually

In view of the war-budget squeeze, Congress probably will try to help the administration improve mail service without increasing the present $400million departmental deficit. However, a sizable deficit, charged to taxpayers rather than mail users, is now generally accepted as properly reflecting the public service aspects of the department's operations.

Previous efforts to improve the mail service have mainly resulted in in-creases in service charges swallowed up by needed wage increases, while services continued to decline. O'Brien's announced approach is improved efficiencies through research and mechanization, with a new research division to report directly to the postmaster general.

Study And Time May Help

Code of Criminal Procedure has been voiced, some of it by enforcement officers, some by prosecutors, some by garrulous defense attorneys and some by the press and other commu-

Enforcement officers seem to have the fear the code will shackle them, and the press has fears about inability to get at the necessary information in criminal proceedings. For instance, last week a district judge had the effrontery to threaten any enforcement officer in his jurisdiction with contempt if he said anything about any case anytime before it came up for trial in the judge's court. This is going to the extreme, but it underlines one basis for a gnawing fear that sources of information are being dried Considerable criticism of the Texas up by edict. Another cause is that some ill-informed officials have taken upon themselves the role of self-appointed censors of what shall be and shall not be released.

Perhaps in time this will be worked out. A commission named by the gov-ernor is at work on the problem, and editors have named some of their leading minds to a panel to come up justice. Perhaps at this stage it would be helpful for officials, magistrates and media to refrain from reading into the code what is not actually there and from jumping to unwarranted and unrelated conclusions. Open-minded study and time may help provide some answers.

give an explanation? The Bible definitely states that troubles, afflictions, and adversity, are for the good of the child of God. "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them which are called according to His purpose." Romans 8:28.

But we are never to assume that this goes for those who are not in Christ, to those who are rebellious against God. This promise is only for those who are "called according to His purpose." Christians are enabled to handle trouble in a special way, and God has promised to turn it to good, if our love for Him is unfeigned.

Dr. Edward Wilson, who died on an expedition to the Antarctic, wrote: "This I know is God's truth, that pain and troubles and trials and disappointments are either one thing or another. To all who love God they are love tokens from Him. To all who do not love God and do not want to love Him they are merely a nuisance. Every single pain that we feel is known to God because it is the most loving touch of His hand." The Great Physician, like earthly physicians, often hurts in the very process of healing. We, knowing that God is all-wise, and is concerned for His children, should never doubt His wisdom, but accept every adversity as a part of the Divine process.

Mrs. Carpenter, mother of two, is approaching what one might call middle age, fights the battle of calories along with most women, dresses with reserve, radiates charm and has eyes that fairly sparkle. She doesn't miss many tricks.

IN HER ADDRESSES, she mixes serious notes with a lot of quips, some of them sly little darts at the opposition ("someone said they hoped the GOP convention would be in Houston's Astrodome so Sen. Dirksen could preside. Then we could have ham under glass.") Understandably she plugs the programs of her boss. Noting that the average American creates four pounds of junk and trash a day, she said that something had to be done to keep us from being covered. Within 10 years, cities will change by at least 40 per cent. Of course she wanted it to be in the direction of the beautiful, which happens to be what Mrs. Johnson is pushing.

"BIG SPRING," she repeated, when she queried about where we lived "Tell me this, I've always wanted to know. Is there really a big spring?" And so we got to put in a few plugs to the master plugger.

New Yorkers And Their Mayor

NEW YORK CITY-There were a couple of beatniks, one carrying a U.S. flag, the other carrying a flag which he identified as that of North Viet Nam. The cabbie said he'd drive our flag, but not the enemy banner, so dustry to roll back a $5-per-ton the beatniks called a cop and had the hackman taken to the precinct station The guidelines do leave room for refusing to haul a passenger. The police gave him a ticket, calling for a fine, but as soon as the beatniks were out of sight, the precinct captain tore up the summons

The same cabble was still full of the story when he picked up some of us who had come from Washington by train (of all things) for a press conference that evening.

THE CABBIE was asked what he thought of Mayor John Lindsay, and he thought very well of the mayor indeed. Lindsay, it appeared, had wrung a lot of sympathy out of the two-week (Today's column by AP's Neil transit strike. He'd done this, not by any accomplishment, but simply by the one "good guy" in a throng of "bums."

Lindsay hadn't trudged to work with the many hundreds of thousands who had. In fact, Lindsay's helicopter, rocking above the hordes of involuntary pedestrians, had been the subject for much wry and ribald humor. But New Yorkers have identified the former Silk Stocking Congressman as one of their own.

THERE WAS nothing but sympathy for him when he put in a big request for city funds from Gov. Rockefeller, but came home empty-handed from Albany. Most New Yorkers feel that way about their handsome, seriousminded new mayor, and I think we ought to burn any prejudices against him, and hope he can save this great and languishing city.

Of those New Yorkers who don't feel kindly toward their new mayor (excluding the irreconcilable Democrats and Conservatives), are many of the gray - thatched and varicose - veined generation. One such whom I interviewed was a trade journal editor in his sixties. He had tramped in from Flushing Meadows every working day of the strike, and was under a physician's care for "circulatory trouble" when I met him.

"PEOPLE ARE for Lindsay." he declared, "because they prefer him to the Labor creeps and Democratic hacks who let the strike happen. But don't let anybody tell you that people are for Lindsay on the grounds that he stood up for the 'eight million.' Lindsay didn't, and nobody did. There was not a single politician in office who wasn't trying to trade off a position on the strike for a shot at the big job down in Washington."

I ASKED the veteran editor, a man who'd put his work above personal comfort and safety, if the rest of his office staff had responded in the manner of their boss.

"All but the young ones," he said sadly. "They didn't show any obligation to exert themselves or to put up with discomfort. I'm glad I did what I did, but I'm not sure the young people were wrong in their attitude. I don't know-I just don't know." (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Russia Holds The Key

WASHINGTON - If logic were the controlling influence today in formulating the military policy of the United States in Viet Nam, there would not be any doubt about the next move now that the "truce" is over and the "peace offensive" has fallen on deaf

BUT THE LOGIC which calls not only for a resumption of bombing raids but for an intensification beyond what has been done before is unpalatable politically. The word "politically" covers international and diplomatic aspects as well as domestic considerations. Evidence mounts that many people-inside and outside of Congressare doing a lot of wishful thinking and feel that there is some miraculous way to attain a quick ending of the conflict if only the other major governments would get together to quell the warfare, just as happened in the Congo a few years ago with the aid and supervision of the United Nations.

FOR CERTAINLY the Viet Nam war could be stopped in a week if the U.N. had the backing of the Soviet Union and various Communist satellites which have an influence with the Red Chinese government in Pelping.

Obviously the "peace offensive" by President Johnson had a worthy purpose-to show the rest of the world that the United States really wants peace-but it would have been surprising if the North Vietnamese had responded to such a move instituted by one government, especially their principal adversary.

THE UNITED STATES, however, is on the spot militarily. Before the truce it conducted a "limited bombing" of North Viet Nam. Is the alternative then to be "unlimited bombing," or is there a middle course?

One thing seems clear-the Moscow regime isn't anxious to see an enlarged war in which most assuredly Russia would become involved if only to supply financial and military help to the North Vietnamese beyond anything undertaken heretofore. This is an expense the Communists do not relish. Meanwhile, inside the United States it appears that the Viet Nam war is becoming more and more unpopular

every day and that what the group of members of Congress said recently on their return from Southeast Asia has conveyed an impression of frustration -a puzzlement over what to do next For there's considerable worry about how public opinion would react to an intensified war and an increase to 300,000 or even 500,000 American troops in Viet Nam.

IT IS POSSIBLE, of course, for the United States to let the Viet Nam war drag on for years while furnishing a limited number of men and fighting a defensive war. Military men think this would be wasteful of American lives and that the smallest loss would be incurred by intensifying the war now even if it means destroying a substantial part of Hanoi itself.

Most of the military men both here and in Saigon feel, however, that any decisions made will be political in the sense that they will be geared to the possibility of an international peace conference of some kind.

FOR DIPLOMATIC purposes the United States has made its point. A mechanism that might bring about an armistice and a peace conference is available through the United Nations. The key to this lies in Moscow and not Peiping. For, once the Soviets determine that the war in Viet Nam must come to an end, the Red Chinese will have no choice but to go along with that decision and let the peace conference develop the best compromise possible. Richard Green uses all this equipment to make your telephone service better

As a cable splicer for Southwestern Bell, Richard brings quite a bit of gear into action. To him, work means a carefully planned, well-organized operation, from the familiar telephone truck right down to a small roll of rubber tape, Richard also brings the latest work techniques and a dedicated sense of purpose to every job.

"It's interesting work and it's important," he says, "I figure the company's business is giving the best service there is. That's my business, too."

Like 50,000 other Southwestern Bell employees, Richard Green wants to make your telephone service-already the world's best-even better.

Spring Is Almost Here

This is the time of year when some 800 roster players begin thinking about that trip to baseball's major league spring training camps. Sixteen teams, a new high, will train in Florida while two will make camp in California and two in Arizona. The latter state has lost one team - the Boston Red Sox - to Florida and another team, the Chicago Cubs, to California.
