Mist Ices State Roads

By The Associated Press

A large section of North Central Texas and southern Oklahoma iced over Monday about dawn, making highways and streets hazardous and resulting in one traffic death. A light mist fell with temperatures just below freezing.

The Highway Patrol reported the ice area stretched northward to Pauls Valley, Okla., about halfway between the Texas line and Oklahoma City.

WRECKED AUTOS It reached southward to Dallas, where overpasses and viaducts grew jammed because of wrecked automobiles.

The situation became psychologically bad in Dallas, for motorists drove on reasonably safe streets then skidded unexpectedly and frequently disastrously on ice when they reached overpasstype structures. Cold wind passing under the overhead structures caused ice to form there where it did not form on streets. Temperature at the time was 28 degrees. State police reported ice expected on highways around Sherman, Denison, Bonham and McKinney north.

BELOW FREEZING Temperatures in the area were only a few degrees below freezing at dawn and a light mist fell.

In Dallas, Mrs. Mary Ruth Langley, 30, died in a traffic collision. Her husband and small son suffered injuries. The family resided at Arlington, between Fort Worth and Dallas.

The weather was warmer in Texas but long-range forecasts indicated temperatures will plunge to subnormal levels within the week.

Valley Says Melons, Not Citrus, Lost

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A farm expert said today that Lower Rio Grande Valley vegetable and citrus crops suffered virtually no additional damage from freezing temperatures Sunday which wiped out the last of the area's melon crop.

"That frost last Thursday took care of what we're going to lose," William Schumann, assistant Hidalgo County agent, said today. "The only thing this last freeze did was take care of some of the ornamental plants in town. I'm sure it didn't hurt the citrus blooms at all."

"That frost we had the other day was just too much. The frost was worse than the cold."

VEGETABLES "UNHURT" Schumann said that a limited, but still commercially marketable, quantity of vegetables such as lettuce, cabbage, broccoli, onions and carrots remains in Valley fields.

"I don't think those were hurt," he said. "They're pretty cold hardy. I doubt that we suffered any damage on those."

Joe Chapa of San Manuel, who had 225 acres of watermelons planted in that area at the northwest corner of the Valley, said Sunday "We lost them all this time. We got wiped out."

Chapa said the temperature dropped to 24 degrees at San Manuel at 7:30 a.m. Sunday. The freezing temperatures and a heavy frost had severely damaged the melon crop last Thursday.

"I'd say we lost between 2,200 and 2,500 acres of melons this past few days in this area around San Manuel," Chapa said.

ANCHORED HEATERS

Howard Kutzenberger tends 500 acres of citrus trees in the Harlingen area. He was up all Saturday night and Sunday morning watching the thermometer in his groves to see if he needed to ignite orchard heaters. "I don't think we had any damage whatsoever," Kutzenberger said. "We didn't fire (light smudge pots), and in fact we didn't even run any of our wind machines."

Bombing Lull Ended, Peace Quest Pushed

U.N. Given LBJ Truce Pursuit Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made a new Vietnamese peace bid to the United Nations today a few hours after American bombers resumed air strikes against North Viet Nam.

The renewal of bombing "does not mean the end of our pursuit of peace," Johnson told the nation and the world in a special broadcast.

The President announced that he had directed Ambassador Arthur Goldberg to seek an immediate meeting of the U.N. Security Council in order to make a full report on the Vietnamese situation and to present a resolution for new action toward peace.

The resolution, the President said, "can open the way to the conference table."

"This report and this resolution," Johnson declared, "will be responsive to the spirit of the renewed appeal of Pope Paul; that appeal has our full sympathy."

SAVE LIVES

Johnson said he had ordered renewal of the bombing to save the lives of American, South Vietnamese and allied soldiers fighting Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam. Those forces are supplied and reinforced by infiltration from the north.

He said he had carefully considered the counsel of his advisers. "These advisers," the President said, "tell me that if continued immunity is given to all that supports North Vietnamese aggression, the cost in lives — Vietnamese, American and allied — will only be greatly increased."

"OUR DUTY"

"In the light of the words and actions of the government in Hanoi, it is our clear duty to do what we can to limit these costs."

The President asserted that bombing of North Viet Nam was renewed after it was determined that there was no readiness for peace on the part of Hanoi.

Nor has there been any support or understanding from Peking for U.S. efforts to open the road to peace, Johnson asserted. He said the United States does not regret its 37-day pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam — a pause that ended today. And, he declared:

"The end of the pause does not mean the end of our own pursuit of peace. That pursuit will be as determined and unremitting as the pressure of our military strength on the field of battle."

Peace Plea Continues

President Johnson told the nation from the White House today that, despite resumption of bombing of North Viet Nam, his quest for peace goes on. He instructed Ambassador Arthur Goldberg to seek an immediate meeting of the United Nations Security Council to present a full report on the Viet Nam situation and a resolution which can open the way to the conference table. U.S. Sky Raiders 'Easing In Gently'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States apparently has resumed the bombing of North Viet Nam at about the same level at which the air war started last February.

One knowledgeable source said "we're easing in gently." The Navy and Air Force raiders which struck today, ending a 37-day lull, hit targets above the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam in the same area where the first strikes were mounted last February.

SAME ORDER The targets around Vinh and Dong Hoi were on the same order as the early targets — bridges, ferries, storage areas and the north-south Highway No. 1.

There was military sentiment for hitting military targets in and around the capital of North Viet Nam, Hanoi.

HANOI EXEMPT Hanoi has been exempt from bombing so far.

Before the bombing halted, two main rail lines connecting Hanoi with China had been virtually knocked out of commission.

During the lull, aerial reconnaissance showed, the North Vietnamese made feverish efforts to repair road damage.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and another foe of the bombing resumption, said now that Johnson has made his decision "we must support our fighting men in the field."

"I hope, however, that the President will allow as much room as possible to continue the search for a means of negotiating the end of the war."

North Viet Nam Targets Pounded

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States unleashed its bombers against North Viet Nam today after holding off air attacks for 37 days while vainly trying to bring the Communists to the peace table. The first waves of U.S. Navy and Air Force planes hit bridges, ferries, barges, warehouse areas and storage facilities well south of the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial area. Later flights pummeled highway No. 1, a main artery along the coast, wrecking a truck convoy and destroying a bridge, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The later attacks were centered around Vinh, on North Viet Nam's central coast.

GROUND ADVANCE On the ground, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces stepped up their offensives against the Viet Cong, but the Communists inflicted heavy losses on a militia unit and Red guns hammered Allied positions.

A U.S. spokesman said Navy pilots claimed destruction of a bridge about 10 miles southeast of Dong Hoi and damage to the approach to the Quang Khe ferry landing about 20 miles northwest of Dong Hoi.

Bad weather prevented estimates of the damage in other raids. Spokesmen declined to say how many sorties were flown or what types of bombs were dropped.

PLANE DOWNED One Navy plane was shot down as the raiders encountered heavy ground fire. But a U.S. Air Force helicopter rescued the pilot unharmed under machine-gun fire. He was Lt. Cmdr. Sylvester Chumley of Lemoore, Calif.

Chumley's A4 Skyhawk jet went down about a mile off Dong Hoi. The Communists peppered the water around him for 35 minutes as he waited to be rescued.

"I'm glad to see you guys. Now, can you turn off that machine-gun fire?" Chumley told his rescuers. Lt. Col. Robert E. Freshwater of Canton, Ohio, Resumption of the bombing had been expected for several days because of repeated statements from Washington that the halt in the strikes had failed to bring a favorable response from North Viet Nam.

Allied intelligence reports said the North Vietnamese made use of the bombing lull to rebuild roads, railways and bridges destroyed by U.S. planes in the past year. Aerial photographs revealed pontoon bridges strung across rivers, and heavy traffic has been spotted moving toward South Viet Nam over the past two weeks.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and another foe of the bombing resumption, said now that Johnson has made his decision "we must support our fighting men in the field."

Peking 'Fear' Talk Genuine?

By The Associated Press

Red China's professed fear of war with America is beginning to sound more genuine, as if reflecting fear that Peking will provoke a U.S. attack — and perhaps a nuclear attack.

All the evidence indicates China expects that the United States sooner or later must get out of Viet Nam, and that in the long run the Communists will dominate all Indochina. It does not want to pay a heavy price, yet the Peking leadership seems afraid the United States eventually will run out of patience.

This apprehension may account for notes of anger and frustration in pronouncements from Peking which suggest the Chinese leadership feels isolated and in danger. Indeed, there are hints that some elements of the Chinese armed forces sought a measure of insurance by means of an approach to Moscow toward reconciliation, so that Moscow's nuclear power might serve as a protection.

If there was such a move, it failed. The Chinese Communist party again has slammed the door, blowing the whistle on any among the Red army brass who might have been thinking that way.

Peking has been paying strict attention to the debates going on in Washington between the "hawks and doves." It expects the "hawks" to prevail and to see the war in Viet Nam extended to Laos and perhaps all of Indochina. It seemingly would consider any U.S. movement in that direction to be an immediate threat to China's own security.

Even if the Chinese leaders feel alone and in danger, they will have none of the Russians. A statement read to a Chinese armed forces conference on political work warned against the "erosion of revisionism and bourgeois ideology of all descriptions" and reasserted the "absolute leadership of the party over the army." Revisionsim is the Chinese epithet for a Soviet policy which Peking now says aggravates the chances of a Chinese-American war because the Soviet leaders, in its view, are busily engaged in helping "the U.S. imperialists."

The statement, delivered by Hsiao Hua, director of the army's general political department, emphasized principles laid down by Defense Minister Lin Biao on how the armed forces should be run.

Lin, while primarily a military man, is the Communist party's top representative in the armed forces. He has thus passed the word that the party will not stand for any attempt by any military element to make policy or to hold out a tentative hand to the Russians. Lin succeeded Peng Teh Hual as defense minister in 1959, after Peng had advocated making up with Moscow and reliance on Soviet military-technical help.

Deputies in the office of Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor, were busy today as belated citizens sought to insure their right to vote in 1966 elections. Poll tax receipt business was brisk and, at times, lines of applicants were formed in the lobby of the main tax office.

At the substations, where poll tax receipts are being issued, business was also reported good.

Mrs. LeFevre has announced she will keep her office open until midnight today as a special favor to any belated residents who may not have obtained poll tax receipts or exemption certificates.

The several substations will also continue through the regular operation hours they maintain. Deadline for payment of poll tax is midnight Jan. 31.

Persons who do not have a poll tax receipt or hold an exemption certificate will not be permitted to vote in the 1966 elections.

Through Friday, there had been 4,321 poll tax receipts and 1,715 exemption certificates written Mrs. LeFevre said that she had a sizeable number of mail applications in Monday's mail. She also has no final figures on Saturday's poll tax receipts at the substations.

In 1964, a year politically comparable to this, the total poll tax and exemptions on this date was 8,998. Political and civic leaders are gravely disturbed over the low total achieved so far.

Big Turnout For Annual UF Meet Is Urged Today

A big turnout was urged for the annual meeting of trustees and the membership of the United Fund today at 5 p.m. by President Lester Morton. The meeting will be in the chamber of commerce offices.

A number of important issues will be decided, according to Morton, including a decision on remittances to the various participating agencies. The UF fund raising effort last year fell short of its goal some $9,000 and a percentage cut in allotments may be voted.

Morton also pointed to the lack of support the drive received last fall, and the need to obtain new interest and support.

In other business, new trustees will be named to the board, which has a rotating membership — one third of the total retiring each year, and new members named for three year terms. The trustees will elect new officers for the ensuing year.

Martin Myer, track superintendent, said the track would not be able to reopen until at least Wednesday.

The barns that burned are about a mile away from the clubhouse and grandstand, which were not threatened.

Meyer said the blaze broke out about 1:45 a.m. from an unknown cause, a day after a blizzard dropped 18 inches of snow on the track and high winds caused heavy drifting.

Sixteen pieces of fire equipment managed to subdue the blaze after fighting their way through all but impassable roads to reach the scene.

BULLETIN

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has launched Luna 9 toward the moon, Tass reported today. It apparently was another attempt to make a soft landing on the moon with an instrument package. Earlier attempts failed.

Maryland Race Course Fire Kills 60 Horses

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — An estimated 60 thoroughbred race horses died today in a fire that swept through five barns at snowbound Bowie race course.

Another 150-175 horses were turned loose by grooms and exercise boys. Track officials said some of these horses were injured so badly they probably would have to be destroyed.

Some of the freed horses ran through a shopping center four miles from the track. Others roamed woods and snowdrifts around the race course, about 30 miles south of Baltimore.

There were no reports on injuries to persons.

Little Bird With Big Ego Loves His Own Reflection

By SAM BLACKBURN
Spike the Sparrow, pride and joy of the doctors and nurses at Cowper Hospital and Clinic, is either madly in love with Dr. Quentin Florence's compact car or he is so proud of his good looks that he makes Narcissus seem like a shrinking violet.

The masculine pronoun is used in reference to Spike for the reason that the nurses insist that only a male could be as full of vanity as Spike.

NOT UNANIMOUS
The masculine members of the hospital staff may have other ideas but they are not making them known. There were a few whispered side remarks to the effect that women are prone to make liberal use of mirrors but these comments have been ignored.

Spike owes his fame to a habit he has pursued with unflinching diligence, in warm weather and blizzard, for the past several weeks.

That habit is to patiently await for Dr. Florence to park his small car in its allotted space. As soon as the doctor has gone into the hospital, Spike flits from the hospital roof to the look-back mirror on the left side of the car door. He parks himself where he can get a good sharp view of his beauty and spends hours telling himself how good looking he is.

CAMERA SHY
The only time he leaves his post is when someone, like a reporter with a camera, shows up. Spike, despite his ego, is camera shy. The sight of a camera and away Spike goes to hide in a nearby evergreen. There he stays until the Nosey Parker has gone.

Then back he flits to resume his ardent admiration of his handsome self.

"What worries us," said one of his friends at the hospital, "is that he will overdo it and starve to death. He never seems to take time off for meals."

The only relief from his self-gazing is provided when Dr. Florence drives away from the parking lot.

Junior World Meet Is Set

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Golf Association announced plans Saturday for a Junior World Amateur team championship involving boys and girls under 18 years of age to be sponsored jointly with the organization's newly formed Junior Golf Foundation.

The Junior Golf Foundation was inspired by Gary Player donating $20,000 of his first prize money in the 1965 Open for the development of young golfers. Largely because of his gift, a player was given the Bob Jones Award for distinguished sportsmanship in golf.

The USGA announced it will survey the interest among the 48 countries, whose national golf associations comprise the World Amateur Golf Council.

and, if there is enough interest, the first tournament will be held at the Taconic Golf Club, Williams College, in Williamstown, Mass. The dates will be Aug. 24-26.

Humble Oil Names New Board Head

HOUSTON (AP) — Humble Oil & Refining Co., the nation's largest producer of petroleum products, has selected M. A. Wright as new board chairman and chief executive officer.

Wright is executive vice president of the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey). He is to take the post June 1. Carl E. Reistle Jr., who reaches the firm's mandatory retirement age at that time, announced the selection of his successor Sunday.

LARGEST REFINER
Humble also is the largest refiner and marketer of petroleum products in the United States and is the principal domestic affiliate of Jersey Standard.

Wright, currently of Scarsdale, N. Y., has been a director of Jersey since 1958 and executive vice president and a member of the executive committee since 1960.

Wright began his oil career as a field roustabout with the Carter Oil Co., a Jersey affiliate now a part of Humble.

CHIEF ENGINEER
He later served as Carter's chief petroleum engineer, assistant manager of production and as executive vice president and director.

Wright later held the post of executive assistant and deputy coordinator in Jersey's production coordination department.

He also served as an executive vice president of International Petroleum Co., Ltd., a Jersey affiliate with operations in Colombia, Peru and Venezuela.

Wright holds a civil engineering degree from Oklahoma State University.

College Slates Snowball Fight

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — Despite weekend temperatures in the high 60s, Southwest Texas State College, President Johnson's alma mater, will hold its annual snowball fight Tuesday. The ammunition for the annual battle will be supplied by students at Michigan Technological University in northern Michigan. Some 200 pounds of snowballs will be flown to San Marcos, Tex., as part of a promotional stunt for Tech's winter carnival.

Coronary Heart Disease Called Growing Threat

HOUSTON (AP) — Dr. Paul Dudley White, internationally known heart specialist, expressed optimism Sunday for the battle against cardiovascular diseases, but warned that coronary heart disease is an increasing threat.

Dr. White, a pioneer in the use of the electrocardiograph in the United States, spoke at a meeting of the Texas Heart Association which helped launch the national 1966 heart fund campaign.

Dr. White said that although cardiovascular diseases still remain the nation's No. 1 health enemy, he felt he could safely say science is "turning the corner" in research of such diseases, particularly among persons under 65.

OTHER SPEAKERS
Other speakers included Dr. Helen B. Taussig, president of the American Heart Association; Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, 1966 Texas Heart Fund campaign chairman; George Bush, Houston Heart Fund campaign chairman, and Dr. Dan G. McNamara, president of the Houston Heart Association.

At a question and answer session after his speech, Dr. White blamed much of the nation's heart diseases on the widespread use of the automobile, automation and tobacco.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's heart specialist said men 45-64 continue to be the most resistant to correction of cardiovascular ailments, with the heart disease rate climbing.

Dr. White and Taussig also warned Sunday's audience: "If you're too heavy, lose weight. If you're smoking, quit. And don't take unnecessary medicine."

GOOD HABITS
Dr. White, a founder of the American Heart Association, emphasized the importance of regular exercise and good health habits, particularly eating habits.

Abilene Church Scene Of Saturday Wedding

Miss Cherrie Elizabeth Graham and Jon Frederick Esposito were married at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the First Christian Church at Abilene with the Rev. Chris Diebel, pastor, officiating for the double ring rites.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Al Esposito, all of Abilene.

Centering the altar was a tree candelabra burning crystal votive cups and entwined with smilax and commadore foliage. To each side were Grecian columns holding urns of pink chrysanthemums, stock and gypsophila. The entire altar was outlined with cathedral tapers.

Mrs. Dub Wooten, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mrs. Darwin Boardman as she sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of cameo peau de soie featuring a portrait neckline and cap sleeves. Re-embroidered Alencon lace motifs, frosted with crystal beads and seed pearls, accented the Empire bodice and extended onto the cone-shaped skirt. A small fold encircled the bodice from which flowed a detachable cathedral train adorned with lace motifs, heavily beaded. A matching starched lace caplet, accented with pearl sprays, held a floating, full-length train of imported silk illusion with a shoulder-length petal veil. She carried a cascade of pink roses and phalaenopsis orchids.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Carolyn Hearn, Abilene, was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Lynda Hunnicutt and Miss Carol Pool, both of Abilene; Miss Prissy Perry, Odessa; Miss Candi Allen, Dallas; Miss Sally Thorne, Austin; and Miss Mary Anna Esposito, sister of the bridegroom.

They wore identical sheaths of azalea sate-peau fashioned with bateau neckline and elbow-length sleeves. A loose panel, attached at the back neckline, flowed to the hemline. Headpieces were matching Dior bows with double veils.

The best man was Mike Polard, U.S.A.F., Colorado, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Kent Um, Arlie Whitley, Tommy Burk and Douglas Graham, brother of the bride, all of Abilene; Bob Allen, Comanche; and Mike Thomas, Plainview.

Miss Kimberly Boardman, Abilene, was the flower girl, and Stevie Newman was the ring bearer. The bridegroom's brother, Roddy Esposito, lighted the altar tapers.

For a short trip, the bride wore a double knit pink dress and pink and white reversible coat. The honeymoon trip will be postponed until the Easter holidays.

The bride, a graduate of Cooper High School in Abilene, is a freshman student at Texas Tech and is an interior design major. The bridegroom, also a Cooper High School graduate, is a student in the School of Arts and Sciences at Texas Tech. He is majoring in psychology. The couple will reside at the University Village Apartments in Lubbock.

MRS. JON FREDERICK ESPOSITO

Miss Barbara Brookover and Miss Gail Evans.

The wedding cake, all white, was four-tiered and separated by white swans and topped with fresh flowers and foliage.

Members of the house party

Modern Woman's Forum Explores War Problems

The Modern Woman's Forum will serve refreshments for a party this afternoon in the Westside Center. The plans were made when the women met Friday at 3 p.m. in the home of Mrs. J. P. Dodge, 608 Goliad.

Mrs. W. E. Moresen presided, and Mrs. T. G. Adams gave the introduction to the study on war problems. The speaker was Mrs. Harwood Keith whose topic was "International Affairs—Asia and the Far East."

Mrs. Dodge served refreshments to six members.

Mrs. W. A. Laswell will be hostess to the club Feb. 11.

Mattress Belt

Restless sleepers toss and turn so much that the mattress slides with them, making their sleep still more uncomfortable. A new mattress belt is said to control this problem, ending all mattress slipping.

Civic-Art Club Plans Tea, Installs Officers

Preliminary plans for the annual tea were made when the Ever Ready Civic and Art Club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Charlie Merritt, 1011 N. Gregg.

Mrs. Bobbie Williams presided as the tea was scheduled for February and preparations made for the executive board meeting of the Stokes - Parker District Federated Clubs at the Lakeview YMCA Feb. 13.

Mrs. Merritt, speaking for the club, expressed appreciation to Mrs. Williams, the outgoing president, for her service to the club.

New officers were installed by Mrs. Gladys Penny, president of the district federated clubs. The new slate includes Mrs. Rosetta Brown, president; Mrs. Charlie Johnson, vice president; Mrs. William Banks, secretary; Mrs. Leroy Perry, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Merritt, treasurer; and Mrs. Amanda Mott and Mrs. Burel Perkins, chaplains.

The installation began with the singing of "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory." Mrs. Penny informed each officer what her duties would be and presented each with a candle symbolizing the office. As the candles were lighted, Mrs. Penny challenged the officers to keep the flame of contribution and knowledge burning.

Those who will serve as committee chairmen are Mrs. Glenn L. Person, yearbook; Mrs.

Need an Out-of-Town Telephone Number?

Now you can call "Information" in any city, free of charge. Just dial "Operator" and ask her for "Information" in the city you wish to call. When "Information" answers, first give her the name of the distant city or town, followed by the name and address under which the phone is listed.

And, here's another helpful telephone hint: Add the number, including the Area Code, to your personal telephone number booklet. Next time you call, the number's at your fingertips.

Casualty Yours

By JO BRIGHT

I'm not much for morning chatter. To me, the day's first cup of coffee is best consumed in quiet as the day's duties are being mentally sorted — and the fact accepted that they did not go away during the night.

The first time I stopped in at Toby's Ltd. before daylight, it was because the coffee canister at home was empty. Afterward, it was because it was pleasanter to let someone else do the brewing if I could drink it without the blare of a juke box in the background.

Toby Cook and Tom Hammond are good-natured fellows who can say "Good Morning" without necessarily expecting an answer if it doesn't look that way to you. Mrs. Frank Alcorn can fix sausage and eggs without clattering dishes, and pretty Joyce Young remembers the "warm-up" before you get desperate.

Some of the regulars who start the morning at Toby's are Dr. George Peacock, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hohertz, Oakley Hagood, Tom Henry, Randall Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Denton and Dr. Akin Simpson.

During the day, it's likely you'll see Dr. Jack Burnett, Obie Bristow, Clyde Angel, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pusey, John Taylor, Mrs. Hank Quin or Mrs. Maudine Kasch. Mrs. Ralph Wilson stops in on her way to work, and often is with her sister, Mrs. Ira Norrell, who is on her way to the Veterans Administration Hospital for Gray Lady chores.

By noon, it's likely that Mr. and Mrs. Garner McAdams may have dropped in as well as Dr. Carl Marcum, John Richard Coffee, Mrs. John Hogan, Mrs. Milton Talbott, Mrs. James Duncan or Mrs. Charles Rainwater.

Regulars among the coffee drinkers are Vance Lebkow, R. E. McKinney and Leonard Cook, and families that find reason to pause there for a few minutes include those of Horace Garrett, A. Swartz, Kimbell Guthrie and E. L. Powell. Looks like we needed an ice cream parlor, after all.

An announcement from the Buck Sittons of Snyder reveals that they are parents of an eight-pound daughter, Marika Lynn, born Jan. 20. The family made their home here last year.

Birthday Party Fetes Mrs. Perez

Mrs. Francisco M. Perez was honored on her 80th birthday with a Saturday evening party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Petty, 707 N. Gregg.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a frosted white and pink cake. Mrs. George Tassinari assisted at the registration book.

Mrs. Perez was presented a pink carnation corsage. She was born in Ojillos and has lived in Big Spring since 1938 with her daughter, Mrs. Raymon Uribe, 101 NE 8th.

Floor Care

When washing your tile floors, don't flood with water. Too much water may loosen the adhesive bond under the flooring.

when Buck was on The Herald editorial staff. Understand Col. C. J. Butcher, new wing commander at Webb AFB was in Washington, D.C. last weekend to arrange the moving of his family here, and the Champ Rainwaters were going to Sherman to see daughter Julie, and the granddaughter, Jennifer, but the weather may have delayed the trip.

The Jim Zikes left their daughter, Margaret, and their guest, Mariko Sakai, with Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Jones while they spent this past week in Ruidoso. They had taken the girls earlier but didn't get to stay long enough the first time. They had seen the Jack Littles, Jack Lewises, Delbert Stanleys, Dexter Pates and young Jimmy Johnson.

Mrs. J. M. Morgan and her daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Williams were to leave today for Wichita, Kans., to attend the wedding of Kathleen's granddaughter, Mary Michael Orsman. Mrs. William's daughter, Mrs. E. L. Springer drove down Sunday from Wichita Falls to take the women back with her.

Another traveler is Mrs. Huey Rogers, who has just returned from Florida. She visited two granddaughters, Kathy and Morris Lynn, and the family of Lt. and Mrs. Dennis Nichols at Jacksonville. She said it was a lovely drive down, stayed four days, and picked up her son, James, at Baylor University on the way back home. The azaleas and camellias were worth the side trips to St. Augustine and Panama City.

Leaving today for her home in Lompoc, Calif., is Mrs. Richard Shaughnessy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Dally. It was a sad occasion that brought her here, the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Gene Haston, but she was able to stay and see her mother honored by the Rainbow Girls Saturday night as she retired as their mother advisor.

Some of the die-hard duplicate players had birthdays this month including Mrs. Mary Greenwood, Joe Steyer and Mrs. J. D. Robertson. I think the games stopped long enough to serve cake made by Mrs. Ron Kibler and pralines brought by Mrs. B. B. Badger. Mrs. Badger's sister, Miss Margaret Crosby of Austin is due here for a week's visit.

Didn't have a chance to visit with Mrs. A. C. Moore when she was hospitalized, and I'm sorry, but she's up and about now and was hostess for a MOD coffee Saturday morning.

Thanks to Mrs. O. L. Nabors for furnishing our lunch last week. While she was cooking beans and corn bread she made extra of both, knowing I don't do too well on either.

Took Mrs. Norman Spencer to club as a guest the other night to hear her friend, Mrs. M. A. Porter, speak on Communism. (A good program that some of you other program chairmen may want to hear.) Judy said that over 60 children tried out for parts in the Little Theatre of Big Spring's upcoming production of "The Steadfast Tin Soldier." She retired from the Rannels staff to await the baby and has been busier than ever. She was touched and very pleased when two of her classes gave her a shower at the school.

More later. Call me?

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Affair

Miss Sandra Hughes was complimented Thursday evening with a prenuptial shower in the home of Mrs. Marvin Hanson, 2313 Mishler. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hughes, she is engaged to be married Feb. 5 to Michael Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Woods of Coahoma.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Frank Griffiths, Mrs. W. L. Vaughn, Mrs. T. A. Welch, Mrs. Roy Spivey, Mrs. D. M. Osborn, Mrs. F. A. Gibbs, Mrs. Charles Herling Jr., Mrs. Glen Earhart, Mrs. K. L. Brady, Mrs. Charles Campbell, Mrs. Wendell Campbell, Mrs. Tommy May and Mrs. Leroy Findley.

The honoree, her mother and her fiancée's mother were presented corsages of white carnations tied with aqua ribbon.

Approximately 50 guests were registered by Mrs. John Hughes. The refreshment table was covered with ecru lace and an aqua underlay and centered with a white satin heart decorated with aqua roses. A miniature bride held a ribbon on which the names of the engaged couple were inscribed. To one side was a branched candelabra holding aqua candles, and crystal and silver appointments were used. The cake and punch were served by Mrs. John Thompson and Mrs. Tony Herling.

Reception Given For J. B. Pickle

Several out-of-town guests joined local friends Sunday afternoon for a reception honoring J. B. Pickle, former mayor, on the occasion of his 90th birthday. The affair was held at the home of a son, Joe Pickle, 2503 Cactus. Guests attended from Stanton, Lamesa and Roswell, N.M.

Earlier Mr. Pickle was honored at a dinner by three of his children, Mrs. Miller Harris, Durango, Colo.; Mrs. Jonathan Lancaster, Kermit; and Joe Pickle. Three sons-in-law attended, along with six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Fabric Bonding Adds New Body

Bonding is a word you are going to hear more and more of. It has nothing to do with James Bond.

This is fabric-to-fabric bonding. And according to Alamae Knitting Mills, the process opens great vistas in the textile world for knits. It adds new body to the incoming shape of fashion, bringing more aesthetic qualities, a better hand (another term for the feel of the fabric), gives more drapability and increased shape retention.

Foreign-Born Guests Speak For HD Clubs

A study of life in foreign countries was begun at the weekly meetings of the area home demonstration clubs. Guest speakers from Germany, Japan and Sweden told of the customs in their countries. Several of the clubs welcomed new members, made donations to the March of Dimes campaign and discussed plans for future meetings.

CENTER POINT CLUB

Mrs. A. L. Hammonds, a member of the International Wives Club, was guest speaker during the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Center Point Home Demonstration Club. The 10 attending met at the home of Mrs. Alden Ryan, Gail Rt.

Mrs. Ryan presided, and Mrs. G. W. Thantam gave the devotion.

Following the theme of "Life in a Foreign Country," Mrs. Hammonds talked on her life in Germany. She described the difference in the educational systems, types of furniture used and in cooking methods.

A question and answer period followed the program, and Mrs. Vernon Kent won the attendance prize.

A $5 check was sent to the March of Dimes campaign. The next meeting will be Feb. 8 for a joint session with the Knott and Luther HD clubs. The meeting place is to be announced.

KNOTT CLUB

Mrs. R. B. Covington Jr., a native of Germany, was the guest speaker when the Knott Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. N. A. Jones. She discussed family life in Germany and answered questions concerning its school system.

Using a map, Mrs. Covington pointed out historical landmarks and noted the industrial and agricultural areas. She displayed items made in Germany and showed pictures taken there. One of the items she exhibited was a Christmas carol which is a tradition with many German families. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Emmett Grantham.

Guests were Mrs. R. E. Creek, Mrs. W. H. Robinson and Mrs. Max Moore.

The date and place of the next meeting will be announced, however, it will be a program on health and safety when a peace officer will speak on traffic laws and driving courtesy.

CITY HD CLUB

Mrs. Lenart Bluroquist was guest speaker at the Friday afternoon meeting of the City Home Demonstration Club. Nine members met at the home of Mrs. Alton Underwood, 601 E. 16, with Mrs. W. N. Norred and Mrs. B. D. Rice as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Bluroquist, whose homeland is Sweden, described the living standard in her country. She said that each child, after his 16th year, is paid $1500 a year to continue his education. She added that all medical supplies were without cost, and that poverty was almost non-existent.

Mrs. Ervin Daniels gave the devotion, and Mrs. H. P. Woolen was welcomed as a new member.

The members discussed plans for a white elephant sale March 11, and Swedish desserts were served as refreshments.

The next meeting will be Feb. 11 at the home of Mrs. Daniels.

LUTHER CLUB

A program on life in Japan was the highlight of the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Luther Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Regis Fleckenstein was hostess for the meeting, and Miss Margaret Zike was a guest.

Miss Mariko Sakai was guest speaker. She described the customs in her homeland of Japan and told of the differences between the two worlds of teenagers.

The Feb. 8 meeting will be a joint session with the Center Point and Knott HD clubs at the Bethel Baptist Church in Luther. The program theme will be on traffic laws and driving courtesy.

Put Gas Gauge In Lawn Mower

There'll be less chance of your running out of gas far from your supply — when you're power-mowing your lawn, that is — if you have this new mower engine with a gas gauge built into the top, in full view of the mower operator.

Widow Back In Courtroom

MIAMI (AP) — Mrs. Candace Mossler, rasping "I've got an awful cold," returned today to the courtroom where she is on trial for the murder of her multimillionaire husband, Jacques Mossler.

Pack 202 Holds Derby

The Pinewood Derby was held at the Friday meeting of Cub Pack 202 with Mike Robinson, Den 1, Joe Cothran, Den 2, and Richard Carruth, Den 3, taking top prizes.

Other winners were Alan Williams and Jerry Williams, second and third place, Den 1; Ricky Roper and Bobby Allison, second and third place, Den 2; and Mike Robinson and Karl Carpenter, second and third place, Den 3.

Pack championship heat winners were Joe Cothran, Mike Robinson and John Bryans, and pack consolation heat winners were Jerry Williams, Jerry Dunne and Terry Billingsley.

Grand championship trophy dash was won by Joe Cothran.

Also discussed at the meeting was the annual Blue and Gold Banquet, set for Feb. 25 at the Tea Room.

Awards were presented to Larry Stevens, Wolf; William Roper, Ricky Roper, Joe Cothran, and Bobby Muson, Bear; and John Bryans, one year service star.

Den 2 presented the colors for the opening ceremony and the attendance award was won by Den 2.

Zoning Board Meets Tuesday

Three items will appear on the Planning and Zoning Board agenda Tuesday at 5:15 p.m.

The Robb will discuss side-walks for Highland South No. 5. The development was recently annexed to the city. An ordinance requires the construction of sidewalks in housing developments.

Al Milch will request a zoning change from "general residence" to "commercial" on lots four and five, Bauer Addition, facing Northwest Seventh between North Bell and North Lancaster Streets.

E. L. Jenkins will ask for a change in zoning on acreage out of property on the north side of Marcy Drive at Muleshoe Lane. It is a triangle of land just east of the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church property.

Mrs. Newburn's Services Pend

Mrs. Bertha I. Newburn, 72, 200 Brown St., died today at 10:50 a.m. in a local hospital, after several years' illness. She had been hospitalized since July, 1965.

Few Samples Are Checked

The classing office in Abilene reported 14,823 cotton samples graded last week. B. B. Manly Jr., in charge of the office, said there was little cotton harvested during the week. About one-half of the samples classed were carried over from the previous week, while the remaining one-half was "backlogged" on gin yards and ginned during the weekend or first part of the week.

Grades of samples from Howard, Martin, Midland and Glasscock counties dropped while staple lengths and micronaire readings held steady.

White grades represented two per cent of the 4,070 District 1 samples, 51 per cent was light spotted, 39 per cent was classed full spots, six per cent was tinged and two per cent was called below grade. Twelve per cent of the samples were reduced in grade because of bark and two per cent was reduced due to rough preparation.

Plowed In Deep

These cars on Floyd Avenue in Richmond were first snowed in Saturday night, then plowed in as the city's snow clearing equipment went about the task of opening the streets for traffic for the second time in a week. It seems uncertain whether the cars will move again, at least until the spring thaw. National weather story on Page 1-B. (AP Wirephoto)

Life Real, Intense For 'Sky Soldier'

BIEN HOA, South Viet Nam (AP) — Behind the terse reports of "American paratroopers" and their operations, there are countless stories and incidents.

Each day is filled with fleeting moments of courage, and hours of boredom and routine that push men through the good, the bad, the pleasures, the hardships, the moments of truth that are found only in war.

Part of his load are "C" rations, surely the most constant aspect of his day. There are only 12 different meals, and no one likes them all. The question inevitably arises as to why someone can't add at least 12 new meals. There is no doubt that those C rations keep you going, it's just that sometimes you think there must be a better way to go.

Then there is the heat. At times it feels the sun is going to burn the shirt off your back. It probably would if it wasn't for the sweat that pours out of your body. Relentless it is, the strength-sapping heat is part of every day. Southeast Asian sun literally beats a man to his knees.

All teachers' desks were ransacked and a transistor radio was missing from the South Ward School, and the principal's office of College Heights School was entered and ransacked. Missing from that school were several envelopes of milk money and a small change purse which contained about $3 in bills, officers said. The milk money envelopes were found open on a hallway floor. All teachers' desks in the school's north wing were ransacked.

Rev. Jarrell Sharp, Wesley Methodist Church, East Twelfth and Owens, reported a window broken and his secretary's office ransacked. He found nothing missing, however.

Forty-seven packages of cigarettes and 50 cents in change were taken from the Bar-B-Q House, 411 W. 4th sometime Friday night, officers said. The change was taken from a March of Dimes container, the cigarettes from a machine. Two Plate glasses in the front of the machine were broken. Officers could find no evidence of forced entry, and the owner assumed he had forgotten to lock the store when he closed it.

The directors meeting of the Big Spring Country Club will be held Tuesday at 5 p.m. at the club, according to Harold Hall, president.

James F. Hays, 84, Carbon, died today in a local hospital after a year's illness.

Services are pending at the Higginbotham Funeral Home, Gorman, with local arrangements under the direction of the Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Hays was born Aug. 24, 1881, in Pleasant Plains, Ark., and had been a resident of Carbon for over 50 years. He was a retired farmer and a member of the Carbon Methodist Church.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Mrs. Ernie Irene Hays, April 16, 1961. Survivors include one son, Marvin F. Hays, Irving; three daughters, Mrs. J. S. Bennett, Big Spring, Mrs. L. D. Wyatt, Eastland, and Mrs. Louise Powell, Midland; also six grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

CARD OF THANKS We would like to take this means of saying "thanks" to our many friends, neighbors and loved ones for the many calls, the words of sympathy, the food and the beautiful flowers extended to us during our recent bereavement. A special thanks to the Oddfellow Lodge and the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153, also the employees of Texas Electric Company and the Bell Telephone Company. May God bless each and everyone of you.

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, and Joe Smoot, resident engineer of the Texas Highway Department in Big Spring, are in Abilene today to discuss the FM 700 extension with Jake Roberts, district engineer. They will discuss planning of the highway and its pertinence to the city, which has an interest in the construction, according to Larry Crow, city manager.

Snow is forecast Monday from the Central Plateau and Plains states to the Mid and Lower Mississippi Valley and for the Rockies, the Great Basin, the Lower Lakes and New England. Rain is forecast along the Central Pacific and Gulf coasts. It will be warmer from the Gulf and South Atlantic States to the Upper Lakes region and Northern Plains. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

J. W. Entrekin Dies On Visit

LAMESA (SC) — James Walter Entrekin, 85, died Sunday at noon while visiting his nephew, Frank Parker, 3615 Hamilton in Big Spring.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the North Fourteenth Church of Christ, with John Gipson, minister, officiating, assisted by W. T. Hamilton, Plainview. Burial will be in O'Donnell Cemetery, under direction of the Branon-Phillips Funeral Home.

Mr. Entrekin was born March 9, 1879, in Greenville, S. C., and moved to Dawson County in 1925 from Montague County. He settled in the Grandview community and had farmed there until a year ago, when he moved into town.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Rosa Etta Entrekin; two daughters, Mrs. Fern Oliver, and Mrs. Elma Oliver, both of Brownfield; one son, Max Entrekin, Seminole; six sisters, Mrs. Lillie Masters Wichita Falls, Mrs. Rose Lanier, Dallas, Mrs. Ola Dyer, Houston, Mrs. Gladys Davis, Fort Worth, Mrs. Jess Harbour, Hayward, Calif., Mrs. Dessie Williams, Linwood, Calif.; three brothers, Henry Entrekin, Bellevue, Lloyd Entrekin, Austin, and Earl Entrekin, Los Angeles, Calif.; also 12 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Two local schools were burglarized and ransacked Sunday, officers said. They said the two incidents were probably done by the same persons.

Entry to both South Ward School, Fourteenth and Owens, and the College Heights School, 1510 Goliad, was made by forcing out the bottom of a screen and lifting the window, officers said.

All teachers' desks were ransacked and a transistor radio was missing from the South Ward School, and the principal's office of College Heights School was entered and ransacked. Missing from that school were several envelopes of milk money and a small change purse which contained about $3 in bills, officers said. The milk money envelopes were found open on a hallway floor. Wayne Tollett is the new special investigator for the office of Wayne Burns, district attorney, beginning his new duties Tuesday. Tollett fills the vacancy caused by the resignation of Travis Long, who has assumed his duties as police chief at Bowie.

Tollett, a former detective on the Big Spring city police force and for the past few weeks a deputy sheriff under Sheriff Aubrey Standard, has accepted appointment as investigator, Burns said.

"I am happy that Tollett has agreed to take the job," said the district attorney. "I regard him as a fine officer and his special training in police work will make him of great value to my department."

Tollett took the job only after advising Standard that he would not do so if his decision would embarrass or handicap the sheriff.

"Tollett told me," said Standard, "that he realized his resignation would leave me short-handed. He also said that he felt an obligation to me for signing him on as a deputy sheriff."

"I told him to go right ahead and take the job. I pointed out that it paid more than the one he had with my department and that it offered opportunity for advancement in law enforcement."

"I also feel that with Tollett in the office of the district attorney, we will be in a position to work together in a most harmonious manner which should lead to better law enforcement."

Standard said that he will announce the name of the man who is to replace Tollett in his staff within a few days.

Car Tag Sale Begins Tuesday

Tuesday is the first day motorists can pay their auto tax and get their shiny new 1966 car plates.

Business was dull in the auto tax office of the county assessor-collector today, but it will probably be much different Tuesday.

Plates will go on sale at the auto tax office, in the ad valorem tax office, at the Newsum Food Store on Gregg, and the Lewis 5-and-10 Store in College Park Shopping Center.

Fees for plates are the same as last year.

Motorists are urged to bring their registration receipt for 1965 and their car title when they apply for new plates. These papers will greatly facilitate issuance of the tags.

Home Courts May Ruin Two Records

By The Associated Press
The home court in college basketball usually is worth something, which could be just enough to wipe out this week the only two perfect records among major teams.

Second-ranked Kentucky, 14-0, travels to Vanderbilt Wednesday night to play the fourth-ranked Commodores, and sixth-ranked Texas Western, also 14-0, heads for Fort Collins, Colo., and a game with Colorado State U. Friday night.

Each team won its 14th at home Saturday night, Kentucky crushing Auburn 115-78 and Texas Western whipping West Texas 69-50.

TEN AT HOME
The Commodores, 15-2, haven't lost in 10 games at home this season, and another victory could put them on top of the Southeastern Conference race.

Beautiful Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home

Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home also has the lovely Rosewood Chapel, where dignified services are conducted with quiet understanding in beautiful surrounding.

Nalley-Pickle Provides Understanding, Dignity

Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, following a quarter of a century of service to the people of Big Spring and surrounding area, has kept pace with the demand for efficient and dignified service and comfortable facilities in keeping the confidence of those served, or to be served.

Coy Nalley and J. C. Pickle, owners, have added the beautiful Rosewood Chapel where memorial services are held with the solemnity and understanding most needed by families in the time of their bereavement. The sanctuary has been built with the knowledge that comfort, quietness and friendly service is most desired and appreciated when planning becomes difficult for relatives.

Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, through long years of service, has become the symbol of this comfort during hours of bereavement. Complete confidence in the dignity and ability of the trained men and women of Nalley-Pickle has led to a long-standing custom of turning all arrangements over to them, with the assurance that everything will be carried out in the minutest detail.

Rosewood Chapel is designed to provide privacy for the family during the service; to protect those attending services from inconvenient weather with a sheltered entranceway; comfort in air-conditioned rooms during services in the heat of summer, and controlled central heat in the winter, and ample parking with entrances on three streets.

Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home is a member, by invitation, of the National Selected Morticians, a worldwide organization which keeps members informed of the latest developments in the profession.

Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home is located at 906 Gregg, and any information needed may be had by calling the professional employees and owners at AM 4-6331.

Carver Pharmacy Built For Patron Convenience

Carver Drive-In Prescription Pharmacy, located at East Tenth and Nolan, was built for the convenience of its customers and was the first in Big Spring to feature a drive-in prescription window.

This enabled patrons, wanting to pick up prescriptions in a hurry and without having to worry about dress, to drive around the building from Nolan, pick up their items and drive off on Tenth Street without having to worry about a parking place.

As a licensed pharmacist, Milton Carver believes every person should have a regular physical checkup and should use pharmaceuticals prescribed by qualified physicians and properly compounded. A physician's advice is paramount where questions of health are concerned.

Carver and Jack Magee, also a registered pharmacist, keep abreast of the latest developments in prescription drugs and the trusted patent medicines.

Carver also calls attention to the fact that the pharmacy stocks thousands of items besides medicinal supplies.

For instance, when thinking of gifts for special days, there is none more appreciated than a box of famous Pangburn's chocolates. The quality candy is boxed in various sizes appropriate for gifts. The pharmacy is air-conditioned so the appearance and taste of the chocolates are not altered by the effects of heat.

Carver also stocks cosmetics of all well-known brands, shaving lotion and needs for men, Hallmark greeting cards, magazines, books, and many other items.

A telephone call to AM 4-4417 will have your prescription ready for you when you drive up or give you information about other items available in the store.

State National Ready To Help

State National Bank of Big Spring has grown with the city and has recently installed the most modern drive-in windows available for customers who need to bank from their cars. These are on the north side of the bank, and give customers direct hand and voice contact with the tellers.

The bank and its personnel have made a practice of keeping up with developments, and in helping business and industry to grow — including farming and ranching.

When thinking of expansion, a good place to get information, and to find consultants, is at State National Bank. The management has always felt that the bank could grow only if the area it served could grow, and has never failed to lend help where results were to mutual advantage.

In addition to the drive-in facilities a convenient night depository is also handy.

Faulkner Neon & Sign Will "Sign" Anything

Regardless of the kind of sign you need in your business, Faulkner Neon & Sign Company, owned by A. C. Faulkner, can serve you.

The business provides neon, plastic, decals, truck lettering, painting on buildings, or anything you ask for. He does the work by contract or by the job, and will sell or lease the sign you need.

In addition to the regular work, Faulkner offers a service contract which enables the owner to keep the sign in good condition at all times. When a sign is leased, the service goes with it.

Faulkner's equipment, for sign work outside, consists of two panel trucks and a 65-foot "Sky Hook" for the taller jobs. He has the facilities for erecting signs of any size and height up to 65 feet. He also leases the "Sky Hook" along with the operator, for hanging steel sheets, setting air-conditioners, and pre-fabricated building parts.

Faulkner says he covers an area including Big Spring, Stanton, Andrews, Snyder, Colorado City, and other places between. Many signs bearing his name are to be seen all over this area of West Texas. Some of the major neon signs of distinction seen in the City of Big Spring, and the area, have been designed and erected by Faulkner Neon & Sign Co.

The larger signs may be designed and built in from 15 to 30 days, including supports and putting in place.

Faulkner has been in the neon business for about 11 years. He worked at it part time while employed by a local industry, and began in earnest in May of 1964, when he found he had to devote full time to a growing industry.

Working with him is Charles Smith, who has spent 25 years in the sign painting business. Faulkner has three full time men, with two to three others putting in part time work as needed.

For anything in the way of signs, whether they be neon, lettered on wood or metal, on the buildings themselves, or smaller, portable types, a call to Faulkner at AM 3-7035, will get information. Or, better still, go by the shop at 1004 W. 4th and let him show you what he can do, and give you the cost, whether it be a job or a contract or lease.

Waiting To Roll

This line of tumbleweeds, most of which still are rooted, along a barbed wire fence in the Stanton area grew largely from seeds dropped by earlier tumbleweeds which were caught by the wire as they rolled along. Some of this latest generation, restrained thus far by the strands, still will break away and go scooting along when a strong enough wind comes up.

USHERED WITCH WEED WOES

Another Russian Crime: They Brought Tumbleweed

SAN ANGELO (AP) — West Texas farmers, ranchers and motorists needn't be impressed by any new scientific marvels the Russians might boast of nowadays.

One Russian delivery of 90 years ago—the tumbleweed—ought to be enough of a headache for anyone.

Although it is known by the biological name of salsola kali, the tumbleweed has several more common names: Russian thistle, saltwort, prickly grasswort, Russian cactus, tumbling thistle and wind witch.

MOST APT

Jean Gillette, science writer for the San Angelo Standard-Times, thinks wind witch is perhaps most apt, especially when one of the larger specimens comes rolling down a highway into the path of an onrushing automobile.

"They're about like a boxcar coming down the road," says Dr. Barton Warnock of Alpine, a Sul Ross State College botanist. "They easily get to be 10 feet across."

The tumbleweed arrived in the United States with Russian immigrants in the early 1870s. The settlers brought with them flax seed, which was planted in South Dakota.

THISTLE SEEDS

Mixed in with the flax seeds was a generous supply of Russian thistle seeds.

It isn't known how the flax crop came out.

But within 20 years, tumbleweeds had spread to 16 Western states and 13 Canadian provinces, to the woe of countless farmers.

Carl Estes of Monahans, Ward County judge, remembers a few of the peripatetic weeds in the Grandfalls area as early as 1905.

SPREAD FAST

"By 1912, there was a world of them at Grandfalls," Estes said.

Big Spring former postmaster E. C. Boatler recalls that tumbleweeds started in the sand hills country toward El Paso before they appeared in Howard County.

"Around 1915, you could just see one occasionally on a windy day," he said.

Tumbleweeds appeared in the Snyder area after the 1917-18 drought, says Hugh Taylor Sr. of Snyder.

He said they flourished after it started raining in October 1918.

"They really came up thick along the fences where the sand had piled up, and it made the fences look as big as a covered wagon," Taylor said.

In the severe drought of the 1930s, tumbleweeds spread extensively over West Texas, says a former district extension agent, W. I. Marshall Sr. of San Angelo.

BREAKS LOOSE

The root system of salsola is spreading and shallow. As the plant matures, it acquires thin leaves ending in stiff spines. The whole plant becomes hard, dry and woody late in the fall, and easily breaks loose from the soil under wind pressure.

As it rolls, the tumbleweed spreads its seeds.

"I believe," said Estes, "that if a tumbleweed blew for 10 miles, it would still be scattering seeds."

Tumbleweeds soak up moisture needed by small grain crops. They choke off grass.

10 FEET TALL

Boatler says he saw one tumbleweed 10 feet tall and 15 feet across.

The largest Taylor recalls is one "as big as a No. 3 washtub and three feet tall."

But even the more usual sizes—two to three feet in diameter—can be unnerving to the motorist who hears "Whump" "Thump" as a broadside wind sends them skittering into the side of his automobile.

... Now, That Pesky Plant Not All Bad

One of the most unique uses to which tumbleweeds have been put in this area is that of a fence to protect railroad track.

The Texas & Pacific Railway Company more than a decade ago made a fence or wall of them along sandy stretches of track. The weeds were crammed between parallel strands of wire. Sand laden wind, striking the barrier, was slowed enough that sand would drop out, thus preventing drifts from building up along rails or covering them. This also reduced sharply the infiltration of sand into the rock ballast underneath the cross ties. With passage of the historic 1950-55 drought, the tumbleweed fence was abandoned.

FACTORY SET UP

Another attempt to commercialize on the pesky tumbleweed occurred a few years ago when a factory was set up at Colorado City to manufacture decorations from them.

Through a softening process the dried tumbleweeds were made pliable. They then were worked into wreaths, cones (for Christmas trees) and all manner of shapes. They were sprayed with paints, foams, glitter materials, etc. to give unusual and often beautiful effects.

FESTIVAL STARTED

The factory operated for three seasons, then folded. However, Colorado City had seized on the venture to develop it into a civic enterprise known as the Tumbleweed Festival. During festival time, big parades were organized. These featured all manner of floats made of tumbleweeds.

While farmers fight tumbleweeds religiously, they sometimes have found them to be friends in time of drought. Some put the green weeds into trench silos and found that they made fair ensilage with a reasonably high protein content in their early stages.

Freeze Perils Florida Citrus, Vegetables

MIAMI (AP)—A bitter arctic air mass ranged over Florida today, dipping the mercury below freezing in all but a few spots in the state.

The tender vegetable industry in south Florida and the citrus belt faced possible severe damages.

Only West Palm Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Miami and Key West reported above freezing temperatures at 4 a.m.

It was 16 degrees at Tallahassee, where at this time of the year, the normal temperature is 43.

WARMEST SPOT

Key West with 49 was the warmest place in Florida. Jacksonville reported 22, Tampa 27, Orlando 29 and Miami 35.

"This is the end of the cold snap," the Weather Bureau said. A rapid warmup was expected Tuesday.

Damage to the tender vegetables in south Florida is likely to be severe, the Weather Bureau said.

EFFECT ASSESSED

The effect of the frigid air on the huge citrus industry was being assessed.

In Washington, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz said an intensive drive was under way to recruit farm labor needed to harvest crops threatened by the cold.

Deep Snow Clogs East Coast Area

Lashed by a storm piling up deep snow whipped by violent winds, the East Coast shuddered today in the icy grip of a record-breaking cold wave extending from Florida to Maine.

The blizzard, and extreme cold in other areas, contributed to at least 72 deaths from highway accidents, fires and heart attacks in 16 states.

The severe storm swept up the coast over the weekend, leaving cold behind and virtually paralyzing travel in major cities of the populous Northeast, including the nation's capital.

EMERGENCY DECLARED

Two states struck the hardest, Delaware and Virginia, declared a state of emergency. Two feet of snow fell in some parts of Virginia and National Guard units were ordered to help clear clogged highways in Delaware.

In northern and central Florida, the gigantic citrus crop was threatened by freezing temperatures.

Thousands of travelers were inconvenienced as airports in Washington, New York, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia and Montreal were "socked in" by conditions that made take-offs and landings almost impossible on ice-caked runways.

Washington struggled under 16 inches of snow—the worst accumulation in the city in 44 years. The storm dumped 12 new inches of snow with four inches still on the ground from a storm a week ago.

STAY HOME

Federal government and city employees in the capital were told to stay away from work in the morning except for emergencies. However, Congress was scheduled to meet.

State legislative sessions were canceled in Albany, N.Y., and Annapolis, Md.

With driving conditions extremely hazardous, schools were closed in many of the states. At Ithaca, N.Y., about 2,000 Cornell University students were given an extra day to prepare for mid-term examinations.

Icy roads and drifting snow were the main hazards, with visibility cut to zero in many areas. Portions of key state highways were shut down and hundreds of motorists were stranded.

CHAIN COLLISIONS

In one of the worst traffic accidents, 40 persons were injured Sunday night in a series of chain-reaction collisions on New York's Thruway between Rochester and Buffalo.

Frigid temperatures and gale-force winds, rather than the snow, created the most misery in many states.

Fifteen- to 20-foot waves were reported in Narragansett Bay in Rhode Island, flooding low-lying coastal areas. Winds up to 60 miles an hour buffeted some parts of the New Jersey shore.

GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKES MANY FEEL OLD

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 22®. At all drug counters.

A Devotional For The Day

For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory. (II Corinthians 4:17)

PRAYER: Dear Savior, we know that Thou dost come to our help in the day of our suffering, and we do thank Thee for it. Give us the grace to live according to Thy holy will and to accept Thy guidance in all things that we face in our lives. In Thy name we ask. Amen.

Heady Stuff For Congress

Prejudging the temper of a new session of Congress is an uncertain game, but one irresistible to all groups in a society pervasively affected by federal laws.

The commentators' consensus now seems to be that the decisive influence on the second session of the 89th Congress will be the handling of the Viet Nam war and attending budget difficulties. But in this congressional election year, the legislative branch will keep its collective ear to the ground on domestic issues.

Members of Congress can hardly ignore a report by the Louis Harris poll that public opinion favor toward Congress has jumped from a dismal 35 per cent in December, 1963, to a dizzying 71 per cent as of last month. Popular favor for Congress at the moment, for the first time in many years, is even higher than that for a highly popular President.

The lowest modern ebb of congressional popular favor came just after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, whose legislative program Congress had thwarted by inaction and inaction. The current high point of congressional popularity follows passage last year of an astonishing array of Great Society bills pushed by President Johnson.

President Johnson has now urged Congress to continue and expand the Great Society programs despite the cost and other pressures of the Viet Nam war. The extent to which that can be done without running into excessive deficit spending and mounting inflation will be the basic issue of this session.

However, much will depend on Congress' interpretation of the public opinion trend reflected in the Harris poll. Will the rising popular favor for the legislative branch move it to be more independent of presidential influence, more confident of its own independent powers? Or will members of Congress be convinced that following the President's leadership is the main cause for its now remarkable popularity and thus the surest road to re-election?

New Math Formula

Rep. William L. Hungate, Missouri Democrat, has been wrestling with the new math. He has come away somewhat shaken.

For the purpose of illustration, he conceived of a country known as Pandemonia with a population of 200 million people, which was involved in a "gorilla war" with an unnamed nation of 700 million people. Originally it was considered that a successful "gorilla war" required a 10 to 12 to 1 superiority over the gorillas. But by means of mechanization, automation, mobility, and increased firepower, Pandemonia reckoned that it could reduce the numerical need to 5 to 1 in manpower. Thus it turns out that 5 times 700 million equals 3.5 billion for the gorillas against 200 million for the armed forces of Pandemonia.

This led to the question: "How and why is 200 million more than 3.5 billion, and how can you divide 700 million into 200 million so that it goes 5 times. This is called the new math."

With all due respect to the honorable gentleman, probably only Congress could make it more complicated.

Free Exchange Of News

WASHINGTON—One of the reasons why relief from bondage and oppression is not being achieved in many parts of the world is that the governments of the free nations do not consistently speak out in behalf of true democracy.

Freedom of expression, for instance, is one of the basic principles of self-government. Without it, autocracy and intolerance can block every form of human progress. But does the United States government use its tremendous moral force to further the concept of a free press in other countries?

TWO RECENT episodes emphasize the strange failure of the American government to speak out in strong protest. Last September, Sam Jaffe, Moscow correspondent of the American Broadcasting Company, was ousted by the Soviet government—not for anything he had written or said but because the Communists didn't like a broadcast inside the United States over the ABC network by a member of its Washington staff. Last month the Polish government ordered the expulsion of David Halberstam, Warsaw correspondent of the New York Times, because he told the truth about what he saw. A few years ago, A. M. Rosenthal of the New York Times was ordered to leave Poland for "delving too deeply" into Polish affairs in his writings.

Should I break up with my non-Christian boy friend, and wait until a Christian comes along, or should I pray that God will save him, and let our love grow? M.L.

If your boy friend seems totally indifferent to becoming a Christian, run from this affair as you would from a burning building or a poisonous snake!

Of the scores of girls who have married non-Christian boys, I can think of only one or two who were able to lead their husbands to Christ. I know dozens who have failed, and worse still, their husbands succeeded in leading them away from the church and Christ.

I would hate to think of what my life might have been if I had married a non-Christian girl, and I am equally sure that my wife's life would not have been as fruitfully happy if she had married a non-Christian.

Marry a Christian boy, and the most devout one you can find. Even if he is less handsome, somewhat lacking in gifts and personality, and not as worldly wise as the one you are now courting. And if you can't find one, you would be better off giving your entire life to the service of God, and go through life unmarried.

This judgment may at the moment seem harsh, but I am sure if you take the other course, that in years to come, you will thank me. The Bible says, "Be not unequally yoked together with unbelievers," and this statement is about as clear as could be.

Withholding System Being Worked On

WASHINGTON (AP) — As every income taxpayer knows, withholding is never perfect. In many cases there is a refund due from the government, or, unhappily, something owed the government after the annual return has been sweated out.

A MAJOR effort is now on in Congress to improve the system, which has been getting more and more out of kilter with the passing years, because withholding is based on lower-bracket tax rates and incomes in this country which keep going up. In 1964, for example, most U.S. families had incomes above $4,500 — and the median has gone up since.

If the slice taken out of everybody's paycheck is based on minimum bracket rates and more and more wage earners move up into higher brackets, there is bound to be trouble. This has been the situation. Moreover, the tax changes of the past two years have cranked more complications into the system. Since the income tax reduction was staged over two years, there had to be a special withholding computation for the first year. It turned out to be a bit low and, last year, many taxpayers who thought their liability had to dig into their pockets to make up a difference.

MOREOVER, a new minimum standard deduction benefiting lowest-income taxpayers was instituted. But this change was not reflected in the withholding tables.

As a result of these and other factors, the Treasury estimates, only about 12 million of the 63 million employees who pay their tax essentially by withholding come within $10 a year of having the correct amount withheld. Of the remainder, almost 37 million now have too much withheld and have to file for refunds, while more than 14 million have not enough withheld and have to come up with extra payments. In connection with President Johnson's tax program, the Treasury asked Congress to enact a new set of withholding rules. If withholding were graduated, like the tax rates themselves, this change, the Treasury said, would increase to almost 29 million the number of taxpayers who would break even — within $10. Overwithholding would continue for almost 24 million and underwithholding for more than 10 million. Some people apparently

THE HOUSE Ways and Means Committee looked over the Treasury tables and several members — enough to indicate the mood of the committee — said they thought they could do better. Fine, said the Treasury in effect, go ahead and try. This is where the matter stands while the committee finishes its hearings. It will probably go to work on legislation Feb. 7.

We, The Left-Footed Loungers

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Nature equipped man to sweat out his problems. The human skin contains 2½ million perspiration glands and they can excrete 2½ pints an hour.

The left foot of most people is slightly larger than their right foot. This is because we are a race of left-footed loungers. Even right-handed people tend to throw most of their weight on their left foot when standing at ease. The next time you're at a bar see if most of the patrons don't rest their right foot on the rail, while balancing on the left.

ARE YOU a chronic day-dreamer? Well, don't fret about it. Some psychologists believe that those who daydream habitually have a better chance of making their dreams come true because they develop a better insight into their own personality. (My trouble, doctor, is that I have the kind of daydreams which if carried out, would land me in jail.)

PIPE this: Cigarette smoking is increasing more rapidly among women than among men. One reason given for the rise in feminine smoking is that the girls think it helps keep their weight down.

QUOTABLE notables: "You can take no credit for beauty at 16. But if you are beautiful at 60, it will be your own soul's doing." —Marie Stopes.

Science has found that you probably are an overly anxious person if you breathe hoarsely and heavily, take deep breaths, and cough and clear your throat repeatedly. On the other hand, you can develop the same symptoms by running for a bus. Sign in a New Hampshire town: "Drive carefully. Our squirrels cannot tell one nut from another."

PROSPERITY note: The United States now has more than 425,000 taverns in which one can seek emergency help in case of snakebite.

Apt definitions: The Catholic Digest describes a night club as a place "where they get away with murder—and you face the charges."

Worth remembering: "The trouble with being a bachelor is that by the time you've played the field you're too old to make a pitch."

To Your Good Health

Putting An Old Fallacy To Rest

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: A discussion has been raging at our house for years. One argument is that a young woman's bloodstream becomes more and more impure as the time between her periods progresses, and when she has her period, these impurities are lost. The contention is that she has headaches, nervousness, blemishes or pimples at the beginning of her period, but they disappear afterwards because she has gotten rid of these impurities.

The other thought is that her bloodstream is as pure or impure as at any other time, and that the blemishes, headaches or nervousness are probably brought on because her hormones are upset temporarily. Please enlighten us. — MRS. D. H.

This same argument seems (my mail tells me) to be quite widespread, so let's discuss it. The purity of the bloodstream is not involved. Nature's purpose in causing a monthly period is not to remove impurities. Rather, the purpose is to wash away a thin lining of the uterus, so a new one can grow in case next month the ovum is fertilized and a baby begins to form in that lining.

The blood used in this process is slightly different, in that it flows instead of clots, as blood ordinarily does when it reaches the air—as bloody quickly clots when we have a minor wound.

Exactly how the body does this, we do not know. There are innumerable questions about the body, Nature, and the universe which we don't know. How do violets know when to bloom in the spring? Why does water freeze at 32 degrees? Why do we sneeze? Chemistry may be the greatest mystery of life. Right now it is for us to learn all we can about how things happen, without necessarily knowing WHY.

The monthly period affects women, not because of impurities in the blood, but because they are females. This cyclic change is controlled by hormones, and hormones are governed by Nature. The exact "how" is still as mysterious as the forces which tell a bear when to hibernate for the winter, a rose bush to have occasional seed globes, or a morning glory to open in the sunshine.

Headaches, nervousness, blemishes, or other side effects may occur before a menstrual period, but most women do not have these problems. True, most women gain a bit of weight, usually a pound or two, occasionally more than that, as the hormones rise and fluid is retained in the tissues. But it's normal. Yes, hormones control this. Yet hormones is just a word to describe certain complicated chemicals which are a part of life. We can isolate and accumulate hormones, and use them, but we have yet to understand exactly why and how they work. We know a lot about chemistry, but we don't know it all.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, send in care of The Herald for my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Don't You Know This Man?

Study carefully the pieces of this jigsaw puzzle. Perhaps you can easily put it together:

He didn't pay his poll tax and never held public office but he can tell you what's wrong with the United Nations and America's involvement in Viet Nam... He wouldn't be caught dead watching ballet or a program offering symphonic music on TV but he can tell you what causes all the heartache on the daytime soap operas.

HE OWNS a color TV set but owes money on his burial insurance and waits until the last day to pay his taxes... He's the fellow who stands up at a football game and screams, "Down in front!!" mainly because he wants to look at the players and coaches when he's verbally abusing them.

He'll drink his coffee black but order an extra helping of dessert, with ice cream on it... He's a critic of any landscaping scene in town but hasn't done anything about the crabgrass in his own yard... You never tell a story he hasn't heard, or couldn't do better... He'll bet $10 on a longshot at the race track or order drinks for the crowd after making a hole-in-one at the golf course but gripes to everyone in sight when his gas bill is 15 cents more than he thinks it should be.

HE LOOKS ON all motorists driving at a different speed than he is as individuals who shouldn't have a license, yet consistently runs stop signs... He never fails to honk his horn at the car in front of him, even when that car has been jammed up by a dozen cars ahead... He looks at you as if to say, "What have you done for me lately?" but wouldn't even let you know if you had gone off and left your automobile lights on at night.

HE POLISHES his skills with the young ladies but gripes when his wife asks him to carry out the trash... He puts the rap on all levels of government but never hesitates to accept a largesse, whether it be in the form of a veteran's bonus or a tax refund he cheated to get.

The only library he has consists of borrowed books... He lets you pick up the dinner check, mumbling that he'll get it the next time around... He's trying to quit smoking but will bum your last cigarette and pocket your matches... The dames he used to go with would have put Miss America to shame, until you see one of them.

HE HAS DRAWING room manners but will square off with a friend after a few drinks at a dance over a minor play in some long-ago football game... He basks in reflected glory and is a notorious name-dropper, even if his chief claim to fame has been in being struck by a pro golfer's drive... He knows more law than Blackstone... He says anything he can do to help will be fine, but don't make book on it.

You don't know him? Think again. He's probably on the verge of using you for a character reference—again.

'Beauty' And All That

WASHINGTON — There's a new word in the lexicon: "beautifuly."

Private industries which supply electric services have coined it to cover the need of adjusting their construction policies to Mrs. Lady Bird Johnson's beautification wave. The word also covers a lot of other Great Society demands.

"TO US," says an electrical utility magnate, "there is nothing more beautiful than the cross-country march of utility towers and poles. But beautifuly now requires that we pacify the conservationists, and there are three kinds of these: ordinary conservationists, dedicated conservationists and fanatical conservationists."

THE FANATICS are having a fiesta, and the public pays the piper. Pacific Gas and Electric Company, which serves 46 Pacific Northwest counties, has established an aesthetics committee to take the curse of functional ugliness off the paraphernalia which feed electrical power into homes, schools and factories. The engineering challenge to camouflage ugliness is not new, but it became intensified in 1965 when the First Lady opened her campaign. The assembly atop utility poles can be made to look like crow's nests on a ship. Electric power plants can be disguised to look like parks or cemeteries—but it all costs money. By use of new-fangled conduits, the price of laying subterranean cables has been cut in the past five years from $650 to $175 for an average-sized California real estate lot—but research and the excavation costs show up in the rates that must be charged. Whenever the trappings of electrical service are prettified and buried, inflation in living costs rears its ugly head.

At the heart of the Great Society's spruce-up-clean-up drive is the ageless mythology about the perfectibility of man and his earth. Communism, socialism and other visionary political schemes hold out lures of absolute comfort. The Great Society thus far has promised to abolish ugliness, poverty, ignorance, social inequality, death-dealing diseases and even war.

THE CONSERVATIVE Movement—what's left of it—scorns to preach perfectibility on earth. It advises the human race to accept life in a wise spirit of resignation which compensates for the unavoidable discomforts of flesh and environment.

'New Economists' In Action

NEW YORK (AP)—Changing the government's policy from a goal of stimulating a lagging economy to restraining a go-go one isn't always as easy or effective as it sounds. But this time government economists and fiscal experts are using what they call new methods and better understanding of what makes the economy tick.

And they have a big talking point: a five-year record that bears all the outward signs of success.

USING TAX cuts and pump priming as pep pills has been tried many times before. Using increased tax collections and tighter money as a curb on speculation has, too. In many instances in the past the government action has lagged so far behind the business cycle as to be of little help, and sometimes a hindrance.

One reason has been that the government policy makers got around to it too late. Another was that Congress took too long to make the changes.

THE NEW economists say they are right on the ball now. And Congress may move fast out of respect for the record of the last five years.

From 1961 to the summer of 1965 the economic and fiscal policies of the government were aimed at building up demand for goods and services and spurring economic growth. More money was pumped into the economy by the government spending than taken out by tax collections.

IN 1964 and 1965 taxes were cut for individuals and corporations. It all added up to more money to spend. And all hands spent more. Business boomed and jobs multiplied.

Inflation was avoided for several reasons: As long as unemployment was high, wage demands were moderate and job security the prime union goal. Idle plant facilities kept competition keen and prices down. Automation meant more units of production per man-hour of labor and held costs down. Consumer demand—and confidence—grew along with the economy but there were still enough goods for everyone to buy.

A CHANGE became evident last summer. The economy was expanding faster than any one had expected. Idle plant capacity shrank. The jobs rate dropped. Productivity from new equipment wasn't rising as fast as before. Wholesale prices, long stable, started moving up fast. The consumer price index rose sharply toward the end of 1965. And the buildup in the Viet Nam war foretold increased spending, greater demand for materials that go into both military and civilian products, a callup of more youths at the age they enter the labor force.

THE ECONOMY was boiling up fast under the lid of capacity and supply. The trick was to keep the lid from popping off but at the same time keep the economy just hot enough for everyone's taste.

The new economists say the government can handle this.

Next: What steps are government and business taking to make 1966 different?

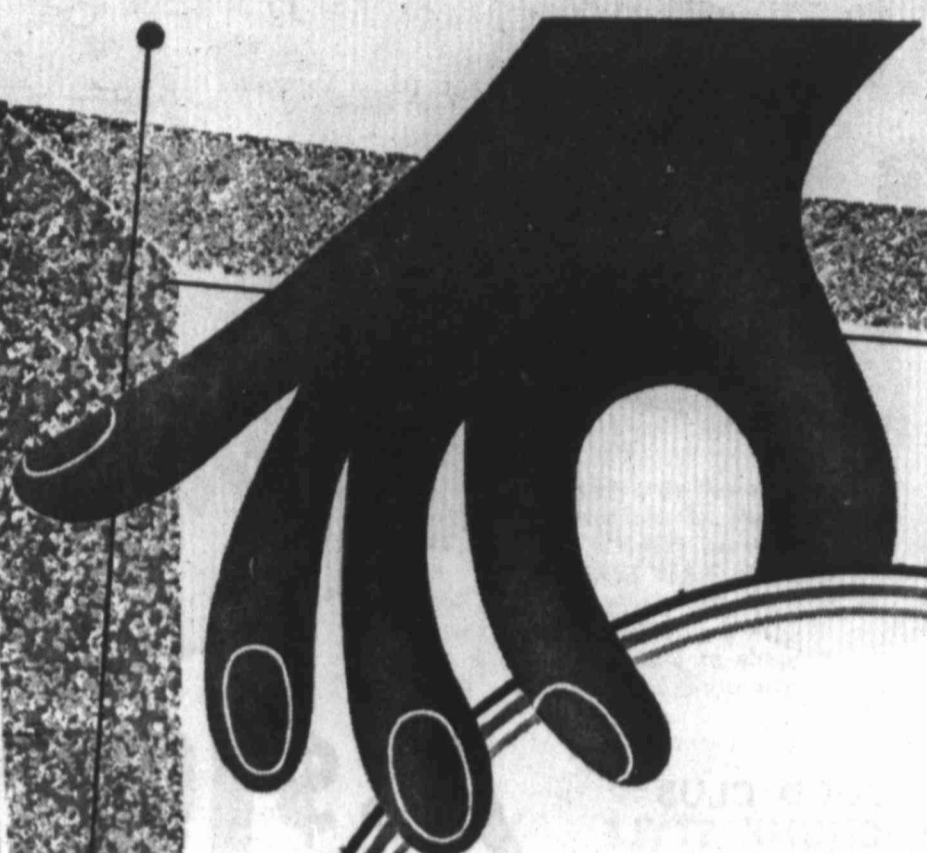

For Runways

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — North American Aviation is making a special kind of stop-and-go sign in an experiment aimed at simplifying ground control of airplanes, particularly as they taxi across runways.

Under contract with the Federal Aviation Agency, NAA is making 25 for evaluation at Washington National Airport. Installed at runway intersections and operated from the control tower, they tell the pilot to "Go" or "Hold." It has been found that voice controls during taxiing can be confusing to already busy pilots.

Held Over

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—The workers in the public information office at Wichita State University didn't have to put up any Christmas decorations this year. The nativity scene which office personnel put in a window last Christmas was still in place.

What makes a good ADVERTISEMENT?

A good advertisement is the one that gives the advertiser the results he is looking for, and to accomplish this, the ad must give prospective customers what they are looking for!

What makes newspapers the most effective Advertising Medium?

- 1. VISUAL PRESENTATION - Unlike radio, which is aural, and television, which is both visual and aural, the newspaper concentrates on the visual message, making your advertising message more fixed in the reader's mind.
- 2. LOCAL IMPACT - Newspapers are individualized and edited to appeal to the people of a particular city and its surrounding area. In their editorial treatments, newspapers reflect the character of the community of which they are a part.
- 3. NEWSPAPER PENETRATION - Newspaper readership is uniformly strong in practically all strata of society. Newspapers penetrate effectively all income groups, from the highest to the lowest, all occupational groups, all educational levels.

plan your advertising carefully, a good ad should have a well-balanced layout and accurate copy; it should always offer merchandise that the customers want, and it should always feature seasonal merchandise at prices customers are willing and able to pay.

Remember, GOOD RESULTS depend entirely on what is in the ad, the way it looks, the value it offers, and the integrity of the firm that is running the ad.

War Parallels Korea Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military forces in Viet Nam are approaching the peak strength of Americans who fought in the Korean War and may top that total by the end of this year.

Ashore in Viet Nam, according to the most recently announced official figures, are about 197,300 Army, Marine Corps, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard men.

But when other forces assigned to fight or support the Viet Nam war from other neighboring locations are added, the overall total runs up to about 113,000.

KOREA TOTAL

At peak strength, in mid-1953 as hostilities tapered to an end, the United States had about 472,300 men deployed in Korea or conducting action from bases and waters in adjacent areas.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Defense Preparedness subcommittee, predicted in a Jackson, Miss., speech Thursday that by the end of this year U.S. manpower in the Viet Nam war very well may be 350,000 to 400,000. He said that he would not be surprised if ultimately 600,000 men were required.

Although President Johnson did not make specific predictions of manpower increases in his State of the Union and budget messages to Congress, he indicated that the American effort in Viet Nam may mount. He has said the United States will provide "whatever forces and equipment are needed."

Pentagon statisticians date U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war from Jan. 1, 1961. At that time there were about 770 American military men in South Viet Nam serving only as advisers. Not until five years had elapsed did the total of U.S. forces "in-country" reach the approximate 197,300 total.

LINE-UP GIVEN

The 197,300 lines up this way: Army 126,000; Navy (ashore) 9,000; Marines 39,000; Air Force 23,000; Coast Guard 300.

To this in-country force should be added: about 70,000 aboard ships of the 7th Fleet which launches air strikes and provides shore bombardment; another 8,000 on the island of Guam from where B52 heavy bombers take off on tactical bombing strikes against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam; about 30,000 in Okinawa where troops move in and out in support of the Viet Nam war; perhaps up to 15,000 U.S. personnel in Thailand who have a role in the Viet Nam war as well as helping strengthen the security of Thailand.

Improvement Seen Near In Nuclear-Tip Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today the United States may be close to significant breakthroughs in enhancing the powers of American nuclear-tipped intercontinental missiles to penetrate an enemy's antimissile defenses.

It did so in a report saying that: 1. America already leads the world in the "nuclear defense" field.

IMPROVED WEAPONS

2. Improved nuclear weapons of various types including "demolition munitions" such as atomic land mines were added last year to the stockpile; and 3. The nation's nuclear weapons are even now working toward developing even more advanced types.

The AEC's annual report to Congress did not specifically describe the latter. But apparently they entail still further progress toward assuring that American missiles — launched after an attack on the United States — would at least partially be able to foil, decoy and penetrate enemy countermeasures — including their own missiles, and ground-based electronic detection devices.

MISSILE WARHEADS

The AEC put it this way: "A major weapons development objective has been the improvement of the penetration capability of strategic missile warheads by further decreasing warhead vulnerability to advance enemy antiballistic missile countermeasures."

"Laboratory computations and experiments have identified several possible designs toward achieving these improvements. The designs are under further study, with the purpose of producing — within any given set of limitations in size, weight and (explosive) yield — a system of hardness balanced against all possible threats." "Hardness" does not refer to the mere metallic hardness of a warhead.

Lectures Dull? Study On Own

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Twenty-five Harvard medical students say their lectures are dull and a waste of time. So they're being excused from class — and told to study on their own.

"The lecture system just doesn't work out," says Andrew Weil, 23, of Philadelphia, a second-year student at the Harvard Medical School.

"The psychological effect of sitting in a class and being lectured and 'labbed' at is to make you passive, dull, lose motivation and curiosity," he said.

DEAN PETITIONED
Weil, a leader of the student group that successfully petitioned Dean Robert H. Ebert to be excused from classes for the rest of the year, said medical schools are throwing too many organized laboratory sessions and too many lectures at their medical students.

He said, "Most of the time the lectures are giving information that can be found in books, and found much quicker."

Ebert agreed to excuse the 25 from the lectures and laboratories. He said if anyone "is really going to excel at anything he must continue with his own education and a university must have the ability to stimulate a person to study in a particular field that he could only survey superficially in school."

DEVELOP CURIOSITY
He said students should have a chance to digest the many facts and mountains of material presented to them, that they should have a chance to catch hold of something that interests them particularly and go into it in depth. This, he said, would help develop curiosity.

The 25 students are part of a 106-member class studying pathophysiology, a combined approach to diseases and their effects on the body.

They will be divided into groups of five to devise their own learning techniques with the help of volunteer faculty advisers.

They will take the same examinations as their 81 classmates and will attend the lectures that interest them.

Ebert said Harvard has no intention of abandoning the lecture system altogether.

Dear Abby

How To Tell
The Old Man

DEAR ABBY: My father is the most stubborn man in the world. Nobody can tell him anything. He had seat belts put in our car as soon as they came out, and he gave us kids a big long lecture on how we should always use them, but HE never uses them himself. When I tell him he forgot to fasten his seat belt, he says he is going only a short distance and it doesn't pay to bother. I have tried to tell him that it takes only a few seconds to fasten a seat belt and it might save his life, but he gets mad at me for speaking up to him. He has a very ugly temper, and I have to be careful what I say to him or I'll end up with a fat lip. How can a 14-year-old boy tell his father to practice what he preaches?

FOURTEEN
DEAR FOURTEEN: Tell him that the National Safety Council estimates that most automobile accidents occur within 25 miles of the victims' homes. But don't tell him to practice what he preaches or you're apt to get a "belt" in the chops.

DEAR ABBY: My in-laws' religion is against smoking, drinking and playing cards. Ours is not. In the evening we will have a cigarette, and perhaps a drink. And if we have company, we will play cards. His parents never call, they just drop in unexpectedly, which puts us in an embarrassing spot. My husband expects me and our guests to hide the drinks and cards. I think this is wrong. Do you think I should do as my husband asks and live this falsehood?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Your in-laws surely must know that YOUR religion does not prohibit smoking, drinking and card-playing. And if they don't, it's time they did. "Hiding" the evidence, as your husband asks, is degrading and deceitful. And he's probably not getting away with it anyway. Tell him to grow up and act like a big boy.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married since last August and we are still living with my mother-in-law. I have painted two apartments and my wife would not move into either one of them. She just won't leave her mother. We are expecting in a couple of months I love her, Abby, and she says she loves me. I want to live alone with my own new family. What do you advise?

TROUBLED
DEAR TROUBLED: Unless your wife leaves her mother voluntarily to make a home for you, it won't be much of a home. She is still her mother's little girl, and may need some professional counseling to fit her for the role of wife and mother. The Family Service Association provides this kind of counseling. See them.

Road Sign Giving Way On Impact Less Deadly

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—A motorist sped along a South Texas freeway early one morning last November, chatting with a companion.

Suddenly a truck forced the car from the road and sent it spinning. The car smashed at high speed into a freeway sign. Instant death? Serious injury? Irreparable damage?

None of these, thanks to a "breakaway" sign designed to save lives and money. Both driver and passenger escaped injury and damage to the auto was not great.

EARLIER MISHAP
A year earlier a similar mishap occurred at the same spot, before the experimental sign had replaced a conventional highway marker. The driver died in the wreckage.

This dual incident reflects the potential of the safety device, currently undergoing extensive study at Texas A&M's Texas Transportation Institute.

The research program produced a practical design for breakaway sign supports last year and the Highway Department then began limited and experimental usage.

Such was the case in the South Texas instance. The original sign, said highway engineer D. C. Greer, was built with rigid supports, each connected to a concrete foundation. But a day before the accident highway crews modified the sign by installing slip joints and hinges.

JOINTS PART
Greer said the slip joints parted upon impact with the auto and the sign sailed away without causing damage or harm.

The breakaway sign grew from a preliminary investigation begun in 1963 at Texas A&M to determine if the device was practical.

"We found out so much, it was decided to go into it further," said A. C. Taylor, of Fort Worth, regional engineer for the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Big Questions Overhanging Business Front

NEW YORK (AP) — This February will start out with two strikes on it — and almost every February is a trying enough month for production, distribution and retail trade.

QUESTION MARK This February could be even more of a question mark — and a pain. For one thing, there's the uncertainty of what will happen in Viet Nam — and what that will do to government programs at home and to private business and consumer plans.

CURB SPECULATION But suddenly the atmosphere is changed. Government officials talk more now of restraining speculation and inflation, where for five years they talked only of stimulating economic growth.

SEN. MANSFIELD

Impasse Stays In Union Shop Bill Wrangle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today goes into its second week of the union shop battle with neither side ready to budge from its position.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said his only plan for now was to keep before the Senate his motion to bring up the bill which would repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. That section authorizes states to outlaw union shop contracts.

Mansfield got an agreement for the Senate to convene two hours earlier than its usual noon meeting after a wrangle with the bill's opponents at a Saturday session. Because of the timing, Senate committees scheduled no hearings for the day.

MOTHER CONVICTED IN 3 STRANGLINGS PARDONED

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Mrs. Joann Baker, a U.S. Air Force sergeant's wife sentenced to 16 years imprisonment for strangling her three children, was freed today after serving five years in an Athens jail.

Mrs. Baker, 32, of Stockdale, Tex., was convicted in 1961 of slaying her children, Cathy, 2, Susan, 5, and Joel, 8, in their suburban Athens home.

A Justice Ministry spokesman said Mrs. Baker had been pardoned by royal decree.

Her husband, Sgt. Joel Baker, 35, was stationed at the Athens military base at the time and was later transferred to the United States.

Mrs. Baker admitted that she killed the children after she found pictures of her husband with another woman and lipstick smears on his shirt. She said she tried to commit suicide afterwards.

Baker, of China Grove, N.C., testified that he had been seeing a Greek telephone operator but only to take language lessons.

Weather Cuts Traffic Deaths

By The Associated Press
Bitter cold and dangerous driving conditions over the weekend helped cut Texas traffic fatalities to less than half the toll of an average fair weather weekend.

Many persons stayed off icy, slicked streets except for emergencies. Others drove with caution inspired by sight of dozens of fender-bender type accidents during the freezing weather.

Between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, 10 persons were killed in traffic accidents, compared to as high as 25 on many previous weekends.

OTHER VIOLENCE
Fires, shootings, and other violence claimed other lives, for a total of 19 violent deaths, according to an Associated Press tabulation.

Edward Neighbors, 18, of Springtown, and Mrs. Etta Gordon, 62, a school teacher from Perrin, died Sunday when their cars collided on Farm Road 51 six miles north of Weatherford.

Pedro Ramirez Jr., 35, and Juan G. Arce Jr., 34, both of Nixon, were killed Sunday when the car in which they rode left Texas 80, skidded into a culvert and plunged into a creek. The accident was two miles north of Belmont in Gonzales County.

SHOT TO DEATH
M. C. Milton, 39, was shot to death near his home in Dallas Sunday.

John L. David, 52, burned to death Sunday morning at his cafe in Beasley, a Fort Bend County town, when his clothes caught fire from an open heater.

A pickup truck overturned on a rural road four miles southwest of Raymondville Sunday, killing a passenger, Gustavo Cantu, 25, of LaSara. The driver was injured.

Miss Lola B. Hughes, about 65, was found near her Corsicana home Saturday. She suffered breaks in both arms and extensive cuts. Sheriff's officers were investigating the death.

Charles D. Jewell Jr., 45, an airman from Austin's Bergstrom Air Force Base, was killed in a one-car accident just north of Blanco on U. S. 281 Saturday.

Scurry A. Spirling, 36, of Midland was found dead Saturday in his home. Asphyxiation was listed as cause of death. Officers said the home was tightly closed.

Nuclear Bomb Off Downed Plane Still Object Of Hunt

CUEVAS DE ALMANZORA, Spain (AP) — The shattering collision of two U.S. warplanes miles above the Spanish coast has plunged the simple people of this Andalusian region into the nuclear age — and left them astonished, perplexed, and fearful.

The crash Jan. 17 of a B52 bomber carrying nuclear bombs and the jet tanker refueling it — likely to become one of the most expensive accidents in U.S. Air Force history — exploded with international repercussions. But it was the quiet little people of the Mediterranean coast, the truck farmers and the fisherfolk, who were affected most intimately.

BOMB MISSING?
The massive land and sea search for a nuclear bomb still missing has failed to quiet their fears. Whether it has succeeded in other aims remains to be seen.

The U.S. government presumably is anxious to prevent the bomb from falling into Communist hands and to reassure Allied governments who may develop fears about U.S. bombers flying over their territory with nuclear bombs aboard.

Although the search sector near this area of 13,000 persons is heavily guarded, it is conceivable that someone might stumble on secret material and hand it over to a Red agent — wittingly or unwittingly.

It is also conceivable that Soviet military men might discover the weapon or its parts.

BELIEVED IN SEA
The missing bomb is believed to be 1,000 feet deep in the Mediterranean off Almeria. The Soviet Union operates subs and surface ships in the Mediterranean.

The search seems to have quieted down for the moment, while the searchers wait for the arrival from the United States of two midget submarines which can dive to that depth.

As long as the bomb is missing, it is feared that other countries might follow Spain's lead and ban U. S. nuclear-armed planes from flying over their territories. Once it is found, it is believed other governments will be reassured.

Spaniards living in the area complain they were told too little and too late what the crash could mean.

"We wanted to help those poor airmen," said one grizzled farmer. "We all rushed to the wreckage. We weren't told until much later that it could be radioactive. I think if it happened again most of us would stay away from the scene."

Four survivors of the crash were rescued by fishermen and whisked away to a U. S. Air Force hospital near Madrid. Squads of U. S. and Spanish military descended from helicopters and recovered the burned remains of seven other crewmen who died.

"Then came new crews — we learned later they were nuclear bomb experts — stern-faced men who went about their work with an air of not wanting to be bothered by our questions," a squat fisherman said. "Even our own officials were too busy to tell us anything. We tried to help with the wreckage — and learned two days later that we should have kept away."

Need an Out-of-Town Telephone Number?

Now you can call "Information" in any city, free of charge. Just dial "Operator" and ask her for "Information" in the city you wish to call. When "Information" answers, first give her the name of the distant city or town, followed by the name and address under which the phone is listed. And, here's another helpful telephone hint: Add the number, including the Area Code, to your personal telephone number booklet. Next time you call, the number's at your fingertips.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (is Hee Ho The Chess Wizard?)
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, partner opens with one heart and you hold:
♠ A J 10 8 5 4 ♡ 7 2 ♠ A K K 10 3
What is your response?
A.—Two spades. Despite the lack of a support for partner, your hand is so strong as to suggest a probable slam even in face of the misfit. Your hand is worth 22 points, and the slam signal should be flashed at once.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ K J 8 6 4 ♡ A Q 3 2 ♣ 10 5 2 ♠ 6
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♣ 1 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid?
A.—Three hearts. In this sequence such a jump is not forcing but strongly urges partner to go on. There is nothing to be gained by bidding one spade.

Q. 3—As South vulnerable you hold:
♠ 7 6 ♡ Q 5 ♠ A K 8 5 2 ♠ A Q J 6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♣ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♣ Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—You hold somewhat more than you might have for your previous bids and we would not be inclined to give up without making one mild try for game. Our recommended bid is therefore three hearts. In view of partner's rebid your Q-5 of hearts are adequate support.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ K Q J 8 6 4 ♡ 6 4 2 ♠ A 9 5 3
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♣ Dbie. ?
What action do you take?
A.—Two spades. We treat the single jump in this sequence as a one round force. It describes an unbalanced hand with a good spade suit, but announces that the hand is not suitable for a redouble.

Q. 5—As South vulnerable you hold:
♠ 3 ♡ J 9 8 7 5 2 ♠ A J 9 2 ♠ J 9
The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South
3 ♣ 3 NT Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Further action on your part is indicated. Your 14 points are of the highest possible quality and the hand is the equal of most 15-point hands. A bid of six no trump is acceptable to this department, but a bid of at least five no trump we look upon as mandatory.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ 8 4 3 ♡ A Q 2 ♠ A 10 8 2 ♠ A 9 7
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♣ Pass 2 NT Pass
4 NT Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Further action on your part is indicated. Your 14 points are of the highest possible quality and the hand is the equal of most 15-point hands. A bid of six no trump is acceptable to this department, but a bid of at least five no trump we look upon as mandatory.

Q. 7—As South vulnerable you hold:
♠ Q 10 9 4 ♡ A 8 6 2 ♠ Q 4 2 ♠ 7 5
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♣ 3 ♣ Pass
Dbie. Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Vigorous action on your part is indicated. On the first round you were prevented from showing your moderate values by East's preemptive tactics. You ought to think in terms of game, so that a bid of three hearts or three spades, being forced, would be quite inadequate. Nor should you attempt to guess the right major suit. A false cue bid of four clubs is indicated and will force partner to make the selection.

Q. 8—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ 10 6 4 2 ♡ K J 10 8 5 ♠ A 6 2 ♠ 7
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♣ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Three hearts. Bids of this character are attended with a certain amount of danger but we consider the risk to be well calculated. Since the bidding subsided at an early stage it may be concluded that partner has some appreciable high card values and, since he probably has a singleton spade, your dummy's sales to show up with a suitable number of hearts.
