Humphrey Sees Viet Social Gain

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey made a four-hour tour of improvement projects in the Saigon area today and pronounced the work "very fine."

American-style political campaign. The vice president, though flushed by the tropical heat, enjoyed himself enormously in his visit with the kindergarten class in a village five miles south of Saigon.

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Fifteen cars of a Missouri Pacific freight train were derailed just north of Harlingen today alongside US 77.

Johnson Expected To Sign GI Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A permanent GI benefits bill with an estimated eventual price tag of $500 million a year was on President Johnson's desk today after receiving final congressional approval.

expected to level off at around $500 million annually after five years. Its first-year cost was estimated at $335 million.

Jobless Pay, Wage Bills May Prompt Filibusters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sidetracking of the union shop bill casts a shadow over two other measures strongly backed by the AFL-CIO.

was cast in a cloture test Tuesday. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield dropped his motion to bring up the bill after Thursday's vote and said that, so far as he knew now, the legislation was dead for this session.

Parents Of 5 Left Childless By Farm Fire

ELYSIAN, Minn. (AP) — A south Minnesota farmer, thwarted by dense smoke, fled his burning home late Thursday night and watched helplessly as flames killed his five children.

The dead children were James, 14; Larry, 12; Constance, 10; Michael, 7; and the baby, Susan, 22 months.

Fretful Calm Overhanging Laotian Scene

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Amid talks of future coups, imminent battles and attempts to get rid of a tough finance minister, a worrying calm prevails in Laos.

Abortive Coup

Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, known as the "old fox" of Laos, was the former vice premier of this landlocked kingdom of nearly two million inhabitants and once led the Laotian rightwing, or pro-American faction. Phoumi fled to neighboring Thailand after he staged an abortive coup last year.

The Laotian National Assembly — once dominated by pro-Phoumi supporters — decided to send the Phoumi affair to the high court to try the former strongman in absentia.

The government has charged Phoumi with rebellion against the state, mismanagement of public funds, creating trouble in the country and appropriation of national cash.

Supporters of Phoumi argue that trial of the former general would set a precedent. They contend others, now in power or in open rebellion, have committed no lesser crime. They say for instance the present prime minister, Prince Souvanna Phouma, was brought to power at bayonet point by the coup staged by neutralist Gen. Kong Le in August 1960 and Gen. Kouprasith Abhay, one of the leaders of the April 1964 coup, is still the military governor of Vientiane and commander of the fifth military region which includes the capital.

DeGaulle Middle Man For Viet Negotiations?

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle would act as middleman in a settling of the Viet Nam war but he does not believe negotiating conditions now exist.

And, highly informed sources said today, he has for that reason made no overtures to either side. These informants say he has not taken any initiative, contrary to reports published in London.

They added that he has not responded to a letter from President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam, asking that he lend his good offices. The Americans have made no request of him but it is likely they would not turn him down if he emerged as a choice to act as a go-between.

One of the reasons De Gaulle believes no conditions for negotiation now exist is the resumption of bombing of North Viet Nam, a policy which he publicly "regretted."

Just what conditions would be suitable for negotiating, in De Gaulle's opinion, the sources were unable to say.

Legislators Drop All And Head For Austin

Lawmakers Hail Call To Session

By The Associated Press Texas legislators, although most of them are facing reelection campaigns, were quick to compliment Gov. John Connally's calling a special session for a voter registration bill to replace the outlawed poll tax voting requirement.

"I am pleased the governor has seen fit to call a special session to replace the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting," said Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, candidate for attorney general.

"I say this even though my attendance at the session will take me off the campaign trail while my chief opponent is free to campaign. I will insist on year-round registration with re-registration by voters and with adequate safeguards to prevent fraud."

CRITICIZES APPEAL

Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, candidate for lieutenant governor, said he was pleased with Connally's calling the session but criticized Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr for appealing the federal court order.

"He's kicking a dead horse," Hollowell said.

The legislature's only Republican, Rep. Frank Cahoon of Midland, said he favors an annual rather than a permanent system of voter registration. A permanent system, he added, appears too complex and too open to possible fraud.

State Sen. Pete Snelson of Midland called the special session "long overdue." It was unfortunate, the senator said, "that we waited until a federal court order forced this upon us. As a result of the delay, the timing could not be worse."

ARE OPPONENTS

Snelson and Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo, whose districts were combined by the redistricting, are opponents in the forthcoming Democratic primary.

CATV Control Decision Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission may decide today just to what extent it will regulate community antenna television.

The commission met for seven hours Thursday in an attempt to spell out finally its role regarding the growing industry.

Last April the FCC decided it has jurisdiction over all CATV systems using microwave relays to transmit signals from distant TV stations to their master antennas, which pick up those signals and then send them by cable into the homes of subscribers paying a fixed monthly charge.

MASTER ANTENNA

The commission also made public then a tentative decision to regulate all other CATV systems, including those that use only a master antenna to pick up available television signals. The FCC is expected to finalize that tentative decision during the current meetings.

Other questions remain. These include what to do with program origination by CATV, the importing of distant television signals to the exclusion of nearby ones, the obtaining of consent of television stations before their programs are picked up by CATV and whether to impose different degrees of rules on big city and small town systems.

CONTROLS PROPOSED

The FCC staff has recommended stringent controls over CATV over the next five years, while the commission investigates further its impact on television stations.

Among the recommended controls is the controversial "carriage and non-duplication" rule that requires CATV systems now under FCC authority to carry as many local stations as their channel capacity permits while also blocking out distant programs that duplicate local programs for 15 days before and after local broadcasts. The FCC now licenses all CATV systems using microwave relays.

To Preside At Trial Judge Mace Thurman Jr. will preside at the trial of James C. Cross Jr., 23, starting Monday in 147th District Court at Austin. Cross is charged with strangling Susan Rigby and Shirley Ann Stack, University of Texas beauties. (AP WIRE- PHOTO)

Cavalrymen Maul Cong

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen caught up today with some Viet Cong elements they had chased from the central coast last week and quickly killed 19 and captured eight. The guerrillas were hit in a lightning thrust called Eagle's Claw.

Helicopters bore troopers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division into the action 20 miles southwest of Bong Son. Rockets, bombs and shells pounded the guerrilla hideouts. U.S. casualties were few, but one American helicopter was shot down.

RED CASUALTIES

In Saigon, U.S. forces reported another 184 Communists killed by troops and planes, pushing listed Communist losses in men beyond 2,000 in the last two weeks. An American spokesman said these were the highest Red casualty figures of the war.

Casualties also rose sharply on the American side in the past week, with the number of U.S. servicemen killed in Viet Nam combat since Jan. 1, 1961, officially listed at 2,005. According to Defense Department figures released in Washington Thursday the roll of dead increased by 103 in the seven days ending Monday night.

BLOODY OPERATIONS

Many of the casualties on both sides came during Operations Masher and White Wing, which brought U.S. 1st Cavalrymen and Marines together with other Allied troops in a big offensive in the Communist-dominated coastal rielands 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

The two-week campaign culminated in the retaking of the lush An Lao Valley, which has been held by the Viet Cong for years and has provided them with considerable food.

The Communists fled before the Allied push into the valley, but some minor shooting broke out today around Bong Son, a few miles south of the valley. A spokesman said U.S. air cavalrymen killed eight Viet Cong and captured 14 along with 70 belts of 50-caliber machine-gun ammunition.

The air cavalry claims upwards of 800 Communists killed in their end of the operation, although the big push failed to nail several North Vietnamese and Viet Cong regiments reported in the area.

MARINE LINK-UP

The Marines, who linked up with the cavalrymen after an amphibious landing to the north, reported killing another 15 Viet Cong in minor actions in the past 24 hours, raising the Leatherneck bag to 256 since Jan. 28.

Down the coast, the U.S. 101st Airborne reported its paratroopers had killed 20 more Viet Cong in their patrols to protect the rice harvest around Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon. This raised their reported kill in that area to 303.

Action On Voter Registration Due

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Sen. Dorsey Hardeman said today he had begun drawing up a bill for voter registration in Texas.

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally answered a federal court ban on Texas' poll tax voting requirement with a call late Thursday for a special legislative session Monday to write a new voter registration law.

Texas legislators immediately began moving toward the state's Capitol, many of them leaving hot political campaigns already aggravated by legislative and congressional redistricting. Senate and House employees worked late into the night notifying each legislator of a special session at noon Monday.

Calhoun Asks Inclusion Of Crime Code

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Galloway Calhoun of Tyler asked Gov. John Connally today to open the special session of the legislature for amendments to the new Code of Criminal Procedure. Calhoun is a candidate for attorney general.

Calhoun told The Associated Press of his letter to Connally in a telephone call from Tyler. The governor called a special session Thursday for Feb. 14 to write a voter registration act.

SEEK CLARIFICATION

Calhoun said he was having bills drafted that would change or clarify the new code—which has been criticized in several particulars—on these points: —Restore court costs in justice cases. The new code knocks out these costs, cutting off about $15 a case in revenue to the counties, Calhoun said.

—Change the language on when a suspect must be taken before a magistrate from "immediately" to the old code's "forthwith." The Court of Criminal Appeals has interpreted "forthwith" as meaning the restoration of that word would end the controversy over the admissibility of some confessions.

CAPITAL CASES

—Require the assessment of the penalty in all capital cases by juries only. Some have argued the new code does not make clear whether a defendant can ask that the judge assess the penalty, he said.

—Increase the minimum time served in prison from 1-4th to 1-3rd, as the old code provided, before a prisoner is eligible for parole.

TWO PARTS

One part would declare the approximately 2 million persons who paid poll taxes before the Jan. 31 deadline could vote along with others who will register free in a period to be specified before the May 7 primaries.

Brown Will Serve His First Hitch

Roger Brown, Howard County's member of the state legislature, will get a chance to serve the district from which he was elected after all.

The young attorney, elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Ed J. Carpenter, who held the post, has not had any occasion to sit in the lower house since he was elected.

Now that the governor has called a special session to convene Monday, Brown will have a chance to do his first official hitch.

And, the way things point out, he will serve the seven counties which elected him.

Candace Mossler III; Trial Recess Forced

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Blonde Candace Mossler's trial in the slaying of her husband was recessed for the weekend today.

Dr. St. Mary also testified that Mrs. Mossler complained of severe chest pains, "which she also has had before."

Just before the enforced recess, Asst. State Atty. Arthur Huttoo informed Judge Schulz that the state expected to rest its case by the middle of next week.

Red Losses Said Highest

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. forces today reported another 184 Communist deaths and 100 captured. The Viet Cong shot and killed 100 American civilians and 100 American soldiers in a jungle clearing at a rock quarry 20 miles north of Saigon. His 2,000 in the past two weeks. An American spokesman said these figures were the highest Red casualty and opened fire.

A U.S. 1st Infantry Division American Air Force and Navy patrol later recovered the body of the engineer was not immediately identified. He was an Army Skyraider pilot who was shot down by the big American ninth victim of Communist anti-aircraft defenses since the United States resumed the air war on the North 12 days ago. The plane was shot down 15 miles north of the 17th Parallel by the firm in December. The Dutch-born Canadian Force spokesman said no para-chute was seen by other pilots from the Navy airman was pre-

Nuclear Bomb Search Stalled

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP) — High winds sweeping the southern Mediterranean coast of Spain today delayed the start of a search for a 75-ton Aluminat, which is owned by Reynolds Metal Corp. The ship above can haul it up.

The 22-foot Alvin and the 50-foot Aluminat arrived Thursday to join U.S. Navy Task Force 65, which so far has located nearly 70 pieces of wreckage on the sea floor about 1,000 feet down. The two subs are expected to use their underwater sound and television gear to guide them along the Mediterranean floor in search of the bomb and other wreckage missing since the collision and crash of a U.S. B52 bomber and its jet tanker Jan. 17.

Disease Strikes Air Force Base

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A trainee at Lackland Air Force Base died of spinal meningitis Thursday night and three others were reported ill of the disease. The base began taking precautions to avoid spread of the illness.

The victim was Jerry Slagle, 19, of Akron, Ohio. The base withheld the names of the three ill trainees. A spokesman said the 16,000 basic trainees were restricted to the base. Slagle had been in training here about 4 1/2 weeks. The incubation period of the disease is 10 to 12 days.

One of the other ill men was sent to a hospital Tuesday. Slagle went to the hospital Wednesday and the others became ill Thursday.

The sick men came from two separate basic training squadrons. These squadrons were ordered isolated from others at the base.

Other precautions include the avoidance of all mass indoor formations and restriction of all basic trainees to the base. All flights have been isolated from each other.

Bases to which recent Lackland AFB personnel have been reassigned have been alerted. Special attention is being given to persons in sick bay.

The disease is spread by coughing and sneezing. Civilian workers who live off the base are continuing in normal operations.

The base-community council of the chamber of commerce will meet Tuesday at noon at the Webb Air Force Base Officers Club. Dr. Fred W. Lutting and Col. Chester J. Butcher are co-chairmen.

Domingo Violence Kills Two More

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Mob violence continued in the Dominican capital for the second day Thursday and two more persons were killed.

REFEL MOB
Police reinforcements turned back another mob, armed with clubs and rocks, as it marched on a police station. Young gangs reportedly attacked police in three cities in the interior.

World Church Council Elects American Head

GENEVA (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. was elected head of the World Council of Churches today.

The council's 100-member central committee elected the 59-year-old American its secretary-general to succeed Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft of the Netherlands.

Dr. Visser't Hooft has led the organization, one of the most influential in Christendom, since its creation 18 years ago. He is retiring.

The World Council of Churches is a group of 214 Protestant, Anglican, Orthodox and Old Catholic churches in more than 80 countries.

"I accept the election as a word from God," Dr. Blake told the central committee.

A leading figure in American church life, Dr. Blake has campaigned vigorously for church unity. He was the prime mover behind the recent merger of the two sections of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

The United States is seeking to put diplomatic pressure on North Viet Nam to modify its demand that the Communist National Liberation Front — NLF — must represent South Viet Nam in any peace negotiations.

President Johnson has sent word to interested foreign governments that the demand made by North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh is wholly unacceptable and has created an obstacle to efforts to arrange a peace conference.

Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, envoy to the United Nations, said after a two-hour meeting with Johnson Thursday that U.S. policy is flexible on the issue of an NLF role in negotiations. The NLF is the political arm of the Communist guerrilla forces.

NOT ACCEPTABLE
"We will bargain on that at the conference table," Goldberg told reporters. But he emphasized that the demand which Ho made public Jan. 28 is unacceptable to the United States, and he made clear it would have to be modified if the issue is to be resolved.

Johnson briefed Goldberg on his meeting in Hawaii earlier this week with the leaders of South Viet Nam, then sent him back to U.N. headquarters in New York to renew his efforts with Secretary-General U Thant and members of the Security Council as well as representatives of other countries to find some way to bring the Vietnamese war to a close.

While Goldberg was meeting with Johnson, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee heard from George F. Kennan, former State Department Soviet affairs expert, in its inquiry into U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

ADDED OBSTACLE
Both Kennan and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, expressed fears this week's U.S.-South Vietnamese declaration in Honolulu may have raised an added obstacle to a negotiated peace.

"It seems to me we have further committed ourselves to a point where any sort of a negotiated settlement, short of outright victory, could be called a betrayal of a commitment," Fulbright said.

Kennan, former U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia, added: "It gives

LBJ Rejects Ho's Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is seeking to put diplomatic pressure on North Viet Nam to modify its demand that the Communist National Liberation Front — NLF — must represent South Viet Nam in any peace negotiations.

President Johnson has sent word to interested foreign governments that the demand made by North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh is wholly unacceptable and has created an obstacle to efforts to arrange a peace conference.

CONVINCE REDS
Earlier, Kennan said that adopting a strong defensive position while letting the war simmer might convince the Communists "they cannot dislodge us. If they cannot dislodge us they will have to talk to us, because they want us out."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon told a Washington news conference Thursday that criticism of Johnson's Viet Nam policies encourages the Communists.

He said Republicans should not join what he called "the appeasement wing" of the Democratic party. He added, "We should be for peace. We should be against appeasement."

A Revealing Story About CONTACT LENSES...
The Price and Quality

Did you know that single vision contact lenses, when fitted by most practitioners, cost $150 or more? At TSO this is not true. The finest single vision contact lenses are fitted by TSO Doctors of Optometry for a fee of only $70 including a professional eye examination.

IMPOSSIBLE? Not at all — Famous TSO Contact Lenses are produced in our own laboratory, which greatly reduces our cost. Also, our fee is low because we serve so many patients in TSO offices throughout Texas — accepting only a reasonable profit from each contact lens fitting. These factors add up to a substantial savings for each patient. Most other practitioners must purchase their contact lenses from outside laboratories at a higher cost, thus they must charge a higher fee for fitting them.

WHAT ABOUT QUALITY? During the processing of contact lenses in our laboratory, the most advanced production techniques known are used. Continuous research and experience has greatly improved our lens design, and the edging, finishing and polishing processes used, thus assuring maximum possible wearing comfort and minimum possible adaptation time. TSO Doctors of Optometry have fitted over 50,000 patients with contact lenses. This vast experience provides a more precise fitting — therefore, greater comfort to the contact lens wearer. Nowhere can better made, more accurately fitted contact lenses be obtained, no matter how much they may cost.

WHAT DETERMINES THE COST? Actually, the cost of the very finest optical grade plastic, from which contact lenses are made, is very small. The principal cost factors are in the time of the professional contact lens specialist who examines your eyes, specifies the prescription and measurements of your lenses, and then fits them after they are made; in the cost of the skilled laboratory technicians who make the lenses; and in the investment in precision laboratory equipment and instruments that are used in processing the lenses. Experienced TSO Doctors of Optometry, skilled laboratory technicians, the most up-to-date processing equipment and instruments, combined with the finest quality materials, assure you that TSO Contact Lenses are unsurpassed in technical excellence.

WHAT DO OTHERS SAY ABOUT TSO CONTACT LENSES? If you ask those who wear TSO Contact Lenses, you will learn how really wonderful they are. Contact Lenses from TSO have given thousands the freedom from glasses they have wanted — have opened a new, wonderful world for them — and they will be glad to tell you so.

BIFOCAL CONTACT LENSES? They, too, are available at reasonable cost.

IF YOU ARE CONSIDERING CONTACT LENSES, visit TSO for contact lenses of unsurpassed quality at reasonable cost. Convenient credit terms are available, if desired.

Citrus Fruit Crop Expected To Be Larger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1965-66 citrus fruit crop is expected to be 11 per cent larger than the 1964-65 crop and 14 per cent above normal, the Agriculture Department said Thursday. Production was indicated at 196,750,000 boxes. This compares with a forecast a month ago of 195,450,000 and 176,948,000 produced last season.

The average crop is 171,456,000 boxes. Prospective production of oranges, grapefruit and lemons was up 10 per cent, 13 per cent and 18 per cent, respectively from last year.

Orange production was put at 133,250,000 boxes, grapefruit at 46,200,000 boxes and lemons at 17,300,000 boxes.

Texas was expected to produce a crop of 1,250,000 boxes of oranges and 3,800,000 boxes of grapefruit.

POLITICAL MOVEMENT

Foes Of Policy Now Organizing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Militant young foes of U.S. policy in Viet Nam—people who call themselves the new left—are working to shape a national political organization out of their protest and peace forces.

"This is what I call political guerrilla warfare," said California Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, a Democrat and self-described liberal who has seen his Oakland home office besieged by demonstrators. "They've picked me as a target," he said.

Cohelan's sin, in the eyes of his challengers, is general support of President Johnson's policy on South Viet Nam.

Cohelan said in an interview he is "more dove than hawk," that escalation of the war would be "absolutely mad," but that the United States should not now withdraw.

"WITHDRAW NOW" Immediate withdrawal from Viet Nam is the new left rallying cry, but Paul Booth, a 22-year-old leader in the new political movement, said its goals go far beyond the war issue.

Booth, of Chicago, is national secretary of Students for a Democratic Society. He said the new political operation, built around that organization and others like it, will be called the National Conference for New Politics.

While its organizers said the conference has not yet pinpointed its election-day targets, Booth said his own organization is already at work for Robert Scheer, who has said he will oppose Cohelan.

"Even though Cohelan has a pretty good voting record,"

Booth said, "a lot of people on the left see the campaign as building an organization."

Booth added: "People on the left are saying to guys like Cohelan, it's not enough just to cast the right votes on some of these things."

NO SOLUTION "These programs, these welfare programs, are not really very exciting. They don't really solve the problem."

"It's more important to raise these political issues, and to build an organization. Maybe Scheer won't win, but in two years we'll be stronger within the party."

Scheer, who advocates an immediate U.S. pullout in Viet Nam, has said he will run as an independent next November if he does not win the Democratic congressional nomination in the June 7 primary.

The national Democratic party is not worried about the new political movement, one official there said—but "that doesn't mean that there won't be friends of President Johnson who will step in if it is necessary."

The theme will be "Reaching People—the Task of the Sunday School" at the regular meeting of the Associational Workers' Conference Feb. 14 at the First Baptist Church. The conference is held monthly by the 32 churches in the Big Spring Baptist Association.

The emphasis will be on Sunday school work in all phases and the program will feature seven one-hour conferences planned specifically for age group workers, nursery through adult. The First Baptist Church Choir will present special music for the conference.

The Rev. Davis B. Edens, pastor of Denver City Methodist Church, will be guest minister for the Sunday morning worship service at North Birdwell Methodist Church, according to the pastor, the Rev. E. B. Thompson.

Rev. Edens is a native of Howard County, having spent his boyhood in Center Point community. He graduated from Big Spring High School and McMurry College, and has attended Southern Methodist University.

The son of the late Albert A. Edens, and Mrs. W. L. Barker of 404 W. 6th, Davis has many friends here. "We invite his friends and relatives to share this service with us," Rev. Thompson said.

DEAR ABBY It's Now A Closed Deal

DEAR ABBY: I am a young widow with two children. Recently I had a home built and became very intimate with my builder while my home was under construction. He has what he claims is a "sick" wife, and says if I wait awhile he will leave her for me. After eight months of waiting, she still looks as healthy as I am. Do you think he is just leading me on? How much longer should I wait?

WAITING DEAR WAITING: Your builder worked a bit of romance into your house plan, but it wasn't meant to endure. The house is finished and so is the affair. You shouldn't need a set of blueprints to know that the builder didn't go with the house. Forget him.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 23 and an only child. She was raised to appreciate the finer things in life and never had to suffer any hardships. Last June, after graduating from a university, she married a young art professor. They moved to Tampa, where he took a position as a commercial artist. Last month they moved to Miami, where he is doing free lance work. Our daughter has written that now she is pregnant and they are living in a MOBILE HOME!

I am so worried about her. Do you think, in her condition, they should be living in a TRAILER like a couple of gypsies? I want to write and tell her she should come home until her husband can provide a proper home for her, but my husband says it would be meddling. I would like your opinion.

UPSET MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: I think you have a smart husband. Don't assume that living in a "mobile home" is necessarily a hardship. Some modern mobile homes make a Park Avenue penthouse look like Tobacco Road. Leave your daughter alone, Mother, and keep yourself busy.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I ran into a friend of mine and I told her how beautiful I thought her daughter's wedding had been. She said, "Thank you, but we sure didn't come out very well on it."

Not knowing what she meant by that remark, I asked her. She then replied, "We put a lot more into her wedding than she got back in gifts."

What do you think of a person like that? SPEECHLESS DEAR SPEECHLESS: Not much.

DEAR ABBY: What's the matter with women? They go to the trouble of putting their hair up in those big curlers, then they snarl it all up and spray it with glue. They take an hour painting their faces, and all for what? When their husbands pull them close for a little kiss or squeeze, they say, "Please, Harry, you'll muss my hair!" or, "Don't—you'll smudge my make-up." Isn't the idea behind looking pretty to make a woman more desirable, kissable and lovable? So why do they put out the bait if they don't want to catch the mouse? LOVE-STARVED DEAR LOVE-STARVED: Those women aren't interested in the "catch"—they just want to see if the bait still works.

Soldier, Wife Shot Fatally

COPPERAS COVE, Tex. (AP)—A soldier recently returned from duty in Korea was sued for divorce by his wife Thursday afternoon. A few hours later both were dead, each shot once in the chest.

Deputy Sheriff Charles W. Walsh of Coryell County said Spec. 6 Espy Franklin Hayes, 38, apparently shot his wife Dixie, 34, and then killed himself. They had five children, 4 to 17.

Justice of the Peace A. J. Saegert ruled the deaths murder and suicide.

Hayes returned home from Korea last Christmas and was stationed at Ft. Hood.

The shootings occurred in the bedroom of the couple's house, Walsh said. A .32 caliber pistol was near the bodies.

Sheriff C. W. Cummings said his office served the divorce papers on Hayes Thursday afternoon. He did not reveal the grounds for divorce.

1965 Set Record High Road Toll

CHICAGO (AP)—A record toll of 49,000 traffic deaths in the United States last year was reported today by the National Safety Council.

The council said 1.8 million persons suffered disabling injuries in 1965 motor vehicle accidents. The economic loss was calculated at $8.5 billion, $5.5 billion of this in wage losses, medical expenses and overhead insurance costs.

The one bright thread in the dark pattern was the council's assertion that the rate of deaths per 100 million travel miles declined for the first time since 1961—from 5.7 in 1964 to 5.6 last year. This compared with a 1945 rate of 11.3.

Council statisticians computed a 5 per cent rise in the total number of vehicle-miles last year, 880 billion.

Nevertheless, the total of deaths last year was 3 per cent greater than the former record of 47,700 in 1964.

Another deadly record was reflected in the December toll last year when 4,940 persons were killed—10 per cent more than the 4,490 of December 1964.

In terms of deaths per 10,000 registered motor vehicles, the 1965 total of accident deaths was up—from 2.7 in 1964 to 2.9.

Ashley Trial To Be Reset

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The scheduled Feb. 28 murder trial of Leslie Douglas Ashley of Houston has been cancelled by Judge Truman Roberts of 52nd District Court.

Judge Roberts set Thursday a pre-trial hearing for Feb. 25 after Ashley's attorneys filed a motion questioning the jurisdiction of the Gatesville court.

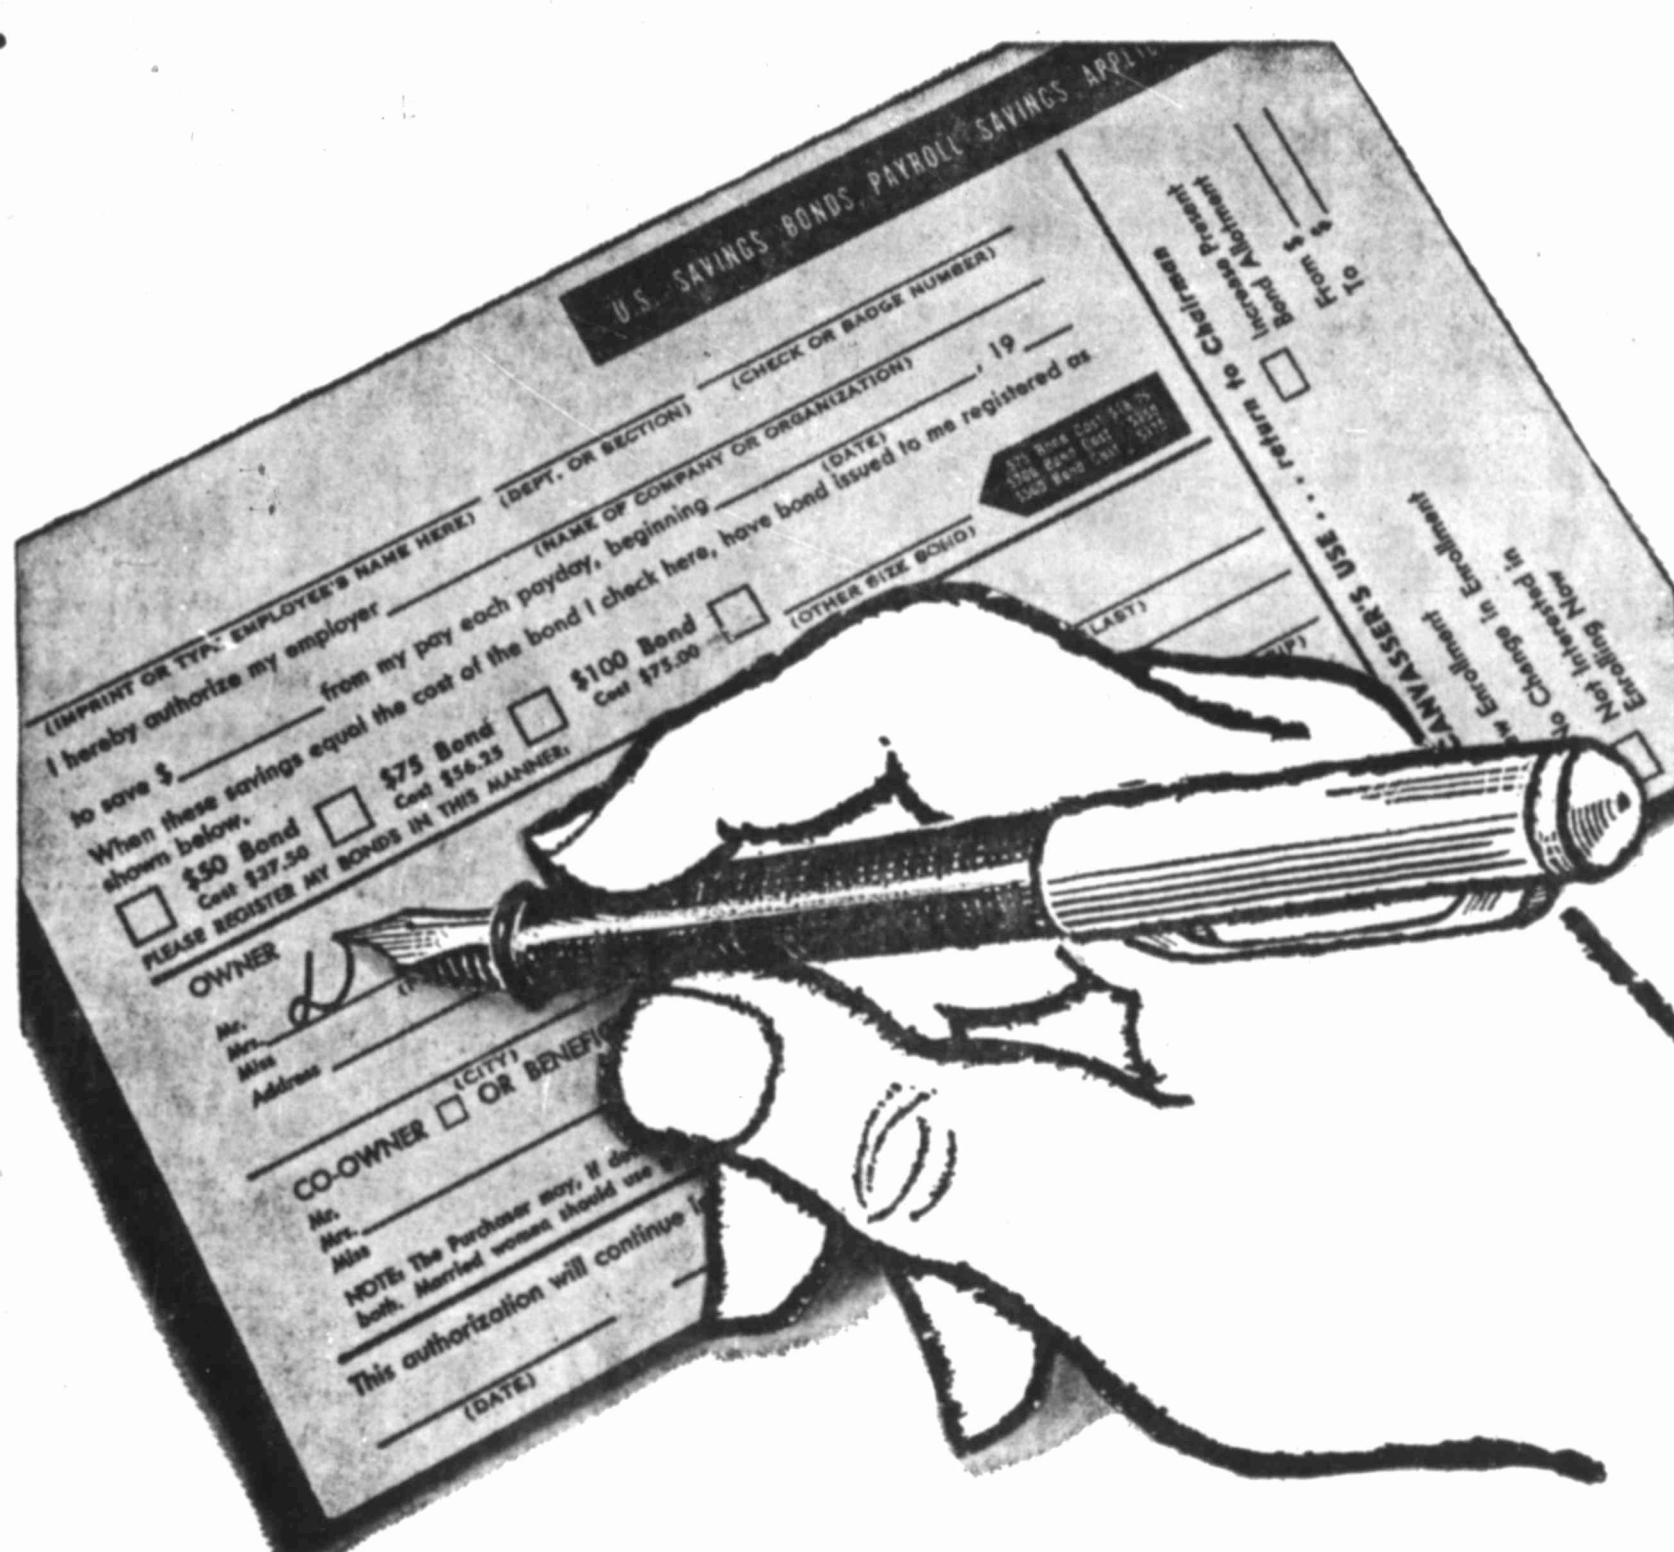

Judge Roberts said he will await the outcome of the pre-trial hearing before setting a new trial date for Ashley, who is charged with the gun torch slaying of Fred Tones, a Houston real estate man.

The judge said Lloyd Lunsford of Houston, one of Ashley's attorneys, claimed in his motion that the Gatesville court does not have jurisdiction because the original indictment is not present.

The trial had been moved to Gatesville from Wharton, Tex., on a change of venue.

A Devotional For The Day

This is the message which you have heard from the beginning, that we should love one another. (1 John 3:11, RSV)
Prayer: Give us, O God, a fresh realization of the meaning of love as revealed in the life and teachings of Jesus. So, whatever our lot, may our daily actions be a visible and effective translation of that word into meaningful service. In the Master's name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Have You Been 'Contacted?'

A genteel tempest has arisen, one that will provoke nothing more lethal than an infinitive split in anger or a dram of spirits split in eager gesturing. It concerns the use of "contact" as a verb.

It really is a noun, meaning a touching. It is derived from the Latin "contactus," meaning to touch on all sides. Webster's (pure and unadorned) Second Edition defines contact, transitive verb, as "Slang, U.S., to make a business or social connection."

H. L. Mencken in his "The American Language" quotes this message from F. W. Lienau, an official of Western Union Telegraph Co., to his employees in 1931 forbidding the use of contact as a verb in these words: "Somewhere there cumbered this fair earth with his loathsome presence a man who, for the common good, should have been destroyed in early childhood. He is the originator of the hideous vulgarism of using contact as a verb. So long as we can meet, get in touch with, make the acquaintance of, be introduced to, call on, interview or talk to people, there can be no apology for contact."

But a note of wearied resignation has crept into a "Dictionary of American-English Usage" with these words: "The use of contact as a verb except in technical language (the two wires contacted to cause the spark) is still avoided by many writers and speakers (e.g. Please contact me at your earliest convenience). Webster labels it 'slang.' Others defend it as useful, and it is rapidly becoming 'standard' in U.S., at least in business. Contact, n. (in business) connection, etc., is also chiefly U.S."

Most people seem to have forgotten that they can contact a cold. Indecision has led them to take refuge in contact.

Somewhat below this lofty argument, most of the American people sit comfortably and obliviously. They couldn't care less. After all, didn't Robert Browning provide a suitable burial for grammarians? Academic winds may howl, but there is no citadel so secure as fat complacency.

The Poll Tax Decision

Just as it appeared the winds of confusion surrounding Texas election procedures had been stilled for the season, the three-judge federal panel has ground out a decision outlawing the Texas poll tax.

If this is to stand, then Texas faces the herculean task of quickly devising an alternate voter registration law. This most assuredly would call for a special session of the Texas Legislature and for some speed records by that august body.

However, it is more likely that the appeals court will grant a stay of execution, which would be the normal procedure. The time table then would likely put the state past the primaries, and then there would be more time for solving the problem.

Interestingly, the circuit court's decision gave no weight to the contention that the poll tax discriminated against the poor, and thus involved a tinge of racial discrimination. Rather, the decision was on a philosophical and constitutional ground that the poll tax is an unjustified restriction upon a basic right guaranteed by the free process clause.

We have no desire to say "we told you so," but this is the sort of predicament which could and should have been foreseen a couple of years ago when Texans swatted down a proposal to abolish the poll tax in Texas as a requirement for voting. The real issue, alas, got all clouded up by race demonstrations, and other factors at the time. Still, we do not think that it necessarily follows that we are faced with an immediate, frantic course of action, but it does look like we will have to make the change.

Where's The 'Liberal' Voice?

WASHINGTON — What's happened to "liberalism" in America? The principle that an individual must be permitted freedom of speech, freedom of belief and freedom of association has been affirmed again and again by the Supreme Court of the United States and has been the basis for many a demonstration in public places. "Liberalism" has been a staunch champion of such individual rights.

But today, when a majority in both houses of Congress seeks to compel a person to join a union as the price of a job in America, there is hardly a voice of protest from the "liberal" side.

NINETEEN STATES now forbid any compulsory unionization. The purpose of the bill before Congress is to nullify such laws and prohibit all the states of the union hereafter from passing any laws forbidding compulsory unionization.

Passage of the proposed legislation by Congress has been temporarily blocked. This was done not by a majority but by a minority which has managed by means of filibustering tactics in the Senate to prolong the debate and prevent an actual vote that could enact the proposal into law.

WHY HAVE NOT the "liberals" spoken out on the other side of this issue? There have been a few "liberal" newspapers which have taken up the cudgels in behalf of freedom of association and the right of an individual to work where he pleases without compulsion from any organization, but scarcely any of the "liberal" group in Congress is to be found upholding this freedom to work.

President Johnson himself was vehemently opposed to compulsory unionization when he was a senator, but he has changed. Today he feels the pressure of labor-unions whose political support he has been receiving and apparently does not wish to lose. But the consensus in Washington is that his heart isn't in the fight and that he knows compulsory unionization is wrong.

THE CONTROVERSY waged in Congress has had some interesting side effects. Many people throughout the country have learned for the first time that compulsory unionization is being seriously considered. They are beginning to realize that if the law passes, workers must join a union or lose their jobs whenever a majority of the employees in a factory and the employer privately agree to make such an arrangement. The labor unions, of course, insist upon an all-union shop because they believe it will increase financial support through membership dues.

WHAT SEEMS so strange today is that the "liberal" groups are quick to champion the right of an individual to decide for himself whether to join or not to join other organizations. A tremendous amount of time and money, for instance, has been spent by the "liberals" to fight legislation that might restrict Communist activities in the United States. The theory is that an individual has a right to believe in communism and join organizations advocating it. Countless arguments have been made by "liberals" defending the right of free speech and free assembly in other controversies involving such rights.

IN VIEW OF THIS long record of "liberal" championship of freedom of association, the big mystery is why hardly a voice has been raised against legislation which would permit compulsory unionization. The proposal is itself a form of discrimination which, if it had had any remote connection with racial problems or religious beliefs, would long ago have aroused the intensive opposition of the "liberals."

Inflation Sized Up: 'Not Necessary'

WASHINGTON (AP)—"There is a smell of war in the air," remarked Dr. Otto Eckstein, just-resigned member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

The smell of war brings the remembrance of inflation. The remembrance can make people behave as if inflation were already here.

So they may rush to buy, before prices go higher. They may hasten to build, before building costs go up. They may place big orders for materials, because no businessman dare be caught in an inflating market with his inventories down.

AND UNION leaders—if they think the smell of war is strong enough—may demand big wage boosts before wages can be frozen.

It's all called hedging against inflation. It can make a big inflation out of a little one, or even start an inflation where there isn't any.

All the aspects of what scholars call "the expectation of inflation" probably were in Dr. Eckstein's mind when he made his remark about the smell of war.

FOR THE economist was making the point that inflation really isn't necessary. He was participating as a private citizen—and a distinguished professor at Harvard—in a panel discussion on the hazards and prevention of inflation. Naturally his views coincided with those of his former colleagues on the President's council.

At the height of the planned Viet Nam buildup, Dr. Eckstein pointed out, military spending will take just 7.6 per cent of the national output instead of the 7.5 per cent it has been taking.

NO CIVILIAN shortages are foreseen. Despite a tightening labor market, the stepping-up of draft calls still won't reduce joblessness to the long-sought minimum called "full employment." And there will still be a little slack left in manufacturing plant capacity.

Congress meantime is grinding out a short-term tax law to sop up excess buying power, and the money managers are squeezing down the money and credit supply.

AND THE administration has reaffirmed, as its underlying anti-inflation weapons, the voluntary wage-price guidelines. These have helped for four years to moderate labor's wage settlements and industry's price decisions.

In theory, one could hardly disagree with Dr. Eckstein's view that inflation needn't happen. Actually many do disagree.

Abe Was Great Captain

NEW YORK (AP) — Of all the great captains of earth the one most affectionately remembered probably is he who was born in a Kentucky log cabin 157 years ago Saturday.

Success came late and death came early to Abraham Lincoln.

THERE IS no explaining his genius. As did those other great captains of pen and sword, William Shakespeare and Joan of Arc, he sprang seemingly from nowhere to immortal fame.

Almost from birth Lincoln appeared likely to wind up an also-ran in life's race.

He was poor and had little formal schooling. He failed in business as a storekeeper. He was unlucky in both love and politics, it seemed.

HIS YOUTHFUL sweetheart, Ann Rutledge, died. The first woman he proposed to, Mary Owens, turned him down and explained later:

"Mr. Lincoln was deficient in those little links which make up the path of a woman's happiness."

His subsequent marriage to Mary Todd proved a stormy one.

He lost more elections than he won. Anticipating defeat in his first race for a seat in the Illinois Legislature in 1832 — and he did lose — Lincoln wrote:

"IF THE good people in their wisdom shall see fit to keep me in the background, I have been too familiar with disappointment, but it is still spoilage. (It also tends to lose flavor, but that's beside the point, I suppose.)"

Most commercial frozen foods carry a warning not to thaw and then refreeze. This warning is given because there's a reason!

Periodically we read about a meal or picnic at which people are taken ill with "ptomaine" or food poisoning. In most cases this is traced to food that was allowed to stand—and germs had time to multiply. It happens most readily in warm weather but it can happen any time.

Thawing and refreezing is the same as letting food stand. It may take several thawings to be the equivalent of standing overnight, but the same total risk exists.

THE SAFE rule with any food is to keep it hot or keep it cold or not keep it.

The best rule is to cook frozen foods the first time they are thawed. Standing for a reasonable length of time between the thawing and cooking is all right—let's say up to four hours. But definitely don't thaw and and some of them are economists every bit as distinguished as he.

One of the dissenters took part in this week's panel debate with Dr. Eckstein. He was Arthur F. Burns, who headed the President's economic advisers in the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration.

(Today's column by AP's Sterling F. Green substitutes for James Marlow, who is ill.)

Give 'Em Fair Warning

People who go to movies should be warned. They should be warned by large notices whenever a movie being offered to the public at large contains scenes which are, or may be, offensive to many.

SCENES LIKE the torture sequence in the James Bond flick which undulated through here these past two weeks. That scene was extremely unnerving to many people who, unwarned, sat through it — with their 10-year-old children alongside.

There is no issue here of censorship. If the Hollywood film makers want to put sadism in their productions, let them. If they want to film "Justine" faithfully with de Sade's text, let them.

BUT FOR crying out loud, a movie is not a book. People leaf through books, and decide if they want to read them. The book-makers put large blurbs about how "sensational" their trashy offerings are all over the covers. People know junk literature when they see it, and they can buy it or not, depending on their tastes.

It is not so with most movies. Of course, James Bond fans know the formula for 007 books and movies — sex, violence and sadism. They are prepared for it. They expect it. They would be unaffected if there were no sadism in Bond.

BUT, AND this applies to all movies, how about the people who are not Bond fans? Who have merely heard, "it's a good pic?" About the kiddies who, all unknowing, get permission to go to a show, and wind up seeing something as essentially twisted as That Scene? About the parents of the kiddies, who didn't know when he got the money from Pop?

There are parents who don't give a hoot what their offspring get for entertainment, but there is nothing anyone can do with someone whose knuckles are raw from scraping the pavement when he walks.

BUT CERTAINLY, if the movie makers won't warn people, the proprietors of movie emporiums should. It wouldn't be expensive. Just simple placards pasted all over the front of the theater proclaiming something like this:

This Film Contains Scenes Which May Be Offensive

SEVERAL townfolk have mentioned they are getting tired of being subjected, unwarned, to sadism and bloodletting. Not just on the Silver Screen, but on the Boob Tube. A prime offender on the telly is "The Man From U.N.C.L.E.," a so-called spy series. You never know. Sometimes there is no sadism. Other times there is a plethora of the stuff. There are others, too.

People should be warned. —TOM BARRY

Marquis Childs

After Hawaii — A New Try

HONOLULU—That conference called by President Johnson was a large blue chip put on the survival value of the wily, exuberant Air Vice Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, and the generals who rule with him. It is expected that Ky will not only survive but that with massive economic help from the United States the National Leadership Committee will eventually win the support of the peasants in the countryside.

BY ASIAN standards "eventually" is a very long time. In view of many previous failures which ended if not in violence then in disastrous disillusion, this is a bold bet. But the fact that it has been placed with the flourish of Mr. Johnson's presence and an annual flow of at least a half-billion dollars a year for economic aid is powerful evidence of a determination to reverse the drift of recent years.

Any sensible bookmaker would quote long odds against the bet paying off. But after so many false tries this appears to be the right direction—a determined drive to raise the level of living in the countryside and close the gap of indifference and hostility between the peasant and the sophisticated city dweller.

IN THIS NEW beginning the role of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is interesting. When he returned from his first tour of duty in June of 1964, Lodge could hardly be rated an optimist. In private he talked of the diversity of peoples and sects among the Vietnamese and their almost total lack of any national coherence. He seemed almost to be saying that trying to pull them together was a hopeless task.

Yet at Johnson's request he went back for a second try, and he is largely responsible for bringing retired Maj. Gen. Edward G. Lansdale back to the team. Lansdale emphasized the need to win over the countryside if there is ever to be peace and stability in Viet Nam short of a Communist takeover. If there is hope today, it rests in the combination of Ky, Lodge and Lansdale.

ASIDE FROM its promotional publicity aspects, this meeting was a magnificent illustration of the American's position in Southeast Asia. Here are the President of the United States, Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense, two other Cabinet members, advisers, generals and admirals galore—in short, the top apparatus of the most powerful nation in the world. To enhance the paradox these men command a power with the controls centered here such as has seldom been assembled.

WHAT EMERGED from the peace offensive was a baffling mystery why, after this incessant impounding, did the regime in Hanoi give not the smallest indication of willingness to consider any diplomatic initiative? Even the slightest hint of interest in diplomatic exploration would have confused public opinion at home and abroad, however false may have been its intention. But all that came out of Hanoi was a stern, resounding no.

IN A SENSE the purpose of the conference, insofar as it has a serious purpose beyond the propaganda show, is to examine this paradox. Over and over we have been told that only by winning the hearts and minds of the Vietnamese people will we achieve a victory that has meaning beyond the grim choice of pulverization of American occupation into the indefinite future to keep a puppet government in office. The hour is late and the wreckage of past failures, in terms of human suffering and alienation, is a great obstacle. But the optimists are saying here that it is not too late.

Two Wars At Once For SAC

HDQRS., STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND, OMAHA—Isn't the war terrible? But which one?

Out here at this huge concrete redoubt, with its high Air Force brass, mysterious underground cinemas and computerized switchboards, they get a little testy if you quiz them overmuch about that affair in Viet Nam.

SAC HAS MORE than 600 B-52 bombers, 1,000 Intercontinental Ballistics Missiles, a few remaining B-58's and a whole fleet of K-135 tankers, as well as assorted smaller craft—the total force located at 70 bases throughout the world. But the attention of the press and public is fixed on a mere wing of 30 Stratofortresses (B-52's) at Anderson Air Force Base in Guam. These are the jet-powered carriers which have thumped the Viet Cong under the jungle canopy in something like 160 missions.

BUT THESE aren't normal missions for the Stratoforts. The planes were built for bigger bangs than the megatonnage of the "conventional" explosives they hurl from their bomb racks in South Viet Nam, and for longer flights than the 12-hour, 5,000-mile journey from the Western Pacific island into the heart of South Viet Nam. The B-52 was designed and commissioned to carry nuclear bombs in its belly, and was rigged to carry an astonishing Hounddog, the pilotless nuclear guided missile, under each wing. The B-52, given aerial refueling which by now is a routine procedure, can fly to the endurance of its six-man crew. There is no time, day or night, when steady streams of these stalwart aircraft are not flying rectangular patterns over sea and tundra from which they could be diverted at instant notice to blast targets anywhere within the Sino-Soviet land mass.

IT IS ADMITTEDLY a bit of a comedown when a nuclear war steed like the B-52 gets put to work at hauling ordinary "iron bombs," incendiaries and anti-personnel fragmentation bundles. But it had to be. SAC, like all the armed forces, is under orders to "support the national policy." This role has meant considerable and continuous modifications of the bomb-carrying facilities. First, the B-52's were fixed up to tote fifty-one 750-pounders. Later, the targets in Viet Nam called for a mix of 500-pounders and 750-pounders. Still later, the "requirement" came through channels for carrying something called "Hayes dispensers." These are packing crates filled with weapons which seem as frightful, if not as spectacular, as nuclear bombs.

WHEN THE CRATES contain a high concentrate of fiery napalm, the designation is Blooey-Three (BLU-3). When the boxes hold a new development in wholesale, airborne hand grenades, the weapon is called Blooey-29. In any event, this is tactical warfare, a long way from the "strategic deterrent" by "sure destruction" which the Stratoforts were born for.

AS LONG AS the visitor to SAC does not forget that only one B-52 out of 20 is on the Viet Nam run, the subject is in order. In fact, it's a subject in which SAC takes a good deal of justifiable pride. It's no small measure of technological virtuosity for an elite outfit of this size and prestige to re-arm and reconstitute itself in the country's hour of need.

Negro Woman Envoy At Luxembourg Post

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Europe and all the rest of the world want the United States to move faster in solving its race problem, says the first Negro woman to become a U.S. ambassador.

Patricia Roberts Harris has had six months to talk to people at this geographical mid-point of Western Europe.

"They want to see us get the problem solved," she says. "They don't see why we aren't making more progress. They don't have any understanding at all for the recent acquittals in the South."

TRIES TO EXPLAIN

"I've tried to explain our jury system and how deeply we're committed to it. I get a respectful hearing. After all, I'm a member of two minorities myself, female and Negro."

Mrs. Harris thinks that on the whole the U.S. government's efforts to advance civil rights for Negroes are receiving sympathetic understanding in Europe. Her own appointment, she says, is only one in a whole complex of events that make those efforts convincing.

Friendliness to the United States is particularly evident in Luxembourg. In World War II some 7,000 Americans died in Luxembourg, a nation smaller than Rhode Island, and Luxemburgers remember that.

VOICES OPINION

The new ambassador is an eager explainer of everything American, both in English and what she calls her "piggin French." Nor is she shy about whom she talks to or which side of the Iron Curtain he comes from, as long as she can get her ideas across.

Pert and freckle-nosed, in a bright blue linen suit, coral-colored beads and a new bouffant hair-do, Mrs. Harris must rank as one of the prettiest diplomats ever to come out of Foggy Bottom. If she weren't an ambassador, she might be described as sultry looking. She is 41 and looks 10 years younger.

FITS WELL

Mrs. Harris is not a professional diplomat and points out that she is on leave from a job teaching law at Howard University. But she fits well into the chummy atmosphere of a small American embassy, which is something like a department staff at college. She was quick to get the spirit of the thing.

The ambassador's husband and law partner, William Beasley Harris, has been named a consultant to the State Department on the legal staffing of U.S. embassies. He has an office in another part of town and spends more time than she does traveling around Europe.

SOME PREJUDICE

Unlike some Negro diplomats, Mrs. Harris does not mind talking about the race problem. She thinks there has been some prejudice in the State Department against Negro applicants, and she believes the idea has developed that to be a diplomat requires a kind of literary education that many Negroes lack.

"I wonder if that is the best kind of qualification," she went on. "What a diplomat needs is a thorough knowledge of his own country, a knowledge of international problems and their historical background. In many cases I don't think a literary education adds one whit to a diplomat's performance."

Workshop Set Saturday For Day-Care Operations

The Permian Basin Pre-School Association will hold its annual workshop Saturday in the Jack and Jill Kindergarten, 2009 Main. About 150 interested persons involved in pre-school work from Lubbock to San Angelo are expected to attend.

A highlight of the workshop will be the presentation of the drama, "Scattered Showers," by the Howard County Junior College Speech Department, under the direction of Martin Landers. Arab Phillips, director of the workshop, said that the drama was designed to show that every family has an "emotional climate," created by feelings and emotional reactions of children, as they are continually expressing either directly or indirectly their interpersonal relationships. The drama will be presented at 1 p.m.

Miss Phillips extended an invitation to all mothers of preschool children to attend any or all sessions of the workshop. The theme is "They Learn from Each Other," and a film of the same name will be presented by Mrs. Eleanor Eisenberg, discussion moderator, from the consultant child welfare division in Austin.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Floyd Stephens, president of the PBPSA and director of the Pee Wee School and Nursery, Odessa; Mrs. Helen Jones, vice president of the PBPSA and playground director of the Jack and Jill Kindergarten; Sandra Phillips, assistant playground director, Jack and Jill Kindergarten; and Miss Phillips, who is also the principal of the Jack and Jill Kindergarten.

Tickets for the play are available from members of the drama department, Court Jesters and Theatians at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students.

Organized in 1962, the National Shakespeare Company of New York features fully costumed productions, performed against settings with a full complement of light, sound and musical effects. The company transports all scenery and technical equipment necessary for full-scale production.

An exhibit of the Elizabethan era, projects of sophomore English students, will be held after the play in the high school library. The Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Mel Ivey, will perform.

Club Pancake Supper

Nearly all of the members of Troop No. 3, with their scoutmaster, Henry Thames, were guests of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club Thursday. The troop is sponsored by the Kiwanians and the program for the day was based on the observation of National Scout Week.

Thames pointed out that the troop, when he took over, had five members. Now it has 15. Fifteen were in attendance at the luncheon and were introduced to the club.

The troop has staged several campouts this fall and winter — including one when a blizzard swept in, according to the scoutmaster.

Plans for the annual Kiwanis Club Pancake supper were announced complete. The supper is to be served at the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College on the evening of Feb. 18.

This is the 14th year the club has staged this classic event. It has wide popularity and hundreds of Howard Countians attend. All profits go to the funds of the club for the furtherance of the boys and girls work program of the club.

All Kiwanians have tickets for sale. The price this year is 75 cents for both adults and children. The motto of the supper is "All you can eat for the price of your ticket."

Officers arrested a man in the theft of a record player yesterday. Charges pending, officers said, and he is in city jail on a drunk charge.

Bill Crow of Fox's Pawn Shop told officers Joe Lopez, 307 N. Bell, had identified a record player in the pawn shop as one belonging to him. Crow told officers that a man had pawned it that day.

Lopez told officers the man who took the record player from him was in an alley between Northwest Third and Northwest Fourth at that time. Police drove to the alley and found the man there, in a drunken state. They said he admitted the theft of the record player, valued at $12.

Smog Fight Costs Millions This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The oil and gas industry will spend $50 million this year in a search for ways of reducing air pollution from automobile exhausts and refinery operations, an American Petroleum Institute official estimates.

The figure came from P. N. Gammagard, former senior vice president of Pure Oil Co. who heads the institute's new air and water conservation committee. He said the API itself will put $3 million into the research.

LATEST EMPHASIS

While reduction of noxious fumes from petroleum refineries long has been a goal, the new emphasis centers on methods of eliminating the waste byproducts of oil and gasoline burning: furnaces, home heaters, automobiles and diesel trucks.

Smog in Los Angeles and other cities has focused public attention on the problem in recent years.

Over the past decade, Gammagard estimates, the oil industry has spent $200 million in air pollution research and installation of equipment to reduce pollution. One major improvement has been achieved through reduction of the sulphur content in the exhausts from combustion of gasoline and oil.

Between the efforts of the petroleum industry and automobile manufacturers, steady progress is being made in the abatement of air pollution, Gammagard said.

NEW DEVICES

He predicted 1968 model automobiles and trucks probably will be equipped with the devices now being installed on new automobiles delivered in California in compliance with a state anti-smog law.

This equipment, consisting partly of an under-hood system of hoses, could add up to $50 to the price of a car, he estimated.

Train Struck, Driver Fined

Donald Leon Grissom's car smashed into a Texas & Pacific Railway Co. tank car just after midnight Thursday at the North Birdwell Lane track crossing, officers said today. Grissom, Route 1, Box 240-A, was not injured.

Police said Grissom was driving south on Birdwell Lane when his car struck the train. The train, conducted by A. W. Page, was stopped at the crossing, and the red lights of the intersection were flashing, officers said, when the accident happened.

The hood, windshield and part of the top of the auto were heavily damaged by the impact. Officers estimated damage to the car at about $600. The train sustained only minor damage.

Officers were called to the scene by T&P officials. When they arrived, Grissom was driving down the street in the mangled up car. He was taken into custody.

He pleaded guilty this morning in city court to charges of drunkenness, failure to leave information at the scene of an accident, disregarding flashing red lights at a railroad crossing, and disregarding a stop sign. He was released on bond of $70, also the amount of his fine, according to Bill Roger, bailiff.

Another accident Thursday injured no one, officers said. Involved were the cars of Robert L. Lambert, 2000 Eleventh Place and Eduardo G. Martinez, 2208 S. Monticello, at Barnes and South Monticello.

Train Struck, Driver Fined

Donald Leon Grissom's car smashed into a Texas & Pacific Railway Co. tank car just after midnight Thursday at the North Birdwell Lane track crossing, officers said today. Grissom, Route 1, Box 240-A, was not injured.

Police said Grissom was driving south on Birdwell Lane when his car struck the train. The train, conducted by A. W. Page, was stopped at the crossing, and the red lights of the intersection were flashing, officers said, when the accident happened.

The hood, windshield and part of the top of the auto were heavily damaged by the impact. Officers estimated damage to the car at about $600. The train sustained only minor damage.

Officers were called to the scene by T&P officials. When they arrived, Grissom was driving down the street in the mangled up car. He was taken into custody.

He pleaded guilty this morning in city court to charges of drunkenness, failure to leave information at the scene of an accident, disregarding flashing red lights at a railroad crossing, and disregarding a stop sign. He was released on bond of $70, also the amount of his fine, according to Bill Roger, bailiff.

Another accident Thursday injured no one, officers said. Involved were the cars of Robert L. Lambert, 2000 Eleventh Place and Eduardo G. Martinez, 2208 S. Monticello, at Barnes and South Monticello.

Longhorns To Host War Birds Tonight

Big Spring gets a chance to extend Permian's stay of execution in District 2-AAAA basketball's death row in a game with league-leading Abilene High at 8 o'clock here tonight. Nat Gleaton is the Abilene coach.

NAT GLEATON

Abilene leads Permian by two games in the standings and closes out against Abilene Cooper Tuesday. Permian needs to pick up two lengths on the Eagles between now and then.

Big Spring did a fair job of containing Abilene last time out, losing by five points in Abilene. With all the marbles showing tonight, Abilene, no doubt will be hard to contain.

Big Spring, having insured itself of at least a 500 finish in conference standings, still has its eye on second place in the standings.

Wins over Abilene tonight and San Angelo Tuesday would help the Steers achieve that lofty aim, if someone can knock off Permian between now and then.

This game winds up the home season for the Steers and local officials are hopeful of a banner turnout, especially in view of the fact that the locals have had so outstanding a season.

Not since 1959-60 have the Longhorns done anywhere nearly as well. Much of the credit goes to a group of boys who refused to quit after they got off to a tragic start in 2-AAAA play— they lost their first three games and seemed destined to wind up in the cellar.

Over-all, the Steers are a robust 17-11. One of the big differences has been their ability to win the close ones.

Coach Allen Simpson of Big Spring likely will open with a lineup consisting of Simon Terrazas, 6-5; Robert Jackson, 6-3; Paul Thomas, 6-9; Bobby Griffin, 5-10; and Robert Jones, 5-11.

B teams of the two schools have it out at 6:15 p.m.

Tiger To Risk Fight Crown On April 25

NEW YORK (AP)—Nino Benvenuti, Joey Archer, Jose Gonzalez and Don Fullmer can take their place in line. Emile Griffith, the welterweight champ, gets first crack at Dick Tiger's middleweight crown.

The Tiger-Griffith match of champions, set for Monday, April 25, at Madison Square Garden, is an attractive pairing of two men who like to walk in and punch. However, it does leave the top challengers in the 160-pound class on the outside looking in.

Archer, the clever New Yorker, was supposed to be in line for this title shot until he lost a recent bout to Don Fullmer, Gene's young brother, in Boston. Benvenuti, the unbeaten Italian, whipped Fullmer in Rome a week ago.

"We were negotiating for the Tiger-Archer match," said Teddy Brenner, Garden matchmaker, "until Joey lost to Fullmer in Boston. Then I suggested a match with Jose Gonzalez March 18 but Archer turned it down although I told him the winner would meet the Tiger-Griffith winner. I also offered Archer a Griffith match at 12 rounds."

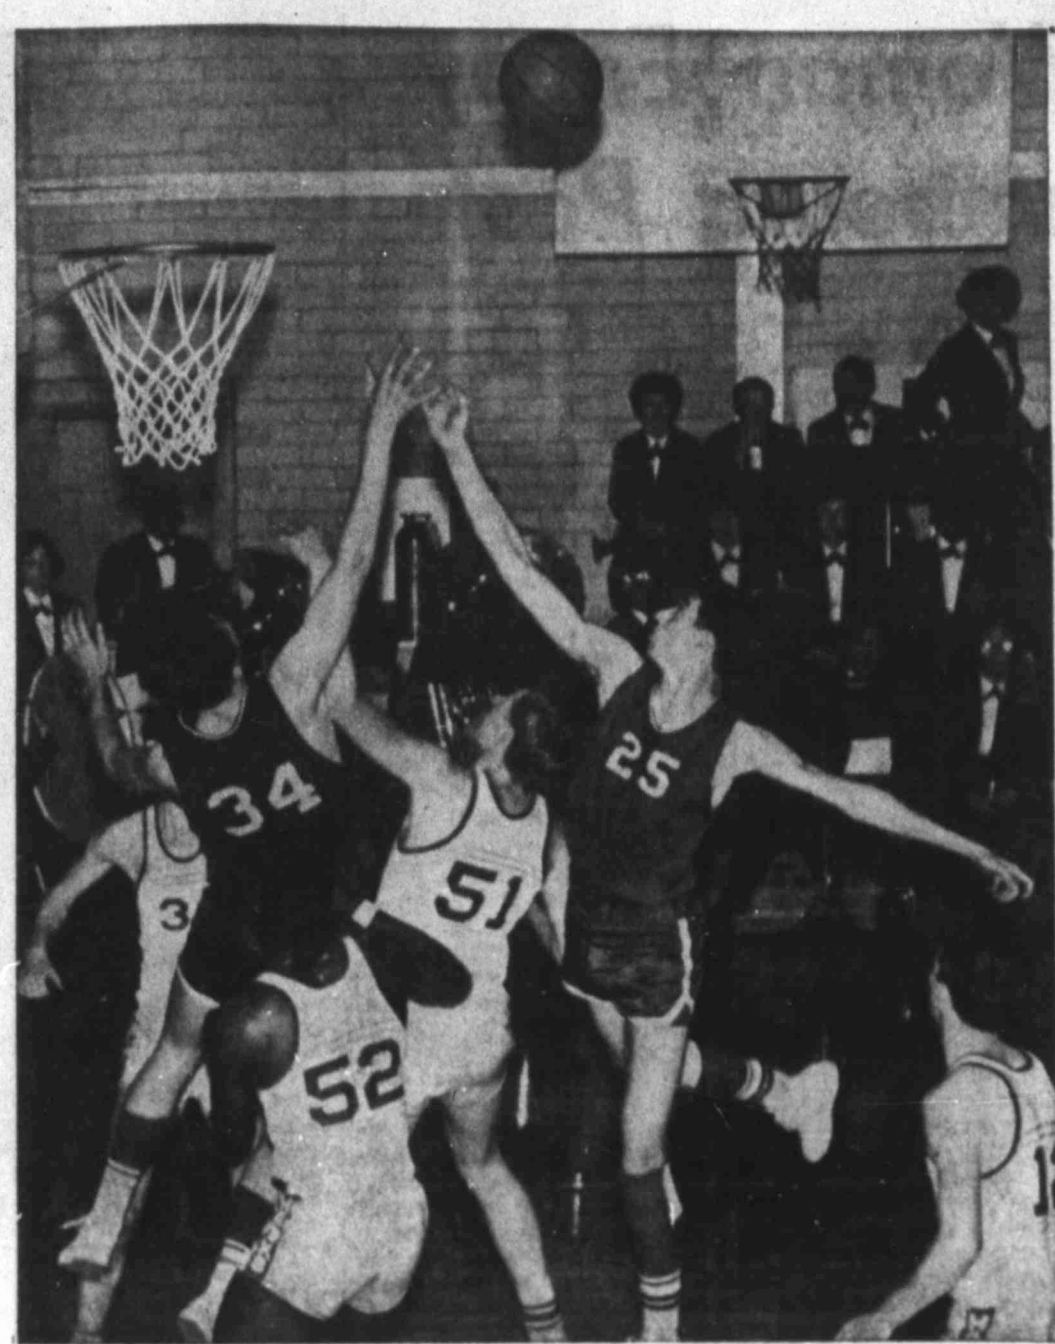

Actually, the Tiger-Griffith match had been almost a sure thing for several weeks. The Garden had hoped to put it on as the second half of a March 29 double feature topped by Cassius Clay and Ernie Terrell. The New York State Athletic Commission ruined those plans when it refused to license Terrell. Then Chicago stepped in and grabbed the bout.

Lew Burston, Tiger's representative, indicated he would be willing to take on Benvenuti in the meantime the 36-year-old Nigerian has a Feb. 18 over-the-weight date with Peter Muller in Dortmund, Germany.

Griffith will be defying the record book when he attempts to jump up a class. Six welter champs have tried to annex the middle title while they still held the lighter championship, but only two have succeeded. They were Sugar Ray Robinson who stopped Jake LaMotta in 1951 and Carmen Basilio who whipped the same Mr. Robinson in 1957.

Henry Armstrong once held three titles simultaneously when he ruled the feather, light and welter divisions in 1938. That no longer is possible.

Griffith claims he has beaten 9-11 middleweights he has fought but one of his ventures really was disastrous. He went in with Rubin Carter in Pittsburgh one night and went right in the first round. At about 153 pounds, he will be giving away seven to the experienced veteran from Nigeria.

A Ballad Or A Ballet?

Sizzling Hawks Rip Chaparrals, 112-81

By TOMMY HART

HCJC's Jayhawks took off like a squadron of Mosquito bombers on a dawn raiding mission and leveled everything in sight in blitzing Lubbock Christian College, 112-81, here Thursday night.

A team that ordinarily scores 51 points will win nine of ten games but the Chaparrals were never in contention, as they accepted their second Western Conference defeat in seven starts. HCJC is now 4-5 in the race and 11-14 over-all.

Skip - bombing by Charles Vass and Barry Hughey and a superlative performance on the boards by Leon Smith, who intercepted and disposed of the ball as if it were a hot rivet, enabled the Hawks to build a 38-42 bulge at half time.

Kurt Papp, emerging as one of the one-time greats at the local school, took charge in the final 20 minutes and broke the game wide open with some truly sensational shooting.

Papp left the floor at half time with only four points on his personal ledger but came back with a 29-point second half. Vass was almost as hot, although he fell heavily just before the half, and settled for 26 points while Henry Willis had 17 and Hughey 16 for the provincials.

The Chaparrals never struck their colors and seemed to be reassuring themselves that they still had a chance, even at the very end. A Negro sophomore from Hobbs, N.M., Robert Evans, proved to be a one-man wave of destruction for the LCC gang. He emerged as the game's high-point man with 36 points and, no doubt, would have had more had not Coach Lester Perrin seen fit to rest him the final couple of minutes.

The Hawks twice had leads of 33 points in the fluid struggle. The encounter, as expected, was exceedingly rough. A total of 63 fouls were called against the two teams, 32 of them against HCJC. One Lubbock player was exiled to the bench for intentionally trying to bore a hole in the side of one of the Hawks with his elbow. For a while, it appeared the two clubs would have been better off tilting at each other's armor in a rodeo arena. Outside of Evans, only diminutive Jim Harp hit in double figures for LCC. He settled for 14 points.

The Hawks hit the 100-point mark with 5:25 still to go in the game when Papp drilled one in from out front. It marked the third time this season they have counted in three figures and was their season's high, beating by five points anything they have done before.

Coach Buddy Travis and his boys go to Clarendon Saturday night with a chance to even their league record at 5-5. They move on over to Borger Monday night to oppose Frank Phillips.

Phoenix Tourney Is Postponed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Tommy Aaron and the weatherman aren't on the best of terms today.

Aaron, getting his usual jump on the rest of the field, was the clubhouse leader with a three-under-par 68 Thursday before rain washed out the first round of the $60,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

All scores were erased, and the field was scheduled to make another try today, weather permitting.

The forecast was for occasional rain early today with a partial clearing this afternoon and partly cloudy skies Saturday.

A steady rain fell throughout the afternoon hours Thursday, but most of the field was in when play was halted due to water on the greens.

Bobby Nichols was second best among the finishers with a 69 and Claude King, Mike Souchak and Chuck Courtney all had 70s.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The Will Rogers Indoor Games opens the Texas track season tonight with the most impressive field in its six-year history.

Howard Bain, the former Big Spring High School athlete, is now an air policeman at Fairchild AFB near Spokane, Wash.

Big Spring's Delnor Poss recently officiated a basketball game in District 3-AAAA in which one of the teams, Lubbock Monterey, did not make a free toss during the entire contest.

Poss says the 3-AAAA teams play a more cautious game than the 2-AAAA quintets.

Jacksonville Baptist College, coached by the former Big Spring mentor, Vernon Hartin, recently dropped a hard-luck 90-89 decision to the Rice University freshmen.

The boy who delivered the coup de main'tre against the Baptists was the former Midland Lee star, Mike Frizzell, who hit a free throw with nine seconds showing on the clock. Frizzell scored 12 points in the game.

Baseball star Sandy Koufax was originally named Sandy Brown. He changed it to his stepfather's name when his mother remarried.

Greenville Lansdell, a star quarterback in the Rose Bowl for USC in the late '30's, is now in his 19th year as a pilot for TWA.

Incidentally, 32,000 programs were sold at the last Rose Bowl game which pitted UCLA against Michigan State. In addition, several thousand others were mailed to subscribers.

Unless some team declines an invitation, it's not likely that HCJC will play in this year's Region V tournament at Amarillo next month. The jury is still out, however.

That brings up a question: Who will the other seven teams point for, in that case?

Celtics Kyoed By Coast Five

BOSTON (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors have gained valuable ground in their struggle to move ahead of Baltimore in the battle for second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

Thanks to strong finishes by rookie Rick Barry and Paul Neumann, the Warriors were able to move one full game ahead of the Bullets Thursday night. And they did it by beating the defending champion Boston Celtics 128-117 in the only NBA game played.

COAHOMA — Coach Bill Easterling and his Coahoma Bulldogs seek the crossing of the Rubicon in District 6-A basketball play this weekend.

The time of crises will extend over about 30 hours and if the Bulldogs stumble anywhere along the way, they've "had it" as far as the title race is concerned.

No one knows that better than Easterling and his boys, however, and they're prepared to go full throttle.

Trailing league-leading Aspermont by a full game in the standings, the Bulldogs catch Roby tonight and then take on the high-flying Hornets tomorrow night.

Both games will be in the Coahoma gym, however, so the Bulldogs have a lot going for them. Coahoma kept its chances alive earlier this week by edging Merkel by three points.

When Coahoma and Aspermont met earlier this season, Coahoma escaped with an 80-77 victory. The Hornets lean heavily upon the Ray boys, James and Nathan, plus Earl Cope lan.

Aspermont is 11-1 in the league race while Coahoma is 10-2 and 17-5 over-all. The Bulldogs' conference defeats have come at the hands of Jim Ned and Roltan. Easterling will be counting upon such operatives as Dean Bohannon, Tony Butler, Mike Mosley, Johnny Gibson, Bobby Pherigo, Marshall Williams, Mike Hinsley and Lawrence Leopard to get the job done. One of the secrets of Coahoma's success this season has been its splendid balance.

Tipoff time is 8 o'clock both nights.

Runnels Wins Two Contests Over Goliad

Runnels' ninth graders wore down Goliad, 88-54, before a near-capacity house at the high school gymnasium here Thursday night to post their 20th victory in 24 starts.

The Yearlings built up a 21-8 advantage at the end of the first period and coach Dan Bustamante saw fit to make use of all his talent after the issue had been settled.

Claud Tucker, using his feeder system to good advantage, led the Runnels team in scoring with 32 points while Larry Newton made a major contribution with 24.

Goliad was paced by James Newton, who tallied 20 points and played a good floor game. Steve Russell had 12 for the Mavericks.

Runnels also won the eighth grade encounter, 39-25. Runnels thus ended the season with a 3-14 record on that level.

Lewis Switzer and Fernando Mendoza each counted nine points for Runnels in that game while Raymond Valdez tallied nine for Goliad.

The games ended the seasons for all of the teams.

Authentic Spaghetti Sauce In Minutes

Dear Folks:

I've just had one of the nicest Italian gentlemen cooks (and aren't they always good?) come into my home to show me how he could cook special spaghetti sauce (that usually takes eight hours) in less than 45 minutes!

Here's how: He put the tomatoes, chopped onions, seasonings, etc., (everything you want in the sauce except the meat) in my blender!

He let it run for ONE MINUTE on high speed. This thoroughly mixed and homogenized all of those delicious condiments into one little, thin stream. And don't get discouraged here, gals. It looks white and foamy but settles back to normal within 10 minutes of cooking.

One thing he did, which surprised me no end, was to add some bacon grease to his own favorite spaghetti sauce recipe.

I learned that bacon grease really does something to this.

If you are using meatballs (which he did), make them VERY, VERY small instead of the usual two-bite size. All he did was throw them on a foil-lined cookie sheet under the broiler, turning it on high heat.

You know what this did? The broiler immediately seared the meat, keeping the juices in.

And every time he stirred those teeny-weensy balls, they got more beautiful. The reason for this is that the juice from the hamburger meat gets down on the foil-lined pan, and every time you stir them with a spoon, they get covered with more grease which seals in more of the flavor. He broiled the hamburger balls until they were golden brown on all sides. One could do this on the top rack in their oven.

After the spaghetti sauce had been cooking slowly for about 40 minutes, he dumped the piping hot, lusciously broiled, brown meat balls into the sauce along with part of the meat drippings, as he said that this would give the sauce that "eight-hour-cooking taste."

After letting simmer for about five minutes, he turned off the fire under the sauce, put a lid on the pot, and let the whole kaboodle stand about 10 minutes before serving.

Just as he kept saying, "There is no use cooking something six or eight hours when you can do it in one, is there? Taste mine, Heloise..."

He was so right. His sauce was out of this world! And it was thick, too.

That fine gentleman from Italy showed me there was really a cloud TEN! And it takes very little effort to get there! So, instead of wasting six or eight hours cooking spaghetti sauce, why don't you little darlings, who have a blender, try putting everything (except the meat) in it, and make the sauce in 45 minutes, as he did?

I also learned that if you have no blender, you can use the tiniest holes on your hand graters and grate a potato (leaving the skin on) and a carrot into the sauce if you want extremely thick sauce. Besides, it stretches the sauce and adds vitamins.

One more thing if you add thin slices of green peppers to the sauce, it makes it out of this world.

And our thanks to Angelo for this wonderful lesson. Bless him always. . . Heloise

P.S. I almost forgot a very important item: He said (and proved to me) that anytime a woman makes spaghetti sauce, she should clean out her refrigerator at the same time and put it all in the blender. Especially such things as leftover pork, ham, chicken, turkey, sliced tomato left from dinner the night before, etc.

These things are what change the taste of our routine spaghetti sauce!

He says they actually never use the same recipe twice. This is what makes it so variable.

I still think he was a sweetie pie, don't you? . . . Heloise

Bible Class Has Many Projects

Elective Bible Course Uses Wide Variety Of Materials

By JERRY MONSON
The course is different from any other elective course in the high school. Mrs. Elizabeth Johansen said. "We make use of visual aids, with students making charts and outlines; we show films; we have textbooks and workbooks—and the students take tests. It's not a 'snap' course as some students think."
Mrs. Johansen is the teacher of a high school Bible course which has been in the high school curricula for nearly 30 years. She has much praise for the students taking her course and for the work they produce.

ELECTIVE

The course is an elective, sophomore and junior credit course, with three different classes and 75 students enrolled. Students taking the course are those who generally make "A's", although there is a mixture of grades, Mrs. Johansen said.
The Bible class differs from the other classes at the high school as it is supported solely by public subscription and support from several churches. The Big Spring Pastor's Association has had the Bible class as one of its projects since its beginning. Under Texas State Law, public donations are the only way that a class of religious nature may be supported. Big Spring residents donated some $3,900.06 for the class's support in 1965.

"We do all types of drawings and outlines of our work," she said. "Recent ones have been of the Divided Kingdom, the United Kingdoms, Biblical symbolism, and original student work to illustrate the lesson."
There is both a textbook and workbook with the course and discussion periods are prevalent.
"We operate in the same manner that an English class would," said Mrs. Johansen, who also teaches two English classes.

MEMORY WORK

"There is quite a bit of memory work involved," she said, and most students find this a real challenge. For example, we memorize the books of the Old and New Testaments, the scripture verses associated with each lesson and particular passages of interest, such as the Ten Commandments or excerpts from the Sermon on the Mount."
Mrs. Johansen said that students in her class come from nearly all church groups in Big Spring and many of them are Sunday school or church leaders.

In addition, the classes have formed a Bible Club, which meets monthly. Mrs. Johansen said. The students lead the meetings which include studies of famous personalities, devotionals and general Bible discussions. The club takes field trips when possible and has visited Fort Davis for the past three years.

SINCE 1945

Mrs. Johansen, wife of J. O. Johansen, city park manager, has taught Bible and English classes in the Big Spring schools since 1945. Before coming to Big Spring, she taught in South Carolina schools for four years and was active in church work wherever she lived. A native of Panhandle, she also teaches a college Bible class Thursday evenings at Howard County Junior College for both college students and interested adults. She is the mother of three children, two in high school and one in junior high.

UNIFIED SOCIETY

LONDON (AP)—A call for a single world Bible society was made by the Rev. James Roe, Asia secretary of the British and Foreign Bible Society, during a recent lecture in London. He said the day for independent national societies was as dead as the day of imperialism. The only kind of independence was interdependence. A centralized Bible organization would facilitate operations especially in Asia and Africa, he said.

Nazarenes Set Revival

The Church of the Nazarene, 1400 Lancaster, will conduct a revival Feb. 17-22 with the Rev. Joe Norton and John Whistler.
Rev. Norton, Hamlin, is a commissioned evangelist in the Church of the Nazarene, devoting full time to this service, and is well known in this area. He has conducted a revival here in past years.

Whistler, Carthage, Mo., is a musician and singer, a graduate of the Missouri School for the Blind, and is now devoting his time to evangelism. He is accompanied by his pilot dog, "Hero." He has made many personal appearances in public schools, lecturing on safety and related subjects, which are both highly educational and entertaining. He will be featured at the piano, on the accordion and in special vocal numbers.

Service time is 7:30 p.m. each day, and the public is invited, according to D. M. Duke, pastor.

Midland Pastor To Lead Baptist Temple Revival

An evangelistic crusade for spring revival at the Baptist Temple will feature Dr. L. L. Morriss, Midland First Baptist Church pastor, as evangelist. The revival is planned Feb. 28-March 6 and service times will be 7 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Dr. Morriss, pastor of one of the 10 largest churches in the Southern Baptist Convention, has been pastor of the Midland First Baptist Church 11 years. He is past chairman of the executive board of the Texas Baptist Convention, and member of the board of trustees of Baylor University.

"We feel fortunate to have Dr. Morriss come to Big Spring to our revival," said the Rev. James A. Puckett, pastor of the Baptist Temple. "He was invited to come three years ago, and his busy schedule has finally allowed him to come as our evangelist."

Rev. Puckett said that one special feature of the revival will be the campaign "Tell Big Spring," headed by general chairman Harley Henry.
"We will personally place in every home in Big Spring an announcement about the revival, which will contain the Bible's simple plan of salvation," Rev. Puckett said. "We believe this is the first time a project of this size has been undertaken in Big Spring, and over 200 church members will be enlisted for the campaign."
Bill Myers, minister of music, will lead the music for the revival.

MAN NOT TO BE USED

That man is a person is the teaching of the International Sunday School lesson for this Sunday. The text is taken from Genesis 1:26-31; Psalm 8; Matthew 12:1-14 and 18:1-14; Acts 10:34-35; and Hebrews 2:5-9.

Man is a person, says the lesson, not just a commodity to be used, an employe to do work, or a robot to fight and die for a state. God did not create man just to be "used," he created him for a purpose. God put His highest value on man and made him the object of His love. God made man a thinking individual, with hopes and dreams, success and failures, "... a little lower than the angels."
To God, man was the end of it all, more important than any law or institution, more important than any wars or plague or death, for man was made in His image, to grow in faith.

Watch That THUMB!

Peter loves to "fix things," even though he sometimes gets hurt in the process. Yesterday he pinched his finger with the pliers. Today, he'll probably end up by banging his thumb with the hammer. But tomorrow he'll be right back at it again... learning the hard way!

From childhood, we learn best by personal experience. Our natural curiosity makes it difficult for us to accept advice from others. We want to find out for ourselves... and life has some hard lessons to teach us. Among other things, we have to discover that material possessions are no guarantee of happiness... and that money can't buy love, or health, or peace of mind.

Religious faith is another aspect of life that must not be left unexplored. Christianity has been tested by time... and it stands ready to be tested by YOU. Don't miss the greatest experience of all. Visit the church of your choice this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'KEEP A SMILE FOR FUTURE'
Winning Smile Important, General Health Signpost

Modern dentistry is as concerned with good general health as it is with good dental and oral health, according to the American Dental Association. The ADA is currently observing the 18th National Children's Dental Health Week, February 6-12, the theme of which is "Keep a Smile for Your Future."

Good general health depends as much on the health of the mouth as it does on any other part of the body, asserts the ADA. Dental disease, if left unchecked, can open the door for serious infections and severe illnesses.

Moreover, early symptoms of many diseases are manifested orally, often allowing the dentist to be the first to notice and identify them, the ADA reports. Dentists actually have a greater opportunity to detect oral cancer, for example, than any other members of the medical profession. In its early stages, oral cancer is painless and does not create functional problems.

Therefore, unless it is detected by a dentist during the patient's periodic checkup, it is frequently not discovered until it is already very developed, the ADA spokesman relates.

The ADA advises regular dental checkups to prevent oral diseases. Frequent and periodic visits also give the dentist an opportunity to recognize changes in the tissues in the mouth which give an indication of the general health of the patient.

Attractive teeth and a good-looking smile are also necessary ingredients for a successful future, according to the American Dental Association.

"A politician wouldn't dare turn up on the campaign trail with unattractive, neglected teeth," an association spokesman points out. "Neither would an actor or actress step in front of the camera knowing that his or her teeth and smile are not all they should be."

But, famous personalities are not the only ones who benefit from an attractive appearance, the ADA notes. The young girl going on her first date, the young man on a job interview or the businessman asking for a raise need the self-confidence which comes from knowing that they look their best.

To ensure that smile for the future, the ADA urges parents to begin working out a sound program of oral hygiene for the children when they are still young. A child should be taken for his first dental checkup by the time he reaches the age of three — soon after his primary teeth appear.

The "baby teeth," as they are sometimes called, perform the important function of maintaining the proper space for the permanent teeth that are to follow. Dental problems that are detected early can be treated immediately, ensuring proper growth of the permanent teeth.

Parents are also reminded by the ADA of the importance of a healthy mouth for their children. Oral health covers a wide area: it is concerned with healthy gums, proper jaw and facial development and a good bite. By having the dentist check—and treat, if necessary—these oral health areas while a child is still young, parents will be doing their part to ensure their child's healthy and happy future.

Opening lead: King of ♠

When an alert defender felled his original campaign strategy, South, the declarer at four hearts contrived an alternative plan that was foolproof.

The bidding may appear to be a bit indirect, nevertheless the auction was soundly conceived. Over North's rebid of one spade, South was confronted with a bit of a problem. A return to two clubs sounds like a mere preference and partner will never suspect that South has a fairly good hand. A jump to three clubs, however, is a distinct overbid since that call would be forcing to game. South chose the conservative course, in the hope that his partner could take further action voluntarily. When North gave a delayed heart raise by bidding two hearts, South did not dally further. He proceeded directly to game.

West opened the king of spades and then shifted to a trump. South could count nine top tricks—five hearts and four clubs—and, in the absence of the heart lead, he could expect to obtain an eventual diamond ruff in dummy for the 10th trick.

If he attempted to trump a diamond after West's shift, however, he would be risking defeat if the diamond ace was located behind his king, and the defense continued to trump spades every time they were in.

South developed a different plan. He drew the opponents' trump in three rounds. The king of clubs was cashed followed by the ace and queen to strip out that suit. Now the queen of spades was led and South discarded a diamond from his hand.

West was in with only spades and diamonds left. If he returned a spade, dummy's nine forces out East's jack and South ruffs. The ten of spades becomes established for the 10th trick and North has an entry in the jack of clubs. West elected to play the ace and another diamond, in the hope that East had the king. When South turned up with that card, the contract was over.

Front Spreads Across Texas

By The Associated Press
Texas weather calmed after two days of storms and a new cool front swept eastward today, crossing the Panhandle and brushing the northern edge of the state.
Snow fell lightly in parts of the Panhandle as the northern started arriving Thursday, melting almost as soon as it hit the ground.
The mercury dipped to 17 degrees at Dalhart and 25 at Amarillo by early morning.
Forecasters called for another chilly night across the north half of Texas with a possibility of snow flurries again Saturday in the Panhandle. Showers and little change in temperatures were predicted in the south.

Probe In 'Baby-Selling' Hears Birth Recorder

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—Ignacio Alaniz, city birth recorder, said Thursday 2,700 to 2,900 birth certificates are registered annually in Laredo and he has no way of knowing if they contain false information.
Alaniz testified at a court of inquiry called by Dist. Judge E. D. Salinas to investigate an alleged international black market in babies and irregularities in birth registrations here.
The inquiry entered its fifth day Friday.
FREE RECEIPTS
Alaniz said that during the past three years he received $179 in notary fees, with $99 coming from Mrs. Emma Lopez, a Laredo midwife. He said that most of the work he did for her involved filling out forms to apply for delayed birth registrations and for amended birth registrations.
The recorder said he gets his notary fees working out of the city secretary's office during noon lunch periods and in his off hours.
Two other witnesses informed the court Thursday that a pregnant Mexican woman told them a midwife offered to deliver her baby free if she could keep the child.
WOMEN TESTIFY
This testimony came from Mrs. Celia Landa of the child welfare department and Julie Ann Davey, a reporter for the Laredo Times.
Both women said the impoverished, expectant mother from El Mante, 400 miles south of here, went to a state-licensed foster child home to have the baby.
Several witnesses have testified that babies could be purchased from Laredo midwives for $250 to $450.
