U. S. Artillery Clobbers Cong

CU CHI, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two armed Viet Cong marched into the government's Trung Lap ranger school and threw down their weapons and packs.

"Too much American artillery," one said later, explaining his surrender.

"Eight men in our platoon were killed last night," the second added.

The 1st Battalion of the 8th Artillery, a unit of the U.S. 25th Division, has poured more than 18,000 rounds of artillery fire into Viet Cong areas since moving into the Cu Chi area late in January. Its 18 105mm howitzers are reinforced by Sinch cannon and 175mms which can reach 25 miles.

MAJOR ROUTE

Placed astride one of the Viet Cong's major north-south routes and almost on top of a terminal point of the Ho Chi Minh Trail, the artillery never runs short of targets.

Aircraft with classified electronic reconnaissance devices often pick up Viet Cong "camp fire meetings," which the artillery then clobbers.

Around Cu Chi, whole villages have been resettled and movement is prohibited on roads at night. Wide areas are free fire zones where any movement is assumed to be that of the enemy.

SECONDARY BLASTS

Firing on targets just north of the base has resulted in numerous secondary explosions indicating that ammunition or fuel was hit.

Texans' Dilemma: Key Panel Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Texas congressional delegation faces its worst dilemma in more than 25 years over two of the most powerful committees in the House—Ways and Means, and Appropriations.

The problem arises from the announced retirement this year of Rep. Clark Thompson, D. of Galveston, a member of Ways and Means, and from the death recently of Rep. Albert Thomas, D., of Houston, who was on Appropriations.

Provided Texas retains these two choice committee spots, who among the delegation will be chosen for the vacancies?

Texas has had a member for decades on Ways and Means—where membership ordinarily is meted out geographically. For some time the state has had two men on Appropriations.

To find a comparable situation for Texas regarding replacements on important committees one has to go back to the time when John Nance Garner left Ways and Means to become speaker, and when Rep. James P. Buchanan, Appropriations Committee chairman, died.

Membership on Ways and Means carries a bit more prestige. This group passes on all tax and tariff legislation, including Social Security laws, and serves for Democrats as the committee which makes all other committee assignments.

Thompson says he will retire because his territory was merged with the district of Rep. Jack Brooks of Beaumont in re-districting.

SENIORITY ROLE

Seniority plays a large part in committee assignments—but not always, particularly where membership on the politically-sensitive Appropriations and Ways and Means groups are concerned.

A man who has a record of opposition to his party's position on crucial issues may well be turned down by the leadership—especially should he seek assignment to Ways and Means. If a Democrat, since it is the party's committee on committees.

Brooks appears the most likely among the Texans to have his choice between the coveted positions. And, from all indications, it certainly would be Ways and Means. He came to the House in 1953.

Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth came in 1955, and could get a shot at one or the other after Brooks.

Even with both these men, however, there is a question whether they would be willing to give up assignments they have—Brooks on Government Operations, Wright on Public Works.

While Ways and Means and Appropriations are sometimes recognized as the most powerful in the House—followed closely by Rules—many members would turn down an opportunity to go on either group.

That is because they already are at or near the top of some other committee. They would have to leave the prestige they hold with their old group, and perhaps considerable job patronage, and go to the foot of the seniority ladder with Ways and Means or Appropriations.

AGE FACTOR

The age of the individual becomes an important factor, for a score of years of service likely would be required before he could work his way to the top.

Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock, a remarkably youthful looking man at 65, finally became chairman of Appropriations a little over a year ago. He had been on the committee 25 years.

Whether a man is likely to be re-elected over the long period is also a point.

With all these factors considered, the name of one of Texas' freshmen congressmen looms as a possible choice for the Appropriations Committee—Rep. Richard White, D., of El Paso.

Although he is 42, the West Texan is still one of the youngest of Texas congressmen. He is on a good committee. Interior, but near the bottom so that he could be sacrificing no appreciable seniority there.

Two other Texans who also are among those considered as possibilities are Reps. Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, 46, and Eligio de la Garza, 38, of Mission.

Purcell has four years' service, so has seniority over both White and De la Garza, yet he already has worked himself up to 10th spot among the 25 Democrats on Agriculture. Relative youth would be a factor in favor of De la Garza.

Mahon went on Appropriations in 1939, two years after Buchanan's death. In the interim, Texas was represented on the committee by W. D. McFarlane of the Wichita Falls district. The late Tom Blanton of the Abilene district was on the committee with Buchanan. Thomas went on the committee with Mahon in 1941.

Garner was succeeded on Ways and Means by the late Rep. Morgan Sanders of East Texas, who in turn was succeeded by the late Milton West of Brownsville in 1939, during the same session that saw Mahon go on to Appropriations.

For A Harrowing Ride, Try German Autobahns

BERLIN (AP) — So you've not driven the New Jersey Turnpike and the Los Angeles Freeway.

You're still not ready for the West German autobahns.

These superhighways have no speed limits. There's a mad dashing into lanes and out of lanes.

SPEEDS VARY

On the right lane speeds vary from about 30 to 60 m.p.h. Here are found most of the small cars and big trucks. If a driver stays in this lane he is sure to be caught up in a long column headed by someone insisting on his right to go as slow as he pleases.

In the left lane, meanwhile, the sky is the limit. Some sports cars and bigger sedans whistle along at well over 100 m.p.h.

These drivers, apparently influenced by a major German sport, auto racing, will not slow down unless forced to.

To clear their way, they flash their lights, seemingly signaling: "Here I come, ready or

ENDLESS BLINKING

Seen in a rear view mirror, Saturday autobahn traffic between Hanover and Cologne is an endless blinking of lights, even in broad daylight. If a slow-lane driver summons up enough courage to move to the fast lane, the speed merchants will come up right behind him, furiously blinking lights and blowing horns.

It is an interesting study of human nature to be flanked by trucks, and trailed by two, three, four or more would-be speedway drivers all tailing each other by no more than 10 feet at say 75 m.p.h.

Make it a small European-made car, add a strong side wind, and you have as harrowing a ride as there is at any amusement park.

West Germany's traffic deaths declined last year, but they still numbered around 15,000 — a high toll for a country of 55 million people and about 12 million registered cars.

Ashley Lawyers Push Attack On Indictment

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Defense attorneys said they would renew their attack today on the indictment of Leslie Douglas Ashley in the 1961 "sex-party" slaying of Fred A. Tones, Houston real estate man.
 There were some irregularities in the selection of the grand jury that indicted their client, they claim.
 Their motion to quash the indictment was one of seven motions still to be ruled on as Ashley's pre-trial hearing entered its third day.
 Six motions were overruled and three granted Friday and Saturday.
 The purpose of a pre-trial hearing, provided for by the new code of criminal procedure, is to get all the time-consuming arguments over motions out of the way.
 The defendant has watched the legal maneuvering disinterestedly in Gatesville's 60-year-old limestone courthouse. His mass of wavy black hair has been neatly combed and his bright-colored shoes well shined.
 He has had three sanity hearings, being ruled sane in 1962 in Harris County, insane in 1964 in Wharton County after a change of venue, and sane in 1965 in Wharton.
 After the 1964 hearing he was sent to the state hospital in San Antonio. He escaped on Oct. 6 of that year and was on the FBI's 10-most-wanted list when he was recaptured last April 23 at get all the time-consuming arguments over motions out of the way.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

 (© 1966 By The Chess Tribune)
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠ 4 3 ♥ A K J 7 6 5 ○ A 8 4 2 ♠ A
 Your right hand opponent opens with one diamond.
What do you bid?
A.—Double. A bid of just one heart is apt to be passed out, while a jump to two hearts is now employed as a preemptive measure. After partner's response to the double, you will bid an appropriate number of hearts on the next round.
Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠ K 10 5 ♥ Q J 7 4 ○ A 2 4 10 9 6 4
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 Pass 1 ♠ Dble. Pass
 1 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. You should not be unduly influenced by the distributional features which you have already described; your hand is quite minimum as to high cards and you may assume that partner is on guard that you may have a 6-5 distribution.
Q. 6—Both vulnerable, you are South and have 60 part score.
 ♠ 7 4 2 ♥ 2 ○ Q 10 6 3 2 ♠ J 6 5 3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1 ♥ Pass 2 NT
 1 ♥ Pass 4 ♥
What do you bid?
A.—Pass. It is my practice to go to great lengths to keep the bidding open when an advanced part score is held, but this is going too far. Too frequently have complications set in by virtue of South's "sporting" bids of one no trump in situations such as this. Partner has received no warning and carries on the fight against the expected competition to his great disaster.
Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠ 7 2 ♥ K J 9 7 5 3 ○ K 4 ♠ 7 4 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 2 NT Pass ?
What do you bid?
A.—This hand stands a very good chance of producing five or six tricks for partner and consequently is on the verge of a slam. The best way to indicate such a holding is a big jump in hearts. Our own preference is for five hearts. However, the situation may be handled adequately by first responding with three hearts, intending to make a leap beyond game on the next round.
Q. 8—As South you hold:
 ♠ Q 10 8 6 ♥ 5 4 3 ○ A K 4 3 ♠ 7 5 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
 2 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass
What is your opening lead?
A.—A trump. You must start getting dummy's trumps out so that declarer will have less opportunity to ruff spades. When you get in with a diamond, as is very likely, you will be able to lead another trump in an effort to complete your sabotage.

Muslim Leader Snipes At Whites

CHICAGO (AP)—The leader of the Black Muslims, a Negro supremacy sect, says Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. doesn't understand the Negro's problems.

"Every white man is taking a pot shot on the highway at the Negro seeking his rights," Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad said Sunday at the windup of a two-day convention.

Muhammad, 68, said of the Negro Baptist minister: "King is a very nice man, but he comes from very unfriendly people. King doesn't understand the Negro's problem. King says he loves whites and he wants to be their brother."

TWO MEET

King, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, met here with Muhammad last week. King spends three days a week in Chicago working to eliminate slums.

Muhammad drew bursts of applause from the 6,000 followers in the Coliseum with frequent digs at the white man during a rambling 3-hour and 45-minute speech.

The small, wiry man, whose voice grew weaker as he talked, said of the Viet Nam conflict: "If you (the whites) want us to go to war give us something to fight for. The whites don't want to fight for their America and the Negro has no America to fight for."

Cassius Clay, the world heavyweight champion who became a Black Muslim three years ago, led the cheering from his bleacher seat 25 feet from the speaking rostrum.

Girl Is Pair's Ninth Child To Die In Infancy

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Arthur T. Noe and his wife tried hard to face the future today as they prepared for the funeral of their daughter — their ninth child to die in infancy since 1949.

"I just don't know what we're going to do," said Noe, 44, a warehouseman. "We can't have any more children. It's too late."

His wife, Marie, 41, said they had considered adoption, adding: "But we would have to speak to our pastor about it first. They may not let us have one. On account of so many deaths."

Of the other Noe children, one was stillborn and the rest lived from a few hours to six months. One death was blamed on a heart ailment and two on bronchial pneumonia. The others were undiagnosed.

Perilous Road Stretch To Go

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Slaughter Alley catastrophe, cremating motorists trapped in their cars.

Merry and his patrolmen see more than their share of death on the highway.

Eighty-four persons were killed in 1964 in the 36-mile segment of Highway 101 between Del Mar and San Clemente.

Eight, including the adopted daughter of Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, died in one accident. There have been numerous other multiple-fatality crashes.

Meanwhile, Capt. Don Merry of the California Highway Patrol at Oceanside is seeking legislation to help his men cut down the traffic death toll that has given the road its grim nickname.

Merry wants to keep gasoline tankers and other trucks with dangerous cargoes off the narrow four-lane highway.

Dr. Sheppard Plea Before High Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard puts before the Supreme Court today his claim that newspaper publicity prevented him from getting a fair trial in the 1954 slaying of his first wife.

Through arguments by his counsel, the former Cleveland, Ohio, osteopath hopes to win a new trial with additional contentions. One is that evidence presented against him 12 years ago was not sufficient to sustain a conviction.

LIFE SENTENCE

The conviction was for murder in the second degree and he was given a life sentence. He was released under a habeas corpus order after serving 10 years.

In the latest legal move in Ohio, the U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati rejected Sheppard's contention that he didn't get a fair trial. But it permitted him to remain at liberty on bail pending outcome of his appeal to the highest tribunal.

Sheppard's first wife, Marilyn, was pregnant when she was beaten to death. Sheppard has always claimed that a bushy-haired intruder killed her. In 1964 he married a German-born divorcee with whom he had carried on a correspondence while in prison.

Sheppard's lawyer, F. Lee Bailey of Boston, asked in a preliminary brief submitted to the Supreme Court that the justices rule on 11 questions.

Man Held In Dad's Death

SHREVEPORT, LA. (AP)—A Dallas, Tex., man, who officials said recently was released from a mental hospital, was held today in the fatal beating of his father.

William Jernigan, 31, was booked for murder in the death of Francis Jernigan, 63, of Dallas.

Dr. Stewart Delee, coroner, said the elder Jernigan was beaten to death with a chair in a friend's apartment. The father and son were guests in the apartment after coming to Shreveport to attend a wedding.

"He gave us no reason for the killing, and he is unable to give us a coherent statement," Dr. Delee said of the younger Jernigan.

Western States Join In River Hookup Plan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After half a century of squabbling over the Colorado River's increasingly vital water, seven Western states are about to get together on a plan to tap one of the major rivers of three other states.

The plan could eventually cost more than $12 billion. "This is not just a regional problem," a water expert says. "The rest of the country will eat better if the West works out an equitable way of dividing its water."

The plan envisions: 1. Immediate start on construction of a $1.2-billion project to move Colorado River water southward to Arizona's booming Phoenix and Tucson areas. 2. Eventual construction of an aqueduct linking the heavily used Colorado with either the little-exploited Columbia River, which has 10 times the Colorado's flow, or its closer tributary, the Snake River. Hookup with the Columbia would cost $11 billion, with the Snake $4 billion.

BIG HITCH
The big hitch, of course, is opposition from Washington and Oregon, which border on the Columbia, and Idaho, through which the Snake flows.

Representatives of the seven Colorado River basin states — Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and California — agreed at a meeting here Jan. 27 on most of the technical language of a bill to be submitted to the House subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation.

The proposed legislation calls for a quick start on the big central Arizona project, and also for a massive survey of ways to channel additional water into the Colorado so that other users of that river, primarily California, will have enough for their growing populations too.

The legislation would not call for joining the Colorado with the Columbia or the Snake — feasibility of that is left for the survey to determine. But most water experts say the Columbia and the Snake are about the only sources big enough to give the Colorado's users the amount of water they need.

The Jan. 27 agreement was a major accomplishment. It meant that the Colorado basin states were ready to stop quarreling amongst themselves over how to split up the dwindling waters of the Colorado — and start looking for ways of increasing the Colorado's flow.

The Colorado basin's plan would require some form of federal funding, thus taxing even the citizens of distant states, but proponents say it holds the key to future prosperity of a vast area consuming a large portion of those states' products.

OVERCOME BARRIERS
This is not, of course, the lure held out to the little-industrialized Northwestern states. Advocates of the Colorado basin plan

British Flavor Marks Oscar Nominations

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Well done. That was the general feeling in town last week as the film industry received news of the 38th annual Academy Award nominations.

The oft-maligned Academy voters seem to have performed their function without fear or favor. They were not duped by massive trade-paper ad campaigns, nor did they display noticeable loyalty to big studios or oldtimers.

BRITISH FLAVOR
As in the 1964 nominations, there was a distinct British flavor. But the Academy voters can't help it if the British are such superior actors.

Gone are the days when the Oscar was a quaint local custom; the old boy is getting more international every year. The most remarkable evidence of this was the nomination of Japanese Hiroshi Teshigahara for his direction of "Woman in the Dunes," a film that didn't receive a major release.

Hollywood can be provincial about admitting achievements by foreign directors. Example: the Directors Guild didn't even nominate David Lean ("Doctor Zhivago") for its annual award. The Academy corrected the oversight.

NOT SWAYED
The voters were not swayed by production costs. Neither "The Greatest Story Ever Told" ($20 million), "The Great Race" ($12 million) nor "The Agony and the Ecstasy" ($8 million) received a major nomination. Curiously, each received five minor nominations.

Two of the best-picture nominees, "Darling" and "A Thousand Clowns," were in the neighborhood of million-dollar films, which is practically a poverty area in today's market. The other three are super-specials: "Doctor Zhivago," "The Sound of Music," "Ship of Fools."

Country Store In Mad Rush

SULPHUR LICK, Ky. (AP) — Despite a monopoly and being surrounded by gushing money, Charles Leamon has passed up the opportunity for quick profit to do what he thinks is honest.

Charlie and his wife own the only store at Sulphur Lick. It's the only store within nine miles of an oil gusher that has brought an boom to the area.

OILMEN ARRIVE
Oilmen came from all over the country and cars lined both sides of the road for a quarter-mile around the Charles Leamon store — the only convenient place to eat.

Customers were shoulder to shoulder on a recent visit. You had to push to get into this typical country store — shoes to beans, pot-bellied stove and rough wooden bench — that normally serves about 1,000 residents of the economically depressed farming area in south central Kentucky. The nearest stores are eight miles south in Tompkinsville or 15 miles north at Glasgow.

PRICES SKYROCKET
After the 4,000-barrel-a-day well was brought in Thanksgiving Day on the Jack Hays farm about a mile from the store, prices on oil leases went from less than $1 an acre to as much as $100 an acre.

But the sign in Leamon's store advertising sandwich prices remains unchanged. "Ham 25 cents, chopped pork 15 cents, bloney (sic) 10 cents, cheese 10 cents."
"Just because a man is an oilman," Leamon said, "I didn't think it would be right to double the price on him. The way it looks to me is that it is dishonest. I was selling them for that

Aid To Nationalist China Boosts Economy Growth

WASHINGTON (AP)—An unprecedented study of the 15-year history of the U.S. foreign aid program in Nationalist China reports that the aid probably doubled the country's economic growth rate and lifted its living standards 30 years ahead.

The study was compiled by a team headed by Neil Jacoby, dean of the University of California (at Los Angeles) graduate school of business administration.

The findings indicate that Formosa justifiably is a U.S. aid showpiece, although some criticisms were noted. The Jacoby study said the $1.4-billion job probably could have been done for $200 million less, but also added that "such perfection in human affairs is unattainable."

Formosa's per person income climbed from about $100 in 1951 to $160 last year and should go to $300 in the next 15 years, the study said.

The Jacoby report was released Sunday night by Director David E. Bell of the Agency for International Development, which sponsored the research.

Investigator For Project Named

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Dr. Leonard A. Duce, dean of Trinity University's graduate school, has been named main investigator for the Texas Hospital Association which sponsors Public Health Service Research Project. The project will estimate the medical and related resources available within the state for use in time of disaster.

before, so I just kept on."

Leamon operates on the honor system. Charlie or his wife hand out sandwiches at one spot — literally handed without plate or napkin, and the customer spreads his own mayonnaise or mustard.

about six feet down the counter, receiving what the customer says he owes. Soft drinks are kept in a box on the other side of the store and the crowds make it impossible for Charlie to see who got what. "I only caught one man trying to get out without paying," he said. The other takes up money said.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss but is really growing hair!

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone. The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Classical Pianist, 77, Is Indefatigable, Original

NEW YORK (AP) — Artur Schnabel, classical pianist beloved by three generations, made his American debut in Carnegie Hall in 1906.

Last month, 69 years later, he gave three concerts in the same hall, creating new interpretations, missing a few notes and providing some of the most beautiful piano music the audience ever heard or ever expects to hear.

But Schnabel has an unexpected weakness. After all these years, he still can get stage fright.

The worst case was in Russia where, he admits, "I was scared to death."

TIME OF CZARS
"During the time of the czars I was often in Russia. But I was absent 30 years and when you don't go for many years, you become a legend."

"I was afraid they would treat me like an old man who can still play the piano. And I was thinking, 'If I fall through in Russia, I'm done with. Why should I risk such a thing?' So Hurok (the impresario) and my wife were saying, 'Why did we bring him here in all this nervous state?'"

"Then it went off beautifully. The minister of culture came on the stage and said, 'Can I take you in my arms and kiss and hug you?'" Schnabel pauses, then continues: "The minister of culture was a fine-looking woman. Then we kissed, very worthwhile."

"My friends said I made Khrushchev fall, but I can assure you it is not so. He fell two days after I left."

CASTS SPELL
A visit with Rubinstein in his New York apartment soon puts a visitor under his spell. The master's cheeks glow and his eyes twinkle when he smiles. At 77 he is indefatigable, original, animated, courtly and mischievous.

"If I told you what I do in a year," Rubinstein says lifting both hands, "you would faint. I always play around 100 concerts a year, and after concerts there are parties and cigars and television. I sleep very little."

"Two things I have to see published, that I couldn't live without concerts and that if there was a law you couldn't get money for concerts, I'd play anyway. Managers who read that can get much more cheeky with me. Hurok gives me too many concerts and I say, 'You shouldn't have done it.' He says, 'You love it.'"

Until the end of March, Rubinstein is on a 21-city tour in this country. He will be in Dallas Feb. 28, then Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, New York, Pittsburgh, Ithaca, Albany, Cleveland and Washington. And he still finds time for recordings.

Between Christmas and New Year's he recorded all of Chopin's mazurkas — three long-playing records for RCA Victor. More than five million Rubinstein recordings have been sold.

Teenager Wins Figure Skating Title

DAVOS, Switzerland (AP) — Graceful Peggy Fleming, a 17-year-old high school student from Colorado Springs, Colo., is the heroine today of America's amazing comeback in world figure skating competition.

Miss Fleming captured the women's title in the World Figure Skating Championships Sunday with a thrilling free-skating performance that earned her first place votes from all nine judges.

CUTTING A FINE FIGURE Peggy Fleming grabs title for Yanks

The pretty teenager was only 12 years old when America's 18-member figure skating team was wiped out in the tragic Brussels plane crash in 1961. Her victory here culminates the American comeback.

The Americans dominated the 13-nation competition here, winning five medals. Team Manager Norm E. Fuller was delighted with the showing.

Bangor Will Take Terrell-Clay Battle

CHICAGO (AP) — Pittsburgh is out of the running for the Cassius Clay-Ernie Terrell fight, and Chicago is likely to be after today.

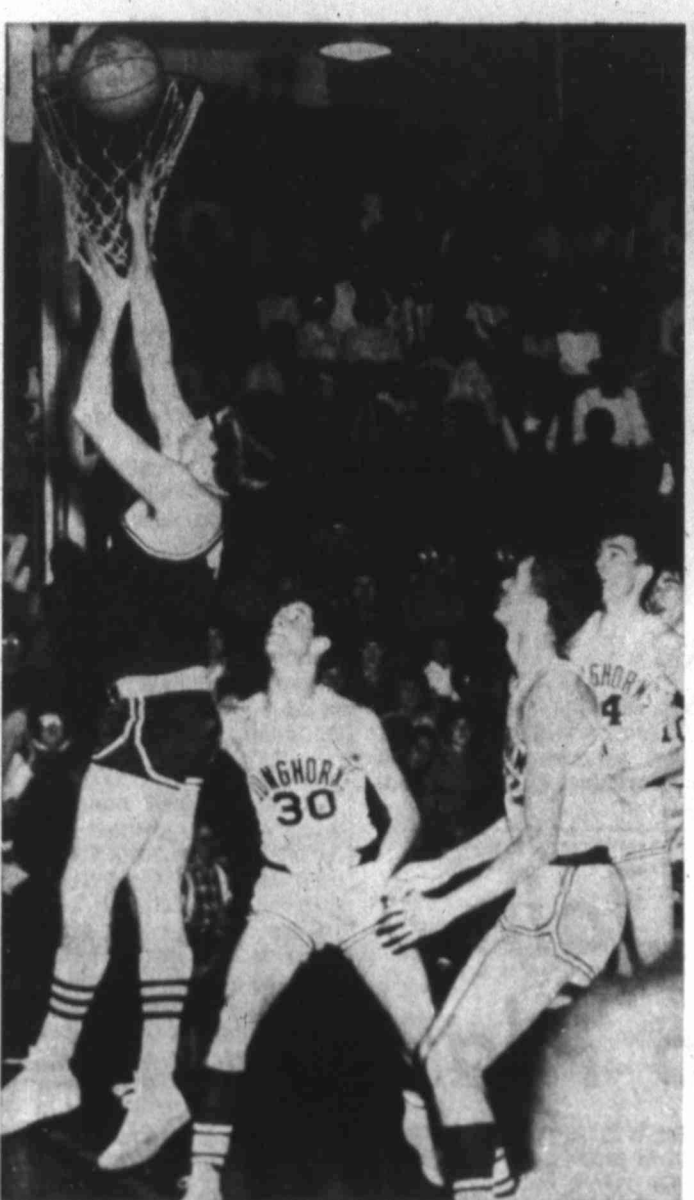

But not Bangor, Maine. The State of Maine, host to the highly controversial, loudly disputed and generally derided second fight between Clay and Sonny Liston, made a bid for Clay-Terrell Sunday night, a bid that depends on the action of the Illinois Athletic Commission.

The Illinois commission was scheduled to resume its hearings today on whether to allow the fight to go on. Most observers feel there is little chance the commission will give it the go-ahead.

And a Pittsburgh promoter withdrew an offer to stage the bout if it's kicked out of Illinois. But a spokesman for Sam Michael, co-promoter of the Clay-Liston fight in Lewiston, Maine, said Sunday night that efforts are being made to get the fight staged in Bangor.

The announcement was made by Joseph L. Michael, brother and business associate of the promoter.

The Illinois Commission recessed its hearing Friday when Clay, who had been expected to apologize for making "unpatriotic remarks," turned the meeting into a shouting match with Commissioner Joe Robichaux.

Newcomers Vie For Championships

Twenty-two teams, most of whom are making the trip for the first time, go to Austin this week for the 46th Texas school-boy basketball tournament.

There are only two defending champions in the field and only five of the teams were there last year.

Everybody's new in the Class AAAA division where Lubbock Monterey (26-2), Dallas Samuell (29-3), Houston Memorial (32-4) and Austin McCallum (22-7) battle for the title. Houston Jones held last year, Dallas Samuell is most likely to get the favorite's tag.

Three of the four in Class AAA are making it for the first time — Andrews (26-3), Kilgore (25-4) and San Antonio Marshall (28-3). Only Clear Creek (26-3) is an old hand at tournament play. It won the title in 1965. It might be the favorite this time.

Dampier Is Big Reason For Kentucky's Success

Louie Dampier, at only 6 feet almost a basketball oddity, is a prime reason why unbeaten Kentucky is headed for its 15th appearance in the NCAA tournament and a chance for an unprecedented fifth championship.

Oregon State retained a 1½ game lead in the Pacific Athletic Conference with a 54-47 victory over Washington State while the University of Pacific snapped San Francisco's 34-game home-court winning streak 82-71 and grabbed a one-game lead over the Dons in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Braves' Trial Starts Today

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The trial of Wisconsin's antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League begins today, opening the climactic phase of Milwaukee's fight to stay alive as a major league city and threatening the very structure of baseball.

Lawyers in the Milwaukee County Circuit Court case are not hazarding guesses on when the trial will end. They say it will take at least one week and possibly could drag on through March.

The Russians, who run very well, decided to walk instead. So they walked right out of the AAU national indoor track and field championships in Albuquerque this weekend.

Tech is the only other team with even a chance of sharing the title, but then only if SMU and A&M lose both of their remaining games while the Red Raiders win theirs.

Bullets Pierce Celtic Shield

Five weeks ago the Boston Celtics were Bullet-proof. Today they're an entry on the ballistics report.

The slum-bang race comes to a crashing close Thursday night as Texas A&M tries to topple Arkansas in the Ozarks and Southern Methodist plays vengeful Texas Tech at Dallas. Tech beat Southern Methodist 100-83 at Lubbock in January. The Aggies beat Arkansas 75-72 at College Station.

HPC Goes For Crown

Howard Payne, which won the Lone Star Conference basketball championship with a 12-2 record and a 3-game lead over the field, launches its bid for a national small college crown tonight.

The Yellow Jackets, with an 18-4 season record, tangle with East Texas Baptist, champion of the Big State Conference, at Brownwood in the first of a 3-game series to see which goes to the NAIA tournament at Kansas City next week.

Red Auerbach's Celtics, who swept their first six games against Baltimore this season, have been cannon-fodder for the Bullets in the last three — all on the Baltimore court. The Bullets whipped them 132-107 Jan. 22, followed up with a 113-94 decision Feb. 5 and rattled them Sunday in the nationally televised game as six players hit for 14 points and up.

Teams Tie In Meet

Dr. W. R. Cashion and Jimmy Montgomery tied with Bob Grimes and Harry Hubbard for top honors in the Country Club partnership tournament Sunday.

A Devotional For The Day

Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. (Galatians 6:1)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, help me never to mimic the doings of an erring crowd, lest I be found wanting. When conscience requires that I be different from the majority of the crowd, sustain me in doing that which is right. For the Master's sake. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

An Important Day

Rarely if ever in history, has so much of such significance happened to so few in such a short time as in Texas from March 2 to April 21, 1836.

Fittingly, Gov. John Connally has issued a proclamation designating this "The Texas Historical Period."

On March 2 a convention met at Washington - on the Brazos - and declared the independence of Texas from Mexico. It was the 42nd birthday of Sam Houston. Four days later a few score Texans at the Alamo, the no-quarter "Deguello" ringing in their ears, fell before the onslaught of thousands of Mexican soldiers headed by President Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna.

Disaster impended. Col. Fannin's force was surrounded and surrendered at Coleto Creek, to be massacred at Goliad on March 27. Houston, now commander-in-chief, had headed to the Alamo's relief; but, hearing of the tragic defeats there and elsewhere, began his long retreat. Meanwhile, a constitution had been adopted, a republic formed, and David Burnet named provisional president.

All was not heroic. Houston's retreat-strategic, as it later proved—triggered the "Runaway Scrape," with Texas settlers scrambling for the safety of the Louisiana border. Santa Anna ploughed eastward with his victorious army, and Burnet's government moved from threatened Harrisburg, near today's Houston, to Galveston.

Then came astonishing victory. Houston's by-passed army of 700-800 men attacked the "Napoleon of the West's" some 1,600 in the afternoon of April 21. Within a few minutes and with only a handful of casualties, the Texans obliterated Santa Anna's forces.

The consequences? Texas became a republic for a decade. Annexation and war with Mexico gave the United States the Rocky Mountain area. The Southwest and the Pacific Coast, and this became a continental power.

In retrospect it is clear that the March 2-April 21 period was one of the most significant in world history. Texans can take profound and eternal pride in the few weeks that changed the face of the globe and irrevocably altered the course of human events.

Bad Time To Cut

While the nation is tiptoeing reluctantly but steadily toward a war footing seems a singularly inappropriate time for a huge, abrupt cut in federal "impact area" aid to public schools burdened by federal activities.

The impact aid program was started in 1950 to relieve school districts which lost taxes through construction of nontaxable federal installations at the same time they were overloaded by children brought into the area by those federal activities. It may be conceded that in 16 years the program has become overly expanded—it now costs $400 million annually—as three administrations have tried to cut it back. It may also be conceded that other massive federal education aid programs have made its need somewhat less pressing.

However, with federal military activities now increasing again, President Johnson's request for a 57 percent cut in the program does seem too much and too abrupt. Affected school districts, without time for local action and state-aid adjustments, may suffer sharply.

The U. S. Office of Education estimates that Texas would be the second largest loser, of nearly $14 million. This local district's aid would drop from $443,713 to $31,055, and many other districts in this area would be hit proportionately.

If the new federal-aid programs do mean that the "impact area" aid program is due curtailment, we think that should be done gradually, phasing it out so as not to harm any district seriously. And it seems both fair and logical that some form of special assistance will continue to be due school districts whose tax revenues are reduced while their student loads are expanded by emergency federal activities. Congress is most unlikely to approve this presidential request as it now stands.

Everybody Passes The Buck

NEW YORK (AP)—What is causing the rising cost of living?

Higher wage scales are blamed—but not by labor.

HIGHER PROFITS are blamed—but not by industry.

Higher markups along the way from producer to consumer are blamed—but not by the middlemen or transportation industry.

INFLATED MONEY and credit supplies are blamed—but not by the monetary authorities.

Speculative fever is blamed—but not

by those who are looking for "a good thing."

UNION LEADERS deny that the spurt in wholesale prices since last summer is due to rising wage scales. They point to the long period of stability before that, when wages were also rising. They defend and stick to their demand for further increases even if higher than government guidelines, saying that industry can afford to pay them and the economy won't suffer for it.

INDUSTRIAL LEADERS say the recent rise in prices, both wholesale and retail, is due in part to developing shortages of materials and labor, in part to the advancing costs of production. They blame everything from the added pressure on the economy from the Viet Nam war to soaring world consumption of goods as prosperity spreads.

BUSINESS LEADERS argue that record profits aren't based on much if any increase in profit margins—the percentage of the sales dollar that is booked as earnings—but on increased sales volume.

Administration leaders deny charges in banking circles that the great increase in money and credit of late is giving the economy the classic inflation of too many dollars chasing too few goods. They hold that, on the contrary, even more money may be needed to finance still more industrial growth if all are to have jobs and prosper.

SOME ECONOMISTS say that the failure of productivity to rise as fast in recent months as formerly is what is pushing up prices now.

All this raises the average cost of producing goods, and causes producers to seek higher prices. With growing demand for goods, competition among producers has slackened, allowing prices to rise.

THAT PRICES have risen is shown by the statistics put out by both government and industry sources. Few see any end to it in sight, at least in the months just ahead.

More Boys

NEW DELHI (AP)—Females are lagging behind in India's population explosion. A government study showed there were 972 women for every 1,000 males in 1901 but only 941 per 1,000 males in 1961.

LBJ Forces Concerned Over House 'Squeaker' Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "squeaker" vote in the House last week has given administration leaders cause for concern over the prospects for pushing costly domestic programs through Congress this year.

It came on a Republican-backed motion to strike from the President's emergency tax bill a provision restoring recent reductions in excise taxes on automobiles and telephone calls. The motion lost by a scant 20 votes out of 394 total votes. The margin of victory for the President's forces was 22 votes east by Republicans against the motion. They were joined by 185 Democrats.

Cats Gain In Popularity

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Man's best friend seems to be slowly being eclipsed in popularity by his own most traditional enemy, the cat. America is reported to have 26 million dogs and 28 million cats, not counting strays.

THINGS ARE looking up for the ordinary housewife. She cooks about 1,000 meals a year. That formerly meant 5 1/2 hours a day in the kitchen; today that figure has been cut to 1 1/2 hours — it says here.

It is catching: The U. S. Public Health Service lists cigarette smoking as a "communicable disease."

Geographical oddity: Alaska claims it is farther north, farther west and farther east than any other U. S. state. Its brag that it is the farthest east comes from the fact that the Aleutian Islands reach so far west that they actually enter the Eastern Hemisphere.

AGE HAS one advantage: The medicine you have to take for what ails you doesn't taste as bitter. This is because the 9,000 taste buds you probably had when young gradually decrease as you grow older.

Quotable notables: "Results! Why, man, I have gotten a lot of results. I know several thousand things that won't work" — Thomas A. Edison.

Safety tip: If you're going to walk, don't drink. Everyone knows the danger of driving a car after imbibing, but liquor is a danger to pedestrians, too. A 1964 study in Pennsylvania found that one out of every four pedestrians killed in traffic accidents had been drinking.

FOLKLORE: If the first robin of spring you see is flying up, you'll have good luck the rest of the year. A child at maturity will weigh roughly 20 times its weight at birth. To cure a stitch in your side that comes from running too fast, lift up a stone, spit on it, and put the stone back in place.

History lesson: Thomas Jefferson was the first U. S. president to start the custom of shaking hands with White House visitors. His predecessors, George Washington and John Adams, usually bowed stiffly and formally to visitors.

QUICKIES: Americans use some 60 million decks of playing cards a year. Crocodiles are found within the United States only in southern Florida. About six cents out of every dollar goes for medical care. Despite the fact no other generation of teenagers seemingly ever lived better, suicide is the third leading cause of death among our children in the 15-to-19 age group.

To Your Good Health

Still Doubts Boric Acid As Home Remedy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: You oppose boric acid as a home remedy, but what do you suggest for an eye-irritation? Also what about irritated baby powders? They contain some boric acid, don't they? — J. P.

Yes, I think boric acid might better be discarded as a home remedy. Its danger is too great a price to pay for its occasional usefulness.

As an eyewash, there is no need to use boric acid. Rinsing the eyes is a function of tears and the natural moisture of the eyes. Medicated washes interfere with Nature's normal irrigation. If a safe irrigant is desired, one can use a weak salt solution: One quarter teaspoonful of salt dissolved in six ounces of warm water.

If, in severe cases, medication is needed, salves can be used on the lower lid, as directed by your doctor, or drops can be applied with a sterile dropper — also according to instructions.

The familiar eye cups are not always clean and sterile, and may introduce a harmful germ when you are hoping only to do some good.

As to baby powders, yes, some are borated, but in my opinion there are nonborated ones which serve the purpose just as well, and do not introduce the risk of boric acid poisoning. The borate, from borated powders, can be absorbed through irritated skin.

I'm not trying to make a campaign of this, but I certainly think that it is wise to take the safer course, especially when the riskier course offers no advantages.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is carrot juice good for the eyes and in what quantities should it be drunk? — F. M.

Carrots (along with a great many other foods) contain carotene, a forerunner of Vitamin A. We all need Vitamin A, and except under most unusual circumstances, we all get it. An extreme lack of it can interfere with night vision, in which case, naturally, Vitamin A helps correct the trouble. But for anyone eating an anywhere-near-normal diet, a surplus of carrots, or other forms of Vitamin A, won't do the eyes any good.

Dear Dr. Molner: Why do some doctors refuse to give people more than one flu shot a year? Where can I go to get two shots annually? I am 52 and the flu shots help me a great deal. — MRS. J. B.

Other than in epidemic conditions, two shots annually are needed only when a person has not been previously vaccinated for flu. The first is a sensitizing shot, and the second builds immunity.

After that, for all practical purposes, one shot a year (a booster) will maintain protection. If a flu epidemic comes along, a second shot is a safeguard, bringing you up to maximum safety at that time.

Dear Sir: I take exception to your answer to the woman asking at what time she would feel quickening. You said that after the fourth month a slight pressure was used to provoke movement of the baby in a pregnant woman. With my third pregnancy I felt movement at 10 weeks, and in my fourth at 11 or 12 weeks. Is this very unusual? — P. D.

Take all the exception you want. I try to give sensible averages. You may not be average. Or you may have mistaken a muscle quiver for movement.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for young people of around 20 to have stomach ulcers? — A. T.

Yes, it is possible. Even very small babies have them, but this is rare.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Anything To Worry About?

Worrying can hardly be listed as a national pastime but everybody indulges in it and most of us are guilty of excesses when it comes to fretting about our real and imagined grievances.

As a matter of fact, a lot of us would be lost if all our problems could be resolved with the snap of a finger and our minds would be left unfettered and free of care.

A healthy young buck of 17 or 18 might think it foolish and asking for trouble for a man 35 years of age and older to brood about the possibility of a heart attack but what mature male doesn't?

WHO AMONG US doesn't worry about the seriousness of the political situation in Southeast Asia, the realization that our nation is probably spending too much money on the space program and not enough on solving the world's food problems? The small fry sometimes develop ulcers over whether they are liked by their teachers and their fellow pupils. Their teachers stew over the prospect that their students might regard them as tyrants or "easy marks" or again over whether their administrative superiors might think they're doing an inadequate job.

MOST EVERYONE broods about the fact that they have to grow old, yet those same people worry over the prospect that they will never get a chance to live out their lives.

A wife often is prone to worry that she will become a widow too soon and will never get the chance or have the inclination to remarry.

THE DISTAFF side often frets, too, because her husband gets to be a "do-nothing" around the house, sitting in front of the TV set or lying on the sofa when there are chores to be done.

Husbands and wives alike worry over the fact that they have become slaves to household appliances, that they are helpless to act when something goes wrong with the electric dryer, refrigerator or the family car.

THEY EVEN worry about how long canned goods will keep and whether they're spending too much to feed pets. If your auto inspection sticker is on the verge of getting out of date, you worry about finding the time to have it renewed or whether anything will be wrong with the family chariot when you do take it to the shop.

The wage earner wonders and stews over the possibility that he might be by-passed for promotion, about Social Security and pensions, about the possibility of termite and hail damage, about theft of lawn furniture and yard equipment.

YOUNG GIRLS soon begin to worry over whether they'll get to marry the kind of man they want or lose him to some one more attractive. You read about the fact that the fruit and vegetables you eat were sprayed with insect poison and you worry over the prospect that it might not be washed off before it gets to your table.

And if you're not the worrying kind, invariably you have to put up with people whose favorite pastime seems to be perturbing other people.

NEVER LET it be said that Americans are not God's chosen people. With the bountiful goodness, though, comes a trait for worrying which few other peoples on the face of the earth develop and polish as we do.

Needed: A United America

WASHINGTON — "This is it" — few people are making such a comment about loud Viet Nam, but many are thinking it to themselves. For more and more it is beginning to be realized that the United States is passing through its biggest crisis since World War II. The conflict in Viet Nam is no small or isolated affair. It has become worldwide in its significance, and it could turn into a larger war if the American people are misled into thinking that "peace at any price" is worthwhile.

The greatest danger is not in Viet Nam but in this country, where well-meaning but confused and uninformed persons are unwittingly engaged in helping to bring on the very calamity they profess to be against — a major war.

NOBODY, OF course, wishes to see a large war precipitated, but this is certain to happen if the enemy begins to take seriously the demonstrations and speeches inside the United States which give an impression of cravenness and weakness. Secretary of Defense McNamara, in his report to Congress last week, said:

"If we and our free-world allies fail to meet the Chinese Communists' challenge in Southeast Asia, we will inevitably have to confront it later under even more disadvantageous conditions. . . . The road ahead will be difficult and sacrifices will be required of our people, both in money and in lives. But we have no other reasonable alternative if we are to preserve the kind of world we want to live in — a world in which each nation is free to develop in its own way, unmolested by its neighbors, free of armed attack from the more powerful nations."

Coal Vs. Atom

WASHINGTON — The best heavy-weight fight of the season, aside from the Viet Nam War, could be the one between coal and the atom.

The outcome could determine which of these power producers is going to dominate the civilian market in the energy field for the next couple of decades.

LATE LAST MONTH coal scored a technical victory over the atom in a crucial round of their continuing bout. A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission, director Milton Shaw of the Reactor Development and Technology Division, told Capitol Hill that we should slow down for further study before constructing new plants for civilian use of atomic energy. This concession, though hardly noticed by the general public, expressed a definite reversal of policy by the AEC. And it represented a temporary victory by the National Coal Association over the scientific community.

The atomic scientists declared for a crash program to construct a Large Seed-Blanket Reactor (LSBR) which would have supplied electricity to pump water over the mountains into Southern California.

THE MAGNATES of the coal industry, quite naturally, argued for delay. There are 800 billion tons of bituminous coal in the American earth, enough to last us for at least 400 years. The coal merchants have an undisguised self-interest in wishing to merchandise their fuel, and the Congressional investigators were at first skeptical of the special pleading.

BUT, AS SO often happens, it takes the vim that goes with special interests to bring out both sides of a case. The coal spokesmen contended that federal subsidies had rightly developed atomic energy to a point where it has become a respected rival of oil, natural gas, falling water and coal as an energy producer. Further subsidy, however, would not create more competition, but would crush the competition that now exists. Moreover, the atomic scientists had their own vested interests, no less selfish than the coal merchants had.

"WE SHOULD not find it surprising," said Bruce O'Brien, the National Coal Association's general counsel, "that the AEC seems to pay almost as much attention to Parkinson's law as it does to Einstein's theory. Parkinson's law, as you recall, states that the work of an organization expands to occupy the available manpower. . . . The AEC built up a capable staff and promoted an ever-increasing budget . . . to develop civilian nuclear power. . . . The main beneficiaries would be the AEC itself and the industrial firms which hope to manufacture and sell these reactors regardless of whether they are best for the nation."

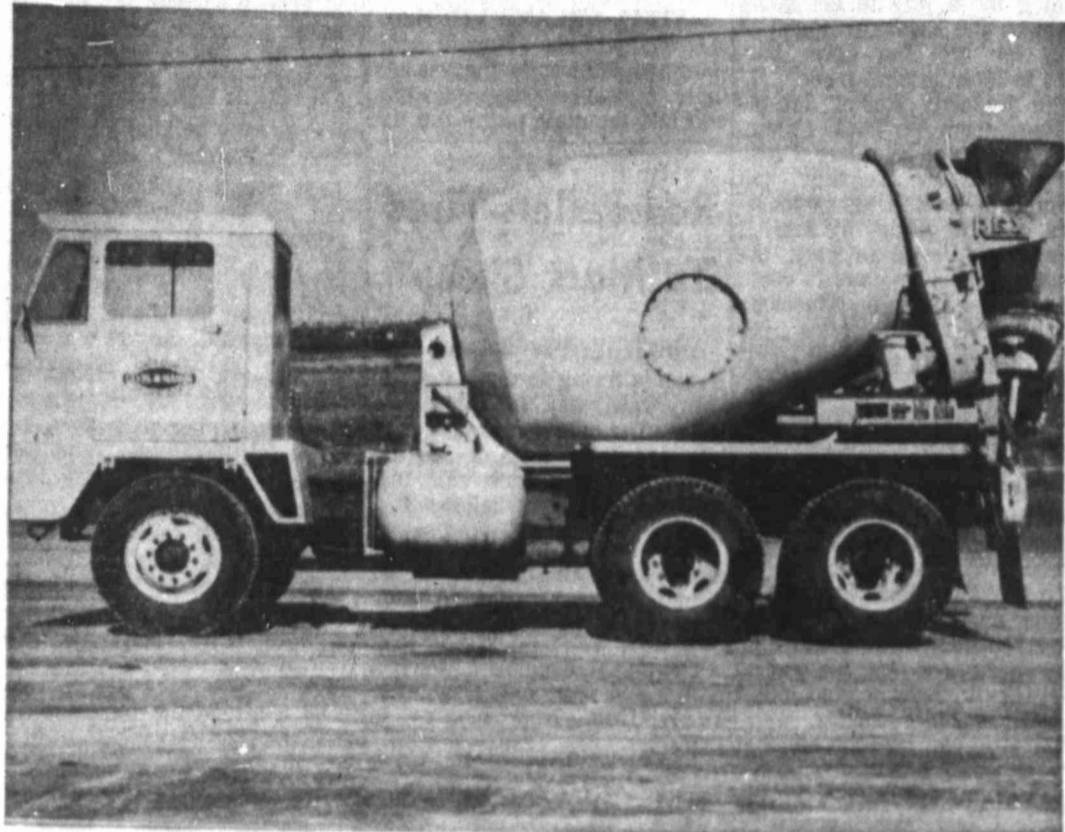

IT IS NOT very often that atomic scientists, who are held in so much awe these days, are accused of being grasping and proliferating bureaucrats.

To days after Christmas, in the trough of the dull season for Washington activity, the AEC announced cancellation of the Large Seed-Blanket Reactor for the California Department of Water Resources. This decision was followed in late February by the apparent determination not to put up any new plants for awhile.

For those who follow this sort of sport, it was a startling upset. Coal, the tired veteran and supposed has-been, had rocked the young giant atom back on his heels.

BIG AND READY TO ROLL
This huge Clyde McMahon truck and others like it are always ready for any concrete job

McMahon's Products Are Time And Labor-Savers

Clyde McMahon Concrete Co. begun over 12 years ago with only one truck, has now grown into a big company with a large fleet of trucks which haul large loads to any job in the Howard County area.

Energy and efficiency have also paid off in additions to the firm, which now handles all kinds of concrete equipment and materials for doing the work — including, tools for "doing it yourself."

The plant, located on the Snyder Highway, north of Big Spring, is open from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily, except Saturday, when the hours are 7 a.m. to noon. There are plenty of employees ready to serve customers with all types of service.

Huge mixing hoppers have been set up on the lot where trucks just back under the chutes and load, an extra-ordinarily fast method of loading proper mixture for any kind of job, including foundations, bridges, culverts, sidewalks, driveways, curbs and gutters, street pavement — anything else concrete can do, or the customer needs.

Whether the job is large or small makes no difference. Just set your forms and call McMahon's big radio-equipped trucks. The driver pulls into your location, unloads the amount of ready-mix you need of the kind you want, and is off again.

Where folks once had to use a wash tub, wheel barrow or wooden "mixing box" to get a small job done, they now may eliminate the drudgery, and the back-breaking problem of mixing the concrete with a hoe, shovel or by hand.

features Whiteman finishing machines and tools to complete the work on the poured concrete. Rotary blades finish off the mixture to the proper surface, far different from the time when you did it with trowels or a piece of "two-by-four."

Also handled by McMahon's are Eveready brick saws and blades, expansion joint material, wire mesh for re-enforcement, re-enforcing steel rods, Richmond snap ties, Remington stud drivers for driving studs or nails into concrete, wheel barrows for brick, tile or concrete, vibrators for settling and eliminating air pockets in concrete pourings, and all kinds of small tools for concrete or mason work.

Many finished products are available from the company. Among them are concrete tile in several sizes and patterns; precast flower bed borders; concrete tables, benches, parking curbs (movable), and rounded top and corner tiles.

Whenever you are considering any kind of concrete job, big or small, or need concrete products, call Clyde McMahon at AM 4-6348, or drop by the plant and look over his extensive supply.

Rug Shampooer
The Blue Lustre rug shampooer, used with Blue Lustre carpet cleanser-foam, turns a dirty chore into a pleasant, no-mess cleaning delight.

White Music Features Baldwin, Kimball Pianos

A fine line of Baldwin and Kimball pianos are available at White Music Co., 1903 Gregg.

New at White's is the model home organ from Baldwin, a three-channel stereo model, which is "really great," according to Les White. The organ features extra voices of string bass, manual and pedal brushes.

Besides new Baldwin and Kimball pianos and organs, White's carries a wide selection of used pianos and organs and features excellent buys in used guitars and amplifiers, White said.

Local bank financing and immediate service are available at the firm.

Get Cleaner Rugs With Blue Lustre

The everyday tracked-in soil of inclement weather has always been a problem for housewives who desire to keep their rugs and carpets clean. It's not much of a problem anymore, though, if you know about Blue Lustre Carpet and Upholstery Cleaner and the advantage of renting an electric shampoo machine with it—cheaply.

Blue Lustre is helpful any time of the year, including removing the dirt left by feet which have been out in the snow, ice and mud we've been having so much of lately.

Big Spring Hardware, 117 Main, handles both the fine shampoo and the equally fine shampoo machine. The shampoo is a genuinely premium quality rug shampoo which is safe for even the finest oriental rugs and all other types, offering thorough cleaning at little cost, bringing back the original forgotten beauty of dull colors and leaving the nap of the carpeting open and fluffy, as it was when you bought it.

Dealers who handle Blue Lustre have available a very efficient electric carpet shampooer which you can rent for only $1 per day when you buy Blue Lustre shampoo. The easily-portable electric shampooer can be carried conveniently in your car and is designed so that the twin brushes adjust automatically to the carpet nap, providing excellent cleaning action. It is simple and very easy to use and the method by which it dispenses Blue Lustre foam shampoo avoids overwetting of carpets or rugs.

Of all the types of rug shampooers, the Blue Lustre machine is a first-water gem at getting carpets and rugs really clean with the least trouble and time. You will find this new, ultra-modern method of carpet cleaning for yourself is a real time-and-money saver of an enterprise. It takes only one gallon of Blue Lustre concentrate to clean three 9x12 rugs, or the equivalent. Go by Big Spring Hardware for Blue Lustre and the shampooer when you are getting ready to clean the rugs. It is well worth your time.

Dodge Autos Guaranteed

Most buyers look for service and dependability when it comes to choosing a new car. Dodge owners have long realized the great importance of a warranty that protects against defects in the most important part of any automobile—the "power train."

The Chrysler-built Dodges carry just such a warranty to insure your protection against failure for five years or for 50,000 miles, whichever comes first. If the motor car owner produces evidence of normal service, as is called for in the warranty, he can have trouble corrected in the service department of any dealer in the United States. The warranty goes with the car if sold before the end of the five years or before 50,000 miles are up.

Included in the wonderful warranty are the engine, transmission, differential, and other parts that keep the car in steady motion.

DEAR ABBY

Doctor's Trust

DEAR ABBY: If you were a trusted friend and family physician would you tell the parents of a 16-year-old girl that their daughter came to you requesting a prescription for birth control pills? MADISON, M.D.

DEAR ABBY: At 28, I married a man 12 years my senior. He had been married previously, but his wife died. (They had no children.) After 14 years of marriage, my husband still insists on keeping in touch with a former sister-in-law.

DEAR WHAT: Don't be a hypocrite. If you don't want her in your home, don't suggest that your husband invite her. Tell him that for him to call regularly on this woman, knowing the kind of reputation she has, is damaging to his own. Let him know that you disapprove, and unequivocally. It may not stop the "talks" — but at least he'll know you weren't born yesterday.

DEAR ABBY: A relative came to my home for Sunday supper at noon. She ate, helped with the dishes, and played cards until 10 o'clock that evening. She did all this with her hat on. I have never heard of anything like that being done. Is this an old custom?

FARM FOLKS DEAR FOLKS: If it is an "old custom," it is news to me. Maybe it was a new hat.

Strikes Endanger Chilean Economy

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A wave of labor trouble, much of it Communist inspired, threatens to upset Chile's wobbly economy. Strikes and slowdowns have hit basic industries and public services.

There is fairly general agreement that the situation will get worse before it gets better despite a pledge by the government to use every legal weapon against the strikers.

KENNECOTT STRIKE The country is faced with the prospect that a two-month strike against the Kennecott Corp. will become a nationwide copper strike and that a slowdown in the ports will turn into a strike this week.

Strikes soon on the government railway system and in the national health service also have been threatened if contract demands are not met.

Electric power, steel, telephone and nitrate workers are to begin negotiating new contracts soon. Union leaders say they will be much tougher this year.

BLEAK PICTURE The copper picture is the bleakest. Copper is Chile's basic industry, employing the largest work force and accounting for the majority of exports and foreign exchange.

Russian Space Probes Said Nearing Venus

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet space probes are supposed to be nearing Venus. The first may pass the cloud-draped planet within the next few days, perhaps Tuesday.

The second, launched into an orbit around the sun four days after the first, is due near Venus about Saturday.

The Soviets have made no official announcements on the progress of the two Venus probes since Dec. 24 when they were about a third of the way to Venus.

But Mstislav Keldysh, president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, told a news conference Feb. 10 that both satellites were due near Venus about March 1. He said radio communication with both probes was continuing.

Venus 2 and Venus 3 were launched last Nov. 12 and Nov. 16 in an effort "to add to our knowledge and obtain additional information about Venus and outer space," according to a brief, vague official announcement.

Common Mart Bloc Mulls Customs Cut

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Europe's Common Market meets today in its first full session in nearly eight months, looking for a way to get going again on the Kennedy Round of talks for breaking down barriers to international trade.

The Kennedy Round derives its name from the Trade Expansion Act which the late President John F. Kennedy put through in 1962. It seeks to reduce customs duties by half. If it succeeds, even in part, the boost to American exports could help end the drain on American gold reserves.

CLOSED DOORS The scheduled two-day Common Market session will be held as usual behind closed doors. It will be attended by top Cabinet members from the six member-countries — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

French President Charles de Gaulle blackballed Britain when it tried to join three years ago. Now there is a new interest in bringing in Britain and other West European countries. But little can be done about it here. Nothing new can happen until De Gaulle gives some official sign that he has changed his mind.

United States at the Kennedy Round talks in Geneva. These talks have been stalled since last July because of a virtual French boycott on Common Market activities, which arose out of De Gaulle's fear that the organization was acquiring too much power — acting as if it were already a kind of United States of Europe.

Last month Cabinet ministers from the six countries met in Luxembourg. It became clear that each of the governments would continue to hold a veto over major decisions, as De Gaulle insisted, despite a treaty provision that would have abolished this veto on Jan. 1.

TIGHTER REINS The ministers also tightened the reins on the people De Gaulle feared most: the nine-member Executive Commission under Chairman Walter Hallstein. The commission is not directly responsible to the six member nations, and in De Gaulle's view it has been showing too much independence. He refused to let it attend the Luxembourg session.

Red Pellets Fired To Mark Sheep

AUSTIN (AP)—Biologist Phil Evans is trying to mark Aoudad sheep this year with red capsules. The non-penetrating pellets are fired from a special-made carbon dioxide rifle manipulated in a light helicopter.

The marking attempts are an effort to obtain information on herd movement and total number.

The sheep originated in North Africa and were first brought to Texas from New Mexico in 1897.

Changes In Requirements

According to Erven Fisher, district manager of Social Security in Big Spring, an important change concerning the disability provisions was made in the 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act.

He said so much information has been published about "Medicare" that many people are unaware that other important changes have taken place.

Before the amendments a person had to have an illness or injury which was expected to continue indefinitely or result in death. Now, a worker can meet this requirement if he has a severe impairment which has lasted, or is expected to last, for as little as 12 continuous months. This is the first change in the definition of disability in the 11-year history of the disability program.

Anyone who has previously filed for disability and was denied because his condition was expected to improve in the near future, should recontact his Social Security office. He may now be eligible for payments under this change.

Fisher emphasized that many claimants for disability benefits are turned down because they have not worked long enough in employment where they paid Social Security taxes. The work requirement has not changed. In addition to meeting the disability requirement, a person still must have worked and paid in to the Social Security program for about five years during the 10-year period before he became disabled.

AF Base To Host Army

HOUSTON (AP)—The major Army map exercise to be conducted at Ellington Air Force Base April 24-May 8 will be the first time such an Army exercise has been conducted at an Air Force base.

More than 1,100 officers and enlisted men of the Army Reserve, National Guard and the Air Force from five states will participate in the tactical exercise, "Clover Leaf X."

The exercise, largest to be held at a Texas military base this year, will test the participating units' tactical proficiency. Training in nuclear and guerrilla warfare will be included.

The 75th Maneuver Area Command, a Houston based Army Reserve unit, will prepare, direct and control the exercise.

Other participating units include the 36th Infantry Division, Texas National Guard; 49th Armored Division, Texas National Guard; 39th Infantry Division, Louisiana and Arkansas National Guard; 45th Infantry Division, Oklahoma National Guard; 111th Air Defense Artillery Brigade and 200th Air Defense Artillery Group, both of the New Mexico National Guard, and elements of the 12th U.S. Air Force, Waco, Tex.

AFL-CIO Council Tackles LBJ's Anti-Strike Proposal

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council takes up another sore point with the White House today in discussing President Johnson's antistrike proposal.

"There are grave problems for the government, labor, industry and the states" in any such new legislation, a spokesman for AFL-CIO President George Meany said.

Although the labor leaders say they have no details on what Johnson might recommend to Congress, they fear any antistrike legislation would curb their ultimate weapon.

CAMPS SNIPE

Discussion of Johnson's antistrike proposal comes after two weeks of sniping between the AFL-CIO and the Johnson administration over White House efforts to hold down wage increases, how much of a minimum-wage increase should be recommended to Congress, and complaints that the Democratic administration has not lived up to its political promises to labor.

Although no legislation reportedly is being drafted at the moment to curb strikes, the Labor

Department has been working on drafts that could lead to a bill for Congress to consider.

Johnson first broached the proposal in his State of the Union message, saying he would ask Congress to consider measures to deal with strikes that threaten irreparable harm to the national interest.

REJECT GUIDELINES

On the economic front, AFL-CIO leaders still refuse to accept White House guidelines that attempt to hold wage increases to 3.2 per cent a year.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said Sunday that "We've got to press harder" to persuade both labor and business to hold down wage and price increases that threaten inflation.

Wirtz, target of some harsh statements by Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders after he had spoken to them here, said in Washington on "Meet the Press" over NBC: "We're not in a popularity contest."

But on the dispute over the amount of a minimum-wage increase, sources close to Meany leaked word that the AFL-CIO is ready to compromise by accepting increases in the present $1.25 federal minimum wage to $1.40 this year, $1.50 next year and $1.60 in 1968.

ADMINISTRATION PLAN

The White House position reportedly has been for an increase to $1.40 this year, $1.60 in 1968 — with no increase in 1967.

Wirtz is due here again Tuesday to address a meeting of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, but there's no report that a meeting with Meany is scheduled.

OAS Council Power Plan Debate Begins

PANAMA (AP) — A U.S. proposal to give broad new powers to the Council of the Organization of American States to settle disputes appears headed for tough sledding in a special 20-nation committee which opens a four-week meeting here today.

The committee is to draw up reforms to the OAS Charter to revitalize the inter-American system's political, economic and cultural action.

The draft amendments will be taken up by a special meeting of inter-American foreign ministers to be held in Buenos Aires in July.

SENT AMENDMENTS

The United States sent the committee a series of amendments Sunday to empower the presently powerless OAS Council to take up disputes between member states.

A dispute could be put before the council by one of the nations involved or by any member of the OAS. The council could recommend provisional measures to prevent aggravation of a dispute, conduct fact-finding investigations in the territory of nations which agreed to that, and recommend procedures for settling the dispute.

At present the council can not act in a dispute. It can only call a consultation meeting of foreign ministers to consider urgent problems.

BORDER DISPUTE

Ecuador, which has a long border dispute with Peru, also has proposed a series of charter amendments which would enable the council to take up "any situation or controversy between two or more member states, either on its own initiative or when asked by one of the interested parties or by a resolution of a foreign ministers' meeting."

Delegates from some other Latin-American nations view the proposals with concern. They fear they might give the council too much power which could lead to the reopening of old controversies, such as border disputes.

OTHER PROPOSALS

Another series of U.S. proposals would give the secretary-general of the OAS power to bring before the council or a proposed annual assembly of inter-American foreign ministers any matter which he considers of danger to the peace and security of the hemisphere.

The secretary-general at present is mainly an administrative officer.

Ex-Missionary Dies In Electra

ELECTRA, Tex. (AP)—The Rev. M. P. Hines, 93, retired Methodist minister and at one time a missionary to the Kiowa and Comanche Indians, has died.

Services for the Rev. Mr. Hines, who died Saturday, were planned for today. He began his ministry in 1894 at the South Bonham Methodist Church in Fannin County.

Brimmer To Shun Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A middle-of-the-road economist nominated for a seat on the Federal Reserve Board said today he will steer clear of what he termed the "great debate" on the nation's monetary policy.

Andrew J. Brimmer, now assistant secretary of commerce for economic affairs, was asked in an interview if he had taken a position of the issue of "tight" or "easy money."

"No, and I don't intend to — certainly not at this point," replied the 39-year-old former college professor.

14-YEAR TERM

President Johnson named Brimmer, a Negro, to a 14-year term on the seven-member board Saturday. If confirmed by the Senate, he will succeed C. Canby Balderston, whose term has expired, and will be the first Negro to serve on the board.

Johnson criticized the board in December when it voted 4 to 3, with Balderston in the majority, to increase from 4 to 4½ per cent the discount rate banks pay the Federal Reserve when they borrow money.

This had the effect of pushing up the rate the individual borrower pays for credit.

In announcing the nomination, Johnson described Brimmer as a "man of moderation." News-men promptly placed the middle-of-the-road tag on Brimmer, and he doesn't object. Brimmer said, "I don't consider that a bad thing."

Brimmer turned aside other questions on the "tight money" issue, saying it would be inappropriate for him to "get into the affairs of the board."

"I want to look at the issues in as clear-headed manner as possible," he said.

William McChesney Martin, Federal Reserve chairman who supported the discount rate increase, reportedly had expressed hope that Johnson would select a member of the business community to succeed Balderston.

HAILS RECORD

But Martin hailed Brimmer's "very commendable record" as a member of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in 1955-58.

The bulk of Brimmer's economic experience has been in the academic field. He obtained bachelor's and master's degrees at the University of Washington, a doctorate at Harvard, spent a year in India under a Fulbright scholarship and taught at the University of Washington, Harvard, College of New York, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the University of Pennsylvania.

Brimmer joined the Commerce Department three years ago. He frequently sat in on conferences with the President's Council of Economic Advisers and representatives of other agencies, including the Federal Reserve Board.

Mechanical Heart Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—A mechanical heart will one day substitute for the human heart in cases where such a device is needed, a Texas heart surgeon predicts.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, professor of surgery at the Baylor University Medical School, Houston, made the observation Sunday on a taped television show of an open-heart operation he performed on a girl.

He said the natural heart was a "very efficient pump."

Dr. DeBakey added that medical science is getting nearer to perfecting a mechanical substitute for the heart.

Apollo Brings Moon Nearer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The spectacularly successful maiden launching of an unmanned Apollo moonship has strengthened hopes that three men can ride one of the ships into earth orbit late this year and to the moon within two or three years.

A Saturn IB, most powerful rocket ever launched by this nation, roared flawlessly through its initial launching Saturday and drilled the Apollo 310 miles into space.

BLISTERING DIVE
The spacecraft made a fiery dive back through the atmosphere and was protected from searing temperatures up to 5,000 degrees by a heat shield. The 11,000-pound cabin section, the part in which astronauts will ride toward the moon and back to earth, separated and rode three 83-foot parachutes to a gentle landing in the South Atlantic Ocean 5,300 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy. The flight lasted 39 minutes.

The cabin landed only 20 miles from the aiming point and the aircraft carrier Boxer had it aboard slightly more than two hours later. The carrier was returning the craft for more detailed examination.

EXCELLENT SHAPE
Preliminary study showed the spaceship came through in excellent condition.

Two more unmanned Saturn IB launchings are to precede the first manned Apollo trip. The first, in June, is to hurl an Apollo ship two-thirds of the way around the world to subject the heat shield to a longer period of high temperatures. The second will boost the second stage into orbit to study the effect of long weightlessness on liquid hydrogen fuel.

If these two unmanned shots are successful, a trio of astronauts will take an earth orbit trip of 8 to 14 days in November or December.

SATURN 5
The first unmanned launching of the man-to-the-moon Saturn 5, which is five times more powerful than the Saturn IB, is scheduled next January.

The present U.S. goal is to land astronauts on the moon by 1970. If all launchings are as successful as Saturday's, the historic adventure could be attempted on the fourth Saturn 5 — presently scheduled in January, 1968.

However, less optimistic NASA officials feel there will be normal development problems and delays and that 1969 is a more likely date.

P-TA To Meet
COAHOMA (SC) — The Parent-Teacher Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the high school auditorium with F. M. Keese, registrar at Howar County Junior College, as the speaker. The topic is "Money (yours, and how to save it)," and the program deals with scholarships, the types and how they may be obtained. Mrs. G. B. Harding is the president.

Cross Bound For Prison

Cross Goes To Prison

AUSTIN (AP) — James C. Cross Jr. left the Travis County jail at about 8:30 a.m. today for the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Cross, convicted of murder last week in the sex-strangled slaying of two pretty University of Texas coeds, was handcuffed and chained to Ed Gullion, convicted and sentenced to prison on a charge of sodomy.

WITH DEPUTY
A lone deputy sheriff accompanied the two prisoners in a private car for the ride to Huntsville. "I want to start serving my sentence and do something good in the future," said Cross, 21, son of a Fort Worth executive.

LIFE SENTENCE
Cross was assessed a life sentence by an Austin jury in the slaying of Susan Rigby July 13. Dist. Atty. Tom Blackwell said the indictment on a charge of murder in the slaying of Shirley Ann Stark would be kept pending. Both girls were 21 and from Dallas.

Cross will be eligible for consideration for parole when he has credit for serving 15 years. By good behavior, serving as a trustee, and other means Cross' sentence actually can be reviewed after he has served only about 7½ years.

'Lack Of Notice Paid Red Peril' Frets Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Laotian officials are worried that the focus on Viet Nam is drawing attention away from what they regard as the Communist threat to Laos.

They admit that this is only logical because of the involvement of American combat troops there. But if the Vietnamese question is settled without proper solution of the Laotian problem, they say, the Communist threat to other Southeast Asian countries — particularly Thailand — will remain wide open.

DIPLOMATS AGREE
Some Western diplomats here concur with these views. Says one: "Today South Viet Nam is being pictured as the front door of Communist expansion to Southeast Asia. But in fact Laos is its back door. If you close one and leave the other, all the efforts one has made in South Viet Nam would be futile."

Laotian Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma, reflecting his concern about the little attention given to Laos, said in an interview: "People talk too much about the interference of the United States in Viet Nam although the United States didn't sign the 1954 Geneva accords."

MORE SERIOUS
"People talk too little about North Vietnamese interference in Laos, although Hanoi was a signatory of the 1962 Geneva agreements on Laos. This is much more serious."

The 91,000 square-mile landlocked kingdom of Laos is often considered the keystone nation of the Southeast Asian peninsula. Laos, Viet Nam and Cambodia composed French Indochina.

Laos borders six other countries — Burma, Red China, North Viet Nam, South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Thailand. The border with Thailand runs 1,090 miles, including 500 miles along the Mekong River. It is a loose frontier, mostly jungle, extremely difficult to police, an easy route for trained guerrilla infiltrators.

LAOS AIDED
The United States is committed to the defense of pro-Western Thailand and is quietly helping Laos stop Communist aggression. An eventual Communist takeover of Laos and subsequent drive across the nearly open frontier into Thailand could result in another American deep commitment in this part of the world.

Some Laotian officials and foreign diplomats believe that the Laotian problem will disappear when the South Vietnamese issue is settled.

Less optimistic Laotian officials and diplomats see things differently. They base their judgment on experiences in dealing with the actions of the North Vietnamese and Communist Chinese, both supporting the Laotian pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

Foreseer Of Radio Says Best Coming

NEW YORK (AP) — David Sarnoff turned 75 recently, which surprised a lot of people. It happens like that when a man becomes a legend in his own lifetime. People always seem to be mildly surprised to learn that he still walks among them. And Sarnoff, in his own time, has become many legends to many people.

A generation of Americans grew up with the image of young Sarnoff hunched over a clacking wireless key atop a New York department store maintaining the only contact between the survivors of the SS Titanic and the waiting world in 1912.

FORESAW RADIOS
Others remember him as the employee whose memo to the boss — "I have in mind a plan of development which would make radio a household utility. The idea is to bring music into the home by wireless" — eventually helped give birth to a new industry, commercial radio.

To still others, he is the embodiment of the American dream, the poor little immigrant boy from Minsk, the school dropout who, through diligence and perseverance, rose to head the Radio Corp. of America, the giant of the industry he helped to create.

But, even as he approaches the three-quarters of a century mark, Sarnoff is more concerned with the future than he is with the past. If he had it to do all over again he would rather be born today, for, he says, "the best is yet to be."

The future, to Sarnoff, looks like this:
An all-purpose television screen mounted on the wall will bring into your living room not only television and radio but books, magazines and newspapers as well. The push of a button or the flick of a switch will turn electronic impulses into printed pages to be read at leisure.

Satellites in orbits synchronized to the earth's rotation will broadcast from anywhere directly to anywhere else in a universal language — derived largely from English — understood by everyone in addition to his or her native tongue.

COME GRADUALLY
The first thing to recognize is that changes in the social, economic and political areas come upon us gradually, sometimes without our knowledge. Those who want to see those changes think of them in terms of their own generation. They take more time than that.

Negro Complains Of Haircut White Gave

MADISON, N.J. (AP) — Thomas Sellers, 16-year-old Negro, finally got his hair cut by a white barber after a two-year battle, but the quality of the haircut has started a new controversy.

His father, Thomas Sellers Jr., said Sunday he will file a complaint with the Board of Barbers Examiners over the haircut that the Negro boy got from Peter Triolo.

"LAWN HACKING"
"It looks like some nut had run through a lawn hacking in advertently with a sickle," the boy said.

A week ago the New Jersey Supreme Court upheld an order by the State Division of Civil Rights that barber Philip Gatti of Madison must cut the hair of the elder Sellers and of Reginald Barrow, also a Negro.

They had filed a complaint against Gatti in 1964 after they were refused service. Gatti's shop was picketed by civil

The Bride's In A Flutter

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Protect Utensils In Plastic Wrapping

Dear Heloise: To protect my coated, non-stick cook ware, I store them in plastic bags so they can be stacked inside each other without damaging the finish. The plastic also keeps out dust, so the pans are always clean and ready for immediate use. . . Mrs. J. L.

Absolutely great. Think of all the expensive skillets and pans you will save us. Bless you always. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: How about those boxes that say, "Press here to open"? Do you break nails, and hurt your fingers trying? Use the bowl of a spoon under your thumb! What a temper saver, too. . . Dot

Dear Heloise: My friends keep urging me to tell you how I carry my house key in my purse. Well, here is my solution . . . my husband's old watch chain! One fastening goes through the hole in the zipper pull on one of the pockets of the purse, and the other end holds the door key. All I have to do is to pull up on the chain, and the key comes up from the bottom of my purse! . . . Mildred Demaree Jones

Dear Heloise: Save all plastic covers from your coffee cans, dips, etc., and you will soon have a variety. These make the most wonderful coasters under coffee mugs, pop bottles, water glasses, flower vases, or on your bedside table for medicines (especially the gooey kind such as cough syrup), or for syrup, honey and cream pitchers on your breakfast table—just about anything that might leak or spill. I find these plastic lids priceless. . . LaValle Fleetwood.

Dear Heloise: Empty plastic lotion bottles, with tops discarded, make nice, safe water toys for baby while taking his bath. . . Mother of Four

Dear Heloise: Here's one I hope you can use: I use paper place mats, which make a very neat table. After the meal is over, I use the soiled mats to dry the table after it has been wiped off with a damp cloth. So, the mats serve double duty. . . Mrs. Irvin Juneau

Dear Heloise: When I have company for dinner and serve steaks, I discovered that I can please everyone, by serving their steaks exactly as they like them. Steaks to be served rare, medium or well-done can all be placed on the grill at the same time and cooked for the same length of time. Here's what I do: I use frozen steaks for rare, partly-thawed steaks for medium, and unfrozen steaks for well-done. So . . . everyone is happy with their steaks! . . . Robin Ingram

Dear Heloise: My husband keeps his wooden matches dry, when on a fishing trip or picnic, by coating the entire match with colorless nail polish and allowing it to dry. . . Marjorie Stanley

(Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Club Group Reminded Of Pro-Am

Seven tables of duplicate bridge players gathered at Couden Country Club for the Sunday afternoon games. North-south winners were Mrs. Ron Kibler and Mrs. Wally Slate, first; Mrs. Rogers Hefley and Mrs. Riley Foster, second; and Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, third. In the east-west position, Mrs. Ayra McGann and George D. Pike placed first. Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish tied with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Steyer for second and third places. Pike, game director, reminded players of the Pro-Am duplicate party scheduled Wednesday at Big Spring Country Club.

Biscuit Cooking
If you want those biscuits to brown all around and to rise evenly, bake them on a cookie sheet instead of in a pan with high sides.

Plan Part In District Meet

Attendance at the March 21-22 convention of the Western District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, was discussed at the Modern Woman's Forum. Mrs. Clyde Lowery, 1406 Eleventh Place, was hostess. Mrs. W. E. Moren announced that the convention will be in Pecos, and read a letter from Mrs. Dora Hawkins in regard to voting. Those from the forum planning to go to Pecos are Mrs. Moren, Mrs. J. P. Dodge and Mrs. T. G. Adams. Mrs. M. A. Cook's program concerned home life. Following her talk she asked each member to describe her hobbies and tell what had contributed most to improving her home life. Mrs. Lowery served refreshments from a table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a blue and white arrangement of grapes in a blue bowl. Mrs. Duncan presided at the silver service. Fifteen attended.

Knott 4-H Conducted On Supermarket Tour

Conard Davis, manager of Furr's Supermarket, conducted a store tour Thursday afternoon for members of the Knott 4-H Club who are studying foods and nutrition. Davis told the group that the store stocks as many Texas-grown or manufactured products as possible and that the consumer guides the decisions as to what products will sell best. Afterward, a tour was made through the Char-Steak House kitchen where the facilities and equipment were explained. The girls were told that linens were rented and that the diner determined what foods would be offered. The nine girls taking the tour dined at the restaurant before returning home. Adults accompanying the group were Mrs. Robert Nichols, Mrs. Larry Shaw and Mrs. Joe Gaskins.

Murphy, and Betty Lou Little is the junior leader. The girls have completed the first cooking unit and will meet March 4 to begin the second course. Susan Underwood will be hostess, and the program will concern one layer cakes.

A Devotional For The Day

Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. (Galatians 6:1)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, help me never to mimic the doings of an erring crowd, lest I be found wanting. When conscience requires that I be different from the majority of the crowd, sustain me in doing that which is right. For the Master's sake. Amen.

(From the "Upper Room")

An Important Day

Rarely if ever in history, has so much of such significance happened to so few in such a short time as in Texas from March 2 to April 21, 1836.

Fittingly, Gov. John Connally has issued a proclamation designating this "The Texas Historical Period."

On March 2 a convention met at Washington-on-the-Brazos and declared the independence of Texas from Mexico. It was the 42nd birthday of Sam Houston. Four days later a few score Texans at the Alamo, the no-quarter "Dequello" ringing in their ears, fell before the onslaught of thousands of Mexican soldiers headed by President Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna.

Disaster impeded. Col. Fannin's force was surrounded and surrendered at Coleto Creek, to be massacred at Goliad on March 27. Houston, now commander-in-chief, had headed to the Alamo's relief, but, hearing of the tragic defeats there and elsewhere, began his long retreat. Meanwhile, a constitution had been adopted, a republic formed, and David Burnet named provisional president.

All was not heroic. Houston's restraint-strategic, as it later proved—triggered the "Runaway Scrape," with Texas settlers scrambling for the safety of the Louisiana border. Santa Anna ploughed eastward with his victorious army, and Burnet's government moved from threatened Harrisburg, near today's Houston, to Galveston.

Then came astonishing victory. Houston's by-passed army of 700-800 men attacked the "Napoleon of the West's" some 1,600 in the afternoon of April 21. Within a few minutes and with only a handful of casualties, the Texans obliterated Santa Anna's forces.

The consequences? Texas became a republic for a decade. Annexation and war with Mexico gave the United States the Rocky Mountain area, the Southwest and the Pacific Coast, and this became a continental power.

In retrospect it is clear that the March 2-April 21 period was one of the most significant in world history. Texans can take profound and eternal pride in the few weeks that changed the face of the globe and irrevocably altered the course of human events.

Bad Time To Cut

While the nation is tiptoeing reluctantly but steadily toward a war footing seems a singularly inappropriate time for a huge, abrupt cut in federal "impact area" aid to public schools burdened by federal activities.

The impact aid program was started in 1950 to relieve school districts which lost tax income through construction of nontaxable federal installations at the same time they were overburdened by children brought into the area by those federal activities. It may be conceded that in 16 years the program has become overly expanded—it now costs $400 million annually—as three administrations have tried to cut it back. It may also be conceded that other massive federal education aid programs have made its need somewhat less pressing.

However, with federal military activities now increasing again, President Johnson's request for a 57 percent cut in the program does seem too much and too abrupt. Affected school districts, without time for local action and state-aid adjustments, may suffer sharply.

The U. S. Office of Education estimates that Texas would be the second largest loser, of nearly $14 million. This local district's aid would drop from $443,713 to $81,955, and many other districts in this area would be hit proportionately.

If the new federal-aid program do mean that the "impact area" aid program is due curtailment, we think that should be done gradually, phasing it out so as not to harm any district seriously. And it seems both fair and logical that some form of special assistance will continue to be due school districts whose tax revenues are reduced while their student loads are expanded by emergency federal activities. Congress is most unlikely to approve this presidential request as it now stands.

NEW YORK (AP)—What is causing the rising cost of living?

Higher wage scales are blamed—but not by labor.

HIGHER PROFITS are blamed—but not by industry.

Higher markups along the way from producer to consumer are blamed—but not by the middlemen or transportation industry.

INFLATED MONEY and credit supplies are blamed—but not by the monetary authorities.

Speculative fever is blamed—but not

by those who are looking for "a good thing."

UNION LEADERS deny that the spurt in wholesale prices since last summer is due to rising wage scales. They point to the long period of stability before that, when wages were also rising. They defend and stick to their demand for further increases even if higher than government guidelines, saying that industry can afford to pay them and the economy won't suffer for it.

INDUSTRIAL LEADERS say the recent rise in prices, both wholesale and retail, is due in part to developing shortages of materials and labor, in part to the advancing costs of production. They blame everything from the added pressure on the economy from the Viet Nam war to soaring world consumption of goods as prosperity spreads.

BUSINESS LEADERS argue that record profits aren't based on much if any increase in profit margins—the percentage of the sales dollar that is booked as earnings—but on increased sales volume.

Administration leaders deny charges in banking circles that the great increase in money and credit of late is giving the economy the classic inflation of too many dollars chasing too few goods. They hold that, on the contrary, even more money may be needed to finance still more industrial growth if all are to have jobs and prosper.

SOME ECONOMISTS say that the failure of productivity to rise as fast in recent months as formerly is what is pushing up prices now.

All this raises the average cost of producing goods, and causes producers to seek higher prices. With growing demand for goods, competition among producers has slackened, allowing prices to rise.

THAT PRICES have risen is shown by the statistics put out by both government and industry sources. Few see any end to it in sight, at least in the months just ahead.

On Loose

ALTON, Ill. (AP)—A copper penny with a 1943 date worth as much as $4,000 was stolen from a local collector.

Police feel certain that the thief who took the collection had no idea of the value of the penny and has probably long since put it in circulation.

The U. S. Treasury Department says only aluminum alloy pennies were made in 1943. But collectors say they know of at least three copper pennies dated that year. Two more are known to exist in private collections on the East Coast.

Billy Graham

Will you please explain the Bible verse Ecclesiastes 9:10? D. L.

The verse you ask about is: " whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest."

This simply means that life on this side of the grave holds certain responsibilities for us which do not exist after death. Earthly life is a preparatory course for eternity.

The verse is saying to us that what we do for the hereafter must be done here and now. It is another way of saying, "Prepare to meet thy God." The sage is saying, in effect, God has given you a job to do—do it; He has offered knowledge to be gained, gain it; He, in His Word, offers you wisdom—accept it, for after death it will be too late.

Wise men like Solomon, who wrote these words, have always been conscious of man's immortality, and of the dimension of eternity. Someone has said, "He who has no vision of eternity has no hold on time." (Carlyle)

LBJ Forces Concerned Over House 'Squeaker' Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "squeaker" vote in the House last week has given administration leaders cause for concern over the prospects for pushing costly domestic programs through Congress this year.

It came on a Republican-backed motion to strike from the President's emergency tax bill a provision restoring recent reductions in excise taxes on automobiles and telephone calls.

The motion lost by a scant 20 votes out of 394 total votes. The margin of victory for the President's forces was 22 votes cast by Republicans against the motion. They were joined by 185 Democrats.

MORE SIGNIFICANT was the fact that 76 Democrats joined 111 Republicans in support of the motion. This was one of the largest defections in some time and it came on the first major test vote of 1966 on an administration measure.

What has the President's congressional leaders worried is that the tax bill was labeled as a defense measure — its purpose was to raise money to help pay for the cost of the war in Viet Nam.

If they can win by only 20 votes on a proposal so closely related to the war, some administration leaders are asking themselves, what will happen when the chips are down on a purely domestic proposition?

HOUSE REPUBLICANS already have served public notice that they will fight all new and costly domestic programs which they consider nonessential, and they expect lots of help from conservative Democrats.

So long as the fighting in Viet Nam continues to drain heavily on federal revenues, the Republicans insist, nonessential domestic spending must be held down to prevent inflation.

Most Republicans consider some of the President's "Great Society" programs as strictly nonessential. They apply that label to some of the existing programs and some of the proposed measures.

Republicans hope to make inflation, or the threat of inflation, a major issue in their bid to pick up seats in the congressional elections next November.

Hal Boyle Cats Gain In Popularity

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Man's best friend seems to be slowly being eclipsed in popularity by his own most traditional enemy, the cat. America is reported to have 26 million dogs and 28 million cats, not counting strays.

THINGS ARE looking up for the ordinary housewife. She cooks about 1,000 meals a year. That formerly meant 5½ hours a day in the kitchen; today that figure has been cut to 1½ hours — it says here.

It is catching: The U. S. Public Health Service lists cigarette smoking as a "communicable disease."

Geographical oddity: Alaska claims it is farther north, farther west and farther east than any other U. S. state. Its brag that it is the farthest east comes from the fact that the Aleutian Islands reach so far west that they actually enter the Eastern Hemisphere.

AGE HAS one advantage: The medicine you have to take for what ails you doesn't taste as bitter. This is because the 9,000 taste buds you probably had when young gradually decrease as you grow older.

Quotable notables: "Results! Why, man, I have gotten a lot of results. I know several thousand things that won't work" —

Thomas A. Edison.

Safety tip: If you're going to walk, don't drink. Everyone knows the danger of driving a car after imbibing, but liquor is a danger to pedestrians, too. A 1964 study in Pennsylvania found that one out of every four pedestrians killed in traffic accidents had been drinking.

FOLKLORE: If the first robin of spring you see is flying up, you'll have good luck the rest of the year. A child at maturity will weigh roughly 20 times its weight at birth. To cure a stitch in your side that comes from running too fast, lift up a stone, spit on it, and put the stone back in place.

History lesson: Thomas Jefferson was the first U. S. president to start the custom of shaking hands with White House visitors. His predecessors, George Washington and John Adams, usually bowed stiffly and formally to visitors.

QUICKIES: Americans use some 60 million decks of playing cards a year. Coccidies are found within the United States only in southern Florida. About six cents out of every dollar goes for medical care. Despite the fact no other generation of teenagers seemingly ever lived better, suicide is the third leading cause of death among our children in the 15-to-19 age group.

Around The Rim

Anything To Worry About?

Worrying can hardly be listed as a national pastime but everybody indulges in it and most of us are guilty of excesses when it comes to fretting about our real and imagined grievances.

As a matter of fact, a lot of us would be lost if all our problems could be resolved with the snap of a finger and our minds would be left unfettered and free of care.

A healthy young buck of 17 or 18 might think it foolish and asking for trouble for a man 35 years of age and older to brood about the possibility of a heart attack but what mature male doesn't?

WHO AMONG US doesn't worry about the seriousness of the political situation in Southeast Asia, the realization that our nation is probably spending too much money on the space program and not enough on solving the world's food problems?

The small fry sometimes develop ulcers over whether they are liked by their teachers and their fellow pupils. Their teachers stew over the prospect that their students might regard them as tyrants or "easy marks" or again over whether their administrative superiors might think they're doing an inadequate job.

MOST EVERYONE broods about the fact that they have to grow old, yet those same people worry over the prospect that they will never get a chance to live out their lives.

A wife often is prone to worry that she will become a widow too soon and will never get the chance or have the inclination to remarry.

THE DISTAFF side often frets, too, because her husband gets to be a "do-nothing" around the house, sitting in front of the TV set or lying on the sofa when there are chores to be done.

Husbands and wives alike worry over the fact that they have become slaves to household appliances, that they are helpless to act when something goes wrong with the electric dryer, refrigerator or the family car.

THEY EVEN worry about how long canned goods will keep and whether they're spending too much to feed pets. If your auto inspection sticker is on the verge of getting out of date, you worry about finding the time to have it renewed or whether anything will be wrong with the family chariot when you do take it to the shop.

The wage earner wonders and stews over the possibility that he might be by-passed for promotion, about Social Security and pensions, about the possibility of termites and hail damage, about theft of lawn furniture and yard equipment.

YOUNG GIRLS soon begin to worry over whether they'll get to marry the kind of man they want or lose him to some one more attractive. You read about the fact that the fruit and vegetables you eat were sprayed with insect poison and you worry over the prospect that it might not be washed off before it gets to your table.

And if you're not the worrying kind, invariably you have to put up with people whose favorite pastime seems to be perturbing other people.

NEVER LET it be said that Americans are not God's chosen people. With the bountiful goodness, though, comes a trait for worrying which few other peoples on the face of the earth develop and polish as we do.

David Lawrence Needed: A United America

WASHINGTON — "This is it" — few people are making such a comment out loud about Viet Nam, but many are thinking it to themselves. For more and more it is beginning to be realized that the United States is passing through its biggest crisis since World War II. The conflict in Viet Nam is no small or isolated affair. It has become worldwide in its significance, and it could turn into a larger war if the American people are misled into thinking that "peace at any price" is worthwhile.

The greatest danger is not in Viet Nam but in this country, where well-meaning but confused and uninformed persons are unwittingly engaged in helping to bring on the very calamity they profess to be against — a major war.

NOBODY, OF course, wishes to see a large war precipitated, but this is certain to happen if the enemy begins to take seriously the demonstrations and speeches inside the United States which give an impression of cravenness and weakness. Secretary of Defense McNamara, in his report to Congress last week, said:

"If we and our free-world allies fail to meet the Chinese Communist challenge in Southeast Asia, we will inevitably have to confront it later under even more disadvantageous conditions. . . . The road ahead will be difficult and sacrifices will be required of our people, both in money and in lives. But we have no other reasonable alternative if we are to preserve the kind of world we want to live in — a world in which each nation is free to develop in its own way, unmolested by its neighbors, free of armed attack from the more powerful nations."

PRESIDENT Johnson's role has been exceedingly difficult as well as delicate. It would be safer for his planning tactics if he didn't have to make any public statements about the future course of the war. The enemy should be left guessing. But the President understandably finds it necessary, in order to quiet fears at home, to deny publicly that he means deliberately to "escalate" the war or to engage in hostilities with Red China, the chief backer of the North Vietnamese armies.

PRESIDENT Johnson was first accused of not wanting to negotiate peace, but he has sent many ambassadors and recently Vice President Humphrey around the world to make it clear to all countries that America wishes peace. This, however, has been construed abroad as a sign of weakness, and Mr. Johnson is finding it desirable to repeat frequently that American policy is not weakening.

Actually, as the President has just said, the tide of battle has turned. There is evidence of a desire throughout the world to reinforce the American military effort in Viet Nam. South Korea, Australia and New Zealand have already sent forces there. Other nations are giving more and more indications of their support.

THE VIET NAM war, indeed, has taken on a worldwide meaning and is clearly being defined as a struggle between the free world and the Communist revolutionaries who seek to impose their will on helpless peoples. Theirs really only one way to shorten the war, and that is to bring about a united America and to put in proper perspective the utterances of the misguided persons in public and private life who don't seem to understand the kind of enemy the United States is fighting in Viet Nam. (Copyright, 1964, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

Holmes Alexander Coal Vs. Atom

WASHINGTON — The best heavy-weight fight of the season, aside from the Viet Nam War, could be the one between coal and the atom.

The outcome could determine which of these power producers is going to dominate the civilian market in the energy field for the next couple of decades.

LATE LAST MONTH coal scored a technical victory over the atom in a crucial round of their continuing bout. A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission, director Milton Shaw of the Reactor Development and Technology Division, told Capitol Hill that we should slow down for further study before constructing new plants for civilian use of atomic energy. This concession, though hardly noticed by the general public, expressed a definite reversal of policy by the AEC. And it represented a temporary victory by the National Coal Association over the scientific community.

The atomic scientists declared for a crash program to construct a Large Seed-Blanket Reactor (LSBR) which would have supplied electricity to pump water over the mountains into Southern California.

has become a respected rival of oil, natural gas, falling water and coal as an energy producer. Further subsidy, however, would not create more competition, but would crush the more competition than now exists. Moreover, the atomic scientists had their own vested interests, no less selfish than the coal merchants had.

"WE SHOULD NOT find it surprising," said Brice O'Brien, the National Coal Association's general counsel, "that the AEC seems to pay almost as much attention to Parkinson's law as it does to Einstein's theory. Parkinson's law, as you recall, states that the work of an organization expands to occupy the available manpower. . . . The AEC built up a capable staff and promoted an ever-increasing budget. . . . to develop civilian nuclear power. . . . The main beneficiaries would be the AEC itself and the industrial firms which hope to manufacture and sell their reactors regardless of whether they are best for the nation."

IT IS NOT very often that atomic scientists, who are held in so much awe these days, are accused of being grasping and proliferating bureaucracies.

To days after Christmas, in the trough of the dull season for Washington activity, the AEC announced cancellation of the Large Seed-Blanket Reactor for the California Department of Water Resources. This decision was followed in late February by the apparent determination not to put up any new plants for awhile.

For those who follow this sort of sport, it was a startling upset. Coal, the tired veteran and supposed has-been, had rocked the young giant atom back on his heels.

To Your Good Health Still Doubts Boric Acid As Home Remedy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: You oppose boric acid as a home remedy, but what do you suggest for an eye-irritant? Also what about boric acid baby powders? They contain some boric acid, don't they?" — J. P.

Yes, I think boric acid might better be discarded as a home remedy. Its danger is too great a price to pay for its occasional usefulness.

As an eyewash, there is no need to use boric acid. Rinsing the eyes is a function of tears and the natural moisture of the eyes. Medicated washes interfere with Nature's normal irrigation. If a safe irrigant is desired, one can use a weak salt solution: One quarter teaspoonful of salt dissolved in six ounces of warm water.

If, in severe cases, medication is needed, salves can be used on the lower lid, as directed by your doctor, or drops can be applied with a sterile dropper — also according to instructions.

As to baby powders, yes, some are boricated, but in my opinion there are nonborated ones which serve the purpose just as well, and do not introduce the risk of boric acid poisoning. The borate, from borated powders, can be absorbed through irritated skin.

I'm not trying to make a campaign of this, but I certainly think that it is wise to take the safer course, especially when the riskier course offers no advantages.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is carrot juice good for the eyes and in what quantities should it be drunk? — F. M.

Carrots (along with a great many other foods) contain carotene, a forerunner of Vitamin A. We all need Vitamin A, and except under unusual circumstances, we all get it. An extreme lack of it can interfere with night vision, in which case, naturally, Vitamin A helps correct the trouble. But for anyone eating an anywhere-near-normal diet, a surplus of carrots, or other forms of Vitamin A, won't do the eyes any good.

Dear Dr. Molner: Why do some doctors refuse to give people more than one flu shot a year? Where can I go to get two shots annually? I am 52 and the flu shots help me a great deal. — MRS. J. B.

Other than in epidemic conditions, two shots annually are needed only when a person has not been previously vaccinated for flu. The first is a sensitizing shot, and the second builds immunity.

After that, for all practical purposes, one shot a year (a booster) will maintain protection. If a flu epidemic comes along, a second shot is a safeguard, bringing you up to maximum safety at that time.

Dear Sir: I take exception to your answer to the woman asking at what time she would feel quickening. You said that after the fourth month a slight pressure was used to provoke movement of the baby in a pregnant woman. With my third pregnancy I felt movement at 10 weeks, and in my fourth at 11 or 12 weeks. Is this very unusual? — P. D.

Take all the exception you want. I try to give sensible averages. You may not be average. Or you may have mistaken a muscle quiver for movement.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for young people of around 20 to have stomach ulcers? — A. T.

Yes. It is possible. Even very small babies have them, but this is rare.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

been set up on the lot where trucks just back under the chutes and load, an extra-ordinarily fast method of loading proper mixture for any kind of job, including foundations, bridges, culverts, sidewalks, driveways, curbs and gutters, street pavement — anything else concrete can do, or the customer needs.

Whether the job is large or small makes no difference. Just set your forms and call McMahon's big radio-equipped trucks. The driver pulls into your location, unloads the amount of ready-mix you need of the kind you want, and is off again.

Where folks once had to use a wash tub, wheel barrow or wooden "mixing box" to get a small job done, they now may eliminate the drudgery, and the back-breaking problem of mixing the concrete with a hoe, shovel or by hand.

features Whiteman finishing machines and tools to complete the work on the poured concrete. Rotary blades finish off the mixture to the proper surface, far different from the time when you did it with trowels or a piece of "two-by-four."

Also handled by McMahon's are Eveready brick saws and blades, expansion joint material, wire mesh for re-enforcement, re-enforcing steel rods, Richmond snap ties, Remington stud drivers for driving studs or nails into concrete, wheel barrows for brick, tile or concrete, vibrators for settling and eliminating air pockets in concrete pourings, and all kinds of small tools for concrete or mason work.

Many finished products are available from the company. Among them are concrete tile in several sizes and patterns; pre-cast flower bed borders; concrete tables, benches, parking curbs (movable), and rounded top and corner tiles.

Whenever you are considering any kind of concrete job, big or small, or need concrete products, call Clyde McMahon at AM 4-6748, or drop by the plant and look over his extensive supply.

Dodge Autos Guaranteed

Most buyers look for service and dependability when it comes to choosing a new car. Dodge owners have long realized the great importance of a warranty that protects against defects in the most important part of any automobile—the "power train."

The Chrysler-built Dodges carry just such a warranty to insure you protection against failure for five years or for 50,000 miles, whichever comes first. If the motor car owner produces evidence of normal service, as is called for in the warranty, he can have trouble corrected in the service department of any dealer in the United States. The warranty goes with the car if sold before the end of the five years or before 50,000 miles are up.

Included in the wonderful warranty are the engine, transmission, differential, and other parts that keep the car in steady motion.

DEAR ABBY
Doctor's Trust

DEAR ABBY: If you were a kind of reputation she has, is trusted friend and family physician would you tell the parents of a 16-year-old girl that their daughter came to you requesting a prescription for birth control pills? MADISON, Md.

DEAR ABBY: I would not. But I would do everything within my power, short of betraying the girl, to open the lines of communication between the parents of their daughter. I invite other physicians to answer this intelligent question. Your names will be withheld on request.

DEAR ABBY: At 28, I married a man 12 years my senior. He had been married previously, but his wife died. (They had no children.) After 14 years of marriage, my husband still insists on keeping in touch with a former sister-in-law. This young woman is definitely lacking in morals, having lived with five different men that I know of, without being married to any of them. Throughout our marriage my husband visited this woman about twice a week after work. (He gets off at 1 p.m.) He insists that their relationship is platonic, but I find it hard to believe because of her reputation. He says he's just sit and talk. Would I be wise to ask him to invite HER to our home to "talk"? I really don't want her in my home, Abby, but what else can I do?

DEAR WHAT: Don't be a hypocrite. If you don't want her in your home, don't suggest that your husband invite her. Tell him that for him to call regularly on this woman, knowing the

Strikes Endanger Chilean Economy

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A wave of labor trouble, much of it Communist inspired, threatens to upset Chile's wobbly economy. Strikes and slowdowns have hit basic industries and public services.

There is fairly general agreement that the situation will get worse before it gets better despite a pledge by the government to use every legal weapon against the threat.

KENNECOTT STRIKE
The country is faced with the prospect that a two-month strike against the Kennecott Corp. will become a nationwide copper strike and that a slowdown in the ports will turn into a strike this week.

Strikes soon on the government railway system and in the national health service also have been threatened if contract demands are not met.

Electric power, steel, telephone and nitrate workers are to begin negotiating new contracts soon. Union leaders say they will be much tougher this year.

FARM FOLKS
DEAR FOLKS: If it is an "old custom," it is news to me. Maybe it was a new hat.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, 2225 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90060. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LITTLE HOPE
There seems little chance that the government said Sunday night it would take no further part in the Kennecott talks until union leaders explain a statement they issued Saturday attacking the government's role in earlier negotiations.

The government mediators have come up with formulas aimed at breaking the deadlock, but the unions have rejected all of them.

BLEAK PICTURE
The copper picture is the bleakest. Copper is Chile's basic industry, employing the largest work force and accounting for the majority of exports and foreign exchange.

Copper workers have been on strike at Kennecott's El Teniente mine and Codelco's smelter in the Andes south of Santiago since Jan. 3, seeking higher wages and fringe benefits plus a sizable bonus.

Leaders of the 17,000-member Copper Workers Federation say workers at the Anaconda mines and smelters in northern Chile will strike in sympathy with the Kennecott workers if the strike is not settled within a day or two.

Russian Space Probes Said Nearing Venus

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet space probes are supposed to be nearing Venus. The first may pass the cloud-draped planet within the next few days, perhaps Tuesday.

The second, launched into an orbit around the sun four days after the first, is due near Venus about Saturday.

The Soviets have made no official announcements on the progress of the two Venus probes since Dec. 24 when they were about a third of the way to Venus.

But Mstislav Keldysh, president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, told a news conference Feb. 19 that both satellites were due near Venus about March 1. He said radio communication with both probes was continuing.

Venus 2 and Venus 3 were launched last Nov. 12 and Nov. 16 in an effort "to add to our knowledge and obtain additional information about Venus and outer space," according to a brief, vague official announcement.

Common Market Bloc Mulls Customs Cut

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Europe's Common Market meets today in its first full session in nearly eight months, looking for a way to get going again on the Kennedy Round of talks for breaking down barriers to international trade.

The Kennedy Round derives its name from the late President John F. Kennedy put through in 1962. It seeks to reduce customs duties by half. If it succeeds, even in part, the boost to American exports could help end the drain on American gold reserves.

CLOSED DOORS
The scheduled two-day Common Market session will be held as usual behind closed doors. It will be attended by top Cabinet members from the six member-countries — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

French President Charles de Gaulle blackballed Britain when it tried to join three years ago. Now there is a new interest in bringing in Britain and other West European countries. But little can be done about it here. Nothing new can happen until De Gaulle gives some official sign that he has changed his mind.

VITAL ORGANIZATION
Even without Britain the Common Market is the world's most important single trading unit and the main partner of the United States at the Kennedy Round talks in Geneva.

These talks have been stalled since last July because of a virtual French boycott on Common Market activities, which arose out of De Gaulle's fear that the organization was acquiring too much power — acting as if it were already a kind of United States of Europe.

Last month Cabinet ministers from the six countries met in Luxembourg. It became clear that each of the governments would continue to hold a veto over major decisions, as De Gaulle insisted, despite a treaty provision that would have abolished this veto on Jan. 1.

Red Pellets Fired To Mark Sheep
AUSTIN (AP)—Biologist Phil Evans is trying to mark Aoudad sheep this year with red capsules. The non-penetrating pellets are fired from a special-made carbon dioxide rifle manipulated in a light helicopter.

The marking attempts are an effort to obtain information on herd movement and total number.

The sheep originated in North Africa and were first brought to Texas from New Mexico in 1957.

Changes In Requirements

According to Erven Fisher, district manager of Social Security in Big Spring, an important change concerning the disability provisions "was made in the 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act.

He said so much information has been published about "Medicare" that many people are unaware that other important changes have taken place.

Before the amendments a person had to have an illness or injury which was expected to continue indefinitely or result in death. Now, a worker can meet this requirement if he has a severe impairment which has lasted, or is expected to last, for as little as 12 continuous months. This is the first change in the definition of disability in the 11-year history of the disability program.

Anyone who has previously filed for disability and was denied because his condition was expected to improve in the near future, should recontact his Social Security office. He may now be eligible for payments under this change.

Fisher emphasized that many claimants for disability benefits are turned down because they are not worked long enough in employment where they paid Social Security taxes. The work requirement has not changed. In addition to meeting the disability requirement, a person still must have worked and paid in to the Social Security program for about five years during the 10-year period before he became disabled.

AF Base To Host Army

HOUSTON (AP)—The major Army map exercise to be conducted at Ellington Air Force Base April 24-May 8 will be the first time such an Army exercise has been conducted at an Air Force base.

More than 1,000 officers and enlisted men of the Army Reserve, National Guard and the Air Force from five states will participate in the tactical type exercise, "Clover Leaf X."

The exercise, largest to be held at a Texas military base this year, will test the participating units' tactical proficiency. Training in nuclear and guerrilla warfare will be included.

The 79th Maneuver Area Command, a Houston based Army Reserve unit, will prepare, direct and control the exercise.

Other participating units include the 38th Infantry Division, Texas National Guard, 49th Armored Division, Texas National Guard, 29th Infantry Division, Louisiana and Arkansas National Guard, 45th Infantry Division, Oklahoma National Guard, 11th Air Defense Artillery Brigade and 29th Air Defense Artillery Group, both of the New Mexico National Guard, and elements of the 12th U.S. Air Force, Waco, Tex.

AFL-CIO Council Tackles LBJ's Anti-Strike Proposal

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO Executive Council takes up another sore point with the White House today in discussing President Johnson's antistrike proposal.

"There are grave problems for the government, labor, industry and the states" in any such new legislation, a spokesman for AFL-CIO President George Meany said.

Although the labor leaders say they have no details on what Johnson might recommend to Congress, they fear any antistrike legislation would curb their ultimate weapon.

CAMPS SNIPE

Discussion of Johnson's antistrike proposal comes after two weeks of sniping between the AFL-CIO and the Johnson administration over White House efforts to hold down wage increases, how much of a minimum-wage increase should be recommended to Congress, and complaints that the Democratic administration has not lived up to its political promises to labor.

Although no legislation reportedly is being drafted at the moment to curb strikes, the Labor

Department has been working on drafts that could lead to a bill for Congress to consider.

Johnson first broached the proposal in his State of the Union message, saying he would ask Congress to consider measures to deal with strikes that threaten irreparable harm to the national interest.

REJECT GUIDELINES

On the economic front, AFL-CIO leaders still refuse to accept White House guidelines that attempt to hold wage increases to 3.2 per cent a year.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said Sunday that "We've got to press harder" to persuade both labor and business to hold down wage and price increases that threaten inflation.

Wirtz, target of some harsh statements by Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders after he had spoken to them here, said in Washington on "Meet the Press" over NBC: "We're not in a popularity contest."

But on the dispute over the amount of a minimum-wage increase, sources close to Meany leaked word that the AFL-CIO is ready to compromise by accepting increases in the present $1.25 federal minimum wage to $1.40 this year, $1.50 next year and $1.60 in 1968.

ADMINISTRATION PLAN

The White House position reportedly has been for an increase to $1.40 this year, $1.60 in 1968 — with no increase in 1967.

Wirtz is due here again Tuesday to address a meeting of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, but there's no report that a meeting with Meany is scheduled.

OAS Council Power Plan Debate Begins

PANAMA (AP)—A U.S. proposal to give broad new powers to the Council of the Organization of American States to settle disputes appears headed for tough sledding in a special 20-nation committee which opens a four-week meeting here today.

The committee is to draw up reforms to the OAS Charter to revitalize the inter-American system's political, economic and cultural action.

The draft amendments will be taken up by a special meeting of inter-American foreign ministers to be held in Buenos Aires in July.

SENT AMENDMENTS

The United States sent the committee a series of amendments Sunday to empower the presently powerless OAS Council to take up disputes between member states.

A dispute could be put before the council by one of the nations involved or by any member of the OAS. The council could recommend provisional measures to prevent aggravation of a dispute, conduct fact-finding investigations in the territory of nations which agreed to that, and recommend procedures for settling the dispute.

At present the council can not act in a dispute. It can only call a consultation meeting of foreign ministers to consider urgent problems.

BORDER DISPUTE

Ecuador, which has a long border dispute with Peru, also has proposed a series of charter amendments which would enable the council to take up "any situation or controversy between two or more member states, either on its own initiative or when asked by one of the interested parties" or by a resolution of a foreign ministers' meeting.

Delegates from some other Latin-American nations view the proposals with concern. They fear they might give the council too much power which could lead to the reopening of old controversies, such as border disputes.

OTHER PROPOSALS

Another series of U.S. proposals would give the secretary-general of the OAS power to bring before the council or a proposed annual assembly of inter-American foreign ministers any matter which he considers of danger to the peace and security of the hemisphere.

The secretary-general at present is mainly an administrative officer.

Texan Attacked By Stallion Is Critical

FORT WORTH (AP)—Joel H. Reaves, 49, of Grand Prairie was critically hurt Sunday when attacked by a stallion in a field five miles southeast of Rio Vista in Hill County.

Part of a hand was severed and doctors at a Fort Worth hospital sought to save a mangled leg.

Brimmer To Shun Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A middle-of-the-road economist nominated for a seat on the Federal Reserve Board said today he will steer clear of what he termed the "great debate" on the nation's monetary policy.

Andrew J. Brimmer, now assistant secretary of commerce for economic affairs, was asked in an interview if he had taken a position of the issue of "tight" or "easy money."

"No, and I don't intend to — certainly not at this point," replied the 39-year-old former college professor.

14-YEAR TERM

President Johnson named Brimmer, a Negro, to a 14-year term on the seven-member board Saturday. If confirmed by the Senate, he will succeed C. Casby Balderston, whose term has expired, and will be the first Negro to serve on the board.

Johnson criticized the board in December when it voted 4 to 3, with Balderston in the majority, to increase from 4 to 4½ per cent the discount rate banks pay the Federal Reserve when they borrow money.

This had the effect of pushing up the rate the individual borrower pays for credit.

In announcing the nomination, Johnson described Brimmer as a "man of moderation." News-men promptly placed the middle-of-the-road tag on Brimmer, and he doesn't object.

"I agree with that," Brimmer said. "I don't consider that a bad thing."

Brimmer turned aside other questions on the "tight money" issue, saying it would be inappropriate for him to "get into the affairs of the board."

"I want to look at the issues in as clear-headed manner as possible," he said.

William McChesney Martin, Federal Reserve chairman who supported the discount rate increase, reportedly had expressed hope that Johnson would select a member of the business community to succeed Balderston.

HAILS RECORD

But Martin hailed Brimmer's "very commendable record" as a member of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in 1955-58.

The bulk of Brimmer's economic experience has been in the academic field. He obtained bachelor's and master's degrees at the University of Washington, a doctorate at Harvard, spent a year in India under a Fulbright scholarship and taught at the University of Washington, Harvard, College of New York, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the University of Pennsylvania.

Brimmer joined the Commerce Department three years ago. He frequently sat in on conferences with the President's Council of Economic Advisers and representatives of other agencies, including the Federal Reserve Board.

Mechanical Heart Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—A mechanical heart will one day substitute for the human heart in cases where such a device is needed, a Texas heart surgeon predicts.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, professor of surgery at the Baylor University Medical School, Houston, made the observation Sunday on a taped television show of an open-heart operation he performed on a girl.

He said the natural heart was a "very efficient pump."

Dr. DeBakey added that medical science is getting nearer to perfecting a mechanical substitute for the heart.

Apollo Brings Moon Nearer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The spectacularly successful maiden launching of an unmanned Apollo moonship has strengthened hopes that three men can ride one of the ships into earth orbit late this year and to the moon within two or three years.

A Saturn IB, most powerful rocket ever launched by this nation, roared flawlessly through its initial launching Saturday and drilled the Apollo 310 miles into space.

BLISTERING DIVE
The spacecraft made a fiery dive back through the atmosphere and was protected from searing temperatures up to 5,000 degrees by a heat shield. The 11,000-pound cabin section, the part in which astronauts will ride toward the moon and back to earth, separated and rode three 83-foot parachutes to a gentle landing in the South Atlantic Ocean 5,300 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy. The flight lasted 39 minutes.

The cabin landed only 20 miles from the aiming point and the aircraft carrier Boxer had it aboard slightly more than two hours later. The carrier was returning the craft for more detailed examination.

EXCELLENT SHAPE
Preliminary study showed the spaceship came through in excellent condition.

Two more unmanned Saturn IB launchings are to precede the first manned Apollo trip. The first, in June, is to hurl an Apollo ship two-thirds of the way around the world to subject the heat shield to a longer period of high temperatures. The second will boost the second stage into orbit to study the effect of long weightlessness on liquid hydrogen fuel.

If these two unmanned shots are successful, a trio of astronauts will take an earth orbit trip of 8 to 14 days in November or December.

SATURN 5
The first unmanned launching of the man-to-moon Saturn 5, which is five times more powerful than the Saturn IB, is scheduled next January.

The present U.S. goal is to land astronauts on the moon by 1970. If all launchings are as successful as Saturday's, the historic adventure could be attempted on the fourth Saturn 5—presently scheduled in January, 1968.

However, less optimistic NASA officials feel there will be normal development problems and delays and that 1969 is a more likely date.

P-TA To Meet

COAHOMA (SC) — The Parent-Teacher Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the high school auditorium with B. M. Keese, registrar at Howard County Junior College, as the speaker. Cross Bound For Prison

Cross Goes To Prison

AUSTIN (AP) — James C. Cross Jr. left the Travis County jail at about 8:30 a.m. today for the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Cross, convicted of murder last week in the sex-srangulation slaying of two pretty University of Texas coeds, was handcuffed and chained to Ed Gullion, convicted and sentenced to prison on a charge of sodomy.

WITH DEPUTY
A lone deputy sheriff accompanied the two prisoners in a private car for the ride to Huntsville. "I want to start serving my sentence and do something good in the future," said Cross, 21, son of a Fort Worth executive.

'Lack Of Notice Paid Red Peril' Frets Laos

VIETNAMESE, Laos (AP) — Laotian officials are worried that the focus of Viet Nam is drawing attention away from what they regard as the Communist threat to Laos.

They admit that this is only logical because of the involvement of American combat troops there. But if the Vietnamese question is settled without proper solution of the Laotian problem, they say, the Communist threat to other Southeast Asian countries — particularly Thailand — will remain wide open.

DIPLOMATS AGREE
Some Western diplomats here concur with these views. Says one:

"Today South Viet Nam is being pictured as the front door of Communist expansion to Southeast Asia. But in fact Laos is its back door. If you close one and leave the other, all the efforts one has made in South Viet Nam would be futile."

Reapportionment Plan Affirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed today an apportionment plan for the Wyoming State Senate that was devised last October by a three-judge U.S. district court.

The highest tribunal announced its action in a brief order which gave no reasons and no citations.

The Wyoming Senate and earlier, the House were reapportioned in light of the Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" ruling.

Appealing the Senate scheme to the high court, five residents of Laramie County contended it discriminated in some areas of the sparsely populated state against towns, villages and rural residents.

Foreseer Of Radio Says Best Coming

NEW YORK (AP) — David Sarnoff turned 75 recently, which surprised a lot of people. It happens like that when a man becomes a legend in his own lifetime. People always seem to be mildly surprised to learn that he still walks among them. And Sarnoff, in his own time, has become many legends to many people.

A generation of Americans grew up with the image of young Sarnoff hunched over a clacking wireless key atop a New York department store maintaining the only contact between the survivors of the SS Titanic and the waiting world in 1912.

FORESAW RADIOS
Others remember him as the employe whose memo to the boss — "I have in mind a plan of development which would make radio a household utility. The idea is to bring music into the home by wireless" — eventually helped give birth to a new industry, commercial radio.

To still others, he is the embodiment of the American dream, the poor little immigrant boy from Minsk, the school dropout who, through diligence and perseverance, rose to head the Radio Corp. of America, the giant of the industry he helped to create.

But, even as he approaches the three-quarters of a century mark, Sarnoff is more concerned with the future than he is with the past. If he had it to do all over again he would rather be born today, for, he says, "the best is yet to be."

The future, to Sarnoff, looks like this:
An all-purpose television screen mounted on the wall will bring into your living room not only television and radio but books, magazines and newspapers as well. The push of a button or the flick of a switch will turn electronic impulses into printed pages to be read at leisure.

Satellites in orbits synchronized to the earth's rotation will broadcast from anywhere directly to anywhere else in a universal language — derived largely from English — understood by everyone in addition to his or her native tongue.

Negro Complains Of Haircut White Gave

MADISON, N.J. (AP) — Thomas Sellers, 16-year-old Negro, finally got his hair cut by a white barber after a two-year battle, but the quality of the haircut has started a new controversy.

His father, Thomas Sellers Jr., said Sunday he will file a complaint with the Board of Barbers Examiners over the haircut that the Negro boy got from Peter Triolo.

"LAWN HACKING"
"It looks like some nut had run through a lawn hacking inadvertently with a sickle," the boy said.

A week ago the New Jersey Supreme Court upheld an order by the State Division on Civil Rights that barber Philip Gatti of Madison must cut the hair of the elder Sellers and of Reginald Barrow, also a Negro. They had filed a complaint against Gatti in 1964 after the shop were refused service. Gatti's shop was picketed by civil
