

League's Transfer Rule Jeopardized

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The transfer rule of the Texas Interscholastic League is in jeopardy as the result of a federal opinion that Negro athletes going to predominantly white schools are immediately eligible. The League has interpreted the rule as applicable to Negro athletes transferring to formerly all-white schools under free choice plans.

But Hogdon, an attorney, says a Negro athlete must be made immediately eligible if he transfers. Hope said the federal rule is intended to assure that Negroes are immediately taken in to all school activities in which they desire to participate.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: The late AMBROSE BIERCE: "A dog is an intelligent four-legged animal who goes around with a sap at the end of his leash."

WALLY JONES, guard for the Philadelphia 76ers, after hearing with The Still Chamberlain complain after his foul-shooting:

"I've heard of a guy crying about being hungry with a loaf of bread under his arm, but this cat is crying with a bakery."

JIMMY CANNON, New York scribe: "It would move us up in Viet Nam if the Viet Cong drafted Cassius Clay. This is a guy who isn't going to help any army they put him in. It didn't bother me when they originally decided Clay wasn't mentally fit to be a soldier. They never had to convince me about that. He never had any dignity as a man or a fighter. But he isn't above the law either. He isn't any better than any other kid. He can be witty and he uses his bogus charm to deceive the careless journalist. But there is also a strain of evil in him. In his last fight, his nastiness was repulsive. But he wants the draft board to honor his holy attitude and keep him out of the service. This is like Jack The Ripper demanding to be deferred because England needed butchers."

J. T. KING, Texas Tech football mentor: "Boys don't graduate in four years any more unless they're super students. It took C. C. Willis, our 1964 linebacker, 4 1/2 years to graduate, and he was among the top 12 students at Texas Tech. Very few of our redshirts are taking five-year courses. Believe it or not, more of our redshirts are excellent students."

CURTIS COOKES, a Negro professional fighter residing in Dallas, when asked if he were sympathetic with the Black Muslim movement:

"The leaders of the Black Muslims are just a bunch of con guys living off the fat of the land. Yeah, I know Cassius Clay. The time I met him I got the impression he was just standing in the middle of the road waiting for someone to pick him up. He seemed to be the kind that could be swayed easily. I guess if the gangsters had gotten to him first, he would have turned out like Sonny Liston."

DOUG SANDERS, after being disqualified in the Pensacola Open for forgetting to sign his score card: "I feel like somebody invited me here for an ice cream cone and handed me a stick of dynamite with the fuse lit."

Lasses Visit Lee For Game

Pat Drake takes her Big Spring Steerettes to Midland this evening for a District 2-AAAA girls' volleyball encounter with Lee.

B teams of the two schools clash at 6:30 p.m. while the featured attraction starts an hour later. The Steerettes are now 5-5 for the season.

Originally, the local girls were to have hosted Abilene High Friday but that game has been moved forward a day. The doubleheader, in which B teams will open the show, is booked to begin at 5:30 p.m.

Both A games this week count toward the conference championships.

Bisons On Road

FORSAN — The Forsan track team will be in Grand Falls on Saturday to compete in an all-class B invitational tournament. Twenty-one teams are entered. Last week Forsan ranked fifth in a meet at Wink, where about two-thirds of the teams were Class A.

Steers And Monterey Square Off At 4:00

Bobby Griffin, ace of the Big Spring High School mound corps, returns to the hill today as the Steers play host to Lubbock Monterey.

The Steers are 3-2 for the season, having won their first three assignments before losing a twin bill to Andrews last Saturday.

Today's contest will be played in the Teenage park north of town. Steer Park has not yet been pronounced ready for play. Big Spring won't be at full strength. Second baseman Gregg Pate, one of the lettermen back from last year, has an ailment that may keep him out of action for a month or more.

Sammy Mims, letterman third baseman, was sick with tonsillitis Monday and may not be able to play today.

Joey Pate or Bill Burchett will likely start in Gregg Pate's place today. Other starters for the Longhorns could be Yogi Anderson behind the plate, Jerry Wilson at first base, Rod Roberts, shortstop; Mims, at third; Jesse Zapata, left field; Dean Gilstrap, center field; and R. J. Engjert, right field.

Monterey, which always starts slowly, lost a doubleheader to Abilene Cooper in Lubbock Saturday, 2-0 and 3-2.

The Plainsmen are favorites in 3-AAAA, however, and no opponent takes them lightly.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Tom Miller, publicity director of the Green Bay Packers for the past 10 years, was named assistant today to Vince Lombardi, head coach and general manager of the National Football League champions.

Managerial Setup Changed At Downs

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N. M. — W. C. Kruger, president of the Ruidoso Racing Association, following a recent meeting of the board of directors, has announced the formation of a new managerial policy for Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

According to Kruger, the Ruidoso Racing Association's directors have created an executive committee, within the board, and the purpose of this committee shall be to execute the management policies of the five man board of directors on all racing activities at the Downs. The committee members, Bob Scribner, Stan Snedigar and T. A. Spencer Sr., were selected primarily because of their local residency and close proximity to Ruidoso Downs.

Members of the Ruidoso Racing Association board of directors are W. C. Kruger, president, of Santa Fe; T. A. Spencer Sr., vice president, of Ruidoso Downs; Bob Scribner, treasurer, of Alto; B. M. Keohane, member, of Roswell; and Stan Snedigar, executive secretary of Ruidoso Downs.

Kruger states that the present managerial arrangement at Ruidoso Downs was necessarily designed to provide Gene Hensley, veteran coordinator of racing and publicity, with a leave of absence, requested by Hensley, in order for him to supervise other demanding interests that have had to take a back seat during his many active and successful years at the helm of Ruidoso Downs. Hensley, according to Kruger, will be available as consultant to the board, when needed.

Ruidoso Downs, home of the world's richest horse race, the $500,000 All American Futurity, sets sail into its 20th season of racing this coming Memorial Day weekend, May 28, 29 and 30. Kruger states that the 47-day racing season, as approved by the New Mexico Racing Commission, offers the greatest racing schedule in the two decade history of the mountain track which has become one of the better known racing plants in the world.

Labor Matter Up In Air...

LONDON (AP) — Britain's first aerial strikers kept a shivering vigil 250 feet up a giant building crane today, defying their bosses' demands to come down to earth.

The four men — Pat, Joe, Jim and Mick — mounted the crane Monday in protest against pay cuts. They say they'll stay as long as they can stand it, but Mick wants to be down by Saturday to see a soccer match.

Scores of sidewalk superintendents gathered beneath the crane in the heart of the city, London's financial district, to watch the quartet take their early morning exercise along the job.

GET WARMER
They spent most of the night in the cabin of the crane, warmed by tea and whisky which other workers carried up 250 steps to them.

The four men, all steel erectors on an office block, say a cut in their bonuses has halved their weekly pay to $33.60.

They refuse to give their full names, charging the building industry operates a blacklist and they'd never get work again.

BONUSES CUT
Taylor Woodrow, the contractor, stopped all work on the $25-million building. The company said bonuses had been cut and 56 of the 350 workers on the project had been dismissed because of "absurdly low productivity levels."

A company spokesman said the firm had been negotiating with the Transport and General Workers Union, to which the men belong, since Christmas.

"The four men have obviously decided to take a line of their own which will certainly not help them or their unions," he said.

"STUPID ACT"
"Their action is both stupid and extremely dangerous," said Mick, whose wife expects a baby any day now. "Tell the girls we're going to stick it out up here until the management lets us live above the bread line."

Jim: "What am I supposed to tell my wife when I take home half the usual money?"

Pat: "Apart from the cash, we want more safety rules."

And Joe: "It's mighty cold up here."

PRESSING CROWD
Hundreds pressed around for a glimpse. He shook thousands of hands.

He was a deft and witty speaker. Receiving an honorary doctor

Parodying his famous "Hello Dolly" singing, Satchmo ad libbed at a Variety Clubs banquet Monday night:

"We cats over here dig you... Give my regards to the missus."

Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, laughed and applauded.

Hollywood — for a change itself celebrity-struck — poured forth the cream of its talent at of laws degree Monday at the University of California at Los Angeles, he told an audience of 8,000 students and capped-and-gowned faculty:

"I have accumulated quite a long list of degrees in recent years. I hardly need add that they are all honorary — something described as getting your education by degrees."

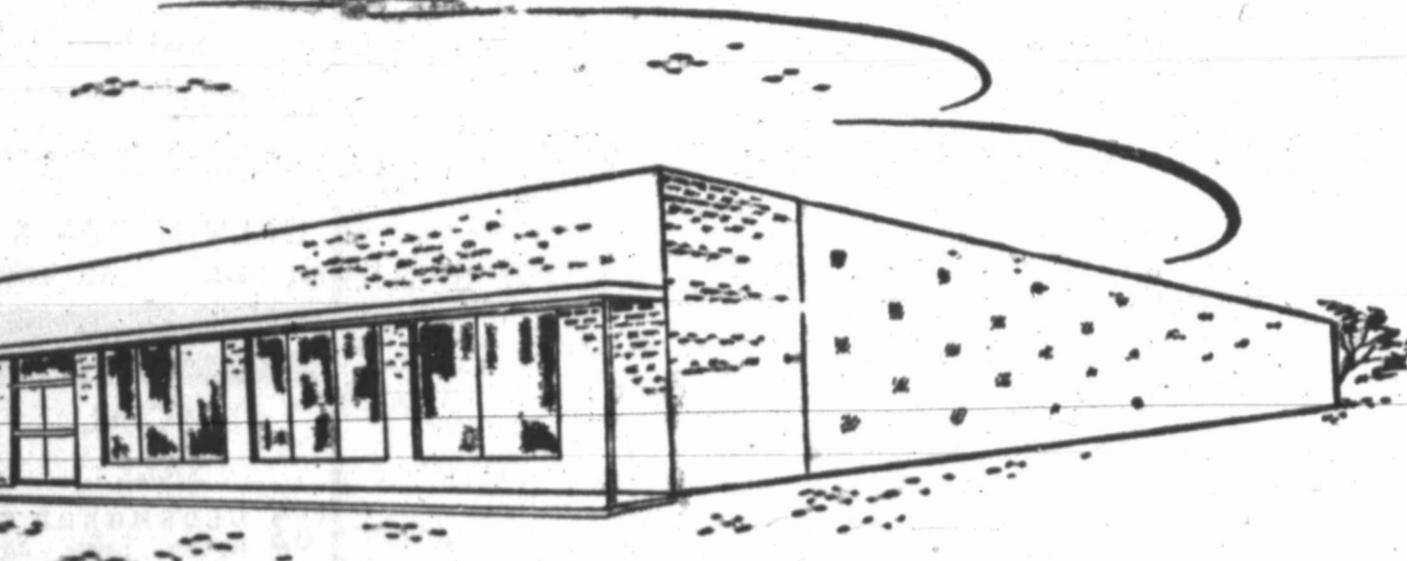

"LIGHT THE PATH"
He spoke on the profitable use of leisure, saying enlightened leaders in universities should show the way.

He visited a display of British cars and motorcycles, and at a Sunday night reception he plugged British exports: "If you buy from us, we could buy more from you."

Twentieth-Century-Fox staged a royal luncheon for 500 Monday on a Western street movie set.

Miss Patsy Hampton Weds In Houston

Miss Patsy Hampton, 1503 Tucson Road, was married to James C. McDowell Jr., on Feb. 4. The double ring ceremony was officiated by the Rev. C. W. Calloway at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. McDowell Sr. of Houston. The bride, given in marriage by her father, M. A. Hampton, 1503 Tucson, wore a street-length dress of white lace. The matron of honor was Mrs. Mary Jane Smith. Jerry Clark was best man. The reception honoring the couple was held in the dining room and den of the home, where the bride and bridegroom were joined by their parents in welcoming guests. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Reeves and John, Conroe; Mrs. Beverly Hampton White, Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hampton, Craig and Lisa, of San Antonio. The couple spent their honeymoon on Galveston Island, and are making their home in Houston, where the bridegroom is employed by C. F. Braun Company and the bride works for the Dow Chemical Company.

District Office Goes To Mrs. L. D. Jenkins

Four local people attended the Texas West Benevolent Patriotic Order of Does meeting in Odessa Saturday and Sunday. Making the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gale, Mrs. Frank George and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins. Hosting the 12th annual meeting was Drove No. 162 of Odessa, and Mrs. M. McCullough of Clovis, N. M., supreme president, was making her yearly visit to the nine droves in this area. The towns are Amarillo, Big Spring, Hereford, Lubbock, Odessa, Pecos, San Angelo, Sweetwater and Wichita Falls. Eighty-one Does were registered Saturday, and a cocktail party was held at 5:30 p.m. that day. The banquet began at 6:30 p.m. and was followed by a dance at 9 p.m. Sunday began with a breakfast and business meeting and a school of instruction. The ritualistic work was exemplified in different phases by the various droves. The election of officers followed a luncheon. The new slate includes Mrs. Ray Bass of Odessa, president; Mrs. Max Jacobs of San Angelo, vice president; Mrs. J. W. Reeds of Lubbock, treasurer; and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins of Big Spring, secretary. The 1967 meeting will be in San Angelo.

Dance Date Announced By BSP

A date for the spring dance was selected during the Monday evening meeting of the Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. The 15 attending met at the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Company with Mrs. Billy G. McDonald presiding. It was announced that the dance would be held May 7 at the Cosden Country Club with music provided by the Luis Puga band. The program was conducted by Mrs. Erik Vettergren who gave a brief review of current novels on the best seller list. Plans to send delegates to the Thursday evening BSP city council meeting were discussed, and refreshments were served from a table covered with a frosted white cake.

Luncheon Has Family Theme

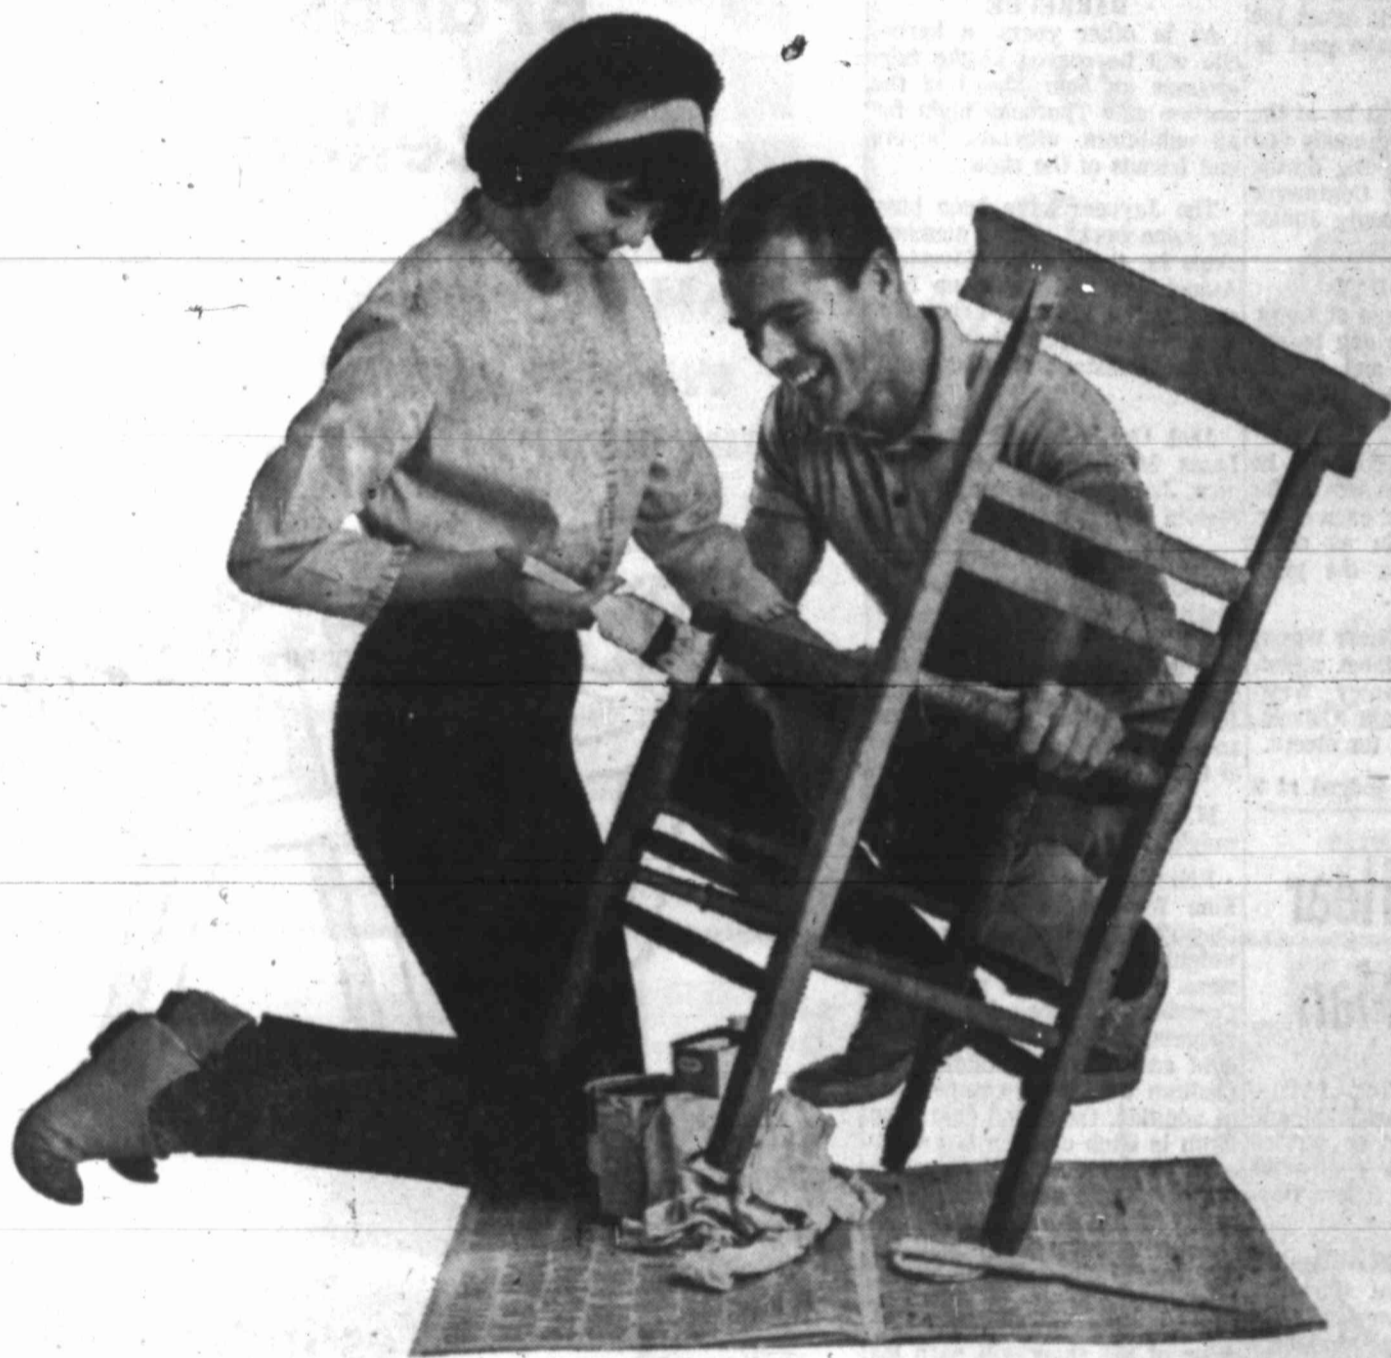

A "Mother-in-law" party honoring the mothers of a local engaged couple was held Saturday in the home of Mrs. Odell Womack, 1801 Tucson, with Mrs. Harold Talbot and Mrs. Bob McEwen as cohostesses. The honorees were Mrs. Jack Irons and Mrs. Ted Groehl. Jack Irons and Miss Mozella Groehl plan to be married here June 3. Milk glass appointments were used on the polished luncheon table, and the centerpiece was arranged on a white pedestal stand. The floral arrangement was created with yellow gladioli, yellow acacia, white shasta daisies and snapdragons accented with eucalyptus leaves. The triangle was fronted by a rolling pin to carry out the theme of the luncheon. The hostesses presented a gift of a pottery casserole as a gift to Miss Groehl, and hostess aprons to the honorees. The small aprons featured pockets holding scissors with which to cut the apron strings. Guests presented humorous gifts to the honorees, and entertainment was based on the mother-in-law theme.

Does she know something you don't...about Frost's bread?

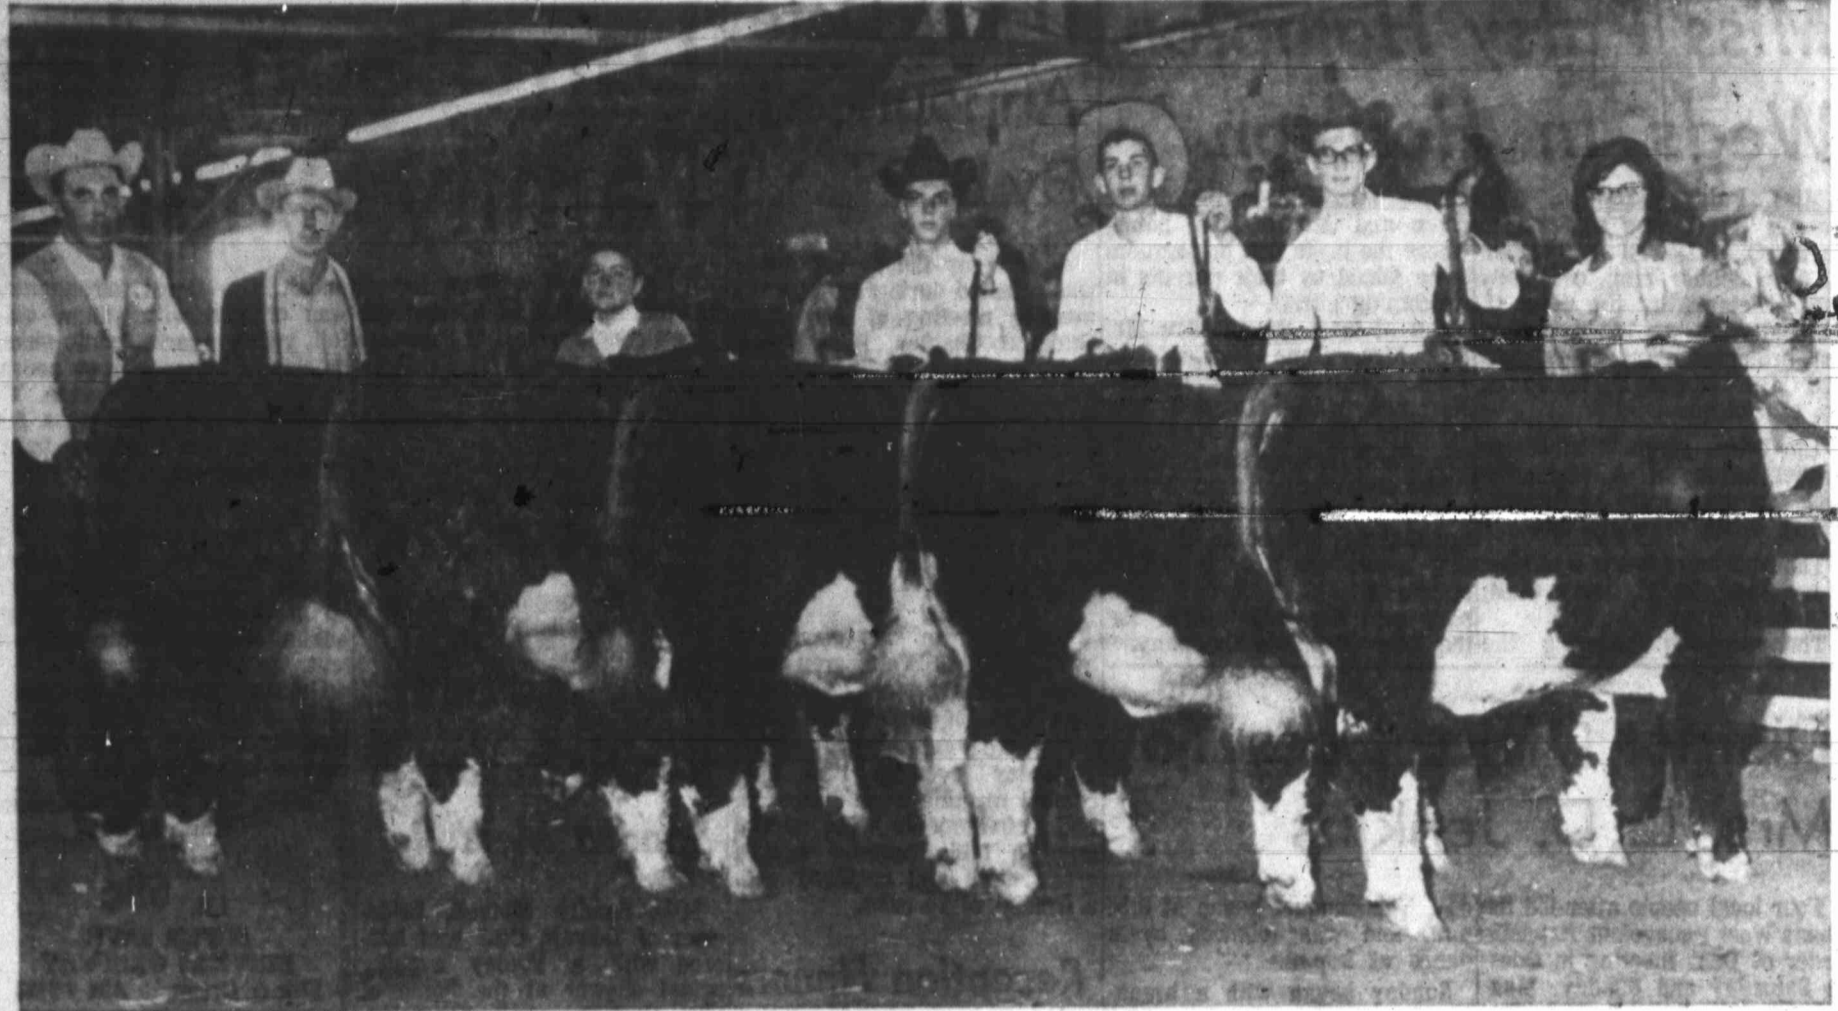

Could be. Like many women, she knows nutritious foods, such as milk, are good for dieters. And she heard Frost's Bread is, too. She wanted to know for sure. She discovered, ounce for ounce, Frost's Bread has twice the protein of milk. 60% of the calcium. 13% less fat. More iron. And more B vitamins than milk. So she saw that Frost's Bread, like milk, gives dieters many nutrients, but not too many calories (two slices average even less than a glass of milk). She now makes sure her own and her family's meals include Frost's Bread and milk for health and vigor. Shouldn't your family enjoy Frost's and milk, too?

Champions

Junior Stock Show Opens, 17 Steers Are Entered

Members of Howard County 4-H Clubs and FFA Chapters will exhibit 155 lambs and 17 steers at the 29th Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club Show which opens here today. The show closes Thursday night.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent and superintendent of the show, said he expects about 150 boys and girls to take part in the competition.

The stock show will be at the Howard County fairgrounds and is sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Howard County Junior Livestock Association.

BEGINS TODAY

Initial activity began at 8 a.m. today with the weighing in and tagging of steers and lambs, which must be completed by noon.

Entry fees this year will be the same as last year: $3 for each lamb and $5 for each steer. The money paid in as entry fees goes to fatten the prize money for the show.

Judges are to be Oliver West, Glasscock County farm agent, for sheep, and Stanley Westbrook, Tarleton State College, Stephenville, Texas, for steers.

Lambs are to be judged at 9 a.m. Wednesday and steers at 2 p.m. the same day.

Big event of this show, as usual, will be the auction sale which is to be staged at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Dub Bryant and Randall Sherrod will share the auctioneering duties.

BARBECUE

As in other years, a barbecue will be served at the fairgrounds an hour ahead of the auction sale Thursday night for all exhibitors, officials, buyers and friends of the show.

The Jaycees have been busy for some weeks, selling memberships in the Junior Livestock Association and lining up buyers for the auction. Lorin McDowell III is chairman of the Jaycee livestock show committee.

Jack Orr is Jaycee president. Louis McKnight is vice president, Joe Crump, secretary, and Melvin Fryar, treasurer.

Helbig is general show superintendent, and Truett Vines is assistant superintendent. Ray White and Ed Seay are superintendent and assistant superintendent of the steer division; Jesse L. Overton, Gerald Oakes and J. W. Overton are in charge of the lamb division.

M. H. Boatler is the official weigher.

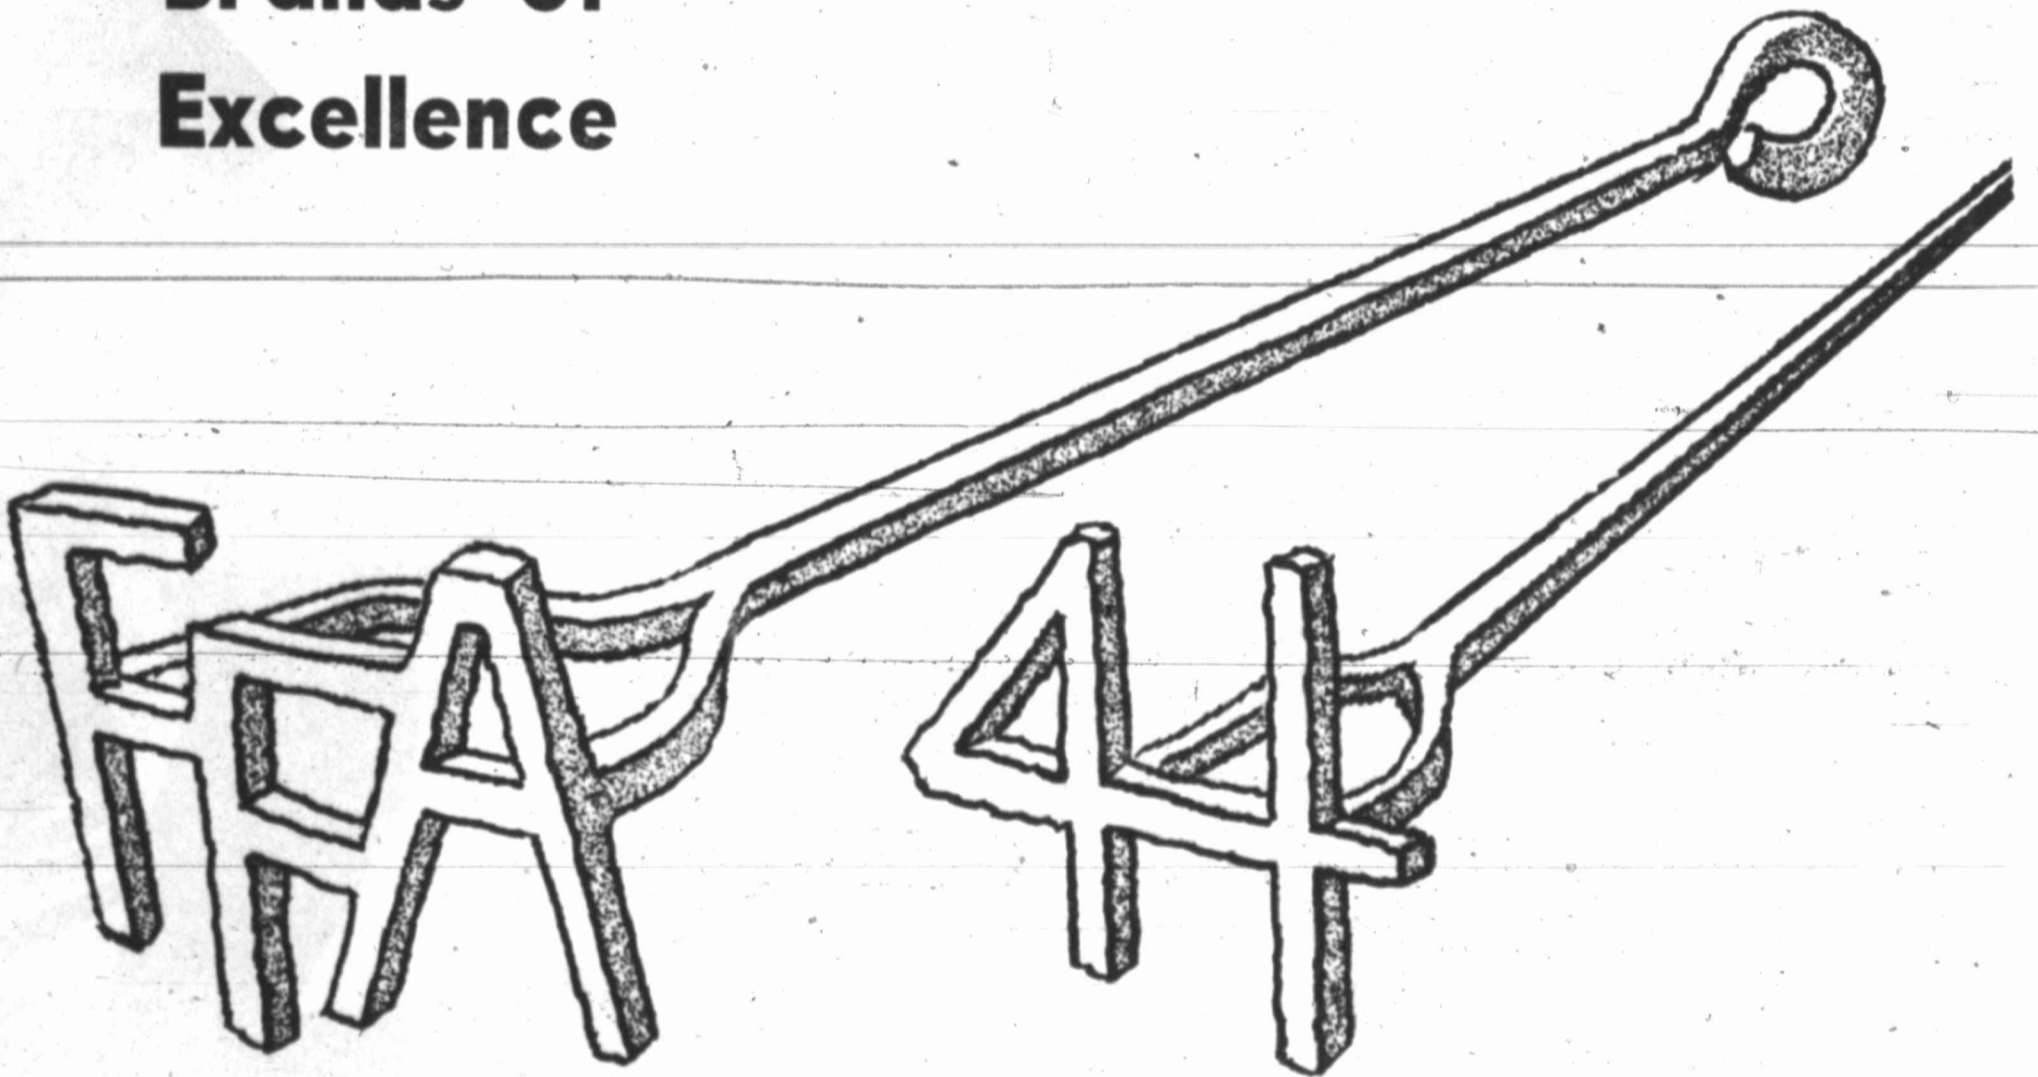

Prize money set up in the Fine Wool lamb division goes through 10 places in the lightweight and heavyweight divisions. Fifteen places pay in the Crossbred lambs for both weights; 10 places each in the light and heavy Southdown and medium wool lamb competition. In addition, the grand champion lamb in each division is awarded a $5 prize. A trophy goes to the best lamb showman.

PRIZE MONEY

Prize money will be paid for the first 10 places in the heavy, medium and lightweight steers divisions. The grand champion steer of the show will earn his exhibitor an additional $25 and the reserve champion $15. The best county bred steer will win the Loy Acuff award of a $100 bond. A plaque also goes to the first place Hereford steer bred in the county.

Mark Barr, Vincent 4-H Club member, showed last year's grand champion steer. The animal sold for $987.50. It was bought by the First National Bank, the State National Bank and the First Federal Savings and Loan. Barr is a ranking competitor in the show this year, and will make a strong bid to repeat his achievement of 1965.

Brands of Excellence

Yes indeed, the familiar 4-H and FFA brands on Howard County livestock are brands of excellence and deserve the congratulations of all Big Spring. The 29th Annual Fat Stock Show this week gives us an opportunity to pat the youngsters on the back and to view their outstanding accomplishments.

Achievement is always worthy of praise and more so when it is done by young people. Youthful ideas, tempered with experience, are prized by Cosden. Fresh ideas and high ideals contribute to growth and progress.

To our young people in general, and to those in 4-H and FFA in particular, we extend our congratulations. We at Cosden urge you to attend the show today and tomorrow and the sale Thursday night.

Baptists Hear Abilene Man

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—"The motive for profit should be to provide bread or service to others," Abilene contractor Earl G. Rose told fellow Baptists Monday night.

He spoke as Texas Baptists opened their annual Christian Life Commission workshop, a three-day gathering at which ministers and businessmen will be speakers or moderators.

William Crook, regional director of the Office of Economic Opportunity in Austin, told the gathering the anti-poverty program demonstrates this country's policy "to eliminate the paradox of poverty in the midst of plenty."

Panel sessions of the workshop, Baptist leaders said, are aimed at developing concepts of (1) the church and leisure, (2) the Christian's role in labor-management relations and (3) serving God within the world of work.

Lots Of Work Necessary To Get Show Animals Ready

It takes a lot of work to get show animals ready for the Howard County Junior Livestock Show, and 4-H and FFA youngsters have put in a lot of time and effort getting entries ready.

More than a year of long, hard work has gone into the youngster's entry and he is still not guaranteed a grand champion. The Howard County show is for lambs and steers and each animal must be handled in a different way.

"Lambs are in the neighborhood of a year old when they are shown," said Herb Helbig, Howard County agent and general superintendent of the show.

"Most lambs are put on feed in June or July, but all must be on feed by Nov. 1 of the year preceding the show."

The feed the lambs are put on is a mixture of certain feeds to give the best possible meat. Exercise is also an important part of raising a show lamb. Most lambs are exercised the equivalent of a half to 1 1/2 miles per day. Each youngster is responsible for his lamb and must see that the exercise is carried out to insure a champion animal.

Steers are a little more than a year old when exhibited at the local show. Most were put on feed between January and March of the preceding year.

Exercise is once again an important factor in raising a show steer. Steers are exercised from one to two miles per day. In addition to the feed and exercise, steers must be constantly combed and trimmed.

It is an everyday job getting a lamb or steer ready to enter a show.

About a month prior to the show it is necessary for the youngster to look at his animal and say, "Is it ready for a show?" If not then adjustments in the ration feed or exercise are needed to make the animal ready.

Most youngsters keep their animals at home until time for the show. They are then transported to the show in trailers, and assigned stalls or pens. Next comes the weighing-in to determine the class in which each animal will show.

The next few days prior to the actual judging are a bit hectic for the youngster showing an animal. For lamb exhibitors, all animals must be blocked and trimmed prior to the judging. Steers must be washed, combed and trimmed.

It is difficult to set an approximate cost on raising an animal for show. Price for the animal can vary, according to breeder and age of animal. Another variance in cost comes from feed. One exhibitor may raise his own feed for a nurse animal, while another will buy it. Still another variance is difference in the price of rations for the show animal.

Adequate Facilities Here For Youngsters To Exhibit

Two barns, well constructed, and with brick veneer fronts, are located on the Howard County Fairgrounds in West Big Spring. One is used for feeding and sheltering show animals, the other for showing and for auction sales.

Some 160 lambs and 20 steers may be penned in the feed barn, according to Herb Helbig, county agent. The partitions, about 4 1/2 feet high, are equipped with anchors for steel fencing used for penning lambs or swine. Steers are tied in spaces provided. Water is available for keeping a supply for all animals.

As animals are brought in and weighed, they are assigned spaces in the barn, with the names of exhibitors and either 4-H or FFA signs indicating organizations. Boys and girls are required to feed, clean, and trim their animals, and to keep the stalls and pens clean.

Dirt floors, covered with straw, provide soft footing for all animals being penned, and concrete walkways for spectators provide clean footing for those walking through the feed barn to look at animals. The building has approximately 7,200 square feet of space for feeding, moving animals in and out, and for spectator walks.

When show time comes, and judging of animals is in process, there is seating space in the show barn for approximately 700 spectators. The bleacher-type seats are located on each side of the building with the arena in the center. A movable stand for announcers, secretaries, and loud-speaking equipment may be set up in any location in the arena.

At the front of the show barn a large kitchen is available for preparing and serving meals for spectators and showmen. A serving window at the entrance to the building provides means of "handing out" plates for those going inside the show area.

Rest rooms are available on each side of the entrance. Office space is set up in a room on the north side of the entrance, across from the kitchen.

The show barn, also with 7,200 square feet, is equipped with use of other community activities as well as the livestock show. Several shows are held each year, and the annual Jaycee Rattlesnake Round Up is staged in the area. Snakes are brought in, weighed, pitted, and "milked" in the feed barn. Exhibitions are taken to the show barn, and rattlesnake meat is prepared in the kitchen, along with other food, coffee, and drinks.

Both buildings are constructed of heavy steel framework, with metal roofs and siding, and brick fronts. Both are arranged on the grounds so that animals may be unloaded or loaded from and on trucks at the rear. Animals may also be washed and scrubbed outside the feeding area.

Once entered in the show there are a number of rules that the exhibitor must abide by. A sample of the rules are: No member may sell more than one lamb or one steer in the auction sale, steers must not have usable permanent teeth, lambs may have one or more usable permanent teeth, all steers weighing more than 1,000 pounds must sell at the 1,000-pound limit, and all pens, stalls and exhibition places must be cleaned each day.

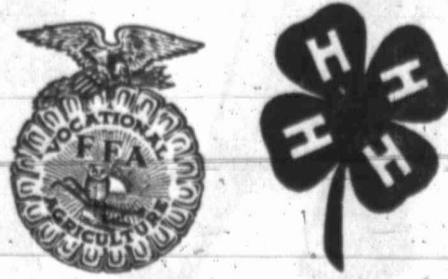

After all this work it is not hard to tell why a 4-H or FFA youngster is all smiles when he hears his name called for showing a grand champion animal.

Depression-Born Show Was Small

Howard County's now famous Fat Stock show for the years several years ago. The show was born in the depression and started small.

W. L. Wilson Jr., now prominent Howard and Borden county rancher, was the first youngster to win a grand championship in steers. His victory was not only over Howard County kids, but over those from Martin County as well. The two counties joined in the show.

The show has changed a lot since its first presentation 29 years ago. The event was held on the lot adjacent to the Ritz Theatre and drew a lot of interest, which has continued for 28 years.

When the first show was held it was not an uncommon sight to find "slop" buckets and pig troughs on farms where most farmers raised and butchered their own pork; milk pails and cow lots taking up space around the barns; and early-morning risers up well before daylight to do the "chores" before the day's work in the fields was started. Many 4-H and FFA boys then grew their own feed and fed out animals at home—under the direction of the FFA instructor, county agent, and Dad.

Records kept in the county agent's office, of shows back through 1945 show the number of animals; how they placed; and the price paid for those sold at auction. Before that date few records are available. Months for the show also changed. Howard County ranchers and businessmen have taken keen interest in the show. Just when the Junior Chamber of Commerce took over the sponsorship had not been determined. The late Marion Edwards, one of the early leaders, has been aided and followed by Horace Garrett, the McDowells, Tom Good, and others, who have not only bred fine animals shown by the boys and girls, but have seen that top animals draw good prices at auction sales.

While the first show was held in the open on the 500 block of Main Street, the animals were later moved to the building now used by the Big Spring Locker Co. at Gollad and East First. The next move was to present location on the Howard County Fairgrounds.

Just how many animals were shown in 1937 has not been established, but beef animals then outnumbered those shown now, and even back to 1945.

A review of the showings in 1948 listed 132 steers weighed in at 109,400 pounds; 124 lambs weighing 12,590 pounds; 65 swine weighing 17,550 pounds. The steers brought, at auction, $46,512; lambs $4,690 (plus $1,000 for wool); and the swine brought $6,500, for a gross total of $58,702.

The champion steer that year was fed by James Fryar of

Blind Man Disappears In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Blind piano tuner Gerald E. Henke set out to a client's home 11 days ago and disappeared.

While his partially blind wife Beverly, ill with cancer, waits and worries at their suburban Southfield home, police seek clues.

But authorities have come up with nothing substantial.

The Henkes, both 30, were married six years ago on Christmas Eve after a romance at a school for the blind. They are childless.

"DON'T WORRY"

"I love you, don't worry about me," Henke told his wife on a telephone call from Detroit the day he vanished — March 4.

Mrs. Henke indicated a steadfast hope for her husband's return. "He wouldn't leave me," she said at the white, brickfaced home which the couple bought last October.

Southfield Police Sgt. Floyd Rath said the case has baffling angles.

Friends described the Henkes as in love and inseparable.

Despite blindness, Henke, 6-foot-2, was self-reliant. He made his rounds carrying a folding cane.

His appearance, including a widow's peak in his crown hair and a depression over his right temple, would make anyone remember him, police said.

SUFFERED AMNESIA

"I'd know him just from his picture," Sgt. Rath said.

Rath said the possibilities of foul play or amnesia were being considered. He said Henke has suffered amnesia. Despite publication of Henke's picture, police said no one had come forward who had seen the missing man.

Henke was reported to have had nearly $500 in his possession when he disappeared.

Mrs. Henke has the company of her mother, Mrs. Corene Reetz of Detroit, who moved in with her daughter after Henke's disappearance.

Meeting Will Explain Head Start Program

The first open community meeting to explain the Head Start program has been set for 7 p.m. Wednesday at Kate Morrison School.

Parents and others interested in the program are urged to take part in the meeting, said Keith Swim, in charge of special programs for the Big Spring school system.

Although the registration period passed officially last week, approximately a dozen more coming six-year-olds (on or before Sept. 1) can be entered. The section of under-age (those who will be six during September or October) has been completely filled.

In addition to explanation of the program which children will have during the two months of Head Start (and possibly more if an extension can be worked), the transportation and nomination committees will report.

There will be a meeting of the pre-school committee after the general meeting, and the nomination committee composed of Eren Abreo, Frances Johnson, John Hernandez and Emanuel Limon will propose a slate of officers.

The transportation committee, made up of Wayne Nichols, Elmira Foreman, Francisco Galardo, and Mrs. Lidia Hernandez, will report on bus routes as affects the Head Start youngsters.

Committees have one representative each from the Cedar Crest, Bauer, Kate Morrison and Lakeview attendance areas. The Wednesday meeting is primarily for parents from these areas, but anyone is welcome.

THIS JUROR PROBABLY HAS THE VERY BEST OF EXCUSES

Willie James Hubbard, 306 NW 2nd, is ordered to report to the 118th District Court at 10 a. m. today for service with the jury panel called to try the current criminal docket in the court.

Willie James Hubbard, 306 NW 2nd, is slated to go on trial before the 118th District Court at 9 a. m. Wednesday for a charge of DWI second.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, voiced doubt Monday that Hubbard would be accepted by Judge Ralph Caton for jury duty.

Hubbard's name was drawn from the jury wheel and assigned, by coincidence, to the particular week when his own case was slated for trial.

Economy Run Cars Roll On

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N. M. (AP) — New Mexico readied a warm welcome today for drivers of the 1966 Mobil Economy Run rolling into the state from an overnight stay at Tucson, Ariz.

The 51 drivers of cars in the annual event were to be guests at a noon barbecue in Truth or Consequences.

Then, in Albuquerque, University of New Mexico cheerleaders planned to present each driver with a small red carpet. Albuquerque is tonight's stop en route to Boston, Mass., where the run ends Sunday.

Mobil Oil Co. said the drivers, returning some of the hospitality, had gifts for patients at Carrie Tinsley Hospital for Crippled Children here.

Les Villand, nine-time winner in Class A, was leading the pack at Tucson.

A Ford Fairlane driven by Al Johnson collided with Bob Checkley's Dodge Dart, slightly damaging both cars and slightly injuring Ed Marshall, the auto club observer riding with Johnson.

Selling tickets for the joint concert to be given on April 21 by the three choirs was discussed. Choir boosters as well as students will sell these tickets for $1. Money raised by the booster's projects will be used to finance the recognition awards for the junior high schools and to send the high school a cappella choir on tour to New Orleans, La., May 3-8. Ivey announced that the a cappella choir has been invited to sing at the state convention of the Federated Music Clubs of America April 16 at the Inn of the Six Flags near Fort Worth. After the concert, the choir will be treated to an afternoon at "Six Flags Over Texas."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Roy Cederberg to the 20 members who attended.

Collision Fatal To Cancer Victim

The bidding: South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
4 ♠ Pass 5 ♠ Pass
6 ♠ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠
South's plan of campaign was well conceived, but a slight lapse in execution led to his downfall.

When South's opening bid of one heart was greeted with an immediate jump raise by partner, he had visions of slam. Observe, however, that a Blackwood bid would be of little use, for it is not the number of aces held by North, but rather the location of his high cards that will determine the ultimate contract.

South accordingly showed his side control by bidding four diamonds. When North reciprocated by cue bidding the ace of clubs, South proceeded to six hearts inasmuch as he held a spade control himself. If North had bid four spades instead of five clubs, South would not have been warranted in going to slam faced as he would be with two losers in clubs. He could rebid five diamonds to show second round control in that suit, and thereby leave the final decision to North.

West made the most effective opening of a small trump. South was in with the eight of hearts, and he decided to work on North's club suit first for, if the clubs divided evenly, he was assured 12 tricks: the ace of diamonds and a diamond ruff, five hearts in his own hand and four clubs in dummy.

The ace and king of clubs were cashed followed by a small club which declarer trumped with the nine of hearts. When East discarded a spade on the third round, South abandoned his original plan and switched his attention to the diamond suit. The ace of diamonds was played and a small diamond was ruffed with the jack of hearts.

The five of hearts was led and overtaken by the ten. Another diamond was ruffed with the king of hearts; however, a ruff was suffered by South when West showed out. If the diamonds had divided four-three as was the normal expectation, it was declarer's intention, after trumping the second diamond, to ruff himself in with a club, draw the last trump, lead the king of diamonds felling the queen and then cash his long diamond for the 12th trick.

South had overlooked one slight additional prospect. Inasmuch as his diamond play was predicated on the expectation of a four-three division in that suit, he might just as well cash both the ace and king before he ruffs a diamond in dummy. If the diamonds are divided five-two, he may yet overcome the adverse distribution provided that East has the five diamonds.

Had South led out both high diamonds, he could have crossed-ruffed for the required 12 tricks. His only loser on the deal is a spade at the end.

Pleads Guilty, Gets Probation

ISMAEL Deanda, charged with possession of one marijuana cigarette, entered a plea of guilty to the charge against him in 118th District Court Monday afternoon. Judge Ralph Caton accepted the plea and sentenced Deanda to serve three years in the penitentiary. However, since the defendant had no prior record of trouble with the law, the court granted him a probated sentence.

Deanda's case was one of those slated for jury trial this week in 118th District Court.
