TENSE MOMENT FOR YOUNG SHEEP EXPERTS

Youngsters at Howard County Show await decision on their prized lambs

Judges Selecting Top Show Entries

The task of picking the best of 159 lambs was moving ahead at the county fair barns this forenoon. The judging of the lambs entered in the 29th annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Fat Stock Show was started at 9 a.m. Oliver Werst, county farm agent from Glasscock County, was the judge. He had to pick the best 10 animals from light and heavy-weight entries in the Finewool, Crossbred, Southdown and Medium Wool breeds. Then he had to select the champion and reserve champion of each breed. Finally he had to make up his mind which of the youngsters competing had the most ability as a lamb showman. He was moving ahead steadily with his monumental task late in the morning, but still had a long way to go before the coveted banners identifying the champions and reserve champions would be announced. Meantime, Stanley Westbrook, Tarleton State College, stood by. His task is not so heavy as that of Werst, but he also has some difficult decisions to make. He must pick the best of 18 fat steers entered by 4-H and FFA experts. He was to begin his work at 2 p.m. He will also decide the champion of the show, the reserve champion, and the best showman. A sizable gallery was on hand today to watch the judging. As each of the first 10 place winners in the events were read off by Herb Helbig, county farm agent and superintendent of the show, there was liberal applause. Tomorrow, the stock will be on display all day at the barns, and at 6 p.m. a barbecue dinner will be served for all exhibitors, sponsors, officials and buyers. At 7:30 p.m. the closing event and the climax of the show is reached with the auction sale. All of the steers will be sold and nearly half of the lambs. The Junior Chamber of Commerce has been busy for several weeks lining up buyers to bid in the stock. Randall Sherrod and Dub Bryant are to share in the auction duties. Werst said the sheep shown were of excellent quality and that selecting the top animals was a difficult chore. First division judged was that of the Fine Wool lambs. Results were: Lightweight: 1. Sarah Oakes, Coahoma 4-H; 2. Bill Parmenter, 4-H; 3. Neal Bryson, 4-H; 4. Phil Parmenter, 4-H; 5. Rodney Hudson, 4-H; 6. Sherry Phillips, 4-H; 7. Ryan Walker, 4-H; 8. Steve Foster, Coahoma FFA; 9. Steve Fraser, Coahoma FFA; 10. James Henry, Big Spring FFA. Heavyweight—1 and 6, Dixie Coleman, 4-H; 2. Nancy Mann, Coahoma 4-H; 3. Ernest Lowe, 4-H; 4. Wes Seay, 4-H; 5. Nancy Phillips, 4-H; 7 and 8, Terry Davis, 4-H; 9. Randy Lowe, 4-H; 10. Sherry Phillips, 4-H.

Gemini 8 Astronauts Stalk Craft In Space

Historic Satellite Hookups On Tap

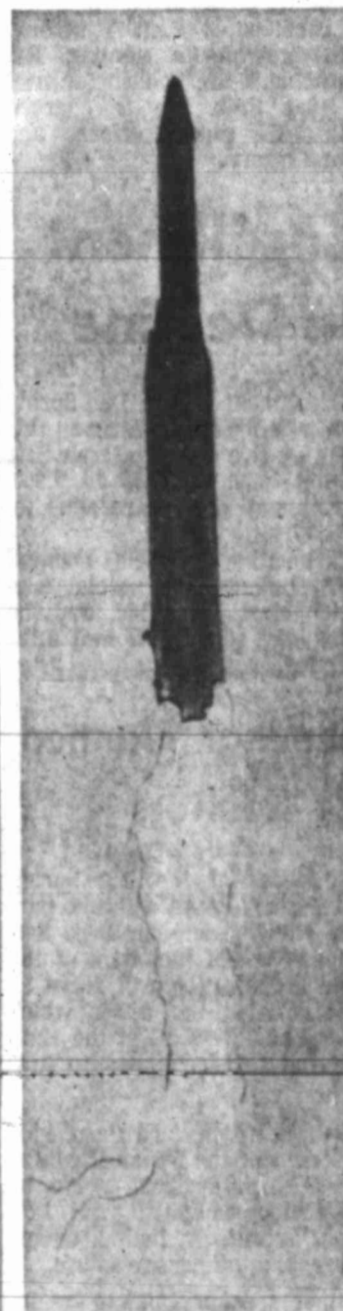

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The Gemini 8 astronauts soared into orbit today on man's most difficult space venture and began stalking an Agena satellite across the sky in the first attempt to link up two orbiting vehicles.

Neil Armstrong and David Scott planned to close in on the Agena late today after a 105,000-mile chase and complete the historic docking about 5 p.m. Big Spring time, high above South America. But the excitement of the action-packed flight won't end there. Three additional hookups are planned and Thursday Scott is to drift out into the silent emptiness of space for a record space walk of nearly 2 1/2 hours.

STEPS TO MOON

By the time the astronauts return to earth Saturday, if all goes as planned, they will have rehearsed many of the vital techniques that must be perfected before men venture to the moon.

Watts Riot Takes Lives

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Six hundred Negroes rampaged for six hours late Tuesday, leaving at least two dead and 26 injured in a South Los Angeles area still showing scars of last August's bloody riot.

A massive force of several hundred police swiftly sealed off a 36-square-block section in the predominantly Negro Watts district, then moved in to clear the streets of mobs firing guns, hurling bottles, looting stores and upsetting cars. He said he received a tip from Assemblyman F. Douglas Ferrell, D-Los Angeles, and told Guard officials to confer with police about possible activation of the Guard. Lt. Frank Beeson said police had learned some valuable lessons last August which were applied successfully Tuesday. "Last time we used motorcycle officers, who proved very vulnerable. This time we are sending everybody down in cars," he said. There were other lessons which apparently had not been taken to heart.

LEARNED LESSONS

Gov. Edmund G. Brown flew to Los Angeles, decided against calling out the alerted National Guard and announced: "Everything is well under control for the time being." At the height of the outbreak a white truck driver, Lawrence Gomez, 30, father of five, was shot to death as he pounded on doors seeking refuge from a Negro mob. Shortly afterward a Negro, Joe Lee Crawford, 33, died as he walked out of a store into cross-fire between police and rioters. There were unconfirmed reports of a third death. 27 ARRESTED Police said 27 persons were arrested. Like last August, when the six-day toll was 34 dead and $40 million in damage from looting and fire, the violence was triggered by a minor incident. Police said a Negro man threw a rock at a car driven by a white man. The white man, slightly injured, stopped and called police. It was about 3:20 p.m. and nearby Jordan High School was just letting out for the day. Negro students gathered around the group and began accusing the officers of brutality in arresting the rock hurler. BRICKS FLY Bricks and bottles flew from the growing mob. Police said Negroes started overturning automobiles and setting them afire. Violence spread like wildfire through the streets of Watts. The first victim, Gomez, stepped from his truck to make a delivery of bottled water and was surrounded by a dozen young Negroes. "Let's get the water man," one shouted. Two shots were fired, hitting Gomez in the head and chest. He pounded on four doorways in vain, then fell to the sidewalk and died. PATROL CARS As looting, shooting and stabbing spread, police mobilized half the patrol cars in all seven metropolitan divisions and rushed them to the Watts area, 15 miles south of downtown Los Angeles. Officers said that at one time more than 600 Negroes were rioting in the streets, lined with gutted buildings never restored after the August outbreak. Police set up barricades around the area centering on 103rd Street and Wilmington Avenue, then moved in with shotguns ready. By 7 p.m., they had cleared the streets. UNDER CONTROL Two hours later Gov. Brown flew in to confer with Mayor Samuel W. Yorty and then announced the riot was under control.

Extension Of Sign-Up Asked

AUSTIN (AP) — Sam Houston Clinton Jr., Austin attorney, said today he is filing a federal court suit asking that Texas' 15-day voter registration period be extended to allow registration until 30 days before any election. The suit was filed in the names of Stanley Woods, Democratic candidate for governor, and Mrs. Ann G. Evans, Nederland, and Mrs. David Carr, Houston, both members of the Texas Democratic Executive committee. The federal court petition asked the court to: 1. Declare the 15-day period "an unreasonable and arbitrary restraint on the right to vote." 2. Issue orders to permit any person in the state who is qualified to register as a voter for elections held before Feb. 1, 1967 "within a reasonable period of time not to exceed 30 days before any such election in which persons desire to vote."

Woods appeared before the State Democratic Executive Committee Monday and said at that time he would file such a suit. He also attempted unsuccessfully to get the committee to place on the May 7 Democratic primary ballot a referendum on "annual" or "permanent" registration. Mrs. Carr and Mrs. Evans asks that Woods' referendum request be considered but were outvoted by other committee members. The 15-day emergency registration period was set by the recent special legislative session when it passed Texas' first free voter registration act. The special session resulted from a Feb. 9 federal court decision that Texas' requirement of a poll tax for voting was unconstitutional.

When the astronauts took off, the 26-foot long Agena was directly over the Cape. By the time they achieved orbit six minutes later, the fast-moving Agena had streaked out about 1,200 miles in front of them and was over the Atlantic, northeast of the island of Antigua. ON COURSE Gemini 8 was aimed at an orbit ranging from 100 to 168 statute miles. (See SPACE, P. 2-A, C. 1)

President Signs Measure Increasing Federal Revenue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed a bill to bring the government about $6 billion in additional revenue over the next 15 months. He used the signing ceremony to announce he plans to ask Congress next year to make "Social Security benefits more adequate." Johnson gave no details but said he has asked Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner to make a study of possible improvements in Social Security. The bill the President signed Tuesday night — within three hours after Congress gave it final approval — grants Social Security coverage to about 300,000 persons over 72.

MEASURES ADVANCE The signing ceremony capped a busy day for the President and Congress which saw the advancement of four money measures to bolster the nation's Viet Nam war effort. The first effect of the tax bill is to increase from 6 per cent to 7 per cent starting today the excise tax on car sales. The measure also reinstates as of April 1 the 10 per cent tax on phone calls — the levy is now 3 per cent — and provides speed-ups in collection of corporate and personal income taxes. The latter takes effect May 1. $1.2 BILLION The bill is expected to provide some $1.2 billion in extra money by June 30 and $4.8 billion during fiscal 1967 starting July 1 to help finance the Viet Nam war. Johnson again said he would make no prediction now whether additional tax rises will be necessary later this year but added "you may be assured that this administration stands ready to act when action is needed — if it is needed. I am certain that the Congress stands ready to respond in the same manner." There were these other developments: TO SENATE — The House passed and sent to the Senate an appropriations bill providing $13,135,719,000 in emergency defense funds, military assistance and foreign economic aid. The House vote was 389 to 3, and Senate approval seemed assured, possibly today. — The Senate okayed by voice vote and forwarded to the House an authorization measure providing $415 million in extra economic aid, most of it for South Viet Nam, with smaller sums for the Dominican Republic, Laos, Thailand and the President's contingency fund. The actual funds to be spent under this authorization are contained in the 13-billion-plus appropriations measure. MILITARY HARDWARE — President Johnson signed another authorization measure to provide $4.8 billion for additional military hardware. The actual funds under this authorization are also in the $13-billion-plus bill. Tuesday's action on the tax bill enabled Congress to meet the March 15 deadline set weeks ago by the President. Johnson observed at the signing ceremony that by doing so Congress had saved the government $1 million a day — the amount of anticipated revenue from the auto tax. RESTORE LEVIES Both of the excise tax increases restore levies lowered last year, and both are designed as temporary measures to run until June 30, 1967. The final votes to approve the bill — which was virtually the same as Johnson had proposed — were 72 to 5 in the Senate and 288 to 102 in the House. The higher excise tax on autos does not apply to cars in the hands of dealers but does apply to any on order from the factory.

Deadline Thursday In Voter Sign-Up

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor, warned today that deadline for the special registration of voters expires at midnight Thursday. She also said that the law specifies applications sent by mail must be in her hands by midnight in order to be accepted. She has announced her office will be open until midnight, as service to belated voters who will want to register. Through Tuesday the special registration had added 697 voters to the county's list of qualified electors. Sixty-four were added to the list Tuesday. These were individuals who came to the office. In addition to the 697, Mrs. LeFevre said she has a considerable number of mail applications yet to be processed. All applications mailed to her and which reach her office prior to midnight Thursday will be accepted and receipts mailed to the applicants entitling them to vote in all 1966 elections. Included in the new voters added to the total on Tuesday were 19 who had registered at the Coahoma State Bank.

Forsan School Shift, Building Plans Made

FORSAN — Changes in school organization and a decision to call a $350,000 bond election came out of a busy session for Forsan Independent County Line School District trustees Tuesday evening. Effective next autumn, the junior high grades will be shifted from Elbow to Forsan, and the elementary grades will be shifted from Forsan to Elbow, said Supt. Darrell Flynt. Trustees decided on a $350,000 figure for the impending bond issue for building modifications and construction. Date of the election will be fixed later. Gary & Hohertz of Big Spring were named architects for the job. Carter Johnston, fiscal agent,

CARS CAUSE RED FACES

Two Detroit look-alikes gave local residents red faces yesterday, officers said. Jack Tibbs, Leed's Shoe Store, told officers someone took his car by mistake from its parking place yesterday afternoon, and left another identical car, in the adjacent parking slot. Officers checked and found that Tibbs' keys fit the car, and ran a license check on the vehicle. The registered owner was called, and he said he would be glad to get Tibbs' car back to him, but his wife had the car out for a ride. Neither of them had noticed any difference in the autos.

Two Killed Near Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — A car-truck collision seven miles south of O'Donnell Tuesday night killed two women and injured the driver of the truck. State police identified the dead women as Mrs. Virgie Nieman Brannon, 35, Lubbock, and her mother, Mrs. Elisa Nieman, 68, Wilson. The bodies were taken to the Brannon-Phillips Funeral Home in Lamesa and later transferred to the Williams Funeral Home in Slaton, where services are pending. The driver of the truck, Gerald O'Neal, Odessa, was taken to a Lamesa hospital, where doctors said he was in good condition today. He was expected to be dismissed from the hospital Thursday. O'Neal was driving the truck for Tom Brown Drilling Co., Midland.

Docking Could Be Like This

The Gemini 8 and the Agena unmanned spacecraft could rendezvous and dock in this manner in this concept if all goes according to plan when Astronauts Neil Armstrong and David Scott make the historic attempt. At right, in drawing, the target Agena is stationary at upper right as Armstrong and Scott approach it in their spacecraft, and then, at left, the two vehicles are joined. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Taxpaying Tip: 'Be Organized'

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you owe Uncle Sam some money on last year's income tax, take heart. You've got some high-level company.

Sheldon S. Cohen, who as commissioner of internal revenue is the federal government's top tax collector, disclosed today that he owes an additional $71.05 but plans to pay up this week.

April 15 is the deadline for filing income tax returns for 1965. If you owe money, it must be paid by that time. For Cohen, the $71.05 is the amount that his withholding fell short of his tax for the year.

Cohen said in an interview that he prepared his own tax return — "I do my own, I always have" — he and his wife have four children — and listed his occupation as government employee.

That, he said, is so one of his employees in the Internal Revenue Service can't tell at a glance that it's the commissioner's return and won't shy away from withdrawing it for a possible audit if one appears necessary.

Cohen's return has been audited the last two years and found in good order, he said.

While many Americans find income tax time a yearly struggle, Cohen said it need not be. The greatest problem, he noted, is in accumulating the needed information.

"Most people are disorganized," he said. "They don't think of the information they'll need until they're ready to fill out the tax form. But once the information is available the rest is routine."

What does Cohen do?

He said, for example, that he keeps a cigar box in the cupboard into which he and his wife drop drug store and similar receipts. He also pays all doctor bills by check and consequently has a handy record in canceled checks.

Another handy device, Cohen added, is to keep a record of any dividend and interest income throughout the year.

When income tax time rolled around, the commissioner said, he merely double-checked his records with his W2 form — the one which listed his government salary at $28,500 yearly — and the statements he received from banks and corporations in which he holds stock.

"It's a bit late for New Year's resolutions," Cohen said, "but people should resolve to have all the information available for income tax time by keeping records."

Publishers Fight Newsprint Boost

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Southern Newspaper Publishers Association is urging its members to aid in development of new and expanded newsprint production in the South because of recent price hikes by newsprint firms.

SNPA officials, meeting Tuesday, approved a resolution promising to "combat with all the resources at our command any increase in newsprint prices at this time."

TO $10

Recent price increases by some firms range from $5 to $10 a ton.

The publishers group, which represents more than 400 daily newspapers in 14 states, called the price increases "an unwarranted and inflationary action."

The association said it finds no justification in sectional price differences "as now exists between the West and the East" and which are discriminatory to the South and the Southwest."

MANY CANCELLATIONS

Officials at the special meeting predicted there would be wholesale contract cancellations unless the paper companies reconsider.

Association chairman Ben H. Golden of Chattanooga said the "completely unwarranted" price increases would mean a $75 million blow to the newspaper industry and could force many papers out of business. He said SNPA members faced a $16 million increase.

"If there is going to be a price increase at all," Golden said, "the manufacturers should stick to the President's 3.2 formula on increases . . . no more than $4.25 per ton."

Vandals Enter Area Schools

Police said that several area schools were ransacked by vandals Monday night.

Just after midnight Monday, officers received a call from a Coahoma deputy, who said Coahoma High School had been entered and "torn up pretty badly." Local officers alerted police in surrounding communities.

Reports this morning indicated that schools in Westbrook and Lorraine had also been vandalized.

Injuries Fatal To Young Texan

DALLAS (AP)—Roger Charles Smith, 18, North Texas State University student from Dallas, died Tuesday following brain surgery for accident injuries.

Young Smith was injured Friday night on Interstate 35 north of Gainesville on a Red River bridge.

A native of Teaneck, N.J., the youth had lived in Dallas about 8 years.

Irish Reply To Theory Of 2 St. Pats: Blarney

NEW YORK (AP) — On the eve of St. Patrick's Day the Irish may fall victim to the same fate that set off the Italians just before Columbus Day.

What happened is that an Irish scholar at the University of Detroit suggested Tuesday that St. Patrick is mostly legend — and actually may have been two different people.

"We have documents of another Patrick far too early for the St. Patrick we now celebrate," said Dr. John Mahoney, two generations removed from County Cork and County Kerry.

"The first probably did part of the work we credit to St. Patrick."

LIVED-TO 125?

Mahoney said St. Patrick would have had to have lived to be 125 to accomplish all that is credited to him.

A few days before Columbus Day last year Yale University came out with its Vinland map, which scholars said indicated that Viking Leif Erickson explored America centuries before Columbus. The Italians, to put it mildly, were upset.

Are the Irish about to get their Irish up? There seems little likelihood of a Doneybrook since most took the whole idea as blarney.

"That theory is as old as the hills," said George E. Ryan, president of the Boston Eire Society. "You even hear some people talking about there being three St. Patricks. The important thing about a legend is not whether it's true or not, but that millions believed one man did all those things."

JUST MIXED UP?

Pinn Walsh, a bartender in Kansas City and a native of County Kerry, said: "The good gentleman's probably just a bit mixed up. I just don't know where he could have found the second."

As far as St. Patrick's accomplishments are concerned, New York City Council President Frank D. O'Connor, grand marshal of New York's parade Thursday, has an answer. "He seemed like two men because he got so much done," O'Connor said.

Gerda Voices Her Denials

OTTAWA (AP) — The German woman in Canada's sex and security scandal declared in a radio-television interview Tuesday night that she had never been a spy and that her relationship with two former Canadian Cabinet ministers was purely social.

The interview with Mrs. Gerda Munsinger, carried by the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., came a few hours after the House of Commons ended a stormy four-day debate on the Liberal government's charges that the 36-year-old blonde's contacts with high officials of previous Conservative governments may have endangered national security.

her willingness to appear before the investigating commission if she is asked to do so. Canadian immigration authorities said they would admit her to the country on a special permit if her testimony is desired.

FROM MUNICH
In the televised interview, which was filmed in Munich, she was asked whether she had ever served the Russians or any other country as an agent.

"That's a lie," she said. "Those people harmed me so much in my young life that I would never even move a finger for any one of them."

She said she had not communicated with anyone in East Germany since she left there in 1945.

She was asked if her friendships with Sevigny and Hees "were just social or were they something closer than that?"

"Sociable," she replied. "Did you discuss politics or other government matters with members of the Canadian Cabinet?" she was asked.

"Never. No place and no time." In a news conference March 10 Canada's present justice minister, Lucien Cardin, likened the Munsinger case to the Profumo scandals in Britain. He said the woman had been a spy before coming to Canada and that the country's security had been involved.

Planet Exploration Development Due

DALLAS (AP) — Whether there is plant life on other planets will be determined within two decades or not until centuries later, a recognized authority predicted Tuesday.

This opinion was expressed by Dr. Robert B. Painter, formerly with the exobiology division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and now at the San Francisco medical center of the University of California.

Our technology should develop sufficiently in 20 years to examine all planets in our solar system capable of supporting life, he said in a lecture to scientists at the Graduate Research Center of the Southwest.

It will take hundreds of years of technological advance before similar examination of planets in other solar systems is feasible, he said.

While Painter does not rule out the possibility of intelligent beings elsewhere in the universe, he said small micromolecular organisms are about all that may be expected on nearby planets.

"I personally believe that our greatest chance of finding such life in this solar system will be on Mars although the environment there appears to be very hostile," Painter said.

He expressed the opinion that any such life would be small plants similar to the lichens on earth because they have proved adaptable to such varied surroundings as the polar regions and the tropics.

Ten Seeking School Seats

FORSAN (SC) — No school district in this area can match the Forsan Independent County Line School District for range of choice in the trustee election.

Ten candidates are lined up for three places in the April 2 election.

Incumbents Elmer G. Patton Jr., Bobby Wash and Frank Philley are among those on the ballot. Others are Stanley Willis, Charles V. Spurgin, H. C. Tidwell, Oliver Nichols Jr., Mrs. Betty P. Heideman, Mrs. A. D. Barton, and Bob Cowley, the latter a former member.

Mrs. J. P. Kubecka is election judge of the Forsan box and Mrs. Homer Thorp of the Elbow box.

Absentee voting is now underway at the office of Mayor Jack Lamb in Forsan, and it will continue to three days prior to the election.

Burglars Get Away With $60

Burglars took more than $60 from the Cue and Triangle Club, 205 Runnels, Monday night, W. H. Mullan reported to officers.

Mullan told police that two $20 bills, one $1 bill and $20 in change were taken from the storage room, and that a roll of 50 cent pieces was taken from a desk in the rear office. Officers said the unlocked back door was entered by the burglars, and that the door to the storage room was forced.

South's bidding campaign was based on the desire to uncover the safest contract. After he had raised his partner's one-spade response to two spades, North revealed a double fit by bidding three diamonds. South cue bid the ace of hearts next and North reciprocated in clubs.

South made the key call of the auction now by bidding four diamonds. He was willing to cooperate with his partner if North showed an inclination to persist with spades but, from South's viewpoint, diamonds appeared to offer a more secure haven. North backed up South's judgment by proceeding directly to six diamonds.

West opened the queen of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. A club was led at trick two and ruffed in the closed hand. Two rounds of diamonds cleared up the trump situation. The king and ace of hearts were cashed and a heart trumped in dummy. A club ruff completed the stripping operation.

A spade was led from the closed hand and, when West followed with the seven, North covered with the jack and, in order to avoid giving the declarer a ruff and discard, he was obliged to return a spade. He chose the queen which was taken by dummy's ace as West discarded a club and then, on the return, South finessed against the nine by playing the eight from his hand.

Declarer's safety play will succeed against any distribution. If West has the missing spade honors, dummy's ten will win the trick. If East's honor is a singleton, then he must give South a discard on the return. Finally, if West follows when East leads a spade back, then the suit will split.

DeGaulle's Stock Falls In Germany

CHARLES DE GAULLE'S stock is falling again in West Germany because he apparently wants France to do here just what he wants to stop the United States from doing in France. He is taking steps to put French forces in Germany fully under his own command.

There are 60,000 to 70,000 French troops in West Germany, at least on paper. The United States has 26,000 in France.

In West Germany, the troops of the United States, Britain and France still are stationed in the same areas they have held 20 years. About 50,000 British are in the north and 250,000 Americans in the central and southern portions of the country. The French are in the southwest.

ARE SENSITIVE

The West Germans do not complain about this situation. Yet in some ways they are even more sensitive about national sovereignty than De Gaulle. In 1945, they were a defeated nation without rights. A decade later they joined the Atlantic Alliance. Any proposal that looks like a lowering of their status gets a most unfriendly reception in Bonn.

So the presence of foreign troops is all right with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government as long as they are under a unified Atlantic command, as are West Germany's own 400,000 men. Looking across the Iron Curtain that divides their country, the West Germans express worry if there is any question of cutting down the strength.

FRENCH COMMAND

Now the prospect arises that the French troops will revert to purely French command even without an emergency.

Plant Explosion Recalls Disaster At Texas City

ALVIN, Tex. (AP) — An explosion and fire at the Monsanto Co.'s multi-million dollar Chocolate Bayou plant stirred fears of another Texas City disaster Tuesday night, but there were no deaths and damage was slight.

Nine men suffered injuries, none serious.

Plant manager W. F. Zimmermann described the 7:30 p.m. explosion as minor. He said company firemen quickly extinguished the ensuing blaze.

"Damage to the affected unit was minor," he said.

KEPT OVERNIGHT

Six of eight men taken to Alvin Memorial Hospital were kept overnight. Another was admitted to Galveston County Memorial Hospital in Texas City.

A physician reported those at the hospital here suffered burns on their faces and hands. He said they were in satisfactory condition.

The blast occurred during a routine shutdown of one of the plant's ethylene units and presumably resulted from a gas leak, Zimmermann said. A large portion of the plant, built in 1962, had been closed for repairs.

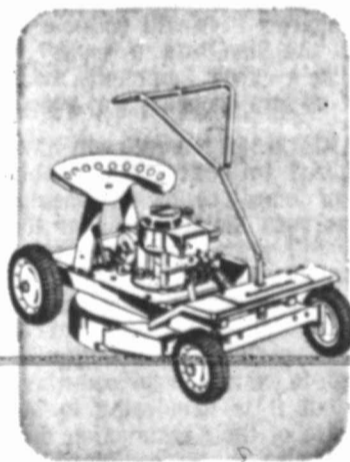

REVIVES MEMORIES

Although minor, the explosion revived memories of a series of 1947 blasts at Texas City, starting in the nitrate cargo of a freighter, that took more than 500 lives. Damage in that disaster included the destruction of a Monsanto Chemical Co. plant.

Hebert Hutson, 40, of Houston, treated for burns and dismissed from the Alvin hospital, was the only Monsanto employee injured.

The others, employed by a construction company, are J. H. Claire, Jr., 43, Houston; Delbert Griffin, 24, Angleton; Victor Milam, 43, Waller; G. F. Burton, 47, Alvin; J. B. Evans Jr., 39, Alcoa; C. J. Oliver, 46, Cleveland; Kenneth D. Smith, 33, La Porte, and F. W. Martin, 48, Angleton.

Too Slow An Instrument

Professional economists can only hope that Undersecretary of the Treasury Joseph W. Barr is not overly optimistic or premature in his judgment that Congress has achieved a flexibility on tax policy making that a trustworthy tool for countering fluctuations in the national economy.

Tools for achieving economic stability, or steady expansion, include budgeting, monetary or credit controls, and taxation. The latter has long been considered unreliable because of the excessive time lag between a presidential request and congressional action. A tax policy requested to aid recovery would not be put into effect until inflation had set in, and a tax policy designed to combat inflation would not be passed until the economy had begun to slump into recession.

Barr commented that then Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon had as recently as mid-1964 written off taxation as "a counter-cyclical economic policy tool." And no wonder: Congress had just passed a year or more later a tax cut urged by former President Kennedy to sustain the economic expansion that began faltering in late 1962. As evidence of certainly more desirable congressional flexibility on tax policy, Barr cites the promptness with which Congress cut excise taxes last year and the speed with which it is acting on President Johnson's tax bill now. And he thinks Congress would quickly hike taxes more later in the year if a threat of serious war-caused inflation called for that.

Perhaps, and hopefully, he may be right. Surely Congress will never give the executive branch discretionary authority to raise and lower tax rates quickly to smooth out business cycles. And the present administration has even dropped an earlier request that Congress set up special legislative procedures for fast action on tax changes needed to "heat up" or "cool off" the national economy.

But less than a year's experience is hardly enough to justify Undersecretary Barr's sweeping judgment, especially when drawn-out acrimonious congressional tax battles of the recent past are recalled. And given a president without a really working majority in Congress, it seems likely that tax policy might again become a very blunt economic tool.

Critical Decade

Birth control by one means or another appears to be the only solution to the problem of rising population. Even the gloomiest predictions of Thomas Malthus will become reality if population is not controlled.

But the short-range problem is acute. The grim threat of famine hangs over Asia and Latin America. Dr. Roger Revelle, director of Harvard University's new Center for Population Studies, estimates that one-third of the people in the world today are overfed and two-thirds never get enough to eat.

The next 10 years will be critical, even with growing acceptance of the need for limitation on family size. We must somehow feed the hungry mouths of today while waiting for the impact of population control.

At the moment relief of sorts is being provided by nations with agricultural surpluses, principally the United States. But this can be only a stopgap approach. A fundamental and well integrated attack on the problem must be made on a country by country basis. New land must be placed in cultivation and fertilizer and hybrid seed provided in order to help deficit nations to help themselves. Here there is a problem with a problem, the difficulty of persuading people to try new foods and break the eating habits of their history. It sometimes seems as if some peoples would rather go hungry than try any strange food, even if that food is a staple in other countries.

We can, if we are willing to devote sufficient energy to it, feed the 60 million new mouths that will join the population flood in each of the next 10 years. But not with our own resources alone. We must be willing to help generously other people to help themselves.

David Lawrence

The Cost Of Health And Education

WASHINGTON — When the American people read about a presidential message to Congress that outlines various proposals to improve the education and health of the nation by the spending of $18 billion a year, it might be assumed that the federal government is doing the major part of the job in both fields.

TO PUT THE situation into perspective, however, it should be noted that the actual figures for fiscal year 1965 show that the expenditures for education at all levels — public and private — totaled $39 billion, only 11 per cent of which came from federal funds. Likewise, in fiscal year 1964 — the latest for which a breakdown of figures is available — national health expenditures amounted to nearly $37 billion, with 12.9 per cent coming from federal sources.

This means that the state and city governments and private individuals and organizations provided almost 90 per cent of the total spending for education, and 87 per cent of the entire health expenditures of the nation.

THE SIGNIFICANT fact, of course, is that federal participation in both health and educational projects has been increasing steadily in the last few years. From fiscal year 1965 to 1967, the federal share will have gone from about 11 per cent to 17 per cent of total outlays for education. In the federal appropriations for health, the advance has been from 12.9 per cent of the total expenditures in 1964 up to what now is estimated will be approximately a 20 per cent participation next year.

THIS IS not the result of any sudden outburst of generosity by the federal government but has been forced upon it by the growing population of the country and the inability of the states and cities to impose and collect enough taxes to meet all the burdens arising from the increase in the number of persons for whom additional facilities have become necessary.

The federal government has, moreover, found that there are collateral activities of research and training services which have not previously been covered adequately by the state, city and private systems of education or health.

FOR SEVERAL years, of course, the federal government has participated in programs of hospital construction. Indeed, over the last 18 years there has been a federal, state and local partnership which, as the President's message itself reveals, has added more than 300,000 hospital and nursing-home beds and more than 2,000 other health facilities in areas of need.

Perhaps the most acute need is in the availability of doctors. President Johnson said in his message:

"THE NUMBER of general practitioners is declining — 66,000 today compared to 95,000 15 years ago. In 1950 there was one family physician for every 1,600 Americans. Today 2,900 Americans must depend on one family doctor."

While the federal government is supplementing substantially what the states and communities have been doing in education and health, there is little likelihood that the local governmental units themselves will experience any relief from the financial burden.

WHAT REALLY needs to be put in perspective is that the major part of the cost of both health and education is being borne by the citizens through their own expenditures and the taxes they pay to states and cities, while the federal government is belatedly but necessarily helping out in what promises to be a steadily expanding obligation.

Red Chinese Leaders Now Reactionary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Red Chinese leadership, old now and inflexibly set in its ways, makes noises like a revolutionary force but has become a reactionary one. It has happened before in this century.

In the Soviet Union, Stalin, once he took charge, became a reactionary, murderous force, as his successors admitted later. The Russian people may have improved a bit economically under him but freedom became a joke and terror a way of life.

BECAUSE HE remained inflexible in his hostility and ambitions, the Western world had its containment policy which held him tight.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., figures the average age of the present Chinese leaders is 68. Together in the 1920s and 1930s they dreamed of their revolution and takeover and made both a reality in 1949.

They made a true revolution in their homeland and for millions of their poor and hungry countrymen it was probably good. But, like Stalin, they gradually became a menace to the world, and certainly to all of Asia.

IT IS possible their successors, like Stalin's, may be more reasonable and modern and that the whole world then can enter a more peaceful era.

But it is hard to see any such change, so long as the present leadership survives, despite any hopes of American Chinese scholars or the Johnson administration.

And outside its borders this leadership has been inept. In its zeal to spread communism into China it has made one mess after another. It can't even get along with other Communist states, much less Western ones.

IT SPLIT with the Soviet Union, split with and antagonized Fidel Castro's Cuba.

In recent years Indonesia looked lost to communism under President Sukarno. But last fall when the Indonesian Reds tried revolt, the army crushed them and, reportedly, slaughtered thousands. Now the army has stripped Sukarno of much of his power.

The recent overthrow of Ghana's Kwame Nkrumah was considered a reverse for Red China. The Communist-backed war in Viet Nam resulted in a massive American military buildup in Southeast Asia.

STILL THINKING of a Communist take-over of the world, the Communist ideal of 30 or 40 years ago, Red Chinese leadership through its defense minister, Marshal Lin, last September talked of strangling the world's advanced countries from bases in undeveloped countries.

Last week two American

Chinese scholars urged, before the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, that while the United States should continue to "contain" China to prevent aggression, it should begin to try for friendly relations with it.

And Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, over the past weekend, indicated what may be a new Johnson administration policy toward Red China.

WHILE CHINA must be contained, he said, "we must take every opportunity to show our friendship for the Chinese people" who should not be isolated from the "family of mankind."

St. Patrick... Who's That?

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — With Batman and international spies so popular these days, it's hard to impress a youngster with the importance of St. Patrick—even if his family ties go back to the old country.

"Sean," I asked my nephew the other day, "do you know what Thursday is?"

"Sure, Unk, that's Batman Day on television."

I LOOKED into the face of the 7-year-old and rubbed his thatch of carrot-colored hair, and said, "It's also St. Patrick's Day."

"Was he a spy?"

"No, but he was a good guy. He was against the bad guys."

"Like Thrush, huh?"

"Thrush?"

"YEAH, THRUSH, in 'The Man from U.N.C.L.E.," he said. I poured him a glass of milk and fetched some cookies to rivet his attention.

Before I could make my pitch for St. Patrick—the man from Ireland—he said: "Batman has a cape and he can fly."

It must have been about that time that St. Pat smiled on me because I conjured up a bit of blarney.

"ST. PATRICK was kind of a spy for the good guys. A lot of people from Thrush were in a country called Ireland, a long time ago. The bad ones didn't care about good things. They would fight and steal and kill each other."

"So, St. Patrick was assigned to Ireland on a special mission to drive out the bad guys. They were called snakes."

"HE WOULD walk into little towns, unafraid. He wore a long green cape and told the people to try to be good."

Sean interrupted, "Batman has a cape."

"That's right. Well, St. Patrick spent most of his life fighting the bad guys. And now on March 17 each year, we remember him on this special day. People from Ireland and descendants of the Irish honor St. Patrick."

ABOUT THAT time, his mother came through the kitchen door and said:

"Sean, you devil, I've been looking all over for you. Sister Margaret called from school and she wants you to play Batman in the school play on St. Patrick's Day."

He grabbed a supply of cookies and raced out the door yelling over his shoulder, "Sorry about that, chief!"

Around The Rim

When Heroes Came Out Of The Sky

Just how far and how fast we have come within half a century is evidenced by the news of today. Here we are orbiting men in space and one of them — David Scott, a former student at Webb AFB, by the way — will literally walk around the world while outside the space capsule. It could be that the orbit will take him near where he used to "creep" along at a mere 300 miles per hour in the first jet trainers.

IT IS, of course, a prime news story, but most people will not be unduly excited about it. Except for the amount of time outside the capsule and the projected repeats of rendezvous with a satellite craft, it has been done before. So most of us are a bit blasé about it.

'Twas not ever so. Back around 1912, as some old timers recall, a Bob Fowler and another intrepid flyer took off from opposite sides of the continent in a race to see whose wonderful flying machine could span the nation first.

THE PROJECT was financed by getting towns along the way to make up a pot as an inducement for the aviators to land their planes. The vast majority of people had never seen an aeroplane, as they were called (or spelled), and now a few were skeptical that man could actually fly. Big Spring got on the itinerary by making up two or three hundred dollars, and sure enough, Mr. Fowler came flopping in from the west. Louis Price spotted him first with his field glasses, and excited murmur ran through the crowd assembled on the landing field somewhere in the vicinity of South Ward School.

PEOPLE WERE so curious about this mass of canvas, wood struts and wire that they had to be held back. The pilot had to chase-off one lady who wanted to write her name on the canvas. Soon he was on his way, only to crack up his machine a couple of hundred miles to the east (he escaped). But this was a topic for conversation for weeks, months and even years.

When a Lt. Plum appeared later, hinting that he was looking for landing fields for an airmail route (he picked out the area where Webb AFB is now located), there was more excitement. The fabulous oil promoter, S. E. J. Cox, set the town on fire with excitement when he used his bi-plane to commute between here and his other operations. It was one of the show-pieces at a big celebration in 1920, and Shorty Wells, a cow-puncher of the old school, strapped a saddle just in front of the tail assembly and went for a sky ride.

IN THE mid-twenties, when word came that the Army pilots, who had been on a successful round-the-world flight in their DeHavilland's, would fly over here on the final leg of the journey home, the town was set a-buzzing. On the day when they did roar overhead, following the T&P tracks from perhaps a thousand feet up, everyone in the streets cheered, and someone touched off the town's fire siren.

Touched the decade was over, the natives were watching the skies for another hero who had captured the nation's admiration as perhaps no other. Charles A. Lindbergh, on a tour of the country, was winging his way home in his monoplane. It was just this one tiny plane, puttering over the center of town, but it was enough to raise goose bumps.

Armchair Solutions Are Simple

WASHINGTON — You sometimes get the idea that the only critical shortage we have is in armchairs. If we had enough of these comfortable and throne-like seats, it would be easy to fill them with short-order experts and soon have consolation for every disappointment and solution for all our problems.

The President and the NASA officials, for instance, were worried sick the other day when the Russians planted one of the space vehicles on Venus, thereby demonstrating that Soviet science and industry in this difficult field — with alarming military connotations — are further ahead of us than we thought possible.

HOWEVER I opened a small, but colorful magazine recently and read an illustrated article which could only have been composed in a rocking chair. The article's author soon proved to his own satisfaction that the Russian feat was a hoax concocted of trick photography with a dash of conspiracy on the part of traitorous wretches who want us to believe that the Russians are too mighty for us to resist.

EXPERTISE of the same caliber jumps regularly into print from the armchair man with a number of quick cures for the Viet Nam imbroglio. One panacea calls for bringing the war to a prompt end by air raids that would reduce Hanoi and Haiphong to whiffs of rubble. Another fix-it formula demands that we make life more safe and beautiful for posterity by a prophylactic raid on Red China's atomic facility.

WHEN THE Washington reporter reads about these instant and easy solutions, he feels like kicking himself around the Pentagon for ever bothering about small details of technological feasibility. The Russian spacecraft that landed on Venus was hardly dismissed with more hauteur by a know-nothing hack than the Hanoi-Haiphong anti-aircraft missiles and guns have been brushed aside by persons who don't know what it takes to wipe out such a target.

MEANWHILE, in conjunction with the Foreign Relation Committee's hearings on the China policy, there is the same cozy oversimplification. One hears that much of the inbred and persisting enmity of Asian Communism for the U.S.A. would vanish if only we stepped aside and allowed the Chinese Reds to enter the "family of nations," meaning the UN and diplomatic recognition. But our stepping aside would also entail laying our allies on Formosa wide open to the vengeance of Continental China — for Peking would accept nothing less than that concession.

One hears from a certain quarter that only our doltish American statesmanship stands in the way of a deal whereby Russia would concur if we decided to end China's budding career as a world power and rival to the other Communist colossus. And from another quarter it is still possible to hear that the Sino-Russian "split" is nothing but a clever Communist trick to divert us into dropping our guard.

THE ARMCHAIR theoreticians have not bothered to notice that sizable amount of literature on Continental China has been building up over the past several years, and that some crack British, French and Canadian journalists have been writing reports that take a lot of mystery out of the mysterious East. It is aggravating enough to hear from the sedentary experts, but it is maddening to become aware of their assumption that everybody else is as benighted as they are.

Senator Fulbright's hearings have set the armchairs rocking, and it would be a dangerous exercise in ignorance if he should stop any time soon. Having started, he should make a real effort to exhaust the lode of knowledge that is available about this Chinese menace.

Wall Street Is Skeptical

NEW YORK (AP) — The administration is holding to its view that the economy can go on expanding without overheating or setting off rapid inflation. But Wall Street is raising a skeptical eyebrow.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON spokesmen are reaffirming that increased government spending, business spending and consumer spending are healthy — and even needed.

They are pooh-poohing worries that the sharp drop in the jobless rate and coincidental shortages of workmen with certain skills is dangerous.

THEY INSIST that the economy still has plenty of resources to tap and labor to employ in order to go on growing and to supply all the funds wanted for both the Viet Nam war and the "Great Society."

At the same time, the administration spokesmen are hedging each pronouncement with the assurance that if overheating starts, if inflation gets out of hand, the White House will move quickly to cool things down by asking for higher taxes on corporations and individuals.

WHY IS Wall Street so skeptical, as shown by the sharp sell-off in the stock market?

Some of the economic rules haven't been operating quite as many had anticipated a few months back. The rise of interest rates to the highest levels in 30 years would normally be supposed to put a brake on the boom in spending. But bankers say that so far it hasn't, and their big problem is to find the money to lend to their clamoring customers.

MOST OF these are businessmen seeking to finance activities which have been expanding faster than earlier expected. They are also expected to borrow heavily — either at the bank or by floating bonds or other securities — to pay for their swelling plans for building new plants and buying new equipment.

WALL STREET also notes that many industries now are operating close to maximum profitable capacity — that is, from now on more production would have to be in less profitable, because outdated, plants. It is this bumping against the capacity ceiling, when demand for goods is rising, that has led to slow but steady increase in both industrial and consumer prices.

CONSUMERS ALSO are going right on seeking loans. Most of these are for the big ticket items such as cars. There's less mortgage borrowing for home purchases.

The auto industry reports that new car sales this month have been setting a record for March. Many buyers are doing so on the monthly payment plan.

Assassination Order From Sukarno Told

SINGAPORE (AP) — Sources in Singapore said today an order from President Sukarno for the assassination of four anti-Communist generals has come to light in Jakarta.

The sources said Lt. Gen. Suharto's new military regime has also discovered that Sukarno is in constant touch with Peking by radio from his palace at Bogor, 40 miles from Jakarta.

The sources said they did not know which generals were named in the assassination order but that they understood they were members of Suharto's regime.

IS FIGUREHEAD

They said the order apparently was drawn up before Sukarno handed over his powers to the military last Saturday. He remains as a figurehead president.

The sources said discovery of the document could lead to "violent action" against Sukarno.

"The whole situation may now be changed," they said.

The sources said reports of the assassination order are circulating widely in Jakarta and could lead to new student demonstrations.

The sources said intelligence agents in Jakarta gave the assassination order "a high credibility rating." They said it apparently was found in the offices of Sukarno's pro-Peking foreign minister and first deputy premier, Subandrio, or in the offices of Subandrio's intelligence service.

STORM MINISTRY

Anti-Communist student demonstrators stormed into the Foreign Ministry last week and seized documents. During the army takeover Saturday, paratroops and military police shot their way into the offices of Subandrio's intelligence service and made off with other documents.

The sources said the new document apparently is related to another reportedly found by students in the Foreign Ministry which led to the military showdown with Sukarno. They said this was an agreement signed by Subandrio and Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi in which Subandrio agreed to liquidate anti-Communist military men and public officials.

The sources said the students turned it over to the army, which confronted Sukarno with it Friday and took power.

Denton Insane, Jury Rules

Doyle Denton, 34, charged in an indictment with being a habitual thief, was ruled to be insane as of this date by a jury in 118th District Court Tuesday afternoon.

The jury deliberated only a few minutes in reaching a verdict. It had been shown in the evidence that Denton is an escapee from the State Mental Hospital at Terrell and was a fugitive from that institution at the time he stole a car in this county.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that he would communicate with the Terrell hospital authorities and that Denton would probably be returned there for further treatment.

Denton's case was the only one to be heard by a jury on Tuesday — opening day of a criminal docket in the court.

Two pleas of guilty, however, were accepted Tuesday afternoon by Judge Ralph Eaton. Willie James Hubbard, 28, was sentenced to 45 days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI second offense. Hubbard had gained publicity earlier when it was found that not only was he a defendant slated for trial this week in the court, but that he likewise was on the jury panel.

Tuesday afternoon, when his plea had been entered and his sentence assessed, he asked the court to delay his commitment to the county jail until Monday. The court granted the request.

Donald Wheat, 19, accused of burglary, was given a three-year sentence; probated, on his plea of guilty.

Circuit Rider Wants N. Viet Nuclear-Bombed

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP) — M. G. Lowman of Cincinnati, Ohio, executive secretary of Circuit Riders, Inc., Tuesday night advocated dropping a small nuclear bomb on North Viet Nam.

"We should drop one small nuclear-bomb one day and then drop another small one the next day to show that we meant what we are talking about," he said.

Guidelines Hit By Unionist

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Wage guidelines of the Johnson administration are unjust in the face of rising productivity and prices, an AFL-CIO official asserted Tuesday night.

This view was expressed at the Christian Life Commission workshop of Texas Baptists by Tilford E. Dudley of Washington, D.C.

Dudley, director of the AFL-CIO speakers bureau, said the guidelines are keeping wages from matching the annual increases of consumer prices and corporation profits.

"The real danger," he said, "is that management and unions will divide up this new hike in productivity without remembering the one-fifth of the nation that is still in poverty."

Final sessions of the workshop were being held today.

Resigned Klan Grand Dragon Is Replaced

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — The imperial wizard of the United Klans of America huddled at length with four Texas Klan leaders Tuesday and then announced appointment of a replacement for the Texas grand dragon, Royce McPahil, who resigned.

But the name of the replacement "will not be made public," said Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, and will serve only until a new grand dragon is named "in a month or two."

McPahil resigned this week, claiming that the Klan is "bent on violence."

Shelton said McPahil's allegations "don't make sense to me."

The meeting Tuesday with the Texas Klan officials was lengthy. More sessions were scheduled today and the Texans might leave tonight, Shelton said.

The imperial wizard declined to release their names.

He termed the session Tuesday as "a strategy meeting" and a fruitful one.

Besides discussion of the grand dragon matter, Shelton said the officials discussed "the organizational structure in the state of Texas," and outlined an "educational policy."

Shelton said that by educational program he meant: "Implementing voter registration of the white people, informing them of some of the issues involved and actually who the true enemies of our republic are . . . also, how to vote a split ticket."

Watts' Horror Last August Evidently A Curtain-Raiser

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It couldn't happen here — not in Los Angeles," people said in horror last August, as 34 persons died and $40 million in property was put to the torch in bloody race riots.

But it happened, and an investigative team later warned that the holocaust could seem but "a curtain-raiser" if conditions were not quickly improved in the city's teeming, sprawling Negro district.

Improvements efforts were launched, but apparently not soon enough, and apparently not soon enough.

Racial violence boiled up again Tuesday as more than 600 Negroes rioted in Watts, cradle of last August's incredible devastation, leaving two dead and at least two dozen injured.

QUELLS HOPE, TOO

If last summer's "curtain-raiser" still overshadowed its second act, and if Tuesday's violence was, as police felt and hoped, short-lived and quickly quelled, it quelled something else as well: the hope that things were better now.

Long before last August, civil rights leaders had predicted a racial explosion in the 50-square-mile southeast Los Angeles area they call "the black ghetto."

Of Los Angeles' 2,479,015 population, 334,916 are Negroes and most live on the southeast side, surrounding and filling Watts to a density 98 per cent Negro.

Within that giant ghetto is:

- Overcrowding: 27.3 persons per acre, compared to a county average of 7.4.
- SINK LOWER
- Unemployment: 1,000 Negroes arriving each month, landing in Watts, looking for jobs, failing to find them, staying on and sinking lower on the economic scale.
- Civic blight: Buildings dating from past decades, left to moulder as cheap rentals beginning with World War II, when wartime industry attracted a Negro population boom in job-seekers from the South.
- Distrust of police: Negroes have long accused Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker of antipathy to the cause of civil rights. Parker has denied this, but it has not stilled Negro leaders' accusations of physical and emotional brutality on the part of police.
- DREAMS DIE
- Embitterment: Southern Negroes, arriving in Watts with bitter memories, expecting a land of milk and honey and seeing it, but realizing the milk and honey are not for them. Social workers point out that though they may be better off here than they were before, their embitterment deepens in direct proportion as the reality falls short of their dreams — dreams they see being lived by white people in the nicer districts.

Last December, a commission appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown and headed by John McCone, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, reported that the August riot was rooted in growing tension and "the dull, devastating spiral of failure."

DR. ROGER BUCK

Dr. Buck On Hospital Staff

Dr. Roger Buck, new trainee at the Big Spring State Hospital as a counselor in the outpatient clinic, assumed his duties here this week.

Dr. Buck, a native of Fall River, Mass., was born Jan. 9, 1907. He attended schools in Fall River, and after his high school graduation, received a bachelor of arts degree from Williams College in 1929, and his medical degree from the University of Pennsylvania Medical School in 1933. He did his intern work at Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia from 1933-1935, and returned to general practice in Fall River, Mass.

In 1946, he limited his practice to obstetrics and gynecology, and came to Midland in 1953 to practice there. He lost the sight of his right eye shortly afterwards, and lost the sight of his left eye in 1963.

Since that time, he has attended various rehabilitation schools for the blind and is an expert at cane mobility and Braille, including the Braille typewriter.

His duties at the Big Spring State Hospital will include counseling in individual and group therapy, under Dr. Desmond McCann, outpatient clinic director.

Dr. Buck is married to the former Marian M. Coward, and they have four children, two boys and two girls.

Oil Demand Hike Forecast At Gathering

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Mixing serious business with pleasure, Midland and the Texas oil and gas industry embraced Tuesday, and before the day was over: —The Texas Railroad Commission, wanting to look longer at an escalation market and underproduction, postponed setting the April statewide oil allowable until later this week. —Executives of the nation's top oil companies told the commission they expect this country's demands for petroleum products this year to grow 3 to 3.5 per cent over 1965.

Gov. John Connally and other top state officials joined with Midland in patting the petrochemical industry on the back for its contributions in the oil and gas-rich Permian Basin.

APPRECIATION DAY
A 60-member Midland citizens committee called the occasion Permian Basin Petroleum Appreciation Day: 13 hours of work, politics, speeches and fun.

Beginning at a downtown movie theater, where the commission met with hundreds of oil men at the monthly production hearing and annual state of the industry session, events of the appreciation day moved to the Merchandise Mart, crossed the street to a hotel and concluded Tuesday night at the Midland Country Club.

"You have graced our community by being here," said Midland Mayor H. C. Avery Jr., setting the tone for a day which had dozens of stars and a cast of thousands.

The show stealer may have been State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, who surprised a sort of drowsy afternoon gathering with the statement he is recommending "that this area with a population that it has today be given a state supported institution of high learning of the first class to be established in the Midland-Odessa area."

STAND OUT
Sadler's remark, Connally's appearances and Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon's persistent questioning about oil companies' ability to react to a national emergency stood out most prominently during the day.

"Could you operate in a national emergency?" Langdon asked Robert L. Kidd, board chairman of Cities Service Oil Co.

To T. F. Bradshaw, president of Atlantic Refining Co., Langdon said:

"A couple of months ago we had oil running out of our ears, but within a few months we found ourselves approaching a critical stage."

MANY FACTORS
Commissioner chairman Ben Ramsey said, however, there were many factors in the postponement of the allowable decision. The state reached a 33.2 per cent factor for March, the sixth monthly hike in a row and the highest production pattern since May of 1959.

Four of the 13 major purchasers who generally make oil nominations at the hearings asked a higher allowable in April. The rest proposed no change except Socony Mobil Oil Co., which dropped its nomination from 33.5 to 33 per cent.

It was the first time in 12 years for the production hearing to be held outside Austin.

Executives who complained in 1965 about high crude oil and gas stocks spoke of need for building up diminishing reserves.

"The industry is on the upswing since I spoke a year ago," said Bradshaw.

"Stocks are down for the first time in years," said A. W. Tarkington, president of Continental Oil Co.

Forecasts of greater demand for petroleum products ranged from 2.9 by Humble to an unofficial 5 per cent by John M. Swearingen, board chairman of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana. Most of the predictions, however, were 3, 3.2 and 3.5 per cent.

"I hope we can all stand prosperity," said Alvin Hope, San Antonio, independent operator.

Prosperity, said a host of speakers, is what the oil and gas industry has brought to the Permian Basin, an area embracing 55 counties and 53 million acres.

Connally, receiving standing ovations at two appearances, told the oilmen at a dinner:

"Few would argue that the discovery and development of petroleum was the genesis of growth and progress in Texas.

"We appreciate not only your contributions to all the rest of us, but also the spirit of determination and of enterprise which has provided a basic strength to the growth of our state and its people.

"Our primary purpose is simply to recognize and express appreciation to the industry and its companies for their remarkable achievements in becoming the single most powerful influence in the economic health and living standards of the American people."

Overman Given District Award

Fred Overman, formerly an employe of the Big Spring city water filter plant, was one of several honor guests last week at Texas A&M University to accept awards for water plant operations, judged throughout the state.

Overman accepted the District Association Attendance Award in behalf of the Permian Basin Water and Sewage Works Association which tallied 72 per cent of its membership traveling an average of 150 miles.

The award presentation was made before 900 members of the statewide TWSWA group.

On hand to participate in and witness the presentation of awards was Dr. J. E. Peavy, state commissioner of health.

Overman resigned his city position last year and presently works with a local construction firm.

Cattle Scabies Outbreak Fought

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Animal Health Commission says

from six Northwest Texas counties have been quarantined because of a cattle scabies outbreak.

Counties placed under the federal quarantine are Floyd, Briscoe, Castro, Hale, Lamb and Swisher, and Merced County, Calif. The quarantine took effect March 8, the commission said.

There is no dipping requirement, the commission said, only a visual inspection by federal livestock inspectors.

Space Stroller Has Easier Job

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—David R. Scott feels his command pilot will be doing "all the work" while Scott strolls through space outside Gemini 8.

"He's got the toughest job because all I have to do is one little task at a time," Scott, 33, a Air Force major, said, adding that Neil A. Armstrong has a complex set of duties during the course of the 2 hour and 40 minute space walk.

The Gemini 8 astronauts blasted off from Cape Kennedy, Fla., today on a three-day space ride, during which they hope to perform man's first linkup in space with another orbiting vehicle, an Agena rocket.

Scott plans to leave Gemini 8 Thursday for his lengthy walk while Armstrong remains behind to man the ship. The command pilot must also keep an eye on Scott and fly in formation with the Agena once he undocks from it.

One thing that complicates activities during a space walk is that both astronauts are working in fully pressurized space suits, hampering their ability to manipulate switches and handle equipment.

When Armstrong was asked in an interview to describe his job during the walk, Scott, sitting next to him, quickly interjected, "All the work."

"I'm quite busy during the

entire period," Armstrong then remarked. "Of course I have to do the normal job as command pilot in the spacecraft and I also have to do the job Dave is neglecting by being outside.

"The inside (of the spacecraft) is unpressurized like the outside, and this job will be relatively difficult as compared to normal shirt sleeve environment."

Armstrong also will be taking pictures with still and movie cameras.

Space Offers Two-Headed, Aquatic Pals

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The Gemini 8 astronauts may return to earth with some giggling, swimming two-headed companions. They'll have the help of some frog mothers—precisely timed to the launch countdown.

It's part of an experiment to see how weightlessness upsets the timetable of life.

Scientists know that frog eggs produce two-headed offspring when they are forced to develop upside down. You can tell if a frog egg is right side up or not because the bottom is black and the top is white.

FROG EGGS

Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott will be babysitters for a chamber in the spacecraft cabin that holds about 60 frog eggs in separate compartments.

Several times during the flight they will shoot formaldehyde into a compartment, killing that batch of eggs, and preserving the particular stage of development for later study.

The final compartment will be allowed to live to see just what kind of tadpoles and frogs they produce. By the time the astronauts return to earth, their surviving aquatic companions will already be in tadpole form.

The other compartments will tell a biologic history of how those tadpoles developed from the time the egg first divided itself into two cells.

SLOW DEVELOPMENT

Scientists have arranged with some leopard or grass frogs near the launch complex to deliver the eggs on schedule. The mother frogs received hormone shots to be sure the eggs were ready precisely at six hours and 42 minutes before launch time. The eggs were then cooled to slow down development before being put in the spacecraft.

Later on, scientists may send up human tissue cultures, perhaps cancerous ones, to see how they too respond to weightlessness. In the end, they may have an exact reading on just what dangers there are to long periods in weightless flight.

CHARGE NOT FEARED

Velocity From Space Walk May Generate Electricity

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—When Air Force Maj. David R. Scott takes a walk in space Thursday, the 100-foot-long tether tying him to the Gemini 8 spaceship could generate up to 10 volts of electricity as it cuts through the earth's magnetic field, according to an electronics researcher.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said they recognize the possibility of an electrical charge, but are confident precautions built into the systems aboard Gemini 8 will prevent it from being a problem.

"In a normal electric dynamo," explained Dr. J. E. Drummond, a Boeing Co. scientist, "a charge is made by a lot of wires turning past a magnet; the magnetic field is large, and the velocity slow (compared to the speed of an orbiting spaceship)."

HIGH VELOCITY

During Gemini 8, the magnetic field of the earth will not be so strong, Drummond said.

"But you have a high velocity of spacecraft," Drummond is head of the plasma physics laboratory at Boeing's scientific research laboratories in Seattle, Wash.

According to his studies, the line connecting Scott to the spacecraft would generate one-tenth of a volt per foot when the astronaut is either above or below the spacecraft.

"Fortunately," Drummond said, "this hazard can be virtually eliminated as easily as insulating a lamp cord, providing one is aware of the danger and knows what surfaces to insulate and what to metallize as a by-pass."

WILL BE GROUNDED

Duncan Collins, spacecraft manager for NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., said Scott will be "grounded" to the spacecraft by a communications cable to keep any charge from collecting on the astronaut.

Charles W. Mathews, Gemini program manager, also pointed out that the Gemini 8 spacecraft will whirl through a portion of the atmosphere called the iono-

Charges Are Filed By Wives

Wives filed aggravated assault charges against their husbands in two separate incidents last night, officers said.

About 9:45 p.m., Mrs. Edward F. Gunning, 535 Hillside Drive, called officers and told them she had been assaulted. Officers booked Edward Gunning on aggravated assault charges a short time later. Gunning was transferred to the county but was released on $500 bond today.

At 10:03 p.m. on complaint of Mrs. Richard Auld, 1202 Sycamore, police picked up Richard Auld about midnight on aggravated assault charges. He was transferred to the county today and made $250 bond.

1st Time In Orbit, But Armstrong No Rookie

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—Although Gemini 8 is his first ride into orbit, Neil A. Armstrong by no means considers himself a rookie in the space program.

The blond, crew-cut civilian command pilot of Gemini 8 has blazed to the fringe of space seven times in an X15 rocket plane, once to a height of about 40 miles at speeds up to 3,989 miles an hour.

"BEYOND MOON"

So, he says, when he decided to be an astronaut in 1962 he merely transferred from one space program to another—one that could take him "to the moon and beyond."

His love for high-speed flying parallels that of his pilot on Gemini 8, Air Force Maj. David R. Scott, a husky, athletic native Texan who plans a space-walk around the world Thursday.

NEIL ARMSTRONG

"the most fascinating time of my life."

X15 TESTS

When Project Mercury, the nation's first manned space flight program, came along, Armstrong, then a key pilot in the X15 tests, considered the Mercury personnel intruders in the space business.

"As months passed, the call went out for Gemini and Apollo astronaut applicants and Armstrong applied. "I was in the space program, so it was just a transfer for me."

Scott, born June 6, 1932, in San Antonio, Tex., is married to the former Ann Lurton Ott, daughter of retired Air Force Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Isaac W. Brig. Gen. Antonio. They have two children—Tracy, 4, and Douglas, 2, born just nine days before his father became an astronaut.

Armstrong, married to the former Janet Shearon, Evanson, Ill., also has two children, Eric, 7, and Mark, 2. Armstrong's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Armstrong, Wapakoneta, Ohio.

He's 33, tall and lean, usually a man of few words.

"I wanted to be a test pilot," he said, "from there to astronaut was a logical succession."

Scott, a member of swimming teams in high school and college, graduated fifth in a class of 63 at West Point in 1954. In 1962, he was awarded a master's degree in astronautics and aeronautics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, writing his thesis on interplanetary navigation.

DAD IS GENERAL

He is a son who earned the professional admiration of his military father as a pilot. "I've flown with my son," the father, Brig. Gen. Tom W. Scott, La Jolla, Calif., once said. "And he's a very good pilot."

After West Point, Scott spent four years flying fighter-interceptor jets out of Soesterburg Air Force Base, Netherlands.

When he became an astronaut in October, 1963, Scott was a student at the Air Force Aerospace Research Pilot School at Edwards.

After the Korean War, Armstrong, a native of Wapakoneta, Ohio, graduated from Purdue University with an aeronautical engineering degree, then went into flight research.

For seven years he was with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Flight Research Center at Edwards sphere, and "this highly ionized atmosphere will drain off charges quickly."

Space agency officials have been looking harder at the static charge problem which might arise from another source—the Agena rocket that Gemini 8 astronauts Scott and Neil A. Armstrong plan to hook up with on their fifth orbit today.
The fear is that the Gemini 8 capsule will have a different static charge than the Agena. If so, a potential hazard exists when they make contact.

Training Flights Start March 26

The Big Spring Racing Pigeon club has scheduled the first of three training flights for March 26, at which time members will use Colorado City as a starting point.

Clay, or Muhammad Ali as he prefers to be called, could win up with a gross purse of about $71,500 before taxes for his 15-rounder with the Canadian champion at the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, March 29.

There will be no radio broadcast of the bout and the British Broadcasting Corp., which had contracted for a live telecast of the projected Clay-Ernie Terrell fight, said Tuesday it was not interested in the Clay-Chuvalo fight for an expensive relay by Early Bird satellite.

Closed-circuit television provides the biggest part of the loot for heavyweight title fights these days but the pickings may be small for this 5-1 and (get 5-1 on Chuvalo but can't bet Clay) bout which has been denounced as a mismatch by several boxing organizations.

Main Bout, Inc., which owns the ancillary rights including closed-circuit television, originally had hoped to have more than 200 outlets for the television.

MBI could end up with just a handful of outlets. It could be that the promotion's share of the theater-TV gross may not be more than $100,000.

The live fight in the Maple Leaf Gardens doesn't figure to gross more than $200,000 at prices ranging from $7 to $100.

California are predicting that the successor to the "world's fastest human" mantle, now that Bob Hayes is playing football, will be a Texas-born Negro named Tommy Smith.

Tommy, a native of Acworth, is currently in San Jose College near San Francisco. Twenty-five years ago, Acworth, located in Red River County not far from Clarksville, boasted a population of 100.

Smith, who went west with his tribe when he was six, developed as the greatest athlete in the history of Lemore High School in California. He won the Cal prep title in the quarter-mile at 47.3 in 1963 and today is generally regarded as the world's fastest at 200 meters and 220 yards. He shares the 200 meter record at 20 seconds flat.

When the Masters Golf tournament was held in Augusta, Ga., last year, tournament chairman Clifford Roberts supplied 165 typewriters for the use of 217 newsmen. Some brought their own portables. Others shared a machine.

Western Union filed 915,554 words on the tournament that week, exclusive of that wordage filed by the Associated Press and UPI.

And they've already expanded the size of the working press room and added to the number of typewriters for this year's Masters, which will be held April 7-16.

Phil Paris, who is in Martin County's Melton McMorries fight stable, had to withdraw from the State Golden Gloves Boxing tournament due to an injury suffered in an automobile accident.

JIM MURRAY, Los Angeles columnist, said it: "Golf is not always a game of pearl-buttoned alpaca, bench-made reptile shoes, champagne at the Canyon Club Inn after a hot round, birdies at Augusta, the Ed Sullivan show, instrumental books titled 'Putting is Easy' ghost-written by guys who couldn't sink a putt in Lake Erie.

Sometimes, and for most pros, it's standing out on a murky tee at dawn with a truck driver or an industrialist taking lusty swipes at the damp morning air with a loop in their backswing demanding in exasperation 'How do you hit the thing?' There are probably only a dozen pros who really play the game correctly — and everyone knows who they are. They have their own 'armies,' they pose for swimsuit ads, they're on national TV every weekend, covers of magazines and stenciled on clubheads. There are even fewer who know how to teach the game correctly. And they are as anonymous as spies. For $25 a half-hour, they keep the game going more than Hogan, Snead, Palmer, Lema or Marr. They are the silent partners in the multi-million dollar golf club and accessory business. Arnold Palmer gets his for free. These guys get their's at wholesale. They make a buck on clubs, not a million."

He was admitted Friday. Saperstein could have served as a model for the United Nations. He was one of a Jewish family of 10 born in London, who organized a Negro team which traveled throughout the world and found the welcome mat out in the Vatican as well as behind the Iron Curtain.

A 5-footer who because of his size couldn't play basketball at the University of Illinois after competing in basketball, baseball and track at Lake View of Chicago, Saperstein organized the Harlem Globetrotters, an all-Negro team, which made its debut in Hinckley, Ill., back in 1927.

Through the years, the clowning Globetrotters caught on with their trick shooting and traveled through 87 counties while logging five million miles.

The club held a meeting Monday night at Lamar's Restaurant to firm up plans for the summer. High school boys will be encouraged to participate in the activities planned by the racing group.

Dallas, Tyler Both Register Tourney Wins

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Two Texas teams — Tyler and Dallas Baptist — were in the second round of the national junior college basketball tournament today.

Both were impressive in taking first round decisions Tuesday. Dallas Baptist beat the only undefeated team in the tournament — Wilson of Chicago — 91-83. Tyler edged Casper, Wyo., 73-71.

The first round was finished this morning with Burlington, Iowa, meeting Cameron A&M of Oklahoma and Chipola of Marianna, Fla., contesting Dixie of St. George, Utah.

First round results included: Moberly of Missouri 78, Alpena of Michigan 69. Hutchinson Kans., 102, Wesley of Dover, Del., 78.

Today's schedule (all times CST): 1 p.m.—Burlington, Iowa vs. Cameron A&M, Okla. 2:45 p.m.—Chipola of Marianna, Fla. vs. Dixie of St. George, Utah.

Queens Vanquish Cee City Girls

COLORADO CITY — Forsan's girls, off to a late start in volleyball because of an overlapping basketball season, humbled Colorado City, 15-8, 3-15, 15-7 here Tuesday night.

Mary Jo Simpson scored 12 points for the Buffalo Queens. Jody Dodd and Patsy Gooch were outstanding at the net while sets for the winners included Nancy Anderson, Claudia Davis, Deryl Dunagan and Sara Findley.

The Forsan B team lost, 15-3, 15-15, 15-9. Angie Tidwell and Juanita Henderson were outstanding for Forsan in that one.

The Queens go to a tournament at Imperial this weekend, meeting Fort Davis in their opening test at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

Lubbock Blanks Abilene Flock

LUBBOCK — Lubbock High shut out Abilene High, 6-0, here Tuesday behind the three-hit pitching of John Purkiss.

Lubbock collected a dozen safeties off two Abilene floggers, including loser Perry Scott. The win was the fourth in seven starts for Lubbock. Abilene is now 2-5-1.

DEAR ABBY Family Peace Is At Stake

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married this summer and I have asked my roommate to be my maid of honor. (I am away at college.) She isn't a "new" friend, Abby, we have gone all through school together. I wrote my sister, who is two years younger than I am, asking her to be a bridesmaid. Here is a part of a letter I just received from my mother: (Quote) "Marilyn, I am not going to say anything about your choice of maid of honor, except this: Your sister is very hurt and I don't blame her. You will have many friends in your life, but only one sister. Think it over." (End of quote.) Now I am really in a fix.

How can I explain to my friend that she can't be my maid of honor after she already accepted? I really WANT her to be it, but I'm afraid if I don't have my sister it will cause permanent hard feelings in my family, and I don't want that either. Can you help me make a choice? IN A FIX family better than I do: so if you fear that "permanent hard feelings" will result should you choose your friend for maid of honor, ask your sister. Explain your predicament to your friend. She will probably be much more understanding than your sister.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know why that wife is making such a big thing over washing her husband's back. Every man likes to be spoiled a little. Take mine: I serve him martinis while I give him a haircut.

DEAR EUNICE: Well, your husband is one man who won't have to look for a bartender to tell his troubles to.

DEAR ABBY: This is for all those Parent-Teachers organizations whose leaders complain because they don't get the support they think they deserve. When as a newcomer joins, do they make an effort to make her feel welcome? Or do they gather in their own tight little circles and ignore the stranger?

I have just attended my third and last P-TA meeting. In three meetings, in addition to the teachers of my children, I met only one woman. And the second time she saw me she didn't even say hello. You may sign me "HAD IT" FROM LEAVENWORTH, KAN.

DEAR HAD IT: Which school in Leavenworth? This should rock them, but don't hold it against ALL P-TA groups. They usually go all out to welcome newcomers.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Nominees For Offices Picked

Nominees for district offices were selected at the Monday night meeting of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs at the YMCA. The slate of nominees includes president, Debbie Duncan; first vice president, Jack Cathey; second vice president, Debbie Douglass; secretary-treasurer, Julia Vaughn; chaplain, Kay Statser.

The theme for the conference to be held in San Angelo April 1-2, will be "A Time for Action for Tired Americans." Group discussion topics will be held on Americanism, morality, religion, conformity and society. Conference chairman is Mrs. James O. Dennie. Robert Gossett, current West Texas District president of the Hi-Y Council, will preside.

University Bans Student Group

AUSTIN (AP)—University of Texas Chancellor Harry Ransom has banned from the campus a student group championing sexual freedom.

The group, which calls itself the Texas Student League for Responsible Sexual Freedom, was ordered Tuesday to stop distributing handbills on the campus on the ground "it was not in good taste."

private sex act which does not constitute a physical harm and is not initiated by force, whether undertaken by one or two or more consenting adults, is not morally wrong and should not be legally wrong."

Ransom said in a statement the administration disapproves all activities by the group. "The time has come when universities, which are open doors to responsible discussion, must

Embezzlement Sentence Meted

FREDERICK, Okla. (AP) — James B. Williams, 44, was convicted Tuesday and his sentence was fixed at 20 years in prison for embezzling more than $42,000 from Tillman County Memorial Hospital.

He also was fined $26,000 by a district court jury. Williams was administrator of the hospital for 19 years until last October, when a state audit disclosed the shortage.

Ideal Spring Weather Here

By The Associated Press

Ideal spring weather—the kind the poets write sonnets about—kept all of Texas in a soothing embrace today. Skies remained cloudless except for a few areas in extreme South Texas and temperatures mild, with early morning marks mostly in the 50s to high 60s. Occasional patches of fog hung low near the coast around Beaumont, Houston and Alice before a daybreak. A little cooler weather was expected in parts of West Texas by Thursday, while it was due to warm a bit in the north central and northeast. Thickening clouds and no big changes in temperatures were in prospect for southern areas of the state. Looking ahead, however, new five-day forecasts called for readings 4 to 11 degrees above normal in Northeast and North Central Texas, 3 to 9 degrees above normal in the northwest and 2 to 6 degrees above normal in the south. Scattered showers were predicted the next few days in all sections except Northwest Texas.

Cigarettes Up A Penny

NEW YORK (AP) — Cigarette manufacturers have raised the price of most popular brands of cigarettes a penny a pack. The American Tobacco Co. started the price rise Monday, and Liggett & Myers and Philip Morris followed within hours. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. also said it was raising the price on some of its brands. American and Reynolds are the nation's largest manufacturers. The wholesale price increase generally was 40 cents per 1,000 cigarettes, but the smoker buying cigarettes over the counter will pay one cent a pack more. The last major wholesale price increase in cigarettes was in 1963.

New Volunteer Services Group May Organize

Leaders of the community are being invited to a conference on March 23, to hear the story of the United Voluntary Services. Mrs. Helen F. Lengfeld, founder and national president of UVS, is to be hostess to a reception at the Ramada Inn on this date, and during the period, from 4 to 6 p.m., she will explain the work of the organization and encourage the initiation of a local unit. The concept of United Voluntary Services came into being during World War II, to help communities work out programs helpful to military establishments and veterans facilities. This work has continued since, but has been broadened to sponsor any worthwhile community activity. While UVS will serve the armed services and the veterans hospitals in numerous ways, it also works with handicapped veterans, with groups like state hospital patients, with crippled and retarded children, works with children's camps, participates in senior citizens programs, and in a variety of other community - uplift programs. Its national program has been active in perfecting a golf program, and it emphasizes a fitness-for-youth program. Mrs. Lengfeld will explain the areas in which UVS might work in Big Spring, explain how to form a community program.

NATO Pullout By France Hit

LONDON (AP) — Opposition to France's plans to withdraw its forces from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military command mounted today on all sides of the North Atlantic Alliance.

The French Senate's Foreign Affairs Committee also registered its disapproval, saying in a resolution that President Charles de Gaulle's decisions on NATO "compromise the security of France, the unity of Europe and the consolidation of peace."

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson sent De Gaulle a letter disputing the French leader's arguments supporting his decision to resume command over the 65,000 French troops under NATO control in West Germany.

West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard told a meeting in Bonn that it would be unbearable for West Germany if a new kind of occupation statute were to be created as a result of a French pullout.

Erhard said De Gaulle's stand concerned the whole alliance and added that it was essential that West Germany stand fast with the other partners.

Italian Premier Aldo Moro told the Italian Parliament any changes in NATO's defense setup should come "within the framework of integration." He said the Atlantic Alliance has proved effective by "maintaining in peacetime an integrated and interdependent military organization."

DeMolay Robe To Odessa

Leon P. Moffett chapter of DeMolay will deliver the West Texas area Gold Roving Robe and the Texas Gavel to the Odessa chapter today.

The local chapter held the regular meeting Tuesday and initiated five young men into the order.

The Odessa chapter surprised the Moffett chapter with 34 visitors. Snyder chapter, also visiting for the robe and gavel, had five visitors.

Odessa chapter was headed by chapter advisor F. M. White and Jimmy Buchannon. Snyder chapter was headed by chapter advisor Don Keller. Local chapter advisor E. O. Worthan and John H. Smith will meet with area DeMolays and master masons at Big Spring Lodge 1340 at 6 p.m. to leave for Odessa.

SCUBA Class Being Planned

Registration is continuing at the YMCA for the women's SCUBA class which begins Monday, March 21, at 7 p.m. at the Y. Instructors for the course will be Jim Gilbert, physical director, Dr. Preston Darby and Harroll Jones.

The course will run six weeks on Monday evenings at 7 p.m. Fee for the course is $5 for members, $10 for non-members. All equipment and air will be provided. Minimum age for the course is 16.

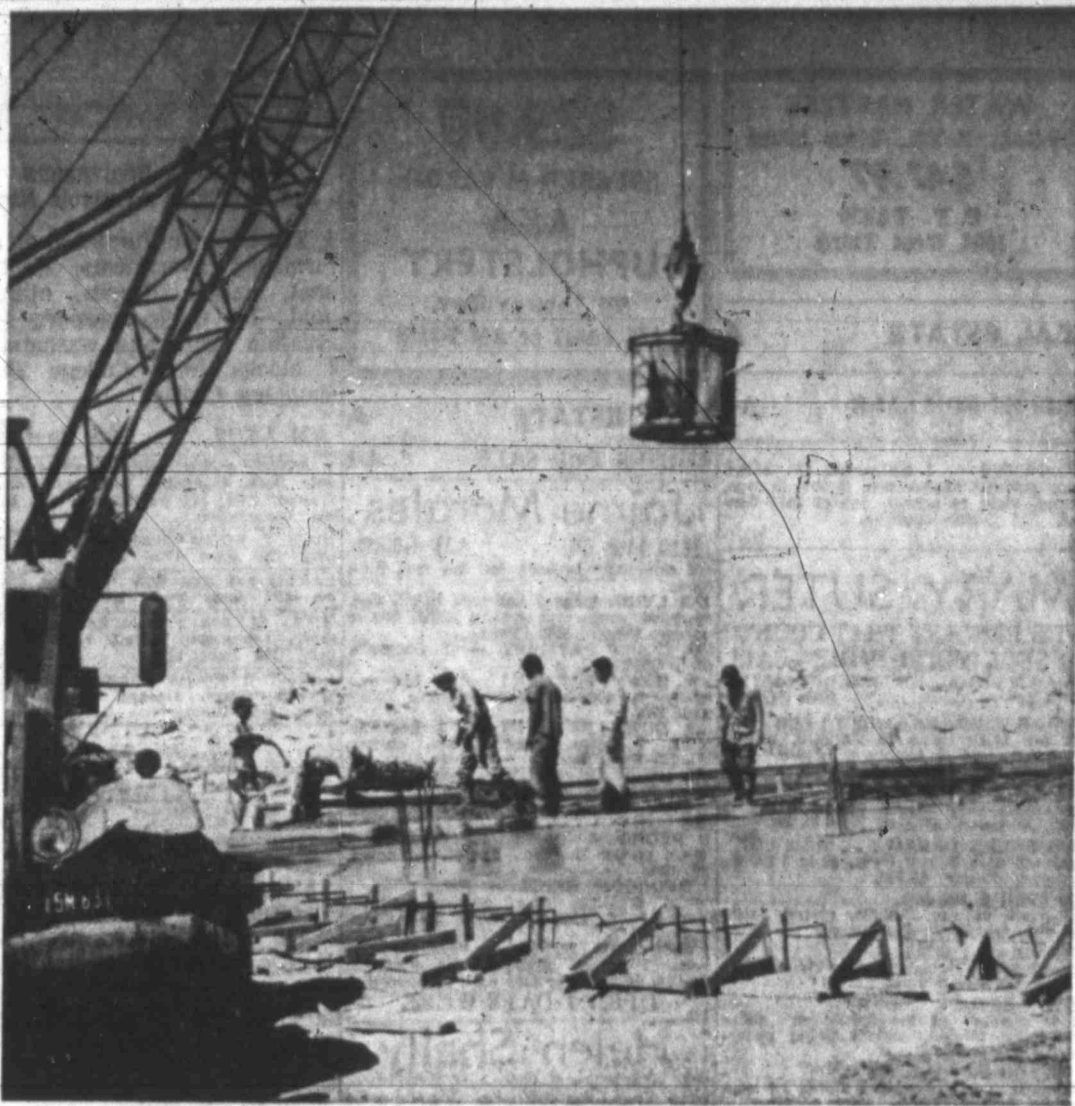

Club To Meet

A dinner meeting of the Ambassadors Club will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Cosden Country Club. All members are urged to attend.

Artists Plan Citation Show

The Big Spring Art Association, in a meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Jay Baker, voted to postpone their proposed sidewalk show in May and to hold a regional art exhibition May 27-29 in the First Federal Savings and Loan building. This will be the District 18 Texas Fine Arts Association Citation show, formerly scheduled to be held in Midland.

Mrs. John Zimmerman and Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw will be co-chairmen for the show. Harlan Sandidge provided a program on German expressionism for the 12 club members attending.

New Reservoir Begins

Workers began pouring concrete in the first steps of constructing the city's new million gallon water reservoir Tuesday. First step was pouring a floor for the tank, which is situated on top of Seismic Mountain. Completion is scheduled for late spring.

Two Big Challenges Named For Tuberculosis Groups

Tuberculosis associations face two big challenges, said Dr. Charles T. Meadows, Abilene thoracic surgeon, in shifting targets from control to eradication, and, at the same time, in maintaining their vitality under reorganization.

The shift of emphasis from control of TB to actually eradicating it as a health problem has exciting possibilities, Dr. Meadows told the annual banquet of the Howard County TB Association. He admitted that the new setup of state responsibility for tests, etc., plus possibility of replacement of purely local entities by regional ones posed a grave test for associations. A new state plan puts TB work under one agency in the State Health Department. Tests will be required of first and seventh grade pupils, and of all school personnel.

Although modern medicines are capable of beating back TB, the case load in Texas remains constant between 2,000 and 3,000 per year, Dr. Meadows said.

However, effectiveness of treatment is producing a more rapid hospital turnover, and beds are now available for all new cases.

Dr. Meadows predicted that local associations would return to emphasis on education, but the question arose of whether they would engender the same support in this role. Dr. Meadows was introduced by Dr. Fred Lurting at the gathering in the Cosden Country Club.

Harold Bentley was elected president, succeeding C. H. Rainwater. Other new officers are Dr. W. R. Cashion, vice president; Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, second vice president; Mrs. Paul Klonka, secretary; Mrs. Fred Lurting, treasurer.

Named to three-year terms on the board were Mrs. Jim Butler, Dr. Edward Williams, Mrs. Dean Forrest, Mrs. Ray Puckett, Mrs. Bob Wash, Mrs. Wes Shouse, Dr. Louise Ann Worthing, Maj. Maurice J. Took, Mrs. W. A. Wilson, Keith Swim and Judge Lee Porter.

Rainwater expressed appreciation to all who helped in the year's work, and Mrs. Lurting and Mrs. Klonka were cited for a "top job" in the annual seal sale. Approval of executive board action in giving $2,800 of special equipment for hospital use was voted. The association also decided to send Dr. Cashion and the executive secretary, Mrs. H. O. Hudgins, to the state association meeting March 24.

Mrs. C. J. Haralson's treasurer's report showed $5,186.71 receipts from seal sales, about $500 less than the previous year.

INDIA FAMINE

Young Faces Reflect Want

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The tired tip-top of their hammers sounds through rock quarries. Their quick eyes flit watchfully over herds of cows. Their gay laughter blends with the roar of coastal surf.

These are the children of India, and in their faces is the story of this impoverished nation's cruel economic troubles and its hope of a better tomorrow.

Nowhere is the gulf between reality and dream as clearly portrayed as in young faces.

It is the children among India's 480 million who show the pinch of malnourishment. Some have scab-covered legs and gummy eyes that betray rampant disease.

HOPE LIVES
But in their laughter lies the hope.

In the state of Kerala, a 7-year-old girl sits under the blazing sun, chipping small rocks into smaller pieces.

Her future is 100 yards away, where old women chip big rocks into small rocks. Her brother's future is farther up the rock face, where men drill all day, shrouded in choking dust.

A child chips for eight hours like this and still doesn't earn enough to eat as humans should. In the rock quarries, the young faces don't smile. The eyes don't twinkle. The run slows to a walk. There is no time for fun and games.

CHILDREN EVERYWHERE
But farther north, along the Arabian Sea coast, not even the filth, disease and hunger of a backward fishing village can still the laughter.

Children are everywhere in India — on mother's hip, under her feet, crawling in the crude hut's doorway, scampering down the village paths.

No one knows for sure how many children are born in India every year. Best estimates are that the population increases 12 million annually.

Education Minister M. C. Chagla announced in Parliament recently that 50 million Indian children are in primary schools.

A fine accomplishment, he said — except that many millions more never have seen the inside of a classroom and never will.

Despite all-out efforts to feed, clothe and educate, the Indian government is falling behind the population growth.

ILLITERATES INCREASE
There are more illiterates over the age of 10 in India today than there were a decade ago.

American experts put the number at 260 million and say the ranks of the unread are increasing by 4 million annually.

International relief organizations, plus foreign governments are trying to help India give these children a better start in life.

But this summer, when a developing food crisis seems destined to reach a new, cruel height, it will be a narrow thing for many of the children of India.

France Reserves Self In Market Controversy

LONDON (AP) — France said today it now believes it is desirable for Britain to enter the European Common Market, a move it vetoed more than two years ago.

But Britain replied that France's planned military withdrawal from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's integrated command was a new factor that would make it difficult for British participation in the six-nation trading bloc.

NEW POSITION
Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart announced the new French position to newsmen after presiding over a two-day meeting of Western European Union ministers. They ranged over the problems of allied unity, the North Atlantic Alliance and economic cooperation in West Europe.

Stewart said the French statement now makes clear that all six members of the Common Market are agreed on the desirability of British entry.

TALK FIRST
Stewart, speaking as chairman of the meeting, said all European Union governments agreed that there must be a phase of preliminary discussion between Britain and the Common Market members before any negotiations on British entry can begin. Members are France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

At the same time, opposition to De Gaulle's plans mounted on all sides of the NATO Alliance.

Deputy Spots Burglars' Car

The sharp eyes of Deputy Sam Roberts is credited by Sheriff A. N. Standard as leading to the arrest of three men who appear to be involved in school burglaries in Big Spring, Coahoma, Westbrook, Lamesa and other West Texas communities in recent weeks.

Roberts saw a car pass through Coahoma which matched the description of the one suspected as being used by the burglars in the school robberies. Unable to catch up with the car, he relayed the information ahead to Colorado City.

The car and its three occupants was stopped there by Colorado City police. In the car, Standard said, were articles taken from the Westbrook school.

Standard has two deputies in Colorado City checking into the part the trip may have had in the Coahoma and Big Spring break-in.

He said the men are from the Dallas - Fort Worth area.

Sara Oakes To Represent Lions

COAHOMA (SG) — Sara Oakes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Oakes, will represent the Coahoma Lions Club as queen in the district 2A-1 contest in San Angelo April 15-16.

She was chosen from a field of six young ladies, all daughters of club members, at the Monday evening meeting at Rick's Cafeteria. Diane Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brooks, was selected as alternate.

The club announced that the donkey ball game would be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. Tickets, on sale by all members, are 25 and 75 cents if purchased before game time. If bought at the door, they will be 25 cents for children, 50 cents for students and $1 for adults.

Spring didn't last long enough for a young man's fancy to turn to anything fancier, did it? See, I told you if you ignored it, it would go away. May take some fast footwork to recoup the loss. Such a nice note from young Theresa Clayton, daughter of Mardes Clayton out Gall wily. She says she got a new colic—a sorrel with a blaze on its face—and invites me to do the boots and saddle bit with her soon. We'll do it, baby, if you'll find me a mustang that will take it easy on the matronly type.

I'd like to go out west of town, too, and see those chickens that are going to make egg money for Tom SoRelle. (Don't worry, Woner, he's not even No. Two yet.)

Cosden Country Club was a quiet haven the other night for several couples who like to be able to hear themselves talk. Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Ainsworth were with Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Dunnam, and the Vernon Smiths shared a table with the Orville Shaplands. It was a festive night for Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crocker and Mrs. A. K. Halverson who were welcoming Maj. Halverson back from Viet Nam.

In another night spot, Mrs. Modesta Simpson listened to the music with her friend, Otis Grafa. LISTEN was about all you COULD do. Wouldn't it be nice to have one place in town where musicians cater to the couples who don't want to "do the dog" but are still feeling the beat of the "businessman's bounce"? Mrs. Shine Phillips just called and let me know that Mrs. Ethel Brown and her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Early of Dallas will arrive this afternoon to spend several days visiting in the Phillips' home. Mrs. Brown used to live here, and her old friends will be welcome to a cup of coffee if they can stop by for a minute. Shine and Nan expect both their daughters and the grandchildren home for the Easter holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Good Graves of Hart (she's Mrs. Tommy Gages' twin sister) were here for a visit with the Gages and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Laswell. Mr. and Mrs. Graves have twins, Ike and Nancy, who celebrated their birthday while here.

Coming in this afternoon for some fellowship with Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Patterson are their friends, Mrs. Darrell Keltner of Crane, Mrs. W. C. Young of Fort Worth and Mrs. J. R. Cone of Lubbock. Malcolm says you neighbors can come join the party if you bring some groceries.

Already gone are the guests Mrs. Nathan Allen Sr. had for the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Allen III and son, Jeff, were here from Graham after he served as a judge at the San Angelo Livestock Show. Joining the group here were Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Fuqua and Deanna of Leuders. The local guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Carlie, Elaine and Robert, and Mrs. Ned Sanders and Bill.

Mrs. Roy Rosene says that her daughter, Kay Loveland, did not mind getting caught in the New York snows not long ago—saw some shows before going back to Washington, D. C., where she is on Rep. George Mahon's staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Edwards arrived yesterday from Ruidoso, N. M., and are at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Reed, if you'd like to say "howdy." You're too late to say goodbye, tho, to Dr. and Mrs. R. Gage Lloyd, who are in Tyler for a church meeting. He will be back in time for the 7:30 p.m. session Thursday at the First Presbyterian Church.

Understand Mrs. Jim Bill Little and Mrs. Roland Schwarzenbach will be brewing coffee Friday morning for no particular reason except to see friends and catch up on the news.

Two pretty ladies from Colorado will have some catching up to do, too, when they arrive in town tonight. Their stay will be brief but you can bet your best boots it's going to be fun!

Call me.

Assemble Layette For Health Unit

Mrs. Walter Douglass, 1505 Johnson, was hostess Monday to the Christine Coffee Circle of First Baptist Church which met in her home. Mrs. Douglass gave the call to prayer, and prayer was led by Mrs. Charles Sweeney.

Mrs. C. O. Hitt, chairman, received committee reports, and Mrs. Melvin Ray, community missions chairman, reminded members to bring clothing for the layette which the group provides for the Howard County Health Center each quarter.

The program was given by Mrs. Sweeney and Mrs. Dick Lane and concerned leading church members to participate in missions. Mrs. Ray gave the closing prayer.

Are Married Here

Miss Carolyn Dennis, daughter of Elbert Dennis, 511 NE 16th, was married to Joseph W. Kaczka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Kaczka, Manchester, N. H., in a double ring ceremony performed Thursday by Walter Grice, Justice of the Peace. Attendants were Miss Judy Dolan and the bride's father. The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School, attended the Childers and Reeves Beauty School. The bridegroom graduated from Central High School in Manchester and was stationed in the Air Force at Webb AFB until discharge this month.

FHA Chooses Slate Roster

Officer nominations were opened during the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Big Spring Senior High School Future Homemakers Association.

OES Greets New Officer

Mrs. Allen Watts, Midland, was honored with a Tuesday evening dinner by the Order of the Eastern Star, Big Spring Chapter 67, at Lamar's Restaurant.

Mrs. Watts, deputy grand matriarch of District 2, Section 8, Grand Chapter of Texas, was making her official visit to the Big Spring unit.

Mrs. Joe Noel was mistress of ceremonies, and Miss Sheryl Gambill sang the theme song, "Climb Every Mountain." She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Forrest Gambill.

Following the dinner, the members met at the Masonic Lodge for the regular meeting with Mrs. Steve Baker presiding.

Mrs. Watts gave her instructions, and refreshments were served to 40 members and guests from Midland, Coahoma, Stamford and the Laura B. Hart Chapter of Big Spring.

Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Eaker, Mrs. Elmer Boatler, Mrs. Dalton Mitchell and Mrs. Rose Stringfellow. Members were reminded that the April 5 meeting would begin at 8 p.m.

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

Miss Ann Ramey, bride-elect of Lt. Les Smith, was honored Friday at a pre-nuptial shower in the home of Mrs. James M. Brown, 65-A Chanute. Calling hours were from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. and 15 guests called. The honoree's cousin, Mrs. David McClanahan, presided at the register.

Assisting the honoree in receiving guests was her aunt, Mrs. M. K. Moelling, who also presided at the refreshment table. A white cloth covered the table and the underlay was of yellow. An arrangement of yellow pompons and asters formed the centerpiece, and the white cake was decorated with bells and wedding rings. The names of the engaged couple were printed in silver on white napkins.

Miss Ramey, attired in a gray and white striped two-piece dress, was presented a corsage of yellow and orchid carnations.

County Fair Flower Show

LAMESA (SC) — The flower show schedule for the Dawson County Fair was discussed when the Dawson County Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Bruce Moore.

The club sponsors the show each year in conjunction with the annual county fair. Open to the public the show is held in the Forrest Park Community Center.

Mrs. Ed Dubose, artistic chairman, announced the theme of the show will be "Garden Interludes." Mrs. Charnell Jobe, horticulture division chairman, discussed the schedule for the horticulture entries and explained the scale for judging. Sweepstakes awards will be given this year to non-members winning at least five blue ribbons.

Flower show workshops are planned in advance of the show. A plant exchange, an event sponsored annually by the club, will be held April 14 at the Dawson County Library.

Banquet Honors Dads, Daughters

The Living Circle Neighborhood, with Mrs. George Pastron as chairman, held its Girl Scout Father-Daughter Banquet Friday in the John H. Lees Service Club at Webb AFB. Approximately 125 attended.

The flag ceremony was presented by Troops 39 and 59 under the direction of Mrs. Charles Tidwell and Mrs. Leon Greenhill. The invocation was by Jim Holmes, principal of Cedar Crest School.

A report on the Girl Scout Round-Up in Idaho, and films of the activity were presented by Sally Pratt and Lynette Simco of Lamesa. Songs were given by Troops 34 and 147 under the leadership of Mrs. Richard Merritt and Mrs. Freddy Spinks. Mrs. Blaine Larson is the leader of Troop 466 who presented a St. Patrick skit.

The program concluded with the invocation by Mrs. Jack Lipscombe, Girl Scout district chairman.

Miss Kelly Honored At Pre-Nuptial Party

Miss Janis Kelly, bride-elect of Leonard Sampson, was honored with a Thursday evening bridal shower at the home of Mrs. H. B. Perry, 2408 Robb.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Jimmy Balios, Mrs. Bernard Young, Mrs. Glenn Lepard, Mrs. David Elrod, Mrs. James Banks, Mrs. Joe Snider, Mrs. Marvin Francis, Mrs. Wendel Payte, A. L. Terry and Mrs. H. D. McElrath.

Approximately 80 guests called between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., and the room decorations highlighted the bride-elect's chosen colors of blue and white. The refreshment table was covered with white linen.

AAUW Delegates Plan Waco Trip

Four delegates of the American Association of University Women plan to attend the Saturday Texas Division conference in Waco.

To attend from the Big Spring unit are Mrs. Gary Sims, Mrs. W. H. Hallmark, Mrs. Dan Shockey and Mrs. Bruce Lotz-bire.

"Leadership: Its Meaning and Uses" is the conference theme. Guest speaker will be Mrs. John P. Shannon, the North Pacific regional vice president. She is from Montana.

Other speakers will be Mrs. John J. Haslam, Orange; Mrs. Emmet Riggs, Dallas; and other outstanding branch leaders from the organization.

Church Aims To Become United

The Rev. Leo Gee used the topic, "The Inclusive Church" in speaking Monday to the Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church. He told what roads the church was taking to include all Christians in a harmonious brotherhood.

Mrs. Floyd Martin presided as new officers were elected and members reminded of the district meeting in Sweetwater March 19-20.

Hostesses were Mrs. A. C. Moore and Mrs. Jewell Kuykendall, and 28 attended, including a guest, Mrs. Robert Hill, coordinator of the WSCS.
