Wily Old Mesquites Play It Cool

Spring is now a full week old, according to astronomers and meteorologists — but not according to West Texas' wily old mesquites. Many lighthearted trees and shrubs, as well as tender flowers, have put out foliage or blooms, barely escaping a brief sub-freezing bite last week. Gnarled and twisted veterans of this area, the mesquites are seemingly inanimate as in mid-December. Old-timers say this means it "ain't necessarily spring."

Tragic Car Race Takes 5 Lives

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — A Saturday night, killing four spectators near the end of the Sebring 12-hour sports car race. The tragedy was the second of the race and brought the death toll to five. Earlier, the Canadian driving champion, Bob McLean, was killed in a fiery crash off a hairpin turn.

Wisconsin Girl New Junior Miss

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Diane Wilkins of Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, was chosen over eleven other finalists Saturday night as America's Junior Miss of 1966.

The 5-foot-7 blonde will use the $10,000 scholarship she won to attend Smith College at Northampton, Mass., where she plans to train for a career in medical research.

Hawaii's Junior Miss, Anne Collins, 17, of Honolulu was awarded a $6,000 scholarship as first runner-up and a $1,000 scholarship as winner of a personality award voted by the other contestants.

Miss Collins plans to attend Wellesley College in Wellesley, Mass., where she wants to work toward a diplomatic service career.

Second runner-up was Joan McMonagle of New York City. She won a $4,000 scholarship in the nationally televised finals and plans to attend Georgetown University at Washington to study nursing.

Ann Collins, 17, runner-up in the Miss Junior America contest Saturday night, is a former West Texas girl. She lived in Snyder until she and her parents moved from that city to Honolulu. Her parents are Dr. and Mrs. Dwayne Collins. She is well known to many Big Spring residents.

Reviewing The

With Joe Pickle

Spring took a sharp blow last week, but it managed to hold on and rally. A strong front moved in, and with it came a sandstorm and diving temperatures. The minimum reading was 30 degrees, hardly enough to do damage. Except for spotted conditions along the north part of the county, the area still had a chance for a bumper fruit crop. Frost could still come for three more weeks, but the next 10 days are the critical ones.

Oil continues to make news. For one thing, the Texas Railroad Commission fixed the allowable at 33.7 per cent, a new high figure and the seventh month in a row of steady to higher output. A. E. Walker, Big Spring, completed a shallow discovery, No. 1 I. W. Terry, three miles southwest of Sterling. The venture made 26 barrels of 30-gravity oil from a mystery zone, 1,450-61. Coastal States No. 1 Ellwood, 15 miles southwest of Colorado City, acidized and is running tests in the Abo reef. Wildcat locations included Lario No. 1 McCloud, two miles southwest of Coahoma, and Champlain No. 1 T. F. Foster, 14 miles south of Sterling City and two miles from a Fusselman field.

Building shows signs of picking up. The new science and library buildings at HCJC are about to get under way. Furr's announced plans for installing a new picture show near here.

Police Reveal Suicide Note

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — Virginia Hill, 40, once the high-living girlfriend of American underworld figures, said in a farewell note that she was "tired of living" in her middle-class exile here, police reported Friday.

Police officials said after an autopsy that she apparently took her own life with an overdose of sleeping pills. She was found dead Thursday on a path beside a picturesque brook near here.

Marches In U.S. Cities Protest War

By The Associated Press

Thousands of people paraded down Fifth Avenue Saturday to protest the war in Viet Nam. It was the showpiece in a weekend of nationwide antiwar demonstrations.

Hecklers threw insults, and some eggs and tomatoes, at the New York marchers, whose sponsors claimed they were 30,000 strong.

FIST FIGHT

At one point, spectators broke through a shoulder to shoulder line of policemen guarding the parade route and engaged in a brief fist fight with marchers who were carrying Viet Cong flags.

More police moved in and restored order in a few moments. Three men were hustled away in a patrol wagon.

The marchers included veterans, clergy, students, children and old folks. There were few beatniks.

Two lady parade marshals persuaded two youths from the League for Sexual Freedom not to display placards reading "Make love, not war," lest opponents seize the chance to make the marchers seem "a bunch of nuts."

CAPITAL TUMULT

In Washington, several hundred from rival groups demonstrated near the White House. Police arrested two men from the American Nazi party after they burned a Viet Cong flag taken from peace pickets.

At Cape Kennedy, Fla., about a dozen pickets marched at the main entrance to the space base — but it is remote from the populated area and there were few people at work on Saturday.

In Dayton, Ohio, a group of 60 started a five-block march to mail war protest letters to their congressmen, and were joined by 20 or more by the time they reached the post office.

PROTEST MARCH

About 100 persons marched in downtown Buffalo without incident.

In San Francisco, 3,000 marched up Market Street to a rally. Civic Center Viet Nam protest rally.

Suharto's New Indonesian Regime Strives For Cabinet

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A five-man presidium conferred with President Sukarno in his summer palace at Bogor Saturday night on formation of a new cabinet to serve under Lt. Gen. Suharto, Indonesia's anti-Communist strong man.

Suharto's regime struggled into the seventh day of trying to shape a cabinet that will help the military chief brake the nation's rocketing inflation and solve its food shortages.

The cabinet is expected to have 30 members, plus 30 deputy ministers and a six-man inter-cabinet — a sort of executive committee.

Communications between Jakarta and Bogor, 40 miles to the south, were spotty and there was no word as to progress. But Sukarno was expected eventually to approve the cabinet list submitted to him by the military leadership.

Although Sukarno is believed to be only a figurehead now, the military leaders want to preserve him as a rallying point to affirm the new regime's legitimacy.

YOUTH ACHIEVEMENT AWARD Honor Due A Young Leader

Will you help single out, for special honor, the outstanding young boy or girl in Howard County who has made a distinctive record in community, religious and volunteer service?

Being announced today is the Zale-Herald Youth Achievement Award, designed to recognize a High School youth (at the junior or senior class level) who has made unusual contributions.

It is co-sponsored by Zale's Jewelers and the Big Spring Herald, with cooperation of the high schools in Howard County.

Its purpose is to give public recognition those young people who give time and talent to making their school, church and community stronger, and who are concerned with the welfare of others.

On Page 2-A of today's Herald will be found a nomination blank, and all persons who want to honor youth leaders are invited to use the form in submitting names. Anyone can make a nomination — a classmate, a neighbor, a minister, a teacher, a youth leader — anyone who knows of a boy or girl deserving of the Youth Achievement award.

It is required that The Herald blank be used, and returned to The Herald. Nominations will be received for a period of about 10 days, then a panel of judges will make a decision.

The award program is open to juniors and seniors in Howard County's three high schools — Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan.

The award will be based on the following criteria:

Nominee should have a reasonably high scholastic standing in his or her class.

Nominee's activities should reflect an obvious personal awareness of his or her responsibilities to parents, church and community.

Nominee's participation in character-building activities must reflect a knowledge of, and experience in, leadership of youth.

Nominee must have performed his or her outstanding deeds during the current school year, but the judges may consider a nominee's over-all activities and achievements in prior years. Consideration will be given to the circumstances under which the nominee performs the deeds.

Nominee must not have received salary or other form of compensation for the deed or deeds for which he or she is being nominated.

Selection will be determined by a majority vote of the judges, and this decision will be final.

After the nomination period closes, judges will take some time to screen the entries, and an awards banquet will be held during the latter part of April. The winner and his or her family will be guests of honor, and a handsome trophy and engraved watch will be presented by Zale in recognition of Youth Achievement.

Two Astronauts Give Details Of Wild Ride

MANNED SPACE CENTER

Houston, Tex. (AP) — Calmly, the two astronauts who rode and tamed wild Gemini 8 in space said Saturday that even at the height of their tumbling and spinning they were a long way from losing consciousness.

To Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott, the fierce ride in orbit compared with a sensation they had felt before — as pilots in a spinning airplane.

The Gemini 8 space twins, their maiden orbital voyage cut short by a short circuit in the spacecraft, told a news conference the story of their historic, but brief mission.

For a time after trouble developed while Gemini 8 and an Agena rocket were still docked, Armstrong said, he felt he was bringing the rigid combination under control.

"The problem again uncovered itself and the rates (of tumble) began to increase to a point where we felt the structural integrity of the combination were in jeopardy," he said.

It was at this point that they realized they were in serious trouble. While not elaborating, Armstrong was referring to the fact the two vehicles were locked nose to nose, and could snap apart or disintegrate.

Both men teamed, he said, to trouble-shoot the problem, figuring at first it was in the Agena. They finally decided the trouble was in the spacecraft.

"It was felt that something more drastic measures would have to be taken," Armstrong said, explaining that they gained enough control to undock while not risking a collision with the Agena when they parted.

After separation, Armstrong said, they were able to detect that the problem was in the No. 8 maneuvering thruster, the small jet investigators later determined ran full blast after the short occurred.

The thruster burst on for three seconds, off for three seconds, on for three minutes, off four minutes, then on continuously, until Armstrong turned the complete 16-rocket system off and used his re-entry control system to stabilize the craft.

"Though we did not desire to come down at all and would have very much liked to have stayed up there," he said, "it seemed reasonable to agree with the ground recommendation at that point and prepare for recovery."

They landed safely.

Houston (AP) — Mrs. Albert Thomas, widow of the late U.S. representative, took a commanding lead in the special election Saturday to fill the vacancy created by the death of her husband.

With 31 precincts, in the old 8th District of Harris County, Mrs. Thomas, a Democrat, had 1,487 votes to 420 for her opponent.

These figures include absentee ballots. Louis Leman, 27, a Republican who has endorsed the 64-year-old grandmother, won in one precinct in early returns by a vote of 43-33.

A total of 90 precincts were yet to report.

HALT RESISTANCE

Police broke up a preliminary attempt at a march by exploding two smoke grenades, but afterward kept hands off. They let the demonstrators pass unmolested to harangue passers-by under banners that said "Save the national sovereignty" and "Bring democracy and destroy colonialism."

The demonstration attracted about 3,000 persons, including many children. The crowd dispersed shortly before midnight.

LESSER SCALE

In all, it never approached the violence of some demonstrations that Buddhists and students have launched here in the past. The Buddhist Institute rally heard a denunciation from Thich Thien Minh, head of Buddhist youth affairs, of South Viet Nam's current governmental, social and economic situation.

He urged the youths at the rally, however, to take no action at least until after a scheduled meeting of Buddhist leaders Sunday. He said this meeting would be important.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Buddhist youths staged an antigovernment street demonstration in Saigon Saturday night while U.S. Marines consolidated a beachhead, newly won in their southernmost landing of the war, to protect river traffic to the capital.

Mounting against Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime were political pressures which threatened — as others have done at intervals since the downfall of President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963 — to complicate the fight against the Viet Cong.

1,200 LEATHERNECKS Leaping into that fight were about 1,200 American Leathernecks of the 1st Battalion, 5th Marine Regiment, specially trained in Hawaii for a special job in Viet Nam.

They stormed ashore in assault boats and helicopters in a driving rain at the mouth of the Saigon River, 35 miles southeast of Saigon. With naval guns firing in support, there was no initial Viet Cong resistance. The main mission is to help shield from Communist harassment a shipping lane by which vital supplies are moved inland from the South China Sea.

PLANES DOWNED Operations elsewhere cost the United States three planes. Of four crewmen in these crashes, three were killed and one is listed as missing.

Two hundred or more young Vietnamese marched from a rally of 10,000 at the Buddhist Institute of Saigon's central market in the first such street manifestation of opposition here to Ky's government since he assumed power last June.

They called, as their fellows in Hue and Da Nang have previously done, for a speedy return to civilian rule.

Earl Britton Rites Monday

Earl G. (Bill) Britton, 42, former Big Spring resident, died at 2 a.m. Saturday suddenly at his home in San Angelo. He had lived in San Angelo about four years, moving there from Big Spring.

A heavy equipment operator, Mr. Britton was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Britton, well known local residents. Mrs. Britton died last month and the father died in 1956.

Mr. Britton was a veteran of World War II and a member of American Legion Post 355, Big Spring.

He was born June 4, 1923 in Lorraine.

Services are to be at 4 p.m. Monday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, The Rev. Dan Sanford, pastor of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Frances Britton, San Angelo, two sons Billy Wayne Timmons and Tilford Ricky Timmons, both of Odessa; two stepsons, Woody Dean Taylor, and Joel Lee Taylor, both of San Angelo; one brother Marvin Kenneth Britton, Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Helen Murphy, and Mrs. Pat Robey, both of Big Spring.

The local Legion Post will conduct military rites at the graveside and provide the pallbearers.

Speaker Says Work Together

COLORADO CITY (SC) — R. E. Slayton, Austin, director of program review for the Texas Education Agency, told parents and teachers Thursday night that working together is the secret of a better community climate for better education.

Slayton was the principal speaker at a dinner at the primary building honoring the 16th district board of managers of the P-TA. He said that schools meeting the needs of their communities were those with adequate financing, a school administration interested in the needs of each child, and those schools with a program of adult education.

Thursday night's dinner climaxed the day's program which began at 2:30 p.m. with a board meeting. A tea for local P-TA members followed at 5 p.m. Friday's program included a noon luncheon, with a business session following. The conference concluded at 3 p.m.

Powell Funeral To Be On Monday

Services for Roy Powell, 77, resident of El Paso, who died in a local hospital Saturday morning after a long illness, are to be at 10:30 a.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, The Rev. E. A. J. Seddon Jr., St. Paul's Memorial Methodist Church, will officiate. Nalley-Pickle will be in charge. Burial had not been decided Saturday.

He is survived by one brother, James C. Powell, El Paso.

Editor Dugger Out Of Race

AUSTIN (AP)—The editor of the liberal Texas Observer, Ronnie Dugger, has withdrawn his candidacy for the Senate seat held by Republican John Tower.

Dugger said he felt impelled earlier this year to file as an independent for the race "not only or mainly by the situation in the senate race, but also by the unhealthy lack of real debate in the mass media on Viet Nam."

"I believe this lack of debate was letting us drift into a general war over China in a general defaulting of our collective national conscience."

But the situation changed, Dugger said, with the televised Senate hearings on Viet Nam. Tower is seeking re-election.

Parking Meter Looting Bared

NEW YORK (AP) — Police have uncovered keys capable of opening any of the city's 61,000 parking meters. There is evidence, police say, that parking meter meddling may be a nationwide epidemic.

The 41 master keys were found by detectives who seized a bank safe deposit box. Detectives found 50 other key sets and key-making machines.

Odessa's 'Gang' Will Feed First Lady's Party In April

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—A bunch of fun-loving West Texans will handle the cooking chores when Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson brings 100 guests to Texas' rugged Big Bend country April 2-4.

She is coming to dedicate Ft. Davis as a U.S. National Park site.

They call themselves the Chuck Wagon Gang of Odessa, and except for their full-time chef and business manager, they lead double lives.

Some days of the week, they may wear tailored suits and command an oil company or a bank, but on other days, they may strip to the waist over a hot fire and cook and serve barbecue.

TOUT ODESSA Free-spenders, they will take time anytime to go any place to talk about Odessa.

They pay their own way, sometimes as far as Las Vegas, Atlanta, Casper, Wyo., South Dakota's Black Hills or Washington, D.C.

Appropriately for Mrs. Johnson's trip, her husband was made an honorary member of the gang in 1958. Other honorary members are Gov. John Connally and former Govs. Price Daniel and Allan Shivers.

For her tour, the gang—a committee of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce—will move its outdoor cooking outfit to the Big Bend National Park, packed with 1,500-foot canyons and molded with 4,000-foot mountain peaks.

Any problem? "KID'S PLAY," commented a member of the gang, which easily can feed 1,000 persons an hour at an outdoor barbecue.

After serving 14,500 at a 1962 Permian Basin Oil Show, a gang member quipped, "We didn't even work up a sweat."

Their record is 18,000 at another Permian oil show, but one of the gang's proudest records was at an Humble Oil party in Genoa, Tex., near Houston. There, in a rain storm, they dished out food to 15,000 persons in 55 minutes.

Mrs. Johnson's party, however, will get special treatment in the great outdoors: a barbecue dinner the first night, April 2, a flapjack breakfast the next morning and—after she makes a five-hour raft trip down the Rio Grande—a hot steak-and-potato meal will be waiting.

He estimated a "possible" 50,000 Texas students would take the test in May and June.

Students who wish to take the exams and prove their college aptitude must make application at the local selective service office in the basement of the Big Spring Post Office. Applicants must have filled in their cards and have them in the hands of the draft board not later than midnight April 23.

Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said students could get the bulletins and blanks by writing their local boards. Taking the test is entirely optional with students.

Two Escapees Are Nabbed

Two youthful patients walked away from the Big Spring State Hospital on Friday afternoon.

They took a car from the hospital grounds owned by Fern Durham, 1303-A Lincoln, an employee.

Later that car was found abandoned in Andrews where the pair allegedly stole a second car. Soon afterwards, one of the two escapees, Lewis Edward Young, 17, a native of Nolan County, was picked up in Odessa. The second, Larry Wayne Sutton, 19, was reported apprehended in Sweetwater, still driving the car stolen in Andrews. A charge has been filed against him for the car theft in Andrews, city police here have been advised.

Death Term Given Slayer

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Charles Schmid Jr., 23, was sentenced Friday to die June 17 in the gas chamber for the killing of two young girls.

Judge Lee Garrett set the date after 90 minutes of legal arguments.

A delay in the mandatory death sentence, set by a jury last month in convicting Schmid on two counts of murder, was sought by defense attorney William Timney Jr.

Through Timney, Schmid offered to take a truth serum test. His lawyer called the trial a mockery of justice.

Schmid was convicted of murdering his former girl friend, Gretchen Fritz, 17, and her sister, Wendy, 13, daughters of a prominent Tucson heart surgeon. They disappeared last summer, and their bodies were later found buried in the desert.

Absentee Voting Deadline Nears

Deadline for absentee voting in the April 2 school elections expires Tuesday, according to Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy in the office of Mrs. Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk.

So far, she said, only 13 absentee votes have been dropped in the ballot box.

Absentee votes are being accepted at the county clerk's office for the election of trustees for the Big Spring Independent school district; trustee at large, and trustees for Commissioners Precincts 3 and 4 in the Howard County School board election and trustees for the Howard County Junior College board.

Widow Given Mate's Award

Mrs. Dorothy M. Chappell received two citations and medals awarded by the Air Force to her late husband, T. Sgt. John M. Chappell, at the wing review on the flight line Saturday morning. Mrs. Chappell received both the Air Force Commendation Medal (Posthumous) and The Purple Heart from Col. Chester J. Butcher, commander. The citation accompanying the Commendation Medal read in part: "Technical Sergeant John M. Chappell distinguished himself by meritorious service as Noncommissioned Officer in Charge, Roads and Grounds Section, 12 Civil Engineering Squadron, Cam Ranh Air Base, Republic of Viet Nam, from Aug. 23, 1965 to Dec. 17, 1965. During this period Chappell consistently displayed outstanding professional skill, leadership, and initiative in the performance of all his assigned duties. His immediate response to problem areas and institution of corrective measures contributed significantly to the construction of a major Air Force expeditionary air base. The distinctive accomplishments of Sergeant Chappell reflect credit upon himself and the United States Air Force."

The Purple Heart, oldest in the U.S. Military, is awarded to fighting men who were wounded or lost their lives as a result of action by hostile foreign forces.

DECORATED SPEAKER
Col. Thomas C. Robertson, chief, tactical division, Headquarters United States Air Force, the guest speaker is one of the most decorated World War II and Korean veterans and is widely experienced in tactical fighter operations.

He completed 22 years of service on Jan. 2, 1965. All of this service with the exception of one year spent attending the National War College (1963-1964) has been in various tactical fighter squadrons at the Tactical Air Command which he organized in 1960.

Col. Robertson, a tactical fighter squadron group and wing commander for over 16 years of his 22 years service, has flown in excess of 1,000 hours combat time in fighter-bomber aircraft during World War II and Korea. This gives him the highest number of hours in the Air Force. Over nine years of his command experience, he has been associated with air operations in the Pacific and Far East. He has flown every tactical fighter aircraft since 1943.

Sorority Members Received Response To First 'Goodies'

Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, which has been collecting magazines, books and games to be flown to soldiers in remote Viet Nam outposts, has helped the U.S. soldier's morale before — last Christmas, in fact.

The ladies made Christmas "goodies" — cookies and candy — and sent them to the Fifth Tactical Command Group, with the stipulation that the goodies be sent to those soldiers who would need and appreciate them the most.

The commandant of the group assured the ladies the goodies were sent to the most remote outposts near the North Viet Nam border.

Reaction of the soldiers was something to behold. A great many letters were sent to Mrs. Bob Knight of the chapter from individual soldiers who had received the cookies, as well as from soldiers who had read a letter Mrs. Knight had written, which was printed in "5th Tac Beacon," the group newsletter.

Mrs. Knight's letter had asked permission to send the goodies, and offered correspondence. Her father, Capt. James H. Moore, died in Viet Nam in October, 1962, while stationed at Da Nang.

Typical of the letters received was one from 1st Lt. Charles L. Richard, of Lafayette, La., who wrote:

"This evening we received a package of 'goodies' that you folks at Big Spring, Texas, fixed up for Christmas (the packages arrived in late January). Believe me, I write for every G.I. in Viet Nam when I say that it gives us a feeling that the folks back home understand us when they go through all that trouble preparing packages such as you have.

"Please give my thanks to everyone for making us really feel wonderful. Please do not be disappointed that your package arrived late, for we are the most Northern unit in Viet Nam — we are the last, lost detachment."

Another letter, signed by nine members of a radio-maintenance unit maintaining a communications link between Hue and Dong Ha, laboriously pecked out on a portable typewriter:

"We would like to thank you and your friends for the cans of candy and cookies. They were all very good and still nice and fresh."

"We have been here at Hue for a couple of months now and enjoy it very much. Hue is the religious and cultural center of Viet Nam since the 16th century. Some of the places lived in by the Chinese rulers at that time still stand and are very nice to visit. Due to the fact that Hue is the city of religion and culture in Viet Nam it has not seen much V.C. (Viet Cong, the enemy-terrorist).

"Only a couple of miles out of the city is another story. Your package arrived a month late, but no matter, the thought was not lost at all."

"We hope that you all had a very nice Christmas and that the New Year is being wonderful to your group. May God Bless all of you fine women."

Some Postal Costs Higher

The price on money orders, insurance, registry, certified mail and COD rates in the Big Spring Post Office, and in post offices all over the U.S., increased Saturday, Frank Hardesty, postmaster, noted.

The new rates, he said, are designed to reduce the deficit shown in postal operation for these five special services. The records show that it costs the U.S. $60 million more to carry on these services than the revenue received. The increases which are now in effect will reduce this gap, the post office department believes, by $36 million.

Hardesty said the last change in fees for money orders, registered letters and certified mail was in 1961. Rates for insurance and certified mail were changed in 1957.

The postmaster general announced the following increases:

Money order fees: domestic and international money order fees are increased five cents.

Insurance fees: minimum bracket is increased from $10 to $15 and the minimum fee is set at 20 cents instead of 10 cents. Revised rate schedule for insurance: one cent to $15, 20 cents; $15.01 to $50, 30 cents; $50.01 to $100, 40 cents; $100.01 to $150, 50 cents; $150.01 to $200, 60 cents.

Registry fees: the present 60 cents and 75 cents fees will be combined into a single fee at 75 cents for values up to $100. Registry fees for articles valued in excess of $100 will remain unchanged.

C.O.D. fees: the present 40 cents and 50 cents fee brackets will be combined into one fee bracket at 60 cents for amounts up to $10. There will be no change in the fees covering items valued above $10.

Certified mail: the fee will be increased 10 cents from the present 20 cents per item to 30 cents.

Losses incurred in the operation of special services are paid from funds drawn from the Federal Treasury, Hardesty pointed out. The fee increases will shift a substantial portion of the special service cost borne by the public to the users of these services.

GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: Be patient. Girls between 11 and 15 are generally stubborn, selfish and moody. They will become more reasonable and considerate of each other when they mature. Unfortunately by that time, they will be ready to leave home. Sorry, Mother, but why should it be any different at your house?

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

DEAR WITHHOLD: If the doctor told you that his treatment didn't seem to be helping you, what more valid reason do you need for changing doctors? If you were genuinely insulted by the doctor's unprofessional behavior, you'd have walked out, quit him at once, and reported him to the county medical society. I advise you to quit him. If you don't, then face it, you're unconsciously (?) fascinated by the relationship, knowing full well what to expect.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of three daughters, ages 11, 13, and 15. These girls are driving me crazy! There is never a peaceful minute in this house. They are always fighting. When

Moore Clan Gathers Today

Residents of Moore Community — former residents and persons who attended the old Moore school — will gather today at the Howard County Junior College Student Union Building for their fourth annual reunion.

The rally gets under way early and will continue as long as the Moore clan wants to stay and chat.

There will be a 1 p.m. luncheon served at the SUB at $1.50 per person. Officials said that while it is not entirely necessary it will be of help if all who plan to dine at the cafeteria will let the SUB know.

The old Moore school, which was discontinued 21 years ago, was about five miles north and a mile west of town. Lawrence Adkins is the president of the Moore Reunion and Anna Smith is the secretary.

Coahoma's P-TA Sets Art Program

COAHOMA (SC) — Art and education will feature the program of the P-TA when it meets at the high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on Monday.

Mrs. R. C. Schaver, fourth grade teacher, will be the speaker and will use some of her pupils and examples of their work to illustrate points in her talk.

Bids Issued For Base Lighting

An invitation to bidders has been issued by the Base Procurement Office at Webb AFB covering the installation of alter lighting, hangar building No. 1 at Webb.

Bids will be received until 3 p.m., April 22 at the procurement office. The work will consist of installing mercury vapor lighting. Interested bidders may secure copies of the plans at the Base Procurement Office, Webb.

Duties Outlined

Programs and duties of a juvenile officer were outlined at the Friday meeting of the Health and Welfare Organization at the Downtown Team Room. Bob Wakefield, juvenile officer was the speaker. Thirty-three from 14 organizations attended. Officers for the coming year were elected, including Walter Widger, chairman, Harold Lyles, co-chairman, and John Clancy, reporter.

DEAR ABBY

A Problem With Doctor

DEAR ABBY: For the past five months I have been taking shots and pills for my nerves. During my last visit to the doctor he said, "My treatments don't seem to be helping you. I think I know what you need. You need to let yourself go!" Then he suggested I seek romance outside my marriage, and he added, "—And I could make myself available." Abby, I was so stunned I nearly fainted. He is a very handsome, middle-aged family man and one of the most highly respected doctors in town. I don't want to cause him any trouble. If I suddenly changed doctors, my husband would get suspicious because I had so much confidence in this doctor. And if my husband ever found out what the doctor said to me, he'd go looking for him with a club.

Is there any way I can continue seeing this doctor and keep him in line?

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: If the doctor told you that his treatment didn't seem to be helping you, what more valid reason do you need for changing doctors? If you were genuinely insulted by the doctor's unprofessional behavior, you'd have walked out, quit him at once, and reported him to the county medical society. I advise you to quit him. If you don't, then face it, you're unconsciously (?) fascinated by the relationship, knowing full well what to expect.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of three daughters, ages 11, 13, and 15. These girls are driving me crazy! There is never a peaceful minute in this house. They are always fighting. When

Employers Asked To Attend Meet

Big Spring employers are invited to attend a meeting in Odessa on March 31 to hear officials of Texas Employment Commission discuss services and operations of TEC.

It is hoped by W. S. Birdwell Jr., TEC Commissioner representing employers, that information given will help employers to make better use of the TEC facilities.

Leon Kinney, manager of the Big Spring office, said 15 locally sponsored conferences are being arranged over the state by TEC.

The one at Odessa has been designated as the conference center for Howard County employers.

R. L. Coffman, TEC administrator, and Henry Rothell, assistant administrator, will participate in the meetings, as well as other key TEC personnel in employer-related operations of the commission. Employers also will be briefed on state and federal legislative proposals and TEC public employment services.

Five Schools Pick Their Spelling Bee Champions

By SAM BLACKBURN
Five schools have selected their school spelling bee champions, and several others expect to announce their winners by this weekend.

Most of the schools which have not determined their spellers for the Howard County Spelling Bee on April 16, will have their final eliminations on April 6.

St. Mary's Episcopal Church school was the first to select its 1966 spelling champion. He is Paul Talbot, 9, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Talbot, 1508 Dayton. Both Hungerford, 10, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Don Hungerford, 901 Dallas, is the school's alternate. This is the first year that St. Mary's has fielded a champion.

Runnels Junior High has a champion for 1966 who was champion for her elementary school in 1965 and was one of the most able spellers in the Howard Spelling Bee of that year.

RUNNELS CHAMP
Runnels, which had the county champion in 1964 and 1965 and was home school of the 1965 Regional Spelling Bee champion, will be represented this year at the county bee by Mary Lou Brown, 13, a seventh grader. Mary Lou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Brown, Gay Hill, was Gay Hill's champion last year. Alternate this year is Ryan Walker, 13, an eighth grader. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walker, Rt. 2.

Debbie Rives, who in 1965 was No. 3 speller in the Howard County Spelling Bee, tried for the Runnels title this year but turned up again in the No. 3 spot.

About 120 youngsters were in the finals at Runnels. Mrs. Marjorie Talmadge, a teacher at Runnels, was in charge of this year spelling bee in that school. Gollad Junior High School, according to Principal Soc Walker, will be ready to announce its winner sometime soon.

MIDWAY WINNER
Midway school, in the Coahoma school district, announced its winners Friday as Ronny Pope, who last year was the alternate from that school. He is the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pope, Sand Springs, and is a fourth grader. He had a tough time winning his title — thanks to the competition posed by tiny 10-year-old Jennie Kohanek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Kohanek, of Rt. 1.

She will be the school's alternate.

Cedar Crest school had two young girls wind up in Nos. 1 and 2 position. The school champion is Lora Baker, 12, a sixth grader. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Baker, 1703 W. 2nd. Alternate is Kate Bradshaw, 10, a fifth grader. Kate is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Bradshaw, 608 Bell.

PAROCIAL SPELLER
Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School's champion is 12-year-old Susan Sulak, a seventh grader. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Sulak Jr., 4200 Parkway. The alternate for Immaculate Heart of Mary is Brad Bool, an eighth grader and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bool, 2700 Apache Drive.

The Fourth Annual Howard County Spelling Bee, sponsored by the Daily Herald, will be staged at the high school cafeteria on April 16. The winner gets a plaque engraved with his (or her) name and the year of his victory, a free trip for himself and family to Lubbock to try for the Regional Spelling Bee title on April 30.

REGIONAL CHAMP
Winner of the regional bee wins an all expense trip in June to Washington, D. C. for himself and his parents and a chance to try for national championship.

In 1965, Runnels Junior High's Don Hickson won the county and the regional title and made the trip to Washington.

Don is now a student in Gollad Junior High, having moved out of the Runnels district.

Sofa and chair with the famous "Sleepy-Hollow" back

The "Sleepy-Hollow"—a high (36 in.) back that you can actually sink into most comfortably and get good, honest relaxation. You'll find that the most expensive furniture you can buy won't have better spring steel than this, because there isn't any. Solid shaped maple arms eliminate soil and wear. Soft foam cushions, zippered and reversible.

New "Spice Tones" give you a pleasing range of fabrics. You can mix tasty combinations of Paprika, Chili Red, Curry Gold, Dill Green, Poppyseed Blue, or Ginger Beige—these warm colors come in prints, tweeds, and nylon warp tapestries.

The Early American design; rich fabrics, and touch of maple are warm and inviting...and the price is hospitable, too.

Big Rush Shaping For License Tags

If this year's cash receipts for the sale of 1966 auto license plates is to match the total as of April 1, 1965, the office of Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, will have to dispense $180,546 worth of new plates in the next five days.

The gross receipts for car plates on April 1, 1965 was $461,371. As of Friday afternoon, the tax office and its substations had collected $280,825.13.

If this isn't gloomy enough—provided with plates for the current year. This means there will be a grand rush before the deadline April 1. There will be no night session for the deputies at the office of the tax assessor, Mrs. LeFevre said.

There are two substations operating where passenger car plates are available. One is the Newsom Food Store on South Gregg, and the other is the Lewis 5-and-10 in the College Park Shopping Center. These will remain open later on the final day. It is imperative, Mrs. LeFevre says, that an applicant for a plate at these offices, as well as at the courthouse, bring the car title and last year's license receipt with him.

Motorists who have mislaid their titles or receipts should come to Mrs. LeFevre's office, and she will advise them on the procedure to be followed.

Leads Mission

Fr. James K. Lafferty, diocese of Sioux City, Ia., will lead this year's Catholic preaching mission starting at 9 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. today at Webb AVE chapel. He recently earned his doctorate in education. His opening message will be "Ecumenism: What It Means to Catholics." Four remaining mission subjects are 7:30 p.m. through Friday. The Protestant preaching missions concludes at 7:30 p.m. today with Rev. Leo Gee, First Methodist pastor, speaking.

Optimists Book Kelly And Miller Circus April 4

Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. Circus, one of the few shows still under canvass, will come here April 4 under the auspices of the Optimist Club. Van Perry, president, announced.

Local arrangements are in charge of Bill Lovelace, circus chairman for the club. The show will pitch its tents at the rodeo grounds. Advanced ticket sales are being handled at Barnes' Peillier Shoe Store.

The circus includes such acts as Capt. Fred Logan and his lion, leopard and panther training act; a herd of performing elephants; Corky and Norma Martini, famous equestriennes; plus a host of other smaller animal acts, clowns, and all the circus trimmings.

Stanton's Renewal Project Blossoming

Stanton's urban renewal program began back in 1958, when a referendum was held on July 23 to determine if the people of Stanton wanted an urban renewal program. The vote was yes, and plans were underway for the appointment of an urban renewal commission.

From a rather shaky beginning, which included resignation of four of the five councilmen and an election suit that was dropped, the urban renewal commission applied for an urban renewal contract with the Housing and Urban Development Agency in Washington, D.C. It filed a survey and planning application stating what Stanton hoped to accomplish under the Contract for survey and planning was executed in August, 1960. The first phase began officially June 22, 1962.

Total cost of Phase I (or Project 1) has been $643,901, and the work is about 95 per cent accomplished, explained Floyd Smith, director. Urban renewal's share has been $51,193. Stanton's share has been $132,708, of which $30,000 came from bonds voted in 1962. The balance came in credits such as the share of private property owners in the assessment paying program, the state highway department heavy culverts under US 80, and certain allowances for school children living within the 124-acre project area.

Backbone of Phase I has been the installation of 145 blocks of curb, gutters and paving at a cost of approximately $400,000. Urban renewal picked up the City of Stanton share of $61,009, and financed all the engineering as it has on other projects. The paving was done without skips or leaveouts, and some streets were designed with storm sewers. From a scantily paved city, Stanton has become one of the better-paved small towns of Texas.

In the water and sewer program, which cost $37,741, the city paid $26,048 and the urban renewal office, $61,693. Improvements included installation of 8,200 feet of six-inch main to replace two-inch lines, and some additional sewer lines.

Another feature has been the development of the $45,000 Aero Space Park.

encompasses 124 acres in a saw-tooth pattern from east to west across town north of the T&P tracks. One major hump in the central area goes to the north city limits.

Within this territory, 31 parcels have been acquired under the program, and so far about a dozen have been resold to private developers who contract to build new structures which range in cost from $7,500 to $16,000. Smith thinks the taxable value already restored to the area is in excess of what it was for the entire 31 tracts. The sale price averages 12 cents a square foot, and this is just about what the land is acquired for, according to Smith. However this purchase figure does not include the price paid for improvements, which varied according to the character and condition of improvements. Most of the tracts acquired had old, vacant houses on them.

The urban renewal agency has offered its services in relocating 10 families, paying the moving expenses. Most of the families acquired other, more satisfactory housing by purchase or rental, and a few families moved into the public housing project, which has no connection with urban renewal. UR has assisted some families in securing financing, but it does none of the financing in purchases as part of the relocation process. In two instances of elderly pensioners, relocation grants of $500 were made. Not all families contacted wanted to move. In a number of instances, the families volunteered to fix up their places so that they would be comparable to surrounding, maintained property.

"We try to let the individual do as much as he can by himself," said Smith. "A lot of civic pride is stirred in a project like the one Stanton has undertaken. Clark Hamilton, assistant director of urban renewal, What's ahead, then, for Phase II of Stanton's urban renewal program? The area from which projects for improvement will be selected covers 162 acres in the south and southwest parts of town, plus a small portion of the downtown business area. The federal grant earmarked for this is $1,561,704, and the city's share will be $183,500, making a total estimated cost of $1,745,204.

"A major portion of the phase will be concentrated on the lake bed problem in a 14.5 block area," said Smith. "This includes plans for excavating 10.5 blocks to contain floodwaters, for filtration and injection wells, as well as landscaping, for a park when dry."

There are 108 families and 16 individuals in the project area, and five reside within the 25-acre area marked for the flood water detention program. From the perimeter, the lake area will be excavated to a depth of 20 feet at the center in order to trap the runoff from a six to seven-inch rain. On several occasions, this low area has filled and spilled over the T&P tracks to the highways. "In 1950 we had to get across in boats for several days," Smith recalled. Plans are to dig and equip six injection wells which will draw water from the lake filter and force it into gravel formations about 150 feet down. Engineering was done on running a pipeline a mile and a half east and boosting the water over the divide, but the wells appeared to be more economical.

"A neighborhood park and a complete pony league ball park will be built on four other acres in the basin vicinity," said Smith.

"About 90 per cent of the houses in the whole area, most of them substandard, will either be given voluntary face-lifting as in the Phase I program on the north side of town, or they will be purchased and the land offered for resale and redevelopment."

Plans call for 44 additional blocks of paving on the south side, which has no paving now; the installation of sewer service which does not now reach the south side; the replacement of the single line, a two-inch affair, which serves a limited amount of the area.

One of the ambitious items is relocation of three gins just south of the tracks in the downtown area. These have created a nuisance of dust and lint in the neighborhood and along a section of US 80. Some few businesses may also be relocated, Smith said.

Will there be a Phase III to Stanton's project? "Well, it's too soon to tell," Smith reflected. "But Stanton has an excellent opportunity to become a 'bedroom' city for neighboring towns, and in its own way, can attract visitors who will possibly work in other towns but who will choose, perhaps, to make their home in Stanton."

"Of course, the whole urban renewal program is still in its infancy," Smith said. "But I personally feel that coming years will show what a great amount of good it can do." He smiled. "Why, just look at Stanton," he said.

Public Housing Agency, Too

Apart from the urban renewal programs in Stanton is the Stanton Public Housing Authority, an agency which has 30 rental units and is constructing more than twice that number.

Part of the rental units are located in the east part of town, the second area are occupied by Negro and Latin-American individuals and families.

The original increment of 30 units cost $372,000, including land. The second project of 78 units, which like the first is about evenly divided between the north and south areas, will cost $1,004,000, including the land.

Rents are keyed strictly to income, and when individuals or families exceed the income ceiling, they must find private housing elsewhere. The city, school and county divide 10 per cent of the rental income in lieu of taxes. After administration is taken out, the residue goes back to the federal housing agency which applies this to the annual payment of a 40-year amortization. Whatever the difference between this margin of profit and the annual charge is made up in federal funds.

The units vary in size. For instance, in the original project, there are six "no" bedroom units and a pair of one-bedroom units for the elderly. There are four units with four bedrooms, a couple for still larger families. The remaining 14 are two-bedroom units. All are in duplex arrangements, and construction is brick veneer. The yards are landscaped.

Manager of the public housing authority in Stanton is Mrs. Floyd Smith. Offices are near the units, except they have been moved upon temporarily during renovation.

Washington may then give the green light to the whole project if the community is ready to participate. This may include paving roads and streets, improving water and sewer systems, building parks and recreational facilities, and making substandard housing into standard housing.

A show piece of Stanton's Urban Renewal Phase I program—the Aero Space Park—has achieved national recognition. Located in the northeast part of town, the park occupies approximately a block of land and was developed beginning in 1962, at a cost of about $45,000. Urban renewal put the land in shape, installed an underground irrigation system, then added play equipment designed to fit into its theme.

The park then was turned over to the City of Stanton, which maintains and operates it.

This was the first of such developments in the nation, said director Floyd Smith, and it has been copied in urban renewal projects across the country. Smith said a color photograph of it hangs in the office of the Housing and Urban Development Commission in Washington, D.C.

"Needless to say," he observed, "we're very proud of that park."

He hopes to employ some of the same ideas in developing a park in a lake basin on the south side of the tracks under Phase II.

Citizens Must Decide

What's involved in a community's participation in an urban renewal project?

Regardless of the city's size, before it can enter into an urban renewal program with the federal government, it must hold a referendum to determine if a majority of its citizens favor the proposal. If the vote is yes, the city council may appoint an urban renewal commission, which, in turn, may apply for an urban renewal contract with the Housing and Urban Development Agency in Washington, D.C.

The urban renewal commission must file a survey and planning application, a comprehensive plan stating what the city intends to accomplish under the program. Cities under 50,000 population, like Stanton, must pay for one quarter of the project in cash or in "credits," improvements carried out within the urban renewal program or outside the program if the benefits will directly affect the project.

The federal government matches the other three quarters of the funds for the project.

After approval, a public hearing is held and the urban renewal plan and finances are discussed at length. The city council may approve or disapprove the plan. A director of urban renewal is hired by the urban renewal commission, and he, in turn, appoints his assistants and staff. His salary is set up in the budget as part of the project and is based on comparable salaries of superintendents of schools.

Washington may then give the green light to the whole project if the community is ready to participate. This may include paving roads and streets, improving water and sewer systems, building parks and recreational facilities, and making substandard housing into standard housing.

Nat's latest effort

Shick Finishes 17th Totem Pole

Nat Shick, who has developed a career carving totem poles, has just completed and supervised the erection of the seventeenth such pole he has produced.

The latest is a 12-foot model, carved, as are all of his masterpieces, from an old power-line pole, based on a design submitted by Mrs. C. A. Horton, 1603 W. 4th. The pole has been placed in position on the front yard of her residence.

Mrs. Horton, asked why she wanted a totem pole, observed that it was like the mountain climber encounter.

"There was no real reason, but he climbed the mountain because he wanted to," she said. "I just wanted a totem pole."

Now I have one and I am delighted with it."

Nat noted this is not his last totem pole.

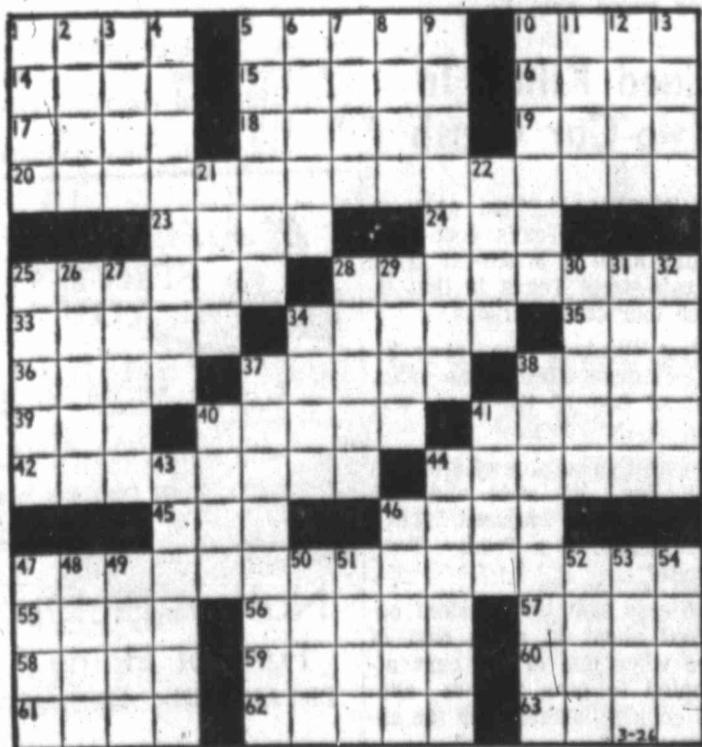

He already has order for an even bigger and more elaborate one.

"This next one will be 20 feet at least," he said. It took Nat 2½ months to carve the pole for Mrs. Horton.

Sunrise Service Plans Take Shape

Committee leaders working on an impressive religious program for Big Spring's traditional Easter sunrise service will meet this week to make final plans.

Members of the Garden Clubs, with Mrs. Odell Womack and Mrs. Garner McAdams in charge, will arrange for special decorations of the stage and background at the City Park amphitheatre, where the service will start at 6:10 a.m. on April 10.

Speaker for the service will be the Rev. John S. Rasco, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Odessa, and a leading figure in his denomination.

The start of the service will be marked by posting of colors by the Webb AFB color guard. A special anthem will be sung by the combined choirs of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College, and the High School band will play. Special scripture readings will be given by members of the Civic Theatre.

the Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors Club.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, chairman of arrangements for the Easter devotion, said his committee feels that the service this year will be one of the most inspiring in years, and that it should attract an unusually large crowd to the amphitheatre.

Workshop Set

Officers and members of six lodges will participate in a Masonic workshop at Mitchell Lodge 563, Colorado City, at 7:30 p.m. April 4. James H. Farr, Hermitage, chairman of the workshop in eight counties of Area F-2, will conduct the meeting for representatives from Snyder, Ira, Dunn, Hermitage, Lorraine and Colorado City lodges.

MRS. HAMLIN ELROD

Will Attend Math Institute

The National Science Foundation Institute has selected Mrs. Hamlin Elrod, Forsan teacher, for a scholarship to the NSF for secondary math teachers at Texas Tech, according to Charles L. Riggs, director of the NSF mathematics institute.

Mrs. Elrod, who has taught at Forsan High School for 13 years, will attend the institute session from June 2 to July 13.

Riggs said only 40 grants were available and over 200 applications were received.

Mrs. Elrod has received a NSF stipend once before, in 1958, when she attended a session at the University of Texas.

Her husband is a rancher south of Forsan. Both Elrod children are graduates of Forsan High School and are now in college.

Rains And Snow Lift Lake Levels

CHICAGO (AP) — The water in Lake Michigan and Lake Huron is building up to what might be the highest levels in five years, says the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

Heavy rains and melting snows are contributing to a rising trend, which saw the lakes rise one inch in six days last week.

Civitan Club Elects Officers

Bob Pusey was named president; Olin Graves, first vice president; Robert Von Rosenberg, second vice president; Mike Kull, secretary; Norman English, treasurer; and John Blagg, Ernest Morgan, Richard Shaver, Emory Parish and Pat Crigg, directors.

The club's charter night has been set for Friday, April 15.

at the Big Spring Country Club. Among the visiting officials at the charter meeting will be Robert B. Cole, Dallas, Civitan Texas district governor; Michael Cooley, Midland, district lieutenant governor in West Texas; and the Rev. Ed Kirk, district chaplain.

The Midland Civitan club is sponsoring the new Big Spring club. It was assisted by Civitan International Field Secretary, J. Earl Goss, Fort Worth.

Ambucs Urged To Active Part In Local Government

Sound business principals, if used on all plateaus of government, would promote the savings of hundreds of thousands of dollars, attorney R. H. Weaver told members at their luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel.

Weaver, who formerly served as Howard County judge, said the Texas Constitution needed to be reformed and updated before most of the needed changes could take place and suggested to his listeners that they take a more active interest in pressing upon state legislators the need for those changes.

The speaker said the time of year was fast approaching when taxpayers would be acutely reminded of the government's need for money because of impending income tax deadlines but the reforms, he emphasized, should start locally where taxing agencies could be combined at a great savings without a loss of muscle, where the duties of law enforcement agencies all too often overlap, where outmoded statutes often guarantee men offices of enduring terms where the duties are either nil or of anything but an indelible nature.

Weaver emphasized to his listeners the fact that he was not engaging in a discussion of personalities on any level of government, adding that he knew personally many persons in public office here and regarded them warmly. He added that some of those elevated to their portfolios by the electorate agree that laws governing their offices should be streamlined, even in some situations where their jobs would be abolished.

At the municipality's recent budget hearing, only five persons manifested enough interest to attend. Weaver asked for a show of hands to see if any of those five were in attendance. None was raised. The speaker then mildly admonished his fellow Ambucs for not taking a more consuming interest in matters of such great import, pointing out that "it is your money" which is needed to keep government machinery oiled and operative.

The Texas constitution has been in existence since 1876, Weaver said. The language of that celebrated charter is such that the speaker added, that amendments must be approved through the mandate of the people, before changes can be made in the modus operandi of government. Preparation of those amendments invariably provokes costly and time-consuming.

Weaver said that the people owe it to themselves to press for the needed reforms, adding that only through reform can the cost of government be expected to come down.

The Big Spring Country Club will be the scene the evening of May 7 of an AB Club party, at which time new officers of the organization will be initiated and seated.

An attendance contest is again being staged within the club and will extend through five weeks, ending on the eve of the installation party.

Members of low teams will be fined 25 cents and those not present for weekly meetings will be charged 50 cents, club president, Dr. Robert H. Johnson said.

Serving as team captains in the contest are Fern Cox, Marvin Callahan, Fred Clark and Joe Ward. Four co-captains will serve with each squad leader.

Fine money collected in the contest will go into the club's Living Endowment Fund.

Ambucs present were also reminded that next Friday will be Big Hat Day and members failing to bring their big hats with them will be subjected to fines.

Guests present included Sheriff Bill Davis and Jim Giddings.

John Fort Joins Cosden As Co-Pilot In Heron

By JERRY MONSON

New co-pilot for Cosden is John Fort Jr., replacing Ernie Marks who joined Piedmont Airlines recently.

Fort, who will be co-pilot in the Heron with Winston Harper, assume his duties at Cosden March 14. A native of Big Spring, he graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College and North Texas State University. He worked for Shasta Ford Sales for three years before accepting his new position.

Fort began flying in 1951 and received his commercial license in 1952. He attended American Flyers Inc. school in Fort Worth in 1955, where he received his instrument and multi-engine rating. Fort picked up his instructor's license in 1955 at Lubbock.

He and his wife, Rita, reside at 3201 Drexel with their three children, Lori Ann, Mark Edwin and Lisa Dee.

Big Spring Aircraft had upwards of 24 pilots gassing up this week. Stopping over for three days were a crew from the Colorado Oil Co., who flew in a converted A-26; Shop-Rite Foods, Cabot Carbon officials, and Crawford Martin, who is campaigning for state attorney general. All flew in a twin-engine Beechcraft. Also reporting in at Big Spring Aircraft was Gene Anderson, a former Big Springer, in a Piper Comanche.

Others up included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Gil Jones, on a cross-country to El Paso; Terry Saxon who picked up his private license in the Tri-Pacer last Sunday; and Judy Denton, who soloed in the Cherokee Friday.

Howard County Flying Club had up Joe Dawes in the Cherokee, and Curt Dotson, Jacky Romine, Zan Dawson, Mrs. Fay Reed and Ray Russell in the Colt. D. R. Bates celebrated his solo in the Colt Friday by buying everyone at Big Spring Aircraft a round of soft drinks. Keith Swim and Dub Clinton took a cross-country trip to Quannah, Vernon and Wichita Falls early in the week.

Up for Big Spring Flying Club were Robbie Sanders, James Merrick, and Dub Rogers in the Colt and Mrs. Norma Porter and H. D. Stewart in the Cessna. Stewart was on a cross-

Dope Users Turn To Other Drugs

DALLAS (AP) — Narcotics users in Dallas are switching from opiate derivatives to barbiturates and amphetamines, says Lt. Frank Cornwell of the city police narcotics division.

The lieutenant said users are turning to the new drugs because of the stiffer penalties for illegal use of opiates and because opiates are not as available.

NATO Frame Scrutinized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., said Saturday that French President DeGaulle's recent pronouncements on NATO, while "outrageous," nevertheless gives the United States an opportunity to force a meaningful reconsideration of the NATO structure.

"I have contended for many years that the United States is carrying far too much of the NATO defense burden," Ellender said.

He said it appears that the Germans and the French now plan to build a $140 million steel mill for Red China, an action apparently approved "by both the West German and French governments."

"In the light of this action, I think we would do well to reconsider our posture as the chief defender of the world's freedom," Ellender said. "Apparently those we are protecting do not appreciate the American sacrifices."

"Our answer to this situation is to call back home the American dollars and the American sons we have been sending abroad for too many years now."

Allied Military Personnel To Get Democracy Story

Pilots from Allied countries will hear a round-table discussion to better acquaint them with American democracy at the Webb Base Officers Club this afternoon at 1:30.

State Rep. Roger Brown and District Judge Ralph Caton will provide the 10 Allied trainees with a background of the U.S. Declaration of Independence, a quick resume of the origin of the 13 original states, and then explain the executive, legislative, and judicial branches of government.

Judge Caton took the bench for this district in 1961 on an appointment after the retirement of the late Judge Sullivan and subsequently was elected.

Rep. Brown has been a practicing attorney in Big Spring for the past five years and last year was elected to the legislature.

The Allied pilots are at Webb Base under the U.S. government's military assistance program. The countries represented today are Morocco, Iran, Jordan, Afghanistan, Norway and Nigeria.

Chamber Planning Member Campaign

Groundwork is being laid for observance of Chamber of Commerce Week in Big Spring, April 4-9, climaxed by an all-out enlistment effort by directors and Ambassadors' Club.

Chamber officials have their heart set on at least 150 additional members for the organization to bring it up to "fighting strength" for the year's program. Directors will also be making contacts to ask some members to consider a more representative share in chamber financing.

Meantime, various committees of the chamber are pressing on with their activities, not holding off for the special week. Last week a revamped committee was reconstituted — the long-range planning panel to look at the major challenges to the community.

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce dates back almost 50 years, and prior to that, it had its antecedents, including the old Commercial Club. Virtually all the major improvements and undertakings of the community have seen the chamber play an important role in them.

"The need for unity in supporting our one central agency for seeing that things get done in and for the community is greater today than ever," said John Currie. "I hope that during this special week that individuals and businessmen and professional people will rededicate themselves to giving a helping hand in making our town and area what they can be and should be."

Kickoff for the membership appeal will be on Wednesday, April 6, and workers hope to hit it with a block buster.

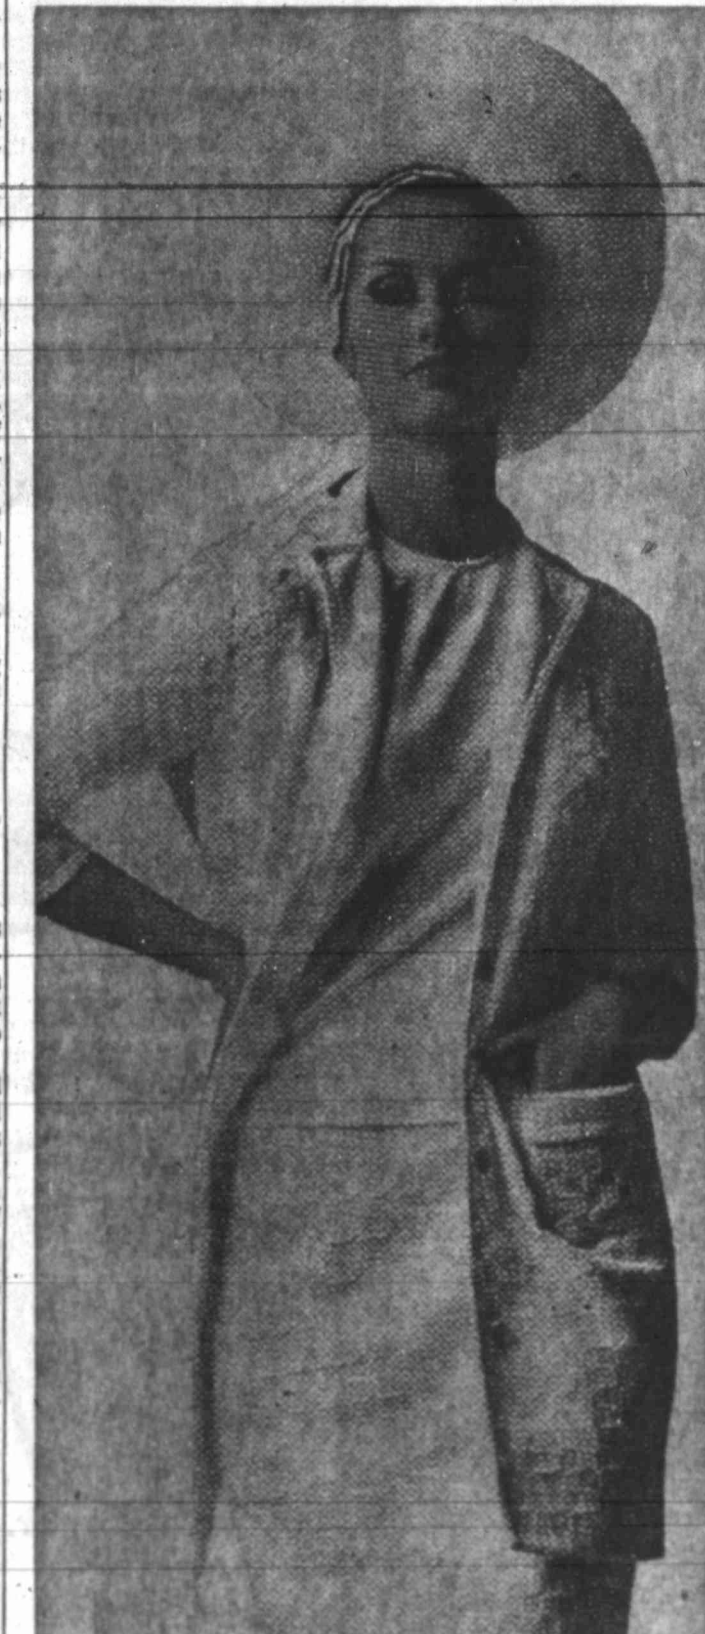

Thief Refuses To Be Stymied

DALLAS (AP) — A 39-year-old resident decided to sleep in his car and perhaps catch a thief—someone tried to take it the previous night.

A thief came, all right, but left when he could not unlock the doors and when he noted the car had an occupant.

He returned shortly with a companion and a pistol, forced the car owner out of the vehicle and robbed him of $56.

KOUFAX-DRYSDALE HOLDOUT HAS OWNERS JITTERY?

Is New Era Close At Hand In Baseball?

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Sandy Koufax-Drysdale holdout could signal the beginning of a new era in baseball—or the end of one.

If their joint demands for a $1 million contract, divided between them and spread over three years, are met by the Los Angeles Dodgers, it could signal the start of collective bargaining in baseball.

The owners—not only of the Dodgers but owners of all the major league clubs—are terrified of the prospect and are adamant that it must not be allowed, an informed source said.

On the other hand, if their demands are not met—and Koufax and Drysdale appear to be equally adamant—both may lay out for a year. And that could be the end of the Koufax-Drysdale era.

"Most everyone hopes they will sign," a baseball source said.

"But I can tell you one thing for sure. They won't sign as a pair. Dodger owner Walter O'Malley is determined not to yield to that demand. He can't afford to. The other owners can't afford for him to. It would be the start of collective bargaining."

Although it isn't generally known, this isn't the first time two players, in fact, two pitchers, have tried it. And, strangely, the Dodgers, Brooklyn variety, were the target before.

Danny Vance and Burling Grimes made an attempt to get a joint contract in the late 1920s. The effort was quickly quashed by the owners.

Both Koufax-Drysdale and the Dodgers have some strong bargaining points, and there is no indication that this joint effort will go by the boards as quickly as the one 40 years ago.

Much more than $1 million is at stake, and the negotiations have drawn the attention of owners of teams in other professional sports.

First there's the threat of unionism. Secondly, there's the size of the package Koufax and Drysdale have asked, an indication that established stars may start demanding pay proportionate to the fantastic bonuses being paid untried rookies.

"The owners are terribly worried, tremendously concerned," said the source, who asked that he not be identified.

"It's unionism they're scared of. It's a thing they cannot allow. The players could start ganging up, with the big guys protecting the little guys."

Maybe, for instance, a whole pitching staff would go out and a 50-game winner wouldn't sign until some obscure relief man got his share, too.

"It's something the owners simply can't allow to happen."

Of further concern to the owners, and in direct connection, is the recent naming of Marv Miller as the major league players' representative. Miller, a former executive of the steelworkers' union, currently is on a swing through the Florida training camps.

In California, it's status quo in the negotiations between Drysdale and Koufax who won 49 games between them last season, and the Dodgers. Opening day is only a little more than two weeks away. It is extremely doubtful that if both signed this minute they'd be ready to go.

It all boils down to money.

And won't the possible loss of the two—one of the most feared one-two pitching punches the game has known—and the certain decline of the Dodgers damage the club at the gate and hit O'Malley where it hurts, in the pocketbook?

Yes, it could hurt—but not as badly as you'd think.

"The Dodgers already have $5 million in the bank in advance sales," said a source in a position to know. "Most of it came in before this thing got serious, but with $5 million in the bank, how bad can you get hurt?"

So the Dodgers probably stand to lose less at the gate—at least immediately—should Koufax and Drysdale stay out than other clubs around the league.

Estimates of Koufax' drawing power range from about 5,000 over and above the usual attendance for about half the clubs, to about 10,000 for others, particularly the San Francisco Giants and New York Mets.

Drysdale's figures are lower. At an average of about $2.50 a head it gets expensive, particularly when you consider they start about half the Dodgers' games. Last year, in fact, they started more than half, 53 of the Dodgers' 162 games.

And, while the Dodgers would appear to be in a good position, so are the two pitchers.

Each is relatively young. Koufax is 30. Drysdale is 29.

Each is relatively well-fixed financially, and, presumably, could afford a year away from the game. Koufax has numerous enterprises and is assured of about $20,000 a year from Sandy Koufax, Inc. Drysdale has a ranch and a string of race horses.

Each makes occasional television and nightclub appearances. And they appear to be settling in for a long siege. Each recently signed a movie contract.

Whether they could come back after a full year out of the game is open to question.

Only a handful of players have ever held out for a full year, and Edd Roush was the only one of any stature. Edd hit .324 for the New York Giants in 1929, the last year of a three-year contract calling for $27,500 a year. John McGraw wanted to cut him to $15,000. Roush held out all the 1930 season, hit only .271 in 1931 and called it a career.

The value of Koufax and Drysdale to the team, on the field, cannot be estimated. Most baseball men guess their loss could drop the Dodgers from the world championship to fifth place.

There are figures to support it. In the last three years, right-hander Drysdale has won 60 games, including 23 last year. Left-hander Koufax has won 70, including 26 last year.

In the same period, the Dodgers have won a total of 276. A little simple addition shows Koufax-Drysdale won 130 or almost half. In those three years the Dodgers have won eight World Series games. Koufax and Drysdale have won six of them, or 75 per cent.

Last year the Dodgers won 97 games. The Koufax-Drysdale combo won 49, slightly more than half.

So how much are they worth? It's up to baseball to decide.

Hawks Avenge Track Defeat

The Jayhawks scored a total of 294 points to 27 for runner-up ACC and 20 for third place North Texas.

The Big Spring team won despite the fact that first place-bound Harley Bynum took a tumble in the high hurdles and didn't finish in the chips and sprinter Jimmy Jasper was still favoring a game leg.

The Jayhawks led by half a point going into the mile relay and set a new record there, covering the distance in 3:16.6 to beat ACC by a stride.

Walter Reyna of the Hawks also shattered the mile run record, negotiating the distance in 4:18.5, to beat a year-old mark by three full seconds.

In the sensational mile relay, Linwood Wright started off with a 48.5 leg, his best of the year. John Browning was clocked in 51.0, Jasper in 48.7 and Roger Hill in 48.2.

Hill also had a 47.5 quarter on the sprint medley team, which finished second to ACC. ACC was timed in a record 3:25.7 in that event.

Wright won the 100 for HCJC with a 9.8 effort, finishing a shade ahead of Jasper, who was caught in the same time.

HCJC, winner now in three major meets this year, looks to the Texas Relays next weekend.

Did Mob Use Muscles In Fight Planning?

CHICAGO (AP) — The federal government is investigating reports that organized gangsters attempted to muscle in on the proposed Cassius Clay - Ernie Terrell world heavyweight championship boxing bout.

Detroit, Minnesota Are Booked Into Astrodome

HOUSTON — The Houston Astros just may well be previewing the two top teams in the 1966 American League pennant race April 7 through the 18th in five games in the Astrodome.

The Astros will play the new, improved Detroit Tigers Thursday and Friday nights and Saturday afternoon, April 7-9, then take on the 1965 American League champs, the Minnesota Twins, Saturday night and Sunday afternoon, April 9 and 10.

Choice seats for all five of these final pre-season games still are available at the Astrodome, at Foley's stores downtown, in Sharpstown and in Pasadena, and at Trans - Texas Airways offices in the Sheraton Lincoln and Rice Hotels downtown.

The red-hot Tigers are currently riding high in second place in the Grapefruit standings in Florida, led by one of the league's greats, Al Kaline, who has been on a real hitting spree of late. The Tigers host one of the top outfields in the league with Kaline, who batted .281 with 72 runs batted in, Don Demeter, who batted .278 and drove in 58 runs last season, and young Willie Horton, who had 29 homers and 104 runs batted in.

Many baseball experts have picked the Tigers to take the 1966 American League crown, after their strong fourth-place finish in 1965.

The Twins, who won the title last year, are favorites to repeat on the strength of sluggers such as Harmon Killebrew, Don Mincher, Bob Allison, and Jimmie Hall — each of whom hit 20 or more home runs last year — plus Zolito Versalles, who was named the league's most valuable player.

The Astros, this far, have fared well against American Leaguers this year, posting a 6-1 mark.

The games also are expected to be a more complete test of the Astrodome's new AstroTurf, the man-made grass, which has been installed in the infield and the trim.

Cooper Defeats Brewer, 3-1

ABILENE — Abilene Cooper defeated Fort Worth Brewer, 3-1, here Friday to wind up their non-conference baseball play with a 9-2 record.

Coaches Henry Colwell's club goes to Odessa to tangle with the Odessa High Bronchos in its first 2-AAAA test Tuesday.

identified by hoodlums and sought government sanctuary, kindling the investigation.

Subpoenas have been issued for eight persons to appear next week in Chicago before a federal grand jury.

This information, carried in late editions by Chicago morning newspapers, was verified by David Schippers, assistant U.S. attorney who is in charge of the government's organized crime unit.

Schippers said those subpoenaed will appear at the grand jury investigation to be handled by U.S. Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan.

The government began an investigation after the Clay-Terrell fight was canceled Jan. 29 in New York City when New York state boxing officials charged Terrell was associated with underworld characters.

Terrell had been seen on an airplane flight with Bernard Glickman, a Chicago businessman, fight promoter and manager of boxers.

Glickman appeared as a defense witness at an income tax evasion trial of Tony Accardo, a reputed underworld leader.

He also had been previously named by the government as a friend and associate of Frankie Carbo, an eastern ex-convict said by the government to have underworld connections.

Glickman sought government sanctuary in February after he reportedly had been threatened and beaten by two Midwestern hoodlums, Schippers said.

Glickman was told not to associate with Terrell and was beaten for disregarding the order. After the beating he was placed in protective custody.

The gangsters reportedly wanted the fight between Clay and Terrell to be held in New York City as originally planned in early January. When New York state forbade the bout, promoters attempted to hold it in Illinois, but it was cancelled here, too, and moved to Canada.

Terrell dropped out of the proposed promotion and Clay later was matched with George Chuvalo. The bout is scheduled for Toronto Tuesday.

Burdette and Moser, both of whom are former high school standouts, have undergone arm surgery since last season and have been pronounced fit.

Baum said he was planning on a 32-game schedule for the Oilers.

Reggie Tredaway is now living in Stanton and is a former Midland High School regular. Finkenbinder is a one-time Oklahoma University standout.

Roger is a well-known local sandlot player who was in Korea last season. He is a competent catcher.

The first crimp in the Clay-Terrell fight came when Clay, who prefers the Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, was reclassified to draft eligible status.

The 24-year-old Kentuckian angrily roared that he was the victim of discrimination and that he had "no personal quarrel with those Viet Congs."

Still the three title fights grossed $1.5 million for Clay — before members of the Louisville sponsoring group took their cut and before Uncle Sam got his estimated 70 per cent tax bite of what was left.

For this fight Clay may be lucky to gross $200,000 — before cuts and taxes — although MBI spokesmen estimate he may collect as high as $340,000 on his 50 per cent of the live gate and ancillary rights.

Chuvalo, getting 20 per cent, will earn about $130,000 according to MBI. Even if he makes $50,000 it will be his largest purse ever.

An MBI spokesman predicted a crowd of about 10,000 paying from $7 to $100, will contribute to a gross gate of $200,000 in the 17,500-seat Gardens. He estimated that the closed circuit TV, with a seating potential of about 210,000, would add from $500,000 to $600,000 to the promotional pot. The estimates appear to be on the optimistic side.

At stake — Clay's share of world heavyweight title.

Date — Tuesday, March 29.

Time — 10:00 p.m., EST.

Distance — 15 rounds or less.

Site — Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto.

Seating capacity — 17,500.

Prices — $7 to $100.

Promoters — Maple Leaf Gardens and Frank Tunney, Toronto.

Oilers Drill For Opener

Candidates for positions on the Gage Oilier baseball team resume workouts at 4 o'clock today on a diamond just off FM Road 700 and Eleventh Place.

Manager Jim Baum, who guided the Oilers to a successful season last year, said the door is still open to young men who would like to try out for the team.

The Gage team is scheduled to open its season next Saturday against a Webb AFB team on the Webb diamond.

Baum said Saturday that at least 21 players had indicated to him they would engage in the workouts.

Among those who plan to compete for positions on the club are Charley Burdette, Freddie Mearns, Chubby Moser and Ken Griffin, all pitchers; Jerry Barron, Dean Christian, Bill Davey, Tony Emerson, Reggie Tredaway, Marion Tredaway, Roy New, Van Tom Whitley, Don Groesbeck, Jimmy Roger, Don Finkenbinder, Don Steen, Tommy McCadams and Bernard McMahon.

Burdette and Moser, both of whom are former high school standouts, have undergone arm surgery since last season and have been pronounced fit.

Baum said he was planning on a 32-game schedule for the Oilers.

Reggie Tredaway is now living in Stanton and is a former Midland High School regular. Finkenbinder is a one-time Oklahoma University standout.

Roger is a well-known local sandlot player who was in Korea last season. He is a competent catcher.

The first crimp in the Clay-Terrell fight came when Clay, who prefers the Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, was reclassified to draft eligible status.

The 24-year-old Kentuckian angrily roared that he was the victim of discrimination and that he had "no personal quarrel with those Viet Congs."

Still the three title fights grossed $1.5 million for Clay — before members of the Louisville sponsoring group took their cut and before Uncle Sam got his estimated 70 per cent tax bite of what was left.

For this fight Clay may be lucky to gross $200,000 — before cuts and taxes — although MBI spokesmen estimate he may collect as high as $340,000 on his 50 per cent of the live gate and ancillary rights.

Chuvalo, getting 20 per cent, will earn about $130,000 according to MBI. Even if he makes $50,000 it will be his largest purse ever.

An MBI spokesman predicted a crowd of about 10,000 paying from $7 to $100, will contribute to a gross gate of $200,000 in the 17,500-seat Gardens. He estimated that the closed circuit TV, with a seating potential of about 210,000, would add from $500,000 to $600,000 to the promotional pot. The estimates appear to be on the optimistic side.

Chuvalo Underdog In Title Scrap

TORONTO (AP) — Another chapter in the bizarre Cassius Clay story will be written here Tuesday night when the tempestuous boxer from Louisville, Ky., risks his share of the world's heavyweight championship against oft-beaten George Chuvalo.

Although Toronto is the Canadian champion's hometown, the 15-round bout in the Maple Leaf Gardens won't be recognized as a world's championship contest here.

This is about a typical incident as any in the odd and controversial career of the undefeated American, who turned pro after winning the Olympic light heavyweight crown in 1960 and may be fighting for the last time in at least two years.

The Ontario Boxing Commission is a member of the World Boxing Association which recognizes Ernie Terrell of Chicago as its champion.

The WBA stripped Clay of recognition for signing a return bout contract with Sonny Liston in the face of warnings not to do so by the boxing group.

Clay, however, is recognized as world champion in most areas of the globe outside of WBA jurisdiction.

And if Chuvalo, a 7-1 underdog, should happen to get lucky and upset Clay, it's a cinch he will be rated the champion in most corners of the world.

To get around the title knuck, the promoting Maple Leaf Gardens and Main Bout, Inc., which owns the ancillary rights, are billing the bout as "The Fight of the Century" and "The Fight of Champions."

If Chuvalo wins, it could be the upset of the century, far more so than Clay's stunning conquest of champion Sonny Liston at Miami Beach, Feb. 24, 1964, when Clay also was a 7-1 underdog.

That was the strange title fight in which Clay first tried to quit and then won when Liston failed to come out for the seventh round, claiming an injured shoulder.

There has been very little waning on the outcome of Tuesday's fight, according to betting sources. In Toronto, a bookmaker said the big bookies want no part of it.

The promoters have found a similar reaction in their efforts to sell the hastily-arranged fight to theaters and arenas in the United States and Canada.

With the prospects of a one-sided fight and hints of picketing by veterans groups, theater chains and independent operators have rejected the show.

Originally Main Bout had hoped to show the closed circuit telecast of a Clay-Terrell title fight in more than 200 outlets and live to Europe by the Early Bird satellite.

Now it's doubtful that more than 40 outlets in the United States and Canada combined will handle the fight. And the Early Bird transmission has been canceled.

The first crimp in the Clay-Terrell fight came when Clay, who prefers the Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, was reclassified to draft eligible status.

Gate receipts — Promoters estimate $150,000.

Other receipts — Promoters estimate ancillary rights, including closed-circuit television in Canada and the United States, will gross $500,000 to $600,000.

Fighters' purses — Promoters estimate Clay will gross about $340,000 and Chuvalo about $130,000.

Fighters' records — Clay, 22-0, 18 knockouts; Chuvalo 34-11-2, 27 knockouts.

Officials — Referee and two judges to be announced day of fight.

The city will again have four major leagues in operation, along with numerous farm clubs ranging down to special circuits for eight-year olds.

Sites for sign-ups: TEXAS LEAGUE — On the Bauer school diamond, 3-6 p.m.; INTERNATIONAL — Youth Center at Webb AFB, 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; NATIONAL — College Heights school, 1-4 p.m.; AMERICAN — League park on HCJC campus, all day.

Teams in all leagues but the International will play 20-game schedules. The International players will be limited to 15 games.

Present plans call for the regular seasons to open April 25, according to Abbe, who will double as manager of the Cardinals of the National League.

Presidents of the various leagues, who will work with Abbe and other Little League officials here, are: Guy Lara, Texas; David Tappe, International; Henry Bell, American; Bill Mims, National.

Here are boundaries of the various leagues, as set up by the Little League committee:

AMERICAN LEAGUE — North to Fourth Street (Highway 801) east to county line; south to county line and west to Bottles Street.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE — North to the T&P Railway tracks east to Hillcrest Street until it intersects Fourth Street, thence east to Sunset, south to FM Road 700, on to Wagon Road, thence to Connally Street and on to county line; south to county line; west to county line.

NATIONAL LEAGUE — North to Fourth Street (Highway 801) east to Sunset Street; south to county line; west to Sunset and FM Road 700, thence to Western Road and Connally Street, thence south to county line.

TEXAS LEAGUE — North to county line, east to county line, south of Fourth Street (Highway 801) and west to Hillcrest Street until it reaches T&P Railway tracks; west to county line.

Nine lettermen were announced as follows: Beasley, Bergert, Mike Harvey, John Higginbotham, Denny Holman, Carroll Hooser, Bob Jones, Bill Rainer and John Ramsey. All return next season except Hooser, Harvey and Ramsey.

Bill Voight of Dallas won the first Jim Krebs Memorial Scholarship award to the outstanding freshman player. Krebs was the star of SMU's teams of the middle fifties.

Beasley, who returns next season received the Z. L. (Lank) Majors award.

Bob Bergert, also a junior, was named captain for next year and was presented the Bobby James memorial scholarship award for outstanding achievements in basketball, scholastics and student activity.

Coach Doc Hayes said the 1965-66 Mustang team was the greatest team he has had at SMU.

Beasley was named outstanding player of Southwest Conference basketball champion Southern Methodist Friday night.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

UCLA Is No Sure Thing

By TOMMY HART

Fact that coach Ernest Hawkins at East Texas State University is converting sophomore Rod Ivy of Honey Grove into a defensive back would indicate Hawkins is putting renewed faith in the ability of Big Spring's Benny Kirkland at the quarterback spot.

Ivy clocked more playing time at the position than did Kirkland when both were freshmen last year.

Two SMU exes, who left that school after being involved in a campus brawl, are challenging for the Lions' quarterback post, however.

They are David Morgan and Jim Adams.

East Texas has five quarterbacks in camp, including Colorado City's David McKay, and all are sophomores.

Playing for the Texas Big 33 football team in Hershey, Pa., in August will be 12 boys who are bound for the University of Texas, five who are committed to Baylor, four to Texas A&M, two to SMU and one each to TCU and Texas Tech.

At least five club owners in the National (baseball) league endorse the plan for inter-league competition with the American circuit.

The junior league people, of course, have been for the idea for many years.

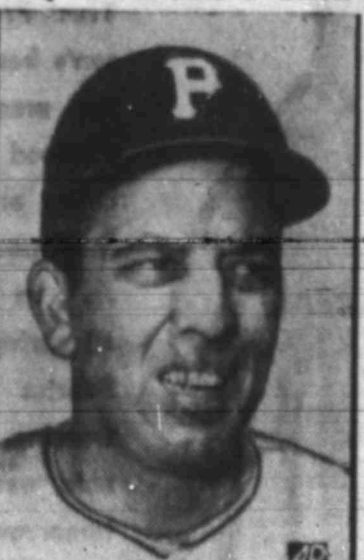

Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns had told intimates the Cotton Bowl has been his favorite playing field since he appeared there for Syracuse against TCU.

When Ken Still sank his hole-in-one in the Tucson Open this year, he didn't do much better than the other members of his threesome, Terry Dill and Homero Blancas.

Each had a birdie two on the hole, giving the threesome a grand total of five strokes on the par-three hole.

Ted Nelson, the Texas A&M quarter-miler-turned-coach, set or helped set more school track records than any Aggie in history.

Basketball buffs who are conceding the NCAA title to UCLA the next three years because freshman Lew Alcindor (7-1) moves up to the varsity would be wise to recall that Kansas didn't win the crown when Will The Stilt Chamberlain was there and Ohio State had to wait until

Nicklaus And Palmer Get Nod In Masters

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — It has been seven years since any golfer outside the Big Three won the Masters, and three of the leading contenders agree Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player have to be favorites again in this year's event April 7-10.

"I suppose my chances are as good as anybody's," said Nicklaus, who made a runaway of it in 1965 with his record 271. "I haven't played as much this year," said the Golden Bear. "But I expect I'll have my game in shape by the time I'd never say I think the winner will be me. It wouldn't do."

Second last year, Player lost to Palmer in a playoff in 1962 and won in 1961.

Palmer, who has won in even numbered years ever since 1958, wasn't available for comment since he bypassed the Greater Jacksonville Open this weekend.

Sam Snead, Doug Sanders, Dan Sikes and Dow Finsterwald all saw Nicklaus and Palmer as co-favorites, with Player a close third choice.

Asked to rate their own chances, they replied:

Snead — "Aw, shoot. I'll play my two rounds and go home, I guess."

Sanders — "The edge kind of went off my game after Pensacola (where he forgot to sign his scorecard when leading after 36 holes and was disqualified), but I believe I'm getting it back. I don't want to go in with a defeatist attitude."

Sikes — "Every year I've been improving my position in the Masters and I got fifth place last year. It would be nice to go to the top."

Finsterwald (who lost in the 1962 playoff) — "At the moment, I wouldn't think my chances are good. I've been scrambling."

There was one dissenting vote from the Big Three monopoly as favorites.

Tony Lema thinks Billy Casper deserves that role.

"When a guy plays the game like Casper does, every course in the world is suited to him," Lema said.

For himself, Lema sees a little hope.

"I am not playing very well yet," he said. "But I am in fine physical condition now and I hope my game comes around in time."

BIG SPRING IS PLACED SIXTH ON BALLOT

Permian Is Paper-Thin Favorite In 2-4A Race

Odessa Permian and Odessa High received six first place votes each in the balloting to pick a winner in this year's District 2-AAAA baseball race. The Big Spring Steers placed sixth among the eight teams, ahead of such worthies as San Angelo and Abilene High.

The vote was conducted among head baseball coaches and sports writers in member cities.

Permian was given the nod in the race, on the basis of more overall support in the election. The Panthers, however, barely nosed out Odessa High in the balloting. The two finished substantially ahead of third-place Abilene Cooper.

Midland Lee received the only other first place vote among the 13 casting ballots.

Odessa High, defending champion in the race, was the choice of coaches Dub Headrick of Midland High, Blacky Blackburn of Abilene High, Ernie Johnson of Midland Lee and Johnny Crouch of Odessa Permian and writers Tom Rice of Abilene and Bob Milburn, San Angelo.

Permian was favored to win it all by coaches Fern Smathers of San Angelo, Roy Baird of Big Spring, Bill Herron of Odessa High and Henry Colwell of Abilene Cooper, along with scribes Bob Dillon of Odessa and Tommy Hart, Big Spring. Writer Ted Battles of Midland alone went with Midland Lee as a team which would take it all.

Permian has ten lettermen back from last season, plus an impressive transfer in Rodney Monahan, who lettered three seasons at Andrews. Crouch is in his first season as the Permian coach.

Odessa High returns nine numeral winners from a title team that won 19 while losing nine last year. Included among the veterans back with the Bronchos are pitchers Larry Gatlin (a great team man) and Gilbert Vasquez and Randy Walker, who is being brought in from the outfield to man the shortstop's post.

The race gets underway Tuesday and continues through May 14.

Results of the balloting, with points voted each team (8 for first place, 7 for second, 6 for third, etc.):

- (1) Odessa Permian, 95.
- (2) Odessa High, 89.
- (3) Abilene Cooper, 63.
- (4) Midland Lee tied with Midland Lee, 53 each.
- (6) Big Spring, 45.
- (7) San Angelo, 35.
- (8) Abilene High, 34.

JIMMY FIERRO

Tigers Launch Drills Friday

The Big Spring Tigers, who boast a longer and more colorful history than any other sandlot baseball team west of Fort Worth, started workouts Friday on the Lakeview school diamond.

Manager of the Bengals this year will be Gus Fierro, who put in many a season as a player with the club. He will be assisted by Pat Martinez Sr.

Robert Dutchover and Charlie Fierro will serve as player coaches.

Among candidates for positions on the club this year are Albert Mendoza, Jimmy Fierro, Billy Weatherall, Pat Martinez Jr., N. Guzman, Guy Lara, Manuel Puga, Nico Paredes, Tom Arista Jr., Joe Martinez and a newcomer from Snyder, Joe Gonzalez.

Anyone interested in trying out for the club can attend the workouts, Gus Fierro said.

The Tigers are sharing the diamond with the Sacred Heart Cardinals.

The Bengals will open their season here Easter Sunday (April 10), at which time they entertain the Lamesa Red Sox.

Church Softball Parley Called

The Youth Activity Building of the First Baptist Church complex will be the scene of a Tuesday night meeting, at which final plans will be drawn up for the organization of a church softball league.

The conclave starts at 7 p.m. Coordinator Bill Bradford said that prospects are that eight to ten teams would be fielded in the circuit. He added he hoped that all churches within the community would be represented in the circuit.

The league will book all its games for the City Park diamond.

Outlook Is Better For Cal's Angels

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — No baseball manager in his right mind would ever exude anything but optimism in the spring over the chances of a great season — a first division finish, and perhaps the pennant if the pieces fall into place.

Bill Rigney of the California Angels is no exception.

But it's quite possible Rigney has something more than usual going for him in the American League.

The former Los Angeles Angels are moving to Anaheim into a big, new ball park. In effect it is their park, removed by some 30 miles from Chavez Ravine, which was the affectionate designation the Angels employed for what was really Dodger Stadium.

There is no question the players are reacting to the change in scenery which will give them an identity of their own, an image of their own," said Catcher Bob Rodgers.

Every one in Los Angeles loved the Angels since their arrival in 1961, but far too many loved the Dodgers more.

Sentiment and popularity aside, the entire Angel organization from Gene Autry and Bob Reynolds on down through General Manager Fred Haney and Rigney know they must present a contender in 1966.

It appears the Angels may have one.

Rigney, in his 11th year as a major league skipper, admits he is a bit scared at the prospects because things look so good.

He feels he has outstanding pitching in Dean Chance, a former Cy Young Award winner; Fred Newman, George Brunet and Marcelino Lopez, who figure to be his rotation hurlers.

There is a strong bullpen in Bob Lee, Jack Sanford and Lew Burdette, and some even younger possibilities for starting or spot roles.

Most critics agree that the double play combination of Bobby Knoop and Jim Fregosi might be the best in the league, and with Knoop blossoming into a dangerous hitter, the twosome is even more valuable.

First baseman Joe Adcock is still a power at bat despite his 38 years, and the big fellow can now be spelled by another seasoned player, Norm Siebern. Much the same situation pre-

CAPSULE REPORT

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Prospects of the California Angels of a glance:
STRENGTH — Strong pitching led by former Cy Young Award winner Dean Chance and standout double-play combination in Bobby Knoop and Jim Fregosi.
WEAKNESS — Success of club depends on long ball hitting of young outfielders — Jack Warner, Rick Reichardt, Jose Cardinale and Ed Kirkpatrick.
IMPROVEMENT — Old timers such as Jack Sanford and Lew Burdette in the bullpen, Joe Adcock and Norm Siebern at first and Frank Matson on reserve. Third baseman must come through.
THE FINISH — Seventh.

Canuck Dies In Auto Race

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Canadian driver Bob McLean was killed in a fiery crash Saturday as Fords and Ferraris fought a dangerous battle for victory in the Sebring 12-hour sports car endurance race.

McLean's Ford GT40 racer, capable of more than 200 miles an hour, rocketed off a hairpin turn, struck a utility pole, flipped over three times and exploded.

The car, built of magnesium and loaded with high octane gas, went up like a time bomb. Rescue workers had no chance to get McLean out of the flaming wreckage.

The 30-year-old McLean, last year's Canadian driving champion, had been sharing wheel time with Jean Ouellette of Canada. The Ford had been running in 13th place in the fastest race ever run around the hazardous Sebring course.

Stark Defeated In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Texas' last survivor of the National Golden Gloves early rounds met defeat Friday night as Daryl Stark of Dallas was outpointed by Gerald Pate of Milwaukee in the 175-pound semifinals.

Texas finished with eight points to rank among the top six states.

Texas won eight bouts and lost eight.

Rigney drools over his outfit, but points out that much of the success of the club depends on the long ball hitting of his younger people — Jack Warner, Rick Reichardt, Jose Cardinale and Ed Kirkpatrick.

Not to be discounted in the young movement, however, are Albie Pearson, Jimmy Piersall and Al Spangler, who represent the older set.

Bob Rodgers and Ed Bailey should make a formidable catching duo.

Local Linksters Gain Ground In 2-4A Race

SAN ANGELO—Big Spring placed three strokes on Abilene Cooper here Friday in its fight to escape the cellar in District 2-AAAA golf standings but still trail the Cougars by 12 strokes after three rounds of competition.

After 54 holes of play over three courses, the Steers' four-man squad now has used up 1,000 strokes, compared to 988 for Cooper.

Next round of play will take place in Big Spring two weeks hence.

San Angelo, playing its home course, was the hottest team in Friday's round and gained nine strokes on pace setting Odessa Permian.

The Bobcats, led by Con Hartman, son of the San Angelo links mentor, registered a four-man score of 296, compared to a 305 by Permian.

The Bobcats still trail Permian by eight shots, however, with two rounds of competition remaining.

Hartman emerged as medalist for the day with a three-under par 68 on the Riverside course.

Odessa High also posted a 305 Friday and is in second place with a 54-hole aggregate score of 933, compared to Permian's 930.

Midland Lee is still very much in contention for first place, although the Rebels lost seven strokes to Permian and Odessa High Friday. The Rebels made the rounds in 312 strokes.

Only Big Spring player to shoot in the 70's was Randy Nicholson, who finished with a 79. Larry Redman of the Steers came in with an even 80 while Mike Weaver had an 82 and Mike Hall an 85.

Hartman's sizzling round elevated him into the lead for individual honors over the season with a 54-hole score of 224. He leads team mate John Shepperon by two shots.

Ronnie Leverich of Permian, the erstwhile leader, came in with a creditable 76 Friday.

Friday's scoring:

SAN ANGELO (296) — Con Hartman 68, John Shepperon 75, Jack Malone 76, Steve Wardlow 77, John Hay 81. (Team total for three matches 933.)
ODessa PERMIAN (305) — Sanford 68, Mike Leverich 76, Ronny Leverich 77, Mickey James 77, Jack Taylor 83. (Team total for three matches 930.)
ODessa (305) — Leonard Cochran 74, Pencho Michab 75, Bill Stewart 78, Bob Carson 78, Mike Brooks 79. (Team total for three matches 933.)
ABILENE (305) — Ronnie Peoples 72, Dale Almon 72, Bill Joplin 80, Tom Ted 82, Jimmy Weeks 84. (Team total for three matches 933.)
MIDLAND LEE (312) — Terry Johnson 73, Randy Matthews 76, Charles Howell 76, Mike Douglas 83, Bill Baker 83. (Team total for three matches 930.)
MIDLAND (314) — Bill York 74, Alan Norwood 77, Kent Myers 81, Eric Locker 82, Bill Beard 85. (Team total for three matches 961.)
BIG SPRING (326) — Randy Nicholson 79, Larry Redman 80, Mike Weaver 82, Mike Hall 85, Kenneth Chase 86. (Team total for three matches 1,000.)
ABILENE COOPER (329) — Calvin Williams 80, Ken McCure 82, Billy Greaves 83, Bob Abshire 84, Jim David 85. (Team total for three matches 988.)

Russell Star In East Win

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The East, with All-America Cazzie Russell leading the way, exploded in the second half and defeated the West 126-99 in the College All-Star basketball game Saturday.

The Michigan star brought the crowd to its feet on several occasions as he ran up 24 points and led the scoring. He got 17 points in the second half.

The East outran and outpassed the West in a flashy display of ball-handling. Russell and Kentucky's Larry Conley shot pinpoint passes past the taller but slower West guard.

Russell got strong support from the nation's leading scorer, Dave Schellhase of Purdue, who totaled 17 points. Bill Melchioni of Villanova and Bob McIntyre of St. John's of New York got 16 each.

Oregon's Jim Barnett, who tied with Jerry Chambers of Utah for West scoring honors with 19 points, directed the West attack and led its fast break.

Complementing Barnett's speed and drive was the outside shooting of Colorado State's Lonnie Wright, who scored 16 points.

The 126 points were the most ever scored by a team in the four-game series, and the most ever scored by a team in Kentucky Memorial Coliseum. The series now stands at 2-2.

Baseball Camp Scheduled In Lubbock This Summer

LUBBOCK — Final arrangements are being completed for the third annual West Texas Baseball camp to be conducted in four sessions this summer at Lubbock Christian College.

Sessions will begin June 12, June 26, July 3, and July 17. The June 26 session will last only one week, while all others will be of two-week's duration.

Bobby Moegle, head baseball coach at Monterey, will once again direct the baseball instruction at the camp. Dr. Herman B. Segrest, Director of PE for general college students at Texas Tech, is overall camp director.

"We feel as though the camp is becoming well known," commented Moegle. "We expect an increase in attendance this year. Last year we felt as though our program really accomplished the desired results and the comments from parents seem to back up our thoughts. Many parents seemed pleased with their son's baseball accomplishments and the opportunity to associate with our coaches and learn to work and cooperate with other boys."

Joining Moegle on the coaching staff are Kai Segrest, assistant baseball coach at Tech; Earl Parker, head coach at Lubbock High; and Bill Dean, an American Legion and Colt League coach here the past 10 years. Danny Mason, golf coach at Tech, will offer golf instructions to those interested. Segrest, Parker, and Dean worked at the camp its first two years.

Baseball instruction will stress basic fundamentals of all phases of the game. Instruction by position will be covered in morning workouts and in the afternoons boys will be broken down by age groups for additional instruction.

Aside from baseball and golf boys will participate in basketball, volleyball, badminton, tennis, and table tennis programs in the LCC fieldhouse. Boys who live at the camp will stay, two to a room, in new ultra-modern dorms and will eat all meals in the new LCC Student Union cafeteria. Local boys may attend daily and return home in the evening.

The winner covered the six panels in an excellent 1:10.15 and as the second choice in the wagering returned $6.00, 3.00 and 2.80.

Texas Tech Is Race Winner

SUNLAND PARK, N. M. — Hugh Jackson's Texas Tech raced to a wire to wire victory in the featured City of San Angelo purse at Sunland Park Friday for his first win of the season.

(Jackson is the father of Mrs. William E. Gibson Jr., 1906 Eleventh Place, Big Spring.)

Remad was two and one-half lengths back for the place. The public favorite, Jacmar, wound up third in the six-horse field.

Jockey John Wadley put Texas Tech on the lead a jump out of the gate and the four-year-old chestnut colt never looked back as he scored with ease.

Remad closed much ground in the stretch. Jacmar was never a threat.

The winner covered the six panels in an excellent 1:10.15 and as the second choice in the wagering returned $6.00, 3.00 and 2.80.

The results:
FIRST RACE (1 1/4 miles) — Front Runner, 4:40, 3.50, 2.20; Sizzling Future, 4:40, 4.00; Belmont, 5:00, Time 1:42.

Delta Electric's New Products

Mike Craddock, inventor of the two new Delta devices, and Jack Craig, assembler, look over the Delta Protector, left foreground, and the Delta Timer, center.

New Delta Inventions Said First In Field

By TOM BARRY

Several years ago Delta Electric was started by Joe D. Herbert and others as an oil field and industrial electrification and automation firm, which did trouble - shooting, line connections and motor winding.

Now the company has marketed two devices which are described as "revolutionary" in the well - protecting field - automation at the well head.

The Delta Protector is an ingenious package of electronics whose circuits were worked out by Mike Craddock principally as a result of practical problems posed by Herbert, the president of the firm.

SAFETY USES

"The protector performs six safety functions and replaces all of the many safety devices a pumping well normally uses at a fraction of their combined cost, yet is trouble - free, and will work on any size motor in the field," Herbert said.

There are no moving parts in the protector, Herbert said. It operates electrically, and will not work on wells pumped by gas engine, or on flowing wells. The gadget largely takes the place of pumps in seeing after wells," he said.

Craddock, a University of Texas graduate in physics, said: "The Protector is a result of ideas and papers I've been working on for some time. However, it was only last year that we decided to put them to gether operationally." Patents pend on the devices (the other device is a liquid level control).

"The Protector performs these functions," Craddock said. "It offers overload protection for the well's motor and switch gear. It has instantaneous trip on motor overload, but will permit the motor to draw the required starting current. However, if the starting current exceeds the proper value, the device will trip.

SHUT DOWN

"It will shut down the well if the rods part. It doesn't matter whether they part near the top, or near the bottom. It will shut down if the pump sticks, or if the rods hang up for any reason.

"If the balance weights come loose, the Delta Protector will shut down the well. If the crank arms come loose, if the bearings go down, or if anything on the jack breaks or falls, it will shut the motor off.

"If the well pumps off, the protector will shut down the well, wait a predetermined length of time, then will restart the well and pump until it again pumps off. The feature works equally well on submerged pump motors."

He said the gadget also acts as a self - programming timer, pumping the well as long as there is fluid to pump, then shut down for a certain time. He claims no other timing device can adjust itself to changing conditions.

PREVENT DAMAGE

"The Protector will trip instantly if a phase failure occurs anywhere on the power system, thus preventing damage to motors, controls, and transformer banks," Craddock said. "Furthermore, when conditions return to normal, as is often the case when the trouble is on power company lines, it will restart the well, rather than lose production from down time."

The Protector, only a box about 5x7 inches with circuit breakers and other tubes on one side and circuitry with sprayed-on protection on the other, performs all six functions simultaneously, Craddock said.

"There is nothing in the hole, or in the flow line, and no moving parts to wear out," he added. "Should the Protector fail, the circuits are designed to shut the well down on failure rather than to pump it without protection."

Craddock said other devices are more expensive and perform usually only one function. Timing devices have many moving parts subject to wear and failure. Placed in the pump box at the well site, the Protector saves a great deal of space, and only needs to be adjusted and wired to be ready to go.

LOW PRICE

"The price is so low, a Protector can be used on every well in a field," he stated.

Electronic liquid level control is offered in Craddock's other device.

"It starts the motor at one level and stops it at another," Craddock said. "There are no copper lines to freeze up or spring leaks, no gears or springs to rust. It operates from two probes in the tank or in stand-off pipe connected to the tank.

"The probes are connected by wires to the electronic gear mounted in the starter of the motor to be controlled. When the liquid touches the probes, the Delta Control operates a relay which starts or stops the motor.

"The device will operate even if the probes are so coated and corroded that the circuit resistance between them is as high as 30 million ohms. A 1,000 ohm resistance will render any other system inoperable. So, the probes can be 3,000 times as coated as others, yet still operate."

LITTLE ENERGY

Even so, he declared, there is so little energy to the probes that you can hold the probes with your hands and operate the relay to start and stop the motor and yet be touching less electrical energy than you would get from a flashlight battery.

"The sensitivity, zero to 30 million ohms, is variable," Craddock said. "This enables you to adjust the unit so it is best suited to the application."

The devices went into production this January after about a year of field testing and making prototypes. So far, Craddock said, there are about 50 in field operation, at oil wells and irrigation wells in the area.

Cosden Officials Attend NPRA

Headed by R. L. Tollett, president, six members of the Cosden Oil and Chemical Company staff will take part in the annual meeting of the National Petroleum Refiners Association starting today in San Antonio.

Besides Tollett, who is an ex officio member of the NPRA board, others attending are C. W. Shouse, vice president-refining and an association director; Paul D. Meek, vice president-chemicals; G. K. Chadd, chief chemist; E. W. Richardson, Big Spring refinery superintendent. Ken W. Berry, vice president-chemical marketing, will attend from New York.

Texas Oil Jobbers Here Friday

Mobile Oil Rigs Looking At Depths 3,000 In Sea

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—The petroleum industry's investment in mobile drilling units for offshore operations throughout the world is expected to amount to $1 billion within five years.

There is indication some such units will be capable within five years of drilling exploratory wells in 3,000 feet of water and produce wells in 1,000 feet of water.

These predictions result from a study of the evolution of offshore mobile drilling units by an Esso Production Research Co. engineer.

Richard J. Howe, Houston, also believes a submarine rig capable of drilling deep holes probably will be a reality in 10 years.

GROWTH KEY

Howe says the development of mobile units has been one of the key factors in the spectacular growth in world-wide offshore drilling operations the past 20 years.

"In 1949, there was one mobile unit capable of drilling in 20 feet of water," he said in a recent report before the southern section of the American Petroleum Institute's division of production.

"By the end of 1966, there will be 150 mobile units valued at approximately $600 million. A number of these units will be able to drill exploratory wells in 1,000 feet of water."

Howe said dramatic developments still are ahead even though the development of the many unusual designs to solve a variety of offshore drilling problems has been one of the most important engineering achievements of this century.

Looking ahead five years, there will be approximately 200 mobile units worth about $1 billion active throughout the world," he said. "The submarine designs probably will be limited to their present water depth of 175 feet, while there may be jackup rigs operating in 500 feet of water. The floating rigs—ships, barges, and semisubmersibles—will be able to operate with anchors in 1,500 feet of water."

GREAT DEPTH

"Dynamic positioning will allow floating rigs to operate in even greater water depths, of, say, 3,000 feet; but riser pipe design will continue to be a critical problem."

Howe defines an offshore mobile unit as any portable unit capable of drilling in open water 20 feet or deeper. This excludes inland drilling barges, drilling rig tenders, and fixed platforms.

Howe said future moves into deeper water will involve major challenges in addition to difficult engineering problems.

"One critical factor is going to be the overall cost of drilling exploratory and development wells," he said. "The present trend toward heavier, more expensive mobile units must be reversed if this activity is to prosper. This is one of the major challenges facing the designers of future offshore mobile drilling units."

Howe said 182 mobile units have been built since 1949 but some have been retired, destroyed or converted to fixed platforms.

HEAVY LOSSES

There have been 23 major mishaps, each resulting in losses of $1 million or more. Howe said 20 per cent were caused by severe storms. He said 16 of the 23 rigs involved were not returned to service.

"One thing is clear, mobile rigs must be operated with care by qualified personnel," he said. "As mobile units continue to move into deeper water and more hostile environments, the importance of having experienced, well-trained personnel on board will increase, particularly when the rig is being moved."

200 Due For Symposium

Nearly 200 people are expected to attend the 1966 Dental Symposium Friday and Saturday at the Veterans Administration Hospital, with Dr. Robert L. Pearce, VA central office, as the featured speaker. The symposium is being held in conjunction with the dental service at the VA and the Permian Basin District Dental Society.

Dr. Pearce, assistant director dental requirements service at the VA central office, Washington, D. C., is a former associate professor, clinical prosthodontics and adjunct member, graduate faculty, University of Pittsburgh School of Dentistry. He holds several honors from various dental organizations.

Also featured on the program will be Dr. Phillip E. (Earl) Williams, oral surgery, Dallas; Dr. Sumter S. Armin, professor and chairman of the Department of Pathology and Associate Dean of Graduate Studies at the University of Texas Dental Branch; and Dr. Charles N. Rainwater, Big Spring, president of the Permian Basin Dental Society.

A. L. Odell Rites Held At Stanton

STANTON (SC) — Last rites for Alex LeRoy Odell, 48, long-time Martin County farmer, were held at 3 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church in Stanton. Burial was in the Evergreen Cemetery under the direction of Gilbreath Funeral Home.

Mr. Odell died at 3 a.m. Thursday when he had a heart attack while on a fishing trip to San Saba. Born Nov. 3, 1917 in Callahan County, he came to Martin County in 1922 and had farmed in various parts of the county since that time. He made his home at 603 N. College. Surviving are his mother, seven brothers, and two sisters.

Young Farmers, HM Clubs Meet

COAHOMA (SC) — The Young Homemakers and the Young Farmers Clubs will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the school. The nursery will be open. Homemakers will have a program on first aid at the home economics department. The young farmers will meet at the agriculture building and will hear Gabe Hammack, county ASC administrator, speak on the new farm program.

Are you willing to go as low as $1670
for a new VW?

We don't sell status.

Just a car. One that gets about 29 mpg, averages 40,000 miles on a set of tires, and hardly uses oil between changes.

Of course, the fact that it's practical is no secret. And everybody is going to know that you're saving money. But that's the price you pay for Volkswagen.

Welcome To Big Spring Webb's New Pilot Training Class 67-F

All Big Spring joins in a hearty West Texas welcome to the new class at Webb Air Force Base. While they are citizens of our city for the next year, it is our hope that they will find a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere. We hope the new students can become acquainted with our town, and find a "home" here. They are asked to drop in and see us at any time and let us extend, in person, the hand of welcome.

A "HOSPITALITY GIFT" For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

"SPRING IS HERE!"

THE SWEAT OF THE BROW is a small price to pay for the beauty of a bountiful expanse of healthy grass that spreads like a green shawl around the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angy Glenn, 108 Jefferson. The sun, soil and water did their best—and Mr. Glenn does the rest, to make their yard one to be proud of.

LADIES FIND A LATTICE FENCE a fine place to feel the sun on their faces and smell the sweetness of redbud blossoms. What better to talk about than swingy, springy fashions that let them enjoy leisure hours in stylish comfort? Mrs. Jimmy Taylor teams her lime green pants with a splash of blouse in complementary colors, and Mrs. Douglas T. Weidner, new to the city, soaks up the sun in an aqua costume with a Western flair.

TEA FOR TWO or many more is suddenly sipped better in the garden where it is cooled by the wind that bends the willow branches and makes mist of the fountain spray. Having a lovely garden spot to enjoy has been a family project at the Jimmy Morehead home in Highland South. Now it's time to enjoy the results of digging, planting and watering. The leisure hour finally arrives for Mr. and Mrs. Morehead and their youngsters, Carol, 4; Jan, 13, and Kay, 10.

FREE-WHEELING FOURSOMES hurry through their chores when the reward is an afternoon of loafing on the links. A good day for golf—and a good way for buddies to get together.

Mrs. James Tidwell, 1206 Pennsylvania, surprises her son, Steve, with new balls as he leaves for the course with Avery Falkner, Bruce Bright and Bruce Hutto.

A TASTE OF HONEY isn't half as sweet as the first barbecue of the season. The smell of the smoke and the aroma of sizzling steaks wafts from countless patios as families find pleasure in the evening hours outdoors when the wind is warm. Capt. Timothy L. Thomas takes over as chef as the youngsters take their turn with plate in hand. Mrs. Thomas holds tiny Kelly Sue, while, waiting for their supper, are Karen, 7, Kim, 2, and Kevin, 8.

Couple Recites Vows In Catholic Church

Miss Marjorie Rita Hogue and Lt. John Anthony Devereaux were married at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at St. Thomas Catholic Church with Chaplain Thomas F. Holland of Webb Air Force Base officiating for the ceremony.

The altar was banked with arrangements of white gladioli and pompon chrysanthemums interspersed with greenery, and a program of traditional nuptial music was presented by Nicholas Androvitch.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Hogue of Hornell, N. Y., and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Devereaux Sr. of Providence, R. I.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a street-length white princess dress of Chantilly lace over peau de sole with belled sleeves and scooped neckline. A ballerina veil of illusion fell from a peau de sole circlet and her slippers were white. She carried a cascade bouquet of white butterfly roses and white sweetpeas showered with picot streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Harold Decuir. Her two-piece pink lace dress was sleeveless and was styled with a jeweled neckline.

A brief veil accented her headband, and she carried a nose-gay of pink Elf roses. Harold Decuir was best man, and ushers were Lt. John Wayert Jr. and Lt. Ronald Banduch, both of Webb AFB.

The couple will have a brief holiday but delay their wedding trip until May when they will travel to the East coast. The bride wore a three-piece white suit with black patent accessories. They will return to live at 1214 Lloyd.

The bride's parents joined the honored couple and attendants in greeting guests who called at a reception in the Patio Room at Holiday Inn. The table was covered with a white cloth and appointed with silver. The centerpiece was a silver champagne cooler holding white pompon chrysanthemums and pink carnations. Pink and white roses decorated the three-tiered cake which was topped with wedding bells.

The bride, a graduate of St. James' Mercy Hospital School of Nursing in Hornell, N. Y., is presently a member of the United States Air Force Nurse Corps at Webb AFB. The bridegroom, a graduate of Providence College at Providence, R. I., is a member of the Air National Guard and member of Class 66-G, 3560th Pilot Training Squadron at Webb.

Modern Forum Hears Speaker

The Modern Woman's Forum met Friday at Coker's Restaurant with Mrs. W. E. Moren presiding.

Mrs. H. M. Rowe gave a program on communication, using as her topic, "Switchboards in Space." She stressed the importance of fast communication with other countries.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker was hostess as refreshments were served to 12 members.

The next meeting will be at 3 p.m., April 8, with Mrs. Rowe as hostess in her home at 1105 Johnson.

Mrs. Webb Honored At Retirement Party

Mrs. Rilla Webb was the honoree at a farewell party Friday afternoon at Webb Air Force Base which was named for her son, the late Lt. James E. Webb. Mrs. Webb is retiring after 14 years association with the air base.

Mrs. Webb, wearing a royal blue sheath and double strand of white pearls, greeted guests with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Walker of Levelland.

framed letter and Air Force certificate. Capt. Norman Little expressed the gratitude of base personnel as he gave her a plaque, and R. W. Whipkey, Herald publisher, spoke briefly in recalling the activation of the base in 1952. Also, he read a message from Congressman and Mrs. George Mahon which he presented to Mrs. Webb.

Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Webb was honored with a party in the offices of the accounting and finance section.

Engaged

The engagement of Miss Jean Carol Cornelison to Larry Don Hall is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Cornelison of Leakey. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Marshall of Lamesa. Miss Cornelison is teaching in Abilene, and her fiancé will receive his BBA from Hardin-Simmons University in January. The wedding is scheduled for June 10 in the First Baptist Church in Abilene.

Mary Jane Club Sets Style Show

COAHOMA (SC) — Mrs. Donald Webb was hostess for the Thursday morning meeting of the Mary Jane Club. Ten members were present and Mrs. Donald Duke presided at the business session.

Members were reminded that the April 6 meeting will be at the Midland home of Mrs. Troy Roberts. The program will be a style show presented by members of the Midland Antique Car Club.

Announce Marriage

Miss Sherry Ann Metcalf and William Richard Sutton were married March 15 in the home of the bride's parents, Lt. Col. and Mrs. John C. Metcalf, 2503 Lynn. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shivers, 1305 Utah. Elton Wallace, branch president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, performed the ceremony. The bridegroom is a student at Howard County Junior College, and the bride is attending the Childers and Reeves School of Hairdressing and Cosmetology. They are making their home at 1305 Utah.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Complexion Thrives On Baby Oil Care

Dear Gals:

Cosmetologists write that baby oil which is very inexpensive is wonderful for cleaning your face!

Image that!

Pour some on your fingers, and rub it on your face. Then (I learned the real secret) take a wash rag and run it under hot water, wring out well, then use this fabulous hot cloth to wipe your face with. (I love using a preposition on the end of a sentence, though I know it's wrong — it seems to sound better, and people understand it!)

Even if a woman uses cold cream, along with some facial tissues, to cleanse her face, she could test this method by applying the baby oil to her face AFTER she has tried her old method, and then wash with a hot cloth.

If the cloth is white (she could use the end of a bath towel or T-shirt), she will see actually how much her old method misses... all the soil will show on the white cloth.

Try it, gals.

What have you got to lose?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My husband suggested a way to clean under the plastic circle, or dialing ring, on the telephone.

Just fold a pipe cleaner in half, and dip folded part in detergent. Work it around under the ring until the dust is loosened, then use another folded pipe cleaner to dry the surface. Works like magic. . . . Sallee B.

Dear Heloise:

The first place I turn to in my paper is your column.

This morning I had what I thought was a very original idea!

Knitted tops (T-shirt type blouses) often shrink and get too short (from frequent washing and drying in a dryer) to stay inside shorts or slacks. I ran a piece of cording (heavy string could be used) through the hem of the knitted top, and drew the cording tight, tied it, tucked the tie inside, adjusted the fullness, and it has a wonderful blouson effect.

It eliminates that uncomfortable feeling of a top that's half-in-half-out. . . . Ruth Ann

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Bride-Elect Honored At Club Coffee

A luncheon - shower was held Saturday in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club honoring Miss Mary Elaine Langley, bride-elect of Harry Eugene Salyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denzell Salyer of Wheatfield, Ind. The honoree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernan Langley of Big Spring. Mrs. Charles Rainwater was hostess.

The table was decorated with the bride-elect's chosen colors of yellow and green and centered with a cupid amidst an arrangement of yellow roses and greenery. Fifteen attended.

The couple plans to be married at 7:30 p.m., April 8, in the Baptist Temple Church.

My dishes are stacked and waiting, floors not yet swept, but I washed one end of the table so I could write to you. . . . A reader

Dear Heloise:

Here's a tip I think all the gals will like:

I had so much trouble getting my hair-do to stay as I wanted it, 'til one morning I got the bright idea of putting a thin hairnet over my hair, and arranging it just as I wanted it with the pointed end of my comb, and then spraying it with my favorite hair spray.

I kept it on for about five minutes — or until I thought the spray had dried — then removed the net.

It sure works, and I thought I'd share this with others, as it keeps my hair just the way I want it, and it stays that way all day.

Keep up your column. I love it! . . . C. P.

A great idea, especially for us working gals! . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I clip and save cartoons, jokes, Heloise hints, etc., and keep them in a folder.

When I send a get-well card to a friend in the hospital, I enclose a dozen or more of these clippings just for fun.

They are always commented on, and generally shared with the hospital roommate, nurses and others. . . . Betty Cook

Bead Curtains Improve Decor

Shades and bead curtains are delightfully gay and practical go-togethers. And it's so easy to add color and sparkle to your windows with a "no sew" combination of pretty pastel room-darkeners and shimmering, tie-back curtains of bought-by-the-foot Beadangles.

The pair offers excellent light-and-privacy control, as well as handsome and original good looks. And both share sun-fastness and the same easy-up-keep talents, staying fresh and bright with only occasional once-overs with a sudsy cloth.

HD Groups Planning Easter Celebrations

Plans for Easter celebrations were discussed this week at the area home demonstration club meetings. Specialized programs included talks on landscaping home gardens and yards and on keeping the country's highways free of litter.

COAHOMA CLUB

Plans for an April 9 Easter breakfast were discussed at the Wednesday morning meeting of the Coahoma Home Demonstration Club. The members met at the Presbyterian Church annex with Mrs. A. D. Martin as hostess and Mrs. A. C. Hale as cohostess.

Eleven members were present, and Mrs. Jean Burkholder, Fort Worth, was welcomed as a guest.

Mrs. Martin presented a program entitled "Keeping America Beautiful." She said that unnecessary highway litter detracted from the scenery and was often a direct cause for highway accidents.

Mrs. Martin recommended that families travel with disposable litter bags in their cars and to take an interest in keeping the highways clean.

CITY CLUB

Herb Helbig was guest speaker during the Friday afternoon meeting of the City Home Demonstration Club. The members met at the home of Mrs. B. D. Rice, 1600 E. 6th.

Helbig, county agricultural agent, talked on gardening and insect control. He gave points to remember in landscaping and pruning trees and shrubs.

Plans were discussed to conduct the game hour at the Bennett House on March 30, and Mrs. Johnny Green won the attendance prize.

Mrs. Ross Callihan gave the devotion, and refreshments were served to 9 members present.

MR. AND MRS. HOUSTON F. CROCKER

Reception Will Honor Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Houston F. Crocker of Goldsmith will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary at an April 3 reception at the Community Hall. Hosts for the affair will be their children and grandchildren.

Mrs. Crocker is the former Alice Echols, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Echols, who were long time residents of Howard County. The family moved here when Mrs. Crocker was six months old.

Houston Crocker moved with his parents, who were the late Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Crocker, to Howard County when he was a small boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Crocker have one son, Brazel G. Crocker, Dallas; and two daughters, Mrs. W. Paul Woodson, Goldsmith; and Mrs. L. A. DeMasters, Hobbs, N. M. They have one granddaughter, six grandsons, and one great-grandson.

The Crockers lived their early married life in Coahoma, moving from there in the late thirties. They lived in Odessa and Goldsmith for several years and moved to Monahans in 1941. Crocker was in business there for many years before moving to San Antonio in a civil service position. They remained in San Antonio until Crocker's retirement two years ago when they returned to Goldsmith to make their home.

Family friends are invited to attend the celebration. Calling hours are between 2 and 4 p.m.

Advice Told For Fashion

Every year brings a new crop of fragrance users — little girls who have suddenly become young women, graduating from sweet little scents to honest-to-goodness perfume.

Advice has been to use perfume effectively in pulse spots. Now, where are they? They are at the base of the throat, at the inside of the elbow and knees, back of the ears, on the wrist, and at the cleavage of the bosom.

Fragrances need touching up every two or three hours. Fragrance-conscious women know most scents worn successfully by one woman may be disaster to another because of body chemistry.

Warm, woody undertones underscore one new perfume with a built-in feature unusual in the fragrance world. It is formulated to adapt itself to each wearer's skin.

Living Room Now Sports Tile Floor

Tile has left the bathroom and kitchen and is showing up more and more on living room floors. Rich-looking quarry tile has the advantage over many types of floor coverings in that it doesn't wear, needn't be waxed and can easily be cleaned by the homemaker.

Most living rooms with ceramic tile floors sport colorful area rugs that can be shifted about with the furniture.

Has anyone in your home taken the fifth? If no one has, you are probably among the few who haven't had a touch of what pediatricians have diagnosed as number five of the childhood diseases and some schools have even gone so far as to reach No. Six. Although it is supposed to be a childhood ailment, adults are being plagued with it also. None is very ill with it, just bothered.

One child shook his mother somewhat when he reported that his teacher said he had the "fifth" disease.

Paper Chair Indicates New Styles

Are you tired of your 20-year-old bedroom furniture? Throw it out. Do you secretly loathe that antique end table you talked your husband into buying for you last month? Burn it up.

This might one day be the general attitude toward furniture, if paper furniture becomes popular. Peter Murdoch, a young English designer, hopes it will. One of his paper chairs is now on the market. The chair, made from polyethylene-coated laminated fiber, weighs less than two pounds, costs only six dollars, and will support a sedentary adult or an active child.

Murdoch is now working on larger chairs and a line of paper tables, in anticipation of the day when all furniture will be disposable.

Larry A. Bronners To Reside In Seattle

Mr. and Mrs. Larry A. Bronner will reside in Seattle, Wash., following their March 19 wedding at the Fauntleroy Community Church in Seattle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Howard Lee Jr., Seattle, and the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Rhoton of Big Spring. She is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Rhoton Jr., 112 Grant, and of Miss Lillian Rhoton and Miss Elaine Den Rhoton, 706 Johnson.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory C. Bronner of Seattle.

The ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with cathedral candles entwined with white roses and moss green bows.

The bride wore a formal gown of slipper satin designed with a fitted bodice and bell skirt. The dress was highlighted with rose appliques on the bodice and down the length of the skirt.

She carried a bouquet of white orchids atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Jerry Olsen was matron of honor, and Miss Gloria Bronner, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

The attendants wore floor-length sheaths of mint green brocade. They carried bouquets of white ribbon roses atop white Bibles.

Miss Karen Mitchell was candlelighter, and Miss Cheryl Sweetman was flower girl.

Richard Jordan was best man, and ushers were Ron Hamrick, Richard Smith, William Taylor and Brian Scott. Ron Hamrick Jr., was ring bearer.

For a wedding trip along the coast of Washington, the bride wore a coat of grey and tan houndstooth check with a matching grey dress. Her hat was of matching fabric and her accessories were tan.

The bride attended Central Washington College, Ellensburg, Wash., and the bridegroom attended Everett Junior College, Everett, Wash.

Use Suds, Brush In Girdle Care

When washing foundation garments by hand, the first step is to use a well-lathered brush to pretreat waistband, garters, fabric casings, inner panels, and shoulder straps. Then immerse the garment in clean soap or detergent suds, squeezing gently to remove dirt.

Rinse the piece well in warm water, lift it out, and let it drip for a few seconds. Next, roll it in a towel to remove excess moisture. Unroll, stretch and shape with your hands, and let it dry away from heat.

ESA Unit Elects New Officers

The 1966-67 officer slate was elected during the Thursday evening meeting of the Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, at the home of Mrs. D. M. Moore, 211 Circle.

To be installed in May are Mrs. B. E. Reagan, president; Mrs. Jackie Touchstone, vice president; Mrs. Robert Rogers, recording secretary; Mrs. Edgar Phillips, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Frank Perry, treasurer.

The members also approved a change of the by-laws, and a donation was sent to the Howard County Rehabilitation Center.

Rushes' names were submitted, and the April 2 meeting will be the pledge and jewel pin ceremony in the Gold Room of Big Spring Country Club.

Refreshments were served from a polished table centered with an arrangement of seasonal flowers.

Meeting Held By Mrs. Donald Ray

Mrs. Donald Ray, 709 Abrams, was hostess for the Tuesday evening meeting of the Homemakers Class of the Westside Baptist Church. Mrs. Henry Yother gave the devotion, and Mrs. Billy Harkrider presided at the business session. The next meeting will be April 12 at the home of Mrs. Skipper Neill.

Right Way Told For Paint Brush

Professional painters say the correct way to hold a brush is to grasp it comfortably near the handle base. Don't bear down on the brush. Just exert enough pressure to make the bristles flex slightly toward the tip.

'Games People Play' Reviewed For Fora

Mrs. Bill C. Coleman reviewed the best-seller, "Games People Play—The Psychology of Human Relationships," at the March meeting of the Spoudazio Fora Study Club held in the home of Mrs. Hulan Harris, 2308 Cindy.

The book was authored by Dr. Eric Berne, lecturer at the University of California Medical School and chairman of the San Francisco Psychiatry Seminars.

Dr. Berne classifies the "games"—classified in families according to the situations in which they occur, as life, marital, party, sexual, underworld—and for the professionals, consulting room games. Finally, he lists "good" games.

Dr. Berne deals almost entirely with people whose games have led them to trouble.

According to Dr. Berne, "If a person is frightened or unprepared to fill in the time while waiting for Santa Claus or death (which he calls the same thing) then perhaps seeking his solutions in popular techniques of social action such as "togetherness" may be the answer. This may mean that there is no hope for the human race, but there is hope for the individual member of it.

Included in his "life" games are alcoholic, debtor, and kick-me. Some are called "Ain't It Awful?", "Broken Skins" and "Let's You and Him Fight." Among the good games he places busman's holiday, cavalier, happy to help and homely sage. Mrs. J. W. Dickens conducted the business session and welcomed the 11 members and one guest, Mrs. C. T. Dornier. Plans were completed for an outdoors All-American Tasting Bee May 10 at the home of Mrs. H. O. Hudgins. Mrs. James C. Jones will be in charge, and each member will bring a dish. The club's installation is slated at 7 p.m. May 24 at Big Spring Country Club.

Following a district federation report by Mrs. James C. Jones, refreshments were served from a table centered with yellow daffodils and hyacinths and covered with a white damask cloth. Silver appointments were used.

FHA Students Join Nation In Observing National 'Week'

Texas' 72,019 Future Homemakers join their half million sisters in observing National Future Homemakers of America Week, March 27 through April 2, announced Ruth Huey, director of homemaking education, Texas Education Agency.

During the week, Future Homemakers of America chapters throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands plan a different activity for each day, striving to emphasize the goals of the organization.

These activities are designed to focus public attention on the objectives and accomplishments of Future Homemakers of America in meeting the responsibilities of today and preparing for the challenges of tomorrow.

At Big Spring Senior High School, FHA sponsors are Miss Helen Willard, Mrs. Annie Lou Williams and Mrs. Wilbur Cunningham; at Goliad Junior High School, Mrs. Jack Alexander and Mrs. Virginia Martin; and at Rannels Junior High School, Mrs. Sue Willbanks, assisted by Mrs. Martin.

Officers of the senior group are Sue Burns, president; Pat Ball, first vice president; Betty Pedro, second vice president; Merrilee Carr, third vice president; Janet Jones, secretary; Fran Long, treasurer; Sarah Burns, parliamentarian; Kathy Shaw, reporter; Sheryl Gambill, song leader; and Kay Copledge, pianist. Chapter mother and dads are Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ball.

At the senior high school, Sunday will be Church Day, with members attending services at their own church; Monday nominations will be made for "Meanest Little Girl and Sweetest Little Boy," with voting later in the week; and Tuesday the girls will be hosts to girls from both junior high schools who will visit the homemaking department and be served refreshments. On Wednesday, "Color Day," members will wear red and white ribbons for identification, and on Thursday, "Teacher Appreciation Day," they will bake cupcakes to be given to the teachers. The week will climax with Friday "Fun Day" when a contest will be conducted to identify a student labeled "Bat Woman." The winner will receive a prize.

The junior high school observances will be similar. There are 90 members in each of the two groups. Both will entertain eighth grade students on Thursday as well as having an "Apple for the Teacher" day and visiting the high school department at Goliad will make tray favors for the Veterans Administration and Big Spring State Hospital. Mrs. Alexander at Goliad said that her students have covered the nine FHA projects during study this year.

This national youth organization of homemaking education students in junior and senior high schools provides opportunities for developing individual and group initiative in planning and carrying out homemaking activities.

Future Homemakers of America is a non-profit, self-supporting organization, officially sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association. High school homemaking education teachers serve as advisers to the 11,000 local chapters.

WORK DESIGN
Under the supervision of these advisers, the young people carry out a program of work designed to improve personal, family and community living. The program includes nine major projects under the headings of: (1) Individuality Counts; (2) Good Health — A Valuable Asset; (3) Jobs, Careers and You; (4) Morals and Manners; (5) Good Family Relations Through Communications; (6) Citizenship Challenges You; (7) Your Neighbors Near and Far; (8) Make Your Money Behave; and (9) Leisure Time — Constructive Time.

These enthusiastic young women are responsible members of their families today, learning to be creative leaders in the homes they will have in the future. Six thousand officers, delegates and sponsors of the Texas Association will convene for their 1966 state meeting in San Antonio April 29-30, announced State Adviser Josephine Pazdral.

There Are Limits To Those Short Skirts

When Courreges, the Paris designer, introduced the two and three inches above the knee skirt lengths, proportion was carefully plotted. They were square, simple little skirts and they were worn with little, flat, child-like shoes or short boots. The shoes have open heels and some have leather laces to crisscross the legs like air-conditioned leggings.

Such straps and boots shorten the leg length, just as an inch or two. What's more, Courreges models had little girl legs — straight and sturdy with flat, rather than knobby knees. They were under 20, too.

It was such a fresh look that it has influenced all fashion, but Courreges would be agast at some of the sights on Main Street.

The look, which he calls "Hard Chic," should be modified to suit the age and figure. There are no exact rules, but here are a few DON'T'S:

DON'T wear an above-knee skirt if you are more than 25.

DON'T wear a mid-knee skirt if you are over 40.

DON'T wear an above-knee skirt if your legs aren't perfect, regardless of age, and if the skirt is too tight to sit without showing stocking tops and supporters.

DON'T wear a knee-high or above-knee skirt with high heels. They look like stilts.

And DO, please, remember that the whole idea is based on the little girl look which means simplicity, freshness, good proportion.

And if you are over 40, over 50, over 60, don't ignore the whole thing. Shorten skirts a little — anywhere from the base of the knee to mid-calf — and lengthen the leg line by wearing neutral shoe colors, low heels with open backs or mid-high heels with open sides or open backs.

Guests Expected In Forsan Home

FORSAN (SC)—Guests this week in the Paul Kennedy and Don Murphy homes will be Mr. and Mrs. James Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Petree, all of Crane.

Mr. and Mrs. Benny Barnett of Midland were here to visit her mother, Mrs. H. H. Story.

Mrs. Charles Hall and her daughters, Kim and Kelley, were here Thursday to see her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Oglesby.

Gary Fish Joins Honor Fraternity

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish, 907 Mountain Park, returned Wednesday from a trip to Lubbock and Dallas. In Lubbock, they attended Phi Eta Sigma initiation ceremonies for new members. Their son, Gary, a freshman at Texas Tech, has maintained a 3.50 scholastic average and became a member of the Freshman Honor Society.

Degrees Lead To Perception

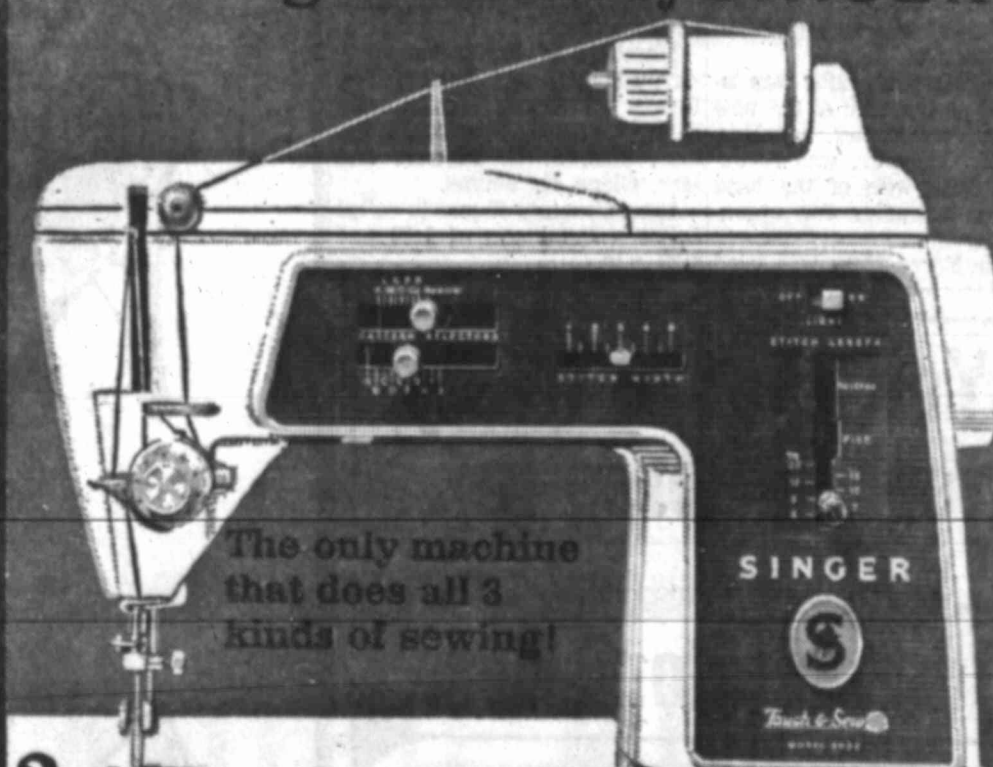

Higher education can lead to an appreciation of higher style in homes and household appliances.

Economists say that college graduates not only earn more money, but tend to spend it on good design and an individualized "custom" look in their houses and housewares.

Date Set

The wedding of Miss Beverly Sue Borroughs to Gary Holman will be an event of July 1 at the Westside Baptist Church. The announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage was made by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Borroughs, 2903 Clanton. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Holman, Rt. 2, Midland.

WEBB WINDSOCK

All Day Bridge for OWC members will be held Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in the Officers Open Mess. Be 10 minutes early for bonus points. Reservations must be made by Monday with Mrs. S. G. Flowers, AM 3-3045, or Mrs. G. H. Vorres, AM 4-2977.

Lt. and Mrs. L. A. Erickson hosted a lovely Scandinavian dinner party last weekend honoring Capt. and Mrs. W. E. Holcomb and Lt. E. J. Legendre who will be leaving Webb. Instructor pilots and wives of Eagle Element attended. Special guests were Capt. and Mrs. H. G. Vorres.

Mrs. Lucille Cecil of Evansville, Ind., arrived last week for a month's visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. J. R. Goebel.

A flight of the 331st FIS got together at Cosden Country Club for a farewell dinner party honoring Capt. and Mrs. Jim Jackson.

WEBB GOLF

Webb Ladies Golf Clinic will begin Tuesday and will be held each Tuesday and Friday from 10 to 11 a.m. The fee for the 10 lessons is $5, and will be due on the first lesson.

OWC Monthly Bridge winners were Mrs. G. H. Vorres and Mrs. S. G. Flowers, first; Mrs. T. L. Thomas and Mrs. J. E. Oxley, second; and Mrs. L. L. Shane and Mrs. Q. B. Newman, third. The attendance prize went to Mrs. C. T. Pajot, and Mrs. R. H. Tyldesley won the travel prize. The slam prize was won by Mrs. Shane, and Mrs. T. B. Tompkins and Mrs. R. W. Hunter received the "booby" prize.

Capt. and Mrs. J. L. Sapp hosted a venison steak dinner party last weekend. Guests were Lt. and Mrs. P. R. Slagle, Capt. and Mrs. C. C. Underwood and Lt. and Mrs. L. L. Ledbetter. Following dinner, the group played Tripoli.

Wives in Dagger Element gave an informal coffee for the wives in Class 67-A, FI Sec., last week in the home of Mrs. B. R. Haass.

The 331st FIS had a dinner party at the Officers Open Mess last weekend to bid farewell to CWO and Mrs. H. L. Grimes, Capt. and Mrs. G. E. Davis, and Capt. and Mrs. Jim Jackson. Capt. N. D. Fogg treated the squadron to fresh Maine clams which he brought back from Maine when he was on a cross country. After dinner, Lt. Col. M. W. Sharock led everybody in "fun and games" time. DCO bridge was held Monday at the home of Mrs. T. L. Thomas. Prize winners were Mrs. L. L. Shane, Mrs. G. E. Taft and Mrs. Thomas.

Six wives in A Flight met at the home of Mrs. H. S. Russell Tuesday morning for a coffee. Mrs. E. H. Wasserott was welcomed into the flight, and Mrs. R. E. Vega was a special guest.

FLIGHT WIVES

Mrs. B. J. Gough was hostess for a get-together of I Flight wives Tuesday evening. Dessert was served, and goodbyes were said to Mrs. Gough's aunt, Mrs. Nadine Godfrey, who is returning to her home in Pampa.

Capt. and Mrs. D. D. Anderson were visitors in the home of Capt. and Mrs. W. C. Daniel last weekend. They just returned from Florida where Capt. Anderson has been attending school. He departed for Viet Nam this week and Mrs. Anderson and children will make their home in Colorado while he is gone. Sunday night, Capt. and Mrs. J. R. Goebel joined them for dinner at the Daniel home.

Mrs. S. G. Flowers was hostess at a coffee for wives in D Flight last week. Plans were discussed for the next squadron meeting.

Wives in the 3561st PTS gave a St. Patrick's day party for the children attending the special education school. Wives assisting in serving refreshments to the children were Mrs. R. G. Lawrence, Mrs. G. W. Green, Mrs. D. R. Eby, Mrs. H. G. Paddon and Mrs. J. O. Ahnert. We are going TDY and this will be my last Webb Windsock column. My thanks to everyone who has helped me. Mrs. G. H. French will continue with the column so please call her, AM 4-8767, with your news.

Coffee Held Thursday For Bride

Mrs. Frank Powell, the former Miss Linda Caudill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Caudill of Odessa, was honored Thursday morning with a coffee in the home of Mrs. Malcolm Patterson. Mrs. Morris Patterson was cohostess.

Miss Caudill and Powell were married Feb. 21 and are making their home on a ranch near Garden City following a wedding trip along the California coast. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Powell, 900 Mountain Park.

The new Mrs. Powell was attired in a sleeveless, pale blue knit dress as she greeted guests. Those from out-of-town were Mrs. Jenks Powell, Mrs. George Powell and Mrs. Don Powell, all of Colorado City; and Mrs. Barbara Ratliff of Garden City.

The refreshment table was accented with a large Easter basket filled with yellow juncos and circled with painted figurines made with eggs. Ironstone and silver were used in appointments. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Howard Schwarzenbach and Mrs. Tommy Gage.

Gardeners Plan To Attend Dallas Meet

Delegates from the area garden clubs are discussing plans to attend the April 11-13 Texas Garden Clubs Inc. 38th annual meeting at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel in Dallas.

Tentative plans have been made by Mrs. Dale Smith, Rosebud Garden Club; and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, and Mrs. J. Gordon McAdams, both of Big Spring Garden Club. Mrs. Bristow and Mrs. Smith are members of the state board.

Theme of the convention will be "Meeting the Challenge of Fashioning Beauty." Guest speakers will include Mrs. Henry M. Kistner, author and art consultant; Mrs. Howard S. Kistner, Fort Worth, past president; Ralph Pincus, nurseryman; William G. Schelbe, superintendent of Dallas parks; Mrs. William P. Freeman and Mrs. H. M. Anspach, both of Waco.

Mrs. A. M. Alkin Jr., Paris, Tex., president of Texas Garden Clubs Inc., will preside at the executive board meeting at 3 p.m., April 11, in the Sam Houston Room.

Youngsters Take Lion's Share Of Show Awards

By SAM BLACKBURN

There's no business like (live-stock) show business.

Especially in a season when your animals are as often in the winners ring as were those of five young Howard Countians this season.

These five kids parlayed 16 Hereford calves into prize sales money totalling $23,668.73, scored three grand championships at as many major

HISTORIC

There has seldom been a season in the long history of the county, old timers say, when so few Howard County youngsters achieved so many honors in a single season.

A study of the way these five youngsters rated at the shows they entered is revealing.

The amazing quintet is composed of Dolores Lankford, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Lankford, Gay Hill Community; Mark Barr, 16, and Maxwell Barr, 12, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Barr, Vincent; Robbie Haney, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Haney, Vincent; and Gary McNew, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rube McNew, Big Spring.

Dolores, who set out last year with six selected Hereford calves, was the big money and honor winner of the quintet. She lost one of her calves early and concentrated her efforts in readying the five she had left. Her efforts paid off in big league style.

FIVE TROPHIES

Her victories include five trophies for being the best steer showman at as many shows. She was second place showman at San Angelo.

Her steers won two grand championships — including the prized title at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show. That animal sold for the fat price of $6,300. Her other winnings at the Fort Worth show were $1,025 and pushed her gross take to over $7,000.

She also won the grand championship of the Howard County Fat Stock Show for the second time in three years. This steer sold for $1,050.

Others of the five who showed grand champion steers included young Maxwell Barr. His animal took top place at the San Antonio show. He sold the animal for $2,500. He did not have steers in several of the shows, where Dolores and his companions competed, but his total prize and sale money was $2,740.

Mark Barr, who is Maxwell's older brother, showed the grand champion steer of the Houston Fat Stock Show. The animal sold for the respectable price of $4,500. Mark went on to win numerous other places and his total prize and sale money for the season was $6,427.

RESERVE HONORS

Robbie Haney was the only one of the five to fail to bring home a grand championship banner. However, he won two reserve championships in two shows — at San Angelo and here in Big Spring. He also won a second place in showmanship at Odessa — a show where Dolores took first honors, Robbie second, and Mark Barr, third, to sweep the list of winners. His reserve steer sold for $950.50 at San Angelo and the one shown here brought him $402.50. His prize money and sales totalled $3,347.45.

Gary McNew, whose steer was grand champion of the San Angelo show, sold the animal for $1,287.50 at the sale. His reserve steer here sold for $402.50. With prizes he picked up at the other shows, his money earnings for the season were $1,928.50.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, and Don Brandenberger, assistant farm agent, were particularly pleased with the work of their young charges this season. They point out that many other youngsters made equally good showings at the exhibitions attended.

CLEAN SWEEP

The clean sweep which the Howard County exhibitors scored at San Angelo was particularly exciting. Gary took the grand championship, Haney, the reserve championship, Dolores the first place in middleweight steers and likewise grabbed off the showmanship honors.

The five youngsters scored the following at the shows they attended: Kansas City Royal, $40 and showmanship first place; State Fair of Texas, $421 in prize money, $75 savings bond, and top showmanship award; Sand Hills Show at Odessa, $1,232 in prize money and sales, and all three showmanship trophies; Abilene Fat Stock show, $594.42 in prizes and sales; Southwestern Fat Stock Show, Fort Worth, $7,374.95, plus three trophies, including grand champion of the show and showmanship top award; San Antonio Livestock exposition, $3,629 in prizes and sales, grand championship steer; Houston Livestock Show, $5,752.50 and trophy for grand champion of the show; San Angelo Fat Stock show, $2,603 in prizes and sales, second place in showmanship; Howard County Show, $1,501, and grand championship and reserve grand championship plus top showman.

NOT ALL PROFIT

It must be pointed out that not all this cash the feeders collected is net profit.

A lot of expense goes into preparing the steers for the show circuit.

At the outset, the calves cost the youngsters $150 apiece. The expenses begin at that time. Feeds run high, travel expenses to and from the shows are costly. There are hundreds and hundreds of hours of work getting the animals in tip top shape. Take the case of Dolores Lankford. At the outset, she had $900 invested in the six calves she bought.

One died and she was down $150 before the season started. Caring for the others took lots of work. The feed and care of these pets is expensive. They stay in air conditioned shelters; their drinking water is kept cool and fresh. They are exercised daily like athletes getting in shape for an Olympic. Their diets are more closely studied than those of a debutante.

However, a good year such as these five youngsters had in 1966 makes it all worthwhile — not only from the dollar and cent standpoint, but from the satisfaction of having accomplished so much.

Bigger Increase Reported Here In Job Placements

Reports from Texas Employment Commission offices throughout the state reveal a 9.8 per cent increase in February job placements this year over the same month a year ago.

Leon Kinney, manager of the Big Spring TEC office, said the increase shown in the state at large is borne out here, only the percentage of increase is nearly double that reported for all of the Texas offices.

He pointed out that in February of the current year, the local office made 199 job placements compared with 166 for the same month in 1965. This represents a percentage increase of 19.9.

Statewide, the number of job placements for February was 14,670, compared with 40,663 for February a year ago. Statewide, non-farm job openings by Texas employers increased from 48,414 to 55,533 during the period.

In the local office, the number of such job openings increased from 188 to 237, which reflects the increasing number of job opportunities provided by the area economy. Meantime, job applications filed with the local TEC office showed an increase from 169 to 242. The state report showed such applications to have been 64,956 a year ago and 65,201 last month.

As is to be expected, claims for unemployment insurance in February were considerably under the number filed in the same month a year ago. There were only 594 applications lodged with the office last month. In February, 1965, the number was 916. Statewide, the last month figure was 212,397 compared with 296,860 for February, 1965.

Only $3.3 million was paid out in unemployment insurance last month, compared with $4.8 million for February, 1965. The figures on local payments were not available.

Only 1.9 per cent of the two million workers covered by state employment insurance were unemployed last month. The percentage a year ago in Texas was 2.7 per cent. The normal rate of unemployment in the state for February runs 3.7 per cent.

A decrease was noted in the number of TEC farm job placements locally and statewide. In the local office, there were 19 placed on farm jobs last month and 35 for the same month a year ago. Across the state, the total was 14,001, compared with 14,610 for February, 1965.

A Devotional For The Day

The vessel he was making of clay was spoiled in the potter's hand, and he reworked it into another vessel, as it seemed good to the potter to do. (Jeremiah 18:4, RSV)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, divine potter of our lives, we are in Thy hands. Perfect the vessels of our lives according to Thy will and plan. Help us to submit our lives to Thee in all things. In Jesus' name and for His sake. Amen.

Formidable Problems

In a survey which was precursory at best, the Chamber of Commerce long range planning committee heard such a list of needs and problems that it was almost frightening.

There's nothing that perhaps 10 or 15 million dollars wouldn't help or cure, but this is about what the community has been called upon within the past decade and a half to put up to insure continued progress. What is different now is that several agencies are getting near the limits of their borrowing power because of the catch-up demands of this era of growth.

Yet the challenges are still there, and in the competition for a community that will attract both business and people, certain things need—yes, must—be done.

For instance in a sketchy, terse report from several agencies, here are just a few things listed as problems: More hospital facilities, key roads and thoroughfares, airport improvements, drainage, parks, city utilities, sustained pressure on schools and growing pressure on the college, need for industrial growth, improving the community appearance, several miscellaneous civic improvements, mental health clinic, child welfare program, etc.

Where do you take hold of such a formidable list, which is by no means complete? What is most important? What can we afford, and what can we afford not to have? How can community awareness and support be marshaled? How can we keep leap-frogging on our look into the future? These are sticky, almost overwhelming problems. But our future depends on tackling them.

Honoring Youth

There is a notion, unsupported by fact but deep-rooted nevertheless, that young people gain the public eye only when they get into trouble. All the news about the younger generation is bad, so this old saw goes. The next step in logic is that the young folk are going to the dogs.

Well, they're not bad, and they're not going to the bow-wows. All but a relatively few are good members of the community, and a lot of them are exceptional citizens. They go the second and third miles in trying to help their school, their organizations and their town.

The Yale-Herald Youth Achievement

ment Award, which is being announced in today's issue, is designed to focus attention to the constructive, wholesome things our young people are doing. One individual ultimately will be singled out for exceptional achievement as a young citizen and will be suitably recognized. There will be scores who will deserve a similar honor, so there should be no sense of disappointment in not actually getting the award. Any young person nominated for the award should feel signally honored, for it means that others do watch and admire them.

David Lawrence Putting Brakes On Expansion

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's hesitancy "to put brakes" on the current economic expansion is understandable, for it isn't easy to know at what point to interject an artificial factor of restraint. But the signs of a fundamental change in the national economy are plainly apparent.

Thus, the $13-billion appropriation for the Viet Nam war is not far different in economic consequences from a reduction of $13 billion of taxes—an increase in purchasing and an expanded demand for goods.

ple pay in general have risen by 17.3 per cent in ten years, which means that the overall cost of living has gone up so that it takes $1.17 now to pay for what 100 cents bought ten years ago.

IT IS contended nevertheless that the wages and incomes of most people have increased during the same ten years. If, for instance, the entire population is divided into the disposable income figure for the nation as a whole, it would appear that there has been an increase of 42 per cent in "per capita" income. But this does not solve the problem of individuals earning relatively low incomes. Persons with incomes of $10,000 a year or more can absorb increases in food prices better than a family with less than $5,000 income per year. But they are all lumped together in the statistics about income growth.

WHILE THE amount being spent on Viet Nam is a smaller percentage of the national income than was the case with the Korean war, it doesn't take many billions of added purchasing power to bring shortages of goods and higher prices as well as a scarcity of employees in certain jobs.

Some effects already are noticeable, however, and cannot be ignored. There is a lot of talk about a growing "inflation." The average person isn't sure just what is meant by the word. If it is explained as a steady decline in the buying power of the dollar in the last few years, it is more readily grasped. Still, the housewife already knows what it means in terms of food.

IN 1964 there were 16.7 million families in the United States with an income below $9,150 per year, or $5,000 a year. This is a smaller number than ten years earlier, but it still reflects the unevenness of individual incomes. Everybody, of course, has to pay the same prices for food irrespective of income.

This is one reason why there is pressure now to get through Congress an increase in the minimum pay per hour required by federal law. The change is eminently desirable, but it also means that, as the lower-rate employees move up, the workers in other groups with higher wage scales will feel entitled to proportionate increases. Thus, a new wage and price structure is formed, irrespective of the ability of other citizens to pay for what they must buy.

NOW, IT SO happens that the price of bread and flour has stood still, and potatoes have gone down from 95 cents to 60 cents for 10 pounds. But when the statisticians include these three items, they come up with an average that seems to cut down the extent of the impact of an increased cost of living. It's the cost of individual items, however, to the housewife that counts—not the averages.

The same thing is true about statistics of price increases relative to personal income. The prices that peo-

ALL THIS merely illustrates the pains of evolution as a war of uncertain future is borne by an economy which has already been stimulated artificially by tax reductions and huge deficits in the Federal Treasury. It is inevitable that a "war prosperity" will not be allowed to drift on indefinitely without some restraints on prices and wages.

Billy Graham

Can you be saved by praying and asking for forgiveness at home, or must one go to church?

E. C.

The Bible says: "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." (Rom. 10:13). It doesn't say, "Call on Me in a specific place, in a specific manner, at a specific time, and I will hear thee."

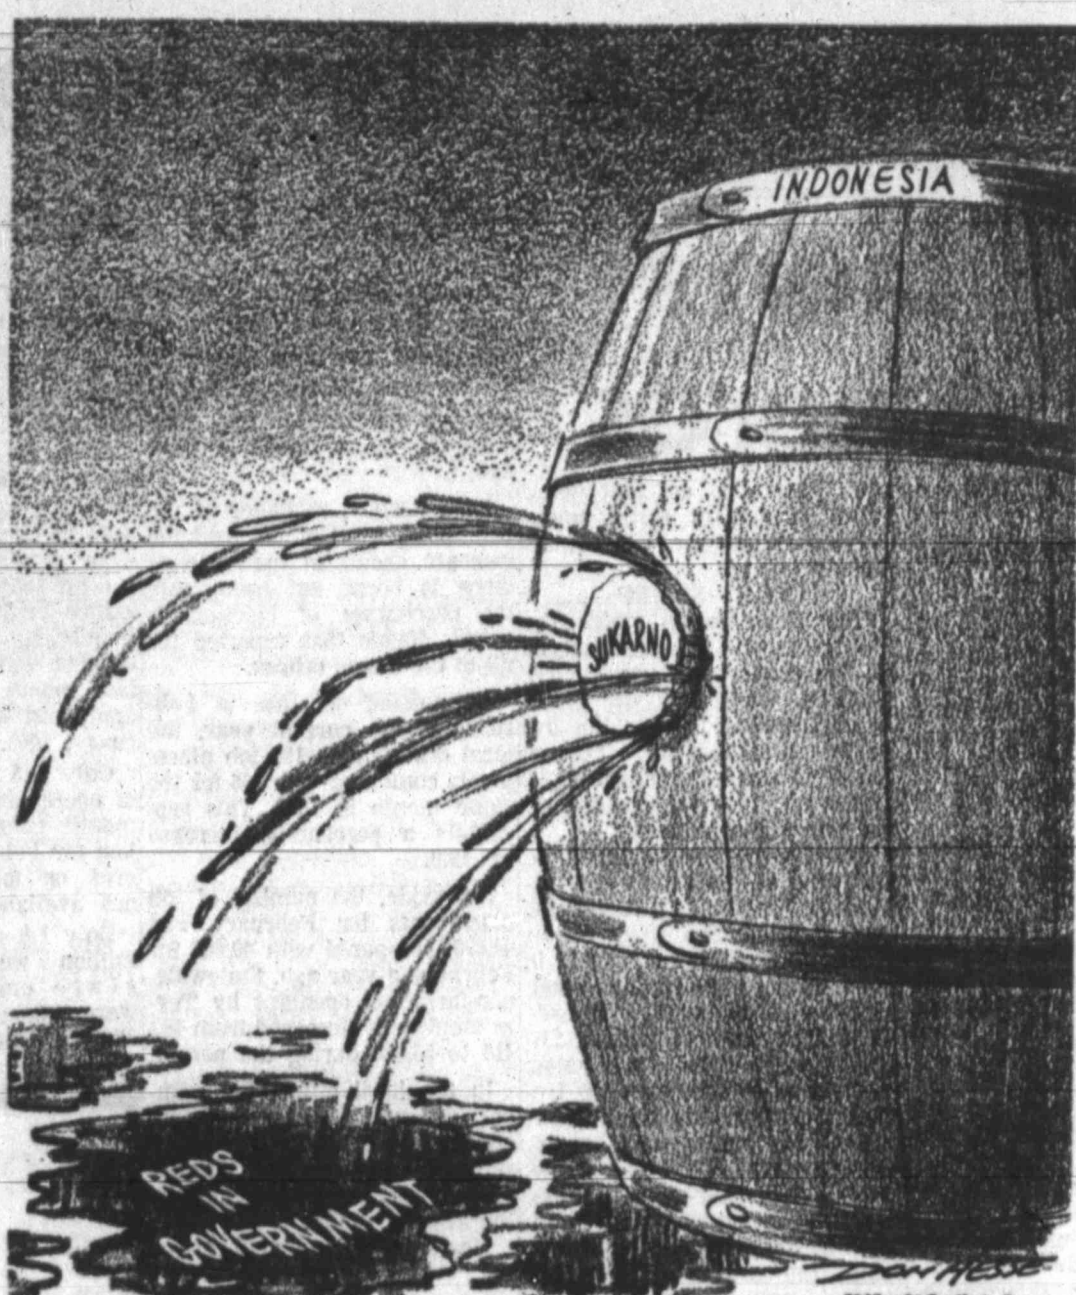

The whole trend of Scripture indicates that God is ready and willing to hear the prayer of a repentant person at any time. "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: And let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon." Isa. 55:6, 7.

Two things are here indicated. You are to "forsake your wicked way," and then God, "will abundantly pardon." The one follows the other, but you must show the seriousness of your intentions by repenting and forsaking.

Then, having done this, you must surely will take pleasure in going to church and fellowshiping with others who have accepted God's forgiveness. But, as I have said, God can and will hear your prayer wherever you are.

THE 'BUNG' HAS LOST HIS GRIP

Business Review Tax Increase: Maybe So, Maybe Not

NEW YORK (AP) — The outlook for a federal income tax increase remained muddled during the week as the Johnson administration endeavored to make its stand clear.

The President said he didn't want to rush in prematurely with an anti-inflationary tax boost.

He said that whether a tax increase will be necessary in order to draw off some private purchasing power will depend on congressional appropriations and government expenditures, plus the reaction from the corporate and individual income tax speedup enacted this month and the Jan. 1 increase in payroll taxes.

Johnson noted that tax actions already adopted have had a dampening effect on the economy and cited a variety of economic indicators that are believed to weigh against the need for a tax increase.

SOME LEVELLING
Among them are the 17 per cent drop in housing starts in February, slight declines in factory orders for durable goods and in retail sales, a moderate increase in inventories in January and the leveling off of some farm and food prices.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said there is "still some room for reasonable doubt" as to whether taxes should be raised.

He indicated that the decision will be made perhaps a month from now.

"The time for decision is coming nearer and the period immediately ahead should tell the story," he said.

Fowler added that during the latter part of April "we will have an accurate statistical picture of the very important first quarter as well as the month of March, coming as it did after two months of mixed signals."

BETTER DECISION BASE
At that time, he said, "we will have a firmer basis than we now have for deciding whether or not further fiscal action is required."

He explained that whether

NERVOUS STATE

- Some prices show signs of levelling off
- Housing starts down 17 per cent for February
- Cigarette, newsprint prices vacillate
- Auto production eases off, steel output up
- Tax decision is due within another month

Congress adds much to spending and thus to the $1.8-billion deficit for the fiscal year starting July 1 will be an important consideration.

The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York said that the fifth birthday of the current business expansion finds U.S. financial markets in a state of nervousness.

It attributes this to three factors: —Increases in wholesale prices starting last year and reflecting a basic departure from the balanced supply-demand relationship through the economy which had previously existed.

—Worry as to whether inflationary pressures in the economy may be getting ahead of the measures thus far invoked to head them off.

—Uncertainty as to the nature, intensity and timing of further measures that may be applied.

President Johnson released an additional 200,000 tons of copper from the government stockpile, directing that it go mainly for use in the Viet Nam war.

This will leave 400,000 tons of copper in the stockpile which some sources estimated would be sufficient for two to four years in the event of escalated warfare.

Johnson's action was welcomed by the copper industry, which has been plagued with a shortage of supply.

The United Mine Workers of America was authorized by its National Policy Committee to take whatever action is deemed necessary, including a strike, in the soft coal industry. This was the first time since 1949 that the mine workers had threatened to strike the industry.

Prices in the cigarette and newsprint industries continued to vacillate.

VASCILLATING PRICES
Most cigarette makers reduced by half the price increase of 40 cents per 1,000 cigarettes that they had announced. However, the American Tobacco Co., which had initiated the raise of 40 cents a thousand and then rescinded it under pressure from President Johnson, took no further action.

The increase in the price of newsprint, originally $10 a ton, seemed to be settling back to $5 a ton after protests from newspaper publishers. However, the $10-a-ton boost remained in effect in the Western United States.

Automobile production eased off during the week to an estimated 197,700 passenger cars and 210,474 a year ago.

New car sales in the middle 10 days of March ran slightly below the 1965 pace. The Big Three makers reported their dealers delivered 231,576 cars, compared with 262,872 a year earlier.

Steel output for the week was the highest since last June — 2.73 million tons against 2,692,000 tons the previous week.

Around The Rim Just Name Your Own Time

There is no question that the good Lord knew what He was about when He fashioned this world, but it might have been easier on today's generations if He could have arranged for the sun to have been at the same place at the same time around the globe.

This might have kept us out of this mess called daylight saving time, although if you put a computer to it, you would find that no daylight has been saved.

WE APPROACH the season when various sectors of the United States decide that something is to be gained by moving clocks back (or is it forward?) an hour; for all I know, in some places, by just 30 minutes.

It has gotten so snarled that members of the Congress are wanting to regulate the time system on a national basis, and by the time Congress gets through, you can bet that there will be more snafu.

OH, MAYBE NOT. As of now, if I read the dispatches correctly, some states are shifting to daylight saving, some are not. To compound the confusion, even some cities in some states make their own individual changes. It is sort of like waking up in Sand Springs at 8 a.m. and having to be at work in Big Spring at 7 a.m.—provided the two neighboring Springs went on different time schedules.

EVEN THE SIMPLE standard time zones make it troublesome enough for those of us who do not stay alert. If it's 10 o'clock in the morning here, it's 11 a.m. in Washington (I think), and it's 8 a.m. in Los Angeles (I think). Now, when Washington goes on daylight saving, our same 10 a.m. becomes noon there (I think), and if California goes on daylight saving, that area's 8 a.m. becomes our 9 a.m. (I think).

Pity the poor executive who sets up a nation-wide conference call via long distance. He is getting some of his cohorts out of the late bistros in Manhattan, and dragging out of a warm bed those fellows on the West Coast. There is some doubt that an idea which sounds great to the one will set well with the other.

THE RAILROADS, which, bless 'em, have more regulations than anybody, have to stick with standard time. So do the airlines. So, in a few weeks, you are going to find travelers watching two clocks, or missing planes and trains.

It is well known that most farmers oppose the daylight savings idea. They say that cows give milk, and chickens need to be fed on the Lord's own time. It is presumed here that the Lord, indeed, did set up standard time, and would want no tinkering with it.

WE WILL NOT even bring up the television problem. Just turn 'er on, and wonder at what hour some program will appear.

Some of us more resigned folks just plaintively ask that life be more simplified, not more complicated. And this mish-mash of time zones certainly isn't simplifying things.

AS A PERSONAL note, I have the feeling that daylight saving is calculated to get me up an hour earlier. If that's the game, my opponents have already lost. Anybody who agonizes over leaving a bed as much as yours truly, is not going to move up another hour, not even for trains, or planes, or Congress.

Or another way of looking at it, who cares what time it is?

Automation Comes To The Circus

WASHINGTON—I went to the Ringling Bros. & Barnum and Bailey Circus last week with my children and was shocked to discover that in the age of automation the circus was still going along with old-fashioned, out-moded methods of operation.

As I sat there and watched the cast of over 100 people, not to mention the people behind the scenes, I couldn't help thinking what the circus really needed was a good management consultant who could trim the manpower and make the show far more efficient.

I can just hear him talking to John Ringling North.

"NOW MR. NORTH, I've made a study of your circus and you're in trouble, people-wise, that is."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, let's take the trapeze acts as an example. You've got six men and two women working two rings at the same time. I think you could cut this down to one ring, one woman, and one man."

"But you need a third man to catch the woman when she does a flip."

"YOU CAN install a computer which will be synchronized to the trapeze. It will be right where the woman artist wants it to be when she flies through the air. If it works well, you might even be able to do without the man."

"What else?"

"Well, I noticed, in your lion act, five of the lions are sitting around in the cage while the sixth lion is performing. There really doesn't seem to be need for all six lions."

"But each lion has a different trick."

"YOU COULD teach one lion all the tricks. I did a time study on them and I discovered that, for every minute they worked, the lion took three minutes doing nothing. This is a waste of lion-power."

"I don't want to argue with you, but one of the things that makes that act is that the trainer is in there with six lions. If he was only in there with one lion, there would be no danger as far as the audience is concerned."

"WE COULD PLAY a tape over a loudspeaker during the act which would make it sound as if there were 12 lions in the ring. Now I want to talk to you about that Siberian tiger, that rides a horse."

"Don't tell me you want to get rid of the tiger?"

"No, I want to get rid of the horse. Why can't the tiger ride a wooden horse? It seems to me people are more interested in watching the tiger than the horse."

"But the whole idea is a live tiger is riding a live horse. If we make it a wooden horse, the circus fans will object."

"THEY WILL at first, but they'll get used to it. Now about those boxing bears. I think you only need one."

"How can you just have one bear fight?"

"What's the matter? Haven't you ever heard of shadow boxing?"

"I suppose you want me to cut down on the clowns, too?"

"I was coming to that. My study shows you can easily get by with two clowns."

"But how do you make the people laugh with just two clowns?"

"YOU INSTALL a laugh track over the loudspeaker system. It will sound as if you have 50 clowns."

"If it's all the same with you, I think I'll stick with what I've got now."

"That's all right with me, Mr. North. But you'd better realize we're living in a computer age, and if you keep using people in your circus, you are going to lose your shirt."

Marquis Childs Conflicts Over Viet Nam Policy

WASHINGTON — The rumbling sound that comes from across the Potomac is the barely suppressed muttering of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in the Pentagon. This low-keyed thunder out of the military establishment underscores the half-suppressed war within a war that is part of the tangled web of Viet Nam.

Whether this portends a crisis in the direction of the war is what many observers are beginning to ask. The Joint Chiefs insist that they cannot win the war with the restraints imposed by policy set in the White House. They believe it is imperative to bomb installations in and around the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi and the port of Haiphong and at the same time, although there are differences on this score, to mine Haiphong harbor.

SO FAR these are subterranean noises. They have an echo in Sen. Richard Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, but that is a natural phenomenon that never fails. In short, the confrontation between the commander-in-chief and his chiefs is not a direct one.

The reason, of course, is the hard-pressed Secretary of Defense, Robert S. McNamara. He has come closer than any Secretary to imposing civilian control over the vast military apparatus, with spending set for the coming fiscal year at $60 billion. He speaks to the President for the Pentagon.

BUT AS A kind of dam—a filter in the word some Pentagon critics apply—McNamara finds it increasingly difficult to resist the big-bomber pressures from both his own establishment and from Capitol Hill.

President Johnson, determined to hold the present status which he considers middle of the road, is in a bind. One thing most of his associates agree on is that the President finds the incessantly mounting demands of the war galling in the extreme. Sensitive to the play of public opinion, he is aware of deeply conflicting views—find a compromise way out on the one hand and get it over with quick on the other. As spending on the war escalates into more billions the President's Great Society programs are faced with starvation.

ONE HOPEFUL prospect was in a report from that straight forward soldier in command in Viet Nam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland. Westmoreland pointed out that for a variety of reasons the direct impact on the enemy of American troops had never added up to more than 20,000 to 25,000. But he was confident that by late summer, when the over-all total is as high as 275,000, to two-thirds or more of that number will be directly engaged in fighting the Viet Cong. Then, in Westmoreland's view, with 200,000 men fighting the enemy the Communists will know they can never drive the Americans out.

IN THE background of the Honolulu conference was the private prediction that by mid-1967 the Viet Cong would begin to fade out. That was the hopeful note communicated to the President. But, as so often before, events in Viet Nam have a way of catching up with the best-laid plans. (Copyright, 1966, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

SGA Members Leave Thursday For Meet

By JEAN FANNIN

Thursday, four SGA members will leave for the SGA state convention in Corpus Christi.

Attending are Charles Price, president, and Delinda Bradford, secretary, sophomores; and Kay Trupp and Ray Graves, freshmen.

Kurt Papp was named to the 1966 National Junior College Association All-American third team in Hutchinson, Kan., Wednesday.

Plans are being made to reactivate the Circle K Club on the college campus. The club is sponsored by the Kiwanis and is designed for college men. HCJC men interested in becoming members are asked to contact Dr. Dawson DeViney at the school, Ray Graves, Bill Caire, Jerry Peurtoy, or Charles Zarembo.

Organization of the club is set for Wednesday noon in the Student Union Building.

The HCJC track team came out second in a home track meet last Friday but was considered a favorite in the freshmen class in the North Texas Relays in Denton Friday.

Other junior colleges competing in the relays were Odessa, Cisco, Dallas Baptist and Ranger.

Student Council Members Attend State Convention

By LORRIE WATKINS

Jenny Jones, Diana Langly, Kyle Rosene, and Gary Hinds left Thursday for the Texas Association of Student Councils convention. They were accompanied by Mr. Bobby Grant, Student Council sponsor, and Mr. I. J. Metel, Runnels counselor.

Members of the Runnels band went to Big Lake Saturday March 19, for a festival. This is a preliminary for the University Interscholastic League contest which they will be going to next month.

CLARINET CLINIC

Twenty-three members journeyed to Midland Monday night for a Clarinet Clinic. The band will go to Andrews Saturday to attend another festival. The band is directed by Mr. Don Turner.

Lists were put up during the week in the choir room for the students signing up to help paint curbs. This is a fund raising project which the Choir Boosters are sponsoring.

The members had a choice of working March 26 or April 2 and they signed for the day they were planning to work. They will be working with the Goliad and High School choirs also.

HOUSE NUMBERS

House numbers will be painted on the curb in black letters with white background for $1. The money will be used to pay for the BSHS a cappella choir trip at the end of this year.

The executive council of the FHA met Thursday and Friday mornings to discuss the class meetings and National FHA Week.

Mrs. Sue Willbanks and Mrs. Virginia Martin met with the members, Medina Furqueron, Cornelia Garrett, Lorrie Watkins, Kenna Bell, Janie Ovale, and Mary Ann Hernandez.

Class meetings were held Thursday.

FHA WEEK

Friday the council met to discuss FHA Week, March 25-April 2. Each day is to be set aside for a special purpose.

Sunday is church day; Monday, clean up day; Tuesday, apple-for-the-teacher day; Wednesday, color day and little sister day; Thursday, community day; Friday, chapter day.

Each morning an FHA girl will speak to the student body to promote patriotism. Those who will speak are Kenna Bell, little sister day. The regular monthly meeting is scheduled for chapter day.

Family day is set aside for each member to strive to be a better family member. Tray favors for the Veterans Administration Hospital will be made community day.

Each day as the activity for the state project of understanding freedom and democracy, the school will give the Pledge of Allegiance and sing the National Anthem.

TB TESTS

March 31 TB make-up tests will be given. Students unable to take the first test should bring permission slips to their homeroom teachers to be eligible for the second.

Mr. Royce Feaster, art instructor, has had his eighth and ninth grade students doing wood reliefs. Those on display in the foyer showcase are mostly scenes from the Old West.

COIN CLUB

The Big Spring Coin Club extends an invitation to all students to attend each of the club's monthly meetings, held in the Settles Hotel, at 7:30 p.m. on the second Thursday of each month.

The Coin Club is making an effort to help and encourage all students who might be interested in the rewarding hobby of coin collecting. Dues are 50 cents annually for junior members up to the age of 18.

Further information can be obtained from club officers. Mr. O. O. Craig, is president; Mr. Dois McKee, vice president; Mr. W. E. Wozencraft, treasurer; and Mr. Lois Breeden, secretary.

VOLLEYBALL TEAMS
Traveling to Lamesa Thursday night to oppose Lamesa's eighth and ninth grade teams, the freshmen were defeated 15-6, 15-3; the eighth grade A team won 15-9, 15-8 and the eighth grade B team lost 15-7, 15-0.

Friday was class elimination day for those entered in the Howard County Spelling Bee.

Goliad semi-finals will be held April 1, with each English teacher entering 10 students.

April 5 is set for Goliad finals and the winner of the Spelling Bee and the runner-up will then be entered in the Howard County finals April 16.

FORSAN

Assembly Climax To FHA Week

By JODY DODD

FORSAN — FHA Week will keep Forsan students very busy this week. The dates set aside by the National Future Homemakers of America are March 27 to April 2.

Various activities throughout the week will be climaxed on Friday with an assembly program which features two guest speakers and presentation of the FHA officers for the year 1966-1967.

The nominees will be elected on Thursday by secret ballot. The guest speakers are Rev. Leo K. Gee, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Big Spring and Mrs. Chesley McDonald from Sterling City.

"Good-bye to the Clown," a one-act play being presented for University Interscholastic League competition, will be viewed by Forsan spectators Monday.

The play will begin at 7:30 p.m. immediately following a supper. The supper begins at 6 and continues until play time. On the menu is chicken spaghetti or spaghetti with meat sauce, combination salad, peas and tea or coffee. Adult tickets are $1 and children under 12 will be admitted for 75 cents.

Tickets may be purchased from any senior student and will also be available at the door. Forsan cafeteria and gymnasium will be the scene for both events.

A Cappella Choir Wins Sweepstakes

By CEIL PACHALL

The BSHS a cappella choir received a sweepstakes rating in concert and sight-reading contest last Saturday in Midland. There are three concert judges and three sight-reading judges. From these six judges the choir received six division one ratings. This is the third straight year the choir has received this award.

The girls' choir also went to Midland where they received a two in concert and a four in sight-reading.

BSHS VIC students entered the speed - skill contests which were held in Odessa last Saturday at the District 1 spring meet.

Kenneth Puckett won first place in appliance repair and Mike Carey won first place in auto parts. They will go to Austin in May to compete with winners from six other districts.

Pam Gould won a second place in the X-ray technician competition, Larry Webb won third in letter press printing, Sammy Smelser won third in parliamentary procedure.

In another parliamentary procedure contest Jerry Turner took fourth place. Darrell Reagan took third place and Jerry McMahon took fifth place in appliance repair.

Five members of the Student Council attended the Texas Association of Student Councils Convention in Hurst this weekend. Those attending were Jenny Bean, Jeanie Johnson, Gary Don Newsom, Laura Parks and Mariko Sakai. They were accompanied by Mrs. Matt Harrington.

The staff for the 1966-67 El Rodeo has been announced and they are: Linda Lu Lile, Jeanie Johnson, Karla Wadsworth, Laura Parks, Ann Garrett and Mickie Broughton. David Vasquez will serve as sports assistant, and photographers will be Bobby Polk, Mike Alexander, and Jon Lebkowsky.

Jan Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winifred R. Campbell, has been selected to attend the sixth annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium for high schools which will be held June 12-14 at the University of Texas. She is a junior at BSHS. Miss Joanne Morris, a science teacher at Goliad Junior High, will accompany her on the trip.

Members of the BSHS a cappella and girls' choirs will be painting house numbers on curbs Saturday, April 2, from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. The price is $1 per curb.

Anyone who would like this to be done, and is afraid their house might be missed, may contact Mr. Mel Ivey at high school and someone will be sent to that address.

The money made from this project will go toward the expenses of the tour the a cappella choir is planning May 3-8. This was also done yesterday.

The BSHS band attended concert and sight-reading contests in Midland yesterday.

The History Club left yesterday for a field trip to Palo Duro Canyon. They were accompanied by Mr. Bailey Clements and Mr. Rodney Allison, sponsors of the club, and their wives.

Nine weeks tests were given this week. Report cards will be issued Wednesday, March 30.

'TIKO AND THE SHARK'
Al Kauwe and Marlene Among

Enchanting Story Of Polynesian Life

It's likely that everyone, young or old, who sees the picture, "Tiko and the Shark," will want to give up life in an apartment or even in the suburbs in exchange for the unspoiled, primitive existence of the Polynesian island setting of this escapist entertainment. It opens at the Ritz Thursday.

Filmed in color in French Polynesia with a Tahitian cast, the story revolves about a young Polynesian boy, Tiko, who raises and trains a baby shark as a pet, and then recounts his adventures and romance as he grows up. In his childhood, Tiko's friendship with the small shark is shared by his island playmate, Diana. But he eventually has to free the shark from its lagoon and so he also loses his companion, who is taken to America to be educated.

In the decade that follows, all three are reunited but not only have Tiko and Diana become adults and the shark a dangerous man-eater, but the broads of civilization have left their mark on the beautiful tropical island, which is taken over by commercial interests. Tiko and Diana watch sadly as the thatched native huts are burned to the ground to make way for a new modern town. And when he is urged to give up his care-free independence to work for a company digging for mother-of-pearl, Tiko refuses. Instead, he and Diana leave the now commercialized island to find another tropical, unspoiled paradise—and the shark goes along, too.

Magnificently photographed, both on land and underwater, "Tiko and the Shark" is a visual as well as dramatic treat. There are wondrous sequences depicting the natives encircling a school of fish to drive them near the shore where they can be caught with nets, and scenes in which the knowing fishermen use mother-of-pearl shells to dazzle and frighten their prey into the traps. Underwater scenes show Tiko not only cavorting with his pet shark but with a giant turtle, or diving into the water for coins thrown by tourists from visiting ships.

Playing the principal roles are the Polynesian girl, Marlene Among, as Diana and the handsome Al Kauwe as Tiko, with these parts portrayed as children by Diane Samson and Denise Poirier. Also prominent is a native named Roau, an old man of the islands who remains steadfast to his superstitions and idols despite the inroads of civilization.

During the war when I was a lieutenant getting 250 dollars a month people asked me what I thought about the actors who stayed civilians. I told them I didn't feel bitter at all. Those five years in the Army Air Force set me back a good deal. It took time to get back in the swing of things but I've had 15 good years since then.

One of the most successful men in the movie industry today, Holden makes light of his earnings. "I make a lot of money but I don't see much of it," he said ruefully. "I pay taxes wherever I work. This year I'll

THE ARTS Choir Has Seven Programs Planned

Fresh from a remarkable performance in district contests where they won sweepstakes (maximum rating in concert singing and sight reading), the high school choir members, under Mel Ivey, face a busy and exciting spring. Seven programs, some in conjunction with the band and some with other choirs, are in prospect in rapid succession.

Within the next week or so, the choir will sing for Rannels and Goliad Junior High. Purpose: to recruit young voices which will be entering high school next autumn. The choir will join with the HCJC choir and the high school band to sing Randal Thompson's "Last Words of David" for the Easter Sunrise service at the amphitheatre. On April 16, the choir will be in Six Flags Inn as one of two high school choirs invited to sing for the Texas meeting of Federated Music Clubs of America. April 21 is the date for a concert of the high school and two junior high choirs. On the finale they will join for David Stanley York's "Once to Every Man and Nation." Then on May 2 the band and choir will give their joint tour program at the high school on the eve of their departure at noon Tuesday, May 3, for appearances at TCU, Sam Houston State at Huntsville, and then on to New Orleans.

Gary Ebensberger, head of the music department at Howard County Junior College and director of its choir, last week judged a vocal music festival for the Federated Music Clubs at Midland. He has been booked May 7 to serve as a judge for competition between the junior high singers of Midland. He also will attend a Fort Worth meeting of the Texas Association of Music Schools, an organization for heads of music departments. Besides the Easter appearance with the high school choir, the HCJC singers will be on the April 27 college honors day assembly program. The spring concert has been set for May 2 in the college auditorium, same time as the school concerts.

"The Importance of Being Earnest," Oscar Wilde's famous play, will be the next offering of the HCJC thespians on April 22-23. Martin Landers, head of the speech department, is directing it.

William Holden, has the lead role in "The World of Suzie Wong," a re-release which opens Wednesday at the Jet Theatre. Along with Holden, this drama stars Nancy Kwan, a Tanned and wearing the artist's smock he designed himself for his role in this Technicolor film about an American artist falling in love with a Chinese "yum yum" girl, Holden proves to be his severest critic!

"During the war when I was a lieutenant getting 250 dollars a month people asked me what I thought about the actors who stayed civilians. I told them I didn't feel bitter at all. Those five years in the Army Air Force set me back a good deal. It took time to get back in the swing of things but I've had 15 good years since then.

One of the most successful men in the movie industry today, Holden makes light of his earnings. "I make a lot of money but I don't see much of it," he said ruefully. "I pay taxes wherever I work. This year I'll be paying them in Hong Kong, Britain, Sweden, Germany and America. "I have a team of accountants who help me with the tax situation. Then I have an agent, an artistic director and a business manager. There's also my insurance. That's very heavy. You never know when the plane you're in might not make it and I fly 100,000 miles per year."

Holden had just flown 9,000 miles to Hong Kong, stopping off to spend a day with his family at their home in Switzerland. "We want to live in Switzerland because it's a convenient base," he explained. "Living there has no bearing on the tax situation, it's just that this way I can get home often. I'm always flying off somewhere . . . to Ceylon to Japan or to Hong Kong. If I'd been living in California now it would have been impossible for me to call in and see my family en route to a film location."

and Miss Pat Renshaw will be assistant director.

S.O.S. for singers—particularly tenors and basses. Louis Loveless urgently needs more voices for the chorus in "John Brown's Body," now well into rehearsals. The chorus practices at 2 p.m. Sundays and at 7:30 p.m. Thursdays, either at the music building or the auditorium on the HCJC campus. If you like to sing, you can certainly help. Just come on out.

The Big Spring Little Theatre is still exploring the possibility of a children's theatre school this summer. This has stirred lots of excitement, but a building is the key. There was an offer from a generous lady, a former resident who lives in Dallas, but somehow her name got lost. Anybody else?

Members of the Big Spring

Concert season are reminded of the final program of the season at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday. The artist is the celebrated Carlos Montoya, master of the flamenco guitar. It is doubtful that he has a peer as a guitarist. He specializes in the haunting and fiery melodies of the gypsies. Senor Montoya was so warmly received here in 1961, he was invited back.

DATES TO REMEMBER: "Take Me Along," based on "Ah, Wilderness," will be the only Permalan Playhouse musical of the season, April 1-2 and 8-9, and 2:30 p.m. April 3 (tickets $2 and $3, West Texas Book Shop, 808 N. Texas, Odessa); Midland-Odessa Symphony Young Artist concert, March 29, Lee High School, Midland.

BOOK NEWS Last Year As History Told By Wire Service

Our book review about Galveston only dropped the most important part—the title, author and publisher. Title of this collector's piece is THE GALVESTON THAT WAS" by Howard Barnstone; The Macmillan Co., 60 Fifth Ave., N. Y. 11; $12.95. It is, as the review noted, an outstanding historical as well as photographic and architectural collection.

"THE WORLD IN 1965," by writers, photographers and editors of The Associated Press (AP), Box 66, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. 12; $3. What happened in 1965: When did it happen? What was the total picture on a certain story as well as the chronology of it? If you are like most of us, you have a memory which may be a little vague or faulty when it comes to recall of major events. Yet these times are tremendously important, and many of the events will have far-reaching impact in history.

The Associated Press, which chronicles the passing scene around the world day by day, has made an heroic achievement in its 288-page volume, "The World in 1965." Profusely illustrated, the book is more than a dull listing of events on the calendar day they occurred. To be sure, dates can be pinned down easily enough, but the book has a far fresher, more engrossing perspective. Major stories such as the civil rights movement, including the Selma march, violence in Watts and other points, murder of civil rights workers; the fabulous Astro dome at Houston, deaths of Adlai Stevenson, Albert Schweitzer and others; the Vietnamese war with all its tragedy; the Presidential election; Congress in an unprecedented session; top sports events such as the World Series, Clay-Liston fiasco, the Browns-Packers playoff; Pope Paul's historic visit; the Ecumenical Council; Malcolm X's assassination; the Dominican crisis. There are a legion of others.

Besides there are economic statistics, roster of greatest disasters, lists of important office holders, etc.

—J.P.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A shortage of parts is jeopardizing completion dates set by the Pentagon for fighting ships, says the head of the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard.

Capt. James L. Stilwell said shortages of electric cables, brass pipe and pipe fittings, spare parts and bearings had resulted from an economic squeeze between a booming civilian market and the Viet Nam war.

Many Motorists Need Tags And Inspections

A casual check of 19 motor cars parked on a single block downtown Thursday showed that 10 still wore their 1965 car plates, nine sported the new 1966 tags.

Six of the 19 cars were still adorned with the old 1965 safety inspection sticker.

Two important deadlines are near in connection with motor vehicles.

The first will be April 1—the deadline for acquiring and attaching 1966 license plates to motor cars.

The second will be April 15. This is the last date motorists can have their cars inspected and be provided with the new 1966 inspection stickers.

In both cases, it is not enough for the motorist to have the sticker and the tags in his possession—the plates must be in their proper place on the front and rear of the car by midnight April 1; the safety sticker must be attached to the right side of the windshield by midnight April 15.

Sgt. John A. Davidson, with the Department of Public Safety stationed at Midland, said his records show that 60 per cent of the estimated 26,000 motor vehicles in Howard County have been inspected and provided with the 1966 stamps so far this year. This means there are 16,392 cars which have been inspected and 10,308 which must be inspected between now and April 15.

Statewide, it is announced that Texas 5,350 inspection stations must inspect 65,000 cars a day if all of the vehicles not at present inspected are to be cleared by deadline.

There are 23 official inspection stations in Howard County, Sgt. Davidson said. Most of the stations are in Big Spring, located in garages, service stations and similar establishments.

Each inspection station must make 20 inspections a day if the 10,308 county cars are to be cleared by deadline date. Statewide, the inspection stations will have to make an average of 12 car inspections per day to clear the 1,378,000 individual vehicles still to be checked.

The load on some inspection stations will be greater than on others, resulting in the development of frustrating waiting lines in some places as the deadline approaches, Sgt. Davidson warned.

Latest figures indicate that so far during the 1966 inspection

Rep. Omar Burleson, congressman for the 17th district of Texas who is seeking re-election, will be spending a couple of days in Howard County this week in his campaign for support.

He is scheduled to address the Coahoma Lions Club Monday evening, and plans to spend the greater part of Monday and Tuesday in Big Spring.

Members of his staff said no formal engagements had yet been made, but that the congressman would be "seeing the people" to solicit votes.

Howard County just this year has gone into the 17th district under the congressional redistricting act. Burleson, a 20-year veteran, is being opposed by Eldon Mahon of Abilene.

Latest figures indicate that so far during the 1966 inspection period in Texas, approximately 2,815,000 vehicles have been inspected. This is 308,000 more than for the same period during the 1965 period when 2,507,000 were safely checked. It is estimated that some 200,000 to 250,000 more vehicles will be inspected this year compared to 1965.

This represents a gain of some 50,000 vehicles over last year's inspection period, which is less than one day's total.

"Those drivers who consistently have their vehicles checked early and more than once during the year, such as before long trips, are to be commended for guarding their own safety as well as that of others on our streets and highways," Davidson said.

Plastic Coated Paneling Increases In Popularity

There's a wide selection of wise to make the distance between the limitations it places on the plastic-faced materials on the wall and the new size of the room. The larger the market for those who are willing to spend a little more on the wall, the smaller the market for those who are not. Admittedly, this is the space in the room it gets decorative faces' on their can't always be done because of self.

Hardboards with plastic coatings, for example, have been increasing in popularity with the first is with special nails, which go into the studs, furring strips or other surface which will firmly grip the nails. The second is by using a special adhesive coating which is a new development in the plastic surface.

The special gypsum wall-board panels can be applied in one of two basic methods. The first is with special nails, which go into the studs, furring strips or other surface which will firmly grip the nails. The second is by using a special adhesive coating which is a new development in the plastic surface.

If the panels are to be part of a new wall construction, in which the studs will be 16 inches apart on center, a single 48 inch panel can be placed across the studs. But if the studs are not perfectly aligned, 1 inch by 2 inch furring strips should be nailed horizontally over the framework, with the panels attached to the strips.

Over masonry or broken plaster surfaces, the furring strips are a must, but they should be anchored to the wall using any one of several anchor clips on the market. Concrete stud nails also may be used. In some cases, it is advisable to build new wooden framing a few inches away from the wall and parallel to it. Where it is to be repaired, some future time — to repair a pipe leak, for instance — it is Applying lacquer with a brush requires a certain amount of care, since this finishing material dries so quickly. Because of this quality, lacquer must be sprayed quickly and evenly. Once you have reached the end area of the surface, the first area has begun to dry. You cannot, therefore, go back and attempt to repair any segment which does not meet with your approval. If you do, a patched-up appearance is inevitable. It is better to wait until the entire surface has dried thoroughly, sand it lightly and then give it a second coat—repeating the procedure, a third time if necessary.

A common mistake with lacquer is to use it just as it comes from the can. Applied in this manner, lacquer is difficult to use. It does not spread easily and it often does not dry properly. Looking for something in the way of picnic supplies, from cool line of sporting goods? White's has it. To make an afternoon picnic an event, White's has a complete line of items certain to please. From fishing rods and reels to croquet sets to water skis.

Even an old-time Indian would have no complaints with the fine stock of bows and arrows carried by White's. For the baseball fan, there is a wide selection of balls, bats, gloves practically guaranteed to be Junior's pin-stripped baseball. White's has the equipment, the equipment, the equipment.

And don't forget those lazy summer afternoons. White's carries all types of patio equipment and lawn chairs to make summertime leisuretime.

For those summertime outings, White's carries a fine array of things.

Ask Neighbor About Lawn

Moving into a new home which doesn't have a lawn? Don't start planting seeds no matter how much experience you have had with lawns in other locations.

Soils have characteristics of their own. The type of lawn seed that brought such good results in your previous neighborhood might not be suitable for the soil in front of your new house.

Before planning the new lawn, ask some of your neighbors for their recommendations. White's will only learn from their experiences with the kind of soil in that area; you'll find it an excellent way to make friends.

Concrete Works Wonders In Dressing Up Your Yard

You can work wonders in your yard with concrete without getting into a major concrete job. A dozen or more ready-made aids are at your instant command at McMahon Concrete Company, which has prepared a line of items which yard enthusiasts most often want.

These run the gamut from stepping stones to flower bed curbs, from tables and benches to bird baths.

Most of them come in a variety of styles and even colors, and of course they vary in size. They are relatively inexpensive, too.

Patio stepping stones come in 12x18 inch and 20x30 inch rectangles, or in 18 inch and 24 inch diameter circular patterns, in different colors, too.

Those who have downspouts or points of heavy runoff from roof gutters may find splash blocks advantageous.

Flower bed curbs come in three basic styles — plain six inch curb, or three feet long, or a plain type that goes 12 inches deep to shut off possibility of grass growing under, and the which can't be broken (with of a drive or parking area).

DRESS UP YOUR YARD

Breaks In Sidewalks Can Be Repaired

Cracks and breaks in the concrete sidewalk outside of your house can be repaired with a minimum amount of difficulty
- provided you can keep anyone from walking on the patch for a few days. The simplest way of doing the latter, of course, is to rope off the area, but how successful this will be depends on the kids in your neighborhood.

Ready-mixed patching material, which requires only the addition of water, is by far the easiest to handle. Exactly what type of mix to get is determined by the kind of repair that must be made. If narrow cracks have to be filled, then grout - portland cement mixed with water - is sufficient. If the cracks are large or there are medium-sized breaks, a mortar mix - portland cement, sand and water
- will do the job. But for the patching of large openings which extend right down to the earth, a regular concrete mix is necessary. This is a combination of cement, sand and gravel to which water is added.

If you decide to make your own concrete mix, the proportion is one part of cement, two parts of sand and three parts of gravel. Apply enough water to make a workable mass. Too much water weakens the mixture; too little makes it difficult to handle.

To fill narrow cracks, just force the grout into the openings and smooth with a trowel or wooden float. But other patches require a little more attention. Clean the area of all loose or crumbling concrete. Undercut the edges of the surrounding concrete that is still in good condition. This involves cutting slightly under the surface so that the patching material has a place to hang on.

Remember that the patch is inclined to shrink slightly, so be sure the new concrete extends the tiniest bit above the surface. After a couple of hours, go over it with a trowel or wooden float. A trowel, by the way, is used for a smooth finish, a float for a rough one.

To prevent the patch from drying out too quickly - one of the main causes of dusting or flaking - keep it moist, which is known as curing. This can be done several times a day. Or better yet, by placing a piece of wet burlap over it and securing it with string. This is especially important when the patch will be in direct sunlight during the day. If no burlap is handy, use something else that will stay damp awhile. In any case, the longer it takes the patch to dry, the more chance it has of remaining firm.

Bandage Will Protect Shine

Whenever you are fixing shiny - plated fixtures which require the use of a wrench, your first step should be a trip to the medicine cabinet.

A wrench, no matter which type, is likely to cause scratches or other marks on the metal or other part of the fixture that is being gripped. To avoid such marks, first wrap the metal in adhesive, winding it around twice. This will prevent the wrench from getting a secure grip, but it will do its expected protective job.

Summer Is More Fun On A Suzuki

Summer's almost here, and along with swimming, sunbathing and other summer sports, why not try another method of beating the heat — ride a new motorcycle, like the brand new X-6 Hustler by Suzuki, which Cecil Thixton now has available.

The Hustler boasts 29 horsepower from its two cylinders and six speeds forward! Even a sports-car buff can hardly find six forward gears, even on an Alfa Romeo — but he can on a 250 cc Suzuki, and at a far, far lower price.

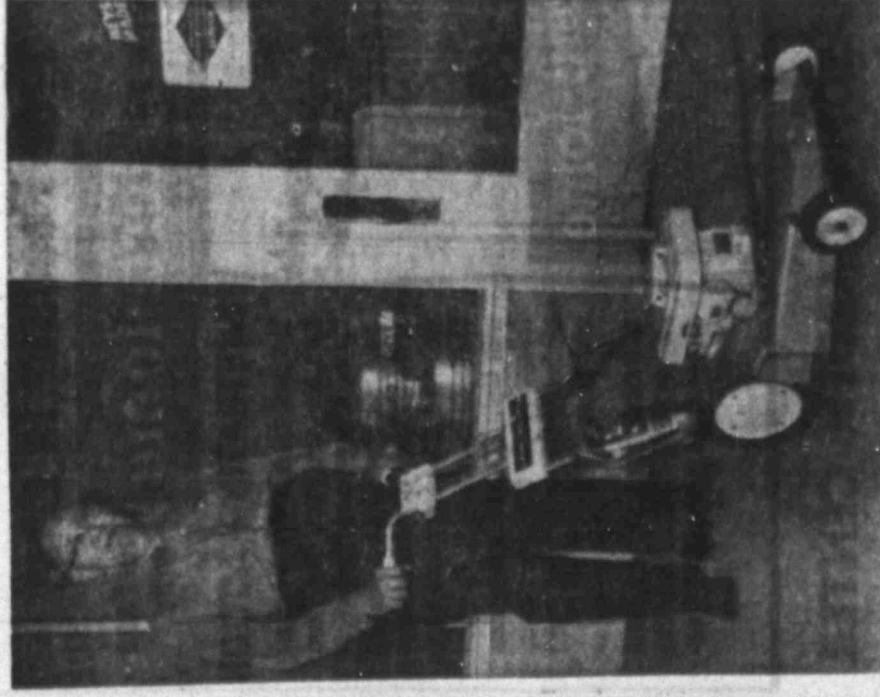

Positive flow lubrication, throttle-controlled, is another feature of the X-6 Hustler — you don't have to mix oil and gas, it is metered according to engine speed for perfect lubrication.

Thixton's also features Harley-Davidson motorcycles, from key-Davidson to the big Harley "Fat Boy," the biggest "cycle made by the firm." A standard Spirit-1750 Harley set a flying mile record of over 175 miles per hour not long ago, according to Cecil Thixton, owner and operator of the store at 908 W. 3rd for 37 years.

Even more two-wheelers to choose from are at Thixton's — from the little 50 cc Honda to the big 1000 cc Harley-Davidson. Also handled are Schwinn bicycles, including the five-speed speed Schwinn "Fatback Sling Ray" and "Kingston and Cooper" Clipper lawn mowers.

Thixton also services all brands of lawn mowers, as well as the best brands available as motorcycles.

Drop by Thixton's and see everything needed in the summer gardening and lawn-keeping line, see Stanley Hardware, 203 Rummels.

Right Tools Make Your Job Easier

Summertime is not all play, trimmers, lawn mowers, as well as other True Temper tools are available at Stanley Hardware. Also handled are the five-speed speed Schwinn "Fatback Sling Ray" and "Kingston and Cooper" Clipper lawn mowers.

Watering the lawn is no problem with enough hose of the right kind. Stanley Hardware has the best brands available as motorcycles.

For everything needed in the summer gardening and lawn-keeping line, see Stanley Hardware, 203 Rummels.

Eclipse and Sunbeam power lawn mowers are featured at Stanley Hardware. The fine Eclipse line includes both rotary and reel power mowers, as well as hand mowers. The power mowers are available in two to three and one-half horsepower.

If you like electric mowers, Stanley carries the full Sunbeam Electric line of powers.

Garden goods are popular in summer. True Temper line — everything from trowels to rakes, shovels, spades, hedges.

On Painting

It is not necessary to remove the paint from a wooden surface in order to do a repainting job — provided the previous coat of paint is in good condition. However, it is important that any remaining gloss on the old paint be dulled with sandpaper, steel wool or a ready-mixed surface conditioner.

Latex or water-based paint should not be used on wallpaper that contains any water-soluble inks or dyes. If uncertain, test on an inconspicuous portion of the wall. If the ink or dye does not bleed through with the paint, go ahead with the painting.

In using water to thin latex paint, be sure it's clean water. Thinning should be done only if absolutely necessary.

Remove Paint From Windows

When painting a window sash or the putty around the glass, it is difficult to avoid getting a few paint splatters on the pane. There are two correct times to remove paint from the pane. When the paint splatter is still wet, it can be wiped off with either a cloth or a razor blade. When the paint is dry, it can be scraped off with a single-edged razor blade or one of those handled tools into which a blade is inserted.

Paint at once. But if you do not take this step immediately — or if the paint is too close to sifting putty to risk wiping it off — wait a day or two. Then, when the paint is dry, it can be scraped off with a single-edged razor blade or one of those handled tools into which a blade is inserted.

COMPLETE STOCK OF TREES AND SHRUBS

Special Plant Shipment On Hand At Eason's

Eason's Garden Center, 1705 in this area, serving Big Spring gardeners and home owners for 22 years, has stocked a special shipment of trees and shrubs now on hand at exactly the right time for the current spring planting season. Eason offers his expert advice on any and all problems the home gardener may have. He has dozens of cutters each day in the nursery business who want him to help solve some problem. In the hot house, the supply of bedding plants is exceptionally fine this season, Eason said. The center stocks a complete line of seeds, bulbs and plants ideally suited for this area. Insecticides are carried and the center features the widely popular and successful Ferti-lome fertilizer, described as ideal for local conditions. It is good for all plants grown until that period of time has elapsed.

It May Settle

New houses can be expected to settle slightly during the first year. For that reason, it is of ten wise to delay wallpapering until that period of time has elapsed.

Garden Center On Back Porch At Newsom's Store

Customers who park on the rear parking lot at the Newsom Food Store on South Gregg usually are delayed before they get inside the store.

The delay is caused by the 'Garden Center display' Don Newsom, proprietor, has on the back "porch" of the store. The supply is large and the plants are all California stock. The varieties offered are numerous. The plants are healthy and carefully selected to give the home gardener exactly the tree or shrub he wants for his home yard.

Newsom's is a particularly popular place with the Sunday gardener and yard workers. The store is open Sunday and the eager weekend planter who suddenly finds himself short of some tool or fertilizer has but a short drive to the store to fill his need.

Garden tools, seeds, small plants, fertilizer — nearly anything that the gardener wants is available at Newsom Food Center.

One plant on display attracting much attention is a windmill palm.

Wheat's Has Answer To Hot Weather

You can't enjoy the summer season too much if you are hot and uncomfortable. Particularly at night when you want some sleep to get you in shape for tomorrow's fun or toil.

The answer to being cool at night is a waiting you at Wheat Furniture Co. 115 E. 2nd. It's a special summer deal on a General Electric refrigerated air conditioner — big enough to keep a big room cool and comfortable, quiet so you can sleep, economical and durable. It operates on 110 volts and is easily installed in a window.

Wise people, Wheat Furniture reports, are buying two or three of these units and enjoying cool weather all over their residences without having a fortune tied up in equipment.

These units are 6,000 BTU. They deliver half a ton of refrigeration. The price this year is more than $90 under the price asked for the same unit last year.

This is one of a large number of models of GE air conditioners that Wheat stocks. They run up to 1½ tons.

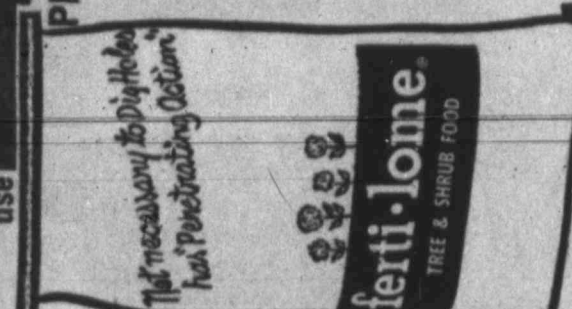

Another neat device for summer living is GE portable transistorized television receiver. The new GE gives you a 4-inch diagonal picture, weighs but 13 pounds, operates on 110 volt AC or off a 12-volt battery. It has a built-in antenna and the quality of the picture is superior. Completely transistorized, it has no tubes to replace. The set goes where you go — plays in your home, yard, boat or car as you elect.

Many Developed Parks Serve Varied Recreational Needs

Probably the best known of Big Spring's parks is the City Park. It is the largest in the city and has a wide variety of recreational facilities. But there are many other parks, each serving a different purpose. From the quiet, tree-lined streets of the city to the open fields of the countryside, Big Spring offers a wealth of recreational opportunities for its residents.

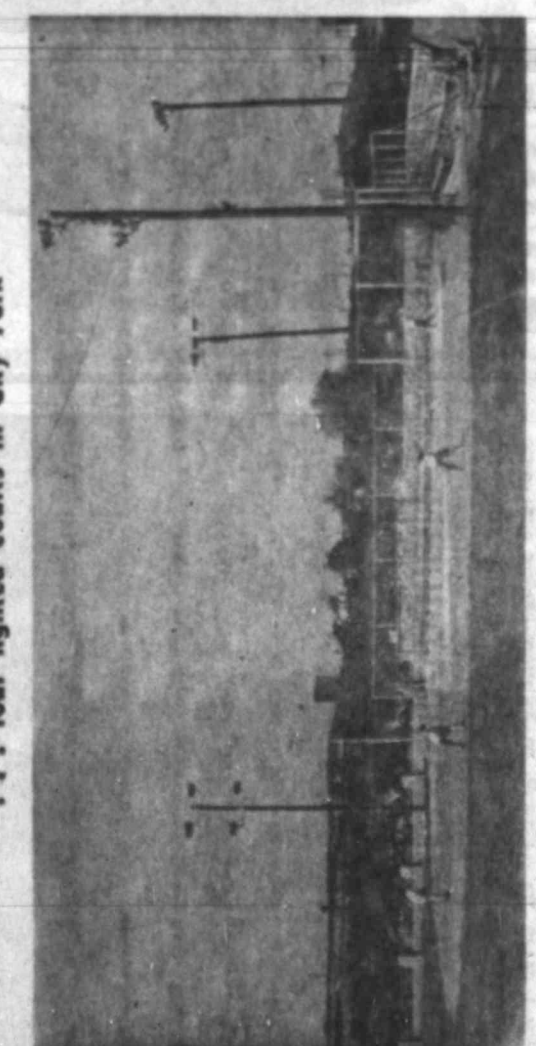

GOLFING . . .
... on 18 hole, irrigated course

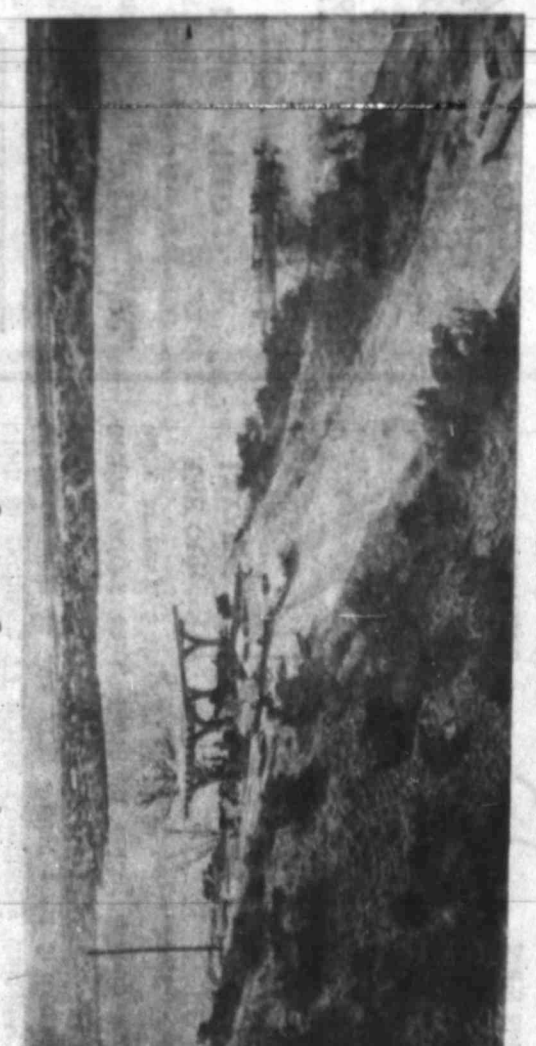

Some 300 shade trees have been planted in the park by the city. Although youngsters fill the park from all over the city, the school and the YMCA programs make it a popular spot for the city's youth. The park is also a popular spot for the city's youth. The park is also a popular spot for the city's youth.

TENNIS . . .
... four lighted courts in City Park

SOFTBALL . . .
... irrigated, lighted fields

LAKE OUTING . . .
... Moss Creek Lake's many facilities city has converted former waste-land into two new ball parks. The softball field now has good turf and is lighted, and was becoming increasingly popular last summer. This year, however, use is anticipated.

BALL GROUNDS
Turf has been placed nearby for a new teenage ball park, and this is being used for practice. However, it is not lighted. Both of these new parks are irrigated. The city is also planning some 150 trees that will be used later in the city's parks. Stock now planted there include live oaks, mulberry, willows, jasmine and pines, among others.

Two swimming pools are provided on the North Side, however neither of them get much traffic. The Northwest pool is north of the Lakeview Y, and the Northeast pool is on the city station site. Both are open on weekends only.

Probably the second oldest park in the city is the Forest Park. It is a large, open area with many trees and a small playground. The park is also a popular spot for the city's youth.

NEIGHBORHOOD
There are four neighborhood parks, which until recently, were largely undeveloped. The city is gradually adding facilities and improving these, as it has been doing for some time.

The Ball Jefferson Park, on Jefferson Street, has two picnic units, one of them covered and the other open. The park is also a popular spot for the city's youth.

The Hillcrest Park, on Elgin at East Sixth Street, has playground equipment on its 1 1/2 acres. The city has planted 40 shade trees and installed an irrigation system to maintain the grassy grounds.

Another detention dam may be on the way toward becoming a park on Gregg Street. The basin, by virtue of a good drainage system, is now being used as a playground. This one probably catches too much water to be converted to a full-time park, but it is already getting heavy use by archers.

A roadside park on US 80 west, at the end of the Webb runway, was built to accommodate residents who park there to watch the Air Force planes land and take-off. Half of the park grounds is fenced off for picnickers, and is irrigated.

JOINT EFFORT
The planning development effort by the city and the school district in planning park-campus projects.

Already making a good start is the Lakeview project. About 14 acres is involved, and the city has cleared a thick stand of brush and trees. The area is being fenced, and an irrigation system has been completed. Johnson has 30 trees planted, playground equipment and picnic tables are being installed. Some trees were planted in place when the city cleared the way for the grounds.

Big Park Provides Place For Family Recreation

The City of Big Spring maintains almost 100 acres of parks, including its golf course, Moss Creek Lake, and the "improved islands" at the intersection of the city's main thoroughfares.

The largest and best known is the City Park, covering 40 acres in the southwest corner of the corporate limits. Almost every form of family recreation is provided in this area, including swimming, picnicking, golf, tennis, wading, softball, croquet, playgrounds, and just plain lounging in the shade of numerous trees.

GIANT POOL
The giant swimming pool is the largest in the city, measuring 40 by 150 feet and holding almost a half million gallons of water. To improve it and encourage larger participation, the city plans, in its new budget, to install a new filtering system. Life guards are provided for the pool during the summer open hours.

Not far away from this big pool in the park is a small wading pool, for tiny tots not yet big enough to swim. This pool is drained and filled daily, as well as checked at midday to see if more chemicals should be added to insure health and safety. Parents let their children play in this pool.

Picnic tables and barbecues are practically everywhere in the park, and are used by a family to spread its cloth, open the basket, and enjoy the summertime. There is one covered table, and when money available, more may be built and installed.

PAVILIONS
Three covered pavilions are available for the use of large groups, such as reunions, company picnics, or other gatherings. Two of them cover about 1,000 square feet each and will accommodate about 100 persons each. The third pavilion covers about 4,000 square feet and is adequate for several hundred persons.

Playground equipment has been provided throughout the park too, with swing and see-saw units in easily accessible and widely used areas. A climbing gym, complete with small building at one end and a tunnel at the other, gives youthful adventurers a place to explore and climb, all within watch of the parents.

Croquet, still a popular sport, is played on the croquet courts, all lighted for night play, as well as afternoon action. Tennis, also on four courts, is given a lot of attention too on four courts — these lighted also. And in season, the well-maintained softball field has teams in competition almost every night. This field was recently lighted and irrigated, so that enthusiasts may have the best of facilities.

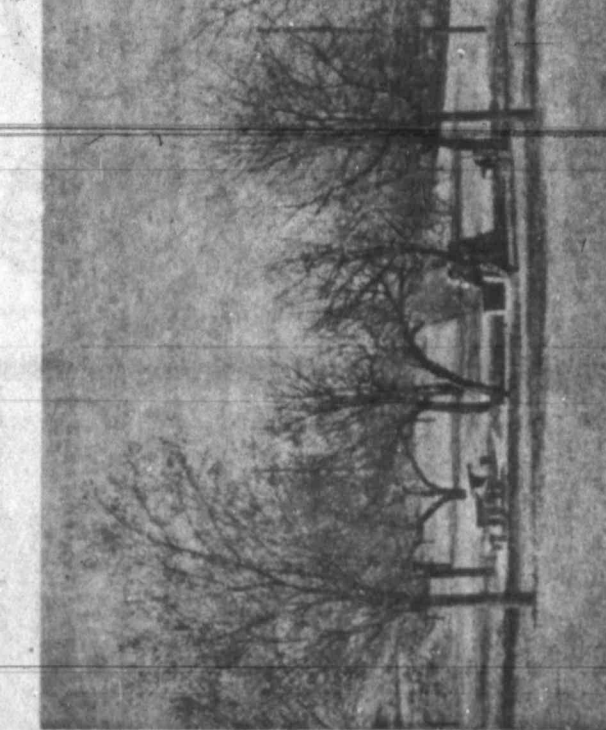

GRASSY
The entire park area has been irrigated, and grass has been planted throughout to give the park a lush appearance for Easter egg hunts, as well as summer-time enjoyment. Closely associated with the park is the Municipal Golf Course, probably one of the few city-owned links in West Texas that is completely irrigated for a perfect playing surface. It covers about 250 acres, all fairways are watered, and city crews are continually putting in more grass.

It has electricity combined efforts about four trances — one off US 87, south of the city, and the main entrance, off Wason Road (old San Angelo highway). Nearby to the City Park, is the Big Spring State Park. Although it has few facilities, it is an area landmark, and gives visitors the best view possible of the city and Webb AFB.

One of the most outstanding additions to the park in recent years has been the Trailer Park, for the use of camping visitors to the city. There are 14 pads to park trailers, and a shower house with modern rest rooms is provided. Hot water will be added to this facility this year.

This facility has proved quite popular to travelers and was filled most nights last summer. Johnny Johnson, parks superintendent, and Larry Crow, city manager, received letters from throughout the state, written by campers who stayed the night here in the park. The city makes no charge for the service.

Paved driveways serve the entire park area, making any corner parking facility easily reached. These roadways are maintained by regular city street crews. The City Park has two entrances — one off US 87, south of the city, and the main entrance, off Wason Road (old San Angelo highway). Nearby to the City Park, is the Big Spring State Park. Although it has few facilities, it is an area landmark, and gives visitors the best view possible of the city and Webb AFB.
