

IF VOTERS RATIFY, GIANT PROJECT WILL COST $33,000,000

Midland Council Agrees To CRMWD Water Pact

The Midland City Council and the Colorado River Municipal Water District are in agreement on a contract for an additional water supply for Midland. The 60-year contract, which is broken into two 30-year increments, ranges from an average of 9,080,000 gallons a day minimum in 1970 to as much as 17,940,000 gallons a day in the year 2029. It is subject to ratification by Midland voters. If the district should have ample water available in 1969, Midland then could begin taking delivery. The agreement, reached after numerous negotiations during the last three months, is a key to the size of the CRMWD's pipeline system from its projected lake on the Colorado River near Robert Lee. With Midland in the picture, engineering estimates are that the project will cost as much as $33,000,000. REFERENDUM Midland officials ordered a referendum on the contract for an April 28 date. Immediately after the referendum, CRMWD will arrange for bids on its huge revenue bond issue to finance the cost of the lake and pipeline projects. CRMWD has held off firming plans on the pipeline size pending a Midland decision. Speed is necessary if the district is to let contracts for construction in July, which is essential for closing the dam and impounding water by the spring of 1969. CONTRACT DETAILS Under terms of the contract, Midland will take water at certain average daily quantities graduated from nine million gallons at the outset up to 13,540,000 gallons average per day in 1999. However, Midland will have the right to take up to 13,500,000 gallons a day during the first 20 years of the contract within the annual contract quantity. During the next 15-year period, Midland will have the right to take a maximum of 15,000,000 gallons a day within the annual contract quantities. From the year 2006 through 2029, the stated contract quantities graduated upwards to a final maxium of 17,940,000 gallons per day may be taken by Midland. This latter period also contains the right to take an additional 500,000 gallons a day as a means of making up losses should there be any momentary interruptions of delivery. SECOND PERIOD During the second 30 years Midland may take or pay for 70 per cent of its total water requirements of the contract quantities, whichever is the lesser. The range of contract quantities for these years is from 13,540,000 gallons in 1999 to 17,940,000 gallons average per day in 2029. The rate during the first 30 years will be that charged the city of Odessa, plus 3.227 cents per thousand gallons. This is to compensate the CRMWD for investments already made in sources of supply and pipelines, and it is based on the ratio that the Midland demand bears to that investment. For the calendar years 1999 through 2029, the rate will be the same as Odessa's. Quality of water delivered to Midland will be substantially the same as that furnished Odessa. This likely will call for mixing water from Lake J. B. Thomas and the new lake at Robert Lee. LIKE OTHERS The contract is closely akin to those of the CRMWD member cities of Odessa, Big Spring, and Snyder. Because contracts with all cities are used as a basis of credit, the cities covenant to take minimum contract quantities. In the case of member cities, this is in the form of fixed charges which are assessed each year. Besides the fixed charges, member cities pay six cents a thousand gallons for water delivered. Should there ever come a time when water deliveries had to be limited, each of the cities would share alike in the ratio of available supplies to the district's obligation to the cities. In this event during the first 30 years of the contract, Midland would receive a credit of 9.227 cents per thousand gallons for the amount of water between what it received and the contract quantity. Member cities would effect a similar saving because they would not be paying six cents per thousand for the undelivered water. After 30 years, Midland's credit for undelivered water would be six cents, same as the member cities. The district covenants not to sell water to any customer now being served by Midland or reasonably capable of being served by Midland's distribution system, except with the written consent of Midland. Once water passes the point of delivery, which is in proximity to the north city limits of Midland, title in the water will pass to Midland. The contract is for raw water, and Midland will construct and operate its own filter plant.

Missing H-Bomb Lifted From Ocean

MADRID (AP) — An American H-bomb missing since the crash of a U.S. nuclear bomber Jan. 17, has been recovered from the Mediterranean off Spain's southeast coast, it was officially announced today. The bomb, which was lost when a B52 bomber and a tanker plane collided over Palomares Beach, was recovered by a U.S. naval task force which had been searching the sea depths for more than two months. The bomb was located in 2,500 feet of water about five miles offshore on March 15 by the midget sub Alvin. It was found almost exactly where Francisco Simo, a Spanish fisherman, told the searchers he saw a strange object fall into the Mediterranean after the crash.

commanded by Rear Adm. William S. Guest of Rome, Ga., searched off the coast, more than 800 U.S. Air Force personnel recovered wreckage from the crash on shore and removed the traces of radioactivity. At the end of the search today, only a handful of Air Force personnel were in the shore detachment.

EMBARRASSED U.S. Loss of the H-bomb was a painful embarrassment to the U.S. government despite its emphatic insistence that the bombs aboard the B52 were not armed and could not explode. Spain barred flights of nuclear-armed U.S. planes over Spanish soil, and the Soviets accused the United States of radioactive contamination of the Mediterranean. The United States denied the charge.

NOT DAMAGED U.S. Embassy officials said the bomb was intact and not damaged.

The bomb, described as a 20-megaton hydrogen bomb, was one of four lost from the B52 in the collision and crash in which seven airmen were killed. Eight other American airmen were killed in the crash of a C124 transport which was on a support mission for the search and recovery groups off Palomares Beach.

THREE RECOVERED The other three bombs fell on shore and were quickly recovered. But two of them were damaged and left a residue of radioactivity which was cleaned up by removing nearly 5,000 steel drums of earth and vegetation. While the naval task force

Tyke In Convulsions-- Sugar Cube Was Drug

NEW YORK (AP)—A 5-year-old Brooklyn girl who swallowed a sugar cube saturated with the hallucinatory drug LSD and suffered convulsions appeared to be out of physical danger today. However, a spokesman at Kings County Hospital said Donna Wingenroth remained on the critical list for observation to learn whether the drug will cause the child permanent mental damage. Doctors pumped her stomach Wednesday and treated her for convulsions after she removed the cube from a refrigerator and ate it. Police booked the child's uncle, Paul Franklin, 18, on misdemeanor charges of endangering the health and morals of a minor and possessing drugs without a prescription. Franklin was quoted as saying that he purchased the drug for $5 last week in Greenwich Village "as an experiment to see what effect the drug has on the human body." He said he placed it in a refrigerator on the instructions of the seller, intending to eat it.

CAPT. BUDDY BLAKE

Florida Crash Kills Former Webb Captain

Capt. Hubert L. (Buddy) Blake, formerly of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron at Webb AFB, was killed Wednesday while on a training flight at Eglin AFB, Fla. He and his instructor, Capt. Dennis L. Anderson, were flying in a formation of four T-28s over the target area in a bombing training mission at the time of the mishap. Capt. Anderson was also killed. Capt. Blake was a student pilot training in the T-28 aircraft for assignment in Southeast Asia. At Webb, he was an instructor pilot. Capt. Blake entered the Air Force in 1960 through the ROTC program after graduating from Texas Christian University. He received his pilot instruction at Spence Air Base, Ga., and Williams AFB, Ariz. He had been an instructor pilot at Webb since December, 1961, and left here in mid-February. He was a senior instructor, navigation briefing and flight standardization officer for his flight as well as squadron athletic officer. He had accumulated 2,500 hours of flying time, including close to 2,000 hours in jets. Capt. Blake was named Instructor Pilot of the Month at Webb in November, 1965. Capt. Blake is survived by his widow, Janet, and three children, Deborah, 5, David, 4, and Sherry, 1. The Blakes resided at 2208 Merrily while in Big Spring. Capt. Blake was a native of Garland.

Draft Call Is 15,000 WASHINGTON (AP) — The June draft call has been set at 15,000 by the Defense Department, the lowest level since the Viet Nam buildup began last August. Pentagon officials explained Wednesday that the "decrease in the June draft call is primarily due to the fact that voluntary enlistments normally increase in June at the end of the school year."

Soviet Jet Crashes In Germany, Crew Missing BERLIN (AP)—Thousands of West Berliners flocked today to the site in the Havel River where a Soviet military jet crashed. There was still a mystery as to what happened to the crew. The Russians said the two-man crew perished when the plane crashed Wednesday afternoon. A British spokesman at the scene in the British sector reported divers had found no bodies. People lined the rivers' banks

Campaigning Spears Urges More Effective Enforcement

Hard-hitting blows for more effective law enforcement were driven home Thursday by Franklin Spears, as he brought his campaign for state attorney general to Big Spring. He addressed a group at a luncheon at the Ramada Inn, and played up his campaign theme, "blow the whistle on crime."

Spears charged that his two opponents were passing over this issue, but that he regarded it as the most important one as regards the office he is seeking. Spears said that if elected attorney general he would initiate a program to help local law enforcement improve training for recruits, would work toward minimum standards for those entering police service and would do all possible to increase the salary of law enforcement personnel.

"Three fourths of the law enforcement agencies in Texas provide no training for recruits," Spears said. "We can solve this problem on the local level through cooperative police training schools in which several cities and counties can join together, with the assistance of the state, to establish first class police academies."

The candidate said he would also issue bulletins and news letters to all law enforcement agencies so that they could be informed immediately of new court opinions affecting their work and of the latest techniques in crime prevention and detection. "Law enforcement is becoming increasingly more complicated and technical," Spears said, "and the attorney general's office with more than 90 highly trained attorneys is the proper state agency to assist and help improve local law enforcement."

"We must remember that good law enforcement equals fair law enforcement and also brings respect for law and order which is the very basis and foundation of our democratic society."

Spears had campaigned in Midland before coming here, went on to Sweetwater, Snyder and Lamesa later in the day. The 35-year-old candidate is a native of San Antonio, member of a family long active in law and politics. He currently is serving in the State Senate, previously served two terms in the House. He attended SMU, got his bachelor and law degrees from the University of Texas, served in the Army after graduation. He has been practicing law in San Antonio since 1956, after his military discharge, and has a long record of achievement in church, civic and veterans activities.

Troops Wade In, Unruly Mob Flees

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Hundreds of antigovernment demonstrators poured toward downtown Saigon tonight and burned a U.S. military police jeep a few hours after Buddhist leaders demanded that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime pledge publicly to give way to a civilian government in five or six months. No Americans were reported injured. "End the war immediately," said one of the banners carried by the demonstrators. A battalion of paratroopers waded into the rioters and sent them scurrying down side streets. Some began regrouping to continue their descent on the downtown area in the fifth continuous day of unrest in the capital's streets. PUBLIC PLEDGE The Buddhist hierarchy earlier instructed its militant young supporters to remain quiet until the junta replied to its request for a public pledge to turn over power to a popularly elected constituent assembly within five or six months. The Buddhist statement said the government had promised this privately. Hopes that the month-long political crisis was easing a bit were jolted when 500 demonstrators emerged from the Buddhist compound on the outskirts of the city. As they marched toward the center of the city with their familiar antigovernment banners, they attracted hundreds of supporters. FIGHTING FLARES Until then a strange calm had prevailed in Saigon, with no sign of any antigovernment or anti-American agitators. Heavy fighting flared 20 miles northwest of Saigon between the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and the Viet Cong. By midafternoon, 24 Communists were reported killed and the shooting was continuing around what appeared to be a Viet Cong base camp in the Ho Bo Woods, an old Red stronghold. It was the only significant ground action reported for the day.

Forsan Voters To Decide $350,000 Building Program

FORSAN—Voters of the Forsan County Line Independent School District will ballot April 23 on a $350,000 bond issue to finance a building program. Trustees Tuesday evening received a petition from school patrons asking that the bond issue be called. The bond issue is designed to provide for the construction of classrooms at Elbow. In addition, it includes shops, a band hall, and a multi-use instructional auditorium at the Forsan campus. Also, small classrooms at Forsan will be enlarged and equipped to accommodate growing enrollment. The library will be enlarged so that additional facilities will enable the school to meet accreditation standards. In setting the election for April 23 the board named Mrs. John Kubecka as judge of the Forsan box, and Homer Thorp, judge of the Elbow box. Preliminary plans for the work have been developed by Gary & Hohertz of Big Spring so that if voters approve the bonds, final plans can be firm promptly. The board will meet Monday to review the preliminary plans. Tuesday the board canvassed returns of the April 2 board election. Bob Cowley, a former board member, was given the oath of office along with Bobby Wash and Elmer Patton, returning incumbents. The board then re-elected Patton as president and Wash as secretary. R. V. Fryar was selected to serve as vice president.

Sunrise Worship Service Announced

Order of service has been arranged for Big Spring's traditional sunrise Easter worship Sunday. A large crowd is expected to be at the City Park Amphitheatre for a program that has taken on more extensive participation than others of recent years. Service starts at 6:07 a.m., the moment of sunrise, when the Webb AFB color guard will parade to the platform to present the flag. At 6:10, the Rev. James Puckett, president of the Big Spring Pastors Association, will open the formalities, and the congregation will sing the hymn, "All Hail The Power of Jesus' Name." Invocation will be by the Rev. V. Ward Jackson, and "Hymn of Our Fathers" will follow this. A special dramatic Scripture reading will be given by Dr. M. W. Talbot Jr., representing the Big Spring Little Theatre. Another hymn, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," will be followed by prayer by the Rev. Leo Gee. The combined choirs of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College will sing an anthem, "The Last Words of David." They are to be directed by Mel Ivey, who also will lead the high school band in music for all the hymns. The special message will be brought by Dr. John S. Rasco, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Odessa, and benediction will be by the Rev. Melvin Montgomery. In event of severe weather, the service will be moved to the nearby First Baptist Church sanctuary, but sponsors, of course, are hoping for a fine spring morning. Special stage decorations, including Easter blossoms and spring greenery, along with a large cross, are being arranged by Mrs. Odell Womack and Mrs. Garner McAdams. Members of the Ambassadors Club are to serve as ushers, and special police detachments will direct traffic. Many city crewmen are assisting in various arrangements, including an effective sound system.

Pilot Safe After Crash Capt. Richard L. Davis, of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Webb AFB, ejected safely this morning when his F-104 Starfighter crashed 100 miles north of Abilene and 12 miles east of Paducah. The mishap occurred while he was on a routine flight about 7:55 a.m. Air Force officials said he is in satisfactory condition with minor abrasions. Capt. Davis has been with the 331st FIS ever since it was assigned to Webb, almost five years ago. He holds the senior rating, and was a combat pilot in the Korean War. He and his wife, Lois, have two sons and live in Webb Village.

The Forsan Junior High P-TA will sponsor a public meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to hear details of the proposed building program for the Forsan schools. School administrators and school board members will be present with building plans to answer questions and to explain the need for additional construction in the Forsan district. Mrs. Bob Wash, P-TA president, said the Elbow cafeteria will be the meeting place, and all patrons of the Forsan district are invited to attend and get information first hand on educational needs and proposed building.

Soviet Jet Crashes In Germany, Crew Missing

BERLIN (AP)—Thousands of and picnicked along nearby wooded trails. The water around the crash scene was reserved for the barges that were working to bring up the plane. More than a dozen uniformed Russian officers and enlisted men were at the site. The official news agency Tass reported earlier that the pilot, Capt. Boris Kapustin, and his navigator, Lt. Yuri Yanov, gave their lives to insure that the plane went down in an uninhabited spot. People lined the rivers' banks

Construction Total Tops Last Year's

AUSTIN (AP)—Total building construction authorized in Texas for two months was 24 per cent above last year's record pace, the Bureau of Business Research reports.

January's figure dropped sharply from the highest December ever, but February increased 16 per cent over January.

UP 4 PCT.

Nonresidential permits rose four per cent. Compared with the same two months last year, January and February nonresidential permits increased 43 per cent and residential permits climbed 18 per cent.

Multiple-family dwellings continue to show greater gains than one-family dwellings. The former increased 26 per cent in February compared with the January figure, and 122 per cent above February a year ago.

One-family dwellings dipped two per cent in February, but were 17 per cent above February 1965.

"In spite of an inflationary trend in costs," the bureau said, "the demand of consumers has been for larger and better homes."

RIISING COSTS

"Instead of the rising costs causing buyers to choose cheaper houses in an effort to keep the total price down, the reverse has been the general rule."

"The increase in building costs between January 1966 and January 1965 was four per cent—reaching 117 per cent of the 1957-59 base. Hourly wage rates for skilled construction workers rose from $4.823 to $5.964.

IRS Chief Denies Claim Made By Fired Agent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen of the Internal Revenue Service has denied that a former IRS agent was fired because he refused to join in a "fix."

The former agent, Archie P. Sherar, testified last week before a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., that he had been ordered to falsify records in a 1962 tax dispute between clients of a San Francisco accountant, Nathan Friedman, and the IRS.

Sherar said he believed Friedman was a personal friend of former IRS Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin. In a letter sent Wednesday to Long, Cohen said Sherar had been discharged "because he refused to cooperate and furnish records for the audit of his own tax returns."

He said: "There is no foundation to the allegation of a personal relationship" between Caplin and Friedman.

Dockers' Wildcat Strikes At End

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas Gleason, head of the longshoremen's union, says all the strikers on New York and New Jersey piers will be back at work today.

Two court orders and pressure by union officials were used against the wildcat strikes that started Friday at many piers.

Some of the 2,000 strikers—about 10 per cent of the port of New York's normal work force—returned to work Wednesday.

Gleason is president of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association (ILA). State Supreme Court Justice Irving Saypol issued a restraining order here against the strikers.

Saypol acted on a request by the New York Shipping Association, which represents about 150 shipping and stevedoring companies in the port. The association charged that the strikes violated contracts and were illegal defiance of the back-to-work order issued Tuesday by Burton Turkus, the industry arbitrator.

Ysidora Valdez Services Held

LAMESA (SC)—Ysidora Valdez, 59, died Wednesday in a local hospital after two days' hospitalization. Services were held today at 2 p.m. in St. Margaret Mary Church, with burial in Lamesa Cemetery under the direction of the Branon-Philips Funeral Home.

She leaves the widow, Mrs. Petra Valdez, five daughters and two sons.

WESTBROOK (SC)—School dismissed here this afternoon for a four-day Easter holiday. Classes will resume Tuesday.

Irregularities Probe Eyed

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Sixty-eight aliens turned in voter registration forms here, Bexar County Tax Assessor-Collector Charles G. Davis said. He said he will ask a grand jury investigation.

Davis said he will bypass Dist. Atty. James Barlow.

The tax collector said the election code provides that official may require proof of a person's qualifications to vote and if he believes the person has sworn falsely he may take it to the grand jury.

SEEK TEST

Davis said the penalty for falsely swearing to become a voter is one to three years in prison and he thinks the law should be tested.

One alien who registered for the vote, he said, is a 25-year-old Mexican national who is now in county jail here charged with assault to murder.

Davis said a check of the 68 cases shows that three of the registrants told the persons signing them up that they were not residents of the United States.

The Mexican national who registered swore he was born in Taylor, Tex. and lived here for 13 years. A police officer said the man entered this country illegally two weeks ago.

During the voter registration period, Davis and Barlow exchanged heated opinions about sections of the voter registration law.

Many voters were registered during the recent free registration period by deputies and a number of organizations conducted drives to get registrants.

A police officer said the Mexican national now charged with assault to murder was registered to vote by the San Antonio Neighborhood Youth Organization.

Four Gotham Men Held In Texan's Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Four Manhattan men are being held without bail in the March 28 slaying of a Texan and the critical wounding of his companion, who were taken for a ride and shot outside a Queens cemetery. The men were arrested Wednesday while police were investigating another murder in the area. They are Edward Sullivan, 36; James Coonan, 19; William Murtha, 26, and James Gallagher, 23, all construction workers.

EATALLY SHOT
They are accused in the slaying of Jerry Morales, 40, also known as John Buccola, of Farmers Branch, Tex., identified by police as an ex-convict. He was shot four times. Charles Canelstein, 25, a threat salesman of Queens, was shot three times and left for dead. Police said he identified the four men.

NIGHT SPOT
Officers said the death ride resulted from an altercation at a Manhattan night club last Monday. Outmanned, Sullivan phoned Coonan, Murtha and Gallagher for help.

Sullivan, police said, got the two victims to accompany him by flashing a phony police shield. Sullivan contended his gun went off "accidentally" after they reached the cemetery. All four were arraigned on charges of homicide, kidnaping, felonious assault, violation of the anti-weapons law and impersonating a police officer.

Negroes In Tents Remain Steadfast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tent neighbors of President Johnson stuck to their stand for the fifth day today for better housing back home in Mississippi.

One of their leaders, Frank Smith, 25, said three more busloads of Mississippi Negroes may come up early next week to support the 90 Negroes who have taken turns camping out in four tents in LaFayette Park across the street from the White House.

Smith said he thought they were closer to getting the housing they sought. "We don't have any written commitment," he said, but he added there had been a lot of informal talking with men of the antipoverty program and other agencies. Smith said the national park police, which have been keeping eyes on his tenters, had been understanding. Their position is that the Negroes are picketing and therefore are not violating any law.

Marine Enlists, Fights, Dies —Using Name Of A Civilian

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — A stranger-than-fiction story emerged today about a man who was killed in Viet Nam while serving in the Marine Corps under the name of an acquaintance.

The dead Marine has been identified as William F. Joyce, 23, of Stoughton, Mass., who was killed in action at Quan Lan while serving with the 1st Battalion of the 7th Marines.

But Joyce apparently was known to his comrades in Company C, not as Joyce, but as "Richard J. Preskenis," the name under which he enlisted three years ago.

NOT CLOSE

There is a Richard J. Preskenis, who went to high school in Stoughton, but who now lives in an adjoining town, Canton. Preskenis, 22, knew Joyce several years ago, but the men were not close.

Preskenis' name turned up on a casualty list issued Wednesday by the Defense Department.

The list gave an address in Livermore Falls, Maine.

When the official notifications went out a few days ago, nobody in Livermore Falls knew any Preskenis. So the notice was forwarded to Brockton, where the dead Marine had listed as his secondary next of kin a sister, Mrs. Paul Collins.

IDENTIFIES CASUALTY

The Marine Corps in Washington says it was she who told them that the true name of the dead Marine was Joyce.

Joyce apparently used the name of Preskenis to enlist in the Marine Corps in April, 1963, because he had had some trouble with the police, which might have made him unacceptable.

Preskenis was not available for comment, but his wife said, "for a long time we had been wondering why Richard wasn't drafted. His twin brother, Robert, had gone into the Air Force in 1961 and got out just last August."

GOES TO BOARD

Mrs. Preskenis explained that her husband had gone to his draft board and asked why he hadn't been called and that "the lady there told him he had enlisted April 1963 and so, of course, wasn't drafted."

Preskenis convinced the board that he was "the real Richard J. Preskenis" and he now has been reclassified.

Preskenis and his wife learned of the use of his name when Joyce's sister, Mrs. Collins, told Preskenis' father about the deception.

How did Joyce know so much about Preskenis?

"Richard's other brother, John, went to school with Billy. They were pretty close for seven years," Mrs. Preskenis said.

Allied Troops Take Initiative From Enemy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Nam's latest government crisis erupted just as senior American military officials felt the tide of battle had begun to turn in their favor.

"If things continue to go as they have in the field, we're in," one U.S. officer said, summing up the feeling of the American command.

The Allied troops have taken the initiative from the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops. Massive American firepower, constant bombing and relentless pressure on Communist strongholds have produced impressive results.

Some senior sources concede the picture isn't quite as bright as the daily announcements make it appear.

Two of the most quoted statistics are enemy bodies counted and the number of Viet Cong defectors. One senior official said he automatically cuts body count figures in half. Another says the current rate of more than 2,000 defectors a month includes a large number of refugees and a high percentage of persons in the fringe of the Communist movement. The number of hardcore fighting troops crossing over to the government side is considered small.

During past political upheavals, U.S. sources figured that the war was set back six months or more following the collapse of a regime. If Ky should fall, the situation will not be quite so serious this time unless anti-American sentiment being fanned by the Buddhists gets out of hand.

During all past crises, the Vietnamese generals and province chiefs virtually ignored the war as they jockeyed for political position. Lesser officials sat on their hands awaiting the outcome.

Fire Destroys Packing Shed

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) — The largest packing shed in this produce-rich area was destroyed by fire Wednesday. Damage was estimated unofficially at more than $500,000.

The cabbage crop was being processed in the Star Produce Co.'s block-long shed, and onions were next to be packed.

In addition to the loads of cabbage in the shed, 12 boxcars on a siding near the building were destroyed.

The possibility of a short in wiring was being investigated as a possible cause of the blaze.

Wallace: 'It's Last Straw'

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — "This is the last straw," Gov. George Wallace declared as he threw the moral support of his office behind local school boards opposing stiffer federal school desegregation guidelines.

The governor, joined by Lt. Gov. James Allen and House Speaker Albert Brewer, blasted the guidelines set forth last month by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) as illegal and a political sop to "this liberal, socialistic, beatnik crowd that's roaming the streets in this country."

At a meeting last week attended by Wallace, a majority of the state's city and county school superintendents approved a resolution attacking the guidelines as exceeding the authority of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

ECHO VIEW

Wallace, Allen, and Brewer echoed this view Wednesday at a news conference. Each threw the prestige of his position into the fight against the new directive.

Under Alabama law, each local school board is autonomous, and the decision to sign or not to sign the compliance agreements is up to each board. The state has no direct say in the matter.

The question of a possible halt of federal aid to any school system not agreeing to comply with the directive was broached by Allen, who said:

"The guidelines are arbitrary, illegal, burdensome and go far beyond the law. If in ignoring them we have to give up federal funds, then I say let's make the sacrifice and do it."

LAW VIOLATORS

Wallace contended no such sacrifice would be necessary. No federal court or congressional committee, he said "will take away funds from us. They (HEW) are the law violators, not us."

Wallace called on the state's congressional delegation to join the fight against HEW's directive. He predicted congressmen and public officials from other Southern states and "a lot of other parts of the nation" would oppose them.

Wallace said the guidelines are direct violations of the 1964 Civil Rights Act on pupil and staff desegregation.

The guidelines require that teachers and other faculty members be assigned so that the schools are not identifiable as intended for pupils of a particular race.

Tavern Owner's Claim Is Rejected

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Supreme Court says bartenders can be held responsible for damages resulting from serving a customer who is visibly drunk.

The court rejected the contention of a tavern owner that an intoxicated person can be held guilty of contributory negligence.

 Aggressive bidding by his partner landed South in a three no trump contract that was a distinct underdog.

South opened the bidding with one diamond and West overcalled with two clubs. North had close to an opening bid himself, and was warranted in competing freely with two hearts which was forcing for one round. When South warned that he might have a minimum, by rebidding two no trump, North would have been more prudent had he tempered with a call of three diamonds. The delayed raise would have given South the opportunity to check out, if he were so inclined.

West opened the king of clubs, dummy played the eight, East followed with the five and South the deuce. West continued with the queen and declarer held off again, discarding a spade for dummy. He feared that, if his ace was released too quickly and East held a quick entry in the form of the king of hearts or the ace of diamonds, a club return thru South's ten would enable West to cash out the setting tricks in that suit.

When the queen of clubs held, West was reluctant to lead another round for fear of establishing an extra trick for the declarer. He, therefore, shifted to the three of spades. The six was played from dummy and East put in the jack to force out South's ace.

A heart was led and declarer finessed North's jack. The queen of diamonds was returned and ducked. A small diamond was led to South's jack and West held off again. The heart finesse was repeated by playing dummy's queen. On the ace of hearts, East discarded a spade, and South the ten of clubs.

A fourth round of hearts was led on which declarer shed the ten of spades. West was in with the king of hearts; however, after cashing the ace of diamonds, he was obliged to put declarer back in his hand with the ace of clubs, and the latter cashed the fulfilling tricks with his good diamonds.

In all, the defense took two clubs, one heart, and one diamond.

Beauties 'Vie' In TV Spoof Of Pageants

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP TV-Radio Writer
 NEW YORK (AP) — Television, which talks a lot about satire but never does much about it, came up Wednesday night with a spoof-on-that-fine-broadcasting staple, the beauty contest.

The program, one of the funniest of the season, was ABC's "Miss Teen International Pageant." The only trouble was that it was not intended to be that funny, just a slavish imitation of the five or six other "pageants" which occupy the television screens from early spring to late summer.

CBS and NBC have just about cornered the beauty pageant market between them and ABC obviously felt a little out of things. So it put together what looked suspiciously like a home-made one.

Thirty girls, some from foreign parts but others from places as distant from Los Angeles as Pacific Palisades and Santa Barbara, were summoned to Hollywood. And by the time we tuned in to the beginning of the show or to the stage of "The Hollywood Palace" there were 11 semi-finalists left including just one local girl, Miss Teen U.S.A.

The youngsters, between the ages of 15 and 18, were all cute looking and conducted themselves with dignity and tremendous poise, considering the circumstances.

She's 'Miss Teen U.S.A.'

French People Show Concern

PARIS (AP) — Many Frenchmen, reflecting on their president's decision to withdraw from the allied military structure, are wondering how their country might be defended from future aerial attack.

Jean Lecanuet, candidate against President Charles de Gaulle in last December's presidential contest, has raised the question in criticizing De Gaulle's plan to withdraw French troops from North Atlantic Treaty Organization command and to evict NATO forces from France.

Lecanuet claimed this will leave the French air force and the nation's anti-aircraft defenses blind to any attack until the enemy's planes or missiles are over French territory. He said this would be true of De Gaulle's "force de frappe," the fledgling French nuclear deterrent.

As presently constituted, the force is a number of supersonic planes which can carry nuclear bombs. The range of these planes is extended through refueling from American-built tanker planes. France is at work on missiles which could carry nuclear tips, and the nation also plans eventually to have nuclear powered submarines which could carry Polaris-type missiles. NATO sources support Lecanuet's view.

"The French air defense will be as blind as a bat," said one official when asked what will happen when French troops are withdrawn from the integrated allied air defense system. The official was assuming that in such a case the radar shield no longer would be available to French air defenses.

The air defense screen, stretching from North Cape in Norway to eastern Turkey, is the only fully integrated operational element under Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme allied commander. Land and naval, and other air forces, are integrated in the sense that they are pledged to allied command in the event of war.

The air defense screen includes an early warning radar screen, a fleet of several hundred fighters and fighter-bombers, and thousands of anti-aircraft missiles.

FDR Jr. Battles Employment Bias

Mrs. Dunham was born Sept. 5, 1886, in Montague County. She was a member of the Baptist Church and had lived in Dawson County 16 years.

Candidates Fire Blasts On Issues

Pointed remarks about legislative redistricting, preparation of ballots for the May 7 Texas primaries, taxes and assorted other topics came from the various candidates Wednesday.

In the steamy race for the Democratic nomination for attorney general, there was a warm exchange between Crawford Martin and State Sen. Franklin Spears over redistricting.

Martin observed at Houston that Spears is among individuals suing the state over how the lines of legislative districts were drawn.

"This means," said Martin, "that if Spears were elected... he would be a party of a law-suit against the state at the same time he was the chief defense lawyer for Texas."

In a talk at Midland, Spears also said he has "more actual legal experience" than the combined total of Martin and State Sen. Galloway Calhoun Jr., the third man in the attorney general's race.

Calhoun scheduled stops today at Belton, Marlin and Waco after spending a day at his headquarters in Austin.

Activity perked up in the so far limited efforts by Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and Houston advertising man John R. Wiloughby, vying for the Democratic nomination to run against Sen. John Tower, the Texas Republican, in the general election.

"I will win—and I'm going to have Sen. Ralph Yarborough's support," Carr said, looking ahead to the November balloting. He remarked that while he and Yarborough hold opposite views on some matters, "all good Democrats disagree on certain beliefs."

"Democrats will be unified in the fall in a way that we haven't seen in years," Carr said.

The attorney general visited in Fort Worth Wednesday, moving on today to Odessa and Alpine.

Lee Porter, county judge, said that the matter has not been discussed by the County Commissioners Court.

It's a matter that is really up to each individual officeholder," he pointed out.

Burned Man Is Still Serious. Joseph Earnest, Motel Big Spring, Room 31, remained in serious condition at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital today, according to attendants.

South, as well as elsewhere. He referred to an agreement, announced Monday, whereby the nation's largest shipbuilder, the Newport News, Va., Shipbuilding & Drydock Co., signed up to provide broad new promotion opportunities for Negroes.

Forty-one Negroes had filed charges of job discrimination. So the result was a pact with the commission whereby an outside expert will look over the job patterns in the company. If it is found that Negroes get less pay than whites for the same work, they are to be raised immediately.

Similarly in any case where it is found that promotions have been denied because of race.

Roosevelt said there have been 25 other conciliations of a major nature.

While working at the commission job, Roosevelt is not immune to thoughts about New York politics. He says he may wait a couple of months before deciding whether to run for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The commission Roosevelt heads was set up under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Its job is to combat employment discrimination on account of race, sex, religion or national origin.

But its powers of coercion are limited. The accent is on conciliation, on voluntary compliance. Much of its work must be in secret, under heavy penalties for talking out loud unless both parties to a dispute agree. That, Roosevelt finds, is one of his headaches.

Another headache is shortage of manpower to handle a volume of complaints four times larger than expected. The commission began work last July and has received more than 5,000 complaints.

Particularly angry at the commission are Mexican-Americans of the Southwest who complain that the emphasis is on the Negro, that they are neglected. President Johnson has promised them more attention.

Sex has not given the commission as much trouble as expected. Sixteen per cent of the complaints involve sex.

A newsman mentioned that James A. Farley, grand old man of Democratic strategy, is reported to have said the party is so disorganized in New York that it has little chance to beat Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Roosevelt said: "If I run, it will mean I am sure I can unify the party and win."

Soft breezes fanned warm air inland from the Gulf of Mexico and skies were almost cloudless the length and breadth of Texas today.

Dalhart's 37-degree reading in the Panhandle was the coolest in early morning. Thermometers elsewhere recorded marks in the 40s and 50s, ranging up to 61 at Del Rio on the Mexican border.

TOP TEMPERATURES. Top temperatures Wednesday afternoon varied from 68 at Galveston to 86 at Presidio.

Forecasts promised readings in the 90s for many areas with the warming trend due to continue through Friday. No rain was expected.

The nation's weather pattern appeared unchanged today from the past several days — temperatures below normal in the eastern half and above seasonal levels in much of the interior of the Far West.

COOL WAVE. Unseasonably cool air from a low pressure system centered over the Great Lakes region dropped temperatures during the night and early morning into the 30s and 40s from the Midwest to the Atlantic Coast, including parts of the Southeast.

Chamber Drive On Eve Of Success

Chamber of Commerce directors and Ambassador Club members Thursday had the faint aroma of success around them, and prospects were that the membership enrollment would develop full fragrance before the week is over.

Wednesday's one-day blitz campaign achieved 71 per cent of the total membership - re-valuation goal, and Thursday workers were still making calls on prospects who could not be reached Wednesday.

The Ambassadors held a slight lead in the over-all campaign, 55-52, over the chamber directors, but it was too early to predict which will be the winner.

"Actually, Big Spring and Howard County are the real winners," said John Currie, president, "because this great boost in manpower and a corresponding gain in resources will enable us to tackle many projects with renewed vigor and strength. I am confident that our goal of 150 will be surpassed, and I hope that even then many others will join steadily with us to help us move forward."

In addition to those previously listed, the newest members include:

John Burgess, Rockwall Company, Boling Construction Co., P&P Painting Co., Robertson Mechanical Construction Co., Austin's Shoes, Duncan Drilling, Martin Landers, Casey Auto

Among those increasing their share of investment in Big Spring were Big Spring Tractor, Koger Insurance, Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac, Elliott Waldron, Cook and Talbot, Bettie & Womack, E. P. Driver

Soft breezes fanned warm air inland from the Gulf of Mexico and skies were almost cloudless the length and breadth of Texas today.

Dalhart's 37-degree reading in the Panhandle was the coolest in early morning. Thermometers elsewhere recorded marks in the 40s and 50s, ranging up to 61 at Del Rio on the Mexican border.

Blinky Set With Bulbs

Blinky the Lion is getting ready to make his annual rounds with light bulbs.

Fourteen team members selected workers at a meeting Wednesday evening under direction of L. T. King, who is general chairman of the Downtown Lions Club's traditional light bulb sale.

Dates for the event are April 18-19. Lions will offer the assortment of bulbs for $2, the usual price.

All net proceeds go to the club's sight conservation and blind work, and other charity enterprises. Last year the sale netted more than $1,000, and last year the club gave nearly $1,100 in supplying eye glasses for needy children and others.

"Many people have asked when we were coming," said King. "I hope they can wait just a few more days for those light bulbs. This may help keep the light of sight going for scores of children and other needy people, or help those who have lost this blessing."

SAN ANGELO LEE HEAVILY FAVORED

Annual Junior High Track Meet Scheduled April 16

The annual Big Spring Optimist Relays, a cinder show set up exclusively for junior high school teams, will be staged in Memorial Stadium on the HCJC campus Saturday, April 16.

San Angelo Lee is heavily favored on the ninth grade level while Abilene Madison and Kermit appear to have the inside track among eighth graders.

Can Mayfield Top Effort This Season?

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Mayfield must be wondering what he can do for an appropriate encore. Mayfield went to Odessa to coach Permian High School. It never had won a championship.

"Don't you think it was a mistake to win it the first year?" his friends ask, in an attempt to be humorous.

"I've been told that quite often," said Mayfield, with a calmness that doesn't go with coaching.

Moreover, he doesn't think he has much chance of making it next fall, anyway, and he'd rather have the bright memory.

Mayfield, who has been coaching 15 years, been a head coach for 12. At 38 he has a lot of time ahead, looks on his chances for 1966 as maybe 100 to 1.

Actually, that's about the ratio for any Texas school with championship hopes. Except Permian is champion and naturally is supposed to have more momentum than the others.

Mayfield has 20 lettermen but he gave letters to 40—everybody on the squad—and many of those fellows didn't get in much playing time.

They are fullback Billy Dale and guard Paul Sirahan. They're good but both fellows aren't likely to put the team over, especially since teams have a hard time repeating and since the opposition will be "laying" for it.

"I would say that San Angelo is the team to win our district next fall and I think it could go all the way," said Gene, putting the finger on Emory Ballard, who has been knocking at the door for several years now.

Emory undoubtedly will appreciate the enthusiastic backing of his rival coach. It should inspire him.

But Gene always has been known as a very nice fellow who likes to help others.

Mayfield is something of a psychologist. Reminded that in most cases when a high school team loses to another, it beats that team the next time around.

It doesn't make allowance for that other team's inspiration and desire to atone for its loss. Also, it doesn't consider that the other team might improve more than it has.

"I get scared to death any time I have to play a team I already have beaten," said Mayfield.

But if Gene can lose enough games that don't count in the championship race he might again take the state title. That is, if he meets those teams again.

Country Club Host To 2-4A Linksters

Leading District 2-AAAA standings by a mere three strokes, Odessa Permian seeks to build an insurmountable lead in 18 holes of competition at the Big Spring Country Club here Friday morning.

In the district's first three matches, Permian's four-man team has achieved an aggregate score of 930 strokes (over 54 holes), compared to 933 for second place Odessa and 938 for third place San Angelo.

The high school linksters close out next week at Abilene. B' Spring, coached by Dan Lewis, will be seeking to climb out of the conference cellar, meanwhile. The Steers trail Abilene Cooper by 12 strokes and, of course, will have the advantage of playing their "home" course.

TWINS FOR THIRD?

Detroit Likely To Win Pennant

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Picking the American League used to be a breeze. Put the Yankees on top, Washington at the bottom and then fill in the spaces. It doesn't work out that way any more.

It probably is safe to eliminate Kansas City, Boston and Washington before a bat is swung in anger. After that sixth-place finish, 25 games back, New York almost goes into the same category. Almost, but not quite.

There are those who believe the Yankees still may awaken and regain their lost glory. However, they are in the minority. Mickey Mantle is only a pinch hitter. Tony Kubek is retired and Jim Bouton still is looking for that fast ball.

This shapes up like a typical National League-type race with five of six teams having a chance at it. Minnesota has the clubhouse and Baltimore has added Frank Robinson's power. Eddie Stanky has the Chicago White Sox hustling and Cleveland is thinking big.

Granted that every club has a weakness that could prove fatal, Detroit looks like the best bet to this observer with a good balance of young and experienced pitching and pretty fair sock.

Chuck Dressen will cook the chili and pull the strings. All he needs is a solid bullpen man and a little bit of luck in avoiding injuries.

At this time of year on a clear day you can see forever. It may look different in October. The following predicted order is guaranteed to put the kiss of death on the Tigers:

- 1. Detroit
2. Baltimore
3. Minnesota
4. Chicago
5. New York
6. Cleveland
7. California
8. Washington
9. Boston
10. Kansas City

Dressen can match any staff with Denny McLain, Joe Sparran, Mickey Lolich from the kiddie corps and Bill Monbouquette and Hank Aguirre from the oldsters. With Dave Wickham for relief or spot starts, it looks like the best staff in the league.

A healthy Al Kaline and the slugging Willie Horton and Norm Cash give Detroit solid run potential. The infield is solid, but not brilliant, and the addition of Dick Tracek to back up the regulars should help. The Tigers are very thin in catching behind Bill Freehan.

Baltimore has the big boom with Boog Powell, Frank Robinson, Curt Bleafay and Brooks Robinson but the absence of Dick Brown, who underwent brain surgery, leaves a gap in the catching department. It remains to be seen if Hank Bauer can find enough pitching to make up for the loss of Milt Pappas to Cincinnati. Dave McNally and Steve Barber on the starting line and Dick Hall and Stu Miller in the bullpen are the solid staff members.

There is a disposition to believe that the Twins won't do it again but this may be a horrible mistake. With Harmon Killebrew, Tony Oliva, Don Minchew, Jimmie Hall and Zolfo Versalles, the defending champs have plenty of muscle. A second base gap and a leaky defense are the drawbacks. A healthy Camilo Pascual and a repeat of 1965 by Mudcat Grant could carry the Twins right into another World Series.

Stanky has been doing it with mirrors so far this spring, just like Al Lopez did for years with the White Sox. The pitching is only as solid as the bullpen pair of Eddie Fisher and Hoyt Wilhelm, who has been handicapped by a broken finger. The Sox hung in there last year, finishing second with Juan Pizarro winning only six games. If Eddie can do better he should be the manager of the year.

The Yankees' problems are many, starting with Mantle who has been limited to pinch hitting duties as he recuperates from shoulder surgery. Roger Maris appears to be back in the groove and Elston Howard is healthy.

Whitley Ford and Mel Stottlemyre are the solid pitchers. Two rookies, Roy White and Bobby Murcer, can hit but it remains to be seen if they can do the job in the field.

Cleveland packs good power in Rocky Colavito, Leon Wagner, Max Alvis and Fred Whitfield. Sam McDowell, Sonny Siebert and Luis Tiant provide a pitching nucleus.

The Angels hope to make a splash in their new Anaheim, Calif., home but the first division probably is beyond reach. Washington's pitchers have been getting bombed in the South and Gil Hodges may be pressed to hold eighth place.

Boston still hits homers, but the youth program still is light years away. Kansas City has brought in Alvin Dark to handle a club that is short of everything but hope although their hitters can shake up a few pitchers.

Venturi Seeks Dynasty's End

By RON SPEER Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Ken Venturi says it's time somebody ends the Big Three's domination of the Masters Golf Tournament.

ment, and the dapper Californian would like nothing better than to bump Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player out of the winner's circle.

"If somebody else wins, that might shake up the Big Three a little," said Venturi, one of the early starters today among 108 golfers in the opening round of the classic on the Augusta National Course.

Venturi, making his 10th Masters bid, is one of a handful of outsiders given a chance to whip the trio that has won the past six championships.

"My hands are feeling pretty good now, as long as it is hot, said the 34-year-old two-time runner-up whose career was nearly ended before an operation helped his hands, stiffened by a circulatory ailment.

"The drier the course gets, the better my chances are," added Venturi. "A lot more people will be in the running if the course gets hard, because they will be able to keep up better with Nicklaus' driving."

Strong winds have dried the course during the past few days after it was softened by a Sunday rain.

"Nicklaus and Palmer definitely have to be reckoned with on this course, though, because there is no premium for accuracy and no substitute for length," he said.

Venturi twice just missed winning the Masters. In 1956 he almost became the first amateur to win the title, but after leading for three days shot himself out of the championship with an 80. In 1960 he lost by one stroke to Palmer, who also won the title in 1958, 1962 and 1964.

Those setbacks were forgotten by Venturi fans two years ago when he won the U.S. Open with a courageous showing on a hot, humid day in Washington.

"That's the kind of weather I'd like now," Venturi said. Venturi was ranked with Doug Sanders, Bruce Devlin, Gay Brewer Jr., Tony Lama and Billy Casper as the most dangerous challengers to the Big Three.

Nicklaus and Palmer played a head-to-head practice nine Wednesday in their final tuneup, and finished even with one-under-par 35, Palmer said.

Both are working with new clubs. Nicklaus said he still doesn't feel comfortable with the driver he got after shattering in South Africa the driver he used since turning pro in 1962.

Player, who said he has been playing reasonably well in the practice rounds, has recovered from a bout with the gout that sidelined him last fall.

Local pro football buffs will get to see Big Spring's Charley Johnson in action on TV the night of Monday, Oct. 31, when Charley and the St. Louis Cardinals will be at home to the Chicago Bears in a regular NFL game. That outing will saturate the airways from coast to coast.

South Plains College of Levelland, where the emphasis has been on basketball the last couple of seasons, has signed two 6-7 players for the 1966-67 season.

They are Clay Kreuger of Levelland and Nello Armstrong of Lubbock High School. Armstrong scored eight points, four of them from the field, in a game against Big Spring High School last season. The Westerners won that one, 53-54.

Dietzel New SC Mentor

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Paul Dietzel said he considered three other coaching offers this spring before deciding to leave Army to become head football coach and athletic director at the University of South Carolina.

Dietzel, given a 10-year contract Wednesday at a reported $25,000 to $35,000 a year, succeeded Marvin Bass, who resigned to become head coach and general manager of the new Montreal team in the Continental League.

Dietzel did not reveal the other offers.

The Cadets were 21-19-1 in four years under Dietzel, with a win and a tie in four games with arch rival Navy.

Wildcats Nudge Tech By Point

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Kansas State won a triangular track and field meet Wednesday while on the way to Lafayette, La., for the Southwestern Relays.

The Wildcats rolled up 36 points to edge Lamar Tech by one point. University of Mexico was the other team in the meet and scored 19 points.

Conrad Nightingale of Kansas State was the star, winning the mile in 4:14, the two-mile in 9:20.4 and the 3,000-meter in 9:01.8.

Lamar Tech and Mexico also will compete at Lafayette.

Terrell Forms Corporation

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Ernie Terrell, the World Boxing Association's heavyweight champion, announced Wednesday formation of a corporation to promote his boxing and entertainment careers.

The 6-foot-6 fighter, who sings and plays the guitar, heads a musical group called The Heavyweights.

Terrell said he has fight offers from six contenders — Doug Jones, Zora Folley, Brian London, Henry Cooper, Amos Lincoln and Karl Mildenberg. He said he will announce acceptance of one offer in a few days.

Al Davis May Be New AFL Czar

HOUSTON (AP) — The American Football League met today under a cloud of unconfirmed rumors that had Oakland Coach Al Davis succeeding Joe Foss as commissioner and veteran Houston quarterback George Blanda becoming the head coach of a new Chicago team.

The reports came in rapid-fire succession Wednesday night after it was revealed that the league's nine owners and Foss were assembled here for a scheduled — but unannounced — executive committee meeting at which expansion was one of the items on the agenda.

AFL officials, meanwhile, would not comment on the reports which said: — Foss, the league's only commissioner since its inception in 1960, would announce his resignation, possibly to resume his political career.

— If Foss were to leave his job, he would be succeeded by Davis, the 36-year-old head coach and general manager of the Raiders who has made the Oakland club one of the most respected teams in the league.

— Chicago will become the league's 10th franchise and begin operations in the 1967 season, taking the AFL into territory now held by the rival National Football League.

— Blanda, who played with the Chicago Bears of the NFL before joining the Oilers, would be named the head coach of the AFL's Chicago entry.

Griffith Signs For Tiger Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Welterweight champion Emile Griffith and middleweight Champion Dick Tiger signed Wednesday to fight April 25 for Tiger's title in Madison Square Garden.

Griffith, of New York, hopes to hold both titles at the end of this month, but Tiger has his eyes on a victory over Griffith, then a title bout with Jose Torres, the light heavyweight champion. Torres defends his crown May 21 against Wayne Thornton, the No. 1 light heavy contender.

Cincinnati Reds Favored In National League Race

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Maloney and Sammy Ellis, Cincinnati's answer to Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, may not make fans forget the Dodgers duo, but they could lead the pitching-rich Reds to the National League pennant.

Although Koufax and Drysdale have returned to the Dodgers staff following a collective 32-day holdout, the addition of trade-acquired Milt Pappas and Jack Baldschun to the Reds' pitching staff figures to lift them to the top spot for the first time since 1961.

But Maloney and Ellis will have to do the Reds what Koufax and Drysdale did for the world champion Dodgers last year — provide that EXTRA that teams need to come out in front in the perennial five or six-team battle for the NL flag.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

L. L. (Red) Lewis, the HCJC track mentor, has again been invited to serve as an official in the State High School meet scheduled for the first weekend in May, and will probably accept.

His Jayhawks will be involved in the Western Conference meet at Roswell that day but other members of the HCJC staff will take the team to New Mexico.

Second largest field in the history of the Masters Golf tournament will compete in this year's meet at Augusta, Ga. In all, the registrants will total 194, six fewer than the record 197 that played in the tournament four years ago.

When Webb's Starsquad beat the HCJC futures in that basketball benefit game here the other night, the star of the action was a West Point ex named Joe Kosciuszko, who tossed 36 points through the hoop. The Starsquad's margin of victory was 104-85.

The Webb students had four other players in double figures.

Coach Buddy Travis of the HCJC team went largely with high school boys and they got quite an education in the game. Jack Hoesley, the HC freshman from Leadville, Colo., led the losers with 28 points.

Local pro football buffs will get to see Big Spring's Charley Johnson in action on TV the night of Monday, Oct. 31, when Charley and the St. Louis Cardinals will be at home to the Chicago Bears in a regular NFL game. That outing will saturate the airways from coast to coast.

South Plains College of Levelland, where the emphasis has been on basketball the last couple of seasons, has signed two 6-7 players for the 1966-67 season.

They are Clay Kreuger of Levelland and Nello Armstrong of Lubbock High School. Armstrong scored eight points, four of them from the field, in a game against Big Spring High School last season. The Westerners won that one, 53-54.

Pro baseball scouts might be wise to take a look at the young hurler for the Big Spring Gage Oilers, Hank Pope, who has come on fast in the last couple of seasons.

Pope, a Big Spring High School product, was blowing the ball by the Webb AFB team last Saturday in his four-inning stint on the rubber. He seems to have all the pitches.

When Midland High nipped Abilene High in 2-AAAA baseball play, 8-7, last Saturday, the losing Eagles left 11 runners stranded on the bases.

John Bridgers' coaching staff at Baylor is doggedly loyal to the cause.

Four of them have had opportunities at other jobs in recent months and have rejected all offers.

If Coahoma's Spike Dykes, now bound for Belton, ever comes back to West Texas coaching circles, it will probably be at a Class AAAA school.

They say Spike couldn't be moving to a better place, that Belton has some of the most enthusiastic fans anywhere. The facilities there are considered good, too.

Belton's big game every year is with Killeen, which is an AAAA school.

Permian Plays Host To Bovines Today

More than a little unhappy about the way their defeat came about in Abilene against Cooper High earlier this week, the Big Spring Steers seek to hit back today in Odessa against Permian's Panthers, who now share the 2-AAAA lead with Cooper. Game time is 4:15 p.m. and Permian will be seeking to improve upon a 3-0 conference record and 8-2 overall mark. Chances are coach Roy Baird will send righthander Gary Mears to the mound against the Black Cats. Mears has received credit for both the Steers' league wins today and is having, far and away, his best season.

Robinson Zeroes In On Hurling

By The Associated Press

Fortunately for the Baltimore Orioles, Frank Robinson is not four years younger.

If he were, the 30-year-old Robinson probably would still be with the Cincinnati Reds, and the Orioles would not have his potent bat to help them in their quest for the American League pennant.

Robinson socked his eighth homer of the spring Wednesday, a two-run blast that gave the Orioles a 2-0 victory over the New York Yankees.

The veteran outfielder rapped three hits, raising his exhibition average to .388. The homer, following Curt Blefary's double in the sixth inning, increased his runs batted in total to 17.

All of this has come in Robinson's first spring away from the Reds, for whom he toiled for 10 seasons. He was traded last Dec. 9 for pitchers Milt Pappas and Jack Baldschun and outfielder Dick Simpson.

Robinson's homer supported the combined two-hit pitching of Jim Palmer, Eddie Watt and Stu Miller. Palmer held the Yankees hitless for five innings, but pitcher Al Downing doubled against Watt in the sixth.

Ray Sadecki and Dennis Aust collaborated on a four-hitter as St. Louis downed Philadelphia 5-1. George Kerek drove in three Cardinal runs and lashed two singles and a double. Cincinnati edged Minnesota 3-2 on Tommy Harper's run-scoring infield single in the ninth inning. Deron Johnson singled, raced to second as Pete Cimino uncorked a wild pitch, moved to third on a ground out and dashed across as Harper beat out the hit down the third base line.

A seven-run explosion in the sixth inning carried Boston past the New York Mets 8-7. Tony Conigliaro doubled across one run in the inning and walked with the bases loaded for the eventual winning run. Dick Stuart hit a three-run homer for the Mets in the eighth.

Cleveland nipped Los Angeles 6-5 on Bill Davis' bases-loaded, run-scoring single in the ninth. Duke Sims and Larry Brown homered earlier for the Indians. Eddie Mathews homered in the first inning and sparked Atlanta to a 3-1 victory over Houston while Ty Cline's run-scoring single and Wes Covington's sacrifice fly gave the Chicago Cubs a 3-1 victory over California.

Kansas City defeated Washington 5-1 with a 14-hit attack, including three hits each by Bert Campaneris, Jose Tartabull and Ken Suarez.

Rookie Ollie Brown slugged a grand-slam homer in San Francisco's 13-4 decision over its Phoenix farm team.

Astros Open Detroit Set In Big Dome

HOUSTON (AP)—Two major league exhibition baseball games are expected to boost attendance in the Astrodome to more than 4,450,000 for its first year of operation.

The Houston Astros play the Detroit Tigers and the American League champion Minnesota Twins in five games, starting tonight.

Friday night's game will complete the first year of operation for the stadium, which brought indoor baseball to the major leagues.

Attendance for all events so far in the multi-purpose stadium totals 4,417,315.

Veteran Robin Roberts is expected to start tonight for Houston and Dennis McClain for Detroit.

The Astros and Tigers play Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

The five games close the exhibition season for Houston, which saw its won-lost record slip to 11-12 Wednesday when Atlanta defeated the Astros 3-1 at Cocoa, Fla.

Eddie Mathews hit a home run and two singles in the Braves' victory. His homer pinned the defeat on Houston starter Dave Giusti. Claude Raymond and Dick Farrell also saw action for Houston, with Raymond giving up the other Atlanta runs.

Wade Blasingame and Phil Niekro collaborated on a five-hitter for Atlanta. Blasingame retired the first 11 men he faced.

Dave Nicholson's single, two walks and Lee Maye's infield safety in the fifth inning produced the Astro run.

Sunland Set To Go Dark

EL PASO — It's Getaway Week at Sunland Park as the curtain comes down on the 1965-66 golden season.

The plant will be dark Friday, with action resuming for the final two days Saturday and Sunday.

Ten of the finest two-year-olds in the track's history will be fielded for the climactic Riley Allison Thoroughbred Futurity Sunday. The 4 1/2 furlong championship juvenile event will have its second running for a gross purse of $22,450.

The event is named in memory of Sunland Park's founder and former president, R. L. (Riley) Allison. Mr. Allison's five grandchildren, Tony, Riley, Steve, Lisa and Bruce will make the victory presentation.

Mrs. Vera Lewis will send out her outstanding colts, Missile Pit and Bally Jet, who will probably assume the role of favorites. The former is undefeated in three starts and Bally Jet won his division of the Futurity Trials with authority. The entry looms the overwhelming choice.

However, the field is loaded with talent and an upset could be in the making.

Wilt Is Named Most Valuable

BOSTON (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, the Philadelphia 76ers' super star, has been named the National Basketball Association's Most Valuable Player for the third time by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association.

Chamberlain, who led the 76ers to the Eastern Division title while setting an all-time career scoring record, was the first choice selection on 29 of 24 ballots.

PRIDE MAY HAVE BEEN STUNG

Celtics Win Again

By The Associated Press

Maybe Wilt Chamberlain and the Philadelphia 76ers won't win the big prize in the National Basketball Association after all.

Their pride stung when the 76ers ended their nine-year domination in the Eastern Division, the aroused Boston Celtics trounced the 76ers for the second straight time Wednesday night 114-93.

It was Boston's fourth straight victory in the NBA playoffs since they rallied from a 2-1 deficit to eliminate Cincinnati in the Eastern Division best-of-five semifinal. The Celtics now lead the 76ers 2-0 in the best-of-seven Eastern Division final, which resumes tonight in Philadelphia, and seem headed for their eighth straight NBA title.

St. Louis whipped Los Angeles 120-113 in the Western Division finals and now trail the Lakers 2-1 in the best-of-seven series, which resumes Saturday night in St. Louis.

When Philadelphia thwarted Boston's hopes for a 19th straight Eastern Division crown, Chamberlain, the league's Most Valuable Player, said, "This is just a down payment on the big one," referring to the league championship that goes to the winner of the playoffs.

A sellout crowd of 13,909 at Boston Garden saw big Bill Russell pace the Celts as they led all the way in routing the 76ers.

Russell had 29 rebounds, nine assists and 10 points in addition to many steals and blocked shots. Chamberlain ended with 25 rebounds and 23 points. Bill Bridges, with 27 points, sparked St. Louis over the Lakers before a hometown turnout of 8,318. The Lakers, winners in the first two games of the series at Los Angeles, took an early lead.

The Hawks caught up and went ahead for good at 83-87 on Bridges' basket late in the third period. Zelmo Beaty followed with four points on a basket and two free throws and Bridges got another two-pointer to widen the gap.

Bridges sank 12 of 17 shots from the field and grabbed 17 rebounds. Jerry West led the Lakers with 32 points.

Nicklaus Rooters Perish In Crash

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn. (AP) — Two couples from Columbus, Ohio, en route to cheer for golfer Jack Nicklaus in the Masters Tournament, died in the fiery crash of a twin-engine plane near Elizabethton Wednesday night.

The small private plane was piloted by Robert K. Barton, an amateur golfer and law partner of former U.S. Sen. and Ohio Gov. John W. Bricker. The other victims were Barton's wife and Mr. and Mrs. James Kattler Long.

Both couples were close friends of Nicklaus, who begins defense of his championship in the Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta, Ga., today.

The cause of the crash was not immediately known. The victims, members of prominent Ohio families, were sports enthusiasts.

Honored At Reception

Arnold Marshall, left, greets Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Mahon, Abilene, as Mahon spent a day campaigning for congressman of the enlarged 17th district. Marshall and Mahon are both natives of Lorraine. Mr. and Mrs. Mahon were honored at a reception in the First Federal Savings & Loan Association Community Room, where scores of friends called to visit and pick up campaign materials.

Adjust To Change, Mahon Tells Lions Here Wednesday

America finds herself in changing times and in a changing world, but this is nothing new, Eldon Mahon, Abilene attorney, told the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday.

The important thing is to adjust to change, to set up improvement as a goal, and to cling to the one essential that makes change possible — freedom.

It took from the beginning of time until 1830 for one billion people to exist upon the earth. It took until 1930 for there to be two billion, but in the next 30 years the total rose to three billion. By 2000, if trends continue, there will be six billion people on the face of the globe. This alone means vast changes in social, economic and other tides.

People must make bold decisions to come to grips with these challenges, Mahon said, and while some things should not be changed, a purely negative attitude will not win.

"We have the greatest and most dynamic society in the world," he said. "But we must, in the light of change thrust upon us, ask: 'How can we do it better?'"

Accepting a minimum in effort or achievement will not suffice, he said, for what institutions, community and the nation demand is men and women not afraid to take a chance with life, for men and women who will fill the role of being a responsible citizen.

He lashed out at those who ignore or defy the law because it does not agree with their particular position. Taking the law into one's hand, no matter how one may feel the righteousness of a cause, can lead only to anarchy, Mahon said.

Sarah Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith, was given a rising tribute by the club as its representative in the queen's contest at the district convention in San Angelo April 15-16.

Holy communion will be observed, with Rev. Gee serving. The Chancel Choir will furnish the music. The church has observed Holy Week nightly with a series of sermons by area pastors.

G. A. Tyler Rites Friday

LAMESA (SC) — Services for George Alvin Tyler, 55, who died Wednesday, will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Jimmy Hardy, pastor of the Bryan Street Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park, with Masonic graveside rites. The Branon-Phillips Funeral Home is handling the arrangements.

Mr. Tyler was the owner and operator of a welding machine shop here. He was a member of the First Baptist Church; Masonic Lodge 909, where he was past worshipful master; and a member of the Shriners and Scottish Rites.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Susie Tyler, Lamesa; two daughters, Mrs. Jim Ford and Mrs. Dug Mitchell, both of Lamesa; three sons, Hoyle Tyler, Mt. Pleasant, George A. Tyler Jr., Lubbock, and Amos Tyler, Los Angeles, Calif.; his mother, Mrs. Kate Tyler, San Angelo; three brothers, Aubrey Tyler, Andrews, Melvin Tyler, Providence, R. I., and Marvin Tyler; three sisters, Mrs. Ila King, Albuquerque, N. M., Mrs. Shirley Evans, San Angelo, and Mrs. Katherine Hudek, Houston; also nine grandchildren.

Scouters Meet

Regular monthly meeting of the Lone Star District Scout committee has been called for 7:30 p.m. today at Cosden Country Club by R. L. Tollett, chairman. He said institutional representatives especially were urged to attend.

Congress Votes Pay Hikes, Extends Medicare Sign-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress starts its Easter recess today after approving the food-for-India program and a two-month extension in signups for doctors' bills insurance under Medicare.

In a big pre-holiday push Wednesday, the House also passed a 2.9-per cent pay raise for 1.8 million federal workers and two major money bills totaling $8.3 billion to finance activities of the Treasury, Post Office and Interior Departments in the fiscal year starting July 1.

UNTIL APRIL 18

After recessing today the House will be off until April 18.

The Senate plans to come back April 13 for debate — but no immediate action — on Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's proposed constitutional amendment to modify the Supreme Court ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned according to population.

Many congressmen will take advantage of the recess to return home to feel the public pulse on such matters as Viet Nam, government spending and inflation, and to get in a bit of campaigning for November's congressional elections.

TO AUSTRALIA

But six senators and seven representatives plus staff members and wives plan to spend the holiday in Australia — with stops also in Honolulu, New Zealand and perhaps Tahiti.

They left Wednesday on an expense-paid junket as U.S. delegates to the spring meeting of the Interparliamentary Union in Canberra, Australia. The stops are being made because their Air Force jets lack sleeping facilities, they said.

Apparently buried in the flurry of legislative activity Wednesday was what House Speaker John W. McCormack termed a misunderstanding involving the House Democratic leadership and 22 Western Democratic House members — most of them firm administration backers.

They charged that the Democratic whip organization, which checks members' views and attempts to line up votes for administration bills, had leaked information to some lobbyists and White House aides — who then tried to exert pressure on some of them.

The chief Democratic House whip, Louisiana's Hale Boggs, called the whole thing "a tempest in a teapot" and said usually "we know how they are going to vote, whether there is a count or not."

Mandatory Auto Safety Pattern Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson predicted today the Senate Commerce Committee which he heads will call for mandatory safety standards for cars.

Magnuson told newsmen this seemed to be the feeling of a majority of the members of the committee, which concluded hearings Wednesday on President Johnson's highway safety legislation.

The administration bill would authorize, but not require, the secretary of commerce to set motor vehicle safety standards after two years.

Magnuson said he thought the committee would amend the bill to direct that standards be issued and also to require the adoption of interim standards pending further research and testing.

Speller's Name Was Misspelled

The alternate champion speller of Boydston school is Bobby Mayo — not Bobby Mayor as it was advertently printed in The Herald Wednesday.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mayo, Gail Rt.

Grand Jury To Study Two Murder Cases

Two defendants, charged with murder, are slated to be taken before the Howard County Grand Jury next Tuesday, Wayne Burns, district attorney, said Wednesday.

The grand jurors are being called into special session by Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, to handle the two homicide matters and 14 other felony complaints which have accumulated on the District Court docket since the jurors were last in session.

It is the regular custom to recall the grand jury which serves the court in the long January term.

The two murder cases are against William Thomas Patterson and Elyre Thomas.

Patterson faces two charges of murder with malice. He is accused of the fatal shooting of Wayne Patterson and Tony Hampton. The two men were slain at a liquor store on US 87 north the night of March 16. Patterson was arrested shortly afterwards and is being held in the county jail. The Patterson case, Burns said, would be the first presented to the grand jury when it convened on Tuesday morning.

The Thomas case alleges the defendant shot Louise Ross March 1, and that the injuries proved fatal to the woman a week later.

Also to be considered by the grand jury is a charge of murder with a motor vehicle. Juan Gonzales Ruiz is defendant in this case. It alleges on Oct. 17, 1965, Ruiz' car collided with one in which John Lewis Stone Jr. was a passenger. Stone was fatally injured.

Two complaints of assault with intent to commit murder are on the list of cases to be heard by the grand jury. E. E. Banks is defendant in one, and is alleged to have shot Annabell LaBrew. This shooting occurred on March 19.

Patsy Louise Johnson is the defendant in the second assault with intent to murder complaint. She is accused of shooting William E. Van Buren with a small calibre pistol Jan. 29.

Other cases on the grand jury docket include:

Wayne Morgan, worthless check over $50; Wilburn Travis Little Jr., worthless check over $50; H. F. Cobb, worthless check over $50; Bill G. Ely, theft over $50; Gonzalo DeLaCruz, robbery by assault; William H. Poston, burglary; Leonard E. Sebring, burglary; Fred E. Morales Jr., burglary; David Norman Hazlett and J. R. McCallum, theft over $50; Jefferson Warren Wiggins, burglary of a coin operated machine.

Burns estimated the grand jury would probably require Tuesday and Wednesday to complete its work.

Cub Scout Pow Wow Scheduled For April 23

The annual Cub Scout Pow Wow has been scheduled for the afternoon of April 23 in the activity building of the First Methodist Church, according to William McRee, scout executive here.

The opening session is planned for 1 p.m., with registration beginning at 12:30 p.m. The fee of $1.50 includes two sectional booklets.

R. L. Tollett, district chairman, will welcome those attending. McRee will make the introductions, and Noel Reed will give the instructions.

Sectional pow wows will begin at 1:30 p.m., with Jerry Williams heading up the games section, and Dorothy Harder chairing the crafts section.

The midway and refreshments will be opened, starting at 3:15 p.m., with Mrs. Joe Horton in charge of exhibits, and Lloyd Niles handling the midway.

Sectional pow wows resume at 3:45, with Warden Mays conducting the session on pack administration, and Rhoda Board the section on skits, puppets, and ceremonies.

The final general session will be at 4:50 with Reed making the awards.

An estimated 150 persons are expected for this event, which is a training session for cub scout leaders. Snyder and Colorado City representatives are due to join with leaders here in the meetings.

Scholarship Board To Meet

SAN ANGELO — Students wanting one of the Millard Cope Memorial journalism scholarships at Angelo State College should get their applications in before May 1, according to Mrs. Maxine Wells, chairman of the ASC journalism department.

A scholarship selection board will meet early in May to decide who will receive the awards for 1966-67. Application forms and other information may be secured by writing Mrs. Wells. Three of the scholarships, each worth $300, will be awarded for the next school year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sherman, Tex., has ben reserved a grant of $604,500 to help finance construction of a water and sewer project, the Housing Department said Wednesday.

Easter Shopping Dilemma Remains

Actress Jill Haworth tries on a white straw beret with a Navy band as she tries to choose between the Mr. John Jr. designs that surround her in New York. Easter sales are reported soaring by department stores throughout the nation — about 11 per cent ahead of 1965, a record year. More money, new fabrics, higher prices — and Batman, are credited with causing the surge. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Birthday Party Held For Mrs. Eula Eubanks

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Eula Eubanks, 75, was honored on her birthday Sunday with a reception from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Cap Rock auditorium. Hosting the affair were her children and their husbands and wives, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eubanks, Mr. and Mrs. Arle Eubanks, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Ballard and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Newland.

Color Techniques Seen By Stylists

Mrs. Benny Allen, a L'Oreal technician from Fort Worth, presented a demonstration on hair coloring and color correction at the Monday evening meeting of Big Spring Affiliate No. 24, Texas Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association. She was assisted by Bobby Jones of Abilene, and models were Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. Cecilia Gaskins and Miss Jo Frazier.

The group met at the Village Hair Styles where Mrs. J. W. Robertson and Mrs. J. D. Hyden were introduced as new members. Guests were Mrs. Larry Caldwell, Mrs. Jeanne Jones, Mrs. Troy Thomas, Mrs. James Newsom, Mrs. W. W. Tucker, Mrs. Wilburn West and Mrs. Sonny Whetsel. Mrs. J. D. Spears was named to serve on the salon zoning committee. Refreshments were served to 19 by the shop's staff. There will be a panel discussion on shop management at the next meeting, the time and place to be announced.

Rebekahs Accept Two Members

Mrs. J. C. Acuff and Mrs. Ingram Oppogard were elected to membership at the Tuesday meeting of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge. The women will be initiated April 19. Mrs. Odell Buchanan presided, introducing Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr. who showed a film on cancer. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ted Brown and Mrs. Ethel Simmons, and 21 visits to the sick were reported.

Club Advised On Life-Saving

How to give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was shown to the 1955 Hyperion Club at its Tuesday meeting in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Company. Mrs. Walter Wheat introduced the guest speaker, Conrad Miller who showed the film, "That They May Live." Miller explained that artificial respiration was adopted in 1957 by the American Red Cross and the United States Army. The emergency-treatment can often revive victims of car and boat accidents, faulty eating and children's mishaps. To be successful, the procedure calls for tilting the head backward, pinching the jaw forward and pinching the nose closed before breathing twice as much air into the lungs as normal breathing requires. The rate should be 15 to 20 times a minute until the subject is able to breathe without assistance.

Discusses Alcoholics

The problems of an alcoholic and the family involved, were explored by Shelby Parnell when he was guest speaker Tuesday for the Licensed Vocational Nurses Association meeting. The group met in the snack bar of the Permian Building to hear Parnell, a member of the Big Spring State Hospital staff, urge patience and understanding in dealing with people who are afflicted with alcoholism. He noted that another growing problem is the use, by teenagers in particular, of "pep pills" or tranquilizers. Parnell was introduced by Mrs. Fred Winn, program chairman, and Mrs. Allie Jones presided as business was discussed by the 15 members attending. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Willie Butler. The next meeting will be May 3.

Dear Abby

Love Where You Find It

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for the understanding you showed when someone asked what you thought of a 62-year-old woman marrying a "boy" of 25. I know something of that kind of marriage, having been married for five years to a fascinating woman who is my mother's age. We met when I was 20 and she was 55. She had been a widow for 20 years. For the next five years I dated all the young chicks and I ended up marrying her. She has 10 grown children, 38 grandchildren, and two great-grandsons. I have always had the feeling that my wife and I knew each other in another life somewhere in the 16th century. When I was a small boy I kept having recurring dreams in which I would promise an unidentified little girl playmate that I would come back to her. Years later, when my wife showed me a picture of herself as a little girl, it proved to be the replica of the childhood playmate in my dreams. You may use my name. I want to

Some Food Prices Dip

NEW YORK (AP) — Traditional Easter dinners may cost a bit more this year than last, but food shoppers will find generally lower prices this week-end than they have in months.

Stores are offering specials on ham, turkey and leg of lamb. Ham prices are down as much as 5 cents a pound on the West Coast. Turkey is down 2 cents and lamb 3 cents.

There are plenty of eggs for the Easter bunny, with prices down 2 to 4 cents a dozen at a New York City area supermarket chain.

TEMPORARY DROP
Butter is down as much as 1 1/2 cents a pound, but that may not last. Wholesale prices on fresh butter rose this week. Butter production the week ended April 1 was down 27 per cent from a year ago.

Milk, cheese and other dairy products may be going up, too. The food industry is scrapping last year's "food is a bargain" campaign for one emphasizing family well-being.

Even President Johnson took notice of food prices this past week. He asked housewives to keep an eye on items on which prices were rising, and then try to eliminate them from their shopping lists.

FURTHER DECLINE
The federal government reported a further decline in farm prices — and eventually consumers' food bills — appears probable this month, with ample supplies of pork, eggs, poultry and vegetables.

The first Florida peas and Texas celery of the season are moving to the market, along with increasing strawberry shipments from Louisiana and Texas.

Pole bean, carrot, celery, endive, escarole and cantaloupe prices are lower in some areas. Higher are cucumbers, onions, peppers, tomatoes, cauliflowers, bananas and grapes.

Postmaster Bids Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate confirmed Wednesday the following postmaster nominations by President Johnson:

Texas—Charles L. Carter Jr., Bon Wier; Calvin H. Davis; Brownfield; Douglas R. McGraw, Del Rio; Jewel L. Newbrough, Hargill; Frank N. Simpson, McLean; Delbert F. Arndt, New Elm; Bernie M. Smith, Pantex; Irene A. Yarbrough; Princeton; Ward V. Hollingshead, San Angelo; Elmon J. Spearman; Jack P. Meredith, Teague; Margaret L. Cooke, Waskom; Mary K. Herring, Whitharral; Erna L. Boggus, Yancey.

Business Climate Need Pointed-Up

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Railroad Commissioner Byron Tunnell says Texas is attracting new industry faster than any other state except New York but that government and industry must work together to assure that the business climate remains attractive to industry.

Tunnell spoke to the San Antonio Manufacturers Association Tuesday.

He declared Texas had 327 new industries in 1965 and that 485 Texas plants were expanded.

to prove it. While I continue to cling to my high principles, I keep reading in the newspapers that fellows I fought off are marrying girls I knew had fast reputations. Then I could kick myself. What is a girl supposed to do anyway?

"TOO NICE"

DEAR NICE: She's supposed to behave herself. And almost without exception, the girls who have to fight off men, and have the bruises to prove it, prove only that they are leading the men on a bit too far.

Conscientious Objector Not Against Duty

RISING FAWN, Ga. (AP) — Desmond T. Doss is a frail and meek looking man who served in World War II and says he stands ready to serve his country again if called upon. He says he expects his son, Desmond Doss Jr., 19, to do the same.

"When Uncle Sam gives orders, you do or die trying," Doss says.

IS OBJECTOR
 What is unusual about Doss, 47, is that he is a conscientious objector — a Seventh-day Adventist — and the only conscientious objector to win the Medal of Honor.

A 126-pound former cabinet maker, Doss lost one lung and six ribs and suffered other serious injuries as a result of duties in World War II. He now lives a quiet existence in this remote Lookout Mountain community.

Doss won the nation's highest military decoration as an army medic in the battle for Okinawa in 1945. His Medal of Honor citation credits him with the single-handed rescue of 75 men on a jagged escarpment. The citation said Doss — a private — showed "outstanding bravery and unflinching determination" in going beyond American lines to rescue the soldiers, bring them back under fire, and lower them from a 30-foot cliff on rope litters.

DREW ABUSE
 Doss, who refused to touch a weapon or stand Saturday inspections because these things were contrary to his religion, was the butt of jokes and abuse when he was drafted in 1942.

But he refused a discharge. When other enlisted men threatened to kill him, Doss prayed for them.

"I couldn't kill anybody or anything," said Doss, whose 11-acre mountain farm is something of a wild animal sanctuary.

The Army finally made him a medic and shipped him to the Pacific in 1944.

He landed with troops of the 77th Infantry Division on Guam and Leyte, where he won the Bronze Star, and then moved on to Okinawa.

HEROIC FEATS
 His feats of heroism came on a Saturday and Sunday when Japanese in concealed positions beat back an American advance and left scores of soldiers lying wounded.

Doss crawled among the soldiers, bandaging, administering morphine and plasma and lugging them to safety.

Finally wounded by a grenade, Doss lay on the battlefield for six hours before other medics reached him. But as he was being carried to a first aid tent, Doss saw other soldiers more seriously wounded. He crawled off the litter and refused to be evacuated.

Later he was shot by a sniper and crawled to first aid. Tough GIs wept when they saw him.

SON IS IA
 Doss said his son, who works in Chattanooga, Tenn., received a 1A draft classification recently.

"He has applied for a 1AO classification, which means he has religious reservations about carrying arms," said Doss.

Seventh-day Adventists don't volunteer for military service, but they don't object to being drafted, Doss said.

"We should be called conscientious cooperators. We serve both God and country. The Bible teaches that a person should recognize the power of his government."

Mexico Bars Frank Sinatra

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Frank Sinatra, once the guest of a Mexican president, has been barred from Mexico by authorities who claim a recent movie he made depicts the country as a land of quickie divorces and shabby officials.

The Interior Ministry said Sinatra had been declared persona non grata because "Marriage on the Rocks," a film he produced and starred in, is "injurious and denigrating" to Mexico.

In Los Angeles, a spokesman for Sinatra denied a report he had been halted by Mexican authorities at Tijuana, on the California frontier. Sinatra had been reported planning an Easter vacation in Acapulco, where he owns property.

Prof Devises Own System Of Grading

Skin Rash Might Be Psychosomatic

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Are you good at repressing your emotions?

Dr. Joseph Reyher finds out by learning whether you give yourself a headache or rash in psychological experiments.

Reyher says his research findings back up psychologists' views that some headaches and other ailments come from pushing an uncomfortable emotion out of the conscious mind.

USES HYPNOTISM

Dr. Reyher, a Michigan State University associate professor, hypnotized persons and told them about a fictitious event in which they had been wronged and felt very angry. After they awakened, he reminded them of the supposed event.

Subjects who were good at repressing their anger, Dr. Reyher said, complained of headache, nausea, tiredness and other ailments. Some broke out in skin rashes.

"The subjects repressed their emotions," he explained, "because they were completely out of place and out of character."

Hot Wire Kills School Girl

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP)—A Dallas school girl was accidentally electrocuted Wednesday night while playing with two young Plainview boys on the Edgemere school grounds in Plainview.

Patricia Louise Hogan, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hogan, died at a Plainview hospital about two hours after the accident. The father is a Dallas consulting engineer.

Police said the girl, Skipper Vance, 10, and Davey Vance, 7, were playing when they saw a gopher run into a metal-irrigation pipe on the school grounds.

The three children in attempting to get the animal out of the pipe, raised a 36-foot section into the air high enough for it to strike a 7,200-volt power line.

Both boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Vance of Plainview, were injured by the shock.

House Democrat Group Balks At Vote Disclosures

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of western House Democrats has served notice they will not tell party leaders how individuals plan to vote on major legislation.

The decision to disclose to party whips only the numerical division within their ranks on pending bills was relayed to Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., in a letter from Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., spokesman for the group.

McCormack declined comment on the letter which said: "I wish to advise, Mr. Speaker, that the members of our zone are quite critical of the House leaders, especially with regard to the manner in which information obtained through the whip system is used."

The complaint is that the names of individuals and how they plan to vote have been leaked or otherwise furnished to lobbyists and others interested in the legislation involved.

Texas Solons On Foreign Junket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Texas Democrats are among 13 members of Congress on an expense-paid official trip to Australia during the Easter recess of Congress.

Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco and Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Austin were the Texans included. They were among six senators and seven representatives. Most were accompanied by their wives.

They are U.S. delegates to the spring meeting of the Interparliamentary Union in Canberra, Australia, April 11-16.

DeMolays Name Grand Master

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The International Supreme Council of the order of DeMolay chose financier Lee Lockwood of Waco, Tex., as grand master Wednesday and Dallas as its 1967 meeting site.

Lockwood succeeded Joseph S. Lewis, Oklahoma City attorney, as chief officer for the 100-member council. It serves as governing body for the DeMolay program for teenagers.

clans estimate that up to 60 per cent or more of their cases are psychosomatic — involving the mind.

TWO THEORIES

Dr. Reyher said his theory relating the type of ailment to the degree of repression modifies but does not necessarily contradict two widely held theories.

One of these relates a type of ailment to the type of repressed emotion, he said. The other theory, he added, is that the "weakest link" in a person's body is the one affected by repression.

night. Whether to relax under the spell of Jack Jones' singing and Milton Berle's comedy during the Jones' special on ABC or to take CBS "National Income Tax Test" and perhaps learn about some overlooked deductions.

With the income tax deadline less than 10 days away and with the spell of Jack Jones' singing tax forms and canceled checks all over the desk, it was no contest in this viewer's house. The income tax quiz won handily, as it probably did in the homes of many of the 22 million out of the 67 million taxpayers who have not yet mailed in their returns.

FIRE-QUERIES

Harry Reasoner was in his usual quizmaster's spot and propounded a total of 31 questions, ranging from well-known regulations to some obscure ones.

Presumably most taxpayers know that they cannot deduct any dollars passed out to panhandlers. But it may have been news to many that although a divorced man may deduct the cost of his alimony, he can not write off payments for the support of his children.

The program was broken into segments. One concentrated on exemptions, another on charitable contributions, another on deductible expenses and still another on deductions involving a home.

One of the most interesting sections posed questions about taxpayers in similar situations but treated differently under tax rules.

Another section showed the complicated automation by which millions of returns are processed and also attempted to dispel the widely held belief that once a return is audited, the taxpayer's returns will be flagged every successive year. Not true, said Internal Revenue Commissioner Sheldon Cohen.

CBS had given the test earlier to a sample audience so that individual viewers could grade themselves against a national average. The sample's average grade, out of a possible 93, was 54 — poor. Only four per cent received a rating of "excellent."

This was the fourth of the CBS quizzes and, by far, its best in terms of production.

Properties Left By Trujillo Turn Into Fiscal Monster

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Thanks to the greed of a dictator, the Dominican Republic owns or has a share in most of the country's important business activities. There is little left to nationalize.

This is the multimillion-dollar legacy accumulated by Rafael Leonidas Trujillo through an authority so absolute it was collected some sort of tribute from every Dominican, every day from birth to death.

FISCAL MONSTER
The estate has turned into a ravenous fiscal monster threatening to swallow up its new prises as those producing textiles, shoes, cordage, vegetable oils, furs, hides, cotton, salt and plasters. Also, a radio-television station.

The Trujillos were majority stockholders in plants manufacturing cigars, cigarettes, cocoa, cement, phonograph records, rum, wrapping paper, glass, flour, milk, paints, and in two large hardware stores, three auto stores and considerable real estate. Indirectly, they controlled the production of car batteries, an insurance company and tire recapping plant.

Among minority interests was the Santo Domingo Country Club.

Acquired by the government following the collapse of the Trujillo empire early in 1962, the once profitable properties were converted into several semi-autonomous state agencies that were soon flirting with bankruptcy.

The dynasty had operated smoothly and profitably under Trujillo because the dictator insured the fullest political control through a powerful military machine and private espionage apparatus. Peonage wages as low as 10 cents a day were paid. Strike was exclusively a baseball term. This allowed Trujillo, in 1960, to boast without contradiction that his country was one of the few in the world without an internal or external debt.

Four years later, administrative inexperience combined with political nepotism and corruption had gutted the empire and accumulated, as of Dec. 31, 1964, a public debt of $367.7 million.

One of the largest and most politically controversial of the state agencies is the Sugar Corporation. Its total indebtedness is officially estimated at about $70 million, excluding $12 million the corporation expects to lose this year.

Stores Reporting Textile Shortage

NEW YORK (AP) — In Missoula, Mont., a store hasn't had men's boxer shorts, size 34, for three weeks.

"We can't get them," said J. E. Meyer of Missoula Mercantile Store. "I couldn't believe it until I talked to the mill."

Meyer blames stepped-up military buying for the war in Viet Nam for his short supply of shorts.

TEXTILE SHORTAGE
Shortages of men's clothing and textiles — particularly sheets — are showing up in some stores across the country. Other stores, however, report no supply problems.

Some stores reporting shortages blame the demands of a soaring economy, some the New York City transit strike in January that cut production in the garment industry.

The National Retail Merchants Association issued a bulletin to its members last week, calling on stores to avoid excessive inventory buildups.

SOME "DISLOCATIONS"
Ely R. Callaway, executive vice president of Burlington Industries, Inc., said with the industry operating near capacity, further acceleration of military requirements would produce temporary dislocations in some civilian areas.

Joseph H. Cohen & Sons Inc., which makes men's suits and sport coats, said it has turned one of its eight shops in Philadelphia over to military production.

Col. Robert M. Ferrell, chief of the Defense Personnel Support Center's textile and clothing division, predicts that government apparel and textile demands may triple this year.

He estimates military expenditures for apparel and textiles will soar to between $50 million and $1 billion in the fiscal year ending June 30, the most since the Korean War.

YEAR EARLIER
In the previous year, Uncle Sam spent $320 million on textiles and clothing.

A nationwide Associated Press spot check of department and discount stores disclosed reports of shortages of sheets in Juneau, Alaska; men's work clothing in Atlanta, Ga.; shirts in Baltimore, Md.; men's blue jeans in Daisy, Tenn., and brushed denim pants in Helena, Mont.

Sheer wool suits were reported in short supply in Dallas, Tex.; textiles in St. Louis, Mo.; pillow cases in Cleveland, Ohio; men's cotton slacks in Honolulu, Hawaii; men's suits in New Orleans, La.; men's twills in suburban Phoenix, Ariz.; socks and underwear in Wichita, Kan., and men's clothing in Portland, Ore.

No supply problems were reported from stores checked in Chicago, Des Moines, Iowa; Detroit; Columbus, Ohio; Harrisburg, Pa.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Memphis, Tenn.; Miami, Fla.; Milwaukee, Wis.; New Haven, Conn.; Newark, N.J.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Philadelphia; Portland, Maine and Washington, D.C.

Food Prices May Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman predicted today food prices may decline by as much as 10 percent by the fall.

At ceremonies honoring department employees, Freeman said this about the outlook: "We expect average prices of all farm products to be 6 to 10 percent lower next fall and winter than they are today."

FARM PRODUCTS
Last week the secretary told newsmen the department expects "the average of prices of all farm products to be 6 percent or so lower in October-December than they are today."

If prices do fall by 10 percent, it would wipe out price gains made since April last year and would drop prices to around 74 percent of the parity price goal of federal farm programs. Prices reached 83 percent of parity by mid-February this year but eased off to 82 percent in mid-March.

PARITY STANDARD
Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

In advancing this new forecast, Freeman said retail food prices would diminish also if the food industry "will respond quickly to lower farm prices" but this will require "responsible action by the management of our food marketing firms."

Night Spots Still Flourish In Havana

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban capital isn't the wide-open tourist spot it used to be but many Cubans still enjoy themselves despite Communist control over virtually every facet of daily living.

Night clubs, high-class restaurants and bars do a thriving business. Movies are as popular as ever and increasing numbers of concerts, cultural events and sports activities draw big crowds.

There are also a number of low-life clubs — places where girls are liberal in their attentions to the male customer — and waterfront dives. Gambling, prostitution and abortion have been officially outlawed.

BIG FAVORITE
Havana's famous outdoor Tropicana is the strong favorite among the better cabarets, particularly on weekends. Other clubs doing big business are those at the big hotels, the Habana Libre (formerly Havana Hilton), Habana Riviera (formerly Hilton Riviera), the Capri and the Nacional.

They offer musical reviews with a lot of girls, risqué jokes, dining and dancing.

There is no cover charge as such; but the first drink (usually rum because no Western whiskey is imported) usually costs about three pesos (officially $3), with succeeding ones costing from 60 cents to a dollar.

ANNUAL CARNIVAL
Havana's annual carnival, spread out over five weekends, included a large assortment of elaborate, brightly lighted floats, Afro-Cuban bands, scantily clad dancing girls and rhythmic dance groups. There were huge turnouts in the old part of the city for the Saturday and Sunday parades and the almost nightly street dances.

Ballet, both classical and modern, has always been popular among the theater-going crowd. Other attractions are musical concerts, plays, exhibitions of everything from paintings to agricultural machinery, sports, writing and poetry contests and ceremonies commemorating birthdays or death days of revolutionary heroes.

The Soviet Union has a continuous shuttle of show business talent in here, including Moscow's Bolshoi Ballet. The Soviet Union also sends a large number of athletic teams to compete against the Cubans.

RED MOVIES
The bulk of the films are from Communist countries — with Spanish subtitles. Cuba has been trying to reach some sort of agreement with Mexico to resume its supply of Mexican movies, very popular here. Several old ones are still around.

Television has a mish-mash of programs, with amateur hours, documentaries, educational shows, ancient American and Mexican movies, filmed news programs and Castro speeches taking up most of the viewing time. There are two channels.

American-made animated cartoons, acquired before the Cuban-U.S. break, are favorites of both children and adults. Crowds of enraptured adults gather before television screens in hotel lobbies every afternoon to follow the adventures of Bugs Bunny, Porky Pig and Felix The Cat.

The diplomatic colony keeps busy attending its own functions, but there has been a decrease in the number of government people attending these parties of late. This is due to a sweeping purge and investigation of high-living, heavy drinking "false revolutionaries."

Price Hiked On Newsprint

DALLAS (AP) — Southland Paper Co. with headquarters at Lufkin, Tex., announced today a $5 a ton increase in the price of newsprint.

The company is a major supplier, particularly in the South. Until today, the price had been $135 a ton, Dick Wortham Jr., president, reported.

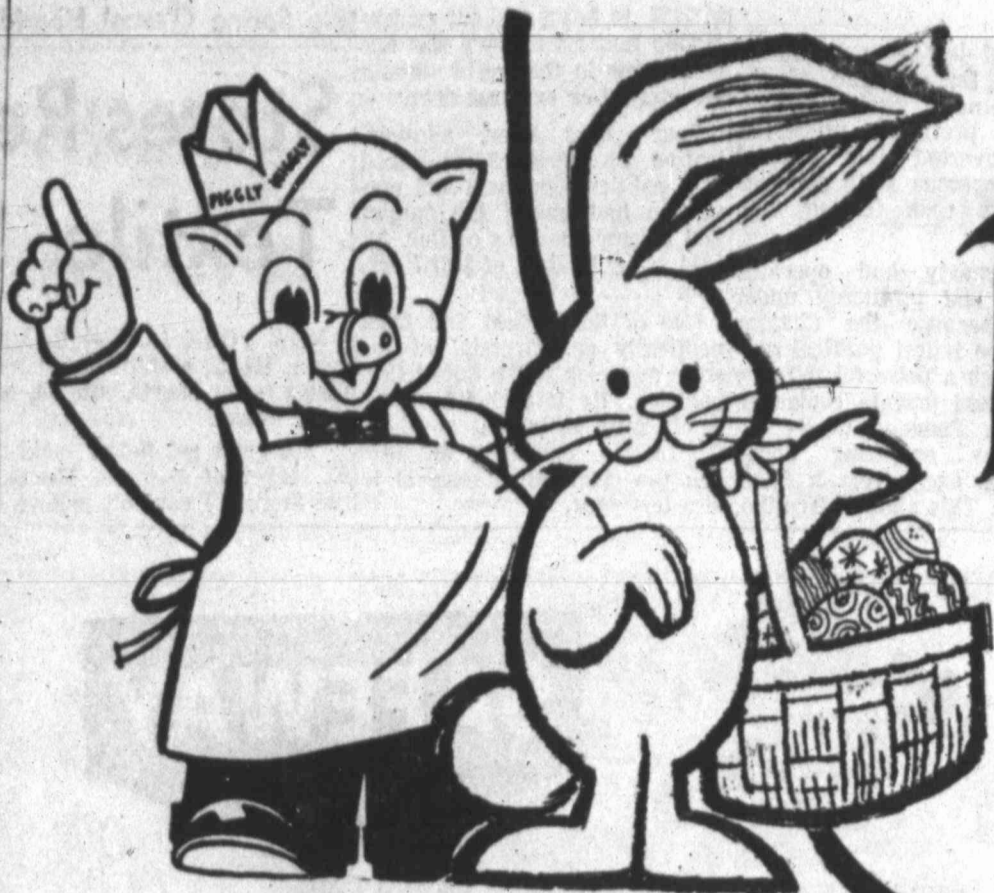

The announcement of the price increase was made directly to purchasers without a general public announcement.

Many major suppliers increased their prices $10 a ton recently, then cut the increase back to $5.

Soviets Catching West Coast Fish

NEWPORT, Ore. (AP) — A fishing association officer says huge Soviet trawlers are making big hauls of ocean perch off the central Oregon coast.

Cliff Hall, president of the Newport Dungeness Crab Association estimated the daily take at 300,000 pounds. "I think they are wiping out our fishery," Hall said.

Subway Crime Crackdown Cuts Offenses

NEW YORK (AP) — "Operation Crackdown," which put uniformed policemen in every subway and train, has cut major nighttime subway crime by 62.3 per cent in its first year, the Transit Authority says.

But the transit police say they are strained by the extra night work, and demand that the 2,722-member force be nearly doubled.

"Operation Crackdown" was launched one year ago today by the then Mayor Robert F. Wagner after a series of brutal subway murders, robberies and assaults.

HEAVY COST
He assigned a policeman to every train and station from 8 p.m. to 4 a.m. Because there weren't enough transit police to do the job then, 500 regular city policemen were temporarily assigned to subway duty. The cost was placed at $1.8 million per month, counting the off-day overtime required of 1,000 city police.

Since then, the transit police force has been beefed up, most recently by 612 new officers on March 15. The authority says "operation crackdown" is so effective it will be continued.

YOUTH MURDER
The case that launched the plan was the murder of Andrew Mormile, 17, on a subway train in Brooklyn in March, 1965. Half asleep, Mormile was awakened by another youth who demanded cigarettes and money, which Mormile gave him.

A second youth demanded the same, and when Mormile said he had no more, the youth stabbed him repeatedly.

At least 15 persons saw the murder, but it took police several days to locate any of them.

TOO LATE
Mormile lay dying only 15 feet from the enclosed motorman's cab at the front of the train, but the motorman was not informed of the stabbing until two stops later. It took him three more stations to find a transit patrolman, who called an ambulance, but the victim was dead when it arrived.

Within three months after "Operation Crackdown" got under way, the Transit Authority said serious crime was down 96 per cent. As the first anniversary neared, the authority reported 223 felonies had been committed at night compared to 588 the previous year. Including daytime hours, major crime was down 37.5 per cent.

Officials Face Crusty Issue

HOUSTON (AP) — Public Works Department officials have a crusty problem to solve.

Police janitor Charlie Mills sells homemade pies to policemen once a week at the downtown police station.

Mills' operations brought a complaint Wednesday from John Stein, who runs the police cafeteria and snack bar.

Stein said his pastry sales drop "severely" each Wednesday, the day Mills sells his pies.

Mills said he sells about 20 to 30 pies a week. The money, he said, helps him pay medical bills incurred by his invalid wife.

$$$ PROBLEMS
Stein said he is having financial problems meeting the $325 per month lease fee on his concession rights.

Mrs. Lillian Hall, administrative assistant to the public works director, said Stein's contract gives him sole privilege to the cafeteria and snack bar. But it says nothing about door-to-door sales.

Mills has been bringing his pies to the police station for three years.

He used to bring them every day until someone mentioned that his pie peddling might be interfering with his broom pushing. He then started bringing them on Wednesday, one of his two days off.

"NO PERMIT"
Stein said Mills needs a food handler's permit.

Bob Key, Health Department investigator, said Mills had a health card but no kitchen license. He said Mills is not eligible for the kitchen permit since the pies are made in his home.

Mills said he is out of the pie business until the legal problems are solved.

"We are looking into it," said Mrs. Hall, but she didn't say it would be as easy—well—as easy as pie.

Former Senate Aide, 77, Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leslie J. Biffle, former secretary of the U.S. Senate, died today of pneumonia at a Washington nursing home. He was 77.

A native of Piggott, Ark., Biffle served as a Senate employee and official for 44 years before he retired as secretary in 1952.

MRS. ROY E. DRINNEN

Panamanian Describes Dual Cooking Ways

By JO ANN PHINIZY

"In Panama, cooking is an all day and everyday affair," said Mrs. Roy E. Drinnen, 900 Douglas. "Here, except for special occasions, meals are almost secondary."

Mrs. Drinnen, who calls the Central American country "one of my homes," explained that the real difference is in tradition and in method.

Panamanians are geared to a slower pace, and the woman's world centers around the home and kitchen. In their cooking, they shop daily for fresh meat, vegetables and fruit. The meal preparation becomes a triumph in culinary art and the serving is almost brazen in its flash of color.

In America, the home freezer and canned food often hold the kitchen spotlight. The length of time spent on meal preparation depends on the cook's mood. Sometimes, she goes all out on a major display; other times, she takes all sorts of short cuts.

MORE TIME

In Mrs. Drinnen's opinion, there is no lost of taste between the two methods, and the American woman has the advantage of having more time for herself.

Mrs. Drinnen doesn't miss the meal pre-requisites of Panama. What she does miss is the abundance of tropical fruit.

Nothing, she says, can equal the mangoes, papayas or pineapple grown along the Isthmus. Chilled slightly, they are delicious and are served with all meals. Very often, the juice is mixed with blended rice and becomes a dessert drink. It's called Chica.

Another favorite fruit is plantain, a member of the banana family. The standard procedure is to cut them into chunks, and fry in deep hot oil until slightly brown; then it's removed from the oil, drained, mashed flat and sprinkled with salt. The plantain is fried again until it becomes golden brown and crisp.

Mrs. Drinnen says the same thing can be done with green bananas found in super markets.

"But American bananas give only a hint of the real taste," she said.

BARBECUE SAUCE

The most predominate taste Mrs. Drinnen has found in America is barbecue sauce, and she wishes it could be transported to Panama.

"Down there," she explained, we often charcoal meat, but it is eaten extremely rare so as not to lose the moisture. With barbecue sauce, the meat could be cooked longer and still keep the flavor."

Sgt. and Mrs. Drinnen moved to Big Spring seven years ago and Mrs. Drinnen believes she and her family have the best of two worlds.

"We are not confined to any single culture," she said. "Instead, we have a wide range of interests and enjoy all kinds of food; except for five-year-old Roy Jr. He currently believes that all meals should start and stop with chocolate cake."

Mrs. Drinnen selected recipes that are typical of her country and that have been converted to American ingredients.

Pour into bowl and cool slowly. If desired serve over sponge cake squares. Serves six to eight.

Cheese Spread

Although brandy or sherry are often added to a cheese spread, you can also use sauternes.

CENTURIES OLD

Easter Time Customs Have Traditional Tale

In the second half of the nineteenth century, candy eggs began to appear in the Easter picture. Two master confectioners of Lancaster, Pennsylvania—Joseph Huber and Joe Royer are credited with making the first candy eggs. Records of the mid 1800's indicate that some of the first candy eggs were sold in Royers' Confectionery Store located on West King Street in Lancaster, Pa. Today, candy eggs of the cream and chocolate type are just as much an Easter custom as the beautifully colored hard-cooked variety.

The custom of eating eggs on Easter Sunday, and of giving them as gifts—to friends and children—probably arose because in the very early years of the church, eggs were forbidden during Lent. Therefore, they were always eaten on Easter Sunday.

EATING EGGS

The ancient Egyptians and Persians regarded the egg as a symbol of fertility and renewed life. They practiced the custom of coloring and eating eggs during their Spring festivals.

The Jews adopted the egg as a symbol of their departure from the land of Egypt. It was, and still is, used as part of the Passover ritual.

The Christians interpreted the significance of the egg as a symbol of resurrection or renewed life.

It is said that the Phoenicians who got much of their mythology from the Egyptians, applied the egg to heaven and earth. Since the Phoenicians were probably the greatest sailors in the world, they probably took the egg tradition over those parts of the world that were known in their time. It is further speculated, that the Gauls who traded with the Phoenician sailors adopted the egg symbol from them and gave it to the inhabitants of Britain. The egg also holds an important place in Chinese, Hindu and Hawaiian mythology.

Eggs payable at Easter were said to be the usual part of rent due from tenants under ecclesiastical lords. An ancient record dated 1262 indicates that 24 customary tenants and cottagers of the Manor of Saper-ton in Gloucestershire, England, gave to the Lord of the Manor five eggs each . . . at Easter.

DECORATED EGGS

The monks of old, decorated Easter eggs with rich designs. The gorgeous eggs after being blessed were eaten with great ceremony.

A vogue in practice as late as 1700 in England—Egg shells were cut in half, cleaned and lined with gold leaf, after which small figures were placed inside and out—eggs were secured with ribbons, given as gifts and retained as souvenirs.

Like the Easter egg, the Easter hare (or rabbit as we know it) came to us from antiquity. In the legends of ancient Egypt, (and other peoples) the hare or rabbit is associated with the moon. It belongs to the night, since it is only then that the hare comes out to feed.

GLAZED HAM
Traditional dinner

Easter Ham Takes Center Attraction

Is baked ham the center of attraction each Easter at your house? Give it a bright new sparkle at this year's traditional family dinner.

It's the canned condensed soup on the pantry shelf that is responsible for this new flavor for the old favorite. Condensed consommé makes the perfect base for a mouth-watering glaze for the ham.

GLAZED EASTER HAM

10 to 12 pound ready-to-eat

whole ham
1 can (10 1/2 ozs.) condensed consommé
1 jar (12 ozs.) pineapple preserves
1 tbsp. lemon juice
Place ham in shallow baking pan; bake at 325 degrees for 1 1/2 hours. Meanwhile, in saucepan, combine remaining ingredients; bring to boil. Simmer 10 minutes; stir now and then. Baste ham with sauce. Bake ham 1 hour longer, basting with sauce every 15 minutes.

Egg Shells Need Art In Design

The custom of decorating and dyeing eggs differs slightly from region to region. However, here are a few simple basic rules:

Select blue, green, red, yellow of pure food coloring (or purchase Easter egg colors.)

Use a separate glass, cup or small bowl for each color.

Cook eggs for 12 - 15 minutes; remove from heat. Color while hot for best results. Let egg stand in color until desired shade is obtained.

Follow manufacturer's directions closely when using decals, special pencils or other materials for decorating eggs.

Perle Mesta Tells Party Giving Rules

Perle Mesta, former Ambassador to Luxembourg, is acknowledged queen of the Washington hostesses. She is probably the most famed party-giver of our time, and was the subject for the highly entertaining and successful musical "Call Me Madam."

There are countless recipes for chicken and, indeed, this versatile bird lends itself to experiment and invention.

It is a wonder we are so often faced with plain old fried chicken (which can be as horrible as it can be delectable), when there are literally thousands of other ways to present it.

Mrs. Mesta's version is one of the most exciting in the lexicon of chicken cookery and can be the base upon which is built a formidable formal dinner, though it is also so little trouble to prepare that it can easily become a family standby.

Steamed asparagus or zucchini tossed in butter makes a perfect accompaniment.

The wine to go with this dish should be a robust one—a white burgundy, which has the body to go along with the piquant flavor of the chicken itself, would be just right.

Cold artichoke hearts in vinaigrette make a fine salad.

to bone the meat if you wish to, letting it cool enough to handle first, of course.

Mix two tablespoons of flour, a quarter-teaspoon of salt with a dash of ginger, and an eighth-teaspoon of cinnamon and blend into the pan with the drippings to make a smooth paste. Stir constantly and don't let it burn.

Now add 1 1/2 cups of orange juice and stir without letup until the sauce bubbles and thickens.

Return the chicken, boned or not as you like, to the sauce along with a half-cup of slivered and blanched almonds and a half-cup of seedless raisins.

Stir well to mix, cover, and cook over low heat about 45 minutes, or until the chicken is fork-tender.

Just before serving add a cup of fresh orange sections and heat through, then serve on a bed of rice.

Spoon some of the sauce over each serving and have the rest ready in a sauce boat.

A Devotional For The Day

"Look and see if there is any sorrow like my sorrow which was brought upon me." (Lamentations 1:12, RSV)
PRAYER: Lord Jesus, we worship Thee for Thine infinite love and obedience to the Father. Accept our hearts and lives as our meager gratitude for Thy sufferings. Give us grace to be wholly Thine in life and death, and to pray, as Thou hast taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

China Worried About The Young Folk

With the exceptions perhaps only proving the rule, the average father years to see a likeness of himself in his son, a likeness of mind rather than a physical one.

Hence it is easy to understand why Mao Tse-tung, the father and the "father image" of Red China, should want the youth of China to share his vision of man. He is not without his doubts, though. He has confided to some visitors that he was afraid that the new generation, with no conception of the agony of the Long March, may be too lacking in resolution, too tempted by thoughts of an easier life, to preserve the militancy and the dedication to the state that is required of true Marxist-Leninist gospel as revealed by Mao.

This fear is undoubtedly shared by his contemporaries, the hierarchy which with few exceptions represents the generation of the Long March. Perhaps even without the urging of Mao, but merely reflecting their own disquietude, the Chinese leadership cultivates vigorously the cult of the personality of Mao.

A Chinese Communist soldier and a Chinese Communist farmer, whether or not they are members of the Communist Party, go into battle or work with the hoe with a copy of "The Selected Works of Mao Tse-tung."

"Never in history have any writings been read with such enthusiasm and alertness by broad masses of working people of China," the official Chinese press agency, Hsinhua, reported.

That, to borrow a British saying, is just a bit thick. It's about like expecting the American people to read with enthusiasm and alertness the works of Gertrude Stein. Hsinhua gets as carried away as some Madison Avenue copy writers.

There's something to be said for trying to read Mao Tse-tung's selected works with enthusiasm and alertness after the Central South Bureau of the Communist Party's Central committee announced the launching of a movement for studying Mao's works.

"More exacting demands must be imposed on cadres," the bureau agreed in a published resolution. "Over the next three years all cadres must take part in 'Socialist education'—the current term for indoctrination in general. 'In the storm of class struggle they should systematically study Chairman Mao's works with the rectification spirit and in relation to reality.'"

This sounds like the modern equivalent of the dog team driver: Mush, comrades, mush—or else.

Twisted World Scene Has Mixed Blessings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Things got twisted in a quarter of a century.

Just a little over 20 years ago, after the war, Russia under Stalin was a menace to the world, practically hissing at the West. Now it's talking sweet reasonableness and accusing the United States of aggression in Viet Nam.

In the 13 years since his death, Stalin, hero of the Communist world for decades, has been so established in the Russian people's mind by his successor, Premier Khrushchev, as a maniacal nut, that Khrushchev's successors have begun to think it necessary to make Stalin look halfway decent at least.

AFTER WORLD War II China, limp and split by civil war, was aided by billions of American dollars. Now a Communist stronghold, it hates the United States and has become so arrogant and aggressive that it is accusing its big Communist neighbor, Russia, of being reactionary.

Worse still, China, a helpless giant for centuries, has become a menace both to Russia and its Asian neighbors.

The United States, struggling after the war to get its economy going in the midst of gigantic strikes and tottering price controls, now has an overheated economy, so much so that the Johnson administration is considering a tax boost to combat inflation.

THE UNITED STATES alone after the war had the atomic bomb. But gradually Russia, Britain, France and even Red China got into the nuclear act with an embarrassing effect on long-range bomber planes.

Now the bomber is becoming obsolete to a great extent as nuclear missiles replace it for the long range dirty work.

Germany, which was the worst fascist state in history, has undergone an almost fantastic transformation. East Germany is Communist and West Germany, highly democratic, is dripping with prosperity although it was in ruins at war's end.

French President Charles de Gaulle, who never could have returned to France and power if it had not been for the Western Allies, is now withdrawing from the Atlantic alliance, a tactic which is supposed to be gesture of French pride and independence.

THE VIETNAMESE were under the heel of France until 1954 when the French, defeated by the Communists, had to pull out, leaving it to the United States to help the South Vietnamese who were not Communist.

Meanwhile in the same quarter of a century the great colonial powers have had to disgorge almost all their colonies, letting them have freedom and independence, which looks like a pair of mixed blessings in some of the new nations. South Viet Nam is a good example.

The Vietnam were under the heel of France until 1954 when the French, defeated by the Communists, had to pull out, leaving it to the United States to help the South Vietnamese who were not Communist.

Everyone Goes To Church

ASHLAND, Va. (AP) — Friday, at the busiest hour of the busiest day of the week, all the wheels stop turning in this little college town in the Hanover County countryside 12 miles north of Richmond.

At the stroke of noon, every store, bank, office, will close its doors. Housewives will desert their kitchens. Students and faculty, at Randolph-Macon College, will suspend classes.

And, because it's Good Friday—the sacred commemoration of Christ's crucifixion—everyone will go to church.

THE WORSHIP at Duncan Memorial Methodist Church, which also is the Randolph-Macon chapel, lasts until 1 p.m. Then the normal hustle and bustle of Friday business will resume.

It's been that way in this town of 3,000 since 1964, when the Ashland Ministerial Association won unanimous consent from the business community for its experiment.

Thus, there grew the idea of a one-house service, with prominent preachers from outside the community, which everyone might attend.

Its success hinged on the ability of people to get to the church for 60 minutes.

The chamber of commerce balked at closing businesses at first.

SO DID Ashland's only Jewish business owner.

Randolph-Macon agreed to suspend its classes from noon to 1 p.m. on each Good Friday. One by one, the local businesses fell in line as community pressure rose.

Only the Duncan Memorial Church now is big enough to accommodate the crowd that turns out for the Good Friday service. This year, the speaker will be the Rev. Zeh Holler, a Presbyterian minister working toward his doctorate at Richmond's Union Theological Seminary.

And all around town, the wheels of commerce will stop spinning while he talks.

Rights Of Mental Patients Closely Guarded

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Yesterday we described the various methods by which a mental patient can be hospitalized under the new mental health law in New York State. Today let's consider safeguards against any possible abuse of hospitalization.

Relatives or enemies can't "put a patient away" because the judgment has to be made by physicians.

Further, a new agency, the Mental Health Information Service, has been set up. This does not mean public information. Rather, the service is similar to a probation department, working under legal authority but charged with protecting both the public's rights and the patient's.

It must inform patients of their rights, must inform parents, relatives or guardians. It is mandatory that the service be notified in writing of the admission of patients. (Written notice to a relative or relatives also is mandatory.)

A voluntary patient must, under the law, be examined at least every 120 days. In the case of a certificated patient who doesn't want to stay when doctors think he should, the director of the hospital then must notify all concerned—patient, relatives and Information Service—that authorization will be asked in a court of record for permission to keep the patient six months. Patient or relatives can ask for a court hearing if they wish. Rehearing and review is available if requested. In the ultimate dispute, the patient or relatives can choose between a jury hearing or hearing before a judge.

In short, it is specified in the law that no patient can be hospitalized and then forgotten. He MUST be examined periodically. He and relatives must be kept aware of his rights. The Mental Health Information Service, which is a brand new idea in this field, is charged with seeing that rights are respected.

The new law has been thoughtfully described by many experts as a "landmark" in the public attitude toward mental illness, and I thoroughly agree. Other states are in various stages of studying or planning to adopt similar legislation. Perhaps improvements can be devised. I wouldn't venture a guess this soon.

But it is a tremendous step forward when we have come to the considered conclusion that mental patients are sick people, and need care, not necessarily incarceration, and for the most part are not dangerous to anyone but themselves.

I, for one, envisage the time when all states will have this more humane and sensible attitude written into law.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for menopause to begin with sudden stopping of all periods, or is it always a matter of gradual tapering off of periods? I will soon be 49 and have missed some periods, but do not feel pregnant. — MRS. J. E. B.

Any number of patterns occur: Abrupt and permanent cessation of periods; abrupt cessation but recurring later; sporadic missing of periods; more frequent periods and more prolonged—this only begins to list the possibilities. At your age, and since your menstrual cycles have continued until recently, pregnancy is possible although not very likely. You should, to be certain, have your doctor check to see whether you are pregnant.

Around The Rim

Part But Not All The Answer

Sen. Thomas Dodd's so-called "anti-firearms bill" will probably be much in the news in weeks to come. It is now making the rounds of various congressional committees and the details have not been announced.

With this bill in mind, and for what they may be worth:

DURING 1964, the homicide rate in New York City was 6.1 per 100,000 population, while in Milwaukee, the rate was only 2.6. (These are FBI figures.) New York has some of the most restrictive laws in the nation on guns, while Milwaukee has only moderate legislation on the subject.

In the Manhattan precinct of New York City, the police force was heavily increased in a four month test period, with these results — the number of felonies dropped 55 per cent, robberies decreased 70 per cent, burglaries fell 65 per cent, street muggings dropped 90 per cent. There was no change in the gun laws during the test period.

PHILADELPHIA, which has the severest gun laws of any American city, had the fifth largest crime increase of any major city in the nation in 1965. (FBI figures.) At the same time, crime increased 3.1 per cent, and homicides were up nine per cent. Chicago has not changed its gun-laws, but has stepped up to a modern communications system and improved its mobile police force. In February-March of this year, the city could boast a 6.7 per cent drop in crime.

THESE fragmentary reports would indicate that control of firearms is not the only answer to a reduced crime rate — and more, that other methods may be as effective.

At any rate, the ease with which firearms may be purchased through mail order by juveniles and others not necessarily responsible, should be under some kind of control. Insofar as Sen. Dodd's bill is aimed in this direction, his legislation could not be too far out of line. The sportsmen, who are mounting the most opposition to any new gun legislation, undoubtedly can see some value in seeing that only guns are not sold to unknowns who plan unknown use of the weapons.

IT'S DOUBTFUL that any control legislation need be excessively strict. But surely no constitutional rights are involved in knowing who has a gun, and what kind it is. Such information is provided daily for automobiles, why not guns?

The Justices Read Books

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court got itself into a peck of trouble a few weeks ago when it decided several obscenity cases, some for and some against the prurient interests of the United States.

In one case the Justices upheld the conviction of Ralph Ginzburg from publishing and advertising pornography; in another they ruled that "Fanny Hill," a pornographic novel of the 18th century had some "redeeming social value"; and in a third, they upheld the conviction of a man named Mishkin for selling dirty books. While the Supreme Court did not resolve any of the problems of obscenity, they fixed it so each piece of pornography would be to be judged on its merits, and this will require a great deal of outside reading.

LET US GO go the dining room of the Supreme Court where the Supreme Court Justices are having lunch.

One of the Justices says to the other, "I read 'Lashed, Whipped and Abandoned' last night."

"Oh, how was it?"

"It had no literary merit, though I must say it had some redeeming social value at the end. The girl finally joins the Peace Corps."

ANOTHER JUSTICE says, "I read 'Raped, Warped and Wanton,' which I found patently offensive. It was nothing but a series of erotic scenes, tied together by a man who is trying to stop urban renewal in his neighborhood."

"Do you think it has any value to the community?"

"It depends how you feel about urban renewal."

"I really got stuck with a dog last night," another one of the Justices said. "It was titled 'Sinner, Sin Once More.'"

"Did it appeal to your prurient interests?"

"It certainly did. I could hardly put it down."

"WELL, WE'LL have to do something about that book. May I have it next?"

"Somebody else has asked for it. I think you're fourth in line."

"If you let me read it tonight, I'll let you have the one I just finished, 'Nude Interlude.'"

"Is it obscene according to the Roth Decision of 1957?"

"It goes far beyond the Roth decision, at least as far as the dominant theme is concerned."

"ALL RIGHT, I'll trade you. I was going to read 'Lost in Sodomy' tonight, but I found the advertising on the back cover very dull."

"Have you seen the new advertising campaign for 'Don Quixote'?"

"No, do you think we've got a case there?"

"I should hope so. Don Quixote is shown attacking a windmill which is in the shape of a bare-breasted woman."

"And what is Sancho Panza doing?"

"HE'S PROTECTING the windmill. The whole thing has the feel of a sensualist to it. The campaign is a disgrace to the community."

"Who wrote it?"

"Miguel de Cervantes."

"Is he on appeal?"

"Not yet. But I believe they're going after him in Oklahoma."

Steel For Our Enemies

WASHINGTON — Dr. W. A. Menne, a West German industrialist and politician, is a heavy-set, bespectacled, gruff and arbitrary personality who, 20-some years ago, might well have served as a cartoonist's model for a Herrenvolk arms manufacturer — a merchant of death.

HE ARRIVED recently in Washington in somewhat that capacity, despite the fact that a high-frequency word in his conversation was "peace." Dr. Menne was here to tell the State and Commerce Departments, and later the press, why his country was the leader in a European consortium to build a $150 million dollar steel enterprise in Red China.

Right away he began to explain that the steel products which the rolling mills would produce were "peaceful" goods, that they would not increase China's steel capacity at all, that it was the consortium's desire for the Chinese Communists to have a "higher living standard" and that if German merchants and government hadn't done this, "somebody else would have."

IN ORDER to keep the "peace" theme rolling, and to dub in some humanitarian and loyalist overtones, Dr. Menne declared that the German Federal Republic had just opened a world-wide "peace offensive" — the first that his country had ever undertaken. West Germany, he said, was sending ambulances and medical supplies to South Viet Nam. Naturally, he declared, if the United States were in a "formal war" in Southeast Asia, his country "would do as much as you are doing for us."

WHAT WE'RE doing, and have done for many years, to protect West Germany from Communist aggression is to station five American divisions there. During that period, we've also been fighting communism both in Korea and Viet Nam, to say nothing of running the Berlin Blockade and patrolling the Formosa Strait.

Under the circumstances it didn't make very good listening to hear this trader with Red China and member of the Bonn parliament explain how harmless the steel products of the European-financed rolling mills were going to be in China. The sheet metal they make, you see, he said, are 10-mm. gauge and really intended to be processed into food cans and automobile fenders. They might make

Red Chinese Army jeeps and maybe soldier helmets, but they'd never be any good for armor or ships. When somebody asked him about bombs, he dismissed the question: "I'm not a bomb-maker."

"THEY DID NOT express happiness," said Dr. Menne with heavy Teutonic humor when asked how American officials felt about this steel-for-communism enterprise.

It's a good guess that the American people wouldn't "express happiness," either, not with these European traders over whom we have no control, much less with our own government's passivity in this matter.

What's a foreign policy for if it can't prevent allies from supplying steel to our enemies?

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The New York Stock Exchange, still in a huff over Mayor Lindsay's threat to raise its taxes, is intensifying its search for a building site away from the city. A likely prospect at the moment is a move from Wall Street to New Jersey, with Weehawken and Hoboken prime candidates among the bidding cities.

Eventually, we suppose, the investors and speculators could get used to the idea of trading on the Hoboken exchange, or even Weehawken, after they learned to spell the name. But a lot of images will be sold short if it comes to that.

Think of the tons of propaganda ground out against Wall Street by Communists and various breeds of pinkos everywhere. Can things ever be the same if widows and orphans are "victimized" by Hoboken? Will it be effective to label American diplomats the "tools of Weehawken"? Somehow, neither seems very sinister.

Actually, the New York exchange came close to another image problem even before a move to New Jersey was contemplated. It had planned to build a new $50,000,000 building near its present site. That plan, now dropped, would have shifted the street address of the exchange from Wall to Broad. Heaven knows what the Communists could have made of that.

Needs Clarifying

The Senate agriculture committee has before it a measure sent up from the House of Representatives which would require that $1 be assessed each bale of cotton for research and promotion purposes.

None will argue that cotton needs vastly more research, and even more promotion in order to hold even its present dwindling share of the fibre market.

The measure has some provision for the producer recovering his $1 per bale if he so desires for any reason, but the process is cumbersome and circuitous.

Before the Senate gives this measure its blessing, it should protect the producer's right not to participate. He ought to participate for his own good—but he just as surely must have the right not to participate if he does not want to.

The Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON — Many people are doubtless wondering why the federal courts ordered the railroad strikers to get back to work or face a big fine. The general impression has always been that the right to strike is unlimited.

But the basis on which the court ruled had nothing to do with the merits of the strike itself. It was entirely concerned with the fact that Congress had passed a law setting forth a specific procedure to be followed before a strike would be legal. Leaders of the railroad firemen ignored the various steps that had to be taken and ordered the workers to strike anyhow.

THE PROBLEM is important because there is a growing demand for action by Congress to protect the public interest. There is also a feeling on the part of many people that Congress should go further than heretofore and should spell out certain limitations on the right to strike, particularly when financial and property damage to the public can be considerable.

Congress thus far has provided only two statutes. One is known as the Taft-Hartley Act. It provides an 80-day "cooling off" period and applies to major industries but not to certain transportation facilities.

THE OTHER law is the Railway Labor Act, under which organizations of workers employed by railroads and airlines must go through specific procedures which take at least 90 days. Any strike called prior to the completion of the procedures can be declared illegal. That is why Judge Alexander Holtzoff of the U.S. District Court in Washington ordered that the strike against the railroads be terminated at noon last Sunday. Court officials say a fine of at least $25,000 will have to be paid by the union for the delay in ending the strike.

WHEN THE railroad unions threatened a nationwide strike in 1963 as a result of a dispute over "featherbedding," Congress took a hand. It passed a special law requiring that the controversy over work rules be submitted to a binding arbitration. This law said that the arbitration award would expire in two years. The expiration date was March 31 of this year, and the firemen's union strike began on that day.

The unions thought that, because they had selected only a few railroads to strike against, there would not be a national emergency and Congress would regard the strike against the eight railroads as a more or less routine affair.

JUDGE HOLTZOFF told the lawyers for the union that the Supreme Court had frowned on strikes called without letting those procedures be carried out which are specified in the law.

Because the union failed to utilize the machinery of the Railway Labor Act, refused to wait until an emergency board had reported, and didn't permit a cooling-off period of another month, the federal court had the right to find the union in contempt.

IF IT TURNS out that labor unions can call an illegal strike and use as a weapon the refusal to settle until the employer agrees not to sue for damages, then there would be no limit or restraint upon the amount of losses that could be incurred by the public, especially in a nationwide strike.

While one union may call a strike affecting its own members, other unions respect the picket lines and thus become themselves parties to the strike indirectly, though they feel they have no responsibility for damages inflicted. Congress has never examined carefully what restrictions ought to be imposed and what damage suits ought to be permitted when picket lines are set up, whereupon workers who have no grievances at all participate in damaging an employer as well as the public.

Rights Protection Sought For POWs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A small group of southern New Jersey lawyers expressed optimism today on its efforts to protect the legal rights of the more than 60 Americans taken prisoner by the North Vietnamese.

Patrick T. McGahn Jr., an Atlantic City lawyer who founded and heads the Society for the Defense of American Prisoners in North Viet Nam, said its proposal was being forwarded to Ho Chi Minh, president of North Viet Nam.

"After many weeks of waiting," McGahn said in an interview, "we have just received word that our proposal has been forwarded to Viet Nam through the embassy of the United Arab Republic."

SEE HEADWAY
 "We have been trying to get through, and at times things looked quite black, but it appears now we are making some headway."
 The UAR Embassy in Washington notified the society Wednesday it was forwarding the group's plea to Cairo in order to send it to North Viet Nam through diplomatic channels.

McGahn's proposal to Ho Chi Minh asks for permission to allow the society to visit Hanoi to discuss the terms of the 1949 Geneva Convention regarding prisoners held by a detaining power.

"We hope that we might be afforded the opportunity to visit American prisoners who are being detained by your government," the proposal asserts.

"I'll be satisfied if they will tell me there is no need to go because they intend to abide by the Geneva Convention," McGahn said. He was in Washington the past few days working on his project.

NEED COUNSEL
 "But only recently, Nguyen Xuan, the North Viet Nam ambassador to Egypt, said in Cairo Americans will be treated like criminals," he said. "If that's going to happen I think they're entitled to be properly represented. I'd hate to see 60 coffins come back to the United States simply because no one offered

Carrot Growers Will Terminate U.S. Regulation

DALLAS (AP)—South Texas carrot growers have voted to end federal regulation of their crop, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said Wednesday.

Sixty-two per cent of producers voting in a March 31-April 4 referendum favored ending the program while 38 per cent wanted it continued, said the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

The South Texas Carrot Committee which administers the program had asked for the election.

Officials said details of the termination will be announced later.
