Farm Chief Maps Reply To Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman prepared today a reply to criticism by farm leaders of the effect administration anti-inflation policies are having on farm prices.

Those prices appear likely to develop into issues in the coming congressional elections, particularly in farming areas.

WHIPPING BOY A number of farm leaders in and out of Congress have contended the administration is attempting to make the farmer the whipping boy of the inflation battle.

Freeman asserted that despite administration efforts to halt rising food and farm prices, farmers can expect a total net income this year somewhat above last year's $14.1 billion.

STIRS CRITICISM Administration actions which have evoked farm criticism include a prediction by Freeman last week that farm prices would decline possibly as much as 10 per cent by the end of the year.

This forecast came shortly after the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported the cost of living had increased rather sharply in February, largely on the basis of increases in the prices of some foods.

GRAIN SALES Some farm leaders also have expressed displeasure with government sales of grain to keep prices from rising, with increases in import quotas on cheese to check rising prices of that dairy product and with a Defense Department order reducing pork purchases for servicemen in this country by half for a six-month period.

Freeman is said to have told farm leaders that the problem of halting inflation is most critical and he appealed for farm support for administration efforts on the basis of national welfare.

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) - Hysteria flamed through the Arab crowd as swordsmen butchered two camels at the edge of the road and an ivory-hued Rolls Royce glided past with two kings aboard.

To Western tourists who watched the crowds ripping the camels apart and saw the hooded and robed figures of the royal entourage stride into Amman's only luxury hotel the scene was just a splash of local color.

But to Arab leaders, the recent visit of King Faisal of Saudi Arabia for talks with Jordan's King Hussein may prove to be a major event in the Middle East.

IN SPOTLIGHT The week-long meetings put the spotlight on royalty in a revolutionary region where many consider kings outdated.

Essentially the discussions between Faisal, 62-year-old desert fighter turned king, and Hussein, a 30-year-old Sandhurst-trained sovereign, were part of what appears to be a rallying of conservative forces amid a leftward march of the Middle East.

As a side issue, the regal welcome given Faisal - jet escorts, kingly kisses on both cheeks, the slaughter of camels, bodyguards of crimson-coated lancers - eclipsed the historic enmity between two royal houses that once were mortal enemies.

DRIVEN OUT It was 1924 when the fanatically savage desert warriors of Faisal's father drove Hussein's Hashemite ancestors - descendants of the Prophet Mohammed - out of the holy cities of Mecca and Medina and out of Arabia.

And it was the hawk-faced Faisal himself - then a Bedouin youngster more accustomed to the rifle and the camel saddle than to statesmanship - who signed the proclamation before the attack, denouncing Hussein's great-grandfather as a disgrace to Islam, unfit to be Caliph or Guardian of the Holy City.

The feud between the Saudis and the Hashemites was staged across the sweeping scene of Middle East history, and some of history's most arresting figures came onstage for brief roles.

Lawrence of Arabia, leading the Hashemites in the Arab revolt with evasive British promises that Hussein's great-grandfather, the Grand Sherif of Mecca, would be king of an independent Arabia; Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill grandly inventing frontiers, endorsing the Sherif's son Abdullah as ruler of Transjordan and then nonchalantly setting up Jerusalem; and King Abdul Aziz Ibn Saud himself, Faisal's father, an illiterate but ingenious religious reformer who married 300 wives, led his puritanical Wahhabi tribesmen by the sword and hacked out an oil kingdom four times the size of France.

Texas Seen Drying Out After Rains

Calmer weather returned today with a promise of drying for many parts of Texas drenched by Wednesday's soaking and occasionally violent thunderstorms.

There was still a little light drizzle around Brownsville and other spots along the coast. Clouds overhung most of the southern half of the state while it was clear in the north.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the lows 40s in the Panhandle up to the 60s in the south.

Another rather cool night was expected in South Texas. Temperatures already were starting to rise elsewhere in the wake of the cool front bringing rains.

By SAM BLACKBURN Howard County's 1966 Spelling Champion will be determined Saturday when the 15 school champions of the county compete for the title at 10 a.m.

The arena will be the Big Spring High School Cafeteria. The Herald is sponsor of this Fourth Annual Howard County Spelling Bee. Winner gets a free trip to Lubbock on April 30 for himself and his family, and a chance to try for the regional spelling bee championship.

Should he win that, he will get a free trip for himself and his family to Washington in June, along with an assortment of other valuable prizes.

PRONOUNCER Pronouncer this year will be Mrs. O. T. Brewster. She will use words selected from the official spelling bee list, "Words of Champions."

Sitting as judges for the bee will be Ralph Caton, judge of 118th District Court; Maj. Benjamin Meacham, chaplain at Webb AFB, and the Rev. Clyde Campbell, pastor of Crestwood Baptist Church.

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, is chairman of the spelling bee and will introduce the 15 school champions and their alternates.

Winner of the county championship here will receive an attractive plaque on which will be engraved his name as a memento of his achievement.

To present the trophy to the winner will be Don Hickson, who was the 1964 and the 1965 Howard County Spelling Champion and the 1965 Regional Spelling Champion.

Each of the 15 school champions will be given a special Paper Mate pen and a blue ribbon.

All parents and friends of the school champions are invited to attend the spelling bee Saturday morning.

VETERANS Several of the young school champions are veterans of the 1965 spelling bee. Others are making their first appearance in the lists.

The 15 champions include eight girls and seven boys. By coincidence, the 15 alternates are divided exactly the same way.

Alternates will be permitted to compete only if the school champion is not present and cannot appear. It was reported earlier this week that some of the champions were ill with the flu. However, no official notice of any withdrawal has been received by the committee. It is assumed the champions will all be on hand for the bee.

The schools to be represented, with their champions and alternates are:

Airport: Sandra Camp, 9, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. George T. Camp, 1313 Lindberg; alternate, Clarice Ringener, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Ringener, 1502 Chickasaw.

Pete Court Dies Of Crash Injuries

Pete Roy Court, 22, 1400 E. 6th, died today at 8:55 a.m. as result of injuries he suffered in a novel traffic mishap a week ago.

His death is the fourth on county roads and ninth for the county and city for the current year. The last fatal accident in the county was on Feb. 20 and took the life of Ernest Gene Heckler.

However, another traffic death occurred on March 14 when wreck injuries suffered by Robert Van Appleton, 19, caused his death. The accident in which he was hurt was on Jan. 24.

Court suffered a broken neck and was left completely paralyzed and unconscious when the towed car in which he was riding rolled off the road at IS 20 and the Moss Creek Road intersection on April 7.

The car in which Court was a passenger flipped over landing with its hood on top of the trunk of the car which was doing the towing.

Court was taken to the Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital, where he was placed in an iron lung supplied by the Big Spring Fire Department. He remained in the iron lung until his death Monday at 10 a.m. in the Nalley - Pickle Rosewood Chapel.

The Rev. Roy Honea, Grace Baptist Church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Jarrell Sharp, Wesley Memorial Methodist Church. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Henry Ford Defends Car Industry Policies

WOODHAVEN, Mich. (AP)—Henry Ford II said today the auto industry is being subjected to unwarranted attacks from all sides on the question of auto safety.

Ford, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., departed from his prepared remarks at the dedication of a new $100 million stamping plant in this Detroit suburb to make a strong defense of industry policies.

"When 50,000 people a year are killed in auto accidents that is a bad situation," he said, "but no one can say we are not interested in auto safety. We have always built safe cars, but that is not to say we cannot make them safer and we are trying to do so."

Ford centered much of his fire on industry critic Ralph Nader, who told a Senate committee Thursday that the Volkswagen had some safety problems as well as domestic cars.

"If he is that good an engineer we have some jobs here and I'll be glad to give him one, but I don't think he knows what he's talking about," Ford said.

He continued emphatically, "If the critics who know nothing about the automobile business will get out of the way, we will do the job."

He continued, "If the critics who know nothing about the automobile business will get out of the way, we will do the job."

Other Points

In other major points, Johnson said: -The United States will continue to concentrate assistance mainly in economic and social fields "and to encourage our Latin-American neighbors, where possible, to limit their outlays for military purposes."

-The United States will continue to work to stabilize earnings of traditional Latin-American exports "while assisting efforts to expand those new exports on which Latin-American trade will increasingly depend."

-Latin-American economic integration is vital to hemispheric development.

-The United States is committed "to government by the consent of the governed - a consent to be granted in free and honest elections."

Now All-White School To Get Negro Principal

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A Negro principal will be assigned next September to what is now an all-white elementary school as a result of federal desegregation guidelines.

The Richmond County School Board decided Thursday night to appoint the Negro educator, Mrs. Annie Mae Williams, as principal of the Martha Lester Elementary School which now is all-white.

Rival Asks Ky Ouster

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) - Buddhist leaders mapped political strategy today to decide whether to demand the resignation of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government now or allow it to rule until elections promised in three to five months.

A call for an immediate change of leadership came from Ky's military rival, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, whose ouster as 1st Corps commander a month ago set off the wave of unrest. This told a newsman in Da Nang: "We must have an immediate change of government. There must be a government of the people supported by the people. I don't think the people have confidence in the government of Premier Ky."

MONKS MEET A council of 10 influential monks met at the Buddhist Institute in Saigon to thrash out the next move in a campaign that has so far forced the government to yield to most of the Buddhist demands.

A spokesman denied the council had already demanded Ky's resignation. He said it still had not decided whether to seek the appointment of a caretaker regime to supervise the elections.

FAVOR PLEDGES Tran Quang Thuan, the council's lay spokesman and a former welfare minister, said the monks were "generally satisfied" with the government's pledges Thursday but added they did not erase all problems.

Thuan said that despite the government's pledge of an amnesty to all demonstrators the monks feared reprisals in Da Nang, Hue and other northern Buddhist strongholds where the public agitation began.

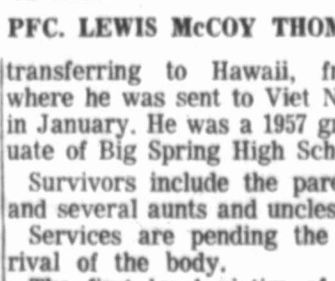

Thi's statement in Da Nang supported speculation that the Buddhist-led dissidents in the north might not go along with the leaders in Saigon. Thi said he believed demonstrations will continue in the northern part of the country until there is a "government of the people."

PFC Thomas Killed In Viet Fighting

Washington, D. C., sources Thursday gave word of the second combat fatality in Viet Nam of a Big Spring native.

Official sources Thursday at 10 p.m. informed Mr. and Mrs. Truett Thomas, 428 Westover, of the death in combat of their son, Pfc. Lewis McCoy (Coy) Thomas, 27.

A telegram from Maj. Gen. J. C. Lambert, AGC, Washington, D. C., today said Pfc. Thomas died Wednesday, a victim of a fragment of a "booby trap" while on a combat mission against hostile forces.

PFC. LEWIS MCCOY THOMAS transferring to Hawaii, from where he was sent to Viet Nam in January. He was a 1957 graduate of Big Spring High School.

Survivors include the parents and several aunts and uncles. Services are pending the arrival of the body.

The first local victim of the Viet Nam war was Sgt. Augustin C. Paredes,

Senators Differ In Opinion On Effect Of War At Polls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six re-elected-minded senators agreed today that the war in Viet Nam is the dominant issue in the minds of the voters. But they differed on its likely impact at the polls. Fresh from Easter recess campaign stunts, the six reported home-front concern about rising prices, too. "For a fellow with a dangerous opponent," said Democratic Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, "why, of course, these are dangerous issues."

Defense Chief Faces New Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who has spent more than 80 hours before congressional committees this year, faces more congressional questioning about bomb shortage charges and his readiness policies. Republican House Leader Gerald R. Ford said Thursday McNamara "will be asked many questions" after the House returns from its Easter recess.

Ford showed every sign of boring ahead with his charge that the Johnson administration is guilty of "shocking mismanagement" of the war effort. He was unconvinced by McNamara's assertion that "there isn't any" shortage of bombs for the Viet Nam war and that there is no truth to the mismanagement allegation.

While Democrats, too, have challenged McNamara's readiness policies, the Republican House leader's volley had the sound of an official GOP position for the coming congressional election campaigns. Ford kicked off the latest skirmish over readiness when he called a news conference, made his "shocking mismanagement" charge, and spoke of reports that "we are running short of bombs despite all the billions we have voted for defense."

Declared "the backup of shipping in Saigon harbor is almost a national scandal." The GOP leader said: "The evidence that is coming to light about things in the Pentagon that are not as they should be certainly raises questions as to whether we are prepared to do what our troops were ordered to do in Viet Nam."

Several hours later McNamara held a news conference of his own at the Pentagon. He replied: "I don't think there is any basis whatever" for charges of mismanagement or bomb shortages. "It just isn't true," he said.

The United States has 331,000 tons of bombs in its stocks around the world with 102,000 tons of this in reserve supplies in this country.

Development Of Ambush Detector Tried

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is giving top priority to secret research aimed at developing an ambush detector for U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

The detector would alert American GI's to Viet Cong soldiers hidden in brush along a road, for example, or nestled with sniper rifles in trees.

SPECIALIZED GEAR
Just how the device would work is being threshed out at the Army's Limited War Laboratory at Aberdeen, Md., a unit set up in 1962 to provide specialized gear on a quick reaction basis for areas such as Viet Nam.

Details are cloaked for security reasons but officials say researchers seeking to perfect the detection method have been testing insects that "smell out" humans, acoustical devices that reach out some distance to pick up sounds, radar that fixes out weapons and chemicals that reveal the slightest changes in foliage brushed by humans.

USE DECEIT
"We go into a village and everybody's smiling," one official explained. "But from experience we know that some of those smiling faces are Viet Cong who will come gunning for us that night. How to put the finger on those few is what we're after."

Military scientists have considered the possibility of "marking" enemy soldiers with chemicals which could be traced, or by physical means such as tattoos — but this only takes care of the known enemy. It does not ferret out the unknown — the key to the problem.

RULED OUT
Dumping colored materials on Viet Cong infested areas by plane likewise has been rejected as unfeasible.

Laboratory workers are experimenting with or developing answers to about 70 other war problems such as finding and tracing deep tunnels by air, and detecting small boats on rivers or against the coast from long range at night.

HURT INCUMBENTS
McIntyre said he thinks the Asian war is likely to hurt incumbents seeking re-election to Congress, whether they are Democrats or Republicans.

The New Hampshire senator told of one woman who described his vote for Viet Nam spending as a vote to send her son to the Asian combat zone.

"I think the No. 1 concern is Viet Nam," said Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala. "I believe the great majority of people in my state back the administration on this."

Sparkman said he does not think the Vietnamese war will hurt incumbents in the coming elections. In Alabama, he said, virtually all the candidates are in general agreement with current U.S. policy there.

A campaign aide to Sen. Gordon L. Allott, R-Colo., said "as far as we're concerned in Colorado, the No. 1 thing on people's minds is the cost of living."

"Viet Nam is very much on their minds," he said. "But they don't know what to do about it. They want something done about the cost of living."

Houston (AP)—Melvin Lee Dixon, 23, scheduled to have died in the electric chair early today, has been granted an indefinite stay.

U.S. Dist. Judge James Noel granted the stay Thursday and set a hearing in his court for June 24.

Dixon was convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of Houston grocer Marion Harlow in March, 1964.

Defense attorney Jerald Mize contends that Dixon's statement concerning the slaying was obtained without Dixon being advised of his right to counsel.

War Patrols Dark, Ominous For Yanks

By The Associated Press

In Viet Nam, night belongs to the guerrilla fighter. American soldiers moving into the dark jungle to meet the guerrilla on his own terms of ambush and swift withdrawal regard night patrols as a tense and terror-filled assignment.

Coming from a world of lights, where even the tent cities of infantry units encamped in the field reflect the glitter of America's genius for supply, the soldier on night patrol finds himself prowling in single file through a strange and ominous world.

DIM DOTS
Night patrol. No flashlights. No cigarettes. No talking. Under a moonless sky, lit faintly by the distant stars, the column moves forward through the night, each man following the glow of two phosphorescent dots on the back of the man's helmet in front of him.

Each step forward is an abrupt silence.

But even worse is sudden silence in the jungle, when all the noises of the night abruptly die. What disturbed the animal kingdom in its nightly symphony? Is the enemy at hand, waiting in the wilderness he knows so well to set off the horseshoe-shaped ambush that is his trademark? The patrol halts and listens.

Whipkey Sets C-C Speech

FORT WORTH (AP) — The role of the U. S. Information Agency in Viet Nam will be described to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce members next week by the agency director, Leonard H. Marks.

The three-day convention will begin Thursday. Marks will speak at the concluding luncheon Saturday.

Other speakers will include Richard M. Oddie, San Francisco, vice president of the Bank of America; Harry D. Brookby, Bartlesville, Okla., vice president of Phillips Petroleum Co.; R. W. Whipkey, publisher of the Big Spring Herald; Lou Brewer, director of the Florida Travel Council; Rep. W. R. Poage, Waco, and former Rep. Joe Kilgore, Austin.

patrol crouches on the bank, all ears straining again for the slap-slap of waves against the bow of an enemy sampan. The heat of the day has died a little, and a soft mist forms on the opposite bank, lying like a long roll of cotton under the darkened trees.

Suddenly the night explodes in light. A flare balloons down to earth on a tiny parachute, silhouetting distant hills and trees across the river in garish light. An outpost is under attack. Government troops in sandbagged bunkers and little tin-roofed towers are fighting for their lives against another patrol, an enemy patrol.

The squad leader gives his silent signal, a tug at the sleeve passed down the line, and the column moves out again, bending the branches back, passing them down the line, as silently as the signal.

The darkness dissolves to reveal a slow-moving river, muddy and dum-colored in the opaque light of the stars. The hugging the tall grass where spider webs cling to sweaty, smeared faces, straining for every new sound in the humid night. A small animal scurries underfoot and disappears in the underbrush. Mosquitos resume their whirring, and the whole noisy chorus of the night picks up again.

Warily, in soul-shivering silence, the patrol moves on through the dense foliage. But the jungle is never silent. Millions of insects and frogs send up a ceaseless cacophony, lizards and civet cats fill the night with strange, mournful murmurings and every now and then, just when nerves seem the most on edge, an exotic bird sends the night with a shriek.

ABRUPT SILENCE
But even worse is sudden silence in the jungle, when all the noises of the night abruptly die. What disturbed the animal kingdom in its nightly symphony? Should Churches Teach Sex Education?

By JERRY MONSON
The church has a responsibility to include some sex education in its program of religious education of its total ministry.

Area pastors gave their views on the church related to sex education early this week.
Rev. R. F. Polk, pastor of the First Baptist Church:

"If a church's religious education ministry is to be concerned with the total life of the individual, then the church can consider providing some sex education, particularly to young people. If this is done, the great emphasis should be on the principles of sex rather than the mechanics. Young people should be taught to treat members of the opposite sex with genuine love and respect; that sex is not in itself sinful and dirty, but good and God-given; that sex, if not used according to the purposes of God, can be harmful."

"Consideration must be given to the proper time, place and groups in which it is to be done."

According to the Rev. Leo Gee, pastor of the First Methodist Church, the time has come for the church to take its place in sex education.

"This could be accomplished through the church school and through special study classes," Rev. Gee said. "The church is missing an opportunity to help parents help youngsters—this could be a community-wide effort."

David Tarbet, minister of the Anderson Street Church of Christ: "While the primary mission of Christ's church is to save men from sin, the church cannot close its ears to the distress signals of humanity."
"Etternal Life as taught in the Scriptures is more than unending existence in heaven; it is abundant living now in this world. When the church fails to help men face their uncertainties and insecurities on earth, it has lost contact with reality and does not deserve to wear the name of Christ."

"In our congregation, each young person is asked to read Marguerite Cunkin Banning's 'The Case for Chastity' as well as other current and timely literature such as 'Sex and the Teenage Girl' which recently appeared in the Reader's Digest. They are encouraged to discuss their most confidential apprehensions with the elders and the minister."

"The day is coming when no church is going to feel adequately staffed without at least five ministers: one of public preaching, one of home evangelism, another of education, one of new converts, and one of personal counseling."

Methodists Plan 'Blomquist Day'

Special honors will come Sunday to the Rev. and Mrs. Lennart Blomquist at Wesley Memorial Methodist Church, when "Blomquist Day" is observed for the two missionaries to Rhodesia.

Rev. Blomquist will be leaving April 24 for Sweden, joined by his family the latter part of May. Then he and his wife will return to Rhodesia, where he will help further a community development program for the people there.

The Blomquists came to Big Spring in September, 1965, on a year's leave in the United States. He was at Texas Technological College in 1952 when he became acquainted with the district superintendent, Dr. Hubert Bratcher, when he pastored the St. John's Methodist Church in Lubbock.

Dr. Bratcher visited the Blomquists in Rhodesia in 1962 and invited them to come to Big Spring on their next leave. Rev. Blomquist's speaking engagements since September have covered Wisconsin, Louisiana, parts of Texas, and Mexico.

Rev. Blomquist was educated in Sweden and was a trade teacher there before going into the ministry. He attended Union Theological Seminary in Goteburg and served as a minister in Sweden for eight years before going to Africa.

His district at Salisbury, Federation of Rhodesia and Nyassaland, Africa, included 94 churches, 74 grade schools that are church operated, one high school, one college and one hospital that has a staff of five doctors.

"This has been a wonderful opportunity," Rev. Blomquist said. "The people here have been so friendly and helpful, and we have truly enjoyed our stay here. We wish the best for Big Spring in the future."

Affected by the ruling are 23 American Baptists, 23 Roman Catholics, seven Seventh Day Adventists and five Methodists from the U.S., according to Addison J. Eastman, director of mission for the Asia Department of the Division of Overseas Ministries, National Council of Churches. Those holding temporary stay permits must leave Burma by April 30, while holders of permanent stay permits have until the May 31 date.

"The departure of these American missionaries from Burma marks the end of an era, but not the end of Christian work in the country," said Eastman. "There is now in Burma a Christian Church of approximately 600,000 members, and it is growing rapidly in some parts of the country. This church has itself become a missionary community, and has developed a strong indigenous leadership."

"The military government of Gen. Ne Win has assured Christians and other religious communities in Burma that they will continue to be free to practice and teach their religion."

Burma's decision to terminate the service of foreign missionaries brings to an end more than 150 years of American missionary work in that Southeast Asia country, Eastman said. The first missionaries from the U.S. to go overseas were Adoniram and Ann Judson, who set sail from Salem, Mass., for Burma in 1812.

Judson translated the Bible into Burmese, and compiled the first Burmese dictionary. Both works are in standard use today.

Missionaries throughout the years founded mass educational, medical and social service institutions in Burma. Most of these have been taken over by the government within the past few months.

Mission Decline
BUCK HILLS FALLS, Pa. (AP)—Recruitment of Methodist missionaries has been declining in the last five years, an executive, Dr. John W. Johannaber, reported to the denomination's missions board here.

LACK OF UNITY, GOALS DISCUSSED IN LESSON

Lack of unity and of common aim and hope are the topics for discussion in the International Sunday School Lesson for this Sunday. The text is taken from I Kings 11:1-12, 24; Chronicles 10.

"The causes of breakdown in Solomon's kingdom may be related to the same roots of destruction found in the world today. Lack of unity and a common goal are the decisive factors, with Rehoboam and Jeroboam in Solomon's day having two separate goals and nothing to unite the two factions of Judah and Israel."

The lesson also asks, "By what right do some men rule others?" Is it the right of inheritance, wealth and position, or is character more important? Must a ruler, a leader, be a man of moral and spiritual strength, as well as a good politician?

College Baptist Posts Record

A new Sunday School attendance record of 427 was set Easter Sunday at College Baptist Church, Eleventh and Birdwell Lane, according to the Rev. Byron Orand, pastor. Rev. Orand said that the previous high was 403.

The high attendance campaign was conducted along with a revival featuring Dr. Gene Williams throughout the week. Rev. Orand reported 40 new members joined the church, 33 of them by baptism.

"This has been the greatest revival in the nine-year history of the church," Rev. Orand said. "Our members worked hard to set the attendance record and were faithful in every service during the week."

The high attendance campaign also marked 750 attending the 11 a.m. worship service, filling the year-old sanctuary. The balcony was used for the first time, and the youth of the church were given the privilege of being the first group ever to sit in the balcony, Rev. Orand said.

College Baptist Church has grown from a mission with 95 members to a membership of over 800 in nine years. Over 400 members of the church have joined in the past three years.

More than 1,500 Baptist Girl's Auxiliary queens, including several from Big Spring, have been attending the second of the two-session GA queen's courts held in Brownwood Coliseum this weekend. The first session was held April 1-3, with a like number in attendance. Howard Payne College dormitories are being used for housing and lodging.

Local girls attending were from Midway Baptist Church, Dona Oglesby, Charla Meacham, sponsors Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Swann and Mrs. W. Barker; Baptist Temple, Norma Newton, Cindy Bryan, Ranette Miller, Joy Legg, Katherine Grasham, Cindy Gressett, Debra Gressett, Cne Newton, Brenda Hand, Karen McGonagill, and sponsors Mrs. Opal Newton, Mrs. A. W. Page and Mrs. Max Legg; and Prairie View Baptist Church, Cindy Grant, Cathy Grant, Linda Conway, Kendra Thomas, and sponsor Mrs. Shirley Fryar.

"With the Whole Heart," poetic readings prepared by television's Bud Collyer, is now on sale in bookstores throughout the country.

"With the Whole Heart" is Collyer's second book. His first, "Thou Shalt Not Fear," was called "one of the year's foremost inspirational titles." Collyer is a lay preacher in the Presbyterian Church.

"With the Whole Heart" is published by the Revell Company at $2.75. It will have a 40,000 copy first printing.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Thin Frosting Saved By Powdered Milk

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever made your powdered sugar frosting a little too thin, then discovered that you haven't got another spoonful of powdered sugar in the house?

I found that you can cover this plastic pad very easily, in any color or design you wish, with adhesive-backed covering you can purchase at most any store.

Now the problem is solved. I had used wax paper at first, but it would slip and slide, and also needed to be redone each time I used the rack. . . Mrs. R. C. A.

Dear Heloise:

I have a small, very active son who dearly loves to chew and destroy anything within reach of his sharp teeth.

The adhesive-backed plastic paper works beautifully on the plastic pads, but don't waste your money trying it on cotton cause it won't stick! . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: I slip my bag of potato chips into a big plastic bag before opening.

Dee Jon Davis Explains Legalities To Women

Points of law which women should know were explained by Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, during the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Junior Woman's Forum in the Blue Room of Couden Country Club.

Members were reminded that the outstanding clubwoman will be chosen during an April 28 meeting in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building.

Plans for the May 1-8 Music Week observance were discussed during the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Music Study Club at the home of Mrs. Robert Heinze, 502 Highland.

Farewells Said By Potpourri

Mrs. James Tidwell, long-time member of the Potpourri Club, presented a gold disc engraved with the club name at a Tuesday evening meeting in the home of Mrs. Tippie Anderson Jr., 1314 Sycamore.

Mrs. Earl Lusk, president, conducted the business session as the women made plans to assist a local student.

The program, the life of Jean Dixon as recorded in the book, "A Gift of Prophecy," by Ruth Montgomery, was given by Mrs. Dee Thomas.

Mrs. Gerald Harris and Mrs. M. M. Casey will be hostesses for the spring party with the time and location to be announced.

The May 10 meeting will be with Mrs. Casey at 1736 Purdue when Mrs. Buddy Travis will give the program.

'Pinafore'

Teal Traina, Italian designer, styled this evening gown as a tribute to his Italian heritage. It's called an evening pinafore. Huffed to an Empire waist in front, it dips low in back leaving only a halter to keep the dress intact.

High Tallies Announced For Series

The eight-week series winners were revealed Thursday evening following duplicate bridge play in the Officers Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base.

Music Study Club Tells Plans For Music Week

Plans for the May 1-8 Music Week observance were discussed during the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Music Study Club at the home of Mrs. Robert Heinze, 502 Highland.

On the agenda for Music Week, the members plan to conduct programs at the area civic clubs, hospitals and schools. Plans are also under way to make a tape recording for presentation on a local radio program.

During the program session, Mrs. John Arnold led the hymn of the month and sang solos of "Love in the Dictionary" and "Sing a Song of Sixpence."

Mrs. David Shaw was the program leader, and Mrs. Heinze presented the piano version of "Gollivod's Cakewalk."

A quartet consisting of Mrs. L. L. Beauvais, Mrs. Carl Bradley, Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Max Nelson sang "The Lonesome Trees."

New officers, to be installed at the May 7 luncheon at the Blue Room of Couden Country Club, were elected. They are Mrs. Brown, president; Mrs. Shaw, first vice president; Mrs. Charles Bell, second vice president; Mrs. James Baum, secretary; Mrs. Fred Beckham, treasurer; Mrs. H. M. Jarrett, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Beauvais, parliamentarian; and Mrs. John Arnold, reporter-historian.

Mrs. Jarrett was chosen delegate to the April 18-19 state convention in Fort Worth.

Refreshments were served to 20 from a table covered with a pink cloth with matching net overlay and centered with an arrangement of pink flowers flanked by silver candle holders.

Bloodless Bullfighting Opens In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia, the shrine of Quakerism, the Liberty Bell, and main line aristocracy, resounded to the thud of hoofs and roars of "ole!" Thursday night as bloodless bullfighting made its much-debated debut here.

Whether the daring matadors, twirling capes, and 700-pound black bulls would be seen here again, however, depended on the outcome of a judicial hearing today. The Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is still seeking to block the bullfights.

The society had asked for a preliminary injunction, which was refused earlier this week by Common Pleas Court Judge Edward J. Griffiths. He left the door open to further action, however, by scheduling the second hearing.

Judge Griffiths, accompanied by Administrative Judge Vincent A. Carroll, was among the 1,500 spectators at Thursday night's first of four performances scheduled by Bravo Enterprises, Inc.

Griffiths, who said he had read two books on bullfighting in preparation for the show, took notes by the light of a flashlight.

Also taking notes were members of the SPCA who had been authorized by the judge to examine the condition of the bulls before and after the fights, or "displays."

Robert G. Hudson, director of operations for the society, after a preperformance examination of the first bull, said the animal appeared in good condition. He declined to comment, however, after a second examination following the display.

Jeff Ramsey, 22, an American-born bullfighter who performs in Mexico City and who was technical adviser for the bullfights here, said that unlike the Spanish and Mexican tradition, the "bloodless" bullfight is conducted without injury to the bull.

Banderillas, the barbed spears jabbed into the bull in traditional bullfighting, were simulated by blunt wooden sticks which could not pierce the skin.

The matadors carried false swords, and even those were thrown away before the final maneuver, in which the traditional kill was replaced by a tap on the bull's shoulder, by the matador's empty hand.

TV Effect On Styles Nearly Imperceptible

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television may have had a dramatic effect on our politics, our slang, our musical tastes and our knowledge of old movies. But its effect in one area has been almost imperceptible — fashion.

A few women stars in other seasons including Dinah Shore, Arlene Francis and Loretta Young, built a reputation around their high-style gowns.

LAW SUIT

Miss Young, in fact, is currently involved in a law suit in which she alleges she was injured because syndicators of her old dramatic series failed to remove those opening shots showing her whirling out of the door — in outmoded gowns of several years back.

Dinah, alas, was wearing gorgeous Paris creations at a time when few families had had color sets, and color, let's face it, makes a lot of difference.

This season "Hullabaloo" probably gave teenagers courage to wear those high white boots. And there was one woman star whose chic clothes were the subject of attention — Eva Gabor but her extravagantly metropolitan wardrobe has been a running gag in "Green Acres."

Barbara Walters, who most mornings shares the entertainment and informational chores of NBC's "Today Show," would be the top name on this reporter's list of television's best-dressed women.

"At first I was particularly fond of basic black dresses," she said. When we went to color last September, it didn't make much difference to the men. But it was a big problem for me."

That was when Barbara, who fortunately is a model size eight, resorted to the usual practice of wearing model clothes borrowed from manufacturers. They, in turn, receive a credit line at the end of the show.

Armadillos Go A.W.O.L.

HOUSTON (AP)—Mrs. J. F. Perry's pair of trained armadillos went A.W.O.L. in a residential district Thursday, and their escape caused a bit of a stir.

Their owner calls them Jack and Chad. She said both answer to their names, but her vocal efforts to lure them back met no response.

Mrs. Perry had donated them to the zoo in Toledo, Ohio, and intended to ship the animals next week.

As part of their education, Jack and Chad knew how to knock at a door for admittance.

Boy Who Stopped Breathing Revived

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — said. Three doctors and a nurse happened to be passing by when Jack Baker, 5, was struck down by a car in rush hour traffic.

"He was knocked at least four car lengths," said Dr. Emilio Ferrara, a dentist.

"He wasn't breathing and was turning blue," said Ferrara, who drove up with a nurse, Jean Carr.

Ferrara administered heart massage and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation as two more physicians, Dr. Earl G. Solomon and his wife, Ann, came along Thursday.

"When you see a person is not breathing, the procedure is a tracheotomy," Mrs. Solomon today.

She started the operation with a pocket knife borrowed from a passerby but it was too dull.

"We called again and someone gave me a larger knife," Mrs. Solomon said.

"It worked."

"We also wanted a straw but someone took a ball point pen apart and handed me the hollow tube."

"It worked nicely."

Mrs. Solomon said the child started to breathe again when she blew air into the tube and Dr. Ferrara continued heart massage.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Baker, was hospitalized and was in critical condition

Vegas Blackjack Games Adding Topless Dealers

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The odds on blackjack might be getting worse around here.

Nevada Atty. Gen. Harvey Dickerson says at least one casino is planning a new distraction—topless dealers.

As eager as visiting card players might be to lose their money so pleasantly, natives took a dimmer view.

CALLED LEWD

"It's lewd," said the Rev. Glenn Tudor, member of the Clark County (Las Vegas) Ministerial Association.

"I don't know. I don't know," said Milton Keefer, chairman of the Nevada Gaming Commission.

"I think it's indecent exposure," said Pete Bommarito, day shift manager at another casino.

"No comment," said Robert Miller, assistant general manager of the Silver Nugget, where Dickerson said the women dealers, stripped to the waist, would begin work next Tuesday.

Topless chorus girls are old hat in Las Vegas. They made their debut in 1958. They survived an attempt to outlaw them. And they were introduced in Reno in 1961.

IN TRAINING

Dickerson said Thursday he learned that the Silver Nugget, in suburban North Las Vegas, has hired new women dealers who are willing to work so dressed. He said the new girls were getting a week of training.

"My office has had several calls from the women dealers presently employed by the casino," Dickerson said. "They have complained that unless they shed their top garments, they would lose their jobs."

"If the Nugget carries out this plan, I'll seek a court injunction to halt this affront to the decent and law-abiding citizens of Nevada."

"If this course is taken by the casino involved or by any other casino, my office will request in the strongest language that a close look be taken by the gaming control board at the licensing authorizing '21' (blackjack) games in that place of business."

'God Is Dead' Idea Scored

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Rev. C. A. Gaertner of Dallas says the fact that the church has been accused of being an outmoded institution has focused attention on its reason for existence and has led to a re-examination of theological positions.

Speaking at the convention of The Texas District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, the Rev. Mr. Gaertner declared that recent publicity given the theory of some theologians that "God is dead" had resulted in a renewed interest in the scriptures.

"The great thrust of ecumenism and the dialogues that are resulting from Vatican conferences called by Pope Paul VI made our lay people very conscious of these things," he said.

Because of recent renewed interest over the "God is dead" controversy, the church has not been able to evade its responsibilities in such fields as social problems, race relations, questions of morality and ethics, the Rev. Mr. Gaertner said.

Spending Is Topic Of Connally, Foe

By The Associated Press

State spending engaged the attention of Gov. John Connally and Stanley Woods, who opposed Connally in the May 7 Democratic primary, while the three candidates for attorney general all had something to say about crime prevention Thursday.

"Texas today spends 48 cents of each budget dollar on public and higher education," Connally told members of the Association of Colleges and Universities at its convention in Arlington.

"Our educational spending is nearing a billion dollars a year. Private sources furnish millions more."

IDEAS NEEDED

The governor called for an "outflow of ideas from our institutions" about how to manage maximum use of costly school buildings and to coordinate educational programs.

Woods, speaking in Dallas, complained that "since John Connally came to power, the cost of state government has increased 39 per cent."

"It wouldn't be so bad," Woods continued, "but the state hasn't increased its services one iota in that period."

"The increased cost of state government is not nearly so bad as the lack of increased state services."

In the attorney general's race, State Sen. Galloway Calhoun asserted at Sulphur Springs that one of his rivals—State Sen. Franklin Spears — "blows a whistle and throws out a smoke screen" by discussing crime in an attempt to draw attention from his endorsement by the AFL-CIO.

SAME CROWD

Calhoun added that since Spears voted for the new state code of criminal procedure, the topic seemed rather strange for his opponent. Concerning supporters of Spears, he said:

"It's the same old liberal-labor crowd that has been trying for years to elect a man to a statewide office."

Spears, speaking at Weatherford, rated his program for preventing crime superior to one advocated by Crawford Martin, the third man running for attorney general.

Efforts to establish regional police academies, raise the salaries of policemen, to provide up-to-date information for peace officers and to make new court opinions available to police have been pledged by Spears. He said:

"Good training and higher salaries will result in better law enforcement—which, in turn, will reduce crime rates."

LEGISLATIVE AID

Points listed by Martin in a campaign to curb crime are requests for legislative appropriations to assist local police, establishment of a citizens crime commission and continuing the youth conference sponsored by the attorney general's office.

Martin told listeners at McAllen that he has received editorial endorsements of his candidacy from daily newspapers in Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Angelo, Waco, Wichita Falls and many others. They include 39 of the 41 newspapers in the senatorial district he represented for 14 years, he said.

State Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline called for a new division of sectional strength in the state capital.

"It is time for North Texas, East Texas and Central Texas to have some part in the decision making in Austin," Hollowell said. "The present speaker of the House, the present lieutenant governor, the attorney general and one of the U.S. senators are all from West Texas."

Hecklers Stop Convention Of Anti-Poverty Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver today blamed "professional demonstrators" for a hooting, shouting demonstration that drowned out part of his speech and forced an abrupt end to a convention of anti-poverty workers.

"It was quite obvious that 25 or 30 people there organized themselves to create a disturbance and make trouble," the director of the administration's anti-poverty drive declared.

A group of dissidents, who said they were spokesmen for the nation's poor, heckled Shriver as he evaluated the anti-poverty program for some 500 members of the independent, privately financed Citizens' Crusade Against Poverty.

TAKE CONTROL

Rejecting attempts by leaders of the conference to restore order, they took control of the meeting. A number paraded before the speakers' platform and denounced Shriver, his office of Economic Opportunity and even some of the older members of the audience.

"You people are old and gray and you better step aside. Us youngsters are going to take over," said Allen Moore. He said he represented Youth In Action of the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, N.Y.

"PUBLICITY DEAL"

As Shriver was escorted out of the room, Barbara Taylor of Washington's Southeast House yelled at him: "It's just a big publicity deal. He isn't helping the poor. He's just getting his picture in the paper."

Civil Rights leader Bayard Rustin, an officer of the citizens' organization, was among those who tried unsuccessfully to control the situation. So did Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, stated clerk of the United Presbyterian Church and general secretary-elect of the World Council of Churches, who is a vice chairman of the Crusade.

ADJOURNS MEET

Blake finally adjourned the meeting two hours after Shriver's speech when it became apparent parliamentary procedure could not be restored and several members of the citizens group, including the industrial union department of the AFL-CIO, threatened to quit the organization in protest.

Rustin was the first official to say the outbursts against Shriver were planned.

"This was not a spontaneous demonstration," he told a news conference. "Some of the people shouting about the poor participating were not poor but have a vested interest. And some members came into the meeting with a sheet that was printed several hours before."

But Blake said: "Some of us have been saying for a long time the poverty program is in a crucial stage. What happened today merely underlines it."

"There is a tremendous amount of frustration among the people. It is not a frustration against Shriver or the OEO, or anyone else or any organization trying to help them."

"It is a frustration against the slowness of an affluent society to spread its prosperity among all the people."

IS MINORITY

Shriver said later: "I don't think it was the feeling of close to 10 per cent of those attending the meeting. In fact, one woman from the Watts section of Los Angeles asked me for my autograph as I left the room."

In his speech, Shriver was listing accomplishments of the anti-poverty program when the heckling started.

"Negroes are now on the boards of community action programs, working with white people," he said.

"Where?" came a chorus from the audience.

HAVE A SAY

"We've established a principle that poor people should have a say," he continued.

"But what's been done about getting them any answers?" some one shouted.

One-third of those attending the convention came from poverty pockets in New York's Harlem, Chicago's West Side, Watts, Appalachia and the Mississippi Delta. For two days, delegates heard denunciations by those from poor areas of the anti-poverty program, politicians, "power structures" and white "do-gooders."

The bidding:
 North East South West
 Pass Pass 1 NT Pass
 3 NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♠ Concern for the safety of his contract paid off a handsome dividend to one declarer in a recent team of four match, when he took the maximum measures to protect himself.

The bidding was the same at both tables, and in each case West opened the six of hearts. East covered dummy's nine with the king and South played the ace. One declarer led the jack of clubs and overtook with North's queen, to put the queen of diamonds thru for a finesse. West was in with the king.

The heart suit could now be established by leading the jack to smother North's ten and dislodge South's queen; however, the sequence of plays had uncovered some interesting information concerning the declarer's holding.

When the queen of clubs held, it indicated that South had the ace and king as well as the jack. He was marked with the ace, queen of hearts and, if he had the ace of diamonds as well, as suggested from the manner in which he had played that suit, then 10 tricks were there for the taking.

What was most significant, however, was that West could assign 18 points to South in these three suits—sufficient for a maximum no trump bid—leaving nothing in spades. So reasoning, West shifted to a spade thru the dummy's king, and East proceeded to cash four tricks in that suit to send the declarer down to defeat.

At the other table, South was more concerned with protecting his "Achilles heel" from attack. He did not mind letting East in where a spade switch would assure him of retaining a stopper in the suit; however, he felt that every effort must be exerted to keep West out of the lead.

After winning the heart opening, declarer put down the ace of diamonds as a precautionary measure and caught West's king. He routinely cashed 11 tricks—four clubs, five diamonds and two hearts—and netted a 760 point swing for his side [660 point set record by his teammates].

Farmers Join Wheat Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)— Many Ohio farmers are joining a so-called wheat bank designed to assure greater returns for their wheat through an orderly marketing system they control.

The plan is being sponsored by the Ohio Farm Bureau. Sponsors believe it will spread to other states.

Under the program, growers would turn their wheat over to a governing group empowered to hold the grain or sell it as conditions warrant. Many of these farmers have been selling their wheat—a soft red wheat used mainly for cakes, biscuits and other pastries—at harvest time, when prices usually are at their lowest on the marketing year.

Ogden Man Turns 102

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — William J. Dermody, believed to be the oldest man in Utah, celebrated his 102nd birthday today at Ogden where he has lived since 1881.

Dermody is listed as the oldest pensioner of the Western Union Telegraph Co. He went to work for Western Union as a boy in Mount Vernon, Ohio, his home town. He became a telegraph operator before deciding to head for San Francisco to catch a ship for the South African mines. He got as far as Ogden.

Hilda Erickson, 107, of Grantsville, is listed as the oldest woman in Utah.

Civitan Club Gets Charter

Edward L. Kirk, Ablene, chaplain of the Texas District, Civitan International Club, will be the featured speaker tonight for charter ceremonies of the new Big Spring Civitan Club. The meeting is slated for 7:30 p.m. at the Big Spring Country Club.

Kirk, assistant professor of education and psychology at Ablene Christian College, is a frequent speaker to administrators groups, high school assemblies, community groups and service organizations. His topic will be "Individual Excellence and Integrity."

Bob Fusey, 1909 Baylor, will assume the presidency, Oliver Gusbee, vice president of the Midland Civitan Club, will preside.

Other officers are Olen Graves, first vice president; Bob Van Rosenberg, second vice president; Mike Hull, secretary; and Norman English, treasurer.

The local club is one of more than 1,000 similar men's service clubs under Civitan International auspices, dedicated to building good citizenship.

Texas Bar May Revive Attempt To Bar Belli

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—The State Bar of Texas may revive efforts to keep San Francisco lawyer Melvin Belli from practicing in Texas, the bar president said Thursday.

Belli defended Jack Ruby at the trial in which Ruby was convicted and sentenced to death for gunning down presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald. The case is being appealed.

After the conviction, Belli loosed an angry blast at Dallas, the court, and the Texas judicial system. He subsequently was fired by Ruby.

Clint C. Small Jr. of Austin, state bar president, told the Amarillo Bar Association the directors of the bar will consider renewing attempts to prevent Belli from practicing law here at their meeting today.

Belli's law firm filed pleadings Wednesday in two civil cases in Fort Worth involving the estate of Kay Kimball,

Nine Texans In Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department Thursday issued a list of U.S. men killed in the Viet Nam war for the week ending Saturday, April 9. The list included nine Texans.

They were: Army Capt. Joseph W. Parent, El Paso; Army Spec. 4 Isidor Martinez, Mercedes; Army Spec. 4 James L. Slade Jr., Cuero; Army Pfc. Don R. Johnson, Wald; Army Sgt. Harry G. Lute, Noderland; Marine Cpl. Julian C. Cuellar, San Antonio; Marine Pfc. Felberto Villa, Engleside; Marine Pfc. Joe F. Liserio, Houston; and Marine Pfc. Robert Burclaga, El Paso.

Three Texans War Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Texans, two killed in action and one of whom died of wounds were among 41 U. S. military personnel listed Thursday as dead in Viet Nam fighting.

Killed in action were Army Spec. 5 Fred A. Benner, father of Fred A. Benner Jr. and Lyle A. Wiswell, 6200 Carswell Access Road, Fort Worth, and Army Spec. 4 Eugene Garrett Jr., son of Mrs. Cassie M. Garrett, 4512 1/2 Sharon, Houston.

Marine Sgt. John H. Eaglin, husband of Mrs. John H. Eaglin, 1729 Stillman St., Corpus Christi, died of his wounds.

Salve Trims Burn Deaths

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Two years ago a boy, 9, with third degree burns over 45 per cent of his body was brought from England to Brooke Army Medical Center Burn Ward.

He was "moribund," or near death. His burns, suffered several days before, were grossly infected. He was in severe pain. Doctors began applying a white creamy substance which looks and smells like women's cold cream.

BOY RECOVERS Within three days the boy was bright-eyed, feeling better and even managing a smile. "We got a Christmas card from him this year," Col. John Moncrief, head of the Burn Ward, said. "He's growing and feeling well."

Moncrief said the boy was one of the first patients to benefit from the white salve. In two years since, Brooke Hospital has been able to reduce its burn mortality rate by almost half by using the cream.

It's called sulfamylon creme, a new application of an older drug called manfid which the Germans used in World War II and in medical experiments on humans.

RECENT FINDINGS Development of the cream was possible only after recent discoveries on the nature of burns, which Moncrief said had been a largely neglected area of research.

A large burn throws the whole body into a severe strain. Death can come quickly by shock, or gradually through kidney or liver failure, infection, adrenal failure or pneumonia.

Burns are not like other injuries which can be treated and then allowed to heal. Burns often must be cared for day after day, sometimes for months. Even nature's own healing processes must be closely watched. The body lays down over burns a thick, inelastic scar tissue which can contract joints and rend limbs immovably and uselessly.

ANNUAL TOLL About 8,000 people die each year from burns—half of them children. Chances for surviving a burn over half of the body have improved little in 10 years. Infection is the greatest danger in burns, but ordinary means of treating infection do not work because circulation to the burned area is destroyed.

Before the loss of circulation was discovered, burn patients had been treated with massive injections of antibiotics, with little effect. Without use of the cream, Moncrief said, burns often have bacteria counts of 10 million to one billion per gram of tissue. The cream can cut the count to about 10,000 per gram.

State School To Be Investigated

AUSTIN (AP)—An investigation of the Mexia State School indicates "the possibility of some irregularities," the head of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation says.

Dr. Shervert H. Frazier, commissioner of the newly reorganized mental health agency, said Thursday he has granted voluntary leave to the school's superintendent pending completion of the probe.

The superintendent, Vernon Jones, "has suggested that he be permitted to take leave until the investigation has been completed," Frazier said in a brief statement.

Until the investigation is complete, the department's central administration will direct the school's affairs, he said.

Malcolm Lauderdale, department personnel director, will go to the school for this purpose, said Jess Irwin, executive director of the department.

Frazier said the investigation is being conducted "upon the request of this department. . . thus far, their investigation indicates the possibility of some irregularities."

"In view of this, Mr. Vernon Jones, superintendent of that institution, has suggested that he be permitted to take leave until the investigation has been completed. It is his desire that a complete and open investigation be had and he encourages all of his employees to cooperate to that end. I have agreed to permit Mr. Jones to leave the institution for this purpose and commend him for his attitude and cooperativeness," Frazier's statement said.

DEAR ABBY

Just Let Him Write!

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a compulsive letter-to-the-editor writer. Hector was an English major and was once the editor of his high school newspaper, so he knows something about writing. But he has been going at that typewriter something fierce lately. He had something to say on every subject currently in the news. If President Johnson wants to know what to do about Viet Nam, the rising cost of living, taxes or unemployment, he should ask Hector. I realize that this is a good safety valve for Hector's steam, but every once in a while one of his letters get published and he is the laughing stock of the community for months. His psychiatrist says: "It's good for him, but Abby, I have to live in this town, too. What do you think? Please print this because Hector reads your column and gets a big kick out of it, but he says you make up all the letters yourself."

HECTOR'S WIFE DEAR WIFE: Tell Hector that I don't make up any letters. With people like him around, I don't have to. And to answer your question, I agree with the psychiatrist. Let Hector shoot his typewriter off.

DEAR ABBY: Is there such a thing as being too polite? I know a man who is so polite he makes everyone nervous. He is the one who races on ahead to open doors. And he jumps like a jack-in-the-box whenever a woman (or even an older person) enters the room. He beats all the other men when it comes to helping ladies with their coats and pulling out chairs. I don't think this much courtesy is necessary. Should I be quiet? Or should I tell him he is overdoing the perfect gentleman routine?

HIS FRIEND DEAR FRIEND: Be quiet. I suspect your "too polite" friend is merely well-bred and is behaving accordingly. Courtesy cannot be overdone. And he who is made "nervous" by good manners probably needs to brush up on his own.

DEAR ABBY: I have two very close friends who like me a lot, but they just hate each other. One will get very mad at me if I go with the other one. What should I do?

IN THE MIDDLE DEAR IN: Drop both of them! Everyone has the right to choose his own friends. And so have you!

Reservoir Bid Draws Blast

AUSTIN (AP)—The Franklin County Water District of East Texas wants to control 18 times more water than it foreseeably can use, a Houston attorney told the Texas Water Rights Commission Thursday.

J. M. Slaton III, representing Tidewater Oil Co. and several Franklin County property owners, appeared in protest to an application by the district to build a 72,000-acre-foot reservoir on Cypress Creek.

An acre-foot is 325,851 gallons. Estimated project cost is $3.4 million.

The water district says in its application it wants control of 18,000 acre-feet—half the estimated annual yield of the reservoir.

Slaton said the district wants the county's people "to pay the cost and it wants to appropriate a quantity of water 18 times its foreseeable need or use."

The district's application says it needs 1,000 acre-feet annually for the city of Mount Vernon and "it has in sight no other actual water need," Slaton said.

The commission took the arguments under advisement for decision at a later time.

VA Honors Volunteers

Nearly 100 adult volunteers and area organizations will be awarded certificates and plaques in recognition of their services at the Veterans Administration Voluntary Services appreciation reception Monday night. The reception will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan.

The program will include VA Chaplain C. O. Hitt bringing the invocation, followed by a welcome from Donald D. Van Meter, hospital director. Mrs. Ara S. Cunningham, director of volunteers, will present the recognition of services.

Van Meter will award the plaque honor roll of service to the volunteers with more than 3,000 hours credit. Other staff members who will award certificates of devotion for 1,000 hours; C. E. McDonnell, chief, medical administrative service, certificates of outstanding service for 500 hours; Alice Flowers, chief, nursing service, certificates of merit, 300 hours; and Harold L. Lyles, chief, social work service, certificates of appreciation for 100 hours.

Volunteers Win Praise For Work At New Center

Twenty-four Howard County Rehabilitation Center volunteers and organizations were honored Thursday night at an appreciation meeting, following the center's board of directors meeting.

Jim Thompson, physical therapist for the center, praised the volunteers for their contributions.

"This is one of the most important parts of our work," he said. "It is true that this volunteer service provides something we could not afford to buy, but it is also something that money couldn't buy. They are eager, enthusiastic, and they go out and tell others. Our volunteers are one of our best means of educating the public on what we have to offer at the center."

He introduced the officers of the auxiliary, Mrs. Roy Granbery, president; Mrs. Bobby Suggs, vice president; Mrs. Bill Weatherford, secretary; and Mrs. Morris Robertson, treasurer; and also presented the members of the auxiliary to the board.

Volunteers awarded certificates were, 100 hours, Mrs. H. S. Russell, Mrs. Preach Martin, Mary Frances Lee and Ellen Rutherford; 50 hours, Mu Zeta Chapter Beta Sigma Phi, La Verne Lancaster, Ann Lemon, Jo Ann Zanders, Mrs. W. L. Vaughan, Mrs. Dick Lane, Mrs.

Pleas Guilty, Gets Sentence

Paul Sewitski, charged with writing a worthless check, drew a six months jail sentence as punishment when he entered a plea of guilty today in Howard County court.

He had been returned to Howard County Thursday from Wellington, where he had been apprehended on a warrant out of Howard County.

Anton Frank Ribitski, charged with DWI, pleaded guilty in the county court and was sentenced to three days in the county jail and ordered to pay a fine of $50.

Mails Getting Steady Rain Of Tax Returns

Big Spring post office was doing what Frank Hardesty, acting postmaster, termed a "steady business" in the matter of letters addressed to the Internal Revenue Service today. April 15 is the deadline for John Q. Taxpayer to submit the report on his 1965 income to Uncle Sam. A large number of letters, addressed to the IRS offices, are falling into the slot at the post office, the postmaster said. He looks for a bigger volume as the day grows toward its end.

Officially, midnight is the deadline for mailing such letters.

Hardesty said that the post office staff will empty the incoming mail box regularly and run all letters mailed through the cancelling machine as they are received Friday evening.

The last letters to be cancelled "April 15 p.m." will be those pulled out of the receptacle around 12 midnight.

He pointed out that modern cancellation of stamps does not show the hour of the cancellation. All it shows is that the letter was mailed on the date stated in the "p.m." or in the "a.m."

City Has 80 T-Man Staff

The T-Man program to encourage more careful driving in Big Spring is getting off the ground.

More than 80 persons have volunteered to serve as T-Men and to report traffic violations which they observe. They have been schooled to report only those violations which are substantial or serious.

Their reports go to the Big Spring Traffic Commission, which works with the police department in mailing out courtesy letters to the offending driver. These letters pinpoint the time, place and nature of the offense, and plead for observance of all driving regulations in order to make Big Spring streets safer.

Jerry Worthy, chairman of the commission, said that more volunteers could be used as T-Men. Individuals interested in this service should call or drop a note to the commission, in care of the police department, to say they would like to have a part.

Journalism Scholarship Applications Invited

West Texas Press Association today announced applications will be received until May 14 for its 1966 journalism scholarship, which will be worth $500 to some West Texas high school graduate for studying newspaper journalism for four years in college.

All applications for the scholarship should be sent by interested seniors to the WTPA scholarship chairman, Bill Turner, publisher of the Olton Enterprise, Olton, Tex., 79064.

Announcement of the scholarship winner will be made by June 1.

Students who would like to apply for the scholarship should talk with their high school principal and editor or publisher of their hometown newspaper, who will help them with necessary application details. Rules concerning the application have been mailed to the high school principal and also to the newspaper.

The scholarship winner receives $150 per year ($75 per semester) for each of the four years of his or her college career providing satisfactory academic requirements are met.

The WTPA has offered this journalism scholarship each year since 1956 and has had as many as five students in college at one time receiving scholarship funds. Several have graduated and three are in school this year.

Applicant must be in the upper 25 per cent of his class, must have demonstrated ability in newspaper journalism and a desire for a newspaper career.

Nine West Texas colleges and universities have been designated for scholarship winners by the West Texas Press Association. The nine designated schools for scholarship recipients are Abilene Christian College, Angelo College, Hardin-Simmons University, Midwestern University, Sul Ross College, Texas Tech, Westland Baptist College, West Texas State

Choir Goes To Perform At Six Flags

The Big Spring Senior High School a cappella choir left at noon today to perform at the Federated Music Clubs of America state convention at the Inn of the Six Flags at Euleus.

The choir is one of the two selected from the state to perform at this convention. Each of the choirs will give a 30-minute program.

Making the trip were 48 choir members, plus three sponsors. Milvern Ivie, director, expressed appreciation to the Big Spring Independent School District for making the trip possible.

The choir will go directly to Denton to attend a concert by the Robert Shaw Chorale this evening. The chorale is a nationally acclaimed professional choir. The Big Spring Choir then will return to Fort Worth to spend the night, then will spend Saturday morning in rehearsal before going to Six Flags to perform at 1 p.m.

After the program, choir members will spend several hours at Six Flags of Texas, and then return to Big Spring late Saturday night.

Kiwanians Hear Music Program

Folk music and the part it can play in the expression of the emotions of mankind was the theme of a short combination musical-lecture program at Kiwanis Club Thursday.

Chaplain Richard Johnson, Big Spring State Hospital, was the speaker and singer. He was presented by Bill Johnson, program chairman.

Chaplain Johnson discussed types of folk songs and sang samples to illustrate his points.

Tommy McCann and Mitchell McNeese, members of the newly activated Circle K Club, were guests.

Guides Told About Indians

The Comanche Y-Indian Guide tribe of the YMCA met at the teepee of Setting and Rising Sun (Lawrence and Larry Gibson) Tuesday night. Discussion was held on gym night at the Y recently, with a story told by one of the braves about the Indians who lived in the Big Spring area at one time. The meeting concluded with a balloon relay.

Next meeting will be April 23 at Coker's Restaurant to plan a trip to the sandhills at Monahans.

Hoffa's Son Wins Position

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The son of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa has won a State Senate research position in Lansing, Mich.

James R. Hoffa Jr., 24, was one of nine students appointed to the legislative job, which pays $5,000 a year. The winners were chosen on the basis of academic records.

Young Hoffa, whose father reached only the ninth grade in school, receives a law degree this month at the University of Michigan.

Charlie Mills Dies Wednesday

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Charlie J. Mills, 60, Brady, died in the Veterans' Hospital at Kerrville Wednesday after a long illness. He was a retired bootmaker.

He was born in Brown County, Jan. 28, 1897, was a member of the Methodist Church, and a veteran of World War I.

Funeral will be held Friday at 10 a.m. from the Kiker and Son Chapel. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery at the side of his mother, Mrs. Lottie Mills, who died in Colorado City several years ago.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Ben Babers, Duncan, Ariz.

Elected Mayor Without Even Trying

W. D. "Dub" Rogers Jr., Lubbock businessman, recently was elected mayor of the West Texas city without even trying. Friends of Rogers started a write-in campaign for him two days before the election after the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal said the city council raised salaries of some officials in a closed-door session outside the city hall. The only candidate on the ballot at the time was a member of the council and Rogers defeated him without campaigning, 7,560 votes to 4,385. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Former Webb-Connected People To Organize

There is getting to be a sizeable number of former Webb-connected people in Big Spring, and several of them have suggested that they explore the possibility of some association.

C. A. Rose, one of these interested in this possibility, pointed out that there are many who have completed their service careers while at Webb and continued to make their home in Big Spring because they like the town. In addition, there are many who were stationed at Webb and who married Big Spring girls, and after completing their service obligations or careers elsewhere, returned here to make their home.

All have the common bond of having served at Webb and of still being residents of Big Spring. Rose said that they might like to have some way of keeping in contact with one another for discussion of common problems, for some social activities.

He urged that those who would be interested in meeting to discuss the matter either call him at AM 4-7119 or write him at 3010 Cherokee, or write Wiley Muscardin at 1513 Main.

Rose, who operates Rose Cleaners, said that he got interested in Big Spring while in service at Webb. During that time, he served a couple of years as a Chamber of Commerce chairman.

Honor Pilot Named At Webb

1st Lt. William V. Keenan, 3561st Pilot Training Squadron at Webb AFB, was selected instructor pilot of the month for March.

Lt. Keenan received his pilot training at Webb and has been an instructor pilot here since December, 1964. His additional duties as navigation officer and training officer have greatly contributed to the excellent record of his element. He has 900 hours total flying time, including 640 hours of rated jet time.

He is a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., and graduated from the Air Force Academy in 1963. He is married to the former Margaret Jane Fittott, a native of Colorado Springs, Colo. He is a member of the Talon Toastmasters and the Knights of Columbus.

French Actor Stars In Film Of Old West

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What happens when the new wave meets the old West?

Alain Delon, star of French films, may not have conquered the frontier, but he won the admiration of his coworkers on "Texas Across the River." He put on some of the most impressive athletic feats in films since Douglas Fairbanks hung up his buskin.

During the Universal Western the handsome Frenchman:

Leaped onto a rock and then to his horse; jumped out of a covered wagon onto a horse; rode a long-horn bull out of a river and onto the bank; performed a slashing sword fight, with a blade passing an inch from his face; faced a charging mass of Texas longhorns; managed a number of running mounts, falls and leaps.

"Some of the set workers wanted to know if we had horses in France," the actor reported.

Delon, who did his basic training in Paris's Bois de Boulogne as well as New York's Central Park, admitted that he never expected his horsemanship to pay off in a Hollywood horse opera.

A Devotional For The Day

The same Lord is Lord of all and bestows his riches upon all who call upon him. (Romans 10:12, RSV)
PRAYER: Father, we thank Thee that through the resurrection of Jesus we are made rich. We thank Thee for the material blessings and for the spiritual blessings that come from Thee. Lead us to use them to Thy honor and glory. In Jesus' name. Amen.

New Patman Target

Rep. Wright Patman has drawn a bead on a relatively new, and what he calls a dangerous practice: The issuance by 30 of the very largest money market banks of negotiable certificates of deposit.

Patman has introduced a bill to prohibit the issuance by any bank of a negotiable certificate of deposit. He emphasized that his bill would not interfere in the slightest with the issuance of certificates of deposit that are non-negotiable.

"In the past five years, the amount of negotiable certificates of deposit outstanding has increased at an astronomical rate from almost nothing (in 1961) to $16 billion at the present time," Patman said in explaining his bill. "In addition to the unsound banking practices involved in certificates of deposit—and do not forget that certificates of deposit figured prominently in a number of very serious and costly bank failures—their effect on U.S. government financing costs has been extremely detrimental and expensive for the American taxpayer."

Patman said that he had been advised by the Treasury Department that the negotiable certificates of deposit, often drawing interest rates of 5½ per cent, are one cause of the government's low bond prices and the current high cost of financing the public debt. Recurring liquidity crises have been experienced by banks which have large amounts of certificates of deposit outstanding, he said.

Patman says his bill is tailored to meet what would become a fiscal crisis in banking and in government. Non-negotiable certificates of deposit can meet the needs of banks.

Another "Seminar"

Sen. J. W. Fulbright's seminars on Viet Nam and Communist China didn't exactly earn him the popularity prize from the administration, and some thought they may have contributed to an erroneous impression that the United States was deeply divided over its commitment in Southeast Asia.

Be that as it may, the senator has another "seminar" in mind which offers more useful and constructive potential. This one is to be on European affairs, probably some time after the foreign aid bill is reported out. This could be the most useful of the series, if it can get governmental and outside experts to cover comprehensively and in depth the myriad problems of the Atlantic Community and East-West relations in the European area.

Certainly such a senatorial hearing would not be at a loss for subjects to discuss. These could include the future of NATO after the French withdrawal, the prospects of the European Common Market and the possibility of Britain's future affiliation with it, nuclear and conventional strategies open to the defense of the West, the desirability or otherwise of increasing East-West trade, the distant but probably inevitable reunification of Germany and its consequences, how to get other advanced nations to increase aid and improve trade terms with the underdeveloped lands of the Southern Hemisphere, and so on.

We are under no illusion that hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee could solve any of those and other problems, or even generate a consensus of American opinion on them. But, properly handled, a European "seminar" sponsored by the Fulbright committee surely could help enlighten the American people on problems that many do not even know exist. The "pitiless light of publicity" has some melting power on most any problem of public policy, domestic or foreign.

Marquis Childs Watts: No Real Solution Yet

LOS ANGELES—The heat, the smog, the gray mantle of morning fog have come early this year and what lies ahead in the long, hot summer is shrouded in uncertainty. The rebellion that raged for six days of burning, killing and looting in the Negro community of Watts last August will not, in the hopeful view, occur again.

THE FIRE-BLACKENED ruins have been cleared away and, while the gaping holes on 103rd Street and on Central Avenue give the impression that a selective tornado swept through the area, the visible signs of the disaster are few. Changes have come. With a $450,000 Ford Foundation grant an Opportunities Industrialization Center, for job training and job placement patterned after a similar center in Philadelphia, is opening. A business committee headed by the Chamber of Commerce claims to have found 4,000 jobs for Watts Negroes, which is small in terms of need but it is a beginning.

YET THE BASIC condition remains—a community of perhaps 500,000 souls enclosed in the center of the city almost as tightly as were the walled ghettos out of the Middle Ages imprisoning the Jews in Europe well into the last century. This ghetto aspect, which for all its constructive proposals the McCone commission investigating the rebellion did not confront, appears an underlying cause of the unrest in Watts and in the state's other Negro communities.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown speaks sadly of the tentative plan he had worked out to provide 50,000 jobs at once without waiting for training. These would have been jobs in the state's parks, on the highways, cleaning up local communities. The program would have cost $250,000,000. The state does not have the money and he could not look to Washington because the spiraling cost of the Viet Nam war had closed the door there.

MOST OFFICIALS with whom this reporter talked admitted to a feeling of frustration. They disagreed on where to put the blame for failure to take large-scale constructive action. But almost without exception they did agree that the poverty program has been a mess.

It was dramatized the other day by the firing of Mrs. Opal Jones as head of the Neighborhood Adult Participation Program. Mrs. Jones, with long experience in community service, had got a program going with federal help to bring the poor themselves into direction of a wide variety of activities meant to generate a sense not merely of belonging but of participating and leading. The importance of this in the chaotic, fragmented city, which is part of a huge county divided into more than 70 separate legal entities, can hardly be exaggerated.

MORE THAN perhaps anywhere else in the country, if only because of Mrs. Jones's ability to dramatize the issue, the conflict over the poverty program is seen here as one between politicians determined to control the jobs and an imaginative concept giving outsiders a real sense of belonging and leading. As in other cities, how much control Washington exercises is questionable.

Watts is not alone on the worry register. The governor lists 12 "hot spots" where an explosion can occur. Negro youths hurling Molotov cocktails set fires recently in Marin City, a Negro community near San Francisco. In Oakland deep disaffection among Negroes has long been a source of anxiety.

IN THE WATTS rebellion Negroes suffered far more than whites. The toll of dead was 27 Negroes, seven non-Negroes. They lost jobs and property. This is one reason why, in the hopeful view, Negroes themselves will prevent another full-scale revolt. But as almost everyone agrees the race is against time, and desperation knows no restraint.

Johnson Determined To Do Things His Way

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is a restless man, bent on doing things his way, even though he gets criticized. He's been criticized for not holding more news conferences. He's held fewer, not more.

President John F. Kennedy liked to read a book at night. Johnson takes a bundle of government papers up to his bedroom with him. And, as if that were not enough, telephones people till midnight.

Kennedy had a mixed life, government and social. Johnson's whole life is government and always has been, with some interruptions for the necessary social occasions.

KENNEDY MIGHT stride along the sands at Cape Cod or relax on a yacht. Johnson's idea of relaxing is to march around the White House lawn, drive his own car around his ranch or get a massage every night before bedtime.

And sometimes, in sheer frustration, it seems, he gets away from the center of something that plagues him but that can't be solved right away.

Earlier this year, when his Viet Nam policy was being heavily criticized in the Senate but he had no intention of changing it, he abruptly flew to Honolulu for a conference with South Viet Nam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

KY'S ENEMIES later accused him of being a lackey for running off to Hawaii to meet Johnson.

And now when the Buddhists were in the midst of trying to topple Ky's military government, and the American government seemed in a box about doing anything to stop it, Johnson flew off to his Texas ranch.

Then, after a few days there, he made a 24-hour trip to Mexico, although all this seemed like a good time for him to stay close to the White House since so much was at stake for the United States in Viet Nam.

He could give a simple answer to this, of course. He was in just as close contact with the State Department and Pentagon on his ranch as he would have been at the White House. Possibly he would have more difficulty putting the impulsive brand on his decisions, like ordering the bombing of North Viet Nam resumed after a long pause while peace efforts were made.

NEVERTHELESS, while some of his actions—like the sudden trip to Honolulu—have been criticized as impulsive, his criticisms would have more difficulty putting the impulsive brand on his decisions, like ordering the bombing of North Viet Nam resumed after a long pause while peace efforts were made.

Suburban Weekend Frenzy

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the unsolved problems of the "Great Society" is what to do about suburbanites.

At present they don't quite fit into either the government's antipollution or foreign aid programs, but certainly something needs to be done to help them.

LIFE IS getting too tough for them out there on the farthest rim of civilization.

They fled to the suburbs originally to escape the poisoned air and crowded clutter of the cities. They thought they would find health of body and peace of mind away from the human herd.

But it hasn't worked out that way. Show me a suburbanite and I'll show you an ambulant neurosis, a man overwhelmed by an environment beyond his ability to cope with.

LET US consider Ronald Half-acre, a typical suburbanite. He is a horizontal yo-yo who rides a train five mornings a week to his job in the city, and rides home five evenings a week to a mortgage-covered cottage in the suburbs that looks like it had been cut out of cardboard by a child with a rusty pair of scissors.

Ronald is 35 and looks 50. His thinning hair is whitening fast, his eyes are feverish, his face twitches, and he smokes four packs of cigarettes a day.

What has made Ronald old before his time are those long weekends in the suburbs. They are simply more than human flesh can bear.

A SUBURBAN weekend is his adventure in frenzy, a mixture between a Roman orgy and a basic training course with the U.S. Marines. If you have the idea that suburbanites spend their weekends listening to the birds, forget it. All they hear is the bats in their belly.

Ronald never stops going from the time he steps off his train Friday night until his weary wife shovels his limp frame aboard the 8:12 express Monday morning.

WHAT DOES he do? Ronald parties until nearly dawn, then gets up and paints and scrapes walls and plants beans and fights crab grass and asphyxiates himself burning hot dogs in a backyard pit and parties some more and stays up until dawn again and drives the kids to the beach and parties at the Country Club and parties at the neighbors; paints the crab grass and fights the walls, and parties some more, and yackety-yackety-yaks, and before he knows it, Monday dawn is shining and he is lying there in bed sweating and silently screaming.

MULTIPLY HIS problem 30 million times and you can see why this is a problem that requires government action. Only the government is big enough to deal with it. But unless it does something, American suburbanites probably will go the way of the Dodo and the dinosaur.

Ronald's worst fear is that his office may go on a four-day work week. That means he'd have to face a three-day weekend in the suburbs, and he knows that would be the death of him.

Around The Rim

A Blow For The Unmarried

Well, I have done it once more. I filled out the so-called short form for the Bureau of Internal Revenue people (I understand they call themselves a Service nowadays, but that is probably a redomestic or another form of madness) and found I still owed them money.

EIGHT DOLLARS and 17 cents, precisely. This was over and above the heavy lump they took out of my pay checks before they ever reached my hot little paw.

This business of taxation has always upset me, for I am a fair man, and believe in a government of law, not man, equality of the races and that Everett Dirksen is everybody's father-image.

NOW, I AM a single man (my kin refer to me as a bachelor, but I'm not yet 30 and I disagree), and as such, IRB (or IRS as you prefer) feels I should pay in more of my money than if I were saddled with a worse, (or is it better?) half.

As a matter of fact, according to the tax schedule, I'm paying about 25 per cent more to the government in taxes than I would if I had a wife. Just a wife, no offspring.

I SUBMIT that this is, if not due, as I suspect, to the fact that women run this country, due to an insanity comparable in its illogic to self-immolation via gasoline and penny matches. Of course, these may be merely two facets of a single phenomenon.

It may not be either. But consider:

IT COULD not be that Eternal Revenue believes we single persons need less money on which to exist than marrieds. Holy IBM! We singles must needs eat at restaurants and pay huge laundry bills and hire maids to clean up after us and acquire young lovelies about at gargantuan expense, and that expense is not on the tab.

But isn't the single state our choice, say you? Well, yes and no. Yes if you, in your desire for freedom, avoid females with all the fervor a Don Juan sought them. No if you can't find anyone stupid enough to wed you, or if you wouldn't marry a female that dumb anyway. Which may sound nutty to family types, but to decidedly single people makes perfect sense.

A FINAL ASSAULT: Why should unmarried people be made to pay for their right to remain so?

Could it be because Eternal Reals, as do many otherwise level-headed corporations, that single people are a bit different, not settled down, not sheepish enough, not in the mainstream of socialization and tend to be individuals rather than gray-flanneled "team-men"? And need to be controlled and urged to see the wrongness of their ways, led, by dint of their pocket-books, to seek financial relief in the warm, all-comforting arms of Mother, that is to say, her surrogate, The Wife?

OR COULD IT be simply the arbitrariness of the average, married person, than which there is nothing more arbitrary—or jealous.

'Demonstrations' Out Of Hand

WASHINGTON—The national capital is supposed to be the showplace of America. It is presumed to symbolize free government and the enjoyment of individual security—the highest ideal of a civilized society.

But something happened here on Easter Monday which tarnishes the image of an orderly community. Hundreds of teenagers from Washington rioted at a nearby amusement park, damaging property and looting some of the concession stands. Then the youths moved into the city, throwing rocks and bottles at windows of homes, businesses and cars. The residents of some of Washington's principal streets were terrified for nearly four hours while police sought to bring the mobs under control. Walter Gold, staff writer for the Washington Evening Star, in his story of what happened, said in part:

"DOZENS OF PERSONS were injured, none seriously, during the four-hour disturbance. Property damage was estimated in the thousands, mainly to the amusement park. Homes and automobiles were stoned along both the county and city sections.

"Nearly 200 policemen from several jurisdictions combined forces to restore order. The rioters, turning on the officers, smashed windows of at least a dozen police cars and damaged two ambulances which were carrying injured persons. It was by far the worst and most widespread outbreak of violence in the Washington area within recent years. Police said the disturbance involved no specific inter-racial conflict."

THE AMUSEMENT PARK formerly was segregated in 1961. It now is largely patronized by Negroes, and on Monday the majority of the capacity crowd came by buses from Washington. When individual acts of misconduct and vandalism began to grow into mob action, the operators of the amusement resort shut down the park about six hours before its normal closing at midnight. This is believed to have angered some of the crowd, touching off the riot.

WHILE MOST of the participants were Negroes, this does not explain the phenomenon. For there have been riots in other cities where many whites have been involved.

The basic cause of it all is not just the passions that are aroused over racial questions. It is plainly the result of a feeling that has grown up that the "right to demonstrate" is absolute and that, if violence starts in a crowd, everybody may get into the fight in some way.

WHY IN MANY cities in free America is there so little respect for law and order, and why at any moment can mob action flare up without any cause whatsoever and threaten the lives and property of other persons? Maybe it's because in recent years the courts have upheld the "right to demonstrate" and, even though disorderly conduct is involved, have found some excuse for omitting any punishment.

Police officers are inhibited in trying to restrain the rioters. If they use force, they are accused of "brutality". Indeed, many cities now have civilian commissions to pass judgment on the acts of policemen. This, in turn, causes individual policemen to hesitate to take drastic action, even when it is obviously necessary to use force to put down a disturbance.

IT IS BEGINNING to be wondered how many more tragedies will occur before Congress wakes up to the fact that not merely the national capital but other American cities are being disgraced by violence on the part of teenage groups and others who feel that they have a right to disregard the law, rampage through the streets and commit acts of vandalism whenever they feel so inclined.

The Right Of Decision-Making

WASHINGTON—Vernon J. Veritas, the old truth teller, wasn't very well pleased with how General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors—the big four of the automotive trade—crawled before the scowls of the Senate Commerce Committee.

The car-makers had been caught with their hands in the cash register, and there was no doubt they were selling the public more styling than safety in highway transportation. But there were a lot of things the motor magnates left unsaid.

"THEY MIGHT have said," declared Veritas, "that the Declaration of Independence wasn't just taking up space when it included 'pursuit of happiness' as one of the unalienable rights. It won't do to say that people like cars on which the brakes slip, the accelerators jam and the steering gear stabs them in the chest. But there's a fair assumption that people put a lot of things ahead of personal safety. They like speedy, snappy, exciting vehicles or they would have been demanding them in the market place all these years."

MR. VERITAS wasn't saying, was he, that Congress shouldn't be looking into the matter of highway safety, where more lives are lost over a weekend than in a major Viet Nam battle? "Congress has a duty to inform the people of the dangers and of the deficiencies in automobiles," Veritas averred, "but I would have liked it better if John Bugas of Ford Motors had answered up more sharply instead of begging the committee not to slap on Federal regulatory laws."

"DEMOCRACY expresses itself in free customers' choice just as much as it does at the election polls. It is getting so that Congress does the muck-taking these days, and there's hardly an industry which hasn't been held up to public disgrace for being something less than perfect. The car-makers really don't engineer risk into their products, and tobacco companies didn't invent cancer. If you believe that liberty is equally as important as life, you have got to leave a lot of decisions to the people, including their right to live dangerously."

It doesn't seem likely that Congress will put automotive manufacture under strict regulations, so Mr. Veritas must be thinking about the whole trend of the Welfare State to look for ways of telling people how to live.

"THAT IS WHY I would like to have heard the motor magnates make a better case," Veritas went on. "The way things are going, businessmen in another generation won't know what decision-making is. Instead of pricing a product on the economics of cost and demand, they will be asking whether or not the President approves. It is possible for the drug companies to be so scared of the Food and Drug Administration that there will be no more pioneering in that field."

"PEOPLE ARE already coming to the idea that prosperity is made in Washington, whereas it has been created by entrepreneurs and investors who put new goods on the market, find new ways to finance them and figure out what the consumer wants to buy. The idea that a statesman is somebody who mothers the people isn't likely to make for initiative and independence."

Strange how a landscape sets the imagination to work. Right now, looking at this scene, I can imagine all sorts of things.

Winged steeds riding to heavy music . . . pioneers in the wilderness . . . castles on the cliffs . . . boating at high speeds.

Look at the magic that enables the lake to mirror the rocky mountain peak and the heavens! The vastness and stillness of the scene sets my mind to wondering about time and space and things I will never understand.

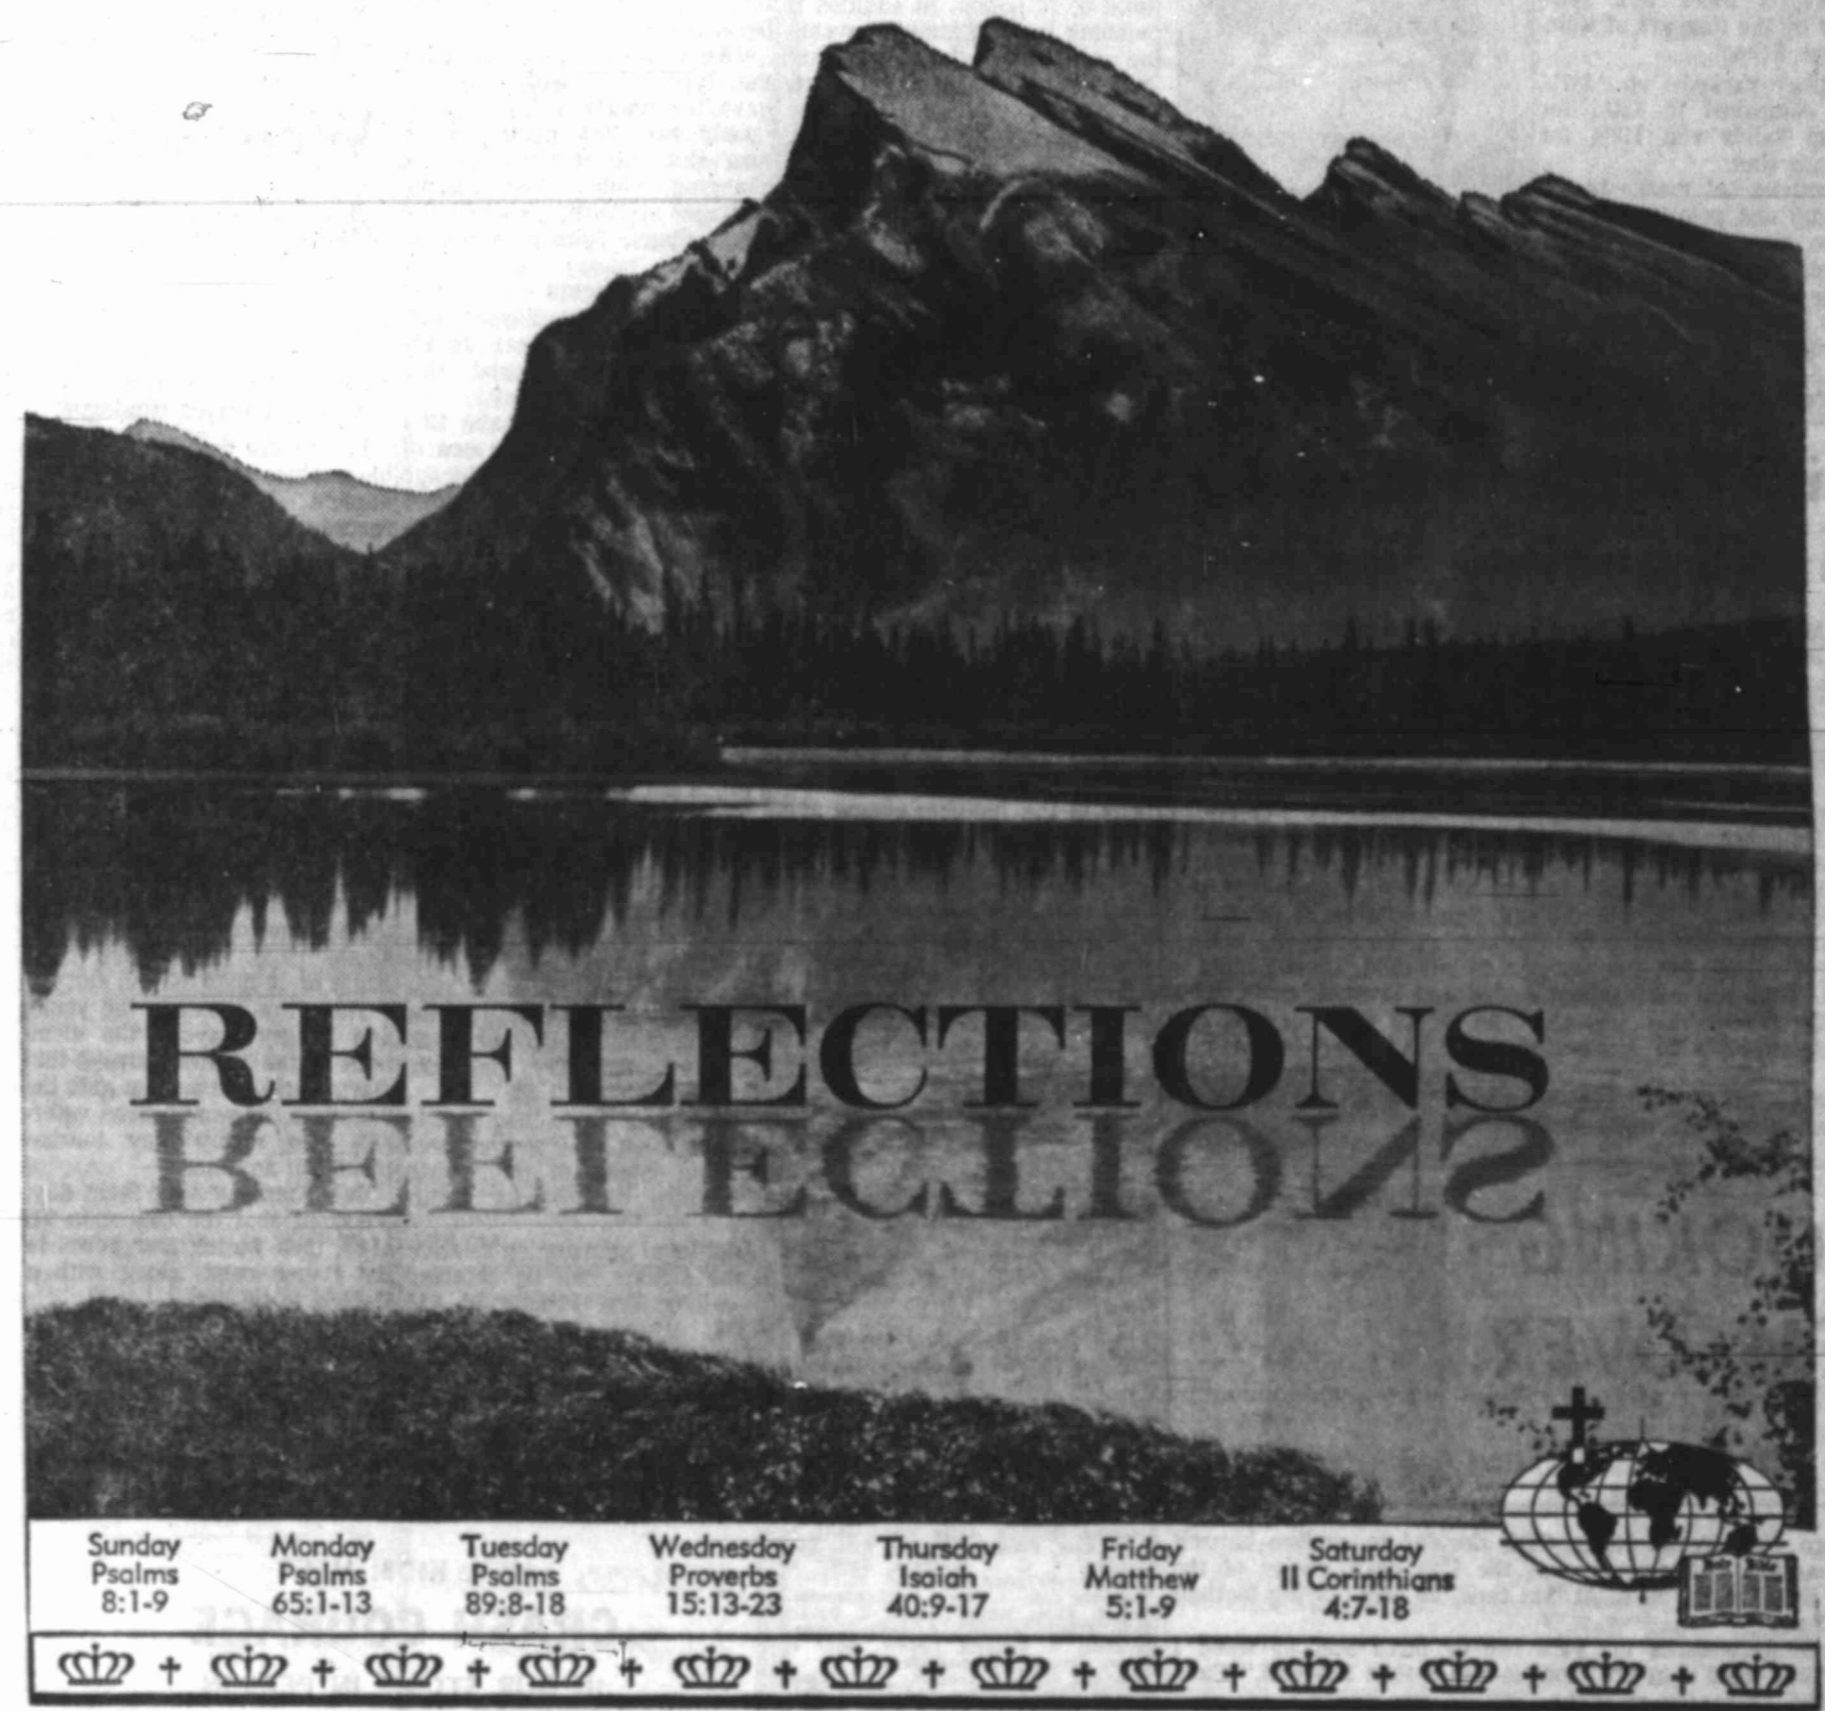

But in standing here and wondering so, I feel like I've been near God.

There is a place where I can find Him always—in Church. Will you come with me?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Klondike, Sands Run 1-2 In Cinder Show

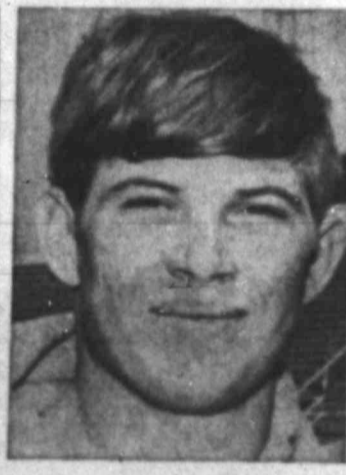

By TOMMY HART

Four records fell and another was tied in District 4-B track and field competition here Thursday, a meet won comfortably by the Cougars of Klondike High School.

Klondike racked up 187 1/2 points, compared to 124 1/2 for runnerup Sands and 110 1/2 for third-place Gail.

Gail entries set marks in the high jump and pole vault while Klondike athletes shattered old standards in the 440-yard run and mile relay event.

Gail's Don Nunnally, who had set a record in the high jump with a 5-10 leap, also tied Robert Winford's three-year old record in the broad jump, when he leaped 19-10.

Nunnally emerged as high point man of the meet with a total of 36 points. In addition to winning the two jumping events, he was second in the 440 and had legs on two second place relay teams.

Kenneth Scott of Klondike counted 26 points while his team mate had 23 1/2.

Ricky Cunningham of the Coyotes cleared 12-3 1/2 in the pole vault to better his own mark, set last year, by 3 1/2 inches.

Kenneth Scott of Klondike sped the 440 in 52.4 to beat the seven-year old record in that event by .7 of a second.

Klondike's winning mile relay team was caught in 3:36.0, easily a record. Running on the foursome were David Neill, Kenneth Scott, Joe Garcia and Barry O'Brien.

Klondike won first places in both relay events, both hurdles, the 100, 220 and 440 while Sands prevailed in the discus, shot put, 300 and mile.

Gail emerged with blue ribbons in the jumping events and pole vault.

Summary:
High Jump—1. Don Nunnally, Gail, 5-10 (New record, Old record 5-8, set by Tommy Burris, Gail, 1963); 2. Ed Etridge, Klondike, 5-8 1/2; 3. Four-way tie between Danny Lightfoot, Dawson; Ricky Miller, Klondike; Dale Kille, Gail; and C. L. Williams, Sands, 5-8.

Mile relay—1. Klondike (David Neill, Ken Scott, Joe Garcia, Barry O'Brien), 5:36.0 (New record, Old record, 5:39.1, set by Klondike in 1963); 2. Gail; 3. Sands; 4. Loop; 5. Dawson; no sixth.
TEAMS TOTAL:
1. Klondike, 187 1/2; 2. Sands, 124 1/2; 3. Gail, 110 1/2; 4. Loop, 29; 5. Dawson, 22 1/2; 6. Flower Grove, 21.

Baird Will Send Mears To Hill Against Flock

Gary Mears, senior righthander who has a 5-3 won-lost record this season, is coach Roy Baird's choice to hurl against Abilene High when the Steers visit that city Saturday for a 2 p.m. District 2-AAAA baseball game.

The Longhorns, who humbled Midland High earlier this week, will be trying to solidify their hold on third place in the district standings and could conceivably deadlock for the second spot. That will come about only if the Steers beat Abilene and Permian loses to Midland Lee.

Abilene got off to a late start but looked like a championship contender Tuesday against Odessa High, a team it beat, 9-3. The Steers will probably get a look at Lefty Forrest Lane, ace of the Abilene mound corps. That is the same Lane who was a standout in football.

Other starters for Big Spring likely will be Yogi Anderson behind the plate, Jerry Wilson at first base, Bill Burchett at second, Sammy Mims at third, Rod Roberts at shortstop, R. J. Engert in left field, Jesse Zapata in center and Berry King in right.

The Steers wind up first half play in 2-AAAA here Tuesday, at which time they oppose San Angelo. Over-all, the locals are now 8-9.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Before West Texan Norm Cash decided to confine himself to the baseball industry, he was the 13th draft choice of the Chicago Bears of the NFL. At that time, he was playing football for Sul Ross.

"There were times the past two or three seasons when I wished I had tried it in pro football rather than baseball," Cash was quoted as saying recently.

Cash had reference to his failure to hit. Norm finished the 1965 season with a flourish, however, and is one of the reasons the Detroit Tigers are favored in the American League race.

Art Crowley, now connected with Gibson's Discount Center here, managed the San Angelo American Legion baseball team for several years.

Perhaps you missed it: Frank Quilici, who performed at second base for the Minnesota Twins in the World Series last fall, quietly was sent down to the minor leagues recently. Now 27, he still has a good shot at a big league career, however.

The April 28-May 1 Texas Open at San Antonio has now grown into an $80,000 event, thanks to a $10,000 windfall from TV. First prize will amount to $12,000, compared to the $7,500 the finish paid last year.

The Texas Open is sandwiched in between the Dallas and Houston tournaments, which should insure the San Antonio people a good field.

CBS-TV is going to televise 109 NFL football games next season, including 102 regular season contests.

First time the Dallas Cowboys will be seen on the hypnotic eye will be Sept. 18, at which time the New York Giants will be in Dallas. (The Cowboys drew the first round bye, will be off the preceding Sunday.)

Post-season attractions to be covered by the television network include the NFL championship game Sunday, Jan. 1; the Playoff Bowl at Miami, Sunday, Jan. 8; and the Pro Bowl at Los Angeles Sunday, Jan. 15.

Mickey Sullivan, who played baseball in the old Longhorn league when Big Spring was a member, is now the baseball mentor at Houston Bellaire.

Shell's Wonderful World of Golf will be screened for the sixth consecutive year in 1967, according to information forwarded here.

The series starts in January and continues for 11 weeks. Jimmy Demaret joins the Shell team next year. Ben Hogan will be one of the contestants again next year.

There's a move here to create another Little League area and park in the American league's section of town, which would give the city five major leagues.

There are unprecedented demands now for the facilities in use and some of the small fry baseball talent is not getting a change to play.

Detroit played three baseball exhibitions in Atlanta in 1965 and left town with $90,000 as its share of the loot. And some observers have been quoted as saying they don't think Atlanta is big league.

Texas League Launches New Diamond Play

By The Associated Press

The storied old Texas League —It started back in 1888—begins a new season Friday night and it will be a three-state affair as usual, but one of the states will be different.

Little Rock has replaced Tulsa, which is moving into the Pacific Coast League.

The opening schedule has El Paso at Albuquerque, Austin at Little Rock and Amarillo at Dallas-Fort Worth.

Hugh Finnerty, president of the league, predicted attendance of 20,000 at the three sites.

When they change stands Sunday for the second round of openers, Finnerty foresaw 12,500, which would make the combined openers total 32,500.

Finnerty, however, is not predicting that the season total will be as much as last year when the six-club Class AA circuit drew 860,847.

He said he anticipated 750,000 because Tulsa drew 215,000 last season and its replacement—Little Rock—appeared likely to draw not more than 125,000.

Dallas-Fort Worth again is the garden spot. This club, playing in its magnificent new stadium at Arlington, pulled in 329,000 in 1965 to top all minor leagues.

But there will be no divisions this time and the six clubs will be in one group.

"We will let the fans vote on the type of playoff we will have," Finnerty said.

Only two 1965 managers return and one of those will be changing clubs. Vern Rapp, manager at Tulsa, goes to Little Rock. Chuck Tanner returns to El Paso.

Other managers are Stan Hack, Dallas-Fort Worth; Bob Kennedy, Albuquerque; Buddy Hancken, Amarillo, and Hub Kittle, Austin.

Hack was at Sale Lake City last year, Kennedy was one of the managers of the Chicago Cubs, Kittle was at Yamima, Wash., and Hancken was inactive.

Friday night's schedule with starting times and anticipated attendance:
El Paso at Albuquerque, 7:45 p.m., 4,000.
Amarillo at Dallas - Fort Worth, 7:30 p.m., 12,000.
Austin at Little Rock, 7:30 p.m., 4,000.

Registration of Teen-Age baseball players in the 13-16 year age bracket will start at the home of Louise Proctor, 1402 Sycamore, Saturday and continue through April 30.

Those planning to take part in the operation this season need to bring copies of their birth certificates plus $3 for insurance.

Additional information relative to the signing can be obtained by calling Mrs. Proctor at AM 3-7855.

Present plans call for the Teen-Age leagues to begin their seasons the final week of school.

Weiskopf, Bauer Pacing Azalea Tournament Play

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Each year the Professional Golfers' Association of America distributes to newsmen a tournament player catalogue.

In its more than 100 pages are biographies of the regular tournament players and their records.

It takes two pages to detail accomplishments of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer and a full page for other top players.

But to find the listings for Tom Weiskopf and Gary Bauer, co-leaders, and Jay Dolan, No. 3 man, going into today's second round of the $20,000 Azalea Open Tournament, you have to look at the "thumbnail sketches" section at the end of the book.

There, five or six players of lesser renown are grouped on a single page, in smaller type. Eight or 10 lines tell the story.

These are basically the young and hungry players, the members of the "dawn patrol" that starts early and seldom gets the headlines, or semi-retired veterans who rarely play tournament golf any more.

But Thursday was their day. Weiskopf shot the course in 34-34-68, then waited four hours to see Bauer come along with a 32-32-68 to tie him.

They split $1,000 which is offered by sponsors for the best daily score. In addition, $500 will go to the 36 and 54-hole

HC Hopefuls In Invitational

Pictured above are five HCJC entries who will compete in an invitational track and field meet at NMMI Saturday. They are, from the left, Robert Horn, Jimmy Jasper, Linwood Wright, Joel Conway and Joe Tighe. Other schools entered at Roswell include the Air Force Academy freshmen, Trinidad JC, Colorado; NMMI, Amarillo, South Plains and Odessa College. Tony Oliva Likely To Better Average

By The Associated Press

Tony Oliva, who won batting championships in each of his first two American League seasons swinging with one hand, has both to work with now so it figures he'll do twice the damage.

Like a home run title to go with his batting crowns perhaps?

Oliva walloped his second homer in as many days Thursday as Minnesota completed a three-game sweep of Kansas City, 4-2.

His homer gave the 24-year-old Cuban outfielder four hits and five runs batted in, in his first 10 at bats this season.

Oliva underwent surgery at the Mayo Clinic last fall to remove bone chips from the middle finger of his right hand. The chips had prevented him from gripping the bat tightly last year and caused him to lose control of it many times.

"I can grip the bat a lot better now," Oliva said. "But I still worry about hurting the finger by hitting it on the knob of the bat."

The young star is wearing a black glove to protect his damaged hand this spring but there's nothing protecting enemy pitchers from his bat.

He went hitless in his first three swings against Kansas City in Tuesday's opener but it bothered neither Oliva nor manager Sam Mele.

In the only other American League games played Thursday, California shaded Chicago 2-1 and Detroit swept a doubleheader from New York 3-2 and 5-2.

Jim Kaat hurled a six-hitter for Minnesota's triumph over Kansas City and got ninth inning help from Jim Merritt, who came on with two out and pinch runner Bert Campaneris on first base. Merritt promptly picked Campaneris off, ending the game.

Baseball Eyes Its Campaign For Rebuttal

MILWAUKEE (AP) — One battle over, baseball is apparently moving toward an appeals court clash with Wisconsin in its continuing legal tug-of-war over the Braves.

Wisconsin not only expects another fight but says it will help get the case priority status before the State Supreme Court to take up the case right away, said Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette Thursday. "We have a state statute that gives priority to cases like this."

"I suppose we would be extremely fortunate if we had a Supreme Court decision by the end of May."

Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller found baseball Wednesday in violation of Wisconsin antitrust law for allowing the transfer of the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta without supplying Milwaukee with a replacement team.

Roller ordered the National League to agree by May 16 to add an expansion team in Milwaukee in 1967. If baseball fails to comply, the Braves must return to Milwaukee this season, the judge said.

Warren Giles, league president, and William Bartholomay, Braves' board chairman, both said Thursday that baseball would immediately appeal the decision.

Bold Peace Gesture By U.S. Urged

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP) — Richard N. Goodwin, who served as a key adviser to President Johnson until last September, suggests the administration should submit a peace plan to Communist North Viet Nam.

Then, he said, the United States should follow up the plan by seeking a meeting between a high level North Vietnamese and a top U.S. official.

In Washington, the State Department said it planned no comment on Goodwin's remarks.

Goodwin, 34, now a staff member at the Center for Advanced Studies at Wesleyan University here, was interviewed by The Associated Press Thursday night.

He proposed the appointment of "some type of governmental structure" in South Viet Nam "that will have the trust of both sides." But he acknowledged that it would be difficult to "find people to fit into a compromise interim government that will be trusted by both sides."

He added, "I am sure there must be people like this, but I admit that it would be a tough job to find them."

Such an interim government, Goodwin said, might take the form of "an international trusteeship of some sort—possibly something under the United Nations."

"It must be such that it will guarantee to all parties that there will, in fact, be free elections and that the victors can take office. We must assure both sides that the results of the election—no matter who wins—will be honored," he said.

Cancer War Makes Gain

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Prospects for a new kind of war on cancer — based on a discovery that malignancies appear to have a "suicidal" tendency — were reported today.

A Johns Hopkins scientist reported evidence suggesting that conventional anticancer weapons like radiation and certain drugs produce their effects — in part at least — by promoting self-destruction of cancer cells.

The same research, he said, also indicates that the way now appears open to using certain common chemicals, such as vitamin A, as helpmates of the conventional anticancer weapons — so as to greatly enhance a cancer's suicidal proneness.

DESCRIBES POTENTIAL

Dr. David Brandes described the research and its potentially important practical possibilities in a report to the 50th convention of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. He amplified at a news conference.

The scientist, clearly excited by the prospects, gave this account of the research and the background facts:

Cancer cells contain tiny particles called lysosomes, which, in turn, contain enzymes capable of destroying the cells if released.

RELEASE ENZYMES

When the present heavy artillery of the anticancer war — radiation or certain drugs — is brought to bear against the cancer, some of the lysosomes release their enzymes, killing the cells.

But the research also discovered something else: that the conventional weapons, for reasons still unknown, cause additional lysosomes to appear within the tumor.

Finally, it was found that use of various common substances, like vitamin A, could cause enzymes to leak from the newly created particles, and enhance the cancer-attacking powers of the conventional weapons.

In animal tests, the combination treatment significantly enhanced the self-destruction of cancer cells, including leukemia, and delayed the resumption of tumor growth.

Midlander's Father Dies

MEXIA, Tex. (AP)—Funeral services were pending late Thursday night for Rufus Peoples, 59, Mexia area rancher who died earlier in the day of an apparent heart attack.

Peoples was a candidate for county judge in Limestone County when he was stricken.

Survivors include his widow, two sons, Roddy Peoples of Midland and Dr. Gray Peoples of Sonora, and one daughter, Miss Charlotte Peoples, a student at the University of Texas.

Peoples was a former member of the Texas A&M board of Regents.

Poll Tax Ruling Review Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Review of a lower federal court ruling that Texas may not make payment of a poll tax a condition to voting in local elections has been requested of the Supreme Court by the state.

Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said if the court does not act on the appeal, there will be no valid state voter registration system for 1967 unless a special session of the Legislature is called before Oct. 1.

The lower court ruling Feb. 9 at Austin caused Gov. John Connally to call the Legislature into special session to enact a registration law. Texas' only form of voter registration had been collection of $1.50 annually as a poll tax.

The new law established a 15-day registration period for the 1966 election for those who had not paid the poll tax. A permanent system of voter registration was made conditional on Supreme Court action on an appeal from the Feb. 9 ruling or adoption of an amendment to the Texas Constitution abolishing payment of the poll tax as a voting prerequisite.

The amendment will be voted on in the general election in November but won't take effect until 1968 if passed.

Carr and two assistants appeared before the Supreme Court Thursday and said they believed the question of the poll tax had been settled by the court's March 24 decision in two Virginia cases that the poll tax may not be used as a condition to voting.

They nevertheless urged action on their appeal, declaring Texas could be without a valid voter registration for 1967 unless a special session of the Legislature is called.

The next regular session of the Legislature in Texas is not scheduled until Jan. 10, so a special session will have to be called before Oct. 1 unless the appeal is prosecuted to final action.

Fibers Imperil Cotton Status

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cotton is in danger of losing its rating as a major American crop and man-made fibers are responsible, says the National Cotton Council.

To counter this trend, the council Thursday urged speedy senate approval of a House-passed bill to let the government collect $1 a bale from growers to intensify research on making cotton competitive with other fibers.

The council represents growers, merchants, ginners, spinners and others involved in producing, marketing and processing cotton. It says the man-made fibers are shoving cotton into a declining share of markets for fiber materials used in clothing, household and industrial products.

"Cotton farmers literally have their backs to the wall," the council said. "In their effort to meet price competition, they have been increasing efficiency and productivity, but continual cutbacks in cotton production damage efficiency and raise units costs."

"Unless farmers are to lose cotton as a major crop, they must have larger markets to accommodate higher efficiency and productivity."

Blakeslee, AP Writer, Honored CHICAGO (AP) — Alton Blakeslee, Associated Press science writer, has been named winner of the Sigma Delta Chi award for general reporting in 1965. The award to Blakeslee for a 10-part series on science was one of 16 awards announced Thursday by the professional journalism society in its 34th annual Distinguished Service in Journalism competition.

Only 40 Horses Left In Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — The horse is making a last, largely ceremonial stand in the Army. Once numbered in the many thousands, the horses that serve the military have dwindled to 40.

Only one government-owned cavalry horse survives. He is Chief, a 34-year-old bay gelding who passes his time in retirement at Ft. Riley, Kan., while his successors — the truck, tank, plane and helicopter — fight a war in Viet Nam.

The coffins of some victims of that conflict return here for burial in Arlington National Cemetery. Teams of blacks and grays from a stable of 27 are used on an average of twice daily each weekday to pull the solemn black caisson with its casket to the gravesite during military funerals.

CAISSON SECTION The caisson section horses are trained, fed, exercised, and groomed by soldiers of the 1st Battalion, 3rd Infantry at Ft. Myer, which adjoins the cemetery.

A few miles north, near Olney, Md., 12 other Army horses are used to provide serum for vaccines and studies by the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research.

And two mules are kept for "school spirit," as the Army puts it, at the military academy at West Point, N.Y.

Caisson horses have been part of the Army establishment in

LBJ Ranch Area Klan Rally Site

BEAUMONT (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan plans a rally May 4 in a field 15 miles from President Johnson's LBJ Ranch, the grand dragon of the Texas Klan, Jack Cannon, said Thursday.

Cannon said klansmen from throughout the South are expected.

The main speaker will be the imperial wizard of the Klan, Robert Shelton, Tuscaloosa, Ala., Cannon said.
