May Oil Allowable Hike OK'd

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Railroad Commission increased the oil production allowable today for the month of May to 35.0 per cent of potential. It is the first time since 1959 the May allowable has been increased.

WAS FORECAST Industry leaders were not surprised. Many had forecast an increase to 34 or 34.5 per cent. The May allowable means 3,245,537 barrels a day may be produced. This is an increase of 75,700 over April's allowable.

TEXACO REQUEST A spokesman for Texaco requested a percentage "in excess of 39.0." Texaco asked for 36.0 for April.

U.S. Military Power Called History's Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today the nation's military strength is so great that it has been able to commit 325,000 men to the Viet Nam war without calling up Reservists or controlling the economy.

BEFORE PANEL McNamara made only brief mention of Viet Nam and Southeast Asia in a statement to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He devoted the bulk of his statement to arguments in support of the administration's $917-million military aid program to allies and friends around the world.

FORD'S TIRADE McNamara's appearance came a day after Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford "went pretty far" when Ford charged the administration with "shocking mismanagement" of the war.

MILITARY TOTAL McNamara did not elaborate in his testimony on the 325,000 figure. But he evidently meant the 240,000 U.S. servicemen in Viet Nam, some 60,000 with 7th Fleet ships operating off Viet Nam, some 13,000 in Thailand and thousands of others on Guam where B-52 bombers are stationed.

CENTO Treaty Declared Vital

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) - Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the Central Treaty Organization nations today their alliance is still needed because the Communists have not renounced world revolution.

BITTER EXPERIENCE Indeed, some Communist leaders openly advocate the use of force for this purpose, as we have learned through bitter experience in Southeast Asia.

VIGILANCE REQUIRED "The threat in this form may become more dangerous over the last year," he said. "This is something on which we need to maintain our vigilance."

DISAPPROVAL SHOWN Bhutto's failure to attend last year's CENTO foreign ministers' meeting in Iran was interpreted at the time as a show of disapproval of Pakistan's Western allies because of the arms they furnished India.

Choirs Join For Thursday Concert

One hundred and eighty voices will join in a mighty anthem Thursday evening when the Big Spring High School Goliad and Rannels Junior High School choirs have their joint concert.

This will be the finale of the program when the singers join in York's "Once to Every Man and Nation." Concert time is 8 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium.

Proceeds go to the Choir Booster projects, among them the transportation for choir members for the projected May 4-8 trip to Fort Worth, Huntsville and New Orleans. Other programs such as scholarships, robes, etc. also will benefit. Residents are urged to support the concert with purchase of tickets ($1 adults, 50 cents students). The Rannels choir will sing Tye's "O Come Ye Servants," then "Christ We Adore Thee," followed by "Never Tell Thy Love" by Bright, and the Negro spiritual, "Two Wings."

Goliad's numbers are "Alleluia" by James, "Benedictus a Hossanah" by Brith, "Ave Verum" by Mozart, and "Ride the Chariot," a Negro spiritual by Smith. High school selections include "Ave Maria" by Rachmaninoff; "Walking on Green Grass," Henagin; "Since All is Passed" Hindemith.

Searching Swamp For Missing Persons

Sheriff's deputies and volunteers search a swamp area 12 miles east of Morgan City, La., for the bodies of 35-year-old Mrs. Barbara Ann Verrett and her three children who are missing and feared dead. Officers found a pair of bloody shoes in the area that were identified as belonging to one of the children but have found no trace of any bodies. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Louisiana Swamp Search Resumes For Missing Four

BERWICK, La. (AP)—The search resumed today for a missing mother and her three children—and for the man officers want to question about their disappearance.

About 50 men, aided by a helicopter, searched a snake-infested swamp area Tuesday until darkness ended the hunt.

The swamp lies near the four-bedroom frame home where blood splattered rooms and broken furnishings led officers to believe the house was the scene of a desperate struggle.

PATROL ALERTED
Sheriff Chester Baudoin issued an all-points bulletin for the arrest of Roy Mejia, 26. The U.S. Border Patrol at the Mexican border also was alerted.

The missing were Mrs. Barbara Ann Verrett, 35, and her three children, Brenda Ann, 15, Lucie, 13, and Robert Verrett Jr., 11.

Sheriff Baudoin said Mejia served six months in the La-Fourche Parish jail in Thibodaux on a charge of attempted rape of a 7-year-old girl. He added that Mejia and his uncle, Bernardo Mejia, had been staying at the Verrett home.

BLOODY DISARRAY
Bernardo Mejia told officers he returned to the house Sunday night after a week at sea as a shrimp boat deckhand, and found the doors locked and blankets hung across the windows. He got in through a rear window, saw the bloody disarray and called officers.

Lion's Owners Roar At Ban

PIEDMONT, Calif. (AP)—Simba, Piedmont's friendly neighborhood lion, has been outlawed by the City Council. But not without a roar from his owners.

Students Grab Red Consulate

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesian students have occupied Communist China's deserted consulate in Jakarta after ransacking it again.

More than 100 members of the anti-Communist student organization Karni took over the building Tuesday, burned remnants of furniture and bundles of papers in the yard and painted anti-Chinese slogans on the walls.

They said the Jakarta military command had given them permission to use the consulate as a headquarters.

NO RESISTANCE
The Chinese left only servants in the building after a student mob sacked it for the first time a month ago. The students said the servants offered no resistance.

The seizure of the consulate building was the second anti-Chinese action in the Indonesian capital in four days. About 2,000 Indonesians of Chinese descent ransacked the Chinese Embassy in another part of the city last Friday. The attack brought a stiff protest from Peking.

Strong anti-Communist and anti-Chinese sentiments have swept Indonesia since the pro-Peking Indonesian Communist party backed an unsuccessful coup attempt last Oct. 1. Peking was accused of supplying arms to some of the Communist rebels.

STRAINED RELATION
Foreign Minister Adam Malik said "an excess of the people's wrath" was responsible for the anti-Chinese outbursts and the strained relations between Indonesia and China, the official news agency Antara reported today.

"This is natural if we relate these excesses to the present situation of Indonesian society," Malik told representatives of Christian students.

Malik did not explain further but implied Communist activities in the country were responsible for the anti-Chinese outbursts.

"He has never done any harm to anyone or any damage in the neighborhood," says Art Quaife, who shares a three-bedroom house with the big cat's co-owner, Pete Clay—and the lion.

Quaife and Clay, young graduate students in mathematics at the nearby University of California Berkeley campus describe the lion with such adjectives as "lovable," "cool" and "lion-hearted."

CALLED DANGER

The Piedmont City Council describes Simba as a potential danger. They passed an ordinance Monday night banning lions throughout Piedmont, a San Francisco East Bay area residential community of 11,000.

Simba is the only lion in town. Simba's owners said the beast is just a babe in the woods—not a ferocious king of the jungle. "The lion has visited the park, but on a leash and we let no one touch it," Quaife says. "It only runs loose in our house."

FIGHT ORDINANCE
The students are retaining a lawyer to fight the ordinance.

Quaife says that Simba, at eight months, "is too young for a full-throated roar, although he tries." He was born in the Seattle zoo.

Although Simba is frisky and likes to chew up sofas and chair legs, he has nothing else more savage on his mind than gulping down 25 pounds of meat every day, his owners assert.

The owners bought the lion six months ago from a Los Angeles animal supplier for films and circuses. Why?

"It's an experience living with a beast of the jungle and we'll keep him as long as we can," Quaife says. "When we can't, we figure he'll let us know."

The matter came before the City Council after Police Chief Lou Guider reported Simba had jumped a fence and was caught by some high school boys.

Win Seen By Martin

By The Associated Press

Voter registration law reforms remained the favorite subjects Tuesday of three candidates in the race for the attorney general's office.

One of the candidates, Crawford Martin, also predicted victory. "There is a possibility I can win without a runoff," he said.

Martin said he will have "plenty to say" about voter registration if elected. He said he feels the attorney general has a large role in voter registration.

Speaking in Marshall, the former secretary of state denied his second trip to East Texas was aimed at breaching the stronghold of Galloway Calhoun, one of his two opponents in the May 7 primary.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Speaking in Corpus Christi, Calhoun claimed he is the one of the candidates who gave law enforcement officers solid support while in the Legislature.

He said he voted against the revised criminal code and also tried to convince Gov. John Connally to open the recent special session for consideration of changes in the code "that will return authority to law enforcement officers."

Alleged voter registration irregularities in Bexar and Neuces counties would not have occurred if the Legislature approved a permanent registration bill, said Franklin Spears, the third attorney general candidate.

Spears said he would enforce registration law regardless of what he may be if he is elected.

"However, it is my personal hope that Texas will not long remain the only state in the union without some type of permanent voter registration," he said.

HITS CONNALLY

Houston oil man Stanley Woods, one of Gov. Connally's opponents, said Connally "wants to destroy the national Democratic party and the Republican party and set up a monopoly - crat-type - government whose only masters are the lobbyists."

The registration law, "which has caused so much confusion," Woods said, was Connally's responsibility.

Texas has the historic and scenic attractions to be the No. 1 tourist state in the nation, said Connally at a courthouse dedication program at Galveston.

Earlier in the day, Connally had dedicated the new Canyon Dam on the Guadalupe River. Texans, he said, should think of future generations in planning recreation facilities.

RACIAL BIAS

Racial discrimination in state government is still too much prevalent, said Paul Haring, a Democratic candidate for railroad commissioner.

Haring said, that if elected, he would seek to eliminate such discrimination.

Byron Tunell, the incumbent railroad commissioner, attended a coffee in Lubbock Tuesday and returned to Austin for a railroad commission hearing on monthly proration which was to be held today.

Antibiotics Abuse Alleged By Doctor

NEW YORK (AP) — A noted pediatrician who pioneered in the treatment of "blue-babies" said today some doctors are abusing the use of antibiotics for children.

"There is no denying that the introduction of wonder drugs has changed the practice of medicine," Dr. Willis J. Potts said in an interview. "But there are too many instances where the administration of such drugs to children is being abused."

Noting that a patient may build up an immunity to wonder drugs, he advised that they "should be used sparingly — or else, you will destroy their usefulness."

E. P. SCHMID

Schmid Presides At Legion Meet

Ellis P. Schmid, Slaton, 19th District Commander of the American Legion, will preside over the spring convention of the organization to be held in the Hilton Hotel, Plainview, April 23-24.

Schmid, a retired Army major, was a member of the famous Lost Battalion of World War II, surviving the famed Bataan Death March. Since his retirement he has been active in the American Legion, and has inaugurated a new program of zone meetings among the posts of the district which is proving interesting and effective.

The color guard from the Big Spring post will serve as the convention color guard.

MADE HISTORY

Dr. Potts, a native of Sheboygan, Wis., who is now retired, made medical history 20 years ago when he performed an operation on a 21-month-old "blue-baby" girl that allowed more blood to flow from her heart to the lungs.

The girl, Diane Schnell, of Westbury, N.Y., is an art student today at the New York Institute of Technology.

"She was as blue as a blotter when I first saw her," the doctor recalled. "Look at her today. She's normal and would have died in a few weeks if we hadn't operated on her."

Miss Schnell plans to attend the launching this week of a new book by Dr. Potts entitled "Your Wonderful Baby."

NEEDLESS ANXIETY

"I answer most of the questions anxious mothers usually ask about their children," Potts said. "And I try and show them how foolish it is in many cases to get all worked up and call the doctor in the middle of the night when the child may be suffering just some everyday ailment that will go away with proper care at home."

On the subject of wonder drugs, Dr. Potts said they "don't do one bit of good in battling a common cold or a minor virus. The physician should make certain before prescribing such drugs that the case warrants it."

Big City Trouble Spots Target Of Youth Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Neighborhood Youth Corps, one of President Johnson's leading weapons in the war against teenage lawlessness, is beefing up its summer programs in potential big city trouble spots.

To do it, it's cutting back some programs elsewhere.

Officials indicated in interviews today that projects in some predominantly Negro, low-income areas such as Watts and Harlem will be increased by 50 per cent or more.

PRODUCE JOBS

Over-all plans still are tentative but the Job Corps expects to take 190,000 teenagers off the streets this summer and put them to work — 50,000 more than a year ago.

The program was given a presidential boost last week when Johnson ordered the corps to extend its summer program to an additional 25,000 boys and girls as part of the government's youth opportunity program.

But getting more spots to fill won't solve all the problems, sources said. For example, at the time of the Watts riots in Los Angeles last summer more than 1,000 jobs were authorized but unfilled.

PROVIDE TRANSPORTATION

"Part of the program is getting jobs and part is getting them filled," said one Job Corps aide. This summer Job Corps officials have arranged transportation to take the Watts youths to and from work — a problem many of them cannot cope with in the sprawling Los Angeles area.

Despite the unfilled Job Corps quota in Watts last summer, it has been classified as a potential crisis spot and will be given more Job Corps attention.

Supermarkets Packed With New Products

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans' insatiable appetites for new products — and their reluctance to part with old favorites — are creating problems for the nation's supermarkets.

It is the battle for the big inch on the store shelf.

Theodore A. Von Der Ahe, president of Von's Grocery Co. in California, estimates his stores carry about 15,000 items.

Another 4,000 to 5,000 are offered to the stores each year, of which they take about 1,000.

SQUEEZE SPACE
"With new items coming out all of the time, you have to knock out some items or squeeze the shelf space on existing ones," said William A. Schroeder, vice president, consumer marketing, Corn Products Co.

That is why from time to time a 16-ounce bottle of root beer or a breakfast cereal will disappear from the shelves.

Consumer loyalty is high, and both the stores and the manufacturers are worried that the housewife will switch to a competitor.

PLEASE CUSTOMER
"We try to take care of her as long as we can," Schroeder said.

The company estimates that it may take 10 years to get housewives to switch from its old starch to its new spray.
"We use samples and coupons to try to get them to switch," a company spokesman said.
"But consumers know what they want, and it's not necessarily what you do."

The government has estimated that three-fourths of Americans working in 1975 will be dealing with products that don't even exist today.

NEW PRODUCTS
Campbell Soup Co. products have multiplied from 44 to more than 400 since 1954. General Foods Corp. introduced 17 new products in 1965, and General Mills, Inc. had 10. Green Giant Co. brought out 30.

Gordon Ellis, executive vice president, Pet Milk Co., estimates about 95 per cent of new products and brands introduced either are unsuccessful or fall far short of expectations.
Ellis said that 65 years ago, the life expectancy of a new product was at least 20 years. Now, with increased competition, it is less than seven years in the food industry, and still dropping.

More of the proposed products are being weeded out along the line — in early stages of exploration, screening, business analysis, development or testing.

P-TA Meeting Set Sunday

COAHOMA (SC) — The regular Parent-Teachers Association meeting, scheduled originally for Monday, will be held Sunday afternoon instead.

There will be a tea at the high school activities room at 2 p.m. honoring scholarship in the junior and senior high levels. One boy and girl from each of the grades from seven through 12 will be presented certificates for their scholarship achievements, said Mrs. G. B. Harding, president.

Remarried In France

Film star Sophia Loren, who remarried producer Carlo Ponti in the Paris suburb of Bougavil last April 9, is shown here after revealing the wedding Tuesday. The wedding, followed the couple's earlier proxy marriage which led to bigamy charges resulting from Ponti's Mexican divorce from wife No. 1. The Loren-Ponti proxy marriage had ended in divorce in France. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Pilot Show Sample Finds No Sponsor

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — It may save money for the producers, but it may postpone summer returns for a week. But it is debatable whether it is wise to broadcast a pilot show made only to convince network executives and advertising agencies that they should order up a whole series after seeing the sample.

One of those samples, "Assault," was shown Tuesday night during the hour that ABC normally devotes to "Combat," and except for the camouflage helmets, it was hard to tell the difference. "Combat" is a long-running series about the infantry's bitter battle across France two decades ago, "Assault" proposed to tell the same story about Marines in the South Pacific.

It did not find a sponsor, but it is hard to understand why it failed. It had everything that "Combat" has, including pretty much the same script. All that was necessary was to substitute Japanese for Nazis, add a bit of fake philodendron to Hollywood's backdrop, underbrush to simulate a tropical jungle, and hold the final shootout on a beach instead of around a French cathedral.

The president of NBC News, William McAndrews, Tuesday offered ABC and CBS the opportunity to broadcast its special program, "Lyndon Johnson's Texas." The NBC special, with the President acting as guide part of the time, is scheduled for NBC broadcast May 9. McAndrews said the other networks may broadcast the show then or at a later date.

It was a journalistic scoop for NBC, similar to the time CBS had Mrs. John F. Kennedy lead a television tour of the White House. Both NBC and ABC carried the program.

Pope Paul VI Names Bishop Of Brownsville

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope Paul VI named Monsignor Humberto Medeiros of Fall River, Mass., as bishop of Brownsville, Tex., today.

The bishop-elect has been chancellor of the Diocese of Fall River and pastor of the Church of St. Michael there.

In Brownsville he will succeed Bishop Adolph Marx who died Nov. 1, 1965, in Cologne, Germany, during the second Vatican Council.

The appointment of Bishop Medeiros, 50, a native of the Azores, was announced by Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, apostolic delegate to the United States.

The new bishop will be ordained June 15, 1966, in St. Mary's Cathedral in Fall River by Bishop James E. Cassidy. He served as an assistant on the Fall River Diocese at St. John of God Church, St. Michael's Church, Mt. Carmel Church and Holy Name Church, and as bishop's secretary before being named vice chancellor and then chancellor.

Hurricane Forecast Alterations Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Texas A&M University scientist says weather forecasters may have a basis for changing their thinking in predicting the movements, growth and dissipation of hurricanes.

Dr. Dale Lepper, A&M oceanography professor, made this observation Wednesday in a report to the American Geophysical Union's annual meeting.

His remarks were based on oceanic observations by a scientific team he headed immediately before and after Hurricane Betsy lashed the Gulf of Mexico coast last year. The team earlier observed effects of Hurricane Hilda (1964) on the ocean.

SYSTEMATIC FINDING

Lepper said his group's observations are the first of a systematic nature both preceding and following a hurricane.

"We made observations using the fully equipped oceanographic research vessel Alaminos, which means we obtained unquestionable data," Lepper said. "Heretofore, information of this type from merchant ships has been scattered and erratic."

"Our surveys indicate that hurricanes move aside the warm layer of surface water leading to the upwelling of deeper cold water. It is apparent this would alter the amount of energy received from the ocean by evaporation and conduction of heat," Lepper continued. "It would thus also change the further development and possibly the path of the storm."

Lepper checked surface temperatures with bucket thermometers, continuous thermograph and bathythermograph recordings. He also obtained sub-surface temperatures and chemical data from hydrographic casts, and gathered biological samples from net tows.

Betsy belted the southern Gulf Coast September 9 with winds as high as 130 miles per hour, causing $1.4 billion damages.

Lepper directed a follow-up cruise Sept. 10. The team had returned Aug. 24 from an eastern Gulf cruise to determine the undisturbed characteristics of the Gulf before arrival of the first hurricane of the 1965 season.

BIGGER EYE

"Betsy was different from Hilda, a major hurricane of 1964. She moved faster (15 to 22 m.p.h.) and had a bigger eye," Lepper reported.

"As fate would have it, Betsy crossed three of the lines along which we had just measured undisturbed Gulf conditions," he continued. "Each line was about 300 miles long."

"Sea surface temperatures decreased less after Betsy than after Hilda," he pointed out. "Instead of a cool center, there were cool areas along each side of Betsy's path, indicating that not all of the originally warm layer of surface water had been displaced."

Bank Robbery Contains Movie Script Ingredients

MUSCLE SHOALS, Ala. (AP)—The holdup of the Muscle Shoals National Bank Tuesday contained all the ingredients of a movie script — a 40-minute gunfight, police commandeering a car, and a bandit who shot himself.

Police Chief C. G. Ayers said Grover Lasko Tidwell Jr., 26, Sheffield, Ala., and Johnny Wilson Holland, 27, Tusculum, Ala., are being held on federal bank robbery and state robbery charges.

SOUNDS ALARM

A bank teller started the chain of events by setting off a burglar alarm when one of the gunmen ordered, "Fork over the money."

Ayers and Officer H. H. Smith, about four miles from the bank, were alerted by police radio and began speeding toward town. But their car overheated and stalled.

The police chief flagged down Homer N. Longshore, an insurance man of nearby Florence, and commandeered his car — without explanation.

CAPTURE ONE

As the officers approached the bank, located on the main street in this north Alabama city, two masked men started out. The policemen ran toward Tidwell, who shot himself in the hip while attempting to raise his gun. He was captured.

Holland ducked back into the bank and held off officers during a fierce 40-minute gunfight. Bank employees and customers huddled on the floor.

Ayers and Smith were joined by police from adjoining Florence, Sheffield and Tusculum during the battle.

During a lull in the shooting, the officers moved into the bank and found Holland with two bullets in his chest, Ayers said. Lying next to him was a pillow case which the police chief said contained $25,500 in cash.

Further Limit On Libel Ruled

NEW YORK (AP) — A state supreme court justice has held that a private citizen is limited in recovery of damages for libel if his conduct has made him a public figure and his private life is not defamed.

In a 13-page decision, Justice Samuel J. Silverman extended a landmark 1964 doctrine in which the U.S. Supreme Court applied similar limitations to public officials, in the absence of "actual malice."

Silverman's pronouncement came Tuesday as he dismissed a $1-million libel suit brought by Nobel Prize-winner Linus Pauling against the magazine National Review and its editor, William F. Buckley Jr.

LEGAL LANDMARK
Pauling's lawyer, Michael Levi Matar, said he did not know yet whether he would appeal the decision, which promises to become a legal landmark in its own right if allowed to stand.

Justice Silverman wrote: "It is clear that if any private citizen has by his conduct made himself a public figure engaged voluntarily in public discussion of matters of grave public concern and controversy, Dr. Pauling has done so."

"Dr. Pauling has added the prestige of his reputation to aid the causes in which he believes. I merely hold that by doing so he also limited his legal remedies for any claimed libel of his reputation."

Buckley, a Republican who ran for mayor of New York last year as a Conservative, told newsmen:

"I think the National Review has been vindicated and the meaning of the judgement in calling Dr. Pauling one of the nation's leading fellow-travelers is not, in the court's opinion, a reckless disregard of the known facts."

SUES FOR LIBEL
Pauling won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1952 and the Nobel Chemistry Prize in 1954. He was among those who early condemned the presence of American personnel in Viet Nam and in 1962 The National Review said of him:

"Are such persons Communists? Some such undoubtedly are, but there is not publicly at hand the full proof, of the kind demanded by the courts, that they are Communists in the total, deliberate, disciplined organizational sense."

Pauling sued for libel. In a trial that began more than six weeks ago, Pauling presented what Silverman said on its face was a case of libel, subject to a decision by a jury of six men and six women.

However, in taking the case away from the jury and dismissing it, Silverman cited the Supreme Court case of Sullivan versus the New York Times. In 1964, the high court nullified a $500,000 libel judgment made to Police Commissioner L. B. Sullivan of Montgomery, Ala., against the newspaper.

COURT'S OPINION

"The constitutional guarantees (of the First and 14th Amendments)," the Supreme Court held, "require, we think, a federal rule that prohibits a public official from recovering damages for a defamatory falsehood relating to his official conduct unless he proves that the statement was made with 'actual malice' — that is, with knowledge that it was false or with reckless disregard of whether it was false or not."

Silverman cited another case in which, ironically, Pauling himself lost a libel action for $500,000 against the New York Daily News. Referring to the Times doctrine, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals held in a 1964 decision absolving the Daily News of libel.

"Although the public official is the strongest case for the constitutional compulsion of such a privilege, it is questionable whether in principle the decision can be so limited. A candidate for public office would seem an inevitable candidate for extension... Once that extension was made, the participant in public debate on an issue of grave public concern would be next in line..."

Silverman noted that for 20 years Pauling has publicly expressed public concern about a possible nuclear war, has made more than 750 speeches on the subject, has traveled around the world and pressed his views on heads of state, ambassadors and other public officials.

West Texans Place Wreath On JFK Grave

WASHINGTON (AP)—A large delegation of West Texas businessmen and civic leaders wound up a two-day visit here Tuesday by placing a wreath on the grave of President Kennedy in Arlington National Cemetery.

The delegation, some 100 from the 16th Texas Congressional District and 13 from Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, were to fly home today. The Mexican visitors were to go to Boston to take part in Mexican Week ceremonies.

Most of the Texans were from El Paso, but the group also included residents of Midland, Odessa, Pecos and Marathon.

They attended a dinner Tuesday night in honor of the Texas and New Mexico congressional delegations. The dinner was also attended by members of the Defense Language Institute, which is to be moved from Washington to El Paso.

Earlier in the day they attended a luncheon. Frank Silberts of the State Department was speaker, filling in for Assistant Secretary of State Douglas McArthur II, who was ill.

They also met with Sargent Shriver, head of the Office of Economic Opportunity, Joseph Swanner of the Small Business Administration; Robert G. Lewis, administrator of the Rural Community Development Service of the Agriculture Department; and A. Tyler Port, Assistant secretary of the Army for installations and logistics.

Federal Economic Domination Flayed

HOUSTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court and its connection with economic affairs came under fire Tuesday from William J. Flittie, Southern Methodist University Law School professor.

Flittie, speaking to the Southern Gas Association's 58th annual convention, said "a majority of the court today plainly enough believes all real economic power should be centralized in the national government..."

ELECTORAL COLLEGE
He also struck out at the Electoral College, saying the national election system must be reformed in order to end federal invasion of the nation's economic life.

"Opponents of federal usurpation," Flittie said, must "win that fight." Otherwise, he said, "we fight only a hopeless delaying action in which time is swiftly running out."

He cited developments under the Natural Gas Act of 1938 as examples of what he called the "perverting" of the unlimited economic powers Congress has held.

Congress, Flittie said, did not intend to regulate natural gas production. Through Supreme Court action, the Federal Power Commission now has this authority.

CONSUMERS PAID
The odds are good, Flittie continued, that "consumers as a group have paid more for commission regulation than they would have paid without it."

Turning to the Electoral College, Flittie said it has "never worked as intended, but has been manipulated to deliver the full voting weight of a state, without regard for the rights of dissenting voters, to the candidate who carries the state."

The professor said this country's presidential races "degenerate into a scramble for the favor of the minorities and the ordinary public be damned."

Zoo Barbers For Biting Lion

WINFIELD, W.Va. (AP) — The West Virginia Zoo has traded a monkey, a bear and a baby llama for the lion which mauled a model at the International Automobile Show in New York.

"He is not a mean animal," said Zoo Director Bob Hatfield. "I think he is going to make a good exhibit."

Hatfield said the 225-pound lion was bartered away from the Tote-Em-In Zoo, Wilmington, N.C.

The model, Nell Theobald, 22, underwent plastic surgery after the lion with which she had posed scratched and bit her April 8.

Sen. Carl Hayden Is Man Of Silent Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — In its long and often turbulent history, the U.S. Senate has produced demagogues, dolts, flash-in-the-pan, nonentities, egomaniacs, conscientious plodders and, happily, an occasional statesman. But it has turned out only one Carl Hayden, and the suspicion is that there will never be another. This shrewd 88-year-old Democrat has been in Congress ever since Arizona became a state — a record-shattering 54 years. HARD WAY He has done this the hard way. In a temple dedicated to windbagery, he has kept his mouth shut while astutely pushing out invisible tentacles of power. "Carl can walk through fresh snow and never leave a track," an admiring colleague once said. There are few other modern politicians who have done more to change the face and plot the future of Arizona. Deserts bloom, highways span the land, foreign aid wobbles through, all because Hayden has known whom to prod and how and when. That well-advised prodder of Congress, Lyndon B. Johnson, was recognizing a fellow craftsman when he said: "I know of no more effective servant in public life today than Carl Hayden." HE'S 'UNKNOWN' Yet few senators are as unknown — and what national recognition he does get is for the wrong reason. After President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, Johnson addressed Congress, and for the first time many voters became aware of the importance of two emaciated elders perched behind the new President. If something had happened to LBJ, Speaker John McCormack, 72, was long a leader of the Social Democrats. Art Show Plans Firmed Mrs. Frank Hartley hosted members of the Big Spring Art Association Tuesday evening when they met to make plans for the May 27-29 Texas Fine Arts Regional Exhibition. Mrs. Don Bohannon announced selection of a judge, Miss Sue Ella Lacey, professor of art at Hardin-Simmons University. Registration time for the exhibit will be from 1 to 6 p.m. May 27 at the community room of First Federal Savings and Loan. Rule sheets will be mailed out next week to area painters. Anyone wanting a copy may write or call Mrs. Bohannon at AM 4-2432. Two guests present were Mrs. La Rue DeViney and Mrs. Mary Heidebauer. A film on Egyptian and Middle Eastern sculpture and architecture was the program for the 14 present.

Mrs. Dorward Killed Tuesday

SNYDER — Mrs. J. C. Dorward, prominent Snyder church and club leader and former resident of Howard County, died at 6:40 p.m. Tuesday, her 81st birthday, in a local hospital. She had been injured four hours earlier in a two-car crash near the hospital grounds, which also sent Mrs. Molly Jo Kolb, 31, to the hospital. Mrs. Kolb is in good condition. Services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the First Methodist Church, with Dr. John English, pastor, and Dr. Woodrow Adcock, Lubbock Methodist minister, officiating. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under the direction of the Bolger Funeral Home. She was born April 19, 1885, in Buckholtz, Milam County. She came to Howard County with her parents in 1889 and had lived in the Luther Community. Mrs. Dorward had lived in Scurry County with her husband since 1926. He preceded her in death in 1951. Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Ophelia Blackard, Snyder, and Mrs. J. E. Blakey, Lubbock; two sisters, one brother, four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

McCann To Be Speaker

Dr. Desmond McCann, psychiatrist and director of the Big Spring State Hospital's outpatient clinic, will speak on community health services before the Health and Welfare Association Friday noon. Site of the meeting has been shifted to the Scurry Street Room, according to Walter L. Widger, chairman of the association. Dr. McCann will also address himself to a proposal for establishing a community health mental retardation clinic with the hospital serving as the community health center. Howard County would be one of four participating counties in a demonstration project now under consideration. Mitchell, Scurry and Dawson as well as Howard County are making surveys. Widger urged attendance of all members for the Friday session.

Former Finland Minister Dead

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Dr. Vaino Tanner, 85, Finland's foreign minister during the 1939-40 winter war with Russia, died Tuesday after a long illness. Tanner, premier in 1926-27, was long a leader of the Social Democrats.

Reapportionment Plan Due Senate Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen predicts victory in a Senate vote today on his reapportionment proposal aimed at skirting the Supreme Court's one man, one vote ruling. But opponents predict defeat for the proposal. At stake is Dirksen's proposed constitutional amendment under which one house of a state legislature could be apportioned on the basis of geography and political subdivisions, in addition to population. The high court ruled in 1964 that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on a basis of population. With a two-thirds majority needed for approval, Dirksen claimed he was going to win his long fight. However, Senate backers of the court's decision said after a rebuff of their forces they have the votes to block the proposed amendment. Agreement was reached to Public Records WARRANTY DEEDS First Federal Savings and Loan to Jack Berry of ex. lot 14, block 5, West Peeter Addition. Billy Lee Erickson of ex. to M. M. Casey of ex. 3.06 acres in section 22, block 25, townships 1 north, 10 west, R. 9, 10, 11, Block Addition. Ivo Jo Nix to Ben Nix, interest in E. S. 10, 11, Block Addition. James A. Hundreds At Thomas Rites

Hundreds of Big Spring and Howard County people saluted Pfc. Lewis McCoy (Coy) Thomas in a last tribute Tuesday. Coy Thomas gave his life April 14 in Viet Nam. The Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel was filled with more than 100 other people standing to pay their respects for the young soldier and heard Chaplain B. F. Meacham declare that "men like Coy Thomas are what makes this nation great." His pastor, the Rev. V. Ward Jackson, minister of the First Church of God, said that Coy Thomas was not only a fine soldier, but he had shown himself to be a Christian gentleman. In his letters home, he always inquired about the status of the church. One of his late letters told how he was on guard duty in Viet Nam. "I am on guard and praying," he wrote. Rev. Jackson said that he was persuaded that Coy Thomas had given his life in a cause for peace, hoping that by his sacrifice in the Viet Nam war could somehow be prevented. "Thus," he said, "he gave himself in a cause that is bigger even than nations." Pfc. Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Truett Thomas and was a native of Big Spring.

Old Friends Reflect On Author Maugham

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Four old friends of W. Somerset Maugham were taking a fond look at the life and times of the famed English author. The conversation took place at the University of Southern California, and listeners included a curious mixture of academic and show business types. One of the speakers, George Cukor, arrived with a dazzling trio: Lillian Gish, Shirley MacLaine and Mia Farrow. ONE PROPOSAL Reading from his soon-to-be published book, "Remembering Mr. Maugham," Garson Kanin recalled asking the one-eyed Maugham if he had ever proposed marriage more than once. No, replied the author, but he assuaged Kanin's disappointment by adding that the single proposal was not to his wife. He told of an eight-year affair with a woman named Nan. She disappeared after a fight, and he traced her to Chicago, where he proposed marriage. Although professing her love, she refused. Later he discovered she had been pregnant by another man. Said Maugham with unaccustomed tears: "I have often wondered what course my life would have taken except for that freakish happenstance." DARK EYES Clare Booth Luce observed that the picture of Maugham as cold and detached was a false one. "I think it was because of the eyes," she said. "They were like desert stones, dark and glittering and unpleasant to look at." Maugham's essential loneliness was stressed by George Cukor, who recalled him saying, "It's a lonely life, writing. When you are writing a book, you are entirely preoccupied with your characters. When you cut them out of your life, it can be very lonely." "Maugham believed the beginning and the end was writing," said Mrs. Luce. "I remember visiting his place on the Riviera and seeing the studio where he worked. His chair faced away from the Mediterranean; he didn't want to be distracted by the view. "He worked every morning for three or four hours. Then he stopped for lunch; he liked gimlets and stingers as well as martinis. After a nap, he went over what he had written. He once told me that he corrected his sentences more than any modern writer except Proust." Kanin told of asking Maugham in his last years whether age brought fewer friends and more enemies. "Yes," the author replied grimly, "as sad and unfortunate as that is, it is true."

RECOVERING Brenda Cowley Bitten By Snake

Brenda Cowley, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cowley, Forsan, is the first snakebite victim of 1966. She is in Medical Arts Hospital recovering satisfactorily, after having been bitten Saturday night by a rattler. Physicians say that she is resting comfortably and that treatment of the bite is proving effective. She was brought to the hospital within 20 minutes of the time the snake struck—an element which doctors said contributed importantly to the progress she is making toward recovery. Brenda and some playmates were riding their bicycles near her home. They had gotten off the bikes to push them across a cattleguard. As Brenda stepped on the cattleguard, a small snake emerged from under the guard and struck at her left foot. She hurried to her home. Mrs. Cowley called for help, and Oscar Boeker, coach at the Forsan school, came to the house. He immediately placed the child's foot in a bucket of crushed ice and brought her to the hospital. The physicians said this was the best possible emergency treatment for the injury and has helped importantly in her case.

Cuba Claims 'U.S. Failure'

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro said today the United States has failed to make the Alliance for Progress work while Cuba is making economic strides without U.S. aid.

It is true that Cubans have ration books while other Latin American countries do not, he said, "but this is so because we have taken care of all the people...not fed a small, rich minority."

Castro said the United States has been forced to admit its failure recently by telling Latin American countries that much of its aid money had been squandered.

HAVANA RALLY
Speaking at a rally in Havana's Chaplin Theater marking the fifth anniversary of the Bay of Pigs invasion, Castro claimed Cuba is leading countries of the American continent, including the United States, in education and public health.

Despite this, Cuba still faces many problems, Castro said. There is still poverty and many people are poorly housed.

"Tens of thousands" of miles of road have yet to be constructed, hundreds of thousands of houses have to be built, many power installations are needed, water services have to be improved and industrial and agricultural problems have to be overcome, he said.

SUGAR HARVEST
Castro said his regime was aiming for "the largest sugar harvest in the history of our country next year." This year's crop will fall short of its original goal of 6 1/2 million tons due to the worst drought in 60 years, he continued, but next year "shall be without a doubt a great agricultural year, possibly the best in the eight years of the revolution."

Imperialism has "infantile illusions" that Cuba's Communist revolution is weak, Castro said, "but never has the revolution been stronger or more united."

Dropout Now Wants To Go To College

Bob Baker, 19, San Diego, Calif., is a student of courage despite dropping out of high school. Wounded in Viet Nam, the Marine says he learned there that he isn't smarter than his teachers. He wants to go to college. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Dropout Learns His Lesson--In Viet Nam

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Bob Baker, 19, is one high school dropout who learned a lesson—in Viet Nam.

"I dropped out of school because I thought I knew more than my teachers," Baker said. "And then, in Viet Nam, I found out I didn't."

The purple-heart winner attended Mission Bay High School but did not graduate.

Baker was speaking Tuesday from the "Viet Nam Ward" of the Balboa Naval Hospital.

One of his lessons learned as a Marine in Viet Nam was that of human kindness.

His outfit, the 4th Battalion, 12th Marines, had "adopted" 600 orphans at Hue, South Viet Nam. It was Christmas time and there were no toys.

GETS TOYS
His letters to his mother, Mrs. Lorraine Baker, and his former English teacher, Mrs. Elizabeth Makinson, resulted in a school-wide drive that sent 400 toys to the orphans.

"It was a great Christmas. The children were appreciative and they spoke in their language, but we knew they were saying 'thank you,'" Baker said.

He came back March 13 and he's been in the hospital ever since with a shattered right arm which doctors said he may never regain full use of. He'll be there for another eight or nine months.

CONG BULLET
Baker was wounded by a Viet Cong bullet while trying to stop them from blowing up a motor transport truck.

Bob has a new outlook on life, despite the physical handicap. "I'm going on to college," Baker said. "I wanted to be a surgeon, but I can't because of my arm. I love communications and electronics, so I guess I'll go into that."

LAREDO TO GET New Police Chief

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—Mayor Joe C. Martin Jr. has nominated Texas Highway Patrol Sergeant William V. Weeks, 53, as new police chief for the border city of Laredo.

Weeks, who has been stationed at Laredo for 25 years, would succeed David O. Gallagher, who died in October.

The appointment is subject to approval by the city council.

N.Y. Merging Newspapers, Union In Talks Breakdown

NEW YORK (AP)—Bertram W. Powers, president of New York Typographical Local 6, announced a breakdown in contract negotiations today and expressed the opinion that three merging newspapers would be unable to publish next Monday as scheduled.

Asked if the breakdown in the talks meant a strike against the new corporation on its first day of scheduled publication, Powers said: "There'll be no compositors working in the composing room."

PUBLISHERS SILENT
No publisher representative was available for comment at the office of the Newspaper Publishers Association of New York City, where Powers reported to newsmen.

The newspapers planning to merge are the Herald Tribune, Journal-American and World-Telegram & Sun.

Powers was asked if the negotiations breakdown meant that there would be no publication of the new papers Monday. "I would say so," he replied.

Powers talked with newsmen following a closed conference with the printer chapel chairman of the three newspapers. He reported to the chapel chairman after an eight-hour session with publisher representatives.

He told the newsmen that efforts to reach agreement on a contract broke down over the union's key demand for additional severance pay for printers who lose their jobs in the merger. The printers' current contract provides for three weeks severance pay.

UNION "AVAILABLE"
Powers said no further printer negotiations were scheduled with representatives of the new corporation, the World Journal Tribune Inc. He said, however, that his union is "available" for further negotiations.

Spokesmen for all 19 unions in the newspaper industry here have said their members would not work without a contract with the new corporation. Negotiations affecting all 19 unions have been going on.

Store Detective Grabs Another Store Detective

DETROIT (AP)—Things at a discount department store have reached the stage where you can't tell the detectives from the shoplifters.

Detroit police said the store hired several private police after being plagued by petty thefts.

Tuesday night, one of the private policemen saw a woman walking out of the store wearing a new pair of shoes he had seen her put on earlier. He grabbed her and called police, who discovered the woman was another secret agent from the same agency as the man who had nabbed her.

The woman said she put on her new shoes because her feet got tired as she walked about the store.

Man Arrested In Draft Balk

HOUSTON (AP)—A Jehovah's Witness charged with failure to submit to armed forces induction said Tuesday he will be unwilling to accept service in a hospital as a substitute to service in the Army.

Ollie Lee Verden Jr., 20, a part time student for the ministry, also told reporters that he refused to be sworn in at his induction Nov. 12 because the required oath was contrary to his religious beliefs.

Verden, a shipyard welder at nearby Channelview, was indicted by a federal grand jury April 5 and arrested by FBI agents Monday. He posted $500 bond Tuesday after a night in Harris County Jail.

He said he has never signed an application to be considered a conscientious objector because he had been told by doctors and lawyers that injuries received in a motor scooter accident would keep him from being drafted.

The youth was classified I-A after his pre-induction examination in August.

Dear Abby

Just A Boy At Age 44

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 44-year-old man who meets his girl (she is 37) on street corners because he's afraid if someone sees his car stop in front of her house they might tell his mother? I have put up with this for 10 years and am sick of it. Bud's mother has a regular detective ring working for her to find out every move her son makes. If I want to call Bud at home I have to ask my brother or some other man to ask for him because his mother won't call him to the phone if it's a woman's voice. He is scared to death of her. He's an only son and she's a widow. It's not that she doesn't like me. She's never even MET me. As I understand it, there is a lot of money there and Bud will get it all when his mother dies. But she's not yet 65 and is healthy as a horse. I love him, Abby, but I can't take much more of this hiding. Any ideas?

BUDDY'S GIRL
DEAR GIRL: A 44-year-old "boy" who meets his girl on street corners has a lot of growing up to do. And so has the 37-year-old "girl" who meets him. Hide and seek is for children. Tell Bud either to present you to his mother as his fiancée or find another playmate.

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you about a month ago saying I was away at college and was planning a summer wedding. I told you I had asked my best friend and roommate to be my maid of honor and she accepted. I also said I had asked my younger sister to be a bridesmaid. Then I got a letter from my mother giving me "whatfor" for not having my sister as my maid of honor. You advised me to keep peace in the family, ask my sister to be maid of honor and explain my predicament to my friend. Well, I did that. Now my sister says if I had asked her to be maid of honor in the first place she would have accepted, but after such a big stink was made about it she doesn't even want to be a bridesmaid. Okay, Abby, I followed your advice. Now what should I do? I can't ask my roommate to be my maid of honor again, can I? She will think I'm crazy. I am so mad over this whole mess I think my fiancée and I will just go off and get married alone.

STILL IN A FIX
DEAR STILL: I think that's probably the best idea yet.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jackie Asks Benefits Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has asked that her official expense allowance be cut from $50,000 to around $30,000 per year. Congress granted the allowance after President Kennedy's death to permit the widow to employ clerical help to assist in answering thousands of letters. Mrs. Kennedy's request for the cut was made in a letter to her brother-in-law, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who relayed it to a House Appropriations Subcommittee headed by Rep. Edward P. Boland, D-Mass.

In her "Dear Edward" letter signed by "Jackie," Mrs. Kennedy said "there has been a slackening" in the volume of official mail and other business "and I now feel that an appropriate adjustment in the funds the government provides for staff and facilities would be made."

She suggested that $30,000 would be "adequate."

Lake Victim Still Missing

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Wind-churned waves and the near-drowning of a fire department skin diver combined Tuesday to plague a search of White Rock Lake's north boat basin for a college student lost overboard during a midnight sailboat cruise with four other students. Fire officials abruptly halted the search ahead of schedule Tuesday afternoon when warned of an approaching wind up to 45 miles an hour. The search was resumed at dawn today for the missing student, identified as Robert A. Patton Jr., 21, a North Texas State University student and the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Patton of Denton.

Navy Bombers Again Raid North Viet Delta

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy bombers edged closer to Haiphong Tuesday in the third straight day of raids on North Viet Nam's vital Red River Delta, blasting a railroad bridge 10 miles north of the country's chief port. A U.S. spokesman said one span of the bridge was destroyed.

Four Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles were fired at the attackers but missed their targets, the spokesman reported today.

Three other U.S. jets were lost elsewhere over North Viet Nam in the past 24 hours, raising the number of American planes shot down since the raids began 15 months ago to 213. One of the pilots was rescued in a blaze of enemy fire. The other two were presumed captured or dead.

The Sioux Y-Indian Guide tribe met Tuesday night at the tepee of Big and Little Thunder (Bob and Andy Rozell). Railways Lose Millions In Coal Miner Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Railroads say they have lost millions of dollars since the soft coal strike began 10 days ago.

"The coal industry is our biggest customer," explained a spokesman for the Pennsylvania Railroad Tuesday who said his firm was hauling only 70 percent of its normal 100,000 tons of coal per day.

Hundreds of train crewmen have been idled by this strike, he said. During a firemen's strike last month, the Pennsylvania lost $300,000 a day in revenue, he added.

Major industrial users of soft coal, with their minimum 30-day stockpiles, said the strike had not yet affected their operations. Steel companies and electric power companies are big users of coal.

Some 10,000 miners in Kentucky returned to the pits for a day but went on strike again Tuesday, raising the total number on strike to 45,300.

There has been no word of progress at negotiations in Washington between the United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

Miners struck April 11, three days after the union signed a contract with three independent producers. The miners said signing left other miners without a contract.

Club Restores Old Discarded Trolley Cars

FERRIS, Calif. (AP) — The brassy clang of a trolley bell is heartstring music for a gang of folks entwined here in a consuming love affair with a bunch of tired old trolley cars.

The people, it seems, provide all the love. The trolley cars do all the consuming.

Here, about 70 miles southeast of Los Angeles, in a 10-acre one-time potato patch, stand 61 old trolley cars. This is Valhalla for the old cars, and happy hunting grounds for the 400 members of the Orange Empire Trolley Museum.

FULL PARAPHERNALIA
All around stand the paraphernalia of the streetcar — wig-wag signals, crossing guard huts, gas lights and waiting stations.

Members of the group spend their weekends and vacations working on the cars, which range from an old Irish model to a recent semistreamlined job from Los Angeles.

Some members, like Bill Bassler and his family, have as their hearts' desire one particular relic. Bassler's is old Fresno 83, originally run in Fresno, Calif., by the Fresno Traction Co.

Bassler said the car, when Fresno stopped using it years ago, was used in nearby San Bernardino, later to be used as a place to store water heater parts. Now ignoble.

WEEKEND WORK
Bassler, his wife, Mildred, and daughter, Barbara, 17, have been driving from their home near Los Angeles every other Saturday for three years to scrape paint, replace windows, paint and repair the car.

"I figure we will have it finished in about 10 years," Bassler said, "then we will be able to run it, have fun giving rides to other streetcar nuts like ourselves."

Bassler, like the others working on cars here, spends his own money on the machine and, he admits, "All my life I have wanted a streetcar of my own."

The prize of the lot, however, is an old double-deck, open-top streetcar from the Hill of Howth Line, Dublin, Ireland.

Lindbergh's Son Jon Seeks New Vistas In Ocean Depths

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The Lindbergh pioneering drive seems to be as strong in son Jon as it was in his famed father, Charles, but it's in a different direction.

Instead of searching for new vistas in the air as his father did, Jon is seeking the future in watery depths. He's a commercial diver.

Why didn't he follow the path his father blazed in the sky?

NEW FIELD
"Aviation is in a different era than it was when my father was in it," Jon explains. "The ocean offers a brand new field in many ways. It hasn't been developed. It contains vast quantities of unexplored resources. Diving is a tool in developing the potentials of the ocean."

Jon Morrow Lindbergh, who is 33, says he's been interested in the ocean as long as he can remember.

"I've always been close to it—lived around it, worked on it during summers."

STANFORD GRADUATE
He is a 1954 graduate of Stanford, where his major study was Naval. During school he was in Naval Reserve officer training, and when he graduated he went on active duty in underwater demolition.

"It seemed like it would be interesting work," he said. When he and the Navy parted company in 1957, he and three other men set up a firm which was primarily involved in commercial diving. That company, based in San Diego, Calif., lasted three years, then "the key personnel moved off to various corners of the world, so we sold out."

"I was involved in my own companies the next five years in commercial diving and industrial blasting. We learned the basic techniques in Navy demolition work. Then Union Carbide Corp. bought the diving operations, and I went along with them."

JOINS COMPANY
Now he's Seattle manager for Ocean Systems, Inc., an affiliate of Union Carbide. Lindbergh explains the company is "interested in various fields of ocean development work — from research to contracting." His latest venture was helping the underwater search off Spain for a U.S. nuclear bomb lost in a B52 bomber crash.

Lindbergh figures he has spent only about 20 per cent of his time diving in recent years. The balance has been spent on running the company's submarine program, from ordinary diving to the use of diving bells and small submarines on jobs such as drilling for oil and inspecting undersea pipelines or cables.

Off the Oregon and California coasts he's worked as a trouble shooter on oil drilling rigs. Recently he was in charge of divers who helped install a pipeline 245 feet under the surface of Puget Sound, and early in the fall he helped repair a power cable which runs across the floor of the sound from Anacortes to the San Juan Islands.

A Devotional For The Day

Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. (Hebrews 4:14)

PRAYER: God, our heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thy love is extended to all Thy children through Jesus Christ our Savior. Help us to accept Thy love, receive Thy salvation, and hold fast our faith through professing and living it. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Narrowing The Issue

A resolute, single-minded Arkansas state court judge has prevented a "monkey trial" in his court from becoming another Scopes trial. Spectators and the state's attorney apparently hoped to repeat the famous trial in 1925 of John T. Scopes, a teacher accused of violating a Tennessee law forbidding the teaching of evolution in public schools. That trial pitted Clarence T. Darrow as defense counsel against William Jennings Bryan, depicted in a movie in recent years, "Inherit the Wind."

Pulaski County Chancellor Murray O. Reed of Little Rock narrowed the case to the single issue of whether or not the Arkansas law forbidding the teaching of evolution is constitutional.

Attorney-General Bruce Bennett, a possible candidate for governor of Arkansas this year, tried unsuccessfully ly to broaden the case. He asked Mrs. Susan Epperson, the teacher-defendant, this question: "Do you think the theory of evolution is an atheistic doctrine?"

The judge promptly cut off an answer by saying: "What she believes or does not believe about evolution has nothing to do with the case." The judge later added this comment: "The only question here is a constitutional question of law."

Judge Reed has commendably turned what could have become a sensational public spectacle into a simple question of law and fact. The issue, surely, is not what people think of the theory of evolution. Religious beliefs about evolution cannot be impinged, for their holders are entitled to keep them—to defend them. But the constitutional issue is one of free inquiry.

Lindsay's Tough Nut

Mayor John V. Lindsay and the governors of the New York Stock Exchange are eyeing each other warily, circling the ring like reluctant wrestlers. Both want to win without the necessity of applying any unseemly holds on the other.

The issue is the mayor's proposal to increase the stock transfer tax from its present average of 2-10 to 1 per cent to 3-10 of 1 per cent. More than $100 million a year is paid into the city's treasury from the transfer tax. More than $50 million more would flow in under the mayor's proposal.

The stock exchange governors immediately announced that they would move the exchange somewhere else if the higher transfer tax was levied. To emphasize their earnestness they allowed an option on a Battery Park location to lapse. They had announced earlier that they would move into a $50 million new building there.

It's not exactly a new story for the stock exchange, but it is certainly a new experience for Lindsay. In 1933 and again in 1959, faced with the threat of added taxes on stock transfers, the exchange had threatened to move. In both cases they persuaded the city administration to change its mind.

If New York City were not practically bankrupt, Lindsay probably would have forgotten about the transfer tax increase, just as his predecessors did in 1933 and 1959. Today the resolution of the question is not as easy. But a compromise of some sort is clearly indicated since the exchange and its members paid an estimated $83 million in state and local property taxes in 1965, in addition to stock transfer taxes.

No Right To Incite To Violence

WASHINGTON — Leaders of Negro organizations keep on issuing predictions of violence this summer. Various cities are named as "targets" for organized "demonstrations" of one kind or another. Some of these forecasts say that 40 or more cities will be involved. Inevitably tensions are produced as residents of certain neighborhoods begin to get uneasy and apprehensive, and counter-resentments are built up.

This is not the first time such predictions have been publicized. But just what is the purpose of it all? Can such comments be regarded merely as free speech, or are they a means of threatening or inciting violence in order to intimidate or pressure Congress into legislative action of some kind?

THE "LAW OF THE LAND," as expressed in opinions of the Supreme Court of the United States, has for years contained the principle that freedom of speech does not include the right to cry "fire!" in a crowded theater. There are orderly ways to deal with racial problems, but to threaten violence as a means of attaining a legislative end or influencing public opinion is certainly not covered by freedom of speech as defined in the Supreme Court ruling long in effect.

INCITEMENT to violence has been noticeable in connection with street

Billy Graham

My family is constantly trying to convince me to go to church on Sundays. I work hard all week, am very tired and need rest. What can I do to make them stop hounding me?

Our Lord gave us a parable about a man who prepared a great feast and invited several friends as guests. The first had bought a farm and begged to be excused so he could inspect it. The second had bought five yoke of oxen and was on his way to see how good a deal he had made. The third had married a wife and therefore begged to be excused. The point of the parable is this: All three men were engaged in perfectly legitimate and proper activities. But the sin was: They had time for nothing else. The good crowded out the best. Material things left no room for the things of the Spirit.

This is what is happening to you. Your work is legitimate and good. Your desire to make a good living for your family is normal. But you have no time left to be with your family, and to feed your soul. You are so absorbed with the world of things that, to you, the world of God, worship, and spirit-things simply don't exist. You must learn what is of primary importance and put that in its place, and secondary things likewise. Jesus said: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and all these things shall be added."

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—Miss Louise McVicar of Edinburgh thinks she may have set up a record for moviegoers and Julie Andrews fans.

Miss McVicar, 32, has seen the movie "The Sound of Music" in which Julie stars, 100 times, has paid 27 pounds 10 shillings ($77) for tickets and 10 pounds ($28) for fares to get to the movie theater.

She maintains it was well worth it and told a reporter:

"As far as I am concerned, I just can't get near enough to the screen to see her. I hope one day we will meet."

Hopes For Peace Conference Are A Bit Jaded

WASHINGTON (AP) — In Washington a sudden burst of words sometimes has a new and sunny and even hopeful look, like fresh flowers ready to bloom.

Then suddenly you remember something, something that's been said, and the new words lose their newness, hope looks less real, the bloom seems a little jaded, and you begin to fear what was sunny was in your imagination.

SENATE DEMOCRATIC Leader Mike Mansfield proposed Monday with the best of intentions that Japan or Burma take the lead in bringing about a "direct confrontation across a peace table" of the United States, China, North Viet Nam and "essential" elements from South Viet Nam.

It was a hopeful thought. It was followed up by the Johnson administration which Tuesday invited Burma, Japan or other Asian countries to take what initiative they see fit to help arrange a Viet Nam peace conference. The State Department heartily endorsed Mansfield's proposal. But—

The chance that North Viet Nam or Red China would act on Mansfield's idea doesn't look any more likely now, of course, than it did earlier this year when for weeks President Johnson stopped the bombing of North Viet Nam and worked hard to get peace talks going.

IN FACT, there is probably less reason to think Red China and North Viet Nam would want peace now than then, and not only because of the turmoil inside South Viet Nam.

For, while Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, were both endorsing Mansfield's suggestion for getting Peking to talk peace, both were laying down tough conditions for dealing with Red China or letting her into the United Nations.

Over the weekend, Rusk's testimony given in closed session before a congressional committee was released, and indicated he didn't expect Red China to quickly respond with what they thought of this. They called it a fraud.

So all that Rusk said, and he went to great length to say it, and what the Chinese said briefly, was hardly conducive, or a good preliminary, to peace talks on Viet Nam.

And Tuesday Goldberg listed four minimum conditions for permitting Red China to get into the United Nations, while saying the United States would oppose membership for her this year as in all previous years.

Jumping To Conclusions

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

There's always a possibility a bachelor will marry until he learns to sew on buttons. After that, a girl is foolish to waste her time on him.

If the New York Yankees win the American League pennant this year, I'll eat home plate.

Few million-dollar deals are closed by guys dressed in jirdry shirts. When you get in that league, you don't have to save on your laundry bills.

WALK FIVE miles a day regularly and you'll probably never beat up your wife. For one thing, you won't need the extra exercise.

If I were selling life insurance to athletes, I'd concentrate on weight lifters. They are introspective and worry more about their health than any other kind of muscle benders. They also cry more easily.

Two-thirds of the guys you see coming to work carrying a well-stuffed briefcase aren't hard workers. They just like a big lunch.

YOU CAN have all the other accents in the world if I can have just three—Julie Harris, Julie Andrews and Julie Christie.

Never lend money to a fellow who doesn't wear an undershirt.

He's bound to have some other character defect, too.

Look at the next construction worker on the street you see using an electric jackhammer. The odds are 4-1 that he'll have a big belly.

A good business executive is often more precise in the use of words than a college English instructor. He has to be; he can't afford to say anything except exactly what he means.

IT IS impossible to rid ourselves of all prejudice. For example, when I see anyone wearing dark glasses on a cloudy day—although certainly it should be no concern of mine—I immediately take a strong dislike to him and put him down as a showoff idiot.

The same thing goes for a woman over 50 who wears a yellow ribbon in her hair.

EVERY BUSINESS firm should have posted on its bulletin board this remark by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia: "A swivel chair has ruined more men than chorus girls or liquor."

The average woman would have more dignity being hanged in public than being drunk in public.

No bus driver ever died and left his money to a favorite passenger.

Around The Rim

Why Does It Have To Happen To Me?

Did you ever feel that a certain something would help you excel in whatever you are doing?

MAYBE IT'S a form of superstition, but I always figured that a certain bat was exactly what I needed to insure base hits. Once I fell in love with a Joe Jackson bat, a bulky piece of wood which had a handle about as big as the hitting surface. With that in my hands, I had all the confidence in the world that I would pulverize that ball. As a result, I got more than my share of hits. Alas, someone borrowed it, hit against the grain and handed me back two pieces of splinters—with apologies. Not even the same model would take its place, and my mastery was gone.

I WAS NEVER much of a hunter, but my father's old blunderbuss with ornate hammers on the side seemed to fit me, and with it I was a fair shot. It finally saw its best days, and so did my marksmanship.

When it came to marbles, I was a pretty punk shot. My style was all-knicks down, and this lacked the force and accuracy of the reformed technique of cradling the law in the second finger. But I came upon a steel ball which I could half throw and half thump, and I became a factor to be reckoned with. First my opponents tried to outlaw "steels," but I was a good debater, too. Then my beloved law disappeared, and I suspected conspiracy and theft. This, however, did not restore my game.

IN GOLF I had an old beat-up goose-necked putter. Sometime I even used it from off the edge of the green, having vastly more confidence in it than I ever had in my treacherous pitching irons. On the green, I felt like I had a magic wand in my hand and could usually lay the ball up to that can. Somehow this treasured stick got broken. It broke my spirit, too.

MY GREATEST sorrow, however, came in the spring of one year as top season rolled around. A favorite sport was to lay down a top, and players on opposite sides would "plug" it, trying to drive it over a goal line. Frankly, I was a rotten shot. I did well to make my tops spin, let alone hit anything. The best I could do was to wind up hurriedly, wave a couple of lads out of the way and make a mighty pass.

ONE DAY, however, I came upon a pot-bellied top. It was heavy and ungainly, and the conventional cord just couldn't make it go. Then I took the cord off a Swift Premium ham and tried it on the top. Wonder of wonders, not only could I spin it, but I could hit what I aimed at. Overnight I became a sensation in the top ring.

Then during the course of a game, my beloved top hit its target, bounced away, spun off merrily and dropped into a hole that led into the neighbor's cesspool. I could have wept.

The Mississippi Way

WASHINGTON — Mississippi politics is full of oddities. To say this is not to condemn it. Oddities, unusualness, singularities are the bone and muscle of a neglected freedom—the freedom to be different.

IN MISSISSIPPI, oddly enough, the minority Republican party is far better organized than the Democrats. The GOP keeps a business office, puts out an official publication and holds a state convention where a sizable number of Negro delegates attend. The Democrats, for their part, add up to something like a number of personal parties. Since the gubernatorial office is limited to one term, the governor cannot solidify his following. But the two U.S. senators, Eastland and Stennis, have their coteries. So do the four Democratic representatives: Tom Abernethy, Jamie Whitten, John Bell Williams and Bill Colmer.

WHEN MISSISSIPPI voted 87 per cent for Barry Goldwater in 1964, the Republican candidate of the Fourth District, Prentiss LaFayette Walker, slipped through by 7,220 votes, partly because his Democratic opponent was coasting. Rep. Walker, although he has done well enough in Congress, seemed to have little chance of reelection in a nonpresidential year. That small chance became smaller when his district was enlarged by seven counties and some 200,000 persons. The word is that Walker, sensing trouble in his own bailiwick, decided to shoot for the big apple—the Senate seat of Jim Eastland.

AGAIN, THE peculiarities of Mississippi politics asserted themselves. Certainly nowhere else in the country would a challenger try to right-flank as conservative an incumbent as Eastland. Jim Eastland is not as ultra as his enemies make out. The Americans for Constitutional Action give him a cumulative conservative record of 71 per cent, but Williams of Delaware rates 91 per cent, Jordan of Idaho 84 per cent, Hickenlooper of Iowa 79 per cent. All the same, it is difficult for an opponent to get to the right of Eastland, but this is what Walker has tried to do.

IN SO TRYING, Walker has attracted, wittingly or not, the embrace of the Klan and, conversely, Eastland has incurred the envenomed wrath of the nightshirt set. Klanshish cartoons show Eastland in fond embrace with the hated radical, Sen. Bob Kennedy, and even in juxtaposition with Martin Luther King. Only in Mississippi politics could such things be.

Naturally, the 150,000 Negroes expected to vote this year in Mississippi, are not going to ballot in large numbers for Jim Eastland, long a foe of Civil Rights legislation. But they won't flock to Walker, the Klan man.

FINALLY, and stranger still, the unlettered plantation Negroes are expected to be hauled to the polls in two large consignments. The plantation owners will bring them in, hopeful of loyal support. The Delta Ministry, an adjunct of the National Council of Churches, will do exactly the same thing for the same reason. Since rural Mississippians generally vote in open stalls rather than sealed-up booths, it will be interesting to see how the electioneering goes.

People who frown on non-conformity won't like the Mississippi system. Yet it will produce the people's choice. In all likelihood, Jim Eastland, just as a more orthodox system would.

Economy Healthy Or Feverish?

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising prices are giving an unexpected glow to the economy: Is it the glow of health or of fever?

The three big spenders — consumers, business and government — all have been paying out more dollars. But about a third of their increased outlays is due to higher price tags and only two-thirds represents buying of more units of output.

STILL THE rate of increase is larger than at any time since 1950 when consumer panic buying at the outset of the Korean War sent the economy soaring — in terms of dollars if not of health.

The unexpected gain this year has not been due to panic buying. It has been due more to affluence. The spenders — consumers, business and government — all have had more dollars to spend.

CONSUMERS HAVE more dollars because there are more jobs this year than last, because many wage scales have risen, and because in 1964 and 1965 federal tax rates were cut with the aim of promoting prosperity and cutting unemployment. It worked. The nagging questions now is if it worked too well.

Business has more to spend this year, partly because it too enjoys lower tax rates than a few years back, but mainly because sales and profits have been soaring to record heights.

GOVERNMENT has more to spend because the larger incomes of individuals and corporations have produced big tax collections even at lower rates. And also the government debt has risen, meaning Uncle Sam has borrowed to get the dollars for larger expenditures, both at home and in Viet Nam.

Efforts to curb spending all along the line may check the economy's faster pace a bit in the current April-June quarter.

PRESIDENT Johnson has urged all hands to go slow, to put off some planned outlays, to shun products and services on which prices have been rising faster than the average.

TOP BUSINESS executives have promised to cut back some of their record expansion plans for 1966. The President has asked federal departments and agencies to trim government spending, or at least to postpone some of it. Total consumer spendable income will be clipped somewhat by larger tax withholding from pay checks of those in higher income brackets.

But few expect the rate of the growth in the economy to be chilled much.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

How big a tax bill does this nation's taxpayer really pay?

The Department of Agriculture recently estimated that the nation's 1966 food bill would be about 86 billion dollars. That's about $439 for every man, woman and child in the country.

The most recent tax figures available (1964) show that we paid $158,400,000,000 in federal, state and local taxes. This works out to about $809 in taxes for everyone in the nation.

Figuring that taxes have done some fancy growing in the past year and a half, we can safely estimate that this year we will spend almost twice as much on taxes as we do on the pantry.

How A Peanut Almost Killed Andy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I want to add my two cents worth to your column about not letting children eat popcorn or peanuts. You are so right.

At the age of 23 months our Andy suddenly became very ill.

In two weeks he lost six pounds and ran a low grade fever. He coughed only after his nap or when he got up in the morning, but it was of a wracking type.

After treatment for "pneumonia," I told the doctor about this cough and suggested that Andy might have a nut in his lung. I remembered that he had had ice cream with peanuts on top, and I said that maybe a nut "went down the wrong way."

I didn't know then that one peanut could bring death so close. The doctor, after further examination, found that here WAS a nut in the lung. It finally was removed but not before we went through a great deal of worry.

The doctor said afterward that it is my duty in life to tell other parents of our near tragedy.—MRS. J. L.

This column will help you tell them.

I doubt that anyone who hasn't worked in the emergency department of a hospital has any idea how often children come close to death—and many do die—because of something lodged in the trachea, or trapped in the lung.

A child's trachea (windpipe) is very small. His automatic reflexes are not well developed. Hard candies, nuts, popcorn, buttons, toys, anything that a child might put in his mouth, and is small enough to enter the windpipe, are a hazard, potentially deadly.

If I had my way, no child would be allowed nuts, popcorn, hard candy or any object, toy, button or anything else smaller than his thumb until he is old enough to join the Cub Scouts.

I don't suppose parents can make such a rule stick, but at least they can be extremely careful until a child is old enough to start school.

And don't think that older children don't sometimes get in trouble that way, too. Even if they don't get something perilous caught in the windpipe, they manage to swallow the most unimaginable assortment of coins, bottle caps, safety pins and other junk.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 14 and have been told that short-winded people shouldn't take physical education. Is this so or not, and why?—J. C.

It depends on what causes the short-windedness. If there is something wrong with the heart or lungs, your doctor might order you to avoid exertion. If you are short-winded just because you haven't exercised enough to be in good condition, then physical education is just what you need.

Mononucleosis is primarily a disease of young people. To learn more about it, send in care of The Herald, for my booklet, "Mononucleosis," enclosing with your request a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Dear Heloise: Strips of white iron-on tape make wonderful brassiere straps. First cut a piece of tape the length you want your strap to be and twice as wide as the width you prefer. Then fold the edges over in the following manner: Fold each side over one-fourth the width so they meet in the center (adhesive sides together) and press with a hot iron. Am I ever glad YOU got into the act! As soon as I read your hint, I tried it and it's super-terrific—perfect shoulder straps in seconds. And you know what? I looked at the straps on a couple of my bras, and I'm willing to bet my bottom dollar those straps (the original ones) are made from iron-on tape! And the grandest part of Lola's idea is that you can make your bra straps as WIDE as you want them. This is particularly great for replacing those thin shoulder straps that dig into the skin. Wide straps cannot be bought ready-made. Thanks, twice, Lola—once from each shoulder! Heloise

Former Resident Visits Friends

Mrs. Marshall L. Brown, Yoakum, has been the houseguest of Mrs. Dink Burrell, 1108 Eleventh Place. Mrs. Brown, a former resident, has spent the week visiting with friends in the city and at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company.

my brother-in-law asked if he could make a suggestion. He suggested that we send packages of sweetened powdered drink mixes. He said that during World War II, he was overseas and the water was terrible. My sister sent five packages of the sweetened drink mix to her son, and received a letter from him asking for more. We are sending a variety of flavors of the sweetened mix because we aren't sure if they can get sugar when they want it. . . Mrs. Francis De Groot

Dear Heloise: I find a clip-type earring is good to put on a little girl's ponytail to cover the rubber band. It helps find a spot for that one lonely earring, and is very cute. . . Laura Rambo

Dear Heloise: I found the most wonderful way to clean your woodwork, cabinets, doors, etc. You take a piece of nylon net, wet it and saturate it with bath soap (most any brand name will do). Then scrub lightly one area at a time. Rinse well with a wet terry cloth or towel, and that's all there is to it. Oh, and the soap is so gentle to your hands, does a wonderful job and makes it so pleasingly fragrant. . . Stella Giglio

Well, great day in the morning! I tried it. It's great. Too, I learned BATH soap did not remove paint, and the net won't scratch it. Stella, how can we ever thank you enough? Bless you. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: One of the small magnets on my shower curtain came off. Instead of replacing same, I placed it on the inside of my metal medicine cabinet, and find this to be a handy holder and safe place for my active razor blade. The magnet is just the perfect size for the pick up of the blade safely—no more cut fingers. . . Charles Segner

Dear Heloise: I keep a thick piece of corrugated cardboard in the miscellaneous-drawer (junk-drawer would be more accurate!) in the kitchen cupboard. When I come across a stray thumb tack, carpet tack, or the like, I stick it into the cardboard. It takes up very little space, prevents jabbed fingers, and it's so easy to remove a tack when it's needed. . . Arlene Jackson

HERALD

When news breaks anywhere in the far flung combat areas of Vietnam, you can pinpoint the exact places involved if you have this comprehensive and detailed new Hammond map, offered for sale now as a public service.

Families of boys in Vietnam will want it to hang on their wall, as will every intelligent newspaper reader who wants to keep in touch with the explosive situation in southeast Asia.

Printed in handsome full color on heavy paper of high quality, this 21x29 inch map folds compactly to fit in a handbag, desk drawer or glove compartment.

Da Nang, Hue, Chu Lai and hundreds of other places are shown, including major air bases, United States marine and army landings, roads, railroads, mountain passes, falls and rapids, rivers and other topographical features that help you understand the strategy of the fighting.

Besides the large detail map embracing North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, there are smaller maps showing elevations, Communist dominated countries, and the continent of Asia as a whole; also an economic map of southeast Asia spelling out the agricultural, industrial and power resources of individual countries. Another "extra" is a chronology of events since World War II. An atlas type index lists and locates cities, towns and physical features in North and South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

The map is produced by C. S. Hammond & Company, a leading organization in its field. Get your copy today.

SAMMY MIMS PUTS TAG ON GARY MULLINS
Fifth inning play started by Yogi Anderson, BS catcher

Steers Vanquished By Bobcats, 5-3

San Angelo took advantage of nine Big Spring errors to topple the Steers, 5-3, in District 2-AAAA baseball play here Tuesday.

Despite their lax play after the Longhorns had numerous chances to put the decision out of the fire. They left the bases loaded in the third, after plating three runs, and put two runners aboard with only one out the following inning.

The visiting Bobcats scored two unearned runs off Lefty Bob Griffin in the first when Gary Mullins and Julio Guerrero crossed the plate. Bill March drove out an inside-the-park home run in the third, the only run the visitors earned.

The Felines added their other two tallies in the sixth, when Harold Wood and Kirkham spiked the dish with the help of three Big Spring misplays.

Big Spring outbit the Cats, 7-5, but Gary Baty, the San Angelo pitcher, spaced the blows very well.

Little Rod Roberts found himself engaged in a spirited duel with Baty at bat. He smashed three singles and scored once for the Steers. No other player on either team managed more than one hit.

Roberts and Griffin crossed the plate for Big Spring in the third while Sammy Mims added the third Steer run in the seventh after reaching base on a fielder's choice. A double by Yogi Anderson brought him home.

The Steers, now 3-4 in conference play, start second round activity in Midland Saturday afternoon, at which time they oppose Midland Lee. They go to Odessa for a joust with Odessa High next Tuesday.

Pasarell Boys Both Entered In Net Meet

DALLAS (AP)—Stanley and Charlotto (Charles) Pasarell are brothers but they are as far apart on the tennis court as they are miles from their Puerto Rico home.

Stanley is an 18-year-old student at St. Mark's School in Dallas while his older brother, attending UCLA, is the fifth ranked player in the United States.

Both are entered in the five-day Dallas Invitational Tennis Tournament starting today but any chance they will play each other is remote.

Young Pasarell meets Don Russell, 26, mathematics professor and coach of five-times NATA tennis champion Pan American College, today while Charles and the other top names wait until Thursday for their first matches.

Stanley has no illusions of winning this tournament or even reaching the semifinals, the first place he could meet his brother. Among those standing in his path of advancement are Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Chuck McKinley of New York, the No. 1 and 4 ranked players in the country.

Seven of the 10 top ranked players in the United States and two Australian stars, John Newcombe of Sydney and Marty Mulligan of Melbourne, are entered. Mulligan won the River Oaks title at Houston last week.

The other Americans are No. 2 ranked Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., and No. 3 Cliff Richey, No. 6 Ham Richardson and No. 9 Ron Holmberg, all of Dallas.

Newcombe shared in the Wimbledon doubles title last year and Charles Pasarell beat Holmberg in straight sets for the National Indoors crown in February.

Ashe won the West Australian and the Tasmanian championships, beating Richey and Newcombe in the finals, before losing to the great Roy Emerson in the title round of the Australian Nationals in January.

Three of Pan American Coach Russell's pupils also see action today. They are Chris Bovett, Australian junior champion from Sydney; Red Berli of Zurich, Switzerland, and George Kon of Buenos Aires, Argentina, last year's NATA singles champion.

Willie Mays Closing In On Ott's Record

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wondrous Willie crashed four hits — including his third home run of the young season — as Willie Mays is closing the gap on Mel Ott and lowering the boom on Leo Durocher.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Few track and field meets anywhere are run as efficiently as was the annual Optimist Relays here last weekend, certainly none on the junior high school level.

Meet director Tom Henry, along with his many aides, and members of the sponsoring organization, the Optimist Club, worked like Trojans to make the cinder show a success. The meet was blessed with favorable weather.

Wives of the Optimists fed an estimated 630 boys and their coaches under the east stands at Memorial Stadium at noon, which should give the reader a fair idea how many out-of-town people converged upon Big Spring for the show. Parents of more than a few of the athletes were present, too.

Charles Lindsey Marchbanks, new to the sports car racing game, picked up his first two trophies in a recent speed program at Green Valley, near Fort Worth. Marchbanks drives a Barracuda. He spun out on one curve but recovered well.

The Regional division of the Sports Car Club of America, with which Marchbanks is affiliated, is now planning a July 9-10 sports car road race at the old air base near Pyote.

Sonny Jackson, new infielder for the Houston Astros, was the first Negro to be offered a football scholarship by the University of Maryland. He turned down the offer to sign with Houston.

In three seasons now as a pro, Jackson has stolen 160 bases.

The first 505 big league home runs hit by Willie Mays, or everything he accounted for prior to this season, came off 191 different pitchers.

Big Spring has two fine hurdlers coming up in Claud Tucker of Rannels and Richard Walling of Goliah, who ran 1-2 in the ninth grade division of the Optimist Relays here last weekend.

Big Spring has dominated the hurdle events in District 2-AAAA the past couple of seasons.

In case you're interested, the movie roles vacated by Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax when they signed their 1966 contracts with the Los Angeles Dodgers were taken by John Garfield's son and Jerry Dunphy, former Chicago sportscaster.

The film is "Warning Spot," starring that well known speed merchant, David Janssen.

Golf Tourney Starts Friday

Salty Barton of the Lake Sweetwater Golf course visited here Tuesday to rally entries for the 31st annual Lake Sweetwater Invitational Golf Tournament, a three-day event for all amateur linksters.

Entry fee for the meet is $15. That includes the price of a barbecue, which will be held following Friday's Pro-Am.

Match play in the tournament starts Saturday and will be concluded Sunday. Survivors will play 36 holes each day.

Rives McBee won the championship last year but has since turned pro. Par for the layout is 72 and Barton predicted that it would take that or better to rate the championship flight.

Last year, the field was closed after 96 players had been accepted. This year, up to 112 will be accepted.

Barton said that as many as 16 Big Spring players had competed in the tournament in past years and he predicted another representative turnout this year.

Visiting Jester Delights Crowd

If you were among the more than 300 fans who watched Paul Hahn produce his trick shots out of his celebrated 90-pound bag at the Munny course Tuesday, you may never again attack golf as being the tragic-serious game that so many players make of it.

In an hour-long show that was a mesmerizing performance of trick shots, comedy patter of a Bob Hope and serious clinic designed to help your golf game, Paul Hahn violated every tenet of golf except the fundamental one. No matter how he hit the ball, and with what, his swing at all times was flawlessly correct.

So you have trouble finding the proper way to stand to the ball. Hahn showed that a golf ball can be hit 240 and 250 yards down the fairway while standing on one leg, while perched on a folding chair and while squatting on his knees, so low to the ground that his backswing had to be flattened almost horizontally.

So your instructor tells you to keep your eye on the ball. Hahn hit a perfect shot with a ball he never saw because it was covered by a newspaper. The grip is a most vital part of the game which must be checked time and time again. Paul disclaimed

Midland Rallies To Defeat Lee

MIDLAND — Catcher Wayne Merritt clubbed a three-run homer in the sixth inning to propel Midland High to a comeback-behind 9-7 victory over Midland Lee here Tuesday.

Lee started off with five runs in the first round and added two in the second but the error-prone Bulldogs applied the brakes, after that.

The win was Midland's third in seven league starts. Lee is now 2-5.

Boston Celtics Defeat Lakers By 129-109 Tab

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics move on to Los Angeles for a meeting with the Lakers tonight in a determined bid to regain the edge in quest of an eighth straight-National Basketball Association championship.

The Celtics evened the best-of-seven title series 1-1, overpowering the Lakers 129-109 with a sharp-shooting attack and a tight defense Tuesday night before a sellout crowd of 13,909 at the Garden.

"I'm not happy yet," Boston Coach Red Auerbach said. "They still have an edge on us because the next two games are in Los Angeles. And we're not going to be deluded into thinking things are going to be easy out there."

Autograph Time For Hahn

Paul Hahn, the famed trick golfer-comedian who gave an exhibition before an estimated 200 spectators at the Munny course here Tuesday, signs autographs for Milton Jones (nearest Hahn) and other youngsters following the show. Hahn told his listeners he hoped it wouldn't be another 17 years before he again visited here. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

Coed's Quest For One-Year Marriage Brings Response

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The Harvard boys are lining up for interviews with a Radcliffe girl who says she wants to get married for one year to escape dormitory life.

Only married students at Radcliffe College can live off campus, so to get around the regulation she has placed this advertisement in the Harvard Crimson:

"One-year marriage? Seems to be the only way for a Cliffe to get out of the dorm. I'll share expenses, am a good cook. Other details? We can work it out. Contact Crimson Box 2000."

So far 13 eager boys have snapped at the offer to try to work out the terms of the proposed one-year marriage.

REPLY BY MAIL

Richard Appleby, 20, of Great Neck, N.Y., replied by mail. "You sound interesting. Maybe we can work something out."

He said he would wait until he had a chance to meet her before deciding whether to accept the offer.

"The trouble with American marriages is that we don't have enough practical experience. Maybe this sort of thing is just what we need," he said.

The Radcliffe girl declined to identify herself because she didn't want "a whole bunch of nuts calling me."

"I just want to live off campus and earn my degree in history," she said, because its "quieter there and I can get more work done."

She said she has blue eyes, auburn hair and is five feet tall. "I really want a roommate, not a husband," she said, "but he's got to marry me to satisfy Radcliffe."

FRINGE BENEFITS
Eric Tomb, 20, of Cleveland, Ohio, a junior, also answered the ad in the student newspaper, and commented: "I'd been planning to put an ad in myself for a female roommate. A girl can cook and there might be other fringe benefits, like washing my socks."

Wayne Jones, 21, of Wayne, Mich., said he answered the ad because he wanted to meet a girl with "that kind of a sense of humor."

Perfect timing was an essential ingredient to successful defense against South's three no trump contract.

West opened the king of clubs and declarer permitted him to hold the trick by following with the seven. West, fearing that a club continuation would not be profitable, shifted to the jack of spades. North followed with the four, East with the five, and South played the ace.

Declarer led the jack of diamonds for a finesse and East was in with the queen. He returned a club, South put in the jack and West won the trick with the queen. There was no point in clearing the clubs, for West lacked a card of reentry with which to run the suit.

A shift was clearly indicated. The spade suit did not offer much hope, for if East had an honor in spades he might have been expected to give a more encouraging signal than the five spot earlier. West therefore shifted to a heart in an effort to make a play for his partner.

South was obliged to play a small heart from dummy, since nine tricks were not yet established. East put up the king of hearts and then cashed the setting trick with the ace of diamonds.

Observe that, if West either clears the clubs or leads another spade when he is in, South has time to dislodge the ace of diamonds and establish his nine tricks — three spades, one heart, four diamonds, and one club.

State Funds Inadequate For Defense, Plea Says

HOUSTON (AP)—A writ of habeas corpus petition filed for Leslie Douglas Ashley Tuesday alleges the state has denied Ashley enough money to defend himself adequately.

Ashley, awaiting retrial in the 1961 gun-torch murder of Houston real estate man Fred Tones, has declared himself a pauper and unable to pay for his defense.

His lawyer, Lloyd Lunford,

Sawmill Lost In Texas Fire

CENTER, Tex. (AP)—A fast-moving fire, driven by high winds, swept the Sidney Gee Sawmill near this East Texas town early today.

Mrs. Johnny Gee, wife of the sawmill's operator, said no estimate of the damage had been made early today.

Winds were gusting at 25 miles per hour as firefighters fought in vain to save the structure.

Mrs. Gee said the sawmill, located on US 96, normally employed about eight persons.

The counts were disclosed in a survey ordered by Chancellor Roger W. Heyns, who told the Academic Senate he hopes to increase minority enrollment.

Suspect Makes Statement In Death Of Teenage Girl

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A wounded, panic-filled girl stopped a motorist in South Dallas early Tuesday and later led police to a bushy area where they found her girl friend dying from two bullet wounds.

Police said both girls were shot and left for dead by a gunman who abducted them on a South Dallas street as they walked home from a movie late Monday night.

A 30-year-old Negro, taken into custody shortly after the crime was reported to police, was arraigned at mid-morning before Justice of the Peace Joe B. Brown, Jr. for murder.

He was to be charged today, police said.

Detective Capt. Will Fritz said the suspect made a written statement.

ISOLATED AREA
The youngest of the two girls, Lois Faye Ridery, 15, died in Parkland Hospital less than two hours after officers found her in an isolated area near a busy expressway interchange.

Capt. Fritz said the girl had been shot twice in the head. He said she had been raped.

Her companion, 15-year-old Shirley Crenshaw, brought aid to the dying girl after escaping from the abductor as he tried to free his car from a mud hole nearby.

Miss Crenshaw said the suspect, whom she later identified in a police lineup, forced them into his car at gunpoint about 11:15 p.m. Monday and drove them to the Trinity River bottoms off a southside expressway.

REPORTS ASSAULT
She said the abductor raped her companion in the back seat of the car and later made both lie on the ground.

She said the man began shooting when she refused to obey his command to disrobe. Miss Crenshaw was grazed on the head by one shot and a second struck her in the right hand.

The man dragged the girls into bushes, but within sight of his car. Detectives quoted Miss Crenshaw as saying she watched as the man walked back to his car, then returned to see if both were dead.

When the man left them the second time, Miss Crenshaw said she discovered her companion was still alive and told her she was going for help.

MURMURS REPLY
The younger girl, writhing in pain, murmured a faint reply, Miss Crenshaw said.

James L. Sturges, 26, his wife and daughter, saw the girl running toward their car.

"I saw her waving at us and stopped. She came up to the car and told us she had been shot. Her head was bloody," Sturges said.

Sturges said the girl quickly reported that the second girl was lying in the river bottom and needed help. She told him that the abductor was still trying to get his car out of the mud hole.

"I couldn't hear a car engine, but I did see some smoke coming up from the left of the highway where she said he was," Sturges said.

The family drove the girl to a motel where police arrived within minutes. Officers took the older girl back to the spot to look for her friend. Sturges and his family watched from the roadway as the younger girl was carried out on a stretcher.

CARRYING PISTOL
Patrolman R. D. Lynch, stopped by a passerby who reported seeing a man walking down a street carrying a pistol, spotted the man passing under a street light.

Lynch approached and the man dropped the gun on the officer's command.

Police said the man also had ignition keys which fitted the car abandoned in the mud hole at the shooting scene.
