Panel Votes Domestic Budget Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee blasted a big hole in President Johnson's 1967 budget plans today by recommending huge increases in financing of health and education programs. It added an unrequested $276,413,000 to the $10,066,129,500 sought by the President in new funds for the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the fiscal year starting July 1.

'Safety Auto' Details Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee studying auto safety gets a rundown today on development of a prototype safety car from a group of New York officials, including State Sen. Edward Speno. The concept received an enthusiastic endorsement in advance Wednesday when a witness urged the federal government to give it financial support.

GM Antitrust Violation Ruled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decided today General Motors Corp. violated antitrust law by trying to ban sale of Chevrolets through discount houses in the Los Angeles area. Under the discount house plan, customers were quoted prices for various models. The customers signed purchase agreements calling on the discount house to furnish cars at quoted prices. After the signing of an agreement, the name of the dealer who would furnish the car was given to the customer.

Funds Raised For Dodd Bringing On Tax Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service said today it has ordered a tax investigation into more than $100,000 raised for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., at testimonial dinners in Connecticut. The disclosure followed by one day an accusation by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., that the Johnson administration had embarked on a "backstage plan" to relieve Dodd from any tax liability for the funds.

Senate Okays Rent Subsidy By One Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a one-vote margin, the Senate has approved funds for President Johnson's program of rent subsidies for low-income families. But the administration and its Senate leaders had to use all their resources to get the votes needed for Wednesday's 46-45 victory authorizing $12 million in contract authority for the new program.

Democrats' Stand

Democrats contended that the new plan could do a better job of providing good homes for low-income families than the present low-rent public housing program. The estimated subsidies of $40 a month for each family under the program would be less than the $58 which public housing now costs, they said.

Pay Difference

The federal government would pay the difference between 25 per cent of a family's income and the rent needed to support the apartment project. Only families now eligible for public housing — generally those with incomes below $5,760 a year — could qualify.

To Conferees

After Senate passage, the supplemental bill was sent to conference with the House which had included $2.56 billion in it. Funds for the rent subsidies are certain to be retained since they are in both versions.

Bolster OEO

The bill would boost the fund authorization for the Office of Economic Opportunity—OEO—to $1.99 billion. Johnson had asked for $1.75 billion. The current authorization is $1.5 billion.

Head Start

For the most part, the bill the Democrats now hope to push through the full Education and Labor Committee and the House calls for more emphasis on the successful programs, and a curbing of the experimental projects.

Denies It

IRS has denied the charge. An IRS source said today the tax investigation of Dodd will be centered basically in Connecticut but could extend into Washington.

Dallas Flood Drowns Five, Hundreds Flee

Boats Pluck People From Roofs, Trees

DALLAS (AP)—Five persons drowned today when tremendous rains flooded hundreds of persons from their homes in Dallas and a northern suburb, Garland. One of the victims, drowned in his Cadillac was W. L. Perryman, president of General American Oil Co., an independent oil firm operating in six states and Canada.

Robert Buck and his wife, Adrienne, of San Antonio, who moved to Texas recently from East Point, Ga., both drowned when their car was swept from a road into a creek.

The new round of turbulence came as rivers and lesser streams in the eastern half of Texas poured flood waters toward the sea from earlier rains that had added up to 21 inches.

Fire department boats, towed by station wagons to scenes of local flooding, plucked people from trees, rooftops, and the roofs of cars in flooded expressway underpasses.

Water got into the Ford Motor assembly plant in northeast Dallas, damaging electrical motors and forcing the plant to close until Friday. About 1,500 workers stayed home.

Patrolman J. S. Dabenton suffered a painful knee injury when water pressure slammed the door of his patrol car on his leg during a rescue operation and was in good condition.

The heavy rainfall at Dallas came on the heels of thunderstorms which spawned tornadoes across North Central Texas and dumped more rain into flood-stricken Northeast Texas.

The original Head Start grant was in the amount of $35,161 for 40 days, Anderson said. Some 200 youngsters are participating in the program in Kate Morrison School, under the direction of administrative assistant Keith Swim.

The President and his party are to arrive at the Houston International Airport about an hour or so before the ball gets under way.

The President will go from the airport to the hotel where he will be introduced by Gov. John Connally and speak at the dinner-dance.

Membership in the "President's Club" is limited to persons contributing $1,000 or more to the national party funds. Under national committee rules, each such contributor is entitled to meet the President socially which is an area meeting of at a club affair.

Rains Return Bringing Hail To Part Of County

The rains came back to Howard County again Thursday. At noon, it was heavily overcast in Big Spring and rain had begun falling. South of town, Elbow and Lomax reported rains had started there. North of town, dark clouds hinted at more rain but, communications difficulties kept any reports from the area reaching town.

Cong Hit Hard By South Viets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. military spokesmen reported today that the Vietnamese army and air force are hitting the Communists with renewed vigor after weeks of lessened activity during the political crisis. Government forces waged 77 battalion-sized operations against the Viet Cong in the past week, an increase of 10 per cent, and the air force stepped up its sorties against the enemy by 30 per cent.

Defense Bill Up For Senate Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today on a $17-billion defense authorization bill and Democratic leaders predict approval by a wide margin. The measure would override two decisions by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and provide for the purchase of some components of a ballistic missile defense system and nuclear power for a new naval vessel.

Head Start Is Extended

The Office of Economic Opportunity has approved a grant of $13,152 to the Big Spring Independent School District to extend its Head Start program for one more month, Sam Anderson, superintendent, was advised today.

Thief Does Not Forget Manners

MOUNT STERLING, Ky. (AP) — The purse snatcher fled empty-handed but he never forgot his manners. He attempted to grab Miss Minnie Newman's purse; she struggled; she fell to the ground, breaking a finger.

Ekberg Back Where She Won Fame

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cool, self-assured and brown-haired — that's right: brown-haired — Anita Ekberg is making one of her infrequent returns to the town where she found fame, but not success.

The Swedish dazler is here to play a Soviet astrobeauty in a Jerry Lewis film, "Way Out." The title is descriptive, because the movie deals with a wacky fight to the moon.

This takes me back to the first time I observed the formidable figure of Ekberg. It was in 1952, and she had just competed in the Miss Universe pageant as Miss Sweden. Along with other contestants, she was appearing as a moon maiden in a Universal romp called "Abbott and Costello go to Mars."

What happened to the other contestants is unknown. Miss Ekberg advanced to better things, including two films with Jerry Lewis and a contract with John Wayne's Batjac Productions.

"Hollywood didn't know what to do with me," she said this week as she relaxed in her skimpy astro-leotard. "They could only cast me as a femme fatale because of my accent. They didn't stop to realize that Greta Garbo and Ingrid Bergman had been able to play a variety of roles here before me. I wanted to play comedy, but I was never considered for it. The producers figured I was a sex type, and that was that."

Anita fled in frustration to the less monolithic film industry of Rome, and there she established herself as an actress as well as a sex type, especially in "La Dolce Vita" and "Boccaccio '70." She returned here two years ago for the unmemorable "Four for Texas" with Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin, but has spent the remainder of her recent years in Europe.

Texas Senate Races Hottest

AUSTIN (AP)—An even dozen hot state Senate races will keep election clerks on their toes the night of the May 7 Democratic primary.

Still another accounting comes Nov. 8 when nine Republicans challenge the survivors of the Democratic primary for the final formation of the Texas Senate under "one-man, one-vote" redistricting.

And when the 1967 Legislature meets 13 of the 31 senators will represent all or part of the four big city counties, compared to their current four senators.

TEXAS REPUBLICANS will be sideline spectators in the May 7 voting except for Dallas County, where Ike Harris and Horace Houston, both well known Republicans, seek a chance to tackle a Democratic veteran, Sen. George Parkhouse, in November. The District No. 8 includes northwest Dallas County with Highland Park and its heavy GOP strength.

Four of the hottest Democratic Primary contests resulted from the eight incumbents being sandwiched into four districts by redistricting.

Sen. Bill Moore, Bryan, and Mrs. Neveille Colson, Navasota, have a bitter battle with personalities playing a major part in the campaign for Dist. 5 of Central Texas.

On the other side of the state Sens. Dorsey Hardeman, San Angelo, and Pete Snelson, Midland, are toe-to-toe for Dist. 25, which now stretches from Jeff Davis County on the Rio Grande east to Uvalde in the Hill Country.

In the Panhandle and North Texas, Sens. Jack Hightower, Vernon, and Andy Rogers, Childress, are battling with Hightower claiming "big city" support in Wichita Falls and Vernon, and Rogers claiming the Plains cities. James Ray, Hale Center, former congressional aide, is a third Democratic candidate for Dist. 30.

Sens. Cul, Krueger, El Campo, and Bill Patman, Ganado, are locked in an active, well-financed campaign for Dist. 15 on the central Gulf coast.

Dallas' Democratic Senate contest for Dist. 23 follows state party faction lines with David Ivy claiming that Oscar Mauzy is one of the "labor liberals" trying to take party control from Gov. John Connally. Gene Gunn is the third candidate.

Another "personalities" campaign is underway for Dist. 10 in Fort Worth, where Sen. Don Kennard faces Doyle Willis, former senator defeated by Kennard in 1962.

Midland Votes On Contract, District Makes Lake Plans

While Midland voters cast ballots Thursday in a referendum on a contract to buy water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District, the district moved ahead to expedite the creation of a new lake and pipelines to distribute its water.

Meeting in Big Spring Wednesday, CRMWD directors put their formal and final stamp on the proposed water contract with Midland, then heard reports on progress toward selling $30,000,000 in 30-year revenue bonds to finance the work.

Within a month the district should be able to fix a date for selling the issue, O. H. Ivie, general manager, estimated. A considerable array of data has been turned over to Eastman, Dillon and Union Securities Company of New York, the district's fiscal agent, for final work on the sales proposal and bond prospectus. Ivie anticipated a June sale date.

Based on this, the district's engineers, Freese, Nichols and Endress of Fort Worth, are pressing to have plans ready to distribute to bidders possibly late in June. This would mean a bid opening within the first half of July.

Plans now point toward a 45-inch pipeline from the lake on the Colorado River near Robert Lee to Powell Creek Lake southeast of Big Spring. From that point, the line would be reduced to 39-inch diameter for the leg to the Martin County pump station. Water from the new lake and Lake J. B. Thomas would be mixed either in Powell Lake or at the Martin County station.

The bond issue will contain funds for channel dams to trap saline water on the Colorado River, if necessary. Since oilfield salt water pits were banded along the river, there has been a 20 per cent decline in salinity of the normal flow of the river. If there is an accelerated decline in chlorides, the interceptor dams might become unnecessary, in which event funds could be applied to bridging the gap from Powell Lake to the pipeline which connects Lake Thomas with the Sun Oil waterflood project in northern-Coke County. This would provide an alternate route for water from Lake Thomas to Powell Lake.

The district now has acquired 3,603 acres of land in the new damsite area, said Ivie. Within two weeks, negotiations are due to get under way on another sizeable tract. The district also has been negotiating with oil companies regarding steps to put producing oil wells in the dry. A hearing may be held later on rerouting of State Highway 158 near Robert Lee. Several miles of this road will be inundated by the new lake.

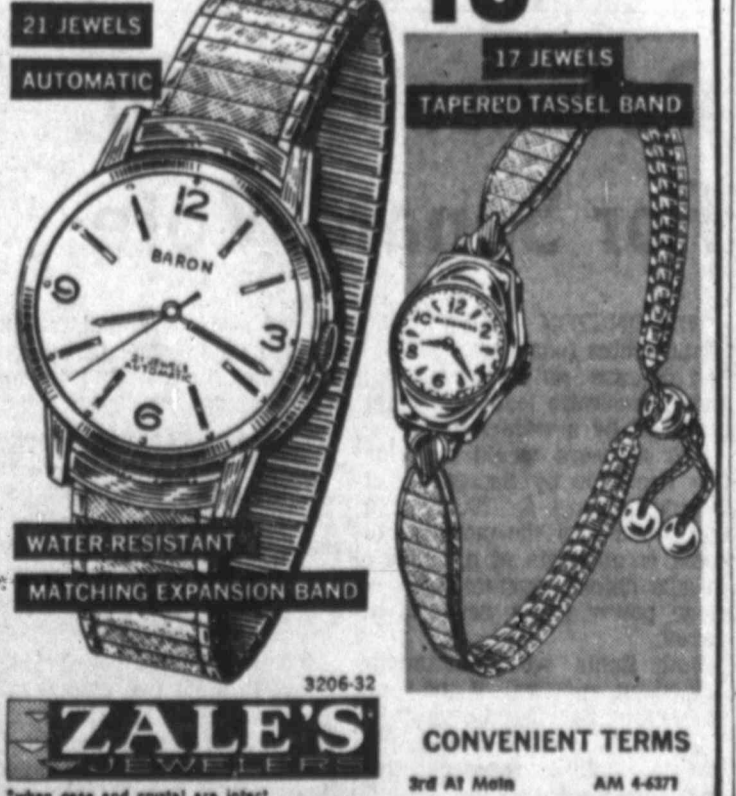

In other matters before the board, an application for a bydroponic garden at Lake Thomas was referred to the recreation committee for a policy recommendation; the installation of cathodic protection for 2.3 miles of pipeline west of Big Spring was set up for bids; and the increase of Lake Thomas from recent rains was pegged at 6,000 acre-feet, nearly two months' supply. The lake now contains 93,000 acre-feet, little less than half of capacity.

Peking Keeps Embellishing Picture Of 'Villainous' U.S.

EDITOR'S NOTE — What chance is there for friendly relations between the United States and Communist China? This unmeasured dispatch, Novelist Frank Tuohy says, is typical of the way Americans are depicted there. Since U.S. reporters are not admitted to China, The Associated Press asked Tuohy to report on his findings in this and in other articles to appear later.

By FRANK TUOHY
PEKING (AP) — Signs of anti-American feeling are everywhere in China. Yet I feel there is something fishy about it all. If the Americans did not exist, the Central Committee of the Communist party would have to invent them.

Take the following scene, for example:

An old man is lying on the ground, and an officer with a stock-whip is flogging him. A young woman dashes forward to help, but is seized by two soldiers. The officer turns with a fiendish snarl and snatches her baby from her. The woman breaks free, but two more soldiers cross their rifles with fixed bayonets in front of her. The officer taunts her. Raising the child, he hurls it down on to the crossed bayonets. The woman shrieks. Grinning, the officer draws a revolver and shoots her on the spot.

VILLAINOUS AMERICA
The officer is American, the mother and baby Vietnamese. This gruesome scene starts off the Chinese film "Victory Is Just Ahead," which I saw in Canton. The American officer, called J. Watson, is played by a Chinese with a false nose.

Why do the Americans have to be presented like this? There are several reasons.

"BULLY US"
First, the Chinese believe that they have been especially marked out for American detestation since 1949. One of the "re-molded capitalists" of Shanghai, used to turning on his opinions for foreigners, was quite definite about it: "The Americans have bullied us too much. We are determined to see this through. The Americans have always been dead against China. In 1950 they bombed plants in Shanghai and have made more than 400 intrusions. Why should we Chinese have aggressive designs on other countries when there is so much to be done here?"

Further embellishments are added to this general picture every day. China's sudden loss of friends in Ghana and Indonesia is due to CIA plotting; all American moves for peace in Viet Nam are a hoax.

Secondly, in spite of diplomatic setbacks, China still wishes to appear the leader of revolutionary movements against imperialism and neocolonialism all over the world.

The breakdown of the relationship with Cuba is still a traumatic experience which has not been adjusted to.

School Head Facing Charge Quits Position

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — The Harlingen School Board Wednesday night accepted the resignation of John H. Morgan, school superintendent.

Morgan, who is under indictment at Houston on charges of sending obscene matter through the mails, told the board by letter that even if he is innocent as he contends, his value to the school system has been destroyed by the mere fact that charges have been made.

REPLACEMENT NAMED
James Thigpen, Morgan's assistant, was named to replace him.

Morgan, married and father of two children, is free on bond after arraignment in Brownsville before a U.S. commissioner.

The charge accused him of sending obscene letters to women in Ohio and New Jersey.

Airline's Mexico Flights Favored

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) examiner recommended Wednesday that Trans-Texas Airways be granted two routes between the Rio Grande Valley and Mexico.

One would extend from Mission, McAllen, Edinburg, Tex., to Monterrey.

The other would extend from Harlingen, San Benito, Tex., to Tampico and Vera Cruz, Mexico's chief seaport.

Examiner Leslie G. Donahue said the authority should be granted without additional subsidy because the airline has said it can provide the service without subsidy.

The CAB's bureau of operating rights had recommended the grant of authority be restricted to three years.

The examiner said he found no reason to restrict the authorization since the line would not be subsidized.

Donahue said the evidence shows there is a significant unmet need for scheduled air service between Texas and the involved Mexican cities.

The bureau had contended Trans-Texas might not generate nearly as much traffic as the airline had estimated, mainly because the Mexican competitor, Compania Mexicana de Aviacion, would be operating at lower fares.

Donahue said although this condition may prevail in early stages of the new operation, Trans-Texas soon would introduce superior equipment so that the lower fare Mexican competition would not be important.

The parties in the proceeding have 10 days in which to file any objections.

Puzzle of Wednesday, April 27, Solved

OPRESSED PEOPLES

Deprived of the Cubans, China looks elsewhere for oppressed peoples to lead. Flagged maps of the United States shows spots of "student-worker" protest as though these were Chinese outposts in a battle.

My objection that many of the protesting American students were Christians and pacifists were brushed aside.

Thirdly the Americans play an important role in the thought of Chairman Mao Tse-tung. According to Marx and Lenin, two become one; thesis and antithesis become synthesis. According to Chairman Mao, the greatest revisionist of them all, however, "one becomes two"; any one situation always contains two opposites, a contradiction, and there is no synthesis. "The struggle of opposites is ceaseless."

PERENNIAL STRUGGLE

Thus there will always be a struggle between the party and the reactionaries. This struggle will never come to an end, socialism will never be transformed, and communism may be postponed forever.

Thus the devil will always be with us and, at present at any rate, the Americans fit the role better than anyone else. Why? Because they are the most powerful nation in the world, they are unrepentantly capitalist, their military bases still encircle China; and in Viet Nam they are fighting an antipeople's war, without overwhelming success.

Railway Merger Okay Applauded

NEW YORK (AP) — The unanimous ruling Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission — ICC — that the merger of the nation's railroads into one in history's largest corporate merger, will result in improved passenger and freight service and possibly lower fares.

Most unions, state officials and other railroads applauded the unanimous ruling Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission — ICC — that turned two of the nation's railroads into one in history's largest corporate merger.

START JUNE 1
Unless legal action is taken to block the consolidation, which had been sought for five years, the two systems are free to begin July 1.

In an effort to insure no job losses from the merger, the ICC ruled the system may not reduce its work force without showing a 5 per cent business drop in any 30-day period.

Another condition imposed on the merged railroad is that it assume operation of the freight and passenger service of the deficit-ridden New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad through 1966. It said the New Haven could not abandon the bulk of its passenger service.

In another action, the commission rejected by a 6-5 vote the merger of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroads. The decision against creation of a 25,000-mile system linking the Midwest to the Pacific drew bitter opposition statements from four commissioners and faces the challenge in the courts.

20,000 MILES
The new Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co., with total assets of more than $4 billion, will take the form of a 20,000-mile system stretching from St. Louis and Chicago to Montreal and Washington.

Valenti Faces Busy Agenda As Film Czar

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After working for Lyndon B. Johnson, Jack Valenti may consider his new job as movie czar a vacation. But he'll find plenty of work to do.

The special assistant to President Johnson was elected as the $100,000-a-year president of the Motion Picture Producers Association this week. He'll take over an office that is somewhat in disarray, having been unfilled since the death of Eric Johnston in 1963.

Valenti, whose headquarters will be in New York, will also face a formidable set of problems, the most serious ones concerning censorship.

The present situation harks back to why the job was created in the first place. In the 1920s, the bustling young film industry had no restraints. Some quick-witted producers purveyed nudity and blatant sex, much to the alarm of the nation's moralists.

SCANDALS FLARED
The alarm became more general after a series of scandals involving important film names. The cry arose in pulpits and editorials against wicked Hollywood, and movie censor boards began to proliferate.

The worried film moguls banded together in the Motion Picture Producers Association and hired Will Hays as president. As President Warren G. Harding's postmaster general and political chieftain, Hays had important connections in Washington and all over the country.

"Hays' chief function was to hold down the censor boards," says a veteran producer. "He had the political know-how, and he was strong enough to force the producers to clean up their pictures and make the stars behave."

UNTIL 1945
Through the Production Code, the Hays office maintained firm control of film content until 1945, when Hays retired. He was succeeded by Eric Johnston, the glad-handing, global-thinking former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"Johnston wasn't terribly concerned with film content," said an industry observer. "He spent little time in Hollywood and knew few of the movie makers. His job was largely international. He performed the important function of freeing money that was frozen in foreign countries during and after the war. This was money that the film companies desperately needed. Johnston found ways to get it to them, and he also helped expand the global market."

Johnston paid little attention to the moral revolution that took place in films during his tenancy. Franker films from abroad, shifting mores and the need to compete with television forced Hollywood to deal more realistically with sex.

COURT DECISIONS
Decisions by the Supreme Court helped the producers in their drive for freedom of the screen. But some protectors of public morals felt that movies have gone too far in depicting sex and restraints are needed. The classification of films has been proposed to protect children from licentious movies. Such a system has long been employed in England and other countries. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith has announced hearings on the matter.

"That will be Jack Valenti's first job: dealing with the censors and classifiers," commented an observer. "He'll have his hands full."

Speculative Bug Bites Investors

NEW YORK (AP)—Speculation fever is growing in stock exchanges across the nation. This is shown by the record volume of trading in recent weeks. It is shown even more clearly by the sharp rise in quotations on low-priced stocks where speculators hope for a quick buck. The blue chips have been dawdling.

SMALL LOTS
The speculative bug has bitten the small or amateur investor who often buys in small lots. It also has bitten the professional and institutional investor who has been buying big blocks of supposedly glamorous issues.

And the inroad of the fever has aroused misgivings not only in government circles but also among stock exchange executives and brokerage houses.

1961 SPREE
Many recall that a similar speculative spree in 1961, with little known stocks getting the major play, was followed by the big turndown in most stock prices in 1962 that hit bottom that June. Since then the market has tended up with only temporary setbacks.

This year the volume of trading has been closely watched.

In the first quarter of 1966 a record $40.7 million shares changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange. Big Board officials are quick to point out that the number of shares listed on the exchange has advanced rapidly in the last few years, and that the number of individual stockowners also has grown. But the exchange has several times stepped in to discourage speculative activity in specific issues by raising margin requirements for buying them.

TRADING RECORD
On the American Stock Exchange, where many smaller companies with lower priced stocks are listed, trading volume so far this year has set a record of 307.9 million shares. The previous record for this time of year was 136.6 million just a year ago.

Edwin D. Etherington, Amex president, says the turnover figures and wide price swings of some stocks listed on this exchange show an "unusual degree of speculation."

He notes that the turnover ratio—the number of shares traded as a percentage of the number of shares listed—was running at an annual rate of 82 per cent in the first 10 days of April. In the first quarter of 1966 the rate was 56 per cent. In 1961 its high was 27 per cent, while in 1947 through 1949 the rate was at a low of 11 per cent.

Mop-Haired Youths Play 'Beat Mass' In Chapel

ROME (AP) — Three mop-haired youth combos banged out a "beat mass" in a Roman Catholic chapel Wednesday night. Listeners couldn't agree whether it was a howling success or a holy mess.

A crowd of 500, including scores of priests, jammed into the oratory of St. Philip Neri. They stomped their feet and bobbed their heads to the rhythm of the electric guitars, drums, organ and singers.

1,000 OUTSIDE
Another 1,000 outside beat on the door trying to get in. Police reinforcements had to squeeze into the crowded courtyard to keep order.

A group of Oratorian Fathers, whose religious order specializes in youth work, sponsored the program.

The 17 young musicians were lined up before a battery of microphones to perform a nine-part mass written by composer Marcello Giobini, with words adapted by an editor of the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, the Rev. Carlo Gasbarri. There was no religious celebration of the mass.

"HARD ERA"
The Rev. Sinaldo Sinaldi, a Dominican priest, opened the concert with this explanation: "In a hard and merciless era like ours, a profane music can be useful in expressing religious sentiments — although I want to assure you that the promoters of this enterprise have absolutely no intention of putting light music into the church's official cult, that is, its worship."

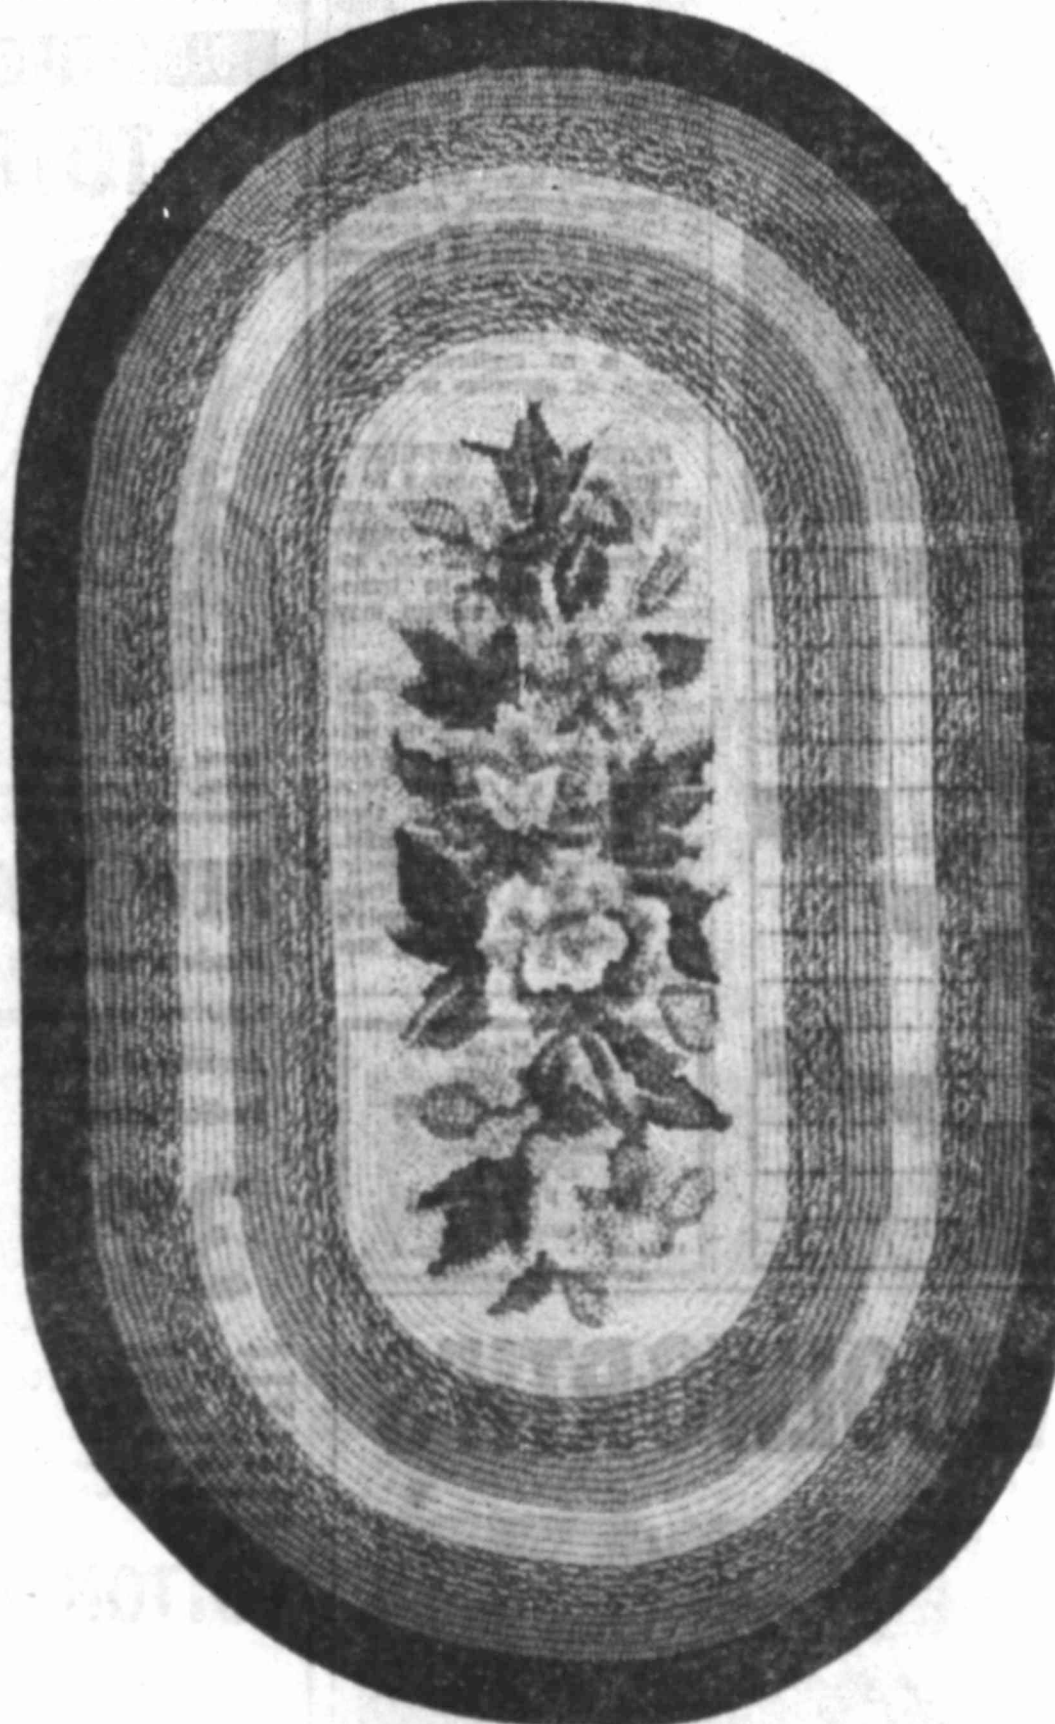

The Rome newspaper Il Messaggero commented: "Never before has there ever been seen such a crowd, unleashing punches and kicks, assailing a barred door, just to be able to assist at a mass."

Scott McLaughlin Competes Saturday

Scott McLaughlin, young expert who readily won his title here two weeks ago as champion Howard County speller, will try his hand in what should be a tougher competition this weekend.

He goes to Lubbock Saturday to try for the Regional Spelling Bee Championship — victory in which would win him a free trip to the nation's capital in June and a chance to compete for the national title.

McLaughlin has not been wasting his time since he won his county title May 16. His mother, Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, 112 Cedar, said that her young son has been burning the midnight oil for the past 10 days, conning his official Spelling Bee word list.

McLaughlin, as representative of Gollad Junior High School, took the title in a close finish with Mary Lou Brown, Rannels

SCOTT McLAUGHLIN

Junior High champion, in the Fourth Annual County Bee. He had lost the same honor in 1965 to Don Hickson, now his classmate, when McLaughlin competed as the champion speller from Park Hill School. He was runner-up that year in the County Bee.

Saturday, he and his parents will drive to Lubbock and he will be entered against the champions of 23 other West Texas counties. Last year, Hickson won the regional title and was awarded the trip to Washington. Scott hopes to emulate Hickson and get his chance to try for the national title.

Meantime, Hickson also plans to be in Lubbock Saturday — where, as last year's regional champion, he will return the special plaque which bears his name and that of all other champions in the region. He was holder of the plaque for one year. He will be an interested spectator at the regional spelling bee.

FLOOD

phur Springs and northeastward to the Red River north of Clarksville.

A Pacific cold front was moving southward across the state early today along a line from Texarkana to Dallas to Midland.

Moving with the cold front was a line of thunderstorm activity. Behind the front skies were partly cloudy.

MERCURY RANGE
Temperatures early today ranged from the 40s in the Panhandle to the 70s ahead of the front. Dalhart reported 48 early today and Brownsville had 75. Blowing dust Wednesday reduced visibility to five miles at one time in Dalhart.

A state disaster and relief office, Jess Ward, said that he believes the 11 East Texas counties hit hardest by flooding could qualify for disaster relief. Some of the counties involved received up to 22 inches of rain.

Lakes and rivers in East Texas continued to rise Wednesday and some highways were still closed to traffic.

Paris, nearly 100 miles northeast of Dallas, was cut off from long distance telephone communication for hours, although telephones inside the city operated.

The Paris isolation was believed caused by the breaking of a cable at the Sulphur River. The city received about two inches of rain and minor wind damage occurred.

The flooding followed rainstorms in the area, which also pounded parts of Oklahoma and Southern Illinois. Wet weather also covered broad areas today from the northern Plains to the Atlantic Coast.

A small tornado struck the southeast section of Granite City, Ill., near St. Louis today, but there were no injuries. Property damage was minor.

Earlier, twisters hit several communities in Texas and Oklahoma but no injuries were reported. Several houses and barns were destroyed and others damaged.

FUNNEL CLOUDS
Tornadoes and funnel clouds were reported in eastern Oklahoma and northern Texas, including twisters at Calvin and Coleman, Okla., and near Denton, Decatur and Denison in Texas. Heavy hail peppered Denton and hail also pelted Denton, Jefferson City, Mo., and Coalgate and Savanna, Okla.

The spring snow storm in the northern Plains and Rocky Mountain region tapered off after dumping up to nearly a foot of snow in Minot, N.D. Snow flurries continued in western Montana, with light snow in eastern North Dakota and west central Minnesota.

Politics Class
The fourth session of the non-partisan action course in practical politics will be held tonight at 7:30 in the community room of Texas Electric Service Co. R. H. Weaver is the discussion leader.

WEATHER
NORTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Mostly cloudy tonight and Friday. Showers and thunderstorms, mainly in west and north, becoming widely scattered Friday. Much cooler in west and north today, a little warmer in north Friday. Low tonight 34 to 38. High Friday 47 to 51.

Baptists Are Studying New Materials

Baptist associational leaders from a 150 mile radius in West Texas were gathering here today for interpretation of new optional training materials.

Several top departmental leaders in Southern Baptist work were on hand to serve as instructors. Leaders of the association will take the new life and work curriculum back to their individual churches for a decision on whether to use them.

The new courses, which are related to life and working experiences, were developed so that individual churches may use the material in all phases of the church program, or can continue to use the standard international Bible lessons. The new curriculum is correlated for all departments of individual churches.

Those making the presentations and interpretations were W. R. Bumpas of the Sunday school board; Harvey T. Gibson, of the Training Union department; James W. Clark, of the church administration division, all of Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. R. L. Mathis of the WMU headquarters in Atlanta, Ga. The Rev. R. L. Polk, pastor of the host, First Baptist Church, was to close the meeting with an address on "Educating Through the Printed Word."

The meeting here is one of eight in Texas for congregations cooperating with the Southern Baptist Convention.

Airmen Named In Burglary

Two Webb Air Force Base airmen were arrested Wednesday and charged with burglary of a coin operated machine, according to Sheriff Farmer, city detective.

Arrested were airmen Cleveland Turner Jr., Barracks 208, and Fay M. Elliott, Barracks 224. Both men are 22 years old, Farmer said.

Jess Slaughter, peace justice set bond at $1,500 each, and the two men were turned over to Webb Air Force Base officials, pending grand jury action.

Officers said they saw two men running from the Nichols Laundry, 209 NW 2nd, Tuesday night, chased and arrested them. The laundry was found to be open, and a gum-ball machine rifled. Both men signed statements about the burglary Wednesday, Farmer said.

Multiple-Slayings Figure Still Jailed

FLORESVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A South Texas youth accused of killing four persons on a wild spree touched off by a rejected marriage proposal is "taking things pretty calm" today in Wilson County jail.

A deputy sheriff said Johnny Rudy Enriquez, 19, shows no outward apprehension as he waits for possible grand jury murder indictments.

The slender suspect was arrested late Monday in Cuero, after a daylong manhunt after four persons, including a highway patrolman, were shot to death.

Authorities have filed three murder charges against Enriquez and a fourth is expected, officials said.

Police said the youth went on a rampage when Victoria Perez, 21, of Robstown, rejected his marriage proposal. They said he killed her and her brother, Federico Perez, 24, at their rural home, and wounded her father.

Taking flight, police continue, Enriquez killed Mrs. Philip Foss, 21, of Beville, after commandeering her car. They said he also killed Patrolman Darvin Hogg, 25, before authorities apprehended him disguised as a woman.

He was armed with a .22 caliber pistol and a .357 Magnum pistol when arrested but offered no resistance.

The patrolman was killed in Wilson County, of which Floresville is the county seat.

Lake Catches Some Runoff
Lake J. B. Thomas picked up another quarter of a foot in its level Thursday on the strength of early morning showers.

The elevation was up to 2240.26 at noon, which accounted for 1,150 more acre feet of water. R. A. Schoelling, lake superintendent, said that the Colorado River south of Gall was still rising and that the lake should catch a foot of water from this particular runoff.

Rains east of Ackerly ranged from an inch and a half to two inches, and north of Luther and Vealwood around an inch and three-quarters, and an inch at Gall to furnish runoff. There was considerable hail at Ackerly and Gall.

Stocks Suffer Steep Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the steepest stock market losses of the year was in progress late this afternoon as rails and industrials retreated on a broad front. Trading was fairly active.

Here was the picture near the close:
Volume for the day was estimated at 8.7 million shares compared with 9.97 million Wednesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 2 p.m. was off 12.31 at 932.23.

Discouraged selling was blamed by brokers on a Supreme Court decision finding General Motors guilty of violating antitrust law by trying to ban sale of Chevrolets through discount houses in the Los Angeles area.

GM common was down more than a point, touching a new low of 88 1/2. Other auto stocks were unchanged to slightly lower but losses ran from 1 to 5 points among other leading issues.

Production of the nation's mines, mills, and refineries reached a record 151.3 per cent of the 1957-59 average, 9 per cent above a year earlier and eight-tenths of 1 per cent above January when production reached 150.1 per cent, the board said in its monthly summary of business conditions.

Output of consumer goods generally increased during February, although auto assemblies declines slightly for the second straight month.

Production of consumer staples advanced during the month and output of most types of business equipment reached new highs. Iron and steel production also increased as did production of other durable materials.

But, the board said, production of nondurable materials changed little from the advanced December-January level.

Burglars Get $80 In Change

Almost $80 in change was taken from coin-operated machines at Whiteway's Bar, 964 E. 3rd, V. P. Wilson, operator, told officers Wednesday. He said the burglary took place between midnight and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Three machines were forced, Wilson said—a cigarette machine, from which $12 was taken; a shuffleboard machine, from which $7.30 was taken; and a "jukebox," from which burglars lifted $60.

Officers said the burglars made three attempts to gain entry at windows and doors, finally succeeding at the north door by forcing the latch with a prying instrument, which was also used in breaking into the machines.

Officers said Curtis Neal, 2902 Cherokee, came into the building while investigation was under way and gave them a coin box he found on East Fourth near Terry's Drive in. They said the box was apparently from one of the machines.

Lions Briefed On Key Issues

Several issues which may face the next Texas Legislature were outlined before the Downtown Lions Club at the Settles Wednesday by Rep. Roger Brown.

More taxes are coming, he predicted, and legislators will be hard pressed to reach a decision between an income tax, removing exemptions on the sales tax, or increasing the sales tax, special excise taxes or ad valorem taxes. He took a dim view of the latter because he said it was an inequitable tax.

Brown thought that the driver responsibility law might be tightened to keep drivers off the highways unless they could show financial responsibility, and perhaps to permit flexibility in rating for competitive purposes.

Brown estimated that the state will be looking at the need for $80 to $100 million if all requests are met for teacher salaries, junior and senior college help.

He felt that women's equal legal rights could best be handled by statute; that a law could be adopted to permit individuals to waive homestead exemptions if they so desire; to revamp the Criminal Code, which he said was basically a good one; to remove common law marriage status.

Plane Sale Not Museum's End

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The news item seemed to imply the death of a dream: The announcement of the sale to the Nebraska firms sounded like the end of Movieland of the Air. But a call to Tallman indicated otherwise.

Costa Mesa, Calif. (AP) — Two Nebraska firms have purchased a group of 45 antique airplanes valued at about $2 million from the Movieland of the Air Museum.

The dream belonged to Paul Mantz and Frank Tallman, two legendary movie pilots. Between them, they had flown a vast number of the great air stunts in Hollywood films, from "Hell's Angels" to "The Carpetbaggers."

PRESERVE PLANES

While maintaining their movie business, the two men pursued their longtime ambition to open a museum that would preserve the classic airplanes from the earliest days of flight through World War II. Three years ago they opened their Movieland of the Air at Orange County Airport.

Last July Mantz performed his last stunt, losing his life in a makeshift plane he was piloting for "Flight of the Phoenix." Then Tallman had an accident that led to amputation of a leg. The announcement of the sale to the Nebraska firms sounded like the end of Movieland of the Air. But a call to Tallman indicated otherwise.

"I expect to be in the same business for another hundred years," he announced. "What I did was the same as 20th Century-Fox selling their backlot. I had an immensely valuable capital investment, and I decided to dispose of some of the one-of-a-kind airplanes that were seldom used in movies."

IN BUSINESS

"But I've still got 35 airplanes, and it may be a year before the others leave. So the museum is still open for business and will continue to be. I've kept all the camera planes and movie equipment, so we're still in business for the studios, too."

And Frank Tallman is still available as pilot, he added.

"I've got a new leg and it's working fine," he said. "I walk without a cane now. I've got a sailor's roll, but that will go away with practice."

Jail Car If Law Flouted? No, Say Experts, Because . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — When traffic laws are flouted, should the car be jailed instead of the driver?

Sounds like a great idea, road safety experts agreed in a survey today, but there's a snag: It wouldn't work.

SPACE SHORT

For one thing, the experts pointed out, there isn't enough municipal storage space to accommodate even a fraction of the automobiles which would wind up in custody.

For another, hundreds of workers depend on their cars for transportation and a serious breakdown of commerce and industry would threaten immediately.

The suggestion that automobiles involved in traffic violations be removed from circulation was set forth by William Colson, past president of the Trial Lawyers Association in a speech in Miami Tuesday.

Colson said the offending car owner should be charged storage costs until a court decided to give him back his set of wheels.

OTHER FACTORS

His proposal found few takers. "It would be an administrative monstrosity," protested Traffic Inspector Joseph Halfer-of the Philadelphia police department.

"In 1965 there were 165,000 hazardous traffic violations in Philadelphia alone. What about out-of-town violators? Would you ship the drivers back to California, or wherever?"

"It would constitute a possibly unequal punishment — some people need their cars to make a living," said Division Traffic Inspector N.L. Rector of Los Angeles.

PENALIZE INNOCENT

"Suppose there is one car in the family and a son is driving and commits a violation," said Maj. George W. Finckerton, head of the Pennsylvania State Police Department Traffic Bureau. "If you impound the car you penalize the mother and father."

A spokesman for automobile drivers was scornful. Said Samuel T. Milliken, manager of the Keystone-Philadelphia Automobile Club: "Put the car in jail? Sure, why not? Just convert all parking garages and lots into jailhouses. Swear in garage attendants as policemen. What matter if it slows the wheels of industry to a grinding halt?"

The only outright booster for Colson's idea was Richard McLaughlin, Massachusetts registrar of motor vehicles. He has already put a bill into the state legislative mill which would impound for 60 days the cars of drivers twice convicted of driving with invalid licenses.

Not Much Interest In Mitchell Contests

COLORADO CITY (SC) — It's hard to interest Mitchell County folks in politics, when they've just completed a cotton harvest that ginned out in the neighborhood of 50,000 bales and cattle and sheep are selling like buyers thought they were going out of style.

So with the exception of "a favorite son" candidate for congress and two three-way precinct races, folks are more interested in the seven inch rain that has just fallen.

Mitchell County, after 30 years in Congressman George Mahon's district, is in the 17th district under Congressman Omar Burleson, a veteran congressman. The entry of Eldon Mahon, who grew up in Mitchell County, into the race has developed considerable local interest in this contest. Mahon, now living in Abilene, was a DSA winner at Colorado City and had served as district attorney and district judge of the 32nd District, while living at Colorado City.

In Precinct 4 at Lorraine, C.

Candidates who have no opponents include: Bill Erwin, district clerk; Roy Davis, county school superintendent; Elmer Martin, county judge; Gilbert Leach, county clerk; Mrs. Mary Post, county treasurer; Harry Ratliff, county Democratic chairman; county Commissioner, Pct. 2, Drew Cawthron; justice of the peace, Pct. 2, L. B. Messimer; justice of the peace, Pct. 3, Mrs. Mary Lee Moore; justice of the peace, Pct. 4, S. H. Hart Jr.

Candidates for precinct chairman are: 1. G. D. Foster; 2. Leroy Gressett; 3. Wright Hock; 4. Wade Preston.

Junior-Senior Banquet Slated

WESTBROOK (SC) — The annual Junior-Senior Banquet will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Medallion Room of Colorado City. Dr. Billy P. Smith, professor of Bible at Hardin-Simmons University of Abilene, will be the speaker.

Theme of the banquet is "Hawaiian Sunset," which will be carried out in the decorations and program. Serving will be the sophomore girls, Patricia Bell, Kathy Henderson, Vickie Sullivan, Wanda Whitehead and Margie Geron.

Approximately 50 are expected. Junior sponsors are Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Scroggins. Senior sponsors are Ralph Bryant and Maxy Ware. Master of ceremonies will be Johnny Hines.

Hunt Resumes For Airliner

LIMA, Peru (AP)—A search resumed today for the wreckage of a Peruvian airliner which apparently crashed in the Andes Mountains with 49 persons aboard. Five were Americans.

The four-engine Linesas Aereas Nacionales Constellation disappeared Wednesday on a 375-mile flight from Lima to Cuzco.

The Lima airport said the plane radioed a distress call 10 minutes after taking off, and police at Cuzco said they had a report it crashed at Cocolococha, 170 miles south of Lima.

The airline said the plane carried 43 passengers and a crew of 60.

Fledgling Legislator Group Board Members Hold Meet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — To build up both the prestige and the effectiveness of state lawmakers, the fledgling National Society of State Legislators.

The speaker was a member of a state legislature, Rep. Harry B. Colay of Magnolia, Ark., addressing the Board of Directors of the fledgling National Society of State Legislators.

In a country where almost every interest has incorporated a national organization, state legislators went their separate ways until mid-1965, when a society was set up by 22 of them. They had been discussing what they saw as the decline of state government and the low opinion in which legislators were held.

OVER 300

The society now claims a membership of something over 300, out of a potential of some 8,000 members of legislatures. It has a headquarters in Glenview, Ill., and an ambitious program to succeed its first president, Republican Rep. William L. Blaser of Park Forest, Ill.

Democrat Colay is president.

State Paycheck Boosts In Texas Recommended

AUSTIN (AP) — Years of meager salaries have built up to a manpower crisis in state government, a key Texas finance official has told Gov. John Connally.

Texas is having trouble attracting and keeping the engineers, administrators, technicians, policemen and hospital attendants who make the system go, job classification officer Everett Anschutz said.

The solution, possibly a politically unpopular one, is a giant boost in state paychecks, Anschutz told Connally last Friday.

Capitol sources place a price tag of at least $17.5 million a year on pay raises that would make state jobs competitive with industry and the federal government.

GOVERNOR CONVINCED

Anschutz' hour-long illustrated presentation—repeated Wednesday for several reporters—apparently convinced Connally.

"One of my strongest recommendations to the next Legislature will be for substantial pay raises for state employees," Connally said this week in Victoria.

Anschutz' final recommendations will be made to the governor's budget office and the Legislative Budget Board by May 15—in time for this summer's hearings on agency budget requests for 1967-69.

Department heads have been briefed already, with something approaching evangelical intensity, on the need as Anschutz sees it to pull together toward the goal of more attractive pay.

One slide, calculated to strike home with the often states-rights-minded agency heads, shows a bus, emblazoned with a federal insignia and labeled: "Leave the Driving to U.S."

SALARY SURVEYS

Anschutz' office, created by the Legislature in 1961 to see that employees do "equal work for equal pay," surveys the salaries of only 37,000 employees. Thousands of others, such as doctors, top administrators and employees of the 22 state colleges and universities, are not covered by the position classification plan.

The crisis shows up in three ways, Anschutz says:

- High turnover, meaning loss of skills the state has spent money to develop, plus the expense of training new employees.
- A government manned by relatively inexperienced people.
- Unfilled job vacancies and difficult recruiting.

"We are wasting at least $5 million a year just on people staying long enough to become effective," Anschutz says. "We are now losing people at an annual rate of about 30 per cent."

BIG TURNOVER

Fifty per cent of the employees million a year in salaries.

Talk around the Capitol is that a number of state officials are trying to talk Connally into accepting a big pay raise for himself to raise the ceiling on salaries for key employees not under the classification schedule.

The governor's $25,000 a year has been in effect many years, placing an upper limit on the amount legislators will appropriate for other posts. As a result, some officials receive salary supplements from various non-government sources.

British Singer Petula Clark Wows Crowd

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Petite Petula Clark has exploded her singing talent on the Hollywood scene, startling those who thought of her as a rock 'n' roll singer.

The fresh-faced, snub-nosed British singer sold a stellar audience at the Coconut Grove on her varied repertoire of something old and much that is new. Her performance was a revelation to those who came expecting a teen-type rocker.

The reason for that reputation was her first American record, "Downtown," which was such a favorite with the youthful crowd that her talent as a song-belter was virtually obscured.

"But 'Downtown' is not a rock 'n' roll song; it is really a very beautiful piece of music," she opined in her Ambassador Hotel suite as one of her two young daughters crawled over her. "I have certainly never considered myself a rock 'n' roll singer."

"Last year at the Grammy Awards, I accepted my statuette for 'Downtown,' then I noticed the inscription. I commented, 'I didn't know I was a rock 'n' roll singer.' The emcee hemmed and hawed over that."

"I was glad to see that when I won this year for 'I Know a Place,' the category had been changed."

"Downtown" brought many changes to her life.

"Actually, this was the time when I expected to be slowing down my career," she remarked, adding with no false modesty: "I had enjoyed a career as the most successful female performer in England and on the Continent. Having had the best of it, I thought I would be settling down to the house we are building in Switzerland — we also have places in Paris and on the Cote d'Azur — as my daughters would soon be starting school."

"And then 'Downtown' was released in this country. Now we have doubled our travel time, and who knows when it will end?"

Petula, who is married to and managed by Frenchman Claud Wolf, is a veteran of British show business.

Court Yields To Accused

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — James Brown of Tampa was cleared of a traffic charge after showing color movies in city court of a string of cars — and a motorcycle cop — making the same illegal left turn.

"In this case I'll temper justice with mercy," Judge Tom Meyers said Wednesday. "Not guilty!"

Brown is the organist at Tampa's Al Lopez Field and said he had seen the same infraction committed hundreds of times following home games of the spring-training Cincinnati Reds.

So after a patrolman gave him a ticket, Brown, 43, grabbed his camera and caught 16 cars and a motorcycle cop making the turn.

The film also showed a patrolman stopping traffic after a ball game to permit the turn.

RANKS 35TH

Anschutz told Connally that Texas ranks 35th in the nation in average salary paid state employees. A 16 per cent increase is needed to pay the national average and a 35 per cent boost would put Texas 10 per cent over the average, he said.

Labor markets are tightening, he said, especially for the educated and technically trained people needed for government. Other states, industry and the federal government are drawing away such trained employees as engineers, Anschutz said.

For instance, he said, 64.8 per cent of state employees are paid less than the $410 per month the U.S. Post Office is offering seasonal assistants this summer.

FEDERAL SCALE

The federal government pays engineers with four years of experience from $10,619 to $13,931, he said, while the state offers $7,320 to $9,528.

"Can we build a career service at a substandard hiring rate without opportunity for advancement?" he asks. "If we buy a typewriter we pay the market price. If we hire an engineer, shouldn't we also pay the market price?"

Texas now pays out $156

Turning War Tide Is Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials hope to turn the tide of war decisively against Communist forces in South Viet Nam by early next year.

The hope is tentative and authorities concede it could be upset by adverse military or political developments in the months ahead.

Nevertheless, it defines an important purpose of present strategic planning. President Johnson's advisers believe it represents a reasonable projection of the recent course of the war in Viet Nam plus the probable results to be obtained from the planned massive buildup of U.S. forces.

CRUCIAL POINT
The critical point will be reached, strategists say, when manpower losses suffered by Communist forces under the pounding of American, South Vietnamese and allied troops exceed the Communist capacity to replace manpower.

The estimate that this point can be reached by early next year is expected to figure in the strategic review and planning session soon to be held by President Johnson in connection with a return here for consultation of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Lodge is due back May 9. It will be his first trip here in about nine months, though he conferred with Johnson and other administration leaders in Honolulu last February.

250,000 YANKS
U.S. military strength in South Viet Nam now stands at about 250,000 men, with South Vietnamese forces at about 700,000, including irregulars and police.

The tentatively scheduled buildup of U.S. forces, subject to periodic decision by President Johnson as specific reinforcement requests arrive from Saigon, will put the total at 400,000 or more by the end of the year.

One result of the buildup will be to increase the number of combat battalions as compared with supply and base-protection forces, greatly enlarging the search and destroy capacity of U.S. forces.

This is a principal reason why Johnson administration planners have now made the tentative assumption that around the turn of the year or early in 1967 Communist losses will exceed the ability of the Communists to maintain their manpower levels through recruitment and through infiltration of forces from North Viet Nam.

OTHER FACTORS
Officials say that achieving this point in turning the tide of the war depends on several other assumptions. One of these is that the developing political situation in South Viet Nam will not seriously impair military operations during the coming summer and fall. Not all Washington authorities agree that this is a reasonable assumption at this time, since recent demonstrations against the Saigon government slowed military operations.

Other important assumptions underlying the forecast of a turning point in the war are:

1. That the Viet Cong will not radically alter their strategy and seek to avoid combat in the months ahead in order to reduce their loss rate.

2. That North Viet Nam and Red China will not radically alter the major dimensions of the war by intervention which would expand it into a different kind of conflict.

ALONG LINES
In summary, the projection of a turning point is based on the assumption that the war will continue to develop along the lines which have characterized the conflict in recent months.

According to figures and rough estimates now available from officials here, the Viet Cong suffered manpower losses in killed, captured, wounded, and defections during the first four months of this year amounting to considerably more than 20,000 men. Government figures show a total of about 15,000 Communists killed in action and probably another 5,000 men counted as defectors.

In the same four months, however, the Viet Cong replacements were estimated at about 32,000, consisting of an infiltration of troops from North Viet Nam at 4,500 a month and recruitment in the South of guerrilla fighters, porters and the like at the rate of 3,500 per month.

ENEMY INCREASING
U.S. strategists agree that, as these figures suggest, Viet Cong forces still are increasing in spite of the fact that U.S. troops with their heavy firepower have been building up rapidly in South Viet Nam for a year now. American government estimates put Viet Cong main force strength at 47,750 in June, 1965, 70,100 in December, 1965, and 90,000 in April, 1966. In addition, local guerrilla and supporting forces of the Communists are estimated at 100,000 to 120,000.

U.S. military authorities estimate that the Viet Cong forces now have 111 combat battalions at their disposal and will have 155 by the end of this year. At that level, U.S. experts say, the Communists probably will require about 150 tons of supplies daily.

WEAKEN CONG
The dominant view in administration planning is that heavy and sustained air strikes against the Communist supply lines do and will put a ceiling on replacement capacity and do limit the ability of the Viet Cong to maintain their strength.

U.S. authorities also assume that the Viet Cong's ability to recruit fighters in the countryside in South Viet Nam is limited and will decrease as the war goes against them.

Coming Dominican Elections May Pose Crucial Questions

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Like a procession of long-nosed dark-green beetles, the Dominican army tanks clattered west across the quarter-mile steel span of Duarte Bridge toward Santo Domingo.

It was late afternoon of April 27, 1965, the fourth day of a revolution that now, with the tanks moving in, seemed on its deathbed.

From rooftops a mile away, on the west bank of the river, a knot of civilians watched the bridge in sullen anger and black despair. Some knelt and wept.

"It's all over," someone said. As if this had been the awaited signal, the men and women in the group trudged back into the building, down the stairs, into the street and disappeared in various directions in the gathering gloom.

DECISIVE BATTLE
What they had seen was the beginning of the most decisive battle of the bloody revolution that began a year ago the past Sunday morning, April 24. What they missed was its end: half an hour later the tanks rumbled back east across the river in unbelievable defeat.

This was the moment in Dominican history that was to have, shortly thereafter, repercussions in Washington, and later in every Latin-American capital, even in Moscow and Peking.

The defeat of the tanks was to launch the United States on a massive and controversial military intervention, the full effects of which still are in the future.

This changed the course of a politically multithued civilian-military upheaval whose ultimate control and configuration remain, a year later, the central theme of vigorous debate swirling largely about the wisdom of direct U.S. involvement.

A product of this action, the forthcoming general elections, has raised provocative questions about the possible results. Among them: What will U.S. policy be if the revolutionaries achieve through a vote the power they claim was denied them by intervention?

The U.S. government, which said it intervened to prevent Communists from seizing control, has publicly announced it will support, politically and economically, the winner of the June elections.

Some Dominicans who are convinced the constitutionalist revolutionaries will win the elections are asking if this means that Washington now regards the danger of communism lessened, or, is it an oblique admission the danger was exaggerated?

PUT IN FOCUS
Twelve months later, its basic features in sharper focus, the revolution has permitted qualified observers on the scene to arrive at some conclusions:

1. It was not a massive, organized popular uprising, but an accidental fruition of plans more than a month in preparation.

2. Communists were active in large numbers, but not as an organization with a central plan of action. They concentrated mostly on paramilitary affairs where they exercised some operational influence.

3. Political control was in the hands of moderate leftists, mostly Dominican Revolutionary party members. However, even they admit this didn't mean full and effective physical control of a situation over which authority is known American lives and property, the first reason President Johnson gave for sending troops into the Dominican Republic on April 28, the day after the tank battle.

YANKS UNMOLESTED
There are no confirmed reports of Americans being hurt or seriously threatened by revolutionaries. More than a dozen Peace Corps workers continued their tasks unmolested in the rebel sector throughout the fighting.

A second reason for American intervention—to prevent Communists from taking control—was later given by the President. The basic question of left-wing extremist involvement became blurred by an uproar in the U.S. press over the validity of a list of more than 50 Communists the State Department said were active in the revolution. A few discrepancies in the list later were turned up.

The political makeup of the 14th of June Movement, whose leaders are known Communists, tends to distort any evaluation of the range of Communist influence in the revolution.

Final Political Rally Saturday

Candidates for public office will have their final opportunity to appeal to the public for support at a mammoth political rally planned Saturday.

John Ferguson, vice president of the Howard County Democratic Club, is in charge of arrangements.

He said that the street to the east of the Howard County courthouse would be roped off for the public, and that a flat bed truck will be set up in front of the county building. A loud speaker system will be installed. The rally gets under way at 7 p.m.

All candidates, local and otherwise, are invited to attend or to have representatives on hand.

Omar Burleson and Eldon Mahon, seeking election to congress, have assured Ferguson they intend to be on hand. He said he had no information of the other state or regional candidates who would attend.

However, all local candidates, particularly those seeking office where there are more than one contender, are expected to be on hand.

Ferguson asked that the general public be on hand to hear the speakers.

Election is May 7. The candidates will devote their last few days before the voting to covering the county with cards and literature.

Expanded Battle On Poverty Urged

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — The United States should allocate two per cent of its Gross National Product each year to a worldwide fight against poverty and disease, says Walter P. Reuther.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, told an Earlham College audience that the United States will be judged "not by what we have but by what we do with what we have."

Law Speaker

W. O. Shafer, Odessa, president-elect of the State Bar of Texas, will speak Saturday in Birmingham, Ala. to climax the observance of Law Day USA at the Cumberland School of Law at Samford University. Shafer is a 1937 Cumberland graduate and will speak on the "Written Law." Cumberland was organized in Lebanon, Tenn., in 1847.

Plan Meals Around Plentiful

The spotlight's on raisins this month.

This year's raisin production — the largest in 13 years — is estimated at 272,000 tons. Current price should give you incentive to include a lot of raisin-bright dishes on May menus.

In addition to raisins, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports plentiful supplies of honey, grape juice, scallops, crabs and crab meat.

So if it's variety you're looking for in meal planning, these May plentiful foods reported by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service provide just that.

All of May is National Salad Month. Imagine what interesting salads you can prepare from plentiful foods. You know what flavor and color raisins add to salads.

Too, see how nicely crab meat fits into your special seafood salad preparations. And you'll find honey the perfect sweetener for salad dressings of your own making.

How long has it been since you've included scallops in the evening menu? The family will find the distinctive taste of scallops a real treat. Scallops cold storage holdings early this year were double those of a year ago.

Storage stocks of king, blue and Dungeness crab have risen to 9,355,000 pounds.

Get each day off to the right start with tall glasses of grape juice. Include grape juice in your favorite punches, too. Great! You'll find grape juice prices comparatively lower than at any time during the last five years.

Let plentiful foods provide the answer to May meal planning.

Eggs, Anchovies Make New Salad

Eggs take on new interest when they're teamed with anchovies.

ANTIPASTO SALAD

- 6 hard-cooked eggs
- 1 can (2 oz.) anchovies, drained
- 1/4 cup minced celery
- 1/2 tsp. paprika
- 3 tps. mayonnaise
- 2 tps. vinegar
- Salad greens, sliced tomato, green pepper strips and radishes

Halve eggs lengthwise; remove yolks. Mash yolks with 6 of the anchovies, celery, paprika, mayonnaise and vinegar. (No salt is needed since anchovies add salt.)

Refill whites with mixture. Arrange on salad greens, with tomato, green pepper, radishes, and remaining anchovies. Makes 4 servings—3 stuffed egg halves.

Cooking 'Tasting' Way Saves Traditional Southern Flavor

By JO ANN PHINIZY

"When it comes to cooking methods, I'm the champion taster," said Mrs. Carey Matthews, 1506 Hearn. "And mostly what I am looking for is that North Carolina flavor."

S. Sgt. and Mrs. Matthews are from opposite ends of Sampson County, N. C., and try as they might, they just can't get away from Southern-type cooking.

The Matthews enjoy eating different kinds of foods. They can be just as exotic as the next ones when it comes to menu ordering.

When it comes time for the new recipe, whether it's Hindu or Hebrew, it always ends up being decidedly Southern.

Mrs. Matthews credits it all to her habit of "tasting" as she cooks, rather than following a recipe with blind faith.

"I guess I just keep adding the seasonings I'm used to," she said. "Until, eventually, it may look different on the outside; but inside, it's still Old South."

REAL TRADITION

Southern cooking defies description; it's neither sharp nor simple — but it's as real as tradition.

Several of the North Carolina ways of doing things include adding a bit of sugar to all vegetables. Mrs. Matthews says that it makes canned vegetables seem fresher.

Hush puppies are a must with almost any meal. Mrs. Matthews uses one cup of fine ground corn meal to one-half cup of flour. Mix in one beaten egg, salt to taste, and thin with water. Drop by the teaspoonful into "just under smoking" shortening and serve with anything from fish to stew.

There's another thing about Southern cooking. Chicken or turkey dressing is never stuffed and cooked inside the bird. Rather it is baked as a separate side dish using the broth as flavoring. That way, the dressing has crusty outer coat and a "just right" texture.

Mrs. Matthews said that her children, Angela, Dewayne and DeLaine, do not have experimental eater status. "They play follow-the-leader when it comes to new food," Mrs. Matthews said. "If the first one doesn't like it, there's not a chance the others will try."

CHOCOLATE PIE

The one food that all the Matthews agree on is chocolate pie. Mrs. Matthews says that a real shortcut to pie making is using vanilla wafers as pie crust; as a matter of fact, that trick puts pies into the everyday meal bracket.

In her spare time, Mrs. Matthews plans the Sunday school

MRS. CAREY MATTHEWS AND DAUGHTER, DeLAINE

worship service for the children at Webb AFB Chapel, is a substitute school teacher, and membership chairman for the Protestant Women of the Chapel.

Sometimes in the foreseeable future, the Matthews will be making their home on Okinawa. Mrs. Matthews feels sure that in spite of all she can do, she will "taste" Okinawan food right back to the Southern style. In selecting her recipes, Mrs. Matthews chose those that are interesting to make and will add sparkle to any occasion.

VEGETABLE SOUP

- 2 lbs. short ribs of beef
- Water to cover
- Large can tomato juice
- 1/2 medium onion
- 1/2 medium green (bell) pepper
- 2 carrots, sliced
- 1/4 to 1/2 head cabbage, chopped
- 3 medium potatoes, diced

APPLESAUCE FRUIT CAKE

- 2 sticks margarine
- 2 cups sugar
- 3 whole eggs
- 3 1/2 cups self-rising flour
- 2-3 box raisins
- 1/2 lb. cherries, chopped
- 1/2 lb. pineapple, chopped

Cream margarine and sugar. Add eggs and one-half of the flour. Mix all the nuts and fruit together with remaining one-half of flour. Add to creamed mixture, and add applesauce. Bake in a greased tube pan lined with waxed paper for four hours at 250 degrees. When cooked, will weigh 7 1/2 pounds.

ICE CREAM

- 4 well-beaten eggs
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 large cans evaporated milk
- 1 1/2 to 2 tps. vanilla
- Milk

Beat eggs. Add sugar gradually, then milk and vanilla. Pour into freezer and add enough milk to fill about three-fourths full.

Other flavors may be made by decreasing vanilla and adding crushed fruits or a small can chocolate syrup, if that is your favorite.

FRENCH-STYLE STEAK

- 1 1/2 to 2 lbs. round steak
- White vinegar
- Liquid or other shortening
- 3/4 pod green (bell) pepper
- 1 medium onion
- several sprigs parsley, chopped
- 1 clove garlic or garlic powder
- Salt and black pepper to taste
- Water (enough to cover)

Salt and pepper steak then pound both sides. Turn steak over in white vinegar and brown in shortening. Remove steak after browning, and to the same shortening add the green pepper, onion and parsley and saute until onion looks done. Return steak to skillet, cover with water, add garlic and cook very slowly for 1 1/2 to 2 hours, with lid on skillet. If water gets too low, more may be added. When steak is done, add thickening to liquid for gravy.

FIVE-SPICE BEEF 'N RICE

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 tsp. olive oil
- 3/4 chopped onion
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- Dash pepper
- 1/2 small bay leaf
- 1/2 tsp. each garlic powder, thyme, oregano
- 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) cream of mushroom soup
- 1 lb. can tomatoes
- 1 cup pre-cooked rice
- 2 or 3 slices American cheese, cut in 1/2-inch strips
- Sliced stuffed olives

Brown meat in oil; add onion, cook until tender. Stir in seasonings, soup, tomatoes, and long grain pre-cooked rice, right from box. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer for 5 minutes. Stir occasionally. Spoon into 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Criss-cross cheese over top. Broil until cheese melts. Top with olives.

Pork Loin Wins Star

Are you game to try something different in meat cookery — something for which directions are not usually given?

Then we recommend an ingenious way of cutting a pocket in a pork loin roast and stuffing the pocket with a bread dressing made with seasonal fresh cranberries and other good things.

- PORK ROAST WITH CRANBERRY STUFFING
- Pork loin roast (8 rib chops) weighing 6 to 7 pounds
- Salt, pepper, poultry seasoning
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) herb-seasoned bread stuffing
- 1 cup cranberries, knife-chopped
- 1 small red apple, unpeeled, cored and diced (3/4 cup)
- 1/4 cup finely chopped celery
- 1/4 cup minced parsley
- 1 large egg

Have your meatman saw off the backbone (chine) of the roast. Place the meat, rib ends up, on a cutting board. Holding the meaty side of the roast with one hand and starting 1 inch from one end of the roast and ending 1 inch from the other end, cut a slit between meat and rib bones almost to the bottom of the roast.

With your fingers, pull the meaty part slightly away from the ribs so as to form a pocket. Sprinkle the inside of the pocket and the outside of the roast with salt, pepper and seasoning salt.

Into a large skillet or medium saucepan, off heat, pour the boiling water; add the bouillon cube and stir to dissolve. Add butter; over very low heat stir until melted; remove from heat. Add

SPECIAL DAY

Make any meal a treat

the bread stuffing, cranberries, apple, celery and parsley; mix well. Beat the egg until thick and pale colored and mix with the stuffing.

Spoon the stuffing into the pocket in the roast and any leftover stuffing into a small baking dish. Roast the stuffed pork on a rack in a shallow roasting pan in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 35 minutes per pound.

About half an hour before the roast is ready, put the baking dish of extra stuffing in the oven to heat.

After the roast has been removed to a hot serving platter, pour off the fat in the roasting pan; spoon some of the drippings over the top of the stuffing in the roast and some over the small baking dish of extra stuffing. Makes 6 servings.

Teenagers Need Midnight Snacks

Delicious candied fruit puts finishing touches on your midnight supper.

CANDIED GRAPEFRUIT PEEL

- 2 large grapefruit
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1 cup water
- Extra sugar

Wash grapefruit; make lengthwise cuts on peel down to pulp membrane so there are 4 sections; with fingers pull off peel. Cover peel with cold water; add salt; bring to a boil; boil 10 minutes; drain. Repeat boiling and draining 3 more times, each time covering with fresh cold water and omitting salt. If white membrane is extra thick, with bowl of spoon gently remove some of it; peel should be about 1/4 inch thick. Cut peel into strips with scissors.

Mix sugar, corn syrup, and water in a 3-quart saucepan. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Add grapefruit peel; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and boil gently 45 minutes. Drain in coarse strainer or colander. Roll peel, a few pieces at a time, in extra sugar.

Arrange in a single layer on tray; cover lightly with waxed paper and allow to dry several hours. Store in covered container.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Want a delightful pre-dinner nibble for guests? Sieve Roquefort cheese and beat with an equal amount of cream cheese; chill. Serve with clusters of seedless grapes, providing small knives so guests can spread the cheese on the fruit.

Use two-thirds cup mayonnaise to one-third cup chili sauce when you are making Russian dressing.

Ever garnish cooked buttered spinach with sieved hard-cooked egg and anchovy fillets? Nice for company.

Ever freeze ginger ale and use it instead of sherbet in a fruit cup? Refreshing for an appetizer or dessert.

Your small fry will like carrots cut into sticks and inserted in mounds of cottage cheese. Serve the combination on crisp salad greens with mayonnaise for a salad.

Allow a bruised clove of garlic to stand in the olive oil you are going to use to dress a green salad. Remove the garlic before using the oil.

Ever fill ribs of celery with a soft cheese mixture and then press the ribs back into stalk shape? The next step is to slice and use as a salad with lettuce and French dressing.

Kneading yeast dough makes the dough smooth and elastic so it can hold the gas that the yeast provides.

'Simplicity With Flair' Shown NCO Wives

The NCO Wives Club viewed "Simplicity With A Flair," a showing of clothing and hair fashions, during a meeting Tuesday in the NCO Open Mess at Webb AFB. Gary Don Cary, operator of the base beauty shop, was narrator and fashions were from the Base Exchange.

Cary noted that fashion trends had turned toward simplicity with color more important than ever. He described each model's costume as she appeared on stage to pause before a Japanese screen before parading among the tables. The stage was decorated with pink and white crepe paper streamers and accented with greenery.

Mrs. Bobbie Carey showed a yellow double-breasted suit, short-sleeved, of easy-care jersey and featuring a skirt of box pleats. Her bag was of black and white pigskin. She was followed on stage by Mrs. Don Nevils in burgandy hip huggers and crop top, accented by white laced front and white waist band.

Mother and daughter, Mrs. Patricia Harvey and Kim, showed classic walking shorts of white cotton for summer fun which they teamed with navy and white skirts.

A hot pink and orange bikini covered with ruffles, was modeled by Miss Ordie Ceballos, and Mrs. Casper Comeaux appeared next in a gray and white striped suit touched with black at the sleeves and neckline.

The pink-dotted white knit shell worn by Mrs. Joshua Frierson was tucked into hip huggers of pink linen with a trumpet flare, belted and buckled in matching pink.

Mrs. Keith Carey showed a Jamaica set of soft green check shorts with white top that was extra-long. Small bows were the accent, and they matched the fabric of the shorts.

Linon Bermuda shorts and poor boy top were shown by Mrs. Martin Falter. The knit top was of bold green, white and lemon stripes.

Miss Ceballos appeared again in a combination swim-suit of pink lace with "little boy" leg. Protection from the sun was provided by a shaggy white straw hat.

The models chose hair styles suitable to the occasion. The new spring styles were varied, but all with a light breezy look that made use of bangs, tossed curls, smooth waves and feathery sweeps.

Mrs. Arthur Roberts, NCO president, introduced Carey and welcomed the guests.

The "April Showers" refreshment table was covered with white linen and centered with an umbrella rimmed with flowers. Silver appointments were used. Hostesses were Mrs. Frank Mayberry and Mrs. Roger Caynes.

Approximately 40 attended.

Pay By State Political Issue

By The Associated Press
The living standards of state employees was the subject of campaign speeches Wednesday for the second straight day by Texas gubernatorial candidates.

Stanley Woods, who opposes Gov. John Connally for the Democratic nomination in the May 7 primary, said Texas needs a civil service system that includes automatic wage increases.

On Tuesday, Gov. Connally had told a Victoria audience he would work for a substantial increase for state government workers.

"POLITICAL PATRONAGE"
Woods told a Kingsville audience Wednesday that Connally's promise of a pay raise just 19 days before the election "indicates to me that he would like to turn the whole state government into a playground of political patronage." He called the promised pay boost an "overt appeal for the votes of state employees."

Rep. Bill Hollowell, Woods' lieutenant governor candidate, produced a letter which he said he sent to the governor asking for an immediate special legislative session to increase state salaries.

"I was quite surprised to see your sudden concern for the welfare of state employees after three years of relatively inactivity on your part in this field," the letter from Hollowell said.

END EXEMPTIONS
Present sales tax exemptions may have to be removed next year to raise $200 million for education and teacher pay increases, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith told a San Antonio group.

The state's cities, he said, have "a lot of problems and they are money problems." "If they don't come to the legislature for help, I'm going to help," he said. "If we don't help you, you're going to Washington," he continued.

A candidate in the Democratic primary for court of criminal appeals judge, San Antonio Dist. Judge John Onion, said incumbent Judge W. T. McDonald of Bryan has tried to mislead the public.

"Never once has he told the public that in over five years he has refused to move to Austin and has only spent two or three days a week visiting his job during that time," Onion commented.

MCDONALD REPLIES
McDonald replied, saying he has carried as heavy a work load as the other two judges on the court and has taken work home with him to Bryan.

Activity in the hot race for the Democratic nomination for attorney general was highlighted Wednesday by a challenge to debate on television.

PROPOSES DEBATE
Sen. Franklin Spears offered to debate Crawford Martin at any time before May 6 and offered to pay half the cost.

Saying the attorney general's office was second only to the governor's office in importance, Spears said he believes the people "have a right to hear and see the two leading candidates for this high position."

In a statement issued by his campaign headquarters, Martin said Spears' call for a debate is "a tired replay of the old gimmick resorted to in every campaign by candidates who know they are trailing."

He said Spears "is trying to change the subject that is on the mind of a lot of voters: The widespread abuse of voter registration that has been disclosed in his own backyard in Bexar County."

The third man in the race, Sen. Galloway Calhoun, said Spears and Martin are "talking about side issues when the main issue of this campaign is liberalism versus conservatism."

"To combat free voter registration and all other schemes fostered by the liberals in Texas, augmented by the left-wing bureaucrats in Washington and to prevent a take-over of state government and the Democratic party of the state, you must elect a fighting conservative—not a half-hearted moderate or the AFL-CIO candidate," Calhoun told a Brownwood audience.

Negro College Obligation Cited

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Negro schools of higher education must continue to operate, says Benjamin E. Mays, president of Moorehouse College in Atlanta, Ga.

Mays told a fund-raising meeting: "Because of three and a half centuries of disabilities under which Negroes suffered, we are duty bound and morally bound to give the more than 32,000 students in 33 Negro colleges and universities the best education available."

unleashed a verbal attack on Bexar County Dist. Atty. James E. Barlow. He said Barlow is "so busy promoting the candidacy for Franklin Spears that he cannot find time to look into the 500 illegal voter registrations in that community."

Juvenile crime figures in Texas dropped last year for the first time since 1959, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr told a Houston group.

Only two categories of juvenile crime, he said, were up. That was, according to Carr, aggravated assault, 9.5 per cent, and narcotics violation, 6 per cent.

Carr, a candidate for Democratic U.S. Senate nomination, said the decrease was "nice", but said the battle against juvenile crime "remains long, difficult and expensive if we are to preserve our children's youth for a fruitful adulthood."

Has Audience With Pope

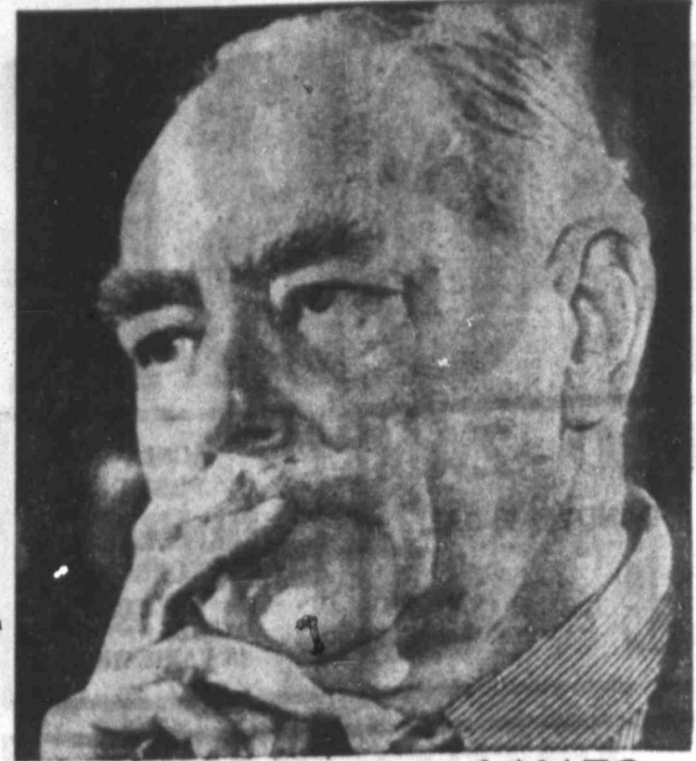

Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, tells a news conference at the Russian embassy in Rome Wednesday of his earlier audience with Pope Paul VI at Vatican City. Gromyko said they "agreed on the need to work together for peace independently of ideologies." It was the first Papal audience ever given to a minister of a Communist government. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Visit By Pontiff To Poland Eyed

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Some diplomats and churchmen in Warsaw think Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's Vatican audience has brightened prospects for a visit by Pope Paul VI to Communist-ruled Poland later this year.

After Gromyko's audience with the Pope Wednesday, the first ever given by a Roman Catholic pontiff to a minister of a Communist government, Vatican sources said they were certain the poor state of relations between the church and the Polish government was not discussed.

However, observers here feel that if a new era of good feeling develops between the Vatican and the Kremlin, this almost certainly will ease the current high tension between the church and the Polish government, a situation which prevented Pope Paul from attending the celebration next Tuesday of the millennium of Christianity in Poland. The Vatican last weekend made public a letter from the Pope to Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, the Catholic primate of Poland, expressing regret he could not visit Poland. But the Pope refrained from criticizing the Warsaw government's ban on visits by foreign church dignitaries for the celebration. Some diplomats and churchmen think the pontiff's desire to visit a Communist-ruled country could still bring him here during Poland's 1,000th year of Christianity. There is growing speculation of a trip in August, during the traditional annual pilgrimages to the Shrine of the Black Madonna in Czestochowa.

Warns Of Weakened NATO

Dean Acheson, former Secretary of State, warned Congress Wednesday of a heightened Soviet hazard to the West if French nationalism splits Western Europe into "a number of small to medium-sized and weak states." Appearing before the Senate Government Operations National Security Subcommittee, the 73-year-old Acheson discussed problems arising from France's intentions of quitting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Acheson helped draft the NATO pact. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Search For Gold Produces Ore

T. S. Lemons Jr., left, and Arville Cummins, two of eight modern day prospectors involved in the operation, think they have located the Lost San Saba Mine. They are shown standing in the mine's entrance on a ranch near San Saba, Tex. Ore from the mine has been assayed at $467.00 a ton. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Partners In Hunt For Gold Think Rich Ore Discovered

BEND, Tex. (AP) — Fifty miles north of President Johnson's ranch, on a rock-choked hill overlooking the Colorado river, eight blue-eyed men think they have found the Lost San Saba Mine — legendary bonanza of two centuries ago.

The Spaniards abandoned the mine in 1758, so the story goes, when 2,000 Comanche Indians overran their mission.

Men have searched for the mine ever since.

Some people say Jim Bowie found it. Bowie died at the Alamo, and the secret died with him, they say.

But the blue-eyed men of 1966, driven by the boyhood dream of a self-educated geologist who has roamed the rugged hills of San Saba County "since I was a pup," assert they have found fabulously rich gold ore.

And the geologist says they found it where Don Bernardo de Miranda said it was: on the Cerro del Almagre (loosely, the Red Hill).

Miranda, discoverer of the mine, was a lieutenant-general of the Spanish province of Texas in the 18th century. He said the hill was so rich "I guarantee to give to every settler of the province of Texas a full claim."

$200 MILLION

Arville Cummins, 45, the geologist, says Miranda was right. The mine may be worth as much as $200 million, he says.

The Red Hill is about seven miles south of Bend (pop. 200). Five dark red boulders once stood where the mine is today. They contrasted sharply with the dull gray dolomite limestone.

"I was curious about them from the very first," says rancher T. S. Lemons Sr., 65, who in 1944 bought 3,300 acres of this rough country, including the Red Hill.

A weather-beaten man with bristling gray eyebrows that meet over his long, bent nose, Lemons said he knew the red boulders had to mean something, "so I brought in some geologists—some of those smart boys—to look at it." Years passed.

SEES GLINT

Then, in August 1964, Lemons Sr., T. S. Lemons Jr., 40, was fishing in the Colorado when he noticed a glint in a rock under water.

A tanned man with salt and pepper hair cut in a burr, the younger Lemons looked back over his shoulder. He was almost in the shadow of the Red Hill.

He chipped off the shiny part of the rock and put it in his pocket. He intended to take it to Cummins in Lampasas, but he didn't get around to it for two or three months.

"I took it to him (Cummins) because I knew it was anything to it, he'd want to do something about it," Lemons said.

HUNT SOURCE

Cummins and the younger Lemons hunted the source of the ore from the river. They combed through brush and into gullies jagged with rock and

Church, State Conflict In Poland Grows

WARSZAWA, Poland (AP) — One thousand years ago a shrewd prince called Mieszko the First united Polish tribes populating the Oder and Vistula river basins of central Europe.

His smartest move, historians say, was to introduce Christianity into his court in the year 966. That gave the new Polish state links with Western Europe and deprived Germans of a pretext for converting Poles to the faith by fire and sword.

Ten centuries later, Poland's church leaders and its links with the West are under heavy attack by a ruling Communist government, as the nation celebrates the millennium of Mieszko's reign.

Instead of one Polish millennium celebration, Communist state and the Roman Catholic Church are staging competing affairs, airing their basic conflicts.

SHARP STRUGGLE

The sharpened church-state struggle has ruled out a millennium visit by Pope Paul VI. As the time nears for the main Church celebration, May 3 at the shrine of the "Black Madonna" at Czestochowa, each side accuses the other of trying to steal the show.

It was to Czestochowa that the Church had invited the Pope and Catholic bishops from 56 nations, including Germany. The Germans were invited in a now famous letter of forgiveness and reconciliation. The government condemned it as interference in foreign policy. Later it closed the Polish frontiers to invited Church dignitaries.

Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka suggested in a speech that one reason for the closing is to avoid friction with the Soviet Union. He said the government has not agreed to the Church celebration and that admission of the visitors would mean approving actions of the Catholic primate of Poland, Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski.

Gomulka accused the cardinal of using the millennium to portray Poland as a bulwark of Christianity against the East. He called this "tantamount to sowing discord between the Polish and Soviet peoples, to breaking up the Soviet-Polish alliance."

CALLED IRRESPONSIBLE

In his speech to more than 100,000 at Poznan, Gomulka described Cardinal Wyszynski as "this irresponsible shepherd of shepherds fighting with our people's state."

The cardinal conducted millennium celebrations at Poznan at the same time as Gomulka. Catholic throngs were smaller than the crowd the government assembled but their size and enthusiasm demonstrated the Church's strength in Poland.

The primate and bishops were cheered with shouts of "long live" and serenaded with the singing of "Sto Lat," which means, "May you live 100 years."

Cardinal Wyszynski told the audience: "Our holiday was maliciously opposed by their holiday but we forgive our trespassers. Let them know that we have so much of this virtue that we can offer it for export."

Free Ride Jails Woman

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Police jailed a woman here recently because she couldn't pay her way to the jail.

A cab driver told officers he picked up the woman and was told to go to the city jail, when they arrived, the woman said she couldn't pay the fare and then went on into the jail to visit someone.

The driver followed her, complained to police and the woman became a guest in the lock-up, charged with failure to pay the fare.

Trimmed Budget Offered In Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Mayor Louie Welch has submitted a $79.1-million budget to the Houston City Council. The new budget compares to last year's budget of $80.7 million.

A Devotional For The Day

Hold fast to the grace of God. (Acts 13:43, NEB)
PRAYER: In all things, O God, help us to put our faith and trust in Thy guiding hand. Though trials and unexpected difficulties confront us, grant us courage and hope in Thy rescuing presence. In the Lord's name we pray. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Heady Guesstimates

Accurate tourist statistics are extremely difficult to get. They are largely "guesstimates" based on unscientific sampling and other indicative, but hardly exact, measurements. Mere observation indicates that Texas tourist trade is substantially increasing. The State Highway Department reports that a record 12,688,000 visitors came to Texas by car last year, an 8 per cent gain over 1964, and spent $613,148,000, a 16.8 per cent increase over the year before. The visitors' stay averaged a half-day longer, a point of considerable significance in tourist trade development. The estimate is based on 14,000 returned questionnaires, which were issued at the department's travel information centers at points of entry around the state. (The private Texas Tourist Council adds the "educated estimate," from polls of commercial carriers, that another 4.2 million visitors came by airlines, railroads and buses.)

These types of estimates are not only questionable as to total visitors, but also vulnerable to inaccuracy in breakdowns into tourists, business travelers, visitors to relatives, or such. Even so, if they are anywhere near the mark, the tourist trade expansion is of welcome dimensions.

Johnny And His Spelling

Johnny may or may not be able to read as well as he ought to. Johnny may cheat in school more than he used to—or he may not. But on one point there can be little difference of opinion: Johnny, by and large, is not much good at spelling. Nor are adult Johnny's in the business world expert at it, either.

Misspellings in places of business seem to be on the increase. This is a source of irritation to anyone who sets store by getting words right.

Aspirin may relieve a headache, but "asprin" brings on another kind of headache. "Raisens" may taste the same as raisins, but the flavor is spoiled a bit by realization that the sign painter couldn't spell and the boss either didn't know any better or figured the error was not important enough to correct.

Maybe we're unduly sour about this; maybe we're up to the old practice of making a trend out of a few isolated instances. But it does seem to us there's far too much bad spelling around. We hope Johnny's generation will do better.

We have no doubt that the Johnny's who buckle down in our annual spelling bees are going to become better spellers than a lot of their elders.

Responsibility And Dissent

WASHINGTON — It's too bad the rest of the world doesn't understand and really knows relatively little about the way the American system of government functions. Thus, a man can be chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and can malign his own government's policies in world affairs and yet not reflect either the viewpoint of his government or of the majority of the people of the country.

JUST THE OTHER DAY, in a lecture at Johns Hopkins University, Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee accused the United States of "succumbing to the arrogance of power."

Undoubtedly the Communist press and radio in Moscow and Peking will seize upon the speech as confirmation of their repeated charges that the United States is guilty of "aggression." It makes things more difficult for the President and Secretary of State in carrying out the foreign policy of the United States when a man as important as the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate feels obligated to accuse his own government of being arrogant.

SENATOR Fulbright, in his address, said his question is "whether America can overcome the fatal arrogance of power" that at times has weakened and destroyed great nations. He added:

"Gradually but unmistakably we are succumbing to the arrogance of power. In so doing we are not living up to our capacity and promise; the measure of our falling short is the measure of the patriot's duty of dissent."

THESE WERE discouraging words sent across the Pacific to Viet Nam to be read by officers and men of the armed forces of the United States.

There is, of course, a right to dissent, but does it extend to the chairman of a Senate committee who breaks with the head of his own party? In Great Britain, where Mr. Fulbright graduated from Oxford, the parliamentary system virtually requires a man who differs with his party to resign from a position of leadership.

MR. FULBRIGHT, in his lecture, revealed that he had helped to push through the Senate in August, 1964 the resolution authorizing President Johnson to take "all necessary steps" against the aggressors in Southeast Asia. But he says his role in that instance is "a source of neither pleasure nor pride" to him today, although he does not regret the outcome of the election in which this development was an issue. He admits that he sought to get the resolution passed because he did not wish to make "difficulties" for his party in the presidential campaign.

THIS COULD be construed as an example of political expediency that supersedes personal conviction. But such inconsistencies are not unusual under the American system of government, which fails to fix responsibility on those who wield power such as is vested in the chairman of a congressional committee.

Any member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has a right of dissent, even though his accusations are unsupported by convincing evidence. But for the chairman to give an impression abroad that the United States has actually committed acts of imperialism means to many persons that similar charges by Red China and the Soviet Union have to some extent been sustained.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Texas has by far the largest book gap in the country, an authority told the Governor's Conference on Libraries at Austin. The shortage now exceeds 300 million volumes by minimum standards.

It has long been known that many local communities in the state are dragging their feet in providing library services. It is not enough that a few of the larger cities such as Dallas, Houston and others are now affording respectable support of this vital means of furthering public education.

Gov. Connally has made a timely contribution to the facing of this statewide problem by sponsoring the conference and by calling for action by the people of Texas.

Three of the most serious weaknesses were pinpointed by the governor: widespread substandard library service; impoverished book collections and library buildings which by their inadequacy "damage community pride."

"Most startling deficiency is found in the mushrooming metropolitan areas of Texas, notably in their fringe cities. These favored areas are drawing the highest type of young families, with above average education of most adults in them, yet they have not caught up with local library needs.

The solution calls for what Gov. Connally terms a revolution against outmoded ideas, methods and financial support of this essential tool of modern living. Texas cannot afford to delay in upgrading this phase in its drive for greater excellence in education.

PUSHBUTTON WARFARE

James Marlow

Viet Policy Critics' Outbursts No Surprise To LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson could see what was coming in big doses when earlier this year he ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam resumed and decided to step up the war. What was coming was criticism.

In fact, it was already there and had been for months.

BUT THE critics of his Viet Nam policy, already plentiful and vocal, seized upon his decisions this year for fresh outbursts. Johnson had been around long enough to know they would.

He also had been around long enough to know that unless he met this criticism head-on himself it would get worse and that more than just answering the critics was involved.

In the first place, the more the criticism and the longer it went unanswered, the more confused Americans would become about the war, which meant a division of opinion in this country.

SECOND, OVERSEAS people, particularly the Communists, would be aware of divided American thinking and, in the case of the Communists, there was the chance they might interpret the division as a weakening of the will to win.

The divided opinion took many forms: U.S. forces should stay in Viet Nam, they should get out; the bombing should be stopped; it should be intensified; the Americans should retire to coastal bases, and they should do the opposite.

If Johnson had gone on national television for one hour he could have explained his policy, why he thought it necessary to fight the war, what it meant to the United States, to Viet Nam, to Southeast Asia, to the Communists.

ONCE HE did this, of course, he would have had a rallying point and a prime target — a rallying point for all those who agreed with him or thought he should be supported; a target for those who disagreed.

In the weeks that followed his words would have been flung back at him by his critics and if events took a sour turn, as they did with the revolt of the Buddhists, some of his words might have been turned against him. In short, for Johnson to have laid it on the line himself on television in a detailed and lengthy explanation would have been to stick his neck out.

Perhaps Modern Hearts Are Rusting

NEW YORK (AP) — Many doctors today place a major blame for heart attacks, our leading cause of death, on simple lack of exercise.

The suspicion arises that the machines we have created to make our existence easier actually are robbing us of the greatest boon of all — life itself.

Two generations have changed the pattern of our ways more than did all the hundreds of centuries before. A generation is usually reckoned at 30 years.

BACK IN 1906 — just two generations ago — people lived in a manner modern children find it hard to believe.

You didn't need calisthenics or rowing machines to keep fit. Everyday living was itself an exercise, and kept the heart from rusting.

Just how has life changed for the average persons since 1906? Well, way back then you had to harness a horse before going for a buggy ride. If you were rich enough to own a new-fangled automobile, you cranked it by hand to start the engine. If you punctured a tire, you fixed it yourself.

LARGE FAMILIES often kept a cow. It was milked by hand, too.

Mother got enough exercise bending over a washboard on Monday to last her all week.

Millions of families still churned their own butter, raised their own chickens. Did Junior want some ice cream? Okay, but he had to turn the handle on the home freezer.

You didn't push a button or pull out a plug to thaw out a refrigerator. But every morning or night someone had to empty the pail of water under the ice-box. Someone had to chop kindling for the kitchen stove and fetch it in.

WAS THE house too cold in winter? Well, someone had to clump down to the basement and shovel more coal in the furnace. There was no air conditioning in summer. To cool off you either used a hand fan — often given away as an advertisement by the local funeral home — or tug open a stuck window by brute strength.

People carried home their groceries from the store on foot. There were no shopping carts to push.

Few rugs were sent to the cleaners. They were beaten on a wire line in the back yard. Mother fought dirt in the home and on the front porch with a broom. It seemed to be in her hand half the day.

If you opened a can of peas, you did it with a tool that required muscle.

You had to push a lawnmower. You couldn't ride on it while lapping up a gin fizz.

NEITHER CHILDREN nor men thought themselves imposed on if they had to walk two or three miles to get to school or work.

Comfort is the American god today. It wasn't then. Being uncomfortable wasn't a calamity; you expected to put up with a lot of it — and you did.

Probably we'd all live longer, healthier and happier lives by going back to the patterns of 1906, when people did more for themselves and yawned less.

But who really wants to live like that?

Nobody. Particularly me.

Around The Rim

Some Targets For Safer Cars

Despite all the fracas concerning making cars safer, I am on the side of those who maintain it is the driver who causes the accidents. Most any available statistical report bears this out. Not so many wrecks are caused by inherent faults in car design.

HOWEVER, as one spokesman pointed out, if just a few accidents can be prevented, then something should be done. There are probably a number of items that could be inexpensively added to most cars, making them safer to drive.

For instance, a rear window wiper, such as on the front windshield, and rear window defrosters might be added. Some years ago, one American car had a rear window wiper as an "extra," but I suspect it was deleted due to lack of demand. I've no doubt such a convenience would add immeasurably to safety.

SAME FOR defrosters. Many folks during the winter months probably clear away the front windshield, then leave for work, rather than scrape still another window that will soon cover up anyway. A rear defroster might solve the problem and could be had for a few lengths of tubing carrying the heat back to the proper place.

While on the subject of windshield wipers, I guess most all cars use electrical wipers these days. If there are some that don't, this might be another safety area worth investigating. The old vacuum wipers are marginal, at best.

CONSIDERABLE research could be done in the matter of headlights. Surely these could be designed to properly light the roadway ahead without blinding every driver and jackrabbit in the vicinity. The "dim" position of headlights for many cars points almost straight down. On a blacktop roadway, the driver cannot see more than a dozen yards with the headlights in this position.

Some survey pointed out the driver cannot see the distance it would take him to stop in an emergency. Thus, if a log were abandoned in the road, he could not see it in time to avoid it.

THE BRIGHT lights, on the other hand, create still another, the obvious danger. Blinding other motorists, and in turn being blinded by glaring lights, is certainly not safe. In some instances, the driver is pulled between these choices — blinding others, or not being able to see adequately ahead.

When so much is being done with lighting, it would seem an engineering answer could be found for this problem.

MOTORING safety probably can get as much impetus through careful screening of drivers, as by clamping down on auto-makers — although both might help improve a dreadful situation.

The Foreign Labor Hassle

WASHINGTON — It is "high noon" again between Senator George Murphy (R., Calif.) and Labor Secretary Wirtz (D) — and any columnist with good sense would get off the street while they are shooting it out over the policy of summer labor on American farms.

But journalistic curiosity — or, maybe, conscience — can draw a man into firing range. Last summer the readers of newspapers in California, Florida and Appalachia peeped me with buckshot for speaking well of Wirtz's effort to put unemployed Americans to work by partially closing the gates on farm workers from Mexico and the West Indies, as Congress now allows him to do.

THE FARMERS and growers whom I heard from didn't care much for the drunks and teenagers who came to replace skilled foreign workers in their fields. Labor costs went up, productivity went down and it was widely predicted that the housewife would pay more when the 1965 crop of fruits and vegetables reached market.

Wirtz gave me an exclusive interview, and later published a heavy report, stating that his policy was a whooping success.

BUT INDIVIDUAL producers, and whole productive communities, felt they had taken a beating, no matter what figures the Labor Department could put out. Besides, Wirtz had weakened somewhat in mid-season. He lawfully allowed several thousand "green card" or emergency workers in from Mexico and the islands. He said little about the thousands of other workers who entered illegally — the old-fashioned "wetbacks" who swam or waded the boundary waters.

NOBODY HAMMERED Wirtz any harder than Murphy of California, whose state was the hardest hit. Murphy, a genial and forgiving man on most subjects, holds Wirtz to be in cahoots with the Labor bosses. The Senator sees them as trying to rebuild their power and sinking membership rolls by excluding foreign workers and enlisting domestic pickers into the unions.

Murphy has almost as many statistics as Wirtz had. Murphy's show California crop losses and the drift of investment capital into Mexico. He has Border Patrol reports on wetbacks and letters that tell him how many newly-recruited American farm workers drank and fought all night and left the fields when the sun turned hot.

REALLY, A political writer should stay out of this hassle, for he can't win. Murphy is right in that farming has been hurt, yet Wirtz isn't wrong in trying to coax Americans back to the fields. Both Murphy and Wirtz, I take it, would like to see such lazy, riotous bums as those in the Los Angeles Watts District come out of their gin mills and learn to do "stoop labor" for an honest living. In fact, foreign labor wouldn't even be an issue if we hadn't developed a Welfare State where people are taught to prefer paid idleness, or crime, or political protest, to a day's work.

Owe Money? Have A Dinner

WASHINGTON — It's springtime in Washington and the question of ethics can be heard throughout the land. The question has been raised over disclosures that Sen. Thomas Dodd, D., Conn., received $100,000 from two testimonial dinners held in his honor in 1961 and 1963.

The money was used, it was said by Drew Pearson and affirmed by a member of Dodd's staff, to pay the Senator's personal bills. The IRS said that the Dodd money was not subject to tax if it was given "from a detached and disinterested generosity and out of affection, respect, admiration, charity, and the like impulse and is a gift according to the law."

THE REVELATION of how Sen. Dodd found a painless way to pay off all his debts has been a great inspiration to every debt-ridden person in the United States, and as soon as I read about it I decided to have a testimonial dinner in my honor. My personal debts are in the neighborhood of $80,000. If you don't count what I owe for the newspaper boy, so I decided not to charge more than $50 a plate for the dinner.

First, I had tickets printed up.

Then I called up the Georgetown Pharmacy, where I owe $130, and asked Harry Dalinsky, the druggist, if he wanted to take a table.

"WELL, IF I can pull this dinner off, I'll have enough money to pay your bill."

"Put me down for half a plate."

"How can I pay you off if you only take half a plate?"

"I'm on a diet."

I then called the president of the Perpetual Building Association, which holds the mortgage on my house.

"I KNOW YOU people hold me in great admiration and affection because you keep calling me every month. I'm giving a testimonial in honor of myself and I thought you'd like to take a table."

The president said, "We never attend dinners of people who owe us money."

"Well, would you take an advertisement in the souvenir program? Say something like 'Good luck to a friend who needs it, from a friend who doesn't.'"

Perpetual took a full page.

I CALLED the Calvert Market, Towne Wine and Liquor Store, Best's, Lord and Taylor, General Heating, Stolman's Chevrolet, Karl's Caterers, Hechinger Hardware, and everyone else I owed money to. When I explained to them that, if they showed a detached and disinterested generosity by coming to my dinner as interpreted by the IRS, they might get paid, everyone agreed to take a table.

I then called my Uncle Oscar in New York, to whom I owed $500, and asked him to come.

"Who are you getting for your main speaker?"

"I'M TRYING to get Sen. Dodd," I told him. "But he's not answering the phone."

"I heard Dodd is dead."

"No, Uncle Oscar, that's God, not Dodd."

"I'm sorry, I have a cold."

In a week I managed to sell out the dinner and we're going to hold it next week if I can find a room.

It seems everyone in Washington has decided to have a testimonial dinner for himself since he heard about Sen. Dodd and all the hotel ballrooms in Washington are booked solid. This may be the big break the poverty program has been looking for.

Fail Test

NEW YORK (AP) — Some New York cops could stand a few lessons from Sherlock Holmes.

Fifteen of them recently were invited to watch a new movie, "Ten Little Indians," based on the Agatha Christie mystery, classic, and to try to guess who the murderer is. They marked their guesses on a card during a 60-second "whodunit break" just before the movie's climax.

The results: With two suspects to choose from as the murderer, eight of the cops guessed wrong.

CELEBRITY RECIPES

Henry Ford II Tells Principals For Sauce

Henry Ford II, is a big man, heads a big company, and must like big salads because when he makes his favorite French dressing he makes a whale of a lot of it.

HENRY FORD II
HENRY FORD'S
FRENCH DRESSING

Many sauciers prefer to make their salad dressings at the last instant, but this is mostly a matter of personal feeling, and since it keeps well on the shelf, why not make a lot of it?

French dressing, or vinaigrette sauce, is as basic as mayonnaise and much older. It is also almost as badly treated as mayonnaise and many a ketchupy syrup that goes under the name of "French Dressing" has helped to turn strong men away from salad for life.

Good vinaigrette can be used for many things other than salad. It adds zest to hors d'oeuvres and is a fine marinade for meat. There must be as many recipes for it as there are stars in the sky. Many of them are, in fact, out of this world and should be regarded with suspicion.

Henry Ford's French Dressing, however, sticks closely to the basic principle of a simple, piquant sauce which complements without overpowering, which brings out flavor without disguising it.

Perhaps the reason Henry makes such a lot of it at a time is that he was raised in the tradition of mass production (his daddy after all invented it).

(One of a series of recipes from the forthcoming Gourmet Gala Cookbook being prepared for the benefit of Adoption Division, International Social Service and edited by Betty Lou Margulis. For further information, write WAIF, 614 NW Hoyt, Portland, Ore.)

- 3 pts. olive oil
- 2-3 pt. red wine vinegar
- 1-3 pt. cider vinegar
- 1 tsp. French mustard
- 2 tbsps. sugar
- 2 dashes Worcestershire sauce
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Chopped chives, parsley and other fine herbs
- Juice of 1 clove garlic and sliced onion

'Partified' Loin Roast Takes Center-Stage

Pork roast for a party is a wonderful idea, and "partified" pork is a pleasant change from beef steak, standing beef rib roasts, and baked hams.

Choose a center cut pork loin and roast it to perfection in a 325 degree oven, then "pretty up" the roast by adding colorful garnishes of maraschino cherries and preserved kumquats. The fruits might adorn the rib ends of the loin roast, or they may be arranged on the serving platter with watercress or parsley.

A pork loin roast is one of the easiest of all entrees a busy hostess might choose, for the meat requires little attention during cooking. Just follow these simple directions:

PORK ROAST FOR A PARTY
1. Select center - cut pork loin roast, allowing about 1/2 pound per serving.

2. Have the backbone loosened from the ribs at the market so that carving will be easier.

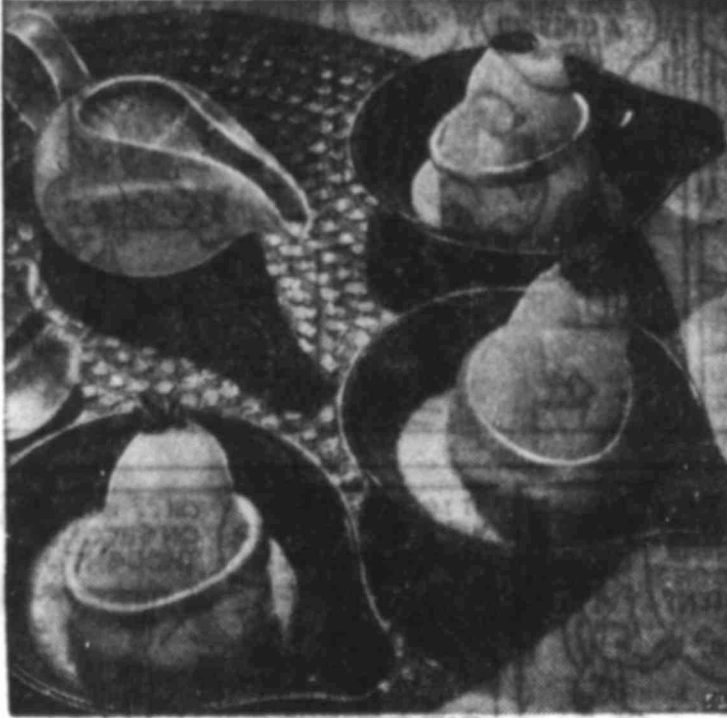

3. Place the meat, fat side up, in a shallow baking pan. (With roast pork loin a rack for the roast is not necessary, since the backbone forms a natural rack.) Rub the roast with 1/2 teaspoon salt per pound before roasting, if you wish, or add the seasoning later.

4. Insert a meat thermometer into the meat, making sure the point does not rest in fat or bone, but is in center of roast.

5. Roast in a 325 degree oven, allowing 35 to 40 minutes per pound, or until the meat thermometer registers an internal temperature of 185 degrees.

6. Allow meat to stand at room temperature 15 to 20 minutes before serving, so that meat has a chance to firm and become easier to carve. Remove backbone from cooked meat, place pork loin on platter and serve, garnished with preserved kumquats and maraschino cherries.

7. To serve, carve pork roast by slicing between bones to make chop-size servings.

Dress Up Pears With Orange Rind Rings

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Canned pears are often a good buy these days and, accompanied by a foamy sauce, take on new interest. We particularly enjoy the pears heated, but some of our testers like them best chilled. Both ways of serving are given in the following recipe.

PEARS WITH FOAMY SAUCE

- 1 can (1 lb. and 13 oz.) Bartlett pears
 - Juice of 1 large orange
 - 1/4 cup apricot preserves
 - 1 egg
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
 - 1 tsp. lemon juice
- Drain pears. Measure 1 cup pear syrup into a medium-sized saucepan; simmer 2 minutes. Add orange juice and apricot preserves; stir and simmer until very hot. Beat egg in medium-sized deep bowl until thick and pale colored. Beating constantly, slowly pour hot syrup mixture over egg. Return to saucepan over low heat; cook and stir constantly for 2 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla. To serve dessert hot, put drained pear halves in a 10-inch skillet; sprinkle with lemon rind and lemon juice. Cover and place over very low heat until hot through. Serve heated pears with hot foamy sauce. To serve dessert cold, chill drained pears and foamy sauce in separate containers. At serving time, sprinkle pear halves with lemon rind and lemon juice; beat sauce to make foamy again and serve with pears. Makes 4 to 8 servings, depending on whether 1 or 2 pear halves are used for each portion.

Note: To prepare 4 large garnished portions of the dessert, slice 4 rings—each about 1/2-inch wide—from the orange rind halves left after squeezing juice for sauce. With a sharp knife, cut away any straggly orange membrane on inside of each ring. Place a large soft table fig (or another small fruit) in cavity of a pear half and place another pear half over so cut surfaces meet. Stand up and slip an orange ring over top and hold stuffed pear halves together. Garnish with a fresh mint sprig or maraschino cherry. Arrange other 6 pears the same way. Serve with foamy sauce.

Eggplant Makes Glamorous Dish

To make a salad of eggplant, place a large eggplant in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until skin is wrinkled all over, then cool and peel off skin. Place the eggplant pulp in a bowl or in an electric blender, beat in for each cup eggplant pulp 1/4 cup Spanish olive oil, 2 or 3 tablespoons grated onion, 1 to 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar, salt and pepper to taste.

Chill thoroughly, serve topped with minced parsley. (This also makes a delicious sauce for fish.)

Serve Roast Beef Done With English Style Yorkshire Treat

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

In England two accompaniments to roast ribs of beef are traditional. Yorkshire pudding and horseradish are offered with the meat. American cooks do well to follow suit.

If you're interested in a new way of making Yorkshire pudding, we can recommend the following recipe. In this rule, cornstarch is included with the flour, and it gives the pudding a tender texture.

You can, of course, serve the widely available bottled grated horseradish with the meat. But if fresh horseradish is in one of your markets, we urge you to try it. We like to fix the fresh horseradish as we find it offered in a well-known New York restaurant specializing in roast beef. To follow suit, pare the horseradish and grate it coarsely; spoon a little of the grated root into small lettuce cups, one for each serving of beef and pudding.

NEW YORKSHIRE PUDDING

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1/4 cup cornstarch
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 1/2 cups milk

1/4 cup hot drippings from roast beef

Into a mixing bowl sift together the flour, cornstarch and salt. Stir in eggs, then gradually stir in 1 cup milk, mixing until smooth. Beat gently until slightly foamy on surface. Stir in remaining 1/4 cup milk. Pour hot drippings into a 13 by 9 by 2-inch pan. Pour in batter. Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven 10 minutes. Set oven temperature to moderate (350 degrees) and continue baking until mixture is golden brown and slightly firm on top, 25 to 30 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Tenderness Determines Beef's Use

Can beef rump and sirloin tip be roasted? Answer: Some large beef cuts such as rump and sirloin tip are often sold as roasts for rotisserie or oven roasting. The tenderness of the cut determines whether it is to be cooked by roasting or braising.

Tenderness cannot always be judged before cooking although grade or quality is a guide.

If you prefer to roast these cuts and are in doubt as to their tenderness when cooked, the meat will seem more tender if it is served rare and in thinly carved slices.

Toasty Sandwich Improves Lunch

Lunches can be a problem. Here is a sandwich that is easy and economical, too!

Broil 2 fish sticks for every sandwich. At the same time toast individual rolls of French bread split in half and spread with herb butter. Lay fish sticks on one side of the toasted rolls. Pour on plenty of pizza flavored catsup, add slices of hard-cooked egg, and top with other side of roll.

Serve with a cup of steaming beef bouillon and crisp, crunchy relishes.

Police Ready For Unofficial 'Splash Day'

GALVESTON (AP) — The Galveston police chief said today that although it will be a non-scheduled Splash Day this weekend, he has information that the beaches on the island resort will be swarming with college youngsters.

Splash Day, a traditional Galveston celebration, was canceled in 1961 because of riots. Chief W. J. Burns said that to try to make it a peaceful weekend he has assembled the following lawmen:

Thirty-three Liquor Control Board agents, 10 rangers, 40 deputy sheriff reserves, and 50 auxiliary policemen.

He said days off and vacations for all Galveston policemen and deputies have been canceled for the weekend.

He said the officers will be on 12-hour split shifts Friday through Sunday.

Dear Abby

Finding Protection

DEAR ABBY: I am a cocktail waitress with a small problem. I am not married, but am not interested in dating because I have a boy friend overseas. I'm trying to be true to him. You know how some men are. Some of them just won't take no for an answer. I don't like to get nasty about it, but it's pretty hard to turn them down without telling them off. Besides, it's rough on a girl's tips when she has to put a guy in his place. Any suggestions?

SAVING MYSELF
DEAR SAVING: Just point out the huskiest bartender in the place and tell the wolves that HE'S your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is to be married soon. It will be a large wedding in a fairly large church. Here is the problem: We really have no family. I was an orphan. My mother was from a distant part of the country from a poor family. What is left of his family cannot attend the wedding. We do not have many friends and our side of the church will look very empty.

We are terribly embarrassed as there will be only a handful on our side and the bride's family and friends will number nearly 200. We're red-faced and sick about it, and fear we will be laughed at. I don't know what you can do, but thought I'd try for an answer. Thank you.

RED-FACED
DEAR RED-FACED: You have no reason to be embarrassed. Your family is small and you are not the type of people to invite casual acquaintances to your son's wedding, for which you should be commended. Since the bride's people are paying for it, I am willing to bet you will not be laughed at.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my sister gave us a washing machine that had been given to her by a neighbor. The neighbor got a new one as the old one needed too much work. Well, this washing machine has been out on our patio for over two years. My husband looked at it and decided it needed more work than he could give it right now. Rather than let it stand, I put it up for sale. (I asked 35 dollars.) When my sister heard about it she flew over here and raised the roof. She said SHE could have sold it, and she wanted it back. I told her I was sorry about the whole thing, but I didn't think I had done anything wrong. She wasn't out a dime on the deal. So what's her beef?

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: Technically your sister has no grounds for complaint. She GAVE you the machine, therefore it's yours to use, sell, give away or throw away. (Her "beef" isn't kosher.)

Atom Blasts May Hike Gas Output

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An underground atomic blast that experts estimate would boost an oil company's gas production by as much as four trillion cubic feet is being studied.

R. McLean Stewart, chairman and chief executive officer of Austral Oil Co., an independent producing company based at Houston, said the firm has spent a substantial sum on drawing up a proposal concerning such an experiment for possible submission to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Solons At Odds On Air Warfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., hung a "very dangerous" label today on the administration's "no sanctuary" policy of hot pursuit of enemy fighters over Viet Nam.

But Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said in a separate interview this is a "recognized doctrine" of warfare which he does not believe invites the danger of Red China's intervention in the conflict.

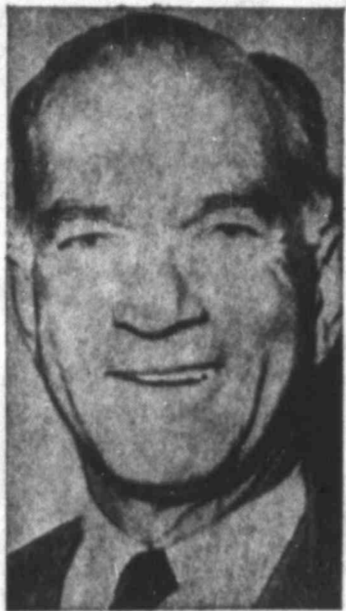

"SOUND POLICY" Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said it is "sound policy" to let the Chinese know in advance what is in store for them if they attack our planes over North Viet Nam.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, noted that there has been no official pronouncement telling where the advanced MIG-21s, which have engaged U.S. planes in dogfights, came from.

"But if they come from China and we follow them into China to attack their air fields, I think we are pursuing a very dangerous course," he said. "It could escalate the war."

The issue was brought to the forefront when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., told the Senate Wednesday that the developments must be viewed with gravest concern.

"What will be the Chinese re-

J. W. FULBRIGHT

sponse if her territory is bombed or her airspace invaded?" he asked. "Will the Chinese seek to strike at our bases — in Viet Nam or Thailand, or aboard our aircraft carriers?"

"And if they do, what then will our response be — further bombing? And if the scale of bombing increases, will China confine herself to air fighting — or will it send its troops to engage ours on the ground in South Viet Nam?"

Dirksen noted that hot pursuit of the enemy by U.S. planes had not been permitted in the Korean war, a decision he said may have lengthened that conflict.

Nine Killed By Volcano In East Java

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A volcanic eruption in heavily populated East Java has demolished one village and is threatening the town of Blitar, reports from the area said today.

The 5,678-foot volcano, Mt. Kelut, erupted Monday night. Nine persons have been reported killed so far, but the toll is considered certain to climb.

Civil defense and Red Cross officials in Jakarta, about 400 miles west of the area, have no details on casualties yet.

Antara, the official news agency, said the eruption wiped out the village of Bambungan, about two miles from the crater. It was not known how many persons lived there.

Civil defense officials said hot lava had reached the edge of Blitar, about 10 miles south of Mt. Kelut. The town, with a population of 28,000, is in an area where many of President Sukarno's relatives live.

Hot ash was reported falling more than six miles from the volcano and lava, sand and ashes reportedly filled the Sima, Dermo and Badak rivers.

Antara said one tea and coffee plantation was under a blanket of ashes. Other reports said a bridge collapsed and four houses several miles away were flattened by lava and ashes.

Air Attacks To Intensify

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. air attacks on truck traffic moving down from Red China will be intensified as the weather improves in the upper part of North Viet Nam, sources said today.

Bad weather in that region is gradually shifting southward.

In the past several weeks, U.S. fighter bombers have been raking truck traffic along routes connecting Hanoi with Red China.

This has been particularly true along routes leading north-eastward from Hanoi, an area which was not subjected to armed reconnaissance before last winter's bombing pause, the sources said.

NIGHT ATTACKS Officials also forecast a substantial increase in the amount of such efforts at night, not only in the region between Hanoi and Red China but lower down in North Viet Nam, along roads leading toward South Viet Nam.

Poor weather has hampered such strafing strikes and has prevented accurate estimates of damage inflicted on truck convoys.

The Communist trucks move mostly at night and, when they are on the road during the day, are protected by camouflage.

U.S. sources said that, among other things, American pilots have found that the Reds have built trellises over certain stretches of highway and covered these structures with leaves and branches.

CLOSE INSPECTION They told of an instance in which a plane zoomed low to check out what appeared to be a single truck and found 25 vehicles moving along the highway well masked by camouflage.

A variety of methods are used to ferret out nighttime truck traffic.

U.S. strike planes carry infrared sensors which can detect the heat from truck engines and thus betray the location of vehicles cloaked by darkness.

Where such traffic is suspected, U.S. planes eject flares with multimillion candle power brightness to light up the countryside.

AF Tornado Watch Starts

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The first contingent of Air Force men who play tag with deadly tornadoes during the twister season in Oklahoma were in the state today.

Maj. R. J. Vanden-Heuvel flew in an especially equipped F100 jet fighter from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, to Tinker AFB here.

The rear seat of the jet is jammed with devices to detect atmospheric conditions.

The group is known as the Rough Riders. Their aircraft ride herd on thunderstorms and tornadoes, gathering scientific data for the National Severe Storm Research Headquarters at Norman, Okla.

The Air Force planes will stay with the project through June 15 while the Weather Bureau expects to end its work this year about June 1.

A T33 or T38 jet is due later at Tinker to serve as a chase plane for the F100. An F106 also may be based at the big air base to aid in the annual weather research.

Some 20 Air Force men will be bolstered by 20 personnel of the Weather Bureau and two DCs. A U2 "spy plane" and a B57 also will fly weather research missions over the state from Edwards AFB, Calif., and Kirtland AFB, N.M.

The Royal Air Force will have two or three meteorologists at the Norman headquarters.

Paper Strike Issues Remain

NEW YORK (AP)—Mediator Theodore W. Kheel today reported "a little progress, but not nearly enough" at a meeting of representatives of the printers union and the World Journal Tribune Inc. which is struck by the Newspaper Guild of New York.

Matt Meyer, president of the corporation, said he did not think any progress was made. "Neither side has made any definite offer," he said. "We are still too far apart."

Publisher representatives meet today with officers of the AFL-CIO Guild, composed largely of editorial and business office workers.

The Guild struck the newly formed corporation Sunday before it could publish its first newspapers after a merger of three papers. The Guild is demanding that seniority be used as the basis for eliminating the jobs of about half of its 1,800 members who had been employed by the three newspapers.

The 10 unions in the newspaper industry here are holding contract negotiations with the World Journal Tribune Inc. The key issue between the corporation and Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union is the amount of severance pay to be given the 400 printers losing their jobs in the merger. The three papers had 900 printers.

Pipeline Accidents Claim 64 Persons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Accidents involving natural gas pipelines have caused 64 deaths and 222 injuries in the last 15 1/2 years, according to a report released by the Senate Commerce Committee.

Opening lead: King of ♠ South, the declarer at four hearts, was unwilling to rely on mere percentages to locate the queen of spades in today's hand, and he devised a campaign that reduced the issue to a certainty.

West opened the king of diamonds, on which East followed with the four—the beginning of a high-low. West continued with the ace and East played the three to complete the echo. In order to kill a potential sluff for his opponent, West continued with a third round and his partner ruffed away North's queen with the seven of hearts. South overruffed with the jack.

Declarer began drawing trump by leading a small heart to dummy's nine. West won the continuation with the ace and then exited with his last trump, as East discarded two small spades.

Inasmuch as the defenders had their book in, South's objective was to avoid losing a spade trick. If the club suit divided evenly, he could obtain a discard on North's long club. If that failed to materialize, then he must locate the queen of spades.

Declarer tested clubs first by cashing the ace, king and then returning to his hand with the queen. If both opponents followed to each round, he could reenter dummy with the king of spades and cash the long club. However, when West showed out on the third round of clubs, South was obliged to fall back on the spade suit.

East had shown up with two hearts, two diamonds, and four clubs, by actual count. He was, therefore, known to have started with five spades. The odds favored his holding the queen. However, South observed a surer method for resolving his problem. By playing off his last trump first, he could force his opponent to make a revealing discard.

The four of hearts was led and the four of spades was discarded from dummy. East was obliged to keep the jack of clubs as protection against North's remaining card in that suit. He, therefore, parted with the seven of spades.

With both opponents down to two spades, it became routine for declarer to lead a spade to dummy's king and then return to the ace in his own hand, dropping the queen and establishing the ten of spades for the game fulfilling trick.
