HOW NOISY
Sen. Everett Dirksen arrives

Dirksen Lists Major Issues

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Inflation, civil rights, concentration of executive branch power and the Viet Nam war will be the major issues of the 1968 Presidential campaign, Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., said here Tuesday.

The Senate minority leader appeared Tuesday night at a $100-a-plate Republican Party fund-raising dinner.

REVISION

He predicted that President Johnson's new civil rights bill will get a thorough revision by the Senate and said it would be approved after some "long hearings."

Dirksen's main opposition to the bill, he said, is the wording of the public housing section of the bill which forbids "anybody" from discriminating in the sale and rental of property.

He said his principal objection is the use of the word "anybody."

"By anybody, it doesn't just mean the brokers and real estate men, it means everybody who owns a piece of property," he said.

In speaking of the issues of the next Presidential election, he said the Viet Nam war will be an issue brought up by the people and not the Republican Party as a party.

John W. Benson Dies Of Attack

John Witherspoon Benson, 35, widely known young Big Spring attorney, died at 6:30 a.m. today at the Hall - Bennett Memorial Hospital, a few minutes after he had suffered a heart attack at his residence.

JOHN W. BENSON

Mr. Benson, according to friends, had been shaving at his house when the attack struck. Mrs. Benson took him to the hospital where he died shortly after being admitted.

He was associated with Guilford Jones, Big Spring attorney, and had made his home here since early 1965.

He was in good health, to all appearances, earlier this week and was busy at the courthouse Tuesday afternoon with legal matters.

Mr. Benson and his wife, the former Cindrette Ricker, lived at 1924 E. 25th.

The body is at the Nalley-Pickel Funeral Home where arrangements are pending.

Born March 9, 1931 in Frostburg, Mo., Mr. Benson attended Virginia Military Institute and later, Texas University, where he received his law degree in January, 1965.

He moved to Big Spring in March last year.

Mr. Benson was sworn in as an attorney on May 18, 1965 by Judge Ralph W. Caton. He had graduated from law school in January of that year.

He had already established himself as a resident of Big Spring at the time he was accepted as an attorney.

A friendship Benson had developed with a Big Spring youth when both were students at the Virginia Military Institute led him to come to this part of the country. This young friend

Connally In Dallas Fighting For Control

Gov. John Connally carried his fight for control of the state Democratic organization to Dallas today as other candidates in Saturday's primaries fanned out over Texas in their final three days of campaigning.

In a San Antonio meeting Tuesday night, Connally blasted the supporters of Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., charging they were attempting to gain control of the Saturday precinct conventions.

Yarborough claimed Connally was backing a "Republican program" and in a speech at San Antonio Saturday urged liberal Democrats to pass precinct convention resolutions endorsing President Johnson's "Great Society."

In Dallas Connally will be attempting to rally support to regain control of the county organization, now dominated by liberal forces. The Democratic split was widened this week when the county chairman, a Connally supporter, voided committee appointments made by the liberal executive committee.

Stanley Woods, who is running against Connally for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, told a Berger audience state funds should be made available to help public and private hospitals.

Hospital Costs

"The costs of the best hospital facilities are fast outstripping the average pocketbook. This is wrong. The best health facilities should be available to all Texans, regardless of their economic situation," Woods said.

Waggoner Carr, state attorney general seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate, told the Texas Bakers Association and the San Antonio Manufacturers Association at San Antonio "I have sensed among a growing number of our people the gnawing feeling that perhaps 'big government' may be watching."

TOWER

Republican Senator John Tower, seeking reelection, got a pat on the back from Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., at a $100-a-plate GOP fund raising dinner in Dallas Tuesday night.

Dirksen refused comment on a statement made earlier Tuesday by former Vice President Richard Nixon that some funds should be diverted from the space program to the Viet Nam war, saying he didn't "feel qualified to speak" on the matter.

L. Gov. Preston Smith, a candidate in the Democratic primary, told a Mesquite audience that he looked upon his role in government as that of "referee and moderator."

His opponent, Rep. Bill Hollwell said in Berger that he would "make a major effort" to put a state medical school in Lubbock or Amarillo under the jurisdiction of Texas Tech, plus a dental school in Fort Worth.

TUNNELL

Railroad Commissioner Byron Tunnell campaigned in North Texas and the High Plains while his opponent, Rep. Paul Haring, advocated a study of railroad-highway crossing to reduce traffic accidents.

In the torrid Democratic race for the nomination for attorney general Galloway Calhoun toured West Texas, Franklin Spears made "wing tip" appearances at airports in East Texas and Crawford Martin was in the Panhandle.

This area is regarded as the southern terminal of the Ho Chi Minh jungle trail over which the Reds send supplies and men from the north.

With the monsoon rains due to start in South Viet Nam within a few days, the Viet Cong are expected to open a fresh offensive after hiding out for the past three weeks. The Communists have capitalized on this period in the past because the incessant rains sharply curtail U.S. air support of ground forces.

There were these other developments in the war:

Australia began a buildup of its forces in Viet Nam with the arrival of the transport Sydney bringing 400 men and 300 trucks, weapons carriers and other equipment. This is the first contingent of 4,500 men due between now and mid-June to replace 1,500 Aussies who have been here since last August.

The U.S. Command announced that American Marines in two actions Tuesday killed 29 Viet Cong while ground action elsewhere was negligible.

U.S. planes flew 301 sorties over South Viet Nam. But bad weather grounded all Air Force strikes over North Viet Nam and the Navy flew only eight missions there.

The foul weather in the north foreshadowed the onset of the May-to-August monsoon season in the south.

Midlanders' Suit Before High Court

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court heard arguments today in a suit that could lead to application of the "one man, one vote" reapportionment principle to county government.

Houston attorney William A. Olson, representing Midland Mayor Hank Avery, told the high court that the equal protection clause of the U.S. Constitution requires that county commissioner precincts be divided only on population lines.

Does Not Apply

F. H. Pannill of the Midland law firm of Stubbeman, McRae, Sealy and Laughlin said the equal population principle does not apply to county government.

W. B. Browder of the same firm added that application of the "one man, one vote" doctrine of Midland County would leave rural residents without a voice in county government.

Avery is immediate past president of the Texas Municipal League. He filed his suit in 1962, contending that commissioner precinct No. 1—including virtually all of Midland—had 97 per cent of the county's people but just one of the four commissioners.

The Midland County district court ruled in 1964 that the precincts should be realigned with each having substantially the same population. This ruling was overturned that same year by the El Paso court of civil appeals.

"Is a citizen of this state constitutionally immune from payment of the poll tax but not immune to an invidious discrimination as seen here?" Olson asked. "Equal representation is a cherished constitutional right."

He noted that the state constitution requires that commissioner precincts be set up for the "convenience of the people."

"We seek here," he continued, "to have the term 'convenience of the people' construed to achieve compatibility with the equal protection clause. . . It is reasonable to conclude that the framers of the Texas Constitution desired to perpetuate representative government. Defendant's position is repugnant to the basic principle of representative government."

ARRANGEMENT

Kennedy suggested it might be possible to work out an arrangement by which mainland China and Taiwan could have seats in the world organization.

McGovern called for an end to U.S. opposition to China's admission, with the international body to determine Formosa's status.

Without direct reference to these proposals, Humphrey was asked in an interview what he believes U.S. policy should be with regard to admission of Communist China.

He replied: "When Communist China is willing to consider membership in the U.N. on the basis of abiding by the charter, being a peace-loving nation, a nation that will respect the principles of the charter, and also when she ceases to insist that Formosa be handed over to her lock, stock and barrel, then she would surely be a likely candidate for the U.N."

Humphrey went on to say, however, that mainland China had never applied for U.N. membership except with demands for revision of the present charter.

NO DESIRE

"She stands as yet designated as an aggressor in the resolution of the United Nations Assembly in the Korean war," he said. "She has not indicated any great desire to come into the United Nations."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said the Kennedy-McGovern proposal for a commission study of China policies is "worth consideration."

The White House reaction was

OTHER PRIMARY RESULTS

Alabama — Sen. John J. Sparkman, Democrat, won renomination by a large margin.

FEATURE RACE

Indiana — In a feature race for the U.S. House, Republicans Ralph Harvey and Richard L. Rousebush were locked in close combat forrenomination. Both are now congressmen but were thrown into the new 13th District by revamping of legislative lines.

New Mexico — Gene Lusk of Carlsbad won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, beating former Gov. John Burroughs handily. David Cargoheld a razor-thin lead over Clifford Hawley for the Republican nomination. Both are state representatives.

RIGH LEAD

Oklahoma — Former Gov. Raymond Gary chalked up a big lead in a 13-man contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Still up in the air was the question who would face him in the runoff, Tulsa County Atty. David Hall or Oklahoma City Atty. Preston Moore, a former national commander of the American Legion. In the Republican primary, State Sen. Dewey Marlett of Tulsa pulled somewhat ahead of John N. Happy Camp, Waukomis banker.

ENDORSED

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee endorsed the Kennedy-McGovern proposal.

Fulbright, who has been critical of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, said such a commission would be free of "inhibitions that naturally affect those of us in public office" in dealing with the politically delicate matter of China policy.

Planes Pound Supply Route

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American B52 bombers pounded the southern end of the main Viet Cong supply route again today in the continuing drive to cripple the Communists' expected monsoon offensive.

For the seventh out of the past eight days, the Stratofortresses unloaded their 750-pound bombs on suspected enemy supply and troop areas in the Communist C Zone about 65 miles northwest of Saigon and not far from the Cambodian border.

This area is regarded as the southern terminal of the Ho Chi Minh jungle trail over which the Reds send supplies and men from the north.

With the monsoon rains due to start in South Viet Nam within a few days, the Viet Cong are expected to open a fresh offensive after hiding out for the past three weeks. Lurleen Wallops Nine Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Wallaces of Alabama, symbols of old-time segregation, have chalked up a victory of surprise proportions despite all efforts of civil rights forces to stop them.

Lurleen Wallace, blonde, 39-year-old mother of four, thumped nine male candidates so thoroughly in Tuesday's Democratic primary that there will be no runoff for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

BADLY BEATEN

Outdistanced badly was Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, a racial moderate who had criticized Gov. George C. Wallace for his tactics. Flowers had counted on depriving Mrs. Wallace of a clear majority, and thus forcing a runoff.

But it was not to be and — provided Mrs. Wallace wins the November election — her husband will still be the top power in Alabama, making the decisions for his wife as a $1-a-year aide. By law, he is barred from succeeding himself officially.

Choosing words from her husband's lexicon, Mrs. Wallace told a victory celebration of supporters:

"We will continue to stand up for Alabama. We renew our pledge to continue the type of government which apparently has been endorsed today."

Negro voters in Alabama — their number doubled under the federal voting rights act of 1965 — fanned out in long lines, but so did whites.

One result of the Negro surge was the apparent nomination for the Alabama House of Representatives of attorney Fred D. Gray of Tuskegee, first Negro nominee for the legislature since Reconstruction. Three other candidates of his race were ahead for legislative seats.

A Negro candidate for sheriff in Macon County led a four-man race and clinched a spot in a runoff primary. Two other Negroes were leading in other contests for sheriff.

But Sheriff James G. Clark of Selma, tough handler of civil rights demonstrators in 1965, was ahead for renomination. Trailing him was Wilson Baker, the former Selma public safety director who was conciliatory toward last year's demonstrators.

Alabama's former public safety director, Albert J. Lingo, who made a bid for Negro votes, was swamped in his effort to unseat Sheriff Melvin Bailey of Jefferson County.

Alabama was one of six states that held primaries Tuesday. In another highlight, Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio, son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft who became known as Mr. Republican, got a

Rights Bill Faces Tough Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the fourth time in five years Congress begins considering a major civil rights bill today and there are signs this one faces the toughest opposition.

The action starts in the House, with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach appearing before a House Judiciary subcommittee but the big trouble is in the Senate.

There, the outspoken opposition of Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen to a provision that would ban religious or racial discrimination in the sale, rental or financing of housing apparently has broken up the bipartisan coalition that wrote the earlier civil rights bills into law.

Republican leaders in the House are playing it much more cautiously, however. Dirksen based his opposition on his belief that the housing provision is unconstitutional. His GOP colleagues in the House are making no such statements.

Rep. William H. McCulloch, R-Ohio, senior Republican on the judiciary committee and the party's key figure in civil rights legislation, said he would not prejudice the issue of constitutionality.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford also withheld judgment and said he would work closely with McCulloch in defining a party position on the bill.

The fierce opposition to the housing provision has all but obscured the other provisions in the bill, which are aimed at ending discrimination in the selection of juries and in protecting civil rights workers against violence. Dirksen has indicated he would go along with these provisions.

Bipartisan support for these sections is solid, with House Republicans having introduced even stronger versions of the legislation nearly two months ago.

The housing provision is the broadest in this field ever proposed by a president. It would outlaw discrimination in all types of private housing. Enforcement would be by court action brought by the individual charging discrimination.

The administration pins the provision to the clause of the Constitution giving Congress the power to regulate interstate commerce. Even broader court interpretations of interstate commerce have enabled Congress to extend minimum wage laws and ban discrimination in places of public accommodation in recent years.

Light showers continued today in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and along the coast while the northern portion of water-soaked Texas basked in bright sunshine.

Compared to last week's downpours that caused major flooding the rainfall measurements were scant. Laredo had 45 of an inch, Corpus Christi 41, Houston 21, Beaumont 26 and Austin .02 for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Minimum temperatures before dawn ranged from 46 at Dalhart to 68 at Galveston. The highs Tuesday afternoon ranged from 62 at Midland to 78 at Dalhart, Lufkin and Wichita Falls.

Nudes Force New Ruling For Center

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The facilities of the Milwaukee Art Center have been placed off-limits for "spontaneous dramatic performances" following a "happening" in which two nudes bathed in two beer coolers.

Vice squad officers were conducting Tuesday what one called a full investigation of last Friday's "happening."

A group of art students and faculty from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, staged the event which included a nude man and woman.

St. Orval Zellmer of the Milwaukee vice squad said that he and two detectives were questioning art center leaders and some of the 250 persons who were in the audience.

When police indicated an interest in the happening after it happened art center director Tracy Atkinson said the event "was about as sensational as a marble statue in a museum."

Maurice W. Berger, president of the center board of trustees, took a little different view.

"Henceforth the facilities of the art center will not be available for spontaneous dramatic performances," he said.

Both Atkinson and Berger disclaimed any advance knowledge

Food Going To India

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Members of the Church World Service and Catholic Relief Service joined forces here Tuesday in their first of many proposed shipments to India and other needy foreign countries.

Clergymen commemorated the shipment of 19,000 tons of wheat to India on a Liberian flag vessel—which is scheduled to be loaded Friday.

The government provided the grain, but the transportation and other expenses were borne by the religious groups.

Taking part in Tuesday's ceremonies were Methodist Bishop Paul E. Martin, Houston; The Rt. Rev. Dan P. O'Connell, Galveston, and the Rev. Canon Gerald McAllister, San Antonio, an Episcopalian who is president of the Texas Council of Churches.

Cold Used For Eye Treatments

HOUSTON (AP) — A cold instrument no bigger than a fountain pen is being used by a Chicago eye specialist in cataract operations with good results, surgeons meeting here learned Tuesday.

Dr. John G. Bellows of Northwestern University Medical School said he now removes cataracts with a $15 instrument that has an extremely cold, needle-like point.

He described the device at the Congress of the North American Federation of the International College of Surgeons.

Bellows said he also has successfully treated 12 cases of eye disease caused by a herpes virus.

"You merely touch the point of the instrument to the diseased portion of the eye," he said, "and the condition clears overnight."

Since the herpes virus that causes the eye condition is the same that produces cold sores, Bellows speculated that the instrument could be used in treating cold sores with the same successful results.

A carbon dioxide cartridge placed in the instrument drops the point to a minus-69 degrees Fahrenheit.

Bellows explained that when this cold point touches the lens—the part of the eye that contains the cataract—the lens sticks to the point. The instrument then is used to draw the diseased lens out.

At present, forceps generally are used to remove lenses containing cataracts.

Russian Roulette Claims Another

DALLAS (AP)—A North Texas State University student, Paul Byron Whitsett, died late Tuesday night in a Dallas hospital of a gunshot wound in the head Sunday.

A companion, George Cardin, told officers the two had been target shooting when Whitsett, a student from Odessa, apparently decided to play Russian roulette. Cardin said Whitsett pointed the gun at his temple, pulled the trigger, and a shot rang out.

Narcotics Trial Witness Now Refuses To Testify

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—The first witness in the narcotics trial of former Harvard professor Dr. Timothy Leary and three others has been held in contempt of court for refusing to testify.

Miss Rosemary Woodruff, who said she was the administrative assistant to the estate where Leary worked in nearby Millbrook, N. Y., pleaded the Fifth Amendment Tuesday after she was granted immunity from prosecution.

Miss Woodruff said her testimony might injure friends, which she said would be contrary to her "moral and religious beliefs."

April 17 and charged with possession of narcotics. Police said they seized a "suspected quantity of marijuana" at the estate, leased under the name of Castilla Foundation.

Other defendants in the case are Stewart F. Swain, 48, of Blue Jay, Calif.; his wife, Nancy, 36; and Barry Kaplan, 20, of New York City.

All four pleaded innocent to the charges.

Leary also is under a tentative 30-year prison term in Laredo, Tex., for transporting marijuana into this country and not paying tax on it. His 18-year-old daughter, Susan, also was found guilty in the Texas marijuana case and was sentenced to an indeterminate period in a federal reformatory.

Lodge Takes Off For Rest

BEVERLY, Mass. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam, relaxed today at his seaside home, taking a few days off before going to Washington to report to President Johnson.

Lodge and his wife, Emily, flew into Boston Tuesday aboard an Air Force plane after a stopover in Rome during which he had a 40-minute visit with Pope Paul VI. Mrs. Lodge has been staying in Hong Kong since they went to the Far East last August.

The Lodges were met at Logan International Airport by his sons, George and Henry, and the latter's wife, Eleanita.

Lodge read a brief statement to newsmen saying only that he was glad to be home for a few days with his family, and then left with them by automobile for his home in Beverly, 15 miles north of Boston.

Claims Stability In Northern Area

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—Political stability has returned to South Viet Nam's five northern provinces, the commander of the army's 1st Corps area declared today.

Lt. Gen. Ton That Din, the commander, denounced suggestions that the Buddhist-military unrest in the 1st Corps was continuing and said the people of the region "will struggle to the end to destroy the neutralist plot (to negotiate with the Communists) and exterminate the warlike Communists."

Dinh, dressed in a paratroop uniform and scarlet scarf, spoke to 50 newsmen who had been specially flown from Saigon.

Dr. Nguyen Van Man, the mayor of Da Nang who had been threatened with execution by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky in March as a Communist plotter, said dissatisfaction with the Saigon regime remains strong. "I believe the people are ready to rise up to obtain what they want," he said.

However, he said he would accept the dictates of the central government.

Advisors To Study The 'Crucial Issue'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson gave a labor-management advisory committee today the job of considering "the crucial domestic issue"—maintaining unparallelled prosperity.
Johnson met with committee members before they started two days of conferences, and said they should consider the issue "not from the standpoint of labor or business," but on the basis: "If you were President, what would you do?"
The President said that "disturbing signs are beginning to appear" in the economic picture and the wisdom and skill of all of the members of this committee, created in 1961, but inactive since he took office, were needed now.
Johnson asked for committee views on such critical problems as:
—The effectiveness of the program of voluntary wage-price restraints and the role of business, labor and government in such a program.
—Tax and monetary policy—the role of wage-price guides.
—The question, "How do we maintain stable costs for essential services, such as medical care that are now pushing the cost of living up?"
As the committee met there were inklings that the White House may consider new anti-inflation machinery to placate labor and business dissatisfaction with wage-price guidelines.
"It will take a look at the general economic situation and to cope with the threat of inflation in an expanding economy," said a spokesman for the newly revived President's advisory committee on labor-management policy.
While there was no hint that Johnson has any thought of abandoning the guidelines, labor members of the committee expressed cautious hope they might be revised to give workers more room to win a bigger share of profits.

Orders Review Of Allied Participation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has ordered his experts to take off the shelf and review the delicate problems of Allied participation in the nuclear defense of the Atlantic alliance, authoritative sources reported today.
The President's move puts an end to 18 months of U.S. passivity, ordered by Johnson in December 1964 in view of stiff French opposition and the lukewarm attitude of other allies to the multilateral nuclear force (MLF) idea sponsored by the United States.
Johnson's thinking was that since greater European participation in the West's nuclear defense is firstly a European problem, it makes little sense to insist on an American solution which the others, with the exception of West Germany, do not seem to like.
The President is understood to have requested that specialists on the problem, headed by

'Mother Walker' Is Oldest Student

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — "This little light God gave me — I'm going to let it shine."

The words are those of Mrs. Mary Walker, whose light has been shining since 1840, more or less, when she was born a slave in Bullock County, Ala.

Today, or sometime this spring, "Mother Walker" will be 117 years old. The exact age is a moot point, and not very important anyway.

What is important is that "Mother Walker" will have a citywide birthday party Friday, at which she will officially be certified as America's oldest student. A representative of U.S. Commissioner of Education Harold Howe will do the honors.

No records were kept back when Mrs. Walker was born, or when she was raised by a white family in Montgomery, Ala. But she soon married and "went to farming" with her new husband. Then came a date she does remember.

"I was 29 on the 26th of August, a Sunday, 1869," she says with a smile. "I remember that date because that was when my first son was born."

The son — the first of three, all now dead — died three years ago at age 94.

About one year after his death, Mrs. Walker came down from her third-floor apartment in a modern high-rise apartment project to sit in on a class sponsored by the Chattanooga area literacy movement, an organization formed and supported by nongovernment funds.

"I decided I'd better do something," she says. "I didn't know anything."

Since that time, says teacher Helen Kelley, she has progressed as well or better than most of the other 19 members of her class — the youngest member of which is 60.

"She is ahead of some of them, way ahead," says Mrs. Kelley.

The class deals with the fundamentals — reading, writing and arithmetic. Since September, 1964, Mrs. Walker has learned to read, write script and add and subtract.

Mrs. Walker, who still walks unaided, sees well with the aid of bifocal glasses. She hears without trouble, sews and cooks cakes "light as a feather," according to Mrs. Kelley.

NEVER TOO LATE

Four Accidents Are Reported

Four minor traffic accidents Tuesday injured no one, officers said.

Involved were the car of Carrie P. Clark, 900 NW 3rd, which ran into a plate glass window at the Safeway store parking lot, 1300 Gregg; the driverless pickup of The Herald, which rolled from the Gage Fina filling station at Fourth and Gregg; striking a car driven by Herbert James Hallard, Silver Heels Addition, in the 300 block of West Fourth; a truck in charge of J. Wayne Watson, 1307 Marjajo, which rolled into a guard rail at Birdwell Lane and North-east First; and the cars of Victor Lee Allen, Box 344, and Nancy Jane Echols, Sweetwater, at the intersection of Fourth and Birdwell Lane.

Joseph Lippman, the subcommittee's staff director, said "unnecessary and wasteful disposals" had left U.S. military forces short of vitally needed construction and transportation equipment in Viet Nam.

Lippman said among other things that 25 to 75 per cent of the equipment in the hands of American forces in Viet Nam is not working because of spare parts shortages.

Drenching Rains Hit Lower Valley

Drenching rains hit the Lower Rio Grande Valley again today, bringing almost 4 inches in 24 hours at some points.

Farm-to-market roads were closed in Cameron County, other highways were threatened by rising water and city streets throughout the Valley were filled with water for a time.

Heaviest rain for a 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today was 3.06 inches at Brownsville. Harlingen reported 3.05 inches in the same period and Mercedes had 2.97.

Farmers with crops ready to harvest feared severe damages. These included onions, potatoes and late carrots. Some other crops just planted or at a tender stage were endangered. But cotton farmers found the rains good.

The Department of Public Safety reported that water flowing over bridges in the Mercedes area made F-M Roads 2566 and 800 still impassable. They had been closed Tuesday morning.

Meanwhile, northern and eastern parts of the state, hit by flooding earlier, were beginning to dry out.

Bodies of three victims drowned in the Dallas floods last weekend were recovered. They were those of Mintie Lee Jones, 22; Linda McCoy, 2; and Wymond Adams, 30. Two other persons in the automobile that was swept away were missing. They are Mildred Scott, about 40, and Mattie Gilbert, 52. The death toll in Dallas was 19 from drownings and other causes related to the weather.

The fourth day of rains sent precipitation measurements for the Valley spiraling. For that period, Mercedes had 5.61 inches, Weslaco 5.67, San Juan 5.55 and Brownsville 4.81.

Meanwhile, the excess water prompted a state special water master to authorize growers to exceed their pumping limits but there appeared little likelihood that farmers would pour more moisture on their drenched fields.

The record for one day at Brownsville is 9.03 inches, set in May 1914. But the Valley averages only 2.58 inches of rain in May — already well exceeded.

Defense Officials Fire Back At Senator's Accusations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department asserted today that Sen. Ernest Gruening, D - Alaska, "apparently wants the American soldiers in Viet Nam to fight with junk."

The Pentagon issued a sharp statement in reply to Gruening's accusation that the Defense Department has been giving away military equipment needed by American fighting men in South Viet Nam.

Gruening said the Army's system of disposing of surplus construction and transportation equipment is one of deception, falsification and fraud.

The Pentagon statement said the Army forces must dispose of approximately $4.6 billion of obsolete and worn-out equipment annually to keep their $122-billion inventory up to date.

"Sen. Ernest Gruening of Alaska apparently wants the American soldiers in Viet Nam to fight with junk," the statement said. "The Department of Defense doesn't."

"The Department of Defense wants American fighting men to have the very best equipment and plenty of it. That's what our soldiers in Viet Nam have and will continue to have."

The Pentagon said Gruening's accusation of fraud "is an irresponsible charge. Any recommendation to ship worn-out equipment to our troops in Viet Nam is completely unsound from a military standpoint." Gruening has opposed American involvement in Southeast Asia.

Gruening's comments came Tuesday after his Government Operations subcommittee heard a two-hour account of the program.

Joseph Lippman, the subcommittee's staff director, said "unnecessary and wasteful disposals" had left U.S. military forces short of vitally needed construction and transportation equipment in Viet Nam.

Lippman said among other things that 25 to 75 per cent of the equipment in the hands of American forces in Viet Nam is not working because of spare parts shortages.

Nixon Sees GOP Gains

HOUSTON (AP) — Richard Nixon predicted great Republican gains in the 1966 general elections and expressed his views on the Viet Nam war effort Tuesday during a visit to Houston for a party fund-raising dinner. Nixon, skirting questions about what his part might be in the 1968 presidential campaign, told newsmen the Republican Party will make its best gains in 20 years in the 1966 elections. He also said he believes this nation should use some of its space exploration funds for the View Nam effort. Saying he supports President Lyndon B. Johnson's stand on Viet Nam, the former vice president said he believes the United States "must push for a speedy victory." At the $100-a-plate banquet attended by 500 persons, Nixon said the reason for the predicted Republican gains is a split in the Democratic party in large states like New York and California. The unsuccessful presidential candidate said the split is over the war in Viet Nam, and "the contest for the heir appanthy... between Hubert Humphrey and Robert F. Kennedy." The Vietnamese war and inflation are two main issues this year, he said. American casualties in Viet Nam, already 20,000, will exceed the 150,000 casualties of the Korean conflict if the war continues as it is, Nixon predicted. Earlier Tuesday, Nixon said he believes Republicans will gain 40 seats in the House, four in the Senate and five governors in November. "Even more important," he said, "I believe they will gain 600 state legislative seats across the country."

Powell Plans Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., who says he is disturbed by reports that agents from the Central Intelligence Agency took part in a Michigan State University overseas project a few years ago, has announced an investigation of the relationship between colleges and the CIA. Powell said Tuesday his House Education and Labor Committee will study the general subject of CIA activities in higher education circles. "Congress has not appropriated bil-ions of dollars for the nation's universities," the congressman said, "to have them used as a cover by the CIA." Officials at MSU have denied knowingly hiring CIA agents to work on government-financed projects in South Viet Nam. The charges were made in a magazine article recently by a former university employe.

Eleven Lost In Laotian Operations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secrecy-shrouded air operations over Laos in the past two years have resulted in the deaths of 11 U.S. fliers, the Defense Department reports.

Fewer than 20 air crewmen also are missing or prisoners of the Communists as a result of air action in the area, the Pentagon said.

The disclosures, made Tuesday in response to a query, represented a crack in the secrecy which has been maintained largely to avoid embarrassing the Laotian government.

U.S. air attacks on Communist infiltration routes leading through Laos into South Vietnam have been stepped up in recent months. But weekly announcements on Viet Nam casualties have made no mention of losses in Laos.

In response to a request for the toll for air operations over Laos, the Pentagon said, without elaboration:

"Since May, 1964, when the United States began aerial reconnaissance over Laos at the request of the Royal Laotian Government, 11 air crewmen have been killed and less than 20 are in a missing or detained status."

Meanwhile, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said Army equipment and manpower problems might have placed the United States in "grave difficulty" had the Viet Nam war produced combat on the scale of World War II or the Korean conflict.

"We have had time to gear up our production facilities, let contracts and obtain deliveries of vitally needed equipment, repair parts and supplies, and to acquire and train additional manpower," Stennis said in a preface to a report of the Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee he heads.

"We might have been in grave difficulty if this time had not been available," Stennis added.

The subcommittee report listed four Army divisions it said were not ready for combat: 4th Infantry at Ft. Lewis, Wash.; 5th Infantry at Ft. Carson, Colo.; and the 1st and 2nd Armored at Ft. Hood, Tex.

The substance of the subcommittee's report had been made public earlier.

Candidate Visits

In the last days of campaigning, Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, one of the candidates for attorney general of Texas, paid a brief visit to Big Spring Wednesday morning. RECEIVES AIR FORCE EXCEPTIONAL SERVICE AWARD

Mrs. Whipkey watches as Gen. Greasley congratulates R. W. Whipkey

Exceptional Service Award Presented Herald Publisher

A second major award—this time for the Exceptional Service Award Citation—was presented to Robert W. Whipkey, publisher of the Big Spring Herald, in a special ceremony at Webb AFB Tuesday noon.

Maj. Gen. Philip H. Greasley, chief of staff of the Air Training Command, made the presentation and pinned on a medal denoting the honor.

A number of businessmen and civic leaders were on hand with members of Col. Chester Butcher's staff at Webb to witness the citation.

Whipkey was honored in 1961 for outstanding service to the Air Force, and the new citation covered the period from June, 1960, to October, 1965. It was in recognition for extraordinary service in promoting base-community relations and in advancing the cause of the Air Force.

Gen. Greasley lauded Whipkey for unselfish devotion to promoting a climate of harmony and understanding between base and community, which he said stood as an example for the entire Air Force.

The Citation read in part: "By direction of the Secretary of the Air Force, Robert W. Whipkey is hereby presented the Exceptional Service Award."

"Mr. Robert W. Whipkey distinguished himself by meritorious service as publisher of the Big Spring Herald from 11 June 1960 to 31 October 1965. During this period, Mr. Whipkey compiled an outstanding record of civic accomplishments and unparalleled community leadership and provided exceptional service to the Air Force and Webb Air Force Base without financial compensation or other remuneration. His services were completely voluntary and performed as a public service through patriotic motivation. The distinctive accomplishments of Mr. Whipkey reflect great credit upon himself and earned for him the sincere gratitude of the United States Air Force.

A native of Colorado City, Whipkey has been associated with the Herald since October, 1935. Three years later he became publisher, a position he has held since, except for a three-year period when he served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy.

He has held key positions in many organizations, serving with the Chamber of Commerce, Community Chest, United Fund, YMCA, and the American Red Cross as president. He was also a key figure in the Master Planning for Big Spring, and one of the organizers of the Howard County Rehabilitation Center.

He is a member of the First Baptist Church, Industrial Foundation and many other organizations.

Maintaining good community relations between Webb and Big Spring has always been one of his chief concerns, as evidenced by the fact that he received an Air Force Scroll in 1961, as well as the present award.

Gen. Greasley, who came to Webb from San Antonio to make the presentation, has served as Air Training Command chief of staff since September, 1965. Prior to that time he served as deputy chief of staff. Plans for a two-year period. His distinguished career, including many overseas assignments, extends back to October, 1937, when he entered cadet training at Randolph AFB.

Con Men Work Insurance Deal On Fake Rebate

Con men, who pose as agents for insurance companies and who offer patrons of the companies a rebate on premiums, have again been reported working in Big Spring, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard.

Standard said the con men, apparently worked for the company at one time and have been able to familiarize themselves with the history of their prospective victim's association with the firm.

They call on the insured person, inform him that the company overcharged on the premium. The "agent," who says the deal is very hush-hush, says he can get a rebate for the insured and will do so if the insured person will give him half. The fake agent has a check (which Standard said is a forgery) and which the insured person cashes at the bank. He gives the agent half and a day or two later is informed the check he presented was a forgery. The bank requires him to make good.

Survivors include the husband, T. V. Pierson, Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. L. D. Cobb and Mrs. E. B. Compton, both of Big Spring; two sons, Frank Pierson, Big Spring, and Charles Pierson, Bristow, Okla.; one stepson, T. V. Pierson Jr., Ringold, La.; two brothers, Johnnie Bell, Kaufman, and Rodney Bell, Sweetwater; two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Schaefer, B-I-G Spring, and Mrs. Gladys Trammel, Midland; three half sisters, Mrs. Cora Trammell, Many, La., Mrs. Blackmon Cooper, Mexia, and Mrs. Murry Kiser, Midland; also nine grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Bruce Frazier, Raymond Tanis, G. B. Harding, Leslie Stewart, C. C. Choate and J. E. Swindell.

Burglars Steal Coin Machines

Six coin machines valued at $25 each and about $100 in change were stolen from the Park Hill Terrace laundry room Tuesday, according to Truman Jones, operator of the apartment center at 800 Marcy Drive.

Officers said the six coin machines were ripped from the walls of the laundry room, causing about $30 damage. They said the machines were attached to the washing machines and dryers by electric cords, which also were removed.

Red Chinese Denying That Mao Seriously Ill

TOKYO (AP) — Denying foreign speculation that Red China's top man is seriously ill, Peking's foreign ministry said today that Communist leader Mao Tse-tung "is very well."

"Rumors of Chairman Mao's physical condition are quite nonsense and malicious, false rumors of imperialism," the foreign ministry said in a statement reported by the Peking correspondent of the Japanese news agency, Kyodo.

Mao's absence from public view has resulted in wide speculation in the West that he might be seriously ill.

"The whereabouts of Chairman Mao is unknown even in Peking," Kyoto correspondent Tadao Saito reported. "However, it appears certain that Mao was resting in warm central China away from Peking since last year until early this year."

Zone Change Is Approved

Two of three requests for zoning changes were withdrawn at a public hearing of the Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday at 5:15 p.m.

Roy Lee, general manager of K. H. McGibbon Oil Co., asked that McGibbon Oil's request for a zone change from "retail" to "commercial" on property from 1905-07 Gregg Street be withdrawn.

Arthur Gustafson of the Red Barn, Birdwell Lane and IS 26, withdrew a request for a change from "one family" to "retail" when he was told that no such zoning change is needed to acquire a beer license, which was the reason for the request for the change.

Gustafson will make application for a beer license through regular channels, he said.

Commissioners approved John Nutt's request for a zone change from "retail" to "commercial" on his property at the corner of Gregg and Eleventh Streets. The lot will be leased for use as a used-car lot, Nutt told commissioners.

Crippled Children Wanted For Camp

COAHOMA (SC) — Discussions of the crippled children's camp and means of obtaining names of children who would like to attend without charge were held at the Lions Club session Monday at Rick's cafeteria. Sight conservation projects also were talked. Next Monday Joe Pond, Big Spring, a past district governor, will speak.

Negroes Win At Least One Seat

By DON MCKEE BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Negroes won nomination for at least one Alabama legislative seat and went into runoff for five others, perhaps more. They led for sheriff in three counties.

As the returns from Tuesday's primary continued to come in, it was clear that Fred S. Gray, a Negro attorney from Tuskegee, had been nominated for the Legislature from the district that includes Gov. George C. Wallace's home town.

He is the first Negro nominee for an Alabama House seat since Reconstruction. He had a 206-vote majority over two white opponents in the predominantly Negro district.

And in Jefferson County (Birmingham) four Negroes, facing more than one white opponent each, led for House seats and go into a runoff May 31. The total of their white opponents' votes exceeded their own, making the prospect of runoff victories uncertain.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. hailed the "overwhelming turnout of Negro voters and the election of Negro candidates to key positions throughout the state" as "a new day in Alabama."

But it was still unclear as the vote returns trickled in from rural areas just how effective the Negro candidates had been.

Most of the races were in areas where the white and Negro voter registration was about equal.

But in Greene County, where Negroes had a three-to-one voter registration majority, a paid worker of King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference lost the race for sheriff to the incumbent.

The present sheriff, Bill Lee, who recently appointed an affluent Negro colleague as his chief deputy, defeated the Rev. Thomas Gilmore, a 24-year-old Negro who faced him many

Automobile Lost At State Hospital

John Benefield, 2407 Carleton, told officers Tuesday that about 10 p.m. that his 1956 turquoise and white automobile had been stolen from a parking lot at the Big Spring State Hospital.

He said he had left the keys in the car.

About five minutes later, officers said, a hospital attendant called to report a patient, Joe Garner, 34, whose home is in Tom Green County, had left without leave.

Tourist Industry Hardest Hit By Britain's Tax

LONDON (AP) — Britain's automobile industry and the man in the street were relieved today at the Labor government's new budget but hotels and the tourist industry were angry.

The 1966-67 budget, unveiled by Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan in the House of Commons Tuesday, introduced a payroll tax on the service industries and gave a per-worker subsidy to manufacturers.

UNIQUE

The unique tax is designed to raise revenue and to drive workers into manufacturing, thus stimulating Britain's exports while maintaining full employment.

Britain needs to increase its exports to bolster the pound sterling, which is still recovering from the financial crisis of 1964-65.

Callaghan's budget estimated revenue during the fiscal year at 9.8 billion pounds ($27.5 billion) and expenditures at 9.1 billion pounds ($25.8 billion).

BIG EARNERS

Hotels and tourist enterprises as service industries, were hit by the payroll tax although they are one of Britain's biggest earners of foreign currency. They can also expect to pay more for laundry and similar services.

Under the tax, the service industries will pay the government $3.50 a week for each man on the payroll, and half that for women and boys.

Callaghan said in an interview

Tank Explodes

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A fuel tank fell from a 15-year-old jet fighter plane Tuesday and exploded in a slum in suburban Buenos Aires. A 60-year-old woman and her 6-year-old granddaughter were killed when trapped in their hut by the flames.

Tuesday night the tax could be lifted from some sectors of the economy or extended to others during the fiscal year.

The automobile industry, which had been expecting a higher sales or gasoline tax or higher auto license fees, instead will cash in on the subsidy of $1.05 per week per worker offered to private manufacturers. Automobiles are one of Britain's main exports.

INCREASES

In the past five years, employment in the services, distribution and construction increased by more than one million while manufacturing added only 142,000 employees, Callaghan said.

The payroll tax is designed to reduce recruiting by the service industries and thus release labor for manufacturing.

Transport, agriculture, and such public enterprises as gas, electricity, schools and the national health service were exempted from the payroll tax. They also will not receive the subsidy offered to manufacturers.

NONE ON INCOME

Callaghan made no increases in the personal income tax or beer and cigarette taxes but announced a 40 per cent levy on company earnings. This represented a slight rise from the old system of combined profits and income taxes, but it was not as bad as some industrialists had feared. Stock exchange prices reacted favorably.

The budget also imposed a 2½ per cent turnover tax on bookies and hit Britain's spreading gambling clubs by taking a larger cut of their profits.

Texan On List

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Texas soldier was included Tuesday in a list issued by the Defense Department of U.S. military personnel who died of non-hostile causes in Viet Nam.

He was Pfc. James J. Hessler son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hessler of Houston.

Rains Halt Farm Work

AUSTIN (AP)—Heavy rains halted Texas farmers' outdoor work again last week, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said. "Except for the northern high plains, practically all areas received significant amounts," the department said in its weekly crop-weather report.

Ten to 20 inches of rain flooded fields and washed out crops in the blacklands and East Texas.

The rains damaged onions throughout the Lower Rio Grande Valley and there was a heavy loss of potato acreage around Raymondville. Light to moderate damage was reported by growers of tomatoes, cantaloupes, sweet corn, watermelons, cucumbers and honey dew melons.

Despite the heavy rainfall, livestock losses were minor, the department said.

Cotton planting reached one-third completion and got underway on the high plains. "Replanting will be necessary in practically all areas where excessive rainfall was received but mostly in the blacklands," the report said.

Republican Urges Veto Of Excessive Money Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of a House Republican campaign to cut appropriations called on President Johnson today to veto money bills that exceed his budget.

As an alternative, Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, suggested Johnson send some of his experienced arm-twisters like Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien to the Capitol to help hold the line.

Only Tuesday, the House Armed Services Committee voted almost $1 billion in excess of the President's budget request for military procurement.

Bow's comments were in a speech prepared for House consideration of a bill appropriating $10,555,342,500 to the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the fiscal year starting July 1.

million more than the President requested and follows a 1966 pattern of budget-busting on appropriation bills. Bow planned to offer amendments to

Four Texans Reported Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said four Texans were among 40 U. S. military personnel killed in action recently in Viet Nam.

They were listed as: Staff Sgt. Kenneth E. Helems, husband of Mrs. Maria Helems, 1733 Alameda Ave., El Paso; Sgt. Carlos Gonzalez, husband of Mrs. Iodina Gonzalez, 447 Citriana Dr., Mission; Pfc. James A. Livingston, son of Mrs. Beatrice Livingston, Rt. 2, Box 227, Mexia; and Pfc. Michael J. Tritico, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tritico, 2118 South St., Houston.

cut back the bill but was not optimistic about his chances of winning. He hasn't won a battle this year in his war against increased appropriations.

The President, Bow said, "has cajoled and needed individual members of Congress about budget increases, but he has also marched Postmaster General O'Brien and his legislative liaison troops up here to do battle to save the funding of the rent subsidy program."

The reference was to an earlier attempt to deny funds for the rent subsidy provision of the 1965 housing bill. Both the House and Senate approved the money by close votes.

Bow suggested that the President "either send General O'Brien and his legislative troops back up here to give aid and comfort to those of us who are trying to help the President, or that he exercise his veto power on bills that exceed his budget estimates."

 A dramatic and accurate shift by East achieved a spectacular upset of South's four heart contract today.

West opened the six of spades, the three was played from dummy and East put up the king to win the trick as South followed with the eight. Defensive prospects did not appear to be encouraging. The fall of the spots in the spade suit indicated that South held both the queen and jack. His jump to four hearts announced a good suit of at least six card length. The minor suit aces in dummy provided further reinforcement.

In order to breach this imposing array of strength it was necessary for East to assume that his partner held a trump trick as well as some side strength, in which case it was vital to launch an immediate assault against the weak spot in declarer's armor. But where should East attack?

Between his own hand and the dummy, East was looking at nine diamonds and six clubs. It was natural to expect, therefore, that the declarer was more apt to be short in diamonds than in clubs, and East accordingly selected the latter suit for his thrust. It was necessary to assume that West held the king of clubs for, if he did not have that card, then the defense might just as well resign.

East shifted to the seven of clubs and his partner produced the king to dislodge North's ace. Declarer played the king of hearts followed by a heart to the ace. When East showed out, South led one more high trump and then began to run the spades in an attempt to obtain a quick discard for one of his club losers. West, however, ruffed in on the third round and returned a club thru dummy's jack, enabling East to cash the setting tricks in that suit.

Observe that, if East fails to lead a club at trick two, South has time to make use of the dummy's long spade for the discard of a losing club.

Takes A Stand On Igor Stravinsky

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television, sometimes accused of presenting the pros and cons of subjects as if they were balanced on a scale, took an unequivocal position Tuesday night on composer Igor Stravinsky.

On the CBS special, we saw a closeup of the musician's hand as he wrote some notes. "This," said Charles Kuralt, reading the script of David Oppenheim, "is a portrait of a man doing something that he does better than anyone else in the world."

They may be fighting words to some, but the rest of the hour was dedicated to illustrating some accomplishments of the Russian-born composer. It was not a "profile," a word so dear to the heart of television producers, nor was it a portrait. It

One Killed In Sign Wreck

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—One man was killed and four were injured when a car crashed into a highway sign on the Cross-town Expressway in Corpus Christi late Tuesday night.

Dead at the crash scene was Charles Franklin, 22. The four injured were hospitalized but conditions were not considered serious.

was sort of a sketch of Stravinsky.

He is now 83, a resident of Hollywood — and still composing controversial music. The program focused at the beginning on the great musical "scandal" 32 years ago when Stravinsky's "Rites of Spring" was presented in a new kind of ballet choreographed by Nijinsky. It was the great departure from what European audiences were used to.

The program's photographers followed Stravinsky to the very theater in Paris where the audience reacted so violently to the piece that, as he recalled it, he arose from his seat in the center of the theater, said "Go to hell," and left by a nearby fire door.

In spite of his years and physical infirmities, the composer recently completed a composition in still another musical language. The composition is called "variations" and as both Oppenheim and Stravinsky explained, it is an attempt to break away from old-fashioned tonality and move into something called "serial music."

The sounds of "variations" were undoubtedly as strange to some today as were those of "The Rites of Spring" to another generation.

"The interest of my life, my everyday life," Stravinsky said very earnestly, "is to make. I am a maker."

Bids Opened For Leases

AUSTIN (AP)—Oil, gas and sulphur leases on state-owned land brought $7,596,490 in high bids Tuesday to the school land board.

Oil and gas bids for leases covering 118,532 acres totaled $8,966,742, said Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler. The average was $58.63 an acre.

Total sulphur bids totaled $629,748, averaging $135.00 an acre, he said.

The board awarded sulphur leases on 2,590 acres in the Gulf of Mexico for $518,112. Bids for sulphur leases on 2,094 acres in Pecos County, averaged $53.57, but no leases were awarded because of an order of the Texas Supreme Court, Sadler said.

Highest single bid was $465,024 for a 640-acre sulphur lease in the Gulf of Mexico, Galveston County, by Jefferson Lake Sulphur Co.

High bid on an oil and gas lease was $386,284 for a 640-acre tract in Calhoun County by Standard Oil Co. of Texas and Pan American Petroleum Corp. Second high bid was $275,383 by Texaco, Inc., on 5,789 acres in the Gulf of Mexico off Matagorda County.

Sadler said the sale, the second this year, would raise the Permanent School Fund to $684,087,082.

Ford Says Industry Should Have Done More

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II, chairman of the nation's second largest automaker, says the industry should have done more in the past to promote highway safety.

Ford said current congressional hearings on auto safety — which often feature witnesses critical of the industry — are performing "a valuable educational function."

However, Ford told a national purchasing agents convention Tuesday, "automobiles have been subjected to much irresponsible and uninformed criticism. Too much effort has been devoted to assessing guilt, too little to the rational search for constructive solutions."

"Until very recently," Ford said, "most of the initiative for the improvement of traffic safety came from the automobile industry. Nevertheless, with the benefit of hindsight, I wish that we in the industry had done even more sooner."

"We did not act soon enough and vigorously enough to help combat the rising toll of highway accidents."

Hearings by the House Commerce Committee "have helped create the climate of public opinion that is needed for constructive action," he said. "And they have certainly taught us in the auto industry that we have to expand and intensify our longterm efforts to build better and safer cars."

But witnesses, Ford said, have exaggerated auto design as a safety factor, while "the potential for major gains through improvements in highways, drivers and law enforcement has been played down."

The industry has studied the issues, "considered carefully the views of our critics" and made suggestions for vehicle regulation, Ford said.

Descendants Of Good Samaritan Plan Sacrifice

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Descendants of the Bible's good Samaritan gather atop a sacred mountain Thursday for a religious sacrifice that dates back to the time of Moses. But this year they will not be joined by members from Israel.

The Samaritans who live in Israel refused to cross through the Mandelbaum gate after Jordanian authorities turned back 22 for security reasons.

The 345 Samaritans in the world are divided by the barbed wire between Jordan and Israel. But the barbed wire is lowered for the ancient ritual of the Passover, when the survivors of the biblical sect converge around a round stone altar on Mt. Gerizim, 30 miles from Jerusalem.

The Samaritans' pride, and the center of their lives, is a Pentateuch written on sheepskin scrolls, kept in two cylindrical silver caskets shrouded in a gold-embroidered cloth. These, they claim, are 3,625 years old.

Class Finds A Misprint

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — An untimely thing happened to Charles Lindbergh's historic New York to Paris flight when it was recorded in the textbook "California: Our State Today." It got moved back to 1926.

But that didn't fool fourth graders Jeanne Black and Edward Dart of the Cherry Lee Elementary School in El Monte, Calif.

"Our class found he flew in 1927," the erudite Edward wrote his school board president.

"I'd change it if I were you," added Jeanne.

Board President Thomas W. Braden acknowledged the error Tuesday and promised the youngsters it would be corrected in the next printing.

This is not the Passover observed by the Orthodox, Reform and Conservative Jews.

In nearby Nablus, live 215 of the surviving Samaritans, worshipping at their white limestone temple, working at such crafts as carpentry or shoemaking, selling charms to Arab peasant women who consider them magicians, and exhibiting their religious treasures to tourists.

LAMBS

The other 130 come across the border once a year from Jaffa, Israel, for the Passover slaughter of lambs on the mountain, making the deliverance of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage.

The Samaritans were almost wiped out by the Greeks and Romans, and persecuted from Byzantine times till the 20th century, when their number dropped to about 300 and they faced extinction.

Now, with women converts marrying into the community, they are on the increase.

Kluxers Call Off Ranch Rally

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Texas Ku Klux Klan Grand Dragon Jack Cannon of Beaumont said Monday night a proposed Klan rally set for later this month near the LBJ Ranch had been called off.

He gave no reason. There have been reports the Klan had trouble leasing a site for the proposed rally near President Johnson's ranch 65 miles west of Austin.

Cannon made the announcement as some 300 persons met in a pasture four miles west of Beaumont to hear an address by Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

OUTSIDE CONVENTIONAL UNITS

New Types Of Ministers Posed As Exciting Idea

DALLAS (AP)—New types of Christian ministers, serving in work-a-day environments were design for a wide-scale reunion of American churches.

Summarizing reactions in a closed planning session, the Rev. Dr. Raymond V. Kearns, of New York, said denominational representatives were keenly enthusiastic about setting up such unconventional church units.

PARALLEL GROUPS

They would function outside ordinary parish congregations as parallel Christian groups in housing projects, on campuses, in industries, occupations, homes for the aged and elsewhere.

"There was general agreement on this exciting idea for Christian task forces organized outside the parish congregations," Dr. Kearns said. "We felt that this is something very important in today's situation."

Eight denominations, with a total of more than 24 million members are involved in the union talks here.

Arrangements for the extra congregational units were set forth in a proposed basic charter for a united church which is being polished by subcommittees before being acted on later this week.

TASK FORCES

It says "the task groups will be made up of persons drawn together by a common vocation in the world or in the church and will operate outside the usual bounds of a residentially based congregation."

"Ministers and members may be relieved of ordinary responsibilities in the parish congregation in order to enable them to participate in task groups," the plan outline states.

To serve in these supra-parish groups and lead worship in them, the proposed plan allows for ordination of persons who support themselves by occupations outside the religious field and who lack theological training needed to fill parish pastorates.

NEW CATEGORY

"This is a new ministerial category and one of the creative aspects of the planned union," said the Rev. Dr. Roger Hazelton, of Newton Center, Mass.

He said that such Christian groups have long existed, developing spontaneously because of the needs for them, but that this is the first proposed plan for recognizing them within the regular structure of the church.

Dr. Kearns said the open-ended character of the union outline also would allow for religious orders similar to those in Roman Catholicism.

"We don't want to place limitations on the varieties or kinds of Christian service, he said.

DENOMINATIONS

Denominations involved in the talks are the United Presbyterians, Southern Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Methodists, Christians (Disciples), Evangelical United Brethren, the African Methodist Episcopal Church and the United Church of Christ.

Reporting on a subcommittee dealing with modes of worship in a united church, the Rev. Dr.

William Jackson Jarman, of New York, said:

"Everyone is so quiet and agreeable about this section that it almost makes you think something is wrong, the same way you think something is wrong when children are quiet."

A Devotional For The Day

Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it. (Proverbs 22:6)
 PRAYER: Lord, we ask Thee to bless our home. Make it a place of refuge in a world of turmoil. May we find here a place for Thy presence. Give us insight to know the task of the family as Christ sees it. Give us courage and wisdom to bring our families to Thee. We ask in the name of Him who loved little children, and taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Need For Cooperation

The Texas government soon will unveil a master plan for development of this state's water resources for the next half century. State and local financing is contemplated for many of the projects, but there will have to be a large degree of federal participation.

Consequently, closely coordinated support of the plan by the Texas delegation in Congress will be imperative, though it will not be easy to achieve.

The Texas congressional delegation is divided on philosophy of intergovernmental relationships, including the pattern of federal aid on state and local water projects, and there will inevitably be regional rivalries arising from the necessity to turn extensive inter-basin exchange of water to achieve redistribution of water resources for maximum statewide economic development.

Unanimity in the Texas congressional delegation on federal participation in state water planning is perhaps too much to expect. But unless strong majority support in the delegation can be achieved and sustained over a long period—unless Texas congressmen can think big on water problems, and in statewide rather than local terms—the ambitious state water program will falter and possibly disastrously fail.

A promising beginning is being made. Executive Director Joe Moore of the Texas Water Development Board met this week with the Texas congressional delegation in Washington to give a detailed preview of water planning to the year 2020. Republican Sen. John Tower is working with Democratic Gov. John Connally to get West Texas and the Panhandle included in the vast long-range plan for bringing surplus Northwest water down through the Western and Southwestern regions known since Spanish colonization as the Great American Desert.

The most difficult political task will be to get East Texas members of the state's congressional delegation to agree with the plan to redistribute surplus water in that area down through mid-Texas to semi-arid South Texas areas. This will require the unremitting efforts of a succession of state administrations seeking hand-in-hand Texas congressional delegation cooperation on the basic elements of the state's long-range water plan. There has never before in Texas history been a greater need for agreement and joint action between the state administration and its representation in the federal Congress.

High Enough To Invite Evasion

New York State officials have come to a quaint, somewhat breathtaking conclusion on the subject of cigarette taxes.

New York now levies a tax of 22 cents a package on cigarettes. The result, which did not require the services of an expert forecaster, was to make cigarette bootlegging very attractive. Operators large and small made a beeline for North Carolina, where there is no tax on cigarettes (although there is a 4 per cent tax on food).

Great cargo trucks and ordinary passenger cars and station wagons began cluttering the highways between North Carolina and New York, loaded ed to the gills with cigarettes. They were sold at a handsome profit, but still well below the price with tax added in New York. Experts estimate that the state is losing $8 million a year in cigarette tax revenue to the bootleggers.

What do you suppose New York's conclusion is to all this? It is to persuade North Carolina to put a tax on cigarettes and stem the bootleg flow. Well, New Yorkers in misery may yearn for company, but North Carolinians will not join them on such terms.

It's the old story of taxes being high enough to invite evasion, and that's a tempting dish when one stands alone like New York.

David Lawrence Correcting Racial Imbalance

WASHINGTON — President Johnson and Senator Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts are moving toward some of the very proposals for the removal of "racial imbalance" in public schools which the late President Kennedy publicly disapproved.

An extract from the transcript of the press conference held by President Johnson on Sept. 26, 1963, reads as follows:

"Q. MR. PRESIDENT, as a parent, do you think it is right to wrench children away from their neighborhood family area and cart them off to strange, faraway schools to force racial balance? I notice you said that you did not approve of racial quotas in employment. Now, do you approve of forcing racial quotas in schools?"

"A. Well, the question, as you described it — I would not approve of the procedure you described in your question. Now, a lot of these, of course, depend on the local school districts, and I would have to see what the situation was in each district. But I would not have any hesitancy in saying no to your question. I would not approve it. But this in the final analysis must be decided by the local school board. This a local question. But if you are asking me my opinion, faraway strange places and all the rest, I would not agree with it."

SENATOR KENNEDY, in testifying before a Senate subcommittee last Wednesday on his bill "to provide federal assistance for school boards attempting to correct racial imbalance in public schools," declared in favor of furnishing federal funds to local boards which wish to consolidate school districts or to provide facilities for transporting students from one locality to another. He said:

"WITH SOME exceptions, segregation in educational facilities in the North and West does not exist as a result of purposeful official action. But it does exist nonetheless. As a result of a past history of residential segregation combined with a commonly observed school policy of pupil assignment based on place of residence, school systems which are highly segregated de facto by color can be found in almost every major city in the North and West.

"Although there may be no constitutional compulsion requiring the complete and immediate elimination of racial imbalance, it seems basic to me that those school districts which wish to alleviate this problem should receive the encouragement and support of the federal government."

THE JOHNSON administration's position is that the federal government must tackle every form of segregation and seek "desegregation," even though the civil rights act of 1964 says that "desegregation" does not require correction of "racial imbalance." The administration, however, feels it may withhold public funds if its own ideas on "desegregation" are not followed.

Unquestionably, much of the school segregation in the North is due to residential circumstances. To help correct this, the Johnson administration now is asking for a new housing law so as to be able to prosecute anybody who refuses to sell or rent his house to anyone else because of race or religion. But the courts will have difficulty finding out what was in the mind of the owner and what motive he had for refusing to accept an offer to buy or rent from a particular person.

THE POSSIBLE impact of the entire program of governmental coercion to eliminate what is called "racial imbalance" is already causing considerable dissatisfaction in the big cities, where the fear is openly expressed by real-estate agents that property values are likely to decline if the new legislation passes.

Billy Graham

I am an old man and I am afraid to die. How can I get rid of this awful dread of death?
 H. O. J.

Let me suggest that you take the 15th Chapter of First Corinthians and read it again and again. If you have put your trust in Christ death has had its sting removed. Unconfessed and unforgiven sins is the sting of the grave. For the Christian death is a glorious transition, and immediate entrance into the presence of the Savior. Not knowing whether you are a Christian or not I can only advise you to take this necessary step of faith in Jesus Christ and commit yourself to Him. Take the 23rd Psalm and read the words of comfort: "Yes, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil." This is not bravado but faith, for David goes on to say, "For thou art with me." Once you have faith put your hand in the Saviors there is nothing to fear. Pain? Perhaps. Separation from loved ones? Yes, but all of these things are only a fleeting experience for Christ came to take away both the fear and sting of death and in its place to give us the peace which passeth understanding. The Apostle Paul has suffered for his Lord in every way possible. He spoke of longing to be with the Lord. You too can have this glorious anticipation.

"THAT'S NOT BALONEY—THAT'S A TRUMPET"

James Marlow Exasperating Ordeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty years of bafflement are beginning to show in impatience, criticism, discontent.

There were only six maddening years of dealing with Hitler from the time he took power in 1933 until he began the war in 1939. But with communism there has been prolonged frustration.

FIRST, THERE were the postwar years of dealing with Russia's Stalin, an impossible task and now for 16 years, or ever since they butted into the Korean war, the even more exasperating ordeal of trying to deal with the Red Chinese.

This is the root of the dissatisfactions being expressed in Congress over the grubby, grueling war in Viet Nam, the fear the Chinese may come in, and the almost total absence of any relations with them except hostility.

In short, nothing has changed in 16 years.

POSSIBLY CONTINUED demands for more flexible efforts by the administration to deal with the Chinese will force some change in administration policy, but that looks doubtful at the moment.

The American future may be permanently affected by its relations with Red China in the next 20 years, good or bad, but this or any other administration must answer for the outcome, not the critics.

Kennedy and McGovern were just the latest expressing discontent and hoping for solutions. The Johnson administration has been under a critical barrage. So far it hasn't budged.

The United States will help nations resist Chinese aggressions and will continue to oppose membership for the Red Chinese in the United Nations.

He has said the Chinese Reds continue to display "militancy, bitterness, hatred," and that U.S. officials have to deal with the "situation as we find it."

The administration position is that it is willing to have better relations but until the Chinese show they want that, too, U.S. policy must stand firm. Put another way, it means:

To Your Good Health What To Do When Ear Drum Is Perforated

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a perforated ear drum and what precautions are necessary? I also have a deviated septum and a continuous postnasal drip. Is there something I can take for this?—MRS. I. D.

A perforated ear drum is one with a hole in it. The ear drum serves two purposes: Transmitting sound vibrations to the middle ear; and, at the same time, keeping infection out.

A chronic infection is the usual cause of a perforated ear drum. Therefore the first question is whether this infection can be subdued, and the second question is how to keep further infection out.

If the ear canal is dry (no drainage from it) little need be done except to keep dirt and germs out, and to avoid letting water get into the ear, which also might introduce infection.

A cotton pledget is helpful to prevent dust from blowing into the ear—Swimming is, of course, taboo. Avoid getting water in the ear while taking a bath or shower.

If there is drainage, you should have an ear specialist's advice on necessary treatment. If the infection cannot be conquered, a drop or two of rubbing alcohol, full strength (or diluted to half, if full strength is irritating) tends to dry the canal and ward off secondary infection. Hydrogen peroxide, full strength or diluted one-third, may also be used.

Under some circumstances tympanoplasty (surgical reconstruction of the ear drum) may be possible. It may or may not improve your hearing. After all, the amount of hearing impairment from a perforated drum varies, sometimes being quite noticeable, other times making little difference.

Your deviated septum (bent or distorted partition between the nostrils) no doubt is part of the cause for your postnasal drip, but chronic sinus infection, excessive smoking, allergy, polyps or enlarged turbinates in the nose can be involved, too.

Instead of wondering whether there is something you can take, by far the best course is to have the nose examined so you can then know what may really help you.

Note to Mrs. M. W.: No, there is no cause to worry about "radiation" from a TV set.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim It's That Time Again

At this time of the year, particularly when conditions are ideal as they are now, there is a clump of sisyrrinchium at the edge of the drive in our front yard. It will have a lot of company before the season is over.

THIS IS SIMPLY to say that things are right for the best display of wildflowers in years. With an abundance of rain and now the promise of sunshine, we will be seeing flowers seldom seen, and among the old favorites and dependables, there will be a super-abundance.

Almost everywhere you will see bits of wild onions with their pale cream and lavender blooms, and crow poison with its purple flowers. Along low places, there will be an occasional pale blue rain lily or the celestial, which, like sisyrrinchium, which is really blue-eyed grass, is a member of the iris family.

ONE OF THE MOST commanding displays comes from the prairie verbena with its vivid, light purple cluster. The sand verbena, with its lighter flowers, also is making its presence.

Another splash of color comes from the buttercups, which are in such profusion along some roadsides that it seems as though someone spilled a barrel of gold. With them are what we frequently call pink buttercups, but which are in reality primroses.

The Texas prickly poppy is putting on its large white flower, and so is the Mexican poppy with its smooth leaves. Other tall flowers with exotic blossoms include the Texas thistle, bull thistle and star thistle. There also will be plenty of horsemint.

STICKY OFFERINGS also include the Texas prickly pear with its fuchsia, yellow and bronze flowers, the deep purple of the cholla (walking cane) cactus, and even the flower of the devil's head or devil's pin cushion.

Already the yucca (treacleana or Spanish dagger) has bilowed with giant spikes of white blossoms. Now coming on is our native bear grass with its spikes of cream-white flowers.

GUARA, or wild honeysuckle, appears in profusion, and its flowers, held close, have that delicate sweet aroma. Wine cups, or poppy mallows, are one of the most beautiful of the flowers with their reddish purple flowers.

As always, there is an abundance of Mexican hat with its light brown petals turning down from the peaked center. Somewhat similar is the thelesperma with its rounded brown center and gold leaves. Coming on is the firewheel, or Ballardia, which looks like a daisy in Scotch plaid.

THE MALLOWS are many, and perhaps the most striking are the salmon colored ones which lay in almost solid beds of pale gray plants along roadsides. A delicate flower is the pale white-green umbrella wort and the ground cherry with a yellow green flower with brown center. So is the devil's bouquet, with its cluster of light red flowers with tall stamens.

A variety of yellow and gold flowers is everywhere, and too many to list. Some of the more familiar are scrambled eggs, that small cluster of crinkled crepe; the yellow daisy, the art leaf or Engelmann daisy. The whites include sleeping daisies, which close up at night, the clusters of mountain of rock daisies.

JUST TAKE a walk across the fields or along some road and you'll be surprised at what all you can see. For help in identification, I recommend "Roadside Flowers of Texas," with paintings by Mary Motz Wills, a publication by the University of Texas Press.

Holmes Alexander The Smiling Chastiser Of The GOP

WASHINGTON—In his private capacity, Senator Hugh Scott (R., Penn.) sits chuckling in amusement at the human comedy. He is a hedonistic Virginian, turned Northern politician, an author on Oriental art as well as on "How To Get Into Politics," a good man in a smoke-filled room and a jolly banquet orator. In addition, he is a militant moderate, if that's not a contradiction, and sometimes an in-temperate pleader for tolerance, if that's not another one.

SCOTT BROUGHT all sides of his prismatic personality into a recent meeting of the Young Republicans of this city. The first part of his speech, in which he lampooned Lyndon Johnson, Robert Kennedy and John Kenneth Galbraith, was worthy of Bob Hope—and his audience rocked with mirth at the punch lines. It wasn't till the main part of his address that the Young Republicans realized what a tiger had been introduced into their "think tank."

SCOTT HAD COME to purge, and not to praise his host audience. The Young Republican Organization dates back to 1935. Its first president was Gordon Allott, now senior Senator from Colorado, in days when there were almost as few Republicans in public office as there are now.

The YR strategy, following Alf Landon's defeat in 1936, moved toward the neo-toolism of Thomas Dewey, but then veered forcefully toward arch-conservatism, culminating in the Goldwater nomination of '64. Despite the catastrophe of that year, the YR's in 1965 chose Tom Van Sickle, a Goldwater conservative to be their president. The battle for the YR presidency of 1967 is now shaping up—and that is where Scott came in.

THE SENATOR, in speeches here and elsewhere, is undertaking to drive the ultra-conservative Young Republicans out of the leadership and, if necessary, out of the organization. He spoke the other evening of "bigoted, immature young hellions," of "brain-twisted deviates in your midst of a party in danger of turning into a 'white, Anglo-Saxon, super-privileged country club.' He warned that "if you become unable to run your affairs, there exists the power in the Republican National Committee to establish a Youth Directorate to run them."

THERE NEVER was an intra-party tongue-lashing to match this one. Scott delivered his tirade in full good humor, saying he hoped he had made his targets mad enough to go home and think.

The episode forecasts, more blood baths for the GOP. Barry Goldwater is scheduled to be here on May 9 to address the fifth anniversary meeting of the Young Americans For Freedom, and is expected to get in some licks of his own. In a year when the GOP should have very well at fighting the divided Democrats, the Republicans still feel compelled to give and take painful wounds among themselves.

Sam Dawson Business Counter-Charging

NEW YORK (AP)—Record profits are supplying ammunition to the critics of business policies. But business, resenting this criticism of its price and wage stands, has countercharges of its own.

Labor is using this year's big jump in corporate earnings as an argument for a greater share for the workers.

on spending for growth just now should be matched by a like restraint at the government level.

But the profit figures themselves can't be denied. With few exceptions, corporations are reporting their first quarter earnings well ahead of a year ago. The first 500 to report show total profits after taxes of $4.5 billion this year, against $4 billion in the first three months of 1965.

GOVERNMENT SPOKESMEN are using the net income climb as a talking point in their drive to halt price increases—and also as a basis for threatening tax increases on corporate income to cool down the booming economy.

On only one thing do all sides agree: Corporate profits have risen to the greatest dollar volume in history and the rise so far this year has been at a rate that few formerly thought could be attained.

Industry's answer is that if the dollar volume of profits is tremendous, so is everything else: production, sales, payrolls, materials costs, tax payments at all levels of government.

SOME INDUSTRIES insist that their profits must rise still more if they are to finance the growth and modernization that today's high-stepping economy demands.

And to this some company chiefs are adding that prices must go up still more if they are to keep step with rising costs—and with the need for more profit dollars to finance growth.

Business spokesmen also deny government officials' charges that business expansion plans and price and profit policies offer the biggest threat of a ruinous inflation ahead.

GARDNER ACKLEY, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, says this gain "substantially exceeds the rise in national income or the rise in employe compensation over that period."

Labor leaders will use this. They also will not that Ackley added that over the last year price increases have offset higher pay rates and longer working hours, so that the purchasing power of factory workers now isn't any greater than a year ago.

Chose To Clean Up

No Doubt About It

Panthers Tip Steers To Tie For Top Spot

Odessa Permian used two Big Spring misplays and as many hits in the eighth inning to top the Steers, 4-2, in a District 2-AAAA baseball thriller here Tuesday afternoon.

Permian picked up a run in the fifth when Mike Campbell doubled, legged it to third on a bobbie and came home on a fly ball to right.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

They say that press relations deteriorated so badly at the last Masters' golf tournament in Augusta, Ga., that some of the biggest names in the sports writing profession are threatening to boycott the links libretto.

Reliever Al Jackson, a former Met, set down all 12 batters he faced to nail the Cardinals' victory over New York. St. Louis jumped in front to stay with three runs in the fourth — two on Lou Brock's double — but the Mets knocked out Ray Washburn with two runs in the fifth.

More and more, the working staffs of the nation's gazettes are discovering that modern sporting events are being designed primarily for television audiences and that they are being regarded as excess baggage.

Making the most of their two hits, the Stars rallied for three runs in the fifth inning to topple the Hawks, 4-2, in American Little League competition here Tuesday night.

Byron Gressett, Dirk Redden and Tommy Tune crossed the plate for the Stars in the big fifth.

The Hawks banged out eight hits off Lefty Martinez but Martinez kept them well scattered. Bruce Broughton of the Hawks was the only player on either team to get two hits.

"If you'll bother to notice," one pro, who desires to remain nameless, said, "the players who fail to make the cut get the devil out of Augusta as fast as they can."

MIDLAND — Midland Lee scored three unearned runs, including a vital one in the seventh, to topple Abilene High, 3-2, in District 2-AAAA baseball competition here Tuesday.

I think, if the truth were known, some of the Masters people are tired of their super-tournament. Many of them have all the money they will ever need.

Members of the Big Spring Golf Association will gather at the Cosden Country Club at 6 p.m. Thursday, with assurances from prey Bernard Rains that the meeting will last no more than an hour.

Dodger Power Is Muzzled By Marichal

The Moment of Truth was just another fling for Juan Marichal. It lasted nine innings too long for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The victory moved the Giants past Los Angeles into second place in the National League race.

Abe's Hope Choice In Race For Roses

By BOB COOPER Associated Press Writer LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The starting field for Saturday's 92nd Kentucky Derby settled to 16 today, making the $125,000-added classic the second richest in history if all go to the post.

Heading the field will be Abe's Hope, the colt that proved in the Blue Grass Stakes that Graustark was beatable, and Kausal King, sporting the best 3-year-old record of the field.

Elliott Dies

Bob Elliott, who won the National League's most valuable player award in 1947 with the old Boston Braves, died today in San Diego, Calif. The 47-year old Elliott, a third baseman, managed the Kansas City Athletics in 1960 and was a Los Angeles Angels coach in 1961. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Star-Studded Field Set For Charge At Houston

Kerr, Bianchi Selected As Mentors At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — New head coach John (Red) Kerr and his assistant coach and longtime friend, Al Bianchi, came to the Chicago Bulls in a sort of squeeze play in the National Basketball Association.

Kerr and Bianchi, signed to three-year contracts Tuesday were among 18 players called by the new Chicago NBA entry in a draft from the league's nine established clubs in New York last weekend.

But Kerr and Bianchi, who spent most of their long pro careers as roommates with the old Syracuse Nats — now the Philadelphia 76ers — will be strictly bench coaches for the Bulls.

So said Bull general manager Dick Klein, who explained that the only way he could get them as coaches was to draft them as players — Kerr from the Baltimore Bullets and Bianchi from the 76ers.

"We got permission from Baltimore to talk to Kerr as a head coach prospect a month ago, but even if Kerr and Bianchi had retired as players they could not take a job in any capacity with another NBA club without permission of their original club owner," Klein said. "We wanted both very much as coaches, and we didn't want to gamble for their services in later dickerings after the stocking draft."

Did the maneuver cost the Bulls two ready-made players, since they actually got 18 instead of the allowable 13 under the new rule? "Not necessarily, because if the need arises, Kerr and Bianchi could be playing coaches," Klein said. "At the start, however, we want them to concentrate on their work from the bench."

Kerr, 34, played as a pro for 12 seasons since starting for the University of Illinois. Bianchi, 33, was a 10-year guard in the NBA.

Lions Outlast Braves, 6-5

Although outlived by the margin of 4-4, the Evening Lions turned back the Braves, 6-5, in National Little League activity here Tuesday night.

Stanley Shanks drove out two of the Lions' four hits, including a double. Alan Davis picked up the mound win for the Lions in relief. Terry Fale started on the hill for the winners.

Danny Wood, Danny Eggleston and Gary Walker each collected two safeties for the Braves.

Eggleston 1	Fale 1
Walker 2	Wood 1

Yankees Surge To Tip Cards

The Yankees rallied for three runs in the final inning to defeat the Cardinals, 15-13, in National Little League play here Monday night.

The Red Birds apparently had put the game on ice with an eight-run outburst in the fifth. Raymond Swafford and Jimmy Stewart of the Cardinals and Sammy Chappell of the Yankees hit doubles.

Nathan Potts, one of three Yankee hurriers to see action, got credit for the win.

Midland Upsets Cooper, 3 To 1

ABILENE—Midland made the most of one hit to defeat the Abilene Cooper Cougars, 3-1, here Tuesday.

The defeat cost the Cougars exclusive possession of first place in District 2-AA-AA standings. Cooper is now 7-2 in the standings and shares first place with Odessa Permian.

It was the second straight game in which the cougars have won the opposition only one hit, yet lost. David Johnson absorbed the defeat, his first against four wins.

Odessa Rallies To Edge Angelo

ODESSA—Odessa High came from behind to turn back San Angelo, 3-2, in a District 2-AA-AA baseball game here Tuesday.

The defeat was the fifth in 10 starts for San Angelo. Odessa is currently 4-4.

Larry Gatlin and Milton Thompson scored the vital runs for the Broncos in the sixth.

Lankford Takes Post At Uvalde

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Earle Lankford, 29, who coached Harlingen High School to the District 14-AA-AA south zone basketball championship last season, resigned to accept a similar post at Uvalde, Tex. Tuesday.

DEAR ABBY

Time For Vacation

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years and have two married daughters. Last year the husband of our 21-year-old daughter, so she came home with her baby. I had to give up a part time job to babysit while she went to work to support herself and child. Our 19-year-old just had a baby, and she has to go to work to help put her husband through college, so now grandma baby-sits with TWO!

I am not the stay-at-home type granny who likes to knit and bake. I bowl, play bridge, ski and golf, and I enjoyed my part time job. I don't mind helping out when I'm needed, but I do not like to be tied down (from 8 a.m. until bedtime) this way. The lady answered me with a straight face. "Oh, of this baby-sitting role? My husband thinks I am. And how do you get the nerve to tell your own daughters you've had it?"

YOUNG GRANDMA

DEAR YOUNG: If it's "selfish" to want your freedom after you've put in your hitch and have earned a vacation, then you're "selfish." But if you want out and haven't the courage to say so, you're foolish.

DEAR ABBY: I visited some friends yesterday, and would you believe it if I told you they still had their Christmas tree up? Well, they did. Naturally, you can't just ignore an eight-foot Christmas tree standing there, so I said, "My, your tree is as beautiful now as it was when you put it up nearly four months ago! You really ought to call the press and have them come out and take a picture of it. It's very unusual to keep a tree up that long; how long do you plan to leave it up?" The "lad" answered me with a straight face. "Oh, until we see a needle fall." Now, Abby, I ask you, does this make any sense to you? Should I call the press, for it is rather curious? Or should I call the men with the white coats and the butterfly nets?

U.S. Banks Move Into Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — American servicemen in Viet Nam soon may have a hometown bank right in their backyard.

Two of the United States' largest banks — the Bank of America and Chase Manhattan — have been granted permission by the Vietnamese government to set up commercial facilities in Saigon.

Treasury Department officials said today present plans call for both banks to establish what are known as banking facilities — at some military bases in the Saigon area as a convenience for American servicemen.

Eventually, the Treasury hopes, about a dozen such facilities will be available to servicemen at bases throughout the country including the big Marine base at Da Nang.

One side effect of the plan could be to dry up some of the dollars which are finding their way into Viet Nam's black market. At least that's the hope of some government officials.

American servicemen do not now have U.S. banking facilities available to them in Viet Nam. The proposed facilities would be similar to those set up in countries such as France and Germany where many American troops are stationed.

Under the agreement with the Vietnamese government, no on-base facilities can be set up until the commercial facilities in Saigon have been in operation for 30 days. One commercial facility was scheduled to be opened this week.

There are no plans for automatic banking of servicemen's paychecks with interest as an inducement to the GIs to keep their money in the bank.

But officials said the possibility has been discussed of offering servicemen checking accounts with payment of interest on the balance they maintain with the bank. The Treasury plan also would eliminate any service charges to servicemen. No interest rate has been

Dry Day But A Bit Colder

By The Associated Press

The nation enjoyed a dry day today as knifelike cold penetrated the Midwest and parts of the East.

Arctic air surged through Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and parts of Illinois and Indiana, as well as some Eastern states. The cold air dropped temperatures to freezing and brought frost.

Brownsville, in southernmost Texas, reported 1.95 inches of rain in six hours Tuesday night. Elsewhere, the nation was unusually dry, except for light rain in south central Texas and light rain and a bit of snow in New England.

Early-morning temperatures ranged from 23 at Marquette, Mich., to 85 at Blythe, Calif.

Kiss Could Kill Him

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A wife's welcoming kiss to a returning astronaut possibly could kill him unless his diet in space included plenty of down-to-earth germs.

This could mean that astronauts may have to take bacteria pills shortly before returning to earth after extensive space travels.

Dr. T. D. Luckey of the University of Missouri Medical School discussed the potential danger of a lack of bacteria Tuesday during a symposium at the convention of the American Society for Microbiology.

He said spacemen's sterile air, food and water eventually could dangerously reduce the amount of bacteria in their systems.

The result, he said, could be bacterial illness when they come back to the bacteria-ridden earth.

The bacteria pills, he said, could restore the normal balance so that the astronaut would be more immune to the bacteria on earth.

Luckey said his speculations were based upon studies he conducted with guinea pigs and rats.

For Congress, 17th District

Omar Burleson

DEMOCRAT

Howard County is new to the 17th Congressional district, and Omar Burleson is new to the voters of Howard County. Congressman Omar Burleson is an effective, highly respected member of the Congress. He is chairman of one full committee, second-from-the-chairman of the powerful House Foreign Affairs Committee, and vice chairman of two joint Senate-House committees.

Twenty years of seniority in the Congress amount to a great investment for the people of the 17th district. Seniority is gained only through years of experience. A freshman congressman can do very little for a district for several years after he goes to Washington.

Omar Burleson is effective with the military officials, with the officials in agriculture, the State Department, the leadership in the House and Senate, the executive branch of the government. He has recently been highly commended and endorsed by 20 of the 23 Texas congressmen in Washington. He has a record of service of which you can be proud.

Vote for the man who has served the 17th District well for 20 years . . . vote for Omar Burleson.
